

Twin Traps Threaten All UN Forces

Decisions On Korea Held Off

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER. WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Saturday cautiously held off any drastic new steps to deal with the Korean crisis while officials sought additional facts on both the military and diplomatic fronts.

The delay of policy decisions appeared to result at least in part from Prime Minister Attlee's impending visit here. The White House and State Department evidently want to keep future moves in a state of indecision until after talks between the British leader and the President get under way Tuesday. Attlee is due here Monday morning.

Saturday there were these developments: 1. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the Army's chief of staff, left suddenly on a flying trip to the Far East for an on-the-spot inspection of the military situation and a conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

2. Secretary of State Acheson summoned Ambassador Warren Austin from UN headquarters at New York for a one-hour and 50-minute discussion. Austin brought along his deputy, Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, and Acheson was joined in the talk by his top policy directors and advisors.

3. Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk briefed representatives of the 20 Latin American countries on the general Far Eastern situation and Korea.

Well informed officials said that on returning to New York, Austin would consult widely with other United Nations members on the next step to be taken in the United Nations against Communist China's intervention in Korea. A demand (Continued On Page Five)

Christmas $Dollar Day$ Will Be Held Monday In Midland

With the Christmas shopping season in full swing, Midland Monday will observe its December $DOLLAR DAYS, with practically all retail stores of the city participating.

Christmas gift selections will feature the $DOLLAR DAYS specials, many of which are advertised in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram. All types of merchandise are included in the dollar-saving bargains offered by Midland merchants.

Midland already is in the midst of one of its greatest Christmas shopping seasons, as evidenced by the huge throngs which crowded downtown Midland Saturday, but the December $DOLLAR DAYS crowds and sales are expected to establish new records for 1950.

Stores are well-stocked with quality merchandise and merchants are anxious to supply the holiday needs of residents of Midland and other Permian Basin Empire cities, who have made the Midland $DOLLAR DAYS such successful and popular events.

Monday will be $DOLLAR DAYS—Christmas $DOLLAR DAYS—in Midland. Everyone is invited to be present.

'Impeach Truman, McCarthy Shouts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) told President Truman Saturday Congress ought to "immediately impeach you" unless the Administration sanctions use of Chinese Nationalist troops against the Communists in Korea.

"If this reasonable farce of insisting that only American boys can die, while refusing the help of the soldiers of our Allies continues, then the time is long overdue for the Congress, in the name of America, to stand up and be counted and immediately impeach you," McCarthy said in a statement directed to the President.

McCarthy added it "is beyond conception that your State Department, which either bungled or planned us into this war, now bars the use of any of Chiang Kai-Shek's troops in Korea.

The Wisconsin senator said Chiang has 358,000 well-trained and well-equipped soldiers on the island of Formosa, and that they are "willing and eager to fight the hordes of Chinese Communists who are killing our young men."

When the Korean war started last Summer, Chiang offered to send about 33,000 Nationalist troops immediately to the assistance of the United Nations forces.

Assails Acheson Again This government expressed the view that this might weaken the defense of Formosa, the last stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur concurred.

Cold Wave Plows Way Across Texas

By The Associated Press A dry cold wave headed down Texas Saturday night.

Before midnight, it was past Waco, but had not reached Austin.

Ahead of it thunderstorms, with lightning and very little rain, played around Corpus Christi, Pecos, Alice and Cotulla in South Texas.

A blinding rain and hail storm hit the Marshall area in East Texas Saturday afternoon. Two persons were killed in a head-on collision during the storm. They were Mrs. Matilda Verhalen, 86, and her son, George Verhalen, 65, both of Scottsville, near Marshall.

The cold weather was expected to be of short duration. West Texas is supposed to start warming up Monday afternoon.

A freeze was due in the Panhandle Saturday night with predicted temperatures of 22 to 28 degrees. At midnight, Amarillo reported 22 degrees. Freezing weather wasn't expected below Lubbock, Childress and Vernon.

Elsewhere, snow and cold hit the north central part of the country and a wintry weekend was in prospect.

War-Shy Britain, France Again Wish 'Peace In Our Time'

LONDON (AP)—War-shy Britain and France agreed Saturday to press for an early settlement with Soviet Russia and Red China of the Korean warfare and other danger-packed quarrels.

Qualified officials said the accord came in a five-hour meeting of French Premier Rene Pleven with Prime Minister Attlee on the eve of Attlee's flight to Washington for face-to-face talks with President Truman.

Pleven flew to London with his foreign minister, Robert Schuman, and other aides, to see Attlee. After the parley Pleven decided not to go along with Attlee to Washington.

In the Washington discussion on the issues stemming from the Korean crisis, the British leader will be buttressed by the knowledge that seven commonwealth nations as well as France share his government's views on what United Nations objectives should be.

A day of intense consultations between Attlee and Pleven and their aides brought out this broad understanding, qualified officials said.

Britain and France want an early Korean settlement based on an agreement with Red China. Talks With Russia Britain and France want an early Big Four parley at which the West can discuss with Russia the issues which might touch off World War III.

Britain and France want to widen the military command of the Korean war—by giving more say to countries which have forces fighting alongside Americans and South Koreans in the field. This, possibly, could be done by a small military committee which the UN General Assembly could set up.

Finally, Britain and France believe only the UN—and not the United States on its own—must decide whether to use the atom bomb in a UN war.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Defense Minister Emmanuel Shinwell took part in Saturday's conference.

Pleven's decision not to go to Washington apparently stemmed from the fact the Truman-Attlee pow-wow is not going to be a conference (Continued On Page Five)

Burglars Take Safe From Wood Pharmacy Here

Thieves broke into the Bill Wood Prescription Pharmacy, 2201 West Illinois Street, between 6 and 8 p.m. Saturday, carting off a safe which contained narcotics and about $100 in cash.

Police Chief Jack Ellington said the robbers apparently entered the store through a back window, taking the safe out through the back door, which they opened from the inside.

Monroe, Tugboat To Confer With TIL Director

Frank Monroe, superintendent of public schools, and T. L. (Tugboat) Jones, head coach at Midland High School, will leave Sunday afternoon for Austin, where Monday they will confer with Rodney Kidd, director of the Texas Interscholastic League, concerning the league's new alignment of schools by districts for the 1951-52 season.

According to the new setup as announced by TIL officials last Wednesday, Midland next season would be in District 1-AAA, along with Big Spring, Lamesa, Plainview and Sweetwater. The AAA classification is for schools having between 450 and 849 enrollment.

Schools with 850 or more enrollment are classified as AAAA. 1849 Figures Used Monroe said the TIL used last year's figures in setting up the new districts.

Midland's present membership, Monroe stated, is 872, with an enrollment of 1,050 students expected next year, which automatically would place Midland in Class AAAA in 1952. Since the present figure qualifies Midland for AAAA membership, the school officials will ask TIL officials to place MHS in the higher classification for the 1951-52 season in order to prevent the necessity of competing in three districts in as many years. Other AAAA schools in this area include Odessa, Amarillo, Borger, Abilene, Pampa, Lubbock and San Angelo.

Fleeing GI's Burn Bridges After Them

TOKYO (AP)—Overwhelming Chinese Communist armies closely threatened the entire United Nations forces in North Korea with twin entrapments Sunday.

In the northwest, U. S. Eighth Army troops literally burned bridges and other vital equipment behind them as they pulled southward through the former Red capital of Pyongyang. The Reds were 25 miles from that military and political prize.

In the northeast, Red regulars were within 25 miles of the vital port of Wonsan, and guerrillas were a dozen miles closer, threatening the U. S. Tenth Corps rear.

General MacArthur estimated the enemy already at the front or quickly moving up totaled 500,000 Chinese, plus 100,000 to 150,000 North Korean Reds being recruited in the rear.

The UN commander bluntly admitted the "overwhelming strength of the enemy completely outnumber us on the ground."

He declined to estimate Allied forces, but earlier unofficial estimates have been about 200,000, of whom approximately half are South Koreans.

The sharpest immediate crisis was in the northwest, before Pyongyang, which the Allies liberated October 20.

While a new United Nations defense line north of the former Korean Communist capital remained intact, Chinese poked three divisions directly at the center. Eight more Chinese divisions moved in a sweep around the right end.

Field dispatches said huge fires marked the destruction of bridging material stripped from Japan to Korea, and other vital equipment which the retreating Americans were unable to move.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert reported that withdrawal of United Nations forces south through Pyongyang gained momentum in the Allies' fifth straight day of retreat. He said some units stationed in the city itself began leaving.

Red fifth columnists were reported active in Pyongyang. Chinese Communists had a 12,000-man spearhead within 25 miles of Pyongyang late Saturday after capturing Songchon, some 30 miles to the northeast. More than 1,000 Reds were killed by U. S. First Cavalry troops and by air strikes in heavy fighting in the sector.

If successful in turning the right flank of the new UN defense line, the Chinese would threaten to pin most of the Eighth Army, including four U. S. divisions, to the coast in the northwest.

In the northeast, elements of 80,000 Chinese menaced the big east coast supply base of Wonsan, head quarters of the Tenth Corps. This base largely supports three U. S. divisions and two Republic of Korea (ROK) divisions spread over 23,000 square miles.

Just $1,264 Needed For Chest Quota

Midland's 1950 Community Chest drive entered another weekend Saturday with but $1,264 needed to reach the $45,386 quota.

Saturday's total was reported as $44,122, which represented a gain of $258 over Friday's $43,864.

Campaign workers say the drive continues and they are pleased the goal is in sight.

The drive opened October 17. It has gained contributions daily since that time.

Six worthwhile agencies will benefit from contributions of the 1950 campaign. They are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Center, Latin American Youth Club, Goodfellows and Salvation Army.

3,000 Homeless In Calgary Flood Area

CALGARY, ALBERTA (AP)—A Bow River ice jam touched off the most disastrous winter flood in Calgary's history in 30-below-zero weather Saturday.

Three thousand persons either were marooned or forced to leave their homes. The water reached a depth of four feet in some low-lying areas, then began to drop slowly.

Twenty-three blocks were inundated in this city of 122,000 population on the fringe separating Canada's prairies from the Rocky Mountain foothills.

Skelton Promises One Thing: No Television Variety Show

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
—NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Behind the Screen: Red Skelton's television debut, under his new MGM contract, is a year away but he's already filming routines. Five cameras are turning every week on his radio show.
"Just testing," Red smiled amiably, ducking my question: "Will you use the film when your TV show starts?"
"I can only say," he put in, "that I won't have a variety show."
Red refers to the cast of his new film, "Excuse My Dust" — Sally Forrest, Macdonald Carey, William Demarest and Monica Lewis — as "the living room group." He explains it:
"You take some people from the legit stage and put 'em with a corollary like me and they start saying, 'Do I need money this badly?'"

O'Brien Strikes Pay Dirt
Pat O'Brien, a ripe 51 years old, says he's feeling as spry as Eric Pinza and Butch Jenkins combined since he muscled in on the night club territory of Hildegarde, Sophie Tucker and Tony Martin.
"Where," Pat grins, "have they been hiding this money — under rocks?"
Pat's been wowing them with Irish stories, imitations of Cagney, Chevalier, Gable and Edward G. Robinson, and an Irish reel—"It's a little rough when you're fiftyish and get to flying around like an idiot"—in Minneapolis, Las Vegas and Pittsburgh.
Once he was booked in a gaudy niter that seated 1,800 people.
"Too big," he shuddered. "I laid a couple of angel cakes. You know how many eggs there are in an angel cake. When the engagement was over, I told the owners they ought to flood the joint and hold yacht races in it."
But no banners proclaiming the O'Brien name will be flying outside any Hollywood gin mills.
"I'm not that crazy," Pat said. "They'd be waiting for me to lay a bomb."

Tony Martin, recording his big hit, "There's No Tomorrow," for "Two Tickets to Broadway," grinned like Don Ameche when I asked him about the script.
Director Alfred Hitchcock is fuming at British producers who are borrowing tricks from his early movies.
"In some films," the roly-poly master of the screen chill claims, "there are sequences right out of '39 Steps.' I'm typed definitely. If I do anything away from horror and suspense, people are disappointed. It's very difficult to be unique on every occasion."

Short Takes: MGM is talking about a big musical co-starring Mario Lanza, Vic Damone and Dick Contino as brothers. June Havoc will do a new version of "Rain" at the Sombbrero Theater in Phoenix in January. Shelley Winters, displaying arm bruises after a love scene with John Garfield in "He Ran All the Way"—"This realistic school of acting is rugged."
Ava Gardner and Stewart Granger will heat up the screen in MGM's remake of "Scaramouche." Bonita Granville and hubby Jack Wrather are building a new Beverly Hills home—$200,000 worth. The lost cost $40,000. Wrather produces movies and also owns a couple of Texas oil wells. A San Fernando Valley eatery has a sign out front reading: "Crummy Cocktails—Sneering Service."

Ducks With Cancer Sought By School

GALVESTON —(P)—The University of Texas Medical School is looking hard for two missing ducks. It's even more interested in finding the person or persons who may have eaten them.
They disappeared Wednesday from an enclosures pen at the medical school laboratories here. They couldn't possibly have gotten out of the pen by themselves, said Dr. R. H. Rigdon, university pathologist.
Both birds had been infected over a nine-month period with a cancer-producing substance.
Dr. Rigdon promised the thief won't be prosecuted if he gives himself up.
"If the ducks were eaten," he said, "we want to contact those who ate them both in the interest of science and of saving their lives. We want to keep them under observation for at least two years."

Stanley Frank's West Texas Livestock Weekly reports that three Midland buyers have purchased 665 two-year old heifers from Gale Eastman of the Barrick Cattle Company of Amarillo. Frank Williamson bought 500 head, John Dublin, Jr., 100 head, and Homer Ingham, 65 head. The animals, averaging 626 pounds, are off the Mallett Ranch near Sundown.

Congratulations to Lloyd Robinson of Big Spring, whose 1,075-pound Hereford steer, "Big Spring Special," was named grand champion of Chicago's International Livestock Show. The animal previously had been named the show's champion Hereford and champion Summer yearling. Lloyd also showed "Big Spring Special" to the championship of the State Fair of Texas this fall. The champ is from the TO Ranch herd, Raton, N. M.

Grass fires are causing West Texas ranchers considerable concern as the weather continues dry and the tall grass becomes drier and drier.

A lighted match or cigarette carelessly tossed from a speeding car can set off grass fires which may destroy thousands of acres of valuable pasture.

It is a problem faced practically every year by land owners, who urge the full support of everyone in preventing costly grass fires.

Leonard Proctor, Midland rancher and chairman of the Rodeo Committee of Midland Fair, Inc., was elected a director of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association at its annual convention in Fort Worth last week.

Harry H. Adams and ranch editor of the Abilene newspapers and a rancher and wool and mohair company owner in his own right, was another of the 13 new directors named at the session. Tom Collins of Sterling City was another. Officers include Frank Roodie of Brady, president, and Johnny Williams of Sanderson and Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, vice presidents.

Speaking of Proctor, who incidentally operates one of the largest sheep ranches in this section, DSQ wonders if he ever managed to buy that Hereford bull from Rancher George Glass???

Texas dairymen who are interested in helping build up the dairy industry of the state will find it profitable to attend the annual Dairymen's Short Course scheduled December 7 and 8 at College Station.

All meetings in connection with the short course will be held in the new Memorial Student Center building. The dairy husbandry department of the Texas A&M College System is sponsoring the short course. E. E. Burleson, associate extension dairy husbandman, says the subjects listed for discussion on the program are all of practical value to the dairyman.

The 1950 Cowboys' Christmas Ball, commemorative of Larry Chittenden's ballad and a square dance at the Star Hotel at Anson in 1885, will be staged in Anson's Pioneer Hall, December 20-23, inclusive, at 8 p.m. daily.

A regulation will be in effect that participants wear costumes of the 80's and 90's on the first three nights. Long, full skirts, ruffles, hoops, polonaise, overskirts, basques, will characterize feminine attire. The old-time Texas cowboy will be in evidence in the masculine make-up, colorful with red bandanna and plaid shirts.

A Wyoming girl tied a Big Spring youth for first place in sheep judging in the junior livestock judging contest at the recent International Livestock Exhibition in Chicago.

Carla Hill, 16, of Hat Creek, Wyo., and Perry Walker, 20, of Big Spring were the only tying contestants. An Oklahoma quartet won the team championship, with Wyoming second and Michigan third.

Divisions in the cattle department will be Herefords, Aberdeen-Angus, Brahman, and fat steers.

Committee Chairmen for the various divisions include: Fred Ball, Boys' Show Committee; H. C. Noelke, Jr., men's Show Committee; George C. Rignin, Boys' Sale Committee; J. P. Williamson, Publicity and Advertising Committee; and Ray W. Willoughby, Finance Committee.

Noelke, Jr., Men's Sheep Show; Jack V. Williams, Hereford Show; Henry Moore, Aberdeen-Angus Show; and O. J. Flowers, Brahman Show.

A Junior College Judging Contest will be held in conjunction with San Angelo Fat Stock Show. This will be the second year that the show has sponsored this contest. S. E. Phillips, West Texas Utilities Company, will be general superintendent.

Few people have seen buffaloes and fewer still have seen the real old time moss back Texas Longhorn Steer. These facts one gathers from comments heard since a good sized chunk of the old wild west has been added to the attractions at Palo Duro Canyon State Park near Canyon, Texas. This old west attraction includes a trio of buffaloes and two aged Texas Longhorn steers.

The buffaloes are long yearlings and thus far they and the steers have shared the same corrals and pasture. Obtained from the U. S. Wildlife Refuge at Cacha, Okla., the young buffaloes quickly have adapted themselves to their new home.

The Longhorn steers, one a roan and the other white with a few red spots, are enormous in size and their horns carried high on their heads, have a wide spread. They were obtained from the S. J. Ranch at Ashola, and originally grew up in South Texas, native habitat of the real Longhorns.

The first entries for the horse show of Fort Worth's Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, dates of which are January 26 through February 4, have been received, according to news releases. The first entry was Poco Tivo, three-year-old bay Quarter Horse stallion, owned by Cliff Magers of Fort Worth.

Poco Tivo, son of Poco Bueno, was the top selling horse at the annual Quarter Horse sale of the Waggoner Three-D Ranch at the Will Rogers show grounds in September. Magers purchased him for $5,000.

Overdrive, a brown gelding to be shown in the hunter division, owned by Miss Missy Kone of San Antonio, was the first show horse entry.

Other early entries include two for the open cutting horse contest: Little Beaver, owned by Emory Birdwell, Palo Pinto, and Papoose, owned by Raymond Blue, Palo Pinto.

With the farm-sized flock making a "comeback" in many parts of the nation because of the rising demand for wool, authorities in Austin remind farmers that sheep require more careful management than most farm animals, if the owners expect to make a profit.

An American Foundation for Animal Health bulletin points out that parasites are one of the most serious obstacles to profitable sheep raising. Correct nutrition also is highly important in maintaining an efficient flock.

Four Pointers
The Foundation offered farmers these pointers:

Have all sheep treated against parasites in the Fall and in the Spring. Newly purchased animals should be treated before allowing them to mingle with the herd.

County Agent's Annual Report Provides Detailed Picture Of Agricultural Program

A complete picture of Midland County's agricultural program was detailed in the annual report prepared last week by County Agent Charles Green.

The report, prepared for the Texas Extension Service, covers every phase of the program in this county and describes the various problems and the advances made during the 12-month period ending November 30.

Green pointed out that approximately 70,000 of the county's 87,280 acres are devoted to farming while "cattle-ranching on the undulating and flat plain country of short-grass type vegetation comprises the principal agricultural industry."

"Irrigation," he said, "is being developed gradually, limitations being quantity and availability of water and soil types. A few wells produce as high as 2,000 gallons per minute, but 750 to 1,000 is nearer the average."

The county agent reported that some 2,000 rural residents live on approximately 370 farm and ranch units in the county.

"Most of these people," he said, "have resided here for several years and are cooperative in working with extension agents and other agricultural agencies."

"However, due to several reasons much of the work has to be done on an individual basis rather than with organized groups."

The report is broken down into numerous phases.

SHEEP
This has been a good year for sheep men with production confined to the southern section with needle grass as the major problem. Both fine-wool and cross-bred lambs are being developed by 4-H Club boys.

SWINE
Although there is a definite demand for such a program, there has been a scarcity of hogs in the county. This situation was tackled during the past year as an effort was made to secure a source of well-bred stock. Four registered Duroc gilts and one boar, and four registered Hampshires were selected for demonstration. There has been a marked increase in the number of barrows being developed for Spring shows and 22 pigs are being fed by 4-H Club members, compared to 12 last year.

BEEF CATTLE
Ranges in Midland are in better condition than for several years.

Practice pasture rotation; this helps hold down heavy parasite infestation.

Pay special attention to the feeding of ewes during the Winter.

Avoid letting manure accumulate in lots and sheds during the Winter.

Q. and A. You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (N E A) — Q. Our only child will soon finish "boot" training in the Marines. Is there any way to keep him out of combat?

A. No. Only sole surviving sons are permitted to ask for a non-combat assignment.

Q. How long is basic training in the Army? My sweetie was drafted two months ago and I wonder when he will get the furlough promised him after he finished basic.

A. Your sweetie will have to sweat it out for about a minimum of 16 weeks. It varies slightly from post to post.

Q. Where can I get a copy of the laws dealing with the rights of veterans?

A. Best bet is to write to your congressman. Or write to Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

Q. I am a P-51 pilot with 900 hours. I am married and have two children. What are my prospects for being called?

A. That depends on your reserve status. However, your chances of being called as a pilot are very slim. Most of the flying personnel whom the services wanted have already been called back.

Q. My husband was in the reserves and was called to active duty. A week after he went back in they stopped taking reserves in this category. Is this fair? He had 42 points at the end of the war. Will this help him get out faster?

A. All is supposed to be fair in love and war. The point system for releasing men after World War II has nothing to do with getting out of the service now.

Q. My son was discharged from the service once to help take care of me. I am a widow and when I get sick there is no one to support me. He was taken back into service a couple of months ago. I am sick again. Can he get out again?

A. If a man was discharged for hardship reasons once, that does not disqualify him for discharge for that same reason again.

Q. Why isn't the National Guard allowed to come home and visit more than they are? Since the men from our town were taken in active service they haven't been home once.

A. Once a Guard unit is federalized it comes under the same regulations on leave and furloughs as any other Army unit. After the first period of training, however, you can probably look for some leave being given to the boys from the outfit.

Q. When the son of a neighbor of mine was drafted recently he was underweight. He went to camp and started drilling and collapsed. He was in the hospital a while and sent out to less strenuous duty and collapsed again. His mother is very sick over this situation. What should she do?

A. This man should seek a discharge from the Army on grounds of physical disability. Army regulations provide for such discharges. He will be given a thorough physical examination to determine his condition.

Q. I recently received a telegram ordering me into service in the Air Force. Then I received a telegram revoking those orders. I am a reservist. What is my outlook?

Some Changes To Be Made—Rear Echelons May Be Heading For Front, General Indicates

SAN FRANCISCO — (P) — There is an old Army saying that soldiers in the rear areas "never had it so good."

It appears likely that there are going to be some changes made.

Hereafter, there will be fewer soldiers pushing pencils and counting out in the rear echelons and a lot more up front with the combat units.

America hasn't enough fighting divisions, considering the number of men it is training.

The word was passed down from Gen. Mark W. Clark, Chief of the Army Field Forces, in a sober estimate of what the United States is going to have to do about fighting manpower.

He said that the American GI used to the best of everything — is going to have to get along with a lot less service. It has been necessary to detail about four men in the rear echelons to serve one fighting man up forward.

This, Clark says, contrasts with a Russian army ratio of four fighting men and only one man backing him up in the rear areas.

"Our manpower situation isn't such that we can afford to give these odds," the general said, in a press conference. He was on the coast inspecting Sixth Army installations, particularly troop training at such places as Ford Ord, Camp Cooke, etc.

"We want to live well when we can," said the general, explaining he wasn't criticizing the system that has existed in the Army.

"But we can't live as well any longer. We've got to squeeze out things, mentioning such things as Special Services, Information and Education, excessive transportation and the like. But he indicated that major outbacks so as to get more troops into combat units would require something pretty drastic.

Photographic Dosimeter Developed Which Will Determine Radioactivity Exposure

AUSTIN — Development of the first simple and inexpensive device to measure the extent of exposure of individuals to atomic radiation capable of mass production to meet both military and possible civil defense needs — announced by the Department of the Army.

Designated by the Army Signal Corps as a self-developing photographic dosimeter, the device is small and light, may be hung around one's neck like a soldier's dog tag, yet will measure very slight to fatal doses of radioactivity.

A reading can be obtained from the dosimeter one minute after exposure, without recourse to a photographic laboratory or the use of supplementary equipment.

The dosimeter was developed under the sponsorship of the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratory, Fort Monmouth, N. J., by the Polaroid Corporation, Cambridge, Mass. It employs principles discovered by Dr. Edwin H. Land, president of Polaroid, and used in the Land Camera.

Because it works on a photographic principle, the dosimeter's sensitivity can be changed simply by altering the type of photographic emulsion used.

Small Metal Case

The dosimeter consists of a small metal case containing a flat paper photographic plate. The plate is turned out, photographically sensitized film and a pod of developing solution. The film has graduated scales on its outer edges and an unexposed center part. Exposure to gamma radiation causes the center strip to turn light — the greater the exposure, the whiter the strip. By comparing the center strip with the graduated scale on the edges, a good measure of the dosage of radiation received by the dosimeter's user can be made.

Shielding in the case blocks out alpha and beta radiation since gamma rays are the ones to be reckoned with in an atomic explosion.

When an individual suspects that he has been exposed to dangerous radiation, he merely pulls a tab from the case. The tab is attached to the film plaque, which is removed. As the plaque passes through a narrow slit in the case, it breaks the pod containing the photographic developing fluids, and spreads the chemicals over the test strip and inside the plaque. The user waits approximately one minute, breaks open the plaque, examines the test strip and scale, and learns the extent of his exposure.

The Signal Corps said the cases can be made for less than a dollar and can be used repeatedly. The film plaques will cost about five cents, and new ones can be inserted in the cases after each exposure.

Steps are being taken to initiate pilot production of the device for military use. Large quantities will not be available for at least six months.

Warrant Officer Grades Authorized

AUSTIN — Appointments to the grade of warrant officer now are authorized qualified men and women enlisted members of the Army Organized Reserve. Col. Clarence M. Culp, chief of the Texas Military District, said.

Recent legislation was passed by Congress which authorized the Secretary of the Army to appoint male and female warrant officers in the Reserves under such regulations as he might prescribe. Army commanders have been delegated the authority to tender appointments to qualified enlisted reservists who hold the grade of master sergeant, Colonel Culp stated.

This is the first time that warrant officers have been provided for in Reserve units. Heretofore non-commissioned officers of the first three grades have been assigned to fill warrant officer positions for clerical in troop basis units. However, they retained their noncommissioned status and received drill pay according to their enlisted grade.

New Regulations

Under the new regulations appointments will be made only to fill existing vacancies in organized troop program units and will be from enlisted Reservists of the Organized Reserve Corps. Preference will be given to master sergeants who are now assigned to those positions.

In order to qualify for appointment, the Reservist must be between the ages of 21 and 46, pass a physical examination for general service, be a citizen of the United States, hold the grade of master sergeant and meet required standards of education and leadership.

In addition, the applicant will be required to appear before a board of officers. This board will examine each applicant as to his or her moral character and general fitness for military service as well as to test his knowledge and technical qualifications for the position for which he is applying.

Appointments will be as warrant officer, junior grade, except for those who have had previous service as chief warrant officers.

Air Force Will Not Reactivate Air Fields At Hobbs, Clovis

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Air Force said Saturday it has no present plans to reactivate fully its bases at Hobbs and Clovis, N. M.

An Air Force spokesman said both bases now are considered auxiliaries to the Air Training Command Flying School at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, Texas. The Hobbs base now is being used actively as an auxiliary, he said, but the Clovis base is not.

The spokesman said fliers from Reese practice landings and take-offs on the Hobbs field.

The Car Parts Depot was one of several stores in a half-block-long building. Some other firms suffered slight smoke damage.

You Can Be A 'Senator', Church School Class Says

By TANNER LAINE

Church and state separated? Well, not always, it seems. There is a Midland Sunday School Class called the St. Mark's Senate. It is a couple class of St. Mark's Methodist Church.

The class uses senatorial terms for its officers and otherwise.

Actually the class is not as large in numbers yet as the U. S. Senate (96 members) but it has ambitions to have 125 "Senators" and a drive now is underway to obtain them. Attendance now totals 75. There is no "age" requirement. No "party" in power.

This "Senate" is vastly different, we are sure, from the dignified actual Senate. For one thing, the church "Senate" has a nursery. And the youngsters get excellent care while mom and dad are at Sunday School.

And there hasn't been a filibuster yet in the St. Mark's Senate.

The Constitution of our nation provides that no state, whatever its size, may be deprived of equal representation in the upper house of Congress. And so, says the St. Mark's Senate, we are just like it in that respect. "We want members, the more the merrier," class representatives said.

The St. Mark's Senate will take in a new member any time, it doesn't have to be an election year.

The St. Mark's Senate concurs with just about everything "President" Rev. John B. Sharp says. Mr. Sharp is pastor of the church.

The vice president of the United States is the Senate's presiding officer. That would make Wayne Blankenship, church school superintendent at St. Mark's, the presiding officer of St. Mark's Senate. But that post is delegated to Eugene Nearburg, the teacher.

The Senate of the U. S. makes its own rules of procedure and so does the St. Mark's Senate. But it conforms to the rules of the church, of course.

Standing Committees

Much of the work of our nation's Senate is done by standing committees. So it is with St. Mark's Senate. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poole are Membership Committee leaders. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Olson are Enrollment Committee co-leaders.

Whatever their senatorial designation may be, the officers of the St. Mark's Senate (Sunday School class) are: W. G. Smith, Jr., president; Jack Locke, vice president; H. G. (Bub) Brewer, acting secretary.

Maybe they are the "Steering Committee," who can say?

No, the St. Mark's Senate handles no treaties, declares no wars, makes no appropriations. It is just a friendly church school class which would welcome you, provided you wished to become a member.

Then, you too, could be a "Senator."

Building Pledge Made By Man Who Never Will See It

The first pledge to the First Baptist Church's campaign for a new auditorium was made by a man who never will see the edifice.

He is Irby Weaver, who is blind. He operates a news stand in the Midland Post Office.

Irby pledged 50 cents per week for 150 weeks as his part in the new church building, a total of $75. Told he could pledge anything, even 10 cents per week, Irby proudly said: "I want to do more than that."

Tibetans, Invaders Suffer Heavy Losses

NEW DELHI, INDIA — (P) — A Kailimpong dispatch in the Statesman Saturday said a large scale engagement "somewhere between Chamdo and Lhasa" has resulted in heavy losses for both the Red Chinese invaders and Tibetan troops.

The dispatch said the Red offensive is being led by a renegade Tibetan monk Sherab Gyamso who fled to China 14 years ago and recently served as vice president of the Tibetan provisional government in Kansas.

The story said there were indications the Dalai Lama is planning to leave Lhasa, if the situation in Tibet grows worse.

Group To Probe Books, Teachings At Berger Named

BORGER — (P) — More than 30 persons met here Friday night to organize a committee to investigate teachings and textbooks in Berger schools.

One of the leaders said the investigation would involve reports that classwork had been slanted to favor socialized medicine and that children had no opportunity to give the pledge to the American flag.

The leader, Mrs. E. D. McCormick, said no charges of Communistic teachings had been made. She is chairman of the Americanism Committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

She said the probe would seek out any possible Communistic propaganda in textbooks.

The Rev. Amos R. Meador, Nazarene Church pastor, was named committee chairman.

Reserves To Attend C&S School Course

AUSTIN — Army Reserve officers desiring to qualify for higher command or staff positions will be able to improve their professional education by attending a special associate course of the Command and General Staff School to be held at Fort Hood, Texas, beginning March 18, 1951, Col. Clarence M. Culp, chief of the Texas Military District, announced.

This special course, announced recently by the Department of the Army, will be a combination of extension work and resident instruction.

The full course is divided into three phases; all of which can be completed within a three year period. Each phase consists of approximately 50 hours of extension work and two weeks resident instruction. Reserve officers completing this course will be entitled to equivalent credit for having completed the regular 12-week Associate Course of the Command and General Staff School.

Texas has been authorized a quota of 46 officers for the Fort Hood course; Colonel Culp said.

Brantly Says No Other Country Will Equal U. S. High Standard Of Living

By EDD ROUTH
Associated Press Staff

The present high living standards of the United States probably never will be equalled by any other country in the opinion of a tall, dignified international oil man who lives at Abilene and produces oil around the world.

Georgia-born J. E. Brantly, president of the Brantly Drilling and Exploration Company, with headquarters at Abilene, recently returned home from the third bi-annual meeting of the ILO (International Labor Organization) at Geneva, Switzerland.

He was an advisor to the American delegation.

Seventeen nations, represented by oil labor, oil management and their governments, met in the historic city to discuss standards of living of oil workers throughout the world. No delegates from countries behind the Iron Curtain attended the 1950 meeting.

"The presence of professional negotiators—whose orders are to take a lot and give very little—makes it extremely difficult for the parties to reach concrete agreements," Brantly said.

"If the living standards of most foreign oil field workers are raised, the oil companies will have to do it."

Granberry Is Named University Official

AUSTIN—(AP)—C. Read Granberry was named assistant chancellor of the University of Texas Saturday.

Granberry since 1944 has been assistant to President T. S. Painter. He was moved to the new position by the board of regents Saturday on recommendation of Chancellor James P. Hart.

The board also altered the title of vice president and comptroller C. D. Simmons to vice chancellor for business and finance. Simmons is chief business officer for the entire university system.

Has Responsibility

"Petroleum companies of the United States have developed two-thirds of all foreign oil production. The government of the country in which the company operates charges the oil company with the responsibility of maintaining hospitals, schools and other municipal facilities for the workers."

"Oil producers feel such responsibility should remain with the government," Brantly said.

"Under current conditions the oil companies must not only maintain the regular business departments, but also departments of health, education, housing and so on. In addition, the companies generally have to pay a contract tax set by the country."

Brantly said he found that oil workers in all countries want to achieve the American standard of living, and that native labor is envious of the standards of American oil specialists who work in their countries.

"But these countries are 100 years behind us industrially, and cannot expect to equal our standard of living. The best they can do is better their conditions by degrees. No single industry in America made our living standard what it is today."

As Resources Exploited

For this reason, Brantly believes the living standards of other countries never will match that of the United States. Their standards will rise only as their industries grow, and as they exploit their natural resources. But, meanwhile, U. S. standards will be rising at a similar rate as U. S. industrialization continues.

Measuring living standards in terms of per capita horsepower, Brantly said:

"The U. S. has a per capita horsepower of 25. We have more cars, refrigerators and other luxuries, and it follows that a country with one horsepower will have a lower standard of living."

The ILO, developed from the old League of Nations at Geneva, has no actual power and remains clear of political issues. The group meets every two years to exchange ideas, grievances, adopt or reject resolutions.

At the 1950 meeting three committees (health, housing, education) thrashed out the details of their respective projects. Then about 30 resolutions were passed unanimously by the general assembly.

Peace Or—

Air Force general said Saturday a convoy of 250 Red vehicles was attacked Friday night.

The Chinese normally pack between 40 and 50 men in one truck. That single convoy therefore carried more than 10,000 men to the front.

Their superiority in manpower, already very great, is building up hourly. It is most marked in the Changlin Reservoir sector, where the First Marine Division has been fending off assaults from all directions by six or seven Chinese divisions.

As the buildup continues the entire Eighth Army will be confronted with the same relative weight of numbers.

In that case the question of establishing a defense line north of Pyongyang, holding Pyongyang itself, or falling back to the Kaesong-Kumchon mountain area on the 38th parallel probably would be completely academic. The greater danger is that the Eighth Army would be surrounded and pinned against the sea on the west coast and that the Tenth Corps would suffer the same fate on the east coast.

Greatest Possible Speed

The tactics of the Chinese commanders show they are operating with the greatest possible speed. They obviously are seeking a quick and complete tactical decision.

Having the numbers, and with more numbers swelling their strength constantly, they could press southward without any great haste. They are well aware the UN has no sizable manpower reserve to throw in.

But instead the Red commanders are spending men lavishly with total disregard for losses.

The divisions now surging southward are among China's best, if not the best.

Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, chief intelligence officer for MacArthur, said Friday it is estimated 60 per cent of the front-line force is composed of former members of the Chinese Nationalist armies. These men are professionals.

Veterans Of Japanese War

Many of them fought the Japanese in that other undeclared war. Then they fought under the Nationalist banner against the Reds. They are, in fact, mercenaries who make a livelihood of fighting.

For that reason they are highly expendable in the eyes of the true Communist commanders. Additionally, it is obvious the Chinese high command is driving hard to destroy the UN forces before the issue of peace or war is clarified completely.

The reasons are fully apparent.

Formal war means a full mobilization in the United States and elsewhere. It might mean as well that the 500,000 to 700,000 Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa would be launched against the Chinese mainland. The U. S. Seventh Fleet is patrolling the Straits of Formosa and the United States has the fleets of landing craft capable of taking that force anywhere in China, Manchuria or Korea.

Invisible Barrier

In short, the tremendous numerical superiority now in the hands of the Reds could be counterbalanced. Possibly even more important, the Yalu River boundary, which so far has been respected by American airpower, would cease to be an invisible barrier. The bases where Chinese troops are concentrating and through which they are receiving supplies would begin to feel the slow strangulation of repeated heavy bombings.

At this moment the Chinese are using the big Manchurian cities as staging areas and supply concentration points without hindrance. With their cities burned out and their railways kept under incessant attack from the air, the flow of men to the front would be impaired seriously.

It is believed in Tokyo that this question of true peace or open war will be the main subject of the conference between President Truman and Britain's Prime Minister Attlee this week. At the same time political observers believe the Soviet bloc and the Chinese Communist delegation at Lake Success will attempt to delay a clear-cut decision.

MacArthur expressed the hope Saturday a peaceful settlement can be reached. It is clear some kind of decision must be taken — and soon.

took a gloomy overall view. General MacArthur, answering Tokyo correspondents' written questions, estimated that more than one-half the 500,000 Chinese were in the front echelon while the remainder were moving up rapidly from Yalu River bases on the Manchurian border, in an "undeclared war," against the United Nations.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead on the northwest front said there was no end in sight to the United Nations retreat in Korea. He pointed out that the first week of the huge Chinese counteroffensive had separated the Eighth Army in the west and the Tenth Corps in the east.

Each, he said, was fighting to escape destruction and neither could aid the other.

A still more gloomy opinion came from Correspondent Lief Erickson at Eighth Army headquarters. He said the plain truth was that Communist commanders believe they can destroy both the Eighth Army and the Tenth Corps.

The U. S. Eighth Army commander, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, issued stern orders Saturday night to destroy all bridges and buildings restored in Pyongyang if and when the city finally is evacuated.

Tension was high in Pyongyang. Correspondent Lambert said police jailed a dozen men—including eight policemen and a former Communist Red army lieutenant—in connection with a reported plot to assassinate the un-appointed mayor, his two U. S. government officers.

Evacuation Planned

U. S. authorities planned to evacuate 1,500 North Koreans from the city, including top officials, 75 clergymen, some scientists and technicians. They will also send south some 600 prisoners of war jailed when the city was liberated.

U. S. First Cavalry troops still were in contact with the Reds one mile south of Songchon, having driven four to five miles back north toward that key road town from rear positions to strengthen their line.

General MacArthur's headquarters, in a war summary late Saturday, said U. S. Second Division troops withdrew to new defensive positions south of the Chongchon River. The positions were not pinpointed.

The U. S. 24th Division, and the British, Turkish and South Korean troops attached to it in the U. S. First Corps, likewise pulled back to undisclosed points. The war summary said there were indications of enemy activity in front of the "outpost line of resistance."

The plight of UN forces in the northeast was almost equally serious.

At Yangdok, 43 air miles west of Wonsan, Chinese forces built up strength on the main supply road crossing the narrow waist of Korea to Pyongyang.

Second Port Menaced

Some 25 miles northwest of Wonsan a trainload of 1,000 Chinese troops was hit by Marine airmen. A second supply port was reported menaced by 3,000 Chinese Reds between 15 and 20 miles north of Hamhung.

Some 35 miles northwest of Hamhung, the U. S. Seventh Division's 31st and 32nd Infantry Regiments reached Marine-held Hagaru after suffering heavy casualties.

The U. S. Fifth Marine Division's Fifth Regiment still was fighting its way back south to the advanced base which itself was under attack from the south, southeast and southwest.

Hagaru lies at the southern tip of the Changlin Reservoir, once an important source of hydroelectric power for Manchuria and Korea.

Southernmost elements of the Fifth Marines were within four miles of Hagaru at last report.

The Seventh Marine Regiment, which withdrew ahead of the Fifth, apparently was at Hagaru.

Heavy Casualties

Both Marines and Doughboys suffered heavy casualties in withdrawing from the west and east sides of Changlin under constant Chinese attack.

Evacuation planes flew from a makeshift strip at Hagaru to a Marine hospital near Hungnam.

A wounded GI survivor told AP Correspondent Tom Stone Chinese "murdered the daylight" out of wounded Seventh Division troops left behind in the retreat.

Pilots said the Yudam, 10 miles north of Hagaru, was "littered with Chinese dead" after the U. S. Marine Fifth Regiment pulled out.

There was no report on the 17th Regimental Combat Team of the U. S. Seventh Division, holding a 10-mile front on the Yalu River, facing Manchuria, at Hyesanjin. They were being supplied by air.

The ROK Capital Division last was reported moving slowly northeast toward the Siberian frontier, about 40 miles away. The U. S. cruiser St. Paul provided close gun support offshore.

U. S. planes of all categories continued heavy close support Saturday, smashing at a 250-vehicle convoy moving south from Sinsajui on the Manchurian border and hitting railroad communication lines and supply dumps.

Houston Executive Leaps To Death From Eighth Floor

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jay Vergil Scott, Jr., 32, vice president and treasurer of the Elyo Chemical Company of Houston, was killed Saturday in what police called a jump from the eighth floor of an apartment house.

He was staying in the apartment while under the care of Mrs. Winifred Nason, a registered nurse. He had been under treatment by Dr. John Rosen, a psychiatrist.

In the apartment was Don Dunphy, a student psychiatrist. He noted Scott's absence and found his body in a courtyard.

Scott's father is president of the chemical firm. He also is a former chairman of the Port Houston Commission and former board chairman of the Second National Bank.

Survivors include the parents, his widow, and two daughters, Frances, eight, and Mollie, four.

ference in the formal sense of the word.

It will be more in the nature of a man-to-man talk on subjects of particular British-American concern.

Three Crucial Issues

For one thing, as Cabinet Minister Hugh Dalton said Saturday night, Britain thinks the United States is inclined to give insufficient weight to British views on crucial issues.

Three such issues—Dalton touched on them in his speech to a Labor Party audience at Devises—directly affect the world situation:

(1)—Britain wants the West to make a supreme effort to come to an understanding with Russia.

(2)—Britain wants Red China admitted to the United Nations, believing that would be the best way of settling the Korean affair.

(3)—Britain wants UN forces in Korea to stop well short of the Manchurian and Siberian frontiers. Attlee will take all these things up with Truman.

Decisions—

that the Chinese Reds withdrew was vetoed by Russia in the Security Council Thursday.

One proposal discussed by Austin and Acheson Saturday and under serious consideration is to put the subject of China's "aggression," as the United States has labeled it, on the veto-less Assembly's schedule but avoid for the time being any decision on the exact nature of the resolution which the Assembly later would be asked to adopt.

Austin reported to Acheson on new, slight evidence that the Chinese Communist delegation at UN headquarters might be willing to discuss the Korean situation with representatives of other countries at some point. State Department officials did not appear particularly hopeful but did learn with considerable interest of the fact that Sir Benegal N. Rau, India's representative at Lake Success, spent 50 minutes Friday talking with Wu Hsiu-Chuan, Peiping's envoy. Rau said he still has hope of a peaceful settlement.

McCarthy—

cially stated, it is known—the Truman Administration felt use of Chiang's forces might give the Chinese Reds an excuse to intervene in Korea, which they now have done anyway.

In his statement Saturday, addressed to "Mr. President," McCarthy also again bitterly criticized Secretary of State Acheson.

And he said the leaders of the Chinese Reds are "the same Chinese Communists whom Marshall, under Acheson's orders, tried to force into positions of power in Chiang Kai-Shek's government."

That was a reference to Gen. George C. Marshall, now secretary of defense, and apparently an allusion to the period after World War II when Marshall went on mission to China at Truman's request. Acheson then was under-secretary of State.

Blunders, Trailers!

"You will recall," McCarthy told Truman, "that when our Ally Chiang Kai-Shek, refused (to cooperate with the Reds) on the ground that the Communists could not be trusted as partners, Marshall placed an embargo on all ammunition to those Chinese who were fighting communism."

McCarthy demanded that Truman "get rid of that group (in the Administration) whose hatred for Chiang Kai-Shek and love for Chinese Communists is being demonstrated by an ever-increasing mountain of American dead." He added:

"You have asked for unity in this crisis, but you can not expect honest Americans to unify behind the blunders and trailers who set the stage for what may be America's greatest military disaster."

The Midland association this year has conducted a well-rounded program in all phases for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis. In addition, it gave 2,000 tuberculin patch tests in the public schools, and made possible free chest X-rays for 4,000 Midland County citizens. A greatly expanded program is planned for 1951.

"Christmas Seals always have been messengers of health," campaign leaders stated, "because they represent the people's fight against tuberculosis and remind us that this nationwide battle must continue until complete victory over the disease is won. Buy and use Christmas Seals in order that this most worthwhile program of tuberculosis control may continue in full force."

Solon Sees No Draft Law Change In 1950

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee said Saturday he saw no reason for any change in the draft law this year to speed up expansion of the armed forces.

President Truman has set a goal of a 2,771,000-man defense force by June 30.

Vinson said there are enough men left in the 19 through 25 bracket to meet the Army's draft needs without changing the law this year.

Neither the Air Force nor Navy has utilized the draft so far.

Truman is expected to ask Congress next month for some form of universal military training and it is likely the draft will be revised and tightened then.

Draft calls for 40,000 men in December and the same number in January have been issued. The Defense Department asked Friday for 50,000 more in February.

The draftees would be used to build up the Army toward its goal of 1,264,000 by next June. Although the exact figure is secret, unofficial estimates are that the Army now has about 1,000,000 men.

Visitors Throng New Humble Station Here

Visitors by the hundreds thronged the new Humble Service Station at the corner of Big Spring and Ohio Streets Saturday as it opened for business under the management of Agent Bill Matthews.

Favors were distributed to all men, women and children attending the open house. Large, colorful balloons floated high in the stiff breeze to guide Midlanders to the service station site.

Numerous Humble Oil & Refining Company officials from over West Texas were here for the opening.

Siluro-Devonian Tester Is Slated For Chaves Area

HOBBS, N. M. — Twelve miles north and slightly west of the Chisum field of South-Central Chaves County, Honolulu Oil Corporation stated location for a 5,500-foot wildcat to explore the Siluro-Devonian, which is producing in the above named field.

Drill site is 16 miles northeast of Roswell. The explorer will be drilled as Honolulu's No. 1 McConey well, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 10-9s-26e.

Ellenburger Topped
Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-B O'Brien, wildcat in East-Central Chaves County and indicated discovery from the Devonian, topped the Ellenburger at 7,540 feet and is drilling in that formation below 7,808 feet.

No elevation has been reported for the prospector.

A drillstem test of the Ellenburger at 7,538-84 feet failed to develop any signs of oil, gas or water. The recovery was 60 feet of drilling mud with no shows. Bottomhole flowing pressure was 25 pounds. It was 2,285 pounds after being shut in for 15 minutes.

The No. 1-B O'Brien indicated as a discovery in the Devonian on a drillstem test at 7,239-49 feet.

It flowed 121.05 barrels of 52.4-gravity oil in two and three-quarter hours through a five-eighths inch by one inch choke.

Location of the exploration is at the center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 1-9s-28e.

To Complete
Magnolia's No. 1 O'Brien, one-location south outpost to the No. 1 Lightcap, discovery of the Lightcap field in East Chaves County, is at plugged back total depth of 8,077 feet in the Devonian preparing to complete as a producer through perforations at 8,005-8,028 feet.

The prospector was assured as a producer on a drillstem test at 7,930-40 feet. Recovery on the test was 180 feet of distillate and 369 feet of gas and distillate-cut drilling mud.

Location of the No. 1 O'Brien is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 7-8s-30e.

To Acidize
DeKalb and Vincent & Welch No. 1 J. P. White, 30 miles east and slightly north of Roswell and 15 miles northeast of the Chisum field, tested on perforations at 7,410-40 feet in the Pennsylvania and made a small amount of gas and a little distillate.

Operator is now preparing to treat with 2,000 gallons of acid and test further.

If the acid fails to develop commercial production from that zone, the exploration will be plugged back to about 7,200 feet and tested through perforations in casing opposite a higher section of the Pennsylvania where good shows of gas and distillate production were developed on drillstem test.

Location of the No. 1 White is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 7-10s-29e.

Drilling Lime
Amerada Petroleum Corporation has found the fourth distinct pay in its No. 2 Caudie, one and one-half miles northwest of the Bagley-Highower-Pennsylvanian pool of Northwest Lea County.

Operator ran a drillstem test at 9,328-9,290 feet with tool open four hours and 40 minutes. Gas surfaced in four minutes at the rate of 1,310, 400 cubic feet per day, and mud surfaced in 30 minutes. Oil followed in ten minutes and flowed 61.96 barrels in four hours.

Drilling Lime
The outpost previously had indicated for production on drillstem tests in the Pennsylvania at 8,565-

New Permian Basin Maps Distributed By Midland C. Of C.

The Midland Chamber of Commerce has started distributing its revised, 1961 map showing the oil fields of the vast Permian Basin Empire of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

The scores of oil fields are indicated in red, with county and field names in black. Completely up-to-date, the 8 1/2-by-11-inch map shows the area's new discoveries of 1959. It is a far cry from the first Permian Basin map issued by the Midland Chamber almost 29 years ago, when the area boasted only a few fields. Each year the map has been revised and new fields added. The 1961 map was prepared by the Midland Aerial Surveys, Inc., of Midland. The area shown on the map is said to be larger than the New England states.

Tens of thousands of copies of the popular map have been distributed throughout the United States and in several foreign countries during the last several years. A huge circle on the map indicates a 100-mile radius from Midland. Most of the Permian Basin fields are located within the circle.

Copies of the map may be obtained free of charge, upon request from the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Topical Committee Of API To Meet In Odessa Wednesday

The topical committee on drilling practice of the Central-West Texas Section of the American Petroleum Institute will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Gulf Building in Odessa. Weight indicators for drilling rigs will be discussed by E. L. Decker, president of Martin-Decker Corporation and J. W. Kialing, development engineer of the Cameron Iron Works.

"This is one of the most important meetings of the year and will be of particular interest to all contractors, major oil companies and their superintendents, toolpushers and drillers," W. H. (Buck) Greenstreet, secretary of the organization, said.

The reduction of drilling costs by a greater operating knowledge of the instruments and a consequent reduction of repair bills will also be discussed.

Anyone interested in this subject is invited to attend the meeting.

Chisum, Lightcap Land Up For Sale

Land in the Chisum field and Lightcap field areas of Chaves County will be put up for sale by the Commissioner of Public Lands for New Mexico in his Santa Fe office at 10 a. m. December 11.

A total of 720 acres will be for sale in a sealed bid auction in the Lightcap area and 1,360 acres will be open to bidding in the Chisum vicinity.

Acreage in 30 tracts will be included in the sale.

An oral auction will be held on land in one tract.

extension to the Fowler pool of Southeast Lea County.

The drillstem test was run from 9,985 to 10,032 feet, with tool open two hours and 35 minutes. There was gas at the surface in seven minutes and mud in 22 with the two-hour oil flow following.

Gas-oil ratio was 904-1. Operator was preparing to core ahead.

Location is at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 22-24s-37e.

Pennsylvanian Wildcat Set For Drilling In W-C Borden

Lewis T. Lohman and Sidney Gardner of Dallas No. 1 W. D. Johnson, is to be drilled as an 8,500-foot wildcat to explore the Pennsylvanian reef lime of West-Central Borden County.

The prospector is to be spudded immediately 660 feet from north and west lines of section 34, block 22, T&P survey, T-9-N. That puts location two and one-half miles north and one-half mile east of Don Ameche No. 1 W. Johnson, a deep dry hole, and nine miles west and one mile south of Gall.

It is on a deal worked up by Edwin F. Alstrin of Midland who secured a farmout from Stanolind on six 80-acre tracts. He turned those leases to Lohman and Gardner to drill and retained an over-ride.

Alstrin also secured dry hole contributions, for the drilling of the well, from Don Ameche, Plymouth Oil Company and Sinclair Oil & Gas Company, all of which have large spreads of leases in the adjacent Permian Basin.

The Ameche No. 1 Johnson drilled to a total depth of 9,734 feet in the Ellenburger. That zone made sally sulphur water with no shows of oil or gas. It plugged back and tested the Pennsylvanian lime above 8,420 feet.

It tested all the way back up to 8,240 feet. Some oil was developed but not enough for a producer and the wildcat was finally plugged and abandoned in October of this year.

Completion Attempt Due Midland Wildcat

Magnolia Petroleum Company is preparing to perforate five and one-half inch casing at 10,440-485 feet in the Pennsylvanian, and test and complete its No. 1 H. F. Timmerman as a discovery in Central-West Midland County 1 1/2 miles south and slightly west of the City of Midland.

The project had flowed 41.4 barrels of 43.5-gravity oil, naturally, in one and one-half hours, during a drillstem test on the Pennsylvanian lime from 10,455 feet to 10,535 feet.

The tool for that test was 14 minutes for two hours and 14 minutes. Gas surfaced in four minutes, mud in 25 minutes and oil started flowing out at the top in 30 minutes.

The oil was flowed to pits for 14 minutes and it was then turned to tanks for the one and one-half-hour flow of 41.4 barrels of clean oil. Gas-oil ratio was 1,894-1.

This wildcat is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block 40, T&P survey, T-3-S. It is two and one-quarter miles southeast of the discovery well of the Parks-Ellenburger field.

Ellenburger Bottom
Magnolia No. 1 Timmerman bottomed at 13,036 feet in a mixture of Ellenburger and Joins dolomites. It took a drill stem test at 12,993-13,030 feet.

The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 2,130 feet of salt water and 260 feet of drilling mud. There were no shows of oil or gas in that section.

The first Ellenburger dolomite in this prospector was found at 12,917 feet. However that was only a thin streak and the section went back to Joins and it continued that way to the total depth.

No appreciable shows of oil or gas were found in the wildcat in any of the mixed up bottom section. Some geologists think there is a possibility that the project is on a fault line.

A string of 5 1/2-inch casing has been cemented at 12,500 feet. This is the plugged back depth. That is in the Montoya section.

Offset In Terry Reports Reef Top

Union Oil Company of California No. 2 Christova Stitt, one-location west offset to the same operator's No. 1 Stitt, which is a producer in the Brownfield, South-Canyon field of South-Central Terry County, is drilling in lime below 10,027 feet, elevation 3,263 feet. That gives it a datum of minus 6,657 feet.

Union No. 1 Stitt found the top of the reef at minus 6,644 feet and is the highest well on top of the reef in the Brownfield, South-Canyon field.

The No. 2 Stitt is the third well to reach that formation in the recently opened pool.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Cot reached the top of the reef at minus 6,731 feet. It was drilled into water, but it has enough pay above the water to make a well.

The No. 1 Cot is 83 feet low on the top of the reef to Union No. 1 Cotten, the discovery well of the field.

The No. 2 Stitt is located 1,990 feet from south and east lines of section 31, block T, D&W survey.

Discovery Finaled In SW Kent Area

General American Oil Company No. 1 R. L. Spires, one and one-half miles northwest of the Spire-Strawn field in Southwest Kent County, has been completed as a producer and a discovery from the Strawn of the Pennsylvanian.

The new well was potentialized for 149.28 barrels of oil and 50 per cent water on a 24-hour pumping test from perforations at 6,880-6,903 feet. Gravity of the oil 36.7 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 540-1.

The No. 1 Spires is bottomed at 1,227 feet.

Location is at the center of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 10, block 4, E&GN survey.

Flanker Scheduled In C-W Ector Area

Texaco Fuel Producing Company has filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas asking permission to drill its No. 2 Woodard and others as a 1,370-foot east offset to its No. 1 Woodard in Central-West Ector County.

The No. 1 Woodard is being tested in an attempt to complete as a discovery from the Tubb sand of the lower Permian.

It had shown for a possible new field opener on the section at 6,095-6,351 feet in the Tubb.

Location of the offset is to be 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 9, block 45, T-2-S, T&P survey. That will make it seven miles south of Notres.

Producer Added To Tex-Harvey

Frank & George Frankel has reported completion for their No. 2-C Floyd, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 11, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey and on the north side of the Tex-Harvey field in Central-East Midland County.

The new producer was potentialized for 198.28 barrels of 36.8-gravity oil daily, plus eight-tenths of one per cent water.

Production is coming from open hole, which was shot with 638 quarts of nitro glycerin, at 7,032-7,288 feet.

The production on the completion test was gauged through a 28/64-inch choke.

Completion Try Is Due In Tex-Harvey

Frank and George Frankel No. 1 Williams, Central-North Schleicher County wildcat, 12 miles southeast of Mertzon and four miles south of the Tankersley-Strawn field, has set five and one-half-inch casing at 5,605 feet.

Operator will perforate from 5,520 to 5,540 feet and attempt to complete the No. 1 Williams as a producer and discovery from the Wolfcamp.

On a drillstem test when that formation was drilled through, oil flowed at the estimated rate of 20 barrels of oil per hour.

The tester was open for 30 minutes. Gas came to the surface in four minutes, and oil followed in 22 minutes.

Recovery was 960 feet of clean oil. Gas oil ratio was 1,300-1. The gravity of the oil was not reported.

The exploration also had shows of a discovery in the Clear Fork in the 4,000-foot zone.

Exact location of the possible discovery is 660 feet from south and 810 feet from west lines of section 26, HE&WT survey.

The project is bottomed at 7,341 feet in Ellenburger dolomite. That formation made sulphur water with no shows of oil or gas.

Extension In Ector Reports Completion

J. K. Dobbs of Memphis, Tennessee, has completed his No. 2 E. F. Cowden, as a west extension to the Donnelly-San Andres field in Central Ector County.

The well pumped 24 hours to make an initial production of 132 barrels of 35-gravity oil. Gas-oil ratio was 200-1. No water was present.

Top of pay is 4,050 feet and total depth is 4,300 feet. Five and one-half inch casing is cemented at 4,000 feet. Pay section was treated with 630 quarts of nitro glycerin.

Location of the new producer is 330 feet from north and 2,349.2 feet from east lines of section 6, block 43, T-2-S, T&P survey and eight miles south of Goldsmith.

It is one location east of Dobbs No. 1 E. F. Cowden, Grayburg discovery one and three-quarter miles southeast of the Donnelly multipay field.

Snowden To Spud NE Midland Test

James H. Snowden of Fort Worth and associates have moved in rotary and are preparing to spud No. 1 C. A. McClintic, 8,500-foot wildcat in Northeast Midland County to try to develop production from the Spraberry sand.

It is located 990 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 56, block 37, T-2-S, T&P survey. It is on a farmout from Gulf Oil Corporation.

The drillsite is four and one-half miles northeast of the Tex-Harvey field and two and one-half miles southwest of the Germania field. The prospector is 11 miles east and slightly south of the City of Midland.

Parks-Ellenburger field, is coring below 13,111 feet in the Ellenburger after taking a drillstem test at 13,055-13,111 feet.

Tool was open 45 minutes. Recovery was 90 feet of mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

This prospector, located 660 feet from south and 898.6 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 7, Matt Daugherty survey, SF 4169, showed for flowing oil and some salt water in the top of the Ellenburger at 12,902-957 feet.

This venture has shown as a producer from the Wolfcamp lime of the Permian and also from the Pennsylvanian lime.

It will be completed from the Ellenburger or one or more of the upper pays in a short time. The development is 11 miles south and west of the City of Midland.

Tex-Harvey Outpost Drilling Spraberry

Ted Weiner at No. 1-4 O'Daniel, one mile from production on the northeast side of the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland County, is drilling in Spraberry sand below 7,160 feet.

The formation was topped at 7,060 feet, elevation 2,640 feet, making it 16 feet high to the top of the Spraberry in El Tee No. 1-11 Floyd, the nearest completed oil well on the northeast side of the Tex-Harvey field.

The No. 1-4 O'Daniel is 664.6 feet from south and 664.7 feet from west lines of section 4, block 37, SI Wright survey.

SW Nolan Wildcat Is Taking Surveys

Sun Oil Company and Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 Eunice Parramore, Southwest Nolan County wildcat, six miles southwest of Maryneal and 660 feet from south and 560 feet from west lines of section 55, block 1-A, H&TC survey, is bottomed at 7,391 feet in dolomite and is running Schlumberger surveys.

Operator cored from 7,380 feet to 7,391 feet and recovered eight and one-half feet of vuggy dolomite with shale fillings and a strong oil odor. There was good to excellent fluorescence.

On a drillstem test at 7,377-7,391 feet, recovery was 90 feet of oil cut mud and 990 feet of salt water with chloride content 75,000 parts per million.

Tool was open one and one-half hours on the test and gas came to the surface in 35 minutes.

This project has already shown free oil on two drillstem tests in the Caddo lime of the Pennsylvanian.

Glasscock Explorer Is Waiting On Orders

R. R. Herrell No. 1 Cook, wildcat in Central Glasscock County, is circulating waiting on orders after running electric surveys at total depth of 10,962 feet.

The prospector developed 8,782 feet of salty-sulphur water on a drillstem test in Ellenburger dolomite at 10,775-10,962 feet.

Operator might plug back and test the Spraberry sand where some shows of oil and gas were found on drillstem tests.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 5, block 34, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Stanolind Spots Scurry Venture

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company will begin operations immediately on its No. 1 H. A. Hegi, new exploration in the Kelley-Snyder pool of Scurry County.

It is located 467 feet from south and east lines of northeast quarter of section 299, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it three miles south of Dermott.

Tex-Harvey Pipeline Outlet Operating In C-E Midland

A pipeline outlet for the Tex-Harvey oil field of Central-East Midland County is now in operation. The new line was built and is being operated by the Tex-Harvey Pipe Line Company of Midland. It is a joint operation of Ashland Oil & Refining Company of Ashland, Ky., and the Tex-Harvey Oil Company of Midland.

Sam F. Weir, who recently moved to this city from Oklahoma City is superintendent of the pipe line company. He maintains offices for the concern at 407-A North Big Spring Street.

The line runs from a collecting station in the Tex-Harvey oil field to the Basin Pipe Line System Tank Terminal in East Midland. The discharge line is 15 miles long and consists of 14 miles of six-inch pipe and one mile of eight-inch pipe.

Capacity of the carrier, with present pumping equipment is 12,000 barrels of oil per day. That capacity could be increased to 18,000 barrels daily by the addition of more pumping units. Present production in the field is approximately 2,500 barrels each 24 hours.

The line is now tied in to 27 completed oil wells in the Tex-Harvey field through nine miles of six and four inch gathering lines. Two more miles of gathering lines are now being laid in the area to connect with more wells.

The oil is collected in the field in three 10,000 barrel tanks and then run through the discharge line to the Basin terminal from which it goes into that concern's big trunk line to the Midwest.

The Tex-Harvey field oil is being bought by Ashland Oil & Refining Company and is moved through the Basin system, and connecting lines to Ashland's refineries in the Midwest.

Ashland O&R Opens Offices In Midland

Ashland Oil & Refining Company, with home offices in Ashland, Ky., has established a Permian Basin district office at 407-A North Big Spring Street in Midland.

Sam F. Weir is in charge of the office. Joe B. Anderson is production man for the concern in this area.

Ashland is now testing its No. 1 Lindsey, Southwest Martin County wildcat in the Spraberry sand trying to complete it as an oil well.

The concern is also drilling on No. 1 Sherrard, a wildcat in Northwest Upton County.

Other activities are planned for the company for this territory for the near future.

The failure is located 660 feet from south and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 7, block C-37, psi survey and 20 miles south of Seagraves.

DST In Martin Test Develops Gas Show

Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 1 Dickenson, Central-South Martin County wildcat, nine miles west of Stanton and 12 miles northeast of Midland, recovered 2,610 feet of very slightly gas-cut mud on a drillstem test in the Spraberry.

The test was taken for two hours over the interval from 7,448-7,510 feet. A very good blow of air was to the surface for the first 30 minutes of the test and gradually weakened to a fair blow.

The testing tool was partially plugged during the entire test. Flowing pressure was 430 to 1,720 pounds and 15-minute shutin pressure was 3,160 pounds.

Operator is now drilling below 7,510 feet.

The Spraberry was topped at 7,445 feet. Datum is minus 4,966 feet on that marker.

NW Lamb Explorer Plugged, Abandoned

National Associated Petroleum Company has plugged and abandoned its No. 2 Halsell, wildcat failure in Northwest Lamb County.

The prospector was drilled to a total depth of 7,217 feet in a Pennsylvanian formation without finding any signs of possible production.

Location of the abandoned hole is 1,300 feet from north and 755 feet from east lines of labor 2, league 239, Cottle County school land survey.

It was drilled three miles southeast of Earth.

Washington Oil— All-Out War Would Bring Rigid Government Controls For Petroleum Industry

WASHINGTON—If this is all-out war, and only more time will tell, the full resources of the American petroleum industry at home and abroad will go to battle. This means rigid government controls.

Major controls which could be expected, if this is all-out war, are these:

1. Rationing of gasoline and heating oil and other products, and of natural gas.
2. Price controls over crude and products, as well as over materials bought by the petroleum industry. The law says the base date for price controls is the May-June period, but changes in this are possible.
3. Wage controls to be invoked, probably, at any time price control is ordered. This would cover workers in the fields, refineries, and distribution plants. The same base date is used.
4. Government efforts to direct maximum production from domestic oil wells to meet the needs of fueling a war, now 6,000 miles from American shores.

How Soon Controls? Less dramatic, but equally important, would be controls over virtually all materials used by the petroleum industry, issuance of priority orders for virtually every production engaged in, including the drilling of oil wells.

If this is all-out war, the question crops up of how soon controls? Government officials refuse to estimate how soon a rationing program would come, if we engage in full scale war at once. But this correspondent guesses six months from now might be about the time. This, probably, is the earliest date that might need rationing of products to fuel an ever-growing military force of tanks, aircraft, ships.

If this is not all-out war, perhaps rationing will not be needed at all. It had not been foreseen a week ago, before the full scale entry of the Chinese Communist forces into the Korean fighting.

In the last war, rationing saved about 10 per cent of petroleum products for use by the military; in any new war, according to government planners, the saving might be 20 per cent of products now used by civilians.

Price control could come sooner than six months, if this is war. Price Control Boss

Bradford Announces Sale Of 49 Crane Oilers To Samedan

Sale of 49 producing oil wells in the Sand Hills field of West-Central Crane County for a cash consideration in excess of $5,000,000 was officially announced in Midland Saturday.

The properties were sold by A. A. (Jack) Bradford of Midland to Samedan Oil Corporation of Ardmore, Okla. The sale was effective as of 7 p.m., November 30, and the new owner has already taken over operation of the properties.

The wells are located on 1,500 acres of leases in the Tubb ranch. There are three producers in section 5, six in section 8, 26 in section 17 and 14 in section 20, all in block 32, psi survey.

Drilling Slated There are several proven undrilled locations on the leases and it is understood that Samedan plans to drill all of those locations in the near future.

The McKnight line is the pay section in 16 of the wells involved in the deal and the Tubb sand is the producing formation in the other 33 wells.

In working out the transaction, C. H. Davis and H. S. Hood, Midland brokers, represented Bradford and W. D. Anderson & Sons, also of Midland represented Samedan.

The Anderson organization, consulting geologists and independent oil operators, has been connected with Samedan in other oil industry activities in the Permian Basin and the concern will be associated with Samedan in the development and operation of the Crane County properties.

Bradford retains ownership of considerable undeveloped oil property in Crane County and the Bradford Oil Corporation of Midland, which is owned by Bradford and his family has widespread interests in the oil business in several other Permian Basin Counties.

To Open Offices Headquarter offices for operations of Bradford, individually, and of Bradford Oil Corporation are located in the McKnight Building in Midland.

Opening of that office will be delayed until the completion of the new office building now being erected on North Big Spring Street by Jack B. Wilkinson. Samedan has leased office space in the building.

That structure is slated to be finished around the middle of 1961. Samedan already has extensive producing properties in West Texas and in Southeast New Mexico. The concern has field offices at Big Spring and Hobbs, N. M.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—

Congress To Get Many Oil Industry Problems In Next Year's Session

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON —(P)— Numerous oil industry problems can be expected to be placed before Congress next year.

Current trends indicate only the outbreak of another world war can prevent renewal of fights for state ownership of the Tidelands and a curb on foreign oil imports.

The government also is expected to renew its request for a reduction to 15 per cent in the present 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance given oil and gas operators on their income taxes.

Results of the November 7 general election caused increased optimism among advocates of state control of the Tidelands despite recent defeat before the Supreme Court. Several strong Senate advocates of federal ownership were defeated and several new senators have supported state ownership in the past.

A 1950 congressional battle over foreign oil came to an abrupt end with the start of fighting in Korea. Imports opponents effected a truce once domestic production began to climb.

United States output reached an all-time record high in September but slipped slightly the next two months.

Renewal Talk Starts Talk of renewal of the fight for an imports curb began when more severe December cutbacks were ordered by the state oil and gas officials.

A 230,000 barrels per day slash became effective Friday in Texas. J. Ed Warren, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America last week said there is indication imports next year will exceed 1,000,000 barrels a day.

Should recent domestic production cutbacks continue into 1961, termination of the truce in the imports squabble would be inevitable.

There were Texas and Louisiana Tidelands development this week. The Louisiana State Land Office reported "the first blow" resulting from recent Supreme Court recognition of the federal government's paramount rights to the Tidelands.

Lease Money Paid Continental Oil Company advised the office it had paid $279,000 to the federal government on leases held by Continental, Atlantic Refining Company, Cities Service Oil Company and Tide Water Associated Oil Company.

Texas Governor Allan Shivers told the Southern Governors Conference the outlook for state ownership legislation will be better under the 1961 Congress than under the 81st session.

Bascom Giles, Texas land commissioner, left for Washington during the week to confer with congressmen on Tidelands matters. He said Congress must act on state ownership "at once."

Giles' office will offer 410,000 acres of state owned land along the Gulf Coast for oil lease sale Tuesday.

Included will be 362,000 acres in inland bays and 2,200 acres in river beds.

Giles said some 25 companies have shown interest in the Tuesday sale.

Underdog Navy Upsets Army 14-2

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— An underdog Navy team which had tasted the football dregs all season rose to majestic heights Saturday to crush Army's glamorous forces 14 to 2 in one of the greatest upsets ever registered in the 51 meetings between the two service rivals.

A thundering crowd of 103,000, including President Truman, shook Municipal Stadium with its roars as the fired-up Middies, winners of only two previous games this year, took command from the start of the contest, scored twice in the second period and throttled every effort by the nation's No. 2 team to get back in the ball game.

The stunning defeat, largely engineered by Navy's 209-pound quarterback, Bob Zastrow, who scored one touchdown and passed for a second, snapped a streak which had seen the Cadets batter their way through 28 straight games without defeat. They were three touchdown favorites at the kickoff.

The last team to defeat the Black Knights was Notre Dame, in 1947. They were tied by Penn 7-7 the same year and also defeated by another fighting Navy eleven 21-21 in 1948. This victory Saturday was a tremendous personal triumph for youthful Eddie Erdelatz, who took over as Navy's head coach only this season.

Morgan Resigns At Tech

LUBBOCK —(P)— John O'Dell Morgan, head football coach at Texas Tech the last 10 years, resigned Saturday.

He told of his resignation in a letter to Gordon Thompson, manager of KPVO, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal radio station. The letter was read on the air about three minutes before the end of the Tech-Hardin-Simmons football game in Abilene, Tech lost 28-13.

There was no comment on the resignation by any college official. Athletic Director Morley Jennings was with the college football team in Abilene and could not be reached for comment. Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, was reported "out of town."

In the letter to Thompson, Morgan said his resignation would become effective Aug. 31, 1951.

Disastrous Season

The Tech Red Raiders had one of their most disastrous seasons this year, losing eight games and winning three. During Morgan's reign Tech won 55 games, lost 49 and tied three. His teams won the Border Conference title five times and played in three bowl games, losing all three.

There was no immediate speculation as to his successor.

The letter of resignation apparently was written a few hours before the Tech-HSU game.

Morgan, who became head coach in 1941, served as assistant coach from 1930 through 1934. He then moved to Auburn as assistant coach and stayed until 1940. From there he went to Rice as assistant coach for one year.

His resignation came as a surprise in its timing. The Tech board of directors met in Amarillo Friday and no hint of Morgan's resignation was given following the session.

Tennessee Crushes Vanderbilt 43 To 0

NASHVILLE, TENN. —(AP)— The Tennessee Volunteers made their game with Vanderbilt just a whistle stop on the road to the Cotton Bowl Saturday with a 43-0 football victory over their ancient rivals.

Tennessee, ranked fourth in the final Associated Press poll, drove to a 10-0 lead in the first half, then scored almost at will in the final periods. A crowd of 28,000 watched Tennessee administer Vanderbilt the worst thrashing it had suffered since 1945.

It was the tenth victory in 11 starts for Tennessee and the loss was Vanderbilt's fourth in 11. But Tennessee was the first team to hold coach Bill Edwards' T-formation scoreless.

Several scouts from Texas, the Vols' Cotton Bowl opponent, got an eyeful as they watched Gen. Bob Neyland's power-studded single wing eleven score two touchdowns through the air, four on the ground and add a field goal for good measure.

Vanderbilt managed to make a game of it in the first half but faded badly in the fourth period when Tennessee racked up 20 points.

Scribes Select Four Bulldogs

Tackles Bob Wood and Stan Coker, End Duane Bush and Halfback Ralph Brooks made The Reporter-Telegram's 3-AA All-District Eleven for 1950. The poll was taken from sports scribes in all 3-AA cities. The official all-district eleven will be announced next week.

On The Reporter-Telegram's team, with a basis of five points for a first team vote and three points for a second team vote, three boys were placed first by all the scribes. Elmer Zeek, Lamesa guard; Mack Taylor, Lubbock back and Bobby Jackson, Odessa back, received 25 points each to place in this category.

Sports writers taking part in the poll were Earl Scudday of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, Marvin Veal of The Lamesa Reporter, Spec Gammon of The Odessa American, Tommy Hart of The Big Spring Herald and Larry King of The Midland Reporter-Telegram.

TCU Comes From Behind To Bingo Mustangs 27-13

DALLAS —(P)— Talented Gilbert Bartosh, a piano-legged sophomore who runs like a tank and passes like he was shooting a rifle, carried Texas Christian to a 27-13 victory over disheartened Southern Methodist Saturday in the season finale for both teams.

The irrefragable Bartosh passed for one touchdown, ran for another and engineered a lusty drive for a third, meanwhile being the leading ground-gainer of the day.

The fourth Horned Frog score came when smashing Bill Moorman, line star of the afternoon, picked up a blocked kick and sprinted 25 yards for a touchdown. It was a sorry finish for the Methodists, who five weeks ago were rated No. 1 in the nation. Since then they have lost four games.

Southern Methodist got the consolation only of setting a new national record for pass completions. The Mustangs connected on eight Saturday to make their season total 157, seven more than Washington, which eclipsed the record only this season.

A crowd of 55,000 was in the Cotton Bowl to see the Methodists, led by Kyle Rote, who closed his college career with a fine game, take a 13-0 lead in the first period, then be outplayed thoroughly the rest of the way.

Frogs Get Busy

Rote ground out 58 yards in a 65-yard drive for the first SMU touchdown. He made it on a smash from the three-yard line. Then SMU put on a 64-yard surge for another score, with Rote passing to Johnny Champion on a 39-yard gainer for the touchdown. Bill Sullivan kicked the extra point.

After that the Horned Frogs got down to business.

Their first touchdown was on a 78-yard drive, with Bartosh scoring on a run from the Methodist 13. Homer Ludiker converted. Next came the blocked punt for the second TCU score. Herb Zimmerman did the blocking and Moorman the picking up. Ludiker missed the conversion try and the half ended 13-13.

The third Frog touchdown was on a 44-yard push with Bobby Jack Floyd crunching over from the SMU seven and Ludiker converting.

The final came when Keith Flowers intercepted a Rote pass on the SMU 28. Floyd picked up a yard, then Bartosh passed to John Medanich across the goal line. Ludiker kicked the extra point.

TCU romped to 164 yards on the ground and 125 passing. SMU made 74 on the ground and 98 in the air.

King's Row

By LARRY KING

Whatever it was that kept Lamesa in the race for the 3-AA title disappeared the second half at Odessa Friday, and as a result the Bronchos slapped down the Golden Tornadoes 33 to 7.

We were amazed that the Lamesa eleven ever reached the final game with a crack at the title. We saw Coach Bob Harrell's boys in action twice and they never were too impressive.

True, they laced Big Spring 33-7. And that night they looked like a pretty fair ball club. But against Midland all they had was a lot of luck and a scrapping bunch of kids. We say, and really believe it, that had Midland not been crippled the Lamesa eleven would have been stomped by the Bulldogs by some 20 points.

Some luck, a fair amount of speed, a good passing combination in Millsaps to Crawford, and a fighting bunch of kids—that combination brought the Lamesa eleven a fine season. We think it is remarkable the Lamesa eleven accomplished what it did—hats off to Coach Bob Harrell and his eleven.

—KR—
And still the Buuffs of Coach Leo Fields roll. Stanton gave a fine performance against the Meadow Bronchos in Brownfield Friday night. The red and white Buff eleven looked better by far than it did when we caught the Stanton-Monahans 'B' game.

Although the "Double Trouble" twins, Gearl and Earl Koonce, turned in fine ball games, they were forced to take a back seat to two other Stanton backs Friday night. We speak of Quarterback Kenneth Henson and Fullback LeRoy (Red) Gibson.

Henson came off the bench to spark Stanton after the attack had stalled without him in the first quarter. He was supposed to be sidelined with a fractured ankle but not one hobble did we see. He completed five of six passes—Gearl Koonce completed the other Buff pass.

Gibson scored two touchdowns on runs of 57 and 24 yards and made a 33-yard scamper to the two-yard line to give Stanton a chance to score its last TD.

—KR—
Deibert Downing, Chamber of Commerce manager, and Frank Monroe, superintendent of the Midland public schools, contacted Stanton officials Friday and offered the use of Midland's Memorial Stadium for the Stanton-Rochester Regional battle.

Stanton officials were all for it, but again they lost the flip of the coin. Rochester decided to play the game in Abilene. The game will be played at 2:30 p.m. Friday, December 8, in Bear Park Stadium there.

We would like to have seen the game played in Midland. We believe it would have drawn a fine crowd from Midland, Stanton and the surrounding territory.

But Abilene has the game. Rochester won its bi-district clash from Clyde last week, 20 to 13. Rochester has lost only one game in eleven starts—and it was the same Clyde team that Rochester defeated last week. Clyde edged the Steers 13-6 early in the year in a non-conference clash.

—KR—
Reports from Sweetwater (via sport scribe Bud Worsham's column) say Ernie Nelson is one of the applicants for the managerial slot with the Swatter baseball team for next season.

Nelson, the veteran Longhorn League hurler formerly with Midland, denies the report. "I'm through," Ernie says. "No more baseball for me."

We have stated several times that we think Nelson will return to the diamond sport—and we tell Ernie he should know better than anyone.

—KR—
DOTS AND DASHES—Latest reports from Hardin-Summons credit former Bulldog Dunny Grooms with being the leading receiver of John (Model T) Ford's tosses. . . . Goode has snagged 24 passes for a total of 456 yards. He also has returned nine punts a distance of 138 yards to lead the Cowboys in that department. . . . Votes are being tabbed by sports writers of 3-AA for the all-district team. . . . The coaches will be polled at a later date. . . . From the combination of coaches-sport scribes votes will come the official all-district team. . . . We are trying to compile a coaches all-district from 5-A. . . . But the coaches are slow in answering. . . . Only Seminole Coach Morris Southall and McCamey Coach Elmo McCook have sent in their selections thus far. . . . Norman Koonce, smaller brother of the twin Koonces, Earl and Gearl, is on the Stanton reserve squad. . . . So the Koonces will ride again on the West Texas gridirons. . . . Basketball season opens here Tuesday night in the Midland gym. . . . Midland meets Crane with the 'B' tilt starting at 6:30 p.m. . . . Varsity set-to follow. . . . The End of the Row!

Stanton Bounces Meadow By 34-6

By LARRY KING

CUB STADIUM, BROWNFIELD—Like the cold blue norther that swept into Cub Stadium, the Stanton Buffaloes struck like lightning for three quick touchdowns in the second quarter and rolled to an easy 34-6 triumph over the game but outclassed Meadow Bronchos in a bi-district encounter here Friday night.

Price New Head Coach At Texas U

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Southwest Conference had its fourth new head football coach within a year Saturday. This time it was the toughest spot of all—the University of Texas.

Quiet, slow-talking Ed Price, builder of tremendous lines, stepped up to succeed Blair Cherry, head coach for four years who is retiring January 1 to the less nerve-racking oil business.

Even as Price was named head man of the Longhorns, Cherry was in a hospital suffering from ulcers.

Price told a reporter who warned him he might have ulcers too: "You can get ulcers in any business."

The new head coach takes over January 1 on a three-year contract at $12,000 per year. That's the day Cherry officially steps out—after he has sent his team against Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl.

Three Years, Not Two
Reports from Austin Friday had placed the term of Price's contract at two years. The Board of Regents of the university Saturday said the contract runs from Jan. 1, 1951, through Dec. 31, 1953.

It is the first coaching change of the Winter. Last Winter Bob Woodruff left Baylor for more money at Florida and was succeeded by George Sauer of Navy; John Barnhill retired as coach at Arkansas to continue as athletic director, with Otis Douglas of the pros coming in as head coach, and Matty Bell retired at Southern Methodist, also to be athletic director, with H. N. Russell taking over.

Price was an all-around athlete in high school and college. He lettered in all four major sports in high school at Corsicana, where he was an all-state football player. He was a letterman on championship teams in three sports at Texas. He coached at Hillsboro and El Paso before coming back to Texas in 1936.

Rankin Red Devils Rip Marathon 45-18

MCCAMEY—Rankin's Red Devils ripped past the Marathon Mustangs here Friday night by a score of 45 to 18 to sack up the Region II championship in six-man football.

Halfback Billy Zachary twisted for 45 yards and a touchdown early in the game and the Red Devils never were headed. Norman Yocham, fleet-footed fullback of the Red Devils, tallied twice in the first half and Bruce McClain romped 34 yards for another tally as Rankin coasted into the halftime intermission with a 26-8 lead.

Yocham, Zachary and Bill Eckols scored the final three TD's for the Red Devils in the last half.

George Vroyles, Bob Causey and Jimmy Hampton scored the Mustang tallies. Hampton turned in a fine job of quarterbacking for the Mustangs and completed seven of nine passes. But the Red Devils defense was tough to crack near the goal line and the Rankin eleven received the highest honors that can go to a six-man team.

'Bama Ends Season With 34-0 Victory

BIRMINGHAM—(AP)—Sophomore Bobby Marlow led Alabama to a convincing 34 to 0 victory over Auburn here Saturday before 39,000 fans.

The win was especially sweet to 'Bama partisans, who got revenge for last year's 14-13 upset at the hands of Auburn.

Alabama got 325 yards rushing for a new Southeastern Conference record of 3,030. LSU set the old mark of 2,705 in 1945.

VIRGINIA ROUTS TARHEELS
CHARLOTTEVILLE, VA.—(AP)—Johnny Papp ran 68 yards to score on the first play of the game from scrimmage Saturday as Virginia's flashy offensive team routed North Carolina 44 to 13.

In the Buff line, Guard Lee Graves, Center James Turnell and Guard Fred Church were defensive standouts. The entire Buff eleven clicked on offense. It was a Stanton night!

ODESSA TREATED
Vernon Evans of Odessa received emergency treatment at Midland Memorial Hospital Friday night but was not admitted.

SHOOTING FOR IT—George Dempsey threatens the national collegiate scoring record. With two seasons to play, the sharpshooter of King's College, Wilmington, Del., has 1316 points. He is near-sighted, too.

Sooners Tip Fighting Ag Eleven 41-14

STILLWATER, OKLA.—(AP)—Oklahoma's Claud Arnold pitched four touchdown passes to by-pass a fighting underdog Oklahoma A&M football team 41-14 here Saturday in the forty-fifth meeting of the state rivals.

Sugar Bowl-bound Oklahoma—the nation's No. 1 team—was a six-touchdown favorite. But the Aggies put up a fighting defense that might have paid off if it hadn't been for Arnold's passing.

The victory was Oklahoma's thirty-first straight and made it the favorite against Kentucky in New Orleans New Year's Day. Kentucky's coach Paul (Bear) Bryant scouted the game as the personal guest of Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson.

Bryant saw an eye-ful of Oklahoma versatility.

The Aggies, with only a thin squad of 30 men, matched touchdowns with Oklahoma in the first quarter for a 7-7 tie before 33,000 persons.

Big Red Breaks Loose
In the second quarter the Sooners broke loose for 28 points. Arnold, doing a beautiful game at quarterback, evaded the Aggie eight-man line with a spectacular aerial barrage.

Three of Arnold's touchdown passes were caught by end Jack Lockett. End John Reddell scored on the other toss. A one-yard buck by halfback Billy Vessels and a nine-yard sprint by fullback Leon Heath took care of the remainder of the Sooners scoring.

Jim Weatherall made five out of six conversions.

The Aggie's first touchdown was scored with less than two minutes remaining in the first quarter when halfback John Grabko cut off left tackle 12 yards to end a 70-yard march. Odie Biggs made the conversion, first of two.

The other Aggie score came on a 38-yard pass from quarterback Bob Steele to end Ron Shackleton at the conclusion of a 57-yard drive in the third period.

Tulane, LSU Play To 14-14 Standoff
NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Powerful Tulane came from behind in the last two minutes Saturday to tie Louisiana State's fired-up underdogs 14-14 before an estimated 74,000 fans.

Tulane's tying marker came on a quarterback sneak by substitute Quarterback Bill Bonar, and Tommy Comeaux's conversion.

The crowd was in a frenzy during the last quarter, when LSU tied the score, tallied what they thought was the winning marker, but had to settle for a deadlock.

LSU took a 14-7 lead when Quarterback Jim Barton sneaked over from the one late in the fourth period.

Odessa Blasts Lamesa 33 To 7

ODESSA—Held to a 7-7 halftime tie by a stubborn Lamesa team, the Odessa Bronchos struck back for 26 points in the final half to subdue the Golden Tornadoes 33 to 7 here Friday.

The win gave the Bronchos the co-championship of District 3-AA with the Lubbock Westerners. However, Lubbock will represent the district in the state playoffs by virtue of its 20-7 win over Odessa.

Quarterback Jerry Millsaps fired a pass to End Ray Taylor early in the first quarter and Taylor romped to the Odessa two-yard line before Joe Childress caught him from behind. The play gained 80 yards. Three plays later, Millsaps sliced over to score. Bartlett converted to give Lamesa its 7-0 lead.

Odessa moved back to drive 29 yards in the second quarter after partially blocking a punt by Taylor. Fullback Howard Dye swept end for nine yards and the tally. Bobby Jackson converted.

In the fourth, Tyler hit Weldon Holley for a touchdown on a 12-yard pass play.

Giles ran 39 yards to the nine-yard line late in the game to give Odessa its last scoring opportunity. Sophomore Back Swain Adams plugged across from the two-yard line and Jackson converted to bring the final count to 33-7.

Odessa was a different team the second half, holding the Lamesa team without a first down. The Tornadoes finished the day with a minus 28 yards rushing.

John Ed Giles blasted over from the one-yard stripe to cap off a 69-yard scoring drive that began with the second half kickoff. Jackson converted.

SECTION TWO

Midland Secretaries

There's an old familiar saying that "The most valuable asset to any businessman is a good secretary."

The great number of secretaries employed in Midland seems to prove there is considerable truth in this old adage. Almost every business, profession, firm or organization employs one or more secretaries to attend to the concern's private or confidential correspondence, keep records and file miscellaneous data.

Pictured on this page are six secretaries affiliated with various business concerns and organizations—law firm, chamber of commerce, oil company, insurance agency, department store and public schools.

These women are representative of the hundreds and hundreds of secretaries employed in Midland. The concerns they represent and many others are dependent upon women employees to keep their offices going.

In a recent, casual survey it was found that Midland of companies alone employ an estimated 1,300 women, with the majority of them engaged in secretarial work.

Yes, business and professional women in Midland are an important part of big business and have proved their services are "indispensable to a successful businessman."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—Johnnie Caffey is secretary to Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. Like most other secretaries, she spends a large part of her day behind a typewriter.

CHECKS RECORDS—Myra McReynolds, secretary to Frank Monroe, superintendent of Midland public schools, checks the personnel records of teachers in the school system. Her duties are many and varied.

CASHIER, TOO—Dutch Sneed of the J. C. Penney Company, not only is a secretary but a cashier and bookkeeper as well. She is kept busy answering the telephone and making change for the clerks.

BONDS READY—Mrs. James F. Johnson, secretary to Mayor William B. Neely, is in the process of preparing 2,275 city bonds for signature. Mayor Neely is an attorney with the firm of Stubbeman, McRae and Sealy.

LETTER WRITING—Writing letters is a big part of a secretary's job. Cecelia Mervis, secretary to H. E. Chiles, Jr., of The Western Company, puts the finishing touches to some letters she has just finished typing.

LISTS ACCOUNTS—Emily Chapman, secretary to W. B. Harkrider of the Harkrider Insurance Agency, posts agency accounts, one of the many duties of a secretary to a businessman.

Dad Will Appreciate Family After Week Of Living Alone

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Maybe you read about the Texas husband who got lonesome for his wife and children while they were away on a visit. When they got home they found a surprise Christmas in August—presents, tree and all.

That's probably the first husband who ever showed his pleasure in that festering a fashion after getting his family back home following a long stretch of "bacheling" it. But comedians and cartoons to the contrary—most husbands get their fill of "living alone and liking it" in about three days.

In the middle of family noise and confusion and constant demands on the man of the house to do this and fix that, a man may think he'd enjoy being a carefree bachelor again. But once he has been broken in to family life—a man gets mighty lonesome in an empty house.

And the more his wife and kids seem to be enjoying themselves on their vacation—the lonesome he gets. For it's as true of men as of women that they have a real need to be happy. Let the wife and kids go gallivanting and apparently getting along quite well without Papa's help—and Papa gets mighty lonesome.

Leave Him Alone

That's why it's a good idea for Mama to pick up and take off once in a while. It gives Pop a chance to once again find out what he's like to live the life of a bachelor—not to have to get home at any certain hour, not to have anyone worrying about him, to have a nice, quiet house free of noise and confusion and the squabbles of children.

And he usually gets fed up with the peace and quiet in short order. A man's family never looks quite so good to him as when they get home from a vacation and fill up an empty house that has begun to get on his nerves.

If you drink a glass of orange or grapefruit juice every day you will be sure to get the vitamin C you need for good health. The carotenes and citrus juice if you like, because oranges and grapefruit are naturally high in vitamin C and retain most of their vitamin content during the canning process.

These are leather gifts designed to last for years. The young woman (upper right) has chosen English luggage in natural smooth hide and tartan in a light weight. She is giving other friends a three-way saddle leather (left center); a tiny travel iron (lower left) and a half inches long (lower left) packaged in sipped leather case, and a polished calf, suede-lined jewel box (lower right) for dressing table or travel.

Leather Is A Neat, Durable Gift Dear Santa—

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

Leather, in any one of many possible forms, makes a Christmas gift which is both handsome and durable. It has many endearing qualities: it's useful, it's smart, it's worth the initial investment.

Leading off the list of leather gifts this year is the lightweight and compact suitcase which combines hand-sewn natural smooth hide and the popular tartan canvas. The silk more lining adds an extra touch and helps to keep the total weight of the case down.

Traveling with this suitcase might be a feat bag of natural boarder hide and canvas tartan. It's meant for travel or street, is roomy and can either fold flat or pack an amazing capacity.

Window grain hide and tartan produce an officer's kit bag which is all utility for traveling. An inside zipper closing provides security and durability. It also makes carrying easier. Topping, handles and overstrap look are all in leather.

A fourth possibility as a leather luggage gift is the melon duffie bag in tartan canvas and natural hand-boarder hide. This bag is roomy, has a melon-shaped zipper lock closing, a canvas lining and secure leather overstrap. It is, in fact, the ideal answer to many luggage problems.

Still leather, still useful, still lasting is the hazel pigskin passport case which has a celluloid window front to permit rapid identification. This one is so-called off with pieces for landing cards, luggage checks, tickets, bills and personal cards. It has a secure snap to protect valuable papers.

A sipped leather case holds a tiny but sturdy iron, four and a half inches long, which has a foreign adapter to put it to work anywhere in the world. It's tiny enough to slip into a handbag; practical enough to press out any travel-created clothing.

A suede-lined jewel box in polished calf can stay at home on the dressing table or go traveling in safety. It's sturdy, to protect jewelry; has two winding trays for rings and earrings and a deep center compartment for heavy pieces. The lock-and-key closing and handle make it a handy traveling companion.

Nearly everyone gets or gives a wallet at Christmas for women. This year, they're in pastel suede combined with calf. Most of them come, of course, with matching comb-and-mirror cases, with cigarettes cases, with key cases.

Handsome pin seal makes one three-way billfold which has a convenient coin purse on the inside, is compact without sacrificing space, and has a separate card pocket which may be removed and carried separately, used as a slim billfold for evening, or converted to use as an extra currency compartment in the regular wallet.

Advertise or be forgotten.

Midland Schools Colorfully Decorated For Christmas

In keeping with the Christmas spirit, Midland's public schools have completed their colorful, imaginative decorations for the Yule season. High school, junior high and the four elementary schools display exterior decorations, while Terminal, Latin American and Carver restricted their decorations to interior displays.

The theme of the high school's display is the Manger Scene. Perched on the center ledge above the entrance, the Star of the East overlooks the manger depicting Mary, Joseph, the Christ Child and two large angels, all in life-size.

On the ledges of the side wings are the town of Bethlehem, the shepherds and their flocks and the Three Wise Men. The figures were cut from plywood by industrial arts students under the direction of Curtis Regan. They were painted and dressed by art students under the direction of Miss Inez Parker. Spot lights illuminate the entire scene at night.

In the center window above the main entrance at the junior high are the Virgin Mary with the Christ Child and angels, with other decorations in the side windows. Tom Tibbets and Miss Maurine Horton directed the decorating.

Carol Singers
A box of carol singers over the front entrance is the theme at North Elementary. The figures are life-size. The decorations were worked out by the art group of the North Elementary P-TA with the assistance of Miss Mary Yoe.

A large wreath with a candle in the center decorated the front bay windows at West Elementary. Gaily-lit Christmas trees appear in the center window of each room. Mrs. Lottie Chafin was in charge of decorations.

A window transparency resembling a stained glass window is the feature of South Elementary's decoration scene. The window is a Biblical scene of the manger. Misses Lucille Carroll and Druena Collins arranged the display.

Crockett Elementary placed a life-sized snowman and children in the snow on the front ledge of the building. Miss Betty Gaffall, art instructor, supervised decorations.

Ticket Sale Begins For Shaw Comedy

Tickets will go on sale Tuesday at Tailorline for "Arms and the Man," a George Bernard Shaw comedy, to be presented by the Midland Community Theater December 5-9 in the City-County Auditorium. Curtain time for the night performances will be 8:30 p.m., while a matinee performance will be given at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The play will be the third theater-in-the-round production to be presented by the Midland group, one of the others being "Pygmalion," another Shaw play. In-the-round productions differ from others in that the audience is seated on four sides of the action.

The operetta, "The Chocolate Soldier," was adapted from "Arms and the Man."

Nobel Prize Winner
Shaw, who died early in November, is the author of more than 20 plays. He received the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1925.

Entering its sixth year of activity in Midland, the Community Theater has presented at least six major productions annually plus the plays given by the Children's Theater. "Arms and the Man" will be its thirtieth production. Art Cole is the theater's director.

During its six years the group has had two presidents, Ronald DeFord and Paxton Howard. A board of governors elected annually by the membership directs the theater's business.

A non-profit organization, the theater is supported by sponsors, patrons and regular members through their purchase of memberships which are on sale now for the 1951 season in the theater office at 301 West Missouri Street. They also will be sold at the ticket sales office during a show run. The purchase price includes the privilege of enrolling children in the Children's Theater as well as admissions to all the plays.

Remember New Year's Resolution About Mailing Christmas Cards—Well, It's Time

Remember that New Year's resolution for 1950—to get your Christmas cards out on time for a change?

Now's the time to get going, counsels Postmaster N. G. Oates.

"Revise your Christmas card address list this weekend, if you haven't checked it already," the postmaster advises. "Select your Christmas cards first thing next week. Address and stamp them at once. Then stack them some place where they can't be overlooked when the time comes to pop them into the collection box."

The postmaster asks that cards be tied in bundles, with addresses all faced one way and stamps in the same corner. Then they can be run through the post office stamp cancellation machine without being sorted.

The postmaster strongly recommends three-cent stamps on your holiday greeting cards. "First-class mail receives preferred handling, transportation, and delivery—and that means a lot at the peak of the Christmas rush. The extra penny may ensure that your Christmas greetings will arrive several days, and perhaps even a week, before slower third-class mail."

In addition, cards with a three-cent stamp will be forwarded if the addressee has moved, or returned to you if the address is incorrect.

Wrong Address Warning
The postmaster points out that Christmas greetings carrying only a two-cent stamp go at third-class or advertising circular rate—and receive circular treatment. Postal regulations specify that only one attempt be made to deliver third-class mail. If the address is wrong—off troop your cheery holiday greetings to the Dead Letter Office.

If you disregard the postmaster's appeal and use two-cent stamps anyhow, the flap should be tucked

1951 BIKES SAID TO BE SAFEST YET

NEW YORK CITY—The Christmas bicycle, sure to show up under hundreds of thousands of Christmas trees this December 25, is actually the safest ever designed, according to John Auerbach, executive secretary of the Bicycle Institute of America.

The 1951 models, due to make their appearance this month, have been checked from stem to stern with safety in mind. King-sized coaster brakes cut stopping time to a new low, adding another security factor to the two-wheelers ridden by 14,000,000 American boys and girls, Auerbach said.

When sleeping, woodpeckers hang down by their claws.

Midlanders Tour Europe From Amsterdam To Zurich

By FAYE ABBOTT

Austria, Italy and Germany became more than just map names to at least two Midlanders last Summer. Mrs. Ernest Sidwell and Mrs. L. W. Sager spent three and one-half months in a tour of Europe which included, in addition to the countries mentioned, France, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and Denmark, a total of nine in all.

Leaving Midland August 4, the two sisters arrived in New York in time to do a little American sight-seeing before sailing on the "Queen Mary."

Sailed For France
"We did all the usual things," Mrs. Sidwell said, "from touring Radio City to taking the boat trip around Manhattan. Then on August 15 we sailed for France."

It was the first European trip for Mrs. Sidwell, the second for Mrs.

Sager, who had spent some time in France with the Red Cross during World War I.

After docking at Cherbourg, they took the train to Paris.

"By pooling our resources," Mrs. Sidwell said, "we found we had a working knowledge of both French and German. Language was no great difficulty, anyway. Frequently, we would discover that the person with whom we were talking spoke English beautifully."

Visited In Germany
Germany was the second stop on the tour. Here they visited Mrs. Sidwell's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Goodman at Rhein-Main, where Captain Goodman is stationed with the Air Force.

One of the highlights of their German stay was a trip to Berchtesgaden, an old Bavarian resort town close to Hitler's home.

"We were surprised," Mrs. Sidwell exclaimed, "to see that all the table linens and silverware were still marked with the swastika."

An Army bus took them from Berchtesgaden to Eagle's Nest, an establishment which had been given to Hitler on his birthday by German officials and which he had used as a tea room for entertaining visiting dignitaries.

Saw Hitler's Home
Mrs. Sidwell also commented on the ruins of Hitler's home. She described it as heavily fortified and surrounded by barracks which, during World War II, had been teeming with SS troops.

Among the Italian cities visited were Florence, Genoa and Pisa where they saw the leaning tower.

"We were actually more impressed, though," Mrs. Sidwell said, "with the cathedral and baptistry which were on the same grounds."

In Switzerland they found the smooth, rolling hillsides the most impressive part of the land.

Describes Swiss Countryside
"The close-clipped grass," Mrs. Sidwell explained, "gave the whole countryside the appearance of an immense golf course."

England was the last country visited before making the homeward trip. Their sight-seeing here included Stratford-on-Avon, Westminster Abbey, London and Buckingham Palace where they watched the changing of the guard.

Other highlights of the trip mentioned by Mrs. Sidwell were a visit to Elnore Castle in Denmark, a tour through the largest flower market in the world at Amsterdam and a brief stop in Dunkirk.

For their return trip in November, Mrs. Sidwell and Mrs. Sager boarded the liner "Caronia" in Southampton.

A Story Of Three Children, Two Dogs; Santa Started It

By COPE ROUTH

This is the story of three little children, two little dogs and Santa Claus.

Santa Claus started it all. But the people of Midland and the Midland area were handed an appeal Saturday to help find the dogs.

Two of the children are Phil and Jill, the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Richey of Monahans.

It was on Christmas two years ago that Santa Claus visited the Richey home and left for the youngsters a little screw-tailed Boston Terrier named "Troubles."

"When last seen," wrote Mrs. Richey, "Troubles was wearing a faded red harness with an Alexandria, La., tag on it. She was last seen in Monahans."

"In addition to the reward we are offering, there is another reward waiting for the finder—the brightness of the children's eyes to tell you how glad they are and their joyous laughter will ring in your ears forever."

The other child is Vivian Ruth Hines of San Angelo and granddaughter of a Midland woman.

"I am lonesome for my dog 'Eager,'" wrote Vivian Ruth to The Reporter-Telegram.

"I don't have any little brothers or sisters to play with so Eager was my playmate and I want him back. 'Won't somebody help me find my dog?'"

"Now, Eager is just a little doggy, weighing only about 12 pounds. He has pretty gray black hair and nice brown eyes. His lower front teeth protrude and he has a short, kidna sharp nose and his ears stand straight."

"He will sit up for anyone talking directly at him."

"At the time he was last seen, he wore a plain tan leather harness and smelled highly of perfume for I had just bathed him for the trip."

"You see, we were visiting with my grandmother at 507 South Main Street in Midland when he was either taken or got out of the yard. This was about seven weeks ago."

"Anyone finding Eager please take him to 110 South D Street or 507 South Main Street or call Mrs. C. C. Harless. It would make me so happy for Christmas."

The Woman's Wednesday Club will meet at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. B. F. Black, 111 North G Street. Mrs. Paxton Howard will be co-hostess.

The Junior Woman's Wednesday Club will meet at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. D. G. Roberts, 2104 West Michigan Street.

The choir of the First Baptist Church will meet at 8:15 p.m. in the church. The teachers will meet at 7 p.m. in the church.

The Play Readers Club will meet at 11 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Wilmer Stowe, 900 West Washington Street, Odessa.

The day and night groups of the Star Study Club will meet at 6 p.m. for a Christmas party and covered dish supper in the home of Mrs. Jack Anderson, 1306 West Louisiana Street. Mrs. J. C. Carlson will be co-hostess.

The Contemporary Literature Group of the American Association of University Women will meet at 9:45 a.m. in the home of Mrs. R. V. Hollingsworth, 512 West Kansas Street.

The Modern Study Club will have guest day at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Lamar Lunt, 510 Holmsley Street. Robert Stripling will conduct the program, "Christianity Versus Communism."

Commendable Restraint

A lot of people seem to be disappointed in David Clarkson. He is the 21-year-old GI, fresh from Korea, who learned he had inherited $250,000 while he was dodging North Korean bullets.

Now Clarkson didn't do anything rash. He didn't go AWOL and spend his time buying pretty baubles for pretty chorines. He didn't get himself a specially-tailored uniform with nylon fatigues. In fact, he didn't behave at all like a lot of people expect young heirs to behave.

All he did do is say, in a matter-of-fact tone, "I don't see what all the excitement's about; a lot of people come into money." While that is, of course, a slight exaggeration, it does show a commendable restraint on his part.

Undoubtedly, part of Clarkson's lack of enthusiasm—or, rather, lack of excitement—is due to his immediate past. To a GI back from Korea, $250,000 may be nice but a comfortable bed and an easy chair are far more tempting assets.

But there is more to his restraint than simply his status as a war veteran. He is a representative of a generation that doesn't even have a nodding friendship with a fortune. Today's youth grows up with the knowledge that taxes and inflation have combined to make the accumulation of large sums of money an impossible hobby to pursue.

Any red-blooded American boy of the 20's, after hearing about an inheritance like Clarkson's, would have painted the town a flaming scarlet. But today, what's the use? Even a can of red paint and a good brush are expensive.

Unused Trinket—We Hope

Let us hope that the dosimeter never is needed. Of course, it's very comforting to know that we've got dosimeters now. But just the same, all things being equal, the world will be better off if they don't become common articles of wearing apparel.

The dosimeter, in case you missed the news stories about it, is a little gimmick you hang around your neck. It's a metal case. Inside is a flat paper package of photographically sensitized film, plus a pod of developing solution.

When you run into some atomic radiation, the film turns white. The whiter it gets, the worse off you are. So when the doctors swoop down on an area that has been atom bombed (this is the theory behind the development) they just look at your dosimeter. Comparison of the whiteness of your film with a graduated scale shows whether you're worth trying to save or not.

Remember the pictures of the English during the blitz? Every man, woman and child carried his canister containing a gas mask. The Nazis didn't drop any poison gas—for fear of retaliation, of course—and the canisters remained unopened.

The dosimeter isn't a direct counterpart of the gas mask. It can't prevent injury from radiation—so far, nothing has been developed that will do that. But, if another war ever does develop, the dosimeter (or something like it) will become a very fashionable dress accessory. It will be the gas mask of the future.

And let's hope that, like the gas mask, it turns out to be unnecessary.

Colorful Ernest Bevin

Ernest Bevin, Britain's foreign secretary, has an idea that the color of a conference room has a lot to do with whether the meeting is a success or not.

He says international gatherings are more apt to flop if the walls of the meeting room are green or brown. Something too somber about these tones, he feels, and that depresses the delegates and pre-disposes them to disagree.

Now for a good cheerful color that will keep the boys smiling and give them that urge to sign on the dotted line, Ernie suggests "sunshine yellow."

We've had no report from the psychologists on this yet, but if there's anything to what Bevin says, the United Nations ought to revise its interior color schemes pronto in the new UN buildings in New York.

Question for the skeptics: "Will yellow really neutralize Red?"

When the word welcome came into use it was just something else for folks to take advantage of.

Folks who aren't letting the grass grow under their feet are most likely to be in clover.

Hardly What One Would Call A Unanimous Decision

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: MacArthur's intelligence has made several disastrous errors; Anti-Acheson clique plots his ouster; Truman talks little business but favors big business.

WASHINGTON — For a long time the Pentagon Building was almost like a giant's foot sticking out of the Washington. It wasn't done. However, some mild criticism now is being expressed privately about MacArthur's intelligence which estimated there were few Chinese units in North Korea on Thanksgiving weekend, and a few days later suddenly discovered 200,000 Chinese troops.

This was an error of disastrous and major proportions. For it was based on this intelligence that Washington authorized MacArthur to advance toward the Yalu River as quickly as possible. The man in charge of MacArthur's intelligence is Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, 58, born in Germany and whose original name was 'Tschape-Wiedemach'.

Intensely devoted to MacArthur, Willoughby long has been in charge of Mac's intelligence and is one of the hero worshippers around him who tends to tell the "supreme commander" what he wants to hear rather than the disagreeable facts. Willoughby is such a hero worshipper that he even copies the garb of his boss, brandishes a swagger stick, tucks a scarf inside his open throated shirt, and a few weeks before the Korean attack last June dismissed Korea "as not important."

"You must keep your eye on the Reds and know what they will do next," Willoughby expounded to a Washington visitor. "You can take it from me, Iran is the place to watch. An attack very soon, old boy. Buffer Zone Evaporates."

Despite this, MacArthur continued to put complete faith in Willoughby's intelligence reports, sometimes with disastrous results. For instance, it was faulty intelligence which first caused U. S. troops to get embroiled with the Chinese. About the third week in October, MacArthur reported there were few enemy troops between him and the North Korean border and asked permission to send South Koreans into this area to maintain order.

Though it had been agreed previously at Wake Island that there would be a 40-mile neutral zone between UN forces and the Manchurian border, nevertheless Washington consented to MacArthur's request. South Korean troops then were sent north and promptly were overwhelmed by an enemy which MacArthur's intelligence did not think existed.

Then MacArthur asked permission to send U. S. troops north to rescue them. This was when the Chinese first crossed the Yalu River en masse and retaliated. Anti-Acheson Clique Original strategy of the anti-Acheson bloc before the Korean war looked so serious was to use the Yugoslav aid program as the first step of its own strength. The plan was to demand Acheson's resignation before voting aid to Yugoslavia despite the fact Red army troops are on the Yugoslav borders.

The idea of blocking the proposed $38,000,000 loan developed in informal talks between Nebraska's Ken Wherry, the Republican floor leader, Virginia's Harry Byrd, his silent partner, and Dick Russell of Georgia, master strategist of the Dixie-GOP coalition.

After the heavy Chinese attacks in North Korea, however, the bloc decided to water down its strategy to a grueling cross-examination of Acheson and his policies in both the Appropriations and Foreign Relations Committees.

"It will take more than George Marshall coming up here and bailing Acheson out to get this aid

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"Here's one for your pity-or-blame department," writes a Cincinnati correspondent. "This little tragedy brought about much weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth—especially since East-West scored the rubber on the very next hand!"

"South had visions of a grand slam when his partner made a jump bid in clubs and then showed a very strong preference for spades. However, the Blackwood four no-trump bid got a response of only five hearts, showing two aces; and South had to be satisfied with a small slam contract."

"West opened the ace of diamonds, dropping South's singleton king. He then continued with the five of diamonds. South played the ten from dummy, East covered with the jack, and South ruffed.

"South then led a low trump from his hand! West made haste to put up the nine of spades in order to force out dummy's king of trumps. (He didn't really expect South to take a fancy trump finesse, but West saw no reason to take a chance against a slam contract.)"

"That was the end, of course. South had to lose a trump trick, and he was therefore set one trick. "South claimed that he thought West had opened a long diamond suit. In that case it was a little more likely that East would have long trumps than that West would have long diamonds and also long trumps. Was there anything in this reasoning? In any case, was South more to be pitied than blamed for losing his slam?"

"I'm sorry to say that South deserves more blame than pity for booting this slam. It was hard luck, of course, to find all the trumps in one hand, but South might have deigned a little more deeply into the opening leader's psychology."

When does a good player lead an ace against a slam contract? Very seldom. If he has an ace, he will usually try to set up a trick in a different suit so that he can cash that other trick when his ace is knocked out.

However, a good player will lead an ace if there is great danger that he will lose it if he doesn't take it at once. And a good player will lead an ace against a slam if he has prospects of a trump trick.

There was nothing absolutely sure about this case, but there was a distinct possibility that West had led an ace because he hoped to get a trump trick later. Because of that possibility, South should have begun the trumps by cashing his ace. Then East's failure to follow suit would dictate a trump finesse through West.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Expect Congress To Be Asked To Okay 100-Group Air Force

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Plans for a 90-to-100-group Air Force now are being prepared in Washington. Present authorized strength of the Air Force is 70 groups. As this congressional authorization is being carried out by the Air Force, it will be a 69-group organization, with a number of separate squadrons for rescue, troop carrying, weather reporting and other special missions.

Up until the Korean crisis broke, Department of Defense plans called for expansion of the present 48-group-plus Air Force to 58 groups by the end of 1951. In a second stage, the 58 groups were to be increased to 69 by the end of 1953.

The 69-group Air Force was based on support for an Army of 800,000 men. Now that the Army is talking about ground force strength of 1,500,000 men, a Douglas of Air Force strength might seem to be in order. Present authorized strength for the 48-group Air Force is 416,000 men. For the 58-group Air Force, 568,000 men would be needed. No figures have been given on how many men would be required for a 69 or a 100-group Air Force.

There have, in fact, as yet been no official admissions that the 100-group Air Force was under consideration. Closest thing to an official statement on this subject so far has been Air Secretary Thomas K. Pinner's recent "Battle Report" broadcast. In that he said: "Even with 69 groups we must not become complacent, but must be constantly on the alert to develop better planes, better men, better techniques."

Expansion Hinted Even here, it is noteworthy that the air secretary did not talk about "more" planes, but about "better" planes. In fact, the 100-group plan goes far beyond the reports prepared by Senator Owen Brewster's joint congressional commission in 1947 and the President's Air Policy Commission report of 1948.

First semi-official leak on the 100-group plan came from retired Adm. Dewitt C. Ramsey, now president of the Aircraft Industries Association. In testimony against the excess profits tax, before the House Ways and Means Committee, Adm. Ramsey disclosed that the industry was expecting plane production to be stepped up from the present 2,018 planes on order to 7,788 for the coming year.

One reason there have been no official statements on this subject is that all the involved calculations necessary to balance air, ground and sea forces have not been completed. But President Truman has indicated that requests for additional military funds will be presented to the lame duck session of Congress. The full 90-to-100-group program may not be presented to Congress till after the new Congress meets in January.

Principal immediate need for more money for the Air Force is to meet price rises. Air Force Undersecretary John A. McCone testified on this subject just before Congress adjourned in September.

Secretary McCone said that that increase in the price of aluminum, copper, tin, rubber and other materials used in aircraft manufacture, plus certain wage increases then in sight, would average out to an increase of from seven to eight per cent in plane costs.

The present Air Force budget for the fiscal year ending next June 30 is $9,000,000,000. Of this roughly $4,500,000,000 is for procurement of 4,428 new aircraft. Eight per cent of this latter figure would mean that the Air Force would need 500,000 more to complete the 89-group Air Force. This is, of course, exclusive of the $2,278,000,000 for Naval aircraft and the $1,148,000,000 now authorized for foreign military assistance aircraft procurement.

Increased Costs Asked to translate the increased costs into terms of how many planes the Air Force would lose, Secretary McCone said that if the whole $999,000,000 cut were taken in one type of plane, the P-56 jet, it would mean 750 fewer planes by the end of 1951.

Under the 69-group program, the heaviest expense for aircraft procurement was to be the $4,500,000,000 in the current fiscal year. Costs for next year, at pre-Korean prices, were to be $2,500,000,000, then $1,200,000,000 in 1953 and $3,000,000,000 in 1954. For the years after that, in replacing worn out and obsolete aircraft, costs were expected to level off at about $2,800,000,000 a year.

The 70-group Air Force originally was conceived by the President's Air Policy Commission to include four groups of heavy (B-36) bombers, 10 groups of medium bombers, 11 groups of light bombers, 25 fighter groups, 10 reconnaissance groups and 10 groups of troop carriers and transport aircraft. These figures do not include some 22 separate squadrons and 27 National Guard groups.

Have a Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE

A minister, who was resigning, preached his farewell sermon on the text: "I go to prepare a place for you." To the congregation, highly pleased by the sermon—until the members learned that he was going to Huntsville to become chaplain of the state penitentiary.

The student was rather good at stalling when he didn't know the answer and so when the instructor asked, "What is electricity?" he arose and said, "Electricity is—uh, uh—electricity is—I did know but I've forgotten." The professor remarked, "Students, this is indeed a tragedy. Here is the only person in the history of the world who ever knew what electricity was—and he has forgotten!"

A colonel at Camp Wolters back in the war days noticed a long line of soldiers waiting outside of the stable and each man had a lump of sugar. The officer said to the nearest private, "I suppose the horses you're giving all this sugar to is the pet of the regiment."

"No, sir," replied the private, "he's the one that kicked the sergeant."

The much-married man was telling about plans for the Summer vacation: "My wife wanted to go to the seashore and I wanted to go to the mountains, so we compromised on the seashore."

despite this the doctors lobby is opposed. The bill passed the Senate last Summer, but now is stymied in the House of Representatives where a delegation of women from Indiana asked Madden to help try to lose.

However, Madden, usually a red-haired slinger for the Fair Deal, winced. "You'd better talk to the doctors," he countered. "Do you mean the election has made so much difference that this bill is stuck, because the congressmen are afraid to cross the doctors?" one of the women from Indiana asked.

Madden frankly admitted that was it. "But this is needed as protection against atomic attack," Madden was told. "You go tell that to the doctors," replied the congressman from Indiana. "If they're for it, it will go through. If not, I'm afraid it's sunk."

Note — One reason congressmen are scared of the American Medical Association is the job the doctors did on Rep. Eugene O'Sullivan, Nebraska Democrat, and a booster for public medicine. The AMA chapter in Omaha organized down to the precincts to register doctors, nurses and patients, propagandize them against O'Sullivan and transport them to the polls. He was defeated.

Speaking For Woman The Senate McCarthys are planning to give Margaret Chase Smith, the efficient senator from Maine, a political spanking — because of her forthright speech last Summer criticizing Joe McCarthy's "sneaky tactics."

Ever since she was elected in 1948, Mrs. Smith has been standing in line for an assignment to the Senate Armed Services Committee. Having served on both the House Naval Affairs and the Armed Services Committee, she is considered well-qualified for this committee.

But because of her criticism of McCarthy and his cohorts in the 82nd Congress plan to block her from the Republican vacancy and offer it to either McCarthy or raucous Bill Jenner of Indiana. Jenner's assistant, Albion Beverage, who once hung the Japanese and Nazi flags from his pulpit, ran against Mrs. Smith in Maine and is pulling backstage wires to spike her appointment.

Questions and Answers

Q—Is it true that Andrew Jackson once fought a duel because of his wife? A—Yes. At the age of 24, Jackson was married to a young woman, Mrs. Rachel Roberts, who had been divorced. In those days, it was rare for anyone to be divorced, and there were persons who said harsh things about Mrs. Roberts. Jackson fought a duel with a man who had spoken words against his wife.

Q—How did the word four-in-hand come to be applied to a man's necktie? A—The word probably originated from the type of proboscis worn by those who rode to sporting events in vehicles drawn by four horses—a four-in-hand coach.

Q—What was the first railway company to build and operate a railroad in the United States? A—The Granite Railway Company, incorporated by the Massachusetts legislature March 4, 1826, was the first railway corporation actually to build and operate a railroad, a portion of which still is in operation, in this country.

Q—Is it dangerous to use a telephone during a thunderstorm? A—Generally speaking there is no danger involved as wires are grounded.

13 Lucky Guys FRANK R. ADAMS

THE STORY: Twelve enlisted men and a medical officer, all war casualties, had themselves in Westway, where all but one had lived before they were killed. Only Duke, Sergeant Eddie's dog, can see them. Duke saves a girl Margie Lee from drowning, but she follows Max to a lake where Margie Lee's home.

for some reason which he could not have explained, Carl went into the house. As soon as he was inside he knew right away what it was that had impelled him to look once more upon the scene of his unhappiness.

The rug rolled up in front of the door, the blocked fireplace, the closed windows and Kirsten herself, dressed in her best clothes, sitting at the table in front of the big window where she could take advantage of the falling light to write, writing, all the time. He did not need to hear or smell the escaping gas.

The thing that puzzled him was "Why?" Kirsten was very much engrossed in what she was doing. The ball game going on outside did not seem to distract her in the least. Carl looked over her shoulder at what she was putting down on paper. Perhaps that would explain everything. It did.

KIRSTEN'S people had come to America long before Kirsten was born but her mother had never learned English so Kirsten's baby language had been Norwegian. She still thought in the quaint ancestral tongue.

"Dear Carl: At first I do not wish to hate you. I do not wish to love you. I cannot give you if I believe you are angry with me. I love each other too much. I have time to tell you the things that I cannot understand unless I explain them. First there is this house. The sea is very near. I got me a job in the boatworks so I can buy the new boat when you come back. I earn very much for a girl, or for anybody. I have a lot of money. It is something I wish to have for a surprise for you."

"When I go to work the people who run the boatworks say everybody must come to the job. The house is full of automobiles—every kind imaginable—not to waste space. No one of the workers lives near our new house except one young man, a stranger, the town who drives a small automobile with seats in it only for two. The superintendent says I should ride with him.

"I am put on the wing shift—and this man also—so that we come home."

"One time this young man is drunk. He drives us way out in the dark country. I was very nervous. Even then I am not afraid of him much. But of all the systems that have been tried out since the beginning of time, none has the record of success that we have had in this country. —Industrialist Nell McElroy.

Labor-management relations on railroads are regulated by the Railroad Labor Act and are exempt from the Taft-Hartley Act.

AS she slumped forward Carl lifted her under the arms and lifted her up. She turned with an inarticulate cry of glad relief and put her arms around his neck. They stood together facing each other, tall and straight and very young, just as they had always been.

"Carl!" she said. "Oh, Carl! There weren't any words anywhere which expressed the things in her heart and voice. He heard her very close and turned her back to the table so that she could not see that she was there, also, lying face down across the letter she had just written.

For a moment eternity swirled around them. Then there was a bump and a crash. Glass tumbled on the floor and table. The entire window was gone except for a few jagged daggers that stuck to the frame like stalactites and stalagmites from the roof and floor of a cave.

The indoor baseball landed on the table and rolled on. The warm south wind rushed in and flooded the malodorous house. Carl looked at his arms. They were empty. (To Be Continued)

Gay Yule Gifts For A Good Sport

Colorful Christmas gift for a sportsman is this plaid knitted waistcoat which is fastened with gold buttons.

Midget casting and trolling rod, 20 inches long, excites this fisherman on Christmas morning. Rod is of high tension spring steel; plastic parts make it lightweight and easy to handle.

Ready to carry gay Merry Christmas wishes to the sportsman on your list is an exciting array of colorful, practical new accessories. And, prizes be, their modest price tags are a happy surprise to a budget-bothered shopper.

New plumage for the sportsman is as bright as splashy plaids, brilliant colors and fluorescent wool can make it. Skipper ski sweaters of heavy dark wool, for example, owe the sharp brilliance of shoulder designs to red, fluorescent wool threads worked on a white background. Matching stocking caps repeat the eye-catching motif.

Jaunty knitted waistcoats in bold, four-color plaids add extra warmth and plenty of dash to casual sports clothes. Plaids also hit the eye in wool caps, bow ties, belts, and, of all things, worsted golfing knickers.

Gear to tickle the fancy of an Izaak Walton includes a midget casting and trolling rod. Although only 20 inches long, this stubby caster claims to have the thrilling action of a five-foot rod. Lustre plastic parts make the midget lightweight and easy to control. High tension, oil-tempered spring steel is used for the rod itself.

Another clever device is a night fishing float equipped with a tiny bulb and battery sealed inside the buoyant plastic ball. When the fish bites, the float lights up. Flashing lights with luminous plastic cases that glow in the dark are welcome additions to tackle box or camper's pack.

Space-savers such as a small steel case holding saw-toothed knife, fork and bottle opener also cater to the camper's needs. So do tiny kits equipped with toothbrush, razor, blade and space for a week's supply of shaving cream and toothpowder.

Practical gift for a golfer is a sturdy watch which fits into an open-faced leather case that snaps over his belt. Slots in the top of the case carry five tees.

Tees and the time are offered to the golfer by this watch which fits into pigskin case. Case may be snapped over a belt.

Overshoes Make Islanders Sore

PAPEETE, TAHITI —(AP)— If you want to start a fight with a Tuamotu islander, simply mention the "giant paha." Paha is a shellfish of the clam variety. Its flesh is the color and toughness of India rubber, and when dried it smells like rubber that has been well scorched, but it is a staple of diet for the islanders.

Some years ago the eastern Tuamotu people found washed ashore a case of rubber overshoes. Never having seen rubber or overshoes, they concluded this was a giant form of their favorite delicacy. After vainly chewing raw overshoes for a while, they decided to try cooking. For many days they boiled the shoes, with periodic tasting, until finally a trading schooner captain arrived and told them their mistake. He related the story throughout the South Seas, to the delight of all the other islanders and the discomfiture of the Tuamotians.

Tot Summons Cops To 'Fix' Playmates

ARCADIA, CALIF. —(AP)— "I'm in trouble and I need help. Come quick," the voice on the phone told the desk sergeant.

A squad car hastened to the address and a bunch of youngsters scattered as the officers pulled up. The lone five-year-old who remained informed the policemen that his playmates weren't playing fair so he'd called the cops "to fix 'em." The officers fixed junior instead. They told his parents on him.

FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH—A stray dog stands guard over the body of a fallen companion who was hit by an auto and killed at Charleston, W. Va. During his long vigil, the dog kept digging snow away from the body as a heavy fall threatened to cover it.

+ Jacoby On Canasta +

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

While it is really a cinch to know the correct play when you are watching all four hands there are frequent occasions when you can watch one hand only and spot a serious mistake.

Recently, I was watching an extremely interesting canasta game. East and West acquired a tremendous lead on the first two hands and were almost out. On the third hand, misfortune overtook them. The opponents went out before they could meld at all and the score at the start of the fourth and last hand was East and West 4500, North and South 3100.

East now proceeded to pick up one of those horrors without a wild card, an ace or much else. The opponents took the discard pile quickly and proceeded on their merry way. Meanwhile, East's hand commenced to improve. He acquired three each of queens and jacks, pairs of kings and tens and one deuce. His next draw was a second deuce and he was in position to meld his 120 by using ten cards.

The situation at that time was that North and South had melded everything from eights on down. South and West had each discarded kings and no aces, queens, jacks, tens or nines had appeared. South had melded down to five cards only while North still held about fifteen.

I made my mind up. I would meld 2-10-10, Q-Q-Q, J-J-J, put the second deuce with either the queens or the jacks, discard a king and hope. Not so with East. He saw that the man in back of him held five cards only and decided to freeze the pack. He discarded a deuce. West proceeded to meld Joker-Ace-Ace and 9-9-9 and discard safely. East drew another deuce. Again my mind was made up. I would meld my queens and jacks and throw a king. East actually did.

Much to our disappointment (I always sympathize with the man I am watching) West could not add a card to either of those melds. East's next draw was a third ten and I relaxed.

It was a cinch that his partner held one ten and maybe he held a couple. All my man had to do was to meld three tens and a deuce so as to tell his partner to add everything he could to the tens and the hand would be over in one round.

However, West did not meld the tens. Afterwards he explained that he did not want to meld down too low when the pack was frozen. A really bad excuse. It was his duty to play for out.

The next round went by without incident and East still held his tens. Then poor West finally gave away the discard pile. North made four canastas and finally East put down his tens.

Sure enough West had held a pair of tens right along and if East had given him a chance he would have saved a couple of thousand points and the game.

Former Countess Likes Dairy Farm

ABBOTTSFORD, B. C. —(P)—Once a member of the French underground and twice sentenced to death by the Germans, the former Countess de Dampierre—now Mrs. Lloyd Moore—is enjoying life on a dairy farm near here. She was first married to Count de Dampierre, who fought in the French army until France fell and then returned home to join the underground with his wife. He failed to survive torture by the Gestapo, dying in a boxcar on his way to exile in Poland.

The former countess was also captured and was shunted from prison to prison. She managed to escape the firing squad twice and survived torture rather than give away her friends. She finally escaped from a bus carrying her to Poland and managed to stay out of the enemy's reach until her country was liberated. Two years later she met and married Moore, at the time serving with the American Army at Nuremberg trials. They came here in 1948.

The holiday greetings carried by personalized gifts are particularly warm because of the individual thought and advance planning that must go into them. No matter how inexpensive such presents may be, they have a special meaning for both giver and receiver.

If you'd like to add a personal touch to your gifts this year, here are some simple suggestions involving easy-to-obtain, easy-to-use materials.

Your own sewing basket should yield enough yarn or thread to monogram a pair of loafer socks for the teen-ager-boy or "girl-on-your-list. Even if you're a novice at needlework, one evening should suffice to mark a pair of slippers with three-initial private-property signs.

Look on your favorite notions counter for initial buttons, which can be used to make a variety of "for-you-alone" gifts. Cuff links are particularly effective. To connect the initial buttons with plain round button backs, make figure-eights of wire and clamp them onto the buttons.

try your hand at decorating a cookie jar and a laundry sprinkler. You'll find most of your materials in your local stationary store. These should include notarial seals, lawyer's seals, passe partout tape, flower seals and sets of letters.

To make the cookie jar, begin by coating a one-gallon container with white shellac. Decorate it with flowers made from notarial seals, centered with lawyer's seals. Other trimmings, including a large initial, are cut from passe partout.

After the design is fixed in place, brush it carefully with shellac. When this dries, give the entire container several more coats of shellac.

The laundry sprinkler, which you may make yourself from an empty bottle and a sprinkling head purchased in a dime store, is coated with enamel and then made gay with rose seals and three initials from a set of letters. After recolorations are applied, follow the same shellacking procedure as that used with the cookie jar.

Ward Schilling, operating the 280-acre farm, used reed canary grass to control the erosion. The grass has been doubling itself every year. Schilling says he doesn't plan to farm it, however, nor the surrounding upland. The upland has been eroding too severely to be cropped, he said. He will use the section for pasture. The grass, which grows in clumps from two to eight feet in height, makes fine pasture and hay.

EXCITING PAST PRESERVED IN "SOUTHWEST ROOM"

PORT WORTH —Swashbuckling days of Texas—as well as accounts of some quieter episodes of the Lone Star State—are preserved in a special Southwestern folk lore and history room of the Mary Coats Burnett Library at Texas Christian University. Called the "Southwest Room," the section houses approximately 2,000 books and historic periodicals, along with a large collection of cattle brands. The entire atmosphere of the place breathes the exciting past which made the great present that is Texas.

The movement for this collection began in 1926, at the time of "Texas Centennial. Texans' lives in Southwest and Texas history revived at the time.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And The Happy Way

Bobby Ringtail, the very little monkey boy, was going to have dinner at Dr. Shoobug's monkey house. It would be a happy thing to do, Bobby knew, and he listened very carefully while Mother Ringtail tried to tell him about being polite when the time for dinner came. Bobby was dressed in his very best clothes, all ready to go down to the ground and away to Dr. Shoobug's house. Said Bobby: "Look out the window, Mother Ringtail! Is that Dr. Shoobug coming?" Mother Ringtail said no it wasn't. It was only a cloud of dust that the wind had blown across the Elephant Path. "And now, Bobby," Mother Ringtail said, "what will you do when you be polite?" Bobby thought about this. He smiled and said: "When Dr. Shoobug asks me if I want some more of the scrambled coconut—I'll say 'Yes, thank you'—and that is being polite." Mother Ringtail laughed, but she shook her head. She explained that saying "thank you" is only part of being polite. There are other things always to do—if anyone wants to be polite about everything, I mean. "But Mother Ringtail," said Bobby, "there's so much to remember about being polite—I just can't remember it all." And it is quite a problem, you know—to remember all the things you should or shouldn't do when you're trying to be polite. There are so many things to remember that no one could remember all of them maybe, unless—well, I'll tell you what Mother Ringtail said to Bobby then.

Said Mother Ringtail: "Being polite is the happy way of doing things—and saying 'yes, thank you' and 'no, thank you' is polite only because it is the happy way of telling people that you do or don't want something."

Bobby laughed when he heard her say it. It's easy to remember that being polite is the happy way of doing things, and people like for you to come to see them again when you do things the happy way. That's what Dr. Shoobug said—that very same night at dinner. Happy day!

Land Of Romance Gets New Drydock

PARIS—(AP)—Tahiti, the land of romance and fiction plots, has just gone modern with an up-to-date drydock. The Marshall Plan paid for it, through the Paris office of the Economic Cooperation Administration. The aid was to help the merchant shipping which links the 180 pin-point sized islands owned by France in the Pacific. Without the drydock, which cost about $280,000, ships which often battered hulls on the treacherous Pacific coral reefs, had to be beached and repaired with sometimes primitive means. Much time was lost and the repairs often were only makeshift. Most of the Papete Harbor traffic is in schooner-loads of copra, or dried coconut meat ready for oil extraction. South Sea Islanders dry the coconut meat and sell it to the traders, who haul it to Papete for reshipment to the world's oil markets. Other South Sea Island products handled by the schooners include vanilla and mother of pearl.

Reds Order ERP Signs Taken Down

VIENNA—(AP)—Marshall Plan funds have been used to rebuild federal roads and bridges in the Russian zone of Austria and for several federal agricultural projects. At each project—about 80 in all—Austrian and ERP authorities erected huge signs: "This work is being done with ERP funds." They have stood untouched up to two years. Now the Russians have realized the signs counteract all the Communist agitation against ERP. Soviet commanders have ordered Austrian officials to pull them down.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—
Texans In Capital Plan Gala Time For Visitors

WASHINGTON—(P)—Texans here are preparing to give the Texas Aggies a big time when they come up from College Station to meet Georgia in the first annual Presidential Cup football game December 9.
Casting their individual school partisanship to the winds, alumni from all the Southwestern Conference colleges and universities are joining under the sponsorship of the Texas State Society of Washington to back up the boys from A&M.
A big block of seats on the 50-yard line in Maryland University's new Byrd Stadium, at nearby College Park, Md., is being set aside for Texans. After the game a big dance and reception will be held.
Speaking of selection of the Aggies, it is understood that Baylor was considered seriously, but for purposes of national publicity it was felt that the school should have "Texas" in its name.
The American Legion is promoting the gridiron contest, hoping it will become a famed annual classic through which money can be raised for the Legion welfare fund.
Rep. Otin E. (Tiger) Teague, A&M alumnus, figured in negotiations getting the bid for the Aggies.
The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is considering selection of a few East Texas counties for a test program.
O. B. Briggs, state director of the insurance program, with headquarters at College Station, wrote Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater that he would be in Washington early in December to discuss the matter.
Involved is a proposed multiple crop plan to insure cotton, corn, commercial vegetables and the like, guaranteeing a producer at least his investment in total farm operations.

At present the government insurance covers only specific crops, and is therefore impracticable for small diversified farm operations.
The existing cotton acreage quota law, says Representative Beckworth, still needs overhauling.
"It certainly has left the little farmer of East Texas out in the cold," he says.
"A man can't earn a living on an allotment of less than one acre. Consequently, thousands of East Texas farmers have had to go to the cities and look for work. The 1950 census figures bear out that statement."
Beckworth recently received a letter from the agriculture commissioner of South Carolina saying that the same situation prevailed there.
The Texas congressman says he'll keep dwelling on the subject in the hopes that a majority of his colleagues some day will agree with his views.
"They can argue all they want to, that the law provides a minimum five-acre allotment," he continues, "but there are loop holes. In reality doesn't work out that way for countless thousands of small farmers over the country."
Explaining that a farmer who may have planted cotton for 40 years but would get no quota if he had switched to some other crop during the allotment base years, Beckworth says:
"The base follows the land rather than the farmer. Human rights are secondary to land rights."
He then called attention to the fact that plantings of cotton in 1951, when controls will be lifted and a farmer can plant all he wants, will not be figured into the historical base of a farm. Whenever production controls are reimposed, the acreage allotments will go back to the same base as fixed originally for the 1950 crop, he said.

A Spruce-Up For Old Hats

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Many of us, remembering with pleasure the hats we wore the previous Fall, bring them out at the first turning of the leaves and begin another season's use without really looking at them.
This year, don't allow habit and laziness to trick you into wearing hats of felt grayed with dust or adorned with weary trimmings.
It's a good idea to give your old stand-by the same critical once-over you'd give a new hat. If it falls below par, you can spruce it up in a very little time and without much expense.
If you have a vacuum cleaner with an upholstery attachment, use it to rid the felt of dust. A thorough brushing is another way to handle this problem. Remove all trimmings before you begin, of course.
The next step is to soften the nap of the felt, which usually gets a matted and crushed appearance in the course of a season's wearing. This may be done by holding the hat over a kettle of boiling water and allowing the steam to penetrate the fabric. At the same time, stroke the felt in the direction of the nap, using a soft brush.
To complete the renovation of your hat, re-trim it. If last year's ribbons, veils or feathers are passable, sew them on again at a new and jaunty slant.
If they are too bedraggled for another Autumn's wear, replace them with similar trimmings or, if you feel creative, something entirely different.
New, up-to-date touches on head-wear often serve to give the wearer a feeling of style and dash, even though the budget rules out an up-to-the-minute hat.
A liquid which can change instantly to a solid and then return to a liquid again is the basic feature of an improved magnetic-fluid clutch. Only six inches long and six inches in diameter, the device is capable of carrying enough power to lift one ton 1,000 feet per minute.

Just What Is The Student Council?

The Student Council is a comparatively new school organization. The idea of student government has been used in one way or another for perhaps hundreds of years, but the actual student council organization, as we know it today, has attained its popularity only in the last 20 or 30 years.

Just what is a student council? The council is an organization composed of high school students who have been elected by their class or by their homerooms. Although the name "student government" has often been applied to the council, its actual purpose is not to run the school but to "share" in its running. Another purpose of a student council is to interest the students in the principles of democracy and to demonstrate these principles by practice. To encourage an attitude of responsibility and loyalty, to promote an understanding attitude between faculty and students, to develop pride in school, and to offer training for intelligent leadership are the main objectives of the council.

Trusted Organization
The student council is now one of the most responsible, trusted, and socially-conscious organizations in the high school. Accrediting organizations generally rate higher a school that has such an organization as the student council. Why? There is no set answer but the best possible way to answer this question accurately is to see the student council in operation.

How valuable the council is to the school system is summed up in a statement by a well-known high school principal, who said, "I couldn't run my school without the student council."

Toya Chapple is president of the Student Council of MHS, James Weathered is vice president, and Beverly Keisling serves as secretary. The members of the organization are: Joe Barnett, Fred Underwood, Jimmy Locke, Dwayne Bush, Lynn Nicholson, David Lavery, Betty Pitzer, Emily Hamilton, Jackie Ewald, Dan Black, Joan Turner, Lynn Mayfield, Jimmie Lineberger, Shirley Pannell, Dick Spencer, Wade Leggett, Anna Bess Doyle, Rosemary Anderson, Harold Robbins, Patsy Yeager, Connie Shambelen, Helen Golladay, Milton Jones, Wayne Parmally, Lynn Hibbits, Bill Robitsek, Virginia Kroenlein, Joann Basaham, Skippi Clemens and Roberta Stewart.

MHS Decorated For Christmas

Friday, December 1, MHS's annual Christmas decorations were put on display. The decorations for the 1950 holiday season were built entirely by the art classes and the shop students with the assistance of Inez Parker, art instructor, and Curtis Reagan, teacher of shop.

The decorations consist of a manger scene and are displayed on the front ledge of the high school building.

In the center are Mary, Joseph, and the Baby Christ surrounded by two angels with the star in the background. Flanking this scene are the shepherds on one side and the wise men on the other. In the background is the city of Jerusalem. This year's decorations are very beautiful and MHS wishes to thank the students who worked industriously on the project.

MHS Welcomes New Students

Seven new students have enrolled in MHS this week. Earl Harper, a sophomore, came to Midland from Modesto, Calif. He was born in Fort Sumner, N. M., and has lived in five states. He is an ardent motorcycle enthusiast, and spends his leisure time riding his motorcycle. Earl is a member of the Motorcycle Club of America.

From Spokane, Wash., came Jane Lee Stuart. She attended Central Valley High, where she was a member of the badminton and tennis team, Latin club, and the Bearettas, pep squad. She attended Lewis and Clark High for awhile and was a member of the golf team, Book Club, treasurer of her home room, and Girls Federation representative.

Hodges Feaster, a freshman, came from Florence, Miss. Hodges is a baseball player and an ardent fan of all sports. In the high school he attended in Mississippi, all the freshmen went together to classes. When asked his opinion of MHS, he said, "It is a lot different, and much larger."

Also entering this week were Helen Geneva Vickers from Nashville, Tenn.; Willie Steele from Dallas; and Patsy Stephens from Snyder.

Peggy Ann Luce came from Johnsonville, Texas, where she was a freshman. She was a member of the Junior Dramatics Club, Home Economics Club and band.

The MHS Bulldogs will be clashing in a new district next season. The Texas Interscholastic League's executive committee approved a new set-up that will divide the state into six separate districts—AAAA, AAA, AA, A, B, and Six-Man.

Midland will be a member of District 1-AAA. Other teams in the district are Big Spring, Lamesa, Plainview and Sweetwater.

Odesa, Midland's old rival, is a member of the higher 1-AAAA District.

The districts are decided on the total enrollment in the schools. Conference AAAA schools must have a total enrollment of 850 students, but schools with 750 members may be admitted with a 100 per cent vote of the executive committee.

The MHS cage team is developing into good form. Every boy is hustling for a starting berth and most of the team is rounding into condition.

"A" and "B" squads open against Crane in the MHS gym Tuesday, December 5. The "B" squads tangle preceding the varsity tilt.

The schedule:
December 5—Crane, Here.
December 8—Crane, There.
December 12—Pecos, Here.
December 19—Brownfield, There.
December 20—Pecos, There.
December 28, 29, 30—Brownwood tournament, There.
January 2—Brownfield, Here.

Volleyball workouts have started in full swing. Twenty-five enthusiastic girls are battling for positions on the "A" and "B" teams. Ella Mae Blair, girls' PE instructor, is coaching the sport.

A schedule has not yet been drafted.

Governors Of School

The Student Council members hold the highest, the most respected and the most responsible positions in MHS. They are the governors of the school.

The council handles all the major problems that arise in the school. It is in charge of the diplomatic relations with other schools. It performs many services for the student body, including promotion of the school elections, publishing the Student Directory and Handbook and sponsoring activities such as "Howdy Week."

The present Student Council is performing its task industriously and efficiently. It well deserves your respect and cooperation.

Tabor, Medart Most Friendly

Dephane Tabor and Bill Medart were voted Friendliest Girl and Boy respectively in an all-school election.

Dephane, more commonly called "Duffy," is very active in many phases of school life. She is president of the National Thespian Society; reporter for the Junior Red Cross; president of the Bible Club; sergeant-at-arms of the Senior Class; and a sergeant and baritone player in the MHS Band. This short brunette lists band, drama, biology, English, Bible and clothing as her school.

Outside of school, Dephane is an active member in the First Baptist Church. She is also president of a Girl Scout troop.

This "gal" with the personality plus was born Nov. 4, 1932, in Eden, Texas.

A ready grin, a winning personality and an ever-tolerant manner are just a few of the traits which brought Bill Medart the title of Friendliest Boy. However, such a compliment is not novel to Bill as he was elected Best All Round Boy last year by the MHS student body.

Bill, a member of the "M" Club, is very active athletically. He has letters in baseball and football. The latter sport found him offensive end and defensive halfback for the Bulldogs this last football season.

His schedule consists of chemistry, typing, English, foods, and PE. This tall, dark and handsome senior was born March 26, 1933, as the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Medart with whom he now resides at 701 West Pennsylvania Street.

Congratulations to these two on the winning of such high honors.

MHS Welcomes Faculty Addition

Dramatics, music, traveling and English are the main interests of a new member of the MHS faculty.

This versatile person spends a great deal of her spare time working with the Community Theater. She does backstage and make-up work as well as appearing in some of the performances.

Another of her past time hobbies is her collection of ballads and folk-songs. Her taste for music is evident in her liking for the works of the composer, Tchaikovsky, and her musical talent is shown in connection with the choir of the First Methodist Church.

Many of her most enjoyable moments are while traveling. Her travels include extensive journeys to New England, the Eastern states and many other parts of the United States. A trip abroad is included in her plans for the Summer of 1951.

She received her Bachelor of Arts degree at TSCW in Denton. She is working Summers on her Master's Degree in English at Middlebury, Vt., where she has met Robert Frost and heard Mark Van Doren and other literary figures speak.

She originally hails from Eastland but for the past five years she has claimed Midland as her home town.

Her face is familiar to many MHS students as she has taught in junior high here for four years. She now is teaching sophomore and senior English.

The students are indeed fortunate and MHS extends a hearty welcome to Miss Dorothy Perkins.

Student Council Plans Decorations

Midland High School's cafeteria will bring the spirit of Christmas to its patrons.

The student council, meeting Wednesday, decided to decorate the cafeteria in a Christmas motif and named Roberta Stewart as chairman of the committee to carry out the plans.

Change Catoico Cover

For the first time in 13 years, the 1951 Catoico cover has been changed.

The former annual has been white with the year, the name of the annual and the school seal on the front in gold. The new cover has a purple background with gold figures of a steer, an oil well, and a cotton field.

The voting for this change was conducted as an electoral college. Each home room voted for, or against the change, and their representative in the Student Council voted, by secret ballot, for the students he represented. The result was a 17 to 12 majority for the change.

Plaque Given To MHS

Jerry Covington presented a bronze plaque from the West Texas Geological Society to Principal Mathews, during assembly Wednesday, November 29.

The plaque presented to the school is to be placed in the trophy case as a permanent record of the names of the outstanding member of each year's MHS Geology Club.

Previously, awards have been presented to the person chosen by members of the West Texas Geological Society. In 1949, Kent Miller received an expense-paid geology field trip. Clifford Wilcox received several volumes of geological books in 1950.

"West Texas starts at Ozona and Alpine on the South and extends to Plainview on the North. Going from San Angelo and Sweetwater west to El Paso, it includes 56 counties," according to Covington in his talk on geology in West Texas.

"West Texas, one of the greatest oil pools in the world produces over 15 per cent of the oil in the U. S. It also has 23 per cent of the reserves, that oil discovered under the ground but not being produced," stated Covington.

"During the previous wars, West Texas has furnished a large amount of oil in a short time. In case of another emergency it will be called upon to furnish the great bulk of the oil needed," Covington said.

Covington had a large map of oil pools and a cross section of the rocks and earth of West Texas, on the stage to illustrate his speech.

Jerry Covington, a geologist of Humble Oil Company and a graduate of the University of Texas, was introduced by Earl Chapman.

MHS'ers Take Part In Two Conferences

Student Council Representatives attended conferences in Lubbock Monday November 27, and Big Spring Tuesday November 28.

Dr. Gerald Van Pool, director of student activities, National Association of Secondary School Principals, led general discussions on student council problems at both meetings.

The meeting in Lubbock began with a general assembly. Following a short program presented by Lubbock, Dr. Van Pool spoke on good points to remember in having a good student council.

At 4 p.m. representatives convened in discussion groups. The Midland representatives led a discussion on student council activities in the school.

Dinner was served in the cafeteria at 6 p.m. Following dinner Dr. Van Pool discussed other student council problems.

Later the chairman of each group reported on the discussion of his group. Joe Barnett served as chairman for the Midland group. Other Midland representatives were Beverly Keisling, Larry Mayfield, and Toya Chapple. Jack Mashburn, Dean of Students accompanied the group. The meeting closed at 8:30 p.m.

The meeting in Big Spring was held in the First Baptist Church so as not to disturb students attending school.

There were five discussion groups. Each group had a topic to discuss. Midland representatives led the discussion. "How may student councils promote better relationships between classes in your school?" Other topics were: "How can student councils teach and increase citizenship within the school?" "What should be the extent of the responsibility of a student council?" "How to bring student body to cooperate in projects of student councils?" and "How may student councils stimulate student participation in school activities?" A general discussion followed these group discussions.

Midland representatives attending this meeting were James Weathered, Fred Underwood, Joan Turner, Jimmy Lineberger, and Emily Hamilton. Fay Massey accompanied the group to Big Spring.

Who-Don-It?

Keith Franklin, a famous gambler was "murdered" Thursday, November 30 in the anti-room of the Library. His "body" was discovered by Lucille Wilkinson, the librarian. He was identified by a billfold found in his pocket by Charles Mathews, head of homicide squad, and Sheriff Ralph Arnett. The suspects are Pat Fields, Charles Nesley and Wayne Cutbirth.

Mathews and Ralph Arnett looked the room over for fingerprints and the murder weapon. The weapon was not found. The motive is believed to be theft of money. Keith was believed to be carrying 10,000 dollars in cash.

Bob Woods and Harold Payton are witnesses from studyhall. Witnesses from Josephine Weaver's civics class were Shirley Boyett, Pegg Vineyard, Annetta Hatch, Letha Pike, Asa Blond and Annie Lee Everett.

This "murder" was planned by Dot Hightower, Lynn Griffith and Charles Overend of the civics class as a class project. This case will be brought to court this week in Miss Weaver's class.

Yule Party Decor That's Pretty On Budget

Festive decorations of home-made angels, wreath and ropes of evergreen dress up the entrance of this house to look as pretty as a Christmas card. Angels on balustrade are made from old table legs painted with a gay, folk-art technique. In the spirit of the occasion, the girls have decked a bushel basket and an old sled with bright paint and free-hand designs to deliver their gifts.

By KAY SHERWOOD
With the high cost of entertaining cutting into party budgets this holiday season, one of the easiest ways to trim expenses is to plan decorations that take more ingenuity than cash.

The trick lies in making the most of inexpensive materials at hand. Such prosaic materials as dishpans, dime store tin cups, pails, discarded or broken furniture can be transformed with the help of paint into eye-catching decorations.

If your traditional holiday party is an open-house or any affair where a large number of guests is expected, you can set a festive tates. The art work needn't be expert as long as the colors are bold and clear. Wings, cut out of plywood and painted, can be tacked to the back of each angel. Spindles, or chair legs, could also be used to make smaller angels. A star-studded punch bowl, cups, and ice pail for bottled beverages can be accomplished with very little effort and at a tiny price.

Dime store utensils are painted in bright Christmas colors and sprinkled with star stickers to make this colorful service for a holiday party. Funch bowl is a dishpan. Cups are tin.

First step in dressing these up for the party is a quick coat of fire-engine red enamel. If you're ambitious, and want to use your "service" for several Winter parties, you are advised to paint, free-hand, stars on the utensils. Quicker decoration (but less lasting) is to use gold and silver stickers.

Fighting Cocks Worry Singapore

SINGAPORE —(AP)— Smuggling of fighting cocks from Siam into Singapore is the latest headache of the Customs Department here.

Cockfighting is illegal here. These Siamese death-dealing cocks, some standing almost two feet high, with iridescent green, black and bronze plumage, may introduce poultry disease and the bloody sport here, the customs fear.

Realeteria Service Installed By Real Estate Firm Here

Self service in real estate shopping will be featured by Allied Commercial Services, Midland realtors, in the firm's new office at 1404 North Big Spring Street, officials said Saturday. The plan of classified listing display to be featured is known as "Realeteria," the "cafeteria" of real estate self-service system now established in California and other western and mid-western states.

Under the new plan of real estate marketing now being established nationally, listings of property for sale no longer are hidden in file boxes where the public cannot see them, Frank True explained. Instead, the listings are displayed on individual cards through a unique method of printed display type, paste-up, a patented process. Listings then are hung on a display rack where persons looking for homes or investments of any kind in real estate may look them over without obligation.

Pictures of listed properties are shown on the cards, which also give essential information as to size, character of property, price and down payment. Prospective buyers thus "save time and money," according to True.

"Robot Salesman" A particularly attractive, electrically lighted, rotating display of real estate listings, known as the "Robot Salesman," has been installed in front of the Allied office, giving prospective buyers an opportunity to make their own property selection from listings displayed. A feature of this unique display is a stop button which can be pressed to stop the rotation of the display at the real estate shopper's desire, True said.

The public is invited to visit the display of real estate listings, inspecting the modern real estate sales plan in operation.

Fish, general sales manager of the company, was coupled with an estimate that more than 10,000,000 people will inspect the latest series during the introductory period.

Crane News

CRANE—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Stell will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Emerson, Ark., Sunday. Preston and Vernon Stell are to be present for the celebration, along with their families.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hutchison of Odessa and their son, J. L., Jr., were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted McFarland recently. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore have returned from a trip to New Orleans and Houston, where they stayed about two weeks.

Crane's formal Christmas season opened Friday when Santa lit the beautifully decorated tree on the court house lawn. A program followed, with Dr. Jack Ramsey as master of ceremonies.

Old St. Nick was on hand to greet the kiddies at a free movie Saturday morning at the Crane Theater. Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Young are the parents of a baby boy. He was born at Crane Memorial Hospital and weighed seven pounds, two ounces.

Commies Boost Idea Of 'Peace'

BERLIN —(AP)— "Little Peace Dove Fly Over the Roof," is the latest Communist song for kindergarten children in Soviet-occupied Eastern Germany.

At a recent student festival at Magdeburg, the children sang the new tune while 30 live doves were turned loose. "They flew eastward," reported the Communist newspaper "Volksstimme," "to where the bulwark of peace, the great and mighty Soviet Union, lies."

WILSON'S USE OUR CONVENIENT LAY-AWAY PLAN

Keeping Windows And Doors Airproof

By BOB SCHARFF
Written for NEA Service

Windows and doors are the major heat wasters in the home. But you don't have to be a skilled craftsman to cut heat loss to nothing.

First, check to see whether there are air leaks around loose panes of glass in windows and doors and around the window and door frames. When a house is first built, the frames may fit tightly. But after the house settles, cracks often appear which allow important heat losses around their edges. This is especially serious if they are set in masonry construction.

To stop air infiltration around the glass panes, simply reputty them tightly in place. To stop air leaks around window and door frames, reseal them periodically with caulking compound, which is available in paint and hardware stores, either in dispensing tubes or in packages. Caulking guns can be purchased at reasonable price or may sometimes be rented.

Plastic Seal

The caulking compound, a putty-like plastic seal, is forced into the cracks under pressure so that it enters deeply and fills the crack completely. For a good caulking job, pack large cracks with oakum, jute or similar material. Then cover this with caulking compound.

The next step of heatproofing is to weatherstrip loose-fitting windows and doors. Suitable weatherstrips are made of metal, rubber, felt and plastic. Metal weatherstripping is permanent and most efficient but it takes special tools to apply it. Get a skilled workman to install stripping of this type.

Other Types

The other strip types, however, are easily applied. To start, close the window and cut the weatherstrip to the proper length. Place it against the window frame so that the rubber or felt edge touches the sash tightly along its entire length. Then tack it into place with small, rust-resistant nails. At top of the upper sash and the bottom of the lower, the strip is tacked to the sash and not to the frame.

To weatherstrip a door, apply the strip all around the door frame when the door is tightly closed. At the bottom, lay a piece of the strip on the doorkill on the outside and lay another piece along the bottom of the door on the inside, so that it also touches the sill when the door is shut.

Casement Windows

Weatherstrips for metal-frame casement windows are made to snap into the grooves around the edges of the sashes, being held in place by tension. Felt also can be used on metal casements and is held in place with thick shellac.

An effective and simple way to reduce heat loss through windows in cold weather is to draw the shades or draperies and to close Venetian blinds. In closed-off rooms, and at night, keep all the windows covered this way, and in occupied rooms during the day draw the shades halfway.

Grandma's Time, 1951 Efficiency Join In Kitchen

Designers of the modern kitchen have come around the full cycle, and have decided that Grandma really had something, 50 years ago, in her big room with the cook stove.

As a result, the homemaker won't work in lonely isolation any more. Advance designs for the 1951 kitchens, reported by the Serrel Home-makers Institute, indicate that, although all the wonderful, automatic equipment developed for the American housewife will be retained, the atmosphere of the new kitchens will be radically changed. Kitchens next year will do an about-face and return in spirit to an earlier day, when the room in which meals were cooked was also the social gathering place for the entire family and one's friends.

The new or remodeled kitchen to fit into the latest theme begins with the selection of as many efficient appliances as the budget will allow. Start with an automatic refrigerator, which research has proved to be the most essential piece of equipment in the room, and then add a modern range, which does meal preparation "thinking" by means of its various controls.

Luxury Items

Next come the luxury items: automatic dishwasher, garbage disposal unit and automatic washing machine (if the homemaker likes to have that appliance in the kitchen instead of the laundry).

Once these working units are situated in the best scientific manner to save steps and time, extras may be planned to make the kitchen a living room instead of a cubicle resembling a laboratory. The 1951 designs call for anything from period furniture to sink skirts, those ruffled draperies to conceal the pipes of an old-fashioned sink. One designer even included a potbellied stove as "atmosphere" to recreate a "period" kitchen. And another decorator hung an oil painting over the sink to give a living room air to a kitchen done in dark paneling.

Scientists now are convinced that they can see the thing that gives you a cold, or flu, or infantile paralysis, or other virus-caused disease. Using electron microscopes, they have been seeing particles which were believed to be viruses.

Boy's Room Should Have Color And Individuality

To a man, his home is his palace. To a boy, his room is his kingdom. What should this kingdom be like? It should be different from the rest of the house—enough different that the youngster identifies it with himself.

Decorated and furnished in a strictly masculine mood, it should provide a comfortable, inviting retreat for study, reading and entertaining pals. Strong, bold colors should predominate. The furniture should be sufficiently rugged to suit the mood of the room and withstand the punts and it is apt to receive. There should be a bookcase, or at least plenty of shelves, and a sturdy desk or work table of generous size. Particular care should be taken to see that the room is properly lighted.

Bulletin Board Pleases

An added feature which gives life to the decorative plan is a large bulletin board where the boy can pin pictures of his athletic heroes and other such items. An inexpensive bulletin board can be made simply by mounting a piece of insulating board of the desired size on a wood frame. Insulating board can be purchased from most lumber dealers.

Where two or more boys share a room, precious floor space can be saved by providing a double-deck bunk instead of a conventional full-width bed.

Many a family, needing additional room, has solved the problem nicely by converting unused attic space. A surprisingly attractive and practical boy's room can be created that way at relatively small cost.

Water falling from the roof of one building onto adjacent property owned by another has resulted in court action for damages on several occasions.

40,000 New Homes Costing $25,000 In Prospect For 1951

Almost 40,000 homes costing $25,000 or more will be started in the United States next year despite the recent home financing curbs. In the opinion of a leading home building authority.

The prediction, made by John E. Haines, vice president of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, was based on an independent survey and a nationwide spot check by his company. Contributing factors in the swing toward higher priced homes include:

1. Spiraling personal incomes, which recently hit a $2,900,000,000 national peak.
 2. Realization that today's home building prices are likely to remain stable—or rise.
 3. A growing demand among Americans for more than "minimum" housing.
- With this increase in quality housing, Haines said he expected a greater demand for services of architects and heating engineers.

Russian Music, Not Jazz, Needed To Melt Iron Curtain, Composer Berezowsky Says

NEW YORK — NEA — Nicolai Berezowsky wants to set the Cold War to music. The Russian-born violinist-conductor-composer thinks that which hath charms to soothe savage beasts might also have power to melt Iron Curtains.

It is his belief that America should substitute Rachmaninoff for propaganda on its Voice of America broadcasts to Russia.

"Propaganda is lost on the Russians," he says, "even if it is the absolute truth. They don't know where truth is any more. But music—that is something they understand. The language of music is less subject to double-talk than the language of words."

Berezowsky feels that the Russians will come to know and respect America if we show we appreciate their artistic efforts. They consider music the first symptom of culture, he said, and we should capitalize on that trait.

Part Of Life

"The Russians' love of good music is part of their everyday life. They will always listen to good music—in spite of wars or famines."

Yet, he said, "Russia's own symphony orchestras are not as good as the great American orchestras. And their recordings are not up to the technical standards of American recordings. Consequently, their thirst for good music is never adequately filled."

"This is our chance," he said, "to give them what they want to hear. They will listen. This type of program would be a long investment in the future."

He adds that, at least in the beginning of such a program, we should avoid any controversial music, such as the works of composers who have been criticized by the Russian government. And the program should be on a definite schedule.

Berezowsky, a 50-year-old, sandy-haired man, came to America in 1922 and has been a citizen since 1928. He's been a soloist and guest conductor with many of America's most famous symphonies, and has written more than a score of compositions. He now is a conductor for a radio network.

Fire Can Turn Yule Cheer Into New Years Tears

The Christmas tree, traditionally the symbol of yuletide gaiety, can turn a cheerful holiday season into a tearful New Year if proper fire precautions are not taken in the present-day home.

Highly inflammable, an ignited Christmas tree can spark a fire to 50 times its original size in eight minutes, according to a recent Fire Council of America report. Tinsel, flimsy wrapping paper and cotton "snow" are no less hazardous.

To minimize these fire hazards without minimizing yuletide gaiety, the Council advises:

1. Don't leave wrappings around where carelessly flicked cigarette ashes may ignite them.
2. Set tree in sun porch, basement or any other room where floor and walls are of some fire-safe material such as clay tile.
3. Use live tree if possible. If cut tree is used, place trunk of tree in container of water or moist earth.
4. When needles start to fall off tree, discard it.
5. Don't leave tree lights burning if no one is at home.

Nicolai Berezowsky: In music, less double-talk.

good will. Too many Russians are swallowing the propaganda that we are a nation of barbarians."

He lit a cigaret and told a story to illustrate his point. During the war, he met a Russian woman sniper—"a sharpshooter who had killed 200 or so Germans"—who toured the U. S.

"The first thing she asked me was why I had run away over here," Berezowsky recalled. "The next thing she did was tell me how America had sent the Russian soldiers a gift of records."

"But they were jazz records," she said. "Imagine, sending us jazz records. They must be uncultured to do something like that." I explained to her that jazz was a medium of expression in America, but she just sneered.

"That's an impression we have to fix before we can get anywhere. We should show them we like the Russian composers, and the best way would be for American artists and singers to perform the Russian classics for them."

He adds that, at least in the beginning of such a program, we should avoid any controversial music, such as the works of composers who have been criticized by the Russian government. And the program should be on a definite schedule.
