'Just Couldn't Leave Without It'

Appointment Was Surprising To One

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's surprise announcement that he is appointing 10 women to top government jobs may have been premature in at least one case. Taken by surprise, one appointee said she isn't sure she'll accept.

"I really can't say anything until I look into it a little more," Virginia Mae Brown of Pliny, W.Va., said Wednesday night when told the President had said he was naming her to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

HIGH HONOR
"An appointment like that is a very high honor for a woman or a man."

Johnson sprung his surprise at a Women's National Press Club dinner at which he presented Judge Anna M. Kross, Commissioner of Corrections of New York City, with the club's first Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Award.

The President also played again on what for him has become a recurrent theme — that he intends to strive to raise the status of women.

"Our determination to enlist women in this administration is no sporadic, election year objective," the President declared.

"It will be a continuing aim not because it is politic, but because it is sound."

APPLAUSE
Given the setting, the President's affirmation was not unexpected. But his list of 10 appointees was. Amid applause he reeled them off.

Mrs. Brown to be the first woman member of the ICC.

Pauline Tompkins, North Edgcomb, Maine, general director of the American Association of University Women, to the Advisory Committee on Education and Cultural Affairs of the State Department.

Mrs. Norman Chandler, wife of the president of the Los Angeles Times-Mirror Corp., to be a member of the Advisory Committee to the U.S. Information Agency.

India Edwards, former vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, to be special consultant to the secretary of labor on youth employment.

AMBASSADOR
Katharine E. White, chief of New Jersey's Garden State Parkway, to an ambassadorship, the country to be designated later.

Mary Keyserling, economist, to be director of the Women's Bureau in the Labor Department.

Rose McKee, former newspaper woman, to be director of the Office of Public Information of the Small Business Administration.

Dr. Eleanor Poland, health and housing researcher, to be specialist on the research grants program of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Barbara Bolling, former wife of Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., to be special assistant to the U.S. chief of protocol.

Mrs. Herbert Stats, editor, to be consultant to the U.S. Office of Aging and coordinator of Senior Citizens Month in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

force, who represent such varying agencies as the departments of Labor, Welfare, Interior, Defense and Agriculture.

However, the source said that Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, began work Wednesday night on a final draft of the message.

The basic problem appeared to be how to coordinate the conflicting views and activities of the myriad of federal agencies involved in the massive project.

Welfare officials, who did much of the original planning, want to take it slowly.

Other top members of Shriver's task force, according to reports, want to jump right in with a crash program designed to show quick results in this election year.

"Welfare wants to go about it with a spoon," said one source, "while some of Shriver's advisers want to use a shovel."

emergency force along the Egyptian-Israeli frontier for more than four years. In mid-January, he was sent to Cyprus as the secretary-general's personal observer.

In a rare display of unanimity, the Security Council authorized the U.N. peacekeeping operation Wednesday, empowering Thant to name the force commander and the mediator in consultation with Cyprus, Turkey, Greece and Britain.

One informant said Thant had suggested three men for the post of mediator, including former President Galo Plaza of Ecuador, who headed the 1958 U.N. observation group in Lebanon. Another man reportedly was favored in U.N. circles was Jose Roiz-Bennett of Guatemala, Thant's deputy chief of cabinet who made a survey trip to Cyprus for the secretary-general and attended the recent London conference at which Britain attempted to mediate the dispute.

The United States and Britain were said to favor Carl W. A. Schurmann, recently named Dutch ambassador to Washington and former president of the U.N. Economic and Social Council. His appointment might be blocked because of the Netherlands' membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

WARM-UP IN TEXAS

Violent Weather Kills 11 Persons

Tornadoes and other violent weather killed 11 persons and injured about 40 in six Southern states.

The Weather Bureau said at least a dozen tornadoes were spawned as warm air from the Gulf of Mexico clashed with a cold front Wednesday.

Skies cleared over Texas Thursday and were predicted to stay that way until Friday.

After a cool night, with most Panhandle and South Plains points reporting freezing weather, the state was due to warm up today and tonight.

It will be colder in the Panhandle Friday afternoon and clouds will accumulate in scattered areas.

KENTUCKY
Torrential rains accompanied many thunderstorms and the 24-hour rainfall in western Kentucky exceeded five inches.

Lightning struck a house at Forrest City, Ark., and started a fire in which seven died. Another Arkansas fatality was attributed to a tornado.

Two were killed in western Kentucky and another perished in Tennessee.

Damage from tornadoes was reported in Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri, and wind damage to a lesser degree was reported in northwest Georgia.

A woman was killed when a tornado roared down onto the Beech Creek community near Magnolia, Ark. Six others were injured.

Another tornado lashed western Kentucky, killing two and injuring about 20. The twister hit near Hardin, near Kentucky Lake, dipped into the tiny community of Fairdealing and then struck Kickssey.

HEAVY RAIN
Some businesses were damaged, but most of the destruction was confined to homes in the area. The heavy rainfall included 7.7 inches at Paducah, 5.75 at Henderson—heaviest in 29 years, 5.25 at Owensboro, and 4.17 at Louisville.

The Tennessee Valley Authority power plant at Pickwick Dam was knocked out as a tornado whipped through Tennessee.

Mrs. Maydell Summers, about 45, was killed at her Springfield, Tenn., farm when a storm cellar caved in at her house.

The tornado at Pickwick demolished the main switchyard.

King Paul Is Nearing Death

ATHENS (AP)—King Paul of Greece was given Holy Communion today as he hovered between life and death.

Athens Radio announced that a palace priest gave Communion to the 62-year-old king, the world's only reigning Orthodox monarch, after a Mass in the chapel at Tatoi Palace.

The radio said: "The king is fighting with death, and his wife, Queen Frederika, is at his bedside as he suffers his mortal agony."

Cubans Being Fired From Gitmo Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 1,000 Cuban workers have been fired from the Guantanamo naval base, and the Navy has ordered U.S. sailors there to replace them.

The Cuban workers discharged to date total more than half of the 1,800 who came through the gate each day.

The Associated Press learned this today after the United States spurned an offer by Prime Minister Fidel Castro to turn on the water to the base once again.

Castro's halting of the flow of fresh water to Guantanamo a month ago set off a chain of U.S. reactions, including the firing of Cuban workers who committed to jobs on the base.

The United States has vowed to make the base self-sufficient. It has made arrangements to build a $10-million permanent water desalting plant and associated equipment for converting sea water into fresh water.

The Navy now is supplying water to the base with relays of huge tankers shuttling between Florida and Guantanamo, off Cuba's eastern end.

At last report, the base had 17 million gallons of water in storage. This is about 1 million more than were in storage tanks on the day Castro shut off the tap because the United States was holding 36 Cuban fishermen accused of poaching in U.S. waters.

There was no indication how many more of the daily commuting workers would be discharged.

Says Weapons Made In China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today that "there has been evidence that in the last six months North Vietnamese support of the Communist Viet Cong has increased" in South Viet Nam.

At a news conference a dozen hours before he planned to take off on a fact-finding trip to Viet Nam, McNamara said larger bore weapons than those seen previously in the hands of Communist guerrillas have been introduced. He said they were "obviously of Chinese manufacture."

McNamara, who said the situation in Viet Nam is grave, added that the "volume of support, character of support, and trend of support" provided by North Viet Nam to the Viet Cong would be studied by himself and his top-rank mission. Among the Chinese-made weapons that he said have shown up with the Communist forces fighting the U.S.-backed South Vietnamese government are 75-mm recoilless artillery, heavy-duty machineguns, more sophisticated mines, and sabotage devices.

The secretary declined to discuss the question of carrying the war into North Viet Nam, as has been suggested in some quarters.

Eight other U.S. officials will accompany the defense secretary, who apparently has been given the leading U.S. role in trying to overcome increasingly aggressive Communist guerrillas threatening the pro-Western regime in Saigon.

It will be McNamara's first trip to Saigon since a military coup at the end of January installed the second successive military government to rule South Viet Nam.

As after the first military coup, in early November, the Communists have staged a vigorous offensive against South Vietnamese forces.

Coupled with terror-bombing attacks on Americans in Saigon, this has caused rising uneasiness in Washington and a feeling in some quarters that the war may be on the point of being lost.

Another Cutback In B70 Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara ordered today another cutback in the already skeletonized B70 long-range bomber program, announcing that only two instead of three test planes will be completed.

He said his action follows a comprehensive survey of the program and results, in part, from concern over continued slippage in the program.

He reported it is now 18 months behind schedule.

Officer Quotes Ruby Remarks

DALLAS (AP) — A policeman quoted Jack Ruby today as saying within minutes after he shot Lee Harvey Oswald that "I intended to shoot him three times."

D. R. Archer testified at Ruby's trial that the defendant came at Oswald—gun in hand in the basement of Dallas police headquarters Nov. 24. He was muttering unintelligible phrases but did call the accused presidential assassin a "S.O.B."

SAID IT AGAIN
After the shooting, Archer said, "as we got him down on the floor, I heard him say it again."

Three to five minutes later, Archer continued, when he was inside the jail with Ruby, he told the defendant, "I think you killed him."

"He said," Archer added, "I intended to shoot him three times."

Ruby, 32, on trial for his life, is pleading temporary insanity. The defense claims Ruby was in a mental blackout when he shot Oswald and didn't know what he was doing.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade asked Archer:

Q. Did you see the pistol?
A. I didn't see the pistol until the shot was fired.

Police officer L. C. Graves, walking alongside Oswald when Ruby shot him, said he did not hear Ruby say he hoped Oswald would die.

DID NOT HEAR
Graves also said he did not hear Leavelle make any remarks to Oswald when the two were bringing him to the city hall basement for transfer to the county jail.

"Did you hear him say, 'If someone shoots you, I hope they shoot as straight as you do,'" Melvin Belli, defense counsel, asked.

Graves denied this. Taking the pistol, Belli put his second finger on the trigger and asked if he had ever known anyone to fire a gun in that manner. "That would be most unusual, wouldn't it?" Belli asked.

Graves said it would be for him but that he couldn't speak for others.

Ruby's lawyers contend he triggered the gun with his second finger. They argue he was in a state of mental shock and did not realize that he was using the second finger.

WRENCHED IT
Graves testified he wrenched the pistol from Ruby after Oswald was shot. He corroborated Leavelle's testimony that Ruby's hand was contracting, apparently trying to fire more shots. Graves said he gripped the cylinder of the pistol, preventing it from firing again.

Scheduled to be shown the jury during the day is the film of Oswald's shooting. Belli says it will be the first time Ruby has seen the film.

Questioning Graves, Belli asked about Ruby's being in police headquarters at the time Oswald was shot.

"There was no connection between the Dallas police force and Ruby in his coming there that morning, was there?"

"I don't know," Graves replied.

"I don't believe it," Belli declared, "and I want it out of this case now."

"Personally," Graves said, "there was no connection between Ruby and Oswald."

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally hopes Texas will have ready by about March 15 its appeal that federal courts allow congressional elections to continue as planned this year.

Connally reviewed with newsmen the problems involved in congressional redistricting, which has been ordered by a Houston federal court and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Pointing out that the state filed its appeal from the Oct. 19 ruling of the Houston court in 60 days instead of the allotted 120, Connally said:

UNTIL APRIL 1
"The Supreme Court gave us until April 1 to file our motion with the Houston court, and we hope we can give them back one-half of that time."

The Houston court ordered at large election of all 23 congressmen unless redistricting was accomplished by Feb. 3, but the order has been stayed.

Among the problems in redistricting, Connally said, will be applying the equal population standard to such cities as San Antonio and Fort Worth, which are entitled to more than one, but not two, congressmen. Parts of these cities would have to be included in other districts, posing problems of which parts to remove from the main district and where to place the smaller part, he said.

These problems and others make him believe a special legislative session on redistricting would not be successful, Connally said.

Other comments at the news conference included:

Campaigning: "The best poll-taking I can do is to do a good job as governor. My activities should be more important than what I say in a political campaign."

Third term: "I've never been strong for a third term but I'd like to think about that when the time comes. Of course, I've been particularly strong against fourth terms"—apparently a reference to Gov. Price Daniel, who Connally unseated in his bid for a fourth term.

SENATE RACE
U.S. Senate race: He will support all Democratic nominees in the general election, but will not divulge his votes in primary elections.

National convention: He expects to be chairman of the Texas delegation. "This was a subject the President and I discussed in my visit to the White House. I told him 'You are extremely popular in Texas and I have heard nothing except that the state plans to send a delegation to the national convention that will be as helpful to you as possible.'"

MacArthur To Have Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur has "obstructive jaundice of unknown origin" and exploratory abdominal surgery will be performed Friday morning to try to determine the cause, Walter Reed Army Hospital announced today.

A statement from the hospital where the 84-year-old warrior has been undergoing tests since Monday, reported:

"Diagnostic tests on Gen. MacArthur have been completed. It has been determined that he has an obstructive jaundice of unknown origin.

"Exploratory surgery of the abdomen will be performed on Friday morning, March 6, at Walter Reed Army Hospital."

Indian Appears Sure To Head Peace Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A 52-year-old Indian general appeared almost certain today to command the U.N. peace force for Cyprus, but at least six men were being mentioned for the tougher job of mediator between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Diplomatic sources said Secretary-General U Thant had chosen Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani to command the force but was withholding an announcement until he receives replies from nations asked to contribute troops.

Effort Fails To Solve Crisis

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Efforts to solve the Malaysian crisis collapsed tonight for the second time in 24 hours as Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines failed to settle the question of withdrawal of Indonesian guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo.

Word that no agreement had been reached in efforts to find a solution came from Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez who acted as a middleman between Foreign Minister Subandrio of Indonesia and Malaysian Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak for most of the day.

Lopez told newsmen after a second meeting with Razak that "the matter stands as is or it was when we parted last night."

The conference broke up Wednesday night over differences between the two countries on the cease-fire U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arranged in the guerrilla war along the Malaysia-Indonesia frontier on Borneo.

Malaysia demanded the withdrawal of the estimated 400 Indonesian irregulars from its Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak as the first order of business. Indonesia said any withdrawal must be accompanied by a settlement of the political dispute.

Connally Predicts Early Appeal On Redistricting

In that motion, he said, Texas will try to outline to the court "the manifest difficulty which occurs in trying to do what is necessary if the court stands on the opinion it has written."

The Houston court ordered at large election of all 23 congressmen unless redistricting was accomplished by Feb. 3, but the order has been stayed.

Among the problems in redistricting, Connally said, will be applying the equal population standard to such cities as San Antonio and Fort Worth, which are entitled to more than one, but not two, congressmen. Melvin Belli Begins Courtroom Theatrics

By SID MOODY
DALLAS (AP)—The gun that stunned a world was brandished in Dallas again Wednesday but this time it wasn't Jack Ruby who pulled the trigger. It was Melvin Belli, a master of courtroom dramatics, taking figurative dead aim on the jury that is trying Ruby for the murder of President Kennedy's alleged assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald.

sanity, Belli grabbed Tonahill's arm and quieted him. OWN IMAGE Belli has persistently claimed people are too worried over the "image of Dallas" to give Ruby a fair trial here. But he's been worried, too, whether his image as an out-of-state lawyer might sit well with a jury. So he was as courtly as a Virginia gentleman Wednesday. He repeatedly set witnesses at ease with a "good" or "fair enough" when they answered his questions. Their testimony over, Belli would stand up and give each witness a bow of appreciation as he passed the defense table. Even when he pointed the pistol at Wade, you felt sure he'd never be so coarse as to pull the trigger.

WASTES NO TIME
It was only the first day of testimony in the already lengthy trial but Belli wasted no time in displaying the theatrical jury tactics that sometimes parallel the most implausible TV script.

Detectives Don't Buy Kidnap Story Of Couple
Detectives Wednesday dismissed a strange story involving a parole violator, a wife who denies being married, an alleged kidnapping and a spending spree financed with stolen credit cards.

When the state introduced as evidence the .38 caliber Colt revolver Ruby used to kill Oswald, Belli took it in hand. Officer J. R. Leavelle, the Dallas plainclothesman in the light tan suit and Texas hat whose shocked features became etched in history by the photos of the shooting, was on the stand. He described how Ruby rushed at him and Oswald with the upraised pistol. Belli began recreating the scene with Leavelle as Oswald and himself as Ruby. Then he pointed the gun at the ceiling, his hand shaking on the trigger as Leavelle said Ruby had done after police had seized him. Belli is claiming that Ruby was temporarily insane at the time of the shooting and kept convulsively trying to fire the snub-nosed pistol even after he'd been overcome by police.

The man claims the girl is his wife, but she denies it, Jones said. Detectives are awaiting clarification on this point from Ohio authorities. Jones said the man was paroled from a penitentiary in Indiana to Cincinnati, Ohio. He is wanted in Ohio for parole violation and for violation of the Dyer Act, which prohibits the transportation of stolen vehicle across state lines. Jones said he indicated other "holds" may be placed on the suspect from authorities elsewhere over the country.

SLUMPED
Belli half slumped towards the floor, his gun hand trembling. The jury got the point. Then he swung around to give the jury a better view. In doing so he pointed the pistol right at Dist. Atty. Henry Wade who had been standing behind him. "Well, I'll hold it up here," he quickly said, aiming the gun at the ceiling again and smiling at the jury.

Borden Establishes Indictment Record
Kendall Webb Jr., handed a seven-year term last week by a Scurry County jury, was indicted along with nine other persons Wednesday by the Borden County Grand Jury, accordi to Detective Jack Jones Webb was jailed on 10 counts. Before the session was concluded at Gail on Wednesday, the grand jury had returned 48 counts of burglary against 10 persons. This easily established a new record for indictments in Borden County. Jones and Sgt. John Wood, Texas Ranger stationed in Odessa, were called before the grand jury yesterday to submit testimony concerning the burglary of several cabins at Lake J. B. Thomas.

FEIGNED MADNESS
"How long was he (Ruby) in this condition staring fixedly?" Belli asked tonelessly as if he were in a trance. It was a picture of feigned madness worth a thousand words of testimony. Belli also left no doubt who was in charge of the defense. During the long days of questioning prospective jurors, Belli has been aided by Joe Tonahill. Tonahill is a whole-sized, folksy small town lawyer who sometimes chatted with the prospective jurors about dogs, inkfolk or whether they had as many children as he (he has six). But when he was halfway through making an objection Wednesday that would have closed off an opportunity to draw testimony about Ruby's

Three More File At Colorado City
COLORADO CITY (SC)—The school board election became a five way race here Tuesday with the entry of three additional candidates for April 4 balloting. Two, R. Y. The latter is in the race for county commissioner of Precinct 1 and does not plan to enter the school board race.

Some Late Filings As Trustee Deadline Falls

Three candidates for places on the board of trustees, Big Spring Independent School District, had filed with the school business office when the deadline fell at midnight Wednesday. James E. (Jimmy) Felts, incumbent, is up for re-election, while C. J. (Jack) Haralson and Winston Wrinkle are new candidates.

Terms of Felts and O. S. Womack expire, and the latter is not seeking re-election. Holdover members of the board are: Harold Talbot, Joe A. Moss, Wendal Parks, Bennett Brooke, and Mrs. Mary Joe Cowper.

Two More Candidates File For County Board Places

Two incumbent trustees on the Howard County school board have drawn opposition in their races for re-election. Deadline for filing for these posts closed at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

W. RAY ECHOLS

W. Ray Echols, Coahoma, filed as a candidate for trustee at large opposing Charles R. (Chub) Jones, incumbent.

Mr. Reid could not be reached immediately for a statement on his filing.

Hays Stripling Jr. had filed as candidate for trustee Precinct 3, Jim Lewis, presently trustee for this precinct, did not seek re-election. Stripling drew no opposition. Echols, 34, is a graduate of Coahoma High School, attended H.C.J.C. and Texas Tech. He served two years in the Army during the Korean campaign, being stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., as a helicopter mechanic. He also has been active in agriculture for 13 years, serving many years as a director of the Howard County Farm Bureau. For 12 years he was chief of the volunteer fire department at Coahoma.

Leukemia May Be Whipped By New Study
HOUSTON (AP)—An English scientist hopes a study he and his colleagues are now making will extend the lives of acute leukemia victims and possibly save the lives of persons radiated accidentally or in atomic warfare.

Currently Echols is employed by Reef Corporation as a production clerk, a position he has held for the past 10 1/2 years. He is an elder in the First Presbyterian Church of Coahoma and is married to the former Eddie Juan Darnell, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Ed Darnell of Midland. They have two children, Sally, 9, and John, 7, students in Coahoma schools. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Echols, Coahoma.

TB Tests Given At Westbrook
WESTBROOK (SC) — TB tests have been given to students in the Westbrook school by Mary Lee Bell, registered nurse, and Mrs. Hoyt Roberts, retired nurse at Westbrook. POWER
"He came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:11, 12). This passage is sometimes quoted in an effort to prove that we become the sons of God by faith only. It teaches the opposite. It says that when we receive Him in the sense of believing, we are given "power to become" sons. This could not be said if we were the sons of God the moment we believed. One does not need to become what he is already. Indeed, he cannot do so. He may remain that which he is al-

ATOMIC PLANT
This is the Yankee Atomic Electric Co. plant, at Rowe, Mass.

Atomic Plant Will Go Under International Control

GENEVA (AP)—The United States announced today that it will place one of its largest nuclear power reactors under international inspection in the hope that other countries—and particularly the Soviet Union—will follow suit.

U.S. delegate Adrian S. Fisher told the 17-nation disarmament conference the huge reactor plant at Rowe, Mass., is to be placed under inspection of the International Atomic Energy Agency—IAEA.

Fisher said the United States hopes this step will encourage the Soviet Union and other countries to join in a worldwide system to prevent the misuse of civil reactors for clandestine production of nuclear weapons. Fisher stressed that the IAEA will be invited to undertake the permanent inspection of the Rowe reactor "whether or not other states reciprocate." But if they do reciprocate, he added, it would be "one of the most significant developments of this conference."

Fisher said three smaller American reactors, two at the Brookhaven, N.Y., research laboratory and one at Piqua, Ohio, are already under IAEA inspection to help the agency develop its procedure for safeguarding the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The privately owned reactor at Rowe is by far the largest to come under IAEA surveillance. It is rated at a power level of 600,000 thermal kilowatts and produced over one billion kilowatt hours of electricity in 1963. "The United States does not believe that opening these reactors to international inspection is a derogation of its national sovereignty," Fisher said. "Nor is the safeguard system onerous. It involves record keeping, reporting and inspection, the kind of controls prudent management would naturally set up internally. For purposes of a safeguard system, such controls must be checked and inspected by an external agency."

Sugar Beet Plans Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department is weighing applications of 21 areas for a sugar beet acreage allotment sufficient to warrant the establishment of new sugar beet processing factories. The allotments would become effective for 1966.

The acreage remaining to be allowed under provisions of sugar control legislation is sufficient, officials said, to justify only two additional plants. Thus 19 of the 21 areas seeking allotments—and hence a new plant—are doomed to disappointment.

Officials said a decision on which two applications will be accepted is a matter of weeks away. They are studying the various applications, their plans for establishing plants and other factors, including the feasibility of growing beets in the applicant areas.

The applicants had until Feb. 15 to mail arguments, briefs and additional information.

The original applications were made at a public hearing here Dec. 10-13.

Firm department allotments are essential to establish and maintain a sugar beet factory because the department controls marketings of sugar under a program designed to stabilize supplies and prices.

Pending Texas applications: The High Plains Sugar Beet Growers Association of Plainview, for allotment of 30,000 acres which would be expected to yield 50,000 tons of sugar annually. The factory would be located near Plainview, at an estimated cost of $17,500,000.

Funds would be provided by growers, private loans and by an engineering company. Beets would be grown in Texas counties of Briscoe, Castro, Crosby, Hale, Lamb, Lubbock and Swisher.

The North Plain Sugar Beet Growers Association of Etter, for allotment of 15,800 acres which would be expected to yield 50,000 tons of sugar annually. Funds for $17,500,000 plant would be obtained from loan from Houston bank for co-land farmers.

LBJ To Attend Wagner Rites

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson flies to New York today to attend the funeral of Susan Edwards Wagner, wife of Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

The general public, previously invited, has been barred from the services in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church as a security measure because of Johnson's presence.

The President brings with him 22 members of both houses of Congress, including the state's senators and the city's members of the House.

Johnson returns to Washington immediately following the church services.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller also will attend.

Mrs. Wagner, 54, died Monday of lung cancer.

Mrs. Wagner was Protestant; Wagner is a Catholic. Although funeral services are Protestant, Mrs. Wagner will be buried in the Wagner family plot in a Catholic cemetery at her request. Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, gave dispensation for her to be buried there.

More than 5,000 persons, including Cardinal Spellman and U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, visited the bier Tuesday, and about the same number of mourners paid their respects Wednesday.

A member of a socially prominent family of Greenwich, Conn., Susan Edwards met Wagner when he and her brother were students at Yale Law School. Wagner is the son of the late Sen. Robert F. Wagner.

The couple were married in 1942 while Wagner was an Air Force officer.

President Gets Spelling Lesson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says he used to think he could spell, but his 16-year-old daughter has given him some qualms.

He said Wednesday night that he knew such rules as placing "I" before "E" except after "C", but his daughter corrected him. It's "I" after "C" as far as she is concerned.

The President made this smiling reference to the new way in which his daughter spells her name — it's Luci, instead of Lucy, the name her parents gave her.

tween me and Jack Ruby in his getting into that basement."

In questioning of prospective jurors, Belli frequently hit at what he called unfounded rumors of a conspiracy between Dallas police and Ruby to silence Oswald.

FBI

Archer testified he was interrogated by the FBI.

"They were interested in the breakdown of security, how he (Ruby) got in, Archer said.

"You knew they were trying to inquire if there was any conspiracy or liaison between the police and Jack Ruby?" Belli asked.

"No, I didn't," Archer replied. Policeman Thomas McMillan told the jury he heard Ruby say:

"You shot the President." He said Ruby came through the police guards "in a crouch and the gun was coming up at the same time."

McMillan said that after Ruby cursed Oswald "then the gun went off."

Before the jury returned from recess, Ruby's lawyers made a strong plea for the right to see a written statement given by Archer. The prosecution has objected and Judge Joe Brown ruled that the written statement is "inadmissible."

PROOF

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bowie Rose asked the court to instruct the defense lawyers not to allude to it in front of the jury. Defense lawyer Joe Tonahill leaped to his feet and roared:

"I submit that this is absolute proof that that statement is at variance with his testimony."

McMillan related fragments of conversation while Ruby was being taken in the elevator to the fifth floor of City Hall. He quoted police Capt. King as saying to Ruby:

"Of all the low life things that ever happened, this takes the cake. Why did you do it?" He said Ruby's reply was:

"Somebody had to do it. Somebody had to do it. You guys couldn't."

McMillan said under questioning he had gone over this part in the events of Nov. 24 three times with Asst. Dist. Atty. William Alexander and once with Wade. McMillan once broke off in the middle of a sentence and started over.

MEMORIZED

"Have you memorized your story?" Belli asked. McMillan said he had not.

Wade is asking the jury of eight men and four women to return a verdict of death in the electric chair for Ruby, charged with murder with malice. Oswald had been accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy when Ruby killed him. Ruby's lawyers contended he was temporarily insane.

Wade said he expects to complete the state's case today. Then the defense will have its turn.

Civil Engineering Center Opens New Base Quarters

RIBBON CUTTING OPENS ENGINEERING CENTER. Col. Taute, Maj. Penn, Capt. Brown do honors

Webb AFB officials clipped a ribbon Wednesday, symbolizing the opening of a new base civil engineering center.

The new unit is across the spur track and slightly to the east of the former location, and it will be known as building 602.

The center is the control point for planning and supervising work performed by the civil engineering section.

On hand for the opening ceremonies were Col. A. F. Taute, wing commander, Col. Charles W. Head Jr., base commander, Maj. Charles H. Penn, base civil engineer, Capt. James H. Brown, center director, plus other CE officials.

The control center, responsible for $33 million of Webb's real property, has three distinctive sections under its operational control: maintenance repair, preventive maintenance and utilities operation.

The center estimates proposed work schedules, and inspects work for the base's civil engineer forces; approves and authorizes work requests; establishes work priorities and effects coordination and compliance with regulations concerning funds, work types and other directed matters.

Under maintenance and repair are plumbing, electrical, carpentry, painting, sheet metal, refrigeration and air conditioning, pavements, grounds, railroads and instruments and controls. Preventive maintenance performs routine maintenance of buildings and structures with maintenance crews operating from mobile trailers.

The utilities section is responsible for water plant and systems, sewage plant, heat plant and systems, power plants, insect and rodent control, custodial control and miscellaneous services.

Slated to come under CE here at Webb are trash and refuse collection, also janitorial services.

Capt. Brown stated his work force of 172 had an annual payroll of more than $1,000,000. In addition the control center spends $250,000 annually for materials (paint, wood, electrical supplies, plumbing, cement, asphalt, etc.) The control center is responsible for the upkeep of Webb Village property and real estate.

The control center's main goal is to plan and organize fiscal year's work for all CE sections one year in advance.

The Webb control center has been in operation since 1961 but this move consolidated all controlling sections under one roof.

Approximately 65 calls daily come into the control center for service. These are handled on the basis of urgency, type and size of job.

Spelling Bee School Champs Due Today

Deadling for selection of school champions and alternates in the Second Annual Howard County (Daily Herald) Spelling Bee is today. All schools participating in the event are to report their winners to the superintendent's office as soon as the eliminations are complete.

Two schools have already named their winners. Airport school named Debra Blanchard as champion and Lynette Rea as alternate.

Runnels Junior High champion is Don Hickson and the alternate is Rocky Woolley. Both are 13-year-old seventh graders and by coincidence, live only three doors apart. Hickson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hickson, 623 State, and Woolley the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Woolley, 627 State.

Most of the schools were having their spell offs Thursday morning.

All champions and alternates are to be at the County Spelling Bee on the morning of March 21 at Howard County Junior College Auditorium. Winner of the County Bee wins a free trip to Lubbock and a chance to compete in the regional Spelling Bee. Winner of the Regional Bee goes to Washington, D. C. in June to try for the National Spelling Bee championship.

The Bee this year is largely restricted to Big Spring schools. Forsan Junior High School, (Elbow) is the only outside school competing.

Local Persons Lead Sections

Five Big Spring men will take part in the programs of District IV convention of Texas State Teachers Association in Midland Thursday night and Friday.

Sebron B. Williams, assistant superintendent-instruction in the Big Spring schools, is immediate past president of District IV; Sam Anderson, superintendent, member of the state executive committee, and Walker Bailey, Howard County superintendent, is a member of the necrology committee, all will be in the house of delegates meeting Thursday night.

Other area committee members are Andrew Wilson, Coahoma superintendent; Bill P. Ballard, Garden City principal, and W. M. Romans, Forsan.

Delegates to the State Teachers Association Convention in October will be chosen by the delegates.

Doug Wiehe, Big Spring High School band director, will be chairman of the section meeting for band directors; Ed Seay will head the vocational agriculture section; Sebron Williams will speak to the School Food Services section on "Your Place in TSTA"; and Walker Bailey will head the section for county superintendents.

All faculty members of schools in District Four will attend the 29th annual convention Friday. It will be a holiday for the youngsters.

C-City Council Draws Candidate

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Henry Lewis, 36, tax consultant and manager of Colorado City's Baker Hotel, became the first candidate for the Colorado City council Tuesday, filing with Mrs. Rip Wallace, city clerk, for the election set for April 4.

Lewis is a former Jaycee distinguished service award winner at Colorado City. Two year terms expire for Mayor H. I. Berman, R. J. Hoback and Dr. John Chinn. None have indicated an intent to file for re-election.

Debra Blanchard Is First School Winner Named

Airport Elementary school is the first school in Howard County to announce its spelling champion and alternate for the 1964 Second Annual Howard County (Daily Herald) Spelling Bee.

Lev Spradling, principal of the school, said that elimination contests spelled the group down to one from each room and there were six in the finals. The sixth grade champion was the first to fall out.

Airport School claims that it had a good part in the championship of 1963. The winner of the County Bee, Burma Gentry, did all of her elementary school work at Airport, Spradling pointed out. Burma, no longer in Big Spring, was the Goliad Junior High champion when she took the county honors last March.

She is Debra Blanchard, a fifth grader, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Blanchard. Mrs. Blanchard and Debra are living at 205 Utah while the father is overseas.

Runnerup and official alternate for the school is 8-year-old Lynette Rea, a fourth grader. Lynette is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Carl E. Rea, 1601 Avion. Her father is pastor of the Silver Heels Baptist Church.

Debra nosed out Lynette when the latter failed to spell "gymnasium."

Said Lynette: "I had reviewed through the C's in the book but Mr. Williams (Oduis B. Williams) went through the G's to the I's."

Debra, apparently, had studied right through the list, for she dealt handily with gymnastics.

Debra, 28, was convicted in Dallas of marijuana possession and has been on parole since April 2, 1963.

This is the first marriage for Wilson, 23. Candy was divorced from her third husband, Jack Sahakian, shortly after she was paroled.

Troylene Phillips, 7, Candy's daughter by her first marriage, was the only other person present beside two witnesses.

Candy wore a tight white dress and gold high heels. She and Williams had been keeping company since she returned to her parents' home here.

Robert Haney's Horse Is Winner

Irish Cupid, prize quarter horse owned by Robert Haney, Howard County 4-H club member, won reserve grand championship honors in the mare division of the San Angelo Fat Stock Show on Wednesday. Haney's mare was nosed out of the grand championship by Debbie Galbreath, Sonora, who showed Little Dandy Bee. Competition was in the youth activities division.

Haney's second quarter horse, Little Bit's Gal, placed sixth in the 1962 Mare division.

Board Adds Worker

An extra worker is being added to the staff of the Berea Baptist Kindergarten and Child Care Center. The board, at its monthly meeting Tuesday at the church at 4204 Wason Road, had reports of an enrollment of 21 and thus decreed an additional staff member. Rev. Darrell Robinson reported on the workshop held Feb. 15 at Midland.

and then, to cap her claim to the title, went on to spell "indebence."

Debra will represent Airport School March 21 at the County Spelling Bee.

Airport started with 45 contenders for the school spelling title, Spradling said. A series of contests spelled the group down to one from each room and there were six in the finals. The sixth grade champion was the first to fall out.

Airport School claims that it had a good part in the championship of 1963. The winner of the County Bee, Burma Gentry, did all of her elementary school work at Airport, Spradling pointed out. Burma, no longer in Big Spring, was the Goliad Junior High champion when she took the county honors last March.

Sen. Ratliff represents the 24th Senatorial District composed of 13 West Texas counties. Ratliff has served in the Texas Senate since 1954, having been promoted to Senate after serving in the House of Representatives since 1950. He is a candidate for re-election.

Pair Sentenced For Robbery

Richard Earl Snider and E. "Sonny" Lewis, under conviction for armed robbery, heard themselves sentenced to serve 25 years in the state penitentiary Wednesday morning. They were brought before Judge Ralph Caton in 118th District Court. The court gave each man credit for the 54 days he had served in the county jail. Snider and Lewis were convicted on a plea of guilty in the court here 10 days ago. The jurors heard the evidence against the pair and set their punishment at 25 years in prison. They were charged with holding up Luther Loudamy Jr., manager of the Gregg Street Safeway Food store on the night of Dec. 23 and robbing him of $6,000. The money was recovered with the exception of $200.

Both Snider and Lewis have other charges pending against them. There is a burglary case on file in Snyder naming the pair. A charge of unlawful possession of narcotic paraphernalia pends against one of the men in Wichita Falls, Sheriff Miller Harris said. Snyder officers have indicated they will come for the pair today to try them for the Scurry County case. Harris said he understood the store burglarized in Snyder had a sub-post-office in it and that it was possible the federal authorities may place a hold on the pair for that offense.

FIRESTONE STORES HAVE FARM TIRE SERVICE
First major change in tractor tires in 32 years featured

Firestone Makes A Major Change In Tractor Tires

Firestone Stores, at 507 E. 3rd, is featuring the Firestone Nylon Safety Champion tires by offering one at the no trade-in price, and the second for half price. These tires carry the "No Limit Road Hazard" guarantee for the life of the tires.

The Nylon Safety Champion has a precision-bladed tread design providing more non-skid edges and skid registers than a grip the road with powerful traction. Its quiet operation eliminates annoying whine and squeal. The thick, tough tread, made with Firestone's SUP-R-TUF rubber, wears slowly and evenly and provides long, safe mileage.

These tires come in all sizes for passenger cars, pickups, trucks, and other uses.

Good news to farmers is the new tractor tire with a 23-degree bar angle which gives more traction. The new tire, the first major tractor tire change in 32 years, is guaranteed to outlast any other tire on the market. The tire comes in all sizes, and Firestone Stores maintain a complete on-the-farm service.

"We are as close as your telephone," G. D. Simpson, manager, said. "Our phone number is AM 4-5564, and we invite farmers to take advantage of the service."

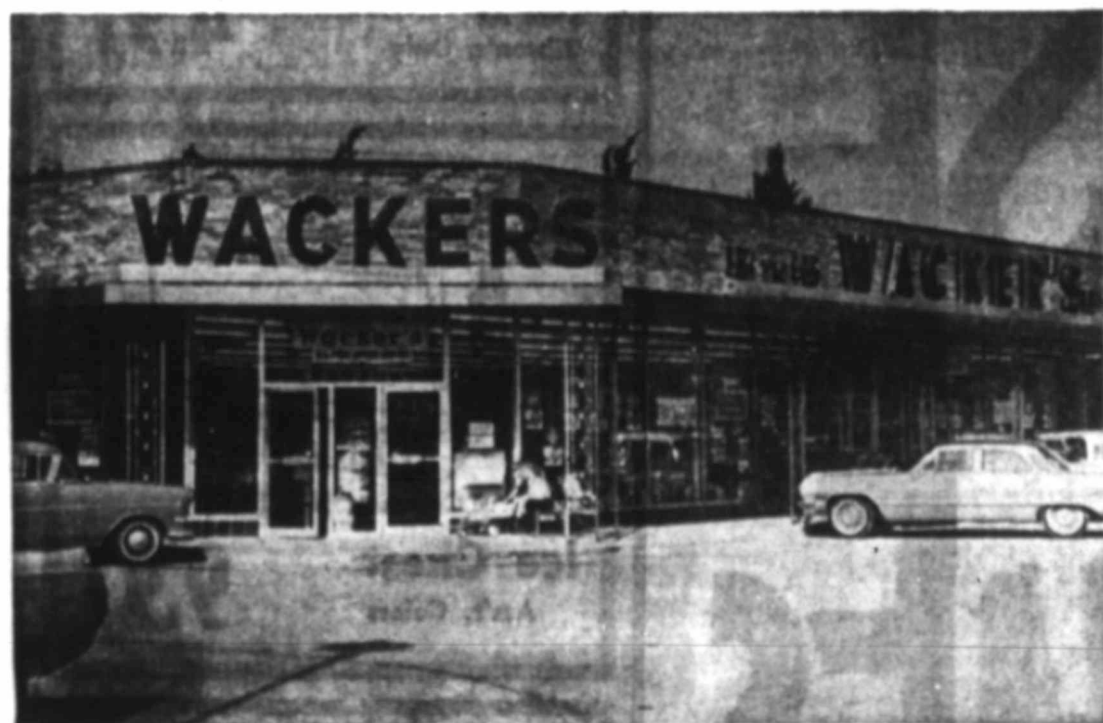

While Firestone's main line is tires, the store is full of other merchandise of well-known brands.

A complete line of Philco appliances enables the careful buyer to take advantage of a variety of models. There are Philco refrigerators, freezers, washers, dryers, television sets in table and console models with combinations of radios and record players; radios in combinations of radios and record players; radios in combinations of AM-FM, single, and with record players; electric ranges, and other needed items.

With summer not too far away the home owner needs to begin thinking about air conditioning in the home. Philco refrigerated air conditioners are in stock. Then there are the Alpine evaporative coolers in good supply.

All kinds of small household appliances are stocked, including General Electric, Sunbeam, and Toastmaster in vacuum cleaners, toasters, hot plates, deep-friers and others.

Wacker's Supplies Home-Yard Needs

With spring almost here, most home owners are thinking about pretty lawns and gardens. Wacker's, with two stores—No. 1 at 210 Main and No. 2 at 1103 Eleventh Place—have an excellent line of shrubbery, fruit and shade trees, pecans, rose bushes, garden tools, fertilizers, and lawn chairs and lounges.

Easter merchandise is also in with a wide variety of Easter eggs, bunnies, baskets, candies, chicks, and other items. Easter comes early this year—March 29—and shoppers need to begin thinking about what will be needed.

Wacker's at Eleventh Place Shopping Center also has a post office substation, and a gift wrapping counter for special occasions.

Flowering shrubs available are alba, crepe myrtle, forsythia, flowering quince, mock orange and lilac. Roses are both Texas and California grown, in all colors, and are healthy specimens.

Fruit trees include apple, peach, apricot, and plums, in several varieties. Pecan trees, with good growth, are also in stock in several varieties.

Shade trees include popular kinds which do best in Big Spring.

Ferti-lome, the fertilizer for all uses, comes in all types, for lawns, trees, and beds. Phillips 66 fertilizer is also in stock.

Then, when the lawn is pretty and the evenings refreshing, lawn and patio chairs and lounges are available, including youth chairs.

For the man and woman wanting tools for doing their own yard work there is a big variety of hoes, rakes, leaf and grass rakes, shovels, spades, grass cutters, trimmers and pruners.

The artificial flower stock this year is finer, and in a greater selection in decorator colors than ever, according to Joe Davis, manager at Eleventh Place. The Easter lilies, in stock, look just like the real thing. Vases and planters are also available for display of these flowers.

The stores carry a full line of other items, including cooking utensils; lamps, floor and table; cotton goods, in wearing apparel, especially for youngsters; traveling bags, school supplies, aquarium needs, stationery, cards, toys, cosmetics, shaving needs, children's books, candies, some minor electrical fixtures, hardware items, and about everything the average housewife and handy man need.

Steers Play Pair Friday

A hastily arranged date will send the Big Spring Steers back to Andrews Friday for a baseball doubleheader with the Mustangs.

The first contest gets underway at 1 p.m. and coach Roy Baird of Big Spring has indicated he will start Charles Burdett in the first game.

Big Spring was originally to have played in Andrews Tuesday but the game was weathered out.

Andrews comes here Saturday for a twin bill, the first of which starts at 1 p.m. All the pitchers on the Big Spring staff are due to get a liberal workout during the four games.

The Steers can leave early for the game site tomorrow, since there is no school. The second game Friday could only five innings, if the first engagement runs overtime.

Upwards to 22 boys will probably make the trip with Baird and coaching aide Melvin Lindsey.

Hillhouse Hurls In Aggie Win

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas A&M used four hits judiciously Wednesday to open the baseball season with a 9-2 victory over St. Edward's.

Chuck McGuire, who pitched the first five innings, got credit for the victory. He combined with Steve Hillhouse to hold St. Edward's to six hits.

Houston Club Choice In State Tournament

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—After months of play, the 22 Texas high school basketball teams that survived district and regional competition, started shooting for the big prizes today, state titles in five divisions.

Only two teams, Clear Creek in Class AAA and McAdoo in Class B, will have a chance to defend the championships they won last year. The other 1963 champions were eliminated.

For the first time in years, part of the huge crowd that makes the trip to Austin for the state tournament will have to shuttle between two gyms to watch their schools play. Acting on orders of the Austin fire marshal, tournament officials scheduled championship games for Gregory Gym on the University of Texas campus and third-place games for the Stephen F. Austin High School gym.

Gregory Gym has a seating capacity of about 7,500, while the high school gym will hold about 1,500.

The 4th annual tournament was to get under way at 8:45 a.m. with a game between two Class B schools, 1961 champion Frankston, and Celeste, making its first trip to the tournament.

Three full days of basketball were scheduled to follow as Texas schoolboys will compete for state titles in Classes B, A, AAA, AA and AAAA.

In Class AAAA, the 1961 champion, Stephen F. Austin of Houston, rates as a slight favorite with its fine 35-1 season record. Ken Spain, a 6 foot 7 junior who has scored 730 points this season, paces the strong Houston squad. The other three entries, all making their first trip to the tournament, are Fort Worth Haltom, San Antonio Lee and Dallas Adamson.

Each team has an all-state player. Haltom's Billy Arnold and Lee's Larry Miller were first team selections while Adamson's Norman Grey got a third team spot.

To win again in AAA, Clear Creek must defeat a field that includes tournament veterans, Kilgore and South San Antonio, and a newcomer, Graham. Clear Creek's Jimmie Lenox, on the first team, and Bill Howard, a third team choice, are all-state players. Graham's 6-foot-8 Mike Lochner and Larry Black of South San Antonio, also were first team selections.

Canyon, which won a state crown in 1950, is the only Class AA entry which has played in the tournament before. The other AA teams after a title this year are Lancaster, Hardin-Jefferson of Sour Lake and San Diego.

It's a completely new bunch in Class A, with Sanford-Fritch, Henrietta, Talco and East Chambers of Winnie seeking the championship. Talco comes with impressive credentials, having upset defending champion West Sabine, 66-62, in regional.

None of the AA or AAA entries placed a player on an all-state team.

McAdoo looks like the team to beat in Class B despite its narrow one-point victory over Hutto in regional play.

McAdoo features two all-state players, Larry Morris, a unanimous first team member, and second team Johnny Powers, both stars on the school's championship team last year. Hawley, Celeste, Frankston, Hutto and Wall fill out the division.

Jimmy Moore, Frankston junior, and Eddie Trice, senior from Hawley, are first team all-state players. Jim Kruger of Hutto won a spot on the second team.

The first-round pairings, with season records, include:

THURSDAY, March 5
Class B—8:45 a.m., Frankston (35-4) vs. Celeste (33-7); 10:10 a.m., Hutto (26-4) vs. Wall (26-6). McAdoo (33-2) and Hawley (44-5) have first round byes.

FRIDAY, March 6
Class AAAA—2:30 p.m., Dallas Adamson (25-4) vs. San Antonio Lee (27-4); 8:50 p.m., Fort Worth Haltom (25-4) vs. Stephen F. Austin of Houston (35-1).

Aaron Better Than Mays, According To Bragan

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee slugger Henry Aaron, according to his manager, Bobby Bragan, not only is the best hitter in baseball, but the finest all-around player in the game.

Natur a lily, Willie Mays, the highest salaried player in the game, is included.

"That's right," said Bragan. "I wouldn't dream of trading Aaron for Mays."

"I've regarded Aaron the better hitter, both for average and power, for some time now, but this is the first time I can say with conviction that Henry is the better all-around performer."

Bragan understandably is prejudiced but it is interesting to hear his reasons.

"Aaron became a complete ball player for the first time last year," the popular little pitcher said. "What made him so? Base running. He stole 31 bases in 36 attempts. That was the only element that was missing before."

"Until last year, Mays had the edge over Henry on defense and in base running. Now Henry has proved to all he can run the bases as well as Mays, if not better. Henry, like Willie, has catlike instinct and intelligence. Given the green light last year, he proved he could steal bases with as much success as anybody in baseball. He even stole four or five bases with Eddie Mathews up and nobody out. That's because he was so certain he could steal on the pitcher."

Aaron, who missed the triple crown by only seven percentage points, led the National League in runs batted in, 130; total bases, 370; runs scored, 121; and slugging percentage, .386. He also tied for most home runs, 44. Aaron also topped Mays in batting average, .319 to .314.

Zimmer Injured; Out Six Weeks

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Veteran infielder Don Zimmer, who attracts injuries like John Wayne's jaw draws fists, can't even find refuge from his nearly perennial plague on a handball court.

As a result, Zimmer heads the rapidly growing list of players hurt in the early stages of spring training. The 33-year-old Washington Senator is set for a four-to-six week involuntary rest with a broken left hand.

Joining Zimmer on the injured report Wednesday, among others, were pitcher Gary Iers of the Chicago White Sox, shortstop Andre Rodgers, spiked finger; Don Mossi, Detroit pitcher, sore left elbow, and infielder Phil Linz of the New York Yankees, face cuts.

Zimmer, expected to be Washington's third baseman this season, reported he broke his hand last Monday when he hit it against a wall in a handball game.

It was only another in a long line of mishaps for Zimmer, who is entering his 11th season with his fifth team. He has been hurt in the minor leagues, in the majors, in Puerto Rico and on the highway.

His first severe injury almost ended his baseball career before it really got started. The 5-foot-9, 185-pound Zimmer was felled by a fast ball while playing for St. Paul of the American Association in 1953. He was a shortstop then with lots of potential.

Unconscious for 14 days with a fractured skull and a blood clot, he spent 31 days in the hospital, suffered double vision and lost the power of speech for a while.

Sunland To Race Extra Weekend

EL PASO—General manager R. F. Haynsworth announced that Sunland Park had received approval from the New Mexico Racing Commission to extend its current 88 day meeting an additional weekend. The meeting will now conclude Sunday, May 3, bringing the total racing days for the 1963-64 season to 91.

Haynsworth said granting the three extra days would provide horsemen with approximately an additional $35,000 in purse distribution.

A special Kentucky Derby racing program is being arranged for Saturday, May 2.

Bradds Looks To Coaching As A Career

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The nation's No. 1 collegiate cager, Gary Lee Bradds of Ohio State, is more interested in junior high school teaching and coaching than in a professional basketball career.

The All-America took it in stride when informed he had been named by The Associated Press as the college player of the year.

"It's a great honor, especially since this is my last year and my last chance at it," he said. "I figured nothing like that could ever happen to me, and I just hope I can live up to it. I can't take it as a personal thing, for all the fellows on the team made it possible."

He bears the nickname of "Tex." He's 21 years old, 6-8, weighs 200 pounds, and once scored 65 points in a high school game. This year he averaged 34 to lead the Western Conference, and the Bucks need only a victory Saturday over Michigan State to win or share their fifth straight Big Ten title.

As a freshman Bradds, fresh from a farm near Jamestown, Ohio, was overshadowed by three-time All-America Jerry Lucas. Last year, Bradds moved into the All-America spotlight for the first time, giving the Bucks the All-America center berth for five straight seasons.

He made the second All-Ohio team among the smaller high schools as a senior, but admitted today that "I was just as tall as I am now, but I was skinny and clumsy."

The eldest of three brothers, Bradds got his first taste of basketball plunking practice shots at a barrel hoop nailed to the barn. He did all chores a farm boy is called on to perform.

"In answer to the inevitable 'how about turning pro?' question, Bradds said:

"I'm a physical education major, and what I really want to do is teach and coach in junior high school. And I'm more interested in teaching than in coaching. I like youngsters, and junior high boys are in the formative stage where they need guidance.

"Whether I'd accept a professional basketball offer depends on the kind of deal they'd make. No one has approached me, but I understand some pro scouts have watched our games and have talked with Coach (Fred) Taylor."

Lon Morris Set For S. Texas

By The Associated Press

It will be Lon Morris vs. South Texas of Houston for the region 14 junior college basketball championship.

Lon Morris beat Henderson County 83-72 Wednesday night for the north zone title.

South Texas downed San Antonio College 70-66 for the south zone championship.

Lon Morris and South Texas now get together to decide which goes to the national junior college tournament at Hutchinson, Kans.

Gra-Y Title Goes On Line Saturday

The city-wide Gra-Y championship basketball game will be played between teams representing Bauer and Lakeview elementary teams at 11 a.m. Saturday. The game will be at the Lakeview Branch YMCA courts. These youngsters are between the ages of 9 and 12 years.

Adult tickets will be 25 cents and children 10 cents, with proceeds going to World Service, Sav-Mor Grocery is providing trophies for the championship team.

Track Team To Be Split

Big Spring High School coaches split their squad this week end for action in the Border Olympics and the Canyon Reef Relays at Snyder.

R. C. Moore and Cliff Patton will accompany 12 athletes to Laredo for the mammoth cinder carnival there.

Coach Herman Smith takes 19 boys to Snyder. The Steers going to Laredo will be quartered at the El Patio Motel.

Making the trip to Laredo will be Ronnie Banks, sprinter, relays runner and broad jumper; Rickey Earle, hurdler; Marvin Hall, mile relay and quarter miler; Mike Alexander, 100 and sprint relay; and Willie Johnson, quarter miler and mile relay.

Also Charles Thompson, miler; Johnny Hughes, low hurdles and relays; Tommy Erhardt, half miler and possibly mile relay; Ronnie Dale Smith, discus; Bobby Baker hurdler; Ronnie Westbrook, half miler; and Gary Morris, miler.

Hughes picked up Big Spring's only points in last week's Comanche Relays at Fort Stockton when he finished third in the low hurdles.

Auerbach Says Celts Are All But In As Champions

By The Associated Press

"As far as I'm concerned, it's all over."

A supremely confident Red Auerbach sat back and lit a cigar. His Boston Celtics had just beaten off the onrushing Cincinnati Royals, 112-108, at Boston Garden.

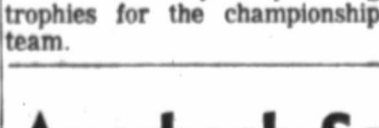

"That was the big one—Wednesday night," Auerbach said. "Even if we lose at Cincinnati Thursday night, we'll still have a 2½ game lead and we'll be hard to catch now."

The Boston victory stretched the Celtics' margin in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association to 3½ games. Both teams have six games left in the regular season.

The Celtics lowered their magic number to four. Any combination of four Boston victories or Royal defeats would give the Celtics their eighth consecutive Eastern title.

Coffeyville, Kansas, J.C. coached by Buddy Ball (above), finished up first in the final National Juco Basketball poll conducted weekly among the coaches. Formidable Sands To Be Here

Pictured above are members of the Sands High School girls' basketball team of Ackery, which meets rugged Trent in the semifinals of the Region VI-B tournament here at 11:15 a.m. Saturday. Forsan, Dell City Meet Friday Night

Five of the area's top girls' basketball teams converge upon Big Spring this weekend for the Regional VI-B Basketball tournament, winner of which becomes qualified for next week's state tournament at Austin.

Howard County Junior College is again the host. Dr. Melvin Crawford is the tournament director.

One game is on tap Friday night. The rest will be unannounced Saturday.

Forsan and Dell City tangle in the Friday night action. Forsan manhandled Wall earlier this week while Dell City ousted Valentine.

Dell City's record is unknown here but Forsan has lost only twice in 31 assignments and must be regarded as one of the favorites.

The winner of that game plays Talpa-Centennial at 9:45 a.m. Saturday. Talpa has a 25-3 record and qualified by defeating Rochelle in bi-district competition.

Trent and Sands drew their way into the finals. Trent is 32-5 for the year and beat powerful Baird, among other teams. Sands is 25-9 and seems to get stronger with each outing.

Third place game starts at 7 p.m. Saturday while the championship contest gets under way at 8:30 p.m.

Good attendance is expected for the entire meet, since two teams of the immediate area—Forsan and Sands—are involved.

Forsan is coached by James Blake and has lost only to Sands and Garden City this year. The Buffs later avenged the losses to both teams.

Officials of the tournament will be Bill Waddle, Lubbock; H. Boyce Hale, Big Spring; L. L. Laws, Brownfield; and Edsel Buchanan, Lubbock.

D. A. Miller will be the official scorer while Eddie Acrt will operate the game clock.

The tournament has been held in Odessa in other years.

REGIONAL STARTS

Texans Favored Over HC Five

AMARILLO—HCJC is a slight underdog to South Plains in their first round game in the Region V Basketball tournament today, despite the fact that the Jayhawks have twice beaten the Levelland team.

The two teams open the eight-team tournament at 2 p.m.

The Hawks beat the Texans with the help of Eddy Nelson, who is no longer with the squad. South Plains seems to have gotten stronger in recent weeks, too.

HCJC is 20-9 for the year while South Plains has a 13-8 record.

San Angelo College (23-3), favorite in the tournament, tries Ranger Junior College at 4 p.m. and should win that one easily.

In games tonight, Decatur Baptist tangles with New Mexico Military Institute at 7 p.m. while Amarillo clashes with Cisco at 9 p.m.

Decatur Baptist is 27-3 for the year and was ranked No. 2 in the nation, just behind Coffeyville, Kansas.

Amarillo is the defending titlist in the tournament and boasts an 18-6 record for the season. Amarillo was seeded third in the tournament, behind San Angelo and Decatur. HCJC was ranked fourth.

Decatur and Ranger finished one-two in the Texas Junior College Conference. San Angelo sailed through Western Conference play without a defeat.

The tournament winds up Saturday night with a 9 p.m. game. The winner goes to the National Juco meet at Hutchinson, Kansas, next week.

Devils Regain Scoring Touch

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only a month ago the Arizona State Sun Devils didn't seem to have a chance to repeat as champions of the Western Athletic Conference.

Then, overnight, the Sun Devils regained the touch that made them one of the nation's top college basketball teams last year.

They defeated Arizona 72-69 Wednesday night for their 11th victory in their last 12 starts and clinched at least a tie for the WAC crown. Only New Mexico can tie them and the Lobos must defeat Brigham Young tonight and Utah on Saturday to do that. In that event a flip of a coin will decide the WAC entry for the NCAA tournament that determines the national champion.

Actually the odds favor the Sun Devils. There has been speculation that the Lobos, hoping for a bid to the NIT, will pass up the NCAA. If the Sun Devils make it, their first NCAA test would be against Utah State at Eugene, Ore., next Tuesday.

The Princeton Tigers and the Connecticut Huskies did make it to the NCAA tournament Wednesday. Princeton retained the Ivy League championship with a 76-66 victory over Penn. Connecticut edged Rhode Island 61-60 in a Yankee Conference playoff.

Princeton now meets Virginia Military and Connecticut opposes Temple as part of an NCAA tripleheader at Philadelphia Monday.

In other games St. Joseph's Pa., NIT-bound, lost to Dayton 78-76 in overtime while NIT-hopefuls Syracuse, Penn State and St. John's, N.Y. won. Syracuse drubbed Niagara 92-72. Penn State whipped Bucknell 66-58. St. John's whipped Holy Cross 83-78 and New Orleans Loyola upset LaSalle 63-61.

Cincinnati edged its city rival, Xavier, 94-92. Tennessee nipped Florida 59-58 on Danny Schultz's two free throws with six seconds left and Detroit handed Marquette its 15th straight defeat, 100-76.

Bradley was named to the NIT Wednesday leaving only three berths to be filled in the 12-team field.

Tennis Team In Tournament

The Big Spring High School tennis team will journey to San Angelo Friday by bus to take part in an annual tournament. The team will leave at 6:30 a.m.

Head coach Truett Newell's hopes will be riding with his returning lettermen of last year's squad, all girls. They are: Molly Hefner, Molly Goodman, Kathy Mason, Linda Mason, Kathy Bauch, and Nancy Harolson.

The Steers will participate in the following events:

BOYS' CLASS A
Singles—Jim Butler and Roy Black.
Doubles—Rick Price and Wayne Baird, Taylor Smith and Mike Butler.

BOYS' CLASS B
Singles—Jim Doves and Jesse Rhymes.
Doubles—Archie Wyatt and Mark Cook, Mitchell McLeane and Roger Kanders.

GIRLS' CLASS A
Singles—Molly Hefner and Molly Goodman.
Doubles—Kathy Mason and Linda Mason.

GIRLS' CLASS B
Singles—Kathy Bauch and Nancy Harolson.
Doubles—Toni Clair and Janet Hampton, Patsy Harolson and Phyllis Thomas.

Go-Kart Can Attain Surprising Speeds

By PAT WASHBURN
When Bob Ballard comes soft-pedaling across a doorstep, it's a sight you won't forget. He's a spitting image of a small Jackie Gleason. Complete down to the happy-go-lucky smile and the jolly 240 pounds.

MOTION AT REST
Bob Ballard Relaxes On His $400 Go-Kart

"I like to eat," he booms out cheerfully. He gives a raucous laugh. You can't help from laughing, too. He's a likable guy.

Seeing him crammed into a go-kart is unbelievable. He actually fits, contrary to first impressions. And he's a pretty good driver, too.

"It's just a hobby with me," he says modestly. "And it's the most exciting sport I've ever tried. You couldn't get me to play golf. I think those kind of people are crazy. Shoot, you want to go chasing a little ball all over some worked-over cow pasture."

Lubbock, or on a local track. His efforts have been rewarded by 11 trophies to date.

Bob will be in the field Saturday and Sunday when the first annual Big Spring Enduro runs away around the asphalt runways of Webb Air Force Base. The race, on a 3.2-mile track, will be the first of 12 International Karting Federation events held in the nation in 1964. Bob will be just one of 300 drivers.

Bob isn't really looking forward to winning. He's just going to have a good time. "I remember the first couple of times I was around a go-kart track," he says. "I didn't get much of a charge out of watching those guys. In fact, I thought they were crazy. But after I had taken two or three rides, I was hooked. And no one yet has accused me of being crazy—but I guess some people think I am."

"I never really get scared in a race. Why should I? When one of those other drivers hit me, they're so much lighter they never knock me over. It just jolts them backward. Let's face it—I like to eat. So I'm not a top-notch competitor. But I don't really care."

"After all, I do it just for the sport, the fun of it. That's what counts. If I can't get out there and get beat and have fun, I might as well stay at home."

That "buddy" plan instituted by the Big Spring Country Club obviously is paying off. The system calls for a member's dues to be reduced by nearly one-fourth if he can get someone to apply for membership.

The membership grew by about 35 last month and is still increasing, according to reports. The registration roll was down to less than 219 at one time but better days obviously are ahead for the club, which has had some rough sailing, financially speaking.

The golfers new to the club are not going to be disappointed. More links activity than ever before is being planned by the links committee.

One observer who saw the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay polka on TV remarked that Liston unleashed a pair of mighty blows but his ballistics were bad. Cassius, the man continued, was moving in reverse like a scared rabbit that outran the bullet. Sonny's punches, he concluded, had the snap of a moist noodle.

Another fellow who heard the fandango but did not see it remarked it was a good thing the wind was blowing out from Miami rather than this way. Otherwise we might have all thought we were living next door to a slaughter house.

For those who have asked and those who have wondered, here is the roll of heavyweight champions from John L. Sullivan's time:

SULLIVAN was the last of the bare-knuckled fighters. He fought under London Prize Ring rules and was conceded the title when he stashed Paddy Ryan in Mississippi Feb. 7, 1882.

HCJC Seeks Sixth Title At Laredo

LAREDO (AP)—Entries flowed in steadily for the massive Border Olympics March 6-7 and the classy field indicated that at least eight overall records and all sorts of divisional marks would be set.

Abilene Christian College heads the university division which has drawn six teams. Houston, Rice, Baylor, Texas A&M and Texas will try to knock off ACC's crown.

There are nine colleges, with Texas Southern defending its championship; 10 junior colleges, with Howard County aiming at its sixth straight title, and 48 high schools, with Baytown defending its championship.

The golf tournament that starts Thursday has drawn 13 high schools and 16 colleges and universities with Corpus Christi Carroll defending its title in the high school division and Houston in the college-university class.

There are 923 athletes entered in track and 140 in golf. The total is expected to go well over 1,200 for both events.

Gerald Pratt of Texas Southern, Warren Brattlof of Rice and Billy Pelmeton of Abilene Christian should wipe out the pole vault record of 15 feet 4 inches.

Texas A&M's Danny Roberts will be expected to crack the shot put record of 57 feet 5 1/2 inches set by John Fry of Baylor in 1961 and also to take down the discus record of 168.9.

Roberts will not have Randy Matson, the Aggie freshman or open division and Matson, who has thrown the shot 62 feet 5 inches, may appear only in an exhibition.

Colin Ridgway of Lamar Tech, who set the Border Olympics high jump record of 7 feet 1/2 inch, returns in an attempt to erase his own mark.

Ted Nelson of Texas A&M will be after the 440-yard record of 46.8 and Gary Burger of Abilene Christian and Lov Gunter of Texas may combine to better the half-mile record of 1:52.7.

A new record could be written in the mile run. The record is 4:09.2 and Richard Romo of Texas already has done three seconds better than that.

The mile relay record of 3:13.2 could tumble before the Texas Southern and Abilene Christian onslaught.

Tom Carter Is Named To All-Conference

Tom Carter, high-scoring freshman from Hobbs, N. M., was the lone HCJC player named to the All-Western Conference basketball team chosen recently by the coaches.

San Angelo, which sailed through the league season without a defeat, placed two players on the first team while Amarillo College and South Plains had one each.

Charley Morton of San Angelo led the voting, gathering a total of 56 points.

The first team, listed with the points each player gathered in the balloting:

Charley Morton, SAC, 56; Charley Spieker, SAC, 49; Mike Westbrook, Amarillo, 42; Charles Turnbough, South Plains, 39; and Tom Carter, HCJC, 35.

Morton, Turnbough and Carter are freshmen. The other two are sophomores.

Carter beat out a teammate, Terry Williams, for a first team position.

In addition to Williams, the second team was composed of John Gonzales, NMMI, 30 points; James Wade, NMMI, 27.

Jim Oldham and Dick Ebling of the Hawks gained honorable mention on the squad. Oldham had 17 points in the balloting, Ebling eight.

No HCJC player was considered for the team last year, since the school was on probation.

Rolland Franklin, Frank Phillips, 27; and Toby Hall, Amarillo, 21.

The Dallas A&M Club raised the money for the trip and the A&M athletic department managed 100 tickets, so the tooters and drummers will be in Dallas for the big game.

The students all can go, too. The university approved a student request that those attending the game be granted authorized absence from class.

Palmer Poised At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—"I'm ready to get going now," said Arnold Palmer as he prepared to tee off today in quest of a third Pensacola Open Golf Championship.

The 34-year-old Pennsylvania hasn't had such a lean season since 1958. He hasn't scored a victory in seven starts this year, although he tied for third at Los Angeles and San Francisco in January. In the last five seasons, he won at least one tournament during the PGA tour's first seven weeks in the West.

The 30,000 tournament at Pensacola Country Club is the ninth stop of the 1964 PGA tour. The Pensacola Open has attracted one of the best fields in recent years, including Gary Player and Harold Kneese, who were two shots back of Palmer in last year's tournament.

Palmer is two games ahead of second place Texas Tech and can't be dislodged from first place no matter what happens.

Texas Tech, which sewed up second place, winds up against lowly Baylor at Waco.

Southern Methodist, in a tie with Texas for third place, winds up against Rice at Houston.

Winless Texas Christian tries Arkansas at Fayetteville in the last chance for a victory.

Aggies Close With Steers

By The Associated Press
They ring down the curtain on the Southwest Conference basketball campaign tonight with only third place in the balance.

Texas A&M, which clinched the championship Tuesday night by beating Texas Christian 70-66 in a double overtime, closes out against old enemy Texas at College Station.

The Aggies are two games ahead of second place Texas Tech and can't be dislodged from first place no matter what happens.

A&M Band Will Follow Team

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The Texas A&M band will be on hand with bells on for the Aggies' NCAA playoff game with Texas Western at Dallas Monday night.

The Dallas A&M Club raised the money for the trip and the A&M athletic department managed 100 tickets, so the tooters and drummers will be in Dallas for the big game.

The students all can go, too. The university approved a student request that those attending the game be granted authorized absence from class.

JAMES J. CORBETT was the first titlist under the Marquis of Queensberry rules. He decked Sullivan for good in New Orleans Sept. 7, 1892.

ROBERT FITZSIMMONS—He caught up with Corbett in the 14th round of a fight held in Carson City, Nevada, March 17, 1897.

No-Nonsense Camp Is Run By O's Hank Bauer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Manager Hank Bauer of the Baltimore Orioles is running a no-nonsense baseball training camp.

"I won't tolerate anything less than 100 per cent effort out of every player on this club," Bauer said.

Ramos, who is here on a month's vacation, said a July 15 date had been agreed upon with Los Angeles promoter George Farnass.

But Ramos will have to wait to see who he's going to fight. Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz puts his title on the line against Kenny Lane in Puerto Rico shortly.

Ramos has been having trouble making the featherweight limit but he says he'll continue to fight as a feather as long as he can, meanwhile casting his eyes toward the lightweight crown.

Cassius Clay Is Planning To Start On World Tour

NEW YORK (AP)—Cassius Clay says he plans on taking a world tour in a month or two and may be gone for a year.

This would seem to confirm a report that the newly crowned heavyweight champion had flunked an Army pre-induction psychological test. It also indicated that Sonny Liston may have to wait a long time for another shot at his conqueror.

NTSU Band To Appear In Concert Here Friday

Big Spring and area music lovers will be treated to a concert by the 83-piece North Texas State University Band when it comes to the city auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Friday under the sponsorship of the Band Boosters Club. Three graduates of Big Spring High School are included in the personnel of the band.

Tickets for the concert are available from Band Boosters at 75 cents for adults, 25 cents for students. Proceeds will go for the high school band's trip to California in April, and for band equipment.

The percussion section, including Mrs. Virginia (Rankin) Lumpkin, will give a special number during the concert. Mrs. Lumpkin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Rankin, 1903 Lancaster; he is a teacher at Airport School. She is a freshman music education major at NTSU and a member of the marching band.

In the flute section will be Sylvia Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Edwards Jr., 2512 E. 24th.

Eric Brewster, a bass clarinetist and a Big Spring High graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Brewster, now of Odessa. Mr. Brewster was on the faculty of Howard County Junior College last year, and Mrs. Brewster taught at Washington Elementary.

Three other West Texans, Jean Barnard and Bill Anderson of San Angelo, and Jan Swails of Midland, are in the band. The band, directed by Maurice McAdow of the NTSU school of music will play 12 performances in nine cities during this week.

Of outstanding appeal of this year's program are Leonard

Bernstein's "Overture to Candide," John J. Morrissey's "Viva Mexico" suite, "Celebration" by Paul Creston, and "Festival" by Clifton Williams. Lighter selections include "Comedian's Gallop" by Kabalevsky, "Soliloquy and Dance" by James Niblock, and Donald Hunsberger's arrangement of "Midnight in Paris."

Several special numbers in the concert will be centered around a trumpet solo, a clarinet ensemble, the band's entire percussion section, and a brass sextet.

Hoffa Says Union Still Behind Him

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the nation's largest labor union, stared in grim disbelief Wednesday when he heard himself declared guilty of trying to rig a federal court jury.

It was his first conviction in four trials.

"We will appeal," Hoffa told newsmen.

His lawyers said motions for a new trial would be filed with U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson within five days.

The conviction could mean 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for Hoffa, head of the Teamsters Union.

The verdict brought congratulations to the prosecutors from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy—long accused by Hoffa of waging a vendetta against him.

Kennedy, once called a "punk kid" by Hoffa, just smiled when asked for his reaction to the verdict. Pressed by Washington newsmen for a statement, he would say only that "it was in the hands of the jury and the jury has spoken."

Hoffa told newsmen that "despite what you think" he has no intention of relinquishing the presidency of the Teamsters, an independent union with 1.7 million members.

"I can rest assured of one thing," he said, "that the membership will be behind Hoffa in the fight all the way."

Initial reaction from members of Hoffa's home local in Detroit was unanimously in his favor.

Hoffa, 51, who is scheduled to go on trial April 7 in Chicago on charges of misusing $20 million in union pension funds, became president of the Teamsters after his predecessor, Dave Beck, went to prison for income tax fraud.

Hoffa's bond was raised from $10,000 to $75,000 by Wilson. Smaller bonds were required of the three men convicted with them of attempting to bribe the jury that heard Hoffa's 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville. That trial ended when the jury could not agree on a verdict.

The jury found that: 1. Hoffa, Larry Campbell of Detroit and Thomas E. Parks of Nashville sought to offer $10,000 to the son of a juror in the Nashville trial.

2. Hoffa and Ewing King, former Nashville Teamsters president, tried to influence another juror by offering to help her husband get a promotion on the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

Campbell, a Teamsters business agent at Detroit, Parks and King face sentences of five years and fines of $5,000.

The jury of eight men and four women acquitted Hoffa and two businessmen on charges they offered "things of value" to a Nashville bar operator if he would try to contact members of the 1962 jury.

The businessmen were Nicholas J. Tweel of Huntington, W. Va., and Allen Dorfman of Chicago.

Supersonic Entry In Transport Race

SAUGUS, Calif. (AP)—Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has unveiled a model of a 2,000-mile-an-hour plane it calls the fastest entry in the competition to design a U.S. supersonic transport.

The needle-nosed model was put through wind tunnel tests for newsmen Wednesday at Lockheed's Rye Canyon research center.

Designers say the craft, which has double delta wings, could carry 218 passengers and fly up to 80,000 feet.

Cautious Steps Are Unnecessary

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Police held back spectators while the bomb expert cautiously defused the dangerous-looking mechanism found behind the motel davenport.

Nitroglycerin equivalent to 40 sticks of dynamite, said the officer.

Then the city analyst identified the fluid as mineral oil. Who put it there and why wasn't determined.

Mrs. Oswald Visits Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Oswald today came to the hometown of President John F. Kennedy to declare her son's innocence in the assassination.

Her trip to Boston from New York was at the invitation of Radio Station WBZ for an interview on a program which permits listeners to telephone questions.

The interviewer was Bob Kennedy, no relation to the late President.

As she has since the assassination, Mrs. Oswald declared that her son, Lee R. Oswald, is innocent of the crime and reaffirmed that she will devote the rest of her life to defending him.

She said her son—shot down before a national television audience two days after the assassination—was what she called a "political patsy set up for the arrest to protect others." She refused to elaborate.

The neatly dressed Mrs. Oswald reiterated her belief her son was a secret agent for the United States government and that his trip to Russia from 1959 to 1962 was as an agent and not as a defector.

Mrs. Oswald refused to comment on the Dallas trial of Jack Ruby, charged with murder in the gunshot death of her son.

She said she did not see her son shot and never saw the television reruns of the incident.

Mrs. Oswald said, however, that she did see her son on television the day before he was killed and that what she heard him say—among other things—convinced her of his innocence.

International Flavor Noted At Frank Berinti Household

By MARY COCHRAN
The cuisine at the Frank Berinti home at 1109 Pennsylvania Ave. has an international touch. Some dishes are Hungarian, some Italian and some just busy-mother American.

Mrs. Berinti, known to her friends as Becky, learned to cook from her husband's mother, a native of Naples, Italy, and her own mother, a former resident of Hungary. Both women used the pinch-of-this and dash-of-that method of instruction and Mrs. Berinti finds it difficult to give exact measurements for her recipes.

The favorite company menu is spaghetti, garlic bread and ice cream. There is no set recipe for the spaghetti dish. It contains meat balls, chuck roast, pepperoni, and a large quantity of tomato puree. The spices vary and proportions cannot be pinpointed.

There are four children in the household whose healthy good looks attest to a mother who spends the major portion of her days in cooking and caring for her family. They are Mark, 13, who is a student at Goliad Junior High School; Maria, 10, and Clifford, 7, both students at the Immaculate Heart of Mary school; and Frank, eight months, of the play pen set.

The Berintis have been in Big Spring one year and in the West for the past five years. He is assistant manager at Zale's Jewelers.

"We enjoy the friendly people here and the milder weather," said Mrs. Berinti. On visits back home to Pittsburgh, Pa., the cold weather proves unpleasant to the family. However, the pleasant aspects of those Pennsylvania visits are in the visiting of old friends and families and the wonderful meals they are served.

Hungarian cooking specialties include stuffed cabbage, paprika chicken, soups of many varieties, and the use of lots of sour cream. When Mrs. Berinti makes potato soup she adds rose paprika, carrots, onions, rice and parsley. As a cook

Center Of Attention

Baby Frank is king of the household. Mark, Maria, and Clifford join their mother in amusing the baby in those rare moments when they are not busy with homework and Mrs. Berinti can step out of the kitchen for a brief play session.

who knows how to use spices, she has found that refrigeration creates a blending of flavors and seasonings.

The following recipes are family favorites and the meat loaf is an original of Mrs. Berinti's. An English sister-in-law furnished the coffee cake recipe.

COFFEE CAKE

6 medium carrots (2 cups grated) or substitute 1 medium-sized can pumpkin
1 1/2 cups oil
4 eggs, well beaten
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Sift together:
3 cups flour
2 tsps. baking soda
2 tsps. baking powder
2 tsps. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
Combine ingredients. Bake in ungreased tube pan 1 1/4 hours at 350 degrees. Do not open oven for 1 hour. Test with toothpick.

ICING

1 3-oz. pkg. Philadelphia cream cheese
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Add a little milk to make it smooth. Cool cake before frosting.

WHITE MOUNTAIN ICING

1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup white corn syrup
2 tsps. water
1/4 cup egg whites
Stir until well blended in a small saucepan. Boil rapidly to 242 degrees (mixture spins a 6-to-8-inch thread or a few drops form a firm ball when dropped into cold water). When mixture begins to boil, start beating 1/4 cup egg whites. Beat until stiff enough to hold a peak. Pour hot syrup slowly in a thin steady stream into beaten egg whites, beating constantly with electric or rotary beater until mixture stands in very stiff peaks. Blend in 1 tsp. vanilla.

DESSERT

1/2 pint whipping cream
2 bananas, mashed
2 1/2 cans fruit cocktail
1 tsp. vanilla
Sugar to taste
1/2 cup pecans
Beat whipped cream until firm; add sugar, vanilla, drained fruit cocktail, bananas and pecans. Stir together until well blended. Put into square cake pan and refrigerate.

MACARONI AND BEANS (Italian)

3/4 cup small white beans (soak overnight in water with salt and celery). Cook next day until done.
4 cups macaroni
Simmer together:
2 cans tomato paste
Salt
Pepper
Garlic Salt
Little oil
Add 2 quarts water to this and bring to a boil. Then medium boil while macaroni is cooking.
Boil in large pan of salted water 4 cups macaroni until done. Drain macaroni in colander and put back in big pan and cover with salted water. Heat and add beans and tomato sauce.

SALMON LOAF

2 cups salmon
1 1/2 cups bread crumbs
3 egg yolks
1 cup milk
4 tsps. butter
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. celery salt
2 tsps. chopped parsley
2 tsps. sweet pickle, chopped
3 egg whites
Mix ingredients and pour into large size buttered loaf pan. Bake 35 minutes at 350 degrees.

WHIPPED CREAM ICING

6 tsps. flour
1 cup milk
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup margarine (1 stick)
1/2 cup shortening
1 tsp. vanilla
Heat the paste of flour and milk and cool. Cream sugar and fats. Combine all ingredients and whip until fluffy.

MEAT LOAF

3 lbs. ground meat
1 grated carrot
1 green pepper, chopped fine
1 can tomato soup
2 eggs
Corn flake crumbs
1 small onion
Salt and pepper to taste
Mix all together and bake at 300 degrees for two hours. Glaze top with a little brown sugar and water.

Egg Dish Perfected By French

Add cheese to an omelet for both flavor and nutrition.

OMELET DELMONICO

2 large eggs
2 tsps. grated Parmesan cheese
2 tsps. milk
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 saltspoon white pepper
1 tsp. butter

Put the eggs, grated cheese, milk, salt and pepper in a small mixing bowl; beat with fork or small whisk until yolks and whites are combined. Have butter in 8-inch skillet very hot; add egg mixture and cook rapidly, stirring with fork and lifting pan from heat as necessary, to make a French omelet.

Shake the pan, while stirring, to keep the omelet free and have the eggs as flat and level as possible. The bottom should be set but not browned, the top slightly moist. With fork, fold edge of omelet near handle to the center; fold over remaining edge.

With skillet handle in left hand, slide omelet to edge of pan furthest from you and turn out onto hot plate. Serve at once.

Ham And Celery

Ever mix deviled ham with grated cheddar cheese and pickle relish plus a little mayonnaise to use as a stuffing for celery? Cut the stuffed ribs of celery in two-inch lengths for a finger-food first course.

Few other foods provide as much protein at so little cost with so few calories as cottage cheese

Bread Makings On Pantry Shelf

Here's a quick, pantry-shelf project for the breadbaker.

EMMA LAW'S PEASANT BREAD

3 1/2 cups warm water
3 pkgs. active dry yeast
2 tsps. salt
1-3 cup sugar
2-3 cup non-fat dry milk solids
1-3 cup salad oil
2 lb bag flour

Pour warm water over yeast in a large bowl, at least four-quart capacity; stir until yeast is dissolved. Add salt, sugar and dry milk powder; stir until dissolved. Add salad oil. Gradually beat in all flour until batter is smooth.

Cover bowl loosely and place in a warm place free from drafts; let rise until doubled in bulk. Beat well and divide into five oiled round utility pans, each 6 by 2 inches.

Let rise again until dough almost reaches tops of pans. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until loaves are golden brown and shrink slightly from pans, 40 to 45 minutes. Turn out of pans and cool on racks.

Blend Fine Cookies

This recipe makes a lot of delicious trifles.

MERINGUE COOKIES

3 egg whites, salt
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 tsps. grated orange rind
1 pkg (5 1/4 ozs.) pitted dates (finely cut)
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 cup sifted flour.
Beat egg whites and a dash of salt until very foamy; gradually beat in sugar thoroughly; continue beating until very thick and glossy and peaks stand straight up when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold in vanilla and grated orange rind. Mix dates and walnuts with flour; make sure dates are in separate pieces. Fold into beaten egg whites.

Drop heaping teaspoonfuls of the mixture, a couple of inches apart, onto a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightly browned—10 to 12 minutes. Remove with spatula to wire rack; cool. Store in tightly covered container. Makes about 54 (6 1/2 dozen) cookies.

Use Leftovers

When you have a small amount of cooked carrots and green peas leftover, force them through a small strainer or food mill and add to cream of celery soup. Good flavor combination.

Maintains Marriage, Motherhood, Career

By JO BRIGHT

Madame Lull de Freitas was completely delighted. "I am treated as though I am here one year instead of one night," she explained last week as we traveled to Fort Worth. Madame de Freitas was continuing her first tour of the United States to present a lecture-recital on the origin of Brazilian music.

MADAME LULL DE FREITAS

In Big Spring, she was the guest of Mrs. Ann Gibson Ouser, and the hospitality of other homes had been extended to her.

The brilliant pianist wore a simple, white-colored dress, plain shoes and a practical, long-sleeved sweater of heavy knit. She carried a tan gaberdine coat and a strapped, flight-type handbag. Her face was free of make-up, and her straight, brown hair had been pulled up, back and fastened securely. She looked like somebody's mother.

"But, of course," she exclaimed, "my husband and I have seven children!"

She is the wife of Eurico Teixeira de Freitas, an employe of the Brazilian government, until his recent retirement. Their children are Eliane, 16, Maria Marcia, 15, Constance, 13, Antonio Eric, 9, Eric Osvaldo, 8, John Eric, 6, and George Eric, 5. Madame de Freitas explained that her grandfather, a composer, was named Eric. Out of respect to him she gave the name to each of her sons.

The family home is "about 20 minutes from Rio de Janeiro" in what is called the Forest Tijuca. "At times the house seems to shake or tremble," said Madame de Freitas, "but perhaps that is because it is 300 years old." The home has 10 bedrooms and a swimming pool that she said "was originally used to bathe horses."

In the evenings, after the children have retired, Madame de Freitas and her husband enjoy a form of togetherness by pursuing different interests. His easel is set up near the piano, so that he may paint as she practices.

Do the children show natural ability in music? "Antonio plays the piano like any normal boy," said Madame de Freitas, "but our son, George, plays exceptionally well. I think for a child only five years old. Eric plays the violin, but it has the sound of a cat's yowl." Like mothers the world over—she's sure they will improve in time.

If so, they may follow in the footsteps of their mother who went to Paris at the age of six to become the youngest student of Isadore Philippe, a world-renowned pianist. The fact that she has mothered seven children has not interfered greatly with Madame de Freitas' career as a pianist. While she is on tour, three women take care of the children and help operate her home.

"It is very easy to have help for the home in Brazil—here it is too expensive," she said. "I have a German woman that I like because she is strict with the children; an English black woman from Trinidad who is very sweet; and a Polish woman who has a fine education."

Madame de Freitas admitted that at times she gets heart-sick to see the children but explained that she must not think about it or she would be unable to play. Often she lets them travel with her—but only one at a time. Her oldest daughter was allowed a ten-day vacation in New York during February, and they were able to spend much of the time together.

Following later appearances in Denton and Austin, she will return to New York for social visits with Van Cliburn and Arthur Rubenstein before flying home. Bird Calls Heard By Gardeners

Bird songs and calls were described by Mrs. H. C. Stipp for members of the Green Thumb Garden Club who met Tuesday with Mrs. Arch Carson, 110 Cedar.

Mrs. Stipp said that the songs and calls have been interpreted as serving a number of functions in addition to being an expression of joy and a courtship ritual. The song is an announcement of possession of territory made by a male who has claimed an area for his use.

Members heard a recording, "Symphony of the Birds," by Jim Fassett, musical director of the Columbia Broadcasting System. Fassett developed the procedure by which actual symphonic orchestration could be achieved by using the wide range of varied bird calls.

The business session was conducted by Mrs. R. B. Reeder. The program for May 5 will concern seasonal table arrangements.

Fifteen members and two guests, Mrs. William R. Cashion and Mrs. H. F. Schwarzenbach, were served refreshments by the hostess.

Programs Observe Public School Week

AT P-TA MEETINGS

Texas Public School Week was observed with a special program held Tuesday evening at South Ward School. Mrs. H. L. Derrick, principal, introduced groups of sixth grade students who presented a program of songs, a skit, and demonstration of the physical education program. Parents viewed displays of work done by students and were served refreshments at Washington Place school. Special programs were given at other schools for members of the Parent-Teacher Association.

WASHINGTON PLACE Four hundred parents were served at an open house held at the Washington Place School Tuesday evening. The affair was sponsored by the faculty as part of Texas Educational Week and hostesses were Washington Place Parent-Teacher Association members.

Mrs. Wayman Clark was hospitality chairman and was assisted by P-TA officers, Mrs. Don Young, Mrs. Horace Rankin and Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr.

Following visits to the classrooms, parents were served refreshments at a table laid with a lace cloth and decorated with blossoms. Silver appointments were used.

KENTWOOD S. M. Anderson, superintendent of schools, was guest speaker at the Kentwood Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday afternoon. He spoke on "The Family, Cradle of Spiritual Strength."

Newly elected officers are Mrs. Howard Johnson, president; Mrs. Alvin Huskey III, vice president; Mrs. L. D. Grice, secretary; and Mrs. W. R. Badger, treasurer.

Mrs. Huskey presided, and Mrs. Grant Boardman gave the devotion. A rummage sale was scheduled March 14, and members were asked to send clothing donations to the school or contact Mrs. Badger, AM 4-8358, or Mrs. William P. Bodin, AM 3-3813.

Delegates to the spring conference in Sweetwater April 24 will be Mrs. Bodin and Mrs. Johnson. An invitation to all P-TA members was given to attend the Past President's Tea scheduled by the P-TA City Council March 19.

The room count was won by Mrs. Doris Peters' second grade class. Refreshments were served to 25 members by mothers of third grade students.

The May 5 meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., and all parents of children who will enter school next year are invited to attend.

PARKHILL Mrs. Jack McClendon, public school Spanish teacher, presented the program at the Park Hill Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday.

The program dealt with understanding the Spanish language and culture and was presented in the form of a classroom demonstration. The third grade assisted Mrs. McClendon, and her daughter, Miriam, sang the Spanish song, "Jurame."

Box Those Cookies For Easy Chilling

Dear Heloise: This is an idea for girls who do not like to roll out cookies. I use an empty waxed paper box, a foil box or any other long box, and line it with waxed paper. Then I press my cookie dough (which was to be rolled) down into the empty box.

Chill several hours or overnight. All that is necessary then is to slice and bake them.

For those delicate cookies which must be rolled, I use confecturer's sugar on the board instead of flour.

When using salted peanuts in cookies reduce the amount of salt called for in the recipe. . . . Marge

Dear Heloise: We are tanners of genuine chamois skins and would like to pass on the following information.

A chamois is split to remove grain before tanning which results in the two sides having a different appearance.

In our opinion, there is no right or wrong side to a chamois, and for washing windows or automobiles it does not matter which side you use. . . . John W. Eisenhut

Dear Heloise: I always add a little vinegar to the water in which I sterilize my baby's bottles. I never have a water mark. . . . Randle Males

(Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

Dear Heloise: Gals, be sure to keep bleach, ammonia, floor waxes, furniture polish, etc., out of the reach of small children. And when you pour anything out of one bottle into another one, be sure to LABEL IT! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: For those of us who bought fleecy jackets and coats, whether the fleece be a lining or on the outside, I discovered that by taking my vacuum cleaner and attaching the upholstery brush, it seems to suck most of the dust from the fleece.

If you find a particularly matted spot, remove the upholstery brush, and using the steel suction handle itself, run it back and forth over the spot. It removes all of the mat.

Sometimes I even use a stiff vegetable brush, and it works

Dear Heloise: Miss Jane Ellen Cudd, bride-elect of Cecil Paul McMullin, was complimented at a shower held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. D. S. Riley, 305 Hillside Drive.

The honoree was attired in a two-piece dress of rose silk and wore a corsage of white carnations. Also, her mother, Mrs. Thomas E. Cudd, of Hamilton was presented white carnations.

Cohostesses with Mrs. Riley were Mrs. Avery Falkner, Mrs. Carl Coleman, Mrs. Jack Cook, Mrs. Roy Bennett, Mrs. W. L. Eggleston, Mrs. Dan Conley and

Hearty Hominy Fluff Pleases Busy Cook

Hominy Fluff is a deliciously different kind of casserole. It is an excellent make-ahead-of-time dish that is a change from the usual starchy vegetables and has a delightful corn flavor.

Mash the drained hominy or put it in the blender to make it smooth. The seasonings—onion, Swiss cheese, cream and salt—are mild and yet point up the natural corn taste. Because the texture is so smooth, top the casserole with crumbs of crushed bite-size corn cereal that have been seasoned with butter and celery salt.

HOMINY FLUFF

2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
1 tsp. and 2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
2 cups (1 lb. 4 oz. can) hominy, drained and mashed
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 cup finely shredded Swiss cheese
1/2 tsp. salt
1 3/4 cup bite size toasted corn cereal crushed to 1 cup
1/4 tsp. celery salt

Heat oven to moderate (375 degrees F.). Butter a shallow 1 1/4-quart baking dish. Cook onion in 1 tablespoon butter until tender. Combine with hominy, cream, cheese and salt. Mix thoroughly. Spoon into baking dish. Combine cereal crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter and celery salt. Sprinkle over casserole. Bake 30 minutes or until browned. Yield: 4-6 servings. If preferred, hominy may be left whole.

POT LUCK CASSEROLE

1/2 pkg. (4-ozs.) medium or wide noodles
1 tsp. butter
1 lb. ground beef
1 cup (8-oz. can) tomato sauce
1 tsp. flour
1 cup small curd cottage cheese
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup finely chopped green onions
1/4 cup chopped or sliced canned or cooked mushrooms
Cook noodles according to

White Sauce Tip

To enrich a white sauce for creamed chicken or a similar dish, add an egg yolk. Be sure to stir a little of the hot sauce into the slightly beaten yolk and then return this portion to the rest of the sauce to cook gently and briefly.

package directions; drain and rinse with cold water. Melt butter in a skillet, add meat and cook and stir until it has lost its color and begun to brown. Drain off excess fat; add flour and tomato sauce and simmer 10 minutes. Combine cheese, sour cream, salt, onion and mushrooms. Place half the noodles in a 1 1/4 quart buttered baking dish. Add cottage cheese mixture and top with remaining half of noodles. Cover with ground beef mixture. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven for 30 minutes, or until thoroughly heated and beginning to brown on top. Remove from oven and allow to stand 10 minutes before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Baking Biscuits

Bake an extra batch of biscuits, wrap them in foil and freezer-store them. When you want to serve them, put the package of biscuits in a slow oven for 10 to 15 minutes to thaw and heat.

Rice Makes Favorite Choice In Budgeting

Rice is one of America's most versatile, nutritious, economical foods. It is bland in flavor and is non-allergenic. Rice combines easily with meats, vegetables, seafoods, poultry, and fruits.

There are four types of rice: brown rice, regular white milled rice, parboiled and pre-cooked. One cup of brown rice yields 4 cups cooked rice; 1 cup regular white rice yields 4 cups cooked rice; 1 cup parboiled rice, 4 cups cooked rice, and 1 cup pre-cooked rice, 3 cups cooked rice.

When preparing rice, don't wash or rinse. You lose valuable vitamins and minerals. Don't peep when boiling rice. It lets out steam, lowers temperature. Don't stir rice after it comes to a boil. This mashes grains and makes rice gummy. Don't leave rice in the pan in which it was cooked for more than 5 to 10 minutes or cooked rice will pack.

To reheat rice, place enough liquid in the bottom of a pan to cover. This keeps the rice from scorching. Bring liquid to a boil and add rice. Place tight-fitting lid on the pan, turn heat to simmer and steam about 5 minutes.

Rice is one of the few foods that can be refrigerated for about a week and it can be frozen with any foods that will freeze. It freezes well for about 6 to 8 months. To cook and freeze rice, cool it and then place the rice in a refrigerator tray in which the dividers have been removed. When rice is quick frozen in a block, remove from tray and wrap in freezer paper. Place block of rice in freezer. Use method above for reheating.

Try these rice recipes.

MIXED GRILL KABOB ON PILAF

1 lb. ham or pre-cooked sausage links (cut into 1-inch cubes)
1 green pepper, cut in squares
3 medium onions, quartered
2 apples, cut in eighths
2-3 cup orange marmalade
1/4 cup water
2 tbsps. vinegar

On eight 12 inch skewers alternate ham, pepper, onions and apples as desired.

Combine marmalade, water and vinegar. Broil the kabobs until browned on all sides, basting with the marmalade mixture. Serve over Rice Pilaf. Serves 4.
If using skewers with wooden handles, and oven broiling, wrap handles well with aluminum foil before broiling, to prevent burning.

RICE PILAF
1/2 cup minced onion
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups uncooked rice
3 cups chicken stock or bouillon

1 tsp. salt
Saute onion in butter until tender. Add rice and cook, stirring frequently, until golden. Stir in chicken stock or bouillon and salt. Bring to a boil. Stir. Cover and cook over low heat, 15 minutes or until rice is tender and the liquid absorbed.

MEAT LOAF

2 1/2 cups cooked rice
3/4 cup diced green pepper
1-3 cup chopped onion
1 tsp. diced pimiento
1 1/2 lbs. ground lean beef
1/4 lb. bulk sausage
1 cup finely diced celery
1/2 cups fine dried bread crumbs
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup chili sauce
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper

Cook rice with a pinch of saffron added to the water if desired. Toss together lightly rice, green pepper, onion and pimiento. Set aside.

Combine ground beef, sausage, celery, bread crumbs, egg, chili sauce and seasonings. Mix well.

Into a decorative 2-quart mold spoon about half the rice mixture. Then layer with half the meat mixture; press firmly into the mold. Repeat with another layer of rice and meat.

Bake in a 400 degrees F. oven 45 minutes. Remove from oven and drain off all meat juices. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes before removing from pan. Turn onto serving platter and surround with minted whole carrots.

To serve, cut into wedges and serve top layers first, then bottom layers. Serves 6.

Rabbit In Name Only Fills Chafing Dish

The cheese rabbit holds a distinctive position as a meal in itself although it originally came to being in a different way. It is said that it first became known as a "rabbit" when unexpected guests dropped in on a hunter while he was cooking game he had bagged that day. To stretch the short meat supply, he added a concoction of melted cheese and told his guests that they were being served "Welsh Rabbit." Some prefer to call it a "rarebit."

DINNER SPECIAL RABBIT

1/2 cup hot water
3 (8 oz.) bars natural Cheddar cheese

1 tsp. dry mustard
Dash cayenne pepper
Dash Tabasco sauce
1 egg, well beaten
Butter the inside of "double boiler" top. Pour in hot water. Add shredded cheese. Place over hot, not boiling, water. Cook, stirring vigorously with a wooden spoon in one direction until the cheese is melted. This is important for best results.

Blend in seasonings. Continue to stir while very gradually adding the beaten egg. Quickly pour into chafing dish which has been warming over gently bubbling hot water. To serve, spoon over golden-brown toast points. Rabbit is at its best when served immediately after cooking.

DEAR ABBY

He May Need A Doctor!

DEAR ABBY: We have been married forty-two years and are both in our sixties. My husband has always been a ladies' man, but the older he gets, the worse he gets. He has to have a woman doctor; a woman barber, and he will never let a man wait on him in a store if he can get a woman to do it. If a neighbor woman drops in to visit with me, even if he is busy outside, he comes right in and takes over, and I seldom get a word in. Also, when the most innocent remark is made, his eyes light up, he gets a dirty smirk on his face and he twists it around to make it sound smutty. I am at the end of my rope. Does this happen to ALL men when they get on in years?

DEAR WIFE: No. Your husband could be more than a "dirty old man." He could be a sick one. Doctors have seen this type, and one should see yours soon!

DEAR ABBY: Today, while I was on the school bus, the bus driver hit a dog. All of us kids told him about it, and all he said was, "I am aware of that." Abby, he didn't even stop or see if the dog was dead or not. Up until now I have always thought of this bus driver as a nice person. Now I don't want to look at him. None of us kids could do a thing.

DEAR ABBY: At Christmas-time I gave my boy friend a leather wallet and a pair of silver cuff links. He gave me a ball point pen with the name of an insurance company on it. For Valentine's Day I gave him a 12 by 14 tinted picture of myself in a real pretty frame, and he didn't give me anything. What gives?

DEAR ABBY: The item in Cool Weather Retards Work

AUSTIN (AP) — Cool moist weather kept Texas farmers indoors and retarded spring field work last week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says.

Cotton-planting in the lower valley continued to lag, totalling only 9 per cent of the intended acreage, compared to 18 per cent a year ago at this time, the USDA said Monday.

Sorghum planting in the lower valley was at 23 per cent of the anticipated level.

Wheat on the High Plains remained dormant, with top growth at a virtual standstill.

Livestock feeding increased. Lambing and kidding remained active but some new born lambs and kids were chilled by the weather.

Wet fields slowed harvesting in the Rio Grande Valley early in the week. By mid-week, cabbage, carrots, lettuce and leafy green vegetables were available in good volume.

Hawaiian Theme Party Feature

The Intermediate I Department of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church held a "Hawaiian Luau" Tuesday night in the church Fellowship Hall.

A roast pig dinner was followed by entertainment provided by the "Restless Natives," portrayed by Bennie Dixon, Terry Willingham, Bobby Adkins and Bill Jones.

Nancy Dobbs, acting as the Hawaiian Princess, read a poem, "The Touch of the Master's Hand." The Rev. Billy Rudd challenged the Intermediate I Department member to "Choose God's will rather than their own."

The boy and girl judged most appropriately dressed for the event received special gifts. Don Elerbe, a department teacher who is moving to Alaska, received a going-away gift from Mrs. D. H. Yates, the department superintendent.

your column, "Confidential to Buffalo Bill: Do not resent growing old. It is a privilege denied to many" hit me hard,

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old widow with two small children, 6 and 8. My husband was 27 years old when he died of electric shock at his job. If people only knew how lucky they were to have each other!

Watermaster Is Appointed

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Dist. Judge J. H. Starley has appointed Tate Dalrymple as watermaster in the complex valley water rights suit.

Dalrymple, a native of Llano, Tex., is slated to retire May 1 as an administrator with the U. S. Geological Survey, a position he has held since 1946. He now lives in Arlington, Va.

He was graduated from the University of Texas and as a hydraulics engineer has worked mainly on flood studies and correlation of state highway engineering activities.

The office of watermaster was created by the 93rd District Court about eight years ago when it took control of United States water in the Rio Grande. The position pays $20,000 per year.

The original watermaster, Col. Kenneth Smith, died last December.

In telegrams to the presidents of the National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co., Wallace suggested Tuesday that the networks sponsor such a debate.

The governor said he is convinced there is "an appalling and astonishing lack of knowledge" about the civil rights legislation.

Cost Of Living To Take Some Of Tax Cut Savings

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A clue to how Americans will use at least part of their additional take-home pay, thanks to the tax cut, is offered today by the new cost of living index.

They'll spend it for more of the things they didn't buy in quantity a few years back.

The Labor Department's new consumer price index also helps clear up another mystery for many citizens: How come the outgo side of the family budget always seems to rise more than the old index said it should?

The new index takes in items that loom large on some family budgets now, but which the old one, as last revised in 1953, ignored. And the new one says that families spend a smaller percentage of their incomes now on such things as food than they did formerly, although eating better; and considerably more on other goods or services than they did when personal incomes were smaller.

Since the price of food hasn't gone up as much in recent years, as has the cost of many goods and services not thought of as necessities, the new way of calculating the cost of living gives a clue to where the money goes—for new goods and services, or more of those once thought of as luxuries or now-and-then items.

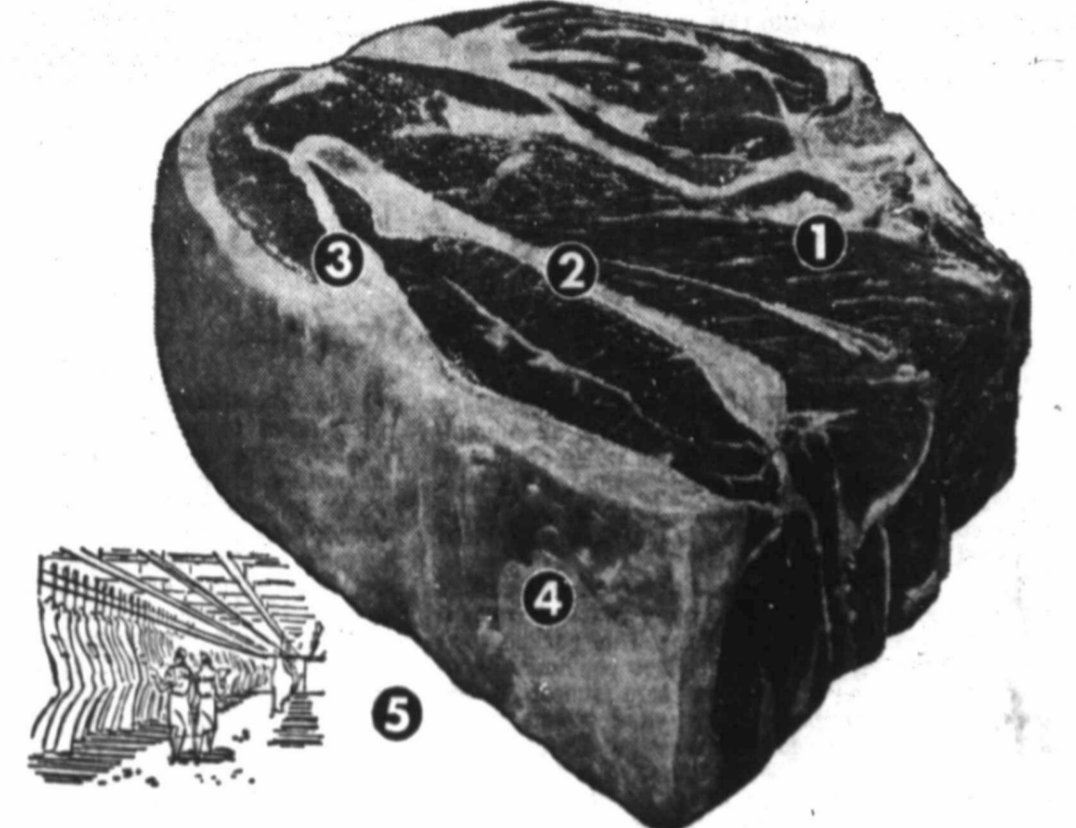

And since Americans have tended in recent years to put any extra income into such upgrading of living standards, the additional take-home pay may well add to the volume of such spending. Whether this increased demand will affect prices or charges remains to be seen.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics says the cost of food has risen 6 per cent in the last 10 years. If your grocery bill has gone up more than that, the bureau suspects that is because you now buy higher quality meats and vegetables, which naturally cost more than economy grades; and that you spend much more for convenience, precooked or otherwise processed food. Also there are a lot of new food items, or new versions of old items, that tempt you.

Even so, the bureau holds that the percentage of the family budget spent for food has slipped from 28.18 in 1953 to 22.43 today. The new index thus won't be affected as much by the changes in prices of various foods as in the past.

The items in today's family budget to which the government gives more emphasis include housing, with hotel and motel rates newly added, up to 33.23 per cent from 30.17; transportation, to 13.88 per cent from 11.65, with autos and car servicing accounting for most of the increase; health and recreation up to 19.45 per cent from 18.03.

Some of the new spending habits the government now acknowledges are parking fees, college tuition, outboard motors, moving expenses, golf fees, legal aid, funeral services, and between-meal snacks.

USDA CHOICE

- See for yourself why you get so much more!
- Note the large proportion of lean meat to fat and bone. We never "rob" a chuck roast of lean meat (as some do) to be sold as boneless beef at a higher price.
 - There's bone in it, but it's carefully trimmed. Goodness is that the juices which flow through the meat from the bone help give pot roasts their perfect flavor.
 - Just enough fat is left on a Safeway chuck roast to make sure it will cook tender, flavorful and juicy and have that rich brown color you want in your pot roasts.
 - It's cut from USDA Choice Beef. Only beef judged by expert U.S. government graders to be of fine-eating quality is awarded this high grade.
 - Like all steaks and roasts at Safeway, this chuck roast has been carefully aged to peak of tenderness and flavor in our central meat plant.

Heart Canisters Being Picked Up

Heart Sunday contributions to the Heart Fund have passed $1,000, Mrs. Tommy Hubbard, general chairman, said Wednesday. Heart canisters, placed in over 90 Big Spring business houses, are being picked up, she said, and so far they have yielded over $100.

"If we have overlooked canisters in any of the business houses we would appreciate telephone calls about them so we may get them. I may be reached at AM 4-2896. If anyone fails to reach me they may call Mrs. James Sackett AM 3-6667, Mrs. Bill Hale AM 3-3768, or Mrs. J. T. Roane, AM 4-8655."

Officers Named By New ABClub

LAMESA (SC) — The newly-organized American Business Club of Lamesa has named Jimmy Lumus as its first president. Other officers include Early Peltier, first vice president; Bill Butler, second vice president; Walter Bray, secretary-treasurer; John Stribling, sergeant at arms; and Bob Oates, Henry Cornett, Marvin Osborn, Don Cox, Jack Savage and Ray Brewer, directors. A charter banquet is slated March 7.

Area Counties Shifted By TEC

Martin and Glasscock counties have been attached to the Midland office of the Texas Employment Commission office.

This leaves the Big Spring office to serve Howard and Sterling counties, said Leon Kinney, manager. Reason for the transfer of territories was that most of the placements in Martin and Glasscock had to do with farming, particularly irrigation farming. This fit in with the Midland pattern better. Billy Gillman, Stanton, who previously reported to this office, will now work out of the Midland office. His home will continue in Stanton.

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus said unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father; but by me. (John 14:6.)
PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for Thy Son Jesus Christ, our Redeemer, whom Thou didst send to live with us and to uphold us in the battles we fight and in the work we do, We commit ourselves into Thy hands with utter faith in Thy Son, in whose blessed name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Nobody Is Immune

A federal district court jury took only about three hours to find James R. Hoffa, Teamster union president, guilty on two counts that he tried to rig another federal court jury.
Press accounts said that the usually stormy and bellicose Hoffa was visibly shaken by the verdict. He will, of course, appeal.
The jury's verdict, however, stands unless it is overturned on appeal. Apparently, the jury felt a convincing case had been made by the government.

how secure and powerful he esteems himself, is beyond the law.
Mr. Hoffa is not a popular favorite, and for that reason the verdict may be greeted with a great deal of satisfaction. This, however, was not and is not the issue. Did he or did he not try to influence a juror in a previous trial attempt? This is a grievous charge, and the jury was convinced that he did make this crude assault upon the integrity of the American system of justice. Mr. Hoffa seems to have misinterpreted his position as one aloof from the law. Now, if the verdict is upheld, he must pay for the folly of his arrogance.

Look To Our Looks

City Planner Marvin Springer had some suggestions to make to the Master Plan committee here Tuesday evening, and they boiled down to adding those plus touches.
For the time being, he indicated, the heaviest of the capital expenditures have been made. Now the city needs to look to upgrading property along Interstate 20, downtown, in the older areas; toward renovating the City Hall and providing more adequate parking facilities for the auditorium; step up its parks and playgrounds program.
Part of this may be carried on satisfactorily out of current operating funds, and indeed some of it will involve more persuasion than city fiscal responsibility.

There are some items, however, which may require heavier capital expenditures than regular budget operations can stand. Here is where the committee can provide a valuable service, for working with city and other civic officials, the committee can screen projects and come up with some that seem to be most pressing.
Interestingly, as Mr. Springer and others pointed out, it is these little pluses that give a city attractiveness and distinctiveness.
It's time that we looked more to our looks.

David Lawrence The Court And The Congress

WASHINGTON—A movement is developing to persuade Congress to enact a law that will take away from the Supreme Court of the United States the right to pass upon any case dealing with reapportionment of congressional districts.
This solution is being advanced because the Supreme Court has cast doubt on the legality of the election of nearly all present members of the House of Representatives.

one day when the Supreme Court of the United States would render a decision which cases grave doubt on the constitutionality of the composition of the House of Representatives. It is not an exaggeration to say that such is the effect of today's decision. The Court's holding that the Constitution requires states to select representatives either by elections-at-large or by elections in districts composed 'as nearly as practicable' of equal population places in jeopardy the seats of almost all of the members of the present House of Representatives.

CONGRESS IS faced with a real dilemma. Do the members of the House of Representatives now hold their offices legally? The Supreme Court has declared that the systems in use in several states for choosing the members of the House are invalid. A point made in the minority opinion of Justice Harlan has caused much uncertainty and uneasiness. He said that the decision impugns the validity of the election of 396 representatives from 37 states, and that this leaves "a 'constitutional' House of 37 members now sitting."
The Supreme Court added to the dilemma this week when it ordered the congressional districts in Texas re-drawn but left the door open for postponement of such action until after this year's elections. This raises the question of whether the successful candidates in the present districts in that state—which by the Court's ruling are "unconstitutional"—can legally become members of the House of Representatives.

UNQUESTIONABLY, there are inequities in the way some districts are apportioned. Political parties have often misused the power of apportionment when they have had a majority in the state legislatures, and some states have not been equally districted on a population basis. But there is a remedy for such a wrongful use of power by the state legislatures.
Should the people feel that any state legislature or Congress is misusing or abusing the power of apportioning districts, there can be recourse to a constitutional amendment. This could set up a system that would require state legislatures to modify their formulas according to certain basic principles of population distribution. Certainly there is widespread objection to leaving the matter to the Supreme Court to handle.

MANY LAWYERS now are arguing that a law be passed removing the whole reapportionment process from the hands of the Supreme Court. The proposal has gained considerable momentum in view of the minority opinion written by Justice Harlan in the Court's recent decision. He insisted that the Supreme Court overstepped its authority in the first place and should never have ruled as it did on the reapportionment case. He declared:

"THIS VERY point was made by Justice Felix Frankfurter in one of the early opinions in a reapportionment case before the high court, when he said that if Congress failed in exercising its powers, 'the remedy ultimately lies with the people.' He supported the view that these are matters from which the judiciary 'has been excluded by the clear intention of the Constitution,' and thus are 'political' questions in which the Supreme Court ought not to interfere. They remain political today. But a remedy can be found to handle the inequities. Until a satisfactory program has been developed, however, many members of Congress feel that the Supreme Court ought not to be permitted to interfere and cast doubt on the validity of past elections."

Billy Graham

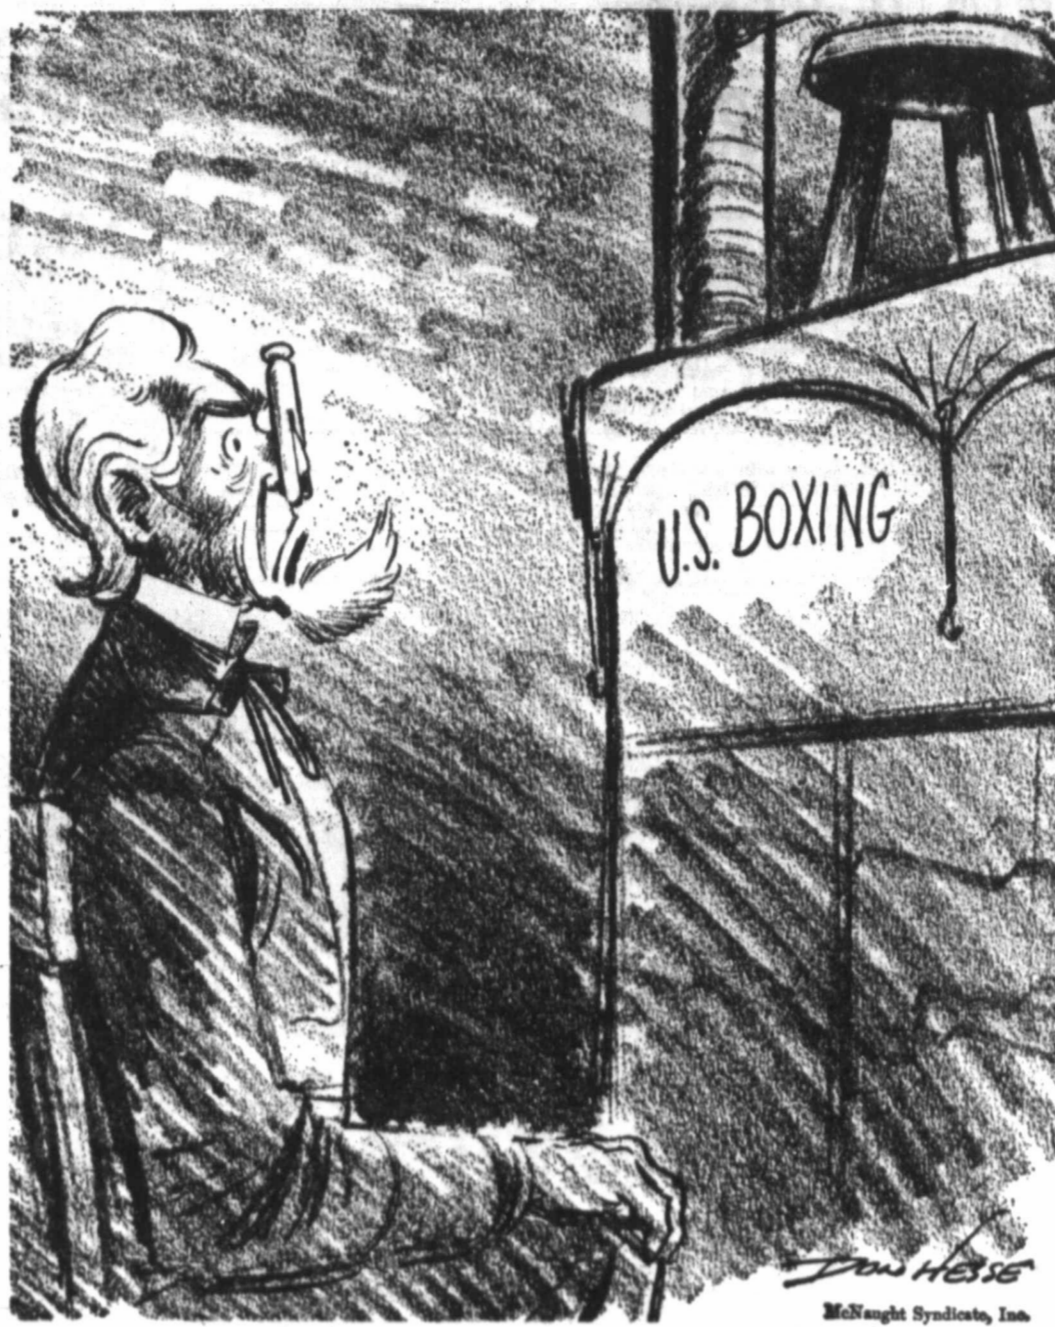

I would like to know how I can forget the past sins of my life so I can serve God more effectively than I do. I have tried and tried, but I can't seem to get them out of my mind.

M. T.

A Greek philosopher has said: "Teach me the art of forgetting; for I often remember what I would not, and cannot forget what I would." Sin has a way of making an indelible mark upon our minds and memories. It is tragic that so many today "make a mock of sin," little realizing the deep psychological and remorseful scars that sin leaves upon our souls.
How can you forget your sins? My esteemed friend, Dr. William Sangster used to counsel people who were hounded by this problem: "God has forgiven you, now you must forgive yourself." The sins of yesterday should not be kept in the closets of today—especially when they have been "cast in the depths of the sea, and remembered against us no more." Your contemplation of your past sins is really a lack of faith in the promises of God. You are like the old slave who continued working for his master after the Emancipation because he "just couldn't believe that it was true." The Bible says: "He who the Son has set free is free indeed." Believe it and receive that freedom.

James Marlow Where's The Economy Talk?

WASHINGTON (AP)— This economy-talking Congress is getting ready to vote on a $10,000-a-year pay raise for itself: from $22,500 to $32,500, an increase of 44 per cent.
Living costs have gone up only about 15 per cent since Congress last boosted its own salary in 1955. That was also a $10,000 increase, from $12,500 to $22,500.

Earlier last year two groups — the National Civil Service League and a special 12-man advisory panel appointed by Kennedy — recommended raises. One recurrent theme in the push to boost salaries is that present salary scales prevent the government from getting the kind of men needed to run it efficiently.

THE MEASURE approved Wednesday by the House Rules Committee, thus clearing it for a vote, would raise the salary of most other federal employees, including Supreme Court justices, Cabinet members and top officials.
All this had the blessing of Presidents Kennedy and Johnson. In his next year's spending budget, which Johnson handed Congress in January, he asked $455 million to take care of such salary increases.

BUT TODAY an important House member found an even newer way for Congress to spend more millions on itself. This was Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., the House Banking and Currency Committee chairman.
Patman suggested "Congress needs a vast increase" in the number of its technical consultants and legal economic advisers. He proposed still another new office building for the 435 House members.
That would be the fourth for them. They already occupy two, and a third is nearing completion at an estimated cost running up to $122 million.

Not all members have the giggles at the thought of more take-home pay. Looking at the work done by this Congress, which in 1963 was one of the laziest in history, Rep. J. Arthur Younger, R-Calif., said in October that if production was to be the yardstick, "we should be returning part of the salary we are now receiving." He said the cost of living wouldn't justify an increase of the size being considered.

Hal Boyle A Few Conclusions

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—
The rest of the academic world gets a secret pleasure in reading about a Harvard graduate who winds up on the Bowery.
Few gentlemen who still wear garters rent love nests—or get divorces. The male garter today has become a great symbol of caution and respectability.
Firemen and schoolteachers do more moonlighting than workers in any other fields.
Few things perk up a tired, middle-aged man more than to have a tired, middle-aged waitress in a beanery call him "Honey" when she brings him his bowl of vegetable soup.
People who start collecting string usually are neither thrifty nor stingy. They're really just looking for something in life they've never quite found.
The first man to take off his hat when a woman steps into a crowded office elevator immediately makes enemies of every other man there — but not one in 10 has the moral courage to refrain from following his foolish example of misplaced courtesy.
We always feel superior when we see someone else reading with his lips moving. But why?

After all, he's the one who's learning something — while we are merely indulging our snobbery.
It is scarcity, not taste, that often accounts for value. If caviar were two pounds for a nickel and hot dogs sold for a dollar an inch, frankfurters would be the prize delicacy at the cocktail parties of the wealthy, and ladies would turn up their noses at the crass sight of fish eggs and exclaim, "Who can eat those golem things?"
Youth is stirred to ecstasy by a full moon; age likes to watch a sunrise and murmur to itself, "Well, made it again!"
Whenever I see a child struggling to learn to walk, I always want to advise it, "Take it easy kid. What's the rush? You'll find it's more trouble to get off those feet later than it is to get on them now."
The best restaurants in any town are those which are patronized by rich little old ladies dressed in black lamb or mink furs. Good food is one of the most important pleasures left in their lives, and they have the leisure to search out the best places.
It requires an audience. Nobody ever said anything truly memorable in a revolving door.

When Johnson in January submitted his spending budget for next year—$97.9 billion, which was less than Kennedy's of a year ago—Republicans called it a "figure-juggler's dream."
Economy was the favorite Republican song last year and this. Before the House passed the tax cut bill last year—it has been passed by the Senate, too, and is now law—Republicans tried but failed to put a string on it: no tax cut unless spending is cut.

To Your Good Health 'Croup' Is Laryngitis In A Child

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
We may not hear as much about croup as formerly, but it hasn't by any means disappeared. Quite often it goes under some other name these days.
"Croup" is laryngitis in a child. The entrance to the larynx becomes red and swollen, along with the vocal cords themselves. The swelling partially obstructs the larynx, which is why the little one has to struggle for breath with the characteristic "croupy" cough and wheezing.
That is why the little one usually outgrows croup by the age of three or four, although in rare instances it may persist later.
But it is an unnerving ailment, difficult for the child and distressing for parents trying to help him.
Some children have repeated attacks; others never have it. The reason for this is not clear.

The cause of croup, when it does attack a child, is infection—a cold, flu virus, streptococcus infection, occasionally diphtheria, but that, of course, is not as common as it once was.
Again for reasons unknown, a child may not be noticeably ill during the day but break into a gasping attack of croup in the middle of the night. Drainage in the throat is one likely suspicion. Anyway, when the infection is of a virus type, the croup may appear very suddenly.
The infection is there first, and croup is invariably preceded by a cold, flu, sore throat or similar illness, even though mild.
First choice in treatment is to inhale steam, perhaps with a bit of benzoin added to the water. Cold packs on the neck are an old-time remedy which I have seen used successfully. Poultices on the chest can help. Ipecac, to induce vomiting, is another old remedy. The doctor should determine the proper dose. Too much can be dangerous.

Antibiotics or sulfa are in order to treat the underlying cause. These will attack some germs. If viruses are involved, the drugs won't affect them but will suppress secondary bacterial infections.
Dear Dr. Molner: If someone suffers a heart attack can a person at the scene administer external heart massage and expect it to do any good?—J.S.
Anyone not trained in the right way would doubtless do more harm than good. A person WITH adequate training would also know when to use it and when not to. It is essential first to know whether you are dealing with a heart attack. A recent report disclosed that what were thought to be heart attacks were actually cases of choking on improperly chewed food.

Around The Rim Trade It In On A New One

An imminent doctor the other day was quoted that transplants of human organs would be commonplace in the future, extending lives in some cases and saving them in others. He pointed out that such transplants are being done today, some from animals as we know from recent news stories.
This suggests a doctor's office of the future as he interviews a prospective patient:

"DOCTOR, I'VE been having terrible pains—with my pancreas for several days, and I thought I'd better stop by for a replacement."
"Certainly," he replies. "I have some excellent giraffe replacements this week, just flown in from Africa."
"Well," the patient says, "I had my heart set on a genuine gorilla pancreas. You know, like the one you gave Mrs. Smith, who lives next door to me."
"OF COURSE," he rejoins, "I can get one in a few days if you don't mind taking aspirins for that long. And by the way, we might as well replace that stomach while we are in there. You know, you were complaining about it last summer."
"Whatever you think," the patient replies, "but I've grown rather attached to this one."
And so a conversation might go if the doctor's office becomes a supermarket for replacing organs.

ACTUALLY, at this point, this great scientific advance is not yet readily accepted nor assuredly successful. But these are probably only a step away, and reports of new progress are being made every day. Doctors are expected to be able to transplant lungs, kidneys and even the heart with relative ease.
And although transplants from other humans or animals is leading the list, new breakthroughs might someday develop mechanical contrivances that can duplicate the work of these organs, despite the fact it seems impossible at this stage. Many things were once considered impossible, including such things as a polio vaccine, X-rays, open heart surgery and the iron lung. In a relatively short time, the lifetime of mankind has been increased through medical advances.

THE ABILITY to replace diseased organs probably will increase life spans even longer. It appears that cancer, heart disease and lung ailments take the most lives today. Cancer is sure to fall, eventually, before the onslaught of the researchers. In the case of heart and lung ailments, replacement might solve the problem if no other solution is turned up.
Certainly, the future holds many hopeful surprises as medical research constantly wins battle after battle with mankind's oldest and most certain enemy — death.

Holmes Alexander A Sterile Stockpile

WASHINGTON — Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz has floated an Administration trial balloon which could easily get in trouble with the truth-in-packaging laws. It is labeled "education," when it ought to be labeled "stockpiling."

Wirtz wants to give all high school graduates two more years of free education in college. This could roughly double the college population, adding two million more students to the campuses, which are already overcrowded. The only predictable result would be to lower the number of Americans listed as unemployed—a bookkeeping triumph, nothing more.

IF THE Administration had really wanted to make college education more available to worthy students, the opportunity knocked loudly, and knocked twice, as recently as last February 4th. Senator Ribicoff (D., Conn.) proposed an amendment to the tax bill that would have allowed tax credits for lower and middle income groups with children to send through college. The proposal, with a top benefit of only $325 a year, would not be giveaway, or wholesale education. But it would have helped families to whom paying tuition for their children is a burden. Did the Administration, with its two-thirds Senate majority, back the bill? No, and it was narrowly defeated, 48-45, for that reason.

SENATOR PROUTY (R., R.I.) gave the Administration another chance with a more direct-action amendment. It would allow an income-earning student to deduct from $1200 to $1500 from his taxable income on money spent for the tools of his education — tuition, books, equipment.

Did the Administration back it? No, and it failed to pass on a tie vote, 47 to 47, from lack of that backing.
Opposition to both the Ribicoff and Prouty amendments was Treasury-minded. Loss of Federal revenue was the main argument against giving parents of students, or students themselves, a tax break. Yet the Administration, under Secretary Wirtz's plan, would go back into the Treasury for wholesale education.

THE EXAMPLE shows, in roundabout but valid fashion, how firmly and unfortunately the Kennedy-Johnson Administration is anchored to Democratic mistakes of the past. There is the Rooseveltian obsession with social planning, the Rooseveltian reluctance to trust the people and the economy with a freedom of choice.

President Johnson, an activist in every other way, has not unfettered his mind from the Democratic past. The war on poverty is, thus far, a numbers game in which a $3000 income is made the mark of the pauper. If the Wirtz education plan goes forward, it will further depress college standards, and do nothing whatever to fit the junior college teen-agers for the very special requirements for modern jobs.

THERE IS EVIDENCE—a tremendous amount of it—that much of the unemployment in America is "voluntary." A good many people do not choose to fit themselves for work, do not take advantage of job-training courses in their home communities. A Government which accommodates large segments of such persons in poverty programs and idleness stockpiles is no friend to America.

Richard Starnes The Sad Facts Of Viet Nam

WASHINGTON — Americans are confused and troubled over the nation's diminishing ability to shape events in South Viet Nam.

For what small comfort there is in it, it seems likely that the aura of chaos that has engulfed our policy toward the war in Southeast Asia within the past few days is deliberate. But calculated or not, the policy inevitably has worried many Americans who misread it as panic and uncertainty in high places.

PEEL AWAY THE husk of words and certain hard facts emerge:
Fact — The war, which has been "won" in countless Pentagon press briefings, is in truth going very, very badly. It is not unduly pessimistic to suggest that it is probably already lost in terms of ability to contain it with this country's limited commitment.

Fact — Washington is knee-deep in leaked stories to the effect that North Viet Nam soon would get a taste of its own medicine, i.e., guerrilla depredations launched from the South. This must amuse Ho Chi Minh and his advisers, because the reality is that this obvious attempt at counter-insurgency has been intermittently tried for some time.

FACT — THESE attempts have largely failed, probably because guerrilla war cannot succeed unless it is supported by a significant portion of the native population. Uncle Ho's skillful use of terror has apparently made North Viet Nam barren ground for the counter-guerrilla play.

Fact — The cruel geography of the area is such that all the able-bodied males in North America wouldn't be enough to seal the borders of South Viet Nam against Communist infiltration and resupply from North Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

BIG FACT — Geopolitical scientists interpret the war in Viet Nam, Red China's naked aggression against India, the strife in Sinkiang province where China and Russia meet, and the safety-valve flood of refugees into Hong Kong and Macao two years ago all in terms of a classical "nutritional migration." There are, or soon will be, 800 million Chinese.

EVEN BIGGER FACT — American involvement in Viet Nam is an attempt to kill a dragon with a fly swatter. Every informed person in Washington knows the war in Viet Nam is only a small metastasis of the great hungry malignancy that is consuming China. Peking is looking far beyond the Mekong delta. She is looking to rich, fertile Indonesia, weak and perhaps indefensible Malaysia, the Philippines, underpopulated Australia and New Zealand, the great, empty wastes of Asiatic Russia. It is a tragic error to interpret Red China's expansionism as ideological in origin.

THE DEBATE in Washington over what to do in Viet Nam is in reality a debate over where and when we will make our stand — not if we'll make one. The United States fought World War II to keep the Pacific an American lake; it is unreasonable to suppose any Administration would stand idly by and permit the rising tide of Chinese aggression to overwhelm it.

THUS, THE debate in the nation's capital is over means—not objectives. The confusion of the past few days is an earnest effort that the Administration hopes to keep talking until after the election. Mr. Johnson's play for time is very short-range strategy. He knows all the thorny facts adduced above as well as any man alive. He knows, moreover, the biggest fact of all: He seems fated to face up to an awesome moment of truth in the Pacific, just as Franklin Roosevelt did.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
 By seizing on the only slight prospect that was available to him, East was able to deliver a knockout blow to declarer's vulnerable slam contract.

The bidding was eminently sound. When South's two heart response received an immediate raise, the latter felt warranted in making a slam try since he had a sound opening bid himself. His attempt took the form of a cue bid in diamonds for, if North merely returned to four hearts, it was his intention to retire.

North definitely had the key ingredients for a slam effort—a virtually solid suit, good trumps and second round control of the unbid suit, clubs.

He decided to use Blackwood as a check and, finding that that the partnership was not missing two aces, he proceeded to six hearts.

West opened the deuce of clubs and East played the ace. The outlook for the defense was exceedingly dim, for it was quite clear from South's response to the Blackwood inquiry that he had both missing aces, and after drawing trump he would shortly be in position to run the dummy's spade suit.

The only slim chance rested in West's holding a spade stopper, in which case East might prevent the run of the suit by forcing North's trump holding early. So reasoning, East continued with a small club at trick two and dummy was obliged to trump with the three of hearts.

Declarer drew trump in three rounds and then tried to run the spades. When East showed out on the second lead, West was revealed to have a stopper in the suit. South attempted the diamond finesse next and, when this failed, he had to lose a second diamond. The outcome was a two trick setback.

If East had failed to continue the clubs when he was in, declarer could have drawn trump, established the spades by trumping away West's ten and then reenter the North hand by ruffing a club to discard his remaining losers on the long spades.

Careful Account Given On Search For Thresher

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP TV-Radio writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The "CBS Reports" program Wednesday night was a careful account of the frustrating hunt for the atomic submarine Thresher.

The ship sank last April 10 about 250 miles north of Boston with 129 officers and men aboard, 8,400 feet down in a "dark, silent and awkward world."

The story of the search showed the almost insurmountable problems: unpredictable tides, rough seas, enormous pressure and lack of vessels that can operate effectively at great depths.

The point of the television program was that the sinking had forced a realization of how little we know about the ocean depths.

"The Legacy of the Thresher" was a fine program.

A newspaperman has returned from New Hampshire, awe-struck and puzzled by the lavish three-way network competition in reporting next week's presidential primary vote.

He estimates that between the candidates and the networks, about $2 million will be spent. The vote will be an interesting guidepost in a presidential year. But unless the coverage is to get practice for November, it does seem the networks are going to a tremendous amount of expense and effort to report the balloting of 125,000 people, particularly when the final returns will not be in before most viewers, even those on the West Coast, are asleep.

Lucille Ball, CBS now expects, will be back next season in her Monday night spot, after all. The comedienne's change of mind about continuing her weekly show was caused by the anticipated windup at season's end of ABC's "The Greatest Show on Earth." This would leave the studios of which she is president without a series on the networks next season.

PENNY HOLLAND

Grace Needed, Says Pageant Winner

By LYDIA LANE

LAS VEGAS—Penny Holland had just won the title of "Queen of Queens" in the beauty pageant here at Thunderbird Hotel when I took her to one side for an interview. As one of the judges I gave this attractive girl from Los Angeles my highest vote. There were 16 finalists and all had pretty faces and shapely bodies, but there were other qualities that made Penny outstanding. These were charm, posture, poise and naturalness.

"I think the average girl doesn't appreciate what an asset a beautiful carriage is. The way you stand and move sets off your beauty. I have won several posture awards," Penny confessed. "I learned how to hold myself, walk and sit down in modeling school. It was invaluable training and I think any girl whether she wants to make modeling her profession or not could profit by it. There are worthy and unworthy schools, so be sure you go to a good one that does not charge excessively."

"I am a firm believer in exercise. Every day I do something to keep my muscles firm and my movements graceful. I find it much easier to keep a nice posture if I do back exercises. Here are my two favorites. Bend over and touch your toes, keeping your knees straight and come up slowly, one vertebra at a time. The other is, lie on the floor on your stomach. Put your arms in back until you can grasp your ankles with your fingers and then try to rock back and forth. This may seem difficult at first," Penny cautioned, "but if you work a little every day, one day you'll find you can do these exercises with the greatest of ease."

EXERCISE
Everyone needs some type of exercise. Leaflet M-5, "Exercises of the Stars," provides something for everybody. These exercises have been compiled by a group of Hollywood stars and given to Lydia Lane for readers of her column. For your copy of this leaflet, send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, (Big Spring Herald), P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles, California 90053.
