State Waits Decision On Redistricting

HOUSTON (AP)—The executive director of the Texas Legislative Council said today redistricting the state's congressional districts would be a long and difficult job.

Robert Johnson of Austin told a special three-judge federal court that detailed studies of the state's four largest counties—Harris, Dallas, Bexar and Tarrant—require about six weeks.

Johnson was the first witness at a formal hearing on Oct. 19 in order in which the three judges said the Texas districts are unconstitutional. The order said the state should redistrict at once or elect all its 23 congressmen on an at-large basis.

Johnson was called by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, who had filed a motion asking that the court permit the 1964 elections to be carried out as scheduled, thus giving the state legislature a chance to redistrict next year.

AT ONCE

Lawyers for five Republicans have filed motions which would force a redistricting at once, or the election of 23 at-large congressmen this year.

Johnson said the Legislative Council has been studying the problem since Feb. 27. He said Gov. John Connally on Feb. 19 asked the council to make the study. Connally was anticipating the March 2 Supreme Court ruling that upheld the Oct. 19 Houston order.

Johnson said the redistricting of the big counties was difficult because census tracts do not coincide in many cases with voting precincts. He said changing voting precincts now would confuse this year's election.

Rebellious Brazil Navy Men Give Up

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—About 3,000 dissident sailors and marines surrendered to the army today after a passive, two-day rebellion they spent in a downtown building bemoaning the political situation and the status of military men in Brazil.

Army buses and trucks bore them to barracks of the Guards Battalion of the 1st Army, a spit-and-polish outfit that smashed a revolt of navy and air force enlisted personnel in Brasilia last September.

The rebels launched a sit-down strike in the six-story building of the Metallurgical Workers Union Wednesday night in support of a marine, Cpl. Jose Anselmo, who had been ordered arrested for making political speeches while on active duty. Military regulations forbid political activity.

REFORMS

Anselmo's speeches were in support of President Joao Goulart's program for constitutional reforms, particularly in his proposal that enlisted men be given the vote and the right to run for public office. But Goulart personally took charge of quelling the insubordination.

Labor Minister Amaury Silva went into the building and he and Col. Domingos Ventura, a military police commander, apparently convinced the rebels to surrender.

A presidential aide told newsmen Goulart named Adm. Paulo Mario de Cunha Rodrigues as navy minister, replacing Adm. Silvio Mota.

Mota resigned Thursday after the rebels rejected his repeated attempts to get them to return to duty.

OFFER TERMS

They were reported to have offered terms, saying they would leave peacefully and return to duty Monday if:

They were guaranteed no punishment.

Authorities recognized the association of sailors and marines that they formed last year.

All enlisted men held on charges of insubordination and engaging in political activities were freed, and the navy was "humanized" and food on ships and at naval bases improved.

The navy said the rebellion remained localized. It said other units throughout the country were carrying out their normal duties.

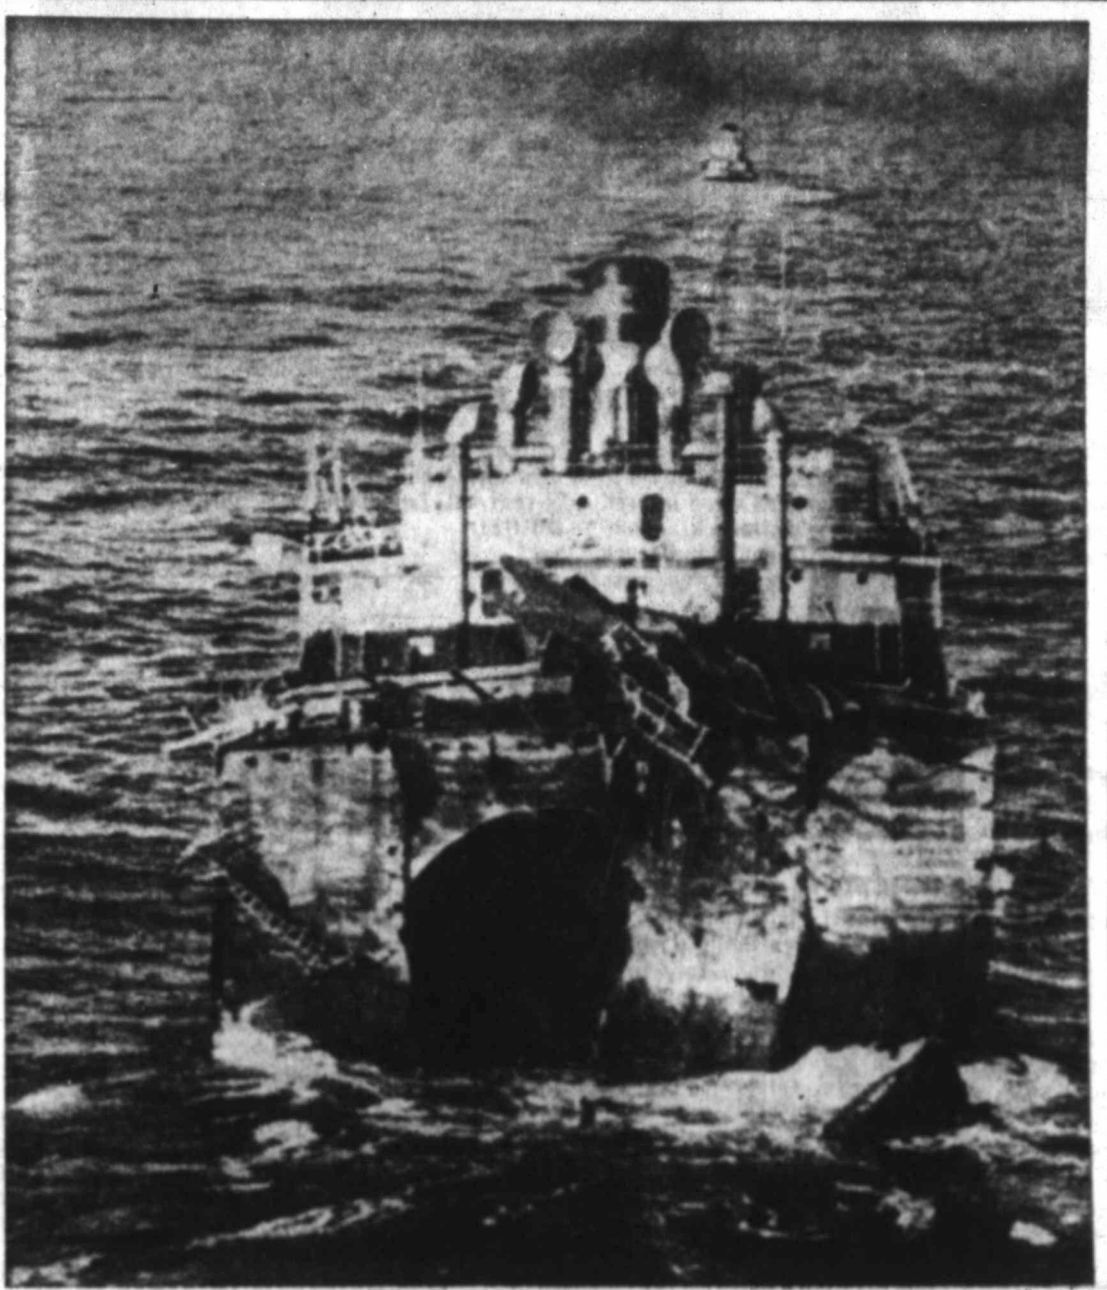

The rebels yelled to onlookers that they were staying put to prevent the arrest of Cpl. Jose Anselmo, whose arrest had been ordered for violating service regulations against making political speeches while on active duty.

Anselmo is president of the Association of Sailors and Marines. He and the other navy men went on Wednesday to the building, which houses a union hall, to celebrate the association's second anniversary.

Navy police also turned up with orders to arrest Anselmo. They agreed to let the corporal go ahead with his speech and take him into custody after the meeting.

Russians Free Two Downed Air Officers

Pair Held Since Plane Strayed

Headed For Port

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—The Russians today freed two U.S. airmen whose jet reconnaissance plane was shot down by a Soviet fighter over East Germany March 10. Both appeared to be in good health.

Communist East Germany asserted they were "expelled" after the United States gave assurances that strict orders had been issued to prevent a recurrence of air violations. An announcement repeated a Soviet charge the plane was spying, a charge denied by Washington.

Released after 17 days of U.S. diplomatic pressure were Capt. David I. Holland, 35, Holland, Minn., and Capt. Melvin J. Kessler, 30, Philadelphia. Their companion, Lt. Harold Welch, 24, Detroit, was released March 21.

PARACHUTED

All three parachuted when their twin-engine RB66 penetrated 20 miles into East Germany on a training flight and was shot down. Welch was injured in landing.

Holland and Kessler were handed over at 2:58 p.m. (8:58 a.m. EST) to U.S. authorities at the Western Allies' checkpoint at Helmstedt, on the East German frontier.

There was no announcement of where they had been held. Holland and Kessler rolled over the Helmstedt frontier point in a U.S. Army sedan. They were sitting in the back seat and appeared to be in good condition.

The sedan barely halted at checkpoint. When it started again, a German police car proceeded it down the highway toward the airport at Hannover, where a U.S. military plane was reported waiting to fly the two Americans to Wiesbaden, headquarters of the U.S. Air Force in Europe.

Welch had been confined in a Soviet military hospital at Magdeburg, 129 miles southwest of Berlin.

PASSOVER

Kessler's mother, Mrs. Abraham Kessler, exclaimed in Philadelphia that she was "very, very happy he was released by East Germany today on the eve of Passover."

"We're happy and relieved that the affair is wound up and that David is safe," Ambrose Holland Sr., father of the other flier, said in Holland, Minn.

The official East German news agency ADN asserted the RB66 carried "an apparatus for taking pictures from the air and a special apparatus for conducting military investigations with radio-technical means."

Therefore, the agency said, it is clear that the plane was on a spy flight.

RADIO OUT

The U.S. Air Force has said all along its air control officers were trying to make contact with the plane until it was shot down and has indicated East German jamming stations may have knocked out its radio.

Holland, Kessler and Welch bailed out as their plane crashed near Gardelegen, about 30 miles inside East Germany. Welch broke an arm and leg in landing and was taken to a hospital at Gardelegen.

The bailout had been seen on U.S. radar and the United States promptly demanded the return of the three fliers.

Instead, the Soviet Union sent Washington a stiff protest, saying the U.S. plane was on a spying mission. It said a Soviet plane shot down the reconnaissance bomber under standing orders because some U.S. planes are known to carry nuclear weapons.

DENY CHARGE

The United States denied this, saying the plane strayed because of navigational error. U.S. Air Force headquarters in Europe said it was possible the plane's radio deliberately was jammed by stations in East Germany.

The Russians threatened to try the three fliers for spying and leaked out word that they had evidence to back up the charge.

Welch was transferred to Magdeburg, East Germany, and placed in a Soviet military hospital there. He was permitted visits from U.S. Air Force doctors.

Mississippi Finishing Anti-Republican Attack

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's all-Democratic state Senate plans to put the final touches today on election law revisions that foes claim will kill the state's fledgling Republican Party.

Administration leaders pushed 15 of the 22 bills through Thursday and were confident the others would clear before the weekend recess. This would permit the House to act on the package next week.

Effect of the bills backed by Gov. Paul Johnson, would be to make it more difficult for Republicans to qualify for the general election, GOP leaders argue.

Johnson decided on the changes when his drive to the governor's office required two rugged Democratic primary campaigns and a general election campaign. Until last year, the GOP had let the governor's chair go virtually uncontested for nearly a century.

Key measures of the election package passed Thursday would:

—Set up extensive requirements for forming a valid party. A majority of precincts in a county would have to hold party conventions and 30 of the state's 82 counties stage county conventions before a party would be recognized. This bill passed 38-13.

—Require all party candidates—whether opposed or not—to run in primaries and get 10 per cent of the total vote cast for the offices in both primaries, staged simultaneously. This passed, 26-24.

Sen. Howard McDonnell argued the measure would "set up a Democratic oligarchy." Sen. Bill Caraway said the package "will destroy the Republican Party in this state because it can't operate under this."

Jacksonville's Outlook For Peace Still Uncertain

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Fire bombs, bullets and bricks rapped out a violent climax to five weeks of Negro sit-ins, picketing and marching aimed at segregated hotels and restaurants in this port city.

The outlook for racial progress was uncertain after three years of gradual desegregation which included some lunch counters, cafeterias and restaurants, six schools and all governmental facilities.

The metropolitan population of Jacksonville, 500,000, is 25 per cent Negro. Racial barriers began dropping after a bloody outbreak in August, 1960 left one dead.

The latest sequence of events started last month.

DYNAMITE

Negroes staged small-scale sit-ins and picketing at several hotels and restaurants. A few days later, dynamite blasted the home of a Negro boy attending a previously white school. No one was hurt.

Larger demonstrations followed. Last Saturday, Mayor Haydon Burns, in office 15 years, and now a candidate for governor, warned against further demonstrations.

Burns said Negroes had no right to force their presence at hotels, restaurants or other businesses. He cited 12 laws and warned that arrests would be made.

POLICEMEN

Then Burns swore in, on the air, the entire 496-man Fire Department as special policemen. Within 48 hours, fire bombs smashed into a Burns campaign subheadquarters in a Negro section to ignite the violence.

Gunfire from a passing car killed a Negro woman. Three other persons were wounded by bullets. Gangs of Negroes began attacking white motorists.

other Negroes, policemen and newsmen.

Police Chief Luther Reynolds attributed the violence to thrill-seekers and thugs.

The mayor said Negro leaders were to blame because they could not control their youth in the desegregation campaign. He said his get-tough speech resulted from information that persons working for his political opponents were instigating racial trouble. His opponents denied this.

BLAME SPEECH

Negro leaders blamed Burns' speech for the violence.

"To us—we accepted it as a real threat," said Rutledge Pearson, president of state and local chapters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"It angered the entire community," Pearson said.

Marvin Collins, 17, a Negro youth leader, agreed with Pearson. He said some of his classmates attacked newsmen, policemen and spectators Tuesday after a bomb scare evacuated the school.

"They got excited," he said "when a policeman fired his gun into the air."

Church Fire

Firemen battle an early morning fire at the Ervay Street Methodist Church in Dallas, today. The billowing flames gutted the interior of the building, before firemen could bring the blaze under control. The fire was the latest in a series that have struck Dallas churches in the past few weeks. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Beef Price Rise Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Department livestock experts expect beef and cattle prices to strengthen after Easter.

Livestock and meat market reports show that consumer demand for meat during Lent has been an important factor in keeping livestock prices down. The price situation and controversial imports have Congress considering proposals to place tighter limitations on foreign supplies.

Beef production under federal inspection has exceeded a quarter of a billion pounds most weeks since late April, 1963.

"This heavy output has reflected back to the live cattle market in the form of a generally slow trade and lower prices," said a department market review. "Also, the slow movement of beef during Lent has been a contributing factor to the bearish demand during the previous weeks."

The review said feeders—those who buy thin cattle and fatten them on grain and other concentrates for the quality slaughter market—are proceeding cautiously in the purchase of feeder cows and calves. It said many feeders apparently feel that cattle prices are not overly favorable to profitable grazing and feeding programs.

Rights Bill Reaches Senate Floor Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate backers of the civil rights bill take the floor starting Monday to tell of the merits they see in the measure.

Assistant Senate Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota passed that word to newsmen after Thursday's vote to make the bill the Senate's pending business.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Southern senators who blasted the measure through 16 days of speechmaking in opposition even to taking up the bill, said his forces probably would be biding their time next week.

FIGHT WAR

But he insisted his side had lost only a skirmish in Thursday's voting and declared: "We shall now begin to fight the war."

Both Humphrey and Russell agreed there would be no votes next week, although the Georgia senator said foes of the bill might introduce some of their proposed amendments.

Shortly after the Senate took its second vote Thursday, the Rev. Martin Luther King held a news conference at the Capitol and announced plans for "direct action" protests if Southern senators filibuster against the civil rights bill.

He declined to say what form the protest might take.

In answer to a question, the Negro civil rights leader said "at this point I would not say that civil disobedience would become necessary." Adding that "civil disobedience could be necessary" to dramatize

LBJ Pleased Issue Settled

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson was gratified today over Russia's release of two American fliers and pleased the matter "has been sensibly settled."

The chief executive received word by telephone from aides that the fliers who were shot down over East Germany March 10 were turned over to U.S. authorities at Helmstedt, Germany, today.

U.N. Forces Assume Command In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—British and Canadian troops put on blue berets and the U.N. flag rose over their camps today, marking the birth of the United Nations Force in Cyprus.

Indian Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani took command at dawn and assumed responsibility on behalf of the United Nations for keeping Greek and Turkish Cypriots from killing each other.

To begin his task, Gyani has 6,000 British and 1,000 Canadian soldiers. About half the British force will be withdrawn as Irish, Finnish and Swedish soldiers join the U.N. force shortly. An advance party of Swedes and Finns is due tonight.

Gyani, former commander of the U.N. Emergency Force in the Middle East, told the Canadians Thursday:

"Our one and simple aim is to do everything possible to assist them (the Cypriots) in preventing a recurrence of hostilities and ensuring that they resolve their problems under peaceful conditions. We must be absolutely impartial in whatever we do."

MaJ. Gen. R.M.P. Carver, British commander on Cyprus, also donned a blue U.N. beret to become Gyani's second in command.

Except for the new headgear and change in top command the British Tommies carried on as usual at scattered posts throughout the 140-mile-long island. But the Canadians began their first peace-keeping patrols, with two companies assigned to the Nicosia suburb of Trahanas, a frequent trouble-spot between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Many Cars Still Without New Tags

Two thousand car licenses per day must be processed between now and April 1, if the motorcar owners of Howard County are all to be supplied with 1964 plates before the deadline.

Through Thursday, 10,152 plates had been issued. Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, reported. As of April 1, 1963, the office had issued 18,589 license plates. If the number of vehicles this year is the same (actually there is every reason to believe the number is considerably greater) then there are still more than 8,000 cars without proper tags today.

There are four days in which to obtain plates within the legal time.

Through Thursday morning, the tag office had collected $230,175.06 for license plates this year. Sale of car plates began Feb. 1.

The state law makes it a fine offense for a motorist to drive his car after April 1 midnight with an expired license plate. The law requires that the motorist who has not obtained his plates by April 1 midnight must leave the car parked and not move it until the proper plates are attached.

A fine is assessed against offenders who do not adhere to this rule.

Mrs. LeFevre once again called attention to the substations operated in town where car plates can be obtained. These are the Newson Food Store store on South Gregg, the four Lewis 5-and-10 cent stores, and at the Eason Bros. Garage on West Third.

Shriver To Visit Lubbock

R. Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Peace Corps and newly named administrator of President Johnson's War on Poverty program, will appear at Texas Tech April 9.

Royal Ferguson Jr., president of Tech's Student Council, announced that Shriver will speak at an all-college convocation at 10 a.m. that day, with classes being dismissed for the hour's talk in Municipal Auditorium.

Ferguson credited Rep. George Mahon with obtaining Shriver. Ferguson said that Shriver will accompany Mahon to Lubbock.

In addition to his relationship to the late President Kennedy, Shriver has been active in politics for several years.

Widely acclaimed for his administration and successful implementation of the Peace Corps, Shriver has been frequently mentioned as a possible vice presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket with Johnson.

Shriver obtained his law degree at Yale University and joined one of the top law firms in New York. During World War II, he served in the U. S. Navy, and later became the youngest man ever to serve as president of the Chicago Board of Education.

Langdon Boosts Federal Oil Production Control

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon says the only way to enforce oil production quotas is through federal control.

Langdon made this assertion Thursday night in an address before the North Texas Oil and Gas Association convention.

The commissioner hit at critics of the Railroad Commission who claim oil production allowances should be raised to give Texas a production total in line with the state's share of national oil reserves.

He urged oilmen to cease trying to find a magic formula for their problems and "face squarely to the blunt fact that crude oil is competing under the American market demand system."

"We will have to put up with some of the inconveniences of competition in exchange for freedom from the greater inconvenience of governmental control," he said.

Of federal control, Langdon said: "I'm against it."

Railroad Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey also addressed the meeting.

He said "wanton pollution of public waters or willful disobedience of laws and regulations for the protection of such waters should and cannot be tolerated."

Ramsey, in discussing the pollution problem in Texas, said he is "optimistic that whatever problems may exist today in the protection of significant water resources can be solved in the foreseeable future."

He said "Texas oil and gas operators have too much at stake, as businessmen and as water citizens, to jeopardize our water resources either by poor housekeeping or in inadequate disposal methods."

Charles E. Simons, executive vice president of the Texas Midcontinent Oil & Gas Association, said the oil industry is making every effort to meet its responsibilities in assisting the elimination of pollution.

Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe was presented a plaque in recognition by the North Texas Association of his 34 years in the Texas Legislature. Moffett is retiring at the end of his present term in the Senate.

Three Absentee Ballots Filed For City Election

With less than two weeks remaining before the April 5 deadline for filing absentee ballots in the city election, only three ballots have been received at city hall, according to C. R. McClenny, city secretary.

He said two persons dropped by his office Thursday and filed out ballots. Voters who will be out of town on the April 7 election date and who prefer casting their ballots in person must fill out the forms in McClenny's office by 5 p.m. Friday, April 3. The mail vote must be in his office no later than 10 o'clock Sunday morning, April 5.

Eight candidates are vying for election to the city commission. Terms of incumbents Arnold Marshall and W. L. Thompson, serving first terms, and Mayor George J. Zachariah, in his third term, expire in April. All are asking re-election.

Reds Release U.S. Soprano

BERLIN (AP)— Gabrielle Hammerstein, a New York singer, has been released from prison in Communist East Germany, a U.S. spokesman announced today.

Miss Hammerstein, 39, a Wagnerian soprano, was sentenced to six years in jail as a spy by an East German court in August 1962.

The spokesman said she was released Thursday and flew from Frankfurt, West Germany, to New York the same day. She was accompanied by her mother, Dr. Gertrude Rosenhain, of Jackson Heights, New York City.

Miss Hammerstein before her arrest told reporters in West Berlin she had sung in East German opera houses. She was arrested in January, 1962. No information has ever been made public on her alleged offense.

The U.S. announcement said Miss Hammerstein was freed before the end of her term as the result of a clemency appeal made by her family.

The clemency presumably was granted by Walter Ulbricht, the Communist leader of East Germany. Such appeals in Communist countries are generally referred to the head of state.

Rocky Suffers Major Defeats

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)— Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller suffered serious defeats on two major issues during the 1964 session of the New York State Legislature, which ended early this morning on a note of anger and bitterness.

He claimed success on eight issues he listed as important.

But the setbacks were enough to cause the governor to recall the Republican-controlled Legislature to a special session April 15 for additional consideration of his program.

Rockefeller, a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, apparently is concerned that the homefront reverses pose a threat to his bid for national leadership.

The legislators rejected Thursday major Rockefeller program bills that would have:

- Repealed a law providing for price fixing on retail liquor sales and eased other state controls over liquor, controls the governor says have bred graft and corruption.

Doctors Eye Doug Closely

WASHINGTON (AP)— Army doctors kept a close watch today on the inflammation that has lodged at the base of the right lung of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur.

The condition was discovered Thursday and antibiotics were administered against this added threat to the recovery of the 84-year-old general from two major operations within 17 days.

At last report, doctors said the situation was essentially the same and could add no new evaluation of the general's condition.

Presumably, his condition remains as it was two days ago—seriously ill, but improved from his extremely critical condition Monday after emergency surgery.

The general came to Walter Reed Army Medical Center with severe jaundice, was operated on March 6 for removal of gall stones and gall bladder.

Easter Is Coming

Spring may be here and Easter may be only two days away, but there were many doubters in Appleton, Wis., today. An "unpredicted" and unexpected snowstorm dumped nine inches of snow, and more was falling. Head Cop's Ouster Set BOSTON (AP) — Gov. Endicott Peabody is acting to suspend the head of the Massachusetts State Police indicted on charges including conspiracy and larceny.

Peabody told a news conference Thursday night it appeared "there are legal grounds for me to suspend" Public Safety Commissioner Frank S. Giles, 48, former Republican floor leader in the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

"However, to insure the commissioner's basic rights," he said, "we are asking the attorney general to give us a ruling on the matter. If his ruling concurs with that of my legal counsel, we shall suspend Commissioner Giles forthwith."

Giles was indicted Wednesday by an Essex County grand jury on 38 counts of conspiracy, larceny, aiding and abetting in filing false reports and violation of the conflict of interest law.

The commissioner earlier Thursday announced he would ask for a leave of absence without pay until court action in the case was complete.

Peabody said suspension would protect Giles' rights better than a leave of absence. He explained that Giles would receive back pay should he be cleared of the charges.

The governor, a Democrat, declined comment on charges by Giles that the indictments were politically motivated.

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, also a Republican, said the offenses charged in the indictments did not involve state police activities. He said they covered a period from 1958 to 1962.

Giles was appointed in 1961 by former Gov. John A. Volpe, a Republican.

Four other persons, including Giles' administrative assistant, also were indicted on testimony submitted by the Massachusetts Crime Commission.

Giles said in a news conference there had been published reports that a leading Republican had to be "a sacrificial lamb" in the commission's investigations.

"Evidently, I have been judged expendable," he said.

Five Democratic state officials have been indicted recently on charges involving conspiracy and bribery. Court action on the five cases, including those of two executive councilors, is not complete.

Big Year For Southwestern

Southwestern Life Insurance Company had a record year of accomplishment in 1963, it was announced today by Walter W. Stroup, CLU, company representative in Big Spring.

The annual report notes that 1963 was highlighted by the company's achievement of $3 billion of insurance in force and the launching of a long-range "Plan for Progress" designed to accelerate the company's growth rate in all areas of operations.

Southwestern Life's insurance in force at year-end 1963 totaled a new record high of $3,751,187. The 1963 in-force gain of more than $190 million was the largest annual increase resulting from new sales in the company's 61-year history.

Sales of new insurance hit an unprecedented level of $441,280,984, higher by more than 12 per cent over 1962.

Assets passed the $700 million mark in 1963 and at year-end totaled an all-time high of $704,539,445, an increase of more than $42 million for the year.

The company reached another noteworthy milestone in 1963 when it passed the half-billion dollar level in benefit payments to policyowners, beneficiaries and annuitants since Southwestern Life's founding in 1903. In 1963 alone, the company paid a record $52,063,941 in benefits, an average of more than $200,000 each working day. More than 65 per cent of the record benefit total went to living policyowners and annuitants.

W. Dawson Sterling, president, said that more than $800,000 of the year's total was paid to beneficiaries designated by 155 policyowners who died before their policies were one year old.

New investments made in 1963 moved to a new high of nearly $80 million, more than $5 million more than was invested in 1962.

Vessel's Severed Stern Inches Slowly To Haven

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—The severed stern of the tanker San Jacinto, wallowing at the end of a tow rope, inched toward port today with 35 crewmen who spurned rescue to stay with their ship.

Just after midnight, the seagoing tug Lambert's Point and its pitching, yawing charge still were more than 100 miles from their destination, Newport News. Their speed was three knots.

But the Coast Guard said the San Jacinto's stern was riding well in six-foot seas and was in no immediate danger. Barring bad weather, tug and tow are expected in harbor about noon Saturday.

The American tanker, steaming south off Chincoteague Island in the Atlantic, snapped in half early Wednesday, when rocked by an explosion as its cargo tanks were being cleaned.

One crewman died—of natural causes, physicians said—on board a rescue ship, the Mobil Pegasus. The San Jacinto's radio officer also went aboard the Mobil Pegasus.

Others aboard the tanker joined its master, Capt. Harold J. Titus, 39, of Pine City, N.Y., in declining an offer to go aboard the Navy command ship Northampton Wednesday.

Another tug, the Tern, reached the still floating bow of the San Jacinto about 9:20 Thursday night, some 60 miles east northeast of Chincoteague and took it in tow to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.

The crewman who died was identified as Martin Dotilla, the San Jacinto's chief steward. He brought the ship's papers aboard

Meditation, Prayer Necessary At Easter

By REV. JOHN S. MOORE

Individuals and nations in all parts of the world and in all ages have observed times of meditation, reflection and prayer.

The followers of Christ have long recognized that meditation and times of silence are valuable and necessary attributes to Christian life.

Lent, beginning with Ash Wednesday and continuing through Holy Week preceding Easter, has been observed for centuries as a time of meditation, fasting and prayer. The period of self-denial represents the 40 days Christ spent in the desert immediately following His baptism by John the Baptist.

DESERT PLACE

Jesus went into what the Bible calls a desert place to think things through and to try and learn what God wanted Him to do. For 40 days He meditated upon the Word of God as He knew it. He thought about the various ways and means of fulfilling His mission. The easy way—the way of self-gratification, the way of material power, the spectacular way sought by the crowd; the way of spiritual power, self-denial, discipline and sacrifice, the way of the Cross.

Jesus discovered the right way, the way of God, and He had the wisdom to recognize and know God's will and purpose for His life and the courage to fulfill it.

He found the answers to life's questions in meditation upon the Word of God, in solitude and in prayer.

RESORTED TO PRAYER

All through His life, when He was utterly fatigued and in need of inspiration, courage, hope, we find that Jesus resorted to prayer, meditation and solitude. When His disciples were frustrated in efforts to accomplish deeds of mercy and healing and asked Jesus why they failed, He answered: "These things are accomplished only through prayer."

If Jesus and His disciples were able in their day to achieve and live victorious lives through solitude and prayer, how much more vital it is for us to seek this way of life in the hectic days of the 20th Century.

We should be grateful for the traditions of our religions, which remind us at least once a year to take time for daily meditation and prayer.

PONDER

In these days, we require time to ponder in solitude the great question of life—Why are we here? Where do we come from? Where are we going and how can we reach our goals without stumbling over self-error?

Even for those who cannot find time for such spiritual exercises, there is abundant de-

McMurry Plans Science Center

McMurry College, having recently opened its new Jay-Rollins Library, is moving ahead immediately with construction of a new $700,000 Science Center. Work probably will begin early this summer.

McMurry's new Jay-Rollins Library, built and equipped at a cost of $450,000 was occupied in January of this year. The 32,000 square-foot structure is designed with two-story picture windows on two sides of the building that give a sweeping view of the campus.

duct determines our destiny. It is as the Bible said long ago: "As a man thinks in his heart, so is he."

Man should be grateful to be able to think that he can believe. It is important to be careful of what one thinks and what one believes. Paul urged his beloved Philippians to strive for an integrated personality. He told them, "Whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is gracious; if there is any excellence, if there is anything worthy of praise — think about these things."

MOTIVATION

These were the thoughts that motivated Jesus Christ when He lived among men.

Paul expresses this idea in the words, "You have the mind in you that was in Christ Jesus."

To the degree that we have in us the mind that was in Christ, to the degree that His thoughts motivate us day by day, to that degree we can say with the apostle Paul: "I live, yet not I, but Christ lives in me." And Paul also says, "I can do all things — through Christ, who strengthens me."

Jesus said, "He that believes in Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever lives and believes in Me shall never die."

The Rev. Walter Smith performed the double ring ceremony before an arch entwined with yellow and white roses. Mrs. Ronald Wyatt of New Home played traditional wedding marches, "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a belted skirt and a Chantilly lace jacket. A chapel train was attached with a bow at the waist and the elbow length veil of tulle fell from a tiara of pearls. Finery For Johnsons
WASHINGTON (AP) — The women in President Johnson's family let it be known today what their Easter outfits will be.

Mrs. Johnson has picked a three-piece coral wool suit, decked with white, for a gay spring-time look. The jacket has short sleeves, tab pockets and a double-breasted closure. She will wear a coral silk blouse with a round collar and a small bow at the neck, the White House said. She expects to wear beige or bone accessories.

The President's two daughters chose white with blue trim for their Easter outfits.

If all goes well, and the outfit she plans to wear is ready, Lynda, 20, plans to appear Sunday in a white double-breasted linen suit, with blue piping and a matching coat. She will wear a veil instead of a hat.

Luci, 16, picked a white wool suit. The jacket, with sleeves to the wrist, has blue trim at the cuffs and at the lapels. She hasn't decided yet what hat she'll wear, the White House said.

The report on the Easter outfits came in response to numerous inquiries to the White House. No information was given out, however, on the decisions of the clothes or where they were purchased.

To Marry
Luci and Lynda expect to be in Washington on Easter Sunday and probably will attend church nearby.

They have a date, too, to join youngsters invited to the traditional Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn Monday.

The President and Mrs. Johnson will be at their Texas ranch.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Noisy Faucets Need Washers Replaced
Dear Heloise:
For those who get a terrible racket when a water faucet is turned on... the best thing to do is to replace the washer because it is probably either loose or worn.

This can be checked first by turning the faucet on full blast to see if it does stop. If it does, that is probably the cause. When replacing the washer be sure it is held tightly in place by the set screw.

Another cause of "hammering" or "chattering" water faucets is worn threads on the valve stem. This is easily identified by bearing down hard on the handle as you turn. If this stops the noise, or greatly reduces it, then a loose valve stem is indicated and the cure is installing a new stem. Plumbing supply stores advertise these stems to fit any faucet.—Harry

Dear Heloise:
When I iron tablecloths I find that if I iron the middle of the cloth first on my ironing board, then fold it in half lengthwise and iron both sides that it not only lays straighter—without the "warbles," but keeps it from puckering when put on the table.

Also, the center of the cloth is ironed while it's completely damp... and really the center is what we notice mostly... so when we get to the edges of the cloth if it happens to be slightly dry a few small wrinkles will not be so noticeable as the edges will hang over the side of the table.

I never fold the cloth in half and crease that center fold with my iron. This not only wears out the cloth but makes it stick-up in the middle like Mt. Fuji. This is most unsightly.

I was told that a cloth should be ironed out straight, folded once lengthwise down the middle and slightly—not heavily—ironed and that the folds, other than the center crease, should never be ironed. Can you brief me on this?—Trying-to-learn books and so far as I can find out all five said this is the correct way to iron a cloth. One did say it was not necessary to crease the fold down the middle even with an iron... better to take your hand or finger and crease this fold!

I have looked in five protocol

Immediately after the cloth is pressed it should be folded lengthwise first down the center. Then, the cloth should be folded over lengthwise again. These may either be put on coat hangers as is, or folded crosswise and laid in your linen chest.—Heloise.

For those of you who have airtight bread boxes (the type you "burp"), and once in a while find the airtight top has not been kept properly closed and a loaf of bread dries out... I have found that you can dampen a paper napkin, lay it on top of the loaf of bread, replace the cover to the bread container, leave it overnight and the bread will be soft again.

Leave this dampened paper napkin inside the bread container until all the bread is used up. We find this terrific in our home.—Heloise.

Dear Heloise:
Cut those old, worn-out bath-towels into pieces just smaller than your baby's folded diaper. Stitch two thicknesses together, either by hand or sewing machine, and use these inside the regular diaper for night diapers, or in place of double diapers.

Place the towel pad inside of the diaper and fold the diaper over the pad. The towel never touches the baby's skin.

I have two babies in diapers. I have almost as many diaper pads as I do diapers and they work beautifully.—Mother

Rubber bands are very handy for removing stuck bottle caps such as the ones on catsup bottles.

Just wrap the band around and-around the top of the bottle, twist hard and usually the stubborn cap gives way. People who have seen me do this are just amazed as they never even thought of it before, and it's so simple.—S.

The ceremony was performed before an altar centered with an arrangement of white gladiolas, glamelias, white chrysanthemums and palm ferns. Two brass candelabra held white cathedral tapers, and pews were marked with white satin bows.

Mrs. Brenda Reid, organist, played the wedding marches and nuptial selections.

The bride was attired in a white, sleeveless sheath of white pique. Her headress was a large white satin rose from which fell a shoulder-length veil of illusion. She wore short, white gloves and had the traditional items that were old, new, borrowed and blue. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white glamelias.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Bettye Conger, sister of the bridegroom. Steve Bell served as best man.

WEDDING TRIP
For the wedding trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride was attired in a beige suit with printed blouse and bone accessories. She wore the corsage from her wedding bouquet. Upon returning, the couple will reside at 411½ Edwards Blvd.

The bride is a junior in Big Spring High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Forsan High School, attends Howard County Junior College.

DEAR ABBY

Delayed Reaction

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter signed "CANT FORGET HIM." It was from a woman who was still trying to find a man she met in La Crosse, Wisconsin, during World War II. She said all she knew about him was that he was from Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and had "HERB" tattooed on him. Can you please tell me where the tattoo was located? I think my Herb has some explaining to do.

CANT FORGET HIM EITHER DEAR ABBY: Sorry, but I don't have this information. But if I were you, I'd lay off. Your Herb has already been needed enough.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "CANT FORGET HIM" that she will have to. HE came this way and married me.

MRS. HERB WINTER ON FARLEY DRIVE

DEAR ABBY: I married a fine young man who lost his parents at an early age. He was reared by his only living relative, an older sister. I was so looking forward to meeting her because my husband told me how wonderful she was. On our first meeting alone she told me that the only reason her brother married me was to stay out of the Army! She was so cruel and cutting I couldn't wait to get away from her to let loose the flood of tears within me. I love my husband and I think he loves me. I don't want to stir up trouble between my husband and his sister, but I would like to know where she got an idea like that.

MARRIED TWO WEEKS DEAR MARRIED: Dry your tears and take a good, hard look at your husband's sister. You will see a jealous, possessive woman who would have disliked ANY woman her brother married. Ignore her barb, if you can. If you can't, ask your husband where his sister got such a notion.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago a very nice boy gave me his ring. I am 16 and he is going on 19. I was afraid to tell my father about it because he thinks all boys are rats. The day before yesterday I couldn't find it. I was sure I had left it on the window sill in the kitchen while I did the dishes, but it wasn't there. I just found out that my father took it off the window sill and pawned it. He drinks and he needed some money. He said he thought it was my brother's. Anyway, the ring is in the pawn shop and I don't know what to do because I have to tell the boy something soon. Can you suggest anything? NOWHERE TO TURN DEAR NOWHERE: Tell the boy you "lost" the ring. (Spare him the details.) Then start lining up some baby-sitting jobs to raise the money to get the ring out of hock.

Fulbright Foreign Policy Speech Fans Hot Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright has stoked an election year foreign affairs debate that's causing some pain to the Johnson administration even though it has found no fault with much of what the Arkansas Democrat says. The main sore point is the attack by Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, on the Johnson-Kennedy policy toward Cuba. Fulbright flatly labeled as a "failure" the administration's strategy aimed at toppling Fidel Castro by diplomatic and economic boycott.

Republican critics have been saying this right along, while using different reasons. They quickly found ammunition in the 70-minute Senate speech Wednesday by Fulbright who is a long time colleague of Johnson and a Democrat of the same general persuasion as Johnson.

speech, adding "I'm just saying we have to recognize the facts of life." He stressed he was trying to put the Cuban issue "in perspective" because he feels it has been exaggerated as a danger and believes the Organization of American States can deal with it.

Kiwanians Have Easter Program

Big Spring Kiwanians noted the Easter season at their Thursday luncheon. Miss Arah Phillips, who made a visit to the Holy Land recently, screened a number of colored slides she had taken of the route Christ followed on Good Friday. She was presented by the program chairman, Bob Travis. Travis Waller, with the State National Bank, was inducted into the club as a new member. Announcement was made that Kiwanians, under the direction of Ernest Welch and Bob Bradbury, would act as ushers at the sunrise Easter services in the City Park Sunday.

Pilots Receive Appointments

Eight instructor pilots at Webb AFB received notification Wednesday that they had been recommended for appointment in the Regular Air Force.

First Lieutenants John D. Arnold, Charles E. Brame, William A. Cottrell, Ernest W. Rapalee Jr., and Larry L. Shane, from the 356th Pilot Training Squadron, and Larry E. Kennard, Charles C. Winston III, and Robert E. Kuefner from the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, were notified of their selection and congratulated by Col. A. F. Tautie, wing commander.

All eight officers are graduates of the Reserve Officer Training Corps and all, but one, will have two years of active duty in the Air Force by the end of fiscal year 1964.

Although Lt. Robert E. Kuefner was not eligible for the fiscal year 1964 program, he was selected for appointment in the Regular Air Force because he graduated from ROTC as a Distinguished Military Graduate.

BALLOON

GOP National Chairman William E. Miller promptly tagged Fulbright's address as a trial balloon for future Johnson policy. And such a policy, he declared, would lead down the same road toward communism as British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's appeasement led toward Hitler conquests in the 1930s.

Administration sources pictured the President as generally undisturbed over the impact of Fulbright's address.

It was noted in administration quarters that most of what Fulbright said was in line with official policy; but the White House had disavowed Fulbright's remark on Cuba and on another point, Panama, which conflicted with administration policy.

NO ADVICE It also was noted that both

EPHESIANS 5:22-64

22 Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord.

23 For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church; and he is the saviour of the body.

24 Therefore as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in every thing.

25 Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it;

26 That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word,

27 That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish.

28 So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself.

29 For no man ever yet hated his own flesh; but nourisheth and cherisheth it, even as the Lord the church:

30 For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh.

32 This is a great mystery: but I speak concerning Christ and the church.

33 Nevertheless, let every one of you in particular so love his wife even as himself; and the wife see that she reverence her husband.

CHAPTER 6

CHILDREN, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right.

2 Honor thy father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise;

3 That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth.

4 And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

...Speaking of CONTACT LENSES

Everyday, more and more people are expressing an interest in wearing contact lenses. If you are interested in wearing them, you'll want to know the following facts about TSO Micro-Sight Contact Lenses—unsurpassed in technical excellence, yet reasonable in cost. TSO Doctors of Optometry, through their vast experience in fitting more than 35,000 contact lens patients during the past 13 years, are highly skilled in this field. Their knowledge and experience acquired through these fittings have given them great insight for determining the variable optical and physical factors which affect the successful fitting of the individual. TSO contact lenses are made with an exclusive, highly-polished edge bevel. This is most important to adaptation, as well as to continued wearing comfort. In fact, until a short time ago, the edges of most contact lenses were not properly beveled. Under a powerful microscope, they appeared distinctly blunt. In TSO's laboratory, precise edge-beveling, polishing and curve-blending on both sides of every contact lens eliminates this edge bluntness. Thus, adaptation time is reduced and maximum possible wearing comfort is achieved. Only the finest quality optical-grade plastic and highly skilled workmanship go into the making of TSO Micro-Sight Contact Lenses. And, the TSO standard of quality is consistently maintained throughout processing by eight distinct, precision inspections. If you are considering contact lenses, join the more than 35,000 patients who have been successfully fitted with Micro-Sight Contact Lenses from TSO. Single vision contact lenses are $65, complete with professional eye examination, prescription and fitting. Bifocal contact lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra charge.

Wildkittens Defeat HC In Triangular

By TOMMY HART
ACC's Wildkittens, getting an assist from Lubbock Christian College, defeated Howard County Junior College here Thursday for the first time this year in a track and field meet.

The Abilene crew counted 58 points to 54 for the Jayhawks. Lubbock Christian was a lagging third, with 19.

HCJC was far below peak strength but the issue was not decided until the final event of the day, the sprint medley relay.

In that event, ACC got a tremendous anchor run by half-mile star Steve Pigman. The Kittens were timed in 3:31.2 and Pigman ran the final 800 in an electrifying 1:55.7.

HCJC led until the final event by a single point but got shut out in the race.

The Jayhawks were operating without the services of three outstanding performers — Bob Parker, Jim Taylor and Bob Perry. Taylor went home for the Easter holidays, the other two were ill.

Some of the clockings were tremendous. A. J. Williams of HCJC, the meet's high point performer, was caught in 9.5 in the 100. He ran the century with a wind of about 12 to 15 miles an hour behind his back.

A. J. also won the 220 (in the good time of 21.8 while running around two curves), the broad jump and had a leg on the victorious sprint relay team, which was timed in 41.6.

He wound up with 16½ points for the day to beat out ACC's great Bruce Johnson, who copped the half-mile, mile and two-mile.

Johnson was originally committed to run the 880 leg on the sprint medley but was scratched in favor of Pigman, who came through in a big way.

The Hawks won first places in the sprint relay, quarter mile, 100-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, 220, broad jump and intermediate hurdles.

The locals' great Steve Langham, who gets more impressive each time out, scored a smashing win over LCC's national champion, Ray Patterson, in the quarter. Steve, who runs in a special 440 at the San Angelo Relays Saturday against Olympian Earl Young, was caught in 47.6, which is far and away his best effort of the year.

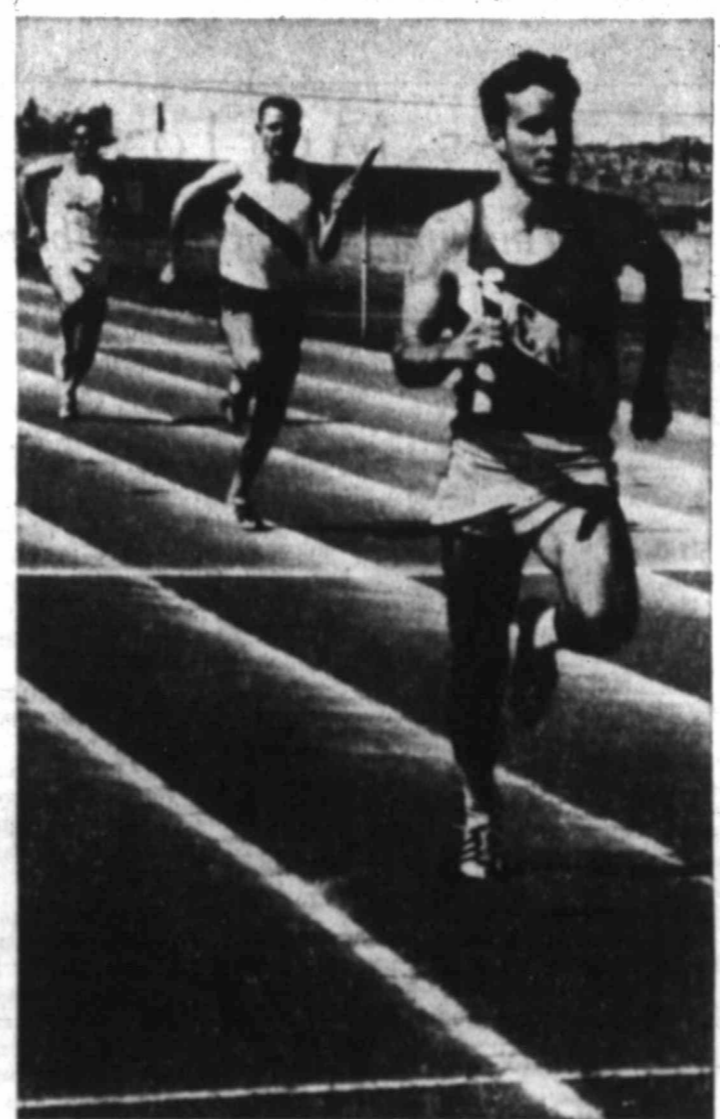

Patterson is the picture runner and he was caught in 48.6 but he hasn't been able to match strides with Langham anywhere this year. Steve, who also has great running form, simply runs Patterson into the ground.

Lubbock Christian sapped HCJC's strength by winning the pole vault and beating out the Hawks' for second place in the sprint medley.

In an ordinary meet such as this, the mile relay is run rather than the sprint medley but the coaches agreed beforehand to substitute the more unique sprint medley.

It's All HCJC

HCJC's Steve Langham roars across the finish line all alone in the sprint relay event in Thursday's triangular track meet at Memorial Stadium. Langham and his teammates were timed in the excellent time of 41.6. Trailing Steve across the line are Ray Patterson, Lubbock Christian, and Ray Rister, Abilene Christian.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

BOB CONSIDINE, veteran sports writer, recapturing the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight of June 22, 1938:

"It was a shocking thing, that knockout—short, sharp, merciless, complete. Louis was like this:

"He was a big, lean copper spring, tightened and retightened through weeks of training until he was one pregnant package of coiled venom.

"Schmeling hit that spring. He hit it with a whistling right-hand punch in the first minute of the fight—and the spring, tormented with tension, suddenly burst with one brazen spang of activity. Hard arms, propelling two unerring fists, blurred beneath the hot white candelabra of the ring lights. And Schmeling was in the path of them, a man caught and mangled in the whirling claws of a mad and feverish machine."

PAUL GALLICO writing of boxing:

"The ring is a dirty game and it smells bad. But it is exciting, colorful, Rabelaisian, earthy. It attracts the rabble and the unwashed. It stinks of bodies and liniment and leather and blood and it appeals to the so-called lowest instincts of humankind. But they are still humankind's instincts and therefore important."

W.O. MCGEEHAN, sports writer of the Roaring 20s, on the ring:

"Prize fighting is not a sport. It is a business. As a business it is probably as honest as American politics or the average business and probably a little more honest than the stock market."

DON TRULL, Baylor University's All-American quarterback who will be with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League next fall:

"When some players turn pro, I think they really turn pro. I mean a lot of them up there won't be playing for the joy of it, the thrill, the competition. They'll be playing for money and they'll be playing a lot rougher. It's just like the progression from junior high ball to high school, from high school to college. It gets rougher every year."

JIMMY CANNON, New York sports columnist:

"It is part of our national history that all boys dream of being Babe Ruth before they are anyone else."

MANOLETE, one of Spain's most famous bullfighters, who was killed in the ring, once said:

"Every time I see those horns, I want to run for my life."

STEVE BARBER, Baltimore Orioles' pitcher:

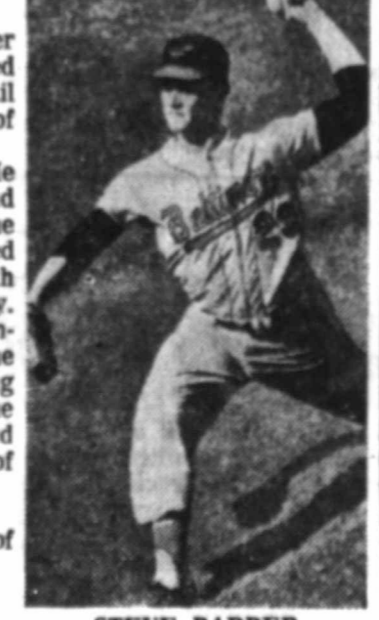

"I only read the funnies. If I read about a hitter and they say he's 'hot,' then I'll start thinking about it. So I just don't read the paper."

GARY PLAYER, pro golfer, talking about the time he appeared at the British Open with trousers having one leg black and one white:

"I still get embarrassed when I think of it. But I made a point. Golf needs color. Pictures of me in the crazy get-up were printed in newspapers all over the world. I like to think those trousers caused somebody who wouldn't otherwise have been interested in golf to come out to see me play."

Talking about playing on the circuit:

"I learned a long time ago to respect all golf courses. Once you admit they give you trouble, half the battle is won."

STEVE BARBER

Craig Fox of ACC was the third high individual scorer of the day with 13 1-3 points. He won the high jump, had a leg on the winning sprint relay team, was second in the high hurdles, second in the intermediates and third in the broad jump.

HCJC's Joe Draper copped two firsts, winning the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.1 and the 330-yard intermediates in 39.5.

The Hawks as a team will now take a rest until April 3-4, at which time they compete in the Texas Relays.

Part Of Champ's Purse Held Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay had to agree to put half of his purse from his fight with Sonny Liston—some $225,000—in escrow in order to get a crack at the former champion, an attorney has testified.

Gordon B. Davidson, attorney for a Louisville, Ky., group sponsoring Clay told the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee Thursday:

"We didn't like it, we don't like it, but we had to swallow it... because Clay wanted to fight for the title."

Clay won the championship in the Feb. 25 match at Miami

Mick Misses Action Due To Gimpy Legs

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's often been said that Mickey Mantle on one leg is better than most players on two, but even Mantle himself might not care to speculate how good he would be without that one good leg.

Actually, the leg—the left one—isn't that good, and that's what has the New York Yankee superstar worried.

"I was running real good when I came down here, but I haven't been running good the last couple of days," Mantle said Thursday after missing his second straight exhibition game.

Manager Yogi Berra had planned on using the switch-hitting center fielder against the Mets and even had his name on the line-up card. But Mantle asked for another day of rest, saying his left knee was troubling him.

The left knee is the one which was operated on during the winter for torn cartilage. He has had recurring problems with his right knee since he twisted it as a rookie in 1951.

Mantle, who played in only 40 per cent of the Yankees' games in 1963 and 58 per cent the past two seasons, started in the first 11 spring games but departed after the early innings. He has five hits in 19 times at bat, has scored one run and driven in two.

Until the past few days, he had not been bandaging his legs before games. Now he's reverted to that precautionary practice.

He said Thursday the left knee hurts where the cartilage was removed.

"I got hit by Siebern the first game we played," Mantle said, referring to Norm Siebern's line drive that struck him on the side of the knee. "The darned thing hit right near the operation, and now it's hurting. Doc says it's just a bone bruise. I hope that's all it is."

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, the team physician, said the knee had healed completely before Mantle came to camp, and no weakness exists.

Boxing Council May Yet Remove Cassius' Title

MEXICO CITY, (AP) — The World Boxing Council did an about-face Thursday night and threatened to withdraw recognition of Cassius Clay as world heavyweight boxing champion.

The Council's power, however, remains to be tested.

Ramon G. Velasquez, the Council's secretary general, said the withdrawal would come "whenever the United States Senate makes known officially the existence of a return-bout contract" between Clay and Sonny Liston.

He said that in that case the Council also would suspend indefinitely both Clay and Liston.

He said return bout agreements were against Council rules.

Earlier, the Council had defended Clay against a threat by the World Boxing Association to dethrone him.

Velasquez said that at that time, the Council was unaware of the existence of a return-bout agreement.

"If Clay and Liston turn out to be as guilty as they appear to be, possibly boxing will close its doors to them in the future, to establish a precedent that would be an example for all," Velasquez said.

His reference to the U. S. Senate was in relation with Senate hearings over the Clay-Liston bout.

In Washington, the lawyer for the Louisville group sponsoring Clay admitted Thursday that

San Angelo Hosts Meet

SAN ANGELO — The San Angelo Relays begin today as 500 schoolboy tracksters from 35 schools launch their drive for the title in this the sixth annual meet.

Preliminaries were set to begin at 11:30 a.m. today with events scheduled on up through 5 p.m.

Both high school crowns are up for grabs. Division II title holder, Denver City, is not back in the competition and Fort Stockton has not yet shown the strength necessary for the crown.

The Big Spring High School Steers will be running in the event along with one other local lad, HCJC's Steve Langham, who will run in a special 440-yard dash.

Volleyball Is To Be Played

The YMCA and Webb Air Force Base first annual Invitational Men's Volleyball tournament will be held in the Webb AFB gym Saturday with action scheduled to begin on two courts at 10 a.m.

Six teams are entered in the round-robin tourney: Amarillo Y, Webb AFB, Dyess, AFB, Midland Y, San Angelo Y, and Big Spring Y.

After the round-robin preliminaries, there will be single elimination playoffs in a championship and consolation bracket with trophies going to first and second in the main bracket and first in the consolation.

In the round-robin, a match will consist of two games, each of 15 points or eight-minutes. In case of a tie in standings at the conclusion of the round-robin, the team with the most points scored will be first in the standings. The playoffs will be the best of three games. All play will be governed by United States Volleyball Association rules.

An all-tournament team of six players will be chosen.

Steers Play Westerners

Freddy Miears is due to pitch for the Big Spring Steers in their first game of a baseball doubleheader with the Lubbock Westerners here at 1 p.m. today.

Coach Roy Baird indicated he would send either Gary Miears or Charley Burdett to the rubber in the second game. Hank Pope will be available for relief work on the mound.

The Steers will be seeking to terminate a five-game losing streak in the series. They are now 5-6 for the season.

Lubbock trailed Levelland in a game earlier this week by a score of 4-0, but then came on to win, 7-5. The Westerners were down to Big Spring, 6-0, in a contest earlier this year but won, 8-7. The Westerners had only four hits in the Levelland game.

In their last start, the Longhorns lost to Lubbock Monterey, 9-2, after holding the Plainsmen on even terms for the first five innings.

Coach Baird may shuffle his lineup for today's games but has not indicated what changes he will make.

A Devotional For The Day

The life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me. (Galatians 2:20.)

PRAYER: Dear Father in heaven, give us peace and life in the true measure that Thou hast planned for Thy children. Help us to go forth willingly to live for Jesus and, through the Holy Spirit, to spread His love abroad. In Christ's name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Dilemma For Cigarette Makers

Ever since publication of the surgeon general's report which cited cigarette smoking as a factor in lung cancer a crucial legal question has confronted the tobacco industry. It is this: Are cigarette manufacturers liable for damages arising from the use of their product?

The question was brought pointedly into the open the other day by Paul Rand Dixon, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

Is there an implied warranty on that pack of cigarettes... that it is safe? Dixon asked in the course of a hearing called by the FTC to determine if cigarette manufacturers should print a health warning danger on their packages.

The courts have held in the past that the controlling question was whether tobacco firms knew that their products were hazardous. Damages have been denied in leading cases for failure of complainants to prove that tobacco manufacturers knew their products were hazardous.

What would be the effect of the surgeon general's report condemning heavy cigarette smoking on future court cases? Dixon asked.

This dilemma has two very sharp horns. On one side is the possible court holding that without a warning on the package there is an implied warranty that the product is safe. On the other side is the possible court holding that a warning on the package is proof that the manufacturer knows the product to be harmful.

Some contend that manufacturers should be obliged to put a notice on each package of cigarettes that the contents may be dangerous. This would be an almost open admission of liability. It would also single out the industry from among others who also produce products which may be equally harmful to the American health.

Perhaps a court test may provide a legal answer. An adverse one could deal a body blow to an industry which affects directly or indirectly some 21 million people.

Cruel And Inhuman Way

We have an unsigned letter protesting the wave of poisonings here. It contains a number of suggestions including: 1) Report anyone seen prowling around alleys and yards; 2) check yards often for meat or any food which may have been thrown there; 3) caution children against picking up any meat or candy which they might find; 4) lock dogs or cats in the garage or house if leaving for any length of time, and check the yard carefully upon returning before releasing the pets.

These suggestions have merit, but they are not likely to dissuade poisoners, who seem to be a breed apart. They have been at it for years and likely will continue this nefarious business.

Admittedly a lot of people turn their pets loose to prey upon other people's yards or to disturb their peace and tranquility, but poisoning is not the way to combat this problem. It is not only indiscriminate in that it destroys pets which are kept up, but it is inhuman. No one who has seen a pet die of poisoning will agree that this is anything less than a cowardly and cruel way to take out displeasure on pets.

David Lawrence Impartial Probe Of Baker Case

WASHINGTON—There is a right way and a wrong way to handle the so-called "Bobby Baker case." A Senate committee has taken the wrong course by virtually shutting off the investigation of the former secretary of the Democratic minority in the Senate. This means that the battle of innuendoes will continue, and the American people will get the impression that something is being hushed up and the truth concealed about a matter that concerns the conduct of a prominent employe of the upper house of Congress.

THE RIGHT WAY to dispose of the matter—and it still can be done—would be for the Senate committee to choose a commission of five or more outstanding citizens, either retired judges or other distinguished lawyers, to examine all the evidence and give the American people an impartial report. Testimony could be taken in public or in private, with the objective of getting at the truth and stating it authoritatively, together with recommended courses of action governing the future conduct not only of employes of members of Congress but of senators and representatives themselves.

SUCH NATIONAL commissions are used in Great Britain and Canada, and they help to keep an issue from becoming a political football while the investigation itself is being carried on. The commissions are empowered to subpoena witnesses and to hear them in closed session or in public. Testimony is given under oath, and the laws with respect to perjury govern.

The trouble with the way the Bobby Baker case has been handled is that the Democrats may have unwittingly conveyed the idea that they want to hide something. The Republicans, on the other hand, have been pointing the finger of suspicion at the handling of the case by the Democratic majority on the committee.

THIS IS NOT unusual behavior on the part of politicians. If the Republicans were in the majority today, the Democrats would be quick to use the same tactics to expose any suspected wrongdoing by anyone in the opposite party. But the country is getting the wrong impression about the integrity of the Senate itself.

The problem really concerns the propriety of the private transactions not only of employes but of members of Congress themselves. They

Billy Graham

My husband resents my going to church, and tells me that since he works hard all week, I should stay home with him on Sundays. But, I have always been a church-going person. I go to church on Sunday. But if it is going to damage our married life, maybe I ought to give in to my husband. What do you suggest?

J. A.

When your husband married you he did not buy your soul. Two dollars or so he paid for the marriage license didn't entitle him to make all of your spiritual decisions for you. Being a husband myself, I don't believe that an average normal man would respect his wife completely if she lowered her convictions to conform to his whims and desires.

In the marriage ceremony when you were married, the minister said: "What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder." If God is the One which holds you together, do you think it would be right for both you and your husband to ignore Him? It is bad enough for your husband to live apart from God. It seems to me if he wanted to be with you, that he could join you in attending the church. From all that you say, I feel confident this is what he needs. In church he may find Christ and that could change his whole life.

LEHIGH, Kan. (AP)—Rufus D. Unrau was unloading four hogs from his pickup truck when his young son pointed into the truck bed and said: "Look daddy, is that an egg?"

A loose chicken egg had made a 160-mile trip rolling in the truck with the hogs, and was undamaged.

Around The Rim Communicating Decisions

Public reaction to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's recall from the Far East a decade ago depended upon one's opinion of the general.

His detractors said "Dugout Doug's" disobedience of orders was another example of his high handed haughtiness. Supporters of the former Rainbow Division commander praised his criticism of government restraints.

THE REASON for MacArthur's recall generally was overlooked: He sounded off to reporters about a political decision which prevented his ordering air strikes against troop concentration centers and supply depots north of the Yalu River.

To a military commander, it was inconceivable that he could not hit his opponent where it hurt most. Large scale bombings of such targets, strategists agreed, would weaken the Chinese Army's ability to wage war south of the river.

NAVAL COMMANDERS were clamoring for a bombardment and possible landing on the China coast. United Nations forces were superior in the air and on the sea. The military viewpoint best was expressed by MacArthur. He called orders for the Seventh Fleet to patrol the Formosan Straits, preventing an attack on the mainland "the strangest anomaly in military history."

It was strange. The Korean War may have been the first limited war in history—if one discounts World War II, when gas and germs could have been used.

THE KOREAN WAR was limited, not only to weapons, but also to the Korean Peninsula. Ship captains, sailing across the Yellow Sea, detected unidentified submarines but never were attacked.

Why didn't the subs attack? Why weren't the supply depots bombed? By now, it seems obvious that the so-called "police action" was limited in scope by political decisions agreed upon in Washington and Moscow.

Whether it was a good decision is a question that should be of concern to everyone. If a general of the Army questions the progress of a war, who can blame the privates in the front trenches for their misgivings?

IF ANYONE questions the state of morale during the first limited war, let him reflect that few Americans escaped from Chinese prison camps.

This is not intended as a criticism of anyone or anything, but rather a plea that political decisions be aired publicly that those who may be called upon to man the trenches will know the reason why.

Richard Starnes Just Send Valachi To Canada

WASHINGTON—Canadian-U.S. amity (there's a gambit that'll glaze every eyeball in creation) is always a bit shaky, but we've a notion that should put things to rights in no time.

All will recall last fall's grisly revelations that a Sicilian octopus which calls itself the Cosa Nostra was third base to taking over the very republic itself. A hard case name of Joe Valachi disclosed the existence of this secret government of crime before a suitably horrified panel of lawgivers in Washington.

VALACHI, an old lad with a record of half-wit deprecations going back a very long way indeed, impressed one as the most unreliable witness since Ananias. But his obvious want of credibility seemed of no consequence to his auditors, or, sadly, to certain fearless chaps in my own trade.

The ministry of justice, R. Kennedy presiding, promoted Valachi's lunatic maudlinings to urge haste upon Congress in enacting a measure giving legal color to wiretapping, a nasty form of electronic snooping already widely used in spite of its clear illegality.

(YOU WANT to know what all this had to do with that oversized Luxembourg on our northern border, just grit your teeth and hang on for another moment.)

Well, sir or madam, old Valachi is alone now with whatever unlovely bugs are gnawing at his cortex. He is of no further use to the dismal busybodies who want to record my conversations with my bookmaker, and, indeed, he has become an embarrassment to his keepers.

Happily, however, we have the means of disposing of Joe, the singing mouse, and improve on Canadian-Yank relations with one rock, so to speak.

THE ATTORNEY General of Ontario, Frederick Cass, has embarked on the same ugly voyage as our own prefect of justice. He has found that the Mafia poses a clear and present danger to Ontario, that he is unable to cope with it by ordinary legal means, and that he needs a new law to save his parish from the vile excesses of organized crime. The law he has proposed is shocking, and might have been concocted by the spook of Himmeler himself. It would empower the Ontario cops to hold anyone for questioning in secret, to deny him legal advice, and to hold him in jail indefinitely so long as he refused to answer questions. The law makes no provision for bail, appeal to court or other due process.

IT HAS, understandably, created quite a flap in Canada. Ontario Premier John Roberts has temporarily withdrawn it, but he may have finished his chances to succeed Tory ex-Prime Minister John Diefenbaker as Conservative leader by permitting its introduction in the first place.

The solution is plain. Chaps eager to destroy human rights that have been bloody centuries in the building must stick together. Our Department of Justice should forthwith ship Valachi to Ontario, where he could sing his song of the underground government of crime for the benefit of Ontario's provincial lawmakers, who on average are no smarter than our own.

NO ONE WILL recall that in the half year that has passed since Valachi's testimony in Washington not one indictment has been returned as the result of anything he said, that not one gangster has been sent to prison, nor has one maiden been saved from an unspeakable fate at the hands of the white slavers.

It is sad to see the same hysteria taking Canada by the scruff. If Canadian gumshoes claim to believe crooks or spies of any magnitude discuss trade secrets over telephone circuits monitored by unknown numbers of lantern-jawed sleuths, then they are as cynical and stupid as our own. Marquis Childs Watch What The Old Pros Do

CLEVELAND—The rise and fall of the Goldwater movement is recorded nowhere so distinctly as in conservative Ohio where the late Sen. Robert A. Taft raised occasionally the suspicion of being a little radical and dangerous.

The fever reached its height last September when more than 3,000 Goldwaterites clamored for admission to a luncheon in Cleveland for the senator from Arizona. Cards pledging support and money rained down like manna from heaven. The expectation then was that the Ohio delegation to the Republican National Convention would be pledged to Goldwater. And that prize might have cinched the nomination, putting the seal of Taftian Ohio on the Goldwater candidacy.

TODAY the delegation is anchored to a favorite son, Gov. James A. Rhodes. Where it will go eventually is a question a lot of Republican leaders are asking not only in Ohio but across the nation. The man who might supply a clue is sitting tight and saying nothing.

Ray C. Bliss, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, is a professional's professional in the great game of politics. Nervous members of his committee have been phoning him in his office in Columbus to suggest that maybe it was time Ohio found a candidate to back. He has given them his own view of the tactic to follow, which is to wait perhaps to the very day the balloting begins in San Francisco in mid-July. In short, to play the waiting game right down to the wire.

IF MANY states follow this example it will make the convention the most exciting in a very long time.

As a pro of pro Bliss has instilled in his fatcat contributors some realization of the fact that politics is more than the ability to write generous checks.

THE DIFFERENCE between authentic political know-how and the ability to write big checks says something about the ups and downs of the Goldwater movement. At the height of the Goldwater fever George M. Humphrey, top officer of the M. A. Hanna Company and President Eisenhower's Secretary of the Treasury, was carried away to the extent that he agreed to be Goldwater finance chairman for the state. He promised Bliss that Goldwater money would be above and beyond that which contributors normally would give to the Central Committee.

SEVERAL TIMES recently Sen. Goldwater has complained that rich idolaters who promised him an open purse have not come through. You look for them, he said, and you find they've gone off on a world tour. It may be significant that while Humphrey is not on a world tour he has been for some time in the splendid isolation of his shooting preserve in Georgia where game abounds and the cares of the world are far removed.

Professional respect for a professional operation, and correspondingly professional contempt for an unprofessional operation, may have something to do with the doubts of the pros in the party about where the Goldwater movement was going. The direction has seemed increasingly random and rudderless.

WHILE THEY are well aware of his errors in the 1960 campaign—three or four errors of judgment that probably cost him the election—the pros respect Richard Nixon's professionalism. They believe that if he should get the nomination this time he would be in an entirely different situation—on the offensive where he is at his best rather than on the defensive as he was four years ago.

The turning point to watch for in San Francisco will be when Bliss and the other pros with a lot to say about uncommitted delegations tip their hand. It is perhaps an even bet today that they will turn to Nixon.

James Marlow Fresh Policy Thinking Sought By Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP)—This country's basic foreign policies and attitudes toward communism after World War II came in President Truman's time and have been pretty well fixed and frozen since.

In that immensely creative period, when Truman decided nothing could stop Stalin's aggressive onslaught except force and determined opposition, three policies were begun:

Aid to other countries (Greece, Turkey, the Marshall Plan); military alliances (NATO); and stiff-arming communism everywhere (the Berlin airlift and the Korean War).

WHAT HAS happened since then—under President Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson—has simply been an extension of those programs in one way or another in Europe, Africa, Asia, Middle East and Latin America.

This week Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., in a Senate speech, sought to stimulate fresh thinking to meet new conditions and to abandon old attitudes and policies if they are outdated.

In only a few instances in his review of the world did he attempt to offer either specific solutions or new approaches. Nevertheless, he has been attacked in Congress for what he said.

SEVERAL Republicans and Democrats in the House Thursday went after him with this kind of criticism: that his position "amounts to a surrender on the installment plan to Communists all around the world."

It has become an American cliché—since Truman's time—that anything less than total rigidity toward communism everywhere and under all circumstances is appeasement. Fulbright would call it a "myth."

He said communism under Premier Khrushchev is not exactly the same as under Stalin and that changes have taken place within the Communist world which once had a solid front. For example, the Russian-Red Chinese split.

Fulbright's point was to take advantage of changes. But to do it, he said, requires re-thinking about traditional (since Truman) American ideas on how to deal with communism.

HE COULD not have failed to know beforehand his speech would not be completely popular for he warned President Johnson to stop trying to make popular foreign decisions and make unpopular ones if necessary.

No one knows better than Fulbright, who was in the Senate in the days of Sen. Joseph McCarthy and was one of the few men there to express contempt for the Wisconsin Republican, how men in public life can be frightened into silence or conformity by fear of public disapproval.

Some of the American policy since Truman's time—sticking to fixed positions—was necessary in that intense period of the arms race between this country and Russia. Some of this intensity melted with the agreement on the limited nuclear test ban.

FULBRIGHT has not always been right. He angered a lot of people, and no one more than Truman, when the Republicans won control of Congress in the 1946 elections and he suggested Truman quit so a Republican could succeed him.

But he was far-sighted in 1943, when he was a freshman in the House and got it to pass a resolution saying the United States should join a world organization to keep the peace. It did just that two years later when it joined the United Nations.

Some of Fulbright's proposals are not always completely blueprinted. But as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he has been one of the few men in Congress probing for new approaches.

As he said Thursday night in a television interview, he has for 10 years been making speeches similar to the one this week, analyzing foreign affairs as he sees them.

Hal Boyle La Femme's Many Faces

NEW YORK (AP)—Women have many faces.

A man usually goes through life wearing one look. As he grows older it resembles nothing more than the expression of a soggy potato in a rain-washed gutter.

But women are different. They have at least one face for every occasion—and sometimes two. If you will look back at some of the situations you have known involving women, these feminine expressions may seem typical:

THE GREAT female stone face—This is the hard, fixed unseeing stare millions of women wear in the street, as if they were sleepwalking zombies.

You know I don't like to be kept waiting—The angry face of a wife who gets to an appointment half an hour late but figures the best defense is an attack.

Well, you've certainly got a nerve—Her eyebrow arches in indignation because you have managed to slow milady's progress. You have either got your foot caught under hers, brazenly impaled your eyeball on the point of her umbrella, or failed to push soon enough to help her through a revolving door.

SO YOU HAD to be the life of the party—This is the protective morning-after accusation. You only had three martinis, she had four. Actually she really doesn't remember too clearly what happens, but figures you must have made a fool of yourself or else why would she feel so awful?

Oh, let's eat any place you'd like. Heaven knows I'm not fussy—But that set smile is ominous. She's in a picky mood. You can name a thousand restaurants—and she'll find something wrong with every one.

IF YOU THINK it's any picnic trying to run a house on the money you bring home—She has the worn air of a martyr after long torture. Joan of Arc died looking more cheerful.

Oh, you didn't have to do that—An expression of feminine gratitude reserved for a man who buys the girl a $7.50 steak or throws himself under a passing truck to retrieve one of her $2.95 novelty earrings.

To Your Good Health Patient Advised To Check On Diagnostic Clinic

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about electric treatments I am getting for a condition which has been diagnosed as gall bladder, liver and kidney trouble? I have gone to this diagnostic clinic for several weeks and the treatment is quite expensive. I am also thinking of the possibility of cancer. This city does not have a cancer clinic. Would any doctor be able to give me a test?—E. M.

I don't know of any "electric treatments" for a combination of gall bladder, liver and kidney trouble.

But I do know that electrical gadgets that are supposed to diagnose (and treat) all kinds of ailments are a favorite trick among charlatans and fakers, some of whom are so convincing that they collect large sums of money before being caught.

For your own safety (not to mention pocketbook) find out whether this "diagnostic clinic" is legitimate. You can inquire at many places: health department, medical society, city hospital, Better Business Bureau. They can tell you whether this clinic is properly licensed to practice medicine. If it is not, the authorities can take action.

It is unusual for anyone to have diseases of the gall bladder, liver and kidney all at once, without prior symptoms. However, it is another trick of the quacks to tell people that they have such diseases and to start expensive "treatments."

As to your cancer worries, clinics are fine but individual physicians do an excellent job of examining too.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 64 and one eye has been tearing for some time. Now both of them do. I look like I am crying all the time. Can anything be done?—MRS. M. R.

This is usually because small ducts have become plugged.

Normally a slight amount of moisture keeps appearing in the eyes to clean and lubricate them; it then drains away through the ducts.

If the ducts are plugged, the moisture escapes in the form of tears.

This trouble often can be corrected by inserting a tiny probe to remove whatever particles have plugged the duct or ducts. Consult an eye specialist.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is housemaid's knee?—MRS. B. C.

It is bursitis—irritation of the bursa at the knee cap. Relieving it from pressure (not kneeling on it) may let the fluid recede and the swelling and pain subside. Otherwise drainage (with a hollow needle) or surgery may be required. Medications help in some cases. But eliminating pressure on the joint is of prime importance.

The bidding:
 South West North East
 1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass
 4♥ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Eight of ♠. Declarer's carelessness was no doubt brought on by the wealth of playing material at his command for, after the bad trump break was revealed, he still had 10 top tricks available. The uneven split in hearts should have alerted him to the possibility that West might be short in another suit.

The luxury of bringing in the entire trump suit should have been foregone in the interests of safety. South must content himself with cashing his four high hearts and then begin to run the diamond suit. West may ruff in with the ten of trumps whenever he wishes, but there is no way to prevent the declarer from taking eight tricks in the red suits plus the two black aces.

Youth Week Pastor Gets Key

Associate Pastor Billy D. Rudd, (left), Youth Pastor David Yater, and Youth Director Mrs. Dick Davis of East Fourth Street Baptist Church, prepare for Youth Week activities.

Youth Week Set At East 4th Baptist

By M. A. WEBB

An 8 a.m. breakfast Sunday will launch Youth Week at East Fourth Street Baptist Church. The observance will continue through the Sunday School hour April 5. Young people will serve the church in all the official positions of the church.

The purpose is to give youth the actual experience of filling regular offices in their church, to increase their understanding of the functions of leaders, to increase their appreciation for these officers, their responsibilities, and for the church itself; encourage the confidence of adults in youth and their capabilities, and for preparing the youth for assuming positions of leadership in the church.

David Yater has been selected to serve as Youth Week pastor. Douglas McConnell will serve as associate pastor in charge of music and education, and Janine Watts, church secretary-clerk-treasurer.

Others chosen to serve as heads of organizations are: Jerry Oliphant, chairman of the deacons; Gene Jones, Brotherhood president; Arlena McCartney, WMU president; Jimmy Thomas, Sunday school superintendent; James Rogers, training union director, and Ronnie Crowner and Rodney Cline, co-chairman of ushers. Many other young people will serve as Sunday school and training union superintendents and directors; teachers, deacons and ushers.

Activities for the week will include a special youth fellowship following the Sunday evening worship service, a Youth Week deacons' meeting, and a joint Brotherhood and WMU meeting and sandwich supper Tuesday night.

Yater will bring the message Sunday evening, and will have charge of the Wednesday evening prayer service. A film of interest to young people and parents, entitled "Teen Queen," will also be shown Wednesday evening, and a youth retreat held at Lake J. B. Thomas Friday evening and Saturday.

Mrs. Dick Davis and Mrs. Floyd Dixon, are chairmen of the youth activities committee.

Devoted Churchwoman Gave Life To Missions

The restless spirit of Christine Coffee Chambers has gone to its rest. The former Big Spring woman, who served 28 years on the mission fields of the Orient, died March 14 in a Denver, Colo. hospital following surgery.

CHRISTINE CHAMBERS During early furlough home

Memorial services were held three days later at the First Baptist Church in Denver. Characteristically, she had worked her body for scientific study.

To the last, her ties here remained strong, for it was from the First Baptist Church that she had gone out in 1913 to China. There she met her husband and later buried him, and there she labored for over 25 years. Only the turn of international events and failing health kept her from going back.

COLEMAN COUNTY

Christine Mahala Coffee was born Feb. 17, 1885 on a Coleman County farm and moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Coffee, to a farm 17 miles north of Big Spring in 1891, and in 1899 moved 14 miles south of town. Christine Coffee attended the Elbow school and later went to the Howard Payne Academy at Brownwood, staying in the home of her uncle, S. C. Coffee. Under the ministry of Rev. E. A. Batten, she was converted at Brownwood in 1901. Later she taught school here and was extremely active in her church. During the summer encampment at Palacios, she heard Dr. George W. Truett preach and surrendered her life for foreign service.

This called for more training and from 1907-11 she attended Hardin - Simmons University, spent a year at Louisville (Southern) Baptist Seminary and another at Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth.

W'brook Church Slates Revival

WESTBROOK (SC) — Revival services will be conducted at Westbrook Baptist Church April 5-12. Morning services will be at 8 a.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and prayer meeting will be at 7 p.m. daily with song services beginning at 7:30.

The Rev. Hollis Yeilding, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Abilene, will be the evangelist, and Dwayne Clawson, Coahoma, will direct the music.

Rev. S. L. Yeilding, pastor, invited the public.

instructor at the University of Shanghai from 1935-38. With the Japanese invasion, she returned to the United States briefly, using this interval (1938-39) to earn her Master of Arts in English at the University of Michigan. Back she went to Shanghai, however, only to be forced out again in November, 1940.

Her spirit longed to go back to the Orient, but the war came and she took a research assistant post at the University of Michigan from 1941-47. In the interval, her only son, Lt. Richard Harris Chambers, was killed in a plane crash in 1945, inflicting another great burden on her life. Her health began to fail, but she served four years as secretary of a large Baptist Church in Detroit, Mich.

A missionary circle here is named for her, and the First Baptist Church had a Christine Coffee Chambers Day Feb. 17, 1959, but even then she was unable to leave her home in Denver to attend.

"She was," said one of her close friends, Mrs. Della K. Agnell, "one of the most active and consecrated persons I knew. There are those in the church today whose lives were influenced and changed by her as a young Sunday School teacher."

The society headquarters were moved to Shanghai in 1926 and the family went there. Dr. Chambers contracted pneumonia in 1932 and died, but Mrs. Chambers remained at the post for the next two years. During this period she wrote his biography, "Builder of Dreams." Her talents were used further as an

Mormons Will Dedicate Chapel Here Saturday

Two ranking officials of the Mormon Church will be here Saturday to assist in the dedication of the chapel of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Elder Howard W. Hunter, Salt Lake City, Utah, member of the Council of the Twelve Apostles, and Ralph J. Hill, Dallas, president of the Texas Mission, will have leading roles in the services set for 5:30 p.m. Saturday at the chapel, 1803 Wasson Road. A number of other area leaders are due for the occasion.

The chapel here was begun in February, 1960 and was completed July 19, 1961 with members doing most of the work. It is located on a three-acre tract and is the first part of a five-phase program of development. Elements are not dedicated until they are paid for.

Elder Hunter will preside over the meeting and O. D. Graham, president of the Big Spring branch, will conduct the rites. Other authorities of the church planning to attend include Melvin O. Dearden, Odessa, president of the West Texas District; Stanley Hubber, Odessa, first counselor to the district president; Wayne Eledge, Odessa, second counselor to the district president; Thomas Tubbs, Midland, district councilman; Wayne Ames, Abilene, mission Melchizedek priesthood advisor; Elton D. Wallace, first counselor to the branch president; and R. D. Shaw, Big Spring, second counselor to the branch president.

The Big Spring branch includes congregations in Snyder and Colorado City as well as here. The Big Spring chapel has 142 members consisting of 51 families in its charge.

Elder Hunter is president of the Mid-American Missions and was called to the apostleship Oct. 10, 1959. A life-long member of the Mormon Church, he was a prominent Los Angeles corporation attorney and director of several large industrial corporations prior to full time religious commitment. He had served as a bishop in Los Angeles since 1940. Mr. Hill is in charge of activities of 234 missionaries in Texas and supervises activities of 43 local branches of the LDS Church in North, West and South Texas.
