TTA Putting Convair Service Here

New schedules announced by Trans-Texas Airways for Big Spring, to become effective Sept. 1, includes a new early morning flight to Dallas on a Convair plane, replacing the DC-3. This is a 40-seat, air conditioned, pressurized and radar equipped plane, among

Trans-Texas Is Adding New Planes And Early Flights

New and more convenient schedules, including a morning-evening "commuter" service to Dallas and better connections to Austin and Houston are being announced by Trans-Texas Airways, to become effective September 1.

Of most interest to Big Spring air travelers is the fact that TTA on that date will put a Convair plane into service (replacing the DC-3) on a one-stop flight to Dallas, departing here at 6:03 a.m. and arriving Dallas at 10:38 a.m.

The same new flight will have connection at Abilene to the southeast, with scheduled arrivals in Austin at 9:32 a.m. and Houston at 10:38 a.m.

EVENING FLIGHT
There is also a new evening flight westward from Dallas to Big Spring, DC-3 service departing Dallas at 7 p.m. and arriving here at 8:52 with a stop at Abilene.

SCHEDULES
The schedules to become effective Sept. 1:
FLIGHT 424, eastbound, Convair-departs Big Spring 6:03 a.m., arrives Abilene 6:41 a.m., Dallas 7:53 a.m.

WEEKEND DEVIATIONS
Under present scheduling, the eastbound flights out of here will not operate on Sundays, the westbound flights into Big Spring will not operate on Saturdays. There possibly could be some changes on weekend service if traffic demand warrants it, Kamel said.

INCREASED TRAFFIC
A. G. Kamel, assistant vice president for sales, said his company had been working extensively on schedule revisions, ever since taking over a number of southwestern points which formerly were served by Continental. Big Spring has been one of the key points for study. He expressed the hope that the service beginning Sept. 1 will be of sufficient attraction to merit continued gains in boardings here. TTA has had a heavy increase in passenger traffic in Big Spring, Kamel said.

Red China Issues A Warning

TOKYO (AP) — Red China accused the United States today of launching a war of aggression against Communist North Viet Nam. It warned that this meant aggression against the Chinese as well and threatened "grave consequences."

"U.S. imperialism went over the brink of war and made the first step in extending the war in Indochina," said the official statement broadcast by Peking Radio. "The situation is one of utmost gravity."

"The Chinese people will absolutely not sit idly by without lending a helping hand" to prevent North Viet Nam from being "subjected to aggression," Peking declared.

"The debt of blood incurred by the United States must be repaid."

The statement echoed Red Chinese threats of the past but made no reference to "what sort of action Peking would take."

The official Peking People's Daily denounced the U.S. retaliatory air strike against North Vietnamese installations, saying, "Any time U.S. imperialism encroaches on the territorial land, waters and air space of the democratic Republic of Viet Nam, the Chinese people will abide by their pledge to give wholehearted support."

The North Vietnamese government, in a broadcast from Hanoi, called the U.S. air attacks "an extremely serious war act."

It demanded that the United States "stop at once all provocative and sabotaging acts" against North Viet Nam and called on the signers of the 1954 Geneva agreement on Indochina to "take timely measures to check the U.S. warmongers' hands."

Pro-Western quarters throughout the world praised the United States for its stand, but some expressed apprehension.

The Malaysian government condemned North Vietnamese naval attacks on U.S. warships as "deliberate provocation." It noted, however, that U.S. retaliation carried the "risk of escalation of the present conflict into full-scale war."

South Korean President Chung Hee Park sent a message to the South Korean people "welcome and support" President Johnson's "resolute reaction" to the North Vietnamese attacks.

Philippine Vice President Emmanuel Pelaez said the U.S. action in Tonkin Gulf represented "the kind of firmness that can rally the people of Southeast Asia against Communist aggression here and anywhere else in the world."

Congo Army Fights Reds
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congoese army troops are reported still fighting Communist-backed rebel warriors on the outskirts of Stanleyville, the main city of the northern Congo which fell to the rebels Wednesday.

Brief messages reaching the Congo capital from Stanleyville by a roundabout route said the rebels had occupied the city.

The messages added that troops of the Stanleyville garrison were still battling just outside the city in the neighborhood of the airport.

The airport control tower went off the air Wednesday afternoon after a message saying that the "popular liberation army" had taken over. The rebels are being financed and advised by Chinese Communist diplomats in the neighboring capitals of Brazzaville and Bujumbura.

Messages today indicated that U.S. Consul Michael Hoyt of Chicago and his staff of four other Americans in Stanleyville were alive and in good health.

Hoyt, 33, had refused to quit his post "as long as there is still hope."

Senate, House Take Up Resolution Today, Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate committees quickly approved today a resolution backing President Johnson's military actions in Southeast Asia.

Leaders scheduled it for Senate action later in the day and for House action Friday.

There was one vote against the resolution in a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., cast it.

In the House Foreign Affairs Committee, two Republicans reportedly voted "present" but no one voted against. Twenty-nine members approved it.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Earle C. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, appeared first at the joint meeting of the Senate committees. From there they crossed the Capitol to testify before the House committee.

In urging the resolution, Rusk asked that Congress leave Communist aggressors "in no doubt whatever" of the unity and determination of the American people to defend Southeast Asia against Red aggression.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, announced the combined vote of the two committees was 31 to 1. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., serves on both committees but voted only as a member of the Armed Services Committee.

The announced votes were 16-0 by the Armed Services Committee, 15-1 by Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright and Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Armed Services Committee, said Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., a member of armed services, had reserved the right to offer an amendment to change one word on the resolution when it is called up in the Senate. Both senators said they did not know what word Thurmond might want to change.

Rusk, supported by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Gen. Earle C. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the senators recent North Vietnamese torpedo-boat attacks on U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin "are no isolated incident."

"They are part and parcel of a continuing Communist drive to conquer South Viet Nam, control or conquer Laos and eventually dominate and conquer other free nations of Southeast Asia," Rusk said.

Rusk, McNamara and Wheeler testified behind closed doors in support of the resolution giving bipartisan backing of Johnson's military actions in Southeast Asia. A copy of Rusk's opening statement was released by the committee.

The bipartisan leadership planned to bring up the resolution for quick passage in the Senate.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee also set a hearing with its schedule calling for House passage Friday.

The speed of the schedule underscored the gravity with which Congress and the President view the two attacks by U.S. destroyers in international waters of the Gulf of Tonkin off the North Vietnamese coast.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., long a critic of U.S. Asian policy, denounced the resolution as "a predated declaration of war" and told the Senate he would not support it, either in the Foreign Relations Committee or on the floor.

But he ran up against a swelling tide of support for the President's actions against the North Vietnamese, fed by growing indignation against the North Vietnamese Communist regime.

Morse was speaking in the Senate Wednesday when a White House official arrived with a special message from Johnson asking a congressional declaration of support for his decision to fight back against the North Vietnamese attacks on U.S. naval vessels.

Morse immediately launched into his criticism in which he said the incident which inspired the resolution was "as much the doing of the United States as it is the doing of North Viet Nam."

Among other things, he charged that a forerunner to the attacks was a bombardment of South Vietnamese naval vessels of "two North Vietnamese islands within three to five or six miles of the main coast of North Viet Nam." He said the implications were that the U.S. Navy stood guard during this attack.

U Thant Visits Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — With U.N. Secretary-General U Thant by his side, President Johnson said today that, "In all that we do, America's purpose is to prevent war and to prevent others from provoking war."

Johnson said the United Nations lives in evidence of the wish and will of men everywhere for freedom, and "that wish and that will runs nowhere stronger in all the world than in the United States of America."

The President spoke in the White House rose garden in extending a welcome to Thant whose visit to Washington was arranged long before the clashes between North Viet Nam and American naval forces in the present crisis.

In a precedent-setting action, the U.N. Secretary-General was received with ceremonial honors hitherto reserved for a visiting chief of state.

Johnson said this country always has and always will support the United Nations, and will do everything possible to help strengthen it and its peace-keeping mechanisms.

And, in something of a jab at Russia, he said, "We stand ready, as always, to pay our fair share of the cost" of the U.N. Russia has balked at assessments for such things as the expenses of a U.N. force in the Congo.

In reply to Johnson, Thant said that he has just completed a trip half way around the world, during which he talked to leaders of three states that are members of the U.N. Security Council—Russia was one—and that he is sure his talks with the President and his associates would be equally constructive "in strengthening the United Nations so it may more effectively serve the cause of peace among nations."

Thant also voiced thanks to Johnson and the American government for what he called its long-standing, unwavering support of the United Nations.

Thant is expected to talk with Johnson about the Southeast Asian situation along with other important items like U.N. financing.

Thant was slated to return to New York Friday morning after staying overnight at Blair House, the President's guest house.

The spokesman said American and South Vietnamese military forces are prepared to meet any Red retaliation for the U.S. aerial counterattack Wednesday against North Viet Nam's torpedo boats and shore installations.

The United States is considering bringing in more air power if it is needed, he said, but there are no plans to increase the ground forces.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater pursued his party unity drive at a meeting with Republican members of Congress today, then headed for Gettysburg, Pa., and a visit with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Goldwater announced the Gettysburg plan at a news conference in which he said the American people are behind President Johnson in the Southeast Asia crisis, but foreign policy still will be an issue in the campaign ahead.

He said his vice presidential running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon also would be on hand at Gettysburg.

The Arizona senator told newsmen he stands behind Johnson's decision to mount a retaliatory air strike against Communist naval bases in North Viet Nam.

As of now, he said, the situation there is not a political issue.

He said the people are uniting behind the President "as we always do in a time of crisis."

But Goldwater said the broad subject of foreign policy, not limited to Viet Nam, will be an issue in the presidential campaign.

"I don't see how it can be avoided," he said.

The Republican nominee said he saw no other course for Johnson to take in the face of Communist attacks on U.S. warships.

Stanton Youth's Condition Same

MIDLAND — Willie Louis Bateman, a 16-year-old Stanton youth who received a 12-gauge shotgun wound Tuesday afternoon, remained on the critical list at Midland's Memorial Hospital this morning. He has been in critical condition ever since his arrival here Tuesday.

The shooting, by 17-year-old Bobby Bateman, occurred after an argument over a book of matches.

A charge of assault with intent to murder has been filed against Bobby Bateman, according to Sheriff Dan Saunders.

The Republican nominee said he saw no other course for Johnson to take in the face of Communist attacks on U.S. warships.

The talk with reporters followed a closed-door breakfast meeting with Republican members from both the House and the Senate.

Goldwater's press secretary, Tony Smith, said most of the 100 legislators invited to the private breakfast were at hand.

Another meeting with Goldwater and Miller is scheduled Friday for other GOP Congress members.

The 212 Republican members of Congress — 178 representatives and 34 senators — were invited in two groups to hear the party's nominees and ask them questions.

Epton Indicted By Grand Jury
NEW YORK (AP) — A grand jury has indicted William Epton, 32, a Harlem Negro who says he is a disciple of the Chinese Communists, on charges of advocating violent overthrow of the New York State government.

The indictment, handed up by a Manhattan grand jury Wednesday, also charges Epton with advocating the assassination of police and judges.

The indictment contains excerpts from a street-corner speech Epton made in Harlem on July 15, only hours before bloody rioting against police broke out. It quotes Epton as saying: "The cops have declared war on the people of Harlem. We should declare war on them and everytime they kill one of us, we'll kill one of them."

Viet Nam Nations May Join Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats predicted today the U.N. Security Council would invite both North and South Viet Nam to take part in debate on North Vietnamese attacks on American warships and U.S. retaliation.

Council President Sivert A. Nielsen of Norway suspended debate so he could sound out delegates to the 11-nation body on the proposal to hear representatives of the two Vietnamese governments. Nielsen said he believed he could convene the council again Friday to report results.

If the Communist North and pro-Western South both send spokesmen, it will probably produce a heated debate on the roles the United States, North Viet Nam and Red China play in South Viet Nam's war.

The debate opened Wednesday at the request of the United States, which asked for an urgent council meeting to consider "the serious situation created by deliberate attacks of the Hanoi (North Viet Nam) regime on American warships and U.S. retaliation."

Churchman Dies Today

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—A R. Holton, a 53-year veteran of preaching for Churches of Christ, died today. He was 73. Cause of death was not determined.

He was chairman of the committee which endorsed members of the Church of Christ for candidacy as chaplains in the armed forces.

He is the father of John Holton, Washington, administrative aide to the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn for seven years, and Robert Holton, Dallas, a minister and member of the staff which produces "Herald of Truth," a national television program of the Churches of Christ.

Holton had been a preacher at Norman, Okla.; Sherman, Tex.; Detroit; Nashville, Wash.; and Seoul, Korea.

Other survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Nelda Winter, Torrance, Calif.

Services will be held here at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Minor Crashes Investigated

Three minor accidents were investigated by police Wednesday. A collision at 8 a.m. about one-fourth mile east of Birdwell Lane on US 80 injured Hazel A. Noles, Oakland, Calif. Miss Noles was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation in a River-Welch ambulance and treated for a back injury and released, according to hospital officials.

The car driven by Miss Noles, pulling a rent trailer, collided with a car driven by Sam Edward Lewis, 1501 W. Cherokee. The right front bumper of the Lewis car and the rear bumper of Miss Noles' car received minor damages, according to officers. Police said both cars were traveling west on US 80 when the collision occurred.

A minor collision about 10:30 a.m. at Second Street and Ben-ton Street damaged front ends of cars driven by Donald Ross Smith, 210 W. 5th, and Estes Alonzo Williams, 507 E. 14th. Officers estimated damages to the cars at about $50 each.

A truck driven by Carl Clemmer, Abilene, and car driven by Johnny Helman, Route 2, collided on the Snyder Highway about 10:35 a.m. Minor damages to the vehicles resulted, officers said.

Street Retouch Work Continues

The city street seal coating project is continuing today on Galand Street from First to Eleventh Streets, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard.

About 20 blocks a day have been coated since the project began Monday, Lillard said. City crews have completed the work on portions of Birdwell Lane, Sunset Blvd., Vines Avenue, Nolan Street and Monticello Street, he said.

"Most of the streets included on the east side of the city have been completed," Lillard said. If no interruptions are caused in the work by weather changes, he said the project could be completed late next week and would include about 120 blocks of city streets.

Colonel Has Disappeared

FT. MONROE, Va. (AP)—In midafternoon of July 1 Lt. Col. Oscar T. Buchholz telephoned his wife to see whether she wanted something from the store.

That telephone call five weeks ago was the last contact Buchholz made with his family here or with the Army, which had cleared him to handle top-secret information.

Since then Buchholz, 45, a decorated veteran of World War II and Korean service, has been reported in several areas of the country, including California. But a drunk-driving citation in North Carolina, some camping episodes in Virginia and North Carolina, some personal checks and a visit to a relative in his hometown of Pecos, Tex., are the only clues Army investigators have to go on.

At first Buchholz was listed as missing by the Army, but then an A.W.O.L. apprehension order was issued.

Former Husband Arrives Shooting

CUERO, Tex. (AP)—Nine sub-machinegun bullets gravely wounded Mrs. Argorie Franklin, 26, at her home and two others struck her friend and employer.

Police Chief Charles Clark said Jesse Mayfield, 30, a county jail trusty and former husband of Mrs. Franklin, fired the shots after following the two to her home Tuesday night.

Joe Benjamin, 36, was in satisfactory condition.

Mayfield is serving six months for contributing to delinquency of a minor. Mrs. Franklin has been working at the Club Morocco, owned by Benjamin.

Clark said Mayfield started firing as he entered the house. He surrendered shortly after the shooting.

Second Victim Dies Of Injuries

Word was received here today of the death of Adelia Estelle, 13, daughter of Mrs. Mary Lucille Bradford, victim of an accident which claimed the life of her father, Airman I.C. Herman Bradford, on July 30.

Airman Bradford and his family were en route home from Montevallo, Ala. where they had visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Riley H. Bradford. At Longview, a truck jackknifed on the highway and the Bradford car was one of two which plowed into the rig. He died the following day. Mrs. Bradford and her daughter had been under treatment at the Longview hospital since. Rites for Airman Bradford were held Aug. 4 in Montevallo.

Rig Accident

FORDTRAN, Tex. (AP)—Weldon Huber, 42, was killed Wednesday when a valve blew off an oil rig motor and penetrated his chest. The accident occurred in this town 18 miles north of Victoria.

United States naval vessels in international waters."

The question of Vietnamese participation in the debate was brought up by Soviet Delegate Platon D. Morozov, who introduced a resolution to have the council seek information from North Viet Nam relating to the U.S. complaint and to invite North Vietnamese representatives to take part in the debate.

Chief U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson said the United States had no objection to inviting North Vietnamese but the South Vietnamese should be asked too.

Morozov said the United States could "do without the assistance of these flunkies," but he agreed to pull back his resolution and let Nielsen draw one up.

Stevenson charged that attacks on U.S. destroyers by North Vietnamese torpedo boats in the Gulf of Tonkin on Sunday and Tuesday were part of a plan to subjugate all Southeast Asia.

Stevenson said the U.S. counterblow Wednesday was "limited and measured" to discourage further acts of aggression. He said President Johnson had given him explicit instructions to assure the council that the U.S. mission in Asia is "peace."

He said the United States had acted in self-defense and in accord with the U.N. Charter.

Morozov denounced the U.S. air raids as "acts of aggression."

"The expansionist aims of the United States for extending the war in Southeast Asia are fraught with danger for the area," he said.

Roger W. Jackling of Britain said the United States had the right to act "to prevent the recurrence of attacks on her ships."

Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze appeared to testify for the administration plan which would provide hospitalization, nursing home, diagnostic and home health visit benefits.

This proposal, known as the King-Anderson bill, was beaten 52 to 48 in a Senate showdown fight in 1962.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., leading the fight for the proposal in the absence of its chief sponsor, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said he doubted it could win approval in the Finance Committee.

But Gore said he was confident that there had been sufficient change in the Senate in the last two years that the 1962 vote could be reversed.

Anderson, who underwent an operation at Albuquerque two weeks ago, may return in time to help in the fight.

Gore offered the health care amendment as an addition to the Social Security benefits in a bill which passed the House last week.

This measure would increase retirement, disability and survivor payments by 5 per cent and make numerous other changes in the system. It also would increase the tax schedule to pay for them.

Last-Ditch Fight Begins Today For Health Care Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-ditch fight to enact a Social Security-financed health care plan for the elderly this year opens today in the Senate Finance Committee.

Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze appeared to testify for the administration plan which would provide hospitalization, nursing home, diagnostic and home health visit benefits.

This proposal, known as the King-Anderson bill, was beaten 52 to 48 in a Senate showdown fight in 1962.

Hot weather and conflicting events tended to keep attendance lower than had been anticipated at the range management field day Wednesday at the U. S. Experiment Station, but according to officials of the station, the program was quite successful.

Sponsored by the American Range Management Association, the field day, one of three such days for Texas this year, was attended by 50 soil experts, farmers, ranchers and county farm agents.

Howard Barton, with the experiment station staff, said that the program was carried out exactly as planned but due to the reduced attendance, it did not have to be presented to several groups as had been anticipated.

Mrs. Charles E. Short, 27, the former Carolyn Rippes and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rippes, died at 7:30 a.m. today in the Kansas City (Mo.) Medical Center Hospital.

She had undergone surgery Monday for Cushing's syndrome and complications developed.

Arrangements are pending. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Rippes, Hurst, were at her bedside before her death.

Mrs. Short was born in Big Spring, Oct. 14, 1936. Besides her husband, other survivors are three children, Rebecca, Charles E. Jr. and Louis H. Short, all of the family home at 9002 E. 66th Street, Raytown 3, Mo. Her grandmother, Mrs. A. M. Rippes, is in Cowper Hospital here recovering from a slight stroke suffered Monday.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A chunk of Dallas street curbing has joined other evidence assembled by the Warren Commission during its investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy.

While FBI agents watched Wednesday, city workers used water-cooled saws to remove a section of Main Street curbing near the triple underpass.

Investigators speculate that one bullet fired at President Kennedy from the Texas School Book Depository Building passed over his car and struck the curb.

A motorist watching the Kennedy motorcade, told investigators he felt a sting on his face and noticed a chip in the curb.

Two pleas of guilty were accepted in the Howard County court Wednesday afternoon.

Dennis W. Hayworth Jr., charged with DWI, drew a fine of $50 and three days in county jails as his punishment and Bill R. McKeller, charged with aggravated assault, was fined $50 and costs.

A charge of forgery and passing (felony) has been filed against Gary Jim Crawford and he is being held in the county jail in lieu of $1,500 bond. Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, set the bond.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sir Cedric Hardwicke, the English-born actor who spent a lifetime on the stage and screen, died early today at the age of 71.

Cause of death was listed as emphysema, a lung ailment. Hardwicke had been hospitalized about three weeks before his death in University Hospital.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

As well-known to American audiences as to British, Sir Cedric spent much of his professional career shuttling between engagements in London, New York and Hollywood.

Laughingly, he once remarked: "England is my wife—America my mistress. It is very good sometimes to get away from one's wife."

Born in Lye, Worcestershire, the son of a doctor who didn't want him to become an actor, Sir Cedric staged his first show at the age of 12, a production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" in which he wrote a few scenes to suit himself.

His first professional appearance came at the age of 18, after he had attended the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts.

During a 53-year career, Sir Cedric's roles ran into the hundreds.

His last show on Broadway was last season's "Too True to Be Good."

Sir Cedric was knighted in 1934.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Lupe Ornelas, 506 NE 10th; seven sons, Brigid Jr. of Port Lavaca, Jose, Lupe, Frank, Rene, Edward and Adrian, all of Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Alice Sanchez of Port Lavaca, and Dolores Ornelas, Big Spring; three brothers; one sister; and 12 grandchildren.

Brigido Ornelas, 58, a resident of Big Spring for 23 years, died at 9:15 a.m. today in a local hospital following a lengthy illness. Services were pending under the direction of Nalley-Pickles Funeral Home.

Mr. Ornelas was born May 7, 1906, in Mexico and moved to Big Spring in 1941 from San Marcos. He was a retired custodian of the Big Spring Independent School District.

ONE TIME CABIN BOY, COOK

Minh Leads North Vietnamese

CHI HO MINH

By JOHN RODERICK TOKYO (AP) — A shadowy but famous Marxist ruler of a little known corner of Southeast Asia suddenly has become the direct adversary of the United States, his torpedo boats nest the targets of American bombs.

Straggly-bearded Ho Chi Minh, one time cabin boy, cook and Soviet follower, is regarded by many in his democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam — and by quite a few in South Viet Nam — as his country's greatest patriot, the undisputed leader of Indochina's war for independence from France.

RUTHLESS Behind his benign exterior hides one of the most single-minded, skillful and ruthless Communists. From his headquarters in North Viet Nam, he leads a force in the south that calls itself revolutionary fighters of the National Liberation Front, better known as the Viet Cong (Vietnamese Communists).

Even before Ho's torpedo boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin this week, there had been increasing talk in Asia and in the United States of the possibility of American attacks on North Viet Nam as a means of halting aid to the Communist guerrillas in the south.

His driving force is said to be about 25,000 men trained as guerrillas by Ho's northern Communist regime. These are the enemies of the expanded forces of American advisers to the young Republic of (South) Viet Nam, which is fighting to break the Communist stranglehold threatening its existence.

The two Vietnamese republics that face each other across the 17th Parallel are the troubled offspring of the Indochina war which Ho Chi Minh brought to an end in 1954.

By crushing the flower of French colonial armies at Dien Bien Phu, Ho's guerrilla army of 110,000 men conquered a French Union force that once totaled 700,000 men during the seven-year war.

He expected to dictate terms to the defeated French, but French and Soviet pressure forced him to postpone total control of Viet Nam in favor of a divided country.

Five years later, convinced that unity could never be achieved on their terms, Ho's Communists began the guerrilla campaign against the south, then led by Ngo Dinh Diem.

Known as Nguyen Ai Quoc, he spent much time in European jails for his Socialist views. In 1919, with Cachin and others, he became a founding member of the French Communist party and wrote a book that soon became famous, "French Colonialism on Trial." Smuggled into Indochina, it inflamed the passions of young patriots and made Nguyen Ai Quoc a household name there.

During World War II, the Allies fought the Vietnam war. He was a Communist but as a Nationalist. He kept up the fiction until 1951 when he formed the Lien Viet (United National Front) in which the Lao Dong (Communist) Workers' party was to be the leading element.

Then came the division of the country.

Today, 10 years later, the north is reported caught in the grip of economic hard times, with black marketing, corruption, food shortages, unemployment and low wages.

There seems to be no accurate information available on the size of the North Vietnamese military establishment, but the general view is that it has grown considerably since the victory of 1954. American intelligence sources say the army numbers 250,000 men, the navy 1,000 and the air force 300.

South Vietnamese sources say there may be as many as 500,000 in the army. Nationalist Chinese officials put the figure at closer to 300,000 or 350,000.

In North Viet Nam today there is an uneasy balance between the pro-Chinese faction and the pro-Soviet headed by Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the victor of Dien Bien Phu who is minister of defense. Le Duan, party secretary-general, is a close friend and protégé of Ho's and thus keeps the old man's influence alive and constantly felt. He and Premier Pham Van Dong are regarded by most observers as more favorable to the Soviets than to the Chinese.

BALANCING ACT Ho has maintained this precarious balancing act not only domestically but in the world Communist movement as well.

There are signs, however, that the pressures from Peking are increasing and that even the pro-Soviets are beginning to bend toward their next door neighbor and its hard line. But Ho refuses to come down in either side in the Chinese-Soviet quarrel.

He exhibited what he said was a copy of it at a press conference in Honolulu — where he is appearing in a night club.

It said the bodies "were buried in a field not too far from Philadelphia, Miss., between five to eight miles to the right coming south from Philadelphia, between 200 and 400 yards off the road."

The spot where the corpses were found is six miles southwest of Philadelphia, about 800 yards off Mississippi 21.

Goodman, Schwerer and Chaney were arrested on a speeding charge on June 21 at Philadelphia. They spent six hours in jail. After they posted bond late that night, they reportedly drove off toward Meridian in their station wagon.

The charred hulk of their vehicle was found two days later north of Philadelphia.

"My boy died a martyr for something he believed in — I believe in — and as soon as his little brother Ben gets old enough he'll take James' place as a civil rights worker," said the mother of Chaney. Her other son is 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodman learned that one of the bodies was their son, Andy, from a pre-dawn call from the White House.

"Our grief, though personal, belongs to our nation," said the elder Goodman at his New York home. "This tragedy is not private. It is a part of the public conscience of our country."

In Washington, Rita Schwerer, 22, widow of the other white civil rights worker, said she felt pity—"pity for anyone so frightened, so afraid, so full of hatred themselves, that the only action they can take is to lash out."

She vowed to continue in civil rights work "as long as I live."

Highlights of the National Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., were detailed by Gene Campbell and Jerry Fricke at the meeting of the Optimist Club on Wednesday morning.

Campbell was one of the leaders of the troop composed principally of boys in the Big Spring area, and Jerry, son of Col. and Mrs. Jack Price, was one of the troop members. The trip by bus covered 21 days and included visits at historical sites associated with Daniel Boone and Abe Lincoln, the Henry Ford museum, Niagara Falls and many more.

J. W. Dickens was inducted into the club. There were reports on the joint meeting with the club at Lamesa and the softball game which Lemesa won. Guests included Jim Ballou, Bill McRee and Paul Vaughn. W. D. (Slim) Broughton was in charge of the program.

Federal, State Officers Continuing Investigation

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Federal and state authorities intensified their investigations today into the slaying of the three civil rights workers whose bodies were unearthed after an exhaustive 44-day search.

Gregory had offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the "finding of the bodies, the arrest and prosecution of the killers," shortly after the trio vanished.

He did not name the source of this possibility.

In Honolulu, Negro comedian Dick Gregory said today he had relayed to the FBI three weeks ago a letter which told where to find the bodies.

Gregory also said he had given the FBI a tape recording containing names of the killers.

The three bodies were found two days ago in an earthen water-trenched embankment in a remote area near Philadelphia, Miss.

Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both white New Yorkers, were positively identified, the FBI said. The third body was tentatively identified as James Chaney, 22, the Meridian Negro who had accompanied Goodman and Schwerner on a trip to Philadelphia from Meridian on June 21.

The University of Mississippi Medical Center here — where the decomposed corpses were brought for autopsies — said all three were shot to death. The bullets were recovered, it was reported.

The FBI has refused to disclose any reasons why they obtained a bulldozer and a dragline to dig into the recently built dam where the bodies were found.

Roy K. Moore, chief of the Jackson FBI office, would only say it was the result of careful, methodical planning. "I'll let my superiors in Washington do the talking," Moore said.

The Birmingham (Ala.) News, in a copyright story Wednesday, said a reward of $30,000 brought into the FBI the information which led to the finding of the bodies. The News also said the names of seven persons destroyers suddenly presented a new set of circumstances which Moscow may have been unprepared.

Moscow and Soviet bloc reaction was slow in developing. When it came from Moscow it was in the form of a Tass news agency statement.

"Authoritative Soviet circles" denounced the U.S. action as heating up an already tense situation at the risk of broadened war. But this was not yet

Khrushchev or the Soviet government. It was as if Khrushchev would have liked to have said to his tormentors in China and Asia, with whom he has been quarreling over Communist strategy for years, that they got themselves into the jam and could get themselves out.

Khrushchev could not do that. The least he could do was, as the Tass statement said, call the presence of U.S. planes and ships in the Tonkin Gulf unjustified and hostile toward both North Viet Nam and Red China.

Moscow seemed to be seeking time to get its bearings, to delay and impede the proceedings in the U.N. Security Council, called into urgent session at the request of the United States.

Much is on the line for Premier Khrushchev. He could hardly do less than he did, which will look like little to the Red Chinese.

These developments come at a time when the world Communist quarrel is headed toward a showdown. The Chinese say Khrushchev is too timid to lead the world revolution because he fears a U.S. "paper tiger."

If Khrushchev leaps hurriedly to North Viet Nam's side, he implicitly bows to China's arguments. If he does not, he risks permanent loss of those Communists around the world who believe with Peking that communism can be expanded only by armed revolutionary action.

Sen. Albert Gore seeks a third term, but his token campaign against three political unknowns has been overshadowed by a fierce three-man Democratic fight for nomination to the old Estes Kefauver Senate seat.

Republicans, who have never linked with the slaying had been given to the FBI.

destroyers suddenly presented a new set of circumstances which Moscow may have been unprepared.

Moscow and Soviet bloc reaction was slow in developing. When it came from Moscow it was in the form of a Tass news agency statement.

"Authoritative Soviet circles" denounced the U.S. action as heating up an already tense situation at the risk of broadened war. But this was not yet

Khrushchev or the Soviet government. It was as if Khrushchev would have liked to have said to his tormentors in China and Asia, with whom he has been quarreling over Communist strategy for years, that they got themselves into the jam and could get themselves out.

Khrushchev could not do that. The least he could do was, as the Tass statement said, call the presence of U.S. planes and ships in the Tonkin Gulf unjustified and hostile toward both North Viet Nam and Red China.

Moscow seemed to be seeking time to get its bearings, to delay and impede the proceedings in the U.N. Security Council, called into urgent session at the request of the United States.

Much is on the line for Premier Khrushchev. He could hardly do less than he did, which will look like little to the Red Chinese.

These developments come at a time when the world Communist quarrel is headed toward a showdown. The Chinese say Khrushchev is too timid to lead the world revolution because he fears a U.S. "paper tiger."

If Khrushchev leaps hurriedly to North Viet Nam's side, he implicitly bows to China's arguments. If he does not, he risks permanent loss of those Communists around the world who believe with Peking that communism can be expanded only by armed revolutionary action.

Sen. Albert Gore seeks a third term, but his token campaign against three political unknowns has been overshadowed by a fierce three-man Democratic fight for nomination to the old Estes Kefauver Senate seat.

linked with the slaying had been given to the FBI.

The FBI declined comment on either the news story or the report from Gregory about the letter.

Gregory had offered a $25,000 reward for information leading to the "finding of the bodies, the arrest and prosecution of the killers," shortly after the trio vanished.

He did not name the source of this possibility.

In Honolulu, Negro comedian Dick Gregory said today he had relayed to the FBI three weeks ago a letter which told where to find the bodies.

Gregory also said he had given the FBI a tape recording containing names of the killers.

The three bodies were found two days ago in an earthen water-trenched embankment in a remote area near Philadelphia, Miss.

Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both white New Yorkers, were positively identified, the FBI said. The third body was tentatively identified as James Chaney, 22, the Meridian Negro who had accompanied Goodman and Schwerner on a trip to Philadelphia from Meridian on June 21.

The University of Mississippi Medical Center here — where the decomposed corpses were brought for autopsies — said all three were shot to death. The bullets were recovered, it was reported.

The FBI has refused to disclose any reasons why they obtained a bulldozer and a dragline to dig into the recently built dam where the bodies were found.

Roy K. Moore, chief of the Jackson FBI office, would only say it was the result of careful, methodical planning. "I'll let my superiors in Washington do the talking," Moore said.

The Birmingham (Ala.) News, in a copyright story Wednesday, said a reward of $30,000 brought into the FBI the information which led to the finding of the bodies. The News also said the names of seven persons

Attorneys Go To Work On Appeal Action For Hoover

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for Sam Hoover say they are "making every possible appeal effort" on behalf of the former Pasadena mayor who has been convicted as an accomplice in the torture-robbery of a wealthy Houston couple.

A criminal district court jury found Hoover guilty Wednesday and set his punishment at 60 years in prison.

He was described by Harris County Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe as the "mastermind" who encouraged three other persons to rob and torture Mr. and Mrs. Mair J. Schepps last March 11.

Hoover, a balding attorney, remained silent and stoical. He ignored newsmen and showed no emotion.

"I will make every possible appeal effort on behalf of Mr. Hoover as speedily as I can," said Warren Burnett, the defense attorney.

Burnett, of Odessa, said the verdict surprised him.

Hoover, 55, was lodged in the county jail following the verdict. He cannot be released on bond, pending appeal, because of the severity of the sentence.

The jury of eight men and four women returned the verdict in Criminal Dist. Judge Arnold Krichamer's court after deliberating eight hours.

"A defendant cannot be released on bond, pending a motion for a new trial, or any other type of defense motion, if he has been given a sentence of 15 years or more," Judge Krichamer said.

"The sentence was warranted by the evidence presented in the case," Briscoe said.

Probably the strongest state witness was Samuel Spivey, 19, who turned state's evidence against Hoover.

Hoover, Spivey, Calvin Sellers, 22, and John Oscar Young, 25, were indicted for robbery by firearms.

Spivey was granted immunity from prosecution after testifying for the state. He testified he took part in the robbery and that it was planned by Hoover and that the Pasadena attorney gave directions by telephone while the robbery was in progress.

A second count of the indictment charged Hoover with being an accomplice and he was convicted on this count. Sellers and Young will be tried later.

Spivey was released from jail three hours after Hoover's conviction and immediately left town.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schepps testified. Schepps said he was beaten unconscious. Mrs. Schepps said she was hurried with a hot knife, shocked with an electric wire and shot.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Aquiles Elorduy, one of Mexico's fiercest liberals and a firebrand politician for many of his 88 years, died today from a heart ailment.

Boys Buried When Cave Collapses During Rain

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — Two 15-year-old boys were buried backward as sand poured over him from the opening, but managed to dig himself out.

The victims were Michael J. Kasek Jr. and Frank J. Laprochina Jr., both of Warwick.

William E. Underwood Jr., 13, also of Warwick, was several feet nearer the surface than the Kasek and Laprochina boys when the heavy, wet sand came tumbling into the labyrinth of the tunneling.

The Underwood boy said he was buried up to his chest and the other two boys were buried completely.

A third boy was rescued after two hours of frantic rescue work. He suffered only a minor head cut, apparently sustained when grazed by a rescuer's shovel.

Three other boys had just left the tunnel entrance when the cave-in occurred during a drenching rain. One of them, Bruce Charon, 15, said he fell

Heat Wave Holds Grip

The worst heat wave in several years kept its intense grip on the south central states today. Oklahoma sizzled in the heat. The record breaking 110-degree reading at Tulsa Wednesday was the highest temperature recorded there in more than 10 years. Ada, Okla., also marked up 110 degrees and Hennessey, just northwest of Oklahoma City posted a mark of 111.

Oklahoma City's 106 was the highest so far this year. It broke the record of 105 for Aug. 5 set in 1929.

Violent thunderstorms lashed southeastern Texas and at least one tornado roared through the area late Wednesday night. The tornado injured five persons and destroyed one house in the Keith Lake area between Port Arthur and Sabine Pass.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., had winds up to 70 miles per hour with 1.92 inches of rain. Winds caused some damage to house trailers, boat houses and trees in the Shreveport area.

One-hundred-degree temperatures were recorded Wednesday in the Dakotas. But later heavy thundershowers whipped across the Dakotas in advance of an eastward-moving cold front.

The Weather Bureau said continued dry weather was having an adverse effect on corn and some other crops in sections of the Midwest and Southwest.

Comic Strip Is Moving Onto Television Screens

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV Radio writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's taken quite awhile, but the comic strip is finally coming to network television.

The creators of "Yogi Berra" and "Huckleberry Hound," have now fathered a cartoon feature called "Jonny Quest," which as a new ABC entry will be a combination of humor and adventure. It will depart radically from the usual cartoon approach in that the characters will be humans and drawn with an attention to style and detail.

reminiscent of the wartime "Terry and the Pirates," but with overtones of "Flash Gordon," "Prince Valiant" and "Tom Swift."

A comic strip actually was tried several seasons back when an animated "Dick Tracy" was seen on some stations, but the new venture is much more sophisticated and elaborate.

ABC will launch the series in a 7:30-8 p.m. Friday spot, now reserved on all networks for programs attractive to small fry.

Joe Barbera who with partner Bill Hanna dreamed up the show, says that because it is expected the children will watch it avidly, there will be no mad scientists or two-headed monsters. Nor will there be shooting and other gory disposition of villains.

All television and radio jumped energetically into coverage of the tense Viet Nam situation. The television networks did what they could to give pictorial emphasis to a story whose principal action was far out of camera range by concentrating on the speech-making by President Johnson and U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

All TV networks are prepared to pre-empt regular programming to report new developments. ABC plans a news special tonight, following CBS Wednesday night and NBC's on Tuesday.

Officers Attend Training Class

Training classes for Big Spring police supervisory personnel are under way this week, with Leo L. Robertson, agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation from Dallas, providing instruction.

Police Chief Jay Banks said five sergeants, a warrant officer and assistant identification officer are attending the class each afternoon this week. The instruction is on leadership and techniques of supervision, Banks said, and is part of the annual police training program of the local department.

Vocational Courses Will Be Offered In High School

A course in auto mechanics is being set up for Big Spring High School students, and another course in appliance repair will be set up if an instructor can be obtained. High school principal John Smith said the two new courses were not listed on the "course offering sheet" during pre-registration last spring, and students wishing to take advantage of the vocational training are requested to contact the high school office immediately.

"These courses will be offered in a two-year sequence," Smith said, "and will be for three hours, or a half day. Students will receive 2 1/2 credits for each, and will be scheduled for either an all-morning or all-afternoon session. Students will be enrolled as they apply at the high school office on a first-come basis. Classes will be closed as soon as they are filled.

"Therefore it is urgent that students act quickly if interested in either course," he continued. "If they cannot come by the office, due to employment, they should call and arrange for an appointment immediately."

Smith said students should plan to pursue the courses the full two years for a maximum of five credits. He said seniors this year will not be able to take advantage of the full two years, but that it will be possible to enroll for this year.

Students who have pre-registered will have to get other courses re-scheduled for the half day not being used for vocational training. Morning and evening classes will be scheduled on an evenly-divided basis only, to prevent too heaviness for one or the other.

The vocational courses will be housed in temporary quarters until the new addition to the high school is completed.

Requests An End To Discrimination

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The National Urban League disclosed today a list of hundreds of federally-aided programs in which it has asked President Johnson to end racial discrimination.

The list covers more than 140 cities in 24 states. Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the league, submitted it to the White House two weeks ago. He called the situation intolerable and said it must not go on.

The league report contended the aid is of doubtful legality under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, which prohibits disbursements of tax dollars to institutions which bar some taxpayers because of their color.

Federal funds are going to hospitals, schools, public housing projects and other programs in which Negroes are barred either wholly or in part, said the league, which concluded its national conference today.

There was no estimate given of the total funds being allocated but the league said it apparently exceeded $1 billion annually.

All Southern states were included in the list along with many Northern and border states. Among the latter were New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Nebraska.

The report cited discrimination in more than 600 public housing projects; in more than 60 hospitals receiving federal Hill-Burton aid; in federally-aided retraining programs; school lunch programs and funds for general educational purposes. It also cited segregated National Guard units in 10 Southern states.

The Urban League said of Texas:

In Houston, Jefferson Davis Hospital does not have Negro staff interns and the University of Texas Anderson Hospital does not have Negro staff doctors.

Segregated public housing projects are to be found in Austin (5); Beaumont (3); Brownsville (3); Corpus Christi (8); Dallas (10); El Paso (4); Fort Worth (3); Galveston (4); Houston (6); Kingsville (4); Texarkana (4); Waco (3); and Wichita Falls (4).

State Water Projects OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Funds totaling $56.3 million for Texas water projects would be provided in the year which started July 1 under a $4.4 billion public works bill approved Wednesday by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

This figure is $107 million greater than voted earlier by the House.

Among Army Engineer projects in Texas, the Senate committee voted these amounts for construction:

Bardwell Reservoir $6,500,000.
Big Fossil Creek $1,340,000.
Brazos Island harbor $750,000.
Freepoint $300,000.
Galveston harbor jetties $1,300,000.
Galveston harbor 40-foot project $900,000.
Intracoastal Waterway, Galveston Bay to Victoria $2,955,000.
Houston ship channel 40-foot project $3,200,000.
Matagorda ship channel $2,477,000.
Pat Mayse Reservoir $1,000,000.
Sabine-Neches Waterway 40-foot channel to Echo $1,500,000.
Rayburn Dam $5,900,000.
Somerville Reservoir $3,200,000.
Stillhouse Hollow Dam $3,600,000.
Texas City $4,300,000.
Waco Reservoir $6,324,000.

For planning:

Lake Kemp Reservoir $200,000.
Port Arthur and vicinity hurricane protection $389,000.
San Gabriel River $400,000.
Vince and Little Vince bayous, $99,000.
Wallisville Reservoir $350,000.

TWC Needs More Money

AUSTIN (AP)—For Texas Western College "to achieve any measure of distinction," it needs more money to develop programs involving Latin American countries, says a spokesman for the school.

The spokesman, W. W. Heath, chairman of University of Texas regents, made the statement Wednesday to budget officials of the Texas Commission on Higher Education, the governor's office and Legislative Budget Board.

Texas Western is part of the university system.

"Texas Western has a peculiar opportunity among not only Texas colleges but all colleges in the United States because El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, are the largest Rio Grande border towns of their respective nations," Heath said.

The college included in its $9.7 million budget request for the 1965-67 biennium a total of $8,000 for scholarships to top Juarez High School graduates and $23,700 for an Inter-American Institute.

Texas Western was appropriated $6.3 million by the last legislature.

Applications are being accepted for vector control specialist with the U. S. Public Health Service communicable disease center, according to Civil Service examiners. Placement is in the South or in Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands. Salary range is $5,950-$17,215. Examinations are being given for the position of navigational scientist for assignment with the U. S. Naval Oceanographic Office and other agencies in the Washington, D. C. area. Range is $3,650-$15,665 per annum. Information may be had from the civil service clerk at the post office.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (© 1964) By The Chicago Tribune. Both vulnerable, North deals.

NORTH: ♠ A, ♥ J74, ♦ AK1087, ♣ AJ43

EAST: ♠ K3, ♥ K9, ♦ QJ654, ♣ KQ65

SOUTH: ♠ J109762, ♥ AQ82, ♦ 3, ♣ 72

The bidding: North 1♣, East 1♠, South 2♣, West 2♠, North 2NT, East 3♣, South 3♣, West 3♠, North 4♣, East 4♠, South 4♠, West 4♠.

Opening lead: Ten of ♣.

South uncovered a safety play a bit off the beaten track to land his four spade contract.

The bidding calls for some comment. North was reluctant to quit over two spades even though he lacked a fit for South's suit. With 17 high card points he felt constrained to make one more try and he chose to bid two no trump even though he lacked a stopper in hearts. South needed only a mild push to carry on and, when North announced additional values, he jumped directly to four spades.

West opened the ten of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. The two top diamonds were cashed so that South could dispose of his losing club. The ace of spades was played and a small heart was led. East followed with the nine and declarer played the queen from his hand which held the trick.

At this point, South made the key play of the deal—he led the six of spades from his hand, despite the fact that he had a perfect sequence in the suit in the form of the jack-ten-nine. The six of spades drove out East's king and the queen of diamonds came back. Declarer ruffed with the nine of spades, and West discarded a club. The jack of spades drove out the queen and, when South regained the lead, he still retained the ten of spades to draw West's last trump—the eight. When the king of hearts fell under the ace, North's jack took the fulfilling trick.

Had declarer led the jack of spades instead of the six when he was in his hand, East's diamond return would have promoted an extra trump trick for his partner. If South ruffs low, West overruns with the eight. If South trumps with the nine of spades, West takes a discard and now he has two natural spade tricks.

South reasoned that, if the adverse spades were divided three-three, it didn't matter which card he led, for both remaining trumps would fall on the next round of the suit. His play might, however, protect him from the risk of an overrun if East had a doubleton honor in trumps. He was right.

Texarkana, B. Spring Vie In 8:30 Battle Tonight

By TOMMY HART
The Big Spring Kiwanians became the last team to join the winner's circle in the Texas State Hi-Junior Teen-Age Baseball tournament here Wednesday night when they defeated a scrappy Belmead Milky Way Food Store squad, 6-4.

A short time earlier, the Texarkana Braves had sent the Odessa Frank Green's vs. Belmead Milky Way (loser's bracket), 2 p.m.; Pasadena Red Sox vs. Dallas Police Association (winner's bracket), 5:30 p.m.; Big Spring Kiwanians vs. Texarkana Braves (winner's bracket), 8:30 p.m.

A crowd estimated at more than 2,000 watched the action Wednesday night and most of them lingered until Big Spring made certain it had stashed away the victory.

Charley Burdette fashioned the mound victory for Big Spring. The Kiwanians were guilty of erratic play and kept Burdette in hot water much of the time but the right-hander was especially tough in the clutches. Each side committed five bobbles afield.

Billy Pineda was Big Spring's hitting star. He collected two of the three safeties the locals collected off two Belmead hurlers and drove in three runs.

One of his blows was a two-run double in the second and Pineda went ahead and scored on an overthrow of third base. The Kiwanians never trailed after that.

Belmead collected four hits off Burdette, who fanned 13 and issued only one free ticket to first. Charley Makowski and Don Smith divided time on the mound for the Milky Ways.

Texarkana and Odessa had matching three-run outbursts in the second round but the Braves scored a tally in the first and added an insurance run in the sixth.

Each team drove out eight hits during the struggle and Odessa had numerous chances but failed to capitalize on them.

David Jones was credited with the mound win while Bobby Campbell was the loser.

Pete Gray drove in three tallies for the Braves while James Mooneyham and Phil Easley each had two hits for the winners. Gilbert Vasquez and Mike Pinner each connected safely twice for Odessa.

Pasadena's Red Sox vanquished the Fort Worth North Side Raiders, 1-0, and the Dallas Police Association held on to topple the Baylor Yanks, 5-4, in the first two games of the tournament.

Fort Worth supplied the state champion last year in a tournament held in Pasadena.

Pasadena managed only one hit off Fort Worth's Butch Dawson and that did not figure in the scoring.

Bill Stoltz, the Sox's catcher, scored what proved to be the winning run in the second after gaining life on a base on balls. He legged it around on two passed balls.

Stoltz later connected for Pasadena's only safety, a fourth-inning single.

Fort Worth collected seven hits off Rollin Cochran, Pasadena's starting hurler, who sailed along in great style until the seventh inning, when Eddie Pordula and Doyle Hobbs reached base and moved up to third and second with only one out.

Jose Camarillo came on to spell Cochran and struck out Ken Hancock and Bobby Pena to end the game.

Mike Bito and Jimmy Jones teamed up to hurl the Dallas club past Baytown, despite solo home runs by Stanley Bishop and Allen Tomlinson.

Baytown outthit the Dallas team, 5-4, Tomlinson getting two of the safeties and driving in three runs.

In the sixth, John Amend scored what proved to be the winning run after walking. Jones followed with a single and Amend then raced home on a one-baser by Bobby Campbell.

Baytown succeeded in loading the sacks in the top half of the seventh but Jones, the winning hurler, forced Carl Greene to hit into a forced play at home, then ended the thrilling contest by throwing a double play ball to Bill Askey.

Ailing Mays Clouts Brace Of Home Runs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I shouldn't be playing," said Willie Mays. "I'm doing it only to help the manager."

It's a cinch Willie wasn't doing it for the New York Mets. The San Francisco Giants' star center fielder showed up at Shea Stadium Wednesday night nursing a heavy cold and when Manager Alvin Dark made out his line-up, Mays wasn't in it.

But five minutes before game time Willie decided to play. The Say-Hey Kid then clouted two home runs — his 30th and 31st of the season — and the Giants coasted to a 4-1 victory over the Met. "These guys are trying to get Dark fired," Mays said. "I've got to help the man." Mays came to his manager's defense the best way he knew how — with his bat.

Dark's position as manager was reportedly shaky following racial remarks attributed to him which appeared in Long Island newspaper. Dark denied the quotes to reporters Tuesday and then held a club meeting to explain his position to the players Wednesday.

The power show whipped the Mets but didn't help the Giants in the National League pennant race. Despite winning, San Francisco fell two games back of the Philadelphia Phillies, who swept a two-night doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 2-1. St. Louis topped Chicago 4-2, Milwaukee downed Cincinnati 6-3 and Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 4-3 in other NL games.

The three homers were the first hit by the Giants in Shea Stadium this year.

Ron Herbel went the distance for San Francisco, scattering six hits to win his eighth game.

Richie Allen's leadoff homer in the ninth inning gave the Phillies the second game after sacrifice flies had produced three runs in the opener. Allen tagged reliever Hal Woodeshick's first pitch in the ninth for his 19th homer.

Pinch hitter Cookie Rojas drove in Tony Taylor with the winning run in the seventh inning of the opener. Taylor, who had knocked in the first Phillies' run in the second, tripled and scored on Rojas' sacrifice fly. Philadelphia wrapped it up with two in the eighth.

Bill White's 14th homer, a three-run shot, helped the Cardinals trip the Cubs. Bob Humphreys, who relieved starter Gordon Richardson in the sixth, hurled four innings of shutout ball to preserve the victory.

Eddie Mathews' two-run homer, his 15th of the year, started a five-run Milwaukee spurt in the eighth inning that gave the Braves their victory. Leo Cardenas and Don Pavletich homered for the Reds.

The Dodgers nursed a 3-2 lead into the ninth but Jim Pagnaroni's leadoff homer against Ron Serrano tied it. After Dick Schofield singled, Bob Miller replaced Perranoski and walked Bob Bailey. Roberto Clemente's base hit scored Schofield from second winning it for the Pirates.

South Surge Defeats North

FORT WORTH (AP)—They'll talk a long time about the amazing comeback of the South Wednesday night as it pulled the biggest upset in the history of the Texas Coaching School all-star basketball game. It beat the North 82-76.

Underdog by a 6 to 1 margin, it couldn't combat the great height and scoring potential of the North, the Rebels took over in the second half.

Mickey McCarty of Pasadena and Tom Molina of San Diego, the South's only 6-5 players, controlling the boards and Jimmy Lenox of Clear Creek combining with McCarty and Larry Miller of San Antonio led to poke in the points, the South moved to a record-shattering victory.

Had it not been for the brilliant Billy Arnold of Fort Worth Halton, who turned in the greatest exhibition of outside shooting the game has known, the North would have been crushed.

Arnold scored 26 points for an individual record in the 18-year-old series. The boy who's headed for Texas was a heavy choice for outstanding player of the game although he was on the losing team.

McCarty was the big man for the South. He plucked 17 rebounds and scored 19 points, which was quite a night. He made Texas Christian, for which he is headed, very happy.

A full court press the South put on to open the second half when it was behind 47-37 was one of the main things that brought it victory. Key man in the defense was Larry Black of South San Antonio.

It was a welcome sight to Coach Foster Martin of Houston Jeff Davis. "The biggest surprise of the game to me was that wonderful defensive play—I didn't think he was that good."

All sorts of records were set. The crowd was the largest in the history of the series with 7,244 paid admissions. The game produced the largest aggregate score with 158 points. And the South had the largest single team score—82 points.

The South set another record by taking 106 shots at the basket.

Tascosa Shaded In Legion Meet

AMARILLO (AP)—Houston Lamar downed Denison 4-2 and Austin Travis whopped Amarillo Tascosa 6-1 Wednesday in the first round of the American Legion State Tournament. Lubbock Monterrey, the fifth team in competition, drew a bye.

Travis pitcher Mike Williams blasted a home run and had three RBIs to pace the victory. Lamar's Hugh Hamilton cracked a two-run single in the ninth to drive in the winning run in that contest.

In today's action, Monterrey plays Lamar and Tascosa meets Denison. The tournament ends Sunday.

MALLEN, Tex. (AP)—Robert Arrambide, 16-year-old outfielder for San Antonio Southside's Colt League baseball team, died Wednesday night after being hit in the head with a thrown ball.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Jeff Brown, the Big Spring product who opened the 1964 season on the Auburn NYP league roster, is now with Williamsport, Pa., in the Eastern league.

Four other Auburn performers made the trip with Brown. Jeff got in a game shortly after joining Williamsport and collected one hit in four tries.

For him, it seemed strange going to the plate, since he had been held out of action at Auburn.

Williamsport is one of six teams in the Eastern circuit. The others are Elmira (farm club of the Baltimore Orioles), York (Washington), Springfield (San Francisco), Reading (Boston) and Charleston (Indians).

Wilbur Huckle, the former Sul Ross College star, is playing shortstop for the Williamsport club. He made the league's all-star club this year and wound up collecting two hits in the all-star contest.

Among Brown's teammates are Bill Haas, Ray Apple, Deane Richards, Mike Joyce, Ron Swoboda, Dennis Musgrove and Grover Powell, the contracts of which (like that of Brown's) are controlled by the New York Mets.

Ernie White, the former St. Louis Card hurler who managed Midland a few years ago, is pilot of the Williamsport club.

In a letter to this window, Jeff says most of the Eastern league parks are huge and the ball doesn't carry very well in any of them.

The Big Spring native plans to return to school here and is scheduled to take up himself a ride Sept. 19.

The Eastern clubs, Williamsport included, makes some long road trips. The Williamsport's jump from home base to Springfield is 353 miles but that's a relatively short haul. The club travels up to 700 miles on some of its trips (when going from a series in Springfield to one in Charleston). On those occasions, however, the team gets a day of rest between games.

Brown is winding up his second season in professional baseball. Last year he was with Quincy, Ill., in the Midwest league.

No poll was taken at the conclusion of baseball competition in District 3-AAA last spring to select an all-conference team.

A few weeks ago, this writer agreed to serve as a clearing house for the ballots, if the coaches would submit their ideas of team.

Here is the result of that poll:

CATCHER — Archie Jennings, Brownfield; PITCHERS — Amalio Garcia, Brownfield, and Larry Damborsky, Colorado City; FIRST BASE — Bill McGuire, Colorado City; SECOND BASE — David McKay, Colorado City; THIRD BASE — Connie Vernon, Brownfield; SHORTSTOP — Ronnie Nunley, Brownfield; OUTFIELDERS — Benny Pace, Sweetwater; Corky McAdams, Colorado City, and Rob Hall, Snyder.

Honorable mention — Pitchers — David Bearden, Colorado City; George Butts, Sweetwater, and J. N. Wall, Snyder; catcher — Kenny Gay, Snyder; first base — Drew Ballard, Snyder; second base — Martin Bentler, Snyder, and Bailey, Amena; shortstop — Leslie Brown, Snyder; third base — Jimmy Marcan, Snyder; outfielders — Danny Kenemur, Colorado City; Jay Williamson, Snyder, and John Bost, Brownfield.

Baltimore Again Blows Chance To Take Lead

By The Associated Press
Dean Chance, who shares his escapades with Bo Belinsky, now has hooked onto a guy to share his shutouts.

Chance usually works alone on the mound but needed a co-laborer Wednesday night and found rookie Bob Lee a willing accomplice as the two combined efforts in the Los Angeles 1-0 shutout over the pennant-hopeful Baltimore Orioles.

It was the Angels second successive shutout against the Orioles, their ninth in the last month and their 18th of the season — tops in the American League. And Chance and Lee have had their hands in an even dozen.

Lee, who got to be a reliever with the Angels because he didn't want to be a reliever with Pittsburgh, now has shared six shutouts with his Angel teammates. He pitched scoreless ball for 23 1-3 innings over a 16-game stretch and lowered his earned run average to a brilliant 1.58.

A 26-year-old right-hander, Lee was in the Pirate farm system until he balked at being a reliever. He became a starter after taking a cut in salary — and during spring training was sold to the Angels for $25,000.

The defeat didn't cost the Orioles in the pennant chase as all three leading contenders lost for the second night in a row.

The first-place New York Yankees remained one percentage point in front despite a 10-1 beating by Kansas City and the third-place Chicago White Sox stayed a full game off the pace after a 3-1, 13-inning loss to Detroit.

Elsewhere, Harmon Killebrew hit his 38th homer as Minnesota belted Boston 6-1 and Cleveland walked Washington 9-0.

Lee allowed only one hit and struck out four over the final three innings after Chance, who got the victory for a 12-5 record, kept the Orioles scoreless for six innings despite allowing eight hits. The Orioles stranded 10 runners, including two each in the second through sixth innings.

The Angels scored the game's only run in the third on Lennie Green's double and a single by Jim Fregosi, tagging rookie Wally Bunker, 12-3, with his first defeat since mid-June.

The A's got the job done against the Yankees with Nelson Mathews hitting a grand slam homer and Rocky Colavito driving in three runs with a 4-for-4 performance, including his 28th homer. Colavito now is hitting .500 against the Yankees in 11 games this season.

Bailey Whips Wilkerson, 4-3

Charles Bailey, last year's city golf champion, continued his bid for a second straight title as he blasted past young but talented Tommy Wilkerson, 4-3, Wednesday in the only championship flight match seen on the municipal course.

The victory left Bailey with a semi-finals match against tough Dan Lewis, one golfer who has been playing almost spectacular golf up to this point in the tournament. The other semi-finals slot is a battle between 1962 city champion Jimmy Newson and last year's finalist and medalist, Bernard Rains.

All matches in the tournament must be concluded by dark Saturday.

Record Crowd Is Likely For Game

FORT WORTH (AP)—A record crowd of 30,000 is expected tonight when all-star football teams of the Texas Coaching School clash in the 30th annual game.

The reasons are obvious: Warren McVea, great running back of San Antonio Brackenridge, is going to play, and the game is supposed to be one of the closest in history.

McVea is the highly publicized star who was sought by about 70 colleges. He wound up at the University of Houston.

He is one of two Negroes making the first appearance of their race in the all-star game. A. Z. Drones, a great San Angelo tackle, is the other and they are opposing each other—McVea is the split end on the South team while Drones is the defensive power of the North.

Local Teams In Tourney

BIG SPRING — Big Spring's two teams are poised for play in the Texas State ASA Softball tournament, which gets under way here this evening and continues through Saturday night.

The Merchants and Skateland are representing Big Spring and their lineups have been strengthened by players from other teams.

The tourney's opener pits Conoco of Abilene, winner of the District 11 Tournament held in Abilene, against San Angelo's Goodfellow Air Force Base at 7:30 tonight. The Merchants of Abilene face Austin's Stripling-Blake at 8:45 while the Athletic Supply A's clash with the Big Spring Merchants at 10:10.

The mammoth event will see 28 teams battling for the state crown and berth to the regional tourney, which will also be held in Brownwood, Sept. 4, 5, and 6.

Austin's Merchants will be back trying to make history at the tourney in an attempt to their third straight win. Also billed as a hot contender is Beaumont.

The tourney will require at least 54 games, but a team could take the crown with six wins. Any team losing its opener would have to battle through nine tilts to gain the title.

District titlists and runners-up have been given berths in the tourney.

Dear Abby

Topless Suits

DEAR ABBY: When I first heard about the topless bathing suits for women I thought it was just a lot of talk. But yesterday I was shopping in one of our finest department stores, and I actually SAW one for sale! Is it possible that our American women would even consider wearing a topless swim suit in public? If so, we have indeed reached the lowest point in our so-called civilization. Even lower than the decadence which preceded the fall of the Roman Empire. Have we become so numb to indecency that nothing is sacred any more? We are at the same time striving for world peace. Who cares if Khrushchev pushes the button? What's left to save?

MOTHER OF GIRLS
DEAR MOTHER: The bottoms.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law has five grandchildren, two of which are my children. Ever since I can recall, on the mornings of their birthdays she would give me some cash and ask me if I minded buying them a present from her. She said it was hard for her to get around etc., etc. I have always bought the gifts and said nothing. The last time she asked me if I minded, I said, "Yes, I DO mind," and I told her why. Abby, I have driven from one end of this town to the other while she personally shopped for birthday gifts for her other grandchildren — her daughter's children — and if she can ask ME to drive her around while she shops for THEM, she can ask her daughter to drive her around while she shops for MINE. She told my husband, and he is furious with me. Was I wrong?

STANDING ALONE
DEAR STANDING: You were justified in feeling that you were not being treated fairly, but you'd have been wise to have said nothing. The daughter versus the daughter-in-law competition is as old as the marriage law, and you won't win that battle in one round.

DEAR ABBY: There is a boy in my neighborhood who used to like me, but he hasn't paid any attention to me for a while now. Would it be all right if I called him up and asked him what I did to make him mad at me? I have asked all the kids he is friendly with if they know why he hardly ever says "hi" to me, and they say they don't know. Maybe if I could talk to him I could get him interested in me again. I am 15 and so is he.

HUNG UP ON HIM
DEAR HUNG UP: Don't call him. And unless you want to kill any future interest he may have in you, don't ask his friends any questions about him. Forward females' finish last.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column daily. May I comment on the "baby sitting" issue: When young people refuse to "sit" for their parents, or demand payment from their parents for this service, it is the PARENTS who have failed, not the children. They should have been taught respect for their elders at an early age.

Hearing Opens On Pollution

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Water Pollution Control Board opened Wednesday a third in a series of hearings on salt water disposal problems in the Panhandle.

The board heard testimony on pollution problems in portions of Dallas, Lipscomb, Hemphill, Oldham and Potter counties overlying the Ogallala underground water formation.

The board has held hearings on two other portions of the High Plains area served by Ogallala water, and has banned the use of unlined salt water pits by oilmen in eight counties — Dawson, Terry, Hale, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lynn and Swisher.

The hearings followed complaints by conservation and farm groups, which contend that seepage of the oilfield brine is polluting the underground water formation, which underlies parts of all of 48 counties.

DREAMING OF MADRID
Nancy Marshall makes plans for a year in Spain

Texas Lass Gets Set For Year In Spain

By MARY COCHRAN
Spain means more than bull fights and fandangos to Nancy Marshall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Marshall, 1303 Pennsylvania. It is the country where she will be getting her education for the coming year as a student at the University of Madrid.

She will be participating in the New York University "Junior Year Abroad" program and finishing her major field of study in Spanish. The year's work will begin with a saturation course during the month of September primarily aimed at adjusting the U. S. students to Castilian pronunciation and familiarizing them with the country and the university.

Approximately 130 students — eight of whom are from Texas — will be in this program, and they will crowd in six full days of study each week under the tutelage of the university professors. Special tours throughout the country will be made on Sundays.

OCTOBER TERM
When the fall term at the university begins in October, Nancy and her companions will join the 30,000 students in the regular courses of study. She plans to include composition, history and literature in her study course and will be enrolled in the School of Letters and Philosophy.

One course she is looking forward to with special pleasure is an art course that will be taught at the Prado. There she will be able to see and learn about the great Spanish masterpieces.

When Nancy was a student at Christian University her roommate and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority sister, Judith Allen of Comanche, was able to tell her a great deal about life on the Spanish campus. She had attended the year before and had many tips for Nancy.

From the feminine point of view, there is always the question of what to wear. Students at the University of Madrid dress more formally than their American sisters. They wear high heeled shoes to class and their fashion styles are usually a year ahead of those in the U.S.

COLDER CLIMATE
The climate is quite cold in the winter and clothing suitable for Texas campuses will not be adequate. There are many places in Madrid where clothes may be made to order and Nancy plans to purchase many garments there.

She was delighted to know that high fashion hairdressers were easily available and their prices were much lower than in our country. She can have suitable coiffures for as little as $1. Nancy has obtained a room in the home of a Marquesa and will travel by subway or bus to the campus. The university maintains its own transportation system for the vast campus.

The hours for dining will be different for this young Texan. In Spain, lunch is from 2 to 3:30 p.m. and the evening meal is served at 10 or 10:30 p.m. There is no social life incorporated in the school system, for it is aimed specifically at education. However, there is a giant stadium at the campus where soccer is the popular sport.

TRAVEL PLANNED
For entertainment there are many night spots where the students can gather. One of the favorite activities of the U.S. students is travel. On long weekends and holidays they will individually be spending their leisure hours touring the continent. At Christmas, Nancy will have a long vacation period and

While in Colorado Springs, they had dinner with Col. and Mrs. Jack Price, who made their home here while he was stationed at Webb Air Force Base. The Ramseys spent some time fishing in Gunnison and Lake City, Colo., and Red River, N. M.

Violent Storms, Tornado Sweep Coast Wednesday

By The Associated Press

Violent thunderstorms and at least one tornado injured thirteen persons on the Gulf Coast Wednesday night, as the drought lengthened, and temperatures continued sizzling elsewhere.

A Houston city bus ran off a rain-slick street and overturned during the storm, injuring six persons. They were treated for minor injuries at a hospital.

Five persons were hurt during the tornado at Keith Lake, around Sabine Pass, and damage was reported heavy. Two others were injured when high winds and rains lashed Groves, a Port Arthur suburb.

The most intense storm area centered around Sabine Pass, where the Coast Guard reported winds gusting up to 103 miles an hour. Winds gusting up to 61 miles per hour in Houston, dropping temperatures from 92 to 72 degrees in the first 20 minutes of the storm.

Power and communication failures were common along the coast for short periods of time. The Coast Guard rescued a man from a 16-foot boat being swept to sea and the crew from another small fishing vessel. Many other boats were overturned in the churning waters.

R. T. Austin said a tornado struck his home 10 miles west of Galveston, blowing out windows and ripping off part of the roof. Two other tornado funnels were sighted in the area. Galveston was hit by hail and heavy rain, whipped along by winds up to 77 m.p.h.

Houston's precipitation was 1.82 inches at the airport. Galveston recorded .74 of an inch.

The coastal area is the part of Texas suffering least from the seven-week drought. Its vegetation is still green, compared to a dusty beige of many other places. Water restrictions were imposed daily in smaller towns.

Wednesday was also one of the hottest days of the year, with 111 degrees at Seymour and 110 at Sulphur Springs and Wichita Falls setting the pace. It was Wichita Falls' 32nd straight day of over-100-degree weather. Early this morning, light to moderate showers spread southward from Sulphur Springs and toward from east of Waco to Corsicana. 23 of an inch at Lufkin. Heavy to near Wills Point. Another isolated light shower moved southward from Ardmore, Okla.

Strong winds were still battering parts of the upper Texas coast this morning. The forecast was for most upcoming thunder-shower activity to center in East and Central Texas this evening and later tonight in the Panhandle.

Showers Wednesday fell near Texarkana and Longview and rain also briefly flooded parts of Beaumont.

Other maximum temperatures Wednesday included Mineral Wells 103, Fort Worth 106, Dallas and Childress 107, San Angelo 105, Presidio 105, San Antonio 104, Waco 106, Carthage 108, Greenville 108, College Station 104, Laredo and Lufkin 106, and Midland 103.

Early morning readings today ranged from 88 degrees at Dallas to 72 at Dalhart.

Funeral Held For Jim Reeves

CARTHAGE (AP)—They laid Jim Reeves to rest Wednesday in a quiet bit of East Texas, which he left to achieve fame as a singer of country music. Reeves, 39, died Friday in a private plane crash near Nashville, Tenn. It was in the DeBerry community east of here that Reeves sidetracked by injury from a major league career with the St. Louis Cardinals.

A two-acre memorial plot purchased by the widow is the site of the grave. Tall oak trees shade the spot, which is close to a small church and cemetery. East Texans recall Reeves as a promising baseball player

Average Declines

AUSTIN (AP)—The average calendar day allowable of Texas' 208,000 oil wells as of Saturday was 2,732,416 barrels, the State Railroad Commission said Tuesday. The total is 52,492 barrels less than the previous week.

Music To Truck Driving

NEW YORK (AP)—The burlesque blonde crossed her dungaree-clad legs, tilted the peaked cap to shadow her baby-blue eyes, and explained why she switched from teaching music to driving a truck: "I was getting stale."

She is Miss Jeanie Manning, 26, 5 feet 3 inches tall, 122 pounds, and 38-25-36. Wednesday was her first day on the job with the National Auto Renting Co., and her first assignment was taking a 4-ton, 29-foot truck from the main terminal to a garage warehouse.

She has been doing this on trial solo runs for the past week and had her hectic moments. In the Midtown Tunnel from Manhattan to Queens there had been an accident in the tube, and she "skimmed the side of the tunnel," swerving the big truck around stalled vehicles.

Another day, on 10th Avenue, "I lost the second gear. So while I was figuring where it was, all around me was traffic and the din of horns. But I found it."

A native of Kingsville, Tex., the young woman's real surname is Meurer. She was born in San Antonio and was graduated from The Texas College of Arts and Industries with a degree in music.

She came to New York six years ago with theatrical aspirations. That's why, she said, she changed her last name.

For three years she taught music and English in Oceanside on Long Island. But she also worked in an electronics factory, a dance studio, a handbag factory, and cocktail lounges, playing the piano.

She says her boy friend, a psychiatrist, worries about her and in turn "he worries me."

"He won't try to analyze why I am driving a truck," she said. "But every day I'm on the road I have to check in with him by phone to tell him I'm O.K."

MRS. E. R. WILLIAMSON

Cooking Is Pleasure For Mrs. Williamson

By MARY COCHRAN
Whether cooking for six or 600, Mrs. E. R. Williamson enjoys her work. When her four children were home, she had meals for the family of six. For the last two years, she has been manager at Marcy School cafeteria and has been cooking for as many as 600.

"I can't remember when I didn't know how to cook," said Mrs. Williamson. "I do remember at the age of nine, when baking cookies for a sick friend, I put meringue on the cookies and that wasn't too successful." Though those earlier adventures in cooking weren't always perfect they did pave the way for her excellence in culinary skills. There has been a spirit of adventure in Mrs. Williamson's cooking, too, as in that cookie experiment. She has collected recipes and developed and refined many of her own through the years.

LEANER TIMES
During the early years of marriage, when the great depression was on, her skill in preparing foods meant a great deal to the family. Williamson worked for an oil company in Oklahoma, and they lived on a lease where the family raised their own chickens and pigs and kept a large vegetable garden. There was a cow to milk and by selling some of the milk, they could purchase the daily supply of ice from the milk money. "No one had much money in those days, but we always had plenty to eat," said Mrs. Williamson. This was before the days of the home freezer and she became expert in the field of canning, whether fruits, vegetables or meats. They butchered their own meat, cured bacon and made homemade sausage. "We shared with our neighbors in those days," she said. At their country home there was plenty of game to eat. Young tender squirrel was fried, and the older ones were stewed with dumplings. She baked duck with an onion and an apple tucked inside to absorb the strong game flavor. Before frying fish from the nearby pond, it was first soaked in salt and vinegar water.

FAMILY FEASTS
Mr. and Mrs. Williamson moved to town and made their home at 3215 Auburn in 1961. There are many occasions for family feasts, for, with the exception of their son, Henry, who is in the army, their children are all Big Spring residents. They are Russell, Mrs. Gene Lockhart and Mrs. James Nelson. Also, there are 11 grandchildren who look forward to a birthday dinner or barbecue with their grandparents. "I barbecue the easy way," said Mrs. Williamson. "I may use chicken, goat, deer or ham, and after searing the meat, I put it in the electric oven with my own barbecue sauce and am free to go about my other chores."

The whole family pitches in on cooking chores. Both daughters learned to cook early in life. Williamson prepares his own tasty dishes at the cook shack on the oil lease each day at noon and on occasion serves a meal to his wife when she finds a chance to go with him. Her recipe collection is in a loose leaf notebook presented to her by her son. It bears the humorous inscription, "Till Diet Tomorrow" and is filled with old recipes handed down from friends and family. As she thumbs through the pages, many memories are renewed of other days and occasions. No recipe gets into this book until it has been personally tested and accepted as worthy.

Here are some favorites she has served the family and their friends many times. The enchilada and ice cream recipes are her own and the ice box cookies are treats the children at school enjoy during the winter.

GREEN ENCHILADAS
1 lb. longhorn cheese
1 large onion
1 doz. tortillas
1 small can green chilies
1 small can pimientos
Small amount of lettuce
1/2 stick butter
3 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
Grate cheese. Peel and chop onions fine. Using half the cheese, roll chopped onion and cheese in tortillas and place in pan. To make sauce, melt butter, add flour and blend. Add salt and milk and cook until smooth bringing to boil. Remove from heat, add the remaining half of grated cheese, chopped green chilies and pimientos. Also, a small amount of chopped lettuce. Pour sauce over the rolled tortillas and bake 15 to 20 minutes in 400 degree oven. Serve at once.

ELLEN'S ICE BOX COOKIES
1 lb. brown sugar
1/2 lb. butter or margarine
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cream of tartar
4 cups flour
1 cup nuts, chopped
Mix ingredients in order listed. Shape into rolls and chill. Slice thin and bake as needed in 400 degree oven until lightly browned, on greased cookie sheet. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

HOMEMADE ICE CREAM
1 tall can evaporated milk
1 pkg. ice cream powder (vanilla)
4 eggs
2 1/2 cups sugar

1/2 tsp. salt
2 qts. homogenized milk
2 tps. vanilla
Chill canned milk until very cold and whip. Add ice cream powder. Separate egg yolks from whites and add the yolks to the whipped mixture. Beat egg whites separately. Add to mixture. Add sugar, salt and vanilla. Pour in the milk and freeze in ice cream freezer till firm. Ice cream is better if packed and left to stand before eating. This recipe makes 4 quarts of ice cream.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS
2 pkgs. dry yeast or 2 cakes yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup scalded milk
2 eggs
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. nutmeg
7 or 8 cups sifted flour
Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Add shortening to scalded milk. Add sugar, salt and nutmeg. When milk has cooled to lukewarm add water, yeast and eggs and mix in flour to make a stiff dough. Place dough in large greased bowl and let rise until double in bulk. Punch down, and let rise again. Roll dough to 1/2-inch thickness and cut into doughnuts. Lay out to rise about 1 hour and fry in deep fat. Dip in thin powdered sugar icing after frying. Makes 30 to 60 doughnuts.

New Ways With Mix

Muffins have as many varieties as there are cooks. Dare to be different and make your own combinations. Here are several approaches to muffin cookery.

CHEESE MUFFINS
1 envelope active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
2-3 cup soft yellow cheddar cheese
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 egg
2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
2 1/4 to 2 1/2 cups sifted flour

Sprinkle yeast over warm (around 105 degrees) water in mixing bowl. Let stand 5 minutes. Add cheese, sugar, salt, egg, melted butter and 1 cup of the flour. Beat 2 minutes—until cheese is well blended. (With electric mixer, use low speed.) Gradually add remaining flour to form a dough; mix well. Fill well-greased muffin cups about half full of dough. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled—1 to 1 1/2 hours. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until a deep golden brown. Serve hot. Makes 12 if muffin wells are each about 3 inches across top and 1 1/4 inches deep.

GRAHAM GEMS
1 cup unsifted graham or whole wheat flour
1 cup sifted flour
3 tps. baking powder
3/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tps. melted shortening
Mix together graham flour, sifted flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk and shortening. Stir into dry ingredients. Stir to mix only. Do not beat. Fill large deep muffin pans, rubbed with shortening, one-half full. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes.

ORANGE MUFFINS
2 cups sifted flour
3 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 tps. sugar
1 egg
1 1/2 tps. grated orange rind
1 cup orange juice
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg until thick and ivory colored; add orange rind and orange juice; beat to mix. Add sifted dry ingredients and melted butter; stir just until moistened. Fill buttered muffin-pan cups two-thirds full. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 25 minutes. Makes 12 medium-sized muffins. Serve hot.

You Can Bake A Watermelon If It's An Angel Food Cake

Don't buy your next watermelon—bake it!

All you need to bake a watermelon cake is angel food cake mix, chocolate pieces and food coloring says the August issue of a teenage magazine. Bake your bright pink and green cake in a mixing bowl and it will come out looking like half of a watermelon.

The cake is as sweet as watermelon, light as air and edible from "rind" to "pits"—which are actually semisweet chocolate pieces. The outside is creamy frosting mix tinted deep green.

Here is the recipe for this end-of-the-season surprise:

WATERMELON CAKE
2 pkgs. angel food cake mix
1 bottle (1/4 oz.) each red, green, yellow food coloring
1/4 cup semisweet chocolate pieces
2 pkgs. creamy white frosting mix
Prepare egg-white packet from one package of cake mix following the directions on box and adding one bottle of red food coloring to water required. Add flour packet as directed. Set this batter aside. Prepare egg-white packet from second package of mix, this time tinting the water a medium-yellow green. Add second flour packet as directed. Spread green batter on bottom and sides of two deep four-quart metal bowls. Spread a cupful of red batter in bottom of

DO EAT THE SEEDS!

This watermelon is a cake with chocolate seeds

each bowl. Sprinkle on about 10 chocolate pieces, add more batter, sprinkle more chocolate pieces. Repeat until all batter is used—ending with batter. Bake at 375 degrees 30 to 40 minutes or until top is well-browned.

Remove from oven and immediately slice off any cake that may have risen above the top of the bowls. Turn bowls over, cool on wire rack.

Now prepare your frosting: Place both packages of frosting mix in a large bowl along with required butter and water. Prepare as package directs, adding enough green and a little yellow food coloring to make a deep green rind color. When cakes are completely cool, remove from bowls and frost all but the flat (cut) surface. Cut one cake into eight "watermelon" wedges. To keep the other cake sitting upright, prop it at the back with cake scraps. Makes two cakes. For a small group of your family, prepare one package of cake mix. Divide contents of egg-white packet evenly in two bowls. In one bowl add half the water and red tint called for; add half the flour, as directed, to make red batter. Repeat with remaining ingredients, using green tint. Proceed as directed above, using one bowl, two tablespoons of chocolate pieces. Use on package of frosting mix. Makes one cake.

Corn Now Available

Sweet corn is a "mystery" vegetable.

No variety of corn has ever been found growing wild anywhere in the world, and the mystery of its origin has never been solved.

But the tasty, delicious flavor of sweet corn is no mystery. It's known far and wide. You'll find fresh sweet corn in plentiful supply during August, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service.

The secret of flavorful corn is freshness, so select ears that are fresh and green. The kernels should be bright and plump-looking.

To maintain the best in taste, corn is rushed from the field to packing houses in a matter of minutes. There, the corn is run through a series of cold water showers, immediately loaded on waiting freight cars and packed in ice. Corn that stands for any length of time without cooking becomes tough and loses its flavor. This is because corn goes on ripening, even after it is picked and the sugar changes to starch.

Corn is perfect for cookouts. Have corn ready for cooking in the husk or sealed in foil, wrap with a damp towel and place in a food chest, bucket or other container along with blocks of ice.

It's hard to improve upon the taste of fresh corn-on-the-cob, salted and dripping with butter. Broiled corn is an interesting "different" way to cook it. Prepare corn in a steaming kettle of slightly salted water. Count 5 to 8 minutes after water has returned to boil. Then remove corn from water and place on broiling rack or baking sheet under moderate heat and broil 4 to 5 minutes on each side. Delicious!

Mushroom For Relish

A quick version of a favorite relish to serve with cold meats.

MUSHROOM RELISH
2 cans (6 ozs. each) chopped mushrooms
2 cans (6 ozs. each) sliced mushrooms
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup cider vinegar
2 tps. mixed pickling spice, tied in a cheesecloth bag
2 tps. instant minced onion
Turn both kinds of mushrooms into a strainer or colander to drain thoroughly. Pour 1 cup of the mushroom liquid into a small saucepan; add salt, sugar, vinegar and spice bag; stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring slowly to a boil. Pour over mushrooms in a shallow container.

Cover and cool; chill overnight; remove spice bag. Store in refrigerator. At serving time, remove mushrooms from liquid with a slotted spoon; any mushrooms not served should be left in the pickling liquid for further storage.

A Devotional For The Day

Whoever will be great among you, let him be your minister; and whoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant. (Matthew 20:26-27.)
 PRAYER: O Lord, may I stop blaming others for my unforgiveness, my neighbor for my spite, children for my tantrums, society for these thorns and thistles in my heart. Purge! Prune! Uproot! Burn! Make the tree good, Lord — the tree, my life. In Christ's name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Challenge And Response

There has been a challenge and a response in Tonkin Gulf off North Viet Nam.
 Now we await the verdict. Soon we shall see whether this is a probing of our intent, our will and our strength in Southeast Asia, or whether attacks upon our destroyers was a calculated move by the North Vietnamese and their Chinese Communist supporters.
 In this resolute determination not to let unprovoked attack on the high seas go without reply, the President has the backing of virtually all Americans. Indeed, he has support in the extension of action to make the reply unmistakable by striking back at the bases of the attackers. This is clear and unmistakable language and it should be useful to the adversaries in determining their next step.

 Make no mistake—the situation is ticklish and it is capable of explosiveness. But there is reason to believe that in the long run this may have a pronounced effect in clearing the air in Southeast Asia.
 It is somewhat ironical that this episode occurred almost to the day on the 50th anniversary (see "The First One" below), but perhaps this positive response from a position of strength may well avert what occurred half a century ago.

The First One

The morning was bright and clear and luminous as the eight lance-bearing German cavaliers trotted up to a French sentry post near Belfort. A French corporal challenged. The German patrol leader fired his pistol three times. The French corporal fired three rifle shots. The German dropped from his horse. The Frenchman fell dead. The first world war had begun. It was 50 years ago today.

The pretext was the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand von Österreich-Este, the heir apparent to the throne of the Hapsburg Empire, more than a month before. But war would have come without the assassination. Europe in the summer of 1914 was drunk with militarism.

The German war plan had been drawn up years earlier by Graf Alfred von Schlieffen, chief of the German general staff from 1891 to 1906. "To obtain its object," Capt. B. H. Little Hart records, "Schlieffen's plan concentrated the mass of the German forces on the right wing for a gigantic wheel and designedly took risks by reducing the left wing, facing the French frontier, to the slenderest possible size." Belgium and Holland were to be invaded, and the huge right wing of German might was to sweep around Paris and encircle and crush the French army from the rear.

Schlieffen's plan was tampered with by Gen. Helmuth von Moltke, his successor, who wasted troops in a foolish counteroffensive in Lorraine. The Germans eventually were to be stopped in the four-day battle at the Marne, having threatened Paris but never having reached the French capital.

A German army of 2 million men confronted a French army of 1.3 million men on Aug. 3, 1914. The German army was essentially a civilian reserve one structured by a cadre of hard, brilliant career officers and non-coms. The French had less faith in their reserves, trusting to their long-service professionals.

The invasion of Belgium brought in the British, with an initial expeditionary force of 160,000 men. The war eventually spread to 28 countries of six continents.

The Germans on the first day shot six Belgian hostages and burned the village of Battice as an example to civilians. On the following day they shot Belgian priests. "Our advance in Belgium is certainly brutal," Moltke wrote, "but we are fighting for our lives and all who get in the way must take the consequences."

When the Belgian army refused to let the Germans through, the Zeppelin LZ was flown from Cologne. "The 13 bombs it dropped," Barbara Tuchman observes, "the nine civilians it killed, inaugurated a 20th century practice." But then, World War I was a war of innovation.

World War I introduced the widespread use of the machine gun, the lethal, rapid-firing French 45s, the heavy German mortars and howitzers of Krupp and Skoda. World War I introduced the massive war of the trenches at the cost of an entire generation of English, French, and Germans—more than 8½ million dead in all. World War I gave the world poison gas. And finally, it introduced the tank, the land mine, the flame thrower, and aerial warfare.

World War I, in sum, established the technology of World War II. It ended in a peace without victory, a settlement that helped generate a second world war.

David Lawrence Civil Rights Lost In Rioting

WASHINGTON—From all over the country comes word that people are wondering why the President and the Congress in Washington are doing virtually nothing about the violence and disorder—the looting and the thievery—which have been going on in some of the principal cities of the nation under the guise of expressing racial resentments.

THE QUICK ANSWER given by administration officials is that this is a local matter for the states or for cities. But only a few weeks ago the American people were told that racial relations "affect interstate commerce," and that this was the main reason for passing the "civil rights" law. Not only have the latest riots involved public places of business—interfering with commerce—but the hotels in New York City report many cancellations of reservations made by would-be customers from several states.

Indeed, civil rights are being taken away daily from innocent citizens. There are threats, moreover, to limit the activities of the local police and lodge authority in civilian boards in the cities to review and reverse the acts of the police on grounds of alleged "brutality."

BUT NOTHING is being done to discourage resistance to arrest. If police officers were obeyed, there would be no occasion for disputes about "brutality."

The Congress has watched with dismay the various race riots and the President has spoken of them as regrettable. But he has failed to repudiate any of the Negro organizations involved which have said they are giving him their political support.

WILLIAM H. PARKER, police chief of Los Angeles, who is trained in the law and sociology and is recognized widely as a top authority on law enforcement, was interviewed by "U.S. News & World Report" after the Rochester riots. He was asked if police are being hampered in handling racial trouble. He replied:

"I think so, and I think the pressures put upon the police throughout the nation by such groups as the American Civil Liberties Union—in relation to these so-called citizens' boards to review police actions—have encouraged a flouting of police authority."

"I HAVE READ public statements saying that if the law was not based on justice then it need not be obeyed. This is what they call 'civil disobedience.' But when you do that, you then violate the very basis upon which this democratic republic must rest—and that's the rule of law."

The federal power is being invoked to forbid discrimination in employment and "public accommodations" on the ground of race or color, but it is also discriminatory to allow civil rights to be taken away from white or colored people by means of riots and mob violence.

Billy Graham

I have a very ugly disfigurement on my face. It has made me so unhappy that life really isn't worth living. Someone has suggested to me that I have plastic surgery done, but then I am wondering if this would not be a sinful thing for me to do seeing that God has made me this way.—S. C.

There would be nothing more wrong with having this ugly disfigurement of your face removed by plastic surgery than to have your teeth attended to, than to have eye glasses made to make it possible for you to see better.

But I would caution you on one thing, even though you should have plastic surgery performed, you must always remember that the Bible does not put much stock on outward appearance but rather upon the "heart." And people are cautioned not to have their adorning merely to be outward but rather "let it be the hidden man of the heart, in the incorruptible apparel of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price" (1 Peter 3:4). So then even before you take the steps to beautify your outward appearance, make sure that your heart has been cleansed from sin and you have peace with God. Then you will have an inward beauty, a beauty that might even shine through the physical disfigurement.

Lewis Gulick Could Cause Big Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's most serious international crisis so far lacks the quick explosive potential of President Kennedy's Cuban missile show-down, but South-east Asia could still cause big trouble in the long run.

This is the opinion of administration insiders who worked both with the late president during the 1962 missile confrontation and with Johnson in the decision to strike back at North Viet Nam's navy.

AS SECRETARY OF State Dean Rusk figures it, the Cuba affair saw the world's two great nuclear powers—the United States and the Soviet Union—on collision course. A push of the button then could have plunged the northern hemisphere into a nuclear holocaust.

In Viet Nam shots have been fired, but not atomic ones. Hanoi and Peking don't hold a nuclear trigger. And that, says Rusk, makes today's difficulty less of an immediate danger and incomparable "in any significant way to the Cuban missile crisis."

So far, so good. But what will happen later is loaded with uncertainty.

Just A Roomful Of Beauties

NEW YORK (AP)—The room was full of lovely maidens so charming that butter wouldn't melt in their mouths.

As a matter of fact, they were all so figure-conscious that most of them left the butter untouched on their plates.

The occasion was a luncheon for a group billed as "20 of the world's most beautiful girls" en route to a pageant at Long Beach, Calif., Aug. 14 where one will be named "Miss International Beauty."

MEETING BEAUTY contestants is pretty much like sight-seeing rhapsodies at a county fair. You don't know much about the filling—but the crusts all begin to look much alike.

I was sitting there glumly forking at some tired peas and feeling rather sorry for myself. Then I met the pretty lemon buyer.

She came over and sat down beside me and said that she was Erika Augustin, that she came from Vienna, and that she was "Miss Austria."

She had reddish-brown hair and eyes the color of a Mediterranean sky in spring. Erika turned out to be friendly, affable and frank.

"I AM NO teenager," she admitted. She leaned across the table and confided, "I am 25." Well, that made her different right away. A 25-year-old beauty contestant is about as rare as an octogenarian trying to climb Mt. Everest.

"I did this just for joking," she said. "It is the first contest I have entered."

"In Vienna I model sometimes. I had it in mind to be an actress. But I had to choose a serious work to earn money."

"I am secretary and buyer for a fruit firm. I travel to the South Tyrol and buy apples and pears, and I travel to Greece and buy oranges and lemons."

I dutifully asked the question you must ask all beauty contestants or they feel cheated. "What are your...uh...uh...?"

I said, "Miss Austria drew herself up proudly."

"I AM HIGH one meter, 65 centimeters," she said. "My other measurements are 97-57-94."

"Inches?" I inquired, taking notes furiously. "No—centimeters," she replied. "I don't know what my measurements are in inches. All I know is that in Austria they are the best you can have. There are none better."

On this pleasant note we parted company. I left with the conviction that as a lemon buyer Erika was pretty peachy. The girl really knows her apple strudel.

Around The Rim Somewhere In Between

In current parlance, the terms "leftist," "extreme right wing," and "middle of the road" are used to describe certain positions in the political sky. In attempting to find concrete definitions for these various terms, the layman is often left at sea—indeed, many politicians as well.

LIKE MANY political terms of wide usage, we owe this series of descriptive matter to the French. For the parliamentary house of the first French Republic had the proletariat seated at the left and the Royalists at the right and the parties of other shades of political thought scattered in between.

In those days, it was simple to find out where a politician stood; just find out where he sat. Alas, it isn't so easy today. All too often, they sit practically anywhere, and stand on practically nothing.

IN A WELTER of liberal conservatives, conservative liberals, middle-of-the-roads, southern conservatives, and a host of others, it isn't easy to find out where a fellow is in relation to the other labels of "left" and "right."

ing and their relationships usually depend largely on who is talking.

ANOTHER PROBLEM is that few countries practice a political theory in its purest form. For instance, Russia is not a pure "Communist" country as communism is described historically. There are many instances of private ownership in Russia and profit making as an incentive is still practiced.

The United States is not a pure "capitalistic" nation either, and many instances of socialism are evident. The purist could point to the postal system, public education, the income tax rate scale, the social security system, the idea of TVA, to mention a few.

AS EXTREMES of the political horizon, the terms of freedom and slavery would appear to be more descriptive. A nation of absolute freedom—that is, no government at all—could be at one end, matched by a nation of absolute slavery at the other—an absolute government. I doubt that any nation now existing could fit either description.

BUT ALL NATIONS would be somewhere between the two. The status of various nations would also be easier to observe, less dependent on determining their economics and more dependent on the relationship of the individual with his government. The labels mean little anyway, but it would be convenient to have a system of labelling that would have some relationship to the relative positions of nations, in light of definitive extremes.

Richard Starnes Step Toward A Bigger War

WASHINGTON—Despite the soothing syrup that gushed from every available spigot in the State Department and the Pentagon, official Washington is alarmed by the attack on the USS Maddox in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The Maddox was described as on "routine" patrol, but what was not spelled out was that its principal duty was radar surveillance of the busy sampan fleet that feeds Haiphong, North Viet Nam's only big port, from Chinese coastal points linked by canal, highway and rail with Hanning, a major Communist supply hub.

IT IS ONE of the tasks of the Maddox and its sister picket boats to keep close tally of the fleet of tiny, but marvelously efficient, coastal vessels that support Hanoi's war machine. By use of radar, sonar and other sophisticated means of electronic snooping, ships of the Maddox type can learn a great deal about the volume and nature of the cargo passing from Communist China to North Viet Nam.

There is nothing new in this. Our radar war with Red China has been going on for a long while now. But what is new is the bold daylight attack by Communist vessels against a much more powerful ship.

THE IDEA of mischance or a decision taken at a low level by a subordinate commander can be dismissed.

Had only one enemy PT boat been involved, this point might be debatable. But three boats, plus the determined nature of the attack, make it quite clear that the Red torpedo boats were acting according to a bold and well-thought-out plan.

IN THE EYES of our professionals there can be only two reasons for the attack, although admittedly an infinite combination of subdivisions can be assumed.

Reason No. 1—The enemy sought to further embarrass the American war effort in Southeast Asia by scoring an impressive, if expensive, victory over the hitherto invulnerable fleet that plagues them. They succeeded in the same sort of venture three months ago when saboteurs sank the U. S. aircraft transport Card in Saigon harbor.

BUT IT IS reason No. 2 that sent a chill of disquiet through official Washington. The attack came far below the normal track of Red China-North Viet Nam munitions traffic—indeed not far north of the border between North and South Viet Nam. The Maddox was seriously close to the shore when the attack came, and it is a fair guess that nothing would have enticed it unless its radar scopes had picked up evidence of unusual activity and it had moved in for a close, daylight look.

HEAVIER TRAFFIC than near the 17th-Parallel border between North and beleaguered South could suggest only one thing to top echelons in Washington that are already jumpy over the steadily growing dimension of American involvement in Southeast Asia.

A large build-up of Communist Viet Cong strength. A build-up moving by sampan and junk at night and holing up in the pitted shoreline by day, a build-up doubtless also moving along the dozen or so jungle paths that make up the notorious Ho-Chi-Minh trail.

THE MADDOX incident is alarming because it is another powerful indication that the battle for Southeast Asia may be moving into a larger—and inevitably decisive—phase.

How Far The Realignment?

WASHINGTON—Sen. Karl Mundt's (R., S. D.) reception room walls are decorated with blown-up cartoons that would puzzle a newcomer to Washington.

The caricatures show Mundt sometimes in Confederate cap, sometimes carrying the Stars and Bars, sometimes in friendly postures with Southern Colonels in front of columned Southern mansions. The explanation: Ten or 12 years ago Mundt was an exponent of what we called "party realignment"—a formal conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

MOST OF US born in the early century hardly hoped to live to see it happen—but Barry Goldwater has brought it about, and it may be deeper and broader than it yet appears. Its overt manifestations show a few Republican defectors unwilling to support the GOP national ticket, and hordes of Southern Democrats turning Republican for '64. The mutations are minimal in the North and West, but they're massive in the South. The hitherto minority party is by far the net gainer.

BUT THERE are indications of sub-surface shifts, too. On a morning last week, I talked with two Midwest Democratic senators on the same subject—the Johnsonian prosperity.

One senator, a party liner, declared that President Johnson was done less than justice when described in the main as a master mechanic of governmental devices. The President is certainly that. He can play on Congress as if it were a keyboard, and the complex federal machinery is as familiar—and as obedient—to him as the control panel of a jet airliner to its captain.

"BUT," SAID THIS Johnsonian senator, "he not only knows what government can do—he knows what it can't do. That is why he repeatedly calls in the business leaders and exhorts them to actions for the general economy and public welfare. No President ever understood and attempted to coordinate the total forces of America as Johnson has."

But the other senator, though Democratic, was also a skeptic. Were Johnson's proficiency and dexterity at the governmental gadgetry a blessing or a blight? And was the President coaxing national prosperity—or only the false impression of it? This skeptical senator said:

"THE MEASURES he's extracted from Congress, and the direction in which he's headed the federal establishment, all tend to make people feel prosperous, that's true. The tax cut, the public works, the increased area development, the anti-poverty war, the mass transport program, the Appalachian program and the promise of a job-spread under Civil Rights—every one of these is more of a narcotic than a tonic. Am I going to support him? I want to. As a party man, I ought to. But I don't know. I'll tell you later."

NOW, THIS second senator represents a realignment tendency that hasn't been taken into account.

If there are a substantial number of thoughtful Democrats with similar views, the party realignment may go deeper and farther than we yet know.

Foundation Gives Away All Money

NEW YORK (AP) — The James Foundation announced it has given away its last $96 million and will go out of existence Dec. 31. The fund was founded in the will of Arthur Charles James, who once owned one-seventh of all the railroad mileage in the United States. He died in 1941, leaving $26 million to the fund, which was to operate for 25 years unless its trustees ended it sooner. Some of it was invested in such stocks as International Business Machines and American Natural Gas. It grew and grew. Over the years the fund has given away $42 million, in addition to the $96,350,000 in the final grants. The last gifts went to 92 institutions in amounts ranging from $100,000 to $5.5 million.

Scout Troop 216 On Camp Trip At Christoval

Boy Scout Troop 216, sponsored by Baptist Temple Church, left the church at 9 a.m. Sunday, following an early morning service by the Rev. James A. Puckett, pastor, for a week's camp at Christoval. The group included 21 boys, two junior assistant leaders, and three adult leaders. The troop set up camp Sunday afternoon and held a flag-raising ceremony. Elton Carlie, Scoutmaster; Doyle Hale, assistant; Melvin Coleman; James Johnston and Dennis McGonagill, junior assistants, announced the week's camp activities. The boys arose at 6 a.m. Monday, ate breakfast, hiked five miles, ate lunch and hiked back to camp. The boys will be taught how to take care of themselves out of doors, by compass reading, and following directions by nature. First aid, life saving, and swimming will be learned, along with the use of the knife and hatchet. A Tot and Chip card will be issued to those who pass the latter. They will also work on merit badge requirements, for the next court of honor. Each patrol is in charge of cooking and cleaning up, and camp inspection will be held daily. KP-duty is assigned for the day, when boys fail to pass. Each boy has a buddy for the day's activities away from camp, and neither can go anywhere without the other. Campfire service, at night, consists of troop and patrol songs. Boys retire at 9:30 p.m. and lights out at 10 p.m.
