Supreme Court Spells Out Redistricting

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wholesale and historic revamping of state legislatures was decreed today by the Supreme Court. The tribunal ruled that the seats in both houses of state legislatures "must be apportioned on a population basis."

Expect States To Give Battle

AUSTIN (AP)—A high state official says he expects the states to initiate a constitutional amendment overriding the U.S. Supreme Court's decisions today on state legislative apportionment. The high court ruled today in cases from Alabama, Delaware, Virginia, New York and Maryland, that seats in both houses of a bicameral legislature must be apportioned as nearly as practicable on an equal population basis.

Rights Bill Survives A Major Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted today to retain in the civil rights bill the key title barring discrimination in motels and hotels, restaurants, amusement centers and gasoline stations.

CONFIDENT Meanwhile, Democratic leaders are so confident that the bill will pass this week that they already are turning their attention to other major administration legislation.

A tremendous pileup of House-approved measures is awaiting Senate action once the civil rights bill is passed.

Sen. Barry Goldwater will vote against the measure unless it is materially revised, his campaign manager said Sunday night.

MUST MEASURES Among the "must" measures waiting their turn in the Senate is the $533-million federal pay increase bill the House passed last Thursday.

Under this plan, adopted as a result of the "great compromise" in the constitutional convention of the Founding Fathers, the House of Representatives is based on population, but every state, no matter how sparsely populated, has two senators.

CITY MANAGER Larry Crow today said the State Fire Insurance Board notified him the City of Big Spring has received a three cent reduction in its key rate.

Management, Crews Surprised By Strike

Pickets Patrol Most Stations

RAILROAD PICKET ON PARADE

Striker stands guard in Texas and Pacific Railroad yards here

Traffic Halted As Unions Honor Trainmen Picket Line

"We are striking under the provisions of General Rule 12 of our constitution—a rule which gives us the right to strike if that is the only way we can iron out our problems with management."

This was the way T. P. Ray, head of union yardmen between Abilene and Odessa, described the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen picket line that today brought to a halt all Texas & Pacific Railway Company traffic.

Ray said that the brotherhood for yardmen and brakemen has 163 members here and that all are off the job. As a practical matter, most of the T&P's 400 employees here were also off the job because operating union members would not cross the picket lines which went up at 6 a.m. in a surprise move.

The last train to come into Big Spring arrived at 9 a.m.—No. 22 from the west—and it halted here. The crew left and there was none to take its place, and management was left to figure what to do with passengers on the train.

BARELY MADE IT Passenger train No. 27 barely cleared on its westbound journey, leaving here at 5:35 a.m., and was due to go all the way to El Paso. An eastbound freight from El Paso was due to be halted at Toyah, and an eastbound one from Big Spring to be halted at Baird.

Ray Blessingame, T&P division superintendent, said he had not been advised of any decision regarding traffic. The strike came as a surprise, he said.

Technically, Ray said, word of the strike was spread at 6 p.m. Sunday. It did not reach many other persons than the railroaders.

In fact, many railroaders had not heard of the sudden decision until they reached the yard at 6 a.m.

"The strike is spreading," Ray said. "We look for many other roads to become stalled as the movement grows."

The union is holding continuous private sessions on the mezzanine floor of the Settles Hotel.

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen struck railroads throughout Texas and neighboring states today. The strike caught the railroads and train crews by surprise. Many freight and passenger trains were being held at their first stop after the strike went into effect.

STANDSTILL At Houston, switching operations at the port were at a standstill.

Jerry Turner, the port's general manager, said that the strike, if prolonged could cut the port's business by 50 per cent.

E. A. Clayton, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for the T&P, issued this statement in Fort Worth:

"We have a request in for rules changes in accordance with the Railway Labor Act and there have been delays by the carriers for years."

"We have tried patiently to get these legitimate changes made only to be ignored by the railroad."

"They seem to have adopted the attitude that from now on they can run as they please despite the provisions of the railway labor act and in contradiction of signed agreements."

"We disagree. We want to proceed in an orderly manner on legitimate grievances and will not give up until the carriers become reasonable in handling these matters."

The strike went into effect despite an order by U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff in Washington Sunday night. He issued a 10-day temporary restraining order against the union enjoining against a strike. He set a hearing in the case for next Monday, June 22.

However, reports from over Texas indicated that pickets were posted at 6 a.m. today at facilities of the Missouri Pacific, the Katy, Texas and Pacific, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, the I&G and other lines.

John Purdum, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Missouri Pacific Gulf Division, said the strike was called because "the railroad in our opinion has violated working agreements and awards by the National Railway Adjustment Board."

He said one of the principal points in dispute was physical examinations. He said these examinations were aimed at the elimination of personnel. The strike involved brakemen, yardmasters and switchmen.

Purdum said he was confident that other unions would honor picket lines. One combination freight and mail train was being held up at Palestine.

At Odessa, officials of the Texas and Pacific said the close-down there was virtually 100 per cent. They said only two passenger trains would be operated, one east and one west. All freight service was halted.

The Katy southbound Texas Special from Kansas City arrived at Denison a few minutes after 6 a.m. and was held there when two pickets appeared. The two dozen or so passengers took a bus to Dallas and points south.

Headquarters of the M-K-T in Denison said it had no information as to the cause of the strike. Union headquarters said officials were out of the city. D. T. Barksdale, assistant general manager of the Texas and Pacific, said in Fort Worth pickets appeared along the entire T&P system from El Paso to New Orleans and Fort Worth to Texarkana.

Mail Service Is Hampered

Mail service, which has been gravely hampered by the sudden strike of the yardmen and brakemen of the Texas and Pacific Railroad, was posing a problem for E. C. Boatler, postmaster, and his staff Monday.

"We had no inkling of the impending walkout," said Boatler. "We are still waiting for word from Dallas on what procedures we are to follow. When there was a threat of a strike some time ago, we were sent detailed plans on how the mail was to be handled. This time, we have no instructions."

He said that it was possible that only first class mail and parcel post would be accepted if the strike held on. Airlines, trucks, buses and other transportation media would be called into action to keep the mail moving.

Republicans Pouring Into Dallas To Hear Goldwater

DALLAS (AP)—Texas Republicans poured into Dallas today for a $100-a-plate dinner honoring Barry Goldwater and a convention due to pledge the state's 56 GOP delegates to the Arizona senator.

"The great state of Texas will give Sen. Goldwater the 56 votes that will put him beyond the magic number of 655 and will give him a first roll call victory for the Republican nomination for President," State Chairman Peter O'Donnell said.

JOHN TOWER Joining O'Donnell in predicting a Goldwater victory at the national Republican convention July 13 in San Francisco was John Tower, Texas' first Republican senator since Reconstruction Days.

Tower discounted the entry of Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania into the GOP presidential nomination race. He said Goldwater should win because he will be "firstest with the mostest."

Goldwater has a good chance of carrying several Southern states, including Texas. Tower said he would have no objection to Scranton also addressing the Texas state convention "if there is demand for him to do so."

NOT TEXAS Scranton has scheduled a number of visits in various states this week but not Texas. While the pre-convention sentiment is overwhelmingly for Goldwater, National Committee Chairman Albert Fay said that he had been informed that Scranton will have a representative at the Texas convention.

Several from Houston were boosting Scranton in pre-convention discussions. GOP officials predict their 1964 state convention which opens Tuesday morning in Dallas' Memorial Auditorium will be the largest in Texas Republican history.

Today's sessions included a meeting of the state Republican executive committee and a luncheon meeting of the state finance committee. Pre-convention activities are expected to be in full swing by early tonight when Goldwater arrives for the $100-a-plate banquet in his honor. A sellout crowd of 1,500 is due to hear him.

Galveston County, which has only 54 votes but certified a reported 81 delegates, is to hold a caucus early Tuesday morning to decide which of its members will be delegates and which will be alternates.

Rumors, Hints Of Change Keep Democrats Buzzing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Democratic convention delegates buzzed today over reports President Johnson is sending aides to insure a harmonious state convention Tuesday.

The reports added excitement as the first official convention key credentials committee started.

DENIED The White House denied reports that President Johnson has sent emissaries to Houston to mediate differences between Democratic factions in Texas.

"We have sent no representatives to Houston," press secretary George Reedy said in response to a question.

Reports persisted two Johnson aides—Jack Valenti and Clifford Carter—were in Houston or en route from Washington.

Leaders of both conservative and liberal factions said they had no knowledge of any peace-making plans of Johnson, who has unified split Democratic conventions in the past.

One party leader said he would be greatly surprised if the reports were true. An aide of Gov. John Connally said he had heard nothing about a reported late afternoon conference of liberals and the Johnson aides.

Pena Jr., San Antonio, and Cris Dixie of Houston, leaders of large liberal delegations which liberal leaders decided Sunday will be a key factor to determine whether a rump convention is held.

Gov. John Connally says it may be time for a change in Texas' membership on the Democratic national committee.

Connally told newsmen upon his arrival for Tuesday's state Democratic convention that although he is grateful for the services of Mrs. H. H. Weiner of Seguin and Byron Skelton of Temple, he knows of a good many Texas Democrats who also could render valuable service as national committee members.

He also told newsmen there is "some conversation" for the adoption of a policy to limit tenure of national committee members to two four-year terms.

Skelton has served as national committeeman since 1956, when he was chosen while head of a group of liberals and loyalists who backed Adlai Stevenson when party leaders supported President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Weiner, 75, was Texas committeewoman during 1944-56 and was named again in 1960.

LIBERALS A group of liberals who formed the committee for a Fair they will do if seated and San Antonio liberals are not. Credentials committee findings will be acted upon Tuesday morning by the State Democratic Executive Committee, and the liberals said they will bolt the convention after the executive committee announces the temporary roll if it is unsatisfactory.

A rump session would follow, with a contesting delegation to the national convention Aug. 24 in Atlantic City.

The San Antonio and Houston delegations are among those from seven counties where out-numbered partisans left May 9 county conventions to hold their own, or rump, conventions. Each of the 14 groups sent a delegation to the convention.

RUMPED In San Antonio and Houston, liberals controlled and conservatives rumped. In Dallas, the conservative majority was deserted by a group of loyalists. Other contesting delegations are from Edwards, Randall, Hutchinson and Sherman counties.

Although the Houston and San Antonio delegations together hold 561 of the 2,834 convention votes, forces of Gov. John Connally feel they will be in control Tuesday regardless of which delegations from the two large counties are seated.

Canada Begins Flag Debate

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian House of Commons opens debate today on Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's proposal to give Canada its first official flag. Preliminary polls indicate Pearson can count on a slim majority for approval.

Pearson has staked his minority Liberal government on the emotion-charged issue. He has warned that if he is defeated, he may resign and force another national election.

The hotly debated "Pearson pennant," which the prime minister selected from more than 3,000 designs, is white with three red maple leaves in the center joined to a single stem. Narrow blue vertical bars at each end symbolize Canada's motto, "From Sea to Sea."

War Games Cost Less Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent Army-Air Force war games in the Far West cost about $54 million and were the most costly since World War II, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told this was the price tag on Desert Strike, a two-week mock war in which some 100,000 Army troops and Air Force units duelled over areas of California, Arizona and Nevada last month.

CHEAPER

The Defense Department said it originally had been calculated the exercise would cost $60.1 million, but that various economies had sliced about $6 million from that estimate.

By comparison, "Exercise Big Lift" last fall cost $20 million. In this operation, the 16,000 men of an armored division were flown 5,600 miles from Texas to Germany and returned after maneuvers near the Iron Curtain.

The Pentagon said "the major contributing factor to the cost of joint exercise Desert Strike was the commercial transportation of the armored units and their heavy equipment to and from the exercise area."

TWO DIVISIONS

Two armored divisions — the 1st and 2nd — were moved by train from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the three-state battleground. Armored divisions have about 3,750 vehicles, including 364 tanks and 660 personnel carriers.

Also involved in Desert Strike were an armored brigade of the California National Guard and a tank battalion from Ft. Campbell, Ky., in Air Force planes, the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division came from Colorado and various smaller Army and Air Force units were drawn from as far away as the East Coast.

The cost of moving Army forces by commercial means, where this was done, was estimated at $2.9 million.

REASONS

Asked why Desert Strike was considered worth the outlay of funds, the Pentagon cited these reasons, among others:

— "It is the first time since World War II that we have been able to get two armored divisions into an exercise maneuver area in the United States where they could operate as freely as required for proper armor field training.

— "The exercise also gave us a chance to simulate realistically the employment of tactical nuclear weapons. This let us better explore tactical use of nuclear weapons in a limited war situation.

— "Joint exercise Desert Strike was not only a thorough test of men and equipment, but also an ideal opportunity to test and further improve several operational concepts for joint air-ground operations we have been developing and improving over the past several years."

Miss Fisk Weds J. D. Hale In Valley Mills Ceremony

Miss Mary Kathleen Fisk and Jimmy Donald Hale were married at 5 o'clock Sunday evening in the First Baptist Church at Valley Mills where the double ring ceremony was read by Dr. M. E. Williamson.

The bride, a librarian at Big Spring High School, is the daughter of Mrs. S. C. Fisk, Valley Mills. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hale, Rotan, is an instructor pilot at Webb Air Force Base.

The ceremony was performed before jade trees which formed the background for a sunburst arrangement of gladioli flanked by candelabras entwined with greenery.

The organist was Miss Bettye Heath, Valley Mills, and she accompanied Jack Everton of Clifton as he sang "At Dawning" and "Walk Hand In Hand." Miss Heath played "Traumeri" during the ceremony.

S. C. Fisk Jr. escorted his sister to the altar and gave her in marriage. The bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza over taffeta fashioned with a Watteau neckline. Chantilly lace garlanded the front of her A-line skirt, and the panel train had a back bow. She wore a mantilla of Chantilly lace and carried a bouquet of orchids encircled with gladioli florets and stephanotis.

The matron of honor was Mrs. S. C. Fisk Jr., and bridesmaids were Miss Luan Phillips, Big Spring; and Miss Carolyn Hale, Rotan, sister of the bridegroom. Their pink peau de sole dresses were matched with headpieces of pink Chantilly lace. They wore white gloves and each carried a cascade of white gladioli florets with wax leaf foliage.

The bridegroom's brother, Darrell Hale, of Idalou was the best man. Groomsman were Douglas Weathersbee, Rotan, and L. Harry T. Richards, Waco. James Brock, Valley Mills, and Guy Paul Haag, Dallas, were the ushers.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Joining the couple in receiving guests were the bride's mother and brother, the bridegroom's parents and Miss Phillips.

A centerpiece formed of candelabra with flowers and greenery graced the white satin covered refreshment table where appointments were of crystal and silver. The three-tiered square cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Walker's Libel Suit Continues

FORT WORTH (AP) — Trial of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's $2 million libel suit against The Associated Press resumes today in Dist. Judge Charles Murray's Tarrant County courtroom.

At the weekend recess Friday, the plaintiff's case was near an end. When Walker's attorneys rest, the AP is expected to make mid-trial motions for dismissal of the complaint. Failing these, defense testimony will be offered to a jury of four women and eight men chosen on the trial's opening day June 8.

Walker, 54, contends he was libeled by AP stories that he led a charge of students against U.S. marshals during the Sept. 30, 1962, desegregation riots at the University of Mississippi. Two men were killed during a crisis over the admission to Ole Miss of Negro James Meredith. During three days on the witness stand last week, Walker testified he came from his home in Dallas merely to see what was going on at the Oxford, Miss. campus. He said he never approached within harrasing distance of the marshals, and that he attempted in a speech to dissuade rioting students from violence.

In cross-examination, AP counsel sought to show that Walker interjected himself into an explosive situation, although aware of federal court orders that Meredith's integration into the university was not to be interfered with.

There was testimony also that before he went to Oxford, Walker sought to rally segregationists with a broadcast plea to "bring your flag, your tent and your skillet, 10,000 strong, from every state in the union."

Walker testified he was strongly opposed to the use of federal troops to enforce Meredith's entrance into the university—an aversion he said he first developed in 1957 when he commanded federal forces during the Little Rock school desegregation crisis.

His concern, Walker said, was

LILY PONS TOO

Radishes Dig Those Beatles

By FRANCIS STILEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Radishes like music.
 They also like some kinds of music better than others. They grow better when they're listening to it.
 They like Lily Pons' operatic coloratura quite well.
 They don't care quite as much for symphonic works.
 What they really like the most though, is the Beatles.
 Radishes simply go wild over the Beatles.

DISCOVERY

This discovery was made by Lynn Boshkov, 15-year-old daughter of a Columbia University professor, in a sophomore Biology class experiment at suburban White Plains High School.
 Her father, Stefan Boshkov, associate professor of mining engineering, was inclined to laugh off the experiment. But he didn't laugh about having to listen to Beatle music around the house day after day.
 Beatles or not, though, he finally conceded his daughter had proved something with her experiment.
 Here is what she did:
 She planted four large trays with radish seeds last December and kept the trays near a sunny window inside the house. They all grew in the same type soil and got the same amounts of water and sunshine.

MUSIC

However, when the plants had grown about three quarters of an inch above the soil, Lynn started playing music to three of the trays.
 Each in turn would be placed on the living room floor in front of the phonograph loudspeaker and get 45 minutes daily of Beatles, Pons or Dvorak's "New World Symphony." The fourth tray of radishes got no music.
 Lynn wound up the experiment a few days ago when the radishes had reached maturity. She made precise measurements as to leaf and root growth, as well as the size of the eatable part of the radish.
 She calculated the different rates of growth in percentages, using the radishes which had not been entertained as a basis of 100 per cent. The others came out in this fashion:

Food Shortage Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Fruit and Vegetable Association, a trade organization of shippers and distributors, predicts a critical shortage of these foods next year because of lapse of the Mexican farm labor program.
 Legislation permitting the seasonal importation of foreign workers for tedious farm cultivation and harvesting work expires Dec. 31.
 Alan Rains, executive vice president of the association, said today it will be impossible for producers of vegetables and fruits to find substitute American workers. He said the government has failed to come forward with a plan to assure producers an "adequate dependable and productive work force" to replace the Mexican nationals.
 He said the impact of a shortage of efficient workers would be reflected on higher prices of fruits and vegetables with the middle and lower income citizens suffering.

ground: Radishes which listened to The Beatles, 247 per cent; radishes in the Lily Pons audience, 224 per cent; radishes treated to the "New World Symphony," 168 per cent.
 Weight of radish and root: Beatle-lovers, 322 per cent; the Pons group, 128 per cent; the Dvorak division, 100 per cent—they didn't dig Dvorak below ground.
 Number of leaves above ground: Beatles, 142.5 per cent; Pons, 118 per cent; Dvorak, 105 per cent.

Said Professor Boshkov: "I was betting on Lily Pons and hoping that the Beatle radishes would turn out with scrawny leaves and crooked roots."

BEATLES

Said Lynn: "I bet on the Beatles. I was with them all the way."
 Said Lynn's mother: "I spent a lot of time cleaning mud splatters off the wall and the living room rug."
 Said Charles D. Heath, Lynn's high school biology teacher: "My sympathies to Professor Boshkov, for having had to listen to all that Beatle music."

Marchers Due More Help

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Street marching by white segregationists apparently was over today, at least temporarily. It was uncertain whether Negroes would resume marching tonight.
 The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which is directing the integration drive in the nation's oldest city, said former baseball star Jackie Robinson would join the campaign today.
 Busloads of supporters also were expected from several cities, including Albany, Ga., the SCLC office said.
 Sunday night, white segregationists marched for the third night in a row but they walked only five blocks in the downtown area. In two previous marches, white demonstrators had walked through a Negro section.
 The crowd again met in a park before the march. J. B. Stoner, Ku Klux Klan attorney from Atlanta, told the rally that unless out-of-town Negro leaders pulled out, a fire-your-Negro campaign would begin.
 Stoner said there would be no march tonight by the segregationist group.
 Thirty-six Negroes and a white man were arrested Sunday for trying to integrate a restaurant and two churches. This brought to 127 the number of arrests since last Thursday when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was jailed for refusing to leave a motel restaurant. King was released Saturday on bond but said he would return by Tuesday.

Brazilians Lose Political Rights
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The government has taken political rights away from 80 more Brazilians in a final listing of persons suspected of extreme left leanings or close association with the regime of deposed President Joao Goulart.
 President Humberto Castello Branco issued the list Sunday a few hours before the purge deadline set last April after the military-civilian group overthrew Goulart.

Light Rains Tumble Over State Today

By The Associated Press
Scattered thundershowers and light rains played across Texas from the Panhandle to the lower Gulf Coast today, and temperatures remained warm. A few thundershowers rumbled over the northeast section of the Panhandle before dawn, but carried none of the bite predicted in a severe thunderstorm forecast issued for the area. A 120-mile wide strip extending from Dalhart to Kansas was under the severe forecast until 3 a.m. No Panhandle areas reported receiving any of the expected hail and high winds, but Wichita, Kan., caught some turbulence. Scattered showers fell along the middle and lower Texas coast northward to College Station and Austin. Light rains also peppered scattered sections of Central and Northeast Texas around Waco, Centerville, Paris, Granger, Crockett and Mt. Vernon. Elsewhere skies were clear to partly cloudy over the state. The Weather Bureau said Sunday it was keeping tabs on a puny tropical disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico. It was more than 100 miles southeast of Brownsville. Scattered thundershowers were due over southern sections of Texas, and a few afternoon thundershowers expected in Northeast Texas and the Panhandle today. Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies in other areas through Tuesday. Pre-dawn temperatures across Texas ranged from 69 at Dalhart and Amarillo to 80 at Galveston and Beaumont. Scattered showers and occasional thundershowers swept central and eastern sections of Texas Sunday. A tornado funnel which apparently caused no damage was reported sighted 20 miles north of San Antonio.

TV Has Settled Into Sleepy Pace

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV- Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Television has settled down to a sleepy, summery pace, especially on weekends. Thus I found myself watching a 15-year-old James Cagney gangster movie. At one point, Cagney shot a man and then kicked him down a long flight of stairs, with the camera showing every bounce. At another he jammed a victim in the trunk of an automobile and casually pumped lead into it. The final shoot-out lasted at least 15 minutes. The most violent scene I have encountered in this season's television output came in Sunday nights NBC "Show of the Week" a meandering tale called "Ambassador at Large." It was a most uneven piece, extremely talky, with a few wild bursts of action. The story centered on a fictitious South American country on the verge of revolution. A U.S. State Department troubleshooter sent to soothe the dictator arrives just as the rebel leader appears at embassy to ask political asylum. The play sought to explain the necessity for dealing with an official of whom our nation disapproved and also tried to point out the reluctance of the State Department men to send his enemy out to certain death. The play solved their problem in a way that got the dramatist off the hook but was not satisfactory to the viewer. They spirited the rebel out of the embassy by a trick, but he was caught and killed later, thus placating the dictator. The shocking scene was one that showed, in specific detail, the hanging of four rebel partisans. It was not necessary to the story. Arthur Kennedy and Andrew Duggan played the State Department good guys. Peter Falk as the banana republic firebrand used such a convincing foreign accent that he was hard to understand. Most unexpected event of the weekend was the act from the "Folies Bergere" which Ed Sullivan chose for his show Sunday night. Instead of a scantily clad chorus of mademoiselles doing a can-can, there were two men and a girl doing tricks on a slack wire. That's hardly what tourists attend the Folies to see.

De Gaulle Back In Paris Office After A Tour

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle, looking fit and vigorous, returned to Paris Sunday after four days of stumping northern France. The 74-year-old De Gaulle appeared to have withstood the heat, rain and crowds of his swing through Picardy better than many of his younger aides. HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Joan Crawford, 56, is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital with an upper respiratory infection, but a hospital spokesman says her condition is good. KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—King Mahendra and Queen Ratna of Nepal arrived in Karachi today for a two-day private visit to Pakistan. NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Ngina, youngest of Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta's three wives, gave birth in a Nairobi hospital Sunday night to a boy. Kenyatta, 74, and Ngina also have a 2-year-old daughter.

Lynda Bird Campaigns

LIHUE, Kaul, Hawaii (AP)—President Johnson's 20-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird, vacationed on the garden island of Kaul today on the fourth day of a Hawaii visit that has the trappings of a political tour. Lynda has made a speech, shaken hundreds of hands, signed scores of autographs, laid wreaths at monuments and met with top state and city officials. She rubbed noses with Tongan and Maori children at the Polynesian Cultural Center at Laie across the island from Honolulu. Lynda, here officially to participate in the Little White House Conference on Children and Youth at the University of Hawaii, planned to spend today and the next three days on neighbor islands swimming, skin diving and sightseeing.

Catholics Stage Demonstration

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An estimated 16,000 Catholics staged orderly demonstrations in the central Viet Nam cities of Danang and Hue Sunday, charging persecution of Catholics in their area. Unarmed police and gendarmes patrolled the demonstrations and no violence was reported.

Court Clarifies Districting Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the federal Constitution requires "that the seats in both houses of a bicameral state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis."

Chief Justice Earl Warren, announcing the ruling, said that: "We mean that the equal protection clause (of the Constitution) requires that a state make an honest and good-faith effort to construct districts in both houses of its legislature, as nearly of equal population as is practicable."

The chief justice added that the high court realizes "that it is a practical impossibility to arrange legislative districts so that each one has an identical number of residents, or citizens, or voters. Mathematical exactness or precision is hardly a workable constitutional requirement."

Warren added that, "Simply stated, an individual's right to vote for state legislators in unconstitutionally impaired when its (the vote's) weight is in a substantial fashion diluted when compared with votes of citizens living in other parts of the state."

Warren's statements were made in deciding three cases from Alabama.

Three separate appeals were filed in the Supreme Court after a temporary plan for reapportionment of the Alabama Legislature was announced by a special three-judge federal court in Montgomery.

The special court rejected reapportionment legislation enacted by the Alabama Legislature. The temporary plan would give Jefferson County, the state's largest county, 17 House members instead of seven. Mobile would get eight members, an increase of five, and Montgomery would keep the four it had.

B. A. Reynolds and Frank Pearce, Probate Court judges of Dallas and Marion counties, respectively, filed the first Supreme Court appeal.

They questioned if the apportionment by judicial decree was equitable, if both House and Senate must be apportioned strictly according to population, and if the old apportionment was invidiously discriminatory in violation of the federal Constitution's guarantee of equal protection of law.

A second appeal was filed by David J. Vann and Robert S. Vance, chairman and vice chairman of the Jefferson County Democratic Campaign Committee. They contended that the new Senate apportionment "perpetuates invidious discrimination."

Vann and Vance said the Senate should be apportioned "so that Senate districts are as nearly equal to each other in the number of inhabitants as may be."

Increase in Cong Activity

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Ministry of Defense announced today a sharp increase in Communist Viet Cong activity which could indicate a month-long lull in Vietnamese civil war is about to be broken.

The ministry reported 172 government soldiers were killed or captured during the week compared to 92 in the previous week. Viet Cong losses were 185 compared to 233 in the previous week. Toll of the wounded was not given.

Viet Cong operations jumped from 151 the previous week to 217 last week, the ministry said. Only 134 Viet Cong-initiated operations were reported three weeks ago. Government opera-

Tennessee Wins Case To Collect Use Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided today that Tennessee may impose its use tax on property used by two private companies in operation of Oak Ridge plants of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Justice Byron R. White delivered the unanimous decision.

Tennessee sought to impose the 3 per cent use tax on Union Carbide Corp. and the H. K. Ferguson Co. which operate under contracts with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Court, the Justice Department asked reversal of the state courts and said the United States, not the contractors, enjoyed the beneficial use of the property. The appeal said the case controlled liability of Carbide and Ferguson for about $10 million in accrued Tennessee use taxes. Under the contracts with Carbide and Ferguson, the United States pays any use taxes collected by the state from the contractors.

Cyclone Kills 27

RAJKOT, India (AP)—A cyclone which roared in off the Arabian Sea last Thursday killed at least 27 persons.

State Courts Covered Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the Constitution's Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination applies in state as well as in federal proceedings.

Ruling on the petition of a Connecticut man convicted on gambling charges, the high court stated:

"We hold that the Constitution's 14th Amendment guaranteed the petitioner the protection of the Fifth Amendment's privilege of self-incrimination."

Justice William J. Brennan, delivering the court's majority opinion, declared that, under applicable federal standards, the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors erred in holding that the petitioner's claim of privilege against self-incrimination was not properly invoked.

The Supreme Court's vote was 5-4.

A dissenting opinion, by Justice Byron R. White, in which Justice Potter Stewart joined, declared that "the Fifth Amendment safeguards an important complex of values, but it is difficult for me to perceive how these values are served by the court's holding."

Children Drown

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Eighteen children drowned Sunday and five were missing after a truck was caught in a landslide in northeast Turkey and plunged into a river near Rize on the Black Sea coast.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 129. At all drug counters.

A Devotional For The Day

Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth: but I have called you friends; for all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you. (John 15:15.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the friendship and love of Jesus Christ. Help us to be more worthy of this friendship, and give us greater understanding of the Scriptures that we may be guided in Thy divine way. In His name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Some Distinguished Bits Of Dullness

A survey by the Educational Testing Service discloses that a list of "good literature" being "taught" in U.S. public high schools contains only one work of an American written in the present century. This is "Our Town," a play without scenery or props (or with only an impressionistic suggestion of both) which makes it popular for amateur productions. It was written by Thornton Wilder and first presented and published in 1938; more than ten years after his masterful novel, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," appeared. Its setting is thoroughly, even typically American and its theme sentimental and universal.

may be the dulllest novel ever produced — though the same author's "Mill on the Floss," now vanished from the place on the required study list it long occupied, might challenge that distinction. ("It is hard to imagine," one educator-critic once remarked, "that anyone has even intentionally read either book.") Its third ranking, immediately behind the two Shakespearean murder thrillers — and indeed the entire list — suggests a sort of pedagogic self-perpetuation. A boy or girl in high school has been subjected to the study of "Silas Marner." He or she grows up and becomes a teacher. So now, this warmed-over dish of old turkey is handed along to modern students who would certainly learn more of English literature (and especially the love of it) from any one of a thousand other novels, long and short. Or maybe the list is prepared on the same basis but at a higher echelon of the educational command. The painful result is the same.

James Marlow They Contradict Themselves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton and the man he is trying to head off for the Republican presidential nomination, Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, have one thing in common: they contradict themselves.

So does former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. On June 4 Scranton said he could run for the vice presidency on the ticket with Goldwater and said he did not know of "any extremely basic differences" between them.

HE SAID: "Both of us believe in a strong foreign policy in the government's actions being strong on the local level, then of the state, and finally on the federal level. There are comparatively little differences between various Republican leaders." He added he didn't know precisely Goldwater's views on civil rights although why not is hard to explain. Goldwater talked plenty about them.

Hal Boyle Most Women Triumph

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Here's a consoling Leap Year statistic, ladies: Some 93.5 per cent of women eventually marry. There's no truth in the old saying that two can live as cheaply as one, but the U.S. Department of Agriculture has found this out: Food costs for individuals who live alone run about 20 per cent more than they do for each member of a family of four.

IN GREECE, bankmobiles tour isolated areas too small to support banks of their own. In Norfolk, Va., it once was against the law for a woman to attend a public dance without wearing a corset. Quotable notable: "The truth is that normal men will always be what women want them to be." — Mary Roberts Rinehart. World's Fair officials here, who expect up to 80 million visitors in two years, have set up medical facilities to care for about 80,000 cases of emergency illness or injury.

THE PRICE of highway acci-idents eventually adds up to more than the costs of building the roads originally. Safety officials put the economic loss for highway accidents in 1963 at approximately $8 billion. They also figure that the death toll of 43,000 cost these people "2,150,000 more years of precious life."

Folklore: You can expect company soon if you find tea leaves floating in your cup. When flies bite, it's a sign of rain. To cure the rheumatism, put a little dry mustard in your shoe. Sleep in a bean field, or in full moonlight, and you'll go mad. QUICKIES: A young eagle weighs about a pound more than its mother before it leaves its nest. A worn dollar bill makes a good lint-free eyeglass cleaner. A survey found that the only things men can taste better than women are lemon, vinegar and sour grapes. You swallow some 3,000 times a day. It was Clarence Darrow who observed, "When I was a boy I was told that anybody could become president; I'm beginning to believe it."

To Your Good Health Excessive Perspiration Of Feet Can Be Reduced

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has a perspiration problem with his feet and we have tried just about everything. He has been buying new shoes as often as every month. The doctor says the perspiration has to come out somewhere, but there's a limit, and my husband has a complex over it. Help if you can. — MRS. E. K. This may sound like a small problem — except for people who have to combat it, but it can be a miserable nuisance. The pattern of how we perspire varies a good deal from one person to another. When it happens to be the feet, there is much less chance for evaporation, of course, and this multiplies the discomfort. Your goal isn't to stop the perspiration, but rather to reduce it, and to keep it from accumulating so much. These methods may help: 1 — Change shoes daily. This may make them last longer, by giving them some "rest" between exposure to salty perspiration. If the shoes are so wet that they are still damp the next day, then changing shoes becomes doubly important, since dry ones can absorb some of the moisture; damp shoes can't absorb much. 2 — Change socks daily, oftener if possible. 3 — Sandals or other types of open footwear will allow air circulation, hence evaporation; sandals at work, "basket-weave" shoes might help. What about sandals after he gets home from work? 4 — Wear wool socks. This may sound odd because wool means "warmth" to most of us. But wool-socks (or bulky cotton ones) will absorb more moisture. 5 — Wash feet daily. If work conditions permit, wash them at midday and put on fresh socks. 6 — Sponge the feet each night with a 30 to 40 per cent formalin solution. This closes the pores a bit and reduces perspiration. Sponging with a 25 per cent aluminum chloride solution every two or three days also is effective. (One or the other of these sometimes may be tried.) 7 — Use foot powder. Any standard type is fine, and the newer aerosol powders, which you spray on, are excellent. Spray or dust the feet daily (or oftener) and sprinkle some in the shoes. The powder absorbs moisture and suppresses bacteria, thus suppressing odor as well as protecting skin and footwear. If each of these factors contributes only a little, it still mounts up to substantial relief. And, as discomfort subsides, the nerves relax. This gives additional help because sweating is related to nervous tension. Dear Dr. Molner: How important is water to our system, especially the kidneys? Can such liquids as pop, milk, tea and coffee take the place of water? — J. A. Fluid — which means water — is so important that we die if we have to go without it for more than a brief few days. Lack of enough water is an invitation to kidney trouble. But you can drink it in the form of the things you mentioned, plus soup, fruit juice, etc. Vegetables and fruit are largely water, and even "solid" foods like beef have much more water than you'd think

Around The Rim The Gambling Fever

They say everyone has varying amounts of gambling blood in his system. I wonder, though, when the gambling compulsions begin to take charge of the individual and threaten to push him to the edge of the ledge. THERE'S NO DOUBT but that the gambling fever is raging in this United States. It is most event in super-markets in Nevada, where patrons of the stores, often red-faced and breathing heavily, abuse the one-armed bandits spaced around the emporiums. The fever has embraced some churches, where bingo parties are blessed if part of the proceeds go toward new drapes or candelabra. The Public Affairs Committee in Washington has noted the fact that Americans gripped by the urge to risk a few sous spend an estimated $30 billion per annum on gambling. THAT'S A hefty figure, when you learn that it's twice the amount they invest in medical care. The figure is impressive, too, when you consider the fact that the combined net profits of the 100 largest United States manufacturing corporations amount to little more than $3 billion a year. The gambling operators rig the odds to suit themselves, reasoning that the real fun for people in such endeavors is the risk. YOU MAY think you have a crafty mind when it comes to figuring out winners in the football pools but the operators' take from such devices often runs as much as 90 per cent of the money bet. Bingo? Those who run such games rarely return more than 66 per cent to the investors. Slot machines can be rigged to where you get virtually no return on your money, although the usual payoff runs to about 60 per cent of the coins invested in it. THE NATION'S economists know of what they speak when they express concern about the disease. They point out that the urge to gamble works genuine hardships on many families which can least afford it. One of the real evils of gambling is that it attracts the hooligan element where profits get big. The underworld relishes the chance to take a bath in the gravy. —TOMMY HART

Richard Starnes A Washington Nightmare

WASHINGTON — This town is caught fast in a nightmare of unreality—the month of June, the Senate, the GOP and Laos all meander aimlessly into the thorny thicket of the future, and no power on earth is able to guide them. It's a rerun of man's ancient dream of frustration and nameless dread. You dream you are perishing of thirst at a plumbers' picnic. You are surrounded by a mountain of kegs of ice-cold beer, and you haven't got a bung-starter to your name. IT'S HELL, but your dreaming consciousness knows it's going to get worse. Sure, it's the Welsh rarebit you had for a nightcap, and sure, you'll wake up. But meanwhile, you find yourself wandering helplessly in a beaver-board maze at the Cow Palace in San Francisco, while pretty girls in Barry Goldwater hats pin pins saying, "Why Not Victory?" to you. You, chum, not to the wilted lapsels of your wash-and-wear. Suddenly the Candidate is there, wearing the red, white and blue ensemble he has vowed not to shed until the American way of life is safe from Welsh rarebit. He hands you a low-velocity atom bomb, and then a dozen Girls for Goldwater begin to tickle you. You know you're going to drop it and blow up the whole shebang, and why doesn't your old lady wake you up, for the pity's sake? THE IMAGE shatters, like a vision in a dime-store kaleidoscope, and you find yourself peering anxiously down a long, dark tunnel, at the end of which is a State Department spokesman wearing an elaborately wrinkled seersucker suit. He smiles reassuringly and says in a well-bred murmur that we were never closer to a critical mass with the Chinese than we are this tormented night in Laos.

Who wants to march off to Armageddon behind an aging Ivy League type in a cheap suit? You know it's a nightmare, but that's small comfort when the guy in the seersucker sprouts sergeant's stripes and vells, "Hey, you with the pot, get with it. You a sincere sucker, or not? Last plane for Laos now loading." YOU ALMOST weep with gratitude when Big Daddy and his trained beagles appear on your sleeping subconscious screen. Big Daddy has the best one-man band in town—nobody knows how he manages to play kazoo, mouth organ, bass drum, cymbals and slide trombone simultaneously, but he does: Big Daddy swings into "Armageddon Rock" and John McConne comes out of the wings doing a buck and wing. Big Daddy abandons his instruments and the pair dance off, arm in arm, and not even an expert can tell who's leading. THE CLOCK strikes 4 a.m., but you don't hear it. What you hear is the M.T.A. rumbling through the Scollay Square station, and suddenly—in rarebit veritas, as the Romans said—you know who the poor young man is who is trapped for eternity on the M.T.A. It's Bobby Kennedy. Like everyone else in your nightmare, Bobby Kennedy is a prisoner of time he cannot halt and events he cannot shape. The M.T.A. vanishes in the direction of Atlantic City, with Kennedy still aboard. Should he try to get off the M.T.A., and risk offending the rare Welsh backfitters? THEN, FINALLY, the young woman who mismatches your socks is shaking you awake. You have a belated sigh of relief—it was all a dream. Nothing but a bad dream. All day long you keep telling yourself it was just a nightmare. You almost convince yourself. (Copyright, 1964, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Holmes Alexander Barry's Way

WASHINGTON—Old Guard Republicanism built up to its modern peak in 1952 under Senator Robert Taft's leadership, commenced to decline with Taft's defeat at the GOP convention of that year, and now reboils under Barry Goldwater. The very first moderate, or me-too Republicans to bite the dust were the Lodge brothers; Cabot, who lost his Senate seat in Massachusetts and John, who lost his governorship in Connecticut. Both were given ambassadorships as consolation prizes. MEANWHILE, a couple of years before, Milton Eisenhower, on whom I wrote an article for Colliers Magazine, had been playing me-tooism to the teeth, hoping to get a two party nomination in Kansas, either for Governor or Senator. These examples will personalize the lugubrious landslide which set in as Dwight Eisenhower replaced Robert Taft as the Republican generalissimo. The Republicans had 27 governorships when Ike was nominated. Today they have 16. The Republicans held both House and Senate when Eisenhower was inaugurated. They haven't held either chamber since. THIS BACKGROUND is a prelude to the revival of Old Guard Republicanism under Senator Goldwater. It should scuttle the gibberish being mouthed by the Know Nothings, who say that a Goldwater nomination would be party "suicide" and would cost some 30 Congressional seats. The opposite, of course, is true. The outspoken, high-riding Mr. Conservative stands to quicken a sickened party. GOP National Chairman Bill Miller, while precluded by his office from having a personal candidate, told me last spring at the Miami Governors' Conference that Goldwater could generate the funds and the vim capable of recapturing the House for the Republicans. HE IS A prodigious man at the war chest, having raised $6.3 million for the party in personal appearances. His two best-selling books, his four years as a syndicated columnist, his countless speeches tell of an intellectual vigor that is unsurpassed in public life today. As a military jet pilot, a sports car driver, a horseman, an explorer and outdoor photographer, his physical fitness and mental alertness hark back to the "strenuous life" advocated by Teddy Roosevelt. The Senator likes his high-ball, eats a good dinner, is a non-smoker, and uses a mild vocabulary of cuss words, but I have never heard him utter an obscenity. HE MAKES mistakes because he has strong feelings and a short temper, being the impetuous man he is. But the pre-convention campaign, from January to June, proved him to be a downright genius in political tactics, which include the art of strategic retreat and the prudence of declining to give battle where a win or a loss would be relatively insignificant. His public summation of the "Dunkirk" in New Hampshire was a succinct "I goofed!" At six the next morning, he was on the phone to Dennis Kitchel, his campaign manager, saying: "Let's get together and study our mistakes so we don't make 'em again." FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE onward, he was as sure-footed as a fox. He gracefully dismounted from his hobby of "voluntary" Social Security. He avoided snappy one-reporter interviews in favor of televised speeches where he couldn't be misquoted. He ducked the Oregon primary because, he said, "I don't want another New Hampshire." He rested up, concentrated on California, where he'd staked all to beat both Rockefeller and the stop-Barry coalition. As party leader, the Senator attacked Democrats, but spared Republicans. His question to those who opposed him is now brief but blithe: "Going my way?" (Distributed by McLaughlin Syndicate, Inc.)

Federal Pay Raise The House has passed a bill which will raise the pay of 1,700,000 federal workers on the order of half a billion dollars a year. The pay hike, which doubtless will get the Senate's blessing, will range from generally 2 1/2 per cent in the top brackets to 1 1/2 per cent for those on the bottom of the income scale. Among other things, this means a $7,300 annual increase for congressmen. Few realize the burdens imposed upon members of the House in meeting their social and professional obligations, and in having to make a race every two years. Yet, when the pencil is put to that raise, it comes up to 33 1/3 per cent, and that's a robust raise in any league.

Postal workers will get 5.6 per cent more, and few will begrudge them this hike. In many other areas, however, one wonders if there ought not to be some consideration to applying some ceilings except to the really key posts. Some jobs might become unattractive enough that they would become vacant, and remain unfilled. More capable of being accomplished, but also probably a vain hope, is that further cuts in federal personnel be made until the increased cost of raises has been absorbed. This might result in some selective pruning of the federal tree. What would be left would be more efficient and productive at no greater cost.

David Lawrence Bobby Kennedy: Veep Or Senator?

WASHINGTON — President Johnson undoubtedly would rather have Robert F. Kennedy decide to run for the United States Senate from New York state than to be confronted with the necessity of picking the Attorney General as the vice presidential nominee. All Washington has been gossiping about the problem for many weeks now, but it is becoming clear that, until it is definitely established that the President will not request the Attorney General to be his running mate, Mr. Kennedy will keep an open mind on making the race in New York state. THERE ARE political complications both ways. If, for instance, Mr. Kennedy is selected as the vice presidential nominee, he will help the Johnson cause in some states but possibly alienate voters in others. This is because he has been the center of the controversy on "civil rights." It has long been assumed here that Mr. Johnson would not ask the Attorney General to become his running mate unless he needed him for election. In other words, many of the Johnson supporters think that at present the disadvantages would outweigh the advantages, and the feeling in administration circles is that Mr. Johnson isn't going to ask the Attorney General to be on the ticket.

refrain of which is, "but he doesn't know the territory, he doesn't know the territory." Under the Constitution, of course, it isn't necessary for a candidate to be a resident of the state which he seeks to represent in Congress. Pierre Salinger has just won the Democratic nomination for senator in California, although he has not lived there for a long time. IT COULD BE, of course, that Mr. Kennedy figures that, if he becomes a United States senator, he will have a better chance for the presidency in 1968 in the event that President Johnson chooses not to run that year. The latter is, however, eligible for two elected terms in addition to the 14 months he will have served in filling out the presidential term of his predecessor. It seems illogical for Attorney General Kennedy to give up the idea of becoming a vice presidential candidate at the national convention and run instead for the United States Senate unless he is absolutely sure he has no chance of getting the President's assent to be his running mate. Mr. Johnson might prefer to avoid a lot of controversy inside his party by taking someone else for the second place on the ticket — for instance, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. This, however, is not likely to satisfy the ardent and almost fanatical worshippers of the Kennedy name. IT IS SPECULATED also that there could be another Kennedy administration either after Mr. Johnson has served two full terms or in the event that he became physically incapacitated beforehand. Bobby Kennedy is only 38 years old now, however, and can afford to wait a decade or so for political fortune to give him his chance to become President.

IT WILL COME as a surprise to many people that someone who has not been a resident of the state of New York would even consider the possibility of trying to represent in the United States Senate such a populous state. Undoubtedly in opposition to the idea, the campaigners for Senator Keating will be heard singing to the voters of the state the song of the salesmen in the "Music Man," the

Why do you make so much of the Cross in your sermons? P. W. The cross shows how evil men are without God's grace. Christ was crucified, not by criminals but by the "best" people of His day. The cross underscored the vile depths to which human nature can sink. And the "best" today are capable of crucifying Him afresh. The cross also revealed the love of God and made clear that His love is unchanging, regardless of our evil. And it showed God's power to change evil to good, to use the "wrath of men to praise Him," to bring victory out to death. The cross also forms a pattern for Christian living. The ultimate in surrender is to say, "Not my will, but Thine be done." We "live by the faith of the Son of God who loved us and gave Himself for us." In the cross is also the mysterious power of salvation. That is why Paul exclaimed, "I glory in the cross."

Oysters Drowned Papa D Makes

DAUPHIN ISLAND, Ala. (AP)—Freshwater flooding is blamed for a tremendous kill-off of oysters in Mobile Bay and the eastern end of Mississippi Sound. Chief George Allen of the State Conservation Department's Seafood Division said that the spring floods killed up to 90 per cent of the oysters in some areas. He said that flooding upsets the critical balance of fresh and salt water in which oysters thrive.

Good Word For A State

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and I live in Lead, South Dakota. I think our State is very unfairly treated. It is never advertised like New York or California or Texas. I love my state and we have just as many exciting things as other states. And Lead is a nice city, too, but you never hear anything about it. Can you put this in your column and give us a boost?

LESLIE DORNBUH,
Lead, S. D.

DEAR LESLIE: The pioneers fought the Indians, grasshoppers and dust to make South Dakota one of the richest farming states in the nation. And there's gold in them thar hills, too! Furthermore, your Rushmore Memorial Park is one of the best known state parks in the country. Your pheasant hunting is second to none. South Dakota is growing in resources and culture. So ask your governor if he has Lead in his plans.

DEAR ABBY: I once read somewhere that it is quite proper to say, "I don't give a dam," because a dam is a coin used in India. Is there any truth in this?

J. S.

DEAR J. S.: A "dam" was indeed a former copper coin used in India. But it has been so many years since anyone has had a dam to give that the expression today is more profane than proper.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an adorable boy. Oh, he's not that cute, but heck, neither am I. He's 19 and I am 13. The only ones who know how I feel about him are my two best girl friends. They say I should give up and forget him because he is too old for me, but I have tried and I can't. I have felt this way about him since I was nine and a half. I can't see where six years is such a big difference. My mother is 33 and my father is 39. Do you think there is any hope?

DEAR GREENVILLE: Not at 13! Stay out of sight. And when you are 19 and he is 25, try again.

Up Battle

CHICAGO (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, declining to state his choice among contenders for the Republican presidential nomination, says he would accept if delegates selected him to break a convention deadlock.

The former vice president, however, said Sunday the race is between Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and that he doesn't see a "strong third force" that could deadlock the convention.

In a television interview on "Forum," a program broadcast locally in Chicago by station WKBK, Nixon said:

"In the event that the convention fails to find in any of the present candidates a man who can unite the party at the convention, and if the party leaders turned to me, then I would undertake the responsibility of the nomination and I would conduct an extensive campaign."

"That conclusion has not been reached, and I do not believe it will be. I think that one or the other (Goldwater or Scranton) will be the candidate."

Tony Lema and his wife Betty hold a trophy and a check for $8,000 after he won the $66,000 Buick Open at Grand Blanc, Mich. Sunday. Lema, who finished with a 70 for a 277 total, had a last round stretch duel with Dow Finsterwald. Last week he won $30,000 top money in the Thunderbird Open in New York. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Lema Takes Second Straight Tournament

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Tony Lema, more surprised than anybody else over his victory in the $66,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament Sunday, headed today for the National Open at Washington, D.C., hoping that lightning strikes three times in a row. "I've never done very well in the National Open and I don't have any particular feeling about it this year," said Lema after becoming the first pro in 21 months to put together major victories in successive weeks. He preceded his Buick Open triumph with victory in the $100,000 Thunderbird at Rye, N.Y. The National Open starts Thursday. The San Leandro, Calif. native kept his usual custom and ordered champagne in the press room following his victory on the 7,280-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills course. Lema had a 70 in his final round and finished with an 11-under par 277 to pick up nearly $9,000 in prize money. His round featured four birdies, one on the first hole which he solved for the fourth straight round in the tourney. It was the same hole on which he had taken a seven in the two years ago. Dow Finsterwald finished with a 71 for a total of 280 and was runner-up here for the second straight year. Bob Charles, the left-handed New Zealander, finished with a 67 to take third place money with a 283. Lema became the first pro to win two tournaments in a row since Jack Nicklaus, in Seattle and Portland, Ore. in September, 1962.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

BAHJET MOHAMMED AL-ANI, an assistant engineer for the ministry of industry in Iraq, was recently in Big Spring for a breakfast and during his stay took a few moments to talk about sports in his country. It seems that football (soccer) and basketball are two biggest attractions in the country. Baseball is played at only one place in the country, Bagdad College, but it isn't very popular. The only reason it ever got started was that some English-speaking missionaries run the school and they introduced it. As far as golf, Bahjet claimed that you could count the number that play the sport in the entire country on just one hand. DR. HOUSTON J. ZINN got himself a unique "birdie" recently while warming up with some companions for the Big Spring Open. On the par-four, 453-yard sixth hole at the Country Club, he hit a low tee shot that would have put him in excellent shape for a second shot to the green. About 50 yards out, a bird flew at the ball as if to grab an insect, was hit and fell dead. The ball immediately dropped to the ground and stopped rolling a short distance away. That left Dr. Zinn with approximately a 400-yard second shot to the green, and that was too tall an order. What did he finally get? You might have guessed it — a double bogey.

ROY CAMPANELLA

BOYCE HALE, commissioner of the District VII Amateur Softball Association, has four teams tentatively lined up to date for the tournament slated for the City Park, July 11-12 — Big Spring Merchants, E. C. Smith Construction Co., Skateland, and Joe Blasingame's All-Stars. Although all four teams so far are from Big Spring, the tourney is open to teams from six area counties — Mitchell, Scurry, Dawson, Glascock, Martin and Howard. Entry fee is $25 with the money having to be in to Hale by June 30. The winner and runner-up will represent the district in the state tournament in Brownwood in August. It is hoped that at least six teams will be in the local tourney field. Anyone seeking information can call Hale during the day at the Phillips Petroleum Co., AM 4-6381, or at home, AM 4-8210.

SPOT COCKRELL is Big Spring's latest golfer to record a hole-in-one. While playing with his son Thursday at the Municipal course, he ace'd the 254-yard No. 1 hole with a four wood. ROY CAMPANELLA, the once-great Brooklyn Dodger catcher who was relegated to a wheelchair after an automobile crash, may be the last baseballer of his family. He's got two sons, but neither one plays the sport. Tony, 13, recently set a junior high school record at Cheshire Academy in Connecticut, when he ran the 60-yard dash in :06.7. Roy, 15, is a star in football and basketball.

THEY SAID IT: Golf rookie LANCE COOPER after not making the 36-hole cutoff at the last Greater New Orleans Open: "I couldn't shoot 72 on this course with an eraser." J. B. PHILLIPS, a member of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, talking about search parties looking for lost fishermen: "As long as we find them safe and sound, we consider this reward enough for our men's service. The hard part is when we have to search for them when all hope for their safety is gone."

Minnesota Is Only Unbeaten Tourney Team

OMAHA (AP)—Minnesota puts its perfect tourney record on the line against Missouri's top pitcher and perennial power Southern Cal renews Maine's amazing newcomers in the fourth round of the 18th College World Series tonight—unless it rains again.

The NCAA baseball tourney is a record four days behind schedule, but attendance is up 9,251 over last year's record pace.

Minnesota became the last unbeaten team by beating Southern Cal's defending champs 6-5 with a three-run ninth inning rally Saturday night.

The Big Ten champions, almost as deep in top pitching as Missouri, will be in an excellent position if they can eliminate the Tigers. They'll be facing Keith Weber, 10-1, who shut out Arizona State last Tuesday.

Dick Mielke, a 6-foot-4 sophomore right-hander with a 7-1 record, is the pitching choice of Coach Dick Stebbins, who will have Frank Brousseau and Joe Pollack ready for the last two games.

Should the Big Eight champions stay alive, they would have Stroud and Dennis Musgraves for the last two. Missouri's hitting has been anemic so far in the tournament.

A Missouri victory would leave three teams in the tournament. Then a drawing would be held and the team with a bye would play for the championship Wednesday against the winner of Tuesday's game.

AUGUST 5-8 State Tourney Set For Local Field

The hard-working efforts of some local baseball promoters has paid big dividends finally with Big Spring being chosen as the 1964 site of the Hi-Junior Teen-Age baseball tournament.

The tourney is scheduled for August 5-8 on the north-side baseball park. This will be the first time Big Spring has hosted the tournament.

Frank Sabbato, tournament director, was notified over the weekend by S. C. O'Neal, secretary-treasurer of the state Hi-Junior League committee, that Big Spring's bid for the state tournament had been accepted. Several local league representatives had been promoting the local diamond as the site of the state playoffs but until this point nothing had been heard.

There will be eight districts having teams in the tournament with only Big Spring, last year's Junior Teen - Age League champs, getting a berth without having to qualify because of taking the 1963 championship. Big Spring beat Cleburne in the finals a year ago.

With the tourney less than two months away, some improvements will have to be made at the north-side diamond in a hurry. The most pressing need is for an addition to the bleacher section, which is not nearly large enough to accommodate the crowds that are expected to be here for the games.

PLAY BETTER GOLF The Chip Shot

By Tommy Armour
The chip shot is virtually a lofted putt from off the green that runs toward the hole. Play it carefully and it will save you a stroke. Take a slightly firmer finger hold down on the grip of the club. Keep your head absolutely still. Unlock your knees. You can break your wrists a little but by all means swing your left arm with the elbow straight and with your right elbow close to you and ahead of in line with your right knee. Keep your hands close to you. This will have you controlling the club with your left arm and hand. If the right hand takes command you are ruined.

Dick Farrell Becomes Baseball's Top Hurler

By The Associated Press
Houston's Dick Farrell pitches with a gun at his back. The gun's name is Nellie Fox.

Farrell, who figures the scrappy Fox is the latest weapon in his well-stocked pitching arsenal, became the first 10-game winner in the major leagues Sunday night as he scattered eight hits in a 4-1 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

A converted reliever acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for the premier $125,000 price tag in the National League expansion draft, Farrell is in his third and most productive season as a starter. And that's where Fox, acquired from the Chicago White Sox, enters the picture. "He keeps me bearing down," said the 30-year-old right-hand-

Yankees Slam Chicago Twice

By The Associated Press
"We have been going good, and we are going to get better," said Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox shortly before his American League leaders started a five-game series with the New York Yankees.

The White Sox now are in second place.

The Yankees took care of that, using just 50 hours for a sweep of the series. They completed the annihilation Sunday, taking a doubleheader 8-3 and 4-3 in 10 innings.

The double loss coupled with Baltimore's two victories over Boston put the Orioles on top, one game and 10 percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who have dropped six straight.

The third-place Yankees moved four percentage points behind Chicago, holding a seven game winning streak, longest in the majors this season.

The rampaging Yankees rendered the White Sox attack so ineffective it might take Lopez the rest of the year to find it. Chicago managed only 28 hits in the series and scored only 10 runs.

The White Sox camp close to averting the sweep but couldn't hold off New York in the ninth inning of Sunday's nightcap. Trailing 3-1, the Yankees scored twice with the aid of shortstop Ron Hanse's error, then won it in the 10th on Joe Pepitone's run-scoring single.

Another highlight of the five-doubleheader day was the 30 home runs that were hit in the league. That tied the major league record set June 19, 1962. Minnesota's power-laden Twins led the onslaught in their 6-5 and 9-2 victories over Washington. The Orioles clobbered the Red Sox 10-1 and 8-1, Kansas City edged Cleveland 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2 and Detroit squeezed by Los Angeles 6-5 and 6-4.

Juan Pizarro suffered his third loss in 10 decisions in the opener, Howard and Phil Litz er. "He is always on my back." Farrell had a 10-20 record for the Colts in 1962 and was 14-13 last year. But with the helpful intimidation of the little second baseman he has reached the first plateau en route to a 20-victory season with the best record in the majors.

Farrell's latest triumph was his seventh in a row and brought his record to an eye-opening 10-1. It also extended the Cardinals' skid. St. Louis now has lost four straight and 18 of its last 24 while falling into eighth place, 6 1/2 games behind National League leading Philadelphia.

The Phillies swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 9-5 and 4-2, boosting their lead over second-place San Francisco to one-half game. The Giants' rode homers by Orlando Cepeda and Jim Hart to an 8-2 victory over Cincinnati.

Elsewhere in the NL, Milwaukee swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Dodgers by identical 5-1 scores and the Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 5-2. The second game of the Cubs-Pirates doubleheader was rained out.

Farrell struck out nine and walked two, allowing the Cardinals' only run in the sixth when Bill White tripled and Ken Boyer singled. Al Spangler provided the runs Farrell needed with two sacrifice flies, the last capping a three-run fifth inning upsurge that put it away against Bob Gibson, 5-4.

The Braves unloaded 11 extra-base hits—including the 35th homer of Hank Aaron's major league career—and became the first team in two years to sweep a doubleheader against the Dodgers in Los Angeles.

Aaron, Felipe Alou and Denis Menke homered in the opener while Tony Cloninger, 5-5, pitched a five-hitter. Gene Oliver slammed a bases-empty homer and a run-producing double in the nightcap while Bob Sadowski, Dan Schneider and Denny Lemaster combined to check the Dodgers on seven hits.

Indians Edge By Optimists

The McMahon Indians scored four runs in the final inning Saturday night in the Hi-Junior League and runned past the Optimist, 8-6, despite a five-run rally by the losers in the final frame.

C. Douglas was the winner, tossing a six-hitter, while Martinez was the loser. Proctor's double for the Optimist was the only extra-base hit of the contest.

Lions Nip Orioles, 5-4

The Lions scored two runs in the final frame Saturday night in the Sophomore League and nipped the Orioles, 5-4, in a six inning thriller.

James Newman, who came on in relief, was the winner, while Luven Flores was the loser. The only hit the Orioles could manage was Chapman's fourth inning single. Phil Cochran had a double for the winners.

Another highlight of the five-doubleheader day was the 30 home runs that were hit in the league. That tied the major league record set June 19, 1962. Minnesota's power-laden Twins led the onslaught in their 6-5 and 9-2 victories over Washington. The Orioles clobbered the Red Sox 10-1 and 8-1, Kansas City edged Cleveland 6-5 in 10 innings and 3-2 and Detroit squeezed by Los Angeles 6-5 and 6-4.

Free Bats Lure People To Game

CLEVELAND (AP)—The biggest home crowd of the season turned out to watch the Cleveland-Kansas City doubleheader and club officials credited the attendance of 30,013 to bats. Club promotion men, who have tried a variety of ways to lure fans to the stadium, gave away baseball bats Sunday and it worked.

White Built First Store Thirty-Four Years Ago

The late W. A. White started a store in Clinton, Okla., in June, 1930. For years the store was operated as an auto store, carrying mostly accessories.

Today the company has 503 company-owned and associate stores from Florida to Arizona, and from Texas to Wyoming. Earl White, son of the founder, is now president of the vast empire, which strives to promote quality merchandise at prices in line with the quality, and no higher than the lowest market.

White's now operates its own seat cover factory, its own air conditioner factory, a rubber company to recap tires, operates its own insurance company, and sells major appliances under the brand name of "Catalina" built under contract with the Borg-Warner Co.

Appliances under the Catalina brand include refrigerators, freezers, hot water heaters, dryers, washing machines, dryers, televisions and radios.

An incentive program for qualified employees has kept men with the firm for long periods. A profit-sharing plan, inaugurated several years ago, turns an amount equal to 15 per cent of the employee's salary into a fund which is loaned out, under interest. The percentage is not deducted but added to salaries by the company. As long as the employee stays with the firm, the amount he has in his fund continues to grow until his retirement. If he leaves the firm, and later comes back, he loses the seniority on the fund.

Pierce started in the Berger store in 1948, went to Sherman as manager for several years, and then came to Big Spring. L. B. Conway, appliance manager, has been with White's since June, 1945. There are 15 employees in the local store, most of them with from one to three years. Pierce said qualified employees are transferred, with promotions, to other stores after experience.

The company is now advertising its 34th anniversary sale during June.

"Our prices on quality brand merchandise are never lower than during one of these sales," Pierce said. "If a person can go down the street and purchase quality as ours, at a lower price, we will refund his money. Or, if he has purchased merchandise in our store and finds he could have bought the same quality cheaper at another store we will refund the difference."

Bedell Brothers have several models of economical cycles in stock

Wide Acceptance Proves Worth Of Yamaha Cycles

Yamaha International Corporation, counted as one of the top 10 companies in financial strength in Japan, now has 750 Yamaha dealers in the United States, one of whom is Bedell Brothers in Big Spring. The firm is located on Birdwell Lane just south of Snyder Highway.

Yamaha manufactures 14 lightweight sportscycle models of motorcycles, each designed to provide the greatest dollar value in its respective class. It is the most complete lightweight line, from a high performance 55cc model at $255, to a fast and powerful 250cc sport model at $630, all F. O. B. California.

There is a Yamaha sportcycle for every conceivable use, including economical, safe, everyday transportation, sportsman's models for trail riding, and ready-to-race competition models. Auto and Motor Sport Magazine awarded Yamaha its 1964 Safety and Engineering Award in recognition of achievement in design, safety features, engineering advancement and production of the 80cc "Rotary Jet 80" sportcycle.

Bedell Brothers now have two 1965 models in stock and will have two more later this year. Now on the floor are the new "Santa Barbara" 125 Model YA-6, and the "Catalina 250" Model YDS-3, both with the new Yamaha injection system which features pressure-fed lubrication, never before available in a 2-cycle engine. It provides the exact amount of oil to lubricate the engine at any RPM range without overloading the internal combustion process. Oil no longer has to be mixed with fuel. Yamaha products have been so widely accepted in sports and transportation circles in the United States that the company is now building the most modern and completely equipped distributing facility for motorcycles in the nation today.

Symbolize Start Of Church Plant

Mrs. Norman Read, left, turned the first spade of earth Sunday evening to symbolize the start of construction on the new First Baptist Church plant. Following her was Mrs. Della K. Agnell, eldest member in attendance, who performed this honor on the 46th anniversary of the day she placed her membership at First Baptist. Mrs. Read's mother, the late Mrs. Mary Willis, was the last surviving charter member of the church. Mrs. Willis had broken ground for two of the church's plants before this new one on Marcy Drive.

First Baptist Congregation Breaks Ground For New Plant

Mrs. Norman Read, whose mother twice had performed an identical service for the church, pressed a spade into the earth south of Marcy Drive at dusk Sunday evening, and with this act symbolizing the start of construction for a new First Baptist Church plant. Several hundred members and friends of the church were on hand for the historic event, which was observed as an open air Sunday evening worship service for the congregation.

Church officials had hoped Mrs. Joe Barnett could be present for the occasion, but her health would not permit. Lonnie Coker, chairman of the deacons, read a note from her, recalling how she was baptized into the church the summer of 1887, little more than half a year after the church was founded. She immediately began teaching but said she learned more than she taught. She was happy, she added, that the church which led her to salvation was continuing to grow and was starting a new plant.

AREA STAKED

Reeder introduced John W. Gary, of Gary & Hohertz, designers of the new plant, which is located on a 13-acre tract off the old Country Club site. Gary recalled tersely some of the statistical highlights of the new plant. Robert Jackson, Odessa, representing J. W. Cooper and Company, said the builder's aim would be to construct the most beautiful and useful plant possible.

LARGE FACILITY

The first phase of the facility will contain 65,500 square feet, 15,000 square feet of it in the sanctuary which will seat 1,200. The remainder will be in educational and office space, most of which will be in a two story section which stretches for more than 300 feet in length. Cost, counting sanctuary furnishings, will approximate $850,000.

Mrs. Della K. Agnell, eldest member of the church attending, turned the second shovel of earth. This happened to be the 46th anniversary of the date on which she placed her membership in the First Baptist Church. Among the deacons who also turned spades of earth were three members of the board when the present church was constructed 35 years ago—W. C. Blankenship, the building chairman then, Nat Shick, and Walter Douglass.

Roy B. Reeder, chairman of the building committee, introduced his co-workers, and also the finance committee headed by Clyde Angel.

WORKSHOP

"We are here because all the 77-year history of the First Baptist Church comes to a focal point in this movement," declared the Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor. "All who have ever been a part of the First Baptist Church contribute to this significant occasion. . . The facilities to be built here will enable the church to win more people to Christ, to baptize more people, and to develop

Keating Charges Withdrawal Has Stopped In Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says the Soviet Union has stopped withdrawing its troops from Cuba in what may be an effort to "guard the missile sites or to protect the Cuban regime from its own enemies."

Keating, on a program recorded for radio and television in New York, estimated Sunday that between 4,000 and 7,000 Soviet troops remain in Cuba.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Population Reference Bureau, Inc., warns that population growth may force "rigid rationing of the use of national parks" as they become more crowded.

In a research report issued Sunday, the bureau noted that the one-billionth visitor to the national parks was recorded in Aug. 28, 1962—58 years after they were established. But the second billionth visitor is expected in 1973.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson attended the National City Christian Church Sunday and, like most of his fellow worshippers, used a church-provided paper fan to cool himself.

Johnson was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and two members of his Cabinet — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and their wives.

With the temperature at 90 and the weather humid, many men in the church took off their coats at the invitation of the minister, Johnson, Udall and Hodges kept theirs on.

Ruby Hearing Postponed

DALLAS (AP)—Lawyers for Jack Ruby said today a show cause hearing scheduled Friday to determine if the condemned slayer should have a sanity hearing would be postponed indefinitely.

"We have definitely decided a sanity hearing should not be held at this stage," chief defense lawyer Clayton Fowler said. "Although we strongly believe Ruby is insane, it would serve no purpose to proceed with the sanity hearing at this stage of appeals."

Fowler said the defense would later request the sanity hearing. Lawyers will now concentrate on Ruby's appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Investigation Of Sub Fire

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP)—An investigation continued today into the cause of a fire which extensively damaged the nuclear submarine Haddock, under construction here.

A spokesman for Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. said it was too soon to determine the extent of the damage to the $40-million submarine from the fire late Saturday night.

Queen Rules Nation, Prince Rules At Home

LONDON (AP)—Queens rule Netherlands and Philip of Britain.

Eleven years ago, Bernhard gave the following advice to his friend Philip:

"To succeed as both husband and subject, I believe you need a tightrope walker's sense of balance and an understanding wife. In the nation it is my wife who rules. In my home it is I."

Prince Bernhard, the husband of Queen Juliana, gave the advice to the husband of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953, shortly before her coronation. The prince of the Netherlands volunteered it in an interview with a former Dutch court reporter, Donald Canter.

There is nothing to suggest that Prince Philip doesn't follow the advice. There is, however, a slight suspicion that Prince Philip doesn't have his way all the time.

Lord Kinross has said that Queen Elizabeth once asked a woman friend: "What do you do when your husband wants something badly and you don't want him to have it?"

"Well, ma'am, the queen's friend is reported to have replied, 'I try to reason with him and dissuade him and sometimes we reach a compromise.'"

To this Her Britannic Majesty is said to have retorted: "Oh, that's not my method. I tell Philip he shall have it, and then make sure he doesn't get it."

But, according to persons close to the British throne, there is overwhelming evidence to suggest that Prince Philip rules the British royal home as surely as Bernhard does the one in Holland.

For instance: —The queen opposed Prince Philip flying. He flew. —The queen was against Philip landing helicopters on the lawn at Buckingham Palace. He landed them. —The queen was not entirely in agreement with overhauling palace protocol. It was overhauled. —The queen was opposed to Prince Charles going to Gordonstoun, the tough Scottish public school. Charles went to Gordonstoun. —The queen was opposed to Prince Charles going to the queen appeared before a royal party wearing a dress of her own choosing. In the hearing of several persons, Philip took a look at the frock, frowned and said rather sharply: "You're not going to wear THAT, are you?" —"No, dear," answered the queen, and went and changed the dress. —So, it appears Philip is following his friend Bernhard's advice.

Navy Crew Tackles Defiant Volcano

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—A young U.S. Navy ensign who looks small enough to get lost in a subchaser has been given the big job of taking some of the bite out of an angry Central American volcano.

Almost as if sensing an affront, Costa Rica's mighty Mt. Irazu has been roaring angry defiance ever since the ensign and his 32-man crew of U.S. Navy Seabees arrived last week.

"It's impressive," said Ensign Hans W. Zassenhaus, 26, as he had his first close look at the 11,262-foot smoke-covered peak of Irazu volcano.

With a hint of awe, the lean, blue-eyed sailor from 3711 Millary Road, NW, Washington, D.C., added: "I just hope it stays peaceful and lets us finish the job. I'd say this is the toughest assignment I've ever had."

More Jobs Opening Up, But Many Still Jobless

NEW YORK (AP)—More jobs are opening up as the economy expands. But the percentage of those in the labor force that can't find work stays stubbornly high.

Just adding 750,000 more jobs in April—nicely above the usual seasonal trend—isn't enough.

Some years back an unemployment rate of 4 per cent of the labor force was considered too much. Now government officials are happy when they can report it's under 5.5 per cent. Somewhat wistfully they talk of chances of getting it below 5 per cent maybe by next year.

The labor force is the total at any one time of those with jobs or looking for them. The unemployment rate is the percentage of this total that reports it wants to work but can't find a job.

The number of those with jobs keeps rising. It's now above 70 million, some 1.8 million more than a year ago.

But the labor force keeps rising just as fast or faster.

Part of this is due to the much discussed population explosion—the fact that now, and in the next few years, increasing numbers of young people will be reaching the job-holding or job-seeking age.

But in recent months a growing prosperity has increased the labor force from another source. Attractive jobs are opening up now and luring those who aren't interested at other times. They enter the labor force or drop out as the kind of work they like or can handle expands or declines in their communities.

Modern home appliances have made it possible for more married women to handle both housework and outside jobs.

Also complicating any assessment of the nation's labor picture is a growing amount of moonlighting in recent years. This is the holding of more than one job by the same person. Often this is to gain much needed additional income. But often it is to lift the family into a higher status, to provide desired gadgets or more expensive vacations.

Brasilia Still Hailed, Decried

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—Brasilia remains an unfinished controversy. Critics decry its cost and remoteness. Champions hail the grandeur of its setting.

But Brasilia has taken root, and it is dramatically changing the way of life in one corner of Brazil's vast interior.

Brasilia itself has changed little physically since it was inaugurated four years ago this month following a visit by Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Its population is about 150,000 and some 75,000 more in the suburban areas. Some buildings are unfinished after four years of off-on construction. Others long completed remain unoccupied. One of the most dramatic examples of futuristic architecture, a national cathedral, seems abandoned in a litter of red clay, empty cans and upturned scaffolding.

In many places Brasilia wears the disarray of a child's abandoned playpen. The spectacular line of its architecture achieves a special quality on clear days when low humidity gives a razor-sharp edge to outdoor objects.

"I feel Brasilia is a miracle," says Dr. Israel Pinheiro, the silvery-haired, 66-year-old president of the company that built it. "There was so much resistance to its creation it seems incredible that it was ever built."

A storm of censure swirled around Pinheiro and his company when the new capital started moving from drafting board into reality. There were cries the company was a legal drain for federal funds. But the founders, backed by the city's chief advocate, then President Juscelino Kubitschek, pushed ahead and within three years the glass, granite and marble heart of the futuristic city was ready for inaugural day.

Why hasn't it caught on as the real capital of Brazil?

"Read the story of Washington, D. C.," said Pinheiro, "and you'll find that was no instantaneous success either."

One aim was to open the country's interior to a population of more than 70 million.

They will construct 12-foot dikes along the channel running above and below Cartago. The dikes will follow the course of the otherwise peaceful Reventado River, a stream barely three feet across at Cartago.

Cheers from several thousand Cartago residents greeted the arriving Seabees. These turned to wide-eyed respect as the Americans worked busily in a drenching rain. Townspeople lost no time tearing down a few "Marines go home" signs that had sprouted around Cartago.

Fears of a giant eruption have increased. The volcano has become more awesome and dangerous in its activity in the last two months. Once given to long periods of sighs and grunts between occasional heavy explosions, the volcano now thunders with earth-shaking eruptions that send showers of car-sized rocks lazily over its rim. People no longer walk to the rim to gaze into the boiling, smoky central crater.

A shift in wind direction in the past several weeks has given San Jose partial respite from the heavy ash fall. Heavy damage has been inflicted on the 1964-65 coffee crop. The government estimates a crop loss of 20 to 30 per cent. The coffee crop, Costa Rica's chief dollar earner, normally brings in some $45 million annually.

Massive Traffic Jam Expected As Buses Stop

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police feared a massive traffic jam today as a bus drivers' strike left more than 500,000 daily riders in the Los Angeles metropolitan area with automobiles as their only alternative.

Some 2,500 bus drivers went on strike Sunday against the Metropolitan Transit Authority. They were eight cents apart in negotiations on a pay raise.

Riders in four counties were affected. Some travel 25 miles or more to work.

Police called in all traffic officers except those on vacation. Two police helicopters were assigned to direct traffic cars and motorcycle officers to tie-up an augmented motorcycle squad was assigned to patrol freeways during rush hours.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, representing the strikers, called the walkout at 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

Talks stalemated Saturday and union and management said no more were scheduled.

Borneo Fighting Continues As Leaders Talk It Over

TOKYO (AP)—Malaysia and Indonesia removed another obstacle to their meeting at the summit with agreement today on monitored withdrawal of Indonesian guerrillas from northern Borneo. But a report from Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, told of sharp weekend fighting in the disputed area.

Reliable sources said the clash was the second bloodiest of the campaign and left nine dead and an undetermined number wounded. It was not immediately known how many casualties were suffered by each side in the clash which took place in Malaysian Borneo.

Thailand dispatched teams to the spot after Malaysia and Indonesia agreed on withdrawal checkpoints.

Philippine trouble-shooter Salvador P. Lopez said Indonesia agreed to one exit point in Sarawak and a second in Sabah—North Borneo—with others to be determined later.

The delegations from Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines awaited word from the Thai inspectors in the two Malaysian Borneo states that a token withdrawal of the Indonesian invaders had taken place.

This will be the signal for the start of a foreign ministers' meeting to draw up an agenda for a summit meeting of Indonesian President Sukarno, Malaysian Prime Minister Abdul Rahman and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal.

Macapagal continued his mediation efforts, dining alternately with Rahman and Sukarno.

While a hopeful air existed in Tokyo and Bangkok, a pessimistic feeling prevailed in Jakarta. Third Deputy Premier Chasrul Saleh told a rally Indonesia could not be held responsible if the summit meeting failed.

Antara, the official Indonesian news agency, quoted Col. Sabirin Mochtar, commander of the so-called crush Malaysia volunteers, as saying his men were awaiting orders to cross into Malaysian Borneo if President Sukarno returns empty handed from Tokyo.

TWO AIDES

Assent was nodded by his two top aides, Chief Petty Officers Earl W. Moore, 50, of 2105 Reeves Drive, Raleigh, N.C., and John W. Hillhouse, 37, of 6818 Adams Ave., Bell Gardens, Calif.

Zassenhaus bosses a $2-million flood control project near the agriculturally important town of Cartago, 12 miles east of San Jose and nine miles down the slope from the volcano's top. This is no ordinary flood control scheme. It involves mud-not water. Mixed with rain, volcanic ash becomes a dense compound known as lajar.

Toward the end of Costa Rica's long rainy season last December, the well-saturated cover of lajar blanketing Irazu's slopes came slithering down at express train speed. The avalanche, carrying boulders the size of houses on its crest, sideswiped Cartago, flattening scores of homes and killing nine persons.

HEAVY EQUIPMENT

The Seabees, employing 50 platoons of heavy equipment that eventually will be turned over to the Costa Rican government under the Alliance for Progress program, are clearing and widening the channel of the last slide.

They will construct 12-foot dikes along the channel running above and below Cartago. The dikes will follow the course of the otherwise peaceful Reventado River, a stream barely three feet across at Cartago.

Cheers from several thousand Cartago residents greeted the arriving Seabees. These turned to wide-eyed respect as the Americans worked busily in a drenching rain. Townspeople lost no time tearing down a few "Marines go home" signs that had sprouted around Cartago.

Kuchel Warned To Back Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former Sen. William F. Knowland has warned Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel to support Sen. Barry Goldwater if Goldwater wins the Republican presidential nomination or face loss of future GOP support.

Knowland, chairman of Goldwater's California delegation to the Republican National Convention here next month, said Kuchel and other liberal or moderate Republicans would be under a "grave obligation" to support Goldwater if he gets the nomination.
