Reds Want Brandt On Wall Talks

BERLIN (AP) — The East German government is demanding West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's personal participation at the start of any negotiations to reopen the Communist wall to West Berliners. The Communist demand appeared to raise a new obstacle to any agreement to renew the Christmas pass arrangement that ended at midnight Jan. 5 after 17 days of visits by West Berliners to relatives in the Soviet sector of the city.

WHITTLE AWAY The East German condition was put to Brandt in a letter from Deputy Premier Willi Stoph, an authoritative source disclosed Monday night. It was regarded as part of the Communist regime's continuing campaign to whittle away at the refusal of the Western Allies in Berlin and the West German government to recognize it.

Brandt is under pressure from the Western Allies and his own government to avoid any gestures that could hurt the cause of nonrecognition.

Work Week Talks Set

Members of Local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers have been called for a special meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Hall to consider a work-week reduction.

The proposal under consideration by the membership is whether to voluntarily take a straight 40-hour week or else see some 35 positions eliminated from the work force at the refining plant of Cosden Oil & Chemical Company.

Under the present plan, workers are on a 40-40-40-48-hour schedule, which averages around 42 hours per week. By agreeing to a straight 40-hour basis, some union members pointed out, the present work force would be retained intact. Cosden Oil & Chemical has a staff of 575 plant workers.

Returned Pope Works On His First Encyclical

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI returned to his Vatican desk today after his historic Holy Land pilgrimage and reportedly began work on the first encyclical of his seven-month reign.

The 66-year-old pontiff, who shattered Roman Catholic precedent with his flying pilgrimage to the Bible land, was said to have in mind an entirely new type of encyclical devoted to scientific and technological research.

Informants said experts would help draw up the encyclical, timed apparently to coincide with the 400th anniversary this year of the birth of Galileo Galilei, 16th century Italian astronomer and experimental philosopher.

Galileo was condemned by the Roman Catholic hierarchy for his theories on the solar system. Examined by the Inquisition under threat of torture, he recanted and spent the remainder of his life in partial custody.

Past encyclicals have touched

One of the truly beautiful parchments in the Americana Historical Document collection is a picture of that famous ship, the U.S.S. Constitution, or "Old Ironsides."

A ship with a wonderful fighting record, she earned her nickname because, although a wooden-hulled vessel, enemy cannon balls seemed literally to bounce off her sides.

This is one of the outstanding of The Herald series of historical items, and you will want it in your home. It is offered for only 26¢. There remain selections of all other documents at the same price.

stipulated that new negotiations must be held on the same level as the talks that resulted in the previous agreement. Those talks were held between Cultural Affairs Ministers Horst Korber of West Berlin and Erich Wendt of East Germany.

Brandt may reply to the Communist demand when Korber and Wendt meet later this week, sources said.

The two officials met last Saturday, and Stoph's letter to Brandt was handed over at the time. West Berlin also laid down its conditions in a seven-point memorandum, but the East German representative reportedly tore up the paper.

Contents of the West Berlin memorandum were not disclosed.

FBI Recovers Stolen Papers

DETROIT (AP) — Historical documents valued at more than $500,000 — including letters of American presidents — have been recovered in Detroit, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Monday.

The papers were part of a collection taken from the National Archives in Washington in 1962, the FBI said. Agents said they were found in suitcases confiscated from Robert Bradford Murphy, 45, and his wife, Elizabeth, 32. The FBI charged the Murphys with interstate transportation of stolen property and theft of government property.

Special agent Bernard C. Brown said the documents were examined by Phillip Bauer, archivist from the National Archives, and Dr. Phillip Mason, an archivist from Detroit's Wayne State University. The two men determined all were original, Brown said.

The letters recovered included 50 written by President Monroe during the 1815-1820 period of his presidency. The FBI said the Murphys first were arrested Thursday on a 1962 Pensacola, Fla., warrant charging them with interstate telephone and telegraph fraud.

SEN. NORRIS COTTON WELCOMES GOLDWATER Barry hobbles into first presidential preference race

Goldwater Opens Quest For New Hampshire Votes

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, forecasting victory in New Hampshire's presidential primary, went on a hand-shaking hunt for votes today.

The Arizona senator launched his bid for New Hampshire's 14 GOP convention delegate votes with a news conference and hobnobbing campaign stroll in downtown Concord.

Goldwater, his right foot still in a cast, greeted onlookers who crowded in as he met newsmen in his store-front headquarters. Then he limped next door to shake hands with old folk at a convalescent home.

He told reporters he did not seek the party ranking that made him a presidential candidate.

WITH EVERYTHING "Now that I've decided to go after it, I'm going after it with everything that I have," he said. "I think it's time we give the conservative element... a chance to have a candidate," said Goldwater, a conservative.

He said the conservative wing includes about 85 per cent of the Republican Party. "If we can't nominate a conservative then I think we're going to have trouble in the Republican party because it will mean that a handful of liberals control one of the major parties," Goldwater said.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the only other GOP nomination, heads that wing of the party.

STAY IN RACE "Whatever happens up here, and I expect to win up here, I'll stay in the race," Goldwater said.

The primary, first in the nation, is March 18. The senator said he is confident of winning the other three primaries he has entered, too. They are California, Oregon and Illinois.

Then he said: "I'll take the big states and I'll take my chances in the industrial cities."

Goldwater said the cast he has worn since a pre-Christmas operation on his right heel will come off next Monday. Until then, he'll be campaigning with a cane.

The GOP nominating convention meets next July in San Francisco.

Four Monkey Kidney Transplants Reported

By The Associated Press

Kidneys from a monkey, a chimpanzee and two baboons have been transplanted in four humans since last October. Physicians at Tulane University Charity Hospital in New Orleans and the Veterans Administration hospitals in Denver who performed the operations have said that without the transplants the four recipients had no chance of survival.

A 32-year-old woman, who was not identified, received the first transplant of a primate's kidneys—a monkey—last October at Tulane. She later died of the disease that prompted the transplant.

Jefferson Davis, 44, a New Orleans dock worker, was believed to have been the second person to undergo such a transplant. He received the kidneys of a chimpanzee Nov. 5.

Davis died Monday at Charity

Eagles Reported

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP)—Bald eagles are swarming to Glacier National Park to feast on spawning land-locked salmon.

W. E. Welch, a park ranger, said he counted 352 bald eagles in a five-mile stretch along McDonald Creek and the middle fork of the Flathead River.

Three Injured In Car Wreck Near Stanton

STANTON (SC) — Three persons were hospitalized Monday afternoon by a two-car collision on Interstate 20, four miles west of Stanton.

Two of the injured, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Holcombe of Stanton, are reported in serious condition at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital in Big Spring. Mr. Holcombe is 77. Driver of the other car, Myron Clyde Hayter, 47, of San Bernardino, Calif., was taken to Malone and Hogan with lesser injuries.

According to highway patrolman Bobbie Papan, who investigated, the mishap occurred at the intersection of FM 1212 and Interstate 20. He said that the Holcombe auto was crossing I-20 when it was in collision with Hayter's vehicle, which was headed west on route from San Antonio to California.

Papan reported the Holcombe car a total loss and said the Hayter auto was badly damaged. An Arrington - Gilbrath ambulance took the injured to Big Spring.

Redistricting Again Arises

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Legislative reapportionment has popped up again.

A group of state senators asked U.S. District Court Monday to stay a legislative reapportionment order pending a decision from the U.S. Supreme Court.

The action was viewed as an attempt to keep a three-judge federal court's sweeping reapportionment order from going into effect in this year's elections. The legislative filing period opens Feb. 28 and if the stay is granted, legislative candidates would apparently file under a pair of reapportionment laws passed by the 1963 legislature.

The second session of the 8th

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson went over his State of the Union message today with Democratic congressional leaders who described it as "excellent" and "quite to the point."

Without going into detail, Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said he thinks the American people will respond most favorably to the message.

It will be delivered in person by Johnson at noon Wednesday to a joint session of Congress, which opens its new session today.

EDUCATION

There was speculation that the message may contain proposals for a many-pronged attack on poverty through specialized education and other programs.

The Democratic President, struggling to keep the new budget below the $100 billion mark, nevertheless was said by Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to be scheduling domestic spending at a higher level than in recent years.

Mansfield said some of this will be channeled into housing, unemployment assistance, educational and other programs aimed at improving living conditions and the level of employment among the nation's poor.

LIMITATION

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview it remains to be seen whether Johnson can trim enough out of military outlays to finance such programs without breaking through the President's self-imposed limitation on expenditures.

"I have told the President that if he comes up with a Texas-size budget, he is going to be in trouble in Congress," Dirksen said. "On the other hand, if he cuts military expenditures to the point where Congress thinks national security is threatened, some of this money may be restored."

The second session of the 8th

Congress gets under way at noon today, with indications that many members intend to prolong their holiday and not return until next week.

CULTURAL CENTER

The House had before it a Senate-passed bill to rename the national cultural center in honor of the late John F. Kennedy and provide some federal financing for it. The Senate had no major business scheduled.

In his personally delivered message Wednesday, Johnson is expected to expand on a theme he has been preaching for years—that the nation cannot afford to "surrender to poverty" just to "serve the ends of political bookkeeping."

A former school teacher, Johnson has laid heavy stress on education for the unskilled and those with skills outdated by automation who are, he said, thus "confined in an airtight case of poverty."

Johnson has given every sign that he will back to the hilt proposals Kennedy made for an $11 billion tax cut, enactment of a civil rights legislative program and for action on health care for the elderly financed through Social Security taxes.

Fund Shifting Under Watch

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new attempt by the Johnson administration to shift some foreign aid items to the Defense Department's budget is certain to encounter strong and probably effective opposition in the House Appropriations Committee.

Unconfirmed reports that such a move would be made by the administration have been current for weeks in congressional circles.

PASSMAN UNIT

They have come to the attention of Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., who heads an appropriations subcommittee which had handled all foreign aid funds for years and who has led the fight to cut foreign spending.

"There is some indication," Passman said in an interview, "that they are going to try to scatter foreign aid funds all over the new budget. They are not going to get away with it. This is simply an indication that the requests for new funds are not on solid ground."

Passman warned that "the new team in the executive branch may have to learn the hard way that it is not easy to hide the foreign aid total from Congress."

"Wherever they put it, we will find it and cut out the fat," he added.

Investigations To Resume

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two politically touchy investigations face the Senate as Congress assembled today to launch its 1964 session.

The Senate Rules Committee may resume before the week's end public hearings on the business affairs of Robert G. Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announced his Senate investigations subcommittee will resume, probably late this month. Its often stormy probe of the Pentagon's award of the huge TFX warplane to the high bidder, the Fort Worth, Tex., division of General Dynamics Corp.

Both investigations could turn up information which could echo in the election campaigns of the months ahead.

Says Election To Hinge On Negro Vote

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), who is also a Baptist minister, is shown as he addressed the Alfred Isaacs Democratic Club in New York City Monday. He predicted in his speech that President Lyndon B. Johnson

"is going to do a first rate job in the field of civil rights" and that his election to the Presidency this fall would hinge upon the Negro vote. (AP WIREPHOTO).

MEDIATION TRIED

Rail Work Dispute Gains Steam Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a six-month cooling off period and forced settlement of two issues, the railroad work rules dispute appears to be headed for another crisis late next month.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz conceded as much Monday when he announced that the federal government once again is stepping in to try to mediate the dispute, now nearly five years old.

Wirtz, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds and Chairman Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the National Mediation Board meet today in closed session with the railroads and five operating brotherhoods.

Wirtz met late Monday with railroad representatives, then the unions, and, finally, with both sides. Later he explained that the talks centered on "making the best use of the time that lies ahead of us."

On Feb. 25 a congressional deadline for settlement of the so-called secondary issues—issues not settled last November by compulsory arbitration—runs out and a nationwide rail strike could begin.

The issues involved in the current negotiations include such topics as wage structure, certain road and yard jobs, interdivisional runs, use of self-propelled equipment, night shift differentials, holiday pay and expenses away from home.

NO PREDICTION

Wirtz hedged on any prediction that an agreement could be reached and said he hadn't talked to the negotiators about how much progress they had made in their weeks of bargaining.

There were strong indications earlier from Chicago that progress has been slight.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, told a news conference there would be a nationwide strike unless the railroads relented on their insistence on what he said would mean "severe wage reductions."

Relax With Music

Forsanite Seeks Sheriff's Office

Bill Long, 32, resident of Forsan and former chief of police of Hobbs, N.M., has authorized the announcement of his candidacy for the office of sheriff of Howard County, subject to action of the Democratic Primary.

Long, who came to Forsan in 1930 as a boy from Callihan County, has had 17 years experience as a peace officer, in addition to a long period of service with the U.S. Marine Corps in the South Pacific. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Long.

He operates an art shop in Forsan and also works on a part-time basis with the Schultz Construction Co. of Forsan.

A graduate of the Forsan schools, he attended Texas Tech at Lubbock for two years as a pre-law student. He left school and enlisted in the Marines.

In World War II he served with a special detachment, Second Marine Corps, in the South Pacific, where he was several times wounded and where he won several medals, including a presidential citation from Franklin D. Roosevelt. He also has two personally autographed Bibles he was given by President Roosevelt.

In 1947, he became a patrolman on the Dallas force. After serving three years he resigned to become chief of police at Hobbs, N.M.

In August, 1953, Long was involved in a car wreck which took the lives of six other persons and left him the sole survivor. He was thought to be physically incapable after the mishap of serving as police chief, so he resigned and went to El Paso. There, the late Jimmy Hicks, sheriff of El Paso County, made him a deputy and assigned him a border strip to patrol.

"When Jimmy killed himself," said Long, "I resigned. I was sort of disgusted with everything."

Despite his resignation, the residents of the area he served voted him in as constable in a write-in campaign. He served out his term as constable. He returned to Forsan in June last year. From now on, he said, Forsan is to be his home.

"I feel my wide and varied experience as a peace officer makes me the best possible qualified man for the office of sheriff," he said. "If I am elected, I will efficiently and properly perform the duties of the office. I know how to serve as sheriff and I am familiar with this county, its people and its problems.

"I intend to make an active campaign and I will endeavor to see as many voters as possible between now and the first primary. I earnestly solicit your vote and support."

Pleads Guilty To Indictment

STANTON — Bobby Jack Nichols, indicted Monday for auto theft and for forgery, lost no time in pleading guilty to the charges against him.

Gil Jones, district attorney, marched Nichols before Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, a short time after the grand jury had reported and the judge sentenced the defendant to serve three years on each count, his prison sentences to run concurrently.

Daniel Salcido, another Martin County man indicted by the grand jury Monday, pleaded guilty to a charge of incest. He was sentenced by Judge Caton to serve seven years in the state penitentiary.

The other indictment returned by the grand jury was against J. E. Ferrell, DWI second offense.

Jones said that Gordon Wise, who had been indicted by an earlier Martin County Grand Jury, also pleaded guilty Monday and was sentenced to serve three years. The sentence was probated on good behavior.

Candidates Must Pay $50 For Expenses Deposit

Eight candidates for county and township offices have filed their candidacies with Frank Hardesty, the Howard County Democratic Committee chairman, but seven of the eight will have to make another trip to see him.

They hadn't noticed a change in the state election law which specifies that all such candidates must pay $50 to the chairman as a deposit on primary expenses at the time they file their official notice of candidacy.

Hardesty said that the only candidate who has complied with this requirement to date is Wayne Burns. Burns is a candidate for district attorney.

The candidates who must make the $50 payment if their candidacies are to be valid, are A. N. Standard, A. G. Mitchell and Bill Conrad Long, all seeking the office of sheriff; M. F. (Fern) Cox, district court clerk; Zirah LeFevre, county Tax assessor-collector; Shorty Long, county commissioner, Precinct 1, and Ben (B. N.) Boroughs, candidate for commissioner, Precinct 3.

Hardesty said that the $50 advance will be credited to the candidates when the county committee meets Feb. 10 and figures the per capita primary assessment to be levied against each office seeker. Last election year—1962—the committee assessed a fee equal to three per cent of the annual salary paid for the office sought in those races where there were more than one candidate. In offices where no opposition existed, the assessment was five per cent of the annual salary. Thus a county office, such as the sheriff's office, where the annual salary is $7,200 and where there is opposition, would be figured at three per cent. In such races in 1962 the contested county offices required payment of $210. Uncontested county races drew assessments of $360.

Hardesty pointed out that it is not essentially true the same percentages will be levied this campaign. The committee will check into all phases of the primary costs and act accordingly.

First primary election, Hardesty pointed out, is May 2 with absentee voting starting April 12. Run-off primary will be June 6. Absentee voting begins for this primary May 10.

Deadline for a candidate to file for office is Feb. 3.

Charged in the six-count grand jury indictment are Joseph Clyde Amsler and Barry Worthington Keenan, both 23, and John William Irwin, 42.

Judge East, brought here from Portland, Ore., because of the heavy court docket in Los Angeles, handled the arraignment.

The judge granted a request for a psychiatric examination for Amsler after his attorney said the defendant was mentally incompetent when young Sinatra was abducted Dec. 8 from a Stateline, Calif., motel.

DEAR ABBY

She's Off The Beam

DEAR ABBY: A relative, recently out of high school is planning to marry a man she met this past year as soon as she gets out of prison. He is about 10 years older than she, previously married, divorced and has children. He has served time in prison for armed robbery, and was out on probation when she met him. Since then he's been sent back to prison for failing to report to his probation officer. The girl is attractive and intelligent. She claims she is "in love" with him, that he needs her and she can reform him. Her parents are heartbroken, but she won't listen to them. She confides in no one, but she does read your column. Can we reach her through you before it's too late?

TROUBLED RELATIVE

DEAR TROUBLED: "Love" in some people is a mental disease which can't be cured with logic. I agree, the man appears

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter-in-law who brings her week's ironing along in a basket when she comes to visit me for the weekend. You need not ask who ends up doing it. This girl has no job outside her home, and she has only one child to care for. I have my own work to do, and when I have weekend guests, I do not expect to do someone else's work. How can this be solved without starting a family fight?

WEARY

DEAR WEARY: Look right through the basket of ironing. When your daughter-in-law realizes that she has to do it anyway, she'll find the time to do it at home.

DEAR ABBY: What's the difference between meddling in other people's business and giving advice?

WAITING TO HEAR

DEAR WAITING: Meddling in other people's business is offering advice—unsolicited. Giving advice is acceptable when the advice has been asked for.

DEAR ABBY: "Preparing Ahead's" letter from the woman who had so many questions about what to wear to her husband's funeral (while he was still alive) reminded me of this classic story:

Mr. George C., one of the vice presidents in a large corporation passed away suddenly. An hour after it became known in the office an eager beaver who had been bucking for vice president approached the boss and asked if he could take George's place.

"It's all right with me if the undertaker doesn't mind," replied the boss.

BALANCING ACT
Show coming to schools

Safety Circus Due At Local Schools

Dancing dogs, acrobatic feats and music of the Big Top highlight a Safety Circus which will be presented at Washington Place and Marcy Elementary schools Jan. 15.

The 45-minute program is slated at 10 a.m. at Washington Place and 2 p.m. at Marcy.

The traffic safety program is now on a nationwide tour of elementary schools. It features 10 trained dogs, each demonstrating how to avoid traffic accidents. It is brought by Ernest Pressley, a special representative of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the American Trucking Association. Local sponsors are the Big Spring Police Department and the State Highway Patrol.

Pressley, a policeman for nearly 20 years, began by staging shows for neighborhood children, featuring his trained dogs. The show drew such enthusiastic response that he took leave from police work to tour elementary schools, teaching safety.

The slogan of the program is "Walk Safe - Ride Safe - Play Safe." It has appeared in 48 states. Pressley stresses safety practices, such as rules for crossing streets and riding bicycles, as well as practices which should not be undertaken such as playing in streets.

Youngsters attending will be given a printed safety quiz to take home and study with their parents. By making a grade of 100 when quizzed on the material by the teacher, the students can join Pressley's Junior Traffic Club and receive a certificate. The club now has more than three million members.

Plane Killing Trial Begins

EL PASO (AP) — Dudley Clanhahan, 28-year-old border patrolman, went on trial Monday for the slaying of a Mexican national who was killed when struck by the landing gear of an airplane.

Defense attorneys maintained the death was accidental. Prosecution lawyers said it was deliberate.

The victim, Isidoro Rodriguez Chaparro, 23, died Nov. 20, 1962, while riding horseback with a companion on the Love Deep Well Ranch about 30 miles from the Mexican border and 35 miles southwest of Marfa.

THREE TIMES

The ranch foreman, his wife, and a visitor on the ranch testified at Monday's session. They saw a plane dive three times at the Mexicans.

Foreman R. E. Holland, his wife, and Walter Holton told a federal court jury that shortly after Chaparro and another Mexican national working on the ranch rode off, a Border Patrol jeep drove up to the ranch.

They said one patrolman asked if the workers had entered the country legally, and drove off to question the horsemen.

The Hollands and Holton said they saw the plane make two passes at the horsemen. Then the Mexicans disappeared behind a hill, they said, and they saw the plane dive for a third pass.

WHEEL MISSING

When the plane reappeared, they said, the left wheel was missing.

Holton told the jury of seven men and five women that the three drove to the area and found the two Border Patrolmen with the body of Chaparro. They said a wheel from the airplane lay nearby.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes of Dallas is presiding at the trial. Federal attorneys are defense lawyers because Clanhahan was a U.S. officer on official business. The state is the prosecutor.

Race Designation Drops In Virginia

No Collusion, Says Report

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Monday a lengthy police investigation of the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald showed "no evidence of collusion" between Jack Ruby and police officers.

Wade's statement came after he received a detailed two-volume report from Police Chief Jesse Curry on the slaying of the 24-year-old accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Curry also sent Wade a map of the city hall basement and a manila folder with other evidence.

While millions watched on television, Ruby leaped forward and shot Oswald to death as officers led him through the basement Nov. 24. Curry appointed an "investigative board" to determine how Ruby, who operated a downtown strip tease club, slipped into the heavily guarded basement.

"I've just begun to read the report," Wade said. "It will take me some time. But I'm informed there is no evidence of collusion between Ruby and any member of the police department... No evidence at all."

The district attorney said one volume of the report contained evidence which prosecutors could use in Ruby's murder trial. The other, he said, contained affidavits and other documents "which relate primarily to security measures in effect at the time."

A defense lawyer said earlier that Ruby "simply walked down a ramp" into the basement while officers were engaged in a conversation at the entrance.

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz testified at a bond hearing that officers guarding Oswald were temporarily blinded by the glare of TV lights.

RESPONSIBLE

It is believed the report does not single out any officer and hold him responsible for letting Ruby shoot Oswald.

Wade said Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr will send a copy of the report to the Warren Commission, appointed by President Lyndon Johnson to investigate the Kennedy and Oswald slayings.

Wade speculated the commission would make reports of its findings.

"I anticipate there will be one report on the deaths of President Kennedy and officer J. D. Tippit and the wounding of Gov. John Connally, and a second report on the shooting of Oswald," Wade said.

"If this second report is ready before Ruby's trial, I expect the commission to withhold it until the trial is over. I'm sure it would do nothing to interfere with a fair and impartial trial."

Tippit was killed as he questioned Oswald shortly after Kennedy was assassinated. The commission has been reported needing at least six months to complete its investigation.

Cold Wave Hits Mexico; 15 Dead

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A cold wave that drove temperatures down to 20 degrees in some areas left a toll of 15 deaths Monday.

Ten of the deaths were in San Luis Potosi, in central Mexico, where the 20-degree reading was recorded. The five others were in Mexico City.

Rice's Space Package Ready For Rocket Blast

HOUSTON (AP) — The first Rice University Sammy space probe was due at the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., Tuesday where it will be prepared for firing 100 miles into space.

The 30-pound instrument package will be boosted into space by a nine-Apache rocket launcher at midnight, Jan. 14. Three Rice University electronic specialists accompanied the space probe — named after Rice's mascot, Sammy the Owl — to Maryland by plane Monday.

They will help National Aeronautics and Space Administration personnel make final instrument checks.

The space probe, the first to be fired by a southern or southwestern university under a NASA program, will study the aurora and airglow.

Adair Removes Derrick From Blazing Gas Well

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — Fire fighters, battling a gas well fire so hot it melts water hoses in 5-10 seconds, removed the crumpled steel derrick Tuesday from close to the well mouth.

Working in iron-sheathed bulldozers, crews led by veteran fire fighter Red Adair of Houston, Tex., hoped to have the area around the well "clean as a kitchen table" by Tuesday night.

Adair said that once this is accomplished, he would mount an assault with explosives to snuff out the flame that has raged out of control since last Thursday at the well in Indian Hills gas field 20 miles north of Carlsbad.

He said Monday night he definitely would not use a liquid explosive on the flame, towering up to 250 feet at times and fed by 60 million cubic yards of natural gas per day.

Adair said it would be a solid explosive, lowered with precision to the edge of the flame by a boom rig. The explosion smothered the fire by depriving it of oxygen, Adair said.

AUTHORITY

My pastor friend did not claim that instruments of music in worship is authorized by the Scriptures. That is significant! A practice does not have to be directly forbidden. When something is not authorized by Scripture, it is (for that reason) forbidden. Christ is the head of the church (Col. 1:18); and man is not to devise his own religion. Christ has all authority (Mat. 28:18). No authority is left for a church council. NO man has the right to decide how to worship. We must respect the authority of Christ.

To adopt the commandments of men, is to render our worship vain. "But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men" (Mat. 15:9).

Christ has authorized us to sing in New Testament worship (Eph. 5:19, etc.); but where has he authorized us to play an instrument? Echo: Where?

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Plastic Bag Replaces Rolls' Cloth Cover

Dear Heloise: Recipes for yeast rolls always seem to direct that the dough be covered with a clean white cloth and set aside to rise—but they never tell how to keep that from resting on the rolls and impeding their rising! Here is the way I have found to solve the problem: Slip the pan of rolls into a plastic bag. Catch a bit of air into the bag and then fasten the bag with a rubber band.

The plastic bag will balloon out and never touch the rolls. The rolls will be protected from draft and you can watch their progress as they rise!—E.W.N.

Dear Heloise: You would be surprised how many of us have cold feet, even in the summer. I have used heating pads for years. They are grand but now I have come across a better method: My wife's hair dryer with that big plastic hood! Soon as I get home, I wash my feet, put on a clean pair of socks and stick both feet inside the "cap" . . . turn on the dryer and away I go. Once my feet are warm I am human again.

Try it yourself. You will love it.—Cold-Foot-For-40-Years

You all may laugh at that one but I tried it. It sure works! You can move your feet inside the plastic cap and rub one against the other . . . This idea is also wonderful for mothers with small children who come home with wet shoes and damp socks. There is only one trouble. It feels so good that you won't want to turn the dryer off!—Cold-Foot-For-44-Years

Dear Heloise: I discovered that the soft drink bottle carriers are excellent for storing bottles of formula in my refrigerator. They can be filled with bottles on the kitchen counter and transferred to the refrigerator with one easy maneuver.—Ann MacDonald

Dear Heloise: Gaily colored cutouts of different articles of clothing taped to the fronts of chests of drawers can help a little child learn where his clothing is kept. Example: picture of a child's sock where his socks are kept. It makes a child feel important to put away his own clothes and to get them for himself. It is also a great help to the babysitter (especially if daddy happens to be the sitter!). — Liz Williams

Junior Club Hears Talk On Flowers

Small flower arrangements, suitable for use in the home, were shown and discussed by Mrs. Allen Hamilton Monday afternoon for members of the Junior Garden Club. The club met in the home of Mrs. J. I. Balch, 2800 Cactus Drive.

Mrs. Hamilton told the group that interest in gardening does not have to relate to flower shows, but that much enjoyment is derived from making arrangements for the home.

The second part of the program related to familiar birds of the area. The speaker, Mrs. Hubert Stipp, described different types of bird feeders and demonstrated simple feeders that could be made from household items.

The speakers were introduced by Gina Swift, and Sherri Arick was welcomed as a guest. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Ann Talbot.

Bridge Lessons To Begin At Club

A series of bridge lessons, to run for 10 weeks, will begin Jan. 22 at Big Spring Country Club with Mrs. Ty Allen instructing. The first session will be from 10 a.m. to 12 o'clock noon. The following evening, Jan. 23, lessons will be given from 8 to 10 p.m.

Charge for the lessons will be $15 which must be paid in advance. The course is open to any local resident who may join the group by contacting Mrs. Allen at the club.

Sands P-TA Joins County Council Monday Evening

The Sands Parent-Teacher Association became a part of the Howard County P-TA Council by a majority vote at the Monday evening meeting of the group. Other schools making up the council are Midway, Foran and Elbow.

Mrs. Bill Hambrick, president, introduced Mrs. M. A. Dunagan, who spoke to the group to encourage its membership in the council.

Delegates to the council will be Mrs. Bill Wallace and Mrs. M. B. Maxwell Jr. Alternates named were Mrs. Earl Newcomer and Mrs. Howard Armstrong.

The fourth grade won the room count and refreshments were served.

Morris In Running To Focus Issues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert Morris says a prime reason he seeks the GOP nomination for U. S. Senator from Texas is "to frame, articulate and communicate the fundamental issues of our times."

Morris said he believed efforts should be made to see that the electorate has a clear choice of issues.

The Democratic candidate is expected to be Sen. Ralph Yarborough, incumbent.

Yarborough as yet, has not announced for re-election, but there are several candidates for the Republican nomination which Morris seeks.

NEW JERSEY

Morris is a former president of the University of Dallas and once was chief counsel of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. He ran unsuccessfully for the U. S. Senate in his native New Jersey in 1960.

In a statement given Washington newsman Monday, Morris said the religious and spiritual texture of the U. S. way of life is eroding and that "common law heritage and the system of free enterprise are becoming casualties of the growth of all-powerful national government."

TRADITIONAL GOAL

He added: "Normalization of our relations with Communist dictatorships is replacing our traditional goal of extending liberty and freedom to all men."

Morris also said that if Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., heads the Republican ticket, the GOP could win the Senate seat Yarborough holds.

He said an alliance of President Johnson and Yarborough might increase the senator's immediate strength but that, if the issues can be "framed and communicated," there would be no doubt of the outcome.

The Dallas man said the president should name an ambassador to Mexico who has "a deep knowledge of the Soviet conspiracy."

TRADE MISSION

The Mexican government, he added, has accorded de facto recognition to Red China by inviting to the western hemisphere a Chinese Communist trade mission that now is in Mexico arranging trade pacts.

Full recognition of Red China is planned before president Adolfo Lopez Mateos leaves office, he added, quoting unnamed Mexican sources.

The senatorial aspirant said that the man next slated to be Mexican president, Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, "understands communism and would oppose such recognition."

"Therefore," Morris added, those pressing for recognition plan to present him with an accomplished fact." He added that a large Chinese Communist embassy in Mexico City would speed up what he called the decline of U. S. influence.

Soaring Organization Launched At Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa Soaring Association is up in the air over glider planes. The newly-formed group, which now has a dozen members, organized last August but only recently acquired a glider.

A member, Melvin Fielder, towed in the used glider from Maryland and will instruct other members in the art of soaring.

Pilot qualifications are less strict than for conventional pilots because of short distances involved, fewer instruments, etc.

Several standards of achievement are set up by the Soaring Society of America, which issues performance badges to qualified members.

mon law heritage and the system of free enterprise are becoming casualties of the growth of all-powerful national government."

Strange Disease Strikes Cattle

VERACRUZ, Mex. (AP) — A strange disease has killed 2,000 cattle in the past few days near Tuxtepec in Oaxaca state, the Ministry of Agriculture said today.

The officials said they had been unable to diagnose the disease and were continuing to make tests.

A quarantine was ordered for the zone, about 75 miles inland from this Gulf port.

During ideal conditions a glider can travel more than 400 miles. Normal speed is 60 miles an hour and the gliders are easier to fly than motor-powered airplanes.

December Logged 3.11 Moisture

LAMESA (SC) — December was a comparatively cold month in Lamesa with maximum and minimum temperature averages ranging about five degrees below normal. Highs averaged 45.6 degrees and lows 23.3 during the month.

Lowest mercury reading for the period was seven above while the thermometer climbed to 66 on two different occasions. Although there was little rain, precipitation from snow-fall measured 3.11 inches—well above the monthly average of .75.

December's moisture put the annual figure at 18.94 inches, slightly higher than the 12-month average of 17.08 inches.

Make A Personal Test

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Chiropractic holds that many conditions are caused by vertebrae that slip out of place enough to cause irritation of, or pressure on, nerves. We recognize that other disease agents, such as germs, poor nutrition, disturbed emotions, to name a few, can cause conditions, and science has proved spinal disturbances cause a chronic nervous drain, thus weakening the organs supplied by the nerves involved.

This nerve interference may be noticed as an habitual poor health, recurring backache (anywhere in the spine), or poor resistance. Psychosomatic diseases are aggravated by nerve irritation of a spinal origin. Headaches and backaches are early symptoms of spinal subluxations. We have ways of checking but you, too, can check at home:

1. Tender spots, or pain, in the neck or spine.
2. A creaking sound when the head is turned slowly from side to side.
3. Pain or stiffness on turning the head.
4. Head not turning as far to one side as to the other side.
5. Head tilted to one side (check by looking in the mirror).
6. One leg shorter than the other. (To check, lie on back with legs extended — have someone check by touching ankle bones. If leg is 1/4-inch shorter, the test is positive.)
7. Pain or stiffness on leaning forward at waist.
8. Check tilting body from right to left, keeping hips level. On one side you may not be as free or you can't lean as far as the other.

Any of these signs become important if coupled with obvious conditions or disease or injury. While the danger signals don't invariably indicate spinal trouble, they often do and, if present, they should be checked.

If you have some condition which has not responded to present treatment or keeps returning, you might consider Chiropractic. Hansen Chiropractic Clinic across from Piggy Wiggly is open until 6 p.m. each evening. AM 3-3324.

Rival Farm Groups Ready For Coming Congress Tiff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rival farm groups are rounding up enforcements for battles over farm legislation in this presidential election year.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has deployed its top leaders to agricultural areas to enlist support for its policies of seeking a gradual withdrawal of government from agriculture. By early February, the organization expects to have held rallies in every state.

Its rival organizations hold meetings here this week to win backing for stronger farm programs expected to be recommended by the Johnson administration for cotton, wheat, dairy products and possibly other commodities.

Active in these meetings are the National Grange, the National Farmers Union, the Missouri Farmers Association and the National Farmers Organization.

The Farm Bureau expects a broadened use of government compensatory payments to be the most important single issue in new legislation and possibly the major farm issue in the presidential campaign. It opposes such payments, but most other farm groups favor them.

Payments are now made under existing programs for wool, feed grain and wheat.

The administration itself is not idle enlisting public support for its proposals which it says are designed to strengthen farm income.

It called a National Cotton Advisory Committee to a two-day closed meeting ending Tuesday to consider plans for bringing greater stability to the cotton industry.

It also summoned livestock industry and farm organization leaders to meet with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman Wednesday and to discuss ways of limiting beef imports. Many cattlemen blame increasing imports for last year's drop in cattle prices—a drop from which the industry has not yet recovered.

Opening lead: Five of ♣
Confronted with the necessity for transmitting a blaring signal to his partner and hampered by lack of time and resources, West devised an ingenious method for putting his message across to East in today's hand.

North's hand may appear to contain too much defensive strength for a preemptive opening bid but, with unfavorable conditions of vulnerability, a sound holding is required. South felt there was a good chance to scramble home with nine tricks, so he bid three no trump.

West opened the five of spades which was ducked in the dummy and taken by East's king. The nine was returned to drive out the ace. The king of diamonds was led and permitted to hold, and East won the continuation on which West was required to make a discard.

It was clear to him that South had the queen of spades, and that a return of that suit would allow the declarer to walk off with the contract. He considered discarding the three of clubs to discourage East from shifting to that suit, but he feared that his partner might interpret this as a request for more spades. He would have liked to give a come-on in hearts, but unfortunately the three would not look like an encouraging card and it might prove fatal to part with the jack.

Confronted by a seemingly hopeless impasse—the light dawned on West. There was a way to get two messages across with one play. On the ace of diamonds, he discarded the jack of spades. By playing a spade, West was clearly revealing to his partner that there was no future for the defense in that suit; by throwing the jack—an unnecessarily high card—he was requesting a heart shift for, if he wanted a club, he would have discarded his lowest spade.

East got the message and promptly returned the ten of hearts to force an honor from South's hand. The latter put up the king, and the defenders cashed enough tricks in the suit to send declarer down to defeat.

Holy Land Meet May Begin Healing Of Ancient Schism

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Roman Catholicism and Orthodox, the religions of 700 million Christians, are on the threshold of a new era of good will.

This weekend their spiritual leaders—Pope Paul VI and Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul) — conferred in the Holy Land. It is the first encounter of a Roman Catholic pope and an Orthodox patriarch since the East-West schism of 1054.

No one expects this meeting to be more than a preliminary step on the road to Christian unity but it clearly marks a new spirit of friendship between churches that often quarreled.

The schism between East and West has its roots in differences that predate by hundreds of years the Protestant-Catholic division in the 16th Century.

ROME'S DECLINE
Rivalry stemming from the rise of Constantinople and the decline of Rome brought early estrangement between the religious leaders in the two cities—the bishop of Rome (the Pope) and the patriarch of Constantinople.

The first schism came soon after Constantine, the first Christian Roman emperor, moved his capital from Rome to Constantinople. This schism, which lasted 55 years from 343 to 398, was the result of difficulties arising from Arianism.

Arius, a Libyan priest, had taught that the Son (Christ) was not the equal of the Father, or true God. Rome rejected this teaching.

SYMPATHETIC
Emperor Constantine, the son of Constantine, was sympathetic to supporters of Arius. The dispute continued through the years until Emperor Theodosius I came to power and issued several edicts against Arianism, starting in 380.

Other early schisms: 404-415—Pope Innocent I in Rome broke off communion with Constantinople because his emperor banished St. John Chrysostom and replaced him as patriarch of Constantinople. After John died, his body was returned to Constantinople and communion was restored.

484-519—A dispute arose between Patriarch Acacius of Constantinople and Pope St. Simplicius and Felix III, partly over rival claims to the sees of Antioch and Alexandria. Emperor Justin and Pope Hormisdas eventually reached agreement 30 years after Acacius' death.

ONE WILL
640-681—This break was over monothelism, the teaching that Christ had but one will and one energy or operation. The third Ecumenical Council of Constantinople ended the schism, declaring the doctrine heretical.

Rome and Constantinople were in schism another 61 years during the Eighth and Ninth Centuries because of iconoclasm, the belief that the veneration of holy images is unlawful. Several emperors of Constantinople supported iconoclasm. It is opposed by both Catholics and Orthodox today.

Altogether Rome and Constantinople were in schism 203 of the 544 years between 323 and 867.

Each schism brought new antagonism.

GREEK USED
To these were added other points of dispute. The East used the Greek language, the West, Latin. Roman Catholics saw supreme power in the Pope, whom they regarded as the successor of St. Peter. The Orthodox, while granting a primacy of honor to the Pope, held that each patriarch or metropolitan had independent jurisdiction in his own area.

In 867 came the most serious schism up to that time. It was a break between Patriarch Photius and Popes Nicholas I and John VIII over jurisdiction. At one point Photius and Nicholas claimed the power to excommunicate each other.

After Photius, relations between Rome and Constantinople seemed to improve. Then in 1054 the schism became all but final.

JURISDICTION
Patriarch Michael Cerularius refused to accept papal jurisdiction and shut Latin rite churches in Constantinople.

Many historians date the present East-West schism from 1054. There were later efforts at reconciliation, particularly at the Council of Lyon (France) in 1274 and the 15th Century Council of Florence (Italy).

Truck Bidding

Bids on three trucks for the road and bridge department will be considered by the Howard County Commissioners Court at 10 a.m. Jan. 23. Specifications can be obtained from the road and bridge office in the courthouse.

Both councils asked the Orthodox to accept the double procession of the Holy Ghost, from Father and Son, but without inserting the word "filioque" into the creed of Constantinople.

In 1472, the year the Council of Florence ended, Patriarch Dionysius I of Constantinople rejected its proceedings.

REMAIN APART
Since then the two churches have remained apart. Roman Catholicism went on to new dogmas, such as the belief in papal infallibility and the Immaculate Conception of Mary. These dogmas added to the controversy.

But the Council of Florence five centuries ago had started in hope. Patriarch Joseph II of Constantinople and Pope Eugene IV were present when it opened in 1438 in Ferrara, Italy. Later the council moved to Florence because of plague in Ferrara.

That was the last meeting of a Pope and a Patriarch.

Now history is recording another encounter in the land where Christ was born, lived and died.

President Takes Swim Workout

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson reported Monday that he swam eight lengths of the White House pool as part of his regimen of exercise and relaxation.

The President said he is going to try to keep a "pretty regular schedule" at the White House. He usually rises at 6:30 a.m. and for the next two hours goes over official papers and documents. Then, he told reporters at a White House reception, he likes to report to his office between 8:30 and 9 a.m. to get started on the day's appointments.

Art Show Set

Las Artistas of Big Spring will hold a membership art show Feb. 1-2 at First Federal Savings and Loan Association. Registration for the show will be Friday, Jan. 31 at First Federal. Further plans for the show will be mapped at the club's next regular meeting, Tuesday, Jan. 21.

Lady Bird To Speak At New Retraining Center For Miners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson flies Saturday to the hard coal country of Pennsylvania to give a speech and to see how Uncle Sam is helping miners and towns struck by unemployment.

The First Lady delivers her brief address at the dedication of a new research center at Wilkes-Barre, built with the aid of federal funds.

The research center, operated on a grant from the Ford Foundation, determines a community's training needs to attract new industries to the pinched anthracite area and thus provide new jobs.

LAST SPRING

Mrs. Johnson made a similar excursion into depressed areas of West Virginia last spring when her husband was vice president to call attention to the work of the Area Redevelopment Administration—ARA.

Mrs. Johnson will be accompanied on her one-day trip to the Wilkes-Barre area by ARA Administrator William L. Batt Jr. and will look over a number of projects where coal miners are being retrained for new trades.

The Wilkes College center was built with $400,000 in federal funds matched by community funds. Part of its function is to help young men and women of the mining area train for jobs in fields such as electronics and chemistry.

Wilkes-Barre is considered a dramatic example of what a community can do with government help to push forward in the retraining of unemployed

Contestants

Cheryl Childers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Childers, Coahoma, and Jimmy Shafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Shafer, Coahoma, are senior contestants in the Mr. and Miss CHS contest set for Jan. 25. Proceeds from the program will help finance the annual senior trip.

Railroader Enters Commission Race

Ben (B. N.) Boroughs, a resident of Big Spring for the past 22 years, has announced as a candidate for county commissioner, Precinct 3, subject to action of the Democratic primary.

Boroughs, a native of Alabama, came to Texas in 1910 and, with exception of seven years spent in Oklahoma, has lived in Texas all of his life.

He is a brakeman-conductor on the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., and has been with the railroad 22 years.

He lives at 2903 Clanton with his wife and one daughter, Beverly, a student in Big Spring High School. He has three other daughters, all of whom are married — Mrs. Bill Rogers, Big Spring; Mrs. Charles Camp, Coahoma; and Mrs. Raymond Champion, Loop.

BEN (B. N.) BOROUGHS

"I can serve the county and my precinct with efficiency if I am chosen as your commissioner. As a railroader, I will be able to devote all necessary time to the job of commissioner. I can attend all meetings, keep close watch on what is being done in my district. If it appears necessary for the best performance of my duty, I will take a leave of absence from my railroad work for the duration of my term. I have about decided, if I am elected, to take such a leave of absence.

"I intend to make an intensive campaign and to visit every house in the district between this date and the primary.

"I earnestly solicit your vote and support and I assure you if I am selected as your county commissioner, I will do all in my power to serve you well."

PACT EXTENSION

U.S. Demands Easing Of Red Tourist Flow

MOSCOW (AP) — American negotiators today demanded an easing of Soviet restrictions on the flow of tourists and information across the Iron Curtain.

The diplomatically worded demands were submitted by U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler at the opening of negotiations for a two-year extension of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program.

Russian counter-demands were stated by Sergei K. Romanovsky, head of the state committee for cultural relations with foreign countries.

Romanovsky opposed a provision in the American draft of the 1964-65 agreement placing all contracts between Soviet organizations and private firms and individuals in the United States under State Department control.

An American spokesman told newsmen the provision was contained in the old agreement. He added that the State Department does not regard so-called Soviet "social organizations" as private groups because they are under strict government control.

Kohler complained that the existing agreement "is limited

Health, Safety Group To Meet

The public health and safety committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will hold an organizational and review meeting at 5:15 p.m. Thursday at the chamber offices.

The group will retain its chairman, Charles Weeg, and other committee members who wish to continue on the committee during the coming year.

Weeg Thursday will present a resume of business completed during 1963 and of areas which will receive the attention of the group during 1964.

Chapter Elects Beauty Team

A team representing the Big Spring chapter of the Texas Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association was selected Monday evening. The team will attend the annual Texas Beauty Show to be held in Dallas Jan. 18-22.

Selected to the team are Mrs. Mike Moore, Gary Don Carey and Mrs. Bill Richbourg.

Next meeting will be at 5 p.m., Feb. 3 at the Hair Style Clinic. The team will report on the new trends for spring and summer hair styles.

PEOPLE IN NEWS

Ribicoff Says He's Not After Vice Presidency

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, often mentioned in speculation about the Democratic vice presidential nominee, says he's not a candidate.

"I think there are other men more qualified for the vice presidency than I," Ribicoff told a reporter in Los Angeles.

Ribicoff, 53, was secretary of welfare in President Kennedy's Cabinet. He was in Los Angeles to make a speech.

BHUBANESWAR, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru, 74, has canceled all engagements for today because of what an official spokesman described as fatigue.

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie today accepted an invitation from Premier Khrushchev to visit the Soviet Union. Date of the visit was not announced.

MADRID (AP) — Henry Ford II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., arrived from Lisbon for what members of his party said was a week's vacation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur says he once faced the threat of dismissal from West Point because he wouldn't inform on upper classmen.

He told the story in the first of seven installments of his memoirs, printed in the Jan. 10 issue of Life magazine.

MacArthur said that shortly after he entered the U.S. Military Academy in 1899 he was called as a witness against cadets after a hazing.

"Under questioning," MacArthur recalled, "I explained fully all circumstances of the matter but refused to divulge the names of the upper classmen involved. My mother and father had taught me two immutable principles — never to lie, never to tattle.

"But if the court insisted and ordered me to reveal the names and I then refused to obey the order, it would in all likelihood mean my dismissal and the end of my hopes and dreams."

MacArthur said that today 60 years later, he could still "feel the beads of sweat on my brow."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he plans to keep a "pretty regular schedule" in the White House.

He told reporters he usually rises at 6:30 a.m. and goes over official papers for the next two hours. Then, he said, he likes to report to the office at 8:30 or 9.

Johnson added that he swam eight lengths of the White House pool Monday as part of his regimen of exercise, and has been making a practice of swimming before lunch and dinner.

He's Convinced, Too

Jerry Lewis, whose two-hour weekly television show was a multi-million dollar flop, is back making movies, starring in "The Patsy." Set workers greeted him with this sign when he showed up yesterday to begin its production. Actress Ina Balin, pictured with him, will provide the love interest in the film. (AP WIREPHOTO)

EQUIPMENT TO DO THE JOB
Owners of Southwestern A-One Pest Control Service

Father And Son Team Help Control Insects

Southwestern A-One Pest Control, owned and operated by Mack and Max Moore, 903 E. 3rd, specializes in control of all kinds of household and commercial building insects and pests.

The father and son team covers homes and business buildings, including cafes, schools, hospitals and other public buildings, in an area from Sweetwater, to Stanton, and from Lamesa to Sterling City and Garden City.

CONTROL PESTS

"Control of pests is just as important in one building as in another," Mack Moore said. "When we go in to service a building, whether it is commercial or residential, we do a thorough job. We use poisons to kill a variety of insects and pests if the building has a raised floor. If we are going for termites we know they are going to be hard to get at because they are covered up. With other poisons we get snakes, rats, mice or whatever else is under the house."

"Poisons used in the home may be applied without the house being closed up. The family does not have to leave the building while the chemicals takes effect," he continued. "All closets, cabinets and openings are treated for roaches, moths, silverfish, ants, rats, mice or whatever may be in the building. These treatments will last for many months."

EFFECTIVE

Moore said chemicals used in the house are not dangerous for children, dogs, or cats, and yet remain effective against insects brought into the building after they are applied.

Termite control, one of the roughest problems in the business, is done methodically and carefully.

"When a house is off the ground we go under it, rake out all the trash and debris, and cover the ground with poison to prevent reinfestation in a short time," Moore said. "We bore into timber and, with 150 pounds of pressure, force chemicals into the grain. Every opening is inspected and treated."

ON SLAB

"If the house is built on a slab, and is brick veneered, we go inside first. We drill small holes between all wall studs and force the chemical into the area. Then we go outside and, between every third brick, drill holes in the mortar and force chemicals into the air space for full treatment. The insulation often used between building studs on outside walls does not stop the flow of chemicals to the top under the pressure. The chemicals penetrate all areas he said.

Mack and Max Moore said they made it a point to be clean in all their work. They said neat and clean clothing was necessary, and that cleanliness in the buildings where they work is important to the owner.

CLEAN

"Housewives, more than any one else, appreciate the fact that we do not leave the house looking like a cyclone had struck it," they said. "When we have to drill holes in the walls, to inject chemicals, we always use a vacuum cleaner to clean up the bore-dust and shavings. When we are through we clean the walls and floor and then fill the drill holes."

A knowledge of insects and other pests, and the chemicals to which they may be immune, is important to the Moores. They may use as many as three or four chemicals in treating a house to insure destruction of all pests.

"Chemicals are high," Moore said, "but the cost of the chemicals is not nearly as important as having to go back and do a job over again. We guarantee every job."

GUARANTEE

All termite work is done under contract with the building owner. If he wants to continue the contract after a certain period he may do so. If he wants to cancel it, he can do that. The contract insures regular inspection and treatment for future infestations.

A call to Mack and Max Moore, at AM 4-8190, will get information about any kind of insect or pest control.

Byron's Is Insured

Moving problems can be solved without trouble when Byron's Storage & Transfer is called in on the job.

The agent for United Van Lines, operated by Byron Neel, is equipped for short or long hauls in moving, and has men who know how to handle furniture and all household goods without damage. Bonded and insured movers, they can pack everything in the house without the housewife having to worry about how to pack and wrap each item.

The family can get in the car and drive to their new home, across town or across the nation, and be assured that everything will be moved when they need it, in clean, sanitized vans.

If necessary to store household goods for a time, Byron's has a bonded and sanitized warehouse meeting all specifications for safety.

Call AM 4-4351 for quick, efficient, and safe moving.

Hand Mixing Of Concrete Is No Longer Necessary

How much concrete can you mix by hand in a day? How many blisters will you have on your hands at the end of that day? How many cubic yards will you be able to pour and work?

The old shovel, hoe, bucket and box method went out the door with the advent of modern truck-mounted mixing cylinders which can load, mix while traveling, back up to your job, dump, and be on the road in a few short minutes. When it leaves you have more concrete poured and ready to work than you could have done by hand in a full day.

FLEX MUSCLES

Of course, if the man around the house likes to brag about what he can do, to flex his muscles and blister his hands, the old method is the way to do it.

Sand, cement and gravel, in the proper proportions for the job to be done, along with the right amount of water, are dumped in the big ready-mix trucks at Clyde McMahon's and when they reach the job all that is necessary is to dump the ready-mix in the forms and get it spread, shaped and smoothed with the proper surface. This can be done by hand or with modern machines.

HAS TOOLS

McMahon, on North Benton, has the tools and machines for the proper working of concrete after it is poured.

Whether the job is for steps to the home, patio, driveway, streets, curb and gutter or building foundations, Clyde McMahon is ready to handle the little jobs as well as the big ones.

The old problem of getting a pile of sand, a pile of gravel and several sacks of cement, building a mortar box, and then using a shovel or bucket for proportioning the mixture according to needs, mixing with shovel and hoe, loading on a wheelbarrow and pushing it to the job is over.

EXPERIENCE

Most of the big jobs around Big Spring, including business building foundations, bridges, paved streets, residence foundations, driveways, curbs and gutters and many other concrete jobs have been done by Clyde McMahon. The big mixers are rolling nearly all the time. The builder still needs to get his forms built, reinforcement laid and have men to work the mixture after it is poured, but the saving in time and money comes when the concrete is mixed. It is also mixed properly.

BLOCKS

McMahon can also furnish concrete blocks, concrete tile, washed sand, gravel and other necessities, including expansion joint material and border material.

The big trucks can back up to the job and, on most projects can chute the mixture where it is being worked. On some jobs the mixture must be placed in large buckets and hoisted to the top of forms, where it is let out through the bottom. Very few outside elevators are seen these days for hauling wheelbarrow loads of concrete up the side of the structure.

McMahon can give you an estimate on the cost of your job, and help you with your plans. A telephone call to McMahon Concrete will furnish the information you need.

Saves Many A Blistered Hand

Clyde McMahon's big fleet of ready-mix concrete trucks is ready to serve Big Spring and area customers with concrete mixed to specifications for the job. These trucks roll for big or little jobs. McMahon's concrete batches have been "chuted" to jobs all over Howard County to eliminate the many hours of manual labor and blistered hands known in the old hoe, shovel and wheelbarrow days.

JFK Outlines Lonely Artist

NEW YORK (AP)—President John F. Kennedy, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author, wrote an introduction to a book only months before he died describing the life of the creative artist as a "stern and lonely" one.

"Too often in the past, we have thought of the artist as an idler and dilettante and the lover of arts as somehow sissy or effete," the late president wrote last summer in "Creative America," to be published next month for the proposed National Cultural Center in Washington. The book has been dedicated to his memory.

AN INJUSTICE

"We have done both an injustice," Kennedy wrote. "The life of the artist is, in relation to his work, stern and lonely. He has labored hard, often amid deprivation, to perfect his skill."

Kennedy did much of the work on "Profiles in Courage" while recuperating from major surgery to correct a back ailment.

The book became a best seller and won a Pulitzer Prize. Since his assassination last November it has risen again to the best seller lists.

Of the artist's life, Kennedy wrote: "He has turned aside from quick success in order to strip his vision of everything secondary or cheapening. His working life is marked by intensive application and intense discipline."

DISTURBING

"As for the lover of the arts, it is he who, by subjecting himself to the sometimes disturbing experience of art, sustains the artist—and seeks only the reward that his life will, in consequence, be more fully lived."

In his introduction, Kennedy said the proposed National Cultural Center "aims to be a part of a broad effort to stimulate the performing arts."

"To work for the progress of the arts in America is exciting and fruitful because what we are dealing with touches vitally all citizens."

Included in the book are writings by former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman, Robert Frost, Mark Van Doren, James Baldwin, Louis Kronenberger, John Ciardi and Joseph Krutch.

The book, published for the National Cultural Center by the Ridge Press, goes on sale Feb. 3.

Bomber's Crash Kills Two Yanks

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A B26 fighter carrying two U.S. Air Force officers crashed on a test flight today and an American military spokesman said both were killed.

The officers, a major and a captain, were not immediately identified.

The spokesman said the plane crashed about 15 miles east of Saigon. The reason for the crash was not determined.

The roll of American dead in Viet Nam rose to 166. Ninety-two of these have been in combat against the Communist Viet Cong.

Allowable Rises

AUSTIN (AP)—The average calendar day oil allowable was 2,884,791 barrels Saturday, an increase of 37,199 over the previous week, the Railroad Commission said Monday.

Navy Outlines Undesirables

WASHINGTON (AP)—"I find it very hard to live with the shame. They will not hire me. I can't enter the college of my choice."

With words such as these, many former enlisted men petitioned the Navy to let them escape from the shadow of undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable discharges.

Now, the Navy is using these words to drive home an object lesson — to impress on young sailors "the handicaps and consequences" of receiving less than honorable discharges. "Many young enlisted men are under the erroneous impression that a less than honorable discharge will not penalize them as civilians," said a notice being circulated to all ships and shore stations.

To dispel that impression, the Navy Bureau of Personnel has selected remorseful quotes from petitions asking a change to honorable discharge.

Without identifying the writers, the Navy is making sure the quotes are shown to sailors throughout the fleet—and that they realize none of the petitions quoted were granted.

Since 1959, officials said, undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable discharges from the Navy have been running at the rate of about 3,600 a year.

Rayburn Library Given Six Of Speaker's Bills

BONHAM (AP)—The Sam Rayburn Library received facsimiles Monday of six bills which the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn helped pass while he was chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee.

Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex., made the presentation, and Buster Cole, Bonham attorney and secretary of the Sam Rayburn Foundation, accepted.

Harris termed the bills "landmarks in the field of representative government." They involved the stock market, railroads, communications, utilities and rural electrification.

A gavel presented to Harris by Rayburn also was given to the library. The originals are in the National Archives.

Judge Cuts Texan's Term

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph De Moura, formerly of San Benito, Tex., was placed on 18 months probation Monday after a federal judge withdrew his 10-year prison sentence.

De Moura, of Chicago, had received the 10-year prison sentence for sending forged money orders through the mails. He maintained he received them in a divorce settlement from his former wife. He did not know they were stolen, he said.

Judge James B. Parsons of U.S. District Court withheld final disposition of the case Oct. 2 when he passed sentence on De Moura. He said he wanted reports on a 90-day test to determine the possibility of rehabilitation for De Moura.

The test report recommended probation.

De Moura was charged with cashing $300 in stolen money orders taken across state lines. Prosecutors said that while De Moura was married to an American Express Co. agent in San Benito, Tex., for six weeks he had access to blank money orders.

De Moura said he had invested $2,000 in his wife's business and that she gave him $2,000 in money orders as part of the divorce settlement.
