LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Navy announced Saturday night that a new task force, now being assembled on the West Coast, will move shortly to the Hawaiian area.

LONDON—(AP)—The official Russian news agency Tass said in a dispatch from Shanghai early Sunday that American Military Police have arrested 202 workers in Yokohama for handing out leaflets calling on dock workers to refuse to load arms for Korea.

MANHATTAN, KAN.—(AP)—A terrific hailstorm, described as the worst in 20 years, ripped across Manhattan and much of Riley County late Saturday. Some estimates of the total damage ran as high as $2,000,000.

CONSETT, ENGLAND—(AP)—Eleven men were killed and 26 hospitalized Saturday night as a result of a gas leak at the Consett Iron Works. An employee who went into the loading bay early Sunday said he had found the men "lying all over the place" and sounded an alarm.

Diplomats Review Far East Policy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The fact that the Communists were willing to launch a military drive to take South Korea has forced a far-reaching review of American policies toward the Far East.

Officials, trying to figure why the fighting has gone so badly, said Saturday they do not intend to leave a similar point of weakness open to Red assault anywhere else where it can be avoided.

War Will Write Fate Of Tax Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said Saturday Korean war developments in the next two weeks probably will decide the fate of the House-approved tax bill.

Lucas, the Democratic leader, said he won't know whether he wants to bring up the measure until he sees how Korean affairs develop.

The bill would lop off $1,010,000,000 in wartime excise levies on such items as furs and jewelry, offsetting this with a $433,000,000 boost in corporation taxes and closing some loopholes.

The Senate Finance Committee will take its first official look at the bill Monday, with indications that it will order immediate hearings, beginning July 4.

Lucas said it is his plan to get the bill ready for Senate action, in any event.

Dollar Day$ Will Bring 'Popping' July Fourth Values

Independence Day merchandise bargains will be popping along with the fireworks here Monday as Midland observes its July $DOLLAR DAY$.

It will be the first $DOLLAR DAY$ of the Summer season and merchants are going all-out to make it one of the most outstanding in the history of Midland's popular "first Monday" sales attractions.

Many of the outstanding specials are advertised in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram. Midland and area shoppers by the hundreds are expected to crowd downtown Midland early Saturday.

Those figures make it obvious that some wholesale reshuffling could happen. The 4th District in Northeast Texas has less than half the people in the 15th District which includes the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

There's likely to be a lot of controversy in the Legislature about redistricting. If the fracas lasts too long, Texas may elect a congressman-at-large in 1952. He will represent the whole state.

The 1930 census showed enough of an increase in Texas' population for the state to have three more congressmen. But it wasn't until four years later—in the 1934 election—that new districts had been carved out and new congressmen installed. It may take as long this time.

Red Press Tags U. S. Aggressor

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Soviet press steadily built up a picture for the Russian reader Saturday of a deliberately prepared plot of aggression by the United States against North Korea.

But an observer gets that impression from the talk and behavior of Muscovites that there will be no world war.

Moscow has claimed from the first that North Korea—not South Korea—was invaded and that the Communists only struck back when the Southerners crossed the 38th parallel dividing line.

Expect No War. From the conversations overheard in restaurants, hotel lobbies, public conveyances and on the streets, an observer gets the impression that the Russian people...

Quiet 'Fourth' Is In Prospect Here

With no special events scheduled here Tuesday, Midlanders are expected to observe the Fourth of July holiday in a quiet, safe and sane manner.

Practically all retail stores, service establishments and offices will be closed Tuesday, Chamber of Commerce officials said.

The Midland Country Club's annual fireworks display is scheduled Tuesday night on the club grounds.

U.S. Prestige In Asia Due For Boost

BY JOHN L. STROHM, NEA Special Correspondent. President Truman's prompt military steps in the Far East will boost United States prestige throughout Asia and strengthen the hand of anti-Communist forces from Formosa to Ceylon.

In every country I visited on my recent 10-week survey of Asiatic hot spots, leaders expressed doubt and fear of U.S. determination to see the battle through in that area.

UN Pushes MacArthur Aid Plans

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—Formation of a United Nations forces rear echelon to back up General MacArthur's Korean battle headquarters was pushed ahead Saturday.

It is expected to be ready for Security Council approval and go into action not later than next week.

UN officials are working through the weekend toward setting up the group that is expected to knit together political and material aid from other countries with the leading efforts of the United States.

A name has not yet been selected for the high-level international group but it will amount to what military people call rear echelon headquarters.

UN people said the objective is to end the fighting as soon as possible but none would guess how long it might take.

New Zealand advised the UN it is sending the frigates Tutira and Pukaki to join MacArthur's forces. The country had offered six frigates (smaller than destroyers) and a modern cruiser from the fleet exercises around the Fiji Islands.

At least 36 of the 59 UN members have said they will do what they can.

Luxembourg, South Africa, Greece and Thailand were added to the list of backers Saturday, Thailand said it would send rice to South Korea.

'Open House' Set Next Sunday At New Memorial Hospital

Midland Memorial Hospital will be open for public inspection next Sunday when the new $1,500,000 hospital, one of the largest, finest and most modern in the Permian Basin Empire, will observe open house throughout the day.

E. R. Andres, administrator, said all residents of Midland and area cities are invited and urged to visit and inspect the four-story 100-bed hospital, which will open for business as soon as possible following the open house.

Several service clubs will hold their luncheon meetings in the new hospital this week, with members paying for their meals at the regular rate.

Everything Ready. The work of staffing, equipping and furnishing the hospital is practically complete and officials said Saturday everything will be in readiness for next Sunday's open house program.

The hospital, an open staff facility, will serve all residents of Midland and the Permian Basin Empire. Contributions from individuals, firms and organizations, plus a federal grant, financed the new hospital.

Absentee Voting To Begin Here Monday

Absentee voting in the July 22 Democratic primary opens Sunday and ballots will be available Monday in the county clerk's office in the courthouse, Louis A. Bartha, Midland County Democratic Committee chairman, announced Saturday.

The voting will continue through July 18. Bartha said all qualified voters who will be out of the county on election day may cast absentee ballots at the county clerk's office.

Red Advance Stalls Under B-29 Attacks

TOKYO—(AP)—The first U. S. troops to arrive in Korea Sunday moved up toward battle positions north of Taejon against North Korean invaders who appeared stalled on the plains south of Seoul.

Taejon is 73 miles south of the fighting front, which General MacArthur's headquarters indicates is about 10 miles south of Seoul.

Lambert said it was possible the Communist column which crossed the Han River just south of Seoul had been held up by U. S. aerial attack or had run out of supplies.

U. S. Superforts bombed the makeshift bridges which the Communists had thrown across the Han. This may have prevented reinforcements from reaching the advance Red columns.

It still was not clear whether the Communist column which crossed the Han River just south of Seoul had been held up by U. S. aerial attack or had run out of supplies.

5,000 See Pecos Rodeo First Nighter; 10,000 At Parade

By DALMON McNAIR, Reporter-Telegram Staff. PECOS—Shattering all previous attendance records, interest and performance records, the 21st Annual Pecos Rodeo opened before a crowd of more than 5,000 West Texas and New Mexico fans here Saturday night.

The rodeo performances will continue at 8 p. m. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, furnishing Western entertainment deluxe for the holiday weekend.

A crowd estimated at more than 10,000 persons crowded downtown streets here Saturday afternoon to witness the opening day parade, which was more than a mile long.

The procession was led by the Sul Ross College Band, Pecos High School Band and an Army band from San Angelo. U. S. Rep. Ken Regan and State Senator Hill D. Hudson rode in the procession. Fred Hervey of El Paso, candidate for line. Rich resources in food, rubber and oil are thus being protected. I am sure that a majority of free Asiatic leaders will welcome the American initiative even though it may appear at first look to bring hot war closer. Uncertainty in some cases played the Russian game by sowing doubt.

General Douglas MacArthur made it clear to me when I visited his headquarters in Tokyo that he felt sooner or later it would be necessary to take a stand against Communist aggression—the sooner the better.

Negro Girls Training School Site Changed

AUSTIN—(P)—The Youth Development Council Saturday decided finally to relocate the State Training School for Negro Girls at Crockett, in East Texas.

The school is at Brady, in West Texas. The project calls for expenditure of approximately $225,000 for buildings, including four dormitories. There now are 90 girls in the training school.

John H. Winters, executive director of the council, said plans for the buildings are well underway and contracts will be let in the near future. The buildings must be built and occupied by Jan. 1, 1951. Citizens of Crockett donated the site.

The so-called Walter engine is a German development which uses hydrogen peroxide. It is extremely efficient for submarine use, particularly for emergency speeds of 25 knots, but it is uneconomical because it requires peroxide of 90 per cent purity.

Seafaring Sterling Hayden Has Wanderlust Under Control

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—There is an effete yachting crowd in Hollywood which goes down to the sea in white flannels and brass buttons and steps aboard varnished cruisers and gleaming white hulled sail boats.

While skippers, deck hands and stewards snap to attentiveness, the Hollywood men and their ladies, in Esquire and Vogue attire, collapse on foam rubber cushions.

Then there's Sterling Hayden and the "Oscar Tybrink," a match for each other in ruggedness.

"Oscar" is a 38-ton, 45-foot Norwegian double ended, built in 1895, on which Hayden goes to sea in faded, patched dungarees as a combination skipper, deck hand and steward for his wife and two infant sons.

The sails of "Oscar" are far from snowy white, she has no polished chrome or sparkling varnish. There are black stains on her topside. She's slow and balky—no match for the sleek ingenuities of the Hollywood yachtsmen who worry only about speed.

"Oscar" was built to be seaworthy, not to impress anyone. For 55 years she's conquered wind, sea and tides on round the world cruises and as a rescue ship for Norwegian fishing fleets with a record of saving 650 boats in distress and 3000 lives.

Sterling loves her with a love only real seafaring men can know for fine designing and craftsmanship. Shipbuilders Art.

His eyes lit up as I stood beside him at the helm. "It's a monument to wooden ship building," he said. "She's the kind of a ship a skipper doesn't have to worry about—she'll take care of you skipper."

There isn't even an auxiliary motor. "I've got a fetish about motors on sail boats," Sterling says. "Sailboats were meant to sail."

But sometimes when there's no wind and an appointment is kept in Hollywood he promises himself and Mrs. Hayden that he'll install a motor. "He's been saying that," Mrs. Hayden said, "ever since he bought the boat a year ago. But I never see any motor."

"I'm getting one," Sterling grinned. Mrs. Hayden tossed him a "I bet you never will" look.

No, Sterling Hayden isn't a Sunday sailor. He went to sea at 15, was a Gloucester fisherman for two winters, navigated the famous "Gertrude L. Thebaud" against the Blue Nose in the 1928 International Fisherman's Race, captained another schooner to Tahiti and mastered two of his own sailing ships in the West Indies.

Then he became a movie star and now he plays the starring role of Dix in John Huston's crime thriller, "The Asphalt Jungle." But so Sterling Hayden, it's more than just a movie, more than just the best role of his career.

It's the turning point in his life. You may remember the pre-war Sterling Hayden, who left the sea to star in two films at Paramount and then rushed back to the sea to emerge as a war hero with the Marines and the O.S.S.

If you don't remember—skip it. Hayden wants to forget it. He says, "It's all a blank. I've settled down."

There's now an ambition to act, a permanent Hayden address in Westwood and the sea is for weekends and vacations only.

He brushes off the pre-war Hayden-the-actor with: "I was scared to death. I couldn't wait to get back to something I knew."

There was no acting fever then. Just a love of the sea. Pre-war Hollywood to him was a means to his private and secret goal—another boat. He had just lost his own in a storm off Cape Hatteras. His favorite words were to his wife and sons: "Sea Breezes." An English trade paper of sailing ship news, "Sea Breezes," not Variety was his Bible.

Now Things Are Different. "It was a monument to a happy marriage, a home, two sons, another visit from the stork logged for mid-August, and an acting performance no one can sneer at have all the wanderlust out of Sterling Hayden. His sea fever is still there but it's under control.

Every time the "Oscar Tybrink" leans seaward into a stiff blow in the blue water off the San Pedro harbor breaker, Sterling turns to his wife and sons.

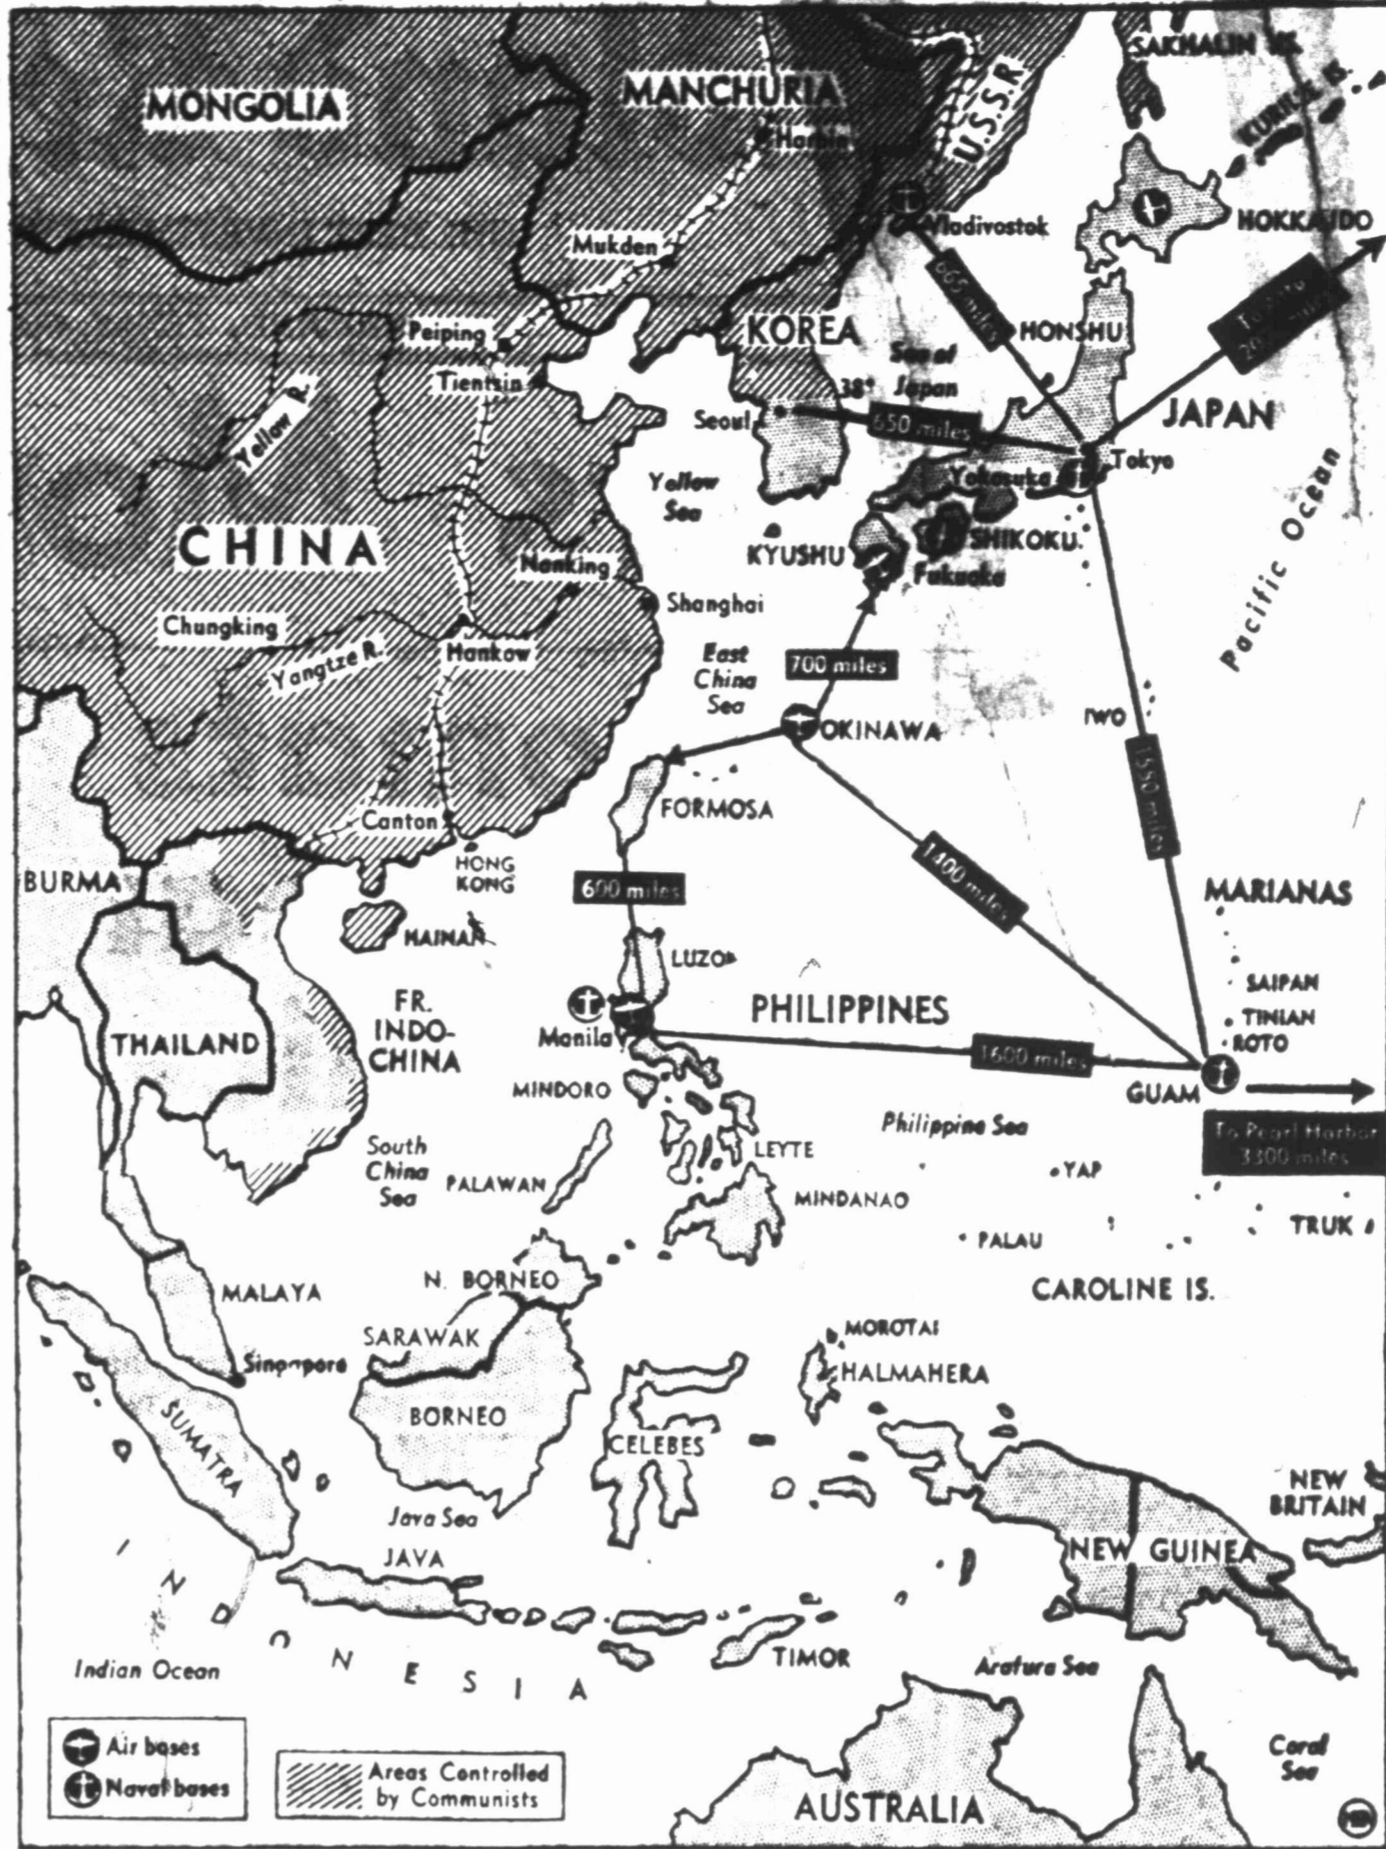

"At this point I always wonder why go back?" Mrs. Hayden smiles and nods and, as usual, says nothing.

Sterling smiles and, as usual, says nothing. He confided: "I know and she knows we will be back."

Giles To Meet Shivers, Dan Tidelands

WASHINGTON—(P)—Giles said he would meet Monday with Texas Gov. Shivers and state attorney Price Daniel on the Tidelands question.

Giles, Texas land commissioner, said at a news conference in Washington Friday he had little hope of Congress passing legislation to give states the title to the Tidelands.

Giles has been talking with almost every member of the Texas delegation in Washington. Giles said he doubted a bill giving the Tidelands to the states would get enough votes to pass the Senate, much less override an expected presidential veto.

Giles said he always had felt Texas' best chance to keep its Tidelands was in a bill acceptable to the President. "We have lost valuable time by working for a bill that could not become a law," he said. "The time may come when we will be glad to have that compromise bill."

The compromise bill calls for the state and federal government to divide revenues from oil and gas production in the Tidelands. Giles said the compromise bill probably would be discussed at Monday's meeting. He, Shivers and Daniel make up the Texas State Land Board, which sells leases for oil and gas operations in the Tidelands.

Trip Across Rio Ends Immigration Trouble
LAREDO, TEXAS—(P)—A quick trip across the Rio Grande and back has ended the immigration troubles of a former Swedish airline hostess who married an American. June 8—a few hours after she married Gordon Lloyd, a restaurant operator here—Mrs. Gunilla Weidenhag Lloyd was charged with overstaying her visitor's visa.

But Laredo Immigration Service officials postponed a hearing on deporting her to Sweden until she obtained a quota visa. Then Friday she and her husband went across the river to Nuevo Laredo, Mexico—and she returned as a permanent quota immigrant.

Cafeterias Of Midland Schools Have Grown To Big Business; 1,730 Meals Served Daily

By BOB PRENTISS
Cafeteria service in Midland schools is big business. Almost $100,000 was received from students attending the six cafeterias as 288,536 meals were served during the 1949-50 school term. The survey, compiled by Superintendent of Schools Frank Monroe, showed an average of 1,730 meals per day served in the cafeterias of the high school, Junior high school, North Elementary, South Elementary, West Elementary and Carver schools.

Of the total meals served, 19,805 were given free to students. A large share of the free meals went to underprivileged children, and others were given to students working in the cafeterias in return for their work. Receipts Total $95,727.

Total receipts from the six cafeterias for the year were $95,727.63. Expenditures amounted to $90,140.61. The balance, $5,587.02, is used by the cafeteria director to purchase supplies allowed under the state lunchroom program.

Dishes, paper supplies, brooms, mops, pots and pans and other supplies are among the items purchased from the "profit."

Monroe said the cafeteria program is intended to be a non-profit function, showing only enough excess over expenditures to carry itself.

"It takes close figuring to make the income at expenditures come out nearly even," Monroe said. "When you serve meals for 35 cents to high school students and for 25 cents to elementary grades."

Under the state program, an allowance of eight cents per meal is granted by the state for elementary school students, and two cents per meal for high school students. Monroe said.

The inequity in allowance was caused by a cut in the appropriation for high schools, he said. Appetites Vary
Another factor to be taken into consideration by the cafeteria director is the variation in appetites of school children. Elementary school cafeterias showed more profit than high school because the elementary school children eat less than the active teen-agers. "Any parent can verify that fact," Monroe said.

Troops Are Alerted At Bases In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA—(P)—Steel helmeted troops, carrying rifles, pistols and gas masks, are on the alert at Alaska's air and military bases. They are taking no chances of a possible surprise attack.

Tanks and additional combat troops are expected to augment Air Force and infantry soldiers at the big Elmendorf Air Force Base here. Given even a little warning, "we could put up a hell of a fight right now," said Lt. Gen. Nathan Twining, silver-haired commander-in-chief of the Alaskan Command.

This wartime preparedness extends on a long line running generally southward from Ladd Air Force Base at Fairbanks in the northern interior to Kodiak in the western interior to the Gulf of Alaska. This will be Alaska's line of defense in the event of an attack.

Since Americans started shooting in Korea, all troops in the Alaskan area, even service troops, are being trained in the use of ground weapons. All have been assigned positions to take in case of an emergency.

McCamey C. Of C. Members Hear Optimistic Address, Elect Officers At Banquet

BY BILL COLLYNS Reporter-Telegram Staff

MCCAMEY—"McCamey occupies an enviable position in the overall picture of the vast Permian Basin Empire," Francis Falcon of McCamey, district exploration engineer for the Shell Oil Company, told members of the McCamey Chamber of Commerce at their second annual banquet here Friday night.

"The future of McCamey as an oil producing area is very bright and will continue bright for many years to come," he said.

Falcon was the principal speaker at the event which was held in the McCamey school cafeteria, with a near-capacity crowd of McCamey and area residents in attendance. "Geology of the McCamey Trade Territory" was the subject of his address.

New Officers
Oliver Jacobsen, veteran McCamey business man and civic leader, was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce for 1950-51 at a business meeting held in connection with the banquet. Jacobsen succeeds J. W. C. Hayes. James A. Rutherford and Horace Slaughter were named vice presidents, and F. P. Stripling, treasurer. The Chamber, without a manager the last several months, expects to select one soon, Jacobsen said.

Directors elected include J. W. Gaddy, C. W. Brown, John Rediger, Jack Ott, Jesse Russell, T. A. Pauley, John R. Sumarrall, Burl D. Williams, Jim Langdon, Leonard Shafer, Dee Locklin and T. A. Spalding.

The report of the nominating committee was submitted by Durwood Langston.

Rutherford reviewed the Chamber's accomplishments of the last year and listed projects on which the organization now is working. The organization in 1949-50, Rutherford said, sponsored the following projects: the road to the farm district southwest of McCamey, Upton County Airport, inauguration of commercial airline service, sheep awards, and clean-up campaign.

Future Program
The Chamber now is working on a street marking and house numbering campaign; direct McCamey-Midland highway, extending south to connect with the Old Spanish Trail; McCamey Jubilee and a Retail Trading Institute.

Visitors from Midland, Fort Stockton, San Angelo, Iraan and Odessa were recognized. Jacobsen was the toastmaster, and the Rev. Ross Welch, pastor of the First Methodist Church, gave the invocation. Dinner music was furnished by Mrs. C. L. Nettleship, and R. E. Rubie led the group in the singing of "America." Bill VanAnta was in charge of the arrangements.

Roy Smith, petroleum engineer for the Humble Oil and Refining Company, introduced Falcon, who formerly resided in Midland. In his address, Falcon reviewed briefly the history of the oil industry in the United States and in Texas, mentioning developments and improvements, and increased usage of oil through the years.

MIDLAND STUDENTS ON TECH HONOR ROLL
LUBBOCK—Three Midland students were named to the Spring semester honor roll at Texas Tech. The roll includes the upper five per cent of students, scholastically. Those from Midland and their grade point average are: James D. McGraw, arts and sciences freshman, 2.44; Fred D. McMurry, arts and sciences sophomore, 2.44; and Jo Della Smith, arts and sciences sophomore, 2.83. Highest possible is three points.

BACK FROM ANGELO
Lorraine Collyns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collyns, returned Saturday from San Angelo where she had been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Collyns.

Company, showed a Shell film, "Prospecting for Petroleum," in connection with Falcon's message. Those from Midland attending the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Trimble, Goff, Mr. and Mrs. Burvin Hines and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Collyns.

Worthwhile Gatherings

In the last 12 years, the annual governors' conference and the permanent organization behind it have risen in stature until they now contribute markedly to the growth of responsible government in America.

As was shown in the forty-second meeting just concluded at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the governors' conference is no mere social assembly highlighted by a few speeches from top national figures.

Around four-fifths of the nation's governors appear each year. They waste eagerly into a fat agenda of problems common to most of the states. Carefully conceived solutions are offered and discussed.

Most important, the governors meet each other, get on a first-name basis, talk over their mutual difficulties informally in hotel lobbies and dining rooms. Their work is earnest, and largely above politics.

With the ice thus broken, the governors find it easy when they return home to pick up the telephone and call one another to confer on some governmental wrinkle which may develop.

This is not to say, of course, that no political overtones creep into the conferences. Quite the reverse: they have become effective sounding boards for governors eyeing the presidency. While politics is naturally incidental to conference purpose, that by-product aspect affords the people some useful clues when they start measuring candidates.

The largely unsung hero of the conferences is Frank Bane, executive head of the Council of State Governments which sponsors them. He not only manages the meetings; he steers the council's permanent staff in the same sort of liaison work among the states that the governors achieve in their face-to-face sessions.

Every state is aided in drawing on the experience of every other. Uniformity in divorce, tax, highway traffic and other laws is sought, and slowly is being achieved. All kinds of advisory reports are prepared. The result is a steadily rising level of administrative competence in state government.

If it be true that Washington now has taken too much power to itself, at the expense of state and local units, then this council would seem to provide the best possible focus for forces pulling the other way. Many governors see it as the prime agency through which they can work to keep as much government as possible at the grass roots level.

Surely democracy as a theory is promoted when it is made to work well on the local and regional scene, where things happen in fact and not just on paper.

About all some folks got out of the New Year resolutions was a chance to swear.

In most cases bosses are smart enough not to step on the worker who is a live wire.

The Dawn Comes Up Like Thunder

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Many senators have shocking record of absenteeism when important bills are voted upon; Taxpayers paying for full-time salons get only part-time service; Denham seeks "source" of NLRB "leak."

WASHINGTON — While senators have been criticizing absenteeism in government it so happens that the most shocking record of absenteeism is to be found in the Senate itself. In fact, the record of history might have been changed by certain senators who have stayed away from voting.

For example, 23 senators missed voting on the Point 4 program which will open vast new territories for economic pioneering; 26 failed to vote on the Basing-Point bill which riddled the antitrust laws with loopholes; 22 never showed up for the rent-control vote; 15 missed the vote to stimulate middle-income housing; 22 didn't vote on an earlier test of farm price supports. Yet in each case, the absent senators easily could have changed the outcome.

Since the voters back home can't always keep track of their senators, this column has made a survey of Senate absenteeism which shows one-fourth of the senators have missed more than 15 votes since the 81st Congress opened in January, 1949. In other words, some of the taxpayers are paying for full-time senators but getting only part-time service. On any other job they would be fired.

Of course, the cold statistics do not always tell the full story. Some senators have been kept out by illness or official business. Outstanding Absentees: 1. Alex Smith, New Jersey Republican—missed 158 votes. This was because he was pursuing amateur diplomacy in Europe and Asia. Several weeks' illness also dragged down his record.

2. Dennis Chavez, New Mexico Democrat—missed 161 votes; poor health kept him away part of the time but didn't stop him from touring Argentina and Europe or campaigning for his brother to be governor of New Mexico.

3. Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan Republican—missed 149 votes; had a fine attendance record until overtaken by illness; was operated on twice, also stayed by the bedside of his late wife.

4. Sheridan Downey, California Democrat—missed 145 votes; showed little interest in voting except on own pet projects.

5. James Eastland, Mississippi Democrat—missed 136 votes; spent more time on his Mississippi cotton plantation than in the Senate.

6. Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat—missed 133 votes; spent weeks in Europe complaining about Swedish hospitality instead of minding Oklahoma affairs. As a result he now is home fighting for his political life.

7. Pat McCarran, Nevada Democrat—missed 131 votes; ducked out in the middle of Displaced-Persons debate to visit Dictator Franco in Spain for several weeks.

8. Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat—missed 128 votes; worked seven days a week until his election campaign got hot; then dropped everything and went to Florida.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written For NEA Service

The biggest profits in bridge come from doubling the opponents at contracts they cannot make. Your object in a bridge game, therefore, should be to play for penalties. If the opponents fail to make a bid that you can penalize severely, there will always be time for you to proceed with your offensive bidding. They do step out but it is important for you to double if you can do so soundly, or to keep out from under foot if there is a good chance that your partner can double.

When an opponent bids far too high in a suit that you can double, it's pretty easy to take the correct action. It's not so easy, however, when the opponents bid one of your weak suits.

South played the hand well enough, but his bidding was very foolish. He missed a big opportunity when he bid three spades over East's very risky overall of three hearts. South should have passed to find out what his partner could do. He should have realized that his partner might be waiting to pounce on just such a flimsy bid.

If North could not double three hearts, he would surely be able to raise the spades or bid one of the minors. In that case, there would be time enough for South to show the length and strength of his spades, and a final game contract would probably be reached.

As it happened, however, North would have doubled three hearts with great gusto. Normal defense would enable North and South to collect at least 1100 points. This would be worth more than twice as much as the value of the game that South made at spades.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Minimum Wage Rise Pushes Small Industries In Farm Areas

By PETER EDSON NEA Service Correspondent

CHICAGO.—The four-state area of Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota always has been considered predominantly farm belt. It still is a big producer of wheat, corn, hogs and dairy products, with hay and soy beans thrown in for good measure as rotation crops.

What is not so generally recognized is that these four states also held about 22 per cent of the war contracts. In other words, these four states are also most important industrially. They have become diversified. And as farm production has become more efficient—more mechanized—requiring less manpower, the surplus labor has been turned to industrial production.

The 1960 census figures are expected to show that this trend has gone much farther than even the residents of those states may have appreciated.

These developments, however, were emphasized at a recent retraining course for some 80 Wage and Hour Law inspectors in the four-state area. The conference was held at Turkey Run State Park, Indiana. It got practically no publicity.

The session was presided over by Thomas O'Malley, ex-congressman from Milwaukee, now the four-state regional director for Wage-Hour Law Administration; and by Earl Halverson, assistant regional director. They brought in their inspectors to review five months' experience under the amended Wage-Hour Law which, among other things, raised the minimum wage standard to 75 cents an hour.

When this new minimum wage was being considered by Congress, it was predicted by some witnesses that the jump from the former 60 cents an hour minimum wage would put many small business firms out of business. To date, not one report has been received in this four-state area to indicate that the 75-cent minimum has put anyone out of business.

The net effect of the minimum wage increase in the area is estimated as having brought wage raises to about 100,000 workers—perhaps 25,000 in Indiana, 30,000 in Illinois, 20,000 to 25,000 in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

These increases mostly have been reported in the canning, textile, garment and dairy industries. There also have been some unanticipated surprises. For instance, most small banks have had to increase their wage rates.

These country banks usually have operated with staff of four or five—cashier, assistant cashier and a couple of women bookkeepers and stenographers. The prevailing wage was about $120 a month. The minimum now has been raised to $130. And the cashier and his assistant, formerly classified as executives, also have come in for raises to bring them up to $125 or more a month, if less than 20 per cent of their work was supervisory.

One other unlooked-for effect has been the moving of many garment factories out of Chicago into the surrounding four-state area. The purpose appears to have been a desire to tap new labor supplies at the new minimum wage.

The 75-cent rate also has tended to discourage home work. It is too hard to inspect people to keep records on. The substitute seems to be small production units in the small towns.

Southern Industries A further effect which has not yet happened, but is being talked about, is that the 75-cent minimum wage will draw back to the North many industries which went South to tap cheaper labor supplies. It has been found that more production can be had from the more skilled northern workers at 80 cents or more an hour, than from less

Questions and Answers

Q—When was the Liberty Bell first rung? A—The original Liberty Bell, made in England, first was rung a few days after July 4, 1776. The British threw it into the Delaware River the next year, but it was recovered and rung on July 4 every year until 1835. It rang again July 8 that year to toll the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall. That day it cracked.

Q—How big are the stars? A—The sizes of stars vary over an enormous range. The largest known are of the order of 500,000,000 miles in diameter, bigger than the orbit in which Mars revolves about the sun; while the smallest are around 50,000 miles or perhaps less, smaller than some of the planets.

Q—In what war was the Battle of Chapultepec? A—This was the battle that virtually ended the Mexican War. Chapultepec was the high fortress that blocked the entrance of the Americans into Mexico City.

Q—Where was the first railroad tunnel in the United States? A—Four miles east of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, constructed in 1833 for the Allegheny Portage Railroad.

Q—What keeps an arch from falling? A—The keystone, the middle stone at the crown of the arch, holds the other pieces in place.

about the insurance liquidation must have its source in the office of Colonel Winton, the liquidator.

"Sounds logical. Winton is Governor Patterson's man. I'd better start with him right now. You stay here and stick close to McGregor. Cover me if Keever calls. I'll be back in time for the arrest."

IN Capital City I parked in a lot near a block from the Reinald Building in which Colonel Winton's office was located. Parked in front of the main entrance was a bright red convertible owned by Sammy Berend. Capital City's premier ambulance chaser. I noticed Kelly when I passed that the ignition key had been left in the lock.

When I had first interviewed McGregor he had complained bitterly that his company would have weathered the storm if some shyster hadn't filed a whole mess of damage suits, forcing his deposit requirement beyond his capacity. I hadn't been interested in the liability phase of McGregor's company, only with his handling of the assets. Now I had an idea as to who that shyster was.

I entered the building, rode to the fourth floor which housed Colonel Winton's office and walked right in despite the horrified peep of Winton's secretary, Sammy Berend was in the room with Winton.

He gave me a dirty look as I entered, and not merely because I was interrupting a conference. A year or so before when Sammy had been appointed to the grievance committee of the bar association, I had given testimony against him. But he had survived, suffering only a reprimand.

"What's the meaning of this?" Colonel Winton asked indignantly. He was an old meatball who had been a political hanger-on for half a century. I replied:

"Pardon the interruption, Colonel. I'll take only a minute of your time. I want to talk to you about the McGregor case—privately."

"You can go right ahead," said Winton. "That's what Mr. Berend was here to see me about!"

I had nothing to do with those charges being filed!"

McGregor studied me, then said: "Well, maybe you did turn in the right report, but that doesn't help me any! I paid you for protection, and if I don't get it, you'll pay me back in kind!"

The 'id man banged his fist against the wooden arm of his chair. Suddenly his temper broke. He began to cry. I'd rather have had him banging his fist and accusing me. I nodded to Shelton and we left the room. Out on the verandah again, I said:

"Well, at least we know where the money came from! Somebody has foxed both McGregor and me and I broke off, crying Shelton. He was avoiding my eyes. I snapped: "You aren't buying McGregor's idea that I put some girl up to making a deal, are you?"

"You did return a report favorable to McGregor, all right!" He had suddenly brought his gaze to bear on me. "That's what makes his story sound good!"

"But not good enough! Do you think I'd be dope enough to have McGregor instructed to mail me grand notes daily for five days? Whether McGregor had the bank keep a memorandum of the numbers, they'd have done it because of treasury department instructions to watch $1000 bills! Can't you see that somebody's trying to frame me and play McGregor for a sucker at the same time?"

"All right, Ben, I believe you! But we've got to work fast and find out what the score is."

"There's something about this insurance liquidation that smells," I snapped. "Nobody would frame me just for me, for sadistic pleasure of it. Somebody means to make a profit out of the deal. You're a lawyer. Can you figure the angle?"

"No, Ben. But anything that that, but I want you to know that

Jimmie Kolp, Hat And Glove Flier, Visits In Midland; Is Pioneer In Texas Aviation

By FRANCES HAGAMAN Jimmie Kolp is a hat and gloves flier.

One look at the attractive Electra woman dispels any notion of the often-pictured women strolling around airports in baggy men's clothes.

Mrs. Kolp was in Midland Friday as the house guest of Mrs. Harry Lawson, a long-time friend.

Wearing a simply-styled blue linen dress and white accessories, Mrs. Kolp looked as if she might be starting for a short car ride rather than a trip to Electra in her own plane.

The plane, a four-passenger model, is a silver and green Cessna 190, of which she is very proud.

She is a member of the Veteran Air Pilots Association which has a minimum of 1,500 certified solo pilots as a requirement for membership.

READY TO GO—Jimmie Kolp, right, stands at the engine of her plane with Mrs. Harry Lawson and Farrell Davis, son of the Paul Davises.

She is a member of the 99 Club and has been since 1930. This club is composed of licensed women pilots and recently had its national convention.

the meeting was held in Texas—at Fort Clark. Mrs. Kolp was chairman of the trophy committee and was given an award for being the outstanding woman in aviation during 1949.

First Among Women Mrs. Kolp also has been chairman of the fact-finding committee of the club during the last year and has held numerous other offices in it.

During the 1930's, the figure of Jimmie Kolp in her red and white, open-top Spartan, was a familiar one around Texas. It was a rather unusual sight, too, because not many women were flying then.

In fact, Mrs. Kolp was the seventh woman to receive a commercial license, which she got in 1931, and the thirty-ninth ever to be given a private license.

Curiosity She says she learned to fly because of curiosity, and "it's always been more fun than anything."

Her eyes light up when she talks about the beauty of the ground from the air.

"You know," she says, "I've always wanted to write a letter to the farmers of this country, and tell them how beautiful their fields are from the air."

Mrs. Kolp operated the Electra airfield, the only one in town. During the war, the field was used for training for twin-engine ships, smaller planes and helicopters.

File To Miami Mrs. Kolp flies to Miami frequently and once flew to the Dayton, Ohio, Air Races.

She explained that if she is going somewhere for a long visit, she would rather drive or fly commercially than to take her plane and store it in a hangar.

"I've had a lot of humorous experiences," she adds, "but they're only funny to me."

Won First And Last One she tells about, however, is her experience at the All Women's Air Show in Dayton in 1934.

Mrs. Kolp operated the Electra airfield, the only one in town. During the war, the field was used for training for twin-engine ships, smaller planes and helicopters.

They served Denton, Pilot Point, Whitesboro, Sherman, Bonham, Belts, Honey Grove, Paris, Blossom, Detroit, Clarksville, De Kalb, New Boston and Red River.

The T&P operates three other passenger trains daily between Fort Worth and Texarkana via Longview. Service on these will not be interrupted. Freight service also will be continued on the northern route.

Woman With New Kidney Doing Fine

CHICAGO—(P)—Mrs. Howard Tucker, 49, who had a dead woman's kidney transplanted to her body June 17, was reported in "fine" condition Saturday.

The operation was the first of its kind. No successful kidney transplants on animals or humans are reported in medical literature.

The operation was undertaken because Mrs. Tucker was doomed by an incurable kidney disease which had destroyed one of the organs and reduced the other to 10 per cent of normal efficiency.

Physicians said it will be another month before they can tell whether the transplanted kidney is functioning.

Mrs. Tucker and the dead woman were of the same blood type, age and physical characteristics.

Religious plays of the fifteenth century sometimes took 30 days to perform.

Two T&P Trains To Be Discontinued

FORT WORTH—(P)—Two Texas and Pacific Railroad passenger trains between Fort Worth and Texarkana will be discontinued after notice is given to the railroad labor unions.

Authority to drop the trains was granted Friday by the Texas Railroad Commission in Austin.

The T&P contended at a hearing that it lost money on the northern route passenger runs.

They served Denton, Pilot Point, Whitesboro, Sherman, Bonham, Belts, Honey Grove, Paris, Blossom, Detroit, Clarksville, De Kalb, New Boston and Red River.

The T&P operates three other passenger trains daily between Fort Worth and Texarkana via Longview. Service on these will not be interrupted. Freight service also will be continued on the northern route.

Lease Deal On 2,800 Acres In C-E Midland Announced

Ted Weiner of Fort Worth, and associates, have made a deal with George Frankel of Houston covering oil and gas leases on 2,800 acres in Central-East Midland County on the Floyd ranch which involves a reported $600,000 cash consideration, plus a possible $10,500,000 to be paid out of one-sixteenth of eight-eighths of the oil which may be produced from the properties.

The leases are adjacent to and outside the proven area of the Tex-Harvey field. There are no producers on any of the tracts.

In acquiring the 2,800 acres of leases Frank and George Frankel agreed to drill four exploratory wells to at least 8,000 feet, or test of the Spraberry sand of the Permian, during the next 12 months.

Locations have not yet been reported for any of the four explorations.

Included in the trade between Weiner and associates and Frank and George Frankel are the leases heretofore owned by the Weiner group in sections 19 and 30 in block 36, TP survey, T-3-S, and in sections 2, 4, 9, 11, 13, 24, 26, 28 and 31, in block 37, TP survey, T-3-S. drilling the well on a farmout deal from V. C. Perini, Jr., of Abilene and Paul Crawford.

It is reported that Skelly Oil Company and Texas Coal & Oil Company are contributing to the No. 1 Williams.

The No. 1 Williams is 467 feet from south and west line of southwest quarter of section 6, block C, ABAM survey. The venture was projected to 6,500 feet to test all formations down to and including the Ellenburger.

treat the lower Clear Fork perforations and open hole with acid, and after that test further.

This development is 553 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 14, block A, pal survey.

It is one mile east of the nearest lower Clear Fork producer on the northeast side of the Goldsmith multiphase field, and it is four miles northeast of the closest oil well from the upper Clear Fork.

Cavings Stop Tool On Terry Prospect

Cavings in the hole have made it impossible for operators of the prospective Pennsylvania line discovery in Central-South Terry County to determine how deep a pay zone can be counted on.

This time discovery, Anderson-Frichard Oil Corporation No. 1 Bevers, located 10 miles southwest of Brownfield, possibly will run casing before testing further.

The venture, now bottomed at 9,811 feet in lime, flow of 120 barrels of oil on a drillstem test at 9,697-761 feet. Operators have not been able to test the bottom 50 feet of the hole.

AMERADA TESTING

The No. 1 Bevers is 690 feet from north and east lines of section 39, block DD, John H. Gibson survey.

Three and one-half miles southeast of the Anderson-Frichard discovery, Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 N. W. Willis, is preparing to take a drillstem test at 7,317-510 feet in Spraberry sand and lime. A previous test attempted at this depth was unsuccessful.

Another Discovery In Stonewall Indicated

Another Pennsylvania Bend conglomerate discovery has been indicated in Stonewall County.

Roark & Hooker & A. G. Hill No. 1 C. L. Williams, wildcat in the northeast part of that county, eight miles northeast of Aspermont, has developed an oil flow on a drillstem test at 5,873-86 feet.

Upper Zone Perforated

Operator had perforated the casing at 6,150-76 feet and at 6,184-6,200 feet, and had also shot the open hole zone at 6,230-40 feet, with perforator bullets. The project is drilled out to bottom.

Some Observers Estimated

Some observers estimated the gas volume of the project at around 1,000,000 cubic feet per day.

Location is 660 feet from east and 1,800 feet from north lines of the southeast quarter of the east 27.23 acres in section 6, block 16, H&TC survey.

Trace Of Distillate

Recovery was 600 feet of heavily gas cut drilling mud with a trace of distillate. There was no water.

Some sources report that the top of the Pennsylvania is at 10,480 feet. Elevation is 2,885 feet.

Location Is 1,980 Feet From North

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east survey of section 13, block 39, TP survey, T-1-N.

Sharon-Ridge Taster Gets Oil In Permian

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Sorris, exploration on the southwest side of the Sharon-Ridge Canyon field, has recovered free oil on a drillstem test in a lower Permian lime, possibly Wolfcamp.

Weiner Schedules Three Wildcats In W-C Martin

Ted Weiner of Fort Worth and associates are to start drilling immediately on three wildcats in West-Central Martin County, according to an announcement Saturday by a Weiner representative.

One of the prospectors will be an 8,000-foot effort to test the Spraberry sandy lime of the lower Permian. The other two will be 4,500-foot projects to explore the San Andres, upper Permian lime.

All the explorations will be on a checkerboarded spread of 3,600 acres Weiner and associates have taken from Magnolia Petroleum Company out of a large block of leases that concern has in that region.

It is reported that Sinclair Oil & Gas Company and Phillips Petroleum Company are both supporting the three wildcats to be drilled by the Weiner interests.

The 8,000-foot wildcat to test the Spraberry will be Weiner, et al., No. 1 Lenora B. Epley. It is to be at the center of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 43, block 36, TP survey, T-2-N.

That puts it 13 miles north and four miles west of Stanton. It is to be drilled with rotary tools.

Weiner, et al., No. 1 W. T. Epley will be one of the 4,500-foot developments. It is one and one-half miles southwest of the No. 1 Lenora B. Epley, and at the center of the southeast quarter of section 40, block 37, TP survey, T-2-N. Cable tools will be used to drill this venture.

Weiner, et al., No. 1 C. L. Russell is to be the second 4,500-foot exploration. It is located three-quarters of a mile south of the same operators No. W. T. Epley, and at the center of the northeast quarter of section 1, block 37, TP survey, T-1-N. It will also be dug with cable tools.

The acreage secured by Weiner and associates, on which the three wildcats are to be drilled is about 13 miles northeast of Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-E-B Glass, Southwest Martin County development, which is to go to the Ellenburger.

The acreage is about 12 miles southeast of Spartan Drilling Company No. 1-E-B Glass, Northwest Martin County development, which is to go to the Ellenburger, and it is approximately 13 miles north of the J. H. Snowden and others No. 1 Epley, pumping discovery from the Spraberry in Northeast Midland County.

Gulf No. 1-E-B Glass and Spartan No. 1 Wolcott both have shown possibilities of producing from the Spraberry horizon.

New Pool In Terry Gets Third Project

Tide Water Associated Oil Company has staked a third location in its new Corrigan-Fusselman pool in Southeast Terry County.

Tide Water No. 1 Lucile Morley will be a one-location well offset to the No. 1 Nystel, discovery well of the pool. The proposed venture also is a south offset to the No. 1 Tapp, second producer in the area.

Exact location of the No. 1 Lucile Morley is to be 660 feet from east and north lines of section 1, block C-39, pal survey, and 14 miles south of Brownfield.

NW Ector Discovery Flows Oil Naturally

Amcan Oil Corporation No. 1-D Blakeney, discovery from both the upper and lower Clear Fork zones of the Permian in Northwest Ector County, four miles north of the town of Goldsmith, has flowed oil naturally from the lower pay zone, and is now preparing to treat that formation with acid and complete.

Washington Oil-Petroleum Industry Is Prepared To Meet Any Foreseeable Emergency

WASHINGTON—If the Korean conflict remains local, its impact upon petroleum may be slight.

War plans likely are to stay locked up, unless a full-scale war develops.

The fighting may spur on domestic crude production, in order to build up stocks just to be ready. This is the opinion of Washington oilmen.

The Bureau of Mines sees need for this. "Seasonal stocks of refined products are close to minimum levels," says its latest report. "A substantial seasonal build-up of heating oil stocks is indicated for the third quarter."

July demand for domestic crude is estimated at 5,310,000 barrels daily, about 100,000 more than the June figure.

A full-scale war, however, would see petroleum go on a war footing almost at once.

This would mean strict gasoline rationing over the nation, and a moderate rationing of heating oils to homes and factories. War plans in hands of government aim at saving one million barrels daily of products by rationing. This would go into storage until the planes, ships and tanks were there to use it. Another million barrels would come from hiking domestic production.

Unlike America's entry into war eight years ago, there'd be no inquiry this time. There'd be no tinkering with voluntary rationing. Gasoline coupons would come back at once.

There'd be a drive to convert from oil to coal for heating, a ban on new oil-burning installations, emphasis on bringing in petroleum from Canada and Mexico. The Mexican oil loan might get a swift go ahead under pressure of emergency.

In fact, the Korean scare, itself, may speed that.

Already, petroleum refiners have targets of production to shoot at in event of an emergency. The Munitions Board Petroleum Committee handed them out some months back.

These and other matters will get a going over at the board's meeting July 13-14.

Wage, price and production controls certainly would be slapped down for all industries, including petroleum, which is regarded as one of the most basic. There'd be allocations of men and materials, draft exemptions for scientific, technical and operating personnel. Emphasis would be given secondary recovery.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-RA State, Central East Texas County wildcat to 10,000 feet, and located 860 feet from south and west lines of section 22-8-32E, had reached 8,046 feet in dolomite and shale, and was boring hard.

So far it has not reported having encountered any shows of oil or gas.

Olsen Drilling Company No. 1 Nobles Trust, Northeast Chavez County exploration, 40 miles north and east of Brownfield, is 1,980 feet from south and 2,180 feet from west lines of section 18-45-27E, cored at 8,011-30 feet. Recovery was 19 feet of granite material.

The wildcat had drilled through a thick section of shale and quartzite before it entered the actual granite.

It is due to plug back to 6,310 feet and test the Pennsylvania lime zone above that point. Oil, gas and water were reported. Considerable gas and some distillate was developed on drillstem test in that lime before the project drilled on down to the basement rocks.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Hamilton - Federal, Northwest Eddy County wildcat, 10 miles west of Lakewood, 20 miles northwest of Carlsbad, and 1,998 feet from north and 80 feet from east lines of section 3-20-34E, had been plugged and abandoned as a dry hole on a total depth of 3,592 feet in dry lime.

After failing to get any shows of production from the zone above, the total depth it plugged back and made extended tests in the section at 1,205-90 feet.

That zone failed to develop any possibility of making an oil or gas well and the venture has been marked off.

R. Olsen Oil Company of Oklahoma City, has abandoned its No. 1 Means, Torrance County wildcat, located 680 feet from north and west lines of section 27-70-9E, as a failure, on a total depth of 3,680 feet in granite wash.

This prospector did not find any shows of petroleum.

C-W Midland Discovery Is Completed For 786 BOPD

Magnolia Petroleum Company has officially completed another prolific flowing, high-gravity oil discovery in Midland County, where "knowing" people in West Texas for years said there was no oil.

Magnolia's No. 2 Roy Parks, located 11 1/4 miles southwest of the city of Midland and six miles south of Terminal, potentiated naturally from open hole in the Ellenburger for 786 barrels of 54-gravity oil daily.

Production flowed through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke from a pay zone at 12,944-970 feet. Tubing pressure was 1,000 pounds and gas-oil ratio was 1,099-1.

This new discovery also indicated for flowing production from the Pennsylvanian zone at 10,396-468 feet, from which it flowed 23.38 barrels of 44-gravity oil in two hours on a drillstem test. Operators probably will not tap this pay, which is now cased off, until later.

Operators attribute this important discovery to the coordinated efforts of highly trained sub-surface geologists and geophysical teams. Geological data of the structure first was obtained from The Texas Company No. 1 Scharbauer, lone Ellenburger producer in the Warfield pool four miles to the north and slightly west of Magnolia's discovery, and a shallow dry hole drilled in the same section as the No. 2 Parks in 1945.

North Of Pegasus

Geophysical data further corroborated these sub-surface deductions made by geologists.

This new discovery is 13 1/2 miles

Efforts To Put Out Well At Standstill

BIG SPRING—Efforts to extinguish the Pan-American No. 1 Holley oil well were at a standstill Saturday as the fire roared into its twenty-first day.

A piece of obstructing metal casing still had not been removed from the blazing mouth of the well, 25 miles northeast of here.

But an offset well was being drilled nearby in an effort to pinch off the gas flow below the surface. It was reported at 2,500 feet and making progress. However, drillers estimated it will be another two weeks before the new well can help stop the other.

Many Midlanders Attend Cowden Plant Opening

By JOE SALMAN
Reporter-Telegram Oil Writer

Midland was well represented Saturday at dedication ceremonies for the North Cowden gasoline plant in northeast Ector County.

Before dedication visitors were taken on a tour through the new processing plant. A barbecue was held after the ceremonies.

The Midland Lions Club band played during the ceremonies.

Midlanders seen at the new plant were: P. Gibbins, R. W. Hamilton, Roy Miner, Rep. Ken Regan, Frank Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Campbell, W. A. Elliott, Clyde Shearer, W. F. Hej, Judge and Mrs. C. C. Keith, W. A. Yeager, L. I. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. and Delbert Downing.

The importance of conservation of our natural resources was stressed by two members of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

The first step, he pointed out, was a plant built some years ago to sweeten and process field gas.

Later, Murray said, operators willingly accepted lower production allowable in high gas-oil ratio well. Such curtailment "helped conserve this important source of energy in the oil-bearing reservoir for use in driving oil into wells where it could be produced with a much lower gas-oil ratio."

"Today, the final step in conservation in the North Cowden field is being achieved," the Commission Chairman said. "Casinghead gas produced with the oil, even though it could all be sweetened and delivered to pipe lines and not flared, is nevertheless being compressed and pumped back underground so as to increase oil recovery. Thereby the gas can perform a dual function, for after it has been used to increase oil recovery, it can still be treated and delivered to markets."

"Never Brighter"

Thompson, who has been a member of the Railroad Commission since 1932, stated, "Never has the oil picture been brighter. Production is being carried on under the best possible conservation practices. What is most important to me is that the public has come to realize that conservation measures are in the public interest and will mean always that more natural resources in the form of oil and gas will be available for the public's use."

Thompson explained that the Railroad Commission has always administered the conservation and waste prevention laws of Texas by applying the "rule of reason." The ultimate aim of this rule, he stated, is "to see to it in the public interest that the greatest possible amount of oil and gas shall be produced over the entire producing life of the oil or gas field in question."

Tribute To Policy

The erection of the North Cowden plant, he said, was a tribute to this policy. "The regulatory authorities, the landowners, the royalty owners and the operators have all come together in a sound application of the rule of reason as applied to the sensible production of oil and gas in this area. All Texas should take pride in the culmination of this effort."

Representatives of the 21 plant owners at the ceremonies were R. C. Hartman, Dallas, Atlantic Refining Company; O. E. Willis, Fort Worth, The Texas Company; J. W. Roach, Fort Worth, Stanolind Oil and Gas Company; F. M. Perry, Bartlesville, Okla., Cities Service Company and E. A. Wooden, Sinclair Oil and Gas Company, Tulsa, Okla.

PROCESSING AREA OF NEW PLANT—Dedication ceremonies were held Saturday for the North Cowden gasoline plant in North Ector County. The plant, one of the world's largest, can process 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Honolulu Completes Extension In Scurry

Official completion of the Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Frank Strom, three-quarters of a mile west extension to the Diamond M-Canyon pool in West-Central Scurry County, has been filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas.

It potentiated after a 2,000-gallon acid injection, for 926 barrels of 42-gravity oil plus 17.5 per cent water daily.

Production flowed through a one-inch opening on tubing. The daily potential was based on an actual eight hour flow of 308 barrels of oil and 65 barrels of water.

Delayed Completion

Gas-oil ratio was 319-1. Pay was topped at 6,807 feet, and plugged back total depth is 6,835 feet. Five and one-half inch casing is set at 6,807 feet.

Operator delayed in completing this extension, which was assured over a month ago, in an attempt to eliminate as much water as possible from the production.

The No. 1 Strom is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 147, block 25, H&TC survey. It is 12 miles west of Snyder.

Wildcat Is Rumored In Central Midland

Rumors in some quarters that Magnolia Petroleum Company was to start drilling a deep wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in Central Midland County three miles southwest of the city of Midland, have not been officially verified.

The unofficial reports have credited that concern with preparing to start drilling soon on its No. 1 J. E. Hill, to be 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 30, block 29, TP survey, T-2-S.

That location is about seven miles northeast of Magnolia's No. 2 Parks, new flowing discovery from the Ellenburger in Central-West Midland

Wildcats In Fisher, Stonewall Abandoned

Two wildcats on the east side of the Permian Basin have been plugged and abandoned. The failures are in Central-North Fisher and Southeast Stonewall Counties.

Harrigan and Fohs of Abilene No. 1 W. I. Martin, the venture in Fisher, was abandoned at a total depth of 5,860 feet.

On a drill stem test at 5,320-50 feet, recovery after one hour was 60 feet of slightly gas cut mud, with no shows of oil.

The No. 1 Martin was 350 feet from west and 490 feet from south lines of northeast quarter of southeast quarter of section 112, block 1, H&TC survey. It was 15 miles northwest of Hamlin.

Stonewall Failure

Five and one-half miles north-west of Hamlin, in Southeast Stonewall County, S. B. Roberts of Abilene has abandoned his No. 1 Young Morton at total depth of 5,214 feet in shale of the Pennsylvanian.

No shows were logged in any section drilled. Location was in the southeast quarter of section 22, Austin & Williams survey No. 349.

Petroleum Outlook Bright; Sales Increase Over 1949

The American petroleum industry is in line for a most encouraging business year, says T. Orchard Lisle, joint publisher of "The Oil Forum" of Fort Worth and New York.

Domestic oil producing companies, particularly those also having marketing divisions, already are doing better business than in 1949.

Company reports for the first three months of 1950 show that in many cases sales of refined products are up 10 per cent to 18 per cent over the same quarter period of 1949. An overall gain of 8 per cent to 9 per cent is expected. The outlook is cheerful, and the second and third quarter reports should be even better. The gain should extend throughout 1951, unless unforeseeable conditions intervene.

Crude Prices Holding

Here are some of the very favorable factors confronting the oil industry, Lisle says:

1. Crude allowances are up, and domestic production is increasing.
2. World crude production achieved a record output in April.
3. Crude prices are holding firmly.
4. The domestic natural gas industry is booming.
5. American steel output is at peak capacity, and the demand is holding up.
6. Extended cold weather drained the industry's heating oil inventories.
7. Many storage and terminal facilities are to be expanded.
8. Consumption of motor fuel and lubeoil have exceeded expectations.

Toklan Royalty Buys Assets Of Petroleum Royalties Company

Toklan Royalty Corporation has purchased all assets, exclusive of cash, of Petroleum Royalties Company.

The sale was made under an offer submitted to the District Court of Tulsa, which included an option on the part of shareholders of Petroleum Royalties to acquire stock in Toklan Royalty Corporation.

Petroleum Royalties Company, of which J. G. Catlett, W. F. Catlett and Harry D. Moreland are trustees, was organized as a business trust in 1925. The trustees placed it under court jurisdiction in 1945.

$996,990 Valuation

An appraisal filed with the district court placed a valuation on the properties involved in excess of $900,000. They are located mostly in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas.

Officers of Toklan said that the acquisition is part of a program of expansion and will add substantially to the company's royalty income.

Toklan Production Company, an operating subsidiary of Toklan Royalty Corporation, has offices in Midland at 210 North Big Spring. Fred C. Bauchens is West Texas manager for that concern.

McCamey Schools To Award Building Contracts July 11

McCAMEY—The McCamey Independent School District will receive bids July 11 for the erection of two new school buildings to house this city's rapidly increasing school population, according to Supt. Howard Stoker.

One of the structures will be a combination gymnasium and shop building and the other will be a primary building, housing eight classrooms. They will be erected on the east side of the school tract in South McCamey. The expansion program is in addition to the one completed last year.

Fred Buford, Dallas, is the architect.

Stoker said he expects this year's enrollment to be considerably higher than last semester's 800 students.

New Oil Industry Map Concern In Midland Is Ready For Operation

Midland Map Corporation will open for business Wednesday at 509 West Texas Avenue.

It builds and sells county ownership maps compiled from aerial surveys and microfilm copies of official records.

W. L. (BILL) EDDLEMAN

The corporation was organized early this year. Its personnel has been working several months getting records and files set up so it could start producing maps on West Texas and New Mexico counties for use by the oil industry.

W. L. (Bill) Eddleman is president and manager of the concern. He has been in the oil field map business almost 30 years except for three years spent with the geophysical department of Shell Oil Company and his service as chief engineer of the Todd Shipyards Corporation during the war.

Wide Experience

His map making experience has covered Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Lewis A. Austin is business manager. Prior to his becoming associated with the corporation he held executive positions with the U. S. Army Engineers for 12 years.

Both Eddleman and Austin were living in Fort Worth before they came to Midland.

Mammoth Gas Injection Project Started With Ector Plant Dedication

The North Cowden gasoline plant, located 15 miles northwest of Odessa on the Goldsmith road, was formally opened just before noon Saturday in dedication ceremonies held at the plant site.

Designed and built to help conserve the natural resources of Texas, the plant is an integral part of a gas injection project which is one of the largest of its kind ever developed.

The 21 owners of the plant were hosts to hundreds of guests at the dedication. Guests at the plant included employees and executives of oil companies operating in the North Cowden field, state officials, and civic leaders in the area.

William J. Murray, Jr., chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, and Lt. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, commission member, each delivered a short address at the ceremonies.

F. M. Perry, manager of the gasoline and chemicals division of Cities Service Oil Company, Bartlesville, Okla., served as master of ceremonies during a radio broadcast. Cities Service is one of the owners of the North Cowden plant.

The gas injection project in which the new plant plays a major role is the culmination of many years of continued negotiations. First announced in 1948, the project serves the dual purpose of increasing the ultimate recovery of crude oil from the North Cowden reservoir and increasing the recovery of liquid products from the gas.

Engineering studies indicate that recovery of oil will be materially increased during the life of the field. In addition, valuable liquid gas products will be extracted at the North Cowden plant from gas which would otherwise be flared.

A cooperative effort of 32 oil operators owning about 80 per cent of the field, the North Cowden injection program is a 20-year project. Injection of gas into the Grayburg producing formation was begun early in June. When the initial phase of the program is completed, each of the 33 unit blocks, comprising a total of 20,500 acres in Ector and Andrews Counties, will have an injection well in operation. Eventually there will be a minimum of two injection wells on each unit block.

Those persons who toured the plant before and after the dedication program Saturday were given a simplified explanation of how the North Cowden installation operates. Plant employees serving as guides pointed out that besides compressing gas for injection purposes, the plant also recovers substantial amounts of propane, butane and natural gasoline from casinghead gas produced in the field.

These products are then sold for commercial use. The residue or dry gas which is left after processing serves a three-fold purpose. Most of it is of course injected back into the producing formation. However, portions of the dry gas are used for plant, camp, and lease fuel, and the remainder is sold to a nearby carbon-black plant.

Built by Stearns-Roger Manufacturing Company of Denver, Colo., the North Cowden plant has a design capacity of 90,000,000 cubic feet per day. However, this can easily be doubled by installing additional equipment. With this in mind, most of the process area is designed with an eventual capacity of 100,000,000 cubic feet per day.

Large Capacity of Recovery

Operating at its present capacity, the plant can recover 150,000 gallons of liquid products daily. This includes 35,000 gallon of propane, 23,000 gallons of butane and 93,000

Phillips Develops New Carbon Black

A new carbon black, SAF black, developed by Phillips Petroleum Company is now being produced on a semi-commercial scale.

The new carbon black promises to give increased wear resistance to rubber used by tire manufacturers, K. S. Adams, president of Phillips Chemical Company, announced.

Carbon black is an essential ingredient of rubber tires, imparting strength, toughness and abrasion resistance.

The longest wearing tires made prior to the discovery of the new carbon black have been the result of combining "cold" rubber with special furnace carbon blacks such as phillblack, also developed by Phillips.

Cost Somewhat Higher

The new carbon black when used with "cold" rubber is expected to produce tire treads having 25 to 50 per cent better wear resistance than treads compounded with available carbon black.

SAF Black is produced from oil by a continuous process in equipment of unique design suitable for large-scale commercial plant operation.

Although cost per pound of the new black probably will be somewhat higher than the abrasion resistant blacks now on the market, cost per mile of tire life promises to be lower, Adams said.

North Cowden... A Modern Conservation Project

Recently placed in operation, the North Cowden Gasoline Plant is an important part of one of the world's largest gas injection programs, the North Cowden repressuring project. Intended to increase the amount of crude oil recovered from the North Cowden field, the project is an outstanding example of modern petroleum conservation practice.

The plant serves a double purpose: (1) It recovers propane, butane and natural gasoline from the casinghead gas produced from crude oil. (2) The residue gas is then compressed to high pressures and injected into the oil-producing formations, where it helps move more oil through the formations and into the producing wells.

It is through such forward-looking steps as the North Cowden project that the oil industry is continually able to meet the increasing requirements of the American people for petroleum products.

City Builds At Record Rate

Clear-cut evidence of Midland's rapidly continuing growth is shown by the building permits total for the first six months of 1950—$4,860,131—almost as much as the total for all of 1949.

In 1949, the twelve-months total in all building permits was $3,252,406—only $292,275 more than have been issued already in the first six months of 1950.

Permits for dwelling units—the true measure of a city's growth—already are crowding the full year 1949 in number. Issued to July 1, 1950 were permits for 612 dwelling units, only 46 less than the 658 issued so far this year. 120 were for a multiple-family dwelling addition outside the south city limits.

Record In Danger

Should Midland construction continue at the same rate during the remainder of 1950, the city is assured of breaking the record set in 1948, when permits totaling $7,272,990 were issued. The present total is $2,412,859 under the record—year total.

Totals in four categories for the first six months of 1950 are:

New residential construction—$3,509,966, 612 units.

Residential repairs and alterations—$108,845.

New commercial construction—$980,170.

Commercial repairs and alterations—$252,150.

Permits issued in 1950 by months are:

January	$780,645
February	$449,775
March	$739,395
April	$1,109,740
May	$683,811
June	$1,094,965

Permits issued for the week ended Saturday totaled $64,500.

Omer B. Ingram was issued a permit for $20,000 for construction of a brick veneer residence, 113 by 28 feet, at 1902 West Kansas Street.

J. D. Henderson received a permit for $10,000 for construction of a brick veneer residence, 59 by 31 feet, at 1802 Bedford Drive.

Other Permits Listed

Other permits of the week included: Rodgers and Chesnut, $8,000, brick veneer residence, 40 by 31 feet, 1706 Bedford Drive; J. M. Puckett, $6,500, frame residence, 25 by 44 feet, 106 East Cedar Street; J. D. Henderson, $6,000, pumice block addition to motel, 31 by 18 feet, 2421 West Highway 80; J. D. July Fourth Battle Royal In Oklahoma Heads Primary List

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fourth of July battle royal for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Oklahoma will start the fireworks in primary voting this month—mostly in the South.

Senator Elmer Thomas, 73-year-old chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee who has seen 24 years of Senate service, is fighting for his political life.

It will be the first holiday election ever held in Oklahoma. A normal vote would run around 350,000.

Three other Democratic senators—Johnston, S. C.; Long, La.; and Benton, Conn.—face opposition later in the month, the first two in primaries on July 11 and 25, and Benton in a state convention July 28-29.

South Carolina has a double-feature—Johnston's challenge by Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, States' Rights' presidential candidate in 1948, and 71-year-old James F. Byrnes' bid for a political comeback in a race for governor.

Seven states in all are holding primaries and conventions this month. Montana and Texas pick candidates for the House on July 18 and 22, respectively, with Texas also choosing a governor in a primary which usually means election.

Arkansas has a Democratic preference primary on July 25, but only for contests in which three or more candidates are running. The contests are for governor and one House seat.

Here is a brief picture of the situation in Oklahoma. Senator Thomas has six opponents, but Monroney is the chief challenger. The latter is the chief part of rural electrification groups.

Jamboree Scouts Burn Shoe Leather

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—The hottest thing at the Boy Scouts' Second National Jamboree beyond all doubt is the shoe leather.

The tramp-tramp of 47,000 pairs of young feet creating a multitude of new trails echoes across the new wooded hillsides of history-laden Valley Forge.

The Scouts, from all of the 48 states as well as some of the U. S. territories and 19 other nations, are on the go every waking moment.

In addition to visits to other sectional camp sites to trade with their fellow Scouts, many boys Saturday took excursion trips to Philadelphia, 24 miles to the east.

They traveled into the city by bus and train. But once in Philadelphia they fell back on their old standby—shoe leather.

The University of Texas analytical agency reported that its composite index of business conditions in 1949 reached a new high, with activities still expanding at the end of May.

'Number Please' Books For 1950 Are Distributed Here

Delivery on the 1950 Midland telephone directory was begun this weekend by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and is expected to be completed by Sunday night.

The 1950 directory is smaller than that for 1949, having 144 pages to last year's 140, but there are 44 pages of subscribers, four more than were in the 1949 edition.

As usual, the Smiths lead the list of subscribers with a total of 54 by that name listed. The name Johnson appears 53 times, just edging out the Joneses, who are listed 52 times.

The Zero Hour Bomb Company gave up its last-place listing to R. J. Zonne, which is the last name to appear in the list of telephone subscribers. "A Agency" (the Texas Auto Club) is the first number listed.

The 92 yellow pages of the classified section of the directory cover everything from "abdominal support," the first listing, to "yarn," the last.

Southwestern Bell officials caution subscribers to use the new directories as soon as they can be delivered, as some telephone numbers have been changed.

Republican Group Urges Liberalizing Of Party Principles

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Republicans from 10 states across the nation Saturday issued a "declaration of principles" urging the party to become the champion of social welfare while guarding private liberties against "slavery to the state."

Identities of some 50 members of the group—35 described by a spokesman as "party rank-and-file"—were not disclosed. They were reported by local political sources to be men and women of wealth and party influence who are convinced the party can win national control only through liberalizing its political society.

Henry V. Poor, former president of the New York Young Republicans, acting as spokesman, declared the group wants to "help our party by encouragement of progressive thinking by gaining a few members from independent voters and by helping... to make a genuine appeal to young men and women whose lives and interests lie ahead."

A national committee is being formed in New York City, Poor said, and "plans are already underway in many states for organization of state groups."

From Several States: A national committee "Republican Advance" had been adopted as a "general description" of the group's activities. Members were here, Poor said, from Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota, and Oregon.

Throughout, the document emphasized shifting of controls and administrative powers from government to private hands. It declared the GOP's battle must be not with restraint but with concentration of power in the government.

The declaration called the following "goals deeply desired by the people and... essential to the preservation of freedom in an industrial society."

"Reasonable security for old age, adequate medical care available for all, insurance against unemployment, year-round work, better education, better housing, protection of the rights of labor and aid to agriculture."

Texas Population Count May Approach Eight Million Mark

By The Associated Press. Dallas County's 1950 population was announced Saturday as 612,318.

This was an increase of 212,754 over 399,564 in 1940. Tarrant County's preliminary census figure was announced recently as 359,157. Thus the two adjacent North Texas counties have a combined population of 971,475—the greatest population concentration in the South.

Release of Dallas County's population makes it apparent Texas' 1950 population could come closer to eight million than to seven million.

With only Harris (Houston), Bexar County are expected in about Counties not reported, the cumulative total for 251 counties is 6,373,235.

But the spectacular growth of Houston and San Antonio, and their metropolitan areas, easily could push the state's total past 7,500,000.

In 1940 the Texas population was 6,142,824. The Census Bureau several months ago estimated the Texas population at 7,230,000.

District Offices Close: Figures for San Antonio and Bexar County are expected in about a week. Houston and Harris County will come a few days later. Kerr County, an unexplained lag, as the nose count rolled toward a finish—is expected next week.

Most of the district census supervisor offices have been closed. The figures they collected—not only on people but on livestock, radios, stoves and other conveniences in Washington. Much later—and after a lot of tedious work—the formal, final, figures will be released.

Strachey Sees Firm Western Stand As Blocking World War

COLCHESTER, ENG. (AP)—War Minister John Strachey said Saturday night the firm stand by the Western powers against Red aggression in Korea may save civilization from a third world war.

In an address, prepared for a political meeting here, Strachey declared: "How can one doubt that the Communists are forcing this choice on us all; either blindly to obey the orders of the Politburo in Moscow or take a full part in the world struggle against them."

From Korea to Yugoslavia and across the world again to Western Germany, it is being proved every day that none of us has any choice but that.

Strachey said that, in his opinion, the fighting in Korea is unlikely to spread into a global conflict.

"To Help Prevent War: "On the contrary," he said, "the knowledge that the Western world will not sit by while the Communists attack this small country will greatly help to prevent the outbreak of a third world war."

Strachey himself was a well-known Communist sympathizer and apologist in the years before World War II.

Crime Probers Slate Four July Inquiries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Crime-hunting senators said Saturday they will conduct on-the-spot inquiries this month in four major cities: Miami, St. Louis, Kansas City, Mo., and Chicago.

Only the Miami hearings will be open to the public and press but Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said all four forays outside of Washington would be "to take testimony of local witnesses on various phases of interstate criminal ramifications."

Kefauver is chairman of the five-senator special committee given $150,000 and a special staff of attorneys and detectives "to investigate organized crime in interstate commerce."

Sidekick Of Slain Politico Found Shot: KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charles Bruno, police figure who was linked with the slain Charles Binaggio, was shot and severely wounded in front of his home Saturday.

Bruno, 32, was connected by police with the Northside operations of the late political boss Charles Binaggio but they said there was no evidence the shooting had any connection with the Binaggio slaying.

Two men were being sought by police.

Stock Losses Total Five Billions In Shifting Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Wave after wave of selling smashed the stock market last week for the heaviest loss in ten years.

Not since the black days of May, 1940, when Nazi Germany was riding over Western Europe, has the market plunged so far and so fast.

Savage selling hacked roughly $5,500,000,000 off the quoted value of all stocks listed on the exchange. But it was not a one-way market.

Time after time buying orders flooded into the exchange, blocked the slide for a while and even sent prices rushing upward.

Not until Friday, though, did the market make a decisive stand and then it was too late to do anything but mend a minor part of the damage suffered earlier in the week.

On Friday prices surged ahead at the opening. The gains were maintained only partially until around noon, when the President gave his historic battle order sending U. S. ground troops into combat in Korea. The President's order released a flood of selling but the market stood firm.

US Prestige—

Indochina—The French defenders of Viet Nam must be close to physical and financial exhaustion and the acceleration of military aid ordered by President Truman should be real if it is to be effective.

The French commander there urged: "One supply ship next week rather than 20 when it is too late." That was in April.

Malaya—Rubber planters will be heartened to continue the fight against Red-led guerrillas. The large Chinese population of Malaya which has been fence sitting should be deeply impressed.

India, Indonesia and Burma—If the bold American gesture wins, the weak new native governments will be given time to grow up.

Fun Night—

The popular Midland Lions Club International Convention Band will be presented in a special concert following the square dance exhibition. Duke Jimerson is the director.

The fireworks display, the largest and most elaborate ever seen in West Texas, will start at dark, under the direction of C. C. Manager Delbert Downing.

Lions Club President Roy Minear is serving as general chairman, and Rocky Ford is in charge of concessions.

Red Press—

The press Saturday continued to fill in the outlines of this story: American "ruling circles," desiring to start a third world war, prepared for action in Korea long in advance; they armed Southern Korean forces and though they were ready for the attack, John For Dulles, Republican advisor to the State Department, was sent there to give the signal for attack and did; at the same time the United States was preparing its move in the UN Security Council.

Prepared In Advance: The Moscow Literary Gazette said President Truman's order to the U. S. fleet and Air Force to support South Korea "obviously was prepared well ahead of time."

It also quoted foreign sources as saying the United States told United Nations Security Council delegates early last week that there would be a council meeting last Sunday.

Texas Business Has Boom Aspects

AUSTIN (AP)—Business in Texas in May had some aspects of a boom, the Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The University of Texas analytical agency reported that its composite index of business conditions in 1949 reached a new high, with activities still expanding at the end of May.

The spurt upward in May followed four months of relatively steady activity at about the level reached in 1948.

The striking increase in building permits was responsible for the big boost. Urban building was up 51.1 per cent over April. Other increases (per cent): Retail sales, two; industrial consumption, 2.5; crude oil runs to stills, 3.1; electric power consumption, three; and crude oil production, 5.1.

Miscellaneous carloadings were down one-half of one per cent.

Scurry Area Seeks Road Improvements

Graham Mackey Is Medalist In Club Tourney

Match play in the Midland Country Club Men's Golf Tournament got underway Saturday with a record field of 96 competing in the six flights. Play will continue through Tuesday, July 4.

Graham Mackey, top young golfer in the area, Friday annexed medalist honors in the qualifying with a brilliant 67. He fired his best game all the way, registering a 34 going out and a 33 coming in.

Mackey collected just two birdies off his first nine but picked up his feet on the back stroke for five birdies. However, he was stung by two bogies on his last nine where he had par going out.

Mackey, Defending Champion Van Ligon, Bill Barker and several others of the top MCC regulars are established favorites in the event.

The field of 96 is about twice the number expected for the tournament. It will make the club championship title one of the top tourney prizes of the year here.

Consolation play and the second round of match play will open Sunday. The trimming will start Monday in earnest.

English, Vickers Are Finalists In Trans-Mississippi

The 24-year-olds were the 36-hole semi-final round winners. English, who shares the course record at Happy Hollow, the 6,827-yard host course, grabbed a 2 and 1 victory over wily Milt Beal, a 30-year-old Omaha.

Vickers eliminated Gene Beister, the Omaha public links titleholder. The Kansas won 6 and 5 after leading 4-up at the end of the 18-hole morning round.

Swats Bam Indians 8-7

The Midland Indians and the Sweetwater Swatters collide in the second game of their abbreviated series at 3:15 p. m. Sunday in Sportsman's Park at Sweetwater.

SWEETWATER—Despite some big stick work by little Scooter Hughes, Midland Indians short-patcher, who banged out two homers, the Tribe lost an 8-7 decision here Saturday night to the Sweetwater Swatters.

Midland got off fast with two tabs in the second frame. Georgie Firnback, who is one little Indian on a hitting spree, singled and advanced to second on a Swatter miscue. Cramer singled plating Firnback and then scored when the ball went to the boards after an error.

Sweetwater got one tally in the third. Then the Swatters really got ripe in the fifth when they notched six runs. Three infield hits and a Warren Sliter triple did the business.

First Swatter up walked. Zahner sacrificed and made it go for a safe knock. Another infield lick loaded up the sacks. Haller walked forcing in a run. Jones struck out for the home nine. Finley got an infield hit scoring another. Perry popped out. Sliter hit a bullet scoring two runs in front of him. There was a goose chase between first and second as Midland tried for a third out. But before the Tribe got it, Sliter danced home for the inning's sixth score on the Sweetwater ledger.

The Swatters got another run in the seventh. Hughes spanked his first round-tripper with Bellone on base with a single.

In the eighth, Midland rallied. Hughes spanked his first round-tripper with Bellone on base with a single.

RoOKIE Bob Miller started for Philadelphia and gained credit for his seventh victory without a loss. Miller left in the seventh with a run in, runners on first and third and two out. Kostany got Roy Campanella to fly out to end the rally.

The score: R H E Philadelphia 000 011 10-4 12 0 Philadelphia 020 002 11-6 11 2 Pobjellan, Paica, Hatten and Campanella; Miller, Kostany and Semmlick.

Consolation Is Won By Colts; Big Tilt Sunday

The consolation bracket of the National Baseball Congress District Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament was decided Saturday night and the West Texas district championship will be decided Sunday afternoon at Indian Park. The fight for the title is hotter than a two-dollar pistol as the teams come down to the wire.

Bobby Beall, Ackerly hurler, made himself the hit of the tournament in Saturday's semi-finals of the consolation bracket as he chunked a neat 10-hitter to whip the favored Odessa All-Stars 13 to 6. The win sends Ackerly against the Midland Glaziers in the title game at 4:15 p. m. Sunday. Odessa meets the Grandfalls Eagles at 2 p. m. to decide the third place money.

Beall had complete control of the Stars after the fifth inning. He whiffed six of the last nine men to face him and registered a total of 15 strikeouts in the game.

O'Bar Shelled Tom O'Bar, the talented Abilene High School hurler, was knocked out of the box by Ackerly in the sixth inning. Jim Britt finished up for the Stars and was treated rather roughly by the A's.

O'Bar was signed by the St. Louis Cardinals Friday for assignment to their Albany, Ga., farm club. He showed great form in the first round of the tournament last week. The Colts thrashed Joe's Gulf 20 to 5 Saturday night to win the consolation top honors. Juan Nieto, a fancy young right hander with a cracking curve, toyed with the Glaziers in notching the four-hits win.

Nieto, a professional prospect of high possibilities, struck out 11 and walked only three. Joe's Gulf took a four-run lead in the first frame but the Colts rallied to win the game.

Philadelphians made it two straight over Brooklyn Saturday, defeating the floundering Inks 6-4.

Late inning homers by Mike Gollat and Willie Jones and another neat bit of relief pitching by Jim Kostany were the deciding factors.

Kostany made his thirtieth appearance of the season in the seventh inning and stopped the Dodgers on one hit the rest of the way.

The score: R H E Philadelphia 000 011-10-4 12 0 Philadelphia 020 002 11-6 11 2 Pobjellan, Paica, Hatten and Campanella; Miller, Kostany and Semmlick.

Californians Win Publinx Team Title; Match Play Monday

LOUISVILLE, KY.—(AP)—Steve Shaw, a 31-year-old timekeeper and a once-a-week golfer, led Los Angeles to its fifth team championship in 25 years of National Public Links tournaments here Saturday.

Shaw was just one of two strokers who won the title. The team defeated the Seneca golf course's par of 70. He fashioned a 67, which added to his teammates' contributions, gave Los Angeles a team total of 217, six strokes to the good over runner-up New York City and Oklahoma City.

Matching Shaw's somewhat sizzling effort was Bob Inman, 124-year-old newspaper salesman from Tulsa, who played for Oklahoma City.

Adding stature to the two little men's scores is the consideration that the Seneca's every-day par is 72. The U. S. Golf Association found a couple of five-par holes that could be called a four-par for the tourney.

The team playoff was a warmup for the opening of match play to decide the country's best golfer from the crowded public fairways. Eliminations in that phase of the meeting will start Monday morning.

Ernie Nelson Elbows No-Hitter

OUT OF HAND—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia tumbles to the fabled center court at Wimbledon after losing his racket in All-England lawn tennis championships match against Sven Davidson of Sweden. Seixas defeated Davidson, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, 6-3, with aid of one of the fastest services in the tournament.

SPORTS SLANTS

by SHORTY SHELburnE

It took him 34 years, maybe longer to do it but Ernie Nelson finally notched a perfect ball game. His no hit, no run, no walk, no hit batter game of Friday night is the first ever put into the record books in the Longhorn League.

Not a man reached first base through any fault of Nelson's and he faced only 25 batters.

Ernie has done a lot of great pitching in his long stretch in organized baseball.

The first time he ever took the mound in Midland, he hurled a victory and struck out 18 men in the process. That was in 1947 and he went on to win 24 games that year, exclusive of the playoffs. His mark equals the all-time Longhorn League record for victories.

Friday night's win was No. 11 for Ernie this season and it looks like he may be on the 20-win track again. He has suffered five setbacks.

It may be his last year in baseball as 20 wins would top off a perfect season and set the stage for retirement.

Ernie says he may retire after this campaign. He's not getting any younger.

There was one ball in Friday night's game where there might have been a question as to whether it was a hit or an error. It was, however, the only ball where there could have been a question.

The ball was blooped high into short right field and Quentin Basco came in on it for a shoestring catch. He rolled hard just at the time he caught the ball and it was shaken loose in the tumble.

We had to score it an error because he had fielded the ball and through his own admission had the ball before he rolled and it got away. It was a close play and a hard chance.

We were just about as far from the play as anyone but Basco was closer than anyone. He is the only one who could say for sure that he did not field the ball and commit an error on it.

He says he definitely had the ball before it was knocked clear of his glove. A skinned place running from his forearm to his elbow is evidence of the tumble and how hard it was.

Personally, we thought he had shoestringed the ball. If he had missed it completely, the ball would have rolled through him. But it didn't.

A couple of fans sitting in the stands were consulted and both said they thought he had the ball before he rolled. Fred Girdley was one.

So in the face of all the evidence supporting it, we scored the ball an error on Basco and believe we are 100 per cent right in doing so.

There are many who would call that ball a hit and knock Nelson out of a no-hitter. To us, it would not make any difference.

If we thought the ball was an out and out hit, we would score it that way and Nelson would have a one-hitter. But we are in the error by the unbiased admission of the fielder and that is that.

Congratulations to Ernie Nelson on his perfect game. We don't know of anyone who deserves it more.

Odessa Blue Sox Defeat Stanton

ODESSA — The Odessa Blue Sox kept a perfect record in Junior American Legion baseball play Friday night by defeating the Stanton Junior Legionnaires 9 to 7 in Otter Park here.

A home run by Carl Beard in the first inning put the Blue Sox in the front and they stayed there.

Ken Henson went the route for Stanton, hurling a good ball game even in defeat. He struck out seven and allowed only eight hits.

Muse and White chunked for Odessa.

The line score:

Stanton	000 100 0-1-5 3
Odessa	100 508 2-9 8 0

Henson and Koonce; Muse, White and Hughes.

Walker Cooper, then with Cincinnati, was the last major league batter to collect six hits in six consecutive times at bat; he performed the feat in 1948.

Firing Starts Wednesday In MCC's Invite

Entries for the Midland Country Club Invitation Golf Tournament which opens Wednesday over the nine-hole club course here, are pouring in at a fast clip. Some of Texas' and New Mexico's top amateur golfers will be on hand for the title grind.

Morris Williams, Jr., the slammin' University of Texas ace who a few days ago beat out the best in the state for the Texas PGA title here, will be back again. He will be the established favorite before play opens.

Williams downed such well-known pros as Byron Nelson and Raymond Gafford to annex the PGA crown. Wednesday is the day of the tournament.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, an amateur of high standing wherever he plays, will be another top-notch player in the fracas. He finished high in the PGA after fading in the final round of medal play.

Marion Pfleger also has entered the event here, and Bobby Maxwell, of Big Spring, a brother to Billy, is expected to compete.

Tommie Roberts, New Mexico state champion, will be down from Hobbs to see action.

Qualifying for medalist is slated Wednesday over the 18-hole route and 18-holes of match play in all flights will follow each day. The finals will be played Sunday, July 9.

Roy Minear, Fred Hogan and Van Ligon are for the tournament committee and Pro. J. C. Hardwick will be the host pro.

Jim Rountree and Joe Bold, noted golf officials, will be official starters. The usual social activities are scheduled during the tournament.

The southern pine stump and the troublesome fuzz remaining on cotton seed after ginning today are yielding scores of useful chemicals that are being used to kill the boll weevil and other cotton insects, to make flame-resistant plastics, and in the production of cold rubber, lacquer, paints, and paper.

Veteran Southpaw Notches League's First No-Tap Tilt

Midland fans Friday night had the extreme privilege of seeing Midland's veteran left-hander, Ernie Nelson, pitch the Longhorn League's first no-hit, no-run game in history as he shut out the Vernon Dusters 3-0 at Indian Park. The tilt was a perfect one for Nelson as he gave up no hits and didn't walk a man.

Tex Stephenson gave Nelson a two-run working margin in the first inning when he clouted a home run over the right-center field wall with Scooter Hughes on base.

Stephenson and Hughes also combined their talents with the bat to produce Midland's other run in the sixth. Hughes led off with a triple to right and Stephenson singled to the shortstop to drive him home.

Dick Tross elbowed a five-hitter for Vernon and pitched great ball in general to give the home folks their best piece of baseball activity of all time. Tross walked only one and struck out 10.

Two Errors In First Nelson was as sharp as a tack from the start. Three errors behind him were the only flaws in the perfect performance. Two of the miscues came in the first inning and allowed a Vernon runner, Lou Ehlinger, to reach third base. A snappy double play with Scooter Hughes taking a hard grounder, stepping on second and firing to Jim Prinze at first, erased the scoring threat. The Dusters never got a chance for another threat as Nelson breezed through them in order in the next six innings.

The little left-hander had perfect control and his breaking stuff was all it ever needed to be. He chunked one of the smartest games of his long career.

In the fourth inning, Arnold Davis, an ex-Indian, bounced a hopper to the first base side of the mound. Nelson raced over and fielded it with his bare hand. He turned to throw to first but no one was there to cover. So, Nelson just raced Davis to the bag and beat him by a stride in one of the sparkling plays of the game.

Nelson retired 26 in Row Ernie whiffed six men as he retired 20 men in order from the first to the eighth. The other outs were for the most part easy to make.

Mike Bellone and Scooter Hughes were sharp in the middle of the infield and George Firnback turned in some good plays at third.

Quentin Basco, playing right field for the first time in his life, saved Nelson with two outstanding plays. He came in on an Arnold Davis clout and took it belt high in the seventh. On the next play, he went a country mile toward the right field fence and fouled line to haul down costumed Scooter Hughes who was labeled for three bases.

Basso's Error In the eighth, Basso charged in on a hard chance to short right and succeeded in shoe-stringing the ball. He slipped and fell, however, after having possession of it and lost the ball in the tumble. The play went as an error and allowed the third and final Vernon runner to reach base.

Nelson downed the last five men without trouble and notched his no-hitter in great form.

A single by Mike Bellone in the first, Stephenson's homer and single, Hughes' triple and a single by Kenny Jones were the only hits registered in the tilt.

Big Spring's Gil Guerra gained credit for his fourth win as the Dusters pounded out 12 hits against Odessa.

John Tayan hit his third homer in three nights for San Angelo and his teammate, Arthur Caballero, added a solo homer. Jimmy Price, Colt hurler, marked up his seventh win against no defeats.

Four major league pitchers have struck out four batters in a single inning; in each case one of the batters reached first base on a third strike that eluded the catcher.

Last active major league pitcher to win 300 or more games was Robert (Lefty) Grove, who retired in 1941 with exactly 300 wins.

Burnett Sees Dim Chance Of Getting Dallas In Big Loop

DALLAS—R. W. (Dick) Burnett, the oil man whose spending spree in baseball attracted national attention, is willing and able to operate a major league club, but in his own words:

"I don't have a chance of getting it."

Burnett makes it clear he would welcome the opportunity of taking over the franchise of the Bounding St. Louis Browns and that he thinks Dallas could support big league baseball.

When Burnett held his Texas League opening game in the Cotton Bowl last April and drew more than 50,000 fans, he said one reason was to show that Dallas was a good place for a big league ball club.

He also pointed to the fact that the Browns last year drew 270,936 fans at home and that his Oklahoma club drew 404,851.

Several Difficulties

But there are several matters that must be disposed of before Dallas could enter a major league. One is a three-fourths vote of the Texas League to allow one of its clubs to leave. "I never would get such a majority," Burnett declares. "It would not break up the Texas League as some people think because we have a couple of fine spots that could replace Dallas. They are Austin and Corpus Christi, both with more than 100,000 population now and ripe for double-A baseball. However, the Texas League want vote to let me put Dallas in the big leagues."

Baltimore, in the International League, is close to Washington, New York and Philadelphia and would guarantee strong inter-city rivalry, is the way Burnett and other Texas League leaders look at it.

Travel would be no handicap, however, if Dallas or Houston—or both—were in the big leagues, Burnett claims. "We would travel by plane," he says. "You can charter a plane at a very reasonable rate. And Dallas or Houston would draw the fans—10 million a year, 1,000,000 a year. They have that many in their territory who would want to see major league baseball."

From 6 p. m. local time Friday to Saturday night, 75 persons already had died in highway crashes. Another 15 drowned, and 12 more died of various other accidental causes.

VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tatum and son, Creighton, Jr., returned to Midland Saturday from a two-week vacation trip to Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico.

FURROWED BROW

Defense Secretary Louis Johnson seriously ponders a question from reporters as he emerged from White House following announcement that General MacArthur has been authorized to use "certain supporting ground units" against North Korean Army.

Capitol Police Nab Woman Demanding To See President

WASHINGTON—(P)—Police at the Capitol Saturday took custody of a young woman who demanded to see President Truman in order "to stop the war."

She gave policemen and Senate attendants a lively chase for several minutes as she fled through Senate wing corridors barefoot and clad in slacks and a sweater.

She drove up in front of the Senate in an automobile, jumped out and started a started policeman the right to see President Truman.

The officer attempted to calm her but she fled into the Senate wing screaming. Attendants finally calmed her by an open third-floor window, near the public galleries.

Sobbing, the woman told policemen she wanted to stop the war. She said her husband is employed here by an airline and that she left her baby with her parents at a nearby beach to come here to see the President.

Railmen, Asked To Halt Walkout, Will Give Reply Sunday

CHICAGO—(P)—The government Saturday urged the AFL Switchmen's Union to call off its rail strike in Korea, in a bid to avert a number of rail developments in Korea. The union put off a reply until Sunday.

C. E. McDaniels, chairman of the union's 40-hour Week Committee, said the switchmen will announce the decision on Monday.

McDaniels said the decision would be reached at a meeting of the committee and Union President Arthur J. Glover in Chicago Sunday morning.

Glover Saturday talked to a reporter by telephone from his mother's home in Fort Atkinson, Wis., but said: "I won't have any comment today."

John Thad Scott, Jr., new chairman of the National Railway Mediation Board, asked Glover and the union to restore full service promptly "in the national interest."

Sheet Metal Workers End 11-Day Walkout

EL PASO—(P)—More than 175 sheet metal workers will return to their New Mexico and West Texas jobs Monday with a 25-cent hourly wage increase pegged to living costs.

The back-to-work move ends an 11-day strike by AFL sheet metal workers in Local 188, which includes all of New Mexico and West Texas. The strike had threatened atomic installations at Albuquerque and Los Alamos, N. M.

In addition to Los Alamos and Sandia Security Weapons Base in New Mexico, the strike had held up work at White Sands Proving Grounds, N. M., and had affected other sheet metal firms in Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Roswell, and Clovis, N. M., and Odessa, Midland and El Paso, Texas.

Milton Eisenhower Takes College Post

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—(P)—Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, an agriculture expert, Saturday assumed the presidency of the Pennsylvania State College.

The 50-year-old Kansan took over Friday. Formalities await a ceremonial inauguration in the fall.

Former President of Kansas State College, Dr. Eisenhower is the brother of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, wartime supreme Allied commander and now head of Columbia University.

Commission Reports Allowable Increase

AUSTIN—(P)—An increase of 61,868 barrels daily in allowable oil well completions so far this year compared with 4,402 in the like period last year, these, 291 wells were wildcats compared with 297 last year.

Dulles Says Soviet Squeeze On Japan Is Behind Red Thrust

WASHINGTON—(P)—John Foster Dulles Saturday night said South Korea was attacked because "the Communists seem to have felt they could not tolerate this hopeful, attractive Asiatic experiment in democracy."

The Republican policy adviser to the State Department said he believes a second reason for the North Korean aggression was a desire to place Japan "between the upper and lower jaws of the Russian Bear."

In a prepared radio (CBS) broadcast, Dulles said the Communists control territory to the north of Japan and that conquest of all Korea would give them a similar foothold to the south.

"That obviously would make it more difficult to provide the Japanese people with security as self-governing, unarmed members of the free world," he said.

Rep. GOP Critics

Dulles, who returned last week from a trip to Japan and Korea, indicated that he disagrees with Republican lawmakers who have criticized the Administration's Far Eastern policy as it exists before the outbreak of war in Korea.

"Broadly speaking," he said, "the United States was developing positive and constructive policies to check the rising tide of communism in Asia and the Pacific. The Communist leaders doubtless expect their action in Korea to dislocate our plans."

"They will, I think, be disappointed."

He said the Western world up to now had hoped the Communists would limit their violent actions to internal disturbances, and added:

"The Korean attack marks a new phase in Communist recklessness."

US Soldiers—

lift of U. S. munitions and weapons for the South Koreans.

The movement of combat troops northward from Taejon was in a pouring rain.

When the two forces will clash will depend upon the weather and a number of other factors, including the resistance of the South Koreans and their ability to maintain supply lines.

The weather also will govern the timing of new and intensified air and naval blows by combined U. S., British, and Australian forces.

U. S. headquarters, early in the day had reported "some increase in enemy activity south of the Han River."

The Americans apparently are going to dig in and wait for the Communists whose column is believed to be led by tanks.

If the armored column, which ripped through the U.S.-trained Southern army, can be stopped and destroyed, the whole aspect of the ground fighting may turn from retreat to attack.

Troop Movements Secret

The precise movement of U.S. troops cannot be revealed under security regulations which military officials have requested—but not yet commanded—correspondents to observe.

Conditions were so bad Saturday the Air Force reported its big B-29's had to bomb the marshalling yards at Seoul and other targets by radar.

The Kum River is the last natural barrier between the Communists and Taejon, the current American headquarters. It winds about 25 miles north of Taejon.

In the end, U.S. aerial attacks upon the long communications lines stretching from North Korea and upon accumulated supplies farther southward may be the most decisive factor.

It is still too early to determine the effects of U.S. bombing and strafing since the United States entered the conflict. But it doubtless has been considerable.

American B-29 Superforts used radar to penetrate the murk and rain to bomb bridges the invaders have thrown across the broad Han River, 25 miles north of Suwon. The Air Force intent was to check the Reds until American ground power could make itself felt. The B-29 attack was described as having "good results."

Capitol Police Nab Woman Demanding To See President

WASHINGTON—(P)—Police at the Capitol Saturday took custody of a young woman who demanded to see President Truman in order "to stop the war."

She gave policemen and Senate attendants a lively chase for several minutes as she fled through Senate wing corridors barefoot and clad in slacks and a sweater.

She drove up in front of the Senate in an automobile, jumped out and started a started policeman the right to see President Truman.

Polio Hits Hard At Children Aged 5-9

AUSTIN—(P)—Polio is hitting hard this year at children in the five to nine-year age group, the State Health Department said Saturday.

There has been an increase in incidence of this group, and studies of reports from health units also indicate more males than females have become ill with the disease.

There have been 824 reported cases this year so far compared with 870 this time last year.

Diplomats—

come uppermost, the presence of American occupation forces is regarded as essential both to Japan and to the United States. The United States is expected to seek increasing independence of action for the Japanese.

President Truman on Tuesday ordered the Seventh Fleet to patrol between the island and the mainland. The President made clear he does not now intend to permit Communist acquisition of the island.

The United States has been urged to make a wide-open question as to what the United States will recommend about the future of Formosa.

Some evidence in recent weeks was that if the British and other countries insisted on voting Communist China into the United Nations the United States eventually might go along with recognition of the Reds. The American reaction in the Korean crisis seems to put this further out of the question than it ever has been.

India Chooses West

Some diplomats are wondering if Britain will stick to her policy of recognition.

Indochina—The speedup of American military aid to Indochina and the decision to assign a military mission there demonstrates more vigorous action than the United States ever before has displayed there.

One of the most welcome developments has been the attitude of India. Traditionally Prime Minister Nehru stands in Asia as a symbol of unyielding opposition to old-time Western imperialism. His actions have great weight with the masses of Asiatic peoples who, in some cases have tended to turn to communism as an antidote for the ills of their countries.

Beaumont Gas Well Blows In, Is Capped

BEAUMONT—(P)—A gas well which blew in out of control inside the Beaumont city limits at 6 p. m. Friday was capped late Saturday.

It is the Scott Myers No. 1 Cannon located at the edge of a residential section.

Danger of fire prompted nearby residents to leave their homes, and bombshades throughout the area were asked to turn off open flames.

City firemen maintained a crew at the scene and policemen blocked streets to traffic.

The well was brought under control without causing injuries or damage.

Give Donors Some Benefit Of Charity

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Charity begins at home, the saying goes, and truer words were never spoken. The neighborhood collectors daily beat a path to my door, the mailman is bent double with attractively printed appeals for my assistance.

Maybe it isn't true all over the country, but I think it is. Organized charities, legitimate ones too, are so high pressure, and there are so many of them, that it's getting to be a major headache for a person with a modest income to cope with all the appeals.

No matter what the "contributions" box of the income taxes declare, most of us middle-income people haven't limitless funds to hand out to all worthy causes. Most of us are particularly interested in one, maybe two, organizations and would like to give our small dollar where it will give us some personal satisfaction. Actually, the way things seem to be set up, every organization is running its own intense campaign, and it's only a Acts 15:8, 9; Heb. 10:22, 35-36; I Cor. 15:57.

FINAL STEPS IN RECEIVING THE SPIRIT

You now are ready for the next step. (6) The acceptance of the gift of the Spirit. Remember: an acceptance of the gifts of the Spirit—the Spirit Himself and not one of His Blessings. Don't be put off with blessings — you want the source of all blessing. Blessings come and go—He shall abide with you forever. Your choice is a permanent choice in solving a permanent transaction with a permanent Companion and Master.

Remember: The Spirit is a gift. "Ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit." "Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory." "How much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him." You cannot be worthy of His presence, nor earn the right to it. You can do one thing and one thing alone—empty your hands and humbly take the Gift. Having given yourself, you now have a right to take Himself. Then repeat to yourself: "He comes—He comes. I let Him come. I welcome with open heart His coming. I am grateful for His coming. It is done. We belong to each other, forever." Close the eternal bargain.

His coming may be as gentle as the dew upon the new-mown hay—a new sense that you are not alone; but it also may be like the storm. Welcome His coming and do not dictate the manner. There is a reason for the particular manner.

(7) If you feel the inner urge, be free to tell others about His coming—share it. You are not boasting; you are simply telling of the unspeakable Gift. The sharing of it fixes it. Nothing is really yours until you share it.

(8) Make the surrender and the acceptance something once and for all and yet continuous. Surrender in marriage is once and for all, and yet it is daily. Paul could say, "I have been crucified with Christ," and yet, "I die daily." "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst"—"drinketh" is, according to the Greek, "once and for all," and yet, "keep on drinking." This surrender is done, and yet never done—it is final, yet unfolding.

O Spirit of God, I have said a Yes that covers everything, and yet I know how many smaller Yeses are in that central and final Yes. Help me to live in a state of Yes-ness to Thy unfolding will. And help me to live in a perpetual state of No-ness to every little seduction. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Lipstick Must Match Suntan

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Most women discover, as their fans deepen each summer, that their old shades of lipstick are no longer becoming.

The dark reds that looked startling and dramatic against winter-pale skins offer too little contrast with their new brown complexions. The warm orangy shades that went so well with cold-weather fairs tend to point up the sallowness in their skins.

The answer to this problem, according to Frank Westmore, Hollywood beauty authority, is to turn to more subtle lip make-up.

He advises for brunettes a color somewhat lighter than a true red; one with a very faint undertone of blue. For blondes, he suggests a pale pink for glowing, youthful effect.

There are, however, no hard and fast rules for selecting summer lipstick. Individual differences in rate and degree of tanning make it necessary for each person to experiment until she finds a becoming shade. This may possibly mean changing lipstick in mid-season when your tan reaches its peak.

Soda Aids Bites, Burns

Baking soda, always a staple in the kitchen cabinet, deserves a spot on the medicine shelf as well for treating summer kill-joys such as sunburn, insect bites or poison oak and ivy. The picnickers above are enjoying their outing despite such possible annoyances. Girl (inset upper left) is using soda and cold cream on insect sting. For a sunburned back, she applies (inset upper right) soda and water.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Summer picnics often trail an aftermath of painful sunburn, insect bites and the rash which springs from poison ivy and poison oak. Even though you are on guard against these picnic pitfalls, you may find yourself a victim.

A mild case of sunburn is annoying and painful. A severe case may mean hospitalization. At the first indication of a slight sunburn, make a paste of ordinary baking soda and water and dab it over the affected area. To lessen the pain, first remove the stinger if it is left in the skin. Next, make a paste of baking soda and cold cream and apply it to the affected area. Baking soda is an alkali which helps to neutralize the acidity of insect bites and stings.

Poison ivy is particularly dangerous in the summer because the sap of the plant is most abundant then. The ivy gives off a toxic oil which comes in contact with the skin, directly or indirectly, through touch, clothing or shoes. Symptoms show in strings of

Manners Make Impressions Good Or Bad

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One of the important pieces of advice tourists are given this great travel year of 1950 is to mind their manners whilst abroad. Every American outside the country, they say, is an unofficial representative of the United States and we want to make a good impression, don't we?

It is a strange thing that pleasant, gentle people, men and women, can turn into arrogant, bullying bores when they are among strangers or even conducting their business.

Automobile Drivers
Look at the way most automobile drivers act—smearing, ill-tempered Mr. Hydes the minute they get a steering wheel in their hands. Men who leap gallantly to their feet when a woman enters a room take fiendish pleasure in scaring the wits out of a luckless female caught by a light-change in mid-street.

Even the most soft-spoken of us snarl and yell at other drivers whose stupidity—it is always the other driver who is stupid—enrages and inconveniences us. Let someone in back of us touch his horn and we delight in hogging the road. And we are the ones who lean on the horn if the man in front of us doesn't take off with jet speed when the green light flashes on.

Let's take the way we act as pedestrians—hurling short Anglo-Saxon words at drivers who get in our way. We elbow and push, give dirty looks and make disgusted snorts in crowded places. The way an American lady acts around a bargain counter has been a stock cartoonist's subject for years.

Telephone Manners
Our telephone manners, generally, are outrageous, time-wasting. We do more to alienate one human from another than almost any other phase of our life. We ruthlessly keep people dangling on the end of a receiver for no good reason. Secretaries—and their bosses—have an idea that real sign of the Big Shot is when he is last man to come in on a call.

Nothing infuriates a party-line user more than having another user of the line lift the receiver. That's an automatic signal for prolonging a chatty conversation another half-hour just for spite. In restaurants, it's a toss-up who is the rudest—the customers or the waiters. The customers are demanding, brusque and overbearing. The waiters are shabby in the service, interested only in the size of the tip and on hustling the eaters out.

Movie Patrons
Movie patrons aren't much more considerate—eating loud goodies from crackling bags and sprawling all over the chairs, reluctant to make way for other members of the audience. Generally speaking, Americans may be among the rudest persons in the world today—probably a little less so than comrades of another country. We explain it by calling it a "casual" attitude and rationalize our outlandish actions as an example of democracy at work. It is very unpleasant.

This situation applies, be it noted, just about every place except the south, where they give you the "please, m'am, thank you, sir, so much obliged" treatment. But even there, I'm afraid it's only lip-service and not the real Golden Rule at work.

Veteran Garden City Postmistress Retires; Vernon Gill Appointed

GARDEN CITY — Mrs. J. L. Parker retired here Friday as postmistress, ending more than 31 years service as chief of the Garden City Post Office.

Vernon M. Gill, 34, former employe of the State Highway Department, will take over as the new postmaster Saturday.

Mrs. Parker became postmistress Jan. 19, 1919. She said she was remaining in order to take a long vacation.

Matched Beach Sets Featured

NEW YORK—Colorful beach accessories which possess practicality set off this season's bathing suits. Pretty shoulders will be wrapped in a terry fringe stole (right) this summer, to keep off sudden chill breezes or an unwelcome sun at the beach. Lined in rubber, it sports twin outside pockets, large enough to hold odds and ends of suntan oil and make-up. White is used in combination with bay colors to harmonize with any suit. The terry beach bag which teams up with this stole is equipped with a removable rubber lining to make laundering of the bag simple. A rubber cap which resembles the actual fabric is paired with another geometric diamond pattern. In bright color combination, the bag boasts a practical lining and three outside pockets for most wanted beach essentials.

Average Husband Is Washout By All Soap Opera Standards

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Radio soap operas, women's magazine fiction, and lending library love stories give women such a false picture of how a man behaves toward the woman he loves it's a wonder there aren't more dissatisfied wives than there are.

This fictitious husband who is held up as the answer to every woman's dreams seems to spend his life thinking in terms of his wife's happiness. He is sensitive to her moods, sympathetic when she is trying bravely to convince him that she doesn't need sympathy and that everything is really just dandy, and he is forever inventing little surprises calculated to make his wife say, "Roger, you darling."

The people who write the soap operas and the short stories and romantic novels based directly at women must know how women wish their men would treat them. For women lap up the stories and sigh over the heroes who are so unlike their own husbands.

But it's kind of a shame to make women believe that such husbands are to be had in this world.

When Mammie's own Joe, in real life answers her need for a sympathetic ear by tuning in the ball game a little louder, or is too busy earning a living for her to be spending his days thinking up little ways to surprise and please her, Mammie ought to know he's not an insensate clod—he's just a typical husband.

But if she takes her soap operas and magazine stories seriously she is bound to wonder how she ever fell in love with such an unromantic, unfeeling, selfish lout.

No man knows what unreasonable competition he is up against unless he is acquainted with the husbands his wife meets through the radio, the lending library, and her women's magazines.

Top Designer Dresses Drama But Buys Her Own Wardrobe

By GAILE DUGAN
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Lucinda Ballard, a tall, handsome woman with green eyes and spectacular red hair, has spent about a million dollars of other people's money creating costumes for the nation's top stage hits.

But she can't design and make her own clothes any more. She has to go out and buy them, because stars like Helen Hayes won't let anyone else but Mrs. Ballard do their costumes and she hasn't much time left for her own wardrobe.

Mrs. Ballard's costumes for Helen Hayes' new play, "The Wisteria Trees," are the latest in her parade of more than 30 hit productions, including "A Streetcar Named De-

Lucinda Ballard, top costume designer, has created costumes for over 30 Broadway hits.

re, "Annie, Get Your Gun," "Remember, Remember," "Happy Birthday" and "Street Scene."

"I love the theater," she says. "I've been asked to do fashion design but I don't think I will. It would hurt me to see one of my dresses going down the street topped by an awful checked coat and worn with bright green shoes!"

Mrs. Ballard has been creating clothes for Broadway shows since 1938. She's a stickler for realism. Before she designs costumes for any production, she understands the script thoroughly, talks to each actor and discovers his pet likes, dislikes, superstitions, and steers herself in the history of the period. Then she forgets the history and sets to work creatively, designing costumes which are pretty, comfortable and eminently practical. She has to keep in mind costs, versatility and practicality, too. The results have made her the top costume designer in the American theater today.

"Sometimes I see some of my old creations in some costume house which has bought them up for a song," she says wistfully. "They're dirty and bedraggled and someone has pulled off the bows and added a ruffie. It depresses me just as much as if I saw my kids going around in rags."

Beyond designing clothes which are nice to look at, Mrs. Ballard creates costumes which help an actor or actress put across a part and establish a mood.

"A novelist has pages in which to describe how characters look and what they wear," she explains. "A playwright hasn't. That's my job."

For Ethel Merman and Mary Martin, both playing (in different companies, of course) the fabulous Annie Oakley in "Annie, Get Your Gun," Mrs. Ballard created entirely different costumes. For the Revival of "Show Boat," she was responsible for getting onstage 500 costumes, with all their accessories.

Mrs. Ballard made her start in the theater when she went to work for Norman Bel Geddes in 1928. Ten years later, Producer Dwight Wilman hired her to do the costumes for a revival of "As You Like It." Her first recognition came when she did the clothes for a Rodgers and Hart show, "Higher and Higher."

"I have one ambition: to be clean," Mrs. Ballard says. "It's hard to stay clean when you're working with costumes. I worry so much about dressing other people that I dress myself in the first clean, neat dress which is handy."

Rid Scalp Of Dead Cuticle

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Girls who keep their hair long and thick despite current hair styles have more work to do if they expect hair as lustrous and shiny as that owned by girls with short haircuts.

Short hair is, of course, easier to brush, easier to shampoo. It takes less effort all around. But long hair can be individual and dramatic if it's given proper attention.

For lustrous long hair, comb dead cuticle from scalp before each shampoo.

The girl with long, thick hair will find that it will be more lustrous if she gets rid of dead cuticle before she shampoos it.

Begin by giving the hair a reverse combing. Bend over as you do it and comb all the hair down. Now, following the stroke of reverse combing, work from the back of your head to the front. Part the hair off in sections and with a comb, loosen as much of the dead scalp cuticle as you can.

When you have covered the entire scalp, go to work with your brush. Keep your head down to stimulate circulation and give your hair an even, steady one hundred strokes.

Three Down And Four To Go For 'Ten Nights In A Barroom'

With three showings behind them, the Summer Mummies will present "Ten Nights In A Barroom," an 18th century melodrama, again Monday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the American Legion Hall. Curtain time is 8:20 p.m. W. H. Pomeroy, Sr., is the director for the production. The Summer Mummies is made up of Midland persons who are interested in benefiting the Community Theater. However, this production is not a Community Theater function.

The usual and unusual happen in the production. Friday night Toby Hilliard began to sing a version of "Yankee Doodle" and discovered that he had no accompanist. He sang the song anyway with no pianist and with a different tune — his own. Twenty persons work backstage making what goes on onstage possible. E. J. Elliott is the stage manager and Julie Rindsg, the painting manager. Stan Shaffer is in charge of the construction and Klondike Johnson, the lighting. Pauline Lee is in charge of the make-up, Ann Speers, the properties, and Paul Parker, the curtain.

The cast for the production includes Charles Dixon, Lee Flood, Lew Hoey, Toby Hilliard, John DeFord, Bob Short, Norris Creath, Marymargaret Corbett, William Y. Penn, Sally Lees and Bobby Perry.

BARROOM BRAWL—Frank Slade, the innkeeper's son played by Bob Short, attacks Mr. Romaine, a philanthropist played by Charles Dixon, in the last act of the Summer Mummies' production of "Ten Nights in a Barroom." In-Ai Yang Plans Trip To Korea

In-Ai Yang was to sail for war-torn Korea Saturday.

In a letter to Mrs. H. N. Phillips, Mrs. Yang said "I hoped to go home very much and still don't lose my hope to go home and for safety for my people and land."

The letter, received by Mrs. Phillips Saturday, was written Friday in San Francisco. Mrs. Phillips also received a telegram from Willie Walker of Texarkana, which said that Mrs. Yang was to sail Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Yang has been studying in the United States for two years on a scholarship from this district of the Altrusa Club. She visited in Midland recently. Her husband, step-son and family live in Korea. As far as is known, she has not heard from them since war broke out.

Mrs. Yang was in San Francisco when fighting began in her homeland and at first planned to return to Texarkana and work in a hospital until she could go home safely. Later, however, she changed her mind and decided to attempt the trip.

Many Sheer Summer Dresses Are Inexpensive, Easily Made

An easy-to-make sheer organdy dress posed over a pretty eyelet embroidered slip is a charming costume for graduation day or summer parties. Inset sketches show the simple pattern for dress made from five yards of organdy. Scraps left over from cutting out bodice (top sketch) are used for waistband. Four yard skirt is shirred to waistband. Dress is left open in front.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Recipe for a cool Summer costume at a tiny price is to take a pretty slip, made to show, and to frost it with a sheer organdy coat-dress you can make yourself.

The girl who has less than $10 to splurge on a graduation dress can create an ensemble which yields nothing in fashion interest to higher-priced dresses. Good choice for her is an inexpensive white cotton slip with a camisole top and eyelet embroidery trim. Over this goes the sheer white organdy coat dress made from five yards of 36-inch material. The dress is simply styled with a round, collarless neckline, short sleeves cut in one piece with the bodice, and a full-gathered skirt.

Because it is open in front, and requires no intricate fitting, the dress is easy for a beginning seamstress to make. The top is cut out of one yard of organdy. Scraps left over are doubled and placed together to make the waistband. Skirt is made by shirring four yards of organdy to the waistband. Raw edges are bound with bias binding.

If more color is desired, switch the color of the slip. Lingerie manufacturers offer slips of similar design in lovely pastel colors. Or tie a colored velvet ribbon around the waist of the dress. Sprigged dimity, dotted swiss or pastel-tinted organdy make a pretty substitute for white organdy used for the dress.

Youth Center Has Dance

A semi-formal dance was held Saturday night in the newly-reddecorated Midland Youth Center.

New records were used for the dance, and the center was decorated with pale yellow and light green streamers in front of the snack bar.

The refreshment table was in front of the streamers and lime-colored punch and cookies were served.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Chauncey, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Corser, Mrs. Theo Ferguson and Mrs. W. B. Franklin were the chaperones. Mrs. Ray Gwyn, director, announced.

Mrs. Gwyn also said that there will be a watermelon supper at 8 p.m. July 4 in the Youth Center.

Closest shelves which have been covered with oil cloth are gay in appearance and easy to clean.

Good Basic Haircut Is Your Best Friend

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

"If you have a soft permanent and a good hair cut, there is no limit to styles that can be worn even though your hair is short," says New York's Jeanpierre de Paris in his Savoy Plaza salon de Paris in hairdresser to some of Hollywood's most glamorous movie stars.

He has found that the magic formula to give a fresh, casual look without wasting time on endless hair fussing is a good basic haircut. He suggests that you have your hairdresser follow these directions. If you want a good workable haircut, easy to care for:

Remove the under bulk of hair in back, but leave the outer hair long enough to cover the curve of your head. Ends should have an over-all length of about an inch-and-a-half with only the last inch tapered. Select a lock of hair at the right-front and taper it to about a length of two inches from roots to ends.

The tapered right-front lock can be used for bangs or curls on your forehead or it can be brushed completely back to fall into a smooth line with your top and back hair. Or it can be handled, he says, with a series of casual ringlets to nestle with graduated height back of the hairline.

Delay Of Proof Slows Payment

Delay in furnishing proofs slows up the settlement of approximately 45 per cent of all claims for payment filed with the San Angelo office of the Social Security Administration, according to George Clark, manager of the office.

Clark pointed out that most applications for old-age and survivors insurance are handled promptly, but that unfortunately in some cases the person filing the claim cannot, or will not, furnish promptly the evidence needed to support his application. Rarely, though, does a person fail to get payment just because he has no proof.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: British want U. S. to stockpile baby A-bombs on Azores; Attlee would have them made available to British bombers in event of war; Acheson-Johnson, Hillenkoetter stories conflict on Reds' surprise attack in Korea.

WASHINGTON — Simultaneously with the Korean crisis two top British defense experts arrived in Washington for talks with Defense Secretary Louis Johnson. The fact that they came as the Korean crisis broke was an accident, but nevertheless it was significant that, simultaneously, Peter Geoffrey Roberts, conservative member of Parliament, urged use of the atomic bomb against North Korea.

For it is to discuss British use of the atomic bomb that the two experts were ordered to Washington.

They are: Air Marshal Sir Ralph Cochrane, vice chief marshal of the Royal Air Force, and Dr. Richard Cockburn, an atomic scientist.

The two men were sent on direct orders of Prime Minister Attlee, following a meeting of the British cabinet, to discuss future use of the atomic bomb by Britain. What they propose is:

1. That the United States stockpile a certain number of baby A-bombs in the Azores in Mid-Atlantic immediately. Attlee wants this done for the purpose of strengthening European defenses.

2. Should war break, Attlee also wants it understood that British bombers shall have the right to drop A-bombs. He is quite content to leave atomic bombs in American hands up until a war breaks, but after that he wants British bombers to participate.

So far the United States has made no commitments one way or the other.

Conflicting Stories
Partially conflicting stories as to why we were caught off base in Korea were given the Senate Appropriations Committee last week.

Secretaries Acheson and Johnson admitted we had been caught napping, but Adm. Roscoe Hillenkoetter, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency read two reports to the senators, one dated as late as June 20, showing that his intelligence agents had given a general warning.

When Acheson and Johnson appeared before the Senate committee in a secret session, Ferguson of Michigan asked both point blank whether they had received any word of the impending attack. Both said they had not.

"It was a complete surprise," Secretary Johnson replied, and hinted that Central Intelligence was to blame.

Both men told the senators they knew that the North Korean border was restive, but said the actual invasion had taken them completely by surprise.

"Why wasn't Central Intelligence on the job?" Senator Bridges, New Hampshire Republican, broke in. "They get — dollars from Congress. What are they doing with it?" (Bridges mentioned the exact amount voted for Central Intelligence, but later withdrew the figure as secret.)

Secretary Johnson shrugged his shoulders. "You'll have to ask Adm. Hillenkoetter," he said.

Secret Reports
The admiral promptly was summoned to appear before the Senate committee in closed-door session at 3 p.m. However, he did not appear. Later, it developed that he had been called to the White House. At 4 p.m., however, he arrived before the senators, bringing two secret reports warning of possible attacks on Korea.

One was dated August, 1949, and told of continuing activity along the border. The second was dated June 20, 1950, and told in detail of increasing border incidents, including a concentration of 65,000 to 75,000 Communist troops. These troops, according to report, were well equipped, with artillery, tanks, guns and ammunition of the type which the Japanese army surrendered to Russia. There were also a total of 195 planes, all late Russian models.

When questioned by senators Adm. Hillenkoetter admitted he could not forecast the date of a border invasion. Skirmishes along the border might have continued another year, he said, or the invasion might have come the next day. It was not his job to evaluate reports, he said, merely to make them.

Note—A series of reports on Korean unrest and border activity actually had reached the State Department some time ago and Ambassador John Muccio, acting on them, made a special trip to Washington to obtain extra military supplies. The supplies, chiefly artillery to resist Russian tanks, were due last week.

Asked by senators whether the Russians were participating in the North Korean attack, Adm. Hillenkoetter said the Russians had a large military training center on the northern side of the border, but he had no report of a single Russian soldier in combat, killed or captured.

"Furthermore," he said, "I don't expect any."
Senator Knowland of California, great friend of Chiang Kai-Shek, then asked if the Russians might next attack Formosa.

"They might strike Formosa as they did Korea," the admiral replied. "The attack might come most any time."

"How about July 15?" asked Senator Knowland.

"Yes, it might come any time," the intelligence chief admitted.

Note—It was one day later that President Truman ordered the 7th Fleet to protect Formosa from Communist attack.

It probably will be denied, but Governor Dewey does not plan to support Lieut. Gov. Joe Hanley for the New York GOP gubernatorial nomination. Hanley, now 72, was investigated by a grand jury in 1944, and, though cleared, some of the facts would make campaign ammunition for the Democrats.

Besides, Dewey wants to see a liberal Republican in the governorship. Dewey has been offered a partnership in the law firm of Hughes, Huber, and Ewing in New York City. Ewing is a Democrat and Federal Security administrator. Though doing an A-1 job, Ewing is hated by the doctors.

His senior partner, Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., died last winter. . . . Frank Hogan, the N. Y. district attorney who jailed gambler Frank Erickson, is being talked of as a Democratic candidate for governor. . . . First man to congratulate Secretary Acheson after his talk to the governors at their White Sulphur Springs conference was Dewey. They spent a couple of hours together, during which Dewey confided that he never believed the charges of Communism in the State Department and, now that he was leaving politics, he wanted to see so. He also said he thought Acheson was doing a fine job as secretary of State. . . . Acheson was so surprised he almost spilled his drink.

GILVIN C. BROXSON IS TRANSFERRED TO AUSTIN
Gilvin C. Broxson of Midland has been appointed district manager at Austin for The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, according to an announcement released by Agency Manager William K. (Link) Lyman of San Antonio. The appointment was effective Saturday.

Broxson has been a member of the A. C. Midkiff ELAS unit here. Mrs. Broxson and their two sons accompanied him to Austin to make their home.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Baracetrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 40 POUNDS

"Before taking Baracetrate, my weight was 250 pounds. After taking seven bottles my weight is now 210 and I feel so much better, thanks to Baracetrate." Signed, Mrs. L. M. Robinson, Seabrook, Texas.

ELECTRIC SHOW CLOWNS—Clowns, a calliope, an animated life-size pigmy elephant and other circus attractions feature the Texas Electric Show of '50, which will open July 12 on the grounds of the Midland Junior High School. The clowns are Pete Denison (wielding club) and Ronnie Wade, who learned their clowning with the famous Gainesville Community Circus. The electric show is free and is open from 6 to 11 p.m. daily through Friday, July 15.

Circus Theme—Texas Electric Show Of '50 To Open In Midland July 12

Clowns, a calliope, an old-time brass band and a life-size animated pigmy elephant that does everything except eat peanuts will be among the unusual entertainment features of the Texas Electric Show of '50, which will open on the grounds of the Midland Junior High School, Wednesday evening, July 12. The entire show will carry out the circus theme, from the "big top" to the side-show stands, and even a circus Barker, according to R. L. Miller, Texas Electric Service Company manager. The show is free and is being presented by the electric company in cooperation with electrical dealers and distributors. It will continue three days, from 6 to 11 p.m., closing Friday, July 14.

The show will be on the Junior High School grounds, with electrical equipment and appliances for the home and farm displayed in a huge tent. Smaller tents and canopies will house the other attractions.

Among the interesting things to be seen at the Electric Show will be the largest lamp bulb in the world, big as a bushel basket. Beneath it will be the world's smallest lamp bulb, the size of a grain of wheat. Other interesting displays will include a presentation of mechanical puppets to tell a modern version of the story of "Ten Little Indians," and a model power plant.

Wear Dresses To Suit Age

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

There's nothing that can produce an inferiority complex as quickly as trying on dresses in the junior department after you've reached a mature age.

It's true, however, that many women keep squeezing themselves into the same kind of post young styles they wore when they were sweet sixteen, and wonder why they don't look the same now that they are some years older and a number of pounds heavier.

It's really no disgrace to be a grown-up woman, you know. About 80 per cent of all the women in the country are over 30—and many of them manage to be more glamorous than they were at 20.

Takes A Bit of Doing
This takes a bit of doing, of course. More attention to grooming and skin care is important, and selection of the right styles for maximum flattery is vital.

A specialist in suave styles for mature women is one Ed Gerrick, a New York manufacturer who realized that somebody ought to make clothes for the millions of women who can't fit into a size 12 dress. The dresses he turns out have no hint of a dowager look, but by skillful design, soft drapery and attention to slenderizing lines he manages to produce flattery for women of all sizes.

Look closely at some of his designs and you'll see that many have a diagonal front closing, that skirts

ROOMY, ECONOMICAL HOUSE—Because of the opportunities it presents for economical construction, this three-bedroom, single story house has been chosen as a "top" plan by home builders. Living room and dinette combine to form one huge expanse, 23 feet long. The living room picture window angles around a corner. A large utility room is provided, and a small storage room opens onto the yard.

Same Raw Material Used In Making Roads

The roofs on most Americans' houses are basically the same as many of the roads on which they drive their cars. A main raw material of both roofing and paving is asphalt, a petroleum derivative. Produced scientifically in oil refineries, asphalt is the part that remains after gasoline, oils and other lighter products have been separated from the crude petroleum. In manufacturing asphalt shingles, felt is saturated with asphalt. The felt is coated with a harder asphalt and then mineral granules are embedded in the surface. The finished product is fire-resistant and is available in a variety of colors.

'Modular System' Lowers Home Costs

"Modular System," a relatively new term often used in discussions of home building, means simply that architects, builders and material manufacturers have agreed on standardized measurements in order to gain greater production efficiency, explains American Builder Magazine. The basic measurement, or module, is four inches. Under the system, manufacturers make materials in dimensions that are multiples of this four-inch unit, and architects design buildings so that the modular-size materials will fit. Primary advantage of the modular system is that it reduces cutting of materials on the job. This decreases building costs.

Flush Doors Like Desk Tops; All Wood Finishes Suitable

To understand what a "flush door" is, think of a desk top. Besides size and shape, the only difference in appearance is that both sides of a flush door are faced with attractively grained hardwood veneers. Flush doors, like most desk tops, are made of hardwood plywood. Doors of this kind are being used in homes to a steadily increasing extent. The intrinsic beauty of wood veneer is one reason flush doors are so well-liked. For maximum smoothness, flush doors are belt-sanded at the factory. This enables the home-owner to select any method of wood finishing—wax, lacquer, stain and varnish, shellac or paint. Flush doors resist sagging, warping and buckling. Plywood gains these qualities from its cross-grain construction, in which the grain of one layer of wood runs at right angles to the grain of adjacent layers. Solid-Hollow Types Some flush doors have solid cores and some are the hollow-core type. Hollow-core doors are as much as 40 per cent lighter than standard panel doors, which have recessed surfaces instead of being entirely flat and smooth. Despite its name, a hollow-core door is not completely hollow. In interior construction often consists of many small compartments, permitting the door to be light in weight without any sacrifice of strength or durability. Flush doors are easy to clean. There are no dirt-catching moldings as there are in panel doors. Wood veneers of handsome grain and texture are needed only for the surfaces of a flushdoor. Because interior sections can be made of less attractive but equally durable woods, manufacturing costs are kept low. Flush doors are in the same price range as panel doors of comparable quality.

FHA Observes 16th Birthday

WASHINGTON D. C.—The FHA observed its sixteenth birthday Tuesday, with the record of having enabled more than 12 million persons to improve their housing conditions, Commissioner Franklin D. Richards said. The sixteenth anniversary of the Administration came at a time when all volume records for home building are being broken. This high level of new home construction is a sharp contrast to the depression days of 1934 when the Federal Housing Administration was established by passage of the National Housing Act. Despite the striking differences in national conditions in 1934 and 1950, the three chief aims of the National Housing Act are as timely today as 16 years ago:

1. To encourage improvement in housing conditions.
 2. To provide an adequate home financing system to make suitable housing accommodations available for American families.
 3. To have the insured mortgage system exercise a stabilizing influence in the mortgage and real estate markets.
- Accomplishments
Through the years these objectives have developed into tangible accomplishments. FHA, in 16 years, has insured more than 20 billion dollars in 10 1/2 million property improvement loans, and mortgage loans involving about 3 million units. All money advanced has been private capital from about 18,000 private lending institutions of the nation. The FHA has paid its operating costs out of income from examination fees and insurance premiums. In addition to supporting every phase of its operations, FHA has authorized and paid dividends of approximately 22 million dollars to borrowers who have paid off their mortgages. In addition, the Administration has built up reserves and capital in the amount of 230 million dollars.

Remodeled Bedroom Can Provide Bath With Ample Space

The builder of a generation or two ago certainly never planned houses with the needs of a 1950 family in mind, but many a modern household is discovering that its home, vintage 1900 or 1910, can be fully adapted to today's living. The surplus bedroom, for instance, no longer is used by the average family as a cluttered storage space or secondary attic. Instead, it often is converted into an extra bathroom, a highly prized asset in any home. Such a bath has ample space for storage, and can serve as either a master or guest bath. It does away with the morning and evening bathroom rush, and is handy indeed when some one is ill. This extra bath can have either a shower stall, a tub, or both. Walls and floors of clay tile will make it waterproof and sanitary. Storage space is the great boon of a bedroom converted to bath. A whole wall of the room easily can be taken for built-in cupboards and cabinets, and many items besides towels and bath supplies can be stored there. One section, for instance, can be used for winter clothing or bedding, another for slippers and a third for summer scatter rugs. This bathroom also can serve as a dressing room, and a closet in it for bath robes and dressing gowns will be welcomed by the entire family. A lavatory built into a counter top creates an excellent spot for the make-up chores of mother and daughter alike.

"IT'S WET IN THERE"—Jo-Jo and Jerry, new polar bear cubs at the Detroit Zoo, have no mother to guide them—into the water. So trainer Eli Sorak took on the job of teaching them to swim. At first they seemed reluctant pupils because, as pictured above, they dashed out of the pool the first chance they got. However, when left alone in another cage, they jumped into the water and slashed about like a couple of kids in the old swimming hole.

Musical Birth Notices Are The Current Rage

EAST AURORA, N. Y.—Musical birth notices are all the rage in East Aurora of late, thanks to the amplified organ chimes of the First Presbyterian Church. The idea belongs to the minister, the Rev. B. Gibson Lewis, Jr. The practical end is handled by the church organist, Mrs. Fred D. Morgan. Mrs. Morgan plays a 10-minute recital for each new arrival in the parish. The chimes can be heard over most of the village. "The Westminster Chimes" usually starts it off, followed by "The Doxology," a nursery song to indicate a girl or a boy, a hymn, a lullaby and "The Westminster Chimes" again. "The clue for girls," says Mrs. Morgan, "is usually 'Mary Had a Little Lamb or Bo Peep.' For the boys, it's 'Farmer in the Dell' or 'Little Boy Blue.' If I can, I try to work in a few bars of a song that will honor the mother."

Homes Are Sought For 51 Tule Elk

BAKERSFIELD, CALIF.—Homes are wanted for 51 Tule Elk, but only zoos, schools and other public institutions need apply, says the California Fish and Game Division. The elk are likely to be skinny and in poor condition, warn game officials. Altogether there are 73 Tule Elk on the Tuleman refuge near here, but the range is overgrazed. That is why 51 need new homes. They can't be transplanted to other wild refuges because this is all that is left of this species' natural habitat. The rest is farmed or in pasture for domestic livestock.

Israel Is Battling Young Marriages

JERUSALEM—Israel's parliament is determined to break up "the evils of child marriage." Immigrants, particularly from oriental countries, who like to marry their daughters off early—sometimes at 11 or 12 years of age—are in for a lot of trouble. The Knesset (Parliament) approved legislation providing a maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and a fine of $1,680 for anyone permitting, or aiding, the marriage of any girl under 17 years of age. Parents, guardians and rabbis all are included in the law for punishment.

HOW TO STORE EGGS

MOSCOW, IDAHO—Eggs ought to be stored in the case with the little end down, reports the College of Agriculture here. In the big end of an egg there is an air sac. If this end is kept up, the sac stands less chance of being damaged.

LAUGH THAT OFF!

CHICAGO—Just for laughs, George Switak, 17, joined a cooking class at the Carter H. Harrison Technical High School. The funny part about it was that he earned an "E"—for excellent.

The first Colonial American author was Capt. John Smith, who in 1608 wrote "True Relation," the account of the Jamestown settlement.

Five Years Of Road Building In Mexico Revolutionizes Life For 220,000 Persons

Modern schools, like this one in Santiago, Mexico, where there were none before, are part of a revolution brought about by road-building. Land under cultivation has increased 25 per cent. Corn production has increased 570 per cent to 178,000 tons. This year will see an estimated $12,000,000 fruit crop, which before the new roads was less than one-third of that. Before, Nayarit barely produced enough rice for its own population. Today the value of its exported rice crop is expected to be $98,000,000. The new roads have permitted the opening of new lands, the easy export of all surplus commodities, the import of all new kinds of farm equipment and machinery, and a wholesale opening up of this rich territory. Following on the heels of this agricultural prosperity have been many social gains. Schools have mushroomed all over. Every rural community of 100 or more persons has its own "escuela," hospitals and dispensaries, staffed by able nurses and doctors, are quickly licking the diseases among the people which up until now have been regarded as a necessary evil of living. Crime has been reduced to a new low and alcoholism is disappearing. A few years ago a movie theatre was something no one in Nayarit was sure existed. Today there are many of them. The women are buying out the new clothing stores of the latest style clothing. The braceros—wandering farm hands—no longer exist. They have their own places. What has happened to Nayarit as a result of the road building program is being cited as an example of what can be done for all of Mexico. Similar highway projects are being launched all over the country. The Mexican Highway Association, an affiliate of the International Road Federation, is spearheading the expanding highway program and selling it to the people as the way to increased prosperity for the country. From Part-Time Salesgirl To Broadway Star, This Down-To-Earth Girl Made The Climb

BY GAILE DUCAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — In two years, Patricia Neway has traveled from part-time salesgirl in a music store to singing star of the new musical drama, "The Consul," a current smash hit on Broadway.

"It still doesn't seem very real, this being a star," she says. "But since the opening of 'The Consul,' I've had letters and gifts from people I once knew, people I'd almost forgotten. Somehow, they seem to feel it's their success, too. It's wonderful!"

At 27, Patricia is a kindly, sensitive young woman who creates an atmosphere of personal warmth. Her role in the opera is tragic so she is usually photographed looking somber. But the quick play of expressions across her face is anything but sad; she laughs a great deal, pleasantly and easily.

Patricia and her husband, Morris Groll, a teacher and conductor, have kept their cold-water flat despite the fact that things are very bright for them. They like their neighborhood, although now they're beginning to find the apartment small with their hours so irregular. They have been married two and a half years and seem absorbed completely in each other and in their mutual love, music.

When she was still young, Patricia learned to play the piano. She sang a little, and thought about dancing. When she was 16, she entered Notre Dame College for Women. When college was over, she worked in the Collegiate Chorus to learn about singing and at the same time held down a blackface role in the chorus of Radio City Music Hall. She sang under Toscanini in both amateur and professional choruses.

When the Music Hall job ended, she became a salesgirl in a music store. She earned $18 a week. She got Morris, whom she had met in the Collegiate Chorus, a job there, too.

A friend who had heard of the auditions for "The Consul" suggested Pat for the role of Magda Sorel. By this time, she had studied under five good voice teachers.

"Those auditions were awful. We had one after another, while the backers tried to decide. Toscanini came one day and spoke to Gian-

A new star on Broadway is Patricia Neway, who has the leading role in the highly successful musical drama, "The Consul." Two years ago, she was a salesgirl in a music store.

Carlo Menotti, the composer, after he'd heard me sing. They talked together in Italian, and later Menotti told me Toscanini was impressed by what he called my dramatic flair. His opinion helped with the backers, I think."

She sighed a little. "I haven't thought beyond 'The Consul.' I haven't time. Oh, I've thought about the Metropolitan. Everyone who sings does. Perhaps I shouldn't say this, but I think self-expression is more important than the Metropolitan. I wouldn't want to be a small fish in a big pond... and there's no place to go from the Met, is there now?" She thought about it a moment. "If a hydrogen bomb doesn't get us first, I'd like to form a small co-operative opera company in New York, made up of people like Morris and me. But that will take money, so I must further my career first."

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

New Tax Bill Reflects Five Months Of Work

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. J. M. Combs of the Sabine-Neches District will tell you that the new tax bill represents five months of hard work by the 25 members of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee. He is the only Texan on the committee.

"It isn't a perfect bill," says the friendly gray-haired former judge and educator, "but we think it is the fairest legislation that could be worked out and still not substantially change the amount of revenue to the government."

The bill provides the first major revision in general taxes since the wartime excise levies were imposed. The measure cuts excise taxes by about $1,000,000,000 a year, reducing the rates on such services and items as transportation, picture shows and cosmetics. Income taxes are raised on large corporations to make up some of this loss.

One loophole plugging provision would impose levies on unrelated business incomes of educational, charitable and labor organizations. An example was the case of a large, Eastern University which had been bequeathed a soft drink bottling company in the South. "It's hard to imagine how many angles must be considered before you make any change in a tax statute," Combs added. "Therefore, we held hearings so every affected individual or company could present views."

The Texan was one of the leaders in the committee's action in turning down the Truman Administration's request for reduction of the oil depletion allowance rate from 27 1/2 to 15 per cent.

Every taxpayer in Texas would have been adversely affected by the proposal, Combs said, adding that it would have slowed oil and gas operations with a resulting loss of general income as well as revenue to the state.

Around The Capital
The nation's taste in seafood has changed somewhat in the past decade, says the Fish and Wildlife Service.

It has just published an analysis of surveys conducted in major cities of the nation in 1936 and 1946. Fish fillets and shrimp—the most striking examples of the change—are much more popular than they were 10 or 12 years ago.

Houston, Dallas and El Paso were among the cities surveyed. The report shows Houston went for sea trout, red drum and croakers in 1946. There was no 1936 survey there.

In Dallas the latest survey showed oysters, sea trout and crab meat most popular. In 1936 haddock, oysters and sea trout were the big sellers.

El Paso in 1946 preferred totuava, shrimp and catfish. In 1936 the preference was for sea bass, cabrilla and haddock. Totuava is a Mexican white sea bass; cabrilla also is known as rock or sand bass and comes largely from Mexican waters off lower California.

A bill designed to keep a certain species of giant snails out of this country has been introduced by Rep. Wingate Lucas of Fort Worth and approved by the House Agriculture Committee.

"It's not that there are more small troubles in north central Texas than elsewhere in the nation, but the matter happened to come to Lucas' attention through a magazine article.

"The snails involved are about the size of teacups," he said. "They are so prolific and devastating they sweep over an area like locusts and leave it as barren as if an enemy had been on a scorched earth rampage."

Quite a lot of them have reached this country since the war, he said, some clinging to war material returned from Pacific Islands and some brought by soldier and tourists who were unaware of their potential danger.

"In Africa there are a lot," he added, "but there such natural enemies as tribesmen who eat them keep the number under control."

Jelly Roll Morton's Jazz Lives Again For A Brief Hour

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In the hot afternoon light the casino looked a little trowsy, like a dance hall hostess surprised in her wrapper and curls.

People sat around the tables with pitchers of beer as if they had wandered in from the lower East Side street by mistake. They had come for a concert, a celebration for Ferdinand Morton — "Mr. Jelly Roll," the man who invented jazz. But something was out of tune.

Jelly Roll Morton gave birth to jazz in the glittering sporting houses of old New Orleans while millionaires listened and champagne bubbled. His piano had echoed in the fanciest nightspots of Chicago, New York, California. This casino, among the tenements and delicatessens, wasn't one of them.

Then over by the bandstand, a lanky man whose hair kept tumbling over his eyes stopped fiddling with a record player and introduced himself as Alan Lomax, collector of American folklore. He had just written a book called "Mister Jelly Roll," and he wanted to play a record.

Out of the loudspeaker came a voice, "a gravel voice melting at the edges," as Lomax describes it in his book, "not talking, but spinning out a life in something close to song." The voice was Jelly Roll, and he was recording history.

Cat Found Nursing Five Young Rats

COPENHAGEN—(AP)—Farmer Christian Harpoeth of Toender, South Jutland, found his cat nursing five well-fed young rats. Sometime ago its kittens had been drowned and since then the cat had hidden. When traced she was taking care of the rats. Now she is mourning the loss of her foster-children who have been drowned, too.

"... So in the year of 1903 when I was about 17 years old I happened to invade one of the sections where the birth of jazz originated from," the voice said, and a riffle of piano chords drifted out of the loudspeaker with it.

Jelly Roll had written the story himself, talking it and playing it into a recording machine in 1938 at the Library of Congress, when Lomax was assistant curator of the Folklore Archive. After that Lomax spent 12 years copying Jelly Roll's recorded bragging onto paper, interspersing it with "interludes," to make a biography.

More of Jelly Roll spilled out of the loudspeaker over the people at the casino tables. Jelly Roll bragging about his tune, "The Pearls," "There are very, very few pianists, if any, that can play 'The Pearls,' it being the most difficult piece of jazz piano music ever written except for my 'Fingerbuster'." And Jelly Roll playing "Tiger Rag" ("which I also named, from the way I made the 'tiger' roar with my elbow").

"Mister Jelly Roll" as drawn by David Stone Martin for the book of the same name.

max was assistant curator of the Folklore Archive. After that Lomax spent 12 years copying Jelly Roll's recorded bragging onto paper, interspersing it with "interludes," to make a biography.

More of Jelly Roll spilled out of the loudspeaker over the people at the casino tables. Jelly Roll bragging about his tune, "The Pearls," "There are very, very few pianists, if any, that can play 'The Pearls,' it being the most difficult piece of jazz piano music ever written except for my 'Fingerbuster'." And Jelly Roll playing "Tiger Rag" ("which I also named, from the way I made the 'tiger' roar with my elbow").

Then the record stopped, and half a dozen side-men, as jazz people call them, climbed to the bandstand and began limbering up their instruments. Jimmy Archie was there, a round little deaconish man with gold-rimmed glasses who was Jelly's trombonist once, and Omer Simeon, a dark-skinner Mr. Five-by-Five who was Creole Jelly's favorite clarinet player.

Suddenly, like a downpour, the casino was drenched in "Jelly Roll Blues," all brass and eight octaves wide. It was probably the first jazz ever written down, back in 1912, but the men pouring it out needed no music. Jelly had given it to them in the fancy-houses of New Orleans' Storyville, and now the faded casino on the edge of Greenwich Village was like a Storyville house, too, gaudy and glittered with memory.

The beer in the pitchers was still beer, but to Mabel, a Creole who was Jelly's last flame, it could have been champagne. Mabel came down from Harlem for the party, and her wide-brimmed hat made a breeze as she nodded to the jazz beat.

"That's really playin' the music like my husband used to play it," she said, happily.

After a while the boys began packing up their instruments, and with the spell of Storyville gone, the casino was a shabby dance hall again. But not really out of tune. Jelly had gone that way, too.

When he told his story in 1938, he had already pawned his diamond-studded sock supporters, and before they buried him in Los Angeles in 1940 someone had stolen the half-carat diamond from his front tooth.

Mabel was probably glad to get back up to Harlem and remember those New Orleans men, really playin' the music like Mr. Jelly Roll used to play it.

Marine Reservists Are Taking To Air

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (AP) — More than 15,000 Marine Corps Reservists are taking to the air this Summer in connection with annual maneuvers on both coasts. This will be the largest airborne movement of reservists in any of the armed forces this Summer.

Almost 10,000 of the airborne Marine Reservists will be members of Organized Reserve Ground Units who meet once a week in home training centers. Another 5,500 will be Aviation Reserve members including some 400 pilots who will fly fighter planes. The reservists will be flown in Marine transport planes based at Cherry Point, N. C. and El Toro, Calif. Nearly 8,000 reservists were so transported last Summer without accident and every safety precaution again will be taken this Summer in the various air lifts.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Bigger Teases Too

Wonderful things always are happening in the Great Forest, and especially up in the top of the very tall tree in the monkey house where Daddy Ringtail lives. But everyone wants a vacation, even a monkey and Mugwump wanted to go down the river in the riverboat with Daddy Ringtail, Mother Ringtail, Sammy, Bobby and Patyckake.

Daddy Ringtail went back to ask Mugwump's father—his name was Bigger—if Mugwump could really go.

When Daddy Ringtail came walking slowly back to the riverboat, shaking his head and looking oh so sad, Mugwump knew what the bad news was. Bigger wouldn't let him go on the vacation with Daddy Ringtail. Oh me! What a terrible thing to happen to anybody! But Daddy Ringtail said: "Don't look so unhappy. Bigger didn't say 'no'. He said 'maybe', and he's coming down in a minute to talk with you."

Everyone sat very quietly in the boat, waiting and waiting for Bigger to come along, hoping and hoping that Mugwump could go on the vacation after all. And at last, there came Bigger—all of him, for he was a very big fellow.

"What's all this about a vacation?" Bigger asked in his very big voice.

"Please, Bigger," Mugwump said, "please let me go."

"Hmm!" said Bigger, and he put his hand to his chin and tried to think as wise as Dr. Shoobug really was. "Hmm! If I let you go, will you promise not to ask me again until next time?"

"Oh yes!" Mugwump said, and then he began to laugh, for there was a merry twinkle in Bigger's eyes, and everyone knew that he had wanted Mugwump to go all along. He was only teasing, you see, when he pretended that maybe Mugwump couldn't go. And Bigger laughed and Daddy Ringtail laughed, because vacation time is a happy time, and Bigger said: "Happy vacation, everyone!"
Happy vacation to you, too, the very next time you have one, whether you have it at the sea, in the mountains, or on a river or lake, or in the city or on a farm, or at grandmother's house, or maybe even in your own back yard. Happy day!

New 'Compound' Engine May Boost Planes' Range

Circled turbine—one of three on the "compound" engine—is run by exhaust gases from the conventional piston-type engine. Thus the same fuel produces more power. This "compound" engine is installed on a Lockheed P2V-4.

WOOD-RIDGE, N. J.—(NEA)—Engineers at Wright Aeronautical Corporation have put one and one together and made one. They've made a new type aircraft engine that promises great things for aviation.

They took the best features of the conventional piston engine and combined them with the jet or turbine type. What came out is something they call a "compound" engine.

The new engine has been successfully tested on a Lockheed P2V-4 Neptune, used by the Navy as a long-range anti-submarine patrol bomber. Already, it has demonstrated its ability. Using the same amount of fuel as a 2700-horsepower engine, it developed 3250 horsepower.

And that increase in power was gained with an engine that is actually lighter in weight. The "compound" engine therefore gives promise of increasing the range of planes like the Neptune, which already holds the world's distance record of 11,236 miles.

Work On Project Wright's engineers, who have been working on the project since 1946, knew that the jet type engine produces great amounts of power from a relatively light machine. They also knew that the piston-type has certain advantages. So they built a piston engine. But, instead of letting the exhaust gas simply escape into the air, they piped it directly into turbines. Now, as the piston part of the "compound" engine operates, it produces fuel for the turbine part at the same time as it drives the plane forward itself. The "compound" engine is really two engines in one—with only one fuel supply.

Besides its economy of operation in terms of fuel consumption for power produced, the "compound" engine has other advantages. In tests, it has shown that it can take off with a shorter run, and also develop greater take-off power. And it is a quieter engine, too. Noise is an important factor in crew fatigue, so the "compound" engine will be liked by the pilots as well as the aviation strategists.

The Neptune, equipped with regular engines, has a normal non-stop cruising range of more than 5,000 miles. With the "compound" engine, it can take a full military load from the United States to Europe and back again—non-stop, without refueling.

That adds up to a big boost to aviation from the simple formula of one and one equalling one.

No escape for the "energy slugs," always present in engine exhaust, in the "compound" engine. In ordinary piston engine, the "slugs" go right into the air. But the cartoon shows that in the "compound" engine, they push a turbine wheel before escaping.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

By DALMON McNAIR

The market was weaker on all classes of cattle Thursday at Midland Livestock Auction Company sale. Receipts were lighter and prices ranged from 25 cents to $1 a hundred lower on 440 head sold.

Fat calves and yearlings brought $25.50 to $27 and medium grades went at $18 to $25.50. Fat cows cashed at $17 to $19 and a few heiferette kinds went higher. Medium cows sold for $15.50 to $17. Cannors and cutters moved at $12 to $15.50 and old shelly kinds were cheaper. Common and medium bulls brought $13.50 to $20.

Stocker steer calves ranged from $20 for choice light-weights down to $26. Stocker heifer calves auctioned for $24 to $26.50. Stocker steer yearlings were bid from $23.50 to $26.50.

Buck Miller of Pecos has bought 1,500 yearling ewes from Elmo Weston of Marathon for $21 a head. Buck Jackson of Pecos has contracted about 200 mixed Hereford calves from R. M. Lassater of Pecos for delivery in November. Jim Dean also of Pecos, has sold 125 heifer yearlings to Dr. Bratton of Brady.

Most calf contracts in the Pecos area are at 25 and 26 cents. There have been few sales lately, however. The area west of Pecos is in desperate need of rain.

Thursday night's rain brought much relief to the Midland area by lowering the thermometer mercury a few degrees. The 44 inches received in the city may not have been general over the entire county. However, several crops reportedly were benefitted by the showers. And, an occasional rain helps morale enough in these parts to justify a few wet sidewalks and streets.

The All American Jersey Show and Junior Jersey Exposition, offering $10,000 in premiums and trophies valued at $35,000, will be the featured livestock attraction at the Mid-Century Exposition of the 1950 State Fair of Texas, Ray W. Wilson, manager of the Fair Livestock department, has announced.

Dates for the show, destined to be the greatest dairy cattle show in the 65-year history of the State Fair, are October 13-20. Gates will swing open October 7 for the Mid-Century Exposition and will remain open through October 22.

Since Texas leads the nation in the number of purebred and grade Jerseys, it is natural that the greatest state fair in the world should be selected as the site for this great show, Wilson said.

Sharp increases in Texas farm and ranch real estate taxes during 1949 were revealed in a recent survey made by L. P. Gabbard, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, and Robert G. Cherry, professor of agricultural economics at Texas A&M College.

Leaves made by State and local governments totaled an average of 25.7 cents per acre, rising from 22.4 cents during previous years. This is an increase of 3.3 cents per acre or 15 per cent over the 1948 average.

Most of the rise in 1949 was accounted for by increases in State and school district taxes. County and special district levies have increased very little since 1948. The advance in the State rate on farm and ranch real estate from 42 cents per $100 valuation in 1948 to 72 cents was the largest item in the 1949 tax increase. Gilmer-Aikin legislation also accounted for a portion of the increase in school taxes.

Greater awareness and observance of farm safety rules to bring about a reduction of the accident toll among farm people have been urged by President Truman in a proclamation naming the week July 23-29 as National Farm Safety Week.

The President's proclamation said, in part: "Experience has demonstrated the value of a concentrated effort to stress the importance of learning and conscientiously observing farm safety rules. I therefore earnestly request all organizations and individuals interested in farm life and the welfare of farm people to join in a continuing campaign to encourage the study and observance of farm safety rules during the designated week and throughout the year."

LeRoy Fry, manager of the Abilene Christian College farm and a member of the agriculture department of that school for several years, has resigned his position, effective September 1.

He will move to the Rio Grande Valley to take over management of a dairy farm and a stock farm, being located near Raymondville. He will be associated with his brother-in-law in the venture.

Dates for Odessa's 1951 Sand Hills Hereford and Quarter Horse show have been set for March 7-10. Cal Smith, president of the show association, has announced.

Odessa's show has been an annual event for many years.

Colorado's only major Thoroughbred Racing plant, the two and one-half million dollar Centennial Park, located on the outskirts of Denver, is all set to open Tuesday before thousands of racing fans living and vacationing in the area.

The plant's general manager, Willard F. Tunney, says everything is in readiness for the inaugural day's program which will be featured by the Centennial Handicap for three-year-olds and up, at a distance of six furlongs, with a purse of $5,000 added. The park will have a 46-day racing season. . . .

That West of the Pecos Rodeo got underway Saturday for a big five-day engagement. Cowboys and cowgirls from a wide area were expected to be on hand for the giant opening-day parade and take part in the rodeo. U. S. Representative Ken Regan, Gov. Allan Shivers and other top officials were to be on hand to get the rodeo off to a good start.

The city of Pecos, which has jumped into prominence as a result of preliminary 1950 census releases, has an exclusive brand of cotton, some of the best irrigation, and the best-known cantaloupes in the county. The rodeo there is one of the top attractions in West Texas from year to year. . . .

The wind, rain and hail storm which struck McCamey Thursday night, causing extensive damage in the area, may have missed the irrigation tract, nine miles southwest of the city.

J. Lee Werst, who supplied The Reporter-Telegram with a report on the storm early Friday, said he had inspected the tract. The irrigation system but the storm may have missed the crops in that area.

Four small planes were damaged slightly in the storm, but fortunately they were well secured. Chief damage in the city was to the Humble Sales building which was an almost total loss.

Day To Remember For Chicago Officer

CHICAGO—(AP)—It was going to be a day to remember for Police-man Al Butvill and his wife. It was their ninth wedding anniversary. They took their three children and a basket of lunch and went to Lincoln Park.

They saw a seven-year-old boy fall into a lagoon. Butvill stripped off his trousers, leaped into the water and rescued the youngster. When the Butvills reached their auto, he discovered the key to the car was missing.

So they rode home on public transportation lines. Butvill then ascertained he also had lost the key to his house. Butvill borrowed a ladder and climbed in through a second floor window. All in all, it was, as intended, a day to remember.

Israel Food Good, Declares Lord Orr

JERUSALEM—(AP)—Lord Boyd Orr, former director-general of the United Nations food and agricultural organization, thinks Israelis have a "good menu."

He so told Dr. Dov Joseph, minister of supply and rationing, during a visit to Israel. Lord Boyd Orr examined the food lists prepared by the minister and said the present food rations were sufficient to maintain the health of the Israelis.

Israelis long have complained about a seven-ounce individual week ounce weekly meat ration and a steady diet of frozen fish, potatoes, carrots and peas. They also get some eggs.

FAITH OF OUR FATHERS...

The men and women who built America had a profound faith in a Divine Providence. They believed the Government they founded here in a new land would be protected by this Providence.

They believed prosperity to be the product of hard work and right thinking.

The church was as much a part of their living as the bread they ate.

Upon these broad principles they built the greatest government and the greatest prosperity man has ever known.

Is it not possible there was some foundation for the faith of our fathers?

In this time when there is so much misunderstanding and fear, would it not be a good idea to turn again to this faith of our fathers?

Faith in God and in man, hard work, devotion to religion and church . . . these things are the foundation of a great America. They are the strongest protection against poverty and communism.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written For NEA Service

"What is the proper way to discard when the pack is frozen?" asks a Kansas City fan. "Should you play safe even if that means breaking up your hand? Or should you hold on to as many pairs as possible even if that means making a dangerous discard?"

I wish I could give a simple answer to that question. I hate to keep saying, "It all depends. Yes; but, on the other hand, no." Unfortunately, there is no simple answer.

Before you plan your discards, you must ask yourself one very important question: Which side is going to get this discard pile eventually?

At the very end of a hand, the chances are that nobody will get the pack. Then your object is to discard safely at all cost. Of course you'd like to get the pack, but you don't dare risk letting it get away from you. Therefore, both sides usually make the last few discards as though walking on eggs.

When the pack is frozen early, you must expect that one side or the other will get the pack sooner or later. You must decide immediately which side is the favorite.

If your side is favored, you must strike a balance between safety and enterprise. You mustn't give the pack away with a careless discard, but it would be foolish to break your hand up entirely unless you have reason to believe that your partner will save the day for you. If you are quite sure that your side is favored, you can afford to discard cards that match the meld of the enemy (when such discards are safe). You can even afford to toss wild cards into the pile. After all, they will eventually come back to you.

If the opponents are favored to win the pile, keep that fact in mind. Throw only what you are willing to have the opponents pick up. It isn't at all safe to throw cards that match the enemy's melds. They will eventually get those cards and make canastas with them. It certainly is not safe to throw your wild cards into the pile. The opponents may thank you for such a fine present, but your partner will not.

Q—Can you play six-hand Canasta with three different couples, with each couple as a partnership? We have been told that you have to play as two partnerships of three people each.

A—Both ways are possible. When you have three couples, the logical way is to let each couple be a partnership.

Q—A player has taken the pack and added the top card to a meld. May he then ask permission to go out? Or, having made a meld, must he use his own discretion?

A—He must use his own discretion. He is not allowed to ask his partner's opinion on the matter. If he melds and then asks permission, he must meld out.

Q—The pack is frozen before either side melds. South discards an ace. West puts down two aces from his hand (he needs only 50 points for the first meld) and wants to take the discard pile. North and South say he cannot do this. They say that he must meld from his hand first before he can ever take the discard pile. In other words, if he puts down three aces or two aces and a wild card from his hand at this turn, he can later take the discard pile. Is this correct when the pack is frozen?

A—It is not correct. West was entitled to take the discard pile with his pair of aces. It is not necessary to have a meld down on the table before you can take the discard pile. You are allowed to take the pile for your initial meld, whether or not the pack is frozen.

'Marryin' Justice' Gives Curb Service In Quick Ceremony

CLAYTON, N. M. —(AP)—Col. Jack Potter, almost 90, is a "marryin' justice" who gives what he calls "curb service" to couples desiring marriage.

"All they've got to do is drive up in front of my house and honk their horn," the former Texas trail driver said. "I go right out and tie 'em up on the spot. They have to get out of the car just long enough to join hands. The only delay is when it's raining—then they've got to wait until I get my slicker on."

More than 50 years ago the Clayton justice of the peace blazed what has become known as the Potter and Bacon trail from the Texas Panhandle into Montana.

He used to live at Old Tascosa when it was a roaring Western rendezvous. It was for years afterward a ghost town until a decade ago when it became the site of the Panhandle's Boys Ranch, a home for under-privileged boys. But 50 years ago the rattle of pistol fire was often heard there, and such characters as Billy The Kid were familiar figures along its dusty streets.

Moves To Clayton
 After his days as a cowpoke in and around Tascosa, Colonel Potter moved to Union County, N. M., northeast of Clayton and ranched for some years. A number of years ago he moved to Clayton, and has kept busy at a number of things, such as writing fact and fiction articles on his experiences, serving in the state legislature and serving as justice of the peace.

The colonel said New Mexico still has no law requiring pre-marital health examinations and that couples are pouring in there from Colorado, Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma.

 Back in the 1930's during what he calls "the wind blizzards," the colonel admits that a fellow out-sharped him. "The fellow," as Colonel Potter tells it, "came in one day, said he wanted to get married pretty soon, and he didn't want any tomfoolery in the ceremony, and what would it cost him."

Admits Mistake
 "Well," the colonel continued, "I kidded around a little while and finally made the mistake of telling him I'd charge according to the looks of the bride."

A few days later the fellow came driving up in a wheezy old car with smoke pouring out from under the hood and brought into the house the woman he wanted to marry.

"I married 'em," the colonel said, "and when the fellow asked what he owed me, I told him he didn't

Israeli Citizenship Is Simple Matter

JERUSALEM —(AP)—It's a simple matter to become a citizen of Israel. Every Jewish immigrant automatically acquires citizenship the moment of arrival in this country. In great simplicity—it's only five words in Hebrew—the "Law of Return" approved by parliament says:

"Every Jew has the right to immigrate to Israel."

Salem, Mass., was once known as the "pepper port," because so much pepper was imported through there.

owe me a damn cent. He then told me I had been pretty nice, and as a reward I could kiss the bride. But I told him no, that I would let him handle that too. "I have always kind of felt," Colonel Potter concluded, "that some way that fellow out-smarted me."

Foes In Cold War 'Friends' In Palace

BERLIN —(AP)—Frederick the Great's bedroom has become a crossroads. It's about the only place left that Russians, Americans, British, French and Germans meet, without arguing.

Frederick's three palaces in Potsdam attract thousands of sightseers from the occupation personnel of all four powers every Sunday. The gawk at the ornate style of Eighteenth Century kings and even the Russians exchange comments with the Westerners.

The trip is popular because it means entering the Soviet Zone, a rare privilege. But that doesn't mean it is a peephole to observe what goes on there. Buses are cleared until they reach the palaces on the outskirts of Potsdam, and the ride through the bombed-out city is too fast to permit even a glance at shopwindows.
