CAMERAS PRIMED FOR CLOSEUPS

Ranger Spacecraft Set For Crash On Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. spacecraft Ranger 6 streaked toward doom Saturday with a cargo of cameras that could solve ages-old mysteries before they crash on the moon early Sunday.

At 1 p.m. the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the 804-pound vehicle would be 211,276 miles from the earth and 35,010 miles from the moon, speeding at 2,361 miles an hour.

It was expected to crash at 1:24 a.m. Sunday in the moon's Sea of Tranquility, a broad flat basin some 400 miles to the right of dead center of the shining disk.

This dry "sea" is being studied as a landing site for manned Apollo moonshots later in this decade.

A spokesman for the laboratory, which is controlling Ranger 6 during its 66-hour voyage, said all systems are in a "rig" condition.

As the spacecraft streaks nearer the moon, the pull of lunar gravity will increase its speed to almost 6,000 miles an hour at impact.

300 SHOTS A MINUTE Ten minutes before the crash, at an altitude of about 900 miles, six small television cameras will begin clicking at a rate of 300 shots a minute.

If everything works, U.S. scientists will have the first closeup photographs of the moon. The pictures could disclose whether the surface is rough or smooth, made of lava that could wreck a spaceship, or composed of layers of dust that could engulf an entire expedition.

Two earlier vehicles landed on the moon—Russia's Lunik 2 and this country's Ranger 4—but neither sent back any significant information.

Laboratory officials said Ranger 6 was designed to take pictures down to a few hundred feet above the lunar surface, a fraction of a second before the impact.

Astronomers said the crash would not be visible to the naked eye but that with luck some telescopes might pick up either a flash of light or a huge dust cloud.

Ranger's cameras were made to convert what they see into video signals which its transmitters will send to two big dish-shaped antennae at the Goldstone tracking station on the Mojave Desert north of Barstow, Calif. There the signals will be recorded on film and tape.

Officials said it will be 18 to 48 hours before the processing is completed and pictures released to news media.

Plans called for this to happen in the final 10-minute plunge:

WIDE-ANGLE CAMERAS

Two wide-angle cameras were to snap a picture every 2.56 seconds, or about 117 pictures each. With the spacecraft going about 5,200 miles an hour, this would mean a picture every 4.4 miles during the descent.

Four narrow-angle cameras were to take 714 pictures each, or one every .34 miles at intervals of .2 second.

The first pictures taken by the wide-angle cameras were to show areas of 151,000 and 16,800 square miles. First pictures of the narrow-angle cameras were to show areas of 9,400 and 1,050 square miles.

The best pictures were to be taken a few seconds before impact.

FBI Relates Rifle's Link To Beckwith

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — An FBI ballistic expert forged another link Saturday in the state's chain of evidence trying to tie Byron De La Beckwith to a rifle found in bushes overlooking the slain Medgar W. Evers.

Richard Poppleton of the FBI laboratory in Washington testified the rifle picked up by police after the slaying was the same as an earlier witness said he had traded to Beckwith.

Poppleton said, however, he couldn't positively trace the mangled death bullet to the rifle.

WORLD WAR I

The rifle is a 30.06 Enfield of World War I vintage.

Beckwith, 43, a fertilizer salesman and Citizens Council member from Greerwood, faces possible death in the gas chamber for the ambush shooting of the Negro civil rights leader last summer. The verdict will rest with a jury of 12 white men.

Squirming and frowning, occasionally jotting notes in a black ringbinder, the slender Beckwith listened to the testimony as his trial neared the end of the first week.

NO QUICK SMILE

He offered no more the quick smile and the ready wave he displayed to spectators during the four days of jury selection.

Beckwith's wife, a brunette with flecks of gray in her hair, sat on the front row of the spectator's section, a few feet from him.

Only a fraction of the courtroom's 300 seats were taken. Most of the spectators were Negroes. Officers continued to search everyone who entered.

Dist. Atty. William L. Waller started trying to prove Beckwith owned the rifle with a witness, Ennis Thornton McIntyre, testifying Friday he had swapped a 30.06 Enfield to Beckwith.

McIntyre, 26, manager of a cotton plantation near Greenwood, said he believed the rifle he traded to Beckwith was the same rifle police found the day after the Evers slaying.

HCJC Roster Near Record

Registration for the spring semester at Howard County Junior College is pointing toward a record for the mid-winter spot.

Saturday morning there were 683 signed for credit courses, Registrar B. M. Keese said. Students have all this week to start their classes, but Keese urged them to sign as soon as possible in order to miss a minimum of class work.

He predicted that the final enrollment would be in excess of 700. While this will be down from the peak enrollment of the autumn, this is normal. Keese said prospects were good that the final figures would set a record for spring semester enrollment at the college. Registration began only last Wednesday.

Spelling Bee Booklets

Copies of the official "Words of Champions" spelling book and the rules for the Second Annual Howard County Spelling Bee are now available at the office of the Daily Herald.

All boys and girls who plan to enter the Bee should have a copy of the practice book and the official rules. The price is just 15 cents.

Dale White Last To Pay Poll Tax

Dale White, 1963 Gregg, was the final Howard County voter to be issued a poll tax Friday night. His payment was made in the office of Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, at 11:55 p.m. — just five minutes before the deadline for payment of such taxes.

Just ahead of him in line were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Cudd, 1305 State.

These three were the last of an army of belated voters who kept deputies in the office on the go from 5 p.m. Friday until the clock struck midnight.

County Poll Receipts Swell To Record High

A steady throng of electors, eager to qualify to vote in all 1964 elections, crowded the office of the tax assessor-collector until midnight Friday and when the day's work had been labored, current poll tax payments and exemption certificates had scored an all-time high for this county.

At noon Saturday, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor and collector, said that there had been 8,992 poll tax receipts and 1,957 exemption certificates written for the current period. This totals 10,949. Yet to be processed, Mrs. LeFevre said, are perhaps 300 applications received by mail Thursday and Friday. It was evident that the total for 1963 poll tax payments would be greater than the previous all time high of 11,010. This was the total for the year 1959, for the election year 1960.

The astonishing total scored this time, Mrs. LeFevre observed, was all the more remarkable in view of the widespread confusion which hovered over poll tax payments. Last November, the electors were called upon to say if they wanted to abolish a provision of the

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Rain at last came to the area, and while it wasn't in the drouth - breaker category, it helped the farmers and especially ranchers. In setting dust and washing off things in general, it helped our morale considerably. The fall ranged from an inch in the northeast part of Howard County to half an inch in the south half.

Our paper received a letter addressed to Classified Aid, and this wasn't exactly an error in spelling. The writer was telling about a family whose head had been called to a distant state due to a death. The wife and children (four of them — the eldest, 4—and another on the way) are hard up for food, according to our source. Anyone wanting information can call the city desk.

In today's issue you will find announcement of a new apartment center (Kentwood) costing upwards of $300,000, an operation which will boost the building tempo. Another sizeable building job is in the offing, and may be announced within a week or so.

Voters responded fairly well in the homestretch and it appears as if Howard County will have a representative voting potential for local and state elections. With the deadline for filing coming up Monday, there was a rash of candidates. Even so, it appears that ballot as (See THE WEEK, P. 8-A, Col. 6)

France Move 'Not In Best Interests' — LBJ

Stepping Up In Viet Nam War Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today he does not agree with French President Charles de Gaulle's proposals for a Southeast Asia settlement. Johnson branded them as "not in the interests of freedom."

Johnson, at his first announced-in-advance news conference, said he might look with sympathy on proposals to neutralize all of Viet Nam.

But he added that, he believes De Gaulle's neutralization suggestions would apply only to South Viet Nam where American military men are heavily committed in a war against Communist guerrillas.

The President said he has received assurances that the junta that seized power in Saigon Wednesday will step up the anti-Communist Vietnamese war.

In other areas, Johnson told newsmen who gathered in the cramped White House theatre:

SHRIVER POST

—Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver will take on additional duties as a special presidential assistant to co-ordinate Johnson's proposed "war on poverty."

The President had high praise for Shriver, who has been mentioned as his possible choice as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee in November.

—He would not comment on two questions about the Senate investigation of Johnson's erstwhile protegee, Robert G. (Bobby) Baker. The President said he had already spoken "with candor and frankness" on this subject.

—He does not expect that the civil rights bill now being debated in the House will have to be trimmed back in order to win enactment. But he said he does expect a Senate filibuster on the subject.

—The President began his conference by reading a lengthy statement in which he argued that the nation's determination to seek peace and freedom had been "demonstrated anew in eight different situations" in the past week.

STEP UP WAR

These ranged from the continuing effort to restore relations with Panama to the "new assurances" that the South Viet Nam junta will step up the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

Johnson minced no words in replying to a question about his attitude toward De Gaulle's ideas for promoting stability in Southeast Asia.

Sprinkled Johnson Name Freely, Witness Admits

WASHINGTON (AP)—A cookware manufacturer has told investigating senators he sprinkled President Johnson's name into letters he sent a television station owned by the Johnson family.

But the manufacturer, Albert C. Young, Silver Spring, Md., said he did so without Johnson's authority and, in fact, had never spoken with Johnson, then Democratic leader of the Senate.

The references to Johnson, Young told the Senate Rules Committee in testimony released Saturday, was just "to use the weight of Sen. Johnson's name at the station."

The committee is investigating the financial manipulations of Robert G. Baker, a former Johnson protegee who resigned Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority. The object of the probe is to determine if Baker's deals posed a conflict of interest.

Young testified Friday he dropped Johnson's name into the correspondence at the urging of Don B. Reynolds, an associate of Baker's who had written $100,000 in insurance policies on Johnson's life.

Reynolds has told the committee that after writing the policies he agreed to buy $1,200 worth of advertising time on the Austin station at the request of Walter Jenkins, a long-time aide to Johnson.

Reynolds said he had no use for the time and arranged for Young to use it to advertise the pots and pans made by his Mid-Atlantic Stainless Steel Co.

In a sworn statement to the Rules Committee, Jenkins has denied knowledge of any arrangements by which Reynolds purchased the advertising time.

In his account to the committee, Young said Reynolds "likes to brag a bit" and is inclined, as a salesman, to exaggerate.

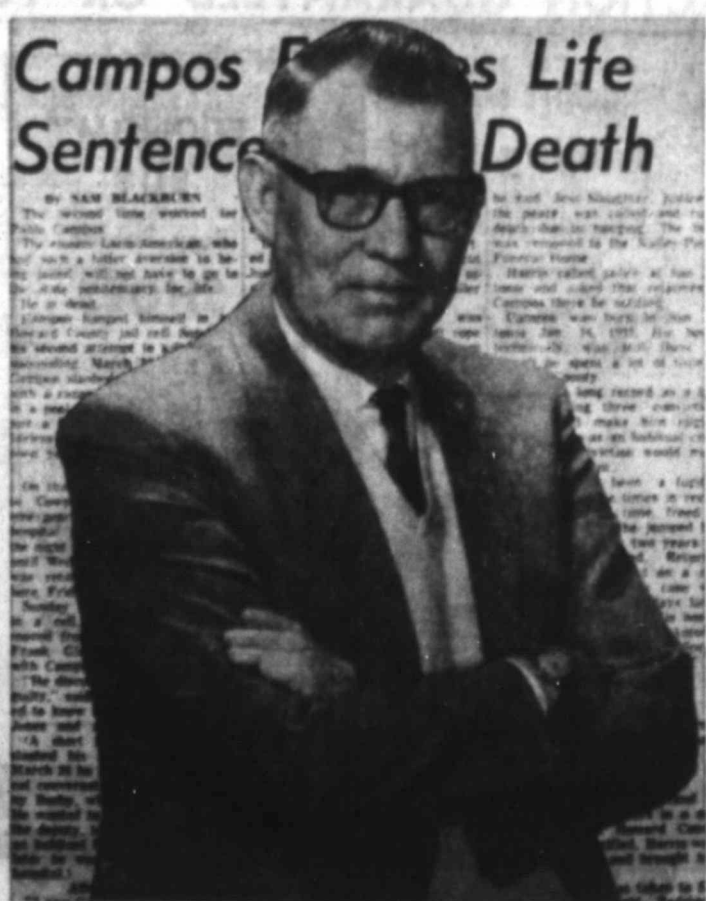

Young testified Friday he

Midnight Monday Is Filing Deadline

Candidates for county, state or district offices who want their names on the ballot for the May 2 primary election have until midnight Monday to file their candidacies.

Candidates may obtain an official form from the county clerk or from the county chairman. This form, properly filled out and sworn to before a notary public, must be in the hands of the county Democratic or Republican chairman (depending on the party of the candidate) by midnight Monday.

Frank Hardesty, county Democratic chairman, said he would remain available Monday night until deadline for the benefit of any late filing candidates. However, he warned that he is not a notary public and that for him to accept an application for a place on the ballot, the application must be notarized.

"Anyone who wants to file," said Hardesty, "can get one of the forms from me. Then it's up to him to fill it out properly and have it notarized. When he has this completed, he can bring it to me at my home—633 Manor Street—and I will accept it."

However, it was added that the application must be accompanied by an advance of $50 toward election assessment costs.

Ralph Gossett, Republican county chairman, said he would be available to accept applications for places on the Republican ticket until midnight Monday.

"I will be at home," he said, "545 Hillside. I have the necessary forms the candidate will need."

Like Hardesty, he admonished any contenders to provide their own notary for the applications and added that each filing must be accompanied by a payment of $50.

Gossett said that because two local Republican candidates are in the race this year, his party will have to have voting boxes for the primary elections in each of the county's 16 voting precincts.

"Since the law specifies that these voting places must not be closer than 200 feet of the voting places for the Democrats," Gossett said, "we will have to arrange for places in each precinct. We will not be able to use the same locations the Democrats use."

He said that his list of GOP candidates includes Harold Hall, running for county commissioner, Precinct 3, and Mike Moore, sheriff.

This is the first time in history the Republicans have had candidates for county offices in the field. If no other Republicans file, their nomination is assured. In the November general election, the Republicans will be matched against the Democrat who has won the nomination as sheriff and as county commissioner, Precinct 3. Gossett said the only other filing on his records is that of Joe Phillips, Lubbock, who is opposing George Mahon, Democrat, for Congress. However, the Republican chairman said there would be Republican candidates on the ballot for state offices and in one or two races, notably that for U. S. senator, there are contests for the GOP nomination.

On Feb. 10, the two party executive committees will meet and figure out the per candidate assessment for election costs. Candidates will be notified by the chairman Feb. 11 of the amount and must have their checks for the specified amounts in the hands of the chairmen (the $50 advance fee will be deducted from the total sum) by Feb. 15. Any candidate who fails to get his assessment payment in the hands of the committee chairman by that date forfeits his place on the ballot.

WING TORN OFF

AF Studies Remains Of Downed Jet Plane

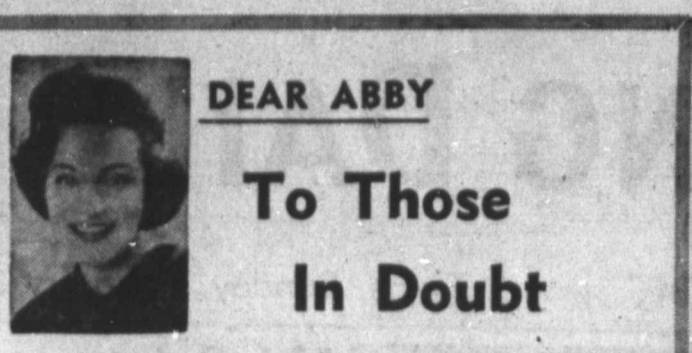

BERLIN (AP)—Fire-scarred remains of a jet training plane that carried three American officers to their deaths under Soviet fire were trucked into West Berlin Saturday for study by U.S. Air Force investigators.

The largest fragments of the unarmed twin-engine T39 trainer were its sweptback wings. One had been torn away in the air over Communist East Germany during the shooting Tuesday.

Using two trucks, a six-man U.S. Air Force team transported the wreckage in from the crash site near the village of Vogelsberg, about 60 miles inside East Germany and 125 miles southwest of Berlin.

Investigators probed the debris for information that might shed light on why the plane, which cruised at 500 miles an hour, strayed across the Iron Curtain on its flight above the clouds.

Instrument failure was one suggestion in speculation as to why the plane drifted over East Germany.

MY DEAR REVEREND: The item in question was sent to me by a Chicago reader, crediting the Houston Police Department with authorship. Believing that people are honest until proved otherwise, I ran it verbatim, including the credit. My primary purpose in using the item was to share it with my readers, not to applaud the author. I have since heard from 22 readers, each ascribing authorship of "The Rules" to a different source. New Car Plates Available Monday

Shiny new 1964 car plates for Howard County motor vehicles go on sale Monday at 8 a.m. in the office of Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector.

The first plates to be offered will bear the prefix DK, according to Mrs. Helen Stanley, chief deputy. Technically, the initial tag to be sold will be DK 10 but actually this plate has been reserved.

Motorists have until April 1 to buy their car plates and attach them to their vehicles.

SAME COST

The fees this year are unchanged from 1963. The plates are in reverse colors — white lettering and numerals on a black background.

There is no need to fear the office will run out of plates. The State Highway Department has delivered 16,714 passenger car plates, 3,910 truck tags and assorted other plates to bring the total number of plates on hand to 23,613.

The county has two main prefixes—DK and DH.

Mrs. LeFevre pointed out that it is not necessary to come to the tax office to get plates. As in the past, there will be agents set up at six places in the city. Eason's Garage, on West 4th, is a new sub-station established for this tag season.

Other places where tags can be obtained are the four Lewis Five and Ten Stores and the Newsom Food Store on South Gregg.

Nine Scouts Earn Awards In Forsan

FORSAN — Nine Cub Scouts received awards during a Pack meeting held at the Forsan Scout Clubhouse Thursday, according to Cubmaster Don Murphy, who was in charge of the program.

Wolf Badges went to Dennis Day and Duanne Robinson. Blake Patton earned a Bear Badge. Receiving arrow points were Robinson, Lyndel Fletcher, Ralph Hammack, Rodney Hammack, Tommy Rodman, Mike Murphy and Daryl Richardson.

Den 1 opened the meeting with ceremonies and Den 2 brought the skit. Theme for it was floods, tornados, fallout shelters and first aid.

AN ADMISSION

My pastor friend says, "In our congregation we not only use un-augmented instrumental music in worship, but we use something else that has no Scriptural authorization... we use hymns!"

(Jno. 17:17). We must have Bible authority for our worship. Un-Scriptural worship is vain. "But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men" (Matt. 15:9).

Next: "Hymnals are Scriptural." (Jno. 4:24). "In spirit" refers to the right attitude of heart. "In truth" refers to following the word of God when we worship, for as Jesus said to the Father, "Thy word is truth" (Jno. 17:17).

John Cherry Files For Pct. 3 Post

John V. Cherry, a resident of Howard County 28 years, has announced as a candidate for county commissioner, Precinct 3, subject to action of the Democratic primary.

Mr. Cherry, a farmer and lumber yard operator, declared himself a staunch advocate of the county unit system which is now employed in this county. He also asserted that he heartily believes the county needs to employ a competent full time engineer. He also wants to see the present permanent road program continued and broadened. If elected as commissioner, he pledged himself to work to accomplish these ends.

Cherry is married and lives with his wife Mildred, and 5 1/2-year-old daughter, Mary John, at 417 Edwards Blvd. He and Mrs. Cherry were married 28 years ago, just shortly before he moved from Wellington to Big Spring.

Mrs. Cherry has been employed 16 years with the State National Bank.

Cherry operates the Lumber Bin at 211 N. Gregg, which he has owned since 1950. He also farms. He said he is intimately familiar with the county and its problems, and is a strong advocate of economy in government and will insist on efficiency and thrift if elected to the county court of commissioners.

He and his family attend the Methodist church. He is a veteran of World War II and served overseas with the 78th Division (Infantry).

"I intend to make a vigorous campaign," said Mr. Cherry. "I will do my best to see every resident of Commissioner's Precinct 3. I earnestly solicit your support in the forthcoming primary.

"If you honor me with your vote and I am selected as your county commissioner, I pledge you that I will perform the duties of that important office in a manner which make for a better county. I ask your serious consideration for this important office."

Reader Interprets Bible In Light Of World Events

To the Editor:
In these days I find in Revelation, 13th chapter, something to be greatly concerned about. It is a picture of the last days before the coming of Christ. He gave us the names of three beasts in this chapter and he gave the name of the other beast in the fourth chapter. In chapter 19, he calls out the number of the four beasts.

God gave the first beast power over all the saints. Chapter 16 gives us the picture... (where) is the first beast, but we are west of the River Euphrates and that leaves us out. We are the young nation... the 666. Haven't we fulfilled (the) Scripture; didn't we have the power to make fire come down from heaven and singe men... All the saints will be killed by the first beast from the east... we could not buy or sell, save he that had the mark or the name of the beast or the number of his name. Well my number is 428-07-8377. What is your number?

Let's go further and name these four beasts. Well, Russia is the Bear, England is the Lion and China is the Dragon... John said the fourth beast had wings and flew like an eagle; it must be the U.S. In World War II we went over the 60,000 mark in planes and steadily increased. We did fly like an eagle. The eagle is on our quarters and on top of our capitol.

You see what I mean. Then since 1942, see just how far the nose has been tightened around us. It is really at the back door today. What can we do, you say? One thing we all can do is repent and come to Christ in faith. We as a nation must take God's word and preach the beast with feet like a bear. Can't

Nurse Warns Of Hepatitis

Keep hands washed frequently with soap and water, and observe good health habits, Ethel Sherrill, Big Spring - Howard County Health Nurse, advises youngsters in school who may come in contact with infectious hepatitis cases.

"There is little cause for alarm about the 'virus type' hepatitis most often reported in Big Spring," she said. "In case a child runs a temperature, or is nauseated, it is well to check with your doctor for advice and treatment if necessary."

Hepatitis, a liver ailment, can be treated safely if the person having it will consult his physician early.

"Two cases were reported in Big Spring schools during the past week," but no cause for alarm has been seen. Notices were sent by the school nurse to parents of children who possibly could have come in contact with the two youngsters, as a precautionary measure.

Only 12 cases were reported in Howard County in 1963, as compared to 28 in 1962. None was serious. No one knows just where the virus comes from to cause the ailment, Miss Sherrill said, because it acts much like a common cold. But good habits can help keep it down.

Most cases seem to be reported during the second semester of school each year.

Pilot Killed
CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A Vietnamese student pilot was killed Saturday when his A-1H Sky Raider crashed in the Intracoastal Canal about three miles south of nearby Bob Hall Pier. The pilot was on a training flight. His name was withheld.

Gospel throughout the world. There is much needed to be done here in order to put our nation in tune with God. We are the only nation that has never been defeated in war, but we are at our row's end.

The Premier of Russia is a you see how the Communists have dominated people wherever it has spread? Thirty years ago you couldn't find but few people in the U.S. who didn't believe in God, but you can't say that today. I pray this will be read in every home and will be a warning of God's word that will come in the last days. Not only read this but do something about it...

Heating System Scrapped As City Hall Goes Modern

By BUCK SITTON
The end of an era has come at city hall.

All iron wall radiators have been removed from the building and replaced with a duct heating system. Although most city employees welcomed the change, some were nostalgic about it.

"It just won't seem the same anymore," said one longtime employe. Another, who praised the new system, said the old radiators warmed only one side of the body at a time.

"You had to keep turning until you were warm all over," he explained.

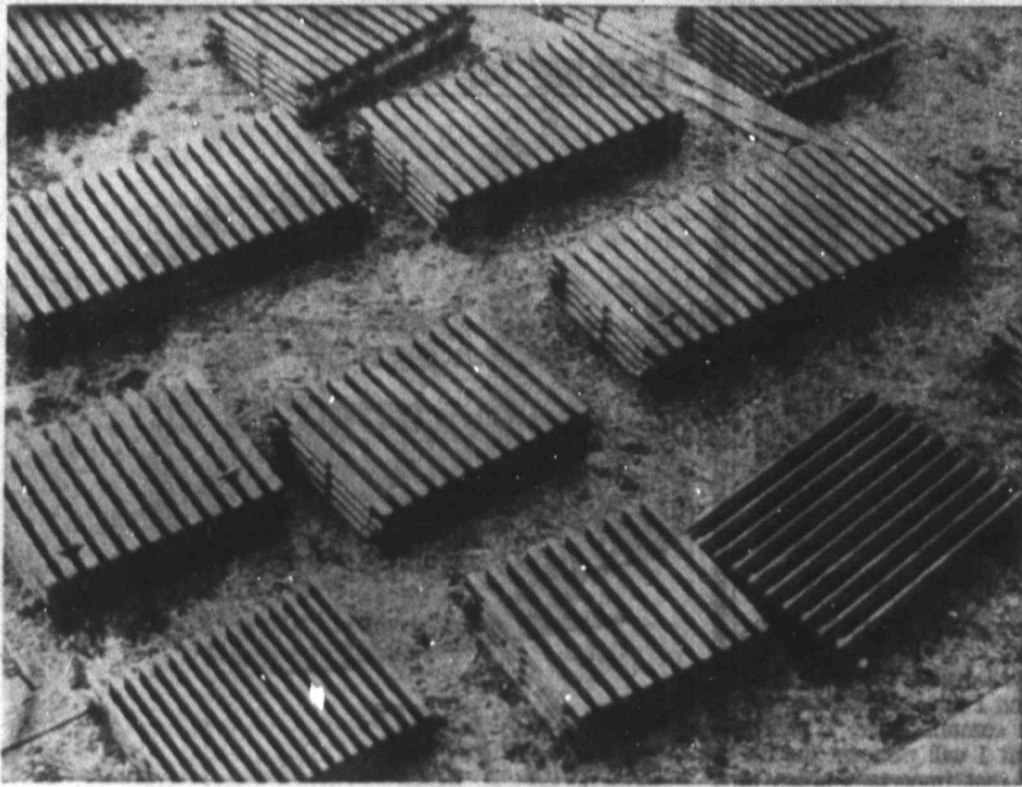

COLD DAYS
Others pointed out it took an hour or longer to heat rooms on a cold day since a boiler would have to be fired up before the heating process could begin.

Sometimes faulty pipes would result in loud clanging noises. Another frequently voiced complaint was that heat was not uniform throughout the building.

With the new system, hot air is blown through vents into each room at city hall by three combination heating, cooling units.

The units were fitted with heating coils, ducts, insulation, steam piping and, modulation controls by A. Briggs, Fort Worth contractor, at a cost of $2,105.50. The change was completed last November.

Roy Rogan, city electrician,

END OF AN ERA
Old cast off radiators

said pipes in the old system were beginning to wear out.

COST FORTUNE
"It would have cost a fortune to repair all of the old pipes under the building," he exclaimed. "Some were rotten and most of them needed repairing."

A patio which separates the main fire station from other offices at city hall serves as a temporary grave yard for the old wall radiators. They will be sold as scrap iron for the best offer, said Ernest Lillard, director of public works.

The best going price received to date for scrap is $24 per ton, Lillard said.

"The radiators were put in the building when it was erected in 1932," assistant city manager Roy Anderson said.

Plans Completed For Banquet

Plans are almost complete for the annual banquet of the Salvation Army, Capt. William Thomas said this week.

Tickets, at $2.50 per person, are on sale by board members and at the Citadel. The banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 15 at the Howard County Junior College cafeteria.

"Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will be the main speaker," Thomas said. "We have not heard from the headquarters office about who may be here in install the new officers and directors, but we are sure one or more persons from the office will attend the meeting. A few other arrangements on the program have not yet been made but will be completed by the middle of the week."

The public is invited to the banquet-meeting.

Barry, Rocky Won't Clash In May Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller are going to test their popularity in two primaries May 12—but not against each other.

Rockefeller's entry in the West Virginia presidential primary on that day will enable the New York governor to share headlines with Goldwater's run in Nebraska.

The number of convention delegate votes involved is small—Nebraska has 16 and West Virginia 14. But both candidates for the GOP presidential nomination believe they can demonstrate strength in these presumably unopposed workouts.

KENNEDY TEST
West Virginia got a lot of attention in 1960 when the late John F. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, tested the reaction of a largely Protestant state. He made a breakthrough toward the Democratic nomination by handily beating Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

While Rockefeller can expect no such clearcut result as this, he will have an opportunity to test in economically distressed West Virginia the popularity of the social welfare proposals he has been plugging. Rockefeller has tried to draw a sharp line between his and Goldwater's views in this field.

West Virginia hasn't had a Republican primary since 1952, when the late Sen. Robert A. Taft swamped Harold E. Stassen by 139,812 to 38,251. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who wasn't running there, got the presidential nomination.

IN MIDWEST
Goldwater expects to demonstrate in Nebraska that he is popular in the agricultural Midwest.

A strong showing in Nebraska, if it followed a similar display of strength in the April 14 Illinois primary, would bolster the argument of Goldwater supporters that he is the choice of the area some Republicans like to call their party's heartland.

Unlike West Virginia, however, Nebraska law permits voters to write in their preference for the presidential nomination. In 1960 74,356 Republicans wrote in the name of then Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who later won the nomination.

Rockefeller got 2,028 votes by the same method and Goldwater, who wasn't considered a contender then, collected 1,068.

Weird New Rocket Plane To Seek Speed Records

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—It doesn't look like an X15 anymore. It doesn't even look like an airplane.

But, man, will it go!

That's the word from a preview of the X15A-2 rocket plane which soon will begin trying for speeds up to 5,450 miles an hour—or 8,000 feet a second.

The rebuilt X15 has two external tanks carrying an additional 13,500 pounds of propellants. The tanks extend half the length of the 52-foot fuselage and make it look like some weird water bug.

For the first time since X15 started flying in 1959, this one will be decked out for record flights, in a coat of bright white instead of the traditional black.

The white is a sealer sprayed over a coating of heat-resistant material similar to that used on missile warheads. The material will be sprayed over the entire surface before each record flight in thicknesses varying from three-quarters of an inch on the nose and leading edges of wing and tail to a tenth of an inch on the aft fuselage.

AIR FRICTION

E. W. Johnson, X15 engineer at North American Aviation, Inc., in Los Angeles, says the heat resistant chemical compound will slough off from air friction at 530 degrees Fahrenheit, dissipating the heat before it can sink into the plane and weaken its structure.

Standard X15s have withstood skin temperatures of 1,200 degrees at speeds up to the current record of 4,104 m.p.h.

"Without the heat-resistant ablative coating," Johnson says, "the new X15 at 8,000 feet per second would heat up to about 2,400 degrees."

The white coating will not be used on all flights of the X15A-2, only on speed runs at the comparatively low altitude of 100,000 feet, Johnson says.

It won't be needed on purely scientific flights, when the rocket plane will be used as a space truck to carry a star camera to 250,000 feet, well above the atmosphere.

ALTITUDE RECORD

Johnson says the X15A-2 had not been designed to exceed the standard X15's altitude record of 354,200 feet but could if such a mission were required by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which conducts the X15 research program with the Air Force.

Primary mission of the X15A-2, modified during repair after a crash landing a year ago, will be high-speed level flight to test ramjet engines, he says.

Plans call for the X15A-2 to be delivered here this month, Johnson says, and it will undergo several test flights before attempting new speed records. Meantime the other two X15s will continue making high-altitude flights to test procedures for re-entering the atmosphere safely from space at high speed.

Texas Gets Spring Peek

By The Associated Press
Texas had a preview of spring Saturday. Nearly every part of the state was fair and mild.

And with the first day of February, nearly two more months of winter lay ahead.

Extreme South Texas had a lot of clouds and occasional light drizzle. The Weather Bureau said the clouds likely would spread into North and West Texas Sunday.

Early afternoon temperatures ranged from 53 degrees at El Paso to 61 at Lufkin and Brownsville, where a light rain fell.

Forecasts called for cooler weather Sunday in South and Northwest Texas, but warmer readings elsewhere in the state.

Patchy fog was widespread before noon Saturday in northern parts of Texas and hampered traffic. In Dallas, six cars piled up on a freeway during a thick fog and five persons were injured. Moments later, an ambulance loaded with the injured and two trucks collided less than 200 yards from the first pileup.

Husband And Wife Collide

Two automobiles owned by the same man were involved in a traffic accident 4 miles east of the city limits on IS 29 Friday.

The driver of one of the cars, Mrs. Cora Glenn Taylor, 49, Arlington, who is the wife of the owner, James S. Taylor, was taken to the hospital for examination but was not seriously injured.

Highway patrol officers said that Mrs. Taylor was driving a 1962 Cadillac and her husband was in a 1962 Buick. They were en route to California with the cars.

Taylor had given Richard H. Ballinger, 20, of Huntington Beach, Calif., a hitchhiker, a ride. Ballinger was driving the Buick. Another car passing the two Taylor vehicles caused Mrs. Taylor to jam on her brakes but ram into the rear of the Buick. Her car left the road, plowed through half dozen guard rails and finally came to a precarious rest against the railing on the opposite traffic lane, hovering over a 20 foot dropoff.

The Cadillac was damaged about $1,000 and the Buick about $300.

Guard Colonel To Talk At 64-E's Graduation

Lt. Col. Charles B. Oldham, now serving with the National Guard Bureau as assistant executive officer, will be the guest of honor and speaker for the graduation exercises of Webb Pilot Training Class 64-E at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

His appearance follows an address Friday night of Col. Benjamin B. Cassidy Jr., a widely known veteran fighter pilot with service in two wars. He spoke at the pre-graduation "dining in" held by Class 64-E at the Officers Open Mess.

Cassidy compared fighter tactics of today and yesterday and reviewed his personal experiences in World War II and Peters, a short, stocky man in his early 50s, had accompanied Erhard on his visit to President Johnson's Texas ranch last December. His job also included responsibility for organizing security measures for distinguished visitors, including President Kennedy, who came to West Germany last June.

Demo Party Tiffs Likely

By The Associated Press

Texas Democrats, who a month ago hinted that 1964 primaries might be just formalities to renominate incumbents, apparently will stage at least three spirited intra-party contests.

The primary ballots may be less than half the size of the 1962 lists, when 24 Democratic candidates fought for four key statewide offices.

The filing deadline for the May 2 primaries is Monday. Republicans will make history if all three GOP Senate candidates file by the deadline—Texas Republicans say they never have had such a crowded field for one office. Republicans also will have a primary contest for the gubernatorial nomination.

After President Kennedy's assassination Nov. 22, there were some signs of widespread sentiment for rare Democratic party harmony.

NEW UNITY

The new unity was backed by the Texas AFL-CIO, which said Gov. John Connally should be renominated without opposition. But Don Yarborough of Houston, a liberal spokesman, bucked labor and announced against Connally. Some politicians think the AFL-CIO may reverse its stand at its Feb. 11 political strategy meeting in Arlington.

The second blow to the brief harmony is expected Monday, when Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen says whether he will run with strong conservative backing against Sen. Ralph Yarborough. John Van Cronkhite of Dallas also is a candidate in that race.

Another conservative-liberal Democratic fight is scheduled in the congressman-at-large race, with former state Sen. Robert Baker of Houston criticizing Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas as a "pseudo Democrat" with a Republican-like voting record.

Pool also will be opposed by Bill Elkins of Greenville and Dan Sullivan of Andrews. No Republicans have entered the race.

OTHER RACES

Liberal and conservative Democrats also will vie in races for lieutenant governor and agriculture commissioner.

Albert Fuentes Jr. of San Antonio, a leader in the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking

R. McElwain, Roger J. Parker, James R. Roberts, Robert L. Rodgers, and Robert L. Watts Jr.

Organizations, will challenge Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

Millard Shivers of Waco, who says he is a "conservative Democrat," will challenge Agriculture Commissioner John White. So will John B. Armstrong, Kleberg County rancher.

Republican candidates for governor are C. G. Weakley Jr., a Dallas insurance agent, and Jack Crichton, a Dallas oil man. Neither has run for office before.

Candidates for the GOP nomination for the Senate are George Bush, Houston oil man; Dr. Milton Davis, Dallas surgeon; and Robert Morris of Dallas.

GOLDWATER
All five are announced supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for president.

State Rep. Horace Houston of Dallas has announced as a candidate for the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor and has no opponents.

John B. Armstrong, 44, Kleberg County rancher, filed with the GOP Saturday as a candidate for state agriculture commissioner.

Unopposed candidates for reelection are Treasurer Jesse James, Court of Criminal Appeals Judge K. K. Woodley, Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey; and Supreme Court Justices Robert Hamilton and Ruel Walker.

CALVERT
Comptroller Robert W. Calvert will have Republican opposition in November from Dallas Calmes, Houston businessman.

Dist. Judge Sears McGee of Houston and Civil Appeals Judge Jack Pope of San Antonio are candidates for the Supreme Court seat vacated by Justice Frankfurter Jr. Jesse Owens of Vernon, a former district judge, will oppose Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon for the remaining four years of the unexpired term of William Murray Jr., who resigned.

State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler will be opposed in his re-election bid by Fred Williams of Dallas in the Democratic primary.

Dee Jon Davis Files For County Attorney Position

Dee Jon Davis, a native of Howard County and now engaged in the general practice of law, announced Saturday he would seek the Democratic nomination as Howard County Attorney.

"I promise to honestly and fairly execute the duties of the office of county attorney," he said, "working closely with the Big Spring Police Department and the Sheriff's Office, as well as with merchants and all other citizens of the county. I will work hard at the job and be available to help the public any way I can. It will be my aim to see that all complaints are handled promptly and that all appeals from the corporation court are given a chance to be heard. I am 30 years of age, young enough to be energetic, old enough to have maturity. On the basis of doing my best to make a good county attorney I will appreciate the support of the people of Howard County."

DEE JON DAVIS

Davis was born in Big Spring and reared on a farm north of town. He is the son of Dee Davis and the late Mrs. Margaret Davis. He obtained his schooling in Big Spring schools and at Kemper Military School (junior college division), then earned his bachelor of science degree at Baylor University. He taught in the Big Spring public school before entering the University of Texas School of Law, where he earned his LL.B.

Since 1962 he has been engaged in general law practice, handling both civil and criminal matters.

He is married to the former Lou Ann White. They have one son, Scott, aged one year, and reside at 713 Washington Blvd.

Davis is a member of the Rotary Club and serves on its Boy Scout troop committee. He also is a member of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church, the Chamber of Commerce, Howard County Bar Association, Texas Bar Association and the American Bar Association and is a director of the local chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Warm Weather, Rain Awaken Texas Crops

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Warm weather across Texas started many crops growing and started some farm operations looking to planting. Grazing crops, however, are still far behind in their growth due to earlier cold and dry conditions, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Livestock are hanging on and with many still being fed, a few are grazing green pastures. As the report was being compiled, heavy to moderate rains fell in nearly all of Texas, bringing farm work to a halt. The rains will be of great future benefit, but their effects will not be apparent at once.

Grains have been dormant in Panhandle dry land. Cattle are in fair to good condition but heavy feeding continues. Cattle are being marketed from wheat pastures.

The South Plains cotton harvest is 99 per cent complete. Irrigated grain was in good condition. Dryland grain needed rain badly. Range cattle are in fair to good condition. About half of the ranges are in average condition. Some wheat rust is reported. In some counties blowing sand damaged wheat. Earlier cold and dry weather caused grain to grow slowly in the Rolling Plains. Grazing is limited.

TO OATS
Cold caused damage to oats in North Central Texas. Moisture improving due to earlier snows, and rains are responding. Very little grazing is available.

Warmer weather has caused East Texas oats to make some growth. Pastures are below average. Heavy feeding is continuing and cattle are still losing weight.

All livestock in far West Texas are receiving heavy feeding. Lambing has begun and goat shearing is under way. An excellent calf crop is reported around Andrews.

Miller Joins Candidates For County Commission

Granvil Miller, 1702 W. 1st, has announced his candidacy for Howard County Commissioner, Precinct 1, subject to the will of the voters in the Democratic Primary May 2. Miller is 37, a Howard County native, married, and he and Mrs. Miller have two children, Tippy, 15, and Debby, 12.

"I pledge to conduct myself honorably in performing the county's business, and to spend as much time as necessary to do the job right. I will personally contact all voters that time will allow. Your support of me in the Democratic Party for County Commissioner, will be greatly appreciated," he said.

GRANVIL MILLER

Miller attended school in the first grade at Soash. He completed grade school at Knott and moved with his family to Big Spring where he attended high school two years before entering the Armed Forces. He served 18 months overseas and when he returned to Big Spring, completed his high school work at Howard County Junior College, graduating in 1949.

He has been an employee of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. for 18 years. He is experienced as a truck foreman and was a route salesman for eight years. Miller is a member of the Church of Christ; has been commander of the Christensen Tucker Post No. 2013 VFW for seven years, and is a member of the American Legion. He played a large part in arranging for a new VFW Post home, with all debts paid.

"My father, a native of Howard County, retired from the maintenance department of the county in 1963, after 30 years of service," Miller said.

FEEDING STOCK
Warm weather is very good for livestock and grain in West Central Texas. Ranchers are feeding stock, burning pear and cutting brush. Livestock are in fair condition, but shrinking heavily. Few livestock losses have been reported.

Central Texas subsoil moisture has been very short. Oats, making little progress, furnished little or no grazing. Livestock shrinkage is heavy with some losses, and heavy feeding continues.

In East Texas, livestock were in fair to poor condition, with selling slow and much feeding. Ranges are below average.

MOISTURE
Subsoil moisture has been very short in South Texas. Winter pastures greened some. But are very short. Livestock prices have dropped. Heavy feeding continued but no unusual losses have been reported.

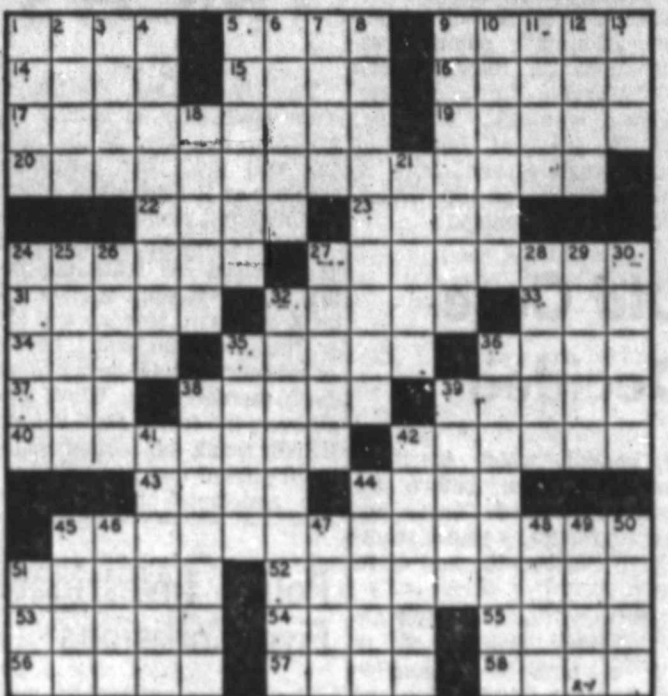

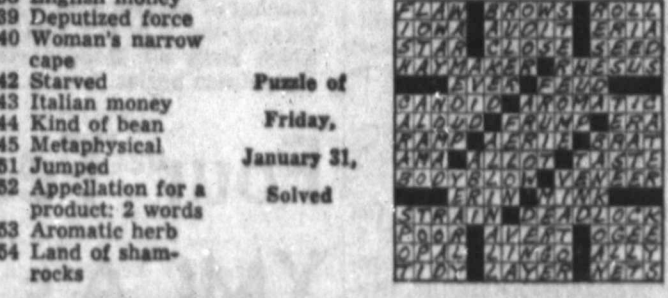

Warmer weather caused the growth of oats and clover and they are providing some grazing along the Upper Coast.

Vegetable and citrus harvesting operations in deep South Texas are under way, and vegetables are being planted. Plowing for cotton has started. Feeding is heavy.

Mill Scheduled
GUSAU, Nigeria (AP) — Britain will supply management and technical personnel and machinery for a new $2.8-million cotton mill in this northern Nigerian city.

Bennett House To Open Second Unit

Furnishings for the second unit of the Bennett House are being put on order, James Bruce Frazier reported Saturday.

While the initial unit of the nursing home is not yet filled, the patient load is reaching the point that plans need to be made for making more space available within the next few months.

The first unit, facing Goliah at Tenth, will accommodate 100 patients. The second unit, a twin to the first, faces north on Ninth Street.

The auxiliary facilities building, which will serve both units, is now in operation. It houses the laundry and is equipped to handle the volume which both units would generate. In addition, it has a shop which maintains the plant and is used to recondition the hospital equipment and supplies. At the north end is a dental clinic for patients, and a beauty salon which has found favor among the ladies staying at Bennett House.

With the approach of spring, landscaping of the home will be stepped up, Frazier said, and the program of activities may be expanded as ambulatory residents are able to get out of doors more.

That Error Might Have Come True For Typist

By M. A. WEBB
We might be shot before breakfast if we tell who pulled his one. Frankly we don't have time to be shot, and we won't tell the name of the typist who committed the error. Seems the leaders of a certain political subdivision set salaries for all employees for the fiscal year, and the minutes of the meeting to be read at the next meeting started:

"Be it known that the 'starving' monthly wages of all (XXX) employees shall be . . ."

Could possibly be right at that, but we have a hunch it should have been 'starting' wage.

Garden City School Superintendent B. L. Murphy, who resigned effective at the end of the school year, said he is going back to Red River County and begin systematic improvement of a 400-acre farm and ranch.

"We have been planning, for some time, to build a home on the place and, since we are getting no younger, it is about time we got started," he said this week. "The place is running down and about the only way we can keep it improving is to be on it or near it."

Murphy said he could run a cow on from three to eight acres a year depending upon the moisture, and that programmed grazing was necessary for continued improvement.

Coahoma Bank President Bill Reed was all smiles the other day at his bank. He said the bank had passed 1 1/2 million dollars in assets for the first time since its organization. He also said the good cotton crop is enabling the bank to get full payment on many farm loans.

Saturday before last saw $18,000 coming into the bank in just a few minutes, when a couple of loans were repaid.

There is a lot brewing over at the Martin County capital of Stanton. At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club, a community center was discussed, and means of financing the building is practically assured. To cap it off, Mayor Stanley Wheeler said the city had ample land for the center and would make it available. As we remember, Martin County recently opened a spacious new library building which is being used considerably. The days on which it is open were increased by the commissioners court two weeks ago.

Taking it all around, Stanton has really "come alive" more than ever in the past couple of years. New paved streets, water lines, library, and new residences have come into being.

Before long, when negotiations going on between the commissioners court and hospital administrators are completed, an announcement will be made regarding the hospital facilities and doctors.

Cubs Do Exercises

All Dens of Pack 48 participated in the skit during a monthly meeting of the Pack held Thursday at the First Presbyterian Church. They took part in physical fitness exercises, in line with the theme of January.

The program was opened by Den 3 and closed by Den 2. Refreshments were served by Den 4. Den 2 took the Cubby Award for best attendance at the meeting.

New members transferring into the Pack are James Stradman, Monte Hyman, Mark Sanders and Randy Sanders. They were introduced by Cubmaster Sam Robertson.

Wolf Badges were awarded David Howe, Mark Sweeney, Bert Bouillon, Bob Currie, John Taylor Jr. and Phillip Cohen. Cohen also received an arrow. Bear Badges went to Steve Daves and Mack Guthrie.

Denner's Badges went to Jesse Armstead and Jarrah Hedricks. Stephen Ray, Steve Daves and Brooks Hogg received Assistant Denner's Badges. Arrow points were awarded Stephen Ray, Jarrah Hedricks, Jackie Dolan, Mack Guthrie and David Lewis.

TODAY'S THE DAY

Bountiful Texas Minus Ground Hogs

DEAR BOSS: According to the Texas Almanac, the gods who made this great state forgot to include in its fauna the ground hog.

Apparently, the creators of Texas, well aware of how deceitful and changeable Texas weather was going to be, did not provide a ground hog because if they had the poor thing would have gone completely nutty his first February of existence.

HOWEVER, according to the records, today is Ground Hog Day. At the time this is written, there is every indication that Sunday will be bright, sunny and ideal for projecting the somewhat unkempt silhouette of a ground hog's shadow on the terrain.

But, Boss, you and I know how suddenly weather can change in this part of Texas.

If this morning dawned bright and clear, then the shadow of a ground hog, if we had one, would have been etched sharp and black. This would have sent that ground hog scurrying back to his warm den.

ON THE CONTRARY, if this morning dawned cloudy and sunless, our apocryphal ground hog would not have seen his shadow.

weatherwise woodchuck that spring was at hand, so he would not go back to his warm den.

All I can say, Boss, is if he was lulled into the belief that he was all set for spring, he could be in for about the toughest six weeks in his career.

IF HE IS AS smart as his advocates argue he is, he wouldn't have cancelled the lease on his apartment, and he would carry (1) overcoat, (2) raincoat, (3) sunglasses and (4) a bathing suit.

Post Office Bobbles News Of Stamps

Attention, philatelists! If you read somewhere that the John F. Kennedy Memorial stamp, the five-cent Nevada Statehood Centennial commemorative and the five-cent New Jersey Tercentary issue would all be available May 5—forget it.

The Post Office Department admits it made a bling. It did publish such statements in its Postal Bulletin Jan. 23 but someone goofed.

A. A. Porter, assistant postmaster, said that he had been receiving inquiries relative to the new issues.

Stamps of the commemorative type announced officially for 1964 are:

Jan. 10, Sam Houston (on hand); Feb. 22, four-cent U.S. Custom Service Commemorative postal card; March 19, five-cent Charles M. Russell "American Painting" commemorative; April 22, five-cent New York World's Fair commemorative stamped envelope; April 29, five-cent John Muir commemorative and May 5, five-cent Battle of the Wilderness Civil War Centennial.

Old Case Decided

A lawsuit, which in many forms has been before the courts of Howard County and the state for many years, seems to have reached the end of its career.

The Texas Court of Civil Appeals Friday granted H. H. Reed a writ of injunction against Judge Ralph Caton and others, and granted an injunction. This is an action which concerns real estate over which lawsuits have waged for years.

Friday, Frank Porter reported a hit-and-run accident on Campus Drive. His vehicle was parked at the time. The other Piggly Wiggly Store on Eleventh Place. Drivers were Billy Whittington, 1402 Mt. Vernon, and Donald Beatrice Box, Webb AFB.

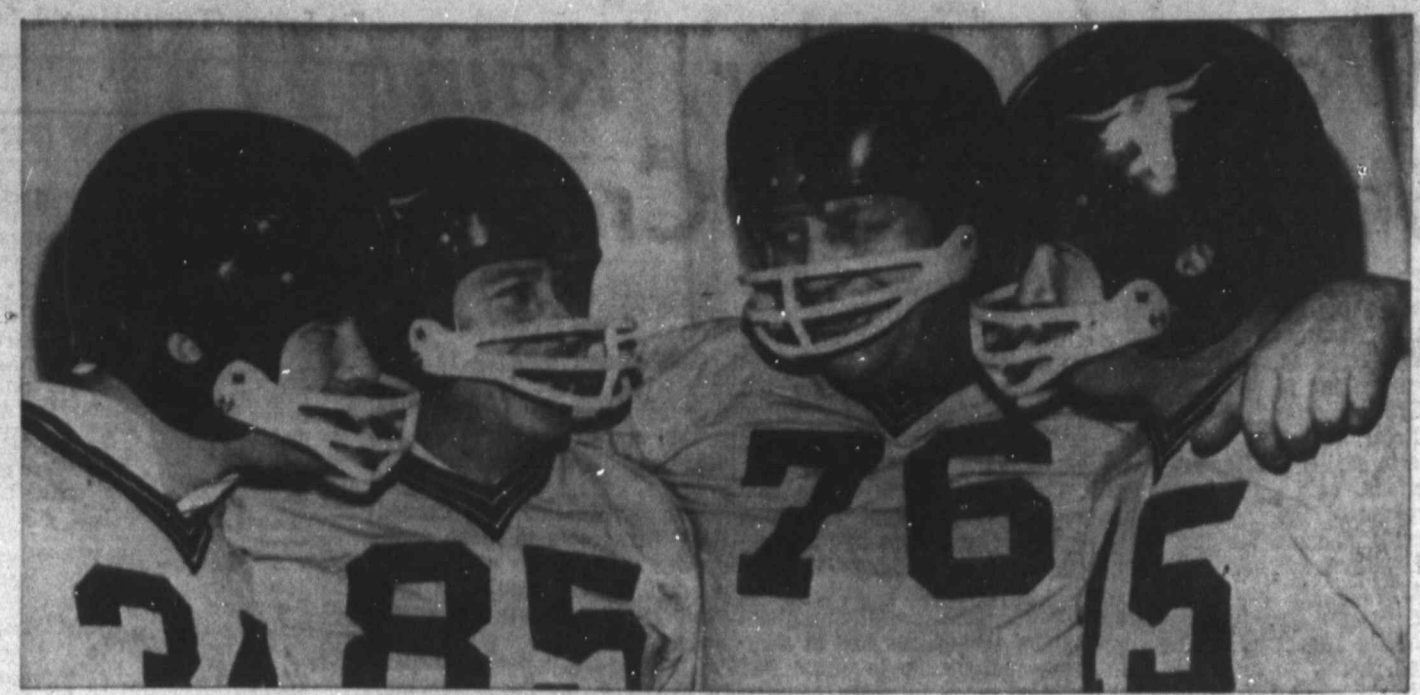

Saturday's accidents and drivers were: at 200 N. Benton, Tommie Carol Jefferys, 711 NE 4th, and James A. Distasio, Webb AFB; at 400 E. 3rd, Bradley Redmon, 3600 Bowers Drive, Jesse Perry Jackson, 616 Colgate, and Clayton Floyd Cluck, 2613 Cindy, and at 1505 Stadium, Joseph Henry Turner, 1507 Stadium, and Connie Carlton, 1701 Harvard.

Champion Lamb Trophy Troy Fraser Wins Grand

COAHOMA — Troy Fraser showed the Grand Champion lamb here Saturday during the annual FFA and FHA Achievement Day Show. A lamb shown by Joe Anderson, who also won the lamb showmanship trophy, took the Reserve Champion ribbon.

A good attendance of about 75 persons marked the show. Gerald Oates, vocational agriculture instructor at Coahoma High School, said, despite the fact that many of those who might have come were in El Paso at a show. A barbecue served at noon attracted only a handful of persons.

Winners in the various lamb categories, in the order in which they placed, are: Fine Wool — Vernon Long, Tommy Menser, Sam Oakes and Menser. Crossbred — Eddie Read, Teddy Merrick, Marcus Swann, Read and Howard Gregory. Medium Wool — Joe Anderson,

Calling Plays For YMCA Games

Coaches of the four YMCA teams which will be seeking members for the Y in this year's participating membership drive which kicks off Monday check out legal plays before the competition begins. Left to right are coaches Clyde McMahon Jr., who heads the Longhorns; John Berry, Froggie chief; Frank Hardesty, Red Raider, and Jimmy Taylor, Aggies. Each coach will have five star players as they work for a goal of $15,000 in memberships.

Four Teams Primed For YMCA's Member Efforts

Two teams are enough to make sparks fly on almost any gridiron, but the YMCA Monday will field four competing quintets as it begins the annual participating membership drive.

Wade Choate, head coach, has advised his team coaches that their last skull session will be at 5:15 p.m. Monday and after that it is no holds barred as the four teams take out to pin down memberships.

Only two of the field of candidates for county offices to be filled at this year's elections were without opposition as the Monday deadline for filing neared.

They are Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, running for re-election as county tax assessor-collector, and Walter Grice, seeking return to his post as justice of the peace, Place No. 1.

Friday afternoon, J. B. (Jake) Bruton, a former chief of police, filed to become the seventh candidate for the office.

In addition to the Democratic candidates for sheriff, one Republican contender has filed. Seeking Harris' job are A. N. Standard, A. G. Mitchell, Bill Long, R. B. Tally, and Bill Long and Bruton as Democrats, and Mike Moore, the Republican.

Guilford L. Jones, district attorney, officially entered the lists Friday for re-election. Earlier Wayne Burns, presently county attorney, had filed for the post.

Burns' action in seeking the district attorney's job leaves his present office as county attorney open. Two young lawyers, E. L. (Lanny) Hamby and Dee Jon Davis are in the race for that post.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, seeking his first elective term, has three opponents. They are Mrs. Winnie R. Wood, Ray Crooks, and Marshall Spruill. Cox was appointed to the clerk's job in January of 1963.

Competition for the two county commissioners' posts to be filled this year is exceptionally keen.

Rufus Stallings, commissioner from County Commissioner Precinct No. 1 is running against A. A. (Shorty) Long, Granvil Miller, Simon (Cy) Terrazas and Arthur McNew.

Joe Hayden, incumbent from Precinct 3, has four Democrats and one Republican after his seat. His Democratic contenders are C. V. Hewitt, C. L. Rutherford, B. W. (Ben) Burroughs and John V. Cherry. The Republican is Harold Hill.

Two candidates for constable posts have filed and neither has an opponent. Lee E. Young, constable for Precinct No. 1 is one of those back in the race. Freddie Paul Hartman has filed as a candidate for constable, Precinct 2.

Few Want Poll Tax

GARDEN CITY — Sheriff Royce Pruitt said his office issued 471 poll tax receipts for the period which closed Friday night. This is a light number for the county, he added. He said there are about 200 overage voters in addition to the poll tax receipt holders.

Mrs. Bill Unger Wins Top Artistas Show Prize

"Stone Composition," an abstract professional work of Mrs. Bill Unger, president of the Las Artistas Art Club, Saturday was judged the top painting in the club's membership show held at the First Federal Savings and Loan Building.

This is the second time for Mrs. Unger to cop the highest award in the show. "Mexican Still Life" won it for her five years ago. With it she moved one step nearer permanent ownership of the club's traveling trophy, since any person who wins it three times gets to keep the trophy.

Sixty-two entries were listed in the four categories of the show—two for professionals and two for non-professionals. Judging was accomplished Saturday. The works will remain on display today from 1-5 p.m. for members of the public.

Judge for the event was Mrs. Earl Heddis, head of the San Angelo College Art Department. After the show Saturday, she gave individual criticism and a short lecture.

First place winners in each category received a $5 prize. For her top painting, Mrs. Unger also received a merchandise prize provided by Sherwin-Williams Paint Store. Top three winners in the professional realistic department were Avery Falkner Jr., Mrs. Unger and Mrs. Ira Raley. Falkner took the first two places in the abstract professional class and Mrs. Bismarck Schaffer took third.

Mrs. Estelle Howard won the first two awards for realistic paintings of non-professionals

Fires Reported

About 7:45 p.m. Saturday firemen were summoned to the home of Johnny Christian, 806 Magnolia, when a fire was started in the bathroom. The room was heavily damaged and additional damage was caused by water.

A trailer belonging to T. A. Welch caught fire in the 1500 block of East Third, but it was not damaged.

Weather Forecast

Scattered snow flurries are forecast Sunday for lower Great Lakes region eastward through north Atlantic coastal states. Light snow is predicted for portions of northern Plains. (Continued From Page 1) assessments may be higher than before due to rising costs. Frank Hardesty estimated the Democrats would estimate a $4,500 budget for the primaries, this to be divided among a dozen or so candidates. But what about the Republican primary with only two announced candidates so far?

March of Dimes Appeal Moving Forward

The March of Dimes appeal is moving off stage, and behind it comes the Heart Fund. Since Valentine's Day falls in February with its symbol of the heart, this is the month when people are asked to contribute to the battle against cardiovascular diseases—the biggest killer of all.

As usual, neighboring Glasscock county staged a fine show for their club lambs, pigs and capons. Bidding was brisk for the animals, ranging from 55 cents to $1.15 a pound and $15 for the capons. Oliver West and his volunteers did a splendid bit of work on arrangements.

Big Spring High School students, led by the student council, are going to undertake a big project and in so doing try to make their contribution to international understanding. They have voted to take part in the foreign student exchange, and if successful, a high school senior from some other land will be in the student body next year.

Kenneth R. Arnold, son of Airman 2.C. and Mrs. Duane Arnold, applied for his Social Security number last week. He won't be carrying it for awhile—he's only two weeks old. His parents wanted to start a savings account, and an account number is now required.

How successful is the screw-worm eradication program? In 1962 Howard County cut its cases to 91; last year they were reduced to 19. In a score or more counties of this area, the figure was cut from 2,616 to 345. Even so, there can't be any relaxation until the figure is zero.

Herald Cops Five Prizes In Top News Competition

Herald staff members again have shared honors in the annual News and Photo contest of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

Tommy Hart, veteran sports editor of the Herald, won first place in sports news for cities under 75,000 population.

Honorable mention went to Sam Blackburn, for spot news reporting; to Pat Washburn for sports feature writing; to Joe Mosby for page one makeup; and to a former staff member, Bob Smith, for headline writing.

The awards were announced today in Austin where the Texas APME mid-winter meeting is being held.

the oldest and recognized generally as the leading one for newspaper men engaged in the every day task of gathering and producing pictures and stories under the pressures of everyday production.

Hart's first place came on an entry of his account of the Big Spring-Permian football game. "All Baba and his Forty Thieves could take lessons," he wrote. "The Big Spring Steers, pushed to the edge of the precipice and faced with elimination from the District 2-AAAA football race, struck back with dramatic suddenness in the final two minutes of play to un-couple the Permian Panthers, 22-20 . . ."

Under an Ackerly dateline, Washburn wrote about the big-game hunting exploits of Dudley Coleman . . . "A North American big game hunter (who) belongs to the small clique of men who hunt not for pleasure or meat, but purely for the biggest kill, the most spectacular

Back in the spring while still a member of the Herald staff, Bob Smith came up with a head on a Sam Blackburn feature about the man who found a snake in the tool box of the tractor while cruising down the rows. "Confucius Might Say: He Who Slaps Snakes Should Get Shakes," the headline said.

Two Injured In Car Crash

A woman, who celebrates her 33rd birthday today, and the son of a retired Air Force sergeant were injured when their cars collided Friday, according to police.

Charles L. Abbott, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Woodrow Abbott, 206 E. 8th, was treated at Webb AFB Hospital for numerous minor lacerations and a broken thumb. Hospital authorities described his condition as fair. He was taken there by private automobile.

Mrs. William Jackson, 2502 Lynn Drive, sustained minor bruises, according to investigating officers, who said she was going north on Scurry at the time of the accident.

Owen Richard Rawls, 15, 1506 W. 1st, and a passenger in the Abbott car, was not injured.

Big Mike Moore Files For GOP Sheriff's Post

Big Mike Moore, a widely known resident of Big Spring for more than three decades, has filed for the Republican nomination as sheriff of Howard County.

This is his first time to offer for public office, and Moore said he planned an active campaign, and especially for the office if he is successful in his bid for the GOP nomination.

He said that in seeking the post, he did so as a conservative, Goldwater Republican.

"My purpose would be to secure qualified, dependable people to work with me in making Howard County a good sheriff," said Moore. "In selecting my help, I plan to have them hand me a letter of resignation at the time they start. So long as the county gets a good job, no one need worry about his job, but if it becomes necessary to change to protect the interests of the office and the county, there wouldn't be any fuss about it."

"This is an important venture for me, and I am honest enough to say that I want the job, and am ready, willing and able to work at it."

Big Mike Moore is a native of Scurry County, having been reared on a farm near Ira, Tex. "When I was grown, I left the farm for the oil patch and came to Howard County during the boom." He worked in drilling and producing for several firms, among them Sid Richardson and Magnolia Petroleum Company. His work took him out of the county for a time, but in 1936, Big Mike came back to stay. For the past 17 years he has been self employed.

He volunteered for service in the Air Force during World War II and put in three years of military duty. He is a member of the American Legion, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and is a communicant of St. Mary's Episcopal Church. He has three children, and owns his home in Big Spring.

Although this is his first venture in politics, he knows something of public life from a brother who served as a public official in a neighboring county. If nominated and elected, Moore said that all of his time would be devoted to directing the operation of the sheriff's office.

County Lists 641 Companies

A. J. Hemphill, district manager of the Fort Worth office of Dun & Bradstreet Inc., announced statement requests were mailed to 641 businesses in Howard County. He said figures were obtained from a physical count of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1964. The reference book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit.

During the past year, Hemphill added, 436 changes were made in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings of Howard County businesses, including 128 names added, 122 names deleted, and 186 changes in the ratings of continuing businesses. The changes occurring in Howard County are about even with the rest of the country where a change of business significance is counted about every five seconds.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Direct Line Will Help Pilots Get Information

By M. A. WEBB
A direct line to Midland Flight Service, enabling pilots to check weather conditions and forecasts, file flight plans and get other information, may be a reality within a month, Ted McClung, Howard County Airport manager, said Friday.

"We requested the service for this airport, in a letter to the Chief Programming and Planning Branch of the Federal Aviation Agency," he said. "The letter was mailed Jan. 27 and we should have an answer in about 30 days."

The Big Spring Flying Club, Inc., has openings for a few new members. The two-year-old club has two airplanes and a membership limited to 25. As members leave, or are transferred out of the Big Spring area, vacancies may be filled by those wishing to become members. Information may be received from any member. The cost, for the 1962 Piper Colt, is $5 per hour, with fuel, and for the Cessna 172, $7.50 per hour with fuel.

Not too much flying was done by club members during the past week, McClung said, but pilots having their own airplanes did a lot of local flying.

"We had a big crowd of people last Sunday. Some of them were out to watch the coming and going, while others were going up for the rides," he said. "Transient traffic has been good."

Webb Aero Club's members flying, in only two of the four airplanes, were: Cessna 150—

Chamberlin, Norrington (2), Winston (2), O'Day (the plane also underwent a 100-hour check); Tri-Pacer — Williams (1) and cross country; Bradshaw.

Big Spring club members flying were: Colt — Curtis (3); Skyhawk — Porter.

A couple of trainees are due to take their check rides in the next couple of weeks for private pilot's license, McClung said.

W. S. Arendall, Wimberly, now has a Cessna 172 hangared at the airport. McClung said Arendall had been coming to Big Spring for several months each year. He is a contract painter.

The shops at the airport are keeping busy with checking, overhauling, and painting airplanes. The Big Spring Aircraft owners said most airplane owners had work done on their planes while flying weather was uncertain. Some of the planes get pretty heavy use all the time, especially those owned by business men for business use, and they require frequent attention to insure safety.

Piper Aircraft Corp., the world's first assembly-line producer of private and business aircraft, has just turned out its sixty-thousandth airplane. The next highest production of military and civilian aircraft was by North American, with 52,245. The Piper Twin Comanche was sold immediately to Bruno Disposto, produce broker of Delano, Calif. The Twin shifts of three men. Twelve new men will be hired by April 1, he estimated.

Each new station will have facilities for two trucks in addition to dormitory sleeping quarters, a kitchen, shower room and closets.

With good weather, both stations could be completed by the first of April, city officials estimate. Cost of the two stations is estimated at about $78,000.

Specifications for construction are identical at both stations. They will be one-story, concrete and steel with brick facing.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said plans call for a booster truck, now being used at the main fire station, to be stationed at the Airport School location with one of the two new pumps that have been ordered slated for use at the main station. The other new pump would go to the new station in the golf course area.

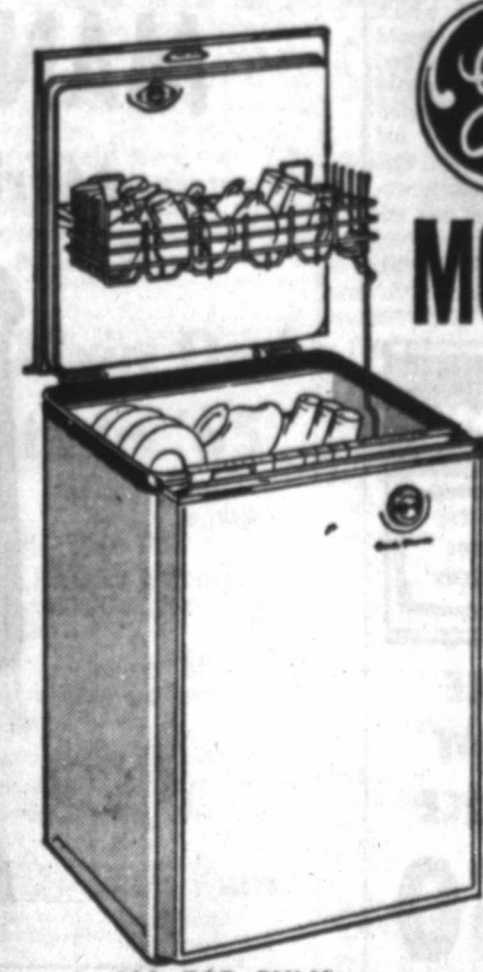

The Fire Chief said he is "greatly pleased" with the progress of construction at both fire stations. Preliminary plans call for six men to be stationed at each location, with two duty

San Angelo Nudges HC Hawks, 85-78

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo College knocked off HCJC, 85-78, here Saturday night in a battle of Western Conference unbeaten. Each team went into the game with a 7-9 conference record.

SAC warmed to a 55.8 shooting average in the last 20 minutes to win going away. The Rams' biggest lead was 12 points (76-64) with 4:55 left in the game.

The Jayhawks had five players hit in double figures but lost two stars, Tom Carter and Jim Oldham, on fouls.

Terry Williams led the Big Springers in scoring with 18 points while Carter had 17.

San Angelo was led by Charley Morton, a freshman from Odessa Permian, who scored 29 points and grabbed off 20 rebounds. Eddie Pruitt of the Rams fouled out.

San Angelo led by six points at the half but the score was tied 12 times during the game and each team led on eight occasions.

HCJC's full court press, applied early in the second half, gave the Rams lots of trouble for a while.

SAC hit on 16 of 43 field goal tries the first half for 37.2 per cent and 19 of 34 the last half.

The Jayhawks, who had lost to only one Texas team this season previous to Saturday night, visit Roswell, N.M., Tuesday night for a league game with New Mexico Military Institute.

Runnels Winner In Cage Meet

A team from the host city took all the marbles Saturday night in the Goliad gym as the Runnels Yearlings defeated the visiting quintet from Travis Snyder, 44-38, to take first place honors in the Big Spring 8th Grade Basketball tournament.

In other action, Goliad stood off a last-ditch effort by the Runnels B team as the Mavericks took third place in the tourney with a 33-31 victory.

The consolation trophy went to Lakeview as they defeated Lamar of Snyder, 38-35.

The 10 boys named to the all-tournament squad were: Richard Belew, Charlie Tubb and

Sam Snead Leads At Palm Beach

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sam Snead of Boca Raton, Fla. fired a two-under-par 70 Saturday to overtake defending champion John Barnum and grab the lead in the PGA National Golf Club Medal Play Tournament.

Snead, battering gusting 30 mile per hour winds on the 6,000-yard East Club course, shot a 35-35 for a total 208. Barnum, of Belmont, Mich., fell from Friday's low 65 to par 72 for a total 209 and second place.

Pete Cooper of Lake Worth, Fla. and Leland (Duke) Gibson of Kansas City, Mo. tied for third with 54-hole totals of 213. Bud Williamson of Lincoln, Neb. was fifth at 215, followed by Jack McGowan of Largo, Fla. at 216.

The low among the 133 contenders was 70, shot by Snead and Reggie Myles of East Lansing, Mich. Myles and Henry Williams of Kutztown, Pa. tied at 217.

Conley Retires As Pro Cager

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Conley, who plays professional baseball and basketball, has retired from the National Basketball Association, the New York Knickerbockers announced Saturday night.

Conley, who was placed on the voluntary retired list, was in his second season with New York. He previously played with the Boston Celtics for four seasons. He scored 192 points in 46 games for the Knicks this season.

The 6-foot-8 Conley also pitched for the Boston Red Sox. In the past he usually has finished the basketball season and reported late to spring training. However, he plans reporting on time this year.

Rumors Have Alvin Dark Bound For Colts In '65

HOUSTON (AP)—A spokesman for the Houston Colt baseball team issued a no comment Saturday on speculation that San Francisco Manager Alvin Dark will switch to the Colts after he completes the 1964 season with the Giants.

Another Colt official said he knew nothing about it.

The San Francisco Examiner said in a copyright story Saturday that Dark was considering an offer of $60,000 and a percentage of the attendance receipts to manage the Colts beginning in 1965.

Houston General Manager Paul Richards was out of the city and could not be reached for comment and a spokesman at the Colt office said: "We have no comment to make on the matter."

However, R.E. Smith, chairman of the board of the Houston club, said he knew nothing about the matter.

"I imagine that if such a move of that sort was to be made, I would be kept informed," Smith said.

Roy Hofheinz, president of the Colts, could not be reached for comment.

The Examiner said Dark would neither confirm or deny the story.

Harry Craft, manager of the Colts, has a one year contract with the Houston club.

Peter Snell Runs Mile In 3:57.7

WANGANUI, New Zealand (AP)—Peter Snell scored a victory Saturday night at the scene of his greatest triumph, winning an international mile race at Cooks Gardens in 3 minutes 57.7 seconds.

The New Zealander established his world record of 3:54.4 over the same track two years ago.

Bill Baillie, New Zealand long-distance star, finished second in 3:59.2 for his first sub-four-minute clocking. Cary Weisiger of the U.S. Marines was next at 4:04.4.

Soviet Star Is Demure

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Lidia Skoblikova, Russia's triple gold medal winner at the Winter Olympics, is proud to be a paradox.

She is durable and daring. She also is demure.

And she glories in being both a rugged athlete and an attractive woman.

"I like to skate around the stadium after a victory. People applaud and that gives me pleasure," she says.

"Skating also makes me more feminine," she says.

Skating also is making her the most famous athlete at the ninth Winter Games.

Mrs. Skoblikova—she's married to a trainer—has won three speed skating events, all in Olympic record time, and on consecutive days. She will try for an unprecedented fourth Sunday, already ranking as one of the all-time greats in Olympic competition.

She began her list of achievements Thursday by winning the 500-meter race in 45 seconds flat for an Olympic record. On Friday she won the 1,500-meter race in 2:22.6, an Olympic record. On Saturday she won the 1,000-meter race in 1:33.2, an Olympic record. On Sunday she will compete in the 3,000-meter race.

She is the favorite. She usually is.

At 24, she finds it easy to contend with the rigors of a Spartan training program, a career as a schoolteacher and a marriage. Cooking, homemaking and children, however, will have to wait, she freely admits.

U.S. Horses Seek Revenge

PARIS (AP)—American trotting stars, Porterhouse, Elaine Rodney and Duke Rodney, will be out for revenge Sunday in the $50,000 Prix De France over about 1 1/4 miles at the Vincennes track.

The Yankee aces were badly beaten last Sunday in their first try for glory on a French track. They finished well back in the $100,000 Prix d'Amerique, which was won by Nike Hanover.

Nike Hanover isn't starting Sunday but the American-bred trotter is about the only one from the Prix d'Amerique field that won't be on hand.

On the basis of last week's race, Elaine Rodney is rated the best of the Americans by local handicappers. The 7-year-old mare owned by S. L. and K. Stables of Eggertsville, N. Y., was right up with the leaders until she shied at the top of the stretch.

Gators Kayoed By Kentucky

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Kentucky spurred to an early lead and never relinquished it Saturday night for a Southeastern Conference basketball victory over Florida, 77-72.

Larry Conley, the scoring leader with 20 points, led the Kentuckians to a 6-1 margin in opening minutes. Kentucky had a 41-33 halftime edge and protected its advantage throughout the second half when the best the Gators could do was to whittle the gap to three points near the game's end.

BOB CHARLES' TRAP SHOT SALVAGES PAR Lefty in trap on 15th in Palm Springs play Saturday

Casper, Unknown Tie For Tournament Lead

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Veteran Bill Casper Jr. and young Chuck Courtney—who is playing in only his fourth professional tournament—forged into a two-way tie Saturday in the fourth round of the marathon 90-hole $50,000 Palm Springs Golf Classic.

Casper, 34, a former National Open champion, and the 23-year-old Courtney, an ex-college amateur star, go into the final 18 holes Sunday with a two-stroke lead. Both are from San Diego, Calif.

Casper, playing the Bermuda Dunes Country Club course, one of four employed for the first four rounds, had a two-under-par 70, and apparently had taken sole possession of the top spot.

Abruptly came the word from the Indian Wells course that the unheralded Courtney had knocked out a five-under-par 67 to tie Casper with a 72-hole score of 278.

The deadlock was the fourth straight day that a tie resulted.

Charlie Sifford, who had shared the lead in the three previous rounds, and British Open champion Bob Charles of New Zealand, the co-leader with Charlie starting out Saturday morning, fell back with a pair of 73s and a total score of 281.

newcomer from Florence, S.C., who had a 71.

Tied at 282 were Jimmy Demaret, with a 72; Dave Marr, with a 68, and Australia's Bruce Devlin, with a 70.

The pre-tournament favorites, defending champion Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, remained in the field, which was trimmed down to the low 60 scorers, but trail the leaders.

Nicklaus had a 72 for 285 and Palmer, who almost blew himself out of the desert with a 78 Wednesday, trimmed down to a 69 for 290.

Also on hand for the final round will be National Open champion Julius Boros, who had a 71 for 286.

WRITERS WILL TAKE VOTE

Six Could Join Hall Of Fame

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—At least one and perhaps as many as six baseball stars of the golden past may be added to the Hall of Fame by a veterans' committee Sunday.

Among those being considered are Jake Beckley, Roger Connor, Jim Galvin, Joe Kelley and John Montgomery Ward of the pre 1900s and Leon (Goose) Goslin, Earl Averill and Urban (Red) Faber, who performed in the era between the First and Second World wars.

The veterans' group, headed by chairman Warren Brown of Chicago, considers only players who have been inactive for at least 20 years. The committee votes each year. Last year the committee named four players—outfielders Sam Rice and Elmer Flick and pitchers John Clarkson and Eppa Rixey.

Those four were formally inducted last Aug. 5 at the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., bringing the total membership to 94.

The baseball writers, who vote every other year, have jurisdiction over players active within the last 20 years. In a recent vote, they failed to name a single player. Luke Appling, former star shortstop of the Chicago White Sox, topped the voting but did not receive the required 75 per cent of the votes. A second ballot, in which only the top 30 vote getters were eligible, was taken last week. The result is expected to be announced shortly. Only one can be elected in the rerun.

Paul Kerr, president of the Hall of Fame and a member of the veterans' committee, said the group would meet Sunday in New York to consider the candidates.

"The committee is permitted to elect as many as six to the Hall of Fame," said Kerr, "and I'm quite sure we will elect somebody."

"We will try to clear up the

real old timers (before 1900) and then concentrate on the not-so-old timers. The latter are those who ended their playing careers before 1945."

Averill, a leading candidate among the younger old timers, played mostly for Cleveland. An outfielder, he batted .318 over a 13-year period. Over the span, he slammed 401 doubles, 128 triples, 238 home runs and drove in 1,165 runs. He wound up his career in 1941.

Goslin compiled a .316 batting average in 18 years with Washington, St. Louis and Detroit. An outfielder, he was one of the power hitters of his day, cracking 500 doubles, 173 triples and 248 home runs. He had 2,735 hits. His last year was 1938.

Faber, a right-handed pitcher who spent his entire 20-year career with the White Sox, won 253 games and lost 212. His last year was 1933.

Beckley, whose 20-year-career spanned both centuries, holds the record for most games (2,368) and most putouts (23,496) by a first baseman. Playing for Pittsburgh, New York, Cincinnati and St. Louis, "Old Eagle Eye," as he was called, pounded out 2,930 hits. He had a lifetime batting average of .309.

Connor, one of New York's early idols, compiled a .325 batting average over an 18-year career with the Giants and Cardinals. He was one of the first to hit three home runs and collect six hits in a game.

Galvin was the first of 14 pitchers to register 300 major league victories. He performed for Buffalo and Pittsburgh from 1879 through 1892. A little right-hander, he won 365 games. He registered 46 victories for Buffalo in 1883 and again in 1884.

Kelley, a first baseman and outfielder with four National League clubs, including Baltimore and Brooklyn, posted a .317 batting average over a 17-year span. He still holds the record of nine hits in nine times at bat in a doubleheader.

Ward, who became a prominent attorney after his playing days had ended, was a batting, pitching and fielding star for 17 years with the Providence, New York and Brooklyn clubs.

As a pitcher, he won 158 games, including 25 shutouts and a perfect game for Providence against Buffalo in 1880. As a batter, he collected 2,151 hits, twice batting over .370. As a fielder, he set a still existing record of 12 assists by a second baseman in a nine-inning game.

Ward, who died March 4, 1925, graduated from Penn State and Columbia University Law School. He was the players' attorney in their squabbles with the owners. Ward managed three clubs in the major leagues and was president of the Boston National League club from Dec. 1911 through July, 1912.

Porkers Rally To Turn Back Baylor, 74-70

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks hit a spectacular 75 per cent of their shots from the floor during the second half and came from behind to trip Baylor 74-70 in a Southwest Conference basketball game Saturday.

The Razorbacks trailed the Bears throughout the first half and were two points behind at 33-31 at halftime.

Then the Hogs came back to hit seven out of their next eight field goal attempts and take a commanding lead. They stayed well ahead during the remainder of the game although the Bears closed the gap to four points just before the final whistle.

For the game the Hogs had a 57.4 average from the field, a record for the school. Baylor hit 46 per cent of its shots from the floor.

Winston Moore of Baylor, with 24 points, took individual scoring honors and was the leading rebounder with 12.

Jim Magness was high for Arkansas with 21 points.

West To Sign With Angelo

Charley West, only Big Spring High School student to win a regular position on three athletic teams, has indicated he will accept a scholarship offer from San Angelo State College as soon as the 1964 baseball season is over.

West, who stands 5-foot-11 and weighs 165, was an end in football, plays outside on the Steer basketball team and is a catcher in baseball.

The Negro youth will have earned two varsity letters in each sport before he graduates.

As a football player the past season, West caught 28 passes in ten games for gains totaling 423 yards, although he was injured part of the campaign.

In conference play, he finished second only to Permian's Jay Collins as a receiver, with 20 receptions good for 225 yards and a 12.1-yard average.

He scored 16 points within the league.

Max Burgardner, the SASC mentor, said he was especially pleased to get a commitment from West. He added that "West is my type of ball player, one who likes to win and likes to play."

The young man probably is best remembered here for a pass he caught from Albert Fierro in the last few seconds of the game against Permian that set up the Steers' winning touchdown.

Charley got behind the Panther backs on the play, waited up for the ball and roared down to the Panther one before being arrested. Fierro drove over for the winning touchdown on the next play. The pass play to West covered 53 yards.

Fry has been head football coach since December, 1961. Fry's contract has two years to run. Tate said a new contract for both football coach and athletic director will be for five years.

Tate also said that on July 1, Lester Jordan will become assistant director of athletics. F. F. Eldridge, assistant sports information director, will be sports information director, a job Jordan has held since 1942.

Jordan and Eldridge also will continue as business manager and assistant business manager of athletics.

BOBBY MAXWELL

Bob Maxwell Changes Jobs

Bobby Maxwell, one-time Big Spring resident, has accepted a position as assistant golf pro at the famed Colonial Country Club in Fort Worth.

Maxwell, a brother to twin Billy Maxwell, a fixture on the pro links tour, and W. O. Maxwell, Webb AFB golf pro here, resigned a similar job at the Brookhaven Country Club in Dallas to take the Fort Worth job.

He will be assisting head pro Roland Harper on his new job. Bobby has been a teaching pro at White Plains, N. Y., and at Long Island's Oceanside Country Club. He also worked at the San Angelo Country Club.

Bobby replaces John Rhodes at Colonial. Rhodes has been called to Air Force Reserve service.

Maxwell attended high school in Big Spring, as well as HCJC, and reigned as both the Big Spring Invitational tournament and City champion. He was on the tour several times.

FORTH WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The Colonial National Invitation followed tradition Saturday and extended its first two golf tournament invitations to Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson.

Hogan, inactive the past few years, has appeared in all but the 1963 National Invitation and is the only five-time champion.

Hayden Fry Made Athletic Director

DALLAS (AP)—Football Coach Hayden Fry at Southern Methodist University was given the added duties of athletic director Saturday.

President Willis Tate said Fry will assume the director's job July 1 with the retirement of Matty Bell, athletic director 19 years.

Fry has been head football coach since December, 1961. Fry's contract has two years to run. Tate said a new contract for both football coach and athletic director will be for five years.

Tate also said that on July 1, Lester Jordan will become assistant director of athletics. F. F. Eldridge, assistant sports information director, will be sports information director, a job Jordan has held since 1942.

Jordan and Eldridge also will continue as business manager and assistant business manager of athletics.

Michigan Garners Ann Arbor Victory

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Second-ranked Michigan retained its unblemished record in the Big Ten with an easy 95-79 basketball victory over Michigan State Saturday.

The Wolverines, who now have won 15 of 16 games, were forced to play most of the second half without star center Bill Buntin.

Buntin, who scored 23 points as Michigan surged to a 53-37 halftime advantage, fouled out with 14:10 remaining.

Cazzie Russell, who scored 24 points as Michigan beat Michigan State a week ago, topped all scorers with 25. Buntin's 23 were next.

Longhorns Lose To Red Hosses

ODESSA — Odessa High, led by Terry Trippet, handed Big Spring its seventh straight defeat in District 2-AAAA basketball play here Friday night, winning by a score of 72-62.

The red-hot Bronchos built up a 20-point lead in the final period and then let the reserves take over.

Big Spring played well the first half and trailed by only three points at the intermission. Coach Delnor Poss went with sophomores where possible. Simon Terrazas, a sophomore, bucketed 13 points to lead the Steers while senior Ronnie Banks had 12 and sophomore Joe Jaure 11.

Trippet, leading scorer in the conference, padded that lead by scoring 33 points. In two games against the Longhorns, Trippet tallied 73 points.

Ronnie Banks sunk a free shot with 5:08 to go in the third to deadlock the score at 37-37. After that, Odessa went ahead to stay.

Odessa had only one player besides Trippet in double figures. He was Dennis Brewster, who wound up with 14.

Hewitt Meets Ralph Boston

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Eight individuals and three relay teams will defend their titles in the third annual Lubbock Indoor Meet Monday night.

Jack Miller of Oklahoma State won the 500-yard dash in 1963 and his competition will come from Jerry Anderson of Texas by May of Rice, Fred Knight of New Mexico, Ronnie Biffie of Texas Tech and Jess Tier of Oklahoma State. Hewitt won in 7.4 seconds last year.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

News that Big Spring's Tim Smith will enroll at Texas Tech on an athletic scholarship this fall will probably be announced Feb. 11. . . . John Conley, the Tech coaching aide, was here the other night to firm up the deal. . . . "He's a hitter, that's for sure," Conley said of Tim after viewing films of Steer games. . . . Conley, by the way, says he didn't succumb to the offer of a job made by the University of California because "all our friends are in this area". . . . He formerly coached at Snyder, you know, and has met a lot of people in his scouting trips for Tech. . . . It appears now that six or seven of the 1963 Steers will get athletic scholarships. . . . Ken Chrane, who could have had an appointment to West Point had he so elected, may wind up at TCU. . . . Coye Conner has already been offered a four-year scholarship at the University of Texas but may take an entrance exam to the Air Force Academy. . . . Both Chrane and Conner are brilliant students. . . . Albert Fierno can about write his own ticket in college — Bob Devaney, head coach at Nebraska, was down here to visit with him yesterday and John Bridgers, the Baylor mentor, talked at length with him here last week. . . . Charley West will probably go either to San Angelo State or Eastern New Mexico University. . . . Dick Irons can go either to Texas A&M or Texas Tech on a full scholarship. . . . Thurman Randle likely will wind up either at Texas A&I or Emporia State in Kansas. . . . Both the University of Kansas and Kansas State have expressed a lot of interest in several local boys. . . . Don Robbins, the local head coach, still hopes to add an athletic trainer to the Steer staff by September. . . . All other schools in District 2-AAAA have them now. . . . Herman Smith currently doubles as the team trainer. . . . R. C. Moore and Cliff Patton will handle the high school track and field program this spring. Roy Baird and Melvin Lindsey will coach baseball and Dan Lewis will serve as golf mentor.

TV Networks Outfoxed Themselves

When San Angelo school officials came here for the District 2-AAAA executive meeting recently, they suggested the two high schools down there might be consolidated one of these days, which means boundary lines would be redrawn. . . . Emory Ballard, the San Angelo coach, laughingly said he was going to try and get all the girls sent to Lake View High, however. . . . Both David Parks, the All-American end from Texas Tech, and Harley Sewell, the University of Texas great, were born in St. Jo, Texas. . . . Bud Wilkinson passed up the chance to return to the University of Minnesota as football coach several years ago because he didn't like the way his old coach, Bernie Bierman, had been treated. . . . He indicated to close friends he would have taken the Gopher job in 1951 had Bierman been named athletic director. . . . Darrell Royal, the University of Texas coach, was fuming on the sidelines in the Cotton Bowl game over his team getting two penalties in a row when a boy happened to say, in so many words: "Now settle down, coach, and don't get excited. There's not a thing you can do about it." . . . The boy? He was Mike King, son of the Midland mentor, Harold King, who was red-shirted at Texas the past fall. . . . The TV networks outfoxed themselves in bidding for the right to air pro football games. . . . NBC was confident it would win the NFL contract with a bid of $21,500,000 for two years. . . . ABC, however, offered an estimated $26,000,000, then raised the bid to $27,500,000, in hopes of keeping the rights to the AFL games. . . . The plan didn't work and ABC is out in the cold, all the way around. . . . Twyman Ash, who resigned a job as a coaching aide at Abilene High recently to join a cafeteria chain in San Antonio, considered a coaching offer extended by Big Spring a couple of years ago but decided the Abilene position offered greater security.

McMorries Has 5 Boxers In Stable

Melton McMorries, the Martin County farmer who keeps his hand in the fight game, now has five boxers in his stable. . . . His top hand, Josita Peralta, recently had to sweat out 4.4 pounds for a bout in Juarez and lost the decision. . . . Melton sat in on one night of the Golden Gloves tournament at Odessa and predicts a promising career in the pro ranks for Sammy Alvarez, probably the classiest boy in the Odessa show. . . . Melton's son, Neal, is one of the standouts on the stellar basketball team at Grady Elementary School, which won 23 of its first 24 games and lost the other by a single point. . . . There's some talk a professional fight card or two will be staged here later this year. . . . E. B. Dozier Jr., of Lubbock, who won $1,300 in the recent bowling tournament at Dallas, was a professional golfer a few years ago and is a former champion of the Big Spring Invitational links tournament. . . . Cooper Stays In Loop Lead

MIDLAND — Abilene Cooper stayed on top of District 2-AAAA along with the Permian Panthers Friday night as they battled past a determined Midland Lee crew, 72-65.

Lee led 60-59 late in the fourth quarter but the Cougars romped on to victory.

Don Ray led the Cougars with 22 points while Mike Frizzell had 20 for Lee.

Wranglers Beaten In Bulldog Game

ODESSA — The Odessa Wranglers dropped their fifth Western College Conference contest in a row Friday night as the Clarendon Bulldogs sailed for a 61-54 victory.

James Allen led Clarendon with 21 while Buddy Othick had 19 for Odessa.

Gail Trounces Dragons, 69-58

FLOWER GROVE — Gail humbled Flower Grove, 69-58, in a District 87-B basketball game here Friday night.

Bill Nunnally meshed 18 points for Gail.

Gail also won the girls' contest, 47-36, as Pam Stephens and Brenda Billeck each tallied 18 points. Carolyn Nichols tossed in 13 for Flower Grove.

Pico Prepares To Final Penn Strike

Pico Drilling Company of Midland No. 1 J. O. Gunn was being placed on a pump for completion as a discovery of Pennsylvanian sand production in Scurry County, 13 miles east of Snyder.

The latest production gauge on the wildcat recorded a flow of 134.12 barrels of new oil in 11 hours through a 12-64-inch choke from perforations at 6,333-341 feet, which had been acidized with 1,250 gallons of mud acid and fractured with 15,000 gallons.

KICKED OFF

The prospect died after this flow and was left open overnight. During the night, it kicked off and flowed an additional 20.63 barrels of oil. A total of 154.75 barrels of new oil had been recovered in 25 1/2 hours.

A drillstem test in an upper Pennsylvanian sand zone, at 6,310-30 feet, recovered 285 feet of oil and gas-cut drilling fluid with the bottom 90 feet estimated to be 10 per cent oil.

Location for the prospector is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 11, block 3, H&TC survey, four miles southwest of the Camp Springs (Pennsylvanian) area.

Western Has New Division

FORT WORTH—Creation of a new division of The Western Company and appointment of principals to direct its operation have been announced by president Fred D. Crowther.

Named the Pipe Treating Division, the service will include the facilities and personnel of Trayco, Inc., an Odessa based firm recently acquired by Western. It will specialize in the internal cleaning and coating of pipelines already installed underground. It will serve oil and gas producing companies and both fresh and salt water systems.

Heading the new division are Philip H. Houser, general manager, F. F. Traylor, former owner of Trayco and now sales representative and treating specialist, and Leon W. Westcott, supervisor of field operations.

Area Rotary Tabulation Shows Increase Of Nine

The Friday tabulation of rotary drilling units operating in the Permian Basin Empire, by Reed Roller Bit Company, showed 204 units, an increase of nine over the 195 rigs reported a week ago.

This also is an increase of four over the 200 shown on the comparable survey during 1963.

LEA LEADS

Lea County, N. M., with 45, down four, was in first place. Pecos was second with 16, unchanged from a week ago, and Andrews dropped to 15, a loss of three rigs, to take third place.

Dawson County maintained its leading pace in the local eight-county area. In all, the area rose one rig by virtue of Borden County gaining two units and Martin and Mitchell each picking up a single. Dawson, Howard and Sterling each dropped one rotary.

TABULATION

Looking at each county, with the previous week's figures in parenthesis, the tabulation was: Andrews 15 (18), BORDEN 2 (0), Chaves 1 (1), Cochran 1 (1), Coke 1 (2), Concho 1 (0), Crane 9 (9), CROCKETT 4 (2),

Marathon Reports Earnings Increase

FINDLAY, Ohio — Marathon Oil Company's preliminary net income for the year 1963 was $49,125,000, an increase of 27.7 per cent over earnings of $37,869,000 in the previous year, J. C. Donnell II, president, has announced.

On a per-share basis, 1963 earnings were equal to $3.30 on 14,967,077 shares outstanding at the end of the period, compared with $2.61 on 14,529,745 shares in 1962.

AMERADA FINDS STRAWN

Amerada Petroleum Corporation has re-completed No. 1-B R. Whitaker, a former producer in the Amrow (Devonian) pool of Gaines County, 15 miles southeast of Seminole, as a Strawn oil discovery.

It potential on pump for 229 barrels of 33.3-gravity oil, plus 24 per cent water, through perforations at 18,937-962 feet which had been acidized with 2,900 gallons.

It originally was completed in June, 1957 to pump 130 barrels of 35-gravity oil per day from the Devonian through an open hole section between 12,614-725 feet.

It is 5 1/2 miles south of the two-well Amrow, North (Strawn) region and 550 feet from south and 1,100 feet from east lines of labor 2, league 311, Gaines County School Land survey.

The prospect was drilled by Gulf Oil Corporation and declared a dividend of forty cents per share, payable March 10 to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 7.

Production From Strawn Indicated At Tucker Site

Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., San Angelo, No. 2-B Bill Upton, has indicated production as the second Strawn lime oil producer and as a location north extension to that pay in the BTU (Strawn oil and Canyon gas) area of Tom Green County, 16 miles southeast of San Angelo.

A drillsite test at 4,528-536 feet, open one hour, brought gas to the surface in 13 minutes at a rate of 140,000 cubic feet daily. Recovery was 370 feet of free oil, 60 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut drilling mud and 60 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut water.

A second test at 4,563-573 feet, also a one-hour check, flowed gas in five minutes at a rate too small to measure. Recovery was 630 feet of free oil and 750 feet of gas-cut water.

The prospect was drilled by Gulf Oil Corporation and declared a dividend of forty cents per share, payable March 10 to shareholders of record at the close of business Feb. 7.

Oilmen Help Hike Moose Population

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ordinarily Alaska moose don't have much time for family life. They are out foraging for food.

Standard Oil of California took note of that when it went after oil in moose country on Alaska's Kenai Peninsula in 1957.

Friday, Standard's land department manager, D. G. Novillo, told the results to the National Industrial Conservation Conference.

"As we built roads, we cleared adjacent strips of about seven acres to the mile as extra forage area. With less time required in the struggle to avoid winter starvation, the moose turned to other pursuits.

"Soon the moose population had markedly increased."

Robinson Finds Mitchell Oiler

Robinson Drilling Co. No. 11 W. W. Watson, which spots 960 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east lines of section 20-29, T&P survey, pumped 65 barrels of 30.1-gravity oil on initial potential in the Iatan-East Howard field in Mitchell County.

Elevation is 2,304 feet, total depth is 3,277 feet, the well was perforated between 3,081-203 feet and the zone was fraced with 500 barrels of water. The gas-oil ratio was nil.

Modest Improvement Predicted For 1964

DALLAS—Texas oil men are looking for a continuation in 1964 of the modest trend of improvement in the state's petroleum output begun in 1963, according to James L. Sewell, Dallas, president of Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

"All the statistics will not be in for some time, but over all it appears the Texas petroleum industry made some small gains in income in 1963. However, drilling—which is a phase of petroleum industry operations with far-reaching effect on the economy of local Texas communities—continues to lag," Sewell said.

"Rising costs and uncertainties of demand and oil price levels discourage and oil on the scale that our state enjoyed a few years ago. However, we do expect to participate to some degree in the rising demand for oil and gas which accompanies a healthy national economy."

1963 OUTPUT

The 1963 output of oil and gas is estimated by the association at approximately $1.7 billion — some $2.9 billion for crude oil and about $766 million for natural gas.

"Within the industry and the regulatory framework under which it operates, we can expect to see continued pressures toward improvements which will help in our competitive struggle to produce Texas oil for the U.S. markets," Sewell said.

Another development which also will probably involve operating costs for Texas operators is the intra-industry campaign to protect Texas fresh water supplies against pollution. Texas industry leadership has put a high priority on this activity for 1964, Sewell said.

TEXAS VALUE

The value of Texas oil production in 1963 is calculated at about $2,911,704,000, an increase of some $115,568,000 over the year before. The value of crude oil still remains well below the all-time peak of $3.3 billion set in 1957, although in 1963 it was at the highest point in recent years.

Preliminary estimates indicate that the value of Texas natural gas production in 1963 totaled approximately $766,562,000, a slight increase over 1962.

Texas farmers, ranchers, and others owning mineral interest in oil and gas production received an estimated $460 million in 1963 for their royalty share.

Class Set By AAODC

The spring term of the school of drilling technology will begin Feb. 10 in Odessa. It is offered through the Petroleum Extension Service of the University of Texas.

The school, like all schools operated by the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors which is sponsoring it, is an attempt to bridge the gap between field experience and formal education in subjects covered.

During the fall session in 1963 some 680 men enrolled in the program, almost one-third of them from outside the U. S. or from foreign drilling operational areas.

The study courses to be offered during the spring term are drilling management, drilling equipment, drilling, coring and deviation, drilling fluids and slim holes, casing, cementing and completions. The term runs six weeks.

Gasser Blows Strongly At Pecos Test

Humble Oil and Refining Company and May and Williams of Fort Stockton No. 1-2 Coyanosa Unit, Pecos County exploration 22 miles northwest of Fort Stockton, has recorded the first of a set of four-point gauges, taken to calculate an open flow potential from the Devonian.

From perforations at 11,686-826 feet, naturally, the project flowed 10,430,000 cubic feet of gas daily through a 34-64-inch choke with flowing tubing pressure of 1,650 pounds. The gas flow was accompanied by condensate at the rate of 19.6 barrels, 53-gravity, per million cubic feet.

The project is three-fourths mile northeast of the discovery and lone producer in the Coyanosa (Devonian) pool and 1,320 feet from north and west lines of section 46, block OW, TTRR survey.

Marathon Oil Company will re-enter No. 1-1 P. L. Anderson, a former Ellenburger oil producer in the Frankrijk multipay field of Stonevaul County, and attempt to re-complete as a Canyon reef lime producer through perforations between 5,948 and 5,953 feet.

It is three-fourths mile north-east of Canyon reef production and six miles southwest of Aspermont, location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 17, block U, T&P survey.

Shell Finals Waddell Well

Shell Oil Company has re-completed No. 7 Sealy-Smith Foundation, a depleted Ellenburger producer, as the third Waddell producer in the multipay Monahans field of Ward County, three miles northwest of Monahans.

On potential at 9,682-740 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons, it flowed 167 barrels of 42-gravity oil, plus five per cent water, through an open choke, with gas-oil ratio of 1.776-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 130 pounds.

The location is 1,900 feet from north and 650 feet from west lines of section 22, block A, G&MMB&A survey.

PINNED AT MEDICAL ARTS

Three Nurses Receive Pins

Graduation exercises for three Big Spring nurses were held Friday night at Medical Arts Clinic Hospital. The ceremony signaled the end of a year of vocational training.

Graduating are Mrs. Dobie Bedwell, 602 Lancaster; Mrs. Mary Pigott, 214 Elm; and Mrs. Anne Lain, 605 Main.

Dr. Neil Sanders, director of nursing, presented diplomas to the graduates. Mrs. Haley Haynes, a registered nurse, gave them pins for their caps; and Myrtle Eller, another registered nurse, put pins on their blouses. Guest speaker was Wesley Deats. Rev. Marvin James gave the invocation and benediction.

Mrs. Sherman Whitaker has been course instructor since the class was organized in February of 1963.

Chairman Named

AUSTIN (AP)—L. L. Colbert, chairman of Chrysler Corp. of Canada, is the new chairman of the University of Texas Development Board's National Corporation Committee. The committee is composed of 28 executives who assist the university in seeking voluntary support from business and industry. Colbert is a 1925 graduate of the university.

Speech Pupils Entertain ABC Ladies' Day Crowd

Three members of the Big Spring High School Speech and Drama classes gave brief addresses before Ambucus and Amdoes at the Friday luncheon of the American Business Club held Friday at the Settles Hotel.

Speakers included Larry Forniquet, Cathy Seddon and Pat Hamilton, all of whom were introduced by their teacher, Dan Shockey.

Forniquet's talk was in a humorous vein, in the manner of an after-dinner speaker. He chose as his subject "Women" and started his discourse by saying that "the weaker sex in actuality is the stronger sex because of the weakness the stronger sex has for the weaker sex" and went on to discuss their driving habits and their penchant for keeping men in their proper places.

Hamilton chose as his subject Lyndon B. Johnson and discussed the similarities and differences between the new President of the United States and his predecessor, the late John F. Kennedy.

Shockey introduced Miss Seddon as "one of the finest pupils I have ever had the privilege of coaching" and heard her give a eulogy on Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden, the late secretary-general of the United Nations.

Miss Seddon emphasized her point that the U.N. "developed personality under Hammarskjold's leadership."

Mrs. Carol Patton, representative of the Officers Wives Club of Webb AFB, was in attendance to promote the club's upcoming musical, "The Red Stocking Revue," which will be presented at the Municipal Auditorium.

The ABC club's candidate for the role of the maharajah in the revue will be Elmo Phillips, and Mrs. Patton urged club members to campaign in his behalf.

Friday was ladies' day within the club and several wives were present for the luncheon.

City Schools Scheduling Classroom Spelling Bees

Big Spring's 12 elementary and two junior high schools are enthusiastically committed to the Second Annual Howard County (Herald) Spelling Bee.

Sam Anderson, superintendent of the city schools, contacted the principals at a meeting last week and all expressed intention to wholeheartedly push ahead with the Spelling Bee.

Initial effort will be devoted to recruiting young spellers in each classroom. The Big Spring schools have already acquired 300 copies of "Words of Champions" — the official practice spelling book used in the annual Spelling Bees.

Goliad and Runnels Junior High Schools have bought additional copies of the book and classroom practice sessions will be started at once.

Forsan Junior High School (Elbow) began its spelling activities early. It has been distributing spelling books and setting up plans for classroom eliminations for more than a week.

Immaculate Heart of Mary Parish School has announced it will have its own classroom eliminations and select its champion and runner-up to compete in the County Spelling Bee — March 21 in the Howard County Junior College auditorium.

No word has been received from Coahoma, but last year the school had an important part in the County Bee and slated some tough competition.

Each school will hold classroom eliminations and a school

PROPER DIET is an aid to sound teeth which may produce a pretty smile like that of Cynthia Pond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pond. Milk is recognized as being vital to the proper development of teeth, and the eating of crisp apples is recommended for both general health and mouth cleanliness. Cynthia is following the poster's advice to "take care of your teeth and keep your smile."

DAILY BRUSHING is a habit being formed early by Donnie Hungerford, son of Rev. and Mrs. Donald N. Hungerford, 901 Dallas St. Donnie, 6, and his sisters, Ellen, 9, Beth, 8, and Harriet, 3, have been taught to cleanse their teeth after meals. Donnie uses an acceptable dentifrice and brushes vigorously for best results.

DENTAL SOCIETY members plan a local educational program which will include lectures to teachers and school nurses. The professional advice is intended to assist faculty members and nurses in carrying out health programs in the schools. Also, the society provides literature and posters on dental health which are displayed in schools, offices, hospitals and business establishments.

HOW IT'S DONE is demonstrated for fourth graders at Marcy Elementary School. Mrs. Perry Mathis, school nurse, uses a plastic model and literature provided by the health unit in Austin to teach proper dental care. Watching the procedure are Glenn Downs, Margaret Eichbrecht and Curtis Vaughn.

Children's Dental Health Week

By JO BRIGHT

The Dental Health Education Program comes to a climax with National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 2-8. The purpose of the program is to alert the children, parents, teachers and citizens of the community to the importance of good dental health and care for children.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Texas Dental Association has played a vital role in the dental health program in Texas. Its goal is to promote effective, year-round dental health education in Texas.

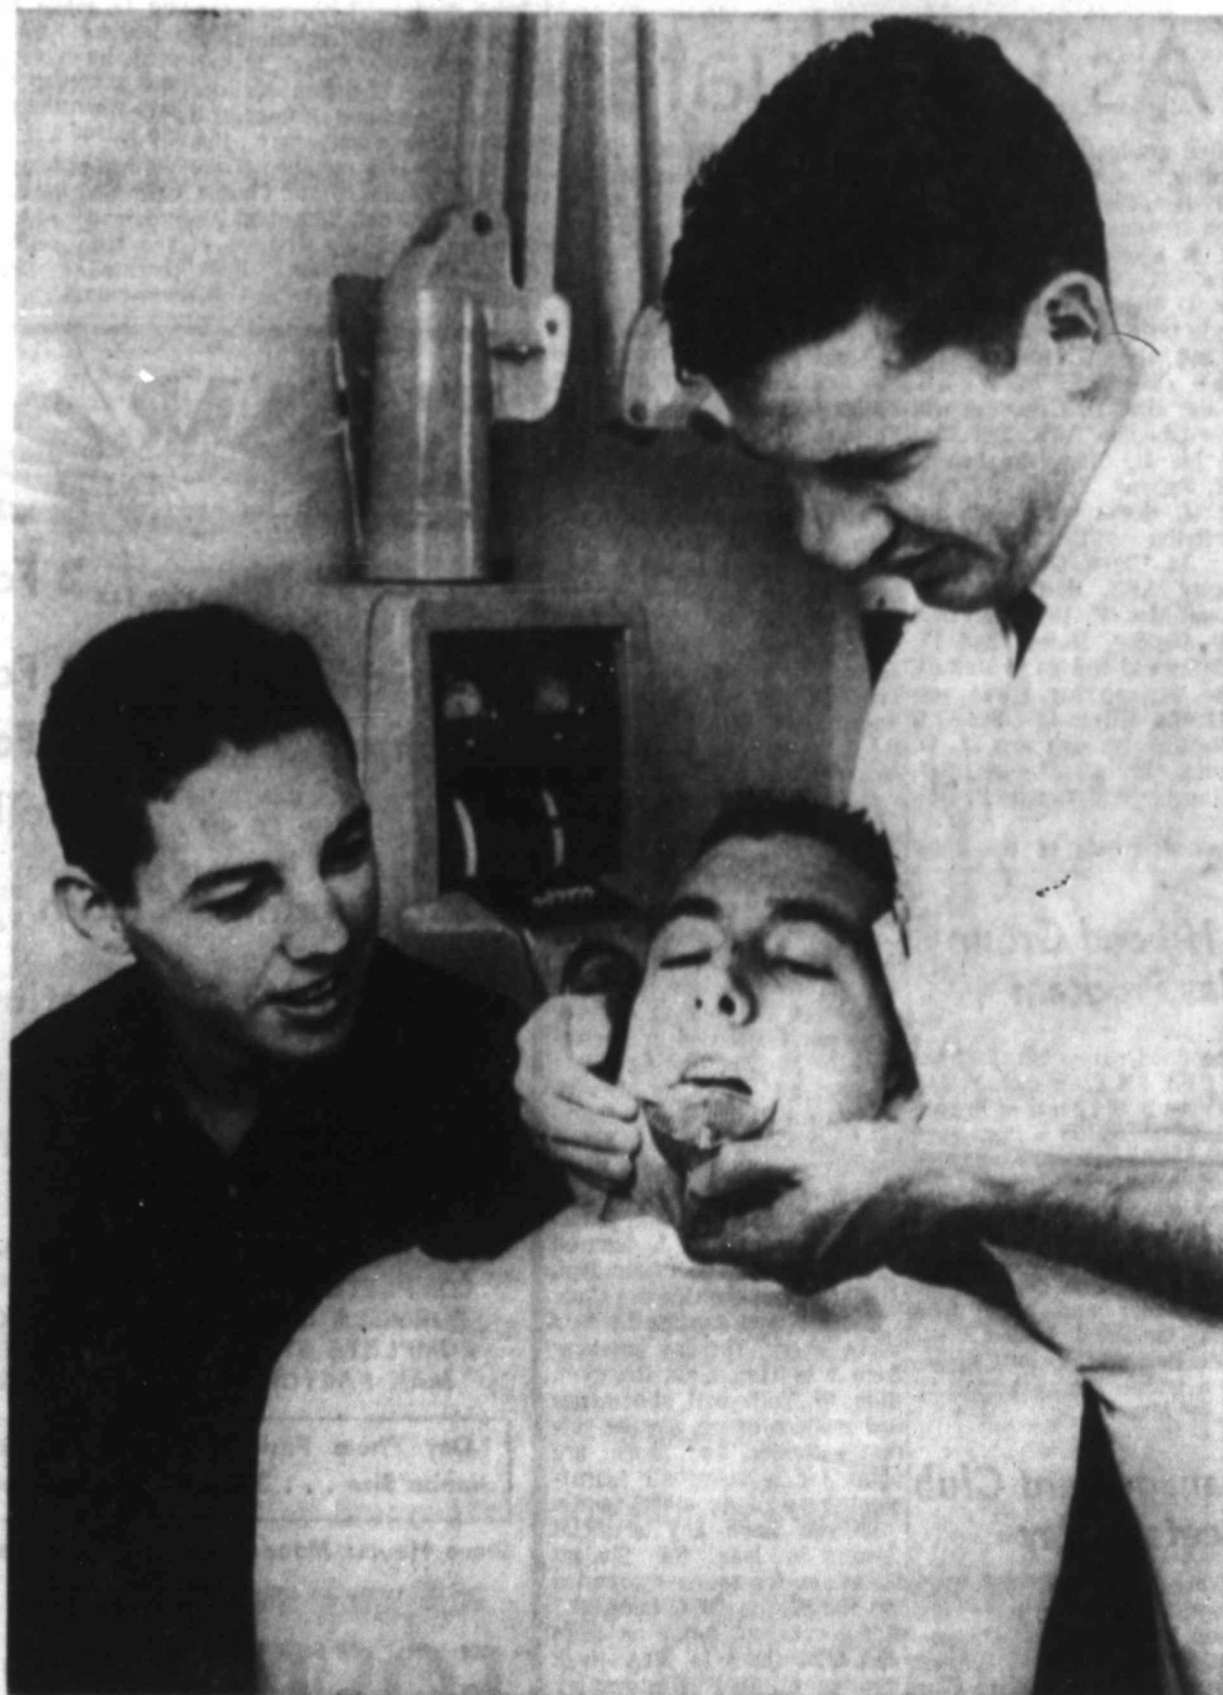

The local district society and auxiliary have worked toward this goal by organizing an active committee from the surrounding area. Representatives from Big Spring, Midland and Odessa work together with Dr. Jack Young of Midland and Mrs. Glenn Allen of Big Spring as chairmen. These towns also work individually, and a committee was formed locally to further dental health goals.

Representing the dental society and auxiliary are Dr. Douglas Smith, Mrs. Charles Warren and Mrs. Allen. Other committee members are Mrs. Perry Mathis, school nurse; Capt. L. E. Healy and Sgt. Clifton G. Renfro, Webb Air Force Base dental clinic; and Mrs. L. W. Huffstetler of the dental assistants organization.

The committee will guide the local program by providing information on the dental health problems of school children, setting up store window displays and being available to teachers and nurses for consultation.

Couple Repeats Vows In Friday Ceremony

Miss Paula Beth Dostier and Trine David Tarbet pledged nuptial vows at 8 p.m., Jan. 21, in the College Street Church of Christ in Grapevine. T. H. Tarbet, father of the bridegroom and minister of West Highway 80 Church of Christ, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clyde Dostier of Grapevine and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Tarbet, 422 Ryan St., are parents of the bridegroom.

The rites were read before an altar basked with palm leaf greenery, which formed a background for candelabra flanked by baskets of white gladioli, white carnations and stock.

Music was provided by a chorus from the Church of Christ Bible Choir at North Texas State University who sang "Reverie," "Faithful and True," and "Lord Bless You and Keep You." Miss Julia Lansford sang "I Pledge My Love," and Bob Burgoon presented "Wedding Prayer." Mr. and Mrs. Burgoon were heard in a duet, "Whither Thou Goest."

WEDDING GOWN

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of gardenia white lace over tulle with styled and moided bodice and elbow length sleeves. Seed pearls and iridescent sequins edged the scalloped bateau neckline. A panel of pleated silk organza accented the front of the belted skirt which was fashioned with a detachable lace train. Her fingertip veil of bridal tulle was held by a crown of seed pearls.

The bridal bouquet was a white orchid encircled with stephanotis and carried atop a white satin-covered basket.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Robert Dale Burgoon of Tucumcari, N. M., and the bridesmaids were Miss Floyce Ward of Coppell and Miss Kathy Tarbet, sister of the bridegroom. Their dresses were of peacock blue designed with fitted bodice and belted skirt. Each carried a long-stemmed carnation.

Jesse Hilliard of Grapevine attended as best man. Groomsmen were Jim Tarbet, brother of the bridegroom, and J. T. Page of Bakersfield, Calif. Serving as ushers were Jim Hum-

Latex-Lucky Pair Starts New Industry

NEW YORK (AP) — Latex foam rubber, widely used today for furniture cushions, pillows and mattresses, was accidentally discovered in 1929 by two English scientists who were trying to make better tires. The scientists were making tire cords by extruding latex rubber into a gelling bath under pressure when the nozzle popped off the extruder.

A ball of latex spurted into the bath and foamed like shaving cream because of the pressure. The men refined the process, patented it and so founded a new industry.

Supper Time

Cliff Hockersmith, surveyor, is in the field much of the time, and his wife can't discount his appetite for the evening meal. He and daughter, Belinda, are being served their full share of dessert, a home-baked pie.

In Work And In Play Family Finds Fun

By KATHLEEN DOZIER
Whether it's work or play, the Cliff Hockersmith family makes it a family affair and fun.

Surveyor for the Texaco Co., Hockersmith, his wife and daughter, Belinda, 6, moved here from Ozona Dec. 13. They have made themselves at home, 1803 N. Monticello, as they have done in many other places including Lamesa, Carlsbad, N. M., Roswell and Fort Stockton.

"Cliff and I were born and reared in Kermit, went to the same schools and even attended the same algebra class, but we didn't become acquainted until later at the bowling alley," Mrs. Hockersmith told of their meeting. So they took it from there—a courtship developed and two and a half years later they were married.

CONTINUED COURTSHIP
Apparently the courtship continued during the six and a half years of marriage. Mrs. Hockersmith said that they still bowl. "When Belinda was only a few weeks old we took her to the bowling alley," and her daddy says that as soon as she is big enough to handle the ball, he plans to teach her." Mrs. Hockersmith continued. On Sunday, the three make car-washing and picnicking fun.

His work is intriguing as well as puzzling to Mrs. Hockersmith. She wants to understand it, but so far she hasn't been able to grasp the technical points even with all his explaining.

HOMEMAKING
Stating that she likes to keep house and sew was unnecessary for she is obviously a perfectionist. The Hockersmith home is a shining example of how to keep house, and Belinda's prim, full-skirted dress which her mother made was something any young lady would be proud to wear.

The Hockersmiths may not be here long, but wherever the company sends him they will make it home and be happy to make new friends. "This has been good for us," Mrs. Hockersmith explained, "because when Cliff and I left Kermit—we had lived there all our lives—we were both shy and found it hard to become acquainted." Now, they are obviously an outgoing, people-loving young couple, and Belinda thinks its great to find new friends wherever they go.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Rag Keeps Paint Can From Getting Messy

Dear Heloise:

I would like to pass along one of my favorite hints:
When I open a new can of paint, I take a strip of a rag about an inch wide (depending on the weight of the cloth) and a little longer than the circumference of the can.

I twist this rag and push it into the groove in the top of the can. This prevents the paint from collecting there.

When I have finished painting it is then a simple matter to pull out the twisted rag "strip," and you have a nice clean groove and the lid fits perfectly, with no paint splashes, when it is pounded into place.

I then store any remaining paint in the can upside-down and when used again the paint mixes easily with no "skin" on the top.—G. C. K.

Dear Heloise:

What would you do if your husband sat in the living room and watched baseball or football games on TV while he had

Mums Authority To Give Lecture

Edward W. Zukauckas Jr. will be guest speaker for the Midland Council of Garden Club Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the Theatre Center, 2301 W. Indiana. All interested persons are invited to hear him talk on "Peak Performance Perennial." He will use slides for illustration.

Zukauckas, associate professor of horticulture and park management at Texas Tech, holds BS and MS degrees from Rutgers University. He has developed several new mum varieties and is responsible for the mum test plot on the Tech campus.

Tickets for the lecture will be available at the door for 50 cents.

a million other things to do, such as fixing leaky water faucets, repairing the flat tire on Jimmy's bicycle (and he needs it now), trimming the hedge, repairing the plug on the end of my iron (and I can't get the ironing done without it), getting a new safety sticker for the car . . . and you couldn't do any of these things yourself! —Homemaker

Let's leave it to our readers! Anyone have an answer? Write to Heloise in care of The Big Spring Herald. We would like to hear both sides of this story. Letters do not have to be signed to appear in this column.—Heloise.

Dear Heloise:
When I make powdered sugar frosting, instead of using milk or any other liquid, I use real hot strong coffee. It gives the icing a fudge taste, and it's not at all like the usual powdered sugar icing.—Mrs. E. A.

Dear Heloise:
My husband laid a magazine on top of my hardwood coffee table and there was some moisture under it. It stuck. What can I do? I'm afraid to try sandpaper, and my fingernail and the kitchen knife won't take it off.—Housewife.

Dear Homemaker:
Never use sandpaper or a kitchen knife to remove this type of stuck paper.

Take some salad oil (from your kitchen cabinet), and saturate a piece of cotton with the oil. Lay the cotton on top of the stuck paper. Leave it 24 hours. The next day wipe it with a soft cloth. May take more than one application.

Lots of people who do not keep salad oil in their homes use mayonnaise!—and, yes, it works. I do not recommend mayonnaise for some types of wood, but it works on most of them. Just dip up a spoonful of mayonnaise and smear it on the stuck paper. When the paper gets oily use a cloth and wipe it off. Repeat if necessary.—Heloise

In regard to old out-dated neckties, here's what I do with them.

Anyone who can sew, can rip the ties open, lay them side by side and stitch them together. They make a novel and fascinating skirt for ballet dancers, ice skaters, roller skaters, etc.

The brighter the ties, the prettier the skirt will be.—Dorothy Louis

Dear Heloise:
For almost three years I tried in vain to get radiators in our home clean by using a radiator brush. One day I tried blowing the dirt out with the exhaust end of my vacuum cleaner. Never again will I struggle with a brush which doesn't reach where it should anyhow.

Blow the dirt from your radiator first, then clean your floor and do the dusting.—Reader

by kathleen dozier

Another weekend and I hope you're taking advantage of it. If you are and have time, I'll tell you what I know. Geraldine (Mrs. Randall) Polk isn't too relaxed, 'cause she's anxiously awaiting the arrival of friends. You know she was born in Alaska, and when she came to the states she left lifelong friendships behind. They're catching up with her, however, and just any day the Edward Dodds and the Ray Wolfes of Anchorage are to make their appearance. Presently they are in Phoenix. . . Also expected is Randall's brother, Damon, who has been quite ill in a Seattle hospital. The doctors recommended sunshine, so Big Spring was chosen to supply it. . .

Jerrie (Mrs. Raymond) Keithley of Truth or Consequences, N. M., left Friday to return home after a week here with her father, John Hodges, and his wife, Emaline. Jerrie still refers to Truth or Consequences

Mrs. Barton In Midland To Visit

FORSAN (SC)—Mrs. A. D. Barton was in Midland Thursday to be with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Cleo Wilson who is there with her father, S. J. Huestis, a patient in a Midland hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Anderson and son arrived Friday evening to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Anderson, and his sister, Nancy. The family has lived in Austin for the past two years. Anderson, a mid-term graduate from the University of Texas, will be employed as a pharmacist in Big Spring. Miss Joyce Shoultis is home for the weekend from Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Guaranteed To Please Teen-Ager

The "Ivy" cotton oxford cloth shirt is a winner with boys and girls alike. These neatly tailored shirts are "must" items in every teen-ager's wardrobe. Shirts have button-down collars and locker loops stitched on the back yoke. The all-cotton shirts are colorfast and machine washable, features that should appeal to the teen-ager's mother.

by its former name, Hot Springs. I haven't learned whether the old name has come into its own again or not. Seems that I read something on this issue a while back. Have you heard?

If you aren't one of those receiving cards from Raymond Tallett in Africa, you may not know that for the past week he has been in the Brush Country. He, with an interesting party of 12 and leader, Porter Randall, flew to Rome for a sightseeing trip before their flight to Kenya, Nairobi. After a few days there at the Stanley Hotel they left on their camera safari, going first to Namanga. . .

From that point the party traveled to the Amboseli Game Reserve and into the shadows of Mt. Kilimanjaro to view the game. Crossing the Kenya-Tanzania border, they went to Manyara and on south to the Serengeti Reserve and the Ngorongoro Crater where it's said, the wild game is unequalled. . .

Leaving Africa, the travelers will visit places en route to Athens, and there they will view the Grecian ruins and other points of interest before returning to Europe. Raymond will probably leave the party at this point to take care of business matters before he returns to the States. . .

MRS. GEORGE RYAN WALTERS

Miss Lynn Clawson Marries G. Walters

The marriage of Miss Kay Lynn Clawson and George Ryan Walters was solemnized Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the First Christian Church. The double ring service was read by the Rev. Clyde Folts of Fort Worth. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Clawson, Marcy Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walters, Midland. Vows were exchanged before an arch of greenery flanked by basket arrangements of yellow gladioli and bronze mums. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Larry Snodgrass, organist, who accompanied the bride's cousin, Mrs. Phillip Elliott, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight white silk brocade gown, fashioned with a formal, semi-bellied skirt, a princess bodice, scooped neckline and long tapered sleeves. A pillbox secured her veil of silk chiffon, and she carried white orchids with white feathered mums. Traditional articles, old, new, borrowed and blue, were used. Miss Sandra Pace of Pasadena, Texas and Miss Kay Crowover were the bridesmaids. Both wore honey gold, silk brocade dresses having belled peau de sole skirts, round necklines and long sleeves. Peau de sole roses formed their veiled hats, and their flowers were brown feathered carnations. Charles Walters, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Groomsman was Fred Allison of Corsicana, with Lane Clawson, brother of the bride, Jerry and Joe Walters, the bridegroom's brothers, and Johnny La Mond of Fort Worth, ushers. RECEPTION Guests were received afterward at the church by the couple, the parents and the bride's attendants. They were registered by Miss Carolyn Thompson. The reception's house party included Mrs. Doug Davis, Lubbock; Miss Ruth Carmichael, Kerrville; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bettie, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Steward, Miss Betty Joyce Gray and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Dunagan. Out of town guests were Miss Janeen Kidd of Mason; Miss Vicki Childress, Denver City; Mrs. Ray Wilson of Merkel; Mrs. Clyde Folts of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Gale Billings, Houston; Miss Catherine Mar-time of Rotan; and Miss Margaret Vera, San Antonio. HOME IN BIG SPRING After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination Mr. and Mrs. Walters will make their home in Big Spring. For traveling Mrs. Walters chose a brown knit suit with box jacket trimmed in fur, brown lizard accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. A graduate of Big Spring High School, the bride was active in various organizations, secretary of the Student Council and named to Who's Who. She attended Howard County Junior College where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa honor society, president of the Lass-O Club and Summa Cum Laude on the Dean's List. She is a senior student at the University of Texas and a member of the Student-Faculty Discipline Committee. Walters graduated from Midland High School, after which he attended Texas Technological College where he was a member of the school's Debate Team. He is employed with Pollard Chevrolet Co. REHEARSAL Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walters of Midland hosted the rehearsal dinner at 8:30 p.m. Friday, in the Big Spring Country Club.

Cigarettes Are Out; Cigars In

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Men who believe women have encroached too far into their domain are in for another disheartening blow—women are smoking cigars.

"Women are responding more and more to cigars," said Eugene L. Raymond, president of the Cigar Institute of America.

Officials attending a joint meeting of the CIA and the Cigar Manufacturers of America convention held here estimated that some 60,000 American women are already smoking cigars.

One believed that it won't be too long before women begin emulating their Danish sisters and start smoking cigars in public.

Twelve tables were in play for the Friday afternoon duplicate session at the Big Spring Country Club. The game was the third in the Scrambled Series, requiring different partners each week. Those desiring to play with the same partners each week may do so for the weekly award, but they will not be eligible for the series award.

Members were reminded of next Friday's luncheon which will be followed by games at 1:30 p.m.

Those winning in north-south position were Mrs. A. Swartz and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, first; Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Hayden Griffith, second; Mrs. W. K. Edwards Jr. and Mrs. Hollis Webb, third; and Mrs.

Riley Foster and Mrs. Ben McCullough, fourth.

Turn Pot Plants

To keep your plants growing straight and to encourage them to branch out evenly all around, give the clay pot a quarter turn in the same direction every day. Since plants lean toward the greatest source of light, they'll look like the leaning tower of Pisa unless turned.

Miss Cudd To Marry In March

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Cudd of Hamlin announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jane Ellen, to Lt. Cecil P. McMullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. McMullin of Irving. The couple will be married at 7 p.m., March 28, in the Fourteenth and Main Street Church of Christ in Big Spring.

Miss Cudd, a graduate of Big Spring High School in 1960, attended Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock, and was graduated from Abilene Christian College, Abilene. She received a bachelor of science degree in education in 1963. She is now teaching in Bonham Elementary School in Midland.

Lt. McMullin is stationed at Webb Air Force Base where he will graduate March 27 from pilot training school. He was graduated from Irving High School and received a bachelor of science degree in industrial arts education from Abilene Christian College in 1962.

Children Attend Valentine Party

Some 50 children attended a Valentine party given Friday afternoon in West Side Center by the Modern Woman's Forum. Chairman for the annual event was Mrs. V. E. Jones. She was assisted by Mrs. M. A. Cook, Mrs. C. W. Parmenter and Mrs. Hugh Duncan.

Spread with white linen, the refreshment table featured a red and white motif. The white frosted cake was embossed with red hearts, and favors were Valentines.

The January party is a part of the forum's project for the year.

Miss Bartenders Are Now Legal

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — All women in Decatur at least 21 years of age now may tend bar. The City Council repealed a restriction on bartending by women.

The ordinance, adopted in January, 1959, permitted only those women who are tavern licensees or wives of licensees to be bartenders.

The original ordinance was passed because male bartenders thought the lower paid waitresses would be taking their jobs.

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Richmond pleaded guilty to driving without a license and paid an $18 fine in Circuit Court here. But she had an excuse.

She told the court that she didn't know her license had expired because she hadn't looked in her wallet since 1960.

Hootenanny Hair Has Acceptance In U. S.

FOR MID-30s

NEW YORK (AP) — A British hairdresser, Raymond of London, is in the United States to launch hairdos that he hopes will "boomerang to England." One is a teen-age style called The Hootenanny.

"It's a funny thing that Americans accept European ideas and Europeans accept American ideas quicker than if they are presented in their own country. It's the grass-is-always-greener sort of thing," he explains.

The hair style for young girls introduced here is named in honor of The Beatles, four boys "who are creating riots in every city of England" with their entertainment, Raymond says.

The boys play guitars and drums, it seems, and have songs that young people are just wild about. They "are doing one-night stands all over the place even though they have been in show business only about six months," he says. They've even played a Royal Command Performance for the Queen.

ONE FOR MID-30s
Raymond has a variation of The Hootenanny for the girl who wants to look young but isn't. She's perhaps in her mid-30s. For her there is a Hootenanny front and a cone back. The back bit is cone-shaped in sort of a Grecian line and when worn with a huge velvet ribbon bow below is sort of "Empire-Greco," he says.

This cone hairdo resembles the beehive but it is lower and placed laterally. The protuberance is created with a comb filled with wire to take the place of teased hair used with the beehive, he says. You can twist and shake all you want with this non-slip comb, he says.

It merges into the wearer's hair so that it you cannot see where the cone begins or ends, giving a graceful sculpt look that does not look contrived.

Cold Facts Ward Off The Sneezin' Season

Is your family headed for a bout with the common cold? Check these "cold facts" for the answer:

The largest epidemics of the common cold occur when the seasons change and weather fluctuates frequently.

Children have twice as many colds a year as adults.

Mothers of school age children have twice as many colds as fathers.

Back-to-school time is back to the "togetherness" of classrooms and school buses, exposing your child daily to germs by classmates.

If your family includes school age children these facts add up to the conclusion that you are a prime target for this fall's "sneezin' season."

What can you do about it? According to health experts, common sense is the only remedy for a cold, and the only means of preventing its spread. If you suspect your child is getting a cold, keep him at home and in bed. A child with a cold not only spreads germs to others, but is himself apt to contract other infections and should not be exposed to extraneous bacteria at school.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Every 30 years a new Mrs. Owens gets the family silver service. Mrs. Davies Owens Jr. is the most recent recipient of the gift with the sentimental history.

Spray On Panels For Hip Control

Girdles with control panels that are sprayed on, instead of sewn in, are being shown at the January foundationwear market in New York. They are expected to be in stores by late March.

The control panels are a flocking substance that is sprayed on the basic net fabric in floral designs. The flocking has no definite edge to show through whatever you wear over it, which should especially please stretch pants wearers. There are no bulky seams either.

The manufacturers say the spray-on panels give better control and more comfort.

The Reynolds children, FROSTY, KATIE and LEIGH are in Ruidoso with their grandparents, MR. and MRS. SONY EDWARDS, who gave the two couples the trip as a Christmas gift. The Nugents plan to return here about Feb. 9.

While thumbing through the pages of a high fashion magazine I noted all of the beautiful dresses, suits and formal gowns were modeled by the thinnest of models. In the food section where the glamorous recipes are, the lists of ingredients begin with a quart of thick cream and a pound of butter. One would conclude that if the reader ate the food for which the recipes are given, she must forever give up the idea of wearing the clothing shown... alas.

MR. and MRS. CLAUDE FALLON have returned from Lubbock where they have been with their son and daughter-in-law, DR. and MRS. BERLIE FALLON, while the elder Mr. Fallon recuperated from major surgery. MRS. JIM ZACK has returned from Milledgeville, Ga., where she was the guest of his sister and her family.

MRS. R. RICHARDSON, MRS. JOHN COFFEE and MRS. W. F. TAYLOR were in Lamesa during the past week to spend a day in the home of MR. and MRS. HAYES WALKER. During the day Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Coffee drove on to O'Donnell to visit relatives of Mrs. Taylor.

Friends of MRS. HOWARD WITCOMBE have recently heard from her telling them that she is now visiting friends in Omaha, Neb., after spending some time in California. She plans to go to Colorado Springs to make her permanent home after her Omaha visit and will probably come to Big Spring some time in April.

MRS. J. V. HELMUS has returned to her home in Rotan after spending the month of January here with her daughter, MRS. MARGARET COOPER, and grandson, DAVID COOPER.

MRS. CLARANELLE LEWIS of Dallas, the aunt of RALPH McLAUGHLIN is a guest in the McLaughlin home.

Her husband is a warrant officer flying helicopters in Korea. Shelby brought the two back with him when he went to Stephenville last week to visit his father, R. I. PARNELL.

DR. and MRS. E. O. WOLFE visited twice with MRS. MOREE SAWTELLE last week in El Paso where she has been hospitalized for several weeks. They were with her on Tuesday and she was feeling much better. They left El Paso to go to Las Cruces to visit their daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. ROBERT FREEBURG, Marian and Lydia. On Wednesday Mrs. Sawtelle had experienced a slight heart attack and planned treatment was set back. The Wolfes visited her again on Thursday before they left for Big Spring and she indicated the thing she wants most is to get back to Big Spring... soon.

MR. AND MRS. JOE PIERCE

Open House Marks Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pierce of 2442 South Fifth Street, Abilene, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house at their home from 2 until 5 p.m. today.

The two are former Big Spring residents. Pierce served as turnkey at the Howard County jail several years ago. They are the parents of J. C. and Duke Pierce, and Mrs. Pierce is the sister of Mrs. A. C. (Gus) Hart, all of Big Spring.

Other children born to the union include Stanley Pierce, Temple; Granville Pierce, Abilene;

Mrs. G. W. Blakley, San Angelo; and Mrs. Ray Galloway, Abilene. All the children and their families will be present for the reception today, along with Mrs. Hart and other relatives and friends of the couple.

The two actually were married in Cross Plains, Jan. 31, 1914, but elected to hold the open house today in order that all members of the family could be present.

Mrs. Pierce is the former Addie Westerman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Clay Westerman, pioneer Callahan County residents.

The observance is unique for Mrs. Westerman in that she is the fifth member of her immediate family to celebrate her Golden Wedding anniversary.

Her parents were married more than half a century before their deaths. Other Westerman children who have since reached the milestone included Mrs. J. R. (Allie) Prater, now of Abilene; L. W. Westerman, Cross Plains; and Mrs. A. C. (Minnie) Hart, Big Spring.

A bridal luncheon honoring Miss Margie Appleton was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Binie White, Vincent. Miss Appleton, bride-elect of Frankie Firenze, was attired in a black and white two piece dress.

The luncheon table was centered with an arrangement of pink rosebuds and white candles, and the buffet table held a miniature bride and rosebuds. The individual places were marked with wedding bells and roses.

Those attending were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. F. C. Appleton, the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. F. J. Firenze, and members of the bridal party. Mrs. Dan Kallus was cohostess.

Plans Announced

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cline, Stanton, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Carolyn Jo, to Richard Barnes. He is the son of Mrs. A. T. Barnes of Stanton and the late Mr. Barnes. The couple plans to be married Feb. 15 in Colorado City.

She Keeps Men Busy

CHICKSANDS, England (AP)—"Keep the boys busy; keep them out of trouble."

With these precepts, former air hostess Ruth Ward began her career as "trouble shooter" for 2,800 Americans at the U. S. Air Force base in this Bedfordshire village.

Ruth has to look after the problems of the servicemen and their wives and families in her new post as the base's community relations officer. She is a member of the staff of the British Air Ministry.

Ruth, a bright young lady, spends her spare time finding out what the men want to do with their spare time. Then she arranges for them to do it.

"I try to get them interested in the activities going on in the towns and villages round Chicksands."

"I don't arrange person to person introduction for girl friends," she says, "but if there is a function on the base where girls are wanted, then I arrange for them to be invited from factories, offices and hospitals."

"I think it is a good thing for the men to have girl friends over here, and I would be pleased to help where possible."

"Many of the men think that all there is to do is to go out drinking."

Drinking too much leads to trouble, so it's Ruth's job to find the men something else to do.

Six Candidates Announced For City Commission Seats

Interest in the city commission election to be held April 7 picked up considerably with the announcement by three incumbents of their intention to seek re-election.

Terms for the three incumbents—Mayor George Zachariah, Commissioners Arnold Marshall and W. L. Thompson—expire this year. There are six candidates in the race, and the three receiving the most votes will win seats on the city governing board.

The three new candidates for the office are Mrs. Harold Talbot, wife of a prominent Big Spring business leader; Bruce Wright, pharmacist; and Jerry Mancill, insurance agent.

None of the Commissioners represent any particular segment or precinct in the city; they all serve at large. Hold-over commissioners are John Stanley and Paul Kasch.

Marshall and Thompson are serving their first term on the commission, and Zachariah, who replaced Dr. Lee O. Rogers as mayor in 1961, is asking for a fourth term.

Zachariah is associated with Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.; Marshall is vice president of H. W. Smith Transport; and Thompson operates his own furniture store.

The deadline for filing in the commission race is midnight, March 7. There is no filing fee, although candidates must be qualified voters and have lived in the city two years.

municipal election of April 7 came Saturday from Arnold Marshall.

Marshall is an executive in the H. W. Smith Transport Co. and is now serving his first term on the commission.

"I believe, after one term with the city administration, that I am better qualified to be of service to the people of Big Spring," Marshall said. "It takes some time, and some experience to be able to comprehend and cope with all the various problems that come before the municipal government."

"We continue pursuing phases of our Master Plan development, and I feel that I can be of use in carrying on that program."

"The last two years on the City Commission have been, I think, a time of considerable progress and complete harmony. We may not have settled every single issue to the complete satisfaction of every one, but you may be assured that the commissioners have been most conscientious in trying to determine what is best for all Big Spring.

"I am proud to have been a part of any progress, and if the people see fit to keep me in office for a second term, I will continue to do my best to carry on improvements and meet each particular problem with the welfare of our good city in mind."

Thompson Bids For Re-Election

W. L. (Squeaky) Thompson, Big Spring furniture dealer, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the Big Spring City Commission. He has served one two-year term on the commission.

"It has been a pleasure to serve the people of Big Spring for the past two years," he said, "and I would like to be-of service to them for another term.

"I have gained valuable experience that could have come to me in no other way. One must be intimately associated with the business of running a city the size of Big Spring to know the problems, and it takes several months to become acquainted with them," he continued.

"We often hear of problems which, when discussed between city officials and taxpayers, actually turn out to be no problems. They are simply matters of reaching an understanding of what can and cannot be done."

Thompson said the continuing assessment paving program, paving of Birdwell Lane, and other street work during the past two years, have permitted the release of city equipment which can now be used for better maintenance of unpaved streets and alleys in the entire city. Many blocks of stabilization in the two years have prevented washing during heavy rains and kept maintenance at a minimum.

"In seeking a second term on the commission I am asking the voters to give me an opportunity to express appreciation for the first term by permitting me to continue serving the city," he said. "I know of no better way to reward their confidence."

Mayor Seeks Fourth Term

Mayor George Zachariah, who has served three terms on the city commission — one of them as mayor—announced Saturday he will seek a fourth term.

In addition to his city elected work, Zachariah has been active in many other phases of community life, including the Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, United Fund, Crippled Children's Association, and many others. He is a long time employee of Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., and his wife is employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Regarding his candidacy for a return to the commission, he made this statement:

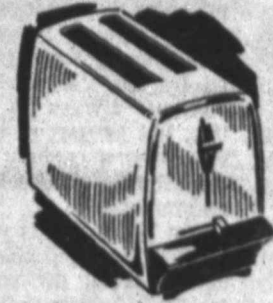

In announcing, after long consideration, for another term on the city commission, it is with primary concern for the development and prosperity of the City of Big Spring.

Your present commission, in my opinion, is as dedicated, unselfish, conscientious and hard-working as any group we've ever had. It is thoroughly familiar with the problems and future needs of the community and has spent many hours in acquiring a background of experience while searching for solutions. Above all, the commission works in harmony towards a common objective, whatever is best for the welfare of our city.

For the confidence and trust placed in me by the voters on my three previous elections to the commission, I am humbly grateful and appreciative. The honor given me by my fellow commissioners in electing me mayor is highly regarded. The past two years have been the most rewarding in my life. Wherever I've been as your mayor, whether in regional, legislative, state or national sessions, I've been able to hold my head up with pride. This is due to the high esteem in which the City of Big Spring is held wherever it is represented. All of you, as citizens working together, have helped to build and establish this enviable reputation and there is nothing any of you can do more important than to see that it is maintained.

Makes A Real Difference

During the past week volunteer workers have been making contacts under the Sustaining Membership division of the YMCA, and Monday evening the Participating Membership division, will be getting underway.

Encouraging results have come from the Sustaining division; surely the Participating division will find a corresponding support.

Few cities the size of Big Spring have a plant and YMCA program comparable to ours. We feel that it makes a real difference in our town and in its future.

The YMCA cannot be all things to all men, and indeed it makes no effort to be. It is an organization rooted in Christian principles, and the program it employs is designed to seek in various ways to project these principles into the lives of those served by the YMCA. Naturally, the Y does not always do a perfect job of this, but as part of a movement with well over a century of creative contribution to mankind, it has a lot to recommend it.

The YMCA needs you as a member. In turn, we feel that you will fill a definite need for yourself and your family by participating as a member in the YMCA. When other members come calling this week to invite you, won't you receive them with open hearts?

Best Time Of All

Beautification this summer depends more on what is done within the next 30 days than on what will be done in most of the summer.

This is particularly true for basic elements of landscaping as trees, shrubs and flowering bushes. Right now is the time to plan for them and then get them in the ground. These elements take months to get established; flowers and bed plants can be brought on in a matter of weeks.

This also is a good time to prepare beds, to shape the seed bed for lawns, and perhaps spread natural fertilizers or new soil. There is no point in battling your head over seeding a new lawn just now, for it takes hot weather for this. You'll just be pouring on a lot of water and wondering why the tender spots don't do something.

The main thing, however, is to remember that the permanent plants in your landscaping plan ought to go into the ground soon.

Everyone is entitled to his own experiment, and everyone is entitled to spend as much as he wants for water, but by and large you will be wise in following your nurseryman's advice on plants that have proven they do well here. You can go with the climate and soil conditions of the country a lot easier and more economically than you can go against them.

David Lawrence Another Round Of Inflation?

WASHINGTON—Is inflation on the way, and is the purchasing power of the dollar headed for a further downward movement?

An announcement just made by the U.S. Department of Labor throws some light on the subject. It states officially that higher prices for food and housing raised the nation's living costs in December to a new all-time record. This means it takes $10.76 to buy the same goods and services that $10 could buy in the period between 1957 and 1959. The increase in the consumer price level as compared with the previous December was the largest in five years.

THE INCREASES in prices did not affect all things, but the total impact on the cost-of-living index was noticeable. Oddly enough, "take-home pay" of factory workers, due to longer work weeks and higher rates of pay, resulted in a larger amount of individual compensation, so that many citizens were able to offset the rise in the cost of living.

The main significance of the Department of Labor's announcement is that, despite all the claims that inflation is a thing of the past and that the coming tax cut will not be "inflationary," there are evidences that an inflationary trend has already set in and will, if anything, be intensified by the forthcoming tax cut. Secretary Dillon of the Treasury department, in a discussion last Sunday on an ABC radio and television program called "Issues and Answers," declared that the real effect of the forthcoming tax cut will not be felt in 1964, but in 1965.

MR. DILLON called attention to the fact that the tax bill might take effect on March 1, and he mentioned that the increase in income a citizen may retain thereafter, due to a reduction in the withholding rates, will add to the total amount available to the economy. He estimates the increase at $8 billion this year. So it is evident that the effect of the delay in the date for the enactment of a tax bill will be offset by the larger amount of money per week that the taxpayer, after March 1, will retain out of his income.

WHEN MR. DILLON was asked how all this could keep prices down or labor-union demands from being pressed, he declared that the President was trying to keep in touch with the wage-and-price problem.

But the additional demand for goods as a result of the increase in consumer purchasing power growing out of tax reduction may be expected to bring more price increases and wage rises.

One of the most important aspects of the whole situation, however, has not been getting much emphasis lately. It is that public confidence in the future of the dollar is something that can change overnight, particularly by reason of the attitude of foreign countries which have large claims on gold in the United States.

FOREIGN PRODUCERS are watching the American market carefully to see any way they can underbid American producers and further invade the market in this country.

The whole economic situation is so complex and consists of so many interdependent factors that it isn't possible as yet to foresee all the effects of the tax-reduction bill if it goes into effect on March 1.

THE DAMAGING effects of inflation are usually due to the instability caused by the constantly diminishing purchasing power of the dollar. If all factors could be coordinated—as the theoreticians constantly urge—so that wages would move up only in accordance with productivity of labor and prices would move up only enough to make a reasonable profit, the supporters of a controlled or managed economy would have more basis for their argument.

But in the natural operations of a free-enterprise system, government action has an over-all influence that is controlling. When, for example, the federal budget itself is continually unbalanced year after year and money is pumped into the economy by borrowing constantly from the citizens, the public sooner or later discovers what red ink means in government finances, and confidence in the monetary unit inevitably weakens.

Billy Graham

Do you feel that an individual with deep prejudice toward other racial groups will upon conversion to Jesus Christ evidence a much different attitude toward those groups?—R. H.

While I am not a "crusader" in this field, I can only answer that in my own life, conversion to Christ removed the race prejudice I had. I was reared in the Southern tradition that Negroes were different, and required different treatment than anyone else. But since my life was changed by Jesus Christ, I have had nothing but Christian love for other races. This does not mean that all the sociological problems were automatically solved for me at once.

Until the two races learn to work together like the black and white keys on a piano, we can never have racial harmony. In my opinion the racial tension and misunderstanding can only be resolved by exercising the Golden Rule, and the Golden Rule can only be practiced when its author lives in our hearts. I know the problem has been called a complex one. But we have complicated it because we have acted upon emotion instead of compassion, and upon tradition rather than common sense. Both races were represented at the Cross, and Christ said to all: "Forgive them, for they know not what they do." When we accept His forgiveness, then and then only, can we forgive them who trespass against us.

Rain Of Insects

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—It may not rain cats and dogs very often, but there's a good chance that potato leafhoppers really are rained on the countryside. University of Wisconsin entomologists say that warm south winds moving up the Mississippi valley carry the leafhoppers aloft, and that they may get back to earth in rains or downdrafts.

RELUCTANT SURGEON

J. A. Livingston Inventories Racing To Meet The Demand

And suddenly prices have become a significant business barometer!

The cost of living advanced to another new high in December and seldom does it advance in the last month of the year. Wholesale prices of industrial products slanted upward 0.3 per cent—the sharpest monthly gain since 1959.

Also inventories are four per cent above a year ago and rising. Indeed, inventories have advanced in 28 out of the last 29 months—and that odd month was "no change."

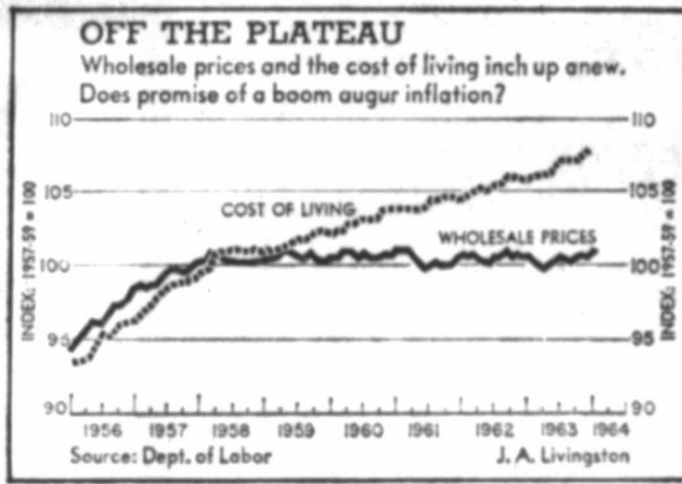

THIS IS a classic pattern in a prosperity whirl. It is in keeping with the forecasts for 1964—and particularly with the President's Economic Report and Budget. The businessman is acting like a businessman.

As "Fortune" magazine puts it, "executives are responding to the speedup in final sales," which rose about 5 per cent in 1962, 6 per cent in 1963 and perhaps will rise 7 per cent in 1964. So companies add to inventories. Better to have a little too much on hand than a little too little, which might lose sales.

And so, for prices, the line of least resistance is up. The National Association of Purchasing Agents reports advances in aluminum, lead, steel scrap, tin, zinc, cadmium, fuel oil, multi-wall bags, corrugated containers, kraft paper and linseed oil. Not one item was reported down in January. To that list you can add coffee, platinum and copper.

JUST TO LOOK at inventories—at the total—is worrisome. They now exceed $100,000,000. In November they climbed to $102.5 billion. Off-the-cuff reaction: "Gee whiz, they can't go up forever."

Yet, they can go up so long as sales advance. American businessmen have sufficient raw materials and finished merchandise on hand to fill orders for 45 days. This is the same ratio as last year and is as low as it has been in any year since 1955.

THE IMPROVEMENT in efficient use of inventories is not even. Retailers have shifted the inventory burdens to manufacturers and wholesalers. As shipping speeds up (use of air freight and trucks, for instance) and as the use of computers permits day-to-day scrutiny of stocks, retailers can increasingly fall back on quick deliveries. You can visualize this in the statistics:

Year	Re- tail	Wholesale	Manu- fact.	Total
1954	1.51	1.19	1.81	1.41
1955	1.44	1.12	1.63	1.38
1956	1.47	1.19	1.74	1.54
1957	1.44	1.22	1.81	1.59
1958	1.43	1.23	1.84	1.60
1959	1.40	1.19	1.71	1.52
1960	1.46	1.25	1.78	1.59
1961	1.43	1.21	1.75	1.55
1962	1.49	1.29	1.80	1.59
1963	1.38	1.19	1.69	1.51

It's interesting—and it could be significant—that the last time the inventory-to-sales ratio was less than now was in 1955. Paul G. Hoffman, then head of Studebaker Corp., described that as "the year of razzle-dazzle." Terms on automobile sales were extended liberally—sometimes to 42 months. Down payments were often negative—dealers over-allowed on old cars, which gave the customer a fictitious down payment.

THIS COULD happen again. New car stocks now exceed a million. Manufacturers are producing at near record levels. Result: Frantic pursuit of customers. Yet, as long as sales continue strong, dealers will want full floor stocks, manufacturers will add to stocks of steel, tires, upholstery and parts, and presumably the boom in autos will course through the nation's economic arteries and support the hope of a capital goods boom.

Bearing on this, machine tool orders were up 30 per cent in December over November and 48 per cent over December '62, proof positive that businessmen are installing equipment, either for increased efficiency (labor-saving) or for increased capacity (both labor-saving and labor-demanding).

INFERENCE: We're on the threshold of another inventory boom. This has to be, merely to keep pace with bulging sales of finished goods.

And this could generate a price upsurge, not only in living-cost items, which have been advancing persistently because of the increased costs of services (transportation, medical costs, utilities), but also in wholesale prices which for nearly six years have been on a plateau (see chart).

Such a sequence would endanger President Johnson's hope for stability in wages and prices. Worse, it could produce the traditional aftermath. But who wants to mention that?

To Your Good Health What To Do If You've Been Exposed To TB

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: A distant relative has just found that he has tuberculosis. My family has been repeatedly exposed by eating at his home. Please tell me what to do. We have five young children.

Will adding a little household bleach to water help sterilize dishes?—P.A.M.

Yes, a bleach or detergent will help sterilize dishes, but that is a rather small part of the problem.

The greater danger is in acquiring the TB germ from personal contact. It can be carried in the invisible droplets of moisture from a cough or sneeze, or even on the breath of a person with the disease.

Now that your family already has been exposed, the point is to find out how many of you have actually picked up the germ.

The adults should have chest X-rays repeated at six-month intervals for a time, to make sure that the disease is not developing. (It's a good idea for everyone to have a chest X-ray every year or so, because you can't tell by looking at a person whether he has TB, and you never know when you may accidentally be exposed to the germ.)

As for the children, a tuberculin test (a simple skin test) is the first step. It will show whether they have actually come in contact with the germ. If this has happened (that is, you get a "positive reaction") to any of them, then these children should have chest X-rays. With a negative reaction, X-rays are not necessary.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 23 and have an asthma history. Should I have cause for alarm because I now raise a lot of sputum from my lungs?—R. D.

This depends on what you mean by "alarms"—and on whether you have had a recent physical examination. If you are raising sputum, if you have that condition interfering with your breathing, along with whatever has been causing the asthma. The sputum and the asthma

Around The Rim They Went After It Stick And Bow

DEAR RUFÉ:

Well, partner, we went after it hammer and tongs again the other night with our culture lesson, or I should say we went after it drumstick and fiddle bow.

What he had was another of them symphony orchestras, and you can't get much higher up for culture unless you had in an opera, like where the soprano screeches "diddle-di-diddle-diddle-di-dee," and the basso grumbles back "oomphy-fawf, oomphy-fawf, oomphy-fawf."

BUT SHUCKS, this wasn't no opera, it was the orchestra, like I said, or you might want to call it an outside fiddle band. There must of been 60, 70, 80 of them; I tried to count, but kept losing my place. I counted by heads, then I counted by instruments, and things never did come out even.

But you know how this sort of thing goes. First off is the fellow on the box up front, with the little stick, and he would shake it or wave it, or hold it up or hold it down. There was a time or two I thought he pointed at a couple of his players like he meant "you are going to have to stay in after school," but I guess all he was wanting was more pep to the music.

OVER ON your left is all the people with the fiddles under their chins—the regular size fiddles; and on your right the fiddles get bigger, like the next size needed more elbow prop; the next size was spiked down to the floor and the players hugg'd 'em; and the great big 'uns, where the players have to stand up to get a fair shot. A couple of those with the middle-sized ones had a bad time making 'em stick to the floor. I take it there is nothing worse than a middle-sized fiddle slipping out from your arms while you are sawing away in a jig tune.

BACK UP in the middle was the fellers with the horns, some wood, some brass, some big, some little. They're used, you know, to put some tootin' in back of the fiddles, or to give a big blast when the music calls for it. Incidentally, Rufe, these people was playing by music. It was not the kinda music like "Red Sails In The Sunset," which ordinarily is played by ear.

Well, I thought the music the other night was mostly sad rather than tinkly, but I guess this is what helps make culture.

A COUPLE of other things about a symphony orchestra, Rufe, which you and me have talked about before. One is, does people like the drummer and the harpist get paid as much as the fiddlers do? If they was paid by the note—they may be against union rules—which they darn near would starve to death.

I could have sworn that one of the drummers dropped off to sleep, onct. But I guess he had heard the stuff before.

AND THE other thing having to do with culture is that some day they are going to let ladies in a symphony orchestra wear them slick black sheaths, about knee-high, and get away from them mu-mu-uns.

This might not help the music none, but it sure would help the enjoyment of it. Fellers wouldn't be sittin' listenin' to symphony music with their eyes closed, no more.

Your friend,

ZEKE

Holmes Alexander The Race Equation In Philadelphia

WASHINGTON — In Philadelphia, possibly the most race-torn city in the nation, there was opened last week the Opportunities Industrialization Center of local and limited purpose that is "directed toward the Negro minority." A number of points about this project need noting.

FIRST, THERE is its concentration and restriction. Its sponsors are not attempting even a city-wide initiative. They are pinpointing their efforts upon North Philadelphia, and upon the Negro population. The program "is indigenous, sponsored and planned by North Philadelphians." Its planners say. The unemployment rate in North Philadelphia is double that of the city as a whole. Hardly half of the work force in this section is skilled, and the high school dropout rate runs above 50 per cent. The purpose is to reach Negro youths who have no hope at all, or whose hopes lie only in gaining attention by "boycotts, picketing, sit-ins, demonstrations and disorders," according to the sponsoring committee.

A SECOND FEATURE of this modest, quarter-million-dollar program appears to be that outside encouragement comes from corporations rather than labor unions. Sen. Hugh Scott, (R-Pa.) finds that Pennsylvania firms are donating to the training funds and are offering job opportunities to Negroes, but they are not getting Negro applicants. Meanwhile, labor unions around the state are still resisting Negro membership and job assignment, a chief cause of last summer's race disturbances.

One generalization to be drawn from North Philadelphia is that civic or neighborhood leadership need not wait around for Congress to pass a Civil Rights law, and that many industries have a self-interest which is colorful in obtaining skilled workers.

ANOTHER GENERAL observation is that citizens' groups are not incapable of taking these matters into their own hands, and that concentrated, limited efforts can get desired results long before the machinery being cranked up by politicians and welfare publicists even begins to creep.

Not many communities, I take it, have openly conceded that their problems in unemployment, education, crime and civil disobedience are largely racial problems.

But in North Philadelphia we may have seen a partial solution, or an indicated one, because there is a partial, or inherent, admission that white people ought to be additionally helpful to Negroes on racial grounds alone.

THERE HAVE been sporadic attempts to face this truth of the Negro problem, and to launch an aid program at home for our own underdeveloped people who are mostly the same color as they are in Africa. Last summer an Urban League spokesman proposed a domestic "Marshall Plan" for Negroes. The idea did not take among the race-leaders. They realized that a concession that the Negro race, even in America, remains underdeveloped. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Marquis Childs The Beef-Import Problem

WASHINGTON — What touches the heart of a Texan far more deeply than oil is the ranch home and the cattle on the range. This is both a reassuring link with the free-wheeling past and a source of pride, profit and, for the very rich, a useful tax-deduction device.

The stream of officials who visited President Johnson on his LBJ Ranch during the holiday interval included two top economic counselors, Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, and Budget Director Kermit Gordon. The President had asked for a memorandum on the imports of beef from abroad.

AS THE TWO advisers sat down to a hearty meal at the ranch table that memorandum was Topic No. 1. What is more, the President had invited several neighboring ranchers as guests. Heller and Gordon have since said that rarely had they come under such concentrated fire.

Their memorandum concluded that the decline in beef prices in 1963 had resulted not from the growing scale of imports but from greatly increased cattle feeding here at home. Therefore, a so-called voluntary agreement to restrict imports from Australia and New Zealand would serve little purpose.

THE PRESIDENT is said to have contented himself with a sharp dissent from the conclusion. But the tough-talking ranchers let the economists have it. Economic theories were all right but if you allowed beef from outside to pour in here then America's ranchers faced ruin.

The Department of Agriculture, which compiled the facts for the Gordon-Heller memorandum, shows that beef supplies last year increased by 1,300,000,000 pounds over 1962. But of this increase all but about 200,000,000 pounds was in home production.

IMPORTED BEEF accounted last year for about 10 per cent of the market in this country. Of this two-thirds came from Australia and New Zealand with the balance from Ireland, Mexico and small amounts from Argentina and other countries.

Even though there is a 10 per cent American tariff, Australia sends beef into this country and sells it at several cents a pound more than on the London market. Australian beef is from range cattle that are not fattened just before market on grain. In this country it is mostly manufacturing beef used in the canning industry.

WHAT DISTURBS the ranchers is the rapid rise in the volume of beef imports. Five years ago only three per cent of the American supply came from abroad. And with Australia having vast empty spaces that can be opened up to ranching another five years could see the volume at 15 or 20 per cent of the U.S. market.

There is concern in the Department of Agriculture over any attempt to compel the beef-exporting countries to cut down their shipments. This, it is feared, would prejudice America's position in the tariff negotiations to be held in Geneva in May.

SO THE BEEF exports to this country are part of a much larger picture in which the relation of America's huge farm surpluses to world trade and in particular to the European market is at stake. Australia, New Zealand and Ireland have agreed in principle to apply a voluntary restraint during the current year. The practical effect of this agreement is not yet certain but it is likely to mean that the rate of increase of beef imports will be slowed.

A BOY AND HIS HEROES

One of the keys to a boy's character is his choice of heroes.

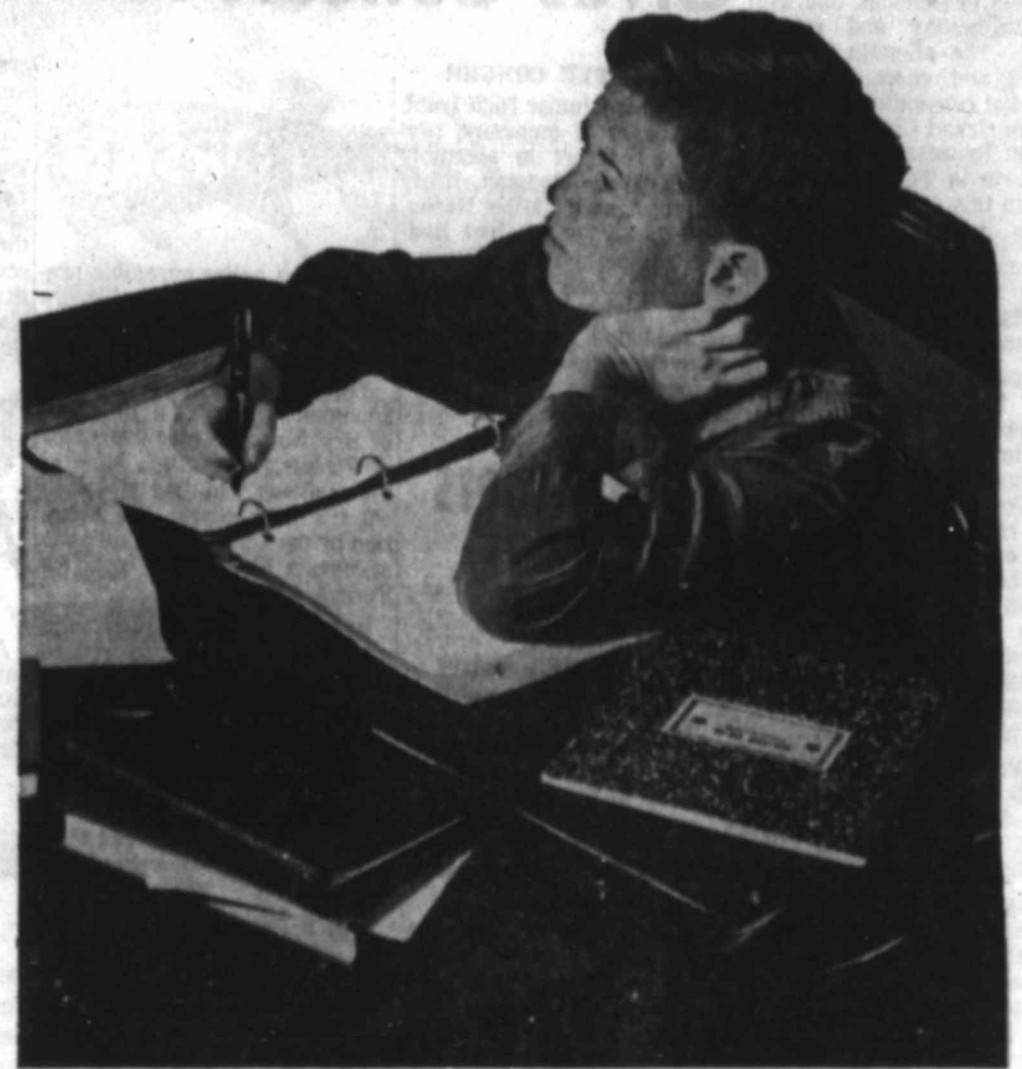

For a hero is more than a portrait on the wall. A hero is an ideal — a blueprint of greatness.

And where does a boy find his heroes?

He finds them in books and on the playing field . . . in his school, his family, his Church.

The Church's contribution to a child's gallery of heroes is unique.

Bible study and religious education not only introduce him to the greatest lives ever lived . . . but they teach him how to build the same qualities of heroism into his own life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Juniors Meet To Plan Banquet

By GAIL McDANIEL

The Garden City junior class met last week to make plans for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet. It was decided that it would be held April 4 at the Cosden Club, in Big Spring. David Daniel presided at the meeting.

The juniors have undertaken several projects to pay for the expenses of the banquet. One of them was a Donkey Basketball game held Saturday night in the old gymnasium. Another project is selling candy. These bars can be purchased from any junior.

The annual staff is taking payment for the '64 annual this week. Because of fall delivery, the full amount of $4.25 must be made now in order to reserve a copy. Payment after Friday will not be accepted.

The Future Homemakers had their regular chapter meeting Friday in the home economics room. The program which was presented by Gail McDaniel was on "Careers in Home Economics."

Your Family's Silent Partner

lying there on the doorstep it can't speak, or move or hear. But open it in your hands and it becomes a living, powerful partner in daily living. In the decisions you make, the opinions you form. It takes you to the highest chambers of government. It takes you to the heart of history in the making. In short, it tells you what in the world is happening and why.

But people depend on it for needs beyond the need to know. It's where families turn when something's to be bought or

It's where charities first turn for help, and a place where a letter to the editor is published. It's where campaigns are fought and lost dogs are found. It's where criminals are exposed and newlyweds applauded. Where birth and death meet on the same page.

Terror Experts Share Top Billing In Thriller

The co-appearance of Vincent Price, Peter Lorre, Boris Karloff, Basil Rathbone and Joe E. Brown as stars of American International's "The Comedy of Terrors" marks a number of "firsts" for the veteran actors.

Joyce Jameson also stars in the color and Panavision terror comedy which opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre.

For Price, Lorre and Rathbone—all of whom have considerable reputations as "masters of menace"—it marks the first time they have appeared together in one motion picture, although they have previously starred together in threes and twos.

"RAVEN"

Price, Lorre and Karloff starred as a team in Edgar Allan Poe's "The Raven," while Price, Lorre and Rathbone teamed in "Poe's Tales of Terror."

Price, Karloff and Rathbone appeared together more than 20 years ago in "Tower of London," while Rathbone and Karloff previously were paired some 30 years ago in the third and last film in which Karloff portrayed the famed Frankenstein Monster. That was "The Son of Frankenstein" with Rathbone playing the title role.

For Joe E. Brown, at the age of 77, his role is the first for him in a terror thriller. He explains, however, that he took part because generous portions of comedy were mixed with the thrills.

FIRST COMEDY

Last, but certainly not the least of the many "firsts" for "The Comedy of Terrors," is that it marks the premiere romantic role for veteran menace character star Peter Lorre. After more than thirty years in films, Lorre finally gets to play the lover, having a tender romance with blonde and voluptuous Joyce Jameson.

Dean Martin gets top billing in the new Technicolor comedy, "Who's Been Sleeping In My Bed?" which opens today at the Ritz Theatre.

ADULT STORY

Described as an adult bedtime story, it tells of the predicaments of an actor who plays a doctor on a popular TV series. Although he is a superhero to his fans, in reality he's just an ordinary guy who likes to play poker and chase girls.

Everything works out fine for him until people begin to think he's invincible, just like the doctor he portrays on TV. Everyone wants him to solve their problems, aches and pains. But things get bothersome when his friends' wives begin visiting played by Elizabeth Montgomery, who in real life is the daughter of actor Robert Montgomery. All of those frustrated wives make Dean wonder if marriage is a good thing. Carol Burnett, who plays his fiancée's best friend, learns the cause of his hesitation and tries every trick in the book to bring about the marriage.

CRONIES

Dean's poker-playing cronies are played by Louis Nye, Richard Conte, Jack Soo, Elliot Reid and Martin Balsam, all of whom are involved in some way with Dean's TV show, except for Balsam, who is a high-priced psychiatrist.

The comedy is set in Hollywood and its environs, but takes a visit to Mexico, where Carol Burnett does, among other things, a wacky strip-tease dance in a bistro. She has forgotten her money and has to pay the check by dancing for the proprietor.

Disney Goes Underwater

Though the public has become accustomed to seeing Walt Disney challenging things to provide theatre-goers with the Disney brand of entertainment, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" is his top adventure in motion picture production to date. All major scenes were shot fathoms beneath the sea.

The film opens Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In.

Jules Verne's novel deals with the exploits of Captain Nemo and the outcast crew which sailed with him on the submarine Nautilus. Their adventures take place, for the most part, far below the surface of the ocean. Any faithful translation from book to screen entails filming the picture in its natural locale—the depths of the ocean.

Most of this feature-length live-action drama, with its dramatic photography, has been staged, enacted and "shot" on the dangerous coral reefs of Jamaica's Montego Bay and under the waters of Nassau's tropical harbors.

In color by Technicolor, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" stars Kirk Douglas, James Mason, Paul Lukas and Peter Lorre. Richard Fleischer directed from the Earl Felton screenplay which was based on the novel by Verne.

Historical Sojourn Now Remembered By Stamp

Philatelic history was made recently when Pope Paul VI visited the area of the Holy Land. For the first time the leader of the Catholic Church was honored by Israel with a special bilingual cancellation in Hebrew and Latin commemorating the visit of the Holy See to Nazareth.

WORLD'S FAIR

The U.S. Post Office Department announced that commemorative postage stamps will be issued this year for the New York World's Fair and to mark anniversaries in Nevada and New Jersey. The stamp will first be issued in Flushing, N. Y., on April 22, opening day of the fair.

The Nevada stamp will commemorate 100 years of statehood and the New Jersey stamp will herald the 300th anniversary of English acquisition of that state. Dates and places of first-year issuance have not been set for either. All three stamps will be five-centers. In addition to the World's Fair commemorative, a five-cent embossed envelope will also be issued at the same time.

CATALOGS

The 1964 edition of the Minkus Regional Catalogs are now on the market. Produced in economical paperback, these catalogs provide easy portability for collectors who wish to carry their information in their back pockets.

LIBERTY DAY

The Republic of China has celebrated the 10th anniversary of Liberty Day with a set of two new postage stamps, reports the World-Wide Philatelic Agency. Both stamps depict universal symbols of liberty.

One shows a Torch of Liberty and the other shows a pair of hands with broken wrist shackles reaching from darkness into light. It is also interesting to note that the Republic of China will issue a set of commemorative stamps honoring the New York World's Fair in April.

Webb's 331st To Help In Sonic Boom Study

The 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Webb AFB, starting Feb. 3, will participate in the Federal Aviation Agency six-month study of the Supersonic Transport (SST) Development Program over Oklahoma.

The study is designed to get public reaction as a guide to future handling of the sonic boom problem, as well as to determine the effects of sonic booms on dwellings. It will be the most extensive test of the sonic boom over an extended period of time ever held, according to the FAA.

Commander of the squadron, Lt. Col. Jack Price, will be responsible for the aircraft and personnel to support the flying portion of the FAA study. He said, "The F-104 will pretend to be a supersonic transport. Although the SST will be bigger and fly somewhat faster, the F-104 will duplicate the SST booms by flying lower.

Maximum intensity of the controlled booms will be two pounds per square foot, and these maximum booms will not start until the final eight weeks of the study program.

So when the Texas-based sleek Starfighters streak through the Oklahoma skies, it won't be a surprise. This controlled program of the Federal Aviation Agency, supported by the Air Force, will be on a precise timetable.

Special Venire Will Be Drawn

Fern Cox, district court clerk, has been instructed by Ralph Caton, judge of the 118th District Court, to draw 150 names from the jury wheel to comprise a special venire for trial of two capital cases in the court set for Feb. 10.

Cox said that he would prepare the list Monday.

The two cases, which are set for trial, according to Gil Jones, district attorney, are indictments against Emzie Woodard, murder, and James R. Sims, rape.

Jerry Fowler Gets Degree

Jerry Fowler, native Big Spring, is a mid-term graduate of the University of Texas, completing his work for a BBA degree in marketing.

Formerly with Texas Electric Service Company here, he will go to work for Texas Power and Light Co. in Dallas. He has attended the University for the past three years and previously went to night school at Howard County Junior College.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Fowler, Sterling City Route. Mrs. Fowler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon West, 1404 Park. They have one daughter.

Flying out of Tinker AFB near Oklahoma City, the 331st will fly a total of 1,212 supersonic flights over the six-month period. The first has been scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Feb. 3. A maximum of eight flights a day between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. will be made. The actual time of each flight will be publicly announced prior to the flights.

Oklahoma City will be in the center of a strip about 100 miles long and 20 miles wide that will make up the sonic boom path as the F-104 jet fighters make daily supersonic flights across portions of the state.

The stiletto-shaped F-104, also known as the Starfighter, has flown to an altitude of 103,395 1/2 feet, but mostly they operate between 35,000 and 55,000 feet. For the Oklahoma sonic boom study, they will fly at altitudes between 22,500 and 30,000 feet.

By varying the altitude to fit other conditions that affect booms (temperature, humidity, wind direction and velocity) the F-104 can create the boom desired. An F-104 flying mach 2 at 30,000 feet would create the same size sonic boom as an SST going mach 2.6 at 65,000 feet. (Mach 1 is the speed of sound, mach 2 twice the speed of sound, etc.)

Assurances were made by FAA officials that the boom would in no way endanger the health of people or animals.
