Servicemen Can Vote, Court Rules

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A three judge federal court ruled today that servicemen stationed in Texas have the right to vote in state elections regardless of where they entered the service. The court upset a provision of the Texas Constitution which restricts military personnel to voting only in the country in which they resided when they entered military service.

The ruling gave all military personnel the right to vote provided they are qualified electors "under reasonable standards imposed by the state." On the court were Circuit Judge John Brown and District Judges Homer Thornberry and Adrian Spears.

No Decision In Solving Viet Turmoil

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh failed today to convince fellow members of the ruling revolutionary military council that they should quit politics to prevent new riots.

Before the five-hour meeting broke up, student leaders threatened new mass demonstrations unless the military men returned to fighting the war, opening the government to civilians.

Other cities also flared again in Hue, 50 miles north of Da Nang and 40 miles south of Communist North Viet Nam's frontier. Students commandeered the Hue radio station.

Negroes Take Over Mississippi Seats

Negroes occupy many of the seats assigned to the Mississippi delegation to the Democratic convention near the close of Tuesday night's session in Atlantic City. Believed to be members of the Freedom Democratic party whose delegation has not been accredited, the Negroes slipped into the hall and took over the empty seats. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Mississippians Out; Says 'Party Left Us'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Mississippi's delegation is boycotting the Democratic National Convention, declaring it "did not leave the party — it left us."

What happened was this: The credentials committee recommended—and the convention approved—a compromise proposal in the Mississippi contest which would have seated the regular Mississippi delegates, provided they signed a loyalty pledge.

Actually, only two of the group—Aaron Henry of Clarkdale and the Rev. Edwin King of Tougaloo — were entitled to seats under the convention decision.

Cleo Rips Cuba, Heads For Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Cleo made a northward turn today and aimed directly for the southeast Florida coast. The Weather Bureau hoisted gale warnings for south Florida and the western Bahamas.

on Haiti's southern peninsula radioed to Port au Prince that a hospital had been destroyed by the storm and 50 bodies found. Les Cayes was still rebuilding from the effects of Hurricane Flora which devastated the island and took thousands of lives.

FUND NEEDS MORE HELP

A few faithful kept the Bible Class fund appeal going today, but it is in desperate need of greater and more widespread help. Five gifts brought in $61, making $727.75 toward a goal of $3,500.

UNCERTAIN

Unable to get hurricane hunter planes into the storm over Cuban territory, forecasters were uncertain how much the storm had weakened over the island.

Coming off the north coast of Cuba, over the warm waters of the Florida Strait, the hurricane could quickly regain some of its lost power. Its winds, which hit 140 miles an hour over Haiti, dropped to 75 over Cuba.

Million Dollar Blaze

Smoke billows from the Sahara Hotel on the Las Vegas Strip Tuesday, where a fire did an estimated $1 million damage. A hotel spokesman said today that crews worked through the night and the management plans to re-open part of the casino for business as usual tonight. The $18 million hotel, with 1,000 rooms, was unaffected by the fire in the casino, which is in front of the hotel proper. (AP WIREPHOTO)

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Democrats turn from convention battles to the loud but peaceful ritual tonight of acclaiming President Johnson as their nominee and hearing final by his choice of a running mate.

RECOMMEND VOICE VOTE All of this was accompanied by the routine of having candidates for the Senate and governors read the platform, section by section. It was adopted on a voice vote with brief cheering.

COMPROMISE They patched up a compromise nobody liked over the question of seating a Mississippi delegation not pledged to support the national ticket.

Democrats Eyeing Helpful Frontlash

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Almost all Democratic leaders say they harbor no fears about any white voter "backlash" in the November presidential election.

RESPECT LAW "If we respect the law, if we don't tolerate violence and disorder, if we practice what we preach about equality, if the strong help the weak and the rich the poor, there won't be any lashing," Stevenson said.

Mississippi Dispute Only Action For TV

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After two days of watching television coverage of the Democratic National Convention, one might fairly conclude that all the reporters converged on Atlantic City primarily to cover the excitement about seating the Mississippi delegations.

But that was where the action was. Again Tuesday night, speakers on the platform got short shrift from all three networks, whose attention focused constantly on the turbulent sit-in by members of the Freedom Democratic Party in the Mississippi section.

At one point the press of reporters and interested delegates in the section became so fierce that CBS floor reporter Mike Wallace looked desperately toward the cameras, crying "This is simply chaos — help!"

The horde of electronic journalists kept out of each other's way — and their faces out of each other's cameras — with remarkable agility.

The long, long reading of the party platform, which practically emptied Convention Hall, put something of a strain on the three network teams in their goldfish-bowl above the hall. ABC and CBS handled it with analyses of events and interviews on the floor. NBC's Chet Huntley and David Brinkley had a humorous conversation about convention literature. They put on a taped interview by Nancy Dickerson with the staff members of President Johnson's family, made days ago in Washington. Huntley did a philosophical, tongue-in-cheek monologue about the difference between Republican and Democratic women, concluding that the former were more likely to wear hats than the latter.

It's Ladies' Day At The Races

Lillian Egolf of Ranway, N.J., hostess for the group; Mrs. Mary L. Cook, Lewisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Alice M. Dolan, Jersey City, N.J.; Miss Julia Cargiulo, the Bronx, N.Y. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Lady Conventioneers Turn To Races For Relaxation

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Frowning over their form sheets like Lyndon B. Johnson trying to pick a vice president, the ladies of the Democratic National Convention spent a day at the races.

"I can't remember whether my husband told me to put two dollars on No. 8 'n the fourth race or four dollars on No. 2 in the eighth race," mused a lady from Utah in a big LBJ hat. She compromised by putting five dollars on No. 7, Champion Lady, in the third race.

The big brown filly cut out from the field in the back stretch, just beyond where a sign on the infield grass said "Welcome Democrats," and romped on home. She could have made it the rest of the way in snow shoes, and the lady from Utah pocketed $18.75.

It went pretty much like that the rest of the afternoon. The ladies at the convention had a choice between attending the races and touring a china factory famous for making the White House dinnerware for Presidents Wilson, Truman and Franklin Roosevelt. Twice as many ladies showed up to inspect the two-dollar platters running at the Atlantic City course as turned out to view the presidential crockery.

"I bet one dollar at Monte Carlo last year and one dollar at Las Vegas and here I'm in for two dollars already," exclaimed Alice Narducci of Lambertville, N.J.

The Arkansas delegation hit it big early as a result of one of those hairpin turns of feminine logic that leave veteran horse players talking to themselves long after the lights have gone out on the tote board.

Inez Jones, a delegate and the wife of the state auditor, didn't like Lady Optimist in the first race, but Louise Porter, a delegate and president of the Arkansas Democratic Women's Club, did, because she regards herself as a lady optimist. So Mrs. Jones bought a ticket on Lady Optimist for Mrs. Porter because it was Mrs. Porter's birthday. Get it?

Mrs. Porter did anyway, along with $19.20. Dedicated Democrats all, the ladies spent almost as much time handicapping the vice-presidential field as they did the resident cat burners. They thought Hubert Humphrey showed early foot while his sta-blemate Eugene McCarthy was galled for the long pull, but they feared for Rhode Island's Sen. John Pastore may have emerged as the dark horse to jeopardize Minnesota's double entry on the basis of his early convention workout.

And, without consulting the Owl, Riley, Turfcaister and the other local touts, the lady prognosticators did rule out such long shots as California's Pat Brown and Connecticut's Tom Dodd.

"It'll be a horse race, you can be sure of that," opined Louise Campolo of Roselle Park, N.J.

Horde Of Perplexing Terms Used At Political Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The layman is often confused by the terms used at a political convention.

Actually, they all are quite simple when you understand them. Here are some of the terms heard frequently this week around the Democratic convention and their simple explanations:

Delegation — This is a group of 132 people who come to the convention to cast 12 votes. Included are all persons in the state who contributed more than $1,000 to the party in the last year, and all persons in the state who know what happened to the contributions. There are also three men who are able to breathe in smoke-filled rooms.

Delegate — A member of a delegation. Each delegate casts about 1-16th of a vote — less in some states — whenever he is asked, which is seldom.

Caucus — A meeting of a delegation called to cast votes and decide important questions. All members of the delegations attend except the officers, who are busy at a meeting of party leaders casting votes and deciding important questions.

Informal caucus — Same thing, only drinks are served.

Starting time — A mythical figure selected at random from a spilled type case at the print shop. It is listed in the official program, but bears no relation to the time the program actually starts.

Prime time — The hours on the television schedule between the kiddie cartoons and the late show, during which the commercials are played more often and cost more.

Platform — "War and Peace" with the exciting parts left out.

Favorite son candidate — A fellow, usually a senator or a governor, who is boosted for office by his neighbors who want every one to know that even though he hasn't a chance they are willing to part with him, anyway.

DEMOCRAT GOLDWATERS

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — There's a Goldwater at the Democratic convention. In fact, there are two, one from New York and one from Nevada.

Neither claims relationship to the Republican presidential candidate, Barry Goldwater.

Bert M. Goldwater, a delegate from Nevada, says he is taking a lot of kidding about his name, but he figures it won't last past November.

The New Yorker is Monroe Goldwater, 78.

Distinguished — The adjective used for every man ever elected to any job which salary is paid by the taxpayer. Includes those who ran unopposed.

DEAR ABBY

Her War Of Nerves

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a wife who keeps asking her husband, age 64, when he is going to retire? The husband is a successful businessman who enjoys being in business, is in good health, and never thinks about retiring until his wife brings it up.

Also, what would you think if this wife took out TWO additional policies on her husband's life while she was his bookkeeper and was authorized to sign his checks? (This wasn't discovered by the husband until several years later.) This same wife reads every magazine article she can find on things a widow should know. She claims she is only being "realistic." I would like your opinion.

DEAR HUSBAND: Your wife is waging a war of nerves—and winning! Relax, or you'll accommodate her sooner than you both think.

SOMEBODY'S HUSBAND

DEAR ABBY: I-am mad! I just returned from a friend's house and she slyly accused me of having amorous feelings about my doctor! What's with people? They think the milkman, postman, salesman and repair men are all the secret lovers of every woman who looks at them sideways. Some people can't forget about sex for one minute! Why can't people be motivated by art, music, world peace or something else?

"VIVA LA SENSE" IN FT. WAYNE

DEAR VIVA: Some people ARE! What's with you?

DEAR ABBY: I enjoyed the letter in your column from a pair of identical twins who said they didn't like to be called "Twin" or "Twinny," and they were disgusted with people who asked, "Are you twins?" That last complaint is so familiar to me because I have an identical twin brother, and when we were young we were dressed alike, and still people would ask, "Are you twins?" My mother told us that when we were about three years old she was walking down the street with one of us

Judge Rejects Petition For Complete Dallas Integration

DALLAS (AP)—Negroes seeking total and immediate integration of all Dallas schools have been handed a setback by U.S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

Judge Davidson Tuesday denied the petition of 10 Negro children and their parents asking immediate relief and left in force the grade-a-year, stairstep plan of integration started here in 1961. The first through fourth grades will be desegregated with the opening of school here on Sept. 8.

Fred Finch, one of the three Negro lawyers, said he felt sure the ruling by Judge Davidson will be appealed.

In his opinion, Judge Davidson said:

"The court feels it would be to the disadvantage of the child of either or both races to change the present arrangements and that the annual progression of grade to grade will eventually leave a better relationship between the children than one in which they would be suddenly thrust together as has been done in some places."

Judge Davidson said on the basis of testimony and evidence presented in the two-day hearing, he found the school board of Dallas had "substantially complied" with the decree approving the grade-a-year plan.

Negro parents and attorneys Finch, W. J. Durham and Norman Amaker were lectured by Judge Davidson. He told them "you already have all your legal rights."

"If a key doesn't open a lock the first time you try, you work with the key in the lock and after a while it usually opens. If you get impatient, however, and take a wrench and turn the key in the lock, you will either break the lock or the key." He cautioned against impa-tiency. "It took the Puritans 100 years to get through killing the Quakers," he said.

Amaker, a New York attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, made three major claims in his closing argument:

1. That Dallas school officials, through zoning and changing the designation of several schools from "white" to "Negro," have continued to segregate students.
2. That there is no indication that there would be any disruption of the educational process if total desegregation is immediately ordered.
3. That Negro children—particularly in the area of vocational training—are being deprived of opportunities available to white children.

Convict Refuses Parole; Army Has Death Warrant

GRANITE, Okla. (AP)—Billy Joe King refuses to sign the papers that would parole him from Oklahoma prison. It would be like signing his own death warrant.

King was given a 10-year sentence Nov. 28, 1962, for the robbery of the Webbers Falls, Okla., State Bank. The State Pardon and Parole Board voted last month to parole King, an AWOL soldier, so he could be kept in custody of federal authorities.

King doesn't want that. His reason is simple. An Army court martial which found him guilty of murder in the death of a fellow soldier sentenced him to death.

King was released temporarily from civil custody for the trial at Ft. Gordon, Ga., in the slaying of Pvt. Joseph J. Poye of Many, La. The order called for him to be returned to Oklahoma after the trial.

The parole would eliminate the need for his return to Oklahoma. But King refused to sign the parole papers as required.

The parole board decided to consider recommending a year's suspension of civil custody, which would permit the Army to keep King. During that time he might be executed.

King claims that such an action would violate his civil rights. If the suspension of civil custody is approved, King says he will go to court to demand he be returned to prison.

A Devotional For The Day

After this he (Jesus) said to him, "Follow me." (John 21:19. RSV.)

PRAYER: Our Father God, help us to hear Thy Son's challenge to us, "Follow me." May we realize that to confess our love for Him is one thing, but to follow Him is another. Grant that we may tend the great Shepherd's sheep, praying as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Balance Wheel Role

Will the pressure of imports from rapidly rising world production and increasing output in other state-compete Texas to abandon, or modify, its "balance wheel" role in the domestic oil industry?

Dr. Francis B. May, University of Texas statistician, raises this question anew in the current Texas Business Review. As he summarizes the background of this issue:

"During the 1920-1944 period, Texas became the largest producing state. During this period, the concept of Texas as the 'balance wheel' of the domestic oil industry originated and secured a firm place in the imagination of domestic oil producers. If Texas production, through proration, could be kept from fluctuating violently, the domestic petroleum industry could be kept in balance. No other state produced enough oil to destroy this balance. . . . Texas reduced production whenever it was necessary in order to maintain a balance between supply and demand."

Obviously, inadequate regulation of imports could upset that balance to a degree that Texas proration—a conservation system that has through the years become more important as a market stabilizer—could not redress without excessive hardship to Texas producers and strain on this state's economy. Less popularly understood is the fact that recently rising competitive output in other states—where proration is not applied as a national market stabilizer—is becoming probably more of a strain on the Texas industry than the current level of imports.

With Texas production now held to a record low 28 per cent of capacity, this state's producing industry could not stand another upsurge in imports or runaway output in other states. Or at least it could not stand the further production cutbacks required to continue its balance-wheel role under such conditions. And that is why Dr. May warns with good reason that "in such a case Texas may be forced to abandon its balance wheel policy," a move that would compel agonizing reappraisals throughout the American oil industry.

Good Kids

While local community leaders have been wrestling with the problem of finding a thread to unravel a vexing problem among a few of the younger folk, and while reports of teenage violence across the nation have trickled in, the fact remains that youths are overwhelmingly decent and useful.

For example, the Veterans' Administration Hospital honored several score boys and girls for volunteer services during the summer. One young man, John Sherred, became the first junior volunteer to receive a 1000-hour certificate.

The Big Spring State Hospital also has had a record of young people helping spread cheer and hope to patients there.

And so it goes. Given an opportunity, most boys and girls want to help others. It's not as spectacular as fighting the cops, but thank heavens it is the rule rather than the exception.

Foreigners Study Platforms

ATLANTIC CITY—Platform planks may be tossed aside by some citizens in our country as just so much verbiage, but foreign governments—both friend and foe—are accustomed to reading between the lines of any foreign-policy pronouncement from the United States. They are anxious to determine whether America will stand up resolutely or procrastinate in an emergency and thus unwittingly give an adversary a big advantage.

A developing issue which has crept into the political campaign involves a possible land invasion of Europe someday by Communist armies. Senator Goldwater thinks that, to meet such a contingency, the Supreme Commanders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—usually an American—should be authorized in advance that under certain circumstances small nuclear weapons of a tactical nature may be used to thwart an aggression.

THE QUESTION has been further beleaguered by a meaningless declaration in the party platform of the Democratic national convention here. It reads as follows:

"Control of the use of nuclear weapons must remain solely with the highest elected official of the country—the President of the United States."

Nobody has ever disputed this broad principle, and Senator Goldwater himself has said the same thing. The issue goes deeper. It concerns the best means of defending Western Europe against invasion by conventional forces. Certainly it is the duty solely of the commander-in-chief—namely, the President of the United States—to decide when or where any nuclear weapon, however small, shall be used.

BUT SO also has it always been the sole right of Congress to declare war. Yet the Congress has duly ratified the North Atlantic Treaty, which authorizes in advance military action by the United States to defend immediately any or all member nations of NATO who may be attacked.

It is precisely the same concept of planning for a grave contingency that has prompted the recent discussion of how to ward off a land invasion in Europe. The idea has been to urge the President of the United States to announce that, in an emergency, small tactical nuclear weapons can be used at once.

THIS, IT IS argued by many military men—especially in France and other European countries—is the best way to let the world in general and the Soviets in particular know that such a military aggression will not be allowed to succeed even though the armies of the Western European allies may be greatly outnumbered.

The Democratic national platform is vague on the whole subject, which is an indication that the politicians wish to remain noncommittal on the issue and still accuse their opponents of trying to start a nuclear war, when, in truth, the basic question is whether the Soviets shall be given virtual immunity from any nuclear response if they try to seize Berlin and West Germany and march across France with their huge armies.

THE SOLIDARITY of NATO as an alliance is at stake. It had been hoped that the administration would issue some pronouncement, even during a political campaign, that would dispel the fears of the Western European countries.

The Russians, of course, are watching the whole performance here with penetrating interest. The Moscow news-agency dispatches keep emphasizing that Senator Goldwater and the Republicans are pursuing "brinkmanship" in foreign policy. Yet it is the "brinkmanship" of an American Secretary of State, the late John Foster Dulles, which deflated many a crisis in which the Communists had sought to test American resoluteness. They were answered promptly, and war was averted.

What are the possibilities in religious work? I am very interested in going into some kind of religious work but don't know where to begin.—C. J.

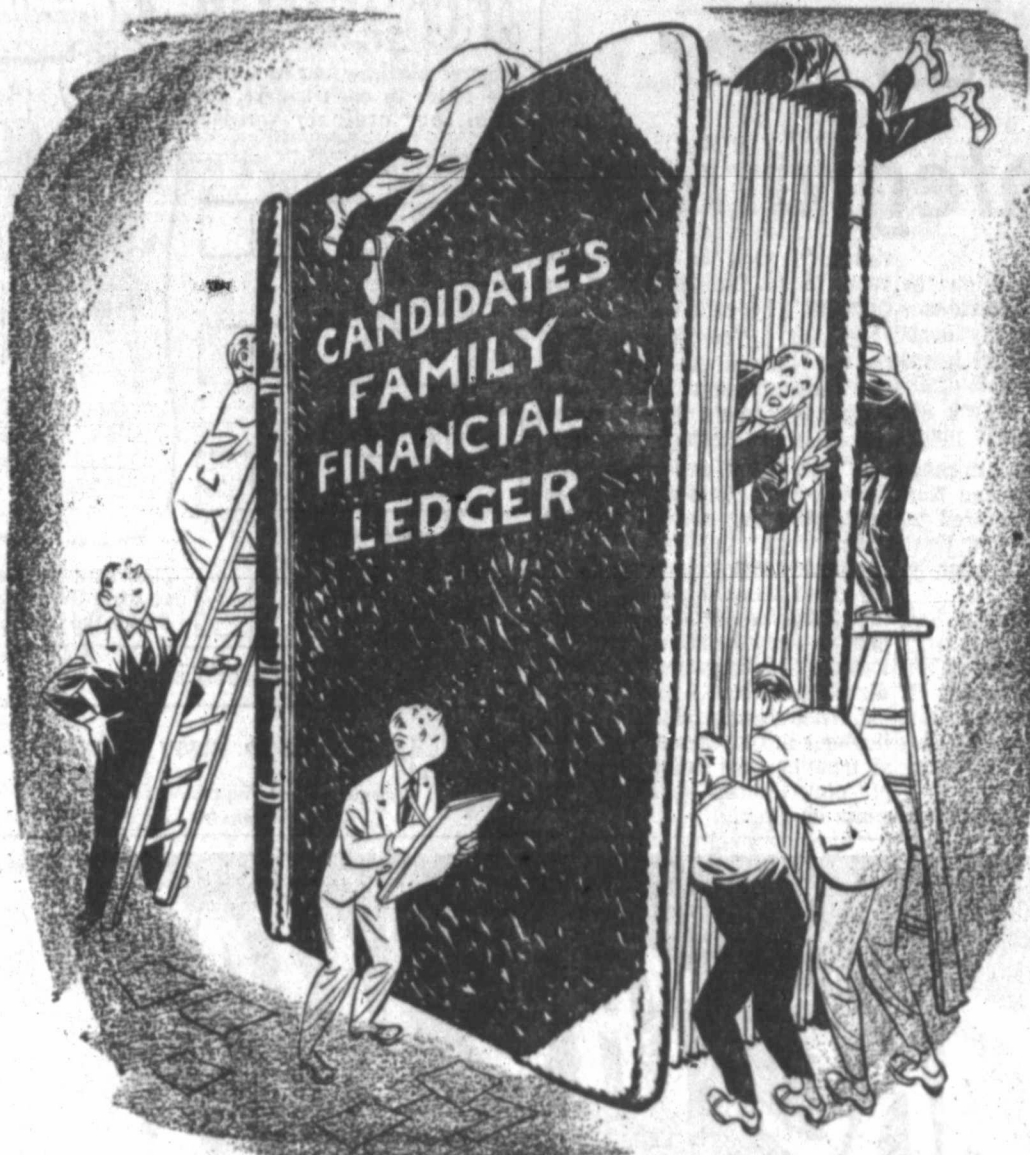

There are many people who are religiously inclined and of the extraverent type. Frequently they do get into some kind of religious work, but to be keenly disappointed. If you mean a work such as the ministry or a related field, I can only direct you to the message of the Bible which says, "How shall they preach except they be sent." It is God who calls the open hearted believer into His service, and that call is always sufficiently clear so that you need make no mistake. One of the prophets, Amos, wrote: "The Lord Jehovah hath spoken, who can but preach." There is an irresistible quality to a call from God which will not miss, but which you can resist deliberately. Until the call is clear, go on living a consistent life of faith in Christ, and ask the Lord to direct you as you daily search the Scriptures.

Of course there are other fields of service within the church than preaching. There are diversified gifts of the Spirit that are recorded in I Corinthians 12. Remember, all true ministry is first a call and then a gift.

Big Deal

DALLAS, N.C. (AP)—George Cox complained to Dallas town officials that he was overcharged for taxes. Town Clerk J. J. Moore checked and said, "That's right. We overcharged him."

Moore then asked the Town Board to pass a motion authorizing a refund. A few days later, Cox received the refund: Fifty cents.

Dull Convention Shows Johnson's Guiding Hand

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—This is the dullist political convention since the one the Democrats held in 1956, and for the same reason. Yet, it has its own special fascination in the things unseen and unsaid.

In 1956 the Republicans met to go through the motions of approving the untested renomination of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Here the Democrats are doing the same for the untested nomination of President Johnson.

THEN AND NOW there was the usual routine of blasting the opposition.

But the Democratic speakers, reciting the wonders of the administrations of Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy, bracket both men in their eulogies without mentioning the differences between them.

Perhaps the greatest difference was this: Kennedy was an individual kind of president; Johnson is far more the organizational man.

Kennedy at the time of his death was still young enough to give a sense of youth to the presidency. Johnson can't. He is deeper in middle age.

The words of Kennedy, a far better read man than Johnson and therefore more literary in his thinking, had a sparkle which Johnson's more pedestrian speeches never achieve.

THERE was a sense of gaiety about Kennedy, a wit and detachment about himself and his job, which is lacking in Johnson who sounds more deadly serious and sometimes even dour.

But Kennedy wasn't in the same league with Johnson in unrelenting presidential drive aimed at persuading people—particularly in Congress—to melt their differences to do what he wanted or some of what he wanted.

He works at organizing his forces in a way Kennedy, just because of his detachment, might never have mastered. It seems a basic part of Johnson's make-up that he must succeed, if not entirely, at least a bit.

It's this part of Johnson which showed up at this convention while he remained in Washington. There can hardly be any doubt his guiding hand is running the show.

IF THE TONE of this convention could be summed up in one word it would be: moderation. The moderation has a doubtful purpose obvious before the convention ever opened here Monday.

The object is keeping the Democrats united while attracting as many independents and Republicans as possible. This is the usual political tactic, of course, but this year it has a special significance.

In a clear effort to keep Southerners and Negroes under the Democratic tent the platform assured the latter the Johnson administration would enforce their rights while saying so in language so mild it is calculated not to inflame the South.

FOR THOSE Republicans who may find Goldwater too forceful or too conservative for their taste, the Democratic platform's moderate liberalism is offered as an inducement to go along with Johnson.

All this is implicit, if unstated, in what has happened here. And all of it is implicit in Johnson's philosophy, illustrated many times in the past, of how to organize to get what he wants.

Sexes Getting More Alike

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a truism of our times that the sexes are getting more alike in America.

As a matter of fact, it is getting harder and harder to tell them apart.

In the Middle Ages there was no such problem. If a creature had long hair and wore a long dress, it was a woman. If it had on a suit of metal and clanked when it walked, it was a man. Each could tell the sex of the other on sight.

BUT SINCE knighthood no longer is in flower, the identity of the sexes has become more puzzling. The spread of the equal rights movement and the rise of the togetherness cult have so intermingled the historic roles of men and women that both have become somewhat confused.

Women and men now work at the same jobs. They play the same sports. They dress alike, particularly in their youthful years, and they talk about the same things.

As an inevitable result, they look more alike. As a matter of fact, teenagers now look so much alike that only their own parents can tell which is son, which is daughter.

But it is almost as hard to tell Pop from Mom when both put on slacks to go golfing, or Grandpa from Grandma when they dress up in old clothes to go fishing.

WHAT WE NEED is a kind of Baedeker of Sex to tell the genders apart. Here are a few ways it still can be done:

If it smiles when you address it as "Ma'am," it is feminine. If it grunts and growls, it is masculine.

If it strikes a kitchen match on the seat of its trousers, it's a him. If it waits coyly for you to light its cigarette, it's a her.

If it takes off its shoes at the movies, it's a woman. If it gets down on its hands and knees and starts looking for the shoes, it's a man.

Does it do its fair share of pushing while going through a revolving door? It's a gentleman for sure. Does it leap in front of you and grab the taxi you just flagged down? It's a lady—every time.

If it brags about the steaks it cooked in the backyard, it's a man. If it dips when you praise the roast it cooks indoors, it's a woman.

If it wears a red ribbon in its hair, it's a lass. If it combs its hair like the north end of a duck going south, it's a lad.

IF TWO GO to the supermarket, the one that pushes the loaded cart is the mister. The missus is the one that holds up the line at the checkout counter as she fumbles through the wilderness of her purse.

If you open the door to it and it tries to sell you a box of cookies, it's a Girl Scout. If it helps old ladies across a street, it's a Boy Scout.

Does it bring its paycheck home in its mouth? It's a man. Does it think money grows on trees? It's a woman.

If it writes newspaper columns such as this, it's him. If it reads columns such as this and loses its temper, it's a her.

Staph Germ Is Sturdy And Stubborn

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My 16-year-old son has a form of staph infection which started some time ago. He has carbuncles or boils on the buttocks mostly, none above the waist.

I have been told that a cure can be very costly, since there are many types of staph infection. When he takes vitamins containing iron, the boils seem to be better and sometimes dry up.—MRS. E. D.

Staph (the staphylococcus germ) is a prevalent one and does, indeed, appear in different strains or varieties.

Some people are "staph carriers." The germ lurks quietly in the nose or such areas as armpits or groin.

But when the germ gets into the skin and establishes a focus of infection, then you have a boil (or a group of boils, which we call a carbuncle).

From such a spot, the germ can then spread and, by penetr-ating the skin, start other boils.

It is true that, when simpler measures fail, special laboratory studies may be made to identify the strain of the germ and prepare a vaccine to combat it specifically. This is a painstaking task and may be expensive. Whether you would call it "very costly" depends on what those words mean to you.

You mention that "vitamins and iron" seem to help. Well, some individuals have poor resistance to staph (or other) infections. Vitamins, while important, are not of themselves a protection against infection. Neither is iron.

But your son's experience suggests that perhaps he has some degree of anemia or a nutritional defect which makes him more vulnerable to the infection. I suggest that you have your doctor check the young man from that standpoint. It could turn out to be an important step in getting rid of those boils.

Meantime scrupulous cleanliness is essential to keep the germ from spreading and starting more boils. Often an antiseptic type of soap or detergent is necessary, as the staph is a sturdy, stubborn germ.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes—The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim

Episodes In A Western Village

When I was a lad, our family moved to an isolated village on the western edge of the state. The only reason it wasn't in the boondocks was that it was way out in the shinnery patch. The town was about as isolated as possible, and access was over trails through mountains of sand.

THE HORSELESS carriage was already beginning to come into its own, but wagons and teams far outnumbered the primitive automobiles. As a matter of fact, there were places that cars couldn't go—not even when you followed the expedient of letting half the air out of the tires before attempting to get through a sandy stretch.

Telephone communications were limited—one line into town and a few places in town with service. Most communication was limited to visits by the mail hack and word-of-mouth.

ALMOST all the few business places had false fronts and were clustered around the courthouse square. One of the chief emporiums was the wagon yard, where townsmen and cowboys dug holes in the ground and pitched silver dollars. Stock roamed at will among the shinnery, mesquite and turpentine weeds.

This was the setting for an episode out of the old west. One day, before we moved there, two men rode into town, walked into the bank with hats pulled down and bandanas over their faces. They left with the available money, cut the telephone wire and were never heard. There was a strong suspicion, based on the general appearance of the bandits, plus the direction in which they fled, as to their identity, but virtually no one dared speak of this in public. One bold soul did, and he was invited by the suspected brother to have a drink out behind the store. This talkative soul was later found with a print of a pistol butt on his head, which seemed thereafter to dull his yen for conversation on the subject.

ON ANOTHER front, there got to be bad blood between two families—one of them pretty well to do. I don't remember the details, but I was impressed by the funeral, for when one of the adversaries rode out to chase the other off the range, he was met by a rifle bullet that hit his cart-ridge belt. This did him in, and there was ugly talk of what would happen, but I guess reason must have prevailed for that fellow apparently could shoot mighty straight.

A few years after we had left, ranchers grew weary of years of losing a few head of cattle here and not-so-few there. They had suspected all along where they were going, but as members of the Southwestern Cattlemen's Association, they had some inspectors come in and dig up evidence.

ONE SUNDAY night before the grand jury was to meet and hear evidence, the inspectors, lawyers and a few others sat around a pot-bellied stove in the lobby of the little frame hotel. The door cracked open and one lawyer got up and moved to the side. Shots rang out, and the two inspectors lay mortally wounded. The wife of one of them, hearing a shot, grabbed a small pistol her husband had given her. She ran to the stairway landing, fired at the gun barrel sticking through the partly opened door.

AGAIN TWO men rode off into the range, this time into the dark of night. But this time, they rode back, for the wife had aimed better than she knew, hitting one of the men in the belly. It wasn't a mortal wound but the suspect didn't know this.

That episode about ended the wild west for the little town. Later all came and with good roads, lots of people and all the modern conveniences.

When A Negro Needs A Friend

WASHINGTON — "Nobody can tell me what to do!" exclaims the fiery-tempered, frosty-haired Jackie Robinson, perhaps the best known and best liked Negro in America. "All I live for is Rachel and the kids—and Mr. Rickey."

It has seemed to me that there is a key to something here—if the Republicans can fit it into the lock and open up a better understanding of Negroes who ought to be Republicans. Such an understanding is important.

ROBINSON is not a "typical Negro"—there's no such thing in Nature—but I know him to be a fine human being and it appeals me to find him heading a Republicans-for-Johnson group and lending himself to the political skin game.

No one has ever written, I believe, the story of how Rickey, octogenarian baseball mogul, stepped in to calm down the mercurial Jackie in October 1960 at the time that Martin Luther King had been clapped into a Southern jail.

I SAW SOMETHING of Robinson then. We were both following the Nixon campaign tour, and Robinson was making numerous personal appearances for the Republican candidate. But when King was jailed, John Kennedy jumped at the opportunity to sensationalize the matter. He telephoned his sympathy to Mrs. King, something that the Vice President hesitated to do as a publicity stunt. Jackie was furious at Nixon and was seething in volcanic wrath—until he received a phone call at the Sheraton Gibson Hotel in Cincinnati from "Mister" (Jackie never leaves this handle off the name) Rickey.

WHAT WAS SAID between them, I don't know but Jackie calmed down. He brushed off those who were egging him to do something drastic. He completed his speaking engagements, or most of them.

The lesson here for Republicans is that Mr. Rickey, a bona fide benefactor who had brought Robinson into the Big League as their first Negro player, was able to give good and headed advice to this hot-headed man who was getting the wrong advice from his would-be exploiters. Democrats, not Republicans, had jailed Dr. King. Democrats, not Republicans, are responsible for firing up the Negro mobs, causing the white "backlash," bringing about a situation where Negroes are defying their own leaders and fast identifying themselves as the criminal, riotous, unreasonable class in America.

THERE WILL be readers who already think of Negroes in those terms, and who will think that a columnist who doesn't mind being called pro-white ought to stay off these subjects. But I am saying that there are many other white men like Branch Rickey, non-political and non-patronizing, who give Negroes better advice and better opportunities for joining—in an over-worked term—"the main stream of American life."

Extra-Curricular Convention Notes

ATLANTIC CITY (Special to the Rockahomby County Owl)—All the smart big-city reporters follow an established procedure as soon as they get here. First they go through a mysterious business called "picking up credentials," and then they write a piece saying the insiders are confident Lyndon Johnson will get the nomination.

That done (and sometimes just those two preliminary steps can take an hour of a man's time) the old heads settle into a time-tested convention routine that consists of complaining about (a) food (b) lodgings and (c) the fact that the cops have temporarily banished all the fancy ladies to Philadelphia.

ATLANTIC CITY is the last stronghold of phrenology, which is the pseudo-science of reading personality by feeling the bumps on a chap's head. It was a big thing a century ago, and even ordained MDs believed in it, just as they believe in psychiatry nowadays. Parents' worth their salt would haul their terrified young around to have their headbumps calipered by some frock-coated faker with a degree from Dr. Fowler's Institute of Phrenology.

If a girl-child was found to have an abnormally big bump of amativeness (which the professor claimed was situated just above the nape of the neck), she was believed to be in danger of growing up to be a high-stepper. If amativeness was judged her "sovereign power," then she was almost doomed to be a heller, and prudent parents were inclined to keep her locked in her room at night.

A KID WITH a large bump of acquisitiveness was thought likely to be a miser, etc. On his performance on the vice-presidential question, President Johnson can be assumed to have a thundering big bump of destructiveness, the latter being immediately over the ears.

A CONVENTION is more like a livestock show than anything else. You'll find people who swear by "liberals" the same as rational folks swear by Black Angus cattle, or Poland China hogs, and others who'll claim a well-fleshed Southern conservative is every bit as appealing to the eye as a Hereford yearling.

The fact is, however, that all these delegates, candidates, fixers, climbers, postmasters and cement contractors wouldn't draw a second glance at the fairgrounds, unless they got drunk and started a fight.

THE REAL business of this convention could quickly be settled over a glass of cider in Bob Estes' back room, but the Democrats are going to spread her out until they threaten the Republicans' record for dullness.

The Republicans probably could cripple the nerves of every professional Democrat in the country just by making a large noise Friday morning.

Woman's Social Role Noted At B&PW Club

A program on personal development was presented by Miss Ruth Beasley and Mrs. Cass Hill at the Tuesday meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Bert Affleck presided at the session held at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Miss Beasley's talk, "Be Responsible to Yourself," pointed out the need of women to inform themselves, and politically to learn more about the opposition as well as one's own choice. The need for flexibility was noted and a cooperation with the majority within the framework on one's standards was stressed. Women must hold an elevated standard in the professional field, Miss Beasley said.

Mrs. Hill noted that with the women's place in society under constant change, a new set of attitudes and codes was needed. As more doors open for the career woman a fearlessness of change is necessary.

The District 8 meeting of B&PW has been scheduled Sept. 26-27 in Monahan. The group was told of the change of National Business Week to March 7-13 in 1965.

Mrs. Fred McGowan was in charge of the program, and 22 members attended.

A list of 30 pieces of property, listed as hazardous, and the action taken by owners to date. A few pieces of property have been cleaned by the city at the owners' request.

An amendment to the city's personnel policy was authorized to eliminate possibilities of inequities in injury reporting and salary payment for prolonged absence from work.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, cited instances where a few employees failed to report injuries until several days after they happened, and who had been paid for time off when proof of actual injury had not been provided.

"If we can place the responsibility for reporting injuries on the injured and demand immediate confirmation, the city will follow its policy of making up the difference between workman's compensation and the employee's regular salary," Anderson said.

A letter of commendation to Ellis Homes, regarding recent improvements in the area, was authorized by the commission. Fencing, landscaping and other improvements have been made and more is planned.

Ordinances read and passed were: Second reading for on premises consumption of beer at Al's Drive In, 2508 Gregg; first reading for annexation of 131 acres along the IS 29 bypass route, from Birdwell Lane west to the present city limits, and south to the present limits; second reading to change zoning from residential to heavy industry, approximately 17

Three youngsters, reported as escaped from the Big Spring State Hospital, were arrested about 3 p. m. Tuesday and charged with robbery by assault, after they took a car from the Howard Johnson Auto Sales lot, 1411 W. 4th. They were apprehended on US 80 east, at the Moss Creek Lake road overpass, by highway patrol officers, sheriff's officers, liquor control board officers, and police, after a radio message about the theft was broadcast.

Gary Wayne Johnson, son of Howard Johnson, said he was knocked down and tied up by the two boys, 17, and a 16-year-old, and the 1955 model car was taken. A 19-year-old girl was with the boys.

Young Johnson said he was alone and was talking with the trio about purchasing the car. They went inside the office, he told officers, and the girl asked about a rest room. One of them, wearing dark glasses, went behind Johnson and struck him in the back of the neck with his fist. Johnson was then tied up, the telephone jerked loose from the wall, and the three left in the car. As soon as Johnson released himself, he went outside and called police from the Jack Lewis car lot office. Police Sgt. L. D. Coppedge saw the car going east on US 80, and he was joined with the other officers who stopped the car just east of Cosden refinery.

The three were transferred to the county jail Tuesday afternoon. The girl gave her address as Abilene; the older boy gave his as Levelland, and the 16-year-old boy is from Lamesa.

Permission was granted to the United Fund officials to attach two dozen flags to downtown parking meter standards during the UP drive. This was under the condition that brackets would not interfere with operation of the meters and coin removal.

You're Under Arrest, Dear

Tulsa County Prosecutor S. M. Falls points out to his wife, Diane, that the fashionable hat-and-mask she is wearing is against the law in Oklahoma. The law makes it illegal for a person to wear a mask or hood that "conceals the identity of the wearer." The "crime" carries a $500 penalty and a year in jail. Falls didn't say if he would clamp down on the new fashion or not. "I guess that is a bridge we will cross when the woman lead us to it," he said. Mrs. Falls said she thought the mask would be useful in cold weather. (AP WIREPHOTO)

City Planning Expansion Of Sewage Plant

Some 18 or 19 acres of land, located in the triangle between Marcy Drive, the city sewage disposal plant, and Eleventh Place extended, will be purchased by the City of Big Spring. The city commission authorized the purchase for future expansion of the sewage disposal system, and possible use as a baseball and softball field until needed.

Cost of the land, owned by the Arnett Estate, will be $20,000. The commission, discussing possible needs in the future, took the position that the land was all that remained for expansion in the immediate area. It has been used for a baseball practice field during the summer and, since water is readily available, can be developed as a playing field until needed for other uses.

Money for the purchase is available in funds received from the government as reimbursement for bond funds used in construction of the new sewage disposal plant and remodeling of the old plant. The grant-in-aid fund is around $205,400. The $20,000 will be paid when the deed is delivered.

Clouds Cover Texas But Temperatures Ascending

By The Associated Press
Cloudy skies and high temperatures covered Texas today. The only spots exempt from the summer heat were in the Panhandle where a cool front lingered.

Isolated thundershowers were forecast for all but North Central Texas. Showers Tuesday fell mainly in East Texas, from Marlin to Kaufman to Mount Vernon and south of Tyler, and around Longview and north of Gilmer.

Official rainfall, however, was slight. Measurements for the 24-hour period ending at 6 p.m. showed .19 at Beaumont, .61 at Houston and .13 at Lufkin.

The biggest weather news in the country was dangerous Hurricane Cleo, but it appeared that Texas was out of the storm's path.

At 5 a.m., the storm was located over central Cuba, 250 miles southeast of Key West, Fla., and south Florida residents were advised to keep abreast of its movements and prepare for action if necessary.

The Panhandle coolness seemed destined to progress no farther than the Red River, if that far, according to Weather Bureau forecasts. The front kept temperatures at an autumn level.

Tuesday's temperatures ranged from 106 at Presidio to Dalhart's 80. Palacios has today's early maximum of 82 degrees, with Dalhart reporting 61.

Long-range forecasts by the Weather Bureau indicated above-normal temperatures will prevail the next five days. Little or no rain was expected.

Southern Florida braced for the expected arrival of the killer Hurricane Cleo today as the blustery mass whipped toward Key West from Cuba at the rate of 13 miles per hour.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the hurricane lost some force as it crossed the southern coast of Cuba, but was expected to re-gather intensity by the time it reached the United States.

At least 64 deaths in Guadeloupe and Haiti have been attributed to the hurricane.

Moon Travel Car Mapped

SEATTLE (AP)—Plans for a six-wheeled vehicle capable of taking two astronauts for a 14-day, 250-mile jaunt on the surface of the moon were disclosed Tuesday by the Boeing Co.

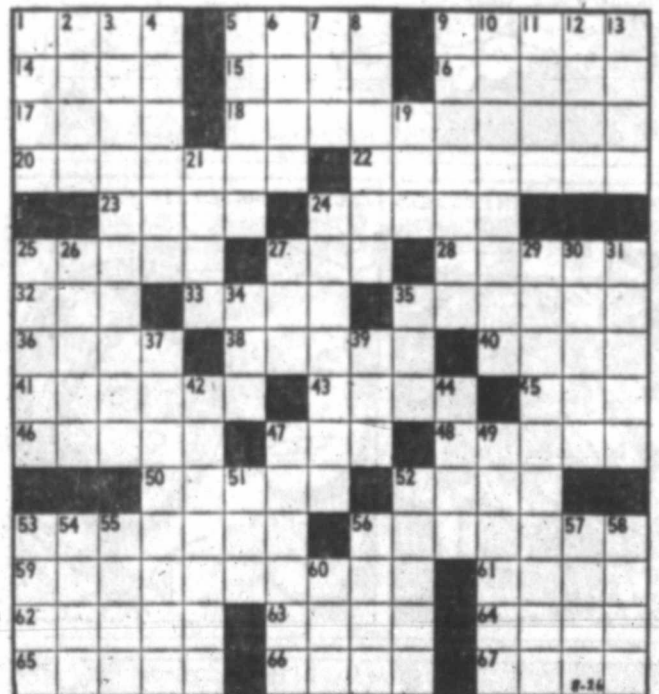

Boeing, which is heading a nine-month study for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on payloads for the Apollo logistics support system, calls the moon vehicle Molab, short for mobile laboratory.

The vehicle would be sent to the moon aboard an Apollo spacecraft. If radio signals showed it landed safely, the astronauts would follow in another Apollo.

The wheels of the vehicle would be five or six feet in diameter, wire-wrapped and covered with steel mesh to cope with jagged rubble on the moon's surface.

Odessa Gets Loop Whammy

By TOMMY HART
MIDLAND — Coach Bradley Mills of Odessa High School, whose team has been tabbed the favorite in District 2-A AAA football play this fall, accepted the whammy graciously in a speech made before an estimated 120 rooters in Midland Lee High School's auditorium here Tuesday night.

Mills was one of eight head coaches in the conference meeting in an open pre-season forum. The octet was questioned by sports writers and fans alike, after being allowed five minutes each to assay their teams' chances.

Mills said he expected the designation as the No. One club to benefit his team in that it would "take pride in the challenge."

He said the Broncos could be expected to toss the ball around more. Mills said his Red Hoses "would not be world beaters but we're proud of them."

The school originally had 15 lettermen returning but one moved away and another quit football after getting married.

The Red Hoses will be strongest in the line, where all-state candidate Skippy Spruill figures to have a great year. The club's chief weakness appears to be an inability to throw the ball, he pointed out, but added that the club was tired of playing against 11-man fronts as was the case last year and could be expected to put the ball up in the air more.

Coach Don Robbins of Big Spring, last of the coaches to speak to the gathering, invited the roster alphabetically by coach Sam Coker, said the Steers' biggest problem was in trying to find a replacement for quarterback Albert Fierro.

A lack of experience could hurt Big Spring, too, he stated. Quarterback Alah Moravick and fleet halfback Pat Brown will spearhead the Odessa Permian offense, coach Jim Cashion reported.

He foresaw a very close race and said any team in the conference was capable of beating any other on a given night. He also held out hope the Panthers would show improvement in their defense.

Highly rated Midland High will lean heavily upon six returning lettermen. Coach Harold King said he wouldn't trade his returning vets for any in the league. One of the Midland boys back to terrorize opposing lines this year is Ross Montgomery, a thundering speedster who was hamstringed by injuries much of last season.

Midland Lee's Joe Newbill remarked that for the first time the feeling around his school was that they had some boys who could make other teams in the district. The Rebels, he added, had been too hospitable in the past. He hoped all that would change.

Clovis Riley of Abilene Cooper spoke highly of several boys on his teams, including two transfers who were not eligible last year. He looked for first rate efforts from his quarterback, Charley Soladay, and his running backs.

Wally Bullington, the Abilene

MONTERREY WINS, 7-2

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., (AP) — Monterrey, Mex., and Mobile, Ala., have earned the right to compete against each other Thursday in the semifinals of the 18th annual Little League World Series.

The Mexicans, who won the series in 1957 and 1958, defeated Bartlesville, Okla., 7-2, to open the 1964 single elimination tournament Tuesday, Mobile, boosted by the pitching arm and the batting eye of Joel Harp, downed La Puente, Calif., 6-2, in another opening round contest.

The first round continued today with Wiesbaden, Germany, going against Staten Island, N. Y., and Valleyfield, Quebec, Canada, opposing Tachikawa, Japan. The winners will meet in the other semifinal game Thursday.

Two Drills Set Friday

The Big Spring Steers start their seasonal football with two-a-day workouts Friday and Saturday.

The Longhorns, 8-2 on the season last year but facing a rebuilding job, report for morning workouts Friday at 8:30 a.m. and will check back in again at 4 p.m.

Coach Don Robbins will have his boys working in shorts until Tuesday, when the use of pads is authorized under Texas Interscholastic League rules.

About 25 boys who signed up for football workouts in the spring have yet to undergo physicals and will not be allowed to drill until that chore has been accomplished.

Big problems confront the coaches, biggest of which quite

Juan Pizarro Gives Lopez Renewed Hope

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Juan Pizarro has been a potential 20-game winner since he started throwing rocks in Sanjour, P.R., 11 years ago.

Al Lopez is betting a World Series ticket that the White Sox left-hander makes the charmed circle in 1964.

Pizarro pitched Chicago to within a game of first place Tuesday night when he blanked Minnesota 1-0 on a masterful five-hitter. The victory was No. 17, tops in the American League, for the 27-year-old fireballer and the shutout lowered his earned run average to a brilliant 2.00.

He has never been this close to the 20-victory mark before, though tagged "another Bob Feller" before he had thrown a pitch in anger in the major leagues.

"Juan started the 1954 Winter League season as the Santeur club's batboy but wound up on the pitching staff when he discovered he could fling rocks harder than the team's pitchers could throw baseballs.

Two years later he was Milwaukee's prize farmhand, striking out 318 batters for the Braves' Jacksonville club in the old Sally League. The Braves had paid Santeur $35,000 for his contract, but they never got a return on their investment.

Pizarro and the Milwaukee management suffered through four seasons with equally unimpressive results.

Finally, in 1960, the Braves traded him to the White Sox and Lopez made him reclamation project No. 1. Pizarro has been a winner ever since.

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Cleveland upended league-leading Baltimore 5-3; third place New York topped Washington 4-1; Los Angeles defeated Kansas City 5-3 and Detroit slugged Boston 11-6.

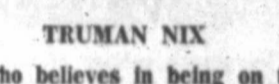

Pizarro, 17-6, pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the top of the ninth before the White Sox broke through lefty Dick Stigman in the bottom of the inning.

Stigman checked the Sox on three hits until Jim Landis led off the ninth with a single. One out later, Floyd Robinson singled. Bill Skowron lined out before Ron Hansen broke it up with a run-scoring hit to left.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

HERE AND THERE:
MIKE LOVE, who performed for Odessa Permian and garnered All-American and All-State honors for the Panthers, is leaning toward joining the pro ranks after he graduates from Abilene Christian College, where he's the starting fullback and has three years to go. According to his father, who now lives in Coahoma, one pro scout said Mike was the best area fullback he saw all last season in the southwest, and that includes Southwest Conference schools.

Over in Stanton these days, you won't get anything but the crying towel from head football coach, BILL MILAM. He's claiming it's going to be a terrible season, and somehow you have to sympathize with him. It's rather improbable that he's pulling a DON ROBBINS, where you say you're going to lose every game and then come up with an 8-2 season. Of course, there's always the Texas Football magazine in which some writer says, "If Stanton is not in the top three (in District 5-A), coach Bill Milam will be disappointed." It looks like Milam may be disappointed.

TRUMAN NIX
Head coach TRUMAN NIX of Colorado City is one man who believes in being on time. About a week ago, a San Angelo photographer was supposed to take some pictures of the Wolves, but he never showed. Nix held his boys for 45 minutes, just to the exact moment that an Abilene cameraman was supposed to be on the scene, and when he didn't come either, Nix let his boys go. The Abilene man walked in five minutes late, Nix took one look at him, and said, "You should have been on time. I didn't think you were going to show and I let my boys go."

Rice University's ED TURVILLE JR., a star tennis player for the Owls this past spring, must have set some kind of record. It seems that he broke nine rackets. It wasn't because he was losing his temper, though, but because the rackets kept slipping out of his hand. He finally solved the problem, though, by tying a string around his wrist and the racket . . .

THEY SAID IT:
U. S. Open champion, KEN VENTURI, on the bad condition of the course in a recent golf tourney: "Spike marks were so bad on the 17th green it looked like they made the Tarzan movie there."

Golf writer STAN WOOD on pro MASON RUDOLPH: "Rudolph has the friendly and amiable disposition of a hound dog about to be fed. Yell 'Fire!' in a crowded clubhouse and the last one out would be Rudolph. And he'd be walking, not running."

JOHN BRENN, Houston Oiler talent scout, on Baylor's All-American flanking back, LAWRENCE ELKINS: "Excluding quarterbacks, Elkins is the best pro prospect in America in all classes."

Shorts: The Detroit Tigers certified more than 40 fan clubs during 1963. . . South African BOB VERWAY, who joined the PGA golf tour this year, is a brother-in-law of pro GARY PLAYER. . . National Football League teams will play only six night games this season. . . Horses starting from the No. 1 post position win the most races at the nation's major harness tracks. . . Navy won its fifth straight lacrosse championship last spring.

Ken Venturi Is Carling Choice

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Arnold Palmer has the putting "yips," Jack Nicklaus has a crook in his elbow, and Ken Venturi has nothing but confidence and an uncanny feeling for the flag.

So it's Venturi, the reigning National Open champion, and not the Big Two who will be favored when 155 golfers from 14 nations tee off Thursday in the first $200,000 Carling World Championship.

First prize in the 72-hole, four-day test is $35,000 a year, salary for many top executives, and it's the kind of purse which usually brings out the best in the blacksmith-strong Palmer and power-driving Nicklaus.

However, both are off top form — Palmer on the putting greens and Nicklaus on the tees — while Venturi is currently the hottest act on the circuit.

After three years of frustration during which he almost gave up the game, the 32-year-

Baltimore Leans Heavily On Solid Mound Corps
NEW YORK (AP) — There are a number of reasons for the lofty American League perch currently enjoyed by the Baltimore Orioles. Most are apparent.

There's the clutch hitting of third baseman Brooks Robinson and the slugging of now injured Boog Powell and rookie outfielder Sam Bowers. . .

The spectacular rise of 19-year-old bonus pitcher Wally Bunker. . .

The stonewall defense of the infield led by Robinson and shortstop Luis Aparicio. . .

The team's ability to win a vast majority of the close games.

But the current success of the Orioles in their determined bid to nail down their first championship since Baltimore's return to the major leagues in 1954 is traced deeper than that which appears on the surface.

It is gleaned from something said by skipper Hank Bauer, a top candidate for Manager of the Year honors. It is deduced from some words from Robinson, in line for the Most Valuable Player award.

"Pitching, especially relief, and defense have been our strength so far," said Bauer. "But the reason we're in first place is something much bigger than what any figures or records can possibly show."

Stanton Defensive Stalwarts

During Stanton football games this fall, the four boys above will have a big part in the success of the Buffaloes' defense. All four are linebackers, and each is rated highly by head coach Bill Milam. Johnny Graves is

Vince Lombardi Has Whip Out

WEST DE PERE, Wis. (AP) — Vince Lombardi has the whip out this year. Aroused by two defeats at the hands of the Chicago Bears, and loss of the NFL title, Lombardi is driving his Green Bay Packers as they never have been driven before.

"The first Bear game last year was the biggest disappointment of my career," said Lombardi at the training camp at St. Norbert College. "We couldn't have beaten them in the second game with blackjacks, but we should have won the first."

"We are looking forward to this year. I have been driving the boys hard. We will be in physical condition. But the big thing is pride in your work. . . the intangibles, the abstracts. You never know about that until the games start."

Paul Hornung was the first to feel the sting of Lombardi's hard approach of 1964. The Golden Boy, reinstated after a one-year suspension for betting on games, was ordered to report in April. Running up and down the steps of the Packers' stadium pared off the pounds so that Hornung goes into the season at 212 pounds, six below his weight in 1962.

Buffs Showing To Advantage

By PAT WASHBURN
STANTON — "All right, let's hear you guys grow!"

That's the words being shouted in the Stanton football camp these days. And if you're within several 100 yards of the Buffalo grid field any afternoon and hear the animal snarls, you could almost be convinced that head coach Bill Milam is feeding his boys raw meat to get them in the right frame of mind.

Milam feels that it has led to a vast improvement:

"We're looking a lot better this week. The attitude of everyone is vastly improved and the boys want to play football. I think how we have a chance of winning some games."

Football in Stanton is like this:

Assistant coach Bryan Boyd was standing on a two-man blocking sled Tuesday watching as two boys would hit the large metal frame and shove it across the grass. During the process of the drills, another two boys stepped up, crouched in three-point positions, and slammed into the sled.

"Hold it, hold it," Boyd yelled at the duo. "Get back there and start all over. You didn't grow enough."

The Buffs' overall attitude was good Tuesday, it could even be called exceptional, but other than that, they looked ragged.

Team speed was inadequate and a boy with breakaway speed, who would be able to give the opponent's secondary problems, was lacking. Some of the biggest boys are the fastest.

During passing drills, the Buffs betrayed an inability to hold the ball, even on many tosses that were pinpointed in their arms. One end, Carroll Anderson, looked extremely good at dragging down high passes, but he was the only consistent performer.

Quarterbacks Larry White and Buddy Shanks were doing a better than average job of throwing, but receivers were having trouble maneuvering under the ball.

Howie Reed Handcuffs Giants For Dodgers

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Howie Reed doesn't win very often. In fact, his pitching victories are so well spaced out he might even pass for a Met.

But when the 27-year-old right-hander does get around to winning one, he does it in convincing fashion — and he makes the licking hurt.

Reed, who hadn't won in the majors since 1958, got around to it again Tuesday night. He fashioned a six-hitter — with ninth inning help — for the Los Angeles Dodgers and beat San Francisco's struggling Giants 3-1.

The loss dropped the Giants into third place and left them 6 1/2 games behind National League leading Philadelphia, a deficit that becomes more imposing each day.

Cincinnati took over second place, rapping the New York Mets 7-2 behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Purkey while Philadelphia took a 7-4 licking from Milwaukee for the Braves' second straight over the league leaders.

Houston held off Chicago 5-4 and Lou Brock's 13th inning homer sealed St. Louis' 7-4 verdict over Pittsburgh in the other games.

Reed, whose last major league triumph was a 2-1 decision over the Chicago White Sox while pitching with Kansas City Sept. 23, 1958, was in top form against the Giants.

Body Deep-Freeze Usage Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pioneer in kidney transplants forecast today that victims of organic ailments may eventually be frozen in suspended animation and later returned to life when replacement organs are available.

Dr. Richard Lillehei of the University of Minnesota said that might be possible when top statesmen, scientists, humanitarians, athletes and other outstanding persons die from diseased hearts or other organs.

He said such a concept would raise ethical questions as to who should be so preserved, but expressed a belief such problems might be worked out.

He also envisioned the day when space voyagers could be kept in controlled cold storage in their spaceships for trips beyond the solar system lasting as long as 300 years.

He said that might be possible not long after the turn of the century.

It's conceivable, he said, that such deep-frozen astronauts could be so preserved that their bodies would not age, and could be automatically thawed out, and be ready for exploration when they reached their interstellar objective.

He and a number of associates told about the developments in technical reports to the first annual meeting of the Society for Cryobiology, an organization devoted to studying the preservative effects of applying extreme cold to living tissues.

Lillehei in an interview said recent advances have been made at the University of Minnesota in taking kidneys from human corpses, preserving them for up to 11 hours after the patient's death at temperatures just above freezing, and then transplanting them into patients facing death from kidney ailments.

Scattered reports of increases in consumer meat prices dotted the picture today in the National Farmers Organization livestock market boycott.

The NFO drive to withhold animals from market in an effort to get higher prices from processors was in its seventh full day.

Wholesale and retail outlets in cities of the Midwest and the East say they are feeling the effect and have raised prices.

Choice cuts of beef were raised four or five cents a pound in parts of Ohio and at Louisville, Ky.

A meat packer at Baltimore predicted that housewives will be paying 12 to 15 cents more a pound for meat this weekend or early next week.

Stores at Boston and Portland, Maine, said they expect a boost in prices later in the week.

NFO headquarters at Corning, Iowa, claimed that increasing retail prices is unwarranted and that some dealers "are taking advantage of the situation."

Supplies of hogs going through the Chicago Terminal Market bounded upward Tuesday and forced a drop of 50 cents per hundredweight from Monday's high of $20 a hundred.

Chicago listed receipts of 10,000 hogs, highest since Jan. 6. Receipts also were up at other major markets.

On the retail side, one store at Columbus, Ohio, jumped the cost of a pound of bacon from 39 to 70 cents a pound. But at Chicago, the Jewel, National and Kroger chains said they had not raised meat prices.

NFO Pushing Beef Boycott

DALLAS (AP) — Two 14-year-old safecrackers, released to the custody of their parents, were believed en route to some point in South America today.

The two youngsters vanished from their homes Monday with four suitcases containing, police said, $1,000 in cash and 100 watches. Police said the watches were burglary loot.

Authorities here, believing the boys were en route to South America via Mexico, placed the Mexican border from Texas to California on alert.

Officers surprised the boys Sunday busily attempting to crack a plumbing firm's safe. A loaded revolver, which police traced to another burglary, lay on the safe within easy reach.

In five hours of questioning, police said they cleared up four more burglaries. The parents agreed to return the boys for more questioning Monday morning.

"Then, they were gone," a detective said. Burglary division officers learned they bought tickets for El Paso and left Dallas at 1 a.m. Sunday.

Detectives said the boys had concealed the $1,000 and watches they carried with them by cutting out compartments in 10 thick encyclopedias. The loot-filled books then were placed in suitcases.

Budgeting Time Keeping Harry From Convention

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — "I am having to budget my time very carefully in what time may yet be available to me to do the many things that still remain to be done."

Thus did Harry S. Truman explain why he isn't attending the Democratic National Convention this year.

Asked at a news conference how he felt, the 80-year-old former president replied, "Oh, very well. I'm just getting old. That's all."

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Joan Kennedy says she has mixed emotions about her membership in the Massachusetts delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

"I am very honored to be part of the delegation," she said upon her arrival at Atlantic City Tuesday, "but I wish my husband, Ted, were with me."

Mrs. Kennedy's husband, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is hospitalized with a broken back, suffered in a plane crash last June.

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — President Johnson's brother, Sam Houston Johnson, is in a hospital at this resort, suffering from pneumonia and a kidney infection.

Dr. R. L. Jackson said Tuesday that Johnson, an Austin, Tex., attorney, is responding well to treatment and will be discharged in a few days.

Johnson was vacationing when he became ill about 10 days ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, treasurer of the United States, underwent surgery Tuesday to make certain that bones in an injured elbow knit properly.

Mrs. Granahan fractured the elbow and a knee when she fell in a radio studio last week.

A Treasury official said she probably will be in the hospital six to eight weeks.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Anna Maria Alberghetti says she and director Claudio Guzman will be married Sept. 12 at Los Angeles.

Actor James Garner is confined to his room at a Honolulu hotel with a virus.

Allen Funt, host of the CBS television show, "Candid Camera," was divorced in Reno, Nev., by his wife of 18 years, Evelyn. The property settlement and agreement on custody of their three children was sealed by the court.

Actress Jayne Mansfield filed suit in Santa Monica, Calif., to have a 1963 Mexican divorce from Mickey Hargitay declared valid. The couple reconciled after Jayne obtained the divorce, but friends say they have separated again.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
The small slam contract in spades reached by North and South was a sound undertaking. South had the values to bid a game directly, but he was unwilling to rule out more ambitious prospects despite the fact that East had opened the bidding. He therefore made a take-out double.

North had a very sound hand and a good suit, so he properly jumped to two hearts. When South proceeded directly to four spades, there might have been a temptation to pass. North realized, however, that his partner had a very strong hand, inasmuch as he had taken time to double first, instead of merely overcalling with four spades. North felt that an 11 trick contract should be safe, so he raised South to five spades. The latter was sure that the hands would fit well and he bid the slam.

West opened the deuce of diamonds. Declarer ruffed away East's queen with the five of spades, and proceeded to draw the outstanding trumps. South observed that the dummy's readily establishable heart suit should provide him with a comfortable margin of tricks, and he proceeded to cash the ace and king of that suit. When West showed out, South was obliged to revise his estimate for, with the king of clubs as the only remaining entry to the North hand, declarer was no longer in position to develop the hearts profitably.

A third round of hearts was led, but East was not obliging enough to continue that suit. He shifted back to a diamond, and South ultimately resorted to a finesse in clubs. When West turned up with the queen, a one trick set was registered.

Declarer was guilty of gross carelessness in the management of his resources. He requires only one additional trick in the heart suit to take care of his potential club loser, and should therefore take measures to protect himself against adverse distribution.

Since the dummy has only one side entry, South should surrender a heart trick early to maintain his communications with the North hand. After cashing the ace of hearts, it is suggested that he continue with a small heart, conceding this trick to the opposition. When declarer regains the lead, he can lead a third heart to the king, and ruff the next round establishing North's long card in the suit for his 12th trick. The king of clubs now provides the necessary access to the dummy.

Registration Slow At Schools In Coahoma

COAHOMA — Boys and girls who are to attend the Coahoma public schools this year are not showing sufficient interest in registration, according to W. A. Wilson, superintendent.

The registration period began last Monday and ends at 3 p.m. Thursday.

"So far, only about half of the students have registered," said Wilson. "It is urgent that all boys and girls register before the deadline. It is especially important that all first graders who plan to attend the school show up for registration."

He said that last year, the schools had a total enrollment of 914 and that it anticipated more than that number will be enrolled this year.
