LBJ Team Studies Tax Cuts In '66

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration's long-range plans call for a cut in excise taxes in 1966 and another reduction in income taxes the following year, informed sources said today.

They said there is a strong possibility President Johnson will announce this tentative timetable during next fall's presidential campaign.

There have been a few public hints of further tax revision. On April 28, Johnson said he could "see another tax cut a few years down the road" if the $12-billion income tax reduction enacted this year stimulated the economy into providing enough revenue to balance the budget.

EXCISE TAXES
There are signs that the administration would consider clipping almost every category of excise taxes, although there may be both congressional and administration opposition to trimming some earmarked taxes, such as gasoline and vehicle taxes used for federal-state road programs.

In February, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said at a news conference that reductions in excise taxes could come in 1965, but he indicated that such cuts might not be pushed until 1966 or later.

During Senate consideration of the tax cut bill some senators demanded reduction in excises along with the income tax reduction. Proponents of the tax reduction agreed then to future hearings on the excise taxes.

WIDE VARIETY

Excise levies cover a wide variety of products and services: cosmetics, jewelry, furs, telephone tolls, automobiles, gasoline, theater admissions, sporting goods, liquor and cigarettes.

These levies are expected to provide $14.6 billion in revenue during the fiscal year which begins July 1—an increase of $3 billion since 1960.

Proposals for further revisions in income tax rates obviously would be timed to coincide with the first balanced budget since 1960. Treasury officials talk about balancing the budget in fiscal 1967, which begins July 1, 1966, although they admit this is a tough target.

A dramatic improvement in federal finances obviously would improve the chances of persuading Congress to reduce taxes further.

Little Mixing Is Foreseen Despite Order

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP)—Few white and Negro students are expected to share the same classrooms next fall in Prince Edward County despite a U.S. Supreme Court order that public schools be reopened on an integrated basis.

While reaction to Monday's historic ruling from county and state officials was scant, opinions were privately voiced that the net result would be a public school system attended almost entirely by Negroes and boycotted by white students who would continue to study at private, segregated schools.

In delivering the court's main opinion, Justice Hugo L. Black said "the time for mere 'deliberate speed' has run out, and that phrase can no longer justify denying these Prince Edward County school children their constitutional rights to an education equal to that afforded by the public schools in other parts of Virginia."

DISTRICT COURT

The case, which has journeyed through a maze of state and federal court decisions since its inception in 1951, was sent back to the Richmond U.S. District Court which was empowered to order the county's schools reopened.

Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr. discussed the decision with members of the state attorney general's staff and later told newsmen he could say very little because the case still awaits settlement of specific points in U.S. District Court.

Harrison termed the ruling "manifestly a far-reaching decision" in that it marks the first time a court has committed itself to order a legislative body to levy taxes.

LEVY TAXES

This was in reference to wording in the decision that the district court is empowered to require the Prince Edward County Board of Supervisors to levy the necessary taxes to finance a public school system.

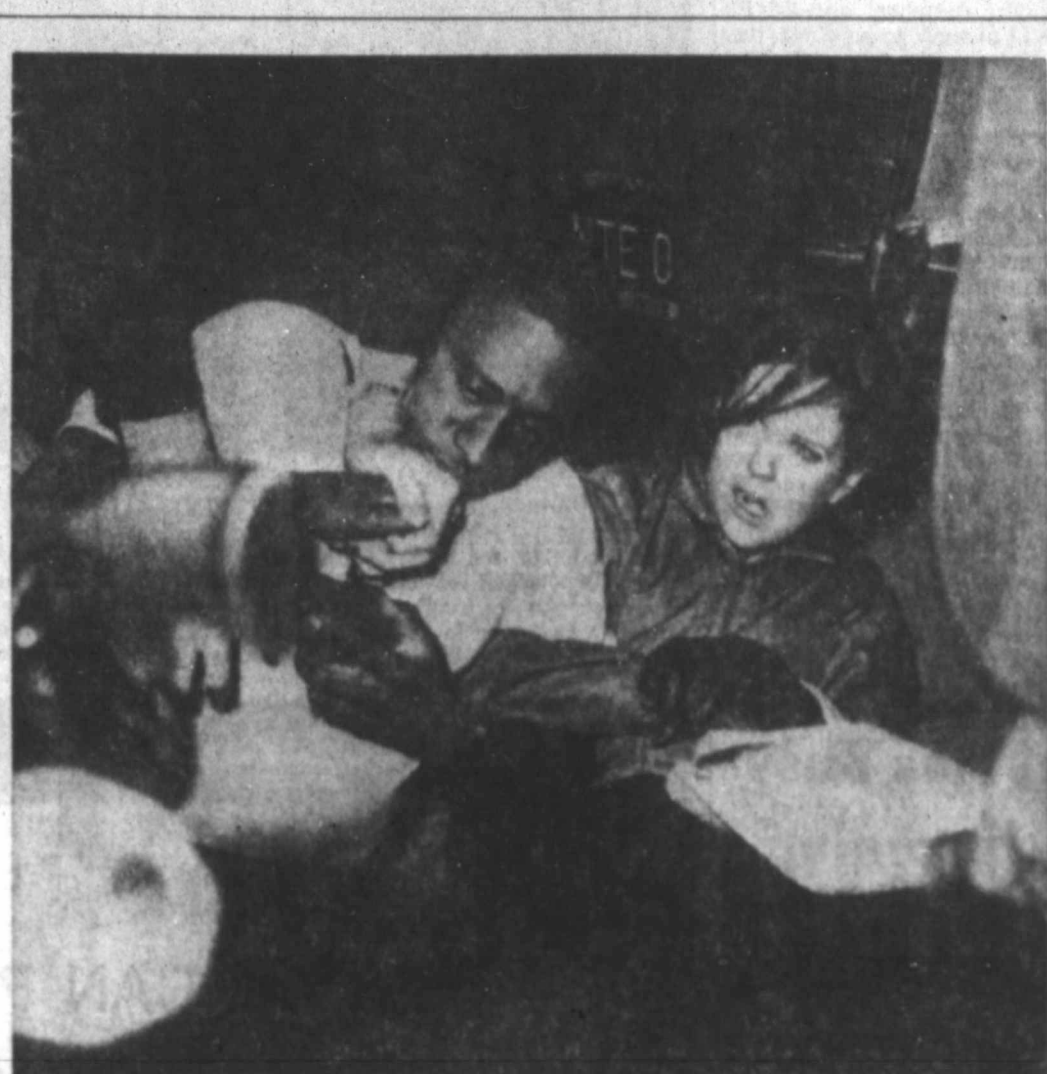

It was the refusal of the supervisors in the face of court-ordered integration to levy such taxes in 1959—and every year since—that resulted in the southside Virginia county becoming the only locality in the nation without public schools.

During the past five years the county's approximately 1,250 white children have attended private schools hastily set up in reaction to the court's integration order. About 1,600 Negro children went largely without formal schooling until last September when—at the urging of the late President John F. Kennedy—an experimental one-year educational program known as the Prince Edward Free School Foundation was established with private funds.

Further disorder was averted when Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston clamped a curfew on the town and guardsmen moved shoulder to shoulder down the main street to clear it of spectators. Ironically named Race Street, it divides the Negro section of about 4,000 from the 8,000 white population.

None of Monday night's injuries was described as serious, but the clash was the third outbreak in two weeks and the most serious in nearly a year. The guard was ordered into Cambridge by Gov. J. Millard Tawes last summer after a series of shootings and arsons. It has been there since.

Plan Introducing Package Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders plan to introduce today the package of amendments they are counting on to win passage of a revised civil rights bill.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen announced Monday after a fifth and final GOP conference on the proposed changes that they would be ready for introduction late today—the 64th day of Senate debate on civil rights.

He also predicted that the votes will be available to shut off a Southern filibuster against civil rights legislation. "I believe we can get cloture," he said. "And I think we have to have cloture now."

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana refused to predict the outcome of a vote on cloture.

After the weekly breakfast of Democratic congressional leaders with President Johnson, Mansfield told newsmen a vote would be taken some time early next month.

Asked whether leaders had the necessary votes to invoke cloture, Mansfield replied: "When the votes are counted I'll let you know."

Mansfield also told newsmen the Democratic and Republican leaders have reached a fairly firm agreement on the package of proposed amendments.

He said he and Sens. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., and Thomas K. Kuchel, R-Calif., would be joint sponsors along with Dirksen.

Dirksen said the changes will be discussed thoroughly and ample time will be allowed for rebuttal by Southern senators, who already have pronounced the package completely unacceptable.

STOP ORATORY

Some senators have said an attempt will be made the second week in June to get the two-thirds vote needed to invoke cloture and shut off the Dixie oratory that has blocked action on the House-passed bill.

Dirksen said this may be a little early.

He noted that a jury trial amendment has been before the Senate for three weeks without a final vote.

This issue must be decided before the leaders' amendment package can be put before the Senate. Dirksen said a consensus had not been reached yet on the best way to handle the jury trial question.

SHOWDOWN

Many senators regard the floor discussion as a marking-time operation until the showdown—cloture—comes in June.

Dirksen said some additional language modifications were accepted as a result of the Republican caucuses on the bill, but that the package as disclosed last week remained pretty much intact.

Some GOP senators said after the session they believed that chances for passage of the bill had improved, but others voiced dissatisfaction.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, said, "This bill still is not satisfactory to me."

However, Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said it was his guess that, in the end, only four or five Republicans would vote against cloture.

This would mean 28 or 29 GOP votes for cloture and would virtually assure its adoption under estimates made so far.

One proposal rejected was an amendment by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., to limit the equal employment opportunity section of the bill to businesses with 100 or more workers.

No Trouble With Info, Testifies Swedish Spy

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Col. Stig Wennerstrom has testified that, as a spy for the Soviet Union, he had no difficulty in collecting information about U.S. defense industries.

"It was easy to get information if you indicated you were interested in buying," the 57-year-old airman—diplomat declared in secret proceedings made public in part today.

"This was no problem for me as I made purchases for the Swedish air force. The air force bought a great deal of material from the United States and I visited many industries. It was easy to make contact with the top executives."

He was Sweden's air attaché in Washington from 1952 to 1957. Wennerstrom said information on Polaris submarines was among material he turned over to Moscow.

Wennerstrom has admitted spying against his neutral homeland, the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for 14 years. Tried only for relaying Sweden's defense secrets to the Russians, he is to hear the verdict June 12.

In an open court session May 15 he said he acted from "idealistic motives." The prosecution demanded that he be sentenced to life imprisonment. His defense counsel suggested 12 years in prison.

Parts of the records of the police investigation and interrogation released today covered 900 of a total of 3,700 pages. The rest is marked secret and probably will never be published.

Seven Chutists Injured In Drop

BLYTHE, Calif. (AP)—Seven paratroopers were injured in an air drop of 1,600 troops Monday during Operation Desert Strike, a mock war over rights to the Colorado River.

Two men suffered broken legs the others cuts and bruises in the air drop by the 101st Airborne Division near Searchlight, Nev., on the California-Nevada border.

Guardsman Shot, 3 More Hurt In Cambridge Riot

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—One National Guardsman was shot and three others were injured Monday night in a new flareup between integrationist demonstrators and troops using bayonets and tear gas to disperse them.

State police said several demonstrators also were injured in the clash as bullets, bricks and bottles whizzed through the air in the city's Negro district.

Hundreds of whites milled along the edge of the district, heckling guardsmen and shouting taunts at integrationists across the street.

Further disorder was averted when Brig. Gen. George M. Gelston clamped a curfew on the town and guardsmen moved shoulder to shoulder down the main street to clear it of spectators. Ironically named Race Street, it divides the Negro section of about 4,000 from the 8,000 white population.

None of Monday night's injuries was described as serious, but the clash was the third outbreak in two weeks and the most serious in nearly a year. The guard was ordered into Cambridge by Gov. J. Millard Tawes last summer after a series of shootings and arsons. It has been there since.

In the latest eruption, a Negro guardsman was wounded in the left shoulder by a small-caliber bullet. Another, also Negro, suffered a burned hand when a grenade he was holding exploded.

A plastic fragment from the grenade hit the gas mask of an officer, cutting his face. A rock hit a fourth serviceman, possibly fracturing an arm.

Gelston said about 150 demonstrators, all but about four or five of them Negro, had begun marching and singing some two hours before the violence.

Guard details were assigned to key intersections to prevent Negroes from leaving the district and whites from entering it.

Several times groups of Negroes tried to march out, were confronted by guardsmen and turned back. As the number of whites along Race Street built up, so did the tension.

Communist countries are demanding a full-fledged Geneva conference be reconvened and are not expected to take part in local consultations.

Ike Backs Veep Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Declaring that "there should always be someone at the helm," former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the vice president should have authority to take over the duties of a physically or mentally disabled president.

And in the event the vice presidency is vacant the president should be empowered to appoint his second in command, Eisenhower said.

The former president told a national conference on presidential succession Monday of three occasions during his terms as president when he said he was physically unable to carry out his duties—during his 1955 heart attack, an ileitis attack in 1956 and a mild stroke in 1957.

But he said a disability need not be physical to create problems.

"Let's suppose," he said, "the president is a little bit wacky." With the vice president acting as president, there would be time to get "expert medical and psychological advice" to determine whether the president was able to carry out his duties, Eisenhower added.

Laos Recaptures Region From Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian neutralists claimed today that part of their army had launched a counterattack and driven the Communists back in the Muong Kheung sector northwest of the Plaine des Jarres.

Gen. Amkha Soukhavong, neutralist military adviser to Premier Souvanna Phouma, said the Communists had been stopped 12 miles short of their next objective, Muong Soui, on a main east-west highway from the plain.

Unofficial reports told of clashes only seven miles from Muong Soui.

Amkha said a battalion of neutralist infantry, 19 tanks and 8 armored cars, which had been routed from their headquarters at Muong Kheung, on the north-west fringe of the strategic plain recaptured two-thirds of the sector.

Prince Souvanna warned the National Assembly that if Muong Soui fell, the Communists would threaten the royal capital of Luang Prabang and Vang Vieng on the main road south to Vientiane.

Some 2,500 right-wing troops were spread out in a defense line above Borikhane, about 25 air miles east of Vientiane. The village is the last major right-wing defense point between another Communist force and the rightist-controlled town of Pakxane, on the Mekong River border with Thailand.

The Communists captured the town of Tha Thom 12 days ago and are using it as a base for a move against Borikhane less than 20 miles away.

Souvanna told the assembly he rejected an invitation by the Pathet Lao chief, Prince Souphanouvong, to go to his Khang Khay headquarters for peace talks. Souvanna said he asked Souphanouvong to meet with him at Luang Prabang.

Diplomatic sources said Britain is considering issuing invitations for a consultation here of ambassadors from the 14 nations of the Geneva conference on Laos to discuss steps to avoid further deterioration of the situation.

Pipeline Job Within Money

Apparent low bidders on a pipeline job were well within the money here Tuesday morning, and directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District are expected to award contracts Thursday.

Ramsey Enix Construction Company, Amarillo, had the low proposal of $214,881.20 for construction of 3½ miles of 18-inch diameter concrete steel cylinder pipe. R. B. Hodgson, Inc., for the line on a proposal of $27,776.25. The combined total of the two low figures was $232,657.45.

The line will extend from Sun Oil Company's treatment plant at Silver and extend southwestward to the projected Perkins & Prothro watershed project in northern Coke County. CRMWD will deliver 3.6 million gallons a day to Sun, and Sun will provide 1,500,000 gallons to Perkins & Prothro. Completion date for the pipeline is Oct. 1, the crossing in 120 days.

Second low bidder on the pipeline was Hodgson with a proposal of $215,833.85 and third was Clyde Construction, Odessa, with $219,501. Top bid of seven submitted was $266,260.15. Second low on the crossing was Bruce Construction, San Angelo, with a proposal of $29,975. Top bid was $44,325.

Estes Near Trial For Fraud And Conspiracy

HOUSTON (AP)—The man a federal judge called "the perpetrator of one of the most gigantic swindles" in history has another day in court June 5.

Billie Sol Estes will be trying to beat a federal rap for mail fraud and conspiracy.

Running a sort of parallel race is the appeal of a state conviction of Estes for swindling.

Both the state and federal indictments basically claimed Estes, through other persons, mortgaged fertilizer tanks that never existed.

Figures show he obtained $24 million in this manner, leaving some of the nation's biggest loan companies holding worthless paper.

He before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The federal sentence was imposed in El Paso April 15 of last year. Judge R. E. Thomson heard the case, sentenced Estes and tongue-lashed the promoter.

Estes was prosecuted there on 14 counts, sentenced on four of them. Thirteen other counts were set aside. Estes is scheduled to be tried on them in Pecos, his old home town, some vague day in the future.

John Cofer, Estes' lawyer, pleaded for mercy.

(Estes) was worth $18 million at the time the first notes were signed, and now does not have a dime left," Cofer told the judge.

Cofer said Estes "owes no apologies to the note signers and finance companies who all expected to make large sums of money from their dealings with him."

Estes has appealed the Tyler conviction three times.

Each time, the Court of Criminal Appeals turned him down. Now his lawyers have taken the case into the chain of federal courts.

The promoter has moved to Abilene, free on a total of $140,000 in appeals bonds.

INDICTMENT

In addition to the Pecos federal trial, Estes faces only one other indictment in Dallas. He was charged Aug. 10, 1962, on three counts of lying to the Commodity Credit Corp., a federal agency, about his financial status. The complaint accused Estes of minimizing his debts, then already in the $10 million-plus class by his own statements.

One indictment against the promoter already has been wiped out. This was a criminal anti-trust case in state court in Amarillo.

The state dismissed the case when it was unable to obtain extradition of Maynard Wheeler, a co-defendant of Estes and president of Commercial Solvents of New York.

The state contended that Wheeler and Estes conspired to drive competitors of Estes out of the fertilizer retail business.

The state also sued under the anti-trust laws, asking $1.5 million from Commercial Solvents, Estes and about a dozen other persons. Only this week, Commercial Solvents settled the state's claim against it by an agreed judgment for $150,000 plus court costs.

Constitution Party Lists Key Issues, Candidates

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The Constitution Party of Texas wants the United States to retain control of the Panama Canal Zone and Guantanamo Bay Naval Base in Cuba even if it means sending additional troops.

This statement of policy was contained in resolutions adopted by delegates at the party's state convention.

Another resolution called for repeal of the 17th Amendment to the United States Constitution. The amendment provides for the election of U.S. senators by popular vote. The Constitution originally stated senators should be elected by the state legislatures.

The convention nominated Jack Carswell of Houston, the party's candidate for governor in 1962, as candidate for U.S. senator in the November general election.

In the 1962 governor's election, Carswell got 7,135 votes. Democrat John Connally and Republican Jack Cox had a combined vote of more than 1.5 million.

Nominated for other statewide offices in this year's election were John C. Williams for governor, Joseph M. Rummier for lieutenant governor, Derek C.

Burrell Joins Bank Board

Joe W. Burrell, Midland attorney who formerly resided in Big Spring, Monday was elected a director of the Security State Bank here.

The action was taken at a meeting of the board following a special meeting of stockholders, at which a change in the directorate was approved. Burrell makes the 13th member on the board.

Burrell formerly was with Cosden Petroleum Corporation, coming here from Fort Worth when the company transferred its general offices to Big Spring in 1940. He had charge of tax and insurance matters for Cosden, later was company controller.

He left Cosden in 1953, and has resided in Midland since. He is a certified public accountant, also an attorney, and is now practicing law in Midland.

Burrell has retained business interests in Big Spring, has been a stockholder in Security State for a number of years. He is a frequent visitor in the city.

MARCH, 1962

The paper empire of Estes now 39, collapsed in late March, 1962. He has been through the bankruptcy wringer and sentenced to eight years in prison by a state court at Tyler on swindling charges.

The Tyler conviction was on a charge of persuading a farmer to sign a $94,500 mortgage presumably secured by fertilizer tanks.

Three companion indictments on the state charges, returned by a grand jury at Pecos, remain on file at Tyler. The case was moved there from Pecos.

DEAR ABBY
Depends On The 'Boy'

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "ONE BOY'S MOTHER" has been on my mind ever since I read it. Four years ago my boy went into the Navy. He was a good Christian boy then. My neighbor told me he wouldn't be "good" long. Abby, he is a better Christian today than he was when he went in. He neither drinks nor smokes. The Navy doesn't make our boys do anything they wouldn't do if they were home. Don't blame Uncle Sam. He had him for only a few months. His mother had him for 17 years. The Good Book says, "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it." (Proverbs: 22:6)

did! And somebody should tell her that a "boy" in uniform can get a drink anywhere in the world, which is as it should be. The uniform indicates that instead of a "boy" he is now a man, who, after training, may be called upon to have his 17-year-old guts dumped into a Vietnamese rice paddy. Three points will get you 15.4 that this is the same mother who makes her son wear his uniform to church when he's home on leave so she can show him off as a "man."

R. S. D. (Ex-Sgt.)

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a mother was upset because she believed that her 17-year-old son had been introduced to drinking in the Army. Your answer was A-O-K but I'd like to put in my two cents' worth:

MANLY NUCKOLLS ENJOYS A FAVORITE PASTIME
VA Hospital becomes his permanent home

Eight Years In Hospital, And He Will Never Leave

By PAT WASHBURN
Manly Nuckolls will never leave the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

The cold, impersonal standard-steel bed in room 473 has become his permanent home. Yet, he always smiles.

Manly has been in bed No. 44 since 1956, a victim of dreaded multiple sclerosis, which has left him paralyzed from the neck down. He is completely helpless—unable to shake hands with a friend, read a newspaper, turn on the television, hold flowers—that occasionally brighten the silent pastel-colored walls. Yet, he still has that wonderful smile.

He's glad to be alive. After growing up in Coleman County and serving a hitch in the Navy for six months during World War I, Manly began working as an oil well driller in Breckenridge. He moved to Colorado City in 1925 and then was told to quit work in 1931 because of the growing seriousness of the disease. He was in and out of hospitals many times before entering the VA Hospital eight years ago. He has never left.

Manly has numerous visitors, many no doubt drawn back by his magnetic smile. The secret behind that smile, though, is knowing someone still cares.

His wife, Marie, has become his "daytime nurse," spending almost every waking moment at his side in a vigil she's been keeping for eight years. She moved from Colorado City to Big Spring so she could be nearer to him.

How does Manly spend his time? He's an avid TV fan and watches the instrument from 10:30 a.m. until 9-10 p.m. and gets the biggest enjoyment out of "Gunsmoke" and the daytime soap operas. His wife also reads to him daily out of the Big Spring and San Angelo newspapers.

Throughout the entire day, he smiles. And those who see it figure they have no troubles at all.

BANK FRAUD CASE

Ex-Official's Gambling Activity Under Study

DALLAS (AP)—Joe Henry Hodges, former Small Business Administration attorney and once Irving city attorney, will undergo a 90-day study of his "compulsive gambling" before U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes pronounces sentence in his bank fraud conviction.

Judge Hughes announced the study Monday after sentencing Hodges' companions, Bob Alton Jones and Jerry Ray Leonard, both former National Bank of Commerce employees, to 3-year probation sentences.

In order to qualify for the federal study, she explained,

Hodges is sentenced to the maximum 15 years in prison—five years each on three counts of aiding, abetting and inducing misapplication of bank funds. After the study and recommendations, the judge said, she will announce a final sentence.

Before the sentencing, Asst. U.S. Attorney Tim Timmins told Judge Hughes that in 1961 Hodges paid Jones for cashing checks for him. He said that when Jones was transferred from his position as teller, Jones had Leonard, then the head teller, to hold checks for Hodges over weekends. Hodges paid both men for their services, he said.

Hodges, 35, is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Texas Law School. He told Judge Hughes that he is in a "quagmire of debt" and owes approximately $30,000. He said he once paid off a $100,000 debt by gambling, and after that, there was "no chance of quitting."

He said he once considered undergoing hypnosis treatments to quit gambling but each session cost $100 and "my gambling wasn't costing that much."

Jones, 26, was accompanied by his wife and four of his five children. Judge Hughes was given a list of 71 character references from McKinney acquaintances of Jones. Leonard, 25, now lives in Oklahoma. Judge Hughes based his probation on the condition that he not move unless by permission of a probation officer.

Members of the quadrille, who are from 12 to 18 years old, left Jacksonville at dawn Monday and made their way westward in dense fog.

Each horse and rider gallops a half-mile, then is picked up and shuttled 16 miles ahead by motor trailer for another sprint.

The LBJ Ranch is 133 miles west of Jacksonville.

Raymond Teague, president of the Jacksonville Riders Club which sponsors the quadrille, said he has received word that "They're already cooking up a big barbecue for us at the LBJ Ranch."

The President will come to Texas Friday and deliver the commencement address at the University of Texas Saturday.

Peru Passions Run High After Death Toll Of 328

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Feelings ran high in the Peruvian capital today and police were on the alert for more disorders in the wake of Sunday's bloody finale to a soccer game.

Police announced an official toll of 328 dead in the panic after police fired tear gas to check a riot in Lima's National Stadium.

The police said 122 of the victims had not been identified.

It was the sports world's worst disaster, and the International Soccer Federation, with headquarters in Zurich, Switzerland, asked the Peruvian association for detailed information. The rioters were protesting a referee's decision against the Peruvian team in a Peru-Argentina pre-Olympic match.

The police used tear gas again Monday to break up a small demonstration by students in front of San Marcos University. The police said inflammatory speeches were being made.

Police reinforcements repelled a Lima mob headed toward the home of Commander Jorge de Asumbuja, whom they accused of ordering tear gas shells fired into the crowd pouring onto the soccer playing field.

Asumbuja said none of the gas grenades was fired into the stands. He blamed locked exit gates for the mass suffocation.

Argentine was leading 1-0 when Peru scored a goal on an accidental kick by an Argentine player. Referee Eduardo Pazos of Uruguay nullified the point because of a foul.

Fighting broke out among some of the 45,000 fans and police escorted Pazos and the players from the field. Pazos declared Argentina the victor.

As portions of the mob surged toward the playing field, police fired tear gas into the crowd.

In an attempt to escape the choking fumes, the mob surged toward exit gates, locked to keep non-paying youths from sneaking in to watch the game.

 West's naive attempt to place a red herring in his opponents' path served only to incite them in today's hand to go the limit.

When the bidding reverted to West in third position, he felt that the opposition possessed enough assets to score substantially, in as much as he had very little and East failed to open the bidding. In an effort to talk North and South out of their heritage, West put in a very light third seat bid of one spade.

North, with 21 points in high cards alone, had a very sound vulnerable takeout double. East decided to show his modest values while it was convenient to do so, by raising his partner to two spades. South possessed a good hand facing a takeout double; however, he contented himself with making a free bid of three diamonds in order to give North an opportunity to clarify his holding.

By this time, it became obvious to North that someone around the table had not been telling the truth. The 19 high card points that he was missing could hardly add up to an opening bid plus calls from both of the remaining players. Since South was presumed to be honest, then one or both of the opponents must be guilty of exaggerating their values.

In order to announce his overwhelming strength and expose the "gay deceivers," North made a cue bid of three spades which was, of course, unconditionally forcing on his partner. South reasoned that he had considerable in reserve for his mere free bid and, in order to show the limit of his hand, he jumped to five clubs. Although he was not certain of the ultimate contract, North's cue bid had implied a fit, and South wished to alert him to the partnership's full potential on the deal.

When North heard the jump in clubs, he was reasonably certain that his holding in the minors would completely solidify South's hand, and he bid seven clubs. The play proved to be routine. After drawing trump, declarer was able to discard dummy's small spade on a high diamond and then ruff out his own spade loser.

A Devotional For The Day

Unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath. (Matthew 25:29.)

PRAYER: Please, Lord, let us be so filled with the love of Jesus that we will constantly seek a chance to tell others what He has done for us and what He can do for them. This we ask, with the forgiveness of our sins, through Jesus, the Christ, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Brisk Building Activity

Other Western nations, even those which still deny diplomatic recognition to Red China, have kept open and expanded news channels to Peking. But for two decades, the American people have had to depend on second and third hand information on what is happening inside that vast and hostile land.

The late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles involved press relations with diplomatic relations and seemed convinced that U. S. security would be better served by a news blackout on Red China than by following the know-your-enemy axiom.

At long last, a wiser view may be coming to prevail. The State Department has just announced that U. S. policy is to try to get American newsmen into Communist China for either short visits or long-term assignments. As for reciprocity, Chinese Communist press representatives applying for admission to this country would be judged "individually," with the implication being they will be let in if American newsmen are admitted to China.

The United States would have much to gain and little to lose if a press exchange with Red China could be accomplished. The overriding benefit would be to American public opinion, which is pitifully poorly informed on a world power that poses the gravest U. S. foreign policy problems that our democratic judgment must cope with.

Policy Change Due

A series of recent events will all have their part in considerable activity within the next 12 to 18 months.

Saturday voters gave a substantial endorsement to a $5,500,000 bond program to finance a school Master Plan of expansion. The immediate and biggest portion will go for high school enlargement, or $3,300,000 according to estimates. At least two and three quarter million would go into construction, and perhaps a letting may be had before the end of the year.

Sunday, the First Baptist congregation approved letting contracts for a new church plant at a cost of approximately $550,000, and work on this could start within a couple of weeks. Earlier College Baptist started a $100,000 sanctuary construction program. Berea Baptist also is in the midst of adding a new sanctuary, and other churches are busily engaged in building activity. First Methodist is making plans for a major addition.

Thus, it is not difficult to see in firm prospect between four and five million dollars of institutional construction within the next year and a half. If commercial construction keeps pace and residential building holds an even keel, our building activity for the next two years is going to be about as brisk as we've ever had.

Our Security (?) Organization

WASHINGTON — A comic-opera security lapse and a sharp indictment of the United States intelligence bureaucracy marked a not-so-secret briefing for members of Congress and governors during the "eyeball - to - eyeball" Cuban missile crisis.

During the critical days preceding the U.S.-Soviet showdown over installation of Russian missile sites in Cuba, the Administration arranged five regional briefings to keep Congressional and state officials abreast of the developments that led to the brink of nuclear war in 1962. The briefings for Northeastern states was held at the federal building at 90 Church Street in downtown New York City.

BRIEFING OFFICER was Roger Hillsman, who was the State Department's director of intelligence and research. Backed up by maps and aerial photographs, he launched into a highly classified discussion of the crisis that had followed discovery of Soviet missile sites less than 100 miles across the straits of Florida from the United States.

The briefing had continued for 10 or 15 minutes when one member of the audience interrupted. "Mr. Hillsman," he said, "you are giving highly secret information here to 100 or more people who are supposed to be members of Congress or governors. And yet we simply walked in here without any security check whatsoever. No one asked me to produce my identification. How do you know who is actually in this auditorium?"

HILLSMAN ATTEMPTED to reassure his audience by explaining that a yellow scratch pad would be passed around for their signatures. This haphazard approach to security only provoked an uproar, however, and finally the State Department representative agreed that it might be a good idea to require everyone to identify himself.

When this was done, five interlopers were found. One was the chauffeur of Gov. John Volpe of Massachusetts. Neither he nor the other four were suspected of any subversive intent—but all five were definitely not supposed to hear the secret briefing. In view of the shocking security lapse, one of the five could have as well turned out to be Soviet spy Rudolf Abel with a tape-recorder in his hat.

HILLSMAN, who later became Under Secretary for Far Eastern Affairs and subsequently resigned as a consequence of President Johnson's growing dissatisfaction with the conduct of the war in Viet Nam, then concluded the briefing and invited questions from his audience.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller stood up and pointed out a fact that everyone in the room knew to be true—that Sen. Kenneth Keating (R., N. Y.) had been warning that Soviet rockets were being placed in Cuba for a month before the Central Intelligence Agency alerted the National Security Council and the White House to the threat.

"DON'T YOU believe this represents a major breakdown in our intelligence community?" Gov. Rockefeller challenged.

"Not at all," Hillsman replied with acerbity. "It actually represents a triumph of our intelligence community."

"I'm not going to argue with you about it," Gov. Rockefeller replied, "but I am deeply concerned with the apparent lack of effectiveness of our intelligence. Ken Keating warned us that the missile sites were under construction long before the CIA ever knew about them."

NOTE—Since that time Gov. Rockefeller has done a great deal of homework on the nation's elephantine intelligence apparatus, and today is one of the best-informed experts on the American spy apparatus outside of government. Henry Cabot Lodge, who had his own eyeball - to - eyeball showdown with the high-riding CIA shortly after he became Ambassador to South Viet Nam, and Gov. Rockefeller are two G.O.P. Presidential hopefuls who are deeply disturbed over the role of the powerful, autonomous and grandly unaccountable CIA. (Contributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Billy Graham

In our church group we talk about worldliness, but I don't understand what some people mean by this, particularly in connection with types of diversion and amusement.

This is a term that actually does not appear in the Bible, but it is one that does need definition. In one place, I John, chapter two, verse 15, it is written: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

In reading this particular portion of Scripture you will discover that worldliness is more an attitude than it is the actual participation in some act. The actual object that John speaks of when he says not to love the world is the world system in contrast with the Kingdom of God. One excludes the other and therefore to have one's affections set on things below, will end in sorrow and disappointment. It is the eternal and abiding things that we are told we should love.

Christ taught us to seek first the Kingdom of God . . . not the kingdom of the world.

No Vice President Problem Under Scrutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — That big hole at the top of the government—the empty vice presidency—is still there. Congress is making sounds about doing something and, as usual, it's all uncertain.

Equally important, perhaps more so, is the twin problem never yet settled by law: presidential disability. For instance: who decides the next in line should be president if the president refuses to admit he can't do his job?

IF CONGRESS does act this year—it may not be able to because the Southern filibuster on civil rights has everything gummed up—it will probably be in the form of a constitutional amendment.

Starting out, that needs a two-thirds vote by House and Senate. Next, three-fourths of the states' legislatures must approve. This could take several years.

Congress long ago tried to provide for the line of succession if the president died and there was no vice president. But it has never tackled the disability problem.

Here are some examples of what Congress has done to cover the situation if there's no vice president and the president dies:

BY ACT OF March 1, 1793, Congress provided for the Senate's president pro tempore (one of the senators) and the speaker of the House to succeed to the presidency in that order. That lasted 93 years.

On Jan. 19, 1886, Congress passed another act. This knocked out the 1793 law and said the line of succession should be through the Cabinet, starting with the secretary of state. That lasted 61 years.

On July 18, 1947, Congress changed the law again. Now the line of succession goes this way: Speaker of the House, the Senate's president pro tempore and then the Cabinet.

But eight times—when presidents died in office and were succeeded by their vice presidents—the country has been left without a vice president, as it is now. It so happened that none of the vice presidents who became president died in office.

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the succession to the presidency of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, leaving the No. 2 spot vacant again, has forced the country to look at the problem again.

BUT THERE is that other problem of disability. Since there was no law on the subject, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, and President Kennedy arranged with their vice presidents for them to take over if the president became disabled.

But suppose a president is too disabled to know it. How does the vice president step in? And what happens if a president can't carry out his duties but won't admit it?

A subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee has been studying the problem for months and this week is expected to urge the full committee to approve this solution:

When there's no vice president, the president must nominate a vice president, but he can't take office unless approved by a majority of both houses. When a president says in writing he's too disabled to carry out his job, the vice president would become acting president until the president declared his disability ended.

Sex Of Child Cannot Be Pre-Determined

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Can the sex of a baby be determined in advance? Can the sex of your next child be controlled?

At this stage of understanding of the process, the answer is no. But there are all sorts of theories: the degree of alkalinity in the vagina, the exact time of fertilization, and the degree of emotional stability all influence the sex of the baby-to-be.

However, in my opinion, there is not much that anyone can do to control the sex. All the theories may have some validity. If so, we still must determine which of them exert the most influence, and discover whether still others might have even more importance, and find ways, perhaps, of making sure that ALL factors are mobilized at the same time.

In my mail came a letter from a lady in Duluth who has two girl babies and a lot of books, clippings and magazine articles on how to control sex. She takes me to task for not presenting all these theories to readers of this column and adds:

"In my case, if I succeed in conceiving a boy as planned, I'll always attribute it to science, although you'd probably call it coincidence. I hope you'll print this even if you may not be convinced that these doctors may know more than you on the subject."

I concede that the researchers on this subject know more than I do about it. All I'm saying is that, with all the work they've done, they've only begun to scratch the surface, and such factors as they have not yet studied may well be far more potent than any they have undertaken thus far.

I'm neither discouraging nor making light of this study. Quite the reverse. I hope the lady in Duluth has a boy. But I doubt that we yet know enough to change Nature's odds very much, or that it is worth anybody's trouble (except in the cause of research) to try to "decide" whether the next baby will be a boy or a girl.

It may be that some day such control will be possible; if so, it will then be necessary to write some new laws governing whether you will be permitted to have a boy or a girl!

You think I'm joking? If you want to be really erudite, look up the archives of last winter's meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Cleveland and you will find some papers dealing with the impact on society, if for whatever reason, the ratio of boys to girls should be substantially upset.

In fact, I don't even need any learned papers to convince me that there would be a problem! And I'm glad that Nature proves she can't be too easily upset in her designs.

But I still hope the lady in Duluth has a boy. Maybe twin boys. I wonder if that wouldn't make her doubly sure that she's right and I'm wrong.

Around The Rim

The Old Shell Game

My former home town was one of those communities reluctant to make changes. As long as some sort of system familiar to the town was still workable, even though it creaked and failed to perform efficiently, the fathers were prone to leave it be.

Even after the town had grown to be a small city, it had no real garbage collecting system. A score or so of individuals, some with battered old trucks and others with scrawny horses or mules, had the job of gathering up the town's trash and delivering it to the city dump.

A FEW OF THESE itinerant trash haulers were fairly dependable. As a result, as word got around that Charley, for example, was reliable, more and more people would hire him. The upshot was that Charley would load himself down with so many houses that he, too, would cease to perform good service.

A city election was coming up, and the proposal the city adopt a municipally operated trash and garbage department was one of the main issues.

One of the candidates for mayor, and the three city council candidates aligned with him, worked up a tremendous campaign against the proposed trash collecting system.

WHY? Not because it would cost considerable money to buy the trucks and equipment, or because of lack of need for the service.

The candidates wept salty tears for the plight of the "poor trash men" whose jobs would be abolished if the city adopted a municipal system.

The mayor, who turned out to be one of the most irritating characters I ever had to deal with, stumped the town. His councilmen pals walked with him.

THE OTHER candidates replied that all of the "poor trash men" who were in any way suitable would be given jobs in the new municipal department. A close check showed that less than a third of the trash haulers were making as much as three dollars a day. Some had monthly earnings of less than $75 a month. There was plenty of evidence that most of the haulers made no effort to keep the papers and trash from blowing from their beat-up trucks and wagons—you could track one of them by the rubbish left in their wake. They did not like the three mile drive to the city dump so they made roadsides half a mile out of town into dumping grounds.

We pointed out all of these things.

THE ELECTION rolled around and the voters, their eyes swollen with weeping over the sad plight of the beery old bums who manned the trash wagons, voted in the anti-trash hauling department slate by the heaviest majorities in any city election in two decades.

And the town wagged on, littered and messy with the private haulers in the saddle, three years longer. Finally, the situation got so terrible that even the new administration had to make a half-hearted stab at solving the problem. Ultimately the mayor and his cronies were thrown out of office.

THEIR SUCCESSORS were finally able to cope with a problem which need never have arisen.

I concluded from that experience that an emotional appeal is often the best possible political maneuver. The candidates who stirred up all the sympathy for the poor, downtrodden trash haulers were able by their phony issue to distract voters' attention from the candidates' shortcomings. Later, many voters frankly confessed sheepishly they didn't know how they had been hooked, and so they were among the first who signed the recall petition which helped clean out the city hall.

Is The Senate A Sheltered Shop?

WASHINGTON—In philanthropy a "sheltered shop" is a place where handicapped or retarded persons work together under protective conditions. In politics, the term could be applied to the U. S. Senate, where members are apt to protect each other from embarrassing probes and revelations.

The senators, unlike the inmates of other sheltered shops, are not physically or mentally incapable of facing the world and its sometimes raucous music, but sometimes they'd rather not.

THIS IS THE case in two current instances. One is highly publicized: the Bobby Baker case. The other is on the way, I hope, to being so: the case of the Council for a Livable World, which is an elaborate and goafy disarmament lobby. It holds propaganda seminars for senators and their administrative assistants, prepares peace-mongering speeches for up-for-re-election senators and has contributed over $33,000 (thus far) to campaign funds of senators whose committee experience teaches them nothing about military matters, but who will vote for disarmament.

IN THE SENATE there are always a few brave souls, with pure hearts and clean hands, who buck the clubhouse spirit and who hold that the public has a right to know facts that reflect upon the probity of all members.

New Man Against An Old Boss

NEW YORK — David faced the giant Goliath with some stones and a slingshot, and that is the way a Congressional contest in the Bronx here, which is beginning to attract national attention, looks today.

The David is Jonathan Bingham running in the Democratic primary on June 2 against Rep. Charles A. Buckley. One of the last of the old-time city bosses, Buckley in his 30 years in Congress has ruled with an iron hand. His Congressional seat has been little more than a handy lever to augment his personal power.

THE CONTRAST could not be sharper between the challenger and the boss. Bingham resigned as one of America's representatives to the United Nations out of a dedicated interest in politics and world affairs. He is a product of Groton School, Yale and a long participation in public life that has led him to the Bronx with its great reaches of cliff-like apartments in search of votes.

Under ordinary circumstances this David would have little chance in what in British parlance is a "rotten borough" dominated by an ancient machine. But it so happens that Buckley has been tagged with one of the most shocking abuses of Congressional privilege in recent times.

AS CHAIRMAN of the House Public Works Committee, which he rarely goes near, he has nine staff members on the payroll who spend most of their time in the Bronx oiling his political machine. Rep. James C. Cleveland (R., N. H.) has shown that these so-called staff members were paid $62,419 last year although the law says they shall not engage in any outside activities.

So far this year they have been paid nearly $15,000, according to Rep. Fred Schwegel of Iowa, another Republican who has been fighting for fair staff assignments by House committees.

TWO YEARS AGO when Bingham was considering running against Buckley, the late President Kennedy sent word asking him to stay out of the ground that Buckley would round out his career with one more term.

Senator John Williams (R., Del.) has vowed to stay with the Bobby Baker case, making a series of probing speeches, until the lid gets lifted and we find out who are the "takers" and makers of illicit money. Another clubhouse rowdy is Major Lennox P. McClelland, the sharp old courthouse lawyer whom the Rules Committee retained to conduct a whitewash job, but who painted a big sign on the "keep out" fence: "Senators ought to be as honest as their employees."

RIGHT NOW the need is for a public-spirited, clubhouse-cleansing senator to take the Livable World and its contributions to the Senate floor, but the hesitancy is understandable. Should Democrats look down the throat of a gift horse which has coughed up good money for their fellow partisans: McGovern ($22,000), Clark (maybe as much as $20,000), Burdick ($14,000), McGee ($8,000), Muskie ($300) and Fulbright ($2,500). Of these, only Fulbright, as chairman of Foreign Relations, is positioned in committee assignments to know the national peril of an ignorant vote on disarmament.

The Senate, with its members and candidates receiving such campaign donations, ought to discover the Livable World. (Contributed by McLaughlin Syndicate, Inc.)

New Man Against An Old Boss

The Bronx boss had come out for Kennedy for President at a strategic moment and this had helped to sway the New York delegation.

The other night Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy came to the Bronx and gave Buckley a ringing endorsement, expressing the hope he would serve for 30 years more in Congress. If Kennedy should decide to run for the Senate in this state Buckley's help would be invaluable. Or should it come to a showdown for the Vice Presidency at the Atlantic City convention the voice of boss Buckley, speaking loud and clear, could be a potent persuader.

NIGHT AFTER NIGHT Bingham goes from one Kaffeeklatsch to another speaking earnestly about the issues and about Buckley's record of absenteeism from the House. He shakes hands at subway stations in the early morning and again in the evening when the commuters are homeward bound.

Another reform Democrat challenging in the David tradition is William Haddad formerly an administrator in the Peace Corps and a lively prodler of the complacent on the New Frontier. He is running in the primary against Rep. Leonard Farbstein in a district in the heart of Manhattan. Win or lose, it may be significant that these younger men are willing to risk tough political battle for what they believe in. That in itself is a victory in this great impersonal city.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Sliding Tray Handy For Freezer Use

Dear Heloise:

For those who have freezer compartments in their refrigerators... and are always "forgetting" or "losing" items: I place a cookie sheet in the freezer compartment of my refrigerator and put all the frozen foods on it.

HELOISE

All I have to do now is pull out the cookie sheet and SEE what is in the back, etc. The cookie sheet also keeps the packages of frozen foods from sticking to the freezer. This idea is wonderful when defrosting the refrigerator each week. I can just remove the cookie sheet and have all my frosting compartment unloaded at once, saving the time it takes to "UN-pull" those frozen packages from the freezer one by one.

also be used as car floor mats. I buy my samples the same color as my carpet.

'Top Priority' For Vietnamese

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today that the South Viet Nam forces battling communism "have a blank check" and top priority on the arms, manpower and funds of the Defense Department.

Two Locations Staked In Area

Two new locations, one for salt water disposal, have been filed in area counties. Tom W. Landers No. 2-H I. N. McCrary will be 1,263 feet from the south and 800 feet from the east lines of Holmes. Driver & Long survey No. 2. To test the South (Glorieta) field to 3,000 feet by rotary, the well is eight miles north of Justiceburg on a 186 acre lease.

McNamara's comments came after he spent nearly three hours briefing the Senate Armed Services Committee on his most recent visit to the battleground. His statements with respect to the planes in use in the Southeast Asian country firmly backed up testimony by Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert in another congressional hearing.

Zuckert said faulty structure may have caused some plane crashes there, but he insisted the aircraft are the safest in the U.S. arsenal. McNamara, talking with newsmen after the Senate hearing, said he is positive that the South Viet Nam people want to win and can protect their independence with the help of this country.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said McNamara's secret testimony indicated the situation in Viet Nam is very serious. "He was not as optimistic on his timetable as he had been before," Russell said.

The chairman said no members of his committee appeared to agree with Morse and a few other senators that U.S. forces should be withdrawn from Viet Nam.

But Russell said he and some other senators are "not too sure that we are involved out there."

QUAIL TAKES HIGH ROAD

Blue quail, ordinarily, are very diligent little birds. They build neat nests on the ground and produce sizeable litters of little quail.

L. J. Davidson, county commissioner, is puzzled at the action of a mother blue quail on his farm. She has elected to nest high in a vine on the porch at the house and, furthermore, has appropriated an abandoned sparrow's nest rather than build her own.

There are about 10 eggs in the nest, Davidson reports, and the Davidson family has to walk tiptoe when on the porch.

What will happen when the clutch hatches and there are 10 little quail in the crowded nest high up in the vine? That's what Davidson is wondering about.

Three Shaken In Collision

A Lamesa man and a Big Spring woman were injured in a three-car accident at 207 North Benton about 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Robert Barkley Bowlin, 58, was released after receiving treatment for a sore neck at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Mrs. D. M. (Stella) Donovan, 22, of 1203 Marjio, and wife of a city policeman, became ill later in the day and was taken to Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital for treatment. Her condition was described as good.

Also involved in the accident was Glenn Burden, Irving. Police said his car was in collision with the Bowlin car, and the impact sent this vehicle into the Donovan car. Each of the vehicles was headed south on North Benton at the time of the collision, according to officers, who estimated damage at $250 to the Burden car, $200 to the Bowlin vehicle, and $100 to Mrs. Donovan's car.

Locations of other accidents and drivers involved: Tulsa at Stadium, Mona Caughman, 1409 Tucson, and Marvin Erhardt, 401 Washington; Nineteenth and Main, Lorna Ferguson, Lamesa, and Gladys Prescott, Forsan; Fifteenth at Gollad, Charles Nichols, 705 Highland Drive, and Elizabeth Jordan, 1209 E. 17th.

In addition, the vehicle of an unidentified motorist hit a house at 1022 1/2 Nolan about 10:15 a.m., causing about $20 damage. Owner of the house is A. J. Prager.

In Hospital

Juvenile Officer Bob Darland was admitted to Howard County Hospital Monday for medical treatment. Authorities today described his condition as good.

Half-Million Turnout Due In Oklahoma Runoff Vote

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—A half-million voters were expected to turn out today in Oklahoma's runoff primary election, spiced by a torrid U.S. Senate race between two young men.

The Senate campaign, the bitterest in a decade, pits incumbent J. Howard Edmondson, 38, against state Sen. Fred Harris, 35. The winner faces Republican nominee Bud Wilkinson in the November general election.

Wilkinson, former University of Oklahoma football coach, captured the GOP nomination without a runoff in the May 5 primary election. The senator elected this year will serve the remaining two years of the term to which the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, a Democrat, was elected in 1960.

Kerr died Jan. 1, 1963. Edmondson resigned as governor a week later to accept appointment to the Senate. Kerr's widow and his Senate staff members supported Harris.

Also on the statewide ballot is a controversial proposal to rewrite the reapportionment section of the Oklahoma constitution. Termed the "Little Congress Plan," the question gained the support of rural organizations but was opposed by city forces.

The amendment would base membership in a 48-member Senate mainly on area, with some consideration given to population.

Representation in the 128-member House of Representatives would be determined by a population ratio system with each of the state's 77 counties guaranteed a House member.

In the only other race of statewide significance, Rep. Victor Wickersham faces Jed Johnson Jr., 24, son of the late Oklahoma congressman, in a Democratic runoff in the state's 6th Congressional District.

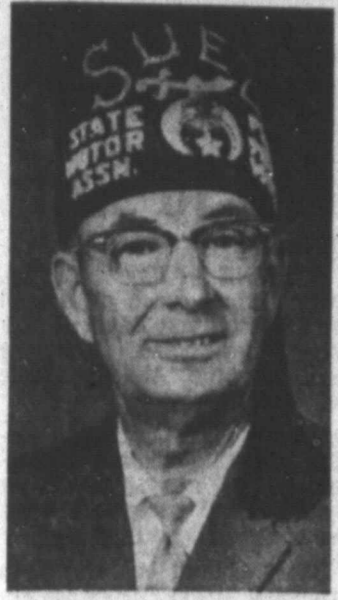

In rural areas, polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. In cities and towns, polls open an hour earlier and close an hour later.

The Edmondson-Harris campaign boiled down to a contest for the supporters of former Gov. Raymond Gary, who ran third in the Democratic senatorial primary.

Edmondson collected 215,000 votes, Harris 190,000 and Gary 170,000. Gary remained publicly neutral in the runoff.

Leaves Hospital

Wayne Tollett, city detective who suffered a heart attack May 8, has been released from Cowper Clinic-Hospital. His condition is substantially improved. Tollett was employed by the Big Spring police department May 1, 1958. He was appointed a detective July 1, 1963.

ALBERT SMITH

Albert Smith Heads Patrol

Albert Smith, Big Spring, was elected and installed as president of the Texas Motor Patrol Association at the annual meeting last weekend in Fort Worth. Eleven Shrine Temples, including Suez from Big Spring, were present. Harvey C. Hooser Jr., Big Spring, was elected state secretary.

Connie Jones Jr., Waco, was installed as first vice president, and Dan Downs, Fort Worth, as second vice president.

Martin Browne, potentate of Suez Temple, Midland, presented the incoming president with a new jeweled fez. All Divan members of Suez Temple, including two past potentates, Cecil McDonald and Ted Groebel, Big Spring, attended the meeting.

This is the first state office held by a member of Suez Temple in the Motor Patrol Association, the largest uniform group in the state Shrine association. Around 350 members and wives attended the luncheon and installation at Ridglea Country Club, with all of the 11 temples represented.

The Suez Temple's motor patrol took seventh place, in competition with 11 patrols, in Fort Worth. Muskat Temple, Wichita Falls, won first place; Karem Temple, Waco, second; Moslem Temple, Fort Worth, third, and Kiva Temple, Lubbock, fourth.

The mid-winter meeting, to be held in Big Spring in February 1965, will take care of all state business for the motor patrol, and elect officers.

President Smith gave this dedication:

"As president of the Texas Shrine Motor Patrol Association, I dedicate this year's work to our new Burn Center Hospital and to the Crippled Children's hospitals. With God's help, may all these children who are crippled walk again and live to become good citizens of our beloved America. Our motto: 'We ride so crippled children may walk.'"

The Shrine's Burn Center, located on the John Sealy Hospital grounds in Galveston, is under construction. John Sealy's facilities are being used until the center is completed.

State's Crops Moving Ahead

AUSTIN (AP)—Despite a lag in the plains area, planting of Texas' cotton crop has passed the three-quarter mark, reaching 78 per cent last week, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Early planted irrigated fields on the high plains are coming up with a uniform stand," the department said Monday in its weekly crop and weather report.

"Cotton in the lower valley reached the large boll stage," the USDA said.

The department said field work continued at an active pace except where rain caused delays in south central and southern counties.

Wheat harvest picked up in the low plains and cross timbers; field corn made good growth over the state; 20 per cent of the oat crop had been combined, and 61 per cent of the sorghum crop has been planted, the department said.

Barley harvest started in the low plains and moved eastward with 9 per cent combined. Flax combining picked up in South Texas as 70 per cent of the acreage is harvested. About 95 per cent of the rice crop is in the ground.

Vegetable harvest was held up by rain in South Texas and along the Gulf Coast.

Florida Gambling

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Florida businessman said Monday that an intensive statewide drive to legalize gambling in that state would be started soon. Joe Schweller of Miami Beach said hundreds of businessmen have united in an organization called "extension of legalized gambling" and would campaign for a state lottery and legalized gambling in casinos.

BIG SPRING BUSINESS and INDUSTRY

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1964

THESE DIESELS PULL MILLIONS OF FREIGHT TONS ANNUALLY
 Texas and Pacific Railway's lines through Big Spring are kept busy by them

Diesel-Electric Locomotives Have Replaced Old Steamers

The first locomotive to pull into Big Spring over the newly-laid Texas and Pacific railroad 83 years ago was a lot different to the modern streamliners of today. The old funnel-smokestacked steamers were just as advanced in their day as the diesel-electric units now used to pull more than 100 loaded freight cars over much heavier rails.

15 YEARS AGO It was a little over 15 years ago that the first modern diesel-electric locomotive made its debut on the T&P. This drastic transition in motive power was both hailed and lamented.

To many admirers of the railroad's impressive old steam engines, the passing of the lumbering giants, and the coming of the diesels meant the end of a romantic era of railroading. It meant the passing of that most nostalgic of sounds—the long, tuneful, and often plaintive at night sound of the steam locomotive whistle. When the big, swift-moving, high-wheeled steamers, used for pulling passenger trains, first started over railroads, there were always crowds at the depot to meet the trains. Some went down to see who was coming and going. Others were more interested in the puffing, steaming, and sometimes smoking moguls rumbling in to the stations with sparks flying from applied brakes. Nobody goes to the station to watch trains come in today, unless expecting to meet someone.

SLEEK MODELS But the fast-and-flashy new diesels, with their powerful engines gliding smoothly over the rails up to 70 to 80 miles per hour, more than filled the motive power gap. In five meteoric years, they proceeded to "put to pasture" every steam-powered "Iron Horse" the T&P owned to complete dieselizing the railroad.

During the past 15 years Texas and Pacific has acquired and put into service more than 200 diesel units—with combined 328,800 electrical-locomotive horsepower. While based on principles which a youthful student encounters high school physics, a diesel locomotive engine is nevertheless a complex entity. For instance, a unit contains more than two miles of electrical wiring.

FLEXIBLE Not only in numerous economies and efficiencies do the diesels surpass their steam predecessors, but boasting other operational virtues, these modern giants of the high steel have proved themselves vastly superior. They can start heavier trains and climb steeper grades with smoothness. Coming in units, they may either be put on or taken off to fit the lengths of the trains to be hauled and the speeds of their schedules. And they have eliminated the physical hardships—such as an open cab or taking on water—which went along with running the now-retired steam models.

Engineers today may wear business suits, if desired, on their runs. No longer is the striped-bill cap, and the high-bill overalls considered a necessity, although many sticks to the cap. Neither do the engineer and fireman dismount from the cab with the long-spouted oil cans, and go over the journals and connecting rods, as the train comes to a stop at the station.

Spread It With Any Old Sponge
 No need for a brush to apply that roach and insect killer—No-Roach. Take an old sponge that's worn out—or anything else—and just rub it on. The fact is, it goes on thicker and quicker—and twice as smoothly.
 No-Roach is effective against cockroaches, ants, spiders, and all crawling insects. It is colorless and odorless.
 If the pests run in hard-to-reach places just pour some No-Roach in a plastic bottle and squirt it around. Cabinet corners, under ledges, and in cracks, are best treated by squirting.
 If ants crawl in over the floor just add a cupful to the water when you mop the kitchen, or any tile floor, and No-Roach will end the invasion.
 Johnston's No-Roach is available at your favorite super-market, grocery, or at your drug store.

Receives 50-Year Masonic Pin

Dr. W. A. Hunt, who delivered the main address, watches as Ralph W. Baker receives his pin for 50 years membership in the Masonic Blue Lodge from P. D. Ausmus, district deputy for the grand master. This is Baker's second 50-year pin from Masonic orders.

Veteran Surveyor-Engineer Gets 50-Year Masonic Pin

By SAM BLACKBURN
"It was a lot like what happened about 13 months ago," Ralph W. Baker, colorful West Texas civil engineer and Howard County surveyor for the past 24 years, remarked. "That day, I was in Van Horn doing some survey work for a client. I received a call from El Paso Consistory asking me to attend a meeting on a certain date. I did and found out that the meeting was to present me with a pin marking my 50 years membership in the consistory.

For 24 years he has served as Howard County's engineer. In those years he has never had an opponent when his office was up for election. Furthermore, during World War II, when Baker was serving with the U.S. Corps of Engineers, he was twice re-elected as surveyor although he had not personally filed and during a time when he was not even in the county.

In 1913, in El Paso Lodge No. 130. In the same year he became a York Rite Mason and has received all of the degrees through the Commandery. He also is a 32nd Degree Consistory Mason and a Shriner. In 1916, Baker was with the U. S. Army and stationed just a few miles from Columbus, N. M. "I was seven miles away from that town," he recalls, the day Pancho Villa made his raid. "I was with General Jack Pershing on his pursuit of Villa into Old Mexico. I stayed in the army for 18 months, retiring at that time as a sergeant."

"This time, I was asked to attend a meeting at AF&M Lodge No. 1940 on Monday night. I was happy to receive a pin for 50 years membership in the Blue Lodge." Soon, Baker will be called for another ceremony. He has 50 years membership in York Rite Masonry and is eligible for a 50 year pin from the Commandery.

"I locked up my office, turned in my keys to the county commissioners and told them I had been called to duty," he recalls. "I got my call to report Dec. 7 - Pearl Harbor Day. I was on my way the next day. The county commissioners accepted the keys to my office. 'Go ahead,' they told me, 'and your office will be waiting for you when you come back.'"

"When I was mustered out after the war ended, sure enough my job was waiting and I found I had won two unopposed re-election campaigns while I had been gone." GRADUATE ENGINEER Baker graduated from the University of California with a BS degree in engineering. He became a Master Mason Oct.

Former Lamesa School Chief Given Promotion

Cleo W. Tarter will become chairman of McMurry College's department of education, succeeding Dr. William A. Miller Jr., who is leaving McMurry for a new post at North Texas State University Sept. 1. Dr. Gordon Bennett announced the appointment. Tarter, former school superintendent at Sweetwater and Lamesa and director of McMurry's Dyess Air Force Branch since 1961, will receive the doctor of education degree from Texas Technological College May 30. He will continue this summer as associate professor of education and head of the Dyess Branch. In his new job, Dr. Tarter will have responsibility for McMurry's teacher education program and related educational activities. He will also continue to head the Dyess AFB program next year, Dr. Bennett said.

DR. CLEO W. TARTER

Tarter was superintendent of schools at Lamesa from 1952 to 1961 and at Sweetwater from 1940 to 1952. He previously had served as elementary principal at Fluvauna, 1927 to 1931; as high school principal and superintendent at Dunn, 1932 to 1940. Dr. Tarter is widely known in West Texas educational circles and is past president of the Oil Belt Teachers Association. He is a member of the American Association of School Administrators, of the Texas Association of School Administrators, of the Texas State Teachers Association, and of the National Education Association.

Dr. Tarter is active in Methodist Church circles also. He is now lay leader at Aldersgate Methodist Church and heads the lay speaking program in the Abilene district. He was chairman of the official board of Sweetwater's Highland Heights Methodist Church and of First Methodist Church in Lamesa. He had taught a Sunday school class for 14 years prior to 1964. Dr. and Mrs. Tarter live at 2526 Regent St. and have two children, Cleo W. Tarter Jr., Odessa, and Mrs. W. L. Burke, Austin. Tarter is a graduate of Sul Ross State College and received his master of arts degree from Texas Tech. He has been active in the Lions Club for many years.

Pool Open At Forsan

FORSAN (SC) - The Forsan swimming pool opened last Friday with 147 swimmers on hand. Manager James Blake said the pool will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily, except Monday. All Forsan-Elbow school students are admitted on passes. Other prices are adults 50 cents and children 25 cents. Blake plans longer hours on the weekends, if he can work out a program, on special request, for parties between 5 p.m. and dark. Swimming lessons will be provided, beginning in mid-June from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, with groups divided according to age.

Dr. Tarter is active in Methodist Church circles also. He is now lay leader at Aldersgate Methodist Church and heads the lay speaking program in the Abilene district. He was chairman of the official board of Sweetwater's Highland Heights Methodist Church and of First Methodist Church in Lamesa. He had taught a Sunday school class for 14 years prior to 1964. Dr. and Mrs. Tarter live at 2526 Regent St. and have two children, Cleo W. Tarter Jr., Odessa, and Mrs. W. L. Burke, Austin. Fondling Charge Against Father

J. C. Valdez has been charged with fondling in a complaint filed in the court of Justice of the Peace Walter Grice. Grice set bond at $5,000 but the defendant had not posted bail Tuesday morning. Aubrey Standard, chief deputy sheriff, said that Valdez was arrested on Saturday and accused of mistreating his 14-year-old daughter.

Girl Missing

Police have notified other stations to help locate Charlotte J. Wise, 16, daughter of Mrs. Lillie Mae Wise, 1502 W. 5th Street. She has been missing from her home since Sunday noon, officers said. Charlotte was described as being 5 feet, 4 inches tall, and as a brunette.

Big Spring's School Board Meets Today

Returns from last Saturday's school bond election will be canvassed by the Big Spring school board of trustees at a called meeting at 7:30 p.m. today. Assuming returns are validated, the school district's bond fiscal agent will proceed to have the bonds certified and suggest a date for the first sale of $3.5 million for expansion of the high school. At the meeting the trustees will consider naming a board of equalization for real estate and personal property. The board of equalization will meet July 1-2. Other board action will be to hear a preliminary report of a study of the organization and staffing of the Big Spring schools by Dr. Bascom B. Hayes, professor of educational administration, the University of Texas. This will be first of a series of such reports to guide the school board in planning for future organizational staffing of the central administration and of individual school levels.

Viets Celebrate Buddha Birthday

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Buddhists in Saigon and Hue joined in massive but orderly religious rallies today to commemorate Buddha's birthday and the fiery Buddhist suicides that helped topple President Ngo Dinh Diem last year.

U.S. military authorities imposed an 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew for American servicemen in Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon. A bloody riot there during the birthday celebration last year set off the Buddhist crisis for the Diem government.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Fire bombs were thrown at several buildings Monday night and a fire-scarred United States flag was dropped at a hotel entrance by members of the revolutionary Peronist youth movement. A truce declared by labor leaders ended at midnight, and the unions were expected to resume their "fighting plan" to get a minimum wage written into law by Congress. The Peronist-dominated General Confederation of Labor is leading the drive, which independent unions oppose as premature.

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard says he plans to attend a European Common Market meeting shortly and hopes the trade bloc's other five government chiefs will join him.

Erhard, who is to visit President Johnson in Washington next week, urged the summit meeting Monday night to give the organization a political underpinning. Cabinet ministers from the member countries—the others are France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—meet June 1 in Brussels, but it was not certain Erhard had this date in mind.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—A group which supports Radio Free Europe says the Chinese-Soviet conflict provides people in Communist states of East-Central Europe with the opportunity to press for "concessions."

The West European Advisory Committee of the Free Europe Committee closed a weekend meeting Monday night with a communique listing these favorable developments: Open assertion of Romanian national interests against Soviet policy, successful efforts by Hungarians to obtain relaxation of totalitarian rule, and the intellectual and political ferment forcing a recession of Stalinism in Czechoslovakia.

Goldwater Launching All-Out Battle For First Time In His Political Life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For perhaps the first time in his life, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., is pouring all his strength into an effort to win a political battle. It is a grim and fighting Goldwater who is spurring his campaign into the stretch run with New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the 86 California nominating votes that will garland the winner of this state's June 2 primary.

For Goldwater, running for office in the past has been something of a happy-go-lucky lark. He drifted into the contest for the Republican presidential nomination without giving much thought to the grind involved in primary campaigning.

second to Henry Cabot Lodge in New Hampshire and third behind Rockefeller and Lodge in Oregon. But California is a different story. Goldwater is showing for the first time that, shoved into a corner, he can fight hard. This state, which once looked like a cinch for the Arizona senator, doesn't look that way anymore. The reason is, in Goldwater's words, that other announced and unannounced contenders for the nomination have "joined in opposing me here in California."

obviously think their man's position would be bettered if the Arizona senator rode to a fall. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's recent statement of Republican principles was assessed editorially by the New York Times as "plainly designed to throw the influence of the party's most distinguished leader against Goldwater." Goldwater's response has been to come out fighting. He did it Monday night before a cheering, banner-waving crowd which overflowed the Oakland, Calif., auditorium.

becoming political trading stamps," he said. Striking out at Rockefeller and his other opponents, he added: "I will not offer you a crybaby candidacy that says do it my way or I won't play." Goldwater, who had planned previously to taper off his California campaigning, told the cheering throng that "I intend to spend the next six days discussing the issues and nothing else, even though the temptation is very great." "SMEAR" This was an obvious reference to the "smear" charges he said had been made against him in the state campaign. Earlier in the day, at Shasta College, Goldwater had produced an arrow, stuck it under his arm, and turned around to make it appear he had been shot in the back. He told a crowd of about 1,500 that this was what had been happening to him in recent weeks.

He indicated clearly that he thought the arrows had been coming from Republican bows.

ROCKY ON TOP There isn't much doubt, despite some public denials, that backers of every other potential nominee would like to see Rockefeller come out on top in the primary voting in the belief that this would stop Goldwater cold in his headlong accumulation of convention delegate strength. Even the supporters of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who has had some nice things to say about Goldwater,

Don't Gang Up Packed with Goldwater, partisans, the meeting may not have added a single vote to his primary total. But it offered Goldwater a forum in which to declare that "I don't gang up with other candidates to swap your votes back and forth." "I think that your California votes are worth more than just Zoning Board To Hold Hearing The zoning board of adjustment will meet at 4 p.m. Thursday to hear a request for a variance to the maximum lot coverage ordinance. Frank Rutherford is asking permission to build an addition to his business at 1700 Gregg that will exceed the maximum lot coverage permitted under the zoning ordinance. The maximum coverage allowed under the ordinance is 40 per cent. Owners of property located within 200 feet of the affected property have been notified of the hearing.

Republicans Pick Convention Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee meets today to approve Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky and Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon as the top officers for the party's 1964 convention.

Miller, announcing the selections, noted that Republicans had only two major convention officers prior to 1952. With no contests for the nomination in 1956 and 1960, he said, the three-way split of top jobs, adopted in 1952, was retained to give more exposure to Republican leaders.

Overcoming opposition from some backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the committee combined the jobs of temporary chairman and keynote speaker and gave them to Hatfield. MODERATE Generally Morton is considered a moderate Republican. Hatfield, who usually is associated with the party's liberal wing, had been recommended for permanent chairman by the Republican Governor's Conference.

Neither man has openly supported any of the potential GOP presidential nominees. Some Goldwater supporters had said they would fight any move to combine the job of temporary chairman—for which Hatfield had been ticketed—and the post of keynote speaker, which was wide open after National Chairman William E. Miller withdrew from consideration. After the committee voted 28 to 20 to combine the jobs and then picked Hatfield over Gov. Tim M. Babcock of Montana by an even wider margin, 28 to 0, spokesmen for Goldwater said they were satisfied.

Two others who had been mentioned as keynoter possibilities withdrew from consideration after the committee voted to combine the job with temporary chairman. They are Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., the choice of some Goldwater backers, and Minnesota state Chairman Robert A. Forsythe, who served in the Eisenhower administration as assistant secretary of welfare.
