Belli Claims An Aura Of Unfairness

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The defense charged Saturday that a murder jury to try Jack Ruby is being forced down our throats, although only two panel members have been selected in the first week of his trial.

"We are not picking a jury anymore," chief defense attorney Melvin Belli told Judge Joe B. Brown. "We're having a jury forced down our throats."

Belli's complaint came during the examination of jury candidate Albert C. Phillips, a building materials employee. He admitted a fixed opinion on Ruby's Nov. 24 slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The defense repeatedly has sought to have the trial of Ruby, 32, moved out of Dallas. Belli renewed this plea in vain, pointing to Phillips' admitted bias, and declaring:

"We have the burden of proof on our side. Cannot your honor see from these conscientious jurors (sic) that they are trying to tell us something?"

The defense contends Dallas is biased against Ruby because the slaying of Oswald on the heels of Kennedy's assassination tarnished the city's image. Belli described this during the day as "the aura of unfairness over the case."

EXCUSED Judge Brown eventually excused Phillips from the jury because of his opinion, which he was not asked to state. Five other prospects were excused for the same reason during the special Saturday trial session, and four more were dismissed because they opposed capital punishment.

In all, 48 prospective jurors have been examined since the trial began last Monday. The only ones agreeable to both sides have been Max Causey, 35, and Allen W. McCoy, 39, both technical men with college degrees.

Despite the slow progress of the trial, local interest in it has risen steadily, with spectators forming long lines as they sought admission.

Ruby seemed tense as the first week of trial ended. He was pale and from time to time he worked his jaws nervously. His often ready smile was not in evidence.

ACCUSED He is accused of murder with malice, and the state is asking the death penalty. The defense is pleading insanity.

Ruby stepped from a crowd at Dallas police headquarters and shot down Oswald during a routine jail transfer two days after the President's death. Oswald had described himself as a Marxist and in questioning one prospective juror Saturday defense attorney Joe Tonahill asked:

"When the Marines went into Korea and killed Communists, they were justified in killing Communists were they not?"

Judge Brown upheld a state objection, and barred an answer.

Belli demanded the dismissal of another juror, M. C. David, 55, a carpenter, whom he accused of deliberately trying to get on the jury.

"We don't think he could be fair, whether consciously or unconsciously," Belli told Judge Brown. "There is a perfect rap proachment between this man and the district attorney. They want him badly."

LIE DETECTOR "This man, knowing we don't want him, is trying to get on this jury. Again I think this is a good time to call for the polygraph."

The defense first proposed Friday that a lie detector be brought into court to test the veracity of potential jurors.

"Would you be willing to submit to it?" Tonahill demanded of David.

Before he could answer, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade interrupted to say:

"While we're at it, we might submit Mr. Tonahill and Mr. Belli."

Judge Brown ended the argument by excusing David. The trial resumes at 9 a.m. Monday.

No Agreement On Shipments Of U.S. Wheat

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz scheduled a new meeting with labor officials Saturday night in an effort to settle the deadlocked negotiations over a longshoremen's boycott of U.S. wheat shipments to Russia.

Wirtz canceled plans to return to Washington for the third time to resume the talks with maritime union leaders.

A spokesman for Wirtz said the negotiations so far had been "unable to produce an agreement."

Earlier, the talks had broken off with no plans to resume them. Then Wirtz announced his last-minute change of plans.

The unions are demanding that the government revoke waivers granted to Continental Grain Co. allowing it to ship only 38 per cent of a one million ton wheat sale in American vessels.

The labor leaders also demanded that no such waivers be granted in the future on shipments to Soviet bloc nations.

The Continental sale of wheat under an export license granted by the Commerce Department is worth about $75 million.

Future grain shipments to Russia may eventually total $400 million, but the longshoremen's boycott could prevent it from ever leaving American docks.

Only a small amount of the grain had been shipped by Continental before the boycott began.

The first shipload arrived in Odessa Friday.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The presidents of the United States and Mexico pledged themselves Saturday to build stronger bonds of peace and friendship between their nations and in the world.

They even agreed to a plan for heading off additional border disputes such as those which have plagued the two countries through the years — and there may be some changes along the Rio Grande.

TWO DAYS President Johnson and President Adolfo Lopez Mateos wound up two days of conferences and issued a long, formal communique that emphasized the strengthening of peace, friendship, the Alliance for Progress, the Organization of American States, trade and control of illegal traffic in drugs.

There was no mention of American troubles with Cuba and Panama. American informants said these played a minor role in the conferences.

But Lopez Mateos tossed off a surprise suggestion at a news conference that, "It is to the United Nations to which the United States should turn to find a solution of its problems with Cuba."

CUBA OUSTED He said Cuba has been ousted from the OAS.

The United States position is that only the Castro regime, and not the Cuban states, is out of the OAS.

There was no indication that Johnson and his administration intend to turn to the United Nations at this point when the OAS already is wrestling with the Cuban situation.

The Mexican president also said he thought the case of Panamanian-American difficulties is something the OAS can solve.

The Mexican and American executives met Friday and Saturday at a conference table in this desert resort. At the start of his administration Johnson had said he had wanted to meet promptly with leaders of the two great neighbors to the north and south, and this he now has done.

The official communique took note of a recent American-Mexican agreement ending a long row over a bit of land at El Paso, Tex., in the Chamizal area. The two presidents decided to "hold a fitting ceremony" there.

The dispute grew out of a change in the course of the Rio Grande, and the two presidents said their governments must continue to work toward "making the Rio Grande once again the boundary between the two countries."

QUICK LOOK They ordered members of the International Boundary and Water Commission to take a quick look at land that might become separated from the country to which it belongs through changes in the river course and "recommend the action that ought to be taken."

With reference to the criminal traffic in drugs, Johnson and Lopez Mateos called for strengthening cooperation between the countries in order to put a stop to it.

Lopez Mateos told reporters that as far as he was concerned, the main issue of his talks with Johnson was "the excess of salt in the waters that Mexico receives from the Colorado River." He said a satisfactory new solution had been worked into the communique.

SOLUTION What the communique disclosed was that Johnson outlined experimental construction now under way which he hopes will produce "an adequate, permanent solution" which he would recommend to the Congress. This construction involves a system of tile drains in the Wellton-Mohawk reclamation area in Arizona to draw off excess water before it picks up salt, and send it down the Colorado into Mexico.

Supreme Court May Rule Monday On Redistricting

AUSTIN (AP)—Texans may find out Monday whether their congressional elections will occur as scheduled this year or be thrown into the "indecipherable chaos" predicted by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

The Supreme Court hands down decisions Monday, and a Texas redistricting case may be among the rulings.

If the court rules against Texas, Carr's prediction could become a reality.

23 RACES If the court rules against Texas but grants a reprieve by withholding any order for immediate redistricting, the state's 23 races for Congress will continue as planned and grateful politicians probably will promise to remedy one of the nation's most unequal distribution of congressional districts.

These possibilities became immediate last Monday, when the Supreme Court decided a Georgia redistricting case and said districts within a state should, as nearly as possible, have the same number of voters. The ruling struck at the heart of Texas' appeal of a Houston federal court's order to redistrict. The Supreme Court has had the appeal since Nov. 15 without acting on it.

State officials and congressmen reacted as soon as they could study the Georgia case.

GOP BRIEFS The Republicans who filed the suit also filed new briefs, again urging a quick ruling on the Texas case.

The Houston court ruled Oct.

19 that the state law setting congressional district boundaries is unconstitutional because it discriminates against urban voters. It ordered all congressmen to run for re-election in the state at large unless the law was changed by the Feb. 3 filing deadline. The order was stayed pending disposition of the appeal.

RECORD The record shows: —In 50 years, Texas has reworked its congressional districts three times — 1917, 1933 and 1957 — while the population almost tripled to 9.6 million. In the 50 years before that — 1864 to 1914 — the legislature redistricted seven times.

—Twelve of the 21 districts created in 1933 remain today. They were ignored in the 1957 redistricting, in which Houston got a second congressman and a minor shuffle of 11 mostly rural counties in West and East Texas.

—The range in the size of districts has grown from 148,000 in 1933 — the difference between Dist. 16 with 211,000 and Houston with 359,000 — to 726,000 in 1960 — the difference between Dist. 4 with 216,000 to Dallas with 952,000.

—The Dallas District, largest in the nation, contains almost as many voters as four other districts: 1, 3, 4 and 21, all mostly rural areas.

Foreign Policy Seen As LBJ's Weakest Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans of all factions appeared to be uniting Saturday in the belief that the way to beat President Johnson in November is to assail his handling of foreign policy.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N. J., a spokesman for GOP liberals, joined other Republican critics by calling Johnson vulnerable in the field of international affairs.

Case said on a taped television program that New Jersey, likely to be one of the key states in the presidential election, now is "a teeter-totter state" — perhaps with a slight bent toward Democrats.

Describing Johnson as "a very able man in politics," Case added:

"There are concerns being expressed, however, as to whether in the field of international affairs he's going to do as good a job as needs to be done, whether this may not be a very vulnerable situation. If it turns out that this is so, then I think any Republican would have a good chance of carrying New Jersey."

May Recommend Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to recommend soon that foreign aid be cut back in scope and that its effectiveness be checked on a country-by-country basis.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said Saturday he has received personal assurance from the President of his decision to create a number of committees to make on-the-spot checks of how American money is being spent abroad and how effective it is as a cold war weapon.

Cooper long has advocated such an examination, arguing it is essential to save the program from elimination by Congress.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the assistant Democratic leader from Minnesota, said in a separate interview that he, too, has been told the President has accepted the Cooper idea in principle.

Humphrey added that the President will incorporate this and other ideas for changes in a message to Congress, probably for a $3.4-billion program for the year starting next July 1.

The message, Humphrey said, will call also for cutting the number of countries which have been receiving foreign aid and reducing the assistance that goes to others.

"The President plans to eliminate some countries entirely and eliminate separate foreign aid missions in others and make a substantial reduction in foreign aid personnel," Humphrey said.

He added that Johnson is trying to tailor the program as much as possible to meet major criticisms voiced in the Senate and House last year when Congress cut the administration's foreign aid request from $4.5 billion to $3 billion.

"Needless to say I am happy over the President's assurances that the aim of my amendment, which the Senate adopted by a 79-1 vote, will be put into effect by the administration," Cooper said.

The amendment called for the creation of three- to five-member committees to review the effectiveness of economic aid programs in specific areas of the world, such as Latin America, the Middle East, Southeast Asia and Africa. It would call for a detailed review of the programs in the 15 to 20 countries receiving half of the total economic assistance.

Secretary-General U Thant. Stevenson and Sir Patrick Dean of Britain — whose country has almost 7,000 troops on the Mediterranean island trying to curb blood — letting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots — saw Thant on Saturday evening.

Dean told reporters he was encouraged and optimistic, but that nothing had been settled.

"Everybody wants an agreement," he said, "it's just a question of getting it."

Diplomats Work Toward Reduced Cuban Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. diplomats sought behind the scenes today to persuade a reluctant Spain and Morocco to curtail their commerce with Communist Cuba rather than face possible loss of U.S. aid.

The State Department's Cuban affairs coordinator, John H. Crimmins, has been summoned by the House Latin American affairs subcommittee to testify Monday on the Cuban situation generally. And chairman Armistead I. Selden, D-Ala., said Saturday Crimmins can expect to be asked about the amount of trade with Cuba, who is engaged in such trade and what steps are being taken to reduce it.

The State Department announced Tuesday that, pursuant to Congress' new foreign aid law, U.S. assistance to Britain, France and Yugoslavia is being terminated because of their continuing traffic to Cuba.

The total amount of U.S. assistance involved, all military, was said to have amounted to less than $50,000 for these three nations.

Far more — reportedly more than $50 million — is involved with Spain and Morocco.

Selden, in an interview, said He noted that President Johnson has power under the law to waive the aid-cut penalty where he finds this to be in the U.S. national interest.

Winter slipped in a sneaky punch last week, but who cares so long as it was wet? Moreover, the snow was heavy enough and drifted just enough to be beautiful. It's too early yet for a rapid transformation, but you'll see some of the effects of the light moisture in winter weeds and early spring vegetation popping out soon.

Belli Interviewed

No Pat Script For Ruby Trial

By SID MOODY
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The typical courtroom television program winds up its hour with a neat ending and a message from the sponsor.
Jack Ruby's trial for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald has no pat script. For one thing, millions of people have seen television films of the shooting. Can Ruby's lawyers be sure the juror can lay aside his memory of that violent moment? There are other reasons for the crawling pace of the trial's first week.

REAL ISSUE
First, the law isn't simply a matter of what someone saw happen.
The real issue is not whether Ruby shot Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, but whether Ruby was guilty of murder.
The defense contends Ruby was innocent because he was temporarily insane—driven out of his mind by the shock of Kennedy's death.
This is one of the problems for the defense—finding jurors who accept the possibility of "transient insanity," as Ruby's lawyers put it.

The state contends the jury selection is going slowly because Ruby's attorneys are stalling, hoping to convince Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown it is impossible for Ruby to get a fair trial in Dallas.
Ruby's California lawyer, Melvin Belli, has made his strategy plain. He has said it is impossible to get a fair jury in Dallas because, he says, the city regards Ruby's conviction as a sacrifice needed to clear the stain of Kennedy's assassination and the slaying of the accused assassin. He's doing everything possible to impress Brown with the contention that a jury can't be picked here.

QUESTIONS
Put yourself in the witness chair as Belli questions you as a prospective juror. Cordially he asks if you saw Oswald's slaying on TV. Only one or two persons hadn't.
Has it fixed your opinion as to who killed Oswald? Do you think Dallas is on trial and has that fixed your opinion about Ruby?
Do you believe in modern psychiatry and that a man can be temporarily insane?
If you can run this gamut to Belli's satisfaction, you could be seated. But only two men—Max Causey, 35, an electronics analyst with a master's degree and Allen W. McCoy, 39, an industrial engineer—have made it. A pretty, bespectacled young librarian and a store manager came close.
Belli shares the questioning with Joe Tonahill, another defense lawyer from the tiny East Texas town of Jasper. Tonahill weighs 245 pounds. He says he would rather be catfishing than have to be in court on a Saturday. He can roar like a bull when he says he's been wronged. When he says Dist. Atty. Henry Wade "wants to exercise the laws of Communist Russia in this court" the rafters ring.

MYERS TRIAL

Donna Marie's Letter Admitted

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — An 18-page letter written to John Edwin Myers by his teen-age sweetheart was given to defense lawyers Saturday by the order of Judge Joseph Fleming.

Myers is on trial for the murder of Carol Ballard, 10. He also is accused of killing the girl's father, a Belleville woman, and an Iowa hitchhiker during a 1961 crime spree that began in Illinois and ended in West Texas. Defense lawyer Ray Freeark Jr. said the letter written by Donna Marie Stone to Myers would help determine if Myers were insane when the murder occurred. The letter was written to Myers while he and the Stone girl were held in Texas on murder charges.

The letter was not read to the jury. Its contents were not publicly disclosed. Fleming ordered lawyers for Miss Stone, 13, who is serving time for the murders in an Illinois prison, to relinquish the letter to Freeark or face contempt of court charges. Psychiatrists read the letter. The first defense witness, Ben England Jr., a clinical psychologist, testified Friday that he tested Myers in February of 1962 in Texas. He said he felt Myers was not able to control himself when the girl was killed. "I feel he was not capable of distinguishing right from wrong," England told the court. The prosecution ended its case Friday after Circuit Judge Joseph Fleming admitted as evidence a statement taken from Myers after his arrest in Texas that described the slaying of the Ballards.

Myers was convicted and doomed in Texas of killing Lee De Kraal of Ottumwa, Iowa, but an appeals court ordered a new trial, which has not been held. Myers also is accused of killing Miss Margaret Wernicker after she was taken from her home here.

Water Commission Publishes Rules

Publication of the 1964 revision, the first since 1955, of the Rules, Regulations and Modes of Procedure of the Texas Water Commission has just been completed.

Joe D. Carter, commission chairman, said that coverage of most legal aspects of the water laws of Texas as administered by the commission is included in the publication.

Requirements for obtaining permits for the use of surface water are set out in detail in the new rules. In addition procedures for creation of water districts, approval of bonds for water projects, amending of permits, cancellation of unused water claims, and permits for injection wells are outlined along with many aspects of state requirements in the field of water conservation and development.

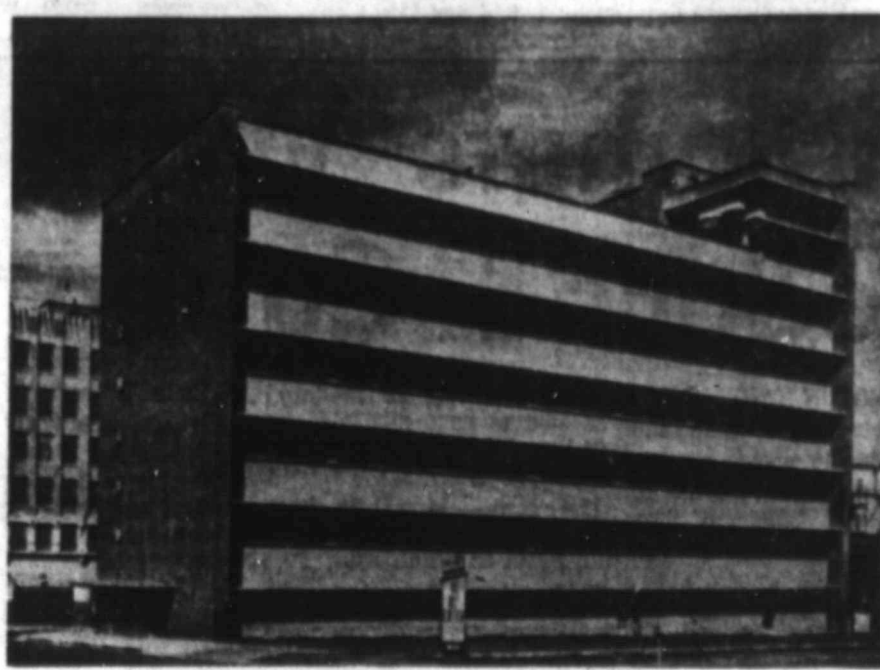

Those needing copies of the rules may obtain them free of charge from the Texas Water Commission, P.O. Box 12311, Austin, Texas 78711.

Gripy Accurately Forecasts Weather

By SAM BLACKBURN
Gripy has a built-in weather forecasting system which rarely fails to function. As a result, Miss Ruth Beasley, 705 E. 17th, usually knows well ahead when there's a blizzard moving in on Big Spring. All she has to do is consult Gripy.

Gripy is a well-fed, highly domesticated, extremely fat, lady prairie dog. She is technically the property of 14-year-old Tommy Beasley of Midland, who is Miss Beasley's nephew. However, for the past three years Gripy has lived most of the time with Miss Beasley.

NATURAL BORN WEATHER EXPERT

PETS

Gripy (her name derives from her habit of registering boredom or demanding attention by standing on her hind legs and shrilling "gri-pee") was acquired in a shop between Odessa and Midland. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Beasley bought Gripy as a pet for Tommy and provided her with a roomy cage. Tom Beasley is a pilot for Key Investments, and often takes Gripy on flights with him across the country.

"Really," said Miss Beasley, "Gripy is so accurate as a forecaster that Tom says he takes her along to keep him posted on the weather."

Miss Beasley said that the night Hurricane Carla was approaching the coast, Gripy toiled ceaselessly. She ripped newspapers into bits, gathered up scraps of rags and built her a king-sized thickly lined nest.

Although the devastating Carla failed to create a major weather crisis in this area, apparently Gripy had no desire to be caught short. If there was a hurricane on its way, reasoned Gripy, the thing to do is to get ready for it.

SELDOM OUTSIDE

"She is seldom out of doors," said Miss Beasley, "so we suppose it is instinctive that she can feel a pending weather change."

Gripy makes elaborate preparations each time cold weather approaches—pointless efforts, since the rooms at 705 E. 16th are warm and cozy day and night.

Gripy thrives on a special food which Miss Beasley has to drive to Midland to buy. She scorns grass and green stuff but relishes peanuts. Rabbit food she abhors. Her favorite food is chocolate candy, however, and she'll stand up, lie down, or do nearly anything if you'll reward her with a bite of candy bar.

The books say that prairie dogs do not drink much water. Gripy hasn't read the books. She is a heavy water drinker.

Tommy points out that Gripy is a very erudite animal. Her food is kept in a dual-bowled feeder. On one bowl is the word "food" and on the other "water." Tommy says that Gripy can read — "she knows which

Dear Abby

Sneaky Smoker

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man in his 50's who slips around to smoke? He started smoking when he was 15, and about four years ago he started having stomach trouble, so his doctor told him to quit smoking. He did, for about three years, then he started to slip around and sneak smokes. Can you imagine a man in his 50's thinking he is getting away with it? His breath and clothes smell of tobacco something fierce. And you should hear the excuses he uses to get out of the house for a smoke. Also, I find cigarettes hidden all over the house. It makes me think that if a man will slip around to smoke, maybe that's not all he's slipping around to do. Am I wrong?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Probably. Don't assume that because your husband has one bad habit he has them all. So far, you know only what you've learned from smoke signals.

DEAR ABBY: Should a 16-year-old girl who has been called "naive" feel complimented or insulted?

"NAIVE"

DEAR NAIVE: If she is truly naive, she should feel complimented.

DEAR ABBY: I am a born loser. I lost my husband to another woman. I lost my only child to my husband because the court decided that he could provide a more normal atmosphere for him. I fell in love with a married man who works closely with him, nor do I intend to be. I am sure he is aware of me in the same way, though not a word has been spoken about it. My interest in him has numbed my interest in all other men. It is also interfering with my efficiency on my job, and I know it is affecting his, too. If you could tell me how to regain my former uncomplicated state of mind without changing jobs, I would be grateful.

"BORN LOSER"

DEAR LOSER: There are no "Born Losers"—only people with occasional bad luck and others who play games in which the odds are against them. Quit punishing yourself. Unless you enjoy suffering, you will change jobs.

Prairie Dogs Are Harmful To Farm, Ranch Operations

A prairie dog may make a nice pet but the average farmer or rancher will be skeptical if you tell him so.

To the rancher, the prairie dog is an enemy—a destroyer of never-too-abundant grass. A digger of holes into which horses and cattle often step and break legs. Tell a rancher there's a prairie dog on his place and he'll grab some poisoned grain and set out to eliminate the animal.

TIMES CHANGE

Times have changed in West Texas in the past two or three decades. Until a relatively few years ago, the prairie dog was found in great abundance all over West Texas. Naturalists say the prairie dog population ran into the hundreds of millions. The prairie dog lent a hand, it seems, in its own decimation. It destroyed the range grasses on which it lived and hastened its own disappearance. The ranchers found the prairie dog peculiarly susceptible to eradication (usually by introducing the fumes of carbon disulfide into the burrow). As a result, the little animal is now nearly extinct.

There may be a few small prairie dog towns still left in this county but they are here only because the ranchers have not found them.

"I know where there is one town of about nine or 10 dogs," said one rancher who asked not to be named. "I don't want to say where it is but I will guarantee that it won't be there much longer."

MANY ACRES

In the old days, the prairie dog towns often covered many acres. The prairie dog is a gregarious animal who likes neigh-

ors. As a result, vast expanses would be dotted with the mounds the animal builds as a dyke around his burrow. The ground around a dog town would be bare; the little rodents destroyed every sprig of grass around.

In the old days when the prairie dogs were so numerous, hundreds of cowboys suffered painful falls due to their horses stepping into burrows. Many horses had to be killed as a result.

Ranchers say that the danger of the holes extended to cattle as well, and that, all in all, the prairie dog was a menace of major proportions to ranching operations. The war on the prairie dog has been almost 100 per cent a complete victory for the ranchers.

All around Big Spring, 50 years ago, were scores of prairie dog towns. Today no sign of these towns remains. On some ranches, the burrows of destroyed towns can still be seen but they are slowly filling in. Ranchers keep a sharp eye on the sites a prairie dog might select for a town.

Hundreds of younger West Texans have never seen a prairie dog in his native habitat. There are some to be found in 2005. In a park at Lubbock, a large prairie dog town is maintained for the edification of visitors.

The beautiful Palo Duro Canyon, one of Texas' more spectacular natural wonders, is a part of the Prairie Dog Fork of the Red River. The name given to the Fork, according to old timers, was most appropriate. Although ranchers are usually prompt to destroy the prairie dog when he appears, there is also a law in Texas which makes it an offense to permit the pests to establish themselves on a farm or ranch.

County officials can warn a landowner to destroy the prairie dogs on his property, and if he does not comply, the sheriff of the county can be instructed by the county commissioners court to go on the property and do the job, charging the landowner for the costs of poisoning.

Individual Responsibility

"So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God" (Rom. 14: 12)

The other person cannot give account to God for me; nor can I, for responsible for the other person only to the extent of my ability and opportunity to teach and influence him.

Hence, the question is not, "Will all people forsake their man-made creeds and organizations, and become united on the Scriptures?" The question is, "Am I willing for forsake all else to stand with the Scriptures, and to join in with the effort to teach others to do the same?"

The question is, "Am I willing to study the Bible that I may learn and do my duty, and thus rid myself of any responsibility for a divided state of religion?"

Come and study the word with us today. Mr. S. Morman will preach at 10:30 a.m. My sermon at 6 p.m. shall be "Fishing Ears." Be with us.

By T. H. Farber, preacher, Church of Christ, 325 West Highway 26, where you are always welcome.

HOLLEYS SELL DRUG STORE TO CLICKS

Coahoma Drug Store Sold To K. L. Clicks

By M. A. WEBB
COAHOMA — The Coahoma Drug Store, owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Holley for 17 years, was sold this week to Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Click. The new owners completed the transaction Tuesday and have taken over the operation. The Holleys are helping them get acquainted with the business and Coahoma customers.

K. L. Click operated the Click Sand and Gravel Co. in Big Spring 15 years, and Mrs. Click owned the Mary Jo Dress Shop, Johnson and Ninth Streets, for several years. They have not yet moved from their home near Center Point, but are driving back and forth to keep the drug store open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Mrs. George (Faye) Warren, who has been with the Holleys in the store for several years, will remain in the store.

"We feel fortunate in being able to have Mrs. Warren with us," Mrs. Click said. "She knows everybody and the business and will be a great help in getting us started."

The Clicks, who have been retired for two years, plan to continue the business about as it has been operated in the past. They said they might add to the stock a little later.

"It is a new adventure for both of us, but we think we are going to like it. We had retired, but reached the point that told us we had to have something to do to keep us occupied," they said.

F. M. Holley said he bought the business Nov. 22, 1946, had remodeled the building and installed new fixtures in 1956, and had enjoyed serving the people of Coahoma. "We don't have any plans for the future," he said, "but will remain in Coahoma as far as we can tell. Mrs. Holley will have more time to spend with our grandchildren, and I think I'm going to enjoy that too. We have two daughters, Mrs. R. E. Hickson and Mrs. Bob Cathey. The Hicksons have two children, Don 13, and Cynthia 11. The Catheys also have two children, Mike 12, and Wacey 10. The boys think I'll have more time to go fishing with them."

Holley said he grew up with West Texas and married a West Texas girl. He is a native of Mitchell County, but came to Big Spring when a water trough for horses and teams was still on Third Street downtown.

"I was around in the oil fields when the first fields were brought in, went to Wink when that field built a town; and then to Hobbs, N.M. before there was anything but a post office," he said. "Then we came to Coahoma and bought this business, and now I guess you can say we are retired."

Labor Meet Lauds Anti-Poverty Drive

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Johnson's declaration of war on poverty must not be allowed to fizzle into a mere skirmish, labor leaders said Saturday.

In fact, said the AFL-CIO Executive Council, "the administration's anti-poverty campaign in 1964 must be viewed as hardly a first small step."

The council, representing the bulk of the American labor movement, said: "If we now engage in merely a token effort—a mere skirmish instead of a war—we will be deluding the millions of impoverished and frustrating the expectations of the nation and of the world."

The council's statement said poverty is rooted in unemployment and "government policies are excessively concerned with the welfare of corporations and the already well-off."

"The main thing is that we need jobs," said George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

"President Johnson now must reverse nearly 10 years of stagnation in the effort to reduce the prevalence of poverty," the council said.

While applauding Johnson's announced anti-poverty campaign, the statement reflected labor's growing worry over unemployment and its impatience for far-reaching federal action to solve it.

The labor leaders have already clashed twice during their meeting here with major administration policies.

They personally told Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz that they are unhappy about Johnson's opposition to writing a 35-hour work week into federal law.

The idea, the council said, is the only way to halt rising unemployment that now totals 4.6 million.

Wirtz, rejecting the idea, of the 35-hour week, just as bluntly told them, "I don't like it." Meany also balked at Johnson's request that labor abide by noninflationary guidelines in future wage negotiations.

"Studies of poverty in the United States reveal that over half the families affected have members who are employed or seek work," the council said.

"Many others are compelled to work part time or for relief-level wages," it added.

Mop-Haired Quartet Is Back Home

LONDON (AP)—The Beatles are back home with a chorus about the U.S. of A.: "Fabulous."

The mop-haired quartet got a welcome fit for a king at London Airport Saturday, though the general state of decorum was hardly regal.

Smiling, waving and mugging, they got off the plane from New York to be greeted by one of the largest crowds ever assembled at London Airport. Some had slept on the floor of the terminal to be there when their idols arrived before breakfast.

Police were deployed in formations worked out to protect royalty. Seven-foot crush barriers, normally reserved for visiting heads of state, penned in thousands of screaming youngsters.

Six thousand were waiting at the airport apron or on the roofs of terminal buildings. Another five thousand or so who couldn't be squeezed in were lining roads, rooftops and entrance drives to catch a glimpse of Britain's four famous faces.

The crush on the apron was so intense that one girl was taken to the hospital with serious head injuries. Fans clambered atop half-a-dozen cars for a better view, and the damage bill for crushed hoods, bent fenders and dented roofs was put at more than $1,000.

The Beatles themselves seemed delighted by the welcome, as always.

"Why did you stay away so long?" said one placard. "Don't ever go away again," said another.

LBJ Relishes Morning Hike

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Johnson, apparently relishing the desert air and sunshine, hiked nearly a mile before breakfast Saturday.

Swinging out of his borrowed mountainside home at a brisk pace, Johnson encountered a girl and a boy at the corner.

Waving them over, he patted the girl on the head, gave her an affectionate hug and said: "I've got two little girls. One is 16 and the other is—"

The girl interrupted with the age of Johnson's older daughter, Lynda Bird.

"Nineteen," she said.

The President laughed and said: "She'll be 20 this month."

Lynda Bird's birthday is March 19. Lucy Baines is the 16-year-old.

Walking with Johnson through the streets of a plush residential section were Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs, and Jack Valenti, a presidential aide.

Six Secret Service agents accompanied the trio.

A few householders, maids and yard men stood in doorways or along curbs and fences.

For each, Johnson had a wave and a "Hi, how are you doing?"

One elderly lady tried frantically to take a snapshot.

Johnson obligingly stood facing her while she asked, "Is this about 10 feet?"

"That's just about it," said Valenti, who either was being polite or is a poor judge of distance.

"I'm all excited," the lady said, as she fumbled with the camera.

"Take all the time you want," said the President.

After walking nearly a mile, Johnson waved at the driver of his closed limousine, trailing behind with the car.

"Come on, let's go," said the President, and climbed into the car to drive to the Riviera Hotel and a breakfast meeting with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico.

Johnson, who had been undecided about when he would return to Washington, let it be known late Friday night that the air and sunshine will keep him in Palm Springs an extra day. He plans to leave for the capital Sunday afternoon.

About 1,200 Help Club In Annual Pancake Feast

Approximately 1,200 persons ate pancakes, drank coffee or milk, and for a time, used up all the seating space in the Howard County Junior College student union building from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Friday.

Soc Walker, general chairman, said Saturday morning that the Kiwanis Club's eleventh pancake supper was the typical scene of "pancake eaters." He said nearly all of the huge stock of materials was used up.

"We did have a pan of bacon left over," he said, "and turned it over to the Salvation Army. Otherwise we came out about as expected. Of course we will not know about the financial outcome until all the bills are paid."

Kiwanians use the proceeds from the annual supper to carry on their work with underprivileged children.

Walker said Jack Roden was chairman of the purchasing committee and responsible for all the groceries; Harve Clay was the chief cook who continued to use the pancake recipe made famous by Jasper Adkins, and several members helped in serving.

An adult could get all he wanted to eat, including re-servings, for 75 cents a plate, and kids paid 50 cents a plate.

"For a time last night there was a long line of hungry people waiting outside," Walker said. "All the seating space was filled, and we had to shift some to the snack bar and set up other tables. All in all a lot of people were served in about two hours time."

Murder Charged

WHARTON, Tex. (AP)—A former highway patrolman and El Campo restaurant owner, Luther Talbert, died Friday night, hit by a car eight miles east of here. Talbert, 56, had pulled off the road to check a tail light on his trailer. Police charged James Bolin, 35, of Cypress with murder by auto.

State Hospital Employees Praised

Dr. C. J. Rullmann, director of the state's mental hospitals, praised Big Spring State Hospital employees Friday evening for high proficiency and morale.

This, together with warmth of the community toward the hospital, can give the hospital a head start in new, dramatic developments just ahead for treating the mentally ill.

Dr. Rullmann spoke at the employees awards dinner in the Allred Building, climaxing the presentation of a plaque to staff members on Ward 10-B.

This ward rated tops in six inspections by separate teams, and because it is the ward for the elderly patients, Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, said it was all the more significant. Dr. Frank Appel received the plaque on behalf of his co-workers.

Dr. George A. Constant, Victoria, member of the board for Texas Hospitals and Special Schools, wired his regrets when he was weathered in. He sends his regards to Ward 10-B for a "splendid example."

Judging was based on orderliness, cleanliness, staff attitude and efficiency, and numerous other points. Woodrow Grant, chief accountant and chairman of the inspection teams, noted that the award period was for six months performance. Had it been on a 12-month basis, Ward 9-B would have had the best average of 99. The ward scored 105 points out of a possible 146; six months ago the top score was 99. The average this time was 98 points, whereas six months ago it was 89.

Frank Wharton, music therapist for the hospital, furnished dinner music and served as accompanist for the special soloist. Mayor George Zachariah told the crowd of some 180 people that "All Big Spring shares in the pride of your accomplishment."

Decorations for the "round-up" carried out the western theme, even to an old saddle, boots, lanterns, tow sacks, hay, hanging tree, and tumbleweeds. The dinner of chili and beans carried out the theme.

While Ward 10-B got the plaque, "almost unbelievable benefits came to the hospital as a whole," said Dr. Rullmann. "By any standard," he added, "the productivity of the hospital has remained at an extremely high level, not only in comparison with other Texas hospitals but with those in other parts of the country. . . This (hospital) has been the leader in personnel morale, loyalty and effort output."

Regardless of solicitation, federal aid in the mental health field is now a reality, he told staff members, and it will "bring about a rate of progress not seen before. It will be unbelievable in the way we approach this matter."

"Within a few years, half the work load of this hospital will be transferred to scenes closer to the regular environment of the patients. The warmth of this community will be a very telling advantage along with your high morale and receptivity to new ideas."

"We will see shorter hospital stays but much longer contacts with the hospital staff. It will be on a basis as casual as going to the supermarket."

Boyce Hale Files For City Commission Race

H. Boyce Hale, a resident of Howard County 35 years and of Big Spring 12 years, has filed for a place on the city ballot for commissioner. Hale, 43, is material clerk for Phillips Petroleum Co., Production Department.

H. BOYCE HALE

He owns his home at 4102 Dixon, is married, and has three children. He has been active in youth work in Big Spring for several years. Hale has served as Cubmaster in Scouting; is District 7 Commissioner, Texas Amateur Softball Association; is a professional high school basketball referee in the area, and secretary of the Southwestern Basketball Officials Association, Big Spring chapter, and is a disabled Navy veteran of World War II.

Hale attended high school in Forsan, and colleges in Kansas and Missouri.

"Aside from my desire to give our city the best possible government, I want to give our citizens the opportunity to express themselves on acceptance of a federal grant of money to help us finance our sewer system, and possibly other projects that might come under some federal assistance. I believe that acceptance of these funds will stall any tax increase that might be contemplated in the near future," he said in announcing his candidacy.

"As being for something, I favor amending our city charter to allow the selection of a mayor or by popular vote, and I would also like to see the selection of commissioners by precinct rather than at-large. I believe that our present method of selecting commissioners is 'old-fashioned,' and, for a more progressive government, should be changed.

"It is my desire to work hard to secure more and better recreational facilities for our adults and children, and I would cooperate with all our organizations, such as the garden clubs, in an effort to make Big Spring a better and more beautiful place in which to live."

DRAMATIC PROOF
Residues help reduce erosion

Stubble Protects Fields During Blustery Seasons

With the blustery season of the year just ahead, the presence of crop residue will provide some dramatic proof that it does indeed reduce soil erosion by wind.

Advantages of residue are more than this, the Soil Conservation Service contends. Experience has shown that it abets moisture conservation as well as reduces soil blowing. The two factors are closely related.

Surface residues or stubble are most often used in this area. The SCS, according to William M. Sowers, conservationist, considers this an important phase of farming operations in this area. Correct use of stubble or other residue results in four distinct benefits. They are:

1. Residue conserves moisture. The amount of surface runoff is greatly reduced when residues are present.
2. Stubble in and on the soil surface allows air and water to penetrate more readily. This means that there is less soil compaction, in turn making for better, air, plant, soil and water relationship.

3. Residues greatly reduce soil losses through wind erosion. When adequate crop residues are left on the soil, there is no need for sand fighting and other soil-roughening tillage. Stubble reduces or breaks the wind tension along the surface of the soil and thus breaks up the chain reaction of soil particles loosening other soil particles.

4. Residues improve tilth of the soil. Tilth may be stated as workability. This is brought about by a combination of the previous three items, because conserving of moisture, increased infiltration of moisture, and reduced soil losses all help in making up the condition known as tilth.

Crop residues can be farmed by conventional methods. Care should be taken, however, not to turn residue under completely. The amount of these valuable residues destroyed by tillage operations ranges from 10 per cent, with wide sweeps, to as much as 50 per cent by one operation of a one-way plow.

Protection of soil condition is considered double important in this area, it was pointed out, because the disparity of rainfall means a rebuilding job is slower and more tedious than areas of consistently ample moisture.

New Texas Road Maps Now Ready

A sparkling new extension of the theme "Texas: America's Fun-Tier," is now rolling off multi-color presses by tens of thousands as the 1964 Official Highway Travel Map of Texas becomes available to native motorists and Lone Star State enthusiasts from Seattle to Siam.

The Texas Highway Department estimates that three-quarters of a million copies, and perhaps more, will be distributed during the coming months to almost every manner of individual and institution.

Every line, symbol and figure on Texas' 1964 Official Highway Travel Map has been newly calculated, plotted and engraved, and every effort has been directed toward making the map more legible and easier for the average motorist to use. Type faces are bolder, colors have been selected for maximum brilliance, and the national standard system of highway symbols has been followed in almost all instances.

Farm to market roads which do not serve as links between regular highways are not included on the new map, nor are those which do not join two or more communities. Communities with populations of less than 250 are not shown. Farm and ranch to market roads which do serve as connecting links are shown on the map.

Free copies of the 1964 Official Highway Travel Map of Texas may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Austin, Texas 78763. Each county tax office supplies free postcards with which maps may be ordered. Copies also are available at each of the seven Tourist Bureaus located on key highways entering the state, and at all of the 25 Highway Department district offices.

Feels like somebody put a runway where the road should be!

With engines up to a 425-hp V8* and its luxurious Jet-smooth ride, you may not notice where air travel leaves off and a Chevrolet Impala begins. Take-offs are smooth and effortless. Hills seem flat as prairies. A big coil spring at each wheel and over 700 sound deadeners throughout the body and chassis make you feel you're hardly on the ground at all. You'll find all kinds of jet-age luxury inside an Impala's big, roomy Body by Fisher, too.

Wide deep-cushioned seats, tailored with rich fabrics and vinyls. Thick wall-to-wall carpeting. Soft background music from an AM-FM radio*, if you like. You can even get an automatic pilot (we call it a "speed and cruise control"*) that lets you log mile after turnpike mile without touching the accelerator. Judges Announced For '64 Elections

Precinct judges for the special and general elections and their assistants have been selected by the Howard County Commissioners. Frank Hardesty, county Democratic chairman, said that the Democratic Executive Committee has selected the precinct judges who will serve in the Democratic primary elections this spring.

The county commissioners officially drew up the list of precinct judges and assistants Feb. 13 but it has had to be amended because several of the appointees asked to be relieved of their duties.

Hardesty said that the primary election judges in many precincts are the same as those named by the commissioners for the special and general elections. However, the Democratic committee leaves the selection of the assistants to each precinct judge. He said these would probably be selected two weeks or so before the first primary.

The county commissioners laid more stress this year than usual in seeing that Republicans are adequately represented on the precinct lists. The pay for serving on the precinct boards this year is the same in the primary and in the special and general elections — $12 per day for the judges and $10 per day for the assistants.

The list of precinct judges and their assistants follows, with the primary judges, where there is a different person serving, in parenthesis:

Glamour Added To Annual Junior Stock Show Here

A little more glamour will be injected into the auction sale which will be the closing event of the 27th annual Howard County 4-H and FFA Fat Stock show opening March 10 at the fair grounds.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent and superintendent of the show, said that it was decided that selected 4-H Club girls and FFA sweethearts will be in the auction ring during the sale and these girls will decorate each buyer with a bandana handkerchief.

"We felt," Helbig said, "we may have been pushing the sale too fast. And we also felt that we were not giving the buyers enough recognition. We hope this little touch will be a welcome addition and make for a little more color at the sale."

He said that plans for the show were solidified at a four-hour meeting recently. Attending were members of the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce, the 4-H Club committee, FFA representatives, and agricultural instructors.

Another feature this year will be a TV presentation of the winning animals on the evening of March 11. The top animals and their young owners will be taken to the studios of the television station for this event.

At 6 p.m. March 12, the free barbecue for all exhibitors and buyers will be served at the fair grounds building. The sale gets under way at 7:30 p.m.

Helbig said that members of the Jaycees are busy now lining up buyers and working out all details for the sale.

Two Howard County Hereford steers, both owned by Dolores Lankford, and four lambs owned by Linda Foster, Bud Saunders, Susan Elrod and Charlotte Mann, will be entered in the competition at the Houston Fat Stock show this week.

Herb Helbig said the animals would be taken to the show Sunday. Judging of the steers and lambs will be Wednesday. This is the final show before the San Angelo exposition. The San Angelo show is March 3-8. The youngsters will get back from that show just in time for the Howard County show opening March 10.

Scotts Visit Here Briefly

Capt. and Mrs. Russell Scott will be here briefly Sunday afternoon en route back to his base at Holloman AFB, Alamogordo, N.M.

Capt. Scott is a graduate of the Air Force Aerospace Research Pilot School.

He and Mrs. Scott went to San Antonio for the christening of a son of Capt. and Mrs. David R. Scott. The Russell Scotts (no kin) are godparents of the child. The two captains were classmates in the Aerospace pilot school at Edwards AFB.

Capt. and Mrs. Russell Scott left their daughters, Renee and Sandy, here with the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Nalley, while they made the trip to San Antonio.

In his new assignment at the flight test center working in conjunction with the Air Force Missile Development Center, Capt. Scott is flying four types of planes, all in the century series. He is scheduled to report back to Randolph Field in San Antonio within another week, and then to Washington, D.C. He has no inkling as to the nature of the contact in Washington.

Chief Urges End To Street Litter

Chief of Police Jay Banks has issued an appeal to motorists to refrain from depositing trash on city streets.

The most frequent complaints are about bottles and cans, he said.

Throwing trash on city streets is prohibited by law, and a substantial fine is provided. Police have been making those caught throwing trash on streets go back and pick up the litter, but enforcement will be stiffened to include efforts at a fine, the chief added.

The only effective way, he added, is for residents to have enough civic pride to refrain from littering streets. He asked for their help to this end or in assisting in fixing responsibility for those who do litter.

Red Stocking Revue Draws High Praise

By BUCK SITTON
It was a real fun show!

This description of the Red Stocking Revue seems particularly apt as it suits the two-act musical comedy show presented Friday and Saturday nights at the city auditorium under the sponsorship of the Webb AFB Officers Wives Club.

The cast — composed of about 80 Webb AFB officers and their wives — enjoyed performing in the play, and members of the audience, some of whom participated, laughed and applauded throughout.

Winner of the Maharajah contest, run in conjunction with the Revue, was Elmo Phillips, ABC candidate, with 9,481 votes. He was crowned after competing with candidates from most of the city's service clubs. Voters were allowed to cast one ballot for each penny given for the welfare fund of the Webb AFB OWC.

Other candidates were Winston Winkle, Jaycees; Adrian Randle, Downtown Toastmasters; Charles Lusk, Optimists; Ewing Werlein, Kiwanis; David Yater, Evening Lions; Nelson Allen, Tumbleweed Toastmasters; Guy Trocano, Talent Toastmasters; and Clyde McMahon Jr., Downtown Lions.

That the performers were amateurs who sometimes read their song lines or danced out of step made no difference; it simply added to the hilarity of the performance for all miscuees were committed with refreshing candor.

One number which was well received was the duet rendition of popular favorites by Jim Marlin and Sylvia Shaw. Molly Malone's and Fifi LaTour's "sensuous" songs also received wide acclaim.

Adding to the humor of another number was the deadpan response by a member of the audience. He and other members of the audience had been lured to the stage to dance with a soloist, the hosts and the hostesses. The volunteers were good sports.

Both acts contained nine scenes each. The production got off to a good start and remained brisk throughout, providing a high level of entertainment. Lighting and stage techniques were competent, and the orchestration was skillful.

The production approached the professional and was well applauded by the audience. Both performances were near sell-outs.

The production was directed by Joe Landis, a former Broadway performer who now is connected with the Jerome H. Cargill Productions. A firm in 2-C. George Laubmeier supplied musical direction.

That's All! There Are No More!

Carl Reynolds (left), high school choir president, and member Jackie Loyd Ivey, look hungrily at the last four of 400 pies sold Saturday by the choir boosters. They were on sale at two Safeway stores, Piggly Wiggly, Furr's, and Hull & Phillips No. 1, at $1.25 each, to pay for the choir's trip to Los Angeles in April, and to purchase robes for two junior high choirs.

Adjustment Board Okays 2 Variances

The zoning board of adjustment Friday approved three variance requests and recommended the building inspector and director of public works be given authority to handle requests for variances involving service station island canopies.

Two of the requests were from Humble Company. The firm asked permission for a five-foot variance and a 2 1/2-foot variance for canopies at two service stations that are to be constructed. Respective locations will be FM 700 at Goliad and the northwest corner of IS 20 at US 87 north.

Coahomans Win Awards

COAHOMA — The Coahoma FFA finished fifth in the National and Southwestern Swine Association Duroc judging contest held at the Taylor County Fairgrounds in Abilene Saturday. The team was rewarded with a trophy.

Sponsor of the Coahoma team is Gerald Oakes, Vocational Agriculture teacher at Coahoma High School. Members are Tommy Menser, Vernon Long, Terry Denton and Troy Fraser.

Upwards to 70 teams from all over West Texas took part in the contest.

Sites for the stations were purchased from Ike Robb (FM 700 at Goliad) and Lamar Green (IS 20 at US 87 north). Robb and Green waived 10-day notification of the public hearing, and both men appeared at the meeting in favor of the requests.

The recommendation for authority to handle such requests came after John Buggess, city attorney, pointed out station canopies are becoming popular over the county.

The third request was made by Dr. H. M. Jarratt for permission to build an addition to his residence, 429 Edwards Blvd., within five feet of the side property line. This would require a variance of 2 1/2 feet to the sidewalk setback ordinance.

Dr. Jarratt spoke in his own behalf, and Aubrey Armistead and John Cherry, two neighbors, said they favored the request. A. R. Collins sent in a letter stating his opposition.

The action of the board on all requests and the recommendation was unanimous. Those present were: Board members, J. D. Elliott, chairman; Jerry Mancill, Carl Strom, Dick Collier, and Daryl Hoberz. Ernest Lillard, director of public works, and Tom Newton, building inspector, also attended.

Occasional light snow is also predicted for this afternoon and night. Temperatures are supposed to drop to 20 degrees, with high for Sunday and Monday around 45 degrees.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the River-Welch Funeral Home chapel, with the Rev. Byron Orand, pastor of College Baptist Church, officiating. The remains were sent by rail Saturday night to Buffalo, N.D. for burial.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Jean Ritchie, Buffalo, N.D.; a son, Alan G. Ritchie, Livingston, Calif.; four daughters, Mrs. Carlisle Webb, Odessa, Mrs. Elmer Turner, Odessa, Mrs. Margaret Goodwin, Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. Jean Adams, Crescent, Okla.; 13 grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Agnes Kenney, Uncasville, Conn.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the River-Welch Funeral Home chapel, with the Rev. Byron Orand, pastor of College Baptist Church, officiating. The remains were sent by rail Saturday night to Buffalo, N.D. for burial.

The alleged accidents occurred on Third Street at Goliad and Gregg. A witness apprehended the youth when he fled on foot from the scene of the second accident, according to police.

He was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation by Nalley-Pickle ambulance for treatment of a cut over one eye sustained in the second accident. The youth was released after treatment and taken to county jail.

Police investigated a total of 10 accidents Friday, most of which occurred between 7-9 a.m. before a bright sun melted snow on slippery streets.

Abilene Paper Announces Changes In Management

ABILENE — Changes in management positions at the Abilene Reporter-News were announced Saturday by Mrs. M. B. Hanks, president of the Reporter Publishing Co.

Howard McMahon, publisher since December, 1948, was made chairman of the board. He succeeds George S. Anderson, who died Feb. 16.

Andrew B. Shelton, executive vice president and business manager, becomes publisher.

D. F. McCarty, sales and promotion manager, was named business manager and advertising director.

The changes are effective immediately.

In announcing the changes, Mrs. Hanks said:

"The Reporter-News has been fortunate in its leadership the last 15 years. Mr. McMahon assumed the publisher's post at a crucial time after my husband's death in December, 1948. He filled this responsibility most ably. He has given sound, strong and progressive direction to the newspaper.

"These have been the years in which Abilene has made its greatest growth. They have also been years of fine progress for the Reporter-News.

"The immediate future holds new opportunities. The Reporter-News hopes to be able to contribute in the future as it has sought to do in the past, to Abilene's achieving new successes. We believe our new management team will provide the newspaper the high quality of leadership to the future which has been the tradition in the past."

McMahon came to the Reporter-News as national advertising manager in 1934 from the Dallas News. He became advertising manager in 1937, and assistant publisher in December, 1938. He continued in this post until becoming publisher.

McMahon's civic service was recognized in 1954 when he was honored as Abilene's outstanding citizen. He is a past president of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, and was instrumental in locating Dyess AFB here and in building Hubbard Creek Lake as a water supply for Abilene and other cities.

Shelton began his news career on the Reporter-News in 1935, went to the Valley Morning Star in Harlingen in 1937 and the Corpus Christi Caller-Times in 1940. He returned to the Reporter-News in 1941 and has been associated with it since, except for Army service in WWII. He has been executive vice president and business manager since 1948.

Shelton is also an executive with Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., which includes, besides the Reporter-News, the Big Spring Herald, the San Antonio Express-News, Corpus Christi Caller-Times, San Angelo Standard-Times, Marshall News Messenger, Paris News, Greenville Herald Banner, and Denton Herald.

McCarty was on the Reporter-News advertising staff from 1937-45. He was advertising manager for an Abilene department store the next 14 years and returned to the newspaper in 1959 as sales and promotion manager.

Youth Arrested On 13 Violations

Police arrested an 18-year-old youth about 6:15 p.m. Friday following two traffic accidents in which he allegedly was involved.

A charge of aggravated assault with a motor vehicle will be filed in County Court Monday against the youth, police said.

Officers said he also ran seven red lights, failed to control speed to avoid both accidents and fled from the scene of both mishaps. A total of 13 traffic citations were handed the youth.

The alleged accidents occurred on Third Street at Goliad and Gregg. A witness apprehended the youth when he fled on foot from the scene of the second accident, according to police.

He was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation by Nalley-Pickle ambulance for treatment of a cut over one eye sustained in the second accident. The youth was released after treatment and taken to county jail.

Police investigated a total of 10 accidents Friday, most of which occurred between 7-9 a.m. before a bright sun melted snow on slippery streets.

Late Look At The Weather

A report from the U.S. Weather Bureau Saturday showed snow over most of the North Central part of the nation and rain along part of the Southern Atlantic Coast extending across part of Florida to the Gulf Coast.

It was mild in the West, cold in the North Central part of the country and cold also in part of the Southeast. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP) or more faithfully to put something over than these ladies. When they get behind something, it's just going go.

Just as we were about to observe that San Angelo would just as soon leave Big Spring off the tailend of the sports schedule, a most unseemly thing happened. At mid-week Big Spring Steers upset the Bobcats in San Angelo, but then the San Angelo College Rams came here to meet the HCJC Hawks. They did everything right, and about the best we could do was take a lesson. Oh well, there's always the regional tournament.

The city commission race picked up two more candidates last week with filing of Joe Matthews and Boyce Hale. J. A. Magee withdrew. This still leaves eight candidates seeking three places, and there's still nearly a week's filing time left.

First Methodist Church will sponsor a kindergarten, it was announced after the church board ratified a recommendation from its education committee. At the start, only five-year-olds will be accommodated. This makes the sixth church group here to enter the school or pre-school field.

Col. Gus Taute and family came back "home" Monday. The community lost no time putting him to work. Among other things, he participated in the Air Force Association squadron organization, and other affairs. Monday the Wing commander will be speaker at the presentation of a T-33 to the city (at HCJC).

It was a busy week for the Big Spring State Hospital staff. The psychiatric nursing institute drew upwards of 125, considerably more than had been anticipated. Then the employees award dinner Friday evening also produced an exceptional turnout. It all reflects a good spirit out that way.

The YMCA membership enrollment is gradually moving nearer its total goal. As a matter of fact, the sustaining division has gone substantially over its target. While still short, the participating division is climbing up. Together they are within about a thousand dollars of the objective.

For those who inquire, Sammy Mellinger, injured Jan. 5 in a car mishap that shattered his hip and broke an arm and leg, continues to improve. Last week he had some additional work done on an arm, but he continues in good spirits (at Malone & Hogan) although he has several weeks of convalescence ahead.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District may be on the verge of additional water-flood project. This one would merely extend one contract already in force and would call for a short stretch of pipeline.

Nationally, the Knights of Pythias celebrated their 100th anniversary last Wednesday. For the Big Spring lodge, it was almost its 82nd birthday, and that's a mighty long time at that. Few institutions here can ante-date that.

DR. GEORGE W. DAWSON, JR., age 64. Passed away Tuesday of Chicago, Illinois. Service Wednesday at 10 a.m. in St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Interment at Dalhart, Texas.

Chapman Attends Insecticide Meet

Carlton Chapman, Big Spring, Commerce and the Industrial Foundation. He is now a chamber director and board coordinator for the agriculture committee.

for a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and Dr. B. T. Shaw, Dr. Sloan Jones, Dr. E. F. Knipping with the agricultural research division of the department of agriculture.

The meeting will be for planning, with representatives of the Food and Drug Administration, an effort to have the West Texas cotton belt area designated for a pilot program in which new insecticides will be available for cotton producers.

The planning meeting has grown out of a movement started in Big Spring in 1963 when Chapman was chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee, which resulted in petitions bearing more than 200,000 signatures being sent to Washington requesting release of insecticides to control the ravages of the beet army worm and tobacco bud worm.

The petitions were later circulated in all cotton producing areas of the United States, where insects have become an economical problem, and have drawn almost unanimous support.
Gov. John Connally, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Sen. John Tower, Congressmen George Mahon, Graham Purcell, W. R. Poage, Joe Kilgore, Ed Foreman, and others interested in cotton insect control, have backed the effort and most of them will be present at the meeting set up by Congressman Mahon.

"Incidentally," Chapman said, "Gov. Connally signed the endorsement the day he was shot, Nov. 22. But he has kept up with the move and is behind our efforts."
Chapman met with a group in Kansas City recently, in which producers not peculiar to the Plains area were present, and who reported difficulties in getting effective insecticides. It is a problem all over the nation, he said.

Major chemical company representatives attended a meeting in Lubbock last Thursday and Friday, Chapman, who attended, said they assured him that effective chemicals, already tested and proven, would be released to cotton producers if approved by the department of agriculture and a special dispensation obtained for their use.

"The insecticides used for control in all crops," Chapman said, "affect only five per cent of the total land area of the United States." Only one in 25 persons owning land is a bonafide farmer or ranchman. Yet this small area and the few people affected may suffer terrific economic losses if insects cannot be controlled.
The tobacco bud worm and beet army worm have migrated to all cotton areas of the nation, and insecticides formerly used are no longer effective. The insects have developed an immunity to them, Chapman continued.

"The meeting next week is the climax to a year's work," he said. "We feel that the economy of the cotton producing area of the Plains, as well as other areas, will depend upon the outcome of the meeting. The establishment, somewhere in the Panhandle, of a research center for testing the effectiveness of new insecticides will be determined by the action of the FDA in allowing the release of the chemicals."
Chapman is being sent to Washington by the Chamber of

Ghana Is Now One Party State

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—Ghana officially became a one-party state today in President Kwame Nkrumah's campaign to cleanse national institutions of "anti-Socialist elements."
A bill making Nkrumah's Convention People's party the only legal political group in the West African nation was approved by Parliament Friday and went into effect at midnight.
Endorsed overwhelmingly at a national referendum last month, the legislation enables Nkrumah to fire Supreme Court judges for any "sufficient" reason. It also makes the flag of the ruling party the nation's official banner.

FROSTY FINDS OUT

Happiness Is A Broken Leg

By SAM BLACKBURN
Happiness is a broken leg, insofar as Frosty the cat is concerned.

Frosty owns the Cliff Balzer family who live in Sand Springs. Probably, Frosty is more properly the owner of Chipper, the Balzer's 2 1/2-year-old son. Mrs. Balzer recalls that Frosty was born in the Balzer living room about nine months ago. As soon as Frosty had become a sizeable kitten, he wanted outside and from then on—until two weeks ago—he was a strictly an out-of-doors cat. He came in the house reluctantly and preferred to spend his time with Tess, the Balzer's Welch terrier, in the back yard rather than be indoors.

LEG USELESS
On Feb. 9, Frosty showed up in a bad way. Apparently he had been struck by a car. His right front leg was useless and the Balzers quickly found it was broken in the shoulder.

"We've had bad luck with several of our pets," said Mrs. Balzer, "and we determined we wouldn't give up Frosty if there was a way to prevent it."
Dr. Akin Simpson, veterinarian, thought there was. He set the broken leg and put the limb in a cast. After a few days in the hospital, Frosty was brought home. For a day or two, Mrs. Balzer said, the cast puzzled Frosty to the extent that he walked backwards instead of

COMFORTABLE CAT IN A CAST

Chipper Balzer and his feline friend Frosty forward. Then he solved the problem and in no time at all was about the house on his injured leg as good as ever.

WONDERFUL LIVING
His period as an invalid has revealed to Frosty how wonderful living in a nice warm house can be, and how much better it is than being out in the yard. He has become 100 per cent housecat.

He lolls in luxury on the divan or on the floor in front of the fireplace. He laps milk boredly in the kitchen. He rolls happily on the carpet and plays with Chipper—waving his tape-wrapped cast gaily in the air. He recklessly jumps from chairs and divans to the floor with utter disregard for his broken leg.

The cast will remain in place for two weeks, according to Mrs. Balzer and then Dr. Simpson will remove it.

Stonewall Plans For First Hotel

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP)—Stonewall (pop. 150) is building its first motel.
Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Habne said they have planned for a long time to build a motel, but increased tourist traffic by President Johnson's nearby ranch caused them to decide "now is the time to start."
The Stonewall Motel is two miles from the President's ranch.

Rattlesnake Hunt Set March 20-22

Dates for the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual rattlesnake hunt have been set for March 20-22 this year.

Gathering point for the hunters, their wiggly and dangerous captives and any interested onlookers will be the Howard County fair grounds.
Along with the gathering of the snakes, a rattlesnake barbecue will be held, plus the "milking" of the valuable venom by experts for scientific and medical use.

Any rancher in the Big Spring vicinity who is interested in having snake hunters comb his property for the reptiles is asked to contact a Jaycee as soon as possible.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Jerry Dunlap, a standout fullback on the local high school football team a few years ago, performed with distinction as a 190-pound linebacker for the 24th Infantry Lions playing out of Augsburg, Germany, the past season and will extend his stay in Europe through next fall in order to get in another season with the club . . . Dan Tassotti coached the 24th Infantry . . . He formerly played for the University of Miami under Andy Gustafson and the Lions used as a basic offense the drive series originated by Gustafson in the '50's . . . The Lions lost their opening game to the Support Command Commanders and then reeled off seven straight wins, including a 42-7 victory over the V Corps Guardians . . . Dunlap intercepted two passes against the Guardians and returned one 66 yards for his club's final touchdown . . . Jerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foy Dunlap of Big Spring, hopes to perform well enough to earn an athletic scholarship in a U.S. school and start play in 1965 . . . Texas Western is already interested in the young man . . . One West Texas basketball team was shaken not long ago by the report that one of its better players had gone off to get married, but the report was erroneous and he returned to duty . . . Kansas State offered San Angelo's Marshall White a football scholarship in hopes that A. Z. Drones would also enroll there . . . The All-District 2-AAAA basketball team would probably be released to area newspapers for publication next Sunday . . . Some of the area gazettes asked that the news be delayed because they wanted to get their all-city teams out of the way . . . Coffeyville, Kan., Junior College has expressed interest in Thurman (Big Daddy) Randle, the huge Big Spring tackle who did such a fine job of containing Drones in the Steers' game against the San Angelo Bobcats.

Jayhawks Expert At Clogging Middle

In addition to drawing a record of 11,382,227 paying customers to their games last year, National (baseball) league teams played to an additional 1,700,000 who were in the stands either gratis or on a reduced-admission ticket . . . Baseball, unlike other sporting events, announced only paid admissions . . . Inclusive, the Texas Derby winner at Sunland Park this season, recently won the $50,000 San Luis Rey Handicap at Santa Anita and is being pointed for the March 7 San Juan Capistrano Handicap at the same track . . . Kenny Crane, the Big Spring athlete who recently signed a scholarship agreement with Kansas State, played guard and tackle for the Steers last fall, although he was originally groomed for the center spot . . . George Steakley, the former Big Spring bowling impresario, is now a Dallas resident . . . He moved from here to Galveston but a coast hurricane blew away his business . . . His wife is operating a beauty shop in Big D . . . The HCJC Jayhawks grabbed off a record 81 rebounds in their game with Frank Phillips in Berger the other night . . . Their game average up to that time was 46 . . . The Hawks were especially effective at clogging the middle in that game and making the Plainsmen shoot from outside . . . The Plainsmen got only nine shots from down under the basket all night and hit seven of those . . . Terry Williams, the HCJC sophomore from Hobbs, N. M., is probably the quickest man the Hawks have ever had . . . The question of which college conference plays the best football will never be resolved but in the New York-Chicago NFL championship game the past season there were 14 players from the Southeastern Conference on the field—three more than the Big Ten . . . Incidentally, the SEC is headed for big trouble, now that Georgia Tech has withdrawn and the University of Kentucky is integrating its athletic teams.

Star Of Dillard Stable Running Today

John Ray Dillard, who maintains one of the most successful racing stables in West Texas, has shipped his Penny For Luck to Turf Paradise, Phoenix, Ariz., for a stakes event going there today . . . Penny For Luck is a two-year-old who has shown a liking for distance on tracks in Chicago, Denver and Sunland Park . . . Her favorite race appears to be 1 1/4 mile, which she will be traveling today . . . It's strictly a class event, with several entries having been imported from Santa Anita, Calif., for the race . . . The winner of next weekend's Class B Regional Basketball tournament here will have to play its consolation round games in the Austin High School fieldhouse rather than in Gregory Gym, should it get eliminated from title contention in the first round . . . Class B first round games at Austin will be unreeled at 8:45 a.m. and 10:10 a.m. Thursday, March 5, while the finals in that division are on tap for 9 a.m. Saturday, March 7 . . . On that closed circuit television show in Odessa of next Tuesday night's heavyweight fight between Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay, the boxers' image will be 10 feet tall . . . If you get a general admission seat far to one side of the Odessa Coliseum, however, you may wish you had stayed home and listened to it on radio . . . Big Spring's Albert Fierro is one of Region IV's nominees to play in the annual North-South football game, highlight of the Texas High School Coaches Association clinic . . . (The other two District 2-AAAA players projected were Bruce Garrett, Midland guard; and Jay Collins, Odessa Permian end) . . . If Fierro doesn't get the nod, he could appear in a summer game at Hershey, Pa., pitting 33 top players of Texas against the best high school boys in the Quaker State . . . That game still has to be sanctioned by the NCAA, however . . . Fierro may fly to Nebraska shortly for a look around the university campus . . . TCU and Baylor, in addition to the Cornhuskers, are still dangling scholarship offers before Albert's eyes.

Rams Batter HC, 92-62

San Angelo College, operating against Clarendon. The Hawks at peak efficiency, clobbered meet the same club in their final Howard County Junior College Jayhawks, 92-62, with an awesome show of power before a packed auditorium here Friday night.

The Rams were slightly favored to receipt for a victory but few expected the pronounced difference in the final score. The Jayhawks, who had lost tilt going into the game, could do nothing about slowing SAC's terrific outside men—Charley Speiker, Alex DeCuir and Gary Jellison—who functioned with the deadliness and speed of scorptions. Together, the three banged in 49 points and junked the HCJC attack with as tremendous a defensive alignment as has been seen in the local fieldhouse in many a year.

Terry Williams put on a sensational show for the local fans. He led the Hawks in scoring with 19 points and amazed the onlookers with his ball handling. Despite all he could do, the gap kept widening. Jim Oldham was tough on the boards for HCJC, especially in the early stages of the game, and settled for 14 points.

The win clinched a title tie for the Rams, who have lost but three times all season and never to a Texas-based junior college team.

San Angelo hit 55 per cent of its shots from the field, while the Hawks managed only 21 of 74 for 28 per cent.

The two teams fought on even terms for the first ten minutes of the opening period and the score was tied at that stage, 17-17.

In the second ten minutes of play, however, the locals were outgunned, 24-8.

DeCuir paced the visitors with 18 points while Jellison had 17 and Charley Morton 16.

San Angelo can clinch first place in the conference in a game at home Tuesday night.

Stanton Buffaloes Look To Bi-District Battle

MIDLAND—The Stanton Buffaloes cracked the whip for 23 points in each of the first three quarters Friday night and then settled back for a 21 point effort in the final eight minutes as they roared past a tough Crane crew, 90-84.

The win gave the Bisons the District 7-AA title in the playoff contest and sent Stanton into the state playoffs. The Buffs will meet Comanche in bi-district action.

For Stanton, it was a superb effort. With only six men on the A-string, head coach Doyle Edminster is forced to suit up several B-team lads in each contest to assure a safety margin

Former Resident Coach Of Year

Gordon (Moe) Madison, who grew up in Big Spring, has been named basketball coach-of-the-year in District 2-AAA.

The poll was conducted among the league's mentors at the same time the all-district team was selected.

Steer Baseballers Open Play Mar. 3

Thirty-seven players, including seven letter winners and nine seniors, are undergoing baseball conditioning drills at Big Spring High School, whenever the weather permits.

The Longhorns were deprived of two days of toil the past weekend because of the snow. They could ill afford to rest, in view of the fact that they launch 1964 play as early as a week from Tuesday, at which time they visit Andrews for a 4 p.m. game.

The Longhorns play their first home contest March 7, at which time they clash with Andrews in a double header. The first of two seven inning starts gets underway at 1 p.m.

Much depends upon Freddy Mears, a hard-throwing pitcher who has been favoring an injury. If he comes around, the Steers could be salty.

The Longhorns open District 2-AAAA play April 7, at which time they tangle with Midland Lee here. The locals will play a double round robin against seven conference foes. They wind up regular season play May 23.

Finley, Moguls Don Cloak Of Silence

BOSTON (AP) — This promise to be a peaceful weekend in the noisome war between Charles O. Finley and the American League. The obstinate owner of the Kansas City Athletics and his regiment of adversaries have issued either "No comment" or innocuous communiques from the battlefronts since the nine-gun salvo fired at Finley on Friday. At a meeting here of league brass and squads of lawyers, the nine other team owners quickly and firmly took another step toward booting Finley out of their club. In effect, the 9-1 vote provided for the AL's Board of Directors to set up a league meeting which would consider and act upon the matter of lifting Finley's franchise. The unprecedented likely will be held within 10 days, with Miami the most probable location for the key league meeting.

There is a chance, however, that there will be no further league action—if Finley comes to terms with Kansas City over a lease for Municipal Stadium, the playing field for the A's. But nobody will verify that possibility.

Joe Cronin, president of the AL, indicated as much Saturday when he said the league considered negotiations between Finley and Kansas City "still open."

In Kansas City, Mayor Ius Davis echoed Cronin. "Our offers to Finley still are open," Davis said, "and we've advised the league that we would keep them advised to what offers from Finley are coming in."

Meanwhile, the usually explosive Finley, silent since the ruling Friday, was unavailable. And his normally eloquent attorney, Louis Nizer, was doing his no commenting through a secretary.

If the AL disenfranchises Finley, here is what will follow according to league rules: 1. The AL will take over the A's, appointing a temporary club boss.

2. The league would negotiate a lease for Municipal Stadium. 3. The league would then undertake to sell the club, with the proceeds—minus expenses for interim operation—going to Finley.

There has never been a franchise taken away in the American League, although the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's first commissioner, took similar action twice in the National League.

The hard-fisted old judge, an implacable foe of any connection between baseball and gambling, ruled C. F. Adams out as part owner of the Boston Braves in the 1930s because Adams was associated with Suffolk Downs race track. And in 1943, Landis ended William D. Cox's connection of the Philadelphia Phillies because the young owner admittedly bet on the team.

Royal Greet New Lineup

AUSTIN (AP)—Coach Darrell Royal, with the title of professor and a $4,000 salary raise, begins the tough job Tuesday of teaching a new football squad how to act like national champions.

When the Longhorns assemble on the practice field to open spring football training, the bulk of Texas' 1963 national college football champions will be missing.

Royal, college football's Coach of the Year, will try to replace 17 seniors with lettermen, squadmen and freshmen.

Royal's problems are enormous. Missing from the undefeated team will be such standouts as All-America tackle Scott Appleton; Tommy Ford, an All-Southwest Conference halfback for two years; and quarterback Duke Carlisle.

The Longhorns lost four other tackles including Starter Staley Faulkner; first-team guard George Brucks; the two ends, Ben House and Charles Talbert, and the No. 1 and 2 centers, David McWilliams and Clarence Bray.

Royal has 26 returning lettermen. Spring training likely will be a time for shuffling personnel.

Royal will try two halfbacks, Joe Dixon and Phil Harris, at quarterback along with Marvin Kristynik and sophomores Deacon Lewis, Grady Herold and Ragan Gennusa.

Olen Underwood, a linebacking guard, will shift to center.

Snead Fires Shaky 73 But Keeps Lead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—On a rainy, windy day, with a putter still misbehaving, Sam Snead shot a disappointing one-over-par 73 Saturday but still led by two strokes in the PGA Seniors Golf Tournament.

Slammin' Sam finished the third round with a 208 total, eight under par for the 54 holes, and lost one stroke of his margin as Leland (Duke) Gibson came up with a 72 for 210.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison moved into closer contention with a 69 that left him three strokes off the pace with a 211. "In three rounds, I have not sunk a putt eight feet long,"

Snead said as he left the 18th green on which he had just dropped a three-footer for a birdie 3. This was the only cheerful thing that happened to Sam all day.

Saturday's play was delayed for an hour by a downpour. The first four rounds finally showed off in the rain and it continued to come down for two hours.

The rain had stopped when Snead and other leaders started but soggy fairways and greens made the going difficult. In late afternoon, a rising wind became a further handicap.

Once again, the Widener colors were missing from the winner's circle as George D. Widener, nephew of the man who built Hialeah into one of the world's great race courses, sent out an entry of Top Gallant and Endymion.

Garwol finished fifth, followed by Tamao, Endymion, Lanvin, Top Gallant and Will I Rule in that order.

Mongo, owned by Mrs. Marion Scott, earned $85,020 for little more than two minutes' work. Mongo had finished fifth to Admiral Vic and Top Gallant who deadheaded in the Seminole Handicap two weeks ago and this was his first victory since winning the Washington, D.C., International at Laurel last November.

Mongo Widener Winner With Fine Stretch Run

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Wayne Chambers gave Mongo a brilliant ride Saturday and the chestnut horse captured the $130,800 Widener Handicap by head over stretch-running Sunrise Flight.

Admiral Vic finished third and Hot Dust was fourth at the end of the 1 1/4 mile feature, run on a sloppy track in the good time of 2 minutes, 1 1/5 seconds.

Mongo, a slight favorite over Admiral Vic with the crowd of 27,008, carried the same weight as Admiral Vic—125 pounds—and paid $7.00, $4.80 and $3.40.

Sunrise Flight, packing 119 pounds with Larry Adams in the saddle, paid $4.60 and $3.20 while Admiral Vic, with Mickey Solomon on, returned $3.20 for the show.

Wranglers Romp Past Plainsmen

ODESSA — The Odessa College Wranglers pulled away from a 26-24 lead Friday night in a game with the Frank Phillips Plainsmen and roared on to take a 56-45 Western Junior College Conference contest.

Buddy Othick and Keith Kuhn paced the win with 13 and 14 points respectively, while Roland Franklin dropped in 17 for the Plainsmen.

ODESSA (AP)—Othick 13-15; Buchanan 2-1-1; Kuhn 1-2-1; Kuhn 2-4-1; Martin 2-0-1; Motter 1-3-1; Self 1-1-1; Totals 22-12-6.

FRANK PHILLIPS (AP)—Kuhn 9-5-1; Franklin 2-7-1; Buchanan 1-2-1; Moore 1-1-1; Brown 2-0-1; McGough 3-1-1; Campbell 2-1-1; Totals 18-14-4. Score of halftime: Odessa 26, Frank Phillips 24.

A Proud Moment

Lettermen's jackets and blankets were given out to the 1963 Big Spring football team last week in a pep rally in the gym. And for the recipients of the awards, it was one of their finest moments. Some of the Steer stalwarts, all of whom are seniors, were: from left to right, Thurman Hamble, Baxter Moore, Dick Irons (receiving the blanket from head coach Don Robbins), Coye Casner, and Junior Holland.

HC Gym Scene This Week Of Tourney

The stage is set at Howard County Junior College for the Feb. 28-29 Region IV-B Boys' Basketball tournament, which will pit bi-district survivors of an area embracing District 81-90, inclusive, against each other.

The champion here goes to Austin for the State tournament the following weekend.

First game of the tournament is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday. There'll also be contests at 9:45 a.m., 11:15 a.m.; 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Dr. Melvin Crawford of HCJC will serve as director of the meet. A Regional IV-B Girls' tournament will follow the boys' meet by a week and will also be supervised by Dr. Crawford.

A game for third place will precede the Saturday night championship contest. The tournament has previously been held at Odessa.

Other Class B Regional tournaments will be unreeled in Canyon, Stephenville, Sherman, Kilgore and San Marcos on the same weekends.

Admission prices for the tournament have been pegged at $1 for adults and 50 cents per student for each session.

Bi-district games in most areas will probably be played Tuesday night. The pairings here will probably be released by Dr. Crawford Wednesday.

HCJC will also be the host for the Regional B athletic and literary meets in April.

Among the boys' basketball teams which could conceivably play here is Robert Lee, Friday night conqueror of Forsan in a playoff to determine the 83-B champion.

Ex-Big Spring Coach Is Cited For Long Service

John W. (Bill) Stevens, one-time Big Spring High School basketball coach, has spent 13 years as a physical education instructor at Sheppard AFB in Wichita Falls without taking an hour off because of illness.

Stevens taught and coached for 21 years in high schools at Lamesa, Friona, Levelland, and Brady, Lufkin and Nacogdoches, as well as Big Spring.

He developed a district titlist while coaching at Big Spring in 1931 and took his quintet to the state meet.

After leaving the high school ranks, Stevens coached two years at Daniel Baker College in Brownwood before taking the position at Sheppard.

Stevens credited his perfect record as a Sheppard employe to a personal physical fitness program.

"I would have taken sick leave if I had needed it," said Stevens in a recent interview, "but I just haven't needed it, and I don't want to abuse it."

The veteran Stevens, who played both football and basketball at Austin College and ACC after graduating from Corsicana High School, said he maintains a proper diet and even wears the proper clothing. This is important, he pointed out, because he conducts classes outside in all types of weather.

Stevens was the honor guest at a banquet in Big Spring in

BILL STEVENS

1961, the 30th anniversary of his flag-winning team there. Many of the players who performed under him at that time attended the party—among them Ted Phillips, Dave Hopper, Jake Morgan, Tommy Hutto, Lloyd Forrester, Livian Harris, Doyle Vaughn, Cecil Neel, W. L. Thompson and Fred Martin.

Aggie Football Team In Drills

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Thirteen senior lettermen will report Tuesday as the Texas Aggies open spring football training.

Coach Hank Foldberg has scheduled spring drills to run Tuesday through Saturdays until March 21.

The Aggies lost 11 lettermen. Senior lettermen who'll answer roll call include ends John Brotherton and James Drennan, tackles Ray Hinz and Melvin Simmons, guards Yanch Bounds and Ronney Moore, center Andy Overton, quarterbacks Dan McIlhany and Jim Willenborg, halfbacks Budgie Ford, Mike Pitman and Tommy Meeks and fullback Ken McLean.

Three players have been excused from spring drills because of operations. They are senior tackle Waylon Ward and junior end Tuffy Fletcher, lettermen who had knee operations, and junior fullback Larry Bates, a squadman who had a shoulder operation.

BUFFS PLAY IN ABILENE

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes, winners of District 7-AA, will play Comanche, champs of 8-AA, in a bi-district state playoff game Monday at 8 p.m. in the Abilene High School gym.

The Buffaloes earned the right to meet the Comanche Indians by beating the Crane Golden Cranes in a special playoff contest Friday night, 96-84. Both quintets had tied for the district championship with identical 7-1 records.

The Bison will carry a 23-5 season mark into the contest and will be favored to come out on top. The victor will advance into regional action.

Shockers Shade Bills, 86-71

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Four Wichita players scored heavily as the second-place Shockers defeated third-place St. Louis 86-71 in a Missouri Valley Conference basketball game Saturday afternoon.

Dave Stallworth of Wichita hit 30 points to boost his 26-point average while teammates Nate Bowman scored 16, Ernie Moore 13 and Dave Leach 10.

Gil Beckemeier led the Billings with 15 points, 12 of them in the first half. Rick Rineberg contributed 13.

Snow Machine Is Hard At Work

WASECA, Minn. (AP)—Waseca's 13th annual sleigh and cutter festival went on as scheduled Saturday — thanks to a snow-making machine.

There wasn't enough snow in town until the machine was obtained from the Buck Hills ski area near Savage, Minn.

The compressed air-and-water rig laid a snow base five-to-six-inches deep along a half-mile parade route.

Cage Monograms Are Handed Out

WESTBROOK—Fourteen high school basketball boys who received jackets included four seniors—Tommy Bryant, Leslie Watson, Don Bird, and Larry Ferguson; two juniors—Larry Bell and Jug Rees; three sophomores—Elmer McMahan, Mike Oglesby, Darrell Forbes, and five freshmen—Johnny Hines, Harrell Joe Geron, Juan Castoreno, Raymond Rich, and Richard Bloom.

Nineteen high school basketball girls received jackets including 2 seniors—Donna Henderson and Janie Putman; eight juniors—Sue Hamrick, Rita Sue Henderson, Claudine Read, Patsy Rees, Faye Ritchey, Judy Hart, managers Vickie Jarratt and Lynda Sullivan; five sophomores—Darlene Lankford, Carole Ann Bell, Margie Lewis, Maritha Oden, Sandra Bryant; four freshmen—Carolyn Bryant, Vickie Chambers, Valeria Iglehart and Janette Rich.

College Quints Play It Cozy

SHERMAN (AP)—Two weeks ago Midwestern beat Austin College 92-52 in basketball. Friday night Austin College decided to at least hold the score down, so it froze the ball for 30 minutes. The result was a 14-11 game with Midwestern again the winner.

Garden City Wins Over Mustangs

GARDEN CITY—Garden City turned back Sands, 50-38, in a girls' practice game here Friday night.

Garden City, which now has a 23-3 won-lost record, is marking time for its Thursday night District 83-B playoff game with Forsan, which takes place in the Big Spring High School gymnasium. Sands has already won the championship in 77-B and will meet the 97-B champion.

The touring Harlem Stars defeated a combined Garden City-Sterling City men's team in the other part of the doubleheader but no one was sure what the final score was.

The Harlem team, masterminded by Boyd Buie, put on quite a show for the estimated 300 spectators who crowded into the Garden City gym. Garden City's end of the game amounted to about $130.

In the girls' game, Garden City's guards — Tavia Daniel, Sharon Jacob and Sharon Cybert—did a fine job on Sands' offensive threats. They limited the Mustangs to four field goals the first half and Garden City led at that stage, 21-11.

Judy Hirt, a 5-5 sophomore, led the Bearkittens in scoring with 22 points while Brenda Jacob followed with 17.

Zelda Bodine again paced the Sands club with a 25-point effort.

GIRLS' game: GARDEN CITY (69)—Judy Hirt 5-12; Brenda Jacob 2-17; Frances Cybert 4-19; Ann Carter 1-6; Totals 18-14-2. SANDS (38)—Zelda Bodine 6-13-25; Robin Brown 3-15; Ruth Lemon 4-8; Totals 12-14-3. Score by quarters: Garden City 10-11-11-10; Sands 11-11-11-5.

INSIDE TRAVELING TRUCK
Truck logs approximately 16,000 miles a year.

Shaffer Oversees Big Sample Case

Herb Shaffer is a salesman with one of the world's largest traveling "sample cases."

Originally a farmer, Shaffer now tours the country with Crane Engineering Co.'s special 50-foot mobile display trailer. He's had the job for the past seven months and already his travels from coast-to-coast have taken him to 13 states and the District of Columbia as he's logged approximately 9,000 miles.

Shaffer and his special show-case paid a three-hour visit to Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. Friday, and 18 employees from the engineering and technical departments plus a few maintenance personnel went through the trailer inspecting Crane's sample products.

and the cross sections of valves and other flow control products. Frosty Robison, in the personnel management division of Cosden, went through the exhibit and said:

"It's good for us to be able to go through this sample case because we can ask questions and find out about new products on the market. Most of the companies come around with sample cases."

Three hours after Shaffer arrived, he wheeled his truck on the road, and headed for Phoenix, Ariz. and another demonstration.

Shaffer's stops, which average 3½ days each, usually come at locations where Crane engineers and sales executives are at hand. They then present the company's line of products to visitors. With 80 to 100 visitors touring the truck on an average day, Shaffer has become somewhat of an expert himself on valves and other flow control devices.

Shaffer, a native of Johnstown, Pa., has departed from the normal home routine. His five children, who range in age from six to 19, have one regular question: "Where are you flying tonight?" When traveling at great distances from home, Shaffer commutes by air to join his family.

In his travels, only twice has he had truck trouble—and both times from highway construction. In New Jersey, a rerouting became necessary when he couldn't make it under a low overpass. In Ohio, a high-peaked railroad bridge stranded him momentarily when the generator box (suspended from the trailer) snagged at the peak between the trailer's 40-foot wheel span.

Rig Increase Shows Eight More Drillers

The weekly Friday survey by Reed Roller Bit Company of rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin Empire showed a total of 212 units in operation, the same number as one year ago on the comparable week.

Abilene Man Is President

DENVER (AP) — The National Association of Oil Well Servicing Contractors elected D. L. McDonald of Abilene, Tex., president Saturday.

Mrs. Thyra Thomson, Wyoming secretary of state, told the closing convention session that industry is fighting against "subsidization by government."

Big government creates its own bottleneck to initiative and enterprise," she said. "A federal hand-out for every local scratch produces waste that would make the angels weep."

In fighting big government, Mrs. Thomson said, "don't impugn the motives of your opposition."

Commenting on attempts in some quarters to pin "soft on communism" labels on various presidents, she said, "The American public doesn't believe it and won't buy it."

The association adopted a resolution opposing any federal legislation calling for payment of up to double time after a 35-hour work week.

Gulf Distributing Employ Savings

Gulf Oil Corporation has distributed $11,353,088 to 15,669 employees who are members of its employee savings plan.

Of this total, $4,858,737 was a bonus consisting of Gulf capital stock and cash, while the remaining $6,494,351 represented employee savings voluntarily withheld through payroll deduction. Employee savings were returned in the form of U.S. savings bonds and cash.

Culbertson County Wildcat Records Large Gas Flow

Texaco Inc. No. 1-EV State of Texas, wildcat in Culbertson County, 55 miles northeast of Van Horn, plugged back to 8,300 feet, perforated and was flowing gas from an unidentified horizon.

A six-hour gauge recorded a gas flow of 1,133,000 cubic feet per day through a 12-64-inch choke. The section has been acidized with 710 gallons and perforated at 7,895-906 feet. Flowing tubing pressure was 1,850 pounds and no reports have been issued on amounts of acid residue or load fluid to be recovered.

The prospector was continuing tests of that section. A drillstem test at 7,890-8,035 feet flowed gas at the initial rate of 10,338,000 cubic feet per day which decreased to 5,088,000 cubic feet per day by the end of the one-hour test.

The project drilled to a total depth of 12,350 feet and plugged back to the upper zone for tests.

It is 13½ miles southeast of the nearest production which is in the one-well Signal Peak (Strawn gas) region, now shut-in.

James K. Anderson of Midland and others will re-enter No. 1 Seay, a former 5,121-foot dry hole in Runtels County, and clean out for tests of the Jennings sand.

That section was topped at 4,987 feet during drilling the project, which is 16 miles west of Winters and 1,200 feet south of a depleted upper Gardner discovery in the Pearl Valley multipay field.

Originally drilled by Burt Drilling Company of Wichita Falls as No. 2 Sam Seay, it was plugged in 1959. Location is 1,787 feet from north and 2,050 feet from east lines of H. A. Thompson survey No. 1, abstract 731.

AUSTIN (AP) — Oil and gas well completion totals in Texas are ahead of last year, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The commission said 115 oil wells were completed during the week, bringing the year total to 1,394, compared to 1,343.

West Texas Shows Gain

West Texas has gained four rotary rigs over last week's 89 and its 93 ranks third in the state, according to the weekly report of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors.

Only the 110 rigs located on the land in South Texas and the Gulf Coast and the 117 rigs in West Central Texas exceed West Texas' count.

Last year's figures at this date totaled 109 rigs, 16 more than at this date.

Texas-421 tops the nation with 1,370 rotary rigs located in the country. This is 28 below last year's 1,398 total.

Garza Completion Pumps 68 Barrels

A completion has been filed in Garza County in the Dorward (San Andres) field.

An old well plugged back, MacDonald Oil Corp. No. 6 Dorward-Sun pumped 68 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil per day with 12 per cent water. Gas-oil ratio was 265-1. Operator acidized with 1,000 gallons. Seven-inch casing was set at 2,407 feet, with perforations between 1,926-2,275 feet in 10 places. Elevation from the ground is 2,309 feet and the total depth is 2,560 feet. Operator plugged back to 2,320 feet.

Location is 1,324 feet from north and 338 feet from the west lines of section 138-5, H&GN survey.

Wildcat Strikes Oil In Devonian Section

British-American Oil Producing Company of Midland No. 1 North Wilson Deep Unit, 14,000-foot Devonian wildcat in Lea County, N.M., has indicated discovery production from a lower section of the Bone Spring.

A drillstem test, open two and ½ hours at 10,010-52 feet, recovered 2,030 feet of 33-gravity free oil and 3,920 feet of salt water. Recovery from below the circulating sub was 120 feet of water.

Forty-five minute initial shut-in bottomhole pressure was 4,178 pounds, flowing pressure was from 838 to 2,481 pounds and 45-minute final shut-in pressure was 4,163 pounds. Operator was drilling below 10,080 feet.

An earlier test in the upper Bone Spring at 7,886-912 feet, flowed gas at the surface in eight minutes at a rate too small to measure. While the drillpipe was being pulled, 3,870 feet of oil unloaded. Recovery from below the circulating sub was 120 feet of 26-gravity free oil.

The prospector is 12 miles southwest of Monument, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 31-10s-36e. It is seven miles southeast of the Lea (Bone Spring and Devonian) field and adjacent to shallow producers in the Wilson area.

Oil Operators Set New U.S. Policy

HOUSTON (AP)—Independent oil operators have overhauled a policy statement adopted 17 years ago.

The new document outlines a national oil and gas policy as endorsed by the 7,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America.

The independents have outlined what they consider the basic objectives, considerations, elements and principles of a national oil and gas policy designed to permit the United States to maintain its position of energy supremacy.

Incorporated in the document are recent policy decisions made by the association on such matters as natural gas regulation, taxation, oil imports, public lands use, conservation, and end use controls.

The independents call for government and industry cooperation in investigating the availability of alternative domestic sources of fuels, such as oil shales, but emphasizes that the nation's energy requirements for the foreseeable future will be supplied primarily by petroleum fuels.

"Government policies as to petroleum are, in effect, the controlling determinant of oil and gas supply," says a preface to the booklet.

"Adequate supplies can be made available from domestic resources, present and potential, as long as national policy so wills."

The independents say national petroleum policies must have three basic goals—assurance to consumers of the adequacy of oil and gas supplies at reasonable prices, assurance to consumers of the accessibility of oil and gas supplies, and assurance to the nation of capabilities and capacities, over and above peacetime requirements, for security and defense needs in times of emergency.

"THINK PINK" was expressed by Mrs. Mike Moore in the palest of pink dress of arnel rosewood fabric. The design features elbow-length raglan sleeves and a permanently pleated skirt. Her high-crowned hat is a cluster of silk organza flowers in matching pink which she wears with white accessories.

BLACK CREPE is worn beautifully by Mrs. Ronald Howard who chooses a sling-shot shift with deep V neckline. Its companion blouse captures femininity in white crepe with romantic full sleeves and draped tie at the throat. The high-crowned hat of black Milan straw has a band of white edging the narrow brim. Her accessories are of black patent.

SOFT AS SPRING is the look of Mrs. Delnor Poss who wears a pastel blue silk sheath where horizontal line accent gives a two-piece look. Perfect topping is the banded toque of silk organza that has burst into bloom with blossom petals in variegated shades of blue. Pearls, gloves and chained patent bag add a whisper of white.

SILHOUETTES IN SILK

By JO BRIGHT
Fabulous or facetious — fashions are fun. Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will prove the point Feb. 29 when "Travel The U.S.A." is presented in the Patio Room of Holiday Inn. The informal style show, sponsored by the chapter, will be given during a buffet dinner to be served at 7:30 p.m.
The benefit affair is open to the public, and both men and women are invited to attend. Charge for the dinner is $2 per person. Reservations should be made by Feb. 28 by calling Mrs. Frank Perry, AM 4-5349 or Mrs. Bill Davis, AM 4-2603. Mrs. Davis, ways and means chairman, is arranging the show and will provide the commentary, assisted by Miss Bo Bowen.
Spring ensembles for the "Easter Parade" will be shown as a climax to the modeling of styles favored for resort and casual wear. Fashions will be furnished by the Mary Jo Shop.
Proceeds from the show will be applied to local welfare projects and ESA philanthropic endeavors. Support of the Indigent Patient Fund at the Veterans' Administration Hospital is foremost in the aims of Alpha Chi members. The fund is used to assist patients who are unable to provide the cost of small personal expenses which might add to their comfort or peace of mind. Also, the chapter has bought room dividers for classrooms at the Big Spring State Hospital.

The state project of ESA has been the providing of a treadmill for the Texas Crippled Children's Hospital in Houston.
Models in the show will be Mrs. Buford Hull, Mrs. Ted McClung, Mrs. Adrian Porter, Mrs. Roy E. Ray, Mrs. Richard Davis, Miss Phyllis Hall, Mrs. Jackie Touchstone, Mrs. T. M. Lawson and Mrs. Paul Johnson.
Also, Mrs. Sheila De Voy, Mrs. Hershel Stocks, Miss Barbara Campbell, Mrs. Raymond Gardner, Mrs. Delnor Poss, Miss Henry Ann Perry, Miss Sherri Andree, Mrs. Ronald Howard, Mrs. Thomas Hammond, Mrs. Mike Moore, Mrs. Barney Kip Edens Jr., Miss Louise Jackson and Miss Lyndell Johnson.
A fifty dollar gift certificate will be presented to a winner announced during the show.

THE GLAMOUR of Garbo is good anytime, but, especially in the spring when it can be emphasized in the chic combination of black and white. Mrs. Thomas Hammond likes the looks of a collarless suit in black silk worn with a throw-away scarf in abstract print. The white, deep-crowned hat of straw cloth which shadows the face is complemented by crush gloves and black kid pumps.

GOING THEIR separate ways are Mrs. T. M. Lawson and her daughter, Mrs. Jackie Touchstone. Mrs. Lawson can take her time at the tea in this black silk suit accented at the front waist with a tailored bow, which is repeated on black patent shoes. Her broad-brimmed hat is of Milan straw. Mrs. Touchstone is casually comfortable in a red striped sheath with its matching sleeveless shift coat buttoned in bright white. The soft tie for the sailor collar matches the dress. Her accessories are of red patent.

A YEARNING FOR yellow was satisfied by Mrs. Raymond Gardner whose rayon and flax three-piece suit is as bright as sunshine and changeable as the weather. A sometimes thing is the plaid vest blouse into which the soft scarf is tucked. Her face-framing hat of black pebble straw is worn with black patent accessories and leather gloves.

Reid-Mason Wedding Rites Solemnized In Coahoma

Wedding vows were solemnized Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church, Coahoma, for Miss Darlene Mason and Donnie Ray Reid. The Rev. Darrell Robinson officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berton R. Mason, Coahoma, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clay Reid, also of Coahoma.

The double ring ceremony was performed before a white arch flanked by baskets of white gladioli and fern. Traditional seven-branched candelabra with white wedding tapers and banks of palms completed the altar arrangements.

Dewayne Allen sang "O Promise Me," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Where Thou Goest, I Will Go," and was accompanied by Lathan Wood, organist.

The bride's gown of white satin was fashioned with a fitted bodice trimmed at the squared neckline with lace, and the long fitted sleeves were pointed at the wrist. The belted skirt was decorated with a lace panel and appliques and the short train was centered with a flat bow. A pearl encrusted crown held a lace bordered fingertip veil. She carried a semicascade bouquet of feathered carnations and roses centered with a white orchid and showered with picot ribbons and satin leaves.

The bride's sister, Miss Leitha Mason, served as maid of honor and was attired in a light blue street-length gown styled with square neckline, short sleeves and box pleated skirt. She wore a blue pill box hat and white accessories and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations tied with satin streamers. Attendants, Miss Cheryl Childers, Coahoma; and Mrs. Lois Ray, Big Spring, aunt of the bride, wore identical costumes.

The flower girl, Lisa Ann Easterling of Coahoma wore a blue organza frock and a blue hair band. Her accessories were white.

Forum Has Program On Women

Outstanding Women of Our Modern World was the topic of the program given for the Women's Forum Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John B. Norton. Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. was cohostess.

During the business hour the group voted to make a $10 donation to the Heart Association; sponsor a child membership of $12 to the YMCA and send the president and vice president of the study group to the Western District convention in Odessa.

Three forum members are chairmen of district committees: Mrs. Lonnie Coker, Hallmark Art Contest; Mrs. Jack Johnson, Americus Division of International Affairs; and Mrs. Charles Sweeney, International Clubs. All will attend the convention as well as Mrs. Jack Y. Smith, vice president. The meeting is scheduled on March 17-18 at the Lincoln Hotel in Odessa.

The Federation Day luncheon of the Forums in the city will be held on April 11, at 1 p.m. at the Cosden Country Club with Mrs. Joe B. Story, Western District president as the speaker. Mrs. E. P. Driver, Mrs. L. B. Mauldin and Mrs. W. H. Bain will serve on the nominating committee and will report to the club at the March meeting.

Members were asked to bring old magazines to the Westside Youth Center.

Mrs. Wayne Vaughn was in charge of the program on famous women and was assisted by Mrs. Coker and Mrs. W. N. Norred.

Pictures of the women were mounted on a placard for illustrative purposes. Mrs. Vaughn told of the life of Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Mrs. Coker related the life of Helen Keller and Mrs. Norred spoke on Mrs. John F. Kennedy and briefly on the lives of Grandma Moses, Valentine Tereshkova, Helen Hayes, Margaret Chase Smith, Pearl S. Buck and Dr. Frances O. Kelsey.

The speakers brought out the facts that these outstanding women had served with kindness, diligence and courage; each had faith and had developed her natural talent. The key to their success, according to Mrs. Vaughn, was that each shared or is sharing with others her developed talent.

During the tea hour, Mrs. Johnson presided at the silver service. Sixteen members were present.

Women In Business Outlined At Meeting

The role of women in business was examined by Mrs. Eva Pycatt Thursday when she spoke to members of the 1965 Hyperion Club. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. H. B. Reagan, 806 W. 10th St.

Mrs. Pycatt said that working women hold two jobs because when they return home from work they start a second business day as homemakers. She estimated that between 80 to 100 women own and operate businesses here and that many others were managed by women.

In discussing the clothing industry, Mrs. Pycatt traced the production pattern traveled by garments in the making; from raw goods to the retailer. She said that from 75 to 80 percent of the country's cash wealth was controlled by women.

Mrs. W. T. Barber presided as a report was given by Mrs. Norman Reed, federation counselor. She said that the Western District convention will be held March 17-18 in Odessa. Several members of the club plan to attend. Members voted to contribute $25 dollars to the fund which is being raised to bring a foreign student here.

HEART THROBS Contributions for research helped these youngsters live

Heart Sunday Observance Begins This Afternoon

Volunteer workers will be swarming over the city this afternoon, knocking on doors in an effort to raise money to keep many hearts beating. It is Heart Sunday and the appeal will be made for support of the American Heart Association's program of research and education.

Following the drive the plastic hearts will be picked up at the various business places in the city. They have been out all during February.

Mrs. Richard Gibson and Mrs. Bill Hale, co-chairmen for the drive, named the 12 area drive chairmen as follows:

Washington area, Mrs. Bill Hale and Mrs. J. T. Roane; Parkhill area, Mrs. M. W. Talbot and Mrs. C. J. Haralson; Boydston area, Mrs. J. B. Price and Mrs. Tom Hammond; College Heights area, Mrs. Melvin Choate; Marcy area, Mrs. B. R. Newton; Kentwood area, Mrs. Clayton Bettle; Western Hills area, Mrs. G. R. Elser; Highland South area, Mrs. W. H. Eysen; Cedar Crest area, Mrs. Thomas Carpenter; Lakeview area, Mrs. Carrie McManus; Airport area, Mrs. M. L. Gray; Bauer area, Mrs. C. R. Reese; and Coahoma - Sand Springs area, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White.

Sixty per cent of the funds raised goes to the local chapter and is invested in research of special equipment. One specialized piece of equipment is located in the medical center at Houston where open heart surgery is performed, and is used for saving lives of those suffering from serious heart conditions.

The remaining percentage goes to the state and the American Heart Association. Several million dollars of this money have been spent in cardio-vascular research dealing with heart disease, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever, strokes, congenital malformations of the heart, infectious diseases of the heart, and other ailments which cause almost a million deaths annually.

Pictured are local youngsters who have all undergone surgery for various heart conditions. Cindy Smith, top left, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith, 1701 Yale—surgery in July, 1958; La Quita Ross, bottom left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ross, 3296 Cornell—surgery in July, 1962; Terry Morris, bottom center, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Morris, 1008 Nolan—surgery in June, 1960; Carolyn Roane, top right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Roane, 1804 Alabama—surgery in November, 1958; Renee Hale, lower right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hale, 1516-A Sycamore—surgery in November, 1962; Kelly Hammond, center left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hammond, 204 Circle, is six months old and had surgery only a month after birth; John Little, center right, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Little, No. 6 Highland Cove, is eight months old and had first surgery last August with another operation likely in the future.

The fact that these youngsters have survived such delicate surgery is due in part to the constant research supported by voluntary contributions.

Machines Can Serve In Drying Sweaters

Dear Heloise:
When I wash my heavy sweaters in cold water soap, I roll them in a heavy bath towel (after rinsing), put them in my washing machine and turn it to spin-dry for a few minutes.

... leaving the sweater rolled in the bath towel.

The bath towel absorbs the excess water and removes much more water from the sweater than one can possibly squeeze out. This way they dry faster.

Just unroll the towel and you will be so pleased. . . . Dot

When I tried it, I found that if the sweater was rolled securely in the bath towel that the towel prevented "streaks" in the sweater when the spin dry cycle was used.

And thanks for the terrific hint. . . . Heloise about shelf and closet space will fly away. . . . Dorothy Snyder

Dear Heloise:

For mothers who have tiny tots just beginning to use high chairs, and who have tried tying a diaper around the child's waist and tying them to the chair, and yet they still slide out. . . here is what we did:

I bought a pink rubber dish mat and cut a piece of it to fit in the seat of my child's high chair. Now he doesn't slide out under the tray. The rubber mat controls the "slide." Using a rubber mat is great in more ways than one:

Instead of washing the seat of the chair when it becomes dirty, all I do now is remove the rubber mat and wash that.

With the leftover piece of rubber mat I lined the tray of the high chair. Now each night as I do my dishes, I just remove the rubber mat and wash them right along with my dishes.

Oh, how many hours a week this saves me washing that high chair. . . . Chris

Dear Heloise:

I have a grand solution for solving the everlasting problem of lint on dark clothes.

I took an old rolling pin I have in the house and put adhesive backed tape on the entire surface with the sticky side out. . . .

I keep this on the top shelf of my closet and just roll it over my clothes and it removes all lint from them. I do this before I ever hang them up! It takes but a few seconds and removes large areas at once. Replace the tape when necessary. . . . Mrs. Al Lenhard

Gifts were presented to the couple.

Dear Heloise:

If you have glass rings on your furniture, caused by water, put some cigarette ashes on a wet rag and rub until the spot is gone. Works real good. . . Mrs. B. Wickman

We mix cigarette and cigar ashes with vegetable oil and rub this in with our fingers very carefully until the ring is gone. Then polish as usual. Since I don't have a glass ring today I can't test your water method. . . . Heloise

AZTEC

Illustrated above: Regally dimensioned 9 drawer (3 behind 2 doors) triple dresser, with framed tilting mirror $400 (also available with marble inserts) chair-back bed $300, 5 drawer chest $300

Reaching a thousand years back in the American tradition, Bassett has developed a design reminiscent of the ancient Aztecs, who once ruled our Southwest and Mexico in imperial splendor. Characterized by a primitive grace, the motif is carried throughout in the carved drawer pulls, a design derived from actual carvings discovered by an archaeologist near Mexico City. "Aztec" is made with carefully selected walnut veneers in a new "Mayan" finish that accents the shadows created by the carvings. So many pieces to choose from that you can create a master bedroom that truly expresses your individuality. Practical features, too—fine Pittsburgh Plate Glass mirrors, the Perma-shield finished drawer interiors, and the final protective finish of DuPont "Dulux". Be among the first to own furniture that will soon be the talk of the nation, and will undoubtedly set a completely new style trend.

LONG TRIP ENDS

The Ed Squillantes relax at home with children

Ed Squillantes Say Goodbye To Glamour

By JO BRIGHT

The gaudy — but glamorous — tinsel of Hollywood is a far cry from the life preferred by West Texans.

Comparing the two was a natural reaction of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Squillante, 1510 Kentucky Way, when they moved here recently from Conoga Park, Calif. He is a native of Hollywood where he worked as a film technician for Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer Studios. Prior to that he was stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin for four years. It was there that he met his wife, Elaine, who is a sister of Mrs. George Bugg.

Mr. and Mrs. Squillante moved here to open the Superior Quality Meat Co. which was formerly the Bugg Meat Co. Their children are Debra, 8, Michele, 5, Edward, 2½, and Steven, 8 months.

"When we moved in this house," said Squillante, a neighbor came immediately to introduce himself and ask if he could help us with anything. We were not used to this brand of hospitality and are still amazed and pleased by it." In discussing his studio work, Squillante said that he was concerned principally with developing, printing, editing and cutting film. He explained that most of his family is employed with the studios, adding that his father once wrote for the "Star News" at Culver City.

Mrs. Squillante was chairman of the sponsoring committee of the Camp Fire Girls, Inc. in Conoga Park, and Debra was an active Blue Bird of the group. Her husband is a member of the Amateur Trapshooting Association, the National Rifleman's Association, and belonged to the Valley Gun Club in the San Fernando Valley.

The Squillantes do not relish memories of the trip here when their Rambler pulled a 6,000 pound trailer "uphill all the way." In fact, the last 60 miles were too much to tackle so the family spent the night in Odesa before completing the trip.

The family is of the Catholic faith.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Jan Fields, bride-elect of Charles J. McKaskle, was complimented Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower held in the home of Mrs. Bob Clark, 2103 Morrison.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Bill Unger and Mrs. Bill Lansing. A buffet dinner was served at 7:30 p.m. to the 15 attending. The serving table was covered with white linen and centered with an arrangement made by Mrs. Unger. Gilded boughs, where two small lovebirds perched, were based in blue and white sweetpeas.

Miss Fields, attired in a sheath dress of gray wool, was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ted Fields, and her sister, Miss Mary Fields, who assisted her in opening gifts.

Miss Fields and McKaskle will be married March 7 in the Westside Baptist Church.

Friday Meeting

The Rook Club met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Isla Davis, 1106 E. 12th, with Mrs. Joe B. Neel serving as co-hostess. Mrs. J. L. Terry, Mrs. H. F. Williamson and Mrs. W. D. McDonald were guests. Mrs. McDonald, 1408 Eleventh Place, will be hostess at the March 20 meeting.

PLENTY OF TRAFFIC ON ROADS
State Highway Department counts cars on county highways and roads

Traffic Count Shows Where The Cars Go

By SAM BLACKBURN

The busiest traffic corner in Howard County is Gregg and Fourth Street. An average of 22,070 vehicles pass that intersection on an average day.

The Texas Highway Department has just released a new county map showing results of recent traffic counts made on federal, state and county roads. The new map is based on figures established in December of last year.

Second busiest traffic spot in the county is Scurry and West Fourth. The vehicle count at this point is shown on the map at 21,380. At Gregg and First streets the count showed 11,500. At Benton and Fourth streets, the count was 18,500. On Third at Benton, the total dropped to 6,350.

FM 700 ROUTE

At the point where FM 700 intersects IS 20 on the east, the count showed 8,420. Along its route to meet US 87 the count varied from 2,030 to 6,680. The latter was at the intersection with Scurry Street. At the intersection with Gregg, the count was 9,270.

The west leg of FM 700 showed a maximum count of 4,680 about at the point where it swings west toward Webb. At the intersection with IS 20, the count was 5,950.

US 87, south of Big Spring at the Glasscock County line showed 1,100. This increases steadily as the highway goes north. Just south of the intersection with FM 700 the count was 4,450.

North of the viaduct at the Andrews highway intersection, the count on US 87 was 6,680. At Fairview intersection, the count was 2,450 and at Knott intersection 2,080. At the point where it leaves the county, the count was 1,750.

EAST IS 20

IS 20 east of Big Spring started off with 8,420. At Coahoma it was 5,150 and at the Mitchell County line 3,770.

At the west edge of the city IS 20 showed 10,949 and at Morita 5,120. At the Martin County line the count was 5,100.

SH 350 at the point where it enters Howard County near Vincent showed 1,040. At the intersection with FM 1205, the count was 1,220. At the intersection

G. Brown, Big Spring attorney, had been appointed to represent Jackson. Jackson is serving out an earlier sentence in state prison.

Other cases slated for trial include Pete Leal, worthless check; Woodrow Allen, DWI 2; and James Ed Ferrell, DWI 2.

Lions To Get Briefing On District Plans

Downtown Lions will get a briefing Wednesday on progress and plans of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. E. V. Spence, general manager, and O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, will make brief introductory remarks, using a new giant map of the district's system, and then answer questions.

The map, prepared at a cost of several hundred dollars, shows all the pipelines, their dimensions, the pump stations, capacities, distances and elevations, reservoirs, including two sites for a proposed second lake on the upper Colorado River. Included are the various water-flood units supplied by the district.

Spence will have some reports on the financing of the district, its operation in supplying member cities of Big Spring, Odessa and Snyder. Last year CRMWD delivered over 100 billion gallons to the cities and its other customers.

Most Residents Pay Fines, Some Take Them To Court

By BUCK SITTON

Traffic violators who refuse to pay fines can be jailed. But most Big Springers pay up.

Sherrill Farmer, police traffic records division, said capias warrants are issued for the arrest of traffic violators only after they have been given a reasonable opportunity to comply with the law.

Motorists who receive parking tickets are reminded five days after they received the ticket to pay the fine or appear in court. Other traffic offenders, such as speeders, have 10 days in which to pay their tickets or appear. After that, capias warrants are issued.

The receipt of a ticket leaves the motorist with an option: He may pay the fine or contest the charge. If he pleads innocent, his case will be set for trial and heard in corporation court. Cases heard in corporation court may be appealed to county court if the motorist feels he has reason.

Usually, the motorist pays the fine, Farmer observed. He said the average fine is $10. About 413 traffic tickets are handed out each month, and about 60 capias warrants are issued each month.

He said 389 tickets were issued last month, and 4,126 tickets have been issued during this fiscal year, April through January. In comparison, there were 172 warrants issued in January and 619 warrants issued during the fiscal year.

Farmer said there are 120 unpaid tickets in the active file going back 10 days and about 100 tickets in the delinquent file (after warrants have been issued).

Some of the delinquent fines may never be collected if the offender has gone to another state. However, if he returns to Big Spring, he can be arrested and taken to court.

There are fewer appeals in county court now than there were a year ago, Farmer said. He said he did not know whether faster court action or a change in insurance laws has resulted in the decrease in appeals. Prior to the change in insurance laws, moving violations could affect the amount of premiums paid on a policy.

"There are only about three to five appeals a week now," Farmer said. There are 40 appeals pending now, he said. Whether appealed or not, most fines result in convictions and are paid. Only 38 moving violations, nine mechanical violations and five parking violations were appealed since April.

Traffic fines add about $2,000 each month to the city's income. Assessments during the fiscal year were: moving violations, $17,687; mechanical violations, $1,492; and, parking violations, $1,237.

A Devotional For The Day

Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. (Psalms 32:1.)
PRAYER: Almighty God, we have sinned in Thy sight, but we plead for the blessing of Thy mercy and forgiveness. Purify our hearts that Thy love may find lodgment there and enable us to obey Thee in all things. We ask these things in the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
 (From the 'Upper Room')

It's In The Hopper

The announcement that the General Services Administration has recommended an appropriation of $1,367,000 for a new post office - federal building here has stirred considerable speculation.
 A lot of this may be premature unless this development is put in proper perspective.
 It must be realized that this is but the first step toward a possible project. For a long, long time preliminary studies have been made of the best way to deal with the problem of overcrowding at the post office. The GSA conclusion, made known in its recommendation, is that it is more economical to start from scratch, especially if proper consideration is given to long range plans including projected growth.
 What this means now is the GSA has asked the Public Affairs Committee to provide for the funds. First the committee will refer it to a sub-committee, and if approved, it will be considered by the committee as a whole. Should this be approved, the measure then would go to the House for action. Somewhat the same procedure would be followed in the Senate, and should both houses approve, any differences would be adjusted and then bucked back to the two houses for final action. This would leave the final step up to the President for signature.

 Nor would this mean fruition of the idea, for there would still be the matter of acquiring a site, engaging engineers and architects, accepting plans, awarding contracts. So, even under the most expeditious of circumstances, a building would be months, and months and months away. What may be said realistically now is that it is in the hopper.
 Meantime, some useful purpose might be served by the local bar making inquiry about whether plans envision provision for a federal court, and if not in particular, then about the feasibility of converting the present post office into just such a facility. There would be ample room and the plant, because of its large workroom, might lend itself to such an adaptation.

Logical Place

The Big Spring squadron of the Air Force Association roared off the ground here Thursday evening with ample power to spare.
 There were 70 attending the meeting and more than two score of them were listed as charter members of the association. Doubtless, this total will swell as the program gets underway here.
 As suggested by the name, the Air Force Association makes support of the Air Force its business. It not only promotes advancement of this branch of the service, but it encourages other people - including youth - to be interested in its future.

 There could be no more logical place for a vigorous squadron than right here at the home of Webb AFB where the base has earned so many enduring friends for the Air Force.

Marquis Childs Staying Above Politics - For Now

WASHINGTON—Like patience on a monument President Johnson is trying to hold his nonpolitical posture. For a naturally impatient man this is not easy and in the pulling and hauling over his California trip he discovered how difficult a role it is.
 When it became known Johnson would go to Los Angeles to meet President Lopez Mateos of Mexico, where both would receive honorary degrees from the University of California, immediately pressure was exerted on the White House to put a political stop on the schedule. The California Democratic Council, made up of California's Democratic clubs, would be holding a statewide convention that same week end in Long Beach.

from successful prosecution of the states' claim to this great wealth.
IN THE COURSE of sensational hearings Ickes testified that Pauley, as Democratic national treasurer, had told him that he could raise $300,000 from oil men in California if they could be assured the federal government would not assert its claim to the tidelands. After one of the bitterest controversies in Washington's history Truman at Pauley's request withdrew the nomination. Pauley had charged Ickes with lying.
AT BEST, California politics is an uncertain quality, with complexities that baffle the observer of the simple black and white of Democrat or Republican, conservative or liberal. This year a frenetic primary race for the Senate seat of the ailing Sen. Clair Engle is on. Although Engle has announced that he will run for re-election, leading Democrats believe he is incapable of conducting a campaign. Several determined aspirants, including Congressman James Roosevelt, have turned up indicating one of those bruising contests that have in the past left the party in total disarray.
 So under the circumstances the President seems to have made a wise choice. But he cannot indefinitely stay poised above the battle.

WHAT IS MORE, as the Johnson advisers were fully aware, the C.D.C. is oriented around a left-of-center leadership that has often alarmed conservatives in the party. Pragmatic organization types such as Jesse Unruh look with a jaundiced eye on the clubs.
 On their part, the C.D.C. leaders are suspicious of the President's close California ally, Edwin W. Pauley. A wealthy independent oil operator, Pauley has given the President devoted loyalty over the years of the emerging Johnson career. Twenty-four hours after the assassination of President Kennedy he was in the White House to be at the side of his good friend in his time of trial.
PAULEY IS credited with being the prime mover in initiating the honorary degree for the President at the UCLA ceremony.
 Pauley is no stranger to controversy. In 1946 President Truman nominated him Under Secretary of the Navy. He had served as Democratic national treasurer and had strongly opposed the position of Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes who favored federal ownership and control of the vast tidelands oil wealth. Texas and California stood to gain most

Billy Graham

All my life I've felt antagonistic toward people. I don't know why some of us have this feeling. Is there any way to overcome this?
 D. S.
 You have already made the first and most difficult step toward a solution of your problem. When we come to know the problem and desire a solution, we have already overcome the greatest obstacle. Many people either hide such antagonisms or are not concerned about them. They never overcome them. The solution is to be found in the primary quality of a Christian. The Bible says that the greatest quality in human personality is love. It certainly covers a multitude of sins. Your real problem is inward. By experiencing a fundamental change of your own personality, you will no longer have such vicious and evil feelings toward others. This change of personality is what Jesus called being "born again." I urge you to read prayerfully John, chapter three, and if you follow its teaching, God will solve your problems for you.

Plans Changed

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Delta Sigma Phi fraternity at Arizona State University decided to send pledges and several trucks out for snow so they could build a campus snow man.
 Unfortunately, there was no snow anywhere in the state.
 The fraternity men changed plans quickly. They bought 1,800 pounds of crushed ice and built an iceman instead.

Raveled Sleeve?

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Mayor George Shackelford asked some questions after noting a city expenditure of $44 for yarn and knitting needles.
 It turned out this was for a program through which the Parks and Recreation Department said it was teaching children to make good use of their time knitting "useful products."

J. A. Livingston

Hold On—Up She Goes!

Are we kicking off a boom? The Index of Speculative Confidence suggests that we're working up to it. The fourth-come tax cut will help us toward it. And the latest statistics - housing starts, personal income, durable goods orders - seem to verify it.

Next month we're all going to feel a bit richer. We're all going to have a something extra to spend. And, for a time, it ought to influence retail sales, the willingness to go into debt, and the feeling of "prosperity, here we are!"

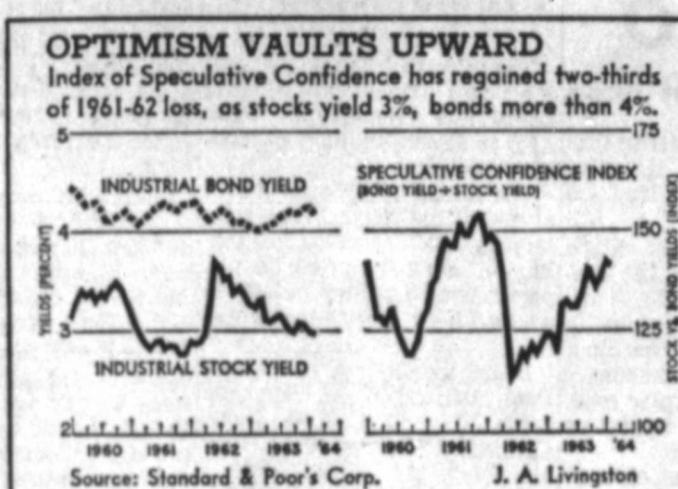

The country is caught up in an untappable enthusiasm. Business is good, but it's going to be - it's got to be - much better. That was President Kennedy's commitment. It has become President Johnson's dedication. Understandably so.

MR. KENNEDY and his Council of Economic Advisers were undeniably concerned with economic growth. They were determined to increase aggregate demand - purchasing power - and thus lift production and employment. Thus would we rid the United States of the stigma, the blot, of unemployment amid prosperity.

The new President has assumed that commitment with renewed fervor. He has to Mr. Kennedy had had three years in office. He had built up a public image as the friend of the worker. He could temporize if need be. He possessed flexibility in dealing with credit and unemployment.

IF, FOR example, he felt the economy were becoming "overheated," he could afford - politically - to let the Federal Reserve Board turn off the inflationary spigot, keep banks in short rein, risk hesitation in the economy, even a recession.

He could take into consideration the pressures of international finance: Do we have to protect the dollar, do we have to guard against a gold outflow? Domestic affairs - prosperity - did not have to have the topmost priority.

PRESIDENT Johnson, placed by fate in the White House and forced by circumstances and his own sense of destiny to want to stay there on his own, has not the same degree of freedom. He has got to keep the economic pot boiling.

No President ever puts himself first and his country second - consciously. Honestly and sincerely, all Presidents - reaching up to heaven for greatness and guidance - make those decisions which they feel serve the greatest number and will prove to be, in the long run, for the greatest good of the nation.

YET, IN A presidential year, what President can trust aside the insistent question: Will it help or hurt my chances? Especially a President by accident. Thus is the country committed to expansion - by politics and social expectations - by social choice. Prosperity is here, but we seek more around the corner.

Whether the expansion will provoke a contest between the Federal Reserve Board and the administration on easy money, whether it will generate demands by foreign finance ministers and foreign central bankers to curtail credit, no one can say.

AN ORDERLY upward thrust in production, without undue price advances would justify confidence and relieve those nagging misgivings. It is exactly what the income tax cut is designed to provide. It's what we have to hope for. And it's what Wall Street is counting on.

 Once again, stocks have climbed to new highs. And the market is broadening out. On a majority of trading days in each of the last three months of 1963, the number of stocks with minus signs exceeded those with plus signs. Inference: The blue-chip issues, the institutional favorites were going up, not the rank-and-file shares.

THIS YEAR that has changed. On a majority of trading days to date, the number of stocks going up has exceeded the number registering declines. What is more, investors are willing to take less for their money.
 Despite the year-end bulge in higher and extra dividends, the yield on industrial stocks is now only about 3 per cent. Bonds yield 4.2 per cent. Result: The Index of Speculative Confidence (bond yields divided by stock yields) is climbing back toward where it was at the end of 1961, just before the bear market of 1962 (see chart).

Here again, is an expression of optimism. You're better off in stocks and what they hold forth than in the pedestrian returns on bonds. This is an era of growth, of prosperity. Don't be timid. Plunge in!

Around The Rim Choppers Go Every Whichaway

It takes all kinds. Aircraft as well as people.
 Found this out the other day, when I got a sweep over the city and area in a helicopter.
 As an old jet jockey (four nervous rides as passenger), I had concluded, among other things, that you can pretty well guess that a jet is going where it is pointed. You can't do the same thing in a helicopter. It goes 40 ways from Sunday.

MY EXPERIENCE in the mill was through courtesy of Captain Tom Sebo, who commands the 18th Air Rescue Detachment, holding the mission of all kinds of rescue work at Webb Air Force Base.
 Sebo knows what he is doing, which is a good thing. He endeavored to acquaint me with some of the habits, performance and intricacies of the helicopter, but soon gave it up as a bad job, and told me just to sit still.

WELL, YOU don't sit entirely still in a chopper, particularly when the blades start getting up speed and are being adjusted to the proper pitch. You get a good mechanical massage, in a way, or at least nerve-tingling vibration. A good deal like sitting on the jump-pad of a motorcycle going over a washboard road.
 But when a pilot like Sebo gets through all the switch-turning, the knob adjusting and the lever-pulling, and the chopper starts chopping, it settles down to give you a rather comfy ride, after all.

THOSE THINGS will dip and sway, and go in circles, and climb straight up, and come straight down or come in on a normal glide landing, and hover at constant altitude, or accomplish almost any other given position.

I don't think they will fly upside down, which is one attitude we didn't try. Ole Capt' Sebo gave us the experimental treatment, then we whirled off to have a look-see at the community. Traveled right down the new Interstate 20 by-pass, and concluded that the State Highway Department could put choppers to good use for survey work and the like. We were skirting right down the road, and I had the impression I could have reached out and slapped that water tank standing north of town.

THEN WE leaned over toward the Country Club and checked out the golf course, whirled over the hills south of town and got a tremendous view of the new homes nestled in the valleys out that way.

We watched another chopper go about the business of fighting a fire, too, because, after all, the 'copters are on hand for emergency rescue work, and the men who operate them and maintain them are seriously dedicated to their work. They've got a citation to prove it, and they are ready, at the blink of an eye, at all times, to save fliers' lives.

BUT THE chopper itself is a fascinating piece of machinery. Sebo, perhaps a bit prejudiced, maintains that it's the nearest contraption man has devised to permit himself to fly most nearly like birds fly. You do have the real and satisfying sensation of flight in a helicopter.

I said they would go 40 ways from Sunday. This is true because Captain Sebo turned the controls to me (while he kept a watchful eye). This is when the chopper DID go in all directions. The skipper of the craft let me have - well, let's say 45 seconds of stick time. It was enough for him and the crew.

David Lawrence Critical Period In Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON—What's going on beneath the surface today in national as well as international affairs can make the year 1965 perhaps the most critical in this century. During the eight months before the presidential election, steps will be taken by foreign governments which could involve the United States in a series of crises that may begin to emerge after the presidential election on November 3.

WHAT GIVES most concern at present is the behavior of the foreign governments which have deliberately construed the current election campaign in this country as giving them an opportunity to put into effect policies beneficial to themselves but harmful to the United States.

Unfortunately, presidential elections occur at a fixed time under the American Constitution and cannot be postponed to a more opportune moment, as under the parliamentary system. Foreign governments know that American presidential campaigns are lengthy affairs, and that no President is going to risk his chance for reelection by plunging this country into a military crisis which could demand the drafting of more boys and cause the interruption of the normal lives of many citizens—to say nothing of the impact on the economic situation as a whole.

CONFIDENT THAT the President of the United States is virtually stalemated into a posture of inaction, foreign governments feel free to pursue their disturbing policies without fear of reprisals. This not only is true with respect to Castro in Cuba, but is related to the arrogant behavior of Panama and friction in other parts of Latin America.
 So far as Southeast Asia is concerned, the position of the United States has deteriorated, and there are hints that American military forces will be withdrawn after November. This will be construed as a humiliating defeat for the American government. Were it not for the presidential election, it is conceivable that the United States would take a more forthright position not only in Southeast Asia but toward her own allies who have created ill feeling in the United States by increasing their trade with Red China as well as with Cuba.

The strategy of the democratic administration appears to be to do nothing which will aggravate or "escalate" the international situation. Policy-making seems to be predicated on the theory that the nation wants "peace at any price" and that this is the way to win a presidential election.

THROUGHOUT these grave periods of history, foreign governments have underestimated the resoluteness of the American people. The Communist policy at the moment is to talk about disarmament and "peaceful co-existence," but the Communist drive to take over Latin America, Southeast Asia and Africa continues unabated. The United Nations is powerless to do much about it because Great Britain, France and the United States are in disagreement.

BUT USUALLY these periods of apparent appeasement of a blustering enemy come to a sudden end when the latter overreaches himself and brings on a situation which simply does not permit the "peace at any price" attitude to be continued. This may produce the big crisis after the American presidential election is over. Many members of Congress believe the President would be far stronger in the world, and even with his own public opinion, if he manifested a resolute policy rather than a passive and acquiescent attitude.

Holmes Alexander What About Nuclear Safeguards?

WASHINGTON — The turning point in last year's Senate debate on the Nuclear Treaty, which banned above ground testing, came when President Kennedy accepted what became known as the Four Safeguards for policing the ban. These points were offered by the Preparedness Subcommittee and became incorporated in the Senate's ratification. The Defense Department agreed to:

1. THE CONDUCT of comprehensive, aggressive and continuing underground nuclear test programs designed to add to our knowledge and to improve our weapons in all areas of significance to our military posture for the future.
2. The maintenance of modern nuclear laboratory facilities and programs in theoretical and exploratory nuclear technology which will attract, retain and insure the continued application of our human scientific resources to those programs on which continued progress in nuclear technology depends.
3. THE MAINTENANCE of the facilities and resources necessary to institute promptly nuclear tests in the atmosphere should they be deemed essential to our national security or should the treaty or any of its terms be abrogated by the Soviet Union.
4. The improvement of our capability, within feasible and practical limits, to monitor the terms of the Treaty, to detect violations, and to maintain our knowledge of Sino-Soviet nuclear activity, capabilities and achievements.

THESE CLOSELY - WORDED, airtight conditions, to be frank about them, reflect a considerable Senate distrust of Russia, of course, but also of certain administration braintrusts whose enthusiasm for disarmament often seemed greater than their verve for American military supremacy.

Therefore, the Preparedness Subcommittee undertook to oversee the Defense Department's observation of the safeguards.
 On February 6th, Dr. Harold Brown, who heads the department's research and engineering branch, testified on the matter before members of two Senate committees. On three of the four safeguards, Dr. Brown could report only "progress," and not much of that. Here is how he touched, point by point, upon the safeguards:

1. UNDERGROUND testing: The department is "planning and preparing" a number of tests.
2. Maintenance of laboratory facilities: The department "will continue to support" weapons research.
3. Readiness to resume atmospheric testing if necessary: The department has "begun improvement of the test facility at Johnston Island," and made "other preparations" to which Dr. Brown referred in the future tense.
4. DETECTION of Russian violations of the treaty: The department is quadrupling its investment in atomic detection systems, and doubling its investment in the operation of these systems.

President Johnson has given the press the impression that he hopes to negotiate a new Nuclear Treaty, now in discussion at Geneva. The envisioned pact would extend the ban to underground testing, would bring about mutual inspection of weapons and troop movements, would reduce the number of vehicles which carry nuclear bombs.
IT MAY BE that three of the four safeguards are being considered obsolete in anticipation of a new treaty. If this is so, the Preparedness Subcommittee owes the country a report on its stewardship.

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Doctor: What causes one breast to be larger? Does this mean cancer? How can I check for it? I am not very well-developed, so there is a noticeable difference. I am 17.—G.B.

both sides. One shoe fits; the other doesn't.
 Studying ourselves, we find this to be true, even though nobody else notices it. So inequality in size of the breasts is nothing to be astonished about.
 Just to include other possibilities, a simple cyst formation can cause enlargement, but in that case it will be apparent that the shape of the breast is somewhat distorted.
 At 17, cancer is quite unlikely, although I'm gratified that girls are aware of the problem because that means (I hope) that they will be on guard against it later in life.

Seedy fruits (raspberries, grapes and such) should be avoided.
 If worried about Vitamin C, he can get plenty from the juices of oranges, grapefruit, tomatoes.
 Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has diverticulitis and is on a bland diet. Can he eat corn, and ripe peaches? What other fresh fruit?—Mrs. N. S.
 Corn, which he shouldn't eat, has a high residue and this can be irritating when it reaches the sensitive area of his digestive tract.
 It wouldn't be a bad idea to try a peach, apple or pear, but peel it first, and then see whether it causes discomfort. If not, don't think this means that he can keep on eating such fruit without limit. If one peach (or Sometimes I lose my self-control and rant - well, speak sharply, anyway - against the overconfidence with having a big bust measurement. From the purely medical standpoint, I think we can spare a few words for girls who write letters like these, today.

 Unequal size of the breasts is not unusual. In fact, most of us, male and female, are unequal from left to right in many things.

Top Brazilian Pianist To Appear Thursday

Luli de Freitas, renowned Brazilian pianist, will present a lecture-recital on the origin of Brazilian music in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium on Thursday. In addition to the piano, some colored slides and recordings may be used.

Born into an artistic family, both painting and music, Luli de Freitas has been living in an environment of musicians, composers and painters ever since her cradle days. Studying at first under the Spanish maestro Tomas Teran, then going to Paris, France, she played for Isadore Phillippe, the world renowned pianist. He accepted her at the age of six, the youngest student he ever taught.

She went on in her teens to Hungarian professor Oscar Adler, subsequently perfecting her techniques under the American pianist Raymond Lewenthal, who was a pupil of Olga Samaroff.

CONSERVATORY

Her present position is master of the Conservatory of the Air of Rio de Janeiro Roquette Pinto. In 1961 she was a member of the jury in the University of Musica of Brazil (National School of Music) competition promoted by the Conservatories Air of Rio de Janeiro Roquette Pinto to choose the best pianist of 1961. In the beginning of 1962 she was chosen to be on the jury of the Competition for Folk Music. This competition was promoted by the Turismo Department of Rio de Janeiro. In 1957, 1959 and 1962 she was assistant to the International Jury in the International Piano Contest in Rio de Janeiro. In September of 1962 as master and pianist she was invited by the Van Cliburn International Quadrennial Piano Competition to be an official observer, and she was sent as an official delegate to Fort Worth by the Brazilian government.

RIO DE JANEIRO

Again as master she was delegated in December of 1962 to be an official member of Brazil at the Competition Sud Americana of Music that was performed in July of 1963, at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. As the official member of Brazil in this competition, she journeyed to Argentina and Uruguay to meet other Sud Americans Musicians' Personalities.

Luli de Freitas, the mother of seven children, has performed as a pianist in many concerts and as soloist with many orchestras. Included are the Symphonic's Brazilian Orchestra, with the National Symphonic's Orchestras, Radio's Ministerio da Educacao, Radio's Cruzeiro do Sul and Radio's Roquette Pinto, and others.

Feud Gets Scant Help By Old-Pro Bette Davis

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—

Those who aimed to start a feud between her and Susan Hayward got no help from Bette Davis. The high-powered actresses were paired in "Where Love Has Gone"—Bette as Susan's mother, though only a decade separates their real ages.

"I would never fight with a woman," Bette said. "It would be ridiculous."

"The only actress I couldn't get along with was Miriam Hopkins. But I would never bring any differences we might have onto the set. A movie company doesn't have time for any such nonsense."

Mike Connors, who finds himself caught between Davis and Hayward in "Where Love Has Gone," found the way to lick the movie's reluctance to hire television stars: a two-year layoff. After "Tightrope" went off the network, he found film work scarce, so he did a night club act in Mexico and Argentina, where the series was popular.

He returned and landed "Good Neighbor Sam" with Jack Lemmon and Romy Schneider. "Where Love Has Gone" and a movie with Doris Day . . .

Oscar winner Anne Bancroft's ambition might surprise you. She'd like to play "Romeo and Juliet." But, she explains: "I'd like to play Juliet my own way—very Italian. I think she was a girl who was very impulsive and emotional; she's the one who kept leading Romeo on and getting him into all that trouble."

George Murphy figures his film image is an advantage in his candidacy for the Republican nomination for senator from California: "I never played a heavy, so the voters think of me as a nice guy. And I never in any scandal. Matter of fact, newspapermen used to say they wished I would get into some fuss so they could write about me."

Richard Harris came through town—and got hospitalized from exhaustion—en route from a film in Rome to "Major Dundee" in Mexico. Of "Mutiny on the Bounty," in which he co-starred and feuded with Marlon Brando, he says little.

"I never saw the bloody thing and I never will," he remarked. "I gained nothing from it—and not a great deal of money, either. It was a lost 13 months in my life" . . .

Has Painting Accepted For Show

Avery Falkner Jr., who is now on a scholarship at the Brooklyn Art Museum, has had his painting, "Villa," accepted for competition in the 1964 annual exhibition of the Texas Water Color Society. The painting will hang with others selected for exhibition at White Memorial Museum in San Antonio March 8-29. This particular painting was first place in the professional realism division in the recent Las Artistas membership show here last autumn on his departure for New York. In letters to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Avery Falkner, 708 W. 17th, Avery Jr. said he was enjoying New York immensely, is learning much, and is teaching on the side.

Disney's 'Sword In Stone' Slated

When Walt Disney produces a new animated cartoon feature, it is an entertainment event and his newest, "The Sword in the Stone," is no exception. This musical cartoon treat opens at the Ritz Theatre on Friday.

Based on the book by T. H. White, this amusing account of the life and times of a legendary young King Arthur and his adventures with that grand old magician, Merlin, introduces a whole new cast of Disney characters.

Merlin emerges as the star of the film. Absent-minded and befuddled at times, he is nevertheless a warm and lovable old gentleman, with a youthful outlook on life and the amazing ability to see far into the future.

The gangling teen-age wizard, who is destined to become England's legendary King Arthur, is the adolescent hero.

That marvelous, mad Madame Mim is Disney's villainess. Although she prides herself on her evil deeds, her cosmic personality exceeds her black heart.

Sir Ector, Wart's foster father; his comically stupid and loutish son Kay; and Sir Pellinore, a caricature of an English nobleman and Sir Ector's long and devoted friend, round out the human cartooned characters.

Archimedes, the wise old owl and constant companion to Merlin; a wacky and disconcerted wolf, ever on the prowl for an ever elusive square meal; and two predatory female squirrels—one youthful and appealing, the other aging and rotund—round out as fine a group of feathered and furred creations as has ever emerged from a Disney film.

Tunesmiths Robert M. and Richard B. Sherman have turned out a half-dozen songs, with such whimsical titles as "Higitus - Figitus" (Merlin's Magic Song), "A Most Befuddling Thing" (Squirrel Song) and "That's What Makes the World Go Round."

A group of Hollywood's most talented performers were rounded up by Disney to provide the voices for his cartoon cast.

These include Sebastian Cabot, young Rickie Sorensen, Karl Swenson, Junius Matthews, Martha Wentworth, Alan Napier, Barbara Jo Allen and Ginny Tyler, to name but a few.

Veteran Disney story man Bill Peet adapted the story for the cartoon medium and wrote the screenplay.

Loved Every Minute Of My 30-Year Marriage—Hope

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The secret of our marriage," cracked Bob Hope, "is that I'm out of town so much. I write such wonderful postcards."

It was a Hope-like reaction to questions about the 30th wedding anniversary that he and Dolores celebrate this week. But he waxed more serious as he contemplated the years.

"They have been 30 marvelous, exciting years," he said. "When I think of the things that have happened to me in those 30 years, it floors me. I have no regrets. I've loved every minute."

Bob was at work this week, making a story comedy with Eva Marie Saint for his television series. He does not often reminisce, but this time he seemed to enjoy looking back on his courtship and marriage.

"I was in 'Roberta,'" he recalled, "and George Murphy said he wanted me to come over to the Vogue Club and hear a singer named Dolores Reade. So I went there with him and saw this girl, who was a fine singer and good-looking, too." Bob was much impressed with her, and he enlisted her in his act after he left "Roberta."

"What got me in the marrying mood was when she left me to go to Florida," he said. "Until then I was a confirmed bachelor. I had a Pierce Arrow with chauffeur, an apartment on Central Park West with a butler, and I was really living."

"But when Dolores went to Florida, I really missed her. I was on the phone to her all the time. When she returned, I proposed to her in the Pierce Arrow, parked in front of the Delmonico Hotel where she lived—I used to give the chauffeur sleeping pills."

Dolores said yes, and they were married on a quick weekend in Erie, Pa. They kept the marriage secret for three months.

Dolores continued singing until Bob went to Hollywood to start his movie career. Then she retired to keep the home fires burning for Bob and to rear their four children, all adopted.

Doesn't she get weary of his absences?

"You bet your life she does," he said. "But I'm home a lot more now. I've slowed down a great deal—I've had to."

"I think the real secret of our success together is that we have mutual interests. We both like the business. We like to play golf, and we take golfing vacations together. We enjoy each other's company."

"Dolores still sings—and very well, too. Bing says she has the best phrasing of any singer he knows. The other night she was watching Kathy Crosby on Bing's show and she asked me, 'When are you going to let me sing on your show?'"

STAMP NEWS

Five-Cent JFK Stamp Will Be Issued May 29

The John F. Kennedy memorial stamp will be issued on May 29, the 47th anniversary of his birthday, announced Postmaster General John A. Gronouski. The date of issuance was chosen by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy.

Shortly after President Kennedy's death, President Johnson requested the postmaster general to issue such a stamp and consult with Mrs. Kennedy as to the date and the design.

The new stamp will be of 5-cent denomination and of commemorative size. As soon as Mrs. Kennedy approves the design, it will be released to the press.

This year's 5-cent commemorative stamp in the "fine art" series will feature a Charles M. Russell painting of cowboys in action at roundup time. It will be issued March 19 at Great Falls, Mont., home of the celebrated artist and will coincide with the 100th anniversary of Russell's birth. The stamp colors are brown, blue, yellow and white.

The illustration on the stamp is entitled "Jerked Down." The term applies to a hazard of the cowboy roundup. A cowboy has thrown his lariat over a cow, but a second cow has become entangled in the rope, causing the rider to be "jerked down."

As the cowboy struggles to retain his seat in the saddle, a fellow cowboy rides to his aid. This oil painting now hangs in the Thomas Gilcrease Institute of American History and Art, Tulsa, Okla.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the Russell stamp may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Great Falls, Mont., prior to March 19. The outside envelope to the postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers Russell Stamp."

Finland has issued a new 35-markka stamp honoring the centenary of the Finnish Society of Arts. The design shows the sculptured head of an elk made of soapstone approximately 2000 B. C. Another 35-markka stamp soon will be issued by Finland to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Emile Nestor Setala, professor and statesman.

"The average inactive American man when he reaches age 26 has a middle-age body."

This shocking statement comes from an authority on physical fitness—after studying more than 50,000 individuals. Why this early physical decline? Lack of activity—not enough vigorous daily exercise. Today, our children risk all the hazards of easy living. Right now, in fact, one-third of them are unable to pass simple physical achievement tests. That's why it's so important for all youngsters to participate in vigorous exercise for at least 15 minutes during each school day. To learn about a basic fitness program that any school can carry out, send for the free leaflet put out by the President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D. C.

Webb's Credit Union Slates Annual Meet

The Webb Air Force Base Credit Union will hold its annual general meeting and election at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Academics Auditorium. All members are encouraged to attend.

In addition to a report of the 1963 year-end financial condition and election, there will be awards of $100, $50, $25, $15 and six $10 awards.

The dividend rate again is 5.4 per cent.

Two members of the Credit Union staff, Duke Baker and Mrs. Lee Duncan, reported there were 6,567 loans made to members last year. Total assets amounted to more than $2 million. Outstanding members' shares amounted to more than $1.3 million. There was almost $50,000 in undivided earnings at year's end.

The Webb Credit Union has been in operation since 1955. At present there are 4,500 members, 301 joining last year. Dividends paid last year were $84,763.96. Operating expenses were $73,303.80; added to the reserves were $35,072.40, and added to the undivided earnings were $525.63.

Officials who served in 1963 included Gilbert E. Webb, president; Omer A. Williams, vice president; the late SM. Sgt. Harold E. Butler, secretary; Duke Baker, treasurer; Capt. Alan J. Grill and SM. Sgt. Harry M. Schonaerts, board members.

Breeder Gets Good Price

Roscoe Gillean, who has carried on a quarter horse breeding operation here for many years, has sold one of his promising young fillies for a respectable $1,800.

Mrs. Fisher E. Simmons, Rynela Farms, Avery Island, La., has agreed to purchase Atta Bar, a coming 2-year-old filly, for that price. If the get is as classy as she anticipates, Mrs. Simmons will pay an additional $200 to reach the original quotation.

Atta Bar is a sorrel with flaxen mane and tail, and is by Tres Bars, the highly regarded Amarillo sire. Her dam is the daughter of Attaway, a Gillean register of merit quarter horse stallion.

Atta Bar traces seven times to the famous Domino blood line, three times to Red Bug, three times to Master Gould and once to Chicaro.

Gillean normally carries about a dozen horses in his breeding herd on his place just south of Lees community. Three other horses from the herd brought $1,000 each within the past 12 months.
