Democrats Beat Drums Behind Team Of Johnson-Humphrey

Miami Area Heavily Torn By 115-Mile-An-Hour Wind

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Democrats close their convention—and get a quick start on their campaign—with a massive pep rally tonight honoring their new first team—Lyndon B. Johnson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

It's Getting Late, Folks

President Johnson pounds a gavel and indicates with his wrist watch that he'd like Democratic convention delegates to stop their demonstration for him Wednesday night in Atlantic City so he can tell them whom he wants for vice president.

With him are his wife and daughters Luci, left, and Lynda. (AP WIREPHOTO)

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Cleo smashed Miami with sledgehammer blows today, left the streets of the city looking like a battleground, then roared on northward up the heavily-populated southeast Florida coast.

Broadcasting towers toppled. Store windows exploded by hundreds, littering streets with merchandise and broken glass. Fallen trees blockaded hundreds of streets.

No deaths were reported, but a looter shot by police was in critical condition in a hospital. County Manager Irving G. McNayr said he would ask to have the city declared a disaster area.

There was no estimate of damage to public buildings, but McNayr called it "quite serious."

A veteran policeman who was in Miami when the 1926 hurricane broke the big Florida land boom, said the storm was the worst since then.

MANY FIRES

Numerous fires broke out and couldn't be fought in the 115-mile an hour fury of the wind. One warehouse was destroyed at a half-million dollar cost. Fires still were breaking out when dawn revealed the raw scars of the hurricane.

Cleo, howling and moaning up from the south, slammed hurricane force winds into Miami at 2:20 a.m. One hour later, power failure plunged the city into darkness.

After crossing Miami, the eye of the hurricane moved on northward across Hallandale, Hollywood, Fort Lauderdale, Boca Raton and West Palm Beach. Hurricane warning flags flew on up the coast to Cape Kennedy and gale warnings were issued as far north as Daytona Beach.

At 10 a.m., winds of 105 miles per hour were hitting West Palm beach. At Fort Lauderdale, a 20-by-40-foot sign over a shopping center vanished. Gusts strewn trees across roads and made shore route A-1-A impassable with sand-drifts.

Cleo's powerful winds pushed a railroad freight car eight miles from south of Hollywood to Fort Lauderdale. The runaway car sheared off one side of the old Dania station and then collided with an automobile, seriously injuring the driver, an elderly man.

TO TRACKS

Officials said the station, a frame structure, had been lifted to the edge of the tracks by Cleo. At Pompano Beach, two persons were trapped at the height of the storm when the wind crumpled their trailer home. Rescuers got them out unharmed.

At Cape Kennedy, six space rockets were lashed down and other preparations made for a storm.

big blow at America's spaceport. Looting began soon after windows began to explode. In the fury of the storm, the thieves easily eluded police.

Key Biscayne, an island with a large residential colony across Biscayne Bay from Miami, was largely evacuated before the storm struck and high tides blocked the causeway to the mainland.

But the fate of the island remained uncertain as boiling tides continued to lash the beaches. Collins Avenue, site of Miami Beach's famous "hotel row," was a mass of fallen neon signs, trees and window glass.

Fifty windows were smashed at the Fontainebleau Hotel and 700 guests fled their rooms into the lobby. Two guests, two porters and a hotel engineer were hospitalized for treatment of cuts.

The 85-foot yacht Electromatic broke loose from its mooring and crashed into television's famed houseboat, "Surfside Six," in Indian Creek in front of the Fontainebleau.

Thousands spent the night in shelters. Fifty-five pregnant women were admitted to Mt. Sinal Hospital before the hurricane struck.

In the first gales ahead of the hurricane, two trustees working on the roof of the county jail took advantage of the confusion and fled barefooted into the storm.

WITH PRESS

The First Lady started the party round this morning with a post-nomination champagne breakfast for the press, where she table-hopped and talked of hitting the campaign trail herself for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket.

Before the hoopla, before the shouts and the fireworks, the Democrats will pause to honor the memory of three of their fallen heroes, House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, the President's widow, was to arrive today. She does not intend

UAW Targets Chrysler Firm

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union has singled out Chrysler Corp. as its No. 1 strike target in efforts to secure new contracts for the nation's half-million auto plant workers.

UAW President Walter Reuther told newsmen Wednesday night that the walkout at Chrysler would begin at 10 a.m. Sept. 9 if no settlement is forthcoming by that time.

Reuther said Chrysler, General Motors and Ford—the auto industry's Big Three—all had adopted a "narrow, selfish attitude" in negotiations and are denying workers their fair share of record-breaking profits.

The union's contracts with all three firms expire Monday, but Reuther said the strike deadline was set beyond Labor Day to allow several extra days at the bargaining table in efforts to avoid a walkout.

President Johnson is expected to open his campaign in Detroit's Cadillac Square on Labor Day.

Observers have pointed out that with an auto strike in progress, the President might have found such an appearance before a labor rally to be embarrassing.

today. But as soon as his nomination was acclaimed with a tumultuous, banner waving, flag-flying demonstration, he strode to the platform.

Flanked by his wife and two daughters, he said he was happy about the honor done him. He said he would be back to tell the delegates, who bulged the hall to overflowing, about his plans for "an overwhelming victory for our party and our nation" in the November balloting.

The President had held on to his secret that Humphrey was his choice for the vice presidential nomination until he was ready to board a plane to Atlantic City. Humphrey, who had flown to Washington at the President's command, was at his side.

Taking the senator by the arm, Johnson walked over to newsmen standing behind a barrier and said: "Meet the next vice president."

BEFORE DELEGATES The world thus learned of the selection, about three hours before many delegates to this convention knew that it had been made. No modern president had ever kept counsel about a running mate so long.

Johnson, Humphrey and Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who also had been summoned to the White House from Atlantic City, then boarded a plane. Johnson watched on television while Gov. John F. Connally of Texas placed his name in nomination.

The reason for Dodd's quick trip remained a mystery. The Connecticut senator said he had told the President to "include me out" of consideration for the vice presidential nomination.

Speculation among high party officials was that the Connecticut senator had been offered appointment as attorney general when Robert F. Kennedy steps out of that office to make the race for the Senate in New York. This might bring National Chairman John M. Bailey into the picture as a possible successor if Dodd accepted the Cabinet post.

Heavy Rains Splatter Lake Thomas Area

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms pounded wide areas of North Central Texas and south and east Oklahoma Wednesday night. Less intense storms continued over parts of Texas today.

The Weather Bureau's severe weather alert expired without overly violent weather incidents, but high winds and up to three inches of rain hit many places.

High wind warnings stayed up this morning for parts of North Texas. Radar indicated thunderstorms sweeping north of a line from Hobbs, N.M., and Shreveport, La., and south of Amarillo.

Many light to moderate showers fell along each side of a line 20 miles north of Mineral Wells to 10 miles west of Wichita Falls, with other showers falling from 60 miles southeast of Paris northward into Oklahoma.

Ablette had strong winds late Wednesday that blew out windows in two downtown stores.

More than 3 inches of rain fell near Lake J. B. Thomas in the Snyder area, and up to 2 and 3 inches of rain was reported in Borden and Scurry counties.

Winds damaged a crop-dusting plane, at Haskell. Telephone service was disrupted during storms at Aspermont and Rochester. A tornado reported in Carr did no damage.

As the storms approached Mineral Wells, winds whipped trees and roofs up to 40 miles per hour. A storm at Chillicothe earlier did minor damage as .75 of an inch of rain fell.

Temperatures were mostly below the 100 mark with high humidity.

Dairymen Seeking Milk Price Hike

DALLAS (AP) — Dairy farmers and milk handlers who retail the farmers' products argued Wednesday in a heated day-long hearing whether the Texas drought was intense enough to justify a hike in milk prices.

About 100 persons, mostly dairy farmers, packed the hearing room. Will Rogers, chief hearing examiner for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, presided.

The dairy farmers contended many of their colleagues have been near bankruptcy this year because rainfall was below normal on top of last year's unusually dry season.

They asked an increase of 25 cents per 100 pounds of milk delivered to the handlers. August wholesale milk prices here were $5.27 per 100 pounds.

Milk handlers, on the other hand, contend the drought isn't as severe this year as last.

R. T. Dethlessen of the Southland Corp. introduced into evidence a chart showing that rainfall amounts for Dallas and Fort Worth the first half of this year were greater than for last year.

Dairy farmers were represented from North Texas, Lubbock-Plainview, Central West Texas, Austin-Waco, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

John F. Clements of Dallas, manager of the Independent Dairymen's Cooperative, said producers are caught in a cost-price squeeze which the drought aggravated. "There has to be some relief," he said.

He said the price request would mean about half a cent a quart raise in milk prices if granted.

Optimists Adopt Plan To Halt School Dropouts

The Big Spring Optimist Club Wednesday adopted a year-around program for encouraging youth of the community to remain in school. The program was adopted at a meeting of the club, held at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Louis M. Wolfson, chairman of the club's "Back-to-School" committee, outlined a six-point program and it was adopted. According to Wolfson, the Optimist Club will set up a 10-man standing committee, similar to Alcoholics Anonymous, for the purpose of counseling with students who are contemplating dropping out of school.

"Members of the committee would be on call to the school system at any time," Wolfson explained. "Individual members of the committee could talk over problems with students and possibly offer help, such as clothing or a part-time job."

Other points of the program: —Keep track of dropouts with the view to offering every encouragement to return to school; —With the help of public information media, organize publicity campaigns; —Obtain literature written by dropouts for dissemination to students who are considering dropping out of school; —Work with a youth council of the Student Council; —Organize a citizens council. Wolfson said the youth council could arrange with dropouts when the adult counselors have failed.

"Sometimes kids will listen to other kids rather than the advice of an adult," he said.

The citizens council will not be restricted to members of one civic club.

Optimist Clubs from over the country are sponsoring "Back-to-School" drives in an effort to combat the dropout problem. If the current dropout rate continues, 7.5 million youths will drop out of school during the next decade.

Liquor Collections
AUSTIN (AP)—A total of $3,948,066 in taxes and fees was collected by the Texas Liquor Control Board during July, the agency reported Wednesday. This included $2,181,322 from the beer tax. The board also said its inspectors seized three illicit stills last month, one each in Harrison, Lamar and Red River counties.

VEALMOOR POST OFFICE TO CLOSE SATURDAY

VEALMOOR — Effective Saturday morning Vealmoor, as a post office, will disappear from the Texas scene and Vealmoor, as a rural postal station, will take its place.

On the same date, the post office which has served Vealmoor residents for many years in the old Porter Hanks Grocery will be closed down and the new rural station will be set in operation in the Bert Massingale Grocery, just across the street.

Other than for the change in official designation and location the patrons served by the station, will hardly note the difference. The post office provided money orders, parcel post service, stamps, handled in-coming and out-going mail. It also had lock boxes for patrons who wanted that service.

The rural station will provide all of the same services including the lock boxes.

Elmer Boatler, Big Spring postmaster, with A. A. Porter, assistant postmaster, will be in Vealmoor Friday afternoon to officially check out Mrs.

Hanks, as acting postmaster, and supervise the transfer to the Massingale store and cafe of the postal facility.

Boatler said a new cancellation will mark mail dispatched from the Vealmoor station. Instead of the post mark used in the past, the new stamp will read "Big Spring-Vealmoor Rural Postal Station" with the date the letter was handled.

Mrs. Massingale submitted a bid of $1,500 for the right to operate the station when the matter came up. The Post Office Department awarded her the contract. The new operator has acquired lock boxes from the Old Coahoma post office for her station and these are being put in place.

With the death some time ago of Porter Hanks, long-time postmaster at Vealmoor, the department decided to change the designation.

Boatler said that his Big Spring office would have supervision over the station.

Mrs. Massingale operates a combination restaurant and store in Vealmoor. The Hanks store is now being operated by Marjorie Middleton.

Saddened Lad Issues Plea

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — David Peck is only 7 years old but he knows about tragedy. His small world has been shattered twice in eight months.

Last January David's older brother, Darryl, 8, died of leukemia. Last Saturday Peppy, David's 3-month-old puppy, was struck and killed by a car — or cars.

"Something should be done to get these drivers to slow down," the youngster told his mother. "I'm going to write a letter to The Plain Dealer."

This is the letter David printed neatly on lined paper to the morning newspaper.

"Dear editor:

"My name is David Peck.

"My puppy's name was Peppy.

"He was killed by two cars Saturday afternoon. My dog was the smartest dog on the street.

"One of the cars was blue. One of the cars was a red Con-voir. The cars were going too fast and could not stop.

"Please ask the drivers to slow down on the streets where there are puppies and children."

Signed: David Peck

Peppy was shipped in July to David from his grandmother, Mrs. Claude DeMyers of Memphis, Tenn. David, a second-grader and one of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Peck Jr., can have another dog if he wants one.

He hasn't asked for one so far, his mother said. He won't part with any of the toys that belonged to Peppy.

"It's hard to believe he's really dead," the bright-eyed youngster told his mother Wednesday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Lottie Shepherd, 92, read that the Oklahoma City police department was short on funds and needed a additional 25 shotguns.

She donated $1,700 Wednesday and explained, "We're getting to be such a big town we're getting to the point where we've got to be taken care of."

Costs Mount For NAACP In Mississippi

HOUSTON (AP) — A regional director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Wednesday night the NAACP is currently spending $7,000 a week fighting segregation in Mississippi.

Clarence A. Laws said the association spent $350,000 in Mississippi last year.

Laws, a NAACP official based in Dallas, spoke to about 75 persons at a meeting at St. John's Baptist Church. As a regional director he represents Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas and New Mexico.

Laws said in spite of the constant financial need of the NAACP many Negroes do not contribute.

"If this is the value we place on freedom then frankly we are not ready for it," he said. "As a group we've got to show some discontent about the conditions around us. Not only that, we've got to do something about the discontent."

Insect Control Course Will Wind Up Friday

FLOWER GROVE — An insect control short course for farmers, which opened at the Flower Grove High School Monday, will be continued through Friday night.

The course features Pat Henry, entomology specialist with the Vocational Agriculture division of the Texas Education Agency. Henry is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Gilbert Barnett, vocational agriculture teacher for the Flower Grove school, urged all farmers in the area to attend the remaining two nights of the short course. The sessions are at 7:30 p.m. nightly. The sessions are adjusted to the problems that the farmers face in their community. He is discussing these problems and the insect or insects that might be causing the damage and the insecticides needed to do the job. He also is discussing the timing and method of applying insecticides to get the best results. Time is allowed each meeting for questions.

"Short courses in insect control, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers throughout the state under the new cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, department of agricultural education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A&M. "This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational service to farm people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef cattle, insect control, farm management, farm electrification, farm welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, dairy cattle, pasture and oxy-acetylene welding.

Webb AFB Personnel May Get Voting Rights Here

Webb AFB personnel particularly those who have been here for some years and who, in some cases are home owners in the town, were much interested in the ruling of a federal court Wednesday dealing with the right of service men to vote in Texas elections.

The three-judge court, knocking down a provision of the Texas Constitution which prevents men and women in the service from voting in state elections except in the counties where they enlisted, may have cleared the way for a sizeable increase in the number of qualified voters in Howard County.

Each year, when poll tax payment season opens, the office of the county tax assessor-collector has many requests from men and women at Webb who want to take part in local and Texas elections.

The Constitution says they cannot vote in such elections unless they actually enlisted in service from this county. If they entered the service in another county or another state, their only right to vote is in those places.

It is estimated there may be as many as 2,500 men and women stationed at Webb who would be eligible to vote under ordinary electoral qualifications. They have been kept from voting locally by the constitutional provision.

If the federal court ruling is sustained — it being assumed the case will be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court — there will be no reason why these voters cannot participate in local elections — assuming of course that each person desiring to vote has reached the age of 21, has lived in the state for a year and the county for six months, and is otherwise qualified as an elector.

WT Utility Cuts Rates By 3 1/2%

ABILENE (AP) — West Texas Utility Co. announced today a $1,100,000 reduction in electric rates in 183 towns.

Si Phillips, president, said the reduction was possible due to a $480,000 direct reduction in federal income tax plus "improved operating efficiency of new generating equipment."

Phillips filed a revised rate schedule today with Abilene, with the reduction effective Aug. 31. He said the new rate schedule represents a 3 1/2 per cent reduction across the area serviced.

Phillips said $390,000 of the rate slash will be passed on to resident consumers, $274,000 to commercial customers and the remainder to large power firms.

DEAR ABBY

Stick With Profession

DEAR ABBY: Like the taxidermist whose problem was a fiancée who couldn't stand the sight of stuffed animals, I have a problem. I am a mortician and my fiancée can't stand my work, although I never discuss it after hours.

After having gone to mortician taxidermist. I can't store my zoo in the attic.

IN 'DEAD EARNEST

DEAR IN: If your fiancée doesn't dig your profession, it's time to bury your relationship.

DEAR ABBY: Saturday night I was asked to baby-sit for some neighbors who had just moved into our neighborhood. They agreed to pay me 50 cents an hour and asked me to be at their house at 7:30 p.m. sharp. I got there at about 7:25. They didn't leave the house until 8:30. They came home at 12:30 that evening and paid me two dollars. I didn't say anything. My mother said that since I was asked to be at their home at 7:30 I should have charged them for the time I sat and waited for them to leave. Do you agree with her? Should I mention to them that they owe me 50 cents if they ask me to sit for them again? Or should I refuse to sit for them? They were very nice otherwise. I am a 17-year-old girl.

CHEATED

DEAR CHEATED: Since you accepted the two dollars and said nothing, your silence implied that you were satisfied. Say nothing, but should they ask you to sit for them again, tell them you charge for the time you are asked to be at their home.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I were first married we were so broke our wedding party consisted of us, our witnesses and the preacher. After the ceremony we took them out for dinner. They ordered the most expensive steaks on the menu, so we had to shorten our honeymoon by one day.

A year later, on our anniversary, we had a beautiful wedding with all the trimmings. I had a white gown and veil. White stands for purity, not virginity, and a married woman can be as pure as any virgin. The only difference between this and a first wedding was in our wording of the invitations, which read, "To the renewal of their vows" instead of "To the marriage of." Our minister said couples can stage a wedding and renew their vows as many times as they wish. In fact, he recommends it. Sincerely,

"A RENEWER"

Price Gouging Complaints Mounting With Convention

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—With conventions come gripes, and the city fathers here are getting their share about price gouging and hotel accommodations.

With the praise for the resort city's sunny beaches and its famed boardwalk are charges ranging from steep prices to low service.

Some of the price complaints have come from the radio and television networks paying the bills for hundreds of employees quartered here for the Democratic National Convention.

City leaders offered Thursday to set up a peace parley between the innkeepers and network representatives.

Republican State Sen. Frank S. Farley and Bernard Asher, head of the resort's Hotel-Motel Association, offered to discuss the charges in detail.

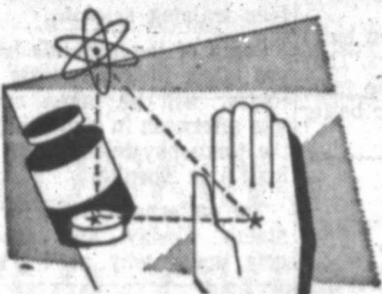

The Atlantic City Press, local newspaper, quoted delegates as griping about prices and accommodations at some of the hotels.

Some of the complaints: Joyce Fadom of Los Angeles gave a press reporter an inspection tour of her room, pointing out a "shoddy and speckled bathroom mirror, dirt on the floors, and a worn carpet."

"For $18 a day," said Mrs. Fadom, "you expect something clean."

A Kentuckian, John Keller of Harrodsburg, Ky., said the lodgings for himself his wife and three children were more expensive — $44 a day — than he had expected.

Sands Field Generals

Jay Displeased With Scrimmage

LAMESA — Lamesa scrimmaged Kermit here Tuesday and coach Donald Jay said he was displeased with what he saw.
The Tornados are preparing for their season's opening game with Big Spring. The Steers visit Lamesa the night of Sept. 11.
Lamesa was held scoreless by Kermit, which is destined to field one of the strongest teams in West Texas. The visiting Yellow Jackets counted twice.
"I didn't see a whole lot to be elated about," Jay said, following the 2 1/2 hour scrimmage. "We didn't lead in any department as far as I could see."
The Tornados looked best on goal line stands. On one occasion Lamesa held the visitors for four downs inside the five-yard stripe.
Jay said that Kermit's stunting defense made Lamesa look bad. The Lamesa coach called for more concentration on basic fundamentals — blocking and tackling.
Kermit counted one touch-down on a six-yard plunge and another time on a 40-yard run up the middle. Kermit led in first downs, 22-17.
Lamesa completed nine of 18 passes with Dicky Roberts and Russell Dennis doing the throwing.
Kermit intercepted two of Lamesa's passes and the Tornados didn't help their own cause by losing three fumbles.
Dennis flipped a pass to end Gerald Graham that covered 53 yards and set up a first down on Kermit's 17. A pass from Dennis to Jim Anderson gave the Tornados five more yards but then the Tornados ran out of steam.
Anderson was impressive as a ball carrier, gaining more than 80 yards rushing. Rick Baldwin was impressive as a ball carrier for Lamesa while Guy Speck looked good as a defensive back.

High Finances Ruining Pro Golf, Says Hogan

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — High finance on the pro tour has dulled the incentive of many golfers and turned them into parasites, Ben Hogan said today.
"It's not a matter of the big purses but the way the money is distributed," the four-time National Open winner said.
"A fellow doesn't have to work on his game any more. All he has to do is show up for a tournament. He can finish far down the list, pick up a pretty good paycheck and make a comfortable living on the efforts of others."
"The money distribution system is all wrong. The big money should go to the leaders, the fellows such as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Ken Venturi who are out there always struggling to improve their game. The couldn't-care-less fellows should get little or nothing."
Hogan, now 52 and returning to the Oakland Hills scene where he won the third of his Opens 13 years ago, failed to specify a particular tournament but he virtually drew a map of the $200,000 Carlin World Championship, beginning here today.
The sport's richest event has a prize list scaled down from $35,000 for first and $7,000 for second to $1,000-and-over for 36 places. Each of the 155 players being off, 48 of them from 13 foreign nations, is assured $400.
All the name players of the world are entered here, with Nicklaus bidding to nail down his position as the year's leading money winner ($90,000-plus) and Palmer, No. 2, and British Open champion Tony Lema, No. 3, in a position to take over through a victory.
Venturi, the National Open champion, is playing so superbly and with such confidence he has been made the No. 1 favorite.

Small Fry Has Its Problems At Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was a difficult night for John Powell. In the Baltimore clubhouse, John had to be assisted into his Oriole uniform. On the way to the plate, he tripped over the bats and tumbled into the dirt.
Then, when he balked at running, John was lifted up by his left arm and assisted to first base.
Baltimore fans roared their approval, because it wasn't really unorthodox behavior after all. The player was John (Little Boog) Powell, son of the Oriole slugger.
While his daddy is the biggest Oriole at 235 pounds, 18-month-old Little Boog was the smallest player in the Wednesday night game featuring the sons of Oriole players — 27 pounds and 2 feet 6.
The youngsters ranged in age up to 13, but most were under four and didn't quite play the game the way Abner Doubleday intended.
Kevan Hunter, 3-year-old son of Coach Billy Hunter, swung and missed five pitches and then ran somewhere in the vicinity of first base — carrying his bat.
When first baseman Scott Miller, son of Stu Miller, tossed the ball to pitcher Robin Roberts Jr., young Hunter took an extra swing . . . and missed again.
While they didn't follow the rules, the youngsters remembered enough to imitate their dads.

Cheer Leaders Sell Tickets

Big Spring High School cheerleaders will converge on the city's three banks Friday to sell $5 membership tickets in the Big Spring Quarterback Club.
The ticket includes admission for the entire family to the Sept. 3 barbecue honoring the 1964 Steer team and their coaches.
Frank Sabbath and J. D. Stielh, co-captains of this year's QBC, stationed themselves at the post office for a couple of hours today selling the ducats to passersby.
The membership ducats are also being sold as such business houses as Hull and Phillips grocery, Newsom's Foods, Cauley and Smith in the College Park shopping center, the Ponderosa restaurant, Prager's Men's Store, Coker's restaurant, Center Barber Shop and Jerry's Barber Shop.
Mrs. Stanley Ballou, secretary of the booster organization, can also accept orders over the phone. She can be reached through Cosden, Extension 248, during working hours or at 4-5768 in the evenings.
The barbecue tickets alone, selling for $1.50 each, will be sold the night of the barbecue at the gate of the amphitheater.

PLAY BETTER GOLF

By Tommy Armour
Take It Easy
FREQUENTLY the average golfer actually fights himself out of making a simple, easy good shot. He gets stiff and thinks about a lot of details (few of which he understands clearly and can apply deliberately). The first thing he's got to attend to is hitting the ball and a child can do that almost instinctively, so why complicate the job? Ease and improve your efforts by standing to the ball with your knees and shoulders unlocked; not relaxed to the degree of sagging weakly, but loose enough to allow free motion. Then measure the radius of your swing by putting the club back of the ball with your left arm straight.

Hank Bauer Lucky To Be Where He Is

BALTIMORE (AP) — But for the interjection of a veteran umpire, Baltimore's Hank Bauer, a top candidate for Manager of the Year honors, might be on the outside looking in today. He came perilously close to facing a lengthy banishment.
The incident took place May 22 in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium during a game between the Orioles and Minnesota Twins.
Bauer became embroiled in a heated argument with plate umpire Al Salerno over a beanball incident.
"It was a case of two hot-heads getting together," Bauer recalled. "I blew my top and called him every name I could think of. If Hank Soar, the senior umpire, hadn't stepped in, I'm sure I would have hit Salerno and probably been suspended for the rest of the year. The next day I thanked Soar."
The gravel-voiced Bauer looks every inch the Marine sergeant he was during World War II but despite his reputation for toughness, he is a gentle, easy-to-approach fellow. He's only been ejected twice this year, both times by Salerno.
"As a rule, I don't argue much with umpires," said the 42-year-old Bauer. "I never gave them any trouble as a player. But a manager has to protect his players. Otherwise he might as well remain in the clubhouse."
Bauer was once described as having a face that resembles a clenched fist. He smiles when he's reminded of it.
"I know I've got that reputation," he said, "but really I'm a nice guy. When I took this job, I was told, 'Be tough, be mean. These guys need discipline.' "Actually I haven't had to be mean or tough. I've had no trouble all year. They've been real good. They've been hustling from the first day."
Bauer makes no pretensions about being a masterminding genius.
"I believe in letting the players play the game," he said. "I think the worst thing in the world is over-managing. I believe in relegating authority to the coaches. Even to some players. For example, Luis Aparicio has a free hand in the infield."
"I think the most important thing in managing is getting the respect of the players. Second is handling your pitching staff. As for the other things, everybody plays percentage. You gamble when you're ahead."
Like all managers, Bauer hates to lose, but he rarely takes the game home with him. "I've never second-guessed myself on any move I've ever made," he said. "Everything I do, no matter how it turns out, I have a reason for."
"Sure I get keyed up in a game and I need some time to relax after a game. Sometimes it's tough-to-fall asleep. But I don't go into tantrums after a tough loss."
"I may fret some time but I never let on to the players. They take their cue from the manager. A relaxed team is a better team."

Opening Drill Nears For BS

The Big Spring Steers fall out for initial fall football drills at 8:30 a.m. Friday.
Coach Don Robbins is hopeful 100 boys will answer the call to arms. The high school has booked three games for its teams the weekend of Sept. 11 and is going to need all the personnel it can get.
Thirteen lettermen are among the group due to report for varsity workouts. Only one of those, center Don White, was an offensive regular last year.
The Longhorns can't work out in pads until next Monday but the coaches will keep the boys busy in two-day drills Friday nonetheless. The athletes will work in shorts through the first four training sessions.
Some of the hopefuls haven't yet taken their physicals. That matter will be taken care of this afternoon in a meeting with the team physician at the Medical Arts hospital.
The afternoon toil for the Steers Friday and Saturday gets under way at 4 p.m.

Cowboys To Host Green Bay Club

DALLAS (AP) — The going is rougher for the Dallas Cowboys, and they're not even playing for keeps yet in the National Football League.
Three exhibition games while training on the West Coast. The Cowboys are home to play the powerful Green Bay Packers. The two clubs will meet Saturday night in the Cotton Bowl.
So far in practice games the Los Angeles Rams have defeated Dallas twice, rallying for a 25-16 victory in the second game last weekend at Portland, Ore. The week before the Cowboys managed a 34-23 verdict over the San Francisco 49ers.
Despite the so-so showing, Coach Tom Landry said Wednesday his Dallas squad has started demonstrating some promising characteristics.
He rates the Cowboys' defense, spotty in former years' defense, best yet and figures the offense, although not up to par yet, is about due to start clicking.
John Jacobs, a free agent from Arizona State, has proved one of the biggest surprises in two months of training. After quarterback Don Meredith was injured last Saturday, Jacobs played all the last half and completed eight of 20 passes, tossing one for a touchdown.
It now appears Jacobs and Sonny Gibbs will fight it out for the No. 2 quarterback assignment. Landry said one will depart only if rookie Billy Lothridge from Georgia Tech is carried as a quarterback.
Lothridge has been the Cowboys' special and may be kept for that specialty, leaving room for both Gibbs and Jacobs as Meredith's understudies.
Rookie Dick van Raaphorst, acquired by trade with Cleveland, is expected to solve a major problem. He's a placekicker. If he pans out, he'll fill a demerit need and figures the boot field goals and extra points.

Dark Manipulates But Giants Lose

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants have to be in trouble when Juan Marichal threatens to strike and Willie Mays starts moonlighting.

Mays tried to hold down two jobs for the Giants Wednesday night, shuttling between center field and third base in a 2-1 loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers that dropped San Francisco 7 1/2 games behind National League-leading Philadelphia.

But the big labor dispute resolved around Marichal, the ace right-hander of the Giants' staff who hoisted his placard and said he won't pitch before he feels he's ready.

"I don't want to take any chances any more," said Marichal, who has been bothered by a bad back, but made his first start since July 29 against the Dodgers Tuesday night. Marichal, who pitched five innings, said he didn't think he was ready to go, then added: "They wanted me to pitch. I'll tell you this: If it's still the same the next time, I won't pitch."

Manager Al Dark's comment was concise: "He'll pitch Sunday."

Where Mays will play is another question.

He started in center field against the Dodgers, but had to take over at third base in the second inning after Jim Ray Hart was struck in the head by a thrown ball while running from first base to second and was forced to leave the game.

Mays, who also has played first for the Giants this season, moved back to center field in the seventh inning, then returned to the infield again in the ninth as Dark constantly juggled his line-up in an attempt to get the Giants moving against Don Drysdale.

Drysdale, however, checked San Francisco on seven hits and came up the winner on Doug Camilli's run-producing single in the ninth.

The Phillies, meanwhile, rode Chris Short's six-hit pitching to a 6-1 victory over Milwaukee and built their bulge over second-place Cincinnati to seven games. The Reds were beaten by the New York Mets and Tracy Stallard's five-hit pitching, 3-1.

Elsewhere, Larry Jackson posted his 16th victory for St. Louis with a six-hit, 3-1 triumph over Houston and rookie Mike Cuellar posted the first complete game of his major league career in St. Louis' 4-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers won it in the ninth for Drysdale on a single by Frank Howard, a ground out and an intentional walk to Nate Oliver that brought up Camilli. Camilli blooped a single to center giving Drysdale a 14-13 record while tagging Bob Hendley with the loss.

Short, bringing his record to 14-6 while lowering his earned run average to 1.70, snapped the Phillies out of their first two-game losing streak since July 26 with the support of four homers — two by Gus Triandos and one each by Ruben Amaro and Tony Gonzalez. Short was touched for a run in the ninth on a double by Joe Torre and Denny Menke's single.

Stallard, now 8-16, checked the Reds on four singles until Don Pavletich ruined his shut-out bid with a seventh inning homer. Ed Kranepool drove in two of the Mets runs off Joey Jay, 9-9, with a fourth inning single and a sixth inning sacrifice fly. Ron Hunt drove in the final run with a seventh inning single.

Jackson, 16-10, kept the Colts from becoming the first NL team this season to win seven straight, losing his shutout on Nellie Fox' run-producing single in the sixth. Jackson received home run support from Ernie Banks, who hit his 16th, and Ron Santo, who connected for No. 25.

Cuellar, 5-3, was tagged for homers by Donn Clendenon and Gene Alley in the fifth, but the Cardinals pulled ahead 3-2 in their half on Lou Brock's homer, a triple by Dick Groat and Ken Boyer's single.

Eagles Boast Rare Rookie

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Bob Brown is a rich young man of 22, who stands 6 feet, 4 1/2 inches, weighs 280 pounds, is working for his master's degree and wants to be an administrator in education someday.

At the moment he's using his tremendous physical stature as an offensive tackle for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Eagles' Coach Joe Kuharich describes his giant lineman as the kind of a rookie a club gets "once every 10 years."

"He has the physical attributes, the brains and the attitude to make it big," says the coach.

The well-spoken Cleveland native has ideas as big as his size.

Fullback Is Major Problem For Rams

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Fullback is the big problem with the Los Angeles Rams who are rebuilding around a solid defensive line and a fast-improving quarterback, Roman Gabriel.

"We expect to improve on last year, largely because our quarterback, Gabriel, will have more experience," said Svare at the Rams' camp.

The Rams lost their first five games last fall. Then they turned around and won five of their next seven beating San Francisco twice and Detroit, Baltimore and Minnesota once each. The word around the National Football League was that the Rams were to be feared in 1964.

Ben Wilson's decision to pass up pro football for dentistry after a fine rookie year left a gaping hole at the fullback position.

Svare has been switching his backs around, trying to come up with a replacement for Wilson. It might turn out to be Dick Bess, the halfback who shared the heavy duty ground work with Wilson last year.

This is the third year for Gabriel, the former North Carolina State quarterback. Progress has been slow but steady. After winning the job late in 1962, he gave way to rookie Terry Baker for last year's opener but soon reclaimed the job.

Carroll Dale and Jim Phillips are the top receivers.

Svare beefed up his offensive line considerably when he traded Jon Arnett, who has been hobbled by leg injuries for a couple of seasons, to the Chicago Bears.

The Rams got Roger Davis, a Bear starter at guard for four seasons, to go with Charlie Cowan, Joe Seibell and Don Chuy at that position. They also gained a third offensive center, Joe Wendryhoski, and Frank Budka, a rookie defensive back from Notre Dame.

The other centers are Ken Kirk and Art Hunter. Joe Carroll and Frank Varrichione are set at offensive tackle.

Many pro football experts think the Rams' defensive line of Dave Jones and Lamar Lundy at the ends, and Rosey Grier and Merlin Olsen in the league. Stan Fanning and rookie Gary Larsen back them up.

Jack Pardee, Mike Henry and the veteran Cliff Livingston are the starting linebackers with relief from Marv Harris, a good looking rookie from Stanford.

Rookie Jerry Richardson of West Texas State, No. 3 draftee, and Bobby Smith will be the corner backs on defense with Lindon Crow and Ed Meador at safety. Scotti may reclaim a corner job when he is healthy.

There isn't any.

Plunk $1701 into Frank Winterhalter's hand at Western Car Co. and he'll plunk you into the seat of a new 1964 Volkswagen Deluxe Sedan. (Give him $30 more, and you'll be plunked into a Volkswagen with matching leatherette upholstery.)

Of course, you'll have to pay local tax and buy license plates. But that is it.

Sound a little too simple? Perhaps.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Coach Donald Robbins and his aides of Big Spring High School chanced to view a film recently of a football game involving Kingsville, where Lamesa's Donald Jay coached before moving to West Texas.

The local mentors came to a conclusion fast: That Jay's clubs play a rugged brand of ball. In other words, they dish it out and see if the other team can take it.

Big Spring, no doubt, had best get ready for a busy evening when it opens the season with the Golden Tornadoes the night of Sept. 11. Jay would like a victory to get off on the right foot with his following in Lamesa. For that reason, the Tornadoes are apt to be fired to the skies for the Longhorns.

Among early entries in the 33rd annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament is Jim Fullingem, the young Lorenzo farmer who teamed with pro Eddie Jones to win first place in the second annual Big Spring Open earlier this year.

The victory here in June apparently gave Fullingem the confidence and incentive he needed, for he's been doing very well in area tournaments since that time.

The Big Spring Golf Association is registering members for the new year. Fees are due Sept. 1. Members are charged $3 annually for the privilege of maintaining all rights with the organization.

The BSGA now has about 70 members and has a bank account approximating $300. Only those with membership cards will be able to take part in the association's Grand tournament in October. A barbecue will be held in conjunction with the meet. The association decides its grand champion in the tournament.

Sam Baugh, the Rotan rancher who is now head coach of the Houston Oilers, doesn't like to be disturbed when he's occupied with something he considers important.

Not long ago, a coaching aide at Tulsa University paused at Rotan and called Sam's home. One of Sam's sons told the caller Sam was occupied at the moment and would he please call back in a half hour.

The coach did and asked Baugh what had tied him up.

"I was watching Bonanza on TV," Sam replied.

Ex-Big Springer B. B. Lees has a big rebuilding job ahead of him at Eastern New Mexico University, where he has taken over as head football coach.

Eastern lost 13 offensive and defensive regulars off last year's team. Lees will have to rely mainly on freshmen and sophomores.

To complicate matters, two boys B. B. had been counting on to play at the halfback spot became ineligible in the spring. His top three hands there, including the celebrated Pete Jaquess, graduated. Jaquess is now a pro rookie trying to win his spurs with the Houston Oilers.

Eastern opens against Sul Ross at home Sept. 19. Danny Aycock and Larry Lee, both of Snyder, are two of the boys Lees recruited after last season.

The New York Giants are trying to get ex-SMU quarterback John Roach to come out of retirement. They gave up on former Ole Miss star Glynn Griffing because he has a weak throwing arm.

QBC Plans Big Conclave Week Of Lamesa Contest

Barnes Pelletier and Prager's Men Store will donate prizes which will be given away during the Tuesday, Sept. 8, meeting of the Big Spring Quarterback Club.

The conclave is set for 7:30 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria and will be the final one for the booster organization prior to the Steers' inaugural football game with Lamesa.

The prize donated by Barnes Pelletier will, of course, go to some woman while the Prager award will be made to some male attending the session.

Dragons Play In New Loop

FLOWER GROVE — The Flower Grove Dragons will be small this fall.

The 21-man roster lists no players above 165 pounds with several freshmen tipping the scales at 115 pounds. But with the Dragons moving into a new loop, District 3 (eight-man), no one can accurately predict what Flower Grove will do. Most of the teams in the loop did not even scrimmage Flower Grove a year ago when the Dragons were in a six-man bracket.

The Dragons have a nine-game slate with five of the tilts being at home. September contests will begin at 8 p.m. while the rest of the games are slated for 7:30 p.m.

The schedule:

Sept. 11 — Gordon City, here

Boxing Needs Help: Greene

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Boxing is close to elimination as a major sports activity, Commissioner Abe J. Greene told the World Boxing Association convention today and urged that "we put it back on the sports pages in decency and take it out of the front page headlines of despair."

Greene said boxing had been a major factor in the development of television but now the last nationally shown boxing series is about to suspend while television time for other sports is on the increase.

He pointed out that the other sports controlled television but that "boxing gives itself away, a pure unadulterated pataty."

He said that the first step in the rehabilitation of the sport was to forget personal and interstate rivalries and to think in terms of the sport as a whole.

Five Clinical Trainees End Hospital Work

Five men who have been undergoing training in Clinical Pastoral Education at the Big Spring State Hospital under Chaplain Max Maguire concluded their work here and will depart the city Friday.

The five, who came from widely separated parts of the country, officially began their work here about June 10 and have been with the hospital since that time.

The hospital is now an accredited training center for such work and a similar program for trainees will take place next summer.

The five are Ralph McMichael, who will return to classes at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.; Nicholas Hill, bound for the Southwestern Episcopal Seminary, Austin, Texas; Horace Satcher, who goes to the Virginia Seminary in Alexandria, Va.; Bob Smith, destined to return to the General Theological Seminary in New York City; and Ted Wehmeyer, who will take a year's work in a Presbyterian church in Charlotte, N. C., before re-enrolling at the Presbyterian Seminary in Austin, Texas.

The five have made their homes in quarters provided by the hospital on the facility's grounds during their tenures here.

San Angelo Seeks Study For Stacy Site Development

San Angelo filed a presentation with the Texas Water Commission Tuesday to study feasibility of developing the Stacy Dam site on the Colorado River.

The idea of a study met with approval of Colorado River Municipal Water District officials, which is seeking to amend a permit to impound a lake at Robert Lee, about 40 miles upstream.

At a joint meeting of the CRMWD and the Upper Colorado River Authority boards here Aug. 14, when UCRA interest in the CRMWD project was explored, Charles Perry, Odessa, CRMWD president observed:

"This is not the last time we will be called upon to work together. Even now we should be thinking about development of the Stacy site for supplies which will be needed by 1980-90."

Bryant and others appeared before the San Angelo City Commission Tuesday to obtain its blessing for filing of the presentation. He proposed that a 488,000-acre foot lake, costing $18,000,000 be sought with the aid of federal flood control and wildlife development funds. He estimated that at least five years would be required before a dam could possibly be built and that another 10 years would be provided before San Angelo and Times publisher; and J. N. Gregory, head of the San Angelo Water Supply Corporation, which is the agency actually filing for the presentation, appeared in Austin with their request for a study.

The Stacy site is in Concho and McCulloch counties just below the confluence of the Concho with the Colorado.

Johnson Given Doctors' Okay For 'Vigorous Life'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Pres. Johnson, 56 years old today, has his party's overwhelming endorsement for another term in office and his doctors' assurance he is physically fit for "an active vigorous life."

For a birthday party, he was assured a rousing reception from the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, where he goes tonight to accept formally the full-term nomination handed him without contest Wednesday night.

The verdict of four doctors on his physical condition was disclosed by the President Wednesday as he led newsmen on a 4 1/2-mile hike, talking as he circled 15 laps around the back driveway of the White House.

Loping easily along in the high-humidity heat Johnson convinced less-athletic newsmen of the doctors' finding that his "exercise tolerance continues to be superb" despite a serious heart attack in 1955.

He took a few more fast laps later with his choice for a running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota; took time out for an informal birthday party at which his staff presented him with a desk; and capped an active day with a flight to the convention city which lasted into the early morning hours.

In the course of the 90-minute afternoon marathon, Johnson: - Forewent a Democratic victory in November, saying various polls show "we run, generally speaking, 65-70 per cent" compared with 20 to 30 per cent for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

- Said he plans campaign trips for one, two or three days a week where possible but for the most part will "stay right here in this house and do my job."

- Announced he plans to send a budget below $100 billion, and said he issued orders that advance estimates be made on that basis.

The physical examination which Johnson announced was the first he had reported since taking office last November. He underwent it on Monday, after a 9-lap tour of the White House driveway which had set his record up to that time.

Two of the participating doctors had treated Johnson after his 1955 heart attack. They are Dr. J. Willis Hurst of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. J. C. Cain of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

The others are Dr. George G. Burkley, a Navy rear admiral who is official White House physician, and Dr. James M. Young, an Army doctor on the White House staff.

They said Johnson has "no symptoms," that his blood pressure is normal, and that all other aspects of the examination were normal.

Bryant and others appeared before the San Angelo City Commission Tuesday to obtain its blessing for filing of the presentation. He proposed that a 488,000-acre foot lake, costing $18,000,000 be sought with the aid of federal flood control and wildlife development funds. He estimated that at least five years would be required before a dam could possibly be built and that another 10 years would be provided before San Angelo and Times publisher; and J. N. Gregory, head of the San Angelo Water Supply Corporation, which is the agency actually filing for the presentation, appeared in Austin with their request for a study.

The Stacy site is in Concho and McCulloch counties just below the confluence of the Concho with the Colorado.

At a joint meeting of the CRMWD and the Upper Colorado River Authority boards here Aug. 14, when UCRA interest in the CRMWD project was explored, Charles Perry, Odessa, CRMWD president observed:

"This is not the last time we will be called upon to work together. Even now we should be thinking about development of the Stacy site for supplies which will be needed by 1980-90."

Weather Forecast
Scattered showers and thundershowers are expected Thursday night in the Gulf coast and south Atlantic states, and from the central Plateau to the Mississippi valley. It will be cooler in northwest Pacific states, the central Plateau, the north and central Plains, the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, and the central and north Atlantic states. It will be warmer in the southern Plateau and Plains. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Private Atom Fuel Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has signed a bill permitting private firms to own fuel for nuclear reactors. He described it as a further step toward harnessing the full power of the atom. Johnson, with the Atomic Energy Commission and other dignitaries looking on, said it no longer was practical to require full government ownership of all nuclear fuels. In the past, private industry has had to rent nuclear materials from the government. The new law removes this requirement for fuels used in private power plants. Johnson said great progress had been made in the development of power in recent years and it was "no longer appropriate" for the government to control all nuclear materials. He said the law still provided proper protection for the people of the United States, but also met "the needs of modern times." The AEC had asked for the new law on behalf of the Johnson administration. It received bipartisan support in both houses of Congress.

Tuesday's test was held in extremely rugged lava formations. Tests scheduled today will be held on the pumice plains south of Bend. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Accountants Find Defense Loopholes

WASHINGTON (AP)—You brag in this town at your own expense. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara held a news conference July 7 to announce his cost reduction program has saved $2.5 billion last year. Since then there have been 28 reports—little noticed for the most part—by the General Accounting Office pointing out where it said the Defense Department should have saved even more. The GAO accountants also produced three additional reports pointing out where what they called sloppy supervision on the part of commanders had reduced the combat efficiency of four spot-checked units, including an anti-aircraft missile base. After examining 66 armored personnel carriers and cargo trucks belonging to the 30th Infantry Regiment in Germany, the GAO found 216 major defects and 2,300 less serious ones. The GAO checked out the maintenance on the reconnaissance and liaison aircraft of the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions at Ft. Hood, Tex., and found it so poor that "the combat readiness of these divisions was impaired." Poor maintenance, said the GAO, was the primary factor in the crash and total loss of a $200,000 aircraft. At an unidentified anti-aircraft missile base somewhere overseas, the GAO reported the management of spare parts was so inefficient that $30 million worth of missile gear was unoperable. As for the other GAO reports, they include such findings as these: —The Army wasted $1.3 million buying utility caps which cost $1.08 each and required special laundering, whereas the Marines and Seabees were buying 57-cent utility caps which could be washed under any circumstances. —At the U.S. Army Engineer depot just outside Seoul, Korea, was $376,000 worth of unneeded spare parts and the depot was

Mrs. Bowers Adapts Meals To Season, Family Activities

By MARY COCHRAN

The gleam of hand rubbed Colonial furniture and the reflection of browns and warm orange tones in the shining floors at the B. J. Bowers' home at 2600 Larry present a pleasing picture.

An aura of comfort is felt in this sparkling clean home. The kitchen-den, an inviting gathering place for family and friends, is designed in gleaming brown paneling and the latest in convenient kitchen equipment.

A wall grouping of ducks in flight in the family room is an apt decorative item for this family. Mr. and Mrs. Bowers and their son, Bobby Joe, 15, are great hunting enthusiasts. In a few days—Sept. 1 to be exact—dove season will open and they will be out in the country seeking their first game of the season.

A gun rack in Bobby's room holds a fine collection of firearms, and each has his own favorite "shootin' iron" for the bird season.

"We bring in our share of the game," said Mrs. Bowers. "My husband and son also like to hunt quail and deer, but I find the walking a bit strenuous."

GAME COOKERY

"We like fried dove," said Mrs. Bowers. "I cook it as one does chicken, covered with a lid for tenderness. We find the birds are very good when barbecued on an open grill." Quail gets the same cooking treatment. "With deer meat, we save the steaks, give some cuts away, and have sausage made from the rest."

In a household that is always buzzing with hungry boys, the problem of plenty of food on the table is a constant one. Mrs. Bowers relies on the barbecue pit for many meals throughout the summer where her husband presides as chef. They find outdoor cookery is equally good for steak, roast, pork ribs, chicken and hamburgers. With the boys they are always interested in having meat and plenty of it.

Mrs. Bowers finds a neat dish for serving a crew, is Sloppy Joes. This dish is ground beef seared in the skillet and spiced with commercial barbecue sauce, onions and ketchup. A bit of water is added and the mixture is then simmered for a short time. The meat sauce is served on buns to make a hunger-quencher for all guests. If the crowd grows, beans can be added to stretch the servings.

Mrs. Bowers has been cooking since she was a small child in Trent. Her mother, who holds the reputation as a fine cook, was her first instructor.

This homemaker was able to feed her husband ably when they married in 1945 but will admit an occasional cooking failure in those days.

MRS. B. J. BOWERS AND BOBBY

The family moved to Big Spring 12 years ago where Bowers took over the job as assistant fire chief at Webb Air Force Base.

COMPANY FARE

When their friends drop in for an evening of forty-two, there is coffee on the burner and a tasty dessert. Pie is one family favorite, particularly blackberry cobbler, coconut cream or Jeff Davis pie, a custard-like confection.

In the summer, ice cream is a special favorite and an easy dish to prepare, thanks to an electric freezer. Mrs. Bowers makes one gallon of cream with 6 large eggs, 2 1/2 cups sugar, 1 can of sweetened condensed milk, 1 large can of evaporated milk and a small addition of sweet milk. She seasons it with peaches or bananas.

Summer vegetables are great favorites in this household. A new combination Mrs. Bowers has discovered is fried okra and potatoes. The cut okra is rolled in corn meal and fried with diced potatoes. Just before the mixture is done, diced onion is added for special flavoring. Green salads figure heavily in her menu planning. Another salad she likes is hot mashed potato salad made with pickles, pimiento, boiled eggs and crisp fried crumbled bacon.

The following recipes are simple dishes with special flavor twists or techniques.

RASPBERRY SALAD

2 boxes raspberry gelatin.
2 cups hot water
2 boxes frozen raspberries
1 cup apple sauce
1 pkg. sour cream
2 cups tiny marshmallows

Mix the first four ingredients and jell. For topping, beat the cream and marshmallows together.

APRICOT DELIGHT

1 large can apricot halves, unpeeled
1 small pkg. marshmallows
1/2 pt. whipped cream
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 box vanilla wafers, crushed

Drain apricots and melt marshmallows in apricot juice until dissolved. Mash apricots, add sugar and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Cool the mixture. Whip cream and fold into mixture.

FRIED PIES

1 can refrigerated biscuits
Apricot jam
Roll individual biscuits very thin. Place 1 tablespoon of apricot jam on each biscuit. Fold over and press edges with a fork until dipped in flour. Fry in deep fat in electric skillet at 350 degrees. Serve while hot.

GRITS

1 cup grits
1 stick butter
2 eggs
6 ozs. garlic cheese, grated

Cook the grits according to package directions. While still hot add the butter, eggs and cheese. Bake 30 minutes at 300 degrees.

DEVILED STEAKWICHES

About a 2 lb. flank steak
Flour
1-3 cup shortening
1 large onion, sliced
1-3 cup water
1-3 cup chili sauce

1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. vinegar
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Grated Parmesan cheese

MEAT MERINGUE SANDWICHES

1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 tps. lard
1/2 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine, even crumb. Add milk and mix quickly to make a soft dough.

FRENCH BUNBURGERS

2-3 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 egg
1 1/2 lb. ground beef

1/2 tsp. caraway seeds
6 slices (1 ounce each) natural Swiss cheese
6 hamburger buns, split and toasted

18 slices pimiento-stuffed green olives
12 carrot sticks
Corn chips

Form pork sausage into six patties about 3/4-inch thick. Place patties and water in cold frying pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly five minutes. Remove cover. Pour off drippings. Cook patties until browned.

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Add sauerkraut and caraway seeds. Cook slowly until heated through stirring occasionally to prevent burning.

Place sausage patties on broiler rack. Top each patty with a slice of Swiss cheese. Insert broiler pan and rack so top of patties is three inches from heat. Broil until cheese is melted slightly.

Place two tablespoons sauerkraut-caraway mixture on bottom half of each bun. Place sausage patty and cheese on sauerkraut. Top each with three slices pimiento - stuffed olives. Add top half of bun. Serve hot with carrot sticks and corn chips. Makes six sandwiches.

Put some spring into your Summer menus!

Rich, delicious cream is the perfect partner at mealtime, snack time, any time you want to serve special dishes. You'll find, too, that whipped cream has the wonderful attribute of making any dessert look more elegant, taste more delightful.

Cream teams up with many different foods. Cream and cereal, cream and coffee, cream and fresh fruits are just a few of the long line of creamy favorites leading the list. What new ideas of your own can you add?

To whip cream, it's best to have the bowl and whipper chilled, and the cream at refrigerator temperature (40 to 50 degrees). To achieve a fine-textured product that will hold its stiffness, whip cream rapidly with an efficient whipper or beater. Add sugar and flavorings when the cream is partially whipped to insure uniform flavoring and prevent over-whipping the cream. (Over-whipping will turn the cream into butter.)

If the whipped cream is to be used as a frosting, it is best to add a stabilizing agent to the cream. To stabilize a pint of whipping cream, soften 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water.

Dissolve in 1/4 cup heated heavy cream, then chill thoroughly before whipping. To whip, first partially whip the remaining 3/4 cups of cream (1 pint of cream is 2 cups), then fold in the gelatin-whipped cream mixture along with 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla or lemon juice.

WHIPPED FRUITED CONSUMME
1 can (10 1/2 ozs.) condensed consommé
2 tps. orange juice
Sour cream
Grated orange rind

In bowl, combine consommé and orange juice. Place in refrigerator until jelled—at least four hours. With fork, whip consommé lightly. Serve in chilled bowls; top with sour cream and orange rind. Makes two to three servings.

British, American Sandwich

The original sandwich was made with beef, according to British tradition.

And this might well be true, since the Earl of Sandwich, who is credited with popularizing this type of a meal had a reputation as a "beef-eater."

British pubs and inns are still famous for their beef sandwiches. Here's how they prepare them. Slice cold roast beef thinly. Lightly butter two slices of bread. Place a slice of beef on each slice of bread. Then spread one of the slices of beef lightly with horseradish and mustard. Include a few sprigs of parsley, mint or watercress. Close the sandwich and serve with cold sweet milk or buttermilk. What a refreshing treat for this hot weather!

Americans have been credited with originating the hot beef sandwich. Use rye or French bread with thick slices of beef from a warm roast. Serve with natural gravy and hot potato salad.

Bunwiches, another American innovation, were developed to please teenagers, but everyone likes them. Here's how you prepare enough bunwiches for 12 servings.

Combine two-thirds cup of evaporated milk with 1 egg and beat until frothy. Add 1 1/2 pounds ground beef, 1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs, one-third cup chili sauce, one-third cup chopped onion, 1/2 teaspoon each of garlic salt, salt and oregano and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Mix to blend. Form into thin patties. Place each patty on buttered hamburger bun half. Then place about 5 to 7 inches from heat. Broil until done as desired.

A prize-winning sandwich is easily created by combining ground round steak and blue cheese. To serve six: combine 1 1/2 pounds ground round with 1/4 cup soft butter or margarine, 1/2 pound crumbled blue cheese, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce and a dash of pepper. Mix well and shape into six equal-size patties. Broil until done as desired. Meanwhile, heat six split sesame seed or poppy seed round buns. Arrange cooked burgers on bottom halves of buns and place on serving plates. Combine 2 tablespoons prepared horseradish with 1/4 cup prepared mustard, spread top halves of buns with this mixture, and place on burgers. Garnish with French fried onion rings, crisp lettuce leaves and tomato slices.

Has the family started to balk at all the tried and true family menus? Give them sandwiches. A light but satisfying meal can be built around a sandwich, salad and dessert. Serve a cool drink and watch the fussy eaters change their habits.

There are many varieties and combinations of fillings that will appeal to guests on special occasions or family members for every-day fare.

DEVILED STEAKWICHES
About a 2 lb. flank steak
Flour
1-3 cup shortening
1 large onion, sliced
1-3 cup water
1-3 cup chili sauce

1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. vinegar
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Grated Parmesan cheese

Trim as much fat as possible from flank steak. Halve steak lengthwise, then cut crosswise into 1 1/2 inch strips. Dip each strip in flour.

Saute in hot shortening in skillet until well-browned, adding onion slices when browning is almost done. Combine remaining ingredients except cheese. Pour over steak.

Cook over low heat, covered, until fork tender for about an hour. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Serve on soft rolls.

MEAT MERINGUE SANDWICHES
1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 tps. lard
1/2 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine, even crumb. Add milk and mix quickly to make a soft dough.

Roll dough into a 9-inch square. Place in bottom of a 9x9x3-in. pan.

1 lb. pork sausage
1/2 cup chopped onion
1-3 cup grated American cheese
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites
2 tps. chili sauce
1 tsp. minced parsley

Cook sausage and onion slowly in a frying pan about 10 minutes. Pour off drippings. Combine sausage, onion, cheese and egg yolks and spread mixture evenly over biscuit dough. Bake in a hot oven (400 F.) for 20 minutes.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in chili sauce and parsley. Spread meringue over meat mixture, allowing no space between sides of pan and meringue. Continue baking until meringue is lightly browned. About 6 to 8 minutes. Makes 9x9x3 inch sandwiches.

FRENCH BUNBURGERS
2-3 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 egg
1 1/2 lb. ground beef

1/2 tsp. caraway seeds

OH BOY FARM BOY
1 1/2 pounds fresh (bulk) pork sausage
2 to 3 tps. water
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1/2 cup well-drained, chopped sauerkraut

Best results are obtained when you use pork sausage which is more spicy than mild. Here's another tip: it won't take much broiling to melt the cheese since the sausage patties will be hot when the cheese slice is placed on top.

Spark Those Lagging Appetites With Tempting Sandwich Fare

Has the family started to balk at all the tried and true family menus? Give them sandwiches. A light but satisfying meal can be built around a sandwich, salad and dessert. Serve a cool drink and watch the fussy eaters change their habits.

There are many varieties and combinations of fillings that will appeal to guests on special occasions or family members for every-day fare.

DEVILED STEAKWICHES
About a 2 lb. flank steak
Flour
1-3 cup shortening
1 large onion, sliced
1-3 cup water
1-3 cup chili sauce

1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. vinegar
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Grated Parmesan cheese

Trim as much fat as possible from flank steak. Halve steak lengthwise, then cut crosswise into 1 1/2 inch strips. Dip each strip in flour.

Saute in hot shortening in skillet until well-browned, adding onion slices when browning is almost done. Combine remaining ingredients except cheese. Pour over steak.

Cook over low heat, covered, until fork tender for about an hour. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Serve on soft rolls.

MEAT MERINGUE SANDWICHES
1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 tps. lard
1/2 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine, even crumb. Add milk and mix quickly to make a soft dough.

Roll dough into a 9-inch square. Place in bottom of a 9x9x3-in. pan.

1 lb. pork sausage
1/2 cup chopped onion
1-3 cup grated American cheese
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites
2 tps. chili sauce
1 tsp. minced parsley

Cook sausage and onion slowly in a frying pan about 10 minutes. Pour off drippings. Combine sausage, onion, cheese and egg yolks and spread mixture evenly over biscuit dough. Bake in a hot oven (400 F.) for 20 minutes.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in chili sauce and parsley. Spread meringue over meat mixture, allowing no space between sides of pan and meringue. Continue baking until meringue is lightly browned. About 6 to 8 minutes. Makes 9x9x3 inch sandwiches.

FRENCH BUNBURGERS
2-3 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 egg
1 1/2 lb. ground beef

1/2 tsp. caraway seeds
6 slices (1 ounce each) natural Swiss cheese
6 hamburger buns, split and toasted

12 carrot sticks
Corn chips

Form pork sausage into six patties about 3/4-inch thick. Place patties and water in cold frying pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly five minutes. Remove cover. Pour off drippings. Cook patties until browned.

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Add sauerkraut and caraway seeds. Cook slowly until heated through stirring occasionally to prevent burning.

Place sausage patties on broiler rack. Top each patty with a slice of Swiss cheese. Insert broiler pan and rack so top of patties is three inches from heat. Broil until cheese is melted slightly.

Place two tablespoons sauerkraut-caraway mixture on bottom half of each bun. Place sausage patty and cheese on sauerkraut. Top each with three slices pimiento - stuffed olives. Add top half of bun. Serve hot with carrot sticks and corn chips. Makes six sandwiches.

OH BOY FARM BOY
1 1/2 pounds fresh (bulk) pork sausage
2 to 3 tps. water
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1/2 cup well-drained, chopped sauerkraut

1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/2 cup finely chopped onions
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
2 small cloves garlic, finely chopped
1 15-inch loaf French bread, split in half
1 8-oz. pkg. sliced cheese, cut in half diagonally

Combine evaporated milk, egg, beef, cracker crumbs, salt, onions, green pepper and garlic. Blend together until well mixed. Form meat mixture into two long patties. Place on loaf halves, covering completely.

Place loaf halves on broiler pans. Broil 5 to 7 inches from heat about 15 minutes, or to taste. Top with cheese slices. Broil until cheese bubbles, 1 to 2 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

FLAKE-FRIED SANDWICHES
6 sandwiches, meat or fish filling
4 cups corn flakes
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tps. milk

Cut crust from sandwiches; cut each into three strips. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Combine eggs and milk. Dip sandwich tips into egg mixture; roll in corn flakes crumbs.

Fry in small amount of heated shortening or butter until golden brown and crisp on all sides. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Cold Summer Soup Proves Refreshing

Ice cold orange soup is the most refreshing summer menu item imaginable. Fresh - frozen orange juice concentrate gives this consommé its irresistible color and flavor.

The handy little six-ounce can - so easy to store and so convenient to use for breakfast juice, in summer punches, salad dressings and ice cream sauces - is a treasure store of valuable vitamin C required daily by children and adults alike to maintain glowing good health. Summer's outdoor activities, as well as the heat itself, deplete our energy reserves, and the natural vitamin C contained in frozen orange juice concentrate, a wholly pure product, gives a quick refreshing pickup.

The Scandinavian countries of the North and tropical countries, too, are known for their cold soup specialties, and citrus juices flavor some of the best. This recipe for chilled orange juice consommé is so easy, and it's sure to delight and surprise your family and friends.

JELLED ORANGE SOUP
1 can (6 ozs.) frozen Florida

orange juice concentrate
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 tps. lime juice
Reconstitute orange juice concentrate according to label directions. Sprinkle gelatin on 1/2 cup of the concentrate in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in remaining frozen orange juice concentrate and lime juice. Pour into an 8-inch square pan; chill until firm. To serve, spoon into serving dishes or whip with a fork. Serve with lime slices and mint. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

WHIPPED FRUITED CONSUMME
1 can (10 1/2 ozs.) condensed consommé
2 tps. orange juice
Sour cream
Grated orange rind

In bowl, combine consommé and orange juice. Place in refrigerator until jelled—at least four hours. With fork, whip consommé lightly. Serve in chilled bowls; top with sour cream and orange rind. Makes two to three servings.

Cream Blends Vary, Enhance

Put some spring into your Summer menus!

Rich, delicious cream is the perfect partner at mealtime, snack time, any time you want to serve special dishes. You'll find, too, that whipped cream has the wonderful attribute of making any dessert look more elegant, taste more delightful.

Cream teams up with many different foods. Cream and cereal, cream and coffee, cream and fresh fruits are just a few of the long line of creamy favorites leading the list. What new ideas of your own can you add?

To whip cream, it's best to have the bowl and whipper chilled, and the cream at refrigerator temperature (40 to 50 degrees). To achieve a fine-textured product that will hold its stiffness, whip cream rapidly with an efficient whipper or beater. Add sugar and flavorings when the cream is partially whipped to insure uniform flavoring and prevent over-whipping the cream. (Over-whipping will turn the cream into butter.)

If the whipped cream is to be used as a frosting, it is best to add a stabilizing agent to the cream. To stabilize a pint of whipping cream, soften 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water.

Dissolve in 1/4 cup heated heavy cream, then chill thoroughly before whipping. To whip, first partially whip the remaining 3/4 cups of cream (1 pint of cream is 2 cups), then fold in the gelatin-whipped cream mixture along with 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla or lemon juice.

WHIPPED FRUITED CONSUMME
1 can (10 1/2 ozs.) condensed consommé
2 tps. orange juice
Sour cream
Grated orange rind

In bowl, combine consommé and orange juice. Place in refrigerator until jelled—at least four hours. With fork, whip consommé lightly. Serve in chilled bowls; top with sour cream and orange rind. Makes two to three servings.

They wore gowns of pink peau de sole with circlet hats having a flat bow and shadow veil at the back. Dana Harrison, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. ### HINTS FROM HELOISE

Try Ironing Board For Portable Table

Dear Heloise: Here's a hint for using a portable sewing machine:

Lower your adjustable ironing board so that it will be the correct height when you are sitting on a chair, and place your sewing machine on the wide end of the board.

This leaves you with space at the other end of the ironing board for all sorts of things.

You can press all your seams on the smaller end of the board without even getting off that chair! . . . Kathryn M.

Now, why haven't I ever thought of that? And even after trying it, know what? The cushion on my ironing board even absorbed the noise.

Best yet, I had only one table to clean! Heloise

Dear Heloise: Recently I purchased a new mail box. After I removed my old, hanging, wall-type mail box, I painted it and filled it with no-longer-choice artificial flowers.

I hung it on the patio wall and it is very attractive. . . Mrs. J. O. Pope

Dear Heloise: My Man Friday is a TV tray.

table. It goes with me from room to room as I clean and dust.

Articles are transferred to the tray from table tops, shelves, and drawers to wherever they are to be cleaned, and then returned to where they belong.

Just try it once and you will find how convenient and helpful these trays are in many ways. . . L. D.

Dear Heloise: When I open canned fruit (peaches, apricots, pineapple or pears) I pour the heavy syrup into empty, clean cartons and put the cartons in my freezer.

This juice can be colored different colors with food coloring if desired, and it makes a nice block of ice to put in punch, tea, etc. It looks pretty in a large punch bowl and children enjoy it.

The best part is that your punch doesn't get watery from melted ice. . . Mary W. Allen

And have you ever heard of using leftover coffee this way? Sure makes for a good glass of iced coffee. It won't dilute the coffee and make it taste watery. . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: With regard to the lady who wrote about turning an almost empty bottle of catsup upside down on top of another bottle to salvage the last bit of catsup, I have gone one step further.

I used to balance one bottle on top of the other but now I save a cardboard roll from toilet tissue and place it over the neck of the bottle which I want the catsup to go into, and insert the top of the almost-empty bottle in the upper end of the roll.

This keeps the necks of both bottles exactly in line and no spills or drips. . . Mrs. James Shields

Oh, Mrs. Shields, this is about the trickiest idea ever. It also works on chili sauce bottles. It is absolutely amazing that this little cardboard roll holds the necks of two bottles in place perfectly.

Also, every iota of sauce came out, leaving the top bottle slick and clean as a whistle. . . Heloise

Beatles News Conference Not Such Hard Day's Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The news conference was scheduled for 7:15 p.m., and at precisely 7:15 the Beatles walked through the door.

A couple hundred newsmen crowded onto the floor of the Cinnamon Clinker, a San Fernando Valley night club for teenagers, while a hundred or more young girls stood atop platforms and booths on the periphery. One of these was a close relative, blonde and 16, posing as my assistant.

The Beatles, smoking cigarettes and looking world-weary, disappeared in a mass of photographers.

"George has the prettiest hair," observed my assistant.

After minutes of shooting, the photographers were admonished to sit down so the news conference could start. It was more minutes before this was accomplished. Then the questions began.

How long does it take Beatles

John and Paul to write their songs?

"It depends. Sometimes an hour, sometimes as long as two days. 'A Hard Day's Night' was written overnight because the producer said he wanted a title tune in a hurry."

Do they ever worry about their safety?

"No, because the fans have never gotten to us. We won't be concerned until they trample us to the floor. The only time we really worry is when protection is inadequate, as in New Zealand, where there were three policemen to handle a crowd of 8,000.

What about reports they were crazy about Ann-Margret?"

"None of us know her. None of us, including Ringo, has even talked to her on the telephone. It must have been the work of her press agent."

Is Beatle John writing another book?

"Yes."

What is the nicest place

It's 'Cowboy' Ringo!

Drummer Ringo Starr of the mop-haired Beatles goes western with a big black hat, a cigar and toy six-shooter as he poses at the plush mansion in suburban Bel-Air where the British singers are hiding out from their admiring fans. ## Flow Of Dollars Slower For Latins

NEW YORK (AP)—Yankee tourist dollars have been flowing freely to Mexico and the Caribbean but South America is getting comparatively few of them. And with American tourism a growing industry, wooed by many countries, the continent to the south may be missing a good bet.

That is the opinion of banking economists specializing in the financial relations of the Western Hemisphere. Their conclusion is that South American countries just aren't trying hard enough to get their share.

Americans last year spent $448 million in Mexico. U.S. travelers, mostly tourists, spent $150 million in 1963 in the Caribbean area. About 100,000 Americans spent $56 million traveling in South America, and a good part of that probably was spent on business trips rather than tourist jaunts.

The South American share of the total U.S. expenditure on tourist travel last year was only 2.5 per cent, little changed in the last five years when American travel abroad was increasing by leaps and bounds.

The Department of Commerce reports U.S. residents last year spent $3.2 billion in travel out of the country, much for pleasure though some for business. This was a gain of 11 per cent over 1962.

Admittedly, Mexico and the islands to the south have the advantage of closeness and less expensive transportation cost. But economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York say that equally important have been the efforts made to attract tourists. These include advertising and setting up information centers in the United States, as well as upgrading hotel, dining and transportation facilities.

The bank economists report: "Last year, Mexican exports totaled $982 million, while tourism from all countries pulled in some $655 million. This permitted the country to show a $144-million surplus in its overall balance of payments."

Jamaica is another example. Its total merchandise exports last year came to $26 million, but receipts from U.S. tourists were $40 million.

The economists say Venezuela and Colombia have made some efforts to get in on the gravy, but the rest of South America has done very little.

Stolen Bootery Easy To Spot

PARK FOREST, Ill. (AP)—A policeman took one look at a 14-year-old boy here and concluded he was wearing a shoe stolen 12 days ago from a local department store.

The shoe, which the youth was wearing over his regular shoe, was a display model — size 25D, weighed three pounds, was 20 inches long and had a sole 3/4 inches thick. He said another boy gave it to him.

Refuses To Halt Orders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Byron White of the Supreme Court Wednesday refused three requests that he block orders for new legislative elections in Oklahoma.

He turned down requests for stays made in three motions by several state senators, six members of the Oklahoma House of Representatives and by the Oklahoma Farm Bureau.

White made no comment about his actions, merely writing "stay denied," across the face of each request.

A special three judge U.S. district court in Oklahoma City on Aug. 7 voided most of last ## spring's primary elections in Oklahoma and declared legislative seats vacant effective as of Nov. 18.

The special court's action was based on U.S. Supreme Court rulings that both houses of all state legislatures must be based on population.

Bystanders See Burglar At Work

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—A thief broke the side window of a station wagon and stole $6,000 worth of clothing in broad daylight while three persons watched, police reported.

None of them reported the theft and officers quoted one of them as saying later that he did not want to get involved.

The clothing, suits and topcoats, belonged to a salesman

Asiatic Soviet Republic Shakes Off Moslem Ties

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP)—The crumbling or converted mosque is a symbol in Uzbekistan, which with 10 million people is the most populous of the four Soviet republics of Central Asia.

Women were in the background in Moslem times. Now they represent a vital component of Uzbekistan's labor force.

"The official Communist party line is that most people have abandoned religion because of social and economic progress, plus expansion of public education."

"But a certain section of the population continues to profess Islam and freely performs all religious rites," says official literature.

The laws of the republic ostensibly provide for freedom of religion and freedom of antireligious propaganda. But it's easy to see which has had the most powerful impact. You find decaying and locked-up mosques. Others have been converted into apartment houses, libraries, shopping centers, movies and public monuments.

The term "monument" is sometimes a euphemism. One mosque in Bukhara, described as a monument by the local guide, turns out to be a pool hall.

The authorities say 250

mosques operate in Soviet Central Asia. However, some are only makeshift or part-time ones.

While there is no authoritative figure on the number of practicing Moslems in Uzbekistan, one is told there are some 20 million in the U.S.S.R.

Periodically new editions of the Koran are published here. In 1956 there was a printing of 4,000 copies and in 1960 one of 5,000.

While most of Uzbekistan's religious training schools have been closed or converted into museums, one still operates in Bukhara. It has 35 to 40 students.

Vice Premier Sarvar Azimov of Uzbekistan says that when a mosque is closed it is usually at the request of the congregation.

Pair Visits Texans; Crush Breaks Out

ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—President Johnson's surprise visit to the Texas delegation early today attracted such a crush of spectators that delegates locked arms to protect the presidential party.

Several persons were pushed to their knees as a crowd that gathered around the Texas delegation attempted to get closer to Johnson and to the vice presidential nominee, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. There were several scuffles between those on the inside of the group and others wanting to get inside.

Mrs. John Connally, wife of the governor, was pinned against a row of seats until delegates boosted her over the backs of the seats to a safe place inside the delegation.

Several state patrolmen and Secret Service agents formed a protective ring around the President while Mrs. Johnson and their daughters, Lynda and Luci, escaped to one side.

CLOSE ONE

"Whew, that was a close one," Connally said later.

Connally was in the President's box at the close of the convention session shortly after midnight. He signaled the Texas delegation to stay in its seats. In a few minutes, Mrs. Johnson, Lynda and Luci appeared and began shaking hands.

"Where's Uncle Merrill," Lynda said in asking for the governor's brother, Merrill Connally.

"We just came down to see you boys," Humphrey said as he was pushed into the delegation area by the crowd.

Johnson began shaking hands and kissed several women acquaintances from Texas on the cheek.

"I'm proud and pleased of this Texas delegation," the President said as he made a futile attempt to speak amid the shouting and shouting.

Later Connally explained that the President said to him that the entire Texas delegation could not be invited to the President's box "so I want to go down there and say 'hello' to my Texas friends."

TWO SPEECHES

Connally made one of the two nominating speeches for Johnson and introduced the President after the nomination vote.

Connally said he had no comment on the nomination of Humphrey except to say, as he has several times, that he and the delegation would be pleased and delighted with anyone the President supported and selected. He said Johnson did not tell him definitely beforehand who was the choice for the vice presidential nominee.

"In a way I have known for a couple of weeks it probably would be Sen. Humphrey, but in another way I did not know until today," Connally said.

Connally said he would remain here through the final day of the convention. There have been reports Connally might be chosen for a high role in Johnson's campaign, perhaps leaving most of his gubernatorial campaign to his friends and associates in Texas.

Plane Flames But No Injuries

DALLAS (AP)—A Delta DC8 jet, its landing wheels locked, landed at Love Field Wednesday and the tires of the left landing gear wheels burst into flames as the plane touched down.

The plane remained upright. Firemen quickly put out the fire.

There were no injuries among 123 passengers and crew of seven on the plane which was en route from Atlanta to Los Angeles with a regularly scheduled stop here.

AIM TO CLAIM BROAD MIDDLE GROUND

LBJ Wants To Be Candidate For All The People

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson, who often refers to himself as "president of all the people," now wants to be candidate of all the people.

Any attempt to assess the campaign tactics of the just-nominated Democratic standard bearer is apt to founder unless weighed against Johnson's aim to claim the broad middle ground on the political battlefield and appeal to just about everyone.

In his contest with Sen. Barry Goldwater, Johnson will try to picture the Republican presidential nominee as being far removed from the mainstream of American political thought.

As Senate Democratic leader and during nine months as president, he has sought to represent a broad consensus of attitudes on key issues. He made it his stated policy nearly three months ago.

Addressing the graduating class at the University of Texas, Johnson said the American people share the same deep desires—for peace, justice and a better life.

"This is the real voice of America," he asserted. "And it is one of the great tasks of political leadership to make our people aware of this voice, aware that they share a fundamental unity of interest and purpose and belief."

This was a prepared-in-advance speech, which added something to the significance of his next words:

"I am going to try and do this. And on the basis of this unity, I intend to try and achieve a broad national consensus which can end obstruction and paralysis, and can liberate the energies of the nation for the work of the future."

However, lest anyone get the idea from this that Johnson plans a nonpartisan campaign, it is well to recall his off-the-cuff remarks at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Minneapolis, Minn., on June 27.

From the moment he became President last Nov. 22 upon the assassination of John F. Kennedy, Johnson has energetically sought the backing of all segments of the populace.

More than any Democrat in recent decades, Johnson has achieved a signal success in wooing influential business leaders. Henry Ford II is a notable example. This auto magnate never before backed a Democrat for the presidency, but he's backing Johnson.

BALANCING ACT

Any attempt to build a consensus inevitably involves a delicate balancing act — something at which Johnson is an old hand.

But if Johnson now has friends that would have seemed unlikely nine months ago, he also has lost friends.

Although his steadfast support for the civil rights cause has cost him some support, he is counting on his personal assessment that the ideal of racial justice is supported by the great majority of voters. And he rarely fails to appeal directly to those who resist the idea.

Racial justice is a key goal of Johnson's Great Society which, he says, would bring "abundance and liberty for all."

The Great Society also represents the better life—"a place where every family has a roof over its head, a rug on the floor, a picture on the wall and a little music in the house."

And he is deeply committed to his anti-poverty program which Goldwater has labeled a "vote-getting scheme."

There are other Great Society proposals, too, that surely will be debated during the campaign: health insurance for the aged, aid to education, expanded minimum wage coverage; in fact, a broad gamut of social measures. And the Republicans have made it clear that they will be talking about foreign policy.

ECONOMY

Greater stress on economy in government is one of the personal touches that Johnson has added to the program he inherited from Kennedy. The poverty program also was fashioned under his direction.

He undertook at least one other major initiative in the domestic field: his efforts, successful against great odds, to avert the threat of a national rail strike last winter.

Yet Johnson has expended most of his energy in behalf of inherited measures: the biggest tax cut in history, the broadest civil rights law in a century and a variety of lesser items.

For the early enactment of these, Johnson can claim much of the credit. In foreign affairs, Johnson swung into 1964 promising an "unrelenting peace offensive."

This has yet to bear significant fruit. At midyear, he spent a lot of time trying to avert war over Cyprus between Greece and Turkey.

And, throughout the year, he wrestled with other crises — and more ominous ones — in Laos and Viet Nam, as well as flare-ups in Panama and Cuba.

Have nine months in the White House changed Lyndon Baines Johnson? There are small signs of change.

Johnson's oft-repeated rallying cry during the early months — "I need your help" — has been muted of late. Whether this reflects a more sure-footed Johnson or simply the passing of a time of national crisis isn't entirely clear.

FAST PACE SURE FOR FIRST LADY

Campaigning Nothing New For Lady Bird Johnson

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Another campaign is nothing new for Lady Bird Johnson. She's thrived on them for 27 years.

In the nine months she's served as the nation's 32nd First Lady, Mrs. Johnson traveled about 35,000 miles across America, helping to promote the administration of her husband, President Johnson.

She barely paused from official and political travel to get to the convention.

Even before his nomination, Johnson was asked if his wife was going to campaign for him. "She is — and she will," he said emphatically.

Some idea of the pace she maintains was shown in Mrs. Johnson's recent four-day Western tour in which she kept up an 18-hour-a-day schedule.

And last week when she went to dedicate Campobello, summer home of the late President

Franklin D. Roosevelt, as an international park, she also squeezed in a visit to a depressed area in Eastport, Maine, and went to Burlington, Vt., to congratulate Vermont's State Commission on the Status of Women.

HAVE STAMINA

Watching her in a receiving line that stretched through the Jackson Lake Lodge at Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming — 1,000 people long — the wife of a Republican mayor, with some experience of her own, commented: "She'd have to have stamina to shake hands like that."

At 51, black-haired, brown-eyed Mrs. Johnson continues to have unusual energy and enthusiasm for the tasks of greeting constituents and "people seeing," as she calls her trips. And, she has a dogged devotion to duty.

One reason for her trips, Mrs.

Johnson explains, is that "statistics only come alive when you see the people behind them."

As a political wife, she probably holds the title "best-qualified" from experience alone.

She got a $10,000 advance on her inheritance from her father to back Johnson's first congressional campaign in 1937 — and she's been busy backing him ever since.

Catapulted into the White House upon the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, she took on the role of First Lady with the smoothness and ease of long training in Washington ways.

It is generally agreed that not since Eleanor Roosevelt, has a First Lady taken on so much or involved herself so keenly in her husband's projects. Mrs. Johnson also serves as an extra set of eyes and ears to keep her man in the White House in formed.

LADY BIRD JOHNSON
PREDECESSOR
Mrs. Johnson has carried on and embellished the best of the pattern set by her predecessor, Jacqueline Kennedy, in maintaining the refurbished White House and bringing top artists to perform before visiting heads of state.

There also has been a step-up in the entertaining and the number of receptions and luncheons. The Johnsons have brought a cross-section of America — from labor and business leaders to artists, writers, educators and statesmen to meet in the formal parlors and in their own upstairs family quarters.

Once Mrs. Johnson explained that for so many years "I've been on the other side, asking people to do things for Lyndon and the party. Now I feel I have an obligation to them."

Beside the social-cultural aspects, Mrs. Johnson has added an interest in administration projects as well.

She has tried to promote her husband's war against poverty and prejudice and has encouraged women to take a widening role. In commencement speeches she has urged that those lucky enough to be educated should turn their talents "to teaching others."

"Remember that education is a loan to be repaid by gift to self," she says.

Of a larger role for women, she has said: "Women can do much in their civic life. They can alert citizens to be interested in the affairs of their city. They can push and prod legislators. They can raise sights and set standards."

She has saluted communities working with the federal government to improve housing health, and living conditions and has warned that "if the city is a jungle, the child may turn out to be a wolf cub."

CONSERVATION

On the recent Western tour, Mrs. Johnson put the spotlight on conservation and recreation and urged Americans to see America first.

"The easy way, the easy life is no longer the good life and the good people of the world know they can no longer afford to live it," the President's wife told Radcliffe College.

And, she maintains, "in a country as free and rich as America, no one should be held back because he was born to a poor family or in a poor neighborhood, or because of the color of his skin."

Mrs. Johnson has overcome her own shyness and with some professional help has been perfecting a smooth delivery of speeches, which lately have been taking on a more political tinge.

Barry Hurl's Guerrilla War Into Campaign

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater sought privacy at sea today after thrusting the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam squarely into his campaign against President Johnson.

While the Democratic National Convention nominated Johnson and chose Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota to run with the President, the Republican nominee for the White House cruised the waters off Southern California.

Lolling against the stern rail of a borrowed 83-foot yacht Wednesday, Goldwater:

— Declared he thinks the Johnson administration is trying to negotiate a settlement of the Southeast Asian fighting before Election Day; said that timing would be wrong and added he fears such an agreement would be a giveaway to the Communists.

— Said some form of negotiations with Red China "might be profitable" — when pro-Western forces can deal from a position of strength in Southeast Asia.

— Labeled the U.S.-backed war against Communists in South Viet Nam an issue of major concern to the voters in the presidential race.

SETTLEMENT

Goldwater, striking a theme he raised in Cleveland, Ohio, two days ago, said he expects to hear "most any day" of a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam.

The senator told reporters at the floating news conference in Catalina Island's Avalon harbor his "political bones" tell him word of negotiations can be expected before Election Day.

"I hope it's not a giveaway to the Communists," he said. "I suspect that's what it will be if we have one."

Goldwater said this is not the time for peace talks. "Before any negotiations are begun that involve us directly or indirectly, we must improve our military position," he said. "I don't think the military situation is such that we have much to bargain with."

Goldwater said he read a newspaper report forecasting negotiations for peace in South Viet Nam. He mentioned a Central Intelligence Agency report, saying it also talked of negotiations.

He said that "is the typical pattern" used to prepare the public for an announcement that negotiations have been held.

"I feel from that that we are considering it and we are closer to it than Congress or the public realize," he said.

PARTICIPATION

Goldwater said any future negotiations should involve as little Communist participation as possible.

But he indicated Red China would have to play a part in any settlement negotiations.

"I've thought for some time that a talk like that with the Red Chinese might be profitable," he said.

But, he added: "I don't think we can possibly come out of any negotiations now with the honorable type of peace which would be honorable to Viet Nam and honorable to those men of ours who fought and died over there."

The enemy should be the one, actually, that should institute negotiations, Goldwater said, "unless through the United Nations you can find interest in both sides."

Through press secretary Paul Wagner he relayed a clarification of his comments on negotiating with the Communist Chinese.

Wagner said Goldwater, on a ship-to-shore phone, declared that was not his suggestion, but one advanced by military men and civilian experts.

IMPROVED

These advisors, Wagner quoted Goldwater as saying, recommended that when the South Vietnamese military situation is improved, the United States send word to Red China demanding that nations stop sending supplies that end up in the hands of Communist guerrillas.

If the Chinese do not halt shipments, Wagner said Goldwater told him, the United States could stage a show of strength to underline its intentions.

Goldwater, in red pants and a white polo shirt, said he plans to spend his vacation days fishing, working a portable ham radio set, and preparing the speech with which he will formally launch his campaign at Prescott, Ariz., on Sept. 3.

The senator and his wife plan to stay on the yacht Sundance until Aug. 31.

A Devotional For The Day

Whoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple. (Luke 14:27.)
PRAYER: O God save us from the danger of drifting. Give us grace to choose Christ as our Savior and Lord. Help us this day to renew our vow of loyalty that we may serve Thee faithfully. We ask it in the name of our Master. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

No Compromise

The Democrats near an end of their convention, which has suffered in excitement perceptibly by lack of major conflict except over a couple of delegations.
By imposing the expedient of a loyalty pledge, the Alabama problem was largely resolved. This did not achieve the same results in the case of a majority of the Mississippi delegation, and an effort to compromise fell far short. The Mississippi regulars understandably took the position that they should not be singled out for the loyalty requirement, for it might logically be required of all delegates. The problem in this particular instance was some assurance that votes cast for the party would be in effect counted for the national nominees and not be left to the caprice of the individual delegates.

Actually the rival delegation from the Freedom Democratic party had little basis for being seated regardless of what happened to the regular delegation. The issues might have been better separated. As a practical matter, there was little prospect that Mississippi would end up in the national Democratic fold in November regardless of what happened at the convention.

Aim On Excise Taxes

The excise tax weather vane at the Treasury Department made a noteworthy swing the other day. Political winds may have contributed much to the shift, but it is of considerable interest all the same.

Secretary Dillon told Democratic party platform writers that many excise taxes are "an unnecessary nuisance to taxpayers and government alike." Anyone who thinks this sounds a good deal like what Republicans were saying some months ago is right. The Republicans staged a drive to eliminate some excises altogether, but at that time the administration opposed such a move.

The administration's stated reason for opposition, at the time of the effort in Congress, was that it was too early to cut out the excises, more study was suggested. The administration, through Dillon, is still suggesting more study. But apparently the timetable has been moved up and the administration is now talking of excise tax relief when it is "warranted by our economic and budgetary position."

Whether or not this shift in the Treasury position is dictated by election year politics, the fact is that a thoroughgoing revision of the excise tax structure is long overdue. Dillon now is saying that "next year is the time." Thus Democrats and Republicans seem to be drawing closer together on this point.

That is all to the good. Dillon properly describes the excise taxes, levied at various times since as far back as World War II, as a "hodgepodge." The hodgepodge needs to be put in order, and some of the taxes should be repealed. It is encouraging to find both major parties in substantial agreement on this.

Marquis Childs When The News Is Bad News

ATLANTIC CITY—News is, almost by definition, bad news. This is something that politicians, and in particular the man who is President of the United States, finds it difficult to understand.

A lot of grouching by the news media has been over the bland and outwardly harmonious surface the Democrats were determined to present at their convention. This is the way President Johnson wanted it, and the eruptions were in spite of the hours and hours that he and his faithful slaves spent in the effort to damp down controversy.

THE JOHNSON psychology has been called the "poor boy syndrome." He wants everything and more, and more and more than that. He wants the North and the South. But there are deep divisions of principle that, if they are compromised for reasons of expediency, may in the upshot defeat the compromisers.

For all his nearly 30 years in active political life and his astute knowledge of the political tides, Johnson has never understood the way the news media function. He is full of righteous indignation when the press fails to report the good, the true and the beautiful in his administration. "You all write about the white backlash," he tells his visitors. "Why don't you write about the Republican frontlash?"

HE MEETS with a head of government and, say, reaches 75 per cent agreement, 25 per cent disagreement. The headlines are on the 25 per cent and the President is indignant. He explodes in earthy vernacular at the magnification of the few blemishes on the otherwise fair face of order and harmony.

In short, he has little comprehension of the role of the press as independent judge and critic. This is one characteristic he shares with his opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater. Goldwater carries his resentment of the press so far as to be convinced that he is the victim of a conspiracy, with the so-called liberal press as part of the Eastern establishment out to do him in.

THE PRESIDENT'S indignation is for private consumption. As a veteran of the political wars, he knows it is futile—and perhaps worse than futile—to belabor the news media with public scorn. But it is obvious that reporting the pros and cons of the coming campaign, trying to paint the picture, waris and all, will be more than hazardous this year.

Judging by all indicators, the President has almost everything going for him at this stage of the game. But in the nature of things the chorus cannot sing entirely in harmony. And to give too much time and attention to the sour notes is to miss the great themes that can unite a troubled people in a time of confusion and uncertainty.

Billy Graham

Everyone I talk to has a different answer for what a person must do to be saved. I am going around in circles. Can you tell me what is the simplest and most direct path to take, or is it as complicated as my friends have said?

When Paul was asked this question, he said: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." Now, that does not only mean that we trust in the righteousness of God's Son, imputed to us through faith—but it also means that we are to believe and do all that He requires.

It means that we are to be forgiving, unselfish, free from prejudices, led by His Spirit, and full of Christian compassion. Since it is obvious that we cannot do this in our unregenerate state, then it is necessary that we be converted first. Good works are not the qualification of a Christian; they are rather the result of being "in Christ." Except there is life there can be no fruit, and all the good fruit you could gather and lay before a dead vine could never give it life. The Bible says we are "dead in trespasses and sin." Christ said: "I am come, that they might have first; Christ: second, good works. Jesus said: 'As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye; EXCEPT YE ABIDE IN ME.'"

THOSE WESTERNS ALWAYS END THAT WAY

James Marlow Humphrey May Match LBJ's Ceaseless Energy

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, more than any other Democrat in sight, can match President Johnson in ceaseless energy and working with Congress.

It was hardly a coincidence that Johnson, who Wednesday night told the Democratic convention he wanted the Minnesota senator for his vice presidential running mate, let this be known earlier in the week: If elected, he wants to make more use of his vice president than any president ever did.

HUMPHREY is a real pro in government: Even the Republican leader of the Senate, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, called him "the most professional of professionals."

Humphrey has extremely broad support among Democrats across the country, although not so much in the South which remembers he was the one who led the 1964 Civil Rights bill to passage in Congress.

Last July the Associated Press conducted a nationwide poll among delegates to this convention on their vice presidential preference. Humphrey topped the list.

By waiting until the last minute to reveal his choice of a partner in this year's campaign, Johnson was able to sound out opinion and see what groups wanted him to pick the man to ride with him.

ORGANIZED LABOR backs Humphrey. Negroes trust him. He's a shining figure to liberals. Dirksen called him "the modern liberal," a phrase which may look simple but isn't.

Where some congressional liberals appear inflexible in demands and positions, Humphrey without sacrificing principles is willing to compromise on issues to get at least part of what he urges.

He wasn't always that way. When he first came to the Senate in 1949 he was the arch-type of the inflexible liberal, both brash and talkative. He is still talkative. But otherwise there is a difference, as he explained:

"If I believe in something, I will fight for it with all I have. But I do not demand all or nothing. Professional liberals want the fiery debate. They glory in defeat, a sort of political masochism."

"THE HARDEST job for a politician today is to have the courage to be moderate. It is easy to take an extreme position."

But, as Johnson himself said some weeks ago, there were also these factors in his choice of a man who would succeed him if he died:

"I think we want the person that is equipped to handle the duties of the vice presidency, and the presidency, if that awesome responsibility should ever fall upon him. I would like to see a man that is experienced in foreign relations and domestic affairs."

HE HAS BECOME an advocate of business-government partnership, meeting with board chairmen, corporation presidents, brokers and bankers, which is what Johnson has done, too.

His biggest achievement, perhaps, was getting through Congress this year's civil rights bill, the strongest measure of its kind in this century.

When Johnson signed it into law and addressed the nation about it, he gave Humphrey a copy of his talk and on the back wrote this note: "To Hubert Humphrey — without whom it couldn't have happened."

Hal Boyle Perils Of War Memories

NEW YORK (AP) — War is evil. War is ugly. War is wrong.

Most of all, however, war is boring and wasteful.

But now and then the long black hours of boredom in war are broken by a bright moment of pure poetry.

Such a moment came 20 years ago this week when French and American troops "liberated" Paris. Actually, Paris itself was not so much liberated as they themselves were freed. To the soldiers, worn from the green hell of Normandy hedgerows, the wide boulevards of "The City of Light" seemed like paths through paradise.

TIME GIVES most of us more midnights than mornings. But to anyone who was in Paris on Aug. 25, 1944, that date remains indelibly engraved in his mind as one of the milestones of his life.

Paris at any time is a delight to the eye of any boy from Elmville, U.S.A., but on liberation day it was also an utter ecstasy of the spirit.

Everybody was laughing, everybody was young. All the girls were pretty and kissable, and there were no bottoms to the wine bottles.

There was no difference between day and night, and it seemed like the celebrating would go on forever.

OF COURSE, it couldn't—and it didn't. That blinding morning of happiness finally wore out. The people of Paris went back to work, you had to start paying for the wine, and war again became a long, slow, boring, plodding trudge toward victory.

The other evening a group of graying ex-soldiers and paunchy former war correspondents met at the Overseas Press Club in New York and rekindled briefly the lost rapture of liberation day in Paris.

"Remember when—" said one fellow.

"Yes, and remember when" said another fellow, who couldn't quite remember the first fellow's name.

In a way it was sad, as most reunions are. It is hard to warm the heart over the ashes of a 20-year-old bonfire. And missing were such familiar figures as Ernie Pyle, "Red" Knickerbocker, Ernest Hemingway, A. J. Liebling, Clark Lee and Bob Capa, all gone down time's draft.

LOOKING BACK across the last two decades, I can think of no one who knew better the dangers of war and perils of peace than Ernie Pyle. Numbled himself by the horrors of combat, he wrote shortly before the liberation of Paris:

"All of us together will have to learn how to reassemble our broken world into a pattern so firm and so fair that another great war cannot soon be possible."

Submersion in war does not necessarily qualify a man to be the master of the peace. All we can do is fumble and try once more—try out of the memory of our anguish—and be as tolerant with each other as we can."

To Your Good Health With Allergy, Suspect Everything

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Do you believe in skin tests for an allergy? What is the difference, if any, between an allergy affecting eyes, nose, and sinuses? I feel better when I'm outdoors.

—A. L.
Yes, I certainly believe in skin tests but I'd be wrong if I said that you can run a series of them and expect to have all the answers.

"Allergy" is another way of saying that a person is hypersensitive to something he eats, smells, touches or breathes. Skin tests are very helpful but even a substantial series can cover only several dozen or several scores of the common offenders. It takes time to test for several hundred. Yet the total number of substances which can (in some people) cause allergy certainly runs into thousands and perhaps more.

Skin tests can identify (or eliminate) the things known to affect a lot of people. But beyond that, you must rely on observation (or "detective work"), your allergist's trained instincts, logical process of elimination, and — yes — luck.

Roughly speaking, allergy follows patterns. Pollens and other things we breathe cause "hay fever," meaning symptoms of nose and eyes. Things we touch tend to cause skin irritation at the point of contact. Food allergies upset the digestive tract, but can cause swelling of lips or throat, or a rash to appear on the skin anywhere.

Something in the air can affect the eyes and not the nose, or vice versa. Food allergy can cause wheezing. Allergy obviously is very complicated, and far from wholly understood.

You must add this fact: The person with allergies is not necessarily sensitive to just one thing. Indeed, it is usual to find that he is sensitive to several, and perhaps to many. The degree of sensitivity varies from person to person, too.

So with allergy, employ all means of detecting the things to which you are sensitive. Do what you can to avoid the major ones, or to have desensitization treatment. You may not achieve total and complete relief, but if you can solve even part of the problem, you will have fewer attacks and less severe ones.

With allergy, you have to suspect EVERYTHING. Fortunately, some substances are much more likely to cause trouble, and that is why skin sensitivity tests are so useful.

NOTE TO MRS. D. S.: I see no reason why you should not have mild tranquilizers during pregnancy, since your doctor has consulted other doctors and they agree.

Around The Rim

Science In Detection

The first time I saw the records department of the local police department, it consisted of one four-drawer file cabinet standing in the corner of a storage room. There was no officer in charge of it, but several spent as much time as possible keeping what there was of it in order.

The fingerprinting equipment seemed little better than the type youngsters now get for Christmas in toy detective sets. The police department was understaffed and under-equipped, and there was no time or manpower available, even if equipment had been made available, to have an adequate identification and records section. This was only 11 years ago.

BUT THEN great steps were taken. A new police building was built and ample room set aside for such a department. Even with this, a man had to be found who could organize and manage such a department, complete with photography, fingerprinting know-how, and other records-keeping. He was found, and in a short time, the volume of work all but inundated him.

In recent years, he has been provided with an assistant and this phase of police work in Big Spring continues to win plaudits from visiting police officers, FBI instructors, as well as instructors from the extension service of Texas A&M.

THE DEPARTMENT has a complete photographic equipped department, and the city commission has made the money available to expand the records area to meet the growing volume of work. For as the city has grown in size, the number of persons coming in contact with police has increased. This department, as much as any other, has felt this increase sharply.

TWO OFFICERS continue to match the pace set by this growth. Time and again, the records kept current by them have spelled the difference concerning the apprehension of a wanted person, whereas in former days, it would have been unlikely, if not impossible.

It is a department of little glamor and it is rarely in the spotlight. For here, the word "science" takes on true meaning in police work. Although matching up fingerprints is often taken for granted in our modern society, this is not an easy task. It takes considerable training and a lot of time to match up prints. This is one of the busiest departments in the police building. The men have their hands full.

IN A RELATIVELY few years, this department has grown from almost nothing, to a full-fledged modern, well-staffed, well-equipped department. A model for cities the size of Big Spring.

Holmes Alexander How To Rise From A Bed Of Nails

WASHINGTON — Maybe the best kind of conservation is human conservation. But it takes the two-way stretch of cooperation. Our do-gooders get reams of publicity and much political mileage out of trying to save those who resist salvation and who refuse their cooperation—the criminals, the drop-outs, the second and third generation relief clients and a good many foreign governments. But the other day the House Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs heard from a hard-luck group which wants to get up from its bed-of-nails and walk back to work.

THEY WERE witnesses representing close to 4,000 American businessmen, individual and corporate, who claim to have lost $1.5 billion by Castro's seizure of their Cuban-based properties.

JULIUS SHEPARD of Miami built the Hotel Capri in Havana, opened it in 1938 and was there when the Communist troopers tramped in and took it over. On personal promise by Che Guevara that repayment would be made, Mr. Shepard made a round trip to Miami where he borrowed $100,000 from the banks to pay the back wages of his waiters and other obligations. Guevara left him whistling for a settlement, and Mr. Shepard has paid off all but $12,000 of the debts he incurred. Does he want to quit? No, he hopes to get a loan out of Foreign Aid funds to build another hotel in Nicaragua, Columbia or the Dominican Republic.

MARITA DEARING of Chattanooga went to Cuba as a child with her parents, married there worked there, lost her bank account of nearly $95,000, her furniture, heirlooms and personal documents. She told the subcommittee, which was considering a bill "to list all claims against the Cuban government," that she would probably use any reimbursement to "reinvest in some business endeavor in Latin America."

Marion Willson, native of Aberdeen, South Dakota, a three-year overseas veteran of World War II, had a poultry farm and farm-supply store near Havana. He and his family left Cuba with nothing but the clothes on their backs. Did he come crying the blues of self-pity to the House subcommittee? No. He said:

"WE DO NOT feel that the U. S. government or the taxpayers are responsible for our losses in Cuba, but since they are interested in helping their neighbors to the south, I believe that they should take advantage of the presently unused talents of experienced businessmen to solve Latin America's biggest problems which is the creation of more jobs and greater productivity."

THERE WAS a good deal more of such testimony from Americans at a level of intelligence and industriousness which is not often found among those who come to Congress for help. The common characteristics of the witnesses seemed to be that all of them had a measure of the pioneering spirit, all of them a belief that their careers were helpful both to themselves and to American interests. They had a feeling for the needs of Latin America, for the merits of the free enterprise system and had the gumption to know that their proficiency in Spanish and their experience in living among Latinos were valuable assets which ought to be kept busy.

Richard Starnes They Might As Well Stood At Home

ATLANTIC CITY — It is somehow faintly touching that the Democrats are staging their quadrennial convulsion here in the varicose capital of the world.

For, as anyone old enough to retch over a political harangue knows, the Democratic party is the party of the plain people. And the people one sees in Atlantic City are plain enough to give an ordinary mortal the Joe Blakes.

AND HERE in the epicenter of America's cantaloupe - rind Riviera, they and their Democratic demigods have found an appropriate Valhalla. Atlantic City is seedy, brash, vulgar—and has to be seen to be disbelieved. The Democrats were shrewd in picking it for their elaborate set-piece. They have always understood that wash in the mainstream of our society one could invariably find a worn-out inner tube or two, a rusting bed spring and a flitola of discarded beer cans. A dependable plurality of Americans can always be calculated to be plebeian, boorish and coarse, and to vote for the party that best appeals to these bawling instincts.

ONCE HERE, the Democrats have done nothing that could not have been foreseen by the most inept gypsy fakener on the boardwalk. President Johnson's interminable charade over his choice for vice president reaped its due harvest of headlines and frail suspense. Wayward Southern delegations have been told to shape up or ship out, just as they have been since the Democrats became uplifters. And Negro activists have been dolefully parading a horror of real and imagined grievances.

THE PLATFORM Committee dutifully coughed out a document that artfully trod a tight rope between the extreme desires of Northern liberal lip-movers and Southern reactionary yahoos.

There is no doubt that the stage managers of this dreary business saw to it that there were a few moments of high excitement before everyone sighs with relief and returns home to work hard for another four years on a government payroll.

SEN. JOHN O. PASTORE's keynote figured to send a rousing and intemperate call to battle; Mrs. Perle Mesta is throwing a whole series of bashes for the quality folks in her rented digs at nearby Ventnor, N. J.; Mahalia Jackson will sing the national anthem as if the words contain some meaning, and there will be an appropriate outpouring of pathos during the tributes to President Kennedy, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Speaker Sam Rayburn that are scheduled to end this convention.

BUT SEVERAL thousand thoughtful persons who are currently imprisoned in inferior hotel rooms are bound to leave here with the nagging doubt that this trip was really necessary. They will wonder, when Friday morning reaches Atlantic City, if it all couldn't have been done in a vigorous bout of telephoning by Big Daddy in the White House.

CHICAGO (AP)—The purchase of a condominium apartment qualifies the owner for special income tax treatment, according to Commerce Clearing House, specialists in tax law.

A condominium is an apartment building in which each dweller owns his own apartment space and proportionate share of the underlying realty on which the building stands.

If the purchaser itemizes his deductions on his tax return, he may deduct the interest and real estate taxes which he pays on the new apartment.

If he sells his residence and within the required year buys into a condominium, any gain on the first residence will be taxable only to the extent that the sales price of the old residence is more than the cost of the new one.

Under special laws recently enacted, condominium owners in 32 states and the District of Columbia can be assessed for property taxes.

Newsman Says Politics, Racial Issues Most Felt

AUSTIN (AP)—A Tennessee newspaper editor says politics and the race issue are the foremost pressures felt by editors. Frank R. Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, told a convention of college journalism educators Wednesday an editor sometimes has to choose between friends in endorsing political candidates. "Politicians, when they get elected, are the people who can get things done for your community," he told the Association for Education in Journalism convention at the University of Texas campus. The convention started Wednesday and ends Sunday.

"As an editor you are concerned about who is elected. Among the candidates for the various races in a given election will be many persons who are your friends or acquaintances. Sometimes, often in fact, you must choose between two who can make equal claims on you," he said.

"Then it is that you become so deeply conscious that your job is to establish principles which pertain only to the good of the community, and to base your decisions on those principles."

Ahlgren said racial problems aren't solved "with fiery editorials or by preaching sermons. You seek practical answers. And that requires two-way communications." The Commercial Appeal won a Pulitzer prize in 1923 "for fighting the Ku Klux Klan and the vigilante approach to racism," he said.

Best Sellers On Library Shelves

Seven best-selling books now are on the shelves of the Howard County Public Library, according to Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian. Six of the books are works of fiction: "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold" — Le Carre; "Armadillo" — Uris; "Convention" — Knebel & Bailey; "The Group" — McCarthy; "The Rough Magic" — Stewart; and "The Naked Society," fits into the general knowledge category.

The bidding:
South    West    North    East
1♥     1♠     2♥     Pass
4♥     Pass    Pass     Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠
Neither defender was sufficiently alert and South, the declarer, was able to walk off with an easy triumph in his four heart contract.

West chose to adopt a neutral course, and he opened the jack of hearts. South won the trick with the king and led over to North's ace. When the trumps divided evenly, dummy's six of hearts became established as a late entry.

The queen of clubs was led and declarer unblocked by playing the ten from his hand. West was in with the king and, since the dummy's long suit could obviously provide South with several discards, it became an urgent matter to cash whatever tricks were available.

West was confronted with a choice of plays. If, for example, he decided that East held the king of diamonds, an immediate shift to that suit would be the indicated procedure. If, however, he chose to play his partner for the ace of spades, then a spade shift could put the latter in—in time to lead a diamond thru declarer's king.

West decided at length to make the spade play and he led the three of that suit. East put up the ace; however, he returned the suit and South was in full charge of the situation. The club suit was run and declarer disposed of his two diamonds to score an overtrick.

West was highly critical of his partner. His contention was that, unless he had the ace of diamonds, there would not be time to cash four tricks with the dummy's club suit established. In other words, since one more spade trick will only complete the defensive book, East might just as well shift to a diamond when he is in on the chance that it might help partner.

While West's reasoning is indisputably correct, and East was, admittedly, guilty of a slipshod performance on the deal, West must assume part of the blame for failure to defeat the contract. Since his own spade lead at trick four was based on the hope that East could get in to make a diamond play, West should have led a high spade—either the ten or the nine—to indicate a lack of interest in that suit. The conclusion must now become inescapable to East that the diamond shift offers the only chance to score the setting trick.

Marxist Opposing Leftist In Chile's Presidential Election

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chileans will pick as their next president either a Marxist friend and admirer of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro or a moderate leftist who leans toward the Western camp.

The Sept. 4 presidential election presents these unusual features:

1. There is no government candidate.
2. Castro's friend could become the first Marxist to win power in Latin America through a legal, free election.
3. Congress has the constitutional power to drop the winner, unless he has an absolute majority, and pick another candidate.

Front-runners are Salvador Allende, 56, Communist-supported doctrinarian who has vowed to take over American holdings, and Eduardo Frei, 53, a moderately leftist Christian Democrat with a platform of social reform.

A third man in the race, Julio Duran, of the Centrist Radical party, seems a distant prospect. All three candidates are senators.

Incumbent President Jorge Alessandri supports no one. He is known to dislike all three candidates and has kept himself aloof from the campaign. He is barred from re-election.

Independent Alessandri ruled for five years with a pro-West, right-of-center coalition. It was made up of the Centrist Radicals and two rightist parties—the Liberal and the Conservative.

Last March the coalition crumbled. Allende forces pulled an upset victory in a provincial special election in which the government had staked its prestige.

Until then Duran was the leading candidate; as the joint nominee of three government parties. As the coalition disintegrated, Duran was left with the support of his Radicals, who walked out of the government.

emerged as the man to stop pro-Communist Allende.

The Alessandri regime dwindled into a caretaker Cabinet, with neither a congressional majority nor a candidate of its own.

Allende, a nonpracticing psychiatrist, is the candidate of the Popular Action Front (FRAP), a formidable alliance of the Communist party, his own Socialists and three other minor groups.

This is his third try for the presidency. He lost to Alessandri by a mere 33,000 votes in 1958.

Allende has vowed to take over the $2 billion in U.S. holdings, with a specific promise to nationalize the Anaconda and Kennecott Copper Companies.

His party dominates most labor unions, including the 15,000 persons working in the Anaconda and Kennecott mines.

Flump, quiet Allende draws a line between himself and the firebrand Cuban leader. While the Cuban revolution had to resort to violence, he says, his revolution will win peacefully, through a constitutional victory in the election.

It seems likely the Cuban sanctions voted by the inter-American foreign ministers hurt Allende's potential vote appeal among independent voters and that Frei is presently ahead.

Frei has support from his Christian Democrats, Chile's biggest single party; the powerful rightist Liberal and Conservative parties, and from smaller groups.

But a U.S. source says: "To say that Frei has it made may be deceiving. In Santiago one gets a clear impression Frei has the upper hand. But it's hard to predict how the vote will go elsewhere in the country."

Where Allende's power lies in the peasants and union members. Frei is dominant in the capital, which has nearly a third of the three million registered voters.

Frei, a lanky, scholarly-looking 6-footer, says he would like to nationalize foreign holdings but the time is not yet ripe. He calls for increased copper production through new investments by the U.S. companies.

Chile draws 73 per cent of its foreign exchange earnings from copper. Duran could draw enough of the vote to prevent an absolute majority, throwing the election up to a joint session of Congress.

In the past Congress has chosen the man with the largest vote. But Allende's party is badly outnumbered in Congress. FRAP leaders warn that violence may result if Allende wins but Congress takes the presidency from him.

Here's that woman again in a
