Gus Taute Takes Webb Command

Col. August F. Taute was named Thursday to command the 356th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB. A former deputy commander at Webb, Col. Taute will take command at Webb on Feb. 17. Col. Rex D. Fryer is serving as acting commander, a post he assumed upon the death of Brig. Gen. Howard J. Withycombe on Jan. 5.

COL. A. F. TAUTE ... takes Webb post

The announcement of Col. Taute's assignment was made Thursday noon by Lt. Gen. Robert W. Burns, Air Training Commander at Randolph Field. Col. Taute will be renewing many friendships he established here as deputy commander from July of 1960 to November of 1961. He assumed command of a new training wing, the 364th, at Laughlin AFB near Del Rio on Nov. 1, 1961. Not only has he activated the wing and commanded it, but he also has been active in Good Neighbor relations between the United States and Del Rio, since the base there is on the Rio Grande.

During his previous station at Webb, Col. Taute was in charge of the cost reduction program known as "Money Tree." He was chairman of the business affairs division of the Base-Community Council of the Chamber of Commerce, was a member of the Downtown Lions Club, and served several months as president of the Marcy Parent-Teacher Association prior to his transfer.

A native of Tolley, S. D., Col. Taute is a graduate of the South Dakota State College. He took his aviation cadet training at Randolph and Kelly Fields in San Antonio, and has more than 24 years of service in the Air Force.

He is a graduate of the Air War College and of the Air Command and Staff Schools. He served as an Air Force instructor in the Army's Guided Missile school at Fort Bliss, El Paso, and from 1953-56 he was chief of the military assistance advisory group and chief of the USAF mission to Lima, Peru. He also served overseas on Okinawa. He holds numerous decorations and citations. Col. Taute is married to the former Virginia Chester of Brookins, S. D., and they have two children, August (Chip) Taute Jr., a student in Texas A&M College, and a daughter, Annette, 13. Chip is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High and a former student at HCJC.

Public Backs JFK Library

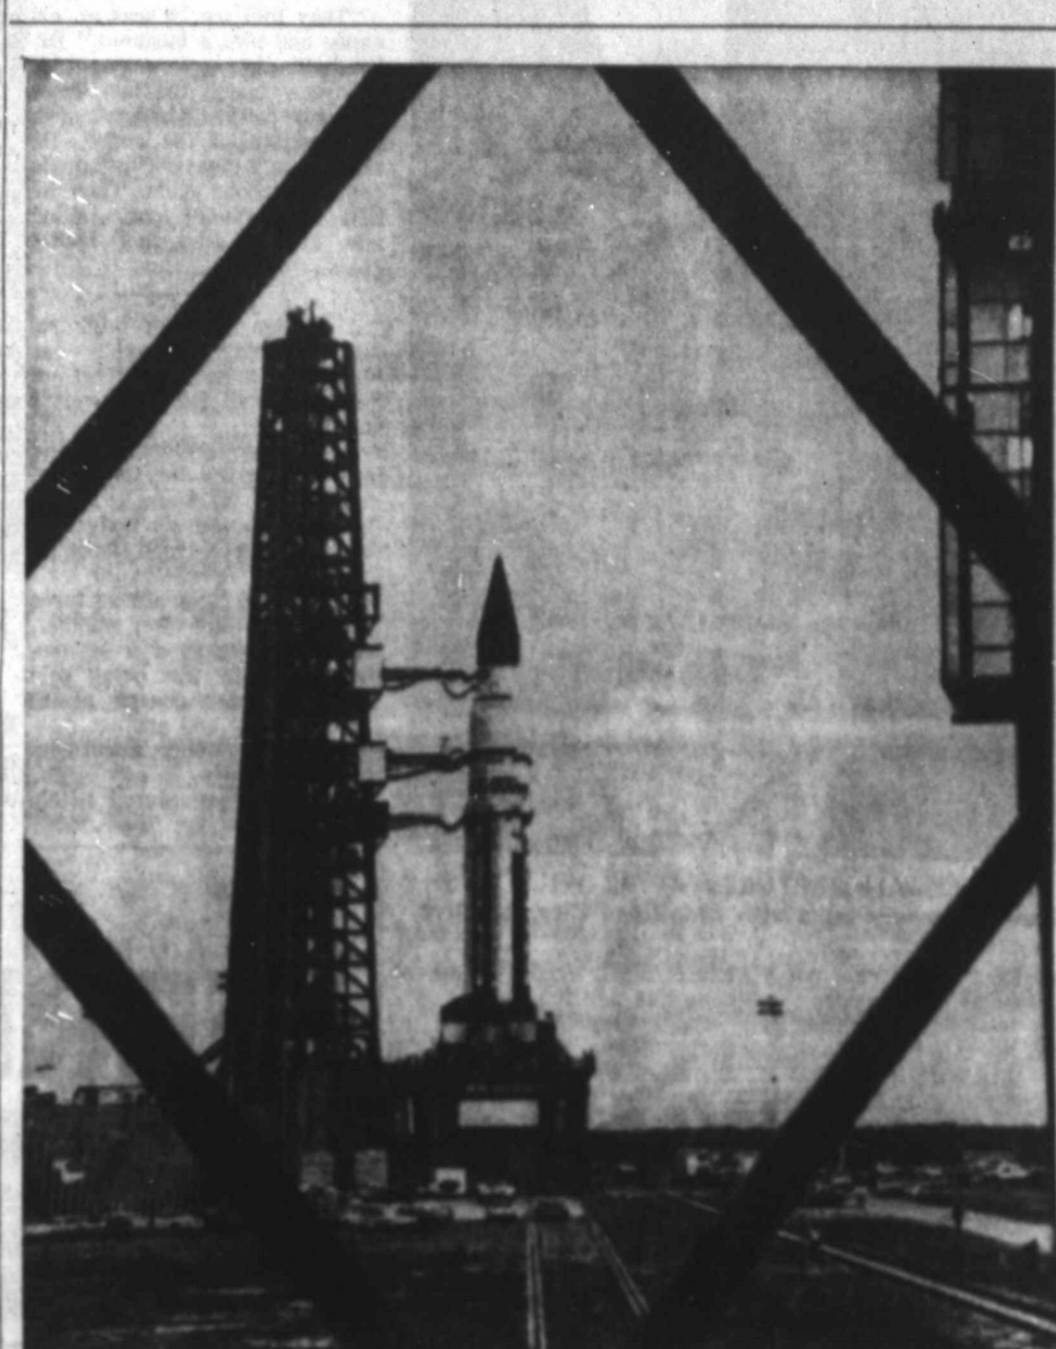

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for a President John F. Kennedy Library are meeting enthusiastic public approval and support, a spokesman for the project said today. More than two million dollars of the needed $10 million has been received—including a one million dollar primer from the Kennedy Foundation, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, a brother of the late President, has said the family hopes the fund-raising drive will be over in six months. The thousands of letters from a public which mourned Kennedy's death—he was assassinated two months ago today—bear witness to the support for the library to be built near Harvard University.

End For Tax Reduction Work Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee aims to complete work and vote final approval today of the $11 billion tax cut bill. Debate by the full Senate would begin next week. President Johnson has urged quick passage of the measure, saying it will help rocket the economy to record heights this year. The committee vaulted a high hurdle Wednesday, approving unanimously the rate reductions for individuals that had been written in the bill originally passed by the House. The senators made only one change. They adopted President Johnson's proposal to put the new 14 per cent withholding rate into effect as soon as the measure becomes law.

DROP RATE
The House version, which contemplated enactment in 1963, would have dropped the withholding rate from 18 per cent to 15 per cent in 1964, and then to 14 per cent in 1965. After it became obvious that reductions could not become legally effective until perhaps March, Johnson asked that the two-step drop in the withholding rate be junked and the 14 per cent rate be established immediately. The total cut for individuals is estimated at $9 billion when the measure takes full effect.

U.S. Readies Giant Saturn For Try At Payload Record

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—World leadership in rocket power may be the prize next Monday when the United States plans to launch the Saturn 1 on its first two-stage test flight. If all goes well, the rocket will lift a 37,700-pound satellite nearly three times heavier than any previous payload. The satellite, mostly dead weight with no scientific value, will dwarf the largest payloads orbited by the Russians — Sputniks 7 and 8 which weighed 14,292 pounds each. The heaviest American space payload weighed 10,200 pounds.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today disclosed details of the Saturn 1, which has been on a launching pad here since last August, waiting out months of checkout and several weeks technical delay. The rocket stands 164 feet tall and fully fueled weighs 562 tons. The Saturn of Liberty is 151 feet and weighs 227.5 tons. The first stage, 21.5 feet in diameter, has an eight-engine powerplant which will generate 1.5 million pounds of thrust, or about 34 million horsepower. This is designed to lift the rocket above the earth's atmosphere. At an altitude of 48 miles, the real key to Saturn 1's power flashes to action: a second stage with six engines that burn liquid hydrogen and produce 90,000 pounds of thrust. Hydrogen delivers 40 per cent more punch than fuels like the high-grade kerosene in the first stage. It generates a tremendous kick when ignited in the vacuum of space.

The second stage will be flown for the first time Monday. Four earlier flights used only the first stage. Experts believe a good test will give the United States a booster lead over Russia. Best estimates place the thrust of the big Soviet space rockets at between 1 and 1.2 million pounds. There is no evidence of their progress with liquid hydrogen. The Philippines also has opposed Malaysia but only in the diplomatic field and without the threats of violence that came from Jakarta. Philippine opposition is based on that nation's claim to Sabah, the former territory of British North Borneo.

Fighting To Be Stopped In Borneo

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's Malaysia mission was crowned with success today. Indonesia and Malaysia agreed to stop the fighting along their Borneo border and to join the Philippines in a conference of foreign ministers. After announcement of the agreement, Kennedy flew to Bangkok, Thailand, for three hours of conferences with Thai officials. He was to go on to London to give British officials a review of his talks in Asia. The attorney general said he hoped the foreign ministers' meeting would lead to a new summit conference of the principals in the Malaysia dispute—Indonesian President Sukarno, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal.

NOT OPTIMISTIC
However, some senior diplomats in Jakarta were not overly optimistic that another summit conference would produce a final solution to the crisis resulting from federation of the former British territories in South-east Asia and Sukarno's announced determination to smash it.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio, appearing at a joint news conference with Kennedy, said the cease-fire in the undeclared guerrilla war in Borneo probably could be implemented within a week. He implied that Indonesian regular army troops would prevent raiders crossing from Indonesian Borneo into the Malaysian jungles of Sabah and Sarawak states.

NO COMMENT
There was no immediate comment from the British Embassy. Britain is pledged to defend Malaysia, where it retains bases, and several thousand British and British-hired Gurkha troops are in North Borneo. Sukarno, ambitious for Indonesia to give the dominant power in Southeast Asia, contends that Malaysia is a device to preserve Britain's colonial influence.

The Philippines also has opposed Malaysia but only in the diplomatic field and without the threats of violence that came from Jakarta. Philippine opposition is based on that nation's claim to Sabah, the former territory of British North Borneo.

NEW TALKS
Kennedy said Sukarno, Macapagal and Rahman all had agreed they were ready for new talks without preconditions. But he said all three also had agreed that new three-power talks were likely to fail unless a cease-fire was implemented.

One precondition that was dropped was Rahman's demand that Indonesia and the Philippines recognize his country.

False Drug Ads Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury charged today that fraudulent and misleading statements were used in national advertising of Regimen tablets, a reducing drug. The Justice Department described the tablets as practically worthless.

A 58-count indictment was returned against Drug Research Corp.—which produces the tablets—several individuals and a firm which tests drug products. They were charged with using the mails and television to defraud, conspiring to defraud, and shipping misbranded drugs in interstate commerce.

The defendants named in the indictment in addition to Drug Research Corp. are: New Drug Institute, which tests drug products; John Andreadis, also known as John Andre, president and chief stockholder of Drug Research Corp.; Saul Miklean, chief chemist for Andreadis; Arthur D. Herrick, president and sole stockholder of New Drug Institute, and Kastor, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford and Atherton, Inc., an advertising agency. All the defendants are from New York City.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the indictment followed an investigation by the Food and Drug Administration, the Post Office Department and the U.S. attorney's office in Brooklyn.

19-Year-Old Lad Dies From Shot

Raymon Quintana, 19, died about 11:30 a.m. today in Coper Clinic and Hospital following a gunshot wound in the stomach. Police said he was shot with a .22 caliber gun outside the Robert E. Dennis residence, 1607 W. 2nd, about 9 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Dennis, 32, stepped outside her front door and fired two shots at a man she believed was a prowler, detectives said. According to investigating officers, one of the shots struck Raymon Quintana, 1005 NW 1st. He ran west down the street after being hit, officers said, and went around the block to the home of Jesse Ybarra, 1006 W. 1st.

Raft Reported In Crash Area

HONOLULU (AP)—The Coast Guard launched a search Wednesday night for a raft that was reported sighted in the area where an Air Force Globemaster with nine crewmen aboard vanished near Johnston Island on Jan. 2. The Air Force stressed immediately that the reported sighting was unofficial, and that they were trying to confirm it. An Air Force cargo plane's crew reported sighting the raft about 250 miles west of Johnston Island. The pilot said a man appeared to be waving on the raft. The area of the raft sighting was reported in the same general area where the Air Force plane disappeared two weeks ago with a crew of eight, a Navy enlisted man and a corpsman. The Navy man was escorting the body of a comrade home from Tokyo. Authorities said they knew of no other raft likely to be in the area.

Preston Smith Announces Campaign For Re-Election

AUSTIN (AP)—In announcing a campaign for a second term, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith predicted Wednesday the legislature will undergo pressure to increase state spending. "If this happens," he said, "it will mean a tax increase. This we should make all reasonable efforts to avoid." Smith, from Lubbock, served six years in the Texas House and six years in the Senate before his election as lieutenant governor in 1962. He is 51. In a formal statement Smith urged efforts to prevent boosting state spending above the $3.2 billion for the current biennium. He also mentioned economy measures taken by President Johnson and said: "A dollar saved at the state house or courthouse adds just as much to the private economy as one saved at Washington." To ease spending problems he proposed legislation to tap additional revenue sources for city governments, create special opportunities for young persons and permit establishment of junior colleges financed by more than one county. It is proper to work for better senior colleges but '80 or 90 per cent of our young people will not be able to get a college degree," Smith said. "The state-aided community college, emphasizing low fees, economical plans and vocational courses is the best vehicle for giving these young citizens at least a part of the training they need to get and hold good jobs."

Sales Picking Up For Annual Y Banquet

Tickets for the annual YMCA banquet were moving at a fast clip Thursday morning in anticipation of the gala event at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building on the Howard County Junior College Campus. Reservations passed the 216 mark at noon Thursday, and Curtis Mullins, general secretary, said that there was a good response by telephone for tickets. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, Houston, will bring the message of the evening. Dr. O'Brien, one of the most popular after-dinner speakers in West Texas for many years, will arrive here Friday afternoon from Houston, where he now makes his home. Many of his friends of former years have expressed a desire to hear him, and the YMCA reiterated that the annual banquet is open to all. Tickets may be reserved by calling the YMCA. After the banquet Friday evening, there will be an informal coffee honoring Dr. O'Brien in order that his friends may have an opportunity to have an unhurried visit with him. Acknowledged as one of the best story-tellers in the area, as well as an inspirational speaker with few peers, Dr. O'Brien has literally hundreds of speaking engagements in this region and other parts of Texas during his 20-year pastorate at the First Baptist Church. A group of young gymnasts of the Y will present a brief exhibition at the start of the affair to set the theme of "Rocking into '64" of the Y's service to youth and adults in the greater Big Spring area. Two score members of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs will be on hand to usher and to serve those attending. R. H. Weaver, president, will preside and there will be brief reports on the year's work, recognitions and introductions of the new officers.

Rights Hearing Revolt Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—House passage of a civil rights bill by Feb. 7 appeared a strong possibility today as the result of a revolt in the House Rules Committee. A bipartisan majority of the committee is preparing to seize control and cut off hearings on the bill in time to get it passed before the House takes its annual Lincoln birthday recess. The revolt is aimed at Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., leader of the Southern forces opposing the bill, who had planned to continue the hearings until the end of January. Smith headed off any attempt to end the hearings Wednesday by hastily adjourning them for the day while his chief adversaries were absent plotting strategy. But a showdown today appeared inevitable.

'MANY RAMIFICATIONS' House Hearing On Baker Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. H.R. Gross has called for a separate House investigation into Robert G. Baker's business affairs in the wake of Senate testimony that President Johnson once received a free stereo set from a Baker associate. "This scandal has so many ramifications that it would appear the House should set up a special committee to examine the Baker probe," the Iowa Republican told the House Wednesday. The Baker investigation is being conducted by the Senate Rules Committee, which plans to make public today personal financial statements filed by the former secretary to the Senate Democrats in connection with applications for bank loans. UNDER FIRE Baker, a protégé of Johnson when the President was the Senate Democratic leader, resigned his $19,000-a-year post under fire last Oct. 7. The Senate committee is investigating whether the 35-year-old former page boy from Pickens, S.C., engaged in activities that conflicted with his official duties. Baker has a law office in Washington and has been in the capital throughout the inquiry, as far as is publicly known, but has refused to talk to newsmen. Johnson's name was injected into the investigation by Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man who said his firm lists Baker as a vice president. Gross said the proposed House investigation should include "the activities of one Matthew M. McCloskey, contractor for the construction of many federally financed buildings and bridges, including a badly defective Veterans Administration Hospital in Boston, Mass." McCloskey, a Philadelphia contractor, had been treasurer of the Democratic National Committee for eight years when the late President John F. Kennedy named him ambassador to Ireland in June 1962. McCloskey is giving up the post to return to fund raising for the Democratic party. STADIUM PROJECT Wednesday the Washington Evening Star disclosed that the Justice Department has started an investigation to determine if illegal collusion was involved in the handling of the D.C. Stadium construction project in Washington. The McCloskey firm built the stadium. In his testimony to the Rules Committee, Reynolds said he paid $4,000 to Baker and $1,500 to William N. McLeod Jr., former clerk of the House District Committee, for helping him get the construction performance bond on the stadium. Reynolds said the stadium project had been discussed at a meeting in 1960 attended by him, Baker, McLeod, McCloskey and Rep. John L. McMillan, D-S.C., chairman of the House District Committee.

Cotton Increases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau reported today that 15,124,945 bales of cotton had been ginned prior to Jan. 16. This compared with 14,685,580 bales a year ago. Texas ginnings this year were 4,385,134 compared to 4,637,785.

Six Abducted, Four Cars Stolen But Felon Caught

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A convicted murderer made a desperate dash for freedom Wednesday — abducting six persons, stealing four cars and robbing a store.

Howard O. Lowery, 25, was captured five hours later, 70 miles away, by a highway patrolman. He was alone — armed with a shotgun and a single shell — but offered no resistance.

Trooper John Eddleman pulled in behind Lowery when the escapee turned off U.S. 270 onto a county road near Watonga in Blaine County after a chase at speeds above 100 miles per hour.

"The car just wouldn't go any faster," Lowery said later. "So I decided to just give up."

LIFE TERM

The story began when Lowery, serving a life term for a 1960 murder, was brought from the State Penitentiary at McAlester to University Hospital to have doctors look at his hand.

When guard S. L. Koontz looked out a doorway, Lowery pulled a knife and said, "Koontz, I don't want to hurt you." Then he reached for the guard's pistol.

Koontz jumped back and Lowery fled down the hall. He came upon Dr. Everett L. Wiggins, 35, a first year resident physician. He put the knife to Wiggins' throat and ordered him to walk with him.

"I walked with him just like we were buddies," Wiggins recalled.

HANDCUFFED

They walked out of the hospital and entered a taxi parked at the curb. Lowery, one hand handcuffed to his belt, ordered the driver, William McCoy, 44, to drive off.

"We started driving and he told me where to turn," McCoy said.

About a mile north of the hospital Lowery ordered McCoy to pull into a parking lot next to a state office building. He forced Wiggins to the McCoy's hands. Then he bound Wiggins. He took $1 from the doctor and about $100 from the cab driver. He also took the doctor's trousers and shirt.

Mary Jane Wright had just taken an employment examination at the Capitol and was returning to her car. Lowery jumped out of the cab, put his arm around her shoulder, put the knife against her throat and forced her into her car.

BOUND IN TAXI

They drove off, leaving Wiggins and McCoy bound in the taxi.

"He said if I just did as he said he wouldn't hurt me in any way," Miss Wright said.

Lowery drove her car to an auto supply store several miles northwest of the Capitol. He forced Miss Wright to accompany him into the store.

They were approached by Burt Rathbun, 24, a clerk. Lowery asked to look at a shotgun. He picked up a 12-gauge shotgun and loaded it. He pointed it at Rathbun and ordered him to empty the cash register. Lowery took about $100 and asked Rathbun if he had a car. He said he didn't.

STORE MANAGER

Lowery called the store manager, Max Franke, 51, to the front, and forced him, Rathbun and Miss Wright outside. He left Miss Wright there, but forced Rathbun and Franke to accompany him in Franke's car.

The two men said Lowery told them to drive around the area and to stop at the first house they saw with a car parked in front.

Dr. George Kimball, 68, a plastic surgeon, was tending his beehives when the car pulled up to his house. Lowery ordered all three inside the fashionable home.

"They told me he was an escapee and meant business," Dr. Kimball said.

Lowery bound the last three hostages with telephone cord then ransacked the house. He also drank a root beer and made some telephone calls. Then he fled in Kimball's car, taking one of the surgeon's sports coats.

70 MILES

A woman motorist later reported seeing Kimball's car about 70 miles northwest of here. Her call led to Lowery's capture.

Lowery was sentenced to life in prison for the July 1960 slaying of Dan W. Sims, 30, Worthington, Pa. Sims' body was found beside a road west of here.

The escape came almost three years to the day after another, which also involved a kidnapping. While he was being held on the murder charge at El Reno, Lowery and another prisoner escaped, taking a third inmate as hostage.

They were recaptured within 24 hours.

Teacher Buys Books For Spelling Bee Parents Tell Of Move To Avoid Houston Gang

HOUSTON (AP)—The parents of a 14-year-old girl have testified in criminal district court that they moved their daughter to Miami, Fla., to get her away from a Houston teen-age gang.

Mrs. Ruth Hatcher, Melinda's mother, testified the family lived in Houston six years but moved Melinda to Florida to get her "out of this Johnson Junior High teen-age gang, which she called the 'hoods and hoodesses'."

Young Walden was shot to death in front of a drive-in grocery store Jan. 18, 1963.

Melinda was sent to Florida three days after the shooting, her father, David Hatcher, testified.

Melinda, recalled to the stand after her parents had testified, said "four of us girls wore metal belts around our waist."

"We called ourselves hoodesses. . . . The metal belts and our chain link bracelets were symbolic. . . . They linked us with the boys," she testified.

Under cross examination, a nervous Mrs. Hatcher admitted drinking with the father of one of Melinda's boy friends at a party for her daughter.

At this point she burst out: "I take all the blame for Melinda doing wrong."

Mrs. Jean Warren, teacher of 7th grade English at Runnels Junior High School, Wednesday bought 35 copies of the official practice book for the Second Annual Howard County Spelling Bee. She expects that many of her pupils to enter the Bee.

Earlier this week, Forsan Junior High School (Elbow) acquired 100 books. Darrell Flynn, principal, said he anticipated having at least that many spellers entered in classroom elimination.

Meantime, all school officials and teachers of the county who plan to have their young charges compete in the second annual Spelling Bee, are urged to begin planning for the event.

Boys and girls in the schools are invited to come to the Herald office and buy copies of the official practice book to begin studying for the classroom and school competitions. The books are 15 cents each. They contain the words which are used in the Spelling Bee at all levels from the school room to the national matches.

Winner of the County Spelling Bee will win an all expense trip to Lubbock and a chance to compete in the regional tournament. Winner of the regional gets an all expense trip to Washington, D. C. and a chance at the national title.

ECONOMIC SUFFERING

Mongolia Set In Middle Of Russia-China Dispute

ULAN BATOR, Mongolia (AP) — The main rail line from Russia to China, which passes through Mongolia, carries little traffic these days.

From the window of the main hotel in Ulan Bator, capital of the Mongolian People's Republic, one can see and hear only two or three trains a day. In a few days recently 150 Russian medium trucks passed through on flatcars but little else was going to China.

Until about six months ago, 30 freight trains a day came through.

Chinese payments to Mongolia for transit traffic were a major prop under the economy of Communist-run Mongolia. Now Mongolia is suffering economically in the dispute between China and Russia.

CHINA TOUGH

With Mongolia supporting Russia in the dispute, China has been tough rather than helpful toward this former Chinese possession. In addition to the decline in rail traffic, there is uncertainty whether China will continue to help with economic development here.

Official comment is not available on the situation reported by well informed sources in Ulan Bator. But Mongolian officials are reliably reported to be worried.

The transit payments paid for almost all Mongolia's imports from China. With only a few light industries, Mongolia heavily depends on imports. In 1960, the last year for which figures are available, China supplied 23 per cent of imports, worth $9.8 million.

Talks for a 1964 trade agreement were broken off in Peking in November when China demanded a greatly enlarged part of Mongolia's livestock exports in place of payments formerly made with the transit money.

CANT PAY

Mongolia indicated inability to pay. Livestock forms the basis of the Mongolian economy and provides almost all exports. The limited supply is committed mostly to Communist countries. Hair from camels, goats and horses plus wool goes to such non-Communist nations as Switzerland and Japan.

With only 1,020,000 people, Mongolia is underpopulated and has depended upon Chinese laborers for economic development projects financed by aid from Communist countries.

From a peak of 12,000 imported Chinese laborers, the number was down to 6,000 when they were withdrawn last autumn ahead of the normal winter suspension of outdoor building. Earlier, the withdrawal of Soviet technicians from China had resulted in many Chinese technicians leaving Mongolia to fill gaps at home.

Mongolian officials seem concerned whether the Chinese laborers will return in the spring. There is a question whether Russia might carry Mongolia over difficulties created by the Russia-China split, as it has carried Mongolia in the past.

GENGHIS KAHN

Long known as Outer Mongolia, this land has historically been connected with China. Genghis Khan ruled China from here. Most of the time, the Chinese controlled the area.

Mongolia has been under the wing of Russia since 1921. For decades it was so securely under Russia's wing, so remotely obscure in its very existence as a separate country, that many diplomats dismissed it as a puppet state.

Mongolia emerged as an accepted international entity in 1961 when it joined the United Nations. It exchanges ambassadors with Communist countries and has an ambassador in India. It plans to put one in Britain.

Talks in 1961 on exchanging ambassadors with the United States broke down.

While current relations between the United States and Russia have created a friendly atmosphere here toward America, Mongolia has had to work at friendship with China. Until last December Mongolia's 2,700-mile border with China was in dispute.

Then Peking summoned the Mongolian prime minister and Communist party boss, Yumzhagin Tsendenbal, to sign a border treaty. Of 17,000 square kilometers in dispute, Mongolia got 12,000. The border has yet to be marked.

SOVIET AREAS

Chinese statements indicate a desire to reclaim some Siberian regions east of Mongolia that Russian expansion incorporated centuries ago.

A basic Chinese reason for wanting to move into Siberia or Mongolia could be the pressure of population in China. Inner Mongolia, the part of China bordering this country on the south and east, has been heavily colonized by Chinese. Outer Mongolia has an average of fewer than two persons per square mile.

Until its fall in 1911, the Manchu dynasty of China claimed full legal authority over Outer Mongolia and exercised a loose control.

FELLOWSHIP

It is thought that we should fellowship with the denominations in their programs, and give them our recommendation, regardless of what they teach. But we often find error on the most vital subjects in denominational teaching. These days people are being misled, even on the plan of salvation itself: believe it or not.

Denominations often teach that man is justified "by faith only;" while the Bible says the opposite — that justification is "not by faith only" (Jas. 2:24).

Denominations often say, "He that believeth and is not baptized shall be saved;" while the Bible says, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mark 16:16).

Kennedy Medal Issued

The John F. Kennedy Memorial Medal was issued Thursday. It was designed by sculptor Ralph J. Macconi of Pleasantville, N.Y. and is sponsored by Presidential Art Medals of Englewood, Ohio. The medal was to have been the late President's 1964 campaign medal. The reverse of the medal depicts the President's service to the public; naval service; naval insignia and PT109; seal of Massachusetts; service in the government as a congressman and senator; and Presidential Seal, service as President of the United States. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Proper Exemptions Important To Savings On '63 Tax Return

EDITOR'S NOTE — Do you know who to claim as a dependent in filing a tax return on 1963 income? Do you understand how to claim exemptions for the full benefits to yourself? In this fourth of five articles you will find the answers to these and other questions that may save you money.

By The Associated Press

You knock $600 off your income—before what's left is taxable—for each exemption you can claim in filing your 1963 income tax return.

A person filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself if he is under 65, an additional $600 if he's 65, and $600 if he's blind. He gets the same for his wife.

The person filing a return also gets a $600 exemption for each person he can claim as a dependent but he doesn't get any extra $600 if the dependent is 65 or blind.

Who's a dependent? It varies. Your child can be claimed as a dependent if he was born or died in 1963 (but not a stillborn child) if you contributed to more than half his support in that part of the year when he was alive.

AGE A FACTOR

Age is a vital factor in deciding whether you can claim your own child as a dependent, or a stepchild or adopted child. The age is 19.

If he was under 19 and you provided more than half his support, you can claim him as a dependent and it wouldn't make any difference how much income he had, under or over $600.

But if he was over 19 and had $600 or more income—even though you contributed more than half his support—you couldn't claim him as a dependent unless he qualified as a full-time student.

Your over-19 child would not qualify as a full-time student if he had a regular or part-time job or went to night school or took correspondence courses.

What happens if your under-19 child, or your over-19 child who qualifies as a student dependent, had $600 or more income?

OWN RETURN

He would file his own return, claiming his own $600 exemption, and paying any tax he owed but you could take a $600 exemption for him on your return and not have to include his income in your return.

A paid servant in your house cannot be claimed as a dependent. But a friend can be if he lived in your house the full year and got more than half his support from you—provided any income of his own did not amount to as much as $600 for the year.

If he had $600 or more income he'd have to file his own return, taking his own $600 exemption, and you couldn't claim him as an exemption even though you did contribute to more than half his support.

RELATIVES

The following relatives—in addition to your child—can be claimed as dependents if the rules given below apply to them:

Your grandchild, great-grandchild, and so on; your legally adopted child or stepchild, but not the latter's descendants; your brother or sister; your parents, grandparents, or other direct ancestors, but not a foster parent; your stepfather or stepmother; your niece or nephew, meaning a son or daughter of your brother or sister; your father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law.

Death or divorce does not end those relationships. For example: you can continue to claim your father-in-law as a dependent—even though your wife died or divorced you—if he got more than half his support from you.

EXAMPLES

The relatives listed above did not have to live with you to qualify as dependents. For example: you may have been paying more than half the support of your mother or father who was living with your brother.

In short: you can claim any of them as a dependent if he did not have as much as $600 of his own taxable income and got more than half his support from you.

Right here an important point arises in deciding who's a dependent. It is the difference between taxable and non-taxable income.

Social Security benefits are non-taxable. They do not have to be reported by anyone who had to file a return because he had $600 or more taxable income from some other source.

SOCIAL SECURITY

But when you as a taxpayer want to decide whether someone you wish to claim as a dependent got more than half his support from you, you may have to consider his Social Security income to this extent:

You must figure the support you gave him against the support he got from all other sources.

For example: suppose your mother got $700 in Social Security benefits but put the money in the bank and didn't use it to live on. You could claim her as a dependent if you provided more than half her support. But, suppose she used her $700 to help her live. You couldn't claim her as a dependent unless you contributed more than $700 to her support.

South's Governor Salaries On Rise

ATLANTA (AP) — Following the trend in the cost of living, salaries of southern governors have been going up. They've hit $25,000 a year in a majority of states.

Salaries have been raised in four states in recent years, probably in an effort to make the office more attractive. After all, there are a lot of headaches.

If you don't think so, ask your governor. He'll tell you—roads to pave, schools to build, jobs to fill, pensions to pay, and such.

Lowest paid of 11 southern governors is Orval Faubus, governor of Arkansas. His salary is $10,000 a year, plus $1,800 for expenses and a mansion with maintenance.

A salary itself does not always tell the whole story.

For example, the Tennessee governor gets $18,500 a year in salary but he also gets $18,000 a year for expenses of the executive mansion.

Tennessee's Legislature was one of four raising the pay of their governors in the past four years. His pay was hiked from $12,000 a year in 1961.

Florida's governor was raised in 1963 from $22,500 to $25,000. He also gets a mansion, car, airplane and travel expenses.

Mississippi raised its governor's salary from $15,000 to $25,000 in 1960. Office and mansion expenses also are provided in Mississippi.

In North Carolina, the governor's salary was increased from $22,000 to $25,000 in 1960.

Other governors making $25,000 a year base salary are those in Texas, Alabama and Virginia.

Georgia's governor is paid $12,000 yearly as set by the 1946 State Constitution. However, he draws $19,920 total pay with service on 23 state boards and longevity.

The Georgia governor gets $25,000 a year for the expenses of running the executive mansion.

Mansion costs are like everything else in Texas—big. The Texas governor gets $25,000 salary plus traveling expenses and $126,000 for two years of running the mansion. That includes salaries, supplies, and operating expenses.

South Carolina's governor gets $20,000 salary and $45,000 a year to keep up the mansion.

In Alabama, the $25,000 salary is supplemented by mansion and expenses—although the law says he must provide his own food.

Learn To Eat Less If You're Not Very Tall

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — (Editor's NOTE: Lydia Lane invites your letter but regrets that a personal answer cannot be given. From time to time, she will answer beauty problems in her column. If you would like your question and answer to appear in this space, write to Lydia Lane, Questions & Answers, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles, Calif. 90053. Or: Lydia Lane, Questions & Answers, in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Q—I am five feet tall. If I keep my weight where I look my best, I'm hungry all the time. Please tell me how Ann Blyth (who is also small) stays so healthy and slim.

A—"When you are small, you have to learn to eat less than others," says Ann. "You don't need as much food as those who are inches taller. Try to make smaller portions last longer. Take smaller bites, eat slowly and you'll find that your appetite can be satisfied with much less once you learn this habit. It is a good idea to limit those foods that are high in calories and low in bulk."

Q—Please help me with my problem. I get all dressed up, look in the mirror and want to stay home. You see, I have very coarse, ugly skin that is pitted from a bad case of acne. Is there any way I can help these scars?

A—Make a paste of salt and a few drops of olive oil. Rub this mixture with circular movements all over your face, especially where there is scar tissue. There is a commercial product (Gene Sale's Black Mask) that helps to give the skin a mild peel and makes it look much clearer. Try these two methods and let me know how you come out.

Q—I am 17 and allowed to use make-up, but I can't make up my mind whether to use an eyebrow pencil or liquid eyeliner or what shape to make my mouth. How do you learn what is best for you?

A—"Go to the school of trial and error," Dinah Shore advises. "You don't want to look like everyone else. And the only way to find out what is best for you is to not be afraid of making mistakes. Failure can be your teacher. Remember that you have to be willing to risk in order to gain."

Q—My funds are limited, but I want to keep myself attractive for my husband, who works around pretty girls all day. I am 35 and have a family so there isn't room in the budget for expensive cosmetics. Will you suggest something which doesn't cost too much?

A—"You can make many beauty recipes from your own kitchen shelf, using yogurt and raw breakfast oatmeal, for instance. Also an old-fashioned egg mask is effective. Watch the cosmetic sales and buy creams which contain 10,000 U.S.P. units of hormone per ounce and use this around the eyes and neck, the trouble spots."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Youngsters Learn To Spell With Balloon

Dear Heloise:
Here is a suggestion for mothers who want to help their children with reading words and spelling lists.

If the child is young enough to love balloons you can encourage her to learn the words by inflating a balloon, twisting the end of it and tying it in a knot. Write the words the child is trying to learn to read or spell on the surface of the inflated balloon with a felt ink marker. When the child learns to read and spell the word, she may keep the balloon.

HELOISE method in my school classes and the children love it. One will be surprised how fast children learn to spell correctly. This method also works with arithmetic and time tables. —Betty Bradley.

Dear Heloise:
When I make popcorn balls, I use a small lolly-pop on which to form the balls. The children and the grownups have a handle to hold while eating the popcorn ball and a candy treat when the popcorn is gone! —Reba Bonneau.

Dear Heloise:
If you will keep a thimble in your coffee canister (I keep mine inside the measure) it may be placed over the stem in the percolator before putting the coffee in the pot. . . . thus eliminating the stem getting grounds down inside it. Sure makes for better coffee.

Business Session Held For Does

A business meeting was conducted by the new BPO Does' president, Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, Wednesday evening. Held at the Elks Hall, the session opened with the reading of a letter from the Texas Crippled Children's Home thanking the Does for their part in a Christmas party for the children.

Literature on the National Does Convention, June 27-July 3, was presented to the members. The convention will be held in Rochester, N. Y.

The next meeting was announced for Feb. 12 at the hall.

Board Has Meeting In San Angelo

The board meeting of the San Angelo Diocesan Council of Catholic Women took place at the Cactus Hotel in San Angelo Tuesday. A party of Big Spring members attended the session conducted by Mrs. Thomas Egan, Diocesan president. The Rev. James O'Donahue was moderator.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss and inform all deanery presidents and chairmen in the correct procedure to conduct their spring meetings and to lay plans for the fall convention in Big Spring. The spring meeting will be held in Hermleigh Wednesday, March 11, for the Big Spring Deanery. The theme will be "Today's Challenge for the Christian Women."

San Angelo, Midland, Big Spring, Brownwood and Abilene were the deaneries represented at the meeting. Those attending from here were Mrs. Wayne Basden, president; the Rev. Patrick Casey, moderator; Mrs. V. O. Wade, board chairman on youth; Mrs. Jim Lewis, co-chairman for fall convention; Mrs. E. F. Setja, convention program chairman; Mrs. Harold Talbot, public relations.

Mrs. John Harrod was named as chairman of the nominating committee with presidents of the deaneries to serve with her.

Quilt Donated To MOD Auction

A quilt, to be donated to the March of Dimes auction, was tacked by members of the Sew and Chatter Club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. A. C. Moore was hostess to 16 members who met in her home.

Mrs. Manley Cook was honored on her birthday with a gift from the group, and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Cook, 1811 Main St., will be hostess for the Feb. 12 meeting.

Mrs. Carl Marcum To Head Cotillion Club

The annual meeting of the Cotillion Club was held Wednesday evening in an after-dinner session at the Big Spring Country Club. Officers were elected and Mrs. Carl Marcum was installed as the new president.

Serving with Mrs. Marcum will be Mrs. Harrold Jones, vice

Newcomers' Club Plays Bridge

A coffee-bridge began at 9 a.m. Wednesday for members of the Newcomers Club who met in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Hostesses were Mrs. Jim Noble and Mrs. Wayne Berryman.

Five tables were in play for contract bridge with high score being won by Mrs. Timothy Thomas and low by Mrs. John Fray.

Guests welcomed were Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Bob Badger, Mrs. Harold Pearce and Mrs. Steve Winebarger.

The club will hold its Feb. 26 meeting in the Flame Room.

Scholarship Award Approved By Forum

The Piano Teachers Forum has approved an award of $120 to the music scholarship fund at Howard County Junior College. The money will be administered by the music department on a semester basis to one or divided among several students majoring in piano at the discretion of the music department chairman. Scholarship and need will be considered.

The award was approved during a Thursday meeting of the forum. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser Feb. 20.

Isometric Exercises Practiced By Rebels

TOPS Pound Rebels discussed "Ten Ways to Let Your Appetite Know Who's Boss" and the practice of isometric exercises Tuesday evening at the Flame Room, Pioneer Gas Co. Bldg. After the pledge and prayer, members answered to roll call with weight losses or gains. Those who gained formed a quartet to sing "Grow Little Fat Girl, Thinner, Thinner."

Hoping to show a weight loss, members agreed to stop eating while still hungry; revise mental habits and stop nibbling to pass time; use foods that require vigorous chewing to satisfy the appetite; refrain from washing foods down with water; not to be tricked by fancy foods; keep count of calories; scuttle alibis; put fruit on the table instead of candy; not kid the appetite with alcohol; and eat breakfast.

Members agreed to use the isometric exercise program after it was explained. They were told that isometric means having equality of measure, and the exercise is done in a sitting, standing or lying position. The muscles don't contract and lengthen as they do in normal physical activities. They remain static holding them in static contraction against an immovable resistance. The exercise will not reduce the weight but will firm and tone the muscles and inches are lost.

Mrs. J. P. Basham was in charge of the program which was followed with a game. Mrs. Brandt Balse became a new member, and the next meeting was set for Tuesday at the First Federal Bldg.

Women's World 1963 Included Fashions, Benefits, Projects

Fashions, brides, benefits, wedding and farewell events, concerts and civic projects were features in the women's world for 1963. Also, tribute was paid to several outstanding women recognized for their contributions to their state and community.

JANUARY

The stroke of midnight denoting the departure of 1962 and the arrival of 1963 found Big Spring clubs filled with merry-making and watch parties in homes. Also on that first day of the year, readers were told of open houses and the president's tea dance at the Big Spring Country Club.

Local women, Mrs. George Waller Dawson Jr., Mrs. Richard C. LeFevre, Mrs. R. L. Patterson, Mrs. Clyde Erwin Thomas and Mrs. Joel Sellars were recognized for their contributions to the progress and history of Texas and named to the Texas Women of Distinction.

The assistant director of residents at Barnard College, Columbia University, New York, Miss Cornelia Childs, was ready to return to her work after a visit here with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James L. Childs.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Mrs. Loel Guinness shared equal billing as the best dressed women of the world, and the long, formal gowns were becoming more prominent in the fashion picture.

Fidel Backs USSR In China Dispute

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro has put Cuba behind Premier Khrushchev in his ideological dispute with Communist China following a 10-day visit to Moscow. Castro is with Khrushchev on a hunting holiday in the Ukraine.

Castro's support of the Kremlin was proclaimed in a joint Cuban-Soviet communique issued Wednesday night to mark the end of the Cuban leader's 10-day visit to Moscow. Castro is with Khrushchev on a hunting holiday in the Ukraine.

Castro praised Moscow's policy of peaceful coexistence, called the treaty limiting nuclear testing "a step toward peace and disarmament" and supported the Soviet Communist party's measures "to remove the existing differences and strengthen the unity and cohesion of the ranks of the international Communist movement."

Hendrix Chosen To Judge Regional Music Auditions

Jack Hendrix, chairman of the music department at Howard Junior College, is scheduled to serve as judge in two regional auditions within the next 10 days.

He leaves Friday for Amarillo to judge the Young Artist Auditions there. A week from Friday he will be in Midland to serve as accompanist and as an alternate judge for the Young Artist Auditions. Dr. Charles Webb, formerly of Big Spring and now on the University of Indiana music faculty, will be one of the piano judges at Midland.

The Amarillo auditions are sponsored by the Amarillo Symphony. In addition to cash awards, the winners are invited to give a solo performance with the symphony.

Several years ago, one of Mr. Hendrix's students, Bill Evans, not only won the piano auditions, but he became the only contestant in the history of the auditions to win both the Young Artist and the Young Soloist divisions. Later he appeared with the Symphony.

playing "Concerto No. 3 in C Minor" by Beethoven. Mr. Hendrix serves as pianist for the Midland-Odessa Symphony and this year he is the official accompanist for the auditions. He is scheduled, as of this date, to accompany 15 young contestants in various divisions.

Auditions in Midland will be going simultaneously in the Robert E. Lee and the Midland High School auditoriums and the First Presbyterian Church on Saturday evening at Lee High, and others will conclude Sunday afternoon. The auditions are open to the public.

New Reason For Bad Check

The young man explained it this way: He went to open an account in a local bank but he only had $15. This was such a small sum that he was embarrassed to present it to the bank teller. To meet the situation, he wrote a worthless check for $15 more.

He then, he said, intended to take the original $15 plus the $15 he had raised with the check and start the bank account. He got delayed.

Wayne Burns, county attorney, telling of the incident observed that he thought he had heard all kinds of reasons for worthless check writing.

"This is a brand new one," he observed. He said that the defendant pleaded guilty in Howard County court and was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail.

City Working On Suit Possibility

The City is notifying Forrest and Cotton, its consulting engineers for the new sewage disposal plant, that there is a possibility of court action over the sewer plant contract.

City Manager Larry Crow, pointing out that no suit has been filed, said the points raised Tuesday by attorneys for Shiflet Brothers, contractors, will be referred to the consulting engineers.

In substance, the attorneys notified the City that Shiflet Brothers objects to the withholding of $10,750 in liquidated damages and is considering filing a claim for "extra" costs allegedly incurred while replacing concrete tanks at the old sewage plant.

BS Presbyterians Named To Offices

Five Big Spring Presbyterians shared in appointments to committees and commissions announced upon reorganization of machinery of the Presbytery of the Southwest.

The Presbytery concluded its semi-annual meeting in Ballinger Wednesday with reports of a five per cent growth. A budget of $245,000 for missions and benevolences was adopted and the Rev. Richard Schmidt was named administrator of the Presbytery, a new office for coordinating all activities of the churches. His headquarters will be in Midland.

The Rev. E. A. J. Seddon, minister of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church in Big Spring, was elect moderator nominee. He will embark upon his duties as presiding officer of the Presbytery on June 9 at Lubbock.

New pastors brought into the Presbytery were Rev. Clark Seccoy, Westminister Church in Odessa; Rev. John Abendschman, Clovis, N. M.; and Rev. George Thomas Huser, Covenant Church, Midland.

The Presbytery voted 43-34 in favor of ordaining women to the offices of the church. In order for this to be effective, two-thirds of the 70 Presbyteries must give an affirmative vote. Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor, was named chairman of the commission on church growth. Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach was named to the covenant life commission; E. C. Boatler to the commission of the minister and his work; A. A. Porter on the nominating committee; Glen Guthrie on the camps committee.

Attending from this area were Joe Knight and Rev. Seddon from St. Paul; Vernon Guthrie and Rev. Jack McClendon, Coahoma; H. G. Carmack and Dr. Lloyd from First Presbyterian.

Rites Set For Mr. Sullivan

Services for Coral Beecher Sullivan Sr., 67, who died in a local hospital Monday, have been set for 2 p.m. Friday.

They will be held at the Fourteenth and Main Street Church of Christ with Perry Cotham, minister, officiating. He will be assisted by T. H. Tarbet. Burial will be in Big Spring City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Sullivan died following a series of heart attacks which started many weeks ago.

He was a retired Texas and Pacific Railway locomotive engineer, and was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He was chief engineer for the local chapter for several terms.

Mr. Sullivan was born March 15, 1896 in Columbus, Ohio, and had been with the T&P since 1927. He was a veteran of World War I, a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a member of the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ.

Survivors include the widow, the former Della Moore; a son, Coral B. Sullivan Jr., student at North Texas State University, Denton; a daughter, Mrs. Lynn Thomas, Clark AFB, Philippines; two brothers, two sisters and two grandchildren. Pallbearers will be B. F. Everett, W. H. Bain, C. R. Rhoads, F. F. McGowan, R. W. Cagle, R. C. Williams, R. D. Elrey and F. W. Jarratt. C. L. Gill and friends will be honorary pallbearers.

Six Pass Exam For Police Work

Police Chief Jay Banks Thursday said six of 23 candidates who took examinations Wednesday are being considered for two vacancies on the local force.

All six of the men being considered passed a written examination and made a favorable impression on the members of a review board, Banks said.

The Chief did not reveal the identity of the men being considered. The appointment of two of the men as patrolmen will follow a background check.

Workman's Suit Settled In Court

A suit brought by Mary Graham against the Texas Employers Insurance Association for compensation, on trial in 118th District Court, was settled Wednesday night. Ralph Caton, presiding judge, announced.

The jurors who were trying the case were excused from further service and the panel called for this week's docket excused.

No other cases will be heard at this week's session, Judge Caton said. The court tried one case and the second was terminated by agreement.

Youths Being Held In County Jail

Three local 17-year-old youths, charged with burglary, remained in County Jail Thursday morning in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Charged are Jerry Rice, Phillip Gentry and William Watson. The three were transferred from City Jail to County Jail Wednesday. Police said Rice and Gentry were arrested about 1 a.m. Tuesday during a burglary at Christensen Boot Shop, 602 W. 3rd. Watson was arrested at his home about 10 a.m. Tuesday, according to police.

Detectives say the three youths have signed statements admitting several burglaries.

County Jail Population Up

Wayne LeRoy Womble, wanted in Alva, Okla., for child desertion, was picked up by sheriff's deputies and is being held pending arrival of Oklahoma officers.

Erin Williams, 34, who claims Falfurrias as his home, is being held in county jail on charges of passing five forged American Express Co. money orders here. Chief deputy Aubrey Standard said that the money order blanks were stolen in Clovis, N. M. Standard said the man is wanted in other cities for similar offenses.

James William Gore, alias Jim Moore, is held in the county jail here after being returned to Howard County from the New Mexico State Penitentiary. He is charged with having cashed five forged checks in Big Spring.

H. M. Wallace, 39, Dayton, Ohio, and Frederick Luther Heaton, 38, Henderson, are being held in county jail charged with cashing several bad checks at motor inns. Standard said the men were involved in at least a dozen episodes.

Permit For Sale Of Beer Suspended

A beer permit issued to Mrs. J. E. Tibbets for Johnnie Roundtop Cafe, 2401 S. Scurry, has been suspended for ten days, according to C. E. Arnold, district supervisor of the liquor control board.

Arnold notified Police Chief Jay Banks Wednesday the suspension will be effective Monday, Feb. 3 through Wednesday, Feb. 12 for a violation of the liquor control act.

Penny Parade Adds $175 To MOD Effort

Seventeen thousand, five hundred pennies—$175 worth—were taken in on the March of Dimes Penny Parade at KWAB-TV Wednesday night. Bruce Frazier, emcee for the show, said this morning. An auction brought in another $250, running the total to $425.

"I was so busy talking to the kids bringing in the pennies that I could not possibly keep count of the number who came," Frazier said, "but a long line of children went through the studio."

"We missed Jo Ann Forrest, originator of the program," he said. Youngsters going through the studio dropped their pennies in a large bucket. The auction sale featured items donated for the benefit of the March of Dimes, and bids were received at KWAB by telephone.

Both events supplemented the annual Mothers' March Monday night, in which donations were taken or envelopes left for mailing in later.

The Monday night march, in which Parent-Teacher Associations of Big Spring participated, brought in $2,575.77. The three events brought the total amount to $3,000.77, with more expected through the mail and from other events planned.

FFA, 4-H Clubbers Vie In Sands Show Saturday

ACKERLY—Plans are complete for the annual Sands Community Livestock Show for FFA and 4-H Club boys and girls. The show will be held Jan. 25 in the vocational agriculture shop at Knott. Animals will be checked in after 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Keith Bray, vocational agriculture supervisor for Sands High School, who has been directing activities toward organization of the show, said about 110 animals will be shown this year. Fifteen fat steers, three heifers, 40 gilts, 32 barrows and 15 lambs are to be shown.

Awards will be made for champion, or grand champion, of each division, Bray said. There will also be a showman trophy for each division, and a trophy for the boy who sells the most memberships.

The Southland No. 2 Ellenburger of the Spade Field. This well is the second in the pool. It is 15 miles north of Sterling City.

Operator flowed 175 barrels of 50.8 gravity oil on an 8-64-inch choke, with no water, a gas-oil ratio of 600-1 and tubing pressure of 550 pounds through an open hole between 8,078-78 feet. The zone was acidized with 250 gallons. Elevation at derrick floor is 2,371 feet, and the total depth is 8,078 feet. Location is C SE SW NW, section 56-18, SPRR survey.

Moncrief No. 1 R. T. Foster, seven miles southwest of the Durham field, flowed 60 barrels of oil from the Fusselman through perforations at 8,426-32 feet, with 15 per cent acid water in 14 hours on a 16-64-inch choke. Flowing tubing pressure was 425 pounds, and the shutin has not potential.

Operator set 4 1/2-inch casing at 8,447 feet with 250 sacks and treated with 750 gallons of acid. The old total depth was 8,711 feet, and operator cleaned out to a total depth of 8,477 feet. Location is 2,622 feet from west action was taken. According to S. M. Anderson, superintendent, the school's accreditation could be jeopardized if a part of the school campus is used for this purpose. The minimum state requirements are that elementary schools have five acres plus one additional acre for each 100 students. Since the school has about 500 students, it would require a minimum of 10 acres. Including city-owned property and some land which will require extensive ground work to make it usable for either parking or as a playground, the area available for the proposed baseball park totals some 15.37 acres. Required for a diamond with a 300-foot outfield, stands, parking area and other related equipment.

Board members were shown a plan drawn up by the city engineers with a baseball field superimposed to show how it would fit on the available land.

DAILY DRILLING

DAWSON
Continental No. 1 Beckmeyer flowed 164 barrels of oil, with no water in 12 hours on a 22-64-inch choke. Casing pressure was 120-100 pounds. Operator pumped 120 barrels of water and ran two-inch tubing to a lost sand fill, reversed water, shifted, and is preparing to reverse out sand. The total depth is 8,730 feet. Location is 2,705 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 43-34-25, T&P survey.
Surrey DX No. 1 Kent CSL-CME NE, lower 4283, Kent CSL survey, is preparing to treat with 750 gallons of acid. Operator plugged back to 9,332 feet, from a total depth of 12,445 feet, perforated the basal Permian of 9,330-70 feet, ran 2 1/2-inch tubing, displaced water with oil, set packer at 9,230 feet and swabbed tubing dry with a show of gas.

GLASSCOCK
Tresco No. 1 E Glasscock, C SW NE, section 53-34-25, T&P survey, is drilling below 6,432 feet in sand and shale. Operator ran a drillstem test from 6,432 to 6,530 feet, and recovered 130 feet of drilling mud with no show during one hour.
Vaughn No. 1 McDowell is logging below 2,305 feet. Operator corrd from 2,340 to 2,390 feet and recovered 50 feet, with no shows. Location is 457 feet from north and 2,380 feet from west lines of section 31-34-25, T&P survey.

STERLING
Cable No. 1 Sellers, C NW NW, section 65-17, SPRR survey, had a slight show of oil and gas in the middle Wolfcamp. Operator perforated at 6,724-43 feet, set packer at 6,820 feet, set reversible bridge plug at 6,730 feet, swabbed tubing dry, washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and treated with 2,500 gallons. Operator now is swabbing the tool.

Hawks Employ Press To Down Wranglers

By TOMMY HART
Down five points at one stage and two points at the half, the HCJC Jayhawks resorted to a press with devastating results in the chalking up an 87-67 Western Conference basketball victory over Odessa College here Wednesday night.
The Jayhawks started over-riding the Wranglers all over the court with 18 minutes left in the struggle. From there on in, it was virtually no contest.
The victory was the sixth straight in league play for the Jayhawks. Overall, the locals are 13-4. Only one of their losses has come at the hands of a Texas-based quintet.

Liston Advisor Leaves Baltimore Bewildered

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Nilon, advisor of heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston, hustled into town Wednesday to beat the drums for local televising of Liston's title bout with Cassius Clay.
When Nilon departed, guests at a news conference were laughing and confused... mostly confused.
Nilon's rambling statements made Casey Stengel's famed double talk seem as simple as A-B-C.

THE HAWKS TIED THE SCORE AT 44-44 WITH 17 MINUTES TO PLAY WHEN TERRY WILLIAMS HIT FROM OUTSIDE AND NEVER TRAILED AFTER THAT.
With 13 minutes to go, it was 53-46, HCJC. With eight minutes left, the provincials had pulled away to a 64-49 bulge and coach Buddy Travis saw fit to make liberal use of his subs in the last few minutes.
The Hawks hit 31 times on 65 tries from the court all told while Odessa made good on 29 of 72 field goal efforts. HCJC tossed in 16 field goals in 30 efforts after the intermission.
Eddy Nelson stuffed in 19 points for HCJC while Jim Oldham had 18. Both boys played excellent games in all phases and were particularly effective around the backboards.
Gus Buchanan and Kenny Kaminski each had 12 points for the visitors.
Coach Travis used two full teams and all but one player got into the scoring act.
HCJC plays again here Saturday night, meeting a strong South Plains contingent at 8 o'clock. Then comes a Feb. 1 outing with the perennial contender, San Angelo.

Ex-Hawk Named Player Of Week

BROWNWOOD — Walter Carter, former HCJC star, has been named Player of the Week in Lone Star league basketball. Carter performs for Howard Payne College. He stands 6-foot-4 and plays the pivot position.
Carter was selected by the league's coaches for his play against Sam Houston State. He scored 25 points and pulled down seven rebounds in the game.

Philly Cage Pros In Family Fights

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers, who have been having trouble of late beating National Basketball Association opposition, now are scrapping among themselves.
Coach Dolph Schayes was involved in disputes with two of his players Wednesday night as Philadelphia dropped a 124-118 decision to the Baltimore Bullets for their fifth loss in a row.
In other action, Cincinnati handed Boston its worst defeat of the season 109-92 and Los Angeles whipped Detroit 110-101.
When Dave Gambee was removed from the Philadelphia-Baltimore game in the second quarter, he showed his displeasure by actions and words. Schayes retaliated by ordering Gambee to the dressing room for the remainder of the game.
In the fourth quarter, Lee Shaffer cursed both Schayes and his replacement Ben Warley when he was ordered to the bench. Shaffer, who earlier was charged with a technical foul for cursing, did not return until the contest was almost over.
For the night, Gambee played seven minutes and Shaffer 13. Asked after the game to comment on the Gambee incident, Schayes said, "It's nothing I'd care to talk about. He left because he didn't feel well."
Asked if the players would be fined, the Philadelphia coach said, "Yes, a million dollars."
Cincinnati continued to plague the Celtics with its fifth victory in nine games between the teams. Oscar Robertson's 38 points paced the second-place Royals as they cut Boston's Eastern Division lead to 2 1/2 games.
Cincinnati took the lead 10-9 in the first quarter and stayed in front the rest of the way.

A junior high school basketball tournament, for eighth grade teams only, will be held in the Goliad Junior High School gymnasium here Jan. 31-Feb. 1.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

Australian sports columnist, FRANK BROWNE, writing about CHUCK MCKINLEY, DENNIS RALSTON, and FRANK FROEHLING, who he dubs, "The most hated trio tennis ever produced."

"They have insulted their way from Mexico City to Delhi and left behind them fewer friends than anybody who ever came that way before. In Australia, they have combined arrogance, rudeness and childishness to a degree never achieved before by any group in the game where nobody expects a top performer to behave like an adult."
OLIVER E. KUECHLE, sports editor of the Milwaukee Journal, talking about the Kansas City Athletics.
"The A's have been a Comedy of Errors from the time Charles Finley bought them from the estate of the late Arnold Johnson in 1961... It must be Finley, Finley—CHARLES O. FINLEY. Well, the man is having his wish, only he's having it at baseball's expense which is a little sad. People are laughing."
"In the old days of amateur night in burlesque, they had a long hook which they used to pull some awful gags off the stage. Finley has now clearly reached the point at which he should get the hook."
"Finley has long been a disciple of imaginative BILL VECEK, which, on reflection, may explain some of the odd goings on in Kansas City since he took over."
"But where Vecek had a touch, Finley had none... He put sheep in his outer outfield, behind a fence, to graze. It was odd stuff. Ralph Cutting used to have a goat do the same at old Athletic Park here 50 years ago."
"He installed neon lights in the dugouts and then boasted how much straighter his players sat than the visitors. (They didn't win as many games, though)."
"He did many things. But he had no touch."

Rockets Oppose Leopard Quints

Big Spring Lakeview sends two of its basketball teams to San Angelo today to do battle with Blackshear Junior High of that city.
Lakeview's ninth graders defeated the Leopards, 43-40, in a previous outing.
The eighth grade engagement begins at 6 p.m. while the ninth graders tangle at 7:30 p.m. The Lakeview eighth graders won over Blackshear in their prior contest, 55-19.

Ben Hogan Not Sorry He Quit

NEW YORK (AP)—"I have no regrets," Ben Hogan said. "A man has to quit some time. I've never been sorry I stopped when I did."
The mushrooming $100,000-plus purses and the pressure of bigtime golf, intensified by the heavyweight duel between Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, no longer hold a lure for the tough little master from Fort Worth, Tex.
"If I could get some semblance of a putting stroke I would play in more tournaments, just for the pleasure of it," added Hogan, who was presented the Gold Tee Award Wednesday night by the Metropolitan Golf Writers Association. "But I'm not eager to win any more championships, just for championships' sake."
Hogan insisted he never was haunted by the thought that he might have won an unprecedented fifth National Open championship, passing Willie Anderson and Bob Jones, had he not cut short his competitive career in 1955.
"If I had kept playing, I might have won another Open, and again I might not," he said. "As far back as 1953, my best year, I could tell I was beginning to lose my nerve in putting."
"That convinced me it was time to call it quits. I got to a point I couldn't even bring the club back on the putting green."
Hogan announced his retirement after losing a playoff to Jack Fleck in the 1955 Open at San Francisco, saying at the time:
"I'll never work this hard again to win a tournament."
At that time, Ben had won

Local Man Is Given Office

Don Campbell of Big Spring has been named vice-commodore of the newly formed Lake Thomas Yacht Club, which officially came into being at a convulse held last Sunday in Midland.
Other officers elected included:
Stayner Dugan, commodore; Tom Colt, Midland, rear commodore; Dillard Anderson, fleet captain; Wayne Word, Midland, officer-of-the-deck; Robert Berryman, Midland, secretary; and John Murphey, Midland, treasurer.
The newly organized club plans to lease clubhouse, launching and pier facilities at Lake Thomas. Present plans are to have facilities ready for use by mid-May. A bi-monthly program of races are planned during the summer with all events to be on a handicap basis.
A total of 33 persons signified intentions to join the club at the Midland meeting. Most were from Midland but others came from Odessa, Big Spring, Snyder and Post.
Anyone else interested can contact Commodore Dugan, 1900 Sparks St., Midland.

Grid Schedules To Be Discussed

Representatives of District 2-4A met at the Big Spring Country Club this morning to discuss future football schedules and other items of business.
The spring sports program was also due to be formed up. Dr. G. B. Wadzeck of San Angelo was the presiding officer of the convulse, which was due to continue through lunch.

Tuttle Takes Over Top Spot In All-Star

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., took a commanding lead in the first day of finals at the $100,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament Wednesday night.
The personable newcomer won 12 and lost four games while knocking down 3,631 pins in the opening four rounds. He received a 600-pin bonus, $9 for each game he won, to boost his position to 4,231.
Tuttle's best performance of the day came in the third round when he walloped a 258-256-151-235 — 830 series to defeat Don Ellis of Houston, Tex., in three games.
Luke Barlow of Hobbs, N.M., was in second place as the tournament moved into the fifth round with a total of 3,943 pins, a reflection of his record of 12 won and four lost and his total pin fall of 3,343.
Barlow moved from third place into the runner-up spot after winning three of his four games with Dick Weber, the defending champion from St. Louis.
Weber, who was in second place going into the round, dropped to fifth place.
Norma Lake of Dallas and Laverne Carter of St. Louis were deadlocked for the women's lead after four rounds with identical grand totals of 1,871.
E. B. Dozier Jr., who holds eighth place in the All-Star tournament at Dallas, is a former Big Spring resident and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Dozier Sr., Big Spring.

* THE ASSOCIATED PRESS NEWS IN PICTURES *

BEATING THE COLD—With the temperatures below zero at Chicago's O'Hare Airport, the nose of this plane was placed in a hangar so the engines would start easier.

LONG PARTY—A reveler, still wearing his New Year's Eve party hat and sheltering his guitar, stands in sleet in New York's Times Square waiting for transportation.

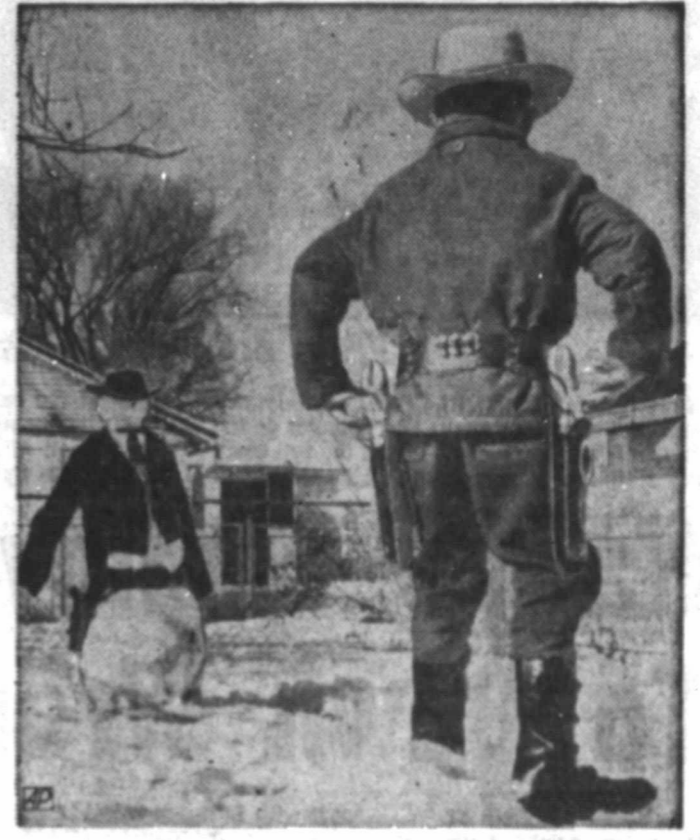

CHOICE—Hubert H. Humphrey, U.S. Senator from Minnesota, has topped a poll of Democratic county chairmen as the party's best choice for the vice presidential nomination in 1964.

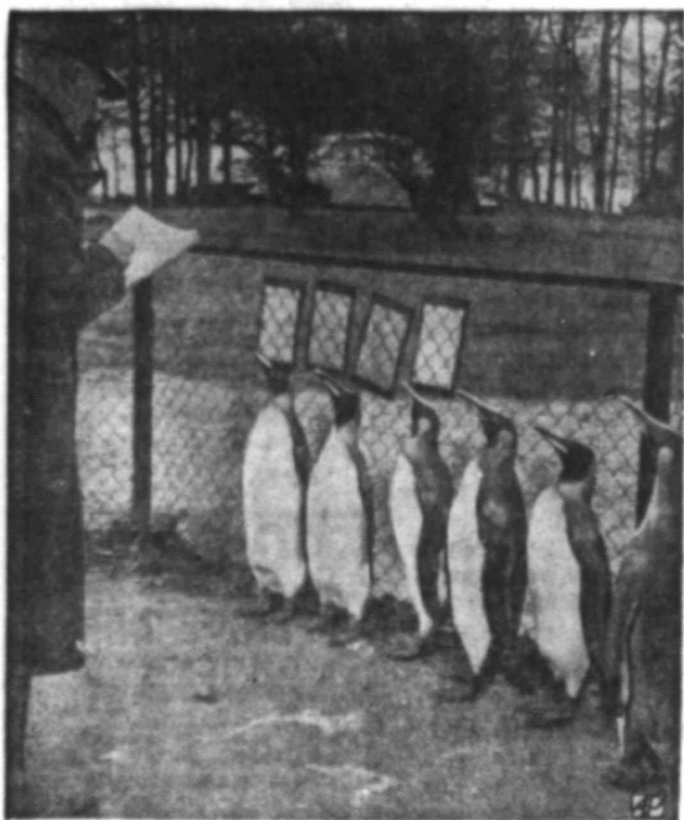

MEMENTO—State Department press officer David Waters poses with his sculptured likeness of the late President John F. Kennedy. Twenty copies will be cast in bronze.

A ROYAL REACTION—Sweden's art-loving King Gustaf Adolf appears to be expressing amazement as he studies a work at exhibition of modern art in Stockholm museum.

NO CONTEST—It's a cinch that the youngster, with new hardware to break in, is going to beat his unyielding opponent to the draw in a yard at Evansville, Ind.

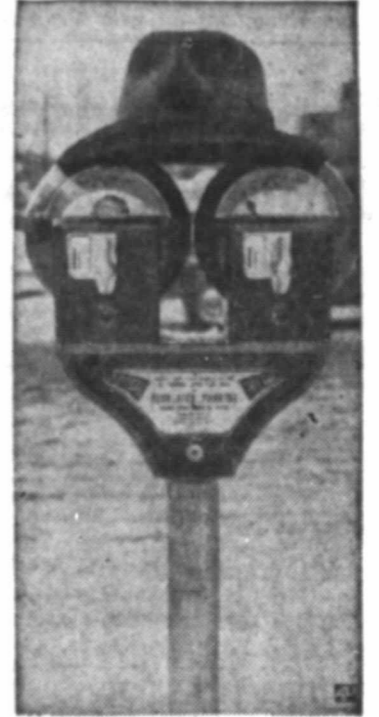

FORMAL CHECK—Penguins stand at attention as a keeper marks the register during annual New Year's Day stocktaking at the Whipsnade Zoo near Dunstable, England.

PLEASANT INTERLUDE—Little Michael McCarthy appears to be having no difficulty at customs as he arrives with his parents aboard liner in New York City. The boy's father, an Air Force noncom, has been transferred from Germany to San Francisco, Calif.

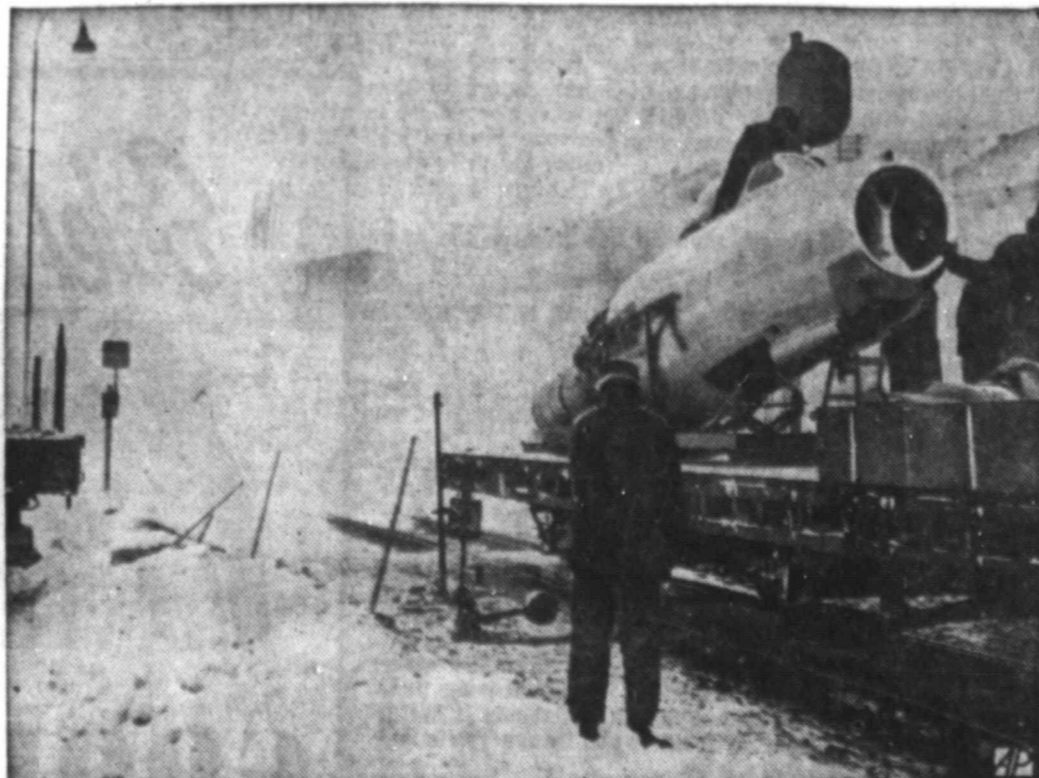

SEASONAL ART—Snow came to the South with a flourish that left even the lowly trash cans looking like Dixie cones. This scene was photographed in Nashville, Tenn.

ADDED TOUCH—Since parking meter and subsequent hunt for coins is source of annoyance to many, cameraman decided to "humanize" this dual meter at Nashua, N.H.

ICY BEAUTY—Swedish actress Ingrid Bergman, pictured on film set in Rome, where she plays part of the world's richest woman seeking revenge against a former lover.

MODERN TECHNIQUE—A specially-adapted Jet aircraft engine, mounted on a flatcar, is used to blow away the snow at a railway station in Bratislava, Czechoslovakia.

CHANGE IN TOP POST—Gen. David M. Shoup, left, retiring commandant of the Marine Corps, and his successor, Lt. Gen. Wallace M. Greene, salute during the change of command ceremony in Washington. Shoup, 59, is leaving after 33 years in the Corps.

'Red Stocking' Tickets Will Go On Sale Tuesday

Tickets will go on sale Tuesday at several downtown locations for "Red Stocking Revue," which will be the major source of income this year for welfare projects of the Officer's Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base.

Pelletier's, Swartz and the Security State Bank have already agreed to make the tickets available to their customers and other businesses are expected to be added to the list before the weekend, according to Mrs. Howard E. Lynch, publicity chairman for the event. Also, each member of the OWC will be able to provide tickets. Advance reservations can be made. Admission to the show will be $2 for each person.

NEW YORK FIRM

Not too much is known yet about the form the local show will take, since that is being handled by the firm of Jerome Cargill, New York, N. Y. However, the firm representative who will direct the show will be here Feb. 4. All talent in the show will be from the OWC.

The revue will be of a musical nature and will include solo performances, dancing, singing and choruses.

A sidebar to the show will be a Maharaja Contest for which local clubs and civic organizations will provide contestants. Voting will be by donation and the winner will be the contestant with most pennies to his credit. One number of the show will be built around the Maharaja.

PROCEEDS

All proceeds from the show will go into the OWC welfare budget for next year. The club this year has some $1,100 budgeted for its eight major welfare activities.

Included are a monthly contribution to the Big Spring State Hospital. Last year the group provided funds to redecorate wards for adolescent patients, both boys and girls, through their donations. The OWC also made significant donations to the hospital library.

Family services at Webb also benefit from OWC contributions. This organization was formed to assist and inform military dependents.

Other recipients of OWC funds or services include the Gray Ladies of the Red Cross, the Webb United Fund drive, an emergency fund administered by the chaplain service at the base, the base hospital, the Webb Chapel and the Thrift Shop, whose proceeds also go to charity.

Dies From Burns

AUSTIN (AP) — Delbert A. Huddleston, 79, died Wednesday of burns suffered when flames spread from a gas heater to his bed. Huddleston was an invalid, able to get about only with crutches.

Youth Jailed For Threat To Blast Harlingen High

HARLINGEN (AP) — A high school junior has been charged with threatening to extort $10,000 from a Harlingen banker after the official received a note saying his daughter and her school would be blown up unless the youth received money.

Ralph Anes Avalon, 18, was held in Harlingen city jail in lieu of $1,500 bond.

E. Clinton Breedlove, president of First National Bank in this lower Rio Grande Valley town, said he first considered the extortion note a joke.

"We've got three teen-agers, and know what these kids do, so we thought it was one of their friends pulling a joke," Breedlove told the Associated Press. Mrs. Breedlove discovered the couldn't get the 25 pounds of dynamite," Rouseau said.

The chief said the youth admitted the entire affair and signed a written statement.

Mrs. Breedlove called her husband after she found the note and he notified police who told him to follow instructions in the note.

Police were surrounding the house when Avalon drove up and began probing debris and dirt.

Rouseau said the youth told him: "My mother is sick all the time. We couldn't pay bills and I couldn't get a job."

Dairyman Named

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally Wednesday appointed C. E. Knolle, a Jim Wells County dairyman, as chairman of the State Animal Health Commission. Knolle succeeds Clayton Puckett of Fort Stockton.

Johnson Found Free Of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP) — Doctors at Memorial Hospital have told actor Van Johnson there is no recurrence of the cancer for which he underwent surgery 10 months ago.

Johnson, who had a skin cancer removed from his thigh in the earlier operation, underwent an exploratory operation on a lymph gland in the thigh last Thursday.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1964 SECTION B

Weariness Vanishes For Lucy Baines

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Lucy Baines Johnson, 16, daughter of President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, quickly forgot she was tired from the flight that brought her to visit University of Wisconsin freshman Jack Olson Wednesday night.

She and her party took a late auto ride, returning to her hotel at 1:10 this morning.

"We had a pizza," said Miss Johnson.

They also conspired in a little auto switching intrigue.

LONG TRIP
After her arrival she was whisked to her hotel, and said, "I have just finished my final exams and had a long trip. I'd like just to rest tonight."

Olson, 18, from Maiden Rock, Wis., who has been Miss Johnson's escort since February, said, "We'll do whatever she wants." Olson met Miss Johnson while serving as a congressional page.

She did stay in her rooms about 90 minutes, chatting with Olson, his sister, Karen, 19, a sophomore at Wisconsin's River Falls State College, and her boyfriend, Jerry Sargent of Minneapolis. But at 10:30 p.m. the four young people and Mrs. James Cain, a longtime friend of the Johnson family, left in two cars for a tour of the Wisconsin campus.

DROPPED OFF
When the party returned, Olson explained that Mrs. Cain had been dropped off and returned to the hotel. The four young people switched from the official car to a 1959 auto driven by a friend of Olson's, Doug Dague of Cumberland, Wis. Secret Service men followed their tour in another car.

After seeing the campus, they stopped at a popular pizza place near the university. Miss Johnson and Olson sat alone.

After the party returned, and neared Miss Johnson's room, she turned to Olson and said, "I don't have a key." But the door was opened from the inside.

Olson left a short while later, saying he and Miss Johnson planned to return to the campus today. He also said she may extend her stay through Friday, before going on to the Rochester, Minn., home of Mrs. Cain, whose physician husband is on the Mayo Clinic staff.

Viet Nam Advisers Call For Break With De Gaulle

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's advisory legislature called today for a break in relations with France to protest President Charles de Gaulle's plan for neutralization of Viet Nam.

The Council of Notables, appointed after the Nov. 1 coup, made its recommendation to the military regime after hearing reports from Foreign Minister Pham Dang Lan and Information Minister Brig. Gen. Do Mau.

De Gaulle's proposal has been widely protested in Saigon. Although the government has remained officially silent, the ruling junta has made clear it will not accept neutralization.

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — Dr. Kenneth Kaunda, 39, a former schoolteacher, has become the first prime minister of copper-rich Northern Rhodesia.

Kaunda was sworn in Wednesday after his United National Independence party scored a decisive victory in a legislative assembly election.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — About 1,400 Asians are en route to Bombay, India, after resigning from government jobs in Kenya. They claimed their salaries and privileges were threatened by "Africanization."

The Asians boarded the Indian ship Islami at Mombasa Wednesday night.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Five South Koreans were wounded Wednesday night in an exchange of fire between a group of Thai soldiers and a party of U.S. and South Korean military policemen.

A U.N. Command spokesman said the wounded were a South Korean MP and four bystanders, a man and three women. Two of the women were in serious condition. The spokesman said two American MPs entered the saloon in a village 35 miles northeast of Seoul on a routine patrol and were greeted by catcalls from a group of Thai soldiers stationed near the village as part of the U.N. forces. As the Americans left, one of the Thais fired several shots toward the ceiling.

The two policemen returned with two more American MPs and a South Korean. They found five Thai soldiers scuffling with an unidentified American soldier outside the saloon.

The Thai soldiers opened fire on the MPs, and the police patrol returned the fire. The Thais fled and the spokesman said 10 Thai soldiers were missing from their unit today.

SMITHSONIAN: A $36 million showcase for the treasures of American history and technology opens its doors to the public today.

The Smithsonian's new two-block-long Museum of History and Technology was dedicated Wednesday night by President Johnson.

SOVIET FISHING: A Senate report declared Wednesday that the Soviet Union has the world's largest fleet of modern fishing vessels sailing in every ocean and crowding out other fishermen with strong-arm tactics.

The Senate Commerce Committee's report described the expansion of Russia's fishing industry as a peril to the U.S. fishing industry and a threat to the available supply of fish.

Soviet fishermen were accused in the report of using such tactics as hit-and-run collisions, crowding out other fishermen with trawler flotillas, destroying pots and lines of other fishermen, using nets with tighter mesh than allowed under fishing treaties, and ignoring fish conservation plans.

RIGHTS COMMISSION: President Johnson is expected to fill vacancies next week on the Civil Rights Commission which for almost three months has been lacking a staff director and two commissioners.

White House sources said Wednesday that Johnson will probably name one or more commissioners and possibly the staff director.

Lyndon, Pearson Differ On Football

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada's Prime Minister Lester D. Pearson says he agrees with President Johnson on practically everything they discussed at the White House Wednesday — except who is the best football quarterback.

Pearson told newsmen that Johnson's pick was Sammy Baugh, former quarterback for the Washington Redskins, who is a Texan.

Hewett Running For Commissioner

C. V. (Vernon) Hewett, a resident of Howard County for 36 years, has announced his candidacy for County Commissioner, Precinct 3, subject to action of the Democratic Primary.

Hewett, who lives in the Elbow community, is a stock farmer. He is a native of Oklahoma but left that state as a baby, moving with his family to New Mexico. He came to the Knott community from New Mexico.

He attended Big Spring High School, leaving school to enlist in the Air Force in 1924. He served for three years, most of the time in the Panama Canal Zone. He returned to Howard County and began a career of farming and stock raising.

FAMILY HERE
His family comprises his wife, three sons and two daughters. Two of the sons are still at home. They are Donald Gene, 25, and Vernon Jr., 11. Donald Gene, like his other brother, Calvin Jerry, are former students of Howard County Junior College. Vernon is a student in Marcy school.

The two daughters are Mrs. Betty Lou Mathers, Midland, and Mrs. Jeanette McKee, who lives in this county. All of the elder Hewett children are graduates of the Big Spring High School.

Mr. Hewett has never sought political office before. He has served as a director for the Co-op Gins in Big Spring and has been active as a member of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee.

CONCERN
He says his reason for seeking the office of county commissioner is his concern for better administration of county affairs. He feels that county government needs the best possible thought and planning.

"If I am elected county commissioner," he said, "the people of the county may rest assured that I will do my best at all times to see that every tax dollar is spent wisely and in the best interests of the people."

"I want to look into this matter of a county engineer. I want to hear the evidence on both sides. If this county needs a county engineer, I want to see that it gets one. However, I want to make it clear that if we do have an engineer he should be under the direction and supervision of the county commissioners. I want it so that when a taxpayer comes to the county board meeting with a problem he won't be told to take the matter to the county engineer."

Two pleas of guilty were accepted in Howard County court Wednesday afternoon.

One was a charge of transporting filed against Rodolfo Morales, Judge Lee Porter fined Morales $100 and costs.

Tommy Davis, charged with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail.

C. V. (VERNON) HEWETT

near. I want it so the county commissioner will decide what is to be done and tell the engineer to do it.

DEVELOPMENT
"I am in favor of a program of development for the county which will bring the best service to the most people. I favor roads being built where they will do the most good and want the county money to be spent wisely. I do not favor spending county money simply because money is available. When we spend money it should be to fulfill a need."

"I will try to see every voter in my district between now and the Democratic primary. I want to talk to the people and find out what they feel should be done about our county government."

"If I am elected as your county commissioner, I will devote my full time and energy to serving you. I will deeply appreciate your support and your vote, and I will pledge that, if you elect me, you will never have cause to regret your action."

Guilty Pleas Accepted

Two pleas of guilty were accepted in Howard County court Wednesday afternoon.

One was a charge of transporting filed against Rodolfo Morales, Judge Lee Porter fined Morales $100 and costs.

Tommy Davis, charged with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail.

Students Off Friday

While students are enjoying a day off, teachers of the Big Spring Independent School District Friday will be discussing the math program, reviewing textbooks and previewing instructional films. The in-service training program will close with the annual meeting of the school's credit union.

Supt. Sam Anderson will open the meeting with a general discussion of recent legislation affecting schools, current business aspects of the school system, teacher accreditation, etc.

Then teachers will go on to one of two sessions; the first aimed at the elementary levels for study of the new math program in grades 1-6, the second to consider adoption of textbooks in 14 subjects at various grade levels.

The afternoon session will be devoted to previewing some 18 instructional films in all subjects with the aim of adding to the school film library.

The meeting of the credit union climaxes the day's activities as members will hear a proposed dividend of 5% per cent and 18 per cent rebate on repaid loans.

Scouts Tour Gin

Fifteen girls of Brownie Neighborhood 3, District 4, were taken on a tour of Planter's Gin by Lester Adams, manager after school Wednesday. Each girl was given samples of seed and cotton. Adults accompanying the girls were Mrs. Ben Tucker, Mrs. R. M. McKinney, Mrs. Verna Harrington and Mrs. Lester Adams.

Trash Could Be Open To Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the fourth floor of the old House of Representatives is a huge stack of Congressional Records, the daily account of what senators and representatives say and do. The stack is topped by a hand-lettered sign.

Trash," it says.

You save enough to buy

2 MONTHS SUPPLY OF MILK
when you DRY WITH GAS

You can save $24.00 a year on your utility bill when you dry with GAS. That's enough to buy a two months supply of milk for an average family of four. And GAS dries your clothes faster, yet so gently.

SAVE ON INSTALLATION AND MAINTENANCE, TOO. A GAS clothes dryer costs less to install and maintenance costs are the lowest of any dryer. A GAS burner, the heart of your dryer, comes a lifetime guarantee.

Czech Found Curious About Today's Life In Free West

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—Edo is a dark-haired, intense young man. He is 27, an engineer and fond of modern jazz.

If you saw him walking down the street in Paris, Brussels or Amsterdam in his neat blue overcoat, you would think he belonged there.

But he lives in Prague, the capital of Communist Czechoslovakia, and has never been to any Western city.

Edo is typical of young people this correspondent has met on a trip to Czechoslovakia.

UNDER REDS

They belong to a generation that has come of age since the Communists took over the country in 1948. All of them have been to high school and university since then and all have spent their working lives under the Communist system.

What do they think? How do they live? To what do they aspire?

Edo sees shortcomings in communism but he doesn't think it's all bad. He likes the job security it offers but sometimes he would like to see how he would make out in a free economy.

He finds some aspects of the totalitarian system oppressive although he says things are much better than they used to be.

TO SEE WEST

Most of all, he has a longing to see the West. But he has no illusions about it, saying:

"A lot of people here think they would be better off if they could get to the West. That's nonsense. They don't realize leaving here means going to a foreign country where it would take them years to fit in.

"The way I look at it, it would take me about 15 years to get properly established abroad. And by that time things will probably be pretty good here, too."

His voice carries a note of cautious optimism. His hope is based on the de-Stalinization of the last few months that opened the borders to Westerners and brought a promise of travel to the West for Czechoslovaks.

GRADUAL PROCESS

People this writer talked to agreed that this was the most conspicuous step in a gradual process of liberalization that started about four years ago.

Seeing the West is not on top of everyone's list. To some it's old hat. Mirko, an accountant in his early 30s, has made an annual trip to West Berlin for several years to visit his mother, who lives there. Right after the war he studied in Switzerland for two years.

He confessed that once he would have traded his existence here for what he found in West Berlin, but not in recent years. The question was only academic anyway because his wife and daughter always remained behind when he went.

Both Edo and Mirko make 1,300 crowns ($98.50) at the official rate a month.

PLANT OFFICE

Edo, a single man, manages well. He lives in a small room that his plant carries on the books as an office. He says there are hundreds of such "offices" in the apartment-scarce city of Prague. It's a dodge used by state enterprises to beat the red tape — a sort of fringe benefit to attract bright young men.

Mirko has had a three-room apartment 15 years and considers himself lucky.

He says his salary buys basic food and covers the rent. If he wants to buy clothing or take his family on a vacation, it has to come out of his wife's $64 a month. His trips to Berlin are paid for by his mother.

Would they like to see Western-style capitalism come back? Some say no but others are not sure.

A student put it this way: "We're right on the border between East and West. Maybe, in time, we'll have the best from both worlds."

Shastri Back In India Post

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Former Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has returned to the Indian cabinet, strengthening speculation that he will become prime minister.

Shastri, 59, was appointed minister without portfolio Wednesday, almost five months after he and five other cabinet leaders resigned at the 74-year-old prime minister's request.

Nehru asked them to give full time to trying to revitalize his Congress party, torn by factional fighting after its long years of unchallenged power.

Reliable sources said Shastri, a middle of the road, will replace Nehru as government leader of Parliament and in effect will be deputy prime minister.

Shastri has been the politician most mentioned as Nehru's successor since a slight stroke Jan. 7 forced the prime minister to curtail his activities. Shastri has been neutral in the constant strains between the party's left and right wings.

As parliamentary leader Shastri will be the senior man in a trio with Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari, who are handling Nehru's routine administrative duties.

Dinner For Three

The main meal is prepared in the evening at the Jimmie Jones residence, 3000 Parkway. Mrs. Jones is shown making a favorite dish — beef stew — to please her husband and son, Milton.

Stretches Herself To Meet Day's Demands

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

Mention the word cooking to some women and they're quick to say it's something they can live without. And it's no wonder when today's housewife helps her husband at his work, chauffeurs, keeps the house and generally stretches herself and her imagination to provide wholesome food for hungry mouths.

EARLY TO RISE

Mrs. Jones prepares an early breakfast so that her husband can be at their Gregg Street service station by 7 o'clock. Then she straightens the house, delivers her 10-year-old son, Milton, at school and reports for work at the station about 9 a.m. She does all the book-keeping, banking and office work, and when help fails to arrive she fills in — delivering cars. And, to give her husband time out periods from the day's work, she takes over the management. When school is out she and Milton go home to finish housework and begin the day's main meal. Chocolate chip cookies — Milton's favorite — are usually found in the cookie jar for an after-school snack.

One-dish meals frequently are served at the Jones home. Beef stew, Italian spaghetti, pinto beans and ham-hock, hot tamale pie and macaroni and cheese are to name a few of the dishes they prefer. Mrs. Jones shops for seasonal fresh vegetables and always has material for salads. Favored in the salad line are avocado with French dressing and tossed, mixed salad.

BEEF STEW

- 2 lbs. beef (chuck)
1 large onion
3 Irish potatoes
Flour
3 carrots
Hot sauce
Salt
Cut beef into medium size cubes; salt and flour and brown on both sides in a small amount of grease. Pressure cook for 20 minutes. Cut onion, potatoes and carrots into wedges and combine with meat. Add a dash of hot sauce, salt to taste, and cook for five minutes. Serves four.

HOT TAMALES

- 1 large can chili
1 onion
1 pkg. Fritos
1/2 pound cheese
Place a layer of chili in a casserole; add a layer of Fritos, grated onion and cheese until the casserole is filled. Top with grated cheese and place in oven. Cook until chili is heated through. Serve with hot rolls or hot, buttered crackers and combination salad.

SPAGHETTI

- 1 lb. ground beef
2 garlic pods
1/2 lb. spaghetti
2 cans tomato sauce (small)
2 cans water
Salt
Brown ground beef in a heavy pressure cooker; cut up garlic pods in meat. Stir and separate meat with a fork as it browns. Add 2 cans tomato sauce and equal amount of water. Salt to taste and cook on a low burner for one hour. Cook and drain spaghetti before adding to the sauce. Serve with avocado salad and hot rolls or hot buttered crackers.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

- 1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 egg
1 cup less 2 level tbsps. sifted flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup (8 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate bits
Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cream together the shortening, granulated sugar, brown sugar and vanilla until light and fluffy. Fold in a well-beaten egg and beat entire mixture. Sift the flour, soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture and stir in chopped nuts, and chocolate bits. Drop by small spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake about 10 minutes. Yield — 50 cookies.

Spirit's Kept In Feasting

From now until Lent the holiday spirit can be kept burning bright with an abundance of ole-time feasting foods prepared for family dining, parties and get-togethers between neighbors and friends.

Traditionally speaking, turkey and all the trimmings will make many appearances served with its natural companion, corn meal dressing.

In the good ole days, these feasts kept many hands busy for days in advance. However, the special goodness of corn meal dishes is available with a minimum of time and the assurance of success. Corn meal mix with corn meal and flour already correctly measured and packaged in pre-measured one cup packs minimize kitchen time.

From the basic corn bread recipe (2 one-cup packs corn meal mix, 1 1/2 cups milk, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoons shortening), you can make corn bread dressing, stuffing, muffins, squares, grits and layers and toppings for casseroles. And flavorful corn bread dressing lends itself to many variations.

CORN BREAD DRESSING

- 5 cups crumbled corn bread

3 cups bread cubes or crumbled biscuits

- 1 tsp. poultry seasoning
1 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup melted margarine
2 eggs
1/4 cup broth or bouillon

Saute onion and celery in margarine until soft. Combine corn bread, white bread with poultry seasonings. Stir in sauteed onion, celery and add eggs, broth. Mix well. Place dressing in baking dish. Cover and bake in slow oven (325 degrees) for 50 to 60 minutes.

Variations are easy with this recipe. For Mushroom Dressing, saute chopped mushrooms with celery and onions. Combine mushroom liquid with corn bread and white bread mixture. For Oyster Dressing, follow above instructions with canned oysters.

If dressing is to be used as a stuffing, a few tablespoons is usually enough. Spoon uncooked dressing lightly into turkey. Stuff neck cavity first, then body cavity. The stuffing will take up moisture from the turkey as it roasts.

If you are lucky enough to have turkey and dressing left over after a holiday meal, here is a new recipe for a hearty casserole.

TURKEY DRESSING CASSEROLE

- 3 cups corn bread dressing
2 cups sliced cooked turkey
1 tsp. minced onion
2 tbsps. margarine
2 tbsps. flour
2 eggs
2 tbsps. cracker crumbs

Butter a casserole dish and line bottom and sides with dressing. Arrange sliced turkey in layer over dressing. Set aside and make topping: saute onion in margarine and stir in flour. Cook until bubbly. Add eggs stirring to mix well. Pour carefully into casserole and sprinkle with cracker crumbs. Bake in hot oven (375 degrees) until top is set.

LAMB LOVER MIGHT LIKE STEW, PEAS

To the lamb-lover, any variation of lamb stew is good. This may become your favorite.

LAMB STEW WITH BLACK-EYED PEAS

- 1 1/2 lbs. lamb from shoulder, breast, or neck cut into 1-in. cubes
1/2 cup flour
2 tbsps. fat
1 1/2 tbsps. salt
1/2 tsp. thyme
1 clove garlic, chopped
1 1/2 oz. can condensed onion soup
1 cup water
6 medium carrots, cut into 1-inch pieces

Roll meat in flour. Brown well on all sides in hot fat in a heavy kettle. Add all remaining ingredients except carrots. Cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours. Add carrots. Cover and simmer 1 hour longer, or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. If broth is too thin, simmer uncovered about 5 minutes.

TOSSED SALAD HAS CHEESE TOPPING

This salad goes well with almost any main course.

- 1 medium-sized head escarole, broken into bite-sized pieces
1/2 medium-sized head Boston lettuce broken into bite-sized pieces
1 medium-sized onion, thinly sliced
1/2 cup sliced carrot
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. garlic salt
1 cup creamed cottage cheese
3/4 cup crumbled Blue cheese (about 4 ounces)

Combine escarole, lettuce, onion and carrot. Sprinkle with salt and garlic salt and toss lightly. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well into dressing to salad mixture and toss lightly but thoroughly.

COOKIES CAN BE SERVED ANYTIME

This tasty cookie is good to offer young friends who visit or neighbors who stop for tea.

OLDTIME COOKIES

- 1 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup plus 3 tbsps. sugar
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
3/4 tsp. cinnamon
Cream butter with 1/2 cup plus 2 tbsps. sugar. Stir in flour; chill. Roll out 1/4-inch thick on prepared pastry cloth. Cut with a floured 2-inch round cutter. Mix remaining 1 tablespoon sugar with the cinnamon; sprinkle evenly over dough.

Place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven until very lightly browned — about 25 minutes. Makes 36.

- 3 cups bread cubes or crumbled biscuits

RARE RELISH RECIPE

Treat your family to your own homemade onion relish to give new interest to frankfurters, hamburgers, meat loaf and cold cuts

Isn't Marketed But It's One To Cherish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

Searched we have through cook books, but we've never found a recipe for an all-onion relish. So you may cherish the following rule as much as we do.

All-onion relish came to our attention several years ago when a large company sent us some samples of such a preserve, asking our opinion of it. We were enthusiastic but alas, it was never put on the market.

Then about a year or so ago, we were sent some onion relish from a shop in Highlands, North Carolina that specializes in condiments. This version, too, was delicious.

The next step was to concoct a recipe for the relish that cooks could make easily at home. Some friends offered to work this out for us, and here it is.

This is a small-quantity rule. When there's extra time in your kitchen, make a batch and put it in sterilized jars to have on hand.

When you're serving frankfurters or hamburgers, meat loaf or cold cuts, to a crowd you'll find that the onion relish will add something deliciously different and interesting. Two extra features of this recipe that we particularly like: It's thrifty and its ingredients are available all year round.

GOLDEN ONION RELISH

- 1-3 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup white vinegar
1/4 tsp. salt
3/4 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. turmeric
1/4 tsp. celery seed
3/4 tsp. dry mustard

2 cups finely chopped onion

Mix together the sugar, corn syrup, vinegar, salt, pepper, turmeric, celery seed, and mustard in small saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil and sugar is dissolved. Simmer 2 minutes. Stir in onion. Bring to boil; cover and simmer until onion is tender but still crisp, about 5 minutes. Store in covered container in refrigerator. Makes 1 pint.

To store out of refrigerator: Spoon boiling hot relish to within 1/4-inch of the top of 2 sterilized 1/2-pint fruit jars. Put domes on lids of jars; screw band. If when relish is poured into jars there is more than will fill them, boil down a little of the syrup (without the onion) so there's just enough relish to fill jars as directed.

Suggestion Offered To Supply Vitamin

By The Associated Press

Every once in a while we feel we should take it upon ourselves to remind mothers of the importance of seeing that their children have an adequate amount of vitamin C in their diet every day.

Fortunately orange juice, generally liked by young and old, is a great source of this vitamin. Of course you give your youngsters orange juice to drink, but it may also be used in a variety of dishes.

Recently we tried combining undiluted frozen orange juice concentrate with maple-flavored syrup to use as a pudding sauce. For the pudding we made a batch of an old-fashioned farina dessert that one young visitor named Ice Cream Pudding.

If your family likes bland true-flavor milk pudding as much as we do, we think this recipe is one you'll want to keep on hand.

Make up the Pudding when you have time, turn it into custard cups, cover and refrigerate them. They'll keep for several days. Serve the pudding for dessert at lunch or supper. Or let the children have it for a breakfast treat.

FARINA PUDDING WITH ORANGE MAPLE SAUCE

- 1/2 cup quick-cooking farina
1 1/2 tbsps. corn starch
1-3 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
3 cups milk
1 1/2 tbsps. vanilla
1 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 eggs, separated
Orange Maple Sauce

In a small bowl stir together well the farina, corn starch, sugar and salt. In a saucepan bring milk and vanilla to a boil; vigorously stir farina mixture into milk. Turn heat low and cook and stir constantly for 3 minutes. Add butter, remove from heat.

Beat egg yolks slightly. Stir a little of the hot farina mixture into the beaten egg yolks, then stir this back into the hot farina, until egg yolk and butter are well blended. Beat egg whites until they hold soft peaks, fold gently into farina mixture. Rinse 6 to 8 custard cups or individual molds with cold water.

Turn farina mixture into molds and refrigerate for at 5 hours or overnight. Unmold and serve with Orange Maple Sauce.

Dress Bone Lamb

Sunday dinner coming up? Have your market bone a lamb or veal shoulder and then you can stuff the meat with your favorite bread dressing.

PUDDING STARTS BREAKFAST

Ever give children a cereal pudding for breakfast? It's made ahead and unmoiled — and packed with nourishment. Serve the pudding with a sauce flavored with frozen orange juice concentrate.

Sauce. Makes 6 to 8 generous servings.

ORANGE MAPLE SAUCE

- 1/4 cup frozen undiluted orange juice concentrate, thawed
1/4 cup blended maple syrup
In a small bowl stir together the undiluted orange juice concentrate and maple syrup. Serve over unmoiled farina pudding. Note: Reconstitute the remainder of the undiluted orange juice concentrate in the can, by mixing it with three parts of cold water, to serve as a beverage.

EASY-TO-MAKE STUFFING PERKS UP APPETITES

Try this delicious new rice stuffing with pork chops to perk up appetites. Easy to make with packaged pre-cooked rice, it features a medley of flavors so friendly to rice. Pork chops taste especially good with orange rice stuffing.

RICE-ORANGE STUFFING

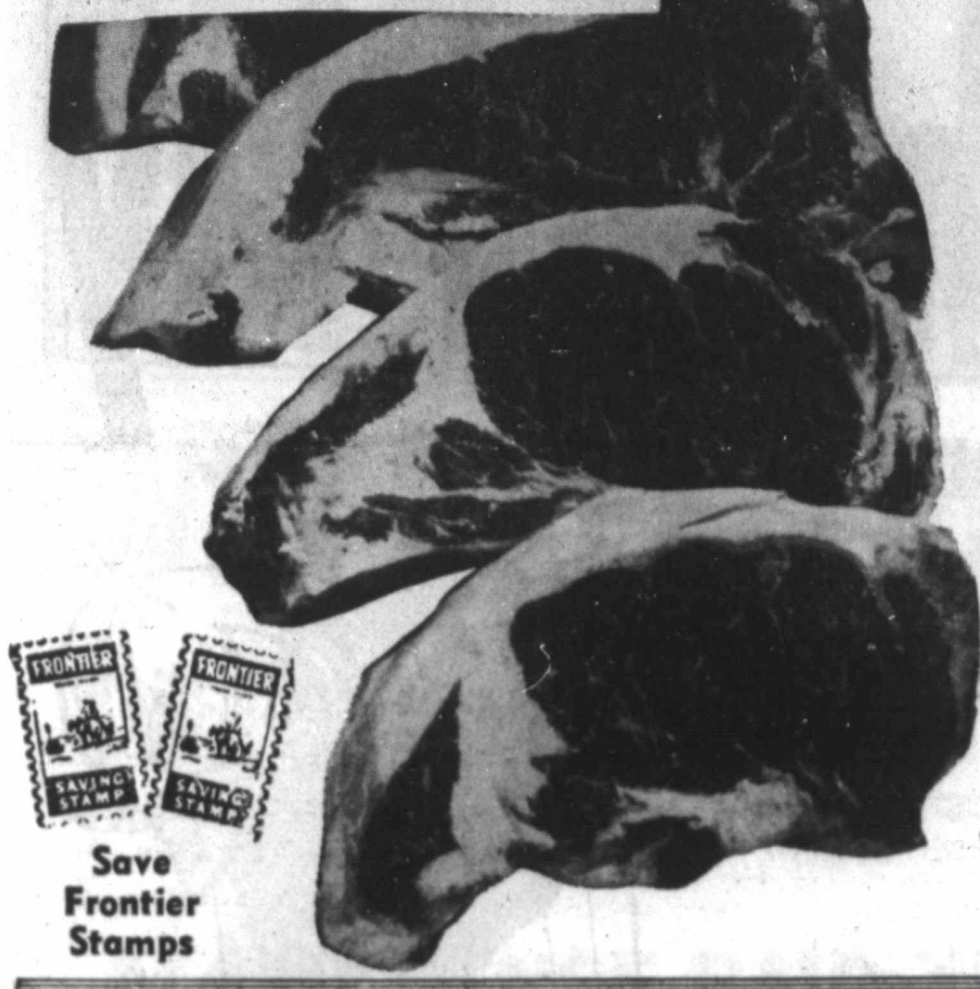

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup chopped onion
1-1-3 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1 cup water
1/2 cup orange juice
2 tbsps. dried orange rind
1 cup diced celery
1 1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. poultry seasoning

4 double rib pork chops (1 1/2 inches thick)
Melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and saute until tender but not browned. Add rice, water, orange juice and rind, celery, salt, and sugar. Mix just to moisten all rice. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat. Cover, remove from heat, and let stand 5 minutes. Then add poultry seasoning and mix lightly with a fork. To prepare chops: Cut a pocket in each chop and fill each with 1-3 cup of the stuffing. Fasten edges with a small skewer or toothpick. Heat a tablespoon of fat in skillet, add chops and saute quickly, turning to brown both sides. Remove from heat. Add 1/2 cup boiling water, and cover tightly. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one to 1 1/4 hours, or until chops are tender. Place the remaining stuffing in a baking dish and heat in oven. Serve with the chops.

Dear Abby

Do It With Courtesy

DEAR ABBY: We need your help in settling an argument. What is the proper way to get a waiter's attention? Is it all right to strike your glass with a knife? How about snapping your fingers? Also, is it bad manners to whistle a short and not too loud whistle? DON and DORA

DEAR D. and D.: Striking one's glass would startle and annoy everyone in the restaurant, including the waiter. Snapping the fingers is for the dogs, and whistling is for the birds. Simply say, "Waiter, please."

DEAR ABBY: How does a 21-year-old girl tell her own father she doesn't want him at her wedding? I want my mother there (she is a saint), but my father makes a fool of himself every time he gets near liquor and I know what would happen if he were at my wedding. I want a church wedding with all my friends and relatives, and my oldest brother could walk me down the aisle. I know I sound selfish, Abby, but I also know that I will not be deprived of the kind of wedding I want because of my father. And I can't take the chance of having him get roaring drunk and ruining everything. What would you do?

DEAR IMPASSE: I would tell my father candidly of my doubts and fears, and then, if he promised to stay sober on that day, I would let him walk me down the aisle. If we let people know we expect the best—they rarely disappoint us. Big brother can be waiting in the wings if Dad lets you down. But I'd bet on Dad this time.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15, an honor student, sing in the church choir and am considered pretty. My parents are the best in the world, with one exception. They never had a heart-to-heart talk with me Abby. I know this is hard to believe, but everything I learned about sex I had to learn on my own. Because there was no mention of this subject at home, I was too ashamed to bring it up although there were so many things I wanted to know. The invisible wall grew thicker between my parents and me and I became a very curious, foolish and susceptible girl. From what I have said, you can guess that I would make very easy prey—and I did. I don't know if I am pregnant or not. I just pray to God I'm not. I know of no human being other than you to confide in Abby. I love my parents and I am not blaming them for what I did. I brought it all on myself and deserve whatever happens. I am only writing this as a plea to parents, especially mothers, to get to know their teen-agers before it is too late. God bless you, Abby, for printing this, if you do. TEEN-AGER ALONE

Church Unity Takes To Air

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (AP) — Church Unity Week, as celebrated in Sheboygan, included an unexpected development.

The sermon of the Rev. Dr. T. Parry Jones, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was delivered to the congregation at St. Peter Claver Roman Catholic Church last Sunday.

The Rev. Robert Hoeller said the public address system at St. Peter's picked up Dr. Jones' address.

"I'm delighted that I had an opportunity to preach to Father Hoeller's congregation," said Dr. Jones.

"I will be happy to give him equal time."

Testing Center To Be Dedicated

LAREDO (AP)—U.S. Rubber Co. will dedicate a multi-million-dollar tire testing center near this Texas-Mexico border city Friday.

More than 100 persons eventually will be employed at the facility, company officials said, and will provide about $1 million annual income for the area. A fleet of 80 vehicles, logging more than 25 million tire test miles per year, began token testing last November.

WEATHERFORD, Tex. (AP)—Arnold B. Kock, 40, a dairy inspector, was killed Tuesday night near Weatherford when his car ran off Farm Road 51, careened down a steep grade and crashed into a ditch.

Embarrassed But Alarm Still Rings

EASTON, Conn. (AP)—Mrs. Walter R. Whitman was embarrassed when the burglar alarm went off as she opened her front door to a caller.

Mrs. Whitman, who had set the alarm because she was alone, hastily turned it off. Then the well-dressed, clean-cut visitor, who had introduced himself as an insurance salesman, pulled a gun, police said.

Mrs. Whitman slammed the door, ran back and turned the alarm on again. The caller fled.

10-Year-Old Chicago Girl Soon To Become Mother

CHICAGO (AP)—Doctors have confirmed that a 10-year-old girl, described by her fourth-grade teacher as "quiet, timid and small," will become a mother in about two weeks.

The child was placed in care of a foster family at the age of 3, following her mother's death. Police said she named a 16-year-old boy, a member of the foster family, as the father-to-be. All are Negroes.

The physician who confirmed teachers' suspicions said the girl's pregnancy "is so innocent that motherhood is incomprehensible." He added:

"When I told her she is going to have a baby, she asked, 'A real one?' She's up there (in her room) cutting out paper dolls. She cries a lot. She wonders what's going to happen to her and her baby."

The doctor said Catholic charities will take care of the girl after the baby's birth.

The youngest girl to have given birth to a baby who survived was a 5-year-old in Peru in 1939. The baby was born by Caesarean section.

U.N. Appoints Israel Official

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Despite outspoken opposition from Algeria and Iraq, Israel's Abba Eban was named to a U.N. advisory committee.

Eban became one of 18 members of a committee to advise the Economic and Social Council on the application of science and technology to development.

Contractors To Meet Here

General contractors from a large area of West Texas will convene at Big Spring's Holiday Inn Friday, according to B. T. Faulkner, director of the West Texas Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America.

The meeting, originally scheduled for Tuesday, will get underway with a luncheon for the board of directors and committeemen. Following committee sessions and directors' meeting, a program will be presented by Herman A. Bennett, president of Bennett & Forbess, Inc., Brownwood, at 4 p.m.

Bennett will present a colored film on the construction of Brownwood's new municipal coliseum, which he recently built. He will be assisted in the presentation by Frank C. Dill, architect, of Houston, who designed the structure.

The evening dinner meeting of the AGC contractors will be highlighted with addresses from John W. Gary, vice president of the West Texas chapter of the American Institute of Architects and by the AGC chapter president, D. D. Shelburne, Snyder. A. J. King of King & King, Inc., Odessa, will be installed as chapter vice president replacing W. B. Warner, San Angelo, who recently discontinued operations as a general contractor.

Chapter members from Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Abilene, Midland, Brownwood, Snyder, Odessa and Big Spring are expected for the event.

Ackerly Stock Show Slated

LAMESA (SC) — The second annual Sands Community Livestock show at Ackerly kicks off the busy season for Dawson County youths Jan. 25. The Sands show is for FFA and 4-H boys and girls of the Ackerly-Knott area.

Beating most other area schools by more than a month, the Sands event has been assured with at least 105 animals slated to compete.

Other area shows include O'Donnell on Feb. 22, Klondike on Feb. 26, Welch on Feb. 29 and the Dawson County show at Lamesa March 5-7.

Johnny Grissom, Lamesa, will judge the Sands show. Fifteen steers, three heifers, 40 gilts, 32 barrows and 15 lambs will compete.

De Gaulle Gains

PARIS (AP) — A poll shows President Charles de Gaulle's popularity on the upswing.

The latest survey of the French Public Opinion Institute showed 56 per cent of the persons queried said they were "satisfied" with De Gaulle as against 51 per cent at the end of November.

Wheat Acreage Holdback Surprises U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's wheat farmers and their leaders are debating the question of why growers—in the absence of mandatory government controls—decided to hold down this year's acreage of winter wheat.

Compulsory controls were defeated by growers in a nationwide referendum last May. It was the first time in the history of crop controls that such an action was taken by wheat producers.

To the great surprise of many

Agriculture Department officials as well as some farm leaders, a recent government survey showed that winter wheat acreage sown last fall for harvest this year was up only 2 per cent over the 1963 plantings, which were under controls. Spring wheat growers are expected to increase their acreage very little, if any, more than the same percentage.

HELD IN LINE

Because the wheat acreage is being held in line with recent seedings, there is a possibility that production may not equal domestic and export needs—needs which are being expanded by unprecedented foreign demands, including those of the Soviet Union and Eastern European nations. However, any deficit in the crop could be filled from surplus.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, his wheat experts and a study committee of agricultural economists had warned farmers that if they rejected the controls the acreage planted to wheat most likely would be increased tremendously, thus adding more grain to the already substantial surplus.

OPEN MARKET

Estimates were that total wheat acreage would be 65 million to 70 million acres, compared with the 55 million level that had been in effect under controls. Officials predicted wheat would drop to $1 a bushel on the open market.

These predictions appear to be way off. The total 1964 wheat acreage — winter wheat and spring wheat — may not exceed 55 million.

Letters from growers and comments from farm leaders assign a number of reasons for the restraint employed by farmers. Some say fear of low wheat prices influenced them voluntarily to plant within their previous acreage allotments.

Others said they planted within allotments because of the so-called Anfsuo Amendment, sponsored several years ago by Rep. Victor L. Anfsuo, D-N.Y. This provision penalizes a grower for overplanting by reducing his future wheat allotments.

Freeman and his aides obviously had expected this amendment to have little restraining influence on wheat plantings.

DIRECTIONS

Some of said farmers are becoming market wise and "no longer see any need to depend on the government for directions on how much to plant."

Apparently those who were influenced by the Anfsuo Amendment were assuming that wheat controls will be resumed in the future. There would be no point in observing an allotment for 1964 if there were to be none in 1965 or subsequent years.

Congress has yet to make a decision on future wheat programs. The Johnson administration has made it clear it does not want to hold another referendum on the plan that was rejected last May.

Some wheat farmers reported that they had very little extra acreage that could be seeded to wheat. Others said they preferred to use their extra land for soybeans because of quite favorable prices for this crop.

Text Hearing Set For Lamesa

LAMESA (SC)—An open textbook hearing will be conducted at Lamesa High School from 9 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Feb. 1.

Representatives from the Lamesa school system, Klondike, Flower Grove, Ackerly, O'Donnell, Borden County, Seminole, Brownfield and other Dawson County schools have been invited to attend.

Sessions will be held on music, supplementary readers, arithmetic, Texas geography, U.S. geography, French, band teachers, typewriting, chemistry, economics, English, drafting, graphic arts.

4-H Clubbers Back From Show

Howard County 4-H clubbers did not fare well at the Abilene Livestock Show.

In the Hereford division, Sharon Harrison's second place in the middleweight class and the county's group three steers, which won a third place, represented the only showings of importance the youngsters accomplished.

The lamb exhibitors did not fare much better. Susan Elrod's mutton lamb won a second place ribbon and the Howard County entry of 15 lambs under one supervisor also scored second in that competition.

Belgian Attacks French Recognition

TOKYO (AP) — Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak said today French recognition of Communist China "constitutes a clear setback for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Spaak is a former secretary general of NATO, of which Belgium is a founding member.

A Devotional For The Day

Faith comes from what is heard, and what is heard comes by the preaching of Christ. (Romans 10:17.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we rejoice that though our mortal lives will end, Thy work will continue if we tell others the good news of Christ. Strengthen us, fill us with Thy power, and use us for Thy glory. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Anticipating, Adjusting To Change

There is a general supposition that automation produces unemployment. This is a premise that is too important to be accepted as a cliché; therefore it is deserving of examination and debate.

Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, has raised a question which deserves discussion.

"In concentrating our attention on automation, we are not forgetting the fact that this is only one facet of the great technological changes that are affecting job security — a relatively small facet at that? Do we recognize that it is, perhaps, only the symptom of change, and that the major change within itself?" he asked.

In many cases the cause of job loss is not so much that automation has edged someone from the production lines, but that the product or service is no longer needed. For instance, Mr. Blough said, the blacksmith was an unexcelled craftsman. No better or more economical means of fitting horseshoes has ever been found than a good blacksmith, yet the appearance of the pneumatic tire all but wiped him from the field of endeavor. Of the 100 largest corporations 50 years ago, only 29 are still among the top 100 today. Of the remaining 71, some have disappeared, some have merged with more successful companies, and others have shrunk in relation to demands for their particular goods and services.

But, he continued, there is a substantial time spread between the generation of an idea and its indoctrination into commercial channels, indeed its widespread commercial use.

Sometimes this interval may be as much as 50 years; rarely is it less than 10 to 15 years. That should be time for our society and our economic system to anticipate and adjust, he ventured, then added: "Only by keeping abreast of change... can any nation maintain its security in this competitive world; only by leading the race toward change can it increase its security and the well-being of all its people."

He suggested that the expansion of industrial training programs not only to acquire a competence but to develop a variety of competencies, plus the "ever-increasing enrollment of our young people in our colleges and universities will provide the best—perhaps the only—enduring solution to the problem of developing the new skills necessary to meet the new job opportunities..."

Mr. Blough may or may not be correct, but at least he has challenged us to creative thought.

'SURE YOU CAN'T SEND HIM TO THE MOON?'

Unemployed Transistors?

In a recent speech at the University of Michigan, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz described how machines now translate Pravda into English, play excellent games of checkers, good games of chess and hands of bridge, and added: "It is only a matter of time, surely, until some clanking robot will draw itself erect and announce: 'Cogito, ergo sum.' (I think, therefore I exist.)"

Everyone seems to be concerned about computers replacing man, but there is also the struggle for survival between computer and computer. A dispatch from Stockholm announces a battle of electronic brains. Two test computers rented by the Swedish government from competing companies will be tested under identical conditions. To the winner goes a $10 million state order for census and tax collection computer equipment.

The mind boggles at the implications of an era in which even new computers may be unemployable—outperformed and outdated before they come off the assembly line. Perhaps full employment for computers could be guaranteed if all were put on a shorter workweek. Society surely should be troubled at the prospect of these good transistor minds remaining idle when so much work is to be done.

Influence Of The Tax Bill

WASHINGTON—The tax bill which President Kennedy left behind him has already served one dramatic and unexpected purpose.

It was the cue which prompted President Johnson to make long overdue cuts in useless military expenses, and to begin a regime of frugality and prudence which hasn't been equaled in our time.

JOHNSON HAD the choice of seeing the tax bill hang up indefinitely in the Senate Finance Committee, or of making the retrenchments to placate Sen. Harry Byrd, the finance chairman. The President chose the path of parsimony, which is not exactly familiar to his high-stepping feet.

You might guess from this that the tax bill casts some unusual ray of influence upon politicians, making them do things that don't come quite naturally.

IT HAS caused President Johnson to depart, at least temporarily, from the practice of his Democratic predecessors, and to rely on the "private sector" of the economy for prosperity. Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Kennedy looked to the "public sector" for the distribution of wealth.

Having worked all these unusual things done for the producers of great wealth is usually done by trickery and hidden devices.

Yet, if Congress frankly had the well-being of the economy in mind, rather than some liberal ideology and doings, the tax bill now heads for the Senate floor where we might daringly hope for other wonders. Politicians, of course, know where the votes are, so that it's logical to presume that the multitudes in the lower income brackets will get more sympathy than the wealthy men and corporations that pay the high tax rates.

THE CONSUMER, the wage-earner and the small businessman ordinarily bear words of endearment in such debates as the one now pending, whereas the investor, the big profit-maker and the industrial magnate are treated as if they were wearers of the bar sinister at a family reunion. Any-

Budget Reaction Usually Follows Party Lines

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, like his predecessors, has to juggle the usual and the unexpected, which is all right except when the unexpected hits him, as it did Johnson. But even the usual can look brand new, unless you have a lively memory. For instance, when a president trots his budget message into the congressional stadium.

It's like an Army-Navy game—cheers and jeers—except that Democrats and Republicans don't don blue or gray. They just stay dressed in their old party attitudes, as they did this week when Johnson sent them his budget.

MOST DEMOCRATS found it delightful. Republicans looked for holes in the budgetary line.

It's like that when a Democrat is president. It's like that when a Republican is president. But then Democrats and Republicans swap sides.

Since this has been going on for years and Johnson was in Congress 23 years, he could hardly have been dumbfounded by the reaction and may even have been happy the Republicans didn't say more.

There will be much of the same as he continues to send Congress messages.

THE REAL domestic fight, therefore, will get worse and, since 1964 is an election year, it should get noisier.

President John F. Kennedy went through the same routine in his first year in office, and the years that followed. It's not the domestic stuff that makes an old man of a president, it's the foreign stuff.

That's where a president gets clouted with the unexpected but Kennedy got a better break than Johnson, starting out.

Kennedy's first big foreign trouble was when he backed the disastrous rebel invasion of Cuba—but he had already been in office three months before that happened.

BUT HERE was Johnson, in office less than two months, up to his nose in getting his messages together for Congress, when the Panamanians blew their lid.

Johnson had already tried to overhaul the American machinery for dealing with Latin America when the riots in Panama began. It was an unhappy beginning.

Just about the time he got the Panamanians cooled off a bit, French President Charles de Gaulle let it be known that France was going to recognize Red China, which the White House promptly told him it hoped he wouldn't.

DE GAULLE appears to have a compulsion to disturb the peace of American presidents. He was a repeated problem to Kennedy. Since he doesn't seem to be a man to play favorites, he started on Johnson in a hurry.

When he came over here in November for Kennedy's funeral, he had a long talk with Johnson. But even this got muddled up for out of it came the first mixup with the Frenchman.

Maybe Johnson was hard of hearing or maybe De Gaulle was. But the result was confusion.

HAD JOHNSON understood De Gaulle to say he would come back for another visit? Or had the Frenchman understood Johnson to say he would go to France to see De Gaulle? The question is still unanswered.

French recognition of Red China isn't just a careless caper. What damage it may do to this country's position in Southeast Asia, and elsewhere, could well haunt Johnson for the rest of his presidency.

This is just the beginning of Johnson's foreign dilemmas. He is used to dealing with members of Congress but not with making America's foreign policy decisions.

And, besides, who ever got used to dealing with De Gaulle?

Top Pianists Draw Top Pay

NEW YORK (AP) — A top concert pianist gets from $500 to $6,000 an appearance.

There are perhaps some 25 of these keyboard artists in the nation. One of the best is John Browning, 30, a slender and handsome bachelor, who started picking out tunes at the age of 3 and started taking lessons at 5.

He made his first debut at 10, but didn't become a professional in public until he had reached the ripe age of 20.

"Both my parents are musicians, and they didn't want to rush me too fast," Browning explained. "The child prodigy bit can be dangerous."

"THE PUBLIC sometimes gets tired of hearing him, and decides he doesn't sound so impressive after he grows up. Also, the artist himself can get bored if he starts too soon. By 50 he's tired of the business," he said.

Browning, who comes from Denver, Colo., and Los Angeles, became an international musical figure in 1956 when he won the gold medal award in Brussels. Since then he has performed with most of the great orchestras here and in Europe.

"It's a highly competitive field," he said. "This seems to be an age of pianists, and talent at present seems to come mostly from the United States and Russia, rather than Western Europe.

"MEN OUTNUMBER women about 10-1. Women either get married or weary of a concert artist's life. It can be rough."

The chief ordeal is the constant travel. "Another problem is the shortage of porters at rail terminals," he said. "If I have to carry my own luggage — it weighs about 60 pounds — it pulls my arm muscles the wrong way, and I'm afraid it could affect my performance."

Browning now solves this by wiring ahead for a messenger to meet him at the station.

OTHER WOES of the concert artist's life: Poor acoustics, bad pianos, the social receptions that inevitably follow a concert. "And, above all, the constant need of keeping up your standard, to keep yourself up to play your best no matter how you feel physically."

He spends anywhere from up to 14 hours a day at the piano, has committed to memory 30 concertos and more than 10 hours of solo music. This means he could play about 40 hours continuously without repeating a work.

Browning would seem a highly eligible Leap Year candidate for marriage, but says he is kept so busy that he hasn't yet been able to find the right girl.

Aura Are Migraine Headache Warnings

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: I have never seen a letter from a migraine sufferer who complained of the "warnings" such as zig-zag lights in the vision, or blind spots, or numbness in one hand or the mouth, or inability to think, or severe depression. These are all very frightening. Are these sensations uncommon? —MRS. W. H.

No, they are not uncommon at all. They are called aura. They may appear in any combination, and may be quite different. Each person will, however, keep his own aura or "warning signs." You will find these warnings discussed in my booklet "How to Tame Headaches."

Taking the proper medication (usually ergotamine tartrate in combination with other drugs) when the warnings first appear will ease or even prevent the impending migraine headache.

Yet after the "headache" itself has started and the "sick headache" phase (i.e., vomiting) has occurred, it is too late to expect this medication to help. You then have to let the migraine run its miserable course.

In your case, apparently, the warnings are extremely unpleasant in themselves. I know of no medication which will prevent the warnings from occurring. But I do suggest that you start keeping a "headache diary," similar to the diaries which are often so helpful to people with food allergies.

Invest a dime in a small notebook, and keep a record of the date of each migraine, along with any other facts that may be pertinent. There are many things which can trigger migraines. It may be food, excessive fatigue, menstruation, anger, or (quite common) a feeling of pressure because you have a great many things to do and it bothers you because you can't get all of them done as perfectly as you wish.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Let The Audience Call The Tune

In the recent announcements concerning the doubtful return of many television shows next year, there are few that will be mourned. It's unfortunate that there is not a more rapid method of determining the good from the bad, such as exists on Broadway. Stage productions get the answer much more quickly; if the box office lags, the doors are closed.

THERE ARE THOSE who decry this method of determining how long a stage production will keep the doors open. They urge a national subsidy to keep the players walking the boards, apparently to empty seats. For though the television sponsor has no absolute way of knowing what its audience is, the playhouse has no such excuse. It's easy to count the house.

The box office is the best place to finance a stage production—the best place to find out whether anyone cares about seeing it. Obviously, if folks plunk down hard-earned cash for a seat, they feel (or have been advised) that the play is worthy of production. A good play will make money enough to pay for itself and yield a profit, and a poor one is heaved out the stage-doors. Why should the taxpayer add to his burden to keep a play in production that no one wants to see?

THE PROBLEM for television is not quite so simple as for the theatre people. It has a mass audience with an insatiable appetite for entertainment 18 hours a day. Keeping variety and good programs on such a vast scale would appear an unsurmountable problem. Most of the concern, however, is telescoped between 6-10 p.m., which still represents a problem.

So far, there appears to be no certain method of measuring the audience. Sampling methods that satisfy the sponsors who pay the bill, at times seem ludicrous when a really good show is bumped in favor of something maudlin.

SOONER OR LATER, I suspect the major networks will get around to staging their own programs, keeping the sponsor's hand or dictation out of it. When that day comes, I believe the calibre of television entertainment will invariably rise. For then, the network can cater to the tastes and needs of the audience rather than a sponsor, and the former is certain to be on a higher level.

As previously stated, it is the audience who makes the final decision on stage productions. Only the best entertainment survives this rigid test. When the television productions get a similar acid test, the best will survive and improve the fare of the total media, such as has been done on Broadway.

IN THE LIST of current shows falling by the wayside, there is little doubt that some of them could not have lasted nearly so long under an "audience demand" system. Others might stay indefinitely if the television audience stands up to be counted. —V. GLENN COOTES

Johnson-Kennedy Styles Contrast

WASHINGTON — A new wrinkle in the art of publicity: How to scoop yourself, yet wind up with two scoops of ice cream. This is how it's done:

The President of the United States prepares a message to Congress called "The Economic Report of the President." The President's Council of Economic Advisors, headed by Walter W. Heller, holds a preliminary press conference, on Saturday, Jan. 18, in the Fish Room of the White House. Everything said is under wraps until after the President's message is delivered to Congress at 12 noon, Monday, the 20th.

HOWEVER, just before the oral give-and-take, a White House assistant hands out a dittoed memorandum. It is headed: "Background Information on the President's Message for Use in Sunday papers." It tells that the Gross National Product achieved an annual level of $600 billion in the fourth quarter of '63, that even though we're breaking records, the President doesn't think that's good enough, and that the President will present his thinking on poverty in his message to Congress.

Newspapermen were astounded. Background conferences usually are designed to prepare newspapermen for a complex message so that they'll be able to interpret it better. This is done annually with the Budget Message. But here was an official preview of an official message.

AND WHAT did President Johnson achieve by this? First, he got a preliminary statement on the Economic Report in the Sunday newspapers. Generally on front pages. Scoop No. 1.

Then, because the statistics — the records broken — were now old news, he got the innards of the message in Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning newspapers — with emphasis on the sections dealing with goals and poverty. Scoop No. 2.

THE CONTRASTS in the style of President Johnson and President Kennedy show up in the Economic Message. Johnson's prose is staccato, decisive, positive and demanding. Example:

"The $11 billion tax cut will challenge American businessmen, investors, and consumers to put their enlarged incomes to work in the private economy to expand output, investment and jobs. I am confident that our private decision makers will rise to this challenge." Not only does the President insist that taxes be cut, but he instructs how the cut is to be used: Don't save, spend.

FOR JOHNSON, words are a means to an end, not an end in themselves. In contrast, President Kennedy was a prose poet — for me, the most literate of 20th-century Presidents, even including Woodrow Wilson.

Did he, perhaps, fulfil himself when he verbalized his hopes and fears, his will to improve the lot of men, his hatred of prejudice and poverty? Was, for him, the statement of ideals enough?

Johnson will fulfil himself by getting things done, not getting them said just right. Or he'll know the reason why. Let the man who bars his way recognize whom and what he's taking on!

Panama Needs To Negotiate

WASHINGTON—When you start to turn the clock back, how far back do you go?

This is a question that the government of Panama must well examine. When it insists that the existing treaty, signed in 1903, granting the United States rights "in perpetuity" to the Canal Zone be revised because the Republic of Panama wants to regain its "moral and legal rights," the point can be raised as to whether the government of Colombia doesn't also have to be consulted.

SINCE THE Panamanian government now has chosen to break off diplomatic relations with the United States, this means that the Washington government is no longer under obligation to recognize the sovereignty of Panama. It affords an opportunity for Colombia to put in its claim for the recovery of the Canal Zone, which it originally owned.

Few people may realize it, but not only the Canal Zone but all of Panama was once a part of Colombia. As far back as 1878, it granted a French company exclusive rights to construct a canal. But the French projects failed again and again. Finally, on Jan. 22, 1903, the United States concluded a treaty with Colombia which provided for the acquisition by the United States of the Canal Zone area. The Senate here ratified the treaty, but the Senate of Colombia rejected it.

THEN, NOT LONG afterwards—on November 3 of the same year—a revolution broke out in Colombia, and Panama declared itself independent. The United States government within 72 hours granted diplomatic recognition. On November 18, a treaty was signed with the new government, granting the United States "in perpetuity" the use of a zone five miles wide on either side of a future canal.

Colombia promptly revised its policy and pledged herself on November 30 to ratify the treaty it had earlier that same year rejected. But the United States declined. Colombia's grievance continued thereafter to cause ill feeling in Latin America, and in 1914 a treaty was signed by the United States granting $25 million compensation to Colombia, largely because of the work Colombia had already paid for on the canal. This treaty, however, was not ratified by the United States Senate and Colombian Congress until 1921.

THE HISTORY of Pan-American relations contains many a fuzzy chapter in connection with the creation of the Panama Republic itself. Strictly speaking, there are no treaties "in perpetuity" anywhere in the world. Nations may abrogate treaties if they wish, and Panama could tear up the existing treaty if it desired to do so. But Colombia could intervene, too, and could readily point to the fact that it originally owned Panama and would probably still be in possession of it if not for the sudden diplomatic recognition by the United States accompanied, as it was, by the presence of U.S. Navy gunboats at the scene.

NATURALLY, there are people in the Republic of Panama who want to get back the land now known as the Canal Zone, but to stir up ambitions inside Panama is also to stir up ambitions outside Panama. The Panamanian ambassador to the United States says his government wants to carry the issue to the United Nations because the existing 1903 treaty is not only "obsolete" but "repugnant to international law."

But all such arguments on the basis of international law do not take into account the realistic facts of today. Panama is too small a country to live in isolation and needs the friendship and economic support of the United States. Malcontents within Panama are stirring up trouble. This can only lead to a revival of ambitions in Colombia to re-acquire Panama.

TO GO TO the United Nations and to brush aside negotiations directly between the United States and Panama would be to offend the Washington government, which Panama, in the long run, cannot well afford to do. Those who have stirred up violence and trouble in the Canal Zone will not cease their efforts as long as they have the acquiescence or encouragement of the Panamanian government itself. The sooner the Republic of Panama gets down to quiet diplomatic negotiations with the United States, the quicker the whole problem will be resolved.

RUBEN G. JASSO DREAMS OF FOOTBALL
Frank McKee registers 25,000th hospital patient

Lamesa Boy Is Hospital's 25,000th

Eleven-year-old Ruben G. Jasso is counting on experience and success gained through work with 24,999 of his predecessors to enable him to attain his big ambition. Ruben wants to play football.

He's left it up to doctors and therapists at the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas to help him achieve that goal. And he started by marking an achievement for the hospital... being the 25,000th patient to be admitted since the hospital was founded in 1923 by pioneer Masons of the Dallas community.

Integration On Docket

HOUSTON (AP) — The 115th annual council of the Episcopal Diocese of Texas opens tonight with an address by the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines. Delegates will consider an integration resolution before the meeting ends Saturday.

A resolution calling for integration of all "institutions and congregations" in the Episcopal diocese of Texas will be presented.

For the first time in the history of the diocese, a Roman Catholic bishop will address a major council meeting.

AT LUNCHEON
The Most Rev. John L. Morokovsky, apostolic administrator and coadjutor bishop of the Galveston-Houston Catholic diocese, will discuss the Vatican Council at a luncheon Friday.

The integration resolution, to be presented by the department of Christian social relations of the diocese, will call on Episcopalians "by act as well as word" to seek elimination of all race, color and creed discrimination in the world and "support civil rights legislation that reasonably and effectively administers social justice."

Delegates to the 114th annual session in Galveston last year by a narrow vote gave trustees of St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital here until Jan. 1, 1966 to integrate.

PRAYING-IN
A "praying-in" campaign however, by Episcopal clergy caused trustees to integrate within a few months.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas H. Wright, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of East Carolina, will speak at a banquet Friday night Bishop Wright is chairman of the overseas department of the National Council of the Episcopal Church.

Delegate approval will be asked on an $817,983 budget, which is $37,000 more than the 1963 adopted budget. This will include $682,593 for the missionary or executive board budget; and $185,030 for the diocesan (assessment) budget.

14-Year-Old Testifies About Working In Prostitute Ring

SAN FRANCISCO DEL RIO, Mexico (AP)—Maria Mejia, 14, dropped her eyes and said quietly:

"Every night I cried and prayed my mother would find me, but I was afraid she never would."

Maria sat in the police station of this small town in Central Mexico with 11 other girls whom officers said they rescued from a prostitution ring.

At least 17 other girls weren't so lucky. Bodies of some, and charred bones of others have been found in the surrounding area. Two matronly sisters who allegedly headed the ring are accused of having killed them during disciplinary beatings.

Maria has a look of young innocence, she said she was lured from her home in Guadalupe and into the ring's control by a promise of a job as a servant.

"Afterwards, they laughed and asked me how much I had charged him, and then made fun of me when I didn't know what they were talking about."

During a year in the ring's control, Maria said, she was taken from one place to another, beaten frequently and watched constantly.

The investigation was set off by Maria's mother and two other women whose daughters had disappeared.

The women went to Leon, the nearest city to this place, after hearing their daughters had been seen in houses operated by the Gonzalez Valenzuela sisters, Maria de Jesus, 39, and Delfina, 36.

The sisters now face five charges of homicide and other counts and ten other accused members of the ring are charged as being accomplices.

Family Flees East Germany

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—A family of four made it to West Germany by crossing the frozen Upper Elbe River on the border with East Germany, customs officials said Wednesday.

The Tuesday night escape took place under cover of thick fog. The family brought some possessions across in a sled and a hand cart.

The bidding:

Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

By a logical process of reasoning, West hit upon the only opening lead to defeat declarer's three no trump contract in today's hand.

East opened the bidding with one diamond and South overcalled one no trump. With the vulnerability conditions not in his favor, he felt that there was little to gain by making a trap pass. Since his distribution was concentrated in the minor suits, he preferred a bid of one no trump to a take-out double.

North felt that he had enough — nine high card points and a good five card suit — to place his partner in a game contract. With nine cards in the major suits, he preferred to probe for a suit contract first by cue bidding the opponent's suit — diamonds. This call is forcing to game and invites partner to show any additional features that he might have. South, of course, rebid two no trump. North considered bidding his five card heart suit at this point but, inasmuch as his partner appeared to have the diamonds well under control, he decided to try the shorter route to game by carrying on to three no trump.

West was aware that his selection of an opening lead might prove crucial, so he paused for a close scrutiny of the situation. There did not appear to be much future in his partner's suit, for South was obviously well heeled in that department.

North's diamond cue bid seemed to indicate that his strength was located in the majors, and West was disinclined to lead either a spade or a heart in any case since he had no way to regain the lead even if he had the good fortune to establish one of his suits.

West decided that his best chance was to make a play for his partner, and he opened the queen of clubs despite the fact that he had a singleton in that suit. East was so pleased with his partner's selection that he decided to leave nothing to chance. He overtook the queen with his ace and continued with the jack. South was in with the king and he realized that, with only eight top tricks available, he must try to split the heart suit. When this failed to come off, declarer fell one trick short.

Observe that, in the absence of a club opening, South has time to establish a diamond for his ninth trick.
