

Goldwater Fires Criticism For Tonkin Gulf Incident

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Monday, Sept. 21, 1964 3-A

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater has fired strong criticism at the administration for its handling of news on the latest Tonkin Gulf incident, and charged that President Johnson has a "crisis-of-the-week" foreign policy.

The Republican presidential candidate, who campaigns today in Charlotte, N.C., said Sunday night in a statement:

CRISIS OF WEEK

"This administration's lack of purpose, direction and even honesty in its conduct of the cold war has led to what now may be described as a crisis-of-the-week foreign policy.

"This weekend's crisis involves Viet Nam and another incident in the Gulf of Tonkin. The administration has tried to manage the news so that the incident is forgotten as quickly as possible.

"They cannot, however, sweep a war under the rug."

Last Friday, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in a brief statement that preliminary reports had been received of a nighttime incident in international waters in the Gulf of Tonkin. He said no damage had been reported by American vessels and there was no loss of American personnel.

NOTHING MORE

Nothing more would be said, he added, until an investigation was completed on reports of the new incident in the gulf where North Vietnamese patrol boats made two attacks on American destroyers seven weeks ago. The August attacks brought prompt retaliation. Johnson ordered U.S. planes to hit North Vietnamese patrol boat bases and oil dumps — an action backed by Goldwater.

His Saturday afternoon statement came nearly 22 hours after first reports of the flareup reached the Pentagon. A Pentagon source later said McNamara's 147-word statement: "Apparently closed the incident for all practical purposes."

But it wasn't closed as far as Goldwater was concerned. In his statement Sunday night, he said the incident raised several questions, among them:

NO DETAILS

"Why were the American people given no details of the incident for nearly two full days; was something being covered up or, almost as shocking, was there such a confusion of communications that the administration actually didn't know what had happened?"

On Friday, Goldwater said the administration was "waiting for an air mail letter just to find out what happened."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, was asked about the incident Sunday night during a television-radio interview, NBC "Meet the Press."

He said the problem was not one of communications, adding:

EVALUATE

"Now in so far as what we were doing and what was happening there, we have a pretty good idea. But how to evaluate it, that is another thing."

"Now Mr. Goldwater said that we apparently were waiting for an air mail letter. I consider that comment very childish."

North Viet Nam claimed Sunday that Washington fabricated the latest Tonkin Gulf incident to bolster Johnson's election chances over Goldwater and steady the South Vietnamese government.

The message did get back as to what action was taken by our destroyers. The two destroyers in that area. The problem was not of getting the message back, but of finding out really what happened in the Gulf of Tonkin, because the four vessels that appeared on the radar screen, after having been — after receiving a firing notification, or of warning, kept coming on, and then there was open firing by our destroyers and then the vessels seemed to disappear.

The most serious government setback took place Saturday in a battle near the Cambodian border, the informants said. The Viet Cong killed 23, injured 41 and escaped with 150 weapons. Government troops countered Sunday in a fight south of the Viet Nam border in which 58 Viet Cong were killed and 15 others captured.

The other casualties were suffered in other weekend battles.

Premier Nguyen Khanh's shaky regime, almost toppled a week ago, faced other harsh new problems. A strike virtually paralyzed Saigon and a mountain tribal revolt put the spotlight on troubles in central Viet Nam.

Most of the 20,000 workers who walked off their jobs today were Catholics. The strike, expected to last at least two days, is in support of workers demanding more pay from a textile plant.

Top Cabinet officials and strike leaders conferred, apparently without progress.

Although demonstrations and strikes are illegal, police made no attempt to interfere with thousands of strikers who paraded, shouting demands and carrying banners.

The walkout shut off the city's electric power, bus transportation and port facilities. The Labor Confederation claims half a million workers; 30,000 of them in Saigon.

Although strike leaders said wages and working conditions were their chief interest, the strike had political overtones. Strikers' banners demanded an end to military conscription and an end to the national state of emergency, under which strikes are banned.

In a demand for autonomy from the Saigon government, 500 U.S.-trained Rhade tribesmen Sunday invaded Ban Me Thuot, capital of Darlae Province 100 miles northeast of Saigon. They seized a radio station, broadcast demands for an autonomous tribal nation and then reportedly withdrew, without violence.

Latest reports today indicated the revolt still was under way. Details were lacking.

South Viet Nam Reports Sharp Losses

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's military forces suffered one of their bloodiest weekends on record in the fight against the Communist Viet Cong, military sources said today. They reported 230 casualties inflicted on government troops.

The most serious government setback took place Saturday in a battle near the Cambodian border, the informants said. The Viet Cong killed 23, injured 41 and escaped with 150 weapons. Government troops countered Sunday in a fight south of the Viet Nam border in which 58 Viet Cong were killed and 15 others captured.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like, "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynal) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 220. At all drug counters.

Bobby Visits Boyhood Home

BRONXVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy returned Sunday to Bronxville, a New York City suburb where he lived 10 years as a boy, and went hunting for his old home.

Kennedy, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, led a group of supporters down several side streets before he discovered that the house had been torn down.

The brother of the late president then went alone to pray at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, which he once attended.

Fashion Trends Told By Dallas Lecturer

By JO BRIGHT
An ex-model from Paris brought a touch of her native city to Big Spring Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Daria Retian, fashion consultant for world-famed Neiman-Marcus in Dallas, was presented by the Junior Woman's Forum at 2 p.m. in the Gold Room of the Big Spring Country Club. With vivacious enthusiasm, Mrs. Retian held the attention of her audience for almost two hours as she described fall trends in a fast-paced Ann Randall fashion lecture. Actions were suited to words as she fitted a coat, changed the shape of a hat or knotted a silk scarf into an important accessory.

Noting that in fashion it is the total look that counts, Mrs. Retian urged her listeners to develop an individual look in clothes, hair styles, and make-up and to use fashion as a tool to emphasize their best points and express personality.

"Fashion looks younger and snappier," she said. "It is moving fast and there is youth in the colors and fabrics."

She cautioned that high style publications exaggerate styles because they are projecting an idea and must accustom the eye and mind to new ideas. The fashion ideas must then be adjusted and adapted to the individual.

New ideas have been interpreted this season in "moving" skirts, pants suits, textured hose, narrow coats, open weave fabrics, and abundance of shoe styles and a return to the thirties in small, head-hugging hats.

RETURNS ANNUALLY
Mrs. Retian travels to Paris every year for the showings of the leading fashion houses. She said that this year the skirts remained short—some extremely so—but some American designers habitually peg their skirt lengths an inch below the kneecap. She advised women to judge the length they should wear by taking a good look in a full-length mirror.

Making big news was the pants suit, usually three-piece. The pants are not as slim or tapered as those worn now. There is a more classic look to the trouser type leg and the use of matching jackets, often in flannels and worsteds. New, too, were the bold, bright plaids and the mismatched textures and colors of casual attire. To wear with the pants suits are silk blouses, ribbed sweaters or various tops, preferably with turtle or cowl necklines.

Mrs. Retian showed a versatile black raincoat which could serve for all-occasion wear as she described the trend to a narrow, no-nonsense look in coats which are better worn with easy knit or jersey dresses.

News Comes From Paris

Mrs. Daria Retian, a native of Paris, returns to that city each year to view fashions which will be adapted for wear in the United States. Here she shows an off-white, open weave dress suitable for many occasions.

To avoid bulk. Textured fabrics in garments and hose give a rugged look to daytime wear. The patterned, stretch hose come in various colors, including black and white.

The evening forecast is for more long skirts both for formal affairs or entertaining at home. They may be of any type fabric from heavy tweed to soft crepe or floating chiffon. Velvets are good for the holidays and all can have a change of personality with a different blouse or sweater. Another evening look is the tailored costume—perhaps a strapless, simple dress and a coverup jacket with lapels.

NEW ACCESSORIES
Accessories are endless in their variety. Shoes vary in styling with heels that may be flat, square, high or low. For evening wear, there is the return to bare sandals that are flattering when worn with the "little black dresses" that are appropriate clothing for chic little bistros where the entertainment may not be any more elaborate than a nickelodeon. Patent leather and alligator are now considered good all-year.

Evening bags are being shown even in reptiles but with a small, delicate look and there with little box bags in shiny gold or silver metals. The ones she displayed were made in Italy. Both dress and casual bags are being styled in all kinds of leather. Some are punched, embossed or patterned in other ways to make them look like what they are not.

There is a major change in what is considered correct in jewelry. Where rhinestones and gold were once reserved for "after five" they are now being used in the daytime, often in pins for a tweed suit to give contrast, and there is a return to the heirloom type pendant necklace and bracelets copied from museum pieces. Cowl necklines may be filled with beads or pearls, and smart women were told to plan on using good scarves to vary a wardrobe or add a touch of color without changing dresses.

Hats have the look of the thirties—small, soft caps, berets and turbans. Many are the soft hats which Mrs. Retian described as being nothing in the hand but marvelous on the head. There is a simple, plain look to hats and hair-do's, too.

At the conclusion of the lecture, Mrs. Retian answered questions from the audience and concluded that clothes should make you look right, feel comfortable and always at your best.

A mixed bouquet centered the table where refreshments were served to guests. Covering the table was an orchid cloth under flounced white net, and crystal and silver appointments were used. Small rice bags were favors.

Calling hours were from 7 to 9 p.m. and 80 were included on the guest list.

Dear Abby

The Clerics' Viewpoint

DEAR ABBY: I don't know the circumstances which prompted the clergyman to ask the girl who was planning to be married if she were pregnant, but I have always found that there are two sides to every question.

I have personally married almost 11,000 couples, and hundreds of those couples have asked me to back-date the marriage license from one to five months. I kept an accurate record, and in one year out of the 554 couples I married, 354 asked that their wedding certificates be falsely dated. I rather imagine my experience is characteristic of most preachers and if I were you, I don't believe I would have cast this particular minister into "outer darkness" so quickly, without having heard HIS side of the story. A KENTUCKY CLERGYMAN

DEAR ABBY: I was a practicing minister for a decade but now I am a lawyer. I can understand why a clergyman would ask a girl if she were pregnant before he undertook to perform the marriage ceremony. A marriage is a covenant freely assented to by two parties, and when the vows are not exchanged in freedom, the marriage is illegal according to the law and invalid also as a religious sacrament.

If the girl is pregnant, there can possibly be coercion on the part of the girl, her family, or even on the part of the groom. If the couple are being "forced" into marriage because a baby is on the way and they feel that marriage is the only solution to the problem, the marriage could be considered a "forced" one and, hence, illegal.

It is better that a child be born out of wedlock in some cases than for two persons to marry out of compulsion rather than love.

MINISTER TURNED LAWYER
DEAR ABBY: I was disappointed to find one as knowledgeable, mature and influential as you rapping a clergyman for having asked a couple who came to discuss their intended marriage, if the girl were pregnant. The minister was only doing his duty. A minister is not a "marryin' Sam." The reading of the ritual and pronouncing the couple husband and wife is only part of the pastoral obligation. It is important to learn if the couple has had premarital relations. If they haven't, they will be proud to say so. If they have, and are truly sorry, the clergyman can either give them absolution or invoke God's forgiveness.

Then, too, if the clergyman knows that the girl is pregnant, he can guide them in planning an appropriate wedding, if they sincerely desire to marry. Otherwise, he can explain that there are alternatives. Some "forced" marriages are worse than none. In trying to exonerate you, I rationalized that maybe one of your staff had written the answer without your having seen it. It didn't sound like the DEAR ABBY I have been reading all these years.

A MINISTER
DEAR MINISTER: Thank you for giving me the benefit of the doubt, but I accept the responsibility for every answer that appears in my column. I confess that I was not aware of the necessity of a clergyman to ask a bride if she were pregnant. But judging from the number of reprimands I have received for having criticized a clergyman for having inquired, I was wrong. And I beg to be forgiven.

To Dedicate JFK Memorial

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson will dedicate the John F. Kennedy Memorial in front of the Texarkana post office Friday night.

Afterward the President will fly to his ranch near Johnson City, Tex.

The President is to participate Friday morning at a ceremony in El Paso, Tex., in connection with the settlement of a border dispute over the Chamizal, a section of El Paso being returned to Mexico under a treaty with the United States.

Cheatham said special invitations to the Texarkana ceremony have been sent to Govs. John Connally of Texas, Orval Faubus of Arkansas and John McKeithen of Louisiana.

Accidents Kill 15 Texans Over Weekend

By The Associated Press
Traffic accidents killed 15 persons in Texas over the weekend, and other violence raised the seldom low death toll to 18.

The Associated Press compiled its weekly list of fatalities between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

The deaths included:
Mrs. Mary Tanner, 36, of Otey, Tex., was killed Sunday in a two-car accident near Sandy Point in Fort Bend County. Five other persons were injured, including her husband, John Harvey Tanner, 35, a medical officer for the state prison system.

Rojelia Torres Aguirre, 35, was stabbed to death Saturday night in Houston. Police sought his assailant.

Jack Douglas Thompson, 27, of San Antonio was killed Saturday night in a one car accident on Interstate 35 11 miles north of San Antonio.

Edward Garcia, 23, of Harlingen died Saturday night when his car went out of control and overturned a mile west of Harlingen.

Robert A. Lankford, 25, was killed Saturday night when his small car went out of control and overturned on Fort Worth's south freeway.

Billy Wilma Childers, 53, of Beaumont was killed Saturday night when his car crashed into a parked car in downtown Beaumont.

Mrs. Mary Lee Johnson, 27, and her three-week-old daughter, Benji, were killed Saturday afternoon in a head-on collision near the community of Lindale, 15 miles north of Tyler.

Wayne F. Campbell, an airman at Sheppard Air Force Base, lost control of his car and was killed Saturday near Wichita Falls. He was from Burkburnett, Tex.

Mrs. Margie Luce, 38, her five-year-old daughter, Marilyn, and a woman in a second car, Charlie Wesley, 41, were killed after a two-car accident on a slick highway near Lufkin Saturday.

Raymond Flores, 35, of Houston died Saturday when his car hit the rear of another car backing from a drive-in cafe.

A Saturday night accident involving a police car and a pickup truck killed the truck driver, W. B. Banta, in Levelland. Three policemen were injured.

A private night patrolman guarding Dallas business places was shot to death Friday night. He was James R. Williams, 30.

Ezra Dunn, 62, a Texas Highway Department worker from Port Arthur, was killed Friday in a collision of a highway earth roller and a truck.

Robert Calvin Morgan, 36, was found hanged Saturday in his father's home in Fort Worth. Suicide was ruled.

Robert Lee Booker, 56, a merchant seaman, was shot to death at a small hotel in Houston Sunday. Police questioned another seaman, 36.

Marina Knew Different Lee

NEW YORK (AP) — The widow of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, says she still has affection for her late husband because "I knew a different Lee."

Remarks by Marina Oswald were reported in two interviews by Helen Yenne, a special correspondent. Both stories are copyright by the New York Herald Tribune. The Russian-born Mrs. Oswald was interviewed at her Richardson, Tex., home.

Mrs. Oswald, through an interpreter, told her interviewer in today's story:

"People are always asking me how I still feel any affection for Lee after the terrible thing he did. I knew a different Lee, I guess."

"He was one way with me, but another way with everybody else. I could see his face change the moment he went to our door to answer a knock."

Discussing the 12-page diary written by Oswald during his stay in the Soviet Union from October 1959 until 1962, Mrs. Oswald was asked if she could account for its relative brevity.

"I am certain it was much longer originally," Mrs. Oswald was quoted as saying. "Lee must have rewritten it for the last time shortly before we left Minsk in May 1962, and then destroyed the old pages."

The diary is in the hands of Warren Commission investigators of the presidential assassination in Dallas, Tex., on Nov. 22, 1963. Two days later Oswald was shot to death by night club owner Jack Ruby.

"Lee wrote the diary to show himself as he wanted people in America to see him," Mrs. Oswald was quoted as saying in the first interview, published in the Sunday Herald Tribune.

Forest Fire Sweeps Into California Town

CALISTOGA, Calif. (AP)—A wild forest fire burned uncontrolled into Calistoga today, destroying at least 35 homes and wafting up hot ash that ignited fires in five nearby communities.

The fire, which turned on this Napa Valley resort town late Sunday when 70 mile-an-hour winds changed direction, at one time surrounded Calistoga on three sides, Police Chief Kenneth Hively said.

More than half the town's 2,500 residents and tourists had been evacuated, police said. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Mayor Herbert Hanley said Gov. Edmund G. Brown was asked to declare the Napa Valley fire scene a disaster area, making federal aid available. Hanley said damages were expected to be in the millions of dollars.

Many residents refused evacuation, braving the incendiary ash to try and save their homes.

More than 500 firefighters from surrounding towns in the Napa Valley wind belt poured into Calistoga to aid.

Hively said an official count showed 35 buildings—including the historic Tubbs Mansion, a Calistoga landmark—were burned. But there were unconfirmed reports that as many as 50 homes had been burned.

Burning ash from the fire—

THREATENS TOWN
Many residents abandon homes visible more than 40 miles away—touched off other fires.

Calistoga police said fires had been reported on the outskirts of Napa, 30 miles south of Calistoga; in Stonecrest, near Napa; in the towns of Rutherford and Angwin to the east, and Vallejo Lakes.

There was no immediate estimates of damage these fires had caused, but it is expected to be considerable.

State forestry officials put out an emergency call for volunteer firemen to fight these blazes, officials said.

Hively said reports indicated the fire had been contained in the northern section of Calis-toga—the area hardest hit.

The blaze swept down from tall timber into the town about midnight.

Forestry officials said the fire started sometime late Saturday, but had been considered under control until high winds rose late Sunday to steer the fire toward.

Residents were ordered evacuated around 1 a.m. (PDT), police said. School buses, trucks and private autos took evacuees south to safety.

The California Highway Patrol said all highways north of Calistoga had been closed, with only fire equipment allowed to pass.

Cable Car Runs Amok, Some Jump

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The cable car stopped suddenly and began a wild, fast backward roll down Russian Hill. Passengers screamed and shouted. Some jumped off and fell in a tangle of arms and legs. "All I saw was the hill going fast, and I said 'This is it,'" Susie Baer recalled later. For Mrs. Baer, a 52-year-old widow, and 35 others it was a frightening experience Sunday when the car lost its grip on the cable and began rolling free down a steep block of Hyde Street between Chestnut and Lombard.

After more than half a block the operator halted the car with a rarely used last-resort emergency brake—a metal bar that drops from the car into the cable slot. It jammed so tightly it had to be cut out with a welder's torch.

"Someone said 'Jump,'" Mrs. Baer recalled, and some people jumped off the front. They fell like cats. Some of them were bleeding.

"I looked and saw the bodies falling out, and that beautiful view that I always loved."

"Then the car stopped and I fell from one end to the other. I must have passed out because the next thing I knew my lady friend was over me asking how I was."

Mrs. Baer and her friend, Sophie Miller, 57, also a widow, were among the 30 passengers who refused or were unable to leap from the runaway car.

The two women and seven others were treated for injuries at Harbor Emergency Hospital. Mrs. Miller suffered a broken shoulder.

Sixteen persons, most of them children, vaulted from the front and rear open platforms to the pavement. They tumbled into heaps in the street.

The car had climbed about three-quarters of the way up Russian Hill from Fisherman's Wharf, overlooking Alcatraz, when the grip on the cable failed.

"We could feel it starting to slip, then moved faster and faster backwards," said Joseph Ruiz, 41, of Montebello, Calif.

"Someone shouted 'Jump!' and some children near me jumped. I waited too long and when I hit the street I fell and skidded along on my abdomen and arms."

Travels North

Hurricane Gladys, which today was centered about 300 miles west southwest of Bermuda, is moving north at 6 miles per hour, the Miami Weather Bureau said. It is expected to continue this movement for the next 18 hours. Higher winds are estimated at 110 miles per hour, with gales extending 350 miles north from storm's center. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

J. Frank Dobie Buried With Non-Religious Rites

AUSTIN (AP) — J. Frank Dobie, the Texas cowboy-author who spent a lifetime studying the history and folkways of the Southwest, was buried Sunday beneath the branches of a big oak tree.

The 75-year-old writer, who taught for 20 years at the University of Texas, died Friday of a heart attack.

Some 700 persons attended the non-religious services at Hogg Auditorium on the university campus. He was buried in the state cemetery near his longtime friend, Dr. Walter Prescott Webb.

Remarks at the last rites were offered by two of Dobie's friends, University of Texas Press director Frank H. Wardlaw and Dr. Edmund Heinsohn, pastor emeritus of the University Methodist Church.

Among those present were U.S. Sen. and Mrs. Ralph Yarborough of Austin and U.S. Rep. Henry Gonzalez of San Antonio. Dr. Angus Springer, chairman of the drama department at Southwestern University, Georgetown, read passages from one of Dobie's most famous books, "The Mustangs."

Dobie had specified that his funeral services not be of a religious nature.

"He was not an irreligious man and he always respected the faith of others, but to him organized religion implied dogma and dogma implied a cut-off point for thinking, for questioning," said Wardlaw.

"But while he was not in any formal sense a religious man, he was a deeply spiritual man whose life was motivated by the highest principles of service to others and to the cause of right," he added.

Wardlaw noted that Dobie was often involved in controversy with university regents over academic freedom while at Texas, and said: "There will always be less room for sham and pretense and shoddy standards on the forty acres (the University of Texas campus) because Frank Dobie was there."

Heinsohn praised Dobie's unfettered mind and said his great influence while at the university was the result of the fact that he "brought a free man" to the campus.

Dobie was one of 30 prominent Americans, along with poet Carl Sandburg, who received the presidential "Medal of Freedom" last week. Mrs. Dobie accepted for the ailing author.

Dobie was born in Live Oak County in South Texas. He earned degrees from Southwestern University and then Columbia University in New York before returning to his birthplace to manage a ranch.

He began teaching a popular course at the University of Texas in the 1920s and lectured at Cambridge University in England during the second world war.

After a row with the University of Texas regents in 1947, he quit formal teaching and devoted his time to writing books, articles and a newspaper column.

Runaway Train Scatters Coal

SALUDA, N.C. (AP) — A runaway freight train on a steep grade crashed off the end of an emergency siding Sunday sending 1,000 tons of coal helter skelter down Saluda Mountain.

The five crewmen of the Southern Railway train leaped to safety minutes before the six diesel engines pulling the 60 cars highballed off the end of the emergency siding. Four were uninjured. The other escaped with a sprained ankle.

The engines and 16 coal hoppers derailed. A witness said two of the engines plowed about 1,800 yards off the end of the siding.

The train, en route from Asheville to Spartanburg, S.C., was going down a grade which drops 1,000 feet in five miles when it went out of control.

Norblad Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Walter Norblad, R-Ore., long known as a critic of spending on defense frills, died Sunday after a heart attack. He was 56.

Czech Visiting Marshall Tito

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — President Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia left today for a six-day visit to Yugoslavia and talks with Marshal Tito.

Discussions between the two Communist leaders are expected to concentrate on the dispute between the Soviet Union and Communist China. The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said only that Novotny and Tito would discuss "mutual cooperation and international issues."

Tito is known to oppose Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call for a Communist summit meeting to deal with the dispute on the ground that such a meeting would split the world Communist movement.

Legion Parley Gets Started

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — American Legionnaires, those soldiers of another day, have been exposed to a new army of bug eaters and rope artists.

Specially trained forces staged an exhibition Sunday in downtown Dallas in conjunction with the Legion's national convention which gets into full swing here this week.

Showing off a new form of transportation were men of Easy Company, 7th Special Forces Group of the John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

With several hundred persons looking on, they swung by a rope above Commerce Street from the 18th floor of the Baker Hotel to the 17th floor of the Adolphus Hotel.

Sgt. Carlos Leal staged a phony accident high on the ropes. A rope went slack and he dangled above the pavement.

He dropped, but a safety line stopped his fall.

"On Rappel!" came a shout from the 17th floor of the Adolphus. "On belay!" shouted back men tending the ends of ropes on the sidewalk.

Down streaked Sgt. Robert Chartier, so fast his gloves smoked. When he hit the sidewalk he told reporters, "I'm a member of Lion Post 85, Baltic, Conn."

A lieutenant in a green beret was describing the epicurean delights of a Special Forces man.

"Ants are darn good," he said.

"When they're raw, they have a sweetish, tart taste. You ought to try them," he said, as if recommending the No. 4 blue plate.

The Special Forces exhibition highlighted a day of activities, prelude to the real meat of the convention this week.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara addresses the convention Tuesday, and Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater speaks Wednesday.

Conservatives Gain Ground In England

LONDON (AP) — Less than a year ago Britain's ruling Conservative party was in disarray, its leader on a hospital bed, his chief aides vying for his post and the party's popularity lagging well behind that of the Labor party.

Today, public opinion polls indicate, the Conservatives have drawn level with the Laborites. A general election is only 24 days away.

What has happened to raise the Conservative fortunes in the 11 months since Sir Alec Douglas-Home was named to succeed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan?

Reasons advanced by British observers include:

First of all, the electorate appears to like the pleasant, patrician personality of the 14th Earl of Home who renounced his title to become prime minister. His calm, easy-going self assurance in House of Commons debate has won many admirers.

A remarkably efficient central party organization which reportedly began preparing last October for the general elections to be held Oct. 15.

A campaign fund estimated at more than $8.4 million.

The prime minister's advantage in setting the election date.

The Labor party's publicity machine swung into action twice, apparently in anticipation of March or June elections. Labor's big guns may have been uncovered too soon.

After renouncing his title Douglas-Home had to seek election to the House of Commons. He succeeded handsomely and inaugurated a chatty, whistle-stop type of campaigning. The voters appear to like it.

He also coolly sat out temporary improvements in Conservative fortunes and waited to call the elections until almost the last possible date allowed by law. This gave him the chance of getting his personality across to the nation.

Six Of Eight New Shows On Television Look Good

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. (ABC) today announced the launching ceremonies of its fall schedule with five new shows and the National Broadcasting Co. put three into the channels over a busy television weekend.

The score for happy debuts was pretty high. Six new shows looked good and only two were really disappointing.

Taking the premieres chronologically, the weekend produced the following:

"Jonny Quest" on ABC Friday night, was an adventure series that looked like a realistically drawn animated cartoon strip. It is designed to identify with young viewers.

The hero is a young boy with a scientist father, a fulltime bodyguard and a bulldog named Randit. The opening adventure had Jonny, his dog and his bodyguard having a horrendous time with evil lizard-men who inhabit the Sargasso Sea and get mixed up with deadly laser beams and ride in super speed-boats. The kids will adore it.

This was followed by "The Addams Family," from the amusing magazine cartoons by Charles Addams about a macabre family — mother raises poison plants and daddy's hobby is arranging toy train wrecks. Despite the faithful physical translation of the characters, the script was too broad and self-conscious. Where Addams merely suggested ghoulish mischief, the television series lays it on with a trowel.

"Valentine's Day," the next offering, tried to mix dry martini wit with custard pie slapstick and it made an unhappy menu. It is another of those series about an irresistible playboy and, alas, no better than its predecessors.

Tony Franciosa valiantly waded into familiar plot about the bachelor trying to prove something by taking over a housewife's chores for a weekend. It didn't prove much about a homemaker's lot but it did demonstrate that this story has been wrung pretty dry now.

"12 O'clock High," the last of ABC's Friday night quartet of new programs, is a slick, exciting and well-produced series about an England-based bomber group during World War II — and it wasn't a funny war.

There were some fine air shots and a sensible plot involving a conflict of personalities. Robert Lansing plays effectively a tense, tough Air Force general. Paul Burke, guest star of the opening show, was equally taut. One waited from the outset for the anticipated explosion. NBC launched three half-hour shows in a row Saturday night, ought to do a lot to stimulate children's interest in the classics by playing everything from Cyrano to Long John Silver. Then there was "Kentucky Jones," with Dennis Weaver — without his famous "Chester" limp but with, of all things, a hangover — grieving over the loss of his wife and resisting being adopted by a Chinese wail. Rickey Der, playing an appealing little Oriental, is a cinch to steal the show. It is a comedy in a contemporary scene and the kind that tries for — and gets — an occasional tear.

Recommended tonight: "Many Happy Returns," premiere, CBS, 9:30-10 EDT — comedy series starring John Giver as head of a complaint department in a store; "Slattery's People," premier, CBS, 10-11—Dramatic series about a young state legislator starring Richard Crenna.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
 ♠83 ♥AQ63 ○KQ9 ♣A1043
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♣ Pass 1NT Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Two no trump. The one no trump response to an opening bid of one club is a forward going bid showing a balanced hand of from 9-11 points. If partner has close to the maximum values a game should be available. A raise is therefore indicated.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
 ♠AJ10643 ♥7 ○J ♣A10952
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♦ Pass 1♣ Pass
 3♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four clubs. Four no trump is a conceivable alternative, but not advisable because the main concern is not actually with ace but rather with partner's club holding and a cue bid is more likely to bring forth the desired information.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
 ♠A ♥K63 ○KJ107643 ♣62
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1♥ 2♦ 3♥ 3♦
 Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Three hearts. This is a strategic bid. If partner has the ace of diamonds plus protection in clubs, three no trump may prove to be the best contract. If partner's values are of a more distributional variety, our cue bid will indicate the great trick taking potential of our hand and encourage him to proceed in diamonds.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
 ♠6 ♥AKQ10743 ♣A8763
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 Pass 1♥ Pass 2♥
 Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Three clubs. Distributional freaks are always difficult to bid accurately. However, in this instance, a three club bid may get the very answer we are seeking. If partner can raise the clubs or if he leaps to four hearts over our bid, a contract of six hearts would be a reasonable speculation.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
 ♠AK108 ♥K53 ○AJ10 ♣642
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four no trump. You have a balanced hand with 15 high card points bolstered by two tens. If partner has a maximum no trump there should be a slam. The raise over game is the accepted way to ask him that question.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
 ♠A8 ♥AQJ10963 ○J42 ♣6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
 2♥ Pass 2NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four hearts. Partner might pass a bid of just three. Since he was able to make a second constructive bid there should be a valid play for game.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
 ♠J864 ♥2 ○Q5 ♣KQJ932
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 Pass 1♠ Pass 1NT
 Pass 2♦ Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four clubs. Partner's refusal to act on the first round seems to indicate that he had some sort of trap for the spade suit. Since the opponents have found their way to diamonds it appears that he has values in clubs and hearts and your hand will provide an enormous amount of playing strength.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
 ♠63 ○J106432 ♣KQJ76
 Your partner has opened the bidding with one heart. What is your response?
 A.—With seven high card points there is a definite obligation to keep the bidding open yet no satisfactory call is available. A take-out at the level of two is not to be considered with a hand of this limited strength, so we come upon a one no-trump response as the lesser of evils, with the expectation of running out to the minor suit should a rude opponent suggest something like a double.
