MAJOR LAKE

Application Filed Friday

An amended application for a permit to impound a major lake on the Colorado River just above Robert Lee has been filed with the Texas Water Commission.

E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, filed with the board late Friday afternoon following a decision by the CRMWD directors here to settle on the Robert Lee site as the more advantageous of two under consideration.

While action toward securing a new source of area water supply drew general commendation, there were some negative reactions on the location. A number of Mitchell County citizens sought to persuade the CRMWD board to select the original site in southern Mitchell County and said "we have reluctantly determined that we will not support the application for a permit to build the lake outside of Mitchell County." G. C. Allen, Robert Lee banker and president of the Upper Colorado River Authority, took a reserved attitude, noting that the "UCRA is going to protect the rights of users in our area and if it can be arranged for us to get our share of water by negotiations, they (CRMWD) have our blessings. Otherwise, we will contest it."

Charles Perry, Odessa, president of CRMWD, said that his board had received the petition from Mitchell County citizens, but that the decision favoring the Robert Lee site was based on adequacy and quality of a long range water supply for this area.

"Because of proximity and other factors," he added, "I think our board members personally would have wanted to develop the Mitchell site if at all feasible. The weight of engineering evidence, however, was so preponderant in favor of the Robert Lee site that there was no other logical choice when the economics, yield and quality of water were considered."

He said that the board had directed that Mitchell County interests be furnished with a copy of the engineering report in order that they might understand the basis for the decision. Highlights of the report made by Freese, Nichols and Endress, consulting engineers, included these comparisons between the two sites: Mitchell site 2,223 square miles drainage area, Robert Lee 2,695; Mitchell 404,000 acre feet at capacity, Robert Lee 489,000 acre feet; 24.3 million gallons a day dependable safe yield at Mitchell site during longest period of critical drouth, Robert Lee 47 MGD; $486,100 cost per million gallons of dependable yield at Mitchell, $272,000 at Robert Lee (with pipeline charges figured in the totals would be $567,000 Mitchell, $365,000 Robert Lee); 515 parts per million chloride over a 15 year period of study for the Mitchell site, 294 for the Robert Lee site (plans are to mix this water with that from Lake J. B. Thomas to bring the chloride content below the USPH standard of 250 ppm). In addition, it was estimated on the basis of population projections that the Mitchell site reserve would be committed by 1978, the Robert Lee site not until 1987.

It had not been determined finally that the Mitchell County site would provide a safe dam, said Freese, but he figured in $500,000 for grouting to shut off gypsum veins in event that the site were developed.

Freese regarded the chloride content of the water as a most critical constituent. (The district has been combatting salt water pollution in the upper river shed and plans include two pollution diversion structures to mitigate and abate the problem.) The Mitchell site has 20 per cent more surface acres at capacity and 20 per cent less supporting drainage area and content as compared to the Robert Lee site, the report noted. Thus the evaporation factor was calculated to intensify the salt water problem in the upper site with its average depth of 23.9 feet as compared with the 32.7 average depth at the lower site.

Next step, said Spence, is for the Texas Water Commission to conduct a hearing on the amended application. This may be done in less than three months. CRMWD had applied in 1959 for a permit, based on the Mitchell site, and received a provisional permit in June of 1960. It was understood that the permit would not be issued until the CRMWD showed that it could abate the pollution problem to the extent to make the project economically feasible.

Spence said he believed the district could now demonstrate this ability to the satisfaction of the commission. Eleven counties in this general area have been invited to advise the district of potential water needs as a guide for planning. Water would be made available to cities and towns for municipal and industrial purposes.

When Wallace announced Sunday he was giving up the effort to get his name on presidential ballots in 16 or more states, he removed a serious obstacle to Goldwater's chances of carrying several Southern states in the November battle with Johnson. Wallace appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

The action offered the Republican presidential nominee some possible rewards in Dixie, if he maintains his conservative course, that would have to be weighed against what he might gain elsewhere if he yielded to intra-party pressure to swing toward the middle of the road.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the vice presidential nominee, indicated he would like to see some overtures to the party's moderates and liberals in the Northern industrial states that would bring them around to active support of the national ticket.

But Miller said in response to questions on NBC's "Meet the Press" that failure to get the backing of such men as Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey "won't be fatal."

Goldwater said in Phoenix, Ariz., he thinks he will do well in New York and Pennsylvania next month.

Ousted Wichita Sheriff Fails To Show For Trial

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Suspended Sheriff Hammett Vance failed to appear today for trial on 12 criminal counts. His lawyer, Z. D. Allen, said Vance was in Dallas "in bed" on orders of his physician.

A Veterans Administration Hospital spokesman said Vance was there but had not been formally admitted as a patient at a late hour.

Judge Louis Holland of Montague, scheduled to hear the criminal case against Vance, said that if Vance did not appear in court or show a valid reason for being absent he would forfeit $12,500 in bonds.

The trial was to have been on 6 charges of forgery, 3 of perjury and 3 of false swearing, largely involving expense vouchers and explanations he gave about them.

Last Friday, a jury in a civil ouster suit decided 33 of 34 issues against Vance, and Judge Holland said he probably would sign a formal ouster order today.

Asked if he and Goldwater would welcome Wallace's support, the vice presidential nominee replied, "I don't think so, he's a Democrat." He said he welcomes the support of anyone who accepts the GOP platform but added he understands Wallace was dissatisfied with its civil rights plank.

He said it was difficult to assess the impact of Wallace's withdrawal, since the governor would have taken votes from Johnson in some states and from Goldwater in others.

In Augusta, Ga., Roy V. Harris, former state legislator and a campaign worker for Wallace, said he will organize a "Democrats for Goldwater" movement in the state.

The Wallace electors in Alabama are pledged not to vote for a Republican but on the other hand are not pledged to vote for a Democrat.

Bricks Hurlled, Stores Looted

NEW YORK (AP)—Missiles rained from roofs, crowds knocked down barricades, fists and knives flashed—the steady heat and police guns barked. Harlem was rioting.

While temperatures soared Saturday and Sunday nights in the packed Negro ghetto, police and Negroes locked in surging fights in which one Negro was shot to death. More than 100 persons were injured, including two dozen patrolmen.

Plate glass windows fell in slithers and more than a score of stores were looted. One supermarket lost $2,000 in cash, 300 cartons of cigarettes and 50 cases of beer. Every rifle in one pawnshop disappeared and police took rifles from others.

Included in the loot were cameras, clothing, jewelry and watches. There were more than 100 arrests.

CONTINUE PATROL Tensions had lessened a great deal by today, police said, but they continued their patrol, still wearing steel helmets.

Meanwhile, in the Brownsville slum area of Brooklyn, six persons were shot and a youth was hit by acid as long-standing enmity between Negroes and Puerto Ricans in the area boiled over Saturday night.

Police said snipers operating from roofs and behind parked cars accounted for most of those wounded. Two policemen suffered minor injuries and six persons were arrested on weapons charges.

Sunday night, three civilians were treated at hospitals for gunshot wounds. Twelve patrolmen were injured by flying objects.

Also injured were a white television cameraman and several other newsmen. A score of persons were arrested.

FATAL SHOOTING The initial outburst followed protest rallies over the fatal shooting of a Negro boy by a white policeman. The violence left one man shot to death, 108 arrested, and more than 100 injured, including a dozen patrolmen.

The new flareup followed funeral services Sunday evening for 15-year-old James Powell, slain last Thursday by police Lt. Thomas Gilligan, who said he fired when the boy came at him with a knife.

Throughout the Sabbath, Negro leaders, in speeches and in conferences with police and city officials, had demanded Gilligan's arrest.

The Negro leaders—including James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, and Bayard Rustin, leader of last year's civil rights march on Washington—urged Negroes to stay home Sunday night. Both men were booed at a rally when they called for non-violence.

CROWD GATHERS Before the funeral services, police sealed off a 57-block area in the center of Harlem. Outside the funeral home, a crowd of about 500 gathered. Inside was a capacity crowd of 150 mourners.

About the time funeral services were under way, bottles and other missiles began crashing in the street. Patrolmen, waving nightsticks, began charging into crowds that poured from behind police barricades.

U.S. Successfully Tests Electrical Rocket Power

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP)—The United States proved today that small electric engines—capable of developing speeds between 100,000 and 200,000 miles an hour and designed for future interplanetary flights—can work successfully in space.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration launched two small electric rocket engines on a flight looping some 2,500 miles aloft, on a trip of almost an hour that ended in the Atlantic 2,000 miles east of here.

During the flight one of the two ion engines operated successfully for half an hour, turning on and off several times. The other developed a short circuit from high voltage.

Until very recently many scientists have considered it impossible to start and operate an ion engine in space.

The scientists from NASA's Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio, in charge of today's SERT I experiment—so named for space electric rocket test—were elated at the results.

Information radioed back from the space capsule was so clear and complete and favorable that the scientists were able to report within an hour that all had gone very well.

"It was an extremely successful flight," said Raymond J. Rulis, SERT I project manager at Lewis.

"All our technical objectives were achieved," Rulis said the prime objective was to determine whether ion engines, which produce thrust by creating and accelerating positively charged particles or ions of propellant, would work in actual use.

They have operated successfully in the vacuum chambers at Cleveland, but no one could be sure they would do so far above the earth.

An ion electric rocket can work in space only if the positive ion exhaust beam can be neutralized effectively. The scientists succeeded in doing this by injecting a stream of negatively charged electrons into the engine exhaust.

Congress Hits Pile Of Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress reconvenes today to tackle a mountain of major legislation—much of it highly controversial—in the partisan atmosphere of a between-conventions session of a presidential campaign year.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate majority leader, opened a drive to clear the remainder of President Johnson's "must" program before the Democrats meet at Atlantic City Aug. 24.

First on the Senate calendar was a bill to ease pay restrictions for federal civilian employment of part-time workers and retired regular military officers, and a measure to increase the pay scales of almost all military personnel.

The House planned only a routine session, putting off all legislative business until Tuesday.

In the month ahead, the Senate faces hot debate on such legislation as the $3.5-billion foreign aid authorization bill, a $962.5-million antipoverty program and other proposals. Under the circumstances, Mansfield offered no guarantee that Congress could finish its work before the Democratic convention.

But, appealing to colleagues in both parties to hold partisan infighting to a minimum, he said it can be done if members of both parties apply themselves with diligence "and leave the political take-off and campaign oratorical flights until later."

If Congress does not finish its work by then, he said, "we will be here in September and on to December if necessary."

Barry Has Clear Track For Conservative Push

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace's abandonment of an independent presidential effort invited Sen. Barry Goldwater today to pursue an all-the-way conservative drive against President Johnson.

When Wallace announced Sunday he was giving up the effort to get his name on presidential ballots in 16 or more states, he removed a serious obstacle to Goldwater's chances of carrying several Southern states in the November battle with Johnson.

Wallace appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Laos Neutralists Head Off Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Neutralist troops striking to head off a threatened Communist attack have captured the north side of strategic Phou Khout Hill, a military spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the three neutralist battalions under the command of Gen. Amkha Souk have met stiff Communist resistance on the southern side of the hill.

He said one battalion of Communist Pathet Lao and Viet Minh troops from North Vietnam is defending the southern slopes. The neutralists are trying to push them back across the Nam Ngum River, 12 miles to the south, he said.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist premier, said the assault was launched at dawn Sunday before a Communist buildup could smash the last neutralist stronghold in the Plaine des Jarres area 110 miles north of Vientiane.

Earlier a Defense Ministry communique said the neutralists had taken the village of Na Kho, 2 miles from the hill. American-supplied T28 fighter-bombers apparently played a big part in the initial neutralist success.

Phou Kout is about 6 miles north of Muong Sonu, the last neutralist stronghold in the Plaine des Jarres area. Muong Sou straddles Route No. 7, the main east-highway across Laos. Phou Kout overlooks the road.

Reds Murder 40 Civilians

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas slaughtered 40 civilians and 12 military defenders in a slashing attack today on the district capital of Cai Be, 50 miles southwest of Saigon. Twenty-three women and children were found among the dead.

The raid followed up an attack Sunday on a military post 30 miles farther southwest in which a U.S. spokesman said the guerrillas carried off almost the entire defense force of 130 men as prisoners.

The Viet Cong 261st Battalion numbering several hundred men, swept through a barbed wire-fenced minefield into the dependents quarters of 200 local civil guardsmen at Cai Be.

Farmer charged that some white policemen were frightened, hysterical or trigger-happy during Saturday night's fray.

Texas Scouts Take Quickly To Life At Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) home. "That's good shooting," said Army Sgt. Lawrence Jackson as a 14-year-old Boy Scout from Texas hit 15 bullseyes without a miss. Young Mike Conrad of Goldthwaitte grinned a little as he acknowledged the praise of 101st Airborne Division soldiers who are in charge of rifle and shotgun ranges. He admitted he's had a little practice back-

Jamboree's 30 sections. Bobby Carl Kibler, 13-year-old from Big Spring, got one of the first chances to cook for his patrol and he says he did pretty good. "Our cooks' mission is simple enough," Bobby said. "It is to prepare the food without ruining the condition." Proudly he boasts "for the most part we handle the cooking job like master chefs and eat like kings." But he acknowledges there are some bad cooking moments:

"We're too honest to deny that a few eggs and miscellaneous other things slip out of our skillet and disappear forever in the charcoal fire. And every so often, unexpected black smoke curls out from under the pot lids." Bobby is the son of Capt. and Mrs. Ronald F. Kibler, 2504 Carol, Big Spring. The Jamboree has lasting impressions—and Jerry McIntyre, a native of Eagle Pass, Tex., who is now a forester for the U.S. Interior Department in Coos Bay, Ore., is a prime example. Fourteen years ago, he attended the second national Jamboree at Valley Forge as a member of the Concho Valley Council Contingent. He says the things he learned as a scout about the land, the forest and conservation prompted him to choose his life's profession. McIntyre is back in Valley Forge today, teaching present scouts about trees and rivers. The 111 boys in the current

Concho Valley contingent flew to the Jamboree last Wednesday after spending a few days at the New York World's Fair. Art Reidel of Del Rio, scoutmaster of Jamboree Troop 69, said his boys are going to put on an exhibition on how to start a fire by friction, and also with flint and steel. Sam Swinson, 15, of Del Rio brought a lot of swapping materials — mostly patches and neckerchiefs. He would have liked to have carried some live horned frogs but jamboree officials turned him down. Sam said. Dub Cameron, 15, of Kermit is described by his patrol mates as the friendliest scout to come East from Texas. He brought along Texan boots and said he hopes to trade them for some foreign coins. At the mammoth opening night pageant, which was attended by more than 70,000 in the open air area, Dub said he got his greatest thrill with the closing fireworks display. "I felt I had reached the pinnacle of Scout achievement through my attendance at the Jamboree," said young Cameron. "This gathering gives me a sense of pride and renews my faith in America's scouting youth. It is something that every boy can look forward to from tenderfoot rank until he reaches first class and I believe no boy should let the opportunity slip through his fingers."

Seniority Issue In Redistricting

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. George Parkhouse says the Texas delegation in Congress could lose some of its valuable seniority in the coming redistricting of the state.

This loss would occur in situations where two districts small in population are combined into one and new districts created in the booming cities.

The Dallas lawmaker, who will have a strong influence on how the state is redistricted, has a plan to avoid loss of seniority. Under the plan, Dallas County would make important gains.

Dallas has a lone U.S. representative for nearly a million people. Suddenly it may find four congressmen looking after its interests.

The Dallas legislator feels that the state will lose none of its influence in Congress if it follows a philosophy of "community of interests" in redistricting.

APPLICATION

The practical application of this philosophy in North Texas would be to assign parts of Dallas County to Districts 4 and 6. This would give the county four congressmen — assuming the main portion of Dallas County will have a second representative.

Thus the congressmen in Districts 4 and 6 would be elected with help of a portion of the county, but on local matters they could hardly represent their portion without representing the whole county. The county would have four times the influence it now has.

The Supreme Court ruled recently that the state's congressional districts must be so drawn so that each has—so far as is practicable—416,508 persons within its borders.

Of the state's 22 present districts, 11 have more than that number and 11 have fewer. The 23rd congressman is elected at large, but that office will disappear in the coming redistricting.

DALLAS AREA

The widest discrepancies exist in District 5 (Dallas County), where Republican Bruce Alger represents 951,527 constituents, and in District 4, northeast of Dallas, where Democrat Ray Roberts represents only 216,371.

As a rule, the larger cities are under-represented. They stand to gain from redistricting.

"There's no doubt that the state will be redistricted," Parkhouse said. "If the legislature (which convenes next January) doesn't do it or won't do it, the courts will do it."

Parkhouse, a senator for 13 years and a legislator since 1941, proposes to tack the southern part of Dallas County onto the existing 6th District and a part of the northern portion onto the 4th District.

The rest of the county would split about evenly by a north-south line roughly along the Trinity River. Each of these two sections would elect a representative.

"The northern part that would go to District 4, on the other hand, is highly industrialized, especially Richardson. This area has a community of interests with Grayson County and the rest of the district," he said.

Parkhouse said another plan that would give Dallas County three congressmen is weak for this reason:

NEWCOMER

"At least one of them would be a freshman congressman. Newcomers to the House just don't pull much weight."

Parkhouse said he doesn't want to try to tell the rest of the state how it should redistrict, but he emphasized that congressmen with seniority are one of Texas' greatest assets.

Reapportionment schemes that don't take the "community of interests" into account, he said, could result in three freshmen Texas congressmen being elected.

Parkhouse said he believed Harris County (Houston), which now has two congressmen, should be given three to itself. Harris had a 1962 estimated population of 1,347,816.

He said Bexar County (San Antonio) has 270,000 more people than the figure laid down by the court. However, it doesn't have enough for two congressmen.

Parkhouse said that under his community of interests approach, part of Bexar would be shaved off and combined with a contiguous district that is more or less homogeneous with it in terrain, outlook and productivity.

Crime Rate Continues Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 2.5 million serious crimes—four a minute—were reported in 1963 as the national crime rate continued a relentless climb, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today.

The 10 per cent increase and a high percentage of criminal repeaters prompted Director J. Edgar Hoover to renew his call against what he called excessive leniency which tends to ignore the victim and obscure the right of a free society to equal protection under the law.

Crime has increased five times faster than the national population since 1958, the FBI said in its annual report. Hoover said the cost of crime now is conservatively estimated at $27 billion annually.

In 1963, there was a murder every hour, a forcible rape every 32 minutes and an assault every four minutes.

Crimes against property were primarily responsible for the crime rate increase, jumping by 11 per cent.

Murders and rapes mounted by 1 per cent, assaults 6, larceny 13, auto theft 11, burglary 9 and robbery 5.

The FBI statistics showed that:—The crime increase was sharpest in the Northeastern states—13 per cent—and lowest in the North-Central states at 6 per cent.

—The value of stolen property in 1963 exceeded $785 million. Police recoveries cut the property loss to 46 cents per dollar.

—The year brought 8,500 murders, 91 per cent solved by arrests.

Supt. Sam Anderson said this week that possible consideration of resignations from the faculty will take a little time. He said 25 to 30 new teachers were needed to fill vacancies and that an average of one per day is submitting resignations.

"We are busy reworking our budget in accordance with instructions from the board at the last meeting, but must wait for a report from our tax people for a better estimate of receipts," he said. "Vacation time for the staff, and the loss of Sebron Williams, has slowed us down some, but the estimate will probably be ready for the July 25 meeting."

Anderson said plans will be proposed for establishing one or two new vocational courses. Facilities at the Center Point School will be used on a temporary basis. He said the proposed courses run for three hours, and that from 30 to 40 students can be transported by bus. The first class would return at noon and the second go out for the afternoon. He said he would meet with the Education Agency in Austin during the weekend, and interview applicants for vocational instructors' positions.

U.S., Jap Officials Probe Sentry's Killing Of Woman

TOKYO (AP)—American and Japanese officials are investigating a shooting which the Americans hope won't mushroom into another Girard case.

The U.S. Marines said Pfc. Manuel A. Covarrubias of Wapato, Wash., killed a 45-year-old Japanese woman, Yuki Katsumata, with a shotgun blast at Camp Fuji north of Tokyo. The Marine was on sentry duty.

The Marine press office said Covarrubias saw the woman coming out of a tent before dawn in the middle of the camp. It said he challenged her three times in English and again in Japanese, then fired when she did not halt.

Accounts in the Japanese press questioned whether it had been necessary to shoot the woman. American Minister John K. Emerson called on Vice Foreign Minister Takio Oda to express regret.

The incident recalled the 1957 case of U.S. Army Specialist William F. Girard which set off a furor in Japan and in Congress. A group of Japanese scrap collectors had trespassed onto a U.S. firing range. Girard inserted an empty cartridge backwards in the muzzle of his rifle, pulled the trigger and killed a Japanese woman.

Although the United States had jurisdiction over the case, Girard was turned over to a Japanese court to quiet the public outburst and tried on a manslaughter charge. The Japanese court gave him a suspended three-year sentence.

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—Israel has denied reports that it lost a jet plane in an air battle with Egypt and suffered six casualties in a border clash with Syria Sunday.

In Cairo a military spokesman said four French-built Mirage Israeli jets were intercepted on a reconnaissance flight near Alexandria by Egyptian fighters. He said one Israeli plane was shot down and a second hit.

An Israeli army spokesman called the Egyptian claim "a complete invention."

In Damascus, a Syrian army spokesman claimed six Israelis were killed or wounded in a 20-minute battle north of the Sea of Galilee. The Israeli spokesman confirmed the clash but denied the casualties.

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP)—A band of about 50 Indonesian guerrillas fled back across the border to Indonesia Sunday after a British platoon repulsed their attack.

An army spokesman said there were no British casualties but it was believed several Indonesians were killed or wounded.

Russians View Water Conversion

FREEMONT, Tex. (AP)—Six Russian scientists looked over a sea water conversion plant here Sunday and then flew to Roswell, N.M., for a look at a similar plant today.

The Soviets, working on a water conversion program in their country, are touring the United States as guests of the office of saline water in Washington.

U.S. scientists likewise have been invited to Russia for a glimpse of Soviet plants.

The Russian group was given facts and figures on the government's desalination plant here in a 90-minute briefing by manager Harold Singleton.

The plant, one of the two largest in the nation, can convert one million gallons of sea water into fresh water daily.

Special Bicycles For Two

The afflictions of John and Joan Ravao, 9-year-old twins, of Dighton, Mass., prevent them from riding bicycles—unless they go together. John has been blind since birth. Joan has had cerebral palsy since birth and does not have use of her legs. Their father, Joseph

Ravao, and a friend, Edward Gonsalves of Somerset, Mass., rigged up a special bicycle tandem for the twins. Thus, John supplies the leg power and Joan the vision. Joan does the steering and tells John when to apply the brakes. (AP WIREPHOTO)

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Salvage Bedspreads For More Home Use

Dear Heloise: Don't throw old bed spreads away!

1. They can be cut down for children's beds.

2. They can be used as dog beds—dogs love them and they are warm.

3. If the Jacquard-type, they can be made into attractive cedar chest covers or for throw covers on old chairs.

4. They can be used to cover washing machines and dryers.

5. You can make curtains for basement windows. Heavy and durable, they wash like magic and need no ironing.

6. Keep one in your car... good for cold days or picnicking.

7. When they are beyond repair... keep them for those painting jobs—use as throw sheets on floors to catch splattered paint.

8. Cut them to fit baby's play pen. Reusable and washable and so comfy for baby.

9. If you have a swing or glider on your porch—just throw a spread on it and my, what a difference.

10. Children can use these in their play as curtains for their house or for table cloths for the play table.

11. Men and boys can take them on camping or fishing trips.

12. Last but not least, use them for sun bathing... no worry about grass stains... Janet Hey!

Dear Heloise: Since a hot water bottle is sometimes comforting, why not a cold water bottle? I really suffer in hot weather so I keep a hot water bottle filled with water in my refrigerator during the daytime.

By night it is well chilled but not iced. I take this to bed with me and it really does cool me off... Hot Weather Hater

Dear Heloise: For daily grapefruit... an absolutely perfect bowl is a rice bowl which one can purchase at dime stores, gift shops, etc. They are very attractive and hold the grapefruit perfectly. The other half can be covered with foil and stored in the refrigerator.

Works like a charm and is attractive!... Louise K. Carr

Dear Louise: You are terrific! It never oc-urred to me how perfectly the grapefruit would fit into a rice bowl, and I'm so glad to find a really practical use for mine... Heloise

Dear Heloise: When we are traveling or going picnicking, I stick a corsage pin with a bright colored head into the roll of paper towels or tissue to keep it from unrolling. The bright pin is easily seen and very effective... Margie

Final Session Begins For Girl Scout Camp

On Sunday the final session of Girl Scout established camping began at Camp Boothe Oaks near Sweetwater. Session V began with check-in at 2 p.m. Sunday, and the session will end at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 25.

Local girls attending the session are Sheila Armistead, Nancy Jean Bortner, Ingrid Broadrick, Cynthia Cook, Verna Goswick, Corky Grantham, Mary Jane Gulley, Marsha Kay McCraney, Sherry Morgan, Ann Morton, Patsy Rogers, Lynn Schaedel, Dian L. Stallings, Peggy Stanaland and Brenda Kay Thomas.

Susan Terry of Sterling City will also attend.

The 1964 session at Boothe Oaks marks the twelfth summer of the camp's operation. Boothe Oaks is the established campsite of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, which has its headquarters in Abilene. Miss Fane Downs, District Adviser in the West Texas Council, is camp director.

During the first four sessions in 1964, there were 332 campers at Boothe Oaks. There has been an average of 80 established campers per session, plus the advanced or Pioneer Unit which was held for experienced campers from June 9-20.

Another group of 80 campers is expected for Session V, so the total attendance during the 1964 season will be approximately 412 Girl Scouts.

The 1964 sessions at Boothe Oaks have given Girl Scout campers an opportunity to enjoy the usual camp activities such as swimming, campcraft, cooking and sleeping in the out-of-doors, archery, hiking, care and use of tools and pursuit of individual interests through work on proficiency badges.

Special events that have been planned by the campers themselves this summer have thus far included all-camp swim meets and special all-camp parties (among the latter have been a Hawaiian luau, a Mexican fiesta and costume parties). The campers who were at Boothe Oaks on the Fourth of July enjoyed a full day of patriotic observances, picnics, games and relays, a parade by the campers, a watermelon party and a night-time fireworks display. Another special treat for the campers was a visit by the NASA Spacemobile to Boothe Oaks July 3.

One For The Album

Laughter suddenly broke the silence in Lakewood Village Community Church, Long Beach, Calif., during wedding ceremony recently when the bridegroom, James E. Hiatt, and his bride, Sue Ellen Shabien, 18, knelt at the altar. On the soles of Hiatt's shoes—unknown to him—was an SOS, painted there by the best man, Paul Milovich. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Another Chicago Eatery Hit With Mystery Bomb

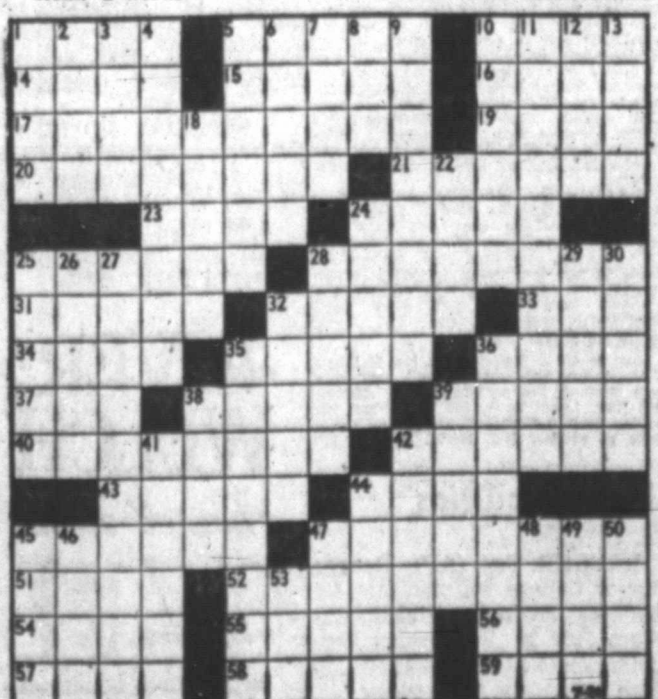

CHICAGO (AP)—There's a new link in the seemingly endless chain of bombings of restaurants in the Chicago area. The latest blast let go before sunrise Sunday in a doorway of the Gus Steak House on the North Side. It raised to about 40 the number of restaurants, night clubs and taverns that have been hit by bombs and fires in the last two years. All are unsolved. The black powder bomb that went off at a side door of Gus place damaged the door, a canopy and vestibule, and shattered nine windows in a building across the street which houses the Chicago Board of Health. Some windows in other nearby buildings were broken. Milton Goff, a porter at work in the kitchen, was knocked down by the concussion. The owner, Dante Corsiglia, said he had no trouble and had received no threats. That's part of the pattern of mystery that has baffled and chagrined officials. Gov. Otto Kerner brought together officials of seven north-eastern Illinois counties early in 1963. He was aroused by the blasts in the night. "We have seen a show of force that laughs at law enforcement," he said. The officials pledged cooperation in the fight against the un-seen foe. James McMahon, assistant director of the Illinois Department of Public Safety, became coordinator of the campaign. So far, there has been no solution of the wholesale whodunit. There is a faint ray of hope. Joseph Ragen, state director of public safety, said last week investigators have received some "good leads" to crime syndicate influences in the wave of bombings and fires. He said they were obtained from questionnaires filled out by restaurant owners in the seven-county area.

Many Southerners Swinging To Barry

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Many Southern conservatives were boarding the Goldwater bandwagon today in the wake of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's withdrawal from the presidential race.

Southern reaction ranged from praise to "he let us down." Others felt the withdrawal would have no effect on the race between Republican candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and President Johnson.

"I believe we will have a majority of the white people in the state with us," he said. Former Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, a close ally of Wallace, said he would vote for Goldwater. "I have not left the Democratic party," he said. "They have left me."

Very Close At First

Hal Lanier, San Francisco second baseman, was out on this close play at first in the fifth inning of Sunday's second game against the Houston Colts in Candlestick Park (ball shown by arrow). # Callison Stars As Phillies Keep National Loop Lead

John Bateman and Johnny Callison played give-and-take with the National League lead but the Milwaukee Braves made their mark playing leap-frog. Houston's catcher Bateman flubbed a two-out third strike in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader against San Francisco and two pitches later Jim Ray Hart homered for a 4-2 Giants victory.

The Giants also won the nightcap 1-0 and had the league lead in their grasp until Philadelphia's Callison took it away from them. The Phils had dropped their doubleheader opener to Cincinnati 7-4 and were trailing 2-1 in the second game when the Giants-Colts final was posted on the scoreboard.

Then Callison duplicated his All-Star game heroics with a three-run ninth inning homer. The Phils held on for a 4-3 verdict and a first place margin of four percentage points over the Giants.

The torrid Braves trimmed Pittsburgh twice 6-2 and 5-4 and climbed from a tie for sixth place into fourth, six games off the pace.

They now have won 10 of their last 13 games and 16 of their last 22.

Elsewhere in the NL, the Chicago Cubs pounded out 27 hits for 8-2 and 9-1 decisions over the Los Angeles Dodgers while St. Louis rallied for four ninth inning runs and edged the New York Mets 7-6 in the second of a pair after the Mets won the opener 3-2.

The Giants had lost five in a row and were tied 2-2 in the eighth inning of the first game. With two outs, Colts' pitcher Dick Farrell fanned Orlando Cepeda but the ball eluded Bateman and Cepeda reached first. Hart followed with his 13th homer, a 450-foot wallop to left centerfield.

Rowlot was the loser with the big blow coming in the sixth inning as Rick Terry slammed a three-run homer.

With Billy Paul Thomas and Tedford leading the way with home runs in the second game, the locals had little trouble in sweeping the two contests.

Thomas slammed a home run with two outs in the first game and was promptly followed by Tedford who collected another round-tripper off Waldrop.

Yates, a member of the Texas Tech golf squad last spring and 1963 Texas Amateur champion, gained his finals berth by nipping medalist and defending champion Tommy Knight of San Angelo in the semifinals. Knight had been a favorite to play Craig in the finals.

Craig had reached the finals by unseating Big Spring's Bernard Rains in the semis, 5-4.

Yates, one-up going into the 17th, hit his tee shot into a bunker while Craig slugged into a favorable fairway position. But Yates pulled his game together, sank a 10-foot birdie putt three shots later and took the title just as it looked as if the crown might not be decided until the final hole.

Richard Yates, Corpus Christi's Richard Yates turned back the bid of one of West Texas' finest golfers Sunday, Colorado City's Bill Craig, as he went on to take the 16th annual Colorado City Country Club golf tournament with a 3-1 victory.

Abilene Wins Two Contests From Locals

Abilene's Merchants proved to be rude hosts Saturday tripping Big Spring's visiting E. C. Smith nine, 7-1 and 9-6.

Don Williams, the winning hurler in the first game, limited the Smith crew to only three hits. Two of them came in the second inning—by Arenchiba, the third baseman, and Miller, the second sacker—accounting for Big Spring's only run.

The nightcap was a more interesting tilt. The lead changed several times before Abilene went ahead, 7-5, in the fifth. This margin held up although the visitors gamely came back to tally another score in the sixth.

That smashed McKinley's bid to become the first three-straight National Clay Court champion since Bobby Riggs did it, in 1937-38. It also reversed last year's final when McKinley beat Ralston 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

But the outcome failed to ruffle the buddy act between McKinley and Ralston, who between them accounted for the 3-2 Davis Cup detroning of Australia last year and brought the Cup to America for the first time since 1959.

Shortly after Ralston's pre-cise play had McKinley mulling such self-reprimands as "I should have stayed in bed," the two teamed to dethrone Northwestern University's Big Ten pair of Marty Riessen and Clark Graebner, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 for the clay court doubles title.

The women's singles crown easily was recaptured by Nancy Richey, daughter of a Dallas tennis pro, whose varied game bewildered newly wed

Locals Take Two Victories

The Big Spring Merchants enjoyed prosperity in abundance Saturday night in the City Park as the visiting San Angelo softball team, playing in the West League, was downed 5-1 and 4-0 in a night doubleheader.

In the opening contest, Cotton Mize limited the visitors to six hits as he went the distance collecting the victory.

Rowlot was the loser with the big blow coming in the sixth inning as Rick Terry slammed a three-run homer.

With Billy Paul Thomas and Tedford leading the way with home runs in the second game, the locals had little trouble in sweeping the two contests.

Kansan Wins Public Links

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The National Public Links Championship, representing golf's grass roots, has wound up in typical fashion where the blades are green.

Carrying the title today is the smallest man ever to win it and a hospital case to boot. He is 5-foot-5, 130-pound Bill McDonald.

Mac is a bespectacled, 20-year-old music major junior at Washburn University in Topeka, Kan. His dad is baseball coach there and a scout in the St. Louis Cardinal organization.

Billy wore blisters on his feet the size of silver dollars. This never happened to him while he was marching in the Washburn band as a trumpet player.

At the lunch break Saturday in his 36-hole finale against 31-year-old Dean Wilson, an Omaha postal clerk and four-time public links champion of his home town, McDonald was taken to General Hospital to have his feet treated.

Ralston Is Winner Of National Crown

RIVER FOREST, Ill. (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston again will be Uncle Sam's one-two punch—take your pick—in the Davis Cup Challenge Round in Cleveland Sept. 25-27.

After Ralston's stinging upset of top-ranked McKinley for the National Clay Courts title Sunday, it's now a toss-up which may be the biggest gun in the U.S. Davis Cup defense.

Ralston, a half-foot taller, needed only 64 minutes to polish off the 5-foot-8 McKinley in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

McKinley's touted service was broken seven times.

That smashed McKinley's bid to become the first three-straight National Clay Court champion since Bobby Riggs did it, in 1937-38. It also reversed last year's final when McKinley beat Ralston 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

But the outcome failed to ruffle the buddy act between McKinley and Ralston, who between them accounted for the 3-2 Davis Cup detroning of Australia last year and brought the Cup to America for the first time since 1959.

Shortly after Ralston's precise play had McKinley mulling such self-reprimands as "I should have stayed in bed," the two teamed to dethrone Northwestern University's Big Ten pair of Marty Riessen and Clark Graebner, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 for the clay court doubles title.

The women's singles crown easily was recaptured by Nancy Richey, daughter of a Dallas tennis pro, whose varied game bewildered newly wed

Cards Slug By Midland

The Big Spring Sacred Heart Cardinals won a 10 to 7 slugfest over visiting Midland here Sunday at Steer Park.

Trailing until the sixth stanza, the Cards blasted six hits for five runs to go ahead for good. The visitors made it interesting, crossing the plate one in the last inning. Shortstop P. Martinez led local batsmen, registering three safeties in five trips to the plate. However, he was topped by Rubio Negro, first baseman, for Midland, who rapped five hits in five times at bat for top hitting honors of the clash.

Yates Beats Craig In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Corpus Christi's Richard Yates turned back the bid of one of West Texas' finest golfers Sunday, Colorado City's Bill Craig, as he went on to take the 16th annual Colorado City Country Club golf tournament with a 3-1 victory.

Yates, a member of the Texas Tech golf squad last spring and 1963 Texas Amateur champion, gained his finals berth by nipping medalist and defending champion Tommy Knight of San Angelo in the semifinals. Knight had been a favorite to play Craig in the finals.

Craig had reached the finals by unseating Big Spring's Bernard Rains in the semis, 5-4.

Yates, one-up going into the 17th, hit his tee shot into a bunker while Craig slugged into a favorable fairway position. But Yates pulled his game together, sank a 10-foot birdie putt three shots later and took the title just as it looked as if the crown might not be decided until the final hole.

Jessen Gets Golf Victory

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Ruth Jessen won the $10,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Yankee Open and spoiled hopes of leading money winner Mickey Wright for a record-breaking fourth straight tournament victory Sunday.

Miss Jessen, of Bonsall, Calif. fired a four-under-par 68 for a 213, three under par.

Miss Wright, after leading through Saturday's 36 holes of the 54-hole tournament at Atlas Valley Country Club, placed second with 74 for a par 216.

Nichols Is PGA Champ

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bobby Nichols had fallen off a cliff he'd have won the high-diving championship on the way down.

This was the week when he could have gotten down in two strokes from the deck of a sinking ship.

There apparently is no oil in the area of the Columbus Country Club, or Nichols would have struck it with a seven-iron.

Life was like that for Nichols, the 28-year-old Louisville boy who won the PGA Golf tournament Sunday by three strokes with a record total of 271, nine under par. About 71 of his shots were downright impossible.

"I couldn't believe them myself—but I have witnesses," Nichols said.

The baby-faced youngster, 6-foot-2 and 200 pounds, finished with an astounding 67 that held off an incredible 64 by defending champion Jack Nicklaus, who was playing before the home folks.

Nicklaus made up five strokes on Arnold Palmer in the final round, playing head-to-head with Palmer before an enormous gallery that trooped through the broiling Ohio sunshine.

They tied for second, at 274, three strokes back.

That was the best finish yet for Palmer in the PGA, the only major title he has never won—but still no cigar for the general of Arnie's Army.

Dr. Sam Facing Both Hope, Fear

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard, happy in his freedom from prison and in his new marriage, faced the future today with hope and fear.

He and his bride of two days, the former Ariane Tebbenjohanns, a German divorcee, made arrangements to fly to New York City. She said they would have interviews there, but she didn't go into detail.

"We cannot make any plans," she told a newsman. "We'll stay available. Perhaps by Wednesday Dr. Sam will have to go back to the penitentiary."

But Dr. Sheppard and his attorney, E. Lee Bailey, said they expected the physician to remain out of prison, where he served almost nine years for slaying his first wife, Marilyn, in 1954.

Sheppard walked out of the penitentiary Thursday on the order of a federal judge who ruled he did not have a fair trial.

The next step in the case will be taken Wednesday. A three-judge panel of the 6th U.S. Court of Appeals will decide whether Sheppard shall remain free on $10,000 bond while the state of Ohio appeals the order which freed him.

Dr. Sheppard, 40, and the 35-year-old blonde he married Saturday dined with friends in their honeymoon hotel Sunday and received telephone calls from others.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
 (© 1964 By The Chess Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
 ♠A Q ♣J 6 ♣K 10 7 3 ♣Q 9 8 6 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Two no trump. Taking into consideration the promoted value of your bidding in partner's suit, this hand is the equivalent of a sound opening bid and should produce a good-play for game. Choosing between a jump to three clubs or a jump to two no trump, our preference is for the latter as the shorter route to game. It also has the advantage of protecting your spade holding from the opening attack.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
 ♠10 7 5 ♠9 ♠A 9 8 3 ♠K J 10 9 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Three diamonds. This hand increased considerably in value when partner made a jump shift in clubs and an immediate raise to five clubs does not quite compensate for the negative sound of your original response. A temporary call in diamonds followed by a club jump may place partner in position to bid a slam.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
 ♠K 6 3 ♠9 5 4 ♠Q 8 3 ♠A J 10 7
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 1 NT Pass Pass Double ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Redouble. This will inform your partner that you had a maximum no trump (10 points), and will establish a cooperative situation for doubling the opponents if partner's opening was sound and they begin to rescue themselves.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
 ♠K Q 9 3 2 ♠A ♠K J ♠J 8 4 3 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Five clubs. It is tempting to go directly to six, but there is a slight danger that you may be off two aces. The leap to five should induce partner to go to slam if his suits are headed by two high honors.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
 ♠J 10 7 ♠K 9 ♠A Q ♠A Q 10 7 6 4 3 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 2 ♠ Pass 3 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Five diamonds. With this holding you have no desire to play three no trump and four spades may prove too difficult to manage. Your trump suit is practically self-sufficient and there may prove to be an advantage in protecting the king of hearts—again, the opening lead.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
 ♠Q 8 7 4 ♠K Q 5 ♠K 4 ♠A Q 10 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1 ♠ Double Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Two spades. Inasmuch as you forced partner to bid, a contract for nine tricks might not be safe. In order to raise to the level of three after doubling, your hand should be worth at least 19 points.

Q. 7—With 60 part score as South you hold:
 ♠A K 6 3 ♠A K Q 5 5 ♠J 7 ♠A K
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Five spades. The bid announces to partner that all is solid except for diamonds, and he should proceed to six if he has secondary interest in that suit. A Blackwood call would not be helpful in this situation for partner needs not the ace of diamonds, but the king or a singleton.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
 ♠9 8 6 ♠K ♠10 5 4 2 ♠Q 8 7 6 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 Pass Pass Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 1 ♠ Pass Pass Double ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—The king of hearts, even the singleton, and the fifth club are impressive cards and a raise to three no trump is recommended, for partner has contracted for eight tricks knowing that you may have little or nothing.

Dove Limit Is Changed

Bag limit on doves for this season for the 1964 season has been changed from 10 to 12 per day, and the total number in possession has been set at 24. It was pointed out by Royce Tucker, state game warden, today.

He said the season opens in this county Sept. 1 and goes through Oct. 30. Both dates are inclusive. Shooting is legal from noon to sunset each day.

Guns used must be plugged to three shells capacity. If you hunt doves outside the county of your residence, you must have a state hunting license.

Tucker said that the dove crop at this time is good, but that the drought and the diminishing food supply may drive the birds out of the county before the hunting season opens. If it rains, there should be plenty of doves on hand for the season, he said.

Charles H. Webb Jr., whose wife is the former Kenda McGibbon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, 108 Cedar Road, Big Spring, has been appointed assistant dean of the Indiana University School of Music. Webb has been on the Hoosier-university faculty since 1960.

A native of Dallas, Webb received his A.B. degree and master of music degree from Southern Methodist University in 1955 and the doctor of music degree from I.U. this year.

He joined the Hoosier music school faculty as instructor in music and manager of musical organizations in 1960 and was promoted to assistant professor this summer.

Before joining the music faculty here, Dr. Webb was assistant to the dean of the School of Music at Southern Methodist University.

He formerly was piano soloist with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra and the Southern Methodist University Symphony, and was minister of music at the Oak Lawn Methodist Church in Dallas five years.

For 12 years Dr. Webb has been associated during the summers with the Fred Waring music workshops as choral director and for the past three years as workshop dean. He also has served as guest conductor of choral festivals in many states. He and Wallace Hornbrook of Phoenix, Ariz., have formed a duo-pianist team and have had nine successful coast-to-coast concert tours.

NOT PRODUCING

The sons and grandsons of the same farmers are simply not producing, and the government and party now are offering more and more inducement for individuals to work harder. Farmers are still the downtrodden part of the population.

All this doesn't justify any conclusion that communism itself is dead. Any Communist leader can point to great accomplishments in the country since 1917.

It is a safe bet that if the Russian people were asked to vote for or against communism, they would vote overwhelmingly for it. It wouldn't be 99.45 per cent, the way it is in the elections, but would be a monster vote. It is now their way of life.

Federal Aid Recipients Dislike Term 'Subsidy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some folks who receive payments from the government under federal farm programs don't like to have it said that they receive subsidies. The latest to protest is the cotton textile industry, the newest industrial group to come under the government payment tent. Since Uncle Sam started programs in the early 30s offering payments to help bolster farm incomes, the term subsidy to describe such payments has become widely used and accepted.

$2 BILLION Payments made by the Agriculture Department under its various commodity stabilization and conservation programs run more than $2 billion a year. With the inauguration of a new cotton program in April, the government is making payments to cotton mills to enable them to buy cotton at prices on a par with those at which foreign mills are able to buy it under the export payment program.

The government seldom refers to the payments as subsidies. It uses the term payment — both in legislation and in administrative regulations and news releases. The payments often are referred to in congressional committee hearings as subsidies, both by members of Congress and lobbyists appearing for and against payment proposals.

USED WIDELY Perhaps the term subsidy is used most widely by the press, radio, and television — and politicians. Those who use the term subsidy contend it more accurately describes the financial aid given under the farm program than the word payment. The word payment is generally used to refer to the discharge of an obligation, such as pay-

Dear Abby

Too Much Too Soon

DEAR ABBY: How does a father tell his daughter's fiancé that he hangs around her house entirely too much? He comes over here even when he knows our daughter isn't home. The young man has an apartment of his own, but he has started coming here straight from work every afternoon. My wife has her routine housework to do and she doesn't feel comfortable going about it with him in the house. He's a good-hearted fellow, and we don't want to hurt his feelings, but we don't think we should have to entertain him when our daughter isn't home. So how do we tell him?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Either young man has been made to feel that he is welcome any time, or he is taking too much for granted. In any case, he should be set straight. And your daughter is the one who should do it.

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago I entrusted an important letter and some valuable literary material to a friend of mine, who promised that he would type them up for me. Every time I ask him for the material he makes some excuse. I have written letters to him asking him to return my material, typed up or not, but he ignores my letters. Can I accuse him of stealing them and have him arrested? I would like to teach him a lesson.

DEAR "N": Don't make any charges against anyone without first consulting some legal counsel lest you find yourself in even more serious trouble than you hope to get your friend.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell what's-her-name not to be too concerned about "canned music" in a business place — at least she can walk away from that.

How would she like to be blessed with a whistling neighbor who hangs his "canned music" on a contraption in his back yard every weekend while he gardens from sunrise to sunset? After five years of this, we have put our house on the market and hope that it is raining or he has laryngitis when a prospective buyer comes. Why don't people who are hard-of-hearing get a pocket radio with a hearing piece instead of entertaining the whole neighborhood with baseball games or beatnik music?

Tell "Suziebell" that if she can WALK AWAY from "canned music" she is indeed very lucky — we can't.

ALLERGIC TO ROSES

DEAR ABBY: My name is DEBBIE and I am 11 years old. I want to know how come there is a MOTHER'S DAY and a FATHER'S DAY, but there isn't any CHILDREN'S DAY? I don't think this is fair.

WANTS A CHILDREN'S DAY
DEAR WANTS: There IS a CHILDREN'S DAY. And it falls on each child's birthday.

Midland Man Found Unharmed
PLATORO, Colo. (AP) — Searchers found Richard Henderson, 42, of Midland, Tex., unharmed Sunday despite a night without shelter in near freezing weather.

A forest service plane and 60 men on horseback hunted the Texan after he went fishing and failed to rejoin his wife and two sons Saturday at their wilderness area camp in southwestern Colorado.

Two of the horsemen found him atop a 13,000-foot peak near Rocky Mountain National Forest.

Henderson and his family were camping in an area at the base of Celestine Pass, 15 miles west of Platoro. It can be reached only on horseback.

Wild Garb, New Guns Mark Rebels

ALBERTVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Rebel warriors controlling this eastern Congo center are fantastically garbed and armed to the teeth. They refuse to touch a white man, believing it will destroy their juju immunity to bullets and bombs.

Gaston Soumialot's rebels took Albertville from the Congolese army June 18. They rule it with a combination of witchcraft, spears and submachine guns.

When the Lake Tanganyika steamer Baron Dhenis arrived on its first commercial run since the rebel takeover, it was met by a boarding party festooned with bird wings, palm fronds and a variety of fetish charms. They carried spears, clubs and an assortment of guns.

The ship's half-dozen passengers were held on deck while the ship was searched for arms. The warriors were polite despite their fearsome appearance.

Fifty warriors made up the dockside reception committee against a backdrop of cranes and modern harbor facilities. A 10-year-old African carried my bag in one hand and a loaded submachine gun in the other.

The 100 or so Europeans still in Albertville stay indoors most of the time but apparently go unmolested. Armed rebels guard key buildings and roam the streets. Everyone wears an identifying tag. Rebel warriors pose eagerly for photographs.

Rebel authorities have confiscated nearly all of the city's vehicles. The rear window of one bears the words "prime minister's office" scrawled in dust.

The Congo's new premier, Moïse Tshombe, and his interior minister, Godefroid Munongo, are meeting in Leopoldville to map plans for putting down the rebellion.

On Saturday, Munongo was in

Ku Klux Klan Claims Growing Membership

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Leaders of the Ku Klux Klan claim growing membership in their invisible empire because of white resentment to the civil rights law.

"There has been a tremendous reaction to the civil rights bill and this is bringing about a swelling of Klan membership," says Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton Jr., Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Shelton, thin and soft-spoken, has preached "ballots not bullets" in the past several years, trying to rebuild the old Klan with a new nonviolent image.

A salesman, he is titular head of the United Klans of America Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. This group has following in much of the South.

There is no possible way of checking Klan claims or their strength, since rank-and-file members are anonymous and their leaders refuse to divulge any figures or identities.

STRONGEST

The robed order, once known for its night-riding terrorism, appears strongest in parts of Alabama, Mississippi and Florida. The Klan apparently has been gaining in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Elsewhere in the South there is little outward indication of a resurgence of the Klan.

Other segregationist groups have cut into the Klan's field since the U.S. Supreme Court order against segregated public schools 10 years ago.

RULING RACE

"They must not lose sight of the fact that the white race is the ruling race by right of inheritance and that it does not intend to surrender this right or to compromise it with any other race—black, yellow or brown."

The leaflet also says the Klan is "strictly law abiding . . . Every member is sworn to uphold the law, and any member violating this oath would be banished forever from this organization."

Shelton said he agreed with Negro leaders that it would be
