North Koreans Retake Important East Coast City

Patrols Probe At New GI Positions South Of Taejon

TOKYO —(P)— North Korean troops have recaptured Yongdok on the East Korean Coast, General MacArthur announced Sunday as American and Communist patrols probed along the Western front.

Yongdok, destroyed by Allied naval gunfire and taken by U. S. and South Korean forces Friday, was lost Saturday before a Red attack in regimental strength, MacArthur said in a Sunday communique.

The town is 26 air miles north of Pohang, where the First Cavalry Division landed Tuesday in the first American amphibious operation of the war. It is an important point on the Red's Southern thrust down the coast toward the vital supply port of Pusan. It also controls a highway through the high coastal mountains to the central front around Yechon.

MacArthur also reported "increased" Red pressure in the area of Hamchang, 15 miles southwest of Yechon, which was taken by American forces Friday.

No Major Ground Contact
Field dispatches reported Red armor and infantry building up for assault on new American positions south and east of fallen Taejon, where First Cavalry elements have gone in as reinforcements.

American artillery and mortars pounded moderately throughout the night, Associated Press Correspondent William R. Moore reported from a command post, but there was no major ground contact.

Communist patrols probed at new defense lines of the First Cavalry, sent to bolster the gallant 24th Division. The First Cavalry also sent out patrols to scout Red positions and concentrations.

Skies were clearing. It was believed American aircraft would have opportunities to return to full-scale attack after being hampered by bad weather.

The American artillery concentrated on roads and valleys where the North Koreans were believed assembling for a fresh thrust. One of the aims was to keep the Reds from using the Taejon-Yongdok road and the double-track railroad that parallels its southeastward out of Taejon.

Planes Strafe Reds

Astride this 27-mile road, the new American defense line was being consolidated, said General MacArthur's communique early Sunday. Other sectors were relatively quiet.

Despite murky weather, American planes strafed the Reds in Taejon Saturday.

A dispatch said new American troops were in the line and de-

McCameyite Dies Of Burns Received In Power Line Mishap

MCCAMEY — Bonnie (Skeet) Sudderth, 41, an employee of the West Texas Utilities here 15 years, died early Saturday in a McCamey hospital of burns received Friday afternoon when he came in contact with a high voltage wire while working with a power distribution crew on the Dicus farm about nine miles south of McCamey.

Sudderth was born Nov. 3, 1908, at Hale Center and came to McCamey about 15 years ago.

Funeral services are scheduled at 10 a. m. Monday in the First Methodist Church here, with the Rev. Ross T. Welch, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Cedar Hill Cemetery in Abilene at 5 p. m. Monday.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Garrett of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Era Fillmore of Tulsa, Okla., and two brothers, Aaron of Abilene, and Tommie of McCamey.

Sudderth was working atop a power pole when the accident occurred. He hung by his safety belt until H. H. Carnes and Jack Joyce, fellow workers, removed him from the pole. He was given artificial respiration by Carnes and Truman Reynolds, another WTU employe, and regained consciousness momentarily.

He was rushed by ambulance to a McCamey hospital. He was burned about the abdomen, legs, right arm and left wrist.

U. S. Count Surpasses 150 Million

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Census Bureau Saturday estimated the 1950 population of the United States at 150,520,000.

This is almost 19,000,000 higher than the 1940 total of 131,699,273. The bureau announced preliminary totals for all the states.

The figures, when checked and revised where necessary, will be used by Congress to help determine how many representatives each state will have in the House.

Congressional Changes
The total figure includes an estimated 700,000 persons — mostly transients and Merchant Marine crews—whose home states are not yet definitely known.

Officials called attention to estimates made in 1949 which show California gaining eight seats and New York and Pennsylvania losing three seats and two seats respectively. They said these figures likely will not be off by more than one.

Other changes indicated by the 1948 House estimate: Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, all likely to lose one seat.

Florida, Indiana, Michigan, Oregon, Texas, and Washington likely to gain one.

Submarine Reported In North Atlantic, Apparently Russian

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND —(P)— The weekly newspaper Sunday Herald quoted a trawler captain Saturday as saying he had spotted a submarine on the Grand Banks off Newfoundland which, from the type of construction, appeared to be Russian.

There was no confirmation. A Royal Canadian Navy official at Ottawa said the reports are being investigated and added:

"There is no information at the moment to indicate these reports are true."

The Herald commented: "As Russia has the only large submarine fleet outside the United States and United Kingdom, it is a matter of speculation as to whether the submarine was Russian. If indeed the sub was Russian, it is impossible to say what she was doing so far from her home base. Certainly, in view of the serious situation in Korea anything that Russia might have in mind for this side of the Atlantic would not be to the advantage of North America."

FRANKFURT, GERMANY —(AP)— U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy said Saturday night, "It would be very difficult indeed to deny the Germans the right and the means to defend their own soil" in the event of attack from the East.

TOKYO —(AP)— Superfortress bombers carried the brunt of the air war against the North Koreans Sunday as bad weather drastically limited activity, Far East Air Force Headquarters announced.

Bad Oil Grounds 17 Sheppard Field Planes

WICHITA FALLS —(P)— Sheppard Air Base officers Saturday said 17 planes there had been grounded because of defective oil in the planes.

The officers said there was no reason to suspect anything like sabotage; that the oil apparently was just under standard.

A chemical analysis was being made of the oil. There was no damage to the planes.

NEW ORLEANS —(P)— Some members of organized surface and submarine units of the naval reserve in the Eighth Naval District will be sent orders next Monday to report for active duty, district headquarters announced Saturday.

The district did not disclose the number of orders to be sent nor the time when the officers and men would report. The Navy said all types of ratings would be called.

The orders for enlisted men, the Navy said, would be issued from local headquarters to their unit commanders. At the same time, orders for officers will be sent from Washington.

Fred Hervey Eliminated In Close Contest

Congressman Ken Regan of Midland was leading his opponents, Paul Moss of Odessa and Fred Hervey of El Paso, in their "red-hot" race for representative of the 16th Congressional District, according to incomplete but unofficial returns from over the huge district early Sunday, but the Midlander apparently faces a runoff with Moss in the August primary.

Shivers Is Victor Over Caso March

ALLAN SHIVERS will sit in the Texas governor's chair for two more years.

He amassed a lead of almost four to one over the closest of six opponents in Saturday's Democratic primary.

But a runoff election in August, probably between Pierce P. Brooks of Dallas and Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, will determine who is to be lieutenant governor.

Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald of Austin faced an all-most certain runoff. So did several candidates for Congress and Judgeships.

Shivers' main opponent, Caso March of Waco, conceded at 10 p. m. He wired congratulations to the handsome, lanky Shivers, who received returns at his century-old Woodville home.

Shivers said he was humbled and grateful.

"It makes me want to work that much harder to give Texas a good administration," said the smiling, happy Shivers. "Texas is going to have a lot of special problems during the next two years. I'll need the continued help of all the people."

In the Texas election bureau's 12:30 a. m. Sunday count Shivers had 290,056 votes to 71,732 for March. Closest of the five other candidates was Charles Hutchinson of Dallas with only 4,947.

In the lieutenant governor race, Brooks led Ramsey 61,497 to 56,777. Still possibly in the race were (Continued On Page Three)

Ida Has Tremors While Trevor Makes It Clear Claire Hasn't

By ESKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Behind the screen: Claire Trevor says she won't be out to give Ida Lupino a bad time of it when Ida directs her in "Mother of a Champion."
If Claire pulls hunks of mattress stuffing out of her bed at night, it will not be because she's dreaming of a knock-down-drag-out fight with Miss Director.
"I never fight with directors, male or female," Claire told me. "I do exactly what they want me to. Ida has a lot of talent and she's more alive to everything that pertains to women than anybody in the industry."
Maybe Ida can stop trembling now and pitch right in. Last I heard, she was chattering her teeth over the idea of directing a regulation-sized movie queen.
Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin need a new title, fast, for their independent comedy, "At War With the Army." The Korean situation makes it the most embarrassing picture tag of the year.
The movie queens are gasping over Barbara Payton's contract with Jimmy and Bill Cagney. It gives her 50 per cent of her loan-out salary.
Date for Miriam Hopkins' divorce from foreign correspondent Ray Brock is about six months away. They've been separated for several years.
Coward To Cowhand
Whoa that, old Pank! City-slicker dough didn't pay off at Charley Farrell's swank Toyon Bay resort and now the once-glistening-by-the-ocean site has become a roottin' tootin' dude ranch.
Hollywood dolls and guys who once brought along their best Noel Coward manners are a-ridin' the canyons and eating from a chuck wagon at the Catalina Island Guest Ranch—new tag for Toyon Bay. Most of the cowboys on the staff belong to the Screen Actors Guild.
Julian King, who owns the vacation spot, reports that two herds of buffalo, left on the island years ago by the "Cimarron" and "Thundering Herd" troupes, still are roaming the hills.
"One herd got wind of the fact that the other received less movie money," laughs King. "Nobody can get those two herds to mix."
M-G-M's music wizard Andre Previn and Phyllis Kirk are two bright, young things about town, but they deny the marriage rumors. "Nothing serious," says Previn, "but we've just decided not to see each other more than seven nights a week." Height of something: Frank Sinatra singing "Nancy" with Ava Gardner in front row at London Palladium.
Ann Sheridan is blushing over Fox's trade-paper ads for "Stella." It's a comedy about two nitwits who bury a body, but the ads are concentrating on Ann's gams and tease lines like this: "Delilah Gave Samson a Haircut. 'Stella' Gives Him the Works."
Producer Joe Pasternak and M-G-M threw a big shindig at the Mocambo for Vic Damone. When I remarked on the mob of auto-graph hunters in front of the nitery, Vic said: "They must be expecting Sinatra."
Crash On Coburn
Alan Nixon doesn't have to worry, but wife Marie Wilson thinks Charles Coburn is a dreamboat. Marie told me:
"Wasn't that sweet of him to say those nice things about my Lady Tealbe in 'School for Scandal'? When I opened in the play he sent me flowers and a card that read: 'From an old grapefruit-picker of the period.' Marie says her "romance" with Coburn has been going on ever since she met him at Warner Brothers one day and whispered:
"Get rid of those women with you." Coburn screamed.
Marie hops right into another play but she hopes to fall flat on her face if she's trying to prove that she's a Katharine Cornell.
She says:
"I don't have any ideas about art and I'm not out to show anybody what I can do. I'm doing plays for the fun of it."
Mickey Rooney to a pal: "I don't believe in starting kids too young in show business. Martha and I will wait until ours is at least four or five."
Bob Cummings decided the financial gamble was too great and has given up all plans to make a movie abroad with Greta Garbo and himself as the stars. Bob becomes Hollywood's busiest actor after a three-month trip to Europe. He's doing "For Heaven's Sake" at Fox, then hops across town for three films at Columbia and three for Hal Wallis.
"I will then be without any contractual obligations," he said, "and own myself again for the first time in 15 years."

Mickey Rooney to a pal: "I don't believe in starting kids too young in show business. Martha and I will wait until ours is at least four or five."
Bob Cummings decided the financial gamble was too great and has given up all plans to make a movie abroad with Greta Garbo and himself as the stars. Bob becomes Hollywood's busiest actor after a three-month trip to Europe. He's doing "For Heaven's Sake" at Fox, then hops across town for three films at Columbia and three for Hal Wallis.
"I will then be without any contractual obligations," he said, "and own myself again for the first time in 15 years."

He was the only battle casualty aboard the big C-97, which also carried about fifty Air Force and Navy personnel being returned for illness or for non-battle injuries.

She was found shot in her bedroom. Officers said a burglary was indicated, and two diamond rings still have not been found.

Midland Delegation Is Back Home From Lions Convention

Tired but still going strong, the Midland delegation to the 33rd annual convention of Lions International held last week in Chicago, returned to Midland early Saturday, reporting a grand time in the windy city. The famed Midland Lions Club International Convention Band, which attracted widespread attention in Chicago, was included in the large Midland group. The Midlanders originally were scheduled to arrive here Friday afternoon, but their special train from Chicago failed to make connection with a westbound T&P train in Fort Worth. Various band members said the trip was most successful from every standpoint and that Midland and West Texas received top-notch publicity in the convention city. The band played one concert after another and was the only non-professional group to perform on the costly Texas Night program last Monday. Thousands of Chamber of Commerce prepared Midland folders were distributed. TRIPPERS LISTED

W. L. Mackenzie King

Canada's Mackenzie King, 75, Dies At Home Near Ottawa

Ottawa —(P)—Former Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, 75, of Canada died Saturday night. King died at his home, Kingsmere, about 20 miles from Ottawa. His physician, Dr. Campbell Laird, said that he died of "hypostatic pneumonia, preceded by an attack of pulmonary edema." He was a bachelor. Several nieces and nephews were at his bedside when death came. When King stepped down from office on Nov. 15, 1948, he had ended 21 years, five months and five days of service as prime minister of the Dominion. His tenure of 7,629 days in office was the longest in British Commonwealth history, surpassing that of Sir Robert Walpole, who served as Britain's prime minister for 7,619 days early in the 18th Century.

Pistol-Toting Texan Kills Red Sniper Who Had Bead On Group Riding In Jeep

By MAX DESPOES An American command post in Korea—(P)—A soldier from Texas, handy with a .45 pistol, shot a Korean sniper dead on a flaming street in Taejon Thursday and probably saved a life in our party of newsmen and photographers. The soldier, Pvt. Reuben K. Kimball, of Baytown, Texas, was AWOL from a rear area. He said he and two buddies from the same area had taken a jeep and gone to the front to join in the fight. Kimball's buddies were Pfc. Donald Rothermel, of Trevorton, Pa., and Pfc. Raymond Devoral, of Cleveland, Ohio. Another news photographer and I were thumbing our way to Taejon when Kimball and his pals came along and gave us a lift. Leave For City Kimball said he and his buddies had left the port city of Pusan Wednesday night. They had been working in the motor pool at an evacuation hospital; had asked their officers for transfer to an outfit which was fighting on the line and had been refused permission. So, Kimball said, they decided to go to the front anyhow. The streets of Taejon were deserted as we entered. But a whole block of buildings had been destroyed and was still burning. A block away a body lay sprawled in the street. It wore the green uniform of a U. S. soldier. We stopped to photograph the burning building. Our party by this time consisted of eight Army and news photographers, soldiers and correspondent Dennis Warner of the Melbourne, Australia, Herald. The Korean sniper, wearing white civilian clothes, aimed a rifle at us from a spot down an alley. Drope North Korean Kimball saw him, whipped out his .45 automatic and with one shot dropped him. There was a rising clatter of small arms fire nearby and we decided to get out of there. There were two jeeps in the party. We jumped into them and left the city at high speed. (What since has become of Kimball was not known, but he evidently was going strong at least a day later, an Australian newsmen quoted a "Pvt. Reuben Kimball of Houston, Texas," as having reported the shooting of "Time-Life correspondent Willis Fielder, Jr., by a north Korean machinegunner. Kimball drove Fielder out of Taejon in a jeep.)

Return Of Leopold To Belgium Sets Off Violence In Streets

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM —(P)—The return of King Leopold III from six years in exile set off militant demonstrations by his foes in downtown Brussels Saturday night. Windows of the pro-King Catholic newspaper Libre Belgique were smashed. In Martyr's Square, Socialists waded, with upraised arms and clenched fists, to drive Leopold from the throne. Leopold supporters heckled the demonstrators, led by ex-Premier Paul-Henri Spaak, and were chased down a side street. Open Resistance Police arrived after the incident was over. Communistes paraded downtown. The Socialist-controlled Belgian Trade Union Federation ordered the labor movement to open resistance against Leopold "at the opportune moment." These were highlights of the mixed reception of the monarch, who bid somberly by radio for national unity—recalling the national motto that "Unity is Strength"—and promised his best efforts to conciliate his opponents. Both friends and foes were kept at a distance by security precautions on the arrival of Leopold from Switzerland soon after dawn. Platoons of soldiers and police were his shield. Before Leopold arrived, four gendarmes were killed and 22 injured by overturning of a truck moving to the processional route.

Flash Flood Near Morton Sends Voters To Polls In Boats

By The Associated Press Wet weather kept some Texans from voting Saturday, but other hardy souls cast their ballots after boat trips over flood waters. More than six inches of rain in a two-hour period caused a flash flood across the Morton-Fortales highway, about 50 miles west of Lubbock. Deputy Sheriff John Gowick of Morton said a section along State Highway 290 nearly a mile wide and a mile long was covered with four to five feet of water. He said residents of the area beyond the flooded section were forced to cross in motor boats to reach the polls. Traffic Jam Develops Last in the day as a jam developed in the boat traffic, two extra polling places were set up on the western edge of the lake of water. In Lamar County, Northeast Texas, hard rains curtailed voting. Rain fell in Dallas late in the day and thunderstorms were reported in Big Spring and Abilene. Texas highway patrolmen said the rainfall at Morton hit suddenly and in less than two hours had overflowed a six-inch rain gauge. One family in the center of the flash flood area was forced to evacuate its home when members awoke to find water running into the living room. The seven members of the Cecil Edwards' family, including a semi-invalid and another member recuperating from a major operation, walked a mile and a half through rain and mud to safety. Heavy hail on the western edge of the storm caused serious damage to cotton and grain crops.

Shivers—

(Continued From Page One) A runoff was certain for the Criminal Appeals Court judgeship. Led the eight-way field was Robert A. Latimore of Dallas with 57,580. But W. A. Morrison of Cameron had 40,115, Cecil Storey of Longview 34,744, G. H. Nelson of Lubbock 34,517, W. E. Myers of Fort Worth 22,193 and Joel W. Cook of Houston 22,096. Supreme Court Races A runoff appeared certain in one state Supreme Court race — and probably in another. The four-way race for Place 3 on the high court showed Meade Griffin of Palestine ahead at midnight, with 77,802 but George Harwood of Dallas was close behind with 74,373. Two other candidates trailed well behind. In Place 1, Will Wilson of Dallas led 130,968 to 97,355 over Fagan Dickson of Austin and San Antonio, with 38,386 votes going to Walter Wray of Dallas. In Place 2, Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, former state party chief, appeared well ahead with 138,294, more than the total for two opponents.

Midland Police Sergeant Jim Wilkerson and Officer Frank Gipson Friday night apprehended an AWOL soldier from Fort Hood and recovered an automobile stolen a few minutes earlier in Big Spring. The officers had the man in custody five minutes after they received an alert on the police radio from Big Spring. The suspect was returned to Big Spring to face charges of car theft. A car stolen earlier in the week from Brownie Butler of the Atlantic Tank Farm here was recovered Friday in Wichita Falls.

Precinct Races Hot In Rankin Voting

RANKIN—Voters in Precincts 1 and 2 which take in the area around Rankin ousted one incumbent and sent another into a runoff Saturday. Other races in which there were incumbents were hotly contested. A. A. Morgan polled only 69 votes in the race for constable in Precinct 1 and lost his office to Marvin Bell, who got 86. For commissioner in Precinct 2, incumbent W. J. East German Reds Call For Sabotage Of West's Defenses

BERLIN —(P)—The Russian-backed East German Communists called on West Germans Saturday to sabotage American military preparations for defense of the West. The call was issued by Franz Dahlem, a member of the Politburo of the East German Socialist Unity (Communist) Party which is holding its annual convention here. A similar appeal was delivered to the French people from the same platform by Jacques Duclos, secretary general of the French Communist Party. Duclos was here with such other leading lights of the Cominform as Russia's Mikhail A. Suslov and Italy's Palmiro Togliatti. These men, ostensibly "honored guests" of the East German Communists, were reported to be holding secret Cominform sessions in which Suslov was giving them the Kremlin's views on the Korean war and whatever may be Moscow's next pressure points against the West. Dahlem took up where East German Chancellor Otto Grotewohl left off Friday. Grotewohl had called upon West Germans to display open resistance to the policies of the Western occupying powers—the United States, Britain and France. "The active fight for peace," Dahlem said, "must be the sabotage of war preparations in West Germany, such as the unloading and transport of American armaments. This activity must be increased."

Ko-Reds—

(Continued From Page One) terminated to lick the Reds near Taejon. MacArthur's communique said "constant contact" was being maintained with the North Korean forces to determine the direction of their expected next offensive south and southeast. In 18 days of grim battling for time, the 24th Division—out-numbered at time 20-to-1—had yielded 70 miles in five major retreats. The last and bloodiest retreat was from Taejon, where the 24th held for three days. Orders called for a two-day stand if possible. Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, divisional commander last seen at Taejon personally directing a bazooka tank - killer squad during withdrawal operations Thursday. He was wounded in the action. How seriously was not known. General MacArthur notified the Army in Washington that Dean was missing in action. He said he hoped the 50-year-old general officer had not fallen into enemy hands. "Ko-Reds Losses Heavy "High hopes exist," said MacArthur, "that he will return." More than 200 stragglers out off during fierce house-to-house fighting in Taejon have made their way back to American lines since the city fell. Most belonged to the 34th Infantry regiment of the 24th Division. Many were wounded and all were near exhaustion. Some had lost even their shoes and clothing. A regimental commander at flaming Taejon said the North Koreans must have lost 3,000 men killed at Taejon. "They had a total disregard for life," the commander said. "So many men kept coming at us that eventually we were overwhelmed. I am sure they are worse off in victory than we are in defeat." The North Koreans were filtering down the west coast of Korea, some 50 miles southwest of fallen Taejon. MacArthur denied, however, that the railroad town of Imssi, 50-miles southwest of Taejon, had fallen.

Jet Plane Carries Anti-Venom Serum To Three-Year-Old

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —(P)—Slung of a scorpion brought an F-80 jet plane winging into Albuquerque Saturday with anti-venom serum for the three-year-old Jerry Cass. The blue-eyed boy was stung on his right index finger as he reached to touch the scorpion on the kitchen floor at lunch time. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cass rushed him to a physician who gave a sedative. The baby slept until the serum arrived. At the doctor's office, a frantic search was launched for the serum, only treatment known. None was available here. The parents then recalled scorpions were common at Phoenix, where they lived until a month ago. Serum Located A call at 2:30 p.m. to St. Monica's Hospital there located the serum. Hospital aides there contacted Williams Air Force Base nearby. In less than 30 minutes, Lt. Col. William T. Halton of the 3525th Pilot Training Wing landed an F-80 (Shooting Star) plane at Phoenix's Sky Harbor airport, picked up the serum and took off for Albuquerque. An hour and five minutes later, he set the plane down here. The doctor arrived at the home to make the injection just before 5 p.m., the parents said. Pattern Of The Future

In the two world wars this country fought, our great industrial might proved decisive for victory. Each time, however, we enjoyed one supreme advantage: We had strong allies in the field who could stand off the enemy until our superior weight of metal could be brought to bear.

No responsible official in Washington or any western capital is saying the Korean fighting is the first stage of World War II, or even a prelude. But it is war, even though it be called a United Nations "police action."

That, unfortunately, is the pattern of the future. World War II sapped the strength of Britain and France, formerly our most reliable allies. Today—and tomorrow—they could not field great armies to shield us while we set our ponderous industrial machine in motion for war.

The precious time we bought with the troops of other nations in previous wars will not be for sale at any price in another major conflict. The whole colossal burden of both the fighting and the supplying of munitions would fall directly and immediately upon the United States.

To be sure, Britain, France and many other freedom-loving peoples would spring to the defense and put millions of men under arms. But we would have to provide them with most of the equipment they'd need—from the start.

Worse still, military weapons have become far more costly and complex than in World War II. At the very time when speed has become most vital, these factors threaten to make full-scale mobilizing a slower process than ever.

Let one example suffice. Plane makers say that if they began from scratch tomorrow to put military aircraft production on a 50,000-planes-a-year level, it would take 10 months longer to reach that goal than it did in World War II. In fact, it would require 34 months—almost three years.

Knowing all this, the very least our leaders can do is to hammer our industrial mobilization plans into the highest possible state of readiness. The penalty for neglect of this necessity will be paid in the unnecessary deaths of American soldiers in another war.

Phony Petition

A million Americans in 40 states have signed their names to a "world peace" petition specifically aimed at outlawing atomic weapons. Probably not more than a few thousand of the signers realized that this campaign is being run by the U. S. Communist Party and is Moscow-inspired.

The peace proposal was adopted last Spring at a Stockholm meeting of the Partisans of Peace, a Communist-sponsored international organization. Since then it has been circulated widely in Europe, Asia and now America. Many millions of signatures have been obtained.

Secretary of State Acheson properly branded the whole effort as fraudulent and cynical. He pointed out that just before the North Koreans attacked South Korea, it was reported half the population of North Korea had signed the petition.

This proposal still is going the rounds in America. Often it bears the cloak of labor union sanction, though the nature of such sponsorship usually is quite vague.

From here on out, every American will do well if he turns away from his door the bearer of any peace petition that talks of outlawing the atom bomb, mentions Stockholm or boasts of labor sponsors. Almost certainly that proposal will be Moscow's handiwork.

Talking Out Of Turn

Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin is not a man to yield the front pages easily. It will take more than a war in Korea to induce him to abandon the course he set out upon last February.

Although he has updated his charges by tying them into the Korean affair, he still is accusing the same people of the same things. And he still has failed to produce any proof.

No fair individual would proclaim flatly that there is no reason at all to inquire into the government's previous course of action in Asia. There well may be evidence of colossal error, if not outright subversion.

But when a war is being fought the time for such investigations is after a decision has been reached. Unity is the need of this hour, as some of McCarthy's GOP colleagues have recognized in announcing their intent to look into delays on South Korean arms shipments only when the fighting is over.

McCarthy's methods were reckless from the start. Both his methods and his purpose seem wholly out of key with the critical times we have now entered upon.

Getting A Better Look At What We Face

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND. (Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: GOP Ex-Senator Dulles hammered by GOP senators; Truman's effort to appease Republicans fails; One congressman costs taxpayers $73,000 for franking mail.

WASHINGTON—Republican senators who have been yammering about "Communist spies" in the State Department got a verbal straight-arm from John Foster Dulles, the department's top GOP adviser, at a private luncheon arranged by New Jersey's GOP Senator Alex Smith.

Dulles was picked by Truman, somewhat against his own political judgment, in order to pacify the Republicans. At first, Truman had hesitated about putting him in the State Department because Dulles had been so vituperative against the Truman Administration in running for the Senate last Fall.

At the start of the luncheon meeting, Dulles shed his diplomatic gloves by bluntly reporting that the Department of Defense, not the State Department, chiefly was responsible for the unarmed condition of Southern Korea.

Dulles, who was to have been Dewey's Secretary of State, also criticized military leaders—without specifically mentioning General MacArthur—for inaccurate intelligence reports to President Truman regarding Korea. The State Department foresaw the crisis several months in advance and urged armed aid to Southern Korea.

Senator McCarthy walked out of the luncheon just as Dulles got to his main topic—alleged Communist spies in the State Department.

"I see Senator McCarthy has left," Dulles told his fellow Republicans. "His absence will enable me to touch on something without embarrassing him. I want to say that I have never seen a known Communist in the State Department and I do not know of anyone there with Communist sympathies or leanings."

"In the past there has been a group in the department that was disturbed by the fall of Asiatic countries to appreciate the serious threat of communism," Dulles continued. "This group felt that a dose of communism would wake up China and be the best stop-gap against Communist expansion over there."

"However, I think that most of those who felt that way are now out of the department and those who are left do not hold responsible positions any longer."

At this, Senator George Malone of Nevada literally jumped from his chair and belatedly: "What you say confirms Senator McCarthy's charges! Do I understand you to say that such people helped to shape policy in the State Department and that today American boys are dying in Asia as a result of the dose of communism Korea is getting?"

"I said no such thing," fired back Dulles, flushing. "You know I didn't. That is your conclusion. These people did not determine State Department policy on Korea or any other country. Also, as I have reported, most of them are no longer with the department."

"Who are they?" he pursued Malone. "Name them."

"I did not come up here to in-

Have A Laugh. BY BOYCE HOUSE. Out on the golf course, Jenkins called to the foursome, "Will it be all right for me to play through you? I've just had word that my wife is seriously ill and so I want to finish this round so I can hurry out to the hospital."

Two acquaintances met and one remarked, "I saw your wife at the store just now—at least, I think it was her." The other asked, "Did she have a gold tooth?" The first one replied, "I don't know; her mouth was closed." "Then that wasn't my wife," said the other.

At this point, McCarthy returned to the luncheon meeting and Malone shouted: "Repeat what you have just said, Mr. Dulles!" Whereupon McCarthy asked: "Was Dean Rusk one of this group you referred to?"

The indirect slap at Rusk, assistant secretary in charge of Far Eastern affairs, infuriated Dulles. "I want you to understand, senator," he replied, "that Dean Rusk is and always has been a fine public servant. The country owes a great deal to him."

For half an hour, Malone, Hickenlooper of Iowa, McCarthy, Bill Jenner of Indiana, and Carl Mundt of South Dakota pounded the unhappy Dulles. In the end, Malone grimly remarked: "You can't sell the State Department to us."

Whereupon Wayne Morse of Oregon, who has no love for the isolationists, commented acidly: "Poster, it ought to be plain to you by now the State Department doesn't have a chance with the Republicans."

Congressman Ralph Gwinn, New York Republican, now is urging that the Post Office Department be turned over to private enterprise so government bureaus will have to pay postage. Believe it or not, this is the same congressman who has taken advantage of his free mailing privileges to mail literally tons of propaganda around the country.

Last year alone, Gwinn mailed out 2,450,000 copies of his speeches against the Truman Administration without paying for a single postage stamp. This saved him, and cost the taxpayers, $73,500 in three-cent stamps—or six times his salary for the year. In other words, it cost the taxpayers the salaries of seven congressmen to keep Gwinn in office.

Yet he now has the nerve to advocate turning the Post Office over to private enterprise in order to stop the "Bureaucrats" from getting free mailing privileges.

Russian Propaganda. Few Americans have any realization how consistent and vituperative Moscow's propaganda is against the U. S. A.

For instance, there are no fewer than 27 anti-American plays showing in Moscow right now. Yet, if American newsmen, who try to write the news out of Moscow, would mention this, their dispatches would be censored.

This brings out another thing which few newspaper readers realize about Moscow news. There is hardly a dispatch filed out of Moscow which is not heavily censored.

That's why every U. S. newspaper publishing a Moscow dispatch should automatically carry the warning: "Censored."

Perhaps if Congressman John Taber of New York, Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia and George of Georgia, plus other economists, would take a trip to Moscow and get one brief glimpse at the extent of the anti-American propaganda, they would be willing to spend a few dollars on U. S. propaganda.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY, Written for NEA Service

If I were a strict moralist, I would not be talking about this hand. South was greedy, and he should have been punished. The truth of the matter, however, is that he got away with his greediness.

The first two rounds of bidding were quite good. However, it was very wrong of South to jump to four spades. He knew that he could contribute six tricks towards a no-trump contract. It should have been clear that three no-trump was likely to be a far easier contract than four spades.

At we have observed, however, South was greedy. He wanted to collect not only the game and rubber but also the 150 honors in spades. He very nearly lost all save honors.

West opened the seven of hearts, dummy played the jack, and East won with the queen. East quickly cashed the ace of hearts and returned the suit, allowing West to ruff. West returned the jack of diamonds to South's ace, and now declarer had his work cut out for him.

South drew three rounds of trumps, discarding a low club from dummy on the third trump. He then led a club to dummy, cashing the ace and king of that suit and ruffing a third round. He had hoped for a 3-3 break of the clubs, in his line of hearts. When the clubs failed to break, South led his last trump.

At this point, South had a trump, a heart, and a diamond. West had to come down to two cards, and had to save a club to prevent dummy's six of clubs from becoming established. He therefore saved only one diamond.

Dummy could then afford to discard the last club, saving only the king and three of diamonds. It was now East's turn to discard. He held the ten of hearts, and two diamonds. If he discarded the ten of hearts, South's nine of hearts would become good. East therefore also discarded a diamond.

At this point, South could lead his low diamond to dummy's king, dropping all of the remaining diamonds. Dummy's three of diamonds took the last trick.

Perhaps there really is a moral in this tale. Don't bid greedily unless you can play hands as well as South played this one!

WASHINGTON COLUMN

UN Gains Its Greatest Stature Taking Positive Korean Action

By PETER EDSON, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Future action by the United Nations in dealing with the North Korean aggression offers interesting possibilities for speculation.

In the first place, it must be fully recognized that for the first time in the world's history 56 nations—out of 59 UN members—have agreed on sanctions against an aggressor. The 56 have agreed to furnish such aid as they can to put down this North Korean invasion of South Korea.

The most optimistic interpretation of this action is that it may mark the beginning of the end for Soviet initiative in worldwide aggression. If these first sanctions can be made to stick, it may mean that the United Nations itself will henceforth be able to take the initiative in maintaining peace.

The big question now is, can this bloc of 56 peace-loving nations be made to stick together? One of the chief objectives of Moscow propaganda has been to break up this combination. The effort has been to separate the other anti-Communist powers from the United States. It has been an effort to sell the idea that the United States provoked the South Koreans into an attack on the North Koreans. So far, nobody outside the Iron Curtain really has bought this line.

Small Nations Need UN. Yugoslavia's action in abstaining from voting on the U. S. resolutions against North Korea in Security Council was something of a surprise. If Yugoslavia had been under attack from, say Bulgaria, there would have been no such vote.

Egypt's delegate gave as his excuse for not voting for the resolutions that he could not get instructions from his government. There also was believed to be some feeling that the UN had not given the Arab countries protection against Israel.

If any of the Arab countries ever were attacked by an aggressor, however, their greatest protection would be through the precedent set by UN resolutions against North Korea.

As Pakistan's Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan put it, if North Korea's aggression is not put down, no small nation can ever again feel safe. This is the great unifying force.

British and Indian attempts to mediate the Korean crisis and persuade the Russians to withdraw their support of the North Koreans are individual nation fevers. Any final settlement must be made by the United Nations.

When the Security Council is called into session later on, it is anticipated that the Russians will present a resolution charging the South Koreans with aggression and blasting the "United States imperialist warmongers of Wall Street" in usual fashion.

Weak UN Is Russia's Goal. Such a resolution would require seven out of the 11 member votes for approval. It doesn't stand a chance. Even if it did, it could be vetoed by the United States, making the Russians take some of their own medicine.

If action by the Security Council should become stalemated, it is always possible to call a special session of the General Assembly. That is the way the UN has met a number of its difficult problems in the past.

The possibility of Russian withdrawal from the UN is not now considered likely. One reason is that the Communists need the United Nations. They need it as a Q—In what way are humps important to the camel? A—They are used to store fat. After a camel is fed well for a long period, its hump or humps will be of full size. After a long journey across the desert, with little food, day by day, the hump becomes smaller, and at the end it may be hardly there at all. If the animal eats well after such a trip, the hump will come back to full size in a few weeks.

Q—What do airmen mean by "ceiling unlimited"? A—Ceiling is the height above the ground at which a solid cloud layer occurs, cutting off view of the earth from any higher altitude. If you can see from the ground all the way up to clear blue sky, it is "ceiling unlimited."

Q—Why did the Methodists adopt this name? A—The name Methodist was first applied to a religious club formed at Oxford University by John and Charles Wesley. The name was later adopted by John Wesley himself.

Q—How old is the country of Korea? A—Korea was an ancient kingdom with a history extending back to the 12th century B.C., long known as the "Hermit Kingdom."

LITTLE DOC. Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc. A cartoon character named Little Doc is shown with a dog.

DUSTY RHODES eyed Brownie solemnly. "You say you're a horse thief, but you ain't. Horse thieves are all bad, and you ain't."

Brownie's eyes were on the floor and he didn't reply. Little Doc counted them. "Here's seven cents. If that ain't enough, we'll work out the rest of it. We're strong for our age, Doc."

Doc wiped off a grin and lifted the pup from the boy's arms to his table. He washed the bloody paw and examined it. "No bones broken," he said in his best bedside manner. "I'll swab off the paw, but there's no use putting on a bandage. He'd only chew it off and swallow it. And keep your pennies. I've already had a patient pay me today and I couldn't stand the shock of getting two cash deals in one day. Besides, you'll need the money for soda pop, and I've got two bits that'll only go through the hole in my pocket." He gave the boys the square things with you later. She'll want to fix the place up."

Brownie looked as if he were going to cry. "There, now, Brownie," Dusty consoled. "Don't thank me. Little Doc's the man to thank. Now hightail it and send a telegram to that wife of yours."

After Brownie left, Dusty held out some bills to Little Doc. "Here's what I owe you, Doc."

"Good gosh, Dusty! It's an awful shock to have a patient pay me in cash!" Little Doc helped Dusty into his clean shirt and shoved him out of the door.

TWO small boys came into the waiting room after Dusty left. One of them held a small, black and white spotted puppy of indefinite pedigree in his hand. The other youth held out a few pennies to Doc.

"Spotty got his foot caught in a gopher trap, Doc," said the youth holding the dog. "We're kinda partners in Spotty," the second boy said. "His head is getting closer to Doc could count them. "Here's seven cents. If that ain't enough, we'll work out the rest of it. We're strong for our age, Doc."

YANK MEDICS GO ARMED—The Red Crosses displayed by Army medical units, symbols of sanctuary to civilized combatants, have disappeared from the Korean war. Communist troops show no mercy to wounded and repeatedly attack helpless ambulances, medical corpsmen and chaplains. Corpsmen, like those above, loading wounded into an ambulance, have been forced to carry arms to defend themselves and their charges.

Industrial Reserve Of Plants All Ready To Produce For War

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A $7,000,000,000 "Industrial reserve" of almost 460 war plants and potential munitions factories stand ready today to produce for all-out war on short notice.

The Munitions Board, manager of the reserve for the military establishment, has received no call for added armament capacity to support the fight against Communist aggression in Korea.

But officials said the reserve—most "war baby" plants built for World War II—provide a nucleus for arms expansion which, in a case of war necessity, could ease the demands on civilian goods producers like the automobile industry.

Some of the plants already are in production; many are government-owned but inactive; a great number have been leased to private companies or sold, but with this string attached: they must be kept ready for a switch to war goods within 120 days.

By September 1 the Munitions Board, in addition, will have ready-to-go military production schedules worked out with thousands of civilian companies for a prompt conversion, when and if necessary, for making 700 military items ranging from planes to mess-kits.

Hubert E. Howard, Munitions Board chairman, has estimated he could place orders for $15,000,000,000 worth of items at once under this program. The products would include about half the list of items procured for the last war.

Not Limited Program
These plans, under which a type-writer company might become a machine-gun factory, are intended for total mobilization, however—not for a limited program such as President Truman outlined in his $10,000,000,000 armament request to Congress on Wednesday.

For the job of retooling civilian plants, the National Security Resources Board has placed "phantom" orders for $900,000,000 worth of machine tools, cutting tools and gauges which would be needed for the conversion. Telegrams from Washington could change the phantom orders overnight into real ones.

Another backdrop is the stockpile of strategic materials. On hand or on order, it is understood, are about half the $4,000,000,000 worth of materials which the Munitions Board believes would provide a safe margin of supply for war.

A clearer picture of the stockpile is due this week, when the board makes a regular report to Congress. A request for additional stockpiling funds of $605,000,000 in cash and $125,000,000 in authority to let contracts is pending. Truman has indicated a bigger program will be sought.

In some cases, probably a small minority, the stockpile is complete. Lead is one example; no more is being purchased. But the list is long, running through the alphabet from aluminum, antimony and asbestos to tin, tungsten and zinc.

Prospect Encouraging
In total, officials believe, the prospect is encouraging for a war start on let contracts if a full-scale war breaks out. The board says the unification of the armed forces has helped to clear away confusion and competition among the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Most of the private plants which are capable of large war production have been "allocated" to one or the other of the military services. The Army, presumably, would have first call on a plant capable of making small arms. If the Navy wishes to use that plant, it would have to work through the Army; the company would not be bombarded with a series of conflicting high-priority orders and delays in production during the war but are in stand-by condition and could be activated quickly.

Second, the "national industrial reserve," consisting of 200 plants originally valued at $2,000,000,000. These war-built plants have been sold or leased to industry under contracts containing the so-called "national security clause." This requires the private operator to keep plant and machinery ready to conversion to war use within 120 days.

Kygar Now President Of Conoco Pipe Line

PONCA CITY, OKLA.—Election of W. L. Kygar of Ponca City to president of Continental Pipe Line Company, which has approximately 2,000 miles of pipe lines and gathering systems in Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Kansas, Indiana, Wyoming and Montana, was announced Saturday by President L. F. McCollum of Continental Oil Company. He will assume his new duties August 1, and will make his headquarters in Ponca City.

It was announced simultaneously that George W. Evans, Houston, manager of Continental Oil Company's transportation and purchasing departments, had been elected chairman of the board of the pipe line company.

C. Wilkinson of Ponca City, will continue as vice president and manager of Continental Pipe Line Company, it was said.

Mr. Kygar, who has been associated with Continental Oil Company for more than 25 years, was formerly assistant manager of the company's motor transportation division, but spent many years in pipe line and production operations. He is the son of Dan Kygar, veteran pipe line official who was formerly assistant manager of the old Marland Pipe Line Company and the Kay County Gas Company.

Born in Ponca City, Mr. Kygar attended school here and was graduated from the University of Oklahoma. He joined Continental Oil Company in October, 1926, as an accountant and after numerous promotions in pipe line and production operations became assistant manager of the production department in May, 1948. He was named assistant manager of the motor transportation department in September, 1948.

At 2 p.m., D. B. Hodges, Shell's vice president in charge of transportation and supplies, dialed code numbers on a telephone dial attached to a teletype machine located on the thirty-fifth floor of the RCA Building, New York. Seconds later, pumps were in operation at four new stations in New Douglas, Effingham, and Dennison, Ill., and North Salem, Ind.

These new pumping stations, together with several others of an earlier type of construction, are located along a products pipeline extending from the company's refinery at Wood River, Ill., near St. Louis, eastward to Lima and Columbus, Ohio. Unlike a crude oil pipeline which handles only a single liquid, this line is equipped to carry to market up to twenty-two different finished petroleum products, pumped through the line one after the other.

'PUSH BUTTON' PIPELINE—Four new completely remote-controlled pipeline pumping stations in the Midwest were put into operation recently by the spin of a dial from the RCA Building in New York City. The line carries petroleum products from the Shell Oil Company's Wood River, Ill., refinery to industrial centers farther east at Toledo and Columbus, Ohio. By turning an ordinary telephone dial, dispatchers in New York City start and stop pumps, open and close valves at stations on the Midwest line. Another turn of the dial, and the stations report back, by automatic teletype, without human aid, and report their operating conditions.

Shell Opens Remote-Controlled Pipeline For Handling Variety Of Crude Products

A radically new type of pipeline pumping station in which pumps may be started and stopped, valves opened and shut, and reports made automatically on operating conditions, all at the will of a man 800 miles away, was put into operation recently by Shell Oil Company.

Retail Grocers Plead With Public To Buy Normally
WACO—(AP)—Headquarters of the Texas Retail Grocers Association appealed to Texans Saturday not to hoard food or other necessary commodities.

"Hoarding will only create artificial shortages and cause prices to rise. When that happens, we can expect controls as a logical consequence," said R. C. Houlihan, president of the association.

"Please do not hoard. There is plenty of food of all kinds for everyone."
Houlihan said many grocers had reported their shelves virtually cleared of sugar, coffee, canned goods, and soaps.

"If everyone stocks up on sugar, coffee, and soaps, it will in very short order result in shortages. And when we have shortages we have high prices," Houlihan said in a statement.

"Hoarding can only result in hardship for everyone... Be sensible. Buy as usual and avoid panic."
The association represents 7,000 retail grocers of Texas.

Ritter Acquitted In Pistol Slaying

LUBBOCK—(AP)—John Dayton Ritter, 43, of Oklahoma City was found innocent of murder by a 99th District Court jury Friday.

Ritter was accused in the pistol slaying of Robert S. Spence, 24, of Morton, Texas, in an apartment here December 17.

The jury deliberated about four hours. During the trial Ritter testified he fired in self defense. He said Spence tried to take money from him at the point of a gun and fired at him first.

Guard Unit Here Awaits Duty Call

The Midland National Guard Unit so far has not received any orders to report for active duty. Unit officials here said Saturday.

Capt. Max Schumann is commander of the Midland unit, which is Company E of the 112th Mechanized Cavalry Regiment.

The Department of Defense in Washington Friday announced non-divisional National Guard and Organized Reserve units would be activated. This turned the spotlight on National Guard companies in Pecos, Midland, Snyder, Lamesa and Monahans. These companies comprise the Second Battalion of the 112th Mechanized Cavalry Regiment.

The Midland company Saturday was conducting a recruiting program on the east side of the court house square. Several youths in the area were signing up and taking their physicals.

An Army tank and several other weapons were placed on display by the unit.

Chisum, Lightcap Fields In Chaves To Get Flankers

HOBBS, N. M.—Magnolia Petroleum Company has spotted a two-location east stepout to Honolulu Oil Corporation's No. 1 State, discovery well of the Chisum field, 18 miles southeast of Roswell in South-Central Chaves County.

The same company has also scheduled a one-location south stepout to its No. 1 Lightcap Land Company, discovery well of the Lightcap field, in East-Central Chaves County.

The Chisum outcrop is the No. 1 J. P. White, 1,980 feet from south and 860 feet from west lines of section 18-11a-20a. It will be a 6,500-foot tester to the Siluro-Devonian, producing horizon of the field. Operators are now building roads.

Discovery Flows 170 BOPD
Honolulu No. 1 State was completed for 170 barrels of oil daily, flowing through 11/32-inch choke. Plugged back total depth is 6,563 feet. Top of pay was found at 6,490 feet.

The Lightcap venture is scheduled to be drilled to 8,000 feet to test the Devonian pay zone. It will be the No. 1 O'Brien, 860 feet from north and east lines of section 7-3-30c.

The No. 1 Lightcap was completed with a natural daily flowing potential of 462 barrels of 52.4-gravity oil. The gauge was through a quarter inch tubing choke and from perforations at 7,960-76 feet in five and one-half inch casing cemented on bottom at 7,978 feet. The Devonian was topped at 7,955 feet.

Dry Hole Plugged
A dry hole has been plugged and abandoned one mile southeast of Kenna in Southwest Roosevelt County. It is Spartan Drilling Company's No. 1 Frank Good. Operators drilled to 3,500 feet before quitting the project. The San Andres of the Permian was topped at 3,250 feet.

The dry hole is 1,117 feet from south and 792 feet from east lines of section 28-5a-30c.

Better Pay Found
More and better pay in the Pennsylvanian lime has been found at McAlester Fuel Company No. 1-A Brownfield, Northeast Lea County wildcat.

This prospector has already shown for possible production from the Wolfcamp of the lower Permian in the section at 9,368-9,738 feet.

The Pennsylvanian lime between 9,781 feet and 10,183 feet had developed good shows of oil and gas and had practically assured commercial production from that horizon.

Then the zone at 10,183-327 feet was drilled tested for two hours. Gas came to the surface in 16 minutes. No fluid came out at the top while the tester was open.

Recovery was the 500-foot water blanket and 5,766 feet of free oil, which unloaded from the drill pipe while it was being pulled.

When all the pipe had been racked there was 30 feet of oil and 564 feet of mud left in the pipe which shut in while storage is being cleared.

The open hole pay section at 7,325 to 7,386 feet had been washed with 900 gallons of mud acid and treated with 3,500 gallons of regular acid.

The No. 1 Davis is two and one-fourth miles southwest of production in the Von Roeder field and two and one-half miles northeast of the Reinecke Canyon field.

It topped a Canyon reef pay 19 feet below the anticipated water level of the Von Roeder, and production was developed below that depth.

The Canyon was topped at 6,768 feet on a minus datum of 4,519 feet. One mile south of the No. 1 Davis and between it and the Reinecke field is an 8,510-foot Ellenburger dry hole, recently drilled by Rutherford and Heep.

Exact location of the No. 1 Davis is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 68, block 25, H&TC survey, and 14 miles northeast of Luther.

Amrad Petroleum Corporation has scheduled a north offset to the Rutherford and Heep No. 1 Davis. The venture is reported to be the No. 1 W. E. Murphy, located in the southwest corner of section 81, block 25, H&TC survey.

Operations on the proposed offset are to begin immediately.

Midlander Completes Outpost In SW Ector
J. C. Barnes of Midland has completed a short east extension to the Yarbrough & Allen-Ellenburger pool in Southwest Ector County.

His No. 1-B Anderson potential naturally for 283 barrels of 42-gravity oil and no water daily, flowing through a 18/64th-inch choke.

Top of the pay was 10,560 feet, and total depth is 10,730 feet. Five and one-half inch casing is set at 10,576 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 650-1. This extension is 660 feet from south and west lines of northwest quarter of section 22, block B-14, pal survey.

Offset To Midland Discovery Spudded
Magnolia Petroleum Company's No. 1 Collins, located 10 miles south of Midland, has been spudded in and is drilling below 465 feet in red bed and shale.

It is a north offset to the Magnolia No. 2 Parks which was recently completed for 786 barrels of 54-gravity oil daily from open hole between 12,944 and 12,970 feet.

Exact location of the No. 1 Collins is 660 feet from south and 860 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 7, S. F. 4189, Matt Daugherty survey, Humble Venture Drilling.

Humble Oil & Refining Company's No. 1 Little Midkiff, wildcat in Southeast Midland County is drilling below 3,504 feet in shale and lime. The project is scheduled to be dug to a 13,500-foot depth.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 46, block 38, T-4-S, T&P survey, 25 miles southeast of Midland and 15 miles east of the Pegasus - Ellenburger area.

East Vealmoor Well Gauges Upper Flow
Sunray Oil Corporation No. 3 Wilson, Central - North Howard County exploration, one location south of the discovery well of the East Vealmoor field, flowed 262 barrels of oil in eight hours, through an 18/64th inch tubing choke, from the upper pay at 6,910-80 feet.

Operator was continuing to flow to test. The production is through perforations and is coming after the 6,910-80 foot horizon had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and treated with 1,000 gallons of regular acid. No water has been developed.

The section making this oil is a new pay for the East Vealmoor area and it has not been tested in any of the other projects which have been drilled in that area.

This well has also shown for production from the regular East Vealmoor pay, in the Pennsylvanian lime. It has tested at 7,458-62 feet and has shown some oil there.

More testing will be undertaken on that zone after the full producing ability of the upper pay has been determined.

Location is 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 16, block 27, H&TC survey.

Tex-Harvey Extension Flows For 232 BOPD
Joel Rosenthal's No. 1-10 Floyd estate, has been completed as a north extension of the Tex-Harvey field in Central - West Midland County. It potentialized for 232 barrels of 37-gravity oil per day on a flowing 24-hour test.

During the test, one per cent of the flow was water.

Pay was topped at 7,100 feet. Oil string of unreported size was set at 3,556 feet. Total depth of the well is 7,397 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 300-1.

Exact location of the new completion is 668.7 feet from west and 668.7 feet from south lines of lease in section 10, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S.

Production flowed through a 3/16-inch choke, and no water was developed. The open hole pay zone at 6,768-81 feet had not been treated. Flowing tubing pressure was 826 pounds, and casing pressure was 750 pounds.

The No. 1 Davis is two and one-fourth miles southwest of production in the Von Roeder field and two and one-half miles northeast of the Reinecke Canyon field.

It topped a Canyon reef pay 19 feet below the anticipated water level of the Von Roeder, and production was developed below that depth.

The Canyon was topped at 6,768 feet on a minus datum of 4,519 feet. One mile south of the No. 1 Davis and between it and the Reinecke field is an 8,510-foot Ellenburger dry hole, recently drilled by Rutherford and Heep.

Brown Resigns As Honolulu Director And Vice President

Prentice F. Brown formerly in immediate charge of Honolulu Oil Corporation's operations in Texas has resigned as vice president and director of the concern.

Announcement of Brown's resignation, which is to be effective August 1, was made by A. C. Mattel, president of the concern, from his headquarters in San Francisco.

Announced With Regret
Mattel stated that he regretted to announce that Brown was leaving Honolulu. He said further Brown would be free to engage in private business on his own account, as he would have no further connection with the company, except, possibly as an independent consultant.

Brown has been associated with Honolulu for 23 years. He is now living in San Francisco.

Oil Industry Lists Steel Requirements

WASHINGTON—(P)—The oil industry has informed President Truman it will need 2,842,200 tons of steel a year to keep petroleum production up to military and civilian demand.

And the estimate will have to be revised upward if there is a sharp increase for oil, said Russell B. Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Council of America, in a letter to the President Friday.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP— Supplies Of Petroleum May Hold Key To World War Against Communism

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON—(P)—Petroleum supplies might determine whether there is to be a world war against communism.

Mechanized World War II offered proof another war of prolonged duration would require an astounding quantity of petroleum products.

The best available statistics on current oil production place Communist dominated countries at a distinct disadvantage when it comes to control of such products.

World crude production last year was estimated to have averaged somewhere between 9,000,000 and 9,500,000 barrels daily. Of this amount, considerably less than 900,000 barrels daily were credited to Russia and other countries with Communist governments.

Taking World War II as a lesson, it would be difficult to see how a major conflict could be undertaken with less than 10 per cent of world oil production available.

This is why oil producing areas in the Middle East—Bahrain, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia—figure in the current international crisis.

A sudden and successful Communist sweep across these oil fields could give the Reds another 1,500,000 barrels of oil daily.

Such successful action still would leave the democratic nations with around 75 per cent of the world's production but the risk factor for Communist leaders would be reduced greatly.

U. S. Gives Example
The United States has given example it is taking no chances with its petroleum supplies, despite its producing more than half the world's daily output.

The Department of Commerce, since the outbreak of fighting in Korea, has tightened its export controls on various petroleum products, particularly aviation fuels.

A new Commerce bulletin requires export licenses for many oil products shipments valued in excess of $25. Previously, no general export licenses were required for shipments valued at less than $1,000.

Domestic crude and gasoline prices were listed in some areas as being among the widespread consumer price hikes developing since the Korean war began.

A flurry of gas price hikes reached oil-flush Texas last week. Several companies quickly met a half-cent per gallon hike initiated by The Texas Company. Most service stations (Continued On Page Seven)

Map of Terry County showing oil fields and well locations. Includes labels like 'PUBLIC SCHOOL LAND', 'BLK. C-36', 'BLK. C-37', 'BLK. C-38', 'BLK. C-32', 'BLK. C-31'.

C-S TERRY COUNTY, 'HOT' OIL SPOT—Three important oil pools recently have been discovered in Central-South Terry County. Encircled in the southeast corner of the map is the two-well Corrigan-Fusselman field, discovered in January by Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 1 J. P. Nystel, which calculated a daily potential of 1,152.27 barrels of oil daily.

Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Willard, which has shown for 90 feet of pay in a lime reef section, from which it flowed 50 barrels of oil hourly on tests. It is now being deepened to test the Fusselman pay of the Corrigan field. The black dots immediately southeast of the No. 1 Willard are producers in the shallow Adair field, which produces from a much higher pay than the No. 1 Willard.

the Amerada discovery, Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1 Bevers has found another reef pay zone, 1,100 feet deeper than the No. 1 Willard. The Anderson-Prichard discovery was completed for 2,280 barrels of 42.5-gravity oil daily. Offsets are being drilled to all three of these discoveries, and only time will determine the true importance of these recently tapped pools.

Washington Oil—U. S. Has Excess Producing Capacity Of Million Barrels Daily To Meet War Demands

WASHINGTON — From a petroleum standpoint, the United States is "far better off" today for an all-out war than it was in 1941, according to Hugh A. Stewart, director of Interior Department's Oil and Gas Division.

Stewart recently returned from Houston where he attended a meeting of the Military Petroleum Advisory Board, of which Bruce K. Brown is chairman. The Korean fighting and its implications were discussed. There is an excess producing capacity in the United States of almost one million barrels daily, Stewart said, and there is surplus refining capacity.

Overseas features. The petroleum picture would depend a great deal upon the type of war we might fight. Nevertheless, military officials are certain that the chief source of supply that can be counted upon is that in the Western Hemisphere—United States, Canada, Venezuela and elsewhere in South America.

Both natural gas and oil pipeline programs of the last few years have added markedly to petroleum transportation facilities, and tanker fleets appear adequate, Stewart added.

Stewart, a former Texaco division chief in Denver, doubted that there would be conversions of major natural gas lines to petroleum use in the event an all-out war should strike.

While there have been reports the government has a master list of 200 oil industry executives who might be drafted or ordered to Washington to run any new petroleum for war agency, Stewart felt he was not free to discuss this.

And Henry W. Hough of Denver, editor of the Oil Reporter, says editorially, the oil industry must get moving to meet the needs which may lie ahead.

Wyoming Geological Association To Meet — The Fifth Annual Field Conference of the Wyoming Geological Association will be held in southwest Wyoming on August 9, 10, and 11.

Supplies—

(Continued From Page Six) tions passed the increase on to the consumer. Texaco officials said the change results from a fact basic Gulf Coast markets had increased 1 1/2 cents per gallon this year while wholesale prices had advanced only half a cent.

A Texaco report, released several days earlier by the American Petroleum Institute, said service station gasoline at 50 representative cities across the nation sold at an average price of 26.87 cents per gallon July 1.

These hikes have been made in spite of the Senate Judiciary Committee in Washington completing plans for an inquiry into gasoline prices. Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) last week said he hopes the Senate will give the investigation final approval this week.

Ferguson, co-sponsor of the inquiry resolution, said he has received numerous complaints against price-hike-parades that develop as soon as one company pulls away from a prevailing price.

Crude processed at refineries dropped 108,000 barrels daily to 5,808,000 after having reached an all-time high the previous week. Gasoline production also fell, totaling 19,311,000 barrels for the week, compared to the previous week's record 20,069,000.

Consumers continued, however, to cut into gasoline stocks. Storage totaled 111,739,000 barrels, compared to the previous week's 114,278,000 and 111,464,000 a year earlier.

Keller To Join With McMillian, Peterson

W. O. Keller of Tulsa plans to become affiliated in the near future with J. Guy McMillian and L. F. Peterson, oil independents operating in Midland.

W. O. Keller

Keller, now reservoir engineering supervisor for Stanolind Oil & Gas Company in Tulsa, has resigned effective August 1.

Keller and Peterson also plan to organize a new consulting engineering firm in Midland. The concern will be known as Keller and Peterson, consultants.

Keller, originally of San Antonio, was employed by Stanolind upon his graduation from Texas A&M in 1941. He has experience with that concern in East and West Texas.

Hughes' Bingle Gives Indians 10 To 8 Victory

The Midland Indians will send Lefty Leon Hayes to the mound Sunday afternoon in Ballinger to try the Cats in the finale of a two-game series.

The Tribe returns home Monday night to open a three-game series with the Odessa Oilers.

BALLINGER—Scooter Hughes doubled two runs home in the top of the tenth inning here Saturday night to give Midland a 10 to 8 victory over the Ballinger Cats. Ballinger had tied the score at 8-8 in the ninth.

Lefty Hayes came on in the last of the tenth to protect the margin after starter Glen Patton had been lifted for a pinch hitter.

The Indians scored in bursts and held the lead most of the way. They got four big ones in the third to take a 4-1 lead but the Cats whammed away at Patton to knot the score in the bottom of the frame.

Julian Acosta blasted a three-run homer to tie the count, adding the trio of runs to one the Cats had picked up in the second.

Four More
The Indians struck back with four more in the fifth. Jim Prince's long single with two on sparked the uprising.

Ballinger counted two in the bottom of the fifth and another in the sixth.

Pitcher Pinkier blanked the Indians through the next four frames. He was rewarded with a tie in the ninth as the Cats scored one.

Bob Phillon's pinch single in the tenth strung the Indians on their two-run uprising which was capped by Hughes' blow.

Mike Bellone and Hughes, going three for six each at the plate, were the big guns for Midland.

Stephenson collected a timely blow and Kenny Jones chipped in with a couple. George Firnbach drove in two runs with his only hit.

Cards Split Pair To Hold Tie For Top

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Out-hit 13-10, the St. Louis Cardinals climbed back into a first-place National League tie with Philadelphia Saturday night by beating Boston 11-7 in the second game of a day-night doubleheader. The Redbirds dropped the afternoon contest 8-5. Two-run homers by Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst in the night game helped Howard Pollet chalk up his tenth victory—the first Cardinal pitcher to reach that mark this year.

Timely Cardinal hitting and a batch of walks by Boston pitchers—starter Warren Spahn and relievers Ernie Johnson and Johnnie Antonelli—spelled the difference in the night score.

A walk by Spahn and Musial's homer, another walk and Schoendienst's homer in the third gave the Redbirds a 4-0 lead.

Boston picked up one run in the fourth, but the Cardinals came back in the fifth with six more—making it 10-1. Spahn was knocked out in that frame.

A walk, an error by Pollet, Earl Torgeson's double and Luis Olmo's single gave Boston three more runs in the seventh.

In the ninth, the Braves collected three more markers.

WHAT ABOUT YOU AND ME AND ADVERTISING?

You have a job. I am an ad. And here's why I'm so important to you.

No matter what your job is, in the last analysis it depends on somebody selling something to somebody else. And advertising is the lowest cost way yet devised to sell goods or services.

It's obvious how this works with the new post-war businesses that have come along. It's taken advertising to put them over. It's just as true of the basic industries we've had for years. Advertising is the spark plug of American business. Suppose nobody read the ads or listened to radio advertising. Soon businesses would start to fail. It wouldn't be long before these failures would affect your pay check.

It's good advertising—powerful advertising—that makes the wheels go 'round . . . makes businesses grow and prosper . . . makes jobs.

So next time you see or hear it, remember—advertising makes your job more secure.

HERE'S HOW U.S. NATIONAL INCOME ROSE IN THE LAST 36 YEARS—THE GOLDEN AGE OF ADVERTISING

This rise is the standard of living for you and yours is unequalled in all history. Advertising helped raise this standard—is needed even more today to sell industry's new developments.

OTHER WAYS ADVERTISING HELPS YOU AND YOUR FAMILY

- 1 Brings you better goods for less money.
- 2 Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.

Jarl Chunks Four-Hitter To Top Colts

When a ball club is beat up with injuries like the Midland Indians are and they go out there and club another team into defeat, brother, you gotta hand it to 'em. That's just what happened Friday night in Indian Park as the Midland Indians downed the San Angelo Colts 4 to 2 to sweep a two-game series.

Big LeRoy Jarl, the ex-Baylor University hurler, chunked one of his best games of the season as he held the Colts to four hits and walked only two.

The Indians who took the field for the tilt were injury riddled. Jim Prince is suffering from an injury received in the All-Star game. Quentin Basco, who was playing center field in the place of the injured Bob Cramer, had a high fever and was hospitalized Saturday.

Scooter Hughes has a side injury which may be a cracked rib. Mike Bellone has a severe finger injury on his throwing hand. Kenny Jones has a lump on his elbow as big as an egg.

But in spite of all this, the Indians went out there and downed the Colts with good pitching, fielding and hitting.

Jarl allowed the Colts only one hit until the eighth inning. He had good stuff and good control.

The Indians gave him a one-run lead in the fifth. Kenny Jones led off with a single and Jarl walked. Scooter Hughes was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases. Tex Stephenson worked Pitcher Molina for a walk that forced Jones in with the initial tally of the game.

In the sixth, George Firnback opened with a single. Lou Dawson sacrificed him to second and Jones sent him home with a blazing single to right to make it 2-0.

The Indians got two more in the seventh which led the tilt.

Hughes singled and stole second. Tex Stephenson singled him home and went to third on George Firnback's third hit in four trips to the plate.

With Stephenson on third, Firnback made a fake break to second and the San Angelo catcher fired to the cut-off man who was deep by the bag. Stephenson broke for home and kept coming. The throw to the plate was in Catcher Lopez' mitt but he dropped the ball and Stephenson scored with the fourth run.

Colts Score
San Angelo got its two runs in the eighth. A single by Lopez, a pinch-hit double by Manager Jimmy McClure, a single by Tony Guerrero and Serrano's fielder's choice produced them.

Jarl heaped glory upon himself when he struck out Bob Crues, an undisputed home run slugger, to end the eighth inning rally.

Jarl later whiffed Lopez to end the ball game with two men on base.

Official Scorer Fined By Morris

FORT WORTH—(P)—J. Walter Morris, who made news last year by fining a chief of police, has come up with another one for the book.

The president of the East Texas League Friday fined an official scorer for what he said about the umpires over a loud speaker.

"My umpires reported that the fellow said 'There'll be new umpires tomorrow night; these bums won't be back.' The league owed him $7.50 for scoring so I fined him $7.50 and that made an even," Morris declared.

Morris last year fined the chief of police at Temple for allegedly showing an umpire. The chief didn't pay it but the ball club did.

by SHORTY SHELburnE

"Mr. Harold Webb, Manager Midland Ball Club: "Are you not ashamed to take the money of the Midland baseball fans and give them the kind of baseball you are giving them?"

"There has been much friction in the club all the year. You do not have any pitchers you can count on and the batting has been something awful in the clutches."

"Midland always has been a good ball town but the way they have been managed and the way they have played this year has all but disgusted the ball fans."

"If you can not give us better ball playing than you have lately why don't you quit now before you ruin our chances for a ball club next year."

"A Midland Ball Fan"

That, good readers, is a letter which reached our desk after being addressed to Harold Webb.

This person who calls himself a fan apparently has been irked at the baseball he or she has seen this season. In fact, many of those who have been accustomed to a winning club have been irked this year.

Maybe the one who wrote this letter and many of the others are forgetting several things that should be called to their attention.

Midland has had winning clubs every year in the Longhorn League and finished in the first division.

The Midland Indians of 1940 brought Midland its first professional baseball pennant.

There has been good baseball in Midland since the Longhorn League was organized.

But, dear fan who is howling so loudly, who brought all those good things to Midland?

It was none other than Harold F. Webb, the guy at whom you are directing your criticism now.

Mr. Webb brought you another good ball club this year but it just happens that the thing he had avoided before couldn't be avoided this year.

It still isn't an impossibility for the Midland Indians to get into the first division even though they still are in sixth place—nine games out of fourth.

But if they do not get in this year, don't you think Mr. Webb has given Midland a fair shake in baseball. Remember his three first division teams—as many as any other city and more than most. And let us not forget that the Indians brought the pennant to Midland in 1940.

In previous years, Webb has been fortunate enough to be able to put his hands on good pitchers quickly. He has been able to bring in whatever players he needed quickly. This year, he hasn't been able to locate all the pitching help he needed.

Right now it is practically impossible to get a pitcher who can win because every other team is fighting for a pennant too.

Pitchers who looked good to everyone at the start of the season didn't pan out. That just can't be helped on any club.

Some of the other players haven't turned out to be what was expected due to various reasons. That can't be helped either.

Those things happen on ball clubs in everybody's town.

There are eight places in this league and it's tough to get into one of the top four. So it happens that Midland, San Angelo, Sweetwater and Ballinger aren't in the upper bracket. There are only four places up there.

It's the same in every league and Midland isn't the only place where a ball club has slipped a notch or two.

We are fortunate to have Harold Webb handling baseball in Midland. He has brought all the good things any man can bring to a town in the way of baseball. This just hasn't been the year but why kick him in the face when he put it here three years in a row previously?

Webb'll be back next year with H. W. Donohoo, his partner, and they'll have a first division club. That's their answer to the letter printed here.

"We are sorry we haven't been able to get together a first division club this year but we'll be back next year just the same. We'll have a winner then. That's the best we can do."

"Until we get into the first division this year or if we don't, then until next year, all we can do is tell you who don't like the baseball you see to request your admission price back."

That's the answer from the Midland Baseball Club officials and we think it is fair.

Sports Slants has jumped the club a time or two this season when it lost ball games due to someone loafing but we haven't jumped them when they hustled and lost. Every club is going to lose ball games.

Sometimes we, including your writer, forget that we are in a Class D league and must accept Class D baseball. Let's not forget it any more, huh?

South Clouts North 5-2 In Texas Loop 'Star Tilt'

FORT WORTH—(P)—The South, which has given indications of a sharp rise to superiority over the North in the regular Texas League campaign the last few weeks, can point to the all-star game Friday night as the clincher.

Rated underdog in the tenth annual classic because the North apparently boasted better pitching and hitting, the South hammered out a convincing 5-3 victory.

Rogers Hornsby, the major league great who is managing Beaumont in a rampage toward the Texas League top these days, piloted the South to the performance he predicted before the game.

"We'll beat those guys' ears down," boasted the Rajah before he even had met with his squad and picked a starting pitcher.

The pitchers he used—left-hander Lou Gleason of San Antonio and Ernie Noyal of Beaumont—did the job although Gleason, who pitched three and one-third innings and allowed only one run and two hits, had to be helped by Noyal.

Despite the fact Hornsby is short on pitchers at Beaumont—he has only seven—he worked Noyal the rest of the way. The Rajah was out to win. Noyal gave up six hits and one run.

The South started the game with two runs on the first three men up and never was in danger from then on.

The North got single tallies in the fourth and eighth with Bob Lemon, the league home run king from Oklahoma City who has been nursing a sprained wrist, batting in both of them.

George Brown of Shreveport tripled in one South tally. Keith Thomas of Beaumont singled in another, Bob Marquis of Beaumont drove in the third with a single and Clint Courtney of Beaumont, who Hornsby says is a big league catcher right now, brought in the other two with a double.

In the all-time rivalry of the league the South—Shreveport, Beaumont, Houston and San Antonio—holds a 5-2 margin over the North—Oklahoma City, Dallas, Tulsa and Fort Worth. In three games the leading team as of July 4 has played an all-star club from the other seven teams but this plan was changed this year.

LeRoy Jarl

Longhorn League—Pascual Takes Hill To Blank Ballinger Five Innings, Win

Big Spring's jack-of-all trades, Potasio Pascual, won himself another ball game Friday night.

The stubby Cuban third baseman took over pitching chores in the seventh inning of the Bronco's overtime second tilt with Ballinger and blanked the Cats for five innings to get credit for his club's 3-2 victory.

That gave Big Spring both ends of the twin bill—it won the first, 10-5—and moved it to within two and one-half games of second place in the Longhorn League.

When Pascual isn't playing third—or doing at some other position—he makes Big Spring a handy hurler.

Vernon edged pace-setting Odessa 6-5; Roswell hung a 9-7 licks on Sweetwater, and LeRoy Jarl pitched four hit ball as Midland beat San Angelo 4-2.

First game:
Big Spring 100 240 3-10 13 2
Ballinger 202 001 0-5 9 2

Waco Rookie Hurler Chunks No-Hitter

WACO—(P)—Indianapolis of the American Association has announced it was calling up Rookie Pitcher Bob Friend from Waco of the Big State League. It was good timing. He turned in a no hit, no-run performance Friday night in blanking Wichita Falls 10-0.

The 19-year-old rookie right-hander faced only 29 men in winning his twelfth game for Waco.

BARGAIN AND BUST
NEW YORK—(P)—Each Summer finds bargains and busts at the Stratoga yarding sales. In 1940 Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham paid $28,000 for a colt she later found well named. She called him Big Mistake and at three he's still a maiden. From the same sale, Tom Gray of Wichita bought one yearling for $15,000. It was Oil Capital, winner of $108,050 last season.

Black Indians Play Abilene Here Sunday

The Midland Black Indians will meet the Abilene Black Eagles at 3:15 p.m. Sunday in Indian Park.

Right-hander John Hall, who was defeated by the Eagles last week, will try them again from the mound.

Michigan State's 1951 football schedule lists four intercollegiate foes—Oregon State, Colorado, Pittsburgh and Penn State.

Brooks Batter Lowly Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH—(P)—Brooklyn used the wisdom of pitchers Bill Piro, Jim Walsh and Vernon Law Saturday and romped to a 12-3 victory over last-place Pittsburgh.

Brooklyn sewed up the game with a seven-run third inning during which six bases on balls were served up.

Ralph Branca limited the Pirates to seven hits. He hit a two-run homer.

The score:
Brooklyn 107 010 300-12 11 1
Pittsburgh 101 001 000-3 7 1
Branca and Campanella; Piro, Walsh, Law, Lombardi and McCullough.

Red Sox Sluggers Slap Brownies 11-2

BOSTON—(P)—Lefty Maury McDermott turned back the St. Louis Browns 11-2 Saturday for the Red Sox.

The Sox slugged out 14 hits. One was Bobby Doerr's fourteenth homer and 100th safety of the season.

The score:
St. Louis 000 002 000-2 8 0
Boston 104 000 42x-11 14 0
Starr, Bruner, Pillette and Moss; McDermott and Batta.

STINGY WITH HITS

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—(P)—Dick Umberger, Winston-Salem southpaw, gave up two runs during a recent 27-inning stretch in the Class B Carolina League. He blanked Durham 1-0, shut out Burlington 11-0 and beat Fayetteville, 4-2. But the tall Pennsylvanian didn't get excited over the feat. Last year at Lebanon, Pa., in the North Atlantic League he tossed a pair of no-hit games within eight days.

PHOLSKY'S FOURTH SHUTOUT

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(P)—Tom Poholsky, Rochester Cardinal right hander, hurled his fourth shutout of the season as the campaign reached the half way mark. With 10 wins at that point he is well ahead of last year's record when he won 14 and lost 10. Poholsky, a native of Detroit, will be 21 on August 26. A 200-pounder, Poholsky broke in with Durham, N. C., in 1940. In 1941 at Columbus, Ga., he led the league in 16 victories against three losses.

Eddie Roush established a Cincinnati consecutive game hitting record in 1920 by hitting in 27 straight games, and tied his own mark in 1924.

QUICK STARTER—Young Erv Falco, right, came out of the bullpen to take the Brooklyn club's pitching off relief. The Dodger's only other dependable is the veteran Frenchie Soth.

Congress Faces Busy Week Putting U. S. On War Footing

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Truman plans to send Congress Tuesday a blue-print of his $10,000,000,000 program to help fight the Korean war and guard against Communist aggression elsewhere.

U. S. Survey Reports Plenty Of Food At Prices Likely To Increase Only Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP)— There is plenty of food, the government said Saturday, and the Korean crisis won't noticeably affect supplies for the American public.

An official report also said: 1. The nation will go right on eating at its high level diet.

2. In fact many may buy even more food as employment and earnings rise under impact of a stepped-up defense program.

3. As for food prices: They are unlikely to rise this year more than three or four per cent above the July level. The year's retail average should be about the same as that of 1949.

All this comes from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. It is the agency that keeps books on the nation's supplies of food and farm products.

In a special food report, the bureau sought to put the clincher on what President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Brannan have been trying to get across:

Price boosts and hoarding are un-called for.

The agency assured the public food supplies are expected to stay at the high level of the last two years.

Even if the Korean situation incites military buying of food in coming months, civilian supplies "would not be noticeably affected," the report asserted.

The government has a lot of food stocks in the military could use.

Hence, speculative buying and price increases that have developed since fighting started in Korea are asked to finance the $10,000,000,000 program—and the additional billions which will be sought later.

That day the President will send to Congress the mid-year economic report of his Council of Economic Advisors, along with an economic message of his own.

These are expected to give, not only official views on the state of the national economy, but on the control steps necessary to safeguard it from inflation.

Congress members Saturday prepared to tackle the heavy legislative tasks ahead. One of their number warned that the program of partial mobilization is not enough.

"Not Enough"—Johnson "We must face up to an all-out mobilization," Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas), member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told a reporter.

"This is not a 30-day war nor a 60-day war that we are in now. This is a long and continuing struggle against communism. It may last one year—or several years."

"We must immediately produce more tanks, airplanes and ammunition. I at will mean fewer luxury automobiles, household appliances and similar civil items."

The congressional schedule for the next few days is busy. Senate and House Banking Committees will open public hearings Monday on a broad-term system of controls and allocations prepared at the White House and titled "Defense Production Act of 1950."

Both House and Senate leaders were certain of quick final passage this week of two measures for building up strength of the fighting forces. One, allowing the President to extend all enlistments one year, already has sped through the Senate without objection.

The other would remove the present manpower ceilings of just above 2,000,000 in the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines.

House leaders scheduled quick passage of both Tuesday. Senate leaders may act on the extra duty bill before then.

The next military legislation asked for by Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee is a revival of the wartime "family support allowances" for all service men.

After that Tydings said Congress must revise the Draft Act extension. At present, the policy is to draft only young men from 19 through 25 years.

Deferments are too liberal, Tydings said. Other lawmakers have been talking about raising the upper age limits, possibly to 35 years.

Air Reserve Units May Be Called For Active Duty Monday WASHINGTON (AP)— Some Air Force reserve units and some units of the Air National Guard are expected to be called to active duty soon, probably Monday.

However, beyond saying that it will have a statement Monday regarding reserve units and the National Guard, the Air Force declined to give out any information on the subject Saturday.

Calling on individual members of the Air Force reserve to active duty already has begun. The Air Force has said the individuals being ordered to duty are those with immediately usable skills.

There are about 104,500 officers and men in reserve units of the Air Force and about 45,000 in the Air National Guard.

About 40,500 of the reservists are in units of the organized reserve. They receive pay for attending regular classes or drills. In addition, 64,000 volunteer reservists also are in units. When not on active duty they do not receive pay but, by attending classes, qualify for retirement benefits and promotions.

The Air National Guard includes 84 tactical squadrons, of which 72 are fighters and 12 light bombers. In addition to the tactical squadrons, it embraces many support units, such as aircraft control and warning groups, aviation engineers, air service detachments and weather stations.

Scientists estimate the earth annually experiences as many as 60,000 earthquakes, big and little, or about 164 a day.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcena. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slimmer, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and

LOST 40 POUNDS

"Before taking Barcena, my weight was 248 pounds. After taking seven bottles my weight is now 210 and I feel so much better," thanks to Barcena," signed, M. M. Johnson, Seabrook, Texas.

Seven Of Nation's Top Cities In Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)— Seven of the nation's 100 largest cities are in Texas.

Census Bureau preliminary figures for 1950 show Houston in fourteenth place with 593,600; Dallas twenty-second with 432,805; San Antonio twenty-fifth with 405,973; Fort Worth thirty-eighth with 277,049; El Paso seventy-fifth with 131,954; El Paso seventy-fifth with 130,003; and Corpus Christi ninety-seventh with 108,051.

You're money ahead 4 ways with a new Chevrolet truck!

FIRST—Chevrolet's low purchase price means you're money ahead to start. SECOND—Chevrolet's great, action-packed Valve-in-Head engine plus the sensational new Power-Jet carburetor provides high-powered performance at low cost per mile. THIRD—there are rugged Advance-Design features that lower your maintenance costs by keeping Chevrolet trucks on the road and out of the shop! And FOURTH—because these value-loaded trucks are preferred over any other make, their resale value is right at the top. Yes, you really save all around on a Chevrolet truck. Come in and get the full facts. Let us prove that—whatever your hauling need—you'll be money ahead with a Chevrolet Advance-Design truck!

ADVANCE-DESIGN TRUCKS

Performance Leaders

Chevrolet's newest and most powerful trucks feature an improved 92-h.p. Thriftmaster Valve-in-Head engine and a brand-new 105-h.p. Loadmaster Valve-in-Head engine. Smooth, quick acceleration is provided by Chevrolet's new Power-Jet carburetor. Synchro-Mesh transmission enables the driver to shift with greater ease, smoothness and safety.

Payload Leaders

Chevrolet trucks deliver the goods at low cost per mile—and deliver them fast! Features like Chevrolet's Disphragm Spring clutch for smooth engagement and Double-Articulated brakes for complete driver control enable you to meet the most demanding road schedules.

Popularity Leaders

Chevrolet Advance-Design trucks are America's biggest seller! That's because users recognize the value of such Chevrolet features as Hypoid rear axles that are 5 times more durable than spiral bevel type, and Unit-Design cab and bodies that are precision-built for added strength and rigidity, and for longer life.

Price Leaders

Chevrolet's rock-bottom initial cost, economy of operation and upkeep, and high trade-in value add up to the lowest price for you. Compare values! Compare what you get for the price you pay. You'll find everything favors Chevrolet trucks.

Two Sisters Plan Journey To Europe

By KORENE GEFFEN. Vacation time for most residents covers a two-week period and usually is based on getting the children back in time for school.

Mrs. L. W. Sager

Street, have been busy the last few months with travel plans and decisions about what to take along.

"We've been warned," Mrs. Sager said. "It should be Summer weather for some of the time we're abroad, but Marilyn writes that October will be chilly."

Busy Knitting. Both Mrs. Sager and Mrs. Sidwell are busy knitting.

"I'm making a dress and Marian's making a sweater," Mrs. Sidwell remarked. "We just hope we'll get them done in time to take them with us."

They're not going empty handed either with respect to "bartering equipment."

"We're planning to travel light, but we're not forgetting to take cigarettes, soap, coffee and items of that nature," Mrs. Sager said.

The sisters plan to leave Midland about August 6 by car, routing through the Great Smokies, up to the Delmarva Peninsula and on to New York City.

"We're so excited about the three-day trip we've planned to Oberammergau in Bavaria," Mrs. Sidwell said.

misch—one of the Winter playgrounds of Europe—also is scheduled.

One of the events most eagerly anticipated by the sisters will be the Salzburg Festival where dozens of musical notables gather each year.

Bring Memories. The Italian and French tour will bring back memories for Mrs. Sager who during the first World War did canteen work for the Red Cross.

"I'll love revisiting Italy, especially Genoa," Mrs. Sager said, adding "That's where I met my husband."

She said although she and Sager were married after the war in the United States that they had kept in touch with each other throughout the war by letter, since the two were stationed in different parts of Europe.

The sisters plan many "browsing excursions" in the various places they will tour.

"I'm intrigued with antiques," Mrs. Sager said, "but you should see the ones Frances has." Mrs. Sidwell's newest prize possession (a gift sent from Mrs. Goodman) is a four-piece, heavily encrusted antique sterling silver tea service.

Mrs. Ernest Sidwell

A castor set which has been in the family for at least 100 years and a collection of old silver cups, one dated 1854, are but a few of Mrs. Sidwell's choice pieces.

Another tour in prospect is to Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. Mrs. Sager said they are hoping also to be able to participate in the Passion Play.

The wedding will be held Saturday in the South Side Church of Christ.

The bride-elect has attended Midland schools and is employed at W. Woodworth Company.

Other members attending were Mrs. Fleet Shepard, Mrs. Ida Fay Cowden, Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, Mrs. W. B. Preston, Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. Bob Hill, Mrs. Playford Thorson and Mrs. Zeb Wilkins.

SOCIETY

Mrs. William Calvin Bailey

Barbara Mears And W. C. Bailey Marry

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening Barbara Ann Mears became the bride of William Calvin Bailey in the University Park Methodist Church in Dallas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mears of Dallas and formerly of Midland. Bailey is the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. T. Bailey of Dallas.

The Rev. Paul O. Cardwell, pastor of the Kessler Park Methodist Church, Dallas, read the ceremony before a background of baskets of white gladioli, stock, asters and gypsophylla and seven branched candelabra entwined with waxy leafed greenery.

Attendants wore full-skirted dresses of aquamarine mousseline-de-sole with a frosted floral design covering the bodices and encircling the skirts.

The bride's mother wore a pink lace gown and the mother of the bridegroom, a blue lace gown. Both had corsages of white orchids.

Reception Held. A reception was held in the garden of the home of the bride's parents.

Drop shoulder effect was created by the scalloped lace edge encircling the deep yoke of marquisette. The full dirndl skirt with its scalloped lace hemline was worn over hoops and extended into a slight sweep of a train.

Boquet Of Gardenias. Her finger-tip bridal veil of three tiers of imported mist illusion was caught to a bonnet brim covered by rows of pleated tulle ruching and encircled by a rope of seed pearls tied in the back.

Geneva Stringer of Midland became the bride of Ollie Ray Harcrow of Waco in a simple ceremony in Waco Saturday night.

The bride is the daughter of Scott Stringer of Midland and Mrs. Della Harcrow of Waco. Harcrow is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harcrow of Waco.

Mrs. Ollie Ray Harcrow

Geneva Stringer, Ollie Harcrow Wed

The mother and stepfather of the bride and the parents of the bridegroom were the couple's only witnesses. The couple will live in Waco where Harcrow is employed by Swift and Company.

Church Women Make Plans For Family Party. Plans for the July 31 Midland Council of Church Women meeting were made this week when the Program Committee met with Mrs. F. N. Shriver, council president.

GS Meet Set In September. September 9 has been set as the date for the Senior Girl Scout Conference of the Permian Basin in the Girl Scout Little House in Midland.

"Vocational Guidance" will be the theme for the conference and all girls in high school or who will be in high school this year are invited to attend.

Conferences in science, nursing, medicine, social welfare, journalism, radio, library science, commerce and fine arts will be held.

Mrs. Proctor Heads Fine Arts Officers

Mrs. Foy Proctor, a charter member of the Fine Arts Club, will take office as president of the club in September.

She was elected vice president of the club when it was organized in 1926. She was the editor of "A Special Club History" which won first prize for the club at the Eighth District Convention in Alpine in 1946.

As many of the older residents of Midland will remember, Mrs. Proctor was the leader in the minstrel show which was given by the Civic League to raise funds to begin the Midland Park System.

The show was held on a vacant lot on the 100 block of South Main Street. Proceeds from the show were used to begin work on the Triangle Park on the East Highway.

Rodeo And Baseball. She has been senior hostess of the Midland Cowgirls for the Midland Rodeo. Not only do she and her husband share their interest in rodeos but they also are interested in the Midland Indians and follow them and their baseball games closely.

Mrs. Proctor is known to many Midlanders by her voice. She sings in the First Methodist Church choir, of which she is a member, and has participated in musical programs of many other churches and civic organizations in Midland.

The Fine Arts Club was federated in the same year of its organization. The membership now is 25 persons. The motto of the club is "He who does not advance falls behind."

Two Clubs. At the time of its beginning Midland had another federated club, the Civic League. It was wonderful by many persons if there were enough interest in a city the size of Midland at that time for two like clubs to remain active.

Plans Complete For Girl Scout Day Camping. Plans for the annual Midland Girl Scout Day Camp have been announced by the chairmen, Mrs. Stanley Erskine and Mrs. Leonard Thomas.

The camp will be held July 31 through August 5 in Cole Park. Buses will leave the Girl Scout Little House at 8 a. m. each morning and will return to the Little House at 1:30 p. m. each day.

Registration will be held from 9 a. m. until 12 noon Saturday in the Little House.

This year's camp will be called "Weeah" and will have an Indian theme. Campers will be divided into groups named after Indian tribes.

Each camper will bring her own picnic lunch, which is to be packed in a sack with her name on it. Clothes pins are to be attached to the sacks.

Mrs. Herschel Esell is day camp director and the instructors are Mrs. John Dorn, archery; Mrs. Clem George, weaving; Mrs. William Walker, music and Mrs. Esell, golf.

Instruction in these four things will be given each day of the camp.

Mrs. Otis Baggett will be in charge of cooking and Mrs. R. C. Bowden will be the registered nurse on duty at all times.

Special features of the camp will include the "Story of Sacajawes."

Mrs. Foy Proctor

League—which is now the Midland Woman's Club—are still active in Midland today.

The Fine Arts Club has worked along the cultural lines of Midland in many respects. It was one of the first to sponsor the Little Theater movement from which has come the Community Theater.

Welfare work has been given emphasis by the club. The club contributes to the Goodfellow Fund, the Red Cross, the Midland Youth Center, the Midland County Tuberculosis Association and the Cancer fund.

Throughout the years the Fine Arts Club members have received recognition both locally and over the state. It has furnished a district president for the federation as well as several members of state committees.

Mrs. Howard Hodge, the current president of the state federation, is a member of the club and has been for 17 years.

Engagement Of Jackie Kinsey And Ray Williams Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kinsey, 811 South Connell Street, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jackie Lee, to Ray Williams of Midland.

The wedding will be held Saturday in the South Side Church of Christ.

The bride-elect has attended Midland schools and is employed at W. Woodworth Company.

Other members attending were Mrs. Fleet Shepard, Mrs. Ida Fay Cowden, Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, Mrs. W. B. Preston, Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. Bob Hill, Mrs. Playford Thorson and Mrs. Zeb Wilkins.

Travel Bureau Is Minuet Club Dance Setting

Minuet Club members "waltzed around the world" Friday night at their informal Summer dance.

The American Legion hall was decorated as a glorified travel bureau, with road maps covering the tables and stand-up posters of South America placed in front of the bandstand.

Light Felts Fold Without Crushing

These non-crushable hats, indispensable to the traveler, can be packed flat. A deep-fitting gold felt cloche (left) by Anita Andra has narrow cuff brim and a bow of self felt.

By GAILE DUGAS. NEW YORK—Hats which can be packed flat in a suitcase, crushed into a coat pocket or set upon with no distressing damage are essential to any travel wardrobe.

Designers lately have worked out hats which are as good to look at as they are handy to have on a trip.

Mothers Who Yell At Children Are Inviting A Free-For-All

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

A woman educator has the theory that much American tension and unhappiness could be reduced if "quiet" voices were used in homes and schools.

She's testing out the theory in her own school. It might not be a bad idea for mothers to test it out in their own homes.

Yelling at children is a bad habit too many mothers indulge in. They not only yell at the children when the children get out of hand but they yell at them just to relieve their own nerves.

using a quiet voice when she tells Junior to quit whatever he's doing as by yelling at him.

This yelling at children is really a vicious thing. Did you ever notice how often the mother who yells at her children has children who yell right back at her?

Also, that the mother who yells her last threat has a child who doesn't obey her until he hears that final yell.

SAFETY EDUCATION COURSE SCHEDULED

AUSTIN—A. W. Breeland, president of the Texas Safety Association, has announced a Work Conference on safety education will be held during the second Summer term at the University of Texas.

Breeland said, "safety education, being a relatively new subject as well as a very popular one demands a continuous revision of materials and teaching techniques in order that the children of Texas may receive the fullest benefit of safety education and driver education as taught in our schools throughout the state."

System Eases Housework

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—If you make your housework a daily drudgery, you're no more efficient than the housewife who conducts exhausting cleaning campaigns in Spring and Fall. That's the verdict of Mrs. Louise F. Stumpe, housekeeper for 1000 rooms in New York's Prince George Hotel.

"System," Mrs. Stumpe says, "is the answer to the problem of cleaning with the utmost efficiency. But it should be your own system. Not one drawn up for housewives generally. Before you can work it out, you must consider the area in which you live, the fuel burned in your neighbors' furnaces, your husband's job, and your own personal habits and energy."

Any system of housecleaning should be based on a realistic view of your home and family, Mrs. Stumpe feels.

Housekeeping shortcut: Mrs. Louise Stumpe, hotel housekeeper, shows a maid how to get a silk lampshade clean in the bathtub.

"Schedule your cleaning around your household needs. For instance, if your husband spends his weekend in the garden and tracks up the kitchen with mud each Saturday and Sunday, plan your floor scrubbing for Monday, not Friday."

Keeping up with thousands of guests makes this realistic approach an absolute necessity for a hotel housekeeper. Many of the shortcuts Mrs. Stumpe has devised can be applied to any home. Mrs. Stumpe thinks the most important housekeeping maxim is to get dirt out ahead of you. Dirt means extra work, extra wear. Take it off before it has a chance to dig in. Always have plenty of towels and linens on hand, and change them at least twice a week, she says.

advised. It means more laundry but it also means less scrubbing for you and therefore, longer life for the linens.

Real silk lampshades wherever possible are an economy. They can be washed safely in the bathtub with mild soap and warm water, then hung in the open air to dry. Similarly, plastic upholstery fabrics are easy on the budget. They can be wiped clean.

When you clean any room, begin from the top and work down. If, however, you use a cylinder type vacuum cleaner, the wax on the rug must be done together. The rug doesn't blow loose dust around the room.

Schedule one job of heavy cleaning, such as blindwashing, each week. Don't let these jobs pile up so they must all be done together. Spread out over a year's time, they won't seem major obstacles.

A coat of paste wax on window-sills and door jams makes finger-prints and soot easier to remove. Waxed sills, remove the wax with a soft cloth moistened with turpentine, or wash with a detergent and warm water.

One last bit of advice from Mrs. Stumpe: when you buy for your home, buy the best your budget will allow; it lasts longer and looks better.

Bed pillows may be aired either by hanging upon a clothesline or by spreading upon a clean sheet upon the ground. A shady spot should be chosen, since the sun's heat tends to destroy the natural oils in the feathers. Pillows should be fluffed periodically during the half-day that is necessary for thorough airing.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

Pa. 1-1; Hab. 2-12-14; Mic. 3-1-2.

AN UNCHRISTIAN SOCIAL ORDER

We come now to the thirteenth major enemy of abundant living. An unchristian social order. We have space in this review of the enemies only to touch on the effect of an unchristian social order on the individual—we shall expand it at length later. We must mention it here to get clearly before us the disruptive effects of what many would consider the major enemy.

We now are beginning to see the effect of the social order upon the individual. We will not debate the question of whether heredity or environment has the determinative influence in the life of the individual. Perhaps we shall see in the end that the determinative influence in life of the individual is the individual's own reaction to what he receives from heredity or environment. For only what you respond to influences you. But the fact must be faced that the individual usually responds to his social heredity and that social heredity then proceeds to change him into its own image. The social heredity has an amazing power to convert the individual for good or ill. Not mechanically, mind you, for we repeat that only that part of your social heredity to which you respond changes you.

life is within the individual, and the Meyer school of psychologists stress the environmental factors as responsible for maladjustment of the individual. Both assumptions are true, for the individual and his environment act and react upon each other. But if I had to choose between them, I think I should have to conclude that an unchristian social order produces more thwarted and disrupted lives than any other single cause. A dean of girls in a public school told me that the three major factors in producing problem children are "poverty, broken homes, and a lack of attendance upon Sunday school or church"—all social factors.

The social conscience is being made more acute and sensitive as the facts are coming to the surface.

O Christ, we are beginning to see more clearly Thy righteousness in presenting a new order on earth, the Kingdom of God. We would submit ourselves to that new order and be made into its image. We would yield to its every impulse and thus be responsive to the highest. Amen.

Dry Disc Removes Unpleasant Hair

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The eternal problem of eliminating superfluous hair becomes especially pressing in Summer. Unwanted Unightly hair smudging beauty of arms (above) is erased with a cosmetic disc.

ed furs on legs and arms comes into unflattering focus in hot-weather styles.

One way to get rid of this unfeminine-appearing extra hair is by using a friction disc to erase nature's mistake.

Hair is simply rubbed off by this dry method, which counts among its virtues the non-messiness of the job. Makers also point out the simplicity of removing hair in this way, which eliminates the various paraphernalia associated with other measures.

Although this method provides, like most others, only a temporary defuzzing, it has the advantage of causing no coarsening of the new hairs that will grow back in.

Diabetic Center Has Some Empty Rooms But No One Is Sorry

GAINESVILLE —(P)— There are some rooms at the Southwest's first diabetic center for children which are going to waste. And everyone is glad about it. The rooms are not those in which the afflicted youngsters sleep or eat. The rooms for which no use has been found are the infirmary rooms. The beautifully wooded 403-acre campus is 10 miles north of Gainesville. The center is owned and operated by the Sweeney Diabetic Foundation. The first semester began June 12. The second is set to run from July 24th to Sept. 2. Thirty-five boys and girls from six states, ranging from 6 to 17 years old, were enrolled for the first semester. Nearly half were children of indigent parents. They were taken in without cost, which is the foundation's policy. The children themselves did not know their way was not paid. Even the 16 members of the staff did not know who was paid and who was unpaid. The youngsters are taught how to control diabetics so they can lead happy lives. Dr. J. Shirley Sweeney delivers periodic lectures. During their other time they learn craftsmanship, ride horses, fire rifles, play badminton, tennis, baseball, or go fishing, boating, or swimming. Every enrollee is a PFC. It doesn't stand for private first class. PFC at the diabetic center means "perseverance, faith, courage."

Dr. T. J. Melton, Jr. Gets Membership In International Group

Membership in the International College of Surgeons, one of the most exclusive groups in the medical profession, recently has been granted to Dr. T. J. Melton, Jr., chief of surgery at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Fellowship in the International College of Surgeons is granted only to outstanding surgeons of the world, and fewer than 15 doctors in Texas are members of the select group.

One other West Texas surgeon, in Lubbock, is a member.

Dr. Melton was notified of his selection as an associate in the group in a letter July 13 from the office of the secretary of the American Chapter.

He is to receive formal induction into the International College at a meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, October 31 to November 4.

The International College of Surgeons was founded in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1835, and the American Chapter was incorporated in Washington, D. C., in 1940.

Dr. Melton, 34, was granted an associate membership, the only degree offered to surgeons under 40 years of age. He will become a fellow at age 40.

Dr. Melton received his bachelor of science degree at the University of Texas and Tulane University. He received his MD at the Tulane School of Medicine in 1940. Later, in 1945, he earned an M.S. in surgery from the University of Minnesota.

Medical Officer
After an internship of one year at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., Dr. Melton served as a medical officer in the U. S. Army until 1942, when he was given a medical discharge.

He became a resident in surgery at Estel Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn., and later moved to Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

He remained at the famed Mayo Clinic, first with a fellowship in surgery, and later as assistant to the surgical staff, from 1942 until 1946.

In 1946, he moved to Chicago and became assistant chief surgeon for both Carnegie Illinois Steel Company and the Egin, Joliet and Eastern Railroad. He stayed there until 1948. During that time, he was assistant to Dr. R. J. Bennett, an orthopedic and general surgeon, in Chicago.

Dr. Melton came to Midland and joined the staff of Western Clinic-Hospital in 1948. Reasons of health were given for the change to West Texas. Dr. Melton is one of the owners of Western Clinic-Hospital.

Petite Commanders In Texas Navy Set For Australia Trip

DALLAS —(P)—The four newest commanders in the Texas Navy are better looking than anything Davy Crockett ever saw.

They are two gorgeous brunettes and two scrumptious blondes.

They've got 'em, all right—"Honorary commanders in the Texas Navy, assigned to special duty in Australia—signed, Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas."

It's plumb unfortunate that nary a one of 'em was born in Texas.

There they all sat in a row on a divan in Dallas—as pretty a navy as you'll ever see—dangling little inch-high gold (14k) maps of Texas to go on a dangle bracelet.

"Well, Texas is known as the gold star state, isn't it?" asked platinum blonde Carmen del 'Office of New York.

"Lone Star State," corrected creamy-skin, dark brown hair, brown, black eyes, five feet seven inches, slim Ruth Hancock, who has lived in Texas for 10 years.

Andrea Johnson — statuesque blonde, five foot six inches ($50 an hour modeling)—smiled. And Margo Price—pert brunette—smiled, too.

To Model Clothes

Texas having no navy to command at the present time, they're flying over to Australia to model some clothes.

And why Australia?

"Well, we got invited," said Edward Marcus, Dallas merchant.

"We got together the four most photographed models in America, collected a wardrobe of clothes and are sending them over to Melbourne, Sydney and Arelaide for a series of July-August showings.

The clothes are valued at $50,000. They are packed in 41 cartons weighing 640 pounds and were flown to Australia.

Plan To Practice

The four beautiful commanders will go over to Melbourne and practice a while with eight Australian models before the show really goes on the road.

"They tell me that Australian models smile more, maybe put on a better show than American models," said Andrea. "They tell me that American models are considered deadpan and maybe emaciated. They say they're going to fatten us up on mutton and yorkshire pudding."

And all four of them stared into space speculatively.

The Australian tour and style show project was organized by the Nieman-Marcus store at Dallas.

These New Styles Disguise Figure Faults

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK—Swimsuits which slenderize, supply light figure control and yet are in the fashion swim are a boon to any woman with figure problems. Such suits help to eliminate a reluctance to go near a beach.

One suit (left) is designed to make its wearer look pencil slim through use of a "V" panel which creates this illusion. Side boning provides the support to the center-shirred bra in this deep sea blue satin lastex suit. For those who prefer not to wear a topless suit, there is an optional halter tie.

Another suit (right), whose purpose also is to conceal figure faults, is cut with a plunging neckline which will stay put and provide the necessary uplift at the same time. The sunburst shirring radiates from a slenderizing front panel. This suit is in emerald acetate faille lastex.

First American to fly a plane off the deck of a warship was Eugene Ely, who accomplished the feat in January, 1911.

Usually circus elephants are females, since males have uncertain dispositions and might prove dangerous.

McCamey Amateur Diving, Swimming Meet Set In August

MCCAMEY—Plans for the amateur diving and swimming meet of the McCamey Homecoming and Jubilee August 18-19 have been announced by B. J. Riley, committee chairman. All events will be held in the Upton County Swimming Pool.

Riley announced the plans call for four separate age groups in the swimming competition and two groups in the diving contests. There will be three events for each group in the swimming tests, back stroke, breast stroke and free style. The distance will be 25 yards for the junior group and 50 yards for the others. In addition, there will be a 150-yard relay for three-member teams in the senior division for both boys and girls. In the diving meet, entrants 14 years old and under will compete in the Junior Division while all those older will be required to compete in the Senior Division. Each group will have three required dives and two optional dives.

Junior Division
In the swimming contests, the Junior Division will include entrants 11 years old and under; the Intermediate Division from 12 to 15 years of age, the Senior Division from 16 to 18 years old, and the Adult Division for entries 19 years old and over.

Ribbons will be awarded to winners of the first three places in each event. A trophy will go to the high-point entrant.

There is no entry fee and all contestants must register with the chairman of events by August 17. The first day will be for McCamey entries only while area-wide competition will be held Saturday.

The swimming event will be one of the highlights of the 25th Anniversary of McCamey and is part of a program that will include a calf roping contest, bathing beauty revue, free barbecue, and dances during the two-day festivities.

Sunshine Helps Acne Condition

NEA Staff Writer
Summer's not a season of undiluted joy to all young people. To the girls (and boys, too) troubled with acne, it's more often a time of embarrassment as bathing suits and other casual wear reveal blemished skin that winter clothes concealed.

These adolescents can take comfort, however, in the fact that the same hot sun that increases their worries may in the long run decrease them. The ultra-violet rays you absorb in sun-baths are often helpful in correcting this condition. These blemishes are not caused, as some uninformally people believe, by uncleanliness or other reasons which might bear social stigma. Neither are they contagious.

Exact Cause Unknown
Although some authorities attribute the source of acne to a bacillus, the exact cause hasn't yet been determined, according to Dr. Mary MacFayden, physician and writer. In her book, "Beauty Plus," she lists several contributing factors. These include incorrect diet and a generally run-down condition.

The breaking-out, she says, comes about when oil glands in the skin fail to function properly. Pores become enlarged and clogged; infections result. Often the skin becomes pitted and scarred. To combat this condition, it helps to wash the face several times a day with green soap and to apply white lotion (lotio alba) at night. Both may be obtained from a druggist.

Peeling Of Skin
Peeling of the skin is also considered beneficial by Dr. MacFayden. This may be brought about by rubbing ice on the skin after washing, or by sunbaths, either from lamps or nature. The peeling routine should not be overdone by too-sealous efforts.

The important thing in dealing with acne is to realize there are things to be done about it. Don't give up too quickly when home remedies fail to produce immediate results. Above all, don't discount the many things that doctors are able to do these days to correct the condition. In acute cases, it is always wisest to consult a physician. There are several treatments he may recommend, according to Dr. MacFayden, including vaccines, gland extracts, peeling formulas or, as a last resort, X-rays.

Cologne Sticks Take Place Of Grandmother's Hankie

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The scented handkerchiefs our grandmothers used for delicate dab at hot foreheads have their modern counterparts this year in cologne sticks.

With this sturdy new cylinder, you can draw a soaf of fragrance about your shoulders for an over-all aura of flowers. It's non-greasy, so you need not worry about stains on clothing.

It's a good idea to renew your cologne as soon as its scent begins to dim. Light fragrances are not as long-lasting as heavier perfumes. Stick cologne is especially handy for frequent re-application, since it can be carried in purse or suitcase without fear of spilling.

Handy sticks of solid cologne provide quick fresh-ups for the active woman whenever needed.

One whisk of this solid fragrance, and today's woman achieves the same quick freshening effect.

Like the traditional liquid, stick cologne is sufficiently light-scented for lavish use. Even when applied in broad generous streaks for its cooling effects, there is no cloying odor left when it evaporates.

TWC Ex-Students Set Organization Meet Here Tuesday

An important meeting of ex-students of Texas Western College, formerly Texas College of Mines, at El Paso will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer, with all former students of the school residing in Midland urged to attend.

Berte R. Haigh, who is in charge of arrangements for the session, said the purpose of the gathering is to organize a Midland Chapter of the Texas Western College Ex-Students Association.

The Sun Bowl film will be shown at three service club meetings—Kiwans, Monday; Optimist, Tuesday, and Lions, Wednesday.

Andrews Ceremony Unites Miss Broom And Arnold Slack

ANDREWS — Erma Gean Broom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Broom and Arnold Slack, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Slack, were married Thursday in the Means Memorial Methodist Church in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The Rev. Raymond Van Zandt, pastor, read the double-ring ceremony in a sanctuary lighted by candles. The altar was decorated with greenery and tall baskets of gladiolas and candelabra were used on either side.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pale grey organdy, trimmed with white lace and embroidery. Her tiara was made of orchids and from it fell a shoulder-length grey veil. She carried an orchid atop a white Bible.

Leta Campbell was the bride's only attendant and wore a yellow gown with white accessories. Her flowers were blue carnations. Abner Slack, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

Mrs. Pat McNair was pianist and played the traditional wedding marches. She accompanied Mrs. A. C. Lively, who sang "I Love You Truly."

A reception was held in the educational building following the ceremony.

After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Andrews where Slack is employed with the Texas Highway Department and Mrs. Slack is a clerk at the post office.

Manufacturers Urged To File Information For Bureau Directory

AUSTIN — Manufacturers likely are to find their names omitted from the new 1950 edition of the Directory of Texas Manufacturers. Unless questionnaires are returned immediately to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, publishers of the directory, according to Dr. John R. Stockton, director of the bureau.

Second requests have been mailed to those manufacturers who have not filed their information, and August 15 is the final date for returning the questionnaire.

More than 10,000 questionnaires have been mailed to manufacturers over the state, and 5,500 have been returned to the bureau. Firms will be listed both by name and by type of products manufactured.

The directory, the single most important publication of its kind in the state, provides wholesalers and retailers with a reliable source of information regarding Texas-made products.

Mrs. Ann Poling, 609 Delaware St., Indianapolis, Indiana, who was suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Nicotin, smiles as she pours herself another cup of coffee. Mrs. Poling says life lately is like it used to be years ago.

"That is, of course, since I've been taking HADACOL." She can't get over what a difference HADACOL has made in her outlook on life.

Mrs. Poling says: "Three months ago a good friend of mine told me about HADACOL—she knew how much stomach distress I had. Any type of food that was fried or that had acid in it I just couldn't eat. It affected my sleep, too. In fact, I couldn't have been in a worse condition. When I ate what I wanted to I felt miserable and when I didn't eat these things—I didn't have a proper diet and still felt bad. Then, when I started taking HADACOL, I felt better immediately. I've got a bottle in the house and will continue to keep HADACOL from now on. I've told many folks about HADACOL—and they all thank me for telling them about HADACOL. They all have gotten wonderful results from HADACOL like I have. Now I eat anything I want and get a good night's sleep. I can't praise HADACOL enough."

HADACOL Can Help You, Too!

... as it has helped thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Nicotin. Yes, even hundreds of doctors have recommended HADACOL to their patients. The HADACOL formula is so effective for stomach distress, nervousness, insomnia, constipation, aches and pains of neuritis, and a general run-down condition caused by such deficiencies.

Make Up Your Mind

... to give HADACOL a chance to help you, as it has helped countless thousands of others. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL does not help you your money will be refunded.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service

"The other night," writes a Houston correspondent, "I had two jacks in my hand (among other cards). The player at my right discarded a jack. I put my two jacks on the table, and then—instead of adding the jack from the pile to the meld on the table—I put the complete discard pile in my hand!

"The opponents said all of the cards from the discard pile were considered penalty cards. I said that the cards were not really melded in my hand. They were therefore not penalty cards.

"The opponents insisted that once the cards were in my hand, they were considered mixed with my hand. Were they right? Did they have a right to apply this very severe penalty?"

The cards should be considered mixed as soon as they get into a player's hand, but the severe penalty should not be applied in a case of this kind. This law was meant to penalize a player who picked up the discard pile when it was not at all clear that he had a right to do so.

However, when it is perfectly clear to everybody that you are entitled to the discard pile, no penalty should be applied. I should point out that it does no harm, and often saves a great deal of trouble, if you meld the top card of the discard pile before putting a single card of the pile into your hand.

Some players, realizing that this procedure allows everybody to see the next-to-top card of the discard pile, have a special way of taking the cards necessary to take the pile, they remove the pile from the tray and turn it over on the table face down. They then extract the top card of the pile (which is now the bottom of the pile) and add it to the meld. When the meld has been seen by all players, they then put the rest of the discard pile in their hands.

Q—After the cards have all been dealt out, are you supposed to look at the bottom of the deck to see that there are no wild cards there?

A—You are never supposed to look at the bottom of the deck. If a wild card happens to be there, that is perfectly all right. It should be allowed to stay there, and nobody should know about it beforehand.

Q—If you touch the discard pile or the stock pile are you required to take whichever pile you touched? If you touch one pile, and then draw from the other pile, what is the penalty?

A—You are required to draw from the pile that you touch first. If you touch one pile and then draw from the other pile, you must draw from the pile you touched first and replace the card or cards so drawn and make your proper draw from the pile that you touch first.

However, if you already have made an improper draw in this way and mixed one or more cards with your hand, that draw stands. In either case (whether you go back and make the proper draw or whether the improper draw stands) your side pays a penalty of 50 points.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Many kids who have been unable to find Summer jobs probably will want to get away at least for a week's vacation before Summer comes to an end and school resumes.

If you are like most young people, you probably have toyed with the idea of going to Europe. Well, if you planned to work to pay your expenses, don't try it. There just aren't any jobs. Unless you have a rich aunt or can stay away in a friend's B-29 for the trip across, it would be better to skip the whole idea.

Four or five girls could go on an inexpensive vacation if one of them could borrow a car and the rest of the girls share the cost of the gas. They would have to observe certain rules for their own safety, such as wisely selecting tourist cabins or hotels approved by recognized authorities, driving after dark or picking up hitchhikers.

Bicycle Vacation

A bicycle vacation is a wonderful idea and in a new book, "Bike Way," by Godfrey Frankel (Sterling Publishing Co.), advice is given on planning trips, clothing and routes. The history of the American Youth Hostels is reviewed, bike camping is discussed as well as "tours and routes," organizing bike clubs, etc.

If you are not an experienced bicycle camper, it is best to stick close to civilization, advises this book. Don't go too deep into forests or mountainous territory unless you know what you are doing. If you decide to camp in state parks, you will have to get a permit, probably. You should make sure about this before you start out. If you wish to camp on property belonging either to a company or individual, you will have to get permission to do that also.

What you take along depends on the duration, distance, location and number of persons going on the trip. If you camp high in the mountains, you will need lots of blankets, a sleeping bag and warm clothes. If you camp near a lake, take along mosquito netting.

Standard Equipment

Standard equipment for camping listed by the book includes: sleeping bag (for cycling trip get one that weighs about six pounds—either kapok filled or lined with detachable layers of woolen material), blankets (if you do not have a sleeping bag), pup tent—for shelter, scout knife, hunting knife with sheath for protection, small ax with covering over edge, cooking kit (consisting of frying pan, sauce pan, tin cup, knife, fork and spoon) food bag (an old pillow case will do), match box (waterproof), compass, canteen, first aid kit, flashlight (extra batteries) field glasses and camera (help make trip more enjoyable), maps (road and topographical), soap (face soap and yellow laundry soap for washing and poison ivy precaution) towels, bicycle tool kit and pump, knapsack and bicycle saddle bag.

Staple foods such as dehydrated soups, dried fruits, bacon, ham and other smoked meats that keep well, oatmeal, pancake flour, chocolate and coffee are light in weight and easy to prepare, making them ideal for bike camping.

Such foods as meats, fresh milk, fruits and vegetables should be purchased at the nearest store to the camp.

Keep Bottles In Stream

Learn to keep bottles and cans cool in a stream or brook. Food should be placed in a sturdy bag and hung from the limb of a tree, away from insects and small hungry animals.

Good clothes should be left home—and so should shabby, torn clothes. Strike the happy medium of sturdy, comfortable and good looking clothes. You'll need long slacks for cycling through weeds to avoid scratches and infections from poisonous weeds. Two layers of woolen shirts are better than one extra-heavy shirt. T-shirts always are in order. Sweaters get snagged and aren't too practical. Moccasins and other light shoes can be worn for cycling and around the camp. But woolen socks and waterproof shoes are practical for hiking.

The guinea pig is a rodent. Its name is said to be a corruption of "cony pig," but the animal is neither a cony nor a pig.

The answer is: don't try pin-curls. In most cases the ends are too short to twist them properly anyway. The result is usually a frizz or a stubbiness that would have looked better left flat.

It's better to stop struggling with your old hair-set routine and adopt an entirely new one to suit your brief coiffure.

If your hair is the easily managed type, it may require nothing more than pushing into shape with a comb. This method works best when there is a slight curl, either natural or permanent.

For those whose hair requires more effort, here are some simple rules. First, put away your bobby pins. Perhaps a couple should be saved out for a loose curl over each ear where the hair is cut longer.

However, the largest part of the work once done by your pins should now be taken over by your brush.

Sprinkle a few drops of pomade into your palm and rub the bristles lightly across your hand for a thin coating. You then brush the ends of your hair upward, coaxing them into a casual, upturned effect.

Clamps are useful for setting shallow waves if you wish to create a soft arrangement. While your locks are still wet after washing, push a wave into your hair with your fingers and fasten the clamp to hold it. Sit in the sun until it dries into place.

C. of C. To Present Election Petition To Commissioners

Members of the Highway Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce will present a petition to the Commissioners Court Monday, requesting that a $1,000,000 bond issue proposal be submitted to the voters as promptly as possible. Chamber of Commerce officials said Saturday the petition has been signed by the required number of property owners.

The bond money, if made available, will be used to match a Texas Highway Department appropriation of $417,200 for the proposed improvement of North Front Street from east to west city limits, and for the proposed Big Spring Street grade separation and drainage projects.

Some of the money also would finance the acquiring of additional right-of-way for the possible widening of U. S. 80 Highway to the east county line.

The Highway Committee members, at a recent meeting, voted to prepare and present the petition to the Commissioners Court at its next meeting.

CO-EDS THINK GAL'S PLACE IS IN HO-CEDS

LUBBOCK — Co-eds at Texas Tech evidently go along with the old saying. By a 2 to 1 majority, they believe the woman's place is in the home.

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, head of the Tech placement bureau, reports that 200 of the 275 women Spring graduates now are either married or engaged.

Who'll Be Drafted? Here's Clear Picture Of First Call

Registration: Korean crisis brought out this lineup of 18-year-olds to register with a New York draft board. All boys are required to register with their local boards when they turn 18, but they can't be drafted until their nineteenth birthday.

WASHINGTON — (NEA— Who's going to be drafted?

First, you must be between 19 and 25, single, fairly sturdy, and a non-veteran. That's the first step to qualify among the 20,000 men in the first Korean-crisis draft.

If you get your notice of induction after you are properly enrolled in college or high school this Fall you'll be exempted from the draft until June, 1951. The Army plans to start taking in the first men about the middle of September, so there will be some close calls.

If you're in service or in a reserve component of the service you are excluded. But your outfit can be called into active duty any time.

There are a few men in the 25-19 age group who might possibly be exempted by reason of working on farms or in jobs essential to national health, safety or interest. Selective Service officials say you'd have to be "irreplaceable" to qualify for deferment under this provision.

You stay home if you're an elected public official or an appointed judge. You're exempted if you're the sole surviving son of a family that has already lost sons in war. You don't have to go if you're a minister or divinity student.

No Lottery This Time

And now they're ready for the final tapping. At present there are about 1,466,629 who are ready for that letter. Instead of a lottery as in the last war the oldest 25-year-olds will be taken first, then the 24's, the 23's and so on down to the 19-year-olds.

The estimate is that not many men under 23 will get called in the September induction. However, each board is assigned a quota of men to produce. And it's entirely possible that even some 19-year-olds will get the call this first time from some local boards that don't have enough older men to fill their quotas.

After the first call, there are a lot of "ifs" in the future. The Army says that if there are enough volunteers there won't be any more drafting. It's planned to keep draftees 21 months, but if it looks like the Korean crisis is easing off, they might be released after a year's service.

Another 20,000

If the crisis gets more acute, it's planned to call up another 20,000 in October. That's long range planning subject to many changes. If all-out war comes, forget everything you've just read because a whole new draft law will be written. As far as the current draft goes there will be thousands of borderline cases which will have to be decided by local boards and the Army doctors. Some pretty healthy-looking men will rate 4-F according to present Army standards. That includes men adjudged physically, mentally and morally unfit. At present there are no plans to put conscientious objectors into special camps.

A man qualifies as a deferred veteran if he served one year before Pearl Harbor or after VE-Day, or served 90 days during the shooting war. A man qualifies as having a dependent if he supports a wife or child or other close members of his family.

No Punishment

Since 1948 all boys reaching the age of 18 should have registered with their local boards, although they can't be called until their nineteenth birthday. Those who haven't registered probably won't be punished if they do so promptly. Those who have been examined and classified once will have to have another physical to bring their status up-to-date.

Every man has a right to appeal any classification assigned to him by a local board, if he thinks it unjust. After the draft mill starts rolling for a man it usually takes a minimum of two months to get him in uniform.

The Army will get all of the first 20,000 men. The Air Force and Navy have enough volunteers. Inducted men will go to one of four training divisions at Fort Dix, N. J., Fort Knox, Ky., Fort Riley, Kan., and Fort Ord, Calif. Basic training will last 14 weeks.

After basic training the men will be distributed in the Army to fill out various units. None will see immediate action in Korea. Whether any of them ever will depends on the course of events.

Upton, Crane, Reagan To Furnish Eight Men

McCAMEY—Upton, Crane and Reagan Counties, comprising Draft Board 121, will be asked to furnish eight men to be examined in the first draft call, according to the State Selective Service Board.

A meeting of Local Board 121 was held Tuesday in McCamey to select the eight men required in the three-county quota.

Men selected for physical examinations will go to examining centers in El Paso, Amarillo, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Shreveport from August 7-11. Then they will be returned to their local draft boards.

Inductions will not begin until September.

ALL THE COMFORTS—Mrs. W. E. Hollis, 606 Andrews Highway, became the first user of the new Portable Beauty Kart at Midland Memorial Hospital. She was given a shampoo, manicure and wave, while lying in her bed at the hospital. Two trained beauty operators, Mildred Myers and Dora Evans, gave the morale-boosting treatment. Mrs. Hollis had given birth to an eight and a half-pound daughter only three days before.

Beauty Treatments For Patients Are Morale Booster In Midland Hospital

Two stand-by remedies for sagging morale among the women are a new hat or a session at the beauty parlor.

And hospital patients long have fretted at their inability to do anything with their hair. But no longer shall they fret.

For Midland Memorial Hospital has added to its list of modern conveniences the newest morale builder of all—the portable Beauty Kart.

Installed recently at the new hospital, the unit went into immediate use.

Mrs. W. E. Hollis, 606 Andrews Highway, who became the mother of an eight and a half pound daughter, was the first patient. With a trained operator, Mrs. Hollis was given a shampoo—featuring a new rinseless preparation—and a wave, three days after her daughter was born.

"My hair never looked better," Mrs. Hollis said, "and it makes me feel so much better."

Complete Unit
The portable unit, the brain child of W. S. Stan Hewes of Dallas, is a complete beauty shop on wheels. The gray plastic-covered unit, resembling a small dresser, has a drier mounted on top, and complete facilities for manicures, permanent waves, shampoos, and even shaves for men.

E. R. Andres, hospital administrator, hailed the new unit as the greatest thing for morale ever introduced into a hospital.

"We are glad to have the service," Andres said, "and we know it will meet with the enthusiastic approval of patients, doctors and personnel."

Two trained operators, Mildred Myers and Dora Evans, of a Midland beauty shop, are on call by appointment. Patients may make appointments through the floor nurse, who will contact the operators.

Hewes emphasized the importance of the new rinseless shampoo in the efficiency of the unit. Obstetrical patients, who formerly were unable to wash their hair while in the hospital, are permitted by doctors to have their hair shampooed within a few hours after delivery.

Drier Attachment
The unit now has a conventional drier attachment, which can be moved on a swivel to any position. A new attachment will be added to the drier in a few days, Hewes said, utilizing a revolutionary new drying principle. The new attachment will dry hair in ten minutes with cool air, instead of the 30 to 45 minutes now required with hot air, he said.

Men, too, are strong boosters of the unit. Manicures, shaves and shampoos can be given to men patients as they lie in bed.

Another wrinkle offered in conjunction with the service is a gift certificate for beauty treatments which may be purchased at the hospital.

At last, Mildred may remain attractive and charming while a patient in the hospital. Just wheel in that beauty parlor—for a shampoo, wave and a manicure.

Negro Who Makes Missionary Trips Among White Folks Has 'Adopted' 200 Children

MALAKOFF, TEXAS.—(AP)—Alice Smothers is a 38-year-old negro woman who makes missionary trips among the white folks.

She wears crisp starched dresses and a blue straw sunhat. She carries photos of little negro children making up neat beds and cooking on modern stoves.

She shows up far from this East Texas village, maybe in Dallas, Houston, or Longview. She tells folks how the Lord has caused many new buildings to sprout up at St. Paul's Industrial Training School here. It was once a rickety little shack.

Alice tells stories about each child and each building. All the stories have happy endings. They are full of laughs, brimming with pathos.

"And I says," Alice relates, "Lord, see all these little black children. They yours, Lord, you made 'em! You give me this buildin'. Now give me somethin' to go in it!"

Busy executives with waiting rooms full of appointments listen, captivated. Some laugh, some cry, some do both. All adore her. They beg her to stay longer and tell them more about faith. She has great personal warmth.

They dig deep in their wealth and give her many dollars.

"Alice and the Lord are on the best of terms," one secretary in East Texas said as she heard Alice tell how the Lord supplied the school with food and equipment. She says little underprivileged sprites are learning to cook and sew and be tradesmen.

Has Waiting List
She returns to the 200 "adopted" children at Malakoff, her pockets full of crisp checks for the school and 90-acre farm. It now has a waiting list of 103 children recommended by Texas welfare workers.

The story of Alice and her husband, J. W., and their school reads like a Bible story book. They went there as teachers 22 years ago from Alabama. She was a graduate of Texas College in Tyler; he had finished Virginia's Hampton Institute in agriculture.

They pledged $150 of their $175 salary on a loan to build an eight room house. They took in 25 destitute children.

They canned white folks' beef for the liver and by-products, started a chicken ranch, fought midwives who refused to sterilize and got negroes to build pit toilets.

Once they were called out of church by a white man who said all his hogs were dying. They donned overalls and started vaccinating. All hogs not already choleric were saved.

In 1942, Alice prayed and fasted for 24 hours after a cyclone had demolished their school. She went to Tyler and told Joe Zeppa, an oil man, how badly St. Paul's needed a new building.

"Do you have to go without eating to get a house?" he asked. Zeppa Mansion, a boys' home, fully equipped, is worth $15,000.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Fair of Tyler saw students walking two miles to a creek to take baths and bring water back. "Africa is right here," Mr. Fair said. He gave a $10,000 water system. Grid Electricity
The Texas Power and Light Company thought they would waste $20,000 putting power into the school but when an official visited there, St. Paul's got electricity.

In a Dallas furniture store one Friday Alice selected $25,000 worth of furniture and equipment. They thought she was an oil-rich darkey

MEDICAL Meetings

ENCOURAGE Incentive FOR IMPROVEMENT

DOCTORS ARE BETTER DOCTORS. Hospitals are better hospitals, because of Medical Meetings. The practice of medicine is being constantly improved through this interchange of the findings of research and experience.

Lives are being saved by these constant meetings, conferences, clinics and consultations. Discussions from such meetings are published in Medical Journals, for further study, and for the information of those unable to attend. This urge for improvement—that's the ingenuity and progress of Medicine in America.

Opportunity and incentive to get to the top, through honest study and hard work . . . that's America! Attending Medical Meetings is hard work, sandwiched between other duties of a busy Doctor, but conscientious, progressive physicians consider it a duty to patients so attend local, state and special clinical meetings.

For the sake of keeping the level of American health the best on earth, let's see that politicians do not kill the incentive for constant improvement.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Starlight

Daddy Ringtail was sitting out on the porch of his monkey house, up in the top of the very tall tree, listening to all the forest chirpings and hummings that begin when the night is near. Sammy Ringtail climbed up in the chair with him. They didn't talk at first, because there were too many wonderful things to be seen and heard, the way it often is in the Great Forest when the day is almost gone, but isn't, and the night is almost there, but isn't. The moon was high in the sky, getting brighter and brighter all the time.

Said Sammy: "Who cares about the stars? We don't need them in the sky, but how I wish I could fly to the moon, and see how pretty it really is."

Daddy Ringtail smiled in the moonlight. He thought it would be a wonderful adventure to fly to the moon, a happy thing to do, but he didn't know anyone who had ever done it. He didn't know anyone who could do it, not even the Sky-Bird who flies higher than anyone, singing out his song to the stars. But the stars! Daddy Ringtail didn't agree with Sammy. He did care about the stars. He said so.

Sammy shook his head. "What are the stars good for?" he wanted to know. "They aren't as pretty as the moon, and they don't make nearly as much light as the moon does."

"That may or may not be true," Daddy Ringtail said, "but stars are very good for something. We couldn't do without them at all."

Sammy listened while Daddy Ringtail explained, and I'll tell you as best I can what Daddy Ringtail said. You can make up your mind yourself about whether he was right. I think he was, for how could we ever make wishes without the stars, and the way you do it is this: You look in the sky at night when the sun is gone. You look for a star. When you first see one you say to yourself, as people have been doing for longer than I can remember: "Star light, star bright, first star I've seen tonight. I wish I may, I wish I might, have the wish I wish tonight." And if a wish will come true at all, it will indeed come true if you look at a star when you wish it. That is the way with the wishes I wish, and that is what the stars are for. Happy day!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Army's best-trained combat officers not in Korea; Senator Thomas, who is not dry, jokes over Oklahoma dry support; Vice Chairman of Resources Board will be an aviation executive.

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Armed Forces have some great combat officers, but there seems to be a reluctance to use more of them in Korea. For instance, the first division of Marines, which recently embarked from California, will be commanded in Korea, not by its top man, Maj. Gen. Graves Erskine, but by its assistant commander, Brig. Gen. Edward A. Craig.

Instead of leading his division in his vitally important battle, General Erskine is going to Latin America on a mission for the State Department. Probably one of the most competent combat officers in the army is Gen. James A. Van Fleet, now returning from Greece. His amusement was doubtless due to the fact that he is well known on Capitol Hill as a two-handed drinker and connoisseur of good bourbon.

Our ground force commander in Korea, Gen. Walton Walker, better known as "Johnny" Walker, had considerable combat experience in World War II, part of it under General Patton. But, according to Col. Robert S. Allen, a member of Patton's staff, Walker was a methodical slugger but not noted for his speed—one of the greatest necessities in Korea. Bob Allen, who was given a brilliant commendation by Patton, tells—partly in his book "Lucky Forward"—how General Walker's 20th Corps was ordered to take Trier, but reached the Moselle River and sat down. Walker's bridge equipment had gotten lost, and, instead of improvising some way to get across the river, he let his troops wait nine costly hours during which the Germans had time to rush up reinforcements.

for the domestic front, has picked Bob Smith, head of Pioneer Airlines in Texas, to be vice chairman of his National Security Resources Board.

In so doing, Symington has sidestepped a request from labor that a labor leader be vice chairman. This was the strategy Roosevelt followed in naming Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and William Knudsen of General Motors as co-chairmen of the Office of Production Management.

In a session with labor leaders, Symington explained: "The vice chairman of this outfit has got to be a second me. He has to represent me in pushing legislation on Capitol Hill; he has to know how I think. I've got to have a man who is close to me to fill that job."

Instead, Symington invited labor leaders to appoint one of their number either as his assistant or as head of one of his bureaus. He asked for the best man they could find, and promised that he would be an integral and important part of the Resources Board.

Incidentally, Symington came out of the meeting tremendously impressed at labor's backing of the government and its opposition to communism. "These men really know what it is to battle communism," he remarked to an associate afterward. Walter Reuther and Jim Carey (mainsprings of the United Auto and the International Electrical Workers Union) even have been shot at by Communists. They really know what this fight is about even better than businessmen whose opposition to communism is more theoretical. We're lucky to have men like them leading labor today.

Note—Some observers are wondering whether Texas Bob Smith's appointment as Resources Board vice chairman will mean that future war plans will go to Texas as was so frequently the case when Jesse Jones had charge of war plant financing.

However, Symington has told insiders this will not be the case. In the first place, few new war plants will be built; and, contrary to earlier reports, it will not be necessary to take over the Willow Run plant now operated by Henry Kaiser unless we get into a global war. Furthermore, Symington now is talking to representatives of depressed areas, such as Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where about 40,000 are unemployed, with a view to putting war industry there rather than in prosperous areas.

Only one amendment to the Constitution of the United States ever has been repealed, the 18th amendment, prohibition.

Boyle Finds Nipponese Bounce Back

By HAL BOYLE
 TOKYO —(AP)—Five years have wrought a magical change in "Mac-Arturville" — which is just one nickname for Charlie Hirohito's old home town.

The industrious Japanese have done much more to reconstruct their capital than the Germans have with Berlin.

Of course, it is much easier to rebuild a wooden city than one made of stone, brick and steel. But it also is hard to escape the conclusion that the Japanese have put more heart and muscle into the task than have the Germans.

One reason probably is that they are less fearful of the future. Another reason probably is that the Japanese were less overwhelmed by the disaster of defeat. They take a solid, stolid pride in the belief they still are the first nation of the Orient.

Whatever the reason, Tokyo wears a bright new face today. In great areas gutted by fire bombs in 1945 you now have to look hard to find the scars of war. The physical progress is almost unbelievable to one who saw Tokyo ruined and prostrate just five short years ago.

It is incredibly alive and booming. It is a beehive, busy by day and a garden of exotic neon color at night. The prewar replacement of old Japanese customs by Western ways has been speeded up dramatically.

They Go For Fakes
 Five years ago the streets were filthy and the people hungry and in rags. Today the debris all has been removed. The people look healthy and better fed.

"You ought to see the way Japanese women are snapping up fakes," said one American woman. "They all seem to want to wear them—and goodness knows most of them need to."

But for some reason she appeared annoyed at the eagerness with which Japanese femininity is embracing this facet of American culture. Just why I don't know.

I am no judge as to the general quality of Japanese goods but it appears to be pretty good. At least a $5 Mickey Mouse watch I bought here still is running after four days—and it hasn't lost more than a couple of minutes a day.

Against this I must put the performance of a new Swiss portable typewriter I brought here from New York. It broke down before I could finish writing "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of Korea." But Japanese repairmen fixed it in less than 10 minutes.

I don't suppose this proves anything at all—except maybe that I am too ignorant to fix my own typewriter. But I don't think anyone who saw Tokyo in 1945 and then came back and saw it as it is today ever could make the mistake of underrating the Japanese people. They bounce.

MICHIGAN EDUCATOR TO SPEAK AT A&M FUNCTION
 COLLEGE STATION — Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College, East Lansing, will be the speaker at a luncheon for delegates to the inauguration of Dr. M. T. Harrington as president of Texas A&M College, November 9.

Dr. Hannah, a noted figure in the field of agriculture, is immediate past president of the Association of Land Grant Colleges.

As a result of this slowdown, SHAEF demanded that the 10th Armored Division under Walker be transferred back to SHAEF and kept in reserve; and Bob Allen graphically describes General Patton's session with Gen. Omar Bradley in which he lined up his generals and had them explain why they wanted to push ahead.

Patton even called the roll of his generals, and when he got to General Walker, a plump, pleasant little man, Patton stormed: "You want to fight, don't you, Johnny?"

"Yes, sir; yes, sir," replied Johnny.

"Oh, Johnny is a fighting S-O-B," Patton said to General Bradley. "Aren't you a fighting S-O-B, Johnny?"

"Yes, sir; yes, sir," replied General Walker.

It should be noted, of course, that it was no disgrace to be bawled out by George Patton.

Oklahoma's Senator Elmer Thomas was amused, puzzled, but pleased when he heard that the United Dry leaders of Oklahoma had endorsed him for re-election. His amusement was doubtless due to the fact that he is well known on Capitol Hill as a two-handed drinker and connoisseur of good bourbon.

Meanwhile, Joyette Jones, the pretty Indian princess who is secretary of Thomas' agriculture committee and a close friend of Dyke Cullum's, is counted on to swing the Indian vote in Oklahoma.

To help bring out that vote, Thomas has cashed quite a few of his stocks and bonds lately, but Cullum seems confident that he can win all this back by taking a ride on the rising price of land and other fats which always get scarce during the war.

Note—In capitol cloakrooms, Senator Thomas, who toured Europe (and Sweden) last Summer, is sometimes called "the battle-scarred veteran of the European cocktail circuit."

Livestock Industry Growth Brings On Changes In Leasing

COLLEGE STATION—(P)—A vast increase in the livestock industry in Texas is causing a change in land leasing agreements.

C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist at Texas A&M College, came up with some interesting facts after a close study of the situation.

He said this change was brought about by the fact that 45 per cent of the state's agricultural income now comes from livestock whereas 25 years ago the farmer got only 20 per cent of his income from this source.

This situation, coupled with the fact that more than one-third of the farms are operated by tenants, is creating a great need for a practical long-term lease or rental agreement, Bates said.

Both landlords and tenants are interested in working out long-term rental agreements that will prove mutually beneficial to both. Involved are such items as the division of the initial cost of the breeding animals, the division of the income from livestock, how to divide the costs of improving pastures or sharing the supplementary pastures, soil building crops and the like.

Another Question

There also is the question of providing additional equipment in the form of fences, water facilities, barns and other equipment that is needed on most tenant operated farms before the livestock enterprise can be set up to the best advantage.

Bates said both parties must realize that through necessity the livestock rental contract must be for several years. The pastures and equipment can be improved slowly and this will in turn spread the expenditures over a long period and will not necessitate the borrowing of excessive amounts of money to get the business going.

Bates also pointed out that the kind of agreement will depend to a great extent upon the individuals making the contract but the important item is to keep the agreement and arrangements on a sound and practical basis.

He said several different types of rental agreements now are being tried and that county agriculture agents are working with landlord and tenants trying to work out on the ground the best and most mutually beneficial contracts possible.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —
By DALMON MENAIE

The market was active and strong on 370 head of cattle Thursday at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale.

Cattle were consigned from a wide area including El Paso and Monument, N. M. Cattle also came from Ward, Winkler, Reeves, Andrews, Ector, Crane, Upton, Glasscock, Dawson, Martin, Howard and several other counties.

Pat calves and yearlings sold for $25 to $30 while medium grades went at $22 to $25. Fat cows brought $20 to $23 and medium cows moved for $18 to $20. Canners and cutters auctioned at $14 to $18. Bulls were bid from $20 to $23.

No bunches of stocker cattle were offered. Steer calves brought $28 to $30 and heifer calves sold for $27 to $28. Steer yearlings went at $26 to $29.

Good rains throughout the majority of West Texas have taken the pressure off those growers who a few weeks ago were in the middle of a bad drought. The range picture has brightened along with the market scene.

Area market reports point to higher prices. Texas Livestock Marketing Association of Fort Worth contracted almost 2,000 Hereford calves last week for an average of 30 cents a pound. The 30 cent figure appears to be the going price on good calves for Fall delivery.

Meat production this Summer is expected to be about the same as that of last Summer, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Marketings of cattle may total less this Summer, preventing beef supplies from reaching last year's total until late this year. Barrows and gilts are about the same as last Summer.

Meat production during the last two and one-half years has increased in about the same proportion as the population. There has been little change in the annual per capita consumption. During the last quarter of this year consumption may increase along with the expected increase in last quarter production.

Texas farmers used seven per cent more chemical fertilizer in 1949 than they did in 1948, the National Fertilizer Association has announced. The 1949 total was 502,250 tons.

Total fertilizer consumption in the United States during 1949 came to 16,534,413 tons, topping the previous all-time record established in 1948 by more than three per cent.

Summer range and pasture feed in the Trans-Pecos area, Plateau and most southern counties has improved sharply during the last two weeks, the Texas Weekly Crop and Weather Bulletin reports. Some extreme southern counties, however, continued dry with cured range feed in some areas getting short. In northern and Plains counties rains added further to the already good moisture reserves. Native grass in these areas was producing abundant feed. All classes of livestock were doing well on the generally good and improving supply of green feed. Demand for stocker cows and calves was very active.

Cotton continued fruiting and making good growth with moisture conditions favorable in most areas. Harvest was near the peak in the Lower Valley and was becoming active in the Coastal Bend and a number of other southern counties. Insect damage was becoming serious over north central and northeastern counties as showery weather favored insects and delayed control measures. Excellent growth was made over the low rolling plains and southern high plains and early cotton was fruiting rapidly. Insects, particularly flea hoppers, were increasing in these areas and control practices were becoming more general.

Bollworm eggs are present in almost every cotton field in Reeves County, according to Jimmy Taylor, county agent.

During a check of the cotton fields over the county, Taylor also found worms on five farms and fleahoppers and lygus infestation in several fields.

Many of the farmers are spraying or dusting their cotton, Taylor reported. Most of them are using one of the three dusts or sprays. The spray contains two parts of toxaphene and one part of DDT. Two types of dust are being used. The 3-5-40 mixture and the 2-10-40 mixture both are popular with the Reeves farmers.

Bollworm eggs are beginning to hatch, according to Taylor, and if the farmers will check their cotton they will find the small worms coming from the eggs. Entomologists recommend dusting or spraying the cotton while the worms are in the early stage.

A few leaf worms have shown up in some of the fields. The infested fields are scattered over all portions of the county.

Approximately 1,000,000 members of farm families will be injured this year in their homes, and between 6,000 and 7,000 will be killed accidentally there. More than $90,000,000 in damage—much of it to homes—will be done to farm property by fire and 3,500 farm deaths will occur from that cause.

These figures, based on studies of the National Board of Farm Fire Underwriters and the National Safety Council, point up the need for a thorough home safety check during National Farm Safety Week, which begins Sunday.

The following suggestions are among those which have been advanced by the Safety Council in the interest of farm safety:

1. Check the condition of household furniture and tools, and either repair or discard those not in good condition. A rickety chair, a broken knife or a rug which curls at the edges can cause painful injuries.
2. Install hand rails for all stairs, especially those to the basement. Have dual light switches installed at the head and foot of stairs. A yard light will prevent accidents as a result of someone's walking into machinery, a clothes line or fence in the dark.
3. Check the kitchen for convenience and working ease. Work surfaces at proper heights, walls of such easily cleaned materials as clay tile, and labor-saving equipment reduce fatigue and thereby decrease the possibility of accidents.
4. Train small children to keep away from the kitchen stove and out of the kitchen itself, especially during the canning season and on laundry day.
5. Check to see that oily rags have not been left in the basement or work spaces. They can catch fire spontaneously and cause serious—possibly disastrous—damage to the home. Never use kerosene or gasoline for starting fires.
6. Replace porch floors that are in poor condition. A new floor of quarry tile on a cement base will be weatherproof and give the porch a note of color.
7. Clean and repair the chimney and flues now, while they are having light use. Do not burn them out with a hot fire, as you may set your house afire.

Advertise or be forgotten.

Hurricane lamps lighted the garden. The bride's table was laid with a sheer white organdy cloth over pink and was centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with handmade orchids with pink throats, rosebuds and lilies of the valley. On each side of the cake were pairs of double hurricane lamps entwined with fern and pink asters and roses. The corners of the table were draped with ribbon and illusion.

Included in the house party were Cynthia Barnes, Jo Ann Bryant, Patsy Fitch, Mary Jane Johanna, Beverly Newby, Donna Pace and Donna Whitcomb.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado and New Mexico, Mrs. Bailey was wearing a pink linen suit with white accessories and a gardenia corsage tied with pink illusion and satin. They will be at home in Dallas after their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gridley of Midland were included among the out-of-city guests.

Mrs. Bailey was graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School, Dallas. She attended Southern Methodist University and North Texas State College, Denton. Bailey attended Sunset High School, Arlington State College and North Texas State College. He served in the Navy during World War II.

University Student Sees World Through Topsy-Turvy Glasses

WICHITA, KAN.—(P)—He's looking at the world through topsy-turvy glasses—and it's making him a bit sick.

But Fred J. Snyder, 25-year-old GI graduate student at the University of Wichita, gets over his light spells of nausea quickly.

Snyder is wearing glasses that turn what he sees upside down and cross-wise.

It's part of an experiment attempting to prove that vision is something we learn—just like we learn to walk or to eat.

Snyder's psychology professor said he'd have several periods of nausea after putting the strange glasses on, due largely to nervousness.

In effect, Snyder will have to learn to live "diagonally."

"We are going to observe and record what happens to a person when you disrupt his habitual way of looking at things," said Dr. H. N. Pronko, Wichita University psychology professor.

"We feel that Fred will adjust to seeing things upside down after a few weeks."

To Strengthen Thesis

"That will help strengthen the thesis that we learn to see just as we learn to read, write or eat."

The experiment will continue for 30 days.

He'll practice with a peg board—writing, reading, walking straight lines.

When he sees an upside-down hand sticking out toward him from upper left, he's going to have to learn to reach down and to the right to grasp it.

Then—the test over—he's going to have to unlearn it all, when he takes off the special glasses.

When Snyder first put on the glasses he had a bit of trouble descending stairs at the university and walking along the hall.

Lights On Floor

"It's funny—they're putting the lights on the floor now," he commented jokingly.

At lunch—in an off-campus restaurant where people stared—he didn't knock anything over.

"But he had trouble reaching for things like the salt shaker, and difficulty finding the food on his plate with his fork," a co-worker chuckled.

"It's a very strange world," Snyder admitted.

Snyder's brother Charlie—21 and a Wichita University junior also interested in psychology—will serve as his guide on the campus and on a "shopping" trip downtown.

Pioneer Cites Big Gain In Air Traffic

DALLAS—Passengers carried the first six months of 1950 in comparison to the same period in 1949 increased 21 per cent over the Pioneer Air Lines system, Harding L. Lawrence, vice president of traffic and sales, has announced.

Pioneer transported a total of 48,600 passengers the first six months of 1949 and in 1950, the number increased to 58,639. The company carried a total of 104,112 passengers during 1949, Lawrence pointed out.

During the same comparative periods, passenger miles increased 20 per cent from 13,223,025 to 15,828,573 passenger miles.

Lawrence said that Pioneer completed 99.03 per cent of all flights scheduled during the first half of 1950 in comparison to an operating factor of 93.86 per cent for the like period in 1949.

Air Mail volume increased 15 per cent from 41,101 ton miles to 47,107 ton miles this year and air freight leaped upward 132 per cent from 26,915 ton miles in 1949 to 62,528 ton miles in 1950. Air express was up 68 per cent for the first six months of 1950; from 12,872 ton miles to 21,589 ton miles.

Faith of Our Fathers

The men and women who built America had profound faith in a Divine Providence. They believed the Government they founded here in a new land would be protected by this Providence.

They believed prosperity to be the product of hard work and right thinking.

The church was as much a part of their living as the bread they ate.

Upon these broad principles they built the greatest government and the greatest prosperity man has ever known.

Is it not possible there was some foundation for the faith of our fathers?

In this time when there is so much misunderstanding and fear, would it not be a good idea to turn again to this faith of our fathers?

Faith in God and in man, hard work, devotion to religion and church... these things are the foundation of a great America. They are the strongest protection against poverty and communism.

Sweeping Lines, 3 Bedrooms

Covered front and rear porches; separate dining-room plus dining alcove in kitchen; 3 bedrooms; center hall with vestibule entrance; 27 living-room with panoramic window, mahogany paneled fireplace and paneled wall, are features of this expansive ranch-style home. It has full basement. The artistic exterior combines stone, vertical and horizontal siding. Interior walls are plaster, flooring is oak. Windows are tilted and double-hung styles. Large closets have sliding doors; bathroom has built-in vanity table. Dining alcove has picture window, is divided from kitchen by serving bar. House is heated by hot water heating plant, fully protected in wall and roof areas by mineral wool insulation, highest efficiency at lowest cost will be realized from the heating plant. This non-combustible insulation in wall which divides garage from main body of house also provides fire protection.

Construction Of Wall Is Most Important To Home

By HENRY J. WINGATE
Nationally-Known Architect And Engineer

The prospective home buyer or builder always should look closely at wall construction because it is one of the four principal elements in determining whether a structure is well-built. The others are foundation, floors and roof.

There are three basic wall types: wood frame, masonry veneer over frame, and solid masonry. They are used singly and in combination. Frame walls are most widely used because they are lowest in cost; but masonry veneer, including brick, stone and stucco, is a close second. Solid masonry rarely is found except in the most expensive houses.

Wood Frame
Wood frame is essentially a system of vertical wood studs, covered on the outside by sheathing, which in turn is covered with building paper and then siding.

Well-seasoned lumber should be used and the wall should be as rigid as possible. Unseasoned materials will shrink and cause cracks. Studs of 2x4 material should be spaced no further apart than 16 inches, center to center, and secured at the top by two 2x4's nailed together as a plate to support joists for the second floor or rafters for the roof. Each corner should be braced by nailing 1x4's or 2x4's diagonally across the studs. Sheathing may be boards, plywood or rigid fiber board nailed to the outside edge of the studs. If boards are used they should be placed diagonally for added rigidity.

Choice of siding depends on desired design effect. Materials include: wood clapboards, wood shingles, composition shingles, or metal shingles or clapboards.

Veneer Walls
Veneer walls are merely one course of brick, stone or stucco applied to the outside of the sheathing.

Hollow walls must be firestopped to prevent spread of flames through these natural flues. This is done by placing short lengths of lumber or gypsum block between the studs or by filling the space with fire-proof mineral wool insulation.

In a house of average construction there is only an inch or so of lath and plaster and about the same thickness of sheathing and siding between the living quarters and the outside temperature. Hence, the hollow space should be insulated to retain heat in winter and exclude it in summer. This is best done by fastening a thin blanket of mineral insulating material, such as mineral wool, between the studs as the house goes up. In existing houses modulated insulation may be blown into wall spaces to provide the necessary protection.

Complexion Provides Valuable Guide For Bath Color Schemes

Are the colors in your bathroom right for you?

Whether your face looks pleasant and cheerful in the bathroom mirror or pale and wan depends not so much on your mood as on the setting you see reflected there, points out a Title Council of America color report. Colors can either enhance or detract from your appearance, so choose them carefully and well.

If you and other members of the family are fair-skinned, the walls of your bath should be blue, peach, green or yellow. These shades nicely complement light skin tones. Tans, browns and aquamarines, on the other hand, will set off brunettes to best advantage.

Limit the colors in the bathroom, so it will not seem "busy" and confused. If you select colored plumbing fixtures for a new or remodeled bath, match their hue in the clay tile for floor and walls.

Other Suggestions
If you wish two colors in the bathroom, paint the ceiling, built-in cupboards and space above the tilework with the second. You then can change the color scheme merely by doing these parts of the room over in another shade.

Avoid intense colors for the bath. They seem to hem in a room and therefore make the occupant uneasy. Finish the tiled wainscot with a cap of the same color, rather than black or a contrasting shade. The room then will seem larger. Remember that accessories play an important part in the bathroom color scheme. A bathroom in grey for instance, may seem monotonous, but put in towels, shower curtain and mat of a good clear yellow and it will fairly sparkle. Change the color of these accessories, and you can change the color scheme successfully and easily.

Durable Flooring Pays In Long Run, Builders Declare

Builders assert that while savings usually can be effected in construction of a home by substituting certain materials for others, it often is unwise to do so. For such vital, permanent parts as the flooring, for instance, they advise selection of a material of proved superior performance. In the long run such flooring is more economical, builders say.

They point out that the major qualities to look for in desirable residential flooring include strength, durability, comfort, resistance to wear, attractiveness and ease of maintenance.

The general preference for hardwood floors is due to the fact that they possess an unusual combination of those qualities. Of the various species of hardwood flooring available, oak is used most extensively.

Old Closets Give Way To New Ideas

The old-fashioned, all-purpose storage closet has lost out. Closets now are planned and organized to perform special storage functions, such as providing space for bridge-tables, ironing - boards, vacuum-cleaners and step-ladders.

In a bedroom, fitted wardrobes, with sliding doors save space and transform the old-time closet into a functional, easy-to-use part of the room.

The handy kitchen counter, with drawers or shelves in the lower part, also is moving into the bedroom as functional equipment. Sectional units of both wardrobes and cabinets give custom-built efficiency.

Improvement Loans Gain In Popularity

WASHINGTON, D. C.—One dollar out of every six of loan insurance written by the Federal Housing Administration is for the repair, alteration, and improvement of existing properties.

The typical property improvement loan insured by FHA during 1949 provided the borrower with $883; had a maturity of 364 months; and was used to improve a single-family dwelling, according to the annual report of the Federal Housing Administration, which is to be released soon.

"Directly benefiting 1 1/2 million American families, the Federal Housing Administration insured private financial institutions in 1949 against loss on unsecured loans aggregating $607 million for the repair, alteration and improvement of existing properties," Franklin D. Richards, FHA commissioner, said.

This 1949 total—only two per cent below the 1948 all-time-high—was a continuation of postwar record activity under Title I of the National Housing Act.

In recent years, the annual volume under this modernization plan has been almost triple its prewar level; and, between 1946 and 1948 alone, the annual rate doubled.

Although property in every one of the almost 3,100 counties in the United States has been improved under the Title I program, there is a fairly high geographic concentration of these operations. From the inauguration of this program in 1934 through 1949, property in six heavily populated states accounted for half of all Title I insurance written. These states include New York, California, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

As of the end of 1949, national banks were the leading type of institution financing Title I loans, accounting for 42 per cent of the total amount financed by all institutions from 1934 through 1949, followed by state chartered banks and finance companies which each accounted for 25 per cent of the total. Savings and loan associations and other types made up the remaining two per cent.

About 23 per cent of the cash disbursed in 1949 by the 4,000 financial institutions operating with Title I insurance was used for heating systems, 16 per cent for additions and alterations to properties, 16 per cent for exterior finish such as paint, 12 per cent for insulation and the remainder for plumbing and other purposes.

DON'T BE CAUGHT WITH INCOMPLETE CONSTRUCTION PLANS—

GET WHAT YOU NEED NOW!

Only six short years ago a "Priority" was required for purchases of lumber, wire, and allied building materials. Scarcities created by pent-up demand during the war have not yet been fully overcome, but already we are again faced with possible controls on building of all kinds.

Within the past 10 days the lumber market has become almost chaotic, with prices advancing at an alarming rate... and very short supply in many lines. More stringent restrictions on government-insured loans have already been announced, effective August 1st.

Today we have a plentiful supply of almost any item used in building; we can sell it to you in unlimited quantities, for any use you desire. Next week—or next month—that condition may be drastically changed. If you are building now, or planning to build soon, we earnestly suggest that you get all your materials now, while they are still available without restrictions.

CHANGES ALREADY ANNOUNCED IN IMPROVEMENT AND MODERNIZATION LOANS

The convenient program of "No Money Down—36 Months To Pay" which has been in effect on loans covering home repair, modernization, and other improvements, comes to an end July 31. Two Sisters—

 tude a trip to the Scandinavian countries.
 interested in Education
 "Since both women hold teaching degrees—Mrs. Sidwell a B. A. in English from the University of Minnesota, and Mrs. Sager a B. A. in English with a French minor from the University of Wisconsin—the two are highly interested in educational conditions in the European countries. Both are members of the Midland chapter of the American Association of University Women and plan to carry a little "chapter spirit" to England when they contact members of the International Federation of University Women.

Mrs. Sidwell, who has served on the Midland School Board for the last year with a two-year term remaining, said she believes observation of the European school systems will be of great benefit to her in continuing her work here.

Mrs. Sager smiled and said that while she was interested in the school system in general it was the "cooking end of it" that appealed to her.

Kitchen And School

"Frances loves to teach," she said, "but my interest is being in the kitchen figuring out how to serve dozens of people. When it comes to cooking a small meal, that's another matter."

She said she and Sager had developed "quite a business" during the depression years and after, managing fraternity and sorority kitchens at Champagne, Ill.

"We called it the Sager Commissary Service," she added.

Although Mrs. Sidwell and Mrs. Sager have many things in common—community functions, love of music and art, and grandchildren—they are vastly different in personality.

Mrs. Sager is interested in gardening. She likes "all work in flowers, lots of color and perennials." Mrs. Sidwell works in the garden to achieve an end result. Mrs. Sager's "forte" is institutional management and cooking on a large scale. Mrs. Sidwell likes family cooking. "I'd rather make pastries than anything, but they're so fattening," she said. Both are fine bridge players.

One of Mrs. Sidwell's chief activities during the last year was attending the creative writing group of AAUW. She said she had sold one story "a long time ago to the American Magazine in a contest."

Mrs. Sager has served during the last year as president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Midland Memorial Hospital. She said auxiliary work has achieved a definite purpose. "The work is satisfying because we have been able to contribute to the hospital," she said.

The group has bought sewing machines for the hospital's sewing room; made all the draperies and accessories for the parlors of the Nurses' Home and have made at least 2,000 sterilizing bags.

On the last lap of the European trip the two will sail for England. The Goodmans will accompany them and an extensive tour of the British Isles is in prospect. Then, on October 17 Mrs. Sidwell and Mrs. Sager will sail on the Queen Elizabeth for New York City.

The sisters laughed at the question: "How did you ever survive making reservations and buying tickets and booking passage and finding out the right railroad to take and . . . ?"

"No trouble at all," Mrs. Sidwell said. "The General Travel Agency here in Midland has arranged everything."

Mrs. Sager added that "everything" included a letter requesting tickets to the radio show "Stop the Music."

While in New York the sisters will take a trip around Manhattan Island: tour Chinatown and the Eastside, and they hope to see a few Broadway plays.

"If we're lucky," Mrs. Sidwell said, "we may get to see South Pacific." Although departure time still is two weeks off Mrs. Sager is somewhat apprehensive about the days slipping by since she is trying to help her husband rush through to completion by August 1, six more units of their Bel Air Courts. Mrs. Sidwell said the Sidwell-Tinler Drilling Company probably would keep her husband fairly well occupied even after she leaves, but she was a little worried about leaving the sisters' 91-year-old mother, Mrs. Mary Mooney, who lives at the Sidwell's.

Still Planning

And what about the husbands during the three months absence? Mrs. Sidwell looked at Mrs. Sager as though that question had been the object of several family conferences.

"That's what we wonder," they said.

The Korean situation? The sister said they have thought about that, too.

But they're going to go ahead with plans "unless we're stopped."

Service League, JayCees In Sewer Connection Program

The Midland Service League has joined with the Junior Chamber of Commerce in conducting a sewage outlet program in Midland.

The JayCees, headed by Duffy Stanley, have been making a survey of homes near sewer lines which have not been connected. The Service League will help with the survey and arrange for several connections to be made to existing sewer lines.

The aim of the two organizations is to obtain 100 per cent connections to the city's sewage system and eliminate such health hazards as cess pools and outdoor toilets.
