Shelley Winters Squelches Rumors Of Baseball Romance

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
 NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Shelley Winters didn't want to talk about her Tucson "romance" with the Cleveland Indians pitcher Gene Bearden. She tossed back my curve with:

"There was nothing to it. I am not going around getting engaged to a married man which I understand is illegal in some states."

Besides, said Shelley, everyone has her all wrong.

"I'm this character on the screen but that's not me in real life. I think I should be treated with dignity and respect."

This was difficult for Shelley because Jimmy Stewart, sitting at the next table in the UI commissary, was pushing her chair with an outstretched leg.

Shelley and Jimmy are co-starring in the western, "Winchester 73," which was on location in Tucson when Shelley met Bearden.

Shelley is unhappy about the picture, though, Jimmy doesn't kiss her once. She wailed:

"It's ridiculous. I go to a hide-out cabin. Eight guys are there and they haven't seen a girl in a month. Do you know what they do? They fight over a gun."

Rainy Day

Joan Crawford isn't too happy about the release of her oldie, "Rain." Lassie's next picture, "Shepherd of the Painted Hills," it's a girl at Las Vegas Hospital for Herb and Phyllis MacDonal. He's the praise agent for the El Rancho Vegas. Martha Stewart, I hear, is a scene stealer in "A Lonely Place." I asked H. Bogart about it. "Martha Stewart?" said Bogey. "Who's she? Oh, yea, Martha Stewart. Very good, very good." ... Despite denials, Hollywood is betting that actress Mary Anderson will wed cameraman Leon Shamroy.

Charles Coburn and Spring Byington were sitting on a blanket, munching picnic sandwiches and talking about love for a scene in "Lustina." This is the movie in which Coburn and Edmund Gwenn go into Pinza 20 years better and prove there's still romance in a 70-year-old's heart.

"It's sort of a happy Stromboli," director Al Hall explained.

Coburn even wades up to his hips in a lily pond to pluck a blossom for the lady fair. But at Coburn's age, the studio took no chances. They shot the scene at a lily pond in Bel-Air and imported 5000 gallons of 174-degree water to raise the temperature of the pool from 90 to 68.

Shelley Winters

The script of "To Please a Lady" still doesn't please Clark Gable. Re-writes still are in order. ... Ginger Rogers' divorce from Jack Briggs will be final in August. Then will know whether she and Greg Bautzer are as serious as they look. ... Maureen O'Hara and Glenn Langan will be teamed in an adventure-drama which Maureen's husband, Will Price, will direct. ... Three studios are trying to clear the movie title "Hidden Treasure."

Peek-A-Boo

Lana Turner, I can report, blushes at wolf-calls and low whistles.

The pink that suffused Lana's face on "A Life of Her Own" set didn't stop the males who took a look at her low-cut satin brocade gown. It didn't stop the unit manager, either. He clapped one moist hand to his forehead, yelled for designer Heise Euse and let everybody know that Lana wouldn't get by the Johnson office censors.

"I don't know about that," Helen Rose said stubbornly. "It's no worse than some of her other gowns."

Lana remained as neutral as Switzerland. She stopped blushing, gave the boys one of those don't-let-it-throw-you looks and beefed about the diamond dog-collared around her neck.

Lana sneered: "It's five-and-dime."

The battle over her peek-a-boo neckline was at a stalemate when I left.

Howard Duff is excited about his next picture, "The Magnificent Heel," story of a news photographer. It's his first heavy. But he hastens to explain that he will not be representing all news photographers. He says: "It's just the story of a guy."

I asked him if he and Ava Gardner had kissed and made up they were dining together recently. He had a one-word reply: "Naw."

Hollywood is doing everything that's not in the astronomer's books. Eagle-Lion has "The Sun Sets at Dawn" and Loretta Young's husband, Tom Lewis, will produce "The Sun Stood Still."

Texas Minister Bills New York For Recent Rainfall

ALBANY, N. Y.—(AP)—An itinerant preacher claims his prayers are responsible for recent rain that has postponed New York City's $50,000 rainmaking project.

And the Rev. Eddie Clayton, Mercedes, Texas, Baptist, figures New York should be willing to fork over $7,000.

In a letter to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, dated March 19, the clergyman wrote:

"I have this day prayed that God bestow upon New York City his wonderful blessing of rain. x x x I asked that it rain within the week starting tomorrow."

Now if this comes to pass, x x x ask the officials of New York to give me an offering of $7,000 to help me in my work."

The rains came. In fact, last Thursday, New York City's rainmaker, Dr. Wallace E. Howell, had to call off his cloud-seeding experiments because of rain.

Governor Dewey's office said Monday the preacher's letter had been received. The governor had no comment.

The first international passenger airport in the United States is said to be one which began operating at Key West, Fla., in 1927.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

John 16:33; I John 5:4-8; Isa. 41:10; 43:5.

EVERY FOE YOU FACE IS A DEFEATED FOE

When you will be well the whole of the universe of reality is then behind you. And the whole of the universe of reality will work within his will, and he arose your release, and provides for that release. This fact is summed up in the words of Jesus: "In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer: I have overcome the world." Here is an open-eyed frankness that does not deny the fact of a world of tribulation in which we must live—this world of tribulation which lies around us and in it. And yet, after looking at it, with all its brutality and its power to hurt, he says: "Be of good cheer: I have overcome the world."

In other words: every foe you face is a defeated foe.

This brings us to the fourth step: (4) Remember that every fear, every trouble, every sickness, every sin you may face has been and is defeated and overcome by the One you follow—Christ. When fears and sicknesses and sins come upon you to overwhelm you and to beat you into submission by their very overwhelming presence, just calmly look each one in the eye and say: "I am not afraid of you. You have been said and are decisively beaten by my Lord. Will you bend your neck? There, I know it! The footprint of the Son of God is upon your neck." This confidence is your starting point: nothing can touch you that hasn't touched Him, and that hasn't been defeated by Him; and if you open your life to His power every ill can be defeated again by you through His grace. You need not be defeated by anything unless you consent to be. If you throw your will on the side of victory, then the whole of the Universe of Reality throws itself behind you, releases it, reinforces it, redeems it—and you! You are caught up in a tide of victory, and nothing can stop it except your refusal to co-operate. Paul could say: "I do not frustrate the grace of God"—I do not block its redemption, nor frustrate its healing purposes. Therefore an Almighty Will worked within his will, and he arose a rhythmic, harmonious, adequate person. You can be the same.

O God, my Father, I have closed my heart to Thy healing and to Thy deliverance. I have wrapped myself within myself—afraid of salvation! I have protected my lungs—from air! My heart—from love! My aesthetic nature—from beauty! Myself—from Thee! Forgive me. Amen.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Counterfeit Bills Flood New York

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York area is being flooded with several varieties of "mass-produced" counterfeit $10 and $20 bills, the Secret Service says.

And the bogus bills are "popping up all over the country," banks and business men were warned Tuesday.

Albert E. Whitaker, district supervisor of the service, said at a news conference the phony money is "of good quality" and is "printed on fair quality paper."

He said, however, the bills lack the red or blue silk fibres of genuine notes.

Whitaker said the quality of the fake bills now in circulation here is about the same as a batch circulated late in 1948. The engraving plant for the 1948 crop never was found.

Neither has the source of the new bills been traced. Fake notes with a face value of about $25,000 have been seized since January 1, Whitaker said. Thirty-five persons have been arrested in this area.

Elephant Must Die For Crushing Child To Death In Florida

SARASOTA, FLA.—(AP)—Dolly, a circus elephant, must pay with her life for crushing a five-year-old child to death.

The 71-year-old work beast stomped the child's head beneath her massive foot at the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey quarters here Sunday.

The child, Roger Schooley, was feeding peanuts to several elephants when Dolly seized him with her trunk and dashed him to the ground. The animal had a reputation for gentleness.

Henry Ringling North, the circus' vice president, said Monday night Dolly would be led to a huge pit dug for the purpose, given an overdose of some narcotic, and will be buried where she falls and dies.

Dolly's execution will take place before the circus breaks its winter quarters here Thursday.

Roger was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schooley of Las Vegas, N. M. The father is studying at the Ringling School of Art here. He is a professor at Highlands University at Las Vegas.

An investigation into the child's death is being conducted by W. M. Smiley, state attorney.

Community Theater Seeks Record Music Of Wartime Army

Recordings of Air Force and Army songs, preferably without vocals, are needed as background and intermission music in the Midland Community Theater's production of "Command Decision" April 13-15. E. J. Elliott, who is in charge of sound, said Tuesday.

About a year ago the Community Theater started the practice of matching all intermission music to the theme of each play. For "Command Decision," which is set in an Air Corps base in England in 1942, Miss Elliott wants to supply a background of music which was popular at that time and which relates to the Army or Army fliers. Especially, she wants an instrumental recording of the Air Corps song, beginning "Off we go into the wild blue yonder." It often is difficult to find the wanted records with no vocal chorus, she says, and especially so in this case.

Book Review Closes School For Baptists

Climaxing a day of instruction for the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church, Mrs. C. M. Dunagan reviewed Duke McCall's book, "God's Hour," Monday in the church.

The morning session was spent in instruction concerning the purposes and aims of the society and the duties of the officers. A luncheon was served at noon in the Recreational Hall. The book review closed the session after noon.

McCall presents the challenge of stewardship for Southern Baptist agencies to promote the advancement of Christianity. He is the executive secretary of the executive commission of the Southern Baptist Convention. Designed to undergird the advance program of Southern Baptists against the background of present world conditions, the book is a plea for spiritual power rather than military power for the United States.

Duties Discussed

Discussing the general purpose of the WMS, Mrs. J. M. White gave the Texas watchword, "Saved to Serve," and the general watchword, "Laborers Together With God." She also discussed the duties of the president.

Mrs. G. G. Johnson, president, gave instruction to the circle chairmen. Instruction for the enrollment chairman and co-chairman was discussed by Mrs. J. S. Griffith. Mrs. Stanley Erskine spoke on the duties of the young people's secretary and counselors.

Other discussions were by Mrs. J. E. McCain, on Community Missions; Mrs. Duke Jimerson, Missions and Bible Study; Mrs. Robert Donnell, Benevolence; Mrs. Johnson, Program and Literature; Mrs. Charles Mathews, Secretary and Treasurer; and Mrs. Albert Clements, Stewardship. Mrs. Floyd Coleman, society editor of The Midland Reporter-Telegram, was a guest and gave instruction to publicity chairmen and reporters.

Members present included Mrs. W. B. Preston, Mrs. W. B. Johnston, Mrs. Raymond Leggett, Mrs. S. C. Daugherty, Mrs. Vernon Yearby, Mrs. Haden Upchurch, Mrs. Paul Beaver, Mrs. Cecil Craft, Mrs. W. J. Ervin as president were installed, circle divisions for the next year were announced and a report of the last year's activities was presented by the retiring president, Mrs. J. Clifford Hall, at the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian Women of the Church Monday in the church.

Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor of the church, installed the officers with the charge that "The man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto all good works."

Mrs. Hall presented the gavel, symbol of the president's office, to Mrs. Ervin.

A resume of the year's work was given in Mrs. Hall's report, written around the theme, "To Brighten All Eternity." Mrs. Don Johnson, speaking for members of the group, presented corages with expressions of appreciation to the new and retiring presidents and to Louciana Roach, retiring director of religious education for the church.

Other Officers

Other officers installed were Mrs. Johnson, vice president; Mrs. H. M. Spangler, recording secretary; Mrs. John B. Mills, treasurer, and Mrs. Harry Gossett, historian.

Chairmen of committees who took office were Mrs. Paul Lavery, of the committee on spiritual growth; Mrs. William Carter, on world missions; Mrs. C. E. Bissell, on church extension; Mrs. Sol M. Bunnell, on education; Mrs. R. B. Lambert, on annuities and relief; Mrs. W. P. Knight, on stewardship and Mrs. J. A. Matthews, on the Assembly's special causes.

New Chairmen

Circle chairmen were introduced, and drew names of circle members for the next year. Two new circles were formed, one to meet in the afternoon and the other in the morning. A chairman is yet to be chosen for the Training Circle.

Mrs. A. L. Barr heads the Evening Circle, Mrs. D. Winters, Circle 2; Mrs. A. H. Vineyard, Circle 3; Mrs. Nelson Wallace, Circle 4; Mrs. C. H. Collins, Circle 5; Mrs. R. C. Spivey, Circle 6; Mrs. F. D. Hefren, Circle 7; Mrs. A. A. Roby, Circle 8; and Mrs. Harold Gentry, Circle 9.

Mrs. A. P. Shirey conducted the worship service, reading from the Gospel of Luke and using the topic, "Tarry Ye."

Refreshments were served in the church with Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Spivey and Mrs. D. A. Bliven as hostesses. Mrs. Ervin poured coffee and Mrs. Gossett served cake. Blue and yellow iris in a cut glass bowl centered the table, flanked by yellow tapers in silver holders.

Violinist Presents Pleasing Concert As Music Club Guest

A group of selections which blended into a smooth and pleasing program were played Monday night by Julius Hegyi, violinist, in the Midland High School Auditorium. Hegyi was presented by the Civic Music Club.

He is concert master of the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra and recently was named assistant conductor of the orchestra for next year. He was accompanied by June O'Mara of San Antonio. Leslie Hinds, principal of the West Elementary School, introduced Hegyi.

The opening number, Handel's "Sonata in D Major," was in four movements: adagio, allegro, larghetto and allegro. The two allegro or fast movements gave the audience an opportunity to study Hegyi's interesting bowing technique.

Familiar Selection

"Concerto in D Minor" by Wieniawski was the second selection and one more familiar to the audience. The second movement, romance, has a well-known theme and often is played by violinists. The first and third movements were allegro moderato and allegro moderato a la zingara.

Hegyi's third selection was Saint-Saens' "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso."

A group of shorter selections closed the program. They were Wieniawski's melodious "Legende," a Mozart "Minuet," "Minstrel" by Debussy, "Habanera" by Ravel, and Kroll's "Banjo and Fiddle."

His encores included "Serenade" and "The Bee" by Schubert.

Rising Unemployment

Heavy unemployment used to be considered one of the hallmarks of depression, but that day seems to be passing. According to government figures, some 4,700,000 persons were out of work in mid-February. Offhand that sounds like a pretty sizable pool of jobless, but the economists don't view it too seriously.

For the whole country, the unemployed represent around seven per cent of the labor force. Less than half the total have been out of work for as long as two months. Most of these are people moving from job to job.

The picture isn't so rosy, of course, in certain specific areas. Latest federal data show 43 "distress" regions where unemployment is at least 12 per cent. Only 39 were in this category the previous month.

Yet despite these black spots and the rather high national total of jobless, the outlook for business is not bleak. Most experts today are predicting prosperous activity for the remainder of 1950 and perhaps throughout 1951, too.

President Truman's economic advisers maintain their general optimism even though they believe U. S. unemployment may go to 5,500,000 this summer and possibly keep on rising into the fall and winter.

They are banking on the continuance of heavy demand in many basic fields. Market studies support their confidence. Not the least encouraging factor is the uninterrupted rise in the U. S. population. It's on this that many businessmen found their plans for expansion.

This very gain in population, however, accounts in part for the paradox of swelling unemployment in the midst of prosperity. Every year about 600,000 new workers start hunting for jobs. Industry must grow at least as fast as the population to absorb this steady stream.

To aggravate this problem, industry now is stepping up its productivity. That is, the output per man. Productivity rose pretty constantly in the decades up to World War II, but then slacked off. In the first postwar years, it was down below prewar levels. But in 1949 it picked up again. About three per cent fewer workers were needed to turn out approximately the same goods and services as were produced in 1948.

If this productivity trend continues, and that is considered both likely and desirable, then more and more goods will be made by fewer and fewer workers in the years ahead. Obviously that can add only to unemployed rolls unless industrial expansion offsets this factor.

So, while economists are cheerful, they also are keenly aware of the need for promoting industrial growth to make job room for the millions of new workers and technologically unemployed.

And there even is talk of restoring some kind of pump-priming WPA at an early date, to cushion the effect of the often painful adjustments necessary. We've only recently been introduced to the idea of unbalanced budgets in prosperous times; now we may see a job-making WPA side by side with an industry producing at record rates and employing more people than ever in history.

Reward For Spring Cleaning

If a lot of Americans will go at their Spring house-cleaning this year with more than usual vigor, they may find themselves reaping surprising dividends.

The government says there are more than $200,000,000 worth of matured but uncashed "baby bonds" still outstanding. Every month this year another $75,000,000 come due and ought to be cashed, but a good number probably won't be.

Officials think most of these securities are stuffed away in desks, strong boxes, mattresses, bookcases and similar spots around the house. When you've stowed them away so well, it's easy to forget you ever had them.

So turn the place inside out this Spring. There may be more than just shining floors and orderly desks to reward you. And if you do dig up a bond or two from World War II, don't feel too sheepish about it. There are still $9,623,000 worth of matured bonds outstanding from World War I—tucked in hiding places even their owners can't find.

Afraid Of Being In Dark?

The General Accounting Office in Washington declares that many federal agencies, squirrel-like, amass great hoards of supplies against a distant day in the future.

We can make a little allowance for an outfit that surrounds itself with reams of extra paper. In a town that's built on directives-in-triplicate, fears of a paper shortage are understandable.

But we're totally puzzled by the agency that collected enough light bulbs to serve its needs for the next 93 years. All we can guess is that the procurement official responsible for that buying orgy must have been frightened by the famous wartime government order which warned all federal employees to "terminate the illumination" when they really didn't need it.

The Horns Of The Farm Dilemma

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Senator McCarthy's top Communist agent works hard to combat communism in Far East; UN diplomats consider Owen Lattimore's present mission to Afghanistan one of most important in cold war.

WASHINGTON — Here is the real story of the man whom Senator McCarthy has charged with being the top Communist agent in the United States, and on whose case McCarthy says he will let his charges against the State Department stand or fall.

The man whose name McCarthy has given to the Senate subcommittee is Owen Lattimore, head of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore.

Dr. Lattimore is now in Kabul, Afghanistan, on an economic mission for the secretary general of the United Nations to bolster that country's economy against Russia. Mr. Lattimore has attempted to send messages to her husband, urging that he drive by car through the Khyber Pass in order to answer the McCarthy charges. However, even if these messages reach him, it will take a week or more for him to return to this country.

Meanwhile Mrs. Lattimore on March 22 addressed a letter to Senator Tydings of Maryland, asking for a hearing on the charges against her husband. On March 24 Dr. Lattimore's brother, John Hopkins, addressed a similar letter to Senator Tydings.

By an ironic twist of fate, the man whom Senator McCarthy alleges to be the top Communist agent in this country has been working diligently to combat communism in the Far East.

Specifically he persuaded the living Buddha of Mongolia, spiritual leader for Buddhists throughout the Far East, to come to the United States and he has been residing near Baltimore for more than a year under Lattimore's tutelage and protection. One of the first moves of Soviet leaders when they consolidate their hold on Mongolia was to oust the living Buddha, whose spiritual hold on Buddhists is not unlike that of the Pope on the Catholic world. The Soviet, as an enemy of all religion, naturally feared the living Buddha's influence.

At that time Dilowa, as the living Buddha is called, was offered a haven by the Dalai Lama of Tibet, but finally accepted Owen Lattimore's invitation to come to Baltimore instead.

Lattimore was born in Washington, D. C., in 1895; married Eleanor Holgate; was engaged in newspaper work and business in Shanghai and Tientsin for many years, and has spent a good part of his life in the Far East. In 1941 he became the political adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, leaving that post in 1942 to join the Office of War Information as deputy director of Pacific operations. Lattimore also served as adviser to General Marshall for a time. He has not, however, been connected with the State Department for the past five years.

Lattimore is considered the outstanding American authority on China and adjacent areas. He has written numerous books, including "The Desert Road to Turkestan," "High Tartary," "Manchuria, Cradle of Conflict," "The Mongols of China," "Inner Asian Frontiers of China," "Mongol Journeys," and "Soviet Asia."

FBI files on Lattimore give him complete clearance regarding any Communist activities and contain only some critical references to him by Albert Kohlberg, an American lace merchant who made various deals with the Chiang Kai-Shek dynasty and has become a multi-millionaire. Kohlberg and Lattimore at one time both belonged to the Institute of Pacific Relations, later dominated by Frederick Field, the American Communist. Many prom-

MEASLES IS MORE DEADLY THAN MOST PEOPLE REALIZE

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Measles is an extremely common disease and is mild in most cases, but there are enough serious complications to make it more of a danger than most people realize. Some people are so convinced that their children should have measles early and get it out of the way that they deliberately expose their youngsters to others who have the disease.

Measles is caused by a virus; once in a while this virus attacks the nervous system and causes most serious complications. It also weakens the body so that bronchopneumonia or bronchitis may set in and too often results in serious long-term difficulties with the lungs.

When measles does develop, therefore, precautions should be taken to lessen the risk of complications.

Bed rest until the acute stage of the disease is over should be enforced, as many of the serious complications come from letting the victim out of bed too early. Plenty of fluids should be given and easily digested foods. The eyes are sensitive to light so that reading and eye strain should be avoided. Often it is well to have the shades in the sick room partially drawn. Tepid baths are helpful in preventing itching and in soothing the skin; constipation is common and should be corrected.

The first symptoms of measles develop about two weeks after exposure to a patient who has been ill. Since during the first three or four days of the disease the symptoms resemble those of an ordinary cold with slight fever, many youngsters expose others without knowing that they have measles at all.

The diagnosis of measles is often difficult at first. During the time when there is much measles in the community, youngsters who develop symptoms of a slight cold with fever should be kept at home and away from their playmates. This will help to prevent the spread of the disease to others.

The fever at first is slight but goes up gradually. A slight cough is likely to be present and this tends to become gradually worse. The rash which begins to develop in a few days usually comes first on the forehead and behind the ears. From here it spreads rapidly over the neck, trunk and down the limbs and is usually fully developed in two or three days. Fading of the Counting your tricks is as important in defense as it is for the declarer. Another and more difficult point in defense is to learn to read the declarer's holding from what he does or does not do. Careful observation and clever defense defeated declarer's apparently good contract on today's hand.

West's king of clubs was allowed to win the first trick and he continued with the four of clubs, which South ruffed with the deuce of hearts. Declarer then led a small diamond to dummy's queen and returned a heart, playing the jack from his own hand.

West won the trick with the ace of hearts, and decided that his best play was to lead a small heart back. Declarer won this with the nine-spot and cashed the ace and king of diamonds, discarding two of dummy's spades.

Now declarer attempted to make a clever safety play. He led the deuce of spades. The rule, of course, is "second hand low"—but West was a good defensive player and he started to analyze declarer's holding from what he had done and had not done.

He remembered that when declarer was in the dummy with the queen of diamonds, he had not attempted to take the spade finesse; therefore he did not hold the ace and queen of spades. West also knew that South held no more diamonds; otherwise he would have attempted to ruff his losing diamond with dummy's last heart.

Therefore, if South had six hearts originally, he must still hold in his hand at this point the ace and one spade. This would leave East with the singleton queen. If West played low on the deuce of spades, East would win the trick with the queen. He would have nothing but a club or a diamond to return.

West therefore played the king of spades on the deuce and returned the trump. South had to concede a spade trick for the loss of his contract.

Measles Is More Deadly Than Most People Realize

rash starts in another two or three days. Those who are exposed to measles can be prevented from developing a severe attack by an injection either of serum from a person who is convalescing from measles or by a substance called human immune globulin. Both usually will prevent the development of the disease if given in time or make it milder.

It should be more generally realized that year in and year out measles causes more deaths than the dread polio.

FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie

By Rupert Hughes
Copyright 1950 by Rupert Hughes
Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Private detective Martin Queripel is trying to clear Paul Moody, a young sculptor, of the murder of the woman he had just married, Azalea Palmer, father of Azalea Palmer, Moody's name. Fingerprints found on the base of a telephone used to bidgedeen Palmer to death are claimed by police to be Moody's. Queripel examines these and has duplicate prints of his own taken from another telephone. He also asks police detective James Stivers to compare an unidentified print found on the phone with those of another detective Pete Kelso. Queripel learns that Kelso had a woman, Nedie Cost, had tried to blackmail Palmer. He built up an elaborate theory that Kelso's prints were on that phone and during the investigation Kelso had substituted Moody's when Stivers' back was turned. All Queripel needs now is proof that his theory is correct.

Stivers waited while Queripel studied the enlargements of his own prints. He watched while Queripel put aside them the eight prints of Paul Moody's labeled "telephone base." Still saying nothing, Queripel covered a large table with the different prints taken in Moody's studio. As he peered at them, and studied them with a microscope, "She is. And I'm glad," he said. "Thank God!"

"For what?"
"For giving us fingerprints 'all unlike.'"
Stivers laughed. "Your friend Moody may not be so grateful."
"Oh, but he will. And so will that wonderful girl, Azalea."
"She is nice, isn't she?" said Stivers. "I took her prints, you know. But why should she be grateful? I thought she was engaged to this guy Moody."
"She is. And I'm glad," he came to me with her scorn for the veracity of fingerprints."
"What are you getting at?"
"Look here, my boy. See these fingerprints of Moody that you took in his studio. See the difference."
"No! There's no difference."

"OH, but there is! Here's one you took from a bronze cast. See how the dotty metallic surface affects the prints and shows through the lines? Here's one taken from soft clay. Note the smooth medium beneath. Here's one from a veined marble. See the veins. Here's one from his desk—see the grain of the wood."
"Of course! The background always affects the regularity and shows through the fingerprints. But it doesn't change the pattern."
"Certainly not. And I'm thank-

'Association For Abolition Of Farm Price Support' Organized

WASHINGTON — Newst lobby to put in an appearance is "The Association for the Abolition of Farm Price Supports, Inc." So far it hasn't opened Washington offices, but is soliciting memberships from New York. Later it plans to work for reduction of price supports, which it now estimates cost $1,400,000 a year, and to stop the Bran-

Can Afford To Be Gracious
A plea "to permit the importation of more European-made goods . . . on the basis of fair competition," was made by the U. S. Council of the International Chamber of Commerce, in support of Marshall Plan objectives. President of this U. S. council is Philip D. Reed, who also is chairman of General Electric Company's board of directors. GE has a company which recently succeeded in beating out a British manufacturer—"on the basis of fair competition"—in bids to sell electric power transformers in the Northwest.

Fingerprints Work Better
Serial numbers assigned to men in the armed services during the war, for their "dog tags," were supposed to identify them as distinctively as fingerprints. So when GI insurance dividends were mailed out, they were checked against serial numbers on the assumption that no two persons would have the same number.

The serial number bookkeeping now has been found to be a little faulty. The first check by Veterans' Administration when they set up their mailing priority list disclosed almost a million men with duplicate numbers. A second check showed that a few of these duplications were the result of writing wrong numbers on application forms from veterans. The great bulk were simple mistakes and duplications by the various services. In one case the number had been assigned to seven different officers.

High Coffee Price
Easy explanation of recent drops in coffee sales has been that consumers have been on a buying strike against high prices. A variation of that explanation is that during the coffee "shortage" of last Fall and Winter, many consumers hoarded supplies. That shot up the price and made the strike worse. Now that coffee is in more plentiful supply, the hoarders are using up their reserves. That is supposed to have cut sales.

Paul Hadlock, counsel for Senator Gray of California, has a legislative committee investigating food prices, has another explanation. When coffee prices are high, he says, people aren't so wasteful. They don't make the extra cup for the pot, and they don't throw away coffee down the drain. They save it, and warm it up, and drink it later instead of making fresh.

New Education Bill
Since defeat of the Federal Aid to Education bill in a noisy wrangle of the House Labor Committee, proponents of this measure have taken a different tack. The plan they are discussing now is to concentrate on a bill which would appropriate federal funds for extra payment of teachers' salaries only. Such a bill would not carry with it the explosive religious issue which has hamstrung federal aid to education legislation thus far. National Education Association, which has been backing this legislation for years, is expected to swing round and support the modified teachers' salary bill, as the best that can be obtained at this session of Congress.

Airmen's Insurance Leftover
Congressional move for a probe of the whole veterans' insurance program grows out of a dispute between Comptroller General Lindsay Warren and the Veterans' Administration. The question that started it was a criticism by Warren on the payment of government insurance dividends to former aviation cadets. The law setting up the aviation training program provided that the government pay the cadets' insurance premiums. When it came time to distribute the GI insurance dividends, the Veterans' Administration ruled that the bonus should be paid to the men. It is Warren's contention that inasmuch as the government paid the premiums, the former cadets are not entitled to the dividends. The comptroller general claims VA illegally has paid $20,000 to 500,000 men, and that this sum should have been returned to the federal treasury.

One of the hot battles in House Appropriations subcommittee hearings this year has been over money for the Civil Aeronautics Board. CAB originally requested $4,800,000 for next year's operations. This was cut to $4,000,000 in the President's budget message. House Appropriations subcommittee under Rep. John J. Rooney of New York has recommended cutting it to $3,000,000. Airlines which have to do business with CAB are protesting mightily, although the House cuts may be restored in the Senate.

Behind the House subcommittee's action is an odd incident involving Representative Rooney and CAB Chairman Joseph J. O'Connell. At a New York dinner during the 1948 campaign, O'Connell made some remarks about the "H. T. B. T." congressmen—the lawmakers living near Washington who go "Home Thursday Evening." Rooney, O'Connell said, thought Congressman ought to work full time during the sessions, and not take such long weekends to carry on their law practices and do other private work while drawing congressional salaries. The remark was repeated to Representative Rooney, and he has been feuding with Chairman O'Connell ever since.

Headings of the Rooney subcommittee, just published, are filled with bitter wiggling. In one place there is this exchange:
Chairman O'Connell—May I ask a question?
Representative Rooney—No.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is anchor ice?
A—It is ice which forms on the bottom of a body of water. On clear cold nights in Winter, the loss of heat from swift running cold currents along the bottom of shallow water will cause the formation of anchor ice. When water at the bottom of the stream comes in contact with rocks these may serve as nuclei and the water freezes to that object, forming a growth of ice in an upstream direction.

Q—Are war prisoner checks tax exempt?
A—War claims payments to former prisoners of war and certain civilian internees will be exempt from federal income tax. Congress did not prescribe how the stars were to be arranged. Women Can't Help Turning On Charm In Old Beau's Presence

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"The man my wife was engaged to when she met me was in our town on business last week and called us up. My wife invited him to dinner, and I had to spend the evening watching her be ever so charming to him. I felt exactly like a third wheel. What is a husband supposed to do in a case like that?" So writes one of my men readers.

My answer is: grin and bear it. Of course your wife had to be her most charming self.

If there's one thing a woman, any woman, confronted by the sudden appearance of an old beau wants to do, it is to make the old beau see how much he missed in not getting her.

Likewise, and this too is only human, she wants to let him see that she did pretty well for herself.

Your wife was hoping against hope that you'd be witty and gay and make it quite obvious that you were very much in love with her.

That would serve two purposes. It would let the old beau know that she had chosen wisely. And it would also make her doubly sure, herself, that she had made the right choice.

So I hope you covered up your "third-wheel" feeling well enough to appear to the best advantage as a successful man, a devoted husband and a good host.

After all, old beaus don't come around very often. When they do they are rather important in a woman's life.

It gives her a perfect opportunity for reminding her husband that she did have other chances, and that some man still remembers that she exists. And it gives her a fine chance to think with satisfaction: "I might have married him. Thank goodness George saved me from that."

But that is the part no wife ever admits to George.

Mrs. Thompson will sing "One Kiss" from "The New Moon" by Sigmund Romberg and "Gianna Mia" from "The Firefly" by Rudolf Friml. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Mims, who will play organ selections before the quiz show begins.

The "famous quotation question," a well known part of the radio show will be included in Friday night's performance. The quotation will be selected from those submitted by Midland High School students. Wednesday noon is the deadline for entries in this contest. The winner will be announced during the show Friday night and will receive a prize.

Prospective Pupils In First Grade Are Eligible For Roundup

Parents of all children who are to enter Midland schools in the first grade next September are invited to the meetings set for 2:30 p. m. Thursday in all the elementary school auditoriums. These meetings will start the annual Health Roundup for Pre-School Children, sponsored by Parent-Teacher Associations.

Each person should go to the school where her child is expected to enroll. Letters have been sent to parents of 650 children who are scheduled to enter school next Fall, but since some addresses were not accurate and many new residents were not on the list, Mrs. H. L. Huffman, roundup chairman, stressed that no letter of invitation is necessary.

The purpose of the health roundup is to assure that every child starts his school career in the best possible physical condition. At the meeting Thursday, general information will be given and the parents will receive a card for each child, to be filled out with the child's health history.

This card, properly filled out, may be presented to the Midland physician of the parents' choice, to obtain a physical examination of the child without cost. As children enroll in the first grade in September, a certificate of examination, signed by the doctor, will be requested with the birth certificate of each.

Indians' Infield Takes Shape; Hot Workout Is Held

By SHORTHY SHELburnE

The Midland Indians went through a three-hour session at Indian Park Monday even though a raging sandstorm took its toll of "real estate" and rattled the boards on the fence enough to scare an Easterner right out of his wits.

Owner-Manager Harold Webb, outfitted in sweat clothes to the hilt, personally directed the workout. He kept an eagle eye peeled on his pitchers and infielders.

The drill covered everything in the book from running to hunting for balls outside the fence, where they had been parked by a half-dozen of the heavy hitters.

Harold Werne, limited service pitcher bought at the end of last season from Tucson, worked 30 minutes in batting practice. He looked sharp enough for this early in the season.

Infield Work
Webb used Jim Prince at first, Quinten Basco at second, George Fimback at short and several hopefuls at third during most of the workout.

Lonnie Balch, rookie from Lubbock, showed possibilities at the hot corner. He fields the ball cleanly and can throw hard enough.

Lon Dawson and Pat Lorenzo also took turns at third and turned in capable work.

Chuck Stephenson, the likeable and sharp-looking rookie from Oklahoma, showed plenty of hustle behind the plate and shagging fly balls. He gets a favorable nod from most baseball men who have seen him.

It was Prince, Stephenson, Dawson, Lorenzo and Balch who hit three dozen or more over the fence during batting practice. They definitely will add punch to the batting order.

Tommy Schoolcraft, Glen Tibbets and another rookie or two drove out a few hot liners.

Webb topped off the day's work with a hot infield session. The fielding of Balch at third and Fimback at short met with his approval. He already had seen the movements of Basco around the keystones, and he likes those, too.

The best looking new man on the field so far is Charles Stephenson from Guthrie, Okla.

He is working behind the plate regularly but shags balls, pitches batting practice and does other odd chores when the need arises. He's a workhorse from the word go.

Stephenson is another husky fellow who can hit 'em out. He demonstrated it Monday by losing 10 or 15 over the wall.

Pat Lorenzo, Prince and Lou Dawson also cost Harold Webb the price of a few balls by lofting them over the fence.

No one ever has doubted Prince's ability to hit and those who have doubted Dawson are in for a lesson. He swings from the port side but can hit to all fields.

The pitching staff is shaping up more every day with the arrival of new hurlers.

Harold Werne looked plenty quick tossing batting practice Monday even though we knew he wasn't bearing down.

John Singleton, the rookie right hander who came with Basco from Florida, has prospects.

Ernie Nelson and Ralph Blair have not started throwing much yet but should round into shape fast.

Webb says another lefty and another right hander are on the way to the Indians.

A rookie catcher scouted by Hank Ramsdell, former Indian outfielder, will be arriving soon. He hit .303 in 100 ball games in a Canadian semi-pro league last season.

TEXAS RELAYS ENTRIES MAY SET NEW RECORD
AUSTIN.—(AP)—Total individual entries in the Texas Relays Tuesday passed the 1,040 mark.

The all-time record entry list of 1,206 is threatened since the deadline does not come until midnight Tuesday and applications still are pouring in, some by telephone.

Track Team Drills In Gymnasium

Coach Tugboat Jones' Bulldog thin clad were forced inside for a workout Monday afternoon due to a sandstorm but the efforts being put out by the boys to ready themselves for the District 3-AA meet continued in earnest.

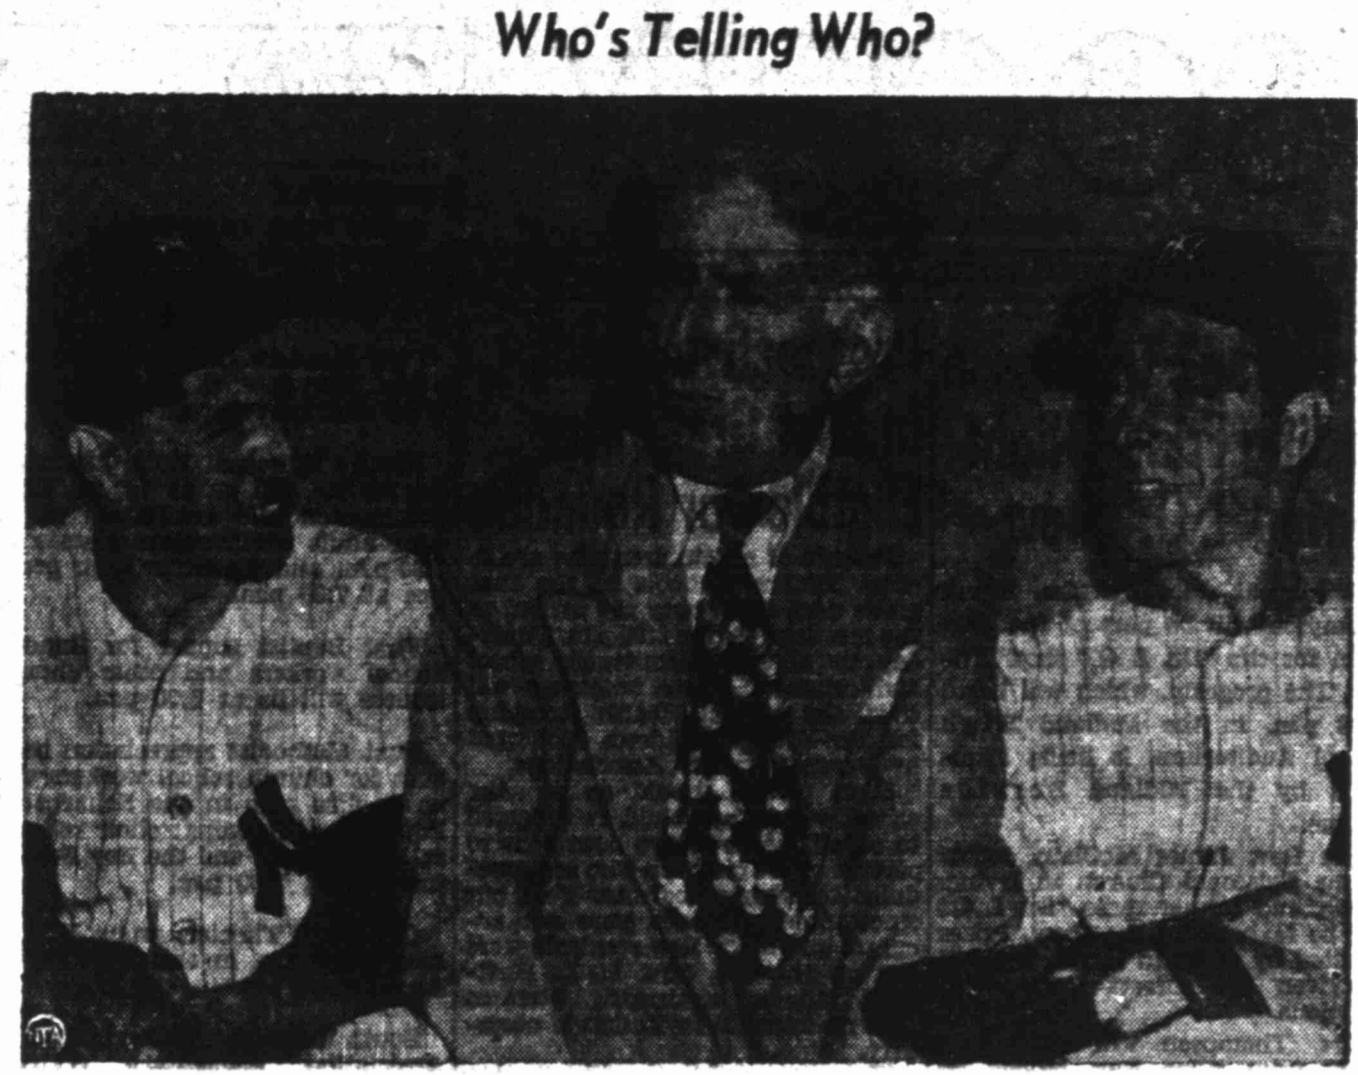

The District event is scheduled Saturday in Odessa's Broncho Stadium with Midland, Odessa, Lamesa, Lubbock and Brownfield competing.

Coach Jones has just about completed his lineup for both the junior and senior divisions of the meet.

Roy Kinsey, a dash man, will enter the 100 and 220-yard sprints in the senior class.

Roddy Braun, Larry Friday, Robert Kelsing, Harold Robbins and Dick Spencer have been named for the junior division. Others probably will be designated for junior events by Friday.

Coach Jones expected to take the entire squad back to Memorial Stadium for more outside work Tuesday.

Phil Rimuto, left, and Joe DiMaggio get the lowdown on baseball from Harry Grayson, NEA sports editor, in St. Petersburg, Fla., dugout of the world champion Yankees.

Who's Telling Who?

Bulldogs Slated Against Steers In Practice Tilt

The Midland Bulldogs were scheduled against the Big Spring Steers in an exhibition baseball game at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in Big Spring.

The game originally was scheduled to be played in Midland but was changed due to a conflict.

Coach Garvin Beauchamp announced Bill Modari as the probable starting hurler. Jimmy Chausney was to work behind the plate.

Infield starters were to be Bob Wood at first, Robert Melton at second, Reed Gilmore at shortstop and Norman Drake at third. Jack Mobley, L. C. Thomas and Loren Roberts were slated for the outfield.

Spirited Brownies Dream Of Knocking Off All Favorites

BURBANK, CALIF.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns appear to be in a lot better shape this year than they did as they broke camp and headed East a year ago.

As it turned out, the 1949 club finished seventh, which is about one under par for the club. Zack Taylor's 1950 Brownies should do, not worse than seventh this year and they might just possibly sneak by another American League entry.

This will take some doing, of course, because the six-place Chicago White Sox and the fifth-placed Philadelphia Athletics appear stronger than a year ago.

But—St. Louis has played and performed better this Spring despite the loss of such valuable articles as infielders Bob Dillinger and Gerry Friddy, this may sound confusing, of course, because a team seldom improves, even if the club exchequer does, with the sale of gentlemen like Dillinger and Friddy.

You have to see St. Louis and its host of youngsters to understand this paradox. The kids seem to want to play ball. Credit this to them, to Taylor or quite possibly to Dr. David Tracy, the eminent hypnotist who has been persuading the lads they can play giant killer and get away with it.

Whoever is responsible, the Browns have refused to roll over and play dead to anyone on the Citrus Circuit. "I honestly believe we're going to make more trouble than most people suspect," promised Co-owner Charley DeWitt.

There are several regulars on the pitching staff who might have winning seasons, and Taylor has several excellent freshmen who bear watching. If not this year, then next. Of the former, there's Cliff Fanin and Dick Starr, both of whom were physically hampered last year. There's Ned Garver, Tom Ferrick, Louis Kretlow, Stubby Overmire and Bob Kennedy. Lefty Kennedy could win 15 or 18 if he gains control. All wins are promise.

Ladies Golf Teams To Play Wednesday
Ladies' golf teams entered in a four-week tournament at Midland Country Club will tee off in the second round of play over the MCC course Wednesday morning.

The event is sponsored by the Ladies Golf Association.

Team No. 1, captained by Miss Shirley Culbertson, edged out Team No. 2 last week. Mrs. Wright Cowden is captain of the No. 3 group.

Arkansas Enters Birmingham Relays

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—(AP)—The first Southwestern Conference entrant, Arkansas, Tuesday was added to the field for the annual Birmingham Relays in Birmingham April 8.

Committee men announced Monday night receipt of a telegram from Arkansas Coach Johnny Morrison entering 14 or 15 competitors.

Official entries in the university division have been received from Notre Dame, Michigan, Illinois, Yale, Oklahoma A&M, Virginia Polytechnic, Georgia, Louisiana State and Mississippi State.

Training Camp Briefs

By The Associated Press
Major league baseball men who claim pitchers need an earlier Spring training start had fresh evidence Tuesday to support that opinion.

Observers say pitchers need more time than any other players to become conditioned; that managers also need more chance to get a good line on their flinging department.

Monday's activities in the Citrus Circuit added to the many football-like scores.

Weirdest of all was the 18-16 farce at Bradenton, Fla., in which the Boston Braves outslugged the Detroit Tigers. The teams made 37 hits between them—21 for the losers and 16 for the Braves.

Another quiet little contest was played at Clearwater, where the Philadelphia Phillies unleashed a 17-hit attack against the Washington Senators to win 13-8. Washington got a dozen hits, making 29 for the game.

With poor weather also a factor, the Cubs drew only 39,971 customers in 15 games—at least 50 per cent below normal.

CCNY Favored To Achieve Fabulous Hardwood 'Double'

NEW YORK.—(AP)—City College of New York rules a two-point favorite Tuesday to subdue Bradley for the NCAA championship and thereby gain basketball immortality.

A victory for the once-unsung Beavers, who have been hot as a stove lid for the last two weeks, would make them the first team to win the sport's fabulous "double"—the two big national tournament titles in a single season.

Eastern highly enough to rate in the first 20 has become immaterial. Series of Upsets

Since the boys started knocking each other over in the post-season eliminations, the aroused CCNY sophomores have acted as if they owned the place.

They swept to the National Invitation title on a series of upsets, turning back Bradley in the final round 69-61. Then they gained the NCAA finals by routing Ohio State and North Carolina—54 in the Garden.

During that binge they have beaten five of the top six teams in The Associated Press rankings and four conference champions—Kentucky of the Southeastern, Bradley of the Missouri Valley, Ohio State of the Big Ten and NC State of the Southern.

Bradley, which has been forced to do a lot of traveling in its tournament endeavors, won the Western playoffs at Kansas City by humbling UCLA and Baylor.

Charles-Beshore Bout Off

BUFFALO, N. Y.—(AP)—The twice-scheduled NBA heavyweight title bout between Ezzard Charles and Challenger Freddie Beshore was definitely "off" Tuesday.

The New York State Athletic Commission announced Monday night the fight had been "postponed indefinitely" because a rib injury had bruised one of the champion's heart muscles. The commission said Charles would be able to fight in two months.

But Promoter Dewey Michaels of the Fairview Athletic Club washed his hands of the whole thing and said the fight was cancelled.

Too Much Expense
Michaels had sunk about $10,000 into trying to promote Buffalo's first heavyweight championship fight and apparently wasn't willing to go along with another postponement.

Even a sell-out at $60,000, with Charles collecting 40 per cent and Beshore 17 1/2, wouldn't leave Michaels with much of a margin over the additional outlay.

The Fairview AC said it was advised of the commission's decision in a telephone call from New York "after an assortment of unusual antics by the champion and his co-managers, Jake Mints and Tom Tannis."

"Apparently Charles and his managers left for New York last evening (Sunday) after Edward's workout, at which some 200 spectators and veteran newspaper observers failed to detect anything wrong with him."

College Coaches May Ask Repeal Of Two-Minute Rule
NEW YORK.—(AP)—College basketball coaches discussed the controversial two-minute rule in a closed session Monday, with indications they would urge its removal from the books.

The rule provides that the team fouled in the last two minutes keep possession of the ball. Its purpose is to reduce intentional fouls near the end of the game.

Opponents of the regulation declare the rule not only failed in this, but has created these other flaws:

1. It drags out the game.
2. It virtually reduces the game from 40 to 38 minutes.
3. It favors the team in front at the time it goes into effect.

College coaches are expected to recommend a change in rules to the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, which meets here Wednesday and Thursday.

The national committee is made up of representatives of the colleges, the Amateur Athletic Union, YMCA, the National Federation of High Schools and Canadian amateur groups.

Hanson—

(Continued From Page One) McCarthy. The others were Dorothy Kenyon, former American representative on a United Nations commission; Ambassador at Large Philip C. Jessup, and Mrs. Esther Brynauer, who is on the State Department's UN relations staff. All had been named by McCarthy in detailing his charges that the State Department is shut out by Communists and Communist sympathizers. Attorneys for Owen Lattimore, another of those named by McCarthy, advised the committee Lattimore "will be eager to speak for himself at the earliest possible moment."

Political Issue Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University professor and some time consultant to the State Department, now is in Afghanistan on a UN mission. McCarthy said he believes Lattimore is a top Soviet espionage agent. Lattimore cabled The Associated Press that McCarthy's "rantings" were "pure moonshine." There are increasing indications the whole matter is going to be a big issue in this year's political campaigns, regardless of what may yet come out of the Senate investigation of McCarthy's charges. Republicans have been hammering away at Secretary of State Acheson. Some of them are making a point, too, of the administration's reluctance to open secret government files to the Senate investigators.

In a Senate speech Monday, Senator Bridges (R-NH) said Russia must have a master spy in the American government who is "using our State Department as he will." He demanded that Congress find out "how did Stalin manage it."

On the other hand, Democrats have been slapping at McCarthy, contending he has hurt the United States in the conduct of its foreign relations. Files Still Withheld Bridges let fly with his charge shortly after FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover and Attorney General J. Edgar Hoover came out vigorously against turning over confidential FBI files to the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee doing the investigations. The committee wants the files for use in its inquiry into accusations by McCarthy.

Hoover told the committee Monday afternoon that releasing FBI data would cripple the agency and "smear" innocent people. McGrath backed him up vigorously. At the "Summer White House" in Key West, Fla., it was reported that Truman had decided to withhold the files on the same basis Hoover cited.

Senator Tydings (D-Md.), chairman of the investigating committee, indicated he expects formal word from Truman quickly—perhaps by Wednesday at the latest.

State Department Promotes Jessup In Far Eastern Shakeup

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The first major State Department shakeup in months, designed to deal more effectively with communism in the Far East, is in the making. It coincided with—but there was no indication it was influenced by—the start of a vigorous Republican drive to oust Secretary of State Acheson. It did affect principally the department's Far Eastern Division, which has been under Republican fire for months. As one result, an Acheson aide will go to Japan to confer with Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Far Eastern problems. The new line-up, announced Monday, placed Ambassador Philip C. Jessup in the post of principal adviser to Acheson on world political issues. Jessup will share a general coordinating job with Undersecretary James E. Webb. Dean Rusk Advanced President Truman said at Key West, Fla., that Jessup has been persuaded to remain in the government as ambassador-at-large.

In the re-shuffle, Dean Rusk, who has been deputy undersecretary for political affairs, was made chief of the Bureau of Far Eastern Affairs. This is the agency directly concerned with relations with Japan, China and with the aid measures now being put into shape to bolster Southeast Asia against Communist pressure.

Rusk takes over the job held by Assistant Secretary W. Walton Butterworth, who often has been a target of Republican criticism. Butterworth will devote his full time to Japanese problems and one of his first moves will be a trip to Tokyo to consult with MacArthur. Diplomatic officials said the result of the shifts will be a stronger team of experts to reshape policies which have been under criticism in Congress.

Austerity Boost Is Due For British

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's shaky labor government Tuesday ordered another dose of austerity—further cuts in purchases from the United States and other dollar countries—to cure the nation's continuing economic ills. Plans were outlined to cut Britain's estimated dollar drain in half in 1962 by a drastic 26 per cent slash in imports from hard currency countries—principally America.

The government at the same time called on Britons to work harder and more efficiently for the same wages. Exports to earn dollars must be pressed harder than ever. An economic survey for the coming year, issued by the government Tuesday as a white paper, declared the continuation of Marshall aid "though on a diminishing scale" was the basic assumption on which the hope of progress is based.

Winds—

(Continued From Page One) braska eased but there still was dust in the air in parts of Texas. But the winds had diminished considerably from the blows of Sunday which carried away rich top soil and caused many highway accidents.

Rain, wind and dust storms buffeted the South Monday. Scores were injured and property damage was heavy. The gale-like winds and rain extended over areas of Arkansas, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, Kentucky and Louisiana. Winds of 70 to 100 mph swirled across a 700-mile front of Louisiana and Arkansas. Small craft warnings were hoisted from Texas to the Florida Keys and to Cape Hatteras, N. C. Dust storms blackened skies over Northwest Florida, Southern Georgia and parts of Alabama. A small tornado hit Paden, Miss., leveling a dozen homes, and caused an estimated $200,000 damage.

Oil And Gas Log—

(Continued From Page One) the rate of 28 barrels a day and gas at the rate of one million cubic feet per day following a 1,500-gallon mud acid wash on the perforations at 10,510-650 feet. That was prior to the injection of the 6,000 gallons of regular acid.

Extension Is Assured To North Pecos Pool

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-B G-27, a three-eighths of a mile southeast stepout to the San Rose-Eilenburger pool in Pecos County is being prepared for casing and will be completed. Distillate and a large amount of gas flowed at the surface on two separate drillstem tests in the Eilenburger. On the first test of 9:38-9:40, the tool was open one hour and 26 minutes. Gas surfaced in three and one-half minutes; mud and distillate began flowing in 48 minutes. Gas volume was gauged at 5,735,000 cubic feet per day. The distillate was 58.6-gravity, but was not gauged. Final Test On the last drillstem test reported, at 9:49-9:55 feet, tool was open one hour and 17 minutes. Gas surfaced in two and one-half minutes and was gauged at the end of the test at 11,620,000 cubic feet per day. Mud and distillate began flowing in 17 minutes, the total recovery of which was 14,338 barrels, mostly oil. Distillate recovered was 62.6-gravity.

Flowing pressure was 2,875 pounds, and shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 4,150 pounds. This Santa Rosa extension is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 107, block 8, H&G survey, and seven miles south of Grandfalls. Leander Perez, counsel for Louisiana, said his state was admitted to the union with title to two leagues into the sea, the amount claimed from the king of France when De La Salle discovered Louisiana.

San Andres Discovery Completed In SW Kent

Official completion of a small, pumping, San Andres discovery in Southwest Kent County was being filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas. Drilling & Exploration Company and Nelson Bunker Hunt, No. 1 Wilson Connell potential for 12 barrels of 33-gravity oil, plus 85 per cent water in 24 hours. Pay is from the San Andres at 2,340 to 2,350 feet, plugged back string is set at 2,340.

The venture is bottled in the Eilenburger at 7,931 feet, which proved void of production possibilities, as did all other sections, except the San Andres. Location of the No. 1 Connell, opener of the suggested Connell field, is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 19, block 6, H&G survey. It is two miles southeast of the town of Polar and three miles southeast of the Polar-Eilenburger pool.

Outside Wells Widen Scurry Reef Oil Pay

Widening of the proven areas of Scurry County's prolific Scurry reef is continuing. To be another link in the bridge between the Kelley and Diamond Mc-Canyon pools, General Guide Oil Company No. 4 J. E. Shipp is scheduled to be drilled 467 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 212, block 97, H&C survey.

The project has been filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas as being in the Kelley pool, seven miles west of Snyder. One mile east of the above project and on the south edge of the Kelley pool, Pan American Production Company No. 1 Gertrude Adams will be drilled in the near future. Exact location is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 211, block 97, H&C survey, and six miles west of Snyder. In North Snyder Proposed for the southwest edge of the North Snyder field is Carter & Mandel Company, General Guide Oil Lublock No. 1 C. Ferguson. Location will be 660 feet from south and west lines of the west half of the northwest quarter of section 296, block 97, H&C survey. This will place the drilite five miles northwest of Snyder.

To be on the northwest side of the Kelley field and seven miles northwest of Snyder, Pan American Production Company No. 4 C. E. McCormick will be drilled 467 feet from north and east lines of section 254, block 97, H&C survey.

Texaco Abandons SW Gaines Venture

The Texas Company No. 1 A Mickles, a southwest Gaines County wildcat, has been abandoned in the Clear Fork of the Permian at a total depth of 7,711 feet. The venture had some slight shows of oil and gas in that formation, but not enough to warrant making production tests. The failure is 680 feet from north and 1,480 feet from west lines of section 21, block A-28, psd survey. It was four miles northwest of Main Street, Tuesday reported to police the theft of a wrist watch from his home. He had reported the loss of a vacuum cleaner earlier.

Texas Seeks Jury Trial On Ownership Of Submerged Lands

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Attorney General Price Daniel of Texas went before the Supreme Court Tuesday to plead for a jury trial or a district court hearing in the federal government's suit to gain control of oil-rich Tidelands. Texas and Louisiana joined in making the request. Attorneys for Louisiana in oral arguments Monday said their state is entitled to a jury trial on the merits of the case. Texas told the court in a 197-page brief it should have either a hearing before a special master or a district court. Court attaches said the Texas brief is one of the largest ever filed with the court.

The Texas attorney general supplemented the brief with arguments Tuesday. Arguments which the court is hearing technically are on a Department of Justice motion asking a Supreme Court decision in its favor on the strength of briefs filed. Government Asks Title The federal government asked the court to give title or paramount rights and full dominion over submerged lands which the two states claim as far out as 27 miles from shore. Texas and Louisiana lease some of the land for oil development and collect large sums in oil royalties. The government also asks an accounting of this money.

The Texas brief contends its title to the submerged land goes back to the days of the Republic of Texas, that Texas' boundaries were fixed to include three-leagues of submerged lands and that the state retained title to this land. Leander Perez, counsel for Louisiana, said his state was admitted to the union with title to two leagues into the sea, the amount claimed from the king of France when De La Salle discovered Louisiana.

Caso Has Plan To Halt Dust Storms

DALLAS—(AP)—Caso March, candidate for governor, has a plan to stop dust storms in the Panhandle. He'd make the Panhandle's natural gas push downstream water back through pipelines. March, seeking the Democratic nomination, said Tuesday he presented the plan in meetings at Amarillo and Borger. He proposed to make natural gas both pay the way and do the actual work. A one-cent per thousand cubic feet tax on gas would finance the plan, he said, and gas compressor stations would pump the water. "A one-cent per thousand tax would produce enough money to build a stream-lined aqueduct from the Red, Canadian and Brazos Rivers."

Crippled Vet Charged In California Robbery

VAN NUYS, CALIF.—(AP)—A paraplegic veteran was under arrest Tuesday on suspicion of driving his speedily equipped automobile as the getaway car in a $2,000 robbery. Stanley D. Hill 25, a Veterans Hospital patient paralyzed from the waist down, and John Kerns, 25, 19, were booked on suspicion of robbery yesterday. Helen Couchey, 28, bookkeeper for a gas station, said a man took money she was preparing to deposit in a bank and escaped in a car driven by another man. Detective Henry Acosta said he spotted the getaway car near the American Hospital and found the money underneath a seat. The two men were arrested on the hospital grounds.

U. S. Population Set At 150,388,000

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Census Bureau Tuesday estimated the population of the United States at 150,388,000 as of February 1. Census experts expect the 1960 census, which starts Saturday, will show a population of 150,500,000 to 151,000,000. The estimate for February 1 excludes 420,000 Americans serving in the Armed Forces overseas.

GOP Presses For Cuts In Truman's Spending Estimate

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Republican strategists pressed on Tuesday in their drive aimed at slashing up to half a billion dollars from foreign recovery spending. Major parts of the Administration's foreign policy program were at stake as the House neared a decisive stage on President Truman's one-package, $3,878,460,000 foreign aid bill it covers the 1951 fiscal year which begins July 1. GOP House leaders decided Monday to press for sharp reductions in 1951 aid authorizations despite Truman's weekend plea to Congress to "take a blow for peace" by approving the full amount. Republican policy makers made equally clear they have the whole Truman spending program—domestic as well as foreign—in line for attempted prunings.

Sweetwater Woman Is Fined As Result Of Crash Near Here

Justice of the Peace Joseph A. Seymour Tuesday fined a Sweetwater woman $86 and costs in connection with an automobile accident about three and one-half miles west of Midland Monday afternoon. The woman was driving a vehicle which collided with a car driven by Dale C. Stroope of Odessa, officials said. No one was injured, according to Deputy Sheriff Bill Felts who investigated. The Sweetwater car had five passengers. One of them, a man, was assessed a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of being drunk. According to Felts, the Sweetwater woman attempted to pass a vehicle without sufficient clearance, resulting in a collision with Stroope's car, which was heading toward Midland. Stroope had three Odessans with him at the time of the accident.

Eisenhower's Word Can Boost Nation's Military Spending

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Eisenhower advocates Tuesday conceded Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has only a word to say and Congress probably will respond with a boost in military spending. This viewpoint was made clear by interested senators despite the Key West, Fla., statement Monday by Secretary of Defense Johnson that the nation's defenses are "adequate" for the present. Senator McClellan (D-Ark.), who headed an unsuccessful drive last year to cut President Truman's budget 10 per cent, told a reporter that if Eisenhower thinks the military setup needs more money he will vote for it.

Life And Death Matter "That's a matter of life and death," McClellan said. "I think we can make substantial cuts elsewhere in the budget but if General Eisenhower says our defenses are not being kept up adequately, Congress is almost sure to do something about it." Senator Byrd (D-Va.) said he hopes that when the general testifies before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, probably Wednesday, Eisenhower will clear up what the Virginia senator said he thinks may be a misconception about a recent speech. Eisenhower said then that this country has "remained to the extent in some directions even beyond the extent—that I, with deep concern for her present safety, could possibly advise."

Byrd said he thinks the general was not necessarily talking about the $13,028,000,000 military budget for the year beginning July 1. Byrd suggested Eisenhower may have been speaking of the speedy demobilization after the war and its after effects on the defense setup.

Right-Of-Way For Odessa Highway Is Almost Complete

Purchase by Midland County of another tract of right-of-way leaves only four tracts to be obtained for a complete right-of-way for the proposed four-lane Midland to Odessa Highway. County Judge Clifford C. Keith announced Tuesday. The recent purchase involves an acre of land located four miles west of Odessa. Midland County already has acquired all the right-of-way for the project. Among the Midland County sections still to be obtained are 8.66 acres of the Odessa Country Club, which extends into Midland County, Judge Keith said. Another tract, involving three acres, is expected to be obtained this week. The state has provided $977,000 for the new highway. The highway will be divided into two sections. During the construction traffic will not be delayed, according to Highway Department officials.

Arnold Changes Mind About Senate Race

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Edward Arnold, an actor by trade, has decided he doesn't want to be a senator after all. A week after announcing he would file for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator, Arnold—who incidentally (as the press agents say) plays a senator in his current picture—Monday withdrew from the race. He said he didn't have time to prepare for the campaign.

Marching Contest Will Be Feature Of Band Competition

Band music fans Saturday will be given an opportunity to hear and see 21 marching bands at Memorial Stadium, as a part of the Region Eight Band Contest and Festival to be staged here. Jerry Hoffman, band director of Midland High School, in charge of arrangements for the contest, announced Wednesday admission to the evening marching contest will be 10 cents for adults and 5 cents for students. No charge is to be made for the concert competition, scheduled during the day at MHS auditorium. Concert appearances will begin at 7:30 a.m. The last of the 21 bands is to play at 6:30 p.m. As a part of the annual festival, being held in Midland for the first time, solo competitions will be held throughout the day in the high school buildings. Brass groups, string and band, reeds, and twirling and percussion sections will meet with separate judges. Schools entered in the event are: Midland, Odessa, Kermit, Lamesa, Andrews, Monahans, McCombs, Seminole, Wind, Pecos, Marathon, Alpine, Sanderson, Denver City, Fort Stockton, Iraan, Crane, Grandfalls, Okeana, Rankin and Big Lake.

Four-Day-Old Fire Threatens Grasslands

CIMARRON, N. M.—(AP)—Ranchers, volunteers and National Guardsmen Tuesday fought to save precious cattle grazing lands from a fire which has swept Northern New Mexico for four days. The blaze has wiped out from 50,000 to 100,000 acres of timber and is threatening grasslands, timber-dry from lack of moisture.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Little Miss Mitzi

Remember yesterday how Daddy Ringtail met the very little monkey girl who said her name was Mitzi. She said she was going to see her monkey grandmother, but night was so near that Daddy Ringtail asked her to stay for supper at his monkey house, and to spend the night there.

She said she would, but while she was washing her hands, Mother Ringtail whispered to Daddy Ringtail: "She's so very little! Do you suppose she's really a smart little girl who knows enough to go to her grandmother's house by herself? Or has she run away from home?"

Daddy Ringtail didn't know. The little girl, Mitzi, had said that she lived a long way off, down by the sea, and that her grandmother lived on the other side of the Great Forest, and so Daddy Ringtail whispered to Mother Ringtail: "If she isn't a smart girl, I'll have to go with her tomorrow, and see that she doesn't get lost."

Mitzi came back to the kitchen just then, and she saw Daddy Ringtail and Mother Ringtail whispering to each other. "Oh! You mustn't do that!" Mitzi said. "It isn't polite to whisper!"

Mother Ringtail laughed. She thought that the little girl was very sweet and very cute. "We don't want to be impolite," Mother Ringtail said, "but here—sit down at the table. You can use Sammy's chair. He is away for a visit too."

Mitzi sat down, straightening her apron as big as any big girl, even though she was very little. "It's impolite to whisper," she said again. "If you don't want a little somebody to understand you, then you can spell if the little somebody doesn't know how to spell."

Daddy Ringtail laughed and said to Mother Ringtail: "She surely is a smart girl," which meant that Mitzi was cute.

Mitzi laughed. "That's not all," she said. "I'm also smart, which means that she was smart."

She knew how to spell as well as anybody, and she was really smart. She was smart enough to go to her grandmother's house by herself.

Scales, Gas Pumps Found Inaccurate

WICHITA FALLS —(AP)—More than half of the scales and gasoline pumps here inspected by a state inspector have been condemned as inaccurate.

Phil Ford, chief of the Weights and Measures Division of the commissioner of agriculture's office, told Mayor Harold Jones his report was based on inspection of 189 scales and 363 gasoline pumps.

Her mother had said she could, even though she was little. Yes, and that will show you, I think, how people don't have to be big to be smart. Oh no, but happy day! (Copyright 1950, General Features Corp.)

Grand Jury Slated To Probe Alleged Teen-Age Sex Club

BORGER — (AP) — A grand jury Tuesday may investigate reports of a "non-virgin" club, a group that requires its teen-age members to have illicit sexual relations.

"We don't have any concrete evidence of such a club," said District Attorney Bob Galloway Monday night. "But we've heard lots of talk in this town."

Galloway said the grand jury was not called to investigate the alleged club. However, he said he expects it to consider "any evidence we can give it."

The Borger News-Herald ran a series of stories on the alleged club and said some officials believe it is master-minded by an adult. The newspaper said all its information had not been proved but that there had been enough "talk" to give the reports credence. The paper said some information came from "plants" who had attended meetings.

New Shoe Store To Open Here In April

A new shoe concern, Barnes & Company, Inc., plans to open for business here about April 15, it was announced Monday by W. P. Barnes of San Angelo, president of the new company.

The business will be located at 120 North Main Street in the building formerly occupied by the Midland Tire Company. Remodeling of the structure, including the installation of a modern front, started Monday.

Harry Krist of San Angelo will manage the Midland store. He is a stockholder in the firm. In addition to the manager, five or six other persons will be employed.

Krist, who formerly managed shoe stores in Tyler and Amarillo, will move his family here soon.

The store is to carry complete lines of men's, women's and children's shoes, Barnes said.

An application has been made to the Secretary of State for a charter for the firm. Capital stock, paid in, is $30,000. Incorporators include Barnes, Troy Duncan, vice president, and A. J. Presson, secretary-treasurer.

Missionaries View Japan As Ripe Field For Church Converts

TOKYO — (AP) — Several hundred missionaries are trying to convert the 82,000,000 Japanese to Christianity. Fewer than 400,000 have openly accepted Christianity so far, church figures indicate, but missionaries regard Japan as a promising field.

There is rivalry to win converts, since an outstanding Japanese brought into one fold or another brightens the prospects for getting others.

Both Catholics and Protestants have regained their former strength, according to latest available figures. Membership in the Roman Catholic Church was 119,224 in 1940. The various Protestant churches claimed an aggregate membership of 200,000.

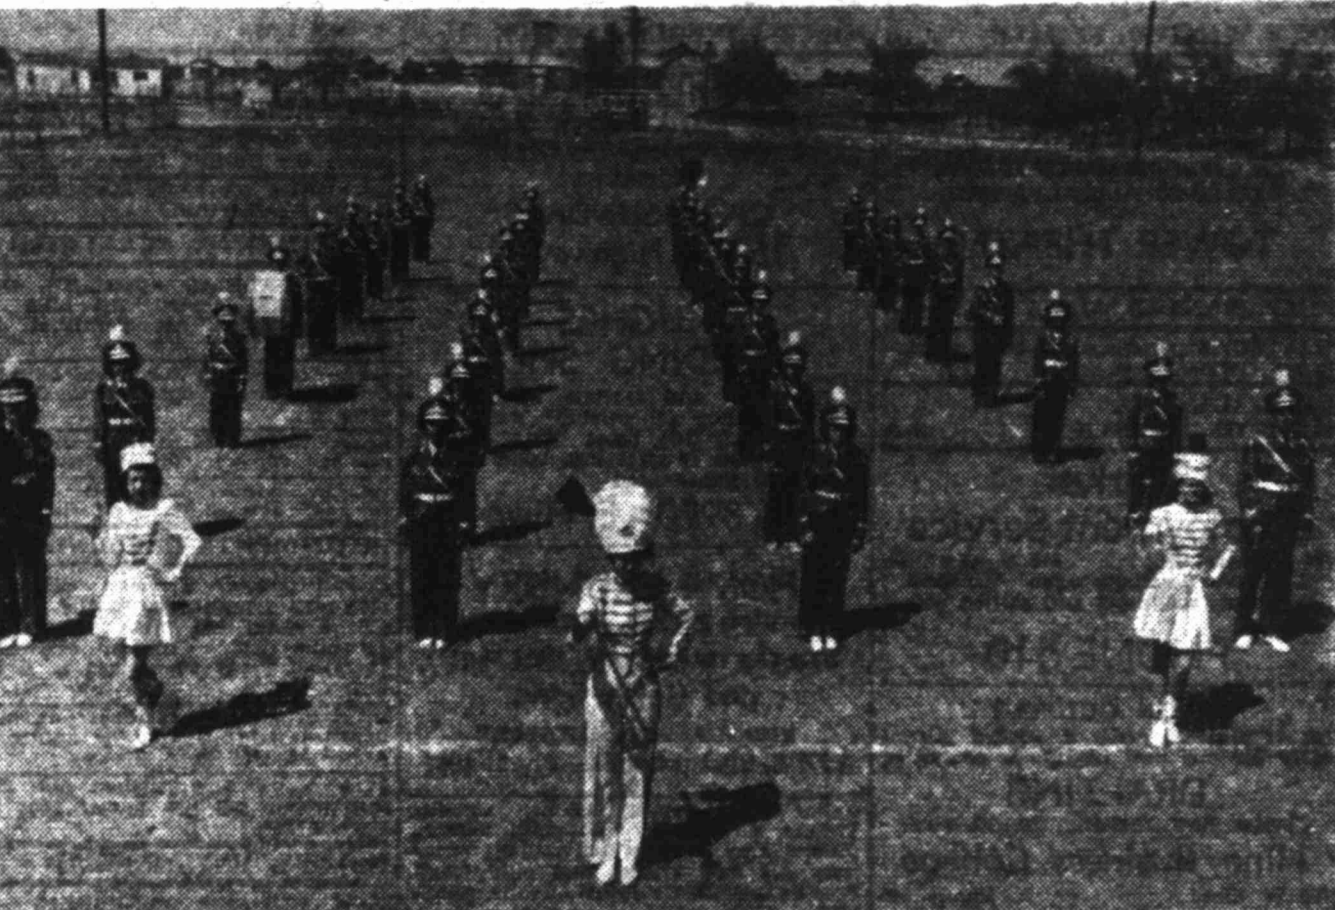

Membership and open adherence to Christianity dropped seriously during the war because, according to Japanese, "Christianity was as unpopular as pacifism" under the war lords.

But by virtue of stepped-up missionary activity after the war, Christianity gained back its losses and in some cases exceeded its old membership. In 1949, the Catholics claimed membership of more than 138,388 and the Protestants claimed 201,321.

Although the main religion in Japan is a combination of the native primitive Shinto religion with Buddhism, Christianity is not new to its people. St. Francis Xavier introduced Christianity to the Japanese in 1549 and during the regime of one early emperor it was forced on the people as a state religion as a means of defeating the Buddhists.

The Buddhists, nevertheless, have held the greatest sway over the people of this island empire. Most of the population belongs to one of the 12 organized Buddhist sects, all of which contain some of the old Shinto beliefs. The most outstanding shinto belief to survive the centuries is that the emperor is descended from the sun goddess. Each of Japan's 184 emperors is believed to have descended directly from the first sovereign, who was the sun goddess' grandson.

Negotiations In Auto Strike Are Snagged

DETROIT — (AP) — Negotiations in the Chrysler strike were snagged Tuesday over particulars of the Company's $30,000,000 pension offer.

The CIO United Auto Workers accused the company of "hedging," a charge which Chrysler immediately denied.

A result of the split was to set back hopes for an early settlement of the 63-day-old walkout which has idled 140,000 workers in the automobile industry.

However, the negotiations schedule was unbroken with another session set for Tuesday afternoon.

Expert Says Dust Storms Not Equal To Those In Thirties

WASHINGTON — (AP) — One of the nation's top soil experts doesn't think the present crop of Midwestern dust storms will be as bad as the "black blizzards" of the thirties.

Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the Agriculture Department's Soil Conservation Service, said Tuesday both farmers and the government are better able to cope with the problem of high winds and traveling soil than 25 years ago. Thousands of acres of land were stripped of valuable top soil then.

He said farmers in the Great Plains have learned good soil conservation practices and that the department has experts in the field to help them carry out such practices.

Even though there perhaps is just as much land in cultivation now as there was in the dust storm period of the thirties, less of it will be subject to soil erosion, Bennett said, because many farmers are following practices designed to hold soil blowing to a minimum.

5,000 Perverts Live In Capital, Senate Subcommittee Told

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A Senate Appropriations subcommittee has heard an estimate there are 5,000 homosexuals in Washington—three-fourths of them working for the government.

Senators said Tuesday this estimate was given to the committee by a District of Columbia official they declined to name.

One senator described him, however, as "the man in the best position to know what he's talking about." The senator added, however, that the official's estimate was only an approximation and was given as such.

Disclosure of this testimony came at a time when the State Department faced a demand from Senator Bridges (R-NH) to know the identity of the persons involved in the hiring of 91 sex perverts the department said had been fired in the last two years.

Senator Hurls Dope Charge At Roberto In Renewed Attack

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) says narcotics are being smuggled into Hollywood from Communist China. Johnson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, made this statement in the Senate floor Monday in the course of a fresh attack he launched against the movie capital's distribution of the film "Stromboli."

Lashing out at RKO Studios for backing Roberto Rossellini, Italian director of the film and father of Actress Ingrid Bergman's son, Johnson said:

"He (Rossellini) has been for many years and is now a notorious cocaine addict. He associates habitually with an international gang of narcotic smugglers and dope runners. This criminal gang is credited with being the pipe line through which the supply of narcotics is smuggled into Hollywood from Communist sources in China."

Rossellini laughs.

Arguing that RKO had full knowledge of Rossellini when the studio entered into an arrangement with him for production of "Stromboli," Johnson added:

"Rossellini sold out on the idea that he would produce just what they were looking for, a red-hot, sexy film, lurid and devastating."

Besides the drug addiction allegation, Johnson accused Rossellini of black marketeering and wartime collaboration with the Nazis.

In Rome, Rossellini laughed when the senator's charges were read to him.

"Such statements speak for themselves," said Rossellini. "I will wait for the official record of the Senate for any reply. I am not like Senator Johnson."

MacArthur Commutes Six Japs' Sentences

TOKYO—(AP)—General MacArthur Tuesday commuted the death sentences of six Japanese war criminals convicted of murdering three United States Navy fliers in 1945.

Of 46 Japanese Navy men tried in 1947 and 1948 for the murders, 41 were sentenced to death. The commanding general of the U. S. Eighth Army disapproved three of these and reduced 25 others to prison terms.

Of the remaining 13, MacArthur commuted six to prison terms of five to 40 years.

The other seven still are scheduled to hang—probably Friday.

The Americans were Lt. Vernon Lawrence Tebo, Pensacola, Fla.; Aviation Ordnanceman First Class Robert Tuggle, Jr., Brownwood, Texas, and Aviation Radioman First Class Warren H. Loyd, Forest Hills, N. Y.

Tebo and Tuggle were beheaded. Loyd was killed by the bayonets of 37 Japanese sailors.

The three had parachuted into the sea when their plane was shot down off Ishigaki Island near Okinawa.

Sergeant Accused In WAF's Death Gets Continuance

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Because he appeared so dazed, Sgt. Lyle H. Buswell was given until April 6 to answer a charge that he coldly strangled a Women's Air Force sergeant to death.

Buswell, 33, from Rutland, Vt., was arraigned Monday on charge of premeditated murder of Sgt. Fairy E. Decker, 44.

U. S. Attorney Frank J. Hennessy requested the continuance after noting the husky Buswell's dazed appearance.

Sergeant Decker was from York, Pa., where her son, Horace, 22, and her estranged husband, Horace, 52, live.

She was found Saturday on a grassy knoll near the barracks, her clothing ripped from her body. It was not definitely established whether she had been raped.

The FBI quoted Buswell as saying he choked Sergeant Decker because he was drunk. He denied raping her.

Henry Taylor Says Flying Saucers Are 'Real McCoy'

DALLAS—(AP)—Radio Commentator Henry J. Taylor said it is his opinion flying saucers are real and that when the U. S. Air Force confirms the news, it will be wonderful.

Taylor expressed his opinion in his regular broadcast Monday night at a dinner meeting of the Dallas General Motors Club.

"They (the saucers) are not from another planet, not from Russia, but right here from the United States of America," Taylor said.

He said he believed the saucers were a "military secret" and nothing to cause hysteria or to be frightened about.

The commentator said his investigation of the many reports of flying saucers convinced him they were some type of guided object which disintegrates after a given period in the air.

The Air Force in Washington reiterated that it had nothing to do with any "flying saucers."

The Air Force conducted a two-year study of "flying saucer" reports but shut it down sometime ago. It came to the conclusion that "flying saucers" are just jokes, mass hysteria or misunderstanding of natural phenomena.

"We haven't run into anything with enough substance to warrant reopening our investigation," an officer said.

William E. McKenney, 59, "Mr. Bridge" to millions of American card players for the last quarter-century, died Sunday of a heart ailment at his home in New York. McKenney was one of the founders of the American Contract Bridge League, its executive secretary for 18 years, a director of tournament play throughout the U. S. and one of the nation's top authorities on card games. For more than 20 years he wrote a daily bridge column distributed by NEA Service, Inc., to more than 350 newspapers. Only one thing was more important to Bill McKenney's life than bridge—his charitable work for crippled children, young cancer victims, underprivileged children and war orphans. As president of the War Orphans Scholarships, Inc., he conducted two nationwide fundraising contests and provided educational help for more than 200 children of slain service men.

Posies to party-line telephone users

OUR THANKS to you and the thousands of others who willingly to "share the line" has made it possible for so many of your friends and neighbors to enjoy the protection and convenience of a telephone.

Three of every four home telephones today are party lines.

Yes, party lines have "stretched" hard-to-get telephone equipment in a time of shortages and a big demand for service.

Our goal, of course, is service for everyone—the kind he wants, when and where he wants it. For the time being, though, in many neighborhoods we must continue to say:

"We can offer only party-line service to new customers. It's the fair way for everybody while we're still working to get telephones to hundreds of people who are waiting."
