

Odds Are Better This Year To Avoid Service On Jury

If it is any consolation to you—the chances of your name being drawn for duty in the courts as a juror are a little less this fall than they were last year.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, said that the Howard County jury wheel has been loaded with the names of potential panel members again—the law specifying that such preparation of the jury wheel be done on or before Aug. 15 of each year.

"Last year," said Cox, "there were slightly more than 11,000 names placed in the jury wheel. This past week, my deputies completed work typing up the cards for 1964-65. There were 14,000 names."

This means, he pointed out, there are 3,000 more possible jurors for the court. No sooner had the wheel been disengaged of its 1963-64 cards and refilled with the new cards than out came 510 names. These were the jurors selected to serve on five panels of 102 each needed for the August term of the district court.

This is the fourth time that the jury wheel has been stocked with the names of prospective jurors. The wheel was put in use here in 1961—the state law specifying that when a county passes a certain population figure in any federal census, that the wheel must be substituted for any other system that may have been employed. Actually, Howard County was over the statutory limit for a number of years prior to 1961 but it took the census of 1960 to make the figure official.

The names in the jury wheel, Cox points out, are taken from the county poll tax list and from the property list in the office of the county tax assessor-collector. Mrs. Joan Daniels, one of Cox's deputies, has been working steadily on the lists for weeks. Each name had to be checked against all records to avoid possible duplication. Insofar as was possible, the names of persons who own property in the county and are on the tax rolls, but who live in other counties, were left off the list.

Regardless of the care taken, Cox said, there are certain to be some duplicates. There will also be persons named in the wheel who are dead but whose deaths are not reflected in either the tax rolls or the poll tax rolls.

"It is also inevitable," Cox observed, "that a juror called for a panel for this term will get called again later on. The names of jurors placed on the lists for jury duty are put back in the barrel again when the week for which they are summoned is passed. We had several persons this year who complained their names had been drawn from the wheel more than once."

The names and addresses of the prospective jurors are typed on small cards. The 14,000 cards were given a vigorous shuffling while Judge Ralph Catton, 118th District Court, looked on. Representatives of the sheriff's office, the county clerk, county tax assessor and district clerk then carefully placed the cards in the jury wheel and locked the door.

The wheel was given a few spins and the judge then ordered the withdrawal of 510 names to fill the five panels he will need for petit jury duty in the August term.

The grand jurors who will serve in the months ahead are not taken from the wheel. They are handpicked by a jury commission selected by the judge.

Day was made warrant officer, to replace Farmer.

Morris, 38, of 2400 Alamesa, joined the Big Spring force June 15, 1956 and served as a patrolman until April 15, 1960, when he became a sergeant. He is married and has one daughter, Martha Ann.

The new captain has attended 22 different schools for police training and has served as instructor in several local schools for in-service training.

Farmer, 27, joined the department April 1, 1956 as radio dispatcher, became patrolman a year later with after-hours service as warrant officer. On April 1 this year he became warrant officer full time. He has attended 20 training schools, including advanced and supervisory work. He is married and the Farmers have one daughter. They live at 1102 Blackmon.

Day, 31, began his service July 9, 1960 and has been on the traffic detail as patrolman for the past year. Training included 15 schools. A native of Big Spring, Day and his wife have two daughters and a son.

Chief Banks said applications were being taken to fill vacancies. "Applicants must be 21 years of age or over, must be native-born citizens, have a high school education or equivalent, and must be able to pass a rigid physical examination," Banks said. "They must also be able to stand a thorough traffic, financial, and offense record check."

County Scores Six Deaths In Traffic

Howard County managed to squeeze through July without adding to its traffic death list, but it opened August with its sixth rural fatality of 1964.

Presently, on the basis of reports for the month of July issued last week by the Midland Highway Patrol Office, Howard County has the questionable distinction of sharing with Dawson and Brewster counties a tie for third highest number of road deaths in the 24-county district. Howard, Dawson and Brewster, as of July 3, were each credited with five road deaths for 1964. Top place for fatalities for the year is held by El Paso County with seven. Ector and Midland counties are tied for second with six each. Howard County's Aug. 1 addition to the list—the death of John Tom Romine—may have shunted this county higher up the ladder.

So far this year, there have been 63 traffic deaths in the 24-county Midland patrol district. These resulted from 54 fatal accidents. For each person killed in the district in 1964, nine have been hospitalized with injuries—the total as of July 31 being 648. There were 369 accidents in which persons were injured, and 737 accidents where property damage only was caused. Total property damage for the 24-county area has reached $1,131,300.

The Midland patrol office pointed out that the death rate is ahead of 1963. For the same seven months in that year, the rural road deaths were only 56. Capt. Ray B. Butler, in charge of the Midland office, warned that if conditions do not improve the prospects for the fall are grim indeed.

"We are now moving into that period of the year when traffic deaths invariably increase," he said. "We are already nine deaths ahead of our best 1963 record. If the motorists do not take heed and do something about safer driving, we face a bloody future."

July showed six fatal accidents in the district accounting for the loss of eight lives. A total of 102 persons were injured in 48 personal injury accidents. Total property damage amounted to $181,239.

For the seven months interval, Howard County has had five fatal accidents costing five lives and 24 personal injury mishaps which sent 40 persons to hospitals. There were 82 accidents in all during the seven months. Total damage to property has been $60,951.

There were no fatal accidents July but there were two personal injury mishaps in the county which sent two persons to the hospitals. Property damage from the nine accidents investigated in the month was $4,440.

Other counties adjacent to Big Spring showed the following scores for the seven months period, and July:

Borden—five personal injury accidents; 12 persons injured; 10 accidents in all; property damage $4,640. For July: one personal injury accident; six persons injured, damages $1,010.

Dawson—three fatal accidents, five deaths, 28 personal injury accidents, 39 persons injured; 50 accidents in all; damages $32,488. For July: four personal injury accidents, seven persons injured; six accidents in all, damages $3,930.

Glasscock—two personal injury accidents, two persons injured; 11 accidents in all, damages $21,000. For July: no accidents of any kind.

Martin—six personal injury accidents, nine persons injured; 31 accidents in all; damages $31,720. For July: two property damage accidents with damages of $900.

Cadets pause for a day of fun

Cadets Celebrate With Old-Fashioned Field Day

AFROTC cadets—187 strong—paused after their first three weeks of rigorous summer training Friday at Webb AFB to participate in an old-fashioned field day.

Complete with sack races, tugs of war, wheelbarrow races, piggy-back relay, egg toss and a chicken barbecue, the outdoor affair came as a welcome relief to the steady rounds of marching, classroom study and practical problems in Air Force operations.

The entire staff of the AFROTC Summer Training Unit, including the tactical officers attended. While the field day was an occasion for relaxation, points were tabulated which would be included in the cadets' overall rating at the completion of the summer Training Schedule.

"F" Flight scored the most points during the games. The field day program was under the direction of Maj. John O. Canfield, AFROTC personal services officer, assisted by David C. Davis, cadet group athletic officer.

The picnic style meal was prepared under the direction of 2nd Lt. Alan W. Davidson, base food services officer, assisted by T. Sgt. Alfred E. Taylor and Sgt. Eddie Williams Jr.

Club Observes Biography Day

The program used at Friday's luncheon meeting of the American Business Club at the Settles Hotel differed radically from those of the past in that each member of the organization spoke briefly.

The men were asked to introduce themselves and give brief accounts of their vocations, their background, hobbies, etc.

Charles Dunnam presided over the hour's session. Guests of the club included Byron Boswell, Frank Hardesty Jr., Chris Creighton and Bob Tatum.

J. McElreath Joins SS Unit

Jesse Dale McElreath, native of Big Spring, has been appointed to the Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist Convention, and he and his family will move from Dallas to Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 17. He is the son of Mrs. Artie Williams and the late Rev. Jim McElreath, 1404 Mt. Vernon.

McElreath was employed by Cosden in Big Spring until that corporation was purchased by American Petrofina, and he was transferred to Dallas.

In his new work he will compile and analyze data from the member churches of the Southern Baptist Convention.

While in Big Spring, McElreath was director of music at West Side Baptist Church for three years and for Hillcrest Baptist Church one year. Reprived Youth Strangles Trusty 'So He Can Die'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A youth sentenced to die for slaying his mother and crippled sister — and then saved by a landmark state Supreme Court decision — killed a trusty Friday night in county jail, Sheriff Joseph O'Connor said Saturday.

He said Joseph B. Morse may have strangled Thomas Larry Taddel, 23, so he could again be tried and sentenced to die.

Morse, 20, slight, blond and bespectacled, was originally sentenced to die for fatally beating his widowed mother and 12-year-old sister Sept. 2, 1962, at their home in nearby Chula Vista.

He told police afterward he "just felt like killing someone and didn't care who it was."

He was convicted and was waiting to die when his attorney won a Supreme Court reversal — one now known as the "Morse Decision" — on grounds that the jury weighing his fate did not know he could be paroled if he got a life term. The decision has affected 18 men on death row.

He was returned here for a second penalty trial. In California a jury first decides on guilt or innocence in a capital case, and later on the penalty. Morse was confident he would again be sentenced to death.

He told a reporter before the jury came in: "They'll send me to the gas chamber again."

An officer found Taddel's body in front of Morse's cell. The sheriff said Morse admitted the killing but gave no reason.

Water Division Chief Moves Here

Joe Boadle, superintendent of production for the western division of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, has moved into Big Spring and will maintain offices at the district headquarters at 1318 East 4th.

Boadle will be in charge of production from the O'Barr and city production facilities as well as the Martin County well field and all pipeline pumps and facilities.

He joined the district in January 1953 and he and Mrs. Boadle and family have resided on the lease where the main pump stations are located in central Martin County. They are living here with their three daughters at 3701 Hamilton.

At 8 p.m., as the cell block lights were dimmed, Morse apparently lured Taddel to the bars of his cell, the sheriff said, and slipped a noose made of cloth over Taddel's head and killed him so quietly other prisoners heard nothing.

Stunted Cotton Is Being Plowed Up

The same farmers who just a short time ago were stirring up dust clouds planting cotton are stirring up new clouds of dust—plowing up portions of the same fields they had so hopefully seeded. They are turning up drouth-seared plants to salvage a little of their potential loss by governmental subsidies.

The few scattered showers which fell in the past few days have achieved no real benefits. As observers declared before the showers, it is too late for much good to arise from rains. A few fields of late cotton in sandy land which have been able to last out the hot dry days could be helped but the bulk of the fields are too far gone for any great change to develop in the picture.

MANY APPLICANTS
Gabe Hammack, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization Committee office, said that a steady stream of cotton farmers were in his office during the past week signing up for what is called the "domestic quota" program. This is a plan, devised by the agricultural department, to reduce the production of cotton, and thereby reduce surplus.

In this county and in many others, farmers are accepting the plan as a step to salvage a portion of their expenses with the grim realization that any hope for a good crop of cotton is gone.

Hammack said the deadline for signing for the domestic quota plan expired Saturday, technically, but because the office was closed Saturday, he and his staff will accept applications on Monday. It is estimated that 70 per cent of the cotton farmers in the county will sign up. Already, Hammack said, he has a huge pile of applications and he expects a busy day Monday.

ONE-THIRD UNDER
Under this plan, a farmer agrees to plow up one-third of his actual planted cotton quota. If he does this he is paid approximately $9 an acre for the unplowed segment of his quota. Thus he can reclaim the cost of his seed and his gasoline and possibly salvage a few additional dollars from what cotton the unplowed areas will produce.

The first two bales of 1964 cotton have already been ginned in this county. These bales, it is said, came from fields which were planted April 9—an early planting date.

Ginners expect more cotton to begin showing up in the next few weeks but the crop generally is so short that no grand rush of picking is foreseen for a long time to come.

Meantime, no estimate has been made as yet by any agency on the possible crop. The prophets who three weeks ago were gloomily predicting 16,000 bales are beginning to hedge.

The continued heat and dry weather is steadily reducing the prospects. The widespread plowing-up practices are also cutting sharply into the potential total crop.

Farm Agent's Aide On Job

Donald Brandenberger, 25, who is to be Howard County's new assistant county farm agent, reported to the office of the county agent Friday afternoon but found only Mrs. Catherine Crawford, the county home demonstration agent, on hand to welcome him. Herb Helbig, county farm agent, was out of town.

Brandenberger has been foreman of a purebred Hereford ranch at Watrous, N. M. He resigned that post to take over the job here left vacant when Ken Harrod, who has served for five months, returned to his old job at Houston.

Brandenberger is a graduate of Texas Tech with a degree in animal husbandry. After receiving his degree in 1961, he took the job of foreman on the Watrous ranch. He had to leave there to enter the armed forces and when he had completed his hitch, he resumed work on the ranch.

His mother and father are Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Brandenberger, San Saba. He has always made a specialty of livestock. In his time at Tech, he was one of the top students in his class. He starts work here on Monday.

Water Agencies Aim At Record

Boards of the Upper Colorado River Authority and the Colorado River Municipal Water District took the first step here Friday toward seeing that area water needs are met.

Gerald C. Allen, Robert Lee, chairman of UCRA, indicated that 25,000 acre feet reserve would satisfy needs of cities which were looking to UCRA for future supplies. This is within range of the CRMWD's plans, Charles B. Perry, Odessa, CRMWD president, said.

Within a week, the two agency heads will name small committees to work with engineers in an effort to arrive at a formula which will be acceptable to both groups.

PROMPT ACTION
No time will be lost in attempting to come to an agreement, Perry declared. S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, and W. H. Sims, Dallas, engineers for the CRMWD and the UCRA, were instructed to begin at once to develop facts which might bear upon a satisfactory arrangement.

"If we can be assured that something within that amount (the 25,000 acre feet) can be made available, we are ready to put our shoulder to the wheel and go to work," said Allen. He added that it had been the policy of UCRA not to contest but to endorse other projects, regardless of whom the builder was, when needs of communities were being met.

"We do want your help; we need it, and I assume you need ours, too, in solving water matters of mutual interest," declared Perry. "This is not the last time we will be called upon to work together. Even now we should be thinking about development of the Stacy site (below the confluence of the Concho and Colorado Rivers) for supplies which will be needed by 1985-90."

LAKE PROPOSAL
The two boards met at the Cosden Country Club in response to an invitation by the CRMWD. Previously, the UCRA had suggested that such a meeting would be fruitful, and when the CRMWD determined July 17 that it would seek a permit to impound a 489,000-acre foot reservoir above Robert Lee, the District then had some definite facts on which to base discussions, said Perry.

"The state is looking to these agencies to provide water for West Texas," asserted Allen.

District Has Revenue Gain

Revenues for the Colorado River Municipal Water District continued to show a substantial gain through July, but the difference was mostly in the addition of the Sun Oil Company contract.

Through seven months, revenues aggregated $1,535,939, whereas the same period a year ago produced $1,202,278. The Sun Oil sales for the period (which was not in the picture during the same time a year ago) was $296,205, which means that the net gain for the period was about $33,000.

Expenditures amounted to $486,372 for the seven-month period, well above the $412,019 a year ago due to increased production to meet the Sun contract. Of the $1,049,566 difference between income and operating expense, $860,791 was transferred to debt service and other indebtedness funds.

Water sales amounted to 6,357,252 gallons for the period, far above the 5,132,964,000 a year ago. Nearly six billion gallons, or 5,823,311,000 to be exact, came from Lake J. B. Thomas. The Martin County well fields supplied 248 million, the city wells 285 million.

Vice Presidency Selection Takes On More Importance

This is quite understandable. Four times in this century the presidency has fallen vacant by death — natural or violent.

NOT KNOWN The President has not made known his choice, but he has given thought to the matter and he has drawn a portrait of the type of running-mate he wants.

He did this on July 30, when he swept away a whole list of people whose names had been prominently mentioned.

With that statement the President eliminated six men who had been considered in the pack heading down the home stretch for Atlantic City.

By consensus of political pundits, the strongest men left in the field were Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and the junior senator from that state, Eugene J. McCarthy.

Against: Humphrey has been unpopular in the South ever since he brought up civil rights at the 1948 Democratic convention and split the party.

Against: He's not well-known nationally, and if Johnson were to take the junior senator from Minnesota it would be considered a slap at Humphrey, the senior senator.

Yet in the end, when Johnson takes up his final evaluation scores, he may pass all these by and produce arguments, convincing to him, why someone else should have the nomination.

What Lyndon wants, Lyndon gets.

Segregationist Mourns 'Free Enterprise'

Lester Maddox, who closed his restaurant Thursday in a refusal to integrate, mourns a stabbed manikin at his Pickrick Restaurant. Maddox says the manikin, placed in a black casket, represents "American Free Enterprise System, Private Property Rights, and Freedom and Liberty." He has asked a federal court to dissolve the integration order that went into effect against his business last Tuesday. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Negroes Lose Jobs As Cafe Owner Closes

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Forty-four Negroes lost their jobs in the federal government's first crackdown on a restaurant whose owner refused to comply with an integration order from a federal court.

The owner, Lester Maddox, who closed his business rather than serve Negroes, promised to take care of his Negro employees and some white workers "as long as there is a dime in my checkbook."

Maddox said he had received a call from a landscaping company offering to hire all of his jobless workers. He also received calls from some who were interested in hiring cooks.

But he said he was not in a hurry to find jobs for those laid off by the closing.

"I don't want my crew to get away from me," he said, "because I am confident justice will come at Supreme Court time."

He referred to his intention to contest the constitutionality of the civil rights law "to the bitter end."

Whether the case reaches the Supreme Court may depend on the outcome of a hearing here Thursday when Maddox would answer a civil contempt charge brought by the U.S. Justice Department.

There was no official comment from the Justice Department in Washington after Maddox' action in locking up his business. But official sources pointed out the case against him would appear to be moot since the purpose of the contempt citation was to force an end to segregation.

If the restaurant remains closed, its workers could draw unemployment pay ranging from $8 to $35 weekly, depending on their past earnings.

A. R. Sampson, executive secretary of the Atlanta Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said it was up to Maddox to provide for his employees or find work for them.

Sampson, one of those who sought service at the restaurant, had been quoted as telling employees the NAACP would find jobs for them if they became unemployed as a result of the integration effort.

He said later that if any of the workers call on him, they would be put in contact with persons who might be able to find work for them.

"We are not an employment agency," Sampson said.

Meters Changed To Give More Time For Parking

Parking meter users in the fringe areas of Big Spring's business district, have found 126 of the former nickel and dime meters changed during the past several months to include a penny, providing for 12-minute and up to four-hour parking.

Assistant city manager Roy Anderson, in reporting to the city manager, said two-hour meters were to be placed on the east and south side of the courthouse soon.

He also said parking meters in the 100 block of Runnels, now nickel-dime meters, would soon be converted to permit use of pennies, since conversion kits are on order.

The conversion program was started in September, 1963, at the request of downtown merchants for improving meter time arrangements.

Anderson said the estimated time for complete conversion would take about a year, and that it was partly experimental.

One-hour maximum penny and nickel meters will remain on streets in front of store entrances.

Dist. Judge Tom Reavley, was against John Wrather of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

County Improves Car Park Area With Asphalt Paving

A flight of interest to Big Spring during the past week was a big DC-3 which came in Wednesday afternoon, bringing a group of Montgomery Ward officials. The craft left Thursday morning to take a part of the men to Brownwood, and then came back in time for the noon luncheon with Big Spring businessmen at Cosden Country Club. The simultaneous announcement of a new shopping center in South Big Spring, and a new Montgomery Ward store, was made at the meeting.

Ernie Marks, co-pilot on Cosden's Herron, and pipeline pilot, received his instrument flying rating at Lubbock during the past week. He took the written test several weeks ago, and passed with colors.

The old dirt area just south of the driveway into the terminal building at Howard County Airport is going to be turned into a black-topped parking lot. County crews were busy during the past week taking off several inches of soil in preparation for a six-inch caliche base and a topping. The area will connect the driveway adjoining the power control house and the terminal entrance to provide all-weather parking for a good many cars. It will also make a continuous parking area to the end of the ramp where the jet airplane is on display.

Two men from Tulsa, Okla.

flew in Thursday and were taken to Cosden Country Club in time for the noon luncheon. They came in a Cessna 182.

Howard Loyd, airport manager, and his family left Monday for a few days' vacationing at Corpus Christi. They returned Thursday. The trip was made in Howard County Aircraft's Comanche.

"We have several inquiries—almost one every day—from people wanting to know how they can get in a flying club," airport men said Friday. "If they will contact members of the Howard County Flying Club, the newest, there may be room to enlist enough members to purchase the second airplane, or to form a new club. As things stand right now, with available aircraft, all three clubs are full. We are telling those making inquiries how to make contacts, and will help them in every way possible."

Flying Club members up this week were: Big Spring Flying Club, Colt — Weaver (4), Curtis; Skyhawk — Mrs. Porter (4), Washburn (2), Hallmark, Norton (two weeks cross country to Colorado); Webb Aero Club, Cessna 150 — Fennell; Colt — Lambert (cross country); Tri-Pacer — Estes; Mooney — Simmons (cross country); Brown (cross country); Howard County Flying Club, Colt — McClure (6 and cross country), Green (2), D. Long (5), E. Long (3).

A Pecos Fly-in has been scheduled for Aug. 23, from 7 to 9:30 a.m. at the municipal airport. A ranch breakfast, with Pecos cantaloupe, will be available; displays, sight-seeing, golf and a lot of other things. Incoming aircraft may get traffic advisory by calling Pecos Unicom at 122.8 mc.

Spray Program Against Beetles Nearing Finish

The city's elm tree beetle spraying project is moving toward completion. About two weeks of additional spraying remains unless a third generation of beetles appears, according to Johnnie Johansen, parks superintendent.

The project was delayed several days last week while an operator was in a hospital, but Johansen said he expected spraying would resume early this week.

"The spraying has done a pretty effective job so far," he said. This time last summer, when no spraying was taking place, the city's elm trees had lost most of their leaves.

Last summer was the first recent year city elm trees have been hit by the beetles. The summer spraying program this year was divided into two phases, to allow spraying during the appearances of the two expected generations of beetles.

Johansen said it cannot be certain whether the beetles in this area will only produce two generations.

The city spray unit will continue operations in north and west sections of Big Spring which have not yet been sprayed during the second phase. He said the unit would also be re-spraying some of the hardest hit areas, and areas missed previously.

The spraying involves use of an insecticide known as Sevin. Johansen said the insecticide also aids in control of flies, mosquitoes as well as beetles.

Anticipated cost of the second phase of the project is about $600. Cost of the first phase was about $819, including insecticides and labor operations. The figures do not include the total costs of the program, he said, since the truck and machine operation are out of street department funds. The spray machine itself cost about $2,000.

The spraying program was begun about April 1 after warnings that the elm trees of the city would be destroyed by the beetles unless control measures were taken.

The first phase was completed May 26 and the second begun July 15, according to Johansen. Random spraying was done between the phases, which are carried out by sections of the city.

By PAT WASHBURN
GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearkats are overwhelming favorites to win the District 6-B football crown.

Taylor Etchison, 140-pound senior; center, Bert Hillger, 135-pound junior or Tommy Dobbs, 180-pound junior; and guards, Vernon Newsom, 160-pound junior and Lonnie Short, 180-pound junior.

"This is a fantastic team," head coach Jack Woodley said Friday. "It's not often that a team like this comes around, and it is kind of strange that all of a sudden we just got everything in one year. I personally don't like being such big favorites to take the title. I think this season when people play us, they're going to play some of their best games of the season because they know we're supposed to be good and they're going to be up."

On the defensive unit, it looks like this ends, Chandler and Buddy Henricks, sophomore, 160-pounds; guards, Pagan and Jimmy Dubose, senior, 200-pounds; linebackers, Newsom, Dobbs and Seidenberger; and safety man, Plagens.

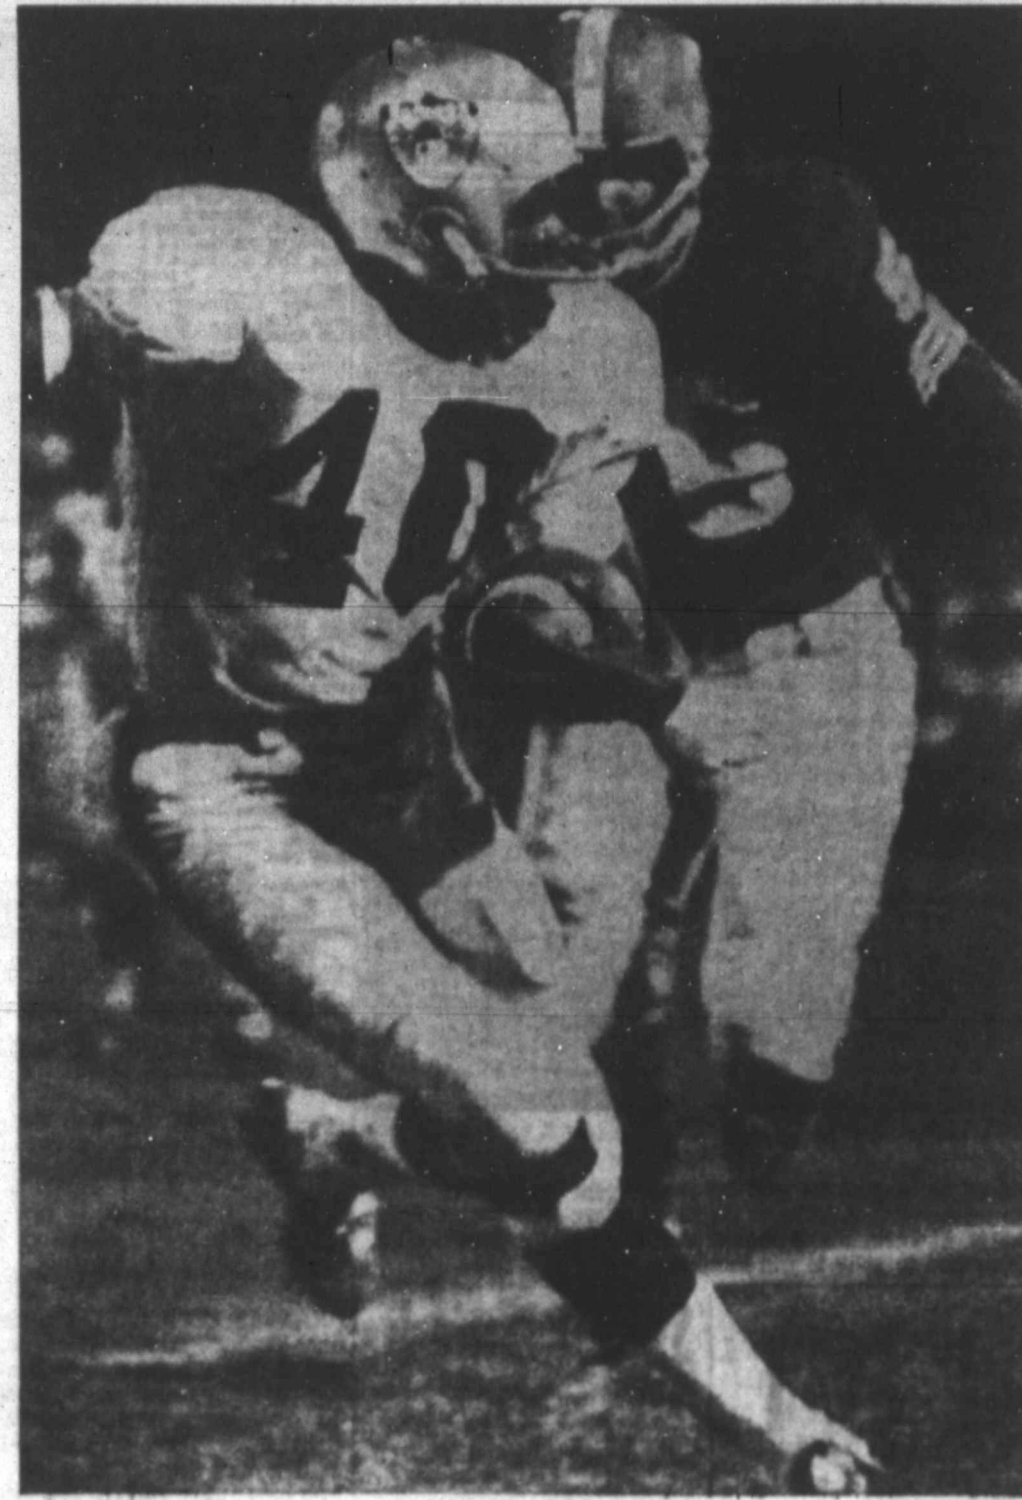

Fantastic has got to be the right choice of a word when talking about the Bearkats. With all but six boys in the entire high school on the team, Woodley has eight offensive and seven defensive starters returning. Out of 24 boys on the squad, 15 are lettermen putting Garden City almost two-deep in experience in each position.

Workouts begin Monday in the afternoon, and for the six seniors, three of whom are starters, this football season could become the finest part of their senior year as they go right on through the season to an undefeated year and a regional championship. Considering the facts, it would be awfully hard to bet against the Bearkats.

And if Woodley's record during the past two years as an up-and-comer means anything, then this is his year. In 1962, his first year with Garden City he finished fourth in the district with a 3-4 record while last year he moved up to second with a 5-5 mark that included a victory over the district winners, Forsan, in the last game of the season. And now this year if he continues his meteoric rise to the top, he's slated to grab the number one spot in 6-B. It's a cinch he'll be the favorite in every game the Bearkats play this season.

The club now has about 20 members. Curtis Burrus is president of the club while Joe Salabreros is vice president and F. D. Williams secretary-treasurer. The organization plans a practice fly this afternoon at 3 p.m. on the parking lot at Memorial Stadium on the HCJC campus.

Brightbill Wins
LONDON (AP) — Robbie Brightbill, Britain's Olympic track and field captain, nipped Poland's Andrzej Badenski by inches in a thrilling 400 meters final Friday night. The British team gained a 59-58 point edge over the Poles at the halfway mark of their international meet.

Angels Always Took Dim View Of Peck's Bad Boy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bo Peck was call a news conference and announce he was demanding a raise.

Some reporters covering the club figured they had discovered a refreshing kid.

It would be safe to say that Peck's relationship with his general manager began poorly and thereafter gradually deteriorated.

Peck's first achieved wide public notice in May 1962, when he pitched a no-hitter against the Baltimore Orioles.

Overnight, he became one of Hollywood's darlings. And overnight was the shift he had to work if he wanted to play the role. He played it with feeling.

Barely a month after his no-hitter, Peck and another Angel pitcher, Dean Chance, were discovered abroad at 5 a.m. in Beverly Hills. The Angels fined them $250 each.

Peck's first five major league decisions but finished the 1962 season with a 10-11 record.

That was in May, Peck didn't get around to reporting to the Hawaii club until July. The Angels took him off the payroll while he was stalling.

Cassius Clay Won't Show New Bride To Newsmen

CHICAGO (AP)—Cassius Marcellus Clay, world heavyweight boxing champion and self-appointed hot of the fistic realm, got married Friday and wouldn't talk about it or his wife.

When asked if that was now his legal name, Clay replied: "It was given to me by Elijah Muhammad (leader of the Muslim sect). Anything he do is legal."

Clay said he and his wife probably will remain in Chicago a few days and then go to Egypt for a honeymoon. Clay said he is making a Biblical movie there, playing the part of an Alexandrian dock worker.

Questioned by newsmen about his sudden decision to leave the ranks of bachelorhood, Clay proclaimed that what he had done was "all right."

About marriage, after a civil ceremony in Gary, Ind., a few hours earlier, "It's all right," too, he responded.

Clay and Sonji Roy, a former model, were married in the Indiana steel manufacturing center, then motored to Chicago where they spent the night at a South Side motel.

Clay met newsmen, but his new wife did not make an appearance. To newsmen who questioned her absence, the champion said: "Muslim women keep in the background."

Clay is a member of the Black Muslim sect. Since announcing his membership, shortly after defeating Sonny Liston for the heavyweight title, Clay has gone by the name Muhammad Ali.

"You keep forgetting that name," Clay repeatedly told newsmen and curious onlookers

The Baltimore Colts scored in the last two minutes and earned a 21-17 tie with the Detroit Lions Friday night as the pro football exhibition season opened its second weekend.

The Kansas City Chiefs also scored in the last two minutes defeating the Buffalo Bills 24-21. The Philadelphia Eagles downed the Denver Broncos 24-13 in Friday's other games.

A total of 29,365 fans turned out for the four games, two between National League teams and two between American League outfits. Tops was the 46,582 attendance for the Colts-Lions game at Detroit.

Baltimore's late touchdown passes, one a 62-yard play, to lead the Raiders.

Billy Daniels Is Riding High After Jones Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Daniels, a Brooklyn barber whose manager had given up on him as a fighter, today was riding high while Doug Jones, the top-ranking heavyweight contender, still was wondering what happened in the Madison Square Garden ring Friday night.

Daniels, a former contender who grabbed a sub's role against Jones on 24-hours notice, scored a resounding upset over the man who gave Cassius Clay his toughest fight.

Two of the three officials voted for Daniels, who won a split verdict in a close and often drab 10-round television fight.

Daniels, a gangling awkward 6-foot-3 beanpole with long arms, had lost a close decision to Jones 14 months ago in Teaneck, N.J. Bill was 3-1 underdog in the return and the crowd of about 4,000 cheered the decision.

Cook, Koger File Project In Ohio Site

Cook-Koger No. 1 Fred Carnes has been staked in Rush Creek Township of Logan County, Ohio, it was announced Saturday.

The location is 330 feet from the south and west lines of a 144.68-acre tract and is in the middle of a 4,000-acre block which Jack Cook and Maurice R. (Frog) Koger of Big Spring staked several months ago.

The venture, by coincidence, is eight miles southwest of Big Spring, Ohio.

Objective is the Trempealeau dolomite sand, somewhat comparable to the Ellenburger in this area. Contract will be to 2,150 feet, and likely the well will be drilled with cable tool in order to take a maximum look at five potential pay horizons. As for oil, it is a rank wildcat, but there is gas production in little more than a mile on the north and west sides of the tract.

Spudding may take place within a week and completion within four to five weeks. Koger and Cook left here Saturday for Ohio and will remain here until the well is under way.

Small Oilmen Getting Less

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department is buying more petroleum products but small domestic refiners are getting less of the business, the Senate Small Business Committee heard last week.

The department, the world's largest single buyer of oil products, has steadily increased its purchases, Lt. Gen. W. O. Senter testified.

But, Senter added, the volume of purchases from small refiners has declined. Senter asserted the decline in purchases from small refiners comes not from lack of opportunity for them to sell to the government but from price differences in some instances and more profitable civilian markets for them in others.

The department's annual requirements for jet fuel have increased 20 million barrels in four years, he said, and jet fuel, made from kerosene, is a product particularly suitable for production by small refiners.

On the other hand, requirements for aviation gasoline, a product which a majority of small refiners do not produce, have remained relatively constant.

WATER BABIES have more fun in the pool if they can play in safety. As part of her study of child development, Phyllis Thomps, daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Jim K. Thomas, has been giving swimming lessons to children who use the pool at Webb Air Force Base. Douglas Cooley practices a stroke as his sister, Melody, and brother, Billy, listen to instructions. The children's parents are T. Sgt. and Mrs. Charles E. Cooley.

SMART GIRLS know that a homemaker can get away with a little neglect in other departments if she's proficient in the kitchen. Learning basic cookery early has helped Sherry Kizer provide her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kizer, with some tasty meals this summer. Sherry has participated in FHA for two years and has practiced other phases of homemaking to earn summer credit.

A Woman's Work

By JO BRIGHT

Most any month of the year bridal aisles are trod by starry-eyed young women, happy and anxious to marry the man of their choice.

Without exception, all expect that remarkable young man to provide them with a home, food and shelter. They would prefer that he advance in his job, be sociable with their friends, and be able to fix leaky faucets and faulty iron cords.

Ironically, some brides give little thought to their own side of the bargain. Many are ill-equipped and unprepared to offer more than a token home to a husband who has the right to expect more.

The program established for members of the Future Homemakers of America was planned to prepare girls for the future role of wife and mother.

An extension of the school course is the summer homemaking program which allows girls to earn a half credit for work accomplished in these months. The only prerequisite is that they complete one year of homemaking before taking the summer course. The girls must complete 10 hours of group work at school under the supervision of a teacher and 90 more hours in various phases of homemaking.

Some of the FHA girls give time to community services where they work with children, senior citizens or hospital patients. They must do some clothing construction and meal preparation—perhaps taking over the household operation while their mothers work. The homemaking teachers visit the students' homes early in the summer and plan with the girls and their mothers how the required 100 hours will be used.

The program is offered in both junior high schools and the senior high school at no charge to students. Local participation is always high, and for all, it is a profitable introduction to the work of a woman's world.

FEMINELY FRILLY is the way most girls want their rooms to be. Tanis Hogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hogue, tells a favorite friend about the tedious work she has done this summer in helping her mother redecorate. What looks like a professional job has turned an old limed oak bedroom suite into antiqued white pieces that look brand new. Tanis redyed her curtains to match the lavender walls and is removing blistered varnish from an old telephone table which she will paint white and trim with gold.

DR. AND MRS. GEORGE M. HILLIARD III, GEORGE MAC AND JULIE

New Routine Starting For Doctor's Family

By MARY COCHRAN
A warm welcome awaits guests who call at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George M. Hilliard III, newcomers to the city. Chief greeter is George McIntosh Hilliard IV, a little fellow with a big title and a big personality. He is ably assisted in his host duties by his sister, Julie Anne.

By the end of the week they will be established in their new home at 107 Canyon Drive where the family will settle down to a new routine of living.

Dr. Hilliard has just completed two years in the Army and has joined the staff at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital as an orthopedic surgeon. He will be on hand when the new addition to the hospital is opened and hopes to be joined by his father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Hilliard II, Jacksonville, for the occasion.

FAMILY FIELD

The field of doctoring is a familiar topic when the Hilliards get together. Six family members bear the title MD and five of that group are graduates of Baylor University at Waco. The Big Spring newcomer is pledged to the Hippocratic oath, as is his father, an uncle and three cousins.

Mrs. Hilliard is no stranger to the field herself. She attended Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Houston and received her RN title in 1960 after finishing the three-year course.

To follow the pattern, it was while the young doctor was in medical school at Houston that a vivacious young nurse named Carmen caught his eye. The romance was delayed while he took his internship at Madison, Wis., and she continued her graduate work.

They were married in 1959.

and he began the Baylor Residency program in the hospitals in Houston. In 1962, Dr. Hilliard moved his wife and young son to North Carolina where he was stationed at Fort Bragg.

ANTIQUÉ HOBBY

While the family was living on the East Coast, Mrs. Hilliard had the opportunity to delve into the world of antiques, her biggest hobby interest. There was the wonderful town of Williamsburg to browse in and many antique shows and fairs to attend. She is a beginner in the collecting field but is doing a great deal of reading to prepare herself for special knowledge of historic furniture. Her favorite is the Queen Anne period with its graceful lines and elegant detail.

The doctor has many interests to take up his leisure hours when they occur on rare occasions. He likes to hunt and has done a bit of deer hunting, both with guns and bows and arrows. The countryside in Wisconsin offered him fine territory for hunting javelina and deer.

Also, it was in Wisconsin that he had the opportunity to get out on the golf links and win a couple of tournaments. Hilliard enjoys photography and is on the lookout for anything new in that hobby field. The building of model airplanes is still another leisure pursuit of the doctor.

After several years in and out of humid Houston, the Hilliards are happy to be in dry West Texas, though they join the natives in wishing it were not quite so arid as it is this year.

Casualty Yours

By JO BRIGHT

There are certain advantages to being a "morning person" that more than offset the loss of a few hours sleep. Five o'clock in the morning really isn't a bad time to have your first cup of coffee and enjoy the feeling that you're getting a head start on whatever is chasing you. (By mid-morning, the illusion is gone.)

That's a little early for most people in my neighborhood but there is already traffic on Virginia Street as Webb personnel "cut through" on the way to Farm Road 700. If I leave home by 6 or 6:30, sometimes Toots is easing a car out of the driveway at the Mansfield home, or there may be a wave from Lorraine Talbot and Mildred Moore who like to do their walking in the cool of the morning. Over on Eleventh Place, there is usually a light on in "Queenie" Charane's kitchen, and a few blocks away, Bud Green's pickup may be pulling up to the store.

Down on Fourth Street, Bill Schlecht and a pretty waitress named Dee Free are serving steaming coffee to customers such as Bill Emerson, L. C. Gibbs and Pancho Nails. The milk and bread distributors are making their rounds, bakers are filling trays with soft, sweet doughnuts—and Big Spring is ready for another day.

One Big Springer who thinks every day is better than the last is Bob Lewis. Besides the fact that he and Susan are ecstatic over 11-day-old Robert Kevin, Bob will leave Sept. 1 for the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., where he will be in graduate school and assistant news director of the university TV station. Grandparents Clara and Jim Zack will have Susan and the baby with them for a few more weeks but have already determined that it is 873 miles to Columbia.

It's been a lonely summer for Frank and Jodie Sabbath with both their youngsters gone but things are looking up. Skipper, who has been working in Clearfield, Pa., will be home this weekend to start football practice, and Cherie, who is in Richmond, Va., will be home the last of the month.

Next week, Big Spring will lose two of its nicest citizens when Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mote move to Sulphur Springs. Mote had a milk distributorship here for many years and also built some of the better homes, including the one just completed for Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spears. The Motes have planned their own new home which they hope to be living in by Christmas. Meanwhile, they'll see how they like trailer living.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Van Meter will be leaving, too, but they'll be back. They will go to El Cajon, Calif., Sept. 4 where their daughter, Laurel, will enroll at the convent of the Sacred Heart. They'll see their son, Grant, who is attending San Francisco State College.

Dr. and Mrs. Leo Rogers went to their Lake Thomas cabin last week just to water the trees but the blue channel cat were biting, and it was quiet in their

The table was centered with an arrangement of daisies, the bride-elect's chosen flowers. Special guests were Miss Terry's mother, Mrs. E. L. Terry, her aunt, Mrs. R. C. Terry, Orange, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. James Edwards, and his grandmother, Mrs. Bart Wilkinson.

In August, 100 of these 530 will be selected to compete for top baking honors and cash prizes at the 18th Bake-Off, to be held in Miami Beach, Fla., Sept. 13-15.

No semi-finalists were from this area.

Miss Shirley Terry Weds Benny Eugene Edwards

Miss Shirley Ann Terry became the bride of Benny Eugene Edwards at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in a ceremony performed in the First Methodist Church. The single ring rites were read by the Rev. R. C. Terry of Orange, uncle of the bride.

Vows were exchanged before an altar where palms and emerald foliage formed the background for a white, branched candelabra entwined with fern. To each side were basket arrangements of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums. The bride approached the altar down a white covered aisle illuminated by wedding tapers. A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Kathy Seddon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Terry, 1713 Yale, and Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards, 423 Westover Rd., are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her formal wedding gown was of white silk-faced peau de sole with flower motifs of re-embroidered Alencon lace. The bodice featured a scalloped yoke of the lace and was joined to the skirt with side and back puffs accented with jeweled lace medallions sweeping into a cathedral train. Her bouffant veil of imported silk illusion fell from a tiara of aurora borealis crystals and pearls.

TRADITION

Traditional items used by the bride were the borrowed wedding dress which had been worn by Mrs. Don Powell, a blue garter used in weddings by a group of friends who graduated from high school together and a one and a half dollar gold piece belonging to the bridegroom's mother.

She carried a bridal bouquet formed of white orchids showered with picot ribbon and white stephanotis.

Miss Caroline Gowdey, Dallas, attended the bride as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Bill French, Austin; Mrs. Frank Powell, G a r d e n City; and Mrs. Don Powell, Lubbock. They were identically dressed in gowns of antique gold chiffon veiled over taffeta and styled with portrait necklines and brief sleeves. The set-in floral midriff was accented with a back bow. Each carried a cascade bouquet of yellow daisies entwined with English ivy and tied with moss green ribbon.

Joe Bridges of Sundown was the best man, and groomsmen were John Sartain, Dallas; Jimmy Glidewell, Dallas; and Donny Everitt, Fort Worth. Serving as ushers were Butch Bell, Dallas; Stormy Edwards, Ruidoso, N. M.; Terry Lewis, Ft. Sill, Okla.; and Roger and David Terry, brothers of the bride.

The flower girl, Sherry Stevens, niece of the bride, wore a floor-length dress of antique gold silk organza over taffeta with a satin cummerbund which tied in the back with trailing streamers. She wore a headband of Marguerite daisies and scattered yellow petals down the bridal aisle. Dale Stevens, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The couple planned a wedding trip to Acapulco and Mexico City. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece aqua knit suit, with beige lizard accessories and a ribbed cloche hat. Her white orchid corsage was from the bridal bouquet. Upon returning, they will make their Print advertising puts people who are close to a purchase close to the kind of information they demand. Newspapers, magazines and brochures let them linger with your message for as long as they like.

Print imparts important details, allows for colorful presentations, makes lasting impressions, takes people straight to the point-of-purchase. If you've something to sell, it will pay you to promote it reg-

Ex-Probation Officer Has Faith In 'Kids'

By JO BRIGHT
Juvenile delinquents in Pecos County, N. J., had one good thing to look forward to during 1963. They had what was probably the prettiest probation officer in the country.

Lt. Judith E. Ohr, 25, who is chief of personal affairs branch and family services officer at Webb Air Force Base, is a vivacious, blue-eyed blonde who worked with troubled youngsters before joining the Air Force.

"I remember every one of them," she said. "They were all different—the only thing they had in common was trouble—and not much of a chance from the beginning.

"I handled 133 cases which included not only the juveniles but criminal women and cases involving domestic relations where husbands did not support pregnant wives or their children. Even more pitiful were the innocent, illegitimate children who were unwanted.

"I still hear from kids who are now in reform school, and I know they're going to make it now. They may not have anyone else who cares—but they'll always have me because I feel they won't make it without me. One girl even has my picture to keep in her room—because she didn't have family pictures like some of the others."

Lt. Ohr loved every phase of her experience and intends to go back into probation or parole work later on.

"Of course, I was not exactly loved by many that I worked with. Often the older people feel that a probation officer is responsible for sending them up instead of the judge. I remember a narcotics case; she was 32 years old when I knew her and had butchered a man to death when she was 18. She hated the sight of me.

"I'll never forget the sight of a five-year-old boy that had been beaten so terribly that he will never recover from the scars—some that are mental and emotional. I have a poem about heroin that his mother wrote in jail that is a remarkable insight into reasons why some people become addicts.

"If dope addiction is suspected, one usually thinks of checking the arms for punctures but we found the signs more likely underneath the armpits, inside the thigh or even underneath the eyelids.

"My territory was in the worst slum area, and once a man followed me down five flights of stairs with a gun. Needless to say, I can now use a .38 and have an expert marksmanship ribbon for scoring 252 out of 300 with it!"

Lt. Ohr flashed a charming

Everyone is talking about the weather and as usual nothing is being done about it... except staying indoors where the air is cooled. In general conference around the table at our house, we can't remember when the heat held on so tenaciously. And I might add we have had some real heat. Two summers that hold in my memory were those of '52 and '53 during the drought. I could tell you how hot it was but it would sound like what people think Texans do... not that it was anything to brag about.

Back from their two months stay in California are MR. and MRS. DON GREEN and their six-year-old son, Donnie. The Greens were in California for him to attend classes at the University of California on a scholarship from the Math Institute, which, incidentally, was one of three scholarships offered him.

The Greens set up housekeeping in the Belmont Shore area of Long Beach. During the time they were there her parents, MR. and MRS. T. B. MCGINNIS, visited them.

The family thoroughly enjoyed living where they could look out onto the Pacific even though Mr. Green had to commute 28 miles to classes each day. The work he has completed will apply on his doctor's work should he decide to continue his studies. Mr. Green is a math instructor at Big Spring High.

We have enjoyed the recording of the Big Spring High School band which was pressed by Century at Saugas, Calif. The record is made from the selections taped for contests during the '63-'64 band year. It also includes work of the choir under direction of MEL IVY. DOUGLAS WIEHE directed the band.

MRS. RICHARD MOORE and her daughter, Lisa, was expected here today from Houston to visit her parents, MR. and MRS. A. G. Landrum, Shuffield Wedding Solemnized In Friday Rites

Miss Linda Shuffield and David Landrum were united in marriage Friday evening in a double ring ceremony performed by David Tarbet, minister. The vows were solemnized at the Eleventh and Birdwell Lane Church of Christ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Shuffield, 2902 Spokane Drive, San Antonio, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Landrum, 3231 Cornell.

The altar, graced with arrangements of white gladioli and emerald foliage, was illuminated by wedding tapers. A choral group, directed by D. W. Rowland presented traditional wedding music. Those who sang were Mrs. Fran Bordsfoske, David Hall and Mrs. Dorothy Brown.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal white satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of Chantilly lace. Long sleeves, tapered to points at the wrists, were adorned with satin covered buttons. The full skirt of satin and net extended into a court train. An elbow-length veil cascaded from a satin covered pill box, and the bride wore the traditional old and new, borrowed and blue items.

BRIDE'S BOUQUET

The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of feathery white carnations showered with picot ribbon.

Miss Karen Landrum, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. She wore a street-length frock of pink polished cotton and carried a light pink nosegay. Mrs. Jimmie Wayne Norman, bridesmaid, wore a matching costume. Their halo hats matched their dresses and were adorned with pink veils.

Don O'Donnell was best man, and Jimmie Norman was the groomsmen. Ushers were Rufus Rowland, Arthur Farris and Skipper Neill. David Hall Jr. and Douglas Hall lighted the altar tapers.

For a wedding trip to Oklahoma, the bride wore a white linen sheath with white accessories and the corsage from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will make a home at 1303 Park following the honeymoon. They both attended Big Spring High School, where she was a member of Shorthand Club, Pep Squad and Bible Club. He is a member of the Big Spring Flying Club and the Junior Rodeo Association. Presently he is affiliated with the

Local Opinion Varies On Eliminating Bail Bonds

By PRESTON MAYNARD

Can an arrested man be released — without bond — on his promise to appear for trial or for a grand jury? Would such a practice prove workable in respect to legal standards?

These are questions being asked in national legal circles. Experiments in several major cities, including New York and Chicago, have involved release of arrested persons on recognition—a person's promise to appear—rather than through bail bond procedures.

OPINIONS VARY

Local law enforcement officials have expressed varying opinions on the workability of the practice.

It might prove workable, considering the small number of persons who normally jump bond. District Attorney Gil Jones commented, Police Chief Jay Banks and Sheriff Miller Harris questioned how extensively the practice might be used without increasing problems for law enforcement agencies.

Both said the practice is now rarely if ever used by local police agencies.

Banks said that costs of law enforcement agencies would be increased if persons released on recognition, or promise to appear, failed to do so. The present bail bond system is designed to help carry such costs when persons failing to appear forfeit bond, Banks said.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy has been among critics of the present bail bond system. A major criticism advanced has been that an innocent person unable to raise the finances needed for a bail bond may stay in jail awaiting trial or appearance before a grand jury, while a criminal able to pay bail may go free.

EXCESSIVE

The Eighth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution says that "excessive bail shall not be required."

"The majority of persons arrested are able to make bond and do so," Sheriff Harris said.

"A person is entitled to a bond." In the last grand jury session in Howard County, Jones said of 24 persons indicted, 10 are now in jail and apparently unable to make bond.

"Of those 10 who did not make bond, five were not eligible because they had already been sentenced to penitentiaries for other crimes," he said.

The average of persons unable to make bond out of total numbers indicated is about 25 percent, Jones said. However, many such cases are due not to an individual lacking means to post bond, he related, but rather to unwillingness by friends or relatives to sign or post bond.

FEW CASES

"There are few cases in which a person cannot make bond," Jones said.

And while a person sitting in a jail cell and apparently unable to post bond may appear inequitable, such is not always true, he related.

"Sure there is a social inequity involved in a person not being able to make bond," he said. "But there is a greater social inequity in the fact that under our system of law we have a concept that makes it virtually impossible to deny bond and make it stick."

"There are few cases in which the Court of Criminal Appeals will sustain action of a court in refusing bond," Jones said.

About two or three persons out of each 10 arrested on felony charges are repeaters—persons who continue to commit crimes, Jones said.

"Many persons are allowed bonds who should not be," he said. "In the case of a person who has committed earlier crimes, he should not be at large to commit additional ones."

SPECULATION

An estimate of the number of persons released on bond and committing crimes while released would be purely speculation, he pointed out, although the number would be small in comparison to the total number released. The problem, from a law enforcement standpoint, is caused by the few who do commit additional crimes, he related.

Banks pointed to the same problem in emphasizing that should extensive use of recognition be adopted, police agencies might be saddled with higher costs caused by second arrests of persons released but failing to appear. Banks said recognition is now used only if officers know a person well enough to feel certain he will appear for trial or if it is very inconvenient for a person to post bond.

At present, only a small number of persons released on bond fail to show for trial, Jones related, with the average about two or three persons out of each 100 released.

TWO CHANGES

Jones pointed out two changes which he believes would improve the present bail bond system. He suggested use of cash bonds and for a bond to be a valid and enforceable first lien on the bondsman's property. Cash bonds are not presently allowed on felony cases. Such bonds would be easily forfeited, he said, and a first lien would make property bonds more enforceable than at present.

Felony bonds now range in amount from about $2,000 upward, he said, depending upon the financial position of the individual involved. The bonding requirement in felony cases is for two persons to sign the bond who have real estate with a total value of twice the amount of the bond or one person with property valued at twice the amount, according to Jones.

"It must be kept in mind that by law the financial ability of the individual must be taken into consideration by the court in setting bond," Jones related. Bonds would vary considerably between that for a person earning $100 per week and one making $25,000 per year.

FIXING BOND

In fixing the amount of a bond, the judge must consider the offense, the possibility of conviction for it and the individual's ability to "make bond," Jones said.

In the experimental use of recognition, the practice is used after considerable pre-release investigation of the individual's background. Proponents of the system say fewer persons so released fail to appear for trial than under the present bail bond system.

The term recognition is now also used to indicate a bonding arrangement in which persons sign statements for an arrested individual, with the statements serving as a form of bond, Jones said. Recognition used in this manner remains a bond, he related, while the proposals being advanced are based on the individual arrested making his own promise to return for trial.

Street Coat
Cost $14,000

The city seal coat program completed last week included 140 blocks of streets at a total cost of some $14,000, city officials reported today.

The total was about $6,400 less than expected costs under private contract, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works. The city commission had previously voted to undertake the project with city crews, rejecting private contract bids.

Some 46,760 gallons of asphalt were used in the project, engineering department reports showed, along with 1,698 cubic yards of rock. The city recently purchased two dump trucks which were used in the project, along with a leased spreader and roller.

The cost of the project was $1,014 per square yard, according to Lillard, including 147,500 square yards of pavement. The bid cost was $1.45 per square yard, Lillard said.

Lillard explained city crews averaged about 21,000 square yards per day in the project, which began Aug. 3 and was completed Monday.

Included in the costs for the project was $8,064 for rock, $3,372 for asphalt, $1,631 for labor and overhead, $720 for rental for city equipment, and $659 for leased equipment, totaling $14,948. Lillard said the figures represented the total amount chargeable to the job, including overhead for labor and equipment.

President Asks New Canal Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has asked Congress for $5 million to be spent on studies of the feasibility of a new canal linking the Atlantic and Pacific.

Legislation to authorize the study is pending.

Press secretary George Roedy said the request for an appropriation in advance of passage of the legislation was desirable so surveys could begin in January during the dry season in Central America.

Army Engineers already are looking into the feasibility of a canal across Colombia.

Livestock Producers Help Youth By Annual Roundup

Local livestock producers are "in the saddle" to help in the annual West Texas Boys Ranch Roundup.

This is a program whereby ranchers and others are asked to contribute livestock to help support the famed institution near San Angelo which currently is caring for 80 boys in a widely-recognized rehabilitation and guidance program.

Hamilin Elrod has been named "Wagon Boss" for the effort in Howard County, and his "hands" are Jack Buchanan, Randall Sherrard and Jimmy Taylor. Information on the Roundup may be had from any of these men.

Roundup time officially is Aug. 24-29, but many contributions already have been made. John Cargile of San Angelo, who is general chairman of the solicitation, advised Elrod that the Ranch has received 140 sheep, 23 goats, 10 cows and one horse. The gifts run to $2,700.

A producer wishing to help the West Texas Boys Ranch in this manner can deliver his stock to any West Texas auction ring, and the livestock auction people have agreed to sell the livestock at no charge, and to forward receipts from the sale to the ranch.

West Texas Boys Ranch is financed entirely through free will contributions. Morris Craig, executive director, says that most boys at the Ranch are from broken homes or non-existent homes. At the Ranch, they get the necessities of a wholesome, self-reliant personality, from personal affection and religious, to the schooling which enables them to make a good mark in the world.

Since its inception in 1947, the Ranch has cared for 28 boys from Howard County. There is one there now from this county.

The Ranch Roundup is being carried on throughout the 60 West Texas counties served by the Ranch. It has been going on for five years and has become a major source of income for the Ranch.

"The Ranch helps to provide for 80 boys the year around," Cargile said. "I realize that if this year's Roundup is to be a real western type success I will need a lot of help. I would like to ask any interested person to pitch in and help by making a donation of livestock, farm produce or cash."

DEAR ABBY

Teen-Ager Viewpoint

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 15 and I think I know why kids end up in parked cars doing what they shouldn't.

Boys have started coming to my house along with girls, and my Dad is already complaining about the noise, and not having any privacy any more. I have always brought my girl friends to my house to watch television or just to talk, or to make lemonade and stuff, but this year it's different. Sometimes I think Dad hates to see me grow up.

I'd rather have a boy come to my house than go out on a date with one and I should think my Dad would prefer that, too. But if he keeps grumbling about the TV program we're watching instead of going to watch the other TV, he'll make my friends self-conscious and they won't come back, and I won't want to stay home evenings either.

We live in a small town and except for movies, where can we go that doesn't cost a lot more than kids our age have to spend? Most of my friends have the same trouble with their folks. They say we make too much noise, our dances are silly, our ideas are kooky. They criticize our hair, and clothes and our choice of friends. No wonder kids want cars! They want to get as far away from home as possible.

I really don't want to go off in a car with a boy. I just want a place where my friends can come and act like teenagers without feeling guilty about being one. To my way of thinking, it's better to have room to move around, play games, and make fudge than to run off some place in a car because, if you keep driving, you get to speeding just for fun, and if you park some where, you might just go too far if you aren't careful.

I wonder how many kids who end up in trouble had these same thoughts and fears? I wish you would tell parents, Abby, that we kids aren't bad. We just want to get together, and home is our favorite spot, if only we were made to feel welcome.

SPEAKING FOR TEENS

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in regard to the letter signed "DISAPPOINTED IN DOCTORS." The writer claimed her mother was ill and was ordered to bed by her doctor. When the mother worsened, the daughter phoned the doctor, who said, "There is nothing I can do. What do you expect from a 73-year-old woman?" He refused to make a house call and the mother died the next day.

This is hard to believe. What probably happened was this: When the doctor first saw the patient, he advised the daughter to put her in a hospital for a thorough examination and tests. The daughter refused and attempted to care for her mother at home. When the mother grew worse, the daughter called the doctor and he probably said, "Since you did not let me give her a thorough examination, what do you expect from a 73-year-old woman who has not been properly cared for?"

Abby, the image of rich, country-club, golf-playing doctors is a myth. Doctors as a group are dedicated. What other professionals are on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week? Tell "DISAPPOINTED" to look to her own conscience regarding her mother. Blaming the doctor will not absolve her guilt for neglecting her mother.

Club Hurries To Use New Water

The Big Spring Country Club is moving ahead with plans to put into use water from Section 33 wells. The club and the City of Big Spring last week completed an agreement on club use of city pipelines from the section to club property south of the city.

Only one well will be put into immediate use, according to Harold Hall, president of the club, but plans are to equip another well within about 30 days to provide a stand-by water supply.

Hall said the club hopes to put the first well into operation by the latter part of this week.

Installation of pipelines from the well to the city line and from the city line to a club storage tank will be completed Monday, Hall said. About 800 feet of pipe is being installed in the two places, according to Hall.

The main line, a 12-inch pipeline, is owned by the city and crosses club property. Section 33 contains four water wells, capable of supplying some 1 1/2 million gallons of water daily. The City of Big Spring sought unsuccessfully to renew the lease it had on Section 33 from Texas & Pacific Land Trust. The city had held the lease in reserve for peaking.

Hall said the club hoped to get about 300 to 350 gallons of water per minute from the first well. This would be about 10,000 barrels of water daily, he said.

The club has previously operated 10 wells on its own property, north of Section 33. Hall said the 10 wells had at peak capacity produced only 180 gallons of water per minute and were only providing about 140 gallons per minute in recent production.

Hall said the club hopes to get enough water for its needs from the single well being put into operation. A second well would be in reserve.

The contract signed between the club and the city provides for a five-year lease on the city pipeline by the club, with a five-year option. The contract also provides that maintenance of the main line used will be the responsibility of the club, with the club bearing the cost, although carried out by city crews. A monthly rate of $25 was set by the contract for use of the line by the club.

The contract includes an emergency provision that should city water supplies fall below needs or should breaks occur in city pipelines to other water sources, the Colorado River Municipal Water District and city would obtain use of the pipeline and Section 33 wells.

Tax Rate, Expenditures Lower In County Budget

It is estimated that Howard County governmental functions will cost $952,921.03 in 1965, $26,621.19 under the expenditures for 1964. The county's total estimated income for the year will be $1,040,999.41. This is $12,481 less than the total income for 1964 and about $2,000 more than for 1963.

Wade Choate, county auditor, released these figures as the Howard County Commissioners Court set Sept. 14 as the date for a public hearing on the budget.

The commissioners approved the budget at their meeting last Monday and instructed Choate to draw up a finalized form for action at the Sept. 14 conference.

VALUATION
Estimated total valuation for 1965 tax purposes of all property subject to levy is $60,484,994. This is up $1,324,394 over the total for the present year.

The tax levy for county needs will be pegged at $1 per hundred dollar valuation, based on 20 per cent of the true or market value of the property assessed. This represents a five cent decrease.

The reduction comes from the paying off this year of the last of the 1954 road bonds—an issue which has been requiring a five cent annual levy to meet interest and principal requirements. Taxes levied on property for the 1965 year should yield $604,849.94. The budget, however, is figured on the assumption that 95.5 per cent of the taxes will be paid. This figure will produce $577,329.27. Actually, the tax payments each year run above 97 per cent. In 1964, the total delinquent taxes due to the county totalled $83,059.30. During 1964 it is estimated $8,275 delinquent taxes will be paid.

DIFFERENCE
The difference between the income from tax levies and the total budget is $400,688.41. This additional money comes from several sources. Biggest item is $175,000 received from automobile license plate fees. Another major item is the lateral road funds of more than $26,000 the county receives each year from the state. All fees of office are paid into the common funds of the county. These includes filings, fines, court costs and associated items.

No pay increases are specified in the budget. Pay boosts, if any are made, usually come at the first meeting in January. However, when such increases are considered, on a wide basis, they are usually reflected in the budget.

The tax rate of $1 is broken up as follows: jury, five cents; road and bridge, 15 cents; road and bridge special, 15 cents; general, 41 cents (up one-half cent from 1964); permanent improvement, four cents, courthouse and jail bond sinking fund, 10 cents (down 5 cent); airport sinking fund, five cents; 1961 road bond sinking fund, five cents. Total operating fund rate, 80 cents (up one-half cent); total sinking fund rate, 20 cents; (down 5 cents). Total $1.

OBLIGATIONS
Howard County will owe $1,055,000 on bonds and time warrants when 1965 opens. These obligations include: courthouse and jail bonds (first issue), $175,000; courthouse and jail bonds, $355,000; airport, $430,000; 1961 road bonds, $95,000. On hand, as securities and cash for retirement of these bonds is $67,787.

Funds for juries to serve the courts are reduced about $2,000 this coming year as compared with 1964. The jury fund covers a multitude of operations, however, beyond the actual payment of jury members. A total of $36,397 is set up for this fund. Petit jurors for the district and county court are allocated $13,000. A fund of $2,000 is earmarked for special venues. It is estimated that grand jury services for the county will cost $750 for the payment of the actual jurors plus $350 for the payment of the grand jury bailiff and matron. Other important items in the jury fund are $5,700 for the payment of the court reporter's salary; $4,800 for the payment of the special investigator's salary, and $1,920 for the probation officer's salary. The budget provides $1,000 for feeding jurors who will serve the courts.

MAINTENANCE
One of the big divisions of the general fund is titled "maintenance." The total earmarked for this purpose is $44,745, compared with $35,000 this year. An important feature of the new budget is a $16,000 appropriation for repairs and replacements—nearly double the amount this year. County auditor's office budget is only $300 greater this coming year than for 1964. Total earmarked is $12,485.

Money for miscellaneous expenses is down nearly $1,000 for the new year as compared with this year. Total for this fund is $23,860. This fund includes the allocations of $6,000 to Big Spring for fire protection in rural areas; $1,500 for Coahoma fire department, and $160 for the Forsan department for the same purpose.

Anticipating a light year politically, the county budget shows only $2,100 for election expenses, compared with $4,500 for 1964. District attorney's budget for 1965 totals $4,857, compared with $4,287 this year.

The county shares the expenses of the juvenile office and the budget allocates $4,583.70 for 1965 compared with $4,441.70 this year and $10,966.60 for 1963.

One of the big expenditures the county faces annually is for charities and public welfare work. This year, the department will spend about $34,512. The new budget for 1965 calls for $33,075.

AGRICULTURAL
The county allocated a total of $18,946.80 for the agricultural operations of the county farm agent and home demonstration agent. This is about $200 more than for this year.

The budget sets up $18,500 for capital outlay expenditures other than for the road and bridge department. This includes such items as $3,300 for cars for the sheriff's department; $2,200 for typewriters. One major item this year is $8,500 for a computer installation and supplies in the tax assessor's office.

Office salary fund absorbs $209,475 of the county money. This is $3,000 less than for the current year.

The salary fund totals, with the current year expenditures in brackets:
Tax assessor - collector, $45,949.94 ($48,240); county clerk, $37,387.42 ($35,940); district clerk, $15,811 ($15,780); sheriff department $68,840. ($70,485); county judge, $8,295 ($8,295); county attorney, $11,921 ($11,808); county treasurer, $6,389 ($6,364); justice of peace, Precinct 1, $6,747 ($6,477); justice of peace, Precinct 1, Place 2, $6,767 ($6,497); justice of peace, Precinct 2, $1,253.50 ($1,273.50); constable, Precincts 2 and 3, $22 ($22).

LIBRARY
The permanent improvement fund is allocated $22,758 in the new year's budget, compared with $22,345 for 1964. Of this total, $15,000 will be transferred to the county library.

The library will have, with the $15,000 from the permanent fund, a total budget next year of $18,158—compared with $18,650 for 1964.

Some changes could be made in the figures in the budget when the commissioners conduct the public hearing Sept. 14.

Vacation Bible School To Open

Limit On Service Of Justices Asked
WASHINGTON (AP)—Terms of Supreme Court justices would be limited to 14 years under a constitutional amendment proposed here by Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill.

Under the amendment, justices could not be reappointed. After serving their term, they would receive a pension for life. The amendment would not apply to present justices, who hold appointments for life.

New Signal Light Installed

A new two-signal traffic light for the intersection of Northwest Fourth, Northwest Fifth and Gregg streets went into operation Friday afternoon. The light was installed by city crews after the Texas Highway Department recently approved its installation.

"A major problem at the intersection involved left turns off US 87," city electrician Roy Rogan said. Traffic will also be increased by the opening of the new Gregg Street viaduct, making the traffic flow four lanes through the city on Gregg.

The new light will provide a protected left turn approach off US 87 onto Northwest Fourth and Fifth streets, Rogan said. The protection is through the timing of the light changes.

Previously the intersection contained only stop signs. The new light will provide two signal light faces for each approach.

The new signal has not yet been coordinated with the lights at North Third Street and Gregg. The lights will be set this week, he said, to avoid bottlenecks between cars stopping at both red lights.

Goldwater Sets Date For Opening
WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater will formally open his campaign for the White House in Prescott, Ariz., on Sept. 3.

Dennison Kitchel, his general campaign manager, announced that the date had been moved up from the previously announced Sept. 4 opening.

GOP Club To Meet
Regular meeting of the West Texas Republican Club has been announced for Thursday, Aug. 20, at 1:30 p.m. in the Community Room of First Federal Savings & Loan Association.

Cadillac

THE WORLD'S FINEST USED CARS ARE BUILT BY CADILLAC.

To prove our point, we offer as evidence the three Cadillacs shown above.

From top to bottom in our illustration are a 1960 Sedan de Ville, a 1962 Coupe de Ville and a 1963 Sixty Special. Each is unmistakably Cadillac. Each, regardless of vintage, will have special appeal to the man who desires the comfort, convenience and pride of ownership that only Cadillac can offer.

That's why thousands of wise car buyers favor a previously owned Cadillac over new cars of other makes. First of all, they realize that Cadillac engineering is so far advanced that "newness" becomes a relative term. In fact, there are features found on late model Cadillacs that are only now being offered on other cars. This is a major reason why a Cadillac retains its value through the years, from buyer to buyer.

Another thing to consider. Cadillac owners lavish the most meticulous care on the cars they are so proud to own. The "car of cars" almost always receives regular maintenance and servicing by highly skilled and carefully trained mechanics.

Your authorized Cadillac dealer's selection of one-owner models has never before been so appealing. And he can probably match one of these fine cars to your budget. Who knows? Your used Cadillac could possibly be the "newest" car you've ever owned!

THE Water's fine

Last summer she screamed when we took her near the ocean. Now she loves to splash around under her parents' watchful eye. One day she'll be swimming out past the breakers and riding in on a wave.

How does one explain this emerging courage? It is a combination of growth, training and confidence. And no two alone are sufficient — it takes all three.

These three have also their spiritual counterparts. From the day religious education commences, a child begins to show evidence of spiritual growth. This is followed by an aptitude for learning the simple but profound truths of Christian belief and practice. Ultimately we see evidence of a deep and enduring confidence in God — the magnificent quality we call Faith. Then moral courage, true character, emerges in the lives of our sons and daughters.

A vast spiritual ocean touches every shore of life. And those who once venture into the surf are never again content just to loll on the beach.

Award-Capturing 'Kwai' Showing At Ritz Today

Some 30 major international awards have already been accorded Sam Spiegel's production of "The Bridge on the River Kwai." Academy Award winner of seven Hollywood citations, including that for "best picture."

Produced by Sam Spiegel and directed by David Lean, who won similar Academy Award honors for their production of "Lawrence of Arabia." "The Bridge on the River Kwai" is now at the Ritz Theatre in CinemaScope and Technicolor.

William Holden, Alec Guinness, who won an "Oscar" for the "best performance by an actor," and Jack Hawkins star in the swift exciting film.

Based on Pierre Boulle's best-selling novel, "The Bridge on the River Kwai" has its beginnings—and its overwhelmingly suspenseful climax—in a Japanese jungle camp early in World War II. Here Holden, as an American seaman who intends to survive the war, watches Guinness lead his surrendered men into their desperate captivity with all the pride of a professional officer. Holden manages to escape the jungle camp, as much in flight from Guinness, as from Japanese commandant Sessue Hayakawa; both possess the stubborn military mind Holden can neither understand nor accept.

As the casual American swept up in great events in spite of himself, Holden is superb. Guinness rates his "best actor" of the year" award for his work as the British officer and Hawkins plays a command leader with a singleness of purpose and a sense of humor.

Hayakawa is grimly realistic as the Japanese commander. James Donald, excellent as a British doctor. Ann Sears plays authoréd two plays and one musical, directed 156 plays and acted in approximately 40 plays. He has also served as set designer and costume designer.

The leading parts of the play will be taken by a husband and wife team—Dick and Joy Shaver, both boasting 11 years of Little Theatre experience in every possible field. They have been active in this type work in both Akron, Ohio, and Foxburg, Pa.

Other members of the cast include Christine Tatum who has had extensive acting experience in both high school and college, including several parts in musical comedy. Judy Spencer, playing Mrs. Asterbitt, holds a B. A. degree in directing from Tulane University. She has acted in 27 plays, directed 4 plays and helped to direct 9 more. For 2 years she did summer stock, and has been active with the San Antonio Little Theatre and the 20-30 Players in New York. Her stint in New York even included directing 2 semi-professional plays.

Joan Arnold has long been an active member of the local Little Theatre and played numerous parts, as well as helping in other capacities.

STAMPS IN THE NEWS
Famed Pitcairn Islands Bring Out New Issues
By The Associated Press

Pitcairn Island, settled by mutineers from HMS Bounty in 1790, has issued a new set of 12 stamps depicting local birds plus one adhesive showing the famous British warship Bounty. Each stamp also bears an oval portrait of Queen Elizabeth. The stamps range from one half-penny to four shillings.

Motion pictures and books have portrayed the dramatic event of the mutiny led by Fletcher Christian over Capt. Bligh. Some of the present islanders are direct descendants of the nine members of the Bounty's crew.

It is interesting to note that there are no true exports from the island and the economy is supported almost entirely by the revenue from the sale of postage stamps to collectors throughout the world.

New stamp albums and supplements have been announced by Minkus Publications. First is the Global Supplement for the Supreme and Master Global Albums. It has been expanded to accommodate the new nations of Africa and Asia, and sells for $3.50. Second is the revised and enlarged Comprehensive World Wide Album with its 800 pages and 36,000 spaces for stamps of 400 countries. This one sells for $9.95. Both may be purchased from your local stamp dealer or department store.

Ceylon has issued another stamp honoring and bearing the portrait of the late S.W.E.D. Bandaranaike, prime minister of that country, who was assassinated in 1959. This is the third stamp of the same design issued by Ceylon within the last 42 months as authorized by his widow who is now the prime minister. Stamps Magazine reports there is severe criticism in stamp and regular publications of Ceylon concerning this matter.

Most deserving was the recent award of the George Washington Honor Medal by the Freedom Foundation to Herman Jaffe of New York for his American Credo Profiles—condensed and animated biographies of American immortals whose precepts and deeds were an important contribution to our heritage. These six men—George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Francis Scott Key, Patrick Henry and Abraham Lincoln—were selected by the U. S. Post Office Department as the subjects for the American Credo commemorative stamps.

Lucky Penny
Actress Penny Fuller is shown in a scene from the major Broadway hit, "Barefoot in the Park," after she moved up from understudy to the starring female role. "It's luck and it's not luck," she says of her break. It was lucky to be in the right place at the right time, but the rest was work and study to build a solid background of acting experience. Penny, who majored in drama at Northwestern University, worked for three years in a wide variety of theatrical companies after getting her degree. Last month she replaced Elizabeth Ashley in the starring role when she went to Hollywood for a film role. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Train Robberies Helped Alter West

With the passing of the gold-carrying stagecoaches and their replacement by railroad trains, the western outlaws developed a new tactic—the train robbery.

These bold holdups, usually staged near the top of a grade when the train was moving at little more than a crawl, became such a serious national problem that even the federal government was called in to try to stop them. The train robberies, and the stagecoach holdups before them, led to the most famous private detective organization of its time, the Pinkerton Agency, forerunner of the "private eyes" of today's television.

In Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cinerama's epic production, "How the West Was Won," a train robbery was staged with a real steam locomotive in the colorful canyon country of Arizona. John Wayne and George Peppard, two of the many stars in the Metrocolor film, break up the train robbery and kill off the last of the Southwest's outlaw gangs. It opens Wednesday at the Ritz.

The first train robbery on record in the United States, and presumably the first in the world, was staged by the infamous Reno Gang, led by John Reno, on Oct. 6, 1866, a few miles from Seymour, Indiana. Their foray was against the wood-burning Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, and the specific target was the Adams Express car which yielded $10,000. All members of the Reno Gang, including the five Reno brothers, Frank, John, Simeon, Clinton and William, were eventually imprisoned, slain or lynched. But not until after many more train robberies and bank holdups.

Two brothers, Levi and Hilary Farrington, who idolized their fellow Missourians, the James-Younger Gang, formed their own outlaw group—and a vicious one it was. Expert riders and revolver shots, they had taken part in the Lawrence, Kan., massacre with Quantrell and later fought under the Black Flag with George Todd. In 1870, they set a train robbery record with a $20,000 haul at Union City, Tenn., from a Southern Express Company car on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. Hilary Farrington was killed in a fight with William Pinkerton, and Levi was captured by the Pinkertons but was lynched before he could stand trial.

The holdup in "How the West Was Won" is staged as a sort of composite of the many train robberies which plagued the early West. The loot is $100,000 in gold, carried in the baggage car of the train. The robbers place a barricade on the tracks near the top of a grade, expecting the train to grind to a halt. However, the train makes an effort to crash through and almost gets clear, but it is slowed enough for the outlaws to get aboard.

Lost Dutchman Gold Mine Still Lures Men To Hostile Mountains

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A U.S. forest ranger who spent 10 years crisscrossing the hostile Superstition Mountains doesn't say the legendary Lost Dutchman gold mine is a myth—but he doesn't believe a single pound of gold has ever been taken from the area.

Randolph Riley, now a member of the Coronado National Forest staff, says he's made 18 to 20 trips with Forest Service mineral examiners into the area where most people search for the Lost Dutchman. "All we found was plain country rock," he says.

No one knows how many men lost their lives in the search for the mysterious mine. Some have spent their life savings trying to organize elaborate expeditions to see the fabled gold. Yet poorly equipped men with insufficient supplies who know nothing about prospecting and less about the wilderness continue to trudge into the mountains with hope in their hearts and worthless maps hidden in their packs.

The superstitions rise out of a hostile desert within eyeshot of Phoenix. They are rugged and dangerous, even for the experienced Rattlesnakes and Gila Monsters abound in the waterless canyons. Surface temperatures of 160 degrees are frequent throughout the summer.

FIRST FOUND
There are dozens of stories about the organization of the mine. The most romantic says it was found by a Mexican lover fleeing the wrath of his sweetheart's father.

Don Miguel Peralta, this story goes was a wealthy Mexican landowner. He assumed his daughter would marry into her class. But the girl loved a handsome Spaniard who worked in the vineyards. As the father erected a scaffold for his execution, the boy fled into the arid lands to the north. Two trackers followed close behind. Days later Peralta's men saw the boy disappear into the Superstitions. They knew this was where the Apaches had ambushed and slaughtered hundreds of Pimas and Maricopas. Evil spirits lurked in the mountains, and they would not enter. So they waited. A week later the boy staggered out. He was almost dead from thirst. But in his arms he clutched rocks. It was gold, he told them, pure gold. Bring the saddle bags, he pleaded. Fill them with nuggets.

Then perhaps, Don Peralta would spare his life.

In the shadow of a spire of a rock shaped like a needle he showed them a hole. Nuggets by the dozen spread over the ground. Above, a vein of fabulously rich ore disappeared into the rock.

They filled their saddle bags. But on the way back to Mexico the boy and one tracker met death. The other tracker survived and reached home. He described the fantastic wealth to be found in the Superstitions, and where it was located. Men have been searching for it ever since.

DUTCHMAN'S GOLD
Jacob Waltz, or Wolz—the Dutchman—said he found it. Certainly there was such a man. Apparently he made secret trips into the Superstitions, and invariably came out with pieces of rich ore.

But many doubt that he ever found the mine, or gold, in the Superstitions. Where he got the ore he brought out is a matter of conjecture.

In 1950 a Los Angeles woman claimed she had found the mine. She asked the Interior Department's bureau of land management how to go about laying claim to it. The woman has spent much time in the Superstitions since that time, but as far as is known has never brought out any gold.

Another Arizona man said that he had found the mine and that it contained 21 tons of gold—more than $17 million worth. But he said, he will never attempt to remove any of the treasure because it is too well guarded.

One story is that the mine is guarded by pygmies who killed all who come to steal their wealth.

FICTION
This is probably fiction. But it is not fiction that searchers have been fired upon by unseen gunmen, and that many persons have been shot while searching for the mine.

Riley says he crossed the mountains repeatedly without being fired upon by the mysterious gunmen or gold-crazy prospectors.

"I was known to just about everyone in there," he says. "They knew it was me coming when they saw my sorrel horse and red mule."

"I don't know how many men died a violent death looking for the mine while I was there. But during 1959, my last year, there were three men killed by gunfire alone. All were killed because of that mine."

The ranger said he frequently came across screwballs who were searching for the mine.

"I can't understand these people," he went on. "They go into the mountains loaded down with guns and ammunition, but take only enough grub and water to last two days."

"They don't even know what gold looks like. And they certainly don't know how to take care of themselves in a wilderness."

"That is all a wilderness area up there, 200 square miles of some of the most rugged and rough country you'll ever see."

"Yet I bet every foot of it has been walked over by someone looking for that mine."

In a Forest Service designated wilderness area a nymann-made improvements such as roads or cabins are prohibited. Even so, Riley continually found little shacks stuck in out-of-the-way canyons.

Riley, a veteran of 30 years with the Forest Service, believes there is great potential wealth in the Superstitions—in sightseeing and camping possibilities.

"The Forest Service is rehabilitating trails in the Superstitions at the present time. This is beautiful, stark country. In the spring the mountains are magnificent."

"And the mountains are at their best when most tourists are in Arizona, in the winter and spring. The summer is miserable."

As the Forest Service improves the trails, unquestionably more people will go into the mountains. And it seems a safe bet that a good many of them will carry some kind of map that is supposed to show the exact location of the Lost Dutchman.

Co-Ops Slate Annual Meet

One hundred and fifty Big Spring and Howard County residents who are members of the Cooperative Gins of Big Spring will receive checks for a total of $24,397.96 and stock certificates with a face value of $24,723.75 on Aug. 19.

Lindell Newton, manager of the gins here, said that the 150 Howard County co-op members will be part of 1,200 or more farmers and their families invited to attend a joint annual meeting of three regional cooperatives in Lubbock next Wednesday.

All of these big cooperatives are headquartered in Lubbock. They are the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, Farmers Cooperative Compress, and Plains Cotton Cooperative Association.

The three regional associations are announcing at this meeting that their earnings in 1963 hit $2,500,000 and this money will be paid out to the stockholders and patrons. In all 20,000 farm families will share in this dividend.

The meeting is to be in the air conditioned Municipal Auditorium, located on the campus of Texas Tech. It will be called to order by Howard Alford, president of the compress and marketing associations.

A barbecue lunch will be served at noon. Newton said that the Rolling Plains Cooperative Compress at Sweetwater will hand out $3,866 in cash and $11,598 in stock—payments back to the Howard County growers and patrons based on the 7,732 bales of cotton delivered to the compress. The Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, Lubbock, will pay out $3,606 in cash and $5,413 in stock on 7,218 bales delivered to the association. This will be in addition to the cash payment of $16,922 and $17,712 in stock issued by the local cooperative gins to its membership.

Walker Bailey is president of the Big Spring Cooperative; Jack Buchanan, vice president; and Ray Russell, secretary. Newton is gin manager.

Newton said he did not know how many local people would attend the Lubbock meeting from here but that several have said they would do so.
