Redistricting Showdown Likely Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond says he will force an early showdown in the boiling Senate dispute over congressional efforts to halt or delay the Supreme Court's orders to reshuffle state legislatures.

More Clothes For Strippers

FORT WORTH (AP)—A Fort Worth police drive over the weekend has resulted in more ample wardrobes for strip-teasers and waitresses.

Three strippers, including "Little Lynn," the shapely exotic dancer who made headlines during a Jack Ruby hearing in Dallas, were arrested Saturday night at The Skyliner, a night club on the Jacksboro Highway.

Police had charged that the dancers had stripped down to g-stringers and top-scanty bras.

Thirteen waitresses at the Cellar, a popular beatnik spot, were arrested Friday night and charged with indecent exposure after police said they served customers while attired only in "teeny-weeny bikinis."

states time to amend the Constitution to accomplish what Tuck's bill attempts to do directly and quickly.

Dirksen is circulating a formal cloture petition to end this debate which requires a two-thirds majority of the Senate to become effective.

Any later constitutional amendment proposal also would require a two-thirds majority vote in both the Senate and House and then later approval by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

Thurmond, in a statement Sunday night, said the "major defect" in the Dirksen proposal "is that it is not realistic."

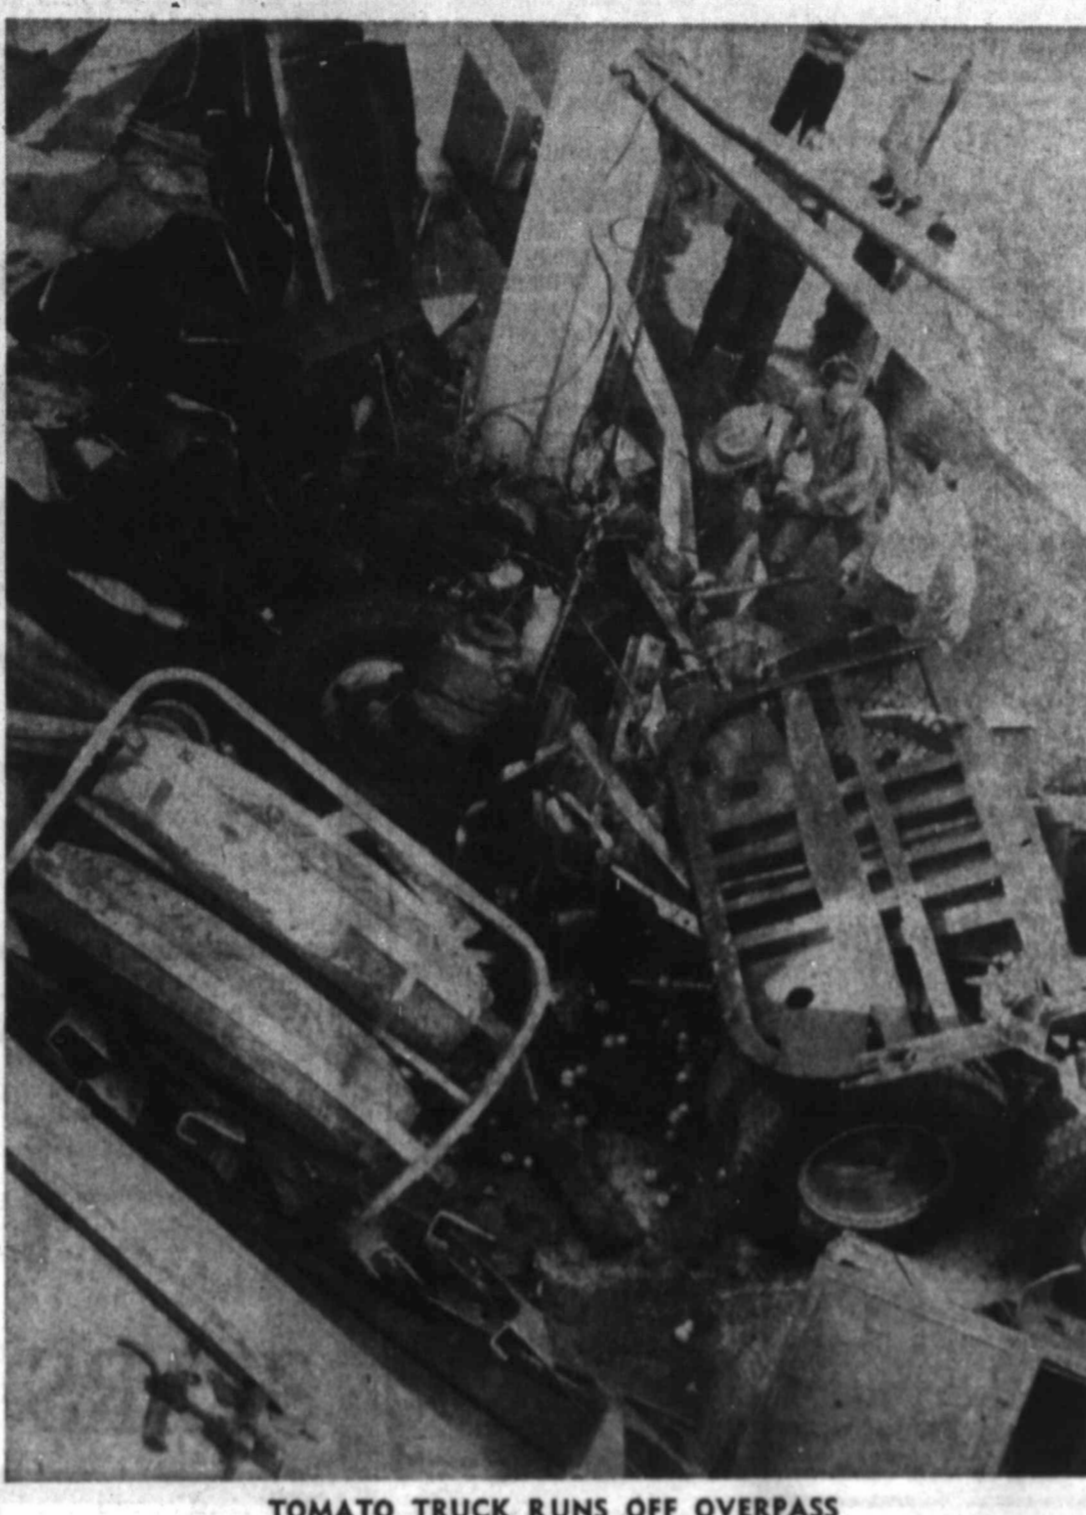

That is why, Thurmond said, he will offer the Tuck bill as a rider and substitute for the Dirksen rider.

Nub of the controversy is the federal courts' efforts to apply the "one person one vote" rule in apportionment of state legislatures, in both Senate and House chambers.

Taylor Wings Home, Says Viet Nam Crisis In Lull

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, returning for consultation with President Johnson, said today the crisis in South Viet Nam has entered a political lull.

Taylor said he left Saigon, South Vietnamese capital, "entirely quiet," but he stopped short of saying the crisis in the strife-torn country has passed its peak.

In a country at war, he said, crisis conditions never seem to be entirely over.

Taylor was asked whether he came home with new policy ideas and action proposals for dealing with the Communist Viet Cong guerrilla threat to South Viet Nam.

Taylor said he did not know exactly when he would see the President.

Taylor said on his way here that he had full confidence in Khanh's ability to carry through his program of political reorganization and establish a provisional government that will remove military elements from control.

He said today that Khanh is "very much in charge" in Saigon and in fact has "broader backing than when the trouble started about 10 days ago."

Taylor let it be known before he left for his Southeast Asian post that he would be back in Washington in about two months to wind up personal affairs which his hurry-up diplomatic assignment left little time for.

would have come recommendations for President Johnson on actions which the United States might take to make its policies in support of the Saigon anti-Communist fight, more effective.

Also returning here for policy talks is Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific military commander. Taylor, Sharp and others will be meeting the first part of this week with Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Department officials and others.

Taylor said he did not know exactly when he would see the President.

Informed sources said Khanh would announce that the generals are going abroad on diplomatic missions.

The three reportedly are Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, defense minister in the caretaker government and a close associate of Khanh; Brig. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the army chief of staff, and Maj. Gen. Cao Tri, commander of the 2nd corps, the largest military operational area in the country.

Trucker Dies In Wreckage Near Coahoma

E. P. Foley, 40, Lumberton, N.C. truckdriver, was instantly killed at 7 a.m. today when his big tractor-truck, loaded with green tomatoes, plunged off an overpass on IS 20.

The accident occurred 3.5 miles east of Coahoma at the point where IS 20 passes over FM 821.

Foley, a partner in the Parnell Trucking Co., Pompana, Fla., was trapped in the wreckage of his cab.

There were no witnesses to the accident and it seems a brother-in-law of Foley's, whose name was not learned, was the first person to reach the scene.

The second driver, crossing the overpass, saw the tangled wreckage below and sighted the name of the firm on the cab.

A. N. Henry, highway patrol, said the big truck dived 60 feet through the air before coming to rest on the far east embankment of FM 821.

Highway patrol officers and sheriff's deputies said that Foley, alone in the big truck, was going east. As he approached the ramp leading up the overpass across FM 821, he swerved sharply to the left, the wheels of the truck climbing atop the concrete wall at the point. The truck rolled along this barricade for a short distance and then dived into the opening between the south and north segments of IS 20.

The truck cleared the first section of the lower road and rammed head on into the steep embankment on the east side of FM 821. The trailer flipped over on top of the cab.

Deputy Bill Whitton, who assisted in the investigation, said that the debris of the truck and tractor was so compacted that passage on FM 821 was not blocked.

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, ruled death due to accident.

The body of the victim was removed to Nalley-Pickle Funeral home by Big Spring Ambulance Service.

Mr. Foley became the eighth person to die in a traffic mishap in Howard County so far in 1964. All of the fatalities, but one, have occurred on rural roads.

30 Persons Die In Busy Weekend

Texas shamefully led all the states Monday in the number of traffic deaths over the long Labor Day holiday weekend.

At least 29 persons have been killed in Texas traffic since the count started at 6 p.m. Friday. State police predicted 36 persons would be killed in state traffic by midnight Monday.

Four persons drowned and one died as result of a boating accident. Homicides, suicides and other forms of violent death were not included in the Labor Day weekend tabulation.

The latest deaths included: Four persons were killed Sunday in a two-car collision on Texas 22 east of Whitney.

Eight were injured: Mr. and Mrs. Luse; Mr. and Mrs. Bailey; Sawicki; James Berry, 16, of Seagoville; Jan Hulseby, 17, of Dallas; and Nell Bailey, 16, of Seagoville.

Three persons died in a head-on collision on U.S. 175 a half mile west of Crandall Saturday. They were Mays Goza Jr., 64, of Dallas; Arnon Cross, 45, and his daughter, Phoebe, 7, both of Kaufman.

A. D. Jones, 28, of Houston drowned in the San Jacinto River near Houston.

John Albert Perez, 25, of Fort Worth drowned Sunday in Lake Worth. He fell from a boat.

Richard Lawson, 20, of San Antonio drowned while swimming in Chaco Lake, 45 miles south of San Antonio.

Joseph Jones, a soldier at Ft. Bliss at El Paso, was killed near Shiner, between San Antonio and Houston, Sunday. He apparently fell asleep and his car hit a bridge and burned.

Paul Novosak, 34, Baytown, died Sunday when his car crashed into a utility pole near the entrance to the Baytown-LaPorte tunnel on U.S. 16.

Sammy Randall, 13, drowned Sunday while swimming in a San Antonio creek.

Ernest Gutierrez, 36, of Cibola, was killed Sunday when struck by a car near San Antonio.

CHICAGO (AP) — Deaths on the nation's roads and highways maintained a pace today which the National Safety Council said could eclipse the 1963 record for a Labor Day weekend.

HELMETED POLICE DRIVE BACK RIOTERS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Youths clubbed, chased out of town after widespread destruction

Hundreds Hurt, Arrested In Two Riots By Youths

HAMPTON BEACH, N.H. (AP) — Flying wedges of police drove some 10,000 rioting teenagers out of this ocean-side resort early today — but not before 20 persons were injured and more than 100 youths arrested.

Peter Zaniboni, 16, Everett, Mass., was struck in the face with birdshot from a shotgun. Doctors at Exeter Hospital said he probably would lose his right eye.

The young people, apparently having a final summer fling, stormed the police station, set fires, smashed windows and pelted police with stones, garbage and rubbish before finally being run out of town.

It was the second straight year that riots had torn this resort of 2,000 year-round residents. The chairman of selectmen accused Gov. John W. King of failing to take necessary precautionary steps.

State police had beefed up trooper patrols in the town and had canceled all days off over the weekend, he said.

King said in a statement that the riots were "symptom of a moral sickness in American youth."

"This is no time for mollycoddling," the governor said after spending six hours at the scene. "This is a sad day in the history of this longtime wonderful family resort. We must take every step to insure that it never reoccurs."

The youths, most of them of high school age, brawled and rioted for more than four hours. Authorities met them with fire hoses and later resorted to billy clubs, tear gas, police dogs and shotguns loaded with birdshot and rock salt.

group of teenagers. The boy also suffered a lung injury.

The town was cleared when police formed V's and marched north and south from the center of town to either end. Teenagers were pulled out of cars, plucked out of doorways and hustled from hiding places as the wedges moved to the town limits. Traffic had been barred from the town hours earlier.

Sixteen persons were treated at Exeter Hospital. Another four were treated and released from Anna Jaques Hospital in Newburyport, Mass. Eight of the injured were police officers.

Police estimated the number of rioters at 10,000. "But it seemed more like 100,000," said one officer.

Six boys led the rioters in a charge up the beach toward the main street of this coastal resort community, carrying a flaming log. They were met by 30 nightstick-wielding riot squad policemen.

The group abandoned the log and began throwing rocks at the policemen, who charged, scattering the youths.

When the rioters assembled again in the downtown area, Warne Nunn, executive assistant to Gov. Mark Hatfield, told them over a loudspeaker to disperse or they would be arrested.

Police began forcing the crowd out of the downtown area, clearing a block at a time. As the youths retreated, they broke store windows with rocks. One youth rammed a fist through a window. "About 80 youths were arrested."

Hurricane Dora Mounts, Aims At Atlantic Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Dora, a huge and powerful storm that grows by the hour, moved closer to the U.S. mainland today and made herself felt while still 700 miles out to sea.

Heavy seas already are increasing along the southeast Atlantic Coast and will continue to grow during the next two days, the U.S. Weather Bureau said in its 5 a.m. advisory.

At that time, the storm's center was located about 700 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

Highest winds near the center were estimated at 130 miles an hour. Hurricane and gale force winds extend out as far as 300 miles to the northeast and 150 miles to the southwest of the center.

The storm now covers an area about 500 miles across and threatens to swallow up tropical storm Ethel which was centered at 5 a.m. about 700 miles to the east southeast of Dora's center.

Dora was moving toward the west northwest or west at about 10 miles an hour and will continue on that course for the next 24 hours, according to the Weather Bureau advisory.

"The hurricane will continue large and dangerous. Seas are already rough over most of the southwest North Atlantic and will be gradually increasing along the southeast Atlantic Coast during the next two days," the advisory said.

The Weather Bureau said the present and predicted movement of Dora increases the threat to the southeast coastal sections of the United States. "But since it is moving slowly, there will be little effect other than increasing seas through Tuesday."

TODAY'S TEENAGERS NOT ANY WORSE
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Flynt comment on youth

Opinions Differ On Youth's Problems

By JUDY BARNEYCASTLE
Mrs. Nat Shick, a resident of Big Spring for 74 of her 76 years, has seen teenagers in three generations and believes that those of long ago had fewer problems and more fun.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Flynt, 2104 Runnels, also compared teenagers of their time with those of today. They were both reared on farms near Waco and moved to Big Spring in 1933. Flynt was employed with Cosden 19 years before his retirement.

Mrs. Shick, who was Holly Covert before she married, came to Big Spring from Baird in 1890. Her father was a conductor on the first passenger train to Big Spring, then the end of the railroad line.

HAD TIME
"Our parents always had time to listen to every one of our complaints or problems, no matter how small," Mrs. Shick said. "And they helped us to have fun at whatever we did. 'Maybe it was because Big Spring was such a small town then, but I never knew any 'mixed up' children. They all seemed normal and quite happy—with few serious problems."

Flynt said he doesn't think teenagers of today are any worse than they were in his day—maybe not as bad.

"They have more things to do to keep them out of trouble than we did," he said. "Transportation is better and faster; all we had was a horse and buggy which didn't give us much chance to go many places."

Mrs. Flynt, however, thinks that teenagers are more rowdy today. She says that one of the main reasons for this is that today children are not given as many responsibilities as those in her day.

CHORES
"We were given specific chores to do—we always helped our parents," she said. "The fact that we were given these duties probably kept us out of trouble, but it also taught us responsibility and how to work—which some teenagers today know nothing about."

Mrs. Shick said that she knew no one in Big Spring that she would consider rowdy.

"Of course, Shine Phillips and I used to get into trouble at school over one thing or another," she laughed. "But we were just mischievous. We delighted in playing hooky."

She recalled one shenanigan with obvious pleasure.

"Every Friday the class that had marched the straightest during the week got the afternoon off. Needless to say, our classes never did—with Shine and me in it.

"The same class usually got it every week. One time Shine said to me, 'Now, Hol, something has got to be done about this!'

"The next day, when it came time to march into the classroom, Shine and I and a couple of others took tree limbs and stuck them between the legs of the ones in the other class as they marched in.

PUNISHED
"Our class still didn't win and we guilty ones were punished with a week of staying in after school."

When the Shicks' daughter, Lillian, was in school their home was always open to her friends—at all hours, Mrs. Shick said.

"One day we found out that Lillian and a bunch of her friends were going to skip school," she remembered. "We asked her about it, and, naturally, she had to tell the truth. 'Nat and I just packed up our little Model A Ford with food and youngsters and away we went for a day at the lake!'"

Mrs. Shick said that some people might frown on their methods, but they figured Lillian was going to skip school anyway and they might as well chaperone so they could be assured of her safety.

"The youngsters never abused our understanding and cooperation, either," she said. "I think they were good kids because we had time to spend with them—doing the things they wanted to do and just becoming part of their group."

CHAPERONED
As a teenager herself, Mrs. Shick was strictly chaperoned on almost every occasion.

During her early teens the fathers who worked on the railroad would hook a flatcar onto the train on Saturday morning and take all the town's children to Latan Tank for the day. They pulled the flatcar back to Big Spring late in the evening. The mothers acted as chaperones.

"Each of the families had a donkey," Mrs. Shick said, "and ever so often we youngsters would load up our tools and take a trip up Scenic Mountain on those donkeys. We took the tools to carve our names in the rock. We also looked for arrowheads and beads that the Indians had left."

"Our mothers didn't chaperone us on this outing—but it was the only one."

As in Big Spring, the Flynts recalled strictly chaperoned activities where they grew up.

"We used to go swimming in the river or lake," Mrs. Flynt remembered, "and because there were no approved areas in which to swim, we were always strictly chaperoned to guard against accidents."

The school teachers often

"All the greasy, dusty old tools and other railroad paraphernalia were kept under the bunks, but we all piled in and waited for what seemed like a year.

"Actually 'Old Whiskers' wasn't coming at all, and if he had been, he wouldn't have cared for our being there. My daddy was a great practical joker—everyone thoroughly enjoyed his pranks."

Mrs. Shick suggested that because life is more complex now and because parents have more things to do themselves, they do not have the time to spend with their children.

SOLVE PROBLEMS
"I believe that if parents could do more things with their children—not only teenagers—there would be less juvenile delinquency and other problems," she said.

Mrs. Flynt believes that discipline also played an important part in controlling the teenagers of her day.

"If we needed a good whipping, we got it," she said. "And, I might add, we must have needed it quite often."

Nominees To Be Selected In 8 States This Week
WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters in eight states choose nominees for five Senate, five gubernatorial and 52 House seats in primary elections next week.

Primaries will be held Tuesday in Arizona, Colorado, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Vermont and Wisconsin. Georgians vote Wednesday and Massachusetts holds its primary Thursday.

Four incumbent senators are favored to win renomination. They are Democrats Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Republican Winston L. Prouty of Vermont.

In a fifth Senate race, in Arizona, Gov. Paul Fannin is unopposed for the Republican nomination for the seat now held by his longtime friend, Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee. Goldwater decided against seeking a third Senate term when he won the GOP presidential nomination.

Arizona also has a gubernatorial primary. Richard Kleindienst, who was a key man in Goldwater's drive for the presidential nomination, faces a stiff challenge for the GOP nomination from Evan Mecham, the unsuccessful 1962 Senate nominee. Among four Democrats bidding for the gubernatorial nomination is former state chairman Sam Goddard.

Udall Points To LBJ Action

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall began a two-day frankly political tour of three Texas cities today, pointing to President Lyndon B. Johnson's accomplishments and pleading for unity within an often-split state party.

Udall spoke to a Labor Day gathering here and was scheduled for a Labor Day dinner in San Antonio tonight. He plans a speech to the American Federation of Government Employees in Dallas Tuesday.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., also addressed the group. Udall said in his prepared speech that all the Democratic ticket seeks election day "is an objective judgment by the people."

He asked the question, "don't you feel stronger . . . ?"

"That our defense posture is stronger than all other nations of the world . . . that employment is at an all-time high . . . that gross national product is $120 billion over 190 . . . that factory pay is higher . . . that personal incomes are at an all-time high . . . that Johnson emphasizes economy in government."

Talking of Johnson's well-known ability to bring warring sides together, Udall said, "One seeks accord not for the sake of consensus alone . . . but men of good will can always produce action out of controversy and results out of honest disagreement in the good of the country as a whole is ultimately put first."

The secretary credited Johnson's guidance for helping create what he called "the most productive and constructive Con-

Luci Plunges Into Crowds During Louisiana Whirl

NEW ORLEANS La. (AP)—Ignoring security precautions, Luci Baines Johnson, the 17-year-old daughter of the President, campaigned for her father with all the aplomb of a seasoned politician in Louisiana over the weekend. Everywhere she went, she was cheered. Luci flew back to Washington Sunday after christening a ship, seeing a pro football game and attending a festival. She probably did her best to get Democratic Gov. John McKeithen to support her father. McKeithen has said that Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater seems to have the upper edge in Louisiana at present. The governor's two oldest children — Fox, 17, and Rebecca, 16—were Luci's companions for part of her weekend visit. "She's so nice," said Rebecca. Hundreds of teenagers crying, "Luci, Luci," rushed to the side of the younger daughter of the President Sunday at the annual Louisiana shrimp festival at Morgan City. She put down her plate of boiled shrimp and moved into the crowd, shaking hands and signing autographs. Secret Service agents hovered in the background. ## Angry Youth Accosts Nikita MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev lost his temper today when a young Russian approached him at an exhibition and said he had been trying for seven years to meet the Soviet premier. Khrushchev's bodyguards dragged away the well-dressed blond in his 20s as the premier, red-faced with anger, called after him: "I was just going to greet you—you should be ashamed of yourself." Khrushchev was walking through a British exhibition when the young man approached him. "Nikita Sergeevich, I have been trying to get a meeting with you for seven years," the man said.

Trend Eyed In Epidemic At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The trend of Houston's sleeping sickness epidemic hopefully can be determined by Tuesday, a spokesman for the communicable disease center at Atlanta, Ga., said Sunday.

Eighteen new suspected cases were recorded over the weekend by the city health department laboratory, but only three of these are current cases.

The spokesman, part of a team that arrived here more than two weeks ago, said this was an encouraging sign.

At the same time a suspected victim of the disease, Mrs. Martha Sands Wakefield of Houston, died Sunday in an Acapulco, Mexico, hospital after apparently contracting the disease in Houston.

Dr. Thomas Escalante of the Sacred Heart Hospital said tests indicated the variety of the encephalitis was the St. Louis strain.

Harry Urban Wakefield, who was vacationing with his wife when she was stricken, said from Acapulco:

"She became stricken in the plane and complained of feeling very strange. We left Houston Friday, Aug. 28. She was too ill to return home and we checked her into the hospital the following Monday.

"For the past week she was in a coma."

The mosquito-borne virus has struck hardest at the elderly in Houston. The very young also are seemingly more susceptible to the disease.

Of the three newest suspected cases in Houston, all are adults.

Meanwhile, this city of more than a million persons continued its fight against the Culex mosquito which transmits the virus from infected birds and rodents to human beings.

Gracie Fields Opens Comeback

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Gracie Fields — who called herself "Mother Beatie" — had some folks weeping as she and her son sang along with her while she belted out songs in a way that turned back the decades.

Gracie, 66 and gray-haired, got off to a great start in Blackpool as she launched a comeback tour of Britain after emerging from retirement on the Italian island of Capri.

MANILA (AP) — Lorraine Bennett, Miss Philippines of 1963, was married in Manila Sunday night to Lt. (j.g.) Felix Skievaski of the U.S. Navy who was her escort at the Miss Universe contest last year.

The bride needed police assistance to make her way through a large crowd of noisy admirers that gathered at the Roman Catholic church.

The bride and the bridegroom, a jet pilot stationed at Barber's Point Naval Air Station in Hawaii, are of mixed American and Filipino parentage.

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Welch, president of the John Birch Society, said on a television program Sunday that the society "takes absolutely no position on politics on either side."

Welch, who was interviewed on the NBC "Meet the Press" program broadcast from New York, declined to name his choice for president.

To Attend Convention

LAMESA (SC)—Dr. Pat Beckham, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Beckham of Lamesa, will attend a medical convention in Glasgow, Scotland later this month to explain operation of a high pressure medical chamber.

The Lamesa High School graduate is a resident surgeon at Minneapolis (Minn.) General Hospital. The medical chamber is a new tool and Dr. Beckham is one of the few persons in the country who knows how to operate it.

The high pressure chamber is designed for special orientations, which require an abnormal amount of oxygen. Normal atmospheric pressure is increased three times in the chamber and certain harmful organisms and viruses cannot survive the strong dose of oxygen.

Costing $492,000 to build, the chamber has special safety features, including a television monitor for each room, auxiliary manual controls, high pressure fire sprinklers and reserve air storage tanks.

There is only one other chamber equal to the one in General Hospital and it is located in Chicago, Ill. Dr. Beckham is a graduate of Baylor University and the Baylor Medical School at Houston.

Siesta Gives Way To Zeal

PANAMA (AP) — Harvard's Graduate Business School set up shop recently in an ancient Guatemalan colonial capital and 50 Central American businessmen paid $1,000 each for a six-week course—in English.

From Guatemala to Costa Rica, scores of specialists gather every working day to study, chart and apply formulae for social and economic development. In San Jose, a textile dealer packs a briefcase, catches a post-breakfast flight to El Salvador, completes his mission and

Miller Due For Contab

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. William Miller of New York, Republican vice-presidential nominee, will be the featured speaker at the GOP state convention here Sept. 15, state party officials said Saturday.

State Chairman Peter O'Donnell and campaign co-ordinator Tad Smith said "This will be the first of a series of major Texas campaign appearances by the presidential ticket of Sen. Barry Goldwater and Congressman William Miller."

Activity will start Sunday Sept. 13, with registration and afternoon meeting of the committees on rules and order of business, credentials, platform and resolutions and temporary organization. The GOP expects a crowd of 5,000.

Only the platform meeting will be open, party headquarters said. Presiding will be former state Rep. Frances Seeligson, who once sat in the Texas House of Representatives as a Democrat.

The platform committee also will meet Monday afternoon, and the state executive committee has scheduled a meeting that morning in the Driskill Hotel.

The convention's purpose is to write a state platform, elect a state chairman, vice-chairman and executive committee and 25 presidential electors, and to certify statewide candidates for the November general election ballot.

Jack Crichton, the party's nominee for governor, will be the keynote. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and Republican candidates for statewide office also will speak.

A fund-raising party will be held the night before the convention. Other planned events include luncheons for the state finance committee and the Texas Federation of Republican Women.

takes the evening plane home in time for dinner. This is old hat in Des Moines and Dallas. But down here it's part of a new and dramatic revolution sweeping the one-time "banana republics" of Central America.

NEW ZEAL

The siesta is giving way to zeal; blood and bullets are being replaced by banks and busle in the quiet rebellion against social-economic stagnation and archaic nationalist concepts.

At the heart of this new surge is the Central American common market through which Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica — and probably Panama later on — are striving for economic integration, and survival.

Although the project has been 12 years in the making and is considered past its most difficult formative stages, its backers are reluctant to predict just how far integration will go. Full economic integration is scheduled for 1966. A common currency is envisioned in five years. Political integration remains an intriguing thought.

The five-country common market area covers 200,000 square miles, the size of France, or of all New England, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania combined. The territory, between Mexico and Panama, is mostly mountains with some narrow and fertile plains. Arable land makes up only a small portion of the total area.

The population, only 11.5 million, is engaged chiefly in agriculture. Chief dollar exports are coffee, cotton, sugar, bananas, shrimp, cocoa and beef.

OBSTACLES

Formidable obstacles confront the market. Reliable estimates indicate a third of the area's total population is living outside the general economy. This has proportionately shrunk the internal market.

There also is a grave shortage of skilled labor and a widespread lack of vocational schools to train unskilled workers. Political instability remains a vice question mark. At a higher level, market experts say, there's also a large gap in administrative skills. This is why the newly organized Central American institute of business administration invited Harvard to conduct its six weeks course at Antigua, Guatemala, earlier this month.

The Alliance for Progress has created a special regional mission based in Guatemala to work closely with the market's organizations.

More than a century after the original attempt at political unity failed, Central Americans seem determined to give economic integration a try.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1♣ Pass ?
 2♣ Pass ?
 3♣ Pass ?
 4♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—You hold, to be sure, a hand of considerable merit. Do not on that account, however, subject yourself to a deliberate loss. Pause for a moment to ask what are the chances of your making nine tricks with your poverty stricken partner and you will see that discretion calls for a pass. You have given your all.

Q. 2—You have 60 part score, and as South you hold:
 ♠KQ9 ♥AQ9 ♣AQ64 ♢J93
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1♣ Dble. 1NT Pass
 Pass Dble. Pass 2♥
 Pass Pass 2♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—You hold, to be sure, a hand of considerable merit. Do not on that account, however, subject yourself to a deliberate loss. Pause for a moment to ask what are the chances of your making nine tricks with your poverty stricken partner and you will see that discretion calls for a pass. You have given your all.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
 ♠AKJ762 ♥408432 ♣A3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♣ Pass 2♣ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Your holding falls slightly short of the requirements for a jump rebid to three spades, and you must content yourself with a simple rebid of two spades. This hand has an original valuation of only 15 points. You should, therefore, await partner's further action before making any highly aggressive move.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
 ♠J64 ♥108420943 ♣862
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1♣ Dble. Pass ?
 What do you bid?
 A.—Follow the example of the chap who said, "I seem my dot and I do so." Obviously bid two hearts, the best suit you have. Some players engage in the unsound practice of responding with two clubs on worthless hands of this type. Such practice would be acceptable if you had no four card suit of your own, but the natural four card suit should always be shown in preference to responding with a three card suit.

Q. 5—Your partner has opened with one spade and you hold:
 ♠32 ♥93 ♣KJ9742 ♢KJ5
 What is your response?
 A.—This hand is not quite strong enough to justify a response at the level of two in a new suit. It contains only eight points in high cards. It is true that valued at diamonds the hand is worth 10 points, but it is better policy not to make a forcing bid at the level of two with less than nine or 10 points in high cards.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
 ♠A85 ♥AK74 ♣AQ83 ♢72
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Three diamonds. Your hand is worth 13 points valued at hearts and 17 at no trump. Therefore, one further try should be made. If partner merely returns to three hearts, you may pass but, if partner bids three no trump or four hearts, you should accept his choice of game.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
 ♠A962 ♥J1094301054 ♣J
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♣ Pass Pass Pass 1♣
 1♠ Pass 2♠ 3♠
 Dble. Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Your hand has very little in the way of defensive values. As a matter of fact, it is totally in partner's bid suit, which detracts from its value. It is therefore improbable that the three club contract can be defeated. In self-defense you should return to three spades.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
 ♠6 ♥A80KQ985 ♣AK963
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♣ 1♠ 2♥ Pass
 3♣ Pass 3♦ Pass ?
 What do you bid now?
 A.—Three hearts. Since partner has made a free bid at a high level, he undoubtedly has a good heart suit. From the fact that you failed to raise his major suit at once, he will realize that you probably have no more than the ace and another trump, and you will be in a better position to judge the possibility of the heart suit for next bid.

Pope Gives Priest Okay For Wedding

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has freed a former Roman Catholic priest from his vow of perpetual chastity in what appears to be the forerunner of a similar modification of the church's code of canon law.

The Catholic diocese of Versailles, France, said Sunday night that "Father Maurice W., 44, was given permission last April to leave the priesthood after 20 years. It said he was allowed in May to marry "Annette R., 42, and that they were married in Versailles.

SERIOUS DECISION

The Vatican made no announcement of the case, but Vatican sources said it was handled by the Vatican Holy Office and that such a serious decision must have been made by the pontiff himself.

The sources were quick to point out that the suspension of the prohibition on marriage for an ex-priest implied no likelihood of modification of the celibacy required of the Roman Catholic priesthood.

While still cardinal-archbishop of Milan in 1960, Pope Paul expressed hope that the Vatican Ecumenical Council would consider freeing former priests of their perpetual chastity vow after they had been allowed to revert to the layman's life.

The council in its 1962 and 1963 sessions did not take up topics dealing with the priestly life. A topic on the priesthood is among 12 topics remaining for the council, but it is not expected to reach the floor during the council session opening Sept. 14.

SUBDEACON

A vow of perfect chastity is taken when a student priest reaches the level of subdeacon, a short time before ordination as a priest. Under the 1917 code of canon law, dispensation from the vow can be granted to subdeacons and deacons. It has been traditional that an ordained priest can get no dispensation and cannot marry if he leaves the priesthood.

Celibacy for the Roman Catholic clergy dates from the 1123 Lateran Council. It is a disciplinary obligation imposed on a priest, rather than part of any Catholic doctrine, and therefore can be changed. Catholicism teaches that its doctrines cannot be reversed.

Balky Satellite Info Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Space agency scientists plan to talk again today with their partially crippled satellite OGO in an attempt to glean some information from it.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said early today that scientists had communicated twice Sunday with the Orbiting Geophysical Observatory and were satisfied that some information can be gained from it as a spin-stabilized satellite.

The huge satellite was launched Friday into an elliptical-orbit that takes it from 175 to 92,721 miles above the earth. One of its missions was to learn how the sun affects the earth and the atmosphere.

A few hours after launching scientists discovered the OGO had failed to lock onto the earth during its orbit.

The situation probably cannot be corrected, a spokesman said, but added that space agency scientists "plan to keep OGO in this spin-stabilized condition and to attempt to operate experiments which are adaptable to this situation."

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Johnson attended church Sunday at the First Baptist Church in nearby Alexandria, Va. They were accompanied by Bill D. Moyers, a presidential assistant and ordained Baptist minister who regularly attends the church.

After the service the Johnsons and Mr. and Mrs. Moyers formed a receiving line in the vestibule and shook hands with many of the 900 worshippers who attended.

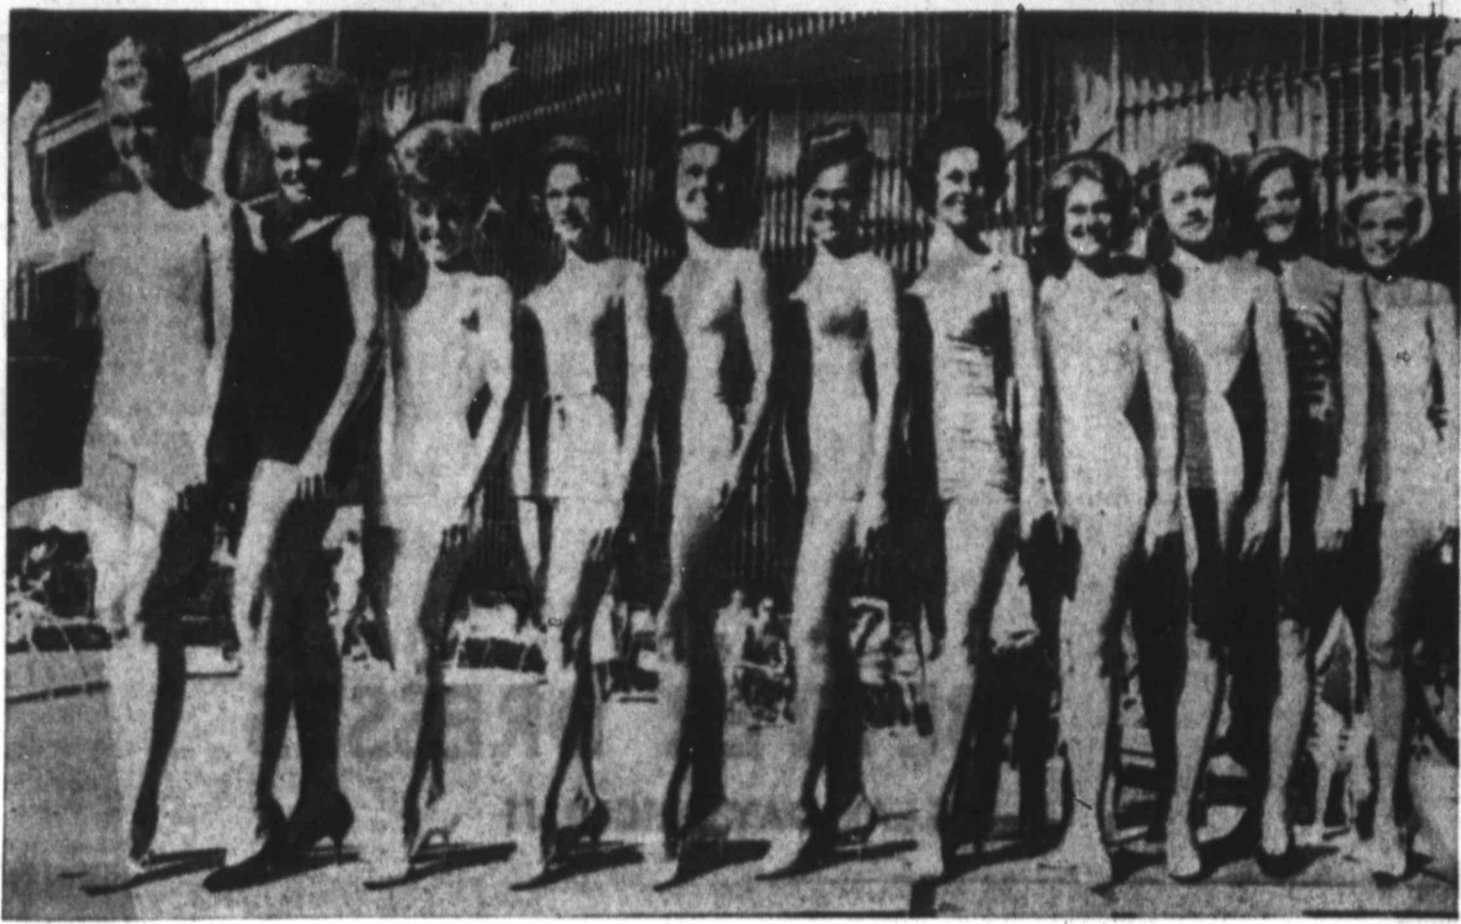

WASHINGTON (AP)—World Bank loan commitments totaled more than $1 billion in the past fiscal year, the bank reported Sunday.

The commitments included $810 million from the bank itself plus $283 million in credits by the International Development Association and $21 million in loans and equity investments by the International Finance Corp. They are affiliates of the World Bank.

The report showed for the fiscal year ending June 30 net income of $97 million.

Marriage Un In Air For Texans

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Dallas couple took up their heavenly bliss by getting married 15,000 feet in the sky aboard a Mexican jet.

Frank Wendell and the former Joan Conley were wed by the Rev. W. K. Peterson before a specially built altar in the plane, officials of Mexicana de Avionacion said.

The ceremony took place Saturday about 15 minutes before the plane crossed the U. S.-Mexico border on its flight from Dallas. Passengers and the newlyweds sipped champagne and ate cake.

Then Mr. and Mrs. Wendell began a honeymoon through Mexico.

Fees Canceled

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Landing fees at Mexican airports for U. S. tourists piloting their own planes have been canceled by the ministry of communications, a spokesman for the national tourist council announced.

Big Change In Dallas' Transportation

DALLAS (AP)—A mighty big change has come to transportation in Dallas.

There used to be a jumble of rattling, shambling buses that were often late, usually dirty and always traveling shorter and shorter routes for higher fares. The system has been revamped from top to bottom.

The people of Dallas pay $25,000 a day in fares and the bus system is operating in the black for the first time since 1946. An end of certain taxes has helped.

In seven months this year, 24,077,889 passengers rode the Dallas buses, an increase of 56,747 over 1963.

The essential change came Jan. 1 when the city took over the system from one Harry Weinberg.

Administering the system is Wilson Driggs at $25,000 a year as transit authority director.

"Dallas will have an ever expanding transit system under municipal ownership," Driggs said. "Never again will Dallas let its system deteriorate the way it had."

Driggs had been vice president and general manager of the privately owned Dallas Transit Co. before he quit four years ago because, as he said:

"The company simply wasn't providing service that met the needs of the people."

In Baltimore, he organized the Metropolitan Transit Authority of Maryland before Dallas brought him back.

The city bought the system from Weinberg for $5.5 million late last year. Friction had developed between Weinberg and the city over attempted fare hikes, shortening of routes and declining service.

TOLD PUBLIC
Driggs told the public at once the buses would be cleaned up, schedules maintained, new buses bought, and routes lengthened.

"Passenger volume increased and I got a lot of phone calls and letters, all favorable," he said.

The system has hired 14 bus cleaners, bought 95 new buses for $2.9 million and added 160,000 annual route miles.

A 17-year-trend of declining transit patronage was reversed in July, when passenger volume increased by 1.9 per cent.

"If people find out that the buses are clean, on time and air-conditioned, they'll be happy with the system," Driggs said.

The Dallas system is entirely revenue-operated. No tax money is used to run it.

George's Home Due Spruce-Up

WASHINGTON, England (AP)—They're planning to spruce up one of George Washington's ancestral homes.

This humdrum community of 15,000 is due for transformation into a bright, modern town with three to four times its present population.

The area has changed little with the centuries. Set in the northeast countryside, just off the Great North Road highway, Washington acquired three coal mines and a chemical factory following the Industrial Revolution but rested secure amid 5,000 acres of agricultural land that government rules have long marked as taboo for building developments.

Now, this all will change. The area is scheduled for rezoning as a "new town," as the English development areas are called. Plans call for an influx of new industries and a rash of housing projects that will quickly chew up the fields and meadows.

In all, some 20,000 new homes are planned.

The whole project will take about 10 years. When it's done, Washington should be one of the most modern communities in England.

The showpiece of the town is still the Old Hall which embodies the remains of the ancient manor house of one branch of the Washington family. The last Washington to own it died in the 15th century but it continued in possession of his heirs, the Tempests and Mallorys.

The yellowish, sandstone Old Hall was condemned in 1934 as unfit for human habitation. A local committee was formed to save the hall and succeeded in buying it.

After extensive renovations, the building was established as a museum and showplace, a shrine visited by American tourists year after year.

Fake U.S. Money

JAKARTA (AP)—Police arrested 23 persons on charges of circulating fake American $100 bills, the Antara news agency reported. They were also suspected of having connections with Indonesia's enemies in Malaysia, Antara said, and face the death penalty.

Hospitals Ready For Power Failure

When a power failure hit the Big Spring area recently, few local hospitals were better equipped to handle the emergency than the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

At 4:44 p.m., when the shutdown occurred, the hospital was one of the few places locally that maintained electric power without a lapse of dead space. At the exact moment that the power failed, two of the hospital's generators, 15,000 and 30,000 watt units, started up and supplied all vital points of the hospital with electricity, thus avoiding certain situations that could have cost a patient his life.

The 15,000 watt unit, which has been in use since the hospital's founding in 1950, provided light and power in all strategic areas such as stair wells, the blood bank, emergency treatment rooms, exit signs, fire stations, nurses stations and operating rooms. The other generator kept in operation one of the four elevators running. The two ex-Army units, which were purchased from the government at a reduced rate, are both equipped with automatic starters and each came on instantly when the power flashed off, although no maintenance men were present.

Two auxiliary generators are also located at the hospital, but with the failure lasting only approximately 30 minutes, it was not necessary to use them. A 5,000 watt unit, which must be started with a crank, was ready for use in the boiler room if the failure proved to be prolonged. A 30,000 watt machine, also of the non-automatic type, was on standby duty if any one of the other three units broke down. If the failure had lasted as long as several days, this generator would have been turned on and it could have supplied power for the entire hospital including the fresh air and refrigerator systems.

But the two automatic generators, which are checked each morning by the maintenance men to insure their readiness, clicked off and ran smoothly through the minor crisis. It was the first time in 90 days that they had been needed, the last occasion being when faulty wiring in the new air conditioning system caused a short, thus eliminating all electricity for a short time.

But even with the generators to supply necessary power, extra precautions had been taken to insure that there would be operative lights at any time. All nurse stations were equipped with flashlights with the admissions office having battery-powered lanterns.

Only one person was inconvenienced — he was unlucky enough to be caught on the elevator between floors when the shutdown occurred, and was stranded for 30 minutes. If the power failure had lasted for a long period of time, he could have been removed by a trap door.

The city's other five hospitals were not so well equipped for the sudden loss of electricity, but nevertheless, patient service did not suffer and no emergencies arose.

At Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, battery-powered auxiliary lights were ready at all nurse stations and in the operating rooms with flashlights and candles also distributed at major points.

This may be the last time, though, that the hospital finds itself without power. A 100,000 watt, gas-operated, automatic generator will be installed during the current remodeling program and will be in operation by the first of 1965.

"Power failures have not hurt us in the past, they've inconvenienced us, but they've never meant the difference between life and death," D. S. Riley, Malone and Hogan administrator, said. "But we don't want to take a chance when it comes to human life. That's why we decided to buy a generator."

At the Howard County Hospital Foundation and Clinic, battery-powered lanterns were available in surgery while flashlights were in all other strategic points. Although no money has been appropriated, a generator for future use is being contemplated.

The Cowper Clinic and Hospital and the Medical Arts Clinic also had battery-powered lanterns, which came on instantly when the power went off in Cowper while a switch was flipped to put them into operation at Medical Arts. Besides being in all surgical areas in the obstetrical rooms, they were also in the Cowper hallways.

The Webb Air Force Base Hospital was supplied by a non-automatic, 60,000 watt generator which furnished electricity to the surgical and obstetrical wards. It was felt that this power supply was necessary, therefore a generator was originally installed instead of battery-powered facilities.

The State Hospital has one battery-powered light in the surgical room, while the nurses stations are equipped with flashlights.

Lamesans To Get New Numbers

LAMESA (SC)—General Telephone Co. of the Southwest has announced that effective March 26, 1965, all Lamesa telephone numbers will change to seven-digit ones. The new system is known as the All Number Calling (ANC) Plan.

Four digit numbers presently assigned Lamesa patrons will not change, but a prefix composed of the numbers "872" will be added. New city telephone directories will be distributed prior to the changeover and will include the new ANC numbers.

Husky Venezuelan Quints Celebrate First Birthday

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—The Prieto quintuplets bawled, wiggled and squealed through their first birthday festivities and finished in better shape than their tired parents.

"It'll be good getting back to work," said Efrén Lubin Prieto, 40, ruggedly handsome father of the five boys after a round of weekend partying during which they were showered with gifts, toys, cakes and baby foods.

The husky, bouncy quint were born a year ago today, but birthday festivities were held Saturday and Sunday because their father had to return today to his $10.63-a-day job, operating an oil field drill.

The babies — Robinson, Otto, Juan Jose, Fernando and Mario — are growing and healthy. There is only a slight physical resemblance among them. Except for Robinson and Otto, they appear to have distinctive personality traits, according to their mother.

"They're no problem," said Ines Maria Prieto, 36. "They are never sick and eat well."

employer, the Creole Petroleum Corp.

Robinson is the heaviest at 29.3 pounds, while Otto, the most playful, scales at 27.5. Mario is the tallest at better than 30 inches and weighs 27.9 pounds. Fernando weighs 24.4 and Juan Jose 23.

Dies In Collision

WALSHE, Colo. (AP)—A two-car collision near this southern Colorado town killed Fernando Cisneros, 56, of Brownsville, Tex. (25 Korea Street), and injured seven other persons. The accident occurred Saturday night.

Throngs Promptly Devour Traditional Six Ton Pie

DENBY DALE, England (AP) — The great pie of Denby Dale, largest ever seen in this home of monster pies, emerged in triumph from its oven Saturday and was promptly devoured by waiting throngs.

For 36 hours its six tons of beef, potatoes, spices and crust, had baked and bubbled in Hector Buckley's barn, overlooked by a herd of cows, including the mothers of some of its ingredients.

As eating time drew near, the pie, on its 16-wheeler trailer, started a ceremonial journey to the field in which Denby Dale has eaten pie for at least two centuries. Pipe, brass and jazz bands heralded its progress. Behind came a dozen floats devoted to the theme that the next most appetizing thing to a pie is a pretty girl.

After a blessing from the village parson and a hymn in memory of four Denby pie organizers killed in a car crash, the crust was cut.

From the interior of the massive pie dish rose a magnificent aroma. Thousands lined up for a morsel. It proved a peerless pie, rich and spicy with enough salt to generate an adequate thirst, and a crust exactly the right shade of brown. Its culinary success was indisputable.

Its commercial success, however, was in some doubt.

The crowd of 40,000 to 50,000 fell below the vast assemblage for which the village pie committee had prepared. Enough was there, however, to demolish the pie, which was divided into 30,000 portions and sold at 10 shillings — $1.40 — a piece, including the price of a commemorative plate.

Denby Dale, a Yorkshire village otherwise known for its fine worsted cloth, has been making great pies since the 18th century.

The first, in 1788, celebrated a temporary bout of sanity on the part of King George III. The second, 27 years later, greeted Britain's victory over Napoleon.

The 1887 pie for Queen Victoria's jubilee went bad and is recalled with a shudder by the village elders as the "high pie." This year's pie was the eighth, and was larger than any seen before. It celebrates the four royal births of 1964, among them Queen Elizabeth's third son, Prince Edward.

The pie survived reported threats of sabotage, which Denby suspects originated in the neighboring village of Clayton West, where they specialize in giant puddings. It survived, too, the hazardous descent of a hill called Rombly Pickle, a hill so steep that one by 6 feet wide and 18 inches deep. Now that the pie is eaten, the pie committee hopes to sail the dish across the English Channel.

latest pie measured 18 feet long and 6 feet wide and 18 inches deep. Now that the pie is eaten, the pie committee hopes to sail the dish across the English Channel.

Bigger Budget Earmarked For Cotton Research

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Cotton farmers will spend $2.6 million for research and promotion in 1965 and estimate nearly twice that figure will be available for building markets and profits the following year.

A total of $1,792,274 was budgeted for cotton promotion and $867,000 for research during 1965, according to Roy Davis, Lubbock, and Jack Funk, Harlingen, Texas trustees for the Cotton Producers Institute.

At a meeting of Institute trustees here this week it was revealed estimates of grower-participation on the current cotton crop indicate funds for the 1966 program will be almost double the present budget. The Institute now is operating in 12 of the 14 major cotton states, and further expansion is expected.

Aim of the promotion program approved by the trustees is to convince housewives and others to buy "comfortable, carefree cotton products. Campaigns are scheduled for spring and fall during heavy textile buying months.

Extensive merchandising work by leading garment manufacturers and Sears, Montgomery Ward and J. C. Penney will give cotton products a strong push at the retail level. This group will use posters, ad reprints, direct mail, ad mats for local stores and other materials featuring cotton.

Trustees budgeted $867,000 for 27 research projects. New

Johnson Upholds Atomic Controls

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson, taking sharp issue with Sen. Barry Goldwater, said today no U.S. president can give up his responsibility over use of nuclear weapons.

Goldwater, Johnson's Republican opponent in the November election, has suggested that NATO commanders be given discretion to use some nuclear weapons.

Goldwater has described the

Gen. Burns Dies Saturday

Lt. Gen. Robert W. Burns, who retired as commander of Air Training Command last Wednesday, died Saturday in San Antonio after a short illness. Gen. Burns, 55, had been hospitalized at Lackland for a short period, but his death was unexpected.

He entered the Army Air Corps in 1928, and had been in the service for 35 years, serving as an Air Force Commander, planner and tactician.

The general was director of Operations for the Eighth Air Force in England during World War II, and planned and directed the mass Air Force raids over Hitler-held Europe. The success of the operations led to the establishment of the Air Force as a powerful military force. He served at Air Force Headquarters in Washington and was responsible for many planning actions leading to the establishment of the Air Force as a separate military department in 1948.

Other posts held by Gen. Burns included chief of staff of the Air Training Command which included all bases similar to Webb Air Force Base; assistant deputy chief of staff for Air Force Operations worldwide, and later as assistant vice chief of staff; commander of Air Proving Ground Command, Eglin AFB, Fla.; Commander of the Fifth Air Force and U.S. forces in Japan.

Barn Of Hay Burns Sunday

A fire Sunday afternoon in a barn south of FM 700 on Birdwell Lane burned some 40 bales of hay and left heavy damage to the building, firemen reported.

The fire started about 2:30 p.m. in the barn, located to the rear of the Whitefield Plumbing Shop, firemen said. Owner of the barn and hay is Jimmy Whitefield, 1301 Settles.

Firemen were also called to the J. T. Grantham residence, 207 Main, about 10:25 a.m. Sunday when cleaning fluid caught fire from a water heater.

weapons he has in mind as conventional nuclear weapons.

"There is no such thing as conventional nuclear weapons," Johnson said in a speech prepared for a Labor Day rally sponsored by the Wayne County AFL-CIO in this stronghold of organized labor.

Johnson said for 19 peril-filled years no nation has loosed the atom against another. He added:

"To do so now is political decision of the highest order. It would lead us down an uncertain path of blows and counterblows whose outcome none may know. No president of the United States can divest himself of the responsibility for such a decision."

"Any man who shares control of such enormous power must remember that 'He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city.'"

"No leader of free men can be guided by fear. But I am concerned for our people and for their children, and for all that man has created and stood for and lived by."

Describing modern weapons as "not like any other," Johnson said that in the first nuclear exchange 100 million Americans and more than 100 million Russians would all be dead, adding:

"And when it was over, our great cities would be in ashes, our fields barren, our industry destroyed, our dreams vanished."

Johnson did not mention Goldwater by name in a speech in which he put a heavy emphasis on unity, peace, prosperity and justice. So heavy was his emphasis on unity in that his prepared text did not even mention the Democratic party by name.

Rather, he asked for "brotherhood among men and understanding among nations. He pledged that 'if America stands united,' we will keep moving forward, for years to come."

Students Are Swarming In

Students were swarming into the two dormitories at Howard County Junior College today in preparation for start of a new year's work.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that 97 boys and 41 girls had been assigned so far and that this was nearing a limit of capacity. Still others are expected to apply for dormitory placement.

Freshman orientation will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday in the college auditorium. Testing will continue through most of the day, but it is more for guidance and counseling than anything else, although the math section will be used for placement on pre-engineering students.

Registration for freshmen starts Wednesday morning in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building, followed by registration of all others Thursday and start of classes Friday. Evening school registration will be held Wednesday and Thursday and during next week.

C. A. Ryerson Dies Sunday

Charles Aloysius Ryerson, 51, of 1710 1/2 W. Second, died at 12:30 p.m. Sunday in the Veterans Administration Hospital. He was an upholsterer by trade and had lived in Big Spring for a number of years.

A veteran of World War II in which he was a member of the Air Force, Mr. Ryerson was born March 21, 1913 in Fort Jervis, N. Y.

Services are to be at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Rosewood Chapel with Capt. William Thomas of the Salvation Army officiating. Burial is to be in the National Cemetery in El Paso but the time has not been fixed. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

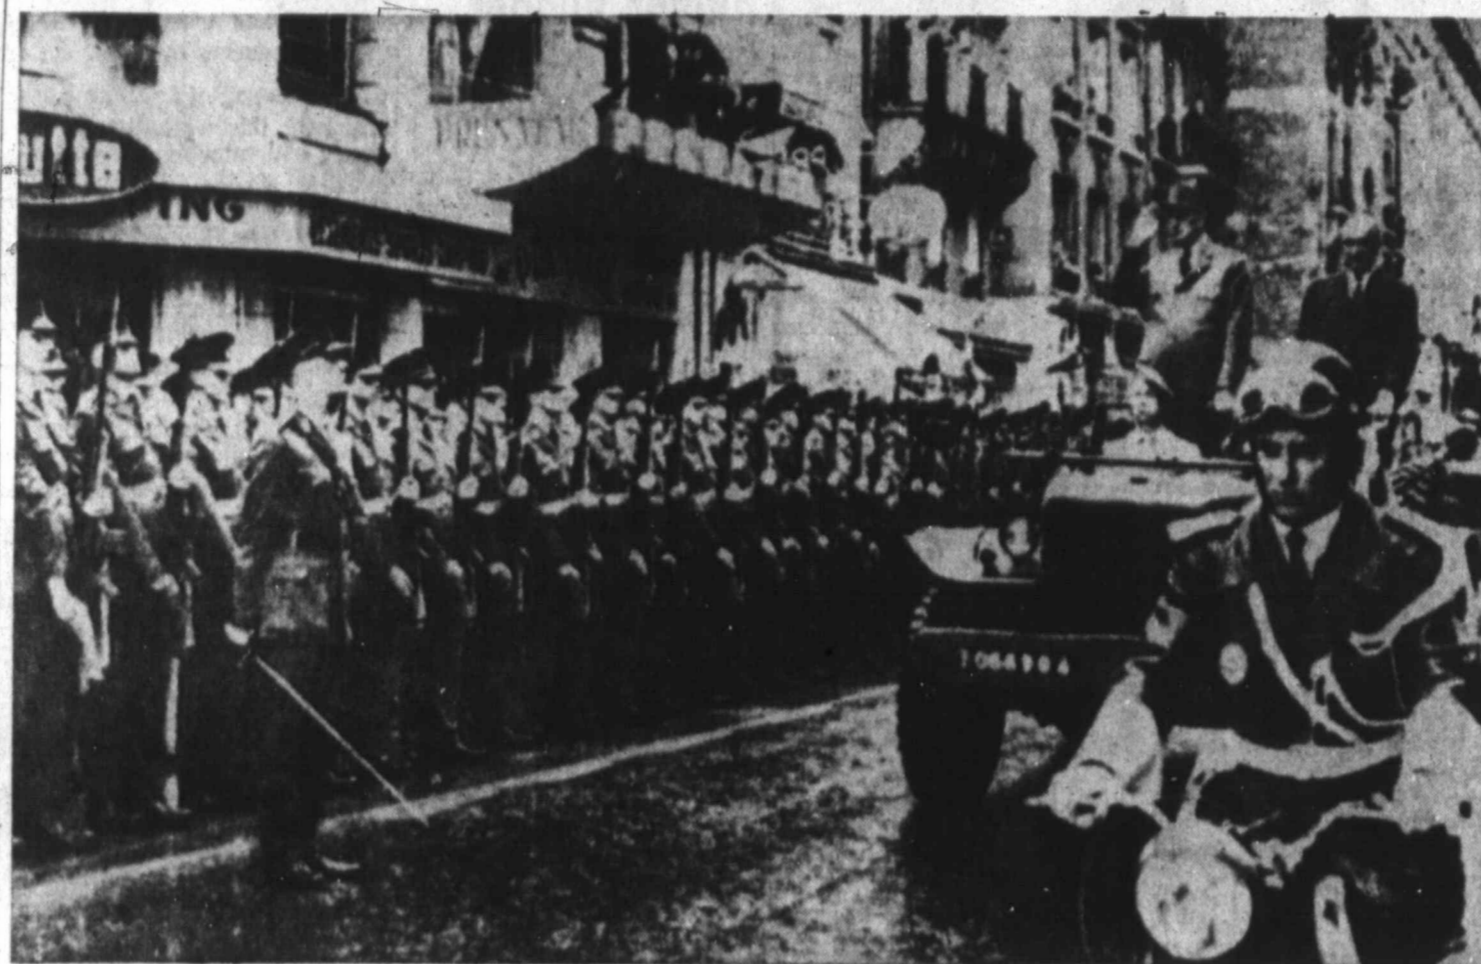

Survivors include four sons, Charles E. Ryerson, George E. Ryerson, Waltham L. Ryerson, and Buddy R. Ryerson; a and two daughters, Arvella Ryerson and Evelyn Ryerson, all of Big Spring.

Two Burglaries Are Investigated

Police investigated two burglaries during the weekend. A large quantity of cigarettes and about $40 in change were reported taken from the L and M Cafe, 410 N. Bell.

Officers said someone apparently entered the building by breaking open a door on the south side.

Someone broke into the Jazz Lounge, 503 NW 4th, and ate a ham hock and sausage before leaving with a 1 1/2 gallon bottle of wine and a small amount of change, police reported. Entry was gained through a stime parlor adjacent to the lounge, officers said.

Round-Clock Sessions Likely In UAW-Chrysler Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler and the United Auto Workers Union were expected to go into virtually "round-the-clock" bargaining sessions today in efforts to avoid a crippling strike of some 75,000 workers.

With a strike deadline only two days away, negotiators met throughout most of Sunday and into early Monday morning, but there was no word on what progress was being made — if any — on union demands for a new labor contract.

Under joint agreement, a news blackout was imposed Saturday to prevent leaks which might embarrass one side or the other.

UAW President Walter Reuther, who was to introduce President Johnson at a Labor Day rally in Detroit's Kennedy Square, planned to join the bargaining table for an hour or so before catching up with the President downtown.

The fact that Reuther decided to stay with the negotiations rather than greet the President expressed hope Saturday that a strike could be prevented by "hard, practical, give-and-take bargaining."

Reuther announced earlier that once a settlement is reached, the union then would turn its full attention to Ford, with GM coming last. Negotiations have been continuing at both companies on a secondary level.

Bargaining at American Motors, where the contract runs out Oct. 15, resumes this week.

Malaysia Curfew Eased But New Threat Appears

SINGAPORE, Malaysia (AP) — Singapore's curfew was eased today as racial fighting slackened off. But a new threat to Malaysia was raised by Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio.

Subandrio, after a meeting Sunday of Indonesia's supreme operation command in Jakarta, said that Indonesia is "now on the offensive" against the British-backed federation.

Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman declared in Kuala Lumpur Singapore's second outbreak in six weeks of fighting between Chinese and Malays had been inspired by Indonesian and Communist Chinese agents.

The death toll rose to 12 today when an unidentified man was stabbed in the city's tense Geylang area during a break in the curfew.

A truck loaded with workers was stoned during the curfew break. Six persons attacked a pedestrian in a Chinese section and injured him critically.

The curfew was lifted between 5 and 9:30 a.m. and between 3:30 and 6 p.m.

The new afternoon break gave workers a chance to go to and from work. The big port came back into action with more than 5,000 dockers reporting for work.

Communiqués from the jungle in the southwest corner of Malaysia said "the situation remains unchanged" and "mopping up operations are continuing" against infiltrating Indonesian guerrillas.

New Zealand infantrymen were in position in the coastal Pontian region of Johore State, where a seaborne force of 100 men slipped ashore from Indonesia Aug. 17. Fourteen have been reported killed and some 50 captured.

In the Labis area of Johore, 60 miles inland, Gurkha riflemen combed heavy forests for Indonesian parachutists the government claims were dropped last Wednesday. A military spokesman said four of the landing party have been killed and at least seven taken prisoner.

Malaysian security forces reported they killed five Indonesians in a clash Sunday along the border between Indonesian and Malaysian Borneo. A Malaysian spokesman said an Indonesian patrol started the

Miller Hits ADA, Draft, Humphrey

LOWELL, Ind. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller challenged President Johnson on the draft issue, stepped up attacks on Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey on the ADA issue and made public an accounting of his finances in a Labor Day weekend burst of political activity.

The Republican vice presidential nominee moved across Indiana today on his first major campaign swing. He began Sunday with the distribution of an accountant's report setting the net worth of Miller and his wife at $280,730.

President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential candidate, authorized the issuance of their financial statements earlier.

Humphrey said he also would give a public accounting of his finances as soon as an audit now under way is completed.

Miller listed assets of $327,725, most of it in stocks and bonds and life insurance. He reported $39,686 in cash in four New York State banks and an investment account.

He listed liabilities of $66,995 in real estate mortgages and loans.

Miller said at a news conference Sunday night at Gary that the military draft could be ended within six months if Goldwater were elected president in November.

Miller ignored President Johnson's statement Saturday that the draft should not be a campaign issue.

The vice presidential nominee pressed Republican arguments for ending the draft and said a well-paid, volunteer program would be more effective and that the lives of all young men would not be disrupted by the prospect of military service. Miller continued to attack Humphrey on the basis of the latter's role as a founder, former chairman and continuing member of Americans for Democratic Action.

Miller described the organization Saturday in his campaign kickoff speech as a radical leftist group trying to transform the United States into a Socialist totalitarianism.

Desegregation Resistance Dwindles

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Southern resistance to school desegregation is disappearing a decade after the landmark Supreme Court decision.

There still is resistance, resentment and reluctant acceptance. But the quiet, sometimes voluntary erasure of color lines this fall throughout the South points toward growing acceptance or resignation.

In Greenville, S.C., 14 white schools were desegregated last Tuesday voluntarily. The worst incident was a white boy's yell to a Negro boy and girl.

"Go home," he yelled. But he did nothing else.

Americus, Ga., a racial hot spot last summer, voluntarily and without any prior announcement admitted four Negroes to its white high school.

In Birmingham, Ala., where violence came last year with desegregation, there was nothing worse than some segregationist picketing.

And in Mississippi, last of the states to begin desegregation, seven Negro first-graders sat in the same classrooms with white pupils last Monday at Biloxi.

There was no trouble.

That has been the story this fall, from rural Virginia to rural Louisiana and Mississippi.

Oddly, the border state of Kentucky had the first trouble — fires in the Negro section of Mount Sterling after schools were integrated.

The possibility of trouble, however, has not been precluded since all Southern schools have not opened. Among schools facing desegregation next week are those in Montgomery, Ala., and Albany, Ga.

Figures on desegregation are not kept in some of the states, but a survey indicates more than 100 new districts or counties are removing racial lines this term.

More than 5,000 Negroes will be in desegregated schools in half a dozen states — as an example.

This is the breakdown by states:

ALABAMA — Three more communities begin this year. Desegregation which began last term has expanded in Birmingham, Mobile, Huntsville and Tuskegee. The angry resistance of last year is absent. All the state's Catholic schools were put on an unsegregated basis Tuesday.

ARKANSAS — Expansion of desegregation at Little Rock and Fort Smith, plus new desegregation at eight other cities and towns is resulting in about 870 Negroes attending previously white schools, compared to 390 last year. Twenty-one districts desegregated compared to 13 last year.

FLORIDA — Four more counties have integrated, bringing to 21 the number with desegregation policy (state has 67 counties). Schools in northwest Florida integrated without trouble. Estimated 8,000 Negroes attending once-white schools.

GEORGIA — Six more cities begin desegregation, for total of 10 — all major cities. More than 900 Negroes in 28 schools of which most are in Atlanta.

LOUISIANA — New Orleans desegregation reaches the fourth grade. High school at Greensburg enrolled three Negroes. East Baton Rouge parish begins Catholic school desegregation. Four public high schools began last fall.

MISSISSIPPI — Sixteen Negroes broke the racial barrier at four Biloxi elementary schools. One Negro registered at rural Carthage, birthplace of segregationist former Gov. Ross Barnett. Jackson facing desegregation.

NORTH CAROLINA — Integration becoming general and no figures available on number of Negroes and school districts involved.

SOUTH CAROLINA — About 200 Negroes attending once-white schools in 12 counties in a big jump from initial desegregation at Charleston. Much has been voluntarily this year.

TENNESSEE — Nine new districts desegregating, bringing total to 54 out of 154 districts. Knoxville and Knox County have dropped racial bars in all grades.

Lt. Gov. Smith says additional cash needs can best be met by "knocking out the exemptions in the sales tax law and having an across-the-boards tax." Smith said—it would require taxing of groceries—"but it would be our best bet." A similar opinion is held by state Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas.

DESPITE BIG REVENUE FUND BALANCE

State's Largest Budget

AUSTIN (AP)—While the state comptroller recorded the state's largest general revenue fund balance in 15 years Tuesday, budget makers were completing the largest budget request in the state's history.

The fiscal 1964 year books were closed with $73 million left over. Requests for the 1966 and 1967 fiscal years added up to $3.75 billion—an increase of $622.5 million.

SETS STAGE
This sets the stage for the 1965 legislature, where one of the main problems again will be: Where to get the money to pay the bills. The $73 million balance, budget officials say, probably will be repeated next year. This would give lawmakers a head start on 1966-67 financing.

But, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith points out, "This good news is quickly tempered by the realization that normal growth increases for education alone will consume the ($70-$80 million) surplus automatically and leave a $50 million gap."

Smith's warning has not deterred the state agencies from asking for big increases. The budget-writing cycle began early this year, when the Legislative Budget Board mailed instructions to state agencies. EXAMINERS

Then, one at a time, the agencies took their budgets before examiners of the budget board and the Governor's Budget Office.

The first hearing May 26 at Waco for a civil appeals court set the pace for others — the judges want higher salaries, budget examiners were told.

The hearings continued almost daily during the summer, and the last one will be held Friday at East Texas State College in Commerce. Budget Board recommendations will be made Dec. 15.

The hearings produced the same pleas as in previous years: State agencies are losing good men because salaries are too low; deplorable physical conditions and growth require new buildings; and state colleges need to spend more to keep up with national standards and higher enrollments.

EXAMPLES
Some examples: — Hospital Board — Asked for a 28 per cent jump to $128.6 million for the biennium, including $13 million for new institutions. — Youth Council — up 30 per cent to $18.3 million, including $3.5 million for new construction. — University of Texas — Up $21 million to $63.7 million, mostly for quality improvements. Texas Education Agency—Up $138 million to $1.13 billion, mostly for increases for vocational education and salaries of top administrators. — The total comes to $3,753,112,866 from the general revenue fund and other sources. The last legislature appropriated $3.15 billion. — The difference of $622.5 million likely will shrink a lot in the coming months.

First, the House Appropriations Committee will hold hearings, and probably pare the budget requests below the reduced figures offered by the governor and the Legislative Budget Board.

TO SENATE
Then, the Appropriations Committee version is sent to the Senate after House passage, and senators likely will make further revision. The last step is another going-over, this time by a House-Senate conference committee.

A look at the whole budget cycle two years ago shows the total budget requests after the summer hearings were $3.32 billion. By the time the budget cycle was complete, the legislature had cut this down to $3.13 billion.

If the 1965 legislature cuts out the same proportion, the final budget will be about $3.53 billion

American Legion Members Head For Dallas Convention

DALLAS (AP) — The first trickle of what will become a river of American Legion members begins flowing into Texas next week for the national convention.

Although there was a time when the approach of a Legion convention was eyed something like an advancing hurricane, this isn't so today.

"They're educated," says Bill Miller, who has made a career of preparing for Legion conventions.

In the days up to World War II, Legion conventions were pretty noisy affairs, all in good fun but still noisy. No more.

It isn't, says Miller, that the one-time warriors are getting old and thereby sedate. After all, there is a lot of energy left in the World War II and Korean conflict boys, and even some of the World War I doughboys have plenty of life left.

Miller explains that once the Legion convention was the big outing.

"They would leave their wives at home and go out with the fellows and have a good time," he says.

In these days, with all the meetings and seminars and conventions, the Legion affair is just another meeting to the ex-soldiers, Miller explains—perhaps a special meeting to them, but they have had outlets during the year.

Just to make it official, look at some of the prohibitions imposed for the gigantic parade which will last 5 to 6 hours beginning at 10 a.m. Sept. 21:

The drinking of intoxicants or even appearing to drink intoxicants is banned.

Any Legionnaire with a load on is automatically out of the line of march.

No one can use water pistols or that one-time favorite of the Legion, the electric shocking device with which the Legionnaires made the girls scream.

No firecrackers or other explosives allowed.

The two big days as far as speeches are concerned are expected to be Sept. 22 and 23.

Although it has not been confirmed, the possibility is strong that President Lyndon Johnson will address the Legion Sept. 22. This would be convenient since he is scheduled to be in El Paso Sept. 25 to meet with Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos for the formal turning over to Mexico of El Chamizal, a piece of land now a part of the United States but on which Mexico had claims for decades.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee for President, is expected to address the convention Sept. 23. There has been no official announcement but Goldwater will be in Dallas that day.

The actual business sessions of the convention begin Sept. 22, but the national headquarters staff arrives Sept. 13 and from then on it is a constant round of committee meetings and contests.

Registering will be 15,000, but many thousands more will be drawn to Dallas for the convention.

Hurricanes Tracked By Weather Service

Three characteristics are considered in analyzing a tropical hurricane—the storm's intensity, its speed and direction, and the size of the area it covers. Learning these facts is the task of aerial weather reconnaissance units of the Air Force Air Weather Service.

In the Atlantic, the seasonal job of flying into the most violent weather in the world to get knowledge to forecast tropical hurricanes is assigned to flying weathermen of the 53rd Weather Reconnaissance Squadron. Men of this unit are stationed at Hunter AFB, Ga., near Savannah, and known as the Hurricane Hunters, fly the Boeing WB-50 for the last time this year as they track these violent storms. Air Weather Service is now equipped with Boeing WB-47s, which will fly high-altitude missions on 1964 hurricanes and assume the full task of storm reconnaissance in 1965. Both of these weather aircraft, packed with special weather instruments, gather temperature, barometric pressure, humidity and wind-speed and direction data.

Data for altitudes below flight level is obtained by an instrument called a dropsonde, a collection of weather-sensing instruments in a small case which is dropped from the aircraft by parachute. Instrument readings are radioed back to the aircraft by a small transmitter in the dropsonde.

When an observer on a ship or island in the Atlantic reports conditions which suggest a storm, the National Hurricane center in Miami, Fla., alerts the flying weathermen in Georgia. They find the storm and determine its characteristics.

Each June through November, the official hurricane season, Hurricane Hunters fly a reconnaissance track in the Atlantic called Gull Charlie.

Jouncing through a hurricane's wall cloud, sometimes through clouds and rain so dense they shroud the wingtips, is no easy trick. The storm's eye, surrounded by the wall cloud, is virtually cloud-free and can be spotted by radar. It is comparatively calm and serene.

Hurricane names are as follows (Q, U, X, Y and Z are dropped):

Wesley	Wesley	Wesley
Abby	Alma	Arlene
Brenda	Betsy	Becky
Carole	Cecilia	Cindy
Dora	Debbie	Dorothy
Eileen	Ellen	Edith
Florence	Frances	Flossy

Tropical storms are classed as depressions until wind force exceeds 38 miles per hour, as storms from 39-72 m.p.h. and as hurricanes when winds reach 73 m.p.h. Warnings are issued for predicted winds according to the following scale: wind—38 m.p.h. or less; gale—39-54 m.p.h.; storm—55-72 m.p.h.; and hurricane—73 m.p.h. or greater.

When a depression reaches, or is predicted to reach, tropical storm force, it receives a name. Beginning with the 1960 season, a set of four alphabetical lists of girls' names were used, starting a new list each season and rotating them in succession. If a major hurricane seriously affects the United States, its name is retired for 10 years, and a new one substituted.

Hurricane reconnaissance originated in May, 1944, when a predetermined routes over the Atlantic, taking observations every 150 miles. Information is used to support military operations and helps in predicting world-wide weather.

MR. AND MRS. J. L. ADAMS

Anniversary Affair Held In Washington

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Adams celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently with an open house at their lakeside home in Manson, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Adams were married in Big Spring in 1914 and lived in the Coahoma and Big Spring area until 1960 when they retired and moved to Manson.

Hosts and hostesses for the occasion were the couple's son, Maj. Robert L. Adams of Har-

Anthony Blotta
Little 'Something' Dress That's New

Anthony Blotta greets a fresh new season with his little "something" dress that can do nothing but flatter its wearer. In the skillful hands of this master craftsman, bias and straight fabric are effectively combined and moulded into an outstanding style. The sleeved yoke and the dress side sections are cut on the straight to contrast with the bias center parts. Its pleat-eased skirt front takes a slow curve over the hips while the back panels widen into a small flare at the hem. To keep everything beautifully under control and insure a wonderful fit, the skirt is smoothly darted at the sides.

A perfect treasure for any season and almost any occasion in sheer wool, fine tweeds, worsteds, silk or rayon crepe, faille, shantung, linen or novelty cotton. To select your correct size, use Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear size chart.

Moore, Wilson Vows Pledged

A military wedding with a Hawaiian theme was performed Saturday afternoon at two o'clock to unite Miss Diana Louise Wilson and Lt. Roger A. C. Moore. The Rev. Robert J. McDermott, St. Thomas Catholic Church, read the nuptial rites in the chapel at Webb Air Force Base.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Wilson, Honolulu, Hawaii, and the bridegroom's parents are Col. (USAF Ret.) and Mrs. Roger W. Moore, Falls Church, Va.

Two large, white antherium bouquets with lemon leaves cradled the altar and two smaller matching arrangements were placed on statures. Pews were marked with white satin bows attached to sprays of lemon leaves and white satin ribbon was draped between pews. A large double vanda orchid lei attached to the first pews was cut as the bride's mother entered.

Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, accompanied Mrs. Harold Talbot as she presented a program of religious songs including "Ave Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was groomed in a formal Hawaiian holoaku of white cluney lace over organdy. The gown was a panelled sheath with a V yoke trimmed in white lace ruffles. A floor-length train was attached at the base of the yoke. Her headress was a band of organdy etched in white lace to which strands of pikake were attached. The wrist-length tiered veiling was gathered at the back and caught with a white velvet bow.

The bridal bouquet was formed of two white catalpa orchids arranged with lemon leaves and attached to four pikake leis which were used later at the reception.

Mrs. Thomas Poston, Honolulu, attended her sister as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Steven Oka, formerly of Honolulu, now of Webb AFB, and Mrs. Fred Domingo, formerly of Honolulu, now of San Antonio. Their dresses were holoakus of yellow embroidered white eyelet. The yoke and wrist-length sleeves were etched in white lace. The cap was heart-shaped and of matching material with yellow veiling and topped with small white antheriums. Each carried a white antherium bouquet.

The best man was Lt. Michael Spoer, and the ushers were Lt. Steven Oka, Lt. Stuart Mays, Lt. Willard Parma and

Lt. Frank Ralston. The men wore military formal mess jackets with sabres which they crossed as the couple left the church. Two of the sabres belong to the bridegroom's father and one was used to cut the cake at the reception.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the Fireplace Room of the Officers' Club where the attendants and parents of the honored couple joined them in receiving guests.

The entertaining area was decked with over 100 orchids and ti leaves, and two large kahilis covered with white satin ribbon and plumeria blossoms flanked the fireplace.

The refreshment table featured an assortment of Hawaiian food and a three-tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Troy Brewton, Atlanta, Ga., aunt of the bride, presided at the guest register.

WEDDING TRIP

Following a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., the couple will reside at 2606 Larry Drive. For travel, the bride chose a black crepe costume with white ruffles edging the neckline and sleeves.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at the Holiday Inn.

Spike Heels Give Airlines Trouble

A 100-pound woman with high spiked heels exerts the equivalent of nearly a ton of pressure per square inch when she walks across the floor. (Petite passengers in spiked heels even sent jet aircraft designers back to the drawing boards because of the damage they were doing to the flight deck.)

One floor surfacing material that is impervious to spiked heels is real ceramic tile. Ceramic tile can stand the most rugged of treatment and still retain its natural beauty.

Banks Calls On Officers For Strict Enforcement

Parents in Texas may be held liable for damage done by their youngsters up to $300, under a Texas law which has been on the books for several years. Civil suits by damaged property owners may be instituted to recover damages, plus court costs.

Kentucky is now trying a similar law to curb willful vandalism by juveniles, and some reaction indicates that parents may have more concern about where their youngsters are and what they are doing.

A lot of vandalism and willful destruction of private property in Big Spring, has been done during the past year, most of which has been paid out of insurance funds.

"The Texas law has not been used much in Big Spring," Chief Jay Banks said this week. "Most of those suffering damage don't seem to want to get involved with parents of youngsters vandalizing their property. They prefer to let their insurance take care of the loss. Some of the lack of concern may be due to lack of knowledge of the law. Whatever the reason, insurance rates go up as more payments are made."

"It seems to be a trend, nationally, to not want to get involved."

"Also it seems that criminals on all levels are more and more protected by court decisions, and new laws handcuff law enforcement officers while coddling violators. Some people believe that property rights, property, and lives, should be protected by our laws, but the trend, indicated by the rapidly rising crime rate in the nation, is toward abandonment of any rights," Banks continued.

A memorandum issued to Big Spring police officers Aug. 29, calls for more drastic action on disturbances and destruction of property.

"I have noted several instances where violent acts have occurred, or there have been serious disturbances, and no complaints filed, and no arrests made because the victims hadn't filed a complaint. I have noted that, in some of the cases, our officers were aware of the identity of the offenders, the victim, and, in some cases, the identity of one or more witnesses," Banks states. "We are responsible for maintaining law and order in the city regardless of the wishes of a victim to settle the affair himself. Wherever the circumstances warrant, we should file complaints ourselves, and make arrests of offenders, citing witnesses and victims into court to testify."

"The officers of this department are instructed to take whatever steps necessary to stop disturbances and disregard for people's rights and property by anyone, especially the young men and juveniles who seem to be looking for trouble. In taking necessary law enforcement action, the officers will be fair and just, but will demand respect for themselves at all times—from all persons. Some disturbances have occurred at the Police Building by teenagers after an arrest has been made. Some parents have been abusive to police officers. This is not to be tolerated."

Banks said fair examples of problems faced by law enforcement officers have been brought to his attention recently. One was the request of a shopping center to stop use of sidewalks by skateboard riders, after a glass door and a plate glass window had been broken. Parents called and berated the police for stopping their youngsters from creating a hazard on the other people's private property.

Another was a report of breaking and entering a house in Big Spring, where a family saw the whole act and didn't want to report it because they didn't want to "get involved." One member did go to the police several days later and report it, resulting in arrests.

"Why people have these attitudes, we don't understand," the chief said. "Our experience has been that those not wanting to get involved when they see something happening, are the first to cry the loudest when something happens to them. These things can happen both ways, and the only way to slow criminal acts is for every citizen to recognize his own rights which may some day be violated."

No Holding Out, Say Two Warren Probers

DALLAS (AP)—Two Warren Commission members said Sunday that its report on the assassination of President Kennedy will be "a full report of all evidence and exhibits" uncovered during the investigation.

The statement was made by Sens. Richard Russell, D-Ga., and John Cooper, R-Ky., when they were asked at a news conference if the commission would withhold some of its findings when it issued the report.

Russell also said that the commission report would vary from published accounts about its contents and added "You persons will find some differences and plenty to write about."

The Georgia senator said he did not know when the report would be released but that it should be in the near future and before the end of the year. He told newsmen that "the work of the commission is over the hill and the end is in sight."

Russell, Cooper and a third commission member, Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., Sunday inspected the spot near the Texas Book Depository Building where the President was assassinated Nov. 22 and then met behind closed doors for five hours with Mrs. Marina Oswald, widow of the accused presidential assassin.

Russell said that the Russian-born widow of Lee Harvey Oswald provided additional information "to fill in missing places in previous testimony and to clarify some conflicting points."

While declining to discuss specifically her testimony, Russell said it was helpful but that it contained "no new shocking or startling information."

J. Lee Rankin, commission counsel, who accompanied the three members to Dallas, said that all of the panel have now visited Dallas and that in all probability no additional trips would be necessary.

For Russell and Boggs it was the first trip to Dallas as members of the commission, headed by U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren. Cooper had been here earlier in the year.

Secret Service men took the members on an extensive tour yesterday. They also saw the house where Oswald lived, the spot where Officer J. D. Tippit was killed, the theater in which Oswald was arrested, and the basement of the city jail where Oswald was killed Nov. 24 by Jack Ruby, Dallas night club operator.

Oswald, who had also been charged with Tippit's death, was fatally shot by Ruby before a nationwide television audience as the accused assassin was being transferred from the city to the county jail. Ruby is now under the death sentence for the slaying.

Texas Employment Gains Above National Average

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Aside from farming, Texas employment has risen much faster than the nation as a whole since 1939, a federal labor report says.

Non-agricultural employment in Texas rose 151 per cent between 1939 and 1963, while the nation's recorded 86.7 per cent increase.

The Department of Labor's BISTICS Bureau in Atlanta said Sunday that Texas leads the South in the total number of job holders. Texas ranks sixth among the 50 states.

The department gave these comparative statistics on Texas employment, with the 1939 figure given first and the 1963 total second:

- Mining 65,500, 113,100.
- Contract construction 69,500, 174,000.
- Manufacturing 179,700, 514,600.
- Transportation and utilities 136,200, 217,600.
- Wholesale and retail trade 287,500, 670,200.
- Finance, insurance and real estate 42,500, 151,500.
- Services and miscellaneous 141,500, 378,300.
- Government 148,300, 478,300.

increased on an average from $53.34 weekly in 1949 to $97.29 in 1963, a boost of 82 per cent, second highest among the southern states.

The bureau pointed out there is considerable variation in average earnings among states which reflect types of industry. Texas, said the bureau, has a concentration of workers in high skill industries such as chemicals, petroleum refining, primary metals, machinery and transportation equipment.

States with a large percentage of laborers employed in the lower paying industries, such as textile and apparel, report smaller average earnings, the agency said.

The figures are from a new Bureau of Labor Statistics report of employment and earnings.

The report shows that in 1963, manufacturing employment averaged 107,600 in Dallas, 52,100 in Fort Worth, 93,800 in Houston and 23,800 in San Antonio.

In that year, factory production workers received gross average weekly earnings of $87.57 in Dallas, $102.24 in Fort Worth, $133.70 in Houston and $72.22 in San Antonio.

A Devotional For The Day

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. (Matthew 11:28.)

PRAYER: O Thou who art the creator and sustainer of life, in whom and through whom all things have their being, we thank Thee for the privilege of sharing in the world's work and thereby contributing to the ongoing life of mankind. Grant us strength and grace that we may be good workers, laboring in the spirit of Christ, our Redeemer and Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Representation And Home Rule

After a third of a century of struggle, the Texas county home-rule movement has yet to succeed in getting a home-rule charter for a single county. But the movement is continuing, and appears likely eventually to succeed in getting home-rule in at least the major metropolitan counties where it is most urgently needed.

Texas voters approved a county home-rule constitutional amendment away back in 1933, but it proved—probably by rurally oriented legislative design—to be unworkable. The next big push came in the mid-1950s on the heels of the population-urbanization "explosion" in Texas' metropolitan counties. Led by Harris County, the state's most populous counties got a study commission bill through the Legislature in 1955, but no agreement was ever reached on the constitutional amendment needed.

In 1959 Bexar County citizens groups launched a campaign to get home-rule in that county alone and that effort is snarled in complex local politics and litigation on appeal to the Texas Supreme Court. The Houston Chamber of Commerce has returned to the fray in Harris County, launching a study of needed reforms in local governmental structures that will include the county home-rule proposal.

The prospect for any favorable county home-rule action in the next session of the Legislature is near nil. The metropolitan counties are nowhere near any agreed proposal, which is a practical prerequisite for serious legislative consideration of the necessary constitutional amendment. And court-ordered legislative and congressional redistricting is about as much as a regular session can handle in the way of highly controversial major political issues.

However, if the near-revolutionary reorganization of the Legislature now anticipated is actually compelled, the new urban-oriented legislature would give the county home-rule movement fresh hope for early success. The metropolitan counties then would have enough representation to get through any county home-rule amendment proposal they could agree on.

Relman Morin Saud's Half-Brother Rules Arabian Roost

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A few years ago the desert kingdom of Saudi Arabia was famous for two things: its rich fountains of oil and its free-roaming King Saud I.

The oil still gushes forth to the tune of over half a billion dollars a year. King Saud is no longer heard from.

The gold watches on airline hostesses or rented entire hotels for his wives ended when he lost a power struggle last February to his half-brother Crown Prince Feisal, now ruling as regent.

SAUD LIVES as a virtual recluse in Riyadh, the capital. His activities are limited to going for drives in his limousine or playing with scores of grandchildren. The royal guard of 5,000 men has been withdrawn from his palace and absorbed into the army. The king lacks even ceremonial functions.

Feisal, 60, signs all royal decrees and is in effect absolute ruler.

Saudi sources close to Feisal say he thinks that if Saud had remained in control for two more years, the Socialist tide in the Arab world would have engulfed Saudi Arabia.

Feisal has projected the image of an austere ruler whose entourage shies away—at least in public—from the high living that provoked scandals under Saud.

FEISAL'S TOUGHEST long-range problem is to liberalize a tradition-bound nation and bring it into the modern world.

Feisal's programs include about $180 million earmarked for various projects in 1964, mainly in the communications, health and education fields. Roads are being built and harbors deepened. The goal is to build 100 new schools every year, though some of them are a single room. A university is planned for Jiddah, on the Red Sea.

These seem to be welcomed by the average Saudi, long accustomed to seeing most of the country's oil wealth squandered by the royal family.

But Feisal is caught between young princes who want even more immediate and sweeping changes, and religious and tribal leaders who think he is going too fast. The conservatives represent a powerful opposition.

Feisal's plans to build a television station, his willingness to permit the opening of the country's first movie theater and his condoning of female voices on the airwaves have met stiff resistance.

DEPUTATIONS of the religious leaders told the regent that television, female voices of the air, and movies are not mentioned in the Koran and therefore should not be allowed. Feisal's retort that the Koran does not ban television or movies hardly placated the irate leaders.

Saudi Arabia is one of the few Arab countries with no foreign debts and a balanced budget, but oil wealth has given Feisal some headaches.

A recent wave of arrests against "Communist cells" netted mostly workers of the Arabian-American Oil Co. They had attempted to foment trouble, official sources say, at the instigation of the Arab Oil Workers Federation whose headquarters are in Cairo.

Hal Boyle Record For Headaches In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Worry must be getting out of hand in this country. Americans gulped 16 billion aspirin tablets last year and spent a record $350 million for headache cures of all kinds.

The average person consumes about a million calories a year. Some 43 per cent of women and 26 per cent of men feel they are overweight.

JOE COLLEGE is optimistic. A survey of Tufts University graduates found they hoped to be earning $26,000 annually 20 years from now—but only one was as brash enough to predict he'd be a millionaire.

Sherie Wagner, who designs bathrooms, will design you one for $50,000 or less, complete with fittings of 24-carat gold plate and semiprecious stones.

If you suffer from hay fever, stay from drink until the season is over, advises Dr. Vincent J. Fontana of New York University's Medical Center. He has found that alcohol aggravates the wheezing and sneezing of those allergic to plant pollens.

QUOTABLE notables: "My most brilliant achievement was my ability to persuade my wife to marry me. My marriage was much the most fortunate and joyous event which happened to me in the whole of my life" — Winston Churchill.

When the hippopotamus gets a stomach ache, it's a real whopper. This animal has a stomach 10 feet long that can hold up to 500 pounds of food.

History lesson: Theodore Roosevelt was the first U.S. president to win a Nobel Peace Prize. He was also the first president to ride in an automobile and an airplane.

How much does your car cost you? During the lifetime of the average auto, the operating and maintenance costs roughly equal the original price of the vehicle when new.

WOULD YOU like to see a go-gol? Well, all you have to do is write down the figure one followed by 100 zeros—that's a go-gol.

Among famous people who worked as extras in the movies have been Benito Mussolini, Leon Trotsky and the Duchess of Windsor. Mussolini is reported to have earned $2 a day, Trotsky $3 and the Duchess $5.

It was poet T. S. Eliot who observed: "Most of the trouble in the world is caused by people wanting to be important."

To Your Good Health Kidney Stones Can Vary In Chemical Nature

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has passed several kidney stones, but they keep forming. Will certain foods or living habits have anything to do with this condition? He is 66 years old.—MRS. R. H. D.

Have laboratory tests to determine the chemical nature of the stones. They are not all alike.

The tests may help if some physical problem aside from the stones can be identified.

If, for example, a stone is predominantly composed of calcium, then some limitation of the amount of calcium-containing foods (milk and cheese) could be necessary.

An underlying disorder may be responsible for the excessive amount of calcium being discharged into the urine. Overactivity of the parathyroid glands and osteoporosis are two examples.

Or suppose, as is often the case, that the stones are largely composed of uric acid. In that case, gout must be suspected, and further tests could confirm it. One of the modern medications for gout might well be in order, as well as a reduction in high-purine foods:

red meats, liver, sweetbreads, kidneys; legumes; sardines or anchovies; chocolate.

But even these measures may not be as important as one very simple but necessary precaution: Keep the urine dilute by drinking copious amounts of water! I can't emphasize this too much. If the urine is dilute, there is far less chance of stones. Medication to keep the urine on the alkaline side is also important.

When one has reached the age of 66, habits are pretty well settled—including the amount of water a person drinks. It may not be easy for your husband to change his habits, but it can be worthwhile.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is infectious granuloma? This followed a small splinter wound in the hand. Will medication correct it or is surgery the only answer?—J. R.

A granuloma is a small, nodular tumor. Infectious means that the tissue is reacting to some germ that is present, perhaps introduced by the original wound.

It is reasonable to suspect that some part of the splinter may still be present, and the granuloma formed as a defense mechanism against this foreign material (the scrap of splinter) in the body. My guess—you doctor's decision, since he has examined you, would be more valid—is that medication is not likely to help, but surgical removal would.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why do some people die of pneumonia nowadays when penicillin is available? Even years ago many persons recovered without these new drugs.—MRS. M. L.

At least three reasons. First, any infection (including pneumonia) can range from light to massive. Second, some patients have more resistance than others. Third, there are different kinds of pneumonia, caused by different germs. Penicillin and other antibiotics attack bacteria; they do not attack viruses—and much pneumonia is caused by virus.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

A Mall On Main Street

This and that:

Several proposals have been made to refurbish the downtown area of Big Spring and make it more appealing to the shopper.

One plan would be to elevate Main Street from Third Street northward up to sidewalk level and use the area underneath as a parking area.

I still think the best idea would be to route traffic away from the two lower blocks on Main, turn it into a mall, completed with shade trees, grass and water fountains. Special parking areas could be created not too far from the mall.

Perhaps such a thing would reduce the number of complaints that Big Spring doesn't have enough downtown and near-downtown parks.

WANT TO KICK the tobacco habit? One suggestion first printed in 1872 recommends the chewing of the mag-nolia tree's bark, which is supposed to kill all desire for the smell and taste of tobacco.

MORE THAN 40 per cent of the 41,000-mile National System of Interstate and Defense Highways—more commonly known as the Interstate System—is already opened to traffic.

As of March 31 this year, a total of 16,668 miles of the roads had been made available for the public's use. The entire system is scheduled to be completed by 1972 at a cost presently estimated at $41 billion. Originally, the system was to have cost $27.6 billion.

Federal taxes levied on highway users—principally the four-cent a gallon federal gasoline tax—are providing 90 per cent of the funds to build the system. State taxes provide the balance.

ONE OF THE decisions I loathe to make is to approach a traffic light and have it turn amber just before I reach the pedestrian cross-walk—whether to scoot on through or stop and wait for the full cycle. Decisions . . . Decisions.

DR. FLOYD R. Eastwood, professor at Los Angeles State College, says football is far and away the most hazardous of college sports.

He also lists horse polo, wrestling and lacrosse in the "most hazardous" class and includes as "highly hazardous" such endeavors as boxing, touch football, basketball, ice hockey and weightlifting.

In contrast to hazardous sports, Dr. Eastwood adds, are such sports as handball, baseball, fencing, cross country, speedball and rugby, where the risks are small.

In the "minimum hazard" class, the professor places track and field, swimming and diving, calisthenics, games and relays, volleyball, indoor baseball, tennis, tumbling and stunts.

Holmes Alexander Senator Williams And McCloskey

WASHINGTON — The Democratic party, assured of a majority in next year's Senate and almost assured of a House majority, may find it easier to live with Barry Goldwater in the White House than with John Williams (R., Del.) back in his seat in the upper chamber.

It is Williams, more than Goldwater to date, who makes the totally unanswerable case for plowing the popular party under the sod and sowing the furrows with salt so that nothing grows there for a long, long while.

WILLIAMS, the lanky, flat-voiced, hard-fact investigator is no philosopher of the conservative creed, no panegyrist of the Constitution, no waver of the flag, no prophet of national downfall or world's end—and yet he is the master of low-keyed political philippics which have the unique quality of asking people to write their own remarks between the lines.

His most recent expose on Bobby Baker says that Baker and the Honorable Matthew McCloskey connived to soak the public for $35,000, most of which was intended to be illicitly slipped into the Democratic campaign fund kitty of 1960.

FROM TIME to time Goldwater has hinted at attacking the corrupt city bosses who did so much in 1960 to enthrone the all-loving liberals and to make possible the big sympathy play for racial equality, the abolition of poverty and the mawkish worship of "peace." But whereas Goldwater has been angry but imprecise, Williams is dispassionate and specific.

Williams is telling how Matt McCloskey, a Philadelphia contractor who built the District of Columbia Stadium, hiked a $73,631.28 performance bond to $109,205.60. He used the overpayment by taxpayers to sprinkle some $10,000 in bribes and made $25,000 available to fatten the campaign funds of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

McCLOSKEY, a close friend of both candidates, was Finance Chairman of the Democratic National Committee. President Kennedy appointed him, and the Democratic Senate leadership put over his confirmation, as ambassador to Ireland, one of the cushiest jobs on the patronage list. He is still a Democratic fund-raiser.

When McCloskey's name crept into the Bobby Baker investigation by the Democratic-controlled Senate Rules Committee, the powers which fight for Civil Rights, make war on poverty and guard the Free World, were exerted to make sure McCloskey was never called in public or executive testimony. And the powers that reside in the Justice Department, which raised a big dust to put James Meredith into jail, and to put Jimmy Hoffa in Miss, were singularly quiescent.

David Lawrence Bobby Kennedy In A New Role

WASHINGTON—Things will hardly be the same at the Department of Justice without Bobby Kennedy as Attorney General. Some people will welcome such an observation, while others will say it with an expression of regret.

The outgoing Attorney General is personally likeable, alert-minded, and as able a politician as has ever presided over the Department of Justice. If his brother had not been elected President of the United States, the youth of 35 would not have been appointed to this office. For he had never tried a case in court and there were plenty of other lawyers of far more experience who might readily have been chosen.

DID MR. KENNEDY, however, do a good job as Attorney General? The answer depends upon whether the appraisal is made on a political or non-political basis. For, as campaign manager for his brother in 1960, Bobby Kennedy learned all about the political rewards expected by people in various sections of the country. He knew how important it was to keep a strong hold on the local politicians by listening to them and giving them, so far as possible, what they wanted. Mr. Kennedy helped to dispense patronage not only in his own department but in other departments of the government.

ALL THIS isn't anything new. The tragic fact is that Republican Presidents, too, have appointed a national political figure to the office of Attorney General. The American people have never made an effective protest against this unfortunate custom in politics. Yet the Attorney General is the man who recommends for appointment the judges of all the federal courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States.

Sometimes, despite their political backgrounds, these judges conscientiously perform their tasks. But often the lawyers in a community recognize the political environment which surrounds the bench and wish that the system were different. Frequently it looks as if the Department of Justice runs to the judges it has put on the bench to get an injunction or a favorable ruling in controversies, especially those with political overtones. The Department of Justice should never be a tool of politics.

BOBBY KENNEDY belongs in politics and knows his way around. He inherits the wit and resourcefulness of his grandfather, who was for many years the mayor of Boston. The former Attorney General has an astuteness and cleverness, as well as a capacity for making political decisions that have won the admiration of many of the politically-minded throughout the land.

Although it is perhaps a political disadvantage for anyone to run for the United States Senate in a state in which he has not resided a long time, Bobby Kennedy expects to overcome it on the stump in his effort to become senator from New York state. He has a good chance to win because the Republicans are by no means united. Many Republicans will refrain from voting at all in the Senate contest because Senator Kenneth Keating, the Republican nominee, has caused considerable disappointment by his reluctance to endorse Senator Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

IF MR. KENNEDY is victorious, he may help to build a political apparatus in Congress that could give plenty of worry to the Johnson administration and have a bearing on the selection of candidates for the presidency and vice presidency in 1968. If Mr. Johnson isn't elected this November, certainly Bobby Kennedy, as a United States senator, would be able to exert even more influence inside the Democratic party in connection with the choice of presidential and vice presidential candidates four years hence.

Old Enough

URBANA, Ohio (AP) — If Roger Stilling had been a year younger, he wouldn't have been able to vote for himself as a candidate for sheriff in this central Ohio community.

But time was on his side and Stilling, 21, is the Republican candidate in the next November's elections. He won the nomination handily in heavily Republican Champaign County.

Stilling, now a deputy sheriff, is trying to succeed Sheriff Jay McKeever who is retiring after 30 years.

The youthful candidate admits his basketball fame (he's 6 feet, 6 inches) is no handicap but points with even more pride to his score of 99 in a police academy test.

"He's young, but he's extremely mature for a 21-year-old," says Sheriff McKeever and adds that Stilling's count on his vote.

Fruits Of One's Labors

One crying injustice perpetrated by law in the United States of America: Our antiquated copyright statute deprives writers of what is justly theirs, the fruit of their creative labor, if they chance to live more than 56 years after a work was first copyrighted. In any case, their heirs are cheated of whatever profit may result from any of the writer's work after 56 years.

The author of a novel or play has protection under the law for 28 years and may then renew the copyright for another 28. This may seem, at first thought, like a satisfactorily long time. But suppose a writer turns out a successful piece of work in his early 20s. When he reaches 80 or so, his property is abruptly lost to him and to his heirs. Edna Ferber once put it this way:

"But now, at the end of 56 years, whether you are alive or dead, your written property may be used, republished, distorted, sold in any desired form in the marketplace by anyone who cares to present the novel or play or other written matter in a theater; as a motion picture; on television or radio; from a platform; in a tent; anywhere, anyhow."

However the work is published or used under those circumstances, neither the author nor his heirs have a legal claim to any profit that accrues. This is not right. In Britain and Europe, the wrongness of it is acknowledged; there a copyright is good not only as long as the author lives, but for 50 years thereafter.

A bill amending the copyright law is now before Congress. Its passage is threatened because of opposition to certain fringe provisions. Those matters could be threshed out later in separate legislation, but Congress should act at once to rectify the injustice described above.

Richard Starnes It's Oyster Season Again!

WASHINGTON—Along with the posturing of tinhorn despots, grant respite from the incessant rattle of maracas shaken by self-seeking pharaohs, and for the nonce pray eschew the counsel of all false prophets!

Today (well, actually a week or so days ago) man needs to be occupied with thoughts of better things, for the succulent bivalve has returned to grace our tables, tickle our palates and nourish our mortal clay.

WHAT WE'RE SAYING, Dad, is that oysters "R" in season, and not a moment too soon.

There are in this world only two basic subdivisions of the human kind. There are those who love oysters and those who do not. There is no middle ground. There are not half-hearted partisans here. "Yes—but" has no place in the lexicon of the chap who cherishes the gentle, compassionate oyster.

OYSTERSWISE you are either for us or against us. If the sight of a doz on the 1/2 shell drives you screaming to the nearest roast beef drop, kindly knock this lynnhaven from our shoulder and we'll see who is the better man. Oysters, raw, oysters fried, oysters steamed, baked, stewed, or smoked are food for true patriots, whisky drinkers and other such stalwarts. Show me a man who abjures all congress with our friend the lamellibranch of bivalve mollusks, and I'll show you a lispng milksoop drinking a hellish mixture of vodka and papaya juice and eating clam dip with pinkie extended.

THE OYSTER is quite a cosmopolitan and well-traveled fellow, and one widely known in all of the fashionable deadfalls of the Continent and Asia as well as in the New World.

Dean Swift it was who observed that "he was a bold man that first eat an oyster," but later on he also said, "Lord! I wonder what fool it was that first invented kissing," which shows how much he really knew about anything.

In any event, oysters are an ancient delicacy and have been esteemed by gourmets for ever so long a time. They have also been valued for producing pearls, of course, although no less an authority than Encyclopaedia Britannica claims the pearl oyster is not a genuine oyster at all.

THE ORIGIN of the "R" business is obscure, but the fact is that oysters can be safely eaten the year around. But (again to quote our old oyster-ophile pal E. Britannica) "in the summer end of the breeding period, oysters are usually poor because of the great expenditure of material needed for the production of spawn. However, fat oysters coming from pure water may be eaten at any season without danger to the human health."

The oyster, amiable rascal that he is, refuses to be ruined by even the most cavalier treatment. Except on the rawest of winter nights, when he can be stewed in milk or cream to great advantage, the oyster might better be taken raw. But he can survive the most heroic recipes and emerge with his personality intact.

FOR EXAMPLE (and let no man read political implications into this), there is oysters Rockefeller, a dish that finds our little friend baked in the, ugh, smothering embrace of creamed spinach. Sounds ghastly, but the truth is that oysters "R" able even to rise above this outrage and still contrive to be delicious.

Billy Graham

Can you give me a clear definition of God? How can we know Him if we don't know what or who He is?

H. B.

Our finite minds cannot fully comprehend the Infinite One. This is understandable, for with our limited understanding, we cannot completely know our best friend or our closest loved one.

However, we can know enough about God to believe that HE IS, and that "He is a rewarder of those who diligently seek Him."

The Bible says, "God is love." Love is probably the loftiest word in our language. God represents the highest, the holiest, the noblest concept of which we are capable. Love, compassion, and understanding flow from Him. Words like forgiveness, pardon, and redemption are associated with Him.

The Bible also says, "God is spirit." This means that He thinks, wills, and acts. He is not a nebulous blur, or an ephemeral dream. He is personality, being, and Spirit.

What is God like? Jesus said: "The Father that hath seen me hath seen the Father." If you would know God, take a long look at Jesus Christ. He is the best, and most adequate definition of God conceivable.

Dear Abby

Ask God's Forgiveness

DEAR ABBY: You always advise a husband or wife who has been unfaithful NOT to confess his unfaithfulness to his mate. I disagree with you. I think the wrong-doer feels much better if he can relieve himself of his guilty conscience. I am interested in knowing how you justify your point of view.

CONFESSED AND RELIEVED
DEAR CONFESSED: To confess unfaithfulness to a spouse in order to relieve one's guilty conscience is selfish and cruel. Better to spare the mate the pain, and ask God's forgiveness. If the wrong-doer must carry the guilt silently he will be less apt to repeat the act. I have always doubted the motives of one who would confess an affair to a mate. It is usually done to let the spouse know that he (or she) can be physically attractive to someone else.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 26 years. I don't know how to word this and still get it in the paper, but I'll try. What I mean is, I still have the greatest respect and admiration for my husband, and I do appreciate his many good qualities, but the thrill is gone. Maybe I am expecting too much out of married life at my age, but I don't think so. I am 47 and he is 50. But I read in the paper all the time that lots of men who are 50 years old, and some older, get hauled into court on paternity charges and things like that. Is there some way of finding out if I should just resign myself to this way of living, or is there something I can do about it?

MISSING SOMETHING
DEAR MISSING: If you feel that you are "missing something," then you are! Maybe your husband's missing something, too. Make an appointment with your family physician for both you and your husband—and don't miss that!

DEAR ABBY: I just returned from a wonderful vacation. The only thing wrong was that I almost caught pneumonia in the air-conditioned restaurants.

Why do restaurant owners think they are doing their customers a big favor by keeping their places like the inside of a refrigerator? You either have to sit there and freeze, or eat with your coat on, which is awkward and inconvenient. Please print this, Abby. Maybe some restaurant owners will see it, take the hint, and provide mink stoles for the ladies to wear in their morgue-like atmospheres. Thank you.

She's 83, And Airborne

CAMBERLEY, England (AP)—Evelyn Hobday, 83, is airborne at last.

Her husband, 85, is "amused." Her son is proud. Her granddaughter, aged 4, is so impressed she prattles of being a parachutist some day.

Mrs. Hobday, a native New Zealander, is taking flying lessons and her instructors say her sureness at the controls is remarkable.

Flying dual controls is one thing, flying solo is another.

"That will be the greatest day of my life," Mrs. Hobday said.

Will she get a license?

"That may be doubtful at her age. But she said:

"I pass a test every year to drive my car. And I don't really need these glasses. I take 'em off in the cockpit."

Her husband, Richard, a retired clergyman, has been tolerant of his wife's flying.

"He was rather amused," she said. "He just smiled a little broadly, I suppose."

Mrs. Hobday traces her yearning to an encounter with a pioneer British aviator. She recalled:

"My ambition to fly began when Sir Charles Kingsford Smith flew the Tasman in 1928 and landed at Wigram Aerodrome, Christchurch, in New Zealand. In the early 30s he came again and I had a flight with him in the Southern Cross.

Wright Still Remains As Possible Winner

As the championship flight of the 33rd annual Bill Craig Memorial Invitational Golf tournament blasted off the tees at 8:40 a.m. today, Bobby Wright remained as the last local hope to win this year's crown.

Wright, who has won the tournament once in the past, ripped past fellow townsman, George Adams, 2-1, in Sunday morning's second round, and then rolled by another Big Spring, R. H. Weaver, 2-1, in the quarterfinals.

The victory left him playing Dallas' Lee Underwood today with the winner of this match meeting the victor of the Charles Hopkins-A. G. (Barney) Barnard tussle. Hopkins is favored while Barnard plays out of Odessa.

Wright, who has now won all three of his matches in this year's tourney by identical 2-1 marks, went into the tournament Saturday rated as one of three pre-tourney favorites to win the crown. Both Robb Smith and Jimmy Patterson, favored along with Wright, lost in the first round, though Patterson was last year's winner.

Patterson, meanwhile, has shown success in the consolation bracket, as he is still in the running for the title. He met Jake Broyles, Fort Stockton, at 8:30 this morning while the other match saw Jack Cameron, Dallas, playing Larry Holmes, Midland.

Giants Thump Phils On Costly Mistake

There was heavy-eyed Willie Mays leading off first base. San Francisco's superstar, experiencing his almost annual September shakes, wasn't about to bother anyone. But Philadelphia reliever Jack Baldschun wanted to make sure.

WILLIE MAYS

And therein lies the story of how the Giants beat the Phillies 4-3 Sunday. Baldschun tossed over to first baseman Frank Thomas to keep Mays close. Then he tossed again, and again, and again. Finally it happened. Baldschun tossed to first but his throw got away and went Willie. Thomas retrieved the ball and threw wildly trying to head off Mays at third. Willie scored and the Giants kept their ever-so-faint pennant hopes still flickering.

Giants 7½ games back of the Phillies. Johnny Callison and Tony Gonzalez homered for Philadelphia but Juan Marichal held on for his 17th victory. He has lost six. Elsewhere in the NL, second-place Cincinnati closed to within ½ game of Philadelphia with a 6-3 victory over Milwaukee. Los Angeles edged New York 4-3, Pittsburgh blanked Houston 1-0, and St. Louis nipped Chicago 5-4 in 11 innings. Marichal, who was out for nearly a month with a bad back struck out 13 including seven in a row during one stretch. He missed tying the modern record for consecutive strikeouts by one.

Marichal started his string with one out in the third, fanning Tony Taylor and Callison. He got Richie Allen, Wes Covington and Gonzalez in the fourth and struck out Thomas and Gus Triandos before Ruben Amaro snapped the string by flying out to end the fifth.

Fight Hearing Set Sept. 17

AUSTIN (AP)—State Boxing Commissioner Alton Erickson has scheduled a Sept. 17 hearing on the Aug. 25 Joe Brown-Richard Medrano lightweight boxing match here.

Medrano was awarded the victory in the 10th round of the strange match. State light-heavyweight champion Benny Bowser jumped into the ring in the 10th round to protect Medrano from Brown. Then Brown began pulling off his gloves, apparently assuming he had won.

Referee Mel Barker told Brown to continue fighting, and when he refused, Barker gave the match to Medrano.

ONE-HIT GAME

Zorro has left his mark again. The latest victim is Boston's Bill Monbouquette, who received the unkindest cut of all from Minnesota's Zoilo (Zorro) Versalles.

VERSALLES

Veralles, who five days before got the only hit off Baltimore's Milt Pappas, deprived Monbouquette of a no-hitter Sunday, hitting a two-out, two-run homer in the sixth inning that sent the Boston right-hander down to a 2-1 defeat. Versalles broke up Pappas's bid last Wednesday night with a two-out single in the eighth inning. He got started earlier against Monbouquette. After an error by first baseman Tony Horton enabled Minnesota's Rich Rollins to reach first, Versalles lofted a Versalles pitch 385 feet for a homer. "The pitch was a big mistake," said Monbouquette, who now has a 9-13 record. "It was neck high and a little inside. It was a bad pitch."

It also was Versalles' 20th homer. Versalles other victim, Pappas, proved that the wound heals quickly, posting his third consecutive shutout with a four-hitter as the Orioles defeated the Los Angeles Angels 2-0 and moved to within one percentage point of American League-leading White Sox.

Cleveland, losing 2-0 to Jack Kralick's four-hitter before winning the nightcap 3-2 in the 13th inning on a pair of bunt singles, a walk and Pete Ward's sacrifice fly. The New York Yankees, meanwhile, called on newly acquired Pedro Ramos to put down Kansas City in the ninth inning and preserve a 3-2 victory that lifted the defending champions to within 2½ games of the top. In the AL's other game, Detroit walloped Washington 9-3.

Contestants In 33rd Invitational

The three men above were contestants in this year's Bill Craig Memorial Invitational Golf tournament but only one remained in the field today as the semifinals and finals were to be played. Big Spring's Jimmy Patterson (center) was slated to play Fort Stockton's Jake Broyles in the consolation round of the championship flight. Patterson was last year's champion of the tourney. Bobby Blum, Lamesa (left), was defeated in the quarterfinals of the championship flight, while Delnor Pass, Big Spring, was beaten in the consolation round of the second flight Sunday.

Cleveland Depending On Brown's Talents

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Otto Graham to the contrary, the Cleveland Browns once more are building their title hopes on Jim Brown, the fullback who has gained about seven miles in seven years. "It was an unfair thing to say," said Collier at the quarterback, recently commented, "The Browns will not win anything as long as Brown is there. He is a great athlete, but he doesn't block."

Blanton Collier, who once coached Graham and now coaches the Browns, becomes indignant about any raps on Jim Brown. "It was an unfair thing to say," said Collier at the Browns' camp at Hiram College. "Jim does everything you ask him to do. He is primarily a ball carrier. It is not fair to criticize him. I never asked him to do anything that he hasn't done."

Inasmuch as Brown set a new NFL record last year by gaining 1,863 yards rushing and scored 15 touchdowns, Collier obviously isn't about to blast his superstar. Jim Ninowski has been taking advantage of a chance to play while Frank Ryan has been out with injuries. Ninowski, the No. 2 quarterback, hit with five touchdown passes in an exhibition with Pittsburgh. Paul Warfield, the Browns' top draft choice from Ohio State, has taken over as split end, replacing Rich Kreitling, who was traded to the Chicago Bears.

Gary Collins who caught 13 TD passes in 1963, is the flanker, and Jim Brewer, who has been injured in the exhibition season, is the tight end, backed by Tom Hutchinson. Collier is high on Walt Roberts, a 5-9, 165-pound rookie from San Jose State and Clifton McNeil from the taxi squad. The running attack, of course, is Jim Brown with Ernie Green at half back. Ken Webb backs Brown and Charley Scales spells up Green. Kleroy Kelly is a good-looking rookie running back from Morgan State. Billy Truax, the No. 2 draft from Louisiana State who may wind up as a flanker or a defensive end, has been handicapped by a pulled hamstring. Dick Schaftrath, an All-League performer, and John Brown are the offensive tackles with John Wooten and Gen Hickerson at guards and John Morrow at center.

Collier thinks his defensive line will be stronger due to the improvement of his young tackles. Frank Parker and Jim Kanicki. Dick Modzelewski, ex-giant, gives experience to the line that has veterans Bill Glass and Paul Wiggins at the ends. Bob Gain also is available at tackle. Jim Houston, Vince Costello and Galen Fiss are the regular linebackers with Mike Lucci and Stan Szczurek in reserve.

A while back, head coach JACK WOODLEY of Garden City was quoted as saying that he thought Forsan's JIM ALEXANDER was possibly below peak strength because he had lost weight too quickly on a summer reducing program. A year ago his playing weight was around 205, then was up to 220, before he chopped off 30 pounds in the last three months to trim down to 190.

Now the word comes from the town of Forsan that Alexander is as strong as he ever was, and Woodley should have his hands full when the Buffs meet the Bearcats at Forsan. If he's not at full strength, Forsan is going to be hurting, because Alexander was all-district a year ago and he's almost invaluable in peak shape.

Richardson May Quit

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Second baseman Bobby Richardson, the heart and glue of the New York Yankee defense, is leaving baseball at 29 for a YMCA job in his hometown after this season. The Associated Press has learned. The deeply religious Richardson long has been active in youth work and reports of his quitting the game have come up often. The Associated Press learned Richardson has signed a contract to manage the YMCA in Sumter, S.C., and informed the Yankee management of his decision to retire. Richardson's salary this year of $35,000 to $40,000 is several times what he'll make with the YMCA in Sumter. But he has often said money isn't important — and leaves a strong impression he means it.

Ken Venturi, U.S. Open champion, is enjoying his best year in golf. In the first seven months this year, he won $43,065, which is almost $2,000 more than he won in 1960 as the nation's second leading money winner.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Pepsi-Cola of San Antonio swept a double-header Sunday to win an international softball tournament.

The Texas girls team made it five years in a row to win the tournament.

WITH CERTIFICATES
Herald Again To Honor Boys

The Daily Herald, for the third straight year, will offer certificates to backs and linemen of area football teams who distinguish themselves in weekly games.

Teams which will be included in the weekly poll include Big Spring, Stanton, Coahoma, Sands, Garden City and Forsan.

In the past the Herald's sports staff has selected a Player of the Week from the team playing eight-man ball (Forsan and Garden City). In the future, both a lineman and a back will be honored on each of the clubs.

The coaches of the six teams have volunteered to advise the paper's staff in picking the players each week.

At the end of the season, a Lineman of the Week and Back of the Week will be chosen and presented with appropriately decorated certificates.

First selections will be announced Tuesday. Two area teams, Coahoma and Stanton, opened their seasons this weekend.

Coody Leads Dallas Open

DALLAS (AP) — Rookie Charles Coody, who said he was nervous at the prospect of fighting off two seasoned veterans — Billy Casper and Gay Brewer — led the $40,000 Dallas Open into its final round today.

But it wasn't anything new — he fought them off Sunday as he shot a two-under-par 68 for a 54-hole total of 202 and a one-stroke lead over the charging Casper and Brewer.

Casper was the one who made him most nervous. The man who is the third all-time money-winner of golf pulled into the 18th hole tied with Coody for the lead on the strength of a 70-foot shot for an eagle.

But Casper missed a seven-foot putt on 18 for a bogey and Coody regained the lead. Casper had a 67.

Brewer had finished in mid-afternoon and wasn't even noticed until Coody and Casper were staging their battle in the late holes.

But the Kentuckian, who now plays out of Dallas, picked up three strokes as he shot a 67 and tied Casper for second at 203.

Coody, who learned his golf playing for Texas Christian University and winning the Texas amateur championship, technically can't be considered a rookie since he started on the tour in September of 1963. But he has not yet finished a year although in the second year on the tour.

Two strokes back of Brewer and Casper are Fred Haas and Jerry Edwards, each resting at 205, while Ray Floyd and Don Cherry are next at 206.

Ruidoso Has All-American

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — The biggest gold rush in western horse racing history will be written into the record books here today when the 12 fastest qualifiers from last week's Trials scoot 400 yards down this straightaway in quest of the richest of all quarter horse stakes, the $302,060 All-American Futurity.

In a matter of 20 and a fraction seconds—making this the world's all-time fastest race per yard, per stride and per second—a new 2-year-old champion will parade proudly into the ceremonial circle with a solid claim to the $134,030 first prize.

Most likely claimants to this honor could all represent one of the greatest names in quarter horse history—the fabulous Go Man Go, now standing at stud at Frank Vessels ranch, Los Alamitos, Calif.

The winningest starter in the field with four victories in five starts, Steam To Go, racing in the black and gold silks of Mrs. Grace M. Vessels, was third fastest qualifier at 20.71 for 400 yards in outfinishing Tonto Parr in the Trials.

Fastest qualifier at 20.38 and giving New Mexico its best shot in history at this juvenile jacket was Merry Go, owned by Mrs. Helen Mathieson of Las Vegas, N.M. The second fastest Go Man Go gal, Go Harriett, timed in 20.57, will fly the colors of W. H. Peckham of Houston.

Altogether, there are five Texas interests represented, headed by the only major futurity winner of the field, Tonto Parr, which captured the $104,475 Kansas classic here earlier this summer. Along with Go Harriett, other Lone Star State hopefuls are Hankins' Bar, owned by Lowell Hankin, Rocksprings; Eric Peterson's and K. D. Huddleston's Devil Deck, Wharton, and R. W. Wallace's Peck's Bar, Sonora.

Supporting Steam To Go in California's corner will be Hugh Huntley's Nippy Bars from Madera.

Doubling home state New Mexico's hopes will be Calif Rocket, pride of the Lee Brothers of Horseshoers.

Making his sixth running of All-America just what its name implies, will be representative from Montrose, Colo., T. O. Plummer's Citation Bars; one from Blanchard, Okla., W. W. Wilson's Decketta, and a most outlandish outsider from far-away Miami, Fla., C. L. Dressel Jr.'s Hancock Zeff.

Colts Thunder By Pittsburgh In Only Game

By The Associated Press

Professional football followers today looked anxiously toward next weekend's National and American league opener after a climactic flurry of pre-season activity that produced the year's biggest exhibition turnout and left the surprising Minnesota Vikings with the only perfect record.

The exhibition campaign wound up Sunday at Canton, Ohio, where Baltimore drubbed Pittsburgh 48-17 in the NFL's second Hall of Fame game after seven grid games were inducted into the shrine.

The game drew a crowd of 10,000, boosting the league's record attendance figure for pre-season play to 1,191,811 for 34 dates, including last month's All-Star classic at Chicago.

More Rains Due In State

By The Associated Press
Scattered showers that dotted Texas with welcomed rains are expected to continue through Labor Day.

The forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies through Tuesday with scattered thunderstorms in southern, northeastern and northwestern parts of the state.

College Station received 1.30 inches of rain in a late Sunday afternoon thunderstorm. Victoria reported .85 of an inch, Corpus Christi .59 and Austin .48. Lesser amounts fell at Alpine, Dalhart and Fort Worth.

Scattered showers fell during the night in North Central Texas but no rainfall was reported in the state early Monday.

Clouds were mostly clear over the state with some low clouds forming in the San Antonio area before dawn.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 71 degrees at Lubbock and Dalhart to 81 at Galveston.

Maximum readings Sunday afternoon ranged from 85 degrees at Dalhart to 100 at Pecos.

SEEK OVERTHROW OF DUVALIER

Rebels Step Up Haiti Operations

By LOUIS UCHITELLE
PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Two rebel guerrilla bands are operating in southern Haiti, possibly moving toward a showdown with the seven-year dictatorship of Francois Duvalier.

Their exploits last month included an attack on the southwestern coastal town of Port-au-Piment, ambushing an army patrol near the city of Jeremie, the downing of a fighter plane, attacks on three army posts, and purchasing of food from peasants at twice normal prices.

Rebels now total about 170 young and well-armed Haitian exiles who describe themselves as Social Christians and political moderates. They are sponsored by the "nonpolitical" Haitian Revolutionary Armed Forces, which claim to have raised money for guerrillas from public contributors.

LANDINGS

Sixty landed June 29 at Saltrou, 30 miles southeast of here. The rest came ashore Aug. 5 near Dame Marie, at the tip of a peninsula 140 miles west of the capital.

Road travel has been forbidden in areas where the guerrillas are operating and there is a curfew in Jeremie. According to reports, soldiers and the civilian militia have been unwilling to pursue rebels into the mountains.

Whether the rebels can topple Duvalier appears to depend on how much support they can win and whether they can spread the fight to this capital.

A third landing — forcing the government to fight on three fronts — might produce quick and dramatic results, many Haitians believe.

Port au Prince appears calm and normal. People go about their business as if they do not expect an immediate change. They discuss the rebels constantly, sometimes as if they were an academic question.

STREETS EMPTY

After nightfall, however, streets are nearly empty. Some night spots have closed. Lines no longer form at movie theaters for evening shows.

Arrests have continued. Informed sources say three entire families — perhaps 50 persons — have disappeared since mid-August. The families were suspected of having relatives among the guerrillas.

"There is a growing feeling that this regime's days are numbered," one Haitian said. "Perhaps it is wishful thinking."

"The rebels have made a good start, but they still must convince the people that they're here to stay and slowly build support to the point where people will join them. The fact is that they'll have to fight in Port au Prince to win."

Five hundred well-trained soldiers in two army units defend the capital.

The government's official attitude is that rebels are a nuisance.

"They are nothing," says Paul Blanchet, minister of information. "They will not succeed. They do not have the support of the people and they cannot succeed."

Two weeks ago Blanchet sent his wife to Europe for a vacation. Herve Boyer, minister of commerce industry, did the same, and Hosner Apollon, one of Duvalier's closest associates, has defected.

STATE MONOPOLY

Apollon, now in Paris, headed Regits D'Tabac, the state monopoly which controls distribution of cigarettes, tobacco, tires and other products, and collects more than $5 million annually. A newspaper article last week, announcing a shakeup of Regits D'Tabac's hierarchy and the appointment of Henri Siclast as new director, made no mention of Apollon.

Many Haitians feel that if the guerrillas continue to apply pressure, Duvalier's associates might turn against the 57-year-old dictator, who was proclaimed president for life in June.

Rebel sources here and Santo Domingo say 30 soldiers, militia, and Tonton Macoutes — Duvalier's police — have been killed and others injured. An air force C47 was seen unloading wounded here, and an elaborate military funeral was held last week for two unidentified persons.

Duvalier has claimed only one rebel killed, in an engagement near Jeremie Aug. 13.

That day, the body of a mulatto tied to a chair was placed in the center of a traffic circle at a busy intersection a block from the Port au Prince airport. A large sign said, "The chief of the traitors to his country killed at Grande-Anse."

The body remained on display three days.

On amendment to provide health care for aged through the social security system, adopted 49-44: For—Yarborough. Against—Tower.

Beatle March

LONDON (AP) — "Yeah, yeah, yeah" it was Beatle music, all right, at the changing of the Buckingham Palace guard. A guard spokesman said of the mop-haired quartet's big beat, "The troops do not have to march to it. It's background to the actual drill," part of introducing popular music into the traditional ceremony.

Hurricane Cleo damaged Haiti's marginal economy. Cleo struck the southwest coast, where some guerrillas are operating, and devastated the important port city of Les Cayes, leaving the population of more than 20,000 with little food and 124 dead.

The government, with an income of $1.8 million monthly, barely enough to cover salaries and a few operating expenses, did not send supplies to the area. It does not have resources to help rebuild the city or to get agriculture moving again.

It asked the United States for emergency short term aid, which was granted.

Cleo destroyed more than one million pounds of sugar in storage ready for export, a loss of $300,000 in badly needed foreign exchange. It also added to the damage done by last year's Hurricane Flora to the coffee crop, on which the government depends for 80 per cent of its income.

The harvest, about to start, is expected to be 370,000 bags, instead of the normal 550,000. One expert said Cleo might reduce the harvest to 330,000 bags.
