Goldwater Grabs Big Illinois Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory in the Illinois presidential preference primary shared interest today with a surprising show of strength by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith.

Charles H. Percy, who stepped into a president's post in industry at 29, captured the Republican nomination for governor at the age of 44.

Returns from Tuesday's primary gave these percentages of the preference vote: Goldwater 63, Mrs. Smith 26, Henry Cabot Lodge 6 and Richard M. Nixon 3, with the remainder split up among several others.

Sen. Smith, of Maine, came into the Illinois test after Goldwater had entered. She wanted, she said, to give the voters a choice.

TO ILLINOIS Both traveled to Illinois twice during the campaign. The Arizona senator spoke Friday to 10,000 at a rally in the International Amphitheatre.

The lady from Maine was in the state at the same time. As on her previous weekend visit, she quickly made the rounds at colleges and small gatherings.

Her display of vote-pulling power was unexpected, too, when viewed in the light of her finish as a poor fifth in the March 10 primary in her neighboring state of New Hampshire.

Only the names of Sen. Goldwater and Sen. Smith were printed on the Republican ballots. Others scored by the write-in method on both party ballots, although the Lodge and Nixon boosters did not specifically seek write-ins.

FIRST TRY Percy, now board chairman of the Bell & Howell Co., made a successful start in his first try for public office by defeating State Treasurer William J. Scott, 37.

The winner also took a first step toward control of the GOP in Illinois. The triumph, in addition, gave him a position of influence among delegates to the party's national convention in July.

"I'm going to cast my vote with the majority of the delegates, and I must concede right now it is a Goldwater delegation," Percy stated.

The result of the preference primary is not binding on delegates.

Goldwater commented in Washington that the outcome demonstrates that "1964 can be a year of victory for our party."

TO WRITE Goldwater, coming through ahead in his first test in the Midwest, called upon all members of the party "to unite to work for the election of Republican candidates everywhere, from the state house to the White House."

Returns from 7,672 of the state's 10,256 precincts gave Goldwater 314,544, Mrs. Smith 129,669, Lodge 26,545, Nixon 14,373, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York 1,208, Gov. George Romney of Michigan 275, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania 992, and Harold E. Stassen 44.

Lodge won on write-ins—33,521 of them—in New Hampshire, where Mrs. Smith counted 2,812 on the ballot.

Winner Cheered With upraised arms, happy Charles H. Percy acknowledges cheers of supporters at his headquarters in Chicago Tuesday night after winning the Republican nomination for governor in the Illinois primary. Percy defeated William J. Scott, Illinois state treasurer.

Lodge Will Have To Make Campaign, Say Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Influential Republicans of all shades of opinion believe primary victories will not be enough and Henry Cabot Lodge must campaign personally if he wants to try to win the GOP presidential nomination.

A cross-section survey of party members who will have a voice in the choice of a nominee disclosed nearly unanimous opinion that the current boom for Lodge will flatten out if he remains as U.S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam until convention time.

Lodge has said he isn't a candidate for the nomination and can't participate in politics while he serves as ambassador.

President Johnson said last week that Lodge is playing a "very constructive role" in Viet Nam and is under no pressure to resign.

ETHICALLY Irving Salomon, a close adviser, reported after talking to the ambassador on a recent Far Eastern trip he can't say whether Lodge will resign by June, "but he cannot ethically be an ambassador and be involved in politics."

Lodge's current front-running status in national polls and his prospect of topping other candidates in the May 15 Oregon primary are attributed to various factors. One often mentioned is that of voter dissatisfaction with other presidential aspirants.

The surge for Lodge also is credited to his experience in the foreign affairs field, his remembered television image as a tough opponent of communism as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and his lack of involvement in current GOP bickering over conservative and moderate views.

IN VIET NAM Listed Lodge liabilities include his tie to President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam, his defeats for the Senate in 1952 and for vice president in 1960 and what many thought was his lackadaisical campaigning in 1960.

Strategists for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller regard it as inconceivable that Lodge could win the nomination from Saigon. They believe his popularity would nose dive if he came home and subjected himself to questioning on the issues of the day.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., named to head the platform committee for the July convention in San Francisco, said he thinks Lodge will have to come home by May 15 if he expects to be the nominee.

DISENCHANTED A former Republican national chairman, who didn't want to be quoted by name, summed up Lodge's appeal this way: "This is the guy who is least undesirable to the voters at this point. They are disenchanted with everybody else."

No Railroad Settlement, Says LBJ

Former Army Boss Brazil's New President Expects Answer By Next Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today "there is no settlement yet" in the railroad labor dispute which he is trying to help solve to avoid a nationwide strike.

Johnson said at a news conference it should be known no later than next Monday whether the unions and railroads can settle the five-year old dispute in the emergency bargaining sessions arranged by the President.

"The country expects that answer to be yes," Johnson said. He said the bargainers in five days of talks have "narrowed the area of difference on some of the issues" in the complicated dispute over wage structure and working conditions.

A 15-day nationwide strike postponement which Johnson won from the two sides expires at 12:01 a.m. April 25.

Johnson discussed the status of the settlement efforts after receiving from federal mediators an accounting that was originally scheduled as a report on "the progress and the effectiveness" of the first five days of the emergency talks.

A highly cautious White House spokesman Tuesday refrained from even referring to it as a "progress" report.

"There is nothing thus far that in any way could be characterized as either progress or a set-back," he said.

The White House went to considerable pains to deny published reports that the talks could be described as optimistic.

DISSERVICE "To characterize what is happening either in terms of optimism or pessimism is a disservice not only to the negotiations themselves but to accurate reporting," the spokesman said.

No specific time was set for the mediators' report to Johnson but most of the President's official morning schedule was routine and there was a big gap between 12:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

This led to speculation that the mediators, headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, might make their report sometime in the early afternoon.

"I want to make it clear that I do not know whether . . . the mediators will be able to say that progress has been made in the sense of 'we have moved within 10 feet of a solution' or 'we have moved within 13 feet of a solution,'" the spokesman said.

"I have no idea in the world, and I don't think the mediators would at this point, and I do not think the participants on either side would."

The negotiators and mediators were to meet in joint session at 9 a.m., the White House said. The emergency talks are aimed at achieving in 15 days a settlement that the government, railroads and unions have failed to obtain in nearly five years of the dispute over wage structure and working conditions.

NO POWER All other procedures under the law have been exhausted, and Johnson does not now have the power to order a halt or a postponement of a strike.

Long, Bloody Strike Ends WHITEWELL, Tenn. (AP) — Some 300 coal miners will return to work soon, ending southeast Tennessee's longest and bloodiest coalfield strike, a union official says.

It will be an economic stimulant for this Appalachian Mountain area's struggle against poverty.

Albert Pass, secretary-treasurer of District 19 of the United Mine Workers Union, announced Tuesday that five locals who had signed contracts with operators who are subleasing land.

Stamper Collins of Oak Ridge, head of Whitwell Mining Co., said he had signed a contract and planned to hire 50 men initially. He said the dozen men who sublease land from him may have signed contracts also.

The strike began Dec. 26, 1962, when 600 miners walked out to back up demands for new agreements.

Violence has stemmed chiefly from operations of Grundy Mining Co., a small firm which has continued to operate with the help of court orders forbidding UMW picketing. The 150 Grundy employees are members of the rival Southern Labor Union.

Bombings, snipings and similar incidents were regular nightly occurrences during the past year. Violence reached a peak last summer when three men were slain.

Tax Count Hits Ex-Governor CHICAGO (AP)—Former Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois was indicted today for federal income tax evasion from 1958 through 1961.

A four-count indictment was returned by the grand jury before Judge William J. Campbell in U.S. District Court on Thursday but was ordered suppressed until this morning.

House Committee OK's Project Here The House Public Works Committee approved Tuesday plans for a new federal building in Big Spring.

The $1,367,000 approved for the facility here is part of a total program of 34 new buildings for $206,000,000.

Plans are subject to approval by the House and then the Senate Public Works Committee and Senate before the project would be authorized.

After a long study and negotiations, the General Services Administration informed Rep. George Mahon several months ago that it would be more feasible and economical in the long run to construct a new facility rather than attempt to enlarge the present post office building.

Breakdown on the proposed program, according to a previous GSA analysis, shows $280,000 for site, design and engineering, $948,000 for improvements and $39,000 for fallout shelter.

The proposed structure would contain 30,400 net square feet of floor space, 27,575 of it assignable to various federal agencies.

GSA estimated for a 21-year period, it would be about two million dollars cheaper than comparable leased space. This estimate took into account interest charges on the money, plus maintenance and janitorial service.

In addition to the building itself, GSA has specified 11,700 square feet for postal vehicular maneuvering area, 4,900 square feet truck parking area, plus space for 65 cars of employees, officials, etc.

The post office building at Fourth and Scurry was occupied in 1937 and has 11,430 square feet of space.

Oklahoma Gas Well In Flames CALUMET, Okla. (AP) — A runaway well that erupted with a roar Monday was still out of control today and spewing some two million cubic feet of gas into the air each 24 hours.

Because of the natural gas that filled the air, creating the danger of fire and explosion, 26 rural residents were evacuated from their homes in the vicinity.

DEADLINE TONIGHT WASHINGTON (AP) — Midnight tonight is the deadline for filing 1963 federal income tax returns.

Judging from last year the Internal Revenue Service—men and machines—will process more than 62 million individual returns before completing the task.

McNamara's associates insist relations between the two men are cordial. But there is a strong belief the decision to extend LeMay until Feb. 1 was chiefly that of President Johnson.

Under water; the Soviet missiles can't. Each U.S. Polaris rocket has at least a 1,500-mile range; the Soviet missiles less than 500.

As for relative bomber strength since 1961, the Pentagon statement suggested this favors the United States—that the U.S. bomber force on combat alert has increased from less than 500 then while the Soviet bomber force has stayed about the same.

A HANDFUL Both sides had only about "a handful of intercontinental ballistic missiles or submarine-launched missiles deployed" back in January 1961, the Pentagon said.

The implication here was that both sides started at about the same place three years ago and that the United States has vaulted ahead, not slowed down.

LeMay testified before a House Appropriations subcommittee in late February. That was before a decision was made to extend his tenure as Air Force chief of staff seven months beyond the July 1 expiration date of his present term.

McNamara's associates insist relations between the two men are cordial. But there is a strong belief the decision to extend LeMay until Feb. 1 was chiefly that of President Johnson.

750 MISSILES —The Air Force has about 750 intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to launch while the Soviets have less than one-fourth that number in operation. That would be fewer than 187.

"We have 192 Polaris missiles deployed; the Soviets have substantially fewer submarine-launched ballistic missiles in operation."

—U.S. Polaris submarines are all nuclear-powered; only a small percentage of Soviet missile subs are atomic-run. Polaris missiles can be fired from

Senator Maps Wallace Fight

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Sen. Daniel B. Brewster announced today he will be helped by an administration task force of speakers in his campaign to ward off Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in Maryland's Democratic presidential primary May 19.

The Maryland senator, standing in for President Johnson in the primary, expressed concern over finding apparent strong support for Wallace's segregation views.

Brewster said that he has been cursed, booted and spit at by people at Democratic rallies in his native Baltimore County and neighboring Baltimore City.

There's a heavy undercurrent in which Wallace is going to draw considerable support, and it cannot be ignored, Brewster said.

He said that Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., and "a substantial number of other friends" will join him in speaking appearances.

"One or more of my friends will accompany me to a meeting each night," and with me give the party call for responsibility, Brewster said.

Wallace said he would come to Maryland to stay a day or two after the May 5 primary in Indiana in which he also is a candidate.

McNAMARA-LEMAY DISPUTE

Pentagon Says Secrets Used To Shatter Myths

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara permitted use of intelligence estimates to challenge Gen. Curtis E. LeMay because he wanted to kill at birth any myth about declining U.S. military superiority.

This was learned from defense officials today as the gulf widened between the strong-willed defense secretary and the equally strong-minded Air Force chief of staff.

Late Tuesday the Pentagon issued a statement stressing "the increasing military superiority of the United States." It came after publication of LeMay's February congressional testimony contending the Russians are narrowing the gap.

One high official familiar with McNamara's thinking said the defense secretary feels it is "dangerous to raise any doubts about our strength."

A MYTH "He thinks it would be wrong to sit by and allow creation of a myth—and it is a myth in his judgment—that there is any lessening of our strength," this official said.

missiles and waving the manned bomber to the sidelines too early.

Officials noted that there had been a spate of criticisms, including a new defense strategy paper spelling out the views of one of McNamara's strongest foes, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

RELIABILITY But Goldwater's paper dwelt mostly on the issue of missile reliability—which plunged him into collision with McNamara early in Goldwater's quest for the Republican presidential nomination. The senator is an Air Force Reserve major general.

Instead, the Pentagon blast was aimed clearly at disputing questions raised "regarding the magnitude of our superiority and whether it is continuing to grow." LeMay's published testimony raised those questions.

Officials would neither confirm nor deny whether McNamara had initiated the statement, which was issued in the name of the Defense Department.

But they said it would not have come out "without the approval or knowledge of the secretary."

Court Rejects Estes Again

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals rejected for the third time today Billie Sol Estes' appeal of a swindling conviction but left clear the way for further appeals.

The court, Texas' highest for criminal cases, overruled a second rehearing request by the former West Texas farm financier.

However, a previous court opinion was reworded and this allows Estes to seek still another rehearing within 15 days.

The court in effect refused to alter its Jan. 15 ruling affirming the conviction and eight-year prison sentence assessed by a district court at Tyler in November, 1962.

The conviction was the first to follow the arrest of Estes in March, 1962, after executives from leading finance companies across the nation tried unsuccessfully for two days to straighten out his financial affairs at a Dallas meeting.

The arrest by federal officers was followed quickly by collapse of his multi-million-dollar fertilizer and grain storage empire.

America's Communist Party Gasps For Life

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Communist party in the United States has never had an easy row to hoe. Now is old and feeble, but still dangerous. In the first of a series of four articles on the party's rise and fall, an AP specialist tells of the losing battle to keep up with Stalin's twists and turns.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

At eye-level, outside a grubby three-story building on New York's West 26th St., you can see at a glance why the Communist party in the United States is gasping for breath. You can almost hear the death rattle these days.

Attached to the building is a copy of the party's paper, the Worker, in admiring imitation of Moscow's institution of "wall newspapers."

Through its 45 raucous years the party—it calls itself by the initials CPUSA—undeviatingly echoed the Soviet prototype in every flip, flop, twist and turn. That was its real sickness.

Only 25 years ago, helped by a depression and imminence of World War II, the CPUSA could flex muscles in innumerable hair-raising enterprises. Its membership was close to 100,000, its sympathizers perhaps 10 times that.

DISILLUSION

Today, its leaders command a ragtag organization of 4,000 to 7,000, deserted by many militants who turned against it in total disillusion. Remaining are many in their 40s and 50s, confused and tired after long post-war years of buffering from events and from Moscow itself.

What happened to the party? A bitter ex-Communist sums it up: "All of a sudden, nothing made sense."

But the party is not yet dead. Its very weakness today can generate the desperation which can make it a dangerous nuisance. It remains a potential pool for spying or even sabotage, although it seems obvious that these days the Russians do not trust American Communists and even hold the U.S. party in contempt.

To the FBI, the CPUSA, small as it is, remains a burden. As a political influence, it is next to nothing. From a security standpoint even a handful of fanatics would have a big capacity for mischief, especially in time of deep crisis or war.

SPECTACLE

To ex-Communists, to sophisticated European Communists, even to Soviet Communists, the CPUSA is a sorry spectacle. The disillusioned ones blame the Russians.

Said one ex-Communist: "There should never have been a Communist party in America. The big mistake was believing that what was true of Russia was true of the United States. It took us until we reached our 40s to realize this error."

The CPUSA, increasingly unable to excuse its existence in the light of the U.S. living standards and American social gains, was constantly bewildered and tortured by changes of Soviet policy. Finally the accumulated straws strained the camel's back to the breaking point.

The party was born to violence. As soon as it was formed in 1919, a faithful copy of the Bolshevik party, it was involved in widespread violence marking the economic depression after World War I. To its banner streamed the insecure people, home-grown radicals, groups, young men fired by the notion that an elite corps could dictate to its elders, dominate the nation and cure all ills.

WEAKENED

As economic troubles eased, the party weakened, though it still could make trouble by sponsorship of causes and martyrs. And when the 1930s brought a catastrophic depression, the CPUSA had a new lease on life.

Writers, artists, theater people, intellectuals streamed into the party. The glittering names created a strong urge to conform with the nonconformists. But the party already was having Kremlin trouble.

Stalin decided that the time for revolution in America was at hand. Communist leader Jay Lovestone in the United States felt the party wasn't ready to lead the uprising. Stalin denounced him and he was thrown out. The sin of "Lovestoneism" was born.

BY MOSCOW

Under the late William Z. Foster, labor leader turned Bolshevik, and Kansas-born Earl Browder, the party followed Moscow in all things. Guided by Moscow, the party denounced President Franklin D. Roosevelt as a "Fascist." After the United States recognized the Soviet Union, Stalin called for a change of tune. Overnight, to Communists, President Roosevelt became a "liberal Democrat."

As the Spanish civil war, a rehearsal for Soviet and Nazi arms, set the stage for World War II, Communists prospered with antiwar slogans. They even came close to forming a common front with extreme isolationists. Then came a heavy blow. Stalin signed a nonaggression pact with Nazi Germany.

That cost the party heavily in leaders and intellectual followers. Many artists, writers and theatrical people turned away in dismay as Stalin's act produced the signal for World War II.

Damage Case Is Settled

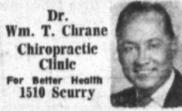

A damage suit in which the plaintiff sued for $242,000 came to an abrupt end Tuesday afternoon when attorneys for the plaintiff and the defendant reached an agreement. The case had been under way in 118th District Court since Monday afternoon. A jury had spent Monday afternoon and part of Tuesday hearing evidence. The jurors were excused with instructions to report back to court Thursday morning.

The amount of the agreed judgment was not announced but the attorneys for Mrs. John D. Nixon, plaintiff, and the Cabot Corporation informed the court that a settlement had been reached.

Mrs. Nixon was suing for damages she alleged due her in the death of her husband, John Nixon Jr., 36. Nixon was fatally injured in a two-car collision on IS 20 east of town March 1, 1963. Bransford Bulls, a safety man for the corporation, was driver of the second car.

The court had expected the case to continue through Wednesday and the members of the jury panel who had not been used in this matter had been instructed to report Thursday. That was the reason the members of the jury excused Tuesday afternoon were told to come back Thursday rather than Wednesday morning.

Tots See Doctor After Mishap With School Car

Joey 6, and Mike 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Yarbrough, Gail Route, were taken to a physician following a two-car collision at Eighth and Nolan about 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Police said the children were not injured. They were passengers in a car driven by Marilyn Sue Eichelsderfer, Gail Route. Damage to her car was estimated at $75.

Driving the second car involved was Melvin Lindsey, 4103

Dixon. He was driving a station wagon owned by the Big Spring Independent School District. Damage to this vehicle was estimated by police at $35. The mishap occurred as Lindsey was traveling east on Eighth and the other car was going south on Nolan, police said.

Four other children who were passengers in the Eichelsderfer vehicle also were not injured, according to police.

Donna Watts, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keats Watts, 2306 Merrily, received minor injuries following a two-car accident at Seventeenth and Benton about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Police said the accident occurred as Miss Watts was going north on Benton and the other vehicle, driven by Kenneth Hoover, 1213 E. 16th, was traveling east on Seventeenth. Damage to the girl's car was set at $300, and damage to the other vehicle was estimated at $75.

Mrs. Watts, mother of Donna, said today her daughter received bruises in the accident. She went to a physician following the accident.

Smashing Of Children Told In War Crime Trial

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—He'd grab the ankles of the children, swing them around and around like balls on the end of a string and then smash their heads against brick walls.

That testimony came this week from a former prisoner at Auschwitz concentration camp at a war crimes trial for 21 former guards and functionaries at the camp.

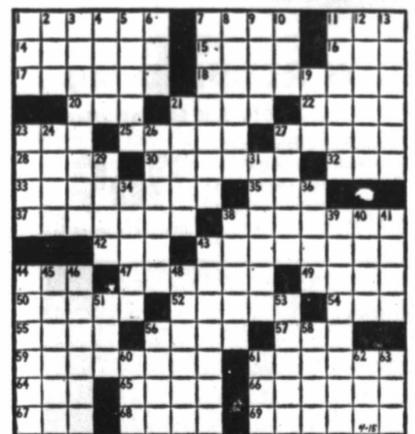

The witness, Josef Pwko, said the defendant he referred to was Sgt. Wilhelm Boger. Pwko, a retired Polish army officer, said he saw Boger

"take almost sadistic pleasure" in killing children when thousands of Gypsy inmates at Auschwitz were rounded up in a 24-hour period in 1944 and gassed.

"Most of the children knew what was up and tried to hide—under beds, under the barracks, anywhere they could. Boger's men pulled them out from their hiding places and brought them to Boger who beat them and kicked their heads in. He picked up the smallest ones, children between 4 and 5 years old, and smashed their heads against brick walls," he testified.

Texas Politics Given New Look After Court's Order

By The Associated Press

Texas politics took on a new look the past weeks after the Houston federal court's redistricting ruling.

The three judges gave Texas officials and the legislature until 1965 to redraw the 23 congressional district lines in a way to give each Texan as proportionate share of representation in Washington as possible.

The effect: Congressional candidates no longer fear at-large or statewide campaigns.

Members of the legislature no longer fear a special session that would gather them in Austin while their opponents have free rein in hometown campaigns.

Republican criticism of the state Democratic administration for not calling a special session on redistricting lost some of its sting when the Houston court granted the Democratic plea for additional delay. Two members of the Houston court were appointed by Republican presidents.

The decision brought tremendous relief in Capitol corridors at Austin. Some top state leaders were openly pessimistic—in a don't-you-dare-quote-me manner—when at least two of the Houston judges sharply questioned why a special session had not been called earlier.

By Wednesday, the day of the court ruling, an informal alert was spread among legislators. One senator said he was told by a high official "to be ready for a session Monday."

A representative from far West Texas was warned not to return home unless he wanted to risk a return trip at once to Austin. Permanent capitol employees began checking lists of stenographers and secretaries available for a special session. One Austin cafe man was

Chesapeake Trestle Open

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—A roadway that spans Chesapeake Bay 30 feet above the waves—and twice dips to the bay bottom—opens today.

The bridge-tunnel crosses the last major water barrier on one of the East Coast's main north-south arteries.

The $200-million, 17.6-mile long bridge-tunnel is the first direct link between Virginia's Eastern Shore and the rest of the state. The bridge-tunnel will eliminate a ferry service that can trace its predecessors to 1607.

Motorists using the Ocean Highway, main route from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., will find the new crossing clips 90 minutes off their travel time.

Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. officially opens the bridge-tunnel at 2 p.m. (EST).

The project, which required 3½ years to build, was financed by $200 million in revenue toll bonds. It will be operated by the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., April 15, 1964 3-A

Tunnel Commission, a state agency.

The American Society of Civil Engineers has designated the new crossing one of the "seven engineering wonders of the world," selected among 107 projects in 26 countries.

The crossing consists of 12 tunnels, each a mile long; two steel bridges; four man-made islands that anchor the tunnels, and 1½ miles of earthfill causeway.

Traffic engineers estimate the new crossing will carry an average of 5,000 vehicles per day during its first year, compared to 2,000 daily using the ferries.

Three-Letter Combinations For Licenses

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas auto license plates will bear three letters instead of two next year, but the "LBJ" combination won't be available.

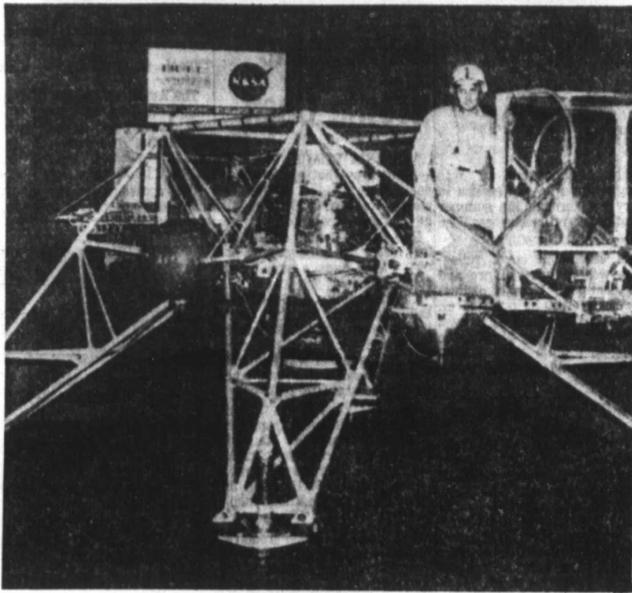

By dropping a number and adding a letter, the Highway Department will be able to stretch the total number of possible combinations to 8 million—a total the department figures will meet demands for another 15 years. The 1964 auto registrations will total about 5.5 million.

The department will use only 20 letters, excluding the "Q" and all vowels, to avoid possible formation of "undesirable words."

"For obvious reasons, letter combination prefixes of 'LBJ' and 'JFK' also will be eliminated," the department said, referring to initials of Presidents Johnson and Kennedy.

Residential Real Estate Trade Less Than Booming

NEW YORK (AP) — In the midst of all the general prosperity the residential real estate industry is having its own private readjustment. It can be thankful for one thing—that this is happening just now.

After the long postwar boom, the housing market in many cities and regions is less than exuberant. And although construction of single family homes hasn't slid much in the last two years, builders are having to re-adjust to new sales conditions.

NOT PINCHED

But on the whole the industry—and especially that part of it which puts up the money for the mortgages—hasn't been pinched too badly. If the rest of the economy was in a downswing, however, there would be trouble ahead.

As it is, most builders have been able to refinance when necessary. Most lenders report the foreclosure rate, though higher than a while back, isn't too worrisome. The residential estate boom has faded—but it hasn't gone bust.

TROUBLE

Some cities are seeing more trouble for their big rush to build apartment houses. And in these places the vacancy signs are disturbing. The projects often have had to refinance to wait for what builders still confidently refer to as another upsurge in rental demand sure to come in a year or two.

In a few cities the overbuilding of apartment houses was all but intentional. In New York City the rush to put up luxury suites was fired by a desire to beat a change in zoning and building rules. The old law allowed a builder to use more of the ground and air space.

Dutch May Help Mexican Sugar

OAXACA, Mexico (AP) — Dutch interests may help expand Mexico's sugar industry in this tropical southeast zone with loans and equipment.

Agriculture Minister Julian Rodriguez Adame says Germany, France and Holland have offered credits to build new plants and to expand farming.

The statement was made during the visit of the Royal Dutch family to this capital. It was reported that the Dutch would likely help with two or three large mills with an investment of about $24 million.

Crews Painting Street Stripes

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, today said city crews are busy re-lining worn and faded center stripes on main city thoroughfares.

A two-man crew began work Monday on Goliad. The markings, dividing the traffic lanes, should be completed on Goliad today, he said.

City crews also today were digging a ditch for a sewer line relocation west of the Washington Place Elementary School. Lillard said a sewer line had to be relocated when the alley behind the College Baptist Church was closed. City crews are performing the labor with a small digging machine that is mounted on a tractor. The work should be completed sometime this week, according to Lillard.

TWO SOURCES

Almost everyone in the industry is counting on the growth in demand they see ahead. It is supposed to come from two sources:

1. The age group that is the best prospect for the housing salesman is from 21 to 45. And this group is due to start increasing fast the rest of this decade and into the 1970s.

2. Builders look for a general rise in the economy above even today's high level. If unemployment can be made to shrink and if personal incomes can be made to swell still more, the housing market seems sure to profit.

Japanese Efforts

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Japanese Trade Organization Jetro is stepping up its efforts to boost commerce with Mexico and the rest of Latin America, Jetro general director Kimitaka Hiramami said Tuesday. He said recent liberation of Japan's money exchange and importation systems made this an advantageous time for the move.

Suez Ghosts Again Rise To Haunt British Army

LONDON (AP)—The ghosts of Suez have risen again to haunt Britain's thin line across the Middle East. Two weeks ago British planes shattered a mud-walled fort in the Arabian Desert, retaliating against Yemeni forays. As a result Arabs arraigned Britain in the U.N. Security Council on charges of launching "a barbaric attack" and killing civilians. They demanded that Britain quit its Aden base.

President Makarios last week acted to cancel the Cypriot, Turkish and Greek alliance. The move chilled London with the fear that he eventually will scrap a treaty which lets British troops and H-bombers base on the island.

WITHDRAW

The kingdom of Libya will ask Britain on April 20 formally to withdraw troop and air bases from the country. This would bar the Middle East for military planes bound for Asia. The Royal Air Force might have to fly around most of Africa to reach its Persian Gulf and Southeast Asian outposts.

East as an effective military power. The United States and the Soviet Union would be left as the supreme foreign influences in the region—Americans through the 6th Fleet, Soviets indirectly through the United Arab Republic, Yemen and other Arab states.

Nothing in the Middle East is ever simple or static. Problems affecting Britain's presence in the area are answered partly in three centuries of history, partly in the passions of contemporary politics.

NOT SIMPLE

As the British see recent developments, the key man helping to mastermind or exploit each situation is Gamal Abdel Nasser. The president of the U.A.R. has neither forgotten nor forgiven the British for their part in the 1956 invasion of Egypt. He is by choice or chance involved in the Soviet Union's continuing campaign to dismantle all Western bases in Africa and the Middle East.

In the Persian Gulf Nasser is deeply committed to support Yemen's revolutionary republican regime in efforts to take over the whole of the British-protected South Arabian Federation and Aden colony. With an estimated 35,000 Egyptian troops in Yemen, Nasser is thought to have blessed if not to have instigated the series of raids that led the British to hit back.

Commissioners Delay Action On Zone Request

City commissioners Tuesday approved three recommendations of the traffic commission but approved only two of three recommendations from the planning and zoning board.

Brown, who said he wished to place a small house trailer on his lot, which is east of Wason Drive and south of Grace. It would be used as a residence by his mother-in-law.

permitted for a variance to the zoning ordinance on an annual basis. Burgess pointed out that if an exception is made to the ordinance, the property owner should receive a specific use permit.

Man Captured Leaving Store At Sand Springs

A 27-year-old Sand Springs man, married and the father of three children, was captured at 2 a. m. today by a Sand Springs grocer as he ran from the latter's store.

Whether a case will be ready for trial in 118th District Court Thursday was uncertain Wednesday according to Judge Ralph Caton. A jury panel is scheduled to report to the court at 9 a. m. Thursday and it is possible one of the cases announced ready may be put on trial.

The other recommendations of the planning and zoning board was for a change from 2F (two-family residential) to MF (multiple family residential).

W. R. Marvin, proprietor of the store and filling station, and Ray Rogers, a neighbor, grabbed Darnell as he ran from the store and wrestled him to the ground. They had been advised by another Sand Springs resident that someone had been seen in the store.

Next Trial Uncertain

Although the vote was unanimous, Commissioner John Stanley said he was dissatisfied with the Birdwell Lane bridge. He said, driving over the bridge, he'd noticed his car seemed to bounce.

City's Share Of Paving Program Cost Approved

A motion authorizing payment of $38,112.77 as the city's part of the Phase 4 112-block paving program was approved by city commissioners Tuesday night.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said the bridge was level, but the roadway surface on both sides of the bridge has a slight incline.

Costs for the Phase 4 project were figured at $1.44 per linear foot for curb and gutter, 75 cents per linear foot for concrete header, and 1.52 per square yard for pavement.

George J. Zachariah was re-elected mayor of Big Spring Tuesday as the official canvass of the April 7 general city election verified that incumbent commissioner Arnold Marshall, W. L. Thompson and Zachariah were returned to office.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said the bridge was level, but the roadway surface on both sides of the bridge has a slight incline.

Costs for the Phase 4 project were figured at $1.44 per linear foot for curb and gutter, 75 cents per linear foot for concrete header, and 1.52 per square yard for pavement.

City Votes To Accept Grant From Foundation

A resolution to accept—along with Howard County—of a new facility to house both the City-County Health Unit and the Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children's) Center was voted unanimously by the city commission Tuesday evening.

many interests in the city have called for enlarged and more efficient quarters. In addition, the rehabilitation center has been in temporary housing ever since losing its home, because of foundation failure, at Eighth and Owens.

Dear Abby

Time To Cut Them Off

DEAR ABBY: We have a telephone and our next-door neighbors have none. When they first moved in, they asked if they could use our phone. Thinking it would be only a short while before they had their own, I said certainly. It has been a year and they are still using ours. There are five of them who use it, including a teenager who makes one call after another, some of them lasting 30 to 40 minutes. These people can afford their own phone, Abby, as three in the family work. I've thought of taking the receiver off the hook and saying it is out of order, but I hate to lie. Can you suggest something?
B. S. M.

DEAR B. S. M.: Some people have so much gall they should be divided into three parts. Tell these clods that you have a ONE-PARTY line—and you are the party!

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when your steady boy friend tells you that he thinks it would be best if you dated other boys, and he thinks he should date other girls? We didn't have a fight or anything like that, and I thought we were perfect for each other. We have gone steady for five months, one week and four days. Should I break up with him for good? He is 17 and so am I.

CRYING MY EYES OUT
DEAR CRYING: Dry your tears and date others, honey. I think he has already "broken up" with you.

DEAR ABBY: Regrettably, the public doesn't know the difference between wild pigeons which fly around uncontrolled, making a mess, and the domesticated variety, which is kept under sanitary conditions and is not a nuisance to neighbors. Domestic pigeons do not carry diseases! During World War One and Two, carrier (or racing) pigeons saved thousands of lives, as they have in other disasters. Abby, if there is reincarnation, I am returning as a pigeon, and all those unformed pigeon haters who condemn all pigeons had better watch out. You may print this, together with my signature.

BILL (WILD) FRAME, MARI-ON, INDIANA

DEAR ABBY: You would be doing a tremendous service if you would print in your column the answer to a question that has been the source of many harsh words in this household: What does "PERSONAL" mean on the envelope of a letter?

"D" IN TOPEKA
DEAR "D": It is a reminder that the letter is just that—"personal"—and not community property, as mail is regarded in some households.

Get it off your chest. For a personal unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Alcoholism Talk Booked

An outstanding authority on alcoholism is scheduled to appear in this area Friday.

He is Dr. R. G. Bell, Montreal, Canada, and he will speak at a joint meeting of the Midland and Ector Counties Councils on Alcoholism. The place is Ector High School Auditorium, Odessa, at 8 p.m.

Members of the Big Spring council are planning to attend, other groups—especially ministers, physicians, attorneys, judges—are urged to hear Dr. Bell.

Dr. Bell is a physician and a psychiatrist who devotes his full time to the problems of alcoholism. He is noted for his down-to-earth explanation of the problem of alcoholism and of practical approaches in dealing with it.

Opening lead: Four of ♠ South, the declarer in today's four heart contract, was the victim of a mental state which, for the absence of a better term, might be labeled "finesse happy." This condition induced a certain looseness in his plan of campaign which led to his downfall.

West opened the four of spades and South chose to let the lead ride around to his nine in the hope that West had under-both the king and jack. East, however, played the jack of spades which held the trick. A trump was returned and declarer put up the ace. He crossed over to the king of clubs in order to take a second round finesse in hearts for the queen. When West turned up with this card, he led another spade. East ruffed with his last trump and then cashed the ace of diamonds to defeat the contract.

Altho declarer could have averted his ill-fate by refusing to take the finesse in hearts, we have no quarrel with him on that score. His handling of the spade suit, however, left something to be desired. Since he is presumably off, at most, one trick each in diamonds and hearts, he can afford to lose a spade trick as well. In order to maintain a fuller control over the proceedings, declarer should forgo the luxury of taking the double finesse in spades, for the success of his contract is virtually assured provided that West has either one of the missing spade honors.

It is suggested that South play the queen of spades from dummy at trick one. If this should lose to the king, declarer is still in position to finesse West for the jack of spades subsequently.

When East's jack drops under the queen, South can actually make a slam if he refuses to take the trump finesse, for subsequent finesses against West's king of spades will provide a parking place for declarer's small diamond on the fourth spade. If South chooses to take a second round finesse for the queen of hearts, West can give his partner a spade ruff; however, the ace of diamonds becomes the third and last trick for the defense.

Nixon Wants Hard, Strong Red Attitude

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, arriving home today from a 3½-week business trip to a number of Asian and European countries, said the United States should adopt a "harder and stronger" attitude toward Communist aggression in Asia.

The former vice president, speaking to newsmen at John F. Kennedy International Airport, criticized Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Nixon, a Republican, said Fulbright recently called for a more "flexible, softer line" toward communism.

"We should strengthen our policy toward Communist activities in Asia rather than move along the lines suggested by Sen. Fulbright," Nixon said.

On April 5, Fulbright urged the "elimination of the crusading spirit of the cold war." He said in a speech at Chapel Hill, N.C., that the nation's interest could be served better by an end of "morbid preoccupation with the danger of Communist expansion abroad and subversion and disloyalty at home."

Nixon, who is frequently mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination this year although he says he is not a candidate, told newsmen he "will give some major recommendations with regard to United States foreign policy" in speeches to the New York Chamber of Commerce Thursday and the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, D.C., Saturday.

Authoress Rachel Carson Succumbs

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Death by cancer has silenced Rachel Carson whose book "Silent Spring" created international controversy with its charge that man was poisoning the earth and himself by his efforts to control nature with chemicals.

Miss Carson, 56, a biologist who became a best selling author in 1951 with "The Sea Around Us," died Tuesday afternoon at her home. She learned five years ago, apparently while working on "Silent Spring," that she had cancer.

Her book helped inspire a White House report last May calling for stronger federal laws on pesticides and new steps to regulate their control.

The book warned of the dangers of tampering with the balance of nature and argued for biological controls rather than massive and indiscriminate use of chemicals, such as pesticides and weed killers.

She wrote: "These sprays, dusts, and aerosols are now applied almost universally to farms, gardens, forests and homes — nonselective chemicals that have the power to kill every insect, the 'good' and the 'bad,' to still the song of birds and the leaping of fish in the streams, to coat the leaves with a deadly film, and to linger on in the soil—all this though the intended target may be only a few weeds or insects. Can anyone believe it is possible to lay down such a barrage of poisons on the surface of the earth without making it unfit for all life?"

IRONICAL
Miss Carson's book, which ironically also warned of the hazards of man-made cancer-producing substances, was criticized by some, including pesticide industry chemists, as presenting an incomplete picture. Manufacturers and trade associations defended the safety of pesticides "when used as directed."

After learning of her death, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall heaped praise on Miss Carson in a statement. He said she "was the kind of woman who makes men proud, a scientist of rare courage and ability, and a world-renowned author whose eye was trained to the destiny of generations she would never see."

BIOLOGIST
Miss Carson first became concerned with chemical weed-and-

House Seeks Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The behind-the-scenes search for a first-step compromise went forward today as the Senate's wordy floor battle over the House-passed civil rights bill moved into its 31st day.

Although President Johnson has called on the Senate to pass the bill without change, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said flatly there would be amendments.

But Dirksen, trying to thread his way through sharp differences among his GOP colleagues, was much less definite about what the changes would be.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Dixie forces, refused comment on the amendments Dirksen is working on. "We haven't seen them yet," he told reporters.

A similar wait-and-see position has been taken by assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey, floor manager of the bill. He has made clear he will oppose weakening any essential features of the legislation.

Russell said he will offer an amendment providing that the bill, if it is passed, will not become effective unless it is approved by majority vote in a national referendum.

"The people ought to be heard before we change our form of government," he said.

Kite Winners Are Announced

Winners in the Y Indian Guide Tribe kite flying contest, held over the weekend, were announced Tuesday morning by Curtis Mullins, YMCA general secretary. Kites entered had to be homemade, and boys and their fathers worked together.

The largest kite was entered by the Teton Tribe and was built by Mike and Terry Tredaway. It measured six feet, one inch tall and four feet, eleven and three-quarter inches wide.

Highest flying kite — First place, Crow Tribe, built by Hayes Stripling III; second place, Teton Tribe, built by Doug Robison.

Most unusual kite — First place, Crow Tribe, built by Will Guthrie; second place, Arapaho Tribe, built by Richard Harris.

Chairman of the event was Hayes Stripling Jr. Judges were Jack Haralson and Dr. Ruben Koenig.

Nikita Raps China Moves

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared today the Chinese Communists "have created serious difficulties for the world Communist movement and placed it on the verge of a split."

At the same time, in a speech to a Polish-Russian friendship meeting in the Kremlin, he demanded a solution of the German question on the old Soviet basis — a peace treaty that would make West Berlin a "free city."

Speaking with rapid gestures, often smiling, talking very fast, the premier declared the Chinese are urging a revolutionary course which would lead to war.

Khrushchev said the Soviet system of advancing through economic competition was a better system than that of China.

"They say we are the revisionists," he declared, "but I ask, what do their people want — war or rice? I think they want rice."

He scoffed at the Chinese policy as likely to pose the question of whether the Soviet Union for instance, should make war on France in order to put the French workers into power.

"Who would die in that war?" he demanded. "Imperialists? No. The same working people would die as would die in China or elsewhere."

The meeting honored Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka and Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, who have been visiting Moscow since Monday.

Cox Rips Rights Bill As Ralph Pushes Education

By The Associated Press

Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, Jack Cox, said he opposes "every word, every comma and every title" in the civil rights bill before Congress. Calling civil rights the top national issue, Cox said in Dallas that if the bill is enacted, he would work to have it repealed as senator. Cox also criticized the Democratic incumbent, Sen. Ralph Yarborough, as not giving Texans the representation they deserve. "They need a man who is firm and who can be fair and who is reasonable," he said. Yarborough, in a Galveston speech, hammered at the importance of more and better education for the state. At a dinner honoring state Sen. A. R. Schwartz, he said the Gulf Coast area is in a position to lead Texas to greatness because of what he called the progressive leadership such as Schwartz.

KEY ISSUES
Another Republican candidate for Senate, Robert Morris, told Austin newsmen he believes the key election issues are prayer in schools, proposals to regulate firearms ownership, and disarmament. Morris said later in Victoria advocates of world government within the federal policy-making were getting bolder. "They're not even being subtle about it, anymore." Gov. John Connally worked at his Austin capitol office Tuesday. His wife and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Merrill Connally, shared a coffee reception with about 300 persons at the Corpus Christi airport. They flew from Corpus Christi to McAllen for the night. Connally's only Democratic foe, Don Yarborough of Houston, said in Bryan both the governor and Senate aspirant Gordon McLendon "long ago deserted the Democratic party." In an interview, he said the two men aimed their campaigns at keeping Republicans from forming a two-party system in Texas.

OLD AGE
In Lufkin, Yarborough said if elected he would try to enact an old age assistance system using California's maximum payment plan of $176 as a goal.

McLendon, Democratic candidate for Senate, outlined for voters a 12-point platform which includes opposition to the civil rights bill and the King-Anderson (medicare) bill. He proposed to limit the number and power of federal bureaus, and farm subsidy programs within 10 years, provide tax exemptions for parents of modest income financing their children's higher education, and require "an adequate number" of Spanish-speaking civil service employees when a need for them exists. Another GOP Senate candidate, George Bush, said it was time to stop what he called a needed and that Texans were whittling away of the nation's reasonable in demanding a curb military preparedness program of excessive oil imports. Speaking in Borger, Bush said Sen. Yarborough said "one thing to distressed cattlemen in Hereford and another in Washington" concerning cattle imports. He said the Johnson administration and "its pawns like Yarborough has no intention of giving cattlemen in this country a break."

In the railroad commissioner race, incumbent Jim Langdon, Democrat, said an arbitrary increase in Texas' oil production is not the answer to the state's oil problem.

Langdon said people who suggest "state quotas" based on proved reserves are, in effect, advocating federal control of oil regulation. He said the free world was obviously able to produce more crude oil than it needed and that Texans were reasonable in demanding a curb military preparedness program of excessive oil imports.

Langdon's opponent, Jesse Owens of Vernon, said "public distrust of the Texas Railroad Commission is at an all time high." He said he wanted action, not alibis, in doing something "about the small allowances and big depression in the oil industry which aggravate the tax squeeze for home owners and workers."

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Democrat incumbent, told the Nueces County medical society in Corpus Christi the state "is in the best shape ever to meet the needs of youngsters committed to state control by courts."

He said appropriations for the Texas Youth Council have increased from slightly more than $2 million in 1956-57 to more than $13 million for the current biennium.

LBJ Outdances Hussein; Reveals Tours In Disguise

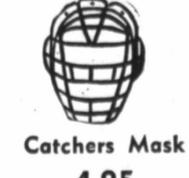

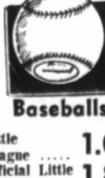

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson outdanced 28-year-old King Hussein of Jordan, but he found they had something in common—a desire to get closer to their people. In a champagne toast Tuesday night to the visiting Arab monarch, Johnson confided to 149 guests at a state dinner that Hussein "in his desire to be closer to his people has been known to disguise himself and drive a taxicab through the streets of his capital." Johnson said he hasn't yet "found a successful disguise" for himself, though "the streets of our national capital are sometimes crowded with cabs." "But," said the President, "I am trying to spend the week-ends lately with the people of my country who are touring Washington."

Johnson danced just about every dance, switching partners often in mid-tune. The king kept twirling too. But, at 11:15 p.m., the king said his goodbyes, and the Johnsons took a break to walk him to the door. Other guests left, too. But the President went back for more dancing. He kept it up until shortly after midnight. Among the late dancers was British economist-author Barbara Ward. The President said he had recently read one of her books and he cut in several times to dance with her.

WALKING
Johnson has been out in the spring weather, walking on the south lawn and making occasional forays to see the sight-seers.

You cook for pennies...

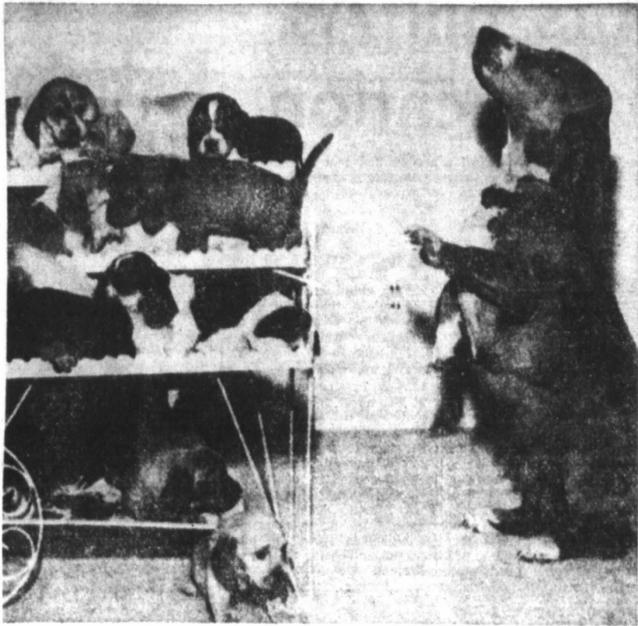

when you cook electrically

You'll be delighted to find out how little it costs to cook the modern electric way. Surface units cook by direct contact with utensil bottoms, use heat thriftily. The electric oven, insulated all around including the bottom, keeps heat inside where it belongs. And once the oven reaches the temperature you select, it uses electricity about one-fourth of the cooking time. It costs the average family only about 3¢ a meal to cook with flameless electricity. See your electric range dealer soon. Cook better... live better... electrically!

Seriously Ill Treated During Doctors' Strike

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The seriously ill have been getting adequate treatment or better since the 15-day-old doctors' strike began, but those with minor ailments have to shift for themselves.

With most of Belgium's 10,000 doctors on strike against a new medical insurance law, there was general apprehension that many patients would die untreated.

Urgent cases on the whole have been taken care of under an emergency setup organized by the physicians and taken over three days ago by the government.

ARMY RESERVE
Premier Theo Lefevre's government issued a decree Sunday calling for mobilization of 3,600 army reserve doctors, and requisitioning civilian doctors attached to hospitals. It says it has mobilized about 5,700 physicians.

The situation in many parts of Belgium, however, is reaching a critical point, with hospitals overcrowded and the danger of epidemics increasing.

Strike leaders claim their emergency setup is collapsing since the government took it over. The Interior Ministry blames the strikers, accusing them of sabotage.

DANGER
During the 12 days the doctors ran the emergency service, with 2,000 physicians on day and night duty, there were no reports of danger to health.

For the poorer Belgians who were emergency cases, medicine and treatment were free. There have been cases of hardship, especially for patients who wanted to be treated at home.

Hospital wards are overcrowded and patients are sent home as quickly as possible.

Personal nursing attention is becoming nonexistent. Although 3,600 military reserve doctors have been called to active duty this does not seem to help. Many come on foot, without their medical instruments.

NURSES TOO
There was talk of nurses joining the strike. But one head nurse laughed: "We have too much work to go on strike."

Since the government ordered private clinics re-opened Sunday, any patient can attend them free—for the time being. Some low-income patients find themselves in $24-a-day suites in fashionable clinics.

Following strict military regulations, some doctors are sending patients to the hospital with the slightest fever.

Military hospitals have been opened to civilians but they are reaching the saturation point. Emergency hospitals have been set up in schools and other public buildings.

Leftist Departs

Gemini Flights Have 23 Tasks

HOUSTON (AP)—Twenty-three scientific and technological experiments will be tried during the next four Gemini spacecraft flights.

The experiments were chosen from almost 100 submitted by scientists and engineers at the various centers of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the Department of Defense and the scientific community at large.

No scientific or technological experiments were aboard the first Gemini flight last week. The major objective of this unmanned flight was to test the compatibility of the spacecraft and the Titan rocket, the launch vehicle in the Gemini program.

The first technological experiment during the next unmanned Gemini flight this summer, will test several techniques to assure communications between spacecraft and ground stations during re-entry of the spacecraft.

For a brief but crucial period during re-entry of the manned Mercury spacecraft, communications were blocked out.

The first manned Gemini flight will carry two scientific experiments. It is scheduled for from three to five earth orbits late this year.

One experiment will test the effects of radiation and weightlessness on human white blood cells. The other will test the growth of sea urchin eggs, some of which will be fertilized before launch and the rest during the weightless condition of space flight.

Four technological and two scientific experiments will be aboard the fourth Gemini flight. Both scientific experiments will be photographic, to record geologic structures and weather systems.

Technological experiments during the week-long flight will test the astronauts' ability to view and photograph selected areas with commercially available equipment.

Data also will be gathered about the total radiation dose absorbed by Gemini astronauts.

Gay Hill 4-H Meeting Held

Fourteen members, four leaders, and two guests were present at the Gay Hill 4-H Club meeting Monday. Brent Brooks, presiding officer, called on Jane Murphy to lead the Motto and Pledge to the Flag.

Audrey Klaus discussed the favorite food show with the girls attending, and Ken Harlan talked about swine feeding and the livestock judging program. He also directed a recreational game. Refreshments were served at the meeting adjourned.

GOP To Vote Preferences

Howard County Republicans will vote their preference of five potential presidential candidates in the May 2 elections.

Absentee ballots for use of the Republican Party members now on hand at the office of Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, lead off with the presidential preference slate.

The names as they appear are Barry M. Goldwater, Arizona; Henry Cabot Lodge, Massachusetts; Nelson Rockefeller, New York; Margaret Chase Smith, Maine; and Harold Stassen, Pennsylvania.

The Democratic ballots have no listing for any office above U. S. senator.

The Republican ballots which are to be used in the election come in two types. One is for voters residing in the voting boxes which are in Commissioner Precinct 3. These are boxes 2 and 16. On this ballot appears the name of Harold Hall, the Republican candidate for county commissioner.

The other ballot, to be used by residents living in the other 14 boxes of the county, does not carry Hall's name. Both ballots list Mike Moore, Republican party candidate for sheriff, and Rich Anderson, Republican candidate for senator from the 25th Senatorial District.

Mrs. Petty said that Republican voters who will be out of town on election day and those who are too ill to go to the polls, can come to her office and vote absentee in the May 2 primary.

Expensive, Lavish World Fair To Open Next Week

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a billion-dollar show. The 1964-65 New York World's Fair which opens April 22 will be an expensive and lavish spectacle.

Attendance originally was estimated at 70 million admissions for the two seasons of operation. But now, with 25 million tickets already sold, there are predictions that attendance may reach 100 million. It will be a mile-square panorama of the wonders of yesterday, today and tomorrow, blending together achievements of science, education, religion, art, philosophy, music and culture.

EARTH'S HISTORY

The visitor will travel back through millions of years of the earth's history and peer into the far future. And he will see firsthand the best of what the world has to offer today in exhibits from around the world.

Theme of the giant exposition—four years in the making—is "Peace Through Understanding."

About 60 foreign countries will have pavilions or displays featuring their arts, crafts, cuisine and culture.

From the United States, about half the 50 states are represented, many with extensive displays and shows. The federal government, with one of the largest shows on the grounds, will have a sweeping variety of things to see and do—including a "you are there" journey through the sights and sounds of American history.

SPECTACLES

Some astonishing spectacles have been created by the giants of American commercial enterprise—General Motors, General Electric, Bell Telephone, Ford, Eastman Kodak, Du Pont.

So extensive are their shows and displays that the visitor can spend the better part of a half day viewing each.

The most spectacular parts are arranged in the form of tours which last 12 to 15 minutes. These may be viewed from moving chairs or vehicles which create a feeling of almost personal and private tours.

Here is a brief description: General Motors — In the "Futurama" visitors will be seated in a train of contoured chairs, with miniature loud-speakers mounted in the headrests for music and description of the sights.

TO MOON

The visitor will, in effect, be whisked to the moon to see man and machine at work exploring it. There will be scenes depicting how man will conquer the polar areas, jungles, deserts and live, work and play underneath the seas. The tour lasts 15 minutes and concludes by taking the citizen of today into the city of tomorrow.

General Electric — A multifaceted exhibition called "Progressland" will feature a demonstration of thermonuclear fission, seeing and hearing an atomic blast.

A "Carousel of Progress," witnessed from moving seats, employs lifelike and animated human figures created by Walt Disney. It depicts home living conditions from the 1880s to the present.

A "skydome spectacle" uses the building's inner dome in planetarium-like fashion for a striking dramatization of the power of nature's energy sources.

Bell Telephone—The keynote of the exhibition will be another chair ride with music and description through the history, present and future, of communications.

STAGE SETTINGS

Effects employ motion pictures, stage settings, lighting, special scenery, optical illusions and multiple screens.

The building also will feature demonstrations of how computers work, phone-vision of the future, how light waves carry sound, tricks with sound.

Ford—One of the most ingenious tours at the fair is a "time tunnel" created by Disney. Visitors will sit in 1964-model automobiles for a trip into the past and future. Music and commentary will flow from radios in the cars. There are pushbuttons for four different languages.

The tour begins in the prehistoric past.

Du Pont—A combination of arts has been devised to dramatize "the wonderful world of chemistry." Live actors will sing, dance and talk on a stage with life-sized figures projected by motion picture. A screen character will hand a rose to a live performer; a live actor blows out candles on a screen cake and splashes frosting on another live performer.

LANDSCAPE

Eastman Kodak—A simulated lunar landscape has been created atop the Kodak building to provide a setting for unusual photographs by visitors. Towering above will be a display of giant photographic color transparencies.

Hall of Science—Audio and visual demonstrations of a variety of scientific subjects: a simulated rendezvous of full-sized manned orbital space vehicles, how the brain works, the molecular activity which creates and sustains life, the science of color, a simulated atomic laboratory for children only to enter and operate, the chemistry of the sea, a modern airport control tower and how it works.

Radio Corp. of America—Color television shows produced on the spot. Visitors can see themselves on color television.

U.S. Space Park—Display of some of the nation's most powerful rockets, an X15 plane, and models of moon exploratory equipment.

Scores of other pavilions and displays will be devoted to all aspects of modern living and endeavor.

Congress Will Investigate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman predicts the House will soon launch a major investigation of the draft law and feature heavyweight champion Cassius Clay as its star witness.

the devil you could do with him. But I think the Army could have found a place for him." The Army had said Clay was rejected after he failed to pass mental tests. "I think the Selective Service made a mistake in rejecting Cassius Clay. I'm not sure what a possibility that a joint committee, made up of members of the Armed Services and Education and Labor committees, would do the job. In any case, Bray said, he was confident that some subcommittee or committee would open an investigation soon and call Clay as a witness. There was no official confirmation, however, of any committee plans. Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of Bray's subcommittee, said "I don't know anything about it."

A Devotional For The Day

In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world. (John 16:33.)
PRAYER: O Lord, when we face the difficulties and trials of this life, save us from discouragement. Give us calm confidence which Thy Son has shown us in His life and death, praying as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From the "Upper Room")

Straws In The Wind

Some straws in the wind indicate that a reaction may be setting in against militant, aggressive tactics of Negro leaders in civil rights demonstrations.

Sen. Frank Lauche, outspoken Ohio solon, cautioned in an address this week that demonstrations which degenerate into violence are doing more harm than good to the bid for civil rights.

The recent surprising showing of Alabama's Governor Wallace in the Wisconsin Democratic presidential primary also is indicative of something. That an arch-segregationist could poll 25 per cent of the vote in an unsegregated state can't be written off as the remnant of McCarthyism, for the late senator was a Republican and few of his adherents would be in the Democratic primary.

Tragic events in Cleveland where a minister lay down in the path of a bulldozer created a sense of sorrow rather than martyrdom.

Demonstrators have every right to demonstrate, and non-violent activities may claim attention and even some desired results. But demonstrators, though they may be passive, have no right to prevent legitimate operations or to peril public safety. Mass disregard for laws is no way to change laws, even though a test case sometimes opens avenues for change. Colored citizens understandably are impatient for the gates of opportunity to swing wider, but the pressure of conscience is a far greater weapon than of violence.

Blessed Relief

Querulous tones have already been heard in certain quarters as Democrats and Republicans begin making their contributions to the political dialogue of a presidential election year. Some of the language used isn't fit to print in a family newspaper.

We are indebted, therefore, for a bit of sweetness and light coming from, of all places, Leonia, New Jersey, the home of a presidential hopeful by the name of Marvin Kitman. He is classified as an "unseeded GOP" hopeful who picked up 725 votes — reportedly from Dartmouth College students for the most part — in the New Hampshire presidential preference primary.

The tone of Kitman's campaign was set recently when he held a $1 a plate fund-raising dinner in a New York City all-night cafeteria. The cafeteria got 65 cents and the campaign kitty 35 cents. On the basis of approximately 200 in attendance, Kitman collected $70 for his presidential campaign.

Immediately after this fund-raising dinner, however, Kitman decided to change his strategy.

"I intend to take the logical approach," he said. "I mean to buy a white linen planter's suit and send workers out to deny that I'm running. The next word you'll hear from me will be when I charter my San Francisco special — the 19th Century Limited."

The least we can say for Kitman is: "Bless you." This may be the only relief we'll get for the next seven months.

David Lawrence No Regulation To Prevent Strike

WASHINGTON — With all the talk about "civil rights" and the importance of "equal opportunity" in employment, particularly in businesses affected by interstate commerce, it is an incredible fact of American life that overnight the entire rail transportation system of the country today can be halted, and untold loss inflicted on innocent citizens and their properties, while large-scale unemployment is forced upon the nation.

freight cars to carry food. Meat-packing plants would have to shut down as soon as supplies were exhausted.

9. Farmers would lose much of their crops.

10. MOST CITIES have only 30 to 60-day inventories of medical supplies.

11. Numerous health problems would be created, because there are not enough trucks available to move liquid chlorine that cities need to treat sewage and purify drinking water.

12. Approximately 15 to 30 per cent of all construction projects, including defense work, would be shut down after 30 days.

13. MAILS WOULD be indefinitely delayed, causing many hardships in the operations of businesses.

All of the foregoing factors were fully described by the Department of Commerce when a rail strike was threatened last summer. Yet, in the face of such a grim sequence, the administration here has not taken any preventive action but has relied on the two sides to get together and work out a deal.

CONGRESS is fully authorized under the "interstate commerce" clause of the Constitution to regulate the operations of the railroads. But Congress, for political reasons, shies away from regulatory legislation on rail stoppages and lets the nation be subject to threat after threat of a strike that could paralyze the whole economy.

President Johnson last week persuaded the railroad companies and the unions to negotiate for 15 days, but it will come as a surprise to most people that nothing has been done heretofore by Congress or by the President to forbid at all times any action by private companies or labor unions engaged in interstate commerce which can bring such a catastrophe to the American people.

THE U.S. COMMERCE Department has dramatically summed up the "irreparable injury" to the United States economy that would ensue if a nationwide rail strike occurred. Here are the main points in the official forecast:

1. Mines, factories, construction sites and retail stores would be closed.
2. There would be serious shortages of food and medical supplies.
3. Unemployment would be raised threefold, putting 15 per cent of the nation's workers out of jobs.
4. THE COUNTRY'S production of goods and services would be cut four times as badly as it was in the 1957-1958 recession.
5. Injury to the economy would begin on the first day that 700,000 railroad workers would be idled.
6. The first industry to shut down would be coal mining, since there would be no means to move coal to destination. This means that steel mills and factories would feel the effects.
7. Manufacturers of automobiles and heavy machinery would be unable to ship goods.
8. There would be no railroad

THE POWER of national labor unions to paralyze the transportation system constitutes a monopoly, just as the power of the railroads, joined together in common action to resist a nationwide strike of the rail unions, is also a monopoly.

There are many hardships involved in eliminating the jobs of 30,000 firemen, as required by the arbitration board's ruling, but the United States government could certainly find some kind of subsidy for the problem, just as it does in "foreign aid."

There are many hardships involved in eliminating the jobs of 30,000 firemen, as required by the arbitration board's ruling, but the United States government could certainly find some kind of subsidy for the problem, just as it does in "foreign aid."

Billy Graham

How can we be sure we are doing right all the time, if we sin without knowing it are we losing the chance to get to heaven? J. O. The Bible says: "Man looketh upon the outward appearance, but God looketh upon the heart." Everyone should know that God is no less exacting than a loving parent. He hates sin because He knows what it will do to us, and therefore, He warns us against it. But, if we inadvertently commit a sin, we certainly do not lose our chances of going to heaven.

The Bible says to followers of Christ: "If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

This doesn't mean that Christians go around deliberately sinning. If they live in constant sin, then it is an evidence that they are not truly Christian. What we are, we are by the grace of God. We are not saved because we are good, or lost because we are bad. We are saved because we accept Christ's ransom for our sins. He implants His new life within us, and our desire is to please Him. But if we stumble and fall, like a loving father, He forgives and pardons us, and gives us another chance. "If any man sin he has an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ."

James Marlow Mac, Acheson Agreed On Line Of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—In 1950 Secretary of State Dean Acheson talked on the American defense line in the Pacific and got denounced for years afterwards. Republicans made him a punching bag.

It was one of the twists of history — or politics — that Gen. Douglas MacArthur 10 months before drew exactly the same defense line but this went unmentioned by Acheson's critics and defenders.

Among the critics were Sens. Joseph McCarthy and Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Even when MacArthur died April 5, what he said in 1949 must have been long-forgotten. This writer found no mention of it.

THIS WAS the background in 1949 the Chinese Communists were smashing Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists on the China mainland. Formosa, an island 100 miles off the coast, belonged to China.

On March 1, 1949, MacArthur in an interview with an English newspaperman, Ward Price — discussed the American defense perimeter in the Pacific. The interview was published in the New York Times March 3. MacArthur said the Anglo-Saxons — line of defense runs through the chain of islands fringing the coast of Asia. He listed them, from the Aleutians to the Philippines, through Japan. He left out Formosa.

HE THEN went further than Acheson said: "It must be clear that no person can guarantee these areas against military attack. But it must be clear that such a guarantee is hardly sensible or necessary within the realm of practical relationships."

If such an attack did occur, he said, "the initial reliance must be on the people attacked to resist it and then upon the commitments of the entire civilized world under the charter of the United Nations which so far has not proved a weak reed to lean on by any people who are determined to protect their independence against outside aggression."

WHILE ACHESON didn't commit the United States to the defense of any country attacked in Asia, he didn't say the United States wouldn't try to defend it. He left the door open for an American decision later.

A would-be attacker could construe it either way. But the United States had just gone through an experience with Chiang whose government and forces had frittered away American help.

On June 25, 1950, the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea. Truman acted at once: He sent American forces to the defense of Korea, under MacArthur. The United Nations quickly joined in. And Truman defended Formosa from Red China's attack.

SEVEN DAYS after the attack started McCarthy denounced Acheson for "telling the world" before the war began that the United States would not intervene.

On August 7, Taft said "we invited the attack" because Acheson "announced last winter that we would not defend Korea and Formosa."

And during the 1952 presidential campaign—MacArthur was keynote speaker at the Republican convention which nominated Eisenhower — they also denounced Acheson along the same lines.

America's Common Superstitions

NEW YORK (AP)—Sidewalk comments of a Pavement Plato. Do you knock on wood three times to avoid bad luck?

Do you carry a silver dollar or some other object in your pocket to bring good luck?

If your answer in both cases is no, then you aren't a believer in the two most common American superstitions. But that by no means is proof you aren't superstitious.

MANY PEOPLE go through life without becoming religious, at least to the extent of adhering to a formal creed, but hardly any of us escape becoming devotees, consciously or unconsciously, of some of the thousands of superstitions that exist in the world.

Since the universe is large and man is small, he has sought since the dawn of his time to find some way of being less uneasy and feeling more comfortable and secure in that universe. Superstition was his first answer—the taking of some step that would either get the dark forces of destiny of his side, or at least keep their anger from destroying him.

"IF YOU CAN'T be for me, please don't be against me," cried ancient man—and knocked three times on a tree to placate the spirits he felt dwelt therein.

Today we still knock on wood three times at moments of possible peril, and we do it mockingly as if we were joking. But the main thing is—we still do it.

Childhood chants are full of superstition. Can't you recall skipping along the pavement as a youngster and saying "Step on a crack, and break your grandmother's back"? And when you did step on a crack, weren't you half afraid that you have brought bodily disaster to that dear old lady?

AS WE GROW older many of us make up fresh superstitions of our own out of the rituals of living we acquire along the way.

I know of one man who is sure everything will go wrong the rest of the day if he nicks his face while shaving. I know another who has similar premonitions of bad luck if he turns off the alarm clock with his left rather than his right hand.

Man may someday take the superstition out of science; science will probably never quite take the superstition out of man.

To Your Good Health There's Not A Special Diet For Every Disease

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What foods should be eaten by a person with high blood pressure? — E. E.

Your question, madam, is an example of a foolish circle. Not a vicious circle, but a foolish one that we have passed through.

In the last few decades we have come to understand the meaning of a "balanced diet" fairly well.

Good diet IS important. Make no mistake about that. But some people have assumed that there must be a special diet for every disease. This isn't so.

Diet — beyond a normally healthful one — is rarely important in cases of high blood pressure, with two exceptions. First, the overweight patient with high blood pressure should lose some pounds. Often as little as five or 10 lost pounds will make an appreciable difference. But there isn't any "list of foods" for reducing. Just eat less of everything, and avoid fats.

Second, some people with high blood pressure are getting too much salt. This can be from overuse at the table or in cooking, or eating salty foods (peanuts, potato chips, preserved meats, etc.). It can even be from taking bicarbonate of soda or fizzy pain-killers. This is sodium, however, and it "binds" or holds water in the body to an excessive degree, therefore aggravating high blood pressure.

"Salt-free diet" isn't a true term. It should be "low-salt diet" or "low-sodium diet," because nobody can get along without any sodium. There is "natural salt" in most of the foods we eat. So we are bound to get at least some traces.

If salt is reduced too drastically, the patient may suffer from weakness or nausea. This occurs more often in the summer when the body is losing salt through perspiration.

So if you are overweight, or if you are told to restrict salt, those are the ways in which diet will be important.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim How's That Again?

It's about time for another collection of bloopers by the Fourth Estate.

The commonest form is the typographical error, but frequently wrong lines are inserted when printers pull a line for correction. Not all gems, however, are mechanical in origin, for what seemed clear when written may have an altogether different meaning in cold type.

HERE ARE A few typos:
"She got a divorce when she testified her husband brought his pet car to bed . . . (New York Journal-American)

"If you burn toast, and most of us to sometimes, then push it up and down very lightly on your garter." (San Antonio Express-News)

"He squeaks in the late evening to the same group." (Turlock Daily Journal)

"The suspect put a dime in the puke box, followed Blank to the back and . . . fired one shot." (Los Angeles Herald Examiner)

"Through the years, toy trains have been scaled on the ratio of three-sixteenths or a quarter inch to the foot." (Washington Daily News)

"The persecution is being handled by the district attorney." (Albany Knickerbocker News)

"Frank Luther Mott, dean emeritus of the School of Journalism soke on clinches, slang and worn words." (Columbia Missourian)

"The hospital plans hating and electrical alterations." (Pittsburgh Press)

"Tickets for 'Sin along with Mitch' at Boston Garden opens tomorrow." (Milton Record-Transcript)

"He was charged with careless driving." (Maywood Our Town)

HERE'S ONE where the wrong line was pulled:
"The baby sausages, weiners and hams is 21 inches long. She is reported healthy." (Cleveland Plain Dealer)

And one where a wrong word obviously found its way into the sentence:

"Colorado . . . officers have done effective work in the appreciation of cattle rustlers." (Leadville Herald Democrat)

A FEW WHICH DIDN'T come out like they were intended:
"The dead man drove through the glass door . . . and the patrolman had to smash him with his pistol butt." (New York World Telegram)

"He struck the car in which he was riding broadside." (Dallas Oak Cliff Tribune)

"City officials have decided on a six-point program to combat 'good pedestrian habits.'" (Austin American)

FINALLY, SOME headlines which went awry:
"Bridal Shower For Expectant Bride." (Westerville Public Opinion)

"Under New Morgagement." (Crystal River Suncoast Sentinel)

"Central PTA May Reform." (Phillipsburg Free Press)

"Ex-Negro Student Fined In Mississippi." (Idaho Falls Post-Register)

"Trousers Are Linked To Anderson." (Minneapolis Tribune)

"Traffic Dead Rise Slowly." (Hobbs Daily News-Sun)

"Lots Of Nuts In Valley." (Yuma News-Frontier)

"Candidate Jabs Henrietta On Bus Entrance." (Rochester Democrat & Chronicle)

And just think, there's a new crop every day — maybe one somewhere in all this. —JOE PICKLE

Holmes Alexander Are We Celebrating C-Day?

WASHINGTON—With all that red ink they use in the Treasury Department, maybe Secretary Douglas Dillon is the right man to find room on the calendar for a red-letter date called C-Day—signifying the end of the Cold War.

This impudent thought recently occurred to one observer while listening to the Secretary, a switch-hitting Republican within our Democratic Administration. Dillon was giving the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a build-up on what looks like an Aid-the-Reds trade policy. To his credit, he appeared to be less enthusiastic over his message than obedient to his Democratic masters. But the boiled-down meaning of what Dillon said came to this: The Cold War is over, not because we've won it, but because C-Day also stands for Concession Day.

WITH THE Test Ban Treaty, the Wheat Deal, the acceptance of Red Cuba as an offshore Soviet base, and with expectations of further Russo-American disarmament, this country has clearly ditched our own plans for a liberty-oriented world and has accepted Khrushchev's scheme called "peaceful coexistence." Dillon's testimony spelled out a pair of C-Day concessions.

We have conceded to Soviet Russia a change of heart which now puts social welfare above world conquest. The Russian purchase of Canadian and American wheat ($500 million from Canada; $135 million from us) meant to Dillon, he said, that the Soviet leadership had decided to invest its gold reserves in consumer comforts instead of armaments.

THE SECOND SET of concessions is a further stretching of trade definitions. The American idea of strategic goods, said Dillon, has long been "everything that strengthens the Bloc." But our NATO partners' definition of strategic is "anything of military value." Our new Aid-the-Reds trade policy simply abandons our definition and accepts the European definition.

NOT THAT there are no difficulties in this sweeping reversal. Senator Stuart Symington of the committee, up for re-election in a state that is losing many jobs to Canada, was troubled over the illogic of it all. Would we still be taking $50 billion a year from American business profits to defend world freedom—while trading with the enemies of freedom? Dillon didn't quite field that question. He did better when he began recalling his service in the Eisenhower Cabinet on matters of doing business with the Russians. Once, he said, they came asking for long-term, low-interest credit terms while simultaneously refusing to settle a $2 billion Lend Lease debt on a mark-down at $800 million. They wanted the settlement cut to $300 million, and went away mad when the deal was refused.

FOREIGN TRADE on mark-down terms soon becomes foreign aid. There is only one Russian commodity—gold—of any real use to the USA. Maybe we'll get lucky and trade for hard gold. But that'll take more toughness than our C-Day celebrants have even shown.

J. A. Livingston Stockholders Are Growing Restless

Give Joseph T. Hall, president of Callahan Mining Corp., credit for insight into the p.q. (psychological quotient) of stockholders. In the annual report, he says:

"Since the company's most recent cash dividend was paid in 1920, it is assumed that at this stage in Callahan's history its shares are held by those primarily interested in capital appreciation."

THE SAME can be said of the officers—and especially Mr. Hall. To supplement his present annual pay of $53,120, Mr. Hall has already acquired 20,387 shares of the stock (13,287 this year) at an option price of $3.80.

When he picked up these shares, the market price ranged from 3/4 to 6/8, and the average price was 5/8. So his indicated paper profit—his capital gain—at the time of acquisition was roughly $40,000. This is a nice cushion against a market slump.

HALL STILL HAS unused capital gains possibilities — options on about 10,000 shares at $3.69 a share. Moreover, stockholders on April 13 are scheduled to vote to option 6,000 more shares to him and 3,000 shares to E. Arthur Salo, vice president and director, at $3.76 a share.

That $3.76 price was 95 per cent of market value at the time directors okayed the option, and the term is for 10 years—both contrary to the new option law passed by Congress.

Nor is this all about options at Callahan. Back in April, 1962, six other officials were granted options on 10,000 shares at $7.30 a share. This was 95 per cent of the market price of the stock on Oct. 13, 1961, when the board approved the proposal.

THEN, ALAS, the stock market slumped in May and June 1962. Callahan stock fell below the option price to these six officers. How humiliating!

So directors voted to cancel those old options and issue new 10-year options at $5.23 a share, or 95 per cent of the market value on June 11, 1963. Directors did not offer, at the same time, to compensate shareholders who were unfortunate enough to buy stock before the market decline.

Yet stockholders now are asked to vote yes on the plan. This poses both a moral and practical dilemma.

Congress recently changed the rules governing options.

FIRST, the option price must be at a minimum of 100 per cent of market — 95 per cent is out. Second, the options may run for no more than five years. Third, the price — once set — may not be lowered, nor may old options be canceled and new ones substituted at a lower price.

These rules will apply to the 9,000 shares optioned to Hall and Salo in January this year. But they don't apply to the options voted to Hall in previous years nor to the 10,000 shares granted the five officers in June of last year.

ONE STOCKHOLDER—president of an influential savings bank — well aware of this has written a letter to Joseph H. Hirschhorn, chairman, saying:

"I cannot refrain from advising you that the cancellation of options at a higher price and the granting of new ones at lower prices is morally wrong. You are familiar with the legislation which was passed recently; therefore, it would appear that the new proposal is timed to beat the gun."

The new tax law was passed by the House on Feb. 25 and the Senate on Feb. 26, and signed by the President that day. The proxy letter was dated March 10.

Callahan officers and directors did have time to reconsider what they were asking their capital-gains-conscious stockholders to vote on.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Here's Mixing Hint For Powdered Milk

Dear Heloise: When I make instant powdered milk I double the strength and store it in my refrigerator. It takes up much less room. It also tastes better when it's a day old. I then dilute this to the desired strength with some cold ice water when ready to serve. Mae Beckham

Dear Mae: I had never thought of doing this! We all know that when powdered milk is made up, it should be kept cold since it tastes better when it's cold. But I never thought of making it double strength and then diluting it with ice water. Bless you, honey child. Look at the space you saved us in our refrigerator... Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here's a fine way for making attractive and inexpensive curtains for kitchen or bath with little care required... I use two large striped or printed bath towels to match the decor. Fold over about a 2 inch portion at the top of each towel and stitch a hem for the rod to go through. Then, trim this fold and the bottom of towel with ball fringe, ribbon, etc. and you've got a cute individual curtain. This can be popped into the washer and dryer with no ironing needed! The small towels or washcloths make excellent bibs for tots. Cut out a circle for the neck and trim with what-have-you and add a snap or gripper. They're attractive, inexpensive, need little care, and they make great gifts for showers for expectant mothers because they don't have to be ironed... Mrs. T. V. Valvoda

Literature List Told

Mrs. Neil Norred presented a program on reading for Christian women at the Tuesday meeting of the Fannie Stripling Circle of the First Methodist Church. She stressed that reading was not out of style and recommended the Bible, newspapers and books. She demonstrated the lecture with a display of books from the county and church libraries. Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton worded the opening prayer. Mrs. Leslie McNeese, 3611 Connally, was hostess and gave the devotion from Colossians. Eight members were present.

TOPS Group Told Of Self Control Needs By Parnell

Shelby Parnell, alcoholic counselor at the Big Spring State Hospital, spoke at the Pounds Rebels of TOPS meeting Tuesday evening in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. The speaker stressed the need to know oneself and noted that tension was the seat bed of any addiction. He said all types of excesses could be controlled by the individual that strived for peace of mind, patience and tolerance. Mrs. Randall Bomar worded the opening prayer, and members answered roll call with a report on weight gain or loss. Mrs. A. A. Graumann and Mrs. Charles Wilson were guests. The next meeting will be held in the Community Room April 21.

Luncheon Served To Carr HD Club

WESTBROOK (SC) - A covered dish luncheon was served when the Carr Home Demonstration Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. Emery Sweat for an all day meeting. Mrs. Don Henderson presided and Mrs. Tom Jackson read the devotion. The program, "Hepatitis, Arthritis, and Pesticide Fears and Facts," was presented by Mrs. Bill Rees. She said that infectious hepatitis, a disease primarily of school-age children and young adults, is on the increase. Also, she reported that rheumatic diseases, including arthritis, are widespread. She said that people with arthritis should beware of advertisements claiming cures for the disease. Refreshments were served to members and two guests, Mrs. Charles Williams and Mrs. J. D. Gibson of the Looney Club.

Honorary Coffee Set By Circle

The Esther Circle of Kentwood Methodist Church will honor new members at a morning coffee April 21. The affair will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. James Noble, 2503 Central. The plans were made when the circle met Tuesday morning with Mrs. Don Campbell, 2700 Larry Drive. Mrs. Eddie McLain presided, announcing that the district Vacation Bible School meeting will be April 16 in the First Methodist Church at Snyder. A nursery will be provided. Several members of the circle plan to attend. The meeting for children's workers will be April 24 at the First Methodist Church here. Mrs. Harold Pearce led the program which was based on the Methodist Woman. Those participating were Mrs. Bob Rybolt, Mrs. Tommy Franklin, Mrs. Bob Badger and Mrs. James Noble. Prayers were led by Mrs. Raymond Hamby and Mrs. Eddie McLain, and refreshments were served to 13.

Christian Issues Are Discussed In Coahoma

Mr. Ray Copeland led the second session of the study, "Christian Issues in Southern Asia," when the Coahoma Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday at 2 p.m. Eleven members gathered at the church and opened the meeting with a hymn. Mrs. Bert Smith led the group in prayer for missionaries working in India. Participating on the program were Mrs. Bill Patterson, Mrs. Pete Thomas and Mrs. John Wood. They told how missionaries were allowed to enter India in 1813 and discussed differences in their training then and now. Also, the work of the Lucie Harrison School in Pakistan was described. The speakers said that in this area 75 per cent of the people are illiterate. Recent news articles were read concerning India, Nepal, and the surrounding area. Mrs. E. L. Reeves, president, announced that Miss Arah Phillips will show slides of India at 7:30 p.m., April 19 at the church. The public is invited to attend, and refreshments will be served afterward in Fellowship Hall. The next meeting will be Tuesday when the study will be continued.

Bill Coleman Speaks To Spoudazio Fora

The building industry takes its cue from women's fashion according to Bill C. Coleman, guest speaker at Spoudazio Fora Study Club Tuesday evening. Coleman, manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co., made the observation during a talk on home decorating given in the home of the Coleman's, 1101 Lloyd. He was introduced by Mrs. W. W. Lansing who was in charge of the program. Coleman said the trend was toward brighter, more intense colors, particularly as used to accent different areas. He noted that the industry looks to women to set the fashions in colors and that they change almost as often as clothing styles. In showing samples of new products for walls and floor coverings he said that the demand is for materials that are both handsome and easy to care for. Coleman concluded by mentioning the continuing research which in ten year's time may enable people

Steers Lose Tough One To Cougars

ABILENE — Junior Bobby Avery blanked the Big Spring Steers on one hit in leading Abilene Cooper to a 2-0 District 2-AAAA baseball victory here Tuesday afternoon.

The only safety Avery gave up was a leadoff one-baser by Robert Goodlet in the first inning and Goodlet was wiped out on an intended steal. Avery faced only 21 batters in the seven-inning game.

Gary Mears, on the mound for Big Spring, did almost as well. He yielded only three hits, walked only one and fanned five. The game took only an hour and 15 minutes to complete. Pat Gray clubbed a first-inning home run to give Avery all the working margin he needed. The Big Spring coaches contended that ground rules would have limited the hit to a double but the umpires ruled otherwise.

In the third, Cooper added an insurance run when catcher Duane Yeatman singled and moved around to score on sacrifices by Avery and Randy Cumby.

Yeatman singled again in the fifth but was thrown out by catcher Charley West while attempting to steal.

Cooper has only three home runs this season and Gray has hit all three of them.

The two teams played errorless ball and Mears also faced only 21 batters.

The Steers now have a conference record of 1-2 and are 8-11 overall. Cooper is 9-5 for the season and 1-2 within the league.

Big Spring goes to Odessa Saturday to oppose Permian while Cooper plays Midland High in Midland the same day.

A transfer from Wichita University, hurdler Bob Parker is proving to be a valuable hand to the HJC Jayhawks this spring. Parker won the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.9 last week in a triangular meet involving freshman teams of ACC and Texas A&M at Abilene. The Hawks will compete in a meet in Dallas Saturday.

Tuttle Will Seek Title At Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — Buster Tuttle, last year's Lamesa, last year's champion, is expected to be among several former titlists vying for top honors at the annual Lamesa Invitational Golf tournament which gets under way Thursday at the Lamesa Country Club.

Tuttle defeated another Lamesa golfer, Virgil Addison, in 1963's finale. Host pro Jimmy Adams says he looks for about 125 golfers to enter the first big tournament of the year on the West Texas circuit.

One of the top favorites for the crown is Charles Hopkins, Post school teacher, who is one of the area's top amateurs.

Thursday is the last day for qualifying and low medalist on that day will receive a cash award. A barbecue will also be held at LCC Thursday evening.

Sandy Koufax Hurls Dodgers By Cards

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

When Sandy Koufax was interrupted last fall... That's right, the Dodgers dandy took up Tuesday night where he left off last season, turning in one of his shutout specialties as Los Angeles opened defense of its National League championship by whipping St. Louis 4-0.

opening day crowds—when Koufax began to whip an assortment of fast balls and curves out of his effortless motion. And when it was over, he had fittingly pitched the first shutout in the National League. Koufax, a 25-game winner last year with 11 shutouts marked alongside his name, allowed the Cardinals only six hits, struck out five and walked none while winning his eighth consecutive game and recording

Newell Named Coaching Aide

Truett Newell was appointed as tennis coach and assistant basketball coach for 1964-65 at Tuesday night's Big Spring school trustee meeting.

But the 1963 World Series hero had to share some of the spotlight with towering Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant player. The Dodgers' main power-provider, Howard proved it by tagging a 420-foot, two-run homer that capped the victory.

In other NL openers, Willie Mays collected two of San Francisco's five homers in an 8-4 walloping of Milwaukee, Roy Sievers' three-run homer powered Philadelphia to a 5-3 victory over the New York Mets and Billy Williams' two-run homer in the 10th inning led the Chicago Cubs to an 8-4 triumph over Pittsburgh.

Houston and Cincinnati, who opened play Monday, were not scheduled.

The Dodgers scored in the sixth against Ernie Broglio when Willie Davis singled, stole second and scored on Ron Fairly's single. That was enough for Koufax, but Jim Gilliam singled home another run in the seventh and then Howard wrapped it up in the eighth.

Mays hit a two-run homer in the third and finished off Warren Spahn with a solo shot in the eighth that chased the Braves' 42-year left-hander.

Jim Hart, Orlando Cepeda and Tom Haller also homered for the Giants, who broke a 4-4 tie in the sixth on Cepeda's single, a wild pitch and a single by Haller. Juan Marichal, 25-8 last year, was the winner on a seven-hitter.

The Phillies pulled out front in the first as Roy Sievers hammered a homer off Al Jackson following a pair of walks. Bobby Wine's run-producing single in the second and a run-scoring double by rookie Richie Allen in the eighth closed out the scoring.

The board agreed to accept the $240 first installment from the student council with the understanding that the school would purchase the clock and have it installed. The difference between the $240 and the actual cost would be paid by the district to relieve future student councils from further obligation.

Athletic Director Don Robbins, who requested the approval of Newell, also asked for the addition of a trainer for the coaching staff. He outlined the duties of the trainer, and stressed the need to handle the increasing number of participants in the athletic program, along with the equipment.

The board asked Robbins to work with Supt. Sam Anderson in selecting a trainer, who must also be a classroom teacher, and to report recommendations to the next board meeting.

Robbins had hoped to have the athletic budget approved at Tuesday night's meeting, but did not have details completed. This will also be considered by the board at the next meeting.

In other action the school considered a request from the student council at Runnels Junior High School to purchase and install a new scoreboard in the gymnasium, to be paid for in three equal installments of $240.

Assistant superintendent business Pat Murphy told the board that a clock could be purchased for less money than the price quoted by the student council, and that parts were interchangeable with other clocks in use.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

AREA RAMBLINGS: The Big Spring Steers will come up with a stronger track team next spring and should place more than one boy in the team. Sophomore J. O. E. JAUZE, one of the Steers' most all-around athletes (he should be a starter in both basketball and football next year), will be back along with established star JOHNNY HUGHES. Look for the Bovines to show considerable strength in the short sprints and the hurdles. By admission of a District 6-B mentor, it might take a small miracle to beat Garden City in football next fall. The Bearcats are an overwhelming favorite for the crown, since they'll have their entire backfield, along with a stellar end back in the lineup. And this was a team that romped past last fall's district champion Forsan, in the last game of the season. Sands will be stronger in football. So will Stanton.

Bowlers make money, but exactly how much is a big question mark. As far as the Professional Bowling Association circuit, St. Louis' Don Carter leads the pack. Over the past five years, he's grossed $77,632 of official money, with his biggest payload coming in 1962 when he carted home a paycheck of $40,017. Incidentally, that one year's total is almost $10,000 more than any other keeper has been able to rake in over a 365-day span. But that's only a small part of his salary. What about endorsements? Oh well, it's a tough life.

BASEBALLS TAKE STRANGE BOUNCES: The Washington Senators never won 100 games in a season. The New York Yankees have finished in the American League's first division every year since 1925.

The Detroit Tigers had more than 40 certified fan clubs in 1963. The highest outfield wall in the American League is the left field fence in Boston's Fenway Park which stands 37 feet. New York Yankee manager YOGI BERRA, who appeared in 75 World Series games, never hit a triple in the fall classic. The New York Mets were shut out 30 times in 1963. The major league minimum salary is $7,000 per year. The worst hitter in baseball? It may be West Coast, a relief pitcher for the Baltimore Orioles. He recently collected a single in a Grapefruit League contest, his first since 1960. Quite a slump, I'd say.

Some people have got to be nuts. Take a boat race that begins April 29 from San Marcos, hurries the San Marcos and Guadalupe Rivers for 400 miles, then heaves across 100 more miles of open bay and canal to Corpus Christi. All entries may be of any length, may carry oars, paddles, sails, and any size crew—but no engines, please. Kayaks, foldboats, canoes, a hand-made dugout and even a Polynesian outrigger are among the 100 entries from all over the U.S. Except for any fish they catch, racers must tote all food supplies for the 12-day race. They will face dangerous currents and logjams, a dozen portages around dams, wind and wave on the final saltwater sector. Any heroes within shouting distance?

In the quotable quotes department, how about what MAX BUMGARDNER, athletic director and football coach at San Angelo College, said recently here in Big Spring when he was talking about how much fun it was to win and how hard to lose: "Isn't it funny how a shower can be hilarious one night and a funeral the next?" That's so true.

Bengals Mop Up On A's, 7 To 3

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball season is just one day old and Charles O. Finley already has had two setbacks.

The American League torpedoed his "Pennant Porch" in Kansas City last week and the Tigers went to work on his ball club in Detroit Tuesday.

The results were the same. Municipal Stadium has half a porch and the Tigers left just about that much of the Athletic pitching staff intact after a 7-3 Opening-Day victory.

Detroit's new-look Tigers were something to see but it wasn't a pleasant sight for Finley. The key executors were Jerry Lumpe and Dave Wickersham, who wore the Kelly green and gold Athletic uniforms a year ago.

Finley swapped Lumpe, an infielder, and pitchers Wickersham and Ed Rakow for slugger Rocky Colavito and hurler Bob Anderson during the winter and off the first day's results, the Tigers came out way ahead.

Lumpe stroked a single, double and triple as the Tigers punished three Kansas City pitchers with a 12-hit assault. Wickersham came on in the ninth inning as the A's staged a later rally. After an error and a walk, he got Gino Cimoli to end it. Colavito, meanwhile, went 0-for-4.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles got long-ball power with three home runs to trip the Chicago White Sox 5-3 and the Minnesota Twins and Cleveland Indians staged a slugfest with the Twins winning 7-4. The Yankees and Boston Red Sox were rained out in New York and Washington and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

Cincinnati and Houston had the day off.

Norm Cash and Bill Bruton homered for the Tigers and Jim Gentile and pinch hitter Manny Jimenez connected for Kansas City.

Boog Powell crashed a two-run homer in the eighth inning for the Orioles' victory over the White Sox. Starter Gary Peters was breezing until John Orsino homered in the sixth and pinch hitter Joe Gaines wiped out a 3-2 White Sox lead with a homer in the seventh.

Broncs Bomb Midland Lee

MIDLAND — Midland Lee's first baseman, Terry Schneider, made a costly error Tuesday in a game with Odessa, and it eventually enabled the Broncs to go ahead to a six-run outburst and a win over the Rebels in District 2-AAAA action, 8-2.

Schneider's error came when he pulled his foot off the bag allowing batter Marty McVey to leg it out safely to first in the fourth inning. The next two men were out but then six runs came across before the Rebels could put an end to the uprising.

Lee made seven errors in the contest as Bob Weber absorbed the loss while Tom O'Neil claimed the victory.

Midland Nips Permian, 3-2

ODESSA — Midland scored all of its runs in the top of the sixth inning Tuesday in a game with the Permian Panthers and the Bulldogs went on to edge by the Cats for a 3-2 District 2-AAAA victory.

Burrell was credited with the win for Midland while Slape was charged with the loss.

Permian outhit the Bulldogs, eight to three.

Swedish Circus Drama Movie Slated Thursday

"Sawdust and Tinsel," a Swedish film, an Ingmar Bergman drama of circus life, will be presented by the Big Spring Foreign Film Club, Thursday, April 16, at 8:00 p.m. in the H.C.J. Auditorium, according to Major John Wood, who heads this club. Tickets may be purchased at the door for 50 cents.

"Sawdust and Tinsel" was written and directed by Ingmar Bergman. Starring Ake Gronberg, Harriett Andersson, Hasse Ekman and Anders Ek, with Gudrun Brost, Annika Tretow and Gunnar Bjornstrand, it has Swedish dialog with English subtitles.

To film connoisseurs, director Ingmar Bergman is one of the very few contemporary film makers who can be called an artist. Here is a searching intellect, preoccupied with the largest questions of good and evil; a master of film imagery;

Tollett To Head Group Backing School Program

A steering committee for a 150-member citizen's group for informing Big Spring Independent School District voters about the proposed school bond building program, was unanimously approved at Tuesday's trustee meeting.

R. L. Tollett was named chairman, and Clyde McMahon vice chairman of the steering committee. Other members are R. W. Whipkey, Joe Pickle, Mrs. Lindley, Winston Wrinkle, Mrs.

Dwight McCann, Mrs. R. E. Ray, John Currie, Harold Talbot, school board president; board members Wendal Parks, Mrs. Mary Joy Cowper, Bennett Brooke, Jack Haralson, James E. Felts, Joe A. Moss, and Suplt. Sam Anderson.

Equalization Board Named

A board of equalization was appointed by Big Spring school trustees Tuesday night at the request of Pritchard and Abbott, the district's valuation engineers, and its meeting date set June 24 at 9 a.m. A meeting place will be announced later.

At the same meeting the board set the percentage of valuation for the district at 60 percent, and the tax rate at $1.70 per $100 valuation. There was no change in either.

Members of the board of equalization, to handle oil and utility questions, are: Lawrence Robinson, J. D. Elliott, and W. J. (Bill) Sheppard.

Howard County, the City of Big Spring, and the Big Spring Independent School District, jointly use the services of Pritchard and Abbott as valuation engineers to insure equal valuations to all bodies on property. Each of the political subdivisions has a voice in equalization of the board of equalization.

Tollett, McMahon and Whipkey met briefly with the board and outlined suggestions for an effective committee and consented to give their time on the steering committee if the board was unanimous in its decision that the building program was vital to the future of Big Spring schools. The board authorized a letter to the committee, to be signed by each member, stating its unanimous support and agreement to provide all information of details to the public.

SEATO Sees Concern Over Viet Nam War

MANILA (AP) — The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization expressed "grave concern" today about continuing Communist aggression in South Viet Nam and agreed that members of the eight-nation alliance "should remain prepared if necessary to take further concrete steps" under the SEATO treaty.

The SEATO ministers agreed that the defeat of the Communist campaign "is essential not only to the security of the Republic of Viet Nam but to that of Southeast Asia."

"It will also be convincing proof that Communist expansion by such tactics will not be permitted."

France, which has proposed neutralization of Viet Nam and recognized Communist China, said that "under the present serious circumstances it was wise to abstain from any declaration."

The ministers set forth their views in a communique summing up their three-day 10th anniversary meeting.

They agreed that SEATO has had, and continues to have "a most important stabilizing influence in Southeast Asia."

The communique said the SEATO countries — The United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines—have continued over the past year "to enjoy peaceful progress and national security."

It added, however, that the Communist threat remains.

And There Was Ole Smokey

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, attending the opening Tuesday of a Food and Home Fair at the Department of Agriculture in Washington, was presented with a "Smokey" doll and took time to view a king-size version of the Forest Service's fire prevention symbol. Spacecraft Returns Raft Of Information On Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A spacecraft named Fire blazed back through the atmosphere faster than any previous space payload Tuesday night and radioed a wealth of information which could make manned trips to the moon safer.

The spacecraft, looking like a compact model of the Apollo moonship, rode an Atlas missile more than 500 miles into space. As it plummeted back toward earth, a 10-foot-long rocket fired and increased payload speed from about 15,000 to 25,166 miles an hour.

The speed was slightly higher than that of the Apollo craft is to attain in returning astronauts from the moon. It also was more than 7,000 miles an hour faster than the velocity recorded by any previous space vehicle re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

As the 200-pound payload made the meteoric dive, it radioed information on the heat that seared its blunt shield. A great shock wave built up in front of the payload and temperature of gases within the wave reached 200,000 degrees. An observer at the South Atlantic tracking station on Ascension Island described the spacecraft as a ball of fire.

Herbert A. Wilson, Project Fire manager for the space agency's Langley Research Center, told newsmen he was very pleased with initial data from the 32-minute flight. A tape recorder stored heat data during the peak period of re-entry when extreme temperatures cut off radio signals.

The recorder made a full report on stored data before the craft plunged into the ocean 5,200 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Tiny Nation Of Himalayas In Struggle

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — A power struggle appears under way in the little Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan, where Premier Jigme Dorji was assassinated April 5.

The arrest Monday of the deputy army commander, Gen. Chappa Namgyal Bahadur, in connection with Dorji's murder, was seen as part of a move by Bhutan's ruler, Maharaja Hwanchuk, to assert his authority.

ROME (AP)—Rome's coffee bars, restaurants, pastry and wine shops were closed today by a 24-hour strike protesting rising costs.

An association representing the bars and restaurants called the shutdown to pressure the government to do something about inflation.

LONDON (AP)—A West European Socialist study group accused the Soviet government today of "an unprecedented campaign against Judaism" that has led to closure of 75 per cent of the synagogues in seven years.

The committee said a year's study showed that Jews in the Soviet Union are subject to severe discrimination.

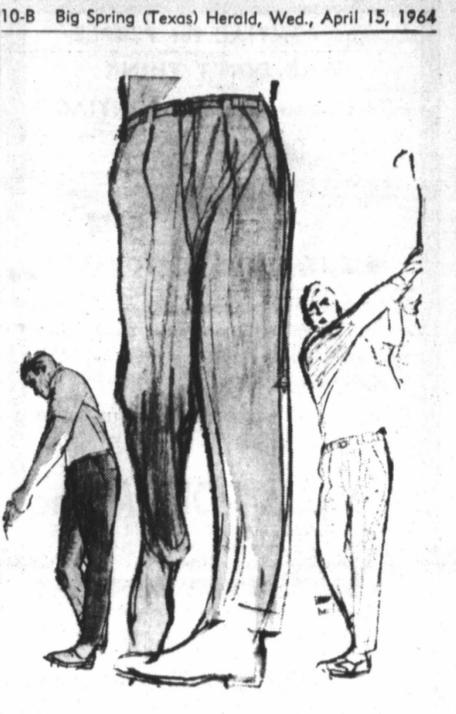

MOSCOW (AP) — Czechoslovak President Antonin Novotny has left for Moscow for what was billed as a "friendly visit" to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who marks his 70th birthday Friday.

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—The U.S. cable ship Long Lines arrived today to start laying a submarine cable linking Japan and the South Pacific island of Guam.

The work is a part of an $80-million project linking Japan and the United States. It is being jointly undertaken by Japan's International Telegraph & Telephone Co. and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The 5,950-mile cable will pass through Midway, Wake and the Hawaiian islands. The project is scheduled to be completed in time to open trans-pacific service around June 20.
