Rusk En Route To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is sending Secretary of State Dean Rusk to Saigon for conferences with South Viet Nam Premier Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, having won a delay of any nationwide rail strike, pressed through personal talks today toward a goal of easing the strike threat altogether.

The President invited labor and management representatives to negotiate at the White House. And, in another personal touch, he held a conference in his office with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and four other federal officials.

Johnson said he followed a deep-seated principle that, so long as parties to a dispute observe the admonition of the Prophet Isaiah to "Come, let us reason together," there is always a chance of success.

New SEC Trading Limits Renew Old Controversy

NEW YORK (AP) — For 30 years the government and the stock exchanges have wrangled off and on over a chicken-or-the-egg type of question: Which comes first, the interest of the exchange member or of the public investor?

Abe Statue To Be Shown

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—A bronze statue of Abraham Lincoln will be unveiled here today as a symbol of friendship and cooperation between the United States and Mexico.

U. S. Senators Ralph Yarborough of Texas and Wayne Morse of Oregon are scheduled to be on hand, along with other legislators from both sides of the border.

The 18-foot-tall statue stands in the Programa Nacional Fronterizo (ProNAF) project site in Ciudad Juarez.

ProNAF is a $14 million project designed to show American visitors the Mexican way of life, the country's attractions and its merchandise. The site is less than a mile from the Rio Grande bridge linking this city with El Paso.

Ciudad Juarez and El Paso are the two largest cities on the Texas-Mexican border.

The ceremonies will coincide with a three-day meeting beginning today of the U. S. Highway 180 Association and the Mexican Highway 45 Association.

The meeting will encourage two-way travel through the Juarez-El Paso gateway.

Among speakers will be New Mexico Gov. Jack Campbell and U. S. Boundary and Water Commissioner Joseph Friedkin.

The Lincoln statue, commissioned by the Mexican government, is the sculpture of Angel Terraz of Mexico. It is adjacent to the Museum of Mexican Culture and History at the beginning of Avenida Abraham Lincoln.

The statue will also symbolize the friendship between Lincoln and Benito Juarez, the Mexico revolutionary hero for whom this city is named.

And now the Securities and Exchange Commission is taking a step it thinks will make sure that the ordinary trader in stocks gets served in the market place before the stock exchange members can serve themselves—or at least just as fast.

But the new rules curbing activities of the New York Stock Exchange of floor traders acting for themselves alone instead of for the public investor probably are only just a skirmish in the continuing battle over the rules of the nation's exchanges and of the SEC role in policing them more strictly.

The Securities Exchange Act of 1934 set up the SEC and gave it the power to "regulate or prevent floor trading by members of national securities exchanges, directly or indirectly for their own account or for discretionary accounts."

Many times since the SEC has moved toward curbing or barring floor trading as giving exchange members first crack at any gray that suddenly appears—a charge which exchange officials stoutly deny.

In 1945 when such a rule was close to adoption, the New York Stock Exchange offered tight regulations on its own part and the SEC agreed to leave this up to the exchange.

But last year the SEC charged that the exchange wasn't keeping floor traders from getting ahead of, and in the way of, the public investors at critical times. After months of wordy wrangling, the SEC has issued new rules which the exchange officials call a compromise since floor traders are not barred altogether.

Still, the new rules will be so strict that some in Wall Street doubt if more than 30 members will be able to meet them, although now some 400 members occasionally trade for themselves alone on the floor rather than in their customary roles as brokers for public buyers or sellers.

DEAR ABBY

What Is Familiarity?

DEAR ABBY: In our community there is a couple whom my husband and I have known for over half a century. He and my husband have been fast friends since their boyhood. The man had a heart attack, and when he came home from the hospital we called on him. He was as gray as a ghost, and I honestly didn't think he was going to make it so I called him by his first name. That is all. Well, he is recovering now and has started calling me by MY first name, and I don't like it. I prize his wife's friendship highly, but don't appreciate her husband's undue familiarity. What do you suggest?

NEARING EIGHTY

DEAR NEARING: I don't know what you consider "undue familiarity" but it would appear that you are unduly aloof. And don't forget, you initiated the familiarity!

DEAR ABBY: What is a girl supposed to think when a boy falls asleep on a date? Could it be that I bore him? He is wide awake when we start out, but no matter where we are, if there's a chance for him to close his eyes, he falls asleep. I have told him to stay home if he likes to sleep that much, but he says he would rather be with me. Should I break up with him?

WIDE AWAKE

DEAR WIDE: Don't assume that you are a bore, or that the boy just "likes to sleep." It is entirely possible that the young man needs to see a doctor. Suggest it.

DEAR ABBY: Now that spring is here, the old problem we had last summer comes to mind. On our street the houses are rather close together. The man next door is a sun worshiper, so at the first hint of warm weather he puts on his swim trunks and stands around in his front yard sprinkling.

New-Found Diary Revives Old Jeff Davis Argument

NEW YORK (AP) — A diary found in a Michigan attic bids fair to stir up an old feud among Civil War buffs over the capture of Jefferson Davis. The diary contains a first-hand account of the event.

Davis, president of the Confederate States of America, was wearing woman's clothing when Union troops took him prisoner near Irwinstville, Ga., on May 10, 1865. The puzzler that has divided historians is whether the cloak and shawl Davis admitted having worn were intended to be a disguise.

At the time, many people in the North made Davis, a courtly and stern gentleman, the butt of derision and ridicule. Cartoons of the day lampooned him in a woman's dress.

Davis wrote that he grabbed his wife's cloak and shawl in a darkened tent as his pursuers closed in.

The diary of Lt. Col. Benjamin Pritchard gives this account of the day:

"One o'clock a.m. Have just arrived at Irwinstville (sic). Moon is shining brightly. Have examined the roads. At 3 1/2 o'clock a.m. moved up & captured the whole camp without firing a shot, which proved to be Jeff Davis (who attempted to make his escape in disguise of an old woman, fit ending for such a cause as his), together with his family, and portions of his civil and military staff. Soon after capture had a verry (sic) sad & unfortunate collision with Wis Cav in which several men were wounded & two killed, either of whom was worth more than the whole Southern Confederacy..."

The diary and 75 of 100 other items of Pritchard's papers were sold at auction recently by John Fox who said tips led him to the papers in trunks in the house Pritchard built in Allegan, Mich. He said Dudley H. Pritchard, the Civil War officer's grandson, lives there.

Until now, one of the main pieces of evidence that Davis was disguised in woman's clothing was Pritchard's account 13 days later to Secretary of War Edwin Stanton. Pritchard's copy of this document is among the papers auctioned.

Drug Marksmanship Takes Aim At Cancer

CHICAGO (AP) — A cancer expert outlined today new steps to improve the marksmanship of drugs aimed at killing human cancers.

One is to fire a broadside of two to four drugs simultaneously at the cancer. This method shows some early promise, said Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod of the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md.

A second is to use drugs if possible to prevent a disease from becoming a cancer. And this has worked well in one rare form of precancerous disease, he said.

EARLIER
A third and still future goal is to use chemical bullets far earlier against cancer, if the drugs are safe enough.

Chemists have already fashioned a large number of anticancer drugs. The great goal is drugs acting like benevolent assassins — able to kill 100 per cent of cancer cells without hurting the patient.

Dr. Zubrod spoke to the American Association for Cancer Research on implications of drug treatment in medical practice, and amplified in an interview.

Cancer drugs have significant meanings for patients, for doctors and cancer researchers, Dr. Zubrod said.

RARE FORM
For patients:

Drugs can often apparently kill all cancerous cells in a rare form of cancer affecting women. This is choriocarcinoma, arising during or after pregnancy.

Different drugs are extending the lives of many children with leukemia, but only very occasionally seem to have been 100 per cent effective.

In Hodgkins disease affecting lymph glands, drugs plus radiation "can approach 100 per cent kill in a fair percentage of breast cancer. But better drugs are needed for cancer of the lungs and brain.

benefits and to detect any harmful effects.

More drugs are needed which would be safe enough so they could be used early before a cancer has gone too far or has spread through the body.

MORE SCHOOLING
For physicians:
Drug results might well be better if doctors didn't expect the chemical to "be a magic bullet," and so tried harder to combat other concurrent infections or malnutrition, Dr. Zubrod said. And it would help if doctors had more schooling about the action of drugs in general so they could figure out how to make the most effective use of a new drug.

For cancer research:
Combination use of drugs calls for a lot of objective and cooperative study to measure

Anti-Vaccination Ruling Expected

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court decides today whether three children can rejoin their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie T. B. Cude Sr., on a western Arkansas farm until the U.S. Supreme Court determines if Cude must have the children vaccinated so they can attend school.

The children, Wayne, 12, Delia, 11, and Linda May, 8, have been the guests of Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the governor's mansion here for three days.

SMALLPOX
The State Supreme Court ruled Monday that Cude could not deny the children an education because vaccination against smallpox is against his religious beliefs. The court affirmed a lower court order directing the State Welfare Department to take the children, have them vaccinated and enrolled in school and return them to Cude. Cude said he wouldn't take the children back if they were vaccinated. Faubus took the children into his home Tuesday to keep them from going to a welfare home.

LIVE AT HOME
The State Supreme Court will consider at a special meeting today a motion by Cude's attorney to withdraw Monday's order. This would permit the children to live at home, unvaccinated, while the case is being appealed.

Faubus has said he will ask the Mena School District to let the children attend school unvaccinated until the case is settled. The school district has refused to do this.

Wayne, 12, has only two years of school and can barely read; the girls have never been to school.

Cude is caught between a state law requiring school attendance until age 16 and a school regulation requiring vaccination. Courts have held several times that both the law and the regulation are constitutional.

NO CHURCH
Cude attends no organized church. He says he formulated his own religion from reading the Bible and meditating.

Mrs. Faubus, who has cared for the children, said Thursday they appeared to be homesick for the first time. She told the governor they should be taken home "where they belong."

The children have toured the Little Rock Zoo and the municipal airport, and had the run of the governor's mansion. Wayne's reaction: "This house is too big."

Soak Shrimp For Flavor

Dear Heloise: Would you tell me how to fix shrimp for salads? I can't stand to clean them. Hazel B.

Dear Hazel: I use canned shrimp! But my husband is so particular when it comes to fish that he did not like the taste of it. So I experimented.

For six years now we have been serving canned shrimp to all of our guests and I have had many of them ask me how long it "takes me to cook and clean my fresh shrimp!" They won't know until this column that I use canned shrimp.

Here's how: Buy a good grade of canned, cleaned shrimp. Be sure it says "de-veined" on the outside of the can. I do not buy broken shrimp, nor do I ever buy the small size. I think the large, cleaned shrimp are worth the extra few cents you pay.

Open the can, and before completely removing the lid, drain off the fluid.

Put the shrimp in a big fruit jar. Set it under your cold water faucet. Turn on the faucet at medium speed and let the water run into the fruit jar at medium speed for a minute or so. This removes some of the canned taste.

Turn off the water faucet, pour out the water, add one tablespoon of salt and re-fill the bottle with cold tap water.

The water will look cloudy. Never mind. The salt water-soaking is what removes the canned taste!

Put the jar in your refrigerator (with the salt water completely covering the fish) and leave it at least 24 hours.

These shrimp may be used for salads, as shrimp cocktails or eaten as is. And they do NOT taste as if they came from a can.

If you happen to have leftovers (bet a nickel you won't) drop them in some pickled beet juice for a few hours. "Purple-pickled" shrimp that really is tasty and dresses up your lettuce salads! ... Just a little shrimp ...

Dear Heloise: Here is something I thought of when my young son was learning to tie his shoes: It seems as if those little guys have a difficult time seeing those last "twists." I tied one black and one white shoe string together and then laced the shoes as usual. Then as I demonstrated the loops, etc., he was able to see better how it was done. The black and white shoe string show HOW! It only took him a few tries and he was tying his

Juliana Takes Close Look At Storied Mexico Past

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Dutch Queen Juliana today delved into Mexico's ancient past with a long trip to nearby pyramids. It was her third day of a ten-day official visit to Mexico.

Prince Bernhard, who has seen the famed Aztec pyramids on previous trips to Mexico, was scheduled to take an inspection trip to the military academy.

Queen Juliana, on a visit of fun and sightseeing, Thursday unexpectedly launched into international affairs with a plea, seconded by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, for better treatment of growing countries in world trade.

Her speech at a luncheon given by the Mexican President at the National Palace was firm and clear, emphasizing that her country's voice should be heard at Geneva's trade conference and in trade affairs.

She said Europe is currently "trying to close ranks between countries in our section of the world."

"The Netherlands is keenly aware of the need to do so," she added, "and the same applies to closer economic ties with other sections, particularly Latin America."

The queen said it was "a most encouraging fact that trade between the European Economic Community and countries outside that community has been increased."

Lopez Mateos said in another address at the same luncheon that unless aid is given countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America, there could be trouble.

He said if no practical solutions are found at the current Geneva conference to "arrest such a state of affairs, the road will be open for unpredictable social unrest and war-stimulating factors."

CAMERA-CARRYING TOURISTS WATCH VOLCANO'S FURY
Costa Rica's Mt. Irazu spews for year after being idle for centuries

Costa Rica Volcano Handy But Messy

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Mt. Irazu is a sort of drive-in volcano.

Scientists classify it as "andesitic" or of a petrochemical lava type. To Costa Ricans, it is a national nuisance.

Irazu is no longer the novelty it became a year ago last March 15 when, with a rumbling yawn, the volcano stirred awake after centuries of slumber.

SMOKY VEIL
Mt. Irazu's 11,262 feet rise in a smoky veil 18 miles northeast of San Jose. One can drive in less than two hours to a ledge overlooking the crater 300 yards away. There on the crumbling walls of a onetime lookout point a splash of coral paint says "Panama si, Yankees out."

Hundreds of spectators drive to the crater on weekends. Hardy souls walk to the edge of the belching chasm, some with children in their arms, to peer down into the rumbling innards of one of nature's true spectacles. No one yet, has fallen in.

After 12 months of continuous eruptions of ash and fine sand, the volcano has become a nagging source of preoccupation and anxiety, particularly to those who farm its still fertile patches of mountainside. Living on the slopes is known as "ruleta tica," or Costa Rican roulette—you can't tell when the next eruption will be your last.

With each eruption, Irazu sends clouds of ash and fine sand high into the air. Winds carry them to all corners of this tiny country. The fallout has been heaviest around San Jose. The powdery ash gets into everything.

FAITH ONLY WILL NOT SAVE

A popular religious doctrine of our age is that all one has to do to be saved is to believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. Can such a doctrine, while comforting, actually be supported by the sacred scriptures?

That faith is essential to salvation, no serious reader of the Bible could deny. The Hebrew writer declares, "Without faith, it is impossible to please him; for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him" (Hebrews 11:6). And the golden text of the Bible states, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (John 3:16).

Further, the Lord requires a specific faith: "Except ye believe that I am he, ye shall die in your sins" (John 8:24). Jesus teaches not only the need for men to believe—but to believe something definite and specific, namely his divinity.

The question, then, is not whether faith is necessary to salvation, but whether faith alone is sufficient. The plain and simple Bible answer is "No." The Bible teaches that faith will save, but it must be a certain kind of faith. It must be an alive, active, obedient faith. A dead faith cannot save. Hear the teaching of the Bible:

"Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only . . . For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also" (James 2:24-26).

The New Testament contains a number of examples of people who believed, who had faith, who even believed in the divinity of Christ—but who were not saved. Look at the record of unsaved believers.

The Chief Rulers

"Nevertheless among the chief rulers also many believed on him; but because of the Pharisees they did not confess him, lest they should be put out of the synagogue. For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God" (John 12:42, 43). Let us remember, in this connection, that Jesus said: "Whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I deny before my father which is in heaven" (Matthew 10:33).

Jews on Pentecost

When Peter preached the first gospel sermon on the day of Pentecost, thousands of Jews became believers as the Word of God was spoken. But they were yet unsaved believers for they asked, "What shall we do?" Peter answered those believers, "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins" (Acts 2:38).

Saul of Tarsus

Saul of Tarsus became a believer in Christ when the light from heaven blinded him on the Damascus Road, but he was unsaved. This believer asked Jesus, "What will thou have me to do?" (Acts 9:6). The Lord answered, "Arise, and go into the city and it shall be told thee what thou must do" (Acts 9:6). The Lord then sent Ananias to tell Saul to "Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins" (Acts 22:16). Thus he could not have been saved, even though he was a believer, for the scriptures teach he was yet in his sins.

The Devils

Even the devils believe, according to the Bible, but they are not saved. "Thou believest that there is one God; thou doest well: the devils also believe, and tremble" (James 2:19).

These Bible examples enable us to see and to understand that some people who were believers were still not saved. These examples prove conclusively that a person can believe on Jesus Christ as the Son of God and still be eternally lost. It takes more than "faith only," because Christ "became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Hebrews 5:9).

Finally, the Bible teaches clearly that faith will save (Ephesians 2:8), but it must be a "faith which worketh by love" (Galatians 5:6). Jesus said: "If ye love me ye will keep my commandments" (John 14:15).

Wearied Austin Council Looks Over Work Pileup

AUSTIN (AP)—The city council looked back today at two weeks of untouched agendas and pondered warnings by civil rights demonstrators who said they will continue to tie up future council sessions with a "speak-in."

Mayor pro tem Travis LaRue said the civil rights talkathon monopolized five days of council sessions in the last week "is causing lots of inconvenience with lots of people who have business with the city" but has not held up any urgent matters.

LaRue said he hopes the demonstrators will change their minds before the next council meeting Thursday.

But the leader of the group seeking a penal anti-discrimination ordinance in the capital city, local NAACP chapter president Volma Overton, said Thursday the filibuster will continue at the next council meeting.

The talkathon ended temporarily Thursday with a prayer by a Negro minister who took the mayor's chair and read from the Bible for four hours after the councilmen left the meeting.

Councilmen adjourned when the minister, Rev. Wesley Sims of the Bethany Christian Church, refused to agree to postpone discussion of the ordinance until the return of Mayor Lester Palmer, hospitalized for fatigue apparently caused by strain from the demonstrations. "The problem is still with us. It looks larger and larger daily, especially when the city council refuses to listen to the grievances of its citizens," Overton told about 25 supporters left in the chamber when he ended Sims' Bible-reading.

"Forgive this sinful city," Sims prayed aloud from behind the council table, to end the fifth day of the demonstrations which began April 2 over council failure to give in to demands for an anti-discrimination ordinance.

Most hotels and restaurants desegregated last year after the city integrated its facilities. But civil rights groups campaigned last fall for adoption of an ordinance affecting all businesses.

The council reacted by appointing a committee to study racial problems.

James Smith, director of the Northside YMCA, 1006 NW 4th, told police someone apparently stole a typewriter valued at $40 from the building. The machine was last seen at 9 p.m. Wednesday, police said, and there was no forced entry of the building.

J. W. Little, contractor, told police someone has been breaking windows out of the new fire station located near the Airport School.

Burglars Enter Three Gas Stations

Burglars entered three Big Spring service stations Thursday night.

Someone broke two windows on the south side of D & J Texaco station, 901 Gregg, and took $14.50 in change from an open cash register, police reported.

The burglars also attempted to break into a cigarette machine, but were unsuccessful.

A similar forced entry of the El Paso Service Station, 1510 E. 4th, netted thieves two tires and tubes, 90 packs of cigarettes, about $60 in currency and change, one 12 1/2-ton hydraulic jack, a battery, a pair of pliers, four hubcaps and a tool box containing sockets, ratchets and handles. Police said the burglars broke an office door glass after breaking a window at the southeast corner of the building.

Police are investigating a break-in at the Texaco station, Andrew at US 80 west, Thursday night.

Another break-in occurred Thursday night at Glenn's Drive In, 1200 E. 4th, but there was no property loss reported. Police said someone forced a door on the south side of the building. About one dollar in pennies in the cash register was untouched.

The operator of a local motor company lost about $3,000 in checks made out to his firm about 2 p.m. Thursday. A. H. Shroyer, owner, and his wife left a money sack containing the checks in the front seat of their car while they went inside a men's store, in the 100 block of East Third, police said. The

Grace Official Visits Plant

L. E. Lundahl, New York City, left, vice president manufacturing for the nitrogen products division of W. R. Grace & Co., Thursday checked with Zell Smith, plant manager, concerning current operations and future plans for Grace's ammonia plant here. The facility was constructed in 1962 and is operated under contract by Cosden Oil & Chemical Company. Lundahl indicated that Grace officials were well satisfied with the Big Spring operations. Grace operates ammonia plants in Memphis, Tenn., Puerto Rico, and in Trinidad, West Indies. This was Lundahl's first visit to the Big Spring plant since assuming his office recently.

U.S., Mexico Begin Talks On Beef, Veal Importing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Talks that might be some days later that any announcement would be made as to what type of agreement was worked out.

U.S. and Mexico officials have been started with representatives of Mexico regarding imports into the United States of fresh chilled and frozen beef and veal.

The United States, acting on bitter complaints of called producers, recently negotiated with the major exporters of beef and veal to this country, Australia and New Zealand, a restriction described as pegging the future imports to the 1962-63 level.

Apparently by agreement no announcement was made yesterday of the viewpoints of this country and Mexico, but it was understood the discussions proceeded on a basis of cordiality and cooperation.

It was indicated that discussions were largely exploratory, and that the meetings likely would be continued into next week.

Reporters got the impression that the house was vacant at the time of the fire. Brown, an employee of a local locker plant, was summoned to the scene by firemen after the blaze was put out.

Damage to the contents of the room was heavy. A chest of drawers, a bed, a child's bed and clothing were burned. Fire also burned the closet west of the bedroom. Damage in other parts of the four-room house was limited to smoke damage.

Firemen also extinguished two grass fires Thursday — at 1:15 p.m. on a vacant lot at Hill and Holbarth and at 4 p.m. on T & P right-of-way near Cottonwood. The cause of the first fire was burning trash, firemen said.

Judge Brown Has Until April 29 For Decision

DALLAS (AP)—Judge Joe B. Brown has until April 29 to call a public hearing on a motion for a new trial filed Thursday for condemned slayer Jack Ruby.

The motion, filed by Dallas lawyer Phil Burleson, charges that Judge Brown committed 196 errors during the month-long Ruby trial that ended March 14. Ruby was sentenced to death.

Although a new trial can be granted—or a new trial ordered by a higher court—on any single error, the principal mistakes alleged in the motion are these:

That the trial was not moved from Dallas to some other Texas city; that persons who had viewed Ruby's slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald on television were allowed to sit as jurors; that police testimony was admitted that quoted Ruby after his arrest; and that a motion for a sanity trial was denied.

Ruby gunned down Oswald in the basement of the Dallas Police station Nov. 24, two days after the assassination of President Kennedy. Oswald had been charged with Kennedy's murder.

Burleson also filed two other motions Thursday. One asked for an extension of time to file another motion for a new trial. The other asked that appeals lawyers be given the transcript of the Ruby trial.

A motion for a new trial is customarily viewed in Texas as little more than a formality before taking the case to appellate courts. The chief exception is when new evidence has been discovered since the trial ended.

Burleson talked with Ruby for an hour Thursday before he filed the motions.

"Jack was in a talkative mood," he said on leaving the jail.

Redskins Obtain Linebacker Huff

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Redskins, swinging their second major National Football League deal within 10 days, acquired linebacker Sam Huff from the New York Giants today for two players and a draft choice.

Huff, an eight-year veteran in the league, is rated one of the top middle linebackers in professional football and has been a key player on the Giant team that has won Eastern titles the past three years.

George Franklin Williams, 65, Ranger, died at 9:05 a.m. Thursday in a Ranger hospital after a brief illness. He retired as a roadmaster for the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. Jan. 31, 1964.

Mr. Williams was born Jan. 12, 1899 at Kyle. He lived in Big Spring from 1927 to 1946, but had lived in Ranger for the past 18 years. He was a member of the First Baptist Church, Ranger.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Ranger Baptist Church with the Rev. Avery Sullivan, pastor, officiating. The remains will be brought overland to the Nalley-Pickel Funeral Home chapel in Big Spring, where they will lie in state from 3:30 p.m. Saturday until graveside rites are held at 5 p.m. in Trinity Memorial Park. Arrangements will be in charge of Killingsworth Funeral Home, Ranger.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Mildred Williams, Ranger; two sons, James R. Williams, Lubbock, George F. Williams Jr., St. Petersburg, Fla.; a daughter, Mrs. E. E. Crittenden, Vealmoor; a step-daughter, Glenda Lee Rains, Fort Worth; a half-sister, Mrs. Becky Calk Houston; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Prisoners Paint Station Interior

Police are using prisoners in the city jail to paint the communications room at the police station.

Assistant Police Chief Leo Hull today said the walls of the communications room are being painted sandalwood. Other rooms at the police station eventually will be re-painted, he said, but not in the near future.

Prisoners who "work out their sentence" receive $3 credit per day for working.

Boaters To Miss Meeting

Illness will prevent E. C. Boatler, Big Spring postmaster and ruling elder for the First Presbyterian Church, from accepting one of the highest honors a Presbyterian layman can be given — selection as delegate to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Boatler, who was just returned home two days ago from the hospital where he underwent major surgery, will not be able to attend the denomination's highest court in Montreat, N.C., April 23-28.

Mrs. Boatler said that she and her husband had made plans earlier in the year to attend the General Assembly.

"We had our reservations and all details worked out," said Mrs. Boatler, "but Elmer's illness has intervened. We are both broken-hearted that we cannot attend but it is clearly impossible for us to do so at this time."

Fifty-six Texans have been selected as delegates and the assembly will be attended by 460 ministers and laymen from 16 southern states.

Over 300 Scouts Expected At Webb

More than 300 Boy Scouts from Big Spring, Snyder, and surrounding areas are expected to camp at Webb AFB Saturday.

Frosty Robison, camping and activity chairman of the Lone Star District, said he is expecting a big response to Webb's invitation for the boys to spend Saturday on the base and to camp there overnight. Activities will start at 9 a.m. Saturday when units will pitch camp. There will be tours of the base, a helicopter demonstration, films, contests, a campfire program and Sunday morning church services.

Discussions during the day were to be concerned with various safety programs, and the exchange of information on achieving better fire and accident prevention records.

Cosden Hosts Safety Meeting

Cosden Oil & Chemical Company people today are hosts to a group interested in fire and accident prevention.

They make up the fire and accident prevention group from the Texas-Oklahoma region of the National Petroleum Refiners Association, and some 25 were expected.

Woman Hurt

Mavis Dean West, Hobbs, N. M., is in Cowper Hospital and Clinic recuperating from injuries received Thursday afternoon when her 1959 car ran out of control and turned over. The accident occurred about 4 p.m. on the Andrews Highway, 7.6 miles west of Big Spring. Miss West was alone in the car.

She is making good recovery and has been at her home two weeks. She was in the hospital for four weeks and had extensive surgery to repair a broken knee.

Mrs. Petty and her husband were near Midland when their car ran out of control. She was painfully injured and her husband less seriously hurt. The car was demolished.

Mrs. Petty said she did not know if she could stay on the job all day but that she was eager to get back to her work as soon as possible.

McConnell Tops AF's Speculation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 56-year-old "soldier-statesman," now holding one of the most important U.S. military posts in Europe is rated the leading possibility to succeed Gen. Curtis E. LeMay as Air Force chief of staff.

He is Gen. John Paul McConnell, an Arkansas native who has been a military pilot for more than 30 years and has served in a wide range of staff and command positions.

Currently, the four-star Air Force general is deputy commander in chief of the U.S. European Command—second only to Army Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, who is both NATO and U.S. commander for Europe.

IN CHARGE

With Lemnitzer having to devote most of his attention to NATO problems, McConnell for all practical purposes is in charge of the roughly 400,000 American military forces in that key theater.

McConnell's name figured high in speculation even before President Johnson announced he was extending LeMay's tenure as Air Force chief for staff seven additional months to next Feb. 1.

He is understood to have impressed Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara as sharp minded and capable.

Several other high-ranking Air Force officers also are considered in the running for chief of staff.

SCHRIEVER

They are:

German-born Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, research and development chief who directed the birth and growth of this country's intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Gen. Jacob E. Smart, a South Carolinian who was shot down and captured by the Germans in World War II and now is in command of all U.S. Air Forces in the Pacific.

Gen. Walter C. Sweeney Jr., a native of West Virginia who flew in the first low-level B29 bombing attack on Japan in World War II and now leads the Tactical Air Command.

Like McConnell, all are in their 50s and all have had bright military careers dating back more than three decades.

WEST POINT

McConnell, Smart and Sweeney are West Pointers—the first two originally were commissioned as field artillerymen and Sweeney started out as an infantry second lieutenant.

Schriever was graduated from Texas A&M in 1931 and later won a master's degree in aeronautical engineering at Stanford while in the Army Air Corps.

THE BEAST AT WORK
Robot rooms halls of Johns Hopkins

Alert Robot Whirs Through College

BALTIMORE (AP)—An automaton that roams halls and offices is giving the flitters to scientists at the Johns Hopkins University applied physics laboratory.

The 100-pound robot, dubbed the Beast, sends staff members scurrying to slam their doors when they hear its buzzing approach lest it pop into their offices.

The robot, which looks like a huge hatbox on wheels, is the only one in the world that can survive in a natural environment—in this case a maze of corridors and offices at the lab.

Hopkins scientists have given the Beast a computer brain and an electrical sense of touch that enables it to replenish its energy and cope with obstacles.

When its 12 silver cadmium batteries start to run down, the Beast feels its way along a corridor until it finds an electrical outlet. Microswitch fingers on the end of its arm can sense the contours of a regular electric socket. When contact is made, the robot inserts two prongs into the outlet and recharges the batteries. Then it pulls out the prongs and moves on.

The machine steers itself by using its arm and microswitches built into its wrap-around bumper to feel its way along corridors cluttered with soft drink machines, stair wells, office doors and people.

Occasionally, its arm gets caught in a stair railing or an electrical cord and has to extricate itself.

"To survive, it has to be able to recognize that it is not getting anywhere," said George Carlton, the scientist who heads the laboratory's adaptive machines group.

Atlas Firing Slated Today

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration planned a second attempt today to rocket a Project Fire payload downward into the atmosphere at 25,000 miles an hour to study heating problems which will affect manned spacecraft returning from the moon.

The launching of the Atlas booster rocket was scheduled between 3:31 p.m. and 11:33 p.m. when total darkness will prevail in the re-entry area off the west coast of Africa. The shot was postponed Monday because of unfavorable weather in that area.

A Titan 2 rocket Thursday scored its 14th straight launching success, concluding a two-year military test-flight program. The rocket, most powerful in the U.S. arsenal, struck a target 5,000 miles down range. The flight program recorded 24 successes in 33 launchings.

called with one spade. The North hand was worth 13 points in support of hearts, and he decided in favor of an immediate jump raise in hearts in preference to making a tempoizing response of two diamonds.

South's hand had an original valuation of about 22 points and, with all four aces, he knew that the partnership had enough for a small slam when North was able to jump in hearts. However, if the latter had sufficient trick taking power on the side, a grand slam might well be in the offing, and South resolved to embark on an extensive bidding campaign in order to determine the full potential.

Over three hearts, South made a cue bid in spades—the opponent's suit—North was obliged to sign off at four hearts since he had nothing additional to show at this stage.

When South persisted with a further slam try by cue bidding the ace of clubs, North's holding took on a rosier hue. With a control in diamonds as well as in clubs, he decided to accept partner's invitation by bidding six clubs. This call conventionally shows second round control of the suit either the king or a singleton—since South's bid in clubs had announced the ace.

When South next revealed the ace of diamonds by bidding six diamonds, North became aware that his partner was trying to go all the way—an ambition which would not be fully warranted if South had only four bare aces. North reasoned that, in addition, South must have either a six card heart suit or additional secondary controls. On this assumption he bid seven hearts, and South was able to confirm his judgment by claiming the contract shortly after the opening lead.

Oswald Baby Is Baptized

DALLAS (AP) — The baby daughter of Lee Harvey Oswald was baptized Thursday.

The 6-month-old child, Rachael, was emersed at the Saint Seraphim Eastern Orthodox Church in Dallas by Father Dimitri Royster.

Oswald's widow, Marina, looking frail and wearing a simple yellow dress, accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Decklin Ford, attended the quiet rites.

An older child, 3-year-old Julie, was baptized last spring.

Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, was slain by night club operator Jack Ruby last Nov. 24, two days after the shooting of President Kennedy.

"In the Design, Processing and Fitting of Contact Lenses, TSO Strives for Perfection"

Perfection in anything is, to our knowledge, impossible to reach. But, we continue to make perfection our goal... particularly when it comes to the design, processing and fitting of contact lenses at TSO.

Over 40,000 patients have been fitted in famous TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses, and the number grows daily, for TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses are unsurpassed in technical excellence, unusually reasonable in cost.

The reason for TSO's success in the contact lens field is a continuous research and development program of more exacting techniques in design, processing and fitting. Already, the TSO laboratory has developed an edge-beveling process second to none, and an exclusive multi-curve lens design. With these outstanding developments a typical TSO contact lens patient achieves minimum adaptation time and maximum wearing comfort.

Only the finest quality optical-grade plastic is used, and the TSO standard of quality is maintained by eight separate, precision inspections during processing. It's not necessary that you take our word about TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses. Ask someone you know who wears them. Then, visit TSO and learn firsthand, all of the facts about how you may be able to wear TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses. The TSO Doctor of Optometry will carefully examine your eyes to determine the variable optical and physical factors which affect your wearing contact lenses successfully. And the cost—as we said—unusually reasonable. Just $65 for single vision Micro-Sight contact lenses, complete with examination and fittings. Bifocal contact lenses are available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra cost.

Partner Tells Of Plot Of U.S. To 'Get' Cohn

NEW YORK (AP)—John A. Kiser, a law partner of Roy M. Cohn, has testified that in 1962 he heard a prosecution witness at Cohn's current federal court trial warn of a government

"deal" with stock swindlers to "get" Cohn.

Kiser, former secretary of the New Jersey Narcotics Control Commission, testified for the defense Thursday at the trial of Cohn, 37, and Murray E. Gottesman, 57, also a New York City lawyer. They are charged with perjury and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Kiser said he accompanied Cohn to a meeting with Samuel A. Garfield, Clare, Mich., oil promoter, after Cohn learned that Garfield and other persons were "telling vicious lies about him" to a grand jury.

Kiser testified that Garfield told him and Cohn that the government had promised clemency to confessed swindlers who would "tell a story" about Cohn.

The purported "story" was that Cohn shared a bribe with an assistant U.S. attorney here to fix an investigation of a $5-million stock fraud so that four swindlers — including Garfield — would escape indictment.

Cohn, one-time top aide to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., head of a Senate committee that investigated alleged Communist infiltration of the government, has testified that some persons in the Justice Department have been out to "get" him. Prior to the trial, he charged publicly that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Robert M. Morgenthau, U.S. attorney here, were leaders of a "vendetta" against him.

Last week, Garfield testified for the government that in 1959 he gave $16,666 to Cohn in the Desert Inn at Las Vegas and that he arranged for the payment of $33,333 to Morton S. Robson, then chief assistant U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Allard Roen, who managed the Desert Inn, testified for the government that he handed the money to Robson at the inn. Cohn and Robson denied these allegations on the witness stand. Other witnesses said Robson was in New York City the day of the alleged payoff in Las Vegas.

Ralph Feted; Others Busy

By The Associated Press

This was Ralph Yarborough Day in El Paso. The senator helped dedicate an Abraham Lincoln statue in Juarez, Mexico.

Yarborough flew to El Paso Thursday night but scheduled no speeches.

Gov. John Connally was honored Thursday night by the Texas Association for Retarded Children at a Houston dinner. Mayor Louie Welch proclaimed it Connally Day.

The governor noted that two new state schools, at Lufkin and Richmond, will greatly relieve the state's load of mentally retarded patients.

COLLUSION

Dan Yarborough, Connally's only Democratic opponent, asserted in Corpus Christi that Connally and Gordon McLendon are working on collusion to undermine the foundations of both Democratic and Republican parties in Texas.

He said McLendon's only purpose in the race was as a hatchet man for Connally and to entice Republicans to vote in the Democratic primary. At Houston, McLendon said he was too much of a maverick to be anyone's hatchet man. He added "there is a hatchet man in the race. It is the people of Texas and on May 2 they are going to chop off Ralph Yarborough's head."

GOP Senate candidates spoke out on civil rights, school prayers and the new cotton-wheat bill.

FARM BILL

George Bush of Houston said in Waco the new farm bill will cause higher prices. He said agriculture "must be returned gradually to a free economy."

Milton Davis of Dallas told a Dallas group the civil rights bill was "the most dangerous piece of legislation of the past generation." He renewed his attack on President Johnson's proposals for fighting poverty, calling them "a hoax and gimmick designed to hoodwink the American people" into re-electing Johnson.

Jack Cox of Houston, another GOP senatorial candidate, voiced strong opposition to the civil rights program and said it would create "a police state and give unparalleled power to the attorney general and executive government."

PRAYERS

Atheists are attacking non-denominational prayers in schools in an attempt to secularize schools, senatorial candidate Robert Morris told an Arlington audience Thursday.

Tour Newspaper

Eighteen fifth grade students of the Midway School toured the Herald newspaper plant Thursday afternoon. They were accompanied by Del Hartin, teacher, and Mrs. Bill Tucker and Mrs. Melvin Atwell, parents of children in the school.

Digby Injured On Abilene Job

R. E. (Elliott) Digby, 23, of 1513 Scurry, was said to be in good condition in an Abilene hospital today following a cave-in on a construction job just before noon Thursday. Digby is employed by Bettie - Womack Construction Co., Big Spring.

A heavy telephone cable conduit fell across his left shoulder, and dirt pinned his legs, for about 15 minutes at the intersection of Hickory and Anson streets.

W. T. Mears, a fellow worker and supervisor of the construction job, said that Digby was checking the grade of the trench when the cave-in occurred. He went to work for Bettie-Womack this week and was sent to the Abilene job.

Digby is being held in an Abilene hospital for treatment and observation.

Southerners Hail Wallace's Score

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Relishing the role of interested bystanders, Southerners generally applauded the vote polled by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in his Wisconsin political Reaction was varied. Comments from about 35 political leaders and newspaper editors in an Associated Press survey included:

"A great victory."
"A wild-goose chase."
"A political revolution."
"A reaction to Negro militancy."

But most of the spokesmen viewed Wallace's showing as an indication of widespread opposition to the civil rights bill. Wallace got nearly 25 per cent of the presidential primary vote in a race with Gov. John W. Reynolds of Wisconsin, who carried the banner for President Johnson.

On his return to Montgomery, Wallace said the vote was "for the people of Alabama and the people throughout the country who stand up for constitutional government."

He did not say anything directly about racial issues which catapulted him into the national spotlight with his doorway stand against University of Alabama desegregation last year. But he plugged for support of an independent elector slate in Alabama.

His home state had high praise for Wallace.

Said the Montgomery Advertiser:

"The excursion to the Far North by the little Alabama giant has shaken the Democratic party and alerted the Republican party to the possibility of a new national mood."

The Mobile Press called it a "political revolution. A defeat for President Lyndon Johnson and the ultra-liberal crowd to which he constantly caters."

Roy Mahall, Alabama's Democratic chairman, said the vote should show how "all the people felt about the civil rights issue."

Wallace's vote was viewed as reaction to the civil rights bill by both the Birmingham News and Post-Herald.

In Mississippi, Louisiana, Virginia and Arkansas there also were warm words for the Alabama governor.

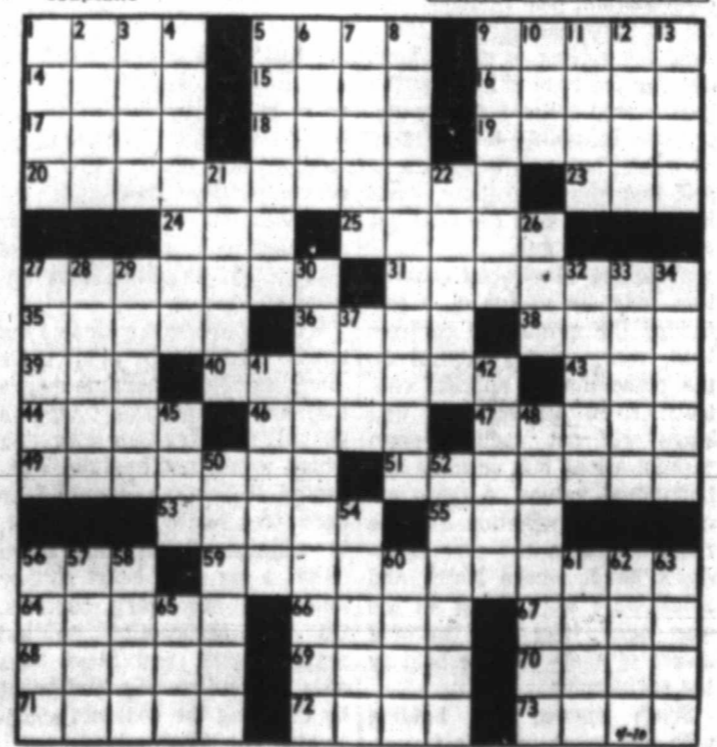

"All Mississippi is thrilled," Gov. Paul Johnson wired Wallace.

Residents of Meridian, Miss., started a fund-raising drive for Wallace's next excursions into Maryland and Indiana.

Adjustment Board Denies Variance Bid

The zoning board of adjustment Thursday unanimously denied a request by M. A. Long for a variance to the front yard setback ordinance that would enable him to construct a carport on his property at 1908 Eleventh Place.

According to Long, the carport or awning would be open, without siding and unattached to the house. The roof would be of aluminum. It is 26 feet, five inches from the inside sidewalk to the front of the carport, said Long, and 30 feet, five inches from the curb to the front of the carport.

PROPERTY LINE

Tom Newton, building inspector, pointed out front yard setbacks, as determined by a city ordinance passed in 1961, are measured from buildings to the property line.

Long's property line is about 14 1/2 feet from the curb, and the carport would be about 16 feet from the property line, said Newton. Front yard setbacks in the neighborhood, as established by existing buildings, are about 35 feet, he said. This would mean that the variance requested by Long is about 19 feet.

Long presented several pictures to the board, which, he said, were examples of violations of the front yard setback requirements. A house at Eleventh and Barnes has a frontage in line with the posts of his carport, Long said, and a carport at 1305 Eleventh Place is similar to the one involved in the request.

PORCH

Another picture purported to show a front porch extension of a house owned by W. E. Gibson Jr., who objected to the request.

J. D. Elliott, chairman, pointed out porches of houses that were built before the ordinance went into effect and carports and other structures that were erected before passage of the ordinance are not affected by the ordinance.

Gibson, 1906 Eleventh Place, said the roof of the proposed carport would block his view and that there was room on the other side of the house for construction of a garage. His was the only objection voiced to the request.

Earlier, Long had read an excerpt from an ordinance that pertained to residential setbacks. However, board members pointed out a more recent ordinance, passed in 1961, governs requests before the board.

NO OBJECTION

Several persons said they had no objections to Long's request. Fred Herring, 1910 Eleventh Place, said he lives next door (to the affected property) and did not object to the request.

Clyde Payne, 2002 Eleventh Place, said it "doesn't make much difference one way or another," but that he would not object to the proposal.

L. S. Fitts, 2004 Eleventh Place, said he had no objection to the proposal. His wife said she objects to one variance in the neighborhood, but felt it would be all right if everyone in the area could "do the same thing." However, she suggested that all of the variances be of uniform dimensions.

AGREED

Gibson said he agreed with Mrs. Fitts if "the whole town" was allowed to violate the setback requirements.

Clothes Drive Set April 25

Big Spring Kiwanis Club's city-wide clothing collection campaign for the Salvation Army will be staged here April 25, it was announced at the Thursday noon meeting of the club. Clyde Smith, general chairman, sounded an urgent call for all Kiwanians to keep that date open so they can lend a hand in the effort. Details of the campaign will be announced, he promised.

Announcement was also made of the Key Club dinner at 7:15 p.m. Friday in the Holiday Inn. Members of the Key Club, which is a Kiwanis sponsored youth project, were at the luncheon to call attention to this initial meeting of the year and to ask that as many Kiwanians as possible be on hand for the dinner.

Program for the day was offered by four newly inducted Kiwanians. They told briefly of their careers, hobbies, families, and work.

The speakers Thursday were Glenn Faison, minister of music for the First Baptist Church; C. B. South, laundry operator; Don Lovelady, First National Bank; and Ronald Hanson, First Christian Church.

Illinois Judge Sentences Myers To Death June 26

A motion for a new trial made by attorneys for John Edwin Myers, 35, convicted murderer, was denied Thursday, and he heard himself sentenced to death in the electric chair for the Aug. 31, 1961 murder of 10-year-old Carol Ballard, Belleville, Ill., child.

Today, Myers is in the Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard to await his date with the executioner, set for 12:01 a.m. June 26.

FOUND GUILTY

He had been found guilty of the murder charged against him on March 25. Judge Joseph Fleming, Circuit Court at Belleville, had granted his attorneys trial to file a motion for a new trial. Thursday the judge denied the new trial and sentenced the itinerant cafe cook to death.

Myers was arrested at Midland Sept. 1, 1961 in company with 15-year-old Donna Marie Stone, Chicago. They admitted slaying Arthur DeKraal, 33, an Iowa hitchhiker, just a few hours earlier. DeKraal's body had been dumped in a mesquite thicket, a few miles west of Big Spring. He had been shot to death near the western edge of this city as he rode, asleep, as a passenger in the car Myers and the Stone girl had stolen and were driving on IS 20.

Brought to jail here, Myers was later transferred to Rusk on a change of venue where a jury found him guilty of DeKraal's death and fixed his punishment at death. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed this conviction, holding the jury had been guilty of misconduct.

TWO CHARGES

Returned to Big Spring, Myers was later sent to Belleville where two murder charges were pending against him. He and Donna Marie admitted they shot and killed the Ballard child and George Ballard, her 42-year-old father, on the shores of a lake near that Illinois town.

A third murder case is also pending against Myers. He and his teen-age girlfriend kidnaped Margaret Wernicker, a saleswoman of East St. Louis, and made her accompany them southward after they had slain the Ballards.

Near Thayer, Mo., they said they shot her to death. They drove on south, picking up DeKraal near Fort Worth.

Donna Marie is now serving an indeterminate sentence in the Illinois reformatory for her part in the slaying of the two Ballards. The murder charge here is still pending as is the one in Missouri.

Gunman Slightly Injures Negro Woman Legislator

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A gunman fired five shots at Verda Welcome, only Negro member of the Maryland Senate, as she stepped from her car at her home early today.

She was slightly injured when two of the bullets grazed her lower back and left heel.

"I'm just so stunned I don't know what to say," Mrs. Welcome said after being treated by her husband, Dr. Henry C. Welcome, at their home.

"Why, I don't know," she said. "It's just a miracle that the bullets just grazed me."

Mrs. Welcome, who first introduced a public accommodations bill in the Maryland House of Delegates in 1959, was returning from a testimonial dinner at a downtown hotel.

"I had noticed some posters in the back seat and was leaning over, putting them in the front seat when I heard a shot and the left rear window shattered," she said. "Then the right rear window

BULLETS' TARGET ... Sen. Verda Welcome

I realized something had struck me. I started screaming and fell on the seat, but it only stung and I thought I had been hit by some of the glass."

The fourth or fifth shot went through her shoe and grazed her heel.

Dr. Welcome had attended another function at the same hotel and had arrived home only about 15 minutes earlier. He rushed out at the sound of shots, but saw no one.

Police said five cartridges and five slugs from a .32-caliber automatic weapon were found.

Mrs. Welcome, Democrat who represents Baltimore's 4th District, was one of the staunchest backers of the new statewide public accommodations bill.

She introduced an omnibus civil rights bill in the House of Delegates in 1959, but it failed to pass.

Permian And Cooper Are 2-4A Favorites

Odessa Permian and Abilene Cooper rank as the co-favorites in the District 2-AAAA track and field meet, which will be unreeled in Odessa Saturday.

Preliminaries get under way at 10:30 a.m. while the finals start at 2 p.m.

First and second place qualifiers in each event, including the relay races, qualify for Regional, which will be held two weekends hence, also at Odessa.

Big Spring will enter a full team, composed mainly of juniors, in the Odessa show.

By events, the Steers who will be competing at Odessa are: High hurdles — Joe Jaure, Rickey Earle, Bobby Baker, 100 - yard dash — Johnny Hughes, Roosevelt Brown, Mike Alexander.

440-yard run — Marvin Hall, Willie Roy Johnson, Henry Lopez.

Low hurdles — Hughes, Earle, Jaure.

220 — Alexander, H. Perkins, Hughes.

880-yard run — Frank Palamino, Tommy Erhardt.

1 mile run — Gary Morris, Miller Charley Thompson is injured and will not be able to compete.

440-yard relay — Brown, Hall, Alexander, Jaure.

1 mile relay — Hall, Earle, Lopez, Palamino.

Pole vault — Lopez.

High jump — Harold Newton, Butch Foster, Simon Terrazas.

Shot put — Ronnie Dale Smith, Mike Carey, David Anderson.

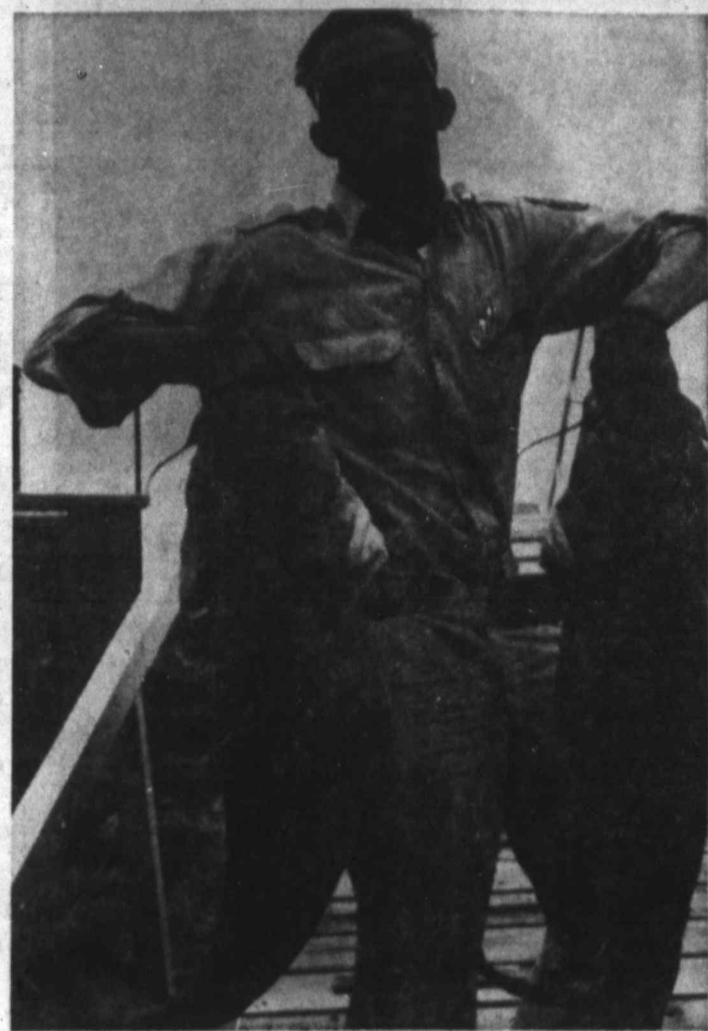

Broad jump — Ronnie Banks, Jaure, Newton.

Discus — Smith.

Big Spring has no chance at winning the team title but should score well in several events, notably the hurdles.

Hughes has the best time among state athletes in the low hurdles, an 18-7 achieved in Carlsbad, N. M. Barring an accident, he should easily qualify for a Regional berth, something the Steers haven't had in a couple of years now.

Coaches R. C. Moore and Cliff Patton will accompany the Steers to Odessa.

Samplings At Lake Thomas

Have you been wondering how large the fish grow at Lake J. B. Thomas? Here's a sampling made recently by Texas Game and Fish field agents, who gathered the beauties in a net. They'll continue their samplings as a prelude to a possible selective kill project to reduce the number of rough fish.

Women Are In Tourney

Two local golfers and a Snyder player took the top honors Wednesday as women linksters from the surrounding area invaded the Big Spring Country Club for a one-day invitational golf tournament.

Billie Dillon took top honors in the championship flight with an 82 for the low gross score while Martha Smith, Midland Country Club, won the low net trophy. Nell Lockett, San Angelo, had the least number of putts.

In the first flight, Cary Magee took first in the low gross division while San Angelo's Virginia Coney was the low net swinger. Edith Ramsey had the least number of putts.

The second flight went to Marilyn Dolan of Snyder, while the low net score was turned in by Peggy Marshall. Jerry Withrow of Midland Country Club had the lowest number of putts.

A nine-hole flight for beginners was originally slated, but was not held when not enough women were entered.

There were 25 women in the event.

Handballers In Tourney

Kill Shots, a Big Spring handball club, will stage a tournament for players in the local area with action slated to begin April 20.

There will be three classes, A, B and C, with the latter bracket slated for beginners. The entry fee of $1 for members of the club and $1.50 for non-members will go toward buying trophies for the winners. There will be consolation brackets.

The length of the tournament will depend on the number of players entered in the tourney with the entry list slated to close April 18. Twenty players are expected.

Anyone seeking further information on the tournament should contact Billy Cardwell at the YMCA, AM 4-8221.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

OBIE BRISTOW, former Big Spring High School football coach:

"I like that story about a small, young, inexperienced quarterback who was rushed into a game just as his team was about to score a touchdown. Came the first play, and here was a 200-pound-plus linebacker staring right down his throat. Well, that unnerved him and when the ball was snapped he just froze. That lineman charged through, grabbed that quarterback, and booted him and the ball right through the uprights. The quarterback's team got nine points—three for a field goal and six for a touchdown."

SONNY LISTON talking about the future:

"When I retire, I'm going to do nothing. I can't do that very long."

DAN GURNEY, Grand Prix race driver:

"We fight weight all the time. Knock a pound off my car and I'll drive it faster, stop it quicker, corner it better, and use less of my fuel."

Catcher JOHN ROSEBORO of the Los Angeles Dodgers:

"A catcher has to expect leg trouble. It's pretty tough back there. After so many years of bending up and down and taking those knocks, you can see why catchers can't run. I'm still fairly fast but I'm about three steps slower than I was."

JIM MURRAY of the Los Angeles Times:

"When old golfers have nightmares, they never see plane wrecks or guys climbing in the window with knives dripping in their teeth—they see downhill, curving 6 ft. putts for $20,000."

FRANK SINATRA JR., before his first pro-am golf tournament, talking to pro BO WININGER:

"You know, I'm awfully nervous about playing. Here it is the night before and already I've got a lump in my throat as big as an olive."

"Don't let it worry you," soothed Wininger. "By tomorrow, it'll feel like a watermelon."

STEVE BARBER, first Baltimore Oriole pitcher to ever win 20 games in one season:

"I can't run. I can't hit. I can't field. All I've ever been able to do is pitch. When I pitch good, my elbow hurts a little. When I'm not throwing well, the elbow feels fine. Any pitcher's arm will hurt when he's pitching good ball."

CASSIUS CLAY, when told that the World Boxing Association might take away his crown:

"Hundreds of youths follow me up and down the streets every day. Parents tell me they're glad to have a champion like me and that I'm a perfect example for their children. The youth love me. They hug and kiss me. People say they are proud of me."

"I'm the savior of boxing. I'm a beautiful model for youth. I don't drink. I don't smoke. I've never been caught stealing. I don't run around with women and carry pistols. I'm an Olympic gold medal winner for this country. And I won the heavyweight title fair and clean. Honestly, I'm so clean and peaceful. I've never been in any kind of trouble."

RUSTY STAUB of the Houston Colts telling the difference in 1963 spring training at Apache Junction, Ariz. and this year's camp at Cocoa Beach, Fla:

"Rattlesnakes."

Longhorns Seek Return To Win Path Saturday

Julian Pressley brings his Odessa High School Bronchos to town Saturday for a 2 p.m. District 2-AAAA baseball joust with the Big Spring Steers.

Big Spring is one down in the race, having dropped a 3-0 decision to Midland Lee earlier this week. Odessa manhandled Abilene Cooper, 5-4, after a slow start.

The Bronchos were downgraded in the pre-conference poll but no one takes Pressley's clubs lightly. The Red Hoses are always tough.

The Steers could manage only one hit against Bob Weber in the Lee game. That was a scratch single by Van Tom Whatley in the sixth inning, after the issue had been settled.

Odessa managed only five hits against Cooper pitching and had to rally for three runs in the sixth round to salvage the win.

Coach Roy Baird of Big Spring will likely go with a lineup consisting of Eddie Thomas at first base, Jim Hamilton at second, Baxter Moore at shortstop, Howard Bain at third, Allen Clanton behind the plate, Robert Goodlet or David Agee in left, Van Tom Whatley in center and Charley West in right.

For the season, the Steers are 7-10. This will be the last home game for Big Spring until April 21, when they catch Midland High here.

In other games Saturday, Midland Lee plays Cooper in Abilene and Abilene goes to Midland to oppose the Bulldogs. The San Angelo-Odessa Permian contest will be unreeled in Odessa today.

MAKES A NICE TARGET Steer First Baseman Ed Thomas

Koufax, Pascual Get Accolades

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

A left-hander who has won only 93 games in nine years and a right-hander who has a losing career record for 10 seasons have been tapped as the winningest pitchers in the major leagues this year.

The pitchers with the deceptive records are Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers' strikeout artist who had a 25-5 record last season, and Camilo Pascual, Minnesota's curve ball specialist who posted a 21-9 record.

nod from 165 of the voters. He also finished fourth in the National League's MVP balloting, behind Mays, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and the Dodgers' Tommy Davis.

Koufax' closest competitor for winningest pitcher designation in the NL was teammate Don Drysdale, the right-handed half of the Dodgers' 1-2 pitching punch. Drysdale, 19-17 last season, drew 41 votes to 36 for San Francisco's Juan Marichal, who had a 25-8 mark in 1963.

Pascual, who became a 20-game winner last season for the second consecutive year despite almost a full month of inactivity, rolled up 115 votes in the AL balloting. Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, 24-7 last season, was second with 35 votes.

Ford's young teammate, Jim Bouton, was next with 30 votes.

Koufax and Pascual joined Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees and Willie Mays of San Francisco—voted Most Valuable Player honors—as the top four vote-getters in The Associated Press' annual pre-season baseball poll.

Earlier, the 294 sports writers and broadcasters balloting in the poll picked the Los Angeles Dodgers to repeat as National League champions and the New York Yankees to make it five straight American League pennants.

The Dodgers' selection was no doubt based heavily on the respect for Koufax, who last year blossomed into a 20-game winner for the first time, pitched 11 shutouts, struck out 306 batters and compiled an eye-opening 1.88 earned run average.

Koufax easily took vote-gathering honors, getting the

Track Meet Slated Here

District 73-B will converge on Memorial Stadium Saturday and local track buffs will get a chance to see some of Class B's finest West Texas athletes as the loop meets for its annual district clash to decide the 1964 champion.

Competing for the title will be: Forsan, Bronie, Robert Lee, Garden City, Sterling City, and Water Valley. There will be three divisions — high school, elementary, and junior high — with Silver joining the schools for action in the junior high and elementary categories.

Bronie, who has shown up very well in meets all season including several clashes with Class A teams, will be the overwhelming favorite to cop the title.

The preliminaries are set for 9 a.m. with the finals beginning at 2 p.m. The meet director will be Sterling City's J. R. Dillard.

Volleyball Meet Set At Ackerly

The senior class of the Sands School at Ackerly is sponsoring an Old Timers Volleyball tournament for ex-students to-day and Saturday. Games will begin at 7 p.m. each of the two nights.

Boys and girls teams from Ackerly, Knoti, Conohoma, Lamasa, Flower Grove, Vealmoor, New Home, Gall and Big Spring are entered in the tournament.

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

The track squad of Howard County Junior College will hit the road tomorrow, but not in full strength, as the locals will be divided into two teams. One squad will be in Abilene for a triangular meet with the ACC freshman and Texas A&M freshman and the other part of the team will be in Denton for the North Texas State University Relays.

Nazarenes Mark 36th Year Here

Sunday, the Church of the Nazarene, 1400 Lancaster, will observe its 36th anniversary in Big Spring, with former pastor, Rev. Ivy Bohannon, speaking for both services, 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The church was organized in Big Spring, April 15, 1928, in the district courtroom at the close of a revival meeting conducted by Rev. I. B. Spurlin and Rev. C. C. Montandon. There were 12 charter members.

The first property was purchased in 1930 at 500 Young Street. In the fall of 1937, property was purchased at Fourth and Austin, where a modest frame chapel was built in 1938.

The present property, at 1400 Lancaster, was purchased in 1956. The church building, which is of block and brick construction, was completed in August, 1957.

Last fall, the church began a $9,000 remodeling and improvement project, which included construction of an entrance-way into the sanctuary from the paved parking area south of the building, installation of a steel fire escape from the second story educational building; installation of forced-air furnace heating in the educational building, new Sunday school furniture, carpet, drapes, mahogany paneling, new paint job, and new air-conditioning for the sanctuary, which is being completed this month.

Rev. W. M. Dorough, pastor, began his work here June 23, 1958, coming from the San Jacinto Church of the Nazarene in Amarillo. The membership has grown from 85 to 136. During this six-year period, 100 members have been received into church membership, 84 of them coming on profession of faith. The present property is valued at $56,000, and the church raises approximately $18,000 a year, giving 10 per cent to foreign missions.

Jesuits Live Like Hindus

POONA, India (AP)—Two Jesuit priests are pioneering a movement within their church—they are living like Hindus.

The Rev. G.A. Deleury of Paris and the Rev. Matthew Lederle of Munich, Germany, spend much of their time sitting cross-legged on the floor, talking with Hindus and learning about the Hindu religion and way of life. Father Lederle is writing part of his thesis for his doctorate at Poona University.

The Christian church has been in India for nearly 2,000 years, since the days of St. Thomas the Apostle, the "doubting Thomas" of the gospels. Yet the progress of Christianity has been very slow here. Christians make up about 2 1/2 per cent of India's 450 million population.

mission of their Jesuit superior and the bishop here to live in this manner.

Their simple, three-room apartment is in an area of Poona called the Brahmin section. The Brahmins, who number about 150,000 here in this section of Poona, are the highest caste of the Hindus.

"The church," Father Lederle said, "has had some success among the lower castes of Indians but there is very little dialogue or understanding of Christianity among the higher caste. Our apostolate is to serve as a bridge between Christianity and Hinduism."

In a small chapel in their apartment, the two priests say their Masses every morning. Father Deleury, who has let his hair grow like a Hindu holy man, is a recognized authority on Hinduism. He has written several books on Hinduism and has translated a book on Hinduism into French for the United Nations.

GREATNESS IS PRAISED

The scripture for the April 12 International Sunday School Lesson is Psalms 8, probably one of the best-known Psalms. The lesson, entitled "Man in God's Universe," discusses the omnipotence of God. The Psalm, attributed to David, begins by praising the God of nature and contrasts God's greatness compared to man's littleness. The lesson is concluded with the marvel of man whom God has made "a little lower than the angels," and man's wonder of the omnipotent God.

Rosary's Click Takes Place Of Dice Clack

WEST BADEN, Ind. (AP)—The click of rosary beads has replaced the clack of dice at the hostelry which once made West Baden a mecca for thousands.

The plush little world of the West Baden Springs Hotel began to crumble Oct. 29, 1929. News of the stock market crash sent its rich, dice-tossing clientele scurrying for home.

Patrons at the 708-room hotel built around a domed Pompeian court—ranged from the idle rich to "Scarface Al" Capone, who drove over the brick streets through the grounds in his armored car.

The circular brick building, its dome rearing 130 feet amid the southern Indiana hills, still stands.

But the roulette wheels and dice tables are gone, and the mineral springs which attracted thousands are plugged.

Episcopal School Plans To Add Another Grade

St. Mary's Episcopal Day School will add the third grade in September, the Rev. Donald N. Hungerford, rector, has announced. Mrs. Carl Blomshield and Mrs. Verdel Turner have been appointed to the teaching staff for the 1964-65 session.

MRS. CARL BLOMSHIELD

Mrs. Blomshield, a former resident of Big Spring, is the widow of the late Carl Blomshield, former Big Spring manager for Texas Electric Service Co. She has taught in Fort Worth schools for the past 10 years, and taught English in Big Spring High School before going to Fort Worth. She also has taught in county school systems. She will be the third grade teacher.

Mrs. Blomshield holds a B.A. degree from the University of Oklahoma, and an M.A. degree from Texas Tech. She has one son, Harry Blomshield, Big Spring.

MRS. VERDELL TURNER

Mrs. Turner, wife of Howard County Junior College coach, Verdel Turner, will teach in the kindergarten department, and will replace Mrs. Sandra Storz. Mrs. Turner holds a B.A. degree from Texas Tech, and has taught in Big Spring public schools.

Brochures and applications for the fall registration at St. Mary's Episcopal Day School are available, upon request, from the church office.

Baptists Planning For Recreation

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP)—The Corinth Baptist Church has its hands full in the home construction business. Its purpose is to give folks a place for recreation.

A church committee acquired a 75-acre tract in the last year and built three moderate price homes. Profits are earmarked for recreation facilities to serve church groups and a farming community near the eastern edge of Kentucky's Blue Grass region.

"We're interested in families who can do something for our community," said the Rev. Cova Duvall, who is in his 11th year as pastor of the rural church near Pilot View in Clark County.

Eventually, the church hopes to set up a ball park, three lakes, swimming pool, gymnasium, dining room, skating auditorium, and community camping program.

The first home was occupied last fall. Two others are ready for occupancy.

The houses are going up on 100 by 200 foot lots and construction is supervised by the church committee. It hires the carpenters, electricians and other craftsmen. The homes sell in the $14,000-15,000 bracket.

The home construction idea stemmed from a conversation at a church camp nine years ago. "A preacher friend and I got to talking about what we could do back home. Later I talked to the men in our church and I think the idea came out of our brotherhood. The men were interested in doing something for the young people," the minister continued.

"The opportunity opens up. Now it's almost bigger than we can handle."

Jesus Christ, on trial before Pilate, confessed that he was king (v.v. 33, 34). He is "King of kings, and Lord of lords" (Rev. 19:16). Christ explained to Pilate that His is a spiritual kingdom, "not of this world" (Jno. 18:36).

18:37); and God's word is truth (Jno. 17:17). A king has no subjects who do not obey Him; so Christ is "the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey Him" (Heb. 5:9). It's Up To You

Our annual spring cleanup campaign is now officially under way. Naturally you are urged to give your active support, for it is elemental that no such campaign can get off the ground without popular support. Nobody is going to make you clean up your premises. This is something that only your sense of civic pride can induce you to do. But this sort of thing is like the measles—if you take the initiative, you influence your neighbors to do likewise. When several do it, the cleanup becomes infectious.

So, in the final analysis, the success of the effort depends upon you—on everyone as individuals.

We need a first class, honest-to-goodness cleanup. Won't you be the one that makes it go?

Take The Glamour Out

Efforts by health authorities to discourage cigarette smoking among teen-agers have depended heavily on what might be called the "just-give-me-the-facts, Ma'am" approach. The idea has been that if only young people could be convinced that smoking was a long-term threat to their health, they would quit the habit or never start it.

Merely telling young people that smoking is bad for them is not enough. Most parents of teen-agers will attest that the younger generation (in common, be it noted, with other younger generations that preceded it) can muster a lot of resistance to sound advice. Also, social pressure to smoke is so strong that many an intelligent boy or girl succumbs despite awareness of the health dangers.

The thing, then, is to bolster the factual approach with efforts to make smoking less "the thing to do." Many teen-agers start smoking because they think it is glamorous, sophisticated, a sign of maturity. If they can be disabused of such ridiculous notions, the facts about the menace to health will fall on much more fertile ground.

Marquis Childs The Power Struggle In Texas

DALLAS — When the citizens of Dallas talk about the sequence of violence and extremism that has shaken their city they begin with an incident outsiders have forgotten. On the weekend before the Presidential election in 1960 the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, Lyndon Johnson, and his wife, Lady Bird, were campaigning here.

They started to walk across the street from the Baker Hotel to the Hotel Adolphus when they were surrounded by a shouting, spitting, placard-waving crowd that made their passage difficult right up to the elevator door of the Adolphus. One of the leaders in that crowd was Rep. Bruce Alger, a Republican elected in 1954 from the district that takes in Dallas.

ACCORDING TO ALL reports this was a frightening experience, doubly so because it occurred in the candidate's home state. Johnson, perhaps the ablest politician of his generation, exploited it to the utmost. Observers believe the wave of sympathy and indignation it generated carried the state for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket by the narrow margin of about 50,000 votes. Some go so far as to say it contributed to the national outcome.

Alger is up for re-election, backed as in the past by one of the most effective Republican organizations in the country. Leaders of that organization like to compare its professionalism with the operation of Ray Bliss who has set the pattern in Ohio for skill and effectiveness in the game of chance which is politics.

BUT THIS YEAR Alger, who is about as far to the right as you can get even by Texas standards, faces two new factors. First, his opponent is likely to be former Dallas Mayor Earle Cabell, a well-known figure with a following who has not been afraid occasionally to take an unpopular stand, such as his vain effort to get public housing to replace slums. Before November 22 and again in January Cabell took confidential polls that showed Alger's strength declining.

Second and equally important is that the Democrats have begun to revive an organization that in this formerly one-party state had fallen into dusty ruin. As evidence of change under the surface, this reporter talked with three or four young scientists who came here to do research for Texas Instruments. Shocked by the assassination and the events that followed, they have begun to work in the Democratic party, running for precinct chairman at the level where organization counts.

THE TEXAS REPUBLICAN organization is unique in one respect—it is owned, stock and barrel by Sen. Barry Goldwater. In setting up a Presidential popularity contest for their primary on May 2 the Republicans pulled what they considered a neat trick. They decreed that all declared candidates for the Presidency

SHAMEFUL METHOD

James Marlow Controversy Flares Before Mac Reaches Grave

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even in death, before his burial, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur remains a hinge of controversy. The many threads of his complicated life, and his feelings of being conspired against, will be a long time in the unraveling.

Two newspapermen have just tried their hand at it: Jim Lucas of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers and Bob Considine of the Hearst Headline Service. This week both released interviews they had with him 10 years ago but promised not to publish until he died.

PROMPTLY MAJ. Gen. Courtney Whitney, long-time friend and aide of MacArthur, branded the Lucas interview "fictional nonsense." He didn't mention Considine. The Lucas piece had more sting. It painted MacArthur as blingly critical of some of his famous contemporaries: presidents and generals.

Whitney is no impartial observer. He wrote a book—"MacArthur: His Rendezvous with History"—which is a justification and glorification of the famous general. Sometimes it's hard to tell who's talking: MacArthur or Whitney.

Lucas listed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. George C. Marshall, secretary of defense during the Korean War, as critical targets of MacArthur.

WHITNEY, in denying the accuracy of the Lucas interview, didn't mention Marshall, but of the others, including Eisenhower, he said:

"The general never spoke in any of the highest terms of such officers and held them all in the warmest affection."

Lucas quoted MacArthur on Eisenhower as "once a man of integrity" (Considine quoted MacArthur on Eisenhower as "naive but honest") and on Marshall as "an errand boy."

Although Whitney indicates MacArthur spoke only in the highest terms of Eisenhower, Marquis Childs, another newspaperman, in his book—"Eisenhower: Captive Hero"—says MacArthur called him "the apotheosis of mediocrity" and a biographer of MacArthur, Clark Lee, says the general referred to Eisenhower as a "clerk."

AS FOR MARSHALL—in 1956 MacArthur publicly stated that Marshall, and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the Korean War when MacArthur was fired from command by President Harry S. Truman, were "personally hostile to me" and that Marshall's "enmity was an old one."

Lucas said MacArthur frequently expressed bitterness when he spoke of Truman but quoted the general: "The little bastard honestly believes he is a patriot."

Whitney said: "The general's comments regarding Mr. Truman were always couched in terms of moderation and dignity and he never used the word 'bastard' in describing him or anyone else."

BUT MacARTHUR on the subject of Truman wasn't exactly restrained in 1956—two years after the Lucas-Considine interviews—when the former president, in the second volume of his memoirs, explained firing MacArthur. MacArthur called Truman "vengeful" and didn't leave much doubt about what he thought of his truthfulness.

He described Truman's account of his firing as a "labyrinth of fancy and fiction." Whitney himself wasn't very laudatory about Truman. In his book on MacArthur he met him at Wake Island—in October 1950, one month before the congressional elections—for political reasons and tried "to drape the mantle of 'MacArthur' around his shoulders."

AND in the Whitney book even President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his relations with MacArthur came off second best. Whitney said MacArthur was deliberately deceived about getting reinforcements because the Japanese had him pinned down on Corregidor in World War II, reinforcements which never arrived.

Whitney called this one of the "cruellest deceptions of the war" and said: "Certainly President Roosevelt more than anyone else, with the possible exception of Gen. Marshall, knew who was the deceiver and who the deceived."

Dear Dr. Molner: You mentioned "calcified spots" in lung X-rays, and a remark about "whether they are from TB or histoplasmosis or something else."

What is histoplasmosis? What can the "something else" be? Can the doctor tell which, and can he be sure it is a calcified spot? Does it really make you immune if it was TB?—A. M. Histoplasmosis is a yeast-like infection of the lung which

Hal Boyle The Double-Talk Season

NEW YORK (AP)—Spring is the season for self-improvement. It is a good time to hold a double-talk drill to brush up on your conversational skills.

Double-talk is the old banana oil that greases the social gears in our creaky civilization. It is the art of saying something meaningful in any situation without disclosing what you are really thinking.

HERE ARE A few examples of double-talk in action—followed by their literal translations:

"Heavens, dear, it's been ages and ages since I last saw you." And then my luck had to change.

"Um-m-m-m. What a really yummy dish! You simply must give me your recipe." While you're at it, lend me a stomach pump too.

"Oh, professor, your lecture was absolutely enchanting—it carried me away." If I don't pass in this course, I'll never get initiated into my sorority.

"DON'T TELL me you're 55 years old. I'd never have guessed it." I'd have guessed you already were drawing Social Security.

"With me your word is as your bond." It has to be—after all, what company would bond you?

"Jim, you've got the neatest looking hair of any man I know." Why is it you never can put your toupee on straight?

"The main thing is that every citizen go to the polls and vote—regardless of which candidate he favors." If you're not going to vote for me, stay home.

"OF COURSE I want to take you to church today, Martha. Only a nut would play golf in this kind of weather."

"I believe every man has a right to stand up on his own two feet and say what's on his mind." If you'll ever shut up, I'll tell you what's on mine.

Around The Rim This Three-Level College Idea

Governor Connally's "Committee of 25," the group of distinguished citizens who are studying ways and means of improving and expanding our state college educational apparatus, has issued an interesting three-point preliminary recommendation.

I don't imagine many folks around Texas will find much fault with the basic ideas of this three-pronged college system the committee proposed—but making it workable is a horse of quite another color.

WHAT THE STUDY suggested was: Entering freshmen at the major state universities, such as the University of Texas, Texas A&M (and you name any others you may prefer), will be limited to the top 10 per cent of their high school graduating class. In other words, if you graduate from Big Spring High and there are 250 seniors in your class, you would have to rank in the top 25 to get into UT as a freshman.

Next would come the smaller state colleges and universities, such as Sul Ross, East Texas State, West Texas State and the like. These would be open to freshmen who are in the top 35 per cent of their high school graduating classes.

THE THIRD LEVEL would be the junior colleges, which would be, as they are now, open to any high school graduate with the necessary units of credit.

Looks good on the surface, at least from this seat on the rim, but the problems of workability are immense. The top 35 per cent of the high school seniors would catch the majority of youngsters who plan to enter college. Some kids might be quite disappointed not to be eligible for one of the big schools and at being forced to settle for "second-best" at a smaller place like Arlington State. Socially-minded freshmen and Mom and Pop may be miffed, too, if Johnny can't enter the school where Daddy was a charter member of Gamma Gam.

BUT—THE PLAN, patterned after California's present system—calls for provisions that a student can transfer to a major university after his freshman year if he has proven his scholastic ability to keep up with the pace. In other words, one main objective is to take the crushing freshman load off the big universities, and this is the area with the high mortality rate in terms of flunkouts.

ANOTHER PROBLEM from this seat is athletics. All football players aren't dunces, we insist, but neither are all of them in the top 10 per cent of the senior class—or the top 35 per cent. Will the rules be bent for the good tackle prospect or the hotshot quarterback?

THE PLAN PUTS quite a load also on our junior colleges. Big Spring is in fine position here, but there aren't enough junior colleges sprinkled over the state to take care of this overflow from the studious top 35 per cent—especially in the big population centers.

It'll be interesting to watch developments of the "Committee of 25" and its plan.

WE'D LIKE TO toss in a bit of food for thought, too. Many states—Texas, California, Oklahoma, Mississippi for example—have proven their junior college systems are fine. But at least one of these states (Mississippi) is far ahead of Texas in financing its junior colleges. Mississippi splits the state up into junior college districts, so several counties share the burden of paying the freight for each two-year college. —JOE MOSBY

Richard Starnes Once Prosperity—Now Ruin

MARROWBONE CREEK, Ky. — In all the world there can be no worse place than this, for here a man can stand and look across the threshold of hell.

Marrowbone Creek courses through a steep valley that is dotted with the bones of abandoned coal mine camps. From Dante to Dali, no confectioner of imagined nightmares has ever created its equal. The community of Hellier, where a handful of broken, wasted humans still exist, is a place where decency, compassion, even hope, have all fled. Here men spend their lives in numb despair; women are held fast in the thrall of casual prostitution; and children dwell in a forlorn apprenticeship to evil.

IN HELLIER, as in much of Eastern Kentucky, poverty ceases being a Pilsnoll line on a chart, and becomes a chronic wasting disease that kills only after a very long time of suffering. People who will inevitably cry out that Marrowbone Creek is an isolated example do not tell the truth. It is one of a thousand similar metastases sired by the cancer that is consuming a great deal of the deprived forgotten nation of Appalachia. It is typical of the place where the war on poverty will be won or lost. It may well be a testing ground of our very system of government itself.

TO UNDERSTAND the disaster that has befallen Marrowbone Creek and its people, it is necessary to swallow an eye-dropper of geography, chased by a thimbleful of laissez-faire economic theory. It is a bitter draught, but worth it.

This valley lies within Pike County, at the eastern tip of Kentucky. Its hills contained unimaginable veins of high-quality bituminous coal (worked at a prodigious rate for 40 years, the hills still hold tremendous reserves of mineral wealth).

IN THE BEGINNING, the steep hillsides were covered with magnificent hardwood forests, the like of which few living Americans have ever seen. The creek that tumbled along the floor of the valley must, at one time, have been a sight to gladden the heart and lift up the spirit.

For millennia God's handiwork here slept undisturbed. It could have only been one of the fairest prospects the eye of man ever dwelt upon when man first walked into the valley. Still it remained untroubled for another two centuries—until the black gold hidden beneath its soil was discovered. Then the fast-talking agents for the mining companies combed the sparse mountain settlements, buying mineral and timber rights from the descendants of the pre-Revolutionary stock that had settled the land.

NEXT CAME the railroad builders, and when the first huge locust tree was felled to provide cross-ties, the shameful rape of Marrowbone Creek (and its countless counterparts) had begun.

Since that time, an estimated $300 million to $500 million worth of coal has been hauled out of this valley. The trees are all gone, first for railroad ties and later to fill the insatiable hunger for mine timbers. The very earth itself has been gouged away from the hillsides by the strip miners—certainly the most predatory specimen of a predatory species.

WHAT IS LEFT is a vision of desolation that wrings a cry of anguish from the heart.

The creek itself is a sullen cauldron of filth. Here in Eastern Kentucky trucks haul coal, not refuse. The traditional means of disposing of mine-camp waste is to throw it into the nearest waterway. But the household rubbish that chokes Marrowbone Creek is nothing to the tons of spoil from the strip mines that have profaned it. The creek is a noisome sewer—but it is wholly appropriate to the community it serves.

HELLIER ONCE was a booming community. It had a bank and a city hall and a brick high school. (It is typical of Appalachia's woeful inability to manage its own affairs that in an area where a treasure in mineral wealth was being extracted from the ground, the high school had to be built by the federally-financed WPA.)

The city hall is now a gutted ruin. Marrowbone Valley doesn't have enough money even to support a decent complement of city-hall drones. The bank is a bank no longer. It is a dwelling now, occupied by a couple who share it with a huge vault they have never been able to open. (No one in Hellier believes the safe contains anything; they have learned here that bankers and coal barons never leave anything of value behind when they leave.)

A FEW OCCUPIED mine shacks, a pocket dirt road, the inevitable litter of dead automobiles, the ruins of mine facilities, and the ruins of people complete the dismal picture. Over it all is a patina of soot and coal dust and despair that is the badge of mine camps everywhere. And, of course, scurrying through this desolate, man-made hell are the wide-eyed, beautiful children—children whose crime it has been to be born under the baleful zodiac of greed and indifference. Peaceful Family

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Six brothers of one Topeka family are all serving as peace officers.

Three brothers of the Hendrix family are full-time officers and the other three are special deputy sheriffs.

Ken Hendrix is a sergeant in the Pottawatomie County sheriff's office and brothers Keith and Jerry are members of the Topeka Police Department. The others—Paul, Charles and Loren—are special deputy sheriffs.

Wrong Mood

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Leonard L. Schwartzman didn't mind the mood music, but he didn't like the loud-speaker falling on his head. He brought suit for $25,000 against a restaurant where it happened and against the firm that installed the speakers.

Out Of Candy

GLENDALE, Ariz. (AP) — A Glendale housewife received a stern warning from police for putting dog food in Halloween trick-or-treat bags carried by neighborhood children.

The woman said she ran out of candy, so switched to dry dog food pellets.

Depressing sight, isn't it? And what is it we say when something old, familiar, once-cherished, once-useful has succumbed to the ravages of time? It served its purpose!

Could all the churches in our town someday look like this?

They could! Maybe they will...

if they have served their purpose...

if we don't need them anymore!

Even if you haven't been getting to church of late, I think you'll protest that we DO need our churches. We need the truth they teach — the faith they instill — the hope they inspire — the God-given strength with which they undergird our life.

This is the very point: We ALL need our churches.

And to bring ALL of us to realize and fulfill our need...

That is their purpose!
