Bridges Ordered To Jail

SAN FRANCISCO — (P) — A federal judge Saturday ordered Harry Bridges to jail as "dangerous to the security of this country."

The judge, George B. Harris, then denied motions of Bridges' attorneys for a stay, to permit him freedom over the weekend.

A U. S. marshal's deputy took the president of the big CIO Longshore Union to jail.

Judge Harris revoked the $25,000 bond under which Bridges has been free since last April when he was sentenced to five years in prison for perjury. A federal jury decided he swore falsely in his 1945 citizenship hearing by denying he was a Communist.

Since then an order has been signed stripping the Australian-born Bridges of U. S. citizenship.

"It was not unexpected," the dock union boss said after Judge Harris had ruled, and as the deputy marshal was waiting to take him to the county jail. "I believe right now anyone who speaks his personal opinion on this subject (Korea) is in danger."

He had opposed intervention by the United States and United Nations in the Korean war.

Family With Bridges

Bridges' wife, Nancy, and their two small daughters were with him until he was led off to jail.

"Bridges told her, 'No tears, now.' She didn't weep."

Mrs. Bridges told reporters, "I'm so proud of him. I'm so glad he didn't crawl. His convictions and beliefs mean so much that he'd take prison rather than relinquish them."

A crowd assembled at the rear of the Federal Building to catch a look at Bridges as deputies led him to a car for the trip to the county jail.

There were shouts of "We're with you, we'll get you out, Harry."

An unidentified man ran up to the car and shouted to Bridges: "You deserved this. You are a traitor."

Bridges flushed and started toward the car.

'Know Midland' Series Begins In This Issue

On another page of this Sunday edition of The Reporter-Telegram is the first of a series of 40 pages devoted to the "Midland Story"—a series which will depict in words and pictures many of the factors which have made Midland a fine city in which to live.

The series is sponsored by public-spirited merchants, business men and private citizens, in cooperation with The Reporter-Telegram.

One page a week will be presented, in the Sunday Reporter-Telegram. It will be excellent source material for school children, and can be clipped as it appears, to be saved in a scrap book.

Many other Midlanders will want to mail these pages to friends and relatives, to illustrate the growth and prosperity of the capital of the Permian Basin Empire.

The Reporter-Telegram urges Midlanders to read and save the entire 40-page series, the better to "Know Midland"—Build Midland And Tell The Midland Story.

French Cabinet Okays Defense Budget Hike

PARIS — (P) — The French Cabinet Saturday night approved a note to the United States which authoritative sources said commits France possibly to double her defense spending next year. The 1950 military budget totals 420,000,000,000 francs (about $1,200,000,000).

The French memorandum answers a request by the United States to its North Atlantic Pact allies for information on what steps they can take to bolster Western defenses against Communist aggression. It is believed to carry a request for dollar aid to foot most of the bill.

DALLAS FIRMS ISSUE CALL FOR WORKERS

DALLAS — (P) — Seven Dallas firms producing planes, apparel and armament for fighting forces, issued a call for 500 workers Saturday.

It is the largest number sought for defense work in recent weeks, and for the first time there are job openings for semi-skilled workers, M. R. Kelly, Dallas District director of Texas Employment Commission, said.

OFF TO ANOTHER TASK—Long lines of South Korean policemen move back from the front lines for duty in overcrowded cities. These hastily recruited police were being relieved in the lines by fresh American troops, and returned to the rear cities where they are needed.

Policies Announced For Deferments

WASHINGTON — (P) — Worried whether the draft might yank the boy out of school? Or whether you yourself can get a deferment?

Nobody can tell you for sure what will happen. But Selective Service officials say this is the policy, laid down partly in laws and partly in regulations:

Only persons in the 19 through 25 age group can be drafted now, although 18-year-olds must register.

If you are in the right age bracket and have a job, it's up to your local draft board to decide whether your type of work is of the kind and importance to warrant a deferment. The board is supposed to defer anyone whose employment or occupation "is found to be necessary to the maintenance of national health, safety, or interests."

Nobody is giving the board yet a definite list of jobs the government considers vital. So the board has pretty wide discretion.

Lists Are Provided

The Commerce and Labor Department have given the armed services lists of critical occupations to us as a guide in calling up members of the reserves and National Guard. But Selective Service shows little interest in such lists. After all, its job isn't to see that business has enough manpower, but that the armed services do.

Suit, Selective Service might get around later on to using job lists. It had them during World War II, although only for purposes of advising draft boards.

Either you or your boss can ask for a deferment because of the nature of your job. And the board has to be convinced you can't be replaced and that putting you in uniform would mean a "material loss" to the employer.

Leonard Huff Is Injured Seriously

Leonard J. Huff, Jr., 28, of 1903 North Big Spring Street early Saturday was injured seriously in an automobile collision at the intersection of Colorado and Missouri Streets. Huff was rushed to Midland Memorial Hospital in a Newline W. Ellis ambulance.

Doctors said he suffered severe lacerations of the lower back, the right ear and body and multiple contusions and abrasions. He also has an ankle injury.

Huff, an employe of the Tex-Harvey Drilling Company, was traveling across Missouri Street when the accident occurred. He was pinned under his car, police said.

Police Chief Jack Ellington said Otis B. Robertson, Midland negro, was driving the automobile which was in collision with Huff's car. He was not injured.

Huff's condition Saturday was reported to be "satisfactory."

AF Representative To Visit Midland Monday

A representative of the United States Air Force will visit Midland Monday to inspect this area as a possible site for a proposed Air Force Academy, City Manager W. H. Oswalt announced Saturday.

The Air Force currently is studying several sites throughout the country to determine the most acceptable one for the location of the academy.

Delegates Declare Russian Veto Can't Stop UN War Effort

LAKE SUCCESS — (P) — Delegates in the United Nations say a Soviet veto cannot stop the UN war effort against invading North Korean Reds now, but could frustrate the Security Council if the Communists start trouble anywhere else.

If a new Communist outbreak occurs and the Russians block the council by a veto, the West will go promptly to the General Assembly for action.

UN diplomats have waited vainly this week for Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik to show why he returned to the Security Council last Tuesday after a half-year boycott. He introduced Friday a peace program for Korea, but the view of some diplomats is that he came back really to isolate the United States from its allies in the UN.

"Russian inspired" John M. Chang, of the Republic of Korea, in a statement called the Communist coup in North Korea a "Russian-inspired, Russian-financed, Russian-armed and Russian-directed effort to overthrow the Republic of Korea and thus extinguish the last vestige of democracy and free government in Northeast Asia."

He said there is no need to ask anyone from these Communists to be present at the council "if the puppeteer already is in attendance at the council."

An American spokesman gave this sizeup Saturday:

This country will continue to oppose Malik's attempt to invite the North Koreans to the council table. Most members say inviting the North Koreans here to talk about a peaceful settlement would be like asking to tea a man who had burned down your house.

Some 18-Year-Olds Not Registered

Several Midland youths who recently have passed their eighteenth birthdays have not registered with the Selective Service Board, Dr. J. O. Shannon, board director, announced Saturday.

Failure to register with the board within a reasonable amount of time will result in apprehension by the FBI, Dr. Shannon said. He added that board members know who many of the youths are.

Violators are subject to be placed in the first induction calls after their apprehension. The Selective Service office here is located at 321 East Texas Street.

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

ROME — (AP) — Hundreds of Security Police, headed by the steel-helmeted Carabinieri, early Sunday raided the Rome headquarters and six district offices of the Communist party.

TOKYO — (AP) — Fourteen North Korean planes Sunday were reported destroyed or damaged by American fighters Saturday.

TOKYO — (AP) — Four British warships—two cruisers and two destroyers—bombed Incheon on Korea's west coast for two hours with "excellent" results Saturday.

Korean Successes May Change U. S. Mobilization Plans

WASHINGTON — (P) — New successes by the Korean Red Army may compel a revision in American mobilization plans to bring more combat-ready troops into action faster.

High military planners have been talking recently of the probability that it would be late Fall or early Winter before additional National Guard divisions could be brought into federal service under the present mobilization plan. They explained facilities of the Regular Army are limited and that men must be trained to bring up to wartime strength the four guard divisions already selected.

But that was before it began to appear the last water barrier on the perimeter of the South Korean defense line might not be held and that still more desperate fighting might have to be done in mountain positions closer to the key port of Pusan.

At the Pentagon Saturday spokesmen still maintained, emphatically, that the South Korean beachhead would be held until the time when a build-up of strength would allow a break-out and the beginning of a counter-offensive.

But they did not insist that the Naktong River line was the final position.

Not did anyone want to remember the declaration of a week ago by Lt. Gen. Walton Walker, 8th Army commander, that the line then (some miles farther out than Saturday) was where the stand would be made, that not another inch of ground would be given.

Estimates of the time it will take to get the four National Guard (Continued On Page Five)

Report Says Reds Talking New Strike

TOKYO — (P) — Soviet Vice Premier V. M. Molotov Sunday was reported—without confirmation—confering with Chinese Red leaders on an invasion of Formosa, which was described as "imminent."

A Japanese anti-Communist organization reported that Molotov had been in the Chinese Communist capital several weeks.

Molotov reportedly was in conference with Mao Tse-Tung, Chinese Communist leader, and Kyuchi Tokuda, secretary general of the Japanese Communist Party who disappeared from Tokyo two months ago.

Talk Main Issues

The three were said to be conferring on three main issues:

(1) The invasion of Formosa.

(2) The question of Chinese participation in the Korean war.

(3) A master plan in which Japanese Communists would attempt widespread sabotage of American military installations in Japan.

These unverified reports also said a "Far Eastern Cominform," headed by Mao, had been designated to direct and coordinate the entire plan.

Military Needs May Hike Spending To 70 Billion, Says Byrd

WASHINGTON — (P) — Senator Byrd (D-Va) predicted Saturday that military needs will boost federal spending to the 60-to-70 billion dollar bracket yearly, with taxes falling 10 billion or more short of that mark.

Before the Korean outbreak, federal costs were at a rate of roughly $40,000,000,000 a year.

Byrd, the Senate's chief economy advocate, told a reporter he figures the Senate cut Truman's budget for this fiscal year ending in mid-1951 about $2,000,000,000. This was done in approving the $34,237,000,000 one-package appropriations bill Friday. The measure covers the bulk of government costs. The balance consists principally of fixed charges, such as debt interest.

Expected This Week

The House, which hasn't passed on the foreign aid section of the measure, is expected to send the one-package appropriation to a Senate-House conference committee this week.

Byrd pointed out that cuts made by the Senate in non-defense and non-foreign aid spending have been far outweighed by military fund increases asked by President Truman to fight the Korean war and to discourage Communist aggression elsewhere.

Thus far, Truman has asked Congress for about $16,500,000,000 in military funds including $4,000,000,000 in foreign military aid. This is over and above the $14,500,000,000 in cash and contract authority approved for the armed services in the one-package bill.

Feelers Indicate Reds Preparing For Major Blow

TOKYO — (P) — Small North Korean patrols knifed across the Naktong River Sunday along a 40-mile front after a battalion attempting a crossing in strength was wiped out Saturday on the north.

Aside from the aggressive patrolling on both sides of the nervous, 140-mile front, there was no activity. The Reds were believed to be feeling out Allied positions for a big blow, expected hourly.

An Eighth Army communique said the Reds were building up strength on the northwest part of the front opposite the hinge position between the South Korean Army defending the northern line and the U. S. troops holding the longer western line along the Naktong.

So far as is known, the North Koreans have been unable to get tanks or infantry in any strength across the wide river barrier.

But the two major blows are expected to fall farther south on reinforced U. S. positions in the shrinking beachhead of Southeast Korea. The beachhead now is 80 miles wide by about 100 miles long.

A field dispatch said major patrol activity was along the river southwest of Taegu. This is the frontline supply city 58 miles northwest of the beachhead port of Pusan.

Four Divisions Set

One of the major attacks is expected in this area. The other undoubtedly will roll up along the south coast, where four enemy divisions are ready to attack 35 miles west of Pusan.

Other Communist patrols were across the river 40 miles or so north of Taegu. The Reds were seen, defending this part of the (Continued On Page Five)

Superior To Expand Midland Facilities; More Office Space

Superior Oil Company is starting an expansion program on its office facilities in Midland which will call for an expenditure of approximately $280,000 and resulting in the addition of more than 19,300 square feet of space to the concern's office accommodations here.

Superior's building at the corner of North Colorado Street and West Illinois Avenue is to be enlarged by the erection of a two-story addition on the east side of the present building.

The new section will extend from the east end of the present structure to the alley between Colorado and Lorraine Streets. It will be of brick, steel and concrete and its exterior will match the present building.

The addition will have approximately 4,800 feet of floor space. The present Superior building contains around 6,500 feet of floor space.

New Building At Yard

A completely new brick, concrete and steel office building is to be erected at Superior's yard on the Andrews highway—Northwest Midland. It will be one-story.

This new structure will contain approximately 14,500 feet of usable space.

It has been learned that the new building at the Superior yard will cost more than $200,000 when completed.

The addition to the downtown building is expected to cost about $80,000.

Rites Scheduled For Lt. R. L. Harding

FORT WORTH — Memorial and funeral services for First Lt. Remy LaVerne Harding, one of the first casualties of the Korean war, will be held at 4 p. m. Monday in Fort Worth at the Harveson-Cole Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in a Fort Worth cemetery.

Lieutenant Harding's widow is the former Barbara Conkling of Midland. She recently flew home from Japan to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conkling, in Midland.

His mother, Mrs. Asie Harding, lives in Fort Worth.

The Air Force flier was killed off the Japanese coast returning from a combat mission to Korea. Mrs. Harding was in Japan at the time of the crash.

Bomber Piloted By Texan Gets Direct Hit On Transport

TOKYO — (P) — A light American bomber piloted by a Texan scored a direct hit on a 10,000-ton North Korean transport in Incheon Harbor Friday, General MacArthur's headquarters reported Saturday.

The pilot of the B-26 was First Lt. Billy M. Jones of Eastland, Texas. The Air Force said First Lt. Kenneth J. Appel of Milwaukee, made the successful strike.

In the flight were four B-26s. Pilots told of several "ball" bolts around the transport, loading cargo for North Korean forces ashore.

Capt. Francis B. Clark, a jet pilot from Grand Rapids, Mich., said he saw the transport lying on its side as he left the area.

Cardinal Receives Catholic Boy Scouts

VATICAN CITY —(AP)—Catholic Boy Scouts of America were urged Saturday by Giuseppe Cardinal Piazzi to "be strong" and to lead Christian lives.

The Scouts, here on a Holy Year pilgrimage, were led to the audience with the cardinal by the Rev. George Dowd, head of the Catholic Youth Organization for the Archdiocese of Boston. They represented 400,000 members of their faith in the Boy Scouts.

Just before the audience, Father Dowd celebrated mass for the group of 24 Americans in Saint Peter's Basilica.

Power Gives Up Movie Part; Stays In Leading Stage Role

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
HOLLYWOOD — Tyrone Power's in-the-flesh stint in the London production of "Mr. Roberts" takes him out of the starring role in Fox's "The Australian Story." Hollywood pals of Ty and Linda Christian, incidentally, turn pale and mumble when they're asked how the love-birds are doing. There's a miss in the emote of their marriage craft.

I asked Broderick Crawford if he'd like to play a nice quiet character after two fast talking, bombastic roles in "All the King's Men" and "Born Yesterday."

"No kidding," he grinned. "I'm looking for a male Johnny Belinda."

Tony's Come-Back
Tony Martin is back—and everybody wants him.

The Coconut Grove has him right now and then Howard Hughes gets him for the singing lead opposite Janet Leigh in the big RKO musical, "Two Tickets to Broadway."

Tony had a down payment on a one-way ticket to oblivion three years ago. "You couldn't give my records away. I was in a singing slump." Tony tried to change his singing style with the times. It didn't work.

"When I tried to sing soft I was a flop. So I just opened up again." Tony opened up to a packed house at the Grove and proved why his records are outselling all other RCA Victor pop singers. George Burns introduced him as "the fellow with the most romantic voice in America." Tony left no doubts about it.

A "Hangover Breakfast" is on the menu of a Vine Street cafe. It consists of: "Black coffee, raw egg, headache tablet and our sympathy."

MGM is screen testing Lynn Copeland, the Philadelphia high school girl discovered by Johnny Weissmuller. . . . Bob Ryan is viewing the changes in the entertainment business with an untroubled eye. He told me: "Things can never get too bad. I just bought a grocery store." . . . Prediction: "Till Ocean Drive" should do for Edmond O'Brien's career what "Champion" did for Kirk Douglas.

Friends of Judy Garland predict she'll be back in front of a movie camera by November. As they put it, "If she were a secretary, the movies probably could straighten her out in a month. But she's an actress—and it takes time."

A Hollywood lenser surprised John Payne and Elaine White entertaining at a birthday party at the Beverly Tropic for John's small daughter, Julia. John permitted the photographer to take a group picture but refused to pose alone with Elaine.

MGM will set up a tent city for a month near Durango, Col., for "Across the Wide Missouri." Five hundred deluxe acres nearby are free of super highways, telephone poles and TV.

Fela Negri hasn't been heard from yet, but Mae Murray is seething over the grapevine message that Producer Edward Small has written a silent era movie queen with be-stung lips into the script of "Valentine."

What burns Mae more than Small's failure to get her okay is the report that a gigolo introduces Valentine to her in the story. Mae's eyes . . .

"No gigolo ever had anything to do with my first meeting with Rudy. I was in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1916 when Rudy called for an introduction. If they do this and do it badly, I'll whip 'em."

But no supporting player movie roles now for Mae since her recent Mocombo success.

"A star must never step down," she says. "I tell the producers that when they talk to me about playing mother or aunt to other stars. It's not that I want to be a young girl on the screen. But I want something that's definitely a star vehicle."

Now it can be told: Burt Lancaster's hit, "Flame and the Arrow," started out to be the story of William Tell. They changed the name of the character, moved the story to North Italy and deleted the apple-on-the-head incident.

Dormitory-Type Camping Facilities Lure Clubs And Organizations To State Parks

AUSTIN —(AP)—New dormitory-type camping facilities are beginning to lure clubs and organizations en masse to state public parks. The shining new quarters—complete with mattresses on the bunks and chrome dishes in the kitchen—are a far cry from "roughing it" in the great outdoors.

But few who have tried them seem to mind the modern approach. Such facilities, providing for parties of 80 at a time, are already available at two parks—Bastrop and Caddo Lake. Others are expected to open within the month at Quanah, Fort Parker and Cleburne Parks.

At Bastrop, open since April, there has been a continuous stream of guests and even more applications.

Registration Plans Set For MHS Seniors

Dates and times for registration of juniors, sophomores and freshmen will be announced later. They will register during the week of August 21 through August 25.

Dr. Laureano Castro Becomes Colombia President Monday

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA —(AP)—Dr. Laureano Gomez Castro, who once was an anti-dictator revolutionary, is to become president of Colombia Monday in an atmosphere of government restriction.

The 61-year old, strong-willed Conservative is to be sworn in before the Supreme Court of Justice, succeeding President Mariano Ospina Perez, also a Conservative.

Normally, the ceremony would be held before Congress. But Congress has been suspended since Ospina Perez decreed a state of siege (a modified form of martial law) last November. This was ordered during an acrid election campaign waged by the volatile, unopposed Gomez.

President Ospina Perez explained the state of siege was necessary to halt sanguinary political clashes. The liberal party, which had a majority in Congress, boycotted the election because it was held under a state of siege. Continuing this opposition the party's National Committee has forbidden members to participate in the Administration. The liberals contend Gomez' victory was obtained through fraud and violence.

Soon after he was graduated as a civil engineer in 1913, Gomez became associated with a group of young zealots who overthrew the dictatorship of Gen. Rafael Reyes. For 20 years he has been the strong man of the conservative party—tenacious, implacable.

Liberals accuse the president-elect of sympathizing with anti-democratic governments. Most liberal newspapers are planning not to publish Monday, in protest against the current regime's censorship.

A statement from a meeting of managing editors asserted censorship has prevented editorial criticism of the government. It accused the government of banning the publication of news of "incidents of violence which continued to be registered throughout the country." It added that censorship had prevented publication even of the UN declaration of human rights.

Hoarding Reporter Finds No Trouble Getting 'Reaction'

ATLANTA —(AP)—An Atlanta Journal reporter turned hoarder Saturday to tap local reaction.

As he loaded a supermarket cart with sugar, pepper and cigarettes, reporter John Keasler said in addition to dagger like stares, he received "several frank comments on my probable ancestry, patriotism and draft status."

With a Journal photographer hidden behind the cabbage, Keasler began by grabbing several pounds of black pepper, and remarking to a man nearby: "Hear this stuff is going to be scarce."

"What should be scarce is people like you," answered the male shopper.

As he reached for his eleventh bag of sugar, a woman snapped, "I think that's terrible with our boys fighting and dying in Korea."

At the end of a half hour every clerk and customer in the market was watching him and three reported him to the store manager, tipped in advance to the experiment.

Keasler's conclusion: "There's no use in appealing to hoarders' consciences, because any person who can hoard through an atmosphere like that has no conscience in the first place."

Eggs Are Eggs, But Look At The Yolk!

Eggs are eggs—but did you ever see one with a green yolk?

The Reporter-Telegram Saturday received six eggs, three of which contained green yolks. From the Ralston-Purina Company in St. Louis, Mo.

The eggs were laid at the Ralston Purina Research Farm at Gray Summit, Mo. The Ralston-Purina Company has a flock of 75 hens laying eggs with green yolks to prove that the feed a hen eats very definitely affects the type of egg she will lay.

According to the company, the eggs are edible and fertile. When a baby chick is hatched from one of the eggs, it will have a green tint but its feathers will assume their natural color.

The Ralston-Purina Company says the green yolks prove that the quality can be affected materially by the ration fed a bird. The ration used in the experiments is a regular Purina Chow to which a harmless green dye has been added.

Mexican Flags To Be Returned

WASHINGTON —(AP)—A group of flags and other emblems, captured more than 100 years ago in the Mexican War, will be returned to the Republic of Mexico under a congressional resolution signed Saturday by President Truman.

The return was a gesture of good will to the Mexican government and its people, won speedy approval of the Senate and House after it was proposed by Chairman Connally (D-Texas) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The flags and emblems were captured by U. S. forces in the 1846-48 war and now are in custody of the Army at its West Point, N. Y. Military Academy.

Congress was told there are about 66 flags, guidons and other emblems including 13 national Mexican colors.

Under the resolution the President may provide for the return "with such escort and such appropriate ceremony as he shall deem proper."

Man Killed When Motorcycle Skids

HOUSTON —(AP)—Things had been looking up for L. B. Bradshaw, 30.

Bradshaw moved here two weeks ago from Center. He was out of a job. His wife was expecting a baby. Bradshaw got the job, and planned to send for his wife next week.

His motorcycle skidded on a soft road spot last night. He died Saturday of a fractured skull—an hour after his widow, Mrs. Sybil Bradshaw, got to his bedside.

Shaped-Charge Shells Are On Way To Korea

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Army said Saturday shaped-charge anti-tank shells for its 105 millimeter artillery are on their way to Korea if they are not already there.

An Army spokesman said each of the Army's infantry divisions has three battalions with 105 millimeter guns. The weapons have an effective range of more than seven miles.

The officer said one of the 105 millimeter anti-tank shells, incorporating a charge shaped to focus its effect so as to penetrate tank armor, was exhibited by Army Ordnance during the past week at the Pentagon.

The place of security

There is a realm where hope is no longer precarious. It is the realm of unwavering spiritual understanding. It is the realm of Truth.

How may we find it? Through knowing (understanding) the same truth which Jesus knew, and which he promised would "make us free."

The Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, plainly shows the way. To any sincere student this great book steadily unlocks the treasures of truth in the Bible and proves, by healing the sick, their practicability today.

It may be bought, borrowed or read at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

Ko-Reds Ignore Red Cross Insignia, Says Wounded GI

FAIRFIELD — SUISUN AIR FORCE BASE, CALIF. —(AP)—North Korean Reds paid no attention to the Red Cross painted on the litter jeep in which he was riding, a wounded GI flown here says.

The soldier, Sgt. First Class Roy Johnson of Augusta, Ga., was one of 35 injured men brought in Friday by Military Air Transport Service.

Johnson, a medic attached to the 24th Infantry Division, had his wrist shot away by machine gun fire from a Red tank on the Taejon sector two weeks ago.

He said the enemy tank driver then stood over him and fired three shots from a pistol at him. Then: "I played dead for an hour. I didn't move when the tank driver kicked me in the foot to see if I was alive." Finally, he said, the North Koreans departed and he was taken to a first aid station by soldiers who happened along.

Auto-Train Crash Kills Texas Oil Man

WICHITA FALLS —(AP)—Joseph Louis Martin, 63, died Friday of injuries received Wednesday in an auto-train collision at Waurika, Okla.

Martin was president of the Wichita Falls River Oil Company and maintained offices here and in the Chrysler Building in New York.

Texas Construction Report Shows Boom

AUSTIN —(AP)— The war scare apparently promoted a building boom in Texas in July as people hurried to avoid possible government controls, Texas Contractor magazine said Saturday.

The President's order tightening up on home loans has had no apparent effect on home building during July as there have been increases almost universally throughout the state in building permit values," the trade journal commented.

Construction contracted in July totaled $99,611,001 for all kinds of work, setting a record for this particular month.

Non-residential work accounted for more than one-half the total at $51,799,845. Residential added $22,761,810, and engineering, $15,250,185.

Home-building in July exceeded the June level by almost $8,000,000. Apartment construction declined.

Largest contract of the month, $5,000,000, went to Thomas L. Byrne of Fort Worth for a 15-story office building in that city. Byrne also was awarded a $2,000,000 Fort Worth airport job.

School building contracts at $14,065,010 were double the amount for that category in July of last year.

Awards for last week amounted to $19,242,577. Residential jobs totaled $7,232,800; non-residential, $6,838,001; and engineering, $5,151,976.

Explosives-Laden Plane Shattered; Crewmen Escape

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)—A twin engine Marine transport plane crashed in heavy fog near here Friday night and virtually disintegrated after all six crew members sprang to safety.

Loaded with secret explosives, the C-46 was coming in for an instrument landing when power failure killed one engine. The craft plummeted earthward on its belly in a muddy field just east of Tinker Air Force Base.

The dead engine burst into flames as the crew scrambled for cover. Within seconds the flames touched off an explosion that shook the countryside for miles around.

Major L. W. Wright, Tinker public information officer, said the craft was coming in for a fuel stop enroute from Cherry Point, N. C., to Moffett Field, Calif.

BLASTS CHARGES — American delegate Warren Austin gestures vehemently as he answers Soviet delegate Jacob Malik's charge that the U. S. plotted aggression in Korea.

The bitter denunciation took place during Security Council meeting at Lake Success, during which Russia suffered its second major diplomatic defeat when council voted down their demand to settle the Communist China problem before dealing with problem of peace in Korea.

UN Korean Stand Gets New Support

STRASBOURG, FRANCE —(AP)— Western Europe's foreign ministers, meeting as the council of Europe's Upper House, officially endorsed Saturday the United Nations stand against aggression in Korea.

The ministers in a joint message to the council's consultative assembly, or Lower House, urged the assembly to express its support for the UN Security Council resolutions on the Korean war. The assembly will meet here Monday.

The message stamped the Northern Korean regime by name as a violator of international law, and condemned its aggression.

Earlier the ministers officially voted to give Western Germany and the Saar associate membership in the Council of Europe's Upper House.

The move was described as a deliberate step toward full membership in the European Council—an unofficial Parliament of Western Europe—for the Germans and Saarlanders.

Midland Teachers To Homemaking Parley At Houston

Two Midland home economics teachers, Mrs. Faye Massey and Clyde Parmely, were scheduled to leave Sunday to attend a Conference Program for Homemaking Teachers in Houston.

Both Midland teachers are to take part in the five-day program.

Mrs. Massey will conduct a session on "Education for Life Adjustment" from 2 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. Tuesday. The period will be a work session, one of four such discussions scheduled during the meeting. Mrs. Massey also will preside at a meeting of teachers from Area III, from 8:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. Friday, in the Jade Room of the Rice Hotel.

Miss Parmely will be a member of the panel at this meeting, discussing "Implications of Conference for Schools in Area III."

Miss Parmely also is to be on the registration and hostess committee during the five-day meeting.

More than 800 Texas homemaking teachers are expected to attend the meeting, which is sponsored by the in-service training program of the Texas Education Agency and directed by the Homemaking Education Service.

Midlander Reports To Georgia School After Basic Training

Pvt. Robert (Moe) Price, 1003 North Main Street, reported August 3 at Camp Gordon, Ga., to attend a 14-week cryptographic technician school. Price recently completed 13 weeks basic training at Fort Ord, Calif.

Upon completion of the basic course, Price was given a 14-day delay enroute, and spent 11 days visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Price, before reporting to the Georgia camp.

Kermit Soldier Wounded In Korea

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Department of Defense's Korean casualty list No. 55 issued Saturday carries the names of two men killed in action and two others who died of wounds.

Another 71 were listed as wounded, four as injured (not in combat) and 47 missing in action.

The list—Army personnel unless otherwise indicated—include those from Texas:

Killed in action—First Lt. Earl M. Seay, Waxahatchie.

Wounded—Pfc. Albert Bass, Houston; Pfc. Eddie Ellis, Waco; Pfc. Thomas E. Gilbert, Beaumont; Pfc. Horace B. Laster, Fort Worth; Pfc. Jimmy C. Marks, Kermit; Cpl. Carl F. Shumake, Luling; Pfc. Doyle R. Stewart, Bonham.

15 Midlanders Enlist In Army, AF In July

Fifteen Midland and area men enlisted voluntarily in the Army and Air Force during July, according to Sgt. I. C. Shelby Wheeler, recruiter for the Midland area.

They were: John M. Ratcliff, Jr., Clifford J. Baker, Dave A. Tuley, Corbett D. Estep, Harold F. Cutbirth, Travis R. Abbott, Jr., Gerald S. Adams, Robert L. Anderson, Don H. Still, James C. Applewhite, Larry L. Buckingham, Weldon E. Hankla, Zeno A. Tabor, Lowell R. Hamilton and Kenneth D. Howard.

Fashionable Shoe Salon At Haynes Is Store Addition

A new and exclusive shoe salon for midlady has been provided by the management of the Charles A. Haynes Company, 213 North Main Street.

The salon is located at the rear of the spacious department store and stocks some 5,000 pairs of women's shoes and slippers. Shoes for any occasion can be found in the collection which includes the quality footwear of Andrew Geller, Pascook, Paramount, Red Cross, Town and Country, Trampette — "America's favorite sport shoe" — and Edwards Shoes for children.

Designed to cater to the fashionable, the new department is appointed in pale blue and has modern, functional furniture in the new bleached maple with golden chocolate and lime air-foam cushions. No expense has been spared to provide something special in the way of dignified and comfort for the discriminating shopper of today.

A unique feature of the salon is that a matching handbag may be purchased to complement any shoe in stock.

Jimmy Olds of Albuquerque has been obtained to manage the section.

Eleanor Allen of Dallas now is in charge of the millinery section of the Haynes store. She has a plentiful display of Howard Hodge and Coralle hats and reports that a shipment of the famous creations of Marche and Caspar, Davis of California is expected shortly.

Other garment and dry goods sections of the Charles A. Haynes Company have been reorganized and better equipped to fill the needs of Midland and area shoppers.

Election Machinery Readied For Recount

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Oklahoma's election machinery moved swiftly Saturday to recount the 47,000 ballots cast 11 days ago in the Democratic governor's race.

County election boards went into session during the afternoon and will meet until the ballots are recounted. The tabulation probably will require a week.

Recesses will be taken only for meals and sleeping once the count is under way.

In the July 25 election Johnston Murray, son of former Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, led William O. Coe by 1,008 votes on the Democratic returns.

Coe, an Oklahoma City attorney, won the recount Friday when the Supreme Court overruled the State Election Board's decision that there was no valid statute providing for a recount in a runoff election.

But the court said the recount is required "when the correctness of the result is challenged and a $250 deposit is made for each county for which a recount is asked."

Two Guardsmen To Take Army Course

Two Midlanders are among 12 Texas National Guardsmen who have been assigned to attend Army service schools.

Cpl. Joe R. Johnson and Cpl. Bob L. Davis, both members of Company E, 2nd Battalion, 112th Armored Cavalry, will be enrolled for a radio course at Camp Gordon, Ga. They will begin their course Monday and will be enrolled until January 16, 1951.

NEUTRALIZATION OF FORMOSA—A study of the map of the Far East, in the light of Communist methods of operation and the lessons of World War II, will show the importance of the decision to neutralize Formosa. Airfields on that island are only 400 miles from targets on Okinawa, a little farther from targets in the Philippines, and less than 800 miles from targets in Japan. Along with these points and Indo-China, Formosa might be in the first line of defense against Communist aggression in the Far East. If the Communists should seize Formosa now, they would not only break that line but also pave the way to conquest of the other points. Remembering the long years of costly, bloody island-hopping in World War II, it is easy to picture the hard road back that the forces of freedom would face.

Formosa is separated from the mainland of China by a strait from 90 to 200 miles wide. An island about 235 miles long and from 70 to 90 miles wide, it is about as large as Massachusetts and Connecticut combined and has a population of 7,000,000.

T&P Motor Trucks To Resume Service

The Texas and Pacific Transport Company Monday will place one of its three trucks in Midland back into service. D. Davis, agent for the Texas and Pacific here, announced Saturday.

A two-month-old strike by union drivers and mechanics was settled by a union vote Friday night, Davis said.

Three truck drivers, four warehouse workers and three clerks had been affected by the strike here.

Davis said one truck will be placed into service Monday and the other two trucks will be added during the week.

Two Marks Smashed At Big Spring Rodeo

BIG SPRING—Two more records fell by the wayside—in the steer wrestling and calf roping events—and close-as-close-can-be competition marked a performance of the 17th annual Big Spring rodeo.

Before a near-capacity crowd of close to 6,000 persons, Paul Laning, Killen cowboy, knocked two seconds off the steer wrestling mark, throwing his animal down in a spectacular 3.4 seconds. Laning's feat bettered the 5.4 set by Russ Mather of San Angelo the previous night. Prior to this year, Bob Cheesight of Beaumont held the Big Spring record of 6.7 set in 1948.

Toots Mansfield's 11.3 mark in the calf roping tussle was erased as fellow townsman Sonny Edwards tied his calf in a speedy 10.8. Mansfield's mark was established at last year's rodeo.

Editor In Las Vegas, Nevada, But Writes About Suntan

Bill Collins, editor of The Reporter-Telegram, and his family are on a vacation trip to California. Here is a travelogue release from Collins datelined Las Vegas, Nev.

By BILL COLLINS

LAS VEGAS, NEV. (Thursday)— The only thing which has changed about this oasis city in the Nevada desert is its size. Its growth in the last few years has been remarkable, and it still is growing.

But otherwise there is little noticeable change. No one seems to be worried about the war situation or anything else. Every one is intent on one thing—having a good time and losing as little money as possible in the state-sanctioned gambling casinos, hotels and lodges, which make up the bulk of the business life in the downtown section. (We managed to just about break even—believe it or not.)

Las Vegas is crowded as never before, and the "no vacancy" signs were out at practically all the city's numerous hotels and motels Wednesday night. We arrived off the hot desert to the south just in time. The several new, big and expensive hotels, with their big name bands and entertainers seem to be "paying off" for the owners if not for the guests.

We dropped into the office of the Las Vegas Morning Sun to inquire as to the latest on the Korean war. The managing editor advised us "We still are retreating in the most optimistic manner possible."

And by the way, we managed to get that sunburn (pardon us—suntan) in driving from Albuquerque to Flagstaff, Ariz., to Las Vegas. It rained on us most of the way from Midland to Albuquerque, but there still are some dry spots in the New Mexico and Arizona deserts—with the sun bearing down all the way. And yet it did rain on us again Tuesday and Wednesday in Arizona.

The country is green from Flagstaff to Kingman, Arizona, and a few cattle we saw along the way seemed to be in good shape. A filling station attendant at Kingman told us it had rained in that section several times within the last week, and things were looking up.

And speaking of rain, an advertising salesman on the Arizona Daily Sun at Flagstaff told us he had moved to that country because of sinus trouble and it looked as though he might have to go back to Michigan to a drier climate. He said it rained at Flagstaff every day in July. And the excellent condition in that pine-tree country backs up his statement. It is beautiful and cool.

But prices remain high, for "weekend tourists" at least, in that sector. We ate dinner in a nice restaurant known as the "Ranch House." The cheapest steak on the menu was listed as $3.50. (The vegetable dinner was good.)

Awe-inspiring Wednesday was a big day for the Collinses. We again saw the Grand Canyon, which still is as awe-inspiring as ever. And then back to Williams, Ariz., and on to Hoover (Boulder) Dam and to Las Vegas, Nev. One makes lots of miles and sees lots of country in that drive. Lake Mead (Boulder) is lower than the last time we saw it, but still plenty of water to a West Texan.

It seems that one runs into Midlanders everywhere one goes. Eating dinner in a Flagstaff, Ariz., cafe Tuesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy, of Midland, and party, who had been on an outing at the Ralph Love (of Midland) Ranch somewhere to the northwest. They were heading back to Midland.

And now back to this suntan business. We managed to get a left arm full in driving Tuesday. And then Wednesday the good wife talked us into letting her drive for awhile while we dangled our right arm out the car window. She did a nice job of driving and the desert sun did a nice job of baking. "Ho-Hum. We may recover. Anyway, we are leaving for Long Beach, Calif., and the cool ocean breezes.

Most everyone is driving carefully and we haven't seen a single accident. That is as it should be.

Judge Walter Morris Dies In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Judge Walter L. Morris of the 67th District Court died at his home here Saturday.

He had been ill since June 16, 1949, when he suffered a stroke resulting in partial paralysis of his left side. A second stroke occurred less than a month later.

Morris had held the judgeship since Jan. 1, 1933. Prior to that he was a first assistant district attorney here.

Morris held offices as county attorney, county judge and district attorney in West Texas before coming to Fort Worth in 1919.

We Can't Afford To Be Asleep

Germany is the Korea of Europe, divided in control between East and West. And Europeans, watching U. S. military reverses in Korea, wonder about Germany's fate should Russia decide to strike there.

Time was when Europe took great assurance from the 150,000 American soldiers in West Germany. No one believed such a force could stand off an attacking Russian army, but it was felt America would swing in quickly with tremendous power if her troops were fired upon.

U. S. withdrawals in the Far East have altered the outlook sharply. In revealing America's unpreparedness for even a little war, they have shaken the faith of all Europeans who are depending on us in event Moscow marches.

Germany of course is the richest prize Russia could possibly grab outside of the United States. With the industrial Ruhr in the Soviet fist, she would soon be master of all Europe.

Present U. S. mobilization plans certainly go beyond anticipated needs of the Korean war. It is clear American purpose to create a sizable armed force able to move into new trouble spots when and if the Soviet Union strikes again.

But most official thinking assumes Moscow won't do anything for a while at least that would involve her own soldiers. The belief is Soviet satellites, like the North Koreans, would be asked to do the dirty work.

Yet this kind of reasoning could be as foolish as our notion that the South Koreans, equipped only for internal police action, could beat off a well-armed North Korean force. The seasoned statesmen of Europe are looking beyond the satellites to Russia herself; we ought to be doing the same.

President Truman's proposal to seek vastly bigger funds for arming Western Europe is a vital step toward real defense against the might of Russia proper. But it's only a starter.

Another move that must be considered promptly is whether to include West German forces in an overall European defense plan. Right now we're stalling on this. Soviet-controlled East Germany has a 100,000-man police force that is an army in all but name; meantime our occupation officials talk of possibly permitting a special force up to 12,000.

We can't ride along on the glib assumption Russia has no early designs on Germany, and then quickly whip a German force into shape if she does act. Soviet action there certainly would mean Russian troops as well as East German "police."

A Russian move in Germany would undoubtedly bring America's strategic air force into action, with the atom bomb its biggest threat. But we couldn't drop the bomb on the cities of Western Europe, including West Germany. For there live the peoples whose help we need, whom we are trying to keep on the side of freedom.

Only great military manpower thrown against the Russians could save these lands from being swiftly overrun. There is no excuse for delaying the critical decisions as to where we shall get that manpower.

If we really want German forces included, the time to settle the point is now. If we don't, then we should get on to other arrangements. A sound defense plan for Europe, one good enough to give the Russians pause, is the greatest military challenge now facing the free countries of the West.

John L. Lewis Loses A Round

A cheer for the National Labor Relations Board for slapping down John L. Lewis in his vindictive effort to deprive a miner of his job.

The miner, Lloyd Sidener of Canton, Ill., was fired by his company on union demand. His offense: taking seriously a Lewis "formal order" to striking miners last Winter to get back to work. Apparently the order was meant to be ignored. So Lewis put the squeeze on Sidener.

The NLRB insisted Sidener have his job back if he wants it, plus full back pay. It warned Lewis not to try such dictatorial tactics again. For the great champion of the working man, this was a taste of democracy by force-feeding.

With foolish people the cost of living is always the same—just what they make.

After all, the income tax was just a matter of addition, subtraction, division, multiplication and mistakes.

If opportunity wasn't so often disguised as real hard work a lot more people would recognize it.

What some folks need is an alarm clock that will ring when it's time to rise to the occasion.

"Meeting Will Come To Order To Discuss Peace!"

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Drew Pearson says: Russian officers now command Korean troops; European arms to cost us twenty billions; President Truman insists on appointment of anti-Byrd Democrat.

WASHINGTON — The United States now has definite evidence that Russian officers are leading North Korean troops in battle. Major Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, director of military assistance for the Defense Department, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee behind closed doors this week.

Lemnitzer declared that the Soviet officers are top-ranking generals who serve as division commanders or higher.

"There is no question about it—they are in the field and have been identified," the defense official reported.

Whether lesser Soviet officers down to the rank of captain and lieutenant also are seeing duty in Korea has not been determined, chiefly because we have taken so few prisoners to date. We will know more about this, Lemnitzer said, when we start driving the North Koreans back and prisoners are captured in large numbers.

Lemnitzer predicted that the long-awaited push-back would be accelerated by several factors:

(1) Our own troop reinforcements, plus the landing of additional tanks, planes, artillery and other equipment.

(2) Help from our UN Allies. We would be getting help "soon," Lemnitzer said, but didn't specify when, from the Allies.

(3) A change in the weather. Heavy rains, approaching a monsoon season are expected to subside soon, Lemnitzer reported.

The stormy, sloppy going has been a big advantage to North Korean native troops, and a severe handicap to our planes. More Budget Increases

Congress hasn't heard the bad news yet, but President Truman's request for another four billion dollars in arms aid is just the first installment of an unannounced plan to spend 20 billion dollars arming Western Europe.

The plan has been laid before the North Atlantic Council at a secret meeting in London by Charles M. Spofford, the American delegate. However, no mention yet has been made to the Senators or Congressmen who must appropriate the money.

Meanwhile, Secretary of Defense Johnson has warned Senators privately to expect a total military budget of 30.5 billion dollars, plus 4.5 billion dollars in foreign economic aid. This is more than President Truman requested for the entire government including defense and foreign aid prior to the Korean war.

The Virginia Gentlemen A bruised ego and faint hearts are blocking President Truman's insistence that Virginia's Martin Hutchinson be a member of the Federal Trade Commission.

The bruised ego is that of efficient Senator Harry Byrd, who still is rankled because Hutchinson, an outstanding Virginia attorney, broke with the Byrd machine, and ran almost 2 to 1 ahead of the Senator in Richmond, in the 1946 reelection.

Byrd, whispering to colleagues in the cloakrooms, has asked fellow Democrats and Republicans, "as a personal favor," not to confirm Hutchinson.

The faint hearts are those of Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois and Secretary Les Bile.

At a recent meeting of congressional advisers with the President, Lucas suggested: "In view of the Korean war, perhaps we had better let the Hutchinson confirmation fight drop."

Have A Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE During the depression of the early 1930's, a businessman decided to economize by eating at a cheap little cafe. He looked cautiously about before entering to be sure he was not observed, then went in and seated himself at a table at the back.

When he looked up to give his order, he was astonished to see that the waiter was a friend he had known in prosperous days. The business man exclaimed, "What! Do you work here?" The other replied, "Yes; but I don't eat here."

A college student looked at the examination questions and then wrote, "God only knows." When he received the paper back, the professor had written, "100 for God; zero for you."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

"You recently published a hand in your column that looks almost exactly like a hand we played out here a couple of months ago," writes a Portland (Ore.) correspondent.

"West opened the seven of spades, and declarer played dummy's queen. (This differs from the hand you published in which declarer was able to let West hold the first trick.)"

"After winning the first trick with the ace of spades, East returned his singleton trump. Declarer put up the king, hoping that East held the ace as part of the strength for his bid. No guess would have helped South, since West had both the ace and the queen. West took his two top trumps and got out with a third trump.

Bridge hand diagram showing dealer's hand and play sequence.

"Now South had no trumps in dummy to use for his losing clubs. He could discard one of them on dummy's king of spades but had to lose the other one.

"Somebody said that South could have made his contract by means of a squeeze but we can't quite see how East can be squeezed if West saves clubs.

"Can this hand be made?" "Yes, the hand can be made. As a matter of fact, it probably should be made by a careful declarer even if he cannot see all the cards.

South must play the trumps in such a way as to win the third round of trumps with dummy's eight. He should then cash the king of spades, discarding a low club from his hand. He ruffs the deuce of spades to enter his own hand. On this trick, West can afford to discard a low diamond.

South now leads his next-to-last trump. At this point West has four diamonds and three clubs. If West discards a diamond, declarer will discard dummy's remaining spade. He then will cash the top diamonds and ruff a diamond, setting up dummy's last card in that suit. The ace of clubs will enable him to cash the last diamond.

Since West cannot afford to discard a second diamond, he must discard a club. This leaves East with the only stopper in clubs. South should realize what the situation is and should discard a low diamond from dummy.

South then leads his last trump, discarding dummy's last diamond. He then cashes dummy's top diamonds, squeezing East. East can hold only three cards, of which one must be a spade to top dummy's six of spades. Since East can therefore hold only two clubs, declarer can cash the ace and king of clubs and win the last trick with the six of clubs.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Politics Run True To Form As Truman, GOP Reverse Fields

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — Considerable politics is being played by all concerned in the new defense planning program.

President Truman is being severely criticized for proposing what his critics consider only half-way measures to deal with the Korean war. They say that he isn't proposing a big enough tax increase, that he isn't asking for enough defense money, and that the economic controls he wants Congress to enact aren't nearly tough enough to deal with the present situation.

This is an entirely new line for Administration opponents. Heretofore, they have claimed that he wanted to tax too much, spend too much and control too much.

As a matter of fact, the Administration's new defense program now before Congress looks like a complete change in the President's political strategy. The President is now consulting more with congressional leaders, asking their advice instead of just telling them. His defense program is therefore based on what he feels he can get passed now, in a hurry and with minimum difficulty.

In the past, the President has always been 'way ahead of Congress. He has been the leader of the Democratic Party. He has wanted more civil liberties, more social welfare, bigger government programs than Congress has been willing to enact.

Political justification for this has been that it was this program for things like a federal FEPC, health insurance, and low-income housing that got the President reelected in 1948. If he had compromised and been willing to take only what the more conservative Congress had been willing to give him, he would have had a program even less progressive than Governor Dewey's. From a political standpoint, this might have led to a Democratic defeat.

The President apparently wants to stick to this 'way-out-in-front' leadership, as a long-range proposition. He would probably never admit for a second that he had abandoned any of his Fair Deal. In dealing with the Korean war situation, however, the President is up against another problem in practical politics.

The election is not too far away. Congressional and senatorial candidates are jittery about what the war may do to them, in all but the traditionally solid southern Democratic or northern Republican districts.

The President naturally feels that he must have Democratic majorities in both houses of the next Congress. So he proposes a safe, middle-of-the-road program.

Actually, the President is being attacked from both sides of this road. Republican House leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts and Senator Taft of Ohio feel that the President's defense program is too tough. Followers of Bernard Baruch, who wants stand-by price control and rationing legislation enacted now, feel that the President's program is too soft.

There are other good, practical political arguments for not advocating price and rationing controls at this time. In the first place, there is no machinery set up to administer and enforce them. In the second place, Democrats may well remember that one of the principal reasons they lost control of Congress in 1946 was the unpopularity of OPA.

In the President's midyear economic report sent to Congress last week, still another line of reasoning is advanced. It is based on a fear that overexpansion of defense production now would lead to a war boom. This war boom would lead to inflation. And too much inflation would inevitably be followed by collapse.

The remembrance of even the slight economic decline of the last 12 months, when unemployment rose to 4,000,000, still seems to haunt some Washington economic and political planners.

What the President therefore proposes is a program that will take up the reported five per cent slack in industrial production, further build up productive capacity for a greater defense effort at a later time, and absorb the surplus manpower now available so as to cut down unemployment to 1,000,000.

In other words, this looks something like a defense effort to produce full employment and not much more—till after election. It is obviously only a stop-gap mobilization program.

The President himself says that he will ask for further tax increases after the election. A fair bet would be that he will ask for bigger defense appropriations and tougher economic controls, too.

Questions and Answers

Q—Are the Joshua trees native to the United States? A—Joshua trees are found only in the United States. The government, in order to save them, has set aside the forest above the Coachella Valley as the Joshua Tree National Monument.

Q—Is there an estimate of the number of people under Russian control? A—Russia has brought 830,000,000 people or about 40 per cent of the world's 2,000,000,000 people under her control in the last 10 years.

Q—Does any part of Egypt lie in Asia? A—Egypt is partly in Africa and partly in Asia since it lies on both sides of the Suez Canal and Gulf of Suez. The Asiatic portion is in the Sinai Peninsula.

Q—What is the wingspread of the Andean condor? A—About 10 feet. Andean condors, found in the Andes Mountains of Western South America from Venezuela to Patagonia, are the largest birds of prey and of flight.

Q—What is another name for the collapsible opera hat? A—This hat is also called the gibus hat, so named from the original maker in Paris.

FUNNY FACE

By James Gunn Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

XII I AGREED to go along with Jack after that, for a while, it was all confusion. Janet had a mild case of hysterics, and Jack laughed her out of them. He handled her beautifully. Within a few minutes she was laughing again and talking to him with adolescent excitement.

Ellie stood quiet aloof. From time to time, while he talked to Janet, Jack would look at her furtively. It was the kind of look she had given him in the early days of their marriage. But Ellie would say nothing except when spoken to directly, and then she spoke as shortly as she could. I was a little angry with her. I could understand the disappointment she was feeling, but it was unlike her to be so harsh.

JACK and Janet were getting along famously; they had taken to each other at once. Finally I suggested we all go to a nightclub. Jack grinned and turned to Janet: "Someplace very elegant and fancy?"

Janet shone. "Oh, I'd love it." She turned to her mother. Jack looked at Ellie too, all his hope in his eyes.

Ellie stood quiet still. It was the moment I had been afraid of. Then she said: "You three go along. I'm hideously tired tonight, and I'll have a hard day tomorrow." Janet started to protest, and Ellie said sharply: "Really, Janet, I have to rest. I'm sorry." She went to Jack and put out her hand formally. "Jack, I'm awfully glad to see you again. I know you and Janet have a lot to say to each other. Call us up, and we'll all have dinner soon."

There was a bad pause, and then Jack saved us. He smiled and took her hand. It looked almost like a natural smile, and very genuine. He said good night, waited for Janet to get her coat, and went out.

I closed the door behind them. I was relieved to see there were no visitors except Janet.

Then Jack came in behind me, and stood in the doorway. Ellie was sitting. She turned to smile at me, and her eyes suddenly changed. Her face was perfectly blank; it was almost an expression of fright. She made a quick move to get up, almost awkwardly, her eyes on Jack.

He stepped in. "Hello, Ellie," he said. Janet stared at him; she must have guessed instantly who he was. It was a moment or two, I guess, before she spoke. "You three go most like a natural smile, and very genuine. He said good night, waited for Janet to get her coat, and went out.

Janet said, "I'm very happy to meet you," and started to cry. After that, for a while, it was all confusion. Janet had a mild case of hysterics, and Jack laughed her out of them. He handled her beautifully. Within a few minutes she was laughing again and talking to him with adolescent excitement.

was furious. Ellie did not look at me. She sat again before the mirror. I managed to control myself and said, "Why don't you come along, just for tonight? You can see how he feels, it's the least you can do."

"I don't dare." It was almost a whisper.

"What on earth do you mean?" She turned. Her face was pinched and her eyes were huge. For a weird moment I felt I was looking at the Ellie Lane of 20 years before. She spoke suddenly, harshly: "You know what it was like. I can't go through that again. I've managed to fool everybody, now and then I've even fooled myself. But she because he wasn't around. Look how Janet took to him—he can't help looking like he does and being popular. If I went out tonight, I'd go back to him. And then it would all be the same. The first time he joked about my looks I'd hate him. The first time he called me Funny Face I'd shrivel up again."

I gaped at her. I think it must have been two minutes before I realized that in her heart Ellie had no idea that either she or Jack had changed at all in 20 years.

THERE was a knock, and Janet came in. "We're waiting for you," she said to me. "What's up?" Then she went to her mother and smiled. "He's wonderful, Mother."

"Of course he is." Ellie's voice was tight.

"But I'm glad I took after you. I have enough troubles without being pleased."

I saw Ellie stiffen. Then, very slowly, she turned. "What do you mean?"

Janet was not looking at her and did not see her expression. "Oh, I don't mean he's repulsive," she said carelessly. "Anyway, a man doesn't have to be good-looking if he's nice. He's just got a wonderful, funny face."

Ellie sat quite still. She could not take her eyes off Janet. Finally, she turned to me. "You'd better get out of here," she said. "If I'm going with you folks tonight, I have to dress."

Ten Vicious Outlaws Replace Enemy No. 1

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Names like Alvin Karpis, Fred Barker and "Pretty Boy" Floyd recall days when bloodthirsty, murderous guns roamed the nation—days when Glen Wright: Constant coughing and deadly gunplay.

"Public Enemy No. 1" was the FBI's label for the most vicious crook of the moment.

The gun gangs are gone, and the FBI no longer designates the public's top enemy. Instead it puts the worst of the breed on its list of the 10 most wanted men.

These days they are lone operators. But one of them, who ranks high on the FBI's list, is a former member of the Karpis-Barker gang—GLEN ROY WRIGHT, who has been sought day and night since he escaped from Oklahoma State Penitentiary on Sept. 14, 1948.

Wright, a dangerous gunman, had been serving a life sentence since 1934 for armed robbery after a career marked by violence and deadly gunplay. Twice he has been involved in gun fights with officers attempting to arrest him.

Since his escape, he committed an armed robbery at Tulsa, on Jan. 22, 1949, and possibly other crimes which have not positively been placed to his credit. Gray-haired, of medium height and slender, the 51-year-old fugitive is a chain smoker and coughs constantly; habitually, he turns his head over his left shoulder as he coughs.

Close To Top
Close to the top of the list is OMAR AUGUST PINSON, a tall, dark ex-truck driver. FBI officials say few criminals at large today are as vicious, have a cynical disregard for human life and as violent a temper as the 32-year-old Pinson.

On the night of April 27, 1947, Pinson was loading his truck with loot from a burglary in Hood River, Ore., when a police officer happened by. Pinson stepped back and fired point-blank with a revolver he drew from his pocket, fatally injuring the officer. Pinson was captured the next day and got a life sentence for murder.

Two years later, he escaped from Oregon State Penitentiary after several unsuccessful attempts. Somehow he got some hacksaw blades and saved his way out of his cell and the cell block with a fellow-prisoner. Not long after, he was arrested in Idaho for burglary, but escaped again in a gun battle with police.

FBI agents know a lot about Pinson's habits. He frequents cheap rooming houses, enjoys his own company, drinks a lot of beer and slogs gin and gets nasty when drunk. His burglaries are simple, usually

The new building in Northwest Midland will provide quarters for the drilling, producing, purchasing, personnel and accounting departments of the company's Central division.

Joe E. Beakley is superintendent of Superior's Central division. Tom W. Koch is the company's division geologist in Midland. Fay Coll is district geologist and C. W. VanAlstyne is district landman.

Covers Seven States

Superior's Central division covers seven states in the Central-South part of the United States. The company's Midland district, which is a part of the Central division, covers the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

Increasing of the center's office space in Midland by more than 200 per cent indicates that a considerable enlargement of the personnel of the various Superior departments in this city is in prospect.

residences and sometimes stores, and accomplished by breaking the glass in a door or window. They think his habits will lead him back to capture sooner or later.

Another escape artist on the list is MORRIS GURALNICK, a "wild-eyed" product of New York's slums. Swarthy, brown-eyed and 34, he was arrested in 1948 for stabbing his former girl friend. In his bitter struggle to resist arrest, he bit off the finger of a policeman.

ton, N. Y., in July, 1948, Guralnick and four other inmates broke some of the jail's plumbing fixtures and brutally attacked two guards. Only Guralnick made good in the escape attempt; he is still at large.

Guralnick once worked as a popcorn hawker and candy butcher in burlesque theaters, which he frequented constantly. The FBI is anxious to round him up as soon as possible; they feel sure he will commit more vicious crimes unless jailed.

Holden Frustrated
A frustrated ex-mobster on the FBI list is THOMAS JAMES HOLDEN, described as a man "whose freedom in society is a menace to every man, woman and child in America." Wanted for the brutal murder of his wife and her two brothers in Chicago on June 5, 1949, he has a record of train robberies and prison escapes.

Holden made his first trip to Leavenworth in the early twenties for robbing a mall train. He escaped in 1930, and a year later, from the "outside," engineered another sensational break from the same penitentiary.

His friendship with such mobsters as Alvin Karpis and Frank Nash led to his re-arrest in 1932. When he was released in 1947, his friends in the underworld society were no longer around. For 18 months he lived with his wife, hung around taverns, until the June drinking party that ended in the triple murder for which he is being hunted.

A veteran criminal who has been in and out of state jails from New

Henry Mitchell: Noon at the bank and "big time."

York to Florida since 1924, HENRY RANDOLPH MITCHELL broke into crime's big-time — and made the FBI's "most wanted" list—on Jan. 31, 1948.

That was the day Mitchell, a short, stocky man of 51, executed a noon-time armed robbery with a tall accomplice at a bank in Williston, Fla., where they got away with $10,335. The accomplice was captured when the FBI got on the case, but Mitchell is still at large.

A larcenist, burglar and forger, Mitchell is a race track fan and a daring gambler. The FBI considers him dangerous. But he's not the most daring bank robber on the FBI's "top 10" list.

50 Persons Injured In Train Collision

HUNTINGTON, N. Y. — (P)—A young brakeman opened a main line switch in front of a Long Island passenger train Saturday and sent it crashing into a freight parked on a siding.

Police headquarters estimated the injured at between 45 and 50, but said only three of them needed hospital treatment.

The brakeman was identified by police as Robert Colgan, 22, who had swung down from the freight, after it parked, to adjust the switches connecting the siding with the main line.

District Attorney Lindsay E. Henry of Suffolk County said Colgan would not be held.

front, swapped patrol jobs with the enemy. So did the Americans farther south.

There still was no evidence that the enemy had infantry in force or any tanks across the Nakdong, the last-ditch defense line for the Americans in Korea.

General MacArthur's Sunday morning summary said U. S. and South Korean patrols had kept the enemy "off balance" in aggressive action that lasted through Saturday and Saturday night.

The North Koreans were daringly massing in daylight, despite the threat of the aerial wrath which they can expect from superior Allied air power. They have been moving mostly by night.

Desperate Attempt
Headquarters said their switch to daytime movements indicated they "are desperately striving for a main effort and an all-out attempt to break through the new defense lines."

In the north and central sectors, these new lines generally follow the Kumsong and the meandering Nakdong River.

In the southern crisis area, however, the river curves sharply eastward, so the American line leaves it and marches south across the marshy coastal plain.

It was in that southernmost spot that the Reds were massing their greatest strength.

They also made unopposed crossings of the Nakdong in a rainstorm in the mountainous north. Scout reports withdrew to ridges there. The enemy crossings were not regarded as an immediate threat.

Most immediate danger points were in the south and center.

The Reds had three divisions in the central sector and four of their finest in the south.

Simultaneous Blows
These could develop simultaneous strikes at Taegu in the center and towards the port of Pusan in the south.

Twin assaults were expected at any moment. The front had been relatively quiet for three days. Left Erickson of the Associated Press noted that this was one of the longest lulls since the Red invasion began June 25.

Headquarters said the enemy suffered heavy losses in the southern fighting east of Chinju. The Reds pressed their build-up there, at points within 35 air miles of Pusan. Despite the rain, U. S. planes and artillery knocked out five Red tanks.

Fighters and light bombers destroyed four villages near Chinju on the south with jelled gasoline. Big B-29 bombers Saturday plastered the railroad yards at Seoul, Red-held Korean capital, with 100 tons of bombs. They left the area in flames.

divisions filled out to full manpower strength and ready for duty in the Far East range up to several months. But in the meantime, the requirements for defense of the Korean beachhead are mounting.

Killed and wounded must be replaced. The numbers of American troops missing in action (which means they have been cut off and captured) has been increasing.

The need now is for more new units of ground forces, for individual replacements and for more men in the general program for expansion of the army.

Another step expected to be taken soon is the calling in of company grade reserve officers (lieutenants and captains). The possibility of amendment of the draft law to provide a greater pool for inductions also increases.

Business, Industry Booms On Backlog Of War-Born Orders

NEW YORK — (P)—War orders piled up last week on the already well-filled books of business and industry. The threat of inflation still was strong.

Congress shoved and tugged at an economic control bill to offset inflation and wound up the week in a state of complete legislative confusion.

Production lines in many industries never had a chance to cool off as they ran 'round the clock.

More workers were employed than ever before. Industry still was calling idle men back to their jobs. The workers had more money in their pockets. The firms they worked for showed lusty profits.

The Associated Press this week compiled the second quarter earnings of 450 corporations in all fields of business. The total was 43 per cent higher than the June quarter of 1949.

Hoarding Declines
The consumer purchased more goods. Prices continued their advance. The Department of Agriculture said that while meat might cost a little less this Fall, the tags would be "generally high."

Hoarding appeared to be declining, but the consumer still spent more money in the nation's stores and shops than he did a year ago.

Business was buying too, in most cases to build inventory. Bank loans to business hit $13,911,000,000. It was the eighth successive weekly increase.

Many industries were expanding. The Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company planned a big new assembly plant west of Detroit. Gulf Oil Corporation awarded a construction contract for a cracker unit at Port Arthur, Texas.

Columbia Steel Company, a subsidiary of United States Steel, leased from the government the steelmaking facilities of a wartime foundry at Pittsburg, Calif. Except for a brief period, the plant has been idle since World War II.

A lad who gets a draft call while in college can finish out the academic year.

Or if he is taking senior ROTC—reserve officers training—in his last two years, he can stay in school if he agrees to take a commission when he is through and remain on active duty at least two years.

What if the Army gets the boy before he is through college? Is the government going to finance his schooling after he gets out of service?

It did for World War II veterans. And bills are pending in Congress to extend education and other benefits of the GI bill of rights to persons called into service because of the Korean war and troubled world conditions. So far the bills haven't gone far.

Perhaps the boy is a member of the reserves or National Guard and is now taking GI training as a result of service in the last war. If he is called into service again, or if he volunteers, he can come back and resume his schooling at any time before July 25, 1963.

OUT OF 'MOTHBALLS'

BREMERTON, WASH.—(P)—The Navy escort carrier Cape Esperance was recommissioned here Saturday 20 days after orders were received to remove it from "mothballs."

WHAT ABOUT YOU AND ME AND ADVERTISING?

You have a job. I am an ad. And here's why I'm so important to you.

No matter what your job is, in the last analysis it depends on somebody selling something to somebody else. And advertising is the lowest cost way yet devised to sell goods or services.

It's obvious how this works with the new post-war businesses that have come along. It's taken advertising to put them over. It's just as true of the basic industries we've had for years. Advertising is the spark plug of American business.

Suppose nobody read the ads or listened to radio advertising. Soon businesses would start to fail. It wouldn't be long before these failures would affect your pay check.

It's good advertising—powerful advertising—that makes the wheels go 'round... makes business grow and prosper... makes jobs.

So next time you see or hear it, remember—advertising makes your job more secure.

Two Pennsylvanian Wildcats Slated For NE Howard Area

Locations for two new wildcats have been reported for Northeast Howard County. Both of them are projected to the Pennsylvanian lime.

Burdell Oil Company No. 1 J. Hodnett is to be 860 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 31, block 25, H&TC survey. It is projected to 8,000 feet and is two miles north-west of Vincent and one and one-quarter miles west and one half of a mile south of the discovery well and up to now the lone producer in the Gartner field.

That well, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A Herman Gartner is producing from a pay at 8,192-8,464 feet in the Mississippian lime. It was completed for a daily potential of 60 barrels of oil and six barrels of water.

The other Northeast Howard prospect is to be drilled by J. H. Wood, Jr., as his No. 1 Clyde E. Thomas.

Operator has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill it at a site 140 feet from west and north lines of section 60, block 26, H&TC survey.

That makes it 15 1/2 miles north-east of Big Spring and two and one-half miles west of Shell Oil Company No. 1-O'Daniel, another wildcat which is testing the section at 7,985-8,005 feet in a Pennsylvanian lime. That zone has shown some oil and it is expected that the project will be completed as some sort of a producer and a discovery.

southeast outpost to the one-well Cobb-Glorieta field in Northeast Yoakum County.

The proposed project is Big Chief's No. 1 Big Chief-Russel Maguire and Gairnat, located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block D, John H. Gibson survey. Drill site is five miles north-east of Tokio.

Projected depth is 7,000 feet, which is sufficient to test through the Glorieta pay of the Cobb field and also down to the upper Clear Fork pay of the Cobb 8,700 field, two miles to the north.

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Paul Cobb, discovery well of the Cobb-Glorieta pool, is producing from perforations at 6,035-6,200 feet.

Between the No. 1 Cobb and the Big Chief project is the Honolulu No. 2 Paul Cobb, which is temporarily abandoned at a total depth of 6,500 feet after failing to produce commercially from either the Glorieta and upper Clear Fork zones.

heavily oil and gas cut mud. No water was developed in the recovery.

The oil and gas-cut recovery was estimated at between 10 and 20 per cent oil.

This venture originally was slated to be drilled to approximately 8,000 feet. It is 860 feet from south and west lines of northwest quarter of section 8, block A-29, pal survey, and 10 miles east of Eunice, N. M.

Opener In Howard Readies To Final

Shell Oil Company No. 1 O'Daniel, prospective Pennsylvanian lime discovery in Northeast Howard County, seven miles northeast of Coahoma, and 1,997 feet from west and 666 feet from south lines of section 2, block 30, T&P survey, T-1-N, is swabbing and flowing to clean out, test and complete as a new field opener.

The prospect is testing naturally on perforated section at 7,995-8,065 feet.

After swabbing 10 hours it kicked off and flowed out 104 barrels of oil, cut with a small amount of drilling water and basic sediment; the flow then died.

Kicks Out Fluid

Swabbing was resumed after the flow died and it is continuing. The well is kicking out some fluid as the swabbing goes forward.

However no gauges have been reported since the 108-barrel flow in three hours. Operators expect to have the wildcat clean out so that an accurate gauge of its producing ability can be made early in the week.

It drilled to a bottom of 8,780 feet in the Ellenburger and made water in that formation. The project was then plugged back and 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 8,160 feet for the testing in the Pennsylvanian lime.

Edge Test Scheduled To C-W Scurry Pool

Spartan Drilling Company and Hunt Oil Company have scheduled the No. 1 Canning on the northwest edge of the Diamond M-Canyon field in Central-West Scurry County.

The proposed venture will be in the east half of the northeast 140 acres in section 147, block 25, H&TC survey. The exact location has not yet been staked.

Slated depth is 7,000 feet. The No. 1 Canning is approximately three-quarters of a mile northeast of Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Strom, recently completed extension to the Diamond M field.

Vealmoor Exploration In Borden Is Staked

Spartan Drilling Company and Big West Drilling Company, both of Dallas, are to begin operations immediately on the No. 1 Hodnett on the northwest edge of the Vealmoor Canyon field in Central-South Borden County.

Exact location is 330 feet from south and 560 feet from east lines of northeast quarter of section 29, block 32, T&P, T-3-N.

Slated depth is 9,000 feet.

Prospect In Andrews Gets Watered Core

Garrett M. Smith, No. 1 Hall (formerly carried as McWhorter), wildcat in Northwest Andrews County, was shutdown for orders, after developing sulphur water in a lime core at 4,341-56 feet.

This venture, located nine miles west of the Union pool, developed possibilities of production on drillstem test in a Permian lime 4,279-341 feet. On this test, recovery after four hours was 408 feet of heavily gas cut mud, 165 feet of

Magnolia To Drill Deep Tester Near City Of Midland

Magnolia Petroleum Company has staked an Ellenburger wildcat in East-Central Midland County five miles southwest of the city of Midland.

The proposed venture is Magnolia's No. 1 J. E. Hill, located 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 30, block 39, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Projected depth is 13,500 feet. Operations are to begin by August 9.

The No. 1 Hill is five and one-half miles northwest of the same company's No. 2 Roy Parks, which was recently completed as an Ellenburger producer and discovery.

Deep Zone Wildcat Slated In NE Garza

Aurora Gasoline Company and N. Appleman Company has staked a 7,500-foot wildcat in Northeast Garza County, 12 miles northeast of Post.

The proposed No. 1 Swenson will be 653 feet from north and 661 feet from west lines of section 7, block 7, H&GN survey.

Slated depth should test the upper portion of the Pennsylvanian in that area. Operations are to begin by August 8.

Elevation at the drill site is 2,339.6 feet.

Magnolia Slates Devonian Tester For C-E Chaves

HOBBES, N. M. — Magnolia Petroleum Company has scheduled an 8,500-foot Devonian exploration about nine and one-half miles southwest of its Lightcap ranch discovery in Central-East Chaves County.

It will be the No. 1-B C. L. O'Brien, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 1-98-286, 30 miles northeast of Roswell.

Discovery Flow 462 BOPD

The discovery well of the Lightcap field, Magnolia No. 1 Lightcap, was completed with a natural daily flowing potential of 492 barrels of 52.4-gravity oil.

This gauge was through a quarter inch tubing choke and from perforations in the Ellenburger and made water in that formation. The project was then plugged back and 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented at bottom at 7,978 feet. The Devonian was topped at 7,955 feet.

The No. 1-B O'Brien is 17 miles northeast of the discovery well of the Chisium field which produces from the Silurio-Devonian below 6,490 feet.

Honolulu Stakes One

Honolulu Oil Corporation, discovery operator of the Chisium field has staked another offset to the No. 1 State, which is the discovery well.

The new venture is the Honolulu No. 6 State, 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 13-115-776, 18 miles east and slightly south of Roswell.

The No. 1 State was completed from the Silurio-Devonian for 170 barrels of oil daily, flowing through 1 1/2-inch choke. Plugged back to total depth is 6,568 feet. Top of pay was found at 6,490 feet.

The No. 6 State will be a 6,500-foot test, one quarter of a mile due north of the discovery well.

Casing Cemented

Texas & Pacific No. 3-C State Account 1, in the Bagley-Devonian area of Northwest Lea County, at the center of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 2-12-33e, has cemented five and one-half inch casing on bottom at 11,034 feet.

Operators plan to recement and perforate casing in preparation for completion attempts from several sections.

After coring from 10,870-10,907 feet, 37 feet of brown gray dense light dolomite was recovered with no shows of oil.

It was then cored to 10,922 feet where 14 feet were recovered. Top five feet gray dense massive dolomite with a few green shale particles, three feet of crystalline dolomite, blebbing oil and five and one-half feet of crystallizing gray dolomite.

On another core from 10,920-10,943 feet, one foot of gray dense to crystalline dolomite, 16 1/2 feet of medium crystalline dolomite and two and one-half feet of dense massive gray light dolomite were recovered.

McAister Fuel Company No. 1-A Brownfield, Northeast Lea County wildcat is drilling below 10,840 feet in lime and shale. It is still in the Pennsylvanian which it topped at 10,528 feet.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 Dickinson, wildcat in Northeast Lea County, section 35-145-37e is at a total depth of 5,814 feet in lime.

Oil Development of Texas No. 1-22 SFP in Northeast Lea County is drilling below 8,282 feet in shale. It is projected to 12,000 feet to test the Devonian.

Another Oil Development project, the No. 2-27 SFP is drilling below 9,303 feet in lime and shale. It also is to be drilled to 12,000 feet to test the Devonian.

Wildcat Abandoned

Culberson & Irwin No. 1 Gilmore, wildcat in Southwest Lea County has been plugged and abandoned at a total depth of 4,880 feet in Delaware sand. The hole developed sulphur water and no shows of oil or gas.

It is located at the center of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 21-22a-32e. Delaware was topped at 4,668 feet.

Magnolia's No. 1 Matthews-Federal, Bough area exploration, 660 feet from north and west lines of the east half of the northwest quarter of section 13-96-35e, is at a total depth of 9,786 feet. The project has been plugged back to 6,530 feet with 40 sacks of cement.

Operators are now waiting for the plug to set.

The same company's No. 1-C Santa Fe is pulling core at 9,964 to 9,992 feet. This is another Bough area project, 660 feet from east lines of the northeast quarter of section 21-95-36e in Northeast Lea County.

Continental Oil Company's No. 1-S/A-29 Warren Unit has been completed for an initial potential of 1,782 barrels of oil per day flowing through a 3/4-inch choke.

Total depth of the new well is 9,319 feet. Production test was through perforations at 9,035 to 9,133 feet, from McKee sand.

The well is located in southeast Lea County in the Warren-McKee pool, section 29-20a-36e.

Oil Panel Pledges War Support, Asks Material, Manpower

FRENCH LICK, IND. —(AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission Saturday pledged full support to the government in any emergency but cited its need for material and manpower.

A resolution adopted at the final session of the commission's three-day session here said an accelerated program of drilling operations will be required to increase the present oil reserve capacity.

The resolution then cited to federal and military authorities "the imperative need for adequate supplies, particularly steel products and necessary manpower to conduct these essential operations."

A compilation of production figures supplied by state conservation departments showed that the present daily output of 5,440,000 barrels can be increased to 6,579,487 barrels without harm to wells.

Nine states reported oil production increases were possible. They are Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Colorado, Mississippi and Alabama.

Twelve other states indicated that with present facilities they are producing to capacity. These states are Arkansas, Florida, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Michigan, Montana, New York, Ohio, Tennessee, West Virginia and Georgia.

Crude Prices: A threat to crude oil producers, as well as other segments of the oil industry, lies in a new, contract renegotiation act just sent to the Capitol by the Defense Department, which is already the subject of closed-door hearings.

Designed to permit the government to postaudit and renegotiate contracts previously made with industry, the measure is identical with one in effect during the last war.

But, while the previous act had specifically forbidden renegotiation of raw materials prices, including crude petroleum prices, the new measure specifically allows this. As a result, if enacted, the measure would permit the government, at some future time, to tell a crude oil producer he had been paid too much for crude oil that finally reached the government in the form of crude or, more probably, products. And, years later, the government would have the power to tell the producer there had been an overcharge by him, and that the producer must make a refund.

Producers representatives, in particular, and refining segments, want to clarify some provisions of the bill, if the House Ways and Means Committee will open up the doors and let them testify. Chances are the bill, in some form, will be enacted shortly.

Pipelines: Construction of natural gas and oil pipelines may be affected by the Korean crisis and its implications, chiefly because steel is becoming scarce.

In fact, the Federal Power Commission is considering adopting a new policy on natural gas lines. Under the proposal, the FPC would approve new lines and additions which serve war industries, but would declare a partial moratorium on pipeline to home consumers. Further, it would be inclined, under the new policy, to hold up approvals on new lines in favor of construction that merely completes or enlarges present distribution systems.

On the other hand, there is some thinking about new oil and gas lines. For instance, the military wants a Texas-West Coast oil pipeline of large diameter. It also wants a Canada-Chicago oil line. Present thinking is to leave the Big and Little Inch lines, which carried oil to the Northeast during the last war, but now carry gas, devoted to natural gas. Other gas and oil pipelines, aimed at fueling a war, are under study.

Steel: Going ahead with vigor, the petroleum industry's steel requirements committee, created by the National Petroleum Council, named six subcommittees this week to determine steel needs for the rest of this year and for 1951, for the refining, producing, transporting, marketing, natural gas and foreign segments of the industry. J. Ed Warren, Midland, Texas, was named chairman of the production steel needs subcommittee. N. C. McGowen of Shreveport, United Gas Corp., heads the natural gas subcommittee.

The subcommittees are to report to the full committee and its chairman, Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, by September 1, after which a report will be drafted for the government and the steel industry. It's the oil industry's effort to get what's needed in the way of steel to keep production at needed levels.

Shorts That Are News: A secret government report, urging domestic production of 5.8 million barrels daily at once will go to Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman soon. Oil and Gas Division of Interior says domestic consumption will average 6.7 to 6.8 million barrels (Continued On Page Seven)

Says Gasoline, Heating Oil To Be Plentiful, Barring Spread Of The Korean War

WASHINGTON—Barring a broad spread of the Korean war, the prospects are bright for adequate supplies of gasoline and heating oil for civilians for months to come, at least. Reasons are these:

1—There aren't the planes, ships and tanks to use what petroleum might be saved by rationing.

2—There isn't the storage to hold what might be saved.

3—A cutback in production and imports might result from too-early rationing.

Jittery government officials in the last war instituted rationing too early; now they want to avoid that mistake. They are by no means sure that events will call for rationing.

This is not to say supply is unlimited. Stocks of crude and some products are lower than they were a year ago, lower than many in government and industry like. Spot shortages of heating oils could come this year if the winter is cold. What adds uncertainty is that figures on new oil burners are meagre.

The quality of octane-rating of gasoline for the motorist may drop. With the military, which normally uses three per cent of domestic consumption, doubling or tripling its requirements, there may be difficulty in meeting some demand for high octane aviation gasoline. Shortages of blending agents may crop up, too. Refiners are laying plans to reduce octane ratings of motor gasoline, if necessary, to meet military needs.

Crude Prices: A threat to crude oil producers, as well as other segments of the oil industry, lies in a new, contract renegotiation act just sent to the Capitol by the Defense Department, which is already the subject of closed-door hearings.

Designed to permit the government to postaudit and renegotiate contracts previously made with industry, the measure is identical with one in effect during the last war.

Outpost To Midland Farms Is Completed

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation has completed its No. 1-A Faskan, as a one-location east extension to the proven limits on the southeast side of the Midland Farms field in Southeast Andrews County.

The well made a 24-hour flowing potential of 892 barrels of 31.5-gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 254-1. There was no formation water.

Size of the choke used on the completion test was not reported. Flowing tubing pressure was 25 pounds. Top of the pay in the Grayburg-Permian lime is at 4,585 feet. Total depth is 4,755 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 4,585 feet. The open hole had been treated with 4,000 gallons of acid.

New Project Staked In Tex-Harvey Field

Tex-Harvey Oil Company, discovery operator of the Tex-Harvey field in Central-East Midland County, has staked another location in that Spraberry producing area.

To be on the southeast edge of production the No. 3-14 Mrs. B. W. Floyd has been staked 1,990 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 14, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S.

Slated depth is 8,000 feet. Drill site is 18 miles southeast of the city of Midland. Operations are to begin by August 10.

C-S Nolan Tester Still Cleaning Out

A prospective Ellenburger discovery in Central-South Nolan County still had not been cleaned out sufficiently to determine its producing possibilities.

The indicated operator is Sun Oil Company No. 1 J. P. Maddox, which recovered clean oil on a drillstem test 7,118-132 feet.

It was last reported swabbing a little oil and wash water from open hole section below casing set at 7,116 feet and total depth of 7,132 feet.

The venture was shut-in overnight before swabbing was resumed. Fluid level was at 4,000 feet below surface when swabbing was resumed.

The No. 1 Maddox is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 43, block 1-A, H&TC survey, and seven and one-half miles south and slightly west of Maryneal.

Edge Well Staked To Reinecke In Borden

Rutherford-Heep have staked their No. 3-A T. L. Griffin on the north edge of the Reinecke field in Southeast Borden County.

Drill site will be 973 feet from east and 467 feet from south lines (Continued On Page Seven)

Kimrey Celebrates 30th Year With Shell, 23rd In WT

E. L. Kimrey, general superintendent for Shell Oil Company's Midland area, celebrated his 30th service anniversary with the company on August 4.

Kimrey, who is well-known in oil circles in West Texas and New Mexico, has been engaged in drilling and production activities for the company in this area for the last 23 years. He began work with Shell as a roustabout in Jennings, Okla., in August 1920, and since that time has progressed through the various jobs in the production department at locations in Louisiana, Arkansas, New Mexico, and Texas.

Kimrey has taken an active part in the development of the oil industry in the Permian Basin. In September 1927, he was transferred to West Texas as district foreman. He later served as district superintendent at Hobbs, and was named assistant to the division production superintendent of the company's former West Texas division and moved to Midland in 1939. He was promoted to his present position when the Midland area was organized in November 1946.

Gulf Will Build Cracking Plant

PITTSBURGH —(AP)—Gulf Oil Corporation has awarded a contract for the construction of a 60,000-barrel a day fluid catalytic cracking unit at Port Arthur, Texas.

The contract was given to the M. W. Kellogg Company of New York. The plant is expected to have an output 20 per cent greater than that of any similar installation.

Gulf's new "cat cracker" will produce ingredients for aviation gasoline, materials for synthetic rubber production, high quality automotive gasolines and fuel oils. It is expected to be completed by the early fall of 1951 at a cost of about $8,000,000. Foundation work will start within the next several weeks.

Magnolia's Liberal Plan To Benefit Incoming Servicemen

According to an announcement made by J. L. Latimer, Magnolia Petroleum Company president, the company's plan for employees in military training and service in effect for the last two years has been liberalized and made applicable to all employees who enter the armed forces. Hereafter the plan only applied to employees who were drafted or were required to participate in active duty training in order to maintain their military status.

Under the plan, qualified regular employees who enter military service after having been with Magnolia for six months receive from the company full regular pay less governmental pay and allowances for the first thirty days after entering military service. Thereafter, the military provides for payment to such persons with dependents, one-half of regular pay less governmental pay and allowances for the entire remaining time on military leave of absence.

During the first thirty days provisions of the company's Annuities & Insurance Plan remain unchanged. Thereafter, the company guarantees that upon the employee's return to work, Magnolia will make up the annuity contributions for both the employee and the company for the remainder of the leave of absence.

While accidental death, total and permanent disability, and dismemberment clauses are discontinued after the first thirty days, group life insurance coverage is continued by Magnolia for the entire period of military service at no cost to the employee.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP— Oil Men Set To Answer Industry Mobilization Order With Little Delay

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON —(P)— Domestic crude oil production now is 44 per cent above 1941 when oil-consuming World War II struck the United States.

This places oil men in excellent position to answer with a minimum of delay any government order for oil industry mobilization.

The government already has asked the industry to develop plans for possible mobilization.

Possible steel shortages appear to be the primary threats to the industry's plans. Some operators already are reporting having difficulty obtaining essential supplies.

Steel shortages particularly could hinder continued expansion of refinery facilities and drilling.

New wells will be needed to maintain the now steady increase in domestic production and to replace depleted and abandoned wells.

Increased demand for aviation gasoline already has seen some oil companies announce refinery expansion plans.

Gulf Oil Corporation last week awarded construction contracts for an $8,000,000 fluid catalytic cracking unit at its 230,000 barrels per day refinery at Port Arthur.

To Start In 1951

Late next year the unit is to start turning out ingredients for aviation gasoline, materials for synthetic rubber, high quality automotive gasoline and fuel oils.

Washington officials last week said military demand for aviation fuel the remainder of the year will exceed July 1 contract totals by 2,600,000 barrels.

There also was an estimate military demand for regular gasoline and fuels for trucks, tanks and other vehicles will be 25 per cent higher.

Domestic crude oil production in 1941 averaged 3,641,700 barrels daily, compared to last week's daily average of 5,521,550. This is an increase of 1,879,850 barrels daily.

Nearly 1,000,000 barrels daily were added to United States production during the 1942-45 war years.

The 1942 daily average was 42,700 barrels below 1941 but 1943 output climbed to 4,125,000.

Another 450,000 barrels daily were added in 1944.

The 1944 daily average was 42,700 barrels below 1941 but 1943 output climbed to 4,125,000.

Another 450,000 barrels daily were added in 1944. The following year saw the end of the war and a daily average output of 4,694,900.

The steady climb continued for three years after the war—4,750,500 in 1946, 5,087,600 in 1947 and an all-time high daily average of 5,519,800 in 1948.

A sharp slump in demand dropped 1949 output to 5,041,900 barrels daily, but only after the December 1948 average reached a record 5,772,100.

Before Fighting Started

The upward climb from last year's crude production slump was well under way before the fighting started in Korea.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines last week reported demand for petroleum products the first five months of the year was 10 per cent above last year.

Last year's demand slump knocked 1,018,300 barrels of domestic crude production between December 1948 and July 1949.

Producers have restored 817,750 barrels of this cutback and should recover a major portion of the remaining 200,550 this month. A daily allowable increase of 107,523 barrels became effective last Tuesday in Texas.

A new all-time daily output record can be expected in September or October should the upward trend of recent months continue.

Sunray Retires Part Of Outstanding Debt

TULSA, OKLA. — Sunray Oil Corporation will exercise its option to immediately retire $9,500,000 of its $40,000,000 eight-year bank loan incident to the June 23 merger of Barnsdall Oil Company into the Sunray organization, it was announced here today through action of the company's board of directors.

Through this action, Sunray pays the first two years of quarterly payments due on the company's loan agreement, which permits the payment without penalty. Anticipation of the first two years' principal payments will save the company in excess of $400,000 in interest charges.

In announcing the payment and reduction of its outstanding bank loans, Sunray's directors reported that completion of the Sunray-Barnsdall merger finds the company's available cash position more than adequate for providing working funds and that decision to anticipate its bank obligation was arrived at in keeping with the company's policy of retiring indebtedness as rapidly as possible.

RECOGNITION FOR QUICK THINKING—John R. Evans, left, manager of Stanolind Oil & Gas Company's North Texas and New Mexico division, congratulates John C. Holt, head roustabout for Stanolind, before handing him the president's medal of the National Safety Council. Holt revived a man on a well in the North Cowden field who had been overcome by gas. T. H. Whitmire, farm boss at North Cowden, behind Evans, and R. O. Blackledge of Odessa, were given certificates for assisting Holt.

OIIC To Release Informative Film On Oil Industry

NEW YORK—A new documentary picture which depicts the round-the-clock role of oil in the modern world has been completed by the Oil Industry Information Committee of the American Petroleum Institute.

Entitled "24 Hours of Progress", it will be available for industry field sampling and for distribution about September 1. It will be released for public showing beginning September 10.

The picture was prepared primarily to help the public reach a better understanding of the men and women of oil and the work they do to assure the social and economic progress of the American people.

Loula de Rochemont, rated as one of the best documentary film producers in the country, made the picture for the Oil Industry Information Committee. De Rochemont, who formerly produced "The March of Time", is noted for such screen successes as "Fighting Lady", "Lost Boundaries" and "The House on 92nd Street."

Bellamy is Narrator

Ralph Bellamy, noted stage, screen and radio actor, is the commentator for the film.

"24 Hours of Progress" presents a swiftly paced panorama of oil industry operations and relates them to everyday American life. It commands immediate audience attention by showing how oil products help bring a new life into being just as the clock strikes midnight of the day pass. Then, as the hours of the day pass, the camera visits many parts of the country, looking in on homes, farms, factories, stores and communities. The commentary describes the role of oil in connection with each daily scene. The camera also visits an oil derrick, a refinery, a pipeline pumping station and a service station to show oil men at work.

De Rochemont sent photographic crews from coast to coast for authentic location "shots". As the film footage, as well as the script and the musical score, were prepared especially for the picture. Both photography and music have been cleared for television stations and for theaters.

"24 Hours of Progress" follows the 1949 OIIC film, "The Last Ten Feet", in bringing the story of oil to the public.

Available For Purchase

The September release of the picture will make available for use by oil companies during Oil Progress Week, October 15-21. The picture is expected to attract audiences and find wide application for several years.

The 28-minute film will be available for purchase in 16 millimeter size, black and white copies. Prints, priced at $40 each (plus shipping charges), will be distributed through the offices of the Oil Industry Information Committee or the national office at 50 West 50th Street, New York 20, N. Y.

It will be especially suitable for meetings of social, civic and business clubs, for luncheon meetings and high school assemblies, and similar group meetings.

Production was supervised by Film Counselors, Inc., New York, under the direction of the Oil Industry Information Committee's motion picture sub-committee, headed by Philip C. Humphrey, manager of the public relations department of The Texas Company.

Holt Receives Safety Medal For Saving Worker In Field

John C. Holt, North Cowden head roustabout for Stanolind Oil & Gas Company, has been awarded the President's medal of the National Safety Council, it was announced Saturday by John R. Evans, manager of Stanolind's North Texas-New Mexico division.

The medal is awarded by the NSC to persons who have successfully revived victims of asphyxiation or suspended breathing. Holt received the honor for reviving J. Y. Haynes, driller for the Oil Well Remedial Service of Odessa, in February.

Evans said the accident occurred at Stanolind's well No. 77 on the J. M. Cowden lease, in the North Cowden field near Odessa. While Haynes was making a connection on the well-head, he was overcome by escaping hydrogen-sulphite gas and fell into the well cellar. Holt carried the unconscious man from the well to a gas-free area and applied artificial respiration for approximately 30 minutes before being relieved by other oil field workers. Haynes was revived and began breathing without assistance after about 40 minutes.

Holt was awarded his medal and certificate of meritorious service by Evans who also presented certificates to T. H. Whitmire, Farm Boss at North Cowden, and R. O. Blackledge of Oil Well Remedial Service for their assistance.

Classes in first aid and artificial respiration are a regular part of the safety program carried on by Stanolind.

Senate Committee Eliminates Tax Bill Provision

WASHINGTON — The Senate Finance Committee August 4 eliminated the tax bill provision, which would have changed abandonment of oil properties from an ordinary loss to a capital loss for income tax purposes.

That action virtually guarantees that the present system will be continued. Since it is unlikely there will be a further change on the Senate floor.

Oil producers, royalty owners and the like stood to lose up to $100 million a year if the House-passed tax change had gone into effect.

Glasscock Leaves Republic Natural

Bill Glasscock of Midland has resigned from Republic Natural Gas Company and is to be associated with J. D. Henderson and J. R. Dunaway, both of Longview, in Western Drilling Company.

Glasscock has been drilling and production superintendent in West Texas for Republic Natural. He will be succeeded on that job by E. B. Ray.

Western Drilling will establish an office in Midland in the near future. The concern does rotary drilling and it is also in the oil development and producing business.

It has several rigs running in the Permian Basin at this time.

Glasscock has been living in Midland for two and one-half years. He came here from Prewitt, N. M., when Republic Natural started operating in this region.

Before going with Republic Natural he was employed by Petroleum Products, Inc., a New Mexico oil concern.

Stackpole Named Landman For Lion

Jack W. Stackpole of Lion Oil Company's division office in Midland has been promoted to be a landman. He has been handling a scouting assignment.

Hue Nunnallee has been transferred to Midland from Lion's office at Wichita, Kan., to fill the scouting job being relinquished by Stackpole.

C. V. (Brick) Lisman is division landman in Midland for Lion for West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

Kroenliens Return From Long Trip

Mrs. George A. (Mayme) Kroenliens and daughters, Virginia and Sylvia, 710 West Louisiana Avenue, have returned from a two-month vacation trip on which they traveled more than 6,000 miles.

They visited in St. Louis, Chicago, Washington, New York, Boston, Quebec, Canada, and a number of other points of interest.

Most of the tour was made by automobile. However they traveled through the Great Lakes by boat, taking their car along with them.

Mrs. Kroenliens operates the Kroenliens Geological Record Service of Midland.

Sivalls Transfers Hughes To Abilene

Jerry Hughes who has been a salesman in Midland for Sivalls Tank Company has moved to Abilene and will work out of a new yard the concern has opened in that city.

The Sivalls yard in Abilene will serve the oil industry of the West-Central Texas area.

Well Completions Hold Rapid Pace

AUSTIN —(P)— Another 250 oil wells were completed in Texas last week, bringing the year's total to 6,282.

There had been 5,231 completions the same period last year.

Eighteen new wells brought to 461 the number of gas completions this year, compared to 1949's 454.

Wildcats drilled included 14 oil well and three for gas. There were 49 dry holes.

The state's crude oil production allowances Saturday totaled 2,613,975, an increase of 122,321 barrels daily over the previous week.

There were 121,870 producing wells as of Saturday, a net increase of 191 for the week.

field, Gulf Oil Corporation's No. 1-E Peck, 30 miles southwest of the city of Midland, is drilling below 5,135 feet in lime.

The Sweetie Peck outpost is one-half mile east from General American Oil Company's No. 1-E Josie Payne Peck, discovery well of the field.

C. S. Murchison of Dallas No. 1 Canon, wildcat 660 feet from south and east lines of section 13, block 41, T-4-S, T&P survey, 24 miles southwest of the city of Midland and four miles east of the Sweetie Peck field, is progressing below 4,125 feet.

Drillists is also one and three-quarters miles north and one-quarter mile west of the Pegasus field. Ted Welner and Cumberland No. 1 Powell is rigging up rotary at the center of the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 4, block 36, T-2-S, T&P survey.

It is a 13,000-foot rotary to test the Ellenburger. It is two miles northeast of the Germania discovery.

The same operators' No. 1 Paskan, wildcat in Midland County has set surface casing at a depth of 280 feet. Operators are now waiting on cement.

The No. 1 Paskan is at the center of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 8, block 36, T-2-S, T&P survey.

Sweetie Peck Outpost Scheduled In Midland

General American Oil Company of Texas has staked its No. 1-P-B Peck as a south outpost to the Sweetie Peck field in Southwest Midland County.

Drillists is 30 miles southwest of Midland and about five-eighths of a mile south and a little east of the same company's No. 1-E Peck, discovery well of the field.

Operations are to begin immediately 440 feet from north and 880 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 21, block 41, T&P survey.

The outpost is scheduled to be drilled to an estimated depth of 10,500 feet.

Kelley-Snyder Gets Four More Projects

Magnolia Petroleum Company has scheduled four projects for the Kelley-Snyder field of Central Scurry County and W. P. Luse has scheduled one.

Magnolia's No. 2-B and No. 3-B McDonnell estate will be drilled on the west side of the field. No. 2-B McDonnell will be 660 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 297, block 97, H&TC survey.

No. 3-B McDonnell will be 660 feet from south and east lines of the same section, block and survey. Both are projected to 6,950 feet five miles northwest of Snyder.

The same company's No. 1-P McDonnell estate will be drilled 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 341, block 97, H&TC survey, Kelley-Snyder field, six miles northwest of Snyder.

Magnolia's No. 6 R. A. Smith is scheduled for the west side of the field, 1,270 feet from east and 1,478 feet from south lines of section 292, block 97, H&TC survey, four miles northwest of Snyder.

W. P. Luse's project is the No. 1 M. M. Maulie to be drilled 1,837 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 451, block 97, H&TC survey, at the northwest edge of the field.

It is projected to 7,000 feet.

Martin Tester Is Below 12,479 Feet

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-E-B George W. Glass, Southwest Martin County wildcat, 12 miles north of Midland, 18 miles west of Stanolind and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 13, block 39, T&P survey, is drilling below 12,479 feet in an unidentified dolomite.

The venture failed to develop any shows of petroleum in a drillstem test in the Devonian at 12,181-282 feet.

The tool was open two hours. There was a weak blow for a part of the period. Recovery was 3,240 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or formation water.

Another drillstem test was run at 12,307-390 feet. Tool was open two hours. Recovery was 200 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

This test was taken in an unidentified lime.

The project is slated to continue to the Ellenburger at approximately 13,500 feet.

Wildcats In Midland Are Drilling Ahead

Magnolia Petroleum Company's No. 1 H. S. Collings, Central-Midland County wildcat is progressing below 5,905 feet in lime. It is scheduled to be drilled to an estimated 13,300-foot depth to test the Ellenburger.

Exact location is 660 feet from south and 888.6 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 7, S. F. 4169, Matt Daugherty survey. That makes it 10 miles south of the city of Midland.

The same company's No. 1 H. F. Timmerman, wildcat in West-Midland County, is drilling below 2,854 feet in anhydrit and salt. This project, located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block 40, T-3-S, T&P survey, is also projected to 13,300 feet. Drillists is 11 1/2 miles south of the city of Midland.

Humble Oil & Refining Company's No. 1 Lillie Midkiff, Southeast Midland wildcat, is drilling below 5,213 feet in sand and shale. Operator will drill this venture to an estimated 13,500-foot depth to explore the Ellenburger.

Drillists is 15 miles east of the Pegasus-Ellenburger area.

Mexico Claims Oil Near Piedras Negras

MEXICO CITY —(P)— Mexico says it has found promising oil structures near Piedras Negras, just across the border from Eagle Pass, Texas.

Pemex, the government-owned oil company, said it will put down test wells in the area. Pemex said the oil structures were the first of their kind found in North Central Mexico although there are gas wells near the border along the lower Rio Grande.

Three Companies Announce Profits Of First Half

NEW YORK —(P)— The Texas Company reported a net profit for the first six months of 1950 of $63,878, or 44 cents per share. In 1949, net profit was $65,300, or 42 cents per share, over the same period.

For the first six months the company reported net profit of $64,310,449, equal to $3.94 a share against $62,719,253, or $4.55 a share, in the first half of 1949.

Continental Oil Company reported net income of $17,103,873 for the six months ended June 30, equal to $3.55 a common share. This compares with net of $20,264,637, or $4.22 a share, in the 1949 first half.

Net income for the June quarter was $8,964,570, or $1.88 a share, against $9,530,002, or $1.97 a share, a year earlier.

Panhandle Producing & Refining Company reports a net profit for the first six months of 1950 of $63,878, or 44 cents per share. In 1949, net profit was $65,300, or 42 cents per share, over the same period.

ANIMAL FARE—Judy, a 14-month-old elephant from Sierra, steps casually into the cab of Lester Kreitzman for a ride to the zoo after arriving by boat in San Francisco. It was the first time Kreitzman ever carried an elephant in his cab, and he was pleased to see that industry took care of the animal.

Indians Nip Rockets 8-7 In 10 Frames

The Midland Indians and the Roswell Rockets square off in the rubber game of their three-game series at 3 p.m. Sunday in Indian Park.

LeRoy Jarl will do the chinking for Midland. Fred Parker is the probable starter for Roswell.

George Firnback slashed a single through the box to drive home Lou Dawson from second with the winning run Saturday night in a 10-inning thriller which the Midland Indians took by an 8 to 7 score over the Roswell Rockets at Indian Park.

The Indians earlier had staged a three-run uprising in the eighth frame to knot the score at 7-7. Ray Drake was the victim of that rally after he had relieved Dean Franks in the seventh. Fred Parker, Drake's successor, was the loser.

Ralph Blair started for Midland but didn't have it. Hal Wearne came on to hurl three innings of beautiful relief work. He was yanked for a pinch hitter in the ninth and Glen Patton hurried the last inning to gain credit for the win.

Midland opened the scoring with two runs in the third on a double by Scooter Hughes and consecutive singles by Lou Dawson, Jim Prince, Tex Stephenson and Kenny Jones. They added two in the fourth when Prince singled with the bases loaded.

Roswell grabbed two in the fourth on singles by Buz Jackson, Julian Pressley and Tom Jordan and an error.

They broke loose on Blair for four big ones in the sixth. Consecutive doubles by Bob Souza, Bill Crumley and Dean Franks and a single by Mays did it.

The Rockets finished up with one in the eighth on singles by Mays and Jackson and Pressley's infield out.

Tribe Ties It Up
The Tribe tied it up with three big ones in the bottom of the inning. Scooter Hughes, the big stick man of the night, opened with a double and Mike Bellone blasted one to match it. Lou Dawson then clubbed a triple to right field and scored the third run on Tex Stephenson's double. Kenny Jones singled but Stephenson couldn't score due to having to slow down to avoid being hit by the ball.

A double play, Quentin Basco to Bellone to Prince got Wearne out of the hole in the ninth after he had walked the first man in the inning.

Hughes tripled in Midland's ninth after two were out but died on third.

Patton got the Rockets in order in the top of the tenth and the Indians came in to win the ball game. A fine running catch deep in left field by Lou Dawson saved a possible run.

Lou Dawson led off by reaching base on an error by Short Stop Bob Souza when he threw to first on Dawson's grounder.

Jim Prince, working the strategy that makes a great manager, sacrificed Dawson to second.

Kenny Jones struck out for the second out of the inning. Firnback worked the pitcher up to a three and two count and then slashed a game-winning single through the box.

Midland Splash Team Wins Meet; Takes WT Title

The Midland JayCee swim team splashed its way to a total of 264 1/2 points in successfully defending its title in the West Texas Invitation Swimming Tournament Saturday night and retained possession of the Clint B. Dunagan Memorial Trophy.

Approximately 150 contestants from Fort Stockton, El Paso, Hobbs, Abilene, Odessa and Midland competed in the second annual meet, which is sponsored by the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce. Wade Whiteley served as meet director and coached the winning entry.

The Midland team also received a bronze plaque. The Dunagan Trophy is a revolving award which must be won three times before it may be retained permanently.

Judy Kincaid of the Hobbs Aquamarine Pool performed seven, difficult exhibition dives during the diving competition.

Final standings in the meet and point totals: Midland, 264 1/2; Fort Stockton, 239 1/2; El Paso, 103; Abilene, 98; Odessa, 74; and Hobbs, 6.

Babe Retains Lead In Women's Golf Open
CHICAGO —(AP)—Babe Zaharias dropped a 40-foot birdie putt on the last hole to decimate a two-under-par 74 and post a 54-hole tally of 220 Saturday to maintain her mastery in the All-American Women's Golf Open at Tam O'Shanter.

Her nearest rival, Louise Suggs of Carrollton, Ga., had a 229. The field of 28 pro and amateur women swung into the last round Sunday.

Other third round scores included: Alice Bauer, Midland, Texas, 167-83-250. Marlene Bauer, Midland, Texas, 165-86-251.

Cub Homers Beat Braves In Overtime

BOSTON —(AP)—A pair of thirteenth-inning homers by Carmen Mauro and Andy Pafko, his twenty-fifth, provided Paul Minner, the Chicago Cubs' hardworking southpaw, with a 4-2 victory Saturday over the Boston Braves. Both circuit blows were against Bobby Hogue, who took over from Bob Chipman in the tenth.

Work Progressing On New Golf Course

Work is progressing on schedule on the new Midland Country Club golf course just north of Midland Airport. Ralph Plummer, widely known golf architect, is in charge of the project.

The acreage is being cleared and pipe for the water system is arriving. The water wells are ready and a 10,000 gallon storage tank has been erected.

A small club house will be constructed in the center of the 583 acre tract and will face south.

Patsy Arrington Is Semifinalist In Beauty Contest

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)—Choice of Miss Texas was likely to be made early Sunday morning as judges were having difficulty in eliminating the beauties.

Shortly before midnight eleven semi-finalists had been chosen. From this group five were to be chosen from which the final selection would be made.

The eleven semi-finalists include Patsy Arrington of Midland.

Clodfelter, Lewis Tie For 'Star' Spot

DALLAS —(AP)—Bob Clodfelter, Lubbock pitcher, and Doug Lewis, Amarillo first baseman, tied for "Star of the Week" honors in halloing by sportswriters and sportscasters in the Class C West Texas-New Mexico League.

Pace Leads South Stars In 25-0 Win

AUSTIN—(P)—The welcome mat was out in every Austin home Saturday for Roy Pace, the thunderous Temple backfielder who personally slashed the North to ribbons in leading the South to a 25-0 victory in the sixteenth annual Texas Coaching School All-Star Football Game.

When the mighty 175-pound all-stater chose the University of Texas for his higher education there was satisfaction in this city.

Friday night Pace ripped and tore a good North line for 149 yards in 17 carries and caught two passes for 49 yards. He looked like the answer to prayers for a break-away runner of the likes of the fabulous Jack Crain of 1941.

Roy didn't do it all. S. M. Meeks of Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio), another future Texas U. player, gained 70 yards. And to make things more joyous for Texas adherents, Tommie Ward, the big fullback from Galveston, rapped out 68 yards in scoring three of the four South touchdowns. Ward also is headed for the land of the Longhorns.

The South's victory was the most decisive of any in the history of the gridiron series. The Rebels not only beat the North by a touchdown more than any team ever has won in this game but rolled up 20 first downs, 412 yards running with the ball and 49 passing. The North got five first downs, 61 yards rushing and 19 passing.

The result of the game, which drew 11,000 people, gave the South six decisions against eight for the North since the all-star classic was inaugurated in 1935. There have been two ties.

Pace was selected by a vote of 27 to 1 by the sports writers as the outstanding back of the game. Don Goss, giant tackle from Sunset (Dallas), was picked as the outstanding lineman.

The South, running almost exclusively from the T formation, swept the North up and down the field. Only a fumble early in the first period prevented the score being higher.

Clarence Munn of Michigan State, who was barred as coach of the South squad by a Big Ten Conference ruling, saw the game from the press box as did Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, coach of the North. The latter withdrew as coach when Munn was barred. Wilkinson's team used the split-T.

Carl Price, Waco High School coach, handled the South squad on the field while Abe Houston of Brownwood directed the North.

Ward made the three South touchdowns with sledge-hammer blows at the line with Pace figuring in most every drive. The latter caught a pass to set up the fourth South touchdown which Phil Branch of Gaston scored on an 11-yard blast over right tackle.

DALLAS—(P)—Wright E. Cowden, with a 97x100, paced the Midland contingent at the National Skeet Shoot Friday. Competition was the first 100 rounds of the 250-round all-bore championship and the Western Open Shoot. No Midland shooters participated in the Western Open.

George Glass, Sr., and Jr., fired duplicate scores, 96x100's. In addition to the open championship, both compete as members of five-man teams and pair for a parent and child team entry.

Other Midland scores included: Ted Lowe, 94x100. Jimmy Green, 88x100. Clyde Cowden, 87x100.

Floyd Named A&M Basketball Coach

COLLEGE STATION—(P)—John L. Floyd, 31, Saturday was named basketball coach at Texas A&M College.

Appointment of the former Little Rock Junior College coach was announced by Athletic Director Barlow Irvin after a meeting of the school's athletic council.

Floyd's appointment confirmed reports earlier this week that he would be named. He succeeds Marty Karow, who resigned as basketball and baseball coach to take the post on the athletic staff of Ohio State University.

Floyd, a graduate of Oklahoma A&M, coached freshman basketball and assisted with the varsity squad at A&M. He also coached the high school team at Wellington, Kan., before going to Little Rock.

Irvin said Floyd would devote full time to basketball and that a baseball coach would be named later.

Keiser, Douglas Grab Early Lead In All-American

CHICAGO—(P)—Herman Keiser of Lima, Ohio, and Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del., Saturday posted formidable two-under-par 70's to share the early lead in the $15,000 All-American Pro Golf Tourney.

Tam O'Shanter's trickily placed pins over the par 36-36—72 course caused considerable trouble for the field of about 90 pros who started the 72-hole chase for top swag of $2,500.

Co-favored Lloyd Mangrum of the host club, and British Open Champion Bobby Locke, making his first American appearance in more than a year, were tied at even par 72 with Ed Furgol, Royal Oak, Mich.

Among those bracketed at 73 were Jimmy Demaret, Pete Cooper, Jack Burke, Jr., Ed Oliver, Skip Alexander and Skeet McLaughlin.

Bunched at 74 were such shooters as National PGA Champion Chandler Harper, Johnny Bulla, Jimmy Clark, the qualifying leader with 66; Jimmy Hines, Dick Mayer and Claude Harmon.

It was a day of surprising blow-ups. Among these was Furgol's soaring into an opening 32, four under par, to a back nine 40, four over par, and Jimmy Turnesa's sky-rocketing from a 34 to 41 for 75.

The third round of the All-Babe Zaharias sky-rocketing ahead American Women's Tourney found with a 54-hole total of 220, nine strokes ahead of runner-up Louise Suggs, the defending champion from Garrollton.

Stranahan, striving for his third straight All-American crown, led a single-par field of 30 by a single stroke. Four were tied in the runner-up spot at 145, Gene Coulter, Richmond, Ind.; Gardner Dickinson of Dothan, Ala.; Wilford Wehrle of Ormond, Fla., and Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia.

The final round of the 72-hole route for 28 pro and amateur femme stars is scheduled Sunday.

Potato Pausal, Big Spring's Jack-of-all-trades, pitched and batted the Broncs to an 8-7 Longhorn League victory over San Angelo Friday night.

The regular Bronc third baseman took over pitching duties in the fifth. He weathered a ninth-inning, two-run rally by the Colts. And one of his three singles drove in the winning Big Spring run.

Odessa edged Sweetwater 4-3 to keep a three and one-half game edge over second-place Roswell, 4-3 victor over Midland.

Stu Williams hit two home runs for Ballinger, accounting for all his team's runs, but the Cats lost a 9-3 decision to Vernon.

Roswell Rockets Edge Indians 4-3

Big Tom Jordan of Roswell and Jim Prince of Midland staged a sort of hitting battle while Lefty Hayes of Midland and Frank Hill of Roswell hooked up in a pitching duel Friday night at Indian Park. Jordan and his Rockets won out by a 4 to 3 score, counting three unearned runs for the margin of victory.

Phillies Roll On

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—The league-leading Philadelphia Phils took their eleventh victory in 13 games Saturday as bridegroom Mike Gollat socked a homer with one on for a 2 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Gollat's blow—more than 400 feet into the top deck of the left field stands—was his ninth. Gran Hamme had doubled to open the fifth. Mike was married only Friday at nearby Reading.

The two runs broke up a pitching duel between Russ Meyer and Gerry Staley. Jim Konstanty made his forty-seventh relief appearance in the ninth and got the final two outs.

Cardinals Stumbling
St. Louis tallied in the seventh when Eddie Miller, Glenn Nelson and Del Rice singled.

The victory was the Phils' second consecutive over the Cards in a five-game series. It was the Cards' fourth straight defeat and their seventh setback in nine games.

Midland Country Club Junior Golf Tournament Slated
The annual Midland Country Club Junior Golf Tournament will be held August 15-17, Pro J. C. Hardwicke has announced. Qualifying will be held August 15 and match play will open on the sixteenth.

All junior golfers who have not reached their eighteenth birthday are eligible to compete.

Fred Hogan and Hardwicke will be in charge of the tournament.

Midland Juniors Whip El Paso Team
The Midland Junior American Legion baseball team put a real feather in its cap Friday afternoon when it took a 5 to 4 decision from the Rollins Mercury Juniors of El Paso at Legion Park here.

Bill Medart hurled five innings of the contest and retired with the score knotted at 4-4. Little Don Smith chucked from there on and annexed the decision.

The El Paso team won its district and defeated Odessa's talented Blue Sox for the bi-district title.

Dave Koslo, veteran southpaw pitcher, is the oldest member of the Giants in point of service. He pitched when Bill Terry managed.

Two former Snyder business firms recently have been moved to the White Building in Abilene.

They are Geological Well Service Company and Dan Kralls, consulting geologist.

Kralls' office is in room 230.

GOOD BLOCK—With five yards to go to make a safety at third base at Chicago's Wrigley Field, Gene Hernandez of the Dodgers is blocked out in a play that started when Duke Snider hit to Bob Rush. The Cubs' pitcher feinted with the ball and passed to Bill Serena. Art Gore is the umpire.

McDonald's Grand-Slam Homers Humble Reporter

Rendezvous' 19-4 defeat of The Reporter—Telegram nine Friday night in the Jay-Cee-sponsored City Major League was the setting for the greatest one-man hitting show of the softball season. Big Johnny McDonald drove nine runs across the plate with two grand-slam homers and a fielder's choice.

The tall first baseman's first four-run smash came in the opening inning. Leadoff man Jim Flensy singled and took second on a passed ball. Hugh Bliss was hit by a pitched ball and Art Grove loaded the bases with a fielder's choice. Then McDonald stepped up and uncoiled the four-base blow to left-center field.

McDonald was skunked in the second and once in the fourth inning but drove home Flensy on a fielder's choice.

Thirteen In Fourth

The climax of Rendezvous' 13-run fourth came after nine tallies already had scored. The same three runners—Flensy, Bliss and Grove—filled the bases with two men out. Bunting for the second time in one inning, clean-up man McDonald electrified the sparse crowd by doing just that—cleaning the bases with another drive to the farthest reaches of left-center field.

The sixteenth Rendezvous batter of the inning was called out on strikes to end the slaughter.

The witless Reporter-Telegram squad never looked like a winner even though one batter had a perfect night and four men hit 500. Ben Crites doubled in one official trip and Jimmy Allison, Jimmy Chauncey, Max Harris and Dick Kitchens each got a hit apiece in two times at bat. Kitchens' knock was a triple.

Rendezvous opened the night's festivities with a 10-9 exhibition victory over the Church League All-Stars. Six runs on two hits, two errors and three walks turned the trick in the bottom of the last inning.

Cliff Magnuson and Cliff Howell homered for the losers and Frank Shepard collected a double. The All-Stars led all the way until the last inning.

McDonald had the Rendezvous' only extra-base hit of the exhibition—only a double.

The line scores: R H E All-Stars 401 022—9 15 5 Rendezvous 010 036—10 5 4 Kennedy and Morrow; Bliss and J. Williams.

SPORTS SLANTS

by SHORTY SHELburnE

It finally has begun to look like the Longhorn League will do some realigning that will make it the strongest Class D loop in the nation.

President Hal Sayles has circulated a letter to the various clubs that reveals for the first time that Lamesa has made motions about joining the Longhorn League.

—SS—

Sayles says Abilene and Lamesa both are very interested in working out an agreement whereby they can join this league. Abilene did some inquiring about it last year but it's the first time Lamesa has been mentioned in favor of a change.

That's just half of the story, however. What will the West Texas-New Mexico League say about losing two clubs?

—SS—

It is natural to assume that Abilene and Lamesa would fill the spots now held by the Ballinger Cats and the Sweetwater Swatters. Those two clubs are hanging on just by a thread now.

That still leaves the WT-NM minus two teams if their clubs come into this league.

—SS—

Last year it was talked at one meeting that Roswell and Vernon might shift to the WT-NM if Abilene and Lamesa would come into the Longhorn. But that wouldn't help matters any for us if Sweetwater and Ballinger drop out.

It could be that the WT-NM will pick up another city or two in northern Texas or New Mexico.

At any rate, look for some changes to be made when this season is completed.

—SS—

If those changes are made, you also can look for the Longhorn League to go Class C. We doubt if Abilene or Lamesa would consider joining the loop if it doesn't advance. Advancing to C would be just what a matter of voting approval and raising the limit on class men. It almost was done last year and there is little doubt about it this year.

—SS—

The addition of Lamesa would be a sure asset to the league. The Dawson County capital draws more fans each year for its size than any other city in the United States.

The new ball park they have up there is termed one of the best by ball players who have seen it.

How much help Abilene would be to the league remains to be seen. This year in the WT-NM the Blue Sox are just playing out the schedule. They have one of the poorest ball clubs anywhere now because the management has sold off all the good players.

The pitching staff has been picked clean by the sales and some other players have been sold.

That probably won't happen again but it might be a good idea for Longhorn League directors to keep it in mind when they go to vote on Abilene's entering the loop.

—SS—

There are other complications and things to be considered when realignment is mentioned.

Since a citizens' group has taken over the Sweetwater Swatters and holds an option to buy the club, the picture there might change some.

If attendance picks up and the Swatters show signs of coming to life, the franchise may be purchased from Cy Fawcett.

If that happens, Sweetwater definitely will want to stay in the league.

—SS—

There doesn't seem to be much doubt that Ballinger will fold up when the season is completed. T. J. Mansell has given his word that the Cats will make out the season some way.

But that's where his promise ends. The club is operating on a close budget and still is running in the hole.

We would welcome a realignment which will get the weak clubs out of the league and bring in some cities which will give it a more compact structure.

Lamesa and Abilene seem to be the ideal cities to add. Ballinger and Sweetwater should be dropped.

—SS—

There's one other thing we have not mentioned that is likely to cause the whole thing to blow up.

Right now there is a war going on in Korea and baseball players make good soldiers, we have been told.

ECHO OF WORLD WAR II—Prior to this blast, British and Russians temporarily suspended the cold war in Berlin and worked amicably together against a common foe—unexploded World War II bombs. Bombs were dug up where British sector joins the Russian sector. Red war memorial is in background, left. Bomb disposal experts safely exploded the wartime duds.

State GOP Conclave Is Scheduled Tuesday

GALVESTON (AP)—Texas Republicans will meet in state convention here Tuesday and talk about ways to make their Grand Old Party a grand old party in Texas.

They will nominate candidates to oppose the democratic nominees for state officers in the general election in November.

Their foehold in state politics—Texas' only Republican congressman, Rep. Ben Gull of Pampa—is expected to be here to speak at the Young Republican Federation's state convention Monday night.

The Republican State Executive Committee will meet at 10 a. m. Monday to plan the convention, which is to begin at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

The young Republican group will hold its state convention at 11 a. m. Monday for the purpose of adopting a constitution and reorganizing on a state level. Thorp Andrews, Jr., of Fort Worth is state chairman.

Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth is chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee.

Tribe Trips Yanks; Gains Second Place

CLEVELAND (AP)—Larry Doby blasted two home runs Saturday to give Cleveland a 4-2 victory over the New York Yankees. The victory pulled the Indians into second place ahead of the Yanks.

Doby's second homer in the eighth, his sixteenth of the season, snapped a 2-2 tie. Al Rosen had singled with two out off reliever Allie Reynolds to set the stage.

Early Wynn, veteran right-hander, went all the way for the Indians and yielded only four hits in posting his twelfth victory. Johnny Mize collected half of the Yankee blows.

Eddie Lopat opened for the Yanks. Doby broke a scoreless tie with his first homer in the fourth. Joe Gordon followed with his fourteenth homer in the fifth to give Cleveland a 2-0 bulge.

New York tied the score in the seventh. The Yanks loaded the bases on a single and two walks with none out. Lopat batted in the first run with a ground out. Phil Rizzuto fled out to drive in the second run.

The score: R H E Cleveland 000 000 200—2 4 0 New York 000-110 02X—4 6 2 Lopat, Reynolds and Berra; Wynn and Hegan.

Split Admission At Doubleheaders Irks Dakota Solon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Langer (R-ND) Friday hurled the word "profiteer" at President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators. Griffith promptly denied it.

Langer told the Senate Griffith was a "disgrace to American sports" because he had announced split admissions will be charged at day-night doubleheaders with the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers this month.

Said Griffith: "If he knew what I've done for wounded soldiers, he wouldn't say those things. And he can't call me a profiteer. I'm lucky to make ends meet in baseball these days."

Griffith said both Detroit and New York had requested the doubleheaders be split because this is their last road trip of the season. He added that he personally didn't want to do it.

Weather Stymies 17th Soaring Meet

GRAND PRAIRIE, TEXAS (AP)—Racing events were called off at the seventeenth National Soaring Meet here because of poor gliding weather.

A short hop had been planned to Eagle Mountain Lake, north of Fort Worth, and back—a total distance of about 50 miles. But clouds overhead resulted in a lack of thermals (updrafts) and the race was canceled.

Friday, similar weather trouble dogged the meet. Out of 43 pilots who took off for goals in Oklahoma, only one reached the Sooner State. He was Dick Johnson of Starkville, Miss., who covered 90 miles to Orr, Okla.

Stan Rojek Fined $100, Suspended

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Shortstop Stan Rojek of the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday was suspended for five days and fined $100 by National League President Ford Frick as a result of a run-in Friday night with umpire Lou Jorda.

The trouble came in the eighth inning of the game which the Cubs dropped to New York 3-2 in the Polo Grounds. Jorda called Rookie Gilbert safe in a play at second. Frick said Rojek pushed Jorda in the ensuing argument.

Luling Schoolboy Wins Caddie Tourney

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Fred Blackmar, Luling schoolboy, defeated Dave Marr, Jr., of Houston 4 and 3 Friday to win the 1950 Caddie Golf Tournament.

Blackmar will receive an all-expenses-paid trip to the National Caddie Tournament at Columbus, Ohio, August 22.

Two New Cotton Bowl Officials Elected

DALLAS (AP)—Ben H. Wooster has been appointed to the executive committee of the board of directors of the Cotton Bowl, it was announced Saturday.

Wooster, president of the First National Bank of Dallas, will represent Arkansas on the executive committee.

Langston, business editor of the Dallas Times Herald, will represent Baylor University on the board of directors.

SPORTS SLANTS

by SHORTY SHELburnE

It finally has begun to look like the Longhorn League will do some realigning that will make it the strongest Class D loop in the nation.

President Hal Sayles has circulated a letter to the various clubs that reveals for the first time that Lamesa has made motions about joining the Longhorn League.

—SS—

Sayles says Abilene and Lamesa both are very interested in working out an agreement whereby they can join this league. Abilene did some inquiring about it last year but it's the first time Lamesa has been mentioned in favor of a change.

That's just half of the story, however. What will the West Texas-New Mexico League say about losing two clubs?

—SS—

It is natural to assume that Abilene and Lamesa would fill the spots now held by the Ballinger Cats and the Sweetwater Swatters. Those two clubs are hanging on just by a thread now.

That still leaves the WT-NM minus two teams if their clubs come into this league.

—SS—

Last year it was talked at one meeting that Roswell and Vernon might shift to the WT-NM if Abilene and Lamesa would come into the Longhorn. But that wouldn't help matters any for us if Sweetwater and Ballinger drop out.

It could be that the WT-NM will pick up another city or two in northern Texas or New Mexico.

At any rate, look for some changes to be made when this season is completed.

—SS—

If those changes are made, you also can look for the Longhorn League to go Class C. We doubt if Abilene or Lamesa would consider joining the loop if it doesn't advance. Advancing to C would be just what a matter of voting approval and raising the limit on class men. It almost was done last year and there is little doubt about it this year.

—SS—

The addition of Lamesa would be a sure asset to the league. The Dawson County capital draws more fans each year for its size than any other city in the United States.

The new ball park they have up there is termed one of the best by ball players who have seen it.

How much help Abilene would be to the league remains to be seen. This year in the WT-NM the Blue Sox are just playing out the schedule. They have one of the poorest ball clubs anywhere now because the management has sold off all the good players.

The pitching staff has been picked clean by the sales and some other players have been sold.

That probably won't happen again but it might be a good idea for Longhorn League directors to keep it in mind when they go to vote on Abilene's entering the loop.

—SS—

There are other complications and things to be considered when realignment is mentioned.

Since a citizens' group has taken over the Sweetwater Swatters and holds an option to buy the club, the picture there might change some.

If attendance picks up and the Swatters show signs of coming to life, the franchise may be purchased from Cy Fawcett.

If that happens, Sweetwater definitely will want to stay in the league.

—SS—

There doesn't seem to be much doubt that Ballinger will fold up when the season is completed. T. J. Mansell has given his word that the Cats will make out the season some way.

But that's where his promise ends. The club is operating on a close budget and still is running in the hole.

We would welcome a realignment which will get the weak clubs out of the league and bring in some cities which will give it a more compact structure.

Lamesa and Abilene seem to be the ideal cities to add. Ballinger and Sweetwater should be dropped.

—SS—

There's one other thing we have not mentioned that is likely to cause the whole thing to blow up.

Right now there is a war going on in Korea and baseball players make good soldiers, we have been told.

Rival Chain Scores Liberty Broadcasts As Too Realistic

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission is looking into complaints that a Southwestern radio chain's studio baseball broadcasts are so realistic listeners may think they're come directly from the diamond.

The complaints, directed against the Liberty Broadcasting System, came from radio station KTRT, Houston, Texas, and other affiliates of the Mutual Broadcasting System.

They claim Liberty's play-by-play accounts of ball games against a background of recorded sound effects—tend to mislead listeners into believing the programs originated at the ball park.

Liberty's vice president and general manager, James H. Foster of Dallas, countered in a statement to FCC that the broadcasts are a public service. The complaints were prompted by rivalry for listening audiences, he said.

Screwworms Causing Deaths Among Deer

AUSTIN (AP)—An "abnormally high" death rate for Texas deer has been caused by screwworms this summer.

However, the situation is not alarming from an overall viewpoint, Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen of the game commission reported Saturday.

Deer in South Texas, particularly in Lavaca County, have been hard hit, he said.

Little can be done to help curb the threat to the whitetail herd, Dodgen said.

"Nature causes it, and nature will find a way to check the outbreak. About all we can hope for, so far as the deer are concerned, is to have dry weather since moist weather enhances the danger," he explained.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Board of Geographic Names Saturday announced approval of the following place names as official for use in government map and other documents:

New Mexico—Brilliant, instead of Swastika.

Texas—Fry, 14 miles northwest of Brownwood; Thrifty, 10 1/2 miles northwest of Brownwood. Some maps have transposed these two settlements.

Committee Will Canvass Returns

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Democratic Executive Committee will meet here Monday to canvass returns of the first primary. Then it will certify to county chairmen names of rival candidates in the state runoff races for the August 26 primary.

Among candidates for state office to be certified for the second primary is J. E. McDonald, whom the committee unsuccessfully tried to bar from the ballot in the first primary. The committee said he was disloyal to the party, but the Supreme Court ordered his name placed on the ballot. His opponent in the runoff is John C. White of Wichita Falls.

Lieutenant Governor Candidates Receive High Endorsements

By The Associated Press

Both candidates for lieutenant governor in the August 26 runoff primary drew endorsements Saturday from prominent Texans.

Durwood Manford, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, announced support of Ben Ramsey of San Augustine. Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan, endorsed Pierce Brooks of Dallas.

The two candidates for lieutenant governor will head the runoff ballots Texans will mark two weeks from next Saturday.

Both began touring the state last week and were to continue their broad and rapid campaign swings this week.

Manford said Ramsey "is the only candidate for lieutenant governor who has had any training for the job."

Material Asset

Wainwright said Brooks is a "businessman of wide experience and in these perilous times through which our country is going at present I feel businessmen of great experience are a material asset, not only to the nation but to their states as well."

Manford said he had not made an endorsement in the race during last month's first primary because he had several friends with legislative experience seeking the post.

Brooks and Ramsey moved into the runoff by leading a field of 12 candidates in the July primary.

Manford, who did not seek reelection this year, was a member of the House of Representatives while Ramsey was a state senator.

Wainwright now is a San Antonio businessman.

"As president of an insurance company, I am proud and happy to support the candidacy of another insurance man, a much more noted insurance man than I," Wainwright said.

T&P Transport Drivers End Strike

DALLAS (AP)—Striking workers will return to their jobs Monday with the Texas and Pacific Motor Transport Company.

Settlement of the strike, which had lasted two months, was announced Friday in a joint statement by O. E. Bellomy, superintendent of the transport company, and M. R. Dixon, AFL Teamsters Union business agent.

Neither the company nor the union would disclose terms of the agreement.

When the strike began June 6 the union was seeking an eight and one-half-cent hourly boost for all of its members and the company offered increases of four cents to six cents an hour, depending on job classifications.

Dixon said the two-year contract provides a "substantial" wage increase, retroactive to April 1 and another automatic wage boost the second year.

Princess' New Baby Is Expected Next Weekend

LONDON (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip are finding that a second royal baby comes a little cheaper.

They are waiting for the arrival about next weekend of a sister- or brother—to 20-month-old Prince Charles.

The new prince or princess will succeed to young Prince Charles' hand-me-downs—his outgrown baby clothes and discarded toys. Like many another young married couple, Philip and Elizabeth have saved them all.

Third In Line

The best unofficial guesses put the arrival of the new baby—third in line behind Prince—Elizabeth and Prince Charles for the British throne—between next Thursday and the following Tuesday. Court circles are picking the middle dates, say next Saturday or Sunday.

While Charles was born in Buckingham Palace, London home of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, the princess expects to have the new baby at 18th century Clarence House.

A few minutes walk from Buckingham Palace, Clarence House has been modernized as the home of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Prince Philip returned home from Malta about 10 days ago. He is on a month's leave from the British Navy. His arrival home coincided with his promotion from lieutenant to lieutenant commander.

Cramp Halts Texan's Attempt At Channel

DOVER, ENGLAND (AP)—Roy Sutter, first swimmer to attempt the English channel this summer, gave up Saturday after an hour and a half in the water.

Sutter developed a cramp in his leg, was picked up by his escorting boat and brought into Dover.

Sutter, 31, from Denison, Texas, started out from Cap Gris Nez, France. The professional swimming instructor had expected to make the crossing in 18 hours.

Conditions for the swim were favorable, with almost no wind.

Shrine Convention Concluded Saturday

FORT WORTH (AP)—Saturday was the last day and 5,000 Shriners and their wives made the most of it.

They and several thousand Fort Worthers crowded downtown sidewalks for the big public event of the two-day Texas Shrine Association meeting—a parade of nearly 3,000 men in the uniformed units of 10 Temples. The state's newest and eleventh Temple, Suez of San Angelo, was just admitted to the association Saturday morning and was represented in the parade only by a car carrying Temple officers.

The parade also included a mounted patrol from Wichita Falls.

Here's Good News For The "Forgotten Man" in Home Building!

This message is aimed directly at the people who want homes that do not meet the various requirements of the Federal Housing Administration or Veterans Administration, and at the people who do not desire to use the services of these agencies in securing a home. The requirements of F.H.A. and V.A. are more or less rigid, and may not enable you to build the type of home you feel best suited to your needs.

While we are continuing to build F.H.A. and G.I. homes, we are also in position to build exactly the home you want—built the way you want it—using a LOW DOWN PAYMENT, low interest Conventional Type Loan! This plan of building will not only allow you free rein in house design, but it is also the fastest, easiest way to become a home-owner. Why not drop in sometime soon and let us explain all of the details?

Investigate Our Cost-Cutting "PACKAGE DEAL"

Buying a home can be a complicated, expensive, long-drawn-out procedure. Why don't you join the many satisfied home-owners who have let the Boyce Company handle their entire building program with a low-cost, time-saving "package deal," which includes:

- 1. REAL ESTATE— Your first consideration in building a home is the location. In helping you select a lot, we can show you building sites (exclusively ours) in every section of Midland.
- 2. FINANCING— Our newly established Conventional Loan Department provides you with the finest service, lowest interest and most moderate down payment possible.
- 3. INSURANCE SERVICE— Your Boyce home is amply protected against fire and other hazards. Mortgage Redemption coverage pays for the home in case of death of the wage earner.
- 4. CONSTRUCTION— Our buyers and building crews are experienced men working in your behalf toward cutting costs while building your home just the way you want it.
- 5. FREE PLAN SERVICE— At no cost to you, we will provide detailed plans and specifications for building, including your own individualized ideas.

SECTION TWO

SOCIETY

ONE DOT EQUALS THREE BOOKS — Library helps Sherry Page, Judy Ridge and Simone Walker, place dots on the clown for the current Summer reading contest for children in the Children's Library. Each dot represents three books read by a child, and the various schools in Midland are designated by dots.

A BOOK FOR LEISURE HOURS—Mrs. C. J. Haslam, checks out a book from the Midland County Library. Mrs. M. V. Taylor, left, and Mrs. Mary Connor, workers in the library, are behind the desk. The Midland County Library is located in the courthouse. The adult and magazine rooms are on the first floor and the children's room is in the basement. The library service is available to any resident of Midland County. Library hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The library maintains two branch libraries—one at Terminal and the other—the Dunbar branch—in the negro section of the city.

THE RED ONE ON THE TOP SHELF, PLEASE — Mrs. R. C. Bowden, a regular reader, receives a book from the top shelf of one of the racks in the adult library from Pickens Moore, a library helper. Pickens is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Moore.

ONCE UPON A TIME—Mrs. John DeFord, Midland Service League member, tells stories to the children attending the Children's Story Hour at 10:30 a.m. each Saturday in the Children's Room. Children seated left to right are: first row, Richard Whittington, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Whittington; Dudley Houghton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Houghton; Jean and Joan Partanen, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Partanen; Carol and Craig Cooper, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Ed Cooper, and Judy Carol Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Williams; second row, Billy Reveley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reese Reveley; Delano Darr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferris Darr; Tommy Houghton, brother of Dudley; John Whittington, brother of Richard; Michael and Margaret Scobey, children of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Scobey; Theresa McNeal, daughter of Mrs. Joe B. McNeal; and in the back, John Reynolds Washam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wier Washam. A member of the Service League tells the stories each week.

Girls Should Be Prepared To Live In A Man's World

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

A New York high school principal has come out in favor of "feminizing" the high school education of girls. She would give them a heavy dose of home economics courses rather than have them take the kind of curriculum which is all right for boys.

It seems to make sense until you stop to realize that the girls are going to live in a man's world, too. A great many of them are going to have to compete with men for the jobs they get and hold.

It's all very fine for Mary Jones to graduate from high school with a knowledge of how to cook, run a home and look after children.

That is, it's fine if Mary Jones happens to get a husband while she's still just a girl and manages to hang onto him—separated by neither death nor divorce—for the rest of her days. And if, of course, her husband is able to make a living for Mary and any children they may bring into the world.

But those are an awful lot of "ifs." Suppose Mary doesn't find a husband or that she finds one she can't hang onto? Or suppose her husband finds he can't support a family without her help?

Then what is Mary going to do with her "feminized" education—walk into an employer's office and tell him what good piece she can make and how much she knows about "family oriented cultural subjects?"

No, the woman who is prepared for nothing but home-making today faces a mighty insecure future. It was enough for Grandma, but it isn't enough for Granddaughter.

Just as more and more women are coming to find it necessary to play two roles in life, paid worker and home-maker. So it becomes more and more necessary to educate girls both for a "man's world" and for a "woman's world."

If that sounds like too big an educational load for our girls to carry, just stop and think how many women have to carry a double load without the proper training for both.

New Hose Step Out In Style

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—The new shorter skirt lengths, seen in Summer fashions, are calling attention to the leggy look. This, in turn, means that a greater importance is placed on hosiery. Stocking interest is always stressed when hemlines rise.

One of the new stocking designs replaces the usual solid heel reinforcement with delicate zebra stripes, right, for a slenderizing effect. Stripes are matched up with stocking seams in wine, black, navy or brown and used against light or burnished hosiery shades.

Another design, called fotogra-vure, left, frames the ankle neatly and calls attention to trim legs through a black line around the reinforcement. It's intended to attract attention to a pretty ankle at sneaker sports or during general afternoon wear.

The crystal clear sandal stocking, entirely without foot reinforcement, is the best companion for the nude sandal and for the short evening dress. It creates sheer illusion while protecting the feet from dust.

Snacks Tell On Figures

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

For some teen-agers, Summer fun revolves largely around fudge sundaes at the soda shop, jelly beans in the front porch swing, and after-date raids on the refrigerator. But many of you are paying for it with bloated skin and lumpy figures.

You'll probably protest that you don't nibble all the time just for the fun of it; that you're really hungry. This is no doubt true. Growing bodies need a great deal of fuel.

The difficulty is that many teenagers allow their appetites to be their sole guides in selecting their snacks. They often fail to provide what is really needed in proteins, vitamins and calcium. The problem is one of quality rather than quantity.

Instead of munching potato chips as you read, try carrot sticks. Sliced thin and crisped in a glass of cold water in the refrigerator, they are brittle enough to please almost any nibbler.

If you're really sincere about guarding your complexion and figure this Summer, try raisins or other dried fruits for energy-supplying, non-damaging sugars.

When you're thirsty, order fruit drinks. These are good at home, too, and the new frozen concentrates make them simple and easy to prepare.

When the gang comes over for after-swimming eats or canasta, surprise them with cottage cheese and crackers instead of cake or cookies. This cheese combines well with non-fattening crackers for a tasty and healthful snack. Flavor it with garlic salt, black pepper and sour cream. Or fancy it up with green peppers or pickles.

A bowl of fresh fruit may be used to provide a colorful and harmless sweet between meals, or as a dessert.

Crane IOOF Leader Is Installed

CRANE—Tom Caldwell was installed as Noble Grand and Johnnie Lambley as Vice Grand at the semi-annual installation ceremonies of IOOF Lodge No. 169 recently held at the lodge hall. District Deputy Grand Master A. F. Taylor was in charge of the meeting.

Taylor was assisted in the installation by S. F. Lakin, Roy Hazle, J. R. Boyd and Bill Gooch, all members of his staff.

Martin Ingram was the outgoing Noble Grand.

SIDE GLANCES

"It's strictly platonic—he's only made the down payment on it!"

SHOPPING 'ROUND TOWN ... with BARBARA

Diamonds For Her—

The constant sparkle of the diamond you choose for her symbolizes the lasting, unwavering affection you promise her. Say it for keeps with a fine diamond ring. You'll find stones selected from the cream of the diamond market—settings of the most precious metals, richly carved, smoothly polished, each one cut with the patient skill of the artisans.

The store has the kind of ring you want her to wear—in diamond engagement rings and wedding ensembles. Also, it features a fine selection of nationally advertised watches.

As Seen At The Glamour Style Show—

Forgive us for mentioning it, but you'll be going back to school in a few weeks. This season can be a glorious one when you have a wardrobe from COLBERT'S. From classroom to stadium, there are clothes for every occasion. Soft jersey dresses in brilliant colors and flattering styles, skirts and sweaters and suits that will be the love of your Autumn life, crisply tailored treasures you'll savor for their figure flattering lines—their air of affluence and glowing new colors.

"Beauty Under Foot"—

From coast to coast, the accent is on feminine footwear. At HAYNES SHOE SALON, where new styles make their first appearance, you'll find daintily designed shoes by Andrew Geller, Peacock, Paramount, Penobscot Trampese, Red Cross and Town and Country. Exotic shoes, important now into Fall, in cut-outs, bare and becoming, are masterfully shaped-in suede, accented into romantic silhouettes to kindle early Fall fashion drama.

Through Musical Expression—

When a child enjoys music, the scales and arpeggios are taken care of. At THE WATSON SCHOOL OF MUSIC, 210 West Ohio, he may devote himself to any instrument that may strike his fancy, including piano, violin, accordion and all wind instruments. Mr. Ned and Miss Lydia Watson both studied at Gallows College, London Conservatory and the American Conservatory in Chicago. They lecture on child training, theory and harmony.

A Scientific Discovery—

There's no longer an excuse for social embarrassment. In a harmless little tablet, that you take like a vitamin, there is amazing new control for body odors. For most people, one a day is sufficient for protection all day. Nullo contains concentrated derivative of chlorophyll—the natural green of grasses, leafy foods, etc. Get a month's supply at CAMERON'S for $1.26. Other deodorants that are pleasant to use are the Richard Hudnut spray type in the plastic bottle and the VP stick deodorant.

Takes Care Of The Parking Situation—

When you go shopping, leave your car at MIDLAND AUTO STORAGE, 107 North Baird, and when you return they'll bundle you into a car that's spic and span and thoroughly clean. Their experts at cleaning and polishing cars, and they'll also lubricate your car. This is the most convenient service available and also takes care of the parking situation. You can store your car by the hour or overnight.

More For Your Money—

Whether you choose refrigeration from top to toe, or a big 8 cubic foot model, you'll discover more space, more features and more value than ever before in the new Gibson Refrigerator at HEALTH PLUMBING COMPANY, 119 North Weatherford. Touch a tap and you have plenty of cold water. Toe-touch control opens and closes the door. A butter compartment keeps butter sweet and easy to spread, and the right amount of moist cold keeps vegetables crisp.

Chained To The Kitchen Stove—

Do you go home and relax when you get off from work, or do you go to the kitchen to prepare the evening meal? Stop by WEB-TEX FOOD MART, COOKED FOODS DEPARTMENT, and take home a full course meal, already cooked. The cooked foods department features a variety of foods with the "home cooked flavor"—well cooked and seasoned just right. Try this service at noon when you want a meal at home.

Always Naturally Cool—

Keep cool the natural way—at the CHIEF DRIVE-IN THEATRE, on Andrews Highway. Your car is your private "box seat," and the whole family can enjoy the latest releases in fine motion picture entertainment. There is always a comfortable, unobstructed view, and there's a speaker in every car. The kiddies come along when you attend the Chief Drive-In Theatre, and there is no baby sitter expense.

Do You Remember—

When you couldn't buy suits with extra trousers—cuffs or zippers? It could happen again, you know. Just to be on the safe side, order your Fall requirements from CARL'S now and save. For higher prices are inevitable. Get a suit now for as little as $55 to $100, a top coat for $50 to $65 in finest quality wools. This is not meant to cause a war scare—just to remind you that Carl's is ready to serve you with finest custom tailoring in domestic and imported wools in new Fall patterns.

Holds The Secret Of Good Cooking—

Gourmet Ware is of a type that has been preferred by famous chefs. This ware holds more than food—it really holds the secret of good cooking. In the oven, Gourmet Ware brings out the natural aroma and flavor then safeguards it on the table. It has exceptional heat resistant and heat retaining properties. Of time tested non-porous hard clay, it is finished inside and on the cover with French brown glaze. You'll find it at BASIN SUPPLY COMPANY, styled in the popular provincial manner.

For Wilted Summer Shirts—

Fashion experts can say what they may—but the "good ole Summer-time" is still here and will be for a while yet. So, we might as well make the best of it by keeping our Summer clothes in good wearing condition by sending them to VIC CLEANERS, 413 West Texas, for expert cleaning and pressing. Vic Cleaners knows how to restore "life" to wilted Summer shirts and crispness to Summer cottons. Colors are bright and fabrics more lustrous when they go through the scientific cleaning process. Bob Spencer is the new owner and manager of the cleaning plant.

Let's Go Dancing—

When the gang gets together, the question always arises—"What to do?" Why not suggest an evening of dancing at THE HI-80 CLUB, on East Highway? The gang will be glad you thought of it. There are plenty of refreshments on hand—sandwiches, short orders and cold drinks. The club is operated by Mrs. Levene Tuttle and Mrs. Joe Miller. It stays open 'til 12 o'clock any week night, and on Saturday night 'til 1 o'clock. There's always somewhere to go when you like to dance.

A Little House Needs A Lot Of "Savvy"—

Let your kitchen be the heart of your home. NOLEN'S CABINET SHOP, 312 South Dallas, will show you how you can have a kitchen warm as a hearthstone, yet up-to-the-minute in time-saving conveniences and modern kitchen wizardry. The shop, under new management, offers the same courteous service, with three expert wood-craftsmen to help you plan built-in units to utilize every inch of space in your home. Call 269 for estimates.

The Charm Of Redwood—

That inexplicable something that fills a home with an aura of lasting quality and elegance is achieved in the superbly crafted redwood furniture featured at TOWN AND COUNTRY INTERIORS, 208 North Garfield. Skillfully combining the functional advantages and ingenuity of modern furniture with the enduring charm of the past, redwood furniture lights up a home contributing its cheerful beauty to your decorative scheme. There are tables, chairs and settees, specially priced.

Passing The Sternest Tests—

In most cars you have to slow down to a creep-speed when you approach a rough road, but in a Buick, soft, quick acting shock absorbers snub the after-bounce and the rigid torque-tube drive keeps your forward thrust smooth and even, without rear-end steering effect, coming out of rough spots with cruising speed barely broken. Dynaflex Drive keeps your power flow smooth. MILLETT HALL BUICK COMPANY, West Highway 80 invites you to see for yourself why the Buick ride is called matchless.

Your Car's At Stake!—

Every time you go into a garage to have work done on your car, you're automatically depositing your car into the hands of the attendants for better or for worse. Why take chances with such a valuable piece of machinery? Why not be sure of dependable service from expert mechanics, such as those employed at BLAYLOCK'S GARAGE, 908 East Illinois. The garage specializes in all kinds of automotive repair and also features a selection of auto parts.

What Is The "War Clause"?—

Well-planned insurance is assurance for your children's future. Buy insurance now before the "war clause" becomes effective. Your insurance man is a friend of the family for he can give you honest, sincere counsel for he knows that to be fully protected you must have the right insurance for your needs. See RODNEY E. VICK, Fidelity Union Life Insurance, 415 West Texas, or call 4474 for information concerning the "war clause" and why you should be insured before you may be in the classification that is effected by it.

A Complete Paint And Repair Job—

Take your car to BOYCE AUTO SALVAGE AND BODY WORKS, West Highway, for a complete paint job. The body shop will weld all breaks, repair dents, replace parts and finish your car with a smooth paint job that will make a shabby car look as good as new in short time. The service department is equipped to handle any body repair job with skill and efficiency. Expert technicians do spray painting or touch up work with perfectly matched colors.

Do-Si-Do—

They're having a grand time at the square dance classes conducted by JAY JOHNSON. Mr. Johnson is an instructor of square dancing and folk dancing. He studied with Doctor Loyd Shaw in Colorado, and teaches all the advanced figures. So, let's all promenade to the square dance class, get our training and be ready to join a club in September. BASKETS OF STRAW—Girls learned to weave baskets at the Girl Scout Day Camp. Shown left to right are Carolynne Beaty, Virginia Marshall, Joan Redding, Carol Ann Wilkinson and Dorothy Johnson.

By MARILYN PARKER
With their lunches in their hands and baseball caps on their heads, big and little Girl Scouts gathered around the Little House at 8 a.m. each day last week.
These girls were waiting eagerly for the buses to take them to Girl Scout Day Camp which was held Monday through Saturday in Cole Park.
Girl Scouts are known for their ability to handle difficult situations, and these girls found just the thing to keep ants out of their lunches. Each girl brought a clothes pin and pinned the paper sack containing her lunch to a clothes line.
Divide Into Groups
Upon arrival in Cole Park the girls divided into groups, according to ages, and started the days activities. The activities including weaving, music, archery, free play, nature study for the smaller girls and golf for the larger ones.
In their weaving classes the girls made baskets, brightly colored place mats, hot pads and dolls. The girls wanted to make grass skirts out of the colored raffia but instead they made pot pads and place mats.
In their nature study classes the Brownies learned to recognize every member of the bird family, also learning their habits and characteristics.

After lunch the girls reassembled for a lecture or an exhibit. Thursday C. E. Bissell, a member of the Permian Basin Area Girl Scout Council, gave a lecture on Indian arrowheads found in West Texas with an exhibit of his own collection. Friday Mrs. Charles Henderson of Royalty gave an exhibit of Indian pottery.
At 1:30 p.m. the camp closed for the day and the girls returned to Midland on the buses.
Saturday the last day for the campers, a "cook out" was held. The girls cooked weiners and had watermelon.
The camp ended Saturday and was a big success, according to Mrs. Stanley Erskine, business manager. Mrs. Erskine, with the aid of 12 unit leaders and a camp nurse, was in charge of the camp and kept things running smoothly.
The average attendance at the camp was 150 girls. Sixty per cent of the girls in Midland are Girl Scouts while 12 per cent of the girls in the United States are members.
Since the completion of the Little House the Girl Scouts are planning a schedule of activities the year around instead of just nine months.

Miss Midkiff Given Pre-Nuptial Party

Complimenting Loyce Midkiff, future bride of Gerald Cole of Dallas, Jane Hardison was hostess to a linen shower in her home Saturday.
Miss Midkiff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Midkiff of Midland. Cole is the son of Mrs. Corinne Cole of Dallas. The marriage will be solemnized August 19 in the First Methodist Church.
Carrying out a color scheme of the bride-elect's chosen colors, blue and yellow, the table was covered with a blue cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and blue mums, with small bride and groom figurines mounted above the flowers. From the bride and groom were extended yellow and blue streamers attached to the table with small silver umbrellas.
The guest list included the mother of the honoree, Maydel Midkiff of Midland and Mrs. Herman Colcate of Rankin, sisters of the bride-elect.

Buffet Dinner Honors Mrs. Robert C. Noble

Mrs. Robert C. Noble and son, Robert, who left Friday to make their home in Northampton, Mass., were honored at a buffet dinner Wednesday night in the home of Dr. and Mrs. George A. Pelletier.
The serving table was centered with an arrangement of snapdragons and fern. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rayburn Burke, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lawrence, Mrs. Alice Russell and Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Locke, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Lawrence, Dr. and Mrs. A. V. Johnson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bartley and Georgie Pelletier.

Offer Style And Variety

For those who balance a budget, these three designs, all under $30, are helpful. Blue-and-white dotted net (left) has attached stole and ruffle cascade. Brown marquisette (above) has shoulderette stole. Lilac pique dress (right) has coachman's jacket for dinner, strapless cuffed bodice for dancing.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Evening dresses that are priced under $30 are a boon to young budgets. But the small price does not mean designers have sacrificed either styling or fashion variety. And, just as in more expensive gowns, care in small details is present. One budget-priced dress which is versatile on a Summer evening has its own double-breasted short coachman's jacket. With the jacket on, this lilac pique dress can be worn to dinner. With the jacket removed, there's a strapless dance dress with a cuffed bodice and a large, flat bow. Though the skirt is wide for graceful dancing, it has a narrow look when not in motion. Blue-and-white dotted net fashions an ethereal dress for Summer evenings. The strapless bodice is draped with an attached stole which may be worn either around the shoulders or as an airy mantilla. A full skirt is emphasized by a cascade of ruffles from hips to hemline.

The shoulderette stole appears in a brown marquisette dress in the well-liked short length. White pique edges the strapless bodice and white lace medallions are scattered all over the full skirt. TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

This is the time of the year when the nicest girls get the silliest crushes. Old Mr. Sunshine can give the shallowest looking youth a healthy coat of tan—which acts like a venetian blind over his real self.

Boys you wouldn't take a second look at during the cold Winter months look awfully good under the Summer moon in white jackets—and with smooth talk.

But don't let their purring fool you. Remember all the preparations Red Riding Hood's wolf made to deceive that poor little girl. Some boys hibernate all Winter long, save their money for Summer weekends and vacations when they can strut their stuff and add another little scalp to their belts.

Make It Pay Off
The thing that makes it so easy is that girls are more receptive to romance during the Summer months. They invest a large portion of their savings in clothes and vacation, and they're just gotta make it pay off. They feel that if they can't find a "fella" when they are at their best, they'll have to wait for another vacation.

Is it any wonder, then, that they listen to the small gibberish of the professional vacationer—and they want to believe what they hear. After a few years of soaking up this sort of patter, a gal gets smart. Fortunately, she will not marry any of these vacation cowboys, because they're not the marrying type.

You'll recognize them by a pattern—the steady, smooth deep-throated drawl, always quick to pay a compliment, they listen tolerantly and show interest in everything you say. They are the tender kissers (a deep warm kiss on your hand or forehead). They bide time with you whether it is a juke box or an orchestra, and almost immediately there will be a song for "just us two."

Always Seem So Nice
The trouble with identifying the spots on this type of Romeo is that he always seems so nice. He is solicitous about your Mother and Aunt Tillie, and loves to talk about his home life. Sometimes he'll compare you with Mom or Sis or maybe his favorite actress.

That is the crushing thing about this romance. When it is all over, and the Casanova drifts off to a new prospect, he'll still look perfect in the eyes of his discarded chick, because he is adept at leaving these situations on friendly terms. The girl will wonder just why she couldn't hold him, and blame herself.

Sometimes a girl is likely to pass up the boy who wants to have fun on a vacation or a weekend or even a day's outing but isn't a "mush mouth." Chalk this up to inexperience or dignity or respect for female companion ship. But don't pass up the boy. If he gets to like you, he can become adept at sweet nothings—but he'll mean them, sincerely. You can have more fun with him in the long run and not a scarred heart to show for it when the Summer is over.

Will Be Sincere
He might be tangledfooted on the dance floor, not so glib under a pretty moon and not try to hog all your time when other boys are around. But you probably can have fun with this boy on the tennis court, golf links, picnicking, fishing and at baseball games. If he holds your hand, it probably will be because he's fond of you, not because it represents a challenge to him. It is only by understanding and experience that one learns a bout character. Give some thought to it and you will be able to differentiate between the boys that count and those that do not. Then feel complimented that you can depend upon a nice boy for companionship—one way a relationship can develop into true love.

Mary Davis Is Wed To Willard May

In a ceremony read Saturday evening in the Church of Christ, Mary Davis became the bride of Willard May. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred W. Davis and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. L. May.

J. Woodie Holden, minister, read the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white calla lilies, greenery and palms.

An A Cappella choir, directed by Charles Kelly, sang "Because," D'Hardelot, "O Promise Me," DeKoven and the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin by Wagner.

Margie Davis was her sister's maid of honor and Billie Taylor and Billie Frances Hales were bridesmaids.

Clifton Hales was best man and Tom Breeding and Howard Smith were ushers. John and Howard Vanderpool lighted the candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore the traditional gown of white slipper satin. It was fashioned with a high round decollete neckline and illusion yoke. Tiny orange blossoms, trimmed with seed pearls, outlined the yoke border. The bodice had long sleeves and the full skirt extended from points at the waistline to a chapel-length train.

Her fingertip-length illusion veil fell from a sweetheart halo trimmed with lace. She carried a yellow-throated white orchid on a white ribbon.

The maid of honor was wearing a yellow organdy gown designed with a round neck, wide collar and full skirt. Her halo was of matching organdy and was trimmed with flowers. She carried a nosegay bouquet of blue daisies.

The bridesmaids' gowns were fashioned like that of the maid of honor. Miss Taylor's was blue and her bouquet was of pink daisies. Miss Hales' dress was made of pink organdy and her bouquet was yellow.

Reception Held
A small reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. Only the wedding party and members of the immediate families attended.

Miss Taylor served punch and Sylvia Holman served the cake. When the couple left on a short wedding trip, the bride was wearing a navy crepe dress trimmed with lace and white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. May will be at home in Midland. She is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by the Shell Oil Company. The bridegroom was graduated from Paradise High School and is employed by Duniap's.

EXPLOSIVE DOOR-STOPS

KHARTOUM—The Sudan government advised Khartoum dwellers to stop using cannon shells as door-stops. The reason: an old warhead, dating back to the 1884-85 siege of Khartoum, exploded during building excavations.

Several offices in the Sudanese capital use old cannon shells as door-stops.

Young Sculptress Molds Hands Of Clay And Captures Character Of Many Famous People

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—In a shadowy studio, conductor Fritz Reiner stood with hands upraised, head cocked slightly to one side. He was conducting a phantom orchestra while nearby, a phonograph record spun out its music.

A patrician young blonde woman sat watching him intently. Presently, the music ended, the conductor's hands fell to his sides and the young woman shut off the record player.

"I have it now," she said. "I can begin work at once."

The young woman was Ray Shaw, an eminent sculptress of hands, the most difficult subject a sculptor can attempt. Ray Shaw's roster of successful hand portraits includes those of such famous persons as Lily Pons, Clara Boothe Luce, Irving Berlin, Helen Hayes, Fannie Hurst, Bernard M. Baruch, the late President Roosevelt, Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, Albert Einstein and Joe Louis.

"It's the character and expression which makes it so difficult to capture hands in clay," Miss Shaw explains. "People learn to control facial expressions but they forget their hands, which are forever telling all kinds of interesting things about them."

But don't ever believe it, she adds, if someone glances at your palm and tells you you're going on a cruise. She thinks it's impossible to predict the future by palm-reading.

To produce her telling portraits, Ray Shaw studies her subject in action. Thus, she watches Irving Berlin at the piano. Albert Einstein with the pencil he calls his only weapon, Rise Stevens fingering the rose which was important to an operatic role.

Miss Shaw, who wants some day to start a museum of famous hand portraits, says that the most popular fallacy concerning hands is that the long, slender hand is "artistic."

"It just isn't true," she says. "A woman once told me that her daughter, who couldn't play anything, had 'musical' hands. I expected the girl to wave her hands in the air and produce music, like a juke box. Actually, most musicians have square hands with short fingers, like Mischa Elman's."

Though she was born in Lithuania, Miss Shaw has lived in New York since she was a child. She got interested in hand sculpture in her teens, because she felt that her own hands were essentially those of a peasant. Today, she is the only sculptor in the country specializing in hands.

"Joe Louis has surprisingly delicate hands," Miss Shaw says. "He told me that a fighter's hands need not be battered — just educated. And this is true of all hands."

Dip Fingers To Remove Polish

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

For many women, the job of removing nail polish is one of the most tedious in the whole manufacturing procedure. Some do without polish altogether, in order to avoid this pesky routine.

Now, thanks to a new product, there's another answer to this difficulty. You can keep your nails as colorful and shining as you please without worrying about the time-consumption and messiness of removal, according to its sponsor.

The product features an entirely different approach to polish-removal. Instead of using dabs of cotton as you formerly did, you simply insert your nail—finger and all—into a wide-mouthed bottle of remover.

A few brisk whisks of your nail against a curved brush, which is permanently fastened just below the neck of the bottle, and the old coating is gone. No smears are left around the cuticle, its makers say.

Something new has also been added to the dissolving agent, which leaves a light, pleasant scent upon the fingers after they are dry. The remover may be used many times without changing to new fluid from the refill bottle that makes up part of the package.

VISIT IN MIDLAND

Pantry Shelf Charm Keeps Skin Fresh

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newfeatures Beauty Editor

It always is a challenge to women to try to capture that cool look during the summer time. It is a difficult beauty chore to accomplish, what with the usual increased outdoor activity during hot weather. The cool look of crisp summer cottons doesn't counterbalance a hot, red face. So we should strive for cool looking skins whether we choose the pale or sun bronzed look.

Try carrying a small bottle of good quality witch hazel in the purse for frequent face washings during the day. It will do wonders in keeping the face cool. Wrap a few cotton squares in cleansing tissue and keep them in your bag for these dab-up moments. It is a good idea to keep witch hazel in the refrigerator during the summer. Its icy coolness will be refreshing when you arrive home after work on a hot day.

Witch Hazel
A few beauty treatments, whipped up from things on hand in medicine chest and kitchen cupboard, will keep you fresh and well-groomed through the hottest days.

Oily Skin
If you are troubled with oily skin and humid weather puts an unbecoming shine on your nose, try a vigorous cleansing routine. Select a soft complexion brush and each morning briskly scrub your face with mild soap and warm water. Pay special attention to the area around chin and nose, where oil glands are most active, as you refresh and stimulate complexion to a radiant glow.

A cooling facial several times a week is wonderful for cleansing pores and tightening facial muscles. One that is particularly effective and simple to make is the cucumber mask. Soak cucumber peels and the juice of one lemon in a cup of water 15 minutes.

After your morning cleansing ritual, saturate a cotton square with this liquid and pat briskly over face and throat. While you are organizing your wardrobe for the day, allow the facial mask to dry. Splash it off with cold water. Then apply makeup with soft, gentle strokes to avoid overheating the skin.

Egg Mask
Another kitchen facial that works wonders is the egg mask. This, also, is particularly good for oily skin, as it has a tendency to dry and tighten pores.

After skin is cleansed, wet a fresh cotton square with frothy, beaten egg white and rub over face, neck and throat. When this is completely dry, remove with cold water. The girl with oily skin always should select summer cosmetics with a non-oily base.

If complexion is dry and flaky, use a good cold cream for daily cleansing rather than soap and water. You might even take a tip from the young member of the family and borrow his baby lotion for removing soil and stale makeup.

Group To Take Peep Into Cradle Of Deep

COPENHAGEN —(AP)— What is scheduled to be the most comprehensive deep-sea exploration ever undertaken will be launched from Copenhagen in October. The corvette "Galathea" will sail on a two-year cruise-crossing of oceans with 14 scientists from Denmark, England, France, Sweden and the United States.

Study of plant and fish life along the ocean floors is the purpose. A trawl that will go as deep as six to seven miles will be among the equipment. A fishing wire eight miles long will snag rare specimens. The bacteria of the deep and the sounds fish make also will be studied.

A hollow non-magnetic bronze sphere, weighing about a ton, will carry instruments down to measure the earth's magnetism at various depths.

Dad's Checkbook Hovers Over New York Display Of Fashions

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Talk about things being subversive, get this. There is a large, well-organized group of men and women at work in this city. Everything they are doing is hush-hush. And their aim in life is to change things in America.

They call themselves fashion designers, where they showed their secret plans for an invasion of the American home next Fall. Nobody knows about it—yet.

But come around August, and you'll all know about it. Women will be dying for one of those darling new coats or suits that these birds are even now stitching up. And men will be forced to support these revolutionaries by paying the bills.

Every season, it seems, this happens. The designers come out from a Winter of high-class hibernation with new skirt lengths, new silhouettes, new materials, new shades. Well, maybe not exactly "new"—just different from the ones they had last year.

And they call in all the fashion editors to view their latest collection. The fashion editors begin teasing the poor paying public with hints of the things to come next Fall. And, come Summer, the stores blossom out with these chicest of the chic costumes. By October, the women are wearing them, the men are bankrupt and the designers are back at their drawing boards, preparing for the next time around.

Showing a new Fall collection, like the one I saw, is an event with the designers. We—17 ladies and me—sat in a semi-circle. Before us tripped the new styles, transported by models.

As each gal came out, she paused before a mirror, with faint smile on her lips. Then she would tell the model number and the price of the creation she was wearing. "Model 738," she would say. "119.75. This is Model 738."

The commentator then launched into a complete description. "Here we have a perfectly lovely little cocktail suit. It has the new 'figure-eight' silhouette, you'll notice. The material of the jacket—go ahead, ladies feel it—is something entirely new, from France. The color is created exclusive for us. It's a new shade called 'burnt banana.'"

The model, while this harangue was going on, would take a few mincing steps to the left, turn, smile, take a few mincing steps to the right, then proceed along the semi-circle, letting everyone feel the material who wanted to. I felt the material, feeling daring. Few men have the opportunity to meet a girl for the first time and feel her material.

Everything that was shown was new. There was a coat—we call it our shirt-tail coat—which looked like a man's shirt-tails, strangely enough. The length next year for coats will be the "new" seven-eighths length, about half-way between the three-quarter length and the end. Next year maybe the fifteen-sixteenths.

Then there was the cape coat, which wraps all the way around and yet billows out both front and back. From the side, the model looked like an isosceles triangle with a head on it. Another coat that will be in style next season is the great coat. It's tremendous. If you get tired of wearing it, you can pitch it.

Another coat had huge cuffs that buttoned up the sleeves. The lady next to me, obviously an expert, was taking notes. She wrote down, "Cuff goes up one-third of sleeve." I was taking notes, too. I wrote down, "Fine place to carry lunch."

The "cut-away" coat will be in vogue next Fall. It is shaped like a man's swallow-tail coat, shorter in the front than the back. Personally, I think they were just running short of material when they designed this job.

For more than an hour, the models paraded in and out, the commentator chatted amiably about the styles, the assembled ladies took notes. Over the whole meeting, however, hovered the sombre vision of Father and his check book.

Go ahead, ladies, feel—and guests at fashion shows usually take advantage of the invitation to touch the new fabric.

Every Child Needs Some Responsibility

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Education Writer

Training for responsibility begins at home, and it should start in infancy, says Ethel Kavin, noted child guidance specialist, author and lecturer at the University of Chicago. Writing in the National Parent-Teacher Magazine, she says: "Every child comes into the world a helpless babe who would die without the love and protection of those who accept responsibility for his care."

"Even in his first year the child finds that he must gradually learn to control his demands so he can adjust himself to his environment. He must learn to do things for himself so that he can take care of his wants instead of depending entirely upon others. He must even learn to do some things for others to satisfy their needs."

Growing Up
Thus begins the process of growing up emotionally and socially. Thus the child learns little by little to take responsibilities — first for himself, then for others. They will be little today, bigger tomorrow.

How do children develop a sense of responsibility? In the first place, she says, we know that children learn by doing. We emancipate the child from the dependence of infancy by letting him do for himself, from the beginning, whatever he is capable of doing.

Step by step he learns to feed himself, to put his own toys away, and gradually to help others with simple household tasks in which some role can be found for him. In all these daily, homely, routine activities we should give the child not only freedom to do what he is capable of doing, but responsibility for doing what he is ready to do.

Young children take great delight in exercising their newly developed powers, and these powers grow through practice. For young children, therefore, she says, responsibility is largely a joyous adventure. It is enhanced, too, by the sense of importance they get from being given a part in the program of the adult world represented by the household.

Desirable traits of character are learned through experience, just as one learns any other skill. Children do not acquire such traits as self-discipline, honesty, desire to serve others, or determination to persevere in the face of obstacles because their elders have told them to.

They learn to be honest by behaving honestly in situations that challenge their integrity. They learn self-discipline by experiencing wise discipline repeatedly in everyday life.

We help the child to progress to acceptance of responsibilities that are at times burdensome by giving approval, recognition, a feeling of status and importance when he accepts responsibilities at his own level of development. As the child grows older we can help him to generalize from his experiences and develop a sense of worthy self-reliance.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

I Cor. 1:18-31; Acts 6:10; Matt. 15:34; I Cor. 2:7

JESUS, THE STANDARD NOTE

We have seen that sin is not only bad; it is also foolish: The opposite is true—goodness is not only good; it is also wisdom. That is the reason Jesus identified Himself with Wisdom: "Nevertheless, Wisdom is vindicated by all that she does." He had just been talking about Himself. He asserted Himself to be Wisdom, and added, "Life approves of that statement, for it approves, vindicates all I do." The emphasis is upon that word "all"—not here and there was He hitting right notes, but never did He miss the right note. When He and His teaching are put under life to see what the verdict will be, there is but one verdict—He is vindicated by all that He does.

Paul takes up the same note and says, "Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God." Note that he connects the two—power and wisdom. They are bound to be connected. For the sum total of Reality is behind wisdom—the whole moral universe backs it. Sooner or later wisdom is bound to win. The opposite is true; sin and weakness are inseparably connected, for the sum totality of reality is against evil. Sooner or later it is bound to fall. Evil has the seeds of its own decay within itself. In evil I cannot win; in good I cannot lose. The stars in their courses work against sin. The stars in their courses work on behalf of good. There is a saying that "only the stars are neutral." But the stars are not neutral—nature is on the side of good and will not respond to evil. Goodness is wisdom and goodness is power. In Washington there is struck over the radio each day the note A 440 as the standard note by which the nation is to tune its instruments. Everything that departs from that note is discord, and hence torture. This standard note is not arbitrary; it is inherent. In Jesus the standard note of human living is struck. Everything that tunes to that note catches the music of the spheres; everything that departs from it is discord and torture. God does not inflict any torture. The departure itself produces the torture. It is inherent.

O Christ, Thou standard Note of all human living, forgive me that I have tried to live against that note. The result has inevitably and invariably been discord and inner torture. I tune my life fully and wholly to Thee from this hour. Amen.

Training Union Has Watermelon Feast, Amateur Program

Approximately 100 persons attended the amateur program and watermelon feast of the First Baptist Training Union Friday night on the church lawn.

Members of the Christ Patrol Union, a union for young people, were honored guests. It was the winner of the watermelon contest which had been conducted since the first of July. Lois Farnsworth, director, was in charge of the general arrangements. Anna Joyce Streeter led the group in singing.

Each union of the organization presented a part on the program. The Intermediate Unions presented a "melodrama" under the direction of Mrs. E. F. Conner. The Primary Union sang songs and the Junior Unions presented instrumental music. Charles Conner played a piano solo, Jane Rae Neill a flute solo and Walter Dunagan, a trumpet solo.

Joe Wright of the Howard Bryant Union played an electric guitar and Nettie Johnson did a trick. LeMoyne Tabor, representing the Christ Patrol Union, gave a humorous reading. The Mildred Cox Union concluded the program with a skit.

Bachelor of science in chemistry from the University of Rochester, bachelor of arts in music from the University of Washington, bachelor of business administration from the University of Wisconsin and bachelor of music in public school music from West Virginia University.

Anyone interested in checking their eligibility for AAUW membership may call Mrs. Seifert, telephone No. 1350.

Miss Watkins Says 'Everything Velvet'

By MARILYN PARKER

"The velvet touch from top to toe," is Bonnie Watkins' prediction for Fall fashions.

Miss Watkins, Midwestern associate fashion editor of Glamour magazine, directed a Fashion Show here Saturday.

With McCurdy's

Later with McCurdy's, Rochester, New York, she advanced from the position of assistant to bridal buyer to that of buyer of sportswear.

Since January she has been one of Glamour's roving editors, working with stores and manufacturers in planning fashion shows and promotions that tie in with Glamour features. In addition she reports on the fashion trends and works out promotions designed especially for local stores. Her headquarters are in Chicago.

When asked her opinion of fashion trends for Fall she said skirts will be shorter with the slim silhouette look, which will make accessories more important than ever.

Fashion Trends

Shoes will become exceedingly important with lower heels for daytime wear and very high heels for evening. Shoes made of flannel and patent combination and wool plaid will be very popular.

Large jewelry and close fitting hats will be worn with the slim silhouette outfit, according to Miss Watkins.

Everything will be made of velvet this year, including hats, shoes, bags, gloves and of course skirts, dresses and coats.

School Clothes

College and back to school clothes will be adaptations of men's clothes. They will be made like boys with a feminine touch.

Fabrics this year will be those with a crew cut nap such as flannels and new plaids that have not been over-worked.

Miss Watkins left Saturday for Waco where she will direct another fashion show and from there she will go to Springfield, Ill.

Ice Cream Supper Planned By Class

The Single Young Adults Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church will have an ice cream supper at 7 p.m. Monday on the lawn of the church.

Funds raised from the supper will be used to pay for a typewriter which the group is giving to the newly-organized St. Mark's Methodist Church.

Carolyn Oates is in charge of arrangements and Joyce Hendricks, Clifford Howell and Billy Wolfe are assisting her.

Obie Stalcup Wins MIT Scholarship

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—Obie Lee Stalcup, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Obie L. Stalcup, 600 North Marienfield Street, Midland, has been awarded a freshman competitive scholarship by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, it was announced Saturday.

The freshman competitive scholarships are granted annually by the institute to a group of entering students of high scholastic standing and personal qualifications selected by competition from several hundred candidates from all parts of the country.

Stalcup is a June graduate of Midland High School, and will enter MIT this Fall.

Nail Down Finger Beauty

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Girls in their teens, whose interests shift overnight from jeans to dancing frocks, often find themselves with fingernails which don't quite match their new glamor selves. The years of tomboyish unconcern have left their mark in hangnails, wild cuticles and ridged surfaces. It takes more than a quick session with a nail file to correct this condition. But it can be done—with a bit of time and patience.

The free hours of Summer vacation can be turned to golden advantage if you begin your renovation now. General improvement is your first goal. Special problems can be dealt with in their turn. Get into the habit of real manicures. Instead of continuing the hasty scissor-trims of your old routine, try shaping your nails with an emery board.

Work it from side to center. It is harmful to saw back and forth. Never file deeply into the corners. Soreness develops, and the nails tend to break.

Extreme points, unattractive at any age, detract particularly from the charm of a young girl. A soft nail is preferable.

Smooth away the ridges of your nails with a buffer and a powder polish. Move in one direction only to prevent overheating.

The next step is cuticle care—when important one since short nails look even stubbier when an uncared-for cuticle further diminishes the apparent length.

Don't maul your cuticles in a burst of sudden disgust. Gentle, day-to-day treatment will pay the highest dividends. After every hand-washing, push your cuticles back with a towel.

In addition, press them back at manicuring time with a cotton-wrapped orange stick dipped in cuticle oil or remover. Never cut cuticles with your scissors except to trim a severe hangnail. Good results can be obtained from massaging nail cream into the cuticles with the cushions of your fingers.

Choose your fingernail polish to compliment your personality and your way of life. Leave the no-nonsense to the sophisticates, and select a lively but not too vivid shade. For girls in their early teens, colorless polish is best.

Hand lotion is an oft-neglected item on a teen-ager's dressing table. Use it often to soften the skin of your hands and give your new lovely nails a worthy setting.

Sices Announces Nation's Six Best Dressed 'Little Women'

NEW YORK—Betty Grable and Anne Baxter, movie actresses; Mrs. Osa Johnson, famous woman explorer; Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey, wife of the governor of New York; Helen Hayes, of the first ladies of the theater, and U. S. Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine have been selected as the six best dressed "little women" in America, Murray Sices, leading fashion designer, has announced.

The select six represent varied fields and professions in which "clothes help to make the woman." They will be invited to meet in New York City late in August where they will be presented with "Best Dressed" statuette awards by Sices. The winners were selected on a basis of outstanding attire and appearance in public, general ability to wear correct type of clothes for specific occasions, charm and grace.

Little Ones Neglected
Six years ago Sices discovered that little women (five-foot five and under) were being neglected in comparison with their taller sisters. He insisted it was high time these women received their due credit in the fashion parade since they compose the majority of American womanhood.

Sices further stated taller women practically have taken over the spotlight as the best dressed women in the country. This has been due to the fact that they have been almost exclusively featured in the fashion shows and parades throughout the nation.

However Sices maintains that less than one per cent of our female population are as tall as the fashion models for whom the styles and fashions are created.

Sices Pioneers
Since American designers and Parisian stylists have continuously ignored the demanding needs of the average world, Sices started to pioneer correct size and fit in garments for little women. She now has with easy accessibility in fashion centers throughout the nation, the style fit and size created especially for her. She now can compete with her taller sister on an equal footing in the race for the "best dressed" Oscar.

Sices' next great hurdle is to make the fashion world conscious of the existing fact and modify the fabulous creations so that they are becoming on the little woman. Then the rest of the world will follow suit and America's little woman will take her place along side the country's tall ones.

The award selections of the six best dressed little women in America will be an annual event.

Contributions Given To Heart Association

Dr. H. Glenn Walker of the Midland unit of the American Heart Association announces two recent contributions.

These were received from John W. Skinner in memory of Mrs. Cedie Hunter and from Emory Corbett in memory of Mrs. Emory T. Corbett.

The memorialized were victims of heart ailments.

THEY'LL SKATE AGAIN ON FIRST ANNIVERSARY

OLEAN, N. Y.—A year ago August 6, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Carnes of nearby Ceres were married on roller skates at a rink.

They celebrate their first anniversary Sunday at the same rink. One hundred persons have been invited, but they must wear roller skates.

Mrs. McKee Receives Flowers, Olive Leaf From Jerusalem

By MARILYN PARKER
Flowers from Jerusalem and a leaf from an olive tree out of the Garden of Gethsemane have been received by Mrs. A. F. McKee from her daughter, Mrs. Burton E. Hull, Jr., who recently toured the Holy Land. Mr. and Mrs. Hull live in Beirut, Lebanon, on the Mediterranean Sea. Mr. Hull is with the Trans-Arabian Oil Company there.

"It was the most impressive thing I have ever seen," said Mrs. Hull after her first view of the Holy Land. "It makes you appreciate the Bible so much more when you actually see the things and places referred to in it."

Plane Trip
Mr. and Mrs. Hull and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton E. Hull, Sr. from California, left Beirut by plane at 6 a.m. and arrived in Jerusalem at 7:30 a.m. Enroute they flew over Galilee, the Dead Sea, the River Jordan and Jericho.

Upon arrival in Jerusalem the group hired a guide. Since the Jews wouldn't let anyone enter the new part of the city the only part they were able to see was the old section.

Walking up the Way of the Cross, where Christ carried the cross, they saw the place where Christ was crucified, also the Holy Tomb where He was buried.

Garden Of Gethsemane
Continuing their tour, the group went through the Garden of Gethsemane and saw the olive trees Christ sat under.

Leaving Jerusalem about 4 p.m. the Hulls stopped in Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan, on their way home. While riding through the city they passed King Abdullah's Palace and saw the king looking out the window.

Since they did not get to see Bethlehem on this trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hull are planning another trip soon to see the Holy City.

The family, including their two children—Jimmy, six, and Adrienne, one and half years old, is planning to return to the states sometime next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hull returned to the states last year while they were living in Arabia. On their way home they went through Cairo, Rome, Switzerland, Paris and London.

Alathean Class Has Luncheon In Hill Home

A luncheon Friday in the home of Mrs. Bob Hill entertained members of the Alathean Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church.

The group saw Mrs. Hill's newly redecorated home and ate at quarter tables set on the back porch. The porch and house were decorated with arrangements of flowers from Mrs. Hill's garden.

Mrs. M. D. Cox gave devotions based on the fourteenth chapter of the Book of John. Mrs. Elizabeth Turner of Dallas was a guest.

Members Present
Other members attending were Mrs. Grace Wallace, Mrs. P. V. Thorson, Mrs. F. Shepard, Mrs. Ida Fay Cowden, Mrs. Fred Wycoff, Mrs. Ann Little, Mrs. S. E. Snow, Georgia Bryant, Mrs. C. A. Barton, Mrs. Harry Tolbert, Mrs. W. B. Preston, Mrs. W. A. Stall.

New Furniture Combines Utility With Beauty

This chair, shown at the summer furniture markets, converts to a single bed.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK—A strong trend to Twentieth Century designs of American origin marked the showing of furniture at the Summer markets here. These new designs are characterized by sturdy, practical charm and by simple styles done in typically American woods—walnut, cherry, maple, oak and pine.

Chair seats and backs of woven cane, of leather and cowhide were seen throughout the showings. Upholstery fabrics for Fall stress the homespun in tweeds, plaids and Provincial patterns. There will be more nylons, too, and nylons combined with other fibers.

In all furniture, upholstered or otherwise, there will be a number of scaled-down pieces which are especially adaptable to the small home or apartment.

A streamlined version of grandfather's century-old Morris chair is one of the interesting Fall pieces. In its 1950 revival, it has been given cushions and back of foam rubber, the identical design used by William Morris for the four reclining positions.

The new version also has a lower

Advance furniture and rug designs, shown at the summer furniture markets, included this streamlined version of the old Morris chair (left) and rug with tone-on-tone effect in beige (right).

Since beige is replacing gray as color leader for upholstery fabrics, it is also featured in the new rugs and carpets. One clean-cut metallic design shown in beige is in a combination of plain and mottled yarns. The design is taken from a wild rose, outlining a tone-on-tone effect.

Bank Employees Honor Newlyweds With Dinner

RANKIN — Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hamilton, who recently announced their marriage, employees of the First State Bank entertained Friday night at a Mexican dinner in the Elite Cafe.

Mrs. Hamilton is the former Clois Baxter and has been a bookkeeper in the bank several years.

Bowls of asters in bright colors decorated the long table, and the honorees were presented gifts from the employees and from the bank.

Other guests were Elizabeth Raina, Mr. and Mrs. Dunn Lowery, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Workman, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Braasher, Joyce Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Campbell White.

Construction Permits Of '50 Zoom Toward Record

Another big week in building permits virtually assures Midland of a new record total in 1950. Permits issued during the week ended Saturday totaled $448,850, to bring the year's total to $6,666,696.

The record year in Midland building, 1948, included permits totaling $7,272,990—only $606,294 more than have been issued through August 5, with almost five months to go.

Included in the week's permits was one for $70,000 for an addition to the Superior Oil Company building, 218 West Illinois Street. The permit was issued to the Rose Construction Company of Abilene for a structure 40 by 59 feet.

Brown Built Homes received four permits totaling $70,000. One, for $25,000, was for a brick veneer residence, 46 by 95 feet, at 1900 West Storey Street.

Other permits issued to Brown were for a $15,000 brick veneer residence, 48 by 86 feet, at 1206 Harvard Street; a brick veneer residence, 38 by 79 feet, $15,000, 1205 Harvard Street; and for a brick veneer, 35 by 100 feet, $15,000, at 1503 Princeton Street.

Eight in Loma Linda
Eight permits were issued to J. T. Champlon for construction of frame residences. All are to be 25 by 43 feet, and each was for $5,000, for a total of $40,000. Addresses for the new residences are: 300, 302, 304, 306, 308, 310, 312, and 314 East Magnolia Street, in the Loma Linda Addition.

Another $40,000 permit was issued to George Abell for a stone veneer residence, 100 by 105 feet, at 1506 West Illinois Street.

A permit for $30,000 was issued to Owen B. Ingram for construction of a brick veneer residence, 66 by 64 feet, at 1807 West Kansas Street.

R. A. Hoekendorf also was issued a permit for $30,000 for a tile, brick and steel food market, 70 by 100 feet, at 801 West Missouri Street.

Owen B. Ingram received a permit for $25,000 for a stone veneer residence, 89 by 40 feet, at 1412 Country Club Drive.

Other Permits Listed
Other permits of the week included: Cliff Hall, $20,000 brick veneer residence, 51 by 33 feet, 1809 Bedford Drive; V. G. Stolle, $16,000 brick veneer residence, 28 by 80 feet, 1807 Country Club Drive; Cliff

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: President Truman's stand on Korea was courageous; FDR failed to nip World War II in the bud; U. S. must have national unity.

WASHINGTON—The more enlightened half of the Pearson household took a dim view of a recent column in which I thought I was urging support for President Truman in the Korean war but compared his qualities of leadership somewhat unfavorably with those of FDR.

"It doesn't make any difference," said Mrs. P., "what Truman's voice is like or whether he is good on the radio. You shouldn't be too personal. And you shouldn't be too tough on him in comparing him to FDR."

Maybe Mrs. P. has a point there. At any rate the main thing I want to emphasize in urging more national unity is that people usually fail to understand that world wars really begin far in advance of the actual conflagration, and a President who has the courage to nip a war in the bud early sometimes is able to head off a major world war later.

I also think that President Truman acted with a lot of courage in not ducking a showdown on Korea—despite the critics who now say "I told you so" when things go wrong.

Whether he was wise or whether

General MacArthur was too confident in his advance "guarantee of success" I don't know. But I do know that we're all in the thing now, and it's important for us all to stick together. It's also important for us to understand more about the difficult question of how wars start. And if Harry doesn't have the same radio techniques as FDR in selling ideas to the American people, then perhaps some of the rest of us can help him.

How Dictators Build
 At any rate I recall most vividly a previous important chapter in our long efforts to prevent war when the late President Roosevelt did his best to nip war in the bud but failed. It illustrates how dictators carefully build up their strength against the democracies before the peace-loving people of the latter countries know what they are in for.

In the late Summer of 1937, it was obvious to President Roosevelt, Adm. William Leahy, and many other observers—including this columnist, who repeatedly warned of it—that a world war was inevitable—if the dictators continued their march of unchecked aggression. Japan was raidily swallowing

China. Mussolini had gulped down Ethiopia and was licking his chops for more. Hitler had annexed Austria, bitten off the Ruhr, and was growling at Czechoslovakia.

Therefore, Admiral Leahy, Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and FDR devised the strategy of putting the weakest dictator in his place in order to make an example to the others.

To this end they picked Japan, partly because we had firm treaty obligations—which Japan had signed—guaranteeing the sovereignty of China. Other European nations—Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Italy—had signed this nine-power treaty which the Jap war lords had torn to shreds by invading China.

Therefore, a carefully planned strategy was evolved to stop war before it got started.

FDR's Quarantine Speech
 The first step was Roosevelt's famous Chicago speech in the Fall of 1937 proposing a "quarantine" against aggressor nations. Simultaneously, Admiral Leahy worked out a long-range naval blockade of Japan, under which, merely by stationing American ships at Panama and our west coast, with British ships at Singapore, we could cut off all Japanese oil, cotton, copper, scrap iron without firing a shot. Japan being an island country, wholly dependent on basic imports, such a blockade was fairly easy.

Finally, in order to mobilize world public opinion and peace machinery against the Japanese war lords, Roosevelt called the Brussels Conference of nine-power treaty nations which had guaranteed the sovereignty of China and asked them to carry out their pledge.

Who Killed Peace?
 I have never been able to find out exactly what killed this laudable and highly important attempt to prevent the world war that most people knew was coming. The late Norman Davis, chief American delegate to the Brussels Conference, told me that his attempts to take a firm stand against Japanese aggression were constantly sabotaged in the State Department. His speeches and statements, when cabled back to Washington from Brussels for advance approval, were rewritten and drastically toned down by the late Hugh Wilson, who had the ear of Cordell Hull.

In addition, Jim Farley was reported concerned about midwest political reaction to Roosevelt's bold "quarantine" speech. But I think the basic trouble was that FDR himself either neglected the all-important step he had taken, or else didn't have the courage to face the risk of possible war.

At the time the Brussels Conference reached a crisis, he was off the California coast, fishing.

USS Panay Sunk
 Two months later, when the Jap war lords deliberately and brazenly tested out American courage by sinking the gunboat USS Panay on the Yangtze River, Admiral Leahy once again urged that his blockade machinery be put into effect. But once again Hugh Wilson urged caution. In the end, both Hull and Roosevelt shunned the risk of a showdown.

At that time—December, 1937—the dictators were far from ready for a war. They lacked the raw materials, the arms, even the manpower. They were biting off chunks of the world, piecemeal, in order to build up their strength.

But despite this, the United States side-stepped. Roosevelt, strong as he was politically, wise as he was on foreign policy, shrank from that tough, difficult decision of a long-range naval blockade, which, though the chances of success were excellent, nevertheless did carry the risk of war.

President Truman, faced with somewhat the same problem in Korea, did not flinch. He knew what the risks were. But he also knew that a stand against continued Russian aggression had to be taken some time.

Those are some of the background facts we need to remember and which should help bring more national unity in the difficult crisis we face today.

Reserve Officers Given Procedure For Applications

AUSTIN—Response to the call for company grade officers for immediate extended active duty issued recently by the Texas Military District has been excellent, Col. Oscar B. Abbott, district chief, stated Friday.

Many reservists, however, have failed to follow the proper procedure and forwarded applications direct to the adjutant general's office in Washington. This results in undue delay, as these applications are returned to the state headquarters for processing.

As outlined in the original announcement, all members of the active reserve should submit applications to their local unit instructor. Reservists of the inactive or honorary groups should forward applications directly to Headquarters, Texas Military District, American Statesman Building, Austin, Texas.

As announced, openings are available for lieutenants and captains in the Medical Corps, chaplains, Corps of Engineers, Ordnance, Signal Corps, Staff (branch immaterial), Finance, Chemical, Infantry, Armored, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Army Nurse Corps and Women's Medical Specialist Corps.

Sit In Grace And In Beauty

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Staff Writer

Today, in their quest for the sort of glamor that can be painted or pasted on, many women forget the old-fashioned charm recipes that were practiced a generation ago.

The art of sitting gracefully, an important item on yesterday's beauty list, is often ignored by the modern woman. She sprawls, she slumps, she spreads or crosses her knees in ungainly fashion.

Part of this derives, of course, from woman's new freedom in clothing, athletics and general pursuits. Actually, the correct way to sit is the most comfortable. When the body weight is correctly balanced in the pelvic cradle, you avoid the muscle strain and fatigue that result from awkward postures. Anyone who has ever hunched for a long time over typewriter or sewing machine can attest to this.

To seat yourself gracefully, coordinate your torso and limbs so that you can swing into the chair with one smooth motion. For deep-seated sofas and long, low modern furniture, your movement has to be broken into two parts. Aim first for a secure perch upon the edge of the seat, and then thrust yourself backward. Avoid jerky, piecemeal motions.

To avoid a gangly effect, once seated, keep both arms and legs in close formation. One elbow on the arms of the chair is all right, provided it is not thrust too far outward. Alternate, but don't spread both arms at once. Never, of course, should arms be wrapped around a high-backed chair.

When your feet are resting flat upon the floor, keep thighs and calves close together and toes facing forward. Outspread feet make you look slovenly, and pigeon-toed ones are a temptation toward ankle-turning.

KOLLEGE KIDS' KAPERS

By BETTY BOBO

Another week has whizzed by! It won't be long now until the school bells will be ringing once more. Summer is still with us, however. If you don't believe it, just try walking a couple of blocks around 2 p.m.

Some of the college girls have been busy this past week with Girl Scout Day Camp. Tiny Brown, LaVerne Ester, Jean McMillian, Ann Cleveland and Sarah Lew Link have been getting up in the middle of the night (seven o'clock) to make their daily migration to Camp Weehah at the Cloverdale reservation. Each of the girls has been a unit leader for a group of the scouts. "Tiny Bitsy Squaw," "Big Bear," "Big Hawk," "White Pawn," and "Tonto" stagger back to town at 1 p.m. yawning they will bring more lunch the next day.

Reed Gilmore has been on an exciting trip to Colorado, Montana and Utah. Bet there aren't any fish left in those mountain streams. Virginia Stewart and Florence Larsh have gone to Dallas to a Christian College reunion. The class of '49 gathered at the Baker Hotel to talk over old times.

Arliss Ann Klebold started working at Kruger's this week. Shirley Ann Cooper is spending the Summer in England visiting relatives. Shirley has been at Goucher College for the last two years and is planning to enter the University of Texas in September.

Pat Garner is in Lubbock this weekend visiting friends and will be home again in a few days. Mary Faye Ingham is at her father's ranch in New Mexico. Rush Captain Elizabeth Ann Cowden has gone to Fort Worth to help plan some rush parties. She is the Zeta rush captain at the University of Texas. Marylee "Mummy" Cowden is visiting in Dallas.

Patsy Lou Arrington is in New Braunfels with her parents. She will compete in the Miss Texas Pageant. We all have our fingers crossed for you, Lou!

Emma Sue Cowden, Dorothy Faye Holt, Vangie Theis and Norma Jean Hubbard modeled in the Colbert's style show Saturday in the High School Auditorium. Nice job, girls!

Bill Ryan is spending the Summer assisting a veterinarian in Oklahoma City. Bill plans to complete his work on a degree in veterinary medicine this Fall at Oklahoma A&M College, Stillwater.

Charles Tom has been attending school at North Texas Agricultural College in Arlington. He will enter the University of Texas this Fall.

R. A. "Bull" Whitson has been playing Dr. Gallup and making a survey on the time all the girls get home at night. Hmm!

The following boys wanted to see their names in print this week: Jack Dillard Hightower, Charles Edwin Prichard, Jr., and Richard Appling Whitson. Happy, fellows?

A large group of the Baptist young people are heading for Painesville Baptist Encampment between Marble and Alpine bright and early Monday morning. They are planning on one fine time.

That's all for now. See you about this time next week.

Small Terry Towels Useful For Trips Or Summer Visits

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If the embroidered linen guest towels provided by many hostesses seem to be formidably fancy for you to actually use, you can get around this problem by taking along small towels of your own when you go Summer visiting.

Thoughtful guest protects her hostess' dressing table with duplicate of the small terry towel she is using for make-up.

Excellent for this purpose is a towel and soap guest package which has recently been marketed by a manufacturer who recognizes the reluctance of most guests to risk ruining expensive towels with cosmetics or soil.

These towels, which were produced in terry cloth to eliminate ironing and in fast colors to withstand hard laundering, can be used for anything from drying your face to dusting your shoes.

Small enough to tuck comfortably bib-fashion in the neck of your dress, the towels serve well as make-up capes. Spilled powder is caught before it has a chance to streak your frock.

As a thoughtful guest, you'll find the towels useful also for spreading under your open cosmetics to protect the dressing table scarf while you're making up.

These tricks need not be forgotten upon bidding your hostess goodbye; they are equally effective at home and in transit. The packages are good travelers, taking up little space in your suitcase, and both soap and towels are aids in keeping fresh and pretty while on a trip.

Copperware is made bright and shiny by first pouring table salt on the article, then wiping it off with plain vinegar. Wire brushes scratch the copper surface, so it's best to use a soft cloth for the job.

Baptist Revival To Begin August 13

CRANE — Cottage prayer services will be held nightly this week by the young people of the First Baptist Church in preparation for the Youth Revival services which will open August 13.

During the revival, services will be held each morning and evening until August 30 with Rev. James Cooper leading the services. Royce Dowell of Dimmitt will lead the singing with Mr. Cooper's brother serving as pianist.

Mr. Cooper has led in other youth revivals in Crane. His home is in Whitewright, Texas.

Thief Gets Watches But No Timepieces

INDIANAPOLIS —(AP)—The guy who stole 250 gold watches from a room in a downtown Indianapolis hotel will have to depend on his own watch if he wants to know the time.

Irving Miller, 45, of Clayton, Mo., a jewelry salesman, told police the watches were for display purposes only and contained no clock work.

Miller said the watches were stolen from his hotel room when he went to the lobby for a few minutes. He estimated their value at $3,000.

India Stepping Up Jute Production

CUTTACK, INDIA —(AP)— India should be self-sufficient in jute by next year, according to Sir Datar Singh, Ministry of Agriculture official.

He told a press conference that India's jute position had improved tremendously since partition, when most of the jute areas went to Pakistan. In 1947, he said, India's jute acreage totaled only 1,600,000, while this year it amounted to 4,000,000 acres. By 1951-52, he added, there should be 5,000,000 acres and India should be able to supply its mills.

The Ministry of Agriculture official also said India might be self-sufficient in cotton within two years.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service

When you freeze the pack, your chief object is to prevent the opponents from getting the discard pile. In many situations, you do not expect to get the pile yourself. Sometimes you hope to meld out before either side gets the pile. In other cases you hope to use up the cards of the stock pile before either side can get the discard pile.

When you freeze the deck very early in the play of a hand, you cannot expect that the hand will come to an end very soon. It is only reasonable to expect that one side or the other will manage to get the discard pile sooner or later. If you freeze the pack at such a time, you must be sure that you or your partner will get the pile rather than the opponents.

When you freeze the pile early in the play, it is usually because the opponents have made their initial meld and your side has not. However, it is not always wise to freeze the pack in this situation.

For example, suppose one of the opponents takes the first large discard pile and makes his initial meld. If he manages to keep about 20 cards in his hand, it would be very foolish to freeze the pack against him. It would be very difficult to stop him from getting the pile in a very short time. The reason is simple and logical: with 20 cards in his hand, he has far more pairs than you or your partner have with only 11 cards in your hands.

In other words, you freeze the pack not only because the opponents have made the initial meld, but also because in so doing they have reduced the number of cards in their hands. For example, an opponent with only five cards in his hand has a much smaller chance of getting the discard pile than you have when you hold your full hand of 11 cards.

Even this is not the full story. It is a dangerous business to freeze the pack when you need 120 points for your initial meld. You may feel confident that you can keep the opponents from getting the discard pile for several rounds of play, but can you also be sure that you can accumulate 120 points during that safety period? If not, the pack will eventually get away from you.

Q—My score was over 1500 points at the end of the game as a result of a losing hand. Do I still need 90 points for the initial meld, or do I go back to melding 50 points?

A—When your score goes below 1500 points, you go back to needing only 50 points for your initial meld.

Q—When a player melds out, is he entitled to add 500 points to his score if he holds four black threes?

A—No. There is no special bonus for black threes. Nevertheless, they are very useful cards and are well worth having.

Q—Does the canasta have a value besides its bonus value? In other words, are the seven kings in a canasta also counted for 70 points in the card count?

A—Yes. You get 500 points as a bonus for the natural canasta of kings. Then you also get 70 points for the card count of those seven kings.

Is ADVERTISING helping you?

The Pay-off is your Pay Envelope

What One Worker Says:

MACHINIST—I'll say advertising helps me. We make typewriters. I get paid because my outfit—and thousands of other companies we sell to—can sell their products or services at a profit. They do this mainly through advertising—modern mass-selling operation without which we'd really be in a fix. Advertising, by selling goods, protects my job.

Perhaps You've Never Seen It Put This Simply Before

ADVERTISING has been defined as "salesmanship in print—or on the air waves." The more advertising sells, the more goods are needed to fill that demand. The more goods needed, the more men and women are needed at the factory that makes those goods—yes, and on the farms and mines and mills that make the raw materials needed to make the product. In addition, more men and women are needed by the railway and trucking companies that ship the goods, and by the stores that sell it.

Advertising, by selling goods, starts a never-ending chain that leads to more jobs, better jobs, greater personal security.

So when you hear or read advertising—remember, it's helping you by making your job, your home, your income, far more secure!

She Cracks Down On Capital Crashers

Carolyn Hagner Shaw and a client: Washington's social arbiter believes people who go to parties should first be invited.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—There's been a tragic development on the Capital's social front—tragic, at least, for the town's numerous party cashers and cocktail-loving bachelors.

By popular demand of harassed hostesses the Washington Social Bureau, a war casualty, has been recreated. The postwar party pace had gotten out of their hands and they needed help desperately.

Formerly run by her mother, the reinstated bureau now is under command of Carolyn Hagner Shaw, Washington's recognized social arbiter. For a price, the bureau shoulders all or any part of a hostess's duties, and with guaranteed éclat. Mrs. Shaw's goal is to make hostesses even enjoy their own parties.

No affair is too small, none too big, for the bureau's operation. It handled the wedding of Secretary of Treasury Snyder's daughter, Drucie. It also managed the guest list and seating arrangement of the huge, gala pageant celebrating Washington's 150th anniversary as the nation's capital, as well as all the details of the fabulous reception for the President of Chile and President Truman at the Chilean embassy.

Charge Staffings

Certain segments of the city's population, however, are charging Mrs. Shaw with being stuffy and old-fashioned on several important points of etiquette.

She staunchly believes that guests at any affair should first be invited, for instance. As a result, the social orbit of a great many Washington party-goers who long since discarded such antiquated formalities has been seriously reduced.

The bureau now insists upon a carefully checked guest list for every function it manages. You announce your name at the door, and if it isn't on the list you're politely told that you've probably come to the

Fabric Which May Eliminate Blankets Is Being Produced As Magic Lining For Fall

Secret of warmth in new fabric called 'Millium' is the metallic finish that comes out of this vat at Pendleton, S. C.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—A little more than a year ago, a silvery fabric that promises to spell a revolution in how you dress for winter was just an experiment in a converted stable near Cleveland.

Today that cloth is rolling from a new windowless textile plant in South Carolina on its way to the Fall clothing trade. It will reach consumers first in the linings of coats and jackets for men, women and children. Eventually, it may make heavy coats and blankets as out-dated as red flannels.

The new garments, manufacturers predict, will be the warmest ever made of their types and weights.

One famous maker of sportswear will use the fabric in a jacket for golfers who like to keep playing in all sorts of winter weather. A women's coat maker will promote the cloth as the way to let women be "warm and slender at the same time." Other manufacturers will add the cloth as linings to existing garments and offer them as super-warm coats for use in unusually severe winter areas.

Fibers Sprayed

The revolutionary fabric is "Millium," and its secret is a metallic finish applied to one side of the cloth by spraying the fibers with fine particles of metals. Without changing the porosity of the fabric treated, the metal reflects back to the body a large part of the heat radiated by it.

Any metal that flakes, including gold and silver, can be used, but aluminum appears to be the most practical. It is the aluminum that Lining of this coat is made with the new silvery fabric that reflects body's heat.

Wigmaker Turns Hair Into Pictures

JOHN WOERLEE: "Patience—that's all there is to it."—world who uses human hair where others use oil paints, water colors, or pastels.

His patience during the 30 years he's been "painting" with hair finally won him rare recognition for an unknown artist. He was invited to hang one of his pictures at the Toronto Exhibition.

Woerlee, a retired Winnipeg wigmaker, composes his pictures by arranging the hair the same way a painter applies the strokes of a brush to canvas. But it takes thousands of hairs, painstakingly glued side-by-side, to make the equivalent of a single brushstroke.

Woerlee began his unique art hobby 30 years ago in his wig-making shop in Holland. A young man wanted to preserve a piece of his father's hair in a locket, and Woerlee formed the hair into the man's initials. It worked so well he decided to try making pictures with hair, and he's been doing it ever since.

His canvas is a sheet of glass, on which he "paints" by putting the strands of hair in place with glue and tweezers. Since human hair ranges from blue-black to flaming red, he has a fair choice of color. Despite obvious limitations, however, he never dyes the hair, which is imported from Switzerland.

Woerlee is retired, but he's just as busy as he was when he was making wigs. He gets offers for his work from all over Canada, but now they're from customers who want to hang his work on the wall instead of wear it on a bald spot.

Rayon satins, twills and crepes used for coat linings are the fabrics being processed initially. But the new finish can be applied to any ordinary natural or synthetic fiber including wool, cotton, nylon and the newly developed orlon.

First work on Millium was done by James H. Rand, III, a young Cleveland scientist who earlier developed an electric razor, an improved electric washing machine and several medical devices.

When a clothing manufacturer wanted to explore the possibility of an overcoat electrically heated like an electric blanket, he went to Rand. Because of the weight of batteries required, this idea was impractical, so Rand turned to reflection of the body's own heat. The metallic cloth was the answer. Like Thermos Bottle.

Paradoxically, he also found that the same treated cloth which warmed a person in winter could also keep him comfortable in summer by reflecting away the heat of the sun. In effect, clothing could be made to act as a thermos bottle.

One of the nation's oldest textile companies financed completion of the research and several thousand tests at a "cold" room in Cleveland, at the U. S. Testing Co. laboratories in Hoboken, N. J., and elsewhere before starting processing of fabrics at a new plant.

In one of the more startling tests, it was found that a thin nylon seersucker coverlet treated by the new process and a sheet proved warmer on a bed than a blanket 10 times as thick. Treated draperies gave promise of helping keep homes warm in the winter and cool in the summer.

Less Inclined

A valuable immediate application is expected to be in children's snow suits and similar garments. Observations at Sun Valley, Idaho, and Cleveland last Spring indicate that children are less inclined to perspire excessively and to throw off Millium-lined coats than those wearing heavier outer-wear.

Millium lining will add a few dollars to the retail prices of garments. While coat linings probably will utilize all Millium until plant additions are completed and other processors are licensed, many other applications are in prospect.

(The only processor at present is Deering, Milliken and Company, which backed final research.)

Military authorities are interested in the fabric as a possible lining for sleeping bags and for high altitude and cold weather suits. Several manufacturers are eager to use it in the bedding and drapery fields. Even applications in awnings and automobile tops are being discussed.

KILLED BY VACUUM

Many soldiers killed by shells during World War I showed no wounds and were not even hit. The high explosive shells created a partial vacuum around their bodies, causing instant death.

—And Mary Lived Happily Ever After...

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Once upon a time there was a nice office worker named Mary. Mary lived a very average girl existence.

She got up at the last possible minute in the morning, raced to the office, stopping to grab a doughnut and cup of coffee en route. At noon she went out to lunch, frequently including a cocktail and a rich dessert, and when she was finished she window-shopped. In the afternoon she worked, but was a little tired from the cocktail and rich dessert and vaguely discontented with life on account of the window shopping.

When work was finished, Mary stopped off with her friends for a cocktail or cup of coffee, and then did some hurried marketing and then went home and had her dinner. Later, she visited, went to a movie, listened to the radio or even read a book.

All Out For New Life

However, one fine day Mary read an article in a newspaper about how she had better make a better life for herself, so she clipped out the article and went all out for the New Life.

She started getting up at seven o'clock, inaugurating the day with two glasses of water and some exercises on the bedroom floor. Then she showered, and took a long time getting her clothes and face on right. She had breakfast of fruit, whole germ and cereal and black coffee. Then she walked briskly to work and in the course of her work took time out frequently to check her posture, facial expressions, speech and attitudes. At lunch time she ate a little colation she'd prepared at home and for the other half-hour rested with her feet elevated, did things called "restricted posture routines," and some facial and eye routines, finally freshening herself up and returning to her work.

During the afternoon, she wasn't fighting boredom and fatigue but even found time to keep on checking on her posture, facial expressions, speech, attitudes and conversation. She went straight home from the office, "practiced relaxation" and read current events or a good novel. Or she planned future menus. Then she rested with her feet elevated, did posture routines again and also face, lip, tongue and jaw exercises.

Self-Grooming

After all this she settled down to a dinner of salad, broiled meat, two vegetables and a glass of milk. From 7 p.m. until she went to bed on the stroke of 11, Mary groomed herself and her clothes. She washed and ironed. She rubbed oil all over herself, she set her hair, manicured her fingers, mended and wound up by soaking in a hot tub for 20 minutes. Then she went to bed.

After six months of this routine, Mary was the handsomest girl that ever worked in a business office. Her employers thought she was a pearl and visitors to the office remarked about what a well-groomed girl that was sitting over in the corner, sitting up very straight. The other girls in the office with whom she used to have luncheon with a rich dessert or an after-work cocktail, soon gave up talking to Mary. They said she never seemed to be thinking about what she said, but just how she said it.

Finally Mary didn't have any chums any more and her new way of life completely precluded a chance of making any. One fine day Mary was resting with her feet elevated, doing her jaw, tongue and lip exercises and she suddenly heard herself saying: "I will never eat another mouthful of wheat germ cereal."

The next day she had two cocktails and two rich desserts for lunch, kept her feet on the floor all day and went to a double feature movie with a boy in the wholesale department. A month later they were married and now they both get up at the last possible minute, eat breakfast and haven't checked their posture for months. They are both setting overweight and they don't know much about the good current novels. But they are extremely happy.

Well-Dressed Mother Wears Son In Seat She Built Herself

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—Mrs. Roger Mills always dresses well. For one thing, she often wears the youngest of her three sons.

Little Raymond Mills sits happily in his mother's home-made carrier, which balances him in front of her but distributes the pull of his weight above the small of her back. He's content and his mother is comfortable. Her hands are free for other work, yet she never neglects her baby.

The idea has been so successful, in fact, that Mrs. Mills has started a company to sell the gadgets. Doctors have endorsed the carrier, which has been called the "Mommper."

"Everything was in a panic," Mrs. Mills remembers, "but the children, strapped to their mothers, were islands of serenity."

American medical men in World War II were impressed by the same thing. They thought that the mental well-being of Oriental children, who spent their baby-hood under battle conditions, could be traced to the basic security offered by the constant presence of their mothers. Remembering the Chinese mothers—and that flight of stairs—Mrs. Mills began sewing. Some strips

Garter Belts Need Fitting

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Many women, who would never dream of buying a dress without careful sessions in the fitting room, buy their garter belts with no thought of trying them on. By such casual shopping, they are really inviting the poor fits about which they often complain later on.

To avoid mistakes when purchasing garter belts, ask to try several types in your size, which is determined by waist measure. Choose the one which gives you not only a snug fit, but which also offers the width, cut and control you desire.

Although garter belts don't substitute well for girdles when real over-all support is needed, they do provide—for young girls and slender women—a firming effect at points of figure weakness.

Make certain that the strength of the garment, whether it comes from elastic, boning or the fabric itself, is concentrated upon the spot that needs molding. Women who need high hip support will be glad to learn that the scooped-out backs, adopted by many companies as a material-saving measure during the war, are being widened in many lines of garter belts.

To determine the quality of a garment, examine both the material and the workmanship. Curved cuts are held by some experts to be the best. Garters should be tested for elasticity. If they snap back smartly after stretching, they will probably last well. If the belt outlasts the garters, the latter can be inexpensively replaced to extend the life of the garment.

A properly fitted garter belt should keep your hose smooth and straight with no crooked seams. In fastening the garters, let them fall naturally and attach them to your stockings at the points where they hit.

The 1950 Michigan State track team smashed 12 varsity records during the season, seven indoor and five outdoor.

padding. The device is being made in three sizes for the mothers; one seat size for the babies is adequate, because it can be made larger as the baby grows.

Mills, the nurse and father, is a salesman who saw the marketing possibilities of his wife's brainchild. His mother helped finance the venture. Little Raymond's two older brothers, Roger, Lee, 6 1/2, and Ralph, 4 1/2, like the carrier because it frees their mother's hands so she can play with them.

And Raymond himself? He's happy with his free ride.

Crane News

CRANE—Peggy Daniels, graduate of Crane High School and Texas Tech in Lubbock, has accepted a position as assistant society editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Daniels of Goldsmith, formerly of Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Mills, Jerry and Eugenia have returned from a three-weeks vacation trip that took them through the western states and to Portland, Ore., where they visited with Mrs. Mills' brother, Nathaniel Wilson. They returned by way of Victoria, Canada, Salt Lake City and the Yellowstone National Park.

The monthly meeting of Methodist Men will be the occasion for a "Ladies Night" program to be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church. The Rev. George Ditterline, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Wink, will be guest speaker. Fred Westmoreland is in charge of cooking and serving the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Davenport and daughter, Patricia, of Wichita Falls recently visited Mr. and Mrs.

Bill Edwards. While here, they took a trip to Juarez and other cities in Mexico. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Edwards and daughter, Linda.

Mrs. M. M. O'Neal and her sister, Mrs. Emma Jones, have gone to Dallas where Mrs. O'Neal will receive medical treatment. They will be the guests of a niece, Mrs. Arthur Pope.

Mrs. S. G. Barnard spent a recent weekend in Lubbock visiting with Lee and Vicki, her daughter and granddaughter, and her son, Donald, who is a student at Texas Technological College.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mobbs and Peggy, Bernard and Larry have returned from a trip to Longview.

Donna Havins, deputy clerk in the sheriff's office, spent her vacation visiting with relatives in Breckenridge, Corpus Christi and Aransas Pass. She was accompanied by her cousin, Billie Goodwin of Breckenridge.

Mrs. Margaret Hughins is substituting in the city water office in the absence of Mrs. LaRae Manning.

Questionnaire Asks If Fair Advisable

A questionnaire, to determine the advisability of continuing the annual Midland County Fair, now is being sent to farmers and ranchers in the county. R. L. Miller, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Agriculture and Livestock Committee, has announced.

The fair is staged annually by the Midland Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the county and home demonstration agents.

The questionnaire asks the farmers and ranchers if they think the annual fair is worthwhile, should it be continued, or would an annual Farm Day be more satisfactory.

The questionnaire also asks if the farmer or rancher would submit items for a display if the fair is continued.

Reeves, Loving 4-H Boys Attend Camp

PECOS — Approximately 30 4-H Club boys from Reeves and Loving counties are attending an encampment at Camp Louis-Farr near Mertzon.

The club boys and their sponsors left Pecos Friday. They will return home Monday.

Activities in the camp include swimming, softball, boxing, fishing and horse shoe pitching. The encampment is open each year to 4-H Club boys from the Reeves and Loving counties who have participated in livestock feeding projects during the year.

County Agent Jimmy Taylor and Price Francis, of Pecos, and Bob Capps from Mentone, accompanied the boys to the encampment.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

By DALMON McNAIR

Prices on most classes of cattle advanced $1 to $1.50 per hundred Thursday at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale. The market was active and very strong on 325 head consigned and sold.

Fat calves and yearlings brought $26 to $30; medium grades went at $23 to $26. Fat cows auctioned at $19.50 to $22.50; medium cows sold for $18.50 to $19.50. Canners and cutters moved at $13.50 to $18.50. Bulls cashed for $19.50 to $23.

Stocker cattle continued scarce. Steer calves were bid from $29 to $31 and odd choice grades went to $33.50. Heifer calves sold at $28 to $31.

Reeves County cotton farmers are charging that a new bill, now pending in the U. S. Senate, is designed to discriminate against West Texas and Reeves County. The bill already has been passed by the House of Representatives.

The proposed law would, in effect, reduce cotton acreage in West Texas by 600,000 acres. That acreage would be added to the other sections of the state and nation. In Reeves County, according to farmers there, the reduction would be from 21,000 to 12,000 acres of upland cotton and from 25,000 to 12,000 acres of Pima cotton.

A chemical dude looks as though it will be a help when it's roundup time in Texas and other beef-producing states.

The chemical, a mean hembre with mesquite, is 2, 4, 5-trichlorophenoxyacetic acid, commonly called 2, 4, 5-T. The first commercial application, which is expected to eliminate the spiny shrub, was made recently on an initial 1,600 acres of the Williams' Brothers Pritchfork Ranch near Spur. It was sprayed by airplane.

Mesquite long has been considered a nuisance by ranchers for three reasons: It conceals cattle and makes them man-shy, makes it difficult to drive them and deprives grass of moisture and nutrients. Cowboys, who have had to ride through its thorny thickets on periodic roundups, will be glad to see it go.

A conservation plan for the F. D. Breedlove ranch, 35 miles northwest of Stanton, has been approved by the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation Service's supervisory board. The agreement between the district and Breedlove includes 15,513 acres of rangeland and 2,180 acres of farm land.

Curtis Powell, farmer in the Courtney work group, plans to put about 20 acres to permanent irrigated pasture next fall. Powell has grain sorghum on the area now, which he plans to turn under as a green manure crop. Construction of borders will start immediately so seeding can be done in September. It is necessary for the planting to be done early to acquire the maximum growth and root development before cold weather arrives. Others in the district who are planning to establish pastures next fall include Merwin Haag, Charles Stansell and B. E. O'Neal, in Midland County; Leonard Turner, Leo Turner, B. J. Daniels, Walter Kelly, and Joe McReynolds, in Martin County.

General rules and regulations regarding participation of FFA and 4-H Club boys in the commercial dry-lot steer feeder program sponsored by the 4-H and FFA Club committees have been announced.

All animals will be dry lot fed after Sept. 15, 1950. The calf must be weaned by this date.

There shall be no maximum limit placed on the calves entered. All animals must be weighed at the start of the program in the presence of the vocational agriculture teacher, the county agent, or a qualified adult.

Home grown feeds will be used as far as possible. These feeds will be charged at prevailing market prices at the time of purchase. Accurate accounting of all home grown feed will be kept according to prevailing market prices.

Non-home grown feed will be charged at the prevailing market prices in Midland County. Grinding of the feed shall be charged at the prevailing, or customary rate.

Inspection of feeding arrangements and general care of the animals will be done by a committee once a month.

Inspection for classification will be made by judges selected by the committee. Animals will be classified according to market grades. Calves will be shown, classified, and graded by pens by judges appointed by the committee.

Calves will be offered for sale in the regular auction following the show in group lots according to market grades.

Feeders will complete records consisting of a beginning inventory, costs of feeds and minerals and medicines and veterinary fees.

A new pair of boots will be given to the feeder having the most economical gain and the feeder showing the greatest average daily gain. The feeder completing the best set of records, in his own handwriting, will receive a $25 savings bond and the feeder submitting the best written essay will be awarded a $50 bond.

Approximately 500 acres of cotton and 300 acres of alfalfa seed were destroyed by a recent hail storm north of Barstow, in Reeves County.

Farmers in the halled area said 300 acres more of cotton were damaged badly but this cotton was expected to recover. High winds which accompanied the storm blew the roofs off several barns in the area.

Striking just north of Barstow, the hailstorm damaged or totally destroyed cotton on the following farms: Burkholder Brothers, Pedro Renteria, E. W. and John Sweatt, Joe McMahon, W. H. Echols, Warren Goode, Pedro Garcia, George Briggs, Woodrow Douglas, Johnny Hayes and C. B. Doorn.

The importance of providing recreation for the leisure hours farm folks have these days has become one of the major concerns of thousands of 4-H Club leaders and members. During the last three years, a plan has been worked out whereby adults and youth interested in directing recreational activities in their clubs and communities can take a special course set up for this purpose.

This training and club participation has been brought about through the National 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts program now in full swing in Texas. Sponsor of the program, U. S. Rubber Company, is providing about $29,000 for leader training clinics, club and individual awards.

Last year more than 10,000 young people and 8,000 adults attended these clinics. They receive instruction in group singing, dancing, games, sports, dramatics, handicrafts and many other activities.

While they are having fun, the 4-H'ers are also working hard to make a good showing for themselves and their club. To encourage these endeavors, U. S. Rubber presents merit certificates to clubs and members, $25 cash awards to counties, and Chicago 4-H Club Congress trips to eight national champions.

The 1949 State honors went to Patsie Elizabeth Scales, of Brownfield. Cash awards were won by 23 counties. The money is used for recreational equipment. Recognition cards were given to 1,668 members.

At present the program is being conducted in 47 states under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service.

The chief clerk of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission has announced all but eight of the 39 licenses issued by the commission, including those for hunting and fishing, will be renewable September 1.

The license revenue provides a substantial part of the funds for commission activities.

The game department staff now is busy readying the licenses for distribution. The actual sales made are generally by game wardens, county clerks and licensed deputies mainly in retail stores throughout the state. Only nine of the 39 kinds of licenses are sold at the Austin headquarters.

Considerable commission revenue comes from the $1.65 individual fishing license and from the $2.15 so-called big game hunting license. The $2 resident hunting license represents only a small part of the collections. This is because the comparatively new big game license covers all kinds of hunting, except antelope which calls for a special $5.00 fee.

The chief clerk explained that processing the license supplies represents a sizable assignment because they have to be distributed to between 1,800 and 2,000 agencies.

The license range in cost from 50 cents for a duplicate individual fishing license to $200 for a wholesale fish and oyster dealer permit.

RAISING CAIN'S SPIRITS—When Wents Cain of Lyons, Kan., became sick and unable to plow his farm, 12 of his neighbors hooked their tractors to plows and did the job for him. They made short work—and a pretty aerial picture—of plowing Cain's acres for next year's crop.

JayCee President To Talk To Midland Club

ing of the 1950 series of bi-regional meetings Saturday in Odessa. Ed Costello of Odessa, state vice president, will act as chairman of the business meeting for the two-day affair.

JayCees from Alpine, Big Spring, El Paso, Fabens, Fort Stockton, Midland, Odessa and Monohans will represent Region 3; while Abilene, Ballinger, Brady, Brownwood, Coleman, Colorado City, Hamlin, Roby, Rotan, San Angelo, Snyder, Stamford and Sweetwater will send Jay-Cees from Region 4.

The Odessa Junior Chamber of Commerce will serve as host for the meeting and will entertain some 200 JayCee delegates and wives. Headquarters will be in the Elliott Hotel.

New Well Is Added To Water System

The addition last week of a new well to Midland's water system has brought the total daily capacity of the city to about 9,500,000 gallons, City Manager W. H. Oswalt announced Saturday.

The new well was the third of six wells to be added to the city system at the Wadley water tract, north of Midland.

After the other three wells are added the total daily capacity for Midland will be approximately 11,500,000 gallons, Oswalt said.

Highest daily water consumption for the city was in June when a total of 7,866,000 gallons were used in one day.

Commies Torture The Wrong Doctor

VIENNA —(AP)—Dr. Mathias Vesz, a former member of the Hungarian Parliament, fled to Austria last year. Once here he began writing letters to Hungarian Communist leaders, denouncing them as traitors.

Hungarian secret police came to Vienna to arrest Vesz. Working with Russian officers, they finally located a Dr. Mathias Vesz, and took him to Budapest.

In the dread prison at Andrássy-Ut 60 police tried to force a confession from him, despite his protest that he was an Austrian dentist who couldn't speak a word of Hungarian. After three weeks, during which time he was badly beaten every day, his captors admitted they must have made a mistake. Vesz was taken to a hospital. When marks of his beatings faded, he was released after signing a statement absolving the Hungarian police of blame. Meanwhile the Dr. Vesz wanted by the Hungarian fled to Switzerland.

'New Blood' Is Cry Of White, Seeking Agriculture Office

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
WICHITA FALLS —(P)— "New energy, new life, new blood." That's what the office of state agriculture commissioner needs, John Coyle White says.

White, 25, wants the office held by 60-year-old J. E. McDonald since 1931. Texas voters will decide the issue in the second Democratic primary August 26.

"The office isn't rendering the many services to the Texas farmer which the law provides," White said in an interview. "If I am elected, I will see that it does."

"My job in the next three weeks is to acquaint a million Texans with the powerful duties of the office and convince them that a red-head named John White should get their vote. I am absolutely confident I will be able to do it."

Shows Confidence
White radiated confidence. There was a glint in his blue eyes. A six-foot, 215-pounder, he leaned forward in his chair. The tilt of his broad shoulders, the nervousness of his big hands, suggested a quiet aggressiveness.

In the first primary last month, McDonald drew 417,736 votes to White's 206,411. But the votes polled by two other contenders, Charles McClellan of Eagle Lake and Tom C. Fahey of Manor, forced a runoff.

"In my home county of Wichita," White said, "I beat McDonald more than three to one. Folks here know my experience as an administrator and my agricultural and educational background fit me for the office."

White was born on a farm near Newport, Texas, in the southern end of Clay County—son of E. H. White, tenant farmer. The elder White's grandfather, Tom White, came to Texas from Tennessee and settled in Clay County in the 1860's. He was a farmer and his son was a farmer. Outside of a brother, Harold White, now in the Navy, John is the only member of the White family to leave the farm in four generations.

Started Young
Young White grinned—a perspiring grin. "I started following a plow when I was four. Honest. When my dad would go out to the field, he'd tie my wagon on behind the plow."

"I know the problems of the tenant farmer mighty well. I was a kid during the depression years. I can remember pulling cotton for 35 cents a hundred and I can remember when a bale was worth only $25 if you made the bale. One dry year—1936—we didn't even make the bale."

But the next year, the elder White moved to Wichita County and bought his own farm. The son went to Iowa Park, Texas, High School and played tackle on the football team. He was active in 4-H and Future Farmers of America work. He was graduated from high school in 1942 and won a $100 scholarship to Texas Tech, Lubbock.

To Organize Rifle Club At McCamey

McCAMEY—Plans were made for the organization of a Rifle Club for veterans of the community at a recent meeting of the Price Pool Post of American Legion.

In announcing the plans, Cmdr. Tom Edwards said that the post has 10 Springfield and Remington Army rifles that will be available for use by the club.

The formation of the rifle club will be completed at the next regular meeting August 15. All veterans interested in the project are urged to attend the meeting.

McCAMEY—James Hale of Fort Stockton, a student at McMurry College, will replace the Rev. Ross T. Welch in the pulpit of the First Methodist Church while Mr. Welch and his family are vacationing. Hale is to conduct morning and evening services Sunday and also August 13.

Funeral services were conducted August 2 in the First Christian Church of Odessa for Carl Hamilton, 52, who died of a heart attack July 31 in Odessa. Interment was in the Moran Cemetery there. He was the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Trimble, who attended the services. Mrs. Hamilton and her child returned to McCamey with her parents.

Dick Brooks of Girvin recently celebrated his thirteenth birthday with a theater party in McCamey.

Refreshments were served after the show to Imogene Woodward, Linda Pool, Judy Williams, Bill Barnett, Sammy Helmers, Stanley Helmers, Ellis Helmers, W. L. Polk and Jimmie Moore.

A pot-luck dinner will be held Wednesday at the First Christian Church of McCamey with the Rev. Clyde Lindsley, Midland, as guest speaker.

Visiting in Oklahoma
Mrs. J. M. Slaughter and Mrs. Bill Darby and family recently left for Stigler, Okla., where they will visit with Mrs. Sally Elledge.

Mrs. Wallace Chastain and Mrs. Leon Belcher, both of Iran, recently visited here.

Mrs. West Pool, Jr., and children of Girvin have returned from a visit in Carlsbad, N. M., with her mother, Mrs. P. M. Holt. They were accompanied home by her sister, Lucille Holt.

Howard Newton recently moved his electrical shop to Burleson Avenue, across from the Van Atta Freeser Service.

Mrs. T. H. Brooks of Girvin has returned from a 10-day visit with relatives in Slaton, Lubbock and Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Fannie Woodward recently traveled to Austin where they are visiting relatives. They reside in Girvin.

A surprise birthday party recently honored Mrs. T. H. Brooks of Girvin. The hostesses were Mrs. Know and Mrs. C. E. Bailey.

Mrs. West Pool, Sr., of Eldorado has been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pool. She left Girvin to spend a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Louis Moore, and family in Snyder.

Miss Jimmie Lou Baker of Crane recently was a guest in the home of her aunt, Mrs. C. E. Bailey of Girvin.

DEPENDENCY DESTROYS CHARACTER

Dependency DESTROYS HUMAN CHARACTER!

THE CHARACTER OF OUR PEOPLE is the strongest asset of our nation, and making sickness and idleness too easy places a premium on the destruction of character.

Loss of time through sickness trebled in some countries, under such systems. America averaged about 6½ days, in sickness per person per year, before the war—England averaged 12½ days, and was on the increase.

If you want less sickness, keep Doctors free of political domination. Kill plans that create neurotics, and weaken the "will to stay well and get well."

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Beware Of Me

Dr. Shoobug came running fast like the wind along the Elephant Path. With one of his hands he held his hat on his head. With the other hand he carried his doctor bag full of doctor things. Yes, and the happy sound of his very fast running filled all the air like music. The good doctor skidded to a stop beneath the very tall tree—the same tree where Daddy Ringtail lives in the top in his monkey house. Up the tree the doctor hurried and in to the house where Mugwump was. Mercy me, and what a sight that Mugwump was to see. He was sitting in bed with a sheet around him, and his face was swollen from poison ivy.

"He's done it again," Daddy

Ringtail explained. "He got into poison ivy, again, just like he did last year."

Well, Dr. Shoobug did the things he had to do for the poison ivy on Mugwump there to stop its itching. Mugwump smiled when at last he felt so very much better.

But why, oh why did Mugwump always get into poison ivy to get himself poisoned every year? Every year when the leaves on the trees grew green again, somehow, some way, Mugwump would get into poison ivy with all the unhappy itching and swelling it caused him to have.

Oh, Mugwump knew poison ivy is a vine that grows on trees or maybe along the ground. But how was he to know when a vine was poison ivy instead of a friendly grapevine or some other kind? That was really Mugwump's problem.

"Uh, yes," said Dr. Shoobug, and he scratched his head to think about it. Why, often he had explained to Mugwump just what poison ivy looks like to make it different from friendly vines. Poison

REMOTE CONTROL FOR JOB
PARIS —(P)—Povaman Oopa has held a seat in the French National Assembly as a deputy from Tahiti since his election last October, and has yet to make an appearance in Paris. Instead, so far as is known here, he is still in Tahiti and intends to remain there. This has not interfered with his salary. A clerk said that Oopa is drawing roughly $3,000 a year as a deputy.

Only two of the 36 linemen on the roster of the New York football Yanks are under six feet tall.

Ivy has bright green leaves that grow together three in a bunch, always and always, three in a bunch.

"Sure," Mugwump said, "but how can I remember about the leaves of three?"
"Uh, listen," said Dr. Shoobug, and he sang a little song which you can remember about poison ivy, because it can grow anywhere, even in a city. Dr. Shoobug sang these words: "When you see—leaves of three—please be sure to beware of me! Poison Ivy! Poison Ivy! Happy Day!

WEST TEXANS ARE DYING IN KOREA

This is America's toll so far in the Korean war.
 Some of the dead, the injured and the missing are from El Paso and other communities in the 16th Congressional District of Texas.
 For want of a single vote in Congress, these lives might have been spared.
 Last January, Congress voted against sending economic aid to our allies in Korea. The vote was 192 to 191.
 Our present Congressman, Ken Regan, was among those who opposed that expenditure. His vote could have turned the tide.
 Again—a month later—he repeated his stand against Korean aid when the measure came up for a second time before the U. S. House of Representatives.
 Today, we are spending American lives instead of American dollars in Korea.

Build An Outdoor Grill For Summer Partying

FIREPLACE GRILL

By BOB SCHARFF
Written for NEA Service

An outdoor grill in the garden makes an excellent center for informal parties and entertaining. Building one isn't so difficult if you follow these simple design and construction facts.

For most purposes, the type of grill illustrated here will prove quite adequate. It can be built of a variety of materials—common brick, field stones or cobblestones. Before starting the grill, give the location much consideration. Select a dry spot having good drainage.

It should face prevailing winds so full advantage is taken of the draft and so the smoke will blow away from people gathered before it. Also, in order to avoid interference with the draft, a grill should not be located under a tree or near a high wall.

The first step in building the grill is to make an excavation 10 or 12 inches deep and of the proper outside dimensions. Fill the bottom of the excavation with a six-inch layer of cinders and tamp them down to form a solid level base for the bottom of the pit.

Then make a 1-2-3 concrete mixture and pour the thoroughly-mixed cement on top of the layer of cinders. Spread it out evenly, letting the cement run between the cinders. The concrete slab should be six or eight inches thick and reinforced with iron rods and pipes. The top of the slab should extend a few inches above the ground level so water will not collect in the ashpit. For the same reason, the floor of an ashpit should always slope to drain out water.

The wood-burning fireplace illustrated has a firebox 19 inches square and nine inches high. The

Extra Bathroom Is Useful In Summer

An extra bathroom is never more useful than in Summer. With school out and the children at home, and with extra guests as well, bathroom traffic often jams. Now is a good time to convert a few square feet of space into an extra bathroom—perhaps an under-stair closet, or a spare bedroom closet, or space borrowed from porch, hall or bedroom. To cut costs, it should be located near the existing plumbing installation in the house—bath or kitchen—so that a minimum of new piping is needed. This also saves labor costs.

It is an excellent idea to make the entire outside wall of the bath of opaque glass, either in block or sheet form. This will admit light freely, but afford privacy.

A clever new trick is to cover the lower half of the other three walls with the same tiles with which the floor is covered. The suggestion of flooring engineers is that an appropriate pastel marbled color be used, such as yellow, pale green, beige or off-white. Gardenia white is charming; yellow is cheerful.

Summer Resort At Home Is Possible

Few families can move to mountains or beach for the Summer. Most must make-do with their year-round homes, and it takes all the tricks a home-maker can devise to keep cool in sultry weather.

If space permits, a Summer room arranged especially for Summer relaxation is a comfort. This may be a spare bedroom, the sun-room, or the living-room itself. If it can be completely transformed, with summer window and floor treatment, Summer furniture and decorations, it will be enjoyed more fully.

The furniture should be made to look as different as possible from its Winter version. An ingenious decorator, Dorothy Draper, suggests slipcovers of white cotton toweling or terry cloth, available by the yard. It is cool, washable and inexpensive. Select a pleasant theme for the Summer room. Make it a seashore or a tropical room; a garden room; or a tropical room. Choose an appealing motif and follow it through. A seashore room might have painted sea-green walls; floor of asphalt tile in the same sea-green, bordered with tiles having cut-out pictures of fish; on the windows, cool white fish-net curtains hung with loops of fishline; furniture slipcovered in white terry cloth.

Sea shells—Pink and coral sea-shells piled on the coffee table; a ship model in the bookshelves; and a pair of ship's lanterns over the mantel suggest the seashore. Electric fans will cool the room with their sea-breeze. Such a room will have everything except beach sand, and when the youngsters troop in from their sandpile, sand will come in with them. But the room can take it. Everything in it will be soil- and moisture-resistant.

In the Fall, store the slipcovers and curtains until next year, and the room is ready to be converted to its more formal Winter appearance again.

New Ways To Handle Old Window Problems Cited By Decorator

Decorators say the most effective way to deal with an insignificant or awkward window is to camouflage it. An ordinary recessed casement window can take on new life. Instead of the conventional window-box, set a row of tall square vases of American handmade green glass on the sill. Filled with Chinese evergreen leaves or trailing ivy, the stylized arrangement of the square vases lends a distinguished touch to an otherwise plain window. Still-length curtains and the cool green glass will soften glaring sunlight.

A narrow window in a long hallway is dramatic when flanked on both sides with narrow glass shelves. The gleam and sparkle of small items of glassware will brighten the hallway by picking up and reflecting the light from the window.

Isolated Windows—The small isolated window set high up on the wall, sometimes seen on either side of a mantel, is a frequently-encountered problem. Short curtains on it appear skimpy; long ones are ludicrous. But this little problem window becomes interesting when converted into a shadow-box. Set narrow shelves across it to hold small pieces of fine handmade glassware. Small pitchers, vases, little animal figures and glass cups and saucer will fill the space decoratively. Craftsmen in American glasshouses today are turning out glassware in handsome clear shades of emerald green, ruby red, cobalt blue, chartreuse, amethyst and other colors. By using some pieces in tones which will pick up your room colors, you can beautify your small window at little expense and make it charming asset.

The University of Texas landed one man on the first team and two on the second squad of the 1960 All-America team.

Hardwood Plywood Combines Strength And Light Weight

Although most hardwood plywood faced with wood veneer is used in furniture and for architectural purposes, the structural strength of the material has led to its use in construction of aircraft, automobile and truck parts and bodies, boats and ships, sporting goods, luggage and other specialized products.

The cross-grained construction of hardwood plywood makes it highly resistant to cracking and splitting. For this reason and because of its lightness, industrial designers consider it an ideal material. Designers also select wood veneer for its decorative possibilities. About 23 acres of wood veneer were used in making wall paneling for the liner Queen Mary.

Korea War Revives Bitter Feud Among Tank Experts

Russian heavy: The 57-ton Joseph Stalin III was first used in Poland in 1945. Experts claim we still can't match it and fear Russia may be trying out something even better in Korea.

American heavy: The 47 1/2-ton Patton has a smaller gun and probably less armor protection than the Joseph Stalin III. Mass production of bigger U. S. tanks is "several years" away.

tanks we needed have laid emphasis on maneuverability, speed and good mechanical workmanship in their construction. Russian emphasis has always been on heavy armor, heavy tanks, and a lot of them. Russian tanks have always been notorious for their deceptively crude outward appearance and the crowded, uncomfortable space provided for crews.

Intelligence reports give vivid proof of the Russian emphasis on great numbers of tanks. While America produced 800 last year, Russia turned out 45,000. This year Russia plans to make 40,000 while American plans call for 200 new ones and the remodeling of 250 old ones.

Last Winter Army Chief of Staff Gen. Joe Collins let it slip at a press conference that the U. S. had several new tanks which would be better than anything a potential enemy might have. Unfortunately, the Army admits now, these new type tanks couldn't be available in any mass quantity "for several years."

Wants Good Gun
A Pentagon authority says the first thing a tank man asks for is a good gun. The Russian JS-III has a 120 mm cannon. The U. S. Army's heaviest M-46 "Patton" tank has a smaller 90 mm gun.

Next most important quality in a tank is armor. The Russian JS-III has a front plate 3 1/2 inches thick, sides 3.5 inches thick with turret sides 3.9 inches thick. Thickness of armor on the Patton is a classified secret. But overall weight of the two tanks gives the clue. The JS-III weighs upwards of 57 tons; the Patton is classed as 47 1/2 tons.

British, French and U. S. experts scoffed at the first big Russian tanks they saw during World War II. The thickness of the armor seemed to vary on each tank. It turned out that in order to get tank armor faster from the factories, the Russians had set a Russian "KV": Less impressive than the Joseph Stalin III but still heavier than our biggest, this Russian tank weighs 25 tons and mounts a 76-mm gun like America's Sherman.

U. S. "Sherman": A 35-ton tank, this was the most widely-used American armor in World War II. Fast medium tanks like this may prove their worth when we start chasing Korean Reds.

turned out that they were in the repair shop much more than U. S. tanks. But the Reds set up a highly efficient field maintenance system which helped to overcome this difficulty.

Those who have made the decisions on our tank policy, however, have some strong arguments on their side. They point out that the ultimate outcome of a war is the important thing. As the U. S. conceives warfare and has planned for it, the heavy tank alone is not likely to be a deciding factor. It is still to be proved in Korea whether or not the airplane and anti-tank weapons are a more effective weapon against a tank offensive than a lot of big opposing tanks.

In spite of reports that U. S. rockets and bazooka missiles are bouncing off Russian-made tanks, daily bulletins from the front lines show many of them being knocked out and damaged. And when the expected tide of battle turns, and it becomes America's turn to start chasing the Communies, the superior, faster medium tanks which the U. S. forces have are expected to prove their worth.

'How To Keep Cool' Tips Listed By Bureau Expert

Summer comfort in the home saves not only hot-weather irritation and nervous sleeplessness which cause serious illness; also can save the home-maker money, for a house with a reputation of being cool and comfortable in Summer actually has a higher resale value and a better resale market than a house that is known to be hot and uncomfortable.

Principle to follow in maintaining a comfortable interior is to exclude exterior heat and refrain from creating heat inside, says the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information. On hottest days, roof temperatures may climb as high as 150 degrees. Since a roof is designed primarily as a barrier against rain and wind but not against heat, this intensely hot air quickly penetrates the roof and heats the whole interior. Therefore, the first step in acquiring a cool house is to insulate it against the penetration of the sun's heat. This can be done by applying a four inch layer of insulation above to top-floor ceiling, and filling the concealed hollow wall spaces with insulating material. This will make the house as much as 15 degrees cooler on hottest days because it retards heat penetration through walls and roof.

Ventilation
If windows are closed during the day, and opened at night so that cool air can fill the house, the insulation will help retain much of the coolness. Shades should be kept drawn and attics cross-ventilated.

The kitchen is the source of a great deal of heat. Ovens of most modern stoves are well insulated with mineral wool so they do not heat up the kitchen, but there is no way to control heat generated by top-of-stove cooking. Hence, hot-weather meals should be planned for minimum top-of-stove preparation.

Close doors leading from kitchen to living quarters while cooking. Open kitchen windows when the stove is being used, and expel super-heated air with ventilating fan or electric fan blowing outward in an open window.

A round-up of hot-weather do's and don'ts, suggested by the Bureau, includes:
Electric Fans
Close windows and doors and draw

shades during mid-day. Open all doors and windows in the evening and place several electric fans in windows in different rooms to blow inward and draw cool air quickly into the house.

Store heavy rugs, draperies, bric-a-brac. Use cool, washable slipcovers on upholstered furniture.

Do the ironing in the cool morning hours. An iron gives off almost as much heat as some portable electric heaters.

Cool Off Walks.
Cool off driveways and walks by hosing them when you water the lawn in late afternoon.

Wear loose, light clothing; avoid over-strenuous exercise; stagger housekeeping chores.

Make an outdoor living-room on terrace, porch or lawn, on shaded side of house. Comfortable relaxation makes "dog-days" more bearable.

J. E. McDonald Is Unique Among State Political Figures

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN —(P)—Big, blunt J. E. McDonald is unique among Texas political figures.

He is different from many state officials and others in public life because he frankly admits he has been a ticket-splitter. That means he has voted for some Democrats and some Republicans in the same general elections. He doesn't mind saying so, and why.

McDonald is seeking his eleventh term as state commissioner of agriculture. He was forced into the runoff campaign when he and three other candidates failed to obtain the necessary first primary majority. McDonald led the ticket. His opponent in the second primary election August 26, will be 25-year-old John White of Wichita Falls.

He told the Associated Press he would be so busy running his job that he doubted if he would have to do any personal campaigning in the runoff.

That statement, of course, in no way limited quiet work by his friends. After 20 years in office, James Eric McDonald has made lots of friends as well as enemies over Texas.

McDonald is six feet one, big-framed and solidly built. He has stern intense brown eyes, gray hair, ruddy complexion. He is an effective public speaker but not a spellbinder. He makes few speeches. His office is on the first floor of the Land Office Building, near the State Capitol. He is a very easy man to see and likes to talk farming, ranching and politics with all comers. He said he would have appreciated a social call from any of his opponents in the first primary, but they didn't come to see him.

Leans Back In Chair
He meets all visitors at his steel roll-top desk and he leans back in his high-backed chair while talking.

McDonald is a fighter in politics, the kind of fighter who likes to win and who has never lost a race. His last public battle was with the State Democratic Executive Committee that tried to purge his name from the July primary ballot on charges of party disloyalty.

McDonald went to court with a staff of prominent lawyers headed by former Gov. Dan Moody. He pinned the committee's ears back. The court held in essence that if McDonald took the pledge to support the nominees of the Democratic primary in which he was running, his past votes for Republicans could not bar him from the ballot.

McDonald fell out with Henry Wallace in 1940 over New Deal farm policies. He publicly opposed Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman and supported Jack Porter, the Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate in 1948. He does not like farm subsidies and has no patience with any theory of controlled scarcities created by such devices as cotton plough-unders. In 1948 he was charged by the federal government with failure to register as a lobbyist before congressional committees urging higher farm prices.

McDonald counter-attacked. He said he was entitled to testify as an elected official without registering. The trial of McDonald and others on the misdemeanor charge was postponed in Washington for the fourth time last June 19.

McDonald was born at Mexia in the blacklands cotton belt June 4, 1881. He was educated in the Mexia Public Schools and farmed in Limestone County until 1911, when he moved to Ellis County. There he continued farming.

He served in the House of Representatives, 41st Legislature in 1929-30, and in 1930 was elected commissioner of agriculture. McDonald sold his Ellis County farm and bought a combination farm and ranch in Bosque County. Later he sold it and went into extensive citrus operations in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

McDonald was married in 1903 to Eddie Viola Sims of Fort Payne, Alabama. They have five children.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Reports of new types of very heavy Russian-made tanks in the Korea fighting have brought out into the open a long, bitter feud among armor experts over the relative merits of U. S. and Red tanks.

There are many tank experts in the U. S. Army who have felt America always has been on the wrong track in tank development and use. They claim, and most experts admit it, that Russia has always led everyone in the development of tanks, and that the U. S. today does not have a heavy tank to match the Red Joseph Stalin III which was first used in the battle of Poland in 1945 and which is now obsolete.

The great fear among the experts is that the Russians might be trying out a tank in Korea even better than the JS-III. That would leave the U. S. almost hopelessly behind in this important field of armament development.

Pentagon Chiefs Rediscover Doughboy; Korea Proves He's Not Obsolete At All

books by shooting a small one. But just knowing how to shoot one doesn't knock out a tank in an actual battle.

2. The Army also let itself get too involved in the thousand and one non-fighting jobs such as doing occupation duty and providing military government. It is now admitted. As a result the troops in Japan had been well-coached in various phases of Japanese culture by special Army instructors, but hardly one unit there had participated in a division or regiment maneuver.

Again, it's hard to pinpoint blame for this. Occupation duty is a job assigned to the Army by Congress. But in the future, it is planned, courses in Japanese culture will come after maneuvers.

3. Pentagon experts admit that the Air Force has learned its lessons, too. Failure to plan for close support of ground troops has been a chronic complaint against AF leaders. It took far too long, the Army claims, for the Air Force to set up adequate forward control parties so that the jets and Mustangs could find the right enemy targets. Meanwhile, South Korean and U. S. troops were shot up by their own planes. Actually, a method of forward control has been worked out for many years. But it wasn't there when needed most.

4. Another big lesson the AF has learned is that it can't always use its airplanes the way it would like to.

An AF spokesman admitted the use of the B-29 against Korean targets was like using a 16-inch gun to shoot rabbits.

The reverse is true of the fast jets. They are designed for short range support. The present situation calls for long range support almost beyond their capabilities.

5. At the top strategic level, a Pentagon spokesman says, is the shocking realization that Russia has discovered in the Korean-type action an effective way to neutralize the weapons we have spent most effort in developing, such as the atomic bomb, B-36 and snorkel submarine. We're fighting Communism just as sure as we fought the Nazis, he points out. But our best weapons are impotent.

Can't Be Neglected

The lesson from this is that no phase of America's armament program can be neglected or slowed down from now on, no matter how good the big weapons look.

Navy spokesmen in the Pentagon claim two major lessons have been learned in the Korean fighting, as far as the seagoing service is concerned.

First, they say, it now is proven that the aircraft carrier is extremely valuable for even overland operations.

Second, they say, claims that amphibious operations are obsolete because of the atomic bomb have now been proved false. The landing of the First Cavalry at Pohang demonstrated this. And they hint more amphibious operations are in the works.

The Navy spokesman also claims the Korean crisis has pointed up the error of cutting the size of the Marine Corps. He says that the packaged power of a Marine Corps division is what is going to be needed more than ever with the possibility of future outbreaks similar to the one in Korea, where there is fighting but not all-out war.

He thinks a strengthened Marine force, with its own air force, will be one of the real results of Korea.

Anti-Red Jokerster Draws Movie Laugh

BERLIN—(AP)—An anti-Communist jokerster got a laugh from a German movie audience at Wittenberge in the Russian occupation zone recently. A newsreel was being shown in which East Germany's Communist president, Wilhelm Pieck, was chatting with a group of Russian officers.

Out of the darkness the prankster shouted: "Wilhelm, hold on to your watch!" The audience burst into a storm of laughter. Jokes about Russians and their fondness for watches have been standard in Germany since the conquering Red Army came in 1945 to strip wrist watches off thousands of conquered Germans.

Police swarmed into the theater and inspected the audience upon departure but the jokerster escaped.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drugist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Barcostrin. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic, from neck, chest, arms, waist, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

LOST 40 POUNDS

"Before taking Barcostrin, my weight was 250 pounds. After taking seven bottles, just returns the empty bottle for your money back. My weight is now 210 and I feel so much better, thanks to Barcostrin." Signed, Mrs. L. M. Robinson, Seabrook, Texas.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Although the Korean fighting is barely a month old, military planners in the Pentagon have learned some grim lessons from it which have already begun to shape policies for the future.

Most dramatic lesson of all, for the public as well as the Pentagon, has been the rediscovery that the foot soldier is not an obsolete weapon. On the contrary, the proof seems to be that a well-equipped and well-trained infantryman is about the most important weapon in the U. S. arsenal.

Army leaders have been trying in vain to keep this fact before Congress and the people while new weapons and push-button warfare took the military limelight. But even the ground force chiefs have made grave errors in the job of providing combat-ready soldiers.

Important Lessons

Wherever the specific blame lies, here are the important lessons learned in Korea, so far as the fighting has affected the soldiers:

1. Since the war hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent on research and development of new and improved weapons, including tanks, bazookas, recoilless weapons and other arms. This effort produced fine results. But it stopped there. Only a few of the new weapons were given to the troops.
2. Under budget pressure the brass yielded to the temptation to let the troops train with older-type weapons in the hope that some time in the future they would be provided with the new ones.
