Court Fight In Offing On City Plant

The contract for the city's new $750,000 sewage treatment plant and repairs to the old plant may wind up in the courts. City Manager Larry Crow said the city has received word from a firm of attorneys in

16 Sewage Items Listed

Forest and Cotton, consulting engineers for the new sewage disposal plant, have notified Shiflet Brothers, contractors, of 16 work items that need to be completed, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works.

Lillard said most of the items involved small electrical jobs. He said the consulting firm submitted the list after making an inspection of the plant Jan. 8. Also included in the inspection party were representatives of Shiflet Brothers and the city, Lillard said.

According to Forest and Cotton, uncompleted work items at the old sewage disposal plant, are: (1) unclog plug valves for sludge drawoff lines at the 1943 and 1951 plants, (2) general cleanup in the pump house, (3) replace diaphragm for the pressure valve on the waste gas burner, and (4) touch-up painting on motor control center.

Twelve uncompleted work items at the new sewage disposal plant were listed:

- 1. Properly install time clocks for sludge pumps; 2. properly install signal timer on bar screen; 3. repair leaking pipe joints at recirculation and re-lift stations; 4. install underground cable markers; 5. install handle and bolts for primary clarifier starter; 6. install motor operated damper at the sludge pump station; 7. install starter for hot water pump in the digester control building; 8. complete seeding and sodding; 9. install letter "M" on main building; 10. number and label electrical panel boards correctly; 11. touch-up painting on motor control center; 12. repair damaged gasket in incubator.

Act Promptly For Documents

The Herald currently has on hand several complete packets of the Americana Historical Documents, plus a supply of the individual items. But there will be no re-orders, and the offering is to be withdrawn very soon.

If you haven't obtained these handsome, rich treasures that mean so much to the American heritage, you should do so at once. The full packet of 12 is $3.00, the individual documents are 26¢ each.

Better come by The Herald office right away to add these wonderful items to your home.

YMCA Board Pushes Banquet Ticket Sale

Board members of the YMCA were turning on the steam today in an effort to sell more tickets to the annual banquet of the association, which is open to all area residents.

Only 130 had been sold through this morning for the event scheduled Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the student union building at Howard County Junior College.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, former First Baptist pastor here and now living in Houston, will be the speaker. A highlight of the meeting will be announcement of four outstanding youth awards by the Y's Men's Club.

Tickets may be purchased from any board member or at the YMCA. Adult tickets are $2.50 and student tickets are $1.25.

A new officer slate was elected Tuesday at the YMCA and these officers will be introduced at the meeting, along with new and outgoing board members. James Tidwell is the incoming Abilene that Shiflet Brothers, contracting firm for the sewage plant improvements work, expects to make a claim against the City of Big Spring. The firm of McMahon, Smart, Sprain, Wilson and Camp notified the city that Shiflet Brothers may make a claim against the city "for the reasonable cost, plus 15 per cent overhead and profit, as called for in the plans and specifications, for the replacement of the concrete tanks, which our client contends was 'extra work' under the terms of the contract."

OLD PLANT Crow said the concrete tanks apparently refers to a settling basin which "floated" out of the ground at the old sewage treatment plant early last year following a heavy rain.

The attorneys also stated the receipt of two checks, on Jan. 18 from the city for two work orders, does not preclude the possibility of further claims by Shiflet Brothers relating to rehabilitation of the existing sewage treatment plant; for 215 days liquidated damages; and for a deduction of two per cent for sales tax on material received.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said these items refer to the replacement of old equipment and repairs at the old sewage disposal plant (contract cost $90,837.71); installation of 118 cement aeration plates at the old plant, contract cost $1,510.40, (although the contractor claims the cost is higher, Lillard said); force account work not specifically charged to any particular item (c o s i $2,081). There is a possibility Shiflet Brothers will claim additional money for the latter item, according to the attorneys.

FURTHER CLAIMS The last two payments made by the city to Shiflet Brothers were for $656.24 and $59,839.74. According to the Abilene attorneys, acceptance of the payments does not bar Shiflet Brothers from making further claims on the two work orders. According to T. J. McMahon, member of the attorney's firm, objection is made to the withholding of about $10,750 for liquidated damages covering the 215 days the contract ran past the original completion date.

Crow said the city also is withholding about $5,500 of the final payment. This sum is to cover some 12 uncompleted work items at the old plant, Crow said.

NOT ACCEPT City Attorney John Burgess said Shiflet Brothers may feel they have completed the contract. Crow said there is a possibility the firm would not accept the remaining $5,000 until its claims, if there are any, are settled. He said acceptance of the money, under the terms of the contract, would mean that Shiflet Brothers denies any further claims.

To date, the city has paid the contracting firm $722,180 and Forrest and Cotton $30,575.42, according to city officials. The first payment to Shiflet Brothers was made in June, 1962, and the last one was received by the firm Jan. 18.

Kennedy's Name Banded As Hoffa Jury Is Sought

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's name pops up almost as often as James R. Hoffa's as lawyers try to pick a jury for the Teamsters Union president's trial on a charge of jury tampering. Six persons had been tentatively accepted as the trial jury and five others entered its third day today. The pace quicker after U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson threatened Tuesday to take over the questioning unless attorneys acted "more expeditiously."

Kennedy's name came up repeatedly during examination of jury candidates by defense lawyers. One of them, Jacques Schiffer of New York, said Kennedy once boasted he would have Hoffa "in jail in 1964."

James F. Neal, Justice Department attorney from Washington, insisted Kennedy made no such statement.

Hoffa's co-defendants are Alen Dorfman, Chicago insurance broker; Nicholas W. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va., businessman; Larry Campbell, Detroit union official; Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville, Campbell's uncle; and Ewing King, former Nashville Teamsters official.

They were indicted on charges of attempting to illegally influence the District Court jury that heard Hoffa's conspiracy case at Nashville in 1962. That trial ended in a hung jury.

COMMUNICATIONS WORK

New Satellite Circles, Waits For Echo Balloon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A new U.S. communications satellite, Relay 2, circled the earth today and may be joined Friday by another, the giant Echo 2 balloon, as scientists seek the best space system for worldwide radio, television and telephone coverage.

Relay 2 shot into orbit from Cape Kennedy Tuesday atop a three-stage Delta rocket. On the satellite's first orbit radio communications and a television test pattern were beamed to it from Mojave, Calif. The satellite immediately transmitted the signals back to Mojave and to a station at Nutley, N.J.

First intercontinental public television demonstration via Relay 2 had been scheduled today by the United States Information Agency. But it was called off because of what officials termed "logistic difficulties" in arranging a planned exchange of greetings between U.S. and Japanese government officials. President Johnson reportedly was to have appeared on the U.S. segment.

A USIA spokesman said the program may be rescheduled at a later date. Meanwhile, continuing technical tests with the satellite were described as excellent.

Echo 2, successor to the spectacular Echo 1 balloon which orbited in 1960, is scheduled for launching from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Friday. It is to expand to a diameter of 135 feet in space, and the United States and Russia have agreed to try to bounce signals off its aluminum skin. It would be their first joint experiment in talking via satellite.

Relay 2, an active communications satellite, built by RCA, and Echo 2, which has no electronic parts and serves only as a reflector of signals, are different approaches in a U.S. effort to determine the most effective type of satellite for a global space communications system.

Most experts believe an eventual network will consist of three to six satellites similar to last year's Syncom satellites orbit 22,300 miles high, where their relative speeds match that of the earth and they appear to hover over one spot.

The higher altitude poses many technical problems, but most engineers are confident they can be overcome.

Baker Probe Future Left Up In Air

Money Issues Face Solons On Chamizal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators face some financial stumbling blocks in implementing the Chamizal Treaty.

After several members of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee wrangled over cost estimates Tuesday for several hours, committee chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., set the bill aside and asked for more specific figures so a cost ceiling could be written into the measure.

Joseph Friedkin, U.S. commissioner on the United States-Mexican Water and Boundary Commission, estimated it would cost $39.4 million to acquire privately owned homes and businesses in the section of El Paso being returned to Mexico by the Chamizal Treaty, and to pay the cost of moving residents to other sites.

MARKET VALUE Friedkin told senators that many homes in the Chamizal zone have a market value of $6,000 to $7,000. But he said the residents would have to pay one or two thousand dollars more to obtain comparable housing elsewhere.

Committee discussion centered on Friedkin's estimate that it would take $4 million to compensate property owners over and above the fair market value they are to receive for their lands, homes and businesses.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Rep. Ed Foreman, R-Tex., seated at the committee table, concurred with Friedkin that residents of the Chamizal zone had been assured they would be fairly compensated.

Foreman pointed out that future costs in the Chamizal issue, not included in present legislation, include proposed highway construction and replacement of a present irrigation canal with an underground conduit system.

S.D. Committee Okays Poll Ban

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—The anti-poll tax amendment to the U.S. Constitution goes before the South Dakota Senate Thursday with the unanimous approval of the Senate State Affairs Committee.

The amendment, previously ratified by 37 states, becomes effective as soon as South Dakota ratifies it.

Insurer Tells Of Austin TV Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating Robert G. Baker's activities left up in the air today whether they will pursue testimony of a Baker business associate who said he sold a life insurance policy on Lyndon B. Johnson and later gave him a stereo set.

Issued first in 1957 in the amount of $10,000 while Johnson was the Senate Democratic leader and increased to $200,000 in 1961 after Johnson became vice president, the policy was written by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent.

Reynolds said his firm lists Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority, as vice president. Reynolds told the Senate Rules Committee that in 1959 after obtaining the insurance he gave a stereo set costing over $500 to Johnson at the suggestion of Baker, a former Johnson protégé.

Reynolds testified he agreed to buy over $1,200 worth of advertising time on a radio-television station in Austin, Tex., owned by the LBJ Company, which is paying the insurance premiums.

Mrs. Johnson recently placed her majority stock-holding in the LBJ Company in trust.

Reynolds testified that he regarded Baker, a former South Carolinian like himself, as someone who could provide him with access to important clients and had paid the former Senate aide about $15,000 for his help.

He said he had given Baker $4,000 for assisting him in obtaining a commission of about $10,000 in 1960 as broker for a performance bond required of Philadelphia contractor Matt McCloskey who built the District of Columbia Stadium.

FUND RAISING McCloskey, who recently resigned as ambassador to Ireland, was treasurer of the Democratic National Committee at the time. He plans to handle Democratic campaign fund raising activities.

Reynolds testified he also paid $1,500 to William McLeod, chief clerk of the House District Committee, in connection with the same transaction. Informed that McLeod maintained the payment was for legal services in South Carolina, Reynolds said this was not so.

Reynolds' testimony, given at closed hearings Jan. 9 and Jan. 17, was made public by the committee Tuesday.

The committee is investigating whether Baker, who resigned his $19,000 Senate job under fire Oct. 7, engaged in outside business dealings that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

Reynolds told the committee that he bought the advertising time on the Austin station because he was led to believe by Walter Jenkins, a top aide to Johnson, that "it was expected of me."

Jenkins, in a sworn statement that was placed in evidence, denied knowledge of any arrangements by which Reynolds bought advertising time or ever suggesting that the LBJ Company should get any rebate from Reynolds' insurance commissions.

Reynolds insisted that Jenkins had discussed the purchase of advertising time with him.

At the White House, press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked to comment on the Reynolds testimony.

FROM EMPLOYEE "Mr. Jenkins' statement which is part of the record makes it very clear the President never had any conversation with Mr. Reynolds about the record player and considered it a gift from a long-time employee," Salinger said.

Asked if Johnson did not receive an invoice which listed Reynolds as the buyer of the equipment, Salinger said, "I'm standing on the statement I made. I think it was very explicit."

Salinger reported, in response to another question, that Johnson gave the stereo machine to one of his household employees—not identified—"some time ago."

Nike Decision Due For 1964

WASHINGTON (AP) — This may be the year of decision for the Nike-X antimissile system.

If President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara decide to permit production, it could mean spending ultimately as much as $20 billion.

Defense officials, discussing the new military budget, said "we are not far enough along on Nike-X to make any decision" for procurement or deployment of the antimissile system.

But, they said, "it is possible that decision can be made, pro or con, during calendar 1964." Meanwhile, work on the Nike-X will go forward on a priority basis.

Kennedy, Sukarno Plan Final Talks

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arrived in Jakarta today for a final round of talks on Malaysia with Indonesian President Sukarno, arch enemy of the new federation.

Kennedy flew from the Malaysian capital of Kuala Lumpur after telling newsmen "an important announcement can be expected within the next 24 hours." He said Malaysian leaders "are making every effort to find a peaceful solution" to their dispute with the Philippines and Indonesia.

The attorney general hopes to set up a summit conference between the three main disputants — Sukarno, Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines.

The dispute centers on the federation formed last September by Malaya, Singapore and the British Borneo territories of Sabah — British North Borneo — and Sarawak.

Rahman disclosed after his talks with Kennedy that he no longer insisted that Indonesia and the Philippines recognize Malaysia as a condition for a summit meeting. But he stuck to his demand for a truce in the undeclared guerrilla war along the Malaysia-Indonesia border in Borneo.

Kennedy told newsmen that his talks with Sukarno in Tokyo last week had been most helpful and he looked forward to resuming them.

"Out of these efforts and President Sukarno's desire for peace in the area, I am hopeful there will be a conference of the three countries caught up in the Malaysia crisis," Kennedy said.

Understanding Rules Can Save You Money In Filing '63 Tax Returns

EDITOR'S NOTE—You can commit costly errors in filing a return on 1963 income if you do not understand how to figure your tax. Here are the ground rules to follow in working on your tax, third of five special articles.

By The Associated Press

You may save on your 1963 income tax return by understanding the rules that apply to people figuring their own tax and the rules on husbands and wives, including their exemptions.

If your income was $5,000 or more you must figure your tax. You will find the tax rate which fits you in one of the schedules in the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

People with under $5,000 income, without figuring, can find their tax in a table also contained in the instruction sheet. They can also figure their own if for some reason, like big deductions, they save by it.

RATE SCHEDULES
The rules on the three tax rate schedules:
Single persons and married couples filing separately must use schedule No. 1, which has the highest tax rate.

Married people filing a joint return, and certain widows and widowers use schedule No. 2, which has the lowest tax rate. Unmarried or legally separated people who qualify as "head of household" use schedule No. 3, which provides a lower tax than No. 1 but higher than No. 2.

Some rules on husbands and wives:
A husband and wife must both sign a return for it to be joint. A wife with $600 of income must, like anyone else with that much income, file a return, separately or jointly with her husband.

SPECIAL CASES
Most couples save by filing jointly because they can use schedule No. 2 with its lowest tax rate. In some special cases they save by separate returns, even though they have to use schedule No. 1, with its highest rate. If in doubt, figure your tax both ways.

EXEMPTIONS: $600 for yourself when you file a return and are under 65; $1,200 if you are over 65; an additional $600 if you're blind at any age. You get the same exemptions for your wife if she fits the rules.

If you're under 65 and had a taxable income of $600 or more you must file a return. If you're over 65 you don't have to file unless your income was $1,200 or more. The same goes for your wife.

When a husband and wife file jointly, each claims a $600 exemption on that joint return. If you and your wife file separately, you each claim your own $600 exemption on your separate returns.

BOTH ACCEPT
When you file separately, both must accept the standard deduction without itemizing or, if one itemizes, then both must itemize and use Form 1040.

A single person or a couple filing jointly are allowed a standard deduction of 10 per cent of their income up to a limit of $1,000 for nonbusiness expenses. This doesn't apply for married couples filing separately. In that case on their separate returns each can take the standard deduction of 10 per cent of income up to a limit of $500.

Income Tax III—Gal 2
A wife without income doesn't have to file jointly with her husband or at all. The husband can file his own return and, in addition to his own $600 exemption, claim $600 for his wife. But he must use schedule No. 1.

If a no-income wife files jointly with her husband, each claims a $600 exemption on that joint return. And then both use schedule No. 2 with its lowest tax rate.

SPECIAL RULE
A wife with taxable income under $600 does not have to file a return. But now a special rule comes into force:
If a wife had any income at all, even though under $600, you can't claim a $600 exemption for her unless she files jointly with you. If she does, you use schedule No. 2. If she doesn't then you, filing separately, must use Schedule No. 1.

If she had under $600 income but files jointly with you, each of you must report your individual income but you can each claim a $600 exemption and use schedule No. 2.

Suppose a married couple file separate returns in 1962 and 1961 but now realize it cost them more than if they had filed jointly. They can correct the mistake by filing an amended joint return for those two years.

You were considered married for all of 1963 if you got married as late as Dec. 31, 1963. You were considered divorced for all of 1963 if you were divorced as late as Dec. 31, 1963.

DIVORCED WIFE
You cannot claim an exemption for your divorced wife even though you paid more than half her support in 1963.

RULES ON WIDOWS AND WIDOWERS:
If your wife or husband died in 1963—and you did not remarry—in general you can claim a $600 exemption for her or him on your return—filed as a joint return—and use schedule No. 2. If she had income you must report it on your return.

You can also use schedule No. 2—even though your wife or husband died in 1962 or 1961—if you fit these requirements:
You must have been entitled to file a joint return with her for the year of her death; you have not married; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If these conditions fit you, you can use schedule No. 2, listing your own income, exemptions and deductions. But you cannot claim an exemption for your deceased wife.

SCHEDULES
Rules on head of household:
You can use schedule No. 3 if you fit these requirements:
You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1963 or were married by the end of 1963 to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of your home which was the main residence for the year of yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though a dependent of yours, or of any other relative you can claim as a dependent; or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent. But you cannot claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged.

CORPUS FINANCIER Lenders Listed In Sandblom Suit

CORPUS CHRISTI AP) — Paul Amos Sandblom, facing state and federal securities charges, borrowed money from more than 200 people in Oklahoma and North Texas, court records reveal.

Documents filed Tuesday in Federal District Court here listed at least 211 persons. A civil suit asked that Sandblom be enjoined from future dealings with the persons named. Documents listing the names state he paid them interest up to 10 per cent per month.

Judge Reynaldo Garza set a hearing on the injunction request for 9 a. m. Jan. 30. Persons listed in the suit were credited by the SEC with placing at least $2.75 million in Sandblom's hands within the last two and one-half years.

TO AFFIDAVITS
A Shawnee, Okla., minister, the Rev. John Robert Meadows, a Dallas lawyer, Roy J. True, and Edward C. Hamilton, also of Dallas, swore to affidavits accompanying the SEC petition. The affidavits told how the trio accepted money from friends and acquaintances and turned it over to Sandblom in return for a cut in the Sandblom interest.

Hamilton and True listed notes in their affidavits of notes payable to 61 persons and totaling $1,555,400. Meadows told under oath how he received a total of $1,128,200 from 151 investors. The Rev. Mr. Meadows said Sandblom paid interest regularly until last November and added his affidavit that all who desired to withdraw their principal were able to do so. The affidavit did not say whether withdrawal of any principal was allowed after November.

ORIGINAL LOANS
Records filed with the petition indicated two persons giving money to Meadows were repaid their original loans, about $10,000, by December. Meadows' lengthy affidavit was accompanied by a 177-person list from whom he received money. Most lived in Oklahoma, but another list gave the name of 61 lenders in Dallas.

The minister said in late 1962 he began receiving money from so many persons that he was unable to handle the work and turned it over to Dr. Garland Cooper Howard, a member of his church.

Mrs. Dorothy Simon, he added, kept the record of a special bank account he and Howard kept first in the Oklahoma National Bank and later in the Fidelity National Bank, both of Oklahoma City.

AT REVIVAL
He heard about Sandblom, Meadows said, at a revival meeting in Shawnee in April, 1962. A brother, Pierce Lamar Meadows of Rosenberg, Tex., first told him about Sandblom, he said.

Sandblom surrendered to federal officials Jan. 12 in Corpus Christi. He is held in lieu of $125,000 in state and federal bonds, charged with violating security registration laws. His financial complex began to crumble and he filed a petition for voluntary bankruptcy Jan. 7. His assets listed 168 creditors but did not specify the amount owed. His assets and liabilities, required in a bankruptcy petition, have not been filed.

Estimates of losses incurred by persons making loans or investments to Sandblom have ranged up to $26 million.

COMPROMISE
The pastor's letter to me concludes: "And as long as you refuse fellowship with other Christian churches and refuse to recognize them as true churches, you are simply widening the breach." In other words, my friend contends that the only way to unity is through compromise. We are asked to fellowship everything that is done in the name of religion; and to recognize as the true church any and every sect that men decide to invent. We can only fellowship the things taught by Christ through His apostles. "Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God . . . If there come any

SMITH SPEAKS 'Begin At Home For Development'

COLORADO CITY—The old principle of lifting one's self by one's own bootstraps was the essence of a blueprint of development laid down for Colorado City Chamber of Commerce members and visitors at this city's annual C-C dinner Tuesday night.

Speaker was the state's lieutenant governor, Preston Smith of Lubbock, who drafted guidelines for local economic development.

He said the first essential is the development of the attitude of the people themselves—a cooperative attitude for an entire area, with building of leadership. Next, the job is to improve the local assets, so that a community will become attractive to others; then comes the development of the local potential—plus solid advertising of same; then the goal is to seek those industries which logically and economically fit into what the community has to offer.

Poll Tax Total Now Over 5,000

The numbers of qualified Howard County voters for 1964 passed the 5,000 mark Tuesday. Deadline for payment of poll tax and application for exemption certificates expires in eight days, counting today. Deadline is Jan. 31.

Total poll tax receipts issued by the office of Zerah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, through Tuesday totalled 3,839. Exemption certificates totalled 1,448. This brought the combined number of qualified electors to 5,285.

The total this year is ahead of 1960 when 5,039 had been qualified at this date. It is well ahead of 1962 when only 3,336 has been reported and is nearly double last year. Last year was one of the poorest years in history for poll tax receipts and exemption certificates.

Rotarians Hear YMCA Program

In recognition of National YMCA Week, Jim Gilbert, physical director of the Big Spring YMCA, told Rotarians of the physical fitness program for adults and youth at the Y. He was introduced by Curtis Mullins, executive secretary at the Y.

"We have been compared with the youth of European countries," Gilbert said, "and we have reason to be concerned about our own fitness when one of every three men fails to qualify for services with the Armed Forces."

Gilbert said most Americans feel that they do not have time to devote to physical exercise, and said his program at the YMCA is designed to take care of youth and adults.

Soviets Studying Johnson Proposal

GENEVA (AP)—Western and neutral delegates at the 17-nation disarmament conference expressed confidence today that the Soviet Union is studying President Johnson's new arms control proposals with exceptional interest.

The President, in a message read at the conference's resumption Tuesday, proposed a verified freeze on the number and specifications of nuclear delivery systems—missiles, submarines, planes and the like—and a controlled cutoff in the production of nuclear materials for weapons.

BETTER CHANCES

Some delegates believed two less spectacular proposals by Johnson had better chances of a favorable Soviet reaction. These called for agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations that don't have them and a system of observation posts to prevent accidental war or surprise attack.

These in general coincided with two points proposed by Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin as part of a seven-point program of negotiations, but agreement was not complete.

Johnson, for example, worded his proposal to ban the transfer of nuclear weapons so that it would not apply to the multilateral nuclear force proposed for the North Atlantic Alliance. Tsarapkin called for prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons to multilateral forces as well as to individual nations.

COMPLEX PACKAGE

Johnson's proposals for the first time broke up the huge and complex package of general disarmament, long deadlocked in the two-year-old conference. A general disarmament treaty still is the ultimate goal, but the U.S. proposals are preliminary measures which might start the powers toward a comprehensive treaty.

The U.S. proposals also included a treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force and subversion, and a new effort to ban underground nuclear weapon tests, excluded from the limited test ban treaty.

Jayhawks Seek Sixth League Win Tonight

By PAT WASHBURN

The Howard County Jayhawks, breathing fire and brimstone from the mere fact that they're leading the Western Junior College Conference with a fine 5-0 record, take to the hardwoods here tonight meeting the Odessa College Wranglers.

And in the 8 p.m. clash, if the past two games for the Hawks are any reference, the Wranglers will be ridden roughshod into the ground.

One of the Hawks' past two victories came over the tough Amarillo Badgers, 63-57, as HCJ refused to fold under tremendous pressure. And then came the New Mexico Military Institute game. When that farce was over, the Hawks had amassed a 113-69 lead and used everyone on the bench to try to hold down the score. No one doubted that on that particular night the Hawks could have run the score to 140 if they wanted to.

The Wranglers should pose a bigger threat than NMMI. Odessa already lost to Amarillo and the Hawks took Amarillo, so comparison, at least, upholds that fact.

Starters for Odessa will probably be: Ken Kaminski, Buddy Othick, Gus Buchanan, Chic Kiefer, and Ken Kuhn. Stan Heaps will be a boy to watch. In an earlier encounter against Wharton Junior College in the HC gym, he ripped off 33 points.

For the Hawks, who juggle their lineup at will like a mad magician, you can only guess who will be the starters. A probable opening crew looks like this: Jim Oldham, Terry Williams, Keith Bond, Eddy Nelson and Thomas Carter.

The Hawks should win this one. The rebounding should be no problem, and if their defense is up to par as it has been in the past two games, they should hold Heaps down

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

One of the nice surprises around Big Spring this winter has been the remarkable success of both local basketball teams. The two quintets are 22-14 (Steers, 19-8; Jayhawks, 12-6) for a .612 percentage of wins opposed to losses.

For Howard County, the Hawks aren't as good as they were last year, but a splendid amount of hustle and hard-nosed defensive play has paid off with win after win (seven in a row at one time) and has given them a 5-0 record in the Western Junior College Conference. Which incidentally is leading the loop, although the San Angelo College Rams haven't lost a conference game either. But San Angelo has only played four teams in the loop.

The Steers are moving well because they've proved that they're a tough team to beat in the clutch. And then, too, they've got Mike Peters, who is good for just about 14 point every game. It's good to have someone to depend on.

Perhaps, when the success of local quintets has been mentioned around Big Spring this winter, the most heard comment concerns Delnor Poss, Steers basketball mentor.

"Gee, I'm glad to see him doing good this year. It couldn't happen to a nicer guy."

San Angelo College and football are again going to be wed to each other next fall—only this time it'll be on a four-year basis. Of course, the big question is if they can make a go of it this time. There's no doubt that they've already recruited some good boys, many of whom played their high school ball in District 2-AAAA like Jimmy Bihl (San Angelo) and Gene Crawford (Odessa).

The going will get tough next fall when the Rams meet teams like the McMurry Indians. When the Indians come crashing down around their ears, the Rams' players could find that college ball is just a little bit rougher than they had bargained for.

War Birds Slam Steers, 83-64

ABILENE — Abilene's Eagles remained in contention for the District 2-AAAA basketball championship by flattening Big Spring, 83-64, here Tuesday night.

Saturday Morning Warriors

Every Saturday morning, beginning at 9:15, the YMCA gym is taken over by a gang of enthusiastic young basketballers who take part in the Gra-Y League. Action can be pretty fast and furious (as shown in the picture)—and sometimes it can be pretty funny, too. But everyone involved has a good time and it's all in fun. That's what makes it so nice. Cooper Takes Overtime Win

SAN ANGELO — The Cooper Cougars did it Tuesday night for the fifth time in six district ball games—they won in overtime. This time the victim was the San Angelo Bobcats and when the final two extra periods were down on the scorers' official book, the Cougars were left with a 69-63 triumph.

The Bobcats had a 57-55 lead with only seven seconds left to go but a long pass down court to Leon Lucas at the free throw line tied the game up when he made a jump shot. From there the Cougars took control.

National Drags May Be Carded

The National drag-race contest may be held in Big Spring March 7 and 8, Bob Schaff, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, told the Advertising and Promotion Committee Tuesday afternoon. Two runways at Webb Air Force Base will be used for the races which could draw as high as three thousand spectators and racers.

Schaff said the grand-national contest could also be brought to Big Spring, if the proper track were available, and that this race would attract up to 30,000 persons. He said Webb AFB officials approved use of the runways for the national races Tuesday.

"No charge can be made for admissions since it will be on government property," he said, "and concessions stands cannot be operated on the base, except by base youth organizations for benefit of their activities. Entry fees may be charged for those entering the races."

The committee heard news for a permanent racing strip, up to 1.5 miles in length, with proper curves and straightaways. More will be heard at future meetings of the committee, and from the tourist and information committee.

Twelve members of the Ad-Pro committee, headed by Russell Bennett, held the first meeting of 1964, reviewed projects carried over from 1963 and discussed plans for future programs.

Rozelle Seeking Payoff For NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Quietly and efficiently three sealed envelopes will be placed Friday morning on the desk of Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner.

In each will be an unimposing slip of paper—each worth in the neighborhood of $15 million.

That's the area in which the three major networks are expected to present bids for television's hottest property — the NFL games—when a new two-year contract is put on the open market.

And, looking over everyone's shoulder will be the American Football League.

The entire bidding operation is a sheer matter of guesswork. Only one bid is made—and the highest wins. There is no second chance. Thus far, in bidding for football programs, the National Broadcasting Co. has had the best swami.

NBC outbid the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. for the two-year rights to the college games, collecting that plum with a $13,944,000 bid — or $6,522,000 a year. CBS previously had the rights.

NBC also proved successful Monday in scoring a coup against ABC by taking the Orange Bowl away from that network. That provides NBC with the opportunity to telecast a unique tripleheader New Year's Day, with the Sugar, Rose and now the Orange Bowl games.

ABC still has a one-year option for the AFL rights—at a figure of about $2,350,000 for the single season under a contract signed in 1960. If ABC were to bid and win the NFL rights, the network likely would not exercise its option to retain the AFL program.

CHIEF PENGHULU, BORNEO LEADER
Ex-headhunter asks Johnson to help halt war

Borneo Chieftain Asks LBJ's Help

BARIO, Malaysia (AP) — A States is somewhere just east special message to President Johnson from high in the Tamabo Mountains of Borneo.

Chief Penghulu wants your help. "We have heard the United States of America is mighty and kind," the Kelabit tribal leader told this Associated Press reporter. "Tell your chief we need help."

The chief and his 3,000 people former headhunters only recently introduced to the 20th century, are caught in the midst of an undeclared war along the Malaysian-Indonesian border.

TERRORISTS

British troops have moved into Kelabit jungle hunting grounds about 400 miles northeast of Kuching, Sarawak, to defend against terrorist bands attacking across the border from Indonesia.

The Kelabits who live on both sides of the border are afraid to go into the jungle.

"Tell your chief the Kelabit people would like to live in peace and not war," the chief said.

The chief, who never had met an American before, reckons time in days it takes to march from one point to another. He seems to think the United States

NOT ONE-WAY

Nevertheless, he is willing to enter into an alliance if only Chief Johnson will come to his aid. To show such an alliance would not be a one-way deal, Penghulu spent hours describing the Kelabits' past prowess at war.

U.S. military strength is feared in the Tamabo Mountains because in the closing days of World War II an American plane parachuted rifles to the Kelabits, who launched a fierce attack on Japanese troops.

The chief is about 57 as near as anybody can guess.

DON'T UNDERSTAND

The Kelabits' confusion at being involved in the war they do not understand is typical of the reaction of tribesmen throughout Sarawak and Sabah, which with Malaya and Singapore form the Malaysian Federation.

President Sukarno of Indonesia has sworn to crush Malaysia but last week told Atty Gen Robert F. Kennedy he seeks a peaceful solution. Such a solution is an aim of the United States, and President Johnson, in sending Kennedy to talk with Sukarno, in effect may have anticipated Chief Penghulu's call for help.

Ruby Venue Change To Be Asked Feb. 10

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's defense team will return to court Feb. 10 to argue that his murder trial should be transferred out of Dallas because of "general animosity against him."

Meanwhile, Ruby will undergo an intensive mental examination conducted by a three-man panel of psychiatrists agreed upon by Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown.

Chief defense lawyer Melvin Bell said he was pleased over court developments Tuesday, which resulted in creation of the panel but failed to gain Ruby by his freedom on bond.

Another result was delay of Ruby's murder trial on a charge of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, the pro-Marxist accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy.

BEGIN FEB. 17

Brown said if he rules against a change of venue Feb. 10, the trial of the 32-year-old strip joint operator will begin Feb. 17. Otherwise, he will choose a new site and date for the trial.

The trial had been scheduled to begin Feb. 3. The defense suddenly dropped its attempt to get Ruby freed on bond after the court agreed to appoint the team of psychiatrists.

Brown held a long afternoon conference with prosecution and defense lawyers and stated afterward that the psychiatrists' report must be evaluated in court, subject to argument from both sides.

"The jury will have to decide whether Ruby is sane or insane," Brown emphasized.

BRAIN DAMAGE

Defense counsel sought throughout the hearing to show that Ruby was a man with brain damage that would make him capable of killing without knowing it.

The panel consists of Dr. Martin Towler of the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston, Dr. Robert Stubblefield of Southwestern Medical School at Dallas and Dr. John T. Holbrook of Dallas, who already had examined Ruby for the state.

Their examination is to include an electroencephalograph, a spinal tap, a blood serology and skull X-rays. The time and place were not announced.

The defense team also called to the stand Asst. Dist. Atty. William F. Alexander, who is aiding Dist. Atty. Henry Wade in prosecution.

Alexander testified he was present when Holbrook examined Ruby for two hours. Following the examination, Alexander testified, "I was sure he (Ruby) was a proper candidate for the electric chair."

EVALUATION

Asked by the defense if he would change his evaluation if results of further tests indicated Ruby had organic brain damage, Alexander hesitated and then replied: "I would."

Bell, from San Francisco, submitted his motion for a change of venue moments after the final witness left the stand.

Throngs Still Visit Serene Grave Of JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — They still come by the thousands to the peaceful slope overlooking the capital where John F. Kennedy lies buried.

Some pray. Some leave flowers. Some just stand silent with their thoughts. Some just come to be brushed by history, to say they've been there.

It was just two months ago today that he was assassinated, and three years and two days after he was inaugurated as the 35th and youngest president of the United States.

A spring-like rain and a warming sun had melted away most of the mantle of snow that had covered Arlington National Cemetery and the open hillside where the eternal flame burns over his grave.

Fresh evergreen boughs covered the base of the flame. There, on the boughs, were the military caps of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines and special forces, tossed there the day they buried the commander-in-chief.

Among the boughs, too, were a rolled-up piece of paper tied with white ribbon, a bouquet of pink carnations, a nosegay of white chrysanthemums tied with red ribbon that faded pink on the snow.

Each evening, after cemetery gates are closed, the soldiers take from the boughs all the remembrances that people bring. They are put in a box to be given to the Kennedy family.

Mostly the visitors just stand there and look at the grave with sorrow in their eyes.

The trees were bare, and the long white rows of gravestones cast long shadows.

The jet planes droned overhead and across another hill taps sounded for another man who had fought for his country and died.

The bidding:
West North East South
1♣ Double Pass 4♥
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠
West opened the bidding with one club, and North made a take-out double. South, in addition to having nine high card points, was the possessor of a virtually self-sustaining seven-card suit. Facing a partner who had announced the equivalent of an opening bid himself, South was willing to gamble out a game and he proceeded directly to four hearts.

West opened the king of clubs and the ace was played from the dummy. A small heart to declarer's ten drew the outstanding trumps and, once in his hand, South led the queen of spades for a finesse. East won the trick with the king, and a diamond shift thru the declarer enabled West to take two diamonds. He then cashied the queen of clubs to defeat the contract.

South contended at the conclusion of the deal that he had been the victim of an unfortunate break in not finding the king of spades with the opening bidder. In point of fact, however, the declarer had it in his power to make his four heart bid against the actual division of the cards.

Since it is desirable to keep East out of the play in order to protect the king of diamonds from attack, South should endeavor to control the lead. It is suggested that he permit West's king of clubs to hold the opening lead and then win the club continuation. After trumps are drawn, South may play the queen of spades; however, he should go up with dummy's ace, refusing the finesse. Now the nine of clubs is led and, when East shows out, South merely discards his last spade permitting West to win the trick.

If West returns a spade, North's ten forces out the king and declarer ruffs. The jack of spades now provides a parking place for a losing diamond. If West shifts to a diamond, it must establish South's king.

Observe that the recommended play runs no risk. If East is able to cover the nine of clubs, declarer ruffs and leads a small spade toward dummy. Even if West should turn up with the king of spades, he can do no better at this point than to cash the ace of diamonds for the third and final defensive trick.

Farm Resources Too High—LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said in his budget report to Congress that too much of the nation's productive resources—principally manpower and land—is devoted to agricultural production.

The results of this, he said, have been both good and bad. They have been good as far as providing the nation with plentiful supplies of food and fiber and leaving large quantities to help the needy abroad, he said, but bad because the situation has led to unsatisfactory incomes for many farmers and high federal farm program costs.

The chief executive said a special farm message to be sent to Congress later will call for commodity programs designed to improve incomes of those needed in farm production and other measures designed to divert unneeded resources from farming. The commodity programs will relate principally to cotton and milk.

But the administration is expected to devote greater efforts than ever before on measures to divert cropland to other uses including recreation, forests, wildlife habitats and grass. Too, it is expected to put much more steam behind the Agriculture Department's rural areas development program.

The latter program seeks to help local areas develop non-farm resources, to solicit new industries, to establish watersheds with their recreational opportunities, to train rural youth for non-farm skills and to help promote local housing and community development projects through long-term, low-interest loans.

Fuller details of the administration's plans in this field will be spelled out as time moves along, officials said.

Dorchester To Attend Meeting

E. D. Dorchester, transmission superintendent of the Big Spring Transmission Division for Texas Electric Service Company, will attend the winter meeting of the Transmission and Distribution Committee of the Edison Electric Institute in Chicago this week. The Edison Electric Institute is an organization comprised of electric utility companies from throughout the United States, and these semi-annual meetings are attended by representatives of most utility companies.

While attending the meeting, Dorchester will address the group and show colored slides concerning experiences connected with working from insulated aerial lift trucks and the development of safety and work procedures.

Undecided On Race—Shriver

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—Sargent Shriver, director of the U.S. Peace Corps, told newsmen Tuesday night he has not decided whether to run for vice president if he is asked.

Shriver, on a world tour, came to inspect Peace Corps work in Afghanistan and to deliver a message from President Johnson to King Mohammad Zahir

Ghost Town Charge To Be Refuted

WASHINGTON (AP)—William McChesney Martin, head of the Federal Reserve Board, gets a chance today to reply on the record to Rep. Wright Patman's charges that his banking policies have helped create ghost towns across the country.

Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, realized Tuesday a cherished ambition to start a thorough investigation of the Federal Reserve System—the first in 30 years, he said.

Patman and Martin are old adversaries. Each has heard the other's arguments and answers many times. Now they are spreading the story on an official record. They treat each other with great respect.

TO OPPOSE ALL Martin Tuesday read a prepared statement in which he opposed all the proposed changes Patman would make in the Federal Reserve.

Patman's most drastic proposal would put the secretary of the Treasury in charge of the Federal Reserve Board as its chairman. The government bank now is virtually autonomous and Martin said it must remain so.

But Martin had no chance in the limited opening session to reply to a speech by Patman.

Its central point was that the Federal Reserve and its local bank members have refused credit to smalltown merchants and farmers and the result is "little towns dried up, the countryside bleak."

A Devotional For The Day

Many Samaritans from that city believed in him (Jesus) because of the woman's testimony. (John 4:39, RSV.)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, who hast taught us that out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks, fill our hearts with Thy love that we may declare it in every word and deed. Renew our minds and purify our hearts that our attitudes may testify of Thee. In Jesus' spirit we pray. Amen.
(From the "Upper Room")

Difficult To Change The Pattern

Every American president in modern times has tried, none with more than limited success, to improve the integrity and performance of the federal regulatory agencies whose policies profoundly affect the greater part of the national economy. It is not surprising that President Johnson should show similar concern so early in his administration.

President Roosevelt made considerable changes in the 1930s, but his effort was interrupted by World War II. Reform of the major regulatory agencies was a prominent theme in the recommendations of the Hoover Commission on Reorganization of the Executive Branch, in 1947-49 and 1953-56 under the Truman and Eisenhower administrations, but actual results were disappointing. Kennedy administration "task forces" tackled the problem and made comprehensive recommendations, but these were not immediately pushed.

Congressional opposition, resistance by affected industries' lobbies, the inertia of the agencies' bureaucracies, and expert disagreement on what changes should be made, these have proved formidable obstacles to thoroughgoing reform and reorganization. The complexity of these agencies — with their sweeping supervision over transportation, finance, communications, trade, fuel and power — defy simple solutions to problems of ethics, efficiency and equity.

There will not be time in the single year of the unexpired term he is now serving, of course, for President Johnson to achieve any fundamental changes in the agencies' structure or system of operations. He reportedly is considering use of committees of experts in related fields to screen appointments to the agencies' governing commissions or boards, much as the American Bar Association now checks judicial appointments.

Standards of performance are directly dependent on the quality of presidential appointments. This is at least a starting point for reforms, so perhaps some more basic reforms could follow in time.

Grubber, Spare That Mesquite!

Some Texans may be pleased to know that the mesquite is good for something else besides barbecuing and fence posts. The Indians of the Southwest once used the mesquite tree for food, shelter, clothing, fuel and weapons.

The many potential uses of the mesquite were described in a recent report by Lowell J. Bean and Katherine Saubel to the University of California. The dried, ripened bean was eaten by Indians from the trees, or ground into meal and made into cakes. The bark was pounded, rubbed and pulled to form a kind of fiber. Leaves were used to cover roofs. Bows and arrows were made from the wood. Mesquite gum was used as an adhesive, or diluted to make an eyewash or used in the treatment of wounds. The thorns were used in lattoing.

Notwithstanding, we doubt there is need to organize for the prevention of eradication of the mesquite.

David Lawrence De Gaulle Turns Back On U.S.

WASHINGTON — President De Gaulle of France may not fully realize what he is doing, but he is about to take a step which could result in the first serious estrangement between France and the United States in more than a century. For the Paris government is soon to recognize Communist China. This is in utter disregard of the position of the United States and of the principles which have caused the government here during more than a decade to refuse to enter into diplomatic relations with Red China.

THE PROSPECTIVE action of France will, in effect, tell the world that aggression—which has been specifically denounced in the basic principles of the United Nations charter—now gets a peculiar kind of reward. The State Department here only a week ago said that French recognition of China would "not be a service" to the United States or to the Atlantic Alliance and would enhance China's ability to promote its goal of imposing Communism in other countries by any means at hand.

THE UNITED STATES has befriended France time after time and has come to its rescue in two world wars in this century by sending millions of troops 3,000 miles across the ocean. Many American lives have been sacrificed to repel aggression against France. The United States has provided the French people with about $10 billion in economic and military aid since World War II, and has given moral support also for the maintenance of solidarity as against potential Communist aggression in Europe.

If there were involved only the fact that the Communist Chinese actually exercise control over a vast territory of the mainland of Asia, there would be less opposition here to diplomatic recognition of the Red China government. But the Communist Chinese made war on the U. N. troops in Korea from 1950 to 1953, defying the organization which had been set up by the governments of the world to maintain peace.

WHAT PRESIDENT De Gaulle now is saying, in effect, is that, no matter what an aggressor nation does, it can get from the French government full diplomatic recognition. This is an encouragement of aggressor states and a disregard of the proponents to moral force, who have felt that the way to secure peace is not by military action but by a concerted world opinion—the support of peoples who favor free governments and a free society.

THE NEW development has been under discussion in diplomatic circles here for several weeks. The United States has endeavored to persuade the French government not to recognize Red China, particularly since the U. N. itself has refused to accept Red China into its membership. But evidently there are materialistic interests in France that want to trade with Communist China. Apparently the French are also seeking some sort of new influence in Southeast Asia, where the next development probably will be proposals by the French government to bring about the "reunification" of what used to be known as French Indo-China, but which now is divided into North and South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

THE OBJECTIVE of the Red Chinese, of course, is to control Southeast Asia, and they will welcome French policy as assisting them in paralyzing the influence of the United States in that area. Once this is done, a Communist takeover is simplified.

It has often been said of General De Gaulle that he is a nationalist at heart and looks after the interests of his own country. But, in a world of turmoil, no nation can afford to disregard its most powerful ally. The best explanation of General De Gaulle's current move is that he believes the people of the United States will be indifferent and that this country will continue to do everything it has been doing in the past to assist France.

IT HAS BEEN argued that Great Britain has also recognized the Peking government. But those who make that point forget that the British had recognized Red China early in 1950—before the Red Chinese aggression in Korea.

The American people have always been friendly to France, but a coolness will undoubtedly arise when it is formally announced that the French government has turned its back on the United States and has embraced the Red Chinese rulers who are responsible for the killing and wounding of more than 135,000 Americans in Korea.

Billy Graham
I believe there is a God but He seems so far away, and I cannot make contact. What can I do?—R.N.S.

The link that connects you to God is not reason, nor conscience, nor emotion: it is faith. The Bible says, "Without faith it is impossible to please Him; for he that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is the rewarder of them that diligently seek Him."

"Act on what faith you have," said Wilfred Grenfell, "and more faith will be given you." You say you believe in God. Begin at that point. If you believe in God, then you must believe that you are accountable to Him. That should lead you to contemplate your inner condition—your sin. The realization of your sin should remind you that God has, in Christ, done something about your sins. When you accept God's estimate of your sins, and His estimate of His Son's death on the Cross, it should not be difficult for you to say:

Alas, and did my Savior bleed,
And did my Sovereign die;
Could He reject my Savior's love
For such a worm as I?

Faith must be coupled with action. Do something about your faith, then your faith will do something for you.

THE THIRD FLAG IN PANAMA

James Marlow Disarmament Circle To Keep On Spinning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The endless circle spins again. President Johnson has made disarmament proposals based on the hope the Soviet Union has changed its mind. But there's no reason to believe it has.

Johnson suggested Tuesday — in a message to the 18-nation disarmament conference which opened in Geneva — several moves for controlling nuclear weapons and cutting down their production.

There would have to be an inspection system to prevent cheating. This is what the United States has always insisted upon, before there could be an agreement. But the Soviet Union has always opposed an inspection system.

LAST WEEK Johnson said "we shall make new proposals" to the conference. Later he was quoted in a White House statement as saying "as the United States enters these negotiations... we harbor no illusions of easy success."

His proposals Tuesday were not basically new. Even his opening sentence had a familiar sound, the kind of thing the United States and the Soviet Union have been saying for years:

"There is only one item on the agenda of this conference — it is the leading item on the agenda — and that one item is peace."

THE SOVIET Union said several years ago in a memorandum on disarmament: "There is no task more vital and urgent today than the task of preserving peace."

The White House had hardly announced Johnson's proposals before senators were urging caution, warning there could be no agreement without inspection.

Any hope of a Soviet switch on inspection seems based on this: Maybe they think it's time for a second look because (1) their economy is in a downturn and less money spent on armaments would help and (2) their split with Red China may make them want better relations with the West.

THIS PAST year there have been some steps towards better relations, as Johnson mentioned.

Hal Boyle Changing Views At 53

NEW YORK (AP) — Something new is about to happen to mankind.

I'll soon be 53 years old, an age when the birthday candles are beginning to cost more than the cake.

One of my youthful associates, when I mentioned my forthcoming anniversary, said, "Tell us, Grandpa, what it is like to be a living mossback in your own time."

WELL, SIR, by cracky, the view through your bifocals windows on the edge of 53 is like this:

Life insurance fellows quit trying to sell you on new 20-year endowment policies.

When you open the newspaper, you turn first to the obituary page to see who lost before turning to the sports page to see who won.

It takes you longer to clear your throat when you wake up in the morning.

THE FACE you see in the mirror when you shave looks more like your father and less like you.

You grumble because it costs you more now to have a pair of shoes resoled than you paid for the shoes when you went to high school.

Every promise a present politician makes leads you to recall another promise a past politician failed to keep.

NO MATTER how fast you move, you find more and more old ladies are beating you to a seat on the bus.

You have more fun in reminiscing than you used to have in doing.

Along about this time of year the thing you most yearn to achieve is to see the first robin of spring.

You can remember more clearly the ruinous beauty of the girl you loved so desperately in kindergarten than the one you wooed and lost in college.

AT THE OFFICE you tend to discredit the views of any co-worker who doesn't have a 25-year pin in his lapel.

You become reconciled to the fact that there are only two real wonder drugs—aspirin and sodium bicarbonate.

But if anyone asks you what is the best age in life, you have no doubt of the answer — it's the age you are. No one really knows what living is until he's almost 53. Everything before is only preamble.

an agreement banning nuclear tests except underground; a direct line between Moscow and Washington to be used in a crisis to prevent misunderstandings; and a unanimous United Nations vote last October against nuclear-armed space satellites to halt the arms race upstairs.

But even if the Soviet Union switched on inspection, this awfully unpleasant question remains: what good would a disarmament agreement be unless Red China was a party to it?

It's hard to believe the U. S. Senate would ever approve a disarmament agreement which did not include Red China. But Red China is not taking part in the 18-nation conference. And, to complicate matters, this country refuses to recognize the Communist Chinese as the lawful masters of China.

THE RED Chinese, in turn, have said they would not be bound by any disarmament treaty unless they took part in it and, in addition, they said they would not take part unless the United States recognized them.

The fallacy in a disarmament agreement without Red China was explained by the late President John F. Kennedy at a news conference Feb. 14, 1962.

"There is no use having an inspection system agreed upon between the United States and the Soviet Union and some other countries and then have another country, large, carrying on intensive armaments preparations. Quite obviously that would not protect our security."

"So this problem of bringing that in is a problem that must be considered before we would be able to have confidence in any disarmament agreement."

RED CHINA is not even a member of the United Nations. The United States has managed so far to keep it out. But the American ally, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist China on Formosa, is a U. N. member.

(Chiang claims to be boss of all China, although the Reds drove him off the mainland and have kept him off. So, in addition to all the problems just mentioned, there's this:

How, for the sake of universal disarmament, could the United States recognize Red China without abandoning Chiang or at least in effect agreeing that the Red Chinese and not Chiang were the boss of China?

For all these reasons the disarmament circle seems due to keep spinning quite a while.

Around The Rim A Word Spoken In Due Season

I won't call this a resolution, but one thing I'm going to try conscientiously to do this year is to take time to pen a little note of appreciation to the many persons I know to be doing outstanding and unselfish jobs for others.

AT ONE TIME in my life when I was almost physically exhausted and mentally too, from trying to put in a little time on my job and attend to a lot of other things at a time there was a shortage of workers, I got a letter from a certain prominent man.

"What," I thought, "does he want now?"

I opened the letter and read—with shame. He had not asked me to do anything; he had taken time to say some kind and undeserved words of appreciation for what he thought I might have done. It lifted a burden and restored my soul.

THERE HAVE BEEN other times, too, when I received just a few lines from friends and sometimes from mere acquaintances, saying something overly generous. It's uncanny how these invariably arrive at the right moment.

"A word spoken in due season, how good it is!" observed the writer of Proverbs. And again: "A word fitly spoken, is like apples of gold in a picture of silver."

INSTEAD of glad tidings, however, it seems all too easy for us to be eager bearers of bad tidings. "I don't want to disturb you," we volunteer. "But so-and-so is spreading it around that you—" Or, "Is there anything to this rumor that you—?"

A friend of mine who had long been active in politics said that he had learned to beware of "friends" who were always hurrying to bring some disquieting news. He secretly cut them off the list of persons on whom he could count.

SHINE PHILIPS, our friendly philosopher who lived his Christianity in many ways, including visiting the sick every weekend, used to say that we ought to pass on the flowers while the recipient can still enjoy their fragrance. It may be of some comfort to survivors to eulogize the departed, but how much better would it have been to have let this friend himself or herself know just how much we treasured their friendship.

I wish I could remember the words of that little poem that starts something like this: "Around this town, not so far away—" and goes on to detail how the writer intended to go see his friend Jim and tell him how much he admired and loved him. But one thing and another came up, and this visit was postponed again and again, until one day the message came "Jim passed away today."

THERE IS SCARCELY a time that I sit down in a meeting that I do not think of some person there that I ought to write him or her a note and tell them how grateful I am to know them and how much I appreciate their unselfish devotion to our institutions or other people. It only takes a nickel stamp and a few minutes to send a bouquet of "words spoken in due season."
—JOE PICKLE

Inez Robb Oh, For The Handy Man!

There has never been a time when this country was in more poignant need of a good five-cent cigar than at the moment.

It was in a far less complicated era that Thomas Riley Marshall, vice president to Woodrow Wilson, diagnosed the ultimate need of this nation as a good nickel seegar. Like many unsung heroes, he was simply ahead of his day.

THOSE WERE the halcyon days when any housewife, in town or country, could hire an all-purpose genius known as a handy man who would beat rugs, polish floors, clean the stove, rewire the lamps, restore to health the ailing vacuum cleaner, scrub and repair the refrigerator, fix the egg beater and the curling iron, get the kitchen sink unstopped, dust the cornices, clean and mend the chandeliers, tame the temperamental washing machine, diagnose the trouble with the electric iron and fix it out in a clothesline, coax the victrola to play again, bathe the dogs, glue Grandpa's rocker together and keep an eye on the children while the housewife went to the store.

HE COULD also get luncheon for the kids, mend a sled, clean the automobile and find out where the knock or rattle came from and repair it, paint a cupboard or the whole house, mow the lawn, trim the roses and catch a mole, clean the fireplace and fix the balky draft, oil hinges, trim hedges, clean out the furnace semi-annually and the radiators, wash the woodwork, lay linoleum, screen the porch, replace shingles on the roof—

Stop! Stop! I'm breaking my heart. I cannot see through my tears!

EVEN IF IT were still available today, I wouldn't know what to do with a good five-cent cigar.

But never a week passes that I wouldn't trade my push-button kitchen and my semi-automated home for the handy man who once "did" for my mother and other housewives of her generation.

Push-buttons and their caretakers are making the women of my generation old before their time. I think longingly of the handy man of my youth and I wonder, seriously wonder, why none of the brilliant industrialists, government logicians and social workers who wrestle with the problem of employment and the threat of automation has not come up with a simple solution to put millions back to work.

LET THEM, for mercy's sake and the salvation of the housewife, revive that inspired American institution, the handy man, the man who used to be able to do anything around a house, even moving it, if necessary.

Such a man—and the world is crying for him—would be worth his weight in gold. Gold? What am I saying? Diamonds! Pure, blue-white flawless gems!

Unemployment could be banished tomorrow, the fear of automation routed and this country made an earthly paradise if only the handy man—household technician, that is—once more walked the land. There would be an egg and not a tear in the housewife's beer.

Holmes Alexander Goldwater Seen As Necessity

WASHINGTON — Democratic party managers, who tend to be conservative at heart and to tolerate radicalism only for vote-catching, take a "Love Me, Love Me Not" attitude toward the prospect of a too-sweeping win for Lyndon Johnson in November.

They half-hope to see the Republican party spared this ignominy, and this partly-suppressed desire is causing some of them to wish Barry Goldwater well. They would like to see him campaign like a political Billy Graham, reading the gospel from his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative." They want him to keep these principles alive, and not to make wild attacks such as his recent charge that our long-range missiles are undependable.

THIS AMBIGUOUS Democratic attitude amounts to a hope to preserve the Republican party, even in defeat, and is comparable to the American revaluation of how Germany and Japan were to be treated at the end of World War II. The vengeful Morgenthau Plan for turning Hitlerite Germany into a cow pasture was soon recognized as an extreme, if not Communist, and was discarded. The plan to destroy the Japanese emperor-image was also rejected as soon as it was recognized as being harmful to world stability. Both Germany and Japan, though erring nations, were seen to be parts of the Western culture, and they were reconstructed as bulwarks against Communism.

WHILE THE analogy is imprecise, there is a feeling among Democrats that the Goldwater philosophy and the conservative tradition of the GOP, belong to the American political system. The preservation of these ideas is essential to the two-party nation. The Senator sometimes seems to be the only bulwark against the extremism of Federal statism and corrosive pacifism.

It may be that there is discoverable here a little-known Goldwater Underground which can add both sentiment and money to his cause. It is something more than a little encouraging to find Goldwater foes who do not want him to win, and yet do not want him to be utterly overwhelmed.

YET THE REPUBLICAN ascendancy to power does come periodically, at times when the Democrats have signally overreached themselves, as they did under Wilson's plan for a League of Nations, or have sunk into scandals, as was the case under Truman.

Perhaps this historical cycle is more applicable in 1964 than is generally understood in this early phase of the campaign. There are signs that Mr. Kennedy did overreach himself in asking Congress to do too much, and in going on the assumption that the Cold War was in a state of thaw. So far, it is not clear that President Johnson recognizes the Kennedy fault as fully as the Congress and the country have seemed to do. Nor is it evident, from the unfolding Bobby Baker investigation, that this is going to be a scandal-free season for the Democratic establishment.

IN SHORT, there are elements which do speak for Goldwater's survival and also hint at Democratic disintegration.

Sailors Protest
SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Jesse Burgess and his three sons found a name for their boat in the criticism of one of their womenfolk.

She chided them for working on the sleek inboard runabout instead of their yards. So the boat, which is on nearby Indian Lake, now is named Hell With Yards Work.

Tells How She Fought 'Emotional Eating'

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "There are more reasons than hunger that make you fat," Claudia Martin declared. "I used to be 30 pounds overweight. I stuffed myself with potato chips and was always eating chocolate candy. When I look back on it, I think you might say it was emotional eating, an unhappiness that sprang from insecurity."

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE
Today we saw a reprint of the 1908 calendar put out by Forsan Oil Well and Supply Co. and it is something to see. The calendar girl, "Sweet Genevieve," is a far cry from most of the cover girls of a few years back and of today. She is a very pretty brunette with her hair piled high and a beautiful yellow bonnet that ties demurely under her chin. There is no eye makeup and her lips are ones that follow a natural line. MR. and MRS. KENNETH MANUEL are among the happiest grandparents in town since their grandson, BRADLEY SCOTT LANKFORD, was born here Jan. 17. The parents are MR. and MRS. DOYCE LANKFORD (she is the former Sara Ruth Manuel). The paternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. TROY LANKFORD of Westbrook. The baby weighed 8 pounds, 14 ounces when he arrived at Cowper Hospital. When CHRISTI LYLES and DANNY McCRARY marry Friday evening in the First Presbyterian sanctuary, the ceremony will be the first to be held in the new building. Really good friends are having their annual get together this week at the home of MR. and MRS. HARVY WILLIAMSON. From Amarillo are MRS. FRED WAGNER, MRS. LEE STOOLOBAGER, MRS. VERLE VAN VORIS, MRS. HUGH TULL and MRS. OLLIE MEA PYLE, all of whom are houseguests of the WILLIAMSONS. Another member of the party is MRS. WILLIAM CASHION who lives in Midland and is the houseguest of her cousin, MRS. LLOYD WASSON, and Mr. Wasson. The Wassons entertained the group and some local friends with an informal party at their home Tuesday evening. If there are many more days like Tuesday, weatherwise, most of us are going to get in the groove and get out and rake up the dead grass, weeds, shrubs, etc. and perhaps prune a little. MRS. ARCH CARSON was out Tuesday welding a mean rake and this morning we noted the R. L. BEALES had been pruning on the pretty weeping mulberry that is a thing of beauty to me, with or without leaves. Cooking Roast Take that roast out of the refrigerator an hour or two before it is to go into the oven so the meat will come to room temperature.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Fancy Tubes Can Keep Drafts Out

Dear Heloise: Recently a woman wrote to you about taking a newspaper and rolling it into a "rolling pin," wrapping a bath towel around it and placing it in front of her door to keep draft out. I thought this was wonderful, but we have improved upon it! We now use these for not only the front door but all doors including the basement. Here's what we did: We took one old bath towel and cut it in nine-inch strips lengthwise. We made tubes from these strips of bath towel by stitching them on our sewing machine. We took one section newspaper and rolled it as it is folded making a tube of paper. We stuffed the rolled pieces of paper into our terry cloth "tubes" and took rubber bands and clasped the ends with them! One could machine-stitch the tubes or sew by hand. Result? Beautiful tubes that can be kicked, thrown or pushed in front of any door after it is opened or closed. Not only does it keep the heat in and the cold out—we believe it will keep the cold air in and the Havens and Mrs. Ray McMath, second; Mrs. W. K. Edwards and Mrs. Ty Allen, third; and Mrs. Hayes Stripling Sr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish, fourth. Next Friday was announced as the club's Master Point Day.

DEAR ABBY

He Honors His Oath

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my husband joined the Masons. At first I was very proud of him, but since his installation, which he refuses to tell me anything about, I have been miserable. He tells me it is a secret organization and he has given his solemn oath not to divulge the secrets of the lodge. I am terribly hurt. In 16 years of marriage we have never had any secrets from each other. I have begged, wept and tried every approach I could think of, but he refuses to tell me anything. How can an organization which claims such high ideals justify building a barrier between a man and his wife? I am so upset I don't know what to do. MASON'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Simmer down and take pleasure in the knowledge that you are married to a man whose "solemn oath" means something. And quit nagging and whining, or you'll lose your Mason by degrees.

DEAR ABBY: Should I let my hair grow? PAUL
DEAR PAUL: I don't know how you can stop it.

DEAR ABBY: When someone consistently gets letters that have been sealed with a piece of tape, don't you think it is an out-and-out insult to the other people living in that house? JUST WONDERING
DEAR JUST: If it is, I must have insulted many. Frequently I have been stuck with envelopes that don't stick, and therefore use tape. I regard it as a means to keep the contents in—rather than to keep snoopers out.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote and asked if she should send a sympathy card six weeks after a neighbor had lost a child. I was glad you advised against it. How right you were, Abby. Twenty years ago my brother was killed in World War II. When his body was sent home for burial my poor mother had to face many cruel and thoughtless people who told her that the coffin was probably filled with rocks instead of a body because some of the boys were blown to bits, and there was nothing to send home. Mother had every holiday spoiled by people who sent her sympathy cards all year, such as "Sympathy at Christmas," and "Sympathy at Easter," and of all things, "Sympathy on your birthday!" Each card "opened up an old wound"—to borrow a phrase from your column. Sincerely, "CHICAGOAN"

Sheepmen Seek Sterile Coyotes

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Sheepmen are hoping to take a page out of the cattlemen's book on eradication of the screwworm.

The sheepmen want to get rid of coyotes and a program of sterilization was outlined by Donald S. Balser of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at a meeting of the National Wool Growers Association convention here Tuesday.

Balser said a new chemical is being tested that "may keep them (coyotes) from being born in the first place." He said first tests have been successful at a 720-mile area in southeastern New Mexico, and more tests are planned this spring.

The research scientist said poisons have been ineffective in the past "because of the ability of the predators to reproduce faster than they are killed."

Sheep ranchers' forged demands on higher tariffs and import quotas as they heard of ways to improve the wool market at other meetings of the convention.

P. E. Neale of New Mexico State University said there was enough potential in the sheep industry by improving sheep that the industry might get by without the passage of high tariffs.

Neale explained his superherd experiment where animals are culled unless they are high-producing sheep with lambs that have to weigh about 100 pounds (when weaned) and have to produce eight to ten pounds of clean wool with no supplemental feed.

The convention ended today.

'Fascism On Left' Rapped By Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater denounced "fascism on the left" as he campaigned through New Hampshire today while a potential Eastern rival — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton — reportedly made plans for a trip West.

The Arizona senator, one of three announced Republican presidential candidates, scheduled talks in another half-dozen Granite State communities in his drive for votes in the state's March 10 first-in-the-nation presidential primary.

Scranton, who has denied he's a presidential candidate, was reported ready to accept an invitation to receive an honorary degree from the University of Southern California.

DEPARTURE
If he accepts, it would mark a departure from his announced intention to refrain from making out of state appearances.

Coming only a few days after he denied he had pledged in 1962 to serve a full four-year term as governor, this was bound to stir speculation that Scranton might be planning to take a more active part in the GOP's presidential sweetstakes.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller planned to journey to Boston for an evening speech to a Dartmouth College alumni dinner. Rockefeller and off-beat Harold E. Stassen are Goldwater's only announced rivals.

DEVELOPMENTS
In other political developments: —Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the Platform Committee for this summer's Republican National Convention, said he intends to produce a document that will show clearly the difference between the Democrats and Republicans.

—Aides of Democrat Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio said strong support for the 74-year-old incumbent in the heavily urban areas of northern Ohio—especially around Cleveland—might make the difference in his May 5 primary showdown with astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

Elbow Students Stage Election

ELBOW—Students of the Foran Junior High School, Elbow, are paying a five-cent poll tax, and campaigning for election of officers to organize a student council, Darrell Flynn, principal, said Monday. Delegates will draft a constitution and by-laws, and elections held just as the State of Texas laws are made, he said.

"Funds from the poll tax receipts will go for beautification of the campus, purchase of dictionaries for the library, and into the regular council fund," Flynn said. "They are already making a campaign, with signs and all, to get the poll taxes paid."

Fruitless mulberry trees were planted in front and around the campus Monday and a cable barrier in front of the building is planned to prevent cars from damaging trees.

Officer's Bullet May Score Success With Brain Surgery

AMARILLO (AP)—Surgeons say a bullet fired by an Amarillo police officer in self-defense may in the end have the same effect as a successful brain operation.

They have under close observation at Northwest Texas Hospital, Fred Williams, 53, a former Arkansas state mental patient.

Williams was shot in the head last Friday by policeman Raymond Whitson after Williams, without apparent reason, drew a pistol on the officer.

A .38 caliber bullet struck Williams near the right temple, penetrated both frontal lobes of his brain and lodged in the left side of his skull.

Surgeons say the effect may be similar to a frontal lobotomy, an operation performed on the hopelessly insane to sever the frontal lobes from the rest of the brain.

BECOMES QUIET
Such an operation normally calms a patient. He becomes quiet, easy to handle.

A local doctor said this may have happened to Williams when he was shot. It will be several weeks before the full extent of Williams' condition can be determined, however.

"But it couldn't have been done better with a scalpel," he said.

Williams was operated on Wednesday to remove the damaged part of his brain at the same time the Potter County grand jury indicted him for assault with intent to murder.

Records show Williams was committed to an Arkansas mental hospital in 1953, but police said they have not learned the treatment given him.

NOT COMPETENT
Dist. Atty. Dee Miller said it will have to be shown Williams is not mentally competent to stand trial before he can be released.

Williams is shackled to his hospital bed and is under 24-hour police guard.

Hospital attendants became frightened at his attempts to rise. He stands 6-feet-4 and weighs about 250 pounds.

Attendants say he will answer questions "yes" or "no," and if asked how he is doing will usually say "Okay." He smokes cigarettes when offered them but does not ask for them.

SPEECH AREA
Doctors do not know if his apparent surliness indicates damage to the speech area of his brain or is deliberate.

Whitson and his partner found Williams and a hitchhiker asleep in Williams' car behind a service station.

The officer asked both to step from the car. As Williams alighted he thrust a pistol against Whitson's stomach. Whitson slapped it away, dropped to the ground and shot Williams in the head.

Police said Williams used aliases such as Fred Terry, Frederick Williams and William Frederick.

Appropriations Mapped Ahead Of Conventions

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

TIMETABLE: With its eyes on the summer dates for the national political conventions, the House Appropriations Committee has drafted a timetable to get all the annual money bills through the House early in June.

If the schedule is followed, appropriations action, as far as the House is concerned, will be six months ahead of last year's slowdown record.

LIBRARY FUNDS: The House beat back a Republican attack and passed a bill Tuesday to extend federal library aid to urban areas.

The bill would continue a program begun in 1956 to bring library services to areas without them. The original measure was limited to communities of less than 10,000 population.

DISPUTE: The United States has accepted a Philippine proposal for patching up the dispute between this country and Cambodia, officials reported Tuesday night. Details of the Philippine mediation proposal were not disclosed. It was not known here whether Prince Norodom Sihanouk's Cambodian government had accepted the plan.

HOUSING: President Johnson has endorsed plans for a national education program aimed at making it easier for Negroes to move into white neighborhoods.

The program will be carried out with enforcement of the executive order against discrimination in federally assisted housing.

C-C Directors Meet At El Paso
EL PASO — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce's top leadership will gather in El Paso Jan. 29-30 for a meeting of the WTCC board of directors at the Hilton Hotel.

Under the direction of E. H. Danner of San Angelo, president of the West Texas Chamber, the board will review a number of important issues facing West Texas businessmen during 1964, including legislation which will be before Congress this year. The board will also hear reports from the various committees of the WTCC who are working in a number of different areas to improve the economic picture in West Texas.

The WTCC directors from Big Spring are G. H. Hayward and C. H. Rainwater.

OSWALD'S WIDOW: The Warren Commission investigating the assassination of John F. Kennedy has announced it will take testimony from the widow of Lee Oswald, the man who had been charged with killing him.

The commission is understood to want to learn as much as it can about the former Marine and avowed Marxist, particularly about his movements Nov. 22, the day the president was shot to death in Dallas.
