Spraberry Wildcat Shows Oil On Core In SE Midland Area

Ted Wehner and others No. 1-16 Driver, wildcat in Southeast Midland County eight miles south of the Tex-Harvey field, and seven miles northeast of the recently completed discovery made by Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Midkiff, has indicated as a producer and as a new field opener from the Spraberry sand.

The Spraberry sand was topped at 7,110 feet on an elevation of 2,711 feet.

Operator cored from 7,110 feet to 7,120 feet. Recovery was seven feet of sand well saturated with oil and three feet of shale.

Operator is now preparing to set five and one-half-inch oil string on top of the Spraberry. When that is done, the Spraberry will be drilled out and the prospector will attempt a completion from open hole.

The exploration is 22 miles southeast of the city of Midland.

Location is at the center of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 16, block 37, T-4-S, R-2-P survey.

Permian Prospector Slated For C-S Hale

Ray A. Albaugh of Midland has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting a permit to start drilling by December 26 on his No. 1 C. A. Robertson estate, which is slated to be a 6,750-foot wildcat in Central-Southeast Hale County, about 12 miles southeast of Plainview.

Location shown on the application for this prospector is to be 330 feet from north and 2310 feet from east lines of section 3, block R, E&RR survey.

That makes it 600 feet due south of Albaugh's No. 1 Mrs. Clara Hornell, "right" wildcat which is reported by unofficial and unverified sources to have had good shows of possible production in the Wolfcamp zone of the lower Permian and in the Cisco series of the upper Pennsylvanian.

No information is currently available regarding the status of Albaugh's No. 1 Hornell. Although has been contacted for information on that project and he would make no statement regarding the correctness of the rumors.

It has been learned that Guy Mabee Drilling Company of Midland, contractor on the No. 1 Hornell has taken a contract to drill Albaugh's No. 1 Robertson estate.

Dual Completion Set For Midland Opener

C. W. Murchison and associates are to attempt to dually complete their No. 1 Joe Canon, Southwest Midland County wildcat as a discovery from the Pennsylvanian lime and as a major north extension to the Pegasus-Ellenburger field.

This project is bottomed at 13,185 feet in the Ellenburger. The section at 13,175-185 feet was drilled stem tested for two hours and five minutes. The packer for that test set up inside the casing which is cemented at 13,175 feet.

In the test at 13,175-185 feet gas showed at the surface in five minutes and oil started flowing in one hour. It was run to pits for five minutes and was then flowed to tanks for one hour and produced 35 barrels of oil. There was no water.

Top Zone Tested

The Ellenburger was topped at 13,122 feet. Elevation is 2,889 feet. The zone in the top of the Ellenburger at 13,100-152 feet was drilled stem tested for an unreported length of time.

Gas surfaced in 74 minutes and the recovery was 3,890 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud, 5,500 feet of clean oil and the 2,000-foot water blanket. A considerable amount of that fluid unloaded from the drill pipe while the tester was being pulled.

The Pennsylvanian section at 10,370-578 feet flowed oil during a drillstem test at the rate of 25-30 barrels per hour.

That zone did not show any water.

Operator has perforated the casing at 10,465-530 feet, in the Pennsylvanian. (Continued On Page 11)

Allies Repulse Red Stabs At Beachhead

TOKYO—(AP)—Beachhead defenders of the U. S. 10th Corps held pressing Red forces at bay Wednesday night all along the Allies' deliberately reduced Hungnam port area in Northeast Korea.

The planned withdrawal was proceeding under protective fire of artillery and the guns of warships standing in to shore. Doughboys now hold a relatively small slice of land only a few square miles in area around Hungnam harbor.

The big job of keeping the Red troops from massing for an all-out attack on the Americans fell to the gunners lobbing tons on tons of shells at the Chinese and Korean Reds trying to push the 10th Corps elements into the sea.

While the gunners held off the enemy hordes, there was no way of telling how long they could keep back the pressing thousands creeping ever closer to the Allied toehold on the beach.

Almost Worst Enemy

Major Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps commander, said he was pleased with the battle waged by his men and their naval surface and "flying artillery" support.

Marine and Navy pilots hit 24 enemy troop concentrations and claimed to have inflicted 1,300 casualties on the Chinese and North Koreans. Eight thousand Red Koreans have reinforced the estimated 100,000 Chinese swarming down on the beachhead.

With nearby Yonpo Airfield abandoned, American wounded were pushed to the water's edge in jeeps and then sped by boat to a well-lighted naval hospital ship in the busy harbor.

Across the Korean Peninsula in the West, U. S. Eighth Army troops fought minor engagements with North Korean forces driving over Parallel 38 in a 30-mile spread around Chunchon.

Chunchon is 45 miles northeast of Seoul and 10 miles south of 38.

Censorship Imposed On Korea News

TOKYO—(AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters Wednesday imposed the right of censorship over all news of Korean military operations without calling it an act of censorship.

A memorandum from MacArthur's public information officer, Col. M. F. Echols, said news dispatches and photographs must be submitted in Korea or Japan for security "screening" and clearance by military authorities before being sent out.

The brief announcement did not specify any penalty for evasion or violation.

The order was effective immediately. The Tokyo headquarters press advisory division immediately became swamped with copy. The division up to then had operated solely as a guiding influence on news involving security.

'Honor System' Falls

From the beginning of the Korean war June 25 correspondents were placed on their honor not to disclose information that might help the Reds. This voluntary system didn't always work. Some so-called news "beats" resulted from rather loose individual interpretation by war correspondents on what constituted security.

Since early in the campaign some of the press had asked for the imposition of formal censorship—not only to provide real security on important military moves, but to give all correspondents an even break on big stories bearing on marginal security considerations.

C. Of C. Directors Hear Final Reports, Make Banquet Plans

Progress reports were heard and annual banquet committees named by directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast-meeting held Wednesday in Hotel Schaubauer. President Robert L. Wood was the breakfast host.

The meeting was the final one of the year for the directors.

County Judge C. C. Keith, R. D. (Bob) Scruggs and Manager Delbert Downing reported on the Texas Highway Commission hearing which they attended in Austin Tuesday. The Midland representatives were joined in Austin by delegations from Upton and Crane Counties.

In making the Highway Commission to consider building a 57-mile road from a point south of Midland to the Pegasus oil field and extending on to McCamey and Crane.

The three Midland delegates said the commission displayed interest in the proposed highway and promised to investigate and study the matter as promptly as possible. A decision is expected to be reached early next year. Downing said the three-county group asked the commission to instigate the program on a segment basis.

Committee Named

President Wood named Jack Wicker, Jack Wilkinson and John P. Butler as members of the arrangements committee for the Chamber's annual membership meeting and banquet, scheduled the fourth Tuesday in January. A ticket-committee includes Paul McHargue, chairman, Stanley Erskine, C. E. Bissell, A. A. Jones and Fred Fromhold.

R. M. Barron was named chairman of a nominating committee, which includes directors whose terms of office expire this year. In (Continued On Page Seven)

FINAL STAGES OF RED SIEGE—Yonpo Airfield at Hamhung, Korea, presented this busy appearance as planes loaded and took off with men and war materiel before the field fell to the Chinese Reds. Army Engineers destroyed supplies and disabled aircraft which had to be left behind.

Post Office Sets Two New Records; On Way To Third

The Midland Post Office already has established two news records and is well on its way to a third, Postmaster N. G. Oates announced Wednesday.

Postal receipts have zoomed past the $300,000 mark for the first time in the history of the Midland office. A record number of letters and cards were handled Monday, $3,904, which will be a big boost toward setting an all-time Christmas season mailing mark.

Tuesday was another big day at the Midland office. A total of 75,715 letters and cards were posted to boost the 1950 season 136,728 ahead of the corresponding 1949 ahead.

Oates said his staff is keeping abreast of the incoming parcel post load, but Christmas cards bearing two-cent stamps are piling up and delivery will be delayed. He has a couple of suggestions for last-minute mailing.

Recommend Air Mail

"If a parcel or card is being sent more than 100 miles from Midland," the postmaster said, "it should be sent air mail special delivery to make possible delivery by Christmas." He also suggests mailing cards first class for delivery here, because of the backlog of second-class mail.

Oates employed three men Tuesday, bringing the total of extra employees for the present mailing rush to 21.

Midlanders can help postal employees very much by taking the mail out of their boxes. Oates reminded many people who have boxes neglect their mail, causing a congestion of parcels destined for box-holders.

Seal Sale Returns Hit $5,820 Figure

Returns in the annual Christmas Seal Sale Wednesday totaled $5,820, officials of the Midland County Tuberculosis Association, sponsoring organization, announced. The goal is $6,000, leaving a total of $980 yet to be subscribed.

Bob Payne, campaign chairman, thanked Midlanders for their generous response in the annual drive and urged those who have not forwarded checks for their seals to do so promptly, as the goal may be reached before Christmas if possible.

Rosie The Riveter Returns To Factory

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Rosie the riveter—the overtime gal in the blue jeans who helped shoulder America's World War II defense effort—is coming back in increasing numbers.

At least in the Baltimore area, her sisters are busy wrapping their peck-a-boe veils for welders' helmets in more than one important industry.

Officials of various firms here say manpower shortages brought on by the twin causes of production expansion and accelerating military requirements are being met by hiring more and more women.

A spokesman for Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Company said that firm has had a personnel increase of 1,500 in the last two months, and that it plans to keep hiring at the rate of two or three hundred per week.

General Freeze To Hold Price Line On Crude, Oil Products

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A general freeze of crude oil and of product prices went into effect Tuesday as the practical effect of a hold-the-line request from the Economic Stabilization Agency.

The freeze date is December 3.

The action came in telegrams to 40 major Midwest and Eastern refiners asking them to "hold in abeyance" any proposed crude and product price boosts above the December 3 level. And to give the ESA hereafter seven days notice of any contemplated price increases.

The companies are to reply "by wire."

Only a week ago, E. S. Adams, president, Phillips Petroleum Company, in a public statement, said crude prices averaging about $2.54 a barrel are too low, and should be raised.

The statement was widely interpreted as a trial balloon, and if so, the government's reaction, apparently, has been forthright.

On December 14, three days after the Adams statement, ESA Director Alan Valentine telephoned O. D. Judd, World War II petroleum price control czar, and asked him to come to government service again.

Judd, who had been in business in Richmond, Va. came that day and did a "hurry" investigation of the oil situation, resulting in the hold-the-line request of Tuesday.

World War II Pattern

While it is too early to assess the meaning of ESA's action, there is a wide belief among oil men in Washington (Continued On Page 11)

Self-Imposed Rollbacks Of Prices Asked

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Union labor Wednesday demanded that any government wage controls plan allow for pay increases to match rises in the cost of living.

A united labor policy committee, headed by AFL President William Green and CIO President Philip Murray, took this request to President Truman even as the Economic Stabilization Agency worked on a wage formula to go along with a voluntary price control system announced Tuesday night.

Members of the group said they also asked new legislation to permit greater controls over foods prices and rents.

They gave reporters a statement which made these main points as to wages:

Roy Parks, Jr. Dies In Dallas

The appointment was announced by Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, administrator of the Dallas-Fort Worth area of the Methodist Church, which includes the Northwest Texas Conference. It was confirmed by the bishop's cabinet, which includes the superintendents of the nine Northwest Texas districts.

Mr. Kirk is expected to assume his new pastorate about the middle of January.

Bishop Martin and Dr. O. F. He is a graduate of McMurry College, Abilene, where he was a classmate of Mr. Hollowell's. He is recognized as one of the most outstanding Methodist ministers in Texas.

Mr. Kirk is married and has a son and two daughters, both of whom are married. The son, R. L. Jr., is a ministerial student at McMurry College. One of the daughters is married to a Methodist minister, the Rev. Davis Edens.

Mr. Hollowell, when advised of the appointment of Mr. Kirk as his successor, said he is well-pleased at the action of the bishop and the committee.

"It is an outstanding job as pastor of the First Church here," Hollowell said.

Freeze Order Dips Commodity Prices

NEW YORK—(AP)—The government's price freeze order against the commodity markets unprepared Wednesday and prices began a downward slide shortly after the major markets opened.

Cotton futures at New York were the worst actors with prices of some deliveries off as much as $8 before short covering and mill buying resulted in some recovery.

Dealers attributed the break in cotton prices to confusion over the government order, which sought a voluntary price rollback to December levels.

After the first deep break mills came into the market to cover contracts and along with some short covering, prices recovered more than $3 a bale from the lows.

HOLLYWOOD — Behind the scenes: The day that contracts were signed for Francis X. Bushman to play King Saul in "David and Bathsheba," two studio secretaries met at lunchtime.

Spirit Of Accord

It's too early to measure the ultimate worth of the Truman-Attlee talks in Washington. But one thing they already have proved beyond doubt: Moscow's attempt to split the western powers is doomed to failure.

U. S. correspondents in Europe have been telling us the break-up of the North Atlantic nations was one prime Soviet objective in prodding the Chinese Reds into their Korean offensive. Evidence of this aim comes from Russia itself, where recently there was premature shedding of tears (glycerin, of course) over the predicted collapse of the western alliance.

The Kremlin figured that disputes between Britain, France and the United States over how much strength to commit in Korea would cause the falling out. If that could have been gained, it would have been well worth the risk, since the vitally important unity of the West in Europe would have been destroyed.

Prime Minister Attlee effectively spiked that hope from the moment he landed on American soil. He dashed it for good and all when he told the National Press Club a few days later that "in fair weather and foul" Britain will stand with America.

President Truman, for his part, was just as much concerned that no crack be allowed to develop in the West's armor. Through the State Department, he made it plain that a rift simply would not be countenanced.

It was necessary for Attlee to push out of sight some of the criticisms his countrymen had been making of the United States. This he did, with unhesitating resolution.

It was necessary for the President, too, to soft-pedal some American complaints against the British and French.

This isn't to suggest that the two heads of state were in complete harmony at every stage. Reports filtering out of their various meetings indicate they spoke out quite plainly on many topics. One may surmise that a healthy clearing of the air has resulted.

The spirit of accord reflected in these meetings certainly is demanded by the West's crisis. But probably their final value will not be gauged by what was said there in behalf of unity. It will be more likely judged by what the free nations DO in the months ahead to demonstrate that unity.

Hole In The Dike

There's evidence from Washington that the critical events in Korea are welding leaders of both parties into a solid front. These men are ready to dispense with the time-consuming and energy-wasting business of placing blame and uttering recriminations. That's as it should be.

Unfortunately, this fine spirit of unity does not extend to the whole rank and file in Congress. Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, never a man to worry about proving his charges, still is busy making new ones. Now he wants President Truman impeached unless he uses Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa armies in the fight against Red China.

It is apparent that the senator's concept of duty is vastly different from that held by most of his fellow lawmakers.

"Hey, Fellas! Isn't It About Time To Get Going?"

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Acheson more belligerent than Marshall in approach to war; Military men warn against moving in haste; Rail strike represents mediation failure.

WASHINGTON — A unique backstage difference of opinion has developed between two of the most important policy-makers in the cabinet—Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall—over hostilities in the Orient.

The difference is that Acheson, accused by Republicans of being an appeaser, is far more belligerent than Marshall, a military man.

Marshall's view — and it's shared by other military men — is that we must let no hysterical cries from Congress or irresponsible military actions in Asia embroil us in war. What Marshall and his military staff fear is that some sudden move by us may convince the Russians we are about to attack, thereby causing them to move first.

Our best intelligence is that Russia does not want a major war, though she could be stamped into one. Therefore, Secretary Marshall, in meetings of the cabinet and the National Security Council, has pleaded for calmness. He also has urged General MacArthur against any move which would bring on World War III, and he was opposed to MacArthur's troop movements near the Manchurian border after it had been agreed that we would keep a 40-mile neutrality zone this side of Manchuria.

Secretary Marshall points out — and it's no secret to the rest of the world — that we are in no position to fight World War III and cannot be for at least a year. He also believes that if we live through the next 12 months without war, there is a chance of averting it altogether. That is the reason President Truman's speech emphasized that peace, not war, is our goal.

Though Marshall and Acheson are warm friends and worked together in the State Department, Acheson is perhaps the most militant non-appeaser in the administration — perhaps the natural reaction to unfair attacks against him as a Communist sympathizer.

Acheson has proposed a naval blockade of the China coast, urged the bombing of Chinese cities, and favors keeping a military bridgehead in Korea. These measures were opposed by Prime Minister Attlee during his recent visit, and are also opposed by top U. S. military men.

These military men warn against three dangers in the present rearmament period: 1. Politicians who clamor for all-out military aggressiveness. Governor Dewey's speech was regarded by the Pentagon as too aggressive, though it was encouraged secretly by the State Department.

2. Military men who clamor for a preventive war. General MacArthur is placed in this category.

3. State Department officials, including Acheson, who insist on aggressive action.

Note—Military chiefs point to another domestic danger in connection with rearmament — namely, drafting too many trainees before the army has enough camps and training officers. Secretary Marshall wants to move just as swiftly as possible but only as fast as the military machine can absorb men and weapons. He hopes for a steady 365-days-a-year preparedness, not a look of quick hullabaloo followed by lethargy.

Behind RE Strike Inside fact is that President Truman was warned weeks ago of a railroad strike unless John Steelman, his genial White House aide,

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

It is sometimes hard to imagine how a player can possibly find a way to lose a particular contract. For example, in today's hand it may seem that South had to be very ingenious to be set at four hearts. Actually, South didn't do anything very remarkable. It is said, but true, that thousands of players might have made the same mistake.

West opened the five of hearts since the bidding indicated that dummy had ruffing power and a short suit. West's intentions, a very proper one, was to reduce dummy's ruffing power by leading trumps at every opportunity.

South looked at the opening lead with great suspicion. Since this particular South would not dream of leading away from the king of trumps if he were a defender, he did not imagine that West had done so. He decided that East must have the king of trumps, and that the only chance to avoid the loss of a trump trick was to put up dummy's ace of hearts at once! When he did so, East discarded the three of spades, and South groaned mightily.

Having misplayed the trumps, South looked around for new worlds to conquer. He immediately led a low spade from dummy, East calmly played the six of spades, and now South had to guess whether to play the king or the jack.

South went through all the orthodox procedures. He looked at East, and then he looked at West. His next step was to look at the ceiling. He then scratched his head and stroked his chin. He finally played the king of spades with the air of a man who has made up his mind.

That was the end of poor South. He was now bound to lose two spades, a club, and a trump.

There is no need to comment on the first trick. South had to guess what West was doing on the opening lead, and perhaps the play of the ace of hearts was merely a bad guess. The rest of it, however, was not a bad guess but actually a very bad play.

There was no earthly need for South to take his spade guess at the second trick. He should have led a club from dummy to get some information about the hand. East would have stopped up with the ace of clubs, and then East probably would have returned a low spade.

At this stage, South would be in a position to do some real thinking instead of merely scratching his head. East had passed third hand. He had already shown up void of hearts and with the ace of clubs. Could he also have the ace of spades?

South would logically come to the conclusion that East would have found a bid if he also held the ace of spades. Hence, South would fess up the jack of spades and make his contract.

THE mass meeting of boatworkers employees was held outside the main gate of the yard. A temporary speakers' platform had been built at one end of a grassy open space just across the cinder road. The workers and townspeople sat there on the ground.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Universal Military Service Is Step In Right Direction

By FETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — First suggestion that makes any sense on what to do in the present international mess comes from Harvard President James B. Conant, Scientist Vannevar Bush, ex-Undersecretary of War Tracy and some 20 associates. They call themselves "The Committee on the Present Danger."

The meat of their suggestion is that what this country needs right now, more than anything else, is a trained armed force of 3,500,000 men, built up in two years of universal military service.

This would not be the peppy waist program of six-months universal military training plus six months in the reserve or National Guard, as proposed for the last four years and consistently turned down by Congress. That would have been of some help if promptly enacted. But it's too late for that now.

What this Committee on the Present Danger now proposes is two years in the Army, Navy or Air Force for every young man in the country. This service would begin when the young man graduates from high school, or when he reaches age 18, whichever comes later. Even men who couldn't pass physical examinations would be called on for duty in clerical or non-combatant assignments.

UMS, or universal military service, would not immediately replace the present draft law and selective service system. The draft still would be necessary for men more than 18 or 20, and to call back reserves as needed. Young men of exceptional ability discovered through UMS would be given the opportunity for further technical and scientific training, possibly on government scholarships.

Not all the details of this new plan have been worked out, but that is coming. It is perhaps unfortunate that as much of the plan as announced by Dr. Conant may have been buried or lost sight of in the more sensational things which Dr. Bush had to say about atom bombs.

Emphasizing that these are only his personal views, Dr. Bush points out that while the atom bomb has been America's greatest protection against Russian attack, the ability to deliver that bomb against primary targets gradually is decreasing. Jet planes have proved powerful as interceptors. A radar screen makes detection of bomber planes easier. And while the United States has been building a television network, Soviet Russia has been building a radar screen.

These are things which military leaders should have been pointing out to awaken the country to its present danger. But the importance in what Dr. Bush has to say is in what can be done to correct this situation. This is to build up American manpower through some such plan as universal military service.

"We cannot plan to meet the hordes of Red China man for man," says Dr. Bush. "We must therefore have in mind the necessity for arming with better weapons. And we must arrange that these weapons get developed and get used. But other means must be used if Russia is to be held in check—namely an army being built. This job cannot be done unless our allies in Europe do the same thing. They must therefore be aided with arms and equipment."

That is where the universal military service plan comes in. The idea for this plan is largely Dr. Conant's. He is trying not to assume credit for it, but it's his. He calls it the AAU plan, for the Association of American Universities which has approved it. Among the members of his Committee on the Present Danger are the presidents of Biogyn, Princeton, California, Washington, Williams and Missouri. Others include ex-Secretary of War Robert T. Patterson, former WFB counsel John L. Child, General, and Chairman Harry A. Bullis, former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton. None of the members is actively in politics.

As to where the committee goes with its plan, there may be some doubt. It has drafted no bill to carry out its ideas. It has not submitted its plan to the President. It has no backing in Congress, though if some congressman wanted to make a name for himself he could not do better than get behind this such push hard.

In getting behind any such draft plan as universal military service, there must be full realization of what it means. If all manpower is to be drafted, business must expect the same thing.

"This country must expand the program for equipment and supplies far beyond goals already announced," says the committee's statement. "It will require submission to economic controls far more exacting than those now in effect. . . . The doubt is not whether such a program is too arduous. The doubt is whether it is arduous enough. It is, in our judgment, the only chance of averting a war of world dimensions, or of assuring victory if, in spite of our efforts to maintain the peace, the Soviet Union insists on World War III."

During World War I, a major saw a man running at a top speed away from the battle zone. Lifting his hand like a traffic cop, the officer commanded, "Stop, my good man; what are you doing?" The soldier replied, "Our captain said for us to strike for home and mother and I'm striking for there as fast as I can." And he started running again.

"Halt," commanded the officer. "Do you know who I am? I am Major Blank of the general headquarters staff." The private exclaimed, "Good heavens! Have I reached safety this quick?"

Six factories in the Ryukyus Islands are being equipped to produce about $600,000 worth of pearl buttons annually, principally for export.

People aren't interested in truth. Aren't suspicious to it either and so they're suspicious when it's dangled before 'em. Look for the hook instead. He should have put more of that hurr-a-b-for-you-noble-home-front-warriors schmalz into his oratory, like the admiral. That's what makes the customers play patty-cake until they get bilsters on the palms of their hands.

"He has told the truth." That statement came from Kirsten who was sitting almost in front of Joe. "But the workers do not like it."

"Did you hear that?" demanded Eddie. "She said almost the same thing you did."

"Yeah," admitted Joe. "Just a coincidence, I guess. But we might try it out." He stopped a moment and then said slowly and didactically, "In a democracy you have to find out first what the people are thinking and then say that."

"I believe," said Kirsten to Marjorie Lou, "that here in our United States it is best first to learn what the people think and then say the same thing." She paused with a slightly startled look on her lovely fair features. "I do not know why I spoke that way. I do not really believe that at all."

"Neither do I," Joe almost patted her on the back. "Good girl. Politicians follow the crowd but statesmen lead it."

KIRSTEN continued, "Abraham Lincoln led our people and he never pretended that wrong was right just because many politicians said so."

Eddie smiled at Joe. "She says what you do, only she says it myself."

Joe smiled right back at him. "How do you know I'm not thinking it better than I say it?"

"You mean she's saying what you're thinking?"

"Could be. I'm a stranger here myself."

Rear Admiral Pearson had to leave to catch a train for his next dedication. All the officials departed with him. But the crowd, especially the working crew, stayed on. There was nothing else to do until the whistle blew. (To Be Continued)

The vows were read before a background arrangement of palms, white stock and candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin dress with covered button trim and a veil of pleated, imported net. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Wanda Rogers of Post, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a rose colored dress fashioned in shirt-waist style with a Peter Pan collar and a full skirt. The bridesmaids, Ella May Hartman of San Louis Obispo, Calif., and Esther Verkivitz of Bethany, Okla., and the candlelighter, Ruth Struen, wore similarly styled dresses in different pastel shades.

Buri Keeton was the best man. Ushers were Edwin Perkins of Post and Morris Matson.

Reception in Parsonage

Try These Drastic Measures If Hubby Won't Take You Out

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"How do other wives manage to get their husbands to take them out occasionally?" asks a wife with cabin fever—brought on by spending evening after evening in her own living room, while her husband reads, "listens to the radio and stalls all her efforts at conversation by leaning closer to the radio or refusing to glance up from his reading."

Well, a lot of wives don't manage to drag their husbands out at night. Others don't have to drag them because they are married to men who are as sociable as they are. But plenty of wives do get an occasional evening out just by taking the offensive—and ignoring all of their husband's defensive tactics—such as pleading a hard day at the office, or the "do we have to go out again tonight?" routine.

If it's worth it to you—you might try that last method. Don't ask your husband if he wants to go out, or try the wistful "we haven't been anywhere in ages" line. Just get busy and make some plans.

Surprise Him

Hire a baby sitter. Have your glad rags on when your husband comes home, and announce brightly that you're going out to dinner, to a movie, to the Joneses, or whatever place you've picked.

The worst he can do is refuse to go—which isn't likely, with you all dressed up and a baby sitter hired for the evening.

If he does that, keep your temper and say well, you guess you'll just go by yourself, and that as long as he is going to be home you can call the sitter and tell her not to come.

An evening at home won't look nearly so appealing if Papa's got to baby sit and if you aren't going to be sitting home, too.

That may sound like a high price to pay for an evening out—but you wanted to know how some women manage to get their husbands to take them places. And that's one way it can be done.

CAPITALISM

Nothing is superior except by comparison

WHEN we compare the conditions of nations and people in anti-capitalistic countries with the security, prosperity, happiness and well-being of our people under United States capitalism, we appreciate our privilege of living in a capitalistic, democratic country.

The basic principle of the free, capitalistic system which we have developed in our country affords opportunity to the individual who is willing to use his talents to the extent of his ability and desire to produce—to accumulate something for investment in a home, a farm, in savings accounts, bonds and other securities, life insurance, the education of his children, and comforts of life—and become a capitalist.

The following facts give us a deep appreciation of what capitalism has done and is doing for our country and its people.

Private capital in the form of taxes and purchases of United States Government Bonds made it possible for us to spend three hundred thirty billion dollars in carrying out our part of the program in winning World War II. This, of course, is unimportant when we consider the loss of life and permanent and partial disability which our youth sustained and which cannot be measured in dollars.

Our participation in World War II has left us today with a national debt of two hundred fifty-seven billion dollars, but on the credit side we find that our annual national income, at the current rate, is equal to 90% of our total national debt. Of this total national debt, thirty-nine billion dollars are in treasury obligations owned by Government agencies, so our net debt is slightly over two hundred eighteen billion dollars.

The United States free enterprise business system is operating at its highest level, furnishing employment to sixty-two million people at the highest hourly and weekly earnings ever recorded. Stockholders and corporations, after paying the highest peacetime taxes in the post-war years, have had the highest net average earnings in history from their investment.

Our farmers had cash income from marketing last year amounting to twenty-seven billion five hundred million dollars, the highest on record.

Total farm assets of our country amount to slightly more than one hundred twenty-seven billion dollars, against which there is an indebtedness of only twelve billion four hundred million dollars. Thus our farmers have ownership equity of over 90 per cent in their farms.

In non-farm homes, counting apartment buildings with four or less families, and all valued at a total of two hundred billion dollars, our home owners have an equity of one hundred fifty-eight billion dollars—a substantial ownership of 79 per cent.

Therefore, as a result of the opportunity provided by our free-enterprise capitalistic system, the people of our nation have a free and clear ownership in their homes and farms of 83.4 per cent.

Our people have savings of more than one hundred thirty-six billion dollars in government bonds and savings accounts.

An additional ninety-seven billion dollars are on deposit in commercial bank accounts.

Our men and women have a cash investment of sixty billion dollars in life insurance policies.

A high percentage of our working people are provided with unemployment insurance, sickness, accident and retirement benefits, financed by employers, employees and government. Others who are not covered by these plans and who find themselves in need are provided for by governmental and social institutions.

We are increasing our efforts to improve the standard of living of the people in the lower income brackets.

The United States, with only six per cent of the world population and seven per cent of its land area, under its democratic, capitalistic system, before World War II, produced forty-seven per cent of the world's manufactured goods, but what is more important, ninety per cent of that production was consumed within our own borders. Today we are producing over fifty per cent of the world's manufactured goods, of which a substantial percentage is for other countries.

Capitalism is backing freedom of worship and providing increasing educational opportunities by constantly giving more and more support to the two things upon which our democratic, cultural civilization depends—spiritual and educational values.

We have a permanent investment in churches and schools of eighteen billion five hundred million dollars and are spending annually eight billion dollars for religious and educational purposes.

Membership in the churches is increasing at a much faster rate than the increase in the population, and in our Sunday Schools at an even greater rate.

In the past thirty years, elementary school enrollment has increased 13.5 per cent, high school enrollment 146.1 per cent and college and university enrollment 351.6 per cent.

Our public school expenditures per pupil enrolled have gone up from $48.02 in 1920 to $132.06 in 1947, or 175.0 per cent.

Since 1920 the population of our country has increased 43 per cent and the investment in school and college equipment has increased 571 per cent.

Since the beginning of our industrial and scientific development in the early 1800's, the capitalistic system, due to individual freedom, initiative and ingenuity, has given the world more of the comforts and conveniences of life than mankind had received in the previous 5000 years of civilization.

Under this system our people as a whole are happy and united, are increasing their capital and enjoying a fuller spiritual, cultural and material life.

Today our scientific and industrial knowledge and experience in the various fields of peaceful activity are open to the rest of the world, and in this respect we have joined with other like-minded nations in contributing to the technical assistance program of the United Nations.

No nation, no individual, no venture, no private or public institution, no program for the welfare of people can progress without capital.

It is each individual's duty to contribute to the preservation, protection and improvement of our democratic civilization on a basis which is sound and fair to all our people.

Not Even Employees Of City Escape Little Red Tickets

Censorship—

(Continued From Page One) and commander of Commonwealth troops in Korea, repeatedly had advocated formal censorship of Korean war news. He said intervention by the Chinese Reds made such action imperative.

Voluntary Blackouts

Army authorities in Tokyo have contended they lacked the manpower to enforce such censorship and that it would be ineffective without similar regulations in Washington and other world capitals.

Voluntary news blackouts prevailed; correspondents generally followed the established practice of not sending certain information unless some individual correspondent broke the story ahead of time and thus gave the enemy access to the information.

News broadcasts by radio are monitored by the Reds. Once published or broadcast in the United States and elsewhere in the world, the information also is available to on-the-spot agents.

Until Wednesday, the latest headquarters policy had been that all stories written in Korea and Tokyo were to be submitted to appropriate public information officers within eight hours of filing.

Clearance Before Filing

That policy accompanied a list of "suggestions" outlining what constituted security. It was invoked December 11. The four-point list asked the withholding of news concerning planned activities, moves in progress, enemy movements with respect to Allied boundaries, location of Allied units unless in contact with the enemy and other vital points.

Wednesday's clearance-before-filing order was announced after a series of stories which MacArthur's headquarters said breached security.

A security blackout on some activities in the beachhead has prevailed since UN forces fell back to it earlier this month.

RAIL BOARD UPHOLD IN COL-TEX BUYING CASE

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Third Court of Civil Appeals Wednesday upheld a Railroad Commission order directing Col-Tex Refining Company to buy crude oil ratably in eight West Texas fields. The decision reversed a trial court judgment which had declared the order invalid.

West Germans To Drive Hard Bargain On Europe's Defense

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM—(AP)—West Germans made it clear to the Big Three Wednesday they want more than they have been offered, in return for taking part in an international military organization to protect the Western world.

The Atlantic Council decision will go before the West German government soon, and the Germans likely will drive a sharp bargain.

Bonn dispatches said the three Allied high commissioners for Germany probably will meet Thursday with Konrad Adenauer, the West German Republic's chancellor (premier), to inform him of the results of the conference which placed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the head of a projected international army of 1,000,000, to include German units.

Members of Adenauer's own dominant party, the Christian Democrats, predicted negotiations over Germany's role in the Western army would be long drawn-out. A press statement issued by the party said it would be some time before the federal government would be able to take a definite stand.

To Talk With Russia

Here in Brussels, where the 12 member nations of the Atlantic Pact reached their historic decision Tuesday, it was reported the Germans might be offered representation on General Eisenhower's staff, but would not be allowed either a foreign ministry or a defense ministry of their own—at least not for the time being. Germans have been demanding participation in Western European defense plans on a basis of full equality with the other nations.

The Western powers agreed in principle to meet with the Soviet Union—if the talks would be extended to cover all points of East-West tension rather than just the German questions, as the Russians had proposed.

A French cabinet spokesman said in Paris France's answer to the Russian bid would go out this week along these lines, and London and Washington were expected soon to send like replies.

SIDE GLANCES

"The boss chases me out at the last minute to buy his wife the same old gifts—I always pick them up at the August sales!"

And So It Goes In A Family Fuss

A Midland couple was brought before Judge J. M. DeArmond in Corporation Court Wednesday on charges of being drunk in a public place and disturbing the peace.

"What were you doing?" asked the judge.

"We were on our way home," the woman said, "and got in an argument."

She said police happened to be nearby and arrested them both.

"What were you arguing about?" asked the judge.

"Oh, something silly, I guess," she replied.

"Well, what was it about?" Judge DeArmond inquired.

She turned to her husband.

"Do you remember what we were arguing about," she asked him.

"No," he replied, "I don't remember."

Each was fined $15.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"It always happens to me," groaned Hard Luck Joe. "No matter how good a player my partner is, he waits until he cuts me and then plays like a moron."

Joe's partner was an expert canasta player. Also, he had known Joe for so long that he didn't even bother to explain that Joe had brought disaster upon his own shoulders.

Joe and partner had started off well on the particular hand. They had acquired the discard pile after both sides had melded, and they were building up towards a fair score. Then one of the opponents froze the discard pile as a desperate measure. His side had fewer cards than did Joe and partner, but he hoped to gain breathing space and perhaps to meld out before lightning struck. Anyway, he was playing against Joe.

As it happened, play went round and round; and the discard pile grew more and more valuable. It was worth much more to Joe's side because they could make two natural canastas and several other interesting melds if they got it. The pile was not worth that much to the opponents, but they would still do pretty well with it.

At the time the pile had been frozen, Joe held seven cards. By the time the trouble arose, he had worked himself down to five cards—for no good reason.

Joe drew, looked around the table carefully, asked each player how many cards he held, and finally asked: "Partner, may I go out?"

His partner said "No." He held nine cards, including four pairs, he therefore had at hopes of getting the discard pile.

Now Joe went into a real huddle. He fingered first one card and then another, and eventually made his discard. The next player slapped a matching pair on the table, grabbed the pile, and proceeded to meld a couple of canastas and several other goodies. Joe's partner could meld only a couple of cards, and then the other opponent completed another canasta and went out. The total swing against Joe amounted to about 1500 points!

Now let's see if you readers know why Joe rather than his partner was at fault.

Here is the reason. Whenever there is a large valuable discard pile, a player who does not have a safe discard should never ask the question. He should simply go out and get the hand over with.

To put it another way, all good canasta players use this convention. When there is an important discard pile, a player who asks permission to go out absolutely guarantees that he has a safe discard. Thus he is able to make a safe play if his partner chooses to keep the hand alive.

$60,000,000 Policy Wheel Racket Bared In Chicago Hearing

CHICAGO—(AP)—Operations of Chicago's biggest policy wheels, which each year take an estimated $60,000,000 in bets ranging upward from a dime, were told to the U. S. Senate Crime Committee Tuesday night.

The huge income and big profits from the wheels—numbers racket—were disclosed as committee investigators questioned two of the so-called policy kings of the South Side negro district.

Both men—Edward F. Jones, 33, and Theodore Roe—were seized by state's attorney's police after their testimony, which came near the end of Tuesday night's public hearing.

State's Attorney John S. Boyle early Wednesday ordered the two locked up pending filing of gambling charges. He said he planned to present the case to the grand jury in January.

Jones and Roe are partners in the Maine-Idaho-Ohio wheel, one of the city's biggest. There are six or seven wheels of comparable size and a dozen or so smaller ones, Roe told the committee. He said his wheel takes in about $24,000 on two drawings a day, a total of $8,760,000 a year.

Well, The Place Wasn't 'Lonely'

A Midland business man picked the wrong place to take a nap Tuesday.

Police found him and brought him before Judge J. M. DeArmond in city corporation court on a charge of drunkenness.

He admitted he had had a few drinks and fallen asleep in his automobile.

That was all right, explained officers, but when he fell asleep in the middle of busy U. S. Highway 80, just west of Midland.

He paid a $25 fine.

Directors attending the Wednesday session adopted resolutions commending two Midland men, William L. Kerr, a member of the Board of Regents of the State Teachers College, and Fred Wemple, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, for their long years of public service. Copies of the resolutions, to be drafted by a committee including B. G. Gratz, Charles Ervin and Bert Ryan, will be forwarded to Gov. Allan Shivers.

A report of 4-H Club activities was given by R. L. Miller, director in charge of agriculture-livestock activities.

The directors voted to present a cash bonus to Manager Downing as a Christmas gift.

Cart Before Horse, Or Fear Before Act

The operator of a Midland tourist court reported to police Tuesday night that one of her tenants had found something missing in his cabin.

Police duly investigated and here is their official report: "Sgt. Chester Sprague and Jack Truman investigated and found he was only afraid of missing something."

'I Don't Know A Thing And I'm Not Shopping'—Tugboat

"I don't know a thing," Midland Coach Thurmon L. (Tugboat) Jones said Wednesday morning in a telephone conversation with a Reporter-Telegram reporter concerning published reports that he is being considered for the coaching job at Amarillo High School.

"I haven't applied for the job, nor do I intend to," Jones said. "I have a good job and I'm not shopping."

"But," the Midland mentor added, "if Amarillo officials contact me, I probably would look into the offer. That's human nature."

Jones went on to add that many coaches are calling Amarillo and wanting the job so, "I don't imagine they will have to go to the trouble of calling coaches who have not applied for the job."

The Amarillo coaching spot was left open after the Amarillo School Board failed to renew the contract of Howard (Bull) Lynch. But Tugboat Jones says he is not applying for the job, and stated: "I still am Midland's head coach."

Kermit-Wharton To Run Special Trains

SWEETWATER—Special trains will bring hundreds of fans into Sweetwater Monday for the state championship clash between Kermit and Wharton to determine the 1950 champion of Class A schoolboy football.

Approximately 500 Wharton fans will board a Santa Fe train there late Sunday night to make the trip to Sweetwater. The 110-piece band and pep squad of the high school also will be on the special.

Kermit school officials expect the whole city to turn out for the contest. A special T&P train will carry those fans to Sweetwater, including the 100-piece band and pep squad.

The football teams are expected here Sunday. Sweetwater officials expect an overflow crowd of 10,000 to swamp Mustang Bowl.

Sweetwater city officials have asked local cafes and restaurants to remain open on Christmas Day to feed many visitors.

Angelo Scribe Says Film Show Kermit Touchdown Illegal

COLEMAN—Hugh Wallace, sports scribe of the San Angelo Standard-Times, witnessed here Tuesday night films of the Coleman-Kermit football battle and agreed along with others present that Kermit's first touchdown was illegal.

With the score 0-0 in the second quarter, Center Don Kaye Brown centered the ball to Quarterback Sam Woods who was trapped behind the line as he tried to get a pass off to Rick Spinks. Woods then lobbed a "basketball" pass into the end zone to Brown, who took the ball and the play was ruled a touchdown.

But being a center, Brown was not a legal receiver. Coleman later scored but Kermit scored again and won the game 12-6.

Kermit now has won 14 straight games and will play Wharton for the Class A state championship Christmas Day at Sweetwater.

King's Row

By LARRY KING

The dark-haired young man looked up from the cup of hot coffee and said: "Tugboat Jones teaches a heck of a lot more than just football."

He shifted in the booth, called for another cup of the potion brewed up by Jerry Malajek at the Crawford Hotel and continued: "He's a master at handling boys—and he's just as adept at getting along with parents, school officials and the fans. He is, in my opinion, the best coach in the business."

That covers a lot of territory. For the dark-haired young man was Lindy Berry, former pupil of Jones at Wichita Falls, and later a performer of national prominence with the TCU eleven. And Berry has an additional year of football behind him, other than his high school and college days. That would be the 1950 season, when he performed with the Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Canada Professional League.

Berry played quarterback on the 1944 and 1945 Jones-coached Wichita Falls eleven—and both won district titles. The '44 outfit dropped to Amarillo in the bi-district, and the '45 team fell to Highland Park in the state semi-finals.

And of course every football fan is familiar with Berry's record in college—how, after the initial three games as a freshman, he started every game on the TCU schedule for four seasons. And how he gave a fine defensive performance in the East-West Shrine game in California New Year's Day, 1950.

Following that, Lindy received a pro offer from the San Francisco Forty-Niners—but Edmonton offered him a better deal from a financial standpoint and Berry traveled to the Canada loop.

Football is catching on fine in Canada, according to Berry. "We averaged 10,000 fans over a 19-game schedule," he said, "and that's pretty good considering that football started in Canada after World War II."

Lindy was joined in the Canada loop by several Southwest Conference stars. His teammate from TCU, Tackle Don Narrall, joined Lindy at Edmonton, as did another ex-Froggie, End Morris Bailey. Also on the Edmonton team was Rollin Frather, Kansas State end. And before the season was over, Doug Brightwell came to the team from TCU.

Jack Jacobs, the former Oklahoma great, Sammy Pierce of Baylor, Buddy Tinsley of Baylor and Al Langford of Howard Payne College were other stars from this section performing in the Canadian league.

"It was rugged," Berry told us.

Speaking of his college career, Berry said SMU's Kyle Rote was the "hardest runner I ever played against." He admires Bobby Layne, the ex-Texas star now with Detroit, as a "very smart quarterback and an excellent passer."

But the SMU Golden Boy, Doak Walker, drew the most lavish praise from Berry. "Walker has the smartest football head of anyone I know in the playing circle, and the most all around ability," was his comment.

"We couldn't get Berry to say much of his own feats—he wanted to talk about the fine coaching staff Midland has: Tugboat Jones, Red Rutledge and Audrey Gill. Rutledge was Jones' assistant when Berry played at Wichita Falls, and Lindy was high in praise of Red's ability as a coach, and in being liked by the public.

Berry is doubtful if he will play professional football next year—although he looked as if he could step onto the field and be ready to go. At 175 pounds, the 5-foot, 10-inch griddler is only seven pounds above his normal weight.

But Berry wants to settle down—right here in Midland. "I sure like the looks of this town, and the people too," he said. Lindy would like to coach, and if he can obtain a teaching certificate he may do so. But he is a business major and will consider anything along those lines. "Anything I think I could handle, I would be glad to try," Lindy commented.

And from the way he can handle a football, he probably can handle just about anything.

The officials actually let us get away with murder. As a whole, the football in the league isn't as smart as the college ball is here, but it's a lot tougher."

Added to that the fact the teams played on Saturday, took a day off, then played again on Monday. "That," Berry sighed, "got a little old." We can imagine!

—KR—

But despite the rugged play in Canada, it was second to the rules and regulations in giving Berry and his state-side comrades trouble. Canadian rules are quite different. For example, 12 (not 11) men make up a team—there is an additional back. The series of downs is three, not four. The field is 110 yards long and 60 yards wide—about 10 yards larger each way than the U. S. field.

And if a team tries a field goal, even if it is missed and rolls into the end zone, it counts one point. "We beat one team 24 to 1," Berry grinned.

And a safety in the Canadian game counts one point—only if it isn't a safety. It is known as a "rouge." Touchdowns count five points. That can all be quite confusing, after being used to the version of the game played here.

"Quarterbacking was the hardest part for me," Berry stated. "With only three downs you can't build up to a play—you just have to run it without any preliminary series staged to set the pattern for your payoff punch."

—KR—

The Eskimos finished second in the Western League of the Canada group, losing to the Jack Jacobeled Hamilton team 29 to 12. So evidently Berry's quarterbacking wasn't as bad as he thought.

Berry spoke of a lack of sports writers in Canada. "Of the five writers in town, only one had ever seen any football before last season—and he had seen only two games," the ex-TCU star said. "And you never knew what would appear in print," he went on, "because they wrote every word they heard no matter who it was about or how bad it was. There was no such thing as confiding in the scribes up there."

Bulldogs Lose To Cubs As 'B' Wins

BROWNFIELD—The Midland Bulldogs started too late here Tuesday night and dropped a 45-39 decision to the Brownfield High School Cubs in a basketball non-conference tilt.

Brownfield got off to a 16-6 first quarter lead over the listless Midland five, increased the margin to 29-12 at halftime and ran up a 40-17 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Midland rallied in the final quarter to score 23 points while giving up but five points to the Cubs—but the visitors had started too late and still were six points behind when the game ended.

Coach John Higdon's 'B' team won a game from the Cub reserves, by a score of 32-22.

Brooklyn's Dodgers Set National League Pattern For Defense

NEW YORK —(P)— Brooklyn's Dodgers certainly can't trace the loss of the 1950 National League pennant to their fielding. It was the best in the league.

Not only did the Dodgers own the highest team defensive figure, an official .978, but the club boasted three individual leaders. Gil Hodges topped all first basemen with a .984 mark, Jackie Robinson showed his heels to all second basemen with .988 and Billy Cox set the standard for third basemen with .987. Only those who appeared in 100 or more games are considered.

Other Brooklyn fielding standouts were Roy Campanella, who led the catchers with .983 putouts and .948 total chances, and Carl Furillo, who paced all outfielders with 18 assists.

Marion Faces Shortstop

Marty Marion, newly appointed playing manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, owed the best percentage among the shortstops. The 34-year-old veteran, in his eleventh season with the Redbirds, had a .978 showing in 101 games.

Wally Westlake, not particularly known for his standout defensive feats, was a surprise leader among the picketmen. The Pittsburgh Pirates slugger fielded his position at a .981 gait. He committed only three errors in 336 chances spanning 123 games.

Probably the most remarkable fielding feat of the season was achieved by Wally Westrum, sturdy New York Giant catcher. The durable sophomore was guilty of only one miscue while working in 139 games, to set a league fielding mark of .999. That displaced the old record of .998 set by Earl Grace of the 1929 Pirates. Westrum had 21 assists, participated in 21 double plays, both high among the receivers, and handled 680 total chances.

Detroit Lions Look For New Coach As Bo McMillin Quits

DETROIT —(P)— The Detroit Lions were in the market for a new head coach and general manager Wednesday after the veteran Alvin "Bo" McMillin resigned the dual post in a surprise move Tuesday.

The 55-year-old McMillin, who headed Detroit's National Football League club for three seasons, said he had reached a "good settlement" on his $30,000-a-year contract which had two years to run.

There was no comment from the Lions management other than an assertion by President Edwin Anderson that McMillin's successor would be named within 48 hours.

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log-

sylvanian, and at 13,110-163 feet in the Ellenburger.
Southwest Of Midland
The effort will be made to complete the well from the Pennsylvanian perforations, and also from the perforations at 13,110-163 feet and the open hole at 13,170-185 feet in the Ellenburger.

Location is 24 miles southwest of the City of Midland. It is 600 feet from south and east lines of section 13, block 41, T&P survey, T-4-S.
That makes it one and three-quarter miles north and one-quarter of a mile east of the nearest completed Ellenburger producer on the north side of the Pegasus field.

One Completed, Six Set For Tex-Harvey

E. E. Fogelson of Dallas has completed a one-location east extension to the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland County and filed application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to start drilling on six prospectors in the same area.
His No. 1-12 Boone, 1,980 feet from north and 668 feet from west lines of section 12, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey, flowed for 24 hours through a 28/64-inch choke on the completion test.
It made 399.13 barrels of 38-gravity oil and no water. Production is coming from open hole at 7,014-7,066 feet. That interval received a hydrofrac treatment.
A packer was used in the casing, and tubing pressure was 160 pounds. Gas-oil ratio was 310 to 1.

Fogelson spotted locations for his No. 2-12 3-12, 4-12, 5-12, 6-12, 7-12 and 8-12, all on the Boone lease.
No. 2 will be 667.9 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 12, block 37, T-3-S, T&P survey.
All the other locations are in the same section, block, survey and township.

No. 3 is 1,988.7 feet from south and 2,004 feet from west lines of the section. No. 4 is 1,988.7 feet from south and 2,004.1 feet from west lines of the section.
Fogelson will drill the No. 5-12 Boone 1,988.7 feet from north and 2,004.3 feet from east lines of the section.
No. 6 will be spudded 1,989.3 feet from south and 2,003 feet from east lines of the section. No. 7 is slated to be dug 1,988.7 feet from north and 668.1 feet from east lines of the section and No. 8-12 Boone is to be drilled 662.7 feet from east and 1,989.3 feet from south lines of section 12, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S.

Midland Tex-Harvey Gets Two More Sites
Tex-Harvey Oil Company has staked locations for two prospectors in the east side of the Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland County.
They are the No. 3-15 Jay H. Floyd and the No. 3-10 Mrs. B. W. Floyd.
No. 3-15 Floyd will be dug 660 feet from west and south lines of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 15, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S and 18 miles southeast of the City of Midland.
Drill site for the No. 3-10 Floyd is 660 feet from north and west lines of the lease in section 10, block 37, T&P survey, T-3-S.

Both prospectors are contracted for 8,000 feet to test the Spraberry pay of the Tex-Harvey field.

Offset In NW Andrews Plugged, Abandoned
Magnolia Petroleum Company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 G. T. Hall, one-quarter-mile south outpost to Garrett M. Smith No. 1 McWhorter-Hall, discovery of the Smith-Clear Fork field of Northwest Andrews County.
The prospector was plugged on a total depth of 7,853 feet. It was drilled 144 feet deeper than the No. 1 McWhorter-Hall without finding possible commercial production.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 8, block A-29, pal survey.

Midland Wildcat Is Failure In Spraberry
J. K. Dobbs and others No. 1 Wilson Bryant, wildcat in Central Midland County, has been marked off as a failure in the Spraberry.
Operator drilled the prospector to a total depth of 8,265 feet in lower Spraberry. That section proved to be barren and the hole was plugged back to 7,663 feet where some shows of oil developed when that section was drilled.
After extensive testing without developing commercial production, operator issued orders to plug the No. 1 Bryant on plugged back total depth.

Location is 662.5 feet from south and 696.1 feet from east lines of the south half of the northwest quarter of section 24, block 39, T&P survey, T-3-S.

NW Ward Explorer Plugged As Duster
Shell Oil Company No. 1 Edwards and others, Northwest Ward County exploration about 18 miles southeast of Kermitt, has been plugged and abandoned after extensive testing in a Clear Fork section of the Permian.
The project was quit at a plugged back total depth of 5,480 feet.
On tests of the Clear Fork through perforations at 5,380-5,475 feet, the prospector made some oil, but was cut too heavily with water to be a commercial producer.

Location is at the center of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 4, block B-20, pal survey.

SW Stonewall Gets Ellenburger Wildcat
George W. Boyce of Indianapolis, Ind., has staked location in Southwest Stonewall County for his No. 1 J. D. Smith, which is to be drilled as an Ellenburger wildcat.
Drill site is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 373, block 2, H&TC survey and nine miles southwest of Peacock.

Stanolin Stakes Site For Fisher Prospect
In extreme Southwest Fisher County, Stanolin Oil & Gas Company spotted location for its No. 1 M. A. Glass.
The prospector will be drilled 660 feet from south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 246, block 3, H&TC survey.
Contracted destination for the exploration is 7,500 feet.

Dickens Prospector Plugged, Abandoned
National Associated Oil Company No. 1 Edith Blackwell, wildcat in North-Central Dickens County two miles northwest of Dickens, has been plugged and abandoned as a failure.
The prospector was quit on a total depth of 3,388 feet in an unidentified formation.
Location of the abandoned hole is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 5, block C. C. Connelley survey.

Failire In Martin Quit In Grayburg
Ashland Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Tatt Lindsey, wildcat, in South-Central Martin County 12 miles northwest of Stanton, has been plugged and abandoned as a dry hole.
The prospector drilled to the Spraberry where it failed to develop commercial production and was then plugged back and tested in the Grayburg. When that formation was found to be barren, operator issued orders to plug. Total depth is 7,885 feet.
Location is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 17, block 38, T-1-N, T&P survey.

Light Rains Dampen East Texas; West Stays Mild, Dry

By The Associated Press
Rain fell in Texas Wednesday—although most of the state remained as dry as a tinder box.
The precipitation was confined largely to Southeast Texas, with Beaumont recording .23 inch.
The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast occasional rain near the upper coast through Wednesday night. For West Texas it was a dismal "fair and continued mild."

Winter officially enters the state at 4:34 a.m. Friday, and according to the present weather outlook, it will be a tame entry.
Temperatures generally were mild, except for sub-freezing weather in the Panhandle and parts of West Texas. The lowest overnight reading was 18 degrees at Dalhart, in the upper Panhandle.
Other freezing temperatures included Amarillo 23, Lubbock 23, Midland 26, Ozona and Childress 27, Presidio and Salt Flat 28, and Wink 29 degrees.

Tuesday's maximum ranged from 79 degrees at Alice in South Texas to 47 at Amarillo in the Panhandle.

ington, that, for all practical purposes, the current crude price is destined to be the approximate ceiling for crude oil for the immediate future or the duration of the emergency.

This would follow the World War II pattern when crude oil was one of the first commodities to go under price controls, at the low level of $1.35 a barrel, and remained there despite the heated protests not only of oil men, but even of Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes.

While the price of crude oil now is about double the World War II price, it lags behind the general price level, according to the statistics for the economy as a whole.
The text of the telegram, signed by Michael V. Disalle, director of price stabilization, reads:
"You are requested to hold in abeyance any contemplated purchase price increases for crude oil, all gravities, exceeding price actually paid at point of purchase as of December 8, 1950, or nearest previous purchase date. You are also requested to hold in abeyance any contemplated selling price increases, all levels, all refined products. Request this office be given seven days notice in advance of any contemplated price increases. Please advise by wire your assurance this request will be honored, pending completion price analysis."

Full Government Backing
While the telegram merely requests, it is likely oil producers or refiners who refuse to abide by it will get the treatment being given automobile companies. All the force of the government is being thrown into the fight to rollback auto prices to December 1.

In a simultaneous action, the ESA called six West Coast refiners to Washington December 21 to talk production prices.
The ESA also announced it had telephoned the refiners, and asked them to rescind a 25 cents-per-barrel increase in the price of crude oil, but was refused. The companies explained to meet military heavy fuel demand, they were forced to reopen uneconomic wells.

The six refiners: Standard Oil of California, Union Oil Company, The Texas Company, Tidewater Oil Company, Richfield Oil Company and General Petroleum Company.

Congress Objects To Speedy Transfer Of GI's To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opposition arose in Congress Wednesday to a speedy transfer of additional ground troops to Europe.
President Truman's announcement that more U.S. soldiers will be sent across the Atlantic as soon as possible brought demands from lawmakers for:

1—Detailed information on other nations' troop pledges to the new combined Western European defense force; and
2—Assurances that the United States will not be stripped of military reserves at home.

Senators of both parties said Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of the Army Pace will be called on by congressional committees to report on these points immediately.

Food Price Index Resumes Uptrend
NEW YORK (AP)—The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index resumed its climb this week after holding unchanged last week, and rose three cents to $6.80, highest level since September 20, 1949.

At this new 1950 peak, the index is up 14 per cent over the level of $5.98 just before the Korean war began, and 18.7 per cent over the year-ago level of $5.73. The record high was $7.38 on July 13, 1948.

Lions Speaker Tells About Construction Of Chinese Railway

The philosophies of the workmen and their leaders, not the mechanics of construction, carried the interest in a talk about the building of a railroad in China made by Maj. J. E. Osman at the luncheon meeting of the Midland Lions Club Wednesday in Hotel Scharbauer.

Major Osman is visiting at Terminal with his friend, L. A. Rodenhiser. He represented the United States in the supervision of construction of the Chinese railway, a rail parallel to the Burma Road.

He said many of the workmen on the project never had seen an automobile. Chinese by the hundreds died in the course of construction. American health service cleared up unsanitary and unhealthy conditions. Osman wrote a Saturday Evening Post article about the railway.

Major Osman paid tribute to the amazing work done by hand by the Chinese workmen.
Ed Prichard presided at the luncheon. John VanBuskirk was introduced as Junior Lion of the Week. Invocation was by Frank Monroe.

Gains In Southwest Bolster Declining Gridiron Attendance

NEW YORK (AP)—College football attendance held up surprisingly well in 1950, dropping off only 3.5 per cent a game from the all-time high of last year, according to an Associated Press survey. Big league baseball was off 14 per cent.

The East and Far West, where television takes its deepest bite, suffered severe setbacks but a sharp increase in the Southwest held up the over-all average. The Midwest was up slightly and the South dipped about three per cent, close to the national trend.

Returns from 89 schools, covering 448 home games showed Wednesday that the major colleges played to average crowds of 26,678 last fall as compared to 27,651 in 1949. The figures ranged from 36,744 in the Midwest and 35,868 in the Southwest to 19,807 in the East.

The Southwest averages was up 11 per cent, the Mid-West two per cent and all the others dropped from the South's three per cent to ten per cent in the East and 12 per cent in the Far West.
Poor weather, particularly the late November snow and wind storms, hurt the gate in the Midwest and East, but most schools were inclined to blame television competition.

Western Republics Schedule Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of the Western Hemisphere republics voted Wednesday to hold a Washington conference of their foreign ministers about two months hence to coordinate efforts to meet the threat of international communism.
The unanimous action was taken by the Council of the Organization of American States. The Council is the central organism of the 21 American republics, and meets at the Pan American Union.
A tentative date for the meeting was set as mid-February or shortly thereafter.

Wage Plan—

representatives each of labor, industry and the public.
The group opposed "use of compulsory civilian labor"—that is any manpower controls which would force workers to take defense jobs.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO-United Auto Workers, was one of the labor leaders who visited Truman. From the White House he went to the Economic Stabilization Agency for government-management-labor discussions.

Compulsion Premised
There was a chance this meeting would produce some due to ESA's planned wage restraints on all labor.
The agency meantime hoped for a wave of voluntary price rollbacks—mostly at the mill, mine and factory level—in accordance with its price-profits formula announced Tuesday night.

But if compliance does not come voluntarily, ESA Administrator Alan Valentine warned, compulsory price ceilings will be clamped on and the standards may be "more rigorous" than those now set forth.
There was ample indication ESA considers the voluntary formula a stop-gap. If it restrains inflation until March, the infant agency may be ready to enforce mandatory controls wherever needed.

Rowland Jones, Jr., president of the American Retail Federation criticized the voluntary "freeze" announcement as "vague in some aspects" and said it raised "serious questions of theory and policy which must await further investigation and clarification."

Two Republican senators, meanwhile, charged that stabilization officials ignored the intent of Congress in taking price control action without parallel action on wages at the same time.

The senators, Bricker of Ohio and Capshaw of Indiana, said Congress made it plain during debate on the Defense Production Act earlier this year that price and wage action should be taken simultaneously if taken at all.
December 1 Base
The call for a voluntary price freeze came as the cost-of-living index appeared heading for a new all-time high.

Latest figures by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics showed wholesale prices for the week ended December 12 were 10.2 per cent higher than just before the outbreak of fighting in Korea.
So it appeared certain prices will stay above the pre-Korea level, even if there is a rollback to the level of December 1.

The new "fair pricing standards" call for a rollback of any price increase made by a factory or mine since December 1, if the increase brings the company's net profits above the average dollar profits before taxes, in the year 1946 through 1949.

In the case of storekeepers and wholesalers, the gross profit margin on any item may not be increased above the June, 1950, level if this would make the dealer's total profit bigger than his 1946-49 average.
Goods And Service
"Services" as well as goods are covered. Laundries, restaurants, barber shops, shoe shine parlors and dry cleaners are subject to the ceilings.

What about violations? An ESA spokesman said Valentine will rely on consumers and buyers to report price increases which seem unreasonable. The ESA barely has started to build an enforcement staff.
Meantime ESA took these further steps:

1. Decided to reject the plea of General Motors Corporation for a postponement of the mandatory freeze on new car prices, pending a study and final ruling. A formal reply to the company is being prepared.
2. Commended Ford Motor Company for suspending its announced price increases. ESA informed Ford that any adjustments which result from GM's appeal will be made industry-wide. A spokesman said it is possible the Ford and GM increases—like those recently announced by several other manufacturers—may be found unjustified under the general standards issued Tuesday night. But he indicated a belief this is unlikely.

OIL SCOUT IN HOSPITAL

Cotton Conference To Request Changes In Labor Agreement

MEMPHIS, TENN.—(AP)—A special labor committee from the Belt-wide Cotton Producers Conference will meet in Washington January 15 to urge changes in the international labor contract agreement with Mexico.

The committee decided at a meeting of the conference here Tuesday to ask free admission of Mexican nationals to the United States when there is a certified labor shortage in any area.

A resolution was approved calling for a return to the "white card" system of admitting Mexican workers. The system would permit the Immigration Service to identify a Mexican worker by card and allow him to work without other formalities.

The conference also wants a federal guarantee that planters won't lose their shirts by doubling their crops next year.

The committee voted to ask Agriculture Secretary Brannan to call a public meeting in Washington to check cotton's financial future—especially in regard to the present 90 per cent of parity support price.

Prices High Now
Cotton prices are high now, the committee said, but will they stay that way? And delegates said the parity method of supports would not cover planters if their expensively grown cotton was surplus in '51.

J. C. Wilson of Pecos, Texas, said cotton grown for next year will be planted, cultivated and harvested under increasing costs for labor, machinery and insecticides.

Wilson, vice chairman of the committee and president of the Five-States Cotton Growers Association, said the conference didn't draw up recommendations to place before Brannan. But he said he thought another method of price supports would have to be adopted.

The government has asked for a 16,000,000-bale crop next year.

Something Can Be Done About Smashing Vicious Vice Rackets

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A concerned young man of 20 recently wrote me that his city was a den of iniquity and that many boys 17 and 18 years old were being victimized and sickened by members of the world's oldest profession. Now the prostitution racket is not confined to any one community—it is a worldwide problem—and it affects the health of millions of people.

Entirely aside from the moral aspects, prostitution is everywhere recognized as the most important agency for distributing the venereal diseases, syphilis and gonorrhea. There is no use blinking at the facts or trying to hide them.

The amount of illness acquired from this source is colossal. It has wrecked the lives of individuals. The diseases have been carried into the home and have blighted the lives and ruined the health of an untold number of innocent wives and children.

It is a dirty business. The women involved are exploited on all sides. Racketeers, vice lords, and procurers take their cut from whatever the women get. This leads to corruption in public office and all the other faults of a society run by the worst elements. No one is safe from the evil effects.

There are many who say that nothing can be done about it, that it always has existed and always will. This is the counsel of despair. Where would the world be today if

Mr. Gladstone Meredith, R. No. 1, Box 361, Valley Station, Ky., who works with Korphage Florists in Louisville, says that while he's not an expert on flowers and plants, he knows that when they get the proper soil, sunshine and minerals they really do blossom out, and that folks are the same way—if one doesn't get the proper Vitamins and Minerals needed one feels miserable a lot of the time.

Here is Mr. Meredith's own statement on how HADAACOL helped him:
"Before I started taking HADAACOL I didn't have a bit of appetite—seems like food didn't appeal to me a bit. Couldn't sleep either—sometimes I'd lay awake for hours before I'd get some rest. I was just as jumpy as I could be. I was really in sorry shape. Then I heard how other folks with the same trouble I had were being helped by HADAACOL. I can say that after the first few bottles I could tell a definite improvement. Now I feel first rate—have a wonderful appetite—get plenty of sleep and am not the least bit nervous. I think HADAACOL is wonderful—would never do without it myself."

There Are Thousands of folks all over the country whose systems were deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Nicotin—and who you feel better after the first few bottles you take, or your energy will be refunded. Only $1.50 for Trial Size; Large Family or Hospital Size, $15.00. If your druggist does not have HADAACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, L. S. A. Yette, Louisiana.

Grave World Crisis Brings Cancellation Of Mardi Gras Plans

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—The frivolity and hoop-la of Mardi Gras will take a back seat next year to the gravity of the international situation.

Both here and at Mobile, Ala., traditional scenes of Mardi Gras festivities, plans were canceled Tuesday for the parades and balls that give a carefree and spectacular turn to the carnival.

In Mobile, elaborate parade floats were hauled off for moth ball storage.

Here in New Orleans, the older Mardi Gras organizations called off the fun-making. Some of the merry-makers planned, however, to carry on next February—"barring unforeseen future developments."

Santa and the COWBOY

By LUCRECE HUDGINS

Flung across the stove was a small whale. It was being cooked for someone's dinner!

CHAPTER 13 LONESOME BOY SHOOT

THE black hole was the entrance to a mammoth cave filled with the roar of the sea.

Bucky and the Jindian crept slowly in and peered about. Strange bluish lights flickered from the walls. Jagged rocks jutting from the ceiling threw enormous eerie shadows on the sides of the cave. Was Herman the Wozzie hiding here?

For a long while the two hunters listened for a sound to tell them where the creature was. But the sea pounding on the rocks outside made such noise they could hear no other sound.

Cautiously they searched the cave—their bows and arrows ready in their hands. They found a tunnel that seemed to lead into another cave. The tunnel glowed with blue light. It was plain to see that nothing was hiding there. The two boys crept through it and entered the second cave. Here it was quiet. They could scarcely hear the far away sea.

It was a smaller cave than the first but it too was empty. They noticed three doors leading out of the cave. They knew that the Wozzie was behind one of those doors.

Bucky finally found his voice. "Which one shall we try?" he whispered. Lonesome Boy shrugged his shoulders. He, too, seemed unable to move.

Bucky raised a finger. "Enie, meenie, miney, moe," he whispered. When he finished, he tipped to the door that was pointed out. Softly he opened it and peered in.

It was a kitchen! But the strangest kitchen you ever saw! In the center was a stove made of rocks with a glowing fire of seaweed and drift wood. Across the top of the stove was a small whale. It was being cooked for someone's dinner!

QUICKLY Bucky shut the door. Lonesome Boy went to the second door. He opened it. Here was a bedroom with a circular bed that wound round and round the room.

"I guess he needs all that for his tail!" thought Bucky. He was glad the bed was empty.

Only one door remained. Together the boys pushed it open a tiny crack. They never made a sound. But it would not have mattered if they had for in the room itself there was a most extraordinary noise.

Someone was humming a song. But what a humming! Like pots and pans banging in a kitchen or children skating on an attic floor.

Suddenly they saw someone. It was Herman the Wozzie!

The hideous creature, standing on his bird legs and balancing himself with his snake tail, was looking in a mirror while he shaved his lion face and hummed his dreadful croaking tune.

Bucky overcame with fright, backed away from the door.

"I can't help it," he thought miserably. "I'm going to run away." He started off—the scariest little cowboy that ever was.

BUT Lonesome Boy drew back on his bow and took careful aim with his arrow through the crack in the bathroom door. Suddenly Herman the Wozzie moved away from the mirror.

Zing! the arrow left the bow and straightway shattered the mirror to pieces.

Herman the Wozzie roared. He snatched wide open the door, and fixed the terrified Jindian with a awful glare.

At the roar, Bucky turned back to see what was happening.

"Who comes to my cave must die!" screamed the Wozzie and he reached for the Jindian.

Lonesome Boy let go with another arrow—aimed straight and true at the Wozzie's heart. But Herman reached out, caught the arrow as if it had been a rubber ball, and broke it in two. Again and again Lonesome Boy shot arrows. Herman laughed and caught them all and broke them to pieces.

Finally no arrows were left. Then Herman the Wozzie stopped laughing and prepared to pounce on the Jindian boy. Bucky the cowboy stood quaking in the tunnel door.

Marine Flier 'Hauls' In Guerrilla Band

KOREA —(P)— Marine Captain David G. Swinford of Santa Ana, Calif., is thought to be the first Marine flier to be instrumental in capturing a band of North Korean guerrillas. He dived upon a house and loosed a burst of 20mm cannon fire.

Fifty North Koreans, a few in uniform and the other in the civilian garb affected by the guerrillas in the area, came tumbling from the doors and windows. Waving white clothes and bowing, they started down the road in the direction of the Marine lines. Swinford made several passes over them, flying at low altitude. "Just to keep them in line."

As they neared the lines of the ground Marines, Swinford radioed to tell of the surrendering North Koreans. The ground units sent out a patrol to meet them.

Turmoil In Kashmir

SRINAGAR, KASHMIR —(P)— Turmoil in central Asia is playing havoc with Kashmir's famed shawl industry.

The fine, soft underwool of Tibetan goats which goes into the manufacture of shawls comes only from Sinkiang province of China, western Tibet, and Ladakh province of Kashmir.

The mountain route linking Sinkiang with Kashmir has been closed since the Chinese Communists took control in the north and Tibetan supplies have been scarce since the Chinese invasion began. Shawl-makers must depend on small supplies from Ladakh.

Don't immediately jump to conclusions about your brand of coffee if your brew has been inferior of late. First check the dishwashing methods used on your coffee pot. If the pot is not scrubbed with soap and water after each using and given a thorough rinse, you are inviting coffee trouble.

The National Geographic Society says many stories of sea monsters have been traced to floating driftwood or masses of sea weed. George IV introduced the first ready-made cravat in 1828. It became known as the "Royal George" tie.

'Doc' Is Getting Away From San Quentin After 37 Years

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—The "doc" is getting ready to leave San Quentin Prison, and most of the 1,000 inhabitants of the walled city of numbered men will be sorry to see him go.

The word passing along the prison grapevine these days is: "Better hurry up and get sick if you're going to, because the chief croaker won't be here much longer."

"Chief croaker" is the Big Yard's term of endearment for "the doc"—Dr. Leo L. Stanley, the prison's white-haired veteran chief medical officer.

Dr. Stanley has spent the past 37 years in San Quentin, with time out only for World War II service as a Navy commander and some earlier vacation cruises to the South Seas as a ship's doctor. When he hangs up his stethoscope next March to retire at the age of 65, Dr. Stanley will have served more time in San Quentin than all but a few of the oldest prisoners.

For Many Lives
As a matter of fact, Warden Clinton T. Duffy credits the twinkie-eyed physician with personal responsibility for many a lifer who has served extra years only because Dr. Stanley's medical skill kept him alive.

Dr. Leo Stanley: "I'm not sure what I'll do when I get out."

Even when San Quentin was torn by riots and rebellions and prisoners complained bitterly about their harsh treatment, no convict's voice was raised against the "chief croaker." Any popularity poll of the Big House cell-mates would show a close race between Dr. Stanley and Warden Duffy, who is generally credited with banning brutality and carrying out a humane penal philosophy.

Both men are convinced that the average prisoner, as an individual, is no better and no worse than anyone else. They're proud of their graduates who have made good on "the outside."

Biggest Thrill
Biggest thrill of Dr. Stanley's wartime service came aboard the hospital ship Solace, laying off-shore as a floating surgery when American troops stormed the beaches at Saipan. A wounded soldier who was being recommended for a medal for bravery under fire beckoned to the medic.

"Remember me, Doc?" he asked. "You saved my life back at old San Quentin."

Dr. Stanley came to the prison hospital in 1913 fresh out of Stanford Medical School. He soon had the experience of attending a condemned man at his execution. He saw California change from the hangman's noose to the lethal gas chamber for its legal life-taking, but the switch didn't sell him on the wisdom of capital punishment except in rare cases.

One execution involved Dr. Stanley in a series of lawsuits. The prisoner, a notorious murderer, volunteered his body for medical research. But his relatives sued the prison for $100,000 damages, contending that the body had been unlawfully mutilated.

Inspired Patients
The confidence which Dr. Stanley inspired in his patients resulted in large numbers of San Quentin convicts volunteering to serve as "human guinea pigs" in medical experiments. This work resulted in new findings about tubercle plague, dysentery, pyorrhea, syphilis and other diseases.

The prison hospital, largely developed under his administration, is adorned with more paintings and murals than are found in many art museums. The paintings were the work of talented patients who had no other way to show their appreciation.

Possibly the secret of Dr. Stanley's success is that he likes his work. "I am," he admits, "one of the few men who enjoys being in prison. I'm not sure what I'll do when I get out."

Breakfast Delight: Chicken Pie

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

When Rosamond Chapin was a little girl in Boston, there was always a mammoth chicken pie for Christmas breakfast.

Mrs. Chapin and her husband now own the New Boston Inn in the Berkshire foothills, where U. S. route 8 and 87 meet. On Christmas, in their inn, founded in 1760, the hospitable Chapins will offer this lovely breakfast dish.

Christmas Morning Chicken Pie (Serves 6-8)

Place two, full-breasted young fowl in a pot. Almost cover with water, and add a few sprigs of celery, a couple of carrots, peeled and sliced lengthways, and two or three sliced onions, salt and white pepper.

Bring to a slow boil, cover, and simmer slowly until tender, from 2 1/2 to 3 hours. Turn birds several times during the cooking process. As the broth reduces add sufficient water to keep birds two-thirds covered.

Remove fowl from broth and cool on platter. Remove meat in large chunks and set aside. Return skin and bones to the broth and continue to simmer for another half hour; strain. The broth should now be reduced to about one half of its original bulk and should contain (if the fowl are young) sufficient fat to thicken the sauce.

Next mix together slowly one cup of sifted flour with sufficient cold water to produce a smooth liquid. Add this slowly to the hot broth while stirring vigorously and cook until sauce is velvety. Add a pint of light cream and stir until well blended and the flour is cooked in. Be sure to stir frequently during this process, about 15 minutes, so the sauce will not burn.

Correct the seasoning to your own taste and remove from the

FRESH RED CRANBERRIES cooked with pineapple cubes and broken walnut meats brighten Christmas feast.

Separate the chicken into good sized pieces along its natural lines, using your fingers rather than a knife. Discard any skin, gristle or veins. Combine chicken pieces with the sauce.

Put chicken and sauce into a deep baking dish and fill to within a quarter inch of the top. A pie of the above size needs no cup to support the crust at the center as a larger pie does. Cover with your favorite pie crust, but be sure to make it sufficiently short. If the pie is to be served immediately, the chicken need not be cooled before the crust is put on. But if it is to be baked the next morning, be sure the chicken is cool before adding the crust.

Cut slits in crust, and if you want to, add some fanciful pricking with a fork. Before baking pat your crust well with cold water.

ECA Saves Walls From Hungry Cows

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Why has bossy been chewing down stone walls in Attica, Greece? This question has baffled Greek dairymen for years, but now Marshall Plan experts have solved it.

When agricultural specialists from the ECA arrived on the scene, the amazed Greeks discovered that bossy was gulping whitewash and mortar merely to satisfy her craving for calcium—something she had been missing out on in her basic diet of straw.

Then the experts got to work. Experimenting with various minerals, they found that pure marble

Wall-Eating cow in Attica, Greece, really wanted calcium, dust was the cheapest source of calcium for the eager cow. A hundred pounds costs the dairyman 33 cents, and bossy's daily ration adds up to a mere three ounces.

Today the stone walls of Attica are well preserved. And bossy gets her calcium in doses of marble dust, which is either mixed with her other food or simply left in a convenient trough. The ECA experts hope to get the word around to other sections of Greece, now that Attica's walls have been saved.

Green pasture and forage crops, the ideal food, won't be available for all cattle in Greece for a long time, and bossy may have to be content on her aristocratic diet of granulated marble for many years to come. Still, she agrees with the experts—it's better than eating walls.

RECORD BIRTH
Greenville, Ky., claims a record birth. A cow there gave birth to 47 calves at one time, one being perfectly formed while the other 46 were abnormalities. The cow and the 46 abnormal calves died within a day after the birth, while the normal calf lived.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And The Christmas Tree

Folks have asked Daddy Ringtail to tell again the story of how it happens that we think of snow and ice and a Christmas tree at Christmas. Playlike maybe, or really and truly, it seems that long ago and far away in a land of snow and ice—the moon looked down on a snow-covered forest of trees like the ones we have for Christmas.

How cold was the night! How still the forest. How lonely the little hut on the hillside where two children, a brother and sister, sat alone on a rough wooden bench before a fire in their fireplace.

They spoke, not a word, but huddled together as close as they could, all to help them stay warm. Oh, the fire in the fireplace was bright, but the night was the coldest night of all the world, it seemed.

Cold crept under the door. Cold came in from beneath the window.

Cold came up through the cracks of the floor, frosting the toes, chilling the bones, making each child wish for shoes and stockings, or maybe a coat that would cover a thin little back.

The children were hungry. There hadn't been food for supper, and their stomachs were gnawing inside.

Carefully they had saved their last bit of bread, and now they broke it in half so that each might have a hunger no greater than that of the other.

By WESLEY DAVIS

Having broken the bread, they made ready to eat, and then—BOOM! The wind came up to rap at the door! What else could come to rap so lightly? Who could have come from out of the cold and the darkest night?

Why, it was only a little child who was there, and the child, if anything, was colder and hungrier than our little brother and sister.

Quickly they brought him in to the fire. Quickly they wrapped him in the raggedy shirts they stripped from their backs. Quickly they fed him their bits of bread. They gave him all their gentle-care-untill-warmth and they had come to him in the safest bed of the fire.

And then, in that Night of Nights—that Night before Christmas; Heavenly music came in the sky, and a light like a million candles burning.

Here's A Vet Of Three Services

PARRIS ISLAND—(AP)—Marine Lillian Benson, 31, going through "boot camp" here, now has been in service in the Army, Navy and Marines. With the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps in World War II, Pvt. Benson was one of the first 200 women to volunteer for overseas duty in 1942. She landed in North Africa only seven days after the initial invasion. From there she went to the European Theater of Operations with General Dwight Eisenhower's command. Malaria forced her to return to the States. She was discharged soon afterwards.

In 1946, she enlisted as a hospital aid in the Waves and served for six months.

"I felt it my duty to enlist when the Korean War broke out," she said, adding that this time her mother advised her to join the United States Marines.

Propaganda War Waged In India

BOMBAY—(AP)—A propaganda war is being waged along the west coast of India over the future of three small colonies making up Portuguese India.

India has made it clear it wants Portugal to give up the colonies of Goa, Damaun and Diu. Portugal intends to hold on. And while the issue remains deadlocked, the propaganda war grows increasingly bitter. Bombay, home of tens of thousands of Hindus and Catholics of Goan origin, is a center for nationalist, anti-Portuguese agitation.

The Port of Buffalo, with 37 miles of waterfront, is the greatest fresh water port in the world in value of tonnage, according to the New York State Department of Commerce.

A Christmas Gift De Luxe

FROM SWEDEN comes delicious packaged Smorgasbord ideal for that special Christmas gift. Everyone just helps himself. By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Staff Writer

We received a present of a package of 12 distinct "appetizer" foods from Sweden. So we gave a smorgasbord party, spreading all the cans, opened, on a large tray. Everyone helped himself and rushed back for more.

The point is this Swedish package can be ordered here in the United States and will be mailed anywhere at moderate cost. It contains 2 cans North Sea mussels in butter—wonderful tidbits; 2 cans peeled thumb-size North Sea shrimp; 2 cans sardines; mackerel roe; a bottle of Swedish dressing; fishballs in lobster sauce; mackerel, smoked and in spiced oil and herring au gratin.

There are also 2 boxes of Swedish bread, one 100 per cent rye and the other lighter in color. These are ideal for the smorgasbord. Parfait liver paste and Emmenthaler cheese bring up this parade of Swedish foods, all in a good-looking box. Speaking of sending Christmas gifts, you might want to add this candy recipe to your collection:

Chocolate Surprises
(Yield: 1 1/4 pounds)

One cup sugar, 3/4 cup butter or fortified margarine, 1/2 cup light cream or undiluted evaporated milk, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 bars semi-sweet chocolate (5-cent size).

Mix first five ingredients in a 6-cup saucepan. Cook to 250 degrees F. or until syrup forms a firm ball in cold water. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Pour syrup onto a buttered, large platter or cookie pan. When cold, cut into 1-inch squares.

Place a 1x1/4-inch strip of semi-sweet chocolate in center of each square; roll into balls, keeping chocolate in center. When all kisses are made, wrap each in waxed paper.

Terrorists Cause Families To Move

KUALA LUMPUR—(AP)—Federal government authorities are pushing a big resettlement program in Selangor state to take families out of zones where Communist terrorists are operating. One thousand families now scattered over the Ampang district are being moved. Their resettlement in effect will set up a new township.

The new area has been fenced in by barbed wire and special constables are on guard.

NARROW ESCAPE

BLIND RIVER, ONT.—(AP)—Hugh Horner, farmer near Bruce Mines, figures it must have been a near-sighted hunter who shot at his cow. He found a bullet had silenced the bell around the neck of one of his Ayrshire cows but the animal was not harmed.

Police Shortage Cuts Sport Project

SINGAPORE—(AP)—The police in Singapore are opposed to increasing the capacity of the biggest indoor sports stadium here because of a shortage of policemen. An application to increase the Happy World Stadium from its present capacity of 7,128 to 12,000 people was sent to the Singapore Municipality. City officials specified a limit of 9,200 people if certain alterations were made, and sent it to the police.

The police turned it down saying they may not be able to supply enough policemen to handle crowds and because of the possibility of a great number of casualties in the event of a panic or riot.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

The Spirit of Christmas Yet to Come led Scrooge to a dismal graveyard. Upon the stone of a neglected grave, he read his own name—EBENEZER SCROOGE.

Scrooge asked the Spirit if he could change these prophecies by leading an altered life. The Spirit nodded. Then Scrooge made a mighty vow: "I will honor Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year," he swore.

Still pining for another chance, Scrooge found himself in his own bed. The Spirit of Christmas Yet to Come had disappeared.

Strawberries Get Western Beauty Treatment!

By NANCY NORMAN

It's not mere chance that the luscious, ruby-red strawberries grown in certain sections of the West are ravishing beauties. These strawberries are specially selected varieties famed for their superior flavor and color, and to make sure they are pampered to perfection, they are grown under ideal conditions by Stokely's Honor Brand Frozen Foods.

A STATE AFFAIR
All three Pacific Coast states vie for the honor of producing the finest of these berries. California boasts of its luxuriant, sunny valleys; Oregon of its rolling, fertile farmlands; and Washington of its gentle mountain slopes covered with rich, black volcanic ash soil.

It would be difficult to decide which of these three states offer the most ideal growing conditions, for each provides a real Utopia for these specially selected strawberries. So, no favoritism is shown. In all three states, acre after acre of the healthiest strawberry plants are grown under the constant care and supervision of Field Experts for Honor Brand Frozen Foods.

ROUND AND ROSY

Most varieties of strawberries have a nice round shape and rosy complexion when they are fresh from the patch. But, too many varieties cannot stand the rigors of being sliced and frozen because they become soft and lose their firm texture and shape. As an added and important extra, the specially selected varieties grown for Honor Brand not only possess their bright, ruby-red good looks and delicious flavor, but also have the important "standing" qualities that permit them to retain their firm texture and strawberry shape even when sliced and quick frozen.

As their beauty course nears its completion, these special berries are vine-ripened to perfect flavor. Then quickly but carefully picked, they are immediately washed, sorted and graded at the nearby Honor Brand freezing plants before being sliced and frozen in heavy syrup ready for you to defrost, serve and enjoy. Or, for a really grand dessert, try this delicious tested Honor Brand recipe:

STRAWBERRY MOUSSE
1 16-oz. pkg. Honor Brand Frozen Strawberries
3 egg whites
1/2 pint whipping cream
2 tbs. powdered sugar
Juice of one lemon

Partially defrost frozen strawberries. Beat egg whites until stiff. Whip cream and add sugar. Fold in egg whites very gently but thoroughly. Add lemon juice to strawberries and fold into whipped cream mixture. Pour into refrigerator trays and freeze. Serves 4-6.

Westinghouse LAMP DIVISION

COMES TO TEXAS

The Westinghouse Lamp Division is pleased and proud to come to Texas.

Westinghouse Electric Corporation will build a Lamp Division Plant in Paris, Texas, 100 miles N. E. of Dallas. It will be the first Westinghouse plant in Texas to make consumer goods.

Early in 1951, the Westinghouse Lamp Division (which makes light bulbs in 10,000 different types and sizes) will begin construction of the new 75,000 square foot, L-shaped factory. The plant will employ between 400 and 500 people, nearly all of them from Paris and nearby areas, where live the kind of people we like to have working for Westinghouse.

The lamp factory, on a 19 1/2 acre site, will be the ninth Westinghouse lamp plant. The location was chosen because of the availability of electric power and natural gas (which are necessary for plant operation) and, of course, because of a recognition of the unparalleled growth and tremendous importance of the Southwestern market. Moreover, transportation is ideal; the building will lie between the main line of the Texas & Pacific Railroad and U. S. Highway 271.

Already in Texas are Westinghouse Manufacturing and Repair Shops in Houston and Fort Worth; and Sales, Engineering, and Service Departments in Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Beaumont, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth, Lubbock, and San Antonio. All of these serve Texas.

We're happy to be here—Westinghouse Lamp Division, Bloomfield, N. J.

Like Painting One's Self Into Corner

KOREA.—(P)—Capt. Frank Frey and Lt. Don Hough were assigned the task of fixing a shrapnel hole in the roof of the headquarters building.

They climbed to the roof of the three-story building through the ragged hole. Then, when the job was done, it was discovered that there wasn't a ladder in the area tall enough to reach their perch. They were targets for enemy snipers.

Lt. Col. J. Frank Cleo, squadron commander, ordered a Marine helicopter to "air lift" the pair from the patched roof.

Dwarf fruit trees are becoming more widely accepted because they take up less space and make it easier to gather ripe fruit.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

Luke 2:52; Ps. 8:1-9; 90:12-17
MAKING THE TIME PROCESS BEAUTIFUL

As the years go by, they leave their deposit of suffering in our minds, in our memories, in our bodies. We have seen how to meet these deposits. But many find that the greatest deposit of difficulty and suffering left by the time process is just the fact of the process. To adjust ourselves to the time process and achieve abundant living at each stage of the process is important.

Some people remain infantile and never really pass into stages of maturity. They bring over infantile habits with them into the advancing stages. They are misfits. Some who are growing old refuse to adjust themselves to that fact, and are always sighing to be young again—fruitlessly, of course.

To be victorious at each stage one must accept the fact of change and make out that particular period through which he is passing something very beautiful and effective. For each stage of life has something peculiar to itself in possibility and achievement. Youth is not the only age of possibility—each stage is crammed with possibility of beauty and achievement.

John saw in Revelation the tree of life bearing 12 kinds of fruit, "each month having its own fruit" (Revelation 22:2, Moffatt). On the tree of life here and now, "each month has its own fruit"—each period has something distinctive in beauty and possibility—childhood, youth, middle age, old age.

We will not pause at childhood—though it is the most important age—for the simple reason that children will not read this book. But as we go on, the message of childhood to the older stages can be summed up in a letter from a child to his parent: "Dear Mother—Father, I love you. You gave me life on earth in this body. I thank you for it. With all my heart I want to listen and learn from your experiences in life. I know that from this moment henceforth you will be just the best parents you are capable of being." Too mature? Probably! but childhood does say that, whether expressed in those words or not.

God, as we begin the adventure of living out each stage of life, give us insight and imagination that we may make each stage distinctive and beautiful. Help us not to waste out time in useless regrets, or in reaching for the moon; but help us to beautify the hours as they come and go, and to "press the signet ring of eternity upon each passing moment." Amen.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Even at this late date there seems to be a lot of confusion about the use of the question: "Partner, may I go out?"

Some people think that you must get your partner's permission. This is not so. If you want to go out and know that you should go out just do so. You are not obliged to ask your partner's permission.

Others think it is impolite to go out without asking permission. This also is incorrect. The question is not asked as a courtesy to your partner. It is asked because you want your partner to decide for you.

If you know that you ought to go out, do so without asking any questions. If you know that you don't want to go out, play on without asking any questions. After all, your partner is not a mind reader. Never give him a chance to make a mistake if it is completely in your power to do the right thing.

The time to ask the question is when you are willing either to go out or keep on playing, depending on the cards in your partner's hand. If he has a good hand, you want to keep on; if he has a bad hand, you want to go out. He knows what he holds, and therefore he should make the decision.

In short, when you ask permission to go out, your question really means something like this: "Partner, you know your cards, and I don't. If you like them, don't let me go out. If you don't like them, tell me to go out."

Now let's get around to the other side of the table. Suppose your partner has asked the question and it's up to you to do the answering. How do you decide?

If your hand is bad, you say "yes." If your hand is good, you say "no." Only the in-between hands give you any trouble.

With an in-between hand, you should tend to let your partner go out. He has already told the enemy that he is ready to go out. Hence they surely will meld what they can before his next turn comes. Rather than give them that chance you should tend to let him go out when you have no clear reason to continue the play.

When you answer the question, you may say anything at all—provided you are letting your partner meld out. The hand is at an end, in that case, so nothing you say can do any harm.

If your intention is to keep the hand in play, you may say only one word "no." You're not allowed to give any reasons or any other comments. If you do happen to transmit information in giving your negative answer, either opponent has the right to compel your partner to go out—even though you have refused permission.

Suitable Shrine For Gandhi Sought

NEW DELHI.—(P)—Indian leaders are studying models of the Lincoln and Washington monuments in Washington and Moscow's Red Square tribute to Lenin in their search for a suitable shrine for Mahatma Gandhi.

Preliminary plans call for a shrine of 100 acres covering the area of the Rajghat — burning pyre — where almost 100,000 Indians watched their idol's body turned to ashes.
