UNITED NATIONS: 'TOWN MEETING OF THE WORLD'-United Nations Day finds the fifth session of the General Assembly, which opened at Flushing Meadows on September 19, facing decisions of the greatest moment to the world. The most critical problem confronting the 51 member nations, representing more than nine-tenths of the habitable world, is that of achieving peace and maintaining it by preventing future aggression. This, the UN's fifth year, possibly might have been its last. But the UN's quick, firm action in condemning aggression in Korea and authorizing a military force to combat it, ballooned its prestige. When future history is written, 1950 may be set down as the turning point in the desperate struggle of the world's peoples to end wars and truly turn the sword into a plowshare.

Organization Born Of War's Agony Is Guardian Of Peace

The United Nations, born of the agony of World War II, marked its fifth anniversary Tuesday around the world, with the Communist and non-Communist nations warning each other against hurtling toward World War III.

President Truman keynoted the day in a speech in the General Assembly demanding a "fool-proof" world disarmament to allow the world organization to turn its full force to a fight against want.

Inadequate Draft Law

By now it has become increasingly apparent that the rather easy-going draft law put into effect after Korea is not going to meet the goal of having 3,000,000 men under arms by next June.

How far short it will fall, unless some drastic changes are made pretty soon, is anybody's guess. Informed estimates run from Joint Chiefs of Staff Chairman Omar Bradley's 10 per cent to twice that amount by other Pentagon planners.

Already, National Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey is looking for ways to get more men past the extremely sympathetic draft boards and into uniform. He is thinking about asking Congress to let him take 18year-olds, who now must register but cannot be inducted until they are 19.

General Hershey is convinced the armed forces can get more men by lowering the draft age than by raising it, and he feels such a move would make it possible to completely exempt World War II veterans. Otherwise, says Hershey, it may be necessary to call up the currently draft-proof veterans to come anywhere near the 3,000,000

Even when that goal is reached, it will take 750,000 men a year to sustain it. And Selective Service figures it will have to squeeze that number out of the 800,000 eligibles who turn 18 each year.

Nobody has been doing any talking about a cut-back. But nobody has been doing any talking in recent months, either, of Universal Military Training.

In mid-August, UMT proposals seemed to be having inveigled, enticed or "bribed" Lt. their most hopeful revival since Congress first brushed them off four years ago. The Defense Department actually asked for the legislation, and the nation was told that UMT could train 850,000 youths a year.

But President Truman, usually a staunch backer of Aldrich of the Chase National Bank way Commission at $15,000 and also UMT, turned his back on it this time. He said he wouldn't telephoned his brother-in-law, John be made vice president of an oil try to stop the Defense Department, but he wouldn't try to Maine, asking his help in getting help it, either. Congress listened to the arguments, which Lieutenant Governor Hanley out of have promised to repay the $30,000 had the convincing sound-effects of a shooting war in Korea. And then Congress, which like Truman also was listening to the sound-effects of the November election, went home. UMT was left on the shelf until next January.

By then—even if Congress decides to take another look at Universal Military Training—we still will be scraping the bottom of the barrel for ways to get those 3,000,000 men into service by June. We would not have to be scratching like that if Congress had acted back in August.

Lots of peoples' incomes are what they can't live without or within.

Your Uncle Sam may cut the cigar tax, but millions Chase Bank, conferred in Bar Harwill continue to go up in smoke.

If it weren't for second guessers there would be a lot scripps-Howard newspapers and a less criticism in the world.

to cut off her two nephews, Peter and Jasper, in a new will, and to give the bulk of her estate to the family of Leenna Thorne, her companion, the aged Aunt Maggie Thorne is murdered. Youthful Leenna had known Aunt Maggie was afraid and Leenna had been sent for the sheriff just before the murder, but Leenna is caught, apparently by the assassin, and choked into unconsciousness. Later the killer tries to create suspicion that Leeana was trying to fee from the crime. Deputy Sheriff Mart Preston doesn't believe Lee-ana is guilty, but the others seem to have motive aplenty. Sondra. Jasper's discontented wife, had Jasper's discontented wife, had been accused of stealing a valuable lavaliere from Aunt Maggic. But when the sheriff attempts to question Sondra about it, she gets angry and is rebuked by Aunt Agatha, sister of the slain woman.

MART PRESTON caught Sondra at the door, but he was not quick enough to escape the slash of her wicked fingernails. Blood stained his tanned cheek. Roughly he whirled her around to face the sheriff.

Purdy scowled. "Mrs. Thorne," act. You want me thinkin' you burden, killed that poor old woman?" "I don't care what you think!" "No?" Amusement flickered W/HEN the sheriff did not return

"Why should I be afraid? I was with Sondra." "I'm beginning to wonder about that, too," Mart snapped.

Surprisingly enough, it was Jasper who protested. "You're being a bit ridiculous, Preston," he said. "You're as bad

In-Ai Yang Sends Letter To Altrusans

In-Ai Yang, the Korean women whom the Altrusa Clubs of District Seven have educated, sent word recently that her husband, son and parental family are safe.

October 12, Mrs. Yang received the first word from her family since June. Her son and husband had been living in Seoul and had left there June 27th to join her parents on the small island of Duk-Yuk, where Mrs. Yang was born.

The letter, with an air mail stamp had never been postmarked. trusa Clubs, Mrs. Yang graduated from Vanderbilt University in Nashsailed from San Francisco, two days most beautiful for his bride. sion and is chairman of the blood of the freshman classes. bank there. Achievement Tour

Home Demonstration Clubs will begin at 10 a.m. Wednesday, and will include the homes of Mrs. Guy Creighton, Mrs. Charlie Bush, Mrs. Jack Anderson, Mrs. C. A. Newman, Mrs. Bennie Bizzell and Mrs. I. J. Howard.

Clothing and other articles made by members of the club will be on 305 East Maiden Lane. Mrs. Creighton is the clothing demonstrator for the West Side Club.

Mrs. Bush's home on the Andrews Highway will be the second stop of the tour. Here the display will include lamps, tables, copper pictures with sand-blasted redwood frames, copper trays and 14 aluminum trays made by Mrs. Bush. Members of the tour will eat paper sack lunches in the home of Mrs. Anderson, 1306 West Louisiana Street. Mrs. Anderson is the kitchen demonstrator for the West Side

Mrs. Newman's home at 1405 North Garfield Street will be the first afternoon stop of the tour. Mrs. Newman is the home improvement demonstrator for the Garden Addition Club.

Mrs. Bizzell, clothing demonstrator for the Valley View Club, will be the next hostess to the tour in her new home on the Tower Road. The tour will make its last stop in the home of Mrs. Howard in the Valley View Community. Mrs. Howard is the kitchen demonstrator for the Valley View Club.
