Andes Volcano Wipes Out Chilean Town

Estimated 25 Killed In Slides

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — An Andean volcano was reported today to have erupted and triggered avalanches that destroyed the little town of Conaripe and threatened a 60-mile area of southern Chile containing 20,000 persons.

Press reports from the stricken area said at least 25 persons had been killed after the fiery eruption of 9,325-foot Villarrica volcano early Monday, but police said only seven deaths had been confirmed.

"Nothing is left of Conaripe," a civilian pilot said after flying over the mountain valley about 500 miles south of Santiago Monday. "There is only mud and water where the town was."

Other reports said 80 per cent of the town's buildings, including three hotels, were destroyed.

Police at Temuco, 60 miles northwest of the volcano, said "many people are missing and we do not know what their exact fate has been."

Conaripe, a resort and lumbering center, had a population of several hundred. It was on a southern slope of the volcano in the heart of the towering southern Andes.

A radio report said a group of about 150 persons were huddled on a patch of high ground near the site of the destroyed town.

Police patrols were dispatched but were delayed because heavy rains since Friday have washed out roads and bridges.

It was feared that the missing included tourists, who flock to fishing and yachting resorts in the area at this time of the year, the end of the Southern Hemisphere's summer. Most tourists, however, frequent the larger towns of Valdivia and Pucón, which were reported outside the danger area.

The avalanches and streams of lava pushed several rivers out of their banks. Already swelled from four days of violent rains, the rivers inundated much of the valley around Conaripe.

Senators Pressed To Start Voting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators were being pressed by their leaders today to shorten campaign year oratory on a controversial cotton-wheat bill and start voting.

Pending was the first of more than 20 amendments on enough different subjects to keep the wheels of debate spinning for weeks.

Democratic leaders had hoped to get the farm bill wrapped up in the Senate by Wednesday to clear the decks for the battle over civil rights legislation. But the dispute over the farm proposals appears to have upset that timetable.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., has offered a proposal that would substitute for the administration's plan for subsidies to domestic cotton mills and handlers, and payments to cotton farmers.

Involved is a multimillion move to let domestic mills pay the same low prices for U. S. cotton that foreign buyers have been paying for several years.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, opposes the administration cotton plan which was approved by his committee.

The administration proposal would let the domestic trade buy cotton at about 24 cents a pound, some 8½ cents less than the 32½ support level to growers on recent crops.

It also would lower supports to 30 cents a pound on the next crop but allow a payment to farmers of up to 4½ cents more for their share of domestic consumption.

Containing the mill subsidy would cost taxpayers $312 million the first year, and more in the three succeeding years of the program, Ellender said his substitute would be less expensive.

He would limit the mill and trade subsidy to cotton consumed above that recently used, with a cutoff on the discount after an increase of 20 per cent.

For cotton farmers, Ellender proposed extra payments only on their first 10 bales.

Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss.

floor manager for the cotton section of the legislation, and most other Southern senators expected to defeat Ellender's substitute with the help of administration senators from other regions.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., urged that a compulsory cutback on foreign meat imports be added to the cotton-wheat bill. Unless meat imports are curbed "we are headed for disastrous farm depression," said Curtis.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., has offered a proposal that would substitute for the administration's plan for subsidies to domestic cotton mills and handlers, and payments to cotton farmers.

Ruby Trial Judge Sick, Only One Juror Needed

DALLAS (AP)—The 11th juror, a woman, was accepted today for Jack Ruby's murder trial with a substitute judge sitting on the bench.

She is Mrs. Aileen Shields, a 1934 divorcee employed by the telephone company in the engineering department.

Asked whether she favored a capital punishment, Mrs. Shields replied firmly, "I do, do."

NO SCRUPLES
Asked whether she has any scruples against the death penalty, she said, "None whatever."

Before Mrs. Shields was sworn in, Ruby's chief lawyer, Melvin Belli, had another altercation with Judge Frank Wilson. Wilson took over Ruby's trial today when Judge Joe Brown, who had presided from the beginning Feb. 17, became ill with a cold.

Belli, obviously opposed to accepting Mrs. Shields as a juror, asked if Wilson would grant the defense still more peremptory challenges.

Wilson refused. Belli then challenged Mrs. Shields "for cause" and Wilson overruled him.

UNABLE
The state had accepted Mrs. Shields and the defense was unable to prevent her being placed on the panel.

Ruby is on trial for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Mrs. Shields, third woman on the jury, is a Methodist. When challenging her, Belli rose to his feet. He asked Wilson whether the judge wanted him to stand, pointing out that Judge Brown had not always required this.

"You may stand," Judge Wilson said, "but when the court orders you to sit, sit down."

There now are eight men and three women chosen to hear Ruby's trial.

PROTESTED
Belli protested on several technical grounds against Wilson's sitting on the bench for Judge Joe Brown.

Belli objected: "That he has a continuing motion to transfer the trial away from Dallas. He said this is 'cumulative with each juror,' and that Judge Wilson could not possibly have knowledge of all that has gone into the record in the trial which is now in the third week. Belli spoke of the cumulative material piling up as the "final straw that will break the camel's back."

At the same time, Belli argued, while Judge Brown is absent "he cannot act on material presented in his absence."

Several times, Judge Wilson, a tall, big-bodied Texan, broke in on Belli.

"SIT DOWN"
Judge Wilson cut Belli short with a curt: "That's enough. Take your seat."

"Could I ask . . ." Belli began. "Take your seat," the judge repeated. "When the court says to take your seat it means take your seat."

Belli sat down. At another point Wilson told Belli, "There's no use belaboring the issue."

When Belli raised the question of additional peremptory challenges, by which lawyers can discharge prospective jurors without stating a reason, Wilson said he would consider that question when it arises. He told Belli:

"I wouldn't require any defendant of any race, creed or color to accept an unfair juror."

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said, "Judge Brown refused him any more challenges."

The defense has exhausted its allotted 15 peremptories and three extra ones.

NO PRECEDENT
Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said that under Texas law a judge can be replaced by another without a mistrial, Wade said there has been no precedent in Texas for a judge leaving a case and then returning to it.

Judge Brown said, when telephoned at his home by The Associated Press, that "I've got an awfully bad cold and the doctor told me to stay in bed."

The case today is still in the jury selection stage after two weeks and two days.

Ruby's attorneys will plead that he suffers from psychomtor epilepsy and was temporarily insane when he killed Oswald.

Thus, a pamphlet issued by the National Epilepsy League, and distributed outside the courtroom, brought cries of "gross conspiracy to obstruct justice," "contempt of court," and "trying to contaminate prospective jurors" from Ruby's chief counsel, Melvin Belli, Monday.

He demanded a mistrial which was denied.

Reds Maul 2 Battalions

TAN CHAU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist guerrillas severely mauled two crack Vietnamese airborne battalions today, inflicting the heaviest casualties on government forces in a single engagement in months. A U.S. adviser was among the dead.

In an hour-long battle which one U.S. officer described as the "dammedest firefight I have seen since World War II," 85 government troops were wounded and 15 killed, including an American captain advising an airborne battalion.

Vietnamese authorities claim more than 100 Viet Cong guerrillas were killed in the engagement, which began soon after dawn but American advisers at the scene could not confirm the report.

The battle took place in Kien Phuong Province beside the Mekong River, barely 2,000 yards from the Cambodian border.

The airborne battalions were searching for a guerrilla battalion which was known to be operating in the border area.

After breaking off the fight, the Communists were reported to have headed toward Cambodia.

U.S. helicopters could not fly in because of a rule prohibiting operation of U.S. aircraft closer than three miles to the border.

The killing of the U.S. captain increased American combat deaths in Viet Nam to 113.

His identification was withheld.

Cost Of Living Is Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government announced today that a newly broadened sampling of prices in the nation showed living costs rose in January by about one-tenth of 1 per cent.

The new consumer price index, announced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, showed it costs $10.77 to buy the items that cost one cent less in December.

Increases in food, fuel and gasoline prices were largely responsible for the increase.

Food advanced four-tenths of 1 per cent. This was largely due to green vegetables, which were up more than 20 per cent; eggs, which were up more than 6 per cent, and sugar which also rose.

Cyprus May Give OK To Peace Force

Texans Optimistic Over Redistricting

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Top Texas officials have optimistically accepted the U.S. Supreme Court's order to reapportion congressional districts, predicting that the painful reshuffle will be postponed until after the 1964 elections.

The Supreme Court agreed Monday with a Houston federal court that Texas congressional districts are improperly balanced and should give more voice to the big city voters.

It favored a request by the state's Democratic administration that redistricting be delayed until next year. The Houston court now must set an effective date on its order, and the state has until April 1 to ask for a delay.

The five Republicans who brought the suit, however, said they will urge the court to order Texas' 23 congressmen to run at large this year unless districts are redrawn before the elections.

Gov. John Connally, who has insisted that such a thorny problem as redistricting cannot be handled in a 30-day special session of the legislature, said "I am sure the district court will give careful consideration to the circumstances (elections under way) in reaching an equitable decision."

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr called the ruling "a good decision for Texas, if the lower court will recognize our problem."

Twelve congressional districts have remained intact since 1933, and the population shift to cities has created the most disproportionate districts in the United States.

They range in population from Dallas' nearly one million to 216,000 in a neighboring district of Rep. Ray Roberts.

Only four or five Texas districts approach the average population of 416,000.

U.S. Dist. Judge John R. Brown of Houston said the court will hear arguments at the earliest date asked by either the state or the Republicans.

A redistricting bill that would have given Dallas a second congressman died in the final minutes of the last legislature. Dallas is a Republican stronghold and has been represented by a Republican in Congress for nearly a decade.

One of the Republicans who filed suit, George Bush, now a candidate for the U.S. Senate, hailed the Supreme Court's decision as "a great victory for all the people of Texas as well as a personal victory."

Bush said Democrats "have stalled on redistricting for 25 years and it is time to stop stalling."

Called Key To Plan's Success

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cyprus was expected to give its approval today to a new small-nation proposal authorizing U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to send an international peace force to the Mediterranean island.

The compromise formula, worked out by five of the six elected members of the U.N. Security Council, was presented to the 11-nation council Monday by Brazilian delegate Carlos Alfredo Bernardes.

The resolution also called for Thant to name a mediator to help solve the constitutional crisis that has brought the Greek and Turkish Cypriots nearly to civil war.

Acceptance by Cyprus was regarded as the key to the plan's success. It faced a possible Soviet veto unless it met the approval of Archbishop Makarios, the Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus.

Neither the Cyprus nor the Soviet delegation would comment on the resolution. Sources close to the Greek Cypriots said they believed Makarios would go along.

The resolution was drafted by Brazil, Norway, Ivory Coast, Morocco and Bolivia.

The main obstacle had not been the proposed international force, but finding a way to meet conflicting demands of Cyprus and Turkey on how to refer to a 1960 treaty guaranteeing the Cypriot constitution.

The treaty gave Britain, Turkey and Greece the right to intervene to preserve the constitution, which grants the Turkish Cypriot minority veto rights that Makarios wants to do away with. Cyprus wanted all reference to this treaty omitted and insisted on a Security Council guarantee for the territorial integrity of the island republic as protection against invasion by Turkey.

The formula for the international force is similar to that sought by Britain and the United States from the start. The secretary-general would work out with the parties concerned the composition of the force. He would appoint its commander and the commander would report to him. Thant would report to the Security Council, but the council would not control the force.

Reports Good Talk With President

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Labor party leader Harold Wilson ends his Washington visit today after having what he called "a very good, frank talk" with President Johnson.

He declined to spell out just what they discussed Monday, but told reporters he couldn't think of any important subjects they hadn't touched on.

"We had a very enjoyable talk," he said. "It was very frank. There were no difficulties of communication or lack of words."

Wilson holds a news conference today in the British Embassy then leaves the capital to receive an honorary degree from Bridgeport University in Connecticut. He arrived here Saturday.

Wilson, who would become prime minister if the Labor party wins the forthcoming British election, said his trip here had two purposes: To bring himself up to date on American thinking and to answer any questions put to him.

Asked for his evaluation of Johnson, the Labor party leader said: "I felt the Western Alliance and the United States are in good hands."

Wilson wouldn't be drawn into a discussion of British politics but did say he thought the British election would be held soon, rather than in the fall.

Although Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home could put the voting off until fall, there have been reports it may be held in June.

Before conferring with Johnson, Wilson talked with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Undersecretary George W. Ball, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, the President's special assistant on national security affairs.

As the latest forecasts were issued at midmorning, the wind was quickening, skies were cloudy and the temperature stood at 36 degrees at Perryton in the upper Panhandle.

Scattered showers or thunderstorms were promised other sections of the state tonight and Wednesday as a Pacific cold front billowed southward to collide with warm, moist air pushing inland from the Gulf of Mexico.

Colder weather was in prospect throughout the state. Temperatures were expected to range down to 25 degrees overnight in Northwest and Southwest Texas.

A tornado alert was posted briefly during the heavy rains. Early today, clouds piled high in far West Texas but skies were clear over most other areas. There was fog around Houston and Galveston.

MacArthur Is 'Comfortable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been suffering from moderately severe jaundice for several months, the Army's Walter Reed Hospital reported today.

The famous old soldier here came to the hospital from New York Monday to undergo tests. He spent "a comfortable night," the hospital report said.

Officials have refused to say how serious 84-year-old MacArthur's condition is. Jaundice is a yellowing of the skin that can be associated with various ailments, including hepatitis.

The brief statement this morning said MacArthur "has been experiencing a moderate to severe jaundice for several months. This jaundice is painless, but has been accompanied by some loss of weight. Tests are being carried out to ascertain the cause of the jaundice."

Canal Dispute Near Solution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Panama appeared today to be moving toward a settlement of their bitter dispute over the Panama Canal.

Panama's President Roberto Chiari announced Monday night that he believed President Johnson had opened the way for a solution of the seven-week-old crisis.

Almost immediately a five-member mediation team of the Organization of American States went into a midnight session here with Panama's OAS Ambassador Miguel J. Moreno.

Afterward the negotiators said the two countries were "moving fast and courageously" toward a settlement.

"I think we are getting close to a meeting of minds—I am optimistic," Ambassador Juan Plate of Paraguay, head of the mediation group, told The Associated Press. Johnson launched his new effort to break the deadlocked dispute Saturday. He told his news conference the United States realizes the 1903 Panama Canal treaty "perhaps would require adjustment."

He added that diplomatic relations would have to be resumed without any preconditions before any changes could be considered.

Chiari said Johnson's remarks "were not in conflict" with Panama's basic position on the canal dispute.

Chiari said in a statement that in spelling out his country's position he was not "establishing prior conditions to the contents of the said treaty."

"The important thing now, the cardinal matter, is to express a willingness to negotiate without prior conditions," Chiari said.

Put Back That Tonic, It's Not Springtime—Yet

If the weather forecast is right Big Spring and Howard County residents are going to have to wear heavier clothing tomorrow—and maybe put on galoshes.

The skies are supposed to cloud tonight, when the gusty winds change to the northwest. Colder weather, with occasional showers tonight and possible snow flurries by morning, is forecast. The temperature tonight will dip to the low 30s, but could get colder. The high Wednesday is predicted for the low 40s.

Winds today may gust to around 30 to 35 miles per hour as they shift to the northwest. That may mean dust or sand in the air.

All this weather is to follow the Monday high of 72 degrees and predicted high of around 70 today.

Other reports said 80 per cent of the town's buildings, including three hotels, were destroyed.

Self-Defense Plea Falls On Deaf Ears

Abel Ramos, 32, failed to convince a jury of nine men and three women that he knifed Rene Ray Gutierrez, 28, to death only after the latter had attacked him.

The jury deliberated three hours Monday night and returned a verdict of guilty of murder with malice. It fixed the Colorado City construction worker's punishment at 15 years in the state penitentiary.

The trial, one of the speediest conducted in the 118th District Court in a long time, was started at 10 a. m. Monday. It came to an end at 10:30 p. m. last night.

Ramos, married and the father of four young children, sought unsuccessfully to show that he was the person assaulted rather than the assailant in the fatal clash between himself and Gutierrez last Sept. 14 in the beer tavern operated by David Marquez.

He claimed he was struck by Gutierrez with some weapon which caused an inch cut on his chin as a preliminary to the fight. The police who arrested him the morning after the fight did not recall seeing a wound on his chin. Dell Barber, his attorney, then sought to show the jurors the scar which he said the injury had left on his client's face.

Jury to try Ramos was seated at noon. Members of the jury were Helen J. Neill, Nile D. Cole, Dollie Stephens, W. O. McMeans, Roy E. Ray, Ted Pachall, Carroll Cannon, A. A. Cooper, J. W. Hildreth, W. L. Tate, Mrs. Carl Barnfield and W. C. Stovall.

The first state witness was Lumina Rodriguez, the girl friend of the victim. She told of being in a beer tavern and of having the defendant approach her and place his hands on her. A fight followed, and she told Gutierrez about the incident.

David Marquez, proprietor of the tavern where the knifing occurred, testified that while tending bar on the night of Sept. 14, he saw two men scuffling at one of the tables. He and others pulled the men apart. Gutierrez left the place he said. He said that he saw a knife in the hand of the defendant. The other man was bleeding from wounds on the face and neck.

Dr. John L. Branscum, on the staff of the Howard County Hospital Foundation, told of being called to examine Gutierrez on the night of Sept. 14. He said the man had six knife wounds on his body and had lost much blood. Five of the wounds, he said, were not fatal but one, a stab wound in the left chest, had entered the left ventricle of the victim's heart, causing death. He said that it was remarkable the man survived from 8:30 p. m., the time he was reportedly stabbed, until the time of his death at 9:25 p. m.

City patrolman Avery Faulkner told of being called to the beer tavern and of how he and a fellow officer found Gutierrez spawled face down, unconscious in an alley about half a block from the tavern.

City patrolman Bob Husson said when he went to the home of Ramos' brother an hour later, the defendant came out of the garage at the rear and walked to the patrol car. Abel, he said, handed him a knife with a blade three inches long. This was introduced. Wayne Tollett, another policeman, testified about taking a statement from Abel that night and being present when one was taken by Bobby West, district attorney's investigator, the next day. These were introduced.

Defense Attorney Barber asked Tollett if Abel had a wound on his chin the morning after the slaying, and Tollett said he did not remember one.

Barber called only three witnesses for the defense — the defendant, his wife, Mrs. Abel Ramos, and his brother, Adam Ramos, who testified only briefly.

Abel Ramos detailed a long list of contacts with peace officers.

He displayed a long scar ranging across the left side of his face from the temple to the chin. This, he said, he got in a fight in 1952 at a dance in Colorado City. At that fight, he had no knife. He said he was also cut, though not seriously, in another fight in 1950.

In another fight, he related that he slashed a man in Midland but said the injuries were not bad.

He got into a knife fight in 1955 in Colorado City and as a result of this fight, he drew a three-year term in the penitentiary. He was paroled seven months later and then got into a fight with a policeman, and his parole was revoked. He served 10 more months.

On the day of the killing, he said he came to Big Spring and drank numerous beers in several taverns. He also related meeting the Rodriguez woman and of "slapping her on the hip," whereupon they had a small altercation.

The first time he saw Gutierrez, whom he did not know, was when the man came up to him at Marquez Place and demanded if he had been "fighting his wife." He said that Gutierrez struck him and that he then whipped out his knife and began stabbing.

On cross examination he said, "I did not intend to kill him." He said that he was "trying to fight the man off" but told District Attorney Gil Jones that, at the particular time he was swinging the knife, he was "mad."

He insisted both on direct and indirect examination that he has now quit drinking, and no longer carried a knife.

Mrs. Ramos, with her four tiny children, came into court and she testified she is expecting another child in April. Asked if Abel had learned a lesson, she replied: "I do not know." The question was put again and she said she guessed he would do better.

Judge Reprimands Hoffa For Boisterous Conduct

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa received a public reprimand in court today from the federal judge who will send Hoffa's jury-tampering case to the jury before nightfall.

When court resumed this morning, Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said he had heard the Teamsters Union president shouting in the corridors outside the courtroom. With the jury absent, he declared: "I sent a marshal to find out what was going on. He reported back that Mr. Hoffa was complaining very bitterly about the way the marshals were handling the jury."

Hoffa started to reply, but was cut off by a wave of the judge's hand.

"This has happened repeatedly during this trial," the judge said. Peering down at Hoffa, he added: "Let's discontinue these extremely loud arguments both in and out of the courtroom."

In the hall, Hoffa had complained that the marshals assigned to escort the jury were acting as guards rather than escorts.

Hoffa, president of the International Teamsters Union, and five others went on trial Jan. 20, charged with trying to fix the jury in Hoffa's 1962 trial at Nashville on a conspiracy charge. That trial ended with a hung jury.

On trial with Hoffa are Allen Dorfman, Chicago insurance broker; Nicholas J. Tweel, Huntington, W. Va., businessman; Ewing King, former Nashville Teamsters official; Larry Campbell, Detroit Teamsters business agent, and his uncle, Thomas Parks of Nashville.

Hoffa could receive 15 years in prison and a $15,000 fine if convicted. The others could get five years each and fines of $5,000 apiece.

Three Candidates In Race For School Trustee Posts

Three candidates had filed for two places on the Big Spring school board Tuesday. The deadline for filing is Wednesday. The election will be held April 4. This deadline also applies to other districts and to Howard County Junior College.

Winston Wrinkle, owner-manager of Radio Station KBST, filed Monday afternoon. Jimmy Felts, an incumbent, had already filed to succeed himself, and Jack Haralson, general manager of Gamco, Inc., filed last Thursday.

The terms of Felts and O. S. Womack expire in April. Womack has not filed for re-election.

Felts, who served two terms as a member of the Gay Hill school board, was appointed by the Big Spring board to fill the unexpired term of Johnny Johnson who resigned. He is an employe of Reef Corporation, lives in the Gay Hill Community, and has lived in Howard County since 1946. He has two children in the Big Spring schools.

Haralson is a Big Spring resident and has four daughters in the public schools. He is a chemical engineer and came to Howard County in 1961 from Brownsville as a Cosden employe in its chemical division. He became general manager for Gamco Feb. 1.

Wrinkle said that his motive in filing was to make what contribution he could toward a continuing betterment of the school system. As a businessman, he felt he could help obtain great values for dollars invested in education, yet his interest extended to the general program of the schools, its curriculum, etc. Some of his college work was in this field.

"I feel the basis of progress in American education is local control," he said. "I believe that this local control is being threatened as never before by certain teacher organizations which seek to share the responsibility of formulating educational policy, to have a voice in determin-and holding good teachers is one of the most important measures of a good educational program."

A native of Springtown, Wrinkle attended Arlington State and was graduated from Texas A&M University as a distinguished military student. He served two years in the Air Force and went into sales with Charles Pfizer & Co., a chemical firm, eventually becoming products manager in New York. In 1959, he became a partner in radio station KBST.

He has been active in civic affairs, having received the Jaycee Distinguished Service award in January. He is a past president of the Jaycees, a co-chairman of the United Fund campaign, past co-captain of the Quarterback Club, on the Salvation Army Advisory Board, the board of the Cancer Society, Chamber of Commerce board, member of its advertising and promotion committee and the Ambassador's Club, president of his Sunday School class, and member of the Downtown Lions Club. He and Mrs. Wrinkle have four children, two of them in school.

LOVING GOD

"If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be anathema" (I Cor. 16:22). "But if any man love God, the same is known of him" (I Cor. 8:3).

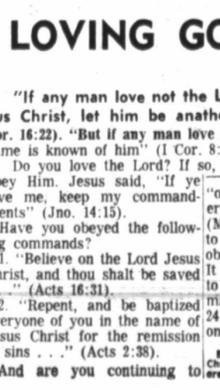

Do you love the Lord? If so, you will obey Him. Jesus said, "If ye love me, keep my commandments" (Jno. 14:15).

Have you obeyed the following commands?

1. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31).
2. "Repent, and be baptized everyone of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins..." (Acts 2:38).

And are you continuing to observe all things whatsoever Jesus has commanded (Matt. 28:20)? It is one thing to come to love the Lord, and obey the primary commands. It is another thing to continue to be faithful. "The love of many shall wax cold" (Matt. 24:12); but you need not be one of these!

Makes Himself Heard

Chief Defense Attorney Melvin Bell for Jack Ruby on trial for murder, protests loudly about distribution of literature in the courtroom by a National Epilepsy League official when interviewed by reporters outside Judge Brown's courtroom in Dallas yesterday. Also protesting is another defense attorney, Joe Tonahill, right. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Trial Monday Turns Into A Wild Session

By SID MOODY
DALLAS (AP)—Maybe it was the heat in the stuffy courtroom where Jack Ruby is on trial for his life. But Monday's session was one of the wildest yet. Joe Tonahill, one of Ruby's defense lawyers, was fined $25 for throwing a ballpoint pen on the floor in anger. Ruby's head lawyer, Melvin Bell, hollered. Dist. Atty. Henry Wade was "white livered" during a session in Judge Joe B. Brown's chambers. EXCHANGE And the day ended with a passionate finger-jabbing exchange between Bell-Tonahill and a brand new entrant in the case, Tom James, over something called psychomotor epilepsy. It all began when the National Epilepsy League, through the Dallas public relations firm of Ayres Compton Associates, began handing out information packets on epilepsy to newsmen covering the Ruby trial. Bell has indicated he'll claim Ruby shot Lee Oswald, President Kennedy's accused assassin, during a siege of psychomotor epilepsy. Deep in the release was the following phrase, quoted from a Dr. Frederic A. Gibbs' book on epilepsy: "You don't have to worry too much about a patient in a psychomotor seizure. You will read in novels and see in movies all kinds of dramatizations . . . about what psychomotor epileptics will do: Murders, criminal activities, etc. That is nonsense."

Storm Rumbles Across Southwest

By The Associated Press
A potent storm rumbled through the Southwest today, plugging a seven-state area with snow, plummeting temperatures and strong winds. The U.S. Weather Bureau issued hazardous conditions for motorists and stockmen. In the Southeast, another storm zipped along the Atlantic Coast, soaking the area from northwestern Florida to the Carolinas with drenching rain. The southwestern storm hit portions of Utah, Arizona, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska and Kansas. Tucson, Ariz., received a 2-inch snowfall in two hours Monday night, where the snowfall annually averages 1.1 inches. It was the first measurable snowfall since 1958. Some parts of the city measured up to 3 inches. Heavy snows were welcomed in northern Arizona, where an unusually dry winter has threatened the area with water shortages. Five inches of wet snow fell in the Denver area as the storm moved eastward across Colorado, creating hazardous driving conditions on extremely slick highways. Winds measuring more than 30 miles an hour accompanied the snow with gusts causing snow flurries. In the Southeast, rain-packed storms ranged over a 16-state area from the Ohio Valley to the Gulf and from Louisiana to Virginia. In Louisiana, 12 families were evacuated in the Baker area 15 miles north of Baton Rouge after 4.60 inches of rain fell in a 24-hour period. Some flooding was expected from the swollen waters of the Amite and Comite rivers and emergency units stood by. The Midwest braced for a cold wave as arctic air moved out of Canada. The Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for an area from Wyoming to northwestern Wisconsin.

What Does 1964 Hold For "You"

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.
We have started into the new year, and the following ten months are an unknown factor. New problems will challenge your efforts, threaten your health and happiness. Will you set a new goal for yourself? Will your goal be practical? Whether you progress in 1964 will depend on how well you chart your course! But what about YOUR HEALTH? Are you physically capable of progressing? How sturdy are your NERVES? How sturdy is your back? THE BEST INSURANCE FOR GOOD HEALTH IS A GOOD SPINE! How will you prepare for your future health? Do you know that many times CHIROPRACTIC adds healthy years to life simply by restoring normal function? Chiropractic doesn't claim to CURE anything — nor does any other healing art. CURE—Nature does that job. Chiropractors adjust, re-align and balance the distorted spine, clearing the body's life lines out unhealthy nerve interference so that Nature can heal. That's how people are CURED. Your doctor sets a broken leg . . . and then leaves it to heal it or cure it. The tissues knit anyway, but the limb would probably grow crooked without the help of skilled hands to properly align the fracture. Nature, that fashioned the body, is the only power that has any curative ability . . . and this requires a steady, uninterrupted flow of nerve energy impulses for repair to take place. Keep this principle in mind when you face problems of sickness this year. You WILL find, as 50,000,000 other Americans did during 1963, that by keeping nerve pressures removed, it is possible to get through the year with much less illness and much more energy. You can and will feel and look younger, too! Take care of your body as the Temple of God. Don't carry unnecessary suffering into 1964. Investigate the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic. What can you lose except ill health? 1004 Eleventh Place (across from Piggly Wiggly). AM 3-3324. —Adv.

United Fund Elects New Officer Slate

Jack Y. Smith Tuesday was elected president for 1964 of the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County. Students Favor Flogging Rule

ETON, England (AP) — A sampling of students at Eton, one of Britain's most fashionable prep schools, shows that fewer than one in four of the young gentlemen want flogging abolished. A few lashes with a cane is standard punishment for wrongdoers at the school, training ground of Britain's social and political elite.

Highway Link For Capitols

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — The Pakistani and Red Chinese capitols will be linked by highway by the end of 1965, it was officially announced Monday night. A broadcast said that when the Indus Valley road is completed, a direct land route will be established between Rawalpindi in Pakistan's new capital area, and Peking via Gilgit in northern Kashmir.

A Devotional For The Day

God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. (John 3:17.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for Thy Son and His willingness to pay the price to redeem us. Through we cannot possibly pay Thee back, help us to live our lives in reverence for Thee and in service of our fellowmen. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Are You A Horn Tooter?

Most horn tooters never get over it. A lot of us talk a lot better role than we actually could perform, but we secretly long to get our lips back on the mouthpiece or on that reed.

Well, if you fit into that great category who just likes to play in a band—for pure fun—then why not join the group meeting at the high school band room each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. For want of some better name, it has been called the civic band, but it offers an opportunity for a lot of relaxation and music. There's something wonderfully binding about getting together for a few lively marches, a waltz and an overture or two. Why not join the fun?

Breathing Time For Overdue Job

Texas' day of reckoning is postponed, but still is coming. This is in reference to congressional redistricting of the state, the subject of a decision handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court Monday.

Stripped of the legal verbiage, the Court's decision seems to say that present districts are constitutionally inequitable, but that the state can have some time—possibly in a year—to correct the situation.

This is, after all, fortunate. The possibility had been looming that if the Court upheld immediately a Houston federal court decree, all 23 Texas congressmen elected by districts would have had to run as at-large candidates this year. Truly, as the attorneys said, "chaos and confusion" would have resulted.

There is no question but that Texas should, in all fairness of representation, perform the redistricting chore. It is overdue. Already there is one congressman-at-large—a distinctly unpalatable situation—and of course the population of the districts vary widely.

But adjustments do not come easily, either as a practical or as a political matter. Detailed study is required and should be given, and this takes time. Certainly by the time the Texas legislature meets next January, a special committee or unbiased survey group will be prepared with recommendations that can be accepted. Texas is better off for the Court ruling, it will nudge the state into action, but it gives time to perform a satisfactory task.

The John Glenn Issue Did It

WASHINGTON — Ethyl and Potassium Chloride, a fanciful couple of impacted incompatibility, have finally come to a parting of the ways in spite of everything that could be done by marriage counselors, love-columnists, spiritual advisors and ordinary busybodies.

THEY SURVIVED bitter inter-ecine strife over the moon race (Potassium insisted it was a boondoggle of the magnitude of Cheops' pyramid, while Ethyl shrieked that her woman's intuition told her the project would show a profit). They squeaked past the crisis posed when he voted for Nixon and she didn't, and the frail bonds of matrimony even managed to hold during the month-long donnybrook over Viet Nam (she said the place wasn't worth keeping, and his solution was to drop the big apple on Peking).

FRIENDS WHO had been making book on when the Chlorides wedded bliss would disintegrate thought they had it made when Potassium equated the Russian wheat deal with pre-war sales of metal scrap to Japan ("They'll shoot it back at us"), and his waship helmet screamed that

Billy Graham

I came to college with high hopes, but I have been disillusioned by what I have found. I thought college students had purpose—but I have never seen such a lack of purpose. I feel so lonely and discouraged. Perhaps I came to the wrong university. What has gone wrong on our campuses?

K T A leading professor of psychiatry has just written a new book on this problem. In it he says: "The happy college student is a myth." The truth probably is: the college student merely reflects our national lack of purpose. They, for the most part, were mixed-up before they arrived on campus.

When we have no guiding purpose, and no cause to give our lives to, life grows stale. For some time now a creeping materialism has been spreading over our national scene. It has been evidenced in a cynicism on the part of our adult population. Now it is beginning to show up in the lives of our youth. The Bible puts it this way: "The parents have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth have been set on edge."

As a youth I knew what purposelessness was. Then I met Jesus Christ. I accepted His claims upon my life. At that moment purposelessness and I were separated forever. I recommend to you, and every aimless college youth, the formula that Christ gave to the rich young ruler: "Come and follow me." That young man refused and went away sorrowfully. Real joy and purposefulness is found in following Him.

May Wind Up Ho-Hum

WASHINGTON (AP) — This 1964 campaign year will have the usual chatter but may wind up ho-hum, lacking the tension and drama of recent presidential contests.

In three of the past four elections the issues and problems which gave the voters passionate concern seem muted so far this year.

FOR INSTANCE: war Communist aggressions, McCarthyism, worry about internal security, the question of taking a new direction into a new era.

and more heat and by the candidates than has been shown yet in 1964.

Since President Johnson has the inside track for the Democrats' nomination, there's no excitement about their convention next summer. This could change if he pulls some boners, but there's nothing like that in sight.

Although the Republican nomination is wide open, the two men working for it hardest apparently haven't built major fires. New York's Gov. Nelson

A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater.

THE TWO WHO may have the best chance for the prize don't even admit they're candidates, although they do a lot of talking: former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton.

If Nixon is the man, the little element of mystery which gives a campaign zest before it starts won't apply. He laid down his campaign manners and methods in 1960.

It wasn't like this in what former President Harry S. Truman might now consider the good old days of 1948 when to practically everyone's surprise, but not his, he beat New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

In that year the country's jitters about the Communists-in-government issue was only part of the national anxiety. Earlier Truman had blocked the Communist pressure on Greece and Turkey.

Their mood was far different in 1952 when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower beat Adlai E. Stevenson, governor of Illinois. By then the country was torn apart over McCarthyism, communism in this country, and the war against communism in Korea.

STEVENSON GAVE the campaign dignity and intellectual agility far above most campaigns in history. He held interest. But by then the voters really wanted a change and chose the less articulate Eisenhower.

When Stevenson ran against Eisenhower in 1956 he never had a chance. By then, under Eisenhower, the country had recaptured its sanity and stability. Both McCarthyism and the Korean war were over.

The duel between Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy gave the 1960 campaign spice, particularly the television debates. Interest was high, so high the voters were almost equally divided between them, as Kennedy's hairline win showed.

But nothing like any of those campaigns is in sight for 1964, at least not yet.

Two Kinds Of Goals

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato.

There are two kinds of goals in this world—those you do something about, those you don't.

It is the goals you try to achieve that often turn life into a nightmare. It is the goals you sometimes give up your greatest satisfaction.

Everyone has ambitions he prefers to pursue more in fantasy than in real life. They are a portion of childhood's wonderful world of make-believe that we carry over into adulthood and help keep us young.

Sometimes these desires are spoken. Sometimes, for fear of being ridiculed, we hide them in a secret corner of the heart. And whether such dreams come true is really unimportant.

I have a friend whose hobby for more than 30 years has been trumpet playing. During all that time he has entertained a dream—to give a solo concert in Carnegie Hall.

"I don't want to make any money out of my concert," he says. "I don't even want tickets to be sold—not even as a charity benefit. I want to rent the hall with my own money, and invite only the people I want to be there—fellows like Satchmo

Armstrong, Miles Davis, Al Hirt and Harry James, people who know an honest trumpet when they hear one.

"I don't even want any other instrument lousing up the background. I just want to stand up there in that big spotlight and blow my brains out on that trumpet for three hours."

Intermittently this friend goes back and takes fresh lessons to keep his lip sharp. But over three decades, he's as bad as he ever was.

There is no chance whatsoever he will give a concert in Carnegie Hall. If he did, he'd set jazz music back half a century. But he's happy with his dream.

I have one of these self-transcending aspirations, too. It's to write the great American novel.

Had this goal since I was 12. Started to write it a thousand times. Never got beyond the first paragraph. After the opening sentence, I start daydreaming about how I'll sell 10 million copies, sell it to the movies for $5 million and—

Why wear your mind out trying to write a book that may turn out to be lousy, when I can just sit there and enjoy spending dream money? So the rest of the page stays blank.

Dreams are best while they remain but hopes.

Enlarged Heart Usually Can't Be Corrected

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My father is 80 and was told he has an enlarged heart, which was discovered after taking a TB chest X-ray.

Can anything be done for this? Three years ago he was told he could continue to work, but he is worried.—B.R.E.

If he's working at 80, he's a rather well-preserved man. There are varied causes of enlarged heart, common ones being high blood pressure, rheumatic or congenital heart disease, and faulty nutrition.

The enlargement cannot as a rule be corrected. However, if the underlying cause is successfully treated, and the heart is doing its job, there is then no cause to worry about the enlargement.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are there any qualified hypnotists in this vicinity? Could you publish the names or tell me where to contact them?—R.S.

What do you mean by "qualified hypnotists"? If you mean people who can hypnotize other people, anybody can learn to do that in a few hours.

If you mean to ask whether there are people who are qualified to handle this curious and sometimes very dangerous technique, then my advice is that you go to nobody except a psychiatrist (or in some cases a dentist, or perhaps an obstetrician) who knows what he is doing, and is capable of detecting the danger signs as well as doing the relatively simple procedure of "hypnotizing."

The best comparison I've heard was from a Boston expert who said that hypnosis is like a knife. Anybody can learn to cut—or hypnotize. But you want it done only by a surgeon if you are going to have any cutting done on you. I do not condemn hypnosis, but I do insist that it be employed only by genuine experts, and not by people who "know how to hypnotize." If in doubt as to which is which, consult your doctor.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes "dowagers hump," and could exercise help? Several women in our group, between 35 and 45 years old, have this problem.

I was elected to write to you.—S.B.

Well, you know how fat tends to behave. It has favorite places on our anatomy: hips, thighs, abdomen, upper arms and several others. One is the base of the neck, and that is what we call a dowager's hump.

Occasionally it may be a lipoma, or "fatty tumor," which can be removed surgically. More often it is just an accumulation of fat.

Yes, exercise can help to the extent that it may reduce excess weight. For more direct results, conscientious attention to improving posture is beneficial, since slumping accentuates the hump. Sometimes a degree of spinal curvature may be involved.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of the Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

Why Don't They —?

Recently, a friend and I were eating lunch in a dimly lighted restaurant. He was endeavoring to salt his food, but the light was so dim and the salt so white he could not see how much of the seasoning he was applying.

"Why doesn't some salt refiner come out with colored salt?" he asked. "Why does salt have to be white—couldn't it be tinted some color so one could see just how much he was sprinkling on his plate?"

I could only echo his question of why hasn't this been tried?

ORDINARY PEOPLE—the men and women, by the way, who buy and use the myriad products of modern manufacturers and distributors, very often have merited criticism of the products which they voice to their friends but which never reaches the ears of the man who makes the item.

Like my friend who suggested colored salt, it is quite possible that salt packers would welcome this suggestion and do something about it if it could be called to their attention.

A GOOD MANY years ago, in another state, a friend posed a suggestion relative to road building which I have often thought most meritorious. This state in which I then lived built miles and miles of concrete highways. Every so many feet on any strip of concrete roadbed, a strip of asphalt was stretched across the slab. This break was to let the road expand in hot weather, contract in cold weather without shattering the road.

When you were driving on the roads, the spacing of the strips was such that they were met by your tires in just the right way to set up a nerve wracking rumble and an irritating constant vibration.

THE SUGGESTION I mentioned dealt with this problem.

"Why couldn't they (the road builders), extend these breather strips diagonally across the road instead of straight across from left to right?" asked my friend. "Then the car wheels would not both strike a line at the same second and the rhythmic vibration would be averted."

I asked an engineer about it. He said it was feasible but he didn't expect anyone to start doing it. And, in so far as I can find out, no one ever did.

HOUSEWIVES often fret at the clumsy design of vacuum cleaners and complain that the bulky devices cannot be used with any satisfaction sweeping under beds and divans. Why not design a cleaner with more flexibility?

There are hundreds of items used daily by millions of men and women which have inherent faults. The users are well aware of these faults, but not the manufacturers. If so I am sure they would make corrections.

YOU ARE constantly told by certain manufacturers their product is the finest possible. Then, a few years later, you are told by the same manufacturer that he has found a way to make his product even better. So he has improved the finest product ever made and now has a finer.

Frankly I doubt these claims in many instances, but I think there are many tools and gadgets used in our daily lives which could be made more efficient and happier to use by very minor revisions.

I just wonder how you get the idea to those who produce the things in the first place? —SAM BLACKBURN

The Safeguards And The Skeptic

WASHINGTON — Senator Henry (Scoop) Jackson, a skeptical supporter of the Test Ban Treaty, has been visiting our nuclear laboratories to check up on our nuclear vigilance in the wake of the Treaty which the Senate ratified last autumn.

Jackson is asking the Preparedness Subcommittee, of which he is a member, to follow up his check with a full-scale investigation of the Four Safeguards which the Kennedy-Johnson Administration is pledged to observe. In convenient shorthand, the Safeguards are:

1. STEPPED UP underground testing to compensate for the ban against atmospheric testing.
2. Maintenance of high efficiency and morale among scientists entrusted with our nuclear armament.
3. Readiness to resume atmospheric testing if the national interests require it.
4. Improved detection to insure against Soviet cheating on the Treaty.

JACKSON, A member of both the Armed Services and Atomic Energy committees, has "majored" in atomic legislation since coming to the House of Representatives in 1940, with time out for wartime Army service. His skepticism is that of an informed and concerned patriot who believes that the U.S.A. should keep a definite superiority, not a parity, in nuclear arms. Here are some of the factors that are wrinkling his studious brow:

Coming from Washington State, where much of the employment depends upon the defense industries, Jackson is up for re-election with no strong opposition, except from the various peace-mongering organizations which like to tag him as a minion of the munitions lobby.

IN 1962, ONE of these unilateral disarmament groups, The Council For A Liveable World, endorsed and financially supported the election of two Democratic Senators, McGovern (S.D.) and Clark (Penn.). The Liveable (with Communism) Worlders, I am told by their executive director, Col. Henry Ashton Crosby, have endorsed four other Democrats for re-election this year: McGee (Wyo.), Burdick (N.D.), Moss (Utah) and McCarthy (Minn.). The Liveable Worlders have also supported the liberal Republicans, Javits (N.Y.) and Kuchel (Calif.). Thus there is in the Senate a perceptible and respectable nucleus of men who are beholden to a group that favors disarmament in the face of the enemy.

AGAIN, AS part of the background for Jackson's skepticism, are charges by Congressman Craig Hosmer (R-Calif.) that the Defense Department is spending only "peanuts" in keeping up the Safeguards.

Hosmer has a set of figures which show that the Four Safeguards require a round figure investment of one billion dollars, plus annual operating outlays of about $250 million. Secretary McNamara has asked for a total Safeguard investment of only $279 million for the coming fiscal year — far below Hosmer's calculation of what is required.

At the moment the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee is going into Senator Goldwater's charges that our long-range missiles are unreliable. After that, says Jackson, the Safeguards (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

The First 100 Days

WASHINGTON — Nothing like the first hundred days of Lyndon Johnson's Presidency has been seen before. Partly the circumstance and partly the man created a drama without parallel in our national life.

Shocked, humiliated, profoundly moved and deeply troubled by the events of November, Americans regardless of party or creed turned to a new President whom they scarcely had heard of to be reassured. They wanted to believe that this man could carry on and that with him the shock would abate and the fear of the future recede.

BY TEMPERAMENT — his boundless energy and unquenchable self-confidence—he was well equipped to respond. He was off and running with hardly a moment's hesitation. By every means of communication he set out to tell Americans just what they would be hearing, namely that there would be no interruption in the orderly processes of government and the Kennedy programs would be his.

It is pointless to compare his performance with any like period out of the past. The tax bill has been passed and this seems to assure a high level of prosperity through the current year. Where the measures would have been on a Kennedy schedule will never be known.

A GREAT DEAL of the Johnson energy has gone into intensive cultivation of Congress. Whether this will pay off in terms of controversial legislation—the tax cut had wide popular support—is uncertain.

The big tests are still to come. If after a long huddle in the Senate Congress fails to pass a strong civil rights bill growing disorder in the South and in Northern cities will confront the President with mounting hostility between Negroes and whites. That could mean political disaffection to be registered at the polls in November.

WHETHER THE drift toward disaster in Viet Nam can be checked short of a radical move is a great unknown. In any event, the crises in Cyprus, Panama, etc., were long in the making and bound to surface.

A striking phenomenon of the hundred days is the way the principals in the Kennedy Administration have stayed on to give the new President devoted loyalty.

IN STYLE Johnson has shown that he is even more addicted to personal government than was the late President Kennedy. An example was the refusal of the maritime unions to move wheat to Russia because less than 50 per cent was to be carried in American ships. Both the Labor and Commerce Departments had failed to end what had become an acute embarrassment. Johnson got on the telephone with AFL-CIO President George Meany. Using the strong language natural to him—a vernacular Meany well understands—the President came to an agreement with the labor boss.

THE DOUBTS in what has been on the whole a vigorous and confident transition from tragedy and threatening confusion are twofold. One is on the score of restraint—personal restraint to conserve executive energy and health and the broader restraint that delegates authority to others without constant interference.

The second doubt is over whether Johnson can build boldly and constructively on the policy laid down by the late President in his American University speech, calling for concessions from both Russia and the United States to try to find a way back from the nuclear brink. But it is unreasonable to expect that doubt to be resolved in a Presidential year. (Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Hot Water Lessens Floor Waxing Chore

Dear Heloise: From formal now. She dates on weekends but never on school nights unless for a very special occasion.

Patricia plans to attend North Texas State and hopes to become a home demonstration agent.

For the mothers who must wax their kitchen and bathroom floors to say nothing of the rest of the house... I would like to tell you my method. When I use liquid wax I always dilute it with two parts of very hot water. The hot water thins the wax down and not only makes it go on easier, but it dries three times as fast. I notice also that I do not get a build-up when using this method.

The hot water also seems to melt the wax already on the floor and fill up those little scratches which children's shoes and the heels of women's shoes make.

True! Heloise

Dear Heloise: The best way I know to remove grass stains from clothes is to rub them with glycerine (available at the drug store) and leave it to soften for about 30 minutes. Wash the garment as usual.

I have four youngsters and it works every time. And another thing... when I fill my husband's lunch box I always include a mason jar filled with cracked ice. This not only keeps his lunch cool but he has a jar of cold drinking water.

Sometimes I put iced coffee or a bit of strong tea in the jar along with a few saccharine tablets and he has something even better. It will be noon before the ice cubes are half melted. The result is a perfect drink.

My husband found it even better when I wrapped two paper napkins around the mason jar because the ice cubes did not melt so fast.

I love that man. Dear Heloise: The instructions on bottles of frosted nail polish say to use the enclosed stick and stir thoroughly. When using this method I can never get all the frosted part completely off the bottom of the bottle and end up with part of it on the stick!

If you store your bottles of nail polish upside down after CAPPING WELL... the frosted part of the polish will settle near the top of the bottle.

Then when you are ready to use the polish, set it right side up again for a few minutes and shake thoroughly as directed. The frosted part will blend beautifully!

FROM HELOISE'S KITCHEN

Loretta Hunnicutt Ladies, please... DO NOT fill your ice tray with boiling water to defrost your refrigerator! A pot, pan or anything else, yes, but not your good trays.

These ice trays have been coated with something to keep your ice from sticking. By putting boiling water in them or washing them with detergent, you are removing the film that was put on the trays in the factory... and your ice cubes will begin to stick to the trays, and that release handle will eventually break! I have bought ice trays each year, for years, until I found this was the answer.

This has also been verified by the manufacturers. Heloise

Dear Heloise: When frying fresh or frozen fish, which has to be coated with a batter, I use regular cream of wheat! The fish browns better... and you should taste the difference. Reader

Republican Makes Hard Race For Louisiana Post

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Louisiana chooses a new governor today after a campaign distinguished by the Republican party's all-out bid for political power.

Charlton H. Lyons Sr., 69, heading the GOP effort to break the Democratic monopoly, said he would campaign right down to the final minute.

Though Lyons ran Louisiana's most vigorous GOP race of the century, the Democratic nominee, John J. McKeithen, 45, remained the odds-on favorite.

A third candidate, Thomas S. Williams, 40, of the States Rights party, failed in his legal bid to postpone the election.

Williams claimed in a federal suit state law was violated when many parishes failed to notify him when and where voting machines would be inspected.

In Baton Rouge, a federal judge refused to block the election, but set a hearing for Friday before a three-judge panel.

The hearing may rule on the second part of Williams suit—that official promulgation of the returns should be blocked.

Throughout his campaign, Lyons emphasized his contention that his election would have a profound effect in the fight against the civil rights bill pending in Congress.

Both McKeithen and Lyons, a converted Democrat, climaxed their campaigns with state-wide television appearances Monday night.

McKeithen, an off-shoot of Louisiana's Long faction, accused his GOP opponent of wanting to "help the rich get richer and the poor get poorer."

Grim Task Begins, Bringing Out Dead

MINDEN, Nev. (AP)—Workers began the grim task today of recovering and identifying 85 Lake Tahoe plane crash victims as this tiny western Nevada town opened its doors and kitchens to relatives of the dead.

The 81 passengers and four crew members died Sunday in the crash of a Paradise Airlines Constellation against a lofty snow-covered peak on a flight scheduled from San Jose, Calif. to the gambling and winter sports center on the south shore of Lake Tahoe.

The path for recovery operations was cleared by a bulldozer and crew which followed an old logging road, then pushed through rocks and snow to the crash site.

Relatives and friends of the victims thronged into Minden, a Basque-German town of 550 residents located six miles east of the crash site and seven miles south of Carson City, the state capital.

The fire station became an information center; the Carson Valley Improvement Club became a morgue and Douglas County courthouse became headquarters for recovery puses.

While the bodies were carried out, Federal Aviation Agency and Civil Aeronautics Board investigators were to examine the crash scene in an attempt to learn why the plane crashed.

The victims, all Californians and mostly from the Salinas and San Jose areas, were headed for a day at Nevada gambling casinos when the plane was caught in a blinding snow-storm.

Pilot Henry Norris, 43, took his plane to the north end of the 6,228-foot-high lake for a routine approach to Lake Tahoe Airport.

He radioed at 11:29 a.m. Sunday that he had spotted the lake through a break in the storm and was over the last approach marker to the airport. Two minutes later he began a message.

"Flight 901—"Nothing more was heard.

Air and ground searchers, hampered Sunday by the snow-storm, did not find the plane until 7:30 a.m. Monday—when it was spotted on a ridge near the south end and several miles east of the lake.

Authorities speculated that at the last minute Norris changed his flight plan and headed for Reno or Carson City.

The biggest piece of wreckage was the tail section. Most of the other pieces were so small they were hard to distinguish from tree stumps and rocks.

Helicopter pilot Leroy W. Marx, who spotted the wreckage said: "If he (Norris) had been 25 to 30 feet higher he would have cleared the peak."

Bud Wilkinson Shaking Hands

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"You don't have to tell me who you are, Bud," said a woman in a supermarket, one hand clutched to the handle of a grocery cart.

A man around retirement age asked, "Can a Democrat vote for you?"

These and other residents of the prosperous wheat and cattle country of the Oklahoma Panhandle seemed less impressed with issues than with the fame of the handsome visitor who told each person he met, "I'll appreciate your vote."

Charles (Bud) Wilkinson's record during 17 years as the nation's winningest football coach made him well known in the area. But until he quit as football coach at the University of Oklahoma and launched his campaign for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate he had never visited there.

Wilkinson chose to launch his campaign in the panhandle and northwest because the area has one of the largest concentrations of registered Republican voters.

It was his first real venture into politics, although he repeated over and over in his first dozen or so speeches: "I've been in Washington working on the nation's physical fitness program and observed, at least in a limited way, the course our country was taking."

When Wilkinson, silver-haired at 47, reaches to put on a pair of thick, black rimmed glasses, there's a startling resemblance between him and the man he wants to see elected president of the United States this year, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

HELP

His backers concede that Wilkinson's fame as a football coach can't do anything but help.

"His personal prestige alone will get him votes," said a rural mail carrier and active Republican campaigner.

On his second day on the campaign trail, he munched on an apple while walking from door to door through business districts.

"I'm Bud Wilkinson," he repeated over and over. "I'll appreciate your support."

He shook hands until it hurt.

Wilkinson seemed content to make his initial venture into politics simply a "howdy!" affair. He avoided political controversy in his speeches. When he did volunteer to answer questions, it was rare that issues were injected into the meetings.

Many of the persons who went to see and hear Wilkinson were Democrats.

SPKES TO 375

At Boise City, in freezing weather, he spoke to 375 persons in the high school auditorium. Boise City has a population of about 2,000 persons. The whole county has just under 600 registered Republicans.

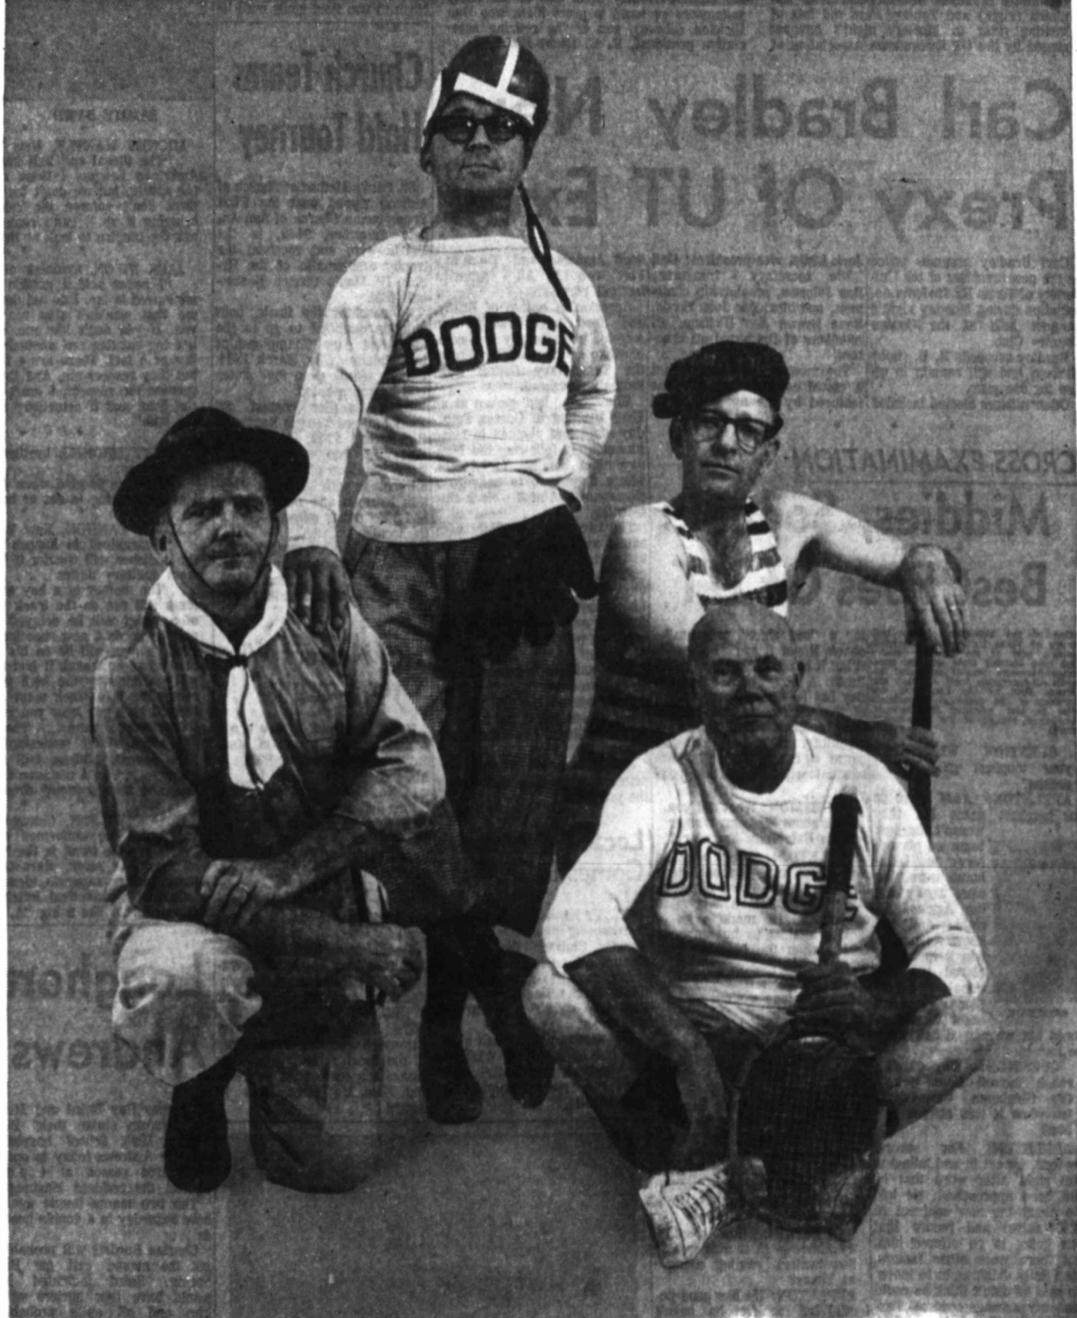

His campaign day started before dawn and lasted until long after dark. He drank gallons of coffee.

Between towns, Wilkinson sat in the rear seat of a borrowed car, reading political literature.

"I'm a conservative," he repeated at each stop. His great concern, he added, is: "Does man belong to the state or is the state the servant of the people?"

Whatever the outcome, Wilkinson says he won't go back to coaching if he fails to win a two-year term in the Senate.

The seat he seeks is held by former Gov. J. Howard Edmondson who was appointed to the Senate after the death of Democratic Sen. Robert S. Kerr whose term was to expire in 1966.

Admiring Young Man

University of Texas All-American Scott Appleton (right) and Tommy Ford did lots of visiting prior to Monday night's banquet staged by the UT Ex-Students Association at the Cosden Country Club. One of the many youngsters on hand to greet them was Don Hickson (above), son of the retiring association president, R. E. (Bob) Hickson.

Carl Bradley New Prexy Of UT Exes

Carl Bradley assumes office as the new president of the University of Texas Ex-Students Association during Monday night's banquet held at the Cosden Country Club. Bradley succeeds R. E. (Bob) Hickson and will remain in office for one year. Other officers elected included Jack Little, vice president; Gail Little, secretary-treasurer; Ben Johnson, scholarship chairman; and Mrs. Dee John Davis, Rene Brown and Hickson, all members of the board of directors. The meeting, which attracted a crowd estimated at 100, was featured by the appearance of

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Middies, Sooners Best Foes Of UT

One of the highlights of the University of Texas Ex-Students Association meeting held at the Cosden Country Club here Monday night was the question-and-answer session conducted by Carl Bradley, president of the association, and members of the audience. Immediately prior to and following the banquet here is a sample of the cross-examination:

QUESTION: What was your toughest game last season?
APPLETON: A&M gave us our toughest game but they weren't the best team we played. Navy and Oklahoma were. We were ready for the Aggies, all right. And we knew we had to win it to be declared the National champions. I don't know what happened but we played ball when we had to.

QUESTION: Why didn't coach Darrell Royal take the Oklahoma University job when it was offered to him?
APPLETON: For several reasons. I went in and talked to him right after word that he had been approached. He told me about the new contract (a $4,000 raise) and tenure that was going to be offered him. But there were other factors. His family didn't want to move. He said he didn't think he could beat his arrangement at Texas and the Royal family had made a lot of friends in the Austin area.

QUESTION: How has the Texas recruiting been this spring?
FORD: We've signed over 50 boys. I think, but I don't know about the quality. We had more blue-chip boys than we ever had last spring but they didn't turn out. At least, they haven't yet. Their attitude is suspect. It was the worst freshman team the school has had in a long time.

QUESTION: What about next fall's team?
APPLETON: We'll be hurting at tackle. We lose five tackles. If we can solve our problems there, we'll be all right.

QUESTION: Who is going to be Texas' next great All-American?
APPLETON: No doubt about it. Tommy Nobis of San Antonio Thomas Jefferson. He can do anything—a great linebacker.

QUESTION: Explain the "red shirt" program?
FORD: Nothing is decided about who is to be red-shirted until a team starts training in the fall. Texas has no system

St. Louis Billikins Surprise Kentucky

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Kansas State, Miami and St. Joseph's have joined the "ins," Wichita became a large "may-be," Ohio State a "could be" and whatever happened to Kentucky?
Miami, Fla., and St. Joseph's Pa., accepted invitations Monday to the National Invitation Tourney, the seventh and eighth teams in the 12-team bracket.
Kansas State clinched the Big Eight basketball title and the accompanying NCAA tourney berth. Wichita clinched a share of the Missouri Valley Conference lead; which also entails an NCAA tourney spot. And Ohio State kept its hopes alive.
UCLA, top-ranked in the nation, rolled on unbeaten, pushing its mark to 25-0 with an 87-57 rout of California.
But whatever happened to Kentucky?
It appears that Coach Adolph Rupp's nationally third-ranked heroes got caught looking the other way. St. Louis, an also-ran, shocked the Wildcats 67-60 in Kentucky's final game of the regular season.
It was Kentucky's first loss of the season on its home court and reduced the Southeastern Conference champions over-all record to 21-4. The St. Louis zone limited Kentucky's Cotton Nash to two field goals until he broke through in the last two minutes after the game was out of reach.

Kansas State, meanwhile, edged Oklahoma State 63-59 in overtime and clinched its seventh Big Eight title in nine years, with the help of Kansas, which eliminated runner-up Colorado 73-71 in overtime.
Wichita, ranked fifth in the nation, whipped North Texas State 90-83 and tied idle Drake for the Missouri Valley top spot each with 10-2 and the regular season completed. They'll meet Friday in a playoff game to determine the league's NCAA representative.
All America Gary Bradds held keep Ohio State in the Big Ten picture, leading the Buckeyes to an 86-75 triumph over Illinois. Bradds tossed in 34 points in Ohio State's fifth straight league triumph.

Church Teams Hold Tourney

St. Paul's Methodist Church of Abilene ripped past the First Presbyterian Church of San Angelo Saturday, 94-80, in the YMCA gym and received the trophy emblematic of the Region IV Men's Church Basketball title.
By reaching the finals, both quintets qualified to go to the Southwest Area Championships in Oklahoma City March 13-14. Church teams from four states will be represented.
In an earlier contest, St. Paul's nipped Temple Baptist of Big Spring, 93-92, in a contest that went into a double overtime. Hamilton of St. Paul's led all scorers with 38 points while Ken Harmon and Don Maloney had 26-25 points respectively for the locals.
In the only other contest, First Presbyterian edged by University Baptist of Abilene, 85-82, into a game that went into overtime.

HC Netters Win Over Cowgirls

HCJC Jayhawk Queens scored a clean sweep in Monday's action against HSU in Abilene.
In No. One singles play, Kay Butler of Big Spring turned back Kay Mitchell of HSU, 2-6, 6-4. In No. Two singles, Karen Butler of HCJC dished Ann Brazzel of Hardin-Simmons, 5-7, 6-0, 6-4.
No. One doubles play was not held due to the time element.
In No. Two doubles, Elaine Patterson and Jo Ann McWaters of HCJC bounced Beverly Hargrove and Bonnie Rennick of HSU, 6-3, 7-5.
The Butler twins hail from Fairlurris and are sophomores at the local school. Miss Patterson is a resident of Andrews and Miss McWaters lives in Girard.

Local Y Swimmer Comes In Second

EL PASO — Carrie Bizzell, representing the local YMCA Aquatic Club in the regional championships in El Paso Saturday, swam to a second place finish in the finals of the 50-yard free style for 10-year-olds and under.
The second place finish qualified her to travel to Oklahoma City and compete in the Southwest Area Championships March 13-14.

Queens Take To Hardwoods

Charles Burdett will probably get the mound call for Big Spring. Baird indicated he would have four hurlers with him and all quite probably would see action.
The others are Freddy Mears, who has been hurt; his brother, Gary Mears; and Hank Pope.
In all, 22 players will make the trip and Baird plans to do a lot of experimenting. Gary Holemans, his regular second baseman, is hurt and cannot play. Starting in Holemans' place will be Jim Hamilton, a senior who moved here from Enid, Okla.
Freddy Simmons, due to play center field for the locals, broke his thumb recently and will be out for a week and a half.

Queens Decision HSU In Match

HCJC's girls volleyball team defeated HSU, 15-5, 17-15, in an exhibition match here Monday night.
Spiker Marilyn McReavy of Big Lake and set Elaine Patterson of Andrews were outstanding for HCJC. HSU's top performer was Louise Patterson.
The Jayhawk Queens play in Odessa a week from tonight.

Harlem Megaphone

Stuff and nonsense will be the order of the evening when the Harlem Stars challenge a team of HCJC Exes in a basketball exhibition in the HCJC Gymnasium at 8 o'clock this evening. One of the visiting clowns will be Taylor (Loud Mouth) Billingsley (above). Boyd Bule, a one-armed great, manages the touring team. Such players as Al Kloven, Ray Crooks, Doyle Edmiston and Delnor Poss will play for the local contingent. Admission prices are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Ponies, Bears Play Tonight

ACKERLY—The Sands-Mustangs, winners of the District 77-B girls' basketball crown, travel to Midland tonight for a 7:30 bi-district game against the champs of 87-B, Barstow. The contest will be played in the Lee High School gym.
Coach John Turner and his Ponies have had a highly successful season as they have swept through their district in compiling a 23-9 record. The squad is made of 15 girls.
Starters for tonight's contest include: forwards, Zaida Bodine, Robbie Brown, and Ruth Lemon; guards, Linda Fleming, Dariene Wright, and Don Nell Allred.
Bodine is easily the most dangerous scorer on the crew. In a Hardin-Simmons tournament this season, she collected 50 points in one game.
The winner of the game advances into the Region VI Class B tournament to be held in the Howard County Junior College gym beginning Friday.

Norris Named All-District

COAHOMA—Basketball coaches in 6-A have picked their all-district squad with one Coahoma lad being placed on the top unit. Two other Bulldogs made honorable mention.
Hayden Norris, senior forward for Coahoma, was the player put on the first team. Jimmy Shafer and Ray Gaines made honorable mention or the second team.
Other members of the all-district squad were: James Alwood, Jim Ned senior; Dickie McMahan, Wylie senior; Clifford Jones, Roscoe senior; and David Frazier and James Ray, Aspermont junior and sophomore respectively.
Players on the honorable mention team are: Jackie Reynolds and Tommy South, Merkel; Fidel Herrera, Roscoe; Wayne Turnbow, Jim Ned; and Ronnie Moorehead, Aspermont.
Norris, at 6'4" and 190, averaged 23.5 points an outing through the Bulldogs 1963-64 20-game schedule. His high-point effort came against the Forsan Bulldogs on the Bisons home court as he hit 33 points.
A two-year starter who earned a monogram three years, he topped the Bulldogs in rebounding averaging 15-18 a contest. He scored the majority of his points on an outside jump shot.
Norris made the all-district second team last year.
Shafer, a 145-pounder, is a 6'1" senior forward. Averaging 10 points a game, he sparked the Bulldogs on defense. He was a starter only during his senior year.
Gaines was the low post man on the Bulldogs quintet. A 6'5" 155-pound senior, he averaged 15 points a contest in this, his first year as a starter. He had a good jump shot from the baseline and a good left-handed hook shot.
Howard County Junior College is interested in the talents of all three performers. Norris has received several other junior college leads.

Coaches Roy Baird and Melvin Lindsey take their Big Spring High School baseball team to Andrews today to open their 1964 season at 4 p.m. against the resident Mustangs.
The two teams tangle again here Saturday in a double header.
Charles Burdett will probably get the mound call for Big Spring. Baird indicated he would have four hurlers with him and all quite probably would see action.
The others are Freddy Mears, who has been hurt; his brother, Gary Mears; and Hank Pope.

Show Broadens Horizons With A Try At Boredom

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Hollywood and the Stars" started out in September dedicated to the production of laughs and nostalgia by showing hits from old silent movies. It has steadily broadened its horizons.

Monday night it showed what really went on during the well-publicized days in Mexico when Ava, Dickie and Liz—in alphabetical order — were concerned with the making of a movie, "Night of the Iguana." Those expecting a lurid account were doomed to disappointment. Some one on the scene compared the sober goings-on to a Boy Scout picnic. This proved to be wild exaggeration.

The only fireworks shown were real ones—Roman candles shot off at a rather perfunctory party after the film was finished. We did see Miss Gardner water skiing and, of course, acting. Miss Taylor was glimpsed reading a newspaper and standing around at the party. Burton was shown having his makeup applied, acting and standing around with Miss Taylor, looking bored. By that time so was I. "Hollywood and the Stars" is a lot more entertaining when it shows Rudolph Valentino, Rod LaRoque, Billie Dove and Mack Sennett bathing beauties.

"Missing Links," the NBC panel show, which will be departing soon to make room for Merv Griffin's new "Jeopardy," will not be a candidate for television's Boot Hill. ABC has picked up the show and is expected to put it into its morning game show lineup.

Ed McMahon, "Missing Links" host, probably will not cross the channel with the program. He has conflicting commitments with NBC's "Tonight Show" and Johnny Carson. Sebastian Cabot, late of "Checkmate" and "Stump the Stars," will be host-narrator of CBS' "Suspense" series, which will replace "Tell It to the Camera" on March 26. Recommended tonight: "Our Man in Washington," NBC, 10-11 (EST)—David Brinkley on a guided tour of the nation's capital that does not include the Washington Monument.

Sub Expenses
LONDON (AP) — Britain is spending $106 million in the next year on Polaris submarines, the House of Commons was told Monday.

Both Sides Stand Pat On Bids

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Indonesia and Malaysia stood pat today on conflicting demands as their representatives gathered in Bangkok for another conference with the Philippines on the Malaysia crisis.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio told newsmen his government insists a political settlement must be discussed along with talk about the shaky cease-fire along the border between Indonesian and Malaysian Borneo. Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak of Malaysia said the cease-fire must be made effective before the ministers take up political problems. Ministers of the three nations, with Thai officials acting as mediators, are meeting for the second time in a month to try to agree on a basis for settlement of the crisis.

Cancer Crusade Dates Announced

LAMESA (SC)—Dates for the annual Cancer Crusade in Dawson County have been announced by Don Nutt, president of the organization. Mrs. Paul Goostree will serve as crusade chairman and Mrs. Alice Lindsey will head the house-to-house campaign slated April 2-3. Business firms will be canvassed during the week of March 30. Rural areas will be solicited, but definite dates have not yet been established.

Bob Hope's Wife Honored Monday

CHICAGO (AP) — Dolores Hope was honored as Notre Dame University's "Chicago Lady of the Year" Monday night, but when the time came to make a response, she turned to her well-known husband and asked: "Well, where's my response?" A beaming Bob Hope then took the floor at the Palmer House and responded—for 30 minutes.

The Hopes were guests of the Chicago Alumni Club of Notre Dame, which opened a $20 million drive for a development program at the South Bend, Ind., campus.

Mrs. Hope, a tall blonde, was presented a gold medallion embossed with a copy of Notre Dame's famed Golden Dome. The Rev. John E. Walsh, Notre Dame vice president of public relations, lauded Mrs. Hope as an outstanding wife, mother and Roman Catholic. Hope joined the loud laughter when Mrs. Hope was asked what it was like having such a famous husband. "I really don't know," the soft-spoken Mrs. Hope replied. "He's the only husband I've ever had and I can make no comparisons."

Hope, casting a glance at his wife of 30 years, told of the only time he was angry with her: "The morning I came downstairs for breakfast and found her sitting in my spotlight." Hope said he and Dolores have enjoyed a wonderful relationship, even though they had been forced to put up with "away-from-each-otherness" imposed by the pressures of show business. "And she beats me at golf," he added as an afterthought. The citation lauded Mrs. Hope for "graciously accepting and playing an outstanding lifetime role of devoted wife and mother, for her distinguished efforts in many charities . . . for exemplifying the ideals of a dedicated Catholic woman."

Before the evening ended, a telegram was received from the Hopes' four adopted children: Anthony, 24; Linda, 23; Nora, 17; and Kelly, 16. "We thank you," the telegram said, "for recognizing what we have known all along."

Wayland College Board To Meet

PLAINVIEW — Wayland Baptist College Board of Trustees will meet in semi-annual session at 9:30 a.m., March 12, on campus, according to E. M. Osborne, Plainview, chairman. Election of officers and adoption of the 1964-65 budget for more than $1 million are high on the agenda. Expected for the trustees meeting is Dr. P. W. Malone, Big Spring. The college has been presented with a memorial gift in honor of the late Dr. L. C. Wayland which will provide a cash award for an outstanding student in the field of medicine on the annual Recognition Day program, according to President Roy C. McClung. Dr. Wayland, who died recently while visiting in California, was the brother of the founder of Wayland Baptist College and a longtime physician in Plainview.

The grand slam contract in no trump reached by North and South was certainly a reasonable undertaking. North had 19 points in high cards so that, when his partner opened the bidding with one no trump, at least a small slam was assured. In order to probe for bigger things, North made a forcing jump to three spades. South raised to game in spades, and North asked for aces and kings. His inquiry uncovered every top control and, since South was known to have at least three high card points in addition to the 13 he had shown in answering the Blackwood inquiries, North decided that there would be a sound play for 13 tricks, and he proceeded to seven no trump. West opened the queen of clubs taken by declarer's ace. Twelve top tricks could be counted—three spades, three

He must furnish a transcript of grades signed by the principal, and have three letters of recommendation. He must also write a letter, in his own words, on "Why I Want to Go to College."

The scholarship committee is made up of Mrs. F. L. Kemp, chairman, R. H. Weaver, and Lt. Col. William A. Clair.

World War I veterans must have served between April 6, 1917 and Nov. 11, 1918; World War II, Dec. 2, 1941 to Aug. 6, 1945, and Korean, June 25, 1950 to July 27, 1953.

North Texas State Band To Perform Here Friday

North Texas State University bands, under the direction of Maurice McA Dow who joined the faculty in 1945, have achieved national reputation. The band's recordings are played throughout the United States, and the 17 annual tours have covered a dozen states. He will bring the band to Big Spring for a concert Friday night at the municipal auditorium under the sponsorship of the Band Boosters Club.

McA Dow is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University with a BM degree, and of the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago with an MM degree. He was a conducting pupil of Niccolai Malko.

The director's professional instrument is a trumpet. He studied with Herman Beststedt, and with Edward Lewellyn, well-known teacher and member of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. He spent eight years of intensive woodwinds study with symphony artists.

Before joining the NTSU music faculty McA Dow was associated with public schools in Greenville, Ill. He taught at Greenville College, Illinois Wesleyan University, and at York High School, Elmhurst, Ill. He has a contest record that includes a string of first-division ratings through regional, state, and national contests.

McA Dow has served as adju-

He is a member of the Texas Music Educators Association, the Music Educators National Conference, the College Band Directors National Association, the Texas Bandmasters Association, and is an honorary life member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia music fraternity.

DEAR ABBY

Free Rides Must Stop

DEAR ABBY: A neighbor of ours rides to and from work with my husband every day. They don't work at the same place, but he drops her off at her place of employment in the morning, and at night she walks to where he works to catch a ride home with him. This woman is divorced, is in her early 40's, but acts like a school girl around my husband. She is very forward, quite loud, and is not my husband's type. He says she means nothing to him, but there was a time when he was on more than just speaking terms with another woman who also "meant nothing" to him, and I don't care to go through that again! We are happy now, and I want to keep it that way. I would have more peace of mind if my husband quit giving this woman rides. How does one end that sort of thing?

SEE THE SIGNS

DEAR SEE: You know your husband better than I do, and if you "see the signs," don't ignore them. Tell your husband that since this woman means nothing to him he should tell her that he is married to a jealous, possessive old witch (that's you!) and in order to preserve the peace at home he can't provide her with transportation any more. Period. She probably won't ever speak to you again, but as long as she quits speaking to your husband, who cares?

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me why it is almost impossible to get a woman to pay off a bet to a man? Women make bets right along with men, and they always collect when they win, but they rarely pay off when they lose. Why is that?

AL: There are no statistics on the subject, but it is my observation that when a woman bets with a man, and loses, she will offer to pay, but the man, not wishing to accept money from a woman, usually says, "Oh, forget it."

DEAR ABBY: Two weeks ago we took our beautiful little 10-year-old daughter to a doctor and he said she had leukemia. We didn't want to believe him so we took her to another doctor, and he said the same thing. Abby, our world has fallen apart. Our daughter may live a year, maybe less, but the doctors say not longer. I don't want to tell my parents. It would just kill them. I know they will have to know some time, but I want to spare them all I can.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1.50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.
