The union is taking a strike vote among its members in all three companies.

A UAW spokesman estimated that the strike fund, providing an average of $25 per week in benefits to each worker, would support a strike up to eight weeks at GM, longer at Ford or

All the Big Three contracts are due to expire at midnight Aug. 31.

Union strategy, if precedent is followed, would then be to halt production with a mass walkout at the target company's plants, while extending contracts with the other two firms on a day-today basis.

The strikebound company would be hit when it hurts the most - just when 1965 models are beginning to roll out of the factories. Its competitors, meanwhile, would have the auto sales field virtually to them-

In 1961, GM was the primary target. Ford was singled out in 1955 and 1958. Bargaining talks between the UAW and the Big Three have entered their eighth week.

The union rejected as "miserably inadequate" and "terribly disappointing" parallel offers by the companies Monday calling for higher wages, earlier retirement and larger pensions

The civil rights issue, however, may spark a sharp fight in another area - the seating of delegates from Mississippi and

The platform drafters' optimism was due in large part to testimony by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy that he saw no need for a platform promise to seek new civil rights laws. He said he felt the 1964 Civil Rights Act was broad enough to cover the party's 1960 pledges in this field. Civil rights leaders in their testimony emphasized enforcement of the 1964 act and legislation to provide more and better job opportunities for Negroes rather than new civil rights

Like Loduca, other grovers are counting the days until Dec. 31, the expiration date of Public Law 78 under which more than 100,000 Mexican citizens came to the United States for farm work last year.

State officials say growers are quietly exerting pressure on Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown to fight for some sort of bracero legislation next year. Although the official position of the Council of California Growers is not to seek extension of the bracero program, farmers and the Brown administration say California agriculture faces a difficult season next year without it.

Despite the hard-core unemoloyment in California and elsewhere, state officials admit failure in the search for Americans to replace the bracero. "In our view, we're going to have a real bad time next year to make up the labor force needed," said Albert B. Tiestate employment di-

Mohair Men Seeking Ties With Texans

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)-South African mohair farmers just back from a meeting with mohair men in Texas are hoping the Americans will pay them a reciprocal visit. American and South African farmers have common interests, they say.

They believe an expected decrease in the size of the Texas mohair clip may have considerable influence on the in o hair market in the coming season, which starts in September.

Ninety-five per cent of the American mohair industry is in Texas, and E. H. G. Outram, vice chairman of the South African Mohair Board, said the drouth in Texas was bound to lead to an expected decrease in Outram said there were serious problems of organization in mohair to be overcome in the United States. But despite this there seemed to be every possibility of common ground being developed by South African mohair growers and the United States, particularly in the fields of marketing and international promotion.

"There was a free exchange of information on the important aspects of mohair marketing and promotion and our Texas colleagues are as keen as we are to develop closer collaboration to our mutual benefit," Out-

"We are satisfied that the initiative which our board and growers have shown in sending this delegation to the states will have far reaching effects. We have established first contact and now look forward to a reciprocal visit by leaders of the Texas mohair industry to study ur organization and market

A Devotional For The Day

Neither is he that planteth any thing, neither he that watereth: but God that giveth the increase. (I Corinthians 3:7.) PRAYER: O God, keep me from becoming discouraged because I see no results. Keep me sowing, sowing and trusting to Thee to bring forth the harvest to Thy glory and for Jesus' sake.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Downtown Development

Business interests in the central area of Big Spring have now gotten themselves a vehicle through which they can work cooperatively-a nonprofit corporation called Downtown Big Spring, Inc.

This body has recently elected officers and adopted by-laws, so that it can become the so-called tool with which specific projects can be accom-

Many of the people who have large investments in the downtown area will now be looking at such things as parking facilities, more attractive sidewalks and curbings, a general upgrading of property-all designed to keep the area both convenient for, and attractive to, the shopper.

Normal growth in these times calls for the suburban shopping centers, and they indubitably are serving their purpose. The fact remains that any flourishing community must have a sound core, or else the remainder of the community lags

Much of downtown Big Spring-and this is true of all cities everywhere, regardless of size-was laid out and built many years ago, when commerce patterns were not the same as they are today. To keep up with the new patterns, change and improvements must come.

Everybody stands to benefit-the people who own property, the merchants who sell their wares, the taxing agencies that assess all this property, and the people who want the best of service in a pleasing atmosphere and with a great degree of convenience-from the downtown development. May it proceed and succeed.

No Excuse For Steel Price Hike

President Johnson's good relations with the American business community are unlikely to be shaken by the firm resistance with which he recently clearly implied his administration would meet any attempt to raise steel prices. For all the arguments against such a rise are on the President's side, and the public opinion he can quickly muster against an unwarrantincrease should be deterrent

The price-rise rumors of which the President took note are probably only speculation or election-year "feelers." But Johnson took the precaution of spelling out the conditions opposing such a rise, and that should prevent the issue even approaching the mutually hurtful acrimony of the Kennedy-Blough confrontation that resulted in rescinding a steel price increase in industry is benefitting from modernization contributing to declining costs, aided by liberalized federal depreciation allowance and tax reduction. Steel output is at a new record high. Productivity gains are ahead of increased hourly labor costs. And profits the first half of this year were 17 per cent over profits for the first half of 1963.

If a price rise were unwisely made now, conditions would invite big new labor demands in the industry. And a price-wage jump in the basic steel in-dustry would likely trigger an inflationary spiral throughout the national economy. Solid economic expansion would thus be softened, stability shaken, and national economic policies undermined. Surely steel management can see that price restraint now offers the surest road to sustained and

David Lawrence Politics And Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON - President Johnson apparently has given permission to the heads of several governmental agencies dealing with foreign policy to involve themselves in partisan politics. Never before has a President from either party allowed a Secretary of State and other high officials-including now the American ambassador to the United Nations-to become partiing a presidential political campaign.

ON MONDAY of this week, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, and William C. Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, made political speeches before the Democratic platform committee here. They participated actively in the formal meeting held for the purpose of writing the party platform which is to be submitted for adoption at the Democratic national convention at Atlantic City next week.

Mr. Rusk discussed, for example, the subject of control of nuclear weapons, and spoke of "reckless deeds and words." The news dispatches reported that he was rebutting Senator Goldwater's comments.

MR. McNAMARA gave a glowing and lengthy report on "the fulfillment of the pledges made by the Kennedy-Johnson administration in 1960." He pointed out the deficiencies in defense found when the Democrats took over in 1961 and enumerated the "vast power" which now has been "placed at the disposal of the President" along with "the means to control it."

Mr. Foster of the disarmament agency criticized the Republican platform for its failure to appreciate efforts that have been made to ban nuclear weapons.

AMBASSADOR STEVENSON said that the "American people have legitimate cause for concern if the bipartisan commitment of the United States to the United Nations charter should become a matter for partisan debate in this country." He then openly commented on the Republican convention platform, said it "seemed to deplore that we weren't involved in a colder war," and criticized other parts of the Republican platform.

All this is something brand new in party politics. None of these high of-

This is far from a direct particle its of foreign policy durby a Secretary of State or Secretary of Defense in the drafting of a platform or in attempting to influence the writing of its planks. The Secretary of Defense is head of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, whose members are not allowed to engage in politics. One reason for this historic forbearance is that foreign policy and national defense have always been held up to be nonpartisan. The Secretary of State isn't supposed to represent just his own political party, but both parties. Ambassador Stevenson, in addressing the United Nations, for instance, does not speak merely on behalf of the Democratic administration or the Democratic party, but presumably for all Americans. Presumably, too, Republicans as well as Democrats have a stake in the nation's defenses.

FOREIGN POLICY and national defense are bound to be discussed in the coming campaign. But there are plenty of Democrats on Capitol Hill who can deliver barbs and innuendoes and outright attacks aimed at the opposition party without involving the State Department or the Defense Department in the partisan political (Copyright, 1964, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

In your sermons you speak about hell; this is a fantastic belief, why force it on anyone?-

It may interest you to know that I am not the only one who believes in the Christian doctrine of hell. Its teaching is found in the creeds and catechisms of all leading churches, including the Catholic. But I am frank to say that if no one believed in it, I would, because Christ Himself taught it. He said: "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul; but rather fear him which is able to destroy both body and soul in hell." (Matt. 10:28) Again He said: "Whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire." (Matt. 5:22) In the parable of the rich man He said, "And the rich man died and was buried, and in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments." (Luke 16:22).

Transporting Water Cross-Country

There was a time when any plan to pipe water from, say, the Great Lakes to the Western parts of the United States would have been considered far too expensive for even light conversation. But in these days multi-billion dollar space projects, when a couple of billion is allocated just to see if a rocket can hit the moon, the idea of continent - wide irrigation doesn't seem quite so far-

IN THE GREAT Lakes area, water for the most part is plentifuland a downright nuisance in some places. Farmers spend most of their earnings in ways and means to get water away from their fields as much as some West Texans spend to get water into their fields. Some of the most fruitful black land in Northern Ohio would be valueless for the farmer if he did not first ditch his land and lay tile carry away the surplus water. Most anytime, the motorist can drive along country roads and see water pouring from the tile outlets projecting into the deep borrow ditches.

GETTING THIS surplus water to West Texas would present something of a problem to be sure, but none that our vast technology could not solve. Some plans have suggested using the natural water courses to cover much of the distances. Even at that, water lines, pump stations, and reservoirs would still have to be built.

Doubtless, such a plan could be done with private money. After all, natural gas is piped from this area into that same region. A similar pipeline carrying water could possibly use this same technology.

EVEN THOUGH some areas are counting on new reservoirs to care for their water needs, continued growth might some day get beyond what even these sources can supply. Wells, long thought all but inexhaustible, have proved to run low quicker than believed. Even surface lakes lose more to evaporation than is pumped out for use.

Salt water conversion might prove to be less expensive than piping water a long distance. However, taking water from the Northeast and supplying the Southwest would not only help the latter, but the former as well. Perhaps better flood control measures in those areas might lend themselves to supplying our own area.

IN A NUTSHELL, it would appear that both areas might be served by some connecting link, converting a surplus into a marketable product.

The California Candidates

WASHINGTON - California, the Golden State, has in Senator Pierre Salinger (D) and George Murphy (R) a couple of medium-carat senatorial candidates - Both of them Good Guys who are refugees from their Salinger, though a competent newsman and excellent White House functionary with the heaven - blessed gift of friendship, has no credentials for statesmanship beyond his collateral membership in the Kennedy dynasty.

HE IS BENEFICIARY of a disturbing phase of political history where publicity rather than public service seems to draw from the American people their most precious common possession - their votes. Like Ted Kennedy, like Bud Wilkinson, the Oklahoma football coach, like Astronaut John Glenn of Ohio, who was on the verge of success when his health failed him, Salinger has cashed in on being a celebrity.

But the economics of political manpower is too inexact a science to warrant predictions. Prejudice toward an incoming politician, while commonplace in Washington, has seldom proved a valid forecast of his worth

GEORGE MURPHY, who is out to unseat Salinger in November, has been a Republican figure in California for a long time, but he's also a Valley National Bank - said would-be escapee from previous conditions of employment. Whether Shirley Temple's one-time leading man should be taken more seriously as a statesman than John Kennedy's press agent ought to be easier to decide than it actually is. Murphy should not be judged as a hoofer, or as a Hollywood star of sorts. He was GOP State Chairman and head of the Screen Actors' Guild, far more responsible positions than Salinger ever held.

IN WASHINGTON the other day some of us tried to size him up. We found him bouncy on the repartee and engaging as a stage-door raconteur, but we wanted to get into his mind and philosophy. Why had he, an Irish Democrat, bolted Roosevelt in 1940? Well, said George, it was shortly after the Luftwaffe raid on Coventry, and he figured Britain did not need us in World War II where Roosevelt was leading us.

WE ASKED MURPHY whom he'd supported — Rockefeller or Goldwa-ter in the California primary — and he wouldn't say. We asked him where he stood on the Rumford Fair Housing Act which is going on the California ballot in November as a showdown test on Civil Rights and local socialism - and he wouldn't say.

At least one reporter came aw after these expressions on foreign and domestic matters, not saying much, either - but thinking that the worth of both candidates, Salinger and Murphy, lay not in their present abilities, but in their capabilities to grow.

Putting The Axe To Sen. Keating

WASHINGTON - At this writing it appears likely that Robert Kennedy will again offer himself up in public service, this time in aspiring to the robes of a Senator from New York. It also seems possible that Clare Boothe Luce, a curious figure who always seems to have been plucked bodily from an early talking picture, will contend for the same seat under the banner of a thing called the Conservative party, an organism which is neither conservative nor party.

THE INCUMBENT whose political corpse is to provide the piece de resistance at feast is, of course, Sen. Kenneth Barnard Keating.

In politics the rewards of virtue (or outstanding ability) too often are to be found in the short end of an election night tally. By all odds Mr. Keating must be accounted a superior ornament to the law-giving trade. He is celebrated principally for blowing the whistle on the installation of Soviet missiles in Cuba, and even before that he was esteemed as an able and honest Senator.

BUT MOST SAYERS of political sooth in Washington think he will lose if Mr. Kennedy runs against him. If Mrs. Luce dons her solid - gold sneakers and dashes into the fray, the odds against Mr. Keating will be increased. Mrs. Luce's latest contribution to responsible self - government is to aver that she won't make up her mind whether to run until Mr. Keating himself has decided whether he'll try for re-election. No man alive can reasonably be expected to understand the motivation behind Mrs. Luce's arch gambit. But on balance it suggests she is trying to chivvy Senator Keating into duitting the race because he cannot support the Goldwater - Miller ticket.

FEW WOULD blame Senator Keating if he did abandon the fight. He has given New York some 17 years of first - class service, and it is difficult to fault him if he doesn't relish defeat at the hands of a U.S. Attorney General from Massachusetts and a former Congresswoman from Connec-

It's a pity, just the same. In a quiet way Senator Keating has some style, which is a quality badly needed in a town where so many elected officials cut the air like hick embalmers. Beyond that, he has courage, which is another basic ingredient of government that is always in short supply.

SENATOR KEATING warned the Senate on Oct. 10, 1962, that Soviet technicians were installing intermediate range missiles in Cuba. It took 12 days for President Kennedy to admit publicly that he was right-12 days that might well have changed the course of world history, and in any event 12 days that were a period of unremitting pressure on Senator Keat-

Although he is classified as a liberal in most concerns, only the fuzziest lint from the lunatic fringe could quarrel with his over-all record. He has long been a stalwart on the Internal Security subcommittee, a perch from which he has mercilessly harried Castro sympathizers. WITH EVERYTHING else, he is as artful a politician as can be found in

DEAR ABBY: My problem may not sound very serious to you, but it has caused a small war between my girl and me. I am a mechanic, 23 and single. I am going with a very nice girl who is 22 and works in an office. Her office is having a party. (A hayride, of all things.) They decided not to ask anyone who is NOT employed in their office. That isn't too bad. But the clincher is that no wives or husbands are invited. They are all over 21 and drinks, are served. If I were a married man working in an office, I wouldn't go to an office party if my wife was not welcome. My girl is on the hayride committee and she says I don't work in an office and I don't know what I'm talking about; that any time you have married couples at a drinking party it always ends up in a drunken brawl. Am I wrong? Or is she? MECHANIC

DEAR MECHANIC: She is. And, furthermore, if a married person is in danger of becoming involved in a "drunken brawl," he is better off with his own wife,

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive (I'm told) 23-year-old woman who has more than her share of dates, so please don't think I'm man-hungry. I have a next-door neighbor who is ap-proximately 26. He has been hying there with his brother and sister-in-law for about a year. I am not the flirty type, so things have been going slow. I know he is shy, and so far the most I have been able to get out of him is a "hello." I know he is aware of my existence, but that's about it. I don't think he has a steady girl as he's home a lot. How can I go about wrangling a date with him? INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: Your best bet is to become better acquainted with the sister-inlaw. You can always borrow a cup of sugar. Once she knows you better, if the man is availinterested, and normal, you will have your chance. Other-wise, who needs him?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what to do about a neighoor who talks about sex all the time. No matter what anybody says, he always puts a dirty meaning to it, and gets off on his favorite subject. He uses ilthy words, too. His wife must it's cute because she is right there and she laughs right along with him. The rest of us are embarrassed and try to change the subject, but he can turn any subject back to sex again. We are disgusted with him but don't know how to handle the situation. Any sugges

Bulldogs' Attitude Lauded By Mentor

COAHOMA - The Coahoma Bulldogs, prepping for their season's opening football game with Rankin, are undergoing drills twice daily under their new coaching regime.

The Bulldogs, members of District 6-A, fall out for drills at 7:30 a.m. and toil for two hours. They check back in at 5:30 p.m. and work for another two hours.

Spike Dykes is the new head coach of the Bulldogs, replacing Jimmy Spann. Bernie Hagins coaches the offensive ends and the defensive backs while Don Fuqua is the offensive and defensive line mentor.

EDDIE McHUGH

The Bulldogs will run off the straight T and use a basic 5-4 on defense.

Dykes said no injuries had occurred in camp, although the usual amount of blisters and sore feet had shown up.

He stated the club had fine speed in the secondary. The biggest problem to date, he added, had been "reaction"-reaction on blocking assignments, defense and etc

He lauded the spirit and attitude of the team, which he described as "marvelous." The squad now has 43 players and Dykes has booked a B team schedule, in order for all the boys to see action at one time or another.

The Bulldogs have 15 lettermen back from last year but the number is deceptive, since some of the veterans saw very little action last year. Nine seniors are among those who have reported

Most of the young men reported in good physical condition, having taken the coaches at their word-"get in shape before you report because we're going to work hard from the start." #### Children Admit Icebox Deaths

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police say other children have admitted shutting the door of an abandoned icebox in which three children suffocated.

The victims, Howard Banks, 5, Dorene Alston, 5, and Marlene Kennedy, 8, were found Aug. 10, the day after they had disappeared, in an old icebox in a garage behind a house in the block in which they all lived.

Patrolmen Nicholas Wingrove and Frank Wilt said Tuesday they were puzzled because the garage door was closed when the children were found, and so

Didn't Know Lee Oswald, Says Ruby

NEW YORK (AP) - Jack Ruby reportedly told the Warren Commission he never knew Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, and that his compassion for the late president's widow led him to kill Oswald.

That information came from the New York Journal-American, which is publishing under copyright a 102-page transcript of a three-hour interrogation of Ruby by Chief Justice Earl Warren in Dallas, Tex., last

The account is written under the byline of columnist Dorothy Kilgallen, who said she obtained the transcript "through sources close to the commission in Washington."

In the second of three installments, Ruby is quoted as saying of his shooting Oswald: "Of why that Sunday morning

- that thought never entered my mind prior to that Sunday morning when I took it upon myself to try to be a martyr or some screwball, you might say. "But I felt very emotion and very carried away from (sic) Mrs. Kennedy, that with all the strife she had gone through - I had been following it pretty well - that someone owed it to our beloved president that she shouldn't be expected to come back to face trial of this henious crime. And I have never had a chance to tell that, to back it up, to prove it. Consequently I am being victimized as part of a plot in the world's vorst tragedy and crime at this moment

In the transcript, Warren repeatedly asked Ruby if he knew Oswald prior to the shooting. Ruby is quoted as saying:

"I never knew Lee Harvey Oswald. The first time I ever have seen him was the time in the assembly room when they brought him out, when he had some sort of shiner on his eye."
Just a few hours after Kennedy was killed, Ruby mingled with newsmen in the assembly room of Dallas police head-quarters and saw Oswald.

Oswald, formally accused of the Nov. 22 assassination of the late president, was slain by Ruby during a routine jail transfer two days later. Ruby was sentenced to death for Oswald's murder in a trial that ended March 14. His attorneys pleaded he was insane. Much of the material in the Warren Commission Transcript was brought out by other trial witnesses. Ruby was questioned by Warren in the Dallas jail. Ruby is being held there pend-ing appeal of his conviction. 6-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Aug. 20, 1964

> When the Bolshevik revolution pared. Late in February, by the old calendar, March 8 to 11 by the present one, bread and coal riots broke out in Petrograd, now Leningrad. Troops were sent into restore order. Instead they joined the rioters.

On March 12, the Duma, or Russian parliament, brushed aside an imperial decree dissolving it and set up a provi-sional government. On March 15 Nicholas abdicated in favor of his brother, Duke Michael. The duke resigned next day. The royal family tried to escape to England, but didn't make it.

EIGHT MONTHS The provisional government by Alexander Kerensky headed lasted eight months.

Lenin was in Switzerland at the time of the revolution. German authorities put a train at his disposal and shuttled him through into the revolution, hoping he would help take Russia off their backs. He did.

On the night of Oct. 25, old calendar, or Nov. 7, by the present one, a group of Red guards marched through an unguarded back door into the Winter Palace where the provisional government had been sitting and night trying to stem the de-bacle. Boldly the troops marched up the stairs and into the council chamber.

Barbecue Pot Roast Has Spice

With a hearty family favor-ite like beef pot-roast and a spicy barbecue sauce . . . a flavor that everyone loves you'll create a dinner dish that's

Here's a barbecued pot-roast recipe that should score with the cook, too, for it's very easy to prepare. For the sauce you merely use commercially prepared barbecue sauce and add a few extra ingredients (garlic salt, marjoram, sliced onion and celery) for a personal touch.

The meat braises in this sauce until tender. The long, slow cooking also allows the indiridual flavors to zestily mingle. EASY BARBECUED POT-ROAST
