No Peace By Aggression, Says LBJ

Devastating Attack Hits North Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Navy aircraft made a devastating strike at North Vietnamese PT boats and their shore bases today in retaliation for the two attacks on American craft in the Tonkin Gulf this week.

Then the Washington government apparently sat back to let the lesson soak in — if it will soak in — with this stern word from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara: "Whether this will be all that is necessary is up to the North Vietnamese."

The account of the explosive U.S. reaction, and the warning, were given by McNamara at a morning news conference, with in hours of a somber announcement by President Johnson of the decision to hit back hard in reply to the attacks.

In a premidnight address to the nation, Johnson said: "That reply is being given as I speak to you."

"Air action is now in execution against gunboats and certain supporting facilities in North Viet Nam which have been used in these hostile operations."

"The determination of all Americans to carry out our full commitment to the government and people of South Viet Nam will be redoubled by this outrage."

In summary, McNamara reported four North Vietnamese torpedo boat bases heavily damaged and one oil depot wrecked in 64 sorties by planes from the aircraft carriers Ticonderoga and Constellation, with 25 PT boats destroyed or damaged.

He gave the U.S. cost as two aircraft downed by ground fire and two damaged.

The action, McNamara said, took place between noon and 4 or 5 p.m. local time Tuesday.

With Vietnamese time 13 hours ahead of Washington, that means the bombs and rockets were falling within an hour after Johnson's report of his decision. Planes doubtless were going aloft as he spoke.

Johnson referred to the U.S. reaction as a "positive reply" to the aggression by North Vietnamese PT boats against American naval vessels in international waters.

But he stressed the United States' long-range peaceful intentions.

Even before the strikes began, McNamara disclosed "substantial military forces" were being moved into Southeast Asia as a precaution against a Red counterthrust from North Viet Nam or Red China. He gave some details on that buildup at today's meeting with newsmen.

The attack was in retaliation for an assault by three Red PT boats last Sunday against the destroyer Maddox in which one of the boats were sunk and two others damaged, and another fiercer engagement involving two U.S. craft Tuesday.

The second attack was aimed at the Maddox and the destroyer Turner Joy which had been sent to support the Maddox.

McNamara said in response to questions that "whether this (the retaliatory blow) will be all that is necessary is up to the North Vietnamese."

His summary of the U.S. response was a swift follow-up to the announcement by President Johnson Tuesday night that Navy planes had been sent on the mission to give a "positive reply" to the Red attacks.

The President made his announcement in somber tones at a session with newsmen late Tuesday night after a day-long series of emergency conferences.

The areas of the U.S. bombing attack were given by McNamara as four PT boat bases, the first at Hongay near the mouth of the Red River close to Haiphong and, leading south, Loc Chao, Phuc Loi, and Quang Khe.

In addition the oil storage depot at Vinh near Quang Khe was brought under attack by the planes from the carriers.

"The oil storage depot containing 14 tanks and representing 10 per cent of the petroleum storage capacity of the country was 90 per cent destroyed," McNamara said, adding: "Smoke was observed rising to 14,000 feet."

McNamara said there were no civilian villages near the target areas.

McNamara told the news conference that reconnaissance flights would be carried out later to determine precisely what destruction had been wrought by the carrier plane assault.

Asked if he could give any reason for the unusual North Vietnamese naval activities, McNamara replied, "I can't explain them."

Congress To Push Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican and Democratic leaders agreed today to seek swift bi-partisan Senate approval of a declaration of support of President Johnson's actions in the Southeast Asian crisis.

Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the majority and minority leaders, reached the agreement in a conference in the Senate chamber in advance of today's Senate session.

Declaring "Speed is of essence," Dirksen said he believed a resolution expressing bipartisan support of the President should receive immediate action, without waiting for the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees to clear it first.

Mansfield said he agreed. Thus, a vote might come before tonight on a historic resolution throwing the Senate's support behind the President's declaration that the United States is determined "to take all necessary measures" to defend peace and freedom in Southeast Asia.

The two leaders held their meeting in the Senate at Dirksen's desk, with newsmen clustered around them and able to hear their every word.

Johnson requested the resolution in a talk to the nation Tuesday night in which he disclosed the United States had launched an air strike against North Vietnamese gun boats and shore facilities in retaliation for two attacks by PT boats on U.S. destroyers.

The President had discussed the resolution earlier at a meeting with congressional leaders and Mansfield said there had been no opposition to it.

Type Of Jet Rushed To Viet Nam

F102 Fighters Move To Saigon On Alert

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The United States rushed six supersonic Air Force F102 jet fighters to Saigon today, the Vietnamese air force was put on alert, and tanks rumbled into the key northern base of Da Nang.

The swift air and ground military buildup was effected to meet any attacks from Communist North Viet Nam or Red China that might come with the crisis in the Gulf of Tonkin.

American military personnel in the 1 and 2 Corps regions in Viet Nam's North were restricted to their bases in an unofficial "grey alert" status that also enforced a 9 p.m. curfew.

The 1 Corps region, with headquarters at Da Nang, is regarded as a logical target for a Communist attack.

American sources reported the situation was tense in the area and that air activity on the Da Nang strip was "fairly heavy."

Some sources said it was possible that planes used to attack North Viet Nam bases today operated from Da Nang. The air base, a major one, can handle modern jet aircraft.

The five Vietnamese army divisions in the 1 and 2 Corps regions were put on alert. The Vietnamese high command in Saigon was reported to have issued top-secret directives.

The six Delta Dagger jets from the 16th Fighter Interceptor Squadron based on Okinawa flew to Saigon from Clark Field, in the Philippines. They went on a 24-hour alert.

The flight commander, Lt. Col. Garnett D. Page of Decatur, Ala., said his planes had no "offensive weapons." He said they carried only anti-aircraft rockets for the defense of South Viet Nam.

It is the first time combat jet fighters have been stationed in Saigon.

North Viet Nam, in its first comment on the developments off its coast, acknowledged the clash Sunday between North Vietnamese PT boats and the U.S. destroyer Maddox. But it said the Pentagon's report that four PT boats had attacked two U.S. destroyers in international waters Tuesday was a "sheer fabrication."

Seek No Wider War, Says Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. aircraft splintered two dozen North Vietnamese PT boats today and made rubble of bases from which they had attacked U.S. naval vessels. The retaliatory strike gave thundering emphasis to a promise from President Johnson:

"No peace by aggression and no immunity from reply."

The President issued his stern warning in an address at Syracuse, N.Y., on the heels of a Pentagon news conference in which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara reported the outcome of the explosive response to two attacks by Red torpedoes boats on American destroyers in international waters off the Gulf of Tonkin.

McNamara's summary: Two U.S. aircraft downed by ground fire in 64 sorties from the carriers Ticonderoga and Constellation.

Twenty-five PT boats destroyed or damaged.

Four shore bases heavily damaged and an oil depot wrecked.

These were other highlight developments in the crisis that came suddenly to fever heat late Tuesday:

—Johnson gave the word in a somberly phrased address to the nation just before midnight that the strike was under way. But he pledged that "we still seek no wider war" and in an apparent bid to the Reds to back away he said the response "for the present, will be limited and fitting."

He had a word of caution for others who "appear to forget the risks of spreading conflict."

—McNamara in a late-night session with newsmen at the Pentagon reported briefly on the strike then under way and said that as a precaution the United States is moving substantial military reinforcements to Southeast Asia, with replacements going from the United States for the men moved forward from Western Pacific bases.

—At Johnson's orders, Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson arranged to have the United Nations Security Council called into extraordinary session today to deal with U.S. charges of aggression.

—In advance of his public report, Johnson briefed congressional leaders, and today the Senate Republican and Democratic leaders agreed to seek swift approval of a declaration of support for Johnson's actions.

—Abroad, the U.S. move brought expressions of support from pro-Western quarters in Asia and threats from the Communists. The New Evening Post, published by Communist Chinese in Hong Kong, warned that "Red China will not wait until the flames of war come too close" before retaliating against what it called U.S. provocation.

But the Soviet press dismissed Johnson's nighttime speech with a brief dispatch which included the show according to Ken Harrod, assistant county agent.

Workmen watered down the floor of the bowl Tuesday and a practice run on posting the colors was made. Harrod said that the bucking horses for the rodeo arrived Tuesday and that the Sand Hills Rodeo Producers, furnishing stock for the show, will have the other animals in the pens today.

A parade on Thursday at 4 p.m. will be the kickoff event of the rodeo. The parade will feature the sheriff's posse, 4-H Club members, rodeo performers and others.

a North Viet Nam denial that the second attack on U.S. naval vessels had even taken place.

It was against that background that McNamara gave his accounting of the U.S. action today and coupled it with this warning:

"Whether this will be all that is necessary is up to the North Vietnamese."

Johnson pursued the same line in his address at ceremonies dedicating a journalism building as the first unit of a $15-million communication center at Syracuse University.

"The attacks have been answered," he said with the broad implication that the one strike is all that will come unless provocation grows.

Johnson declared peace "is the only purpose of the course we pursue" and invited the scrutiny of all the world to be focused on the action the United States had taken, for proof of that intent.

But he went on: "The world is challenged to make its will against war known and known clearly — felt and felt decisively."

"To anyone who may be tempted to support — or to widen — the present aggression, I say this: There is no threat to any peaceful power from the United States of America. But there can be no peace by aggression and no immunity from reply. That is what is meant by the actions taken yesterday."

Johnson left no doubt Tuesday night that retaliation for the attacks at sea would be on a major scale.

Almost 150 To Compete In Rodeo

Final entries in the 19th Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo, which opens Thursday, were being checked today and it is indicated that 140 to 145 young rodeo hands will compete in the several events.

Deadline for entries was 5 p.m. Tuesday but the office is accepting entries sent by mail which were postmarked prior to that hour.

The arena is in shape for the show according to Ken Harrod, assistant county agent.

Workmen watered down the floor of the bowl Tuesday and a practice run on posting the colors was made. Harrod said that the bucking horses for the rodeo arrived Tuesday and that the Sand Hills Rodeo Producers, furnishing stock for the show, will have the other animals in the pens today.

The Howard County Junior Rodeo is sponsored by the Howard County Junior Rodeo Association which is a 4-H Club activity. It is sanctioned by the American Junior Rodeo Association. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Fleeing Man Shot By Officer Here

A police chase which began at speeds of more than 100 miles an hour near Kermit ended near the west city limits of Big Spring about 3:50 a.m. today when a Big Spring officer fired a shotgun blast at a 21-year-old Kermit man.

James Ralph Awtry was in Cowper Clinic Hospital this morning with wounds in the right side and leg from two shotgun pellets, police said, but was not in serious condition.

Awtry left his father's home in Kermit about 1 a.m. today in his car, with an automatic pistol, according to his father, B. J. Awtry. The father asked Kermit police to stop the youth and police said they chased the car at speeds of more than 100 miles an hour on State Highway 202 east of Kermit.

According to police, Awtry abandoned his car near Notre and flagged down a truck driven by John L. Evans, Hobbs, N.M., carrying mail to Midland. Awtry had Evans drive to Odessa, where he forced him at gun point to flag down another truck, officers said, driven by Clint Thompson, Houston. Awtry then forced Thompson at gun point to drive him east.

Evans then notified officers that Awtry had left in a red Mack freight truck. Highway patrol units began searching for a truck of the description, and Big Spring police stopped the truck at a roadblock west of the city, near Webb AFB.

Officers said when the truck stopped, Thompson dropped out of the left door and crawled under the truck. Sgt. Claude Morris and Officer Ted Lancaster ordered Awtry to get out of the truck and Awtry climbed out with the pistol, the officers said.

The boy had received mental treatment while in service prior to his completion of military duty about a year ago, according to his father, B. J. Awtry. Awtry said his son had not received treatment since his Army duty.

Charges were filed in Odessa today for robbery and carrying a prohibitive weapon against Awtry. Jay Banks, police chief here, said no charges would be filed here.

Awtry backed across the highway and started down Madison Street near some parked cars, the officers continued. Each officer fired a warning shot into the air. Awtry stopped near a street light and crouched with the pistol, according to officers, and Sgt. Morris fired once with the shotgun.

Stanton Brothers Argue, One Shot, One Charged

STANTON — A 16-year-old Stanton youth, Willie Louis Bateman, is in Midland Memorial Hospital in critical condition, and his 17-year-old brother, Bobby Gene Bateman, is in the Martin County jail, following a shooting at 2 p.m. Tuesday. A blast from a .12-gauge shotgun left a critical wound on the right side of the younger boy's face and head.

The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bateman, who live about eight miles west of Stanton. The parents were not at home at the time of the shooting.

Stanton Chief of Police Bob Smith said Bobby Gene Bateman called the telephone operator and asked for a doctor. An ambulance was dispatched and the boy was taken to the Midland hospital. Sheriff Dan Saunders said the youth's condition at 10 a.m. today was critical.

A charge of assault with intent to murder has been filed against 17-year-old Bobby Bateman, Saunders said. If the younger boy dies, the charge will be changed to murder. No bond had been set at noon today.

Smith, who took a statement from the boy, said an argument took place over a book of matches. Bobby Bateman said he could not remember loading the shotgun.

Four other Bateman children, Jack Jr., 15, Betty Gene, 14, Mary, 11, and J. C., 10, were at home but said they did not see the shooting.

The parents did not learn of the shooting until late Tuesday night.

Bodies Identified As Rights Pair

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Two of the three badly decomposed bodies discovered near Philadelphia, Miss., were identified today as missing civil rights workers Andy Goodman and Mickey Schwerner.

The third body was believed to be that of James Chaney, the Negro companion of Goodman and Schwerner. The three mysteriously vanished six weeks ago in Philadelphia, a small town in east-central Mississippi 80 miles northeast of here.

The FBI refused to confirm identification of the third corpse. Apparently the delay was caused only by the lack of sufficient scientific evidence on the identification of the Meridian Negro. The FBI had such data on the two white youths.

The corpses were found buried deep in a 20-foot-high levee under construction on a farm six miles southeast of Philadelphia late Tuesday.

Roy K. Moore, chief of the Jackson FBI office, had a terse "No comment" when asked about the news story.

Examination of the third body was continuing.

Announcement of the identification of Goodman and Schwerner was made in Washington by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The Greenwood, Miss., office of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee said it had been told by the Jackson FBI office that the third body had been identified as James Chaney, the Negro companion of Goodman and Schwerner.

There was no immediate confirmation of this from the FBI.

The three vanished June 21 after being freed from jail at Philadelphia where they had been arrested on a speeding charge.

They had been held in jail at Philadelphia nearly six hours after Chaney was arrested on a speeding charge.

The last person known to have seen them was Neshoba County deputy sheriff Cecil Price, who said he followed them a short distance after their release as they drove south toward Meridian.

The Meridian Star quoted an authoritative source as saying the bodies found in the dam were those of two white males and a Negro male. The source, according to the newspaper, said the bodies were found 20 feet from the top of the loose earth structure, which was being built late in June when Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney vanished.

The charred hulk of the station wagon used by the trio had been located 15 miles north of Philadelphia two days after they disappeared.

President Disability Move Given Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a proposed constitutional amendment to deal with presidential disability and a vacancy in the vice presidency.

Under the amendment, the office of vice president would be filled by nomination of a president and confirmation by a majority of both houses of Congress.

The amendment was developed by a judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.

The amendment states that the vice president "shall become president" in case of the death, resignation or removal of a president from office.

The amendment must be approved by two-thirds of the House and Senate, and three-fourths of the 50 states with seven years. Action appears unlikely at the current session of Congress.

The vice president would become "acting president" if the president declares in writing he is unable to discharge his duties, or if he, with support of a majority of the Cabinet, informs Congress that the president is unable to serve.

Upon recovery, the president would resume office by informing Congress in writing.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress passed and sent to President Johnson Tuesday a compromise defense appropriations bill of $46,752,051,000 — about $1.5 billion less than last year.

The bill provides $718.9 million less than President Johnson requested. The final figure is $22 million less than the Senate approved originally and about $7 million under the original House figure.

Farm Scene Bright

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's farm outlook for the immediate future is bright. Agriculture Minister Julian Rodriguez Adame says. He told newsmen this season's rain has been heavier than in previous years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy are expecting their ninth child in December, according to a friend of the family.

The Kennedys now have five boys and three girls. The youngest, Christopher George Kennedy, was born July 4, 1963.

Kennedy is 38 and his wife, the former Ethel Skakel of Greenwich, Conn., is 36. They were married in 1950.

It's Bolling, Two-To-One

Rep. Richard Bolling and Mrs. Bolling were in a happy mood when they were photographed Tuesday night at Kansas City, Mo., after it was learned that Bolling had defeated his challenger, Hunter Phillips, western judge of the Jackson County Court, in an election contest for the U.S. House of Representatives. Bolling, a Democrat, won the nomination for a ninth term by a two-to-one vote margin. In the November general election, Bolling will oppose Republican Robert Langworthy, a lawyer. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Hearnes Scores Missouri Upset In Governor Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missouri Democrats apparently gave Secretary of State Warren E. Hearnes their nomination for governor in an upset Tuesday and renominated Rep. Richard Bolling as three states held primaries.

Hearnes held to a margin of more than 30,000 votes over Lt. Gov. Hilary A. Bush early today, and his campaign staff claimed victory. Bush was backed by former President Harry S. Truman and retiring John M. Dalton.

If his margin holds up, Hearnes, 40, would face Republican Ethan Shepley in November in normally Democratic Missouri.

Bolling, Sen. Stuart Symington and all other incumbent congressmen won easily.

In Missouri's predominantly Republican neighbor, Kansas, the GOP gubernatorial primary held top billing. Rep. William H. Avery emerged with a margin of some 6,000 votes over the nearest of seven opponents.

Avery had resigned as a member of the powerful House Rules Committee to make the race. Nearly complete returns gave him 72,870 votes to 66,073 for McDill Boyd and 59,111 for State Sen. Paul R. Wunsch.

Avery's November opponent will be State Corporation Commissioner Harry G. Wiles who swamped five foes.

Bolling, a powerful Johnson Administration voice in the House Rules Committee, had been challenged by Judge Hunter Phillips.

Symington, seeking a third senate term, defeated two little-known challengers and faces Republican Jean Paul Bradshaw, one-time candidate for governor, in November.

In Idaho, Chief Justice E. T. Knudsen won a second six-year term on the State Supreme Court in the chief contest. Knudsen easily defeated former state Atty. Gen. Frank L. Benson.

Idaho has no senate seats at stake this year and Gov. Robert Smylie is midway through a four-year term.

Joe Mize Will Get Doctorate

Joe Mize, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Mize, Hilltop Road, has completed work for and will receive his Ph.D. in industrial engineering from Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind., Aug. 10.

He received a master's degree there in 1962. A 1953 graduate of Howard County Junior College, he also did undergraduate work at Texas Tech.

Following the awarding of the degree, he will assume the position of associate professor at Auburn University, Auburn, Ala.

Dykes Simmons Marries In Death Cell Ceremony

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Dykes Askev Simmons Jr., Fort Worth mechanic under death sentence for murder, has married a longtime friend in a death cell ceremony.

Simmons, 36, said he had known the bride, Mrs. Beatrice Bragg, 31, of Cleveland, Ohio, more than 20 years. She is the mother of two children.

Mothers of both attended the marriage ceremony and a permit was granted for Simmons and his wife to spend their honeymoon in a "specially appointed nuptial cell" within the prison.

Simmons was convicted of slaying two sisters and their brother Oct. 12, 1959, near here. One of the three victims identified Simmons as the slayer in a deathbed identification.

Simmons has appealed his case to Mexico's Supreme Court.

Victims in the triple slaying were Hilda Perez Villagomez, 22, who made the identification shortly before she died; Martha Perez Villagomez, 19, and Manuel Perez Villagomez, 17.

The death penalty is rarely used in Mexico, and Simmons said he felt encouraged about his case.

"You know the State Department in Washington has taken official notice of my case for the first time," Simmons told a newsman.

He said Mrs. Bragg's husband died two years ago. He said he met the woman while in Virginia during the time he was in the Army.

GOP May Revive Dying Prayer Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican platform may pump new life into a bitter controversy that was dying down in Congress — whether to amend the Constitution to permit prayer and Bible reading in public schools.

A total of 146 proposed constitutional amendments have been offered to offset Supreme Court decisions which said that required prayers and Bible reading in public schools conflicted with the First Amendment, and — some contend — implied that any form of prayer or Bible reading also would be objectionable.

After lengthy hearings this spring, however, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, reported that fervent support of such bills appeared to be slipping.

AGAINST CHANGES
 Celler said mail received by the committee, and congressmen in general, had reversed and then was running heavily against any changes in the First Amendment.

"There is not the slightest doubt now that Congress will never approve this amendment," he said. "The people have had a chance to learn what really is involved here and in the light of mature reflection and sober judgment they have made it clear they do not want the First Amendment tampered with."

Celler's comment was challenged by Rep. Frank J. Becker, a New York Republican who is a sponsor of the proposed amendment which has received the most serious consideration.

UNTIL PLATFORM
 Other developments seemed to bear out Celler's opinion until the Republican platform was announced July 14 in San Francisco.

It included support of: "A constitutional amendment permitting those individuals and groups who choose to do so to exercise their religion freely in public places, provided religious exercises are not prepared or prescribed by the state or political subdivision thereof and no person's participation therein is coerced, thus preserving the traditional separation of church and state."

This falls short of an all-out backing for the Becker amendment, but it may draw support from the same fundamentalist religious and conservative political groups that support the Becker amendment.

Becker's amendment is a compromise drafted from a number of other proposals. It would add to the First Amendment these words: "Nothing in this Constitution shall be deemed to prohibit the offering, reading from, or listening to prayers or Biblical Scriptures, if participation therein is on a voluntary basis, in any governmental or public school, institution or place."

STATE PRAYER
 It all began in June 1962, when the Supreme Court ruled that a state-prescribed prayer for use in New York State public schools was unconstitutional.

Two months after the decision, Justice Tom C. Clark, breaking custom by commenting on a specific decision, said this decision had been wrongly interpreted as broader than it actually was, and that this resulted in the heaviest volume of critical mail in years.

He stressed that it was limited to the simple question of whether a state would write a prayer and circulate it to state-employed teachers with instructions that their pupils recite it in unison each morning.

But a year after the first prayer decision, the high court in ruling on Pennsylvania, Maryland and Florida cases, declared that Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer, as required exercises in public schools, conflicted with the First Amendment.

Nine Clerics Begin Labor

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Nine clergymen, who chose jail rather than pay $500 fines for a 1961 sit-in demonstration, began stacking bricks and cutting grass Tuesday as city prisoners.

A guard said the three Negro clergymen were stacking bricks at the city warehouse and the six white clergymen were cutting grass at the police pistol range.

"These people are not being abused," said the guard. "They have to do the work, too. They are no better than our other prisoners."

One white clergyman, the Rev. Wayne Hartmire Jr., Culver City, Calif., who turned himself in at the jail today, told newsmen the prisoners would rather work outside than sit around the cells and do nothing.

Monday, five white and three Negro clergymen went to jail after choosing 60-day jail terms in lieu of paying the fines. They said they wanted to focus attention upon the civil rights movement.

They returned to Tallahassee after three years of appeals ran out.

Salinger Back To Capital Wearing Senator's Toga

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pierre Salinger comes back today to the capital where he served years as White House press secretary to try on a new toga as a Democratic senator from California.

Republicans were making some threatening gestures aimed at forcing him to stand aside while the Senate Rules Committee looks into the legality of his appointment by Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

But Salinger, scheduled to arrive in a chartered plane with Brown and more than 100 boosters, carried with him a certificate of qualification signed by the governor.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said there would be a last-minute decision whether to challenge the legality of that certificate. The grounds would be that Salinger was not eligible for appointment because he had not been a California elector for one year.

Republican George Murphy, who will be Salinger's opponent in a November battle for the seat of the late Democratic Sen. Clair Engle, protested by telegram that Salinger wasn't qualified for the appointment.

Brown said he had consulted with the state attorney general and "there is absolutely no question that this appointment is proper and valid." California state courts already have upheld Salinger's right to run for the Senate, although he was a resident of Virginia at the time he filed.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said in a separate interview that if the Republicans try to halt the appointment at the door, he will move that he be given the oath "without prejudice" while an investigation is made of any formal complaints that might be lodged.

This would accomplish what the Democrats want and the Republicans don't want. It would make Salinger an incumbent with full senatorial prerogatives in his general-election race with Murphy.

Since Salinger's addition to the roll would restore the 67-33 margin of the Democrats over Republicans, few had any illusions about the outcome of any challenge based on the technical provisions of California law.

The Senate is the final judge of the qualifications of its members. Once it decides that an individual is worthy of joining its select group, there are no practical means left of challenging the decision.

Connally Tells Federals No Racial Help Needed

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally told U.S. Commerce Department officials Tuesday he expects Texas to continue improving racial harmony without the need for outside help.

Connally met for less than an hour Tuesday with U.S. Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges; former Florida Gov. Leroy Collins, director of the Community Relations Service; and former Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington to discuss the community relations service provision in the Civil Rights Act.

saying "Texas had made excellent progress in human relations during the past several years," and he "expects the state to continue its progress without the need for outside help."

Connally said the three visitors "commended the state for this progress and joined in Gov. Connally's hope that local communities would continue to meet their own problems."

Last Rites Given Reeves At Carthage

CARTHAGE (AP)—This East Texas oil and cattle town of 5,000 solemnly prepared today to bury singer Jim Reeves, a hometown boy made good, in a two-acre memorial plot near here.

The site, purchased by the singer's widow, is east of town, off the Shreveport, La., highway and toward the DeBerry community where Reeves grew up.

Reeves, 39, and his pianist-manager, Dean Manuel, 30, were killed Friday when their small plane crashed in a thunderstorm near Nashville, Tenn., where the singer lived.

Funeral services were held for the pair in Nashville Tuesday.

Dozens of country music stars attended the service, including singers Eddy Arnold, Red Foley, Skeeter Davis, Ferlin Husky, guitarist Chet Atkins and pianist Floyd Cramer.

The Texas service for Reeves was set for 3 p.m. today.

The singer's body arrived here last night and hundreds of young people, farmers, ranchers and dignitaries walked past the closed copper-colored coffin.

Among them was Carthage School Superintendent O. M. Martin, who was superintendent when Reeves graduated from Carthage High School in 1942.

"He was one of the finest young men you ever knew—quiet and likeable," Martin recalled.

Reeves sang to the accompaniment of his guitar at school assemblies, Martin said, but he was better known as an outstanding pitcher who helped Carthage to the Texas state high school baseball finals.

An injury prevented him from fulfilling a professional baseball career with the St. Louis Cardinals, and he turned to radio as an announcer and later a professional singer.

He shot to fame with a million seller record about "Mexican Joe," a penniless but happy-go-lucky lover. It was a bouncy little hillbilly song, but Reeves later developed his style for the more sophisticated pop field.

He shared ownership of Henderson Radio Station KGRI.

Revenue Increase

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Treasury has reported the fifth consecutive monthly increase in revenue from sales of cigarette tax stamps. July sales of cigarette tax stamps totaled $5.42 million, up $317,942 over June and $155,843 over July, 1963. July liquor stamp sales totaled $1.46 million, up $242,094 over July, 1963.

District Court Has 1,182 Suits On File

There were 1,182 law suits of all kinds on file in 118th District Court as July ended, Fern Cox, district court clerk, reported today. This was 11 more than were on file June 30. Seventy new cases of all kinds were filed during the month while the court was disposing of only 59. Twenty-five of the new cases filed were divorce petitions to be added to the 244 which were on file when the month opened. Fifteen divorce petitions were granted and three divorce suits dismissed in July to leave the total on file at 250—which was an increase of six for the month. Ten annuities were on file July 1 and the same number when the month ended. No new cases were filed and none of the pending cases were disposed of. There were 383 tax suits on file when July opened and 15 new cases were filed during the month. None was disposed of.

so the month ended with 398 such suits pending. All other types of civil suits shown as of Aug. 1 totalled 451—which exactly matched the number on hand when July opened. There were 30 new suits filed in the month and the court disposed of 30 to leave the score tied. Twenty-six of these cases were handled by the court and four were dismissed. Criminal cases showed a sharp decrease. There were 53 indictments pending when July opened and only 43 on hand when the month ended. Ten cases had been handled by the court during the month. No jury cases were tried in the court in July. There were seven dismissals entered for the month.

Wheat Support Less For '65

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newly announced wheat stabilization program for 1965 offers most growers a somewhat smaller return for their crop than does this year's program. While identical in general operations, the two programs differ somewhat in financial details. The difference between the two can best be shown by how they would affect a farmer. A farmer who had a 90-acre wheat allotment in 1964 and planted it all and who had a normal yield of 25 bushels an acre would produce 2,250 bushels. He is assured of a base price support of $1.30 a bushel, or a total of $2,925. He would get domestic marketing certificates worth 70 cents a bushel on 45 per cent of his normal production. Money to pay these certificates is raised by assessments on mills using wheat. The total value of these certificates would be $708.75 (70 cents times 1,025 bushels). In addition, he would get export marketing certificates worth 25 cents a bushel of 45 per cent of his normal production. This would be $253.12 (30 cents times 1,012.5 bushels). The 1964 program provided for land diversion payments on the amount of the reduction in his acreage allotment from 1963. In the latter year, such a farmer's allotment would have been 101 acres. The diversion payment rate averaged about $6 an acre. For this farmer, his diversion payment would have been about $606 on the 11 acres diverted from production. TOTAL RETURN The total return on his crop would be $3,952.87. This farmer's allotment in 1965 will still be 90 acres. Assuming the same acre yield and total production of 2,250 bushels, his crop would have a value of $2,812.50 compared with $2,925 in 1964, taking into account the 5-cent-a-bushel reduction in the support rate.

Cotton Ginners Will Meet Here

More than 75 members of District 23, Texas Cotton Ginners Association, will be in Big Spring Thursday for an all day conference on ginning problems and cotton harvesting. Lester Baize, 1000 E. 6th, who is District 23 president, said that ginners from Howard, Martin, Midland, Glasscock, Dawson, Scurry and Mitchell counties will be at the meeting. All sessions are to be at the Coeden Country Club. The meeting will be called to order at 11 a.m. It's program will feature the latest information on the use of defoliants and dessicants, insect control and other production practices. Information will also be provided on better ginning, safety, cotton research and cotton promotion. One of the featured speakers will be Edward H. Bush, executive vice president of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association. He is from Dallas and will speak on the rules, regulations and changes in laws which affect ginners and ginning. LaVerne Weaver, secretary-treasurer of West Texas Cotton Ginners Association, is also to attend. Fred Elliott, with the Texas Extension Service, will discuss the use of chemicals in the production of cotton, dessicants, defoliants, and weed control chemicals. Labor saving devices for gins is the subject assigned to Beverly Reeves of the extension service staff. Carl Cox, Dallas, will report on research developments that affect cotton markets. He is chairman of the Texas Cotton Research Program. Also to be present will be a representative of the National Cotton Council, reporting on the Cotton Producers Institute. Luncheon will be served at the club. Baize estimated the attendance at about 75. He said election of new officers will be one feature of the meeting.

New Pediatrician At Base Hospital

Capt. Francis N. Medici was recently assigned to the hospital at Webb AFB as the pediatrician. He came on active duty from a pediatric residency at New York Hospital. His home is New York City, and he attended Archbishop Stepinac High School, Manhattan College in New York, and the State University of New York, Downtown Medical Center. He is married to the former Madelyn Robert of Nyack, N.Y. They have two children: Cynthia J. and Frank I. The Medicis make their home at 1712 Purdue.

Halfway House Story Told

Rotarians heard talks on the operation of the Halfway House in Big Spring at Tuesday's meeting. Zell Smith, August program chairman, introduced Dr. Preston Harrison of the Big Spring State Hospital, who said the Halfway House is a part of the operation of the hospital toward rehabilitating patients who have been mentally ill. "The rehabilitation means returning them to society and family in a physical and mental condition normal to those earning a living and enjoying family ties," he said. Dr. Harrison introduced Bob Mabry, director of rehabilitation, who said the Halfway House was the only such facility in the United States supported by the community, and that it had been successful. He said the separation of patients, no longer needing the direct help of the hospital, from the institution was a great aid in restoration of confidence and initiative. Bob Von Rosenberg, counselor, said patients in the hospital did not need to make decisions. They followed rules. When they go to Halfway House, they make their own rules. In group decisions, the hospital staff reviews the rules and decisions. He then introduced a patient who told Rotarians of the advantages of the house in restoring confidence and self-reliance, and in helping patients to meet and mix with normal society again. President Jerry Worthy announced a one-day Rotary institute set for some time in September. He said the institute would be held in Big Spring, for the south half of the Rotary district, and that around 125 would attend, with the district governor arranging the program.

Gonzalez Tells House Of Lucrative Offers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, who told the House on Monday that a Texas banker had offered to give him $14,000 worth of stock, disclosed today that a Texas businessman had offered him stock worth $13,000.

Gonzalez, a Texas Democrat, said he turned down both offers as potential conflicts of interest. He is a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

He declined to name either of the men.

On Monday, Gonzalez said in a House speech that a banker in his hometown of San Antonio offered to put him on the board of directors of a new bank and give him $14,000 worth of stock in it.

Today, he told a newsman that a Texas businessman had approached him with an offer of $13,000 worth of stock in a company he controlled.

Gonzalez told of the offer in a lengthy interview in his office, as an illustration of his belief that some businessmen "often cannot tell the difference between the private and the public sectors."

"I am sure this man had the best intentions in the world," he said. The businessman was a self-made millionaire, the congressman said, with half a dozen diversified interests, and he felt like doing something for Gonzalez.

"He said he would deposit the stock in a California bank. I asked him, if there is nothing wrong with this, why not do it openly in San Antonio and shout it from the housetops? He had no answer."

"Then he said, 'Well, why don't I buy a house in Washington, and you can use it. I visit Washington a lot.'"

"I asked him how that would look if some enemy of his or mine brought it out. He said he had done the same thing for a business associate. I said that's fine, but he's private and I'm a public, elective official and there's a great difference."

"He said, 'I'm sure glad I'm not a congressman.'"

Gonzalez said the test he always applied to such matters was whether the offer would be made if he were not a member of the House of Representatives and its banking committee.

Drillers Churn To Other Miners

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (AP) — A giant drill continued to bite into Mt. Rivel today in an effort to reach five miners still buried under 270 feet of earth, but there was little hope of finding more than two alive.

Wary rescuers brought up nine other miners Tuesday on the eighth day of their imprisonment in the limestone mine in the Jura Mountains. All appeared in relatively good condition.

Fears for the five missing miners cast the only shadow over what was otherwise a festive occasion in Champagnole, a village near the Swiss border.

Mine officials believe three of the five died instantly when hundreds of tons of rock filled most of a huge underground chamber in a cave-in July 27. But Champagnole's Mayor Andre Socle said faint tappings heard until a few days ago was sufficient reason for a gigantic new effort.

Just as rescuers were about to begin drilling an escape shaft for the trapped nine last Thursday night they picked up what sounded like the desperate tapping in an isolated pocket about 100 feet away.

It was decided a delay in freeing the nine to go after the two unknown men would be a greater risk. Two days later, however, another drill finally went into action above the spot where the tapping was heard.

As the drill bored down, occasional tapping was still heard. But the digging was halted when the drill came near some dynamite charges placed just prior to the cave-in.

On Monday, two new attempts were started to reach the men. However, the tapping had ceased and officials said it would take several days before the pocket could be reached.

The nine rescued men were hauled to the surface one at a time in a special aluminum capsule. Some smiled or waved weakly to the crowd before they were taken to a hospital for examinations and reunions with their families.

All asked for steak for their first meal. They got baths and the town barber shaved them. Officials said none seemed to have suffered any lasting ill effects.

Lake Claims Five Negroes

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Five Negroes, all related, drowned in Lake Winnabow Tuesday night when they waded into deceptively deep water.

The victims: Mrs. Henry Smith, 33, and her son, Dwight, 10, of Winnabow; two nieces, Glenda Wright, 7, and Lena Mae Wright, 11; and a nephew, Darrell Lynn Wright, 4, all of Pittsburg, Tex.

Henry Smith, 65, the woman's husband and the only swimmer in the group, said the five were wading in what they thought was shallow water.

They sank, and Smith attempted to reach them. He was able to reach only his wife. She died after being brought ashore.

Nearby fishermen recovered the bodies of the children in about 15 feet of water 20 yards off shore.

PATRICIA LAMB KEEPS CAFES ON TOES
Coed is New York Thruway inspector during summer

Roving Inspector Checks Eateries

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—There are 20 restaurants along the New York State Thruway and Patricia Ann (Trish) Lamb figures that she has visited each of them at least 10 times since June 11.

It's not that the 20-year-old Cornell University coed is so fond of eating. The visits are required by her unique summer-time job.

Trish is spending her summer as a $100-a-week roving restaurant inspector for the Thruway Authority. And she is the only woman on the agency's 12-member inspection staff.

Her duties include scrutinizing the coffee shops, dining rooms, cafeterias, kitchens, food, service, garbage buildings, women's rest rooms, parking lots and landscaping of the franchised service areas along the 559-mile toll road system.

The tools of her trade are a keen eye and a pad of inspection forms, on which she checks 17 items as satisfactory or unsatisfactory. She turns in the reports to Thruway headquarters each week.

Trish inspects the quality and quantity of the food, as well as the conditions under which it is prepared and served. This requires some taste tests, of course.

But the brunette, who stands six feet, also is keeping a close watch on her figure.

"I haven't gained an ounce," she said proudly.

But she won't reveal her weight.

Trish goes on the road for five days at a time, stopping each night at motels near the Thruway. She figures she has clocked nearly 10,000 miles in her official Thruway car since starting work six weeks ago.

Trish spends anywhere from 10 minutes for a spot check to 4 hours for a full-dress inspection. Her visits usually are made known in advance and she tries to arrange them for peak business hours to see whether service-area employees do a good job when hurried.

Trish was selected for the job, partly because she is a woman and because of her special background.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lamb, operated a restaurant for several years at Bolton Landing, on Lake George, and she had first-hand experience as a bus girl, waitress, hostess and assistant manager. At Cornell, where she will be a senior in the fall, she is studying in the school of hotel administration.

Cabbies Demand Police Protection

MEXICO CITY (AP)—About 200 taxi drivers staged an hour-long strike Tuesday in protest of what they termed lack of police action to protect them from thugs.

The drivers lined up their cars on the city's principal avenue, the Paseo de la Reforma, shortly after 1 a.m. and refused to provide service. Police stood by but made no attempt to force them to move.

The drivers complained that assaults have increased lately and that they cannot count on police protection.

Almost at the same time the strike was being staged, 50 drivers of a company which operates radio-controlled cars blocked streets in an outlying neighborhood and captured three men they accused of having assaulted a driver.

West bided his time during the auction, and—tho his partner's jump overall of two hearts did not indicate any special defensive strength—when North and South finally bid themselves into a game in spades. West felt that his opponents had overextended themselves, and he registered his opinion in the form of a vigorous double.

Had he chosen to open the king of clubs his judgment would have been quickly vindicated; however, his perfectly natural lead of partner's bid suit—heart—presented declarer with an opportunity on which the latter alertly capitalized.

South led the queen of spades at trick two in order to test the suit. When East followed with the six, declarer mentally consigned the remaining spades to West on the basis of his double which meant that the latter had a certain trump trick. Since South had a diamond to lose and apparently two clubs as well, the outlook was anything but bright.

Presently, declarer realized that he might be able to discard one of dummy's clubs on his fourth diamond provided that West had equal length in that suit. At trick three he led the king of diamonds and West, perhaps somewhat impulsively, played the ace in order to make a belated shift to the king of clubs. He was permitted to hold the trick, but dummy's ace was played on the continuation.

South proceeded to run the diamonds now and West helplessly followed as North's last club was discarded on the fourth diamond. A club was ruffed in dummy and declarer cheerfully conceded a spade to the opposition for their third and last trick.

West had it in his power to thwart the declarer, even after he failed to open a club originally; however, the winning defense is not easy to see even with all hands exposed. West must duck two rounds of diamonds and win the third in order to break his opponent's line of communications in that suit. Next he must lead a low club—not the king—in order to force an entry into his partner's hand. No matter how South twists and squirms, he can no longer retain adequate control over the proceedings and must eventually go down to defeat.

Here's the way it went: The first-place New York Yankees held a 1-0 lead on Mickey Mantle's homer and were cruising behind ace left-hander Whitey Ford when surfered Tony Kubek suddenly committed two errors in two innings and helped Kansas City to a 5-1 victory...

The second-place Baltimore Orioles were locked in a scoreless battle with Los Angeles until the fourth inning when Norm Siebern dropped a two-out fop and the Angels roused across five runs and went on to a 3-0 triumph...

The third-place Chicago White Sox were leading Detroit 3-0 and left-hander Gary Peters had allowed only a bunt single through seven innings when he came apart, was slammed for four runs and a 4-3 defeat by the Tigers...

The frantic fumbling left the Yankees one percentage point ahead of the Orioles with the White Sox a full game back...

Elsewhere, Harmon Killebrew stroked three singles and his 37th homer, leading a five-homer barrage that carried Minnesota to a 12-4 walloping of Boston and Steve Ridzik preserved Washington's 4-2 victory over Cleveland with 7 1/2 innings of two-hit relief pitching...

Ford, who had missed two turns on the mound because of a hip injury, got himself into a jam in the sixth when he issued walks to Ed Charles and Jim Gentile. Kubek helped him stay in it...

When Doc Edwards doubled, scoring Charles, Kubek let Tony Tresh's throw from the outfield get by him and Gentile also scored, bringing in the lead run. In the seventh, Kubek let Wayne Causey get to second base by throwing wild on his grounder and Charles doubled Causey home...

Ford, losing his fourth against 12 victories, pitched a strong game but his control was off. He gave up only four hits, but walked six...

Dave Vineyard started for the Orioles and ran into difficulty in the fourth when the Angels loaded the bases with two out on two walks and a double by Willie Smith. Pitcher Don Lee then lofted a foul pop that Siebern dropped...

Clay Backers Are Intent On 2nd Go With Liston

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The backers of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay intend to have him take on Sonny Liston despite the New York State Athletic Commission's opposition and call for reprisal if the bout is held...

Earlier Tuesday, the New York Commission stated its opposition to the match and urged that serious sanctions be imposed on any state agency approving the fight...

As for the New York action, Davidson said, "it's really nothing new since Liston never has

Improving Administration

Congressional approval of substantial salary increases for top-echelon executives is only part of what is needed to ease personnel problems and improve administrative management in the federal government. That is the conclusion of the independent business-financed Committee for Economic Development. The CED report, "Improving Executive Management in the Federal Government," commands attention. The study was done by a staff of private management and public administration experts, supervised by a committee of 35 businessmen and educators—most with high-level governmental experience—headed by Marion B. Folsom, who was secretary of health, education and welfare under the Eisenhower administration.

In addition to even higher salary scales than those Congress is approving this session, the CED recommends establishing an "Office of Executive Personnel" to give the President more supervision over the recruiting, training, assignment and performance of administrators just under the political-appointee level. It would create a special corps of division-level executives who could be shifted from agency to agency as needed and who would be paid more than the top Civil Service grade rate. Mainly, the recommendations propose to attract and hold better talent, and make better use of it, at the "middle-management" level. This is the some 8,600 executives and professional specialists who direct the daily operations of federal departments and agencies. Ever since the Hoover Commission reports of 1949 and 1955, the need to strengthen this management level has been widely recognized.

Science Fiction Tame Stuff

Writers of science fiction, in trying to portray convincingly what interplanetary life and travel will be like around the 30th Century, have trouble these days keeping much ahead of their own times.

Just the other day, for instance, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that an ion rocket engine had been successfully test-flown from Wallops Island, Va. This is the engine, powered by positively charged electrified particles of gas, which space scientists confidently expect will drive future ships on their journeys to distant stars or planets at speeds of 100,000 miles an hour or more.

The ion spaceship is old hat nowadays to the science fiction fans, who've been reading about it for several years, but fact quickly catches up. It was not fiction but speculation based on sound theory that produced, in 1921, a popular science article in one of the old Sunday supplements that was headlined: "Power Enough in a Cup of Water to Drive an Ocean Liner Around the World." The proposition, of course, was based on the then only dreamed-of possibility that the energy within the atoms contained in the "cup of water" might one day be released and harnessed.

The nuclear-powered vessel Savannah recently tied up at the Hoboken, N. J., pier after a 10,000-mile transatlantic voyage. The skipper thereupon announced that the trip, which would have required about two million pounds of conventional fuel, was made on only two pounds of the Savannah's 730-pound charge of uranium oxide. Ionic fuel is, of course, ever so much more potent than uranium oxide.

Get ready, Alpha Centauri. Here we come.

It Could Be Mansfield

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is perhaps one of the most adroit politicians ever to sit in the White House, but he took quite a gamble last week in the way he ruled out Attorney General Kennedy as his running mate for the forthcoming campaign. The President has had Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota in mind right along for the vice presidential nomination, but he may wind up selecting Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, after all, because of the way the backfire started by supporters of Bobby Kennedy may develop in relation to the religious issue.

IN THE first place, it isn't good political strategy normally for man who is sure of the presidential nomination to announce three weeks before a national convention just who he will not recommend for the vice presidential nomination. There usually is given an appearance, at least, of letting the delegates do their own choosing at the convention itself.

A peculiar set of circumstances, however, had arisen. Those politicians who wished to see Attorney General Kennedy nominated for the vice presidency were getting very active in organizing a movement for him. But to make a statement singling him out might have seemed politically harmful. For this reason, Mr. Johnson evidently decided it was better to eliminate at one fell swoop all the members of his Cabinet along with Messrs. Sargent Shriver and Adlai Stevenson, who sit in at Cabinet meetings.

THIS MANEUVER, however hasn't disposed of one political issue involved—namely, that the Republicans have already nominated a Roman Catholic for vice president. If the President, of course, had chosen the Attorney General—who is a Roman Catholic—this factor in the campaign would have been immediately equalized or removed.

While Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, another Catholic, has been mentioned for the vice presidential nomination, it's hard to see how the President could gracefully pass over Senator Humphrey and pick his state's junior senator just because of the religious question.

SO IT LOOKS as if Mr. Johnson has purposely planned to use the next three weeks to weigh carefully the situation that develops. If the "backlash" from the Kennedy supporters appears sizeable, Mr. Johnson will forego selection of Senator Humphrey. The man then named would be Senator Mansfield, majority leader of the Senate, who happens to be a Roman Catholic.

Mr. Mansfield is a tactful man and an intelligent one, who has won the respect of senators from all states. He fits the specifications for the vice presidential nomination which Mr. Johnson himself prescribed as follows:

"I THINK he should be a man that is well received in all the states of the Union among all of our people. I would like to see a man that is experienced in foreign relations and domestic affairs. I would like for him to be a man of the people who felt a compassionate concern for their welfare and who enjoyed public service and was dedicated to it."

IT DOES SEEM that Senator Mansfield—the son of Irish immigrants, who has worked his way to the top—is the kind of man who not only is dedicated to public service but has the background which assures a "compassionate concern" for the welfare of the American people. Billy Graham

Does a true Christian worry about little things? And if they do, do you consider this worrying a sin? S.P.

Worry is so useless and never accomplishes anything except frayed nerves, a wrinkled face, and a dwarfed spirit. Jesus plainly said to all His followers: "Let not your heart be troubled." The word "let" indicates that we have some control over our worrying. Worry and anxiety are actually states of mind, and are not necessarily created by valid causes. I know some people who have every cause to worry but don't, and others who have no cause for worry, but they worry anyway.

Life is the business of growing—growing physically, mentally, and spiritually. Worry is a deterrent to growth. Jesus hinted that it is when He said: "Which of you by taking thought can add to his stature one cubit?" One can become so self-centered that over-concern about himself will actually cause him to be dwarfed. We are to be like the lilies of the field which never worry about their growth, and just lift their faces up to the sun and the rain and flourish. If we would learn to lift our faces to God in prayer, praise and adoration, we would grow beautifully also. Stop worrying and begin growing and living.

Reaction To Attack Came From Careful Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crisis has become a way of life in the Pentagon.

The Red patrol boat attack on American destroyers in international waters off the North Viet Nam coast is only the latest in a series of alarms that have been sounding with growing frequency in almost two decades of cold war tension.

With the exception of Korea, the incidents have been Communist testing of free world determination. In one, the Cuban missile showdown, nations hovered on the brink of atomic war.

ALWAYS THERE was the chance that an incident and its reactions could flare into major war. And this is true of the naval clashes between the United States naval vessels and the patrol boats of North Viet Nam. Red China, powerful ally of the Vietnamese Communists, is close — and watchful.

The Pentagon has files packed with plans for coping with contingencies. The plans have existed and been constantly revised for years. They cover a broad spectrum of probable, possible or remotely conceivable emergencies.

Thus, it may be said that when the Defense Department ordered the close-in patrol by surface ships in the Gulf of Tonkin off the Red Vietnamese coast, it considered and put into a contingency plan things that might evolve from the patrol.

THE PLANNERS certainly were aware the destroyer patrols might draw Red reaction. They assessed the capabilities of the North Vietnamese to react, alone or in concert with their big neighbor to the north. When the destroyer patrols were started more than a year ago, a carrier was kept steaming near the mouth of the gulf, ready to send her planes to help the destroyers if they encountered shooting trouble.

When the Tonkin Gulf situation moved from a contingency situation into a sea battle, the plan went into operation. A quick radio message from the destroyer brought fighter plane help from a carrier.

IN TUESDAY'S engagement planes were in the area above the destroyers Maddox and Turner Joy, on President Johnson's orders, when PT boats darted in through a storm and a three-hour battle opened.

In the opening incident Sunday, the Maddox radioed its call for air help from the carrier without coding it because of the extreme urgency of the situation. This is accepted procedure in such critical moments.

Both military and civilian chiefs in Washington were informed of the attack almost before the echoes of gunfire had died away.

This is made possible under the elaborate worldwide communications system, maintained as part of the over-all command and control setup. With this system, all interested officials, from the President on down, can communicate with commanders in the field anywhere — instantly.

A "COMMAND and control" system has existed since the beginning of World War II. But with improvements in equipment and the deadly danger growing out of missile warfare perfection, it has been expanded and improved.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara uses the communications network to make his own personal, surprise tests to see if everything is working.

The system also requires that the whereabouts of each military official in the upper and operating echelons be known constantly, including the President.

Memories Multiply Joy

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory has a strange arithmetic.

It multiplies joy but rarely adds to grief; it divides the future and past without subtracting anything from the present.

Memory gives a thousand lives to a moment of ecstasy or pleasure. You can live it over and over again, as often as you want.

But memory usually doesn't do that with sorrow. It helps soften the edges of sadness or disappointment. It may even enable us to chuckle later at an event or feeling that threatened to burst our heart at the time of happening.

YOU HAVE quite a treasury of recollections if you can look back and remember when: It took a wife with long hair an hour to get ready to go to a party. Now it takes a wife with short hair an hour and a half.

Opportunity was the key word in America — not security. All most Americans wanted was a chance to show what they could do.

The envy of the neighborhood was the kid whose soldier uncle brought home a spiked German helmet from World War I.

A dude was a fellow who wore high-button shoes.

It was a mark of affluence to own a double-breasted suit.

THE NICKEL glass of beer had become a casualty of inflation, but in every city in the land you could get a steaming cup of coffee for five cents.

Reformers argued that business offices were not fit places for women, and that girls who worked in them were found to have their morals ruined.

In saloons, a man had to be careful how he stood with his foot on the bar, because if it slipped he might get it stuck in a cuspidor.

You didn't amount to much at the local barber shop unless they kept your own shaving mug there, bearing your name in gold letters.

THERE WERE still politicians running for office who could boast that they had been born in a log cabin. As a matter of fact, no man born in a hospital has yet been elected U.S. president.

You could enjoy the music of "Old Black Joe," without feeling you were a racial bigot.

You could get a good white shirt on sale for a dollar. A blue shirt cost less.

When dad had something to say, everybody else in the family shut up and listened.

Those were the days: Remember?

Reduced Flow Of Blood To Brain Can Be Helped

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My wife has had trouble with closing of the veins in the neck and the near loss of sight of one eye, which the doctor says is caused by a reduced flow of blood to the brain. He tells us that an operation may correct this condition and may prevent a possible stroke.—B. L.

Yes, except that the trouble is in the arteries rather than in the veins. (Arteries carry blood; veins return blood to the heart and lungs.)

Hardening, narrowing and partial obstruction of either of the carotid arteries reduces the flow of blood to the brain. Reduction of the blood supply can, indeed, interfere with the operation of the brain or some parts of it. That explains the defective vision.

If the interference with blood flow is acute, then the result is a stroke, or severe damage to some part of the brain.

A rapid method of detecting this problem is sometimes used: pressing on the artery on one side of the neck, and then on the other. If one side is largely shut off and the other open, pressing on the clogged one has little effect. But pressing on the good one, and thus shutting it off, can cause unconsciousness, since the total flow is thus being halted. (Naturally the pressure is stopped at once.)

This gives an approximate idea of the trouble and the location. But then precise diagnosis is accomplished with an arteriogram. This involves injecting a dye into the artery which will show on an X-ray plate. Thus you get a picture of precisely where and how much the artery is obstructed.

If this point is in the neck, and thus accessible for surgery, an operation can be very effective. But if the narrowed place is farther up, it may not be accessible.

Depending on the extent and exact location of the defect, correction may be accomplished either by opening the artery and removing obstructing material, or by creating a by-pass so blood can flow freely around it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have an exercise cycle (just like a bicycle except no rear wheel, and an adjustment to make pumping harder or easier.) I wonder if riding this benefits the body as much as a regular bicycle?

I am 38 but have been deaf for years (nerve deafness) which makes it risky for me to do any bicycling on the street.

How much (or how many miles—there's a meter on the cycle) should I do daily in order to benefit?—J. H.

The exercise is just as good with your cycle. The principal disadvantages, really, are that the scenery lacks variety, and coasting down hill. On the other hand, you can do your riding regardless of weather or time of year.

Fifteen minutes a day of good brisk pumping will keep your muscles toned up; make it longer (or more miles on the meter) if you feel like it.

Around The Rim

Brother You Ain't Eatin' Right

Quite a number of years ago, a peppery little man moved into town, appeared at several service clubs, and departed somewhat richer through the sale of a little booklet he happened to have with him.

HE WAS what is known as a food faddist, but in some respects he was as slick as a con man. He was so adept at his game, that eventually more than one of the international service club organizations sent out a warning about him. When he got publicized, he quietly disappeared—or perhaps retired is a better word.

A CLEVER recital of symptoms which all of us have one time or another — that listless feeling, sluggishness along the alimentary canal, or even baldness and weak legs, etc.—captured attention of his listeners. Then he began to lay it on our modern foods and way of preparing them. He was especially mad at vinegar. As I recall, and shunned it as though it were a cyanide cocktail. Bread-bakery bread, that is—came in for ridicule, and a favorite stunt was to wad a slice into hard dough and note triumphantly: "This is what you've been putting into your stomach." After listing some marvelous recoveries (he had personally crawled off his death bed and followed the food trail to robust health), he let it be known he happened to have a little booklet which gave tips on how to really live by eating right. He had to fight the brethren off while he took their dollar bills.

A FEW YEARS back, we ran a series of articles which was somewhat in the same vein, except that this author was strong on vitamins. He smote food processors hip and thigh for wringing vitamins out of prepared foods, and he, too, offered a booklet of how to eat and live forever. Hundreds wrote for this booklet, and hundreds are still on the sucker list for his powdered alfalfa hay.

The Texas Health Bulletin (Texas State Department of Health) takes note of this preoccupation, declaring that "false ideas about food are circulated by food faddists and by fringe promoters of vitamin and mineral products. Such products are sometimes offered as cure-alls for serious disease conditions."

MANY OF THE notions are harmless, such notions as fish and celery being brain foods, that oysters increase fertility, that carrots help you see in the dark. But others, like garlic pills curing high blood pressure and grapes curing ulcers and cancer can be dangerous.

The Bulletin says that the idea that all diseases are caused by chemical imbalance in the body, which in turn is due to faulty diet, is a myth. So is the thesis that impoverished soils produce nutritionally inferior foods, or that chemical fertilizers "poison" the soil and the crops grown on it.

THE THEORY that overprocessing destroys food value is greatly exaggerated. In fact, modern methods—particularly in frozen foods—are bringing higher quality foods to your table. The normal American diet now includes such a variety of foods that most persons can hardly fail to have an ample supply of the essential food constituents. (Consider that our people are growing taller and bigger.) If, however, you feel that your lost sparkle is due to lack of some food element, invest in a visit to your doctor rather than in a copy of some food faddist's latest tome.

Tree Houses Have Changed, Too

WASHINGTON — Rockahominy County, which lies vaguely west of Washington in Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains, is a real enough county (misnamed here to confuse the real estate speculators), but more than that it is a state of mind.

It is a state of mind that the nation's capital would do well to adopt, because the concerns in Rockahominy County make a lot more sense than most of what frets Kooksville-on-the-Potomac. Like, who else do you know who is architecting a tree house while civilization comes clattering down over our ruddy ears?

YOU MAY BE one of the witless multitude who believed that all that a chap needs to knock out a tree house is a few bits of odd two-by-fours, some nails and an hour to spare. I was one myself. Tree-housewise I was a 97 I.Q. weakling, but it gives me pleasure to report that Pokey has lifted the scales from my eyes.

In any event, Pokey, age 16, welcomed the news that the clan had come charging helibent for bankruptcy by acquiring a farm in the mountains. A farm spelled a tree house, and Pokey was quick to extract a promise that one would be built forthwith.

SHE IMMEDIATELY vanished for several days, I suspect to take a cram course in pre-stressed concrete construction, and the next time the subject of her arboreal retreat came up we happened to be standing in the shade of a fine old sugar maple tree on the edge of our meadow.

"Splendid tree for a tree house," what?" we said. "Lovely view of the stream and all."

She glanced at it critically. "Come on, Pa," she cried impatiently. "It isn't nearly big enough. No room for the stairs." With the last word she described an elaborate spiral in the air with a forefinger.

"STAIRS?" I asked, making a similar gesture. "Like spiral?"

"Sure. I don't want a dumb old tree house with a ladder or anything like that."

"No, of course not. Er, what other specifications have you drawn up? I mean, there'll be a deck and all, but about windows and, er, all?"

"Well, she replied, "I want lots of windas, but first you'll have to 'tack the balcony."

"BALCONY. Lambchop? I'm not sure there will be room to 'tack a balcony."

"That's why we need a big tree. The stairs (again the spiral in the air) and a trapdoor with a lock so the boys can't get in, and a balcony, and then the inside. With a stove."

"And windas?"

"Sure, lots of windas."

I HAVE GIVEN a great many sleepless hours to this project since that interview. No matter how I approach the problem I always end up standing on a dais in a large loft filled with, say, two score drafting tables with as many earnest young architects hunched over them.

"Now see here," I say. "Spiral stairs, 'tacked balcony, boy-proof trapdoor, lots of windas, and a STOVE!"

Changes In The South

WASHINGTON — It would be fatuous to pretend that Governor George Wallace, fiery petrel for racial purity, did not get segregationist pressures to withdraw from the presidential contest—but that's a long way from being the whole story.

THE GOVERNOR'S withdrawal, as I had opportunity to learn at the Republican Convention, was also motivated by color-blind economics. At a breakfast engagement in San Francisco, far from the maddening Convention crowd, two businessmen and this reporter discussed the possibility of Wallace's withdrawal, presuming Barry Goldwater should win the nomination. Discussion? Possibility? No, it was the statement of a sure thing. Nothing was more inevitable than that the industrial South would prefer a conservative Republican to a conservative Democrat. No intelligent and forward-looking Southern leader, as George Wallace clearly is, would want his State and region to miss the economic uplift that a Goldwater victory would bring.

EARLY LAST YEAR the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta published a report on two epochal changes in the Southeastern States:

1. Referring to the Sixth Federal District, which embraces Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee, the report said: "Thus for the first time since the American frontier moved west of the Chattahoochee River (in Georgia) the District States increased their population at a greater rate than that of the nation."

AND WHY did this population increase take place? Because, surmises this Federal Reserve study, "the economic opportunities were strong enough to attract people from other regions." During the Eisenhower era of the 1950's, these six Deep South States underwent changes not often recorded in the general press. The ratio of high school attendance went up, until, by 1960, it was 87 per cent of the national average.

2. SOMETHING else happened to the South late in the summer of 1952 when Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson were tussling for the presidency. The Federal Reserve report, usually pretty pedantic, almost takes wings in describing it:

"We don't know exactly what that event was. Perhaps a young girl, recently graduated from a rural high school, stepped off a bus and started her search for a job in the city. A newly assigned branch manager of a New York firm may have moved his family into a comfortable suburb. Maybe a baby was born in a city hospital. We do know that the event was far more important than it seemed at the time, for it signaled the end of the South's traditional role as a predominantly rural area. Since that date, more Southerners have lived in urban areas... than in the country."

IN FINE, the Southern people, irrespective of race, have significantly gained in numbers, not because of a biological bing, but because of job opportunities. And the Southern people have left the farms in considerable numbers to take the skilled, well-paid work in industry.

Most of these changes took place under the business-minded Eisenhower regime. When Southern leaders now look favorably upon Goldwater, they're doing what comes naturally—and for economic reasons.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Possibly more than half of the women I know who are employed away from their homes during the year spend at least half of the allotted two weeks vacation at home. It never ceases to amaze me how much is accomplished by them during the short seven days they spend in doing what they don't have time to do while they are working.

Some redecorate their homes. This could mean doing the kitchen, a bedroom or a small project right on to putting a new face on the whole house interior. Others may have a fruit crop just ready for preserving and they spend the time preparing the fruit or perhaps vegetables for the freezer. Not many stand over a hot stove with bubbling pots any more unless the pot is small and the amount can be easily cooked and jarred. Most mammas prefer to put the fruit and vegetables in the freezer and cook a little as the occasion demands. Probably there are those who still use the pressure cookers but from experience I can testify that the freezer method is not as hot or hazardous.

One vacationer who is not intending to stay at home to rest on her vacation is MRS. LAVERNE TAYLOR. Monday Mrs. Taylor and her friend, S. SGT. GENE ELSBERRY, plan to leave by automobile for Minneapolis, Minn., where they will visit his parents, MR. and MRS. JACK E. ELSBERRY, at their summer place on Coon Lake. The trip will take them through 14 states including the drive to Billings, Mont., where they will be the guests of his brother. They plan to come back through Denver and should arrive here by Aug. 25.

MRS. DENVER DUNN and her daughter, MRS. PAT PORTER, were in Dublin last week for funeral services for Mrs. Dunn's niece, Mrs. Lee Pittman.

There was a great gathering of friends Sunday at the tea to honor the golden wedding anniversary of the W. F. Taylors. One couple who arranged their trip to our section so they could attend was the FLOYD PARSONS who live in Little Rock, Ark. They had business in Austin and also wanted to visit their daughter, MRS. BILL SMOOT, in Odessa and also intended to gather up their son, PAUL, who had been in Texas since early in July. By making certain short stops and quick starts they managed to be here for the happy occasion. They left Tuesday for the return to Arkansas. The W. A. HUNTS were happily telling of the arrival of their third grandchild, a 6 pound, 10 ounce girl, who was born to MR. and MRS. FRANK HUNT at Levelland on July 27. . . MRS. W. R. DOUGLAS brought her sister, MISS ANNIE ANTLEY, who is visiting from Forrest, Mo. . . MRS. ALTON UNDERWOOD was just ready to leave the tea and go to Snyder to get her granddaughters, JULIE and JAIME NEWSOM, who will move to Dallas soon with their parents.

Biggest news in the JIM ZACK household is the arrival of their grandson, ROBERT KEVIN LEWIS. The big boy, who weighed 8 pounds, 14 ounces when he arrived at 11:51 Monday morning at Cowper Hospital, is the son of MR. and MRS. BOB SMITH LEWIS. The paternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. H. L. LEWIS of Austin.

The Altis Clemmers and the Curtis Clemmers attended the first reunion of the descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McKee at City Park in Big Spring Sunday. Relatives were present from Austin, Abilene, Cross Plains, Stanton and Westbrook.

Terri Hinds, Colorado City, is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Clemmer. Other guests have been Mr. and Mrs. Gaines Anderson, Donald and Junior and Phil, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Putman and Martha, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Hinds and Kelly.

Mrs. George Standbridge and her son, Morgan, left Monday to return to their home at Big Bear Lake, Calif., following a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mote, Ponderosa Apartments. The Mote's son, Jerry, left here Sunday to spend a month vacationing in California and Nevada.

Mrs. Doug Moore, vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Jim Wright, who headed the organization until her move yesterday to Comanche. Mrs. Moore will finish the term as president, and a charm bracelet will be sent to Mrs. Wright.

A committee was named to plan a party for sometime this month. Mrs. Butts is chairman, and serving with her are Mrs. Melvin Fryar, Mrs. Joe Matthews, Mrs. Jim Anderson and Mrs. Joe Crump.

Mrs. Charles Bell, state director, revealed plans for the local Jaycee-Ettes to assist in the possible reorganization of the Lamesa auxiliary. Also, the local group will volunteer its services to the Howard County Rehabilitation Center when the new building is completed.

Among the 13 present were four new members, Mrs. Johnny Anderson, Mrs. Crump, Mrs. Bobbie Falls, and Mrs. Jim Anderson. The Sept. 8 meeting will be with Mrs. Matthews, 3601 Dixon, when a salad supper will be served.

Temporary Traffic Trouble

Workmen push ahead with black-topping operations on Third Street in the downtown area. Both Third and Fourth streets are being black-topped through town by the state as a part of the IS 20 maintenance program. Traffic was meeting with some delay in the business district as the work progressed.

Cage Has No Fears Of Being Extradited

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Ben Jack Cage, probably the best known of the Texas insurance scandal figures of the 1950s, says he has no fear of being extradited from Brazil unless he is given the bum's rush as have some other Americans.

Cage was convicted in 1958 of swindling $100,000 from one of his 70 or more companies by transferring funds from one to the other. He came back voluntarily from Brazil to stand trial, then fled to the sanctuary of Brazil when he drew a 10-year prison sentence.

The United States and Brazil are near ratification of an extradition treaty.

But Cage believes he has two insurance policies against extradition—he has become a Brazilian citizen and he is the father of a child born in Brazil.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas, where Cage was convicted, believes he can get Cage out of the country on a claim that Cage obtained Brazilian citizenship fraudulently. A petition for extradition has been sent to the State Department.

The lack of an extradition treaty, easygoing policemen, the tropical climate, sunsplashed beaches, gay night life and inexpensive living have combined to make Rio long the favorite of all varieties, but especially embezzlers, swindlers and stock manipulators who got away just a jump ahead of the law.

Cage, now living in a comfortable seventh floor apartment a half block from Rio's broad Copacabana Beach, says he isn't worried about getting extradited.

Under the treaty, Brazil is not obliged to extradite its own citizens for crimes committed in the United States. Under the Brazilian Constitution, nobody who is the parent of a Brazilian-born child can be expelled from the country.

Texas authorities argue that he wasn't a Brazilian citizen when he became a fugitive and therefore his citizenship doesn't matter.

Whatever the interpretation, Cage undoubtedly will be able to avoid extradition for months, if not a year or two.

But if Cage isn't worried about extradition, his close associates say he is concerned about the possibility he may be given the bum's rush as did two of his best known fellow fugitives, Earl Belle, the Pittsburgh "Wonder Boy" of finance, and Lowell Birrell, New York lawyer who came here after a $60-million stock empire crumbled.

Belle's return trip began one bright sunny day last December when he left his luxurious beachfront apartment in Panama on his way to town. Unable to flag a cab, he accepted gratefully when a motorist stopped and called out, "Want a lift?"

The motorist was a policeman who had been tailing Belle for several days in connection with claims by money exchange brokers that he was involved in a bad check ring which had cashed some $300,000 worth of bogus checks.

Belle was hustled aboard a nonstop jetliner some 15 hours later. FBI agents were waiting to take him in hand in New York.

Birrell was returning from a trip to a corner grocery last April when two Brazilian officers hustled him into a patrol car for a ride that eventually wound up at the door of a Brazilian airliner.

Both signed statements saying they were returning voluntarily, authorities reported.

But Cage apparently still has a good income.

He was involved in a land deal in Sao Paulo which fell through in a tangled mess shortly after he got out, presumably with a profit.

Pope Paul VI is going to Orvieto to commemorate the 700th anniversary of the institution of the Feast of Corpus Christi by a papal bull issued by Pope Urban IV.

The Pope announced today that the first encyclical of his 13-month-old reign will be published next week under the Latin title "Ecclesiam Suam" — His Church. The Pope made the announcement during his weekly general audience at the papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo, south of Rome.

The encyclical, a circular letter to all bishops of the Roman Catholic Church, takes its name from the first words of its Latin text. A Pope's first encyclical usually outlines the program for his reign.

Police Check Two Burglaries

Police were investigating two burglaries today, at Slim's Body Shop, 306 Young, and Atwell Service Station, 200 Benton.

Someone entered the body shop through a window during the night and used a cutting torch to gain entrance to a soft drink machine, officers said. A small amount of change was taken from the machine, according to officers.

At the service station, a lock clasp was twisted off a rear door to a storage room, but nothing was taken from the room, according to police. A small portion of a front window was also broken out, officers said, but no entry was gained to the station office. The incident occurred sometime during early morning hours, police said.

Police Check Two Burglaries

Police were investigating two burglaries today, at Slim's Body Shop, 306 Young, and Atwell Service Station, 200 Benton.

Someone entered the body shop through a window during the night and used a cutting torch to gain entrance to a soft drink machine, officers said. A small amount of change was taken from the machine, according to officers.

At the service station, a lock clasp was twisted off a rear door to a storage room, but nothing was taken from the room, according to police. A small portion of a front window was also broken out, officers said, but no entry was gained to the station office. The incident occurred sometime during early morning hours, police said.

Post Office Gets Big Shipment

August postal receipts, for a change, stand a good chance to be up to 1963 records or perhaps over that record. E. C. Botcher, postmaster, happily noted today.
The reason:
A check for $6,065.18 for the postage charges on the biggest single shipment of mail order catalogues ever to arrive at the local post office. This check, Botcher figures, with the normal run of business should push the August receipts figure well up the ladder. The receipts so far this year have consistently lagged behind those for comparable months last year.
The catalogues, sent to the Big Spring Post Office for distribution to 62 West Texas and New Mexico communities, arrived in 1,467 mail bags and comprised 17,192 catalogues. Biggest consignments were 4,891 catalogues to Midland and 4,940 to Odessa.
Strange to relate, the Big Spring patrons of Sears Roebuck and Co., who sent out the catalogues, were not included in the shipment handled by the post office today.
The catalogues for this city were dispatched directly to the catalogue store of the company here and postal cards will be sent out by that agency to patrons who are to receive copies.
Botcher said that the biggest previous shipment of mail of this type was in 1962. Postage bill on that order was $4,878.62.

Georgian Claims Johnson Betrayed On Civil Rights

ATLANTA (AP)—A former chairman of the Georgia Democratic party said Tuesday that the Johnson administration has betrayed the South on the civil rights issue for political purposes.

James Gray, publisher of the Albany Herald and state party chief in 1959-62, told a cheering group of Democrats for Goldwater that President Johnson is willing to give up the South to gain support of Negroes in key Northern and Eastern states.

"The bloc vote of a minority in key states appeals to presidential candidates," Gray said. "Lyndon B. Johnson would not be ignoring the South if he did not see greater political benefits elsewhere."

"He is exploiting a minority faction to obtain the Negro bloc vote."

DEAR ABBY

Need Nerve To Tell Her

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who is the nerviest person I've ever known, but I hate to hurt her. She walks into my house without knocking and has scared me out of my wits so many times it's not even funny. She opens my refrigerator to see what's there. She lifts the lids off my pots to find out what I am cooking. She even adds water if she thinks it needs it. If a letter happens to be laying around, she'll read it. She has even picked up my husband's check stubs and studied them. I could go on and on. Don't tell me to keep my doors locked. With children it's hard. I have never taken such liberties in her house. Is there some nice way I can put a stop to this? I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world. DEVOTED READER

DEAR READER: There is no "nice" way to tell a snoop that she's a snoop. Keep all personal mail and check stubs out of sight. And when she adds water to your soup count to 10.
