

PROTEST BARBERSHOP'S REFUSAL TO CUT NEGRO HAIR
Students of Drew University at Madison, N. J., man picket line

Native Southerners Aid Negro Barbershop Pickets

MADISON, N.J. (AP)—Native Southerners on the faculty of Drew University served as escorts for the Negro students who were turned back attempting to get haircuts at a Madison barber shop.

The Southerners, including the university chaplain, the Rev. James Sessions, said afterward that things might have been a bit more rugged had they done the same thing on their home ground.

Sessions was arrested with three Negro students in the barber shop and charged with disorderly conduct.

Prof. Lawrence A. Noble, originally from Mississippi, when asked how the barber shop demonstration compared with those down South, replied:

"It was a little mild." "We'll have to go back home and do this." Sessions suggested to Noble.

"Yes, with chain mail armor on," replied Noble. The other Drew faculty members who entered the barber shop with students were Prof. Charles Eastus of Virginia and John Godsey of Tennessee and instructor T. W. Lewis of Mississippi.

Earlier, before his arrest, Sessions reflected on the similarities and differences between his home state and this northern New Jersey community.

"This town is no different from Waco, Tex., where I come from," he said.

"But it's better in the South, because there everyone is wearing a black hat or a white hat and they're out in the street shooting it out.

"Here, everyone wears gray hats and they're all on the same side. It's bad taste to discriminate, but when you get an issue, just watch everyone take sides."

Escapee Gives Up In Kerrville

KERRVILLE (AP)—The second of two escapees from the Kerr County jail gave up Wednesday.

David Massey of Corpus Christi, held in a burglary investigation, and Denver J. Way Jr. of Snyder, held in a forgery case, used a crowbar to dig through the jail floor to freedom Friday.

Massey surrendered at the sheriff's office Wednesday. Accompanied by his father, Way surrendered Saturday.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠
A somewhat unsound use of the unusual no trump overall by East in today's hand served to guide South into the unorthodox line of play that was necessary to land his slam contract. This deal occurred at the Spring Nationals held in Portland, Ore., recently.

At most tables, North and South were content to settle for a game in spades and, when the trump finesse lost, declarer was held to 11 tricks. At one table, the bidding proceeded as depicted in the diagram and North and South reached an aggressive slam contract.

The North hand does not begin to qualify for a two over one response which announces at least 10 points. It barely qualifies for a raise to two spades since it is worth about seven points in support of that suit.

East's bid of two no trump is the conventional method for asking partner to bid his better minor suit. It could hardly be construed as a natural call in the face of forward going bids by both opponents. Altho East does have attractive distribution, his suits are not solid enough to support a contract at the three level particularly when the opposition is marked with most of the outstanding high card strength. It is somewhat akin to fighting tanks with a "peashooter."

South doubled two no trump and, when East retreated to three clubs, South cue bid that suit to show his strength and suggest an interest in bigger things. North should probably have rebid the hearts in order to slow his partner down. When he showed the spade support, South could not resist bidding a slam in spades.

West led the jack of clubs which was taken by South's ace. In light of the bidding, declarer knew that East was extremely short in the major suits. If he had a singleton spade, which seemed probable to South, then an unusual sequence of plays would be necessary.

The ace of spades was cashed at trick two, and declarer followed this by playing three rounds of hearts — discarding his losing club on the third round. East was out of hearts also, but he had no more trumps. The jack of spades was led from dummy and declarer underplayed from his hand. West won the trick, and shifted to a diamond, but South had the ace of that suit, and he reentered the North hand with the nine of trumps so that he could discard his diamonds on the high hearts.

Red China's 'Peace Corps' Invades Rebellious Province

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China has its "new frontier" and is dispatching its own breed of Peace Corpsmen to try to spread good will among restless, suspicious frontiersmen. The frontier is Sinkiang, the vast, remote and mineral rich province of northwest China, scene of a private cold war between Moscow and Peking. Sinkiang means "new frontier" or "new territory."

Having swallowed Sinkiang after conquering the mainland in 1949, the Chinese Communists now are trying to digest it. Intelligence sources and white Russian refugees from Sinkiang agree that assimilation will be difficult.

TURKISH RACE
Ten years ago, 80 per cent of Sinkiang's population was made up of Turkish-speaking Uighurs, a fiercely independent people. A small minority are Mongols, like the Uighurs-haters of Chinese rule.

Then there are the Kazakhs, blood brothers of the Kazakhs across the border in the Soviet Union. The Kazakhs and the Uighurs, both Moslem, fled into the Soviet Union in 1962. Others rioted against Chinese officials in Kulджа when Peking tried to check the flow. Many Moslems were killed or wounded.

It was then, say white Russian refugees, that what they call "members of the Chinese Peace Corps" appeared in Sinkiang. They were young, dedicated Communists who replaced unpopular party officials.

COURTEOUS
These young Communist officials, the refugees say, were extremely courteous and generally went out of their way to help minority people.

Food rations in the border region around Kulджа were increased. One white Russian refugee from Dulджа says: "We felt the pressure was off almost immediately after the riots."

Despite all Chinese efforts to pacify the minority people, tribal resentment has been kept alive—by what white-Russian refugees described as highly inflammatory Soviet propaganda broadcasts from the Russian side of the border. The broadcasts assure the minority people in Sinkiang that some day they will be free from Chinese Communist rule.

Since 1962, there have been no serious outbreaks in Sinkiang, refugees and intelligence reports agree.

Most of the local people in Sinkiang, according to refugee reports, merely feel present living conditions are more tolerable than before. Since their escape routes to the Soviet Union have been cut off, they have to resign themselves to the status quo.

Peking is not content simply to pacify the region. It has long-term plans to assimilate the minority people with mass migration of Chinese from coastal areas.

The population in Sinkiang is estimated at 7 million, about 2.5 million more than in 1954.

More than 2 million, according to a conservative report, are Chinese from China proper. In addition to the migration, Peking retired 200,000 former troops in the border area to run state farms, mainly producing high quality cotton. These retired troops, say intelligence sources, also carry out security work.

WAR LORDS
After the Chinese Nationalists overthrew the Manchu dynasty in 1912, Sinkiang was ruled by war lords. Under them, the province went through a series of violent uprisings against the Chinese.

Finally, with Soviet support, one of the war lords established order in Sinkiang. But he continued to rule the vast and rich land as a near independent state.

The Chinese Nationalist government dispatched a high-ranking official to Sinkiang in 1944 to replace the war lord but the Chinese control was only nominal.

TOURISTS SWARM PAST GEORGETOWN HOME

Jackie Resumes Old Life, Radiant Smile

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is late spring now and the tourists are coming in increasing numbers for a look at the stately Georgetown home of Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Police try to keep the traffic moving, but the narrow street is almost always congested day and night.

In the nearly six months since the assassination of President Kennedy, his 34-year-old widow has retained some of the formal trappings of mourning, but has begun to resume her old life.

She looks her old radiant self when seen in public. Her smile is there again, the photogenic one that looked out from so many happy pictures in White House days.

DINING OUT

Friends say Mrs. Kennedy is fine. She has been dining out with friends, has taken skiing and Caribbean vacations and even enjoyed an afternoon at the circus with her children.

She also took her daughter Caroline to the New York World's Fair in the first week it was open. They had a grand time and Mrs. Kennedy said she would be back again.

Mrs. Kennedy has been devoting her time mainly to Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, and to memorials for her husband. She has been spending frequent weekends at the Virginia hunting retreat she lovingly planned for her family. She has much of the privacy she yearned for. Her travels are unannounced, she frequently goes unrecognized. On one recent trip, she went unreported for four days in New York City.

But, the former first lady can never be just a private citizen. There is still the admiring and adoring public eager to know anything of Mrs. Kennedy's doings.

SIX CARS

Police have posted "Emergency No Parking Anytime" signs to keep space for six cars in front of Mrs. Kennedy's house.

Many limousines drive up there. It has become something of a protocol for famous women to call on the young widow. The visitors have included the wife of Italy's President Antonio Segni, Queen Frederika of Greece, and the wife of Britain's prime minister, Lady Douglas-Home.

Perhaps the most frequent caller is Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, 38-year-old brother of the president, who pops in many an afternoon when he thinks Mrs. Kennedy's spirits may need bolstering.

He and Mrs. Kennedy's 30-year-old sister, Lee Radziwill of London, have been constant companions of Mrs. Kennedy since the tragedy.

EVERY DAY

Dave Powers, a friend and assistant to Kennedy, still turns

JACQUELINE KENNEDY ... tourist flow grows up every day to lunch with John Jr. Powers comes at just the time he used to join President Kennedy for a mid-day swim in the White House pool. John's still too little for school, but Caroline continues in her first grade class at a private school at the British Embassy.

Mrs. Kennedy's first major decision after she left the White House was to find a permanent home. In the only private interview she gave after the assassination, she said: "I'm going to live in the places I lived with Jack—in Georgetown and with the Kennedys at the Cape. They're my family."

In early December, Mrs. Kennedy purchased a 170-year-old federal-style, three-story brick house on "N" Street in Georgetown, the same street where she and Kennedy lived when he was a senator. She moved in on Feb. 1.

TO GRAVE

Mrs. Kennedy still makes frequent visits to her husband's grave in Arlington National Cemetery. She also has met frequently with the architect, John Warneke, whom she has asked to design a permanent memorial at the grave.

Mrs. Kennedy picked St. Patrick's Day for a massive mailing to acknowledge messages of sympathy received after her husband's death. She dispatched 900,000 black-bordered prayer cards and letters in envelopes bearing her black-ink "Jacqueline Kennedy" franking signature instead of stamps. Congress voted her free use of the mails for life, plus an office and $50,000 for secretarial help for a year and Secret Service protection for two years.

Hundreds of letters continue to come to Mrs. Kennedy daily. Dozens of nations have invited her to visit. But so far she has accepted none of the offers. She did accept the gift of a palace in Morocco from the king, whom she had met on vacation there last fall.

LIBRARY

Mrs. Kennedy's major efforts have been in behalf of the Kennedy Memorial Library to be built on the campus of Harvard University. She has been working to help raise $8 million to build the library, has met with architects and designers and has joined with the Kennedy family in working out details of the library.

There are bound to be "low days" but Attorney General Kennedy said in March: "She's fine, really, and making an adjustment and doing it well. She spends most all her time with her children now, and I think she's making a good deal of progress."

Mrs. Kennedy has no money worries. The late president was reported to have had holdings amounting to some $10 million. His will provided that one-half of the estate be held in trust for Mrs. Kennedy, and the other half go into a trust for the children.

Congress also has provided a $10,000 dollar-a-year pension.

Besides the Georgetown home, Mrs. Kennedy also has the white-clapboard cottage at Hyannis Port, Mass.

RHODE ISLAND

She plans to occupy the cottage this summer and also to use the 22-acre estate adjoining her mother's farm in Newport, R.I.

The only home Mrs. Kennedy had of her own during her 10 years of marriage was the one built in 1963 at Rattlesnake Mountain in Atoka, Va., 45 miles from Washington.

at several fashionable restaurants around town with small parties, usually dining late. One night, with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in her party at the Rive Gauche, she gave an autograph to the chef and told him she liked his French cuisine.

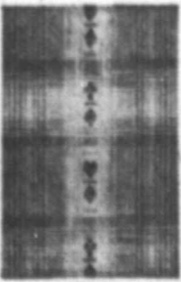

The first real housewarming came Feb. 26, when President and Mrs. Johnson and most of the cabinet called on Mrs. Kennedy after the historic signing of the tax bill President Kennedy had pushed.

John Glenn Slowly Regaining Health

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — He walks slowly and uncertainly now, leaning stiffly from the hips like an old man after surgery, hands reaching for the nearest table top or chair, moving cautiously, making slow, awkward turns, as if his head were locked to his shoulders, this man whose body never failed him on a football field or in a war plane or a space capsule.

It is, we are told, a temporary condition which is improving and will disappear in time but remembering who he is and where he has been, it is a moving sight to behold, even temporarily.

He has his moments of depression when he surveys the sudden wreckage of plans; of impatience with a body he can't count on now, this man who had seemed the eternal optimist.

TEMPTATION
But, while he is aware that people feel sorry for him, John Glenn, ex-astronaut, ex-candidate for the U.S. Senate, himself resists that temptation to slide into a bath of self pity because of his ironic accident. "I'll be all right," he says. "Like the man said, your outlook on life can be determined by the way you look at a glass of water. Is it half empty or half full? I have to regard it as half full and tell myself it will be completely full one of these days."

One of these days is late summer or fall when Glenn hopes to be completely recovered from the bathroom accident which gave him a brain concussion, knocked him out of politics on the eve of his first campaign, and left him in debt and his plans completely uncertain, on earth or in space. Will he one day try politics again or return to the space program?

TURN HEAD
"All I'm thinking about now is being able to turn my head a few more inches without getting nauseous and dizzy," said Glenn, who flew around the earth in 90 minutes, the first American to orbit the globe. "The whole thing is completely incongruous. I had never

Fire Chief To Inspect Two New Diesel Trucks

The Texas Fire Insurance Commission has authorized Big Spring Fire Chief H. V. Crocker to conduct the acceptance inspections of two new diesel fire trucks being acquired by the city.

The first unit arrived last week and the second truck is due tonight. Crocker said he will inspect the first truck Friday afternoon and the second pumper Saturday morning.

Representatives of the Mack Company were expected this afternoon. Larry Crow, city manager, said they will supervise unloading of the second truck and do what they can "to see that the trucks pass the test satisfactorily." Dan Lake, employee of the firm, was here last week to supervise unloading of the first diesel unit.

If everything goes according to schedule, Crocker said, the fire department will be ready to open both new fire stations—

Rattlesnakes Loosed Near City's Schools

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)—Residents of this lower Rio Grande Valley town were jittery today at the thought of 10 to 20 hungry rattlesnakes wandering near schools in town.

An estimated 25 to 35 of the reptiles were released from a box Wednesday — apparently as a joke — and only 15 were killed in a massive snake hunt which lasted until 1 a.m. and was resumed at dawn.

Roger Miller, an Edinburg mechanic, was collecting the snakes to sell to a Laredo firm which pays 75 cents a pound. Miller kept the snakes in a wood box placed in an old car body. He discovered when he returned from work Wednesday someone had pried the top off the box. The snakes had escaped out a window of the car he left cracked for ventilation.

"One was crawling out the window, and another was wrapped around the headlight when I came out," he said. "I killed them, but the rest of them were gone."

Police, volunteer firemen and area residents joined the hunt. By 10 p.m., more than 150 persons were searching, with flashlights, guns, sticks and two-way radios.

Police Chief Leroy Easton expressed concern for students. Miller's home is across the street from Pan American College, and is near two public schools.

Old Copters Withdrawn

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has virtually completed withdrawal of creaky, old "flying banana" helicopters from South Viet Nam and has replaced them with new turbine powered choppers.

Informed sources told The Associated Press today that the last of the old and combat-battered CH21 helicopters, called flying bananas because of their shape, should be out of Viet Nam within 60 days.

The changeover has been in progress quietly for months and more than 100 of the UH-1 turbine engine helicopters already are in South Viet Nam.

It was understood that the old choppers no longer were being flown on combat missions.

Pentagon sources said the more dependable, more maneuverable UH-1 machines have been shipped to South Viet Nam brand new and that a significant portion of the Army's helicopter buy is earmarked for that war.

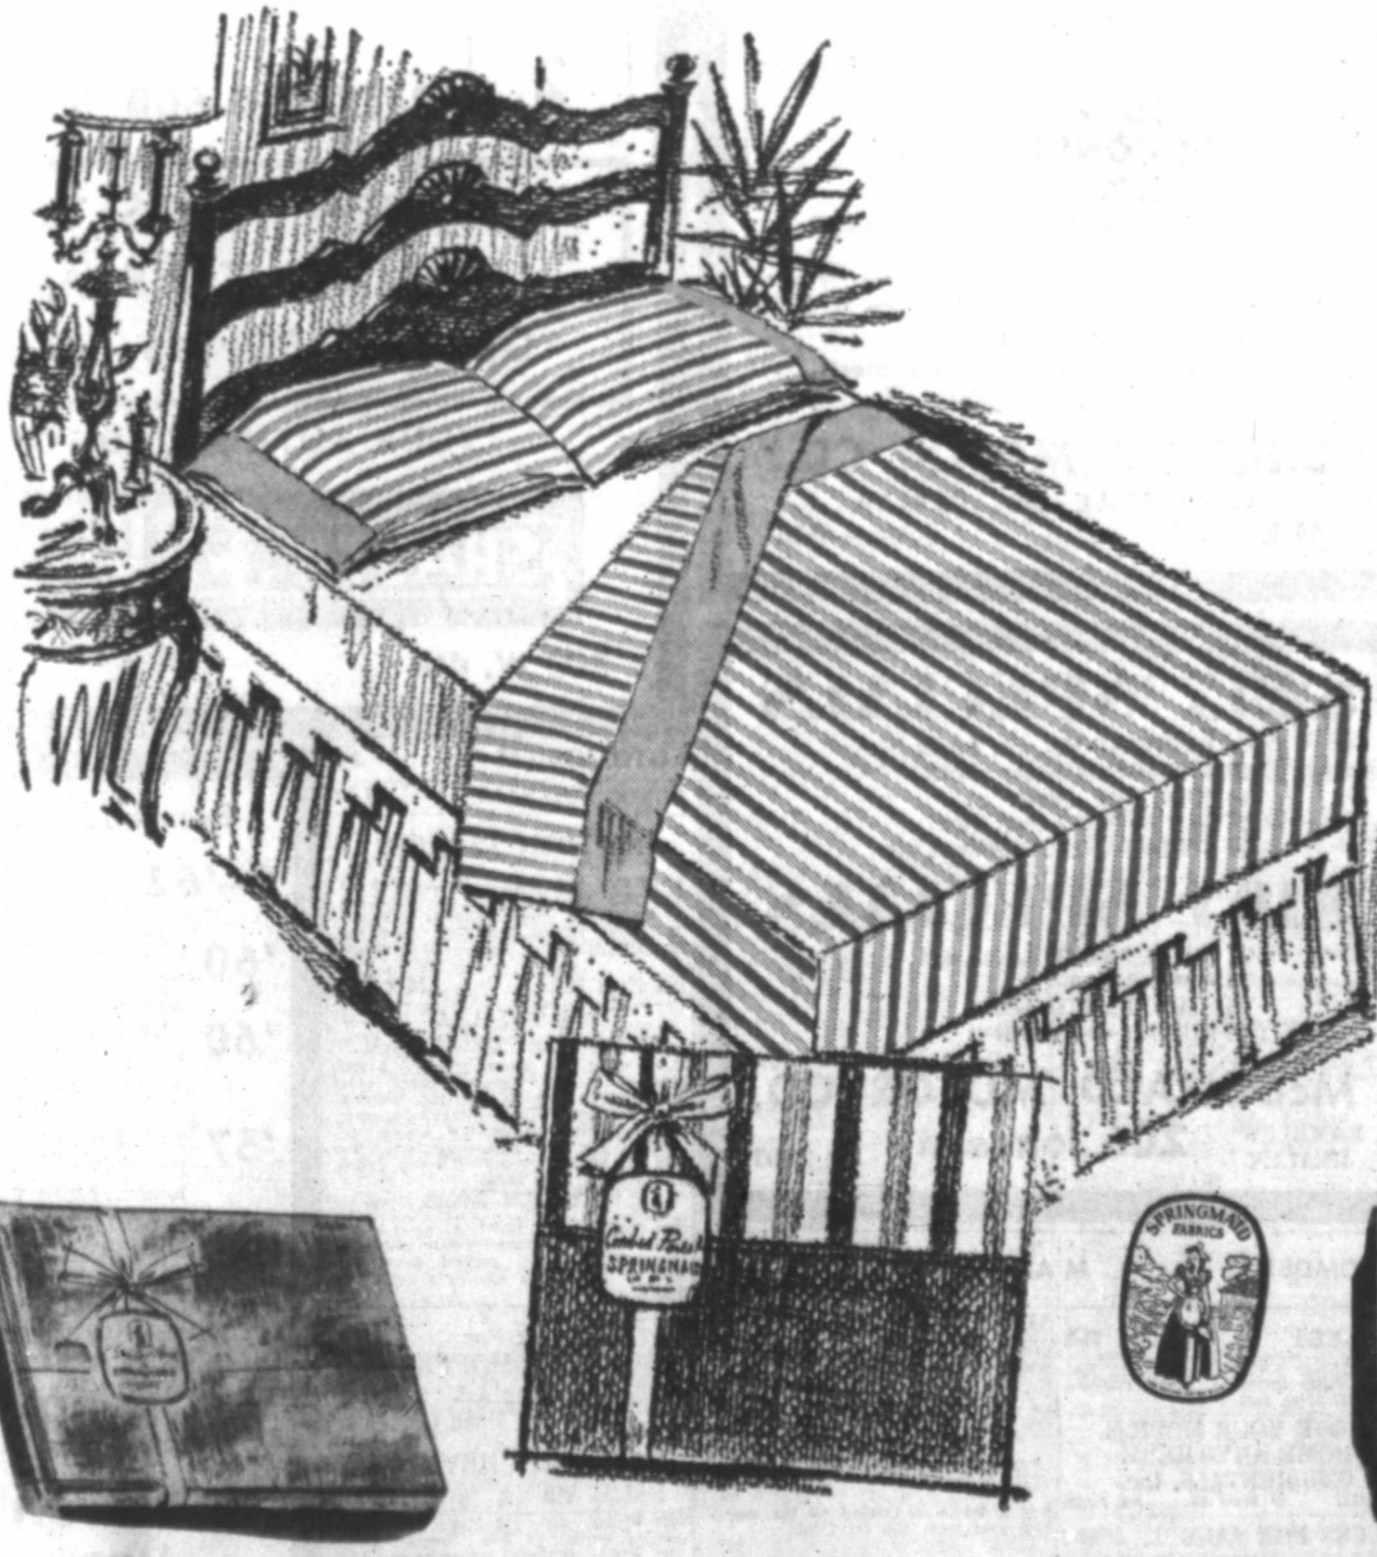

This information became available as controversy swirled about the Pentagon Congressional critics contend obsolete equipment is being used by U.S. forces supporting the South Vietnamese in their war against the Communist guerrillas.

Alaskans Rising From Great Quake Disaster

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Alaska is rising from the death and destruction of her Good Friday disaster, North America's greatest earthquake.

There are no miracles—only the resolute will of the Alaskan people, their faith in the future, and generous support from fellow Americans.

It is taking time, money and hard work.

The people of this state, a pioneering breed familiar with the challenges of a frontier, have bent to the task.

Much of the clean-up has been accomplished.

RELOCATE

Shattered cities are deeply involved in plans to rebuild and even relocate.

Many businessmen have patched up their shops or moved to new quarters.

Repairs are being rushed on the lifeline transportation network of ports, highways and the government-owned Alaska Railroad, which link the cities and towns of the south-central Alaska heartland.

Yet the marks of the earthquake and seismic waves remain plainly visible, despite the clean-up and repair.

The two battered skyscrapers, the bulk of the J. C. Penney department store, the sunken 4th Avenue area — all can still be seen at Anchorage, the state's largest city.

Down the Kenai Peninsula, the Seward waterfront remains cluttered with twisted track, scattered railroad engines and blackened oil storage tanks—the only remains of a once-thriving railport industrial center.

organizations, sister cities, labor unions, churches and businessmen in other states.

But many Alaskan officials, bankers and businessmen say they will need a great deal more from the federal government, particularly for hard-pressed private businesses and homeowners.

The $50-million bond issue voted by the legislature, says Gov. William A. Egan, is the most this state of 228,000 population can afford.

REVENUE LOSS

Egan says he hopes Congress will provide the state with enough budget support to meet anticipated revenue loss and emergency spending caused by the quake.

But the key to future recovery progress, he says, is change in existing law to permit federal agencies to deal adequately with a disaster of the magnitude of the Alaskan experience.

Existing uncertainties fall heavily on homeowners whose houses were destroyed or heavily damaged. For some, life savings are at stake. How can they afford a double mortgage—one for a new home and the other on the house that was destroyed?

Businessmen express concern about surviving their setbacks. Low-interest federal disaster loans will help some of them. Federal tax writeoffs also will soften the impact.

TESTIMONY

And throughout the disaster area, damaged or destroyed buildings still offer mute testimony to the terrible force of nature.

The damage estimated from the March 27 catastrophe continues at $750 billion, a sizeable portion of the $1.2 billion value of private property in the state. The official Alaska death count has been put at 115.

There has been little actual reconstruction so far — nearly six weeks after the disaster.

It takes time to plan for the rebuilding of cities, even when, as in Alaska now, the planners have been doing months of work in weeks.

Even if the plans were completed and the money available, which is not the case, there would be other obstacles to any immediate start on the Alaskan reconstruction.

The short Alaska construction season does not begin until after the spring thaw this month.

Cities like Anchorage, Seward and Valdez also must await the results of soil tests to determine what can be built, if anything, in areas where geologists have warned of landslide hazards.

Major rebuilding is being held up in Anchorage until the land has thawed and settled. The city fears the thaw may trigger more slides, upset foundations and cause additional damage.

DELAY PLANS

Bankers report that many of them also are delaying construction plans until they know how much other aid will come from the federal government.

The Army Corps of Engineers is well under way on the restoration of public facilities, a job it says will cost $92 million.

Water, electricity and other utilities have been restored in most of the disaster area through temporary repairs. Water pipes and even hoses have been placed above ground in many places.

In heavily damaged Valdez, where the utility system was severely ruptured, much of the city is still without water and electricity.

FEDERAL AID

Finally, Alaskans are waiting to see what aid they can expect from the federal government.

This is still the biggest uncertainty, the type and extent of assistance to come from Uncle Sam — the benevolent patron who controlled Alaska until statehood in 1959 and continues to play a dominant role in her development.

The Congress, acting in almost unprecedented speed after the earthquake, voted $50 million in disaster relief to help repair the utilities, roads and other public facilities.

The Alaska Legislature provided a $50-million bond issue. Other aid has come from the military, scores of state and federal agencies, private relief

SPANISH COINS RECOVERED ON PADRE ISLAND
Treasure found, cleaned by new breed of amateur hunters

Lawman Hunts Lost Spanish Silver Hoard

By The Associated Press
Outlaw loot and hidden money of the pioneers are just too modern for one Texas treasure hunter, Mike Callahan.

Callahan, a deputy constable in Dallas County, prefers the legends of lost Spanish wealth in the state and has spent much of his time tracking down some of these stories.

He finally gave up last summer on one treasure hunt that had kept him busy for two years. He was looking for Jim Bowie's San Saba silver and finally came to believe the treasure doesn't exist.

SINK SHAFTS
He leased a large section of the San Saba area and, on weekends, used core-drilling equipment to sink shafts in an attempt to find traces of the legendary silver.

As a result of core drilling and extensive searching there, Callahan believes San Saba actually was used as a storage place and smelting area by the Spanish for gold and silver.

"But, I don't think ore was ever mined there," he says. He said ore probably was shipped to San Saba from mining sites in Texas and New Mexico.

MINE SITES
During his years of treasure hunting, Callahan has found many of these old Spanish mine sites, many near Dallas, and believes that some of the ore from them was sent to San Saba.

On one site near Dallas, he found deep ruts made by cart wheels, the old smelting areas and the sealed-off mine shafts.

With core drilling and heavy equipment that Callahan uses, people could mistake him for a Texas oilman rather than a Texas lawman.

Sister Dies
Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Ooley, 701 Edwards Blvd., left early Wednesday morning for Fargo, Okla., after learning of the death of Mrs. Ooley's sister there. Services are pending.

NOT THE SAME
Things are not what they used to be.

The British no longer share their political or military secrets with all their partners—some of whom gaze with fascination toward Russia or Red China. There is an inner circle of the older members. There is a disdain for fellow members who have chosen one-party systems of rule.

British Commonwealth Takes On New Viewpoint

LONDON (AP)—Like the old woman who lived in a shoe, Britain has so many Commonwealth children she doesn't know what to do.

There's a tribe of 16, of which 13 have been born since the war. Two more are on the way this year.

The British Commonwealth is a family of nations straddling five continents and taking in 700 million people. If it carries on the way it's been going, critics say, it will become a memory.

It accommodates everyone from Australians to Zanzibaris but it no longer can afford to boast that its strength lies in diversity. The British are facing the reality that something more than a paradox is needed to refurbish old faiths and allay new fears.

LONG LOOK
Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home is arranging a meeting for early July to take a long, cool look at the affairs of the family and to try to modernize some of its institutions to fit today's needs and moods.

His hopes of performing a Commonwealth rescue act are imperiled by a brewing storm. Southern Rhodesia, a self-governing colony where 225,000 whites rule 3.7 million Africans, wants statehood now and with other agencies; the trading and sterling money network; the English language and the Democratic heritage that sometimes is shelved by newcomers, and the celebrity symbol in the figure of Queen Elizabeth. Britain stands at the center of these components.

MANY THINGS
The Commonwealth is many things to many men. Pragmatic Asians, for instance, see it as a grouping of nations that exchange trading preference and share a global monetary system. Prime Minister Milton Obote of Uganda once offered a loftier view:

"South Africa was expelled for reasons other than trade." India's Jawaharlal Nehru has put it like this:

"Membership of the Commonwealth is independence plus."

It is a social, political and economic system consisting of many human links. These include the blood bonds of the older, white member-states like Australia, New Zealand, Canada; the shared memories of the British and their Asian partners; the maze of help-each-

Enjoys Children Visits At 112

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP)—A Roswell hospital patient who says he is 112 years old numbers among his visitors the youngest of his 22 children, Bobby Coronado, 10.

Jesus Coronado, recovering from abdominal surgery, says he was born Christmas Day 1851 in Corpus Christi, Tex. He said he lost his birth certificate in a fire several years ago. Coronado said he had been married three times. He and his present wife, Eudelia, were married in 1930 when she was

15. They have had 17 children. Two are dead. His physician says Coronado is in better health than most persons at age 60. Until he went to the hospital last week, Coronado worked two or three days a week as a gardener.

Hostesses with Mrs. Watson were Mrs. Marshall Box, Mrs. Bill Adams and Miss Moveida Rhine. The purpose of the coffee was two-fold; to entertain

Mrs. Knox Talks On John Wesley

Mrs. John Knox presented a program on John Wesley at the Tuesday meeting of the Reba Thomas Circle of the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Seth Lacey, San Angelo Highway, was hostess.

Mrs. Lige Fox worded the opening prayer and Mrs. Edward Shive presided. The devotion was given by Mrs. Roy Rosene. The nominating chairman, Mrs. O. G. Hughes, presented the new officer slate to 14 members.

The next meeting will be in the Rosene home at 1309 Sycamore May 28.

Piano Recital Set By Mrs. Jarratt

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt will present her students in a piano recital Friday at 8 p.m. at Howard County Junior College. Students who will participate are Kathryn and Kelly Carlisle, Marilyn Clark, Freddy Franklin, Cindy and Deborah Gressett, Kenny Grisham, Carlene Hammack, Janice Maiors, Theresa Maiors, Margie Overman, Jo Beth Pettus, Teresa Spears and Lila Williams.

Graduate Honored During Luncheon

Bettye Conger, spring graduate of Forsan High School, was honored Saturday with a luncheon at Holiday Inn.

The table featured a May basket filled with roses, Dutch irises and candytuft. It was tied with black and white satin streamers.

Officers Elected By Altar Society

New officers were named by the Immaculate Heart of Mary Altar Society Tuesday evening at a meeting held in Parish Hall. Mrs. Rex Bishop, presiding officer at the session, was named as incoming president.

Other officers are Mrs. Y. C. Gray, vice president; Mrs. Bill Sneed, secretary; and Mrs. C. C. Choate, treasurer. They will be installed May 28th at 7 p.m. at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. Truett Newell is in charge of reservations.

DATE BOOK

The Junior Women's Forum will install officers at a dinner meeting in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club at 7 p.m. this evening.

Workshop Conducted By Talkers

A workshop was conducted by Mrs. W. R. Brown at the Tuesday meeting of the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club held in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Brown conducted the program on the goals for the year, and Mrs. Larson Lloyd gave a speech demonstration. She is Council Seven representative for the regional speech contest to be held in Enid, Okla., and will leave May 28 for the event. The club voted to augment the council funds prorated for the contestant's trip.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Hank McDaniel, Mrs. Dick Wilson and Mrs. Brown was selected to present the officer slate at the May 26 meeting. Mrs. Thomas Seebo was valuator for the meeting.

Mrs. Polk Gives Talk

Mrs. Robert Polk reviewed the first two chapters of the new mission study book, "Spiritual Life Development," at the Tuesday meeting of the Anne Dwyer Circle of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Welby Jackson, 2502 Lynn, was hostess, and Mrs. Richard Grimes read the prayer calendar and the prayer for missionaries.

The Girls Auxiliary, sponsored by the circle, will present the June 16 program. It was reported that only one meeting will be held in July and one in August. The Royal Service program in September will be presented by the circle.

Mrs. Grimes will be hostess at her home at 600 Linda Lane May 19.

Methodist Group Sets Study Plans

WESTBROOK (SC). — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Monday afternoon for a business meeting. Mrs. LeRoy Gressett brought the devotion. Plans were made for the study of a mission book, "The Christian Mission in Southern Asia," for May 18. Six members attended.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL SETS MEETING AT COSDEN CLUB

A luncheon meeting will be held by Panhellenic Council at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday at 1 p.m. All women eligible for membership are urged to attend. Reservations must be made by noon Friday with Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, president, AM 4-6923. Officers will be named for the coming year and plans formulated for an information clinic for graduates who will be attending colleges and universities in the fall.

The Xi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held an Exemplar ritual Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Joe Horton, 3300 Cornell, where Mrs. Daryl Highley served as hostess.

Mrs. Horace Rankin conducted the ritual for Mrs. Jim Newson and Mrs. Edward Seay.

Mrs. S. R. Nobles Fetes Sewing Club

Mrs. S. R. Nobles entertained 10 members of the Sew and Chatter Club at her home at 405 Washington Blvd., Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served at a table centered with an arrangement of roses.

Refreshments were served from a white linen covered table which was centered with an all-green arrangement. China and silver appointments were used.

Receive Sears Award

Leon Hand, local store manager for Sears, Roebuck and Co., presents a check for $150 to Mrs. Glenn Leppard, retiring president of the Four O'Clock Garden Club and Mrs. Guy Cook, the new president. The club won the cash award on basis of reports concerning their project at Hillcrest Park.

Gardeners Get Sears Award

New officers were installed and a Sears Award accepted Wednesday afternoon when thirteen members of the Four O'Clock Garden Club and two guests met for a salad luncheon in the home of Mrs. Glenn Leppard, Sand Springs.

Mrs. D. S. Riley, of the Big Spring Garden Club, installed the new officers, whose duties in the garden club were compared to the care of a formal garden. The exercising of the vote of the delegate to the Big Spring Garden Club Council, Mrs. Leppard said, was likened to necessary pruning.

The Four O'Clock Garden Club submitted a winning scrapbook on their Hillcrest Park Project, located off Elgin St. Leon Hand, representing Sears, presented the club with a check for a tie for third place. The money will be used to buy needed plants for the park at the proper time. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. B. C. Swindell had received a certificate of the award at the State Convention of Texas Garden Clubs held in Austin last month.

Mrs. Edward Squillante was welcomed into the club as a new member. Mrs. Swindell was named chairman of the club's fall flower show, to be held in the home of Mrs. Leppard. An executive meeting was announced for May 21 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Cook, 3006 E. 21st. The next regular meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Swindell, 1012 E. 21st, June 10.

Lawman Hunts Lost Spanish Silver Hoard

By The Associated Press

Outlaw loot and hidden money of the pioneers are just too modern for one Texas treasure hunter, Mike Callahan.

Callahan, a deputy constable in Dallas County, prefers the legends of lost Spanish wealth in the state and has spent much of his time tracking down some of these stories.

He finally gave up last summer on one treasure hunt that had kept him busy for two years. He was looking for Jim Bowler's San Saba silver and finally came to believe the treasure doesn't exist.

SINK SHAFTS
He leased a large section of the San Saba area and, on weekends, used core drilling equipment to sink shafts in an attempt to find traces of the legendary silver.

As a result of core drilling and extensive searching there, Callahan believes San Saba actually was used as a storage place and smelting area by the Spanish for gold and silver.

"But, I don't think ore was ever mined there," he says. He said ore probably was shipped to San Saba from mining sites in Texas and New Mexico.

MINE SITES
During his years of treasure hunting, Callahan has found many of these old Spanish mine sites, many near Dallas, and believes that some of the ore from them was sent to San Saba.

On one site near Dallas, he found deep ruts made by cart wheels, the old smelting areas and the sealed-off mine shafts.

With core drilling and heavy equipment that Callahan uses, people could mistake him for a Texas oilman rather than a Texas lawman.

Sponsor Coffee

Business department teachers at HCJC who sponsored a coffee Wednesday morning which was held by the college students are shown at the refreshment table. They are Mrs. Bill Adams, Mrs. Marshall Box, Mrs. Chris Watson and Miss Movelda Rhine.

College Students Give Complimentary Coffee

The business teachers of Howard County Junior College sponsored a coffee Wednesday from 9:45 to 11:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Chris Watson, 2906 McAuslan. Guests were business students at the college.

Hostesses with Mrs. Watson were Mrs. Marshall Box, Mrs. Bill Adams and Miss Movelda Rhine. The purpose of the coffee was two-fold; to entertain the students and further their education in the social graces.

Student hosts and hostesses were members of the house party, and those receiving guests with Mrs. Watson were Kenneth Eubanks, Lynch Hightower, Mike Mayo, Sue Evans, Margaret Gary, Wilton Bradberry, Richard Henderson and Perry Lee Dailey.

Those who poured were Gail Stone, Cynthia Vaughn, Linda Craig and Mrs. Bobby Evans. Presiding at the refreshment table were Judy Echols, Lorna Ferguson and Marie Neece.

Guests were registered by Peggy Greenfield, Mrs. Charles Smith, and Ann Campbell.

Others who served in the houseparty were Kay Pesceck, Judy Conway, Wanda Anderson, Martha Bales, Glenna Smith, Carol Phillippe, Bessie Coats, Jacqueline Dimmock, Sandra Norris, Judy Lyster, Gail Watson, Mrs. Johnny Crocker, Weldon Martin and Annie Wilson.

Also, Annette Lebcowitz.

Mrs. Knox Talks On John Wesley

Mrs. John Knox presented a program on John Wesley at the Tuesday meeting of the Reba Thomas Circle of the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Seth Lacey, San Angelo Highway, was hostess.

Mrs. Lige Fox worded the opening prayer and Mrs. Edward Shive presided. The devotion was given by Mrs. Roy Rose. The nominating chairman, Mrs. O. G. Hughes, presented the new officer slate to 14 members.

The next meeting will be in the Rose home at 1309 Sycamore May 26.

Piano Recital Set By Mrs. Jarratt

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt will present her students in a piano recital Friday at 8 p.m. at Howard County Junior College. Students who will participate are Kathryn and Kelly Carlie, Marilyn Clark, Freddy Franklin, Cindy and Deborah Gressett, Kenny Grisham, Carlene Hamack, Janice Majors, Theresa Majors, Margie Overman, Jo Beth Peltus, Teresa Spears and Lila Williams.

Graduate Honored During Luncheon

Betty Conger, spring graduate of Forsan High School, was honored Saturday with a luncheon at Holiday Inn.

The table featured a May basket filled with roses, Dutch irises and candytuft. It was tied with black and white satin streamers.

Twelve guests attended, including the honoree's mother, Mrs. Bill Conger.

Officers Elected By Altar Society

New officers were named by the Immaculate Heart of Mary Altar Society Tuesday evening at a meeting held in Parish Hall. Mrs. Rex Bishop, presiding officer at the session, was named as incoming president.

Other officers are Mrs. Y. C. Gray, vice president; Mrs. Bill Sneed, secretary; and Mrs. C. C. Choate, treasurer. They will be installed May 26th at 7 p.m. at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Truett Newell is in charge of reservations.

The Rev. Francis Beazley worded the opening and closing prayers. The group made plans to purchase new draperies for the sanctuary with Mrs. Jack Engel serving as chairman.

DATE BOOK

The Junior Women's Forum will install officers of a dinner meeting in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club at 7 p.m. this evening.

Workshop Conducted By Talkers

A workshop was conducted by Mrs. W. R. Brown at the Tuesday meeting of the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club held in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Brown conducted the program on the goals for the year, and Mrs. Larson Lloyd gave a speech demonstration. She is Council Seven representative for the regional speech contest to be held in Enid, Okla., and will leave May 28 for the event. The club voted to augment the council funds prorated for the contestant's trip.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Hank McDaniel, Mrs. Dick Wilson and Mrs. Brown was selected to present the officer slate at the May 26 meeting. Mrs. Thomas Seebo was valuator for the meeting.

Mrs. Polk Gives Talk

Mrs. Robert Polk reviewed the first two chapters of the new mission study book, "Spiritual Life Development," at the Tuesday meeting of the Anne Dwyer Circle of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Welby Jackson, 2502 Lynn, was hostess, and Mrs. Richard Grimes read the prayer calendar and the prayer for missionaries.

The Girls Auxiliary, sponsored by the circle, will present the June 16 program. It was reported that only one meeting will be held in July and one in August. The Royal Service program in September will be presented by the circle.

Mrs. Grimes will be hostess at her home at 600 Linda Lane May 19.

Methodist Group Sets Study Plans

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met Monday afternoon for a business meeting. Mrs. LeRoy Gressett brought the devotion. Plans were made for the study of a mission book, "The Christian Mission in Southern Asia," for May 18. Six members attended.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL SETS MEETING AT COSDEN CLUB

A luncheon meeting will be held by Panhellenic Council at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday at 1 p.m. All women eligible for membership are urged to attend. Reservations must be made by noon Friday with Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, president, AM 4-6923. Officers will be named for the coming year and plans formulated for an information clinic for graduates who will be attending colleges and universities in the fall.

Exemplar Ritual Held By Xi Mu Members

The Xi Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held an Exemplar ritual Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Joe Horton, 3300 Cornell, where Mrs. Daryl Highley served as hostess.

Mrs. Horace Rankin conducted the ritual for Mrs. Jim Newsum and Mrs. Edward Seay.

Officers for the fall term were installed by Mrs. Rayford Gillihan. They were Mrs. Rankin, president; Mrs. Jerry Spence, vice president; Mrs. Horton, recording secretary; Mrs. Waymon Clark, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Robert Blassingame, treasurer.

The new president presided as a dinner was planned for Friday evening to entertain husbands of the group. Mrs. J. R. Redden Jr., 2704 Lynn, will be hostess at that time.

The city council report was given by Mrs. Gillihan and Mrs. Bandle, 1903 Mittel, named hostess for May 26.

Refreshments were served from a white linen covered table which was centered with an all-green arrangement. China and silver appointments were used.

Mrs. S. R. Nobles Fetes Sewing Club

Mrs. S. R. Nobles entertained 10 members of the Sew and Chatter Club at her home at 405 Washington Blvd., Wednesday afternoon. Refreshments were served at a table centered with an arrangement of roses.

Receive Sears Award

Leon Hand, local store manager for Sears, Roebuck and Co., presents a check for $150 to Mrs. Glenn Leppard, retiring president of the Four O'Clock Garden Club and Mrs. Guy Cook, the new president. The club won the cash award on basis of reports concerning their project at Hillcrest Park.

Gardeners Get Sears Award

New officers were installed and a Sears Award accepted Wednesday afternoon when thirteen members of the Four O'Clock Garden Club and two guests met for a salad luncheon in the home of Mrs. Glenn Leppard, Sand Springs.

Mrs. D. S. Riley, of the Big Spring Garden Club, installed the new officers, whose duties in the garden club were compared to the care of a formal garden. The exercising of the vote of the delegate to the Big Spring Garden Club Council, Mrs. Leppard said, was likened to necessary pruning. As treasurer, Mrs. Eddie Kohanek is to plan the spending wisely; and Mrs. Boyce Hale was told to keep accurate records on all work, as secretary. A good gardener's aide will be Mrs. B. E. Reagan, vice president; and Mrs. Guy Cook, as president, will be over-all care-taker and supervisor.

The out-going president, Mrs. Leppard, was presented a gift certificate to help further the landscaping of her new home.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. annually presents $6,000 to Texas Garden Clubs for community beautification projects, either in civic or highway beautification, landscaping design or memorial gardens. Entries are in form of a scrapbook; and one agreement of an award is that the winner return a progress report within six months of how the award was used.

The Four O'Clock Garden Club submitted a winning scrapbook on their Hillcrest Park Project, located off Elgin St. Leon Hand, representing Sears, presented the club with a check for a tie for third place. The money will be used to buy needed plants for the park at the proper time. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. B. C. Swindell had received a certificate of the award at the State Convention of Texas Garden Clubs held in Austin last month.

Mrs. Edward Squillante was welcomed into the club as a new member. Mrs. Swindell was named chairman of the club's fall flower show, to be held in the home of Mrs. Leppard. An executive meeting was announced for May 21 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Cook, 1006 E. 21st. The next regular meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Swindell, 1012 E. 21st, June 10.

Judge Hears Entrants In Piano Competition

Twenty-one piano pupils of Mrs. T. H. Tarbet were judged Wednesday during the National Piano Playing Auditions being held at Howard County Junior College.

Those heard were Sheila Armistead, Danny and Peter Bartlett, Mary Sue Bronaugh, Suzann Craig, Dixie Coleman, Janice Cooper, Grady Cunningham, Connie Dunagan, Carla Denton, Brenda Harland, Skipper Husky, Kathy King, Martha and Patsy Lewis, Donna McDaniel, Rose Marie Rupel, Cynthia Stephens, Patti Stevenson, Janet Williams, and Steven Yeats.

Students of Miss Roberta Gay who were heard are Brenda and Dana Baker, Denise Bryant, Susan Collier, Kay Coppedge, Randy and Stephanie Dickens, Mary and Kathryn Dirks, Ruthie Russell, Glenda Webb and Kelly Thames.

Mrs. Elsie Willis had seven pupils who played. They were Maurine Wiggington, Ellen Hun-

B&PW Club Has Student Speaker

A covered dish dinner was held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Smith, 618 Colgate, for members of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Following the dinner, Joanna Patterson spoke on the foreign student exchange program and the club voted to donate funds to assist with the project.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected and will be installed soon.

Thirty members attended and three guests, Miss Mary Foreman, Miss Clara Secrest and Mrs. Irene McKinley.

SPANISH COINS RECOVERED ON PADRE ISLAND
Treasure found, cleaned by new breed of amateur hunters

Lawman Hunts Lost Spanish Silver Hoard

By The Associated Press
Outlaw loot and hidden money of the pioneers are just too modern for one Texas treasure hunter, Mike Callahan.

Callahan, a deputy constable in Dallas County, prefers the legends of lost Spanish wealth in the state and has spent much of his time tracking down some of these stories.

He finally gave up last summer on one treasure hunt that had kept him busy for two years. He was looking for Jim Howie's San Saba silver and finally came to believe the treasure doesn't exist.

SINK SHAFTS
He leased a large section of the San Saba area and, on weekends, used core drilling equipment to sink shafts in an attempt to find traces of the legendary silver.

As a result of core drilling and extensive searching there, Callahan believes San Saba actually was used as a storage place and smelting area by the Spanish for gold and silver.

"But, I don't think ore was ever mined there," he says. He said ore probably was shipped to San Saba from mining sites in Texas and New Mexico.

MINE SITES
During his years of treasure hunting, Callahan has found many of these old Spanish mine sites, many near Dallas, and believes that some of the ore from them was sent to San Saba.

On one site near Dallas, he found deep ruts made by cart wheels, the old smelting areas and the sealed-off mine shafts. With core drilling and heavy equipment that Callahan uses, people could mistake him for a Texas oilman rather than a Texas lawman.

British Commonwealth Takes On New Viewpoint

LONDON (AP)—Like the old woman who lived in a shoe, Britain has so many Commonwealth children she doesn't know what to do.

There's a tribe of 16, of which 13 have been born since the war. Two more are on the way this year.

The British Commonwealth is a family of nations straddling five continents and taking in 700 million people. If it carries on the way it's been going, critics say, it will become a memory. It accommodates everyone from Australians to Zanzibaris but it no longer can afford to boast that its strength lies in diversity. The British are facing the reality that something more than a paradox is needed to refurbish old faiths and allay new fears.

LONG LOOK
Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home is arranging a meeting for early July to take a long, cool look at the affairs of the family and to try to modernize some of its institutions to fit today's needs and moods.

His hopes of performing a Commonwealth rescue act are imperiled by a brewing storm. Southern Rhodesia, a self-governing colony where 225,000 whites rule 3.7 million Africans, wants statehood now and with other agencies; the trading and sterling money network; the English language and the Democratic heritage that sometimes is shelved by newcomers, and the celebrity symbol in the figure of Queen Elizabeth. Britain stands at the center of these components.

NOT THE SAME
Things are not what they used to be. The British no longer share their political or military secrets with all their partners—some of whom gaze with fascination toward Russia or Red China. There is an inner circle of the older members. There is a disdain for fellow members who have chosen one-party systems of rule.

MANY THINGS
The Commonwealth is many things to many men. Pragmatic Asians, for instance see it as a grouping of nations that exchange trading preference and share a global monetary system. Prime Minister Milton Obote of Uganda once offered a loftier view: "South Africa was expelled for reasons other than trade." India's Jawaharlal Nehru has put it like this: "Membership of the Commonwealth is independence plus." It is a social, political and economic system consisting of many human links. These include the blood bonds of the older, white member-states like Australia, New Zealand, Canada; the shared memories of the British and their Asian partners; the maze of help-each-

Enjoys Children Visits At 112

ROSSELL, N.M. (AP)—A Roswell hospital patient who says he is 112 years old numbers among his visitors the youngest of his 22 children, Bobby Coronado, 10.

Jesus Coronado, recovering from abdominal surgery, says he was born Christmas Day 1851 in Corpus Christi, Tex. He said he lost his birth certificate in a fire several years ago. Coronado said he had been married three times—He and his present wife, Eudelia, were married in 1939 when she was

15. They have had 17 children. Two are dead. His physician says Coronado is in better health than most persons at age 60. Until he went to the hospital last week, Coronado worked two or three days a week as a gardener.

Tommy Hutto Family Prefers Casual, Comfortable Living

By JO BRIGHT

The man of the house rested easily against the side of a car in the driveway and kept a supervisory eye on the sprinkler as it languidly fanned the lawn with a cooling arch of water.

"Come on in," he called. "Ginny is inside, waiting for you—or better still, why not stay out here and help me get this yard work done?"

The offhand invitation came from big Tommy Hutto, who, on a less torrid day, might rather let the weeds have their way with his front lawn as long as the frog hair was smooth on the golf greens.

Inside, attractive Mrs. Hutto was putting the finishing touches on the heavenly hash she planned to serve that evening when a couple's bridge group met in their home.

"This recipe may have other names," she said, "but that's what we call it in Louisiana."

Mrs. Hutto is the former Virginia Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Sawyer of Jones, La. A statuesque brunette, she still has the delicate air of a Southern belle—combined with the flair for fun typical of Western women. She met her husband during World War II while working in the telegraph office at Camp Polk, La., when he was stationed there. They have two children, Tommie Lou, 17, who was born in Panama, and Bruce, 12. Tommie graduates this month and is enrolled for the fall term at North Texas State University. Bruce is a sixth grader at Park Hill Elementary School. Mrs. Hutto was wearing colorful sports clothes which the youngsters had given her for Mother's Day.

CASUAL

"We believe in being comfortable and casual when we entertain," continued Mrs. Hutto. "Tommy is a good chef when we decide on barbecue so I leave the main part of meat preparation to him."

Hutto, taking a break from the lawn chores, came in about that time. He explained that he is not one to use a lot of fancy spiced sauce.

"There is little you can add that will improve on the flavor of really good meat and that's what I try to use," he said. Besides steaks, they grill chicken and ribs, usually steaming potatoes with it which they serve with sour cream. A tossed salad completes the menu.

Hutto, an independent oil operator, travels very little in his business so mealtime can run pretty much on schedule. Mrs. Hutto takes the long view concerning homemaking, however, and feels that since the home will be there longer than the young people, any plans can be altered if necessary.

Hutto belongs to the Muleshoe Hunting and Fishing Club which is located on the Rich Anderson ranch in Borden County. The Huttos go there occasionally with other families and he fishes with Bruce or other men when they can get there together. They have a boat and fish at Lake Thomas, too. Hutto prefers yellow corn meal and very hot grease when he fries a good catch.

"Bruce has gotten two deer on the lease near Uvalde," said Mrs. Hutto, but she confessed that they are very little venison, usually giving it all away instead. Quail is something else—they all love it.

Mrs. Hutto prepares it by first browning in butter, adding chopped onions and a small can of mushrooms along with a half cup of cooking sherry or wine. She cooks this at least two hours, adds a pint of heavy cream and serves over wild rice.

For desserts, she makes a lot of "plain" cakes which she varies with different icings. A favorite is whipped cream blended with frozen sliced strawberries and chopped bananas.

As soon as school is out, Tommie Lou will join her mother for a trip back home where they will relax on the farm and perhaps gain a pound or two on good southern cooking. Bruce will remain here with his dad to finish out the Little League season with the VFW Angels.

You'll want to try her recipes.

HEAVENLY HASH

1 3-oz. cake of cream cheese
2 tbsps. cream
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1 cup canned pineapple
1 cup orange sections, sliced

Peanuts Dashing Addition To Corn

When you are planning on popping about three quarts of corn for a small fry party, have about half a pound of peanuts on hand to mix with the popcorn.

Cream Pie Shell Embraces Coconut

Pastry with shredded coconut added to it is great to use as the shell for a creamstyle pie filling.

MRS. TOMMY HUTTO

1/2 cup Royal Anne cherries
1/2 cup pecans
1/2 cup maraschino cherries
1-3 cup oil mayonnaise
1 cup whipping cream
2 tbsps. sugar

Mix cheese thoroughly with two tablespoons of cream. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, and salt. Cut pineapple into small pieces. Chop pecans. Seed and quarter the cherries. Chop maraschino cherries. Combine pineapple, cherries, or orange slices, sugar and chopped nuts; then fold in whipped cream.

Pour into freezing tray and allow to freeze without stirring. This salad can be frozen in individual molds for very attractive servings, varying the garnishings, as described. Whole maraschino cherries nuts or whole, fresh strawberries can be used.

FROZEN PINEAPPLE SALAD

1 cup pineapple juice
2 tbsps. flour
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1-16 tsp salt
1 egg
2 tbsps. lemon juice
4 slices pineapple, cut fine
2 oranges

FROZEN BANANA SALAD

2 3-oz. cakes of cream cheese
1 tsp salt
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Juice of 1 lemon
1/2 cup crushed pineapple
2 medium size bananas
1/2 cup walnut meats
1/2 cup maraschino cherries in halves (may be omitted)
1 cup whipping cream
Crisp lettuce leaves

Mix cream cheese with salt, mayonnaise, and lemon juice; then add pineapple, sliced bananas, nut meats and maraschino cherries. Fold in whipped cream and pour into freezing tray.

When frozen, serve in slices on crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with fresh fruit. Fresh, whole strawberries are very attractive.

PERFECTION SALAD

3 tbsps. gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups boiling water
1/2 cup mild vinegar
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup chopped cabbage
2 cups chopped celery
2 pimientos
2 fresh, red or green peppers
1 tsp. salt

Prepare vegetable greens, combine and place in refrigerator to chill. Soak gelatine in cold water, then put into boiling water. Stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add sugar, vinegar, lemon juice, and salt. When mixture is cooled and begins to set, add remaining ingredients. Turn into mold or into tray. Allow to congeal and thoroughly chill. Cut into squares and serve on crisp lettuce. Dress with mayonnaise.

Try Menu Of Chili, Rice Mold

For a perfect party combination, try one cool evening, a simple supper menu and a group of good friends. For the supper a molded confetti rice sauced with canned chili with beans, a crisp green salad, toasted onion rolls, and assorted fresh fruits to complete the menu.

Preparing the rice and chili is simple. Cooked rice mixed with chopped green pepper and pimiento is pressed into a decorative mold. Then, after the rice is unmolded, slice it as you would a cake and top each slice generously with the hot chili.

CHILI ON CONFETTI RICE

3 cups long-grain rice
4 cups water
1 1/2 tbsps. salt
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
2 (15 1/2 oz.) cans chili with beans

Mix rice, water, salt, butter and bring to boil. Stir with fork. Reduce heat to simmer. Cover and cook gently for 15-20 minutes until all water is absorbed. Heat the canned chili with beans. Add chopped green pepper to small amount boiling water and cook 3 minutes. Drain. To cooked rice, add green pepper and pimiento. Press rice into quart mold. Let stand 2 minutes. Unmold. Serve with hot chili with beans. Makes 6 servings.

Pop Corn Special Has Cheese Taste

When you are popping corn for youngsters, add salt and butter as usual, then put aside a portion for the oldsters and sprinkle with paprika and grated Parmesan or Romano cheese. Serve at once.

Beef Sparks Menu, Aids Cooking Speed

Beef is the perfect item for giving new zest and taste delight to your menus.

You can serve beef daily because the many different types of beef cuts—most markets display 20 or more—promise such rewarding dishes, all easy and economical to prepare, each appealing with its characteristic flavor and texture.

Beef has been unusually plentiful throughout the winter and will remain abundant for some time.

For special menu variations, try some of these recipes for presenting beef at its flavorful best.

For Boiled Beef with Horseradish, cover 4 pounds of beef plate with hot water in a large cooking pan, bring water to boil, then reduce heat, cover pan tightly and simmer slowly until tender—2 to 3 hours. Be sure to keep temperature of water below boiling so the meat will simmer slowly to tender perfection. Remove meat from cooking liquid, place on platter and serve with this tasty sauce: Whip 1 cup heavy cream until stiff. Add 3 tablespoons horseradish, 1 teaspoon sugar and salt and pepper to taste.

This flavorful recipe for Pot-roasted Beef Steaks requires only an hour's cooking. To serve six, select six individual steaks cut from round or chuck. Dredge steaks in flour and brown slowly in hot fat. Add 1 large onion, 3 to 5 sliced carrots, 2 whole cloves sliced, 2 bay leaves, 1 cup each catsup and hot water. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover tightly and cook slowly about 1 hour on top of the range, or in a 350-degree F. oven.

To prepare Flank Steak, Creole Style, score one flank steak by cutting just through the top of the meat at one-inch intervals—cut both ways so the scoring forms diamonds. Turn meat so scored side is on bottom.

Shape 1 pound bulk pork sausage into a cylinder as long as the flank steak, and place sausage on unscored side of flank steak. Roll steak around sausage. Use skewers to hold flank steak around meat or tie with cord.

Place steak in baking pan and add 2 cups tomatoes, 2 bay leaves and 1/2 cup chopped onion. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cook in 300-degree F. oven until tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Remove meat and thicken tomatoes with flour for gravy.

LEONTYNE PRICE
... date with Atlanta

Negro Singer Has Sellout For Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Ticket demands have been overwhelming for tonight's Metropolitan Opera performance of "Don Giovanni," starring Leontyne Price, the Negro soprano.

"Everybody, it seems, selected tonight and the seats have been sold out for a long, long time," said Alfred D. Kennedy, president of the Atlanta Music Festival Association Inc.

Miss Price, who started her climb to stardom as Bess in the 1952 revival of "Porgy and Bess," got warm receptions from integrated audiences in her hometown of Laurel, Miss., in two appearances there — the latest about a year and one-half ago.

Integration of cast and audience here is not one of Kennedy's worries. He moans over the ticket crush and the one-week Atlanta opera season. All performances have been sold out.

"There is the remote possibility they might try something," he said. "But we have tried to make special provisions as far as possible. The house has been sold out."

He said special arrangements were made for Dr. and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. for the performance. King is head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a civil rights organization.

Opera audiences in Atlanta were desegregated three years ago and there has been no trouble.

Concerts, theaters, art galleries, all major moviehouses and some nightclubs—including clubs operated by Negroes—have removed segregation bars in the past few years.

While patrons often dine with Negroes in many restaurants, major hotels and motels downtown also are integrated.

All city-owned facilities, including recreational facilities, are desegregated.

"There are so many cultural activities that have opened up—and so many Negroes are not taking advantage of them," said Mrs. King. "It just takes time."

"But Atlanta is making progress."

Upgrading Is Urged

A call for support of "a giant step" in 1965 to upgrade higher education in Texas has been issued by the committee of the governing boards of state colleges and universities.

The committee, a voluntary group comprised of one member from each of the boards of regents of state senior colleges and universities, presents its arguments in an information folder just released.

While acknowledging appropriation increases of past legislative sessions and the fact that Texas institutions of higher learning are considered "good," the committee asserts that "higher education in Texas today is far from being 'second to none.'"

Leaders of state government—Gov. John Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, and House Speaker Byron Tunnell—are quoted in support of realistic action to improve higher education in Texas. All three cite the positive effect of quality educational programs on the industrial and economic growth of the state.

"Surely 1965 will be Texas' year of destiny," the committee concludes, "the year we decide to take the high road to prosperity."

Couple Killed In East Texas Crash

KIRBYVILLE, Tex. (AP)—An elderly man and wife were killed Wednesday night in a collision at the intersection of U.S. 9 and Farm 2245, 8 miles north of this Southeast Texas town.

John Marvin Yates, 61, and his wife Minnie, 64, died at the hospital after the crash. They were from Roganville, Tex.

The driver of the second car, Nathaniel Sams, 66, a Negro minister from Kirbyville, was hospitalized with broken legs and other injuries.

Rights Leaders Demand Faster Dallas Integration

DALLAS (AP)—Civil rights leaders urged the Dallas School Board Wednesday night to speed up integration of classrooms and said "if Little Rock and New Orleans can move ahead, so can Dallas."

The speakers, at the board's regular meeting, were Clarence Laws, regional secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Dr. Dudley Powell, Negro physician. Both are active in the Dallas Coordinating Committee for Civil Rights organized recently to unify actions of nine civil rights groups.

"Despite Sunday's observance of the 10th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision (ordering school integration), the Dallas School Board is still building 'Negro' schools," Laws said. "We don't share the view that Dallas could be another Little Rock of 1957" if integration were accelerated. Laws said. He pointed out that Little Rock where federal troops were used to quell riots over integration in 1957, recently decided to integrate its entire school system.

Where "officials take affirmative steps," the community follows without any disruption, he said.

Under a court-approved plan, Dallas schools are integrated through the third grade, with 182 Negro students in integrated situations. Laws said that number represents less than 2 percent of the Negroes in the first three grades. Unless board members speed up the integration process, Laws said, there are questions as to whether "they are moving ahead in spirit as well as in the letter of the Supreme Court decision."

In a brief statement, Powell said the Negro in Dallas is "intellectually ill-equipped to care for himself and his family today, let alone in the complicated world of tomorrow" because of inadequate educational facilities.

School Board President Robert S. Folsom said simply, "Our feeling is to give the best education possible to all students."

Pay Boost Given Phone Workers In Four States

BROWNWOOD (AP)—Pay boosts of 3 to 9 cents an hour are provided for most employees under a new contract agreement reached Wednesday by Southwestern States Telephone Co. and Union spokesmen.

Headquarters of the firm are in Brownwood. It has 1,100 employees in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas.

The agreement, reached after eight weeks of negotiating, increases the wage scale to a range of $1.26 to $3.06 an hour. It is retroactive to May 1.

Abilene, Dallas Banks Rejected By State Board

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Banking Board turned down applications Wednesday for three proposed state banks and postponed action on two others until June 9.

The board denied applications for charters for the Expressway Bank and Trust of Dallas, the Royal Bank and Trust Co., also of Dallas, and the Texas State Bank at Abilene.

Scheduled for action next month were applications for the proposed Peoples State Bank of Marshall and the Southwest State Bank of Brownwood.

"We ask that you look at the growth of Brownwood and at the lack of banking facilities now," Hal Woodward of Coleman, a member of the Texas Highway Commission and proposed director of the Brownwood bank, told the board.

"I think then you will agree with us that there is a place for a new bank," he said.

Austin attorney Jake Jacobson, representing Brown County's present four banks, said, "Brownwood is a city that is not growing. The only thing that has happened lately is a decline."

Houston attorney James Wright, representing the Marshall applicants, said the two national banks in Marshall "simply have not kept pace with the growth of Marshall. This bank could grow and prosper without any competitive disadvantage to these two banks."

Frank Erwin of Austin, attorney for the First National Bank of Marshall, said there is no need for a new bank because the town "is a depressed area."

Dogs Needed To Aid Walkers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ernest Marples, British minister of transport, says too many people ride when they should walk.

Marples, here to study the city's transportation system, says perhaps one way to solve this problem is for everyone to own a dog.

"Then the people will have to walk their dogs and, in so doing, will walk themselves," Marples said.

Catholic Church Joins In Brazilian Reform Battle

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church has plunged into the fight for social reform in Brazil's northeast with more zeal and determination than ever was applied by leftwing extremists.

This has rekindled hope, and stirred some anxieties, among the people in this area, a great incubator of want, unrest, despair and hardened optimism.

The shape of the church's efforts may bring it into conflict with the reform policies of the new interim government headed by Marshal Humberto Castello Branco. This, in turn, may expose the true scope of the government's professed reformist spirit.

These developments are shaping up in a 475,000-square mile corner of Brazil, larger in area than California and Texas combined and with nearly as many people—22 million.

Sidney Collins Joins Police

Sidney Collins, 25, resident of Big Spring for 10 years, is replacing Stan Tropicashka as an employee in the police identification and records division.

Collins was employed May 19. He was born in Bruceville, but attended public schools here before serving with the U.S. Army from 1960 to 1963. He received special training in police science at the Institute of Applied Science, Chicago, Ill. Collins is married to the former Sandra Lou Murphy, they reside at 1706 Young, and have two sons, Dallas Farrell and Victor Devryl.

Tropashka will leave the force Friday. He has been employed by the police department since Dec. 1, 1960. A native of Chicago, Tropashka is a former veteran of the Merchant Marine and the U. S. Air Force. He recently retired from the active reserve with 30 years service. He and his wife, Gertrude, will move to Florida.

ORANGE SHORTCAKE FOR NOVEL DESSERT
... fluffy white topping crowns tart orange sauce over biscuits

Fruit Topped Shortcake Is Refreshing Summer Treat

Like ice cream and lemonade, the fruit shortcake is perennial summer fare.

During May when rich pastries are too heavy to tempt family appetites, fruit makes a refreshingly cool dessert. One of the most popular ways to serve it is in a shortcake.

With fresh fruits now in season, an infinite variety of shortcakes can be set on the table, made with the all-time favorite fruit, strawberries, or with oranges, blueberries, apples or raspberries.

Variations of the simple shortcake known to every homemaker adds a wealth of summer desserts to a hot-weather cuisine.

FLORIDA ORANGE SHORTCAKE

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1 egg, separated
- 6 tablespoons milk

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening with two knives or pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Stir in orange rind. Beat together egg yolk and milk. Reserve egg white for topping. Lightly stir into dry ingredients until just blended. Pat or roll out dough 1/4-inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut with 2-inch round cutter into 12-14 rounds. Place on ungreased cookie sheets; brush tops lightly with milk. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.), 10 to 12 minutes. Serve with orange sauce and fluffy white topping.

ORANGE SAUCE

- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup orange juice
- 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
- 5 oranges, sectioned

Mix together cornstarch, sugar and salt in a saucepan. Blend in orange juice gradually; add orange rind. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Add orange sections.

FLUFFY WHITE TOPPING

- 1 egg white
- 3 tablespoons corn syrup
- 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon orange juice

Combine all ingredients in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary beater over rapidly boiling water until mixture stands in peaks.

To serve: Use two rounds a serving; spoon orange sauce between and on top of rounds. Place spoonful fluffy white topping on each serving. Makes six or seven servings.

VINEYARD SHORTCAKE

- 1 (10-ounce) package frozen strawberries
- 1/4 cup port wine
- 2 tablespoons soft butter
- 1 cup biscuit mix
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 egg yolk
- Whipped cream (optional)

Combine strawberries with wine. Let stand until berries thaw. Blend butter into biscuit mix. Stir milk into egg yolk; combine with biscuit mix. Turn out onto lightly-floured board; knead 10 times. Shape into a circle about six inches in diameter. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 20 minutes, or until shortcake tests done when a toothpick is inserted. Cut shortcake into wedges and arrange on serving plate. Serve warm, spooning strawberry mixture over cake just before serving. Top with whipped cream if desired. Makes four servings.

If a thicker topping is desired, cook juice from strawberries with 1 tablespoon cornstarch until mixture is clear and thickened. Then add berries and wine.

Bake May Basket For Berry Preview

Fresh strawberries in the market are a sure sign summer's on the way. This red, juicy fruit is a harbinger of warm weather rivalled only by the robin in spring.

Of course strawberries will make one appearance on your table in the traditional shortcake. But a sneak preview of the berry season can be presented in a May Basket Cake.

This cake uses only half a layer cake recipe and is decorative enough to be a centerpiece at a May buffet. Topped with mounds of meringue surrounding a heap of strawberries, the May Basket Cake will set mouths watering. And it's a simple dessert to prepare.

Made with self-rising flour which alleviates sifting together of baking powder, salt and flour, the cake is mixed in minutes. And the high-rise texture is a perfect light accompaniment to the rich meringue and berries.

MAY BASKET CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 2 egg yolks, beaten
- 3 egg whites, beaten
- 1 cup milk
- 2 1/2 cups self-rising flour
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Mix together sugar and shortening. Add beaten egg yolks. Add sifted self-rising flour alternately with milk. Fold in beaten egg whites carefully. Add vanilla. Bake in two lightly greased and floured 9 inch tins at 375 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes. Cool. Set aside one layer for use at another time.

TOPPING

- 2 egg whites
- Dash salt
- 3/4 tsp. vanilla
- 1/2 tsp. vinegar
- 2-3 cup sugar

Beat together egg whites, salt, vanilla, and vinegar, forming a stiff foam. Add sugar slowly. Beat until very stiff and sugar is dissolved.

Pile meringue around the top edge of one layer of cake for a basket effect, leaving a hole in the center. Place cake on baking sheet and bake 15 to 20 minutes, until meringue is delicately browned.

Remove from oven. If served warm, add hulled and sweetened fresh berries immediately. Or serve cool with berries added at the last minute.

Serve May Basket Cake as the first appearance of berries this season. Later serve with other fruit—frozen or canned. It can become a year-round dessert favorite.

A SURE SIGN OF SUMMER
... is a May Basket Cake

Sweet Potatoes Make Fine Fare

This quickie from the pantry shelf will complement your roast.

- PRALINE YAMS
  - 1 can (1 lb.) yams
  - 2 tbsps. butter or margarine
  - 1-3 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
  - 1-3 cup chopped pecans
- Arrange yams in buttered shallow baking dish. Dot with butter. Sprinkle with sugar and pecans. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot—20 to 25 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

MACARONI FATTENING? PHOOEY

When you count calories, count only 103 for each 4-oz. cooked serving of Skinner Macaroni. But count also 50% of the daily adult requirement of thiamine, 25% riboflavin, 32.5% necessary iron, and 40% daily niacin need... plus protein. Skinner Macaroni means tasty, healthful dishes for weight-watchers.

Whipping Cream Smooth

Borden's Golden Vanilla Ice Cream

There is as much difference in ice cream taste as there is difference in ice cream prices. Borden's Golden Vanilla Ice Cream tastes better because Borden's makes it from more costly ingredients — real vanilla flavor, lots of extra cream.

Premium quality—always better than it has to be

HONEY PEACH SHORTCAKE

- 2 cups flour
- 3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 tablespoons shortening
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon honey

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening as for baking powder biscuits. Add honey to milk and add enough of this mixture gradually until the mass adheres. Turn out on a slightly-floured board and pat out to 1/8-inch in thickness. Cut with a biscuit cutter and put one piece on top of the other with butter between. Bake in hot oven for about 20 minutes. Separate biscuits ready to put fruit between. Peel peaches, cut in eighths and drizzle with honey. Place fruit on lower half, put other half of cake on top and put fruit over the whole. Serve with honey sweetened whipped cream topped with one slice of peach.

Toasted Cheese With New Twist

Fresh, interesting treatment for good old cheese sandwiches!

MIMI'S TOASTED CHEESE SANDWICHES

- Sliced white bread
- Sandwich size slices of cheddar and muenster cheese
- Mincd fresh dill or scallions
- Mayonnaise

Make sandwiches with the bread using 1 slice of cheddar and 1 slice of muenster cheese, and a generous sprinkling of dill or scallions, in each. Spread outside of sandwiches with mayonnaise; brown slowly on a heavy griddle or skillet, turning once. Serve hot.

Simmering Time Set By Weight

A smoked tongue that weighs about three pounds will need almost three hours of simmering.

Dear Abby

Mother's Heartache

DEAR ABBY: Please print this. Maybe it will spare some other mother the heartbreak I suffered. I am the mother of a retarded son. When he was very young, my family and my doctor tried to get me to put the boy in an institution, but I loved him so dearly I could not bear the thought of putting him away. I thought I could give him the care he needed, so I kept him at home. I didn't know how wrong it was. As the years passed, he developed normally physically, and he began to take notice of the girls. One day he grabbed a little 11-year-old neighbor girl and tried to rape her. The outcome was so terrible for our family. My boy is now in an institution, branded as a "rapist." If I had only listened to my family, this would not have happened. Please advise mothers of retarded children to learn all they can about their problem.

HEARTSICK: Thank you for your letter. If it helps just one mother, it will be well worth the space it is given in this newspaper. For information regarding the problems of retarded children, write to: National Association for Retarded Children: Dept. TW, 286 Park Avenue South, N.Y. 16, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: How many times should you invite a couple to dinner when they have never had you back? I invited a certain couple to my home for small dinner parties on three separate occasions in this past year, and they never invited us back. I am planning another party and my husband suggested I invite this couple. I told him I would not invite them again until they returned the invitation. My husband says I shouldn't be so "touchy." Abby, these people have entertained many times that I know about, and my intuition tells me they could have invited us if they had wanted to. What do you say?

"TOUCHY": I'll go along with your woman's intuition. Don't invite them again until they have invited you.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Emu Emma On Egg Binge

TWYXCROSS, England (AP)—The excessive egg-laying of an emu named Emma excited experts today.

"She must have set a world record," said Reg Bloom, Emma's keeper in Twycross Zoo. Since January she has laid 30 eggs. An emu's normal output, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica is only 9 to 13 eggs a year.

Bloom put the first dozen eggs in a chicken incubator and after 50 days 11 hatched. Ten of the chicks survived and are thriving.

Emma's partner in the population explosion is an eager Emu named Edgar.

His eagerness evaporates, however, when it comes to emu incubation, normally a male chore. Edgar will have none of it.

Brewery Cellars Won't Be Used

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Lake Street Church of God has abandoned plans for using underground brewery cellars as Sunday School rooms. Instead, a new church will be built over the old beer caverns, which will be filled in.

Architects, inspecting the basement, became interested in odd stone construction. A walled-up entrance was broken through to reveal the tunnels and caverns.

The Rev. Carl Maynard, pastor, says cost of conversion is the only reason the caverns won't be used for teaching or heating purposes.

Commuting Pastor

LOUISA, Ky. (AP)—James H. Grayson, pastor of First Baptist Church, lives 410 miles from his congregation. He is a senior at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, N. C., and commutes on weekends by auto. The deacons voted to pay his plane fare but Grayson declined because "it would be too expensive."

Death, Age Bring Change To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Death and retirement are slowly but surely lowering the age average of the men holding influential positions in the House of Representatives.

The change is supporting the philosophy of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, a staunch supporter of the seniority system by which elderly men have reached the top of the political heap simply by being re-elected often enough.

Rayburn was an opponent of the "purge" system which would penalize non-cooperative members by taking away choice committee posts they had won under the seniority system.

NATURE

"Let nature take its course, it will work all these things out in due time," was Rayburn's advice to younger members restless because their seniors who didn't always "vote right" held powerful positions.

The slow transition from age to youth in the seats of the mighty started in 1959 when Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, then 74, was deposed as Republican floor leader and replaced by Charles Halleck of Indiana, then 58.

It went a step further Tuesday when Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, died at 85. The new chairman, Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., is 63.

REPLACED

It will continue next January when Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., 86-year-old chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, is replaced by Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., who will be 59 next September. Vinson is not seeking re-election.

Rayburn himself became a party to the natural transition. When he died at 79 in November 1961 he was succeeded as speaker by John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who was 70 at the time. McCormack, who had been majority leader, was succeeded by Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, who was 53 at the time.

Of the 20 standing committees of the House, eight still are headed by men 70 or more but standing next in line in seniority are men whose average age is much lower.

Two chairmen, Vinson of Allied Services and Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of Rules, are octogenarians. Smith is 81.

PATMAN

In the 70 to 80 bracket, is Wright Patman, D-Tex., 70, of Banking and Currency.

In the group under 70 are these chairmen: Mahon of Appropriations, 63; Omar Burleson, D-Tex., 58, of House Administration; Oren Harris, D-Ark., 60, of Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Edwin E. Willis, D-La., 59, of Un-American Activities; Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., 54, of Veterans Affairs; and Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., 54, of Ways and Means.

Railroad Men's Complaints Nixed

AUSTIN (AP) — The general counsel for the Texas Railroad Association said today prosecutors in several Texas counties have agreed not to accept complaints against railroads in connection with dismissals of locomotive firemen.

Walter Caven, the association counsel, told The Associated Press he knows of complaints made to district and county attorneys in 10 counties by railroad brotherhood representatives.

Spokesmen for the brotherhood, however, said prosecutors in Potter, Anderson and Kleberg counties have filed criminal charges in response to brotherhood complaints, and that charges are being readied by the Johnson County attorney.

The brotherhood spokesman added that he knows of no cases where his representatives have been turned down by prosecutors.

The state attorney general's office said it has been informed that prosecutors in Potter and Anderson counties are in the process of filing complaints.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Paul Robertson said Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr told the brotherhoods in a letter Tuesday that he will await the outcome of the suits filed by local prosecutors before taking action.

Carr's letter was in response to one by E. F. Jergins, legislative representative for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, who complained that prosecutors in Lubbock and El Paso had refused to accept brotherhood complaints.

Carr told Jergins "we feel the question of the scope of the permanent injunction issued in 1930 court ruling against the attorney general and whether it restrains the filing of complaints will be determined by the outcome" of the penalty suits being filed at the brotherhoods' request for modern diesel operations.

The 1930 suit did not concern modern diesel locomotives.

Carr said if the courts find that the 1930 ruling does not prevent the filing of such complaints, he will reconsider.

"This office cannot afford to run the risk of contempt proceedings," Carr added, referring to the injunction.

HE PASSED THE ASTRONAUT TEST — BARELY
 Ronnie Thompson, AP writer, suspended by parachute harness

Writer Takes Painful, Grueling Space Tests

EDITOR'S NOTE — Ever wonder if you have what it takes to be an astronaut? Ronnie Thompson, San Antonio correspondent for The Associated Press, decided to find out if he could get over the first hurdle—the physical. He made it—barely—emerging with new respect for the real astronauts.

By RONNIE THOMPSON
BROOKS AIR FORCE BASE, TEX. (AP)—"Tilt your head to one side," the Air Force doctor said, dipping the tip of his syringe into a pan of water and ice cubes. "Now hold still, it won't hurt bad."

Suddenly, with the sound of a great waterfall, a surge of ice water filled and chilled my ear. The pain quickly grew almost unbearable. I shut my eyes tightly and gritted my teeth.

After what seemed like an hour, but actually was only 20 seconds, the doctor let the water drain out.

Within seconds, my eyes began fluttering uncontrollably, as if they were dangling on rubber bands. Asked to stand, I fell to one side into the arms of a technician.

REFOCUSSED
 After about two minutes, my eyes refocused and I regained my equilibrium. I was surprised to learn that my reaction had been normal.

I had been subjected to a test to determine my vestibular function—that inner-ear mechanism which tells you whether you're right-side up, upside down, or at an angle.

It was one of the assorted ordeals that any potential astronaut must undergo to convince the government he is physically fit. The examination given at the School of Aerospace Medicine here is the most searching that can be made within the limits of current medical knowledge.

It's a rugged job. I'm convinced that the men who ride our space capsules must be near-perfect physical specimens.

NEVER FLOWN
 I'm 26, 5-foot-10, weigh 184 pounds, wear glasses and have never flown an airplane. After seven days of being punched, poked and prodded by the Air Force doctors, I was told:

"Take off 25 pounds of fat—or turn it into lean muscle—start a rigorous physical training program and then, medically speaking, I might qualify for space travel—that is, if someday they decide to put into space a man who wears glasses.

Men who wear glasses have not been ruled out definitely for space flight, but now there is such a pool of qualified men who do not wear them that, as one doctor said, "We don't have to take a chance."

My exam started on a Monday morning. I was nervous, of course. I'm just an average American male who doesn't run two miles a day, watch my weight, or lift barbells. And I was among those who laughed at the 30-mile hike fad.

TOLERANCE
 Right off the bat, they started bleeding me to test my blood and sugar tolerance.

"I've had blood tests before," I thought. "This won't be so bad." I was mistaken. This was a blood test to end all blood tests.

Clairie B. Haynes, 1108 W. 4th, has been assessed a 90 day federal jail sentence, which has been probated, for collecting Social Security payments on her child to which she had not been entitled.

Erven Fisher, manager of the Big Spring District Office, Social Security Administration, said he has been notified the sentence was levied against the woman in Federal Court in Abilene. He said that such cases are rare—in which an indictment was sought, since the office here opened.

Sentenced In Rare Case

He said the woman had collected a total of $1,228.10 between 1957 and 1963 which were illegally claimed. The payments were for her child by her husband, the late Robert Haynes.

Fisher said that the woman married Willie Lee Johnson April 26, 1957 and kept the marriage secret from the Social Security office. The payments should have stopped when she remarried.

Brought before the court for arraignment March 6, 1964, the judge held the woman in contempt, citing her as being intoxicated. He remanded her to jail where she stayed until April 24. Returned to the court on that date, she pleaded guilty and was given the 90-day probated sentence.

Women's Air Derby Finds Planes Scattered Afar

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The 23 contestants in the 14th Women's International Air Race, strung out at airports between here and Texas, were expected to finish the 1,440 mile event Thursday.

A race official said eight planes stayed at Tyler, Tex., Tuesday night with 12 in Jackson, Miss., one in Montgomery, Ala., and one which finished here Tuesday.

However, the first woman to finish the course, Mrs. Milton Julich of Jackson Heights, N.Y., was listed in seventh place in handicap standings as of Tuesday night's computed times.

Mrs. Julich landed Tuesday morning from the flight which started earlier in the week at Monterrey, Mexico.

The leader in corrected time standings was Judy Wagner of Palos Verdes, Calif. She was followed in standings by Marian Burke of San Antonio, and Edna Whyte of Fort Worth. Pat Arnold of Flint, Mich., and Pat Jetton of Dallas were fourth and fifth respectively.
