LBJ TELLS OF 2,000-MPH PLANE

High-Performance Jet Aircraft Revealed By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson took the wraps off a five-year-old military secret Saturday, disclosing that the United States has developed a high-flying interceptor that can slice through the air at more than 2,000 miles an hour.

Johnson said this plane is capable of a performance that "far exceeds that of any other aircraft in the world today."

Development of the hitherto supersecret plane was announced at Johnson's first news conference to be carried live to the nation by radio and television.

The conference, with Johnson facing 30 reporters from the head of a U-shaped table in a State Department conference room, coincided with the end of his first 100 days in office—days which Johnson said have produced real accomplishments.

Clearly, the biggest surprise was word that the nation now has a needle-shaped plane called the A11, perfected under a program that was, amazingly, kept secret since the effort was launched in 1959.

Other conference highlights: —Johnson passed up a chance to deny a report that his Thursday trip to Florida was cloaked in stringent secrecy because of a tip that a Cuban suicide pilot might try to ram his plane.

Without getting specific, he said he had been told there were "reasons for taking additional precautions." And he said he followed suggestions developed by the Secret Service and Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI.

—The President said he has neither discussed nor approved plans to carry South Viet Nam's guerrilla war into Communist North Viet Nam. "I think that too much speculation has already taken place," he said, adding the view that much of it was "without justification," —William B. Bundy, now an assistant secretary of defense, will succeed the recently resigned Roger Hillsman as assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs. Johnson said "This whole area (embracing Viet Nam) needs every bit of the best manpower that it can get."

—There has been no meeting of the minds" in resolving the dispute with Panama, Johnson said. But he said the United States realizes that the 1903 treaty governing the status of the Panama Canal Zone must be modified from time to time "and perhaps would require adjustment in 1964 or 1965. Johnson actually said 1963 or 1964, but the White House said later he misspoke. This could mean a major break in the U.S.-Panamanian standoff. But Johnson repeated that diplomatic relations must be restored before talks proceed.

—Johnson said the administration position is firm in support of the House-passed civil rights bill. He said he suspects that rumors he might be willing to compromise the key public accommodations section of the bill "are strictly Republican in origin."

Development of the fleet plane was made possible in part by Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., and is powered by J58 jet engines designed by the Pratt & Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp.

Announcing development of the experimental A11 jet, Johnson said the craft "has been tested in sustained flight at more than 2,000 miles per hour and at altitudes in excess of 70,000 feet."

He added that details of the plane's performance "will remain strictly classified."

Johnson said several A11 aircraft are now being flight-tested at Edwards Air Force Base in California. The plane was built by Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., and is powered by J58 jet engines designed by the Pratt & Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp.

Johnson said work on the A11 entailed "major advances in aircraft technology of great significance to both military and commercial application"—especially in efforts to develop a supersonic airliner.

Johnson disclosed he will make public Monday a report by Eugene Black, former head of the World Bank, on plans for financing the supersonic airliner program.

Two Still Needed To Fill Ruby Jury

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby's murder trial was recessed Saturday until Monday with the jury still short two members.

For Ruby, 32, grown increasingly pale and gaunt of face since his arrest, it meant another last weekend in a Dallas County jail cell. He has been held without bail since Nov. 24 when he shot to death Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Eight men and two women have been sworn in as jurors since the trial began Feb. 17 before Judge Joe B. Brown. By noon Saturday, when the recess was called, 133 prospective jurors had been questioned. Most were disqualified for fixed opinions on the case or because they opposed capital punishment.

Ruby, operator of a Dallas strip-tease joint, is accused of malicious murder, which carries a maximum penalty of death in the electric chair.

Cotton-Wheat Bill Passage Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., said Saturday he is confident of enough Senate support to win passage of a controversial cotton and wheat farm bill in the coming week.

The assistant Democratic leader conceded that his earlier target of Senate passage by Wednesday may have been too optimistic.

Humphrey said plans for an emergency beef-buying program by the Agriculture Department to bolster sagging cattle and livestock prices should lessen demands for attaching to the pending bill limits on imports of foreign meat and meat products.

MEAT IMPORTS
With backing of 20 Western and Southern senators, Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Nebr., has proposed a cutback of 40 percent in the imports of meat and meat products as a rider to the cotton-wheat measure.

Hruska told the Senate a steady decline in cattle prices is causing some livestock feeders to lose $50 to $75 dollars a head when they market their steers.

"This means that a lot of ranchers and farmers will go broke," the Nebraskan said.

Spring planting time is near for most cotton and wheat farmers, so Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont. put the farm measure ahead of Senate action on the House-passed civil rights bill.

24-CENT LEVEL
Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., said the heart of the new cotton proposal is a provision which would permit domestic textile mills to buy cotton—now supported at about 32½ cents a pound—at the 24-cent level available to foreign buyers.

He said this and a proposal to lower price supports to 30 cents a pound for growers should cut costs for taxpayers on the cotton program and also reduce large government-held surpluses.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Agriculture Committee, differed sharply, arguing that the new subsidy program would cost taxpayers over $300 million additional this year and larger amounts in the future.

He has offered amendments to cut back subsidies for both the cotton industry and producers.

Airliner With 83 Aboard Is Missing

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—A British airliner carrying 83 persons, barred by fog from landing at this Winter Olympics city, vanished in the Alps Saturday. The Austrian Press Agency said it is believed to have crashed within a 30-mile radius of Mt. Patscherkofel.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

If weather seemed capricious last week, it was normal—everything in the book. We had a drizzle on Monday with .10 to .30 of moisture, followed by biting cold, then dusts, then sunshine, then more wind. And this could be the pattern for the next month or two.

The jet age came to the Howard County Junior College campus last week in a visual sort of way. Through the generosity of the Air Force, old 300, a patriarch among the T-33 famous T-Birds, came to rest on a permanent display spot at the college. This series, as with this particular plane, has been a tremendous item of equipment for the Air Force. A new piece, a T-38, crashed last week but Capt. Miles A. Carter and 2nd Lt. Allen Bird parachuted safely.

Back from Washington D.C. where he spent four days of whirlwind visitation in seeking to get the agriculture department to release new insecticides and to step up its research program on pest control, Carlton Chapman was confident that both of these will be hastened. He also said that two or more scientists likely will be stationed at the Big Spring experiment station to expedite research. While there, there was much talk of the farm bill, and Chapman's guess is that a conglomeration of several bills will emerge.

Residents in the Coahoma, Sand Springs, Midway areas are asked today to be on the alert for volunteers seeking investments in the Heart Fund. See THE WEEK, Pg. 4-A, Col. 5

Olympic Games, is a 7,373-foot peak five miles southeast of Innsbruck.

Austrian and West German rescue teams launched a search that fanned out across narrow western Austria and the nearby frontier areas. Fog, rain and snow cut visibility.

The plane was a four-engine turboprop Britannia of the Eagle Airlines bearing a crew of eight and 75 passengers from London. The passengers were described as mostly tourists. An airline spokesman said many were winter sports enthusiasts.

RESCUE TEAMS
The U.S. Air Force said two Air Force Rescuemaster planes carrying parachutists and rescue teams had been sent from Prestwick Airport in Scotland to join the search.

The silver gray plane was due to land at Innsbruck Airport, in a valley cupped by mountains, at 3 p.m. — 9 a.m. EST. But low clouds and fog intervened. The pilot evidently circled a while at 10,000 feet—safely above the mountain tops.

Its estimate of the flight radius was based on the distance the plane, which cruised at about 330 miles an hour, could cover in the few minutes of silence.

All reports said the plane's fuel reserves would have been exhausted by nightfall.

Officials said it must have crashed against one of the towering mountain tops of the Alps.

Birth Brings A Distant Heir To British Throne

LONDON (AP) — Princess Alexandra, 27, a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, became the mother Saturday of a son who will be for a short time, 13th in line for the British throne. His birth begins a veritable royal population explosion which is due to continue at least until early summer.

Like his businessman-father, Angus Ogilvy, the child will be a commoner—unless and until his father accepts a peerage.

The infant, so far unnamed, is the first child ever born in the British royal family on Leap Year Day. He will thus have a birthday only once in four years.

Ogilvy, 35, younger son of the Earl and Countess of Airlie, is believed to be under some royal pressure to accept a title—probably an earldom. The youngster would then become a viscount.

The happy event in a hatched house lodge, home of the princess and Ogilvy in suburban Richmond Park, was the first of a cycle of royal births:

Queen Elizabeth expects her fourth child in March. Her sister, Princess Margaret, awaits her second child in April. The Duchess of Kent, who is married to Princess Alexandra's brother, expects in May.

Alexandra's father, the Duke of Kent, was killed in a plane crash during World War II. He was a brother of King George VI. Princess Marina, Alexandra's mother, was present at the arrival of her grandson.

Negro Woman Gets Rights Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made his first major appointment Saturday in his campaign to give women top posts in government. He picked Mrs. Frankie Freeman, Negro woman lawyer from St. Louis, as a member of the Civil Rights Commission.

He used the spotlight of his first televised news conference to announce the appointment of this "distinguished Missouri lawyer."

Mrs. Freeman, 47, will fill one of two vacancies on the commission and is the first woman named to the six-member group since it was authorized by Congress in 1957.

Traffic Deaths At Record High

CHICAGO (AP) — A total of 3,250 persons died in traffic accidents in the United States last month — an all-time record for January, the National Safety Council reported Saturday.

The previous January high was 3,159 set in 1937, the council reported.

Anti-U. S. Rioting By Greek Students

Caused By Cyprus Issue

Women To The Firing Line

The first Greek Cypriot women members of a special Cyprus police force are instructed in use of firearms at Nicosia. A special training camp was set up after President Arch-

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greek students surged through Athens Saturday and clashed with police in five hours of demonstrations against Britain and the United States on the explosive Cyprus issue.

The demonstrations—at times riotous as youths shouted "Bravo Russia" in front of the U.S. Embassy—unfolded against a backdrop of growing diplomatic toughness on the part of this North Atlantic Treaty Organization nation.

FORCES ALERT
Greece's armed forces were on the alert, and in a meeting with U.S. Ambassador Henry Labouisse during the day Prime Minister George Papandreu lodged an oral protest against America's stand in the United Nations on the Cyprus question.

Students by the thousands marched through downtown streets to the British and American embassies. A few black-robed Orthodox priests joined the students.

Fighting flared between demonstrators and police in front of the U.S. Embassy building. Students, estimated to number 4,000 shook fists and shouted: "America keep your hands off Cyprus," "American murderers," "Yankees back to Texas" and "Bravo Russia."

NO INJURIES
Clashes broke out when a group of students tried to rush the cordon of Greek police and break through to the embassy grounds. There was no report of serious injuries.

The students hurled paper-red fezzes—a symbol of Turkey—on the embassy grounds and waved big cartoon drawings showing President Johnson wearing a fez. Demonstrators clambered into olive trees and festooned the branches with fezzes and anti-Johnson cartoons.

Twice during the day screaming crowds of demonstrators marched on the shuttered British Embassy and left fezzes on the grounds in signs of protest. There were similar, though more peaceful, demonstrations during the day in Famagusta, Cyprus.

Light Planes Coming Back Into Webb Training Plan

Light airplane flying training is coming back into the Air Training Command pilot training program.

It is part of a plan to meet demands for an increased pilot production rate without increasing the number of training bases.

Experience has shown that fewer pilot trainees are cut out of the program if they have had some previous flying training.

ATC figures showed that ROTC students who had a flight orientation program had a better chance of success in jet training than those who had none.

A flight indoctrination program for pilot trainees will be conducted by civilian contractors using a commercial light airplane at Webb AFB and the other seven ATC undergraduate pilot training bases. The program will be initiated in fiscal year 1966 to meet the USAF new annual pilot goal of 2,700 jet pilots in fiscal year 1967.

Headquarters USAF has approved a higher pilot production rate with firm word that there will be no additions to the present eight undergraduate pilot training bases. ATC officials are currently developing plans and details for the revised pilot program aimed at meeting the increased pilot need with minimum cost increase.

ATC officials say the new program will be 52 weeks in length instead of the present 55 weeks. The total flying hours for each student will be reduced from 262 to 240 with 30 hours of this devoted to light plane training. Of the 210 hours of jet flight training, 90 hours will be in the T-37 and 120 hours in the T-38.

A test program is being conducted at Laughlin AFB to determine the best means of maximizing training from each hour available. This program, 42 weeks in length, employs improved flight time utilization techniques.

Grady Passes School Bonds

LENORAH — Patrons of the Grady School District Saturday approved a proposal for a new classroom, a combination library-study hall, storage space and general remodeling of other facilities in their school plant but turned down a proposal to remodel the school gym, add bleachers and dressing rooms and make other improvements.

The patrons also approved adoption of tax regulations set up by Senate Bill 116.

The vote on the three proposals was not leapfrogged, but informants said there was a heavy turnout of voters for the election. More than 120 votes were polled, it was reported.

The school building improvement program calls for expenditure of $55,000. The proposed gym remodeling, which was rejected, would have cost $45,000.

Illness Forces Glenn To Postpone His Retirement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. postponed Saturday for a month his retirement from the Marine Corps, apparently to avoid the risk of losing his disability benefits.

The astronaut's announcement was made at Grant Hospital in Columbus, following consultation with his doctors and advisers in his campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Glenn's retirement to enter politics was to take effect at midnight. However, a mild concussion suffered in a bathroom fall Wednesday has kept him hospitalized with an equilibrium disturbance. He gets dizzy when he moves.

The choice of whether to retire from the Marines immediately or to remain on active duty pending final determination of his condition, was offered Glenn earlier in a telegram from Marine headquarters in Washington.

Glenn said his decision to remain on active duty came when doctors could not assure him that his disability would not be resolved for two or three weeks. However, the doctors' failure to assure Glenn of a quick recovery was not to be taken as evidence of serious complications, the astronaut said.

Marine retirement orders can be effective only on the first of each month.

News Conference In New Setting

Moscow Offers Defense For Death Sentences To Jews

MOSCOW (AP)—In defense of death sentences given Soviet Jews for an economic crime, the Soviet news agency Novosti distributed statements Saturday from persons it identified as other Soviet Jews branding the condemned men riffraff and scum.

In a release prepared especially for foreign newsmen in Moscow, the agency said Jews from various places in the Soviet Union had written in to say the men got what they deserved.

The death sentences were handed down several days ago by a Moscow court in a case involving about two-dozen defendants. Not all of them were sentenced to die.

Novosti said five persons, including two police officers, were condemned while the others received stiff punishment. Informants said previously 10 men were sentenced to die.

HOUSTON (AP)—Robert Sellers, 19, was killed early Saturday when he was thrown more than 30 feet from his sports car into a utility pole.

Larger Ships Proposed For Wheat Haul

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is sending a mission to Russia to discuss with Soviet officials the possibility of using larger U.S. ships to carry wheat to that country.

Official sources said Russian ports now limit the size of American ships which may dock in them.

If any arrangement can be worked out for using larger U.S. ships, it will go far toward eliminating the controversy with waterfront unions. These unions have been insisting that half the Russian wheat shipments be carried in American vessels.

For a time, the unions boycotted the loading of wheat for shipment to Russia, but finally agreed to waive the 50-50 demand on sales for which final licenses have been issued and final shipping arrangements made.

President Johnson pledged in return that the 50-50 rule would be applied strictly in all future sales to Russia.

The delegation, which leaves Sunday, is headed by Clarence Martin Jr., undersecretary of commerce for transportation.

Lodge Schedules Political Rally

A Friday the 13th political rally is slated at John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 133. It was announced by Mrs. Pauline Petty, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Mrs. Petty said the date—Friday, March 13—was selected because of its general interest. She said all candidates for public office will be welcome and arrangements will be made for each office seeker to be introduced and given time to speak.

The time is 7:30 p.m. The general public is invited.

Johnson Sidesteps Issue On Political TV Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson avoided a direct answer today when asked whether he would debate his Republican opponent next fall in front of television cameras.

Johnson, in his first live broadcast news conference, also refused to speculate on who that opponent might be.

A reporter noted that the late President John F. Kennedy had said that he would debate the Republican nominee next fall, and asked if Johnson felt the same way.

"I haven't been nominated yet," Johnson replied. "I think we'll have plenty of time to decide that after the convention. I think we'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

Estes Figure Is Victim Of Gas Poison

AMARILLO (AP)—Harold Orr, once a top business associate of bankrupt Billie Sol Estes, died Friday of carbon monoxide poisoning, an autopsy disclosed Saturday.

Justice of Peace Cliff Roberts set a coroner's inquest for Wednesday.

A daughter found the body of Orr, 33, who was to have started serving a federal prison term for a conviction stemming from the Estes case.

Diane Orr, 12, found her father dead in the family garage, seated in a car with its motor running.

Orr was president of the Superior Manufacturing Co., which made fertilizer tanks Estes used in his financial dealings. Witnesses at Orr's trial said Estes obtained many mortgages on tanks that never existed.

Two other former officials of Superior are to leave Sunday to serve their terms. They are Coleman McSpadden and Reul Orr.

Estes is appealing federal and state convictions for fraud.

First Tenants For Costly Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first tenants will join the construction workers in the new Rayburn House Office Building next week.

But the 15 or 20 office workers moving in starting next week will be far removed from all such luxury. They're being tucked into six windowless cubicles 12 by 20 feet, made by on the ground floor of the 10-story building.

They'll need maps to pick their way through the maze of corridors and stairways leading from the only entrance now open in the block-square building. And the girls among them may want hazardous duty pay when they learn about the rats.

On an inspection trip to his new quarters Friday a congressional employe was startled to see a black, foot-long rat zig-zagging down the corridor a few feet ahead of him.

A 16-foot sewer runs through the building between the first and second underground garage levels, which might account for the rats.

One workman believes the rats would like to get out but can't find their way. The building is really two huge U-shaped buildings facing in opposite directions and is easy to get lost in.

Wins Mail Haul By Lucky Draw

It took lottery to decide it but Alfred Medellin is now the man with the contract to haul mail to and from the railway station to the Big Spring Post Office.

Medellin was one of four persons who submitted bids of $3,000 for the job. The $3,000 bids were low in the list of bidders. A. A. Porter, assistant postmaster, said the four men agreed to draw for the contract and Medellin won the draw.

He began his duties Saturday.

Porter said that nearly a score of bids were submitted for the job. There was a wide range in the offers submitted—high bid was $18,000 and second high $7,300 per year. Medellin and his three comrades, with $3,000 each, were at the bottom of the list.

POINT OF EMPHASIS

Today, and each Sunday, the death of Christ is proclaimed by His disciples who meet at His communion table. "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death 'til he come" (1 Cor. 11: 26).

Like it was in Bible times, this should be done each first day of the week (Acts 20:7). This is one way of placing proper emphasis on the death of Christ, by which the atonement was made.

Today, we will place emphasis on the Lord's death again, when we invite believing, penitent sinners to come and be "baptized into his death."

Visit our services today: 9:30, 10:30 and 6. You will appreciate the emphasis that is placed on Christ and His death for sinful man.

By T. H. Terbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 2900 West Highway 85, where you are always welcome. —Adv.

Emzie Woodard First On Docket

Emzie Woodard will be the defendant to go on trial in 118th District Court Monday when Judge Ralph Caton opens a criminal jury docket, it was indicated Saturday.

Woodard was one of three defendants under murder indictments whose cases were all set for Monday. However, the state is preparing primarily to push ahead with Woodard's case rather than with either of the others.

Woodard is accused of the shooting Oct. 25 of Herbert Lee Tillis. Tillis was shot to death in front of a Negro pool hall in the north part of town. The shooting is alleged to have arisen as a result of a dispute over a 25 cent bet on a pool game.

The other murder cases which are set for Monday are against George Ives, accused of shooting Loma Flippen O'Neal to death March 31, 1963, and Abel Ramos, accused of knifing Ray Rena Guitierrez Sept. 14, 1963.

By agreement no special venire will be used for this week's docket although all of the cases set for trial are capital cases.

This will be the second attempt to try Woodard for the Tillis slaying. A few weeks ago the case was docketed for trial but had to be passed when the defense attorney attacked the indictment as faulty. District Attorney Jones asked that the grand jury be recalled and a new indictment was voted against the defendant.

Senior Pilot Instructors Are Recognized At Webb

Some of the "old pros" in the training mission at Webb Air Force Base—instructor pilots in DCT—were honored for outstanding service at a dinner at the base Officers Club Friday night.

The Elks Lodge has become perhaps the first organization to definitely sponsor an entry in the annual Miss Big Spring beauty pageant.

This year's production is being moved up to late April instead of the former traditional July 4 date.

Winner of the local contest will represent Big Spring in the state eliminations for the Miss America contest. The pageant here will be conducted by the Jaycees.

Ribbons Awarded Patrols In First Aid Contest

Twenty-eight Boy Scout patrols representing 12 troops competed Friday night at Runnels Junior High School in the first aid meet of the Lone Star District.

Troop 179, with 499 points out of a possible 500, had the high score for the night. Troop 4 was awarded the most blue ribbons.

Some 30 nurses and specialists in first aid were judges for the meet. There was a judge for each patrol, and the judges alternated judging the various patrols.

The competition included five problems in first aid. The problems were designed to test the knowledge and ingenuity of the Scouts. Some of the problems required make-shift methods for their solution.

The only perfect scores were registered by two Explorer groups—Post 136, sponsored by Webb AFB, and Ship 136, sponsored by Cosden Oil and Chemical Company.

The District's Health and Safety Committee, comprised of Paul Soldan, chairman, F. D. Williams and Fred Beckham, was in charge.

Scoutmasters and sponsors of each troop with the number and type of ribbons won:

Troop 2—Gordon Myrick, First Methodist Church, red ribbon; Troop 3—Bill Lavender, Kiwanis Club, two yellow ribbons; Troop 4—E. G. Garrett, Big Spring Hunting and Fishing Club, three blue, two red and one yellow ribbons; Troop 5—Bill Bradford, First Baptist Church, blue ribbon;

Troop 7—Bert Andries, Downtown Lions Club, three red and two yellow ribbons; Troop 9—Lester Goswick, Wesley Methodist Church, one blue and two red ribbons; Troop 11—L. David Morgan, North Side Methodist Church, red ribbon;

Troop 136—Lee Roy Wright, two red and one yellow ribbons; Troop 179—Cecil Kelley, Kentwood Methodist Church, blue ribbon; Troop 216—Elton Carlisle, Baptist Temple, blue and red ribbon;

Troop 300—Gene Sturdevant, St. Paul Presbyterian Church, yellow ribbon; Troop 301—Harvey Hooser, Police Department, blue and yellow ribbon.

Coahoma Sets Heart Appeal

Volunteers will be making contacts in the Coahoma, Sand Springs and Midway areas this afternoon for the Heart Fund.

Ralph White, chairman of this phase of the annual Heart appeal, said that it was not possible to have the solicitation last Sunday when Big Spring volunteers canvassed this city. However, he has issued a call for workers to meet at 1:30 p.m. today at the Hiway Cafe in Coahoma. Territories will be assigned at this session and the canvass will follow immediately.

"We hope people will be generous in their response," he said, "remembering that the volunteers are making an investment in time and travel expense to make possible contributions to the Heart Fund."

Among those helping are boys in Scout troops No. 8 and No. 36, Sea Scout Rescue unit, Lions Club, Mary Jane Club, and the Coahoma High School Student Council.

Recreation Unit Meets On Monday

Goals may include promotion of spectator sports, support of existing sporting and recreational organizations and activities for young people, such as National Go-Kart race, Intersectastic League meet, National Junior College Track meet, Big Spring Rodeo and 4-H and FFA Junior rodeo, and any other events of this nature which might come up; sponsor sporting events in the various fields, and promote participation throughout West Texas.

Government To Buy Beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has directed the Agriculture Department to buy beef in moves to bolster sagging cattle prices and to placate those demanding legislation to cut down sharply on meat imports.

Pack Reports Many Awards

A host of boys qualified for advancement awards at the Pack Blue and Gold banquet Friday evening in the John H. Lees center at Webb AFB.

In addition, winners were determined in the pinewood derby. Certificates of appreciation went to den mothers Mrs. J. C. Ringener, Mrs. Richard Knott, Mrs. Albert Thompson, Mrs. J. C. Owen, Mrs. Leland Hagen, Mrs. B. H. Shults, and to den chief Randy Hoover.

Winners for best appearing cars in the pinewood derby were Everett Thompson, Bradley Russell, Michael Shults; fastest car, Richard Knott; Larry Ringener, David Puckett; special prize, Garry Truett; den mother's derby, Mrs. Ringener, Mrs. Knott, Mrs. Thompson.

Richard Templeton got his Lions badge; David Puckett, Tommy Jones, Bobby Roton, Jack Taylor, William Pounds, Roy Spivey, Bear badges. David Puckett, Rick Connor, service pins.

Arrow points went to Garry Coleman, Phillip Parmenter, Randy McKinney, Thomas Owen, Virgil Owen, Larry Hamilton, Ronnie Hodges, Garry Truett, Bill Carter, David Hoover, Richard Knott, Everett Thompson, Mike Shields, David Hickley, Bradley Russell, Elmer Guillermo, Edison Guillermo, James Williams, Ronald Carter, David Puckett, Mike Connor. Den 5 won the attendance award; A. J. Hoover, Cubmaster, presided; Rev. H. E. Parmenter gave the invocation; and guests were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Moelling and Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sparks.

The beef will be donated to the government-sponsored school lunch program and to needy persons receiving government surplus food.

If successful in strengthening cattle prices, the government buying program could be expected to result in higher retail prices of beef.

The purchase program was announced Saturday by the Agriculture Department after conferences between the White House and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

The decision was made at a time when some senators—including some influential Democrats—were pressing a beef amendment to the administration's controversial wheat-cotton bill which has run into strong opposition in the Senate.

CURB ON IMPORTS
The amendment would require a much sharper reduction in imports of meat than provided in agreements recently negotiated with Australia, New Zealand and Ireland; major foreign suppliers to this country.

Sponsors of the amendment contend that these agreements do not go far enough in limiting imports which have been blamed by cattle men and lawmakers from cattle states for drastic declines in cattle prices.

The beef imports and the low livestock prices appear likely to be major farm issues in the coming election.

The administration opposes the restrictive beef import legislation, contending the agreements it negotiated provide livestock producers adequate protection against foreign supplies.

Tacking a beef amendment to the wheat-cotton measure could become embarrassing for President Johnson in his foreign policy operations and in forthcoming trade negotiations.

Goliad Champion Match Thursday

Goliad Junior High School has reduced a field of more than 100 would-be spelling champions to 10, and next Thursday will determine from these boys and girls the school champion and alternate, according to Clyde Greer, who is serving as coordinator for the program.

The champion and alternate will be the school entry in the Second Annual Howard County (Herald) Spelling Bee slated for March 21.

An elimination was held last Friday morning in the Goliad cafeteria and the 10 who still are on the list were the best of 39 who had been selected at earlier eliminations.

Greer was assisted by Cornelia Gary and Jobeth Corwin, teachers, in conducting the elimination.

Greer said the final elimination event at 9:45 a.m. Thursday will be open to the public and because it is Texas Public School Week, he urged the young spellers to invite their parents to attend.

The 10 spellers who are still in the field are Billy Clayton, Rebecca Smith, Robert Chavez, Martha Jordan, Dave Nolen, Becky Rogers, Jacque Sevey, Brenda Smith, Calessa Smith and Frances Wilson.

Billy Clayton and Rebecca Smith are the survivors of 18 seventh graders. All of the others are from the eighth grade. Three of the 10 left in the lists are veterans of last year's

Apartments Permit Issued

Plans for constructing a $195,000 five-unit apartment center at 1904 E. 25th seemed well on schedule this past week as a building permit was issued to the Kentwood Apartments, Inc.

In connection with this, the board of appeals and adjustments will meet at 5 p.m. Wednesday at City Hall to consider an appeal to the City Building Code. Al Milch, Kentwood developer, is asking permission to use wood shingles on the apartment buildings. The code allows wooden shingles only on single and two-family residences and utility buildings.

The board, which was organized recently to hear appeals of the building code, is composed of Jack Bellamy, chairman; John Gary, Dick Collier, F. H. Talbot and Don Bailey.

Tentative plans call for the apartment center to have five main apartment buildings, a mechanical building and a swimming pool. At an estimated cost of $195,000, the apartment center is the largest construction job undertaken here this year.

Among other jobs begun since the first is the $35,000 educational building at 804 Eleventh Place for Trinity Baptist Church.

Residential construction is beginning to regain high levels after experiencing a slump during the last quarter of 1963. Several houses ranging to $30,000 are being built on Highland Drive, Apache and elsewhere.

Well Recharge Program Progresses On Schedule

Recharging of a portion of the well field in Martin County is progressing on schedule for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Through Thursday, two months had passed since the experiment in storing lake water nearer Odessa for peak summer demands was started. O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager, said 85 million gallons had been injected into two wells, an average of about a million and a half counting lost time in handling a sand problem in one well. He hopes another 80 million can be stored by April 27.

With the exception of the sand, occasioned probably by a zone being long dewatered, no serious obstacles to the reinjection have yet appeared.

Contract has been awarded to F. C. Wheeler Drilling Company of Stanton to sink three wells to a depth of about 175 feet for recovery purposes. These 14-inch holes will be put at a lower elevation, about a half a mile from the injection wells, in order to intercept and recover any migrating injected water. So far, the water level has been increased only one foot half a mile from the injection wells. At the wells, it has come up 10 feet.

The contract calls for $2,850 for the first well, including 90 feet of bottom screen and 145 feet of casing. Subsequent wells will be $100 less. Additional depth will go at $9.50 per foot.

DEAR ABBY
Another Viewpoint

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school teacher in Mount Vernon, Illinois. I read the following letter from your column aloud to my students, and asked them to write their own answers. I told them they didn't have to sign their names, and gave them five minutes in which to complete the assignment. These students are an average age of 16½. I am sending you their answers. Perhaps you would like to select the one you think is best for publication. Sincerely,

MRS. C. T. RACHELS: Your letter: "DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy and I have been wanting to quit school for over a year, but my parents won't let me. I hate school and I want to get a job. I failed two subjects last term, and know I won't do any better next time. My parents found out I was smoking and they ordered me to stop it. I told them if they wouldn't let me quit school I wasn't going to quit smoking. My Dad made a deal with me: He said if I quit smoking and continued with school, he'd buy me a car I wanted. I said okay. He got me the car and I really have been trying harder at school but he caught me smoking. Well, he took the car away from me and I'm grounded until June. They said if I flunk anything I'll have to go to summer school. How can I get my parents to be more human?"

"MAD": DEAR MRS. RACHELS: So impressed was I with the "answers" of your students that I had difficulty selecting the best. But since I was compelled to select only one, here it is:

"DEAR MAD: I don't believe your parents could be any more 'human'. It is YOU who should get out of space and come back to earth. You probably think you know all the answers, but you will learn as time goes by that your high school education is the most important thing in your life. Listen to your parents and you will find that they have already traveled the long journey that you are just starting, and they know what they are talking about."

DEAR ABBY: There seems to be a campaign against "drop-outs" from high school. It isn't necessary for everybody to get a high school diploma to be a success in life, you know; I quit school after the ninth grade and I did all right. You prob-

Says Baker Probe Is Being Blocked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., charged Saturday that officials high in the government are trying to block the Senate investigation of Bobby Baker.

He asked: "What do people high in government have to hide?"

The senator also accused the Defense Department of evading his demand for an investigation of a reported leak from its confidential files which, he said, was intended to smear Don B. Reynolds, a witness who testified against Baker and tossed the name of President Johnson into the probe.

Scott is a member of the Senate Rules Committee, now investigating how Baker accumulated wealth estimated at more than $2 million while serving as the $19,600-a-year secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

LBJ SILENT
Johnson at his news conference Saturday was asked to assess the possible political impact of the Baker inquiry, and he declined to do so.

Johnson noted the matter still is under investigation and said that after the committee issues its report "we'll have to see what the consequences are."

The committee seeks to establish whether conflict-of-interest deals or other improprieties helped Baker to prosper prior to his resignation last Oct. 7. Baker has refused to answer its questions, invoking the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination.

Scott released a statement accusing high administration officials including "sources within the White House," of trying to smear Reynolds, a Silver Spring, Md., insurance man for giving testimony they didn't like.

OFFICIAL FILES
Scott said they offered newsmen information from official files intended to discredit Reynolds, and some of it was published.

"Government officials," Scott said, "through this plan of information on Mr. Reynolds and through their refusal to investigate the plan, now hold a sword over the heads of any other persons who may in the future be called to testify."

Survivors include the husband, two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Burman, El Paso, and Mrs. J. W. Carter, Weatherford; three brothers, Bill Smith, Burbank, Calif.; Wesley Smith, Cisco; T. A. Smith, Amarillo; three sisters, Mrs. E. J. Brock, Granbury; Mrs. Hubert Hawkins, Fort Worth and Mrs. J. Darnell, Burleson. There are three grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mrs. O. T. Arnold, 67, of 1107 Johnson, will be at 4 p.m. Monday in the 14th and Main Street Church of Christ with Perry Cotham officiating and T. H. Tarbet assisting. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park with Nalley-Pickles Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Arnold, a resident of Big Spring since 1917, died in a local hospital Saturday afternoon after a brief illness.

She was born Jan. 28, 1897, in Hico. She was married May 31, 1917, to O. T. Arnold, in Cisco. They moved to Big Spring shortly after their wedding. She had been a member of the Church of Christ for 43 years and was currently active in the 14th and Main Street church.

She was also a member of the Ladies' Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

Pack 179 had its Blue and Gold banquet Friday evening at Kentwood Methodist Church and used the occasion to induct a new member into the pack.

He was Jackie Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Richards, and was awarded his Bobcat badge. The Rev. Henry Salley, pastor, gave the invocation and spoke as institutional representative. R. L. Cranford, neighborhood commissioner, spoke on the importance of the cubbing program. He also assisted Mark Farmer, Cubmaster, in the induction ceremony.

Dens 1 and 2 presented skits, "Peep Show Revue." The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Wayne Parmenter.

Teen-Agers At Square Dance

Thirty-six teen-agers, all members of the Mates and Dates Square Dance Club, went to Levelland Saturday night to take part in a Mates and Dates Square Dance roundup in the city. The Big Spring group, in a chartered bus, were accompanied by 11 adults.

The Mates and Dates Club has 60 members in all. These are boys and girls interested in the square dance. Meetings are held on the first and third Tuesdays in each month. The boys and girls dance from 7:30 to 9:30 at these meetings.

"This was the first time, it was said, that the club had chartered a bus and taken so large a percentage of its membership to a roundup.

The advisory committee for the Mates and Dates Club includes Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Arvil W. Henry, and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wanner.

Mrs. Sawtelle Due To Leave Hospital Soon.
Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, under treatment in Providence Memorial Hospital, El Paso, for several complications following major hip surgery, is improving nicely, and the prospect is that she may leave the hospital next Friday.

Her son, Gib Sawtelle, who resides in El Paso, said it was hoped she could move to his home for some weeks of recuperation.

He said she is now walking some every day, has overcome troubles with her vision, and latest tests indicate her heart is all right.

Mrs. Sawtelle just this weekend could observe her 25th anniversary as executive director of the local Red Cross chapter.

Over 200 At Banquet For Cub Scout Awards
Cub Pack 46 held its annual Blue and Gold Banquet Thursday evening at the John H. Lees Service Club, Webb AFB with 235 cubs and members of their families in attendance.

Chaplain J. R. Plummer, gave the invocation. Cubs prepared decorations for tables for the seven dens. Capt. Marion R. Tibbets and Margaret J. Wyatt judged the best decorated tables.

Following the banquet Cub Scouts awards were received by the Cubs. Two were graduated from the Webelos den to Boy Scout Troop 146.

Guest speaker was Charles W. Head Jr., an Eagle Scout in Explorer Troop 146 at Webb. He spoke to the pack on his 10 years of scouting and how his experience in Cub Scouting had prepared him for Boy Scouts.

The pack skit presentation was written by S. Sgt. Gene Roose. Mrs. Nancy Kelmig, den 1 mother, narrated, while Mrs. Jane Cooley and her den Cub Scouts that a trusting den mother endures weekly.

Barry Wins Endorsement In 2 States

By LARRY OSIUS
Associated Press Writer
Candidates for the Republican presidential nomination roamed the nation Saturday while the likely Democratic nominee, President Johnson, stayed in Washington and said he hasn't even speculated about running for president.

It was a good day for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who bagged the endorsement of North Carolina and Oklahoma Republican conventions in his bid for the nomination at next July's Republican National Convention.

One of Goldwater's announced foes, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, was busy campaigning in New Hampshire. Another, former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen, announced he would enter the big California primary June 2.

NOT NOMINATED
Reporters tried to get some political comment from Johnson at his news conference.

Would he debate the Republican nominee on television this fall?

"I haven't been nominated yet," said the President. If the President was noncommittal about Nixon, the former vice president wasn't. He was quoted in a Saturday Evening Post article as saying Johnson "is weak in devotion to principle... tricky."

"Nobody really can say where Johnson stands because he has been against civil rights as a senator and for civil rights as President," the article further quoted Nixon as saying. "He was for heavy spending as a New Deal congressman and now he's against heavy spending."

NORTH CAROLINA
Goldwater attended the North Carolina GOP Convention which chose the last of the state's 26 national convention delegates and, after a brisk floor fight, endorsed the senator for president. All 26 told The Associated Press they will support Goldwater, at least on early ballots.

A Republican resurgence is evident in the South, Goldwater told the convention, but "it has nothing to do with racism, it has to do with economic sanity and political sanity."

As expected, the Oklahoma GOP Convention pledged its 22 delegates to Goldwater until he wins the nomination or releases them.

Girls Group Will Have Candy Sale
The Girl Guards of the Salvation Army will conduct a local candy sale beginning Monday, according to Capt. and Mrs. William Thomas, in charge of the local Salvation Army unit.

The boxes of assorted chocolates and mint sticks will be sold for $1 from house-to-house and also in various business establishments.

The money raised on the project will go toward buying uniforms for the Girl Guards. Any profits from the sale will be used for troop equipment and trip expenses.

An outpost on the south of the one-well Hutto field was completed when U.S. Smelting No. 9-1 Hutto Development pumped 120 barrels of 39 gravity oil on potential test. This could lead to a substantial amount of other drilling in the area.

High School Student Council members are making contacts with various organizations, seeking assistance of underwriters in order to finance a student exchange program. If the council can lay a minimum of $700 on the line, by May 1, a foreign student may be expected here this autumn. The object is not to propagandize a student but to let him or her see personally what life in Fort Worth, and that will be our loss.

Col. Jack H. Crawford took his retirement from the Air Force on Saturday. He plans to live in Fort Worth, and that will be our loss.

Nine Children In Family Perish As Home Burns

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Nine members of a family, all children, perished early Saturday in a fire that swept their three-story home near the city's downtown section.

lost their lives. The ninth victim was the Sousies' granddaughter, Judy Stone, 2, and Mrs. Napoleon B. Sousie, Judy's mother, Mrs. Peter Stone, told The Associated Press: "My father is taking it the hardest. My mother is just holding back because she doesn't want to hurt him."

"It's not so bad now, because everyone is talking, but when it gets quiet, my father cries, and they both keep to themselves," Mrs. Stone said.

The Sousie children who died were Napoleon Jr., 18; Gloria, 13; Stephen, 12; Joseph, 11; Edward, 10; Linda, 9; Donald, 7, and Boyd, 4.

Another son, Robert, 17, was burned while attempting to rescue his brothers and sisters. He was in fair condition in St. Mary's Hospital with burns on his arms and hands.

Sousie, 43, his wife and four of their children were treated at St. Mary's for shock and smoke inhalation. Sousie also had minor burns on his hands. Treated were Donna, 15; Lisa, 3; Barbara, 2, and Dean, 3 months. Martha LeMay, 15, a friend of the family who was staying overnight, also was treated at the hospital.

The other Sousie children were not at home.

"Nine of them. It's unbelievable," Troy Fire Chief William J. Smith said, as he told of finding the bodies of the children huddled under beds and near doors on the second floor. Bedrooms are on the first and second floors. The third floor is unoccupied during the winter months.

"There was no way out for the children," Smith said. "The beds were propped against the door leading to the back stairs that could have got them outside. We had no way of getting to them. We couldn't. The middle floor was a mass of flames."

THE WEEK

Good response in these parts is essential to meeting the county chapter's minimum goal.

Our fire credit will go down five per cent come April 1, the state fire insurance commission announced last week. To think just a few years ago we had it up to 25 per cent, now our credit is all but gone. So don't think these big fires come free; premium payers foot the bill.

The State Parks regulations were released last week, detailing what can and can't be done. A rather formidable list, too. One other announcement of special interest was to the effect the park will be open until 10 p.m. starting March 29.

Politics shows signs of picking up. Gordon McLendon, candidate for the Democratic nomination as U.S. Senator was here last week. Robert Morris, seeking the GOP nomination for senator, makes a return visit this week. Meantime, local candidates are stepping up their tempo. The first rally of the season was held during the past week at Gay Hill.

An outpost on the south of the one-well Hutto field was completed when U.S. Smelting No. 9-1 Hutto Development pumped 120 barrels of 39 gravity oil on potential test. This could lead to a substantial amount of other drilling in the area.

High School Student Council members are making contacts with various organizations, seeking assistance of underwriters in order to finance a student exchange program. If the council can lay a minimum of $700 on the line, by May 1, a foreign student may be expected here this autumn. The object is not to propagandize a student but to let him or her see personally what life in Fort Worth, and that will be our loss.

Col. Jack H. Crawford took his retirement from the Air Force on Saturday. He plans to live in Fort Worth, and that will be our loss.

Two and a half years after he admittedly shot Arthur DeKraai, a hitchhiker, behind the ear just west of here, John Edwin Myers was sentenced to death last week in Illinois for another murder. He drew the death sentence in Texas, but the case was reversed.

Rain is forecast Sunday to extend along northern and mid-Pacific coast while snow is expected in northern Rockies. Rain also will extend from southern plains into lower Mississippi valley. Warmer temperatures what America is like. The Big Spring School Board, with two places open, had gone without candidates until the latter part of the week. Then Jimmy E. Felts, who was appointed to the board, field, followed Friday by Jack Haralson.

This is Texas Public School Week. For the most part, schools will be operating under normal patterns. And for visits this is just exactly as it should be for you to get a fair idea of what takes place day by day. This won't give the complete picture, but it could help revise some of our attitudes.

Kathy Seddon, the only girl among six contestants, captured first place in the American Legion oratorical contest last week. A standing joke is that women are adept at talking, but that doesn't necessarily mean oratory. For Kathy it does.

The announcement is made today that small planes are coming back into the Air Force training program. Within another year or so, a contract program will be set up here to put reporting pilot trainees at Webb into something similar to a Cub for a few weeks of flight orientation. The reason is simple. They will be more likely to succeed in jet flying training.

Krazy Daze Shoppers Find Fabulous Bargains

At least eight sharp-eyed shoppers had cashed in Saturday in Big Spring Krazy Daze shopping event.

Eight had matched numbers on their copies of the Big Spring Daily Herald with the numbers displayed in the windows of participating merchants.

As a result, they obtained fabulous bargains which they will be talking about for years to come.

A typical example was that of Mrs. James Harris, 407 W. 9th. She had the number which matched that shown by the Stereo Shop and walked home with a $39.95 AM-FM radio receiver for 29 cents. George Legg, 3226 Auburn, bought a $19.95 toaster at Wacker's for 22 cents. Mrs. J. L. Seabourne, address not reported, bought a $29.95 Westinghouse Mixer for 98 cents from Firestone Stores.

Wilbur R. Pope, 1502 Kentucky Way, has a $39.95 suit he bought at Prager's. His investment was 39 cents.

Mrs. Dean Murray, 1908 Nolan, had the number of Edwards Heights Pharmacy. She picked up $50 worth of Revlon cosmetics for $3.33. Mrs. Benjamin Lopez, address not given, was one of the lucky number holders and scored a good buy at White's.

An out-of-towner, J. H. Woods, Kermit, spent a nickel and got a pair of trousers worth $12.95 from Anthony's.

Weather Forecast

Rain is forecast Sunday to extend along northern and mid-Pacific coast while snow is expected in northern Rockies. Rain also will extend from southern plains into lower Mississippi valley. Warmer temperatures will be widespread over eastern half of U.S. Colder readings are in store for northern Plains into the Lakes region. Little change in temperature will be noted over remaining parts of the nation. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

AT RUBY TRIAL

Psychiatrists In Court

By ROBERT E. FORD
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The men who probably will influence the Jack Ruby murder trial are psychiatrists and a psychologist. They can be jurors more than any other witnesses began gathering in Dallas this weekend. They are defense psychiatrists and a psychologist. They can be expected to fill the courtroom with talk about fugue state, psychomotor epilepsy, paresis and other such terms. Why all this? Melvin M. Belli, chief defense lawyer for Ruby, says he will plead the former strip-tease club operator innocent because of temporary insanity.

Ruby darted from a crowd Nov. 24 and killed Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy. Belli will have ready for the witness stand experts on the mind who already have testified that Ruby was in a fugue state—that he did not know what he was doing. The state of mind is similar to amnesia.

Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade has said he does not agree with the defense experts. And in the long pretrial maneuverings he did not have to place any medical witnesses on the stand to counter their claims.

Wade did call homicide Capt. Will Fritz and officer James R. Leavelle, who testified that Ruby had appeared calm when he shot Oswald in the basement of City Hall during a "tail transfer" and later while being questioned by Fritz. Leavelle was handcuffed to Oswald.

Ruby would go free by Texas law if the jury were to decide that he was temporarily insane when he shot Oswald. There is no provision for demanding treatment for a defendant in this instance. However, Belli says he will make certain that his client receives therapy if he goes free.

Should the jury find Ruby insane when he shot Oswald and insane at the present, he would be sent to Rusk State Hospital which has special facilities for the criminally insane. He could be released any time doctors there considered him mentally well.

Belli says he will claim that Ruby suffered from psychomotor epilepsy. This means that a part of the person's brain has suffered physical damage, causing him to act in unusual ways. Organic damage can come from a blow on the head, hardening of the arteries in the elderly, or a state called general cerebral paresis caused by syphilis. Since a specific cure for syphilis has been found, such organic damage is rare these days.

At a bond hearing for Ruby in January, Dr. Roy Schafer, a psychologist, said Ruby is capable of "impulsive mental explosions" when under "strong emotional stress." Ruby's friends said he was very emotional

Conference On Ector Co. Election Case

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, conferred Friday with principals in an Ector County election contest suit dating back to 1962. The Big Spring judge will hear the case when it comes into court. He said Saturday no trial date was set at the conference.

The litigation is between two Ector County candidates who sought the office of county judge. Jack Scurlock, an Odessa business man, is the plaintiff in the case. He alleges irregularities, fraud and illegalities in the election of Odessa County Judge Gerald Fugit.

In the election on Nov. 7, 1962, Fugit won over Scurlock by a margin of only 13 votes. Scurlock has said he intends to push ahead with prosecution of his suit.

Judge Fugit, who has now served 14 months as county judge, said that he has not cashed any of his paychecks pending final settlement of the suit.

Judge Caton said that some details were worked out at the conference he had with the attorneys for the two men but that no final decision was reached on the probable trial date.

Poage To Address State Jaycees

Congressman W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco will be the speaker at the 1964 Texas Jaycees "Outstanding Young Farmer" banquet to be held March 21 in Fredericksburg.

Rep. Poage is vice chairman of the house agriculture committee. He began his political career in 1925 in McLennan County when he was elected to the Texas Legislature. After serving in the Texas House several years, he won a seat in the Texas Senate where he served until he was elected to the U. S. Congress in 1946.

The Outstanding Young Farmer banquet will climax a two-day round of activities which have been planned by the Fredericksburg Jaycees who are hosting the event. Some 28 nominees for the OYF Award will be guests of honor at the banquet. The winning young farmer will be revealed at the banquet. The program includes a tour of LBJ ranch for all registered Jaycees and wives.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Defends Stand Against All Extremist Groups

To the Editor:

Since my recent letter to the editor, certain individuals, as expected, disagreed with me considerably through these columns. I would say only in reply that they should check the record of Mr. Billy James Hargis and they will find my article 100 per cent facts. Further, I would remind them in "The Nation," 9-30-61, when he said, "Yes, people are uninformed and ignorant but this is generally true." Besides I think it is the ignorant people who are going to save this country. This is quite a harsh statement by Hargis about those who keep the dollars rolling in to him.

Someone, ashamed to sign his name, sent me a propaganda pamphlet entitled "The Fact Finder." I have investigated this scurrilous right wing sheet and find it also has its origin with Hargis and "We, the People." It is a little 3 1/2 x 8 1/2 folder alleging our government is loaded with Communists, but as usual, they fail to name a single one. I further find this propaganda sheet sells for $6.00 a year, another money maker for the right wing. Whoever sent this to me could better serve America by donating that amount to the YMCA or the Boy Scouts.

I wonder if these right wingers locally are aware of the recent court case in the eastern part of the state of Washington where some of their underhanded propaganda was used in a recent election. Allegations were made that candidate John Goldmark was affiliated with Communist front organizations; namely, the "American Civil Liberties Union," of which Goldmark was a board member. Several of Hargis' associates through the John Birch Society were fined $40,000. These character assassins were successful in defeating Goldmark even though later were found to have been guilty of libel.

This is the danger of these right wing groups. They employ strictly Communist tactics in attacking those who disagree and labeling them Communists while the FBI reports that at present there are only about 9,000 Communists in the entire U.S.A. while there are over 3,000 radical right wing organizations with a membership of over four million. If one would but study and compare the tactics of Hitler and Nazism he would find an exact parallel with that of the numerous right wing organizations in these United States. Hitler came to power by creating fear among his people of the Communist conspiracy by generating hate towards the Jew, the Negro and "the Liberal" by taking the position that those who followed his line were the only great and super patriots of the time.

Hitler wrote a few hate mongering books and numerous articles of hate, just as the John Birchers and other right wingers are doing. In 1930 Hitler got the support of industrialists who gave him money and use of the news media; he thus became the second most powerful man in Germany and Hindenburg had to make him Prime Minister to form a coalition government.

Some industrialists in America have already embraced some of these extreme right wingers. The history of Germany and Nazism under Hitler is repeating itself here. Think it over. It is time all Americans unite against all these extremists, left and right, before it is too late. To me the Nazis, Fascists and Communists are equally destructive to the American way of life.

Sincerely yours,
D. A. BRAZEL

To the Editor:

The statements of Mr. Gordon McLendon, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator, in San Angelo on February 27, 1964, provided a real service to all the people of Texas by describing very clearly the political philosophy of Ralph Yarborough.

He described Mr. Yarborough's ideas "as dangerous as a shark in a bathtub," and that "his principles of Fabian Socialism fit me like socks on a rooster." Perhaps not previously has Mr. Yarborough been described so definitely as a Socialist in West Texas. There are probably only a few more people than roosters wearing socks in West Texas who actually believe in socialism of any kind, from Hitler's Nazi party on down.

Mr. McLendon has done all of Texas a needed favor by aptly describing the political philosophy of "Smiling Ralph" as he calls him. Mr. McLendon states also that the old "Scotchman" would get rid of Yarborough May 2, 1964.

Five Quintets Land Boys On All 2-4A

Five boys from five different teams. That's the makeup of the 1964 All-District 2-AAAA basketball team, selected in a joint poll of coaches and sports writers in member cities.

Permian club lacked only one vote of being a unanimous selection and that voter placed him on the second team.

Only one point back of those two was Doug Russell of Midland High, who finished with 19. In all, 20 players in the league received support in the balloting, including Big Spring's Ronnie Banks.

Other members of the second unit, in addition to Drones and West, were Earl Barnes, Midland High; Ronnie Henson, San Angelo; Mike Frizzell, Lee High; and Jackie Mercer, Permian.

The balloting was relatively close but Jack Crawley of Odessa Permian has been judged Coach of the Year in District 2-AAAA basketball.

Odessa Nips Broncs, 57-53

ODESSA — The Odessa Wranglers mounted as much as a 19 point lead in the final five minutes of action Friday night and then had to fight to hold on as they edged past the New Mexico Military Institute Bronchos, 57-53.

Buddy Othick and Chic Keifer each scored 13 points for the winners while Sam Kahoiwai led New Mexico with 15.

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Bobcats will again play six home football games in 1964, following a pattern they drew up last year.

Beaumont South Park returns for the second season in a row to open the home Bobcat season Sept. 11, then comes Corpus Christi Ray, back on the schedule after a year's lapse, on Sept. 18. Dallas J. F. Kimball and the Bobcats will get together here for the first time in history Sept. 25.

After the usual open date Oct. 2, the Bobcats open conference play Oct. 9 in Odessa, meeting Permian.

San Angelo is a three-time defending champion of 2-4A. All games will start at 8 p.m.

Angelo Edges South Plains

LEVELLAND — The San Angelo College Rams stretched their season win streak to 17 in a row Friday night against the South Plains Texans but had to fight all the way as they squeaked past 85-84 in an overtime contest.

The Texans were down 85-83 with one second to play and Max Swinburne of South Plains at the line with a 1-and-1 situation. He hit the first shot but intentionally missed the second. Teammate Charles Turbough got the rebound but was short on what would have been the winning basket.

Charles Morton and Charles Spieker finished the game with 23 and 22 points respectively for the Rams while Swinburne had 30 for South Plains.

Wild Life Is Increasing, Gets Bolder

By JACK KEEVER Associated Press Writer Wolves are increasing and becoming bolder. Gary Rogers killed one inside Houston's city limits.

Rogers, 28, and his wife, Carolyn, were hunting along Sims Bayou near, Alameda, when he spotted a wolf stalking through tall grass about 200 yards away. Rogers dropped him with one shot, and watched another one run away. The wolf weighed 40 pounds.

"They seem to be increasing all the time," Rogers said. "I understand there are some real big packs down around Alvin and in the Brazos bottoms around Arcola."

In Travis County, "dogs" owned by Homer Jordan and Ernie Bell of Austin and Calvin Owens of Rockdale killed a 57-pound wolf.

Wild Life Is Increasing, Gets Bolder

A trapper also got two coyotes — the first in several years — on the Tip Van Court Ranch east of Christoval in West Texas.

The Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas have launched a drive to expand its 112-club membership to 150 by mid-year. President Henry LeBlanc Sr. of Port Arthur disclosed the formation of a steering committee to work with the expansion program. Chairman of the committee is T. A. Tombrello. The co-chairman is Herb Klein. Both are of Dallas.

A work order has been issued for a $13,500 new laboratory and office building on the Matador Wildlife Management Area in Cottle County.

For campers preparing to head for the woods this summer, Ed Holder of the Port Arthur News suggests a carefully prepared first aid kit. Holder's personal choice for a kit includes 22 major items, including everything from soap to band-aids to a book on first aid.

Big City Schools Supply All-Stars

HOUSTON (AP) — Ken Spain, a 6-foot-7 junior from Houston, was the top vote collector Saturday as the Texas Sportswriters Association selected the 1964 Class AAAA all-state high school basketball team.

Spain, who averaged 21.8 points per game in regular season, polled 50 out of a possible 70 votes to take the top-ranked spot from Billy Arnold of Fort Worth. Halton. The 6-foot-2 Arnold received 54 votes.

Others on the all-state first team were Farrar Stockton, Dallas Wilson, Bill Voight, Dallas Highland Park, and Larry Miller, San Antonio Lee.

Planning Starts Early For Race

By BERNIE KENNEDY DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Less than an hour after the winning car streaked across the finish line in the Daytona 500 mile stock car race last Sunday, auto engineers and technicians were making plans for next year's event.

Months of work, testing and experimenting—in the laboratory and on the track—go into each owner's preparation for the big race.

Some people have an idea that crews from one auto company spend most of their time watching their opponents' cars in test runs and trying to learn something about them.

In fact, engineers and pit crews are so busy working on their own cars, they don't have time to check other entries and "spy" secrets.

F. J. (Ronnie) Householder, staff engineer in special vehicle planning for the Chrysler Corp., says that any attempts to steal secrets from other cars would be a waste of time anyway.

Householder, who directs engineering operations for the Plymouth entries in these races, pointed out that the men work on the unutilized bodies of the Chrysler cars, and most of the things being done would be useless to those working with frame autos.

The Plymouths, happily for Householder, are the hottest thing on the stock car circuit this year.

In the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing—NASCAR—time trials at the Daytona International Speedway last February 8, Paul Goldsmith maneuvered a 1964 Plymouth around the 2.5 mile oval at an average speed of 174.910 miles per hour.

Goldsmith's 175.029 clocking on his fastest lap was a new record for stock cars on any speedway.

Cass Clay's Wages Carefully Handled

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
LOUISVILLE (AP) — Before he became heavyweight champion, Cassius Clay had 11 financial advisers. Now, he's down to one.

The change was made prior to the title victory over Sonny Liston last Tuesday night. Clay incorporated himself and hired a New Yorker, Edward Jacko, to watch over his money and investments.

"Frankly, we're happy that Cassius has provided himself with legal counsel," said Gordon Davidson, attorney for the syndicate that has guided the 22-year-old boxer to the top of his profession.

The 11 sponsors, all wealthy businessmen, will continue to look after Clay's career but that's all.

"What Cassius does with his money is his business," Davidson explained. "He cannot, however, get out of his agreement that requires us to put aside 15 per cent of his earnings, after taxes, into a trust fund for him."

It now contains about $10,000 tax-free dollars and cannot be touched until Clay reaches 35 or quits the ring permanently.

The new champion, winner of 20 consecutive fights, also has no tax problems. After each bout, Davidson sits down and writes out a check to Uncle Sam.

And a representative from the Internal Revenue Service will be on hand when Clay receives his share of the Liston match.

"We've insisted on that," Davidson said, "so that there will be no misunderstanding, on either side. I've already received a request from Jacko that the money be paid to Cassius Clay Enterprises."

Clay said he will promote "anything from fights to movie people."

The return from the title fight will be estimated $600,000. It will be shared on a 50-50 basis, with the syndicate paying for Clay's training expenses out of its cut.

Next October the syndicate will rewrite the contract so that Clay's earnings will be split on a 60-40 basis in his favor.

"Our agreement runs until 1966," Davidson said. "But at the end of that time, he must give us first refusal on any proposals made to him."

In addition to Davidson, the group is made up of William Faversham Jr.; W. L. Lyons Brown; Pat Calhoun Jr.; Vertner D. Smith; Archibald Foster; Elbert Gary Sutcliffe; James Ross Todd; George W. Norton IV; Robert Worth Bingham; J. D. Stetson Coleman; and William Cutchins.

Each put up $2,900 in 1960 when Clay signed with them for a $10,000 bonus.

"We've regained our initial investment," Davidson said, "and made a very, very modest profit. But not all of us would do it over again. There are some misgivings."

In four years, Clay has grossed approximately $200,000 from boxing, movies, television and record albums.

Originally, Clay and Liston were scheduled to fight in 1963 but Davidson insisted that the title bout be delayed.

"It would have been a bad move tax-wise," Davidson explained. "Cassius earned $85,000 last year and a championship fight would have been eaten up by taxes."

Davidson figures that the new tax bill, stoned into law by President Johnson last week, will mean a $50,000 to $75,000 windfall for Clay.

"As you know the law permits fighters, writers and the like to average their income over certain periods."

It's the trust fund that has been the center of arguments between Clay and the Louisville syndicate.

The syndicate wants to make sure that Clay will not end up a financial derelict, as so many prize fighters have.

But Clay has positive ideas about money.

"He wants to have his money where he can see it," said Davidson. "If he earns it today, he feels he should be paid today. Several times he's asked for it and been turned down."

The trust cannot be touched until Clay reaches 35 or permanently retires from the ring, whichever occurs first. Davidson calculated that early this month the fund contained $10,000 in stocks and bonds — but that was before the impact of the big purse from the Liston fight.

Clay's weakness, in Davidson's view, is automobiles.

"Girls never have been a problem with him," said Davidson. "He's too interested in his career and we feel that he's rejuvenated boxing. But he has nearly $25,000 tied up in his greatest weakness — automobiles."

Davidson said Cassius' parents and brother, Rudy, also a boxer, live in the home he bought here, and one or more of Clay's Cadillacs are at his disposal.

"Cassius is extremely liberal with both family and friends," said Davidson. "He's been most considerate, perhaps to a fault. He even pays part of the expenses of two or three people who move around with him."

Odessa Planning For '64 Relays

ODESSA—Don Carter, sports committee project chairman for the West Texas Relays, today announced that some eight universities, 11 colleges, 30 high schools in 4-A and 3-A divisions, and 12 high schools in 2-A division or under have indicated that they will be attending the 1964 edition of the relays.

The relays, slated for March 13-14 at W. T. Barrett Stadium, will include some of the state's most outstanding high-school and several Olympic hopefuls.

Several outstanding trackmen, such as Bill Miller, '63 grad of McMurry; Colem Ridge-way, Lamar Tech; Jerry Anderson and R. E. Merritt, Texas A&M; Bill Hill, SMU, and many others from over the state will participate in this year's relays.

Again this year there will be a special event for the girls, which will pit the Texas Track Team against the Abilene Track Club.

Tickets for the '64 West Texas Relays are available at the Odessa Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 3623, Federal 2-9111, or at any of the Odessa high schools.

Snyder Tigers Eye First Game With Lubbock

SNYDER — The 1964 Snyder Tigers start their baseball season Tuesday at 4 p.m. in Lubbock, at which time they oppose Lubbock High School at Lowery Field.

The Bengals launch their home season Friday, meeting Lubbock Monterey at 4 p.m. Lubbock High pays a visit to Snyder March 10 while the Tigers visit Big Spring for a game March 13.

Fourteen lettermen are among the players working out with coaches Speedy Moffett and Bob O'Day. Among the veterans back are Jimmy Marcus, third baseman; and Rob Hall, first baseman — pitcher, each of whom have won two numerals.

Other lettermen back include Leslie Brown, pitcher — outfielder; Drew Bullard, second baseman; Kenneth Dower, pitcher; Corky Fox, outfielder; Robert Foree, pitcher; Kenneth Gay, catcher; Rodney Gray, outfielder; Bobby Kay, catcher — third baseman; Jerry Owen, pitcher; Jerry Rose, outfielder; J. Even Champs Have Mammoth Problems

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP)—Major league clubs, including the World Series champion Los Angeles Dodgers and the New York Yankees, have more problems than they care to admit as spring training gets under way on all fronts.

Manager Walter Alton is realistic enough to know that only out-of-this-world pitching enabled the Dodgers not only to win the National League championship but whip the Yankees in four straight Series games. He'd hate to have to depend upon a similar phenomenon.

The Yankees won easily last year despite crippling injuries to Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris. But Yogi Berra, the new manager, knows it took a spectacular team effort to offset the loss of two of the Bronx Bombers' key men. The Yankee bench may not be capable of performing a miracle two years in a row.

Following is a thumbnail analysis of the more acute needs of each of the 20 clubs:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

BALTIMORE: Needs—Improved play at second base and a solid center fielder. A left-handed reliever and better pitching balance. Balance against left-handed pitching.

BOSTON: Needs—a solid first-string catcher and center fielder. A comeback by pitchers Earl Wilson and Gene Conley and sturdier hitting by second baseman Chuck Schilling.

CHICAGO: Needs—the emergence of a take-charge catcher who can hit as well as receive. A first baseman who can avoid injuries.

CLEVELAND: Needs—More power in the outfield, a sounder Woody Held who can play second base regularly and more right-handed hitting.

DETROIT: Needs—More stability at third base, more experience behind the plate and a stronger bullpen.

KANSAS CITY: Needs—A center fielder and second baseman of major league caliber. Deeper pitching, especially in the front line.

LOS ANGELES: Needs—Help at every infield position but shortstop. More power and front-line pitching.

MINNESOTA: Needs—A left-handed reliever pitcher, more left-handed power, return to 1962 form by second baseman Bernie Allen and a stronger bench.

NEW YORK: Needs—A catcher in support of Elston Howard, a bullpen stopper and another right-handed pinch hitter.

PHILADELPHIA: Needs—If Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris stay healthy all year and Whitey Ford continues to ignore his age, forget the above.

PITTSBURGH: Needs—A catcher, second baseman and shortstop who can hit, a third baseman who can field, a right fielder who can run and several pitchers who can throw hard without coming up with sore arms.

ST. LOUIS: Needs—Moose Skowron should provide punch at first base, Chuck Hinton is capable of a better year and Don Lock came fast last year. If Tom Cheney and Dave Stenhouse have recovered from arm operations, the Senators should make a strong effort to vacate the cellar.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO: Needs—A replacement for Ken Hubbs at second base. A catcher and shortstop who can hit.

CINCINNATI: Needs—Comebacks by Frank Robinson, Gordy Coleman and Leo Cardenas as well as pitchers Joey Jay and Bob Purkey. The emergence of a third baseman from a fine rookie crop.

Houston: Needs—More over-all power and defense and more experience behind the plate.

LOS ANGELES: Needs—A fourth starter to go along with Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres. A more solid performer at either second or third, depending upon where Jim Gilliam doesn't play.

MILWAUKEE:

Needs—A younger and more agile shortstop. A line-up that would eliminate the need of rotating first basemen and catchers. Another steady relief pitcher.

NEW YORK:

Needs—A fellow who can catch 100 games, a first baseman who can hit, a third baseman who can field, and outfielders who can run and throw.

PHILADELPHIA:

Needs—A third baseman, a shortstop with a stronger bat and a little more outfield support.

PITTSBURGH:

Needs—More power in the outfield and steadier play in the infield. Also steadier catching.

ST. LOUIS:

Needs—Someone to be just the man Stan Musial was. More power in the outfield and a stronger bench.

SAN FRANCISCO:

Needs—A bullpen leader the way Stu Miller was. More front-line pitching and somebody to offset the loss in power created by the departure of Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A neutral observer who has seen both teams says Decatur Baptist College will beat San Angelo College in the Region V Basketball Tournament at Amarillo coming up this week. . . . He points to the fact that Decatur has more talented tall boys than San Angelo plus the outside gunners to match the Rams. . . . The same fellow says that SAC was using a screen that was suspect against HCJC here the other night, a game San Angelo won by 30 points. . . . Some officials are prone to rule it illegal, others are not. . . . Be that as it may, the betting is even in Decatur that the college will not be moved to Dallas, although officials there have long since gone on record about the migration.

JOE SIBLEY

Advocates are $1.5 million behind in their drive for funds necessary to make the move, according to a reliable source. . . . The college administration and city officials in Decatur are icy in their dealings with one another. . . . The change was supposed to take place next year. . . . Forrest Gregg, the former SMU lineman, stayed retired from professional football exactly nine weeks. . . . He took a job as an offensive coach with the University of Tennessee but quit when Green Bay made him an offer "too good to turn down". . . . Two Houston men, Earl Gilliam and Sy Frazier, are planning a pro fight card in Odessa early in April and may use some of Martin County's Melton McMories' boys on the card. . . . Joe Brown, the former light-weight champion, and Odessa's own Manny Gonzalez, will be matched in the main event. . . . Henry Dominguez will also appear on the show. . . . If the bouts are a financial success, other cards will be arranged by the Houston men. . . . The closed circuit television showings of the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay fight drew disappointing turnouts in Texas for the most part. . . . Dallas attracted a turnout contributing $24,450 at the box office. San Antonio $19,000, Fort Worth $12,000, Lubbock less than $11,000, Odessa $13,192 and Amarillo $6,500. . . . That was about 60 per cent of what was expected overall. . . . The cash customers at Odessa totaled about 3,100. . . . Houston's fan turnout amounted to 46,832 but Austin lured only 1,554 to the video screening. . . . Shreveport fans couldn't have been less interested — only 885 turned out there to see the show. . . . I always did have a lot of respect for the intelligence of people in that area.

Sibley To Help At Springwood High

Joe Sibley, the former Big Spring High School coaching aide and trainer, is now first assistant mentor to John Garrison at the new Springwood High School in Harris County, which I understand formerly was in the Spring Branch system. . . . The school plays its first football games next fall. . . . After leaving here, Sibley coached at Ball High School in Galveston. . . . Sibley has had six coaching jobs since he started coaching at Nederland, Jacksonville, back at Nederland, Big Spring, Galveston Ball and now Springwood. . . . Garrison is the fellow who came out to take part in the first annual Big Spring Golf Open last June. . . . The wedding of sports and television is beginning to involve multi-million dollar deals that amaze the average person. . . . The networks and individual stations will pay out close to $50,000,000 to air college football, pro football and big league baseball alone this year

Odessa High Could Be '64 Favorite

Odessa High will field perhaps the biggest football team in District 2-AAAA next fall and could win it all. . . . The Broncos were very impressive in spring training. . . . Baxter Moore, Big Spring's fine little halfback the past season, probably will wind up at Texas Tech. . . . Janice Rinehart, the former Big Spring runner in an indoor track meet in Long Beach, Calif., recently. . . . Two of Odessa's Permia's better footballers, Francy Tubb and Harmon Smith, are committed to attend Arlington State College. . . . Larry Lawrence, a sports writer for the Big Spring Herald a couple of years ago, was a linebacker and second string quarterback on a service football team in Libya the past season. . . . His coach was Don Usry, the former Cleburne star who later played for the U. S. Military Academy. . . . Usry is now flying F-100's out of Africa. . . . Hugh Rhodes, the Lubbock Christian College track and the golf cartel is just beginning to flex its muscles in dealing with the TV people. . . . The cost could go higher if a fourth network sees its plans jell for air football games from the Canadian pro league. . . . The big mystery here is why isn't pro basketball cutting in on the bonanza. . . . Doyle Edmiston, the Stanton basketball mentor, was a Golden Gloves boxer a few years ago. . . . He missed two chances to fight in the state tournament in Fort Worth because he was involved in basketball at the time. . . . Portland, Ore., is planning to build a dome-covered stadium seating 46,730, built along the lines of the revolutionary plant at Houston. . . . Harold Decatur of Big Spring is a brother to Alex Decatur, the San Angelo College basketball star. . . . Bob Bearden, who led Abilene High to that gosh-awful defeat of Big Spring last fall, is headed for Texas Tech. . . . Although he now weighs only 153 pounds, he is regarded as a great college prospect.

coach, has three men returning from last year's team, which finished sixth in the National Juco meet held here. . . . Ray Patterson, who won the 440 in the Nationals, is one of the Pioneer lettermen still eligible. . . . His best time for the quarter last year was 48.4. . . . Among newcomers on the squad is Mike Harton of Tatum, N. M., who has been clocked in 9.7 in the 100, 21.7 in the 220 and 48.5 in the quarter. . . . He also ran the hurdles at Tatum. . . . Other members of the Lubbock squad include Barry Rushing, Sweetwater sprinter; Rick Taylor, San Benito sprinter; Bobby Nelson, Quanah quarter miler; David Hutton, Turkey pole vaulter; and Sam Hart, Tatum pole vaulter. . . . Crude Oil Production Hitting Record Pace

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Except for one brief period in the 1957 Suez crisis, more crude oil is being produced in the United States than ever before. Production last week averaged 7,705,910 barrels a day. The only time domestic output has ever exceeded this amount was in March, 1957, during the four final weeks of the big push to supply Western Europe with oil during the Suez emergency. The 1957 spurt in domestic production was a temporary result of bombs having closed the Suez Canal and deprived Western Europe of its normal oil supply from the Middle East. Domestic production averaged more than 7,500,000 barrels a day only in the final eight weeks of the emergency. The current level for United States production is a result of gradual but steady growth. Last week's average of 7,705,910 barrels daily marked the 37th consecutive week in which output has exceeded 7,500,000. Domestic producers now are within striking distance of the temporary but all-time high they established the week of March 22, 1957, with a daily average of 7,818,400 barrels. The Suez crisis developed at a time the domestic industry was beginning to feel the effects of a rapidly developing worldwide surplus of crude. Reserve producing capacity made the rapid build up during the emergency relatively easy but the sharp cutbacks after reopening of the canal plunged the industry into a recession of its own. United States output climbed 837,000 barrels a day during the crisis but the rapid series of cutbacks after the emergency exceeded 1,618,000 (m) barrels a day. From the record level of March, 1957, domestic output dropped to a low of 6,220,385 barrels a day in May, 1958. Independent producers had been clamoring for federal controls over oil imports prior to the Suez crisis. The emergency delayed the start of a voluntary control program until July, 1957. Mandatory provisions were added to the program in March, 1959.

Three Area Wells Final Successfully

Three area projects have been successfully completed. Dr. Sam G. Dunn No. 3 Shell-Bird in Garza County pumped five barrels of 34 gravity oil on potential per day with 65 per cent water. The gas-oil ratio was too small to measure on the project which was acidized with 500 gallons. Operator set 4 1/2 inch casing at 3,098 feet and perforated twice between 3,049-3,059. Elevation is 2,395 feet and the total depth is 3,107 feet. The well spots 468 feet from the north and 1,788 feet from the west lines of section 29-8, H&GN survey. Completion was reached in the Duffy Peak (Glorieta) field. Socony Mobil finished No. 75 Mary Foster in the Iatan, East Howard of Mitchell County at a total depth of 2,780 feet. Operator pumped 28 barrels of 30.4 gravity oil per day on potential with 40 per cent water. Gas-oil ratio was 65-1. The project was acidized with 250 gallons and fractured with 45,000 gallons. Operator set 4 1/2 inch casing at 2,780 feet and perforated 11 times between 2,578-2,726 feet. Elevation is 2,234 feet from the ground and the well was plugged back to 2,765 feet. Location is 660 feet from the north and 1,880 feet from the east lines of section 16-29, T&P survey. It is on an 80-acre lease nine miles southwest of Westbrook. In the Spraberry Trend area of Martin County, John L. Cox No. 1 Harrison pumped 222 barrels of 38 gravity oil with eight per cent water on potential per day. Gas-oil ratio was 745-1 on the project which was fractured with 30,000 gallons. Operator set 4 1/2 inch casing at 7,630 feet and perforated between 7,528-82 feet. Total depth is 7,630 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east lines of section 23-35-1n, T&P survey. It is 12 miles northeast of Stanton on a 160-acre lease.

New Projects Are Located

Three locations have been filed with the Railroad Commission in three area counties. Vaughn Petroleum, Inc. of Midland will drill No. 2 L. S. McDowell as a 1/4-mile south offset to the opener and lone producer in the McDowell (San Andres) pool of Glasscock County, 12 miles north of Garden City. The 2,500-foot project is 1,650 feet from the north and west lines of section 31-34-2n, T&P survey. It is on a 200-acre lease. In Mitchell County, M. L. Melton No. 1-B Daniel, will go to 3,000 feet by rotary tool in the Turner-Gregory (Clearfork) field. Spotting seven miles northwest of Westbrook on an 80-acre lease, it locates 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 26-29-1n, T&P survey. Continental Oil Co. will drill No. 1-36 Otta Piethmayer to 8,900 feet in the Ackerly (Dean) field of Dawson County. It spots 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 36-35-4n, T&P survey. It is seven miles northwest of Ackerly on a 240-acre lease.

Rotary Drilling Activities Present Slight Decline

The Friday survey of rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin Empire during the week conducted by the Reed Roller Bit Company showed 211 units, a decrease of one from the 212 reported a week ago. This also was a drop of nine from the 220 listed on the comparable weekly survey in 1963.

Lea County, New Mexico, with a decrease of two from 47 a week ago to 45 Friday was still in first position. Andrews County, with 16, a decrease of two from 18 a week ago, was in second place and Ector and Eddy County, N. M., were tied, each with 15, for third.

Ector County showed a drop of three from 18 a week ago and Eddy County held the figure for the second week.

The rig counts for the past week with the Feb. 21 totals in parenthesis are:

- Andrews 16 (18); BORDEN 1 (2); Coke 1 (1); Cochran 1 (3); Crane 4 (8); Crockett 5 (2); Culbertson 1 (0); DAWSON 9 (6); Ector 15 (18); Eddy 15 (15); Fisher 0 (2); Gaines 8 (8); GARZA 3 (2); Hale 1 (0); HOWARD 2 (1); Kent 2 (1); Kimble 0 (1); Lea 45 (47); Loving 0 (1); MARTIN 0 (1); Midland 1 (1); MITCHELL 3 (3); Nolan 1 (1); Pecos 14 (13); Presidio 1 (1); Reagan 1 (1); Reeves 3 (5); Roosevelt 3 (1); Runnels 5 (6); Schleicher 3 (2); Scurry 3 (3); STERLING 2 (0); Stone-wall 2 (2); Terry 0 (1); Tom Green 1 (2); Upton 5 (4); Ward 10 (8); Winkler 11 (9); Yoakum 11 (9).

Independents Will Discuss Pooling Law

AUSTIN (AP)—A proposed pooling law for oil fields will be discussed at a meeting here March 17 of the executive committee of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO).

Bruce Street, association president, said a subcommittee is working on a draft of a pooling bill.

"Bills heretofore placed before the legislature tended to put the emphasis upon the rights of large tract owners to compulsory pooling of smaller tracts. TIPRO's efforts will clearly be aimed at preserving the interests and reasonable bargaining privilege of small tract owners—assuring them a right to pool when, as will prove common under present court rulings, drilling a well on their own tract would be uneconomic," Street said.

Abilene Man Is President

DENVER — D. L. McDonald, McDonald Well Service Company, Abilene, was elected president of the Association of Oilwell Servicing Contractors (AOSC) at its eighth annual national convention in Denver, Colo., just concluded in the past week.

The convention passed a resolution placing the association members firmly in opposition to proposed legislation calling for payment of overtime up to double time.

Engineers Meet

The American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors will hold a two weeks advance drilling engineering course at Texas A&M University beginning Monday.

Recovery Of Oil Tried From Shale

WASHINGTON (AP)—The promise of commercial production of oil from Western shale deposits justifies an increase in funds for research to turn the promise into reality, Congress was told this week.

The time is ripe for trying an in-ground combustion process for recovery of oil from the shale, Director Marling Ankeny of the Bureau of Mines testified before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee. The process is shown as "in-situ" retorting.

Ankeny asked the subcommittee to approve $1,136,000 for oil shale research. "The enormous energy potential of our vast oil-shale resources has been established and the technical feasibility of converting this potential to some usable form has been indicated," he said.

"We must now determine how this resource can be developed most economically. The study of in-situ retorting will give us information on the recoveries that are possible by this method, and it may well determine the direction in which oil-shale development will proceed."

The mines bureau has given some preliminary thought also to the possibility of "fracturing" the shale with nuclear explosives, an official of the agency said, but said nothing along this line was likely to be attempted for another year.

Negotiations are in progress, the official said, to lease the government's Rifle, Colo., shale laboratory, closed since 1956, to a research foundation to carry on experiments in shale-oil production for oil companies and other organizations wishing to underwrite the research. Several oil companies are interested in leases on public lands containing oil shale. But public lands were withdrawn from such leasing in the 1930s. Ankeny asked also for $20 million in additional borrowing authority for the helium conservation program. He said this is needed to assure that the helium that will be delivered during the next fiscal year by five privately operated extraction plants.

Under the program helium, which has a vital role in defense and space programs, is being stored in the Cliffside Field near Amarillo against future needs.

Texas Gains In Rig Count

West Texas has gained one rig over last week's 93 and occupies a solid third place among the different regions of the state, according to the weekly report of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors.

West Texas is only exceeded by the 125 rigs located in West Central Texas and the 118 rotary rigs on the land in South Texas and the Gulf Coast.

Last year's figures at this date totaled 108 rigs, 14 more than at this date. But there is more action in the area than a month ago, when the count stood at 81.

Texas shows 448 rigs, a weekly gain of 27 over the last figures. The total is still way down from last year's 486 at this time. There are 1,397 rigs located in the United States.

Texas Finals Are Topping 1963 Totals

AUSTIN (AP)—Oil and gas well completions in Texas are ahead of 1963, the Railroad Commission said 148 oil completions during the week brought the year total to 1,542, compared to 1,492. Gas well completions totaled 65 for a year's total of 515, compared to 410.

A total of 126 wells were plugged, 84 of them dry holes. Wildcat gas wells totaled 19, oil seven.

Chevelle 300 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Chevelle balanced performance is best!

Passing, cornering, threading through traffic, sudden stops—Chevelle excels all around! Chevrolet's new surprise package has what it takes to meet any driving challenge: Six or V8 engines, hefty brakes, Full Coil suspension—and a trim size that makes the most of them!

We didn't just cook up a batch of engines for Chevelle and call it performance. You can get performance aplenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8 for starters—and optional at extra cost there's a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, even a new 327-cu.-in. V8! But Chevelle's performance means more.

Size, for instance. Chevelle's a foot shorter than the big cars. And the space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. So it rides like you want a car to ride—comfortably—on a 115-inch wheelbase.

To give you the most out of this engine performance and riding comfort, Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide*, 4-speed manual*, or 3-speed manual transmission.

And knowing it would strike the right note with a lot of different people, we gave Chevelle 11 models—in three series. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options. What's keeping you from a test drive? Certainly not your Chevrolet dealer!

Helping Hands May Point The Way To Happiness

By JO BRIGHT

In an effort to keep pace with the increasing number of crippled children and adults in Big Spring, the Howard County Rehabilitation Center, 402 Edwards Blvd., is attempting to step up its rehabilitation services to take care of a record patient load.

Jim Thompson, director and physical therapist at the center, pointed out that during the past fiscal year, 4,365 treatments were given to 179 different patients.

Thompson attributes the growing numbers of crippled persons to three factors: normal population growth; larger numbers of accident victims, especially those in the home that result in crippling; and medical advances saving victims of formerly fatal crippling diseases.

The center was established by and is affiliated with the local chapter (Howard County) of the Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Chairman of the board is George Zachariah. Mrs. Imogene Price Lloyd serves as director of public relations and Mrs. Rube McNew is chairman of the 1964 Easter Seal Campaign, March 1 to March 29, Easter Sunday.

Citing the annual report of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, of which the Texas Society is affiliated, Thompson said that patients in the more than 1,000 treatment centers of the Easter Seal Society ranged in age from two weeks to 85 years. The largest group under treatment were those with major deformities of bones and joints present at birth or caused by subsequent illnesses or accidents.

Other large groups were those with severe speech defects, cerebral palsy, arthritis, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, poliomyelitis and spina bifida. Among the 19 million severely crippled Americans there are four million so inhibited by their handicaps that they cannot attend school, hold a job, or even undertake the tasks of housekeeping, without rehabilitation treatment.

Here in Big Spring, rehabilitation treatment to the handicapped includes physical therapy and speech therapy.

Thompson stressed that the center's services are for both children and adults. Many people think it is only for children. He said the increase in the number of accidents, the number of aged, and the advances made by medical science that saves lives but leaves them with disabilities, makes it important to serve all ages.

"We serve both acute and chronic disabilities," said Thompson. "Not only do we treat the more severe, long-term disabilities such as cerebral palsy, polio, rheumatoid arthritis, strokes, amputations and multiple sclerosis, but we treat acute short-term disabilities such as sprains, strains, bursitis, tendonitis, post fractures, low back syndromes and cervical syndromes."

The center serves any person referred to it, regardless of race, color or creed. Neither is a person's financial circumstance of importance.

"We provide, at no charge, therapy and services for all those unable to pay," continued Thompson. "However, our facilities are made available to those who are in a position to pay for the services since there is no other place in town where the general public can obtain this type of help."

The only requirement for treatment is a recommendation or prescription from a physician.

Officers serving the center are James Cape, president; Dr. B. Broadrick, vice president;

Rev. Ward Jackson, secretary; and George Thorburn, treasurer.

Funds derived from the Easter Seal Campaign are used by the local chapter of the society to buy personal equipment for patients. This includes crutches, wheelchairs, braces, shoes — and sometimes payment for medical evaluations and corrective surgery for the center's patients. Also, provisions are made for some others who do not receive treatment at the center.

A number of activities are planned during the March fund drive. Mrs. Joe Horton is chairman of coffees; Miss Kandis Long, chairman of canister distribution; Mrs. W. K. Edwards Jr., chairman of the bridge benefit set for March 25; and Mrs. Orbin Daily will direct the Rainbow Girls in conducting "Lilt Day" March 14.

"Citizens Move On Crippling Diseases" is the theme of a door-to-door canvass scheduled March 23 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Spearheading the fund-raising effort will be Ray White, Mrs. Buford Hull and Mrs. Dwight McCann.

Give whatever you can—your helping hand is needed.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Vegetable Coloring Vetoed For Use In Spraying Hair

Dear Heloise:

Do tell me how you spray your hair with vegetable food coloring? I asked my beauty operator about it and he is sure you spend hours doing it. I will bet he is wrong. . . Mrs. John H. Lamming

I love it dearly. It washed out with water. I would hate to see a head of hair that was covered with food coloring. Some of these are quite permanent dyes! Or didn't you know? . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Our problem may seem amusing to you but it is grave to us. We are university students and have spent long, hard months getting our sneakers presentably dirty. Now, the outside of the sneaker is perfect but inside they are too dirty.

Would you know some way to wash the inside while not harming the outside dirt? Honestly, we are serious about this. Your suggestions would be appreciated. . . Girls at KSU

Letters do not have to be signed to appear. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Could you tell me what to do about a cedar chest that has quit smelling like cedar?

We also have a closet which we had cedar lined and it no longer smells like cedar, either. . . Cedar Lost

Dear Heloise:

When I run out of liquid detergent I often make my own by using one part of detergent granules with two parts of warm water (to make a good consistency).

I pour this into my liquid detergent dispensers. Some types of granular detergents dissolve faster than others. . . L. Y.

LEGEND

A style so versatile that it can be dressed up-or-down-adaptable to either traditional or contemporary decor

Here is one of the most sophisticated design groups we've ever seen. It is contemporary, but with a delightfully appealing difference produced by a rich spicing of colonial design elements. Woods are walnut veneers enhanced with a warm, bronze-tone antiqued finish and rubbed to a soft gleam mellow as candlelight. Legend is at home in any room, no matter what the scale, because of the wide selection — over 50 pieces in different sizes and styles.

Legend speaks Early American in today's language. This sophisticated early craftsmanship is clean, contemporary, versatile — at home with any decorative style. Gingham and copper kettles . . . damask and candlelight . . . Legend makes the perfect setting for either. Come look for yourself and see if you don't agree.

MRS. SIDNEY ROBIN CLIFTON

Vows Repeated In Afternoon Rites

Marriage vows were repeated by Miss Alice Kay Foster and Sidney Robin Clifton at mid-afternoon in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Robert F. Polk officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dee Foster Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Clifton of Big Lake.

The wedding party stood before a white arch entwined with huckleberry flanked by arrangements of white stock and chrysanthemums. Altar markers were laced with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, organist, played pre-nuptial selections and the wedding marches. She also accompanied Mrs. Larry Snodgrass who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Because."

Miss Foster was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage. Her formal gown featured a colonial puff skirt of silk organza with lace paneled front. The bodice was highlighted by a torso waistline and scooped neckline. The long fitted sleeves came to a taper over the hands.

The shoulder length veil was held by tiny pearls to a headband. The bridal bouquet, carried atop a white Bible was a cascade of frenched carnations showered with picoted satin.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Joyce Davidson, maid of honor, wore a sheath of embossed blue taffeta with belted peplum. A matching crown band with short veil completed her attire. Her nosegay was of white frenched carnations tied with blue satin streamers.

Larry Patton of Odessa served his cousin as best man. Junior Holland and Dee Roby Gartman, cousins of the bride, were ushers.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a yellow boucle suit with black lizard accessories. Her corsage was taken from the bridal bouquet.

The Fosters will make their home at 630 S. Maple in Pecos where he is employed by the Petty Geophysical Co.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Big Spring High School where she was a member of the Latin Club, the Shorthand Club and was sophomore cheer leader. She had been employed by Corden until August when she moved to Midland and joined the staff of the Midland Reporter-Telegram where she worked until Feb. 20.

RECEPTION

Wedding guests were received at a reception held in Fellowship Hall at the church following the ceremony. The bridal couple and their parents, Miss Davidson and Mr. Patton were in the receiving line.

Miss Katherine Clifton of Big Lake, sister of the groom, registered the guests. The registry was decorated by the bouquet of the bride's maid of honor.

A white lace cloth covered the refreshment table that was centered with the bride's bouquet. At either side were crystal candle holders that held white tapers. The holders were trimmed with white satin ribbon and miniature wedding bells. A white three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a tiny bridal couple.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wayland McDonald, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Mac Donald Applewhite, Gustine; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Snyder, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Phillips, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Allen Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Allen Jr., Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Ables, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schumann, Mr. and Mrs. James Prof-itt, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Teel, Big Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ratliff, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faust, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reed, Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stokes, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. John Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. Bill James, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Marrs, Midland.

Chateau

by Thomasville

Pure luxury... a bedroom from Thomasville's Chateau Collection. As shown, twin swing-out beds share the gentle curves of a spindled-and-caned headboard. Six shaped dresser drawers in mellow pecan draw the eye to two dramatic center doors, richly paneled in subtle chestnut marquetry. (Behind the doors, three trays pull out for easy access.) Piece de resistance: magnificent chest on chest, its top half lavishly inlaid with chestnut. Walnut finish chest and dresser sides reveal low-key panel effect. Canned cherries make an excellent sauce for ham; use some of the sauce for glazing, too.

MARGARET LEIGHTON

Fashion, Foot Wear Part Of Philosophy

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "Margaret, you've remained delightfully unchanged." I overheard a friend say to Miss Leighton on the set of "The Best Man."

"It's durability," she told me. "And that comes from caring for your constitution. Neglect doesn't tempt me. I don't like the price I have to pay for it. If you want to fill your life with accomplishment and meaning, you have to make a realistic estimation of your capacity and rhythm."

"I used to pay much attention to fashion. You have to, if you want to be chic. But it takes so much time going to fashion shows and planning your wardrobe so that it is suitable to your needs and individuality. I made a great many mistakes—costly ones—but I charge them to education. The most disastrous thing is to buy a dress that has a negative effect on your personality."

Miss Leighton mentioned the care one must give in choosing accessories—especially shoes.

"My mother considered good shoes a status symbol, and we always wore the best. Because they were expensive, she was careful that they were well fitted. You are literally in agony with uncomfortable shoes."

"I have avoided those extremely pointed toes. They are harmful and women are going to have to pay for their foolish vanity with all sorts of illnesses —some so remote they will never be able to trace them, but with every nerve in your body ending in your feet, any part of your body can ache."

"When I was growing up, I was very tall, and my mother made me protect my ankles with high shoes—the kind that laced. It probably did some good, because my ankles have never swelled or given me any trouble."

Miss Leighton confessed that she hated being taller than the boys in her class in school.

"But I didn't make the mistake of calling attention to my height by wearing flats in the evening. But I'm reconciled to being tall now. It doesn't bother me in the least."

Making the best of what you have to live with sums up Margaret's philosophy.

"Worrying about something you can't change and don't like is sheer waste, and I hate waste," she said.

A large bottle of French cologne held a conspicuous spot on Miss Leighton's dressing table.

"Perfume can give both pleasure and displeasure, depending on how it is chosen and used. It is far better to wear no scent at all than a cheap one. Let your nose and the compliments of your friends help you decide. Don't be lured by a fancy bottle, a bargain price or a fast-talking salesgirl."

FOOT TROUBLES?

International socialites bought up lots of those tight-fitting, lustrous tortoise shell (look), sports pants designer John Weitz made last spring. Now he has made a double-breasted hip-length jacket of leather with the same shell-like surface.

It's Mockingly Fit For Social Set

As mock turtle soup does not need turtle, the tortoise look of jackets, leather pants and handbags currently in favor does not need tortoises, which ought to please tortoises very much.

Newcomers Announce First Anniversary

March will mark the first anniversary of the newly reorganized Newcomer's Club. From a core of five charter members who met once a month, the organization has grown to a membership of 34 with several activities on the agenda monthly.

The purpose of the group is to provide social contacts for people new to the community. Anyone who has lived in Big Spring for less than one year is eligible to join and may continue with the organization as long as they desire.

Activities include several different bridge groups, a forty-two section and canasta play. An evening meeting is scheduled each month for members and their husbands. The regular general meeting is held on the second Wednesday of each month.

It was through the efforts of Mrs. Earl Ezzell, Mrs. Nan Salyer, Mrs. Joe English, Mrs. L. R. Fortenberry and Mrs. C. E.

Neal that the present organization was begun.

The community had a like organization 15 years ago that was organized by the Junior Woman's Forum, now under the title of Woman's Forum. Mrs. Jack Y. Smith was in charge of the earlier club group.

Cute Kittens

Mrs. R. Lemmons Honored At Party

Mrs. Ronald Lemmons was honored at a pink and blue shower Friday by employees at the Veteran's Administration Hospital. The affair was held in the Flame Room at the Pioneer Natural Gas building.

Hostesses were Mrs. Don Hush, Mrs. Phil Hines, Mrs. R. S. McCullah, Mrs. Elmer Seitzler, Mrs. David Smith and Mrs. Henry West. They all wore corsages of baby ornaments that were presented to the honoree. An arrangement of pink and blue flowers decorated the refreshment table.

Cute kittens are colorful embroidery on tea towels. Hot-iron transfer pattern No. 707 contains seven motifs about 4 by 6 inches. Send for No. 707.

Our Needlework Catalog containing a coupon for a free pattern is 50 cents.

Send 25 cents plus 5 cents postage in coins for this pattern to MARTHA MADISON, care of the Big Spring Herald, Box 1490, New York 1, N. Y. Add 15 cents for first class mail.

Emblems Evaluate

The coed who has a flame in a frat does not wear her heart on her sleeve. She wears his fraternity affiliation emblem on her jeans.

as well as one for each activity. Thus, the sure indication of a Big Woman on Campus is the girl with hardly any jeans showing at all.

REV. AND MRS. R. W. HANSEN AND SHARON

Religious Interests Bind East And West

A common interest in religion brought together a native of New York and a native of Oregon, and the consequence is that Big Spring has a young couple serving the First Christian church in the associate pastorate.

Just over a year ago on Feb. 2, 1963, Ronald William Hansen was ordained in the Chula Vista, Calif., church. In May of this year he will have his bachelor of divinity degree conferred by Texas Christian University.

The couple met in Salem, Ore. when he was doing work in the churches there. He had attended many schools over the country as his father was a career Navy man. The Rev. Mr. Hansen was born in Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 27, 1939 and had gone to schools in New England, the middle West, the South and West Coasts. He graduated from Sweetwater Union High School in San Diego, Calif., then attended Northwest Christian College and University of Oregon in Eugene. He was graduated from NCC in June, 1961.

On June 10, 1961 he and Roberta Lea Shreve were married and 10 days later they arrived in Fort Worth to attend Brite Divinity School. When they drove through Van Horn and saw the mountains they got almost homesick for the mountains of Oregon.

Mrs. Hansen is a native of Salem and graduated from the high school there. She attended Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland before she was married.

The brightest spot in the Hansen home centers about their little five-month-old daughter, Sharon Lea, who was born in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Hansen has a love for animals, having been reared on a small farm. She has trained and sold Shetland ponies and likes to ride horseback. When she takes time out to paint in oils, horses are her favorite subjects.

If the young minister has a favorite sport it is touch football, because, he laughingly says, he has grown too old for the regular type.

One of the local Lions clubs will likely get a new member in March as Mr. Hansen's membership will then be transferred here.

The Hansens are at home at 1317 Sycamore.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Fetes Miss Rogers

COAHOMA (SC)—A shower honoring Miss Linda Rogers was held Thursday evening in the Coahoma High School activity room. She is the bride-elect of Billy Carl Reid.

Thirty guests were received by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. J. L. Rogers, her mother, Mrs. Carl Dale Reid, and the hostesses. They were Mrs. D. S. Phillips, Mrs. Hershell Fowler, Mrs. J. T. Baker, Mrs. L. F. Kinder, Mrs. Clay Bedell, Mrs. Larry Pherigo, Mrs. Henry Wallace, Mrs. R. D. Cramer, Mrs. Fred Adams, Mrs. P. F. Sheedy and Mrs. Donald McKinney.

The bride-elect's chosen colors of lavender and white were used at the two hostess tables

The coffee service table was covered in a white lace cloth over lavender and centered with an orchid. The refreshment table was laid with a lavender cloth with a net overlay and a footed milk glass bowl held an arrangement of white pompon flowers. Angels entwined with lavender ribbon completed the decorations.

The honoree chose a three-piece lavender knit suit for the affair and wore a white pompon corsage.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Melvin Howard of Snyder, Mrs. Ernie Duenzl of Fort Worth, Mrs. Gorman Finley, Mrs. B. K. Edens, Mrs. W. G. Anderson and Mrs. J. C. Edens all of Big Spring.

Lady Golfers Hold Own At Course

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The City Council bowed to ladies' demands and voted to permit them to keep their special tee time at city-owned golf course.

Vice Mayor Bernard Frank said women had had the special times for 13 years, "we can't take it away now."

Webb Windsock

"Spring Hair Styles" through the courtesy of College Park Beauty Salon, is the theme chosen for the March 5 OWC luncheon, hosted by wives of the 3560th Student Squadron. Make your reservations or cancellations, if necessary, before noon March 3 by calling Mrs. G. E. Hartwell, AM 4-7318, or Mrs. D. E. Wilson, AM 4-8102.

Wives of the Medical Group met earlier last month at the home of Mrs. J. H. Simonton. Cookies, fudge squares, Coke and coffee were served from a table of valentines. Elections were held and the following will hold office: Mrs. Simonton, chairman; Mrs. Dick Friedman, secretary - treasurer; and Mrs. C. R. Lillie and Mrs. R. D. Wolfe, spotters.

A weekend guest in the home of Lt. and Mrs. Gary Heartsill was Mrs. Ella Sutton, widow of the late Lt. Dave Sutton. She arrived in time to enjoy the Saturday performance of the Red Stocking Revue.

Should anyone require access to the OWC supply closet, the key is now in the possession of Mrs. Gary Heartsill at 64 Chantre, rather than the office of the club, as in the past.

The recent three day weekend was enjoyed by Lt. and Mrs. Eric H. Vettergren as they skied at Taos, N. M. Lt. and Mrs. Earl D. Aman also traveled, enjoying a visit with his family in Overton, where the grandparents met their granddaughter, three-month-old Aspen, for the first time. The Amans also visited in Waco with friends. Also traveling to Waco to visit friends was Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles Wahl. All returned to Webb safely.

Frequent visitors on the ski slopes last month were Capt. and Mrs. Conrad Kay. Their most recent trip was to his home in Taos, N. M., where they enjoyed a long weekend on the slopes of the Red River ski area.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Almost 20 years passed between two big mistakes in my life as cook at the Pickle household. The first one took place at our home on Dixie Street the day I chose to prepare ocean cat fish and sauerkraut for lunch... the same lunch. This brought about a mass exodus from the Dixie Street home, lo, those many years ago. I declared I would never be guilty of such a mistake again. But the years have passed and without thinking ahead I committed the same offense Thursday evening... Thank goodness for the evening hour. This time it was white fish casserole and steamed cabbage. I honestly believe this combination of odors is more offensive than the other, although the years may have taken the memory of some of the stench away from the earlier misadventure.

Outside activities mercifully took JP and No. 3 boy out of the house for several hours which gave me time to air and spray the house. Surely I won't be guided to do this to my family a third time.

with the Milams for the past week.

The stay was short but it did grandparents MR. and MRS. JOE BLUM a lot of good. They have recently returned from Montgomery, Ala., where they visited CAPT. and MRS. RALPH BROOKS and their children. CAPT. Brooks is studying at the Staff and Command School and will earn his master's degree in business in June.

The Brookses will then go to Rhamstein, Germany, for three years. This will be their second overseas assignment.

Everyone is happy to have MRS. AUGUST TAUTE back in Big Spring with her family and her husband as the commander at Webb AFB. Although the day was blowy and the sand was everywhere, the ladies, bless 'em, came out for the welcoming tea dressed beautifully and wearing their pretty hats as though the wind was of no consequence.

MRS. W. J. CURRIE wore the prettiest yellow straw broad brimmed sailor... just the color of daffodils. MRS. BENJAMIN YEARGIN'S bonnet colored hat featured a large bow smack front and center and made its wearer one of the very smartly dressed... MRS. CHARLES PENN wore a powder blue shift and topped her ensemble with a sailor hat with a crown of blended pastel print.

MRS. GREGG HOLLEY, the wife of a student pilot, was taking the weather in stride... she's from Pennsylvania, but has been here since July so she has seen all our types of days—sandy, snowy, rainy and even a number of pretty ones. Another student pilot's wife who is fairly new to the base but not to Big Spring is MRS. BILL THOMPSON who was Cookie Speed when she attended H.C.J.C. She was just leaving the tea as our party entered and was attractively dressed in black.

Saturday was a big day for EDDIE WHITAKER, a senior at Texas A&M. He came home for the weekend with his parents, MR. and MRS. SHERMAN WHITAKER, and celebrated his birthday on Feb. 29. He hasn't had the opportunity for many leap year birthday celebrations so his mother baked him a birthday cake.

When I visited briefly with MRS. ARCH RATLIFF of Dallas, she verified the fact that Attorney Bell really does carry a red velvet briefcase. Mrs. Ratliff watches him and his entourage walk from the hotel to the courtroom each morning... and she says it's quite a sight.

DR. and MRS. JOHN DAVIS of Denver, Colo., were to leave today after spending several days with her brother and his wife, CAPT. and MRS. RON KIBLER. Dr. Davis, a chemical engineer with Marathon Research Laboratory, had business in Midland.

MRS. BILL LOCKRIDGE left Friday for her home in Elk City, Okla., after spending four days here with her mother, MRS. TRUETT VINES, who is recuperating from a bout with pneumonia.

MRS. J. Y. ROBB has returned from Pine Bluff, Ark., where she accompanied MRS. E. W. DOZIER, former Herald women's editor who is now employed by the Pine Bluff Commercial. Happily, one of Mrs. Dozier's neighbors is MRS. LAWRENCE PHILLIPS who is a cousin of the NELSON PHILLIPSES of Dallas but who are well known here.

MR. and MRS. DICK MILAM of Midland are the happy parents of a son, Wesley Pearce, who was born Feb. 22. The mother is the former Joyce Horne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boone Horn. MRS. PAULINE PEARCE is the paternal grandmother. Mrs. Horn has been

Date Set

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Holt, 2010 Charles, Pampa, announce the engagement and approaching wedding of their daughter, Barbara Jean, to William McCurdy Engle, son of Mrs. Opal Engle and the late Mr. A. D. Engle, Big Spring. The wedding date has been set for March 28 and will take place in the First Methodist Church in Pampa.

Plans Told

The engagement and approaching wedding of Miss Jeanne Gammel to Lt. David I. Davoren Jr., is being announced by her parents, Maj. and Mrs. H. P. N. Gammel of Webb AFB. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. David I. Davoren Sr., of 169 Congress St., Milford, Mass. The wedding date has been set for 11 a.m. on April 25 at the Webb AFB Chapel.

Bapt. Prayer Week Begins On Monday

The Week of Prayer for Home Missions will have the opening program Monday morning at 9:30 at the College Baptist Church. The theme for the week is "In Freedom's Holy Light." All who are interested are invited to attend.

The East Fourth WMS will present the first program on "We Proclaim Christ." Tuesday the meeting will be held at the Crestview Baptist Church with the Westside WMS leading the program on "We Proclaim Life."

Wednesday night each society will present a program on "We Proclaim Liberty" at the prayer meeting hour in their respective churches. Thursday the meetings will resume at 9:30 at the Stadium Baptist Church with members of the First Baptist WMS bringing the program on "We Proclaim Love."

All societies will meet Friday at the Berea Baptist Church with the Baptist Temple women bringing the program on "We Proclaim Victory."

Hundreds Might Seek Freedom Under Rule Requiring Counsel

By SAM BLACKBURN

There is a way now open for several hundred men and women, presently serving sentences in the Texas prison system for felony convictions, to walk out of their prison cells as free people. There is a way by which many others can win new trials for the offense for which they were convicted.

One such case has already arisen. A man sent to prison nearly 20 years ago from Orange County has been granted a new trial. His is the first of what some attorneys estimate will be a flood of such cases.

Among the thousands of convicts in the Texas penitentiary are several score men and women who have been convicted of felonies in Howard County. Unlike their fellowmen from some counties, it is doubtful if a single Howard County convict will be able to avail himself of this new legal loophole to free himself from prison or win a new trial.

NO COUNSEL

The prisoners for whom this new way to escape their sentences exists are persons who were tried and convicted in a district court and not provided with the advice and benefit of legal counsel. So far as is known all prisoners from Howard County were represented by legal counsel at their trials.

Each year, dozens of defendants are brought before Judge Ralph Caton in 118th District Court, charged with felonies. Some enter guilty pleas, others leave their fate with juries and a few waive jury trial and are tried by the court.

Unlike many other district courts in Texas, no defendant ever goes on trial in 118th District Court unless he is represented by an attorney. Therefore, the legal loophole is plugged for them.

KEY CASE

The prospect of deliverance which now looms for so many convicts in Texas and in many other states stems from a ruling handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court just 11 months ago. This was the case, now famous among attorneys, styled Gideon vs. Wainwright.

In that case, the high tribunal of the United States ruled that any defendant charged with a "serious" crime, such as a felony, must be furnished with a defense lawyer, if he requests one.

The 500 or more Texas prisoners who now have a chance to walk free from the state penitentiary are persons who were not provided with counsel at the time they were tried and convicted.

Judge Caton asks all defendants before him if they have an attorney. If not then they are asked if they have the funds to employ an attorney. If not, the court appoints a local lawyer to help them.

There are a few cases where defendants refused to have an attorney appointed for them—preferring to act as their own lawyers. In these cases, District Attorney Gil Jones points out, the defendant was pointedly asked if he wanted an attorney and was offered legal counsel and warned that he should be represented by legal counsel.

Fifteen states in this nation make no provision by which the courts are ever required to provide a defendant with an attorney in a felony trial.

It is in these states that the Gideon decision has special impact. In Florida, for example, the state from which the Gideon case originated, there were 8,000 prisoners in the state penitentiary at the time the decision was handed down. Of that total, 4,200 had been convicted in trials at which they were not represented by attorneys. As of Dec. 31, 4,119 of these prisoners had filed petitions for writs of habeas corpus under the Gideon ruling. A thousand

Club Exhibitors Leave For Last On-Road Show

Howard County 4-H Club members will leave at 4:30 a.m. Wednesday for San Angelo to compete in their final out-of-town stock show of the season.

Herb Helbig, county agent, said that the county 4-H clubs will be represented by 9 steers and 12 lambs in the show.

The steer judging will be Friday and the lamb show on Thursday at San Angelo, he said.

The nine steers are being entered by Lucy Thornton, Robert Haney, Max Barr, Mark Barr, Dolores Lankford, Terry Soechting, Sharon Harrison, Johnny Middleton and Regina Haney.

Lambs are being entered by Mack Frazier, Gloria Ballou, Cathy Cantrell, Debra Buchanan, (two lambs); Lawrence Long, Johnny Peugh, (two lambs), Charlotte Mann, Mike Alexander, Linda Foster, and Toby Soechting.

The group will be accompanied to San Angelo by Helbig and by Ken Harrod, who began his duties here as assistant county farm agent March 1. Harrod helped with the county exhibits at the recent Houston show. He has been serving as assistant agent in Harris County.

The county exhibitors will return to Big Spring from San Angelo just in time to get ready for the 27th Annual Howard County 4-H and FFA show which opens March 11.

What Is A 'Serious Crime?'

Attorneys here are wondering just what the final legal definition of "serious crime" may be.

Should this encompass misdemeanor offenses, the problem of legal counsel for defendants could become formidable.

In some misdemeanor cases, District Attorney Gil Jones points out, a defendant can be sentenced to as long as two years in the county jail, plus a fine of several hundred dollars. The results, if not the crime, would certainly be serious.

Similarly, a man who needs his automobile for a living would consider a DWI count serious if it means losing his drivers license for six months, or to be committed to the jail. To a poor man, an offense carrying a $100 fine would be serious.

The U. S. Supreme Court, in the Gideon case held that no person could be deprived of legal counsel when charged with a serious offense. So far challenge under this have been continued to felony cases.

Each day scores of misdemeanor cases are brought before the county courts and justices of the peace and city courts of Texas. The defendants have no lawyers. They plead guilty or not guilty and their cases are handled by the judges or the justices.

ONE IN FIFTY

In one case out of 50 in county court or justice court is the defendant represented by counsel. In a majority of the cases, particularly where the defendant pleads guilty, only the formalized words of the complaint are read to the judge. No evidence is offered, no witnesses heard. The defendant is asked if he is guilty or not guilty. He may say he is guilty and the court passes sentence.

Did the U. S. Supreme Court mean that a man in this situation should be provided with counsel if the case against him was "serious?"

There are four instances under Texas law where a defendant must be provided with legal counsel: 1) if he elects to enter a guilty plea; 2) if he has been convicted and seeks to set aside the conviction by proof that he was insane at the time the alleged crime was committed; 3) in all capital (where death penalty is possible) cases; and 4) if he wishes to apply for a suspended sentence.

APPOINTED COUNSEL

When a defendant signs a pauper's oath in which he affirms he has no funds to hire a lawyer, the court must appoint him a lawyer. Members of the Howard County bar put in many hours serving as attorneys under court appointment. They work as though they had been regularly employed. An example is the celebrated trials of John Edwin Myers, accused of killing a hitchhiker here.

A lawyer representing a defendant who enters a guilty plea receives $10 out of the county jury fund. When the case goes before the court or before the jury, the appointed lawyer receives $25 a day in which he serves in court. Competent attorneys earn considerably more than this in private practice, hence the appointment service represents a sacrifice.

PUBLIC DEFENDER?

Two attorneys were named by Judge Ralph Caton a few days ago to represent each of two men charged with armed robbery. This was a capital case, but the fee still was $25 a day for time spent in court only. Recently 11 defendants were brought before the court to enter guilty pleas. One attorney was named to represent all 11 men. He was paid $110 for his services.

Should the "serious crime" definition expand to include misdemeanors, it could lead to the creation of a new county office—that of public defender.

Some states already have such offices. Elected just as the county attorney or the district attorney, the public defender is charged with seeing to it that all persons charged with crime are properly represented by counsel at trials.

The City Budget Looks Good

Not all the good news relating to the taxpayer's pocketbook comes out of Washington.
 Our own city is moving toward adoption of a new budget that will keep operations going smoothly and progressively without any increase in the tax rate. There had been signs a few months ago that demands resulting from municipal growth would necessitate such a raise.
 But City Manager Larry Crow and his department heads "sharpened their pencils," and will be presenting a fiscal schedule that can be followed under present rates.
 The budget hearing has been set for March 24, and before that date, detailed reports will be carried in The Herald. But broadly, the proposed document calls for some $2,787,000 income and $2,449,000 expenditures. This leaves a sound margin of some $337,000.
 The new budget has been accomplished in the face of inevitably higher municipal costs. The fire department alone, by virtue of two new stations coming into existence, must have about $70,000 more money. More funds have to be provided for the park and streets department and the cemetery.

 As the town grows, the press upon municipal costs becomes greater, and people expect such continuing improvements as paving, fire and police protection, water and sewer service and all the rest.
 An offsetting factor, of course, is more taxable value as improvements are made within the city limits. As a matter of fact, City Manager Crow has adopted his proposed budget to the estimates of higher income, and this has been able to take care of higher expenditures.
 Everything cannot be accommodated, of course, and the city manager notes in his report to the City Commission that municipal salaries are in need of upward adjustment. However, a pay and classification study has been authorized, and from this, adequate adjustments may be forthcoming—still under the budget as proposed.
 The city manager's presentation strikes us as being a sound and conservative one. It represents a great deal of study and adaptation on his part, and he is to be commended for it.

Approaches To The Unemployment Problem

WASHINGTON—A neat, apt summation, Gabriel Hauge, president of the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., of New York, called attention to a sign he had seen on a dairy farm in Wisconsin: "Our cows are not contented. They want to do better."
 With that, Hauge brought to a conclusion the American Bankers Association Symposium on Unemployment here. With equal appropriateness, it could have been called Conference on Unemployment. That was the emphasis, not on how well the nation had done, but on how many people had to find jobs. Therefore: Be discontented even in prosperity.

Around The Rim

Fateful Days For Texas

This is an anniversary period for the most fateful days in Texas history.

Monday marks the 128th birthday of the signing of the declaration of independence from Mexico of the Republic of Texas. And while the fathers were gathered at Washington-on-the-Brazos to forge this documentary expression of freedom as Anglo-Americans know it, a valiant little band was barricaded in the Alamo, facing the death throes of a battle that ended just four days afterward, on March 6.

THE 13-DAY siege of the Alamo is one of the historic military operations of the nation's development, and of course the mission is one of the most precious of Texas shrines.

The Alamo had a rich history even before 1836, having been founded as a mission by the Franciscans in 1718. It operated as a convent and hospital for the Indians, and its real name was Mission San Antonio de Valero. It got its popular name because of the nearby grove of cottonwood trees (Spanish for cottonwood is 'alamo').

AS INDIANS disappeared from the country, the mission was abandoned, and in the early 1800's was at times used as a fort.

When the war for Texas independence developed, Texas troops were garrisoned in the village of San Antonio, but when advance units of General Santa Anna's Mexican Army moved across the Rio Grande, the city's defenders moved onto the old compound, made arrangements for a fresh water supply and stored all the food available.

SANTA ANNA had a well-drilled army of perhaps 4,000; in the old fortress were approximately 180.

The names of the defending heroes ring across the years — Travis, Crockett, Bowie, Bonham.

Lt. Col. Wm. B. Travis was in command, and he held hope for many days that help would come. His urgent messages were dispatched across the state, but when no relief appeared, Travis made his last famed appeal, addressed to "Texans and all Americans in the world," and proclaiming that he would "never surrender or retreat."

THIS WAS in the face of Santa Anna's declaration of 'no quarter.' His bombardment went on for days, and various efforts were made to breach the Alamo. The climax came on March 6, when, after a tremendous cannonade, companies of Mexicans with scaling ladders swarmed up over the walls.

The defenders fought where they stood, firing their rifles point blank until ammunition was gone, then using knives and their gun butts as bludgeons. Every Texan fell surrounded by many bodies of attackers.

THE ALAMO tragedy undoubtedly helped inflame Texans to fight to the end, until Santa Anna later met his defeat. It was a chapter in the volumes on valor, and it led to one of the significant military decisions of the western hemisphere, at San Jacinto.

I was in the Alamo just recently, for the first time in many years, to renew associations with this historic place.

IN THIS MODERN age, there is an air of serenity, and the parks around the old mission are quietly beautiful. The hundreds of visitors who pass through the Alamo each day do so in a sort of subdued manner, and not without a feeling of reverence.

And as one reads the plaques, and notes the historic spots, and scans the names of those who fell in gallantry, the heart quickens a bit, in salute to men whose blood added lustre to the words, "I will never surrender or retreat."

Encouraging Report

The report brought back from Washington by Carlton Chapman, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee, is encouraging. On the basis of interviews with Agriculture Department and its Research Service officials, along with those of the Food and Drug Administration, there is ground for hope that pesticides may be released to combat the tobacco bud worm much sooner than previously estimated.

At the same time, a crash program of research on other insects new to this cotton area may be undertaken. Farmers in this area have learned to live with the cotton bollworm, the leaf worm and fleahoppers, because poisons to effect control are within the economics of the cropping pattern.

The tobacco bud worm and the army beetle worm, to name a couple, are relatively new threats, and the two successive years of build up show that this is not a flash-in-the-pan infestation.

If it is humanly possible to close the door before the horse is out, then it makes sense to do that. Perhaps the work of Mr. Chapman and his committee, together with other organizations and multiplied thousands who signed petitions, will induce the department to accelerate its preventative action.

Effects Of Tax Cut Questionable

WASHINGTON—The big news now is that the personal tax cut, amounting to approximately $6 billion this year, is at last a reality. But does this mean that the people will promptly go on a "spending spree" and pay out all that money?

The national economy is so big that it will be a long time before statistics are available telling just what people will have done with their tax cut.
PRESIDENT JOHNSON himself, however, used the word "frugality" not long ago in talking to the nation, and it is just conceivable that the American people may decide to be "frugal" with a good part of the tax cut they will get. The dictionary defines a frugal person as one who is "not wasteful" and who "doesn't spend freely or unnecessarily."

The theory that every time there is a tax cut the taxpayers will immediately spend all of it and will not give any thought to saving is not one that can be applied to everybody.

PRIVATE DEBT, for example, at the moment is the biggest in history. Many people owe money on various items they have bought on the installment plan and some are behind in their payments, either because of unemployment or high medical expenses or other misfortunes.

Much of the money obtained through the tax cut can, therefore, result in payment of debt. There are lots of people, too, who are trying to "save up for a rainy day."

THUS, IT IS NOT certain that all the extra money will actually be spent. Saving is an important characteristic of many citizens. Lots of people will invest their money in savings bonds, or put their funds in savings banks where they can draw interest. Many an individual who has faced hardships in the past and gets some extra money isn't inclined to spend it right away on luxuries.

The best available statistics on past years indicate that spending in the United States usually amounts to somewhere between 92 and 94 per cent of the income, and this is equivalent to about two-thirds of the gross national product.

THERE IS NO WAY of knowing at this time just how much of the money will be used to pay off notes or accumulated bills of the past. Many people are in financial difficulties. In the year ending June 30, 1964, for instance, an estimated 157,000 persons will have filed as bankrupts. This is more than three times the number in 1955, although personal income is the highest on record and is steadily rising. Many families spend all their income and borrow on future income and then get into difficulties if they have high medical expenses or if other emergencies develop.

THE NEWS headlines refer to an $11.5-billion tax cut, but this doesn't happen all in one year, and includes corporations. For the year 1964, the cut in personal taxes amounts to $6.1 billion. In a national economy in which the gross national product is being projected for this year as rising considerably from last year's total of $585 billion, it cannot be anticipated just what the impact of the $6.1 billion will be on the whole business situation. If a large portion of it is saved instead of spent, or if much of it goes for the payment of past indebtedness, there is a question as to just how much stimulus to business will result from the 1964 tax cut.

Billy Graham

One night on television from Los Angeles you said that no man is ready to live until he is prepared to die. I hate the thought of death and what you said doesn't make sense to me. How can any man in his right mind be ready to die?
 F. M.

Death is inevitable. Whether we like it or not life is a procession to the grave. Men have always died and will continue to do so even though the discoveries of medical science and improved living conditions may continue to extend the span of life. This being true every person should face the reality and inevitability of death. The wonderful thing is that God in His infinite mercy and love has made it possible for us to face death with equanimity because we can know in our hearts that Christ has done everything necessary for us. In the 23rd Psalm David faces with perfect peace in his heart the "valley of the shadow of death" because of God's holy presence and comfort. In I Corinthians 15 Paul tells of the assurance with which the Christian can face death, all because our Saviour has overcome the sting of death, sin. In the 14th chapter of the Gospel of John our Lord comforts His disciples with the assurance that He has gone ahead to prepare a place for us.

Preparation for death involves faith in the Lord Jesus Christ who has overcome death and with whom we shall live forever. This preparation requires of us a recognition of our own sinful nature and of Christ's willingness and power to cleanse us from the guilt and penalty of sin. When we have accepted His salvation we are prepared to die. And we are also prepared to live.

Vasectomy An Operation That Is Permanent

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Three years ago my husband had a vasectomy. Since then his personality has changed completely. Should he have had some form of hormone treatment after the operation? Would this cause him to go through a "change of life"?

He hasn't been easy to live with since, whether that is the cause or not.—S.R.

Vasectomy is the severing (or ligating, or tying) of the vas deferens. It is a simple surgical procedure. The duct which carries the male sperm is shut off. The operation is, in short, a method of making a man sterile.

Surgically there isn't much to it, as operations go. Physiologically, it doesn't make any difference. It is completely unlike the "change of life." There is no change in the glandular system of the man. All that happens is that the sperm no longer can create life.

I do not favor sterilization either of a man (by vasectomy) or of a woman (by tying the tubes). Neither operation has any physical effect, except sterilization. It does not cause change of life or sexual capability.

I withhold my sanction because:

1—It is usually a permanent, irrevocable decision. Occasionally it may be possible to undo what has been done, but usually you can't.

2—People change their minds later—when it is too late.

3—The psychological impact is unpredictable. It may make no difference at all to some. But to others, it is impossible to calculate the emotional consequences. The husband of S.R. is the same, physiologically, as before. But deep down in his mind he doesn't really believe it. And it has warped him.

I am, with full deliberation, avoiding the issue of "birth control." That is for individuals to decide as their consciences and beliefs dictate. But I don't think permanent, voluntary, surgical sterilization is wise. If there are regrets, doubts or worries later, they can't be resolved.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it harmful to donate one pint of blood every three months?—F.G.

If you are in good health you can donate blood that often and not be harmed a bit—and every pint of blood WILL help somebody else.

Dear Dr. Molner: My heart has an unusual beat: Sinus arrhythmia. Is this serious? Can it be corrected? I feel fine.—Z.M.

Please reread the last three words of your letter.

"Arrhythmia" means a faulty or unusual rhythm. The "sinus" in this case refers to a part of the heart.

Some irregularities of heart rhythm may be serious. Others may not. "Sinus arrhythmia" is one of these. It eventually disappears.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

will find places. President Kennedy adopted this approach (in part) in proposing the cut in taxes, which, under President Johnson's handling, became law last week. Now comes the test.

IN HIS Economic Report to Congress, President Johnson declared that passage of the tax cut will "provide a greater net stimulus to the economy in 1964—to jobs, production, income and profits—than in any other peacetime year in history." People will spend more and corporations will expand. This will create jobs—jobs for younger people.

Unquestionably, meeting the job needs or hopes of youth is the central core of the unemployment problem. Although total unemployment since 1958 has dropped, joblessness among teenagers—those from 14 through 19—has risen 29 per cent. Nearly 16 per cent of the teenagers in the labor force are out of work as against 6 per cent for all persons (see chart).

THE STRUCTURALISTS would emphasize training. Prepare youngsters for jobs. The aggregate demandists would emphasize job creation. If businessmen need workers badly enough, they'll do the training. Structuralists and demandists finally agreed that the problem was big enough for both approaches. In short, ample room for concerted discontentment.

THE STRUCTURALISTS are specific. They would move or train persons for specific jobs in specific places. The aggregate demandists are pump primers. Their theory: If you create enough holes, then eventually the pegs workers are uneducated and untrained. Maybe the jobs are in the wrong places, California, say, while the workers are in the coal areas of Pennsylvania or West Virginia. Maybe it's because automation is creating a new kind of job while wiping out jobs into which workers previously fitted.

ABOUT A MILLION young men and women enter the labor market every year. Some of these are high school drop outs. Some are not educated to a world in which the computer and the instrumented factory demand great skill and training. They compound the problem. Many are untrained pegs looking for nonexistent holes.

Secretary Wirtz proposed a structural approach to this specific problem—Operation Deepening. The youth of the nation would be expected to study until 18. Technical schools would have to be built and teachers trained. To Secretary Wirtz this is all to the good. It would create jobs for educators, construction workers and architects. Simultaneously it would keep about 2,000,000 persons out of the labor force.

THE STRUCTURALISTS are specific. They would move or train persons for specific jobs in specific places. The aggregate demandists are pump primers. Their theory: If you create enough holes, then eventually the pegs

The Non-Seductive Candidate

WASHINGTON—Love conquers all—but not for Senator Barry Goldwater.

This Republican candidate and his strategists are not asking Cupid, messenger of Venus, to bear their regards to the American people, although this is a time-tested political practice. If they have a mythological messenger, he is Mercury, dispatch runner for Jove and the entire hierarchy of Olympus. A Goldwater for President spokesman says:

"BARRY ISN'T asking anybody to love him—or any foreign nation to love the United States. What he's seeking for himself and for the American people and nation is—respect."

It may be that the Senator's rough-tongued, hard-socking, unflattering and seemingly ill-considered remarks at New Hampshire handshakes are doing him harm. His backers think otherwise. A professional poll, covering 550 interviews in 25 New Hampshire communities, shows that those who've seen and heard Goldwater are much more favorable than those who have merely heard or read about him. The prevalent comments on the campaign are: "He's got a mind of his own, and speaks it. Not just another politician. Doesn't make promises he can't keep. Wants people to stand on their own feet. Wants the country to stand up for its rights."

THE PROOF that the Senator means what he says, the Goldwater camp points out, is in his prepared speeches, delivered from well-considered scripts. They are just as devoid of love-making, just as evocative of self-respect and national toughness as anything he has said in a hurry.

"Now you may think I'm rather hard-hearted—a lot of people do." Goldwater told the Economic Club in New York in January.

IN THE COURSE of that address he defined the "poverty class" in America as a segment of the society "who can't quite back it." Instead of a "war on poverty," which is President Johnson's domestic platform, Goldwater came out for "a frontal attack on Santa Claus."

In his major foreign policy speech to date, made at San Francisco in February, Goldwater formalized his declaration that the U.S.A. should have met the Guantánamo water crisis "by seizing the pumping station!" He took notice of the horrified tremors which had already signalled his expression of this policy in an impromptu statement.

"I AM ADVISED that talk of this (use of force against communism) is not popular. . . I am told that it damages my image and assaults my candidacy. . . Don't rock the boat. . . Bend with the wind. . . I cannot live that way. And I don't think Americans can either."

It's no wonder if the American electorate, which is so accustomed to madrigals and lullabies, is slow to attune itself to the Goldwater bugle notes of reveille and battle. Unlike any other candidate of either party, Goldwater scorns the soft arts of seduction—and I am told there's a reason for this.

HE WANTS to be able to say, as another nation-saver did in our times, that the people were promised nothing except blood, sweat and tears.

One Area Of Poverty

WASHINGTON—If President Johnson had done nothing else in his three months in office than to turn the light of publicity on poverty in America he would in that short time have made a place for himself in history.

Thanks to the President's declaration of unconditional war, we are beginning to look at the invisible poor. What we are seeing is not flattery to America's ego. Indifference and apathy are beginning to give way to concern and a belief that something can be done to end the shame of misery in the midst of plenty.

ALBERT GINGERLY one of the areas of poverty we are asked to look at came up between President Johnson and President Lopez Mateos of Mexico in their talks in California. The braceros are the Mexican laborers—200,000 last year—brought into this country to do the stooping, bending, picking of crops that cannot yet be harvested by machine.

Each year that the law permitting the braceros to enter and work under certain restrictions is up for renewal spokesmen in Congress for America's own farm laborers protest.

WHEN THE bracero question came up in the California talks President Lopez Mateos said that this was a question for the United States to determine. He had the impression that it benefited the American growers and it provided work for Mexicans who might otherwise be unemployed.

His restraint reflected Mexican pride. There is an understandable reluctance to admit that the bracero earnings sent back home are a factor in Mexico's balance of payments. The total may be as high as $75,000,000.

DESPITE INCREASING efforts to safeguard the braceros, incidents come to light showing the hardships and the misery they suffer while being transported from place to place with the shifting harvest season. Last September in a single grade-crossing accident 32 of these imported, farm workers were killed and the remainder of 58 in a makeshift bus were injured, some of them crippled for life. Only the driver escaped.

This caused an outcry over the apparent negligence and indifference contributing to what the National Society Council said was the worst accident of its kind ever to occur in this country.

GALARZA, a Mexican-American who put himself through schools by his own efforts all the way up to a Ph.D. at Columbia University, has long been a fighter for farm labor. His is the background which John Steinbeck made famous in some of his finest novels, "Cannery Row" and "Tortilla Flat." He gave up a comfortable job in Washington to try to organize farm workers in the now-abandoned National Agricultural Workers Union of the AFL-CIO.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

County Port Is Haven For Jets Caught In Sandstorm

Nineteen T-37 jet trainers storm Thursday and had to set down at Webb Air Force Base got down at Howard County Airport, caught off base by the sand. No major difficulty developed in the landings, although one ran off the runway because of a slack brake. All were flown back to the base before 6 p.m.

The trainers were out over the training area, including Seminole, Lamesa and Lake J. B. Thomas, when they were called in. The dust was so thick, the landing at Webb for the 19 was too hazardous. "Pilots thought they had to watch out for prairie dogs in the air," Howard Loyd of Big Spring Aircraft quipped. "They didn't even see a gopher up there, but they sure were glad there was a landing strip which permitted them to set down here. Some of the larger jets, had to go to Midland to set down until the air cleared."

Things were dull around Howard County Airport again during the past week, Loyd said. Flying Club trips were at a minimum, although three cross country flights were made. Webb Aero Club members up were: Cessna 150—Kennard (2), Pagen; Colt—Vettigren; Tri-Pacer—Suell (XC); Mooney—Kennard.

Big Spring Flying Club members used only the Skyhawk during the week. Betty Ray Clifton made a cross country; Caffey (2) then came the 100-hour check; Clayton Bettle (XC), Joe Clark (XC).

Transient aircraft coming in during the week brought Candidate Gordon McLendon Thursday afternoon, and Dr. Cyril J. Rullmann, Austin, with the Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools the Friday before. One other party let down for the dust to settle and then flew on to Hobbs, N.M.

The popular Piper Cub, three of which are in use at Howard County Airport, is to be phased out by the Piper Corporation, and the new Piper Cherokee 140 produced, according to announcement from the factory last week.

The low-winged craft has a cruising speed of 131 miles per hour and a top speed of 141, a gross loaded weight of 1,950 pounds, will carry a useful load of 770 pounds. Behind the seats is a spacious luggage compartment, with tie-downs, allowing about 100 pounds of luggage, along with two 170-pound

SACRED HEART CHURCH

Irish Priest Now Is A Confirmed Texan

A Belfast Irishman, who came to this country in 1937 and has no plans ever to retire to the Emerald Isle to live has assumed his duties as priest of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

He is Father James Delaney, OMI, who has replaced Rev. Patrick Casey as priest of Sacred Heart Church.

When he graduated from the Oblate Seminary and assumed his duties as a priest, he was assigned to the United States. He landed in Eagle Pass on the Rio Grande—a young Irishman with no Spanish and a parish preponderantly Latin-American.

After five years with that church during which time he became a fluent speaker of Spanish, he was shifted to Houston where he served a church for six years. Then came another church just on the outskirts of the Harris County metropolis where he continued for seven years. His assignment to the church at Mission followed eight years ago, and he comes to Big Spring parish from that post.

He conducted mass for the first time Thursday morning—the date that Rev. Casey, here for about five years, left for his new duties in a small community near Edinburgh.

Rev. Delaney is a camera fan and is already planning a trip to the picturesque Big Bend country to do some picture taking.

He has made a number of visits back to Ireland since coming to the United States. He has one brother in Ireland.

UF Annual Meet Set For Monday

Annual meeting of the United Fund will be held Monday at 5 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

Dr. Lee Rogers urged representatives to be present for the nomination and election of a trustee from each organization.

Immediately after election of trustees, the board will go into session to name its officers and consider other business.

land and two brothers in England. He likes to visit the old country, he said, but he has no idea of ever returning to Ireland to stay.

Absentee Vote Date Fixed

Absentee voting opens March 16 for the several school trustee elections to be held April 4. Pauline Petty, county clerk, was busy last weekend assembling ballot boxes for use by the voting places which will be operating for the school election.

Nine ballot boxes will be needed for election activities in the Big Spring area, she said. At the senior high school, voters will ballot for the county trustee at large and for county trustees for Precincts 3 and 4 as well as the trustees for the Big Spring Independent School District.

At Kate Morrison, voting will be carried on for the same officials as those listed for the high school. At the Gay Hill school, balloting will be for the county trustee at large, county trustee for Precinct 4 and for the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of the Howard County Junior College said voting boxes for the election of trustees for the Howard County Junior College will be set up in Forsan High School, Coahoma City Hall, Big Spring High School. Absentee votes will be handled at the office of the county clerk.

R DON'T LET A COLD CATCH YOU!
The very common expression, "I caught a cold," should be stated just the opposite way around — "A cold caught me." For, no one deliberately goes out looking to catch a cold. Rather, they should try to protect themselves from one.
In the month of March the weather is especially changeable. Extra care must be taken to avoid having a cold catch you. At the first signs that you have become a victim of public enemy number one, you should take the necessary steps to prevent it from developing into something serious. Nose drops, aspirin, rest, a cough remedy, etc., can help in the early stages. But if a simple cold starts getting worse or lingers on you should see your physician.
YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Club Names Favorites

By GAIL McDANIEL

Alice Hoelscher and Taylor Etchison were elected Beta Club favorites. Alice and Taylor, both juniors, are charter members of the club.

The club was established this year, with nine members—six girls and three boys. To be eligible for Beta Club membership, a student must have an 85 average beginning with their freshman year. There will be eight students initiated this semester. Members are looking forward to the club's growing larger.

The Future Homemakers of America met in the Home Economics room Friday. The program presented by Sharon Cybert was "Marriage Calls for Preparation." Sharon had a guest panel discuss the program for the chapter. It was educational and interesting.

For those who have not yet bought a ticket for the "Grand Ole Opry", they can still be purchased from any eighth grader. The program will be presented March 13 in the grade school auditorium.

Sands girls played Ropes Tuesday night in a practice basketball game. Friday the girls traveled to Ropes for a return match. Both teams are district winners and are awaiting bi-district play-off. Sands will play the winner of a game between Barstow and Grandfalls. Bi-district games will be played either Monday or Tuesday.

Sheryl Williams and Sara Bledsoe were selected by Coach John Turner to represent Sands in a junior high all star game. Other teams in this district who were represented were Union, Klondike, Gall and Flower Grove. They played an all star team from the south half of the district.

Freshman girls served for a Founders Day Tea given by the P-TA Friday in the homemaking department.

Goliad Finalists

Pictured above are the ten Goliad students who will compete to see who represents Goliad in the Howard County Spelling Bee. They are Billy Clayton, Rebecca Smith, Robert Chavez, Martha Jordan, Dave Nolen, Becky Rogers, Jacque Sevey, Brenda Smith, Calessa Smith and Frances Wilson.

Students Elect Council Officers

By DENISE HEAD

Friday Goliad students selected Student Council officers who will serve during the 1964-65 school year. Thomas Land is president; Martha Jordan, vice president; Robbie Smart, secretary; and Jill Lewis, treasurer. The retiring officers, Richard Cauley, Thomas Land, Linda Cochran and Linda Gray, were honored and thanked for the hard work and successful year the student council has enjoyed in 1963-64.

The Student Council was invited to Snyder to attend a district forum Saturday. About 22 members made the trip and actively participated in the open forum discussions that were conducted to acquaint the delegates with suggested improvements for student councils.

The introduction of tennis to Goliad's extra curricular activities has been of interest to many. Joe Dawes, coach, holds workouts every weekday after school until 5:30. Because of the lack of facilities, practice sessions are held in shifts. The only requirements for participation are that the student have a tennis racket, tennis shoes, and a way to get to practices.

More than 40 pupils came for the first session held Tuesday afternoon. The number is expected to be reduced to about half by next week.

Semi-finals in the Goliad Spelling Bee were held Friday morning. The number of contestants was reduced to the following 10 people: Robert Chavez, Billy Clayton, Martha Jordan, Dave Nolen, Becky Rogers, Brenda Smith, Calessa Smith, Rebecca Smith, Jacque Sevey and Frances Wilson. Thursday will end the Goliad-contest when a winner and an alternate will be selected to compete in the county contest.

Thursday night Goliad's eighth and ninth grade volleyball teams scrimmaged the high school B team in the Goliad gym. The ninth grade team will play Snyder Thursday, March 5, and the eighth grade will play in the Kermit tournament Saturday.

Lee Freese, counselor, attended a counselor's meeting in Austin Saturday. There were secondary advisors from all over the state at this workshop.

Members of the Curtain Club learned about dancing Tuesday from Mrs. Ora Burson. The new club secretary, Russ McEwen, read the minutes, and Karla Wadsworth presented the program.

The National Junior Honor Society members are still talking about the wonderful time they had last weekend at Texas Tech. The girls were lucky enough to tour the new dormitory while some of the boys attended the basketball game between Tech and SMU.

At the monthly meeting of FHA, a program was presented on Civil Defense and ways to educate people on disaster defense. A large number of the members helped with the Heart Fund collection. Plans were made to help with the Easter Seal Drive this month.

Since this is Public School Week, all parents are cordially invited to visit the school. They may sit in on the different classes to see what pupils are studying or just tour the building.

Since there is a District IV teachers meeting in Midland Friday and all public school teachers of this area will attend, pupils of local schools will have a holiday.

James Franciscus Playing It Cool

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — James Franciscus, who seems destined to be the new sensation of the teen-agers, is playing it cool, and with good reason. He has seen what happens to teen-age sensations.

Matter of fact, it happened to him when he was starring in the first season of "Naked City." He chanced to go skating one day in Central Park in New York.

"Some girls recognized me and crowded around for my autograph," he recalled. "It was going all right until the manager told the girls to get off the rink. Then they were worried that they wouldn't get their turn, and they started grabbing at my collar, my tie, etc."

"When the mob scene was over, I was left standing with only my pants and my skates on."

The same clamorous life faces Franciscus as star of "Mr. Novak," a television series with built-in teen-age appeal. He plays a compassionate teacher of English in a high school.

The teen crowd seems to like the series, and Franciscus, too. He gets the message when he goes on locations at local high schools. That's as far as he wants to push his luck.

"I lead a very quiet life."

Permit Suspended

Police Chief Jay Banks was notified Friday by C. B. Arnold, district supervisor, Liquor Control Board, the beer permit issued to Virgil P. Wilson for the Whiteway Drive in 1214 W. 3rd, will be suspended 10 days effective Monday. Arnold stated the suspension is "for permitting intoxicated persons to remain on the licensed premises."

said Franciscus, who seeks no more mob scenes. Franciscus admitted that his wife didn't care much for his long working hours, but she understands the business. The Franciscuses have two young daughters.

After the series had been sold out before shooting began, Franciscus drew the lead in the movie, "Youngblood Hawke." I asked if he had any regrets about taking his second leap in to a series.

"None," he replied. "There still wouldn't be enough work for me in features. Perhaps there will be in two or three years—if Mr. Novak goes that long. I think the chances are pretty good."

BOOK REPORT

Some Passages Arouse Debate

WHEN THE CHEERING STOPPED. By Gene Smith. Morrow, $5.95.

The major part of Smith's book is concerned with the period between the autumn of 1919 and March of 1921, when President Woodrow Wilson was so ill that the executive branch of the government had no guidance at all for 17 months.

For Wilson, an international hero at the end of the war and a dedicated champion of the League of Nations, it was a crucial time, for in the fall of 1919 he had set out on a nationwide tour to win popular support for approval of the League in the U. S. Senate. His second and third attacks of cerebral thrombosis left him half paralyzed, his body a shell, his mind throttled down. He survived as a broken man until 1924, ironically outlasting his successor, Harding.

In contemporary accounts, there were strange mixtures of fact, half-fact and rumor about the President's physical condition. Smith has explored diligently the available sources, to learn what actually occurred. For months in the winter of 1919-20 Wilson's second wife, his physician, Adm. Cary T. Grayson, and his secretary Joseph Tumulty sealed off the stricken President from virtually all governmental contact. There were repeated charges that Mrs. Wilson had become a petticoat ruler of the nation. In Smith's account, she simply fought for her husband's physical survival; but of course by ignoring the President's duties and responsibilities, she had a negative effect on the operation of the executive branch.

Smith points up the question of what might have happened if the stricken, isolated, unrealized and incapacitated President had not clung to his uncompromising refusal to consider the reservations which Sen. Lodge had insisted upon for League ratification. The League might have won. History might have been changed.

The implications for the present day in a President's disability are obvious. In an age of cold war and ballistic missiles, how could a leaderless administration muddle through? In Smith's account there is no tarnish in the idealism of Wilson. He emerges as a man tragically removed from reality at the height of his powers. There are passages in the book that can arouse debate. But the essential message of what might have been, and what should be, shines through clearly. —MILES A. SMITH

Campus Revue Talent Sought

Barry Easthope of Arlington was here Thursday to encourage applicants for a place in the Six Flags Campus Revue.

Auditions for the third edition of the revue will be held March 15 at 2 p.m. at the Student Union Building on the Texas Tech Campus, he said. Any junior or senior college student may try out, and any type of theatrical talent is needed.

Those selected will begin rehearsals May 30 at Arlington, and the first show will go on the evening of June 15. Thereafter there will be performances seven nights a week until Sept. 7.

Young people accepted may earn $70 a week during the show season and half pay during rehearsals. A bonus of $5 per week will be paid for those who complete the season. Costumes are furnished by Six Flags. Charles Meeker Jr., who has directed the State Fair musicals, will direct this year's Campus Revue.

Engineers have introduced another unique feat by air conditioning the 1,200-seat open-air amphitheatre where the revue is staged. In addition, the entire Six Flags plant is given an extensive overhaul and renovation with many units replaced with completely new equipment, said Easthope. The season opens April 18.

Fined For Theft

William A. Hill, 22, 806 W. 8th, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor theft Friday in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's court and was fined $50 and costs of $19.50, according to police, who said Hill was remanded to county jail in lieu of the fine.

Hitchcock Pair On State Double Bill

Devotees of that special kind of suspense-thrill entertainment which is Alfred Hitchcock's trademark are due for a double treat when his terror-filled drama, "The Man Who Knew Too Much," starring James Stewart and Doris Day, and his chuckle-filled chiller, "The Trouble With Harry," starring Shirley MacLaine and John Forsythe, open Sunday at the State Theatre.

In "The Man Who Knew Too Much," Hitchcock pulls all the tension stops for which he is famous. A story of political intrigue, kidnapping and murder, it was filmed in Technicolor against the different worlds of French Morocco's sinister alleys and bazaars, and London's Albert Concert Hall, Embassy Row, and seldom-frequented, mysterious side streets. Stewart and Miss Day are cast as an American doctor and his wife vacationing with their young son in Marrakech. Stewart witnesses the knifing of an Arab in the city's back streets, and while tending the dying man, is given information of an impending assassination. He thus becomes a dangerous man to the plotters, and from that moment on neither he nor his family are safe. Torn between self-preservation and conscience, he becomes involved in some of the most perilous adventures that ever crammed a Hitchcock film. In the course of the drama's unfolding, Miss Day sings the great hit, "Whatever Will Be (Que Sera)" and "We'll Love Again," both of which are integral part of the plot. Also an stirring performance by the London Symphony Orchestra in famed Albert Hall.

Keir Dullea and Buddy Ebsen shoot it out with cattle thieves in a scene from "Mail Order Bride," outdoor drama of the 1890 West. Lois Nettleton and Warren Oates also star in the comedy-drama of an ex-lawman who attempts to tame a hellion by forcing him to marry a girl he has found through a mail order catalogue.

TV Star In Ritz Feature

In America's frontier days, as a free-for-all, chairflinging saloon brawl and the climactic gun showdown between Ebsen and Oates. Nor has he overlooked opportunity for home-spun humor and period atmosphere, particularly in a colorful old-fashioned dancing party celebrating the wedding and in a mass river baptism sequence in which an organ mounted on a wagon in the middle of the stream.

All of the film's settings and backgrounds are strikingly beautiful since "Mail Order Bride" was filmed in Panavision and color on locations in the magnificent High Sierras of northern California. Buddy Ebsen, hit of the "Beverly Hillsbillies" television show is very much at home in the saddle of his ex-lawman role, as are also Keir Dullea, the award-winning star of "David and Lisa," and Warren Oates, who has become a specialist in villain roles.

Dullea therefore marries Miss Nettleton, but it is a marriage in name only. She helps him rebuild his ramshackle ranch house and gradually an affinity grows between them and they pose as a happily wed couple, although Dullea is only waiting for a way to get rid of Ebsen before putting an end to his mock marriage. It is when Warren Oates, burns down the ranch house in a blaze which comes close to taking the life of Miss Nettleton's young son that the story takes a tensely dramatic turn.

Burt Kennedy, who wrote the screen play and also directed the Richard E. Lyons production, has kept the action at a fast pace, with plenty of excitement engendered in such scenes

A portrait photograph of the bearded naturalist John Muir superimposed on a background of a redwood forest will be the feature design of the new U.S. 5-cent Muir commemorative stamp which will go on first-day sale April 29. The design was unveiled during special ceremonies at the University of Wisconsin, the school which Muir attended a century ago.

Muir is being honored as a conservationist who persuaded President Theodore Roosevelt to save the giant redwood trees in California from destruction.

Collectors desiring first-day covers of the Muir stamp are reminded to send their remittances to the Postmaster, Martinez, Calif., prior to April 29. The new multi-colored stamp will be vertical. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers Muir Stamp."

The Republic of China pays tribute to the "coming of spring" by issuing a set of four stamps featuring colorful blossoms from cactus plants, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Depicted are the broadleaf cactus, crab cactus, nopalochia cactus, and the grizzly bear cactus. These stamps will be of particular interest to topical collectors specializing in flowers on stamps.

Norway has announced the issuance of a new commemorative stamp in two denominations honoring the centenary of the Oslo Workers Society. Featured on the stamps is a portrait of Eilert Sundt, founder of the society, and the society's emblem—a beehive over oak branches. The values are 25 ore and 50 ore. The original intention of the society was to concentrate on social and educational activities for the workers while "refraining from meddling in politics."

Burundi has issued six new stamps depicting local animals. Shown on the new adhesives are the impala, hippopotamus, giraffe, water buffalo, zebra and a member of the antelope family.

At a recent auction of foreign and British Commonwealth stamps in New York, specialized collections of Greece and Czechoslovakia sold for $8,229 and $4,816 respectively. Half of the 208 Greek lots were Hermes Heads and almost all brought nearly full catalog. Many bids went well beyond catalog. For example, an unused block of 10 of the imperf. Id Athens print of 1895, cataloging $200, sold for $300.

Cold, Wet Fields Holding Up Many Farm Activities

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Cold, wet fields are holding up many farm activities. The growth of vegetation is slow.

The statewide soil moisture situation is improved and warmer temperatures are needed for plant growth, especially for grazing, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Dry areas still exist, he said, and rains in many sections have not been heavy enough to provide the runoff needed to fill stock tanks and lakes.

Moisture was adequate in the Panhandle. Wheat conditions were improving slowly. Very little farm work was carried out. The condition of livestock was generally good except for the shortage of wheat pasture.

Moisture in most of the South Plains was short to very short and dryland grains need rain. Irrigated grain looks good but warmer weather is needed. A shortage of labor was noted in some counties.

The Rolling Plains have good moisture. Grains are improving. Grazing is available; warmth is needed. Livestock is being fed.

Grains improved in North Central Texas and allowed limited grazing. Heavy feeding is continuing with ranges providing no good grazing.

Moisture is adequate in Northeast Texas but stock tanks are still low or dry. Grains are making slow growth and furnishing little or no grazing. Cattle are declining and heavy feeding is required.

The need still exists for general moisture in far West Texas where heavy feeding is continuing. Livestock were in fair to good condition. Lambing, calving and goat shearing are in progress. Grain growth is slow.

Moisture is adequate in West Central Texas where low temperatures slow the growth of grains. Weeds and grass are furnishing limited grazing in some areas but heavy feeding continues. Livestock are in fair condition; lambing is well along and the outlook for early lambs is good. Goat shearing was in full swing.

Warmer weather to go with the adequate moisture would aid small grains and ranges in Central Texas. Grains are furnishing light grazing. Livestock are in fair condition.

Moisture is adequate in East Texas and warmer weather is needed for vegetation and field work. Livestock are in poor condition despite heavy feeding.

Good rains in South Central Texas brightened prospects for grazing crops and for spring planting. The livestock outlook was better and the stock market was stronger.

Wet fields hampered work in the upper Gulf Coast District and low temperatures slowed vegetation in pastures. Feeding is on.

In far South Texas, moisture is now adequate in all but four counties. Cold, wet weather may cause some replanting of cotton and corn. A freeze last Saturday caused some damage in the middle and Lower Valley counties. The harvest of mixed greens, carrots and cabbage is on. Onions and cantaloupes are being planted in the Winter Garden area. Livestock were in fair to good condition. Warmer weather is needed for ranges and crops.

Deadline Friday For Non-Poll Tax Voting Receipt

Voters who want to ballot for president, vice president, congressmen or U.S. Senators in elections this year, but who did not pay poll taxes, have until close of business Friday to obtain a special non-paid poll tax receipt.

So far, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor, said that 75 such receipts have been issued since Feb. 6.

These special voting permits were made necessary by ruling of the Supreme Court that no voter could be deprived of the right to vote in federal elections because he had not paid a poll tax.

The special voting permits do not entitle the holder to ballot in any county, city or state election.
