Adopts Dolls

Sissy, 8-year-old Pekingese, adopted several dolls about a week ago when her pup was born dead. "I've never seen anything like it," said the dog's owner, W. P. Land, 966 W. 4th.

Sen. Kennedy's Condition 'Good'

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP)—A team of medical specialists Saturday termed Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who suffered a broken back in a plane crash Friday night, in "good condition" and eliminated the possibility of any paralysis.

The doctors from Washington's Walter Reed Hospital flew into Northampton on President Johnson's Air Force One jet and made an extensive examination of the 32-year-old brother of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy was hurt in the crash that killed the plane's pilot and Kennedy's administrative aide in an apple orchard near Southampton, Mass.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and his wife also were injured in the crash but both were termed in good condition with lesser injuries.

Dr. Charles W. Metz, an orthopedic surgeon at Walter Reed, said it was possible that Kennedy would need surgery, though this was not definitely est member, suffered a hip contusion and scratches on his arm. Mrs. Bayh complained of soreness but was not X-rayed.

Kennedy was en route to West Springfield, Mass., to attend the state's Democratic convention where he was to be endorsed by acclamation for a full, six-year term in the post once held by his brother John F. Kennedy.

Pilot of the Aero Commander plane, Edwin T. Zimny, 48, Andover, Mass., died in the crash. Moss, Kennedy's aide, a former New England Telephone Co. executive, died at 6:15 a.m., about seven hours after the crash, at the hospital.

The Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington said the plane had normal communications and was on an approach course to land when "something happened."

Robert Schauer, who lives 300 yards away from the crash in nearby Southampton, was the first to reach the scene and offer help.

"There was Ted Kennedy laid out flat beside the wreckage of the plane in deep pain," Schauer said.

"When I reached the plane, Sen. Bayh was standing beside it trying to get his wife out," Schauer said. "I helped him and we got her free."

Kennedy's wife, Joan, had hurried to the hospital immediately after the accident was reported. She was escorted by Mass. Gov. Endicott Peabody who rushed her out of the convention hall during the roll call which brought him the convention's endorsement for renomination.

The senator's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Mrs. Stephen Smith, the senator's sister, visited at the hospital Saturday morning. With the attorney general were some Justice Department aides.

The attorney general said he did not think their mother nor Jacqueline Kennedy, the late president's widow, would come from Hyannis Port to visit the senator. The Kennedy family had gathered for the weekend to be with former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, who has been ill since suffering a stroke several years ago.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Perhaps we can start all over again. Our deathless days in city traffic had reached 172 when Jolinda Sue Paredes, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Paredes died beneath the wheels of a pickup in the driveway of the home. Technically, this was not a traffic mishap, so the string extended to 176. Then Friday Mrs. Lucille Churchill was killed in a collision at 13th and Johnson. What matters is not a record but two lives.

The surprise strike by Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was surprisingly short. Picket lines went up at 6 a.m. Monday, and they came down about 18 hours later. Trainmen said what they really hoped to accomplish was to get attention to their demands that vacancies be filled and the drying up of jobs be stopped. Whether this will have any effect on negotiations remains to be seen.

Big Spring got word last week that its key rate had been re-

DON'T STOP

It's just not smart to "stop" your Herald when you go on vacation. A lot of things can happen while you're gone, and the only place to find out about them is in The Herald.

The smart thing to do is call Herald circulation, AM 4-4331, and ask for "Vacation Pac." Your papers will be saved and delivered upon your return in a handy, usable plastic bag. There's no extra charge for this service, of course.

Remember "Vacation Pac."

U.S. Beefing Up Supplies In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The United States is beefing up its stockpiles of military equipment in Thailand to assure a quicker, heavier punch if Communist aggression brings on a showdown in Southeast Asia, authoritative sources said Saturday.

They described this as another step in American efforts to deter further Communist incursions.

Five shiploads of equipment, including tanks, trucks, personnel carriers and ammunition, are en route to this strategic pro-western nation, which borders on war-torn Laos.

The first ship is expected to arrive early next week, possibly Monday or Tuesday. The equipment will be added to supplies left here by 5,000 American troops based in Thailand for several weeks in 1962 by order of President John F. Kennedy during a previous Communist threat in Laos.

In Washington defense department officials, confirming that the military cargoes were on the way, called it a re-supply operation. They said it was required because weapons, trucks and communications equipment deteriorate during prolonged storage in Southeast Asia's heat and rain.

There was no indication here that U. S. troops, except those needed to handle and maintain the supplies would be sent to Thailand at this time. The maintenance crew, said to number about 100 is reported to be from the Hawaii-based 25th Division.

The story came out in Thailand's capital as U. S. Adm. Harry D. Felt told a news conference in Taipei, 1,600 miles away, that the United States is willing to risk war with Red China to prevent Peking from taking over Southeast Asia.

"The Chinese Communist machine in Peking will not risk going to war with the United States because they know how strong we are," said Felt, commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Command.

Retiring next Tuesday, Felt was in Taipei to say goodbye to President Chiang Kai-shek and other Chinese Nationalist leaders.

Communist North Viet Nam, a junior partner of Red China, is a source of supplies and men for the guerrilla warfare in two of Thailand's neighbors, Laos and South Viet Nam. The United States has warned the North Vietnamese repeatedly.

OR DID YOU KNOW? Summer Has Now Made The Scene

By SAM BLACKBURN

This is the first day of summer. Perhaps you had the impression it was summer Friday when the temperature was 103, or maybe on June 8 when it was 104. But you were wrong, friend. Summer did not arrive on the Big Spring scene until 2:57 a.m. today. So, unbutton your top coat.

June is notoriously warm in these here parts. The hottest day of all time in Big Spring is charged to June—that memorable sizzler of June 30, 1907 when the temperature climbed to 117 scorching degrees.

The fading records in the handwriting of the late B. Reagan, veteran weather observer in this city, notes for that date:

"June 30, Max. Temp. 117; Min. Temp. 80. Precip. .00; prevailing wind, south; skies clear." And he added succinctly "hot wind." Fortunately Big Spring was beginning to get a little seasoned to the heat—it was 112 on June 28, 1907, and 112 on June 29. July 1 chilled off to 107. Brrrr!

Hottest June 21 on record, however, is not credited to 1907. That distinction is much more recent—199 degrees in 1960. If you want to be nostalgic and refreshed—consider 1932 when June 21 had a maximum reading of only 52.

In case you are wondering if your air conditioner will last it out—summer is officially in season until 6:17 p.m. Sept. 22. On second thought, maybe you should get out the old oil can.

Rights Bill Opponents Begin Delaying Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern opponents of the civil rights bill aimed Saturday at holding off its inevitable final passage by the House as long as possible.

They would like to prevent action before the House recesses July 3 for the Republican National Convention, but House leaders of both parties are confident of bringing the bill to a final vote in eight to 10 days.

Senate passage of a bill differing from the one voted by the House put Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the House Rules Committee and an unyielding foe of the bill, back in temporary control of the situation.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., voted for the bill. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., voted against it.

But the overwhelming bipartisan support for the measure and the desire of Republicans to have the House shut down a week before their convention begins in San Francisco July 13 leave Smith little room for maneuver.

Under House procedures the Rules Committee must approve a resolution calling for the House to accept the Senate bill if it is to be voted on without amendments. Smith's main weapon, as chairman, is to delay scheduling a committee meeting to act on the resolution.

However, a bipartisan majority of the committee is prepared to bypass Smith, as the rules provide, and schedule a meeting itself if Smith refuses to call one before June 29. This was the tactic used to get a final vote on the 1957 civil rights bill.

The 296-130 vote by which the House passed its own version on Feb. 19 removes any suspense from the final act of the long, wearying drama of civil rights legislation this session.

Twister, Scattered Rains Sweep County Saturday

Barns and sheds were unroofed, trees blown down and powerlines damaged at 6:45 p.m. Saturday by a small twister which swooped down on a restricted area about 10 miles west of Big Spring.

The area struck by the tornado was between IS 29 and the Andrews highway and near the H. H. Wilkinson ranch headquarters.

Apparently the hardest hit places were those of Rev. C. W. Parmenter and W. E. Simmons. Parmenter said that his son, Henry, with his wife and three children, were at the farm when the storm swept in. They were not hurt.

The winds came with a deluge of rain so hard that Henry Parmenter said it blew through the closed doors and windows as "though they were open."

The rains were general across the northern part of the county beginning at Ackerly and extending eastward to Lake J. B. Thomas. Apparently the average rainfall in the favored section was about an inch.

Parmenter said that the twister unroofed one barn on the place and picked up a 30-foot portion of another, carrying the structure a quarter of a mile and depositing it intact in a field.

At the W. E. Simmons place, a barn was extensively damaged. Simmons raises race horses but his animals are at Ruidoso, N.M. Simmons was in Fort Worth.

Bill McIlvain at the Wilkinson ranch said the winds blew down some sizeable trees. He gauged 70 inch of rain. Henry Parmenter estimated rainfall at two inches but said his gauge caught only half an inch.

Here in Big Spring only fleeting showers fell.

At Ackerly, it was reported an inch had been gauged and highway patrol officers said a heavy downpour fell south of Knott.

Vealmoor had about an inch, as did Luther. At Luther, light hail fell, but caused no damage. Vincent had between three-quarters inch of rain.

The gauge at the superintendent's house at Lake J. B. Thomas showed .70.

The rains, it was reported, fell in a series of showers, one following rapidly on the heels of its predecessor.

A rolling black cloud with brilliant lightning ushered in the showers.

Lists Goals For A 'Great Society'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Johnson bid for the votes of Southern California's many oldsters Saturday night by outlining "a new charter of opportunity for older Americans."

It includes, among other things, he said, medical care through Social Security "to help 17 million Americans meet the crushing costs of hospital care," high quality medical services through renovation and construction of hospitals, increased Social Security benefits, and an expanded housing program.

Calling for "national unity, for an end to differences and division, to rancor and reproach," Johnson said in a speech at a fund-raising dinner.

"We must now work to show the American people that our test of greatness will come not from open conflict between fellow citizens, not from the ambitions of our neighbors, but from the abundance which we must use to enrich the life of our nation."

Johnson listed these points as the goals of the "great society" he envisions:

—Abolition of poverty.

—Removal of fear of the future.

—And to remain strong "while finding the path to peace."

Johnson carried his fund-raising, vote-winning mission into Southern California by calling for revolutionary advances in education in a speech at Irvine.

In Irvine he dedicated a new campus of the University of California and envisioned an urban extension service, operated by universities across the country, which "will do for urban America what the Agricultural Extension Service has done for rural America."

In his speech for the fund-raising dinner here, he said a majority of the American people harbor the same fears, hold the same hopes.

"If we can transform this unity of interest into unity of purpose there is no limit to the greatness within our grasp," he said.

"We intend to continue to seek a world where men and women are free from the fear of war."

"All our hopes for peace depend on the kind of society we can build in the United States," Johnson said. "And that in turn rests on our system of education."

"I do not intend for us to settle for an uneasy peace for the world—an inferior society for America—or an inadequate education for our children."

Johnson flew in from San Francisco where he all but announced officially his candidacy for a re-election.

Founded Idea Of Dad's Day

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—During the recent Montana floods, the lady who founded Father's Day "quired about conditions in Glacier National Park. She was worried."

"My son, John B. Dodd, is assistant superintendent at Glacier," said Mrs. John Bruce Dodd. "I'm concerned about him. What have you heard?"

He was safe.

Interest in others and a special concern for fathers has marked Mrs. Dodd for a lifetime. (She declines to tell her age but gladly admits she's a great-grandmother.) Mrs. Dodd is staying with friends after suffering a heart attack earlier this year.

"My father, William Jackson Smart, reared six of us children on an eastern Washington wheat farm after our mother's passing," Mrs. Dodd said. "He was a strict disciplinarian but he was very gentle, too."

More than half a century ago, Mrs. Dodd, perplexed and pleased by a sermon on the problems and joys of fathers, decided something should be done to honor them.

She took the idea to the Spokane Ministerial Association. Why not set aside one Sunday in June to speak in congregations about the responsibilities and rewards of fathers? It was a fine idea, the clergymen agreed.

Spokane city officials and representatives of the Washington state government approved it, too.

So, on Sunday, June 17, 1910, Spokane clergymen spoke from the pulpit about father and city and state officials proclaimed it as Father's Day. Mrs. Dodd attended church services with her infant son in her arms. Then, with a friend, Mrs. Eva Cummings Estes, she set off to distribute the first Father's Day gifts, to shut-in fathers.

In 1916, President Woodrow Wilson recommended national observance of Father's Day.

VISITORS DUE MONDAY City Will Put Its Best Industrial Foot Forward

Monday will be a major day in Big Spring's program to attract industrial investment.

A dozen financial, utility and industrial development leaders of the state will be here for an all-day visit, to see what Big Spring now has in industry and general community assets, and what it can offer prospective new capital.

They are to be hosted by some 20 local businessmen, functioning under direction of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development Committee.

The day's activities will start at 9:30 a.m. at the Settles Hotel, where coffee will be served, and a briefing will be given on the operations of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Then the party will board a bus for an extended tour of the city, the morning schedule to include various municipal and school facilities, schools and college, commercial and residential areas.

A noon stop is to be made at Webb Air Force Base, where lunch is to be served and a briefing given on Webb's operations.

In the afternoon, the tour will include the plants in the industrial complex east of town—Cosden, Grace, Sid Richardson and Cabot—and then the airport and the GAMCO-Math-Master installation.

The tour is to conclude at the First Federal Savings & Loan Association's Community Room, where a general discussion will be held on the city's present status and its potential for attracting new industry.

Leader of this session will be Harry Clark, Austin, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, recognized as one of the nation's leaders in this field. He is expected to offer suggestions on what the city can do to bolster its present industries and to strengthen its bid for new investment capital.

The day's activities will conclude with a banquet at the Cosden Club at 8:30 p.m., an affair to which all local people have been invited to participate.

John Taylor, C-C president, and George McAllister, industrial committee chairman who are directing the program, said attendance probably will be 150.

Clark will address the night gathering.

Out-of-town visitors due here include:

Marvin Springer, city planning consultant, Dallas; Cal Sutton, Fort Worth Star-Telegram; C. S. Harrington, vice president, Continental National Bank, Fort Worth; Beeman Fisher, president, Texas Electric Service Company, Fort Worth; Oscar Castillon, TESCO, Fort Worth; Clarence Gerrard, vice president, Fort Worth National Bank; H. N. Oldham, vice president, Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Amarillo; Haynes Morris, vice president, First National Bank, Fort Worth; Robert Seal, vice president, Republic National Bank, Dallas; Harry Clark, Austin; and Jack Springer, executive vice president, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Abilene.

Steel Going In For Overpass Concrete

Workers for Oldt Construction Co. are shown placing reinforcement steel on the east lane of the Gregg Street viaduct. Two outside lanes are being built to handle traffic over US 87, while the old structure is being torn out and center lanes added. The new viaduct, when completed, will handle four lanes of highway traffic plus foot traffic.

Three Major Road Jobs Here Making Progress

Big Spring's three major federal highway projects will be completed almost simultaneously if the progress now being shown on the jobs continues.

The two sections of the IS 20 bypass, 7.11 miles of multiple highway looping Big Spring to the north, are rapidly nearing the finish line. The Gregg Street viaduct replacement, last of the big projects to get under way, is well ahead of construction schedule and probably will be completed before November.

Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department, who is supervisor of the two IS 20 jobs, said that the east leg, extending 2.9 miles from Gregg to IS 20 on the eastern edge of the city is 90 per cent complete. The bridges on this job are 100 per cent finished and the contractor is now applying topping to the roadbed. Smoot said this part of the work is about 20 per cent along. The hot weather is ideal for this work, and the contractor, M. C. Winters, Inc., Johnson City, is making rapid progress. The east section of the bypass route is slated to cost $2,135,000.

LAST SPAN
The west leg which begins at Gregg Street (US 87) and extends westward to tie-in to IS 20 beyond Webb AFB, a distance of 4.2 miles, is now approximately 85 per cent completed. Parker and Parker, Odessa, contractors, are working on the last of the bridges they had to build on this project. The final span, which will be completed in 10 days, is on the Frazier road. Meantime the crews are laying base preservative on the roadbed proper. So far, Parker and Parker have not laid any hot-mix topping. Contract cost for the west leg was $2,692,000.

Smoot estimated that the two sections would be completed about the same time. Tentatively, the finish date will be late this fall.

The topping operations on the bypass road are extensive in that service roads, accesses and interchanges have to be treated. Workers were at the Snyder highway overpass Thursday. When the topping is completed, the shoulders will have to be worked in and a cleaning up job initiated.

Meantime, Oldt Construction Co., which has the $795,000 viaduct job, is pushing ahead with concrete work on the east side of the structure. The west side is nearly complete and has been opened to pedestrian traffic.

Ben Wilkinson, Colorado City, state highway department engineer, is in charge of this project. He said that Oldt is well ahead of the working day schedule on the job and that he looks for the project to be completed by early November.

OLD BRIDGE OUT
Meantime, the contractor is

Water Grant

still looking for a buyer for the old bridge which has served so long as a crossing over the sprawling T&P railway yards. When the east side is finished, Oldt will open both the new lanes to traffic, closing out the old section, (which has been kept open since the job began). The old bridge will be torn out and replaced by a new structure to provide four traffic lanes.

These are the only three state-federal highway jobs now under way in Howard County. A rebuilding project on the Gail highway has been finished.

OTHER ROADS
A new farm-to-market road in the Lomax area is on the calendar but has not been started. This road will tie into a similar road being built in Glasscock County to form new loop route for the southwest corner of Howard County.

On tap, and slated for a start sometime in the near future, will be a complete retopping of Third and Fourth streets through Big Spring. Third and Fourth streets now serve as part of IS 20 and are officially designated as US 80. There are approximately 16 miles of federal-state highway in Big Spring—most of which is along these two streets. The remainder is on Gregg Street, which serves as a link of US 87.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Beautification Plan Would Improve Airport

Hand-in-hand with other improvements, few things would be more welcome at Howard County Airport than a regular program of upkeep on the grounds. Particularly along the roadway leading to the hangars, a bunch of hoe-hands could have a field day.

In addition, some of the garden clubs might lend a hand in planting shrubbery and flowers to lend color and beauty. Although it is the county's airport, perhaps the city might help in planning a beautification program at the airport, lending assistance in manpower and know-how.

Such a program would not be necessarily expensive. In any case, many visitors get their first look at the city on the ground when they alight from an airplane. A first impression of well manicured grounds at the airport could be a lasting one.

Local flying club's members have been taking advantage of the good flying weather in recent weeks. About a half dozen in each club—Big Spring Flying Club and Webb Aero Club—were aloft last week, some more than once.

Three area fly-ins will be attracting visitors in the coming weeks.

Today, the Jaycees are sponsoring one at Andrews County Airport, from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Breakfast will be served until 10 a.m. at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. Prizes will be given to those making the longest landing, best spot landing, oldest male pilot, oldest female pilot and to the pilot arriving from the greatest distance.

Several from Big Spring are planning to attend the open house at the Winkler County Airport, where new facilities will be dedicated June 27. Breakfast will be served from 7:30 a.m. at $1 for adults, 50 cents for children. Webb AFB will stage a flyover between 9:45-10:30 a.m., the dedication ceremonies are set for 10:30 a.m. and a group of El Paso sky divers will make jumps at 11 a.m. A women's organization will provide rides for non-flyers at a penny per pound.

Colorado City's Third Annual Fly-In Day has been set July 4. Paul Boyd Hunter and Dr. Elton Berkman are co-chairmen of the arrangements. Dr. John Chinn heads the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, sponsors. Special entertainment will feature the Sky Divers from Odessa. The quartet are Odessa businessmen whose hobby is free falling and sky diving stunts.

The Fly-In will be held at the Colorado City Municipal Airport. Guests will be treated to an old-fashioned breakfast of sour dough biscuits, coffee, bacon and eggs. Breakfast starting time is 7 a.m. and will be served until 10 o'clock. Area citizens who drive out will pay a minimum charge. Transportation will be available for fliers who wish to attend church, lake sports and golf.—VGC.

Must Work Together

AUSTIN (AP)—Lack of public understanding is potentially the biggest stumbling block in highway planning and construction, the chairman of the Highway Commission said Saturday.

"An attitude of 'do it for me first and forget the other guy' will not serve the best interest of the state or the highway user who pays the bill," said Herbert Petry Jr., head of the commission.

He spoke to the Texas Section of the Institute of Traffic Engineers.

The total value of the Texas highway system today is about $4.5 billion, Petry said.

"As realists we build highways for the next 20 years. We do not know all that the space age may hold in store, nor the needs it may create. We must work together — state, cities, counties — on the problems of today and face tomorrow boldly and imaginatively," Petry said.

Kennedy Clan Plagued By Saga Of Sorrows

By FRANCES LEWINE
HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Troubles have plagued the family of Joseph P. Kennedy— from oldest to youngest—for 20 years.

Assassination, violent death and plane crashes have claimed four of the clan of the onetime ambassador to England.

Illness has taken its toll — from the paralyzing stroke that hit 76-year-old Joseph Kennedy to the lung disease that took the life of his infant grandson, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy; when he was less than two days old.

TRAGEDIES
The tragedies this famous family have had to bear include the heartbreak of a daughter suffering from mental retardation.

The latest accident, a plane crash in which the youngest of four Kennedy brothers, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, 32, was injured Friday night, came as members of the family were gathered at their summer cottages here, still mourning John Fitzgerald Kennedy, who became President of the United States at the age of 43 and was slain in his 47th year by an assassin's bullet last Nov. 22.

President Kennedy's widow, Jacqueline, and her two children had arrived there in separate private planes a few hours before Sen. Kennedy's chartered plane crashed.

The family saga of sorrows stretches back to the days of World War II.

OLDEST KILLED
It will soon be the 20th anniversary of the tragic day—Aug. 12, 1944—when the oldest of the nine children of Joseph Patrick and Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy was killed on a World War II secret mission.

Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., just 29, a Navy pilot, was flying a drone plane aimed at knocking out German V2 rocket bases. It exploded and he was lost.

Four years later, in May 1948, his 28-year-old sister, Kathleen, already a wartime widow, was killed in a plane crash in southern France. She had been married in England in May 1944 to William Cavendish, elder son of the Duke of Devonshire. Four months after the wedding he was killed in a World War II infantry charge.

MIXTURE
For the Kennedys there seemed always to be a mixture of good fortune and bad.

Joseph Kennedy had proudly participated in the inauguration of his president son and seen son Robert aimed attorney general, but before the first year of President Kennedy's term was ended, the elder Kennedy suffered a stroke on the golf course at Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 19, 1961. It left him with some paralysis of one arm and impairment of speech from which he has not fully recovered.

Of the 23 Kennedy grandchildren, one, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, died in infancy while his father, the president, kept sorrowful vigil in a Boston hospital. Two others were born by emergency caesarean.

Both Jacqueline Kennedy and Joan Kennedy, wife of the senator, suffered two miscarriages. Joan, 27, was released from Washington's Georgetown Hospital only 2 1/2 weeks ago after losing a baby in the early stages of pregnancy.

BACK INJURY
The back injury which Sen. Kennedy suffered in Friday night's crash recalled that his brother, the late president, suffered for many years from back trouble caused by a World War II injury suffered when the PT boat he commanded was rammed and sunk by a Japanese ship in the Pacific.

The mental retardation of Rosemary Kennedy, now 44, led the family to launch a drive to aid persons similarly afflicted.

They started the L. Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation to support research in the field and to promote hospitals and centers to care for the mentally retarded. President Kennedy won passage of the first bill in history to provide federal funds to combat mental illness.

Mr. Zip Called Simple, Degrading

HOUSTON (AP)—A convention of postal workers has charged that "Mr. Zip," the cartoon symbol of the zip code, is "a simpleton, disrespectful and degrading to the letter carrier."

The Texas State Association of Letter Carriers passed a resolution Friday calling on the Post Office Department to get a "more dignified and respectful symbol" for the zip code.

Despite the harsh treatment, Mr. Zip found himself on the cover of the convention program and on a picture page of dignitaries.

"Glaucoma cannot be cured, but if detected early and properly treated, it can be arrested and blindness prevented", according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

EXAMPLES FOR US

In the book of Acts of Apostles, we have examples of conversion which apply to us. The book tells of the salvation of people after the new testament of Christ had been sealed with his blood and the church had been founded.

In every case where details are given, the sinner hears the gospel, believes in Christ, repents of his sins and is immersed. He rejoices in salvation following his immersion; never before. In fact, he is told that baptism as well as faith and repentance are necessary to his salvation. Note the following:

"Then Peter said unto them, repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost" (Acts 2:38).

"And now why tarriest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord" (Acts 22:16).

See examples of conversion in chapters 2, 8, 9, 10, 11, 16, 18 and 22.

Can you put your finger on these examples of conversion, and truthfully say that your conversion was like them—like all of them?

The adult Bible class is to study Acts of Apostles today at 7:30. Be with us.

Will Glasscock Require Livestock Be Kept Penned?

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County voters go to the polls Monday to say if their county is to be placed under the Texas stock law.

The ballot requires an expression of the voter whether he favors application of the closed range law to all type of livestock.

Can We Afford Peace? Only With Planning

By BEM PRICE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Peace, it's wonderful! The question is: how much peace can the United States afford?

One thing appears clear: If general peace broke out tomorrow — an unlikely prospect — the U.S. economy would undergo a horrible wrench in the absence of advance planning.

Prof. Emile Benoit, Columbia University economist, told a Senate subcommittee that sudden, all-out peace would, in the absence of planning, produce an economic depression which would add 4 to 8 million workers to the unemployed, now about 3.6 million.

scientists and engineers who do not know the free enterprise system because they have lived only in the federal government environment."

RESEARCH MONEY
Morse said most of the money spent on research was being spent with "companies which are totally incapable of doing anything commercially."

Before transitional plans can be made, Congress and government experts must know how the nation's manpower is employed and at what.

This is what the Senate subcommittee on Employment and Manpower, headed by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., has been trying to find out over the past year and a half.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., has introduced a bill which would establish a national economic conversion committee to study the problem of transition. The bill also would require defense industries to plan their own conversion to non-defense work.

The Department of Defense and the administration — is cool toward the McGovern proposal.

GIANT AGENCY
While the Defense Department is aware of disarmament problems, it takes the position that it does not want to become a giant public works agency.

Arthur Barber, deputy assistant secretary of defense for arms control, said in an interview.

"The real question is what we expect defense procurement in the next five years to look like and the only answer to that question is that we don't know."

"If there aren't any crises as there regularly have been in the past in Berlin or somewhere else — a major confrontation with the Soviet Union — it is logical to conclude that our defense spending will be somewhat lower."

Would a sharp cutback in defense spending necessarily lead to a depression?

PERSONAL VIEW
"My personal view is that there is much unfinished business in this country that we can put this talent and resources to work on. The problem is how are we going to get organized to do it."

"There are four possible ways to use these resources and I think the debate is only on two of them. One way is to reduce the national debt and I've talked to many Wall Street bankers who agree that that is not sound economic policy. It tends to create deflationary problems, unemployment and so forth."

"Another way, which I don't think is very effective, is just to take public money and spend it for giant public works programs."

"The two that I think are useful are, first, tax reductions which will be spent by the private citizen as he sees fit, both for consumer demand and for state and local taxes—to build better high schools and so on."

HELP ECONOMY
"The last one is the question of what I'd like to call selective stimulation of the private economy by the federal government and by that I mean the use of federal funds on a temporary basis to help the private economy do some things it would not otherwise do."

"Let me give you an example — and this is not federal policy. At the present moment our fishing industry is in very bad shape. The Soviet Union and China are becoming the world's largest fishers and, in the case of the Soviet Union, the most effective."

PROVIDE FOOD
"Now if, as a question of federal policy, we said we think it is in our interest to have a dynamic fishing industry—which could provide food perhaps to Africa and Latin America where there is a need for low-cost protein in their diets, then we might spend some money to build with private industry some effective fishing fleets. And I mean a few."

"If it turned out that we and the people in the industry had done our jobs properly that industry could then sell its product on a worldwide basis without any government support or interference."

DEFENSE DEPT.
The Department of Defense alone supports 48 per cent of all research and development carried on in the entire United States.

An abrupt cutback in defense spending easily might mean that the United States, instead of having a shortage of scientists and engineers, would have a surplus.

Ullman also made the point that blue collar workers, paid on an hourly basis, might make the transition to non-defense work more easily than the highly educated scientists and engineers.

Richard Morse, former assistant secretary of the Army for research, told the subcommittee: "We are developing a race of

Cows Lost In Flood Are Found
SPRINGFIELD, Neb. (AP) — Farmer Henry Gottsch tells this story of the flood that hit his farm Tuesday evening after a torrential rain.

The civil suit charged violation of the antitrust laws.

He had gone to the pasture to round up his 26 cows when he saw a wall of water hit the animals.

It charged that the transaction would give General Telephone three of the largest independent companies in the United States. They are West Coast Tel-

What really amazed him was that one cow was swept down a creek for five miles, then four miles down the Platte River. The animal was in good condition when found.

MIDWEEK REPORT

Rains Brighten Farm Outlook

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Rains and cooler temperatures last week have brightened the Texas farm outlook.

General rains benefitted crops and pastures, allowing cattlemen to keep their livestock on the ranges, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The wheat harvest moved rapidly with yields average to excellent.

Some dry land planting began after the rain. Increased moisture and warmth also increased insects.

Midweek reports from district agents showed:

Rain in the Panhandle slowed wheat harvest, which neared full swing. All cotton and about half of the grain sorghum has been planted. Many ranchers are ending feeding.

Most dry land is being planted in the South Plains. More rain is needed. Wind and sand hurt some young cotton in the west, forcing a lot of replanting because of hail and seedling diseases. Thrip damage is heavy. About 75 per cent of the sorghum is planted.

Moisture in the Rolling Plains is adequate. Wheat harvest is nearly complete. Hail caused some farmers to replant cotton. Thrips have set in.

Moisture is short in about half of North Central Texas. The wheat harvest is almost complete. Corn and sorghum are making excellent growth. Livestock are in fair shape.

Tomatoes are moving to the sheds in Bowie County. The peach harvest is still on. Some oats remain in the fields. Fleahoppers and thrips are damaging cotton. The hay crop is yielding 20 to 40 per cent less than last year.

Damaging hail and wind hurt cantaloupes and cotton in the Presidio and Midland areas of far West Texas. A general rain is needed. Some livestock still are fed. The grain harvest is complete, and onion and cantaloupes harvest under way. Insects have damaged some cotton.

Most of West Central Texas needs rain. Cotton is making fair to good growth but insects are numerous. The pecan crop is good. Ranges are extremely dry.

Rains covered most of Central Texas. Cotton fleahoppers have afflicted some counties. Corn is silking and sorghum is blooming. Both need moisture. Most fruits and vegetables are on the market.

Moisture is short in East Texas. The tomato acreage is short. Watermelon crops appear favorable.

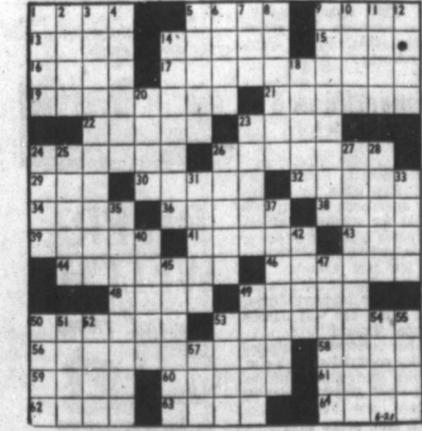

Crop and pasture conditions are improving in South Central Texas. Range vegetation needs rain. Peanuts and watermelons are making progress. Corn, blackeye peas and potato harvests are at their peak. Due to the dryness, some pecans have begun to fall.

In the southeast and upper coast, crops are good. Corn is in the roasting-ear stage and cotton is blooming. The pecan crop is spotted.

Moisture in South Texas is short to adequate, but cotton is making excellent growth. Insects are increasing.

Says Ike Agrees On U.N. Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Saturday former President Dwight D. Eisenhower agrees with him that the United Nations Charter should be revised and the voting formula changed. Goldwater, the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said in an interview recorded for the Mutual Broadcasting System's radio network that both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dean Rusk support "a thorough discussion on the charter of the United Nations."

Over 80 Horses In Coahoma Show

COAHOMA (SC) — A total of 83 horses were entered in the open division and 20 in the youth division of the first annual Coahoma Quarterhorse Show, held Saturday at the Coahoma Riding Club. A good crowd attended the FFA-sponsored show.

Mrs. Gladys Lewis, San Angelo, was shown by John Dublin Jr., also of San Angelo. Freno, a 1961 stallion, owned and shown by Leo Fry, Abilene, was grand champion stallion. Freno was sired by Texas Dandy Jr. from Gill Mare Top's Dodger, a 1956 stallion owned by Lobus Star Fire out of Cocoon Bar, was reserve champion stallion. Owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Freeman, Clyde the horse also was judged senior champion reining horse. The animal was ridden and shown by Freeman.

THE WEEK

duced from 21 to 19 cents on fire insurance premiums. This was due to recent additions of equipment and two fire stations with men to match. However, cost of extended coverage (hall, wind, etc.) is going up more than the key rate premium reductions.

High temperatures associated with dry summers took hold during the week and got up to 102 on Thursday and Friday. Some thermometers showed higher readings. There was little prospect of change, although possibility of some showers was seen. It can't cool until it rains, and it can't rain until it cools.

Class 64-H graduated at Webb AFB during the week with five qualifying for honors, among them Capt. James H. Swann, the class commander who won the Air Training Command commanders trophy and was declared a distinguished officer graduate.

The 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron based at Webb is adding something and losing someone. The addition is the Vulcan 20 mm cannon—a Gatling gun type which will fire, if you can imagine, 100 shots per second for the F104s. The subtraction, and a mighty big one, is the impending transfer of Lt. Jack C. Price as commander of the 331st. Just as we had made a native of him, too.

If first you don't succeed, try, try—and try again. At least the city is going to add a third try to its main sewage outfall line under the Master Plan. Originally this was set up for $327,000, but every time bids are asked, the total seems to go up more. Commissioners have asked for revisions in plans in an effort to haul cost down.

When pupils come to Goliad and Runnels Junior High schools and to Big Spring High School next autumn, they will come to stay until the day is out. Last week trustees voted to establish closed campuses in all three places in an effort to mitigate a lot of traffic and discipline problems. In other words, the noon motor journeys, etc., will be out.

One project which is taking shape is the beautification of the Big Spring State Hospital cemetery. Headed by Orville Shapland, a project committee now has the once desolate spot covered by grass or organization to volunteer to pour the simple concrete head stones.

assembly. He said Eisenhower reminded him at a conference in Jettysburg, Pa., last Thursday that he had worked on this problem during his tenure as president.

The U.N. Charter provides for revisions by vote of two-thirds of the membership and unanimous approval by the permanent members of the Security Council, which includes the Soviet Union.

Goldwater said he has no hope "of ever seeing Russia agree to any changes that would react to the weakening of her present power, but I can't see any alternative to our trying."

"I say this because we have to face the realities of life," he said. "The chances of Red China coming into this organization grow every day. We are going to see shortly, in my opinion, the admission of an Afro nation to the Security Council."

"And when we do, without having taken steps to protect the Western world, the free world, from the voting strength in the General Assembly, for example, of the Afro-Asian neutralist, Communist bloc, I think we're headed for trouble, and I think the body itself will suffer."

Conceding it is difficult to base voting on population or wealth, Goldwater said he has no specific formula in mind.

Reminded that Russia and France are delinquent in their payments to the United Nations, Goldwater said he feels strongly about this.

"You either pay up or you don't vote," he said. "I think that the United States should stand up and make it very clear that we intend to invoke that part of the charter that denies voting of any nation in arrears."

The champion junior cutting horse was Rum Saffire, owned by Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Strole, Abilene. It was ridden by Snooks Burton. Helelo, owned and ridden by Louis Brooks, Sweetwater, was senior cutting champion.

Colorado City's Willie Hines is owner of the champion junior reining horse, Lemon's Pride. Bob Mickler rode the animal. Judge Frank (Curley) Daugherty, Olton, placed all classes of horses, and members of the Coahoma Roping Club assisted the officials with the show.

DALLAS—Climaxing the Annual Texas Restaurant Association Convention, held in Dallas, June 16-18, George Williams,

Big Housing Deal Fails

DALLAS (AP) — A $4,467,300 housing project for the elderly in Fort Worth is headed toward the auction block and indications are that the federal government will suffer a heavy loss.

The Federal Housing Administration, which had insured the 343-unit Christian Homes project, could lose $2 million or more, officials said.

U.S. Atty. Barefoot Sanders said here he had filed a suit requesting U.S. Dist. Judge Leo Brewster to order the controversial project sold.

Sanders said Brewster agreed to appoint a receiver to manage the project while the suit is pending.

Christian Homes Inc. owes the government $4,978,136 plus interest and is unable to make payments on its note, Sanders said. He said the interest totaled $225,230 on April 30 and is increasing daily.

The project was built and operated by a corporation formed by pastors of a group of fundamentalist churches.

The suit listed Rev. George Norris, pastor of Gideon Baptist Church in Fort Worth, as their agent.

Young Dawson Farmer Has Model Swine Plant

Well-equipped, well-run and most important — profitable. This sums up Stanley White's hog operation south of Lamesa in Dawson County. The young farmer has built a thriving swine enterprise in just a few short years, according to County Agent Lee Roy Colgan.

White has 32 brood sows, and he farrows them twice a year. This gives him about 500 pigs annually to raise for the slaughter market and for sale as registered breeding stock. In most years, White makes the show circuit over the Southwest — showing and selling his registered animals.

Most female animals produced are marketed as breeding stock. He feeds out for market the bulk of spring-farrowed barrows. Those farrowed in the fall are usually sold to 4-H and FFA members for show stock.

A unique market has also been developed for part of the pork he produces. White saw an opportunity in producing sausage for local people — especially Lamesa residents. So now, he annually markets several of his hogs through sausage made by a Lamesa butcher and peddled by Tanley.

One of the most impressive features of White's system is his feeding operation. Part of the building where hogs are fed is covered. The building was built by White and local labor. White says the cost, including the feed auguring system now being installed, will total about $3,000 — not excessive considering 250 hogs can be housed and fed in the building at one time.

A lagoon system under the floor eliminates need for cleaning. White has 10 feeding pens, each with 25-head capacity. Serving each two pens is a concrete walled — floored "compartment" lagoon, for a total of five compartments in the lagoon system. Depth of the compartments slopes from 10 inches deep at the back to 22 inches at the drain end.

Why compartments? "We can better utilize labor with separate compartments than with the conventional one water compartment (lagoon) under the feeding floor," says White.

"One man can clean and sterilize one of the five water compartments in one and a half hours. We clean each compartment when the batch of hogs above is sold."

CLEAN WITH HOSE
"If we had only one drain with one water compartment, the manure would set up and shovel labor would be needed to clean the lagoon. But with individual compartments, a water hose does a thorough job of cleaning."

Floors in each of the feeding pens are slatted. This lets the manure and other wastes drop easily through the openings into the lagoon below. A fogging system keeps hogs cool in hot weather. White simply uses a plastic water line with spray nozzle "drops" over each feeding pen at the "sun porch" end.

White also eliminated the need for vent fans in his hog house. The "sun porch" (or uncovered portion) of his hog feeding house does the trick. Wind currents sweeping over the sun porch carry off odors from the lagoon.

Getting the feed to hogs in each of the 10 feeding pens is easy. White throws a switch and an auger brings the complete mixed feed from the outside bulk feed tank to feed bins serving the feeding pens.

RAISES FEED
Feed requirements for White's increasing number of sows, boars, and growing pigs is huge. White estimates he feeds about 350,000 pounds of milo a year. The bulk of this is raised on his own farm — he has nearly 500 — in grain sorghum this year. Remainder of his feed needs is purchased from neighbors.

"I believe I come out ahead by marketing my milo through my own hogs," says the young farmer.

In addition to growing his own feed, raising and marketing hogs, and peddling sausage, White has several other enterprises to keep him and his two hired hands busy. He runs about 40 head of cattle, has 322 acres in cotton and 80 acres in pasture.

Not only this, but he's active in other ways. At present, he's president of the Lamesa Young Farmers. He also serves as a member of the Dawson County Extension Livestock Committee — through which he and others hope to boost their local economy by better livestock production and marketing methods.

have made any difference. There are some things a mother can't give her children. Especially if they are boys. I've missed all that and I'll never forgive my father for it. Maybe you should have pushed him a little harder. Mom, I don't know. I only know that it's too late for me, but it's not too late for my brother. See if you can't talk to him. Mom, I don't want Johnny to grow up wondering what it's like to have a father's love. That's half a boy's education. Don't let Johnny miss it. Mom. PLEASE."

Verdun, France

"Hi, Dad:
"I received your letter the other day, but have been too tired to answer until now. I still am, but here goes:

"Dad, you have no idea what it means to get a letter from you. I know you think of me, but it is good to see it in writing. I want you to know that I think of you as well as Mom and my wife. All the time. I pray for you all every night. The only thing that keeps me going is knowing that we will all be together again.

"I guess the reason your letters mean so much to me is because they are so few and far between. I just can't explain the feeling I get when I read a letter from you, Dad. It just tears me apart.

"I guess I am just sentimental. Or maybe it's because we never said much to each other before. I feel that your letters bring us closer together. Anyway, I want you to know that I think you are O.K. and I am proud that you are my dad. When anybody would ask me, 'Are you Ed Brutsche's boy?' I'd say, 'Yes, I sure am.'"

"This is my first letter to you and you alone, Dad. I am even putting it in a separate envelope because it is worth eight cents to let my father know that I love him and miss him very much. "And that's it.
"Your Sentimental Son, Pink"

And another letter:
DEAR ABBY: Please do me a favor and print the enclosed portion of a letter I received from my son, a wonderful boy who has been neglected by his father for all of his 19 years. My son is away at college. His father reads your column. Maybe he will see it and recognize himself as I could not bring myself to show him his son's letter.

A BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER

"... I hope to God I never turn out to be the kind of man my father is. If I do, I want someone to shoot me. Do you realize that I have actually lived in the same house with a man for 19 years and he never once sat down and talked to me, or took me anywhere, or showed any interest in me, except for football my last year in high school, and that was very short-lived? You should see the letters some of these boys get from their fathers. You should hear them talk about the places they've gone, and the things they've done with their fathers. How am I supposed to know how to treat a son if I ever get married? I've never been shown any love by my father. I don't even know how a father is supposed to act. Do you realize that I have missed half the fun of growing up because my father never looked at me? If he had been dead for the past 15 years it wouldn't

Opening lead: King of ♠
West was anxious to obtain a diamond ruff in defending against South's four heart contract and, in order to achieve his objective, West threw away the rule table and relied on his imagination to find the answer.

West opened the king of spades which held the trick. With the appearance of the dummy, he observed that the only outstanding card in the suit was the nine. If East held that card, declarer would be able to ruff the continuation. If South, on the other hand, had the nine of spades, West could put his partner in via the ruff in order to obtain the diamond return which he so much desired.

The only problem confronting West — assuming that East was the player who had no more spades — was to persuade his partner to trump the continuation. If, for example, West continued with the ace of spades or even the queen, East might choose to take a harmless discard — not realizing that West urgently desired to transfer the lead.

West solved his problem by leading the ten of spades at trick two. East made the natural play of trumping with the deuce of hearts. The obvious return was, of course, a diamond; however, in shifting to that suit, East was careful to lead the jack. South covered with the queen and West ruffed with the five of hearts. The spade return was trumped by the declarer, but there was no way for him to avoid losing a diamond trick subsequently, and he went down to defeat.

Observe that, if East leads back a small diamond when he is in, declarer can duck the trick around to North's ten. West will be forced to ruff a small card, and declarer can successfully finesse the queen of diamonds subsequently after he has drawn trumps.

Ken Venturi Wins Open Title With 278

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Sports Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Ken Venturi, almost felled by suffocating heat, bounced back from goldfom's limbo with closing rounds of 66 and 70 Saturday and won the 64th National Open Championship with a near record score of 278.

Palmer, Masters champion and all-time leading money winner, never was able to turn on the ignition for another of his fabled last-gasp comebacks and he floundered in a sea of bogeys. This dashed again his dreams of scoring a professional grand slam—the Masters, U.S. and British Open at St. Andrews next month.

The 33-year-old Venturi almost collapsed from the heat on the 15th tee of the morning round for a while there was fear he might not be able to continue. "I nearly blacked out," he said. "I felt dizzy and ill. I was very weak."

He had a comfortable lead going into the final round only to blow to an 80 and lose the title to Jack Burke Jr., who made up eight shots. In 1960, Venturi appeared again to have won the Masters. He was in the clubhouse being fitted for the traditional green victor's coat when word came that Palmer had birdied the last two holes to take the crown. In 1962 Venturi suffered a pinched nerve that paralyzed his right side. His career hit rock bottom. He won less than $7,000 in 27 starts in 1962 and collected less than $4,000 in 1963. "I lost my confidence and really became discouraged," Venturi said.

This year his prestige suffered a new low when he failed to get an invitation to the Masters. He had to beg his way into the Thunderbird Open two weeks ago in Rye, N. Y., but he finished fifth to set his comeback on the way.

Venturi began his championship push in the morning—a virtually forgotten man in the excitement over the Palmer-Jacobs duel—and for a while it seemed that he might carve out the greatest round ever played in a major championship. He played the first nine holes of the morning round in 30, five under par, with a fabulous card that showed six 3s and three 4s.

He sank a 10-foot putt at the first hole, rolled in from 15 feet at the second and from 20 feet at the third. He continued his brilliant pace with a 25-foot birdie putt at the eighth and a fine chip shot to within eight feet at the par five ninth, called the "monster hole." The heat got to him at the 15th tee and he hit his first bad shot of the day—a drive into the rough. He banged his second into the rough also and had to scramble for his par. There was tragedy at the 18th—the beautiful lake hole where a crowd of thousands lined the small hills on each side.

New Champion Renews Some Old Friendships

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR. Associated Press Sports Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — "The last time I spoke to most of you guys was in August at the Masters in 1960. When Palmer made all those birdies, you left me in the locker room twiddling my thumbs."

Ken Venturi, 1964 Open champion, had a broad grin as he said this at a news conference Saturday. He referred to the 1960 Masters Tournament when Arnold Palmer birdied the last two holes to beat him.

After that things went from bad to worse for the 33-year-old smooth swinger from San Francisco, with both physical and mental ailments. He hadn't won a tournament since 1960.

"Nine or 10 months ago I thought these days were all over," Venturi said, with a happy smile. "I was looking for a job."

Local Legionnaires Shade Denver City Nine, 10-3

Big Spring's American Legion baseball team rebounded with a vengeance here Saturday afternoon, defeating Denver City 10-3, in District 19 play.

The victory was the locals' fourth in five conference starts and left them in good shape for the stretch run in the race.

Rickey Earle and Bobby Griffin divided time on the mound for the provincials, Earle getting credit for the victory. Together, they surrendered only four hits.

The Big Springers combed the offerings of two Denver City hurlers for 13 assorted blows, including three by David Agee. A second inning drive by Agee went for a home run, the smash coming with one on.

Whitey Ford Wins 10th In Row, 1-0

CHICAGO (AP)—Whitey Ford won his 10th straight and the New York Yankees made it seven in a row over the Chicago White Sox Saturday, winning 1-0 on Elston Howard's single that drove in Pedro Gonzalez in the 11th inning.

Ford, who has not lost since opening day, allowed only six hits and struck out 10 in a brilliant duel with Gary Peters, who also went all the way.

It was the sixth shutout for Ford and his ninth complete game in 16 starts. Roger Maris walked with one out in the 11th and moved to second on Mickey Mantle's single. When Tom Tresh singled to right, Mike Hershberger's fine throw to the plate cut down Maris, trying to score. Gonzales running for Mantle, took third on the throw and scored when

Oregon Webfoots NCAA Champions

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The University of Oregon captured the National Collegiate Track Championship Saturday in a meet featuring the fastest 1,500-meter race ever run by collegians.

Oregon State's Morgan Groth, the mile king a year ago, shattered the collegiate and meet records for the metric mile as he ran the 1,500 in 3:40.4.

The runner from Martinez, Calif., smashed the NCAA meet record of 3:44.2 set by Oregon's Dwyol Burdison in 1960 and also cracked Burdison's collegiate record of 3:49.9.

All six place winners beat the meet mark on the formula that the metric mile is 17 seconds less than a mile. All would have been under four minutes for the full distance.

Archie San Romani Jr., of Oregon, son of the great miler of yesteryear, finished second in 3:40.8, followed by John Camien, Emporia State, 3:41.0; Ben Tucker, San Jose, 3:41.4; Robin Day, Missouri, 3:42.1; and Bob Day, UCLA, 3:42.1.

Groth surged into the lead with 200 meters to go and stood off San Romani's threat. A one-two-three finish in the afternoon's first program, the javelin throw, insured the team victory of Oregon.

The host Ducks piled up 70 points to 40 for second place San Jose. Following were California, Fresno State and 1963 champion Southern California with 30 each.

Villanova's Vic Zwolak set a collegiate and NCAA meet record in the 3,000-meter steeplechase timed in 8:42.9. He bettered the collegiate mark of 8:45.6 by Pat Traynor of Villanova in 1963 and Traynor's meet mark of 8:45.6.

Mira And Trull Clash Saturday

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—George Mira of Miami and Don Trull of Baylor, prize rookie quarterbacks who are expected to spark in rival pro leagues this fall, will hook up in a passing duel Saturday in the annual All-America football game at War Memorial Stadium.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Bobbye Savage, a stellar athlete for the local high school prior to World War II, has completed his 13th year as head football coach at East High School in Des Moines, Iowa. . . . Now the dean of coaches in that city, Bobbye sees no reason why he can't coach another five or six seasons. . . . His 1963 club enjoyed fine success. . . . Going into its final game, East was recognized as the No. One eleven in the state. . . . The club proceeded to experience a bad night and lost, 13-7. . . . Still, it was named the state's third-ranking power and Savage wound up being named Iowa's high school coach of the year. . . . Savage's teams have finished among the top ten in the state eight times in his 13 years there. . . . One of his daughters will be going to college next fall and in two years two other daughters will be enrolled in some university. . . . His 1964 club will be gifted with a fine quarterback and he expects to field another rugged eleven this fall. . . . In the summer, Savage serves the City of Des Moines as its Recreational Softball Director. . . . He umpires both baseball and softball games and has worked in several Iowa state meets since retiring as a player. . . . His coaching record in football (including four years of junior college ball) is 96 won, 32 defeats and five ties. . . . In baseball, he guided his teams to 168 victories and 68 reversals. . . . He'd like to hear from all his old friends here. . . . Two golfers who competed in last year's inaugural Big Spring Golf Open were entries in the 1964 National Open this weekend in Washington, D.C. . . . They were David Boies of Brownwood and Charles Coody of Stamford. . . . Walter Carter, the former HCJC star, just missed being named the Lone Star Conference's basketball Player of the Year the past season. . . . Carter, now at Howard Payne College, was nosed out for the honor by Jack Fryman of Sul Ross. . . . Carter was handicapped by injuries part of the year.

BOBBYE SAVAGE

Tournament Should Bring In Money

The State Hi-Junior Teen-Age Baseball tournament, which will be held here in August, should bring several thousand dollars to town. . . . When the Big Spring entry competed in the state meet last year, it spent about $500. . . . Lloyd (Skinny) Carter, the Muleshoe pro who competed in the last Big Spring Open, moved to the Muleshoe Country Club when Ray Hardy quit to take a pro's job at Clovis, N. M. . . . Carter, who had been pro at Sweetwater, previously was associated with the Lubbock Country Club and the course at Tahoka. . . . Marty McVey, Odessa High's all-district baseball performer, has accepted a four-year scholarship at the University of Michigan. . . . Marty was Odessa's punter in football. . . . Harry Burris, who went from Big Spring High School to become director of athletics at Washington University in St. Louis, recently was elevated to a full professorship at that school and received an award for contribution to the most to athletics in the Greater St. Louis area. . . . Freddie Fox of Colorado City may become McMurry College's next great broad jumper. . . . The young man, who cleared 23-5/8 in high school, recently accepted a scholarship from the Abilene school. . . . When the NFL expanded, the newly created Minnesota Vikings passed over both Y. A. Tittle and Billy Wade for George Shaw as their quarterback and it seemed like the thing to do at the time. . . . Michigan State may be the next big time school penalized by the NCAA. . . . The violations committed by the Spartans are supposed to have occurred in the late '50's. . . . A former Snyder High School baseball player, Ronnie Jones, has signed to play for the Houston representative in the Florida Rookie league. . . . Coahoma probably will select its new head coach this week. . . . Eighteen men have applied for the position vacated recently by Jimmy Spann.

Carnes Wilson Started String Here

Julian Pressly, who quit recently as baseball coach at Odessa High, had known for long time he wasn't coming back. . . . He told this reporter months ago he was disenchanted with coaching football (something his superiors insisted he do), said he could make almost as much officiating each fall in the endeavor. . . . Scott Appleton, the University of Texas All-American who visited Big Spring a few months ago, has been unable to gain weight while drinking a vitamin supplement but expects to pick up some pounds sampling home cooking at Brady this summer. . . . Only six golfers have been able to win back-to-back championships in the Men's West Texas Golf tournament. . . . One of those was Carnes Wilson, who started his string when the tourney was held at the Big Spring Country Club in 1933. . . . Another was ex-Big Spring, D. O. Jones, who turned the trick in 1946 and again in '47. . . . When one-time Big Spring Billy Maxton Open, he employed one of the two professional caddies available — O. B. White, originally from New Orleans — Louisiana is getting a third race track. . . . To be located at Lafayette, it will be known as Evangeline Downs. . . . A well known ex-Georgia footballer, Johnny Rauch, said recently that pro teams dread to scout Southeastern Conference clubs since the style of play down there has become a "dull stereotype". . . . Rauch went on to explain the game there seems to be nothing but defense, which in a way is a tribute to the influence of Paul (Bear) Bryant. . . . HCJC will be able represented in the annual Texas Coaches Association's all-star basketball game at Fort Worth senior year in high school. . . . Fabian Lemly, Morris' coach in high school, will be tutoring Larry as a starter for four seasons at McAdoo. . . . "He's a great team player, a fine competitor, and one of the finest outside shooters that I have well played in the 1964 Houston Open, he employed one of the two professional caddies the series, co-sponsored by the American Football Coaches Association and the Buffalo Evening News. All players have completed their eligibility. The game will be carried on ABC television, starting at 8:30 p.m. (EST).

Mira, signed by the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, will play for the East squad and Trull, signed by the Houston Oilers of the American Football League, will play for the West.

Pete Elliott of Illinois heads the East coaching staff, assisted by Wayne Hardin of Navy and John Michelosen of Pittsburgh. The boss of the West is Bob Levaney of Nebraska. John Bridgers of Baylor and John McKay of Southern California will assist Devaney.

Mira, a highly publicized star at Miami of Florida throughout his college career, will have capable helpers in Jack Con-cannon of Boston College and Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech.

The East's running game will make use of Duke's Jay Wilkinson, Pittsburgh's Paul Martha, Michigan State's Sherman Lewis and Ohio State's Paul Warfield. Among the passing targets for Mira and his helpers are Bob Lacey of North Carolina and Jim Kelly of Notre Dame.

In addition to Trull, the West can call on Dennis Claridge of Nebraska to handle the passing, Hal Bedsole and Willie Brown of Southern California, Mel Profit of UCLA, Dave Parks of Texas Tech and John Simmons of Tulsa will do the catching.

Tony Lorick, the subject of a dispute between Baltimore of the NFL and Oakland of the AFL, will be in the West backfield. The big running back from Arizona State will have teammate Charley Taylor, signed by Washington, as a partner.

The West has such glamor linemen up front as Scott Appleton of Texas and the Houston Oilers, Bob Brown of Nebraska and the Philadelphia Eagles, Lloyd Voss of Nebraska and Green Bay and Carl Eller of Minnesota and the Vikings.

Leon Mavity, one of the West's fullbacks from Colorado, has signed with Denver both as a football and baseball player. Three Navy players, center Tom Lynch, guard Al Krekich and end Jim Campbell, will play their last game for Hardin with the East.

These midsummer night's games have been wild ones. The West won the first in 1961, 30-20 and the East came back 13-4 in the second game. Last year the West scored a 22-21 upset.

At the latest count of the 66 players, 32 are headed for the NFL, 15 for the AFL, three for Canada and 10 have decided not to play pro ball or remain unsigned.

missed Bob Lillis' sinking liner in left center and the ball rolled to the wall for a triple. Nottebart then bunted Lillis home.

Houston came from behind in the seventh. Joe Gaines led off with a single and stole second, Mike White then singled and took second as catcher Ed Bailey let the throw from the outfield get away.

Bob Aspromonte scored Gaines with a sacrifice fly and White scored the decisive run on Rusty Staub's fly to left.

Lee Maye drove in both Milwaukee runs with a single and the third when Felipe Alou a double.

Cal Bears win Rowing Crown

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—California's unbeaten Golden Bears grabbed the lead near the start and high-stroked to a two-length victory Saturday over Washington in the varsity final of the Intercollegiate Rowing Championships on Onondaga Lake. Cornell's defending champions were third in the six-crew race.

Princeton was fourth, Massachusetts Institute of Technology fifth and Navy sixth and last in the 2,000-meter — 1 1/4-mile sprint.

California, stroked by Steve Johnson, was timed in 6:31.1. Washington was clocked in 6:37.8, Cornell 6:40.3, Princeton 6:45.9, MIT 6:47.1 and Navy 6:51.5.

It was the ninth varsity IRA triumph for the Golden Bears and their third under Coach Jim Lemmon, who took over in 1960. Lemmon's crews also won in 1960 and 1961.

The smashing triumph made the Golden Bears one of the outstanding favorites to win the Olympic berth in the trials at the Orchard Beach Lagoon in New York July 8-11.

Country Club golfers planning to shoot for the medalist's prize in the annual Fourth of July tournament must get in qualifying licks by tonight.

Entries will not be accepted after 6 p.m. Thursday, club officials have advised. The entry fee is $5.

About ten linksters have already tossed their caps into the ring and many more are expected in the next few days. The club now has more than 250 members, so a larger turnout than last year is anticipated.

Eddie Don Harris is the defending titlist, having beaten Jack Cook in last year's finals. Son Powell won the meet two years ago.

The club meet is called the Fourth of July tournament because it is always timed to end around the holiday.

First and second round matches are scheduled for next Saturday and Sunday while semifinals are carded July 4 and the 18-hole finals the following day.

Champion of the meet captains the local team in the annual Couden-Fina Cup matches, which will be played as a prelude to the Labor Day Invitational meet here.

PLAY BETTER GOLF

By Tommy Armour
Don't Hurry

The ordinary golfer is in too much of a hurry to allow himself a good shot. He hurries the club away from the ball by snatching it back and up with his right hand. He should take his time and swing the club back with his straight left arm as the radius of the swing. He should give himself enough time for his body to turn his left shoulder against his chin. His right elbow has got to stay down and close to his ribs instead of being huried out and away from his body. Then, if he is wise, he will allow himself a wee pause at the top of the swing to get himself steadily poised for beginning his downswing.

Major Changes Made In American Lineup

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Minnesota Twins and New York Yankees dominate the American League All-Star team's starting lineup announced Saturday for the July 7 game with the National League at Shea Stadium. Mickey Mantle of the Yanks was the only repeater from 1963 in the voting of 281 players, coaches and managers.

The line-up that Manager Al Lopez of Chicago will send against the National League will contain no members of Lopez' White Sox, who have been in and out of first place all season. There are three Yanks, three Twins and one each from Baltimore and Los Angeles.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League's starting line-up would be announced Tuesday. The remainder of the squads will be named later.

The bold new AL line-up included Twins Bob Allison at first base, Harmon Killebrew in left field and rookie Tony Oliva in right field. The Yanks were Elton Howard as catcher, Bobby Richardson at second base and Mantle in center.

Jim Fregosi, the fine young Los Angeles player who is hitting near .350, won the shortstop job and Brooks Robinson of Baltimore was picked for third base.

Richardson, generally acclaimed as the outstanding second baseman in the majors, drew 233 votes of the 281. As players, managers and coaches were not permitted to vote for men on their own team, this came close to a unanimous ballot. Robinson with 220, Howard with 217 and Mantle with 205 were also heavy vote pullers.

The closest contest was for first base where Allison, a converted outfielder who still shifts back and forth, got 80 votes to 59 for runner-up Norm Siebern of Baltimore.

The 1963 starting line-up had Joe Peptide of the Yanks at first, Nellie Fox of Chicago (now Houston) at second, Zoilo Versalles of the Twins at short, Frank Malzone of Boston at third, Leon Wagner of Los Angeles (now Cleveland) in left and Al Kaline of Detroit in right.

HARMON KILLEBREW

Mantle was voted to the starting team last year in an amazing tribute although he has suffered a broken foot and was unable to play. Albie Pearson of the Angels was named as his starting replacement. Earl Battey of the Twins was the 1963 starting catcher.

Frick announced the vote of only the winners and second-place men. Strangely, there were no players from the White Sox even in second place and none from Kansas City and Cleveland. Detroit had three seconds, Baltimore two and Washington, Boston and Minnesota one. Lopez does not have to follow the voting for second place in naming the rest of the squad but he must start the No. 1 men.

For the most part the players followed the batting averages down the line in picking the starters. They chose Killebrew for left field, despite his .362 batting average, obviously because his 21 home runs lead the league.

The runners-up includes catcher Bill Freehan, second baseman Jerry Lumpe and Kaline, all of Detroit; Siebern and shortstop Luis Aparicio of Baltimore; left fielder Chuck Hinton of Washington; center fielder Jimmie Hall of Minnesota, and Malzone.

All starters, except pitchers, must play at least the first three innings, unless injured. Going into the 1964 game, the American League which once completely dominated the series, held only a 17-16-1 edge.

The voting (first two places only were announced): Catcher—Howard, New York, 217; Freehan, Detroit, 52. First base—Allison, Minnesota, 80; Siebern, Baltimore, 59. Second base—Richardson, New York, 233; Lopez, Detroit, 29. Third base—Robinson, Baltimore, 200; Malzone, Boston, 71. Shortstop—Fregosi, Los Angeles, 141; Aparicio, Baltimore, 72. Left field—Killebrew, Minnesota, 139; Hinton, Washington, 97. Center field—Mantle, New York, 209; Hall, Minnesota, 47. Right field—Oliva, Minnesota, 176; Kaline, Detroit, 80.

Giants Kayo Cards, 14-3

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Orlando Cepeda clouted two home runs and Harvey Kuenn belted five hits, including a homer, as San Francisco trampled St. Louis, 14-3, Saturday with a 20-hit attack.

Willie Mays added a homer for the Giants, his 21st. Nine of the Giants' runs were unearned. Dick Groat's wide throw on Jose Pagan's grounder in the sixth inning led to five runs. The Giants scored three runs in the eighth after Jerry Buchek fumbled Mays' grounder. San Francisco's last run, in the ninth, was also unearned, scoring with the help of a dropped fly ball by Charlie James.

Cepeda opened the fifth with a homer and connected with one on the sixth after Hal Lanier cleared the bases with a three-run double.

Besides his homer, Kuenn slashed a double and three singles, driving in two runs and scoring three altogether.

Bob Hendley, who held the Cardinals hitless for the first four innings, was touched for a two-run homer by Phil Gagliano in the eighth.

Mets Surprise Phillies, 7-3, To End Skid

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Taylor drove in four runs with two home runs and added a pair of singles as the New York Mets defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 7-3 Saturday, snapping an eight-game losing streak.

Joe Christopher also hit two home runs for the Mets, who collected 16 hits off four Phillies pitchers. Dallas Green, who succeeded starter Dennis Bennett in the fifth inning, was charged with the loss.

Jack Fisher was credited with the victory although he needed help from Al Jackson in the seventh. The pudgy right-hander saw an early 3-0 lead evaporate when the Phils scored once in the fifth and tied the score in the sixth on Roy Sievier's two-run homer.

Four Frosh Fail To Make Grades

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—All of Texas Tech's varsity footballers survived spring semester examinations but four freshmen will have to wait a year before competing.

Passing insufficient courses were end Randy Hicks of Seminole, backs Charles Mitchell of Childress and Danny Ellsworth of Dallas, and guard Arley Cook of Dainierfield. All plan to remain in school and practice with the red-shirts, beginning their eligibility in 1965.

Also, guard James Poole of Ferriday, La., a transfer from Cameron Junior College, failed to pass enough work to become eligible.

A.3.C. Joyce E. Kay and Sonya Hudgins, the last of 16 couples which started a roller skating marathon at Skateland here, are shown just before the marathon is completed. The 16-hour skating marathon Saturday at 6 p.m. The endurance test was a way of focusing attention on the rink's tenth anniversary. The two were not allowed to stop for eating or drinking but managed to take some nourishment on the fly.

Show Constructs Fabulous Entrance

The above is an artist's conception of the new entrance area to the Ector County Fair Grounds in Odessa, home of the 1964 Permian Basin Oil Show. It will cost approximately $20,000. The entrance will be completed before the oil show officially opens for a four-day run October 21. (Photo courtesy of Drill Bit magazine)

Bids Being Made For $20,000 Job

ODESSA — Bids are being taken for the construction of a new $20,000 entrance area to the Ector County Fair Grounds, home of the 1964 Permian Basin Oil Show, the oil show board of directors announced recently.

Contracts for the multi-unit area will be let in early June according to Jerry Haynes, editor of Drill Bit magazine. Construction, which will include an information and ticket building as well as a towering sign, will be completed before the opening of the Permian Basin Oil Show October 21.

Present plans call for the construction of an extremely modern information and ticket center that will be 12 by 22 feet. The entrance sign will measure 28 feet high. It will be designed with four foot square panels that can be changed to advertise other events being held in the fair grounds.

Financed to a great extent by the Permian Basin Oil Show Board of Directors, the new entrance area will greatly improve the overall appearance of the fair grounds.

"This type of undertaking will allow the oil show to contribute to the permanent facilities of the fair grounds. The new entrance area will not only improve the appearance of the show, but it will also provide a badly needed ticket and information center," said John Ed Cooper, president of this year's show and vice president of BBM Drilling Company of Midland.

The 1964 edition of the Basin oil exposition is expected to attract more than 200,000 visitors and more than 300 exhibitors. To date, more than 200 different companies have reserved exhibiting space.

Wells Help State

During 1963, Texas oil and gas dollars paid for 32.5 per cent of state costs in public education and 56.7 per cent of state costs in teacher retirement, old-age assistance, blind assistance and aid to dependent children.

How About Drilling A Well? Go To Texas' Six Flags

ARLINGTON — Everybody can play "oil man" at a new exhibit at the Six Flags Over Texas opened Saturday by the American Association of Petroleum Landmen.

The electronic display in the Boom Town section of the theme park, has been set up to permit the man in the street to go through all the steps of finding oil.

He obtains a lease in a land office, becomes a member of an exploration team, either as an engineer, geologist or petroleum landman.

He conducts his own preliminary survey work, and stakes his own location for a well he thinks will "hit." He then moves to the controls of a drilling rig, learning the mechanics of drilling a hole in the ground.

Then he learns if he has found oil, become "ch, or only has a sourvenir, "a dry hole," that happens at least eight out of nine times in actual practice.

After his success or failure, he moves to another exhibit showing the important role oil plays in his life and the barren existence before oil became an essential source of energy.

Another exhibit depicts the importance of oil in the nation's economy and the bright future for a young man looking for a career.

Visitors will receive a souvenir badge pointing out "I drilled for oil in Boom Town."

Scheduled to have a four-day run, beginning October 21, the show will be open to oil industry personnel only during the first two days. The last two days of the show will be open to the general public.

"During the 1962 show, the board voted to have one day open to oil people only. This move was greatly accepted by the visiting exhibiting companies and many requested that we increase the days to allow more petroleum industry people to attend," said Jay Alvey, general manager of the show and vice president of the First National Bank of Odessa.

One of the highlights of this year's exposition, which will be one of the largest in the United States, will be the reconstructed pioneer drilling rig and equipment. The old drilling rig will be known as the "Pop" Harrison Rig in honor of a pioneer oilman who was recently killed in an automobile accident near the fair grounds.

Revenue Is Large

NEW YORK — During 1964, federal and state tax collectors will pick up between $11 billion and $12 billion in special highway user taxes from the owners and operators of America's more than 80 million motor vehicles.

Oil Material Available As Educational Helps

DALLAS — The Oil Information Committee has two school booklets and one 20 minute 16 mm color-sound film available for anyone desiring them.

The first booklet, Teaching Unit On Petroleum, is designed to aid teachers in planning a unit of study on oil and gas. It also serves as an excellent reference source for films, pamphlets, charts, and maps that are available to the teacher as supplementary aids.

Conservation in the Petroleum Industry spells out what oil and gas conservation means to Texas. The booklet is specifically designed to answer many questions asked by teachers and students on the subject.

"Project Mohole — Phase One," a newly completed documentary film, recounts the opening activity aboard the drill ship Cuss One as it drills into the earth's crust more than two miles beneath the ocean's surface in order to bring up ooze and sediment that could hold evidence of the history of the world and even clues to the origin of life.

Project Mohole gets its name from Andrija Mohorovicic, a celebrated geologist who in 1907 determined from earthquake waves the existence of a boundary between the crust of the earth and its denser interior mantle. The project is being directed by the National Science Foundation, assisted by the National Academy of Sciences and the American Miscellaneous Society. Among the crew are mariners and oceanographers, engineers and drillers, oil rig pushers and roughnecks.

Additional oil industry films are listed in a catalog named "Movies About Oil." A copy will be sent from the Oil Information Council on request.

Voters Reject Gasoline Tax In Wisconsin

The first gasoline tax was often called the painless penny. It was assumed car owners would not object to paying a tax of a penny or two if the money made possible more and more roads.

Now that the so-called painless penny has become a dime (the average tax on a gallon of gasoline in the United States is 10.36 cents a gallon), there is evidence this attitude has changed.

In Wisconsin, for example, voters were asked in a referendum whether they were willing to have their gasoline tax increased by one cent a gallon in order to accelerate interstate and state highway construction.

At the time of the referendum, Wisconsin motorists were paying $80.5 million a year through the 6-cent state gasoline tax and $53.4 million through the 4-cent federal tax, a total of $133.9 million.

The proposed penny increase would have added another $13.4 million to this total.

More than one million voters went to the polls. They rejected the idea by a vote of 889,364 to 150,769—a margin of nearly 6 to 1.

The "no" was voiced in no uncertain terms. In La Fayette County, for example, 95 per cent of the voters cast negative ballots. In three other counties the vote was between 93 and 94 per cent against the increase.

Not one of the 72 counties voted in favor of the plan.

The voters' rejection of the added gasoline tax was so complete that the proposal's best showing—achieved in three counties—was a ratio of 23 per cent in favor and 77 per cent opposed.

Texas Produces

Texas has produced 26.7 billion barrels of oil since the first Texas well was drilled near Nacogdoches in 1866. That amounts to 36.3 per cent of the United States total.

Oil Used In 1543

The first recorded use of oil in Texas was in 1543 when explorers with DeSoto used it to patch their boats.

Network Is Large

Texas has 67,077 miles of oil pipelines, 35,177 miles of trunk lines, and 31,900 miles of gathering lines. There are 76,490 miles of gas pipelines.

Helps Oilmen

Landmen attending the 10th annual meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Landmen this past week in Dallas got some tips from one of the all-time greats in the golfing world, Byron Nelson, one of the oldest professional linksters in the nation, was on hand Friday to give a golf clinic to all interested.

Water Helps Increase Oil

Oilmen have found many ways to increase the amount of oil a given field will yield.

One involved replacing the oil taken from the ground with water.

As oil is produced, the natural pressures existing in underground rock formations are diminished. To maintain these pressures, which are needed to bring the oil to the producing well, water or gas is injected into the formations.

Such measures can extend the productive life of a field for many years. In one West Texas oil field, for example, a $6.5 million pressure maintenance plant is expected to help triple the amount of oil the field will ultimately produce.

As the oil is withdrawn from the ground, the facility—one of the largest of its kind—pumps water into the ground through a series of specially drilled wells situated along the middle of the field. The field is about 10 miles wide. The water helps maintain pressure in the producing formation located some 6,500 feet beneath the surface.

To date the field's 1,300 producing wells have yielded some 300 million barrels of oil. The huge pressure maintenance plant has replaced the oil with some 300 million barrels of water.

New Report Termed As 'Controversial'

By MAX B. SKELTON BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Oilmen and state officials received Tuesday a preliminary draft of an oil and gas conservation practices study that has been described both as controversial and monumental.

The preliminary report on a study requested by Interior Sec. Stewart Udall should attract a record attendance at the mid-year meeting of the 33-state Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

About 350 government and industry men normally attend the commission meetings. Registrations indicate 600 will start the three-day session Monday. Governors of eight oil states will attend.

The commission since 1935 has been a forum on oil and gas conservation practices. It holds no policing authority and its recommendations can be accepted or rejected by the states.

Udall mentioned several touchy subjects early last year when he suggested the special study and said technology may have outdated some conservation practices.

He said oil is subject to control by the states but several factors limit the control system.

These factors, he said, include limited participation by some states and the increased flexibility of interstate purchasing and transportation facilities.

The limited participation remark has prompted some fears the study might revive a bitter controversy the commission settled in 1961 by scuttling a special study of equitable sharing of crude production by the various oil states. The action was taken after Wyoming threatened to become the first state to withdraw from the compact. Wyoming feared that other states, particularly Texas, were trying to dictate how much oil Wyoming could produce.

Louisiana, the next busiest state, has 292 rigs, with only Oklahoma's 162 and New Mexico's 101 also being over the century mark. There are a total of 1,593 making holes in the United States.

The land rigs in South Texas and the Gulf Coast lead the state's sections with 143 rigs. West Central Texas has 132 and West Texas has 103 rotary rigs.

MRS. RONALD RAY LINDSEY

Miss Robinson Weds Ronald Ray Lindsey

Wedding vows were pledged by Miss Donna Sherilyn Robinson and Ronald Ray Lindsey Friday evening in the First Baptist Church at Coahoma. The bride's brothers, the Rev. Mac Robinson of Forsan and the Rev. Darrell Robinson, performed the double-ring ceremony. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lindsey, Coahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Woner Robinson, Rt. 1.

The nuptials were performed before a wedding arch flanked with columns holding baskets of white gladioli and pompon chrysanthemums. Pairs of emerald foliage formed a background for candelabras entwined with fern.

Robinson presented his daughter at the altar where she knelt with the bridegroom on a prie dieu as Dwayne Clawson of Coahoma sang "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Darrell Robinson sang "Whither Thou Goest," and Lathan Wood played the organ.

The bride's dress of hand-clipped Chantilly lace over bridal satin was fashioned with a bodice scalloped at the neckline and re-embroidered with seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to a point at the wrists, and the full tiered skirt, draped in scallops caught with satin rose buds, flowed into a chapel train. A two-tiered veil of tulle cascaded from a crown of roses.

The wedding band placed on the bride's finger belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. M. W. Walker. She carried a cascade arrangement of feathered white carnations centered with an orchid and adorned with satin leaves and showered with pincot ribbon.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Mac Robinson, matron of honor, carried a nosegay of light pink asters and wore a gown of dark pink brocaded taffeta. It was styled with an Empire waist and she wore a matching headpiece fashioned with a bow and face veil. Miss Martha Love and Miss Judy Wolf, Coahoma, carried dark pink aster nosegays and wore sheath dresses of light pink brocaded taffeta accented with sashes.

Tammi and Pamela Robinson of Forsan, nieces of the bride, carried baskets filled with rose petals, and wore pink organza frocks fashioned with fitted tucked bodices and full paneled skirts. Mark Walker, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer and escort to Pamela. Duane Robinson, nephew of the bride, escorted Tammi.

Larry Dean Fryar was best man, and James Anderson and Ted Cearley of Coahoma served as groomsmen.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the bride wore a yellow sheath with button trimmed bolero of frothy cotton and mohair. Her accessories were yellow and white.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Somewhere in the city every evening about five o'clock there can be heard the whir of a motor or the grinding of a hand cranked ice cream freezer. Many householders like the motorized freezer, and I suppose it does get the job of freezing done with less effort but we like the hand cranked results. In the first place, a lot of talk can center about the freezer as two or three men take their turn at the crank. We like the smooth texture we get as the result of the personal attention. Anyway you take it, when the voice of the turtle is no longer heard, the sound of the freezer takes over in our town.

Jewelry Ideas Found In Greece

New York designer Vera Maxwell went to Greece this summer—and thereby hangs a tale of a new collection of jewelry. The designer said she returned from the Aegean with shoe boxes and boxes of stones she gathered along the shores of Greece. Back in New York, she worked with a jeweler to create gold mountings for the stones and turn them into one-of-a-kind creations for the woman looking for the different in adornment.

The stones are made into pendants, neck circles, bar pins, rings and earrings—and Mrs. Maxwell said they were especially handsome with fall and winter tweeds.

House party members were the bride's sisters, Miss Bell, Mrs. Lynd, Mrs. Jerry Walden of Port Arthur and Mrs. Doyle Roddam of Bridge City, and sisters-in-law, Mrs. A. C. Lynd of Port Arthur and Mrs. Peter Lynd of Bridge City.

Mr. and Mrs. Birt Allison went to Sweetwater Saturday to

94th Birthday Celebration Held By Early Day Resident

"I can't see the 'Holler' anymore," said Mrs. F. O. Allen on her 94th birthday as she spoke of the buildings that have been constructed in Big Spring since she came here with her husband in 1888.

At her home at 900 Goliad she used to watch the cattle grazing in the "Holler" which now is known as Birdwell Park. Wild flowers grew in abundance in that area and there was only one neighboring home near her when they moved up on the hill in 1920.

Among the many friends that visited informally with her on Friday were those that never miss a birthday call at the Allen home on June 19 each year. They were Mrs. Justin Holmes, Mrs. Polly Talton, Mrs. J. S. Winslow, Mrs. Maggie Johnson and Mrs. Harry Lees. Other visitors included members of the First Christian Church where Mrs. Allen holds the honor of being the only local charter member.

From Lubbock were her granddaughters, Mrs. Gene Gardenhire, Mrs. Steve Anglin and Mrs. Dorothy Cook, a great-granddaughter, Mrs. Arlen Wesley, and her two children who made the fifth generation members of the party. Hostess at the affair was her daughter, Mrs. Ora Miles, who shares a home with her mother.

SPECIAL CAKE

A birthday cake with the simple inscription, "Happy Birthday Mother" was served as guests reminisced of by-gone days.

MRS. F. O. ALLEN

The late Mr. Allen brought his bride to Big Spring when the first railroad came through and served as a conductor on the Texas and Pacific Railway line for several years. The original home was at the site now occupied by the Burton-Lingo Lumber Co., and there were very few homes and businesses in the community at that time.

"We had to buy water that was hauled in barrels" said Mrs. Allen, and she told of the early years in the city. Four children were born to the couple. John died in his 11th year, and Elza Fern was killed in World War I while serving with the 36th division. Glen shared with Mrs. Miles the pleasures of his mother's company until his death three years ago.

HAPPY LIFE

"Farming is a happy way to live," said sprightly Mrs. Allen as she recounted the years spent in the country after her husband left the railroad service. It was 44 years ago that they moved to her present home.

She learned to drive a car after her 65th birthday and still likes to travel. Mrs. Allen and her daughter make frequent trips to Lubbock where Mrs. Miles maintains a home, and every evening a ride in the country is the order of the day.

Congressional Wives Appreciate Pay Raise

By JOY MILLER AP Women's Editor

WASHINGTON (AP)—By now you'd think congressional wives would have that $7,500 pay raise spent—at least in their minds. Their spouses voted it for themselves last week, together with pay boosts for 1.7 million federal workers. The Senate is expected to go along.

An informal poll, though, has turned up the fact that here is an amazing group of wives who would rather not talk about money.

"They're not sure how the voters back home are going to take it. The raise wouldn't be effective until next Jan. 3, and the husbands have to get re-elected in November.

A few brave wives ventured opinions. Mrs. Bob Casey—she's D-Tex.—says candidly: "I do think it's wonderful. I only hope people will understand how much it costs us to live, without too many frills, too."

The Caseys have 10 children, 6 at home. The others are married or at college. "My husband was a county judge making $15,000 before he came to Washington six years ago. I remember thinking, 'My, his salary as a congressman—$22,500—will certainly make a difference.'"

"Well, it hasn't. You can't rent your house back in Houston for what you have to pay here. Houston was generally a much less expensive place to live."

What's the first thing the Caseys would do with their raise? "Pay off some of the notes we've been paying interest on," says Mrs. Casey.

The problem of maintaining two homes plagues most congressional families, along with constant travel to keep the constituency happy. Congressmen find that travel costs take a mighty chunk out of the family paycheck.

Hugh Carey, D-N.Y., is a regular commuter home, where he tries to make ends meet by running his Brooklyn law office on Saturdays. His wife, who stays home in Brooklyn to care for the Carey brood, says cautiously: "We haven't got the raise yet. Just say it will help out."

Mother Carey's chickens number 13, and range in age from 19 years to 3 months. "Oh yes," she adds, chuckling, "we'll find some use for the raise. You know, diapers, shoes, teeth straightened."

One congressman who voted against the raise was Garner E.

MRS. JERRY WEBB

Garden Setting For Wedding In Stanton

Miss Lawana Froman became the bride of Jerry Webb, at 8 o'clock Friday evening in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Stanton.

The Rev. C. R. Burt, Big Spring, officiated for the double ring ceremony at an altar backed with greenery and featuring an archway of greenery and carnations.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Froman, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Webb, Ackerly.

LACE GOWN
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of lace and bridal satin with a semi-bouffant skirt and fitted bodice. The bodice was enhanced with a scalloped Sabrina neckline, long petal point sleeves and tiny covered buttons down the back. Her bouffant veil was secured by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations and feathered chrysanthemums.

Serving the bride as bridesmaids were Miss Betty Langston, Stanton, and Miss Carole Wade, Lamesa. They wore matching pink silk sheaths with white accessories and carried carnation bouquets.

Joe Webb, brother of the bridegroom, and Burt Oaks, cousin of the bridegroom, both of Ackerly, served as groomsmen and ushers.

A reception was given in the Froman home following the ceremony. The bride, bridegroom, their parents and the attendants received guests, and Mrs. Derrell Froman of Gail, sister-in-law of the bride, presided over the register.

Miss Betty Hollandsworth, Mrs. Wayne Webb and Mrs. John Webb Jr. were members of the house party.

The refreshment table, covered with lace over pink linen, was decorated with a centerpiece of pink carnations and candelabra with white tapers. The bride's white, three-tiered cake was covered with wedding bells, pink roses and a miniature bride and groom.

Girl Scout Session Under Way At Camp

The second session of Girl Scout established camping starts today and will continue until June 27 at Camp Boothe Oaks, Sweetwater. Campers from Big Spring during this session are Faye Deaver, Becky Easley, Jill Franklin and Debrah Rybolt.

This is the twelfth season of operation at Camp Boothe Oaks, which is the established campsite of the West Texas Girl Scout Council. The camp is located eight miles southwest of Sweetwater in Nolan County. At each of the five sessions this summer there is space for 80 campers.

The program in camping is supervised by a specially trained staff. In each unit there are three staff members, a unit leader and two assistants. The camp program includes tent living, swimming, nature exploration, star gazing, cooking and sleeping out, singing and opportunities to work on proficiency badges relating to the out-of-doors. Archery is included in the program for older girls. The waterfront is supervised by a staff of two, and both the director and assistant are certified by the Red Cross. Girl Scouts who attend camp receive swimming instruction in accordance with the Red Cross standards.

Miss Fane Downs, District Adviser in the West Texas Girl Scout Council, is director of Camp Boothe Oaks. This is her fourth year as camp director.

There will be a full complement of 80 campers in Session II. Sessions IV and V are also full, but there are seven spaces still open in Session III, which lasts for 12 days—from June 30 until July 11. Any girl who would like to attend Session III in one of the few remaining spaces should contact the West Texas Girl Scout Council, 304 Mulberry, in Abilene.

TRAVEL
For a wedding trip to New Mexico the bride wore an aqua silk sheath with white accessories and a corsage from her bouquet. They will return to live in the Flower Grove community.

The bride is a graduate of Flower Grove High School and Childer's School of Hairdressing and Cosmetology. Also, she attended Howard County Junior College.

A graduate of Flower Grove High School, the bridegroom attended Cisco Junior College and Howard County Junior College.

Lt. Tomlin Gets Around— Air Force, Navy And Army

By SAM BLACKBURN
After all, there are several branches of the United States Armed Forces.

Why not give 'em all a try? Curtis Tomlin, 39, is doing a better than ordinary job at just that.

He has the list reduced now to the Marines and the Coast Guard. Maybe, if time permits, he can complete the circle.

Tomlin began as an enlisted man in the Air Force, including a hitch at Webb AFB.

Then he tried the Navy. Seven years after entering that service, he was a chief petty officer.

ARMY WANTS HIM

The Army has been giving Tomlin the old eye. They liked what they saw, it seems. The Army asked the Navy what he might accept a commission as first lieutenant in the Army. The Navy agreed; the discharge came through and on May 14, one day after being released from the naval service, he was sworn in as an officer in the U. S. Army. Maj. Gen. F. T. Unger, director of operations for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, administered the oath to the new lieutenant in offices at Pentagon.

Watching the ceremony in the Pentagon were 30 distinguished guests including Brig. Gen. Tibbetts, who dropped the first A-bomb on Japan, Adm. Chew and Capt. Keethley, U.S.N., along with Col. George Webster and Coates, U.S.A. and others.

Also proudly watching was Patsy Tomlin, wife of the new lieutenant and a former Big Spring girl. She was Miss Patsy Davidson, daughter of Mrs. Leola Davidson, 1306 Ridgeroad, prior to her marriage to Tomlin.

THREE SERVICES DOWN—TWO TO GO

After commissioning, Lt. Tomlin was dispatched to a special school where he has remained for a month. Mrs. Tomlin, with their four children, Teresa, 8, Steve, 6, Shawnette, 4, and Stuart, 3 months, came on from Washington to Big Spring and has been with her mother. Lt. Tomlin has now joined them.

On July 1, the Tomlins will leave for Heidelberg, Germany, where he will be stationed.

Instead of going to his new post by ship, as one might well expect a former Navy man to do, the Tomlins will fly to Germany. Oh, well, after all Lt. Tomlin did have six years in the Air Force.

For the past three years, Lt. Tomlin has been serving as a Data Systems Adjuster for the National Military Command Center under the direction of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It was while in that post that he was rated as a chief petty officer in the U.S.N.

He is a native of Griffin, Ga., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Tomlin, reside.

ABCers Going To Convention

Three Big Spring men and their families will represent the local chapter at the national convention of the American Business Clubs, which will be held in Philadelphia, Pa., June 24-27, at the Sheraton Hotel.

Attending from here will be Mr. and Mrs. R. E. (Bob) Hickson and family, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Whittington and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dunnam.

Host to the convention will be the Norristown chapter of the ABCs and Dr. Thomas J. Natoli, Norristown, national president of the organization.

More than 600 delegates and wives are expected to attend the four-day convention. Convention delegates and their families will travel to Atlantic City, N.J., Friday, June 26.

During business sessions of the convention, teenagers and smaller children of attending members will be escorted on a tour of historical Philadelphia, Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge and Valley Forge Park.

Morris Robertson presided at Friday's meeting of the ABC Club at the Settles in the absence of Hickson, the retiring president.

George Zachariah, who had charge of the program, introduced Larry Fourniquet, one of four Big Spring young people who attended Boys State at Austin recently.

Fourniquet touched briefly on the schedule the 718 boys attending the state meeting and urged ABC Club members to support the platform the delegates adopted, which included formation of a local Student Teen-Age Club, juvenile juries to help combat the threat of juvenile delinquency and work programs for young adults.

Gordon Myrick and Joe Clark were recognized as new members of the ABC's "big hat" club, an organization dedicated to building membership within the organization. Guests included Charles Bell and Harvey Paul.

Dog Days May Be Here, And It's Hot For Owners

Police Chief Jay Banks Saturday served notice the police department will begin a crackdown on violators of the city dog ordinance.

"Recently, we have had numerous reports of dog bites in the city," he said. The number of violations of our dog ordinance creates a work load almost impossible for our animal warden to handle. For this and other reasons, and in the interests of the people of our city, we find it necessary to tighten our enforcement policies."

Two persons were fined $15 in Corporation Court Friday morning for allowing their dogs to run loose on city streets. City Judge W. H. Eysen Jr. suspended both fines with the stipulation that the violators must keep their dogs under control.

It is a misdemeanor offense for dog owners to allow dogs to run at large, regardless of whether the animals have been inoculated and licensed, Banks reminded.

It is a violation for any person in control of a vicious or dangerous dog to keep or allow the animal on public property, said Banks. Section 12 of the city ordinances states:

"... it shall be unlawful for any owner or person in control of any vicious or dangerous dog to keep or permit the same in or about any public house, public place, street, or alley in the City of Big Spring."

In the future, he said, citations to corporation court will be issued to violators of the ordinance after a first warning. In aggravated cases, or bite cases, citations may be issued on first offenses.

He said impounded dogs will not be released until the owners pay the pound fee of $1 plus 50 cents for each day or fraction thereof animals are in the pound. If the impounded dog is not licensed, the animal will not be released until a license is secured, he said. Violation of any part of the ordinance is punishable by fine up to $100.

Seven To Take Part In Model Plane Contest

Seven men from Webb Air Force Base will compete in the Air Training Command model airplane meet at Lackland AFB from June 29-July 2.

They are Capt. G. E. Rios, project officer; S. Sgt. Curtis Burrus, S. Sgt. Harold Graham, Airman 1.C. Joe Cathey, Airman 2.C. Louis Henderson, Airman 2.C. Jose Salberrios and Airman 3.C. Peter Mann. Sergeants Burrus and Graham, and Airman Mann are from the field maintenance squadron, the other three airmen are from the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

The Lackland meet is a prelude to the Air Force worldwide meet set for July 6-11 at Perrin AFB. Competition is sanctioned by the Academy of Model Aeronautics.

A variety of events is scheduled and includes rubber unlimited, towline glider, free flight gas, rocket powered, radio control and control line in several categories.

Trophies for each category of competition will be supplied by ATC, and points in the ATC commander's and vice commander's participation trophies may be earned in this contest.

A Devotional For The Day

There I will meet with thee, and I will commune with thee from above the mercy seat. (Exodus 25:22.)
PRAYER: O God, our source of strength and courage and hope, we thank Thee that in times of great or lesser need we may ever go to Thee and receive a renewal of the abundant life; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Show Our Interest

Monday Big Spring will be host to possibly a score of out-of-town utility executives. Industrial coordinators, businessmen and journalists will be here to feel the Big Spring pulse.

In this visitation, we are not attempting to sew up a specific project; we won't even be talking with people who likely will make direct industrial investments. What we will be doing is showing them what the city has achieved in experience as a modest area industrial center; what it has to offer; and most of all, to hear some cold assessments from the visitors on their reaction, particularly where we need to shore up our arsenal of weapons.

Nobody is trying to do a snow job on anyone; rather we are taking an initial step toward projecting ourselves effectively to those who may be considering industrial sites. When interested, the first order of business is to act interested.

We Need That Texas Hospitality

The 1963 Tourist Industry Report is just released, and it shows that more out-of-state tourists visited Texas than in any prior year in history. And they poured a record-breaking $532.2 million of new money into the Texas economy.

The report was prepared by the Travel and Information Division of the Texas Highway Department in collaboration with A&M's Economics Research Division.

The survey indicates that the number of out-of-state visitors jumped to 11.7 million in 1963, a startling gain of 21 per cent over 1962. Total volume of tourist income was up 12.8 per cent.

The healthy jump in tourist travel was the second in as many years following a four-year decline.

It is encouraging, strictly from a business standpoint, to see the reversal of a trend that had state leaders concerned a few years ago. It can be reasonably assumed that the state's promotional and advertising programs are getting results.

A tourist's time is money, and research shows that if each tourist could be encouraged to stay just one additional day in Texas, it would represent an additional $92 million in income to the state's economy. This is important money for it is new money.

Generally, the vacationer is not on such a tight schedule as he was a few years ago, and he will stay longer where he is wanted and welcome, and where facilities are made attractive to him.

The job is just getting started. Our tourist industry still must be built largely from the ground up, across the whole state. Visitors can be encouraged to come to Texas, but only the people of Texas can induce them to stay longer—and to come again.

Marquis Childs Goldwaterites See 'Conspiracy'

WASHINGTON — Will a Goldwater ticket offer a true test of the Goldwaterite's claim that the country has been waiting for a chance to vote for a real conservative?

Until recently moderates and liberals in both parties were saying that it might be well to let the senator have it and show by his overwhelming rejection that there was no substance in this claim. Partly this was in the conviction that President Johnson was in any event unbeatable.

BUT THERE ARE doubts as to whether the hard-core Goldwater followers would accept the results of such a test. In fact, if the senator fails of the nomination, or if nominated he is defeated, they will find a scapegoat to blame. Their suspicions are already centering on the likely scapegoat—the press and the other media of communication.

Otherwise quite rational-seeming Republicans are saying that the press has distorted Goldwater's views. Ignoring the great bulk of the senator's own writings in two books, innumerable speeches and interviews making plain his all-out stands on both foreign and domestic policy, they see the press deliberately presenting him as an extremist. It is only a short step to the conclusion that a secret conspiracy is at work to frustrate the senator and keep him from the presidency.

papers oppose Sen. Goldwater. There is no secret about their opposition. They are for the most part Republican in orientation and on the practical side they do not believe Goldwater has a chance to carry the Big City states essential to win. Furthermore, they are fearful that if he heads the ticket many Congressmen and state legislatures will be lost.

ON THE SIDE of ideas, the Goldwater views in recent years on the United Nations, the federal income tax, Social Security, the Tennessee Valley Authority raise grave doubts about the senator's judgment if he were to become President. These doubts have been expressed in editorials in newspapers across the country and not just in the East. Many of these same newspapers opposed Senator Taft and favored General Eisenhower for much the same reasons.

The devil theory—the conspiracy of a "mysterious clique"—is consoling because it puts the hero beyond any judgment of his acts or his ideas. But it automatically rules out any real test of voter sentiment.

Billy Graham

I am a college student who is weak spiritually. How can I become a strong, effective Christian?—L. K.

One young man in the same position as you said: "My faith was like the ivy on the buildings at the university—but when the walls fall, the ivy falls down."

Too many of us have a "second-hand" faith—handed down by our families, but we have really never made Christ our very own. They know the idea of Christianity, but they have never grasped the ideal.

First make sure you have had a personal encounter with Jesus Christ. Jesus said to Philip, "Have I been so long time with you, and dost thou not know me?" Make sure you have repented of sin and received Christ.

Next, establish a regular devotional life. I would no more think about starting a day without a session with the Scriptures, and communion with my Commander-in-chief, than I would go into battle without orders.

Third, give expression to your faith. Sometimes we call this witnessing. The world is hungry for spiritual reality, but the Church is letting them down. Make bold to share your faith with others. And then, of course, make sure you are in a Church that will nurture you in the faith.

Dog Donated To Charity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County Cancer Society reported that one volunteer fund collector returned to headquarters with the money she had collected—and a dog.

She said the man of one of the families she called on had offered the animal. Several hours later, officials said, a woman called and offered a cash gift if she could have her dog back. The trade was made.

Insult To Injury

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—Tears came to the eyes of a few retired railroad men as the Old 1518, an Illinois Central Railroad steam locomotive, was retired to Barkley Park. Adding chagrin was the fact that a diesel engine pushed it to the park,

J. A. Livingston The Specter Of 'Dollar Imperialism'

President Charles de Gaulle, of France, probably never heard of Bob Fitzsimmons, who, as a 165-pound heavyweight boxer at the turn of the century, fought 200-and-300-pounders and demonstrated that "the bigger they come, the harder they fall." Then he fought Jim Jeffries. After that, the boxing cliché changed to "a good big man can beat a good little man."

This has international industrial application: A good, big company can usually outlast a good little company.

GEN. DE GAULLE discovered this when France's Machines Bull tried to take on big, powerful International Business Machines in the European computer market. Machines Bull had neither the resources nor personnel for the task.

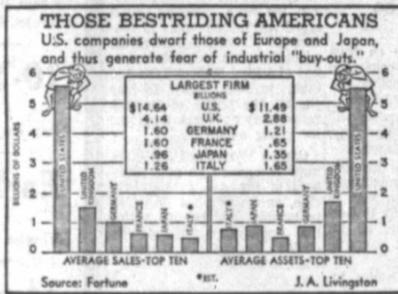

In the end, another American company, General Electric, came to the rescue. But not without rebuff. At first, Gen. de Gaulle said "non." The French would restore the company's depleted working capital.

When that proved unfeasible, de Gaulle said "out, out." But he insisted that Machines Bull segregate its military operations before GE would be permitted to buy into its civilian, computer division.

THIS EPISODE and the recent purchase by Chrysler Corp. of an interest in Rover Motors Ltd., of England, reinforces apprehension in the western world about the new "dollar imperialism." What's the big money for a foreign enterprise is a run-of-the-market investment for a major U. S. corporation seeking a position in a strategic market.

Thus, General Electric, which is fourth in size among American industrial companies, is bigger in sales than all foreign enterprises except Royal Dutch Shell, which has a double home base—the Netherlands and Great Britain. Chrysler, as the 12th American company in sales and 17th in assets, outsells all but three foreign corporations.

CHRYSLER recently negotiated with Rootes for 30 per cent of the voting stock and 50 per cent of the nonvoting shares for $34,500,000. This, after it had digested a 63 per cent interest in the French Simca in two bites, 25 per cent in 1958 and 38 per cent in 1963. The Simca purchase, $130,000,000, is almost equal to the total assets of Peugeot, one of the prestige names in French automotives. And, in 1960, Ford Motor Co., not satisfied with a 55 per cent majority stake, paid $200,000,000 in cash for the outstanding minority shares of Ford of England.

The Ford deal aroused the British Parliament and Robert B. Anderson, then U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, Anderson feared a drain on U. S. gold stock. But Ford went through with the purchase after Parliament supported Selwyn Lloyd's approval by a vote of 254 to 160. Lloyd was then Chancellor of the Exchequer.

APPREHENSION about American corporate imperialism was great enough in 1963 to enable French Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing to persuade the Common Market Commission to make a study of foreign investments. Intent: To curb American "buy-ins." Many governments relish the stimulus of American investment. Nevertheless, fear of size—of dominance—lurks underneath every foreign

Around The Rim

A Father's Influence

My Father ended his allotted time on earth a much more successful man than I ever thought he would be. There was a time, as a teen-ager, when I didn't think he would ever understand anything.

And so it is. The generations change, the world has caught us up in a more frantic pace, but the basics remain.

THE FATHER-SON relationship is one of these, although certainly there are a million variations on this theme.

What seems to be one of the major differences through a couple of generations is that fathers have—and do take—more time with their male offspring. "Togetherness" might have gotten a little overdone, but there's no gainsaying it is a worthwhile situation.

THIS COULD BE because memory falters, but it seems in retrospect that the sheer business of making a living occupied most of my Dad's time. There was a brood of five kids to feed and educate, and meeting these objectives had to come first. It turned out the younguns were comfortably fed and clothed, and had a chance at equipping themselves for a little better lot in life.

I WAS THE youngest on the totem pole, so by the time I came along, Papa could not be one of those to go along swimming, or fishing, or watching baseball. Oh, a weekend down on the Concho on very, very rare occasions—rare enough that they stand out in memory like shining stars.

And perhaps an afternoon, late, when he would have time to put on a mitt and be catcher while I was playing Christy Mathewson. But this would be at the end of a 12 hour day in the shop, and, as I see it now, there couldn't have been much verve to it.

IF THERE wasn't much intimacy at leisure time, there were enough guidelines laid down, not explicitly but by tacit understanding established in the home, for a boy to follow.

Good books were in our home, and although nobody was pressured into digesting these, there was a sort of influence prevailing that if a fellow would take the time to dig here, he would find some treasures.

CHORES WERE there to be done, and there was just a sort of suggestion that if a fellow got at these diligently and promptly, they would be over with almost before he knew it.

In school months, there was no requirement to study. There was just the prevailing atmosphere that only a dunce would not try to equip himself to handle the next day's lessons, and handle them to the best of his ability.

PLAY TIME was all right too, but a fellow ought to be careful at the creek until he learned to swim; he ought to take care of his bike that came pretty dearly out of the family exchequer, and he ought to be fair with his mates on the baseball field or in whatever sport.

There is nothing singular about such an atmosphere, and probably one of the more encouraging things about this country is that so many homes have had such atmosphere, even though you can call them commonplace if you will.

SO FATHERS establish this sort of thing, and their offspring, no matter how smart-Aleck at some phase, eventually become aware that they received a great and good heritage.

And the man who didn't receive such a heritage is an unfortunate soul indeed.

—BOB WHIPKEY

David Lawrence Political Maneuvering

WASHINGTON — Whatever may be the pros and cons of the efforts by opponents of Senator Goldwater of Arizona to prevent him from getting the Republican presidential nomination, the controversy has certainly stirred up public interest throughout the country and focused unprecedented attention on the Republican party.

FOR ONE THING, the general public is being educated in the techniques of practical politics. People are discovering that, even if a candidate wins in state primaries and local conventions and gets the assurance of support by a majority of the party's delegates a month ahead of the national convention, he still cannot be sure that something may not happen in the interval to woo his delegates away. It is a matter of great interest as to just how the "wooling" is done and what are the considerations that cause delegates who have become committed to one candidate suddenly to shift to another.

GOVERNOR SCRANTON of Pennsylvania happens to be the most vocal of the opposition bloc, but to assume that the nomination contest is between Senator Goldwater and Governor Scranton alone is to oversimplify the situation. The first objective of the practical politicians who are opposed to Senator Goldwater is to break down the Arizona senator's strength. This does not necessarily mean that Governor Scranton is to be the final beneficiary.

All along there has been the feeling that a stage would be reached in the convention when a "compromise" candidate would be brought forth, and it has been assumed that then Richard Nixon would have his chance. Theoretically, Mr. Nixon, having had eight years in the office of vice president and having come close to winning the presidency in 1960, would be logical as a compromise choice.

IF THE TIME does come when Senator Goldwater has to make a decision as to where he will throw his support, it is more than likely he would prefer Mr. Nixon to Governor Scranton or anybody else. The Goldwater managers, however, are confident that they will win the victory, though they are prepared for about three weeks of sporadic attacks by other factions inside the party.

SO, WHEN the Republican convention opens in San Francisco on July 13, it seems likely that Senator Goldwater will have much more support in the rank and file of the Republican organizations throughout the country than any other would-be candidate. Political history does not indicate that such a man can be overthrown merely because a militant minority here and there may dislike him. The chances are that, unless some new strategy is devised or some combination or coalition can be effectuated by practical politicians in the East who are opposed to Senator Goldwater, he will probably go to the convention with an assured majority.

THE BATTLE will not, however, end at that point. The chances are a big fight on platform principles will be waged, and an effort will probably be made to write the kind of platform that it would be difficult for Senator Goldwater to accept. The platform is adopted before the nominating speeches are made or the balloting takes place. A defeat on platform issues would hurt the prestige of the Arizona senator.

Holmes Alexander Time Will Probably Be A Cure

WASHINGTON — "You say you keep leaning this way and that," said Dr. Clarence W. Couchmaster to the personable, youngish Governor on his patient's couch. "Tell me more."

"First, I leaned over backwards," said the Governor, who bore the resemblance of a Pennsylvania Republican. "I arched till the back of my neck hit the base of my spine."

IT WASN'T, observed Dr. Couchmaster, the master psychiatrist, exactly the posture of a military man who'd served in the Air Force of World War II.

"That bothered me a lot," said the Governor. "I was trying to stand as straight as the Old Soldier of Gettysburg, but the next thing I knew, I couldn't look anybody in the face. Least of all the Fly Boy from Phoenix. He is the most upright, forthright, candid and principled man that the GOP ever had. I was in no position to look him in the eye."

WHICH WAY did you lean next, Dr. Couchmaster wanted to know.

"We had a Governors' Conference in Cleveland," said the Governor, who resembled a very fine product of Pennsylvania. "As a matter of fact, the Old Soldier had given me so many commands that I simply went to pieces."

It could have been innate modesty, Dr. Couchmaster diagnosed, and nothing to worry about. What happened to the patient after that?

"I BEGAN fumbling over fallen bodies," the Governor shuddered. "There was the trampled form of Nelson Rockefeller. It was all the more terrible to see him because he'd been out at the California primary to celebrate a Blessed Event, and now the time was coming up to Father's Day."

What other bodies, the doctor inquired gravely.

"OH, THERE was a soft drink attorney who practices law in New York when he's there. And an Ambassador to Saigon, whose grandfather was a superb old isolationist from Massachusetts who helped keep us out of the League of Nations—for which the GOP used to bless his soul. And an ex-Governor of Minnesota, who now runs for every public office that opens up in Pennsylvania. And a truly lovely lady from Maine. They have nothing in common except that none of them could keep up with the Fly Boy from Phoenix, and each had fallen on his or her face."

DR. COUCHMASTER thought that time would be the best cure. Along about the week of July 13th, maybe on the first or second ballot of the Republican National Convention, the whole ordeal would be over.

East was wanted as a witness in a damage suit.

Grand Jury To Get 26 Cases Monday

Howard County Grand Jury for the June term of 118th District Court will be organized at 10 a.m. Tuesday and will consider 26 felony matters.

Thirty-four defendants are involved in the complaints, said District Attorney Gil Jones.

The grand jury panel, selected by the jury commissioners named by Judge Ralph Caton, includes:

L. D. Chrane, Charles W. Dunnam, Buel Fox, Zollie Boykin, Frank Hardesty, Dorothy Driver, Sue Broughton, Gus Barr, Mrs. Carl A. Coleman, Paul Adams, James E. Brooks, Mrs. J. M. Woodall, Leonard Coker, Edgar Phillips, Willard Neel and Terry Carter.

Most of the matters the grand jurors will be asked to hear are considered routine. However, several are of a more sensational nature.

SEX OFFENSE

Raymon Torres, Joe Flores Martinez, Ismel Patiño and Nicholas Paredes, for example, are charged with criminally assaulting a 14-year-old girl on the night of April 19.

Earl Mays will face charges of assault with intent to murder. The state alleges he struck his wife, Neida, over the head with a rifle on June 10.

J. C. Valdez is accused of fondling and the state alleges he mistreated his 13-year-old daughter, April 2.

The grand jurors will also consider a charge of robbery by assault. The defendant is Cornelius McCloud Jr. He is alleged to have robbed Robert T. Carpenter, a filling station employe, on March 23.

DOPE CASES

There are two cases where defendants are accused of possession of narcotics. Jesse Angel Cevallos, and Lorenzo Cevallos are alleged to have been apprehended June 13 with a quantity of heroin in their possession; Ismael Valdez is accused of having a marijuana cigarette in his possession when he was arrested April 26.

Herstein Rowell is charged with assault with intent to murder. The state accused Rowell of shooting John Hippolito with a .22 calibre pistol last May 28.

There are four DWI second offense cases to be heard by the grand jury—fewer than are usually on hand when a grand jury meets.

OTHER MATTERS

Law violators may wind up paying for a new county jail at Louisville.

Beginning today, a $2 fee will be tacked on fines meted in any court in Louisville and Jefferson County for criminal and traffic violations, other than for parking.

County Atty. E. P. Sawyer said the revenue would determine if the county will issue $4 million in bonds to finance a new jail. The fees would be used to pay off the bonds.

Kirkpatrick, theft by baillee; Jesus Raymond Loya and Robert Villareal, burglary; Ralph Hendrix Williams and W. Evan Bartlett, theft over $50; Almus Henry Hill, attempted burglary; Stephen Estes Roberts, Barbara L. Roberts and John B. Ewing Jr., theft over $50; Emmett C. Hartmann, failure to stop and render aid; Merrill Johnson, DWI second offense; Virgil Nail, DWI second offense; Paul Smith, DWI second offense; Benjamin Franklin Limer Jr., DWI second offense; Hurlie Joe Johnson, burglary.

Col. Price Being Transferred After 3 Years As 331st Chief

A three-year tour as commander of the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron here is ending soon for Lt. Col. Jack C. Price. He is being transferred to Headquarters, North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), at Fort AFB, Colo.

Colonel Price and his family have been prominently identified in many base and civilian activities, and he has represented the 331st on the Base-Community Council.

Col. Price came here in July, 1961, from Richards - Gebauer AFB, Mo., where he had been director of operations and training with the 33rd Air Division. He has been in the Air Defense Command since 1955, had assignments in Alaska and Albuquerque.

WAR SERVICE
He entered the Air Force in 1941, spent three years in Europe during World War II, as commander of the 844th Fighter Squadron and deputy commander of the 29th Fighter Group.

A command pilot, he rated as an "ace" in the war, credited with five enemy aircraft shot down and several others damaged during seven major campaigns. He logged 104 combat missions in the P-47 Thunderbolt and the P-51 Mustang.

After the war he had tours at Lowry AFB, Colo., at the USAF Advanced Management Course, University of Pittsburgh, and in the Pentagon.

His decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross with two oakleaf clusters; Air Medal with seven oakleaf clusters; European ribbon with seven campaign stars; French Croix de Guerre with gold star.

LT. COL. JACK C. PRICE

DIRECTED CHANGE
During his command with the 331st at Webb AFB, Col. Price directed the transition from the F-102 aircraft to the supersonic F-104.

He is a native of Grand Junction, Colo., as is his wife, the former Marguerite Ann McCowan. They have three children, James R. (Ricky), 17; Mark, 15; and Jacqueline, 4.

The two boys made outstanding records in the schools here.

Ricky, a BSHS graduate this spring, was president of the National Honor Society, a second-year member of Who's Who, representative on the Student Council, member of the Key Club, and a tennis letterman.

Mark, at Goliad Junior High, was in the honor group, vice president of his class, was in football, basketball and track, and was a winner of the American Legion scholarship leadership award.

The Prices will leave early in July. He is to be succeeded at the 331st by Lt. Col. M. W. Shareck, presently stationed at Madison, Wis.

MAJ. JOHN WOODD

Maj. Woodd To Retire

Maj. John C. Woodd, Webb Air Force Base hospital executive officer, will be retired from the Air Force on July 1 after more than 29 years service. He has been stationed at Webb AFB since February 1962. Prior to his assignment here, Maj. Woodd was with the 3535th USAF hospital at Mather AFB, Calif.

Previous assignments overseas accounted for one-third of his entire service career. He was stationed with the 479th Fighter Group in England during WWII and participated in the Berlin airlift in Germany in 1948-1949 while assigned to the 495th Medical Group at Wiesbaden. In France from 1956-1959, Maj. Woodd was assigned to the 49th Tactical Hospital.

He wears the European-African-Middle Eastern campaign medal with six service stars.

He was active here in the Chamber of Commerce and its cultural affairs panel and the foreign film club. Mrs. Woodd has been active in the International Wives Club.

Maj. Woodd was born in San Francisco, Calif., and is married to the former Anna Wuzyk, a native of Poland. The Woodds have a daughter, Catherine Anna, who was born June 3, 1964, at the base hospital, and a son, Andrew, who was an honor pupil at Goliad Junior High.

They plan to leave Big Spring in July and will live at 1691 37th Avenue, San Francisco.

Intrigue In Istanbul

Daniela Bianchi and Sean Connery face an international plot set in Istanbul and Venice in the movie version of the Ian Fleming novel, "From Russia With Love," starting today at the Ritz.

Problems Of Famous Dad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Sunday is Father's Day, and one of America's most famous fathers, Fred MacMurray, has this observation:

"If only a father's problems with his children could be solved as simply and as neatly as they are in family situation comedies on television!"

Fred paused in the midst of filming his fifth year of "My Three Sons" to contemplate the differences.

"Oh, it seems like a cinch, the way the script boys work it out," he reflected. "One of my sons gets a problem and comes to me with it. I'm very sage and helpful, but of course I leave it up to him to find his own solution. And he does—all in the space of less than a half-hour."

"At home it's a different matter. I'm not all that sage and thoughtful. In fact, I get mad a lot more easily. And I don't get anything solved in half an hour, believe me."

Fred and his late first wife were parents of a daughter and son. He and June Haver, adopted twin girls, now 8. Then there is his television tribe: Tim Considine, Don Grady and Stanley Livingston.

Island Adventure

The story of an Indian maiden marooned on a Pacific Island, "Island of Blue Dolphins" stars Celia Kaye as the girl who finds a dog, a bird and a baby dolphin as her companions. The movie opens Thursday at the Ritz.

Children's Film Is Due Thursday

"Island of the Blue Dolphins," starting Thursday at the Ritz, is a story out of California history about an Indian girl, similar to Robinson Crusoe, finds herself alone on a deserted island.

Starring in the role of the Indian maiden, Karana, is the young Hollywood actress Celia Kaye, whose ancestry is part Cherokee. A former diving champion, Miss Kaye also became proficient with bow and arrow while on location for the movie.

Scenes for the movie were shot in Northern California along the Pacific Ocean. The film is based on a Newbery Medal-winning novel by Scott O'Ell.

Co-starring with Miss Kaye is Larry Domasin, an eight-year-old who previously appeared in "Dime with a Halo" and "Fun at Acapulco." Domasin plays the younger brother of the Indian maiden. The cast also includes Ann Daniel, Carlos Romero and Julie Payne. The Manchester and Kasha tribes of the Poma Indian nation also join in the movie scenes.

Sharing starring roles is the dog, "Rontu," son of "A Dog of Flanders." The Indian maiden, Karana has three companions on the island, the dog, a bird and a baby dolphin.

He Refused To Ride Lion

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"With actors like Charles Coburn and Edmund Gwenn gone now, people look to me as a patriarch," said Ernest Truex. "But I don't feel like a patriarch."

For proof, he patted his flat stomach and flexed the muscles of his calf. "Exercise is what does it," he said.

So impressed was Universal that the studio wanted Truex to mark his 70 years as an actor by riding a lion. Truex is appearing in "Puffy" with Tony Randall, Shirley Jones and an overgrown tabby named Zamba. The script called for Truex to demonstrate the lion's gentleness by riding it down a trailer ramp.

"You'll have to get yourselves another boy," said Truex. A stunt man was ordered, and his leg was scraped badly on the door of the trailer.

Another James Bond Movie Opens Today

Sean Connery again portrays James Bond, secret agent 007, in "From Russia With Love" which opens today at the Ritz. The movie was filmed mostly on location in Istanbul, with such sights as the 3,000 teeming shops of the Turkish bazaar and the St. Sophia mosque built in 548 A. D.

A key scene in the movie was filmed in the thousand-year-old underground cistern used by ancient Byzantine emperors of Constantinople to store drinking water.

The movie introduces Daniela Bianchi as the new James Bond girl friend. The 21-year-old Italian actress was chosen from more than 200 European women.

Lotte Lenya, who played the Contessa in the movie version of "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone," plays her most unusual movie role with her characterization of a master murder-planner.

"From Russia With Love" is the second Ian Fleming spy story filmed, following "Dr. No" released last year.

Co-starring with Connery is Robert Shaw, whose career has been marked by versatility with roles in "The Valiant" and the television series "The Buccaneers." The cast also includes Pedro Armendariz and Bernard Lee.

The movie scenes include four of the most famous mosques and churches of Istanbul and many of the authentic and colorful customs of the Middle East.

THE CABLE TV VIEW

By Jim Lancaster

BIG SPRING CABLE TV

While television may be something like a magazine or a newspaper, it differs in that it comes to life. The television program walks and talks. It is not someone writing about an event; it is almost a living event itself. This is what makes the NBC program "Today," both a television daily newspaper and magazine.

Frank Blair reads the news. True, he doesn't go much beyond the headlines material, but not everybody goes deeper than these quick descriptions of major happenings. Television certainly has not displaced written analysis of the news for those who dig into backgrounds.

Listening to the chatter of Jack Lesconlie and Hugh Downs is like idly turning the pages of a magazine until you get to the feature that interests you. There, you stop and read down the page. So with the television "feature article," you stay with your interest. It may be a group displaying a special skill, or an entertainer who has just come into prominence, or a book that has attracted a lot of attention.

The viewer is rewarded by visiting with the author. The book has raised questions and here is the author to answer whatever is in your mind, as put into words by Hugh Downs. One reason Hugh Downs does such a good job is that he represents the articulate viewer, the one who knows how to voice the thoughts in his mind.

A secondary benefit, and one that pleases librarians, publishers and book dealers, is the immediate increase of sales of books that have had this exposure of the "Today" show. This is the answer television can give to critics who believe there is less reading because of TV. It simply isn't so. Many viewers have had their introduction to books they have read only because of programs like "Today."

STAMP NEWS

Australia To Issue New Air Mail Stamps

By SYD KRONISH

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of its first air mail flight, Australia will issue two new air mail stamps on July 1. Both stamps are of the large commemorative size and depict a Blériot plane of the type in which Maurice Guillaux carried the first official air mail from Melbourne to Sydney in July 1914.

The 5 pence is sage green and the 2 shilling 3 pence is red. Australian Postmaster General Hulme also announced that a new air mail sticker will be issued on the same date. It will be larger than the present sticker and will feature the Southern Cross constellation of stars as used on the Australian flag.
