SURGEON GENERAL ADVISES 'QUIT SMOKING' AS RESULT OF SCIENCE PANEL'S REPORT

Cigarettes Called 'Principal Cause Of Lung Cancer'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heavy cigarette smoking is the principal cause of cancer of the lungs and the larynx and a health hazard so grave as to call for remedial action, a blue-ribbon science panel concluded Saturday.

Service said his agency will move at once to recommend remedial action called for by the science group.

"I would advise anyone to discontinue smoking cigarettes," Terry told a news conference.

The 10-man special advisory committee on smoking and health took 14 months to evaluate more than 8,000 studies of the effect of smoking on health.

It undertook no fresh research but decided available evidence shows that cigarette smoking far outweighs all other causes of lung cancer and cancer of the larynx—in men and perhaps in women.

It had no such clear-cut indictment of cigarette smoking in the area of heart and blood vessel disease or lesser ailments sometimes associated with smoking.

But, broadly, the panel took the view that the more you smoke the more you risk early death.

The special group was not requested to make specific recommendations for laws or regulations to offset smoking hazards but it concluded:

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

After releasing the report, Terry declared that there will be "no footdragging" in seeking possible remedial steps.

In another major conclusion the committee of scientists said:

"In view of the continuing and mounting evidence from many sources, it is the judgment of the committee that cigarette smoking contributes substantially to mortality from certain specific diseases and to the over-all death rate."

The report, which ran to about 150,000 words and several hundred pages, hit hardest at cigarette smoking as being what it termed a significant cause of lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, and cancer of the larynx, or voice box.

DEATH CHART Relates smoking to total deaths (American Cancer Society)

The committee was more reserved in linking cigarette smoking with heart disease and circulatory disorders, at least as to any cause-and-effect relationship. The report said in this respect:

tween cigarette smoking in men and higher rates of coronary disease.

"It is more prudent to assume that the established association between cigarette smoking and coronary disease has a causative meaning than to suspend judgment until no uncertainty remains," the report said.

As for lung cancer, the report said that in men, cigarette smoking far outweighs other possible causes of the malady and "the data for women, though less extensive, point in the same direction."

It said the risk of developing lung cancer for pipe smokers and cigar smokers is greater than for nonsmokers "but much less than for cigarette smokers."

For various specific diseases, Terry said in a statement, the committee's findings were that cigar and pipe smoking have little significance in comparison with cigarettes.

But while it found much physical menace in smoking, the committee reported that there are benefits in the area of mental health and ease, saying "The habit originates in a search for contentment."

As regards other diseases, the box score of the report ran this way:

1. Cancer of the esophagus — there is evidence of an association with smoking, but cause and effect have not been decided on the basis of present evidence.

2. Cancer of the urinary bladder—an association with cigarette smoking but not enough evidence to establish a cause and effect link.

3. Stomach cancer—no relationship established.

4. Peptic ulcer (including ulcers of the stomach and of the duodenum which links the stomach with the intestines)—an association with cigarette smoking but no cause and effect yet established.

5. Amblyopia, dimness of vision unexplained by any bodily defect—an apparent relationship between this ailment and pipe and cigar smoking — but no cause-and-effect link yet made.

6. Cirrhosis of the liver: — (See HEAVIEST, Pg. 6-A, Col. 1)

TWO ANSWERS ABOUT FILTERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do filters help?

Reporters got two answers to that question when they put it Saturday to members of the committee on smoking and health.

Surgeon General Terry said the report dealt briefly with filters but members "felt there was not enough data available on filters to justify a judgment at this time."

But Dr. James M. Hundley, assistant surgeon general, added this comment: "There is no evidence that filters have had any effect in reducing the health hazard from smoking."

BEST SELLER LIST BOUND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Public Health Service officials predicted privately that "Smoking and Health," the 387-page report to the surgeon general released Saturday, will become a best-seller.

The paper-bound volume is for sale by the superintendent of documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, at $1.25 a copy.

Direct Talks Open Today To Settle Panama Crisis

U.S. Troops Force Back Rock-Throwers With Gas

PANAMA (AP) — President Roberto Chiari demanded Saturday that the Panamanian flag be flown along with Old Glory at all schools in the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone as the first step toward resolving the present explosive crisis.

Robert J. Fleming, governor of the zone, immediately ordered this done and the order was read over the official Panama radio.

Chiari reissued his demand as new violence flared and Panamanian and U.S. delegates prepared for a full scale meeting

Sunday on resolving their disputes.

Before the president spoke, new violence flared at the Canal Zone boundaries in Colon and Panama City.

U. S. troops used tear gas to force back crowds who threw stones into the Canal Zone at Colon on the Atlantic side and burned a switch house of the Panama Railroad.

Tension remained high in the wake of previous violence.

FLY FLAG

On the diplomatic front President Roberto Chiari declared that an indispensable condition for resuming a climate of negotiations is the flying of the Panamanian flag wherever the U.S. flag is displayed in the U. S.-controlled Canal Zone.

It was a flag-raising incident that sparked the crisis which led Panama to break relations with the United States and scrap the 61-year-old treaty with the United States governing control of the waterway.

Chiari told an OAS mission that before Panama could consider resuming diplomatic relations with the United States President Johnson must issue a statement that this will be done on a basis of an integral revision of existing treaties with the United States.

But main stress was placed on the issue of raising the Panamanian flag, with Chiari saying this was the main cause of the present trouble. To see the banner raised alongside that of the United States "is the deep-rooted desire of the Panamanian nation," he asserted.

INSTRUCTIONS

President Johnson sent new instructions Saturday to his chief diplomatic envoys in Panama. They are Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and Cyrus R. Vance, secretary of the Army.

Mann and Vance saw Chiari for an hour and a half on Friday night shortly after their arrival. Mann plans additional talks with Chiari.

Johnson got a written report on the initial meeting with Chiari, which was described as largely a factual assessment of the situation.

The task confronting the diplomats was a formidable one.

At the United Nations, Panama's chief delegate, Aquilino Boyd, demanded that the canal be nationalized or placed under international jurisdiction. Boyd also accused the United States of "bloody aggression."

The United States said it was ready to negotiate differences but there was no expectation it would give up the canal.

NOT YIELD

U.S. authorities believe the United States can weather the Panama crisis without yielding its basic canal rights.

They feel that while some further U.S. accommodation may be made toward Panama, the United States will not be forced to give up its basic hold on the trans-isthmian waterway which connects the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Panama has denounced the 1903 treaty under which the United States got control of the (See PANAMA, Pg. 6-A, Col. 3)

AFTERMATH ON PRESIDENT KENNEDY AVE. Six automobiles wrecked, burned on boundary street

Tobacco Industry's Assets Measured

NEW YORK (AP)—The government report on smoking dramatizes a great human and social issue.

The report says that an $8-billion-a-year industry — in sales, in jobs and incomes for thousands of people — is based on a product damaging to human health.

This industry pays out $3.3 billion a year in taxes.

But this industry also is costing American families perhaps $10 billion a year because so many men, so many wage earners, die too soon because of cigarette smoking, a famous statistician estimates.

Dr. Louis I. Dublin, retired vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., suggests this kind of dollar-sign look at the liabilities as well as assets of an industry in judging future public policy.

NOT NEW

The dilemma is not exactly new.

Automobiles and gasoline and highway-building and industries supporting automotive transport are social and economic assets. Yet accidents kill 40,000 Americans a year and injure two million others, and exhaust fumes are suspected of injuring health through air pollution.

Radioactive fallout with its suspected health hazards is one risky price of developing atomic arsenals for national defense. Looking at the liability side of the human balance sheet on smoking, Dublin estimates that a family loses $100,000, on the average, when a working man dies prematurely.

"The best estimate I can get is that we can ascribe 100,000 premature deaths a year to the smoking habit, and more particularly to the smoking of cigarettes."

"So 100,000 lives at $100,000 of value is equivalent to the loss of $10 billion dollars, and this in one year.

LOSSES

"To this item of liability should of course be added the losses sustained by families in reduced earnings, medical costs etc., during the protracted period of illness before death," Dublin says.

And governments lose tax receipts when wage earners die, and pay large sums in Social Security or other payments, he adds.

"From the public interest point of view, the tobacco industry is far from a glorious asset," Dublin declares.

One published estimate of deaths attributable to smoking lists 50,000 plus charged to coronary heart disease, about 39,000 from lung cancer, and 12,000 to 14,000 from emphysema, a lung ailment.

Andres L. Torres Dies In Car Crash

Andres Lopez Torres, 59-year-old farm laborer, became Howard County's second highway auto fatality of the year Saturday when his body was found in the wreckage of his car in a cotton field about 12.6 miles northwest of town.

Investigating officers said Torres' car apparently ran off the road into a bar ditch during a sand storm about 7:15 a.m. Saturday by two residents of Knott. Big Spring Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter ruled death due to injuries received in a one-car accident.

Torres was born Nov. 30, 1904, in Mexico. He had worked as a farm laborer for W. A. Jackson since 1959.

The only known survivor is the widow, Saturnina Ade Torres of Calle Pila, No. 29 1/2, S.T.O., Mexico. Services are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home.

The county's first auto fatality occurred last Sunday when Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withycombe died in a two-car collision at Sand Springs.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Time for qualifying as a voter in this important election year is fast flitting by. It is a year of primaries, general election, and a presidential year, at that. Besides, there may be three or four other calls to the polls during the year. But in order to vote any of these, either poll tax receipts or exemption certificates must be obtained not later than Jan. 31.

Events shocked the area during the week. Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withycombe was killed instantly in a two-car collision at Sand Springs, and two companions, Sammy Mellinger and Clyde Waits Jr., were hurt seriously. Then Friday evening, Gary Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mitchell of Garden City, was killed in a car mishap near Odessa. During the week Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Holcombe narrowly missed death (See THE WEEK, P. 6-A, Col. 4)

Warmer Days, Cooler Nights

Weather predictions appeared unpredictable Saturday night.

First, the forecasts called for cold weather and snow for the West Texas area, including Big Spring. Then, at 10 p.m. the forecast said mostly sunny skies would prevail today and Monday with the low temperature running down to somewhere between 15 and 20, and the highs for Sunday and Monday anywhere between 50 and 55.

Winston Wrinkle Gets Jaycee Service Award

Big Spring's Distinguished Service Award, a yearly presentation to the outstanding young man of the community, went to Winston Wrinkle, manager of radio station KSBT, Saturday night.

The award was a highlight of the annual banquet of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, held at the Goliad Junior High School.

The banquet was climaxed with a hard-hitting address by Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, director of the school of international studies at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill. Dr. Nyaradi's talk was advance-billed as "Free Enterprise or Disaster."

In it, the former finance minister of Hungary pulled no punches in laying the problem of creeping socialism in America right at the feet of the audience — members of the community of American businessmen.

Nyaradi opened with the observation that there are many vital fields in which citizens can't afford to be partisan Democrats or Republicans, but instead must be simply Americans.

One of these fields he outlined was foreign policy, pointing out the current situation in Panama. Its link with the Castro regime in Cuba and the illustration of the glaring shortcomings of what Nyaradi termed the policy of appeasement.

Another vital field touched by Nyaradi was American military interests. His example was the Cuban missile crisis of not long ago. He said that Nikita Khrushchev did not push the buttons controlling the Cuban-based rockets because he knew that Russia did not have the military power to knock out America at once nor the economy to overcome the superiority of the American free enterprise system. "Free enterprise is our best weapon," he stressed.

Dr. Nyaradi said Americans have the sovereign right to vote in any type government they want, even socialism. But he cautioned that socialism is now being spoon-fed to us in disguise.

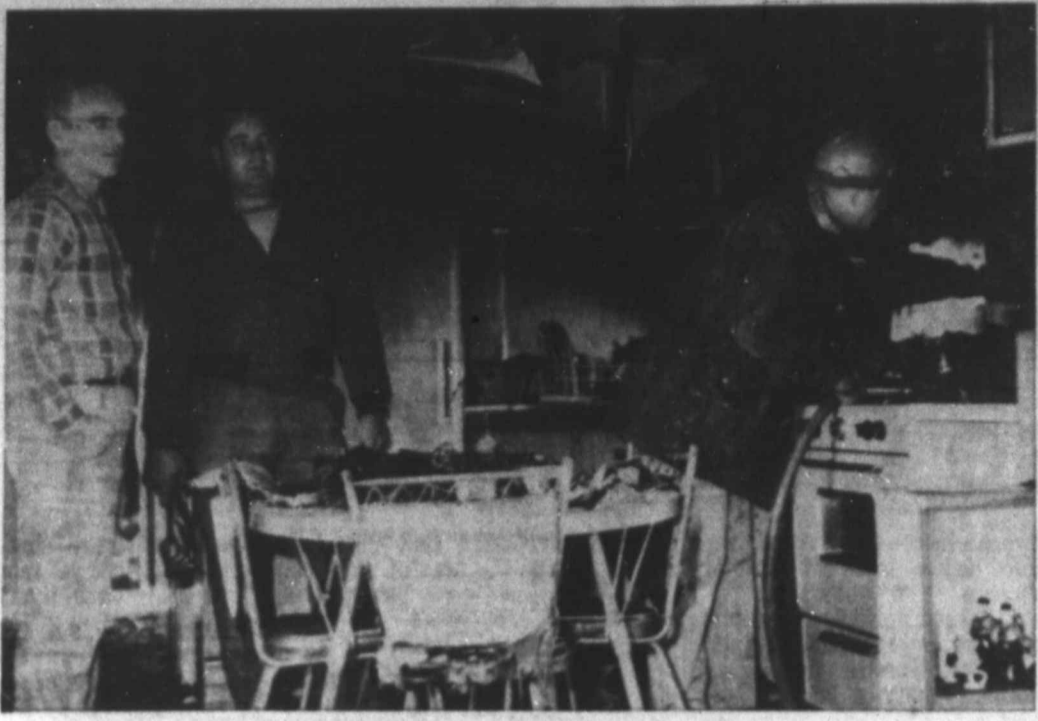

Nyaradi stressed that the Supreme Court's "law of the land" in the integration dispute resulted in use of troops in Little Rock, Oxford and Alabama to back up the court's edict. However, he said, the anti-featherbedding decision of the high court has been defied continually by laborists and is on the

SURVEYING THE FIRE DAMAGE
Owner, Airman Wylie J. Burts, center, a bystander, and fireman

Trailer Burns Saturday, No Injuries

A 10x55-foot, three-bedroom trailer house, owned by Airman I.C. Wylie J. Burts, was heavily damaged by fire at noon Saturday. Airman Burts was asleep in one bedroom at the time, and was awakened by smoke.

Firemen said the fire had made good headway, practically destroying most of the contents and drapes, when Burts called the fire department.

Mrs. Burts, her 14-month-old son, Don Wayne, and her mother, Mrs. Della Butler, had gone to check for mail, and stopped to watch flying aircraft for about 30 minutes. They returned home to find the trailer house in flames. They had lived at the location, at Utah Road and Airport, for two years and three months.

The cause of the fire had not been determined, but firemen said it could have started from a short in connections to a vent fan just above the gas kitchen range. Heaviest damage was done in the wall and cabinet area, above the range in the kitchen.

The amount of damage was not estimated, but the trailer house was insured.

Lack Of Moisture Plagues Farmers

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas farmers and ranchmen have started another year plagued by drought and related problems.

Only limited areas of the state have adequate moisture, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Reports from district farm agents, the director said, emphasize the need for rain and higher temperatures for plant growth. Feeding is heavy and grazing is limited.

Moisture is short to very short in the northern part of the South Texas District; short in the central counties and generally adequate in most Valley counties.

Flax made good growth but oats had been slowed by the cold. Carrots and cabbage are being harvested. Onions and spinach generally look good. Only minor damage to vegetables came from frost and cold have been reported. Harvesting of an excellent quality of citrus crop is on. Ranges are average to below in most counties. Pear burning and feeding have kept livestock in fair to good condition.

Moisture and warm weather are needed for ranges and flax in South Central Texas. Feeding is heavy.

Moisture is generally adequate in Southeast Texas and on the upper Gulf Coast area. Cold weather slowed growth of improved temporary pastures. Native pastures are providing little grazing.

Moisture in East Texas is short to adequate. Livestock are in fair to poor condition. Feeding is heavy and some stockmen will have losses.

Moisture is short to adequate in Central Texas. Grains are making little growth. Some insect damage is reported. Very little grazing of any kind is available and feeding is heavy.

Moisture is short, grains are at a standstill and ranges are below average in West Central Texas. Lambing and calving are general, some shrinkage of livestock is noted and ranchmen are full feeding and burning prickly pear.

All livestock are being fed in Far West Texas. Shrinkage is taking place due to the cold and lack of feed. Cotton is about all in. Irrigated grain is furnishing grazing.

Moisture is short in Northeast Texas and grains are making very slow growth due to the cold. Pastures are providing little or no grazing. Livestock are losing weight. Most counties are receiving grain through the emergency feed program.

Moisture in North Central Texas is short to very short except in isolated spots. The very dry fall and cold have hampered the growth of grains.

Heavy feeding of livestock is necessary. Cattlemen are experiencing one of the most expensive winters in many years.

Moisture is adequate in half of the Rolling Plains. Wheat growth is slow due to the weather, with grazing limited. Feeding is increasing.

The South Plains cotton harvest is 90 to 95 per cent over. Livestock and most ranges are average, with a few counties reporting below average conditions and a shortage of moisture.

Moisture is generally short to very short in the Panhandle and wheat is dormant due to the cold, dry weather. Wheat grazing is limited to irrigated fields. The cotton harvest is 95 per cent complete.

Ladybird Makes First Official Visit Saturday

By FRANCES LEWINE

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, visiting this depression-plagued hard coal area Saturday, said she feels this is "the first battlefield" of the President's war on poverty.

The First Lady told a college audience she had come at the request of "my commander-in-chief" because "we both want to know better the people behind these statistics."

She said she had much to report back to Johnson as she headed home Saturday night.

On her first official trip as First Lady, Mrs. Johnson drew crowds of thousands in the public squares at Scranton and Wilkes-Barre and along the way flags were hung from homes that looked prosperous and homes that needed paint and repairs.

Everywhere, she paused to shake hands, smile a greeting and thanked the crowd for coming out to welcome her on a day with temperatures in the mid-20's.

At the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre Airport, she kissed 9-year-old Janice Erickson of nearby Clarks Summit and said: "I hope nobody goes home cold."

At Wilkes College, where she gave a brief speech dedicating a million dollar science research center, signs of "Howdy, Ma'am" greeted her.

And in the city squares, placards said "Hello, Ladybird." The cards bore the name of the International Ladies Garment

MRS. LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Workers Union. In this economically depressed community where hard coal mining cutbacks left a swath of unemployment, the garment industry has moved in to employ large numbers of women rather than men, causing a new sociological problem.

From the moment her chartered plane, carrying 36 reporters and photographers, arrived from Washington at 10 a.m., Mrs. Johnson began stressing a theme of hope for "the area."

After the Wilkes College band played "The Eyes of Texas" and she received two bouquets of yellow roses, Mrs. Johnson told the crowd of several hundred:

"The problems that you face here and face so aggressively and so well are not problems of party. They are problems that affect all of us and I know that we all rise above partisanship to conquer them."

A bi-partisan group accompanied the First Lady, with Pennsylvania Reps. Daniel Flood, Wilkes-Barre Democrat, and Joseph McDade, Scranton Republican, coming from Washington on the plane. Mrs. William Scranton, wife of Pennsylvania's governor who is a potential GOP presidential candidate, joined them for the day.

The motorcade went first to Scranton where Mrs. Johnson was greeted by an estimated 2,500 persons. Then it made a fast trip to Wilkes-Barre, about 20 miles away, to visit several schools where unemployed persons are retrained in new skills.

She said she was impressed with what she saw on her trip and the progress being made by community efforts.

In her speech at the college Mrs. Johnson said:

"I have found today that these are phoenix lands, arising from the ashes of yesterday to light new fires of your own industrial renaissance."

Richard Earl Snider, 24, accused of assisting Elbert Lee Lewis, 30, in robbing the Safeway Store, 1300 Gregg, at gunpoint Dec. 23, was transferred to county jail Saturday.

Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter set bond at $10,000. Both Snider and Lewis have been charged with armed robbery in Slaughter's court. Police traced a car used in the burglary to the ex-wife of Lewis. Bond on Lewis also has been set at $10,000.

Big Spring detectives returned here at 11 a.m. Friday with Snider. He was apprehended by Midland police Thursday night in an alleged attempted burglary of a pawn shop, police said.

Detectives said Snider signed a statement regarding his part in the holdup. Lewis signed a statement concerning the armed robbery following his arrest Dec. 27 in Midland, police said.

Officers said both men are ex-convicts. Snider, at the time of his arrest, was on parole from the state penitentiary to Wichita Falls for burglary, detectives said, adding that Lewis had been indicted for burglary in San Angelo.

Neither man has posted bond. All but about $200 of the $6,500 taken in the robbery was recovered in an alley on the north side. Both suspects fled down the alley as pursuing officers closed in shortly after the robbery, police said.

Luther F. Loudamy Jr., store manager of the Safeway Store here, identified Lewis, and he identified a picture of Snider, according to detectives.

Detectives said the arrest of both men apparently clears up the robbery.

CREEDS

"A creed is a statement of what you believe that the Scriptures teach, whether it is written or oral, but a creed does not replace the inspired word of God," so says my critic's letter.

In theory, creeds may not replace the Bible; but in practice they do. Creeds are made binding on all the people of a church. They are standards by which questions within a church are settled.

I agree that it is possible for a church to have an unwritten creed—a crystallized system of doctrine, which is used as the standard by which questions are settled.

The Bible only is the creed.

Admiral Has Heart Attack

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Rear Adm. Charles Kirkpatrick suffered a mild heart attack Saturday, five hours before he was to be formally relieved as superintendent of the Naval Academy.

He was taken to the hospital at the Academy where he was reported resting comfortably. He was technically placed on the serious list, but the hospital said he was getting along as well as could be expected. He is 56.

Rear Adm. Charles Minter Jr., 48, who had been promoted from commandant of midshipmen to superintendent, relieved his predecessor at once.

The formal change of command ceremonies which had been scheduled for 11:15 a. m. in the academy field house were canceled. Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze was to have spoken at the ceremonies and each of the admirals was to have read his orders.

Kirkpatrick, a native of San Angelo and a submarine hero in World War II, had been superintendent since May, 1962. He was recently promoted to Chief of naval personnel, with the three-star rank of vice admiral, succeeding Vice Adm. William Smedberg III. The change of command in Washington is not scheduled until March.

A large crowd had been expected for the Saturday, ceremonies, including visitors from Washington and full attendance by the 4,000-man brigade of midshipmen.

The academy said athletic and other events scheduled for the afternoon would not be affected by the admiral's illness.

THERE IT GOES WINNING MORE HEARTS AGAIN!

Every time a Cadillac goes by, it seems someone falls in love with it.

Last year, for instance, more people moved up to Cadillac than ever before in history. And the way 1964 is starting off, Cadillac is going to attract more owners than even its beguiling predecessor. Why? We think the answer is easy.

Each year Cadillac simply lengthens its margin of product leadership—by introducing advancements and improvements that are entirely its own.

In 1964, for example, we've combined the heater and air conditioner in a single unit—with a single control. You set the thermostat at your favorite temperature just like you do at home—and the interior of the car holds it winter and summer. We call it Comfort Control.*

*An extra-cost option.

Then there's Cadillac's new Twilight Sentinel*. When it's time to turn on the lights, they switch on automatically . . . and then turn off when sufficient daylight returns. And in the evening, the headlights can be set to light your path from car to doorway and then turn off automatically after you have entered the house.

There's a lot more about the 1964 Cadillac just as new and just as exciting. Take performance, for example. There's the exciting new 340 h.p. engine—the most powerful in Cadillac history—combined with the smoothness of an improved Hydra-Matic or the completely new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission.

Give in to your heart and get behind the wheel. Let your authorized Cadillac dealer introduce you to America's most desired motor car.

Probation Officer Assists In Rehabilitation Program

By SAM BLACKBURN
Only one program is available to the district court and the district attorney by which they can push for the rehabilitation of individuals brought before the court and convicted of felony indictments.

This program is the employment of the probation officer — a statute which permits the court, at its discretion and in cases where the offender has no previous felony conviction against him, to release him on "probation." The law prescribes that a probationed person must be under the supervision of some designated officer and must keep in contact with this officer until expiration of his sentence time.

JOHN DIBRELL
Howard County has a probation officer—John Dibrell. Dibrell, former football coach and now operator of a sporting goods store, was drafted as probation officer when the program was set in operation in this county six years ago. He reluctantly acquiesced to the request of the late Judge Charlie Sullivan and Dist. Atty. Gil Jones that he serve. His salary was fixed at $100 a month. At the present time, Dibrell is riding herd on 70 individuals who are under probation sentences handed down by the courts.

Jones, commenting on the program and on the work that Dibrell is doing, said that scores of young men have been saved from the penitentiary and set on the right track through the quiet and effective work of Dibrell.

Many times each year, said Jones, the court has to handle young men and sometimes young women who have made a misstep and have been convicted of a felony.

NOT CRIMINALS
"We know," Jones said, "that in most cases, such offenders are not really criminals. We also know from sad experience, that if they go to the penitentiary and serve a sentence they will likely come out as habitual lawbreakers."

"The court and my office bend backward in every case where it appears that use of probation or of the suspended sentence law can save such people for useful lives. "With the aid of John Dibrell we feel we have been successful in this effort in the past six years. It is a labor of love with Dibrell—his salary is only $150 a month now—and the task is time consuming and sometimes frustrating."

Jones pointed out that there are two age groups where the program can be expected to do its most good—defendants under 21 and defendants 21 through 25 years.

Of the 70 probationers now being supervised by Dibrell, 40 are in these age groups. Eighteen are 21 years old and 22 are between 21 and 25 years.

DOES IT WORK?
Does the program work out? Do the probationed prisoners serve out their sentences and abide by the stern terms of their probation?

During 1963, seven of Dibrell's charges finished out their probation and were discharged. One probationer died during the year. Only in four cases was Dibrell forced to ask Jones and the court to revoke the probation. In these four cases, the defendants were sent to the penitentiary to serve out their original sentences.

Dibrell started 1963 with 61 probationers on his list. During the year, he added 21 to the list. Twelve were removed, as listed above, and he wound up the year with 70 active cases.

Of the 70, Dibrell points out that 46 are white males, four are white females, six are Negro males and two are Negro females. Eleven are Latin-American girls.

He serves in three counties. The 118th District Court has jurisdiction over Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties. Fifty-six of his clients are from this county, four from Martin County and nine are from other counties in Texas. One is from another state.

Agewise, his records show that 18 are under 21 years; 22 are in the age bracket 21-25; seven in the 26-30 bracket; nine each in the 31-40 and 41-50 groups. He has four probationers who are over 50 and under 60 and one who is past the age of 60.

Eighteen of the probation cases are persons convicted of burglary. Twelve are serving sentences for forgery; seven are convicted of robbery by assault; and seven are under their convictions. Five are DWI second offenders; three are embezzlers.

There are two found guilty in the court of assault with intent to murder and two with receiving and concealing stolen property. The other offenses for which Dibrell's clients stand convicted are robbery, unlawful possession of a hypodermic, failure to pay motor fuel tax, check swindle, possession of narcotic drug, false swearing, worthless check, possession of narcotic paraphernalia, defrauding by worthless check, forgery and passing a forged instrument, motor vehicle burglary, attempt to pass a forged instrument, and assault with malice.

when Dibrell's case load passed that number but the work he does in no way was hampered. Jones said that his office lent the probation officer a hand by "doing a lot of leg work for him."

both he and Judge Ralph Caton and Caton's predecessor, the late Judge Sullivan, regard the accomplishment of the probation officer as a major contribution to law enforcement and rehabilitation of offenders in this district.

Col. Elmer L. Masters Transferred To Webb

Col. Elmer L. Masters will assume duties as Deputy Commander for Training at Webb Air Force Base Jan. 20. He is coming to his new assignment from Headquarters, ATC, Randolph AFB, where he has been director for Flying Training Standardization and Evaluation.

COL. E. L. MASTERS

Col. Masters entered the Air Force in 1942 and received his commission through the Aviation Cadet Training Program in 1943. During World War II he completed 60 combat missions in the American Middle East Theater (Africa and Italy).

In 1949 he was director of personnel for the Northeast Air Command at Goose Bay, Labrador. In 1951-1954 he served as USAF Personnel Officer in the Pentagon. In 1954-1956 he was a squadron commander and wing inspector at Mather AFB, Calif.

From 1956 to 1958, Col. Masters was the base commander at Bainbridge Air Base, Ga. (a PT base) and it was during this time that the Air Force first used the T-37 aircraft. In 1958-1960, he was assigned to the Philippine Islands directorate of operations and training for the Joint U.S. Advisory Group.

He is married to the former Geraldine Dusenbury, Conway, S. C. The Masterses have three children: a daughter, Donna Lee, 20, who is presently a stewardess with Braniff Air Lines; two sons, Douglas, 18, who is a student in the ninth grade; and Thomas, 13, who is an eighth grader.

In 1960 he came to Headquarters, Air Training Command, as director of inspection. In April, 1963, he assumed his present position as director for ATC Training Standardization and Evaluation.

Col. Masters attended the University of Washington at Seattle and the University of Maryland. He will report to Webb Jan. 20; his family plans to join him early in February.

Poll Tax Payments Urged

While it is true that the privilege of the franchise is priceless, it can be equally well said that you could hardly invest $1.75 to a more profitable end than in using the money to pay your poll tax.

Both the Democratic and Republican county organizations are gravely worried over the possibility of a small poll tax list. The Democrats will meet Monday night in the Howard County Courthouse to discuss ways to build up interest in poll tax payments.

Mrs. LeFevre has appointed several special deputies who are qualified to issue poll tax receipts. These are to be found at the offices of the International Union of Operating Engineers near the Cosden Refinery, at the Coahoma State Bank, the Lakeview YMCA and at the offices of the United Associates, 2100 11th Place.

ed out, a voter must apply for his own poll tax receipt. In the past, it was possible for applications to be filed by persons for other persons. The new law makes it legal for a husband to pay his own poll tax, his wife's or his sons or daughters. By the same rule, a wife, a son, or a daughter may obtain poll tax receipts for their immediate kin.

If you want to perform your duties as a good citizen and express your views and desires in the vital elections of 1964, you must not fail to pay your poll tax or obtain your exemption certificate on or before Jan. 31.

Terms of two trustees for the Big Spring Independent School District will expire during the current year. Filling of those vacancies will be among highlights of the 1964 election year.

Jim Wright Pondering Race For Senate Seat

FORT WORTH (AP) — Rep. Jim Wright, young and vigorous, has all the marks of a man eager to run again for the Senate. But with the filing deadline only 24 days away, he says he is not ready to state his intentions.

of political campaigning," Wright said in an interview. Wright has been a strong supporter of Johnson for years. He worked for Johnson during his presidential bid in 1960 when Kennedy won the nomination.

1964 Election Calendar

- April 2 — City election. Three members Big Spring City Commission to be elected.
April 4 — School elections. Big Spring Independent School District to elect two trustees. Other schools in county to elect board members. Howard County Junior College to elect two trustees.
May 2 — First county primary. Officers to be nominated: sheriff, district court clerk; district attorney; county attorney; two county commissioners; justice of the peace; state representative to the legislature. Tax-assessor collector.
June 6 — Runoff primary election.
Nov. 3 — General election. (Several other elections seem certain to come up. Howard County Junior College is considering a bond issue. Big Spring school district is pondering a bond issue. Howard County may also call a bond election.)

Bonds, Trustees On School Agenda

Trustees and school administrators are currently studying an improvement program which could go as high as $4 1/2 million, which would make the bond issue the largest ever considered in the county, but which will probably have to be curtailed because of other more pressing needs. That figure is, however, within the maximum which the school system can spend for long-term indebtedness.

County Offices Are At Stake

There will be at least three and possibly four occasions in the present year when voters of Howard County will go to the polls for county-state-national elections.

Two College Posts Open; Bond Issue

Howard County Junior College district, which embraces all of the county, faces the prospect of two elections during 1964.

Initial date is the first primary May 2. At that primary, the voters will select from the candidates who have filed, the two high men in races for sheriff, district attorney, county attorney, tax assessor - collector, district court clerk, county commissioners (two seats), legislator, justice of the peace, congressman and U. S. senator.

City Election To Name Three Commissioners

City residents will go to the polls in April to elect three city commissioners.

Trustees have taken steps planning for new science and library buildings, and if plans come through and if a grant from the federal college facilities program is forthcoming, a referendum of a $500,000 bond proposal is likely.

Speaking of CONTACT LENSES Everyday, more and more people are expressing an interest in wearing contact lenses. If you are interested in wearing them, you'll want to know the following facts about TSO Micro-Sight Contact Lenses—unsurpassed in technical excellence, yet reasonable in cost. TSO Doctors of Optometry, through their vast experience in fitting more than 35,000 contact lens patients during the past 13 years, are highly skilled in this field. Their knowledge and experience acquired through these fittings have given them great insight for determining the variable optical and physical factors which affect the successful fitting of the individual. TSO contact lenses are made with an exclusive, highly-polished edge bevel. This is most important to adaptation, as well as to continued wearing comfort. In fact, until a short time ago, the edges of most contact lenses were not properly beveled. Under a powerful microscope, they appeared distinctly blunt. In TSO's laboratory, precise edge-beveling, polishing and curve-blending on both sides of every contact lens eliminates this edge bluntness. Thus, adaptation time is reduced and maximum possible wearing comfort is achieved. Only the finest quality optical-grade plastic and highly skilled workmanship go into the making of TSO Micro-Sight Contact Lenses. And, the TSO standard of quality is consistently maintained throughout processing by eight distinct, precision inspections. If you are considering contact lenses, join the more than 35,000 patients who have been successfully fitted with Micro-Sight Contact Lenses from TSO. Single vision contact lenses are $63, complete with professional eye examination, prescription and fitting. Bifocal contact lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra charge.

Filing Deadline Four Weeks Away

Four weeks remain during which men or women eager to serve their county, township, precinct or state can file their names as candidates for public office. Deadline for filing is the first Monday in February—Feb. 3 this year.

After getting off to a fast start early in January, the filing enthusiasm seems to have lagged. Ed Carpenter, legislator from the 78th Legislative District, has officially filed his name for re-election with Frank Hardesty, county Democratic chairman. Other than for Carpenter, the lists remain as they were.

Ralph Gossett, chairman of the Howard County Republican committee, said Friday that Howard Hall, operator of an automobile parts establishment, would be a Republican candidate for the post of County Commissioner Precinct 3. Gossett has said earlier that his party planned to push for a number of candidates at local levels in the forthcoming elections.

If Hall enters the list, the field of candidates for Joe Hayden's post on the county commissioners court will be the second most crowded of the field. He has already drawn one opponent in his own party—B. N. Borroughs. There are three out for the post of sheriff, A. G. Mitchell, A. N. Standard and Bill Long. No Republican has announced in this race.

Rufus Stallings, commissioner from Precinct 1, has not made a move to seek re-election. A week ago, he said he did not think he would run again. A. F. (Shorty) Long, former county juvenile officer, has filed for the post and is unopposed so far.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, has filed for district attorney. Gil Jones, incumbent, has not filed but is expected to do so within the next few days.

Burns' action in seeking the district attorney's post left his own job open, and Lanny Hamby, young lawyer, has filed as a candidate for county attorney. No one has come out against him.

Zirah LeFevre, county tax-assessor-collector, has announced her candidacy for re-election and no one has contested her bid so far.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, who is actually seeking his first elective term in the office he holds, is also unopposed. Cox was appointed to the office in January, 1963 and his appointment was effective only until the first general election after his appointment.

Another Week For Harvest To End

One more week and the 1963 cotton harvest will be completed.

This is the report from Howard and Dawson counties. Glasscock County, to all practical purposes, is complete now. Martin County may take a few days longer but all of the immediate Big Spring area is within sight of the finish.

Through Friday afternoon Howard County gins had handled 38,547 bales. If the 42,500 bale estimate for the total crop is correct, then there are a few less than 4,000 bales to be handled. In the interval Jan. 3-10, the gins processed 6,300 bales. And, it is pointed out, there was one day when the strippers were kept out of the field by a skim of snow.

Therefore, the Texas Employment Commission office believes that, weather holding good, the ginning finale of the season should be reached within one more week.

The report from Glasscock County a week ago was 12,703 bales ginned. TEC had no additional bales to add to this total so it is assumed the crop is in that county.

Martin County has ginned 50,956 bales of its estimated 75,000 bale crop. The county is probably further behind with its cotton than any county in the immediate district. However, with good weather, the gins should be well in sight of the end within another week.

Dawson County has less than 6,000 bales of its 165,000 bale crop yet to gin. It has already handled 150,420 bales. The Lamesa TEC office said it would make its final check this coming weekend. No further report will be made until February when the last official count will be tabulated.

In Big Spring, the TEC said it would make one more check for the current week and then shut down its operations until Feb. 7. By that time, regardless of weather or other problems, the last bale should be out of the fields.

Sweetwater TEC ceased checking its four counties a week ago. The office will have a final report like the other offices early in February.

To Open Bids

LAMESA (SC)—Bids will be opened on road construction in the western portion of Dawson County Jan. 27. The project, to be financed from county funds, will consist of paving of 3.95 miles south of Sand from US 180 west of Lamesa.

Inspection Time Elapses Rapidly

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas vehicle owners will have a long wait to get their cars and trucks inspected if they don't hurry up. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety said Saturday.

Garrison said that while 60 per cent of the allotted inspection period has elapsed, only 20 per cent of the vehicles have been inspected.

The deadline is April 15. "Some 5,000 official inspection stations over the state are waiting to inspect 4 million vehicles," Garrison said. "There can be no extension of time."

Passenger To Have Fast Trip Here From Spain

By M. A. WEBB

When a passenger can leave Saragossa, Spain, at 8 a.m. and arrive in Midland, Texas, at 9:45 p.m. the same day, he is traveling fast.

Mrs. Marjio (Thixton) Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thixton, Big Spring, was scheduled to do just that yesterday. Her husband, Airman Howard Walker, has been stationed at Saragossa, Spain, and is being transferred to an air base in Montana Jan. 23. Mrs. Walker and two children are coming ahead of time and will spend some time in Big Spring.

"Somehow there is a time-change in the trip to New York, to Dallas, and to Midland," Cecil Thixton said. "She gains or loses seven hours—I don't know which. Anyway she is to arrive in New York at 2 p.m., lay over until 5 p.m., and get into Dallas at 7:30, and to Midland at 9:45 p.m., where we will meet her."

Anyhow that's fast flying and covering a lot of miles.

High winds and some "salty" weather have held down flying time out at Howard County Airport this week. Transient traffic has not been heavy and flying club members have chosen to stay on the ground.

Big Spring Flying Club members checking out aircraft for the week were: Colt — Cutler (2); Skyhawk—Wayne Bartlett, Jo Polone and Joe Clark.

Webb Aero Club, with three aircraft usable and one coming up, showed the following flying: Cessna 150 — Norrington (4); Campbell (4); Fennell (4); Roeloffs; Colt—Pagen (cross country); Tri-pacer—none.

Trans-Texas Airways reports December as the best passenger month in TTA's 16-year history. A total of 50,610 passengers were carried on the air-

Cotton Prices, Demand Are Best Of The Season

A few days of clear moderate weather have allowed harvesting operations to get under way again. With favorable weather conditions, the cotton harvest should be complete in about one more week, says B. B. Manly Jr., in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Cotton Classing Office in Abilene.

Around 470,000 bales will be produced in 23 cotton producing counties served by the Abilene office, and the temporary office at Munday. The sub-office at Munday is open only during the active ginning season. A. D. Peebles was in charge again this season. The office classed 82,874 samples, near the 88,755 classes last season, but far below the record 115,217 classed in 1961. The Abilene office should class around 390,000 this season, compared with 363,932 samples last year.

Production figures this year were surprising, especially on dry land. Although there was a lack of moisture, the crop apparently matured well, and micronaire readings and "lint turnouts" were excellent. Grades and especially staples were effected some.

Production from irrigated acreage was not as good as expected in many cases. Insects and a hot dry summer took its toll in the irrigated cotton. Long staple varieties with high "Pressley readings" (an instrument that measures breaking strength of cotton) sold at a premium, bringing up to 2 1/2 cents per pound above the loan rate.

The market was steady and fairly active. At times it was slow, but most any time cotton could be sold at a premium over the loan, except those grades above Mid Lt Sp, 31-32. Around two-thirds of the local crop sold.

During the past week prices and demand for cotton have been better than at any other period this season. Mid Lt Sp, 15-16 is bringing 29.65 to 30.05 cents per pound; SLM Lt Sp and LM Lt Sp, 15-16 28.55 to 29.10 cents per pound; and Mid Sp, 15-16 28.10 to 28.40. The prices quoted above are net prices to the producer, that is, it is the price the producer receives after warehouse and hauling charges are deducted. Some of these prices are below the gross loan price, however, by the time loan charges are deducted, they would be near loan prices.

Monitor Kits Arrive For Lamesa CD

LAMESA (SC) — Another phase of Lamesa - Dawson County civil defense organization has been completed with the arrival of a dozen radiological monitoring kits. The kits will be placed in 12 monitoring stations that have been approved by the state. More than two dozen radiological monitors have been trained locally. They include Donald W. Archer, Lloyd Cotton, Arris Whitehead, Blaine Wiggins, John Gray, Eugene Jones, Nolen Cope, Paul Oswald, A. G. Gray, Dale Kidd, Johnny Smith, Jack Rogers, Bob Goolsby, Jack Sanders, F. M. Seay, J. D. McAmis, Archie Gillit, Glen Williams, Perry Land, Weldon Page, Rufus Pruitt, Jerry Schaeffer, Jimmy Morris and Horace Wood.

Approved stations are private fallout shelters, public buildings or residences. Monitors are permanently assigned to the various stations.

line's six-state system during December, a 66.9 per cent increase over the 36,318 passengers carried in the same month in 1962. The previous record month was November, 1963 when 48,233 passengers were carried. Revenue passenger miles were up 53.2 per cent over December a year ago. Available seat miles showed a 56.2 per cent increase during the year. The load factor for December was 35.76 per cent compared to 35.99 per cent a year ago. "The jump in passengers carried was due in part to the completion of TTA's expansion program resulting from the Civil Aeronautics Board's final decision in the Southwestern Area Local Service Case. As a result, TTA now serves 13 new cities in Texas and New Mexico, highlighted by new non-stop service between Houston and Dallas, and Houston and Austin." Max A. King, vice president of traffic and sales, has announced.

Heaviest Smokers Face Most Danger To Health

there is increased mortality from this among smokers, but the evidence is not sufficient to establish the cause and effect link.

7. Infant birth weight—women who smoke cigarettes during pregnancy tend to have babies of lower than usual birth weight. But information is lacking on the mechanism by which this decrease in birth rate is produced.

The report said that available evidence suggests the existence of some constitutional differences between smokers and nonsmokers but it is still too meager to permit a conclusion.

As to mortality among cigarette smokers the report declared that one study has shown that the death rate for smokers of cigarettes only is about 70 per cent higher than that for nonsmokers.

AMOUNT

"The death rates increase with the amount smoked," the report added.

The report said that in most parts of the nation cigarette smoking contributes to chronic lung and bronchial ailments much more than does air pollution.

Terry told newsmen who were given an hour and a half to study the report before its release that it "has provided us with the most comprehensive compilation and analysis ever undertaken on the relationship between smoking and health."

"You will have noted," Terry said, "that the committee's report does not cover what 'appropriate remedial action' might be. It was not a part of the responsibility of this committee to make such recommendations."

"I can assure the committee that we will move promptly to determine what remedial health measures the Public Health Service should take. Secretary (of Welfare) Celebrezze has asked me to analyze the report and make recommendations to him."

WANT VIEWS

"The staff of the Public Health Service is only now receiving the report and I shall, of course, want their views before making our recommendations. I am sure that other departments and agencies of the federal government, along with nonfederal agencies, will also take the report under consideration promptly," Terry added.

Asked whether the committee's report could now be considered to represent the government's official thinking on the subject of smoking and health, Terry replied that it could not. "On the other hand, having had the opportunity to go over it, I can assure you it is an excellent report," he added.

Asked when government action of any kind would be taken on the report, Terry replied: "NO FOOT DRAGGING. It would be inappropriate for me to try to say when. But in our (Public Health Service) department, this matter is considered of such importance that I do not believe there will be any foot dragging."

In saying that on the basis of the committee's findings he as a doctor would recommend against smoking, Terry said that "in the light of a clear-cut association" between smoking and lung cancer as found by the committee, he would say that if anyone continued to smoke "he should do it with a recognition that he is subjecting himself to a definite health risk."

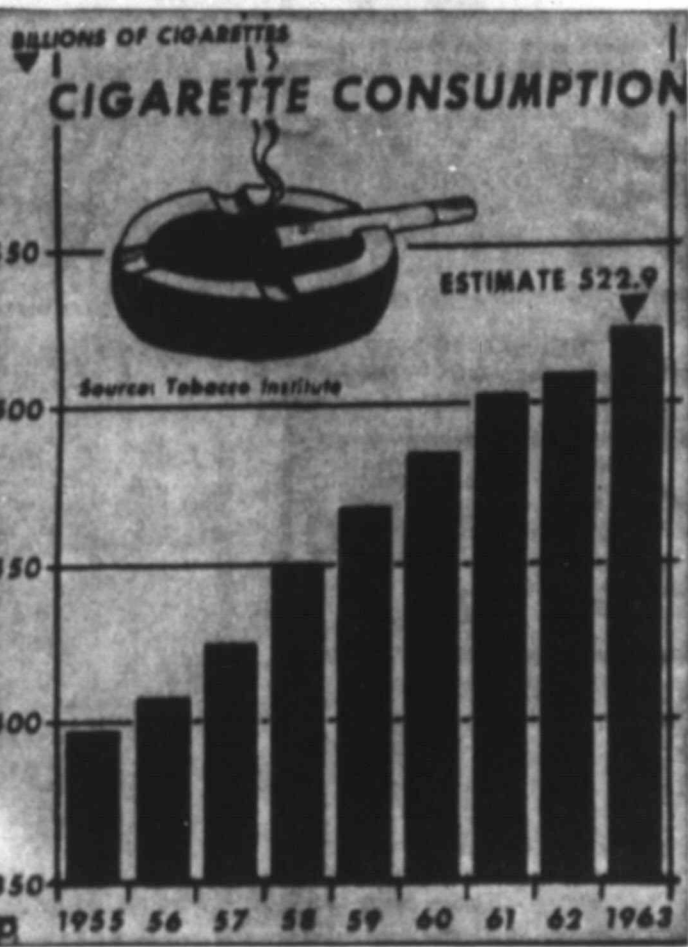

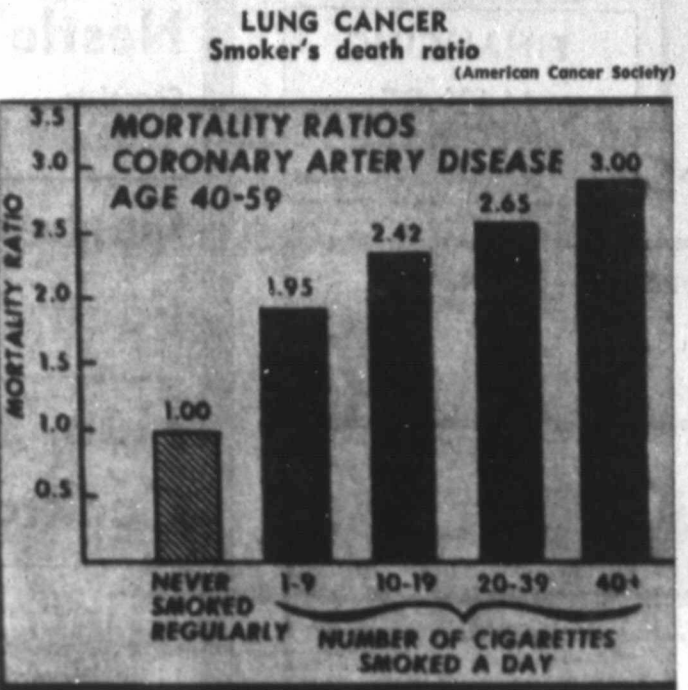

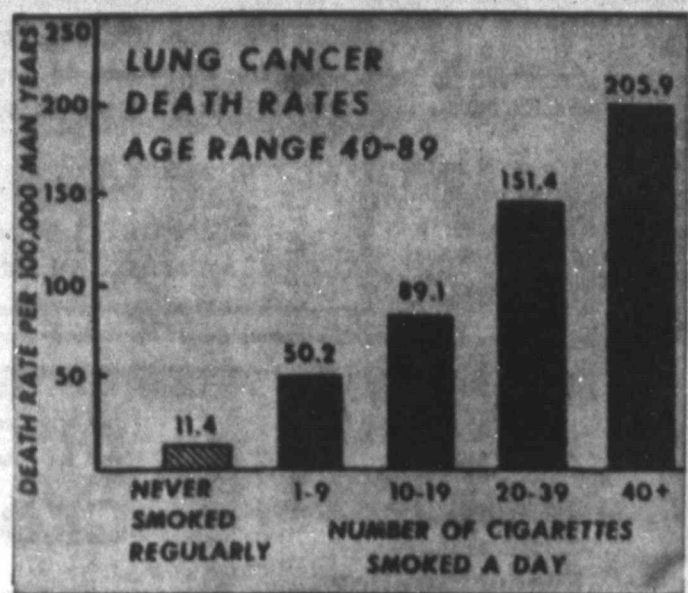

The surgeon general said copies of the report are being sent to members of Congress "and to the heads of other federal agencies who have an interest in the findings and conclusions."

He added that copies are also being mailed to the governors of the states, the state health officers, voluntary health agencies, representatives of industry and labor, and others concerned. And within the next few weeks, he said, the report will be sent to every physician and osteopath in the country.

In another of its major findings the document said:

"Cigarette smoking is associated with a 70 per cent increase in the age-specific death rates of males and to a lesser extent to increased death rates of females.

"The total number of excess deaths causally related to cigarette smoking in the U.S. population cannot be accurately estimated.

As regards the illnesses in which it declared cigarette smoking was a particular hazard, the report put it this way:

Lung cancer — "Cigarette smoking is causally related to lung cancer in men; the magnitude of the effect of cigarette smoking far outweighs all other factors. The data for women, though less extensive, point in the same direction.

"The risk of developing lung cancer increases with duration of smoking and the number of cigarettes smoked per day, and

Three Killed In Crash Of Light Plane

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three persons were killed in the crash of a small plane into a cluster of buildings at 11th and Oak in downtown Kansas City Saturday night, police said.

The bodies of a man, woman and child were found by police. The plane, groping through darkness, rain and snow, crashed into the 30-story Southwestern Bell Telephone office.

The plane, apparently headed toward Municipal Airport, sheared off a wing on the northeast corner of the building at the 26th floor. The remainder of the plane fell in pieces over a four-block area.

Part of the wreckage fell on the Union Bus Depot. Edgar Moore of Kansas City, who had just gotten off a bus from Leavenworth, Kan., said he was standing on the sidewalk at the corner of 11th and McGee, a block away.

"Pieces of an airplane came floating down around me," Moore said. "One wing landed a few feet away."

There was no fire and there were few if any people in the telephone office building when the plane struck in the heart of the downtown section a block from City Hall.

The man's body landed at a construction site near the telephone building. Bodies of the woman and boy fell on roofs of buildings.

Control tower personnel at the airport said there had been no radio contact with the pilot.

Coins Are Found

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Ephraim Brown 10, found a coin. He showed it to his grand-uncle. She fetched a cutlass and started digging and uncovered one $20 U. S. coin minted in 1860; two $10 pieces, 1880 and 1884, and British coins of various denominations, 1817-1890.

Active C-C Worker Wins Annual Title

Winston Wrinkle, 31, manager of radio station KBST, is the recipient of this year's Distinguished Service Award.

The plaque and recognition are given annually by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as a feature of the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, held Saturday night at Goliad Junior High.

The presentation was made by Charles Bell, president of the Big Spring Jaycees.

Wrinkle has served as president of the Jaycees, vice chairman of the United Fund, in the YMCA campaign, co-captain of the Quarterback Club, on the advisory board of the Salvation Army, is a member of the Downtown Lions Club, president of a First Baptist Church Sunday School class, member of the American Cancer Society and is an active leader in the Chamber of Commerce.

Among his Chamber functions are membership on the advertising and promotion committee, Try Big Spring First campaign, Ambassadors Club and is an incoming member of the Chamber's board of directors.

Wrinkle is a native of Springtown, Tex., completed public school there and went to Arlington State College for two years, where he was president of the Future Farmers of America. He transferred to Texas A&M and graduated in June, 1953, as a distinguished student and a distinguished military student with an Air Force commission.

After his two-year service hitch, he became a sales representative for Charles Pfizer & Co., a major chemical concern. With four promotions in as many years, he became products manager for Pfizer in New York City in 1959.

But an interest in advertising work plus the desire for his own business — and a longing for his native Texas — led Wrinkle to Big Spring in 1959 where he and associates purchased KBST.

Wrinkle and his wife, Betty, whom he married in 1954 while on Air Force duty, have four children — Susan, David, John and Robert. The Wrinkles live at 2919 MacAuslan.

He pointed out that the real beneficiary of the free enterprise system is not the executive, the manufacturer or the tycoon—but instead is the little man, the final consumer.

Nehru Turns India's Helm To Others

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru surrendered India's helm to two subordinates Saturday amid indications he is sicker than official statements have led the world to believe.

Home Minister Gulzari Lal Nanda, 65, and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari, 63, were assigned Nehru's routine duties and responsibility for carrying on the government for at least a week, an official source disclosed.

The decision for this temporary shift in the high command was communicated to President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, the figurehead chief of state, who is recovering from an eye operation.

Instead of returning to New Delhi as expected, Nehru remained under doctors' care in Bhubaneswar, the Orissa State capital 900 miles southeast of this city. Nehru, 74, was stricken by fatigue and high blood pressure there Tuesday after attending part of the 1964 convention of his ruling Congress party.

He is not expected to be consulted on anything less than major policy decisions for a month or more and may never be able to resume the 16-hour days he had been working.

Several speculative questions were raised in New Delhi: Is he too weak to travel? Does he want to avoid a public appearance at the airport, in view of what has been officially described as a slight weakness of the left arm and leg? Is he suffering from a brain tumor?

Health Minister Sushila Nayar shook her head when she was asked whether Nehru had a brain tumor.

"I don't think so," she said. Herself a physician, Mrs. Nayar said Nehru is on the way to recovery, but "is not perfectly all right yet."

PANAMA

10-mile-wide, 50-mile-long Canal Zone. It declared the canal must be placed either under international control or nationalized under Panama.

About 300 Panamanians took part in the four-hour demonstration at Colon. In addition to burning the switch house they set fire to cross ties for about 25 feet along the tracks. A Panamanian policeman trying to quiet the crowd was injured in a scuffle with a demonstrator.

Colon residents were reported making large food purchases, apparently stocking up in fear that stores would be forced to close.

89 HURT, DEAD

Latest Army figures said 89 U.S. soldiers and civilian personnel were dead or wounded. Panama put its wounded into the hundreds. The three soldiers were killed by sniper fire at Cristobal on the Atlantic side of the zone.

U.S. officials in Washington said reports reaching there indicated that a sizable number of the 20 Panamanians killed did not die as a result of U.S. military action, but from actions of the rioters themselves.

The reports said hospital reports on 13 victims indicated that seven died from such causes as suffocation in a fire or from Molotov cocktails huried by rioters.

Five bodies were recovered from a fire in the Pan-American Building in Panama City. There were reports here that the bodies also had bullet holes.

Advices to Washington reported also that the U.S. Army commander in the Canal Zone, Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, said his troops fired only nine rounds of small-caliber ammunition during Thursday night's fighting.

Rape Trial Date Set

LAMESA (SC) — District Attorney George H. Hansard said he will seek the death penalty in a rape case against a 17-year-old Houston Negro who was indicted Jan. 2 by the Dawson County grand jury in a special session.

Trial date has been set for Feb. 4 in 106th District Court. Judge Truett Smith has ordered a special venire of 75 persons summoned for 10 a.m.

Court-appointed defense attorneys are Ray Renner, Lamesa, and Kent Waggoner, Lubbock. Byars, who has been held in the Dawson County jail since Dec. 25—alleged date of the attack—allegedly attacked a Welch woman.

Highway Work Meeting Held

LAMESA (SC) — A pre-construction safety meeting for upcoming work on State Highway 137 in Dawson County has been held.

Construction on the highway from Lamesa to the Terry County line is due to get underway Jan. 16. Contractor is James C. Kerr, Lubbock, and the project is scheduled for completion in 180 working days.

The work will include new curbs, rebuilding, reshaping, and seven grade changes. Widening of the street, and new curb-gutter work within the city limits is also scheduled.

Traffic will be routed on half of the highway during the construction period and the road will be zoned for 45 mile an hour traffic.

Eagles To Meet National Prexy

Several members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles are expected to go from here today to Midland for a 3 p.m. meeting in the FOE Hall to welcome the national president.

Grand Worthy President and Mrs. Herschel McWilliams will be guests of honor. With them will be George Larkin, Houston, state president, and Mrs. Larkin, also Ed Steffler, San Antonio, state secretary. All Eagles in the area have been urged to attend this meeting.

Panelist Plans To Quit Smoking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the five smokers on the panel of ten scientists which wrote Saturday's report on smoking and health, one says he plans to quit.

The panel included one Texan, Dr. Charles S. Lemaistre of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School. A pipe and cigar smoker, Dr. Lemaistre said, "I'm taking a long look at the habit. If I were a cigarette smoker, I'd certainly quit."

Youth Fellowship To Meet Today

A covered dish dinner is in prospect today for the Presbyterian Youth Fellowship. All junior high and high school young people are invited.

Members of the Senior High and Pioneer Youth groups are asked to bring a dish to the church by 5:30 p.m. Susie Hubbard, worship chairman, will preside over the Senior High group Bible study. Other activities are planned.

At the last meeting of the fellowship, Kathy Seddon discussed means of improving attendance and how to make the youth work more meaningful.

Kathy is from St. Paul Presbyterian Church and holds the office of district co-moderator. She talked about plans for the district rally, set tentatively for Big Spring in the spring.

Mrs. Talbot Seeks Commission Post

Mrs. Harold (Lorraine) Talbot Friday filed as a candidate for the Big Spring City Commission, and her name will appear on the ballot for the April 7 election.

She is the first to submit her name in the municipal referendum, and as far as available records disclose, she is the first woman ever to seek a City Commission post.

Mrs. Talbot offered a brief public statement which said:

"At the request of many people representing all walks of life throughout the City of Big Spring, I have decided to announce my candidacy for the City Commission. This decision was reached after many hours of deliberation.

"I am entering this race fully conscious of its demand on the elected official's time, and fully aware of its many responsibilities.

"If elected I will do my utmost to represent the best interests of the citizens of Big Spring."

Mrs. Talbot has been prominently identified with many civic and public activities in the city, where she has been a resident since 1946.

Born Lorraine Gaida in Yorktown, Texas, she finished public schools there and attended Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio. She was married to Harold Talbot, member of a pioneer Howard County family, in 1943 while he was in service, and they came here to live after his discharge. They reside at 409 Washington Blvd., and have two sons, 17 and 14.

Mrs. Talbot is a past president of the Big Spring Music Study Club; past president of the Xi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and now in the Preceptor Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi; she has been a director of the Big Spring Concert Association and currently is president of the 1948 Hyperion Club. She is a member of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

Three vacancies will be filled in the city election this year, as the terms of George Zachariah, W. L. Thompson and Arnold Marshall expire.

Don Brooks, KHEM, is coordinating chairman for the auction, and will handle the pickup of donated items.

"We would like to emphasize the importance of this auction to raise funds for the March of Dimes," Brooks said, "and would like to stress the need for usable items of any kind, suitable for sale at auction, in helping this drive. Just give us your name and location, and we will see that items are picked up and delivered in time for the auction."

MRS. HAROLD TALBOT

MOD Sale Scheduled

A March of Dimes auction has been set for Jan. 26 at the Dub Bryant Auction House, 1008 E. 3rd. Bryant has volunteered his services and facilities for the auction-method of raising money for the March of Dimes.

Big Spring residents, who have anything of value which they will donate for sale at the auction, are requested to call the information to the Herald, AM 4-4331, or Radio Station KHEM, AM 4-2523. Arrangements are being made to have items picked up and delivered to the Auction House.

Free Rodeo

LAMESA (SC) — The West Texas Barrel Racers' Association will meet here today to stage a free rodeo at the rodeo grounds beginning at 2 p.m. Competition will include barrel racing, pole bending, goat tying and flag racing events. Girls from an area bounded by Nona, Lampasas and Del Rio will compete.

Beauty Salon Opens Tuesday In CP Center

Formal opening of College Park Beauty Salon has been announced for Tuesday by Oma McCown, owner, and Mrs. Odessa Wells, manager. The new salon is located next door and east of Modesta's Inc.

"The six-operator shop will be open Monday through Saturday," the owner-manager said. "We invite old friends and customers to visit us. Our motto is 'we need your head in our business.' Gifts and refreshments will be served opening day—Tuesday."

Oma McCown opened the first beauty shop in Big Spring over the Cunningham and Phillips Drug Store No. 1 on Main Street. She also operated a beauty shop at 1603 Scurry for nine years. For the past nine years she has owned Oma's Beauty Salon in Odessa.

Mrs. Wells is a native of Big Spring. "I have been in the business too long to mention," she said, "but have been an operating beautician nearly all my life."

Carpenter Files For Re-Election

Ed J. Carpenter announced Saturday that he is seeking the Democratic nomination for re-election as state representative from the 78th Legislative District.

Most of his adult life has been spent as a resident of Howard County, and he has served the county both as a commissioner and as county judge. He was elected to his first term in the legislature in 1962.

"In announcing my candidacy for re-election as your state representative," said Carpenter, "I want to thank the people of the 78th District for their loyal support in the past.

"I pledge my continued best efforts toward those things which are good for this district and area, and indeed for the people of Texas.

"Congressional redistricting is one of the most pressing problems which must be solved by the 59th session of the legislature. I feel that my friendly relations with every member of the legislature, the contacts I have managed to establish, and the degree of seniority I have attained will all be of great help in serving my constituents in this most important legislation, and in other opportunities to effectively represent the people.

"I will do my best to express appreciation for your support by giving my dead, level best to this position of honor and trust."

Deadline Looms For Inspections

AUSTIN—Texas vehicle owners have been reminded that the 1964 vehicle inspection deadline soon will be upon them.

Col. Homer Garrison, Texas Public Safety Department director, reported 60 per cent of the allotted inspection period has elapsed, yet only 20 per cent of the vehicles have been inspected.

"If this trend continues, vehicle owners can expect to have to wait in line in order to get their vehicles inspected by the April 15 deadline," he said. There can be no extension of time.

Garrison pointed out that Texas has experienced its worst traffic fatality record in 1963 and vehicle defects were involved in some of these fatal accidents.

Steer Express Is Slowed By Cooper

ABILENE — The Big Spring Steers experienced a cold night shooting from the floor and dropped a 60-47 District 2-AAAA basketball decision to Abilene Cooper, here Friday night.

The contest was a battle of unbeatens and Cooper pulled away to stay after the opening period.

Most Improved Golfers

There's a lot of golfers playing the game at the Big Spring Country Club, but two stand out because of their vast improvement over the past 12 months. They're Curt Thurman (left) and Raymond Smith. The tandem was awarded certificates by Jerry Green, club pro, for being the most improved golfers.

Bowlers Poised For Big Meet

DALLAS (AP)—The all-star bowling tournament opens Wednesday, its luster dimmed only slightly by the absence of two of the game's brightest stars.

Most all-star's perennial favorites will be on hand, however, to be challenged by a brilliant crop of rookies.

Hardwick, 22, a pro from San Mateo, Calif., recently won the Professional Bowlers Association championship and was the leading money winner on the PBA's 1963 tour with more than $32,000. St. John, of Bellwood, Ill., six weeks ago won the world's invitational, a tournament almost identical in format.

Bill Hardwick and Jim St. John won't be among the 432 contestants event.

Hardwick, 22, a pro from San Mateo, Calif., recently won the Professional Bowlers Association championship and was the leading money winner on the PBA's 1963 tour with more than $32,000.

Marion Ladewig, 49, grandmother who has won eight all-star women's tiaras, will defend her title against a rising flood of youngsters who are envious of the matriarch's long domination.

The Grand Rapids, Mich., veteran captured last year's title by a thin margin in a match with Bobbie Shaler of Chicago.

Many Americans are concerned about the ease of life in our country today—and what it may do to our children. Will the "soft living" of our times bring a continuing decline in their physical and moral stamina? This could happen if our children aren't encouraged to develop their bodies as well as their minds. Parents should insist on a minimum of 15 minutes of vigorous activity each school day—for every boy and every girl. Tell your school officials about your concern. For information about a program that your school—any school—can put into effect promptly, write the President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D. C.

Lobos Start With TLC

ALPINE — A 10-game 1964 football schedule for the Sul Ross State College Lobos has been announced by David Slaughter, head coach and athletic director.

The slate includes four home games and six on the road.

Non-conference opponents include Texas Lutheran College, Eastern New Mexico University, McMurry College and Angelo State College.

Last year, SRSC finished at the bottom of the heap in the LSC chase with a dismal 2-7 record. Four of the losses were by a total of 14 points, however, and the Lobos led in eight of the 10 games.

The schedule: Sept. 12, Texas Lutheran University of Portland, N. M.; Sept. 26, McMurry at Alpine; Oct. 3, Southwestern State at Alpine; Oct. 12, Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches; Oct. 20, East Texas State at Alpine; Oct. 27, Texas A&M at Kingsville; Nov. 7, Angelo State College at San Angelo; Nov. 14, Howard Payne at Alpine; and Nov. 21, Sam Houston State at Huntsville.

Boosters Meet At 3:00 Today

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Quarterback Club will hold an important meeting at 3 p.m. today in the High School Auditorium.

Club officials are urging all members to be in attendance. A total of $102 was raised in the recent benefit basketball games sponsored by the club and that money will be used to go toward the purchase of a whirlpool bath for the use of the athletic teams.

Bud Was Ever The Pessimist In Football

By The Associated Press
Bud Wilkinson's father thought there was no future in football coaching. So Bud Wilkinson is quitting—47 and after three national championships, a record 47-game winning string and 17 seasons as head coach at Oklahoma.

Wilkinson probably will seek a seat in the U.S. Senate. The step had been rumored for some time. The Minnesota is widely regarded as the most popular man in the state of Oklahoma, the man who helped the state cure a "Grapes of Wrath" complex.

He is noted for his quick, lean and beautifully-drilled football teams, and a toothy smile that melted the mothers of promising linebackers with one glance.

A guard himself in his early playing days at Minnesota, he liked his guards lean and fast. "Bud keeps them gaunt, he likes to see their cheekbones," other coaches said.

Despite his success, Wilkinson was a leading member of the coaching pessimists club. His wife Mary said he was sincere about viewing each coming game with the deepest alarm, although in other phases of life he was "optimistic and cheerful."

"I just wish he wouldn't fret and stew so much," she said once. "But I guess it's just his nature—some people are just worriers."

She said he fretted and stewed all week before every game, until Friday night. "That's his best night to sleep," she said. "He feels he has done all he can for the team and he just shuts it off."

Wilkinson—his given names are Charles Burnham—is the son of a Minneapolis finance company owner. He played football at Minnesota under perfectionist Bernie Bierman in 1934-36, the first two as a guard, the third season as a blocking back.

The team lost one game during that span and was national champion in 1936. His father wanted Wilkinson to follow him into the business, but Wilkinson wanted to try his hand at coaching first. He went to Syracuse as an assistant and later was assistant at Minnesota, Iowa Pre-flight during his Navy service, and Oklahoma.

Jim Tatum taught him the Split-T and when Tatum moved to Maryland in 1947, Wilkinson moved up to head coach. He had five perfect seasons, national championships in 1950, 1956 and 1957, 12 straight Big Eight championships and an overall record of 145-29-4.

It was several years before Wilkinson's father was convinced the right decision had been made, but he finally came around, Mary said.

Wilkinson married the former Mary Shifflett, an Iowa girl who was his college sweetheart, in 1938. They have two sons, Pat, 23, and Jay, 21. Jay just completed a highly successful career as a quarterback at Duke and may go on to a pro career.

The Wilkinsons always have tried to keep their sons out of the spotlight. "Bud feels they are handicapped enough just having a well-known father, without having them subjected to a lot of publicity," Mrs. Wilkinson once said.

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's year-by-year won and lost record under football coach Bud Wilkinson, who resigned Saturday:

1928-29, beat North Carolina in Sugar Bowl, 14-6.
1929-30, beat Louisiana State in Sugar Bowl, 20-0.
1930-31, lost to Kentucky in Sugar Bowl, 12-7.
1931-32, 12-1.
1932-33, 12-1.
1933-34, beat Maryland in Orange Bowl, 7-0.
1934-35, beat Maryland in Orange Bowl, 20-6.
1935-36, beat Duke in Orange Bowl, 42-7.
1936-37, beat Syracuse in Orange Bowl, 21-0.
1937-38, 13-1.
1938-39, 13-1.
1939-40, lost to Alabama in Orange Bowl, 17-0.
1940-41, 9-0.

Texas Aggies Slam Longhorns, 65-60

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Aggies, thrusting back a second half rally by the Longhorns, defeated Texas 65-60 here Saturday to keep their perfect Southwest Conference basketball record.

The victory left the Aggies with a 3-0 conference mark while the loss dropped defending champion Texas to a 1-2 league record.

The Aggies managed to hold an edge throughout most of the game but the Longhorns tied the score 53-53 with less than 6 minutes left in the second half.

The Aggies pulled ahead after the first few minutes of play and at halftime had a 29-25 advantage.

Although he was held below his usual scoring, Lenox was the top point maker of the game with 17. Tommy Nelms was high for Texas with 18 points.

Eagles Down Bobcats, 75-64

SAN ANGELO—The Abilene Eagles finally won their first District 2-AAAA basketball game Friday night after three starts as they toppled the luckless San Angelo Bobcats, 75-64. The Bobcats are still seeking their first win in the loop and stand 0-3.

With Bill Marvin and Buzzie Myatt pumping in 19 points apiece for the Eagles, Abilene jumped to an early lead and never relinquished it. Ronnie Henson led San Angelo with 20 points.

Abilene hit 48 per cent of their shots from the floor while San Angelo hit 30 per cent.

ABILENE (75)—Hodgins 10-2; Kephart 15-2; L. Newberry 2-4; Marvin 9-17; Myatt 3-15; L. Smith 1-2; M. Smith 4-12; Wilburn 6-14; Wray 1-2. Totals 75-64.

SAN ANGELO (64)—Henson 7-20; Drown 4-8; O'Connell 2-4; Allen 3-11; L-4; White 3-6; Totals 64-75.

FRIDAY NIGHT
LOS ANGELES—Sugar Homes, 115; Mustang City, outwitted Vicente Dorado, 113; Arroyo, 10.

MILAN, Italy—Angel Robinson Garcia, 136lb., Paris, defeated Giovanni Campar, 136lb., Italy 10, Oscar Miranda, 148 lb., Argentina, outpointed Norberto Parada, 146, Spain, 8.

for men in the Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Crane, Ft. Stockton, Kermit, Pecos, Andrews, McCombs, Seminole and Lamasa areas should be the average earnings. Good men will exceed this. No previous sales experience necessary if you are ambitious and place a high value on integrity and self respect. We will train you so that your earnings will begin the first week. If this sounds interesting, see Alvin G. Martin or James E. Carroll at the Sands Motel in Midland Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 10 a.m., 3 p.m. or 7 p.m. No calls, please. Please be prompt.

Rams Ramble By Wranglers

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo College Rams found the range Friday night and leveled the Odessa College Wranglers, 101-86, as five SAC players hit in the double figures.

Charles Spieker led the winners with 18 points but was outpointed by two Wranglers—Stan Heaps with 26 and Keifer with 19.

The game was close at the end of the first period but the Rams began to hit consistently and ran up a 52-33 margin by halftime.

Odessa (86)—Hess 8-10; Omba 2-7; Buchanan 2-17; Elmer 4-7; Kuhn 2-4; Kuntzki 3-7; Jeff 1-0-2; Babin 0-0-1; Imms 0-0-1; Haines 0-2-2; Totals 86-101.

A Growing Boy

Van Tom Whitley (left), at 5-feet-7, one of the shortest boys on the Big Spring High School basketball team, takes a look at sophomore Paul Thomas, who stands 6-7 and is still growing. Thomas didn't get to play in Friday night's double-header at Abilene Cooper because he had already appeared in two games during the week.

Spirit Returns To Buff Teams, Milam Reminds

By PAT WASHBURN
STANTON — The Buffalo Booster Club held its annual football banquet Friday night in the high school gym as 120 persons were on hand to honor the Stanton gridders and listen to head coach Bill Milam give the principal talk.

Although the seniors couldn't be on a winning team, Milam told the crowd, they could still be proud of the fact that they had returned spirit to Stanton's football field.

"My only regret in losing these seniors," he said, "is that they will not be around for another two years to see development of what they have started this season. I've grown very close to these boys and I'm very proud of them."

He reminded the crowd that although, when he took over as coach, the team was inexperienced, they had still gone through the entire season and never given up. Better things are to come next year, he said.

During the course of his talk, Milam presented a football, which will be autographed by the team, to Stanton White, vice president of the Booster Club.

"There was always one man that was with us," Milam said of White. "When we made our trips he was always there rooting for us. When we lost a game he was always there. He was always at every practice and he was in the locker-room. He was always there rooting for us no matter what happened."

Jimmy Stallings was the emcee. Musical entertainment was provided by a group from the high school band.

Winters Rips C-City, 80-60

WINTERS — The Winters blizzards, paced by hot-shooting Jimmy Adams and Scotty Belew, thundered resoundingly past the Colorado City Wolves Friday night, 80-60.

Adams accounted for 29 while Belew collected 25 in a game that saw the Blizzards jump out to a 20-14 first period lead and a 40-30 halftime margin.

The Wolves, led by Pete Garrett, cut the margin to two points at the end of the third stanza, but then went cold in the final minutes. Garrett led CC with 15 points.

Robbins Back From Convention

The take of the Orange Bowl teams was about $7,000 each less than the hauls made by Navy and Texas the past New Year's Day. . . . The Middies and the Longhorns each were paid $200,000 . . . In 1953, the Orange Bowl foes (Auburn and Michigan) received only $12,500 each . . . Since the inception of the Orange Bowl, a total of $5,000,476 has been paid to participating teams and Miami has collected $1,855,794 in stadium rentals . . . An estimated 40,000 visitors to Miami for the last bowl game there spent an estimated $5 million in the area . . . Don Robbins, the local high school football mentor, attended the NCAA Coaches convention in New York City last week and will probably make it to the Coach of the Year Clinic in Dallas, scheduled for Jan. 23-25 . . . The clinic at Dallas, by the way, will offer Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, Nebraska's Bob

Hale Will Again Work State Meet

Boyce Hale, Big Spring's veteran basketball referee, has been named to officiate in the State High School Girls' tournament in Austin for the second straight year . . . The meet takes place March 12-14 . . . A plan was afoot to televise at least one HCJC basketball game this season but it never jelled . . . There is a good possibility a Jayhawk contest will be on TV next year . . . Buddy Travis, basketball coach at HCJC, said it: "This is the hustlingest bunch of boys I've ever had here" . . . The Hawks, by the way, lost Roby Radley of Houston due to low grades recently and three other members of the squad are borderline cases in their grades . . . Lubbock Christian College got the tar waled out of it in San Angelo one night and then fought HCJC down to the wire before losing the next evening . . . Coach Travis explained it by saying: "Lubbock Christian thought it could beat us" . . . As far as that goes, every Western Conference foe points for HCJC and that's hard to understand, in view of SAC's enduring successes on the court . . . There's no doubt but that the Hawks' trips into Oklahoma and Kansas have done them immense good, even though they have had to take their lumps most of the time . . . John Malaise had to take a salary cut of about $1,500 when he quit coaching basketball at Odessa High School . . . He now spends some of his time traveling the road to and from Lubbock, where his son, sophomore Dubby, is emerging as a star of the first magnitude for Texas Tech . . . At Sturgeon Bay, Wis., last year, two men chopped diligently through 30 inches of ice to go ice fishing . . . They found only 2 1/2 inches of water underneath . . . Seems they'd chiseled directly above a sand bar . . . Cloudercraft, N. M., which hosts many Texas skiers each winter, expects 70 inches of snow annually.

$400,000 Gas Well Fire

This mushrooming flame towers 150-200 feet above the ground between Carlsbad and Artesia, N.M. It has been burning since Jan. 2, driven by 60 million cubic feet of gas per day. Red Adair, world-famous oil well firefighter, is on the scene. The torch was lit when drillers hit a gas pocket, igniting an explosion.

Two Runnels Explorers Are Spotted

Locations for two Runnels County wildcats have been spotted.

Roy Guffey Oil Company of Dallas No. 1-b Ira McNeill is slated as a 5,000-foot Gardner lime test, eight miles west of Winters.

The drillsite is 335 feet from south and 730 feet from west lines of R. A. W. Maulsby survey 15, abstract 663 and 1/4 mile northeast of the lone producer in the Wilmett, Southeast (lower Fray sand) pool, but separated by a 4,850-foot duster. It also is 1/4 mile northeast of Sunray DX Oil Company No. 1 McNeill, recently completed Gardner lime discovery.

Carl Robinson Drilling Company, Inc., of Abilene will drill No. 1 Nellie Lee Miller as a 4,700-foot Fray sand prospector two miles northeast of Winters. It is 1,500 feet from south-west and 460 feet from south-east lines of section 128, block 64, H&TC survey and 1/4 mile northeast of the Sanford (Fray sand) pool but separated from it by depleted producers.

Continental Oil Company No. 1-HH-2 State is slated as an 11,000-foot Ellenburger venture six miles southeast of Monument in Lea County, N.M.

The location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 2-21s-36e and four miles northwest of the Brunson (Ellenburger) pool. The nearest production is 1 1/2 miles west in the Oil Center (Blinberry) area.

No Surprises For Oilmen In Message

HOUSTON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union message contained no surprises for the oil industry.

The nearest the speech came to the industry was the President's request for "the earliest possible passage of the pending tax bill."

That bill, in its present form, would boost the domestic petroleum industry's taxes an estimated $40 million a year.

The Johnson speech was in sharp contrast with the State of the Union message President Kennedy delivered last Jan. 14.

Kennedy did not single out the oil industry by name but most oilmen said he had their controversial 27 1/2 per cent depletion tax allowance in mind when he called for a new tax structure that would eliminate "unfair and unnecessary preferences."

This led to widespread speculation Kennedy would make a direct attack on the depletion allowance in his Jan. 24 special message to Congress on mineral industries taxes.

No direct attack developed but Kennedy called for the elimination of "unintentional defects" and submitted four oil tax recommendations that would have boosted the industry's taxes about $300 million a year. The House accepted only one of the four and pared the industry's proposed tax hike to the $40 million included in the bill now pending in the Senate.

As a senator, Kennedy, with

Since the Jan. 24 mineral tax message, many oilmen have frequently but privately credited Johnson with having persuaded Kennedy not to make a direct attack on depletion.

Oilmen expect new Senate attacks on the depletion allowance within the next few weeks but expect no help from Johnson, who directed the successful Senate floor defenses in 1958, 1959 and 1960.

Buddy Whitten Selected As OIC Zone Chairman

D. C. (Buddy) Whitten, production manager for American Petrofina at Big Spring, has been named a zone chairman in the area for the Oil Information Committee.

Announcement of the appointment was made Saturday by James R. Shute, Gulf Oil Corporation, who is continuing as OIC chairman for the 18 counties in the organization.

Whitten, by reason of heading zone three, will be an area vice chairman. His zone consists of Glasscock, Sterling and Howard counties. Other chairmen in this area include Harold A. Lack, Snyder, for Mitchell, Borden and Scurry counties; John H. Moore, Midland, for Midland, Reagan and Martin counties; and Fred G. Courtney, Andrews, for Andrews, Dawson and Gaines.

The OIC program, designed to interpret the oil industry to the public, consists of community programs such as speeches, films and demonstrations, information via communication media, special exhibits, a program of informational materials for teachers and pupils, special events, etc.

Shute announced these other area officers:

Vic W. Grotlich of The Western Company, a former area chairman, will serve his second successive year as area vice chairman.

Orval H. Crews of Great Western Drilling Company will succeed himself as area school chairman.

Eugene M. Knight of Pan American Petroleum Corporation will continue to work with the Area's essay program and Marlis E. Smith of the same company, and former central area chairman before moving to Midland, will serve as co-chairman with Knight.

John M. Reid of Shell Oil Company will be program coordinator and expediter and the following will work with him in the indicated capacities: James C. Watson of The Midland Reporter-Telegram, publicity; Dan A. North, Humble Oil & Refining Company, public affairs and organizations; Homer C. Doughty, Wilson Supply Company, men's organizations; Pam Exendine, Richfield Oil Compaarrangements committee for the American Petroleum Institute's Southwestern District meeting to be held March 18-20 at the Scharbauer Hotel in Midland.

TULSA — A. Neil Maples has been appointed salesman for Jones and Laughlin Supply Division in Kermit.

Maples has been with Jones and Laughlin since 1955 at Tulsa, Okla. He has since worked in Sherman, Graham, Snyder and Big Spring, Texas.

FORT WORTH — The Western Company is continuing expansion of both services and personnel with construction of a new headquarters building in Fort Worth. The announcement was issued by Fred D. Crowther, president, and H. E. Chiles, chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

The firm has been based in Fort Worth since 1959. It is composed of well completion services and research divisions, with operations located throughout the southwest. It was founded in Seagraves in 1939.

The new building, at 2525 Ridgmar Blvd., will have 49,858 square feet. Completion date is Aug. 1, 1964.

NEW ORLEANS — Review of progress and study of future prospects for the agricultural ammonia industry will be the purpose of the 13th annual convention of the Agricultural Ammonia Institute to be held at the Jung Hotel here Jan. 15-17.

The industry has just completed one of its most successful years, with sales showing an increase of about 30 per cent, according to an AAI survey.

Speakers for the three-day program will include Clayton Rand, Gulfport, Miss., author, speaker and editor; W. R. Thompson, extension pasture specialist of Mississippi State University; and Ray Engel, a 30-year-veteran in the fertilizer business with Schrock Bros. Co. at Congerville, Ill.

DALLAS — Pat E. Fletcher, with Atlantic Refining Co. in Midland, has been appointed chairman of the general

Rig Count Drops By 16

There were 265 rotary units working in the Permian Basin Empire on Reed Roller Bit Company's Friday tabulation.

This was a decrease of 16 from the 221 registered on the prior week's count and an increase of 10 from the 195 shown on the comparable week in 1963.

Lea County, N.M., with 41, a decrease of two from 43 on the last check, was in first place.

Pecos County was in second position with 19, the same number for the second week, and Andrews County, with 15, four more than the 11 listed last week, was third.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parentheses, includes: Andrews 15; (11); BORDEN 1 (2); Chaves 1 (1); Cochran 1 (1); Coke 1 (1); Crane 5 (6); Crockett 5 (2); Culberson 2 (2); DAWSON 5 (8); Ector 10 (10); Eddy 6 (10); Fisher 0 (1); Gaines 9 (13); GLASSCOCK 2 (1); Hale 1 (0); HOWARD 5 (4); Irion 2 (1); Kent 3 (3); Lamb 10 (9); Lea 41 (43); Loving 2 (3); Lubbock 0 (1); Lynn 2 (2); MARTIN 3 (4); Midland 2 (3); Nolan 1 (1); Pecos 19 (19); Presidio 0 (1); Reagan 1 (1); Reeves 3 (5); Roosevelt 7 (5); Runnels 5 (7); Schleicher 1 (2); Scurry 3 (2); STERLING 2 (1); Stone-wall 4 (6); Sutton 2 (1); Terry 1 (1); Tom Green 3 (6); Upton 6 (5); Ward 7 (10); Winkler 5 (6); Yoakum 10 (9).

Total 265 (221).

Gas Sales Up

The nation's gas industry surged to new heights in 1963, led by a six per cent jump in sales. Gas sales have increased 93.5 per cent since 1953, according to information from the American Gas Association. Gross sales in 1963 were 108.5 billion therms, compared to 102.3 billion in 1962.

A Glimpse Of Spring In Fashions For '64

A DRESS TO SWIRL IN, this multi-colored ball gown of chiffon with tones of purple, gold and orange fused with pale green. Count Sarmi used plenty of yardage for billowing effects. He is a member of the American Designers Group, sponsor of spring previews in New York for fashion writers.

PEACHY STOLE—Shell overblouse and easy skirt costume made of delicate peach boucle is wrapped up in a matching stole. Outfit is part of spring collection of Donald Brooks of Townley previewed as part of the New York Couture Group's display.

TRAFFIC STOPPER — Collarless suit jacket gets its neckline treatment from rolled-over collar of the blouse underneath. Both silk blouse and tweed suit, with its back-belted, semi-shaped jacket, are pale blue. By Arthur Jablow, it was among spring designs shown to visiting fashion writers in New York.

FROM CALIFORNIA — Fashion press in New York, which gathered for preview of creations by members of the American Designers Group, saw these two creations from California. Left, white linen sleeveless blouse is worn under double-breasted beige, gray and white terrazzo tweed coat with matching skirt. At right, designer Jean Louise's spring collection displayed pink and white silk twill dress with coin dot pattern. Collar and cuffs are crisp white organdy.

FORMAL WEAR FOR SPRING — These two evening creations by members of the American Designers Group are among spring fashions viewed by fashion writers at New York preview. Dinner gown, left, by Count Sarmi, covers manikin from head to toe. Blue, green and taupe blossoms bloom on the black silk print. Mollie Parnis' creation, right, has a chartreuse silk bodice and white organza skirt, joined by a shocking pink sash.

SPRING TOUCHES FOR MILADY — Raglan sleeves, a high neckline and a single row of buttons give the cocoa-colored coat, left, by Hannah Troy a softly feminine coat-dress look. Collar of Ben Reig's herringbone wool suit, right, rolls back to do justice to the big taffeta bow on the sleeveless mocha-colored blouse under it. They were shown to fashion editors at spring fashion preview in New York by members of the New York Couture Group.

Couple Repeats Vows In Evening Service

The marriage of Miss Billie Rene Henderson and Robert Lloyd Gilbert was solemnized Friday evening at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church with the Rev. Francis Beazley officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gilbert, 1304 Dixie, and Mrs. W. A. Henderson, 1400 Mesa Ave.

Scarlet poinsettias and greenery with accents of gold marked the main altar and the side altars. Cambridge fern and poinsettias on Grecian pedestals flanked the nuptial scene, and pews were marked with gold bows and poinsettias.

Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, and Mrs. Harold Talbot, vocalist, provided a program of music which included "Blessed Be This Day" and "Thanks Be to God."

Given in marriage by James J. Smith, a brother-in-law, the bride wore a white peau de soie and French lace gown fashioned with a molded bodice, Sabrina neckline and lace sleeves which ended in petal points over the wrists. The full princess skirt extended into a chapel train. The bride carried a crescent-styled bouquet of white carnations accented with seed pearls and finished with white satin picot showers.

Miss Virginia McKee, maid of honor, and Miss Gloria Smith, the bride's niece and bridesmaid, wore red velvet dresses with matching slipper shoes and red veils. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of red and white carnations accented with gold frames.

Patricia Ann and Peggy Jean

MRS. ROBERT LLOYD GILBERT

McElrath, nieces of the bride, also wore red velvet dresses and matching red veils. Carry-maid, wore red velvet dresses with matching slipper shoes and red veils. They carried old-fashioned bouquets of red and white carnations accented with gold frames.

Jack Gilbert, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. William J. Thompson, a brother-in-law, and Charles Boadie were the ushers. Bill Gilbert, also a brother, was groomsmen. Tapers were lighted by Mike Gilbert, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Sneed.

RECEPTION

The couple, the parents, the bride's attendants and the best man received guests in the Parish Hall. Miss Emma Lou Smith, the bride's niece, was in charge of the register.

The refreshment table was spread with a red cloth and an overlay of white lace. A prisms epergne, holding bouquets of the bridal attendants, formed the centerpiece.

Red rosebuds adorned the three-tiered white cake which was crowned with bride and groom figurines. Those who served in the house party were Mrs. Loy Ditto and Mrs. Teddy Henderson, the bride's sister-in-law.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left afterward for an undisclosed destination. For travel the bride chose a beige knit suit, brown accessories and the corsage from her bouquet. The Gilberts will return to make their home at 804 Nolan.

Both are graduates of Big Spring High School. They attended Howard County Junior College where she finished in a Licensed Vocational Nurses class. She is presently employed at Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital. Gilbert is employed at Hull and Phillips Grocery.

Sorority Told Style Changes

Miss Bo Bowen and Mrs. Paschal Odom presented a program in two parts for members of Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Thursday evening. Fourteen were present for the meeting in Miss Bowen's home at 2905 Fisher.

"Fashion in Flowers" was Miss Bowen's topic. Illustrating her talk with various arrangements, she told how each was constructed and defined flower arranging terms. She distributed calendars with pictured flower arrangements for each month. On the back a diagram showed how to make the arrangement.

Mrs. Odom presented "Past Century Costumes" in which she detailed the changes in clothing fashions from 1898 to the present. She told of popular fabrics for garments, how dyes were used, and changes that had taken place in styling. She used old pictures to illustrate the fashions and hair-styles worn with them. Also, she compared the cost of clothing in earlier years to the current market prices.

During the business session members voted to serve coffee and cake at the Veterans Administration Hospital the second Friday of each month from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Refreshments were served by the hostess from a round table spread with a white linen, fringed cloth. A dried fall arrangement was flanked by hurricane lamps holding pink candles. Pink napkins were used with the milk glass appointments. Mrs. Odom, 1221 Tucson, will be hostess to the chapter Jan. 23.

Books Completed By Elbow Club
New year books were filled out when the Elbow Home Demonstration Club met Thursday afternoon in the Forsan Junior High School cafeteria.

Mrs. R. L. Rister was the hostess and Mrs. Ray Shorter presided during the business session. Mrs. James Cattle will be hostess Jan. 23 when the club will meet at the school.

N-1164 Art of Flattery Is Harmony of Curves

Harvey Berin knows the subtlety of good design and the art of flattery. Here he has created a harmony of curves — not a mu-mu or a trapeze. From the dipped waist to the ease of the A-line skirt, you'll stand out in the nicest way. But don't forget the finishing touch of channelled front slot seaming and contrasting binding, ending with a flourish around the buttoned tab closing in back. Fabric suggestions are waffle pique, linen, heavy shantung, bengaline, tapestry fabrics, or brocades. To select your correct size, use Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear size chart.

Aim For Driving Record

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer

Why not aim for a safe driving record in 1964? Lots of young people are thought to be too hostile on the road, too aggressive for their own good. They rack up speeding tickets, and other traffic violations. Their record becomes accident-blemished. Sometimes it's because they just don't understand automobiles and how they perform.

A true and false examination given to 30,000 students in 210 schools in 29 states and the District of Columbia, in connection with a safe driving program illustrates that a wrong attitude and lack of knowledge about cars does exist among many of the 6 1/2 million licensed teenage drivers in the United States. One estimate is that there are 80 per cent fewer accidents among those who have taken high school driver education courses.

MR. AND MRS. M. J. MAGDEFROU, MARK JR., MICHELLE, AND KATHY

Beauty Of Beasts Restored By Amateur Taxidermist

By JO BRIGHT
Airman I.C. Mark J. Magdefrou is a sportsman by nature, air traffic controller by profession, and amateur taxidermist by choice. The latter was a natural outgrowth of an interest in animals which stems from his childhood days in Wisconsin.

Matter of fact, while Mr. and Mrs. Magdefrou were being interviewed, he disappeared down the hall, reappearing a few minutes later in full hunting regalia. It was a few minutes before his partner was due to arrive so, leaning the case gun by the doorway, he paused to elaborate on his favorite subject.

"By the time I could walk, dad had put a fishing rod or gun in my hand and taught me how to use them," he said. "I haven't wanted to be without them since."

LIVED IN FRANCE

While stationed at Toul-Robert Air Force Base in France he had the opportunity to join French friends who hunt in the European style. Almost always, well-trained dogs were used, and beaters walked at a distance ahead to flush out the game.

Other than the time spent in sport, Magdefrou has reservations about life in other countries.

"It's nice to be able to say I've been there," he said, "but otherwise, whatever they've got, we've got it better!"

Mrs. Magdefrou was more generous in her opinion. She enjoyed living in France. Their home was near Nancy, and the particular area was dubbed "Hammer Hollow" because of the constant additions or repairs residents made to their homes.

Magdefrou built a three-room home without help by extending the construction from the end of a trailer. They rented the property from the village mayor for $16 per year. There was no such thing as a town building code so nothing had to pass inspection.

"The homes of some of our French neighbors, mostly farmers, were quite primitive," said Mrs. Magdefrou. "But I was impressed with the fact that they could grow more flowers in less space than anyone. No one wasted time on grass, and yards were a riot of color from early spring until after frost."

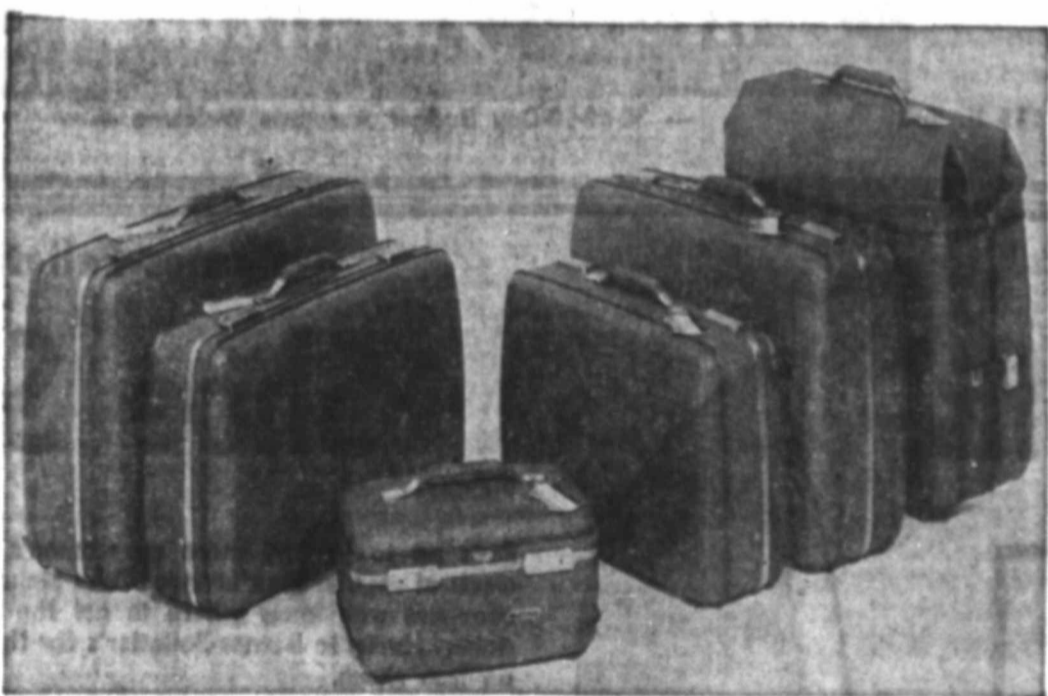

Magdefrou's first attempt at taxidermy, after completing a course from a school in Nebraska, was with a six-week-old fox caught on a predator-hunt. He has placed it in a natural setting and painted the background in oils.

FANCY STOCKS
All the gun stocks he has decorated are of black walnut. He makes up a pattern, getting ideas from sports magazines, and uses a razor knife to carve. The checking is done with special tools. One stock took first prize in a 17th Air Force arts and crafts contest.

The Magdefrous have been here about a month. He is attached to the 29332 Comm. Detachment at Webb Air Force Base. She is from West Palm Beach, Fla., but said she was born in the Belle Glade which she described as "mostly populated by alligators and Seminole Indians." She said her father, N. C. Winne, was the first white man born in the Everglades. Magdefrou's home town is Fond du Lac, Wisc.

Their children are Kathy Sue, 5, Mark John Jr., 18 months, and Michelle Marie, five months. The family is of Baptist faith.

Program Given For P-TA Group At Cedar Crest

The Parent-Teacher Association of Cedar Crest School heard the Rev. James Puckett speak Thursday afternoon at the school. Rev. Puckett, pastor of the Baptist Temple, talked on "The Cradle of Spiritual Strength," stressing ministry to others.

Members planned to help with the March of Dimes, and a report was given on completion of the sidewalk project. Also reported was the installation of electric clocks in the classrooms.

Door prize was won by Mrs. W. H. Sawyer, and the first grade won room count. Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served by the third grade mothers.

SQUADRON SCROLL

Leave Appreciated; Sympathy Extended

By BARBARA HORNING

Many students went home to spend the holidays with their families. Those traveling over 800 miles were thankful for the four days extra leave given them by Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withycombe. It was with great sadness that the students returned Sunday night to the news of his death, and they express their sincere sympathy to Mrs. Withycombe and her sons, Howard and Keith.

Tuesday night, the second in a series of art classes being taught by Susan Kirkby of 64-H will meet from 8 to 10:30 o'clock in the classroom next to the ceramics shop. Tempera, casein and oils are the mediums. For more information, call Mrs. Kirkby at AM 4-9832 or check the list of necessary materials at Sherwin-Williams.

SPRING FASHIONS

The monthly Student Squadron meeting will have Class 65-B as hostesses Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the reception room of the Officers Club. The program will feature Mrs. Clara Zack's talk, "The Newest Spring Fashion." The Student Squadron board will meet Tuesday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock in the VIP room, Officers Club. Keep in mind the Hi and Bye Coffee coming up Jan. 30.

Three wives were added to 65-A over the holidays. Lt. and Mrs. L. E. Harmon were married Dec. 30 in Rochester, N. Y. Lt. and Mrs. R. T. Kiosowski were married in Minnesota Dec. 28, and Lt. and Mrs. L. F. Donahue were married Dec. 21 in Colorado.

Lt. and Mrs. Keith Irwin of Class 64-H, had as guests this week, Lt. and Mrs. Larry Seale. Lt. Seale, a graduate of 64-D, is on his way to Phoenix for nine weeks of instructor training. The Lt. Joseph Kirkby's, also of 64-H, were visited during the holidays by his relatives, Mrs. Patricia Frenz and Mrs. Jeanette Breeding of New Orleans.

Lt. and Mrs. David Schaffner of Class 65-D celebrated Christmas morning with the arrival of their 7 pound, 6 ounce son, David Jack. Another boy, Michael, weighed in at 8 pounds, 10 ounces Dec. 31 in time to help celebrate the New Year with his parents, Lt. and Mrs. Malcolm Whitten of 64-G.

Lt. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson, 64-H, traveled to El Paso, Juarez and Ruidoso during the holidays, trying unsuccessfully to find some good skiing weather.

They returned to Big Spring in time to bring in the New Year with several other couples in their class. Those also attending the party and breakfast at the Officers Club were Capt. and Mrs. James Kellim, Lt. and Mrs. Charles Houser, Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth Peell, Lt. and Mrs. James Trombley and Lt. and Mrs. Joseph Kirkby.

Lt. and Mrs. Robert Horning, Class 64-G, spent the holidays in Big Spring with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Horning of Revere, Minn., and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Haywood of El Paso. Last weekend they were surprised with a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Willie Horning, his aunt and uncle from Revere, Minn., and their son, Donald, who is in training at Amarillo with the Air National Guard.

Plans Told

Mr. and Mrs. Elon Estep Lamesa, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Dora Jean, to Robert Dale Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy V. Little, Big Spring. The wedding will be held March 20 in the West Side Baptist Church, Lamesa.

CWF Hears Talk On Budgeting

"Personal and Family Budgeting" was the subject of a talk made Thursday evening by the Rev. Don Hungerford, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Rev. Hungerford was guest speaker at a meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church. Mrs. Shelby Hall worded the opening devotion, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. Curtis Driver.

Mrs. Frank Rice announced that the Ruth Circle had won the membership drive contest and would be honored at a church dinner in February. Refreshments were served by the Rosa Ann Parks Circle.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

For Sleepers With Slipping Comforts

Dear Folks: When washing blankets, I always shake out the dust before wetting them. (People who are lucky enough to have dryers should put them in the dryer with-out heat and tumble them to remove loose soil). I find it far better to hand-wash a blanket than to use my washing machine. The bathtub, wash-tub, or my kitchen sink (if it is a small blanket) is much better.

I fill up the bathtub with lukewarm suds (enough to cover the blanket), and put the blanket gently into the warm suds. I use my plumbers' friend to massage the blanket up and down... pull the plug out of the tub and let the water drain out. Then I gently squeeze the water from the blanket. Never twist or wring.

I repeat this procedure a second time and then rinse well in lukewarm water two or three times. Since I found that our friend vinegar makes a lovely rinse water for my wool sweaters, I now rinse the blankets in diluted vinegar water, at least one cup of vinegar to a tub of water. To remove the water from the blanket I fold it in quarters, roll it up like a rolling pin and gently squeeze out the excess water while the blanket is still in the tub. I hang the blankets over parallel lines in the shade, gently shaking them out so that they are in shape. Just before they are dry I remove them, shake them real hard and turn them over. This gives them a beautiful fluff. So does a slight brushing with a clean vegetable brush or whisk broom.

When all my blankets are dry I gently steam the satin bindings. I have washed rayon, wool and synthetic blankets by this method and have always had excellent results.

Dear Heloise: To get a real good crease in your boy's trousers, take a large paper bag, wet it with cold water, wring it out (the bag will not tear) and use this as your pressing cloth. The crease will be knife sharp.—A Reader

Dear Heloise: If you want your little girl's nylon dresses to really perk up, starch them with dry powdered milk.

I use one cup of dry milk to one half gallon of water. Always let these drip dry. They come out looking like new. This method also works beautifully on nylon and dacron curtains.—A Reader beautifully. Heloise

Dear Heloise: Oh, that miracle - working nylon net of yours! I was washing the woodwork in the kitchen and here is how I made my job easier:

I took a 12-inch square of your net and folded it until it was the same length as my sponge was wide, then wrapped it around the sponge and fastened it to the sponge itself with some basting thread.

The wall in the back of my stove (which always was a nuisance) needed only a once-over! Heloise's net sponge was slick as a whistle for this job.

By putting the net all the way around the sponge you can just keep turning the sponge over for clean surfaces. This also saves getting on and off that step stool so many times.—B. H.

Dear Heloise: I remove stamped - on embroidery marks from my linens with rubbing alcohol. The kind we use around the house. I have had success many times using this—Mandie Mudd

Dear Heloise: To keep salt from clogging in the container, never shake directly over hot food. The steam rising from the foods tends to dampen the contents of the container, and the next time it will not pour or shake freely. Measure or shake the contents into a spoon, then add to your cooking foods.

Also, if the spices and seasonings are stored too near the stove the heating and cooling off of the cans will eventually cause enough sweating to clog up the insides.—Mrs. C. M.

(Mail letters to Heloise in care of The Big Spring Herald).

Wedding Party Is Honored

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thompson, 1304 Stamford, were hosts to the Gilbert-Henderson wedding party following the rehearsal Thursday evening. Refreshments were served during the informal party.

STUDY YEAR BOOKS

Get-Acquainted Club Sessions Conducted

A get-acquainted theme was carried out in Home Demonstration Club meetings during the week. Some groups familiarized themselves with new year books, while others became acquainted with new members and guests. Also new officers were installed and committees appointed.

COLLEGE PARK CLUB
Mrs. Robert Coleman was hostess to the College Park Club at her home, 2305 Mishler. There were 11 members present and two new members, Mrs. Nelson Ball and Mrs. Brandt Baize. Visitors were Mrs. Conrad Miller and Mrs. B. R. White.

After year books were studied, an installation was conducted with Mrs. Coleman taking the office of president; Mrs. Paul Bruns, vice president; Mrs. John F. Simpson, secretary - treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Franklin, reporter.

The next meeting will be Jan. 21 in the home of Mrs. Bill Bodine, 2807 Larry St.

FAIRVIEW CLUB
All members participated in the Fairview Club's program "Let's Get Acquainted with the Yearbook." Mrs. L. A. Griffith was hostess at her home, 303 Willa St. Committees were appointed and hostesses for each month of the year were named. Mrs. John Sutherland, president, named committee chairmen to include Mrs. H. S. Hanson, reporter; Mrs. S. Griffith, assistant reporter; Mrs. Shirley Fryar, parliamentarian; Mrs. Frank Wilson, messenger; Mrs. Jim Skalicky, exhibit; Mrs. Hanson, Civil Defense; Mrs. Wilson, health and safety; and Mrs. D. F. Bigony, 4-H chairman.

Also, Mrs. John Sutherland, recreation; Mrs. Fryar, finance; Mrs. O. D. Engle, yearbook; and Mrs. Jim Smith, personal service.

One hundred per cent Messenger subscription is the club's goal for the year. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Irene McKinley Jan. 21.

AIRPORT CLUB
The year's first meeting of the Airport Club was held in the home of Mrs. Marshall Brown, 1503 Robin St. Mrs. Ma Dunning, president, introduced two guests, Mrs. Frank Griffith and Miss Ona Craven, a newcomer to the city.

Mrs. William Dorough gave a devotion, after which members and guests visited and were served refreshments during their get-acquainted session.

The next meeting will be Jan. 21 at the home of Mrs. B. A. Bunn, 507 E. 15th St.

COAHOMA CLUB
An installation service was held for the Coahoma Home Demonstration Club. Nine members attended the event, held in the home of Mrs. D. S. Phillips. Year books were studied following the service, and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. R. A. Marshall and Mrs. H. B. Graves. Mrs. Graves installed Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel as president; Mrs. A. C. Hale, vice president; Mrs. Phillips, secretary, and Mrs. Ray Swann, treasurer.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Leroy Echols.

FORSAN CLUB
A favorite pastor was named by each member of the Forsan Club in response to roll call, and yearbooks were discussed at the home of Mrs. H. L. Tuck. Mrs. L. M. Duffer was hostess.

The program, "Let's Get Acquainted with Our Yearbook," was presented by Mrs. Lewis Soles. Appointments were made with Mrs. Earl Beeson to serve as reporter; Miss Jeannet Duffer, assistant reporter; Miss Leona Duffer, parliamentarian; and Mrs. L. M. Duffer, Messenger chairman.

The next meeting will be Jan. 23 at 9:30 a.m., the regular meeting hour, instead of 1:30 p.m.

LUTHER CLUB
Five members of the Luther Club met in the home of Mrs. Louis Underwood to participate in a yearbook discussion. Mrs. W. E. Coley of Winters was a guest.

Recommendations of the Howard County HD Council for 1964 were read and accepted, concluding the meeting. The next session will be Jan. 23 in the home of Mrs. W. E. Hanson.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MARGE LYNCH

The OWC formal dance will be held Feb. 8, Saturday, at the Officers Club. There will be more details later.

The new base nursery will be opening early in February. Parents are reminded to call the nursery by 11 a.m. if they wish their children to eat the noon meal there. This meal is served between 11:30 and 12:30 only. The nursery is in need of children's furniture and toys. Anything will be greatly appreciated. For further information call Mrs. James Fletcher at AM 3-3280.

Yesterday evening at the O'Club the 3561st PTS gave a farewell party for some of its members. Those honored were Capt. and Mrs. Roland E. Ballow, going to Edwards AFB, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Kurt W. Roeloffs and Capt. and Mrs. Louis M. Rabin, both returning to civilian life; Capt. and Mrs. Vaughn H. Martin and Capt. and Mrs. Frank D. Johnson. Prime ribs were the main entrée at the buffet dinner which was preceded by a cocktail party. Squadron plaques were given to Capt. Ballow, Roeloffs and Rabin.

LUNCHEON SET
Mrs. Charles W. Semler is planning a luncheon in her home Wednesday for the departing Mrs. Roland E. Ballow, Mrs. Kurt W. Roeloffs and Mrs. Louis M. Rabin. Fried chicken and peppermint stick ice cream will be served. The centerpiece will be a large candle decorated with grapes and surrounded by clusters of gold grapes and lavender chrysanthemums.

Capt. and Mrs. William McCallum spent the holidays in LaMarque, visiting her mother, Mrs. Edna Eriksson, her brother, A. E. Eriksson, and Capt. McCallum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McCallum. While there they talked to his brother who is stationed in Japan. Also they were members of her brother's wedding party.

Lt. and Mrs. Raymond S. Ryan flew to Connecticut to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ryan. They spent a day in New York City with Capt. and Mrs. Terry Ueyeyama, who were visiting his folks in New Jersey, and saw a pro hockey game, the Guggenheim Museum of Modern Art and the Playbox Club.

Cassini Caters To Young Americans

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Designer Oleg Cassini sent his pert, ingenue models onto the runway Thursday in a gay, successful, and much less expensive young American collection.

Military feeling crossed with the easiness of Coco Chanel is the way Cassini described the loop braided, brass - buttoned pastel suits. There followed a parade of figure - skimming linen dresses, fitted black cocktail dresses, and cheerful cardigan coats with paisley lining matching dresses.

Sun glasses, shaped into long narrow slits, goggles or giant sunflowers, and military tams, berets and bretons were other Cassini styles for spring.

Designer John Weltz whipped up a few expensive versions of the bathrobe for use anywhere but in the bathroom. He designed bathrobe jacket - suits and lounging clothes to be stepped into, as well as zipper-to-hem shifts.

Among his nonsports clothes was the non-golf jacket - a blouse-on zippered jacket, skirt and scarf made of an off-course floral patterned fabric.

Eric Lund had his fun with deceptive coming-or-going coats which are built split-level to look like suits from the front view. Double vision, or photos out of focus, was the effect of this two - layered two - colored chiffons and organzas.

At the closing session of the American design preview, Norman Norell presented the travel suit - creased slacks and checked mannish jacket. The collection also included a knifepointed, short - jacketed suit; classic cape suit and three-tone dinner gown with jersey tank top, huge sash and floor-length skirt.

TETE-a-TETE

by kathleen dozier

There are some 300 more days left in '64, and my personal plan is to enjoy each to its fullest. There'll be no project-pushing for me. If it's a work day I'll see if I can get out of it what I put into it, and if it's a day for loafing — Brother! — I can really do that. Some people just aren't happy without irons in the fire—they're fine folks and great in my book — but they don't know what they're missin' if they can't sit loose, sup a cup of coffee and maybe doze a little. True, I seldom have the opportunity, but when time affords I can hold my own with the best of the rocking chair set. Try it—muscles relax, the old ticker stops poundin' and the first thing you know you're not carin' . . . real tranquillizing . . .

Speaking of projects, the holidays were hardly over when there was a swap-out of sorts between the Thorburns and the Hodges. Seems that Flo and George Thorburn of the Ponderosa Apartments liked the Hodges home, 2902 Parkway, and Emaline and John Hodges had their eyes on No. 11 at Ponderosa. So . . . we hear that furniture has been moving from the east to the south and the south to the east sides of town. . . . Aurelia Edwards, too, has been in the moving process. Alone at the ranch, she has contemplated an apartment for some time, and now she has one at Park Hill Terrace. Her telephone is connected, the furniture in and all is well at No. 8 . . .

Col. H. A. Reque and wife, the former Connie Cushing, after a tour through the South, visited here with her sister and brother-in-law, Hubert and Mary Stipp. The Reques plan to locate in Texas now that he is retired military. They left here Thursday for Austin which might possibly be their future home.

Views Film On Safety

J. D. Campbell, patrolman in the Big Spring Police Department, was the guest speaker Friday afternoon for the Modern Woman's Forum. The club met in the home of Mrs. A. B. Wade, 1405 Runnels, with Mrs. T. G. Adams as cohostess.

Campbell spoke on safety and narrated a film, "Mechanical Death," issued by the Ohio State Safety Council.

The club will be hostess for a party at the Westside Center Jan. 31. Members of the project committee are Mrs. V. E. Jones, Mrs. M. A. Cook and Mrs. J. P. Dodge.

Mrs. C. W. Parmenter urged committee chairmen to get annual reports mailed to the district chairmen. The 13 members attending voted to contribute to the March of Dimes.

The Jan. 24 meeting will be held at Coker's Restaurant with Mrs. Fred Whittaker as hostess.

SOCIAL ROOM TO HAVE FORMAL OPENING JANUARY 18

Free pizzas and drinks will be served at a party celebrating the formal opening of a new social room at Big Spring Country Club. All club members are invited to attend the affair which will begin at 7 p.m., Jan. 18. Music will be furnished by a combo band and members of the social committee will serve as hostesses. A contest is being held to choose a name for the new room. Suggestion boxes will be placed in the club tomorrow, with a charge of 25 cents for each entry. A panel of judges will choose the most suitable name and a prize will be presented to the winner during opening ceremonies.

Event Honors Miss Dosier

Miss Paula Dosier, bride-elect of David Tarbet, was honored Friday evening at a prenuptial shower in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. The two will be married Jan. 31 in Grapevine.

Perception, Telepathy Discussed

Extra-sensory perception was the subject of a program heard Wednesday afternoon by 22 members of the 1953 Hyperion Club. The group met in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club, with Mrs. Harold Davis the program moderator.

The first speaker was Mrs. Pete Cook who explained telepathy as a method of transferring information or knowledge without the use of known senses. Mrs. Kimbell Guthrie spoke on precognition, a knowledge of future events, sometimes known as premonition.

Mrs. Bill Edwards conducted an experiment with special sign cards used at the Duke University clearing house for ESP to demonstrate the meaning of clairvoyance. She defined the term as meaning the ability to picture events occurring near or far without ever having seen them.

"Psychic," an autobiography by Peter Hurkos telling of experiences in the field of ESP, was reviewed by Mrs. Ralph Caton.

Mrs. Jerry Spence conducted a brief business meeting, and dessert was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Gene Nabors and Mrs. Paul Shaffer.

Secretaries Hear Doctor

Howard County Legal Secretaries Association, continuing its legal education program, heard Dr. Preston Harrison speak Thursday evening. The state hospital superintendent talked on "Personality Types," as described by the psychologist, in the Cosden Country Club's Blue Room.

Fourteen members were present, and Mrs. Billy P. Flynn presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Don Sawyer.

Dr. T. Robert Mabry, state hospital psychologist, will be the guest speaker for the secretaries' February meeting.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Honors Marilyn Gum

A pre-nuptial miscellaneous shower was held Friday evening for Miss Marilyn Gum, bride-elect of Jerry Gilmore. Some 30 guests called at the home of Mrs. Jay Dunnam, 640 Manor, during the hours from 7 until 9 o'clock. Cohostesses were Mrs. Roy Brooks, Mrs. Richard Shields, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. S. A. Bradford, Mrs. Dub Bryant, Mrs. Glen Addy, Mrs. Jack Eubanks and Mrs. Ben Hitt. For the occasion, Miss Gum chose a wool turquoise dress. She received a white carnation corsage. Guests, registered by Mrs. Elmer Askins, were served from a table spread with a cutwork linen cloth and centered with a bridal arch and bride and groom figures. A blue and white motif, the bridal colors, were featured. Mrs. J. T. Gilmore and Mrs. Carl L. Gum, mothers of the couple, assisted the honoree in opening and displaying gifts. The couple's wedding is planned for Jan. 25 at the East Fourth Baptist Church.

Sweatt Birthday Noted At Supper

WESTBROOK SC) — Mrs. Emory Sweatt honored her husband at a birthday supper Thursday evening. Mrs. A. A. Raschke and son, Larry, visited Mr. and Mrs. Alton Raschke in Midland Sunday.

Guatamala Discussed In Program

The Forsan Study Club met Thursday in the Forsan School cafeteria. Mrs. H. H. Story, program leader, introduced Mrs. C. V. Wash who gave a devotion in keeping with thoughts for the new year. Guatamala was the program topic. Mrs. W. M. Romans presided during the business meeting. Mrs. Roy Stockstill gave a report on the results of the Christmas Outdoor Decorating Contest. Mrs. Joe B. Hoard Sr. and Mrs. L. B. McElrath presented a program on the CARE Literacy Program in Guatamala. They both gave facts about the country and told of CARE's efforts to eliminate illiteracy in that country. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Bill Conger and Mrs. O. T. Boeker. Refreshments were served to 17 members from a table covered with a white lace cloth and centered with red roses. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The next meeting will be held Thursday, Jan. 16. Dr. Louise Worthy, guest speaker for the evening, will discuss Modern Trends in Pediatrics. Members are urged to attend this meeting.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Winterrowd, 805 Runnels, make known the engagement and approaching marriage of their granddaughter, Miss Memrie Grace McMichael, to Richard McDermaid, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Richard McDermaid, Salt Lake City, Utah. The announcement was made by the bride-elect's parents, Maj. and Mrs. Ted T. McMichael of Naples, Italy. The wedding is planned for June.

Miss Parnis Presents Styles In Both Quality And Quantity

By MARY CAMPBELL
Associated Press Feature Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Full-length evening dresses in yards of floating printed chiffon and plain-color, linen-like silk gazar were highlights of Tuesday's shows by Count Sarmi and Mollie Parnis of the American Designers Group. Her designs were almost fitted, with seams and darts bringing the fabric in at the waist, and gathers emphasizing the bust.

Club Discusses Year Books

Officers were installed and yearbooks filled out Friday by members of the City Home Demonstration Club meeting with Mrs. Eldon Appleton. Mrs. Frank Bordofski read the devotional, and the council delegate report was made by Mrs. Louis Helms.

Sarmi made much use of chiffon in prints that looked like butterfly wings. Bodices and sheath skirts were of printed silk twill with the full chiffon overskirts (one had 75 yards) of matching print.

Mollie Parnis, who commented on her own show, said she designs to help a woman catch or keep a man. Miss Parnis also showed suits, most of them three-piece, with matching or contrasting overblouses belted, tied or darted in at the waist.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Colorado City solved its tumbleweed problem and turned the bothersome things into something profitable, but what can we Big Spring homeowners do with them? Out our way we have snared some really big ones. It is easy to pick them up and put them on a clear road or alley way and let the wind take them to someone else's yard, but that can make a most unsightly scene down the way. If you burn them there is danger of starting more than a modest bonfire.

One thing can be said for them . . . they are pretty when they are covered with ice or snow, but in our climate that snow and ice doesn't last long enough for the beauty of the things to get around to many viewers.

When the R. D. ULREYS returned here Thursday from an extended trip in the eastern states they found the 17 degree temperature the same as that they had left in Maryland. The couple had gone to Racine, Wis., for Thanksgiving with her sister, MRS. H. E. RHODES, and after several weeks there, went to Silver Spring, Md., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. OWEN W. SCOTT, and their children. On Christmas morning there was a six-inch snow on the ground in Silver Springs. It was so beautiful Mrs. Ulrey advised the family to get a picture of it while it was still on the ground. They reminded her that she was not in West Texas as but in Maryland where the thaw doesn't take place as readily.

During the visit the group went to Washington, D. C. and saw the big Christmas tree and also visited the grave of President Kennedy at Arlington National Cemetery.

Guests in the home of DR. and MRS. J. E. HOGAN are his brother-in-law and sister, MAJ. and MRS. VERNON BALL, and their daughter, Ann. The Balls are en route from their station at Misawa, Japan, to Holloman AFB, N. M.

Count one in favor of the friendliness of Big Spring people. MRS. HALLIE PEARCE, daughter of Mrs. Charles Sweeney, is due to move here within the next week from Durant, Okla. She chose to move here over a home in California, because she likes our people. She has lived in Durant since she was a teen-age girl.

Mrs. Pearce has purchased a home at 600 W. 18th. Mrs. Sweeney plans to drive to Durant this week and help her daughter prepare for the move.

The Big Spring Garden Club is looking forward to hearing a special program by MRS. CHARLES R. GRIGGS Feb. 5. Mrs. Griggs makes her home in Sweetwater and is the president of District 8 Council of Accredited Flower Show Judges. She will lecture and give a demonstration on contemporary flower arrangements.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES STAGGS were to leave today to take their daughter, MRS. C. D. SNYDER, and her children back to their home in San Antonio. Mrs. Snyder's husband is a captain in the Air Force and is stationed at Randolph Field.

During Mrs. Snyder's visit here she also visited with MRS. BOONE POWELL, who was over from Abilene for the day with her parents, the J. E. Hogans. It was the first time the two had seen each other in nine years. They were in high school here together.

Winners Game Date Announced

Eleven tables of duplicate players participated in the Master Point games Friday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Elmo Wasson announced that the Winner's Game will begin at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at the club.

North - south winners were Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. B. F. Yeargin, first; Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. J. H. Holloway, second; Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr. and Mrs. Fred Kasch, third; and Mrs. Hayden Griffith and Mrs. Travis Reed, fourth.

Placing high in the east-west position were Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Mrs. Jack Irons, first; Mrs. Morris Patterson and Mrs. Hudson Landers, second; Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, third; and Mrs. Don Newsom and Mrs. Gerald Harris, fourth.

Pioneer Steps Toward Water Stockpiling Taken

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is embarking on an experiment to stockpile water. Through an arrangement with L. C. Hazelwood covering half a section in Martin County, the district is recharging a small area in its well field. The unfiltered water will come from Lake J. B. Thomas 60 miles to the northeast. Currently it is flowing from a tank at the site by gravity into two wells at the rate of 1,600,000 gallons per day.

PEAK DEMANDS
If the program is successful, water stored in the depleted water gravels will be recovered during summer months when heavy supplemental pumping is required to meet peak demands in Odessa.

"We are pioneering on a new front," said E. V. Spence, CRMWD general manager, "in the belief that we can utilize the well field as an underground reservoir to store lake water nearer the point of heavy demand for the summer season."

Limited capacity of a 27-inch pipeline (15,000,000 gallons per day) between Big Spring and Martin County Well Field poses something of a problem during summer months for Odessa, where consumption may run as high as 26,000,000 gallons per day. The district has two pipelines—27-inch and 35-inch—from the well field to Odessa. Hence, if water can be stored during winter months in the well field, pumping can be maintained during the summer at approximately the rate of consumption in Odessa.

FIRST TIME
So far as is known, no other district or municipality in the Southwest is attempting to store raw surface water in an aquifer (underground water formation), said O. H. Ivie, assistant manager, who is supervising the experiment. There are instances where water has been transferred from one well field to another for storage.

The district's pump station and part of the Martin County Well Field are located on the Hazelwood property. By gravity flow from a small storage tank, the district is injecting 595 gallons per minute through the pump in one well and 525 gallons in another into the Ogallala, a coarse gravel formation.

Due to heavy pumping in the area for crop irrigation, and during the summer months, the water level has dropped as much as 70 feet in the well field during the last 10 years. By restoring part of this water, the CRMWD hopes to raise the water level 10 feet around the wells. In order to recover all or most of the water, additional wells will be drilled around the perimeter of the injected area.

UNKNOWN FACTORS
"Experiments so far have been satisfactory," Ivie reported, "but there are still several unknown factors as to the operation of such a project. It may take at least a year to learn if and how we can deal with this and to determine if this is a practical approach of shuffling our water reserves, when it is convenient and economical, to a point nearer demand."

ADVANTAGES
The advantages of the stockpiling arrangement would be many, Ivie pointed out. It would tend to stabilize the well field itself and would raise the water level to where wells could be produced more intensively. It would also mean the storing of lake water, which is subject to some loss by evaporation, in an underground reservoir. Most of all, it would permit transportation of water through pipelines in a period of slack demand in winter months. In effect, this could avoid the necessity of additional terminal storage facilities at Odessa.

The plan has potential benefits for Big Spring, too, in that an ability to supply more of the Odessa demand from Martin County storage could make available more of the pipeline capacity for Big Spring in the summer.

Plans call for injection of 500 acre feet (167,000,000 gallons) by May 1, when water may be needed to enable the district to meet more efficiently its summertime peak requirements.

Water District Sets Tempo For One Of Busiest Years

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District set the tempo here Friday for what may be one of the busiest years in the district's history.

They fixed water rates, approved a contract which will open the way for experimentation in a well field recharge with lake water, and appropriated more funds for dam site studies on the upper Colorado River.

In addition, the board authorized E. V. Spence, general manager, to file a statement with the Texas Water Pollution Control Board Jan. 29 opposing the exclusion of Ector, Martin and Borden counties from the proposal to ban surface pit disposal of salt water in the areas underlain by the Ogallala formation. This exclusion would adversely affect the district's water supplies, Spence declared.

Spence also was authorized to receive bids for the development of as many as five additional wells on the L. C. Hazelwood lease in central Martin County to facilitate recovery of lake water being injected into the water formation.

600,000 for this facility, the district needs to be assured that every possible angle has been weighed in reaching a decision about location, said Spence. He pointed to the urgency of these studies, noting that there are numerous inquiries for more water contracts. One operator now wants 4,000,000 gallons a day, he said.

Water rates approved for member cities were at six cents per thousand gallons plus monthly fixed charges of $7.266 for Odessa, $22.002 for Big Spring, $5.538 for Snyder. Transfer of $156,955 to the improvement and extension fund and $113,958 to the retirement fund was approved.

Bull Sale Scheduled At Lamesa

LAMESA (SC)—Plans are being finalized here for the first annual Great Southwestern Polled Hereford Bull Sale which will be conducted from the Dawson County fairgrounds beginning at noon Jan. 18. Col. Walter S. Britten is auctioneer.

Sale catalogs are available from Joe Weedon, secretary of the sponsoring Texas Polled Hereford Association, Inc., Grosvonor.

Grading committee is composed of Suel Hill, Fairfield; Durwood Lewter, Lubbock; and Lee Roy Colgan, Lamesa. The sale committee includes Larry Smith, Hearne; Lynn Storm, Dripping Springs; and Royce Pember, Portales, N. M.

Lamesa headquarters is the Plainsman Motel and the agriculture committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce will clerk the sale.

Seventy head — the largest number of serviceable age Polled Hereford bulls ever assembled in the Southwest — will be offered for sale in pen lots or singly.

Cattle will be sold to the highest bidder and the auctioneer will settle any bid disputes. Cash terms will prevail. Health certificates will be delivered to the purchaser at the time he pays for the cattle. All stock has been tested for TB and bangs.

Transfers of ownership will be made by the Texas Polled Hereford Association and the American Polled Hereford Association.

All bulls must be in place and on exhibit by 9 a.m. Jan. 17. Grading begins promptly at 8 a.m. on the following date. Consignors to date include breeders from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Salaries Of Officials To Be Fixed Monday

Salaries of county officials and their deputies for 1964 will be fixed by action of the Howard County Commissioners Court at a meeting Monday.

The budget, as approved last summer, provides funds for $15 per month increase for all employees of the road and bridge department across the board. There is no provision for any pay increase for the deputies in the other offices. The deputies were given pay adjustments in January, 1963. It was pointed out, but the road and bridge department workers did not benefit from this increase.

There is a major vacancy on the road and bridge staff—the post of county engineer. This office has been open for several years. Each year, the budget has included funds earmarked for the salary of such an official. In 1963, the budget carried $7,200 as salary for the engineer. Advertisements were published in an effort to fill the job. No appointment was made.

The new budget has $8,000 set up as pay for an engineer. Whether any effort is planned to find an engineer or whether the question will be brought up Monday was not known.

Two other proposed pay raises are set up for consideration. Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, has issued an order raising the salary of Mrs. Roberta Oldfield, deputy county auditor, from $300 to $325 per month. The judge has authority to name the county auditor and fix the salaries of the auditor and his assistant. Mrs. Oldfield was placed on the job at $300 per month last year when Lee Porter, who had been county auditor, became county judge. Wade Choate was appointed to succeed him. Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, who had been Porter's assistant, became his secretary. Mrs. Johnson's pay has been $325. The adjustment ordered by the judge will bring Mrs. Oldfield's salary to the standard specified for her post.

Also slated is a $25 a month pay increase for Bobby West, special investigator for the district attorney.

There may be other requests for pay adjustments. Each January at this meeting, the elective officers provide the commissioners with a list of their deputies and the salaries they want them paid. If an official wants a deputy's pay increased, this is the meeting at which such requests are considered.

As far as could be learned, there will be no effort to increase the salary of elective county officials.

A Devotional For The Day

Open my eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law. I am a sojourner on earth; hide not thy commandments from me! (Psalms 119:18-19, RSV.)

PRAYER: We seek Thy presence, O Lord, that we may know Thy love and find our lives transformed into instruments of service for Thee. We pray in the name of Christ, through whom our lives have redemption and meaning. Amen.

Voice Of The Community

The Chamber of Commerce actually, if not technically, marked the end of a year Saturday and the beginning of a new one. The annual banquet has come to be a time for taking stock of accomplishments of the past year, of potentialities and priorities for the new year. It is a time of passing the administration from one group of officers to another — a time for the annual pep meeting.

The past year has been a good one, perhaps not in the character of a year where everything went right. Indeed, the year did present the challenge of some adjustments. There were areas of the economy where the record dipped from the previous year. And yet when it was all over, the total volumes were generally gratifying and in many cases encouraging. To have come through with a spirit of aggressiveness and progressiveness is within itself a major achievement which speaks well for the chamber's role because its membership has now been brought to an all-time peak. While the Chamber of Commerce is certainly a voice of business, it is more than that. The late J. H. Greene, who will be missing from a chamber banquet for the first time in years, was fond of regarding it as the voice of the community. This is a fair description of it, for the chamber is an amalgamation of all the interests for the wholesome advance of the community. It is the one medium for coordinating community-building activities, and more especially the one agency which sees to it that everybody's business becomes nobody's business. When something needs to be done, it's the chamber which sees that an attempt is made to do something. For this and many, many more reasons it deserves the support of every person who makes or receives his living in Big Spring and Howard County. How it is going is a fair barometer of the civic attitude and economic progress of the community.

Change Our Habits

In the old days, you could turn old Dobbin loose and he would get you home. He went exactly as he had always gone, practically never varying a footstep.

A lot of us drive that way now. We've been so used to moving down certain streets in a certain way for so long that we ignore the character and patterns of traffic signs which have varied radically.

An effort has been made to establish a few thoroughfare routes, and particularly in residential areas this has shaken many a driving habit. Small wonder we have a lot of accidents when any of the old timers continue along old paths oblivious to new signs, whereas newer or more alert drivers proceed with (unwarranted?) confidence down the new thoroughfares.

The city has helped by installing caution blinkers at some of the intersections with heaviest cross traffic or the worst record of mishaps. This should wake up those going against the lights that they should stop at the intersection. However, drivers who have the right of way should be alerted to the possibility the intersection is a bad one and that they could get clobbered there. Being right does not grant immunity from accidents, hence all of us need to watch for and observe traffic signs.

Description Of A Utopian State

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has just delivered to Congress not so much a message on the "state of the union" as an alluring description of a Utopian state.

The President spoke of the "unprecedented progress of our free-enterprise economy over the last three years," and said that wages, profits and family income are "at their highest level in history." He nevertheless thought it necessary to declare "unconditional war on poverty in America."

THOUGH SPEAKING of the United States as "the richest nation on earth," Mr. Johnson, even more than his predecessor, emphasized poverty as a national problem. He did not define this explicitly, but in general terms. He said his purpose was "to help that one-fifth of all American families with incomes too small even to meet their basic needs."

The question remains, however, as what are really the "basic needs" and what persons can accurately be described as poverty-stricken. The President seems to think that the cause of the poverty is "in a lack of education and training, in a lack of medical care and housing, in a lack of decent communities in which to live and bring up their children." But, surprisingly enough, the President made no mention of weakness in individual character and, in many cases, an inherited incapacity to equal the achievements of one's average fellow man.

THERE WAS ONE omission. Mr. Johnson did not mention the need to remove the barriers that the private-enterprise system faces every day in the creation of new jobs. About the only reference to job creation in the President's speech was the mention of the $11-billion tax reduction over the next two years. He spoke of it as providing "investment incentives." But in the same address to Congress the President repeated an error which has often been noted in past administration policies—namely, a recommendation that laws be passed which cannot but have the effect of frustrating the development of the free-enterprise system.

MR. JOHNSON recommended legislation, for example, to authorize the creation of committees on an industry-by-industry basis which would have the authority to put into effect higher rates for overtime. The theory is that this would serve as a penalty for use of overtime and create more jobs. But to tell the managers of free enterprise in America that they must eliminate overtime in order to create more jobs is equivalent to telling them that they must accept government dictation in work schedules or pay higher rates for unavoidable overtime.

THERE WERE many proposals in the President's address, nearly all couched in very general terms. The statement of the aims of the United States in foreign policy is in line with that of preceding administrations. There have always been proclamations of high purpose—to curtail and even abolish big armament, to enlarge world trade, and to strengthen the ability of free nations to raise their standard of living through an efficient foreign-aid program. But the big difficulty is in the method and formula to be used to accomplish such high-sounding purposes. Thus, the President declared that the United States "must be constantly prepared for the worst and constantly acting for the best."

SO THERE really was no new contribution to international policy. In fact, there was little new on the domestic side either. For while the President promised "a progressive administration which is efficient and honest and frugal," the budget in the coming fiscal year will involve a deficit of $4.9 billion.

It is true that the earlier estimates were higher, but unfortunately, a fiscal system is not measured by the size of the estimates or the theoretical economies achieved when estimates are finally cut down. The fact remains that America is to run on a deficit budget in the years to come.

Billy Graham

Do you believe that God will allow man to go to the moon? It seems to me that man was made to dwell upon this earth, and that it is unnatural for him to want to go to another planet. Don't you agree?

I suppose this question has been raised whenever man has set out upon any kind of great adventure. When man first invented the "horseless" carriage, some people thought that such a device was unnatural, and certainly would bring any who had to do with it to catastrophe.

When man took to the air, there were people who thought that it was unnatural, therefore wrong, for a man to fly through the air. Man is a curious creature. He never stops probing, exploring and searching for new knowledge and experiences. But the chief concern of God is that in all of our search for knowledge and the mysteries of the universe, that we remember Him. It is when knowledge leads us away from God that we do ourselves an injustice. Interestingly, when Titov went on his orbit around the earth, he said he "saw no God." But our astronauts, who had the Christian point of view, remained reverent, even in their desperate search for knowledge.

I see nothing wrong with scientific advancement, just so long as it doesn't make us self-sufficient, and defiant against Him who made heaven and earth, and "whose goings forth is from the end of heaven, and whose circuit unto the ends of it."

However I would debate the cost of such a project. Twenty billion dollars could make life a little easier for suffering humanity on this planet.

What Will Be Effect Of Budget Cut?

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon Johnson has introduced a significant variable into the nation's economic metabolism: The first budget cut in years.

How will our system, our plants, our retail establishments, our labor unions, our workers, react to a reduction in its customary stimulant — ever upward federal spending?

The budget total—$97.9 billion, not $98 billion even—is like a department store price tag. The markdown from the expected $100 billion seems 50 per cent bigger than it really is. At a quick glance it looks like $3 instead of $2.1 billion.

THIS DIMINUTION in federal input will course through the economy in a few months and will be felt in certain industries and geographical areas, including Washington, D. C., in about six months. This assumes, of course, that Mr. Johnson carries through.

This budgetary change will offset part (who knows how much?) of the expansionary boost expected to come from the $11 billion tax reduction. A cut in spending is an economic minus—fewer orders going out to industry from the Pentagon; fewer federal purchases of automobiles and other equipment; fewer hirings of experts and clerical personnel.

TO BE SURE, individual and corporate take-home should increase by $11 billion. That's the estimated tax abatement. But what we don't know is how much of this abatement will be translated into industrial activity and employment; how much will become effective demand; how much will be an economic plus. Or, to put it the other way round, how much will be saved—not spent?

From a business standpoint, the state-of-the-union message was reassuring. The President gave about 90 members of the Business Council, an organization of top corporation executives in the country, a preview of the message at a dinner Tuesday night. They liked what they heard. Frederick R. Kappel, chairman of the board of American Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and chairman of the council, paid Johnson the supreme accolade (from a businessman): "There's an operating man."

JOHNSON STARTS off much like Dwight D. Eisenhower, when he became President. Eisenhower cut back expenditures and soon an expanding economy began to stutter. Growth faltered. The index of industrial production hit its peak in July—six months after the state-of-the-union address, and didn't stop declining until March - April 1954. It could—I do not say it will—happen again.

The cutbacks planned by President Johnson are not great in relation to the present level of federal spending. However, they are substantial relative to levels which had been projected. The President slashed budget requests of department heads by nearly $19 billion.

ONE OF THE fundamentals of optimism, of confidence, has been altered: Ever-rising government outlays. The projected federal deficit is five billions for fiscal 1965, versus 10 billions for this year, which ends June 30.

The big plus in the future is rising corporate profits. Of this, American Telephone & Telegraph and General Motors are symbols. Both companies will show net income for '63 of about a billion and a half. Never before has any one company attained this level. Suddenly, in a profit breakthrough, we have two!

EARNINGS PER share of the 425 Standard & Poor's industrial stocks also will push to new highs. Between 1955 and 1961 they bounced up to and back down from a ceiling of about $3.50. In 1962, they edged up to $3.87 and last year they reached $4.20 (estimated), clearly out of the old plateau. They should get a further boost this year—from the tax cut, unless business slackens off.

If corporate profits advance, presumably corporation finance committees will be willing and able to spend money on plant expansion and efficiency. This will give the capital goods industries — and the economy — a boost. No doubt this is what the President is counting on.

WALL STREET, too, is counting on a profit explosion. It's significant that stock prices have advanced 70 per cent since 1955, whereas profits per share moved sideways (bumping the ceiling) until 1962 (see chart). This is the main hope in '64—a boom in the private sector of the economy.

Yet, in the light of the President's message, we must analyze this question: Will decreased federal spending deprive the economy of the pap on which it has nurtured?

Treatments For Headaches Differ

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What could cause severe pain, mostly on the right side of the head? I feel as though there is pressure. The pain frequently makes my eyes water. I also have ulcers.—MRS. M.

One possibility is histamine cephalgia, or "histamine headache." This is a one-sided headache as a rule, accompanied by heavy flowing of tears in the eye on that side. This type of headache frequently occurs at night. Desensitization with histamine helps.

There is also a one-sided headache, the migraine, which tends to bother a person who is inclined to ulcers—the hard-driving, exacting perfectionist.

For this type of headache, the treatment is entirely different. Making a deliberate effort to change your mode of life, and learning to relax and ride along with problems instead of staying constantly keyed up, is one part. In addition, certain drugs based on ergotamine tartrate and the like, are helpful in preventing such a headache. The patient has to learn the signs of an approaching migraine, since these drugs do their best work before the headache has started, rather than after.

My advice is to have your doctor analyze all the symptoms and then determine your type of headache. Only then can you do an effective job of curbing or stopping it.

Dear Dr. Molner: My nine-year-old son suffered frostbite of the scrotum from playing in the snow too long. Will this make him sterile? My doctor says he doesn't think so at this age.—MRS. A. D.

I, too, doubt that it will cause sterility. The frostbite was of the skin covering, rather than of the testicles themselves.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have frozen some green beans, carrots and other fruits and vegetables. Is there danger of being poisoned by any of them?—B.C.

Not if you froze them properly. They should be cleaned before freezing, and then frozen as quickly as possible. Keep them frozen until you are ready to use them.

Thawing and refreezing permit the growth of bacteria during the warmer periods.

When you are ready to use vegetables, unthaw, then cook them.

Most food poisoning cases can be traced to (a) inadequate cooking or (b) letting food sit at ordinary temperatures, or in a warm place. You can't beat an old rule for safe food: Keep it hot, keep it cold, or don't keep it!

Count your calories the easy way! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

To Err Is Human ...?

Not all the problems of running a newspaper come under the heading of appealing irate readers, or ducking from those of differing political views. A lot of them are compounded from the intricacies attached to getting words into type and onto the printed page.

THERE MUST BE 400 ways to make an error in the paper, and by and large we around here have used up some 308 of them. Try as one will, there just seems to be no reasonable explanation as to how some of them occurred.

Another inexplicable thing is that the boo-boos seem to go in waves. We had one advertiser who assumed—with some basis, I suppose—that we were taking dead aim at him when errors appeared in about four of his ads consecutively. And the news columns, for days on end, can be caught up in a mish-mash of wrong names, incorrect addresses, erroneous spelling and all the rest of it.

IF A REPORTER is in a daydream, it appears that the copy reader, and the printer supposedly making corrections are in the same state at the same time. All of them are trying, but all of them are in a hurry, and most of them are human. This is about the only explanation I know.

Well, we have run our share of corrections, but I'm not sure that we ever reached the degree that one small paper did—this according to a rich story that has traveled around the newspaper business.

HERE'S THE so-called history of a classified ad:
MONDAY: "For sale: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale, Pho. 958. Call after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him cheap."

TUESDAY: "We regret having erred in R. D. Smith's ad yesterday. It should have read: For Sale: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Pho. 958 after 5 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him after 7 p.m."

WEDNESDAY: "R. D. Smith has informed us that he has received several annoying telephone calls because of an error in his classified ad yesterday. His ad stands corrected: For sale: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Pho. 958 after 5 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him."

THURSDAY: "NOTICE: I, R. D. Smith, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 958, the phone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Kelly. Until yesterday, she was my housekeeper."

I SUPPOSE it would be superficial to say that Mr. Smith wasn't charged for any of his advertising, and that he is no longer a subscriber to his paper.

On second thought, he probably would want to keep on taking the paper, just to see what it could do with any other ads that might appear. There, supposedly, was another one, which went like this:

"FOR SALE: The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church have discarded clothing of all kinds. They may be seen in the church basement any day after 6 o'clock."

Goldwater's Shaky Start

WASHINGTON — One of the best things that happened to Candidate Eisenhower in 1952 was the long-remembered gibe by Scripps-Howard papers that Ike was "running like a dry creek." It was after this friendly prod that the general began to speak up about "the mess in Washington," and climaxed his campaign with the promise that he would "go to Korea" and see if honorable peace were possible.

ON THIS PRECEDENT, it would be doing Barry Goldwater a timely favor to say, in baseball lingo, that he hasn't yet found the strike zone, but has been delivering a series of wild pitches and has been throwing more bean balls than strikes.

His tactics may not hurt him much early in the game, but they are storing up trouble. In 1960 Goldwater taunted Lyndon Johnson many times for hanging onto his Senate nomination while also running on the national ticket. Johnson, said Goldwater, was doing this because he expected the Kennedy-Johnson ticket to lose. The same logic, of course, now applies to the Arizona senator, who's running simultaneously for his Senate seat and the GOP nomination.

GOLDWATER'S FORTE has been frankness, but he began his campaign by falling away from this strong position. What are his reasons for refusing to debate Gov. Rockefeller? As the present front-runner, Goldwater could decline for that reason alone. Instead, he says in one interview that he is campaigning on principles and not personalities. In another interview, he scoffs at Rockefeller as a "New Frontiersman," and hence not worthy of debate.

UNHAPPILY, the true reason for the senator's timidity was suggested in a "Meet the Press" telecast on January 5th. It was an occasion when he showed what was either a flustered inability to ad lib dialogue or an alarming ignorance of the American Constitution, the foundation rock to which he clings.

Surely, Goldwater ought to know from his years in the Senate that a President can recall an ambassador and sever diplomatic relations with any country at will. It is not true, as Goldwater seemed to say, that such action required consent of Congress. Luckily, Goldwater made this fluff on a discussion panel, for it would have been much more hurtful in debate. But he didn't sound like a man who'd worked up much familiarity with the Constitution.

ALL THIS IS said, and more could be added, by way of urging Goldwater to speak up from knowledge, or not at all. A modest and honest man, he owes that much to his vast following of admirers, hitherto uncritical of him, and to his own chances to win.

Above all, Goldwater has the burden of making millions of Americans believe that he can outdo Lyndon Johnson in the handling of the national economy, the race question, the programming of legislation and the conduct of relationships with allies and enemies.

The Schedule For Congress

WASHINGTON — "Everything but the kitchen sink and then the sink, too." That is the slightly irreverent way one Johnson lieutenant heralded the President's State of the Union Message.

As invariably happens, late additions made it an even richer mixture. Various suggestions came from the congressional leaders as they met with President Johnson on the day before the message was delivered.

THE MESSAGE is a strong political document that will carry far into the campaign to come. What is more at this stage, with the pressure in the LBJ boiler pushed up to the highest notch, there is surprising optimism about what can be achieved in a session of six months, with the national conventions setting an arbitrary deadline.

Not only the two Kennedy "musts," civil rights and the tax cut, but medical care for the aged under Social Security and perhaps even a youth employment bill are on the White House list.

GIVEN THE DISMAL record of the last session, these are a lot of chickens to count so early in the hatching process. Humphrey, whose energy and drive have at least a family resemblance to the ceaseless Johnson push, will play a more important role this time. Since Sen. Mike Mansfield, the majority leader, is up for re-election and must, therefore, spend considerable time campaigning in Montana, Humphrey in the current session will carry a bigger share of the burden.

THERE IS AS yet less than full agreement on strategy. Humphrey and the liberals would like to see civil rights put ahead of the tax bill. Then, as the filibuster stretches out, so their argument goes, Republican senators will get word from the business community to join in adopting the civil rights program, if only to clear the track for tax reduction.

But if the tax cut already passed by the House is delayed beyond April, it will not be made, judging by previous administrative experience, retroactive to January 1. A tax cut covering only the period after April or May would mean a much smaller boost in business than is now being assumed in the rosy prophecies of a boom year.

THAT IS THE reason, as the President says in his message, why he is determined that taxes shall have priority. Prosperity is the first order of business in an election year. The President's crusade against poverty would not get far in an atmosphere of recession or threatening recession.

Measured by the recent congressional pace, six months is a very short time. To doubters the President is saying with all his yeasty eagerness: Why not eight sessions every night running until 9 or 10 o'clock? One answer is that majority leader Mansfield, who Mr. Johnson put in that office when he became vice president, is opposed to night meetings. He wants to preserve the dignity of the Senate and avoid what he has called a circus atmosphere.

IT WILL TAKE a special and dramatic effort to overcome the habit of inertia. The question is whether Congress, for all the zeal of the new President, is ready for it.

Flexon's Klaxon

SUMMERLAND KEY, Fla. (AP)—Floyd Flexon uses his automobile horn to help him catch sharks. He strings a bait line across a channel near his home and connects it to the horn. When the horn blows, it means a shark is on the hook.

Flexon sells the sharks to a restaurant which features them as an exotic menu item. More and more customers are acquiring a taste for shark and the restaurant owner says he can use all Flexon can catch.

THEY!
MY
IN THE PAPER

Sure it is! And you're looking at it right now.
Most people get their pictures in the paper because they've done something. But not I!
I haven't done anything. Not yet, that is...
But one of these days I'm going to do lots of things. Big things. Great things. Why, I might even be President of the United States some day.
Want to know why my picture's in the paper?
Because I'm one of millions of youngsters who needs to grow up with faith, fortitude, character.
And we boys and girls want you to come to Church next Sunday — and to bring us with you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Coahoma Contest

Linda Hauser, daughter of Mrs. Alice Payne, Coahoma, and Ted Cearley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cearley, Coahoma, are contestants in the Mr. and Mrs. CHS competition slated for Jan. 25 in the Coahoma auditorium. There are 32 entrants. Refreshments and entertainment round out the program, which is sponsored by the senior class.

Seniors Plan CHS Contest

By CAROLYN WILSON

This first week back from Christmas vacation has been a busy one at Coahoma High School. During a class meeting Monday, seniors made plans for the annual Mr. and Miss CHS contest. The theme is centered around a winter scene. Claude Hodnett and Kay Porter, Mr. and Miss CHS, 1963 will be Snow King and Queen. The contest is scheduled for Jan. 25 in the high school auditorium.

Monday at 7:30 p.m. both the FHA and FFA will hold monthly meetings. FHA will meet in the activity room to discuss Achievement Day to be held in February. FHA sponsors the sewing and cooking divisions of the contest. Plans for awards are being made also. FFA will meet in the VA shop. Vernon Long is the club's president.

Seniors are preparing their pages in the Bulldog annual. Earlier the class brought their "baby-snaps" for the special page. Honors received in high school will be listed with the seniors' pictures.

Tuesday the CHS basketball teams won two of three games with the Forsan Buffaloes. The boys A and B teams came out on top, but the girls team lost. Hayden Norris scored 33 points for the A team. Sandie Clanton was high point scorer for the girls. Friday the girls team played the HCJC girls team, the boys teams traveled to Roscoe. Tuesday CHS hosts Rotan. Friday the teams travel to Jim Ned.

Thursday the Coahoma High School faculty met the Coahoma Quarterback Club in a fierce game of basketball. Proceeds went to the Quarterback Club's treasury to support the CHS sports facilities.

BSHS JUNIOR WINS RECORD

Winner of the regular weekly record drawing is Janice Huse, Big Spring High School junior. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Huse, 3206 Drexel, Big Spring. Winners of the records can come by the Herald office and get the record certificate. Records are furnished by the Record Shop, 211 Main, Big Spring.

FTA Projects Scheduled At BSHS

By SHARON SMITH

The Future Teachers of America, one of the most active Big Spring High School organizations, has several projects planned for January. Among the projects is the continuation of the program to honor four teachers each week. An FTA member is assigned to each teacher to help him or her in any way he can. FTA is planning to attend the state convention, to be held in Austin Feb. 28-29. Approximately 10 will go to Austin.

Attendance is determined by the point system. Another activity in which the FTA as well as the Key Club and the athletes will participate is the March of Dimes bread sale. Each club will work in a specific section of town. Prizes will be given to the three organizations with the largest bread sales. Prizes are $25, $15 and $10.

The Library Club will attend the State TALA Convention Feb. 13-15 in Houston. Those selected to go are Charlotte Shrive, Ann Isaacs, Jean Fannin, Connie Thornton, Priscilla Grizzard and Sue Faulkenberry. Miss Kathleen Fisk will sponsor the group.

This week is dead week. Exams will be given Wednesday and Thursday beginning at 8:35. School will be dismissed at 3 p.m. There will be no school Friday or Jan. 24.

Last Saturday 50 band students went to Midland to try out in the Region Band Contest. Three choir students went to Odessa yesterday for the All State Choir.

Class Officers

Forsan Future Homemakers Have Program On Citizenship

By BETTYE CONGER

Forsan Future Homemakers met Monday. Orveta Fryar, Janette Rutherford and Dianne Brooks presented a program on citizenship. The business of the meeting was voting for the first vice president of area officers. The FHA Sweetheart Banquet will be held Feb. 15. At this time the FHA Beau will be revealed.

Mid-term exams will begin Wednesday. First and third period exams are scheduled Wednesday. Fourth and fifth period exams will be given Thursday. Friday will conclude the exams with second and sixth periods. Students will be dismissed after their last exam if they have transportation. Otherwise they will remain in classes until the buses run.

The Student Council met Tuesday. The Council is going to buy binders for the National Geographic and National Wildlife Magazines to be placed in the library.

The senior class had a meeting Wednesday. They plan to raffie off a 22-automatic rifle in order to raise money for their senior trip. The rifle will be given away at the last home basketball game. Anyone interested should contact a senior.

The Forsan basketball teams played the Coahoma Bulldogs here Tuesday. The boys B team won in a three-minute overtime by a score of 35-34. Forsan won the girls game by a score of 57-48. The Forsan boys were defeated by a score of 61-53.

A girls basketball tournament was held at Forsan Friday and Saturday. The teams entered were Forsan, Sterling City, Coahoma, Rankin, Klondike and Robert Lee. Trophies were given to the first, second, third and consolation. Twelve players were named to the all-tournament team.

Forsan opens their district play in basketball Friday at Bronte. Forsan has an open date Tuesday due to mid-term exams.

Y Banquet Date Set

By NANCY HEDLESTON

Jan. 24 is the date of the annual YMCA banquet. At this banquet a plaque will be presented by the Y's Men Club to an outstanding girl and boy in the YMCA. The Hi-Y Council nominated five girls and five boys. They are Nancy Thomas, Jan Anderson, Charlotte Shive, Tommie Lou Hutto, Nancy Hedleston, Dick Irons, Coye Conner, Baxter Moore, Bill Worley and Ricky Robertson. These members were voted on by all the members of the Tri-Hi-Ys and Hi-Ys. The winners will be announced at a later date.

The New Year's Dance proved to be a success money wise.

Tournament At HCJC

By CLAUDIA RICHARDSON

The Women's Recreational Association at Howard County Junior College sponsored a pee-wee basketball tournament Thursday - Saturday. The proceeds of the tournament go into the WRA scholarship fund. The club, sponsored by Miss Anna Smith, Dean of Women, awards a scholarship each year.

Several clubs met last week. This week is dead week and there will be no meetings.

Phi Theta Kappa met Wednesday to discuss plans for the spring initiation.

Monday WRA met in the SUB parlor. Pictures were made for the annual and skits were presented by freshmen girls.

The Biology Club and the Baptist Student Union also met. The Howard County Jayhawk Queens scored a victory Friday over Coahoma High School girls basketball team.

The Jayhawks will host amarillo College Tuesday.

Semester exams are scheduled for Jan. 20-24. The fall semester officially closes Jan. 24. Registration for the spring semester begins Jan. 29.

Citizens Of The Month Chosen At Stanton

By CAROLYN SPRINGER

Linda Lawson and Buddy Shanks have been named Stanton High School Citizens of the Month. They were guests of the Lions Club Tuesday. Linda is a senior and Buddy is a freshman.

Students considered for this honor should be courteous, honest, alert, respectful, ambitious, conscientious, tactful, energetic and resourceful.

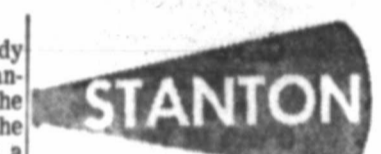

Stanton High held its football banquet Friday. Speaker was Bill Milam, head coach at Stanton. The banquet was sponsored by the Buffalo Booster Club.

Football teams received their jackets and sweaters in assembly last week. The coaches presented red jackets trimmed in gray.

The Future Teachers are selling Buffalo pillows. They can be purchased from a club member for $1.50.

The Student Council is planning a spring banquet, election of officers and a trip to the state Student Council meeting in Houston.

Mid-term exams will be given Wednesday and Thursday. School will be dismissed at 2:30 on these days.

Second semester begins Jan. 20. Schedule changes may be made during the first week of the semester.

Several FFA members are preparing for the county livestock show Jan. 17-18.

The Drama Club presented Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie" Saturday in the high school auditorium. The cast included Cindy Britton, Linda Caffey, Ronnie Driggers and Gary Clinton. The play was directed by Mr. Chuck Worley.

Students are preparing for the Interscholastic League spelling contest to be held in the spring. Mr. Rance Baker is in charge of the group.

The boys and girls basketball teams played their first district games at Alpine Saturday. Coaches are Bill Milam, June Steadham, Doyle Edmiston and Roy Dodds.

Linda Franklin and Beth Briggs are the girls captains.

High Salesman Announced At Runnels Junior High

By JAN CAMPBELL

The Runnels band closed the fruitcake sales the week before Christmas. High Salesmen for these sales were announced this week. They are Sherry Stroup, who was given a $10 prize. The second prize, $7.50, went to Mike Hubbard. Mollie McBride won third prize, $5. The band will go to Hood Junior High in Odessa, March 14 to compete in the Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contest.

Runnels choir members are trying out for the Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contest. Local winners of the contest will go to Permian High in Odessa, March 21. The entire choir will travel to Permian for the concert contest April 11.

The FHA executive council met Monday. FHA is planning a Valentine Party for the Crippled Children's Center. All Future Homemakers are urged to bring their contributions to CARE. The treasurer from each home-making class is making a donation container for her class' contribution.

Several teachers from Runnels will be attending the TEA workshops in Midland in Feb.-Apr. Varied subjects will be held on Saturdays.

Mid-term exams are scheduled this week. Second and sixth period exams will be given Tuesday; first and fifth period tests, Wednesday; and third and fourth exams, Thursday. There will be review classes before each quiz.

A pep rally was held Monday in the gym before the basketball game with Goliad. Miss Velma Biagrave gave a pep talk. A grass pep rally was also held Monday. The eighth and ninth cheerleaders lead the yells.

A spring formal committee was appointed at the student council meeting Tuesday. Members will begin working on plans and arrangements for the spring formal.

There will be no classes Friday.

Who's Who Selected At Sands High School

By GLYNDA FLEMING

Faculty members recently elected 10 students for "Who's Who." They will be recognized in the school yearbook, the Mustang.

These students are Sue Bledsoe, Glynda Fleming, seniors; Ruth Lemon, Martha Robinson, Robbie Brown, Sam Tarbet, juniors; Ann Lemon, sophomore; Vickie Brinson, Lynn Maxwell, and Randy Hambrick, freshmen.

Nine weeks exams were given on Thursday and Friday last week. Report cards will be distributed Wednesday.

The pee-wee teams from both elementary schools, Knott and Ackerly, were entered in the tournament at HCJC last week. The Mustangs were hosts to Loop Friday, the third conference game. The next opponent will be Dawson at Dawson Tuesday.

Top Ten

Top Ten Selected From Long List

By DENISE HEAD

The Top Ten, outstanding students from Goliad Junior High, were chosen from this list of nominees: Ninth grade—Dan Hamilton, Joe Lusk, Mark Price, David Tribolet, Mary Boren, Karen Crooker, Beverly Peters, a n d Donna Whitten; eighth grade—Bill Bennett, Ken Chad, Mike Collins, Danny Johnson, Richard Macklin, Janet Allison, Kay Alton, Cheryl Colclazer, Candy Cook, Debney Estes, Ann Garrett, Beth Hayworth, Sharon Houchin, Betty Johansen, Martha Jordan, Debbie Lester, Shirley Simonovic, Melissa Simpson, Brenda Smith, Sally Tribolet, and Lila Williams. Pictures were made last week for the annual.

The seventh grade art classes are engaged in a fascinating art study in the form of collage, which is the piecing together of materials to form a picture. Pa-returned by Wednesday. Agan Goliad was the site for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet held last night in the gym. The main speaker was Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, the former Minister of Finance of Hungary. "Free Enterprise or Disaster" was his subject. Outstanding citizens from local and nearby communities were honored.

The main event for this week at Goliad will be the semester exams for the freshman class, and the nine weeks test for the eighth and seventh grades. First and fourth period tests will be on Tuesday, second and fifth period tests Wednesday and third and sixth period tests Thursday. In order that teachers may complete necessary records, there will be no classes Friday. Second semester classes begin Jan. 20.

Big Spring schools are engaged in conducting the annual census. One student from each family has been given a blank to be signed by the parent and

Senior Takes SAT Test

WESTBROOK — Janie Putman, Westbrook High School senior, took the College Entrance Examination Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test Saturday at Snyder High School. This is one of the tests required for entrance in colleges. The other test usually required is the American Testing Program. (ACT).

The ACT tests will be given Feb. 15 at HCJC. Don Bird, Tommy Bryant, Donna Henderson and Louise Lewis have registered for the test.

The SAT and ACT tests permit colleges to make choices among students applying for admission and is considered with the student's high school record, letters of recommendation, and interviews. The courses, academic standards, and grading systems of secondary schools differ widely; The SAT and ACT scores are a means by which all applicants can be evaluated in similar terms.

Upon receipt of the SAT and ACT scores by the school, the counselor and teachers use the test results to evaluate the student's college plans.

'Kings' Tells Mayan Story

Based on an original story by Elliot Arnold, author of the novel "Blood Brother" from which the celebrated film "Broken Arrow" was adapted, "Kings of the Sun" has a cast of 15,000 players to bring to life on the screen the story of these giants of a lost world, their Mayan cities, fishing villages, homes, pyramids, temples and sacrificial altars.

It plays Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz Theatre.

Academy Award-winners Yul Brynner and George Chakiris are the picture's two top stars who share honors with lovely Shirley Anne Field, Richard Basehart and Brad Dexter. "Kings of the Sun" was directed for the screen by J. Lee Thompson of "The Guns of Navarone" and "Taras Bulba" fame.

Filmed in Panavision and Color by DeLuxe, "Kings of the Sun" discloses one of the world's great untold adventures of a people who conquered mountains and built great pyramids that touched the sky, at a time when European civilization had fallen from the grandeur of Greece and Rome into the long, shadowy sleep of the Dark Ages. Even bulldozers were brought in to carve a 12-mile road through the jungles to the sea. And as many as 15,000 costumes were executed, all made of handwoven materials and suede leather, such as the Mayans themselves used.

Caton Schedules Non-Jury Docket

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, has scheduled a non-jury civil docket starting Monday. The judge has scheduled a large number of cases for hearing.

He has warned litigants and their attorneys that many of these cases have been on the docket for a long time and if some decisive action is not taken that he plans to dismiss them on his own motion.

The Slave

Steve Reeves, the former Mr. America, and Italian beauty Omiretta Colli appear in "The Slave," playing Saturday at the Jet Drive-In in Big Spring.

Kings Of The Sun

Yul Brynner (left) and George Chakiris are Mayan Indians engaged in fierce combat in these scenes from "Kings of the Sun," playing Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz Theatre.

Auditions Set For Metropolitan Co.

Once again the search for new American talent for the Metropolitan Opera Company goes to San Antonio on Feb. 20-22. For the fifth year the Junior League of San Antonio will sponsor the Southwest Regional auditions which will attract promising singers from Texas, New Mexico and Mexico.

Anyone interested in the auditions may obtain official applications from Metropolitan Auditions, Junior League of San Antonio, 819 Augusta Street, San Antonio, Texas. The closing date for the return of applications is January 24, 1964.

Singers who wish to audition will be judged on Feb. 20-21. Those selected for the finals will have the opportunity of singing before Maestro Kurt Adler, chorus master and conductor of the Metropolitan on Feb. 22.

Maestro Adler will select the finalist, who will then be sent to New York to compete in the national semi-finals to be held on March 20, 1964. Expenses of this trip will be paid by the National Council. The second and third place regional winners will receive the Anne du Pont Peyton Memorial Awards of $200 and $100 respectively. In addition to these there will be an award of $250 in memory of DeWitt McLaughlin Terhune and a prize of $100 given as a memorial to Helen Campbell Kleberg.

A prize is also given by the Women's Committee of the San Antonio Symphony Society. Regional winners also will compete for scholarships. Rudolph Bing, general manager of the Met, will consider participants for contracts.

Dates For Little Theatre Productions Are Changed

Schedules for the 1964 presentations of the Big Spring Little Theatre group have been changed to fit the 1964 calendar. "The Emperor's New Clothes," which has been publicized previously as slated for Feb. 17-18, has been put back five days to Feb. 21-22. "George Washington Slept Here" will be staged April 10-11 instead of April 6-7.

Primary reason for the change was to put the productions on Friday and Saturday evenings to better fit into the schedules of both performers and persons wishing to attend.

The Films Club presentation will be at 8 p.m. at Howard County Junior College auditorium. "The Emperor's New Clothes," the story of a vain emperor who might classify as a "silly, shallow clothes horse," will be produced by Charles Carothers and directed by Paula Carothers. The cast has already been selected.

The next showing of the Big Spring Foreign Films Club is slated for Thursday. It will be "Babette Goes to War," a French picture. Also on the program for the evening are "For Better-Worse" and "Apple Blossom Time in Poland."

The Films Club presentation will be at 8 p.m. at Howard County Junior College auditorium.

UNUSUAL DESIGN

Stamp Of Ceylon Shows Terrain, Flora, Fauna

By SYD KRONISH
To commemorate its National Nature Conservation Week, the government of Ceylon has announced it will issue a new five cent stamp of unusual design. The stamp is divided in half with the left side showing a portion of the Ceylon terrain and the right half the flora and fauna of the island. The colors are blue and brown, reports the British Crown Agents in Washington.

The same source reports that eight new stamps have been issued by the Condominium of New Hebrides and are the first of 24 stamps to make up a new definitive series. Designs for the new set were the result of a competition by local artists.

HUMAN RIGHTS
Many nations have issued stamps honoring the 15th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights documented by the United Nations. The latest countries to report such issuances are the Republic of China, the Philippines, Togo and Pakistan. The Chinese set consists of two stamps. One stamp shows a torch of liberty being raised by persons of different races. The other stamp shows men with arms linked in a balanced scale, reports the World-Wide Philatelic Agency.

The American Topical Association has announced it will publish a new handbook entitled "Medical History in Philately." Its author is Dr. Gerhardt J. Newerla. The book will contain over 100 pages and show 6,000 stamps. The book represents 25 years of study by Dr. Newerla on this subject. It will sell for $5 and can be purchased directly from the American Topical Association, 3300 N. 50th St., Milwaukee, Wis.

CEYLON For Nature

Uruguay has issued two regular stamps and two airmails to honor the Uruguayan sailing vessel "Alferrez Campora" which made a trip around the world with a crew of three men. The 10 Centavos and 20 C show 3 anchors. The 90 C and 1.40 C airmail depict a sailing vessel and ocean waves. The ship made the successful trip in two years with a route starting at Montevideo going up the east coast of South America, through the Panama Canal, on through the Pacific to Indonesia and Ceylon, traversing the Red and Mediterranean Seas, through Gibraltar and finally back to Montevideo.

Porter Calls Criminal Jury Docket For Tuesday

Judge Lee Porter, Howard County Court, has set a criminal jury docket to open in his court Tuesday at 9 a.m. The judge and Wayne Burns, county attorney, are pursuing the same policy they followed in 1963—a series of regularly scheduled jury sessions by which they hope to keep the swollen county criminal docket to reasonable size.

The cases were originally docketed for Dec. 2. At that time, the docket was called. Some of the cases were heard that week. Others were tried the week of Dec. 10 and dockets were scheduled to open in the court Jan. 14 and Jan. 20.

Cases on the docket: McAllyn Edminston, DWI; Jerry F. King DWI and carrying arms; James L. Edwards, carrying arms; Bransford Bulls, negligent homicide; Clifton Woodard, contributing to delinquency of a minor; James W. De Mose, worthless check; Roger H. Payne, false and fraudulent representation; Willie Miles transporting; Dewey McElreath, worthless checks; D. C. Buchanan, worthless checks; Frank Rogers, theft by bailee; Emzie Woodard, liquor violation; Floyd Ramon, worthless check; Ramon Nunez, DWI; Robert L. Pearson, DWI; Dana O. Barton, DWI; William Paul Darrow, carrying arms; Johnny E. Baldrige, DWI; Jerry Glenn Hinson, DWI; Rafael Trevino, DWI; James L. Rutherford, DWI; Tanya E. Franklin, transporting liquor; Ed Flores, DWI; Douthitt C. Buchanan, driving under the influence of drugs; Roy L. Wyrick Sr., DWI.

DEAR ABBY

Other Thoughts On Symbol

DEAR READERS: I recently received a letter from a young woman who was enraged with her "narrow-minded" parents because they refused to give her a large church wedding, complete with white gown and veil. She said, "Their reason was that, when I was 17 I eloped with a boy the same age, and got pregnant right away. It was a big mixed-up mess. My folks had the marriage annulled and I gave the baby up for adoption." I replied, "Sogry, I can't help you because I happen to agree with your parents."

Many readers wrote to tell me I was wrong, that the girl was entitled to the kind of wedding she wanted. I had always held that a white wedding gown and veil were symbols of chastity, and to wear them without having earned them would be making a mockery of the ceremony. There appears to be an exception. I quote an article clipped from the Pueblo, Colorado, Catholic Register, sent to me by a reader:

"Q. What does a white veil mean to a bride? I say only a bride who is a virgin should wear a white veil. Are there exceptions?"

"A. The Church prescribes only that the bride's dress be decent. To forbid her to wear a white veil if she happens to have lost physical virginity through sin would be to force her to confess her sin in public, which no one is obliged to do.

"What is more, by thus advertising her sin she would actually create scandal and thus help bring virginity into disrepute.

"White is an emblem of virginity and purity. If the bride has confessed before her wedding, and received absolution, she is pure and chaste.

"One is unchaste who clings to unchastity, not one who at some time has done an unchaste act, and since repented.

"Even one who is not physically virgin can have what is formal in the virtue of virginity, his mind being so prepared that he has the purpose of safeguarding the integrity of the flesh, should it be fitting for him to do so (St. Thomas Aquinas, Summa, 11-11, 162, 4, 4)."

DEAR ABBY: You always give the same advice to the woman who finds out her husband has been unfaithful. "Forgive him," you advise, "and redouble your efforts to be a good wife."

I would advise the wife to pack up and leave him, and go to the comforting arms of her mother to cry it out. Then, when the husband comes to you on his hands and knees, and begs you to take him back, tell him you want more time to think it over. And make him wait some more. Finally, when he is really desperate, and begs you to come home again, go home to him, and you will live happily every after. MY SOLUTION DEAR MY: And what if he doesn't ask you?

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Candidates Invited To Club Meeting

All candidates for office are invited to attend the meeting of the Howard County Democratic Club set for 8 p.m. Monday in the Howard County Courtroom.

Frank Sabbato, president of the club, said, that all candidates who attend will be introduced and will be invited to make brief statements relative to their candidacies.

The meeting, Sabbato said, is basically to work out some method of boosting the issuance of poll tax receipts. A plan for a city-wide campaign to urge the residents to pay the poll tax is being considered.

Sabbato said that all Democrats who are willing to help in this work are urged to attend the meeting.

He pointed out that 1964 is an important political year and that so far, less than 3,000 of the county's potential total of 10,000 to 12,000 voters have acquired poll tax receipts which would qualify them to vote. Deadline for poll tax payments is Jan. 31.

MEN IN SERVICE

Army Pvt. Charlie Brown, 23, was assigned to the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood in December. He completed basic training at Fort Polk, La., and is now a member of Headquarters Company, 1st Battalion in the division's 81st Armor.

He was graduated from Blackshear High School in Lamesa in 1959 and worked for the Trinity Compress in Lamesa before entering the Army in October, 1963. His mother, Mrs. Amanda Brown, lives at 9 S. 11th St., Lamesa, and his father, Allen Brown, lives at 142 Canyon Ave., Lamesa.

Army Pvt. David E. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant A. Harris, Garden City, completed eight weeks of military police training at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Gordon, Ga., in mid-December. During the course, Harris received instruction in such subjects as civil and military law, traffic control, map reading, prisoner-of-war control and self-defense.
