Won Nicotine Battle And Feels Wonderful

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "My big beauty advice," Vera Miles said coming right to the point, "is to stop smoking. Every part of me, the way I look, feel and act improved once I gave up cigarettes. You have to have a closed mind not to admit that it is an unhealthy habit. If it weren't, they would not forbid smoking to athletes in training. I think a lot of people give up smoking but get frightened when they see how much weight they gain and go back again. When I stopped, I put on 10 pounds the first week. But I wouldn't go back for anything. I had forgotten how well I could feel and how much I could enjoy life. My whole system was poisoned with nicotine. My skin did not have good color and neither did my eyes, and I used to wake up in the morning with a fit of coughing and couldn't wait for that first cigarette. "But one day I suddenly seemed to see myself in perspective. It happened in a shower. There I was holding my arm out so my cigarette would not get wet. I couldn't even go without one long enough to bathe. This is slavery, I said to myself. I put out that cigarette and resolved never to take another. "The first three days were torture. I had terrible headaches and felt ill enough to go to bed. I was addicted and I battled against an invisible enemy that I was determined wouldn't win. Then the fourth morning I woke up hungry, my headache gone and food had never tasted so good. It had been years since I had had such pleasure in eating, and I began to snack all day. "My next problem was to decide how I was going to control my weight. Smokers don't gain because their bodies do a poor job of assimilating what they eat. I began to try diet systems I had heard about. "Then I tried a diet that emphasized natural foods. You could have all you wanted of raw vegetables and lots of green salads. You could not have anything that contained preservatives, bleaches or other chemicals. I wasn't on this diet long before I knew I had found the plan for me. "I gave up tea and coffee to please my husband who is a Mormon. His religion does not permit anything that is habit forming. I have my big meal at noon. It is the food I eat late in the day and don't burn up too much of it. I have had no trouble keeping my weight just where I want it by dining on a large salad of delicious and nutritious raw vegetables. Have you ever tried cold raw spinach, sweet raw peas, grated carrots, radishes, cauliflower buds, sliced cucumbers, diced cheese and herb dressing tossed in a bowl? It is satisfying to your appetite and gives your body lots of vitamins and minerals. "I have reached the age of appreciation. I am so happy about rediscovering my health. Eating right really affects every part of your life. I have so much more vitality and the world looks so beautiful. I have not felt like this since I was a kid going to school." Vera concluded.

DON'T PUBLISH IT

Explaining why we cannot afford to have instrumental music in worship, I had referred to Rev. 22:18, where there is a solemn warning against adding to the words of "this book." But my pastor friend thinks this warning against adding to the word of God, only applies to the book of Revelation. He wrote: "The warning is only with reference to this one book."

But then my friend added: "Now don't publish it in the paper that I am advocating changing the Scriptures..." Enough said. Review ended.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Make Cafe Curtains From Bedspreads

Dear Heloise: Curtains on a budget? My bedroom has two windows; one on each end of the wall. I had several old chenille bedspreads with a border design down each side and across the bottom. I made cafe curtains out of them for our bedroom. I cut the bedspreads straight up the middle and sewed the two ends together thus making darling cafe type curtains with the border covering the wall from window-to-window! The draperies are about 42 inches long and all I had to do was purchase a long brass cafe rod and some rings to set it off.

One could either use their spreads as is, or dye them to match their rugs or decor. You do not have to hem the bottom of these chenille spreads as it is already finished and therefore, all that is required is to turn the top down (to make a heading) and hem each cut side under one inch. Run your curtain rod through the heading and presto... "professionally" made curtains in a jiffy! The compliments have been enormous and several neighbors have now bought new spreads to make their own curtains.—Mrs. G. H. Never thought of making cafe curtains from spreads by turning them sideways! No washing or ironing either, eh? Thanks.—Heloise. Dear Heloise: Can you or any of your readers tell me how I can clean my sink and bathtub to rid them of a yellow ring? I've used all kinds of cleaners and bleach but they do no good. I just moved into this apartment.—Help! I feel that this is something that could be removed with a liquid rust remover. There are many brands on the market. Though I am sure you do not believe the yellow ring is rust... and it probably is not... these rust removers will remove the discoloration. You will find there are no directions on the bottle for this use. Wipe the sink dry with a paper towel, squirt the liquid rust remover on it (if you cannot possibly buy liquid rust remover, the paste type will do, but it is not nearly as good), let it stay until the yellow stains leave. Then wash well with some good old soap suds. I know you will be pleased.—Heloise. Dear Heloise: My mother keeps her waffle iron from sticking by taking two pieces of bread and covering them on both sides with unsalted shortening. Then she puts the pieces of bread on the waffle iron and shuts the lid. When the bread is crusty and the oil has seeped into the iron she just removes it and discards it—then pours on the batter and her waffles never stick.—Anna L. Dear Heloise: When baking your potatoes in foil... try pricking the potatoes first and if you like onion or garlic taste, sprinkle them with onion or garlic salt or powder (I use both) and rubbing it in after greasing it with bacon fat! The seasoned garlic salt will absorb into the potato while baking and wow... When you open the foil, it's mighty mouth watering. Full of aroma.—Loyal (Mail letters to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

D&D Members Hear Talk

A program on foreign licenses was given for members of the Desk & Derrick Club Monday evening. Preceding the program members were served a Valentine cake and coffee in the Cosden Snack Bar. Mrs. S. Gordon presided for the meeting that followed. Miss Helen Hurt introduced E. H. Bouillion Jr., senior project engineer for Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., who told of the foreign plants using Cosden processes and illustrated his talk with color slides of foreign operations. Bouillion's work has taken him to Japan, France and Wales where he activated new plants licensed by Cosden. He stated that Cosden has four different licenses — benzene, styrene, polybutene and polystyrene. "Cosden is basically a refining company, not a service company selling licenses, but it developed these processes and will sell the process and advice in connection therewith with retained royalty," Bouillion pointed out, adding, "Most oil companies won't do this." Continuing his talk, the speaker told of hospitality extended to foreign engineers visiting in Big Spring and that shown to him while visiting in other countries. Afterward he conducted a question and answer period.

HEALTH AND A FALL

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C. An accident need not be severe to be followed by dire result. Falls or jars sometimes slight, which at the time are passed and unnoticed are responsible for nerve impingement, the effects of which are serious indeed. That is an important thing to remember in this day when automobile and other accidents are so common. One need not be cut or bruised, nor need one have broken bones in order for an accident to have been serious. If one or more segments of the spine are displaced sufficiently to produce pressure on nerve trunks the tissues supplied by those nerve trunks cannot function normally. If the pressure is slight and if the surrounding tissues are uninjured, nature often automatically corrects these spinal abnormalities. If, however, this displacement is not automatically corrected, it means that a slow process of tissue depletion begins. This may involve the digestive track, the kidneys, the heart or other vital organs. So long as the nerve pressure persists, the illness will continue. That is why the precaution of seeing a Chiropractor should be taken following falls and accidents. The Hansen Chiropractic Clinic, across from Piggly Wiggly, is open until 6 p.m. Phone AM 3-3324 for an appointment.—Adv.

Lonely Starling Fights For Survival Locked Inside Museum's Fighter Plane

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Sammie the starling was fighting for his life early today, waging a cold, lonely battle for survival inside the cockpit of a World War II fighter plane.

The scene was the Air Force Museum at Wright - Patterson Air Force Base.

Sammie's curiosity got him on the spot, and his shyness kept him from an early rescue.

How he got inside the P-51, locked tightly on the grounds of the museum, was a mystery.

Somehow Sammie must have crawled through one of the air vents leading to the cockpit. Once there, he couldn't find his way out.

Noticing the bird's furious fluttering inside his glass-and-metal prison Monday, sightseers called an Air Force captain over.

"I'll get someone from the museum to let him out," said the captain.

He went inside the museum and returned in a few minutes.

"They'll be out with a key in a few minutes," he said.

But "they" didn't appear. Sammie continued to flutter, the spectators continued to speculate, and the day began to wane.

A policeman drove up in an Air Force truck. When someone pointed out the bird, the policeman went into the museum building and emerged several minutes later with a key.

"This ought to do it," he said with a grin.

His grin turned to a frown, however, when he opened the door of the fighter. No Sammie.

A teen-ager crawled into the cockpit. There was a tiny hole leading from the rear of the cockpit.

"He must have gone back there, but I can't feel anything in the hole," he said.

Convinced that Sammie must have gone out the way he had come in, he locked the cockpit again. The policeman drove away. The crowd dispersed.

A few moments later, Sammie was back again.

As darkness fell, Sammie, the lonely starling, was still sitting atop the pilot's seat.

Father Freed Of Murder Count In Houston Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Jack W. Bonds is a free man today after an all-male jury deliberated less than two hours Monday night to acquit him of slaying a 15-year-old boy a year ago.

Bonds, 42, an elevator mechanic, was on trial for his life for the pistol death of William John Walden III Jan. 18, 1963.

When the verdict was announced, cheers, laughter and screams flooded the courtroom and almost drowned out the sound of Criminal Dist. Judge Sam W. Davis rapping for order.

The foreman of the jury, Cy Yancey, said the jury reached its decision on the third ballot. He said the jurors were weary after their long service during the 29-day trial—the longest in the history of Harris County.

Foreman also contended the angle of the bullet as it entered Walden's head showed it was accidental.

Bonds had testified the gun went off accidentally while he struck Walden. "I did not mean to pull the trigger," Bonds testified Monday.

The unusually long trial, during its 29-day run, became a public forum on the juvenile problems of Houston.

The bidding:
South West North East
2♠ 3♥ Pass Pass
3♠ Pass 4♠ Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♥

West found the key to successful defense in today's hand by putting his opponent South to the gully before the latter was fully acquainted with his surroundings.

While South's hand is a mishmash of the requirements for a demand bid it is not our purpose to quibble with him on this score. West made one attempt to compete, when he called three hearts. There was not much more he could do when the adversaries carried on to four spades.

West opened the king of hearts and continued with the ace as East discarded a club on the second round. West reasoned that his partner could score the third defensive trick by overruffing dummy on the next heart lead. Nevertheless, prospects for defeating his contract did not appear bright, for South was pretty well marked, with all of the outstanding strength in diamonds as well as in the trump suit, to warrant his demand opening bid.

It seemed to West that his queen of spades offered the only possibility to score another trick, and this remote chance hinged on inducing the declarer to commit himself in the trump suit before he had time to test the distribution further. So reasoning, West led back the deuce of hearts—a suit preference signal suggesting a club shift.

East overruffed North's seven of spades with the eight and dutifully returned a low club. [If West had desired a diamond shift, he would have led the jack of hearts for the ruff which asks for the higher ranking side suit.] West's king of clubs drove out the ace, and South was in the dummy for the first and last time. Since West had shown up with seven hearts, declarer reasoned that he was apt to be very short in spades, in fact, there was a good chance that West had only a singleton trump. On this basis, South took a first round trump finesse and West scored the setting trick with the queen of spades.

Had East returned a diamond, declarer would have had time to test the trump suit by cashing a high honor from his hand, because the North hand still retains the club entry to take a delayed finesse in spades. While it is true that South could have made his contract by refusing the spade finesse altogether, it is difficult to fault him for his decision. In any event, West merits full credit for earning a plus score for his side.

A Devotional For The Day

I came to them of the captivity at Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river of Chebar, and I sat where they sat, and remained there astonished among them seven days. (Ezekiel 3:15.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the gift of Thy Son Jesus Christ who came to live among us. We know Thy better because He walked where we walk, was tempted as we are tempted, and suffered as Thy children suffer. Stir us, O God, that we may become conscious of the need of all people for Thee. We pray in Thy Son's name. Amen.

Curbing Other Office-Seekers

The instinct for self-preservation, notably strong among office-holders, appears to have reached its pinnacle in the law governing candidates for the Texas Legislature. The true thrust of the law has been revealed in recent days in a San Antonio case.
There County Commissioner Sam Jorrie indicated that he would resign his post and run for the Texas House. But a cloud has been placed over this procedure by a ruling from J. Pat O'Keefe, executive director of the State Democratic Executive Committee.
No person holding a lucrative public office, whether elective or appointive, "is eligible either to be a candidate for the Texas Senate or House of Representatives or to have his name placed on the ballot in a Democratic primary as a candidate for either the Senate or the House." O'Keefe notified the Bexar County chairman. Then he added the clincher: "No such person can become eligible by resigning his present office because the period of his ineligibility extends throughout the term for which he is elected or appointed."

This decision is certainly open to challenge in the courts. But in a number of cases the courts have refused to enter this "political thicket" on the grounds that controversies over eligibility and a place on the ballot are "party" matters.
Unless this ruling is challenged successfully, the Texas Legislature has demonstrated its adeptness at protecting its members from other ambitious office-holders.

An Agency For Downtown

A city planner of broad experience "laid it on the line" for downtown business interests in Big Spring, at a conference Monday.
He said, in effect: If you want to preserve your business and your property values, get yourself organized into a working entity, and then face up to the fact that considerable money must be invested.
The counsel was from Marvin Springer, engaged as the city's Master Plan consultant, and a part of whose over-all services have been to make recommendations for keeping the core of the city up to date. Mr. Springer has worked with many cities, has been instrumental in helping them make considerable improvement, and knows where of he speaks.
The shopping centers are with us, because of changing times, changing shopping habits, the normal expansion of populations, and nobody would say that they do not fill their purpose. They will continue to flourish.

The fact remains, as said here before, that any community must keep its heartbeat alive, as represented by the financial and commercial center. Time takes its toll, and buildings get older, streets get no wider; downtown property gets established with certain investors. There comes the time when an input of new capital—probably of considerable sum—becomes necessary to keep up with the pace.
Some cities have waited too long to attempt to meet the pace. Big Spring soon will have waited too long. Mr. Springer's advice ought to prompt some action.

From Have-Not To Have

WASHINGTON — Since he was old enough to know what life was about, Lyndon Baines Johnson has been running as hard and as fast as he could. And now occupying the highest office in the land with present prospects of staying there for some time to come, he can't stop running.
The picture of a driving task master who pushes himself twice as hard as anyone around him emerges from his first two months in the Presidency. But this is an oversimplification, for the President is more complicated than a superficial impression would indicate.
A TEXAN who has known Mr. Johnson through his entire career was asked what he thought would be the effect on the President of the disclosures in the Bobby Baker case. His answer was:
"He'll work twice as long. He'll be like a man clearing out swamp land, digging harder than ever and meanwhile brushing off the midgets swarming around. Lyndon can't believe anything he does is wrong."
THAT is an apt figure of speech. The complexities of the Johnson character go down to his origins and his background. As a young man growing up in a part of the country where the frontier tradition was still strong, he was a have-not and he set out with all his great capacity and phenomenal energy to become a have.
His political outlook was shaped by this same background. By instinct, prediction and early conditioning, Lyndon Johnson was a Jacksonian Democrat. This was against not so much the Hamiltonian tradition of aristocratic rule as against the Adams concept of government as an austere obligation to do good and promote the general welfare.
ANDREW JACKSON believed that the public lands in the empty continent were there to be taken by the people. When he defeated John Quincy Adams for re-election to the Presidency, the Adams clan felt that the cloven hoof was stamped on government with a carnival of corruption to follow. Out of those public lands some of the greatest American fortunes were amassed with the railroad builders awarded every other section along the right of way.
This Jacksonian conviction has carried over into a more complicated day. Whether it is television franchises or contracts running into hundreds of millions of dollars, for the Jacksonians, government is a legitimate source of enrichment. And for a have-not it is not merely a privilege but a duty to take what he can before it falls to the haves.

IN THIS same context, distorted and paradoxical as it appears, the private defenders of Bobby Baker see the boy from Pickens, S. C. Baker is a Jacksonian in the era of the quick buck, a Horatio Alger of the fast deal pulled off with government mirrors. A question touching the morals of our day is whether the public attitude toward this instant millionaire is one more of envy than of censure.
The Johnson paradox is that he can in all sincerity propose a war on poverty using every weapon of government and yet not impair his solid standing with the Establishment in Texas.
IN A SENSE this is the paradox of Texas and the President is first a Texan and then a Southerner or a Westerner. In his New Yorker series that angered many Texans, John Bainbridge pointed out that while "social security" and "federal aid" are dirty words to Texas millionaires, that state, sixth in population and seventh in the amount of federal taxes paid, ranks third in the volume of help it gets from the federal government.
THE PRESIDENT'S gross income for 1963 is said to have been more than $190,000 which included his salary up to November 22 as Vice President, $40,000 a year, plus an allowance also subject to federal income tax of $10,000, the sale of cattle and the sale of certain ranch lands. He can certify his standing as a have. (Copyright, 1964, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Billy Graham

I hear a lot of discussion about liberals and conservatives; modernists and fundamentalists, etc. I would be interested to know which theological persuasion the disciples of Christ held. Were they liberals or fundamentalists? I would like to know.
A.B.S. If you searched the New Testament for a hundred years you would find none of these terms. These are divisions men have made, and if they existed in New Testament days, no one thought them worth mentioning.
As to the disciples: they were neither fundamentalist or liberal; they were Christian. The Bible says: "The disciples were called Christians." Interestingly, they didn't give themselves that name—it was given them by people who noticed that their mode of living resembled Christ.
Wouldn't it be wonderful if we so lived that it wouldn't be necessary to give ourselves a title which denotes our piety — that people around us would call us Christian. The disciples were too busy with the work of taking Christ to the world to be bogged down in hairsplitting controversies. Their main concern was to persuade men to Christ. I wish it were that way today! This does not mean that we do not have theological convictions — we do! But let's hold them in love. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples and that ye love one another." Our greatest need today is to let our lives be dominated by Christ's love.

Recent Presidents Conscious Of TV Image

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lucky Calvin Coolidge was president when the strong silent type was still an American ideal. It fitted him fine. He didn't have much to say anyway. When he did use radio, it was dismal.
President Franklin D. Roosevelt went on radio every time he thought it useful, and he used news conferences, too, although the latter weren't on radio and there wasn't television.
He became a kind of national father by the sheer magic of his humorous, barbed, consoling, concerned and always controlled voice. No wonder he stayed in office. Who wants to throw out the head of the family?
NOW RADIO and television have made a president an almost constant showman. This can be a political help. But when he has to keep asking himself—how am I doing?—in order to stay in focus, it's bound to make him self-conscious.
President John F. Kennedy worked overtime, staying in front of the camera. The picture that came across was of a highly intelligent, extremely well-informed, witty and self-assured young man.
This was how he wanted to appear, of course, and he did it all with great ease and grace.

BUT NO ONE watching, either at one of his news conferences or on television, could escape the feeling he was conscious of the whole country observing his every expression and gesture, and judging accordingly.
President Johnson in public has neither Kennedy's wit nor ease. He is not only far more self-conscious than his predecessor but acts that way. For example, at last Saturday's news conference, which was televised.
Johnson is a hearty, positive, ebullient man. Saturday he looked deliberately subdued, almost mournful with dignity, and certainly not too positive on at least one area of foreign affairs.
THIS WAS when he gave his views on French President de Gaulle's proposal to neutralize Southeast Asia. Later, after some conversations with the State Department, his aides sought to clarify his meaning.
The whole performance appeared unnatural. A man of Johnson's zip. This probably explains why he still hasn't settled on any one way to hold a news conference.
Even so, with the statements he has made, the policies he has announced, the programs he has mentioned to Congress, and his few solemn public talks on television, he has done well politically.
The evidence is in the public opinion polls which show him ahead of all the would-be presidential candidates among the Republicans.
UNFORTUNATELY for him, his greatest asset is one which simply can't be shown on a screen.
That's his relentless driving energy—the endless hours, the deluge of telephone calls, the White House sessions with his aides, the conferences with members of Congress—to push through what he wants done.
In this particular area — the energy, drive, follow-up and determination to keep trying—Kennedy could never match him. Kennedy's biggest defect, perhaps, was lack of pursuit, his failures to hammer on Congress to get what he wanted.
This explains why some of his biggest programs, once they ran into stiff congressional resistance, bogged down.

An After Life Here On Earth

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the only kind of an after life we know while still on earth.
Through the magic of remembrance the past events of our existence can be born and re-born as often as fond recollection desires.
But as rings of growth date a tree, so do the memories we like to recount date us surely—and perhaps more certainly than we'd sometimes really care to reveal.
There's no doubt at all, for example, that you've been through quite a few cycles of sunshine and storm if you can look back and remember when—
MANY A YOUNG man aspiring to own his own livery stable, because, after all, what other business offered a more secure future?
A fellow who preferred cigarettes to chewing tobacco or cigars was regarded as a sissy.
"Wonder What Became of Sally" was one of America's favorite songs.
A working man thought he had a swell job if he only had to put in half a day on Saturdays.
GETTING A baby sitter was no big worry, because practically every family had a grandpa, a grandma, or an unmarried uncle or aunt living with them.
People had more fun entertaining each other than they now do watching and listening to million-dollar-a-year performers on television. There wasn't enough leisure to be bored—there were too many things that had to be done.
The first piece of jewelry you ever gave a girl was one you bought at a counter in the local five-and-ten store—and the purchase left you broke for a week.
A thrifty minister's wife never threw away the buttons found in the church collection plate on Sundays. She could always use them later to sew on the children's clothes.
THESE WERE among the most burning moral issues: bob their hair, and should they smoke in public?
An actor named William S. Hart became Hollywood's most famous cowboy without being able to play the guitar or to sing a note.
Harvard was better known as a kind of beet than as a university.
Norman Thomas was regarded as a wild-eyed radical and a threat to the two-party system.
A majority of New Yorkers thought Indian territory began just west of the Hudson River, and that anyone going from Times Square to San Francisco should take along beads in order to trade with the natives.

Labyrinthitis Mistaken For Miniere's Disease

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have been under treatment for labyrinthitis for seven months and would like to know how long it usually lasts. It is very bothersome when you have small children to care for.—MRS. J. W.
Labyrinthitis is one of the ear conditions to which I referred yesterday. It can have symptoms similar to Meniere's disease, and again the trouble is in the ear. However, in this case the specific cause is inflammation of the inner ear, as a result of either bacteria or virus.
There are still other causes of some of the "Meniere's" symptoms. There may be dizziness, nausea, hearing impairment, ear noises, in various combinations, but not all of them at once.
Toxic effects from certain of the "mycin" drugs on the eighth, or hearing, nerve can be involved. So can toxicity from tobacco or alcohol.
Disturbances in circulation (hardening of the arteries, etc.) must be considered in the case of older people.
At various ages glandular disorders, low thyroid activity being one of the commonest, can be a factor.
Perhaps by now you are asking, "How can I tell whether I have Meniere's disease or something else?" The answer is that you usually can't. And your doctor may not be able to tell, at the first examination, either. If he is slow to commit himself, that's good. It's better to take the time to be sure.
"Vitamin starvation" is possible even if you eat a lot. In order to check your diet to make sure you are getting necessary nourishment, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald for a copy of the pamphlet, "Vitamins—The Alphabet of Health." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Stamps, Volcanoes And A Canal

When I was a kid I went through a phase of stamp collecting. Like most youngsters who engage in that hobby, I paid slight attention to the technical features of the stamps I hoarded; I was more interested in their beauty and eye appeal.
Of all of the countries in this wide world none issue more attractive postage stamps than the tiny Republics in Central America.
One of my favorite philatelic countries was Nicaragua. This wee commonwealth had a custom of portraying a smoking volcano on many of its postage stamps. As I understand it, the rugged mountain ranges of the area have many volcanic peaks. Some of these are still alive and from time to time make news by erupting.
However, this is all incidental. The pictures on the stamps appealed to my juvenile fancy and I collected a lot of them.
A statement I ran into recently reminded me of my Nicaraguan stamps. I dug them out. There they were—the colors as brilliant, the details as sharp as when I first acquired them. And there on many appeared the towering volcanic peak.
The statement dealt with the history of how it happened the United States decided to cut the Panama Canal across that republic rather than Nicaragua as had been planned. According to this story, strong Panama boosters were bending every effort to sell the U. S. on the Panama site.

All sorts of propaganda was being used. One was that the Nicaragua location was more prone to earthquakes and volcanoes than the Panama location.
About the time the crucial decision was to be made, there was a report of an erupting volcano near to the proposed route of the canal through Nicaragua.
The lobbyist for the Panama site read this report. He then went out and bought a number of newly issued Nicaraguan postage stamps. Each of these depicted a smoking volcano. He sent these stamps to the key men in the Senate calling attention to the scene shown and the probability of what would happen if a canal was dug there.
Apparently the lesson got across. At any rate, the Nicaragua proposal was killed and Panama was elected.
The statement went on to say that a lot of stories were circulated of big "pay offs" to high officials and the accusation was made of corruption as the cause of the change.
Actually, it seems, the actual size of the "bribe"—if it could be called that—was less than 30 cents per high leader. I understand, the stamps were sent to three such leaders.
Total expenditure—90 cents.

Complexities Of The Budget

If the name Roy Harrod doesn't mean anything to you, then let me wise you up quick to put a Sir in front of it. He is one of Great Britain's outstanding economists, the biographer of John Maynard Keynes, the author of a series of lectures on "The Dollar," and an unconventional thinker.
Sir Roy is an ardent advocate of raising—doubling—the price of gold. This, he argues, would increase world liquidity and facilitate economic growth in the United States and Europe. Right now he's on leave from Oxford and is a visiting lecturer to the University of Pennsylvania.
WE WERE chatting about the U. S. budget, described by President Johnson as "a budget of economy and progress,"—one which would "reduce civilian employment in the executive branch of the government, cut the deficit in half" and simultaneously carry the nation a "giant step" toward a "full employment, full prosperity economy."
"Can it do all those things at once?" Sir Roy wanted to know. "Will the deficit really be cut in half?"
"I wish you'd explain that to me," he said. "Maybe it would help your readers, too. Sit down at your typewriter as if you were writing a letter to an Englishman who knows nothing about your budget. Make it simple." Dear Sir Roy:
THE U. S. BUDGET is a cross between a dream and a speculation. It consists of two unknown variables. How much will be spent and how much will be received. It quantifies things that will happen and things that will never happen and often in amounts that can't happen.
Sometimes the estimates of income are too low, sometimes the estimates are too high. You can't generalize.

AS FOR expenditures, consider the magnitude of mischief. The government is big business. If you count Social Security payments, total outlays in the 1964 and 1965 fiscal years will exceed $122 billion. If you just consider the Administrative Budget—this is the money which Congress appropriates to run the government—it will reach $98 billion. This includes outlays for defense, for the various departments, for foreign aid, and for payments to Congress. It includes expenditures on public works.
Consider, Sir Roy, the fortuitous that can occur in any 18-month period, which a Budget encompasses. A defense plan may change radically—because of a shift in weaponry. This would probably reduce expenditures at first, boost them later. Or suppose relations with the U. S. S. R. ease. How will that affect outlays?
OR IN construction, many projects, expected to get under way, may be altered. Or, if business slumps, the President will give the hurry-up sign that to speed public works, as did Eisenhower in 1958. That would up Government outlays as receipts fall.
We have an expression in America, Sir Roy: "Is it in the ballpark?" meaning, is it anywhere near right? A Budget is the Government's official estimate of what is in the ballpark—in outgo and income. And should be looked upon as same.
I say this with the humility of experience.
Once upon a time I believed in the Budget and Santa Claus.
Skeptically yours,
J. A. L.

Hidden Persuaders At Work

WASHINGTON—Call it the Puritan Ethic vs. Hidden Persuaders. That's the bout which seems to be going on between some members of the Joint Economic Committee and members of the Johnson Administration budget team.
At least two of the senators, Proxmire and Jordan, still have old-fashioned doubts about the ethics of tying the President's $98 billion budget, with its $5 billion deficit, to an $11 billion tax cut.
PROXMIRE of Wisconsin says that it's possible to rub the red ink out of the budget by declining to accept tax relief. The question is: Which would Americans honestly rather have—a balanced budget, or a tax cut? Jordan of Idaho wonders whether the combination of spending, deficit, and tax relief won't spell inflation rather than prosperity. The question is: Are Americans really fed up with profligate government, or do they care?

chance to catch up with us on undergraduate testing?
BUT THE Kennedy psychologists had hidden persuaders at work. They flew a mixed cargo of Democratic and Republican senators to Moscow for the ceremonial agreements on the treaty. They encouraged a lot of non-nuclear powers to put meaningless signatures on the document. All this was done before the Senate set down to the ratification debate. What chance was there for ethics after the psychological persuaders had done their work? The Treaty of Moscow was an accomplished fact before the Great Debate of Washington got going.
THE JOHNSON administration must have borrowed some of this hidden persuasion from its predecessor. A lot of economists and legislators are still unsold on tax reduction. They don't see how it can help unskilled workers get jobs, the central problem of re-employment. They don't see how an increase of the National Debt quite fits any definition of "frugality."
But these ethical and puritanical scruples appear to be a poor match for the psychological persuaders. The people have been led to think they're going to get a tax cut. Would Congress have the nerve to dash these expectations?

Less Fruit Eating

WASHINGTON (AP) — An average American eats 50 pounds less fresh fruit annually than his grandfather did half a century ago. A Department of Agriculture survey indicates that only the citrus fruits have gained in popularity during that time. On the other hand, there has been a boom in concentrated juice consumption.
IT'S AN OLD story in a new binding. Last summer the Senate had before it the moral problem of whether we ought to have any truck with the perfidious Russians over a Test Ban Treaty. Was it right to enter a solemn agreement with cheaters? Was it square shooting with the conscience to allow our wishfulness for peace to make a non-inspected pact with peace-breakers? Hadn't we better insist that the Russians prove their sincerity by taking their troops out of Cuba or dismantling the Berlin Wall? Weren't we making another accommodation with evil in affording the Russians all the advantages of a moratorium on atmospheric testing along with a

14 Astronauts Begin Moon Preparations

HOUSTON (AP) — Fourteen new astronauts have begun training for the nation's upcoming space projects — the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo moon flights.

After a four-hour briefing Monday by Donald K. Slayton and Walter M. Schirra, two of the original Mercury astronauts, the new astronauts started their first day of astronaut training.

The trainees were selected from 270 volunteers last October. They joined six of the original Mercury astronauts and the nine "second generation" astronauts at the Gemini and Apollo "spacecraft college" at nearby Ellington Air Force Base.

SPACE TEAM

There are now 29 pilots on the nation's space team. John Glenn, one of the original seven astronauts, resigned last month to announce as a candidate for the Senate in his home state of Ohio.

By June the 14 they are expected to begin training in permanent facilities at the Manned Spacecraft Center, 20 miles east of Houston, which will be the training base for astronauts.

The new pilots will be given classroom lectures on flight mechanics, rocket propulsion, aerodynamics of space flight, digital computers, astronomy, communications, physics of the upper atmosphere and space, space medicine, meteorology and other courses related to space travel.

MISSIONS

After June they will begin training for specific Gemini and Apollo missions. They will undergo tropical, desert and water survival tests and spend two weeks in helicopter recovery training.

Slayton, assistant director of flight operations, has over-all supervision of the training program. Schirra, chief of operations and training, has direct supervision of the new astronauts.

The United States expects to put men on the moon late in this decade and the three who will make the initial flight will come from the current list of 29.

The new group is considered prime candidates for the moon shot because of their age.

Of the 14 new astronauts, two are civilians.

Electrical power at the Howard County Junior College gym and the hothouse went off about 9 a.m. Monday morning when a line near the gymnasium fell to the ground.

Texas Electric Company spokesmen said they took the line off the circuit as it is owned by the college. HCCJ authorities said repairs have been made, although they do not know what caused the line to fall.

Dr. Hunt Heads New Organization

Organization of "Citizens for a Better Howard County" was perfected Sunday afternoon at a gathering of some 80 citizens at the Junior College Student Union Building.

Dr. W. A. Hunt was named president, Dr. H. M. Jarratt, vice president, and Rev. Marvin James, secretary-treasurer. A board of directors, composed of pastors and laymen from interested churches, is to be named later.

The organization was submitted under sponsorship of the local Pastors Association, and is patterned along the lines of a similar one formed in Nolan County (Sweetwater). H. D. Norris, who heads the Nolan County group, and who also is county superintendent of schools, addressed the group here Sunday and outlined the Sweetwater situation.

A constitution was adopted which set out the following objectives of the organization: "To promote and foster educational movements or programs for the growing of a stronger and better citizenship and better communities through the teaching of civic, moral, so-

Politicos Assess Races As Senate Contest Vaporizes

By The Associated Press

Texas politicians, still reeling from a barrage of last-minute filings by statewide candidates, began assessments Tuesday of party slates.

The most noticeable gap in the Democratic ballot evident as filing for the May 2 primary ended at midnight Monday was in the U. S. Senate race, where widely-advertised efforts of conservatives to attract an experienced opponent for Sen. Ralph Yarborough failed.

Democrats also had seven of the 15 statewide races, including attorney general, with incumbents being offered no opposition to renomination.

JACK COX

Seven candidates, more than a third of the total, waited until Monday to file with the Republican party for statewide races. The last was Houston businessman Jack Cox, who beat the deadline by minutes to file for the U. S. Senate nomination.

Gov. John Connally kept observers in suspense on his filing plans until the last day, touching off speculation he might not run. His opponent, Houston attorney Don Yarborough, also waited until the last day.

Democratic party officials termed the late filings "very unusual" because an early filing often is desired.

Pat O'Keefe, executive secretary of the Democratic party, said he feels the late filings "is a political dilemma resulting from the assassination of President Kennedy."

NORMAL PERIOD

"The normal period in which interest was generated in politics was covered in part by the 30-day moratorium," O'Keefe said.

Another late filer was Sen. Yarborough, who announced for re-election Saturday. The question of whether conservative Democrats would oppose him with a strong candidate was settled when U. S. Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen, the most likely prospect, said Monday he "added up the pluses and minuses" and decided not to challenge Yarborough.

Kilgore's decision left Yarborough with two opponents, John Van Cronkhite and Gordon McLendon both of Dallas. The race will be the first for both.

FOUR-MAN

Republicans hope to take advantage of conservative discontent with Yarborough by creating interest in the four-man GOP Senate race.

Talbot Speaks On School Needs

Harold Talbot, president of the Big Spring Independent School District board of trustees, spoke to the Real Estate Board Monday on the needs of the school district. The big problem, he said, is at the junior high and senior high school levels where improvements can be accomplished without a tax increase.

The real estate board meets in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, twice each month. A night meeting was discussed for the future, with an out-of-town speaker.

Bill Sheppard suggested that all real estate agencies here include the amount of taxes with all listings.

Others in the race are former state Sen. Robert Baker of Houston, Bill Ellins of Groesbeck, and Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas.

Satellite Spy Usage Studied

BROOKS AIR FORCE BASE, Tex. (AP)—An orbiting astronaut can spy effectively on enemy territory with the unaided eye, a team of Air Force ophthalmologists reported today.

The group, from the Aerospace Medical Division, told a space medicine conference here that the finding was based on studies of visual reports of six American astronauts who rocketed into space.

The paper, presented by Maj. William B. Clark, said that with proper reconnaissance training, military space pilots could readily spot missile bases, encampments, troop movements and "unsuspected targets of opportunity" from their 100-mile-high outposts.

ACHIEVEMENTS

"Specific definition of man's maximum visual capabilities in space will be one of the most militarily significant achievements in future orbital flights," the paper said.

The report leaned heavily on the remarkable accounts given by Maj. Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. after his 22-orbit flight last May.

Cooper said he clearly saw houses and streets in the Himalaya Mountains, on the plains of Tibet and in the southwest United States. He said he sighted a vehicle moving on a road, a boat on a river and a steam locomotive on a track.

Some doctors doubted Cooper. They said such sighting from his altitude was beyond the capability of the human eye. Some said the astronaut must have suffered hallucinations.

5-MAN TEAM

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration assigned a five-man team of experts to determine if Cooper did see objects on earth with such clarity. It concluded that he did.

The ophthalmologist paper concurred.

"When we speak of seeing," it said, "We are talking about a complex process which involves intellect and experience as well as optics. We can recognize close friends at greater distances than casual acquaintances. We make this recognition on the basis of imaged clues with which we have become familiar at closer range."

Hawks Register Lone First In Track Meet

LUBBOCK — Howard County Junior College won a lone first place in the Lubbock Indoor Track and Field meet here Monday night. Steve Langham of Fort Worth, a freshman at the Big Spring school, led the field in the 500-yard run on the boards with a 61.8 second clocking. Bobby Nelson of Lubbock Christian was second, one-tenth of a second off Langham's pace, while Johnny Haire of HCJC was third in 63.9, just ahead of Lubbock's Jerry Brown. HCJC finished second to Lubbock Christian in the mile relay. Lubbock was timed in 3:30.1. The best the Jayhawks could do in the event was 3:31.9. Texas Tech's freshmen were third in the event. In the 60-yard dash, Ken Coleman, running unattached, beat out HCJC's Steve Langham by one-tenth of a second. Coleman's time was 6.4. Ray Patterson and Berry Rushing, both of LCC, were third and fourth in the event. Only three events were held in the junior college class.

Billy Foster of Southern Methodist tied the indoor record in the second college division's 60-yard dash, negotiating the distance in six seconds flat. Ralph Boston, the Olympic star, set two records during the meet, which attracted a crowd of 4,000. Five meet records were broken and one tied although some of the top competitors, including two-time Olympics shot put champion Parry O'Brien, couldn't reach here because of a snowstorm. Foster raced the 60 in 6.0 seconds, matching the record set by Herb Carter in 1960 and since equaled by five runners. This is the time Bob Hayes of Florida A&M has posted twice this year. Boston, competing for the Los Angeles Striders, won three events, setting meet records of 6 feet, 8 inches in the high jump and 25-7 in the broad jump, and finishing first in the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.2. Olympian Earl Young of Abilene Christian College won the 500-yard dash in 61 seconds, coming from behind on the last lap and nipping Jerry Anderson of Texas A&M. Tony Watson of Oklahoma, the other Olympian in the meet, failed to win an event but was second in the 60-yard dash and third in the broad jump. McDermott outsped 43 skaters from 19 countries in giving the United States its first speed skating medal since 1952, when Ken Henry won the 500. The medal was the third for the United States, with a silver and a bronze won previously by spunky Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., in the ladies' giant slalom and slalom on the skiing slopes of Litzum Valley. Earlier, a skiing marksman from the Soviet Union, Vladimir Melanin, won the tough biathlon test and Germans dominated both the men's and women's individual events in tobogganing, a new Olympic event. Also, Scotty Allen, the 15-year-old schoolboy from Smoke Rise, N.J., held fourth place in the men's figure skating competition, still being contested, and Monty Hoyt of Denver remained among the leading contenders. The Russians, with two medals in the biathlon and two silvers in the 500-meter speed skating tie, boosted their total to 19—more than twice that of second place Germany, with 8. Just when it seemed as if the United States would be shut out of any first places in the Games, McDermott uncorked a superb race to overtake the three leaders. Eddie Rudolph of Northbrook, Ill., knowing he had to do 40.6 or better to stand any chance of a medal—only just missed it. He was clocked in 40.9. Tom Gray of Bloomington, the other American entrant, did 41.5. The Germans finished 1-2-3 in the men's tobogganing—known as luge in Europe—and 1-2 in the women's, with the bronze medal going to Austria. The luge is a small sled, little more than a wooden plank and two iron runners, on which European children slide down snow banks. The Olympic luge track for men measures 1,100 yards with 18 tricky, hairpin bends. An unseasonable thaw made the track almost unusable Monday but an overnight freeze made it lightning fast. Thomas Koehler of Germany, a 23-year-old student, won the men's individual tobogganing title by sweeping down the course four times in 3 minutes, 26.77 seconds. His teammate, Klaus Michael Bonsack, a locksmith, registered 3:27.04, with the best time of all on his final run of 52.42 seconds. Hans Plenk made it a sweep in 3:30.15. The women's luge title went to Ortnu Enderlein, 24-year-old East German factory worker, who shot down the course four times in a total of 3 minutes, 24.67. Ise Geisler, a teammate, was second in 3:27.42 followed by Helen Thurner, a 25-year-old Austrian housemaid, in 3:29.06. The lone U.S. entry, Dorothy Hirschland of Closter, N.J., withdrew after the first run. Scotty Allen, the 15-year-old U.S. champion from Smoke Rise N.J., moved ahead of France's favored Alvin Calmat into third place on the fourth of five compulsory figures in the men's figure skating competition.

Sun Breaking Through For U.S. Athletes

By TED SMITS Associated Press Sports Writer INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Terry McDermott, a barber from Essexville, Mich., cracked the Soviet Union's long-time speed skating monopoly and won the first gold medal for the United States with a 590-meter victory today in the ninth Winter Olympic Games. The 23-year-old former Michigan Tech student, who clips hair and shaves customers in his dad's barber shop, trimmed one-tenth of a second off the Olympic record by flashing the 546.8 yards in 40.1 seconds. The record had been set at Cortina, Italy, in 1956 by the Soviet Union's Eugeny Grishin, who finished in a triple tie for second with another Russian, Vladimir Orlov, and Aliv Gjesvang of Norway, all clocked in 40.8. McDermott outsped 43 skaters from 19 countries in giving the United States its first speed skating medal since 1952, when Ken Henry won the 500. ## Bovines To Oppose Cougars Here At 8

The beleaguered Big Spring Steers, headed off down the same road they traveled last year in District 2-AAAA basketball play, come home tonight to challenge Abilene Cooper—the team generally conceded the best chance to succeed San Angelo as the league titlist. Game time is 8 o'clock. Cooper must win to stay on top in the standings. Big Spring needs to win to remain out of the league cellar, a spot now occupied by Midland Lee.

Coach Delnor Poss has made changes in his lineup. Albert Pterro, Ronnie Banks, DeeRoby Garman and Charley West will probably start tonight. The fifth boy will be either Simon Terrazas or Joe Jaure, who has come on fast in recent games. Both Terrazas and Jaure are sophomores and are being heavily counted on in future planning here. The Steers stand 2-7 in conference play and are 10-11 overall. Their last seven defeats have come in a row. The locals have played some creditable ball in that string but haven't been consistent enough to emerge with a win. Cooper is expected to bring an army of followers with it, so the gym could be close to being full tonight. In the last meeting between the two clubs, Cooper won a 58-49 decision. It was one of the few times in which the Cougars failed to go into overtime. Cooper boasts a 7-2 record within the league. Coach Bill Villines has reshuffled his lineup for the invasion of Big Spring. He'll probably start Mike Goodwin, Gary Mattox, John Green, Don Ray and Leon Lucas against the locals. However, Don Hertenberger and Lonnie Willis can expect to see a lot of action against the Longhorns. Any team Villines cares to put on the floor, the Cougars will have a decided advantage in height over the locals. Ray leads the Cougar scorers with 371 points for the year. Of that aggregate, 150 have come in league competition. Willis has $59 for Cooper. B teams of the two schools square off at 6:15 p.m.

Goliad Takes Runnels Win

An old rivalry, Runnels and Goliad, was placed on the line Monday night in the basketball wars with two games being reeled off and each school getting one victory. In the ninth grade game, Goliad pulled an upset 44-41 victory while the eighth grade contest went to Runnels, 30-24. The ninth grade win for Goliad was special — it was the first time that any of the Mavericks had beaten Runnels at any sport. In an earlier contest during the year, the Yearlings had dominated the boards to take a 45-34 win. The contest wasn't decided until the final frame as both quintets traveled the route of the locker room at halftime with a 21-21 score showing in the lights. The Mavericks edged up to a slight 32-30 margin at the close of the third period and then outscored the Yearlings, 12 to 11, in the final stanza to take the victory. The game went right down to the wire but Dennis Holmes' free throw late in the contest put the game out of reach of Runnels. The referees had a busy night as the Yearlings collected 12 fouls and the Mavericks 21. Two of Goliad's top men fouled out, Hoyce Kennedy and Mark Price, but both managed to make valuable contributions before going the route of five violations. Other players doing good work were Kirby Horton, Van Lewis, and Kenny Hamby. Richard Cauley and Dan Hamilton came off the bench to give the Mavericks good strength. Lewis led Goliad in scoring with 12, but the high point man for the game came from the Yearlings, James Carver with 12. In the eighth grade game, Goliad (44)–Lewis 24-12; Hamilton 2-0; Holmes 5-1-1; Kennedy 4-0-2; Harty 3-2-1; Horton 4-0-1; Couper 4-1-1. Runnels 30-24; Totals 77-64. Goliad (44)–Horton 5-4; Parrott 3-2-1; Anderson 3-1-1; Harrold 3-1-1. Totals 14-12-1. Runnels (30)–Clemens 2-1-5; Bailew 0-0-0; Todd 3-1-7; Totals 14-20. Goliad (44)–Horton 5-4; Parrott 3-2-1; Anderson 3-1-1; Harrold 3-1-1. Totals 14-20. Runnels (30)–Clemens 2-1-5; Bailew 0-0-0; Todd 3-1-7; Totals 14-20. Goliad (44)–Horton 5-4; Parrott 3-2-1; Anderson 3-1-1; Harrold 3-1-1. Totals 14-20.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue: LEW WORSHAM, the pro golfer: "Fifteen years ago you could pick one of 20 male golfers to win a major tournament. Now you have to pick from 30. Overall improvement in the pro ranks is due to an increase in golfers. Women golfers, who can match men in approaching and putting, have improved, too. Who do I think is the greatest women golfer of all time? I'd have to say Mickey Wright. She drives as long as the late Babe Zaharias and she hits the ball straighter. For a composite golfer, I'd take Jack Nicklaus' driving, I'd want Sam Snead's long irons and, for the short irons, six through eight, you'd have to pick Palmer. There's no doubt about the putting, Jerry Barber's the best. Coming out of the sand traps you'd want Julius Borge's skill. . . . Nicklaus and Palmer have not made me forget Ben Hogan and Snead."

LEW WORSHAM

MIKE CAMPBELL, University of Texas coaching aide: "We feel that District 2-AAAA is the strongest AAAA league, overall, in Texas. It takes a tremendous amount of luck to win a state championship in Texas, but you also have to have one of the best high school teams in the country to get out of this district out here. Any team that compiles a 7-3 record out here must have had a great season." JIMMY CANNON, New York scribe: "Guys betting on Cassius Clay probably took the Titanic over the Atlantic Ocean." Entertainer GEORGE JESSEL: "Sandy Koufax is the most important Hebrew athlete since Sampson." JIM MURRAY, Los Angeles writer: "My notion is, to make a stock car race the authentic article, they ought to emulate nature. For instance, they ought to have a race in which your wife goes along with her mother in the back seat and she turns periodically and says, 'Hubert, are you sure this is the way? I don't remember any of these turns,' and her mother keeps saying, 'Do you have to drive so fast?'. . . Schedule a run with the kids in the car where the little one keeps sticking his lollipop on the back of your neck and pulls hairs out when it gets stuck, the baby throws up, and you have to stop at every other gas station to let the kids use the rest room and buy cokes and where, just as you drive out, your wife says, 'Wait, we forgot the green stamps!' Or maybe you forgot Junior. One of the kids' nose is running or maybe all of them should be running and the rear window is piled high with soggy diapers to make this a test of real drivesmanship. . . . Have an event in which the first three rows are all women drivers and you have to know which way the race is going from the hand signals they give. Winner in this one will be the one who has any fenders left after the second turn."

YAMA BAHAMA, the middleweight boxer who is returning to competition: "When I started in the states (in Miami) in 1953, they couldn't cut me with an ax. But when I went to New York, I didn't know what it was, the air, the climate, or what, but my skin softened. I began to get cut in all my fights. In Bimini (his home), you get the salt air, and salt water to swim in. It toughens the skin. . . . If I had had my way, I'd never have gone near a waterweight. I could beat the big guys but the little ones were too fast. I've got a pretty good jab and I move good, but trying to fight those little guys is murder. You flick out a jab and before you can get it back they've moved inside and hit you four or five times. To me, middleweights are like elephants. They can't touch me, not when I'm thinking right. And now I am."

Hawks To Visit NMMI Tonight

The Howard County Jayhawks, suddenly finding themselves in an unfamiliar second place in the Western Junior College Conference basketball race, journey to the land of enchantment tonight for a not so enchanting visit. The causes for worry are the New Mexico Military Institute

Bronchos, a quiet HCJC meets on the court in an 8 p.m. outing. This will be the second meeting between the two teams. In the first game, which was played in the Hawks' gym, the Bronchos fell 113-49 in one of the weirdest games of the year as six of the players fouled out and one was tossed out leaving only three men on the court. This, combined with the fact that HC had one of its real hot nights on the boards, added up to a real rout. But a rout may not be due in Roswell. It's always different when playing on the road, especially when a corps of 750 cadets is jeering and on your back every time you make a mistake. The 85-78 loss to San Angelo is likely to make little difference in the starting lineup for the Hawks. Terry Williams and Keith Bond will be the guards. Jim Oldham and Thomas Carter the forwards, and Charles Cumber the center. It's a good solid lineup, but not of the calibre while Eddy Nelson was still part of the gang. Nelson was a tremendous rebounder (the best on the team), one of the most accurate shooters, and he generally had a good night. When the Hawks were having a bad night, you could usually depend on Nelson to keep right on playing his usual game until the other Hawks finally caught up to him. He was greatly responsible for many wins because he simply kept them in the game. But there's no longer any Nelson on the Jayhawks. And head coach Buddy Travis, the "miracle worker," may have run out of prayers, incantations, and voodoo to the gods that many people suspect he's used so far to win like he has. The Bronchos lineup averages 6'11". Starters are: James Wade, 6'8"; John Gonzales, 5'9"; Mike Ligno, 6'4"; Sam Kaholwal, 6'4"; and Jordan Jeffrey, 6'4". As you might have guessed, they have good rebounding. But their outside shooting is bad, and that's what beat them so bad in the last outing. The game could be real close, with the Hawks getting the pregame nod on the strength of the result of the first game. Without Nelson, though, the Bronchos could pull an upset.

Stanton Gunner

Crane journeys to Stanton tonight seeking revenge for an earlier loss on the Golden Cranes' home court, 61-60. But if the visitors come away with a victory, the chances are that they'll have found a way to stop the Blisons' Ronald Hartsell. Hartsell, only 5' 11", accounted for 27 points in the Buffaloes last victory over Alpine. Game time is 8 p.m. (Photo by Joe Mosby).

Barber Shaves The Ice

Terry McDermott, 23-year-old barber from Essexville, Mich., raced around the course in the 500-meter skating event today at Innsbruck, Austria to win the first U.S. gold medal in the 1964 Winter Olympics. McDermott, a former Michigan Tech student, trimmed one-tenth of a second off the Olympic record by flashing the 546.8 yards in 40.1 seconds while using borrowed skates. (AP WIREPHOTO VIA CABLE)

J. C. Post

J. C. Robert, office manager of Spring City 7 1/2 years, candidly says that he would like to see the Democratic Party elected. His statement was a surprise to many. He is a former member of the Howard County and the local Pioneer family. In the Midwest he was graduated from High School business course. My wife, Orlene, who has one of the best experience in the business, is a secretary for a firm in Spring, Tex. I have been a member of the government administration, and I have been an assessor. "The tax most important thing to do is to get an efficient administration with the state, all other things are secondary." "Also, I have been an assessor."

J. C. Robinson Files For Post Of Tax Assessor

J. C. ROBINSON

J. C. Robinson, who has been office manager for the Big Spring City Public Works office 7 1/2 years, has announced his candidacy and filed for the office of Howard County tax assessor-collector, subject to the Democratic primary May 2.

His statement said: "I am a life-long resident of Howard County, son of Charlie and the late Mrs. Robinson, a pioneer family of this community. I was born and reared in the Midway community, attended grade school at Midway, and was graduated from Coahoma High School. I then attended business college in Fort Worth. My wife, Clara, and I own our home at 1802 Duquoin Place. We have one son, Jerry.

"I have had many years of experience in bookkeeping, accounting, administrative and supervisory positions, and for the past 7 1/2 years, have been office manager of the Public Works Department, City of Big Spring. I believe that this experience, gained by working in city government, gives me a better understanding of county government, and better qualifies me to administer the duties of tax assessor-collector.

"The tax office is one of the most important offices in the county government and should be operated at all times in an efficient and courteous manner, with the interest of the taxpayer, state, county, highway and all other branches of the government represented by the tax-assessor-collector, in mind.

"Also, I want to assure all

Research League Representatives Here For Talks

Two representatives of the Texas Research League discussed various water problems with Colorado River Municipal Water District officials here today.

Glenn N. Ivy, project director, and Robert E. Norwood, both of Austin, conferred with E. V. Spence, general manager, and O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, on broad water matters including recreation, allocation of water rights, financing and water pollution.

The Research League is conducting a study involving several agencies, among them the Texas Water Commission, Texas Statewide Water Recreation Committee, Texas Railroad Commission.

The study currently is in the stage of gathering ideas from various agencies, authorities and districts. Later some proposed solutions will be advanced, and reactions to all involved will be sought. The most pressing of the areas under study is that of recreation since the governor's special task-force committee on this likely will report within a couple of months.

City Truck Mired Down

A city garbage truck got stuck in the mud about 7:30 p.m. Monday behind the 7-11 store, south of FM 700 on Birdwell Lane, according to public works director Ernest Lillard.

The street is one of the three entrance routes into the Kentwood Addition southeast of town. Residents of the addition have experienced some difficulty recently in getting into and out of the addition due to slick roads.

None of the roads leading into the area were closed Monday although Birdwell Lane became somewhat slippery. Lillard said paving of the road will continue after the contractor repacks the caliche base.

Recent rains on the road caused the surface to become slippery. City crews were on standby notice Monday in the event fresh moisture hampered traffic. Gravel would have been spread over the surface if the weather conditions had worsened, as had been anticipated, Lillard said.

Files Location

Sawnie Robertson No. 26 Humble-Douthitt filed a new location with the railroad commission Monday in the Howard-Glasscock County in the Sand Creek field.

The site is 990 feet from the north and 1,310 feet from the east lines of section 123-29, W&N survey. It is 14 miles south of Big Spring on a 240 acre lease. Operator plans to drill to 2,500 feet.

Special Venire Has Been Called

A special venire of 150 men and women to serve as jurors in the trial of two capital cases in 118th District Court has been called. Fern Cox, district clerk, said. The jurors are to serve in the trial of either Emzie Woodard, accused of murder, or James Sims, charged with rape. Both cases have been set for trial Monday, Gil Jones, district attorney, said, but it is not certain which will be called first for trial.

Woodard is accused of shooting Hubert Lee Tillis to death Oct. 25.

Sims is accused of criminal assault on his own daughter.

Weather Forecast

Rain and thundershowers are predicted for Tuesday night for parts of the southern Plains while rain will extend into the lower Mississippi valley and the southern Gulf states. Scattered snow flurries are expected in the northern Rockies. It will be colder in

Member Campaign Launched At Y

Any Big Springer is fair game in an unusual gridiron tilt which was kicked off Tuesday evening at the Big Spring YMCA.

Four football teams, each with 25 players, will for the next three days be making the entire area their playing grounds as they push toward a participating membership goal of $15,000. Prospect cards listing 1,386 persons were distributed to the teams, but, as Wade Choate, chairman of the drive, said, anyone not now a member of the Y is fair game.

Report meetings are slated at 5:15 p.m. today, Wednesday and Thursday and the drive will hopefully celebrate a complete victory with a banquet at 7:15 p.m. Thursday.

Membership in the Y this year is unchanged from 1963. Youths, college students and members of the Armed Forces can join the Y for $12; persons from 18-29 can join for $25; single memberships for persons 30 years or older are $35; husband wife is $40; and family memberships cost $50.

Clyde McMahon Jr. will lead the Longhorn team in this year's competition. Working with him are James Tidwell, Mrs. Harrol Jones, J. R. Redden and Glenn Coates. On the Frogs club, headed by Frank Reddesty, are Jerry Caddell, Mrs. E. L. Heth, Mrs. Jack Irons and Wayne Burns. John Berry heads the Bud Raiders, consisting of Lt. Col. Julian Baird, Aubrey P. Hurley, Charles Lusk and Dr. Charles Warren. On Jimmy Taylor's Aggie team are Harold Davis, Joe Pickle, R. H. Weaver and Mrs. Don Newsom.

The sustaining membership division is currently in the mopping-up stages of its drive which ended last week. It has already garnered $8,408 of a $10,500 goal and should wind up shortly. Curtis Mullins, general secretary of the Y, said. That division is headed by Clyde McMahon Sr.

Sustaining memberships cost $100 or more. This group is in charge of non-participating memberships, which include the friend-of-youth memberships which come for $12 or more.

Youths Admit Burglaries

Three 17-year-old youths, who told the court they set fire to houses to detract attention while they committed a series of burglaries in Big Spring, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court today.

They are Billy Watson, Phillip Mark Gentry and Jerry Don Rice. Last week's grand jury voted indictments against the youths in connection with the burglary Jan. 20 of the Christensen Boot Shop.

In that burglary, as well as in others to which the youths confessed, a house was set afire as a prelude to the burglary, officers said. It was shown that the damage to houses ignited by the youths was about $3,000.

The court, in sentencing the youths to three years and six months in prison, granted each probation with the stipulation they make restitution to the owners of the houses for damages by the fires.

In the case of Gentry, his assessment was $435 which he must repay within three years. In the cases of Rice and Watson, each was ordered to pay $800 and the restitution to be made within three years. The restitution was based on 50 per cent of the total damage the fires caused.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that the three youths were the first of a number of defendants who are to enter guilty pleas this week. He said he plans to have more defendants before court Wednesday.

Ronnie Pierce Is Unchanged

The condition of Ronnie Dale Pierce, 17-year-old Big Spring youth who had brain surgery Sunday in an Abilene hospital, today was still unchanged shortly before noon.

Physicians at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene Monday give Pierce only a slim chance. He has not regained consciousness since he went into a coma Saturday afternoon following two blows on the head.

Pierce was injured when he and his sister were playing at their home at 2305 Roberts. His head first struck the edge of a door facing. A few moments later he became unconscious and fell, his head striking the floor.

Pierce was taken to a Big Spring hospital that afternoon and was transferred to Abilene when he failed to regain consciousness. Brain surgery was performed immediately to remove a blood clot which was causing difficulty in breathing.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pierce.

Two Hurt Here In Monday Wrecks

A Newark, Calif. man remained in Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital Tuesday following a highway accident about 2.9 miles east of Coahoma on IS 20 about noon Monday.

Injured was Clifton Jones Luncford, driver of a truck-trailer. Hospital authorities Tuesday said the California man received treatment for a lacerated scalp and is "doing very well." He was taken to the hospital by River-Welch ambulance.

Investigating officers said Luncford apparently lost control of his vehicle. The truck-trailer carried two similar vehicles, according to investigating officers, who said damage to all of the vehicles was heavy.

Meldean Kraus, 18, 1003 1/2 Lancaster, was treated at Webb AFB Hospital for minor injuries about 2:30 p.m. Monday following a two-car collision at McEwen and Ridgeroad.

Taken to the hospital by Webb AFB ambulance, she was released after receiving treatment, authorities said Tuesday. Miss Kraus was a passenger in the car of Mrs. Robert M. Kimzey, 606 Steakley, according to investigating officers, who said the car was in collision with a pickup driven by James Shaw, 1806 Alabama.

Police said the accident occurred as Mrs. Kimzey was traveling east on Ridgeroad and Shaw was going south on McEwen. Damage to the housewife's car was estimated at $150, and damage to the pickup was set at $75, police said.

A car owned by Cruz Muniz, Accla, was abandoned about 1:40 a.m. today after the driver apparently crashed into some sand bags and street signs near a construction project in the 500 block of Northwest Fourth, police said.

The vapor lights on Third Street between Nolan and Main ceased functioning about 10:15 p.m. after a motorist apparently collided with a light pole at Third and Runnels, police said, adding the motorist left the scene.

Witnesses Called For Ruby Hearing

DALLAS (AP) — Attorneys for Jack Ruby subpoenaed another 76 witnesses Monday for the Feb. 10 hearing which will determine whether he stands trial in Dallas.

They included City Manager Elgin Crull, Superintendent of schools W. T. White, County Judge Lew Sterrett, U. S. Dist. Atty. Barefoot Sanders, religious and business leaders, and newspapermen.

This brings to 165 the number of witnesses which defense lawyers have subpoenaed for the hearing in Criminal District Court No. 3. The lawyers contend Ruby could not get a fair trial here on a charge of murdering Lee Harvey Oswald, who had been accused of assassinating President Kennedy.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, who accused Ruby's lawyers of "frivolous conduct," contends the slayer could get a fair trial here.

Among witnesses on the new roster are Bishop Thomas K. Gorman, pastors of churches throughout Dallas, city councilman Joe H. Golman, Edward Marcus, Angus Wynne Jr., W. Dawson Sterling, Robert L. Thornton Jr. and R. D. Lee Starr.

Another defense subpoena directed John McKee, president of the Dallas Crime Commission, to bring its records which relate to the "failure of Dist. Atty. Henry Wade to get indictments and prosecute 83 persons charged with murder during the past two years."

Meanwhile, Judge Joe B. Brown Jr. predicted at least 300 newsmen from throughout the world would converge on Dallas for Ruby's trial if it is held here. Brown said he would attempt to "make arrangements to accommodate everybody" although only 47 seats would be available for newsmen in his courtroom.

Mail Volume Drops Lower

Big Spring Post Office receipts for January were $43,015.66, according to A. A. Porter, assistant postmaster. This compares with $32,848.59 for January, 1963.

The drop of nearly $10,000 was caused by several factors. One, perhaps, was that a large number of postage meters were reloaded in January last year and not in the same month this year.

"The other explanation," said Porter, "is simply that business has been off for the past month. We just haven't been having as great a volume of mail as we had the same month a year ago."

Carhop Tells Beckwith's Car Near Murder Scene

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A nervous 17-year-old car hop testified today Byron De La Beckwith's car was parked within a few hundred feet of the murder scene on the night integration leader Medgar Evers was shot.

Martha Jean O'Brien said the car was left in a corner of the lot at a drive-in where she worked.

The parking area overlooks the vacant lot where the killer stood hidden in a clump of trees waiting for Evers to come home.

Evers, 37, state secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot in the back by a sniper when he stepped from his car at his Jackson home shortly after midnight June 12. Beckwith, 45, is on trial in circuit court for murder.

Miss O'Brien said she could not identify the man she saw driving the car and, since she got off at midnight, did not know how long it remained.

She said she identified the Beckwith's company assigned white auto for her inspection. The car had a distinctive radio antenna installed for two-way radio communications.

Dist. Atty. William L. Waller also called another teen-ager, Robert Pittman, 16, who lived near the drive-in. He testified he saw a white car cruising back and forth in the area four nights before the shooting and on the night of the shooting.

Pittman testified the white car had a long communications antenna mounted on it. A similar auto was assigned to Beckwith for his use as a salesman for a fertilizer firm located at Greenville, Miss.

Car Found Wrecked

A car crashed into a caliche embankment on the IS 20 north access road east of the Snyder Highway last night or early this morning, according to police. The impact caused heavy damage to the vehicle.

Investigating officers said the vehicle was first discovered about 7:50 a.m. by highway patrolmen, who told them the car apparently had been abandoned. City police said the car was traced to Emzie Woodard. Police said they do not know who was driving the car when it crashed into the embankment.

Pastors Meet Wednesday

The Big Spring Pastors, Association will have its regular monthly session at Mount Bethel Baptist Church, 630 NW 4th Street, at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday. Ministers in the Big Spring area are invited to attend. Breakfast will be served by the Rev. Leen McNeal and some members of Baker's Chapel A.M.E. Church.

Tribal Magic, Communist Slogans Arouse Africans

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A witch doctor's brew of tribal magic, terror, antiwhite hatred and crude Communist slogans is the latest formula for subversion and revolt in the Congo.

The bloodstained rebellion in Kwilu Province is led by Pierre Mulele, 34-year-old former education minister who has visited both Moscow and Peking.

Mulele's Chinese-backed uprising started six months ago with fewer than 75 men. Today he has several thousand fanatical warriors who control a region half the size of Belgium.

His soldiers say the white man stole their land and enslaved them. They believe the Communists will bring them "wonderful things."

American missionaries who survived attacks by Mulele's warriors reported hearing cries of "Russia" and "Moscow" as the terrorists closed in.

The warriors told the missionaries their chiefs promised the Russians would give them things possessed only by white men, and also would give them the land.

Captured documents, however, told of support from Peking for Mulele's revolt.

Western experts say someone well versed in guerrilla tactics is behind the assaults on missions in which an American woman missionary and three Belgian Roman Catholic priests have been killed.

Government forces have captured the notebook of a man who attended a guerrilla school. It is believed to be Mulele's.

"It's the sort of stuff the Communists crib from each other," U.S. Ambassador Edmund Gullion said after a trip to Kwilu. He said the notebook contained ideas from Cuban guerrilla specialist Ernesto Guevara and China's Mao Tse-tung.

Until two weeks ago, Kwilu was a prosperous agricultural province in the southwest Congo dotted with mission stations where the Congolese sought education and medical care.

The government still holds the larger towns, but Mulele rules the countryside of eastern and southern Kwilu.

The missionaries were forced to flee. Many were told they would not be harmed if they left.

But the rebels have no mercy for Africans. About 150 provincial government officials have been slaughtered, according to latest reports.

Quinlan To Be Sales Moderator

Warren J. Quinlan, Big Spring sales executive counselor, will act as moderator when the Dallas Sales Executive Club holds its February meeting in Dallas. This will be the second appearance in Dallas for Quinlan, who held his first sales workshop there last October. The Dallas Sales Executive Club is made up of more than 500 executives throughout the state.

Quinlan, president of Quinlan Associates, received special training in conducting conference workshops at the University of Wisconsin's Management Institute. He is a graduate of the American Society of Training Directors and has trained more than 30 conference leaders.

McClenny Will Attend Meeting

City Secretary C. R. McClenny will attend a meeting of the South Plains City Secretaries Association to be held Feb. 21 at Andrews. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss common problems and exchange ideas, said McClenny.

The secretary served as president of the organization in 1963, and he received a district service award plaque when the new president, Judy Moses of Ralls, was elected for 1964.

McClenny, a veteran city employee, was secretary of the association in 1961, and he was vice president in 1962. The association has four meetings each year. Last year, Big Spring was host for one of the meetings. There are over 20 cities in West Texas that are members of the association.

Killed in Wreck

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Chamber, 35, of San Antonio was killed today in a car crash south of here. Five persons were injured.

Losing Battle

It was a losing battle for both amateur and professional snow shovelers in Amarillo today as 20 mile per hour winds quickly restacked the snow as fast as it could be shoveled off. Accumulations in the Panhandle area ranged from 10 inches at Amarillo to 22 inches in Borger. Vehicular traffic in the northern Panhandle was stopped completely by noon today. (AP WIREPHOTO)

New Peking Muscles May Herald Go-It-Alone Policy

Red China may be on the verge of a go-it-alone policy which could carve the Communist world into two distinct and even opposing blocs.

Peking is flexing new muscles. Possibly it feels more confident since the recognition extended by France. Turning Nikita Khrushchev's own words against him, Peking implies the Soviet premier and his European Communist should let Red China lead the revolution in Asia and Africa.

Khrushchev, who once promised to bury the West's social system, himself is going to be buried by the revolutionary movement, said Peking in its latest broadside.

The attack accused Khrushchev of encouraging an "anti-party group" inside the Chinese party. The use of this phrase—coined by Khrushchev—is tinged with sarcasm.

VIOLENT PURGE

The Chinese party never had a violent purge in the old Soviet style. If it had purges—avoided advertising them. But there is a hint in the use of the term "anti-party" that Mao Tse-tung handled resistance to his policies within his own Politburo in the only way Communists seem able to deal with differences of opinion.

It is widely known that Khrushchev opposed Mao's attempt to launch Red China on the "great leap forward." Khrushchev applauded those in the Peking leadership—like Marshal Peng Teh-huai, an old comrade of Mao—who resisted the great leap.

GREAT LEAP

The experiment with the great leap and people's communes—abandoned as a failure—is known to have caused trouble in the Communist Chinese army. Some officers feared it meant an end to Soviet military aid. Others resented expansion use of regular army soldiers as laborers.

Peng Teh-huai eventually was removed as defense minister and tossed off the Politburo. He has disappeared from public view.

The difference of opinion over China's internal policies was a root cause of the ideological split with the Kremlin.

OWN WAY

Now the Chinese are beginning to sound like a party about to go its own way, and even to assert its undisputed sway over the revolution in Asia and Africa, on the ground that Khrushchev and his supporters have forfeited their claim to leadership.

They deny that Khrushchev has any right to unchallenged leadership in the first place. The Chinese indicate it was their understanding that in this historical period the Russians were to be no more than first among equals—guides and perhaps financiers of the revolution but with no right to dictate to other Communist-ruled countries.

NY Boycott Termed Both Success, Flop

NEW YORK (AP)—A "whoopie success," said a leader of the boycott for full integration of New York City's schools.

"Mostly a fizzle," said the school board president.

Both were talking about the 464,362 pupils who stayed away from school for one day Monday.

President James B. Donovan of the Board of Education said: "All it did was furnish an excuse for kids to stay out."

Normally, 100,000 of the city's one million public school pupils stay home each day anyway because of illness or other reasons.

THREE TIMES

Of the 43,800 public school teachers in the nation's largest school system, 3,537—three times more than normal—also were absent. Some joined picket lines of Negroes, Puerto Ricans and others outside the schools. Children also marched on picket lines.

There are 3,733 Negro and Puerto Rican teachers in the system.

The absent teachers face penalties ranging from loss of one day's pay to possible dismissal for neglect of duty unless they can give valid reasons for being absent, Board of Education officials said.

Civil rights groups that spearheaded the boycott had said they would retaliate if the board punishes teachers with anything more than loss of a day's pay.

ANOTHER BOYCOTT

The Rev. Milton A. Galamison, chairman of the citywide Committee for Integrated Schools, sponsor of the boycott, said the committee would meet "within the next 24 hours" to discuss another boycott. He said Feb. 11 and Feb. 25 had been suggested but no dates had been set.

But Galamison told more than 3,500 school pickets who rallied outside the Board of Education's Brooklyn headquarters: "If the board does what it has to do, another boycott will not be necessary."

The board last week offered a program to speed integration in some of the 165 predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican schools among the city's 863 public schools.

Galamison and other civil rights leaders claimed the program was too limited and too slow.

DEAR ABBY

No Time For A Shower

DEAR ABBY: A year ago last November my daughter was married in Las Vegas. She was four months along then, but, to save face, we told everybody she had been secretly married in June, right after her high school graduation. Her husband was in the Army but was able to get a 10-day emergency leave at that time. Now he won't be able to come home again until he is discharged in October, when our grandson will be a year and a half old. Everything happened so fast there wasn't time for showers or even a wedding reception. The kids will have to start housekeeping from scratch and they don't have a thing. Would it be proper to give them a big shower-type wedding reception when her husband gets back?

DEAR ABBY: Recently our son brought a girl to our home so we could meet her. He is probably serious about her because he never brought a girl home for us to meet before. Well, that boy could not sit down without this girl plopping herself on his lap. She always had to be holding his hand, smoothing his hair and she would not let him out of her sight for one minute. We tried hard to like her, Abby, but she was disgusting! Our son is a college junior and so is she. If you were us, would you tell your son what you thought of such a brazen girl? HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Only if he asked me.

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me why the brides who never found the time to get out their thank-you notes always manage to find the time to get out the birth announcements?

MISSISSIPPI MRS. DEAR MRS.: That's not always the case. It just seems that way.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BERT: You expect too much. The nearest most people come to perfection is when they are filling out an employment application.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
