Gas-Distillate Pay Found In C-E Irlon

Wilshire Oil Company and Balboa Oil Company of Midland No. 1 Lawrence D. Brooks apparently has tapped a gas-distillate pool in Central East Irlon County.

On a drillstem test at 5,985-75 feet, per Pennsylvania, the tool was possibly in the Fry sand of the upper two hours. Gas appeared at the surface in 59 minutes, continuing in a strong blow throughout the remainder of the test.

Gas was estimated at the rate of 100,000 cubic feet per day at the start of the blow and increased to 200,000 cubic feet per day by the end of the test.

Distillate Sprayed
Distillate also sprayed out with the gas. The distillate spray was estimated at eight to 10 gallons per 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

Recovery was 200 feet of heavily gas and distillate cut mud. Flowing bottom hole pressure was 150 pounds. Shutin pressure after 15 minutes was 3,000 pounds.

The venture is reported to be coring deeper.

The No. 1 Brooks is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 21, block 3, H&TCo survey. It is one and three-fourths miles west of the Tom Green County line.

Offset To Magnolia Discovery In Lynn Has Spraberry Signs

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 W. W. Caswell, Southeast Lynn County exploration, one-quarter of a mile west of the discovery well of the O'Donnell field, has found a good show of possible production in the Spraberry sand of the lower Permian.

The opener of the O'Donnell field was completed from the Pennsylvania limestone at 8,615-30 feet, for an initial daily production of 244.61 barrels of 42.2 gravity oil, flowing through a 2 1/2 inch tubing choke.

Magnolia's No. 1 Caswell drillstem tested in the Spraberry at 5,990-6,071 feet. A five-eighths inch bottom hole choke, and a one inch top opening were used.

Good Oil Show
The tool was open four hours. Recovery was 957 feet of oil and gas cut mud. The top 180 feet of that fluid was almost mud cut oil. The bottom 270 feet of the fluid was heavily gas cut, but it had no signs of oil.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from 175 to 490 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure after 20 minutes was 1,760 pounds.

The oil which was developed during the test was good-looking yellow petroleum.

The project is to core deeper.

A Little Lower
Top of the Spraberry is at 5,943 feet, which is on a datum of minus 3,088 feet. That makes it 28 feet low to the same point in the O'Donnell discovery.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 431, block 9, K&LRR survey.

Martin Test Stops In Ellenburger, To Retest Spraberry

Spartan Drilling Company and associates No. 1 Wolcott, Northwest Martin County wildcat, 13 miles northwest of Lenora, developed sulphur water in the Ellenburger without finding any shows of possible petroleum production in that horizon.

The prospector is expected to plug back to about 8,000 feet and make tests on the Spraberry sand of the lower Permian above that point.

That formation showed some good signs of possibly making an oil well on drillstem test. None of the horizon below it offered any prospects of production.

Ellenburger Recovery
The sulphur water in the Ellenburger came during a drillstem test at 12,680-798 feet. The tool was open one hour.

Recovery was the 1,500-foot water blanket, 365 feet of sulphur water cut drilling mud and 950 feet of clear sulphur water. There were no signs of oil or gas.

Location is 5,864 feet from west and 1,471.8 feet from north lines of league 251, Ward County School Land survey.

Top of the Ellenburger was called at 12,570 feet, which is on a datum of minus 9,677 feet.

C-N Garza Slated For Ellenburger Wildcat

H. H. Coffield of Rockdale and others have staked an Ellenburger wildcat in extreme Central-North Garza County, 13 miles north and slightly east of Post.

The slated 8,500-foot venture will be Coffield and others No. 1 Lillian Schneider, located 660 feet from (Continued On Page Seven)

$1,000,000 Bond Ballot Set Sept. 9

Midland County Commissioners Monday afternoon accepted a petition signed by 65 Midland property owners and, as requested, called a special $1,000,000 bond issue election for September 9.

The bond funds, if made available, will be used to match a Texas Highway Commission appropriation of $417,200 for the proposed improving of North Front Street from east to west city limits, and for a proposed Big Spring Street grade separation and drainage project. Some of the bond money also would finance the acquisition of additional right-of-way for the possible widening of U. S. Highway 80 to the east county line.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee voted recently to request the Commission Court to call a bond election as soon as possible. Chamber directors also have endorsed the proposal.

The State Highway Department has agreed to do the engineering and construction of the Front Street highway from curb to curb, and to participate in the Big Spring Street grade separation project. The T&P Railway also will participate in the grade separation job.

The State Highway Commission members, approved state participation in the projects after they had inspected the traffic and drainage situation here during their visit to the Midland Rodeo in June.

Under existing plans, drawn up by city and county officials, Front Street would become a dispersal route for traffic through the city. Adequate facilities also would be provided to relieve a critical drainage problem in downtown Midland.

Engineering Details Not Yet Definite

The position of the Chamber of Commerce and its Highway Committee concerning the proposed Big Spring Street grade separation project is explained by President Robert L. Wood in a communication mailed to the organization's membership Monday.

"Underpass or Overpass" is the subject of Wood's message, which follows:

"The purpose of this letter is to make clear the position of the Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as the position of the board of directors, concerning the choice of an underpass or an overpass at Big Spring Street and the T&P Railroad. Preliminary Survey

"The State Highway Department has approved and authorized the engineers to make a preliminary survey of the proposed grade separation. He did only enough work to give us a rough estimate of the cost of both an underpass and an overpass. It was on these figures that we were able to base the amount of the bond issue which the County Court has been asked to call.

"When the bond issue carries the State Highway Department will do the specific engineering that will be necessary for such a project. It will involve drainage, right-of-way and all of the other technical aspects of such an undertaking. After this engineering is done they will submit to the City Council and County Court a plan, with estimated costs, of the entire cost (drainage, right-of-way and all) of BOTH an underpass and an overpass. In all probability the State Highway Department will be asked to pay the balance of the cost.

"The State Highway Department will be asked to pay the balance of the cost of the underpass or overpass. In all probability the State Highway Department will be asked to pay the balance of the cost.

Seven 'Candidates' Withdraw From Demo Committeeman Races

Seven persons whose names had been submitted for Democratic precinct committeemen in Saturday's election withdrew from runoff races Monday, narrowing the field of candidates and leaving runoff contests in only two of the seven Midland County voting precincts. Louis A. Bartha, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, announced the withdrawals.

In Precinct 1, George R. Hyatt and J. P. McHargue asked that their names be withdrawn, leaving Allen Wemple as the nominee. The trio received one vote each in Saturday's voting.

Mrs. A. W. Logsdon and Tom Wingo withdrew as Precinct 5 candidates, leaving J. L. Davidson and W. E. Pigg to fight it out in a runoff contest. In the first primary, Davidson received two votes, and the others one each.

Four-Way Bout
A four-way runoff contest was averted in Precinct 6 when John P. Butler, E. H. Stone and Ray Koen withdrew, leaving the nomination with W. A. Yeager, incumbent. Yeager had four votes and Butler, Stone and Koen two each in Saturday's balloting. Four other candidates received one vote each.

In Precinct 7, Herbert Marshall faces Paul Davis in a runoff. Marshall received 12 votes, and Davis 3 in the recent primary. Four other persons received two write-in votes each, and eight others had one vote each.

Rail Line Blasted In Anti-Leopoldist Section Of Belgium

BRUSSELS — (AP) — The main railway line between Namur and Brussels was dynamited in two places Tuesday.

The explosions occurred near the towns of Genval and Lesne in French-speaking Walloon—the section of Belgium where opposition to the return of King Leopold III to the throne has been strongest.

Telephone lines in the district also were cut during the night.

Since Leopold came back last Saturday there has been a series of minor bombings.

Tuesday's dynamiting, which put the rail line out of commission for several hours, happened shortly before Parliament was to convene to hear a message from the monarch.

DALLAS — (AP) — Charles McLellan of Eagle Lake moved ahead of John C. White of Wichita Falls Tuesday in the battle to go into a runoff with incumbent Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald. The noon tabulation of the Texas Election Bureau gave McLellan 194,877, White 194,440.

Atlantic Partners Start Rearmament Drive Plans

LONDON — (AP) — The United States Tuesday called on her Atlantic Pact partners to rearm quickly for the sake of world peace, warning that the West must not be caught napping again by Communist aggression.

It was learned Charles M. Spofford, U. S. member, told the first meeting of the Atlantic Alliance Council that Korea has shown communism would not hesitate to pass from subversion to armed aggression. He called for Western vigilance and a quick increase in military strength.

The meeting was secret and only a non-committal communique was issued at the end of the session. It reported merely that, for reasons of military security, the deputies' work would be conducted behind closed doors.

Spofford, a New York lawyer, was named chairman of the 12-nation permanent civilian high command. The council was created in May by the foreign ministers of the 12 countries, who had called for "tangible results" by Fall.

Stepped Up Schedule
Proposed by events in Korea, the delegates mapped a program to cut a four-year rearmament schedule to two years.

The session is expected to last four or five days, but the council is subject to recall at any time.

A major question before the council is whether military security, involving a big-scale arms program, can be bought without cutting into Europe's economic recovery.

The original 1954 target date was built on the theory Western Europe could rearm by then without cutting into its rising standard of living.

The European members of the pact, bruised and battered by World War II, are afraid if they have to start full-steam production of guns, tanks and planes they will fall behind in civilian production.

The American answer to this fear, qualified informants say, is that Europe can expand military production without cutting into its peace-time needs by working longer hours.

Snyder Sees Higher Taxes During 1950

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Snyder Tuesday said higher taxes probably will take a bigger bite out of wage earners' pay envelopes before the end of the year.

Snyder told a news conference he is "sure" President Truman will ask Congress this week to raise individual and corporation taxes. The money would go to pay costs of defense to meet Communist aggression in Korea and elsewhere.

Congressional approval would mean bigger withholding taxes from employe paychecks.

Snyder said Truman's request would be for an "interim" tax increase to go into effect as soon as possible.

The secretary said he is in accord with congressional leaders that no excess profits tax on corporations should be included in the interim bill because the measure should be passed quickly. He said excess profits tax proposals are so complicated they would mean extended and delaying debate.

Snyder also endorsed proposals to hold excise (sales) taxes at their present levels, close loopholes to garner more taxes, and speed up payment of corporation income taxes.

Sawyer Hints At Need For Greater Economic Powers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer Tuesday said the economic controls powers the Administration is asking may not be enough. He declared greater powers will be needed if military spending is increased further.

Sawyer was before the Senate Banking Committee to urge that Congress quickly give President Truman the controls he has asked. These include powers to parcel out scarce materials to industries, to say how these materials shall be used, to stop production of any item, and to fix the terms of credit sales.

Midland Girl Struck By Hit-Run Driver

Linda Davis, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Davis, 711 North Colorado Street, suffered minor injuries Monday afternoon when she was struck by a truck at the intersection of Kansas and North Big Spring Street. The truck did not stop, according to police.

An area-wide alarm and a description of the hit-run vehicle was broadcast over the police radio.

Prospect Of Global War Real

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Representative Vinson (D-Ga) said Tuesday "A global war is a real, distinct possibility at any time" and American forces must be built up for that possibility.

Vinson, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, made the statement in a speech prepared for House delivery in support of a bill which would add a year to the service period of enlisted men now in the armed forces.

A House vote was expected later in the day.

The enlistment "freeze" already has passed the Senate.

The House also expected to take a vote later on legislation to lift all limits from the size of the armed forces.

On a speed-up schedule, it may vote next week on giving the armed forces the $10,486,976,000 in additional money asked for them by President Truman.

U. S. 'Seriously Short'
Vinson said the United States is "seriously short" at present in "standing military strength" and he questioned whether the expansion program the Administration has begun will be enough.

He said he is not satisfied with the plans for increasing the size of the Navy and the Air Force "for I believe there is too much conservatism in the program."

Vinson said Russia outnumbered the United States seven to one in tanks, more than 17 to one in military manpower and has almost 300 submarines and "a vast air force."

On the U. S. side of the military ledger, he said there are these assets:

"Governmentally, we are far stronger than our potential enemies . . . in any long term effort"

Tex Moore, 84, Official Cowboy Artist, Is Dead

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — John Marcellus (Tex) Moore, 84, one-time trail driver and Indian scout and the official cowboy artist of Texas, died here Tuesday.

Moore was well known for his vivid landscapes and his colorful past. He was a cowboy, Indian fighter, gold miner, stage-coach driver. He lost a fortune in the great blizzard of 1897 in Montana. He even ran a dude ranch once, in Colorado. And over the years he painted hundreds of pictures which carried his signature to all sections of the United States.

By resolution, in 1935, the Texas Legislature made him the state's official cowboy artist.

He had continued painting in his last years the wild lakes and mountains of Montana and Wyoming. But he always called Texas his home.

He spent years in Montana, Wyoming and New Mexico. He had studios in Yellowstone Park and at Ruidoso, N. M.

Bomb Explosion Shakes Detroit Hotel

DETROIT — (AP) — A crude bomb exploded Monday night at the Berkshire Hotel here.

None of the 220 guests was hurt. Police said the bomb was placed next to the five-story hotel in an alley.

Jittery residents rushed into the streets in terror. Some said they feared a bombing attack.

One Arm Of Pincers Aims At Port City

TOKYO — (AP) — American ground forces abandoned Yongdong Tuesday, withdrawing under frenzied Communist attacks on that center position of the narrowing American defense perimeter in Southeast Korea.

Elements of the First Cavalry Division, which had stood up throughout the day against wave after wave of enemy assaults along the Taeyon-Yongdong highway, finally quit Yongdong for new, undisclosed positions.

General MacArthur's early-morning operational release Wednesday conceded that the North Korean invaders were continuing their pressure despite heavy losses and severed communications.

This release said "Further withdrawals may be necessary" but did not include the withdrawal from Hongdong late Tuesday, which field dispatches already had reported.

General MacArthur's early-morning release listed eight Communist divisions on the offensive, starting in the far southwest corner with the enemy Fourth Division.

50,000 Red Attackers
The others, ranged from west to east, were listed in this order: the Third, Second, Fifteenth, First, Eighth, Seventh and Fifth. If at full strength, the enemy force would total close to 50,000 men, since Red divisions previously have been officially estimated to contain about 6,000 each.

The rampaging Reds of the Fourth Division had sheared off all the western and southwestern side of the Korean Peninsula and turned towards Pusan, American supply port 100 air miles to the east.

MacArthur reported one minor advance for the South Korean defenders; a one-mile gain by "friendly forces" north of Kangju on the east coast. This would put them three miles south of Red-held Yongdok, a coastal town not to be confused with Yongdong.

Yongdong was abandoned after a fierce day-long fight. Most of the U. S. troops got out safely. But troops on the flanks were trapped

Navy Planes Hit Reds In South Korea

TOKYO — (AP) — A combined U. S. and British Navy task force sent carrier planes across the southwestern tip of Korea Tuesday in a surprise attack to stop advancing Red columns.

A headquarters announcement said the Naval pilots struck at front-line targets in the area of Kwangju, near the southwest coast. Red forces there had been pushing an apparent flanking drive aimed at American communications with Pusan, U. S. supply base on the southeastern coast.

The American pilots flew Panther jets, Sky Raiders and Corsairs. The operation was planned only 24 hours before as the Reds seized all of the western and southwestern part of the country. The Reds advance there showed the United Nations forces into an ever-narrowing perimeter to the east.

Britons Furnish Cover
British planes maintained a protective cover for the American Naval fliers.

The air strikes were made on targets of opportunity which the headquarters announcement did not specify.

It was reported that the raid was made at the request of U. S. Army field officers who have been watching closely the wide flanking swing of the Red column into Kwangju, less than 30 miles from the coast.

The combined task force was commanded by Vice Adm. Arthur D. Struble. He had just returned with his ships from recent air strikes at targets north of the 38th parallel, which divides North and South Korea.

Operations were directed by Rear Adm. John M. Hoskins.

The task force turned around on short notice after refueling earlier at sea. For the first time in the Korean campaign a rearming ship came alongside as the task force was proceeding to its new operation. In less than eight hours it transferred bombs and rockets directly to the racks of the waiting airplanes.

Judy Holliday Heads Back To New York For New Play

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Judy Holliday is gonna wash that girl right out of her hair.
After completing the movie version of "Born Yesterday," she heads back to New York for a new play and a change of pace from Billie Dawn, the nit-wit blonde goldigger.
Judy played the part for 1200 performances on Broadway before Hollywood decided she was the type. Now she says:
"I've had enough of Billie. Now I have to get a play to prove that I'm not just a dumb blonde."
The play is ready. Judy will play "a plain woman who thinks she isn't in love with her husband."
Alan Hale, Jr., finally has licked the jinx of being the son of a famous actor and gets the best opportunity of his career in Warner's "The West Point Story." Alan told me:
"For a long time I was just a curiosity around Hollywood. Producers kept asking me if I was as good as my old man and I'd stand there looking dumb. I didn't get any parts, either. Finally I got mad. The next time a producer asked me the question, I said, 'Of course, I'm not as good as my father, you stupid goat!' I haven't had any trouble since then."

The Alger Story
Stanley Kramer says he'll film a movie titled "Horatio Alger." Horatio has starred in a few thousand movies, but no one ever called him by his right name.
... What must have seemed like good casting at the time seems very incongruous today. "Beau Geste" is being released and Donald O'Connor plays Gary Cooper as a boy.
Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin are out to prove that bossman Hal Wallis has been wrong in separating them in the "Irma" series.
"We'll work as a real team in our independent," Dean says. "We hardly had any scenes together in the 'Irma' pictures." Look for MGM to toss Howard Keel into the swimming pool with Esther Williams again. Howard didn't need any water wings to keep up with Esther's underwater antics in "Pagan Love Song."
"He's good," says Esther. "Van Johnson used to spot somebody hobnobbing or limping down the street and say 'Hi-mum, another of Esther's leading men.'"
Annie On The Run
Ann Sheridan is cooking up another independent to follow "Woman On The Run" and plans to be a nose-to-the-grindstone movie queen from now on. There's not a single worry-frown in Ann's forehead over the money that she's sunk into "Woman On The Run." "I think we're okeh," she grinned.
Gene Nelson is pleading with Warner for a giddy-yup part in a western but the studio is keeping him in dancing shoes. ... Tip to new photographers: Ella Raines has learned how to water-ski at Lake Arrowhead—on only one ski.

Ginger Rogers can stick to tennis and Jane Wyman can go on slugging golf balls around, but Doris Day is going all out to be midget-town's volleyball whiz. She told me on the set of "The West Point Story":
"I like to have a reason for using my swimming pool. That's why I'm having a volleyball court built. One game and I'm ready to dive into the pool."
Doris is vague about the date of her amble to the altar with agent Marty Misher.
"We're going to be married," says Doris, "but when I don't know."

McMath, Laney Are Top Contenders In Arkansas Primary

LITTLE ROCK —(AP)—Arkansas' next governor probably will be chosen Tuesday.
The consensus is that either Gov. Sid McMath, seeking a second term, or former Gov. Ben Laney, candidate for a third term which has been recorded only one chief executive in recent history, will win the Democratic nomination in Tuesday's preferential primary.
In solidly Democratic Arkansas, election of Democratic nominees in November usually is little more than a formality.
Nomination must be by majority vote. If no candidate receives a majority, the two high men run again in the August 8 primary.
Slightly more than 455,000 persons are eligible to vote and some estimates of the probable vote run up to 375,000.
Four candidates are in the race for governor but only two are major contenders—McMath, a friend of President Truman and supporter of the regular Democratic Party, and Laney, national States' Rights leader and unyielding foe of the President's civil rights program.
Two Other Candidates
Laney, former mayor of Camden, Ark., and briefly a candidate for the Democratic nomination as President at the Philadelphia Convention in 1948, served two terms as governor—1945 to 1949. He did not seek reelection and was succeeded on Jan. 1, 1949, by McMath.
Both McMath and Laney have pitched their campaign largely on a domestic plane—roads, schools and taxes—and their respective records in office.
The other two candidates for governor are J. L. Harris and M. G. Bankston. Each has done little campaigning.
Also on Tuesday's primary ballot are races for nomination as lieutenant governor, state treasurer, and two unexpired Supreme Court judgeships.

"Well," sighed Hard Luck Joe, "we have one consolation. We bid the hand right."
"That's a wonderful consolation," moaned North, "but I have no right to complain. I ought to have my head examined for bidding a slam when I have you for a partner."
"Ain't it the truth?" Joe assented, not without pride. "Other people get a break now and then, but I'm unlucky all the time. Do you realize that, with the spade finesse working, all I need is a 3-3 break in spades, diamonds or clubs. Even if the spade finesse lost, I'd still be all right if either clubs or diamonds broke. The odds must be terrifically in favor of the slam."
In the play, West had opened the queen of hearts, and Joe looked over the situation for a moment or two. Then he led the jack of spades from the dummy. East covered with the king and South won with the ace.

Joe next cashed the queen and ten of spades, discovering that West still had a high spade. He then hopefully tried three rounds of diamonds and three rounds of clubs, discovering in each case that East controlled the fourth round of the suit. All he could do was take his ace of hearts and surrender the last two tricks.
Do you think that Joe was unlucky? If not, where did he go wrong—in the bidding or in the play? Decide for yourself before you read on.
There was nothing wrong with the bidding. The opening bid of one club is the standard procedure with a hand of that type. It is not strong enough for one no-trump, and an opening bid of one spade might make it difficult for South to find a rebid. After opening with one club, South has no problem in rebidding.
North certainly had every right to wind up in a slam contract when he held 41/2 honor tricks opposite an opening bid. The slam at no-trump was a sound contract, and no suit contract would have been any better.
Perhaps Joe was unlucky in finding no suits breaking. However, he should have made his contract in spite of this.
After winning the first trick with the king of hearts, Joe should have led a low spade from dummy. The finesse of the queen or ten of spades would hold, and Joe would get back to dummy with a diamond to lead dummy's remaining low spade. East would have to play his king on this, and South would win with the ace. Dummy's jack of spades would therefore make a trick. With four tricks in spades, Joe would have had no trouble in taking twelve tricks.
It is sometimes necessary to lead a high card for a finesse. For example, when you are short of entries to the dummy, the high card should be led: It enables you to hold the lead in dummy if the honor is not covered. When you have as many entries as you need to dummy, however, there is no need to lead a high card. The low card should then be led on the chance that the missing honor will fall on the first or second round.

39 Bodies Removed From Wreckage Of C-47 Transport Plane

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. —(AP)—Thirty-nine bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of an Army Air Force transport plane which crashed near here Sunday, the Air Force reports.
First reports placed the death toll at 34—30 Tennessee Air National Guardsmen and four Air Reserve crewmen from Florida.
Late Monday, however, Capt. E. S. Wood, public information officer at Shaw Air Force Base in Sumter, S. C., said five additional bodies had been recovered from the wreckage.
He said the five additional victims probably were military hitchhikers.
Roll Call Begun
At Nashville, Tenn., officials began a "roll call" of guardsmen known to have returned from the Myrtle Beach maneuvers to determine if the five additional dead were Tennesseans. Guard officers said they expected to complete the check some time Tuesday.
Meanwhile an Army Board of Inquiry convened at Shaw Air Base to investigate the cause of the crash. Heading the board was Col. Walter L. Wheeler, wing commander at Shaw.
There was no indication from Air Force officers as to what caused the big C-47 to plummet straight down and explode into flames while still within gliding distance of the Myrtle Beach Air Base.

Boy Who Wrecked Train Borrowed Idea From Movie

CARUTHERSVILLE, MO. —(AP)—A 15-year-old boy who admitted wrecking a Frisco passenger train told officers Monday he got the idea from watching a movie about the notorious Dalton gang.
Sheriff E. F. Claxton said William L. Godsey, son of a sharecropper, confessed breaking a switch lock and a signal light near Holland, Mo.
A Memphis-to-St. Louis train hit the switch at 80 miles an hour and jumped the rails Sunday, killing the engineer and injuring 13 persons.
The boy said the movie he saw showed the Daltons wrecking a train, Claxton reported. The title of the picture was not learned. The Dalton gang operated in the Midwest half a century ago.
Young Godsey said he didn't intend to wreck the train and thought that turning the switch would merely send it on a siding.
No charges have been filed.

Never Without It
Popular Fighter Proves Hadacol
Great 'Builder-Upper' For Athletes
who also get tired, run-down because of deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin in Their Systems.

Orris Lee Story is a very popular figure in Wichita circles. His gameness and hard punching ability have won him the acclaim of sport writers and fight fans throughout Kansas. And it's most interesting indeed to hear this young boxer's comments about the great HADACOL everyone is talking about.

Here is Orris Lee Story's witnessed statement:

"Last year I was just another run-of-the-mill flyweight fighter. My coach couldn't put his finger on just what my trouble was. My best punch was a hard right cross, but try as I would it was falling inches short of my opponent.

"Also the last rounds of a fight usually found me completely washed out, my arms feeling like lead. Then last October I had a talk with an Arkansas fighter to whom I had dropped a decision. I told him I couldn't tag him with my right because of a painful stiffness across my shoulders that caused me to pull up short of my full reach. He said it was probably an aching due to neuritis and he recommended HADACOL. I tried it with a lot of doubt in my mind. But there is no doubt to today. I hold a state boxing title. I exchanged that neuritis pain and 'all-gone' feeling for pep, stamina and a whole lot of sweet—thanks to HADACOL!"

Take HADACOL Everywhere
Orris Story continues, "If I leave town even for 24 hours to take part in a tournament, I pack my bottle of HADACOL along with my trunks, shoes, hand wraps and mouthpiece. I can't recommend HADACOL too strongly to athletes—or anyone else suffering from neuritis pains or that listless, tired feeling that prevents a person from

Latest Tabulations Make No Changes In Texas Voting Results

By The Associated Press
With an estimated 600 votes still out, unofficial returns indicate Mrs. Alayene Clark of Amarillo and Walter Rogers of Pampa will make the runoff race for Congress in the Panhandle's 18th Congressional District.

Mrs. Clark had been at the top in tabulations since Sunday. In the latest tabulation from the Texas Election Bureau, Rogers was 2,000 votes ahead of the third and fourth in the race. Returns from all 24 counties in the district were in, 28 complete. The bureau estimated that only 600 votes were out.

The winner in the August 26 runoff election will run against Rep. Ben Guill of Pampa—Texas' only Republican congressman—in the November general election.

The latest tabulations showed: Mrs. Clark 17,089; Rogers 15,795; Leroy Lamasater of Perryton 13,795; J. Blake Timmons of Amarillo 13,736.

Rogers gained strength in Monday's tabulations when he picked up 2,300 votes in completion of boxes from Gray County, his home county.

The bureau's latest report showed no change in other statewide and district races.

Gov. Allan Shivers' lead over Cao Mareh in the seven-way governor's race still was lopsided. Pierce Brooks of Dallas held his lead over Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, who will be his runoff opponent in August.

Other runoffs will have J. E. McDonald of Austin, agriculture commissioner since 1931, facing John G. White of Wichita Falls; Rep. Ken Regan of Midland facing Judge Paul Moss of Odessa in an effort to hold his 18th Congressional District seat; Robert A. Lattimore of Dallas and W. A. Morrison of Cameron contesting for the Court of Criminal Appeals; Will Wilson of Dallas and Pagan Dickson of Austin running for the Supreme Court, Place 1; and Mead Griffin of Plainview and George Harwood of Dallas contesting for the Supreme Court, Place 2.

An official statewide canvass of returns from the primary will not be made until August 7. Official results probably will not be available until August 8.

Philippines Police Nab Two Red Suspects

MANILA (AP)—Special agents of the Manila Police Department Monday night arrested two Russians, identified as "suspected Communists," on charges of illegal possession of firearms.

Police Capt. E. A. Vilar said arresting officers found arms, ammunition and radio transmitting equipment in the apartment of the two suspects. They lived in a fashionable district in Manila.

Vilar said the two men apparently were uncle and nephew, 40 and 20 years old respectively. They both gave the same name—Igor Mosloff, Vilar said.

Allid Airmen Knock Out 58 Main Bridges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allied airmen have destroyed 58 main bridges and have damaged or knocked out temporarily 31 others in Korea, the Air Force reported Tuesday.

Briefing officers conceded, however, that one big bridge across the Han River near Seoul was proving "a real headache." Reports from Far East Air Force Headquarters Monday night said all three of the main rail and highway spans across the Han were out, but one pontoon bridge still was intact.

The officers here told newsmen that one of the big bridges—a well-constructed, reinforced concrete span—has been hit a number of times but the Red Koreans have patched it up each time.

Texas Water Code Panel Asks Lifting Of U. S. Controls

AUSTIN (AP)—Final draft of a Texas Water Code Committee resolution opposing federalization of Texas waters was released here Monday.

A subcommittee headed by John D. McCull, Dallas attorney, was instructed at a June meeting of the committee to draft the resolution and forward it to the Texas delegation in Congress.

The resolution particularly asked the Texas delegates to repeal the "recapture clause" of the Federal Power Act whereby the federal government reserves right to take over dams and reservoirs at termination of license periods.

It also asked the delegation to oppose any proposed legislation which would extend federal assumption of functions and control over state water resources.

McCarthy Comes Up With Another New Communist Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) Tuesday declared he has air-tight proof of an important State Department official—a Moscow-born "Mr. X"—is a Communist.

The proof, McCarthy said in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate, is contained in the department's own loyalty file on the man.

He said his evidence was furnished by "an FBI" sent, an undercover agent, (who) joined the Communist Party in 1937 at the suggestion of the FBI."

McCarthy described the case as one of the 81 covered by the State Department loyalty files which were examined by a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's Communists in government charges.

Name Deleted
A report last week by the Democratic majority of that inquiry group labeled McCarthy's accusations "a fraud and a hoax." The three Democrats on the committee said there was no proof whatever in the 81 files to back up McCarthy's contentions that those the records deal with were—variously—Communists, fellow travelers, or security risks for other reasons.

In his prepared text Tuesday, McCarthy said he was submitting to the Senate a photographed copy of "Mr. X's" State Department file. He did not hand out the copy in advance.

McCarthy said he had deleted the name of "Mr. X" from the copies he would make public.

Texas Legislative Races Produce Few Outstanding Upsets

AUSTIN (AP)—Texans indicated Saturday they are pretty well pleased with their legislative leaders.

Turnover in both the Senate and House was average in the first Democratic primary. Most of the big legislative wheels who sought reelection made the grade.

House Speaker Durwood Manford did not seek reelection. He was succeeded by Otis Henderson of Wacledar. House Revenue and Taxation Committee Chairman Joe B. Fleming of Henderson was reelected, as was Appropriations Chairman Ray K'irkpatrick of Trenton.

Both of the announced candidates for speaker were reelected. They were Reps. Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba and Joe Kilgore of McAllen.

In the Senate, Finance Chairman Howard A. Carney was a holdover. President Pro Tem Wardlow Lane was reelected. W. R. Oousins, Jr., of Beau mont failed to make reelection. Otis Lee, House labor leader of Port Arthur and J. P. Fuller, district attorney, are in a runoff to succeed Cousins.

Incumbent R. L. (Bob) Proffer of Denton, who was Senate Education Committee chairman, is in a runoff with House member Wayne L. Wagonseller of Stoneburg for the District 22 Senate seat.

The Texas Legislative Service's statewide roundup of results in the first primary Saturday showed: House—58 certain new members, 89 members reelected; 22 runoffs. In the runoffs, three incumbents are fighting for their jobs. The 58 new member figure includes runoffs in which both contestants did not serve in the 51st Legislature.

Senate—16 holdovers; 10 members reelected; four certain new members, and one possible new member from a race involving an incumbent and a newcomer.

The only woman senator, Mrs. Nevelle Colson of Navasota, was a holdover. In the House, the first primary produced one woman member only: Mrs. Dorothy Gillis Gurney of Del Rio, who will serve her first term. Three women seeking House posts are in runoff races.

Alimony Troubles Put Errol On Spot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—I may have to print my own money soon unless the amount of my alimony is reduced," said actor Errol Flynn as he prepared to face his first wife's lawyer. He didn't smile when he said it.

Flynn visited the attorney for ex-wife Lili Damita Monday to give a deposition in connection with his suit for modification of his alimony payments.

Under a property settlement, he pays $18,000 a year in alimony and $5,000 for child support. In addition, Flynn told newsmen, he pays $6,000 a year to support two children by his second wife, the former Nora Eddington, now married to singer Dick Haymes.

Flynn wants to marry again, though. He said he and Lili Damita, 26-year-old Rumanian princess, still are very much in love.

WHY is sugar freshness important to your canning success?..

Commercial canners, who can many thousands of dollars worth of fruits and vegetables usually are careful to buy fresh sugar. They know that the longer sugar is in storage or in transit the greater the danger of contamination that might affect the delicate flavor or keeping quality of their pack. Fresh sugar helps assure your canning success, too.

U. S. Senate Race Is Top Item In Louisiana Ballot

BATON ROUGE, LA.—(AP)—A fight between Long and anti-Long factions over a United States Senate seat came to a climax Tuesday in the Louisiana Democratic primary. In the three-way Senate campaign, the only statewide race up for decision, Senator Russell Long was opposed by Malcolm LaFarge, Shreveport attorney who was backed by anti-Long forces, and former U. S. Rep. Newt Mills of Monroe.

The Democrats also selected a full slate of eight U. S. representatives, and several other state officers. Senator Long is the 31-year-old son of the late Senator Huey P. Long and the nephew of Gov. Earl Long. The governor's election two years ago placed the Long faction back in power after an absence of eight years.

Senator Long asked for renomination—the equivalent of election in solidly Democratic Louisiana—on the basis of his record during two years in the Senate. He has been serving the unexpired term of the late Senator John Overton. LaFarge carried the endorsement of Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans and others who have been opposed to the Long faction. Mills has denounced the civil rights proposals made by President Truman and has criticized what he termed governmental trends toward socialism.

Back Pains From Ruptured Spine Disc Can Be Relieved

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Some of those who suffer with pain in the back or pain down the back of the legs owe their difficulty to a ruptured disc in the spine. This disc consists of moderately soft cartilage which lies between the bony vertebrae of the spine. Being softer than the vertebrae, this cartilage is fairly susceptible to injury, strain, and other damage.

In all cases of pain in the lower portion of the back or of sciatica, a rupture or hernia of an intervertebral disc has to be suspected. Of course, not all cases of pain in the lower back or along the sciatic nerve extending down the back of the leg are caused by rupture of a cartilaginous disc, but some are.

Diagnosis is not easy but usually can be made by a careful study of the pain—that is, whether it followed an injury—and similar information obtained from the patient, by the physical findings, and by what can be seen in an X-ray film. Even the X-ray, however, may not show anything immediately after the rupture has occurred. In the course of time, however, the rupture of a disc will cause a narrowing of the space between the bones of the vertebral column at the point where the rupture has occurred.

As a rule those having a first attack of pain due to a ruptured disc should be treated conservatively. Also conservative treatment is advised for those who have mild attacks at long intervals, those who are more than 50 years old, and for those in whom the diagnosis is in doubt.

Some Need Surgery

For patients with intolerable back pain or pain along the sciatic nerve, those who have repeated severe attacks for a long period of time, and for some others surgery may have to be considered. The operation employed in such cases may be just removal of the ruptured disc, a fusion or binding together of the two vertebral bones between which the disc lies. The question of which of these operations to perform and whether or not it should be done by an orthopedic surgeon or a nerve surgeon or both together is a matter, of course, which the physicians in charge alone can decide.

The knowledge that ruptures of this kind can occur and can in most cases be successfully treated surgically has given relief to a great many who otherwise would have suffered for years with intolerable pain. A ruptured disc is not a pleasant thing to have at best, but it no longer needs to be considered as a permanent affliction.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

Matt. 6:22-24; 7:13-23.
A LACK OF TOTAL DISCIPLINE

We now take up briefly, awaiting a fuller development, the fourteenth of the major enemies of abundant living: Lack of a total discipline.

The future of the world is in the hands of disciplined people. "The meek (literally, the trained) shall inherit the earth." But this statement that the future of the world is in the hands of disciplined people must be modified—the future of the world is in the hands of people who are disciplined to the highest total discipline. Very often disciplines are too small; we are geared to concepts and purposes which are too small; so we remain small with the smallness of our concepts and purposes. Many are geared to the discipline of the family, which may be very good; but it is very inadequate unless the family is geared to something beyond itself—an absolute. The discipline of a lodge, a club, a union, a church, a country, may be good, but they are not good enough. We must be disciplined to something that gives total meaning to the total life.

It is just this total discipline that is lacking in modern life. Modern life is so compartmentalized, specialized, picked to pieces, that it lacks total meaning. Science is abstracted knowledge—it abstracts knowledge about specific things, but fails to deal with the sum total of reality and its meaning; hence science can never exert a total discipline. Psychoanalysis picks people to pieces, but often cannot put them together again on a higher level. It uses psychoanalysis and not psychosynthesis, hence it cannot exert a total discipline. "They picked me to pieces and couldn't get me together again," said a brilliant but disrupted woman. Just as the spokes of a wheel hang loose without a hub, so the powers of life are at loose ends unless fastened into the central hub—God and His Kingdom. There is simply nothing to which we can be totally disciplined, except one thing—God's absolute order, the Kingdom of God. That and that alone gives total meaning to life.

Gracious Father, until I bring every thought to the obedience of Thy Kingdom, and every relationship under its sway, I am hanging at loose ends, and life lacks total meaning and hence lacks purpose and power. Help me to a complete discipline to Thy Kingdom. Amen.

De-Centralization Champion

James F. Byrnes, sure now to be governor of South Carolina, has won the chance he sought to combat what he sees as the excessive growth of government in Washington.

President Truman and his chief supporters scoff at the notion that power has become too greatly centralized in the capital.

Many leading Republicans, on the other hand, have been shouting for years that the federal government is devouring all before it, that this trend can lead only to a crushing of individual liberties and the establishment of socialism.

Unfortunately, the very repetition of this cry has tended to weaken its force steadily through the years. Voters going to the polls in national elections have not seemed greatly moved by GOP alarms.

The 71-year-old Byrnes is far from being the first Democrat to join this debate. But no man at once so distinguished and so well-versed in the practice of politics ever has taken up the fight.

With service on the Supreme Court, in the Senate, as secretary of State, and as war mobilizer and "assistant president" behind him, there are no mere political laurels Byrnes could seek which would be worth his trouble.

It is fair to assume, therefore, that he will take up the issue of over-centralization in Washington strictly on its merits. Into that contest he will throw his admittedly great prestige, which goes well beyond the limits of party.

If there is truth in the claims that Washington is over-reaching, monopolizing the vital sources of government revenues, bulldozing its way through powers that rightly belong to the states and cities, every freedom-loving American ought to hope Jimmy Byrnes can help establish the facts beyond question.

And if those facts can be proved, we should further wish him well in any efforts he may undertake to redress the balance and return to local and state governments the powers they have lost.

In the event it comes down to that, Byrnes could not hope to do the job alone, nor would he likely try. But his stature among the governors of the 48 states will be high; he will be able to enlist their vigorous support provided his cause is just and his fight one that should be made for the good of the country.

It's hard to see where a better champion than Byrnes could be found for a point of view which has been crying for responsible leadership for almost two decades.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Secretary Johnson and Congressman Vinson bury the hatchet; Senators consider personal criticism almost more important than State Department "Communists"; Taft thanks Acheson then demands he resign.

WASHINGTON — A significant off-the-record meeting took place in the office of the secretary of Defense on the morning President Truman sent his re-armament program to Congress.

Secretary Louis Johnson, who previously had hocked billions from the armament estimates of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, called in his most vigorous opponent, Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, and said quietly: "I need your help, Congressman. You were right."

Vinson, the powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, replied: "Well let bygones be bygones, Mr. Secretary. The important thing is that we all work together to get the kind of defense we need to win a war."

When Johnson explained the plans for an enlarged Army, Navy and Air Force, they were virtually identical to the demands Vinson has been making like a modern Jeremiah ever since the end of World War II.

A year and a half ago, in defending a Joint Chiefs estimate of $30,000,000,000, Vinson argued that our maximum defense needs were: Army strength of 711,688; purchase of 673 new Skyraider anti-aircraft guns; modernize 743 medium tanks; put 421,314 Army Reserves on drill-pay status; build up the Navy to 555,700 officers and enlisted men; restore a $68,000,000 cut in the Navy's maintenance and operation budget; spend $1,030,000,000 for new naval aircraft; and $220,000,000 for naval research; and add $800,000,000 to the Air Force to buy 702 more planes.

At that time, the frightened Georgian told congressional associates: "The Army has not been able to acquire enough new tanks and is left with World War II tanks that can't stand up to the latest tank produced elsewhere in the world."

"The cut in the Reserves and National Guard curtails equipment by 50 per cent and gives us a paper force only," Vinson continued. "The Navy budget provides only one-half the need for a modern arm, and eliminates the development of two aircraft prototypes. This at a time when almost every nation has scientists working day and night on more destructive weapons."

"It seems to be we are starting on a shortsighted perilous road."

Senatorial Privilege
Criticism of senators rather than Communists in the State Department caused the big argument inside the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when it considered the McCarthy report behind closed doors.

Senators Henry Lodge of Massachusetts and Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa yelled loudest about two paragraphs in the report chiding them for absenteeism from the subcommittee.

Lodge exploded for almost 10 minutes on this one subject.

"This is an outrage," he shouted at Senator Millard Tydings, who drafted the report. "I was legitimately absent. It's unheard of for a senator to be insulted in this fashion."

"Oh, quiet down," Tydings finally shouted back. "I didn't mean to insult anybody. If you want that part out, we'll take it out."

But Tydings pointedly reminded the two dissenters that they couldn't have devoted much time to the subcommittee, since Lodge admitted reading only 19 of the 51 State Department files on employes accused

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service
"Please clear up a misunderstanding for me," asks a Milwaukee correspondent. "While playing Canasta the other night, one of the players wanted to take the discard pile before his side had melded."

"I claimed that the pack was frozen to them until their side had melded. For this reason, I said, the opponent could not take the discard pile to make his initial meld."

"Am I right? If I am, you cover a wild card or a red three when you turn up such a card as the dealer? Since the pack is already frozen, what is the point of causing any special fuss over a wild card or a red three?"

The pack is not ordinarily frozen at the beginning of the hand. You are allowed to take the discard pile when you make your initial meld. When you take the discard pile on the same turn in which you make your initial meld, you must put down a pair of natural cards that match the previous discard. For this reason, it is sometimes said that the pack is frozen to you until you have made your initial meld.

However, once your side has made the initial meld, it is possible for either player of your partnership to take the discard pile with one matching card and one wild card. This may be done at some turn of the play following the turn on which the initial meld was made.

When the deck is really frozen (either by the dealer or by the discard of a wild card by some player) the deck stays frozen until it is picked up. It does not become unfrozen merely because your side makes an initial meld.

For example, suppose the dealer turns up a red three, thus freezing the pack. Then suppose you meld three aces from your hand. The deck is still frozen. Your partner is not allowed to take the discard pile with one matching card and one wild card. He must still have two matching cards that match the previous discard.

If the deck had not been frozen, the situation would be quite different. When you put down your three aces, your partner would be able to take the discard pile thereafter with one matching card and one wild card.

Q—If you pick up a discard pile that consists of more than one card, are you allowed to go out?
A—Yes. You are allowed to take the discard pile and meld out on the same play. As a matter of fact even if you take a discard pile that consists of only one card, you are allowed to meld out on that play. The only exception is that you are not allowed to take a discard pile that consists of only one card when your hand also consists of only one card.

War Scare, Politics Force Hearings On Farm Price Supports, Surpluses

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Korean war scare has thrown a lot of uncertainty into the outlook for U. S. farm policies and consumers' food. Chairman Harold D. Cooley of House Agriculture Committee has scheduled new hearings on price supports and farm surpluses. Department of Agriculture officials will be principal witnesses. They are expected to review the situation in light of recent developments.

In the background, one reason for the hearings is that some Democratic congressmen want to get off the hook on the Brannan plan. They would like to get the Truman administration to lay it aside, at least for duration of the present emergency, or produce a substitute.

Farm Bureau Federation spokesmen will testify that the present farm program is all right as it is, to produce what's needed for war. So let it alone and give it a chance. Lift Bales—Tote Taxes

Sharp rise in cotton prices will save government a lot of money, or at least prevent losses from running so high. Commodity Credit Corporation had a lot of money tied up in loans on about 3,000,000 bales of cotton. Growers now have redeemed loans on about 2,000,000 bales, to sell at present high prices.

Prior to 1938, CCC could sell cotton and keep profit if market advanced. Then law was changed so that government has to bear whatever losses are incurred, while all profits are held for the growers' account. This is just another of the slick legislative tricks which prevent taxpayers from ever getting a break. Sheep Shortage

Where U. S. consumers will feel the pinch worst is on agricultural commodities which depend heavily on imports to meet American demand. U. S. position on wool, for instance, is bad. CCC stocks built up during the war have been allowed to decline. U. S. sheep numbers have declined and the American clip is low. U. S. stocks now are under 200,000,000 pounds. Russians have been buying heavily in Australian wool market. Recent wool cloth advances announced by American mills indicate what's ahead.

'51 Will Be Sweeter
Sugar—Worries over what looked like a world surplus rapidly are disappearing. Department of Agriculture has increased U. S. quota for the year from 7,500,000 to 7,850,000 tons. This is in line with increased American consumption during first half of year. There is no shortage. Department of Agriculture experts insist. There is no need for hoarding. Coffee Situation

Coffee—Don't expect prices to come down for some time. Department of Agriculture estimates total exportable world supplies at 30,000,000 bags, as against 31,860,000 bags a year ago. Visible stocks were 6,000,000 bags on June 1, as against 7,500,000 a year ago.

What coffee men mean when they say there is no shortage is that supplies will be available, if buyers are willing to pay the price. Here And There

Cocoa—Price has jumped all over the market, driving candy makers crazy. Prewar price was 10 cents a pound. OPA ceiling was 19 cents. Price jumped to 50 cents in 1947, dropped to 19 cents in 1949, is now around 32 cents. Where price will level off, nobody knows until supply and demand are stabilized. Little Pepper To Salt Away

Pepper—There is still a world shortage. OPA ceiling was nine cents a pound, but U. S. had accumulated a stockpile of several years supply. That is long since gone. Since the war, prices have gone as high as $2 for white pepper, $1.40 for black. Prices broke in June, apparently under a belief that Indonesian supplies again were becoming ample. While Netherlands East Indies were out of production, India became a big pepper producer. But supplies still are uncertain and fluctuating prices reflect the shortage. Lots Of Grease—If Peace

Fats and Oils—The situation is analyzed by Department of Agriculture as no over-supply, no shortage, more than enough when it is remembered that this is the end of one season, the beginning of a new crop year. Export demand will be less than last year, leaving larger supplies for the domestic market. A bumper crop of soybeans will make up any deficiency in cottonseed oil. But since glycerine for ammunition

Employment appears to have been stabilized.

This is a time for very steady and sober talk and action.

Moslems teach that the devil was expelled from Paradise because he refused to worship Adam, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

THE STORY: A couple of friends of mine, Jack Lanning, handsome and a matching personality, and Eleanor Lane, a pixie-like girl with a fancy face, were married 22 years ago. Jack wanted to go on the stage with her as a vaudeville dance team. Ellie was convinced that the audience would laugh at her, but reluctantly she agreed. Deep in her heart, Ellie believed that she was the ugly wife of a handsome man.

"No! Well, no matter where she picked up her stuff, she knows it backwards."
I was so nonplussed that I did not ask any more questions. Thinking about it later, I decided he had them mixed up with another team.

BUT a few weeks later I went to San Francisco on business. One evening I dropped into a movie which also had a vaudeville bill. Suddenly came the announcement: "Lanning and Lane, the Grace and Style of Romance."

I sat up, astonished. Jack came out first. He looked wonderful but, as always, no personality came across to the audience. The bill had been indifferent and the house was in a gentle state of apathy. Jack did not impress anyone a particularly.

Then Ellie came on. For a moment I thought it might not be too bad. She wore a simple evening dress in white, and her figure, though thin, was good. But her face was as comical as ever, and it was accentuated by an exaggerated habit of wrinkling her nose.

She moved toward Jack with incongruous grace, and they did a few very elegant steps. A few people near me snickered. Then Jack and Ellie came to a pose. It should have been a very romantic tableau, but Ellie's head was too low and her leg was too high. Her toe was pointed with incredible elegance, and her expression was one of comic amazement. The house broke up, and I could not keep from laughing myself.

Ellie broke out of the pose abruptly and strode to the footlights. She snarled at the audience: "I've got a right, haven't I? It's a free country, isn't it? Her delivery was perfect, the audience roared. She drew herself up with dignity, whirled gracefully toward Jack, and fell flat on her face. I was amazed. I said: "She's not an old vaudeville girl, not anything like it."

From then on the audience loved them. Or rather they loved Ellie.

manufacture requires a lot of grease, a big war effort could produce a tight situation on fats and oils supply. Butter Both Sides
Butter—There are 122,000,000 pounds in storage, an increase of 80,000,000 pounds over a year ago, so there is no shortage there. Margarine supplies also are ample. Removal of federal tax on margarine should reduce consumption of butter. Vegetable cooking oils also are in good supply, and there is no need to hoard. Everyone Can Clean Up
Soap Fats—There are more than enough. Tallow is in surplus and the price is low. There also are ample import supplies of cocconut oil. Increased use of detergents has cut down demand for soap fats, and there is no occasion to worry about supply of chemicals for synthetics. And Fat Up
Paints—Lined oil supplies are tremendous. There are big surpluses left over from the last two years, and a big new crop is in prospect for this year. Cold Storage Stocks—In coolers are 1,340,000,000 pounds of food commodities, in freezers 1,627,000,000 pounds. The total of 2,967,000,000 pounds is more than 400,000,000 pounds above stocks a year ago. Much of the increase is due to heavy consumption during first half of year. There is no shortage. Department of Agriculture experts insist. There is no need for hoarding. Coffee Situation

Coffee—Don't expect prices to come down for some time. Department of Agriculture estimates total exportable world supplies at 30,000,000 bags, as against 31,860,000 bags a year ago. Visible stocks were 6,000,000 bags on June 1, as against 7,500,000 a year ago.

What coffee men mean when they say there is no shortage is that supplies will be available, if buyers are willing to pay the price. Here And There

Cocoa—Price has jumped all over the market, driving candy makers crazy. Prewar price was 10 cents a pound. OPA ceiling was 19 cents. Price jumped to 50 cents in 1947, dropped to 19 cents in 1949, is now around 32 cents. Where price will level off, nobody knows until supply and demand are stabilized. Little Pepper To Salt Away

Pepper—There is still a world shortage. OPA ceiling was nine cents a pound, but U. S. had accumulated a stockpile of several years supply. That is long since gone. Since the war, prices have gone as high as $2 for white pepper, $1.40 for black. Prices broke in June, apparently under a belief that Indonesian supplies again were becoming ample. While Netherlands East Indies were out of production, India became a big pepper producer. But supplies still are uncertain and fluctuating prices reflect the shortage. Lots Of Grease—If Peace

Fats and Oils—The situation is analyzed by Department of Agriculture as no over-supply, no shortage, more than enough when it is remembered that this is the end of one season, the beginning of a new crop year. Export demand will be less than last year, leaving larger supplies for the domestic market. A bumper crop of soybeans will make up any deficiency in cottonseed oil. But since glycerine for ammunition

She took the stage by storm. She posed, she proucted, she dipped, and everything she did was a hilarious caricature of the usual dancer. She stalked around Jack like a tigress and flung herself into his arms with hilarious abandon. She rushed around the stage like a madwoman and almost threw herself into the orchestra pit. She made faces, she talked back to the audience, she argued with the orchestra leader. She was a sensation.

Since then I have seen plenty of acts along the same line, but I never saw a woman do it better than Ellie. Jack was mostly a prop; his looks and dignity were a perfect background for her shenanigans.

THEY did an encore and took four calls. Finally Ellie made a comedy speech, flirited outrageously with the bald fiddle player, and they were gone.

I went back to see them. In the dressing room Jack threw his arms around me. "Aren't we terrific?" he asked me triumphantly. "Didn't I tell you?"

I looked at Ellie in the mirror, and she made a face at me. Jack talked on. He did not resent at all being pushed into the background of the act. On the other hand, he had absolutely no idea that a lot of Ellie's effect came from perfect timing and a born sense of comedy. He thought she was just lucky enough to be born with a funny face.

I asked them out for a drink, and Jack countered by inviting me to a party of show people that was being given that night. Ellie said abruptly: "He doesn't want to go to that, he doesn't know any of them. And I'm not going myself." Jack looked crestfallen for a moment, and then smiled. "Okay, just the three of us."

"No," Ellie said. "You want to go, and if you don't want to go, everyone will say I kept you away. You go along."

Jack protested, but she had her way. Her manner was new, controlled, with an undercurrent of hardness. There was a tension between them, a slight but disturbing one. Or rather they loved Ellie.

West Texas Oil And Gas Log—

north and west lines of section 2, J. B. Cotton survey.
The drillsite is two miles south of the Crosby County line.
The proposed venture is on a farm owned by Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware. The drilling contractor is Standard-Fryer Drilling Company.

Conglomerate Opener In Stonewall Finished

Roark, Hooker & A. G. Hill No. 1, C. L. Williams and others, new conglomerate discovery in Northeast Stonewall County, has been completed for 964.5 barrels of 40.3-gravity oil daily.
This 24-hour potential was based on an actual 20-hour flow of 803.75 barrels of oil. Production was through a 32/64th-inch choke.
The open hole pay zone was from 5,860 to 5,874 feet. Casing pressure was 900 pounds. Flowing tubing pressure was 275 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 736-1.
Another Discovery
The No. 1 Williams is 467 feet from south and west lines of section 6, block C, AB&M survey, and eight miles northeast of Aspermont.
It is three miles southeast of Norworthy and others No. 1 Willey, another recent discovery from the same pay zone.
The No. 1 Williams was drilled on a farm owned by V. C. Perini, Jr. & Paul Crawford.
Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company and Skelly Oil Company have leases in the area, and are reported due to drill tests in the near future. However, no new locations have been announced.

Ellenburger Yields Shows In Crockett

A wildcat in Northeast Crockett County has recovered shows of production on two drillstem tests in the Ellenburger.
James H. Snowden and others of Fort Worth No. 1 Hugh Andrews, located three miles northeast of the nearest Ellenburger production in the Todd Deep pool, got its first oil and gas shows on a two and one-half hour drillstem test at 7,412-495 feet.
On the test, gas surfaced in six minutes. Recovery was circulated out when the tool was closed. Operators estimated recovery at 1,000 feet of free oil and 500 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud. There was no water.
Deeper Test
Flowing pressure was 700 pounds and shut-in bottomhole pressure 1,460 pounds.
On a deeper test at 7,470-7,520 feet, the tool was open 98 minutes. Gas surfaced in 14 minutes, continuing at a medium to strong blow throughout the rest of the test.
Recovery was 500 feet of free oil and heavily oil and gas cut mud and 10 feet of black, salty, oil-cut mud with a sulphur odor.
The prospect is now shut down for orders. It is 660 feet from north and east lines of southeast quarter of section 43, block UV, GC&SF survey.

W-C Rannels Slated For Deep-Zone Try

A. J. Renn, Trustee, and Ray Moloney of Chicago have staked an Ellenburger wildcat in West-Central Rannels County, seven miles northeast of Ballinger.
Projected to 4,400 feet with rotary and scheduled to begin by August 1, their No. 1 D. O. Kennedy will be 2,404 feet from north and 674 feet from east lines of J. H. Wilson survey 14.
It will be about two and three-quarters miles southeast of the Florence field and about six and one-half miles west of production in the Ogden-Mabee field.

SE Crockett To Get Shallow Prospector

A shallow, cable tool wildcat has been staked in Southeast Crockett County.
The proposed venture is Byron Williams of Osona No. 1 Ruby Helbin, located nine miles southwest of Osona.
Exact location is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 17, block QR.
Slated depth is 1,800 feet. Elevation at the drillsite is 2,482 feet.

Union Stakes Offset To W-C Coke Opener

Union Oil Company of California has staked a west offset to its No. 1-B Daisy McCutchen, recently completed Cisco sand producer in West-Central Coke County.
The company's No. 2 Jim McCutchen, slotted 4,100-foot rotary test, will be 1,986 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 44-1A-H&TC survey. It will be 1,320 feet west of the operator's No. 1-B McCutchen.
Drillsite will be five miles east of the town of Robert Lee.
The No. 1-B McCutchen potential for 179.2 barrels of 42-gravity oil per day through a one-quarter inch choke. Casing was perforated at 3,980-65 feet.

Kelley-Snyder Outpost Makes Good Producer

Skelly Oil Company has completed its No. 1 L. M. McClammy, northwest outpost to the Kelley-Snyder field in West-Central Scurry County.
The new producer flowed 2,738.55 barrels of 43.9-gravity oil per day through a one-inch opening. Flow was natural. The potential was based on an actual four hour test.

Ko-Reds—

and battered by Communist road-blocks, snipers and guerrillas.
The Reds stole through the hills surrounding Yongdong wearing grass and leaves to blend in with the countryside. Their camouflage made them difficult targets for American arms.
Yongdong is 20 miles southeast of abandoned Taejon, on the important American rail supply line leading from the southeastern port of Pusan.
Air observers saw many North Korean soldiers moving north and south of the city in a pincers movement aimed at trapping these U. S. soldiers in their first major engagement with the Communists.
There were indications snipers and guerrillas had got behind the Americans.
The battle started with heavy frontal attacks on American positions across the main Taejon-Pusan highway at a point west of Yongdong. Fanatical Communists in waves fell upon the cavalrymen.
Messager first reports indicated Yongdong itself was not fought over—contrary to earlier reports. The Americans pulled back through the town to their new positions.
Most of the townspeople had been evacuated in line with an order for all civilians to get out of the battlezone.
The Communists worked two jaws of a pincers movement while maintaining the heavy pressure of their frontal attack. Red soldiers wearing grass and leaves blended with the countryside to make themselves poor targets.
The 25th U. S. Division, in positions somewhere north of the First Cavalry Division, beat off two Communist attacks with artillery fire and infantry support. Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert reported.
Caught In Flanking Fire
The 25th Division abandoned advanced positions during Monday night. Then it caught the Reds in a flanking fire when they made an assault early Tuesday under a withering American fire.
New North Korean Red attacks were anticipated in the northeast sector of the winding, 150 mile mountainous front.
In other sectors American and South Korean forces were reported holding the line, except in the far southwest, where the Communists ranged unchecked. The Reds in the southwest posed a threat to vital U. S. communications in the southeastern area of the peninsula.
A spokesman for an advanced American outpost said:
"Our troops are fighting like hell."
Of growing concern was the continued Communist seizure of strategic points in Southwest Korea. The Reds completed a sweep of the west coast and turned east toward Allied communication lines stretching inland from Pusan, on the southeast corner.
G.I.'s May Be Cornered
Pentagon officials in Washington indicated the Americans might be backed up into the southeastern corner. A briefing officer said it is becoming increasingly difficult to hold against hordes of North Koreans with units of three U. S. divisions and the smaller, more lightly-armed South Koreans.
The Reds captured Haenam, near the extreme southern tip of the peninsula and more than 230 air-line miles from the 38th parallel—over which they had plunged to begin the invasion one month ago.
Another Communist column swung northeast of captured Kwangju and occupied the southwestern railway junction of Namwon. Also seized—with only small national police resisting—was Kurye, 15 miles south of Namwon and midway between the rail center and the southern port of Suncheon.
The former naval base of Mokpo, on the southwest coast, was taken previously.

Kent Pool Adds Two Wells, One Site

Two new producers have been completed and another location staked in the Salt Creek-Canyon pool of West-Central Kent County.
The Hunt Interests of Dallas have added the two wells, General Crude Oil Company and Percy Jones, the new site.
On the northwest edge of the field, Nelson Bunker Hunt Trust estate has completed its No. 4 Burnett trust estate (TCU). It flowed for a rated potential of 458.4 barrels of 39.1-gravity oil and no water daily through a 16/64th-inch choke.
Pay was topped at 6,290 feet, and total depth is 6,507 feet. Seven-inch casing is set at 6,515 feet.
The pay section was treated with 4,500 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 632-1.
The new producer is 660 feet from north and 2,180 feet from west lines of section 3, D. R. Stout survey, No. 5 Young.
In the center of the field, Caroline Hunt trust estate has potentialized its No. 5 J. W. Young for a rated daily potential of 858.4-barrels of 39.1-gravity oil.
Pay was topped at 6,204 feet, and total depth is 6,483 feet. Seven-inch casing is set at 6,408 feet. The pay section had been treated with 4,500 gallons of acid.
The No. 5 Young is 430 feet from east and 1,070 feet from north lines of section 145, block G, Waco & Northwestern survey.
General Crude and Percy Jones have staked the No. 2-132 J. W. Young on the south side of the field. Drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of southeast quarter of section 132, block G, Waco & Northwestern survey.
It is seven miles west-northwest of Clearmont.

Lynn Wildcat Tests In Lower Spraberry

Houston Oil Company of Texas No. 1 H. B. Howell, wildcat in Southeast Lynn County, is reported taking a drillstem test in a lower Spraberry sand at 6,700-6,788 feet.
The tool was open two hours; a good blow of air surfaced throughout the test, but no fluid flowed at the top.
Operators were pulling tool at last report.
The No. 1 Howell is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 451, block 1, EL&RR survey, and seven and one-half miles southeast of Tahoka.
Scurry Strawn Pay Gets Dual Producer
A dual producer has been completed in the North Snyder Strawn field in North-Central Scurry County.
It is Claude M. Hamill's No. 9 Entell, 467 feet from south and east lines of the lease in section 26, block 1, J. P. Smith survey. It is producing from the B and C zones of the Strawn.
The new dual producer potentialized for 1,022 barrels of 39.6-gravity oil and no water daily through a choke of unreported size. Gas-oil ratio was 880-1. Pay was topped in the B zone at 7,370 feet. Total depth is 7,508 feet. Five and one-half inch oil string was set at 7,508 feet. Production was through perforations at 7,377-7,408 feet.
The C zone flowed 1,016 barrels of 42.5-gravity oil and no water daily through a 3/8-inch choke. Gas oil ratio was 1,002-1. The C pay was topped at 7,490 feet. Both zones were treated with 500 gallons of acid.
Two Prospectors In NW Scurry Plugged
Two wildcats in Northwest Scurry County have been plugged and abandoned.
Deeper of the two is The Superior Oil Company No. 10 G. H. Morley, located 16 miles northwest of Snyder which was abandoned at a total depth of 8,497 feet.
This failure was drilled "tight" since its spudding in April. It possibly was abandoned in the Ellenburger.
Location was two miles northeast of the one-well Winfield Mississippi pool. Exact location was 2,046 feet from east and 1,985 feet from south lines of section 600, block 97, H&TC survey.
New Kelley-Snyder
Coronado Oil Company and J. A. Humphrey trustee of Tulsa No. 1 Shannon Fee, wildcat four and one-half miles northwest of the west portion of the Kelley-Snyder field, was plugged and abandoned at a total depth of 7,515 feet.
It developed no possibilities of production in any section drilled.
Drillsite was 660 feet from north and east lines of section 377, block 97, H&TC survey, and one and one-fourth miles southwest of Durmott.

SW Scurry Wildcat Plugged, Abandoned

Standard-Fryer Drilling Company and associates have ordered their No. 1 T. P. Allen, Southwest Scurry County wildcat, plugged and abandoned.

Civilians In Korea Ordered To Clear Out From War Zone

AN AMERICAN ADVANCE POST IN KOREA—All Korean civilians living in the area of the fighting south of Taejon, the order was aimed at stopping infiltration behind American lines by Communist soldiers and saboteurs dressed as civilians.
Commanders have directed Korean police to steer all Koreans from villages that may become involved in the fighting and to send them to points far behind American installations.
In an area once cleared of civilians anyone in civilian clothing may be shot.
The order to clear villages likely to fall in the battlezone was given Sunday.
Follows Harassment
It followed almost two weeks of harassment by snipers, saboteurs and spies, who filtered through combat lines disguised as civilians.
All Koreans, North and South, look alike to the Americans.
Soldiers sometimes got shot at suspiciously while clad figures.
The situation grew worse when South Korean troops were moved to other sectors and the Americans were left alone to fight the hordes of Reds swarming toward them.
South Korean police, almost as badly disorganized as the South Korean Army after the surprise invasion by the Reds, proved unable to cope with the situation. They tried to screen refugees but failed.
Military leaders decided to clear civilians from the fighting areas to save lives.

partment will make a recommendation for one or the other. They cannot make that recommendation until all of the engineering is completed. At that time the two governmental agencies will make the decision.
Details Lacking
"We wish it were possible to have all of these details before offering the bond issue for a vote. It is impossible. The Highway Department cannot afford to spend the money that would be involved in making the detailed engineering study unless they know that our part of the money is available. (You can understand that if they did not have such a policy they would spend a great deal of time and money on projects that would never become a reality.)
"When the bond issue carries, and if you have a preference, it would be proper for you to voice your preference to the City Council and Commissioners Court. I can tell you that the men who make up the Highway Committee and the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce favor an underpass if it is feasible. If there are no insurmountable problems connected with an underpass it will be recommended. However, if the detailed engineering reveals that an underpass is impossible, and that an overpass is possible, your board of directors will recommend its construction because it believes a grade separation at the railroad to be a must if Midland is to continue to progress.
"It is very difficult to be progressive without causing some inconvenience. We will do our best to cause as little as possible."

State Areas Get Scattered Rains

By The Associated Press
Scattered showers fell Tuesday on parts of the Texas Coast, North and West Texas.
Broken clouds covered most of the state. There were light rains at Galveston, Childress, Lubbock, Salt Flat, Guadalupe Pass, Palacios and Wichita Falls.
The prospect was for more scattered thundershowers in extreme East Texas, the extreme north part of East Texas, and in West Texas except the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area.
Temperatures were developing about the same as Monday when Presidio had a high of 104, but readings generally were more moderate.
Reporting light rains overnight were El Paso, Wichita Falls, Houston, Childress, Galveston, Tyler, Salt Flat, Guadalupe Pass, Beaumont and Texarkana.

"Get Out Of Ditch"
"Our espousure is vastly greater than that of Russia and her satellites. Our strategic air power is unmatched anywhere in the world. We are still far ahead in the atomic arms effort and will probably stay ahead for some years in the future."
And he gave this advice to colleagues who in recent weeks have criticized past preparedness programs:
"Our great need right now is to get the ox out of the ditch—not spend a lot of time and effort trying to find out who pushed him into the ditch. Let's not spend our time looking backwards while Americans are being killed in Korea and our defenses urgently need strengthening... this is no time to take a detour to hunt for scapegoats."
Truman's new cash request was forecast in his urgent message to the Korean crisis last Wednesday. Details he submitted late Monday asked $10,486,976,000 in new money for the armed services, $20,000,000 to operate the draft and $10,000,000 for its emergency fund.
White House Estimates
The additional money would boost planned military spending for the current fiscal year which ends next June 30 to approximately $28,000,000,000.
The White House estimated the new money would be enough to add 600,000 men to the armed forces total in the fiscal year. Since this total now is 1,450,000—with enough funds in sight to make it 1,600,000—the additional 600,000 would swell the total above 2,000,000.
Truman said he asked for the money (1) "to meet the immediate situation in Korea" and (2) to help America get ready to "defeat further acts of aggression."
Of the total $4,535,000,000—the largest share—would go to the Air Force. The Army would get $3,063,000,000 and the Navy $2,648,000,000. An item of $360,000,000 was listed for establishment-wide activities of the Defense Department.

The slogan, Americans say, should be expansion rather than conversion.
The informants say this European effort would be bolstered by American financial aid. The sum of $4,000,000,000 has been mentioned as a likely contribution if the Allies match the American rearmament effort.
Some of the projects which will come up for study, and probably approval, include:
1. Creation of a central Western Army of about 30 divisions to be based in Europe.
2. Mapping and launching twin multi-billion dollar rearmament drives in the United States and Europe.
3. Assignment of specific jobs to each country as part of a grand plan for defense and rearmament.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And It's Hot Today

Daddy Ringtail looked at the thermometer. While Daddy Ringtail looked, the thermometer broke at the top and the red stuff in it came boiling out. Whew! The weather was much too hot. Daddy

Ringtail hurried away beneath the trees to find the Weatherman. The Weatherman was at the Great Forest radio station. He was talking over the radio for all to hear. Said he: "Today the weather is more of the same. Hot. Very hot. Awfully hot. I'm sorry to say it, but it's true. Now remember, folks. I didn't do it. The Weatherman didn't make the hot. I am hot the same as you are. All I do is tell you how hot you are."

With that, the Weatherman sat down in a chair to fan himself. Dr. Shoobug, who was waiting nearby, stepped up to talk on the radio. Said he: "Happy day to you folks. This is Dr. Shoobug. Uh, yes. I want to tell you what to do while the day is hot. Drink lots of water. Stay out of the sun as much as you can. Don't run yourself to make you hot."

Dr. Shoobug sat down to fan himself. It was the Weatherman's turn to talk on the radio again. Said he: "The hot weather won't stay with us. Wait until Christmas, maybe, and then you will all be cool. It always does get cool, if we wait long enough for it to happen."

The Weatherman sat down to fan himself again. Dr. Shoobug talked on the radio once again. Said he: "During these hot, hot days, we have to be careful not to get sick. Don't run in the sun. Get plenty of rest. Try to stay cool and rested and happy in the shade. Being sick is always worse if people get too tired, or if they play too hard and get hotter than they have to be." And there the Weatherman, and Dr. Shoobug too, were working and working with their talk on the radio. They were trying to tell people what to do about the weather, and I have told you the things they were saying. Daddy Ringtail slipped quietly away. There was no need to worry the Weatherman with talk about the hot. Daddy Ringtail walked slowly back to the monkey house. He tried to stay in the shade. He was doing what Dr. Shoobug had said to do about the hot, hot day: staying cool and rested and happy. Happy day! (Copyright 1950, General Features Corp.)

Proof of Last Week's "It's A Fact" THERE IS NO GREATER LEGAL PENALTY FOR STRIKING A PERSON WEARING GLASSES. WOUNDED ABOARD BRITISH HOSPITAL SHIP — Wounded American soldiers from the Korean front rest aboard a British hospital ship carrying them from Korea to an evacuation hospital in Japan. (NEA Telephone)

Plan Devised To Bar Reds From U. S. Merchant Vessels

WASHINGTON —(P)— Management and unions of the maritime industry have agreed on a security system for barring Communists and subversives from American ships. A voluntary pact under which the Coast Guard will do the actual policing was worked out Monday by representatives of ship operators and workers meeting here with federal officials. In a statement issued after the meeting, they pledged that "no ship will be delayed" because crew members are found to be bad security risks by the military. Secretary of Labor Tobin said the meeting was called because voluntary agreement between management and labor was the only way disloyal crewmen could be taken off American ships. He said the Coast Guard, the FBI and Naval Intelligence already are asking steps to spot Communist and subversive seamen. Tobin said some Communist and subversives have sailed on American ships but he is confident only loyal Americans will be found in the crews in a short time. Appeal Right Reversed "The hope is that every seaman aboard will be a loyal American and not loyal to any foreign power, regardless of his union," Tobin said. Capt. H. T. Jewell, Coast Guard representative at the meeting, said the policing system should be operating within a week. The unions agreed to furnish a replacement for any man rejected as a security risk. Either the union or the worker will have the right of appeal. The agreement provided that nobody is to be listed as a bad security risk because of union activities. A review board is to be set up in each principal port, with one member representing employers, one the union and one the Coast Guard. Over these will be a national appeals board in Washington. Unions and operators from all coasts promised the government their full cooperation during the "entire period of the emergency" caused by the Communist invasion of South Korea. Elements of the left-wing CIO Longshoremen's Union, headed by Harry Bridges, and the left-wing CIO Cooks and Stewards Union were not invited to the conference. However, Tobin said officials of three longshoremen's locals representing a majority of the total union membership were present and signed the agreement.

VFW Head Urges Members To Join Texas State Guard

John Henderson, commander of the Midland Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4149, has issued a call to all VFW members to consider joining Midland's Company A of the Texas State Guard. Representatives of State Guard Battalion Three, which comprises companies in Midland, Odessa, Crane and Big Spring, will attend a special VFW meeting Thursday night to discuss qualifications for joining the guard. The State Guard takes over defense duties in the event the National Guard Unit is called into active duty. Henderson said all VFW members who do not belong to the National Guard or a reserve unit are eligible for membership in the State Guard. Capt. Ben Crites is commander of the Midland company in the Guard. Henderson also pointed out that every member of his organization has served in his country's armed forces on foreign soil, or on hostile seas in time of war, and that in the ranks of his post are men expertly trained and competent to handle any emergency that might arise because of present world conditions. In requesting that all members attend the Thursday night meeting, Henderson said "in the event the Texas National Guard and active reserve components are ordered to full-time duty, the VFW wants to assure our city and county of our fullest cooperation and immediate action in helping form the nucleus of a home defense unit qualified to meet any emergency that might arise."

Pecos Station Is Destroyed By Fire

PECOS — Fire which broke out about 2:20 a.m. Monday destroyed the Bowers & Kelly Chevron Station on West Highway 80, causing damages estimated at between $32,000 and $35,000. The fire apparently started when a spark from an electric switch box ignited fumes from a butane delivery truck which was to be washed. The butane truck and another truck, belonging to Ted Lindemann, were destroyed. The three station attendants— Dick Dolan, Louis Guerrero and Manuel Jimenez—tried unsuccessfully to move the butane truck out of the wash room after the fire broke out. About 25 other cars and trucks parked near the station were moved before the flames could reach them. The only part of the building undamaged was a room on the east side of the wash room, which is occupied by a Negro adobe. The back wall of the building was cracked, apparently by the explosion.

Agriculture Course Will Be Offered In Pecos High School

PECOS — Courses in vocational agriculture will be offered for the first time this Fall for boys in the Pecos High School. Harry Blonden, who received his master's degree from Texas Tech in May, has been employed on a full-time basis to teach the course. The full scope of the new course has not been determined, but a three or four-year curriculum may be offered if enough boys are interested. The courses, Blonden said, will be designed to teach boys how to raise and market their crops and livestock. He plans to combine theory with practice in his courses. One of the requirements will be to have projects of chickens, cotton, livestock or similar projects. Though the courses will end with the closing of school each Spring, many of the projects may continue through Summer.

Cafe Men Ask Price Freeze, Rollback

WASHINGTON —(P)— The Restaurant Beverage Association of Washington Tuesday proposed an "immediate freeze and rollback" of food prices. In a resolution sent to President Truman and Congress, the organization of cafe operators said they were faced "overnight with 10 to 20 per cent price increases which they said they were "unable and unwilling to pass on to consumers." Hugo Grotius, the great Dutch scholar of his day, had a good law practice at 17 and was attorney general at 24.

Peron Leaders Down Anti-Red Proposal

BUENOS AIRES —(P)— Pres. Juan D. Peron's congressional leaders have repudiated a proposed bill to outlaw communism in Argentina. The leaders said the bill would not be considered by any committee or debated in the Chamber of Deputies. Four Administration deputies introduced the bill July 19. Monday Chamber President Hector J. Campora and Peronista Leader Angel Miel Asquia told newsmen the bill does not reflect the spirit or feeling of Peron's party. Popcorn may be grown on any soil that will grow good field corn.

U. S., Australian Planes Pound Red Tanks, Supply Lines

TOKYO—(P)—American and Australian planes Tuesday destroyed or damaged 21 Red tanks, 15 bridges and an armored car and raked enemy supply lines in stepped up activity.

Ten tanks, dispatches from Korea said, were destroyed. A far East Air Forces spokesman in Korea said 11 more were damaged.

The 64 air missions in 191 sorties were in close coordination with operations of the U. S. First Cavalry Division on the Taejon - Yongdong highway front. The planes ranged also to Kwangju, deep in Southwest Korea, where Red forces ranged unchecked by token forces of South Korean police.

At the same time it was announced the Fifth Air Force would step up its night operations against the Communists, who have been moving men and tanks in long columns under the cover of darkness.

"We've got to pin them down at night," said Major Gen. Earl E. Partridge at Fifth Air Force Headquarters in Korea.

He said the Reds were able to maintain steady ground pressure because of night operations.

Catch Truck Column
Monday night two Mustangs caught a truck column west of Yongdong in bright moonlight and strafed it. Partridge said the invaders have been moving motorized columns 25 miles long at night with lights on.

Two North Korean planes struck back in a retaliatory raid on American and South Korean positions, field dispatches said Tuesday.

B-29 Superforts ripped holes in a network of 12 to 15 strategic railroad bridges used to move Communist troops and supplies to battlefronts.

Attack bombers and rocket-blasting fighters attacked along Korea's Western Coast line as far north as Seoul, then swung eastward to smash marshalling yards at Chechon, 70 miles inland from the East Coast.

In still other action Mustangs—some of which may have arrived on a fast American aircraft carrier this week—worked in close support of embattled ground forces.

One North Korean plane was destroyed on the ground and another probably damaged in an attack by Fifth Air Force jets on Kimpo Airfield, near Seoul.

FEAF said the North Koreans presumably were trying to put Kimpo back in shape as an operational airfield. Only a few days ago Kimpo was not in use.

While FEAF reported no enemy air opposition, a spokesman at Eighth Army Headquarters said two North Korean planes attacked "friendly troops" Tuesday in the vicinity of Hamchang on the central sector.

No Details Given
There were no details. It was not learned whether South Korean or American troops were the target. The attack was presumed to be a strafing run.

B-29s reported good to excellent results in knocking out spans on railroad and highway bridges at Kongju, springboard for the Red drive along the Southwestern Coast of Korea, and at Chongju, from where Red troops on the central sector are streaming southward.

B-29s also hit spans at Ichon on the West Coast, at Seoul, the former Southern capital, and Pongtaek, a battleground early in the war.

Jet shooting stars of the Fifth Air Force said they destroyed or damaged 19 tanks, 36 trucks, 10 railroad cars and three locomotives among other targets.

Mustang pilots of the Royal Australian Air Force claimed an additional five tanks, one armored car, three artillery field pieces and five trucks. The Australians were operating in close support of American ground forces, presumably in the Yongdong sector.

Planes Streak South

American piloted Mustangs and F-80 jets streaked south to hit Namwon, nearly 80 miles south of Taejon. A Red column there was probing along a railroad line which leads back of American advanced positions.

Mustangs operating from a base in Korea concentrated on Communist forces north of Yangdok on the East Coast. These pilots said one tank and 12 to 15 small boats were destroyed by rocket fire.

One Mustang pilot bailed out over the sea after his plane was hit by ground fire. He was picked up by the South Korean Navy and returned to his base by another ship. The pilot flew another mission in the afternoon.

The pilot was identified as Lt. Edward I. Stinson.

THATCH SHOULD FOOL 'EM—Rice straw is used to camouflage a U. S. Army truck in South Korea. Machine gun and two-man crew also use straw to hide them from North Korean planes.

Things Are In a Mesh—

Vicki Janis, of North Hollywood, Calif., shows off her glitter-gams, encased in the most expensive stockings ever made. They are of 24-carat gold mesh and the price tag is $5000. Vicki displayed them at a hosiery fashion show in New York City. She didn't say whether or not they are run-proof, but a jeweler would probably find them darn easy to fix.

Kermit Man Dies In Crash Near Odessa

ODESSA—Joe Robertson, 37, Kermit carpenter, was killed Monday when the car in which he was riding swerved to avoid hitting a truck and overturned 15 miles west of here.

He was enroute to work at Midland when the accident occurred. The car rolled over twice, throwing Robertson about 50 feet from it.

Survivors include the widow, a daughter, Buena, and a son, Delbert.

New Giant Rocket Test Slated; First Flight Is Successful

LONG RANGE PROVING GROUND, OCOOA, FLA.—(P)—Another giant two-stage rocket will be fired here Saturday in a second horizontal test flight of guided missiles.

The first such successful flight was made Monday when a 14-ton German V-2 rocket with a 700-pound missile on its nose made a climbing turn miles out over the Atlantic.

The V-2 reached 10 miles into the air, then curved downward and was exploded by remote control. Its debris fell into the sea 48 miles from the launching platform. It reached a speed of 2,700 miles an hour.

Col. Harold R. Turner, safety officer and former commandant of the proving ground at White Sands, N. M., said the intended range of the WAC Corporal was in excess of 175 miles.

The two rockets measured 60 feet high and rose in a burst of flame and the sound of a sharp thunder-clap. Power was on the V-2 only a minute and it burned up 10 tons of liquid oxygen and alcohol in that time.

Gyroscopic controls took charge as it thundered upward and bent its path toward the open sea. It was at 51,000 feet after only a minute and 20 seconds of flight.

Then the WAC Corporal separated from the mother rocket and sped on at a rate described as "the sum of the two rockets." No estimate of the speed was made officially, but private estimates ran as high as 5,000 miles an hour.

William Henderson, an associate of Luther Burbank, developed a type of gladiolus that has perfume.

Thomas, Monroney Learn Fate Tuesday In Oklahoma Ballot

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.—(AP)—Oklahoma Democrats were picking their candidates for U. S. Senate and governor Tuesday in one of the bitterest runoff primaries in years. A vote exceeding 400,000 was expected. Polls opened at 6 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m.

Elmer Thomas, a 73-year-old veteran of 24 years in the U. S. Senate, is fighting for his political life against Rep. Mike Monroney, Oklahoma's Fifth District congressman since 1938.

Monroney led Thomas by 14,653 votes in the July 4 primary but lacked a majority in the seven-man race.

Liquor—in bone-dry Oklahoma—was injected as a side issue in the closing days of the Senate race. But the candidates themselves pitched their campaigns on preparedness, farm parities and rural electrification.

The Oklahoma United Drys, through their secretary, Rev. Roy Hollomon, and attorney, David C. Shepard, endorsed Thomas. The senator told the drys he would support the Langer Bill which would bar interstate advertisement of liquor. Monroney said the measure was unconstitutional because it violated freedom of the press.

Both Thomas and Monroney returned to Washington when the fighting in Korea took a serious turn.

The governor's race between Johnston Murray and William O. Coe also has been unusually bitter. Murray, the son of former Oklahoma Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, led Coe by 88,000 votes in the first primary. But the Oklahoma City attorney is believed to have narrowed the gap in the runoff campaign.

Coe charged Murray with failure to support his first wife and child and with avoiding World War II Army service.

Both Murray's first wife and his son publicly denied the non-support charges. And Murray said he resigned his National Guard commission in 1938 and later was rejected for reinstatement because of his age.

Also at stake in the voting were the Fifth and Seventh District congressional races, a half-dozen state offices, nine State Senate and 35 House seats.

Selection of an American actress to portray the great Victoria brought loud protests from some English circles.

Jap Artist Given Death For Poison Murders Of 12

TOKYO.—(AP)—A mild-mannered Japanese artist was sentenced to death Monday for the poison slayings of 12 persons in a $456 bank robbery.

The painter, Sadamichi Hirazawa, muttered "frameup." His attorney filed an appeal.

Witnesses testified: Hirazawa walked into the Teikoku bank in Tokyo Jan. 26, 1948, and told the bank workers he was a health official. He insisted they drink some "medicine" he put in their teacups. The "medicine" was potassium cyanide.

Sixteen workers drank it. As they collapsed, writhing, Hirazawa made off with 164,400 yen (about $456).

Four of the stricken workers recovered. Hirazawa had signed a confession but later repudiated it. He pleaded not guilty.

Eugene R. Smith Is School Board Winner

EL PASO—Eugene R. Smith of El Paso appeared on incomplete returns Monday to have won the nomination to the State Board of Education from the 16th Congressional District in Saturday's balloting.

The 5,226 votes cast for Smith in El Paso County appeared sufficient for him to win the write-in race.

Since no one filed for the position the name of the office did not appear on the ballot in most counties.

No woman is permitted on Mount Athos with its 146 monasteries.

J. Parnell Thomas' Clemency Plea Denied

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The U. S. Parole Board Monday refused to parole former Representative J. Parnell Thomas (R-M), who is serving six to 18 months on conviction of padding his congressional payroll.

As usual, the board gave no reason when announcing it had rejected Thomas' parole application. Members noted, however, in response to inquiries, that in addition to his prison term, Thomas was also fined $10,000 and that no arrangements for paying this have been made.

Army Freeze Order Stops Expiration Of All Commissions

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Army has frozen reserve commissions expiring or about to expire, a spokesman said Tuesday.

These are five-year commissions held by officers who are not now on active duty.

A large number of these five-year commissions were signed by officers who in September and October of 1945, in the months immediately following the end of World War II, left active duty and signed up for the reserves. Now these commissions are beginning to expire, just as the Korean crisis grows more and more acute.

Therefore, the Army has issued a freeze order.

The Air Force said it has been unable to freeze commissions of its reserve officers. The explanation, a spokesman said, is that the Air Force commissions were issued under a later law than that used by the Army. Legislative action would be required to keep five-year commissions in the Air Force in effect, it was said.

There is no problem for the Navy and Marine Corps. Their reserve commissions run "at the pleasure of the President." There is no expiration date.

The Army and Air Force may order up some reservists who are not on a drill-pay basis, but the Navy and Marine Corps contemplate no such move at the moment.

The Army, now calling up smaller-than-divisional organized units, says some volunteer reserve officers expert in radar and communications are being called up as individuals and units.

The Air Force says it may call on volunteer training units for specialists if such reservists are readily available and their skills are critical.

The Navy expects to get all the men needed from its organized reserve and fleet reserve, made up of those put on inactive duty after 20 years' service. The Marines, likewise, do not contemplate any involuntary recall of volunteer reservists.

Members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC)—Army, Navy and Air Force—are exempt from the draft during their junior and senior years in college. The exemption then ceases unless they accept their commissions and go on active duty for two years.

Luckless Tribe Loses 2-1 Tilt; To Try Again

The Midland Indians and the Odessa Oilers continue their feud at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Indian Park. The Oilers likely will shoot one of their aces, Ray Knoblauch or Al Sokolowski, against Midland's LeRoy Jarl.

Ralph Blair pitched a 1 to 0 shutout Monday night in Indian Park but he didn't get credit for it. A pair of costly errors which set up two unearned runs for the Odessa Oilers cost Blair and the Midland Indians a 2 to 1 defeat.

Blair was the boss all the way when it came to pitching. He had the Oilers eating out of his hand but he just couldn't beat the toughest team in the league and the errors, too.

It was Blair who teamed up with Kenny Jones to give the Indians a 1 to 0 lead in the fifth inning.

Jones led off with a line double to left field. Blair followed him to the plate and rammed a single through the hole to score Jones from third after he had advanced on Jim Carson's wild pitch.

The Indians threatened a half dozen other times but never could muster the power to get another tally across.

Odessa tied the score in the seventh. Emil Ogden walked with two away. Bill Hovetter singled to center.

Bobby Phillips, playing the center garden in the place of the injured Bob Cramer and ailing Quentin Basco, made a fine throw to third in time to catch Ogden who had tripped as he rounded second.

The ball hit the hard infield and bounced right on through George Firnback's outstretched glove. Umpire Happy Sykes ruled the ball went into the Odessa dugout and allowed Ogden to score under the ground rules.

The ninth inning brought the final Odessa tally and the back breaker for the Indians.

Bill Cearley hit a hopper to Mike Bellone at second and Mike fielded it cleanly. He fixed the ball in his hand to throw and it went six feet by Jim Prince at first. Bellone has an extremely bad finger on his throwing hand, which caused the miscue.

Ogden singled Cearley to third. Then a bad break finished off the luckless Indians.

Too bad.

Ortega, playing right field for the Oilers, slapped a bouncer down to the right of Scooter Hughes at shortstop. Hughes fielded it cleanly and turned to throw to first for what would have been an easy out. As he pivoted, his feet slipped out from under him. He still made the throw and it was debatable whether it was in time or not to nip Ortega for the third out. Umpire George Thomas said it was not, so Cearley scored with the winning run.

The Indians loaded the bases in the last half of the ninth but Tex Stephenson got over-anxious on a breaking pitch and grounded it back to the pitcher for the third and final out, leaving the ducks on the pond.

The Indians were sharp afield

MUSCLE MAN—Husky Al Rosen uses the apparatus for exercise, but Cleveland's recruit third baseman is no dumb-bell slugging enemy pitcher. Battling the Red Sox' Ted Williams for the American League home-run championship and among the leaders in runs-batted-in, young Rosen's hot bat is sparking the Indians' pennant drive.

HERB FLAM—The women's phase of the tourney ended Sunday with Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., winning the singles crown and teaming with Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, to win the doubles.

Clint Hartung, Hondo Kid, May Be Under Final Test

NEW YORK—(AP)—The word has gotten around, from sources close to the New York Giants, that this is Clint Hartung's last stand.

The tall, earnest young "phenom" from Hondo, Texas, either proves himself to be a big league ball player before the present season ends or off to the minors he goes, probably not to return.

It is a sad bit of news to relate, for no player ever has tried harder to live up to an exorbitant ballyhoo than has big Clint since he reported, fresh out of the service, to the Giants in the Spring of '47.

Doesn't seem that long, does it, since the Hondo Hurricane was being blown up on the sports pages and in national magazines as the most amazing athlete to come out of the war?

His feats in inter-camp games, it is easy to recall, had been fantastic. When he didn't blind opposing batters with his tremendous speed he had rifled home runs into adjacent Pacific waters.

There was no doubt, apparently, that the Giants had bagged the rookie of the decade. The only question was whether Clint would prove more valuable on the hill or as an outfielder, where his prowess with the bat could be exploited fully.

In retrospect, it is easy to see a lot of this was foolishness. No rookie possibly could have lived up to the superlatives lavished on the lanky, bewildered young man who suddenly found himself catapulted into the big show.

But this wasn't known then, and it has taken the better part of four seasons to bring Giant officials and the club's followers to the reluctant conclusion that Hartung, approaching 28, is not going to be a superstar, or even a top-flight big leaguer.

Even today fans who read the gaudy essays about the miracle boy from Texas in the Winter and Spring of '47 frequently ask: "What's the matter with that great young rookie of the Giants?" The years plainly have slipped by on them.

The answer never is easy. The coaches and others who have worked closest with Hartung do not know quite what has kept him from living up to his great promise. They agree that no player ever tried harder or was more anxious to receive advice.

Good At Times
As a pitcher he has shown flashes of true brilliance, yet going into the current campaign his won-lost record was only 5-0-26-26—and he lost two more than he won last year. He has shown little so far this season, either as a starter or in relief.

Recently, in the same afternoon, he pitched briefly in the first game of a doubleheader and played the outfield in the second. Manager Leo Durocher is trying hard to find a spot for the big guy, knowing that it will bring pangs of disappointment to the club's front office if it finally becomes necessary to buy him a rail ticket to the minors.

All this unhappy review of the "phenom's" career and lament for his future comes from his failure, again—in Monday's exhibition game against the Boston Red Sox at Cooperstown.

For six innings he looked like a big league pitcher. Typically, he slugged a home run with two on to gain a nice lead. And then he fell apart, all in a heap. Two home run balls and he was in the shower. Time is running out on the man from Hondo.

Herb Flam Downs Schroeder In Clay Court Tennis Bout

CHICAGO—(AP)—It might be well for the Davis Cup Committee to note that 21-year-old Herb Flam has come of tennis age and that 29-year-old Ted Schroeder may be over the hill.

Flam, a crew-cut wearing senior at UCLA and the national intercollegiate champion, Monday handed Schroeder one of the worst trimmings of his career in the finals of the National Clay Courts Tourney.

Flam also shared in the doubles championship. In just 50 minutes, Flam virtually cut Schroeder's heralded game to ribbons, polishing off the nation's top amateur—as of late 1949, that is—in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Schroeder wasn't much of an improvement in Monday's Clay Court doubles finals as he and Trabert faltered and lost to Flam and clowning Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 2-6, 4-6.

The women's phase of the tourney ended Sunday with Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., winning the singles crown and teaming with Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, to win the doubles.

Longhorn League—Vernon's Cotton Russell Blanks Big Spring 4 To 0

By The Associated Press
The only crucial fight going on in the Longhorn League for the nonce is for fourth place.

Big Spring is a game ahead of Vernon but the Dusters are pulling up.

Monday night they beat Big Spring 4-0 with Cotton Russell pitching a five-hitter. Not a single Bronco runner got past second base.

Vernon made all its runs in the second and third innings.

Leading Odessa used a couple of unearned runs in the seventh and ninth to nose Midland 2-1. Evelle Ortega singled in the winning run in the ninth.

Sweetwater shoved over five runs in the third to beat Ballinger 6-5. Gene Jarech hit a two-run homer in the vital outburst.

Roswell trimmed San Angelo 13-2 on Hugh King's four-hitter. San Angelo helped Roswell along by making nine errors, five of them by Jack Smith.

Citation May Be Through For Good

CHICAGO—(AP)—Citation, world's leading money winner, definitely is out of Saturday's $75,000 Arlington Handicap and he may be all through with racing.

Trainer Jimmy Jones said Monday Citation, who has earned $938,630 in his career, pulled up lame after a workout at Arlington Park after the fifth race last Saturday.

THUMPER—Vern Stephens takes a healthy cut doing his share of taking up the slack left by Ted Williams' elbow fracture. The Red Sox shortstop is racing teammate Walt Dropo for the runs-batted-in leadership and the pair press the Indians' Al Rosen in the race for the American League home-run championship.

The trainer said the five-year-old son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane II has a filling low behind the left foreleg which was bothered by an osselet more than a year ago.

"He's definitely out of Saturday's handicap," said Jones. "We're going to walk him for a day or two and maybe put a saddle on and ride him later. We'll try to bring him back, but it's certain that we won't race him unless he returns to his true condition."

"I can't say for sure that he's all through," Jones added. "But it looks like it. He's a little better than after Saturday's workout. I would certainly like to hit the million-dollar mark with him, but I wouldn't want to break him down trying."

Wen 29 of 35 Races
The Calumet standard bearer won 29 out of 35 races and finished second nine times in his brilliant career. He has never finished worse than second. In 1948 as a three-year-old he won 19 of 20 starts, winning $709,470—a record for one year.

However, even with Citation out and the No. 1 handicap performer of them all, Mrs. Charles Howard's Noor, remaining aloof, Arlington's patrons are assured of a worthy race Saturday when the meeting comes to a close.

Jones said Calumet Farm will be represented by Ponder, winner of last year's Kentucky Derby. This colt has been allotted top weight of 128 pounds.

Four challengers from the East are expected to be among the contenders in the mile and a quarter handicap. They are Cochine and Greek Song, the Brandwine pair; Loser Weeper and Three Rings. The latter was a loser Saturday in the Monmouth Handicap.

Other horses which might show up to guarantee a spirited race are Volcanic, Oil Capitol and King Ranch's Curandero.

Ferrier Edges Sam Snead At St. Paul

ST. PAUL, MINN.—(AP)—Big Jim Ferrier Tuesday had the $2,000 first prize money in the St. Paul Open and the No. 9 spot as a money winner among golf professionals, thanks to a six-spot putt that Sam Snead missed.

Snead missed the putt on the twenty-first hole of the playoff forced when the two of them finished Sunday's round of the 72-hole event tied up at 278-12 strokes under par.

They finished the scheduled 18-hole playoff Monday, still all even after Snead put up a stiff battle, and were forced into a "sudden death" affair. They remained even for two more holes.

Ferrier's $2,000 prize money boosted his winnings for the Summer Professional Golf Association's tour to $18,246.86 and pushed him into the No. 2 money-winning spot behind Snead.

Snead's $1,900 second-place money gave him a total of $28,111.34.

WT-NM League—Pampa Clings To Two-Point Lead

By The Associated Press

You certainly couldn't ask for a better race than that being put on in the West Texas-New Mexico League.

Pampa leads Lamesa by two points and is only 18 ahead of Lubbock.

Monday night Pampa edged Clovis 8-7 on six costly errors and Oz Engle's three-run homer.

Second-place Lamesa, downed Borger 9-3 in 11 innings. Glen Selbo's three-run homer decided the issue.

Third-place Lubbock downed Albuquerque 7-3 as Bob Clodfelter notched his fourteenth pitching victory with an eight-hitter.

Amarillo trimmed Abilene 14-13, scoring eight runs in the eighth inning on pitching wildness, two errors and two scratch hits.

SPORT SLANTS

BY SHORTY SHELburnE

The Midland Indians may play some hard games before the season is completed but they'll have to go a long way to play one that was harder fought than Monday night's battle with the Odessa Oilers in Indian Park.

With any kind of luck at all, the Indians would have won going away. You can't blame the loss on the ball club because two-thirds of the players shouldn't even be on the field.

—SS—

Injuries that would keep most of us in bed are being shaken off by the ailing Indians game after game as they continue their fight for the first division.

Jim Prince, Kenny Jones, Mike Bellons, Scooter Hughes, Quentin Basco, Bob Cramer and maybe another one or two are the guys we are calling to your attention.

—SS—

Basco played center field last Friday night with a temperature running above 100 degrees. He turned in the best performance we have seen of a Midland center fielder in a long time.

Saturday morning he just had to give up. The doctor put him in the hospital.

He's out now but looking little better than a man on his death bed.

—SS—

Jim Prince is nursing a back injury he re-injured in the All-Star game last week. On top of that, he has been hit by pitched balls three times since then.

Kenny Jones has a goose egg lump on his arm that would sideline anyone else. But he, like Prince, is staying right in there.

Scooter Hughes has a side and leg injury but you couldn't tell it by watching him go get 'em.

Bob Cramer is lost to the club completely with a leg injury.

Ralph Blair, the solid guy who always goes out there and gives his very best, wasn't in much shape to pitch Monday night. He had played the outfield two days in succession before.

But it was Ralph who tossed a six-hitter at the Oilers just the same. You can't beat that.

—SS—

That's the situation with the Midland Indians right now, friend, and we think they are lucky to be fielding a team at all.

Funny thing about it is, they are playing .500 ball, so they can't be playing a listless brand. They can't be playing any less than their very best and that's all anyone can do.

—SS—

When a man's down they always say, "Give him a hand. Help him up."

The Indians are down now. They need a hand—need helping up.

What do you say? Let's give 'em a hand and help 'em along.

It might make the boys feel better to be cheered once this season instead of being called a bunch of bums.

MAJOR LEAGUES—

With Help From Mother Nature, Bucs Edge Phils

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fuzzy cheeked Philadelphia Phillies may have cause to remember Monday, July 24, 1950, to their rocking-chair days.

It was on that day that the flashy Whiz Kids of Philadelphia lost a heartbreaking game—and perhaps a pennant with it—the victims of a one-in-a-thousand episode.

The box score of Monday night's Philadelphia-Pittsburgh game shows only the cold figures that the Pirates defeated the Phils 2-1 in a six-inning game terminated by rain.

What it fails to show is that the Phils actually were leading the Bucs 3-2 when the rains came down.

How come they lost? Because Pittsburgh, the home club, was deprived of a chance to bat in its half of the seventh inning. Under the league rules, the game reverts to the previous inning if the trailing home club does not get a chance to bat.

Waikuis Homers

The Bucs, behind Rookie Bill Macdonald, had a 2-1 lead when the Phils came up to bat in the top of

And you tell yourself this is entirely too perfect.

All this automobile must be hard to handle, too big for your garage.

Good sir, just slide over and take this ROADMASTER's wheel.

Pick a curb space you'd ordinarily pass by, and back this Buick into it on your very first try.

Here Buick has done a neat job of reducing over-all inches while keeping interior king-size comfort. When you wheel this whopper into your own garage, you'll be tickled pink at the room all around it.

So come on! Head for your Buick dealer's now for a tryout of a Buick ROADMASTER.

You will find it in a selection of body types, in finishes to suit a queen's taste—and at prices to make you wonder why anyone ever pays more.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT
This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) serves as repair seat—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and jockeying easier.

Only BUICK has Dynaflo-Drive!

And with it goes HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New V-8's engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fenders, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less overall length for easier parking and jockeying, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SPECIAL and SUPER models.

Texas League—

Beaumont Wins 3-1; Cats Lose

By The Associated Press

Fort Worth's immediate concern in a hectic Texas League race is a bunch of Roughnecks. Not the brawling, slugging kind but Beaumont's ambitious, driving Roughnecks who have begun to breathe on the Cats' furry necks.

The Cats are losing and Beaumont isn't—and the denouement is going to be a new leader unless the situation changes radically.

Monday night Beaumont won its thirteenth game in the last 14 starts to move within four and one-half of the league-leading Cats, who took another drubbing. It's the closest any club has been to Fort Worth in quite a spell.

Beaumont trimmed Tulsa 3-1 to sweep the four-game series with Art Delduca scoring nine Oiler hits just right. The Roughs got two runs in the second inning to sew up the decision early.

Cats Fall Again

Third-place San Antonio batted down Fort Worth again with a 5-3 decision with Angelo Nardella limiting the Cats to four hits. Clarence Podbielan hurled seven-hit ball for Fort Worth but was the victim of two unearned runs.

Oklahoma City took over undisputed fourth by trimming Shreveport 4-3 while Dallas fell into fifth by splitting a doubleheader with Houston.

Fred Marsh's two-run double in the ninth gave Oklahoma City its victory and a sweep of the three-game series. Wildness of Andy Bush and Leroy Jones loaded the bases and set up the game-winning two-bagger.

Dallas and Houston wound up a series in which they played 47 innings to get in three games. Houston went 10 innings to win the first game 4-3 as Joe Preako fashioned a five-hitter. Dallas took the night-cap 3-1 with Walt Lanfranconi giving up only seven hits and having a shutout going into the ninth.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

Mrs. Wade H. Heath, 808 West Tennessee Street, was admitted Monday afternoon to Midland Memorial Hospital, where she was to undergo major surgery.

SURGICAL PATIENT

Virginia Taylor, owner of the Oaks Cafe, was admitted Monday to Midland Memorial Hospital for minor surgery.

ADMITTED FOR TREATMENT

Nathan L. Brown of Terminal, assistant manager of Pioneer Airlines, was admitted Tuesday to Midland Memorial Hospital as a medical patient.

Standard Of Texas, Shell Win Softball

Standard of Texas tripped the Rendezvous 4-3 and Shell slaughtered the winless Reporter-Telegram aggregation 16-1 in softball games played Monday night in the Jaycee-sponsored City Major League.

The Rendezvous - Standard tilt was a thriller. Jim Fliesey led off the top of the first inning with a double off Standard's Chester Campbell and took third base on a bad throw from the outfield. Joe Wirshing popped out to third but Hugh Bliss' long fly to centerfield scored the run.

Standard retaliated in the bottom of the inning with John Cooper's tally on an infield out. He got on base with a fielder's choice.

The score was 3-1 going into the top of the sixth; as the Standard batting order kept pecking at Pitcher Don Bizzell.

Tie Score

With two men out on fly balls, the Rendezvous "Choc" Williams came through with a clean single. Johnny MacDonald followed with a blow down the third base line and both runners scampered home when the leftfielder neglected to field the ball for the throw in. It tied the score at 3-3.

Harold Sherrod brought a quick end to the 3-3 deadlock after a double play had retired the first two Standard batters. Sherrod cracked a long triple to left-centerfield and scored the winning run on Milt Montgomery's one-bagger. The game was called for time at the end of the sixth inning.

Shell All Way

The Reporter-Telegram's loss to Shell was the kind of game the score would indicate. Frank McCormick singled after the first two batters flew out and came home on a passed ball. Shell tallied five more times on two hits and two Reporter errors in the opening frame and never slowed down.

Jimmy Chauncey scored for the losers in the fourth inning. He singled on, stole second base and reached third on a balk. He crossed the plate when the catcher dropped a swing third strike.

The line scores:

Rendezvous 100 002-3 4 5
Standard 111 001-4 5 2
Bizzell and MacDonald; Campbell and Davis.

Reporter 000 10-1 3 7
Shell 623 5x-16 7 1
Collyar, Kitchens and Chauncey; Salmon and Regan.

Negro Boy Scouts Attending Camp

Thirteen negro Boy Scouts from Midland are attending camp at the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains, as the regular camping season of the council comes to an end.

The 12 Midland Scouts, a record for the district, and the greatest number of any district in the council, joined 12 from Odessa and six from Pecos at the camp.

Negro Scouts from Midland attending are William B. Jordan, Johnnie Lee Davis, Burlee Bonner, J. C. Hickey, Cleo Miller, Joe Clements, Clint Jefferson, Jeff Caruthers, Dogan Caruthers, Johnnie Lee Jefferson, Lucious Davis, Delle Wilkerson and Henry Sam.

E. L. Jordan, principal of Carver School, accompanied the Scouts.

More than 500 Scouts from the Buffalo Trail Council have attended the camp this year, a record attendance, according to Hermann Williams, chairman of the Midland District Camping Committee.

Ranch facilities will remain open for individual troop camping activities, Williams said.

Army PIO Calls Off Security Check Of War Writers' Copy

TOKYO — (AP) — Correspondents covering the Korean war no longer have to submit their copy for a security check by the U. S. 8th Army's Public Information Office, a 8th Army memorandum said Tuesday.

Newsmen may, however, have their stories checked by the PIO if they want to protect themselves against unintentional security violations.

News dispatches from the field must be submitted to the 8th Army PIO to be transmitted over the signal corps teletype at Tokyo, the memorandum said. But the stories would not be checked for security unless the correspondent specifically asked for it.

The 8th Army also said it would check copy that correspondents in Korea telephone to Tokyo—if newsmen so desire.

Connections Promised

Telephone connections with Tokyo were promised daily between 2 a.m. and 4 p.m. of the preceding day unless there was an emergency. Telephone time would be divided among the many correspondents.

Correspondents in the field were urged to observe security regulations and again cautioned "to avoid writing anything which might give aid and comfort to the enemy or hinder the effort of the United Nations forces."

The newsmen were warned: "Criticism of command decisions or of the conduct of Allied soldiers on the battlefield will not be tolerated."

Newsmen who failed to comply with these—or previous instructions—would be subject to "disciplinary action," the memorandum said.

LOUD SPEAKERS—A $200,000,000 ring of American radio stations to encircle the U. S. S. R. and its satellite nations is being considered by Congress, following its recommendation by Brig.-Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of RCA. Map shows how programs, telling the American story, would be beamed into the Iron Curtain countries. General Sarnoff estimated that the $200,000,000 initial cost would be about the price of two battleships and that maintenance would run about $50,000,000 a year.

AFL, CIO Leaders Talk Of Unification

WASHINGTON — (AP) — For the first time in more than three years, AFL and CIO leaders Tuesday began a series of meetings to discuss the unification of labor.

No merger of the big rival organizations is expected in the immediate future. But since their last unity talks in May, 1947, they steadily have increased their cooperation in the international field, and to some extent in domestic matters.

The new talks in the opinion of men on both sides—could lead to a great increase in that cooperation.

NEGRO MINISTERIAL STUDENT SLAYS WIFE

FORT WORTH — (AP) — A negro ministerial student shot his estranged wife to death on a downtown street Monday night.

The victim was Cleo Frazier, 26. The student, Charles B. Frazier, 31, told police he shot his wife "because she left me—she didn't want to lead the kind of life I did."

Baptist Congress Warns Of Dangers To Christian Ideals

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Baptist World Congress Tuesday warned that at no other time has Christianity been in greater danger of "losing sight" of its principles and ideals.

The warning was in a manifesto prepared by a 19-member commission on religious liberty headed by Dr. Stanley I. Stuber of New York, N. Y. It bore the approval of the Baptist World Alliance Executive Committee as an official pronouncement.

The manifesto said: "The principle of separation of church and state in some areas, even in places where it is now practiced, is seriously questioned; officers and members of churches have been arrested and imprisoned on an increasing scale both in Communist countries and others where the Roman Catholic Church is dominant."

"Moreover, we regret to note that in a few nations, where there are established Protestant churches, minority religious groups are sometimes subject to legal disabilities."

The manifesto asserted that "x x x not only do Communists imprison Roman Catholics and Protestants; Roman Catholics are ready to persecute Protestants, and certain Protestants to a lesser degree deny Roman Catholics and others full liberty."

"Reaffirm Position"

"We as Baptists, now reaffirm our historical position, and pledge ourselves to seek for all men the right of free and unhindered access to God and the right to form and propagate opinion in the sphere of religion without interference by civil and religious powers."

The manifesto appealed to rulers of Communist lands to "cease their policy of discrimination against religion," asked all Baptist churches to "lead in the proclamation and practice of religious liberty," and called upon the United Nations to "apply the principles of universal declaration of human rights to nations and territories now under the domination of any one particular religious force x x x."

Dr. Culbert Rutenber of Philadelphia, Pa., declared at a Congress session Tuesday that the presence of world totalitarianism makes politics the chief business of Christians.

The professor of philosophy and religion at Eastern Theological Seminary said the "totalitarian state is the most urgent problem of our civilization."

"The blasphemy of the omniscient state," he added, "is that it seeks to annihilate the individual conscience, thereby robbing a man of his humanity and debasing him into a repeater of slogans."

Another speaker was Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, a school at Atlanta, Ga., attended by negroes.

Dr. Mays pointed out that despite what he called the "Christian light" one of the "most segregated institutions is America's God's church—segregated both in the North and in the South."

"We seldom begin with what is Christian or just, what is right or honorable. We usually begin by asking what is expedient and how much will the traffic bear," he added.

Threat Of Island Invasion Is Ended

TAIPEI, FORMOSA — (AP) — The threatened Chinese Communist invasion of Quemoy Island off the China Coast opposite Formosa ended Tuesday — at least temporarily.

The Defense Ministry said Red junks seen approaching the 50 square mile island did not strike.

Chiang Kai-Shek's elder son, Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo, returned Sunday from Quemoy. He reported morale there high.

Undulant fever in man is traceable to brucellosis in cattle.

MacKenzie King Rites Wednesday

OTTAWA, ONT.—(AP)—The body of former Prime Minister William Lyon MacKenzie King lay in state Tuesday in the purple and black draped Hall of Fame in Canada's House of Parliament.

A four-man honor guard, representing the Army, Navy, Air Force and Royal Canadian Mounted, stood at the casket. They will remain there until it is carried between long lines of servicemen to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Wednesday for a state funeral.

King, a bachelor, died Saturday at 75. He was prime minister for 21 years—longer than any other one man ever guided the destinies of any British commonwealth.

He will be interred Thursday at Mount Pleasant Cemetery in Toronto.
