Tanganyika Army Rising Calms Down

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP)—Tanganyika troops mutinied today but returned to their barracks at the intervention of President Julius Nyerere, he told the nation by radio.

For a few hours the British feared an African nationalist revolution that recently swept the sultan from his throne in nearby Zanzibar had spread to Tanganyika, one of the most stable of the former British colonies in Africa.

A few hundred armed Tanganyika soldiers, demanding better pay and living conditions, had held their British officers as hostages for 12 hours. About 30 British officers were reported seized.

NO TROOPS Britain has no troops stationed in Tanganyika except for British officers on loan to help train the Tanganyika army.

Nyerere blamed the incident on a misunderstanding, but said it had been settled after he intervened.

Before the mutinous soldiers returned to camp, there were reports of beatings and looting by local Africans who took advantage of the situation.

About 50 U.S. government employees plus their dependents are in Tanganyika. The U.S. Embassy in London received a message that so far as was known, all Americans were safe.

The Americans include some 25 members of the Peace Corps, most of them engaged in a road-building project and a teaching program outside the capital.

Word reaching Nairobi, in neighboring Kenya, said troops of one battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, seized a barracks 10 miles from Dar es Salaam. Then they moved into the capital and grabbed the airport, the cable office, the post office and the official residence of President Julius Nyerere.

It was not known immediately whether Nyerere was being detained. Miles said he tried to make contact with the president without success.

The acting British commissioner also appealed to the 10,000 Europeans in Dar es Salaam to stay indoors. He was understood to be personally sheltering several British families, including wives and children of some British officers seized by the mutineers.

First accounts indicated the mutiny was not particularly political in character. The soldiers were said to be disgruntled over their pay and conditions. It also was understood that some of the army was not involved.

TO ZANZIBAR The Tanganyika government had sent 300 policemen to Zanzibar to help restore order in that spice island, and the dispatching of these policemen seriously weakened Dar es Salaam's security forces.

The office of Central African Airways in Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, was closed to incoming traffic.

The BBC correspondent in the Tanganyika capital said shooting had broken out in the city's Oyster Bay area.

The correspondent said the Army's British commander, Brig. Patrick Sholto - Douglas, had tried to contact other units 400 miles from the capital, but couldn't find out whether they had joined the mutiny.

Poll Tax Receipts Clarified

If South Dakota ratifies the federal constitutional amendment which would be payment of any tax or fee to qualify for the right to vote in any federal election, it will not be necessary, as reported, for a Texas voter to have two poll tax receipts in order to vote for federal and state officers.

If South Dakota takes this ratification step, it will be the 38th state to do so and the federal amendment will become effective.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor, pointed out that the Texas election code, anticipating the development, had prepared a solution.

The voter who does not want to pay a poll tax but wants to vote for president, vice president, congressmen and senators in federal elections, will have a 30 day period after the official formal ratification of the federal amendment is announced in which to obtain a receipt to insure his right to ballot in federal elections. This document is similar to a poll tax receipt but will have the legend "Poll tax not paid," stamped across it.

However, the voter who wants to ballot in county, city, state and district elections as well as in the national elections will have to have a paid poll tax receipt. This receipt is all he needs, Mrs. LeFevre said, to qualify him to vote in all elections.

It had been published erroneously that a voter must have two receipts in his possession to insure his right to vote in all elections. This, Mrs. LeFevre emphasized, is not the case.

Monday morning saw a brisk turnout of poll tax receipt applicants.

has every confidence that the motion he will file to vacate the order will be granted. However, such action may take from three weeks to five weeks.

UNDECIDED In the interval, what is the impact of the "stay proceedings" order? No one seems to know. Most observers are of the opinion such an order would certainly cloud any effort the Big Spring district might make to vote bonds, if such action is taken before the ultimate solution on the matter.

Jones has now filed his brief in the U.S. Supreme Court combatting an effort the two common schools are making in their tribunal to set aside their annexation to the Big Spring district.

A JUDGMENT There would seem, he said, to be no proceedings pending in the court to be stayed under the terms of the order of last Friday.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, received a letter from the appeals court this morning advising him of the order and instructing that the mandate of the court, dated Aug. 9, 1963 be returned to the court.

Jones said that it is unusual for the court to ask that a mandate be returned. He said that the only instances he recalls were matters in which grave errors in the names of litigants had occurred and the recall was for the sole purpose of making corrections.

Big Spring Due To Seek Annulment Of Stay Order

Big Spring Independent School District, through its attorneys, will file a motion, probably today, in the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals to vacate an order to stay proceedings in the Gay Hill-Center Point School annexation case.

Gil Jones, attorney for the Big Spring school district, said that the action of the court in granting a motion to stay proceedings filed by the two schools, was unexpected and puzzling. He pointed out that in a mandate issued by the court Aug. 8, 1963, the court had rejected the pleas of the two schools. When a mandate is handed down by the appeals court, he explained, it is a judgment of the court.

There would seem, he said, to be no proceedings pending in the court to be stayed under the terms of the order of last Friday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson predicted today record-smashing prosperity in 1964 if Congress acts—"not in one or two or three months but now"—on the $11 billion tax cut.

Without it, Johnson warned the legislators, the rosy picture could become harsh—"dashed expectation could turn expansion into recession."

In his first economic report to Congress, the new President also cautioned against inflationary price rises.

"A series of specific price increases in recent months—especially in manufactured goods—gives me some cause for concern," he said, although he doesn't anticipate a renewal of the wage-price spiral.

He urged business and labor to continue their "excellent" record of price and cost settlements but said he is setting up an "early warning system" by government agencies to guard against potentially inflationary price and wage increases.

"In the face of a 44 per cent increase in corporate profits in less than three years and the prospect of further increases to come with the tax cut, I see no warrant for inflationary price rises," he declared.

In the economic report to Congress, required annually under the 1948 Employment Act, Johnson made clear he was the new wagonmaster for the New Frontier legislative train. And he pointed with pride at the big steps the country made since 1961, years under Democratic administrations.

BETTER LIFE "Our record $100 billion expansion since early 1961 has carried us past important milestones in the march toward a better life," he said.

Turning to last year specifically, he said these advances were made for the first time in history:

—The Gross National Product (GNP) — The total output of goods and services—passed the $600 billion mark by year-end.

—Personal income (before taxes) reached an average rate of some $2,500 per capita by year-end.

—After-tax income of individuals exceeded $400 billion for the year.

—Corporate profits exceeded $30 billion before taxes and $23 billion after taxes.

—Residential construction passed $25 billion.

—Civilian employment exceeded 78 million for the year.

14 PER CENT Johnson said this $600 billion annual rate the GNP reached in the fourth quarter of 1963 is a 14 per cent increase since 1961.

With the tax cut, he added, GNP should soar to a whopping $623 billion in 1964.

When fully effective in 1965, he asserted, the cut will "send well over $11 billion annually coursing through the arteries of the private economy."

Benefits will be reaped year after year, he said, and will lead "at long last to a balanced budget in a balanced economy at full potential."

KENNEDY LABEL Also on Johnson's list of legislation he wants whipped through were these items, practically all bearing the Kennedy administration label:

1. Higher penalty rates for overtime pay to stimulate new hiring by some industries without resorting to a 35-hour week which he said would "only redistribute work, not expand it."

2. Federal aid to upgrade education, particularly for "the children of the poor, so that they need not follow their parents in poverty."

3. Hospital insurance under Social Security for the aged.

4. Federal aid to cities in modernizing mass transit.

5. Renewal and strengthening of a number of expiring housing laws, including low-rent public housing, renewal of decayed city areas, and special housing for the elderly.

MINIMUM WAGE 6. Coverage of some 2.5 million more workers by the $1.25 minimum wage law, including some 650,000 hotel, motel, restaurant, laundry, dry cleaning and farm-processing workers.

7. Permanent improvement in the duration and benefits of unemployment insurance.

8. A rash of legislation "to lift the forgotten fifth of our nation above the poverty line."

For this "war on poverty" which Johnson declared in his State of the Union message, the President said he would present details in later special message to Congress. But he declared: "Americans today enjoy the highest standard of living in the history of mankind. But for nearly a fifth of our fellow citizens this is a hollow achievement. They often live without hope, below minimum standards of decency."

Johnson said the per capita income "of these 35 million men, women and children" was only $290 in 1962, against $1,900 per capita for the nation as a whole.

As a diplomatic maneuver, Johnson placed heavy emphasis on declaring the peace aims of his foreign policy instead of replying at length to points in Khrushchev's letter to which he and his advisers strongly objected.

Johnson's four guidelines covered these major points:

1. All governments or "regimes"—which would include Red China—"shall abstain from the direct or indirect threat or use of force" to change international boundaries or dividing lines established by international practice, to upset trace agreements, or to alter existing arrangements for access to or administration of areas where the arrangements are established by international agreement or practice. This first guideline would also ban the use of threat or of force by any government to enlarge its control of territory by overthrowing "established authority."

2. The prohibition on aggressive action "shall apply regardless of the direct or indirect form which such threat or use of force might take, whether in the form of aggression, subversion, or clandestine supply of arms" and regardless of the reasons given or of any questions of diplomatic recognition or differences in political systems.

3. The nations involved in any serious dispute "shall seek a solution by peaceful means" including the possibility of action through the United Nations or a regional U.N. agency.

4. The obligations covered in the guideline "would have to be quite generally observed" and would not impair the "inherent right of self defense" which is recognized by the U.N. charter.

Early Summit Conference Seen On Malaysian Issue

MANILA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and President Diosdado Macapagal said today after a three-hour talk that prospects are encouraging for an early summit meeting on the Malaysia crisis.

Kennedy, here on the second leg of his peacemaking tour for President Johnson, briefed Macapagal on results of his talks with Indonesian President Sukarno, who has vowed to smash the new federation.

A statement said Macapagal told Kennedy the Philippines has tried all along to restore Maphilindo, the association of Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines which broke apart when Malaysia was formed in September. Although the Philippines also has not recognized Malaysia, Macapagal promised to continue his peace efforts.

SEEK SETTLEMENT Kennedy has been urging a three-nation conference to seek a peaceful settlement of the quarrel between Indonesia and Malaysia. Macapagal noted that the Philippines had been seeking the same thing since September.

Kennedy told newsmen on his arrival from South Korea Sunday night there was a good chance the crisis can be solved.

"Some progress has been made," he said.

Macapagal appeared pleased with his meeting with Kennedy and said it bolstered his hopes for a peaceful solution of the crisis.

MALAYSIA CHIEF Asked whether he will meet soon with Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, he said, "it looks like it."

The Philippines has refused to recognize Malaysia because of a claim to the Malaysian state of Sabah, formerly British North Borneo. Sukarno claims Malaysia is a British plot to encircle Indonesia.

differences with Malaysia as a result of his talks with Kennedy.

Some observers believe that the damage the feud is doing to Indonesia's economy and Sukarno's fear that the Philippines will recognize the federation, thus isolating Indonesia, will force him to back down.

'CRUSH' CAMPAIGN Some Western diplomats contend, however, that Sukarno will continue his "crush Malaysia campaign" until the federation collapses or joins the Indonesian orbit. These sources believe Sukarno has gone too far to pull back without a victory.

Meanwhile, in Jakarta, capital of Indonesia, workers moved to seize the property of the Shell Oil Co. and other British firms, but acting president Johannes Leimena called for a halt to all attempts to take over British business interests.

Leimena, in a statement published by the official Antara news agency, pointed out that Sukarno was still abroad. He asked that all people comply with presidential decree issued following the seizure in September of some British properties. Most of these firms are now operated by government-management teams.

Hint For Auto Price Cut Voiced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's chief economic adviser, Walter W. Heller, dropped a broad hint today that the automobile industry was making enough money to warrant a reduction in car prices.

In the Council of Economic Advisers' report to the President, Chairman Heller said industries which have an unusually high rate of productivity could afford to pass along some of the financial benefits to consumers.

Asked specifically if this referred to the automobile industry, he said, "The automobile industry could well be one of those."

Stiff Fight Mapped As Dread Weevil Invades Howard County

Boll weevils, not heretofore a major problem to cotton growers here, have now invaded Howard County farms and pose an immediate threat to the future of this crop.

Unless drastic steps are taken to block the advance of this pest, the end of cotton as a principal crop on the High Plains is in sight.

To combat this evil, a program has been drafted by the Plains Cotton Growers Association to spend two million dollars waging war on the weevil.

Half of this money would come from the growers.

Jimmy Taylor, agricultural officer for the First National Bank, has been named as the Howard County chairman and his responsibility will be to wage a campaign in this county to raise the money from growers for the war chest.

PLAN "The plan," said Taylor, "is much like that used in the war on screwworms. The weevils have invaded from the east, and the line of their advance has been established. The 23 counties in the High Plains area, of which this is the southernmost, will be blanketed along the weevil advanced line by approved poisons from the air.

"This poison will be applied at the stage in the weevil's existence just before he begins hibernation. The plan calls for federal funds on a dollar-for-dollar basis."

Taylor said the advance of weevils into Howard County in the past season has been frightening.

"I checked scores of fields in all parts of Howard County," said Taylor. "I found weevils in nearly every field. The infestation varied. Some fields had only 10 per cent but there were other fields with as much as 50 per cent infestation. The only thing that saved the cotton grower this past season from heavy damage was the late invasion."

INITIATED Taylor attended a meeting in Lubbock Friday at which this program was initiated. Basically the plan is to set up a buffer zone and to seek to control the weevil in that stage of its life termed the "diapause."

Taylor was one of the men named to the committee to develop a recommended system of collecting the money from the cotton growers. Others on the committee are J. Weldon Martin, O'Donnell; Morris Thomas, Cotton Center; Bob Simmons, Spur; and Don Anderson, Crosby.

The meeting was told there is little doubt but that matching federal funds will be available and that if the growers contribute their share, a war chest of $2,000,000 will be available for the program. The war will begin in the fall of 1964. In the season ahead, if the weevils hibernate in this area (tests are being run to find out if they do or if they migrate), Howard County cotton growers could have a graphic demonstration

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to satisfy everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are at least 18 scalp conditions that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it, before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered promptly, by mail and without obligation.

DENOMINATIONAL

My correspondent says, "If denominationalism is a sin, the 'Church of Christ' is no less guilty of that sin than are the Baptists or Presbyterians." He is in one of these last two; and knows he cannot deny that being denominational. He wants to pin onto me and my brethren, the same guilt. Many people today do not want to admit that the church can exist without being denominational. Yet I have never met the man who will deny that the first century church was undenominational.

Most people do not seem willing to even try to be undenominational Christians today. And it seems they do not want others to be. They refuse to admit that any people are, or can be. They seem embarrassed when some group announces the determination to be just Christians, and thus call themselves simply, Church of Christ.

We recommend the singing school this week at 14th and Main; nightly at 7:30.

How much longer can we hand you this line?

Forever, we hope. Because nobody ever intends to change the Volkswagen's shape. The only reason the Volkswagen is ever changed is to make it work even better. The money that isn't spent on outside changes is spent inside the car. This system provides an immense advantage: Time. Years of it. There's time to improve parts and still keep most of them interchangeable. (Which is why it's so easy to get VW parts, and why our mechanics don't wake up screaming.) There's time to put an immense amount of hand work into each VW, and to finish each one like a $6,000 machine. And this system has also kept the price of the Volkswagen almost the same over the years. Some cars keep changing and stay the same. Volkswagens stay the same and keep changing.

Deaths From Violence Show Increase For '63 In County

Violence was rampant in Howard County in 1963 and the vital statistics kept by Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, reveal that one out of each 11 deaths recorded in the year was caused by mishap rather than disease. There were 41 such deaths recorded.

Almost two times as many untimely deaths occurred in 1963 as in 1962. In that year there were only 22 such fatalities recorded. The year just ended compares with 1961. The number of violent deaths that year was 42—all time high.

As usual, year after year, in this county automobiles and firearms took the most lives in the violent death category. The records include 16 certificates in which injuries received in motor car mishaps were cited as the cause of death. The records for 1962 showed 12 such deaths and for 1961, there are 13 car deaths listed.

This past year, several of the deaths charged to the county stemmed from accidents which did not originate in this county. The victims of these tragedies were brought here and died either en route or after arrival at hospitals.

Guns accounted for nine deaths in 1963. These included homicides, accidents and suicides.

In the list of car deaths, one finds instances where a fatality is charged to a motor car but is not listed on the county-city fatality report. These are accidents in which persons were killed by cars while on private property and not on a street or road. Such deaths do not go on the traffic death box score charged to the county.

Several other fatalities on the 1963 list are deaths of persons who were brought here from other counties for treatment after accidents.

January and May of 1963 each recorded five deaths for the unenviable distinction of being the most lethal months of the year.

Health Nurse Has Busy Year

The Big Spring-Howard County Health Nurse was a busy woman during 1963, and the office records reflect a variety of services rendered, such as skin tests made, and inoculations given. Bo Bowen, who served as city-county health nurse for several years, was replaced in mid-year by Ethel Sherrill when Miss Bowen went to the Bennett House.

One of the problems faced by the nurse is in checking out other persons who may have come in contact with tuberculars. Three cases were found to be positive, and the persons were sent to the McKnight Sanatorium. Of the 17 contacts, all

64 Coroners Inquests Held

There were 64 occasions in 1963 when coroner's inquests were conducted over the bodies of persons of Howard County who had died of other than usual causes.

The law specifies that in cases where an individual dies of some violent cause or where the reason for his death is not immediately evident, an inquest must be held and the facts in the demise to be established. Texas law designates justices of the peace as coroners. It is their responsibility to conduct such hearings.

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, Precinct 1, Place 1, conducted 35 such hearings in 1963. Twenty-four of these were instances where the cause of death was ascribed to heart disease or some equally familiar factor.

He conducted inquests on one car accident victim; three persons who had died of gun shots; two killed by trains; one beaten to death; one fatally injured in an oil field accident and on three persons who took their own lives. Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, Precinct 1, Place 2, conducted 29 inquests. Eighteen of the cases he handled were ruled as heart cases and similar fatalities. Four car accident deaths are listed along with two suicides, three gunshot victims, one drowning and one oil field accident victim.

Jury-Fixing Trial To Open

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa's jury-tampering trial begins today with his lawyers still struggling to win a postponement.

Defense attorneys objected in particular to the secrecy lid clamped on the list of prospective jurors by U.S. District Judge Frank Wilson, who said the names would be made public when the time comes to select a jury.

Attorneys for Hoffa and five other defendants want the trial continued to allow them time to examine backgrounds of some 300 prospective jurors. Most, if not all, of the opening day was expected to be taken up by procedural matters.

DEADLOCKED
 The six defendants are charged with attempting to bribe jurors and prospective jurors in Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial in Nashville, Tenn. The trial ended with the jury deadlocked 7-5 for acquittal.

On trial with Hoffa are Allen Dorfman, Chicago insurance broker; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W.Va., businessman; Larry Campbell, Teamsters business agent at Detroit; Campbell's uncle, Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville, and Ewing King, recently defeated president of the Teamsters Local in Nashville.

PUBLICITY GIVEN
 The trial originally was scheduled for Nashville, but was shifted to Chattanooga because of publicity given the case in the Tennessee capital city.

County-Wide Health Unit Busy In Work, Education

The Howard County Health Unit, headed by Lige Fox and assisted by Carl E. Rea, had a busy 1963. The unit work is over the entire county, as well as the City of Big Spring.

One of the important jobs is public health education through lectures at the schools and individual conferences.

The work includes vector control, such as for rats, flies (harborage and breeding places), and some mosquito control on standing water areas; testing of private and school water supplies, with chlorination when indicated; industrial hygiene and air pollution; work on gins and other air pollution areas; motel and trailer park sanitation.

During the year, the inspectors have made 916 checks of food handling establishments, and have noted around 80 improvements following recommendations. Twenty-four inspections were made in nursing homes, and 24 at day nurseries. Twelve swimming pools were inspected five times each for 60 trips.

Inspections were made on 244 nuisance complaints, and numerous corrections made.

There were also 50 inspections made of plumbing.

Garbage storage facilities called for 299 inspections, recommendations made, and 209 corrections noted.

Fox said the addition of covered garbage and trash containers in the business area of Big Spring by the city left fewer nuisances to be checked.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Joy's Joyful Over Drawer Storage

Dear Heloise

For those who do not have a lot of kitchen cabinets or pantry shelves, here is a way I keep my canned goods.

I have drawers directly under my kitchen counters. Except for two (which hold silverware and kitchen gadgets) all were junk repositories. I rearranged my kitchen by putting my cans of food and vegetables in these drawers. Rather than standing the cans up, I put them in the drawers laying down!

Now I open a drawer and see everything I have at one glance. Nothing is on top of anything, or behind anything. You will be surprised at the number of cans that can fit into a kitchen drawer. —Joy Cousminer

Dear Heloise: I read about the woman who wrote you that she puts clear nail polish on her medicine bottles when she gets them to preserve the number, etc. When I fill a prescription I over the whole label. The bottle can then be wiped or handled as many times as necessary without harming the label. This is easier and less expensive than nail polish and I think does a better job. —Ralph E. Burland, Pharmacist.

Dear Heloise: If you live where there is snow in the winter and you have small throw rugs to keep clean, take them outside, put a thin covering of snow on them and just sweep them clean with your broom.

This dusts them off and brightens them up beautifully and the rugs aren't as wet as if you had washed them by machine. —Delores Sullivan

And I'll just bet you're Irish! That's a terrific idea. —Heloise

Dear Heloise: Recently there was a suggestion about rubbing a cigarette on the dirty windshield of the car to clean it when it begins to rain.

This suggestion may prove to be messy and may even stain the paint job on some cars. So I hit upon the solution of buying a 15 cent bag of tobacco! The bag allows the juice to escape but holds back the shredded tobacco when wiping a wind-

shield.—Maureen Redak

Dear Heloise:

I have found a new use for our picnic basket. I put all my mending to be done in it. It holds plenty and is easy to transport from room to room and chair to chair because it has handles. It does double duty all the year around this way. —Phyllis Quaglia

Dear Heloise:

When I remove a chain stitched hem from a ready-made dress, I am very careful not to break the thread as I unravel it. I hold a piece of wax (an old candle will do) in my hand and run the thread over this as I wind it on a spool.

I have the perfect color to use on the same garment again without having to shop for more thread. The wax helps to straighten the used thread and also makes it firm. One will also find that there is more than enough thread for these hems to use on both the top spool and bobbin of your sewing machine. —Mrs. John Twobig

73 Facing Judge For Racial Melees

By The Associated Press

Seventy-three persons face trial in Atlanta Municipal Court today as a result of a melee and protest march on city jail during the weekend.

The first group of 24 was arrested after Negroes picketed a segregated lunch counter in which several members of the Ku Klux Klan were drinking coffee.

The others were taken into custody at the city jail when they protested the earlier arrests. They were arrested for refusing to move when ordered to do so by a policeman.

INVESTIGATION

A Georgia Klan leader demanded an investigation by the Justice Department of what he called a conspiracy between some Atlanta officials and civil rights groups.

Calvin Craig, grand dragon of the Georgia Klan, said the so-called conspiracy was "well illustrated by the mob rule in Atlanta Saturday night. The Atlanta police were undermanned either by orders from the mayor or police chief so as to let such proceed."

IN PANAMA

Craig said he considers the incident similar to Communist rioting in Panama. Atlanta police have adopted a policy of refusing to arrest demonstrators at business establishments unless proprietors swear out warrants against demonstrators.

In other racial developments, the Civil Rights Commission in Washington said federal compulsion to breach barriers that continue to bar Negroes from

Unions Required To File Reports

More than 2,000 labor unions in Texas this week will receive official forms on which to make financial reports.

Announcement of the shipment of the LM-3 forms came from the U. S. Department of Labor's Office of Labor-Management and Welfare - Pension Reports, Area Director V. L. G. Matelis in Dallas said his figures showed 2,014 affected labor unions in Texas.

Deadline for filing the annual, one-page report is March 31, 1964, for unions on a calendar-year basis. Some 40 items are to be included on it, including assets, receipts, debts, and disbursements. Once filed, such reports become public documents and may be inspected by anyone.

skilled crafts and jobs probably is inevitable.

The commission reported only meager increases in Negro and minority apprenticeships and employment have resulted from intensified government prodding, voluntary understandings with industry and civil rights pressures.

BASIC REFORMS

After studying reports from eight states and the District of Columbia, the commission reached the conclusion that administrative changes and basic reforms in law "will probably become inevitable."

The Justice Department was advised of a series of cross-burnings in Negro communities in southeastern Louisiana. An anonymous telephone caller told the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate the incidents were a revival of Klan activity in that area.

The cross-burnings apparently were aimed at Negro voter registration activity.

A 16-year-old white youth, Larry Joe Sims, remained free under $10,000 bond in Birmingham, after he was convicted of second-degree manslaughter in the Sept. 15 pistol slaying of a 13-year-old Negro, Virgil Ware. A state court jury fixed Sims' sentence at seven months in jail.

Two-Day Birch Seminar Concludes On Mum Note

HOUSTON (AP)—A two-day John Birch Society seminar, at least a portion of which was devoted to recruiting new members, ended with the society's founder declining any public comment.

Robert Welch left the Houston Club's Gulf Coast Suite, scene of the seminar, Sunday and told reporters: "I just have no comment to make."

In the lobby of the building, three young men carried signs protesting the society. Welch covered his face with his hat and walked by saying nothing.

The three identified themselves as students of St. Thomas University. They said they represented no organization.

Their signs read "No Patriot is a Bircher," "Birchers threaten the U.S.A.," "Birchers are Fascists" and "John Birchers are the Real Menace."

Philip Blair Jones, who identified himself as Houston coordinator of the society, said attendance at the seminar was by invitation only.

Jones said the seminar was similar to some 30 or 40 other seminars Welch has conducted throughout the nation.

He said at least a portion of the seminar was devoted to the recruiting of new members for the organization.

Lad Rides Van's Driveshaft 275 Miles To Join Friend

HOUSTON (AP)—Walter Ballard Jr., 11, a slender, fifth-grader, didn't want to be separated from his young friend.

So he took a 20-hour, 275-mile ride clinging to the undercarriage of a moving van.

His odyssey took him to Coppell, near Dallas.

Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ballard of Houston, and the boy across the street, Mark Null, 10, were inseparable friends. They attended the same elementary school.

Mark's mother, Mrs. Harriet Null, told Walter Saturday they were moving to Coppell.

The boys couldn't bear the thought. They hatched a scheme. When the moving van pulled out, Walter would latch onto the undercarriage. They told neighborhood kids of their plan.

Neither knew where Coppell was, except that it was some vague place you reached by going out one of the streets near their homes.

'WANTED TO BE WITH FRIEND' SAYS HOUSTON LAD Torn coat displayed to mother by Walter Ballard Jr. after jaunt

TRANSMISSION

The truck rolled at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Walter, 48 and 75 pounds, wound himself around the transmission and drive shaft and hung on for dear life.

The truck clicked off mile after mile. Walter grew weary and shifted to the rear of the drive shaft. His leather jacket got caught in the rear undercarriage and was ripped to pieces. He nearly fell off.

He inched back up the drive shaft and was kept warm by the exhaust pipe.

The truck got off the road and was stuck three hours in the mud. Walter hung on all the while.

DIRTY, TIRED

The truck reached Coppell Sunday night. While it was being unloaded, Walter scrambled from beneath the truck and joined Mark in his new backyard. Walter was dirty and tired but he refused sleep.

Meanwhile, Walter's parents notified police. They suspected he had gone with Mark. They described the truck and its route.

Then neighborhood boys told the Ballards about the scheme of the two pals.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballard drove to Coppell, arriving late Sunday. There in the backyard was their begrimed son, safe.

Mrs. Ballard told the two truck attendants of her son's dangerous ride. She said both nearly fainted.

Still awake, with grease and grime from head to toe, Walter arrived here with his parents Sunday night.

He was given a warm bath and a good night's sleep and was ready for school today.

S. W. Bennett Killed In Sunday Wreck

SNYDER — Stanley W. Bennett, 20, Gall, was killed when a car in which he was riding overturned about 21 miles north of here on State Highway 208 early Sunday morning.

Bennett was dead on arrival at the Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 6:45 a.m. He was hospitalized in the rear seat of a car driven by Jim Schutts at the time of the accident. Bennett had been thrown from the vehicle. Schutts received only minor cuts and he walked four miles to the Leroy Spires ranch to summon aid.

Both men were employees of the O-Bar-O Ranch in Kent County. Bennett was well known in Fort Worth and Houston stock show circles, where he showed cutting horses for his father, Willis Bennett, of Gall.

Bennett was born Sept. 4, 1943 in Lamesa and graduated from Borden County High School at Gall in 1962. He was a member of the Church of Christ. He is survived by his parents; one brother, Kenneth Bennett; and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bennett, all of Gall.

Funeral was to be at 2 p.m. today in the Borden County High School auditorium, with Jim Samuels, Fort Worth Church of Christ minister, officiating, assisted by Don Wright, minister of the Gall Church of Christ. Burial was to be in the Gall Cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Airman Hurt In Accident

Police arrested a 44-year-old Northside resident shortly after midnight Saturday following an accident in which a 21-year-old pedestrian was injured. Detectives said a charge of driving while intoxicated would be filed against the man.

The injured pedestrian is Airman 2.C. Nathaniel Boston, 21, 31st St., Webb AFB. He was taken, first, to Howard County Hospital Foundation and Clinic by Nalley-Pickle ambulance, then, to the base hospital.

Webb AFB authorities Monday said Boston was treated for abrasions and bruises, and they described his condition as "very good."

Investigating officers said the accident occurred while the 21-year-old suspect was traveling east in the 600 block of North-west Fourth. He allegedly struck the airman, who was walking on the south side of the street. Detectives said a 17-year-old girl, who was accompanying Boston at the time he was struck by the car, identified the vehicle after the arrest.

The suspect left the scene after allegedly colliding with a car driven by Francisco Solis, Snyder, about the same time as the pedestrian accident, officers said.

Police investigated one other accident Sunday, which occurred at 8:08 p.m. at Calvin and Alamesa. Involved were Morris Sewell, 3900 Hamilton, and Guy Spinks, 2406 Cheyenne.

Funeral Pends For Mrs. Olson

Funeral is pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home for Mrs. Violet Neoma Olson, who died in a Midland hospital at 2:40 a.m. today following a brief illness. She had been a resident of Big Spring several years.

Mrs. Olson was born June 16, 1917 in Atlanta, Ga., but made her home here at 214 Harding. Survivors include the husband, Julius B. Olson, Big Spring; two sons, Edward Hall and Netter Hall, both of Big Spring.

C. L. Rutherford Files For Commissioner's Seat

C. L. Rutherford, a contract oil field pumper who lives about 12 miles southwest of Big Spring, today announced his intention to seek the county commissioner seat for Precinct 3. He has filed with the County Democratic chairman.

Rutherford came to Big Spring from Pampa in 1953 and worked with W. W. Holmes Oil Company before going into business for himself. In that time, he has been active in public service in the area, serving five years on the Elbow school board prior to its annexation by Foran. He has also served three years on the Foran board, his term expiring in April of 1963.

"I have never sought public office before, except as a member of the school board, but I feel that experience in serving the public has made me well qualified to serve in the capacity of county commissioner," Rutherford said, in making his announcement.

"I was instrumental in the

consolidation of the Foran and Elbow schools," he said.

"Fair government is the goal of any public official and, above all, I stand for fair and equal treatment for every citizen. One of the most pressing needs of the county at this time is retaining a qualified, responsible county engineer. If elected, I will do my best to see that we get one," Rutherford said.

Rutherford was born May 15, 1916 at Scranton, in Eastland County, and was reared at Hereford, in Deaf Smith County. He attended school at Hereford.

During World War II he served with the United States Army Air Force and later was active in the American Legion. He was a post commander one year. After the war, he was in the implement business at Canadian.

Rutherford is a member of the Methodist Church. His family belongs to the Central Baptist Church in Elbow.

Mrs. Rutherford is currently an employee of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. as a bookkeeper. A daughter, Glenda Sue Rutherford, lives in Amarillo. Another, Jeanette Rutherford, is a junior in high school.

Scout Banquet Set In Andrews

Volunteer leaders in the Boy Scout movement were to be in Andrews this evening for the annual banquet of the Buffalo Trail Council.

Highlight of the session will be an address by Bob Perrin, associate director of national volunteer services. The presentation of the Silver Beaver Awards for outstanding service to boyhood also will be a program feature.

The meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the Andrews High School cafeteria will be preceded by meeting an hour earlier by the executive board. Budgetary policies will be discussed, according to L. E. Patterson, Midland, council president.

Grand Jury Selection Set

Sixteen citizens will be selected Tuesday as the grand jury panel for the January term of the 118th District Court, it was announced today by Fern Cox, district court clerk.

Cox said that Judge Ralph Caton had named John Stanley, George Elliott and Mrs. Tom Marr as jury commissioners. He said the court ordered the commissioners to draw the panel Tuesday morning.

The grand jury will be selected from the panel Jan. 28. It will immediately begin work. Gil Jones, district attorney, is preparing the cases to be laid before the grand jury.

Gusty Winds Fan Blazes

Gusty winds fanned several minor fires in the area Sunday. Firemen answered four calls.

The first call was received at 7 a.m. A short in a motor for a central heating system ignited a blaze at the Frank Schroeder residence, 1809 Owens. Firemen said only the motor was damaged.

A brush fire of undetermined origin burned a fence post on the Vernon Hewett farm, about three miles west of Elbow, at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, firemen said.

Another fire of unknown cause burned some feed in a trench silo on the Hollis Puckett farm, 13 miles north of town, about 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

High winds caused a trash fire to get out of hand about 6:25 p.m. on a vacant lot in the Coronado Hills Addition, firemen said.

Firemen also answered a call at 10 a.m. today. They said someone apparently set fire to some crosses in a cellar on a vacant lot at 803 E. 12th. Damage was minor.

Jury Panel Will Report Tuesday

A jury panel will report for duty in Howard County Court Tuesday at 9 a.m., but at noon Monday, it had not been definitely decided which of a lengthy list of criminal cases would be the first called for trial.

The docket is a continuation of proceedings initiated earlier in December. Judge Lee Porter called a long list of cases at that time and set the active cases pending for disposition at a series of jury dockets.

Houston Begins Employe Slash

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Louie Welch has eliminated seven civil service jobs at City Hall in the first step of an economy drive aimed at reducing what he calls an over-abundance of unnecessary supervisors.

Seven supervisors learned Friday their jobs no longer existed.

"I had exactly one hour and 10 minutes notice," one said.

WEEVILS

of just what boll weevils mean. Experts at Lubbock said that it is probable three to five sprayings from the air will be made in an effort to destroy the weevil. In essence, the plan to be pursued is much like the aerial war waged on screwworms in this section. This program has been highly successful.

MANY AREAS

Boll weevils have destroyed the cotton industry in many areas. Until the past year or two the pests were unknown on the High Plains.

The cost per acre to the grower to wage the program will be relatively low — perhaps not more than 50 cents an acre. Taylor compared this with the $60 an acre which some South Carolina growers are spending in their fight to save cotton.

If the buffer system works, it is possible that the invasion of the pest can be blocked and that the high production of cotton on the Plains can continue.

Meantime, Taylor warned, this threat of disaster to the county's most important crop is not a mere possibility. It is a real issue and definitely a hand to action is not taken, Taylor warns, disaster is not too far in the future for cotton.

He said he would attend a meeting this week in Lubbock and that a plan for raising money by contributions from growers would be worked out with a quota for each county fixed. When this is done, he said, a drive will be made in this and all counties in the district to get the million dollars as quickly as possible.

Funeral Held For Leading Architect

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Funeral services were set today for Henry P. Smith Sr., 74, prominent San Antonio architect who played a leading role in the restoration of the Alamo and other missions here.

Smith, who was also the architect for the Sunken Garden Theater, the Boy Scout Center, and several Alamo Heights schools, died Sunday.

JAYCEES MEETING Lamesan Selected For State Board

Ken Edmondson, Lamesa, announced his candidacy for the Texas Jaycee president position. Reese last year was Texas representative to the U. S. Jaycee governmental affairs seminar in Washington, D. C. and he has also served as Texas Jaycee vice president of Americanism and governmental affairs. At this time, there are no other candidates in the race.

Four men also made their bid for a vice president post. They are A. J. Carubbi, Pampa; Bob Buck, McAllen; Allen Crowley, Fort Worth, and Glenn Good night, Richland Hills.

By the time final registration ended at 10 a.m. Sunday, nearly 250 persons had registered. Final activities of the three-day convention Sunday were a general assembly, clinics and a banquet at noon at the Cosden Country Club. The Settles Hotel was headquarters for the convention.

Among visitors were delegations from as far away as Corpus Christi, McAllen, Longview and the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

El Paso won the travel trophy for most man-miles of any city and Monahan received the highest representation for the 9 a.m. Sunday assembly.

Sherrill Farmer, a Big Spring Jaycee, captured the First Timer Award for personally becoming acquainted with most members during his first convention.

Robert Morris, candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator from Texas, will be guest speaker at a coffee given here Thursday afternoon by the Howard County Republican Club.

Dr. Morris will speak at 3:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association and the public is invited.

He is a practicing attorney in Dallas, a former municipal court judge, active in politics, past president of Dallas University, a newspaper and magazine writer, and author of two books. Since announcing for the GOP nomination, he has been making numerous appearances at various Texas points.

Several Thefts Reported Here

Police investigated several thefts during the weekend.

Someone took 10 packages of beer and an undetermined amount of cigars, cigarettes and frozen food from the 7-11 Store, 1806 Birdwell Lane, Saturday night. Police said the burglars gained entry through the south side of the front glass which had been broken.

This same store was the site of a robbery Nov. 10, when two handits took about $80 at gunpoint from the manager.

Someone took four hubcaps from the station wagon of John O. McDaniel, 1103 Grafa, while the vehicle was parked in front of the residence Saturday night.

Police said an attempt to break into the Record Shop, 211 Main, Saturday night was unsuccessful.

Airmen Win Special Honor

Two Webb AFB airmen have received certificates of exemplary service, signed by Maj. Gen. Kenneth P. Bergquist, commander of Air Force Communications Service, Scott AFB, Ill.

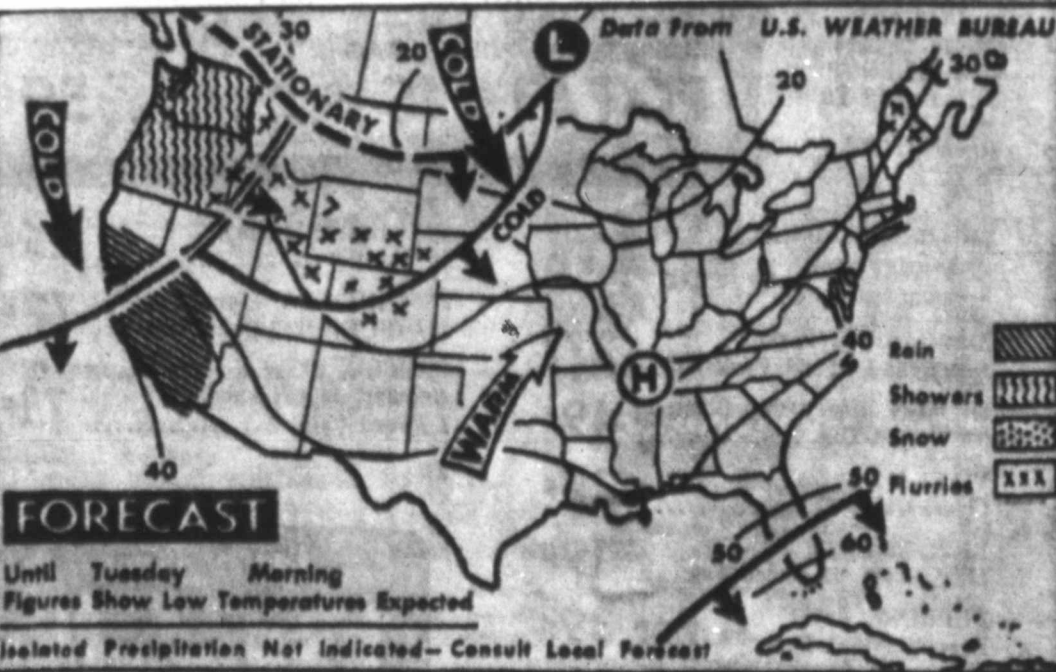

The two aircraft controllers of Detachment 2, 2053 Communications Squadron, T. Sgt. Stanley N. Olsen and Airman 1.C. Donald L. Ruch, were cited for guiding a jet aircraft to a safe landing at Webb Air Force Base last September. The "save" occurred Sept. 19, 1963, when a Navy pilot flying a T-33 aircraft inbound to Webb became disoriented and requested assistance.

It was no routine task for the two controllers on the ground as there was student traffic flying in the local area. While Sgt. Olsen began coordination with the Runway Supervisory Units (RSU) to clear the area of aircraft, Airman Ruch began transmitting a series of headings to the pilot, which resulted in a successful letdown and landing. Fuel for only three minutes flying remained on touchdown.

Apart from the probable saving of a life, the certificate credited the action of the Webb controllers with a saving of more than $122,000 dollars to the U.S. Government.

Too Many Little Kisses

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his wife live a few blocks from us and we are very friendly. They have a precious 22-month-old daughter who is being taught to kiss everyone in sight. If there are 25 people in the room, the child is dragged around to kiss each one "hello" and "goodbye." The other day my daughter-in-law stopped by my house for five minutes to borrow something. She had the baby with her and, before they left, she had the baby kiss me and also the television repair man who was there working on my set. I think it is fine to teach children affection, but shouldn't they be taught to save their kisses for special people? I would enjoy the child's kisses much more if her mother would leave her alone and let her kiss me because she wanted to, not because she was told to. What do you think?
GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I think you are right. But be careful how you tell your daughter-in-law this, or it will be the kiss of death for your friendship.

DEAR ABBY: You gave good advice to the girl who was ashamed of her mother because she spoke broken English. If you publish my letter, perhaps it will keep others from making the same mistake I made. While I was working out of the city, my mother came to visit me. I loved her dearly, but she was not educated. She spoke with a heavy accent, and I was ashamed to introduce her to any of my friends. I let her stay alone in my apartment day after day while I went to work. She busies herself cooking and baking (as only she could bake) for my freezer. She stayed a month. After my mother left, a girl in our office invited me to a Sunday brunch in honor of her visiting mother. Well, this girl's mother spoke the same kind of broken English my own mother spoke, but she was sweet and warm and friendly — like my own mother. Everyone loved her. I realized then how small and selfish I had been, and I promised myself that the NEXT time my mother came to visit me I would make it up to her. I never got the chance. She died in her sleep a few months later.

Four Youths Asphyxiated

GALVESTON (AP) — Four college students from Beaumont were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning Sunday night in a cabin at Crystal Beach on the Bolivar Peninsula.

They were Ernest Jones, 20, Robert Gentry, 19, Norman Nix, 20, and Gene Cohn, 20.

All were students at Lamar Tech.

A fifth boy who was with them, Robert Ralford, also of Beaumont, was unconscious and was taken to the John Sealy Hospital at Galveston. His condition was serious.

Justice of Peace Andrew Johnson of Bolivar Peninsula ruled the boys had died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

He said they had gone to Crystal Beach Friday to give a going-away party for Jones, who was due to go into the Army today.

Johnson said the two-bedroom cabin supported by stilts was full of gas from a butane stove that was fully open. He said the stove was not vented properly.

SEC. B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, MONDAY, JANUARY 20, 1964 SEC. B

Ruby Back In Court For Attempt At Bail

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby, the balding 33-year-old night club operator charged with murdering Lee Harvey Oswald, was due back in court today as defense lawyers sought his release on bond.

How long the hearing will last will depend on whether State Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown agrees to a defense request to present evidence it says will prove Oswald the assassin of President Kennedy and the slayer of police officer J. D. Tippit.

If the judge rules that it is pertinent to the issue of whether Ruby should be released on bond, the hearing could last a week since chief defense Atty. Melvin Belli has subpoenaed nearly two dozen witnesses. If the request is denied, the hearing could end quicker.

CONTINUATION

The current bond hearing is a continuation of one started in late December, but recessed because of the Christmas holidays.

Ruby has been held without bond since he shot and killed Oswald before a nationwide television audience Nov. 24 as the accused assassin was being transferred from the city to the county jail.

Oswald's death came less than 48 hours after President Kennedy was assassinated, Gov. John Connally of Texas was wounded, and Tippit was shot to death. Oswald was charged in all three shootings.

PETITION FILED

In a 30-page petition filed with the court last week, the defense said that the President's assassination, the wounding of Gov. Connally, and the slaying of Tippit "enraged their client to such an extent that their client was temporarily insane".

"The defense must prove Oswald was the man who assassinated the President and shot officer Tippit," the petition said.

At the December hearing Ruby's lawyers sought to know that the case was not a capital one since they contended their client was temporarily insane and that bond should be granted.

Ruby's trial has been set for Feb. 3 in Dallas, but at the December hearing Belli told Judge Brown he would seek a change of venue. Belli said that because of news stories published in Dallas, his client could not obtain a fair trial.

Coahoma Contest

Pat Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chapman, Coahoma, and Terry Denton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Denton, Coahoma, are freshmen candidates for the Mr. and Miss CHS titles. The contest will be held Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Coahoma auditorium.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

(© 1964, By The Chess Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—You open one spade, partner responds two hearts, and you hold:
 ♠AKQ94 ♥75 ♦AJ5 ♣QJ7
 What do you bid now?
 A.—You must deliberately avoid the rebid of two spades, inasmuch as such a rebid denotes a mediocre opening. It is distinctly more important to describe the strength of your hand rather than the solidity of your suit, so that your very good major suit should be suppressed in favor of a two no trump rebid.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
 ♠K63 ♥A10753 ♦853 ♣Q2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 Pass Pass 1♥ 1♠
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Two hearts. Any desire to take drastic action could only have been induced by possession of the fifth trump, which may be good to the eye but has little practical value. This hand is not rich in playing strength and adds up to just about a good single raise. If you transposed the three of hearts into the diamond section you wouldn't be at all impressed with your holding, and yet it would be virtually as good.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
 ♠A105 ♥AKQ4 ♦Q1073 ♣Q5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1NT Pass Pass Double
 Pass 2♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Pass. What do you think of your chances for going game? A moment's reflection should make it clear that they are practically nonexistent. A smattering of high card strength from partner would be required, but if he had that smattering that you are looking for he would have left in the double of one no trump. If he has nothing but length in hearts, a raise by you to three of the suit could very readily push him overboard.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
 ♠AKJ32 ♥K7 ♦62 ♣8532
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1♦ Pass 1NT Pass
 Pass 2♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Partner is not attempting to go places. He merely is trying to buy the hand as cheaply as possible rather than permit the opposition to play for the part score. If he had even the mildest ambitions he would have entered the auction immediately over the opening bid of one diamond, at which point it would have been very easy for him to compete. Therefore, do not bid two spades which partner may not be prepared to play. Pass.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
 ♠Q2 ♥AK975 ♦643 ♣AJ7
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
 What do you bid now?
 A.—You should be very much alert to the possibilities of a slam. You have more than an opening bid and partner presumably has more than an opening bid, in view of the fact that he raised you to the three level. The proper procedure is to bid four clubs. If partner fails to cooperate, then nothing has been lost and you may quit at four hearts.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
 ♠AJ754 ♥J2 ♦AQ43 ♣102
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 Pass Pass 1♠ Pass
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Pass. With a passing partner you must realize that game is out of the question and you might as well try for the part score in the suit partner has chosen. The objection to rebidding two spades is twofold. First, partner may gain the impression you are trying to proceed, and secondly, you have no reason to conclude that a contract of two spades would be safe, since partner may have no support at all for that suit.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
 ♠K10642 ♥A5 ♦743 ♣952
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1♥ 2♠ ?
 What do you bid?
 A.—Pass. You dare not bid two spades. If you do so, partner is forced to speak again and may have to bid three hearts or two no trump, neither of which will leave you in an especially comfortable position. Great caution is indicated in making free bids in a suit higher in rank than partner's suit.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AKT52 ♥AKQJ2 ♦8695
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♠ 2♠ Double Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—While this is a penalty double and you can no doubt defeat the contract, it may not be worthwhile. You have surely a game and perhaps even a slam in the other suit and you should take the double out. However, the proper call is three hearts, a jump. If you bid only two hearts partner may gain the impression that your hand is simply unsuited defensively, and he will be under no obligation to proceed.

Dust Replaces Cold In State

By The Associated Press

The weather turned calm and temperatures were mild in Texas today in the wake of blustery winds that sent clouds of dust across Texas Sunday.

Forecasters said a new warming trend would begin in North-west Texas and spread across West and North Texas Tuesday.

West winds of up to 66 miles per hour picked up huge clouds of dust in West Texas Sunday and carried them over North-east and Southeast Texas by Sunday night.

The winds fanned a huge grass fire that charred 12,000 acres near Henrietta over the weekend.

The dust cut visibility to less than a mile at Lubbock, where winds of 66 miles per hour were clocked.

The dust settled from the air Sunday night and early Monday skies were clear in all of the state except for some cloudiness in the extreme south portion of South Central Texas. Brownsville had fog.

Sunday's high temperatures ranged from 56 degrees at Dalhart to 85 at Laredo, the highest in the nation.

The Weather Bureau's long range forecast said temperatures this week will be 10 to 15 degrees above normal in North and West Texas and 3 to 8 degrees above normal in South Texas.

Normal highs for the period in North Central, Northeast and Northwest Texas are 44 to 57 and in South Texas 57 to 70. No rain was forecast.

Pleads Guilty To Train Heist

AYLESBURY, England (AP)—One of 20 persons charged with complicity in the $7.25-million British mail train robbery pleaded guilty at the start of their trial.

The others entered pleas of innocent.

Roger J. Cordrey, 42, pleaded guilty to one charge of conspiring to stop a mail train with intent to rob it and three charges of receiving shares of the loot.

The 20 men and women are accused of various degrees of involvement in the commando-like raid on the Glasgow-to-London mail train near Aylesbury Aug. 8.

As the trail opened, the ring-leaders of the daring robbery are believed still at large.

Scotland Yard has recovered only about 12 per cent of the haul—some $840,000.

A Devotional For The Day

Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. (Mark 16:15.)
PRAYER: Gracious Father, help us to have the zeal and courage of Thy followers of long ago who brought the good news of Christ to others. We offer ourselves to Thee; use us as Thou wilt. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Good Record On Both Accounts

Big Spring seems to get attached to the people who come here to operate installations such as our Veterans Administration Hospital, and this was never more so than in the case of V. J. Belda.

His calibre and record of achievement is perhaps best reflected in his assignment now to become director of a VA Hospital twice the size of the Big Spring unit. While erudite, fair, firm administration of the hospital would be apparent to his superiors, perhaps an equally fine record in the community would not. This is the area in which Mr. Belda will be most sorely missed, for he has enlarged the tradition of the hospital, not only being a good institution, but also a good citizen. And in fostering that ideal for the hospital, he has set the example with his own energies, talents and friendliness.

Built-In Dangers

Congress has looked askance at retiring military officers immediately taking lobbying jobs with industries supplying their branch of service. But Congress apparently sees nothing wrong with its own former members similarly using such connections. In fact, it accords them special privileges.

Defeated or retired members of Congress are usually reluctant to leave Washington. They often wrangle good bureaucratic jobs, if their party happens to be in executive power they are considered due a patronage plum. Others turn to lobbying, high-paid work that can be effectively done among former colleagues.

The records show that 20 former senators and 74 former representatives have turned to lobbying since passage of the 1946 Lobbying Registration Act. That accounts for a large part of the congressional turnover during that period.

There is nothing illegal about that, and not necessarily anything unethical. But in view of the conflict-of-interest clouds over the nation's capitol, we question the wisdom of allowing former representatives and senators the customary courtesy of access to the floors of the House and Senate once they have registered as lobbyists for special and private interests which may or may not be in conflict with the public interest.

True, no great scandal has so far come from allowing former members of Congress special privileges as lobbyists. But the situation is scandal-prone, and that should be enough to advise its correction.

David Lawrence The Panamanian Situation

WASHINGTON—It may seem easy to conclude that the dispute between the United States and the Republic of Panama is merely a case of excessive emotionality about flying national flags—but the controversy goes deeper. The basic cause is a feeling of discouragement among Panamanians who see no economic future for themselves except as it is related to potential income from the use of the canal.

WHEN NATIONAL pride, moreover, complicates an international problem, there are always opportunities for provocative action and the intensification of bitterness.

The people of Panama originally leased their territory for an inter-oceanic canal. The United States built the waterway and has been collecting tolls from the ships of all nations. But the Republic of Panama gets less than $2 million a year rent. It used to be only $250,000. Surely in the 50 years since the canal has been operating it would seem that the United States could afford to increase considerably more its annual payment, especially in these days of "foreign aid" to many countries which do not furnish any facility to the United States as useful as the Panama Canal has been, including its military value in World War I and World War II.

FOR MANY YEARS, only the American flag was flown inside the Canal Zone—which is leased permanently to the United States. Then the demand was made that the Panamanian flag should also be flown, and in January 1963 it was agreed that the Panamanian flag would fly side by side wherever the U.S. flag was flown by civilian authorities in the zone. In the first week of this year, the U.S. flag was hauled down from a number of sites—including the high schools—which had not been designated for the joint flying of the two flags.

IT WAS inevitable that there would be disturbances about the flying of the flags. What was surprising, however, was the action of the Panamanian president in ordering diplomatic relations severed. This gave an opportunity to the Castro agents, Communists and other disturbers of the peace to capitalize on the disorders and bring about an international furor.

The United States was disposed to go along and open the whole controversy to diplomatic discussion. Then a snag was reached as the Panamanians said the United States had agreed to "negotiate," whereas the Washington officials said it was an agreement only to "discuss," not to negotiate. This led to bad feeling, too. For a readiness to discuss is, of course, an obvious forerunner of negotiation—though not necessarily of concession.

SKILLFUL HANDLING by diplomats could have averted the whole

I had great plans for my life, but a crippling illness has put me on the shelf. How do you explain this to me, it doesn't make sense—H. B.

My heart goes out to you, but I have been blessed with relatively good health.

But you must take the Christian point of view in your trial. Anything else will only compound your misery.

Heleen Keller, who was handicapped even more than you said: "If the blind put their hand in God's, they find their way more surely than those who see but have not faith or purpose."

The same goes for other handicaps. Crippled people often cover more distance for God than those who have two good legs. Deaf people often hear the voice of God more clearly than those who have two good ears. The spiritual dimension is not restricted to normal faculties. Often those who are less equipped accomplish the most for God.

Leo Tolstoy said: "It is by those who have suffered that the world is most advanced."

So, cheer up! God is not dead, nor are your opportunities for serving Him ended. Out of this painful experience can come a new life. It may be different than you had planned, but no less exciting and valuable.

Issues Unsolved But Changed In Three Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is three years today since President John F. Kennedy took office. It is almost two months since he died. Nothing basic has changed in the three years or two months. But there have been changes.

Kennedy had no illusions about the future. In his inaugural talk on that cold, bright, windy Jan. 20, 1961 he said the problems facing the nation might not be solved "in our lifetime."

Few were solved in his. Yet, he gave the country a sense of life, of youth, of bustle, which it needed. And he gave it a sense of hope, vague as it might have been if he had lived, the record might have been shining.

RELATIONS with an old foe, the Soviet Union are better; with an old friend, France, worse. The economy is in far better shape. But racial tensions increased until possible explosions lie below the surface of American life.

Militarily, Americans feel far more able to cope with an enemy. But the Atlantic alliance is no stronger. And any hope Kennedy had of a miracle in relations with Latin America was not realized.

The four biggest domestic programs of Kennedy's presidency—federal aid to education, medical care for the aged, a tax cut, and a strong civil rights bill—were all unfinished business when he died.

HE MIGHT have made progress on some of them this year, or later if he had been re-elected, which he almost certainly would have had he lived.

Right there, in the American attitude toward him, came the most obvious change in all his presidency. In the 1960 election he had barely squeezed into the White House.

But at the time of his death Kennedy was so enormously popular at home and abroad, as the universal grief at his death showed, there could have been little doubt about his success if he ran again.

IN THE LONG run the most significant change may have been in the attitude of the Soviet Union. Kennedy must get great credit for that, but not all. Two other factors were

China and the depressed Russian economy.

When Kennedy took office Premier Khrushchev was still seething at President Dwight D. Eisenhower, although this he may have been an act he felt he had to put on, because of the American plane shot down over the Soviet Union in 1960.

Khrushchev must have mistaken Kennedy for a boy on a man's errand. He pushed his luck. His luck ran out. He threw up the Berlin wall. Kennedy instantly enlarged the American forces.

KHRUSHCHEV broke a voluntary nuclear test ban and resumed testing. Kennedy did the same. Khrushchev then tried his biggest push, putting missiles in Cuba. Kennedy forced him to back down. Khrushchev changed.

He signed a nuclear test-ban treaty. His attitude changed. He became more friendly. It was Kennedy who made this possible by refraining from belligerency. This was one of his great achievements.

But other forces were working to take some of the belligerency out of Khrushchev's attitude toward the West: His economy was in trouble, he needed wheat; and Soviet-Red Chinese relations crashed. In Kennedy's short presidency the Soviet Union definitely lost dominion over the Communist world.

FRENCH President Charles de Gaulle became increasingly troublesome and obstinate but no doubt he would have been that way with any president, as he just showed. With President Johnson in the White House, De Gaulle is now going to recognize Red China, which this country had hoped he wouldn't.

Kennedy clearly adopted Eisenhower's placid and very often ineffectual technique of trying to avoid disputes at home, particularly with Congress. As a result, Kennedy fought far less fiercely for his programs than he might have. As a result, Congress treated him pretty coolly.

SOME OF LAST year's racial explosions might have been avoided if Kennedy had done more fighting with Congress, specifically if he had proposed and insisted upon a strong civil rights program.

Instead, it was the explosions themselves that forced him into offering such a program. Now it's Johnson's baby. It remains to be seen how hard he'll fight for it.

Nine Million Moms Working

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Nine million U.S. mothers, including one out of every three who have children under 18, now hold jobs outside the home. The number of working mothers has doubled in the last 15 years.

One study showed a 60 per cent rise in ulcer cases among college students in New Jersey during the last decade as a result of emotional tensions.

IN TOKYO, doctors are putting two-way radios in their cars; a new bar has opened that is decorated to resemble a jet liner. Patrons wear flight belts to keep them from falling off the bar stools.

Griseofulvin Helps Control Fungi

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Thank you for your article about fungus growths beneath the fingernails and toenails.

I took 500 units of Griseofulvin pills, four units a day, and used an ointment.

I had this infection for about 20 years and had been to hospitals and clinics with no luck and gave up hope of ever getting it cured until I read your article about Griseofulvin.

It really did the trick and I can be proud of my nails again. Pass the good news on to others who have this condition.—J. K.

This drug (which is available under a variety of trade names) has cleared up cases which have defied every other known treatment.

I don't suppose anybody ever died of fungus of the nails but it can be an annoying, unsightly, embarrassing condition. To my way of thinking (shared, no doubt, by most doctors) it's the physician's task not only to save lives but to make lives happier and more comfortable. So I'm delighted that J. K. benefitted, and I've had notes from others telling the same story.

It's important to let people know about the newer treatments that have come along since a few years ago when, like J. K., they quit trying because nothing then worked.

You can get Griseofulvin at the drug store without a prescription. The amount taken has to be rather carefully calculated by your physician.

Griseofulvin is an antibiotic which works on fungi rather than bacteria. It isn't a sensational life-saver, and hence hasn't had the publicity that the "wonder drugs" merited. In its way, it is just as remarkable a scientific achievement, though.

A word of caution: It doesn't control all fungi, but then, neither can the antibiotics control all germs.

It does do a remarkable job in the right cases, and has in a few weeks or months cured cases that had defied every formerly known treatment for years, and sometimes for decades.

Around The Rim Of Poetry, Money And Drama

Sir Lewis Morris once complained to Oscar Wilde about the neglect of his poems by the press.

"It is a complete conspiracy of silence against me," moaned Sir Lewis. "What ought I to do?"

To which Wilde replied: "Join it."

The kind reader is not about to get a conspiracy of silence herewith, he may wish he had sued for peace and silence while he had the chance.

HAVE YOU HEARD the story about Meyer, who was ill and wished to consult a physician?

He asked his friend, Nussbaum, about the proper man to see.

"Why don't you consult my friend, Berger," Nussbaum suggested.

"Yeah, but ain't he awfully expensive?" Meyer countered.

"Well, he ain't so cheap. He charges $15 the first visit but after that it's only $3."

Next day, Meyer went to see Dr. Berger. As soon as the door opened, and the doctor came out, Meyer said: "Well, Doc, here I am again."

ONE MAN was sitting next to a table occupied by his business partner in a night spot when suddenly a look of panic crossed his face.

"Good heavens," he explained. "I came away and left the safe door open!"

"What does it matter," replied his partner, "we're both here!"

HOW ABOUT the fellow we'll call Smith who was called by his bank and was told his balance was $12.40 overdrawn.

Smith refused to panic. Said he: "Look and see what it was a month ago."

There was a pause at the other end of the line, then the caller reported that Smith had a balance of $301.10 at the time.

"Did I call you then?" Smith asked, waspishly.

LESLIE HOWARD, the late actor, liked to tell the story of his experiences in a London theatre when he was soaking up some needed experience during the early days of his career.

The company staged different shows each night, sometimes as many as two a day. The regular changes probably were good for business but were hard on the cast.

One afternoon, Howard forgot his lines and got the attention of the director, who was in the wings.

"Quick! What's my line?" he asked.

"Quick! What's the play," the director shot back.

A SALUTE to the readers? May we never speak to deceive nor listen to betray.

Price Of Violating An Agreement

If there is a time and place in which the United States is always advised to walk softly and carry a big stick, it is Panama.

In that small, sensitive country, we are the builders, the operators and the owners of one of the Seven Wonders of the modern world which is, more importantly, a life line vital not only to ourselves but to all the free world.

THIS COUNTRY cannot give up the Panama Canal or surrender the control of such an indispensable a link in our own defense or that of our allies. So it is little short of treason for chauvinist Americans of any age needlessly to endanger the American position in Panama and seriously embarrass the government in its day-to-day operation of the canal and its day-to-day relationships with the Panamanian government and people.

So if I were wielding the Big Stick at the moment, I would walk softly in the Canal Zone and apply it vigorously to the American teenagers and the adults who encouraged them in sparking the riots in Panama in which at least 24 persons, including three American soldiers, were killed.

BY DEIFYING the gentlemen's agreement between the United States and Panama that the American and Panamanian flags shall fly side-by-side in the Canal Zone, American high-school students, backed by adults, have not only the deaths of 24 persons on their conscience, but have also:

- (1) Made the United States position in Panama much more difficult.
- (2) Inexcusably and intolerably given the Communists, particularly the Castroite brand, a club with which to beat us, especially throughout Latin America where we are—for our own salvation—doing our utmost to combat Marxism.

(3) SERIOUSLY embarrassed the government and the President not only in our relations with Panama but with all of our South America.

(4) Given the Panamanians an American-made opportunity to demand a drastic revision of the 60-year-old treaty under which this country holds the Canal Zone in perpetuity.

On their side, many Panamanians in the past decade have been spilling for trouble, for any excuse to attack the American position. No one knows the touchy situation better than Americans who live in the Canal Zone. Now, for even the tiniest fraction of U.S. residents there to give the locals a scourge with which to flay U.S. policy is not so much malicious as criminal mischief.

SINCE WORLD WAR II we have lived in an increasingly angry and touchy world in which mounting national pride has been a prime factor in international relations. There is no defense of Panamanians looking for any excuse for a fight; but there is less excuse for Americans gratuitously presenting Panamanians with a ready-made pretext.

By no stretch of the imagination can that student flag-raising in the Zone be construed as an act of patriotism when it was done in defiance of U. S. Government regulations designed to preserve law, peace and order and, equally important, the great canal itself.

That Guilty Feeling

WASHINGTON—There's something in the American air that wasn't here before," said the Returning Traveler, who'd returned about the time of the Panamanian crisis. "What could it be?"

Oh, that would be the Guilty Feeling, he was told. In America these days we always point the Finger of Shame at ourselves when anything goes wrong.

"YES," SAID the Returning Traveler. "I've been reading that we are as guilty in Panama as the French were in Algeria, the Belgians in the Congo, the British in Suez. But it's difficult to follow those analogies. I can't find when we were ever as cruel to the Panamanians as the French have been to North Africans and Southeast Asians. Or that we ever exploited Panama as the Belgians did Central Africa. Or that we ever had an imperialistic history that would hold a pale candle to the British. We must enjoy making ourselves suffer by drawing these absurd comparisons."

Gunboat diplomacy! he was told.

"HARDLY A Panamanian is now alive who ever saw us practice Gunboat Diplomacy," observed the Traveler.

The Big Stick! it was reminded. "Theodore Roosevelt has been dead longer than the German Kaiser," the Returning Traveler stubbornly declared. "The only Big Stick we've carried in this generation is one with Foreign Aid in its prong. Long before those Panamanian high school boys who started the riots were born, the Yankee Dollar has been going out to uplift the world, including Panama, in a very big way."

A nation of Haters!

"THE WAY I heard it," said the Returning Traveler, "it's been the Panamanian politicians who've been preaching hate. I can see why Americans in Panama are envied for being rich and mighty, but that should make the Panamanians more wrong than that makes us. I can see how the Panama Canal gives us a big headache, but why a guilt complex? We ought to be proud of it."

Now the Returning Traveler was talking like an extreme nationalist. Next, he'd be saying that we've paid for the Canal several times over, that we've been more than generous toward the Panamanians, and that the only way we've failed has been in firmness.

"I WAS JUST trying to understand the Guilty Feeling," he insisted.

Well, the Guilty Feeling, he was told, is something like the cigarette habit. Americans must know that it's bad for them, but they get pleasure from it, too. A psychological crutch, the scientists call it. Some people think it started at Hiroshima.

"The Guilty Feeling of Americans must be quite a lift for the Communists, too," observed the Returning Traveler. "It helps them to prove in their propaganda that Americans really are warmongers, imperialists, racists and gangsters. You wouldn't suppose that the Communists helped plant that Guilty feeling among us, would you?"

THE TRAVELER must have been away from America a long while, he was acutely told. Otherwise, he'd understand that we're taught not to hate Communists any longer. Instead we're taught to hate ourselves.

"I see," said the Returning Traveler sadly, for now it was quite clear to him why the Guilty Feeling had become such a part of the American Way.

Bleach Buoys

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Fishermen here say the white plastic containers used these days for laundry bleach are the most useful things they've seen in years.

Commercial fishermen use them as buoys on nets and lobster traps.

Sports fishermen find them handy to tie to the ends of anchor lines. When they want to take off in a hurry after a fish, they save time by throwing the line overboard instead of pulling up their anchors. It's no trouble at all to recover the line later on.

The trick can be used at night by cutting a jug open, inserting a lighted flashlight and sealing the container again with rubberized tape.

Top '63 Tax Points Noted

EDITOR'S NOTE — There are some important changes in the method for filing your tax return on 1963 income. Here, in the first of five special articles, is a rundown of changes and a report on other principal points you should keep in mind.

By The Associated Press

Main points in filing your tax return on 1963 income: Deadline—midnight, April 15.

Income—Report only the taxable kind; not the non-taxable, like Social Security payments.

Dividends and Interest—Something new has been added. Since Jan. 1, 1963 organizations paying you interest or dividends of $10 or more have had to inform the Internal Revenue Service. So be sure to report yours.

Social Security Number—List yours on your return. There's a $5 penalty for failing to do so.

W-2 Withholding Statements—These receipts for tax withheld from your 1963 pay must be enclosed with your return.

UNDER $10,000

Return Forms—Generally the choice is between form 1040 and 1040A. Anyone can use 1040. But only people with less than $10,000 income can use 1040A and then only if, in that income, there is not more than $200 in dividends or interest and wages from which tax was not withheld.

Refunds—If too much tax was withheld from your income in 1963, you can get a refund but only by filing a return.

Something new has been added here. Now you can ask for your refund in U.S. Savings Bonds. Or, as in the past, you can get it in cash or have it credited to your estimated tax on 1964 income.

UNDER 65

Who must file a return? You must, whether or not you owe tax, if:

- You were under 65—this includes children—and had income of $600 or more.
- You were 65 or more on or before Jan. 1, 1964 and had income of $1,200 or more.

If you were self-employed you must file a return and pay a Social Security tax of 5.4 per cent on your net income from $400 to $4,800. The net is what's left after deducting business expenses.

Note: This self-employment tax is in addition to the regular income tax you pay, like everyone else.

Even if you're 65 or older, but are self-employed, you must pay the 5.4 per cent Social Security tax on your $400-to-$4,800 income although you may be receiving Social Security payments.

INCOME LIMITS

Since there are limits on how much income a person over 65 can earn and still draw Social Security payments, be sure you understand them.

There are two big helps in making out your return—the instruction sheet and the booklet:

1. IRS sends every taxpayer an instruction sheet with the tax-rates, tax-tables, and answers to questions.
2. For more detailed information than you find in this series or the instruction sheet, get "Your Federal Income Tax" from the nearest IRS office. It's a 344-page booklet, costs 40 cents, and is very good.

Deductions—Claim all you can to reduce your income before what's left is taxable. Examples: State income taxes, house mortgage interest, state gasoline taxes, charitable contributions.

10 PER CENT

Everyone, without the need to itemize his deductions or prove he had them, gets a standard deduction of 10 per cent of his income up to a limit of $1,000 for non-business expenses. Example: Charitable contributions, medical bills, interest on the house mortgage.

If your expenses were higher than the standard allows for, then itemize them and claim them in full.

Note this: When married couples file separate returns each is allowed a standard deduction of no more than $500 each.

Some examples of taxable income which must be reported:

- Wages, salaries, tips, bonuses, commissions, rents, profits from a business, profession or farm; interest on savings accounts, stock dividends, dividends (which are really interest) from savings and loan association, profits from the sale or exchange of property, gambling winnings, severance pay, generally strike benefits paid by unions, income from estates and trusts, prizes for which you did something to win.

NOT TAXABLE

Some examples of non-taxable income which doesn't have to be reported:

Federal Social Security benefits; veterans benefits from the Veterans Administration to veterans and their families, interest on state and municipal bonds, subsistence and rental allowance to members of the armed forces, public assistance payments to the blind, gifts in money or anything of value for which you performed no service, unemployment compensation paid by a state, although supplemental employment benefits from a company - financed supplemental employment fund are taxable.

Next: Which tax return form to use.

Hero Doctor's Funeral Held

AUSTIN (AP)—Services were held today for Dr. Zachary Thomson Scott, 85, a hero of the great Galveston flood and father of movie actor Zachary Scott.

Scott died Sunday after an illness of several weeks.

A 1903 graduate of the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston, Scott was cited as a hero of the Galveston flood in a book called "The Great Galveston Disaster."

He moved to Austin in 1909. During his many years as an Austin physician, Scott founded the Scott-Bennett Clinic, and was a director of the Texas Tuberculosis Association. He started the sale of tuberculosis seals in Texas. Scott retired in 1947.

15 Days Left For Qualifying

Fifteen days remain in which candidates for public office can officially declare themselves. Deadline for acceptance of applications of candidates for a place on the primary ballot expires Feb. 3.

Democratic candidates who have officially filed with Frank Hardesty, county Democratic chairman, through Friday include:

Congressman, 19th District, George Mahon; state senator, 24th District, David Ratliff; state representative, 78th District, Ed J. Carpenter; district attorney, Wayne Burns; sheriff, A. G. Mitchell, A. W. Standard, R. B. Tally, A. P. (Pat) Hurley, Jake Bruton; county attorney, E. L. (Lannie) Hamby; district court clerk, M. F. # Pontifical Mass Heralds JFK Greatness 'To Illumine Ages'

BOSTON (AP) — The late President John F. Kennedy was eulogized in a pontifical solemn Requiem Mass Sunday as having a greatness "which will illumine the ages."

The Mass was sung by Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston. Mozart's "Requiem in D Minor" was performed in conjunction with the Mass by the Boston Symphony and a 180-voice choir.

"It was magnificent," the President's widow told Cardinal Cushing. "I'll never forget it."

INVITED GUESTS
Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, also was among the 1,800 invited guests at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross in Boston.

A number of Protestant ministers and Jewish rabbis attended.

Cardinal Cushing compared Kennedy and Mozart, the Austrian composer who died of typhus at the age of 35 as he was writing the moving "Requiem."

"The genius of art and the genius of leadership are joined together in this single event," the cardinal said.

SHINING LIGHT
"Separated by centuries, these two men were touched by a creative instinct uncommon in any generation; both brought out of their youth a shining light which will illumine the ages; both were summoned to eternity at a moment which to mortals must seem untimely."

Mrs. Kennedy, seated in the front pew with her mother-in-law and the President's youngest brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, and his wife, occasionally wiped a tear during the two-hour service.

Behind her were Francis McDermott, chief of the Boston office of the Secret Service, and Mrs. Sargent Shriver, the late President's sister.

"No tribute...to our beloved President and his charming wife could be more appropriate than the spiritual, artistic and liturgical service of this morning," Cardinal Cushing said.

MORE FITTING
"No prayer to the memory of that scholarly, dedicated leader and to the cultural background and his bereaved wife and loved ones could be more fitting."

Mrs. Kennedy kept her eyes on the altar and the cardinal most of the time. The first tears slipped down her cheeks as the chorus sang the benediction—"Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

After the Mass, Cardinal Cushing escorted her into the sanctuary to meet Eric Leindersdorf, conductor of the symphony.

Leindersdorf had selected Mozart's "Requiem" for the Mass as "the unfinished work of a genius dedicated to the unfinished work of another genius."

Each entry should have the name of the student, address, age, grade and school printed on the back of the poster. They will be judged by local artists and the winning posters will be exhibited at the auditorium during the performances of the play Feb. 14-15.

First, second and third prizes of $5, $3 and $2, respectively, will be awarded winners in each grade. The best overall entry will receive a $25 savings account from First Federal Savings and Loan Association. Other prizes are provided by Hemphill-Wellis.

"The Emperor's New Clothes" is being directed by Paula Carothers, drama teacher at Goddard Junior High. It will be presented during an evening performance each of the two days listed, with a matinee slated Feb. 15 also.

Posters for entry must be constructed between Jan. 20-31. They will be picked up on the last day of the contest. Each entry must be the child's own work. It will not be returned.

The posters may be as small as 8 1/2 inches by 11 inches, but no larger than 14 inches by 18 inches. Any art media may be used, but the works should draw attention to the story of the play. Neatness, originality and suitability to story are judging criteria. Consideration of good poster-making techniques, such as lettering, clarity of intent, an uncluttered look, etc., are also important.

Headquarters Squadron, 3560th Air Base Group, won the semi-annual Webb AFB On-the-Job Training award for the July-December period. The trophy that accompanies the award was presented to 2nd Lt. Carl Farrell Jr., headquarters squadron commander, by Col. Rex D. Fryer, wing commander.

The squadron amassed an 82 point total to edge by five points DCT (Pilot Training Group) which scored 77. DCT won the award twice in a row, before losing out this year. Third place went to the hospital which scored 73 points.

All groups (or equivalents) compete for the six-month award in their OJT program. Points are awarded for upgrade, test results, training participation, and OJT progression. To retain permanent possession a unit must win it three times.

The Webb OJT program is under the direction of T. Sgt. Robert L. Prugh, OJT staff supervisor.

U. S. Politics Baffle Britons

LONDON (AP) — Ten years ago the British were prepared to agree that Americans were much like Britons except that the Americans put ice in their whisky and selected their presidents by odd political arrangements.

iced drinks are common in London today but the old belief persists that the American political system is cumbersome and needlessly complex. "Crazy-quilt politics," old boys sunk deep in the leather chairs of St. James' club are sometimes heard to snort.

British newspapers keep thrashing around for some way to explain a primary election to their readers. They use terms like "intra-party election," "preliminary test of strength" and "practice run."

STILL LOSE
The fact that a presidential contender can win a primary in a state and still lose control of it in the subsequent national convention confuses even well-informed Britons.

The American political convention with its balloons, marching bands and speeches about "the man who," excites the British.

"So jolly," they say. British political life is much grayer in tone. Attempts to inject trans-Atlantic color into British party proceedings have died a self-conscious death.

Every year more Britons acquire an understanding of American politics, however, and the desire to know increases. Various communications media, including The Associated Press with its service to British newspapers, help this process.

So does the U.S. Embassy. In March the embassy will distribute 12,000 pamphlets defining American political practices. These will go to universities, members of Parliament, government officials and political writers.

NOT EXCLUSIVE
An American presidential election no longer is regarded as exclusively an American preoccupation, says a British government official. Because of the power of the United States, an American national election is important in some degree to everyone in the world.

Interested as they are, the British make a studied effort not to take sides in an American election. When they talk about leadership, they mean clearly defined guidance for the Western world geared to progressive, outward looking policies. Which American party provides that leadership is immaterial, the British insist.

While an American election campaign runs almost for a year a British campaign runs hardly more than three weeks, although preliminary maneuvering takes place for a much longer time. The prime minister picks the date for the voting.

630 DISTRICTS
There is no balloting in Britain for leaders on a nationwide basis. The 35 million voters are divided into 630 districts. Each district elects one member of the House of Commons.

Thus, the only people who will vote directly this year for Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home are the Scottish residents of Jolly West, Perthshire, his district. Labor party leader Harold Wilson will run in the Huyton district of industrial Lancashire.

If Conservative party candidates win the most seats in the House of Commons, Douglas-Home will continue as prime minister. If the Laborites win the most Wilson will form a new government.

Politics in Britain would not be much fun except for one old custom — heckling. The prime minister, when he is on the stump, can expect to have people question him, jeer at his answers and even boo him.

It is a pretty tame political meeting in Britain when the ushers don't toss someone out of the hall.

Historical Sites Picked

LAMESA (SC) — The Dawson County Historical Survey Committee has designated four county sites for historical markers. The panel voted to give special recognition to the former town of Chicago, Pioneer Cemetery, Slaughter Ranch headquarters and hand dug wells.

Chicago, a town established before Lamesa and later its rival for county seat, has been definitely located. Slaughter Ranch was quite prominent in early Dawson County history and was one of the main forces in establishing the county.

Pioneer Cemetery is the oldest in the county and has recently been beautified by a newly formed Pioneer organization. Present plans are to place a central marker in the cemetery with the names of the 24 persons interred there inscribed on a plaque.

The committee's 1963 accomplishments included locating four graves of Civil War veterans, obtaining historical medallions for two homes; purchasing an old landmark which will be converted into a museum.

Refuse To Serve Penalty For Viewing JFK Rites

ELLIOT LAKE, Ont. (AP) — Two brothers have been suspended from the Elliot Lake High School for refusing to serve an hour's detention for staying away from school to watch President Kennedy's funeral on television.

The boys are Rainer and Gerhard Warkholdt, 17 and 15. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Warkholdt, said they kept the boys home to watch the Nov. 25 telecast.

TOKYO (AP) — Six members of the French National Assembly arrived in Peking Sunday to study the possibilities of economic and cultural agreements between France and Communist China.

The group, which represents a cross-section of French political opinion, went with the blessing of President Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle's government has notified the United States it plans to recognize the Peking regime. Francois Benard, leader of the parliamentary delegation, told newsmen he would not be surprised if the recognition was extended during their trip.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bojan Tchinkov, an architect in Plovdiv, Bulgaria, has been sentenced to five years in prison for telling a "calumnious" joke about Bulgaria's Communist regime, according to press reports reaching Belgrade.

The reports did not retell the joke.

Political jokes are punishable in Bulgaria under a special law approved three weeks ago.

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — Bad weather has delayed Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver's arrival in Afghanistan. His plane is stranded on the Afghan-Iranian border in Zاهدان. He was due in Kabul late Saturday. But snow began to fall again today and officials said it is unlikely Shriver could land today.

Shriver is on a tour of the Near East and Southeast Asia, inspecting Peace Corps activities and delivering messages to chiefs of state from President Johnson.

MOSCOW (AP) — The death sentence given Rabbi Benjamin Gavrilov of Pyatigorsk has been commuted to 15 years imprisonment, Jewish sources report.

The rabbi and several other persons were convicted last summer of currency speculation. Jewish sources said the Supreme Court commuted his death sentence about two months ago and the action was announced in Israel a week ago.

It was believed the Russian government wanted to counteract resentment the death sentence aroused among Israelis.

Good News: Government Worth More Than It Owes

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

Federal Property: The federal government is worth more money than it owes, a congressional committee says.

In its annual report, the House Committee on Government Operations reported Sunday that the government owned $315 billion worth of land and property around the world as of June 30.

This is $9 billion more than the federal debt was then. And the committee thinks the $315 billion figure is a conservative one.

For example, the 18 acres of White House grounds was listed on the federal books as worth $1,000.

Although the committee did not explain why the White House grounds were valued so low, it noted that most government property is valued at its original cost.

Boyd: President Johnson has given Alan S. Boyd a new one-year term as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Boyd has been under fire from some New England congressmen for his vote against allowing Northeast Airlines to continue on the New York-Miami run. Boyd cast the decisive vote in the case.

Reports that House Speaker John W. McCormack had protested to the President against renaming Boyd were described as untrue Saturday by Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary.

Robert T. Murphy was named by Johnson to a new one-year term as vice chairman of the CAB.

Boyd and Murphy have been chairman and vice chairman since 1961.

Lynda Bird: Lynda Bird Johnson, 19-year-old daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson, has enrolled for the spring term at the capital's George Washington University.

Lynda's roommate at the University of Texas, Warrie Lynn Smith, is transferring to George Washington and at the Johnsons' invitation will live at the White House.

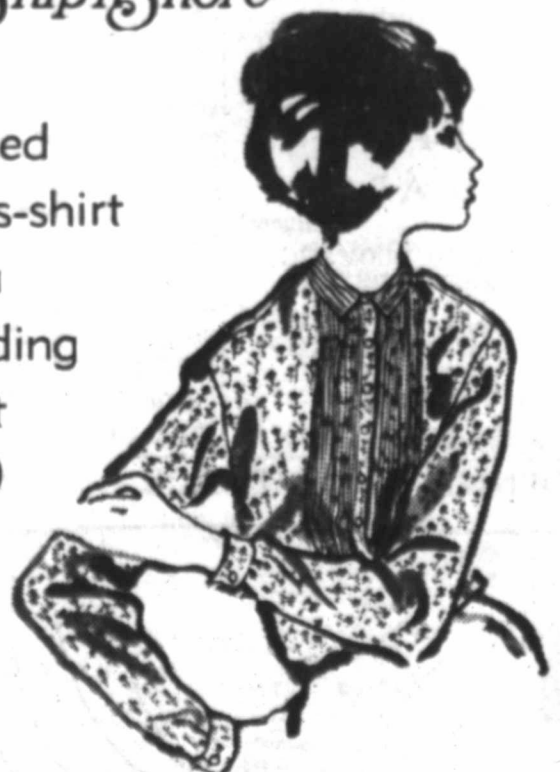

The girls, who are second term sophomores, will begin classes at George Washington Feb. 3. Lynda is a history major.

Johnson-TV: President Johnson says the television industry acted swiftly, surely and in good taste in its coverage of the news surrounding President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

In a statement published in the current issue of TV Guide magazine, the President said: "I take this opportunity to add my voice to those who already have recognized television's historic contribution."
