LBJ Orders Assistance For 4-Fs

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson ordered a new effort Saturday to correct physical and mental flaws found among young men eligible for military service.

ONE THIRD Findings included estimates that one-third of all men in the nation reaching 18 years of age will be found unqualified for induction in the armed forces.

Collins Assigned To Chanute Post

Col. Harold C. Collins, deputy commander for training at Webb Air Force Base, has received notification of his selection to the executive officer to the commanding general at Chanute Technical Training Center at Rantoul, Ill.

COL. HAROLD C. COLLINS

Prior to arriving at Webb, Col. Collins was assigned to Headquarters Air Training Command at Randolph AFB. He was assigned to Webb in May, 1962 as Pilot Training Group Commander and under the recent reorganization to the dual-deputy system he assumed his present title of deputy commander for training.

During his local assignment, Col. Collins was responsible for all student pilot training. He has had many years in this type of activity, having spent 17 years in Air Training Command with over 10 years of this time in flying training positions and six years in technical training positions.

A native of Oklahoma, Col. Collins was graduated from Durant High School and later attended South Eastern State University and Oklahoma University, earning a BA degree. He entered the Air Force in 1941 and received his commission via aviation cadet training in 1942.

Rocky Rejects Barry Label Of 'Me Too'

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller rejected Saturday charges by Sen. Barry Goldwater and others that he offers Republicans a "me too" program taken from the Democrats.

"That label doesn't apply to me," the New York governor told a news conference ending a 20-hour campaign swing in search of support in the first-in-the-nation New Hampshire presidential preference primary March 10.

"In matters of human concern I am a liberal, and in economic and financial concerns I am a conservative," Rockefeller said.

MORE A DEMO On the West Coast, Goldwater was charging that Rockefeller was more of a Democrat than a Republican.

Rockefeller continued to press Goldwater to join in a series of televised debates in the New Hampshire primary but the Arizona again refused.

Goldwater and Rockefeller have declared formally their candidacies for the Republican nomination for president.

In his announcement Friday, Goldwater said Rockefeller would not offer the voters a clear-cut choice between Republican and Democratic philosophy.

32 YEARS Rockefeller addressed himself to that comment when he said that his views had been worked out from 32 years of public life and therefore could not have been pirated from the three-year-old New Frontier.

Goldwater amplified his comments on Rockefeller Saturday in Los Angeles as he said he saw no sense in the debates proposed by Rockefeller.

"Debating him would be more like debating a member of the New Frontier," Goldwater said.

Those comments arrived at Rockefeller headquarters here after the governor had departed for his home in Westchester County, New York. There was no immediate rebuttal.

JOIN DEBATE On each of four public appearances during his New Hampshire visit Rockefeller called upon Goldwater to join in the debates as "part of the New Hampshire and New England tradition."

Rockefeller said he wanted to debate with Goldwater such views as U. S. withdrawal from the United Nations, cutting off all foreign aid, abolishing the graduated income tax and stopping farm subsidies.

Rockefeller has attributed these views to Goldwater but the Arizona senator and conservative leader has said they do not reflect his thinking.

The New York governor Saturday established Goldwater as his immediate target, stating that the first concern of Republicans should be "the choice within the party" at the convention next July.

A CHOICE Goldwater has emphasized the choice between the Democratic and Republican candidates next November.

Rockefeller passed up openings to make specific criticisms of Democratic President Lyndon Johnson. He said most of Johnson's progress "has been made in statements" and there were no concrete results to judge as yet.

Of the widely publicized economy drive Rockefeller said: "He's taken some people out of cars and taken their chauffeurs away but it will take more than that to balance the budget and restore economy to government."

Yugoslavia Train Crash Fatal To 61 Passengers

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A crowded commuter train, rounding a curve in a fog, crashed into a standing passenger train at Jajinci before dawn Saturday and 61 persons perished.

One of the truly beautiful parchments in the Americana Historical Document collection is a picture of that famous ship, the U.S.S. Constitution, or "Old Ironsides."

A ship with a wonderful fighting record, she earned her nickname because, although a wooden-hulled vessel, enemy cannon balls seemed literally to bounce off her sides.

This is one of the outstanding of The Herald series of historical items, and you will want it in your home. It is offered for only 26¢. There remain selections of all other documents at the same price.

Just A Few More Sunshine Days, Please! Cotton farmers said Saturday they could finish the 1963 cotton harvest if the weather holds good for a solid week.

Viet Cong Increasing, Says U.S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Despite losses of more than 1,000 men a month, the hard core ranks of Communist guerrilla forces have swelled during the past year into a stronger, better armed fighting force, a U. S. military spokesman said Saturday.

Even with the heavy losses through death, wounds, capture and desertion, the high-ranking officer estimated the hard core Viet Cong force at between 22,000 and 25,000 men.

Partly armed irregulars, estimated between 60,000 and 80,000 last January, may have lost force.

INFILTRATION But more important, the U. S. spokesman said, the hard core ranks are better organized, and, bolstered by an influx of Communist-bloc arms, are stepping up their infiltration program.

Although lost territory made it harder for Communists to operate in some areas, Western sources counted 1,380 Viet Cong incidents in December, the highest total for any month in the long, grueling war except November.

The number of Red weapons captured in the past three months has skyrocketed. They include heavy shells and machine guns from Red China, which Americans believe were smuggled through Cambodia.

WIN SUPPORT The American spokesman said 95 per cent of the problem is to win support of more rural Vietnamese for the U. S.-backed war.

"The problem is to bring security to the countryside, justice to the people and assurances in return for the sacrifices the people will have to make," he said.

"It will be a slow, tough, un-spectacular business in 1964," he predicted, "but if the new Saigon regime goes through with plans to prop up outlying hamlets and isolate and destroy Viet Cong units, 1964 will be a year of great progress."

Government troops generally fight hard. But slow reaction time in the military chain of command has enabled Communist forces to complete some maneuvers unhindered by Saigon reinforcements.

LINE BLOCKED The collision blocked the Belgrade-Skoje railway line for 11 hours until rescuers and repair crews, working in freezing weather, completed a search of the wreckage and cleared the tracks.

Among the injured was the commuter train's engineer, a man named Manojlovic. From his hospital bed he said there was no signal to indicate blockage of the rails and that a slight curve prevented him from seeing the other train until he was little more than 100 yards away.

"I knew instinctively what was going to happen, but I couldn't prevent it," the engineer said. "All I could do was to safeguard (ease pressure of) the steam boiler to prevent it from exploding. I don't remember anything else from then on."

TRADE CENTER The commuter train was on a run to Belgrade from Pozarvac, trade center for a Serbian grape-growing region southeast of the capital.

Witnesses said the train was moving at top speed, which is usually about 40 miles an hour.

Fresh Session Opens Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress gets back to work Tuesday, with its first full-dress encounter with President Johnson set for Wednesday and with much of the business President John F. Kennedy laid before it still unfinished.

Johnson's State of the Union message, to be delivered to a joint session Wednesday, presumably will affirm what he has already said less formally—that he is making Kennedy's program his own, with top emphasis on enacting an $11-billion tax cut and a comprehensive civil rights bill.

The legislators will be listening closely for Johnson to develop further some themes he has stressed on his own. One is economy: Johnson is expected to submit a budget in the neighborhood of $100 billion, which would mean additional substantial cuts under the WORK AHEAD The Senate Finance Committee resumes Wednesday consideration of the tax-cut bill, with much work still ahead. Only about half of the 56 amendments proposed to the bill since the House passed it have been considered.

The House Rules Committee begins hearings on civil rights Thursday. If these drag, sponsors of the legislation can be expected to push a discharge petition to bring the bill to the House for a vote. Such a petition requires the signatures of 215 members, and 170 had signed when the House adjourned.

On Jan. 20, the House Ways and Means Committee, resumes hearings on the plan to provide hospital and nursing home benefits for the aged, financed by an increased Social Security tax. A majority of the committee still is regarded as opposed to the program.

WITNESSES When President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22, the committee suspended sessions, leaving still unheard some 60 witnesses.

The health program, which Johnson long has supported, could provide a real test of the ability he has demonstrated in other fields to break legislative jams and forge acceptable compromises.

The Democratic majority, stung by criticism of the record of unfinished legislation left by the 88th Congress after its almost year-around first session and facing election campaigns this year, will be working for a lawmaking record that will provide platform ammunition.

Thugs Beat, Rob Actress

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two youthful gunmen ambushed actress Eva Gabor and her husband in their Harbor Isle apartment Saturday and fled with her 15-carat, $25,000 diamond ring, police reported.

The youngest of the famed Hungarian-born Gabor sisters was hospitalized with a cerebral concussion and multiple bruises on the arms, face and neck.

She and her husband, Richard Brown, 41, were left bound with venetian blind cord and gagged with his socks.

Police said Brown told them the robbers were waiting in the couple's Racquet Club apartment when they returned about midnight.

Brown said the men threatened the lives of both, then attacked Miss Gabor to emphasize they meant business. One pearl earring was torn from the beautiful 42-year-old actress' pierced ear as she struggled with the thieves.

Her physician said Miss Gabor "has a ruptured blood vessel and a swelling the size of an egg on her forehead which plainly shows the mark where she was slugged with the butt of a heavy gun."

Millard Cope, Prominent Angelo Publisher, Dies

MILLARD COPE Texas news leader

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Millard Lewis Cope, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times and a director of The Associated Press, died Saturday of a stroke suffered as he was preparing to leave for his office. He was 58.

He died in Shannon Hospital at 1 p.m. without regaining consciousness. The stroke was diagnosed as a massive cerebral hemorrhage.

Cope was widely known in Texas and national newspaper circles. Besides his Associated Press directorship, he was president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association in 1957.

President Kennedy last year named him to the National Advisory Council for the Peace Corps.

Cope was a top official of the Harte-Hanks newspaper group of Texas. He had been with the group 25 years.

SECOND TERM In 1962, he was elected to a three-year term, his second, as a director of The Associated Press.

His long association with Houston Harte, owner of the Standard-Times, began in 1922 when Cope, then 17, walked into Harte's office and introduced himself as the Standard-Times' Sonora correspondent, a part-time job.

Harte gave him a summer job and this continued each summer on the Standard-Times until Cope finished his schooling.

Five years later Cope was sent to Marshall, as publisher of the News-Messenger. He stayed at the East Texas city until April, 1926, when he became publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times.

Cope's training for newspaper work dated back to his early childhood. He sold newspapers on the street in the Southwest Texas town of Sonora. At 13 he was doing odd jobs for a weekly, the Devil's River News.

NICKEL A STICK "I set type and got a nickel a stick," Cope once recalled. (A stick of type is a column wide and about two inches long.)

The University of Missouri School of Journalism awarded Cope in 1959 a medal for distinguished service to journalism.

He was a Presbyterian. Cope is survived by Mrs. Cope, the former Margaret Kilgore of San Angelo; a son, Millard Lewis Cope Jr., of the San Antonio Express and News, now at Columbia University on a space reporting scholarship; a daughter, Mrs. Ray B. Bailey of Austin, and his father, J. A. Cope, a retired real estate man of San Angelo.

Funeral services for Cope will be held Monday at 3 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church of San Angelo. Officiating ministers will be the Rev. Dr. B. O. Wood, pastor emeritus of the church, and the Rev. Dr. Harold Odum, pastor.

Murder Trial Delayed Again

Defense attorneys appointed to represent John Edwin Myers, 33, in his murder trial in Belleville, Ill., obtained a second continuance Monday. The case has now been reset for Jan. 20.

The new delay was created when attorneys for Myers alleged that he may have been deprived of his constitutional rights here soon after his arrest Sept. 1, 1961 for a murder committed a few miles west of Big Spring. The defense alleged that at that time Myers may have been given a psychiatric examination before legal counsel had been appointed to represent him.

TWO MURDERS

Myers will be tried in Belleville for the murders of George Ballard, 45, and Ballard's 11-year-old daughter, Carole. Myers and his teen-age girl friend, Donna Marie Stone, then 13, allegedly shot the Ballards to death on the shore of a lake near Belleville on Aug. 30, 1961. The Ballards were the first two of four persons allegedly murdered by Myers and the girl. The last victim was Arthur DeKraal, an Iowa hitchhiker, who was shot to death just west of Big Spring on the night of Aug. 31, 1961. The other victim was Margaret Wernicker, who was kidnapped in East St. Louis and slain in Missouri.

Donna Marie was ultimately sent back to Illinois because as a minor she could not be prosecuted in Texas for a part in the DeKraal slaying. She is serving an indeterminate sentence in the Illinois reformatory on her plea of guilty in the Ballard case.

TRIED BEFORE

Myers was tried for the DeKraal murder at Rusk, where the case had been sent on a venue change. A jury found him guilty and sentenced him to death. The Texas criminal appeals court reversed this conviction, finding the jury guilty of misconduct and the case was remanded to Big Spring. It was reset for trial in Tahoka and had to be continued when defense witnesses were not present. Later, Gil Jones, district attorney, surrendered Myers to Illinois with the stipulation he can be returned here for trial later if such action is deemed necessary.

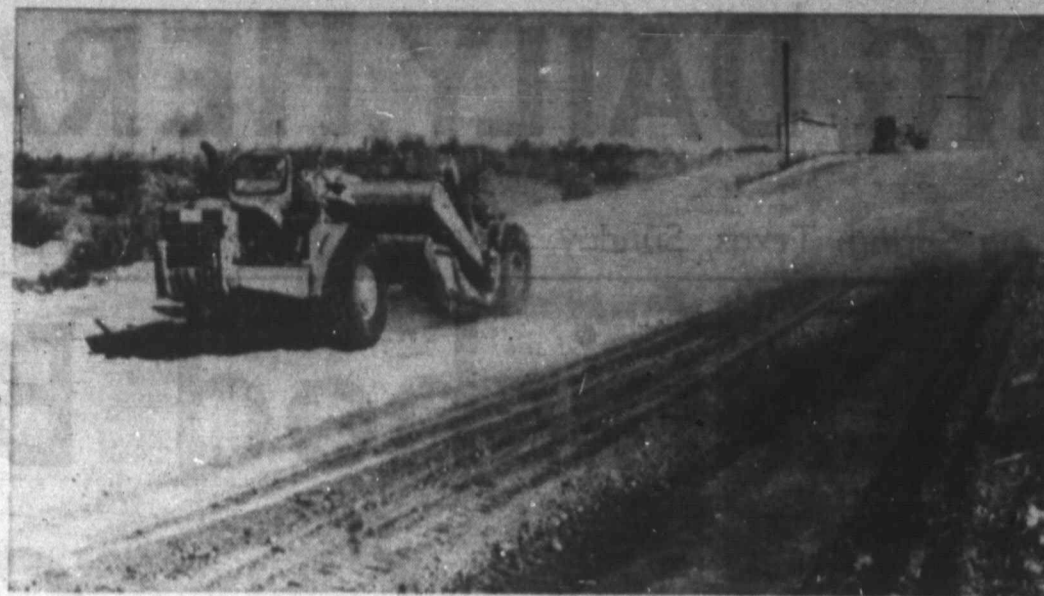

The contention of the defense that Myers may have been deprived of his constitutional rights here will be ruled on by Joseph Fleming, St. Clair County Circuit Judge, on Jan. 20.

County Picks Up 706 Residents

LAMESA (SC)—Dawson County births set a new high in 1963 but deaths declined considerably. The old year totals indicated 706 births and 147 deaths were logged here.

Births surpassed a record established in 1962, when the county recorded 661 births and 174 deaths, the latter figure an all-time high.

The most births ever recorded in a single month here was 84 in October of 1962. The same year deaths set a record when 25 occurred in January.

PREPARING SURFACE FOR PAVING
On Twenty-fifth Street in Kentwood

Construction Work Moving Slightly Ahead Of Schedule

Work on three city construction projects totaling more than $198,000 is progressing slightly ahead of schedule, according to city officials.

The biggest job of the three is the $77,443 contract with J. W. Little for construction of two new fire stations. The stations will be one-story buildings, and construction materials will be concrete masonry with brick facings and steel roofs.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said curb and gutter work on the Phase IV bond paving program at Twenty-Fifth Street is about 90 per cent complete. Paving will begin after all of the curb and gutter is in and road surfaces have been packed with caliche, he said.

The Twenty-Fifth Street segment of Phase IV calls for paving of the street from the east property line of Birdwell Lane to the east property line of the alley east of Central Drive. Cost of the project is estimated at $39,042.34. The city's share of this figure is $18,881.13 with property owners paying for the remaining $20,161.71.

City officials said curb and gutter on the north side of Twenty-Fifth Street from Lynn Drive to Central has been completed, and workmen already have started on the south side of the street, working their way back from Central to Lynn Drive. The forms were all in Thursday, and pouring of concrete began Friday.

Work on the portion from Lynn Drive to Birdwell Lane should begin soon, city officials said. The intersection at Twenty-Fifth and Birdwell Lane already has been staked. Hugh Daniels' contracting firm is doing all of the paving work for the Phase IV project.

The multiple box culvert bridge over Big Spring Creek at Birdwell Lane is, for all practical purposes, completed. Lillard said a slight amount of dirt work remains to be done. He said the ground at both sides of the bridge has to be built up to its original level. All of the concrete work is finished, Lillard said.

Cost of the bridge is $12,340, and the work is being done by J. D. Jones Construction Co., Big Spring.

Standard Announces Candidacy For Sheriff

A. N. Standard, currently chief deputy on the staff of Miller Harris, sheriff of Howard County, has announced his candidacy for sheriff, subject to action of the Democratic primaries.

Standard, a resident of Big Spring since 1943 and with 14 years experience as a peace officer in this county, lives at 504 E. 15th. He and his wife, Doris have two daughters, Audrey and Cynthia 6. They are members of the Trinity Baptist Church.

Standard came to Howard County with his parents from Bell County. He attended high school here. Soon after completing school, he enlisted in the military forces and served three years with the military police.

After his discharge, he joined the Big Spring City Police as a patrolman. This was in 1950. In the next 10 years, Standard was promoted to sergeant and later to captain on the city police force.

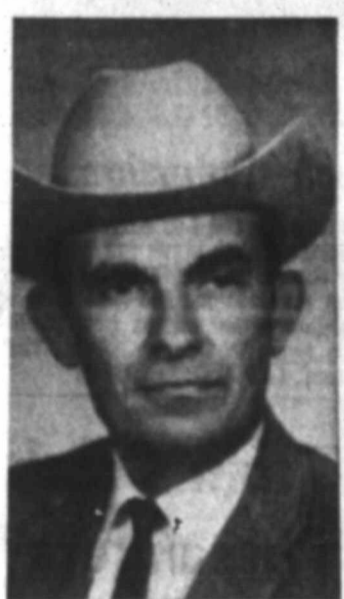

In 1960, he left the city to become field deputy under Sheriff Harris. He continued in this capacity, acting as warrant deputy for part of the time, until the worthless check department was created in early 1962. He was assigned to work with this department and had a major role in its establishment.

In January, 1963, Fern Cox, chief deputy sheriff, resigned to accept appointment as district court clerk, and Standard was elevated to chief deputy.

In his 14 years as a peace officer in Howard County, Standard has become intimately familiar with all types of law enforcement duty in this part of Texas. He has wide acquaintance with peace officers in the district.

He has completed a course of study at the police training school of Texas A&M College and holds a certificate. He is also a graduate of numerous training courses for peace officers conducted by the Department of Public Safety and the FBI. Standard recently completed a correspondence course in police science.

Standard said that he recognizes the duties and responsibilities of the office he seeks and is well aware of the importance of the office he has to the public.

"I am mindful," said Standard, "that the sheriff's office is a public office and that the man who is sheriff has a direct and serious responsibility to the people of the county. If I am elected, I will work hard to perform the duties of this office as you want them performed and to make it an efficient and important department of county government."

Standard said that he would endeavor to see as many of the voters in the county personally as he can between now and the primary election.

"I humbly ask your support and vote and I assure you if I am elected, I will do all in my power to make you a good public servant," Standard said.

FAITH AND WORKS

The accusation is made that I believe in "salvation by faith and works"; and my accuser explains this to mean a "sort of semi-merit system". Thus, by "works" he means works of merit.

I most emphatically deny the accusation. I believe salvation is by grace through faith (Eph. 2:8-10).

This is not saying man is saved by faith only; but by being "obedient to the faith" (Acts 6:7).

The word works, as used in the Bible, does not always mean works of merit. It sometimes means faith expressed by obedience. Works of this kind are essential to salvation by grace (Acts 16:31; Phil. 2:12; Heb. 5:9; Mark 16:16, etc.).

Come and give us a fair hearing. I think you will appreciate what we stand for. Why not be with us today? Services at 9:30, 10:30 and 6 (Note the change in time for the Sunday evening service).

Income Tax Law Changes Reviewed

A talk on some of the changes made in U.S. income tax laws was given by Kenneth Franks, agent assigned locally by the Internal Revenue department, before members of the ABC Club at the Settles Hotel at noon Friday.

Franks reminded his listeners that tougher restrictions had been adopted in figuring tax writeoffs on entertainment and the law had been rewritten on investment credits.

NOT NEW

According to Franks, the collection of income taxes is not a new thing to mankind. There is evidence, he pointed out, that taxes have been collected on earnings since 1900 B.C.

Franks told his listeners that the first income tax in America was collected in 1862 but that particular statute was declared unconstitutional in 1872 and the law had to be written.

Franks told his audience to exercise extreme care in filling out their reports, since an average of 30,000 errors a year are discovered in reports forwarded to the Dallas office of the Internal Revenue Bureau alone.

McADAMS CITED

Garner McAdams was singled out as the local ABC chapter's first member to apply for and receive a life membership. Milas Wood was presented with a club "big hat," emblematic of having recruited three new members for the service organization within a year's time.

Others receiving awards for recruiting members included Bob Hickson, Johnny Johnson, Byron Neel, McAdams, Charles Dunnam, Joe Clark, Ben Faulkner and Harold Davis.

Progress is being made on the drive to organize an ABC affiliate in Lamesa, club president Bob Hickson told the group, and a charter ceremony may be conducted there shortly. He lauded local club members for helping generate interest in Lamesa for the fledgling club.

Tax Assessor-Collector Will Seek Re-Election

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre has announced her candidacy to succeed herself as tax assessor-collector for Howard County, subject to the Democratic primaries this spring. Mrs. LeFevre is completing her first term in the office and asks to be returned for another term.

She has been a resident of Big Spring and Howard County since 1928, when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Patton, settled in the Moore Community. She was married to the late Richard (Dick) LeFevre in 1937. She has three sons, all of whom are graduates of Big Spring High School. LeRoy, a graduate of Texas A&M college, is now employed by Dow Bod-asche in Freeport; Jay is a religion major and Zay a political science major at Pepperdine College in Los Angeles. They are seniors.

Mrs. LeFevre's public career began after her husband's death. She worked for the city of Big Spring, the Veterans Administration Hospital, and Webb AFB. She is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended evening classes at Howard County Junior College between 1954 and 1960.

She is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Altrusa Club, the American Business Women's Association and the 14th and Main Street Church of Christ.

She points out that she has no responsibilities at home and is free to devote her complete time to the duties of the office she now holds and to which she seeks re-election.

She issued the following statement:

"It has been my pleasure to serve as tax assessor-collector for my first term in office. I want to continue serving you, therefore, I am announcing my candidacy for the office of tax assessor-collector.

"The deputies who work with me join me in expressing our thanks for the privilege of serving you.

"It is my responsibility and privilege to serve and represent you here in our county as well as when I am out of the county. My duties as tax assessor-collector are not limited to our county government. They include contacts with the office of the Texas Education Agency, State Comptroller, State Treasurer, Texas Liquor Control Board, Texas Highway Department, Howard County Junior College, and the independent school districts which formerly had common school districts in this county. It is wonderful to have such responsibilities and the challenge to do a better job each day I am in office. My constant goal is to fulfill my duties in such a way that you will be glad you placed your confidence in me. If I am again honored with the office in the coming election I shall express my gratitude to you by continuing to do my best for more efficient service and better county representation and government."

Rites For Mrs. Graves

Graveside rites were held Saturday at 10 a.m. for Mrs. Lou Graves, 92, early-day settler of this area. Mrs. Graves died shortly after noon Thursday following a brief serious illness which came as she was recovering from a broken hip.

Dr. H. Clyde Smith, her pastor at First Methodist Church, officiated, and burial was beside the grave of her husband, John Graves, and a daughter in City Cemetery under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Graves, who came here first in 1889, leaves one daughter, Mrs. Edna G. Blake; a sister, Mrs. Sallie Edmondson; a brother, Mack Burns, all of Big Spring.

Pallbearers were nephews, Kelly Burns, Vic Phillips, Charles Phillips, Gene Phillips, Arthur Pachall and Arch Raliff.

Veteran Retires

C. C. Crutchfield, veteran authority on municipal government, retired Jan. 1 after 28 1/2 years of service as field consultant for the Texas Municipal League. His tenure was the longest of any employee in the League's 50-year history. Special recognition for Crutchfield came earlier this year at TML's annual conference in Houston, where a resolution of commendation, gifts from city officials, and other honors were extended for his contribution to more efficient local government in Texas.

For The Trophy Room

Pretty Sara Croft, 24, of Denver is not one bit afraid of this 17-foot man-eating crocodile. The crocodile was shot in Buchananland, an African protectorate adjoining Southern Rhodesia, by Thomas Bolack, former governor of New Mexico. Bolack is having the animal mounted, and plans to hang it on the wall in his home. The animal after being shot was found to have in its stomach, a woman's necklace and bracelet, a remnant of a woman's dress and the hooves of a cape buffalo, an animal that weighs about 2,500 pounds. WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Not Much Private Flying At Airport Last Week

By M. A. WEBB

Holidays apparently caused a lack of flying at Howard County Airport during the past week. The weather was not a major factor except for one day, although the wind was a little rough Friday.

"I guess this time of year always sees a fall-off in the number of local persons flying airplanes," Howard Loyd, co-manager, said. "Not even club members have been doing much flying."

Loyd's office was filled, Friday, with an assortment of boxes, jars, and loose items. It is time for inventories and everything—even small items—has to be listed. A jar full of quarter-inch washers takes just as much time to count as a jar full of dimes, and these were among items being listed.

One of the Big Spring Aircraft's Comanches left for Dallas Wednesday, loaded with four passengers—Loyd as pilot, his son Don, Joe Dawes, and Bert Andres—to attend the Cotton Bowl football game. No other known pilots made the trip. A new, used, airplane has come into the hands of the Webb Aero Club. A Mooney, bought at Del Rio, is at the airport being re-upholstered and overhauled. Just when it will be ready to join the Club's Colt, Cessna, and Tri-Pacer in flight is not yet known.

Big Spring Flying Club members doing some flying during the week were: Colt—Curtis; Skyhawk—Polone, Bartlett, Clayton Bettle, and Washburn (2).

Webb Aero Club members flying were: Cessna—Smiley (cross country), Nerrington; Colt—Pagan; none in the Tri-Pacer.

"Our business has picked up during the holidays—especially after the bad weather which caused low ceilings," Trans-Texas Airways station manager Dean Berry, said Friday. "We are having good flight loads now going in all directions. We hope they keep up as it helps in building our goals for the

Clubbers Proud Of Show Honors

Members of the Howard County 4-H Club may not have fared too well in the prizes won with their stock at the Sandhills Fat Stock Show in Odessa, but they did bring home two honors of which they are particularly proud.

Sharon Harrison won second place honors as the best showman and Robert Haney, third place. Mark Barr and Gary McNew were included in the 13 top showmen picked by the judges in the first go around. Sharon and Robert won $50 and $25 in cash respectively and attractive trophies. Best showman was Bobby Rush, Lubbock.

Herb Helbig, county agent, said there were 250 head of Herefords in the show and that the competition was rough in all divisions.

Linda Foster's fifth place in the heavyweights and Gary McNew's fifth place in medium-weight steers was the best spots won by local youngsters. However, the county pen of five steers wound up in third place in the show. Other placings made by the Howard County club members were: Heavyweight steers—Mary Thornton, 12th; Mediumweight steers—McNew fifth; Maxwell Barr 13th, and Dolores Lankford, 15th; Lightweight steers—Robert Haney 10th.

Haney's quarterhorse won second place and Teresa Brewer's mare third in their division.

Helbig said the next show the club members will enter will be the Abilene exposition which opens Jan. 19.

Arrests Again Surpass 1,000

LAMESA (SC)—The Dawson County sheriff's office has logged over 1,000 arrests for the second time in three years. Deputies jailed 1,059 persons last year, a bit short of the record of 1,205 set in 1961.

Peak months last year were January and October, with respective totals of 103 and 134.

Young Attorney Enters First Political Contest

E. L. (Lanny) Hamby, one of the city's younger attorneys, has announced himself as a candidate for county attorney, subject to the Democratic primaries of this spring.

Young Hamby, now associated with Attorney George T. Thomas, is a native of Big Spring. He is the son of Joe Hamby and Mrs. Rennis Kauffman, Plainview.

He attended school here, graduating from the high school in 1958. While in high school he was a member of the football team and also active in FFA work three years.

Completing high school, Hamby enrolled at Texas Tech for three years pre-law training. At completion of this study, he enrolled in St. Mary's Law School in San Antonio where he received his degree in law in June, 1963. He was admitted to the Texas bar in September, 1963.

He immediately returned to his home town and began the practice of law. He has been an attorney in numerous lawsuits and has had a prominent part in several criminal cases since establishing himself here.

He and Mrs. Hamby, the former Toni Thomas, Big Spring, and their two daughters, aged 2 and 3 years respectively, live at 2208 Morrison.

Naturally, Hamby's bid for the office of county attorney will be his first bid into politics.

"I am deeply conscious of the importance of the office I seek," he said. "I know the important part it plays in our county government. I propose to devote my full time to the performance of the duties of that office if elected. I believe that the people of my home county would want me to put in my full efforts if they honored me with the post. I will endeavor to see as many of my fellow citizens as I can in the time before the primary and I earnestly ask that you give me your vote and support."

"If I am elected as your county attorney, I assure you I will make certain you never regret selecting me for that post."

City Building Ups Lamesa Total

LAMESA (SC)—Boosted by municipal construction on a giant waterworks program, Lamesa building soared beyond the $2.5 million mark during 1963.

The final tabulation was $2,536,637 only slightly behind the previous year's figure of $2,630,517. December's total was $460,959, including $359,809 added for the waterworks improvements. The city is constructing overhead and ground water storage tanks and adding a number of distribution lines.

The totals boosted to 73 the number of new residences authorized for construction here last year. Sixteen new commercial buildings were also erected.

The all-time construction record here was set in 1958 at $3,158,831. Construction during the past 18 years has amounted to $25,486,215. The brisk construction pace was started in 1956.

Teaches Religion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government-supported schools of Ghana, Africa, all teach religion as part of the curriculum, reports the Rev. J. Alfred Richard, a Roman Catholic missionary.

Although some critics have called Ghana "a Soviet satellite," he said, "all students have a set period of religious instruction every day," by either Protestant or Roman Catholic teachers.

DEAR ABBY

Parents And Teen-Agers

DEAR READERS: A few weeks ago I ran this letter in my column:

Dear Abby: Happiness is knowing your parents won't almost kill you if you come home a little late. Happiness is having your own bedroom. Happiness is having parents who trust you. Happiness is getting the telephone call you've been praying for. Happiness is getting good grades and making your parents proud of you. Happiness is being included in the popular circle. Happiness is having parents who won't fight. Happiness is knowing you are as well-dressed as anybody. Happiness is something I don't have.

FIFTEEN AND UNHAPPY I received hundreds of letters from readers who wrote to comment. Here are a few:

DEAR FIFTEEN AND UNHAPPY: Happiness is coming home on time so your parents won't worry. Happiness is having someone to share a bedroom with. Happiness is proving to your parents that you can be trusted. Happiness is in realizing that sometimes you're lucky you don't get what you pray for because it isn't always good for you. Happiness is including someone who is lonely and unpopular in your circle. Happiness is in having two parents who haven't already fought it out in the divorce court. Happiness is keeping the clothes you have neat and clean and not worrying about whether somebody else is "better-dressed." Happiness is not something you give. It's something you give.

FIFTEEN AND HAPPY in Richmond, Va.

DEAR FIFTEEN AND UNHAPPY: Unhappiness is having to punish your 15-year-old for coming home late because if he didn't he'd keep coming home later and later. Unhappiness is listening to your son gripe about having to share a room with his brother when he should be old enough to understand that all parents aren't financially able to provide each child with his own bedroom. Unhappiness is knowing that your 15-year-old can't be trusted. Unhappiness is finding out that the reason your son's grades are poor is because he cut classes, came unprepared for tests and never did his homework. Unhappiness is in knowing that the "popular circle" your son runs with will call him "chicken" if he does not do what they do, regardless. Unhappiness is knowing that your son will be well-dressed only if you hang up his clothes, shine his shoes and see that he changes his socks and underwear. Unhappiness is something we have brought on ourselves because we loved our son so much we couldn't say NO to him.

UNHAPPY PARENTS

DEAR ABBY: We're a bunch of guys in Viet Nam doing a job for Uncle Sam, and we read your column in the Stars and Stripes. That 15-year-old kid who was unhappy because she didn't have a bedroom of her own, didn't get the telephone calls she wanted, and wasn't as well-dressed as some of the other kids, sure has a lot to learn. Do you know what happiness is for the kids here?

Happiness is having enough to eat so when you go to sleep at night your stomach doesn't ache. Happiness is having shoes on your feet and any kind of clothing to keep the cold out. Happiness is having a roof over your head. Happiness is the hope that maybe you'll be lucky enough to get some kind of an education. Happiness is believing that the dream of freedom, brotherhood and peace for all mankind will someday come true.

Scouts Taking Reservations

Reservations for the annual Buffalo Trails Boy Scout banquet are now being received by the council office (Box 1508) in Midland. The traditional annual meeting will be held at the high school in Andrews at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 20. It will be preceded by a business meeting of the board at 5:30 p.m.

Robert W. Perin, assistant national director of volunteer training for Boy Scouts of America, will be the banquet speaker. He is regarded as one of the most erudite and popular figures in Scouting.

The annual Eagle Scout recognition banquet will be held at Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the Howard County Junior College campus at 7 p.m. Feb. 8. Boys who became Eagle Scouts during the past year, together with their parents, are to attend this affair.

Holds Conference With Architects

Another conference with architects was undertaken during the weekend by Dr. W. A. Hunt, Howard County Junior College president, concerning proposed science and library buildings.

A meeting of the board of trustees here this week is likely as a means of expediting work on planning of the proposed buildings. Complete plans and specifications will be necessary before applying for 40 per cent of construction costs under the college aid program recently enacted by Congress. Earlier the board voted to make application, noting the large number of Webb AFB personnel served by the college as well as a rapid general growth in enrollment. Bond representatives may also come here this week for the meeting.

ACC Names Lee Powell Outstanding Alumnus

ABILENE — Lee F. Powell, Paducah, Ky., Friday - was named "Outstanding Alumnus of the Year 1963" by Abilene Christian College. President of the Old Hickory Clay Company, Powell is a 1933 graduate of ACC and the sixth ex-student to be honored with the "Outstanding Alumnus" award.

Powell was chosen by the ACC Alumni Association "as an outstanding example of the Christian living and responsible citizenship which is taught at Abilene Christian College."

While at Abilene Christian College, Powell was captain of the 1932 football team and earned four letters in both football and basketball.

In 1932, he married another ACC student, Dorris Mildred Scott of Paducah, Ky. They have two daughters, Nancy Sue and Linda Lee. Powell was born in Mobile, Ala., in 1910, but lived briefly in Arizona before spending most of his boyhood on a cotton farm near Roby in West Texas where he graduated from high school in 1928. Following his graduation from Abilene Christian College, Powell coached at Sylvester, Tex. A year later he took a coaching position at Fulton, Ky. In 1935, Powell had to leave coaching in order to help his ill father-in-law operate the Old Hickory Clay Mine, thus opening a new phase in his life, that of a businessman.

In his new role, he took on more and more civic responsibilities in Paducah, becoming a member of the board of education where he served for 19 years, 15 years as chairman of the board. An editorial in the Paducah Sun-Democrat in 1950 called Powell a "model citizen." Powell also is a director of the Paducah Chamber of Commerce, a director of the Citizens Bank and Trust Co., past president of the Paducah Lions Club and a director in the Rotary Club. He is an elder of the Broadway Church of Christ in Paducah.

Through the years he has been a supporter of Abilene Christian College, serving as president of the ACC Alumni Association in 1949-50.

15-Year-Old Arrested For Three Rape-Killings

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Police said a 15-year-old boy, a husband and father, has admitted raping and killing three women—one 67, another 75, the third, 80. The youth was in jail today awaiting charges.

Police said he admitted in his oral statement that he assaulted two more elderly women, both of whom survived the choking attack.

And finally, they said, they have evidence placing him at the scene of most of the crimes. All of the victims were white, police said.

Police Chief Harold C. Smith said the Negro, Steve Washington Jr., was arrested Friday in a climax to the most sweeping manhunt in the city's history.

The nude, battered body of Eya Miller, 80, was found on her bed last Tuesday, and since that time police had questioned 1,547 persons. Smith said fingerprints found at the scene led to Washington's arrest.

Smith said Washington has a 15-year-old wife, Gwendolyn, whom he married last October. They have a 2-month-old daughter, he said.

Adenauer Urges Caution On Reds

BONN, Germany (AP)—Konrad Adenauer, warning against "capitalistic stupidity," said Saturday the West must demand that Soviet Premier Khrushchev make an agreement on disarmament in exchange for economic aid.

Adenauer, 88 Sunday, said angrily in a birthday interview: "Western capitalists are ready to help Khrushchev without any real evidence of peaceful intentions, and that is capitalistic stupidity."

The reporter asked if that meant the West should get disarmament from the Soviets in exchange for economic aid. "Yes," he replied. "That's exactly it."

He observed: "Everybody is talking about peace but the world is more heavily armed than it has ever been. The arms are what we should get rid of first."

THE WEEK

This should prove out.

One good start was made with announcement of the completion of Tucker Drilling Company No. 1 Bertie Wade as a Wolfcamp discovery in eastern Howard County. The venture rated 116 barrels of 33.4 gravity oil from 8,311-16, and operator applied for designation of the Moss Creek (Lower Permian) Field.

When you consider the span from 1889 to 1964, you're thinking about 75 years. Yet that's how long ago Mrs. Lou Graves came to this country as a young lady. Last week she became another to drop from the thinning line of old timers when she died at age 92.

Speaking of years, A. A. Porter compiled something of a splendid record by serving as Sunday School superintendent of the First Presbyterian Church for 30 years before he gave up the position. This is a remarkable record of fidelity.

It's bad enough to fight the battle of the bulge with all the rich and abundant foods at the Yuletide, but it's too much to face the banquet season of January. This week will bring the Chamber of Commerce banquet, the Lions Club football banquet, the Boy Scout council banquet, the YMCA banquet and perhaps several others. Looks like we middle-conscious people could have a month's respite between the seasons.

In football it has become a habit for area sportswriters to pick Big Spring last (and a habit for the Steers to finish second). In basketball, the scribes stayed in the rut by picking Big Spring to finish last . . . and right off the bat the Steers upset Midland Lee, one of the more favored teams.

Sports fans will have a chance, perhaps, to see Charlie Johnson in action a week from today. He left here last week to get ready to take part in the all-pro bowl game set for Jan. 12, and if support from home base means anything, he'll have a great day.

Politics, held back by an old custom which precludes most announcements until around New Year's Day, got going in a big way. Today's Herald contains a list of several announcements on top of a number a week ago. Nationally, Sen. Barry Goldwater announced he would seek the GOP presidential nomination, and there was no need to poll the local Republican delegation. Several weeks ago they announced the senator as their preference.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District tacked up a new record last year, for the first time passing the 10-billion gallon mark in deliveries. This is enough water to cover most of Big Spring to a depth of 10 feet.

The Internal Revenue Service has softened the jolt of sending out income tax return forms right after Christmas by announcing that each Monday now the IRS staff will be happy to assist local taxpayers with their returns.

Dr. Hunt Named To Commission

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, has been selected by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a member of the Commission on Colleges, Class of 1966.

This means he will serve a three-year term on the commission, composed of representatives from each of the states served by the association. This commission passes upon entrance of colleges into the association. Gordon Sweat, Atlanta, Ga., executive secretary, notified Dr. Hunt of his appointment.

Youth Killed In Hunting Mishap

HOUSTON (AP)—Morris Teague, 15, died Saturday from an accidental bullet wound he received on a hunting trip in northeast Harris County Jan. 1. Police said a hunting companion told them he fell while running toward Teague. He said his rifle discharged. The bullet struck Teague behind the left ear.

plants themselves. The Western powers should sell them, he thinks, but only if they get a political return.

"I don't want them to go hungry, either," Adenauer said, "but they ought to behave decently."

As for giving Moscow long-term credits, he predicted: "You'll see—they'll never pay a cent."

Adenauer retired as chancellor in October. He still belongs to Parliament.

As for the latest Soviet proposal, for an agreement to outlaw war as a means of settling disputes, Adenauer commented: "Old hat."

PEACE APOSTLE Khrushchev, he said, just likes to present himself as an apostle of peace. Adenauer thinks Khrushchev also wants to go down as the father of Soviet economic strength—Lenin having been the great theorist and Stalin the great war hero.

Adenauer sees no objection to this. He says he wants to help Khrushchev save face in the mess he has made of Soviet agriculture— as Adenauer defines it.

But Adenauer wants the West to get something in return. He noted that the U.S., French and West German governments have taken a stand against giving the Soviets long-term credits. Britain plans to grant them.

EVIDENCE President Johnson should not take Khrushchev at his word, he warned, but demand evidence of good will.

Adenauer believes the Soviets want to take over Western Europe and thus become stronger than either the United States or Red China.

Berlin, he said, is dangerous terrain for agreements with the Communists.

"Do you think they gave those passes out of pure humanitarianism?" he asked, poking out his finger accusingly.

Strangler Hits Again

BOSTON (AP)—A 19-year-old girl was found strangled in her apartment near Beacon Hill Saturday night, the 13th female strangling victim in eastern Massachusetts in 19 months.

Within an hour after discovery of the victim's nude body, police in an 18-year-old youth who had boasted "I'm wanted for murder."

Police said the girl may have been raped.

Miss Mary Ellen Sullivan, 25, and her sister, Elizabeth, 16, both of suburban Belmont, told police the youth got out of their car after stealing $5 from them. As he left the car, the girls said, he threatened them, adding: "I'm wanted for murder."

Miss Sullivan's apartment is only about three blocks from the Boston Common garage which faces on Charles Street. The girl's body was discovered by her two roommates, Misses Pamela Parker, 18, and Patricia Delmore, 19, upon their return from work in a downtown department store.

Bicycle Stolen

Johnny Mata, 407 State, reported the theft of his bicycle shortly before noon Saturday. The vehicle was parked at the Ritz Theatre at the time of the loss.

Crowds Engulf Pope On Jerusalem Visit

JERUSALEM (AP)—With throngs engulfing him Pope Paul VI came to Old Jerusalem Saturday, made his devotions at the Stations of the Cross and prayed in tears where tradition says Jesus Christ was entombed.

Once disaster threatened. Fire broke out high in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher as the Pope was saying Mass. The flames were soon extinguished, and he went on, unheeding. But earlier tears showed on his cheeks in the course of his first Mass of the Holy Land pilgrimage he has undertaken in a move for peace and brotherhood.

The blaze was in two connected buildings supplying power for television lights and cameras recording the historic moment.

Foot-long tongues of flame licked out for a few minutes 30 feet up scaffolding erected for restoration of the church. A man climbed the scaffolding and a soldier handed up his headgear for an attempt to beat out the flames. That was unsuccessful. Lights went out, then a soldier handed the man a stick and he poked the cables apart, extinguishing the blaze.

Those close to the altar said Pope Paul never interrupted the Mass during the episode, although the crowd of worshippers murmured and looked up. Only the light of 10 tall candles behind the altar lit the scene.

The pontiff, 66, arose at dawn in the Vatican and boarded an American-built DC8 for the 3 1/2-hour flight to Amman, the capital of Jordan, where King Hussein I greeted him.

Post Office Employees To Be Reduced By 5,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General John Gronouski said Saturday a reduction of 5,000 in postal service employment by June 30 will be made without any regular employee losing his job.

"The reductions will be made by leaving vacant jobs unfilled," Gronouski asserted in announcing reduction quotas for the Post Office Department's 15 regions.

Gronouski told regional postal directors no mail-handling jobs should be eliminated that would impair essential services.

The postmaster general went to Texas Thursday to tell President Johnson of his plan to save $30 million a year by trimming the payroll by 5,000. He said the cuts were made in compliance with Johnson's directive to keep government employment at a minimum.

The largest employment reduction quotas were assigned to the New York and Chicago regions, 1,570 and 1,165.

Reduction quotas for other regions include: Dallas (Texas and Louisiana), 130; Denver (Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming), 60; Wichita (Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma), 70.

Auburn Enrolls Its First Negro

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—A Negro student broke the racial barriers at Auburn University on Saturday by registering as a graduate student after first checking into a dormitory where he will live with white male students.

The arrival of the student, Harold A. Franklin, caused no noticeable excitement; although the campus of the century-old, land-grant college was sealed off by state troopers under orders from Gov. George C. Wallace to keep federal agents away.

Three federal officers sat in a car parked at a street intersection just off the campus; but made no attempt to get past the state patrolmen.

NEW LIBRARY Franklin registered together with other graduate students in the new university library. A crowd of about 100 white students stood in light rain across the street at the back entrance to the ultramodern library building. Some jeered, others laughed as the Negro walked alone.

He had walked to the library from Magnolia Hall, one of the men's dormitories where he was given quarters under a federal court order requiring the university to allow him to live on the campus.

WITHIN HOUR Franklin completed registering within an hour, signing up for courses in the history of England, the history of Russia and U. S. domestic policy to 1865. He paid his tuition and returned to his dormitory.

As Franklin completed his registration and walked away from the library, two unidentified students greeted him with outstretched hands. They were immediately stopped by state troopers and required to show their student identification cards and then allowed to proceed.

One of the white students, who declined to give his name, said the handshakes were merely a friendly gesture to welcome the Negro to the campus.

An Associated Press reporter telephoned Franklin at his dormitory but he declined any comment.

"No comment," Franklin said, "I don't have anything to say to you."

LUGGAGE He would not say whether he planned to stay on the campus over the weekend although his luggage was taken into the dormitory and his attorney returned to Montgomery after driving Franklin to Auburn.

Top Job Only For Margaret

HOUSTON (AP)—U. S. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Me., says if she decides to try for a higher political office this year it will be for President and not vice president.

In a telephone interview Saturday with The Houston Chronicle, Sen. Smith would disclose her decision which she plans to announce Jan. 27. But she did outline specific conditions in the event of her candidacy.

She would seek the Republican nomination for President and not vice president.

She would campaign for herself—not for or against anyone else.

Her decisions would be made independently of other political candidates' action.

She would conduct a personal handshaking campaign because she has "no organization and no money."

She would not let her candidacy interfere with her duties in the Senate.

The 66-year-old senator announced recently she was considering entering the New Hampshire primary in March and possibly others later.

The Chronicle talked with Sen. Smith at Loring Air Force Base in Maine. She said she would announce her decision Jan. 27 at the National Women's Press Club luncheon in Washington, D. C.

"I was scheduled to speak to the club Dec. 5," she said, "but after President Kennedy's assassination I cancelled all appointments up to the first of January."

Letters To Editor: Clean Fight Asked

To the Editor:

The brutal killing of President Kennedy has been blamed on extremists on the far right and the far left. The facts are that Oswald was not found to be a Communist but a Marxist and studied both the Communist publications and Trotskyite journals representing feuding ideologies indicating he definitely had a confused mind. The far right propaganda expounded through the press by attackers of the Kennedy administration . . . without a doubt encouraged this weak character assassin in the brutal murder of our President. The damage done by these negative thinkers of the right wing and the attacks upon public office holders by these character assassins can be and is much more widespread and can cause much more vicious results than intended by these self-styled super-patriots . . .

These people are in most instances John Birchers who have gone underground and emerged cloaked on some patriotic or religious named organization which is then embraced by the Republican party . . . People can disagree and do so respectfully and honorably. I am particularly concerned with the Howard County Republican party who just after the last election sent out letters to their followers to write more letters to their Congressman increasing their attack upon the New Frontier and the Kennedys. Such a position put them on record as being against anything the New Frontier supported before it was ever presented and such negative thinking never has contributed anything good for any people.

LBJs Head To Capital

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Ending a busy two-week stay at their ranch near here, President and Mrs. Johnson return to Washington Sunday to plunge into more formal White House activities.

First thing on their social calendar is a reception Monday for members of the White House staff.

The biggest day of their homecoming week will come Wednesday, when Johnson delivers his State of the Union message to a joint session of the reconvened Congress.

Mrs. Johnson will watch her husband's performance from the executive gallery.

People are cultivating seeds of hate without visible cause and if we do not come to our senses our democratic freedoms can be completely destroyed. Many of these same persons already support the thinking of "Life Line" and H. L. Hunt who believe that votes should only be determined by the units of wealth one possesses and would set up a ruling class of the "haves" over the "have nots" Pure fascism.

I just thought that this would be a good time for all our local politicians and the political parties to rescind any of their previous actions based on hate alone and enter the coming political campaigns with an open mind and a clean heart and examine all issues and candidates on their merit after having given each a clean and fair evaluation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

To the Editor:

The Christmas which we spent in your city and the home of my parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mitchell, was truly grand. However, we do not feel that 1963 could be complete for us if we did not take a few moments to join you in your efforts to make patriotism a reality to all Americans. We refer, of course, to The Americana Series of Documents which are now being offered to your subscribers. We are enclosing a check for the entire set of 12.

The year 1963 has seen tragedy strike at the heart of every American. This tragedy has evidenced the fact that the war for freedom is not just a war of soldiers in uniform, it is a war of the people. It must be fought not only on the battlefield of Korea or against the Viet Cong guerrillas but in the heart of every man, woman and child who loves freedom.

As 1964 approaches, may we rededicate ourselves with an unbreakable determination to free ourselves and those who come after us from the tyranny and terror that threatens to strike us down! It is our obligation—we are the fighters! We must be alert and work for a continued land of freedom over which Old Glory can wave with pride! Congratulations to you and the staff of the Herald for the contribution which you are making May God defend the right.

Sincerely,

Wayne Burns Enters District Attorney Race

Wayne Burns has announced his candidacy in the coming Democratic primary for election to the post of district attorney of Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties.

Burns has served as county attorney of Howard County since 1958. He is a native of the Big Spring area, having been reared northwest of Big Spring. After graduation from high school in 1946, he attended Texas Tech for four years and received a BA degree in government. He next enrolled in the University of Texas School of Law. Upon completion of his studies there in 1953, he was awarded his LL.B. degree and earned his license to practice law.

Shortly thereafter, Burns entered the armed services and spent 13 months in Korea. Upon return to civilian life, he started the practice of law in Big Spring in 1957, and in November, 1958 he was elected Howard County Attorney.

Burns, his wife, Kay, and their year old daughter, Alyssa, reside at 501 Scott.

In announcing his candidacy for election to the office of district attorney, Burns issued the following statement:

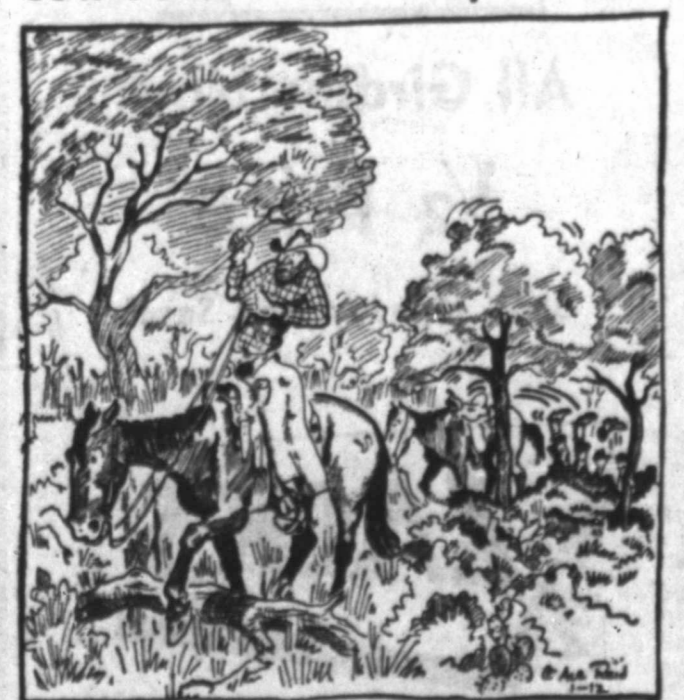

WAYNE BURNS

"I have always been a loyal Democrat, and it is my belief that this is only fitting and proper since I am asking for that party's nomination in the primary. Also, I believe it important to state that it is my intention to operate the office in an efficient, impartial and vigorous manner, so that it shall mirror the public's will and warrant the public's confidence. I believe that my record of service as county attorney merits my promotion to district attorney, and the support of everyone will be greatly appreciated."

Lamesa's Economy Smashes Records

LAMESA (SC) — Lamesa's economy took giant strides again last year, smashing records and presaging another banner year in 1964.

Except for construction, which barely fell short of 1962, all other facets of the economic picture showed from moderate to sharp rises and gave every indication of moving to still higher marks this year.

Retail sales in fiscal year 1963 jumped by more than $1.5 million to an all-time standard of $30,797,000. Population estimates ranged upward from 13,400 to 13,640 and big gains posted by utility companies reflected the figure as an accurate one.

to rise, hitting a record 673 million gallons. Tax valuations for Dawson County continued to rise, reaching a figure of $28,906,460, with the hike attributed to increased oil activity in the Ackerly and Klondike areas.

Bank deposits were at $29 million-plus at the end of last year and postal receipts for the first time in history neared the $200,000 mark.

School enrollment was up to a point where trustees had to start planning a construction program. Personal income amounted to nearly $7,000 per household on the average.

Doris Day Top Money-Maker

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Doris Day was named No. 1 money-making star of 1963 Saturday in a poll of motion picture exhibitors.

It was the second consecutive year Miss Day headed the list in the U. S.-Canada poll conducted by Motion Picture Herald. She also was No. 1 in 1960.

Other stars in the top ten for 1963 are, in order: John Wayne, Rock Hudson, Jack Lemmon, Cary Grant, Elizabeth Taylor, Elvis Presley, Sandra Dee, Paul Newman and Jerry Lewis.

Poll Tax Buyers Off To Slow Start

LAMESA (SC) — Issuance of poll tax and exemption certificates in Dawson County is lagging far behind expectations. Less than 1,000 poll tax and slightly more than 600 exemption certificates had been issued through Jan. 4.

The lag was attributed in part to the constitutional amendment last year.

Dawson County had 4,908 potential voters in 1960, and because 1964 is a presidential election year, county officials expect about 5,500 to register voting rights before the Jan. 31 deadline. The record is 5,406.

Texas Faces Problem Of Educating Work Force

DALLAS — With nonagricultural employment increasing twice as fast as the national average, Texas faces 1964 with more urban, employment and education problems than ever before.

Former ranch lands are spawning industrial plants, and farms are being absorbed in suburban developments. Cities are growing larger as small towns become smaller.

But the growth of cities demands competence, skill and education and in Texas, as elsewhere, not enough qualified workers are available.

By 1956—for the first time, according to the U. S. Department of Labor—manual occupations in the country were outnumbered by professional, managerial, clerical and sales jobs. Since that time employment has grown much faster in white-collar than in blue-collar occupations.

Thanks to more and better machines, a man's work has grown more productive. With only a 3 per cent increase in man-hours worked between 1947 and 1961, output went up nearly 60 per cent.

Consequently, the number of new job openings (has been going down. During the decade of 1947-57 there were some 700,000 new non-farm jobs each year in the private economy. Now the figure is about 175,000 a year—not enough to absorb all the people who want to work.

Most of the new jobs require education and training. Employment growth rates among professional and technical workers are three times greater than the average for all occupational groups. On the other hand, jobs for the unskilled are drying up.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia has lost 100,000 people since 1800 because of volcanic eruptions, the Antara news agency reported. The biggest death toll was in 1833 when tidal waves caused by an eruption killed about 35,000.

Jobless Ranks Counteract Overtime-Fat Pay Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Factory workers averaged three hours of overtime a week last November. But while they were picking up this extra pay, 500,000 Americans joined the army of the unemployed.

This is one of the paradoxes of the American economic system—not enough jobs to go around, but for those who have them the chance to fatten the paycheck at time and a half.

On the surface the solution would appear to be a simple one: Hire new men rather than pay those already on the payroll overtime rates. This way it has been estimated, about 1 million could be sliced from unemployed rolls, now numbering 3.9 million. But the problem is more complicated than that.

First, overtime would have to be discouraged.

RAISE RATE

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz suggested Friday a way to raise the current time-and-a-half rate. The idea is not new. The AFL-CIO long has plugged for doubling pay for overtime, on the theory this would discourage employers from keeping workers on the job more than 40 hours a week.

Why isn't this done?

The answer, according to the experts, is three fold: Rush jobs can't be anticipated always; if employers are uncertain about long-term business conditions, it's better to pay men overtime than hire new workers; the cost of hiring new men is spiraling with increased fringe benefits, company payments to welfare funds and higher Social Security taxes.

WITH VARIETY

Labor leaders are agreed unemployment must be fought with a variety of measures. There is general support among them for tax reduction and for large-scale public works programs and a shorter work week.

However, in recent years the shorter work week has seemed to be a distant rather than an immediate goal. For one thing, while the late President John F. Kennedy generally was sympathetic to labor's objectives, he spoke many times against the 35-hour work week. Besides, Congress didn't seem to be interested in the idea.

Experts Conduct Dam Site Study

A battery of experts joined Colorado River Municipal Water District staff members this weekend for a critical look at the two dam sites on the upper Colorado River.

Roger Rhoades, internationally recognized consultant on dam foundations, came here from San Francisco, Calif., at the invitation of William F. Guyton, Austin, consulting hydrologist for the district. Guyton also came here as did his geologist, Ralph Scalapino, Austin, while W. L. Eeds, design engineer for the district's engineers, Freese, Nichols and Dress of Fort Worth.

These men spent Friday in the field with O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager of CRMWD, and Paschal Odom, district engineer. Previously the group conferred with E. V. Spence, CRMWD general manager, who insisted on a complete analysis of all factors governing the location of a dam to impound a second lake for the district.

CHECK GEOLOGY

The consultants studied logs of oil wells drilled in the vicinity of a potential site in southern Mitchell County and one immediately above Robert Lee in central Coke County. They also pondered previous geological and hydrological reports, then went into the field for on-site inspections. Test holes have been drilled on the Mitchell site and are in the process of being drilled on the Coke County site.

Out Of Bounds

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—For the first time in history, a Lutheran ordination has taken place in Geneva, stronghold of the 16th Century Calvinist reformation.

At the 256-year-old Lutheran church on Place du Bourg-de-Four, American Lutheran leader Dr. Franklin Clark Fry ordained Paul E. Hoffman, a staff member of the Lutheran World Federation with offices here.

"No final report can be expected until after all the drilling is complete and necessary data is in hand," said Spence. "We are, however, looking forward to a firm recommendation on a dam location."

South Nudges North, 28-21

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Ode Burrell, Billy Lohridge and George Mira led the South to a 28-21 victory over the North in the 15th annual Senior Bowl football game Saturday.

Burrell, the Mississippi State halfback, scored two touchdowns on short runs. Quarterbacks Mira of Miami and Lohridge of Georgia Tech passed for one touchdown each, and Lohridge kicked all four extra points.

The South defense was hard pressed to stop a North rally led by Bill Munson of Utah State in the final period. Lohridge's touchdown pass came on one of the most unusual plays in Senior Bowl history. The Tech All-America was attempting to make the Senior Bowl's first field goal in the second quarter when his holder, Larry Rakestraw of Georgia, fumbled the snap.

GEORGE MIRA

record with 48 pass attempts, cracking the old mark of 42. Munson passed 10 yards to Dick Drummond of George Washington for one score and then tossed two yards to Paul Krause of Iowa for another. His last pass attempt fell incomplete in the end zone as the game ended.

Burrell was chosen the game's outstanding player as well as the South's top back, and Miami tackle Dan Connors was chosen the South's outstanding lineman. Munson was voted the North's outstanding back and Krause, an end, the Yankees' outstanding lineman.

The expected passing duel between Mira and Jack Concannon of Boston College failed to materialize. Both teams had to pass in a rain which grew heavier as the game progressed and Concannon was unable to make headway against it.

up here to get back in shape after the Christmas holidays. Eddie Nelson again led the HCJC attack, scoring 19 points. Tom Carter, Charles Cumber and Terry Williams each had 13 points for the Texans.

Ed Tucker, a 6-foot-5 recruit sent down by Kansas State University for seasoning, led Hutchinson with 18 points and a flock of rebounds. Robert George tallied 19 for Hutchinson, which now has an 8-2 record.

In the other portion of the double header, Dodge City topped Creston, Iowa, 81-75. Three of HCJC's five losses

Jayhawks Await Loop Test With Pioneers

HCJC's basketball troupe, which found the going rough but rewarding in Kansas, return to competition here Tuesday night, at which time the Hawks challenge Lubbock Christian in an 8 o'clock Western Conference joust.

HCJC stands 2-0 in league action and both the victories have occurred on the road. The locals beat Lubbock Christian in Lubbock, 74-61, and South Plains in Levelland, 71-66.

The Hawks will be trying to break a three-game losing streak against the Pioneers. HCJ's last loss came Friday night in Hutchinson, Kansas, at which time the locals dropped an 81-72 decision to that city's Dragons after building up a seven-point lead early in the game.

Hutchinson waxed warm the last half, hitting 67 per cent of its shots from the field. All told, the Hawks connected 47 per cent of the time on field goal tries.

Cats Upended By Ga. Tech

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia Tech surprised the nation's No. 1 team, Kentucky, with a 76-67 upset in the opening Southeastern Conference basketball game for both teams Saturday night.

The loss was Kentucky's first in 11 starts this season. Tech boosted its mark to 6-3. R. D. Craddock, Tech's 5-foot-11 captain, led the Yellow Jackets with 25 points. Cotton Nash, the Kentucky sharpshooter who entered the game with a 29.7 average, was held to 20.

Four Bears, Five Giants Named To All-Star Team

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Four members of the world champion Chicago Bears, five New York Giants and six Green Bay Packers headed the first annual National Football League All-Star team chosen by player vote and announced Saturday by the league's Players' Association which conducted the poll.

Pete Retzlaff of the Philadelphia Eagles, president of the association, said ballots were tabulated here following distribution of them to all NFL players just before the regular season ended in December.

Aggies Swarm Over Ponies

DALLAS (AP) — The Aggies dominated the boards and Benjie Lenox poured in 27 points as Texas A&M ran roughshod over Southern Methodist 75-61 in the opening Southwest Conference basketball game for both schools before a crowd of 8,700 Saturday night.

The Aggies led all the way, taking a 2-0 lead on 6-foot-8 sophomore John Beasley's driving jump shot after 29 seconds. They drove ahead to 5-0 before the Ponies were able to make their first tally.

Raiders Slam Razorbacks

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Sophomore John (Dub) Malaise sparked Texas Tech to a 93-84 Southwest Conference victory over Arkansas Saturday night despite a Razorback rally giving a turnout crowd of 10,050 a giant scare.

Arkansas had wiped out all but five points of a 21-point Tech lead when Malaise re-entered the game with 7 minutes remaining. Tech was ahead only 73-68 but the 5-foot-11 guard drilled in 10 points during the next three minutes and returned to the bench with Tech ahead 67-72. Senior Tom Patty clipped in other four points in the clinching burst.

For the game Malaise tallied 24 points. Arkansas 6-foot-1 sophomore Ricky Sogg crowded him for scoring honors with 22, two points more than Razorback senior Jim Magness. Other Tech high scorers were Harold Denney with 15 and Patty 17.

Arkansas led only in the early stages as the Raiders broke out from a 7-7 tie to lead 49-35 at halftime. Texas Tech's gap soared to 21 at 63-42 three and one-half minutes into the second period. With the long-shooting Magness contributing 12 points, the Razorbacks launched their surge that cut the Tech lead to 5 points.

Arkansas hit a blistering 52 per cent of its field goal attempts in the second half after an erratic 34 per cent in the first period. The Razorbacks edged the Raiders for the game from the floor in accuracy 42 per cent to 41 per cent.

The Giants, who bowed to the Bears at Chicago a week ago in the NFL playoff, placed quarterback Y.A. Tittle, end Del Shofner and tackle Roosevelt Brown on the offensive platoon and had end Jim Katcavage and back Dick Lynch picked for the defensive squad.

Retzlaff also announced the selection of Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns as the league's "most valuable offensive players" and Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions as the "most valuable defensive player."

Old Sub Rule Recommended By Committee

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rules Committee of the American Football Coaches Association Saturday recommended a return to free and unlimited substitution for next season.

The recommendation goes before the National Collegiate Athletic Association Rules Committee meeting in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 11.

"They're a very sincere, dedicated group," said Jack Curtice, chairman of the coaches rules group. "I'm certain they'll give some serious consideration to the coaches' wishes and that the recommendation has some chance of passing."

The rule, Curtice said, is identical to the free and unlimited substitution rule that was abolished in 1952.

"The substitution rule has been our bug-a-boo," the football coach at University of California at Santa Barbara said. "We've tinkered with it every year since 1952."

"The rule we had last year seemed at the time to be a tremendous step in the right direction, but it didn't seem to satisfy the situation."

Curtice said the 24 members of the Football Coaches Rules Committee had polled all members of the association and that 98 recommended a change from the limited substitution rule of 1963 and 90 advocated a return to free and unlimited substitution.

Under the proposed change, Curtice said, "free and unlimited substitution would be possible at any time when the ball is not alive."

"That's the same language of the rule we had in 1952," he said.

Under that rule free substitution, including platooning by offense and defense, was permissible at any time the ball was not in play, whether the clock was stopped or not.

Clemente Shines In San Juan Win

SAN JUAN (AP) — Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates provided the big punch for San Juan Friday night when he drove in two runs with a double and also scored on an error in a 4-1 victory over Santurce.

Clemente continued around the bases to score the third run of the seventh inning when Chico Ruiz of the Cincinnati Reds overthrew the plate.

Nationals Bury SW All-Stars, 66-14

Matt Snell combined to account for all 10 National touchdowns in a 66-14 rout of the Southwest in Saturday's Challenge Bowl football game.

The slender Bork passed for three touchdowns—one to Byrd—and set up two more with aerials as he completed 20 of 27 attempts for 243 yards. Bork also scored on a two-yard run.

Byrd scored on a 12-yard pass from Bork, a five-yard run with an interception and a six-yard scamper. He also set up two touchdowns with long kickoff returns.

Snell scored four touchdowns. He plunged a yard on each of two TD smashes and sped seven and 35 yards for the other two.

Bork and his favorite target, Northern Illinois teammate Hugh Rohrschneider, were selected as outstanding back and lineman, respectively. Rohrschneider caught 10 passes for 207 yards.

There never was any question about which team was superior as Byrd took the opening kickoff off 47 yards and the Nationals stayed on the ground, slamming to a touchdown scored by Bork.

The Nationals scored three touchdowns in the first period and two in the second. Then they racked up two more in the third and closed out with three in the final period.

The Southwest got its first touchdown in the second quarter on a 95-yard return of an intercepted pass by Pete Jacquess of Eastern New Mexico.

The other Southwest touchdown came in the final period on a seven-yard pass from Beau Carter of Fresno State to Jerry Kelley of Rice.

Nichols Tied For LA Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament wound up in a triple tie Saturday at the end of 36 holes, with the familiar figure of Arnold Palmer within striking distance of the leaders.

Nursing a precarious lead were young Tommy Jacobs and Bobby Nichols, each with rounds of 69-68, and veteran Jimmy Clark, 71-66, all with total scores of 137.

With lanky Al Gelberger sandwiched in between, with 70-69-139, Palmer was just three shots behind the leaders with his second straight 70—a position he occupied a year ago before he launched what proved to be a winning drive.

Tied with Arnold was Don January, 72-68, and Don Fairfield, 71-69, while hard luck hit several gallery attractions as the tournament reached the midway mark before a crowd of more than 20,000 swarming over the Rancho Golf Club course.

Par is 34-55-71 and the weather again was summery and clear.

National Open champion Julius Boros recovered from a first-round 76 for 70 and 146, but Vardon Trophy winner Bill Casper Jr. failed to survive the cut for the first time in 25 straight tournaments dating back to the American Classic at Akron, Ohio, in August 1962. Casper had rounds of 74-76-150.

And Friday's Cinderella kids, Roger Ginsberg of New York and James Black of Charlotte, N.C., couldn't stand prosperity. They led the pack in the first round with 67s. Saturday Ginsberg faded in the face of five straight bogeys and holes that the 21-year-old Black eagled or birdied Friday because horrible bogeys Saturday.

Both Ginsberg and Black finished with 74s for 141.

Also tied at 141 were Gene Littler, who rallied after a poor first nine 40 with a 33 coming home, for a 73; Dicky Hart, with a 68, and Frank Beard with a 72.

Brown-Taylor Duel Upcoming In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jim Brown and Jim Taylor—the elusive and the violent—will fight their own "battle of the fullbacks" in Sunday's professional playoff bowl game between the Cleveland Browns and the Green Bay Packers.

This personal duel between two of the great fullbacks of National Football League history fired up interest in the annual consolation game between the runners-up of the two NFL divisions. The game will be televised by CBS at 2 p. m., EST.

Although Brown of the Browns, of course—outgained Taylor by a wide margin in the regular season. The Packers were favored by a touchdown.

An NFL player once described the difference between the two fullbacks like this: "Brown will give you that leg and then take it away from you, then Taylor will give it to you, then ram it through your chest."

During the regular season, Brown's tactics prevailed. He gained 1,863 yards to 1,018 for Taylor as they wound up the No. 1 and 2 running backs of the league. That made Brown the first NFL back to gain more than a mile on the ground in a season.

The previous year, Taylor won their duel by gaining 1,474 yards but prior to that Brown had captured four straight NFL rushing titles.

Both the Browns and the Packers love to run—as any team would under the circumstances—but each indicated in its pre-game workouts that it would pass more in Sunday's game in the Orange Bowl.

During the regular season, the Browns gained 2,639 yards on 460 rushing plays and 2,217 on 322 passes. Green Bay stuck to the ground even more, moving the ball 2,248 yards on 504 running plays and gaining 2,533 yards on 345 passes.

In the Packer camp, Bart Starr spent much of his time throwing to his glue-handed receivers, Boyd Dowler, Max McGee and Ron Kramer as Coach Vince Lombardi concentrated on running pass patterns.

The Browns' coach, Blanton Collier, said his league-leading ground attack wouldn't be enough against the formidable Packers.

"We'll have to pass more. We need a more balanced offense to win this one," he said.

Frank Ryan threw 25 touchdown passes during the season, tying the Browns' record set by Otto Graham in 1948, and Gary Collins caught 13 to tie an NFL record.

If the teams do turn more to the air lanes, they would complicate each other's job of defending against the rushes of Brown and Taylor.

Green Bay finished the season with an 11-2-1 record but lost the Western Conference championship to the Chicago Bears. Cleveland, 10-4, finished second in the Eastern Division to the New York Giants.

All three earlier pro playoff bowl games were won by the Detroit Lions, over Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Cleveland.

Ray Renfro, 12-year veteran halfback of the Browns, will close out his career with this game. He has been with the team longer than any other player except Lou Groza.

Women Links Pros Here

By PAT WASHBURN

The first half of 1963 came in the Beauty with a potent sprinkling of brawn, brains, and superb talents will be on display at the Big Spring Country Club Thursday when two of golf's finest women pros hit the links with a free clinic and nine-hole exhibition match.

On hand will be Kathy Whitworth and Carol Mann, members of the Wilson Sporting Goods Co. advisory staff. In the 12:30 p. m. clinic, they will demonstrate the basic fundamentals of the game and also go into the finer points of golf—the exhibition match will follow.

Kathrynne Ann Whitworth, a 24-year-old native of Jal, N. M., has become one of golf's greatest women pros. Since turning to the pro circuit back in 1958 because "playing golf is the only thing I ever wanted to do," she has rapidly climbed to the top which is demonstrated by the fact that in 1962 and 1963 she was second only to Mickey Wright in money winnings—her total during last 12 months was $26,558 as she took first in eight tournaments.

Her first three years on the tour were the toughest as she failed to register a win. But 1962 got her started toward the plateau which she now occupies as she finished in the money in all 28 events she entered, and she was among the top five 14 times. Her first win came in the Kelly Girl Open in Ellicott City, Maryland and she later took the Phoenix Thunderbird Open and teamed with Mason Rudolph to win the Haig & Haig Scotch Mixed Foursome event. Although her only win during

New Honors Come To Texas Coach

DALLAS (AP)—It won't take much time to honor the Southwestern and senior college coach of the year when the annual sports achievement dinner is held at the Dallas YMCA.

Both plaques can just be handed to one man—Darrel Royal of Texas. Royal had the national football champions, winning 11 straight games, including victory over Navy in the Cotton Bowl.

So he was picked up by the Texas Sports Writers Association as the man contributing most to sports in the Southwest for the year and also the No. 1 coach.

In each instance Royal held a wide lead. He beat out Don Trull, Baylor's great quarterback, in the balloting for Southwestern of the Year. He won out over Harold Bradley, basketball coach of Texas, for coach of the year.

Ex-Boxer Shot By Palermo

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A former middleweight boxer was shot and critically wounded Saturday during an argument over money with Fred Palermo, son of fight manager Frank (Blinky) Palermo, police reported.

The ex-fighter, James Flood, 34, of Paterson, N. J., who resides in a hotel here, is in critical condition in Philadelphia General Hospital.

Detective Pat Cannon said young Palermo gave this version of the shooting:

Flood entered the delicatessen owned by the 28-year-old Palermo and a brother-in-law. He told Palermo to "Give me some money."

When Palermo refused, Flood repeated his demand, and was again turned down. He left.

He returned a few minutes later and asked for money again. Palermo refused and Flood started punching.

Palermo was knocked down, and picked up a .32 caliber revolver from under the cigar counter to hit Flood.

The weapon went off, wounding Flood. Palermo called police, and took Flood to the hospital in a taxi.

He was arrested and charged with assault with intent to kill and aggravated assault and battery by shooting.

Flood was a promising middleweight fighter about 10 years ago.

San Diego, Boston Seek First Crowns

By CHARLES MAHER Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The most irrefutable offense in the American Football League collides with its most formidable defense Sunday and either San Diego or Boston — whichever survives the collision — will win its first AFL title.

The oddsmakers like San Diego, the team with the offense, by a touchdown.

The game starts at 4:30 p. m. EST and will be carried nationally by ABC's television and radio networks.

The weather should be balmy and Balboa Stadium, which seats about 34,500, should be just about full.

This will be the third championship game for San Diego. Three years ago, before they moved here from Los Angeles, the Chargers lost their first championship game to the Houston Oilers. Two years ago the Oilers won the championship again by defeating San Diego.

Boston will be playing in the title game for the first time. The Patriots won the Eastern Division championship in a playoff with Buffalo and finished with eight victories, six losses and a tie.

The Chargers, who won their third Western title with an 11-3 record, defeated the Patriots 50-17 in a pre-season game and beat them twice, 17-13 and 7-6, during the regular season.

The 7-6 contest, played at Boston, was the lowest-scoring game in AFL history.

The Patriots led the league in total defense with an average of 265.3 yards allowed per game. The Chargers led in total offense, averaging 368.5 yards per game. Boston was fourth in total offense and San Diego was third in total defense.

Charger Coach Sid Gillman says the Patriots have "about as good a defense as there is in professional football." He says their defensive ends, Larry Eisenhauer and Bob Dee,

John Fultz Leads Texas To Victory Over Bears

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A sterling Texas defense and 10 straight field goals by John Paul Fultz sparked the Longhorns to an 83-59 Southwest Conference basketball victory over Baylor Saturday.

The regionally televised game from Gregory Gymnasium here was the opening championship battle for the conference crown. Texas is defending champion, losing only its final game last season to Baylor and racking up a 13-1 record.

The Longhorns were in thorough command after the first nine minutes of the game. After that they moved away from the Bears steadily. Fultz missed his first field goal attempt and then pitched in 10 straight.

With the score 39-27 at halftime, the Texas defense halted the Bears without a field goal for the first 7:50 of the second half.

Several times, Texas moved as much as 28 points ahead but wound up with a 24-point margin. Winston Moore, who has been averaging about 18 points per game in pre-conference games, was held to five points by the Longhorns. Last season, Moore averaged 18.7 points per game.

Spencer Carlson led Baylor scorers with 19 points, including seven straight free throws.

Texas, which has been having trouble hitting from the floor in pre-conference games, hit 54 percent. Baylor hit 35.3 from the floor.

Players Demand Rights From AL

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — American Football League players plan to form an association this month and ask club owners for a pension program and family medical coverage.

The plan was announced Saturday by linebacker Tom Addison of the Boston Patriots. He said the AFL players' association will be patterned after the one in the National Football League.

Addison said the association will be organized at a meeting here Jan. 14. He said player representatives from the eight AFL clubs will elect officers, adopt a constitution and bylaws and "draw up proposals to be presented to the league commissioner and owners at their meeting Jan. 16."

Michigan Romps Past Northwestern

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan successfully opened its Big Ten basketball campaign with an easy 85-73 victory over Northwestern Saturday.

The taller Wolverines, troubled by Northwestern's zone defense in the early minutes, started to hit from the outside and rushed to a 45-33 halftime lead after twice leading by as many as 14 points.

Sophomore Cazzie Russell paced the well-balanced Michigan scoring attack with 23 points. Bill Buntin had 22 and Larry Tregoning 18. The Wolverines, ranked fifth nationally, now are 10-1.

Rick Lopossa of Northwestern topped all scorers with 29 points, 22 of them in the second half.

YOUNG CLIFF RICHEY

Paul Thomas, the 6-foot-8 sophomore cager at the local high school, is one of seven children in the family and the only boy . . . He was born here . . . In the latter part of the 1964-65 season, Paul should really come into his own . . . The University of Miami Hurricanes haven't filled their home stadium since Oct. 7, 1955, when they played Notre Dame before a crowd of 75,685 . . . However, the Hurricanes averaged 47,000 for seven home games last fall, thanks largely to the presence of colorful George Mira in their lineup . . . Joe James of LaVega, a former Little All-America tackle, recently was named head coach at Howard Payne College . . . As one of his assistants, James hired a former Lamesa athlete, Jerry Millsaps, who later coached at San Angelo Lee Junior High School . . . Millsaps won three football letters at Lamesa . . . Melvin Lindsey, the Big Spring High School coaching aide, officiated an average of 20 basketball games a week over a period of a month ending around New Year's Day . . . Lindsey says he is disappointed with the small number of young men going into the officiating profession, says athletics must face up to a serious problem eventually unless more people take up whistle tooting . . . The big problem, he points out, is getting a youngster to serve his apprenticeship on low-paying jobs until he learns the rules and acquires the necessary poise . . . Ed Fisher, the local merchant, says Big Spring should point more proudly to its athletes who have made good in pro football . . . He adds that pictures of stars like Cliff Patton, Bob Flowers, Charley Johnson and Danny Birdwell — all of whom have starred in pro ball at one time or another — could be mounted in a conspicuous place, reasons it might be a worthy project for the Big Spring Quarterback Club.

Lions' Club Banquet Moved Back

The Downtown Lions' Club football banquet honoring the Big Spring High School football team, which will have Abilene's Chuck Moser as its speaker, has been moved back a couple of weeks to Jan. 25 to avoid a conflict with the annual Chamber of Commerce party . . . John Bridgers, head coach of the Baylor Bears, will visit here Jan. 29 for a Baptist Temple function and will break bread with the Steer footballers that evening . . . Baylor's teams are 28-21 in overall play since Bridgers succeeded Sam Boyd as coach in 1959 . . . The 17th coach in Baylor history, Bridgers will have lasted longer at the Waco school when the 1964 season opened than anyone since Morley Jennings quit in 1940 . . . Jennings was there through 15 seasons . . . In the last Cotton Bowl football game, the teams played 23:57 minutes before the first penalty was inflicted . . . Navy controlled the ball 11 1/4 minutes of the first 27:21, yet gained a net of only 19 yards in 19 plays . . . Cliff Richey, a former San Angelo resident who now calls Dallas home, was rated 25th nationally in the most recent amateur tennis ratings and is sure to experience a surge up the ladder by the time the 1965 ratings come out, barring an injury . . . He's regarded as a real comer . . . Marty Reissen, ranked fifth nationally by the U.S. Lawn Tennis association, spends his time during winter months playing basketball . . . Net many sports buffs know perhaps that the athletic policies of Memphis State University are regulated by Bernie Moore, commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, although Memphis is not a member of the league . . . Memphis covets a new image with the sports-following public, reasons living with SEC by-laws can do it . . . A couple of ex-HCJC track stars are now attending Memphis State.

Association Should Be Renamed

The Texas Sports Writers Association perhaps should be renamed the Texas Football Writers Association, since members discriminate against other sports in choosing their "men of the year" . . . There was no better example than in the last poll for the Texas Junior College Coach of the Year, when Tom Pickett of Wharton College was named over HCJC's Red Lewis . . . Pickett guided Wharton's gridgers to a 9-1 record . . . All Lewis did was lead the HCJC track forces to their third National JC championship in a row . . . The betting handle at Sunland Park race track over the five-day period encompassing New Year's Day was $815,840 . . . Attendance amounted to 15,364 . . . Word from El Paso is that doctors have advised Big Spring's Dexter Pate to give up football due to a knee injury suffered the past season . . . The fiery center had two years of eligibility remaining . . . The young man was an all-state performer in high school and won a part time regular's job at Texas Western College his freshman year . . . The Houston Colts and the New York Yankees will play two exhibition baseball games this spring, tangling March 16 and again April 5 . . . Ex-Big Spring Warren Cantrell takes over as golf pro at the San Angelo Country Club Feb. 1, replacing Dick Turner . . . Turner may join the PGA tour in February . . . Cantrell, who was an architect here at one time, recently was elected president of the Professional Golfers' Association . . . The San Angelo people can't expect to retain Warren for any great length of time, since he can be counted on to seek regular changes . . . Cantrell did much of the architectural work for the Big Spring Country Club's new course . . . He's been a pro 23 years and a golfer for close to 45 years . . . An estimated 229,000 outboard motors were in use on Texas-owned boats in 1963 . . . Only four states could boast of more registrations.

TOKYO (AP)—Junior welterweight champion, Eddie Perkins of Chicago knocked out Yoshinori Takahashi in the 13th round of a world title bout Saturday night with a two-fisted attack that sent the young Japanese boxer to the hospital with a brain concussion.

The challenger collapsed after a second knockdown in the 13th and lay unconscious on his back in the ring for nearly 10 minutes. Ambulance attendants carried him from the ring on a stretcher and he did not regain consciousness until 30 minutes after the knockout.

Steers Win Overtime Decision Over Rebs

By TOMMY HART
Just when it appeared all was lost, the Big Spring Steers made Midland Lee strike its colors in the District 2-AAAA basketball opener for both teams here Friday night, winning in an overtime period, 57-48.

The Longhorns pulled off the coup with their "big man," Albert Fierro, sitting on the bench with five fouls.

It was a thing to behold. The Rebels, favored in some quarters to win the flag, fielded a rangy quintet that threw up rings of steel around both buckets but the Steers doggedly hung tough to the end.

At the finish, the Longhorns proved the better pressure ball club—at least for the night. It took a free shot by Charley West with ten seconds to play in the regulation game to tie the game at 47-all and Bill Newton again put the invaders ahead with a gratis pitch in the first 30 seconds of the three-minute overtime.

After that, it was all Big Spring and West and Simon Terrazas banged in two field goals each and Mike Peters accounted for two gratis pitches.

The court play of such boys as West, Ronnie Banks and Terrazas was tremendous. Banks stands only 5-10 but he actually was wrestling the ball away from such behemoths as John Adams and Mike Frizzell on the boards.

Terrazas, who is only a sophomore, fought for rebounds like a grizzled veteran. Peters and DeeRoby Gartman were terrific.

Big Spring led by as much as 11 points early in the game and had a ten-point bulge at the half but could score just four points in the third round. By that time, Lee had pulled into a 32-32 deadlock.

The Rebels led by as much as four points (40-36) in the fourth round before the Steers untracked again.

John Adams, who stands 6-7, led the Midland scoring with 18 points while another goilath, 6-6 Mike Frizzell, collected 13. They were the only visitors in double figures.

West tossed in 16 points for Big Spring and Peters had 14 while Gartman followed with nine. All of DeeRoby's points came in the first half.

Fierro had a bad night, for him. He hit only one of 11 field goals and wound up with just two points. His lone two-point came near the end of the third period, not long before he fouled out.

The Steers hit ten of 29 shots from the field the first half for 35 per cent and 11 of 34 the last half for 32 per cent.

In rebounds, West came down with six, as did Peters and Terrazas while Fierro and Banks had five each and Gartman four.

In B team competition, Big Spring also won, 58-54, and the game wasn't as close as the score would indicate.

Joe Jaure, a real ball of fire, was taken out of action in the third quarter after scoring 22 points and never returned to play. At the time, Big Spring boasted a 13-point bulge and seemed in no trouble.

Paul Thomas scored only two points for Big Spring but did a good job of rebounding. Van Tom Whatley tossed in 11 points for the Dogies.

For Lee, John Branum led the way with 14 points.

Wranglers Topple To Amarillo, 50-45

ODESSA — The Odessa College Wranglers dropped their second Western Conference game in just as many starts Friday night as they took a first lead to only see it melt away in coldness to an Amarillo club that suddenly became hot. The final score was Amarillo 50, Odessa 45.

Although Odessa had a 27-21 halftime lead and then mounted that further to 19 points in the second half, it didn't last as they suddenly didn't hit a point while the Badgers got 10 straight. Then Amarillo went on to take the lead which they never relinquished.

AMARILLO (50)—Webb 24-4; Hill 1-2; Francis 3-7; Tucker 3-24; Shaw 1-2; Tappan 3-4; Roberts 3-10. Totals 50-45.

ODESSA (45)—Oshick 11-13; Buchanan 11-11; Elder 3-24; Kuhn 2-7; Hanson 2-11; Kominick 1-2; Matlock 1-2; Madon 1-1; Totals 45-50.

Halftime scores—Amarillo 21; Odessa 27.

Yellow Jackets Win

ABILENE — The Howard Payne Yellow Jackets, paced by the 21 point effort of former HCJC cager, Walter Carter, squeaked past the McMurry Indians Friday night, 71-69.

Ted Hobby also hit 21 points for the winners.

Curtis Gets Grid Award

DALLAS (AP)—Chuck Curtis, who did the unusual by coaching a state championship team in Class AA one season and Class AAAA the next, is Coach of the Year in high school football.

The Garland coach was an easy choice of the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Curtis had an undefeated, untied team at Jacksboro in 1962 and an unbeaten, one-tied team at Garland last season.

He got 106 first place votes, more than three times as many as his opponents put together.

Pat Pattison, who once had championship teams at Lubbock but now is at Amarillo Tascosa, finished second.

Cotton Peterson of Gonzales, whose team went to the Class AAAA quarter-finals and lost on penetrations in a 20-20 tie, was third.

Pattison's Tascosa team rolled to the semifinals where it lost to Garland, the eventual state champion.

Dan Owen of Jacksboro, who won a district championship with only two starters, was fourth and Don Robbins of Big Spring was next.

Gil Bartosh of Houston Lee was sixth. James Odom of Pterburg and Jim Acree of Corsicana got write-in votes. Odom won the Class AAA championship, Acree the Class AAA title.

Kuwait's Oil Lead Being Challenged

HOUSTON (AP) — Tiny Kuwait's position as the world leader in proven crude oil reserves is being challenged by a neighbor, Saudi Arabia.

Year-end estimates indicate Saudi Arabia boosted its proven reserves by 8 billion barrels while Kuwait added only 500 million.

The new estimates place Kuwait's current oil reserves at 63.5 billion barrels with Saudi Arabia in second place with 60 billion.

MIDDLE EAST
Kuwait's total gives the 1,900 square mile Middle East reserves that were estimated at 331 billion barrels at year-end. Saudi Arabia held 18.1 per cent.

A year earlier Kuwait held 20 per cent of total world reserves. Saudi Arabia only 16.5 per cent.

Only three minor changes in the rankings of the world's top 12 oil countries were indicated this past week in the Oil & Gas Journal's annual worldwide oil report.

LIBYA GAINS
Libya and two, tiny Middle East areas made gains at the expense of Indonesia and Algeria.

The Middle East's neutral zone added 2.5 billion barrels to its reserves to move up a notch for an eighth place tie with Indonesia. The small sheikdom and Abu Dhabi also added 2.5 billion barrels to move from 11th to 10th place, a spot formerly held by Algeria. Libya, also with a 2.5 billion gain, moved into a tie with Algeria in 11th place.

TOP TWELVE
The 12 top-ranked areas and their crude reserves estimated in billions of barrels:

Kuwait 63.5, Saudi Arabia 60.0, Iran 37.0, United States 34.2, Russia 28.0, Iraq 25.5, Venezuela 17.0, Neutral Zone and Indonesia 10.0 each, Abu Dhabi 7.5, and Algeria and Libya 7.0 each.

The reserves of the 12 areas exceeded 306 billion barrels or 92 per cent of all the world's proved crude reserves.

The Middle East reserves now exceed 297.3 billion barrels or 62.6 per cent of total world reserves. The Western hemisphere

Rise Expected

The petroleum industry is expected to share favorably in a continued rise in the nation's economic activity during 1964. The most significant gain may come in gasoline sales because of improved highways, continued high levels of automobile sales and a growing trend to travel more by car.

Basin Rig Count Edges Up During Past Week

A gain of three over the prior week's total of rotary rigs operating in the Permian Basin in Empire was noted on the Friday tabulation of Reed Roller Bit Company.

The new total shows 221 units, compared with 218 a week ago. An increase of 16 was also noted over the 205 listed on the comparable survey from 1963.

Lea County, N. M., with an increase of three to 43, was in first place.

The local area also showed a net gain of two rigs, pushing the week's end total to 20. Dawson County, with eight working units, paced the area. Howard County, however, showed the largest gain, going from one unit the week before to four.

previous week's figures are in parenthesis.

- Andrews 11 (10), BORDEN 2 (3), Chaves 1 (1), Cochran 1 (1), Coke 1 (2), Crane 6 (13), Crockett 2 (2), Culberson 2 (1), DAWSON 8 (7), Dickens 0 (1), Ector 10 (12), Eddy 10 (7); Fisher 1 (2), Gaines 13 (15), GLASSCOCK 1 (1), HOWARD 4 (1), Irion 1 (3), Kent 3 (1), Lamb 0 (1), Lea 43 (40), Loving 3 (1), Lubbock 1 (1), Lynn 2 (2), MARTIN 4 (4), Midland 3 (3); Nolan 1 (1), Pecos 19 (15), Presidio 1 (1), Reagan 1 (2), Reeves 5 (3), Roosevelt 2 (2), Runnels 7 (3), Schleicher 2 (3), Scurry 2 (3), STERLING 1 (2), Stonewall 6 (4), Sutton 1 (1); Terry 1 (1), Tom Green 6 (5), Upton 5 (9), Ward 10 (9), Winkler 6 (5) and Yoakum 9 (10).

with 64.2 billion barrels, can claim only 19.4 per cent.

REST OF WORLD
The remainder of the world reserves are split up this way: Russia and her satellites 8.9 per cent, Africa 5 per cent, Asia-Pacific 3.5 per cent, and Europe 0.6 per cent.

Western Europe's oil reserves may trail the list in reserves but the Oil & Gas Journal said the area is the world's brightest spot for oil marketers.

Continued sharp increases are expected in Western Europe's demand for petroleum products. Imported oil is a major factor in that Europe's crude production this year averaged less than 350,000 barrels a day.

Europe's petroleum growth rate is indicated by a 21.6 per cent increase this year in the area's crude refining capacity. Refiners in Western Europe now can process 6,263,000 barrels of crude a day, compared to 5,149,000 a year ago.

Crude production in Italy declined this year from 35,000 to 33,800 barrels daily but the Italians boosted their refining capacity from 800,000 to 1,264,000 barrels a day.

WEST GERMANY
West Germany's production increased from 131,900 to 142,000 but the Germans added 245,000 barrels to their refining capacity. West Germany now can process 1,213,000 barrels of crude daily.

Germany's capacity now exceeds that of the United Kingdom, where an addition of only 49,000 barrels boosted daily refining capacity to 1,152,000 barrels.

France moved into the million-barrel category the first time, boosting its refinery capacity to 1,059,000 barrels a day, an increase of 137,000 over 1962.

To Hold Meetings

The first of eight meetings to be held by the National Petroleum Refiners Association in 1964 will convene in Houston Jan. 29-30. For the NFRA Gulf Coast Region, the meeting will be held at the Hotel Americana-Houston.

Director Resigns

MIDLAND — John C. Hostetler, director and board chairman for White Eagle International, Inc., has resigned effective Dec. 30, 1963. He had been chairman since November of 1961.

JACK A. HORNER

Horner Heads Texas OIC

DALLAS — Jack A. Horner, Houston, president of Shell Pipe Line Corp., has been named state chairman of the Oil Information Committee of Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, according to James L. Sewell, association president.

Horner has served as OIC executive vice chairman for the past two years. He succeeds A. O. Saenger, Houston, retired Humble Oil and Refining Co. marketing official.

As OIC chairman, Horner will direct the Texas oil and gas industry's public information and service program through a volunteer committee of about 900 industry employees.

Horner became president of Shell Pipe Line in 1960. He is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and joined the Shell organization's legal department in Tulsa in 1936.

Humble Oil Makes Education Grants

Humble Oil and Refining Co. Education Foundation has distributed $323,800 in 1963 as grants to 57 colleges and universities across the nation, according to Hines H. Baker, chairman of the foundation's board of trustees.

Included in the group were 17 Texas educational institutions and related groups.

About half of the total amount distributed was in the form of fellowships and departmental grants, especially at the graduate level.

The company has also made other contributions, which during 1963 totaled more than $747,000.

Wells Spots Offset To Fool's Creek Pool

Earl Wells Jr., Odessa, will drill No. 8-A Clyde Reynolds as an attempt to extend the Fool's Creek (Queen sand) pool of Glasscock County 1,800 feet east into the western part of Sterling County.

The 2,000-foot test is 12 miles east of Garden City and spots 726 feet from the south and 336 feet from the east lines of section 47-32-4s, T&P survey.

ACKERLY FIELD
Two projects have been completed in the Ackerly (Dean sand) field in Dawson County.

Conoco finished No. 3 Ray Adams, which spots C NE SE, section 4-34-3n, T&P survey, for 184 barrels of 39-gravity oil and no water on initial potential. It made the oil from an open hole section between 8,439-660 feet. The gas-oil ratio was 397-1. On elevation 2,834 feet KB, operator drilled to 8,660 feet and set 4 1/2-inch casing at 8,439 feet. He

Shell Aids Teachers

For the ninth consecutive year Shell Companies Foundation, Inc., is sponsoring expense-paid summer seminars at Cornell and Stamford universities for 100 high school science and mathematics teachers.

Application forms can be obtained from the two universities and should be completed and returned to them by Jan. 4, 1964. Chemistry, physics and mathematics teachers living west of the Mississippi River should write to Dr. Paul Hurd, School of Education, Stanford University, Stanford, Calif. Applicants must have had successful teaching experience and promising qualities of leadership.

The Stanford seminar will be from June 22-August 15, 1964. Each teacher selected will receive full tuition and fees, a travel allowance and $500 in cash to offset loss of summer earnings.

Since the creation of the Shell Merit Fellowship Program by the Shell Foundation in 1956, more than 750 high school teachers from the United States and Canada have taken the summer courses. Fellowship winners attend classes, work in laboratories, conduct research projects, meet outstanding scientists and make field trips to industrial plants and research centers.

well is about two miles north-east of Ackerly.

PUMPER
Located about three miles north of Ackerly and C SW SE, section 38-34-4n, T&P survey is Connolly Oil Co. No. 1 J. L. Kidd. This oiler pumped 190 barrels of oil and eight per cent water on initial potential tests after it was fraced with 30,000 gallons. It had a gas-oil ratio of 425-1.

Drilled from derrick floor elevation of 2,848 feet, it was bottomed at 8,449 feet and 4 1/2-inch casing was set at 8,449 feet and perforated between 8,271-426 feet.

Growth Seen In Chemicals

MIDLAND, Mich.—Continued growth and good health are the prospects for the American chemical industry in 1964 according to Herbert D. Doan, president of Dow Chemical Co.

"The past five years have been a period of readjustment for the chemical industry—the sometimes painful but essentially healthy result of increasing worldwide competition," Doan said.

"In the future, it will become clear," he said, "that companies with depth in research, production and marketing will enjoy growth in profits expected of an industry with virtually unlimited opportunity."

Capital expenditures in the industry are on the increase, he said. Citing Dow as an example, Doan said that his firm's capital additions will be about $85 million in 1964, compared to about $70 million in 1963. There also will be additions to research capabilities.

"We currently are introducing around 20 new products each year," Doan said. "This year around 11 per cent of our sales will come from new products, compared to about five per cent of sales from new products eight years ago."

Worldwide competition in the chemical industry is expected to grow more intense, resulting in more capital expenditures abroad.

Texans Gain Stature In Technology

Excellence in science technology in Texas is evidenced by the Annual Review of selected articles on chemical technology by the American Chemical Society. Three of 26 articles chosen were by Texans, according to David Gushee, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

The articles ranged from "Analog and Digital Computers" to "Plastics," which now ranks seventh in the nation and first in Texas.

The scientific articles by Texans were "Hydration and Hydrolysis," by Drs. R. J. Evans and R. P. Arganbright, Monsanto Chemical Co., Texas City; "Mass Transfer," by Drs. D. M. Himmelblau and K. B. Bischoff, University of Texas; and "Plastics," by Dr. Raymond B. Seymour and Faith Smith, Sul Ross State College, Alpine.

THEY'RE NEW IN OUR TOWN

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

Beginning the year in new surroundings, the newcomers to Big Spring come from the east, the west, near and far. These residents are getting situated in their new homes and surroundings. Children are entering new schools, making new friends and becoming adjusted to a new environment. Some are assuming unfamiliar duties in their places of employment, and wives and mothers are helping to make Big Spring home to their husbands and children.

THE SMITHS

Among the recent newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Zell Smith, natives of Louisiana, who came here from Memphis, Tenn. Two of their children, Kathleen, 10, and Anne, 8, are with them. Their older children are Zell III, 19, a sophomore at Memphis State College, and Carol, 18, a freshman at Lambeth College, Jackson, Miss. The manager of W. R. Grace & Co. and his wife are prospective members of the duplicate bridge ranks in Big Spring. Family recreation is water sports, and he likes to fish and hunt. The Smiths are Methodists, and College Heights School is where their daughters are enrolled in the fifth and second grades. Their address is 3206 Duke.

THE DONAHUES

Married Dec. 21 in Denver, Colo., 2nd Lt. and Mrs. Leo F. Donahue have arrived to make their new home, the Carlton House. It is assumed that their new year's resolutions were made in vows pledged that December day. A graduate of the Air Force Academy, Donahue hails from Boston, Mass. His bride's home is Denver. Presently, the Donahues are making their apartment into a home, but the lieutenant soon will be deeply engrossed in study while training at Webb AFB. Then Mrs. Donahue thinks she will either enroll in classes at Howard County Junior College or find secretarial employment. Too, she hopes to become acquainted among the student wives. She expresses a vital interest in her husband's career.

at home there among the professional residents. Miss McCall has been with the VA for the past five years and four months, serving at Fort Lyon, Colo. and in Salt Lake City, her last post. Her interests can hardly be dissociated from her work, she explains, and her favorite hobby is relaxing after working hours. She likes books — biographies and some fiction — and she has begun in a small way to collect coins. Although a native of Washington State, Miss McCall says that home is where her parents are in Salem, Ore.

MISS JANET McCALL

THE BAILEYS
From nearby Odessa, the E. B. Baileys and their two children, Michael, 4, and Susan, almost 3, have moved to Big Spring and are residing at 2809 Cactus. Bailey is the new manager of Steere Tank Lines and while he is engaged in duties at the office, Mrs. Bailey says the two youngsters keep her occupied most of the time. The Baileys are native West Texans and have lived in the area all of their lives except during a short period when they were in Houston and in New Mexico. They like to bowl, and he is a golfer.

COSDEN CHATTER

Visit In Home Of Plowmans

Marguerite Cooper and Mrs. Francys Plowman spent the weekend in Weatherford as guests of the J. M. Plowmans. The Jack Hanson family had as New Year's Day visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cochran, Olivia, Stat and Jim of Odessa.

"Welcome back" was the warm greeting for Mrs. G. T. Guthrie who returned to the office Friday after an extended leave.

Early in the week Mrs. Bernie Freeman, Fort Worth, was greeting friends and former associates at Cosden. As Mentora Carter, she worked in the pipeline and supply department.

Tuesday was Fred Stitzell's last day in the local offices. He has transferred to Dallas with American Petrofina Company of Texas.

Making her first rounds as a mailroom messenger at the refinery this week was Mrs. Roy Brooks. She has shifted from the downtown office.

Service department personnel arranged a farewell party Tuesday for Mrs. Ted McClung and Mrs. Brooks. Mrs. McClung has left to concentrate on home-making and free-lance art work.

Fashions Bewildering As Pretty As They Are

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—As pretty as they are, the spring fashions are bewildering to the more than 200 out-of-town reporters here for a week of previews.

Women only have to wear them. Men only have to pay for them. But the fashion writers must describe them, and with no more to work with than an archaic glossary of euphemisms and inaccurate labels.

When an actor brazenly mentioned the word "shift" in 1907, a horrified Dublin Theater audience broke up in wild disorder. Fortunately, fashion editors today won't shock anyone when using the word to describe the slithery, beltless silhouettes still favored by many big-name couturiers.

But the decent and proper word for the feminine version of trousers is pants. Writers will cope with it in describing Norman Norell's travel suits, Maurice Rentner's and Donald Brook's at-home costumes, John Weitz's and Ann Fogarty's sports clothes.

Because the word seems to have the same effect on men as "shift" had on that Dublin audience 57 years ago, one ladies' sportswear firm is considering either a campaign of enlightenment, or a contest to choose a more acceptable name.

Waistlines have wandered so far away from the waist during the ups and downs of fashion that the term has come to mean no more than a horizontal seam anywhere between the shoulder and the hem.

While this line was generally tucked under the bosom during the past two seasons, this season it is usually wrapped around the hipbone, emphasizing the long-torsoed silhouette. A few avant garde designers have, however, actually put the so-called waistline daringly close to the waist.

Today a jacket means anything worn over a skirt. So long and skinny are some, that without a program or a commentator, a fashion writer can't tell one from a short coat or button-down tunic dress.

Among the several approaches taken by American designers is the see-through or a generous use of gossamer yardage in either angelic pastel hues, or in wicked black, fluttering with ruffles, bows and lace. Although any of these look startlingly like nightgowns, they remain conservatively tagged evening gowns.

Another approach is the cling-to-slinky crepes which cover from neck to toes and yet show every outline.

The most talked about of the season is the peek-a-boo or the so-called plunging neckline. Recently fashion writers were taken to task by one New York columnist for sloppily applying the word décolletage to gowns that really have no necklines at all.

Yet, until somebody coins a word for the barely-a-bodiceball gown, we're stuck with décolletage, as we are with the rest of fashion's inaccurate terms.

Collection Discussed

"Collection by Telephone" was the topic of a program heard by 15 members of the Credit Women's Club who gathered Thursday for a luncheon meeting at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

The speaker was Mrs. J. B. Apple who said that collecting by phone can be very effective and is a less expensive procedure for the collector. She said care should be taken in the verbal approach and tone of voice used.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Moree Sawtelle is still confined to Providence Memorial Hospital in El Paso and that cards may be mailed to her there.

A brief business session was conducted by Mrs. H. W. Worthan. The next regular meeting will be held at the restaurant Jan. 18.

Daughters Depart After Visit Here

Guests in the home of Mrs. A. V. Blassingame Sr., Gail Route, departed yesterday for their homes. Visitors were her daughter, Mrs. E. D. Larson, and family of Rochester, N. Y.; another daughter, Mrs. Paul Webb, and family of San Angelo; sons, Joe and Robert Blassingame, Big Spring; Mrs. Darrell Smith and daughter, Sylvia, Ackerly; and Mr. and Mrs. John Hale and daughter, Marilyn, Big Spring.

Those of you who had the kids home for the holiday— isn't the stillness deafening now that they're gone? I believe it's easier on the old folks to go see them. It's easier to leave them in their homes than to have them leave yours — only a mom's opinion . . . And speaking of opinions, I was convinced that the years pass more rapidly with age, but when I overheard youngsters talking of how time flies I decided that it must be our way of life — world events, communications, etc., which accelerates the days, weeks, months and years . . . Well it's all over but the thank you notes, and I'm thinkin' it's a long time before those will be finished at the present rate. To date, not one has been sent, much less written.

Projecting good fortune into the New Year, luscious grapes were eaten one at a time on each of the 12 strokes of midnight by guests at 'Liz' (Mrs. Gene) Spence's house Tuesday night. Immediately afterward, bowls of blackeyed peas were served with hush puppies and some kind of heavenly relish. 'Twas delicious . . .

Did you hear about the Poodle Party? Somehow in the rush of things it was overlooked, but it did happen and the poodles attended. An anniversary affair, the party honored Bo Bowen's two-year-old poodle, Michele, on her birthday. Guests, both human and canine, were Ben Frizelle and Suzette; Janelle David-

Royalty, Actresses Socialites Head List

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two members of royalty, two socialite actresses, and two other socialites bounced to the top of the annual best-dressed list announced Saturday.

All but diminutive, dark-haired Queen Farah Pahlavi, third wife of the Shah of Iran, have been on the list or have hovered near it before.

In deference to her mourning, the widowed Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the most powerful fashion personality in a generation, was not considered.

Mrs. T. Charlton Henry of Philadelphia, listed as "worthy of citation" last year, made the fashion front ranks this year. Born Julia Rush Biddle, the snow-haired Philadelphian is a veteran social lioness.

Princess Alexandra of Kent, daughter of the late Duke of Kent and Princess Marina of Greece, made the big league list again this year. The princess is now married to wealthy businessman Angus Ogilvy.

ONE OF THEM

Dina Merrill, born Nedenia Hutton, daughter of Marjorie Post Hutton Davies May, is one of two blondes on the list.

Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt of New York, the former Jean Harvey of the restaurant clan, also often cited, is a first-timer on the main best dressed list this year. She, too, is a slender blonde.

Mrs. Loel Guinness, Mexican-born Gloria Rubio until her marriage to the international banker 12 years ago, heads the list this year.

The others are: Princess Lee Radziwill of London, sister of Mrs. Kennedy and a veteran member of the list.

Gloria Vanderbilt, recently wed to television Director Wyatt Cooper. She made the list last year, too.

Baroness Henry Thyssen-Bornemisza, the former London fashion model Fiona Campbell-Walters.

Mrs. Walther Moreira-Salles.

CAPT. AND MRS. O. E. POPPE, EUGENE AND GARY

Fascinating Fun Found In World Of Books

By JO BRIGHT
If you'd like to strike up a conversation with Capt. and Mrs. O. E. Poppe, 1709 Laurie, don't bother to search for an opening gambit. The old standby, "Have you read any good books lately?" will do fine—and more than likely they'll never be stuck for an answer.

Books—and their worlds of facts and fancy that can come alive to the interested reader—have intrigued the Poppes for many years. The interest, which is really a lasting gift, is something they are passing on to their children. Already, Eugene, 7, and Gary, 6 months, have their own collections of favorites with which a child's imagination is fired.

"We attempt to guide Eugene in his reading habits, because children need help in choosing books," said Capt. Poppe as his wife nodded agreement. "We do not allow them to have what passes now as comic books."

FROM S. DAKOTA

Most of the volumes owned by the family are still crated. Capt. Poppe was transferred here recently after a 20-month tour of duty at Pickstown Air Force Station in South Dakota. Still on leave, he reports after the first of the year to Webb Air Force Base where he will be personnel officer for the 331st FIS.

Both Capt. and Mrs. Poppe, the former Ophelia Torre, are natives of Lincoln, Neb. They met as high school students. They were married in 1953 following his graduation from the University of Kansas where he majored in education. He earned a master's degree at the University of Omaha in 1958. Mrs. Poppe majored in Spanish and library science at the University of Omaha from which she was graduated in 1959.

Capt. Poppe joined the Air Force at the Strategic Air Command headquarters, Offutt Air Force Base. He served at the Nebraska installation until 1958 when he was released from service. The next several years were spent as a teacher and guidance counselor at the high school in Ralston, Neb.

Recalled to active duty in 1962, he remained at Pickston until coming here. In college, he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, and as a teacher he was active in the American Personnel and Guidance Association. Also, he is a member of the Elk's Lodge.

GRACIOUS HOMEMAKER

A warm and gracious woman, Mrs. Poppe is vitally interested in many things, but she has built her life around her family, home and church. She is a member of the Catholic Daughters of America and the Catholic Women's Sodality.

She loves to cook and has added several gourmet books to the family collection. When interviewed she was preparing to make jam from eight or nine pumpkins which the children wanted to bring from South Dakota.

"I haven't tried it before," she said, "but I understand you use the same procedure you do with apricots."

Mrs. Poppe likes to garden and is anxious to see what she can coax from the soil here. "I love roses," she said, "and was astonished when we arrived in Big Spring to see them still blooming in so many yards." By next summer she plans to be gathering flowers from her own garden.

To Marry

Miss Margie Appleton's engagement and forthcoming marriage to Frankie John Firenza is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Appleton, Vincent Rosie, Coahoma. Firenza's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Firenza, Coahoma. The wedding is planned for Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Coahoma Church of Christ.

Priest On Program At Webb

The Rev. James Plummer voiced the opening prayer when the Catholic Women of Webb met Friday morning for a business session. Earlier, members gathered in the chapel for mass and communion.

Opening the meeting, a question and answer period was conducted by Rev. Plummer. The session will become standard practice at the meetings. Members were asked to present questions on religion in writing. Also, questions from the floor will be answered.

Mrs. Charles Head reported the receipt of a picture of "The Lady of the Air" from the Rev. Constantine Zielinski, first chaplain to serve at the Air Force Academy. The picture was a gift for the Rosary Crusade.

Mrs. Sam Fields, clothing drive chairman, asked for donations to be brought to her home, 66 Chanute Drive. Her telephone number is AM 3-6326.

Hostesses were Mrs. Harold E. Hopkins and Mrs. Francis Loftus. The door prize was won by Mrs. Head. Following the closing prayer by Rev. Plummer, members were reminded that the next meeting would be Feb. 7.

Susannah Class Has Luncheon

A luncheon was held Friday at First Methodist Church for members of Susannah Wesley Sunday school class. Hostesses were Mrs. D. F. Bigony's group.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Marvin James and the devotion and benediction by the Rev. H. Clyde Smith.

Following the luncheon a brief business session was conducted by Mrs. W. E. Moren, president. Thirty-two members attended.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Finds That Mom's Right

Dear Heloise:

I am a fifteen-year-old teenager. I wear white socks.

Naturally, I walk around the house stocking-footed. Within an hour or so my socks are black on the bottom.

My mother does not like this... she said she could never get them clean and truly she couldn't until I made a little discovery (after she made me wash my own).

I tried putting the socks in a suds and adding bleach to it but it still did not get the bottoms clean.

So after the socks were thoroughly wet I laid them on the drainboard and picked up my mother's scouring powder (the type which says "contains bleach") and sprinkled some of it on the bottom of the socks.

Then I put a little water on the socks, picked up the scrub brush and scrubbed the scouring powder into the fibers.

Then I left the socks on the drainboard for about thirty minutes.

Do you know that when I put those socks back in the sink with some hot water and let them soak a few minutes and then scrubbed them between my hands with my fists that the black was gone?

Now I dampen and soak my socks with the scrubbing powder and throw them in with Mother's.

Take Fat Away
Make sure there isn't a single speck of fat on your heater when you are beating egg whites or you won't get maximum volume.

MRS. R. W. McNEW AND DOLLS

She Wanted A Doll; Now Has 105 Of Them

By KATHLEEN DOZIEK
A child's dream of a doll has remained with Mrs. R. W. McNew, 510 Douglas. Traveling West Texas town there was from Comanche County by wagon with her parents, the L. S. Kamlins, Mrs. McNew remembers the year 1903 and how she wished for a beautiful doll. Her father promised that she would have one when they arrived in Big Spring. But arriving in the West Texas town there was nothing there much less a doll. The Kamlins settled down to ranching, and the years went by. It was not until she had children and grandchildren that Mrs. McNew finally realized her dream. She began dressing a doll for herself. However it was not her intention to start a collection of 105 when she dressed the first one. She likes to relax, watch television and crochet, so most of the dolls' dresses and hats are crocheted. Some, including a bride doll, are made of lovely fabrics.

Many nations are represented. There is a Japanese Geisha girl; an Apache Indian; an English peddler; a Siamese doll and dolls from Argentina, Spain, Mexico and Holland.

CHARACTER DOLLS

Characters depicted include Mary Todd, Martha Washington, the March of Dimes Child for 1963; Elaine of Lady of the Lake; Red Riding Hood; Clementine and Calamity Jane; Cub Scouts, Santa Claus, Goldilocks and Miss America of 1962.

Mrs. McNew figures that she has dressed as many as 100 or more dolls in all. She has made them for her children, her grandchildren, numbering 15, her 12 great-grandchildren and for others.

In her collection, she has an original Dionne quintuplet doll and a Shirley Temple model which she dressed in crocheted apparel for her daughter when she was small. "I guess I'll go on making them," Mrs. McNew said, "that is as long as my fingers will work." Arthritis has bothered her hands somewhat, but she believes in exercising the affected joints.

FIVE CHILDREN

She and her husband, a retired farmer and rancher, have five children, R. X. McNew of Vealmoor; Mrs. Byron McCracken, Courtney; Mrs. Bonnie Bennett, 504 Douglas; Mrs. Gerald Bennett, 2897 Goliad; and Mrs. Dwight McCann, 510 Goliad.

They say that their mother's biggest problem is finding a place for her dolls to protect them—not from the grandchildren—from dust. As the collection grows, the problem becomes greater.

SQUADRON SCROLL

What, Why Of New Year Are Explained

By BARBARA HORNING
With the advent of 1964, have you wondered how it got here? No, it is not the threat of nuclear war or other political questions I am referring to, but rather who decides when it is time to celebrate a New Year.

Once upon a time, according to the Encyclopedia Americana, the year was divided into two seasons—heat and cold. A year began with the awakening of spring and ended with the onset of winter until a star-gazing young man came along and divided the year into four seasons according to the positions of stars or constellations.

In this way, he helped the farmers perform their field chores at the right time and even more important, he helped the people observe the right days for their religious ceremonies. (Failure to observe the right day would have displeased the gods.)

RELIGIOUS CYCLES

Because the formal reckoning of time and the development of calendars was so important to religion, these tasks soon became the duty of the priests. Calendars all over the world began as cycles of religious feasts and even today, so the story goes, feast and fast days observed in religious calendars are a surviving feature from those earliest calendars.

However it wasn't until 46 AD that New Year's Day was celebrated on Jan. 1, and who do you think was responsible? Julius Caesar—who established the Julian calendar.

By February, 1582, Caesar's calendar had accumulated an error of 10 days, so Pope Gregory XIII announced a reform of the Julian calendar which was called the Gregorian or New Style calendar, the one we use today.

Americans have not always used the Gregorian calendar. At the time of colonization in the New World, all of the European powers and their colonies except England and Sweden and their possessions—used the New Style calendar. In 1752, England and the colonies adopted the New Style with Sweden following the next year. (Russia did not change until 1918, and by then there was a difference of 13 days between the two calendars.)

NON-RELIGIOUS

Consequently our modern New Year's Day is not a celebration of the Christian Church but the beginning of another calendar year.

Some religious New Years are still observed. For example, the Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, commemorates the traditional date for the creation of the world. It comes at the beginning of the month Tishri (in September or October). Muslims celebrate New Year on the first day of the month of Muharram which commemorates the date of Hegira (July 16, 622) the starting point of the Muslim calendar. Since the Muslim year is a lunar one, consisting of only 354 days, the commencement of the New Year fluctuates widely by the Western calendar.

And so the Encyclopedia Americana tells us New Year's Day is celebrated around the world and within our own country at various times of the year, and you can celebrate it when you please. However all of us can hope and pray that the story of 1964 will end with... "and they lived happily (and peacefully) ever after."

A Mother's Letter To Her Son Is Published

Engaged

Jan. 25 is the date set for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Fay Dubberly and Bobby Ned Lawdermilk, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lawdermilk, 583 E. 17th St. The announcement is made by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Dubberly of Prosper. Vows will be pledged in a ceremony at the Prosper Methodist Church.

Meet Madame President

Mrs. Sam M. Armstrong, president of the Big Spring Women in Construction, is a charter member and has served as program and social chairman for the chapter. Employed by C&D Electric Company, she is secretary-bookkeeper, a post she has held for four years.

Mrs. Armstrong has lived in the Big Spring area since moving from Midland in 1956. Presently the Armstrongs and their four children live in Coahoma where he is employed by the T&P Railroad. Charles Lee, 12, and Tone, 10, are in school, and the two younger children, Jana Kim, 5, and Jamie Carol, 3, are at home. They are members of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

Mrs. Armstrong, active with Beta Sigma Phi in the Mu Zeta and Xi Mu Chapters, belongs to the Coahoma Band Boosters and P.T.A. She enjoys reading and music in any form and says, "If I have a hobby, it's sewing."

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It would be interesting to find out how many mamas wait until after New Year's Day to take down their Christmas trees. At my mother's house we never took the tree down until after the second holiday. Come to think of it, I can't think of any other families that did either during my growing up period. Keeping the decorated juniper up seemed to prolong the joy we children felt in getting out of school for the two weeks. I expect Mama was delighted to get it out of the house once it started drying out and dropping its little slivers on the floor.

Personally, I like to take the tree down the day after Christmas. Having served its purpose, the tree is no longer a pretty part of the room I feel. The snow always starts dropping onto the carpet, and it doesn't seem to be as much a part of the season as it did the day before. And, as the commercial says, when it comes to cleaning up after the tree, I'm the only one who lives in our house. Anyway, things surely do take on a clean, neat appearance when the decorations that were so pretty the week before Christmas, get taken down the day after.

EUGENE CARPENTER and his fiancée, MISS MARY HUDSON, of Charleston, W. Va., returned to Charleston Thursday after spending the holidays here with his parents, MR. and MRS. JOE CARPENTER, and his sister, MRS. RAY FORTSON, and Mr. Fortson. Mr. Carpenter will be working in Cincinnati, Ohio in the future.

MRS. ARMOUR LONG had a real, warm Christmas. She spent it in Tucson, Ariz., with a niece, MRS. A. G. MAHAFFEY, and her husband, Mrs. Long accompanied her brother and sister-in-law, MR. and MRS. LEE BRAZIL of Lometa to Arizona for the holiday and had a delightful time. The first Christmas she had ever spent with the weather so warm the palm trees were pretty and the dates were growing.

En route home the three Texans stopped to visit MR. and MRS. DAVE GAGE in Hatch, N.M. They had also spent some time at Elephant Butte Dam and in Ruidoso.

MR. and MRS. ALTON UNDERWOOD had a quick trip to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl game and visited their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. JAMES LEE UNDERWOOD. The only Big Spring couple they saw among the thousands were MR. and MRS. SAM THURMAN, but there were many there including the OMAR JONES and R. H. WEAVER families, as well as the R. GAGE LLOYDS.

MR. and MRS. J. A. MAGEE had as their guests over the New Year's holiday their great-nephew and niece, MR. and MRS. JIMMY (Frosty) FORRESTER, and their two children, Trai and Tammy. The family lives in Lafayette, Ind., where he is attending Purdue University. They were in Fort Worth over Christmas to visit his parents, MR. and MRS. J. W. FORRESTER.

ALBERT POLACEK is a patient in the Howard County Hospital Foundation where he has undergone eye surgery. Reports from the family indicate he is recuperating nicely. He and Mrs. Polacek, who is here with him, make their home in Jal, N.M.

Year Ends For John A. Kees

John A. Kee Rebekahs gathered Tuesday evening at the lodge hall for the last session of 1963. They were commended in a letter from Miss Myrtle Russell, assembly secretary, concerning their work for the year. Members voted to help the Odd Fellows with their monthly utility bills. Mrs. H. F. Jarrett, district deputy, announced the installation of officers for Tuesday evening at the lodge hall.

Modern mothers who moan they can't manage their small families of two or three might get help from a letter written in the year of 1732 by Susanna Wesley, describing how she reared her brood of 19 children with very little difficulty. Her system was so effective that "the family usually lived in as much quietness as if there had not been a child among them."

The letter, addressed to her famous son, John Wesley, founder of Methodism, is quoted in a new book, "Women of Light," by Walter Russell Bowie, published Jan. 2 by Harper and Row. The book consists of one-chapter biographies of great women, some famous, some like Susanna Wesley, remembered only because their influence led others to fame.

WITH LOVE

With love and firmness, this great mother taught her brood to "cry softly and to speak softly," avoiding the bedlam which could have resulted from 19 loud voices. Even mealtimes, when growing youngsters often are loudest in efforts to gain attention, were quiet in her household.

"They were suffered to eat and drink . . . as much as they would; but not to call for anything," she wrote. "If they wanted aught, they used to whisper to the maid which attended them, who came and spake to me."

A new baby was born about every 12 months, and all the youngsters still unable to handle knife and fork were seated in little chairs at their own little table by the side of the family table. As soon as they could handle a knife and fork, they were "set to" the adult table.

Courtesy was taught them early, as well as quietness, and Susanna wrote, "They were quickly made to understand they might have nothing they cried for, and instructed to speak handsomely for what they wanted. They were not suffered to ask even the lowest servant for aught without saying, 'Pray give me such a thing,' and the servant was chided if she ever let them omit that word. Taking God's name in vain, cursing and swearing, profaneness, obscenity, rude, ill-bred names, were never heard among them."

A DATED LETTER

In the opening of her letter to her son, written July 24, 1732, in response to his request that she send him the principal rules she had observed in educating her family, she said:

"The children were always put into a regular method of living in such things as their were capable of, from their birth; as in dressing, undressing, changing their linen, etc. The first quarter commonly passes in sleep. After that they were, if possible, laid into their cradles awake, and rocked to sleep, and so they were kept rocking until it was time for them to awake. This was done to bring them to a regular course of sleeping; which at first was three hours in the morning and three in the afternoon; afterwards, two hours, till they needed none at all."

In describing the routine of the children past this early stage, she wrote: "At six, as soon as family prayers were over, they had their supper; at seven the maid washed them; and, beginning at the youngest, she undressed and got them all to bed by eight; at which time she left them in their several rooms awake—for there was no such thing allowed of in our house as sitting by a child till it fell asleep."

RESPECT OF PARENTS

Although she did not believe in breaking a child's spirit, she stressed the need of overcoming the kind of fractious willfulness which a youngster left only to his own instincts and without discipline may develop. After this has been done and the child taught respect for his parents, "then a great many childish follies and inadvertencies may be passed by," she wrote. "Some should be overlooked and taken no notice of, and others mildly reproved; but no wilful transgression ought ever to be forgiven children without chastisement, less or more, as the nature and circumstances of the offence require."

The children were taught to be still at family prayers and "to ask a blessing immediately after, which they used to do by signs, before they could kneel or speak."

She devoted several hours alone each week with each child alternately, reading and talking and praying with them "with more warmth of affection." In 1712, when they were eight still at home old enough to understand, she set up a schedule to spend one evening Monday through Saturday with one child at a time and to spend Sunday evening with two of them.

Women whose biographies are included in "Women of Light," are Eleanor Roosevelt, Helen Keller, Jane Addams, Florence Nightingale, Joan of Arc, and others. The book is a companion volume to "Men of Fire," also by Walter Russell Bowie. At first it was planned to call the new book, "Women of Fire," among them."

PATTY DUKE

Patty Duke Tells How Girls Can Be Pretty

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD — "Being a child actress hasn't made me impatient to grow up," Patty Duke told me. "My acting career started when I was eight, I'm 15 now, but often taken for much younger. I don't know how other girls feel about rushing into adulthood, but I feel you have a comparatively short time to be a young girl, so why not enjoy it?"
 "I don't think a girl should cover her skin with a lot of gook unless she has to cover up something," Patty declared. "I was lucky to have no trouble with my skin until I went to Bermuda and ate lots of rich food. When I went back to work, my face was broken out and I had gained too much weight. I went to a doctor who gave me a diet that he said would also help my skin. "I was not allowed any bread, and in the summer, I swim. "My skin is oily," Patty continued. "The minute my face breaks out, I wash my hair. Often the cause of blemishes is the accumulation of oil and dust around the hairline. So if you keep your hair as clean as your face, you'll eliminate any possibility of skin problems. I wash my face with a natural sponge and I use a medicated soap and lotion. If you do have a blemish, you must remember to keep your hands away from it or you'll spread the infection."

"I like cleanliness—that's why I try to keep my blouses and skirts of drip-dry material. I can wash them myself when I want to. I think when all of your clothes have to be dry cleaned that sometimes you wear them when they are not as fresh as they should be. "I suppose you'd call me a do-it-yourself girl, but I like the feeling of independence. I have what I call my 'me' night. I take more time with my bath that night, give myself a manicure and pedicure, shampoo and set my hair and scrub my face with coarse-ground corn meal and honey."

"On this night, I inspect everything in my closet to be sure that there are no loose items that need mending, shoes that need repairing and clothes that need to be cleaned. Unless you make a date with yourself, it is so easy to put off doing the little things that make you look your best. My agent told me that if I form the habit now, the older I get the easier it will be to keep myself nicely groomed."

"Discipline and organization are two valuable things to learn when you are young," I remarked.

and I wondered what I was going to do for lunch as I always brought sandwiches to school. "Make them without bread," he told me. "Use leaves of romaine lettuce and slices of swiss cheese or apple." I tried it and it really was delicious. "I had to give up chocolate, anything fried and all desserts except ice cream. I love it and could eat it three times a day," Patty grinned. "But we settled for imitation ice cream or ice milk. If I felt like having something sweet, I had honey. I'll always remember this diet because I was not hungry and I lost five pounds, which is a lot for me."
 "You were denied three things," I reiterated, "starch, sugar and anything fried."
 "You make it sound like nothing," Patty chided. "But those three things include all the party foods."
 "My doctor told me that it is easier to reduce if you exercise. I like to walk, and in New York I always take long walks,

To Keep Up Parents Study Child's Books

NEW YORK (AP) — Parents are studying children's science books in an effort to keep up with the small fry.
 The tremendous sale of some science books nonplussed the publishers until they discovered that the books also had adult appeal, says Wallace Black, who evolved a 20-volume young people's Science Encyclopedia, the only one of its kind, published last year.
 "Most parents caught in the space age dilemma are behind in some of the sophisticated areas such as electronics, space and nuclear power. What you studied in college physics or chemistry do help much when your third grade child comes home and wants to discuss the half-life of an atom. You feel a little foolish not knowing the answers," says Black, father of an 8-year-old. It takes a lot of wading through adult science books to find small facts, whereas children's books digest the information in the simplest terms. The science books are written for the 8 to 14 year age level, and give as much as one can absorb, reading simply.

County's Cancer Unit Sets Meeting Tuesday

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, temporary chairman, announced that the American Cancer Society, Howard County Unit, will hold its second organizational meeting, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church, 701 Rumples.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, chairman of the bylaws committee, will present bylaws for approval and adoption.

Dr. C. B. Marcum, chairman of the nominating committee, will present names for election of a board of directors and officers.

Citizens of Howard County who are interested in taking an active part in a cancer control program are invited to attend.

Residents Urged To Pay Poll Tax

More than 10,000 men and women in Howard County have only 20 days remaining in which to qualify themselves to vote in elections which are to be held this year.

To become eligible to vote in Texas, a resident must hold a receipt showing he has paid his poll tax. Deadline for payment of poll tax is Jan. 31.

Less than 1,000 poll tax receipts have been written by the Howard County Tax Assessor, Collector's office so far.

In 1962, which was not as exciting nor important an election year as this, 7,787 voters paid a poll tax and were eligible to vote.

In 1960, a year comparable to 1964 because of the presidential election this fall, 9,267 poll tax receipts were issued.

In view of the increase in population, it is believed there are not less than 10,000 persons in the county who are eligible to vote, provided they pay the poll tax. In addition to the poll tax receipt holders, there are nearly 2,000 other voters who are entitled to ballot in elections on exemption certificates. These are the older citizens, for the most part, and a few of the most recently qualified voters.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor collector, has announced she has appointed a number of special poll tax deputies to accept payment of the tax and issue receipts. These deputies are to be found at the International Union of Operating Engineers building near the Cosden refinery; at the office of United Associates, 2100 11th Place; and at the Coahoma State Bank. The deputies in these locations are to be on hand during normal operating hours of the establishments named.

In addition, Mrs. LeFevre has appointed Mrs. Cliffs Slate as a special poll tax deputy and Mrs. Slate will be in the lobby of the Veterans Administration Hospital Jan. 16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and at the Cosden refinery from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 17 and again Jan. 24.

Mrs. LeFevre pointed out that the amended election laws forbid any person from obtaining the poll tax receipt of any other person—except that a husband or wife may obtain such receipts for their mates; or a son, or a daughter may pay poll tax for their parents.

The old custom which permitted any individual to pay the poll tax of another person is no longer permitted. A written application presented in person or by mail has to be offered in order for a receipt to be issued.

This change in rules will preclude the practice of the past where members of civic groups sometimes waged city-wide drives to get poll tax payments made.

An application blank appears below today. If it is filled out by an individual who is qualified to vote and mailed with $1.75 to Mrs. LeFevre's office, the deputies on duty will issue a receipt and mail it to the applicant.

This blank, published first several weeks ago, resulted in some 50 or 60 poll taxes being paid. One of the blanks was mailed back from Alaska, Mrs. LeFevre said.

An attempt was made to abolish the payment of the poll tax as a voting requirement last fall. An amendment to the Constitution was voted on in November but was defeated. This is to blame for the sharp lag in the number of poll tax receipts issued since it was warned, if the poll tax had been repealed, the fee for registering as a voter would have dropped from $1.75 to 25 cents.

No poll tax receipts can be written after midnight Jan. 31. Mrs. LeFevre warns, too, that another new provision in the law prevents her from accepting mailed applications sent on the last night.

New Prefix Letters For County's 1964 Auto Tags

They're not on hand yet but the invoice for the shipment is here and it is now known the alphabetical car tag designations for Howard County for 1964 will be DH, DJ and DK.

Mrs. Helen Stanley, automobile tax chief deputy, said that she has been informed the state is shipping the county 17,985 passenger plates. The shipment will include tags DHS700 through DHS999; DJ10 through DJ999 and DK10 through DK624.

This past year, the plate designations for the county were DE, DD, DF and, lately, DS.

The original plate shipment for use in 1963 was 16,905. With nearly four months yet to go before the deadline for the 1963 plates expire, the office has already issued more than 16,714 passenger car plates. It is also noted that the original truck shipment for 1963 was 3,725 plates—already the office has registered 3,910 trucks. The new truck tags (1S8725-1S9999 and 1T10 - 1T2824) aggregate 4,000 sets of plates.

This year's shipment of plates according to the invoice, calls for 425 farm truck tags; 375 truck tractor; six farm truck tractor; 1,550 trailers; 75 special trailers 18-18; and 325 special trailer 18-32 sets of plates; 230 house trailers; 325 motorcycle; 915 farm trailer and 100 machinery plates. The total sets of plates to be sent here from the Huntsville State Penitentiary will be 26,341 sets of plates.

So far this year, the tag office has issued 23,613 plates of all types.

The new tags go on sale Feb. 1. All motor vehicles must have 1964 plates attached by April 1.

Mrs. Stanley said that the big truck from the state prison with the huge shipment of neatly packed car tags should be arriving nearly any day.

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer? If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway. You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them. They were built to be driven by you—on the kinds of roads you drive on.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Which, after all, is the kind of performance you'd expect from Chevrolet. The greater satisfaction and enjoyment built into these cars is borne out, year after year, by the higher resale they bring over other makes in their field.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet. *Optional at extra cost

A Devotional For The Day

Give ear, O Lord, unto my prayer; and attend to the voice of my supplications. (Psalms 86:6)
PRAYER: O Lord, our God, who lovest us and desirest that we may have abundant life, we thank Thee for Thy love everlasting. Grant that we may trust in Thy grace, which provides for our needs even before we ask Thee. In Christ's name we pray, Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Instill Pride In A Good Record

Previously we have pointed to the shameful record of traffic deaths within our city during the past year, seven in all.

It may be that if nothing were done we would be fortunate enough to go through this one with few or any casualties. But we cannot afford to take that chance.

The police department has announced that moving violations will be tagged more diligently. While the fear of apprehension or fine undoubtedly has some effect, it does not deter everyone at all times, hence tight enforcement is no a total answer.

Much of the burden will fall to education—or to persuasion, if you please. We must somehow enlist the help of a majority of drivers in a campaign to drive more carefully, to take pride in a good safety record, to obey speed limits and traffic signs. We need to concentrate on an appeal to avoid tail-pipe driving and to get clear views of intersections before crossing them.

Our driver education classes do an excellent job in this respect, but perhaps we need some sort of reminders to other young people in high school and college to set the pattern of safe driving for us. This is something that our clubs and civic clubs, our women's clubs and even the churches can carry to the adults. The total effect of a general appeal would be beyond our imagination. Not only would we contribute to the "possible saving" of lives, but we would save countless thousands of dollars which are being needlessly wasted through damaged vehicles each year.

New Look At The Old Look

Some thought was given to this last year, and perhaps more serious consideration is in order for 1964. We have reference to a new look at the Master Plan of the city.

This does not presuppose another financial campaign such as was undertaken successfully in 1960 when voters decided to underwrite the fundamental improvements needed over a five-year period.

Rather, a serious look at the matter again means just that—examining the situation from the vantage point of a later date. Progress can be considered in the light of new outlooks and trends. Then if there needs to be a re-orientation of plans, a rescheduling or even an extension of projects, these can be presented on the basis of contemporary judgment. A Master Plan, if it is of utmost value, must be constantly playing leap frog with itself.

Johnson And The Congress

WASHINGTON—Congress has come and gone—but in an unhappy mood. Resentment is privately expressed by a number of the members. They do not see any reason why they should have been called back here under presidential pressure after they had gone to their districts for the Christmas recess.

AGAIN AND AGAIN senators and representatives have said privately that the "foreign aid" bill could just as well have waited until January 7, because there was ample money in the till to carry on these operations. Expressions of disapproval were numerous in both parties. It is too early to say how much of an effect this is going to have on the fortunes of the Johnson administration in the future, but it would not be surprising if there were outcroppings of dissatisfaction here and there when the new session starts.

The calling back of Congress is, of course, a two-sided controversy. Actually, from a legislative standpoint, immediate action on the "foreign aid" bill was not necessary. President Johnson, however, was repeatedly told by his advisers it would make an unfortunate impression abroad if he did not come out on top in a showdown with Congress at this time. It was supposed to be vital to his prestige and influence in world affairs.

WEIGHING, therefore, the inconvenience involved in disrupting the family plans of members of Congress as against the desirability of presenting a favorable "image" in Europe, the administration chose to pressure Congress to put through the measure before adjourning.

One major effect of the episode has been to focus attention on President Johnson's relations with Congress and the methods he may use hereafter in trying to get his way.

THE FRICTION over the amendment to the "foreign aid" bill which would put certain restrictions on lending to Communist countries is an example of the kind of cleavage that may occur again and again. Congress likes to manifest its independence.

Meanwhile, Congress is getting ready for a big battle when the sessions are resumed on January 7. No subjects are more complicated than the tax bill and the "civil rights" measure. Amendments galore will be offered to each one. Neither bill will be passed without several weeks of debate. There is bound also to be an accumulation of political grievances growing out of various aspects of the legislation.

UP TO NOW, the "foreign aid" bill has been the only really controversial question in which President Johnson has become involved. The issue of fiscal economy has yet to crystallize. All the talk has been in more or less unintelligible language as far as the public is concerned. For there is a difference between the amount authorized to be spent and the actual appropriation of public funds.

Every administration does a lot of budget-cutting in theory. This usually happens when the Treasury estimates have been submitted to the President and before they are formally sent to Congress. Congress itself, however, has to do the actual cutting job. There are signs that economy will be a major issue this year and that Congress will attack the budget on many items.

THE ORIGINAL argument for a tax-reduction bill was that a business recession would thereby be avoided. Now that business is supposed to be going ahead into something of a boom, Congress might just take it upon itself to do a little cutting of tax rates beyond the administration proposals and still not run up a bigger deficit than was planned.

Congress has been represented as at odds with the Kennedy administration on many issues, and lately the impression has been given that President Johnson, because of his experience in the legislative body, will get along better with Congress than did his predecessor. But this view is questioned by those who believe Congress is reflecting a discontent prevalent throughout the country, not only over high taxes but over excessive expenditures by the federal government.

Billy Graham

I have heard that Communists are infiltrating our government, and even the ministry. This is alarming if true. Is there any evidence to support this?

O. B.

What concerns me is not so much the number of Communists in the United States, as the numbers of people who, though opposed to communism, echo the Communist line. Marxism says, "There is no God; man doesn't matter; there is no heaven and there is no hell." There are millions of Americans, though they would not say it out loud, who believe in the Marxist philosophy of dialectical materialism. It is echoed in our universities; it is heard in discussion groups, and one can hear it in private conversation. God is being seriously questioned by many people today. They are secularist and materialist.

Perhaps it is the cynicism brought on by the century of bloodletting in the world. Or it may be a side-effect of the scientific revival which tends to reject anything that cannot be studied in a test tube, or it may be lack of morals, and the drive to "live it up." Whatever it is, it is a dangerous trend.

But to offset this there is, on the other hand, a revival of interest in God on the part of many people. Many have noticed where our godless ways are leading the world, and believe that we should wake up before we blow up. "Righteousness exalteth a people but sin is a reproach to any people."

Suit Over Cat

CHEYENNE (AP)—A Cheyenne animal hospital has been sued for $3,225 as result of a lost cat.

Laura and Bill Hopper, Cheyenne, claimed the animal hospital lost their cat which was left there.

The suits seeks $25 for the cat; $300 for advertising in an effort to find it; and $3,000 for mental and physical anguish.

U.S. Growth Rate Now Exceeds That Of Most Nations

Needed for the New Year: A new explanation of continuing and persistent unemployment in the U. S. Lagging economic growth won't do.

In the last three years, the United States has been a leader in the industrial parade. And this could have a profound influence on economic trends—on our exports and imports—in the years ahead.

Since the low of the 1960-61 recession in January, 1961, industrial production here has advanced 23 per cent. The comparable gain for the 20 nations comprising the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development was 14 per cent (see chart).

Why, we even outpaced both Western Germany and France, nations which America's growth addicts have held up to us as models: What do they have that we haven't?

Perhaps now we can tag the lag for what it truly was: A passing phase.

HAD HEAD START
This country came out of the war with its industrial plant expanded and intact. The "arsenal of democracy" quickly converted to peacetime production.

Output soared, and so did prices, as we supplied the pent-up wants of Americans and the people of other countries—vanquished as well as allies. Then, as other nations rebuilt, their industrial production expanded more rapidly than ours. They ran short of workers. But now they are entering a slowing down phase.

Among major industrial powers of the non-Communist world, only Japan and Italy have expanded production much more rapidly than we in the last three years. Expansion in per cent:
Japan 32
Italy 30
United States 23
France 19
OECD Nations 14
W. Germany 10
Great Britain 8

And something else, equally important, is happening. Inflation is subsiding here, but not in most countries of the world. For instance, Premier Khrushchev's government failed last year to reduce income taxes or increase the minimum wage as promised. This is an indirect way of hiding inflation. And the Soviet newspapers report instances of discontent.

MORE OUTPUT
The following table compares price increases (cost of living) in the United States with other leading nations since 1960. Only two countries—Greece and Canada—showed a lower increase. And note that Italy and Japan are among the inflationary leaders. Inference: A correlation between rapid growth—expansion—and rapidly rising prices (in per cent):
Japan 21
Denmark 16
France 14
Italy 14
Switzerland 11
Sweden 9
Great Britain 8
W. Germany 7
The Netherlands 5
Belgium 5
U.S. 4
Canada 3
Greece 3

Will what took place here also take place abroad? As costs rose in the U. S., businessmen introduced labor-saving devices. Result: The number of workers today in manufacturing industries is 17,300,000, slightly less than the peak in 1953. Yet production is 36 per cent greater.

Automobiles and steel are vivid case histories. We turn out as many passenger cars with 600,000 workers as in 1955 with 700,000 workers. And about 400,000 workers pour almost as much steel as 600,000 in 1955.

CROSS CURRENTS
Emulation is the first law of economic competition, even as in sports. One vaulter demonstrates the zip of a glass pole, others copy. One dash man speeds his take-off with starting blocks, all soon do it. So it is with plant layouts, with machinery, with use of conveyor belts, pallets, and tow trucks.

As Western Europe copies and improves our production and techniques, economic dislocation will take place. Belgium has already discovered the difficulty of finding jobs for coal miners.

And, as growth in Europe accelerates, American exports may be profoundly affected. Booming business encourages imports of raw materials and machinery from the U. S. If demand subsidies even slightly, this could diminish the excess of U. S. exports over imports, which in recent years has amounted to about five-billion dollars annually.

Additionally, if President Johnson cuts outlays on military bases and personnel abroad, this will diminish the supply of dollars loose around the world, and this might cut U. S. exports.

On the other hand, the fast-rising trend in prices elsewhere makes American products more attractive. Moral: As 1964 begins, don't be moored to 1963-and-earlier concepts about growth and inflation. It's a cliché but also a fact that this is a changing world of complex economic cross currents.

I'm afraid you are misquoting me—refrigeration has scant effect on the vitamin content (since canned juices keep indefinitely). The vitamin loss is principally through contact with the air. Keeping it in the refrigerator for a day or two results in some loss, but the juice is still worth drinking.

My feeling is to squeeze (or mix) juice in such minimum quantities as are possible. If you can have freshly mixed or squeezed juice each day, so much the better. But if you can't have such quantities, but must mix more at a time, don't think that a day or two destroys its value.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was surprised to read your article on

Around The Rim

Well, We Can't All Be Perfect

If you're going to start out a new year, start it out clean, I always say to myself.

Not all of us have the same frailties, and each must resolve for improvement in his own good way. About the only thing some people have to commit themselves to is quit biting their fingernails. N-yah!

IN A PERIOD of introspection, I found that my living habits are going to have to take an 180-degree turn, if I show up with any sort of record at all.

So, just talking to myself, I have wondered—just wondered, mind you—about coming out with a complete remodeling job. The renovation would have to include:

Watch your tongue—it is much better to say nothing and leave some suspicion that you know something than to blab off and erase all doubt.

WATCH YOUR temper—when you lose it, it just makes you remorseful and even sick to your stomach. Tranquillizer pills are too expensive.

Watch your patience—you may think a little faster than some other people, but you don't think any better.

Watch your consideration of others—if the Lord had expected you to be sole cock-of-the-walk, he would have set you down on an island by yourself.

WATCH YOUR understanding—you think you got troubles? Just sit in a court of human relations, in the office of a finance company, or follow a minister around.

Watch your face—this may hurt some, but even that could be helped with an occasional toothy smile.

Watch your attitude—Lyndon Johnson is known as a "can-do" fellow, and look where he is.

WATCH YOUR convictions—these things will blow clear away from you if you let them flutter with each passing breeze.

Watch your honesty—one of these days you are going to get caught. Watch your dependability—it's still not too old-fashioned to do what people expect you to do.

Develop your manual skills—with a little practice, you might even be able to drive a nail without hitting your thumb. (If you do hit the thumb, refer back to resolution No. 1.)

DEVELOP YOUR mental capacity—this assumes you have some reservoir left. The Bible, the works of Dickens and Shakespeare, or even Alice in Wonderland shouldn't frighten you. The weekly magazines will keep on coming.

Improve your physical well-being—are you proud of that pot? Do your setting-up exercises every morning, and get a couple of miles of walking every day.

WATCH YOUR self-control—after all, cigarettes are nothing but some weeds and lousy paper. And no use trying to eat all the food in the house at one meal.

Develop some regularity—go to bed by 10:30 every night and get up by 7 every morning. The world is won by people who do. You want a chunk of the world?

TO SUM IT UP be orderly, conscientious, charitable and downright nice.

If I were to manage to keep all these proposed resolutions, I look forward to the dullest, most dismal year I have ever had.

The Electorate Vs. The Elite

WASHINGTON—Late in the last session the Senate passed a version of the Vocational Education bill which prohibited a certain pernicious kind of psychological testing of high school and junior high school children.

The Senate language forbade the conduct of any questionnaire "which is designed to elicit information dealing with the personality, environment, home life, parental or family relationships, economic status, or sociological or psychological problems of the students tested."

THE PROHIBITION was thought necessary because the senators had received hundreds of letters from parents who objected to tests, sponsored in part by the HEW Department, with questions such as the following:

"Did you, during the last two years: Steal goods from warehouses or storage houses? Steal more than $2 from your parents? Fight physically and bodily with an adult relative? (Go) further than petting with a person of the opposite sex? Is your father fairer about punishment than your mother? (Do you) wish (your) family had as much money as the families of many (your) classmates? (Do you) wish (your) father and mother were better educated, like the parents of many (your) classmates?"

IT IS NO WONDER that the parents objected to their children being submitted by the federal government to such power-of-suggestion invasion of privacy, and that the Senate agreed with the objections. But no sooner was the anti-testing section in print than another deluge of letters fell upon Capitol Hill. They came from psychologists and professional educationists who urged the necessity of these tests in the name of something called "educational research." When the bill went to the House-Senate Conference, the anti-testing section was killed. Not a voice, it appears, was raised to save it.

SO, WHAT DO we have? We have the Senate, in the first instance, obeying the voice of the people. In the second instance, we have both House and Senate overriding the people's voice and obeying the voice of the educational experts. We have, I think, in concrete example, one of the most intense struggles within our American society.

It is a struggle between democratic expression and expert advice. The questions at issue are: Have we reached a point in history where the complexities of living make us incapable of self-government? Must the Electorate give way to the Elite?

IT WILL NOT DO, I think, merely to rail against propositions on the inadequacy of self-government. Impalpable as they are, they are not wholly indefensible. We are in the Age of Expertise. We do need the leadership, the advice of the Elite.

But, coming back to the example of the psychological tests, it is easy to see how Big Brother starts by giving advice and ends by seizing authority. We can lose our privacy, along with our other liberties, when we grant the Experts and the Elite any license to invade the sanctums of home and school.

An Evening With Danny Kaye

Sinclair Lewis managed to write a whole book about "The Man Who Knew Coolidge." He was dull as dish-water, too. The man who knew Coolidge, that is. Not the former President or Sinclair Lewis.

Ever since I sat next to Danny Kaye at a holiday party, I have been wondering if there was a book in "The Woman Who Sat Next to Danny Kaye at Dinner." Regrettably—and mercifully—I have come to the conclusion that the answer must be in the negative. She would be even duller, I fear, than the man who knew Coolidge.

IT WAS ENOUGH to fill my wassail bowl to overflowing just to be at the same party with Danny Kaye.

So when I found that my hosts, Constance and Tio (Dr. Milton) Berliner, had seated me on my idol's right, I couldn't have believed more fervently in Santa Claus if my name were Virginia.

I must be brilliant, I must be scintillating! I ordered myself. I must be so fascinating that when he returns to Hollywood, Danny will say, "I met the most fascinating, brilliant, scintillating woman at a Christmas party in New York. Let me see now, what WAS her name?"

HE'S MUCH younger and better looking in person than on the screen, I gurgled to myself. So slim, and what an air of elegance! Yes, that's it—elegance. Oh, I must be brilliant.

"How do you like our weather—the white Christmas and all?" I heard myself burbling. Help me, help me! I prayed, or next thing I know I'll hear myself asking if he's read any good books lately.

HE ENDORSED the white Christmas. And then, pulling out all conversational thumbs, I asked him how he kept so thin—no stomach.

"I don't eat regular meals," he explained, as he made short work of the first course, a cold lobster. "I just eat when I feel like it (p.s. at the moment he was feeling like it), several times a day, and only a little at a time.

"And if I had to choose only one kind or type of food for the rest of my life, I'd take Chinese food over all other entries. Best food in the world," my idol said as he lit into the American roast chicken.

"I DO A LOT of cooking myself," he went on. "I love it. My spaghetti is a real poem. But my heart is with the Chinese cuisine. You know the essence of Chinese cooking, when a dish is on the fire, is to keep stirring everything with the same motion you use to toss a mixed green salad."

"Really?" I said, just to prove that I, too, am no tongue-tied lillie.

"YES, YOU constantly mix cooking Chinese food just like you do a salad," and Danny gave a vivid demonstration of a man mixing a salad or Keh Jup Cho Haah Kow.

"For Chinese cooking you need a wok," Mr. Kaye continued. "You know, that kind of a Chinese cooking bowl with deep sloping sides. I have one."

"I'm glad to know you have a wok to cook in," I said.

"WELL, I DON'T really cook in it," he explained. "To cook in a wok, you must have a stove where the flames come right up to the top of the bowl, so that as you toss, the food cooks. Well, I don't have the right kind of a stove, so, instead, I use a big frying pan with deep sides. I can toss in it."

"How fascinating!" I yammered, looking at Mr. Kaye's dinner partner, on the left, Miss Rise Stevens, and silently pleading for help.

"How are you on Mau Gwooh Ghuy Pien?" asked Miss Stevens, rising to the call to arms.

As you can see, it was a brilliant evening that Mr. Kaye was not apt to forget, surrounded as he was by beautiful women, wit and Won Ton soup. And, as I said later to Miss Stevens, it was clearly my evening.

Big Increase Seen In Gross National Product

WASHINGTON—An increase of as much as $30 billion in the Gross National Product during 1964 was predicted by Dr. Emerson P. Schmidt, economic consultant for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Dr. Schmidt said that GNP (the total output of goods and services in this country) should average $614.18 billion in 1964, compared with $584.5 billion this year.

The prospect of early tax cuts in 1964 will stimulate the economy, the Chamber economist said, and the prospect of further tax cuts Jan. 1, 1965 "should help pave the way for continued gains into 1966."

Dr. Schmidt predicted that expenditures for plant and equipment would rise five to 10 per cent in 1964. Construction, which has been running at record levels during 1963 should continue to improve next year, he said, and demand for automobiles is strong.

Dr. Schmidt noted that "Gross National Product has risen nearly $100 billion since current expansion began in early 1961 with little price inflation. The expansion is in its 34th month. It is likely to set a new peacetime record for sustained growth."

He added: "Corporate profits, have been more buoyant, and close to 75 per cent of the key economic indicators are pointing up."

WALTER GRICE

Grice Seeks Re-Election For JP Job

Walter Grice announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for another term as justice of peace of Precinct No. 1, Place No. 1.

He announced subject to the action of the May 2 Democratic primary.

In seeking to serve again in this capacity, Grice took occasion to express appreciation to the voters and to all others for their consideration and help in the past.

A citizen of Howard County for more than 30 years, Grice said he did not think a long recitation of his record was necessary. For references, he referred those who may not know him to those who are acquainted with him.

"I promise to do my best to fulfill the duties of the office which you have conferred on me," he said. "The privilege of having served you in this position has given me a chance to know thoroughly the duties and obligations of the office and how you have a right to expect them to be discharged. As always, I will be at your service."

One more week of bright sunshine, with no wind and no moisture, and the 1963 cotton crop will be out of the picture.

In Dawson County, where the Texas Employment Commission has had to hike its estimate of crop total another 15,000 bales, ginners say if they have three or four days of good weather the job can be finished. To date, the Dawson gins have handled 147,328 bales. The new crop estimate is 165,000 bales. It was originally 150,000.

Howard County gins were back in business in a big way as the week ended. Less than a quarter of the crop remains in the fields, the TEC estimated. A total of 32,245 bales has been ginned. The crop estimate stands at 42,500. It has already been hiked once since the harvest began.

Martin County has only 60 per cent of its crop of 75,000 bales ginned and needs more bright sunny weather. The total ginned through Friday afternoon was 46,600.

Glauco County has had its crop estimate hiked by the TEC for the third time. Each time the TEC sets an estimated crop figure, Glasscock County cotton farms rally in with enough additional bales to make that estimate low. The new estimate is 12,250 — more than 2,000 bales greater than the first estimate. The gins have already handled 12,973 bales.

Sweetwater TEC office has closed down its cotton checking on the four counties it serves. Last check was made Dec. 20. Another will be made, possibly in early February, when it is definitely established all of the crop is harvested.

Mitchell County, with 27,000 bale estimated crop had already turned out 25,063 bales Dec. 29. Scurry County, with 35,000 bales as its estimated crop, stood at 32,735 on that date. Fisher County with a 41,000 bale crop sighted had 39,750 ginned and Nolan County, with 19,000 bales as its crop estimate, was past the 16,850 mark.

Study To Lower Costs, Improve Cotton Quality

LUBBOCK — Advances in research to lower cotton production costs and improve raw fiber quality were revealed by the Cotton Producers Institute. These projects are supported by producers.

Two of the projects deal with insects which, on a Beltwide basis, now cost growers the equivalent of seven cents per pound of lint cotton.

Scientists at the University of California, Riverside, are seeking more effective systemic insecticides under a $50,000 institute grant. To date they have found at least four different groups of compounds that show outstanding systemic activity and effectiveness against all test insects for 10 to 16 weeks.

A related project at Stanford Research Institute is aimed at getting facts to improve penetration and absorption of systemic insecticides and other agricultural chemicals by cotton leaves. The renewal grant totals $35,000.

Under another $35,000 grant SRI scientists are working on the final designs for a laboratory model of an instrument to measure fiber strength accurately, rapidly, and automatically. This is a vital step in determining spinning and performance value of cotton and in improving its competitive position.

Institute support of a project on the biochemistry of the cotton plant at Texas A&M University has been increased from $35,000 to $100,000. A research team now is amassing information that will give a detailed picture of how the plant grows and produces seed and fiber.

In work to discover how cotton uses nitrogen in fruiting, University of Arizona scientists have indications that a combination of high nitrogen and sugar increases flowering. Aim of this $25,400 project is to learn how to get the plant to set more bolls at the proper time.

New Mexico State University researchers are continuing their work to find one or more chemicals which, when put into the cotton plant, will make it resistant or will block verticillium wilt.

Paint Sales To Stay Good

Paint sales in 1963 were good, and there is reason to believe they will improve in 1964, according to E. Colin Baldwin, president of Sherwin-Williams Company.

He noted that latest figures indicate the 1963 industry sales were about five per cent ahead of the previous year. The same ratio should hold for this year, he thought.

Although paint sales do not normally fluctuate widely on a national basis, the prospect of a rising economy in 1964 boosts the outlook for automotive and construction industries is of direct interest to paint makers. Construction means not only additional surfaces to be painted, but also to be maintained.

The paint industry is changing rapidly, Baldwin said, with new requirements in paints developing almost daily. More and more paint is being applied at the mill or factory rather than at the building site. Changes also are taking place in the consumer paint field, and consumers today are getting more for their paint dollars than ever before. This trend will continue, he predicted.

District Court Cases On File Drop By 36

There were 15 fewer divorce cases, three less criminal cases and 40 fewer civil cases of other kinds on file in 118th District Court on Dec. 31 than on Dec. 1, Fern Cox, district court clerk, announced.

Twenty-one divorce suits were tried without jury, and 10 others were dismissed to out distance the 16 new petitions filed. Dec. 1 saw 271 cases on the files; the end of the month found the total reduced to 256.

Thirty-two civil cases other than divorces were tried before the court and eight were dismissed. Twenty-two new suits were filed. The month began with 462 cases pending and wound up with 444 on the books.

One criminal case was disposed of by jury trial; two others were handled by the court to reduce the number of pending indictments from 38 to 35. No new indictments were filed in December.

Cox said the month ended with 36 fewer cases of all kinds on file than had been on file Dec. 1. The total Dec. 31 was 901, compared with 937 on Dec. 1. During the month there were 38 new cases of all kinds filed, 56 disposed of and 18 dismissed.

Milton F. (Fern) Cox, clerk of the 118th District Court, has announced his candidacy to succeed himself, subject to action of the Democratic primary of this spring.

Cox, a resident of Howard County 12 years, is now serving as district court clerk on appointment made Jan. 1, 1963 by Judge Ralph Caton of the 118th District Court when Wade Choate, then clerk, resigned to accept the post of Howard County auditor.

Under the terms of Cox's appointment, he was to serve until the next general election, making it necessary that he seek election in the forthcoming year.

Cox, who was chief deputy sheriff at the time he became district court clerk, was born in Glasscock County, where his family has lived for many years. He graduated from high school and attended San Angelo Business College for one year, and one year at Howard County Junior College. He majored in bookkeeping.

He is a veteran of World War II, having served three and a half years in the Air Force. He trained here at the Big Spring Bombardier School. After the war, he was a rancher until his appointment as deputy by Sheriff Miller Harris.

Cox is married and his family consists of his wife, Marian, and their four-year-old daughter, Lita. They live at 620 Birdwell Lane.

He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church and affiliated with the American Business Club, the Optimist Club, the Chamber of Commerce and the Y's Men's Club.

Cox said that he deeply appreciates the opportunity to serve the county as its district clerk and that he has endeavored to provide efficient, courteous service to the public.

"The district court clerk's of-

Brando Plays Mutineer In Film Of High Seas Drama

Marion Brando, one of the most controversial actors of his time, has recently brought to the motion picture screen a portrayal of one of the most controversial figures in British naval history.

In Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's presentation of "Mutiny on the Bounty," Brando has the role of Fletcher Christian, the gentleman turned sailor who seized command of His Majesty's Ship Bounty from Captain Bligh in 1789 and thus made certain his name would thereafter be synonymous with mutineer.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" plays all this week at the Ritz Theatre.

This celebrated man of the sea, who came from a wealthy family of British landowners, has confounded the many historians who, through the years, have tried to understand his conduct, his motives and his eventual fate.

Captain Bligh pictured Christian, his First Officer, as a "jealous man of ungovernable temper, selfish and vain." The Bounty's Master's Mate, John Fryer, on the other hand, complimented him in his journal as a "fine, upstanding gentleman."

Descriptions of him made after the mutiny by other members of the Bounty crew are equally at odds.

There is similar controversy as to what really happened to Fletcher Christian following the mutiny. Most students of the Bounty's history are agreed he died on Pitcairn Island shortly after landing there with his fellow mutineers in 1790.

Academy Award-winning cameraman Robert Surtees, who photographed "Mutiny on the Bounty," has said: "It seems people prefer to read the worst about a person. In Brando's case, they're more interested to hear that he might have stayed up all night dancing barefoot with the Tahitians than in the go through life being sensitive to criticism.

Twentieth Century-Fox's comedy of marital mix-ups, "Move Over Darling," is set to open on Saturday night at the Ritz Theatre. The cast of popular stars is headed by Doris Day, who is teamed for the second time with James Garner. Polly Bergen forms the third side of the humorous triangle with Chuck Connors in a cameo star role.

The supporting cast boasts Thelma Ritter, Fred Clark, Don Knotts and Elliott Reid. Miss Day's husband, Martin Melcher, teamed with Aaron Rosenberg to produce this CinemaScope, De Luxe color comedy, which was directed by Michael Gordon, who previously directed "Pillow Talk" with Doris Day.

"Move Over, Darling" is a story about a man who marries a lovely young woman and arrives at his honeymoon hotel to see in the lobby his first wife who had been declared legally dead since she disappeared five years earlier in a plane crash.

Doris Day has the role of wife number one who reappears after being marooned on a South Pacific island for five years and causes not only consternation but embarrassment. James Garner, who gained fame as television's "Maverick" and turned to comedy in "The Thrill of It All" with Miss Day, plays the husband caught with two wives.

In California and not in one of those countries where harems are legal.

Polly Bergen, whose versatility has made her popular in all entertainment mediums, is baffled wife number two whose honeymoon is anything but normal.

And athletic Chuck Connors, ex-baseball and basketball star, is the man with whom Miss Day was marooned on that island. In fact, they called each other "Adam and Eve."

Grand Prix Setting For 'Young Racers'

"The Young Racers," American International's color action thriller is the story of men and events involved in the four meetings on the 1962 Grand Prix Circuit—Monte Carlo, Monaco, Spa, Belgium; Rouen, France, and Aintree, England.

"The Young Racers," opening Saturday at the Jet Theatre, stars Mark Damon, William Campbell, Luana Anders and introduces the International Playgirls. Filmed on the scene of the famed races, the film also includes moments of the actual meets and features three Grand Prix champions—Jimmy Clark, Bruce McLaren and Trevor Taylor.

Although the autos themselves are the real stars of the circuit, men involved and tested as well as the machines. "The Young Racers" tells how and why the favorites are chosen by the noisy crowds of racing fans although the real champions emerge through a system of points achieved by skill and daring.

The focal point of "The Young Racers" is the story of two men who race for varying reasons. One is an American, Joe Machin, who has risen from the slums with an inherent understanding of machines, with a burning desire to become champion, no matter what the cost in human lives and tragedy.

The other man, Steve Children, is a driver, who also is a writer and who combines skill and intellect.

The two come into conflict over a woman and against the background of racing and the glamour of the international set live out their parts.

Six more have been put forth this year to complete the series. The new stamp is a 90 pfennig brown and gray featuring the Berlin Opera House as it appeared in 1780.

PHILIPPINES The Philippines has issued two new stamps commemorating the first Asia Oceanic Postal Union. The stamps show a world globe highlighting the Philippine Islands. It is encircled by stamped envelopes and the flags of the four countries within this union.

TRADE UNIONS Austria has issued two commemoratives. A 1.50 schilling stamp honors the Fifth Congress of the Federation of Austrian Trade Unions. The other stamp, also a 1.50 schilling, the 600th anniversary of the Tyrol's accession to Austria.

Mystery Shrouds Manner Of Christian's Death

There are three different accounts of the death of Fletcher Christian, mutineer of "Mutiny on the Bounty," although none have to date been verified. The captain and two officers aboard the Topaz gave the conflicting accounts.

One version had it that Christian had been shot by one of the Tahitians who had accompanied the group to the island. Another reported he had died a natural death. Still another was that he threw himself from a high cliff and was dashed to death on the rocks below.

Although there have been many surmises as to why the conflicting stories came, perhaps one of the most logical is that Christian had escaped from Pitcairn and was being hidden in England. In the years 1808 a 1809 rumors were current in the Lake district of England, Christian's birthplace, that the famous mutineer had returned to that part of the country.
