Shaky Peace Talks Stalled On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A deadlock between Turkey and Cyprus about Greek Cypriot troop dispositions on the north-west coast today menaced the peace restored shakily under U.N. auspices.

Turkish air force jets maintained reconnaissance flights.

Premier Ismet Inonu's Ankara administration was reported continuing military preparations to back up its demand that Greek Cypriot forces give up three Turkish Cypriot villages they have occupied since last Wednesday and withdraw from their encirclement of the port of Kokkina.

Cyprus' Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou declared the Greek Cypriot forces will never withdraw in the Kokkina area.

TO LAST MAN
"Greek Cypriots are ready to die to the last man or win," Kyprianou told newsmen on flying to Athens for consultation with the Greek government about the latest crisis.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has said Turkey accepted unconditionally the appeal for a cease-fire, but Western diplomats in Ankara said it is insisting strongly that the coastal area be cleared of Greek Cypriot troops before the truce can be fully accepted.

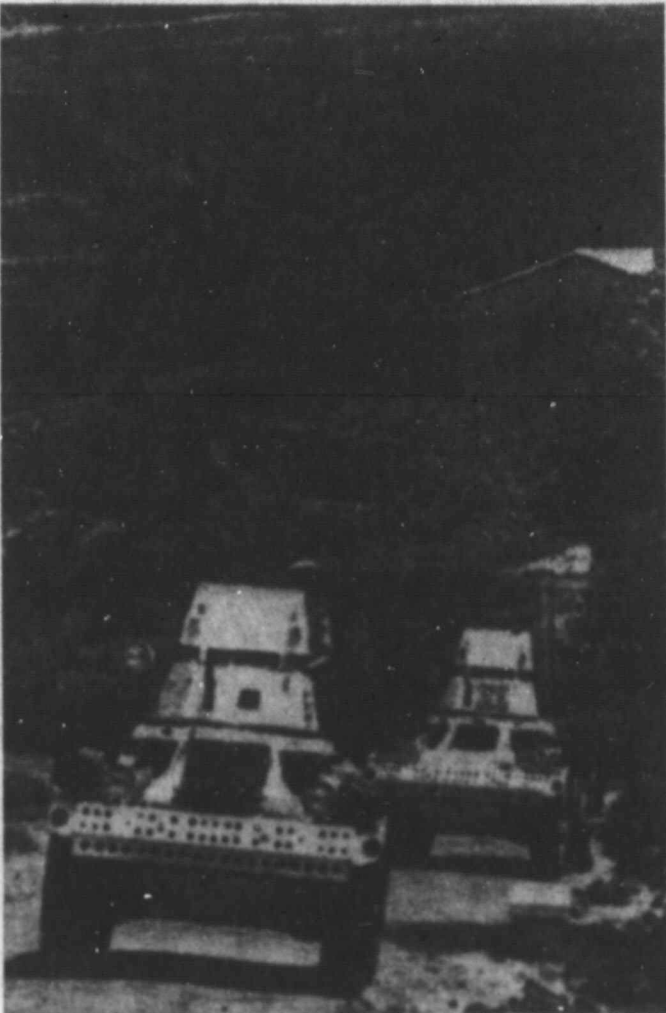

These sources said the only compromise Turkey might be persuaded to accept would be for the captured villages to be turned over to U.N. troops instead of reoccupied by Turkish Cypriot forces. Unarmed Turks and refugees massed around Kokkina could then return to their homes under U.N. protection.

FLY OVER
U.N. headquarters said Turkish planes flew over an area south of the village of Alevia, near the scene of recent fighting, for 25 minutes this morning but did not open fire.

Only a few isolated gunshots were heard during the night as both Greek and Turkish Cypriots observed the truce, the U.N. said.

At the order of Secretary-General U Thant, the U.N. police force mobilized its limited manpower to prevent another outbreak of fighting along Cyprus' northwest coast.

Turkey said it would send its jets on scouting missions until the U.N. troops can enforce the truce and Greek Cypriots withdraw from positions they captured in the last six days.

On Patrol In Cyprus

The Turkish Air Force began its retaliation raids after the Greek Cypriots opened a drive Aug. 5 on the only remaining Turkish Cypriot coastal strip. The Cyprus government charges that Turkish troops and arms were being landed at the Turkish Cypriot fishing village of Kokkina.

BADLY SPLIT
The crisis left the government of Cyprus badly split, possibly impairing the political strength of Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president. Rightists and leftists in the cabinet exchanged angry words over whether to count on Greece or the Soviet Union for help, informants said.

Both factions were disappointed by the less than wholehearted support they received from Greece and the Soviet Union.

RESOLUTION
The U.N. Security Council adopted a U.S.-British resolution calling for a halt in hostilities on Sunday, with only the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia abstaining. The fighting on Cyprus broke off temporarily shortly thereafter.

Turkish Premier Ismet Inonu sent a message to U Thant saying Turkey would obey the council's appeal, but he urged complete disarmament on Cyprus. In a similar note to NATO, Inonu said Turkish planes will not shoot or bomb the island but will continue reconnaissance flights "until the United Nations forces can effectively enforce the cease-fire and the withdrawal to pre-Aug. 5 positions."

In Nicosia, Makarios said his government would fully respect the Security Council's call for a cease-fire. He said the Greek Cypriots had stopped fighting on Saturday.

He said that it was the most extensive blackout in many years and was entirely unexpected. The shutdown began at 4:44 p.m. and in most parts of Big Spring lasted half an hour.

"Due to the heavy load the two plants were carrying, it took 20 minutes to an hour to get the several generating units at the plants synchronized and the power system back to normal operation," he explained.

The other six plants TESCO operates in the area east of Colorado City were not affected. Cause of the gas line valve failure has not been determined.

The temperature in Big Spring was hovering around 100 humid degrees at the time of the power failure. Shortly after the electricity halted, buildings began to disgorge their occupants — it being cooler outside than in.

Elevator service halted in the taller buildings and workers and tenants had to use the stairs to reach the streets. In Midland and Odessa, this posed a major problem. Midland has numerous tall office buildings, and employees in these were ready to go home when the elevators were brought to a halt.

No trouble in the hospitals was reported, because hospitals have emergency units for their operating theaters and these, if needed, would have been put in use.

Wagner Pats Bobby For Senate Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he would not consider running for U.S. senator from New York without Mayor Robert F. Wagner's "express approval."

A few minutes after Kennedy made that statement Monday, Wagner said:

"If he is available, he is the type of person who would make an exceptionally fine candidate. I am sure that he would win."

"I have a high regard for him as a friend and as a public servant."

ENDORSEMENT
Asked whether his remarks constituted an endorsement, Wagner said:

"I think I've made a pretty strong statement already."

Wagner said he would not say more until he had talked again with Kennedy. Kennedy visited Wagner last Friday. No further meeting has been announced.

The Democratic nominee will face Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Kennedy, here Monday to speak at the convention of the American Bar Association, was asked by newsmen about the Senate race.

AGAINST MAYOR
One of his replies was: "Under no circumstances would I ever have considered, or would I now consider, coming into the State of New York against the wishes of the mayor."

Wagner is generally considered the top Democrat in New York.

Democratic state chairman William H. McKee said he would "certainly encourage" Kennedy's candidacy. He said the attorney general would "make an excellent candidate."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, who has wide backing upstate for the Democratic nomination for senator, said Wagner assured him Monday night that he "had certainly not endorsed . . . Kennedy and did not intend to endorse any candidate" before the nominating convention Sept. 1.

REMOVED HIMSELF
Stratton said: "The attorney general has already removed himself from the race and I take him at his word." This may have been a reference to a declaration by Kennedy last June when he declined to run for the office.

At that time, President Johnson had not ruled out Kennedy and other Cabinet members as possible vice presidential candidates.

Antipoverty Bill Awaits President

Senate Speeds Through Project

JAYCEES TO HANDLE A WHOLE DIVISION FOR UNITED FUND

Young and eager workers will shoulder an important part of the load in this Fall's United Fund campaign.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously Monday to assume responsibility for the U.F.'s Metropolitan Division, and all Jaycees will — probably working in competitive teams — make these calls. The Metropolitan Division includes the general solicitation among smaller firms and employe groups over the community.

The proposition was laid before the Jaycees by Lester Morton, 1964 campaign chairman, and the organization said they would be happy to help do their share in the community undertaking.

Morton, with his vice chairman, M. R. Koger, currently is lining up various division chairmen, and the entire U.F. "team" will have been put together in a few days.

Morton praised the Jaycees for their recognition of civic responsibility, and their willingness to join in the community's biggest undertaking of the year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to President Johnson today the $947.5-million antipoverty bill designed to give work to idle youth and to help low-income families get off relief.

Completing congressional action, the Senate accepted House amendments to the original Senate version even though some were disliked by sponsors of the bill. The Senate action was by voice vote.

Enactment of the bill was a major victory for Johnson who had given the legislation high priority in the closing days of the session. It was opposed by Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee.

The money figures in the bill are authorizations. Congress must vote appropriations in a supplemental bill if the program is to get started this fall.

FIRST YEAR
Sargent Shriver, who is expected to be named to administer the program, has estimated it should reach 600,000 persons directly in the first year and up to 7 million families through community action projects.

Before passing the bill Saturday, the House put into it what some senators called a disturbing loyalty oath and governors' veto provisions over some projects.

But Senate sponsors decided against making any fight over these points.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said that "while we don't like some parts of it, we're going to take the House bill in order to get moving on this program."

MIGHT DIE
Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., said in a separate interview he had become convinced that if the Senate, which passed its version July 23, sent the measure to a Senate-House committee, it might die there when Congress adjourns.

"We've got to take the House bill," he said. "It's the only way we can get one."

The House measure included a provision that all individuals receiving government payments must sign non-Communist affidavits. Such a provision in the National Defense Education Act caused some colleges to reject government aid and it eventually was repealed.

The House also inserted a provision, rejected by the Senate, giving governors a veto in their states on aid to community, as well as privately financed, antipoverty projects. The governors also could block establishment of the proposed job corps in their states.

The antipoverty measure represents Johnson's major on-his-own legislative achievement since he became president last November. Most of the other domestic measures sent to him by Congress were proposed originally by the late President John F. Kennedy.

SEVERAL FIELDS
Once it becomes law, the measure will authorize widespread activity by the government in several fields. Johnson included these expenditures in his budget and the actual money is expected to be provided in a supplemental appropriations bill.

The measure authorizes $112.5 million for programs aimed at increasing the education, training and work experience of young men and women. This includes establishment of a job corps in which youths in the 16-21 age bracket would be assigned to conservation camps or resident training centers.

Under the bill's terms, the government would finance part-time employment for college students and for youths who want to complete their vocational schooling or take secondary training.

First County Bale Is Due

Co-op Gin No. 2 was rigging up at noon today to handle the first bale of 1964 cotton from Howard County.

It is arriving four days later than the first bale of 1963. That bale was ginned Aug. 8 and was brought to Big Spring by Howard Crittenden.

This bale, according to Lindell Newton, manager of the Co-op Gin, is from northwest Howard County. Name of the farmer was not immediately available. Newton said that the No. 2 Co-op would be put in service to handle the cotton.

Big Spring Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee is busy collecting premium money for the first two bales of 1964—$300 for the first bale and $200 for the second.

The money had not been raised entirely but the workers expect to have it within a short time.

Large Area Halted By Power Failure

An electric power failure at a time of peak demand brought a large area of West Texas a temporary halt Monday afternoon shortly before 5 o'clock.

A faulty valve in the big gas line which supplies the Morgan Creek plant of Texas Electric Service Company southwest of Colorado City brought the big generators to a halt. Electricity was cut off from Sweetwater westward.

This threw the load on the Monahans plant, which also was producing at capacity, and it kicked off to prevent overload. Half an hour to an hour was required to restore service.

Hardest hit here by the power failure was Cosen Oil & Chemical Company's refining and petro-chemical complex. R. L. Tollett, president, said crews were working Tuesday morning in an effort to restore and smooth out operations. Compressors and pumps were stalled, and as a result the normal process flows were disrupted. He said a survey was being run Tuesday to ascertain the effect of the disruption. The adjacent W. R. Grace facility was knocked off temporarily, but this unit was back at full production Tuesday. One spectacular effect at Cosen was the flaring of excess gas, causing the normal torch to leap high into the air and sent up a column of smoke.

Here in town, the shutdown caused no critical problems, but it led to a tangle of traffic when signal lights failed. The 5 o'clock jam was in progress at the time.

Police Chief Jay Banks said that police were sent to important downtown junctions to handle the emergency. The power failure left radio stations, television stations and to some extent, the telephone service in the community inoperative.

Police called in mobile short-wave radio units to maintain communication when an emergency generator at the station failed to come into operation as quickly as it should after the power drop.

Some alarm and much more curiosity over the blackout developed and the lack of communication facilities contributed to the bewilderment.

Towns which were affected were Sweetwater, Midland, Odessa, Big Spring, Snyder, Lamesa, Colorado City, Coahoma, Sand Springs, Ackerly and all of the smaller communities in the area.

Jimmy Beale, district manager for TESCO here, said that the shutdown was the worst in many years and was particularly difficult due to the high temperature which prevailed and the heavy load which was being served by the Colorado City and Monahans plants at the time.

He said that it was the most extensive blackout in many years and was entirely unexpected. The shutdown began at 4:44 p.m. and in most parts of Big Spring lasted half an hour.

"Due to the heavy load the two plants were carrying, it took 20 minutes to an hour to get the several generating units at the plants synchronized and the power system back to normal operation," he explained.

The other six plants TESCO operates in the area east of Colorado City were not affected. Cause of the gas line valve failure has not been determined.

The temperature in Big Spring was hovering around 100 humid degrees at the time of the power failure. Shortly after the electricity halted, buildings began to disgorge their occupants — it being cooler outside than in.

Elevator service halted in the taller buildings and workers and tenants had to use the stairs to reach the streets. In Midland and Odessa, this posed a major problem. Midland has numerous tall office buildings, and employees in these were ready to go home when the elevators were brought to a halt.

No trouble in the hospitals was reported, because hospitals have emergency units for their operating theaters and these, if needed, would have been put in use.

More Voting Boxes Will Be Established

Howard County will have to create four new voting boxes to comply with the new state election law which rules that electors living in rural areas can no longer vote in urban boxes.

The Howard County Commissioners Court, faced with the task of realignment of the voting precincts to comply with the new law, spent most of its Monday morning session studying the problem. The commissioners did not decide on a solution and delayed action until Thursday when they will take up the problem again.

The stumbling block to a speedy solution is the restriction which keeps new voting precincts from including portions of two Commissioners Precincts or two Justices of the Peace Precincts.

Equitable rearrangement of some of the boxes involved would be simple if it was not that Commissioners and Justices of the Peace Precinct lines would have to be crossed.

One of the precincts certain to be created would be a new voting box to be set up in Elbow to serve the rural residents of the southwest corner of the county. This encompasses most of County Commissioner Precinct No. 3 plus areas in Big Spring. Voters in the past have voted at city boxes Nos. 3 and 16.

A voting box to serve the considerable population which lives to the south and southeast of the city limits will probably have to be created. Two other boxes are also due to be established. A plan to abolish R-Bar (Precinct 7) by combining its area with another box was fading today. The problem of Justice of the Peace Precinct lines made such a consolidation difficult in this area.

The realignment of the voting precincts to comply with the state law must be completed by the end of the August term. That means final action must be taken by Sept. 7.

The court, when it has worked out the boundaries of the voting precincts as they will stand after complying with the new state law, must publish these boundaries in a newspaper in the county for three weeks.

The new election precincts do not become effective until February, 1965. November general election and any other election which might be called between now and February, 1965 will see the voters balloting in the same boxes they have been voting in for years.

The commissioners at their Monday session, which extended on into the afternoon, also tentatively approved the 1965 budget and instructed Wade Choate, county auditor, to type it up and prepare it for the public hearing which is to be announced soon.

Pay Tribute

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Here's Handy Way To Serve Snacks

Dear Heloise:

Here's a tip for mothers... When making my husband's lunch I always make extra sandwiches for my seven children.

I cut their sandwiches in small sizes because the children seem to relish them more. They help me put the sandwiches in the little bags. I then fill a plastic bag full of ice and put this in the bottom of the ice chest.

After putting in all of the cold drinks, etc., place the little sandwiches on top, then put the ice chest on the back porch...

With summer here each can eat when he pleases and without them running in and out the back door all the time, the house stays cool.

My children think this is the greatest thing that has come along since the ice cream man!... Mrs. Jones

Dear Heloise: I like to wax some of the flowers that grow in my yard. I have had good luck as far as the wax is concerned, but the flowers soon lose their color. Can anyone help me?... F. Taylor

Does anyone have the answer to this? If so, write to us in care of this paper... Heloise

WMS Hears Mission Study On Mexico

Accounts of missionary activities in Mexico were heard Monday morning by members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Church of God. Mrs. Truett Thomas presided as the group gathered in the pastor's study of the church. The reports were given by representatives who attended mission conferences held in July in connection with the state convention in Kerrville. Local women who were named as state officers are Miss Anna Smith, vice president; Miss Arah Phillips, historian; Mrs. Ward Jackson, publication; and Mrs. Truett Thomas, missionary education director.

Club Wives Hold Coffee

Mrs. E. L. Masters, honorary president of the Servicemen's Wives Club was among those honored at a welcoming dessert-coffee held Monday evening in the John H. Lees Service Club. Other honored guests were Col. Masters and Col. and Mrs. A. F. Taute. The women were presented white carnation corsages by Mrs. Richard Davis who welcomed and introduced the guests.

Serving as hostesses with Mrs. Davis were Mrs. Edwin Knox, Mrs. Albert Haley and Mrs. Leslie Carpenter. Guests were seated at a U-shaped table covered with white linen and appointed with silver and crystal. A centerpiece of blue and white flowers was flanked by blue candles in crystal holders. Other guests were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Jay L. Lauer, Lt. and Mrs. David Bourdon, Chaplain and Mrs. William Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hines and Mr. and Mrs. Lorn Kenitzer. The hours were from 7:30 until 9 p.m.

OES Honors Member

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. Ethel Dawson of Colorado City was presented with a fifty year certificate and honored at Thursday's meeting of the Eastern Star, Colorado Chapter No. 58, with Mrs. Gerald Lemons presiding.

The program, honoring Mrs. Dawson, was under the direction of Mrs. Dona Reed, who also gave the welcoming address and dedicated an original poem to Mrs. Dawson.

The honoree was seated in the east by Mrs. Marvin Majors and Mrs. J. W. Hicklin, and her Eastern Star record was read by Mrs. Margaret Oylar. Records indicated that she had been initiated July 30, 1914, and had served as Worthy Matron from 1925 to 1926. Her history was told by Mrs. Maggie Hamrick, who presented her with a corsage of red carnations.

The fifty year certificate was presented by Mrs. Willie Whitmore.

Mrs. Dawson gave an acceptance speech and introduced members of her family who were present. They included, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor and sons of Colorado City and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Moore and family of Utah.

The program was closed with a vocal number by Mrs. Janie Faye Reed McNair. Refreshments were served.

Other guests were Miss Schell Merrill, Miss Vickie Hicklin, Mrs. C. C. Thompson and Mrs. Sam Thompson.

Women's Society Meets Monday

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. Leroy Gressett was hostess when the Woman's Society of Christian Service met at her home Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Leroy Messimer brought the devotion, followed by a business meeting. Refreshments were served to eight members. Mrs. C. T. Jackson will be in charge of a "Spiritual Life" program next Monday.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Styles in women's clothing are interesting when one thinks of the variation through the years. Starting with the fig leaf, one wonders if the designer of the topless bathing suit may not have in mind to return there. Then there were the days of so many layers of clothing that it was difficult to find the wearer. And in addition to the many petticoats, the cloth was often heavy and cumbersome, making for, it seems to me, a most uncomfortable day, once the lady got herself dressed. The Mother Hubbard was a comfortable presentation, the only requirement being that it had shoulder space to hold the baggy garment on the body. Other fashions such as the tent, the A-dress, etc., have also refrained from pinching the body anywhere. The one I like and think is a most attractive dress fashion is the shift. It has held on for several seasons and I hope will continue, that is for those who are slender. A good rule of thumb in selecting this fashion would appear to be "wear the shift if you haven't shifted."

MRS. JAMES MICHAEL and her children, Ricky and Terry, arrived by air in Midland Monday from Fairbanks, Alaska, where they have lived for the past two and a half years. The family was met by her mother, Mrs. LEONARD MILLER, and her grandmother, Mrs. W. R. YATES. They will be here until Sept. 1, when they will be met here by Capt. Michael who has been transferred back to Randolph AFB in San Antonio.

MRS. G. A. BROWN is visiting in Woodland Hills, Calif., with her longtime friend, Mrs. G. M. HICKOX. She took her first air trip Saturday leaving from Midland. A sendoff luncheon was given by MR. and MRS. GRANVILLE DAWSON, at their Midland home. On hand at the occasion were the NAT SHICKS, MRS. DEWEY RICHARDSON, and MISS NELL BROWN.

When Mrs. Brown arrived in California she was met by MR. and MRS. HARRY HICKOX. Many remember Mr. Hickox who played the lead in The Music Man when it was presented here several seasons ago.

Study Held By Circle

Glenn Faison spoke to the Johnnie O'Brien Circle on "Helping the Church Fulfill Its Mission" Monday morning at the First Baptist Church. The Sunbeam band presented songs for the group.

Mrs. B. T. Faulkner served as hostess, and prayers were worded by Mrs. G. G. Morehead and Mrs. Daisy Smith. Plans were made to change the meeting date from Monday to Tuesday beginning in October.

Refreshments were served to 13 adults and seven Sunbeam visitors. The group canceled the meeting for next week because of the Youth Revival.

Golden Wedding Celebration Set

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McCarley, residents of the Longfellow community northeast of Colorado City for the past 50 years, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday.

A reception will be held in their honor at the Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative building from two until five p.m. Hosts will be the couple's children and families, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McCarley Jr., Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Holtkort, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Odessa; and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell, Westbrook.

All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to call during the reception hours for a visit with the honorees.

City Pair Winners At Tourney

Capt. and Mrs. Ron Kibler amassed a total of 41 Master Points in a four-day sectional bridge tournament held in Lubbock Thursday through Saturday.

Mrs. Kibler won the Masters Pair Event competing in a field of 112 pairs. Her partner was Mrs. Pat Vick, Amarillo. Capt. Kibler won second over all in the Men's Pair Event playing with John Vickers of Lubbock. In the Mixed Pair event, Capt. and Mrs. Kibler placed fifth, and in the Open Pair session on Sunday they tied for third and fourth overall in a field of 120 pairs.

The Hickox family lived here many years ago.

The three suite mates of JANE HARRINGTON who are attending summer school at North Texas State University in Denton, were guests of the MATT HARRINGTONS over the weekend. They are MARY LOU SPRINGER, Rockwall; BARBARA DOUGLAS, Dallas, and POLLY JO PILLOW, Lancaster.

Guests of the P. E. Clawson are Mr. and Mrs. Era Clawson and Mrs. Sybil Sparks

Nuptial Shower Held For Mrs. Blauvelt

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. Charles Blauvelt, the former Rebecca Bird, was honored with a miscellaneous shower in Fellowship Hall of Methodist Church recently. Miss Glenda Jo Rees and Miss Donna Bryant presided at the refreshment table. Miss Donna Henderson registered guests and Miss Janie Putman presided at the gift table. Miniature wedding bells were favors. Others in the house party included Mrs. Sidney Jones, Mrs. Ralph Bryant, Mrs. A. C. Putman, Mrs. Louis Rees, Mrs. George Sweet, Mrs. Troy Lankford, Mrs. Alvin Byrd, Mrs. W. A. Bell and Mrs. Charles Ranne.

of Corpus Christi. Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Robinson and daughters of Lamesa were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Oliver, Sunday. Also Patsy and Pam Merritt of Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wade of Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Forbes and Twana of Westbrook visited Six Flags Over Texas this week.

Mrs. F. B. Oglesby and Mrs. A. F. Criswell visited Mrs. S. M. McElhatten, a surgical patient in a Lubbock hospital, Sunday. Also, they were guests in the Collin Dunnam home in Lubbock.

Larry Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barb Miller, is spending the week in Post, as a guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Donelson.

Pvt. Raye A. Conaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otha Conaway of Westbrook, is home on leave from Fort Polk, Louisiana where he received his basic training. Conaway volunteered for service in the armed forces in May. Upon completing his leave he will return to Fort Polk for advanced training in field communication.

Descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Webb held their reunion at Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Harbins' home in Eastland, July 25 and 26. Children present were M. A. Webb of Westbrook, Mrs. Harbins and Mrs.

J. C. Jordan of Fort Worth. Over 100 relatives attended. Mr. and Mrs. George Dawson were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Dawson and son, Larry Don, of Fluvanna.

Mrs. Clyde Smith, Lubbock, visited her mother, Mrs. Willie Byrd, over the weekend.

Saturday guests in the W. A. Bell home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Holtkort and David, and Mrs. Kate Holtkort, Lubbock; and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McCarley, Colorado City.

what's a telephone supposed to look like?

How it looks depends upon the way it serves you. It might look like this new Panel phone that's built into the wall. Or perhaps your needs call for:

The dainty Princess® with light-up dial... or a phone that hangs on the wall... a key set phone... the excitement of decorator color... perhaps a phone with speakers and amplifiers that let a group take part in a conversation.

New telephone designs give you an ever wider choice of styles for convenience, efficiency and beauty. They're another way of improving service to increase the personal value of your phone.

A Devotional For The Day

Behold, the hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye shall be scattered, every man to his own, and shall leave me alone: and yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me. (John 16:32.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee that Jesus experienced loneliness, sorrow, heartache, pain and suffering and so proved Thy love for each of us. Grant us faith that we may look unto Him at all times, especially during our moments of weakness and suffering. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

No Security, No Secrecy

Existing law governing the information policies of federal agencies is, in its vague and bureaucracy-protecting generalities, an invitation to excessive official secrecy. And it has come to be used increasingly in recent years as an excuse for withholding facts of public interest when there is no real security justification for doing so.

The United States Senate has just passed a bipartisan bill which, though offering no panacea for self-serving bureaucratic censorship, should check, if not reverse, a trend contrary to the principles of an "open society." The bill now goes to the House, where a similar measure has been languishing in the Judiciary Committee for more than a year, and it is hoped that it can be made law before this session's end. If the House fails to act in time, this freedom-information effort will have to begin all over again in the new Congress. The Senate bill would set standards for classification of information, require publication of agency policies, rules and orders and of regulatory board and commission votes, broaden access to restricted official information, and establish court review of the withholding of information with the burden of proof on the withholding agency.

The bill would not weaken security safeguards on defense-related or diplomatic information. Nor could it abridge the constitutional executive privilege of denying Congress access to some administrative records and communications that is inherent in the separation-of-powers principle.

Primarily it would remove spurious legal excuses for withholding information on burying ineptness and blunders under a cloak of secrecy.

Checking On Genuineness

The one-man campaign that Rep. Wright Patman, D-Texas, has been waging for stricter supervision of tax-exempt foundations has enlisted administration support. That came recently in the call by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon for a tightening of federal regulations.

Abuses are due correction. These include misuse of the tax-exemption privilege as a means of tax evasion or avoidance by individuals, foundation operations designed to serve the interest of contributors rather than ostensible beneficiaries, and foundation activities that constitute unfair competition with taxed enterprises or encroach on the prohibited area of politics. The first step in correcting such abuses should be to require fuller reporting—on contributors, beneficiaries, management of funds, projects and programs—to justify continuation of the tax-exemption privilege.

Certainly care should be taken in tightening regulations, either by legislation or executive order, not in any way to impede the great voluntary work being done by philanthropic foundations in the fields of science, health and welfare education, human relations and the arts. Nor should anything be done that would smack of government censorship or control over foundation-financed research and reports.

The only purpose of stricter supervision should be in justification of the tax-exemption privilege. Reputable foundations should be encouraged in their humanitarianism.

The Cell-Group System

WASHINGTON — A book attracting more attention than even its author may have hoped for is "How To Win An Election" by Stephen C. Shadegg. It contains ammunition, both pro and con, for the argument over whether the new Goldwater Republican party has broken from American tradition and is in the pattern of Europe's ideological parties.

SHADDEG WAS Sen. Barry Goldwater's manager in his two campaigns for the Senate in Arizona. Later, when Goldwater took over the Republican senatorial campaign committee, he became a consultant. The chapter in the Shadegg book on which attention has centered is "The Cell Group." He pays generous tribute to one source of inspiration as follows:

"Mao Tse-tung, the Communist revolutionary general, has written a valuable book on the tactics of infiltration. In it he says: 'Give me just two or three men in a village and I will take the village.' In the Goldwater campaigns of 1962 and 1964 and in all other campaigns where I have served as a consultant, I have followed the advice of Mao Tse-tung."

THIS MAY come as news to Mao, who is currently engaged in a fierce quarrel with Premier Khrushchev for control of the world Communist movement. Certainly it will be news to many Republicans who may not have been aware that one of their highly paid consultants was applying the tactics of China's revolutionary leader.

Shadegg refers to the individuals enrolled in the cell groups as a "secret weapon possessing strength, mobility and real impact." In Goldwater's 1964 campaign there were 3,200 cell-group members in Arizona.

IN A CAMPAIGN he directed in Nebraska in 1960, Shadegg says, he enrolled 100,000 cell members. They were processed through IBM machines to show banking connections, church affiliations and family relations throughout the state. One goal was to insure that each cell member "will actually come to consider the threat of defeat as menacing him personally."

When Shadegg was consultant to the Republican senatorial campaign committee it was reported one of his most important chores was as ghost writer for Goldwater's book, "The Conscience of a Conservative." This Shadegg denied.

NO ONE CAN challenge Shadegg's skill and versatility as a writer. He wrote scripts for B pictures in Hollywood at one point in his career.

A report on Senate campaign expenditures in 1961 showed that $4,000 a month had been paid to the S and K Laboratories in Phoenix, Ariz. Inquiry revealed that Shadegg owned this company which put out an asthma remedy called Adreno-Mist. At the time, Shadegg told reporter Jack Anderson that the total of $40,000 paid through S and K Laboratories was for his services in the campaign, including travel and other expenses.

IN THE LONG and skillfully directed drive that led up to Goldwater's triumph at San Francisco, Shadegg was campaign organizer for the Western states. He sat out at least part of the futile primary campaign in Oregon and at one point confessed his bafflement in trying to combat the absent candidate, Henry Cabot Lodge. His advice may have led Goldwater to give up Oregon for California, where he clinched the nomination.

What part Shadegg will play in the coming Presidential campaign is not yet settled. He is currently in Phoenix. If what he sets forth in "How To Win An Election" is any measure, he has surely proved his worth. There could, however, be some doubt as to how the cell-group system will work on a national scale. Billy Graham

The future looks uninviting to me, a teenager. What is there for me in life?—K. F.

The "future" is a reflection of our hopes, our inmost desires and our dreams. When you say the "future looks uninviting," you are really revealing the scope of your hopes and ideals. It is a reflection, not on the world, but upon your own vision.

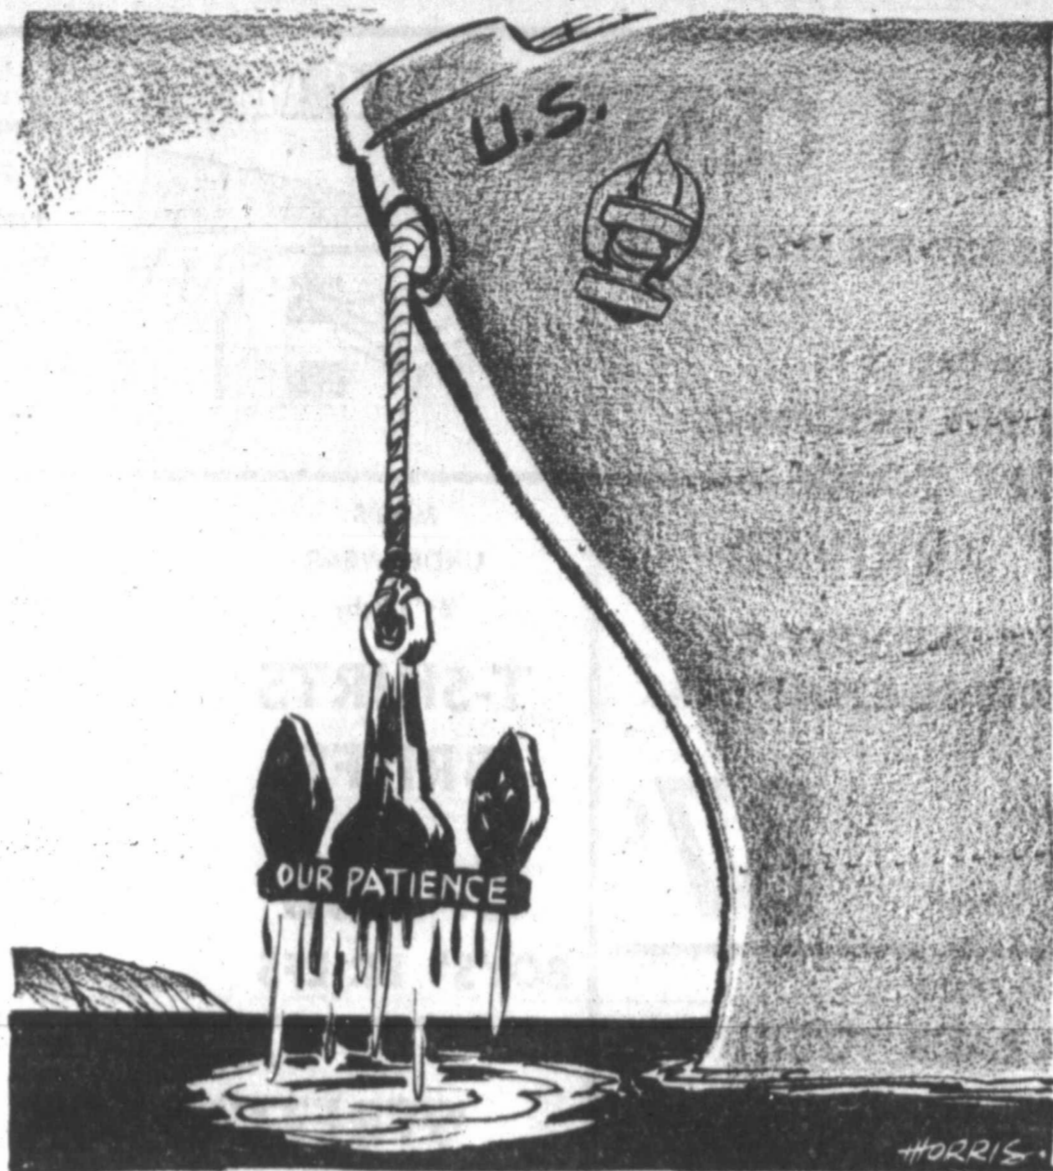

A psychiatrist recently told me that more than half of the people he treats lately are under 21 years of age. Perhaps it is the condition of the world, a lack of faith in our society or personal problems that disturbs these young people. But it is distressing to know that the generation that must run the world of tomorrow feels so inadequate today.

May I confess to you that when I was a "teenager" the future also looked inviting to me. But about that time, I met Jesus Christ, and He took my life. From that day to this the future has looked bright. My problems today are greater than ever, but I am not nearly so distressed as when my problems were negligible. We don't know the future, but we can know Him who controls the future, and we know that all will be well.

Johnson Still Batting High With Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is giving President Johnson a substantial share of the legislation he asked for under a "must-pass" label.

How much of the rest of it he will get before Congress winds up its 1964 session remains to be seen. It apparently will be a man-sized proportion.

However, in at least some danger in these closing weeks of the session are his programs for medical care for the aged and increased Social Security benefits. Some well informed sources say he may have to choose between the two. They concede he could wind up with neither.

THEY ALREADY have written off as "dead" for this year his wage policy program for industry, including a proposal for double pay for overtime. They also see a "very doubtful" future this year for a liberalizing overhaul of the immigration laws requested by the President.

With some give and take, his forces expect to get most of the rest of his program into the books, and are prepared to make a bargaining point of this in the presidential campaign. Tops on the program already written into law, of course, are the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the $11.5 billion tax cut, plus an extension of excise taxes totaling $1.9 billion a year.

CONGRESS ALSO boosted the legal maximum national debt limit from $315 billion to $324 billion for one year as Johnson asked.

Among his major victories was enactment of a cotton-wheat farm aid bill. It established a new program permitting U.S. cotton textile mills to buy government-owned cotton at the same subsidy price as foreign producers, and a voluntary wheat price support program aimed at assuring $2 a bushel wheat.

Other features in the administration cap included: Congressional approval of his program to protect wilderness spaces.

A START ON a $375 million, three-year program of grants to public bodies for the purchase of mass transit equipment, plus loan-guarantee authority.

The new pay increase for federal officials and employees. Wider police powers for the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Continued support for the controversial space flight project to land American astronauts on the moon in this decade.

Still in various stages of congressional action, with his forces optimistic he will get most of all of what he asked for in the bills, are such measures as:

"War on poverty" program, a $447 million project.

PROPOSED $455 million extension of the area redevelopment program, to aid chronically depressed regions.

$1 billion companion piece to help build the economy of the Appalachian region.

$375 million expanded food stamp plan to help the needy.

Extension of the National Defense Education Act.

Huge housing program, which has been shorn of some of controversial new features Johnson had requested.

The Pitfalls Of House-Painting

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — One of the lesser joys of owning a home of your own is that sooner or later—probably sooner—it's going to need painting.

If your suburban tract includes half a dozen producing oil wells, a mother lode of uranium ore and the site for a new multimillion-dollar shopping center, this is no problem.

You just call the painter and tell him to re-do your house.

BUT IF YOUR circumstances are more modest—and perhaps more typical—with a mortgage, a car and whatever cash value might accrue to a wife, a cat and sundry other assets, you join the mighty army of do-it-yourself painters.

Now and then a neighbor no more affluent than you will announce grandly, "No painting for me this summer—I'm going to have it done."

But after he gets his free estimate and calculates that to pay the bill he'd have to give up beer and find an acceptable substitute for food for a time, he'll join you at the paint store.

Not only must you decide what color to paint, but what kind of paint to buy.

CHOOSING COLORS involves consultation with the wife. "I want the bathroom white," she says. "No, you don't," you answer firmly. "You want it off-white. Plain white will make it look like a hospital emergency room."

"White," she decrees. So white you paint. After you've splashed the last bit of gleaming white onto the floor—thank goodness it's tile and paint scrapes off easily—the wife comes in to observe and comments, "It's too white—it looks like a hospital."

So back to the store. Even if you bought the color you both thought would look best, there's no guarantee, of course, that it will be right when you get it on the wall.

NOR IS THERE any standardization of colors. One company's oyster white looks like another brand's pearl white but not at all like the second firm's oyster white.

All of this overlooks the fact that nothing in your ordinary life—even the most dedicated schedule of golfing and the best office-desk posture—has prepared your muscles for perching atop a ladder or snaking along a floor splashing at unpaintable places.

All things considered, maybe the summer wouldn't be too bad without beer. And we might be able to freeloan on relatives for a month or so.

To Your Good Health

Several Ways To Remove Facial Hair

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have the problem of facial hair. I have heard that a mixture of half peroxide and half household ammonia, adding soap flakes to form a paste, and applying to the face for 30 minutes, will bleach the hairs.

Would this be safe to try?—R.M.B.

I'm against it on the grounds that there is too much chance of irritating the skin, not to mention having to smell that ammonia at such short range.

I think you will get just as good a bleaching effect by using "20 volume" peroxide, which you can get at the drug store, without the fuss and fumes of the other mixture. Try it and see.

Bleaching, in my observation, is a very successful answer to facial hair.

An alternative is to use a depilatory, which dissolves the hair at the skin line. The process has to be repeated when the hair grows out again. For some, this is a satisfactory method. Others, however, find that depilatories irritate the skin.

Finally, permanent removal of the hair by electrolysis is possible, but since each hair root has to be destroyed individually, it is a time-consuming process.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is St. Vitus Dance? What causes it? Is it curable? Does it affect the heart?—MRS. A.U.

St. Vitus Dance, or a jerky sort of movement, is a symptom which sometimes occurs with rheumatic fever. Acute rheumatic fever can be treated successfully with penicillin or sometimes with other antibiotics.

The rheumatic fever (a streptococcus infection) is extremely dangerous to the heart, since it tends to scar the valves. Early diagnosis and treatment can keep this problem a minimum.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are urinary, kidney and bladder infections the same? If different, which would be the most serious?—E.A.

The urinary tract in the broadest sense includes kidney, bladder and connecting ducts (ureters, etc.)

The kidneys are first in the whole tract because, you see, the bloodstream flows through the kidneys and they filter out waste matter which then is disposed of through the urine.

The urine (including waste matter) goes to the bladder, where it is held until it is expelled.

If infection occurs in the kidneys, it is to be expected that the infection will also be carried along to the bladder. On the other hand, it is possible for some bacterial infection to be present in the bladder, yet NOT work its way upward to the kidneys. As you might expect, one of the doctor's goals, if bladder infection is present, is to prevent it from moving backward and upward to the kidneys.

So a kidney infection, generally speaking, must be regarded as more serious than a bladder infection, but both may be present at the same time, and both or either would be a "urinary infection."

Around The Rim

Running Out Of Space

Sometime in the not too distant future, this community must do something about a bigger library building. I am not inclined to beat the drum for any program or project, but I intend to vary my own rule this time.

THE HOWARD COUNTY Free Library is now housed in a remodeled residence which was formerly the home of a Big Spring pioneer and philanthropist, Mrs. Dora Roberts. Her estate gave the building to the county several years ago when the library had outgrown the restricted space allotted it in the Howard County Courthouse.

The present building is most attractive, well designed for its purpose and, to a degree, well situated geographically.

The problem is that the town has grown much faster than anyone anticipated and the limited area in the present library is no longer adequate to the increased demands being made of it.

HOWARD COUNTY and Big Spring residents are book-readers. This is not a newly developed trait. Ever since the library has been in existence it has had an army of loyal followers and the army is increasing in size as the town grows.

One of two things is facing the community. Either a new and larger library has to be provided or the usefulness and service of the library will be stunted. Already, the institution is handicapped in its desire to add new books because there is no more available shelf room. The one small area available for the storage of books and materials, which are a logical part of a library and should be preserved, is overflowing. The floor space outside the stacks is no longer adequate to the rush hour invasion of book borrowers.

THE LIBRARY also has a severe problem in the lack of parking space.

It is located on a busy north-south thoroughfare where all available parking is absorbed by other interests much of the time. It has a narrow street, also heavily travelled, running along its south side. Parking has been limited, in the name of safety, to one side of this street.

The building itself is on an elevated lot, attainable by stairs. These are no handicap to the younger patrons, but to scores of older readers, particularly those in ill health, this stairway is no minor problem.

THE LIBRARIANS would like to widen the scope of the library in many fields. They would like to have facilities, for example, to store copies of historical photographs, documents, records and similar material. There is a need for the library to install a visual department where films, slides, projectors and other material might be kept.

However, the major problem of the present moment is simply that the building has been outgrown—the library is too big already for its present quarters.

IN VIEW of the indisputable evidence the library is largely a service to the residents of the city, it has often puzzled me why the city administration should not have a part in financing and improving it. The money now comes entirely from the county.

If a bigger library is built, it will have to be built by bond issue and the bonds will be a charge against the county. It seems to me that the municipality should have a bigger part in providing this all-important service to the people.

REGARDLESS, one thing is clear-cut. Either the library must be provided with a bigger building, more parking space and an opportunity to continue to widen its services, or it must stagnate and lose the fine momentum it now has.

Why Bobby Didn't Reach For It

WASHINGTON, D. C. — No people know better than the sons of Joseph and Rose Kennedy that when you want something, you reach out and put your hand around it.

Why, then, did Attorney General Robert Kennedy play it wait-and-see until his seeming chance of a lifetime—the vice presidential nomination at 38—slipped away?

FOREMOST IN Kennedy's mind, I have reason to believe, was the idea that he did want the vice presidency—but only on favorable terms. He wanted it as a steppingstone, not as a tombstone. Between last November and last March, the Attorney General learned what it meant to be ostracized from the magic circle of White House power.

Kennedy easily translated what it meant to be an unwanted, unconsulted, embittered, suspected Cabinet officer into that same kind of vice presidential. He knew that if President Johnson were pressured into choosing him as a running-mate, Johnson could also put him on the shelf as a vice president.

JOHNSON KNEW where the "shelf" was because, until a number of weeks after the Bay of Pigs disaster, he had reposed there himself—snubbed by the palace guard of intellectuals, elbowed into an oblivion under the crystal chandeliers of his Capital office suite, called upon, like a showy but not very chic piece of tableware, for ceremonial occasions, but not a fixture, much less a function, of the reigning household.

BOB KENNEDY has been an observer of the vicissitudes of the vice presidency. If he was to take the office under LBJ, he must be assured of not languishing in it. For him, therefore, it was not an object he could reach out and clutch. Today many within the Kennedy Organization are angered that Bob didn't "fight" for it, but the attorney general himself, I can say, was almost as much "puzzled" as disappointed when Lyndon Johnson read him off the list of eligibles.

Puzzled, because he has reason to wonder whether Johnson can win without him. With the South apparently lost to the Democratic ticket, with the Irish-Polish-Italian vote caught in the "backlash," with the Kennedy Organization becoming a "stay home" threat, where does the President find the confidence of beating Barry Goldwater?

WHO IS GOING to pull back the Jewish vote of the North where Jewish merchants are indignant at the Negro devastation of their stores in Rochester and Brooklyn? Who will appeal to the World War II generation which looked upon John Kennedy as one of their own? The attorney general can feel, without vanity, that no other Democrat on the ticket can bring it the strength he could bring, assuming that the South is headed Republican. To Kennedy, the President's decision looks like go-it-alone. It looks like a move to beat the Kennedys first, Goldwater later.

DISAPPOINTED, yes, but Bob Kennedy would be less human than he is if he didn't see that a Johnson defeat in '64—and perhaps no other event—would prove that the Sixties are a Kennedy decade.

If go-it-alone is the wrong strategy for Johnson in '64, the sons of Joseph and Rose will know that another time has come for reaching and grasping. (Distributed by McLaughlin Syndicate, Inc.)

'Who Do They Think We Are?'

WASHINGTON — Foreigners who hate and envy the United States have contrived a handy file of stereotypes for its citizens—the ugly American, the vulgar American, the noisy, crude, uncultivated, gauche, intolerant or barbaric American.

Few would think to characterize us as unflappable Americans, but the truth about us is nowhere near as entertaining.

THE MOST remarkable aspect of the crisis in Southeast Asia has been the extraordinary calm with which Americans have taken their latest journey to the brink. Their stoic unconcern seems almost akin to indifference. The mood of the nation has been one of near fatalism—what will be will be, and there is little any man can do about it.

This mood bespeaks many things in the American character. It suggests first a deep-rooted contentment with and confidence in the Johnson administration.

THE PRESIDENT did a masterful job of striking the proper note of swift retribution coupled with judicious restraint. As he has so often done in the past, he properly assayed the nation's feeling of frustration at the course of the war in Viet Nam, and he was promptly repaid by a profound, if silent, vote of confidence from the people.

But the mood of detachment that is seen at every hand contains other elements. Implicit in it is a preoccupation with the course of the racial revolution, and counter-revolution, here at home. A sampling of daily newspapers shows that a PT-boat war, as grave as it was, could not drive the ghastly tale of murder in Mississippi off Page One.

IT IS SMALL wonder that Americans are the victims of chronic misunderstanding abroad. How does one persuade the educated European that the sickness that took three innocent lives in Mississippi is not an epidemic that threatens to wipe out our whole civilization? Americans are not savage murderers; they are compassionate, humane people. They are not trigger-happy war lovers, but a people who know the price of war and passionately desire peace.

There is some indication that the attack by enemy PT boats in the Gulf of Tonkin was the result of a bad guess as to the nature of American reaction. But, to echo the words of Sir Winston Churchill, what sort of people do they think we are?

OUR SAILORS, soldiers and airmen are a proud, professional bunch who rightly regard themselves as the best in the world. Did Ho Chi Minh think they would be restrained forever in the face of repeated attacks? Did the brain trust in Hanoi think the President's hands would be tied because of the approach of a political campaign?

If errors this deep and fundamental can be made by people whose behaviorists have made a science of studying us, how can anything short of war persuade them that we mean what we say, that our passion for peace is not to be equated with a craven determination to have peace at any dishonorable price? Lady Ambassador Cheered In Sofia

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—The black Cadillac flying an American flag in Communist Bulgaria draws a smile, a wave, a cheer of "Evgenia" is the way Bulgarians affectionately greet Eugenie Anderson, 55-year-old Midwesterner wife, mother and grandmother who heads the American Legation in Sofia.

"America's empress in East Europe"—as some U.S. State Department colleagues describe her—doesn't have an easy job. East-West relations probably are more difficult here than in any other country in Communist East Europe.

But Minister Anderson believes she has an advantage. She is a woman.

CURIOSITY

"There are no other women heading diplomatic missions in Bulgaria. I attract curiosity and attention. The people become interested in me and become interested in my country," she says.

"Men are traditionally gallant toward women. This is an advantage if not used unfairly. Also other women are generous and pleased with women in posts of importance."

"Diplomacy is a natural field for women to use their inborn talents," she says. "Woman's role is human relations, to compose differences, to find ways to make people get along together."

THE TRIAL

"We were moving forward slowly," recalls Mrs. Anderson. "But then all of a sudden came what people call 'the trial' and things came again to a noisy halt."

"The trial" was the sentencing and execution in December 1963 of Ivan-Asen Georgiev, a Bulgarian representative to the United Nations, who was charged with spying for the United States.

Windows of the American Legation were stoned and smashed and two official American cars were overturned by a rioting crowd of Bulgarian youth carrying anti-American banners.

Although the Bulgarian government apologized, U.S.-Bulgarian relations were not as easy to repair as the windows of the legation.

A new freeze set in U.S. offers for further cultural exchange were turned down and Bulgarians were restrained from entering the American Legation where there is a public reading room.

But the persevering woman minister has not given up hope. She persuaded the Bulgarians to let her speak again this July 4 on Bulgarian radio and TV, and she hopes relations will start getting better soon.

POPULARITY

Despite the freeze, "Evgenia" has never seemed to lose popularity with the Bulgarian people.

"She still gets cheers wherever she goes," an assistant said.

Building Activity Down But Ahead Of Last Year

COMPARATIVE TOTALS

Type of Construction	July 1964	June 1964	July 1963
New Business	$ 3,000	$ 924,000	$ 21,000
Total Business	10,375	927,650	27,452
New Residence	128,590	77,000	62,000
Total Residence	134,240	101,465	94,775
Total	$354,615	$1,029,135	$122,227

Building activity in Big Spring, showed an overall drop during July from the $1,029,135 mark for June, highest in 28 months, but still totaled more than twice the amount for July, 1963.

Total construction activity for the month was $354,615, with more than one-half the figure consisting of one $190,000 apartment project.

Residential construction also showed an increase during the month, to $134,240, with $128,590 of this in new residences. The new residence total for June was $77,000. The figures also topped last year's totals, of $94,775 for total residential construction during July, 1963, including $62,000 for new residences.

Business construction recorded the biggest drop, from a $927,650 total for June to only $10,375 for this past month. The figure for the same period in 1963 was $27,452.

The total number of building permits issued this year was 352 at the end of July, with 52 permits issued during that month. The total was only slightly under the figure for last year of 359 permits issued through the first seven months.

July's total was hiked by the $190,000 apartment project, begun just west of the present Ponderosa Apartments and to be part of the same apartment center.

Eight new residential permits were issued during the month, according to the city building inspection office. Largest new residence was for $35,000, for a home to be constructed at 802 Highland Drive by Robert Heinz. Residential totals included $7,000 for additions to residences, $14,800 for remodeling, $3,400 for moving, $500 for demolishing one residence and $200 for one re-roofing job.

Three categories showed increases from the June figures. Up were remodeling, from $6,185 during June; moving, from $2,015; and re-roofing, none during June. Two figures showed decreases, with additions for July totaling less than one-half those for June, at $15,285, and with the demolishing permits for July at half the figure for June of $1,000.

Only one new business building was included in the July totals, for $3,000 for a building for A. J. Finch, 110 N. Nolan, operator of a service station at the location.

July business totals also showed $3,650 for additions to businesses, $2,950 for signs, $275 for one moving and $500 for demolishing one structure. Business categories showed monthly increases in the four areas, with the June totals at $850 for additions, $2,800 for signs and no permits for moves or demolishing.

While June remains the high month for total construction with the $1 million-plus figure, low month remains May with $148,375. The June figure was swelled by two church construction permits, $797,000 for the First Baptist Church and $7,000 for the College Baptist Church. The only church building activity during July was a permit for $1,000, for moving a frame building belonging to the Settles Baptist Church to 1106 E. 19th St.

Pair Charged

DALLAS (AP)—Two teenage Negroes were charged yesterday with murder in the weekend shooting death of an 18-year-old white boy near White Rock Lake. Melvin Joe Hicks, 18, and Leonard McPherson, 17, were charged in the fatal shooting of Billy Wayne Wallace about 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

DEAR ABBY

Too Much 'Modesty'

DEAR ABBY: My husband was raised in a family where MODESTY was the eleventh commandment.

About a year ago, he developed a hernia which kept getting worse. After begging him to see a doctor, he finally went. The doctor said he needed an operation right away.

When my husband found out there would be a surgical nurse there, he said he would rather die than have the operation. He went to four other doctors and they all told him the same thing and none of them could promise him that a nurse wouldn't have any part in caring for him. My husband said nurses are okay for women and children, but not for a man with a hernia.

This was the first time he had been to a doctor since he took his physical for World War II. He is worrying the sick. Can you help me?

MODEST'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Modesty is one thing—Mickey is another. Ask one of those four doctors to assure your husband that nurses couldn't care less about a patient's body. And he should cut out the foolishness and head for the hospital.

DEAR ABBY: I would like some information on how long a person should wait after the death of her husband (whom she loved dearly) before calling a gentleman friend who asked her to ring him up as soon as she felt like it.

PROPER IN PENSACOLA

DEAR PROPER: Just long enough so that she won't feel guilty when she dials.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when another couple you know quite well call you up and say they "might" be over? Sometimes they show up and sometimes they don't. There have been times when we would have gone some place ourselves, but we stayed home waiting for them.

D. and S.

DEAR D. and S.: Next time they call, tell them you want to know definitely if they plan to come because you "might not" be home.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the topless bathing suits?

DALE

DEAR DALE: I think they're tops—for boys!

flameless ELECTRIC cooking!

Every time you cook during hot weather, you'll appreciate the cool comfort of flameless electric cooking. Electric range surface units transfer heat to utensil bottoms by direct metal-to-metal contact, with no intervening air space. Heat goes into the utensils and the food, not into the kitchen air. The flameless electric oven needs no oxygen for combustion, so there's no flow of air through the oven to heat your kitchen. Result: Your kitchen stays degrees cooler when you are cooking hot meals. T&P Caboose Burns Monday

Firemen were called to the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. yards Monday for the second time in a week, when a caboose burned near the Kimbell Grain Co. about 7:30 p. m.

The railroad car was a total loss, according to firemen. Firemen said the flames had spread throughout the car when fire trucks arrived, but were put out shortly afterward. Railroad officials moved the burning car west to a point near the T&P roundhouse to put it closer to water sources, firemen said.

— that is, having children attend schools in their neighborhoods.

Joining the council in the boycott move was the Joint Council for Better Education. Their formal announcement said, "in attempting to achieve racial balance, our school officials are destroying education."

The call to stay away from school thus would be basically a white boycott, similar to the civil rights boycotts last year by Negroes and Puerto Rican pupils.

ONE-DAY

The Negro-Puerto Rican boycotts, however, were one-day moves. The formal announcement today placed no limit on how long the boycott would last.

It said member organizations "have voted to recommend to all parents that no elementary, junior high school or senior high school pupil return to the New York City public schools on Sept. 14 unless there are drastic changes in the Board of Education plans."

"We sincerely hope that the courts, the mayor and the governor will act before the opening of school so this action will not be necessary."

The council claims it does not object to racial integration itself, but does object to busing children to schools away from their home neighborhoods to achieve this goal. There is no school segregation by law, but enrollments are racially unbalanced in many schools because of living patterns.

IMPROVE BALANCE

The boycott would protest the Board of Education's plan to improve racial balance in schools by transferring some 25,000 white and Negro children from neighborhood schools.

The council sponsored a march on City Hall last March 12 to demonstrate its stand for neighborhood schools. A crowd estimated at 10,000 to 15,000, nearly all whites, marched in rain and snow.

Civil rights leaders staged boycotts Feb. 3 and March 16 for faster and more widespread moves to improve racial balance in schools.

In the first, nearly half the public school enrollment was absent. In the second, about one quarter was absent. Normal absenteeism is about 10 per cent.

There are 1,037,000 pupils in the public school system. About 596,000 are white, 264,000 Negroes and 177,000 Puerto Ricans.

Lee White Dies Monday

Lee M. White, 50, unexpectedly died Monday at his residence at 901 Formosa Drive in Abilene. Funeral will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. in the Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. O. W. Newman, pastor of the Assembly of God Church in Hobbs, N. M., officiating.

Minor Accidents Are Reported

Three minor accidents were investigated by city police Monday. An accident about 1 p. m. on the east viaduct, (Benton Street) involved a car driven by Teodora Ramirez, 711 N. Rubbish Is A Burning Issue In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Colorado City's rubbish — often a burning issue at city hall — emitted a few puffs of smoke at the Monday night meeting of the city council, with councilman Skeet Harkins calling for an end to "this dumping ground in the heart of the city. I'm concerned about the burning. People have been after me for six or seven years about this thing."

Harkins was referring to a dump site on the banks of the Colorado River near the business section once used by the city as a dump ground, but now used by citizens as a disposal site for excess rubbish.

"We closed the ground once," said City Manager Ford Merritt, "and our local people almost stormed city hall wanting to know what to do with old tires and other rubbish not picked up by the city. I think we all realize that this downtown site is no place for a dump ground, but when we close it, I think we better have a better solution than just telling the public that it is closed."

Merritt added that the city can make a special pickup under its garbage ordinance and charge an extra fee, but that can get expensive.

"I think they should hire the city to carry it off," said Harkins, "and at least we should study the thing."

Merritt told councilmen to try to think of a place near town where local citizens would be allowed to dump rubbish.

The council also set aside for study a proposition made by the school board to join in sharing the cost of a proposed $17,500 tax re-evaluation. Merritt said that the school board had asked if the city would consider paying part of the cost, perhaps half.

The council also: 1. Voted to extend water lines along Tenth Street to the Perry Barber property and along State Highway 208 to the property of Mrs. L. W. Terry at an estimated cost of $7,900; 2. Heard a report from Merritt that the city had seal-coated 71 blocks of paving this summer at an estimated cost of $5,000; 3. Signed a lease with Texas Electric Service Co. for a new

Three More Tots Smother

CHICAGO (AP)—Last winter, Leamond L. Fuwells, 29, bought a new refrigerator and put the old refrigerator on the back porch of his apartment.

Because he has three children, aged 3 to 7, he tied the door shut with plastic-coated clotheslines.

Last Friday, three small children of George Hartman, 30, who lives in the basement apartment beneath the Fuwells, climbed into the old box. The door closed, the children died.

An epilogue to the short lives of Cynthia Hartman, 4, and her brothers, Joseph, 5, and Marty, 6, was written Monday. An inquest jury ruled that they died accidentally.

The inquiry established no evidence as to what happened to the rope Fuwells tied around the old refrigerator. Probably, at some time during the months the appliance sat on the back porch, someone needed the line for something else.

A Mass of the Angels will be said for the youngsters Wednesday.

The deaths pointed up a problem that affects children everywhere in the nation. It has not been solved despite federal legislation requiring push-out doors on refrigerators made since 1958, and state laws requiring that doors be removed from discarded refrigerators.

Fuwells' refrigerator had not been discarded. It was just idle, and stored on his property.

Each year, a dozen or more children die of suffocation in idle refrigerators. In 1962, the toll reached a high of 35.

The death-trap problem first became a widespread concern in the 1930s when old ice boxes were being discarded as the electric refrigerator was winning acceptance.

It surged again after World War II when resumption of civilian appliance manufacturing spurred a slough-off of over-age electric coolers.

Last year's boom in refrigerator sales again heightened the menace of abandoned boxes.

Dallas Office Picketed; Bowling Club Suit Filed

DALLAS (AP) — Integration picketers chanted through the Dallas school administration building Monday shortly after two Negroes filed a $140,000 damage and civil rights suit against a bowling club.

There were no arrests during the 2-hour demonstration at the headquarters of the Dallas Independent School District, but police warned the 14 white and Negro marchers they would be booked if they re-entered the building.

The protest was aimed at "complete school integration," spokesmen said.

The integration action started when Roy E. Allen and William Grant filed suit against Club Bowlero and South Oak Cliff Bowling Lanes, Inc. The suit asked for injunctive relief from alleged segregation.

Both men charged they attempted to bowl and eat at Club Bowlero but were told that the club was private and they must seek membership.

PUBLIC PLACE

The suit alleged that the bowling lane "is a place of public accommodation" as defined in the civil rights act of 1964. Because of "great mental anguish," the suit claimed, each man seeks $20,000 damages and $50,000 punitive damages.

The injunction portion of the suit claims that the club serves interstate travelers and that a substantial portion of the food served moves in commerce, and that, therefore, a district judge should grant an injunction against discrimination.

Because it is a "special case," the suit claimed, fees should be authorized by the court and an order issue.

Highland Church Of God Launches Construction

An informal ground-breaking service Monday afternoon preceded beginning of construction on the new Highland Church of God at 1110 Sixth Street.

The church will include a sanctuary and five classrooms and will be completed in November. The present parsonage, adjacent to the site, will be taken down at a later date and a parking lot is planned for the area, with a new parsonage also to be constructed, according to church officials.

The congregation began meeting in private homes about two years ago and then in a temporary location, since January, 1963, at 10th Street and Highland Drive. The new church will seat about 100 persons and will be of concrete block construction.

Present for the ground-breaking Monday were the Rev. Fred Dill, pastor; Clyde Brown, builder; Cleo Carlile, chairman of the board of trustees; and several other trustees and church members.

First pastor of the church was the Rev. John E. Kolar. The Rev. George Harrison also recently temporarily filled in for the Rev. Kolar, prior to the Rev. Dill assuming the pastorate.

WHAT KIND OF HEADACHE?

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

To many people, excitement or any emotional disturbance will cause a headache. Fear, worry, overwork, loss of sleep or any other condition that saps the patient's vitality may result in a headache. In such cases the victim's reserve of vital energy is usually below par and the least deviation from the sufferer's normal life results in a headache.

Headaches may be located in different parts of the head, its location usually indicates the part of the body from which the headache originates. Other symptoms may confirm this, reflex condition and a thorough spinal examination will reveal abnormalities or displacement of the spinal bones.

These displacements, by causing a pressure on the spinal nerves leading to the affected organs, interfere with the normal flow of vital energy necessary for their proper functioning, resulting in nerve root irritation and in turn, resulting in a headache. Irregularity of function must be traced to its source and corrected. Chiropractic adjustments correct the cause.

Take this case that came to our office over two years ago: This 41-year-old woman had repeatedly suffered from headaches—here today—gone tomorrow; never knowing just when her head was going to ache and to what degree the pain would be. She came at a time her head was hurting quite a bit. We examined and found the cause—and when she left the office the headache was gone. Each time she would push too hard in some manner, her headache would come back, but the headaches left as she learned how to live and as her spine strengthened. No. 1300.

You, too, can have your spine checked and the cause of your headaches removed. Call the Hansen Chiropractic Clinic, across from Piggly Wiggly, AM 3-3324, for an appointment.

The World Bridge Olympiad recently completed in New York City witnessed the return to the international scene of one of the outstanding partnerships of the current era — Terence Reese and Boris Shapiro of England. The British team, paced by this redoubtable pair, swept all before them in the preliminary rounds before succumbing to Italy, the eventual victors, in a semi-final match.

In today's hand, culled from our archives, Reese and Shapiro collaborated to defeat a game contract with a "veritable masterpiece" of defensive maneuvering. Also the bidding of North and South is somewhat involved, they reached the only contract that has a chance to succeed—four spades.

Reese seated West opened the queen of hearts and continued the suit. Declarer ruffed the third round with the ten of spades. South played the king of diamonds and West, after prolonged deliberation, ducked the trick! Declarer continued with the queen of diamonds and when West refused one more to cover, a club was discarded from dummy.

The jack of diamonds was put thru next and Shapiro, seated East, was able to win this trick by ruffing with the five of spades. He now applied the finishing touch to the campaign which his partner had inaugurated by leading a fourth round of hearts. The ruff and sluff presented to the declarer proved to be in the nature of a lethal gift.

In order to protect his own trump holding, South discarded a diamond and won the trick with North's three of spades. Declarer led a trump to his jack in order to finally ruff out the ace of diamonds with dummy's high spade. North had nothing but clubs left now and, in order to reenter his hand, South was obliged to ruff a club. This left him with only one spade, the king, while Reese retained two trumps — one of which took the setting trick.

Observe that, if West covers the king of diamonds early in the play, there is no way to prevent declarer from winning the balance of the tricks, for the diamond suit becomes established as soon as the ace is disclosed.

However, West's boldly conceived duck in diamonds was not quite sufficient. It was also essential for East to lead the fourth round of hearts when he ruffed the jack of diamonds. By forcing out one of dummy's small trumps before the diamond suit became established East punctured South's vital line of communication with the North hand—and there was no way declarer could recover.

One-Armed Bandits Now Automated For Rapid Play

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Automation has caught up with that women gamblers' delight, the one-armed bandit.

Now there's a no-armed bandit.

It looks pretty much like a regular slot machine but after you drop in the wheels with pictures of cherries and bells are spun electronically.

This has certain advantages for the gambler. The conventional jackpot machine is operated two-handed—drop in the coin with the left, pull the lever with the right.

The new model employs the right for coin dropping, leaving the left free for holding drinks, clutching purses, digging for more change or even scratching one's back. It also makes it easier for smokers and those who prefer operating two or three machines at one time.

For the casino, the electronic models are a bit of a bonanza. They don't require "elbow room" to the side and space at the rear for emptying coin boxes. This permits twice as many new ones in the same floor area.

And at a 900-per-hour coin-gathering rate, they permit a theoretical 3,900 extra plays every 24 hours, if operated steadily.

Because the house always wins, this is important. Machines are set to keep anywhere from 10 to 30 per cent of the coins fed into them.

Shoeshine Girl

Lillian Rayes is only 12 but she has a thriving business as a shoeshine girl on a street corner in New York. Lillian conducts her bootblack business at the corner of Broadway and 40th Street and says she wants to open a regular shoeshine parlor and have only girls working for her. She charges 25 cents a shine and clears up to $168 a week with tips, she says. She lives on Manhattan's Lower East Side and wants to be a doctor or a lawyer "or something like that" when she grows up. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Showdown Seen With Cafe Owner

ATLANTA (AP) — The stage is set today for a possible showdown between civil rights forces and an adamant Atlanta restaurant owner who was denied more time before he must begin serving Negroes under the new Civil Rights Act.

In Washington Monday, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black turned down requests by the restaurant owner and an Atlanta motel for an order staying effectiveness of a decision that the act's public accommodations section is constitutional. These were the first court tests of the act.

In a three-page memorandum issued in connection with his refusal, Black said, "A judicial restraint of the enforcement of one of the most important sections of the Civil Rights Act would, in my judgment, be unjustifiable."

This left segregationist Lester Maddox, who says his Pickrick Restaurant positively will not integrate, faced with the possibility of closing the restaurant in the face of expected further integration attempts.

On the other hand, Moreton Rolleston, head of the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp., said he would comply with the court order.

"We will never integrate," Maddox said. "Pickrick will never integrate."

"We are just really hurt that our government will tell us that we no longer can be free as Americans and no longer can we select our customers," he said after learning of Black's decision. "It's involuntary servitude; it's slavery of the first order. It shows complete, utter disregard for the United States Constitution."

Maddox said he would make a final decision today on the several courses of action he says are open to him.

Civil rights groups said they had no specific plans to make another attempt to integrate Maddox's restaurant today. Rolleston said: "We will obey the court's order and the order of any other court that is issued against us," adding there was nothing more he could do until the case comes before the Supreme Court on appeal in October.

Free Enterprise Backer New Italian President

ROME (AP) — Cesare Merzagora an advocate of free enterprise, has taken office as acting president of Italy, and this could mean trouble for the new center-left government of Premier Aldo Moro.

Moro, a 47-year-old Christian Democrat, heads a government consisting of Christian Democrats, Democratic Socialists, Socialists, and Republicans.

Last month, when Moro was forming his new government with the aid of the Socialists, Merzagora openly opposed the coalition formula.

At that time, Merzagora, 65, was president of the Italian Senate. Three days ago, a stroke felled President Antonio Segni, and Monday the Italian government decided the 73-year-old president is temporarily incapable of performing his duties.

The presidential post is largely ceremonial, but it gives Merzagora the power to refuse to sign decrees issued by Moro's government. Moro is expected to issue several decrees to fight Italy's economic slump.

Refusal by Merzagora to sign a decree would kill it unless both houses sent it back to the president with a two-thirds majority.

Merzagora doesn't belong to any political party. During World War II, he was a member of the anti-Fascist resistance.

In 1947, he was named minister of foreign trade and eventually boosted the Italian economy through his vigorous promotion of Italian exports.

A medical bulletin this morning said there was considerable improvement in Segni's condition.

Westbrook School Opens Aug. 31

WESTBROOK — School Supt. Herman Parsons has announced that school will open Aug. 31 with a full schedule on the first day. Three new teachers are to be supplied to fill vacancies.

Robert Hutchins, principal of Westbrook school since 1960 and science teacher for the past seven years, has resigned to teach science in the Post school. Mrs. Hutchins, fifth grade teacher for three years, has also resigned to teach in the Post school. Mrs. Witt Hines, high school English teacher from Colorado City, resigned also. She does not plan to teach.

The bus schedule will be the same as last year, Parsons said. Drivers will be Ralph Bryant, Keith Williamson, and Buss Gressett. Cafeteria lunch tickets will remain at 25 cents for students.

Co-Ops Slate Annual Meet

STANTON — O. B. Bryan and James D. Eiland, Cap Rock Electric Co-op, Inc., Stanton, will attend the annual convention of rural electric leaders from Texas in Austin Aug. 12-14. Several directors had indicated their intentions to attend also, Eiland said.

The meeting will be the 24th annual convention of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., a state-wide association of the rural electric systems. Those attending will be concerned with ways of helping their rural growth despite the decline in the number of persons engaged in farming and ranching.

Those attending will take time out for one evening of entertainment which will include a contest to select the 1965 Miss Texas Rural Electrification Thursday. The winner will enter the national contest in January in Miami, Fla. Cap Rock has not entered a contestant for the title.

Club To Meet

Big Spring Coin Club will hold its regular August meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Crawford Hotel building. The members are urged to attend and to bring guests. The club meets in the Blue Lodge rooms.

McPeak Optimistic About Redskins

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

CARLSLE, Pa. (AP) — Bill McPeak breaks all the rules for football coaches. He steps right out front and says he thinks his Washington Redskins are going to win.

"If we can keep our quarterback in one piece, we can take it all," said the coach-general manager of the Redskins at the training base at Dickinson College. "I don't know how good he was until we got him."

McPeak was talking about Sonny Jurgensen, the quarterback he got from Philadelphia in a trade for Norm Snead, his former protege. At the moment, Jurg can walk on water as far as McPeak is concerned.

Of course, walking is all Jurg can do at the moment, since he is out for some 10 days with an injured knee, but the quarterback is expected to be fit for the opener on Sept. 13 against the tough Browns.

"I think the Eastern Conference will be a hodgepodge," said McPeak.

McPeak counts on Sam Huff, the ex-New York Giant, to steady his defense just as he expects Jurgensen to lead the offense.

"We've never had a linebacker like Huff," said McPeak. "Sam is full of vinegar and he wants to do well. He was pleasantly surprised at the caliber of our defensive line."

The Redskins' attack will hinge on Jurgensen's passes, primarily to flanker Bobby Mitchell and Angelo Coia, the speedy new split end acquired from the Chicago Bears.

The running game depends on Charley Taylor of Arizona State, who wasn't able to join the club until this week because of the College All-Star game.

Tom (The Bomb) Tracy, trimmed down to 190 pounds, Billy Barnes and Don Bosseler are available. McPeak liked what he saw of rookie Dick Drummond in early camp. The fullback position is a scramble among Bosseler, Dave Francis, J.W. Lockett and rookie Gene Donaldson from Purdue.

The offensive line of tackles Riley Mattson and Frank O'Brien, guards Vince Promuto and John Nisby and center Fred Hageman is intact, with rookie Len Hauss of Georgia pushing Hageman. There are no solid reserves.

McPeak's big job has been to shore up the deep defense. The front four of John Paluck, Bob Taneff, Joe Rutgers and Ron Sniadow is solid but the linebacking, except for Huff, is fluid.

Victory Smiles

The four men above had reasons to smile Monday afternoon as they gathered at the municipal golf course for they had just received their trophies for winning their respective flights in the 16th annual city tournament. Crouched in the middle is Bernard Rains, championship flight winner, while standing behind him, left to right, are Bob Rogers, fourth flight; Melvin Newton, third flight; and Joe Peay, first flight. Jimmy Harper, winner of the second flight, was not present.

Horses Leave For Olympics

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ten horses of the Mexican Olympic Equestrian Team left Monday night in the first leg of their long trip to the 19th Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Five of the horses are for the jump team and five for the three-day tournament. A veterinarian and five attendants are traveling with them.

The horses are to travel to the Mexico-U.S. border in Juarez on a special railway car and are expected to cross the border Friday.

From El Paso, Tex., they will travel in the "horse palace" to San Francisco, Calif., arriving Monday. They are expected to arrive in Yokohama Sept. 8th.

Pitcher Tosses Perfect Contest

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Mark Belch, a 19-year-old left-hander of West Allis, Wis., Monday pitched the first perfect game in the 12-year history of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Teener Baseball Tournament.

The 6-foot, 200-pounder set down all 21 players to face him as West Allis defeated Pierre, S.D. 3-0 in an opening round game.

Patterson Has Ace

Jimmy Patterson, who attends North Texas State University in Denton on a golf scholarship, made the first ace of his career Saturday on the 159-yard, par-3 16th hole at the Big Spring Country Club. He was using a seven-iron. Patterson was in a foursome with R. M. Johnson, Marvin Miller, and Jim Bob Chaney.

Rogers Turns Tiger, Wins Ring Battle

DALLAS (AP) — Roy Rogers turned from catcher to pitcher Monday night and it paid off with a decision over the toughest he has yet met.

Rogers, the 20-year-old Levelland, Tex., oil field worker, earned a close but unanimous nod over Otis Lee of Houston in 10 blistering rounds.

Rogers had been known as a taker with the counter punch but he went after Lee all the way and scored heavily in the fourth round with four tough rights to the head.

But the Houston Negro, a sparring partner for Cleveland Williams, the highly ranked heavyweight, rallied to take the fifth round and pull back even.

It was the eighth before Rogers could muster another strong attack to go ahead once more. They were even in the ninth. Then Rogers made a great finish to win the fight. He wound up with a bloody nose but there were no other marks on either boxer.

It kept the 197-pounder from Levelland undefeated in pro fighting. He now has won eight and had one draw.

It was announced immediately afterward that Rogers' next fight here will be against Sonny Moore, the Dallas heavyweight who has more experience than any boy Rogers will have met.

Lee, a tall 158-pounder, had twice as many fights as Rogers before he met the Levelland clouter.

A crowd of better than 900 turned out for the five-bout card.

Tigers Split With Pecos

PECOS—The Big Spring Tigers journeyed here Sunday and played a doubleheader against a local all-star squad, with the locals taking the first contest 8-4 but dropping the second game to Big Spring, 4-3.

In the opener, Walker was tapped for 10 hits but still went the distance to garner the victory. J. Pierra was the loser. Cassell of Pecos and Arista of Big Spring had homers while Gamboa and Weatherall had a triple and double respectively for the losers. Gamboa and Cassell went three-for-four to lead all batters.

The second game saw the Tigers bounce back on the strength of Johnson's six-hit performance to take the win. Johnson helped his own cause with a double, the only extra-base knock of the contest for the visitors. Thomas was the loser although teammates Cassell and Arreguy had a homer and triple respectively. Johnson went three-for-three at the plate.

Chicago Sox Seeking First Win Over NY

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox will have baseball's big yardstick — the law of averages — going for them today when they open

Phase II of the American League's three-way pennant stretch at Yankee Stadium. The White Sox will be looking for their first 1964 victory over New York but their 0-10 nose-diving against the Yankees doesn't show up in the league standings. Chicago, having shrugged off the Yankee hex while building a fat 67-34 bulge against the rest of the league, is in second place, 12 percentage points behind front-running Baltimore and two points up on New York.

The Sox can't ignore the Yankees for the next four games, beginning with a day-night doubleheader today. But Al Lopez, who pays less heed to the law of averages than to his pitching staff's 2.79 earned run average, believes the defending champions are ready to be taken.

Lopez will send Joe Horlen, 9-7, 2.17 ERA, against the Yankees' Ralph Terry, 5-8, in this afternoon's opener, Juan Pizarro, the league's No. 1 southpaw with a 14-6 mark and 2.71 ERA, opposes New York's Jim Bouton, 12-9, at night.

The Chicago sharpshooters will face a Yankee team beset by injuries to its key men, Whitey Ford and Mickey Mantle.

The White Sox are healthy, though their offense is less than robust.

After the White Sox leave town, the Yankees have a three-game series at Baltimore and a four-game visit to Chicago.

The Orioles, meanwhile, have an opportunity to widen their lead in a three-game series against Boston, beginning tonight at Baltimore. Rookie sensation Wally Bunker, 12-3, will pitch for the league leaders against the Red Sox' Bob Feller, 5-4, Detroit, working on a seven-game winning streak, visits Minnesota; Cleveland is at Los Angeles and Washington at Kansas City.

There were no AL games scheduled Monday. In National League night games, St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1, dropping the Giants three games behind league-leading Philadelphia, and third place Cincinnati whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2.

Nicklaus Still Money Leader

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus leads the list of 10 top pro golf money winners released by the Professional Golfers Association.

Nicklaus has played in 19 tournaments, winning three for $96,217.

Arnold Palmer, all-time top money winner with more than $180,000 to his credit for a single season, is second with $90,443.

Tony Lema ranks third with $68,738, Bill Casper Jr. fourth with $64,888 and Gary Player fifth with $52,449.

Juan Rodriguez has earned $48,610; Ken Venturi, $45,565; Mason Rudolph, $39,612; Mike Souchak, $37,414; and Bob Nichols, $34,527.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

A young female roofer from Baytown, at a time her team was down, 13-0, to Fort Worth in a game of the recent Texas State Hi-Junior Teenage Baseball tournament here.

"Come on, fellows, let's make one run just so it won't look so bad in the papers."

The late STEVE OWEN, former pro football coach:

"What gets you is the sportswriters who call up a guy in the corner drugstore and find out you are favored by 12 points. Why? Because the guy in the drugstore says so. Then if you get beat, it's the team's fault. When you publish odds, you make people bet who would never have made one otherwise. You encourage gambling."

JOHN McGUIRE, Amarillo Caprock coach, indicating one reason Borger was picked over Amarillo Tascosa as the 3-AAA football favorite this fall:

"Gene Mayfield does a masterful job of getting his teams up for the big games. He's better at that than anyone I know."

GARDNER MULLOY, the tennis veteran:

"If you have an opinion, 50 per cent of the people will agree with you and 50 per cent will disagree. But if you have no opinion at all, 100 per cent will think you're dumb."

JIM MURRAY, Los Angeles scribe:

"You are familiar with the fact that the final round of any given golf tournament includes guys too fat to fit, skinny enough to be pipe cleaners—guys with a limp, and guys with glasses you could start fires with. They look like a 'hire the handicapped' poster. Some are as rugged as Arnold Palmer, but most lean to Betsy. . . . They're letting them—come closer so Harry Vardon won't get wind of this—letting them use golf carts. You can see what will do to the athletic image of the game. Next, they'll permit stretchers so the terminal cases from nearby hospitals can compete. They should mark the carts with the Red Cross. Now that they've perfected electric toothbrushes, shouldn't electric shavers be next? The purpose of golf is exercise. But electric shavers are becoming a game where an Olympic miler can lose a $50 Nassau to a guy who's turning blue and just flunked an insurance physical. There are some guys making bets on what they'll shoot in 18 holes who might not be around to collect."

JIMMY CANNON, New York scribe:

"Once there were what the underworld calls 'safe' towns but the FBI put them out of business. They were cities where gambling ran wide open. Lamsters would report to the police department as soon as they hit the safe town. They made the first down payment on their rent and they could stay as long as their cash held out. It didn't matter how hot a guy was. The lamsters walked the streets unbothered and weren't pinched if they didn't fall behind in their payoffs. The Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston charade has to find a safe town. No respectable city would stand for it. There will be a boxing commission that will sanction it. The one that does is as corrupt as the mob itself mixed up with Liston in an alliance that has survived even a Congressional investigation. . . . I hold no prejudice against a guy who comes out of jail and tries to making a living with his hands. But Liston, whose character was formed as a head buster for the St. Louis mobs, is what he always has been. . . . The underworld claims that all men are for sale if the price is right. If this fight comes off, you better believe it."

Ex-Big Springer BILLY MAXWELL, now a pro golfer:

"Golf has its ups and downs like everything else. This business takes hard work and infinite practice, and after a while—believe it or not—things become routine, and it's just like any other job. In order to travel the circuit every year, a man has to win no less than $16,000 just to break even. Golfers must have a heck of a lot of incentive to keep them going."

Packer Lineup Undergoes Changes After Reversal

By BOB GREEN
By The Associated Press

The Green Bay Packers, shocked by their first loss in 25 exhibition games, have made some wholesale changes in rookie personnel while the Chicago Bears are having some second thoughts about their narrow victory over the College All-Stars.

The Packers, second in the Western Conference last year after two years as the National Football League champions, were knocked off by the St. Louis Cardinals 20-7 in New Orleans last weekend. It broke a string of 24 straight exhibition victories for the mighty Packers.

Taking part in their first drill with the Packers Monday after playing in the All-Star game were tackle Lloyd Voss of Nebraska, center Ken Bowman of Wisconsin, halfback Duke Carlisle of Texas, quarterback Dennis Clardige of Nebraska and linebacker Tommy Crutcher of Texas Christian.

Trimmed from the team that will play the New York Giants Saturday were center-guard Dave Crossan of Maryland, defensive back Beau Carter of Fresno State, back Gary Kramer of Wisconsin, end Tom O'Grady of Northwestern, defensive back Larry Hunter from Granblum and defensive back Joe Scarpati from North Carolina State.

Chicago Bears owner-coach George Halas, meanwhile, is trying to get the look at his second stringer he couldn't afford in the tight 23-17 victory over the All-Stars in Chicago last weekend.

The Bears were so hard-pressed against the college boys they couldn't work in many of the substitutes, and Halas has indicated he'll use them this week against Washington.

San Antonio Is Golf Site

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Match play opened today in the Texas state junior golf tournament with five boys tied for medalist honors but defending champion Hal Underwood of Del Rio considered the one to beat.

Underwood didn't have to qualify Monday and played a practice round over Brackenridge Park course. He didn't say what he shot.

Meanwhile Kurt Cox and Mike Bowersock of San Antonio, John Bohmann of Seguin, Tom Phillips of Houston and David Smith of Waco each had a par 71 to tie for the medal.

A 77 was required to make the championship flight of 64 players but one 78 shooter got in when he tied with 14 others at that score. He was drawn from the list.

The qualifying was finished in the dark and the 1961 champion, Bill Wade of Freeport, took an eight on the final hole and failed to make the title flight.

Sandy Adelina, San Antonio Alamo Heights, had a 72. He is the state high school champion.

Pro-Am Is Scheduled

The entry list is expected to soar close to the century mark Aug. 20 when a West Texas PGA Pro-Am tournament is held at the Big Spring Country Club.

Teams will be made up of a pro and an A, B and C handicapped player with the foursome playing the best ball. Entry fees will be $4 for amateurs and $6 for pros.

The three low teams and two low amateurs will receive merchandise awards while the low pros will be given money.

Giants Fall Farther Behind In NL Race

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants have new respect for the arms of St. Louis Cardinal outfielders. But it cost them one-half game in the National League standings.

Tom Haller and Orlando Cepeda were thrown out at home plate as they tried to score standing up in the Cardinals' 2-1 triumph over the Giants Monday night. Both runs were the potential tying runs.

The defeat dropped the Giants three games behind National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies and left San Francisco Manager Al Dark in an awkward position.

Immediately after the game, Dark, who has been under fire, was asked if there would be any fines.

"I never announce fines," he said softly, apparently trying to restrain his anger. "That would have to come from somebody else. You saw the same game I did."

In the fifth, with the Giants trailing 2-0, Haller led off with a single. Two outs later, Harvey Kuenn singled him to second. Hal Lanier then popped a single to right. Haller lumbering to the plate, find catcher Tim McCarver holding Mike Shannon's peg.

The Giants pulled to within one run in the seventh on Jim Ray Hart's homer and mounted another threat in the eighth when Cepeda and Hart singled with two out. Haller then singled to left field and Cepeda came barreling home from second.

This time McCarver was waiting with Lou Brock's peg.

Only one other game was played in either league, the Cincinnati Reds belting the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2.

The Reds made quick work of it, the first four men hitting safely against Joe Moeller and producing three runs — more than enough to win behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Purkey.

Moeller was tagged for a double by Pete Rose, singles by Mel Queen and Vada Pinson and another double by Frank Robinson. Bob Reed then replaced Moeller and gave up another run in the inning by issuing a bases-loaded walk to Steve Boros.

Queen wound up with three hits and Boros with three runs batted in.

The first-place Phillies, who now enjoy the biggest lead of the season, get back in action today at Chicago, sending Ray Culp, 8-7, against the Cubs' Dick Ellsworth, 12-13. The Giants will start Bob Hendley, 9-7, against the Cardinals' Curt Simmons, 12-8, in a nighter.

Elsewhere, it'll be Los Angeles at Cincinnati, Houston at Milwaukee and New York at Pittsburgh.

New Guide Book Has All Facts

DALLAS (AP) — There have been two four-time All-Southwest Conference football players.

Three more made it three times.

Two from the conference made All-America three times.

The conference has had teams in the national ratings in 23 of the 28 years there have been such rankings. Three times they were No. 1—Texas Christian of 1935, Texas A&M of 1939 and Texas of 1963.

Darrell Royal of Texas is the leading coach, both in season and conference play.

These and many other interesting and informative facts are contained in the Southwest Conference football guide just off the press.

The cover celebrates the 50th anniversary of the league—the conference was formed in 1915. Texas, with 19 championships and three ties, leads all the schools. Texas A&M with eight titles and one tie is second and Texas Christian with 7-0-1 is third.

The conference this year will have 178 returning lettermen. This is two less than last year.

The 1963 season drew the all-time high in attendance with 1,505,004 fans recorded for 42 home games.

Don Trull and Lawrence Elkins of Baylor were the record-smashers of 1963. Trull completed the most passes with 174, also had the most yards with 2,157, and set a career record for completions of 325.

Elkins caught 70 passes for 873 yards, both records.

Jess Neely of Rice will be coaching his 25th year in the conference this fall. He already has the record for longevity and the most games, with 247. He also has won the most games,

ELKINS

177, and the most conference victories, with 81.

But Royal leads in coaching on a percentage basis, compiling .796 with 59 victories against 14 losses and 3 ties. In conference play his percentage is even higher, .904.

There have been 29 consensus All-Americans from the conference but it was 1930 before it got a player on this mythical team—Botchey Koch of Baylor.

Doak Walker of Southern Methodist and Hub Bechtel of Texas were the only three-time All-Americans.

Walker and Bobby Layne of Texas were the only players to make All-Conference four times. This was made possible because freshmen played varsity football in the war years.

Thus Walker and Layne were able to play four varsity seasons.

Jack Mahan of Texas A&M and Harrison Stafford and Ernie Koy of Texas each was all-conference three times.

Among the top individual records were a 105-yard kickoff return by Charley Casper of Texas Christian, 94-yard kicks by Carl Knox of Texas Christian and Preston Johnston of Southern Methodist, a 98-yard punt return by Bob Goode of Texas A&M, a 95-yard touchdown run by Dicky Moegele of Rice.

The largest score? Oklahoma did it. It happened in 1917 when Oklahoma, then a member of the conference, beat Kingfisher, Okla., 179-0.

The public may purchase this book by mailing $1.00 to the Southwest Athletic Conference, Box 7185, Inwood Station, Dallas 9, Texas.

Buffaloes To Face Rugged New Foes

By PAT WASHBURN

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes, with a determination to show improvement over last season's 9-5-2 record, take to the football field Monday morning to begin the first day of work-outs.

Head coach Bill Milam and his two assistants, Doyle Edmiston and Roy Dodd, find themselves in a new district, 5-A, and although the caliber of competition won't be any easier than last year's 7-AA schedule, the three are still predicting better things for the Buffaloes.

Stanton could come up with one of the finest backfields in the area, that is if experience before the campaign means anything. Mike Hall, a 6'11", 205-pounder, is back at fullback and will be bidding for greatness as he should be the finest boy the Buffaloes throw into the grid wars this fall.

Joining him will be halfbacks Johnny Swanson and David Dunn, both starters off last year's team, and Buddy Shanks, a quarterback who saw only limited action last fall because of a broken wrist suffered during the season. Dink Poisson, who lettered as a quarterback but saw few starting assignments, will also be back to round out the backfield.

On the line, end Carroll Anderson, guard Coy Lawson and tackle Wayne Woody will be back to anchor a line that will see many new, inexperienced faces and will be a big question mark until the first game rolls around. Tackles Bobby Orson and Bill Davis should also figure greatly in the grid wars up front before the season progresses very far.

In the six-team district, the Buffs are picked to finish fifth, edging out only O'Donnell. But if optimism means anything along with a desire to improve over last year, Stanton may go places.

The schedule:
Sept. 4—Roscoe here
Sept. 11—Big Lake here
Sept. 18—Cohoma here
Sept. 25—Open

Killett Is Signed By Rough Riders

OTTAWA (AP) — The Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Eastern Football Conference Monday announced the signing of halfback Charley Killett, 23, cut last Thursday by the New York Giants.

Killett played his college ball at Memphis State University.

Gap Expanding In Texas Loop

By The Associated Press

Albuquerque lost its second straight game to San Antonio Monday night and it opened the gap between the Dukes and front runners San Antonio and Tulsa.

San Antonio edged Albuquerque 5-4 in 11 innings with Leo Posada driving in the winning run with a single.

Tulsa stayed 2 1/2 games behind San Antonio with a 3-2 victory over Austin as Nelson Briles won his ninth straight pitching triumph with a four-hit job.

Albuquerque now is 2 1/2 games behind Tulsa.

El Paso beat Fort Worth 4-2 and took over fourth place by breaking out of a tie with Austin. Dick DeMaitis pitched and battled El Paso to its victory. He scattered eight Cat hits effectively, meanwhile getting two key blows himself.

Chris Zachary, San Antonio's league-leading pitcher, failed to get his 16th triumph when he was removed after nine innings and the decision went to reliever Don Bradley.

But Zachary did recapture the league lead in strikeouts. He whiffed eight and brought his total for the season to 181.

The clubs wind up their stands tonight with Albuquerque at San Antonio, Austin at Tulsa and El Paso at Fort Worth.

Juniors Vie In Tourney

The annual Junior Golf Tournament opens Wednesday at the Big Spring Country Club with 20-25 entrants expected to vie for the title that was won a year ago by Bill Schwarzenbach. But a new champion is in order for this outing since Schwarzenbach is out of town.

The two day tournament, for boys 15-and-under, will be composed of three flights with the third bracket a nine-hole flight for beginners. The medalist and flights will be decided after the first day of action with the Callaway system slated to be used in scoring.

There will be a $1 entry fee with merchandise prizes and a trophy going to the top finisher in each flight.

Ken Chadd is the early favorite.

Shaffer First In Trapshoot

La Roy Shaffer finished first in the trapshoot held by the Mesquite Gun Club at its range Sunday.

Entries, and there were 12 of them, were firing at ten birds from a distance of 16 yards.

Second was Dealon Stanley while Skeeter Davidson was third.

The next trapshoot will take place Aug. 23 and will be open to guests as well as members. The field at that time will fire at ten birds, also from a distance of 16 yards.

Ownership Change At Music Company

A change in ownership of the former Dale White Music Co. has been completed, with the firm, at 1903 Gregg, now the White Music Co.

New owner of the store is Les White, who was previously associated with the Dale White Music Co. since its opening in the same location in 1961.

The firm will be the only dealer in Texas with both Wurlitzer and Baldwin pianos and organs, White said. The franchise territory for the store will include five counties, Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Scurry and Borden. About 40-50 pianos and organs will be carried in stock in the new store, he said.

White will continue a policy of the previous owner for applying the purchase price of an upright piano bought at the firm on the price of a new piano within a three-year period. He said previous such offers of the Dale White Co. would be honored.

The store will include Gersch guitars and amplifiers, printed sheet music and method books, a rental service for pianos and organs, used hand instruments and chord items. About 25-30 guitars will be carried in stock, White said.

The firm will also provide a tuning service and will rebuild pianos, which will carry a two-year guarantee, according to White.

The rental service will provide pianos for $10 per month and organs for $25 monthly, White said, which includes five free lessons.

Associated with White in the new firm will be Jimmie Robinson, salesman; Lewis Tierney and Clyde Green, tuners - technicians; and Larry White, store assistant.

California Court Okays Salinger's Appointment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California State Supreme Court has upheld the interim appointment of former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger to the U.S. Senate.

The court Monday rejected without comment a request by former Hollywood film actor George Murphy, Salinger's Republican opponent for the seat in November, that Salinger's appointment be annulled.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown appointed Salinger, the Democratic nominee, to fill the seat vacated by the recent death of Clair Engle, D-Calif.

Murphy contends the appointment was not legal.

While this action took place in California, a Senate elections subcommittee in Washington heard arguments on the legality of the appointment.

California law says the governor has to appoint "an elector who has lived in the state one year prior to the next election." Murphy testified before the subcommittee Monday.

"He (Salinger) has not," Murphy added.

California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, told the subcommittee the appointment was legal.

"A state does not have the right to add or subtract from the United States Constitution's qualifications for a candidate," Mosk said.

In the state court case, Justice Marshall McComb was the only Supreme Court member who dissented.

"I feel the California Supreme Court decision that stated I was eligible to run makes it perfectly clear I am eligible to be appointed," Salinger testified before the subcommittee.

Salinger, press secretary to both the late President John F. Kennedy and President Johnson, defeated State Controller Alan Cranston for the Democratic nomination. Cranston challenged Salinger's eligibility but the California Supreme Court ruled him eligible.

An official canvass of returns in last Tuesday's primary gave Anderson 26,086 votes—318 more than his opponent, John R. Long.

Russian Sees Better Ties Now With West Germany

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexei Adzhubel, editor of the government newspaper Izvestia and son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev, says there is a chance for better relations between West Germany and the Soviet Union.

"It seems to us that Bonn is at a crossroads," Adzhubel reported Monday after a visit to West Germany.

"What forces, what currents and tendencies will gain the upper hand — prudence or recklessness? We cannot decide, and this does not depend on us," he said.

Anderson will run against Republican Cecil Hill, a retired Army colonel, in November for the seat vacated by Rep. Ross Bass, Democratic nominee for the Senate.

The 6th District is traditionally Democratic but Anderson said, "My policy is to figure any opponent is a tough one."
