Nation's Shipping Tied Up By Longshoremen Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixty thousand longshoremen struck ports from Maine to Texas today, tying up the nation's Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico shipping in what their leader described as a 100 per cent effective walkout. As a presidential board prepared to open a fact-finding inquiry preparatory to obtaining a Taft-Hartley Act "cooling off" order, Thomas W. Gleason, president of the striking AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, said: "Not even a raft is floating down the river."

The nation's economy for each day the docks are idle. Threatened loss of jobs through automation of cargo handling was a major factor in the "no contract, no work" walkout by the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association which began a minute after midnight. President Johnson invoked the Taft-Hartley Act late Wednesday for the first time since he entered the White House. His action was expected to lead to speedy issuance of a court injunction ordering the longshoremen back to work for an 80-day cooling-off period. During this time, his board of inquiry would investigate, report to the President and conduct a union membership vote on the latest offer by management. The chairman of the three-man board, Herbert Schmetz, 34, a Washington labor lawyer and arbitrator, called a meeting of the board for today. Schmetz telegraphed requests for statements on their positions by the union and the New York

Shipping Association, which represents more than 150 shipping and stevedoring companies. After the board reports to the President, it will be up to him to make the final decision on whether to ask the Department of Justice to seek an injunction — presumably in U.S. District Court in Manhattan. Schmetz said an injunction could be sought before Monday, if the President decided to move that quickly. But with the weekend coming up, a full return to work before Monday was questionable.

NON-POLITICAL TALK

President Urges Bridges Of Aid To Other Nations

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—President Johnson told a university audience today the times demand higher political standards in America and the building of bridges of aid and ideas to iron curtain countries looking toward freedom. The President spoke in Keyser Quadrangle at the Johns Hopkins University.

ideas, of visitors and of humanitarian aid. MARSHALL. Adopting the words of the late George C. Marshall, founder of the Marshall Plan to aid Europe, Johnson said that, "permanent peace requires European civilization to develop within its historic boundaries."

again. In the next four days, Johnson will be in on the start and the end of Lady Bird Johnson's whistle-stop expedition into the South by special train. He will turn up along the way at at least one point, too.

BOW After a bow to the North Atlantic alliance, linking the United States and Western Europe, Johnson said: "We must mobilize the vast strength of our communities to defend freedom, not only in Europe but where ever it might be attacked."

"This," he said, "is the real road to freedom for those behind the Iron Curtain."

The President's speech was part of a lecture series, one of a string of special events for which the university had earlier invited as speakers prominent politicians including Johnson's vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, and Republicans Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater has tentatively accepted an invitation for a later appearance.

"This we can do," he said, "by building bridges to these people — bridges of trade, of him he was being exiled by various enemies, despite his continued loyalty to the Khanh regime. It was apparent that old alliances between top officers were being broken up and new ones formed. In the meantime, it was difficult to say who was most likely to come out on top.

Johnston was getting back to outright politicking later in the day at a White House meeting with representatives of an organizing committee for Women's Independent Citizens for Johnson. It includes such people as former Secretary of Welfare Ovetta Culp Hobby and singer Ethel Merman.

IN STATES And after that, the President will be rolling along through a heavy schedule of swoops out of Washington into at least 11 states and probably a good many more. He already has turned up in nearly a score of states since he received the Democratic presidential nomination, so he is well on the way to hitting his goal of 30 or more states between now and voting day Nov. 3.

Three White Men Held For Bombings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three white men were arrested in Mississippi in connection with recent bombings of Negro homes near McComb, the Justice Department and Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson said today.

The arrests were made by FBI agents, members of the State Highway Patrol and Pike County Sheriff R. R. Warren. The three were charged under Mississippi law with illegal use of explosives, a crime that carries a possible death penalty.

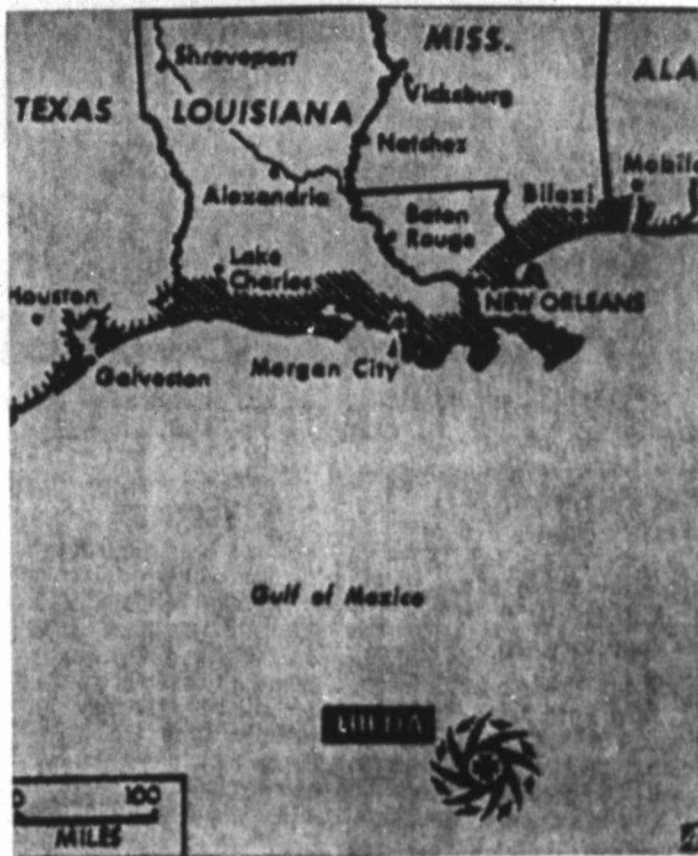

They were identified by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and Johnson as Ernest Frederick Zeeck, 25, and Jimmy Prinston Wilson, 38, both of McComb; and Paul Dewey Wilson, 25, who moved from McComb to Jayess, Miss., Wednesday. Officials said the break in the investigation came Wednesday, when federal and state agents saw Wilson moving guns and ammunition.

Paul Wilson is charged in two bombings. The first was at the home of the Rev. James Baker Sr., in Pike County on Sept. 9. The FBI said Wilson allegedly hurled three sticks of dynamite at the Baker house.

All three men are charged in the second bombing, one that took place late in evening of Sept. 20 at the home of Aylene Quinn on Summit Street in McComb.

Although there were people in each house at the time of the explosions, there were no injuries. The FBI said the dynamite thrown at the Baker house exploded about 20 feet away. Mrs. Baker and an aunt were in the house.

Mrs. Quinn's two children, 9 and 4, were in her house with a baby sitter when a blast ripped off the front porch wrecked the front wall and broke all windows.

Where Hilda Is Moving

Map gives approximate location of Hurricane Hilda which churned through the Gulf of Mexico early today. Shaded is area where a hurricane watch is in effect for the entire Louisiana coast eastward to Mobile, Ala. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Big Blow May Strike Texas Coast

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hilda became a severe hurricane with winds of 125 miles an hour as she plowed through the Gulf of Mexico today, uncertain where she will strike inland.

All along the low coast, residents scurried inland to higher ground. The Weather Bureau at 10 a.m., upgraded Hilda to "severe status."

TARGETS

There was no indication when or where Hilda would push inland, but Louisiana or possibly Texas appeared the prime targets.

The Weather Bureau continued to say Hilda would veer from her present northwesterly course toward the north.

At 10 a.m., Hilda's eye—the deadly calm center of low pressure from which furious winds are spawned—was 350 miles south of New Orleans, or about 300 miles from the nearest land mass.

The Weather Bureau said some low coastal roads in Louisiana would probably be flooded tonight. If Hilda doesn't veer to the north—as the Weather Bureau predicts—her present course would take her to the densely populated Texas coast.

TO LOUISIANA

A turn to the north would send the hurricane into the marshy Louisiana coast.

Red Cross and civil defense agencies mobilized quickly for Hilda. Evacuation centers were established in inland areas and began receiving residents of the low-lying sections.

Although Hurricane Hilda appeared to be faring toward Louisiana with winds up to 100 miles per hour, preparations were being made all along the Texas coast today for possible effects of the mighty storm.

Small craft scurried to port and one big vessel, the British warship London, headed into the Gulf of Mexico from Houston to ride out the big blow.

ALERTS

Hurricane watches went up at Beaumont and Houston at Red Cross order. Homer Garrison, head of the state police force, alerted the Texas Defense and Disaster Council.

A number of offshore drilling rigs were shutting down. A Cities Service crew aboard one in Corpus Christi Bay prepared to sink the barge from which it drills. The idea was to make sure the tidelands rig could be recovered later.

At Corpus Christi one shrimp vessel owner and fish processor, Sydney Herndon, estimated 300 shrimp boats were hurrying from the Gulf of Mexico into Texas harbors. A 500-ton Honduran tanker, the United, chose to stay at Corpus Christi.

Travel remained open to Padre, Mustang and St. Joseph Islands off the lower Texas coast, but the Weather Bureau advised people to stay away from the beaches because of rising water.

GULF'S FIRST

Hilda was the first Gulf hurricane of the season and the fifth to churn through the Atlantic. Three tropical storms did not reach hurricane intensity.

The billion-dollar Louisiana offshore oil operations were shut down late Wednesday and crews and personnel were taken ashore.

Many residents of Cameron Parish, the coastal area in southwest Louisiana where more than 500 lives were lost in 1957 when Hurricane Audrey struck, moved inland.

Evacuation at Cameron was hampered by the loss of a pontoon bridge across the Intercoastal Waterway. The bridge, knocked out by a towboat in August, has been temporarily replaced by a ferry.

Authorities were attempting to borrow a pontoon bridge from the Army at Ft. Polk, La.

LEFT

At Grande Isle, directly south of New Orleans on the Gulf, Mayor Mickey Harris said 80 per cent of the incorporated island's population of 3,500 had left.

It was near Grande Isle, that 822 perished in a hurricane exactly 71 years ago today.

Drives For Indiana Vote

WITH GOLDWATER IN INDIANA (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater launched a drive for Indiana's 13 electoral votes today with the assertion that the U.S. position in Asia "has virtually collapsed" because of a "sleepwalker peace" maintained by President Johnson.

Goldwater, GOP presidential nominee, swung into action for a seven-speech day of whistle-stopping with a morning appearance at Jeffersonville. Police estimated the crowd at 700.

In a speech prepared for Indianapolis at noon, Goldwater said without explanation that the Chinese Communists are "preparing to set off a nuclear bomb that might well be heard around the world."

In his last Ohio appearance, in the fieldhouse of the University of Toledo Wednesday night, Goldwater was heckled by an organized group of students. He tried to quiet them by saying he believed most of them were ladies and gentlemen and would hear him out.

In his new attack on Johnson, the GOP nominee said there was a "sleepwalker peace" in which "Americans are asked to give their lives in Viet Nam. In return they are given doubletalk and evasion."

"We know our boys have been sent out to fight and to die with obsolete equipment," he said, "and we know my opponent gave the Communist enemy an alert of 90 minutes in advance of a crucial counterattack."

Jr., candidate for the Senate from Ohio, and Rep. Oliver Bolton, candidate for Ohio congressman-at-large, "are running strong."

He added: "If they are running strong, I am running strong."

He said former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Herbert Hoover had advised him to fire at Johnson the "soft - on - communism" charge he had made against the President in Ohio and was prepared to repeat in Indiana today.

Get Together Or Else, Dallas, Fort Worth Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Get together on a single regional airport—or else," the Civil Aeronautics Board in effect told Dallas and Fort Worth.

It informed leaders of the two cities Wednesday they have 180 days to reconcile their difference over a site and give formal notice of plans for putting the agreement in force not later than 1968.

The CAB said it was taking this course although it has not finished deliberations on the North Texas regional airport case.

"Should the parties, contrary to our expectations, be unable to agree to the designation of an airport to serve the area," it added, "The board will then proceed promptly to issue a decision."

Dallas has maintained its Love Field, inside the city limits with approaches over residential and business areas, should be the regional airport. It handles over 90 per cent of the traffic.

Fort Worth has backed with equal vigor its airport, which lies between the two cities.

No Mention Of Nuclear Bombs By Red Chinese

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China celebrated its 15th birthday today with the defiant cry that "revolution is the locomotive of history." It apparently did not choose to mark the occasion by touching off an atom bomb.

Peking's Mayor Peng Chen sounded the revolutionary keynote, reiterating the tough policy which Moscow deplores, before thousands of Chinese and foreign dignitaries massed in the Square of Celestial Peace in the Chinese capital.

Though there had been lively speculation that the Chinese might cap the day's festivities with an announcement that they had fired their first nuclear device, neither Peng nor President Liu Shao-chi even mentioned the word nuclear in anniversary addresses.

The subject also was avoided in lengthy anniversary editorials in the official Peking People's Daily and the theoretical party journal Red Flag. Japanese correspondents in Peking reported that informed Chinese sources said U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk's statement that Red China may explode a nuclear device soon was a "fabrication."

"No one," the Chinese sources said, "not even Chairman Mao Tze-tung or President Liu Shao-chi, knows when Communist China will explode a nuclear device."

"The oppressed peoples are bound to rise in revolution, the imperialists and all the reactionaries will inevitably perish and the world is sure to march forward," Mayor Peng shouted in the day's major speech before 500,000 paraders began moving through the square.

"This is the law of historical development, which no one can alter. The people of the whole world should unite and persevere in struggle; our prospects are infinitely bright."

Peng said "this will be a year of pretty good harvests in China's history."

He called on Communists everywhere to unite against "United States imperialism" which he said "is plundering not only the

Strike Affects Nine Texas Ports

HOUSTON (AP)—A strike tied about 8,000 dock workers today in nine Texas ports.

They are among 60,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association joining in a midnight walkout on the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, called because negotiators could not agree on a new contract.

Manager Jerry Turner estimated the strike will cost the Port of Houston alone $100,000 a day.

About 4,900 longshoremen struck in Houston and 2,000 in Galveston. Others work in Orange, Port Arthur, Beaumont, Texas City, Freeport, Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Saigon's complicated political power contest evidently persisted today. The scheduled departure of several generals from the country was postponed with no explanation.

Cosden To Be Even More Versatile With New Step

Cosden, a pioneer in petrochemical production in West Texas, is about to take another step in versatility as a result of the products exchange announced here Wednesday by El Paso Natural Gas Products Company and Cosden Oil & Chemical Company.

This will add another item to Cosden's line of petrochemicals and bring to 10 the products in this field. Part of the $3,000,000 plant modification and expansion which R. L. Tollett, Cosden president, disclosed Wednesday will result in production of cyclohexane.

This will result from a new hydrodealkylation unit which will convert part of Cosden's benzene stream into cyclohexane. The 530-barrel-per-day output will go to El Paso for conversion into hexamethyldiamine, which with adipic acid, will form the raw materials El Paso is furnishing as raw materials for nylon 66. El Paso Products will ship the materials to Tennessee where a plant will combine them into a resin in which will be spun into filaments and finally textiles.

MORE BENZENE

In addition to the cyclohexane, Cosden will be furnishing 1,120 barrels a day benzene to El Paso Products as a feed stock for its nylon materials production. El Paso is building plants for making nitric acid, hydrogen and ammonia. It also will furnish Cosden with ethylbenzene which Cosden requires in keeping with an expansion of its polystyrene facilities.

Details of the product exchange were given by Tollett and Paul Meek, Cosden vice president in charge of the chemical department, and by W. D. Noel, president of El Paso Natural Gas Products, and Jesse Owens, vice president of El Paso.

Cosden previously had taken two steps to step up its production of ethylbenzene. One was installation of an alcar unit which converts benzene and ethylene into ethylbenzene, feed stock for styrene monomer. The other is a $500,000 project due for completion in November and which will boost styrene monomer production by a third, or from 90,000,000 pounds a year to 120,000,000 pounds a year.

DOUBLE POLYSTYRENE

Also under way and scheduled for completion in February of 1965 are plant changes which will double the manufacture of polystyrene (a plastic) from the styrene monomer (a liquid). When these are operational, Cosden will be making on the order of 50 to 60 million pounds of the plastic instead of 25 to 30 million pounds now.

Cosden now produces benzene, toluene, xylene (in its BTX operation), paraxylene, orthoxylene and metaxylene, styrene monomer, polystyrene, and polybutene, a viscous additive known as Polyvis. To these will be added cyclohexane.

Cosden became the first company to have a fully integrated operation from crude oil to plastics.

PIONEERING

Straight run gasoline from the refinery, explained Meek, is put through a uniform for extraction of impurities, then is reformed by means of its Platformer (platinum catalyst) so that aromatics in the gasoline can be captured in glycol and then extracted as benzene, toluene and xylene.

Part of the benzene is put through the alcar unit to make ethylbenzene, which, as mentioned, is converted into styrene monomer.

As an example of Cosden's pioneering, the xylene stream is put through a superfractionation unit involving four 200-ft. towers so that ethylbenzene is recovered.

In another unit, paraxylene is recovered from the xylene stream, to furnish a raw ma-

Internal Revenue, Social Security Space Is Sought

Big Spring District Office of the Social Security Administration and the Internal Revenue Service are seeking a new home. Bids are being asked by the General Services Administration, Dallas, on leases for 3,114 square feet of floor space, street level floor or floor above street level, to house the two agencies.

Bids will be opened at 2 p. m., Nov. 2.

Ervin Fisher, manager of the Social Security office here said, that the lease the agency had on a building at 700 Hunnels, will expire in the next few months. He said that his agency has requested 2,900 square feet of floor space and he assumed the IRS would absorb the remainder of the 3,114 square feet sought.

Bidders are asked to send their offers to the GSA business service center, Room 101, at 1114 Commerce Street, Dallas.

Graveside Rites For Baby Girl

Beatriz Echaverris, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramiro Echaverris, 1507 W. 1st, died in a local hospital Wednesday night. Graveside rites were set for 3 p. m. today at the Big Spring City Cemetery with the Rev. James Delaney, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, officiating. Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

She is survived by the parents, 10 brothers, four sisters; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Berta Charvania, Big Spring, and the maternal grandfather, Ysidro Ruiz, Big Spring.

Roach Services Held At Chapel

Last rites were held at 3 p. m. Thursday for Mrs. Lola Pauline Roach, 62, who died here Wednesday after a long illness. Services were held in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. A. J. Fox, Galveston Street Church of God minister, officiating. Burial was in the Ira Cemetery with Bob McClure, Joe Bryant, Johnnie Rodgers, Omer Sherman, John Hale and Ted Brown as pallbearers.

Mrs. Roach came here last year from Post to make her home with a daughter, Mrs. Lore Taylor. She leaves her husband, daughter and two sons, Floyd M. Roach, Big Spring, and James A. Roach, Eagle Lake.

DOUBLE COSDEN'S BENZENE PRODUCTION

up to 2,000 barrels a day.

These steps will result in increasing Cosden's petrochemical sales by about $5,000,000 annually under the El Paso Products deal. Cosden will be buying about $3,000,000 annually in ethylbenzene from El Paso. None of this, however, takes into account the prospect of far greater sales revenue to Cosden by reason of doubling the polystyrene output.

Brief Illness Fatal For Tony Hammontree

Tony Leon Hammontree, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wesley Hammontree, 610 Douglas, died Wednesday evening in a local hospital after a brief illness.

Richard Williams, minister of the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, will officiate for services in Rosewood Chapel at 4 p. m. Friday. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Survivors are the parents; a half-brother, Roy Showalter, and a brother, Ricky Hammontree, Big Spring; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Edwards, El Paso; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Simonek, Big Spring.

Ford, Shaffer Lead Shooters

Roy Ford and La Roy Shaffer emerged as first place winners in the Mesquite Gun Club hunting rifle matches held last Sunday.

Ford was tops in the scope division while Shaffer led the way in iron sights competition. Jimmy Felts and Howard Brenner trailed Ford in that order in the scope division. Felts was also second in iron sights competition, followed by Delbert Stanley.

In all, 15 shooters took part in the competition. The entries fired 10 shots each from a bench rest position at 200 yards, using 240 calibre weapons and larger.

The next round of competition will fire 10 shots from a distance of 100 yards at bench rest positions.

Coincidence In The Hospital

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Two Illinois men born the same year, with the same name are recovering in the same hospital room from the same type of surgery performed by the same doctor.

William L. Lynch of Havana and William E. Lynch of Peoria, both 81 and retired, are recovering from urological surgery at St. Francis Hospital.

Services Friday For Oliver Baby

Robert Michael Oliver, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Oliver, 3206 W. 9th, died early Thursday morning in a local hospital.

Graveside rites will be held at 10 a. m. Friday in the Loraine City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors are the parents; seven sisters, Mrs. Marion Faulkner, Midland, Mrs. Peggy Brumley, Big Spring, Janice Oliver, Evelyn Oliver, Betty Oliver, Susan Oliver, Patsy Oliver, all of the home; a brother, George Oliver, Big Spring; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Oliver, Big Spring, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Compton, Loraine.

Mrs. McNew Is Honored

Mrs. Rube McNew was presented a plaque in appreciation for her work as chairman of the annual Easter Seal campaign when the Howard County Society for Crippled Children and Adults met Wednesday afternoon in the Cosden Snack Bar. The presentation was made by George Zachariah, president, who conducted the business session for the 15 board members attending.

Mrs. McNew and Mrs. Roscoe Newell were named voting delegates to the Oct. 16-18 convention of the Texas Society of Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. which will be held in Kilgore. Miss Bo Bowen and Jim Thompson were named alternates. Others who will make the trip are S. M. Anderson, Sgt. Joe Maerner and Zachariah.

The board members voted to accept the state contract, and were told that the national convention will be Nov. 13 in the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Detroit. No announcement was made as to whether a representative from the local board will attend.

New officers named were S. M. Anderson, president; Wayne Gound, vice president; Mrs. Newell, secretary; and Mrs. William R. Dawes, treasurer.

Zachariah thanked the board members for their cooperation during his term of office and assured them that he will continue to assist the society in its work.

COURTROOM PACKED

The courtroom was crowded when the third hearing before the county commissioners court and Judge Lee Porter were in attendance, as was Gunter for the third time.

This meeting, unlike its two predecessors, was attended by both those in favor of Helbig and those seeking his removal. This meeting, too, was attended by a third as many women as men.

PROBLEM?

J. R. Brington suggested early in the session "that if there is a real problem here, let's find out what it is."

R. V. Fryar, with the group seeking removal of the agent, told the meeting that he has asked for Helbig's advice and assistance in the production of two blooded calves in two successive years and had not received any cooperation. He also alleged that the agent had failed to contact the farming public as he should and that "many farmers in the county have never

HEARINGS DUE ON BUILDINGS

A public hearing has been scheduled for Oct. 13 by the city concerning a number of buildings which have been declared fire or safety hazards by fire department inspections.

The hearing will be at the next regular session of the city commission. After the hearing, the city can assess the cost of demolishing the structures involved against the owner and undertake the work with city crews.

Under the ordinance establishing the program, the city notifies the owner that a structure has been declared a fire or safety hazard and must be demolished or, in some cases, given extensive repairs. After a 60-day period, if the owner has not begun the work, the public hearing can be scheduled.

PROPERTY OWNER HAS RIGHT TO APPEAL

The property owner also has a right to appeal the notice to the board of adjustments and appeals.

The hearing involves eight pieces of property which were previously given notice on to owners, according to city officials.

About 30 notices have been sent to property owners thus far this year, City Manager Larry Crow said. A number of other property owners were not given formal notice but had begun the demolition—work themselves, Crow said.

COUNTY AGENT OUSTER ISSUE DRAWS THROTTLE
Friends and foes of Herb Helbig gather for commissioners meeting

Commissioners To Retain Farm Agent

Herb Helbig, Howard County farm agent, whose ouster has been sought by a group of county farmers and ranchers, will be retained in the office. He won a vote of confidence from the Howard County Commissioners at noon today when that body accepted unanimously the recommendation of Bill Gunter, Lubbock, district farm agent, that Helbig be kept.

The action came on the heels of a prolonged open meeting in the Howard County Courtroom attended by a hundred farmers, ranchers and their wives.

Helbig was at the meeting. He sat quietly to one side and offered no comment. He said after the decision of the commissioners had been announced, "I have a clear conscience—I have tried to do the best job possible, and I will keep on doing my best."

AGENT'S ROLE

Gunter, pointing out that the county agent had been accused of improper leadership, suggested that it was the agent's responsibility to develop leadership among the boys and girls rather than be the front man himself. Many men, he said, are poor leaders themselves but are unbeatable as selectors and developers of leadership among their followers.

James Coates, rancher, said, "My kids are in 4-H Club work—they always talk about the assistant county agent. I never hear anything about the county agent."

BE FRIENDS

Mrs. R. E. Haney, one of the women in attendance, pleaded with the group: "Regardless of what decision may be reached on this question before us today, I hope that we will continue to be friends and that the work we are doing to help our farms and ranches and our children will not be in any way hampered." She was roundly applauded.

One suggestion was made that the county commissioners select two of the proponents of Helbig's cause, two opponents and two of their own members to form a committee, to meet with Gunter and Helbig and work out a solution. This motion, while applauded, but not accepted, did not develop beyond this point.

Most frequent criticisms leveled at the county agent by his opponents was that he made no concerted effort to become acquainted with the farmers and ranchers.

Another charge was made by a Coahoma farmer that Helbig was not informed on insects and insecticides used by farmers. He claimed that he had been right in his identification of the

seen him—do not even know the man."

E. G. Mann, emphasizing what Fryar had said declared that 90 per cent of the county farmers do not even know the agent when they see him.

"If the county agent fails to get acquainted with the farmers and ranchers with whom he works," said Mann, "the office might as well be closed."

AGENTS' ROLE

Joe Hayden, commissioner, interpolated the information that John Taylor, speaking for the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, has asked that the group be told the chamber is taking no part in the dispute.

Gunter, pointing out that the county agent had been accused of improper leadership, suggested that it was the agent's responsibility to develop leadership among the boys and girls rather than be the front man himself. Many men, he said, are poor leaders themselves but are unbeatable as selectors and developers of leadership among their followers.

BE FRIENDS

Mrs. R. E. Haney, one of the women in attendance, pleaded with the group: "Regardless of what decision may be reached on this question before us today, I hope that we will continue to be friends and that the work we are doing to help our farms and ranches and our children will not be in any way hampered." She was roundly applauded.

One suggestion was made that the county commissioners select two of the proponents of Helbig's cause, two opponents and two of their own members to form a committee, to meet with Gunter and Helbig and work out a solution. This motion, while applauded, but not accepted, did not develop beyond this point.

Most frequent criticisms leveled at the county agent by his opponents was that he made no concerted effort to become acquainted with the farmers and ranchers.

Another charge was made by a Coahoma farmer that Helbig was not informed on insects and insecticides used by farmers. He claimed that he had been right in his identification of the

HEARINGS DUE ON BUILDINGS

A public hearing has been scheduled for Oct. 13 by the city concerning a number of buildings which have been declared fire or safety hazards by fire department inspections.

The hearing will be at the next regular session of the city commission. After the hearing, the city can assess the cost of demolishing the structures involved against the owner and undertake the work with city crews.

PROPERTY OWNER HAS RIGHT TO APPEAL

The property owner also has a right to appeal the notice to the board of adjustments and appeals.

The hearing involves eight pieces of property which were previously given notice on to owners, according to city officials.

About 30 notices have been sent to property owners thus far this year, City Manager Larry Crow said. A number of other property owners were not given formal notice but had begun the demolition—work themselves, Crow said.

DEAR ABBY

He Should Run Faster

DEAR ABBY: What does a man do when he confirms his suspicions that his mother-in-law wants to be more than a mother-in-law to him, if you know what I mean?

My wife and I have been married (happily) for nine years and have two children. I am 37, my wife is 34, and her mother is 56. She certainly doesn't look the type who would entertain the kind of ideas she has been trying to get across to me lately. My father-in-law is a nice, easy-going, undersized yes-man. At family get-togethers, she sends him home early so she can ride home with my wife and me to drop the wife off and then drive our sinner home. Then the battle to get away from my mother-in-law is on! How do I get out of predicaments like this?

CHASED BUT CHASTE

DEAR CHASED: Tell Grandma that you are not a BIG BAD WOLF and if she doesn't behave herself you will be forced to skip the family get-togethers. And then her daughter will wonder why. That should do it. If it doesn't, you are the first 37-year-old man who can't run faster than a 56-year-old woman.

DEAR ABBY: A very good-looking girl who goes steady with my best buddy sent word to me through her girl friend that she would like to go out with me. To tell you the truth, I think I could go for her, but I don't want to ask her out while she is my buddy's steady girl. I'm afraid if I give her enough encouragement, she'll break up with him and then what if, after a few dates with her, I decide I don't like her that much? How can this be worked? I have never had a steady girl and I don't think I want one.

UNDECIDED: DEAR UNDECIDED: This girl apparently has a roving eye. If she were the right kind of girl, she'd break off with her steady and be legitimately free to date others, because obviously that is what she wants to do. But don't give her any encouragement while she is going steady with somebody else.

DEAR ABBY: An uncle of mine bought our 14-year-old son an electric guitar for his birthday. Harvey has been taking piano lessons for two years, but since he got this guitar he seems to have lost all interest in the piano and he spends all his time fooling around with the guitar. We have a lot of money invested in piano lessons, but Harvey is begging us to let him give up the piano and take guitar. Should we let him? I could just slap that uncle! Why don't people consult parents before they buy kids presents and cause so much trouble?

HARVEY'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Perhaps Harvey's interest in the guitar is only fleeting. Give him a little more time and see if the novelty wears off. If it doesn't and Harvey is sincere about his interest in the guitar, line him up with the best teacher you can find.

Vigilantes To Watch For New Train's Safety

TOKYO (AP) — The world's fastest electric trains roll into regular operation today between Tokyo and Osaka. Japanese "vigilantes" have been alerted to prevent sabotage.

About 21,000 speed-struck Japanese and foreigners have booked seats on the 30 blue and cream 12-car trains that will make the inaugural runs on Japan's billion-dollar new Tokaido line.

Every modern safety device, including hundreds of miles of fence, automatic train controls, and elimination of all grade crossings, has been built into the 320-mile railway, the nation's first broad-gauge line. Rigid tests are mandatory for all motorists.

The vigilantes — volunteers living along the line — have been called into service to keep an eye out for crackpots, saboteurs and jokesters. The government — run Japanese national railways has recruited about a hundred of these civic-minded watchdogs, given them the official title of "civil cooperators" and supplied them with flares.

Their assignment is to keep an eye out for boulders, oil drums or other obstacles on the tracks, notify police if things get out of hand, and, if necessary, rush out onto the right of way with flares lit to halt an onrushing train.

The railway has reason to be apprehensive about the possibility of sabotage to the dream trains, which will average 80 miles an hour in their initial four-hour runs between Tokyo and Osaka and 107 m.p.h., when they cover the distance in three

Cowboy Denied Bridge Ride

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Justin LittleBit, 29, a Texas cowboy, reined out of Houston two and a half years ago determined to ride his horse across the Golden Gate Bridge. After 6,000 miles, seven pairs of boots and 31 sets of horse-shoes, LittleBit arrived Tuesday at the north end of the bridge—only to be told by police that horses are banned from the span.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Oct. 1, 1964 3-A

LittleBit, momentarily unhorsed by the rule, is trying to work out a solution.

Subscription TV Lagging

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How goes Subscription Television?

Not well, reports the Wall Street Journal.

Results are encouraging, says Sylvester (Pat) Weaver, president of the pay-television venture.

Subscription Television launched its ambitious California program two months ago by hooking up patrons in Santa Monica — and later, San Francisco — for shows of big league baseball, culture, off-Broadway plays and year-old movies.

The Wall Street Journal reported last week that the firm had lopped off 143 of its 185 sales people, that orders were lagging, and that subscribers weren't spending as much on programming as anticipated.

Caught in his Santa Monica office between plane trips, fast-

moving, big-thinking Pat Weaver appeared far from discouraged. He explained that his company had leaped into operation prematurely in order to combat the anti-pay-television forces that are sponsoring proposition 15 on the Nov. 3 California ballot. It would make pay-television "contrary to public policy."

"It's easy to make people afraid of something that doesn't exist," argued Weaver. "That's why we had to get in operation."

Admittedly, he has had disappointments. His star attractions, the San Francisco Giants and the Los Angeles Dodgers, ran out of steam. He was not able to acquire brand-new movies, as he hoped. The subscribers in the average income Santa Monica area have not spent as much for shows as expected.

The bidding:

2♥ Double 2♠ 3♦
Pass 5♦ Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ace of ♠

For the bargain price of a mere 50 points — the cost of going down an additional trick — South uncovered a plan to overcome the distributional adversities with which Nature confronted him in his five diamond contract.

North doubled West's two-heart rebid for penalties — he felt he could win five tricks in his own hand plus whatever partner could contribute. East bailed out to two spades and South, who was not interested in defending against a low-level contract, rebid his diamonds. North, having silenced the opposition, carried his partner directly to game.

West opened the ace of spades and continued with the king which is the conventional method for showing that he has a doubleton in the suit. The normal play holding the top two honors, of course, is to lead the king first. West continued with the king of hearts taken by dummy's ace.

Declarer led a trump to his queen but, when West discarded a heart, an unexpected complication appeared. While it was possible to pick up East's trump holding by leading diamonds twice from the dummy, it would be necessary to use up both of North's club entries in the process, and South would be left with a losing spade in his hand. If he chose instead to ruff out his remaining spade, he would be unable to prevent East from taking a diamond trick.

Presently declarer saw a possible solution to his dilemma provided that West held the jack of clubs. The king of clubs was led and overtaken by dummy's ace.

The ten of diamonds was returned, covered by East's jack and South's king. A small club came next and when West played low the ten was put in from dummy, which held the trick. A finesse in diamonds was taken against East's nine. The ace of diamonds picked up the last trump and declarer continued to play diamonds.

As the last trump was led, West was down to the queen of hearts and the jack-eight of clubs. The dummy, discarding in back of West, was left with the jack of hearts and the queen-seven of clubs. If West discarded a heart, he would be surrendering his protection in that suit. He therefore threw a club; however, this enabled South to win the last two tricks with North's queen and the seven of clubs.

Come On, Pirates

St. Louis Cardinals' Dick Groat (left) and Curt Simmons tune in on the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates game following their sweep of the three-game series with the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday night. Simmons won his 18th game of the season in taking the third game from the Phillies, a new season high for him. St. Louis won, 8-5, and took over first place in the National League pennant race by a full game after Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati, 1-0, in 16 innings. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Cards In Catbird Seat In NL Race

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I'd rather play anytime than watch or listen," said Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals. "I'm more nervous now than I was on the field."

Boyer and the rest of the Cardinals had just trooped into the dressing room after their eighth consecutive victory, an 8-5 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies that gave the Redbirds a one-game National League lead over Cincinnati by the end of a long, long night.

Now the Cardinals huddled around a radio, their bodies hunched forward anxiously as they listened to the Cincinnati-Pittsburgh game.

After the Reds and Pirates battled through 12 scoreless innings, Boyer called it quits, finished dressing and left. Boyer remained.

"I'm in no hurry to leave," said Dick Groat, still sitting in his sweating uniform. "It was a good thing."

Not until the 16th inning — 14 hours, 14 minutes and 18 men left on base later — did the Reds finally lose as Jerry Mays dropped a successful squeeze bunt down the third-base line that gave the Pirates a 1-0 victory.

The Cardinals now hold a one-game lead over the Reds with only three remaining.

And even cautious Johnny Keane, the St. Louis manager, had to admit: "I like our position."

The three games the Cardinals have left are all against the New York Mets. The Reds meet Pittsburgh once more, then wind up with two games against the Phillies, who lost their 10th straight and fell 2½ back and almost out of contention.

Curt Simmons put the virtual finishing touches on the Phillies chances, winning the key game against his former teammates with ninth-inning relief help. Simmons, 16-2 against Philadelphia since he was released by the club in 1960, left the Phillies in a position where the best they can do is tie for the top spot.

"This is the biggest victory for me — from the Cardinals' standpoint," said Simmons, who was a member of the pennant-winning Phillies in 1950 but missed the World Series because he had to enter military service.

While the leaders were battling, San Francisco retained its mathematical chance at the title by edging Houston 2-1 in 11 innings, Milwaukee nipped the New York Mets 6-5 in 12 innings and John Purdin of the Los Angeles Dodgers stopped the Chicago Cubs 2-0 on two hits in his first major league start. Simmons, bringing his record to 18-9, did not allow a hit until Richie Allen singled with two out in the seventh inning. By that time, the Cardinals had built an 8-0 lead, mostly against Jim (Perfect Game) Bunning.

Alex Johnson followed Allen's hit with a homer, the Phillies scored again in the eighth and finally chased Simmons in the ninth when Ron Taylor and Gordon Richardson put down the final Philadelphia rally.

Boyer, Groat and Curt Flood each collected three hits in the Cardinals' 14-hit attack while Tim McCarver hit a homer and joined with Bill White to share four runs batted in. McCarver homered following Groat's single in the second inning and Cardinals never trailed.

At Cincinnati, the Pirates finally broke through in the marathon game after the Reds had stranded 18 base runners and failed to score for the 32nd straight inning.

Donn Clendenon got the Pirates started in the 16th with a double, the first extra-base hit of the game and only the fourth hit for Pittsburgh. Bill Mazeroski sacrificed Clendenon to third and he raced home with the decisive run as Mays beat out a bunt down the third base line.

Red Birds Can Do It Alone From Here In

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The swashbuckling St. Louis Cardinals, for the first time this season, were in position today to wrap up the National League pennant without any outside help.

A near-knockout 8-5 thrashing of the defenseless Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday night, followed by a thrill-packed 1-0 Pittsburgh victory over Cincinnati in 16 nerve-wracked innings, enabled the rough-riding Redbirds to perch atop the standings all by themselves — one precious game ahead of the frustrated Redlegs.

Philadelphia, 2½ games back in third place, can now hope for a tie at best. Riding herd over the rest of the league with a 6½-game lead, just 10 days ago, the floundering Phillies must win their remaining two games in Cincinnati with the red-hot Cards dropping all three to the New York Mets to force a playoff.

This hardly appeared likely. The Cards have won their last eight, playing their best ball of the season. The Phillies, in losing their 10th straight Wednesday night, never looked well.

"I like our position," smiled Johnny Keane, the Cardinal manager, who had lingered long after the finish of his own game to await, in the clubhouse, the result of the marathon battle in Cincinnati.

It was the understatement of the year even for the ever-cautious Keane. He was indeed in a most enviable position.

No matter how the Reds fared against the Phillies over the weekend, the Cards could wrap up their 19th league championship first in 18 years, by sweeping the three-game set against the last-place Mets here.

"I'm making no predictions," declared Keane, whose masterful direction of the Cardinals from 10½ games back to the top has virtually assured him of being retained for next year.

"I'm not giving any thought to getting into the World Series. I'm not thinking of any playoffs. I'm thinking only as far ahead as Friday and the Mets."

"It makes no difference what place the Mets are in. Right now all clubs can be tough. We've got to go all out, just the way we have been doing all along."

Neither CBS nor NBC will bid for the "Monday Night Spectacular" planned for major league baseball next year. The baseball brass had planned to pick up a few million extra by putting a game on national TV each Monday night.

Joe Foss, president of the American Football League, favors expansion of the circuit to ten teams but says it will not come before 1966 or 1967.

Foss reveals he has had bids from 23 different cities for an AFL franchise.

Spike Dykes, who has the Coahoma community thinking football as it hasn't since the days of Fred Salling, says the biggest thing he has to fight on his club is a tendency toward over-confidence.

One swallow doesn't make a summer. Neither do three victories make a season, says Dykes. The toughest part of the season is still ahead for the Bulldogs, cautions the head mentor.

The Bulldogs run head-on into Merkel, Rotan and Asperment in three of their last four games and Dykes cautions that the Bulldogs could come a cropper in any or all of them.

Dykes also says the Big Spring B team hit the Bulldogs harder than any foe has this fall and he had high praise for the Dogs. Coahoma escaped from the outing last Saturday night without any injuries but Spike says most of his boys turned up with sore muscles Monday, so rugged was the action.

When the Bulldogs host Asperment Nov. 6 in Coahoma, Dykes and coach Joe Youngblood of Asperment will let Dr. Rhea Williams of the Texas Interscholastic League choose the game officials. The two schools haven't been able to agree on the arbitrators.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring's Charley Johnson has become one of the best scramblers among pro football quarterbacks and coach Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers predicts that all of them will be doing it ere long.

"The quarterback can't take more of a beating running the ball," Parker explains, "than he does now when pinned by a blitz."

The word filters about that the Houston people who have built the domed stadium are more than a little apprehensive about its utility.

The baseball crowd which will invade the nine-level, $32.5 million inverted fruit bowl in 1965 are wondering about the enclosed arena. Will a curve ball cease to be a curve ball? Will too many home runs fall into the seats or will any one ever be able to clout one out of the field?

Incidentally, oil in abundance has been drilled for and found a quarter of a mile away from the stadium and the Colt 45s don't own mineral rights under their own stadium.

Incidentally, some members of the Big Spring B team complained about the Coahoma lighting system in their game last night. Dykes says that something obviously happened to dim the lamps, but they weren't nearly that poor in the team's first two games. The rains which fell last week could have been a factor.

When coach Bear Bryant of Alabama was informed that his Joe Namath had been named AP Back of the Week, Bryant made a typical comment. Said he: "I expect him to win it every week."

McAllen High, where ex-Big Spring Chop Van Pelt is one of the assistant coaches, makes one of its rare football appearances in West Texas Friday night, at which time the Bulldogs visit Odessa for a game with that city's Bronchos.

McAllen has won two of three starts and can field an interior line almost as big as Odessa's. The Bulldogs have beaten Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, 20-14, and San Antonio Burbank, 39-17, and lost to Spring Branch Memorial, 28-6.

Van Pelt, who is in his fourth year as a McAllen mentor under head man Hank Watkins, was a star guard here in the late '40's, played on the only football team H.C.J.C. ever had and later performed with distinction for Austin College in Sherman. He coached here before joining Watkins' staff. Chop also teaches Science in high school.

Hank Bauer Is Given New Pact

BALTIMORE (AP)—Manager Hank Bauer, who has kept the Baltimore Orioles in contention for the American League pennant down to the final week of the season, was rewarded today with a two-year contract.

"I think Hank has done an outstanding job this year, and he has been given a substantial increase," said Oriole President Lee MacPhail in announcing the rehiring of an old friend. MacPhail didn't reveal Bauer's salary, but the one-time New York Yankee outfielder is believed to have signed for about $35,000. In his debut as Oriole skipper this season, Bauer was paid a bit under the $30,000 level.

Although one more Baltimore loss or one more New York victory will eliminate the Orioles from the pennant race, the club has a chance to post its best finish since rejoining the major leagues in 1954.

EXPLANATION — The Dunkel index provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin relative to index of opposition, and is weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: A 5.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 60.0 team against opposition of equal strength. It was originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Williams Is Ring Winner

HOUSTON (AP) — Cleveland Williams, one of the four fighters picked for the heavyweight championship elimination series, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Billy Daniels Wednesday night.

Williams, of Houston, is now the No. 2 ranking heavyweight while Daniels, of New York, is ranked No. 8. Williams weighed in yesterday at 214 and Daniels at 194.

The crowd booted throughout the slow match. Williams stalked his opponent but was able to land few solid blows because of Daniel's back-treading, wind-milling type of defense.

While the match was billed locally as a part of the World Boxing Association heavyweight title elimination series, it was not sanctioned as such by the WBA.

Williams, former champion Floyd Patterson, Ernie Terrell and Doug Jones have been named by the WBA for the elimination series to pick a successor to Cassius Clay. The WBA took the title away from Clay when he signed for a rematch with Sonny Liston.

For Williams, who has never had a title fight in 14 years of pro boxing, last night's victory was his first. He has lost only four fights and one ended in a draw.

Daniels now has 19 victories, six defeats and one draw.

The Texas Aggies wound up their contact work Wednesday in preparation for the Tech game with senior tackle Bobby Evans, nursing a sore ankle, the only Aggie who will not be able to play Saturday.

Texas Tech went through only light contact work Wednesday as Coach J. T. King reshuffled his lineup because of injuries. He also announced that David Baugh, sophomore from Rotan, was being promoted to starting defensive halfback.

The Longhorns will have to face Army without the services of end Knox Nunnally, who is on crutches after a knee injury, and quarterback Jim Hudson, also a knee-injury victim. All other Longhorns were reported in top physical condition as they went through a spirited workout against Army plays Wednesday.

Linz, Mates May Celebrate Today

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The corkscrews are out and the champagne's on ice. Today could be the day for Phil Linz to toot his harmonica again and this time he can play Yankee Doodle Dandy.

The New York Yankees are on the threshold of their 29th American League pennant today after a two-night doubleheader sweep against Detroit that the magic number over the idle Chicago White Sox to two. The scores were 7-6 and 11-8. Another sweep against the Tigers today would end it.

Linz, who was fined $200 for tooting his harmonica during a Yankee slump in August, has promised not to play again until the clinching party. The fining was the low point of the Yankee season and the club seemed to jell immediately after it happened.

The double sweep against the Tigers climaxed a 22-6 September for the Bombers during which they left the White Sox and Baltimore Orioles behind and broke open what had been a tight pennant scramble.

Pete Ramos, who has been Manager Yogi Berra's bullpen stopper since coming to the Yankees from Cleveland Sept. 5, came on to finish the Tigers off in both ends of Wednesday's twinbill. Ramos has eight saves and one victory as a Yankee.

Roger Maris and Elston Howard each had three hits and three runs batted in in the nightcap after homers by Mickey Mantle (No. 35) and Joe Pepitone (No. 28) had helped win the opener. Tom Tresh had a two-run homer in the second game.

Baltimore's dwindling hopes got another jolt when the Washington Senators whipped the Orioles 6-3 in the second game of a two-nighter. The Orioles won the opener 8-4 for rookie Wally Bunker's 19th victory.

Elsewhere in the American League, Cleveland swept Boston 5-0 and 3-0 and Minnesota whipped Kansas City 6-1.

The Yankees, who have won 13 of their last 14, are 28-10 since the Linz incident.

The clinching, whether it comes today or later in the week, will mark the Yankees' 14th pennant in 16 years and the first under Berra.

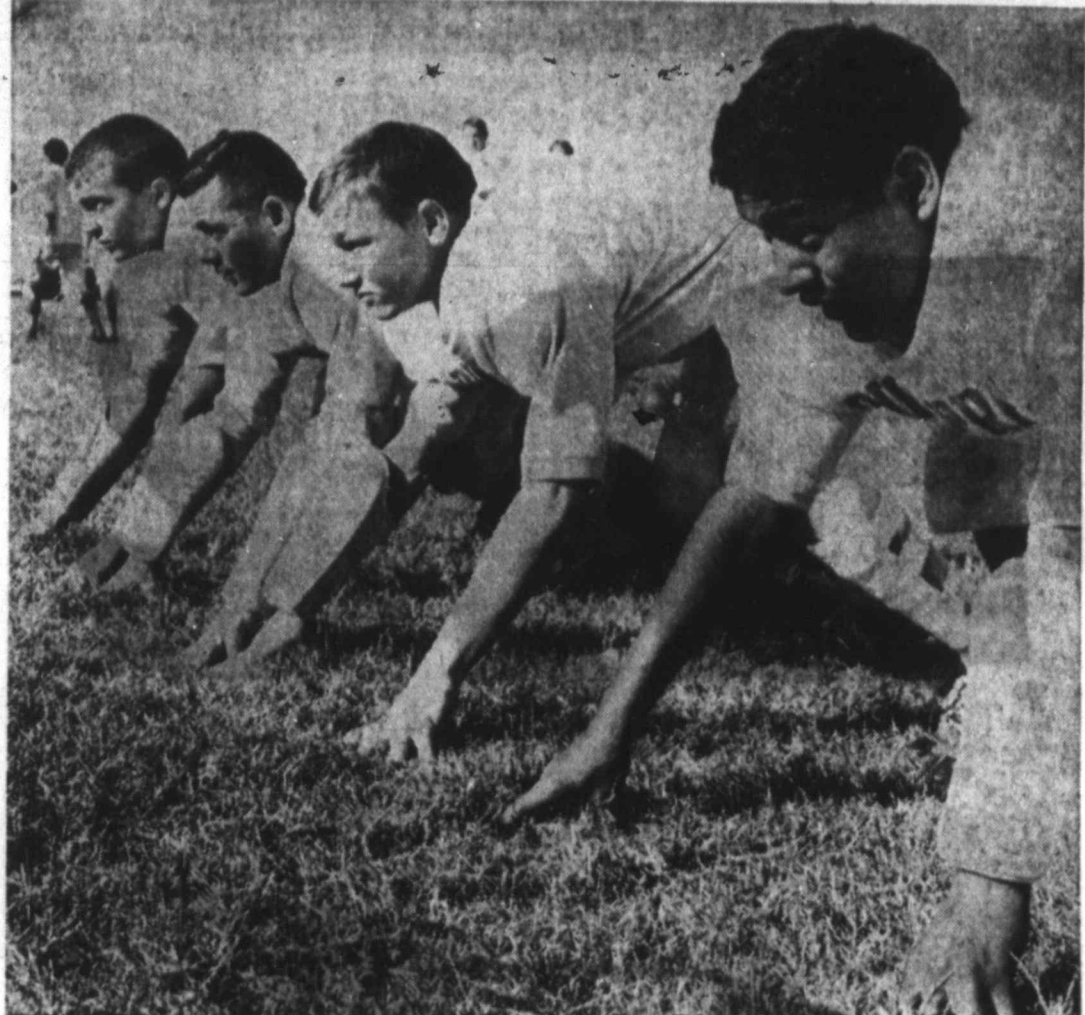

Baltimore's has a much slimmer chance after splitting with Washington. The Orioles would have to sweep their last three games and have the Yankees drop five straight to gain a tie.

Jerry Adair poked two homers and Jackie Brandt had a two-run shot to back up Bunker's 19th victory in the opener.

But the Orioles slipped against Claude Osteen, who got relief help from Steve Ridzik to win his 13th in the nightcap.

Boog Powell roared Osteen with his 38th homer but the Orioles, now five back in the loss column, couldn't mount a sustained attack.

Invade Sweetwater This Evening

Goliad Seeks Third Straight Grid Win

Goliad's ninth grade Mavericks go after their third straight victory in a 7:30 o'clock football game here this evening with Snyder Lamar.

Eighth grade teams of the two schools square off here at 6:30 p.m. Both games will be unreeled in the old stadium at Tenth and State streets.

Goliad beat Lamar in a game played Sept. 10 at Snyder, 26-14. The Mavericks then followed up with a 6-0 triumph over Snyder Travis last week.

Goliad's eighth graders will be seeking revenge for a 22-14 defeat suffered at the hands of Lamar in an earlier game. The Goliad eighth graders are 1-1 for the year, having turned back Snyder Travis here last week, 8-0.

In all, there'll be three games played here this evening, with the first contest due to start at 5 p.m. That one sends the Goliad seventh graders against Coahoma.

Goliad's seventh has yet to score a touchdown in two starts but has been outscored by a mere two points. The Goliad club played a scoreless tie with cross-town rival Runnels and then lost a 2-0 verdict to Snyder Lamar here two weeks ago.

Two of Big Spring Runnels Junior High's teams will be on the road today, the other will be idle until next week.

Runnels' seventh graders are not booked to play but the eighth and ninth graders go to Sweetwater for games.

The eighth graders play at 6:30 p.m., the ninth graders at 7:30 o'clock.

The local eighth graders are 1-1 for the season, having beaten Sweetwater, 25-12; tied Snyder Lamar, 16-16; and lost to a combined Big Spring Lakeview team, 18-6.

Runnels' ninth graders will be seeking to even their record at 2-2.

The Yearlings have won over Sweetwater, 6-0; and lost to Snyder Lamar, 30-6; and San Angelo Lee, 18-14.

Roach Given Starting Nod

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys will be counting on veteran quarterback John Roach to pull them through when they play at Cleveland Sunday.

Roach was lured out of retirement by Cowboy Coach Tom Landry after regular quarterback Don Meredith suffered a knee injury.

Landry said Wednesday that he hopes Roach finally will be hitting his stride Sunday.

"Roach has had three weeks of learning our system," Landry said, "but I know it takes some time to absorb it. I am hopeful he will break out this Sunday."

The Dallas coach is quick to admit that his offensive system is about the most complicated and difficult to learn in football.

Meredith has been hobbling on and off the football field with a torn cartilage in one knee and a sprained ankle on the other leg. He isn't likely to play this weekend.

Landry had praise for Meredith for playing while injured and said he had been leaving it up to the quarterback as to whether he could stand the pain.

"I think I'll have to make the decision now though," Landry said, explaining that the tear in the cartilage had lengthened and that Meredith was still in pain.

The Cowboys are expected to get limited service from Buddy Dial, the star pass-receiver obtained from Pittsburgh, in this Sunday's game. In last week's game, Dial got a charley horse on the same leg that earlier required an operation.

Las Vegas Play Under Way Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A field of 39 headed by defending champion Mickey Wright teed off today in the opening round of the $15,000 Ladies' Professional Golf Association Championship at the Stardust Golf Club.

The 72-hole event winds up Sunday, with $2,300 going to the winner.

Top Drivers Due To Enter Race

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The third Gran Premio de Mexico, an auto race figuring in the international championship scoring, will be held here Oct. 25 with the world's top drivers competing.

Among them will be Graham Hill, John Surtees and Jim Clark, who presently lead in the 1964 championship scoring, sponsors report.

Some say the Gran Premio may decide this year's championship. The leaders are closely bunched and this is the last race of the year.

Archers Launch Hunting Season

AUSTIN (AP) — Archers began their hunting season in 70 Texas counties Thursday with legal game being buck deer with three or more points, bear, turkey gobblers and javelina.

The legal hours for big game hunting with bow and arrow are from half an hour before sunrise to half an hour after sunset.

The State Parks and Wildlife Commission also announced that antelope season starts Saturday in the Trans-Pecos, Possum Kingdom and Panhandle areas. It will extend through Oct. 11, except in the Panhandle where the shoot will be limited to four days.

Berra Sets Up Pitching Rotation For Big Series

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees aren't in yet but Manager Yogi Berra has chosen his opening game pitcher for the World Series.

Berra was setting up his pitching rotation after Wednesday's 7-6, 11-8 sweep over Detroit which reduced the Yankees' magic number for their fifth straight pennant to a mere two.

"It will be Mel Stottlemyre and Roland Sheldon against the Tigers Thursday," Berra said. "Whitey Ford's heel still bothers him. But he'll go Friday no matter what."

"By pitching Friday, Whitey would have just the right Thursday rest before next Wednesday's opener," the manager explained.

Did this mean Berra thought the Yankees were in?

"We've got a chance," the manager grinned as he huddled with Ford, his pitcher-coach. New York looked like a better bet than that against the Tigers in spite of some spotty pitching.

Roger Maris, Elston Howard and Tom Tresh were the hitting heroes in the nightcap as Jim Bouton won his 18th. Maris and Howard each drove in three runs with three hits and Tresh tagged a two-run homer.

The double victory was the Yankees' 12th sweep of the season, gave them 13 victories in their last 14 starts and a 22-6 record for their September pennant drive.

The defending champions can clinch their 29th pennant by sweeping the Tigers again today while the second place Chicago White Sox are idle.

Otherwise the champagne pouring will have to wait. Third place Baltimore, which split with Washington Wednesday, can do no better than tie and they would have to win their last three and have New York drop five straight to do that.

Gonzalez Winner In Corpus Bout

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Manuel Gonzalez won an easy 10-round decision here Wednesday night over Johnny Brooks to protect his ranking as the world's No. 6 welterweight.

Gonzalez, of Odessa and Houston, weighed 149 and Brooks, from Wichita, Kan., weighed 147.

Frowns On This Outfit

Sheila Warren, 14, displays the clothes that got her sent home from junior high school in Terrance, Calif., yesterday for wearing "clothes inappropriate for school." The school's main objection was to Sheila's culottes—a split skirt—which she wore with boots and a leopard-spotted blouse. The school considers the outfit "sports attire." Sheila will wear a regular skirt today, her mother promised. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Fire Stations To Have Open House

An open house of Big Spring's two newest fire stations Sunday afternoon will signal the start of Fire Prevention Week in the city. The two stations, at Wasson Road adjacent to the city golf course and at Fourteenth Street and Airbase Road, will be open from 1 to 5 o'clock Sunday. The two big diesel fire trucks, purchased this year, will be at the two stations during the afternoon. Firemen will conduct tours of the station facilities, put into service in May, and refreshments will be served. All other city fire stations will be open to the public during the afternoon for tours also.

The two newest stations are each one company units, with six men assigned to each. Station Five, on Wasson Road, has a 750-gallon Mack pumper truck assigned, and Station Six, near Airport School, has a booster truck.

Both stations were built under the city's Master Plan bond program at a cost of about $40,000 each, including furnishings. The new Mack diesel trucks are 1,800-gallon capacity each and are assigned to the Central Station and Station Three, 1607 Eleventh Place.

Primary emphasis of the Fire Prevention Week observance this year will be on home inspections and school fire drills and training.

Home inspections may be arranged by calling any fire station, either during Fire Prevention Week or at other times. Fire Marshal A. D. Meador said the inspections usually are made between 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. or 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., although firemen will be available at other times. Meador emphasized the inspection is only to point out possible hazards in homes, and no homeowner is told to do anything. No reports are turned in on the inspections, and the program is entirely voluntary of the homeowner.

Meador said 65 per cent of fires within buildings each year are in homes and that home inspections can answer about two-thirds of the problems of fire departments.

ALL IN FUN FOR UNITED FUND

Play-As-You-Go Rules Mark Webb Baseball Game

"Four Blind Meeces" with white canes, led to the field in a row; rubber balls, grapefruits, the chief umpire calls. "Strike eight, take your base," and a man hobbles down to first using crutches.

Not the usual description of a softball game, but that's the way things looked Thursday night as officers and airmen teamed up to play for the United Fund campaign kick-off at Webb AFB.

The slow-pitch semblance of a softball game pitted the under-35 officers against the under-35 airmen in the first game and the over-35 officers, plus the umpires, against the over-35 airmen. In the first game, the officers proved too much for the airmen, downing them 10-1.

The teams played this game close to the chest, both out to trounce the other.

The second game was a different story. Even with the ump's on their side and a 25-man team in the field in the fourth inning, the officers could not stop the airmen: final score was 17-12. Even with rubber balls, the officers didn't have a chance.

On numerous occasions, the umpires converged on the pitchers or players, usually to give everyone a breather. But on at least two occasions, their convergences proved beneficial.

Once, chief umpire R. W. Whip-Once, called Col. A. F. Taute, (wing commander) and a chief right-hander for the officers' team, out on three strikes in a row. A "friendly discussion" began at the plate. Col. J. B. Baird came running out, bribe in hand, and all four umpires, pitcher, catcher and Col. Taute held a conference on the mound. Soon the decision was reversed and Col. Taute re-entered the batter's box. Eventually the colonel connected, only to be thrown out at second.

Suspense was high when a protest was called by T. Sgt. Jim Schafer, airmen manager.

Candidates Urged To Avoid Risks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., today urged Presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and his vice-presidential running mates to avoid risking their lives with imprudent mingling with campaign crowds.

With a grim reference to the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the Senate Democratic leader urged all four major candidates "to avoid exposing themselves unnecessarily to this danger."

"The Warren report underscores American political history in showing that the disaster of an assassination of a national figure not only can be, but is likely to be the work of a single warped mind," Mansfield told the Senate in prepared remarks.

He urged the candidates to comply with security safeguards of the Secret Service and other police officials and protectors.

"It is a matter of basic prudence and has nothing whatever to do with personal courage or confidence in the people of the United States," he said.

Mansfield noted that a national campaign requires that the major candidates "present themselves in person throughout the nation."

But he said the Warren Commission found that precautions can and should be taken "to reduce the risks to the President and other candidates."

"It is imperative to do whatever may be reasonably done to avoid a catastrophe," he said.

Johnson has frequently mingled with campaign crowds in apparent disregard of his Secret Service and police guards and the Warren report.

"Much of the responsibility rests with the President and the candidates themselves," Mansfield said.

"I repeat, I strongly urge all of them in the interests of the nation to follow the procedures designed to provide for their safety, even if at times it means leaving a few hands unshaken or some autograph books unsigned," Mansfield added.

confidence in the people of the United States," he said.

Dance Set For Legionnaires

The American Legion Post will instigate the membership campaign for the coming year with a free dance and supper at the Legion Home Friday night, Foy Dunlap, vice-commander, has announced. Serving will begin at 7:30 with the dancing to follow.

Music for the dance will be by the Legion Scramblers, a band made up of Legion members, who have played several times at the VA Hospital. The group specializes in Western and country music but plays popular numbers also. All members of the Legion who play any instrument are invited to join the group.

Admission for the supper and dance will be a membership card for the 1965 term, and members of the committee will be on hand to write up those who wish to pay their dues for the year at the door.

Dunlap is stressing an increased membership for the year to allow for a necessary increase in the youth activity budget. The post has a half dozen programs under way that will need some financing besides the free work of the legion committees.

Final plans for the dance will be completed this evening at the Legion's regular weekly meeting, and Commander Tim Jones, urged all the members to attend.

Westbrook Church Aids In Crusade

WESTBROOK (SC) — Westbrook Baptist Church is one of six Baptist churches participating in the Latin American Crusade being conducted at Mitchell County agriculture building this week. Church services will not be held at the local church on Sunday night so members and visitors will attend services of the crusade.

Armstrong Is New Sanitarian

A San Antonio native, J. A. Armstrong, has assumed duties as a new sanitarian with the Howard County Health Unit.

Armstrong is an Army veteran of 22 years service and retired from the Army about two years. He was assigned to the inspector general section of the Army during his last eight years service.

With the health unit, his work will involve environmental sanitation, such as inspection of eating establishments and work with mosquito control or other health hazards.

Armstrong attended the Army Medical Service School and was assigned to the Office of Strategic Services operations in Burma and India during World War II. He also served in Korea after the outbreak of the Korean conflict.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong moved to Big Spring Aug. 1 from San Antonio and live at 3709 La Junta.

Community Singing

Several out-of-town quartets and singers will appear at 2 p.m. Sunday, at a community singing at the Church of the Nazarene, Fourteenth and Lancaster. Bob Spears, president of the group, said everyone is invited.

Bids For Painting Asked At Webb

Contractors interested in bidding on the painting of 82 service yard fence and carport ceilings at Webb AFB are invited to obtain copies of invitation to bid and plans and specifications from the Base Procurement Office.

Bids will be received until 2 p.m., Oct. 29 in the base procurement office. Request for bid sets must be received on or before Oct. 21.

The work consists of furnishing all plant, labor, equipment, materials and incidentals to repaint exterior trim, service yard fences, and carport ceilings of 82 Capehart Family Housing Units.

The contractor will be required to begin work within 20 calendar days after date of receipt of notice to proceed and to complete all work within 60 days after date of receipt of notice to proceed.

Four Blind Mice

Umpires at the United Fund baseball game, held last night at Webb AFB, line up to call a pitch on M/Sgt. A. G. Shaw. From the left, umpires are Champ Rainwater, co-chairman Base-Community Div. of the chamber of commerce; Robert W. Whipkey, publisher Big Spring Herald; John Taylor, president chamber of commerce; and George Zachariah, mayor. Catching is Webb's Wing Commander, Col. A. F. Taute.

Col. B. R. Underwood, base project officer, on hand at the night's festivities, stated that he had great hopes that this year's drive would far surpass last year's. Fifteen Boy Scouts from Troop 146, under the supervision of C. M. Sgt. Charles A. Levenski, assistant scoutmaster, collected the donations and sold pop corn and soft drinks, proceeds going to the United Fund.

The kick-off last night netted a total of $46. The 1964 campaign will continue through Oct. 31, with Webb AFB participating. Base contributions are expected to exceed $11,000.

The more serious side of the affair was collecting donations for the United Fund drive. Lt.

Hearings Reopen On Bobby Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — The once-closed Bobby Baker hearings reopen today for investigation of a $35,000 political payoff on the District of Columbia Stadium contract.

Key figures in the probe are Baker, resigned secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority; Matthew McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor, Democratic fund raiser, and former ambassador to Ireland, and Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent.

Instead of plunging into the payoff charge, the Senate Rules Committee called district officials for the lead-off witnesses for testimony about details of the stadium project, the letting of bids, subsequent changes in the contract and related matters.

Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., the committee chairman,

Pupils Left On Corners

NEW YORK (AP) — A school bus drivers' slowdown became a shutdown today. The bus company suspended service for 87,000 pupils in New York City.

The company, Children's Bus Service, Inc., cited the "inconvenience and possible injury to school children resulting from the slowdown."

School officials and the company both charged that the slowdown the past four school days was a tactic in a union jurisdictional fight.

"This is strictly a safety campaign," said Fred Saporita, president of Local 1181 of the Amalgamated Transit Union. Drivers complained of equipment needing repair and of breakdowns on the road.

Left standing on the corners, sometimes in the rain, were thousands of school children — an estimated 15,000 Wednesday.

The Board of Education urged parents of children who use Children's Bus Service to make "the best arrangements they can" to get their children to school today. About 10 per cent of the school system's 1 million pupils use school buses.

James B. Donovan, president of the Board of Education, said the slowdown, as well as the school boycotts by civil rights groups and by white parent groups earlier this year were "outrages."

told newsmen "it may be some time" before Baker, McCloskey and Reynolds are called to testify.

He said he plans first to lay the groundwork by bringing out all the details of the stadium contract, awarded to McCloskey's firm in 1960 after it submitted a low bid of around $14.2 million.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., charged in a Senate speech a month ago that McCloskey made an overpayment of about $35,000 to Reynolds as insurance broker on the performance bond for the stadium.

Williams quoted Reynolds as telling him that $25,000 of this was funneled into the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund through Baker. Williams referred to the alleged overpayment on the bond premium as a payoff and a kickback.

President Johnson, with whom Baker was closely associated when Johnson was the Democratic leader of the Senate, ordered an investigation by the FBI. McCloskey issued a statement saying he had paid the exact amount for which he was billed by Reynolds.

Williams' charge set off a demand from Republicans for a reopening of the investigation into Baker's multiple outside financial and business dealings before he resigned under fire last Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year Senate post.

The Rules Committee's Democratic majority had closed the hearings last spring amid GOP charges of whitewash and cover-up — charges that Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater has stressed in his election campaign.

Soldier Killed In Tavern Clash

AUSTIN (AP) — Police said Erwin Basford kicked open the back door of a tavern and shot a West Virginia soldier dead, saying:

"This will teach you to mess around with my woman."

Basford, 44, was charged with murder in the slaying about midnight Tuesday of Roger Ellis, 22, stationed with the 4th Missile Battalion here. He was from Welch, W. Va.

Arrested with Basford was Beatrice Dyer, 37. She was charged as an accessory to murder. Both were held without bond.

Search For Victims

Three Boston firefighters uncovered the body of a fellow firefighter amid brick and mortar from a wall that collapsed as they fought a five alarm blaze in a vacant building in Boston early today. A dozen other fire fighters and what normally would be expected. One civilian were taken to Boston City Hospital, some in serious condition.

Firemen Buried Under Wall While Battling Huge Blaze

BOSTON (AP) — Five firefighters were killed early today when they were buried under tons of brick and mortar from a wall that collapsed as they fought a blaze in a vacant building.

The fire in what once was a four-story toy factory claimed the greatest number of Boston fire fighters since 1942 when six were killed.

Among today's dead was Pvt. John Clougherty, 31, son of acting Fire Chief John Clougherty, who was directing 200 fire fighters at the scene and saw the men killed.

"My God!" he exclaimed in disbelief, "I've lost my son!"

The others were Pvt. Frank Murphy, 44; Lt. John Geswell, 40; Lt. John McCorkle, 53, and Pvt. James B. Sheedy, 38.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is sounding out his fellow senators on a recess until after the November election, a plan that the Montanan said Wednesday is under serious consideration in the House.

"I had hoped that we could end the session by Saturday night," Mansfield said, "but it appears the prospects are we will be in session all of next week."

Few Facts Released On New Aircraft

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force unveiled its new YF12A interceptor Wednesday, with much fanfare but few facts.

The huge black bomber-killer—twice the size of the F104 fighter sitting beside it on the runway—is reportedly capable of 2,200 miles an hour and 100,000 feet altitude.

At a briefing and flight demonstration for newsmen, however, the Air Force would not go beyond the performance figures given by President Johnson when he announced the new plane last February: over 2,000 m.p.h. and over 70,000 feet.

Only hint of the new plane's performance was disclosure that it was capable of more than 2,000 m.p.h. for long periods of time, indicating it can reach higher speeds with short bursts of power from its two 40,000-pound thrust engines.

A spokesman said Arizona-based YF12A's could intercept bombers attacking from the north before they could cross Canada.

The Air Force also disclosed a few details about a new radar-guided missile carried inside the twin-tailed monster's 90-foot-long fuselage.

Called AIM 47—the initials stand for Air Intercept Missile—the 12½-foot-long rocket has a speed of 2,000 m.p.h. This added to the plane's speed, gives the rocket a striking velocity of 4,000 m.p.h., or six times the speed of sound.

It carries either a conventional or a nuclear warhead and is guided over long distances by the interceptor's own radar.

A spokesman said the YF12A, which carries both a pilot and a fire control officer, has been under development by the Air Force as an interceptor since 1959.

Little Theatre Production Opens Friday

Season tickets for the productions of Big Spring Civic Theater planned for the current season are on sale today through Friday in the lobby of the Settles Hotel.

Individual tickets for the performances of the season's first production, the two-act comedy, "The Solid Gold Cadillac," will be sold at Municipal Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings and are also available in the Settles lobby this week.

The cast moves into the final rehearsal of the play tonight at Municipal Auditorium. The play is the story of a little elderly lady who parlays 10 shares of stock into power over a giant corporation and takes control from the hands of four "ugly corporation directors," upsetting their schemes to better their own pocketbooks at the expense of the other stockholders.

Season tickets for the five Civic Theater productions this season, on sale from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday, are $25 for unlimited admissions to all five performances, $15 for 20 admissions, $8 for a family packet of 12 admissions and $5 for five single admissions.

Individual tickets sold at the door each performance are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students and children. The performance begins at 8:15 Friday and Saturday evenings this week.

Other Civic Theater productions planned this season are "Hansel and Gretel," Dec. 11-12; "Bus Stop," Feb. 12-13; "All the King's Men," April 2-3; and "The Man Who Came to Dinner," May 14-15.

An Office Romance Begins

In the production of "The Solid Gold Cadillac" set for Friday and Saturday nights in Municipal Auditorium, the comedy is interspersed with the antics of Mrs. Laura Partridge, right, played by Christine Tatum, and an office romance which engages two other lead characters, played by Betty Kasher and Marshall Cockrell. The play is the story of how an elderly lady, Mrs. Partridge, hilariously upsets a giant corporation. Tickets to the production, first of the Big Spring Civic Theater current season, are on sale in the lobby of the Settles Hotel today and Friday. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Trustees Get A Sample Of School Work

Big Spring school trustees took a bit of schooling Wednesday evening as part of their regular meeting.

Following the business session, members visited the 15-hour workshop in elementary art in the high school cafeteria. The in-service program, with 50 teachers taking part, taught by Mrs. Jewel Bishop and sponsored by Binney and Smith, Inc., was held three afternoons and nights.

Mrs. Herman (Jane) Smith, and William F. Martin, government teachers, outlined the course of study, and gave information on the methods of teaching, including outside reading and research.

The general objectives of the course include: Exploration of sources and background of American government; basic principles of political system as established by federal and state governments; the Constitution; organization, powers and procedures of government on all levels; comparison of the principles and practices of democracy with those of other contemporary governments, particularly with those systems threatening the security and survival of the American way of life, and an appreciation for the nature, privileges and obligations of citizenship and its uses in preserving American heritage.

The board will, during future meetings, observe methods of teaching and facilities, at other school plants, and will hear teachers outline their course of study.

A committee made up of board president Harold Talbot, Jack Haralson and Anderson was asked to complete plans for location or relocation of a baseball park, and to discuss the possible joint city-school development and use of certain school campuses for playground and park areas.

Board Sets Back Bond Call Dates

In an effort to improve interest rates, trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District voted Wednesday evening to forego an option to call new bonds under 20 years.

The board also approved printing of 500 dual-tone brochures advertising and promoting the bond sales. In connection with the impending building program, the board heard reports from the school's architects.

Carter Johnson, representing Rauscher-Pierce, said the provision of the option to call the bonds could prevent an acceptable interest rate from being buyers who were normally looking for long-term purchases. The Big Spring bonds are to be retired in 30 years.

The school board agreed to the suggestion because members felt the earlier call would not be made on the $3 1/2 million in bonds.

Preparation of the brochures is available to bond syndicates wanting information about Big Spring, the school system, and the potential ability to pay for bonds sold for school building and improvement, is about completed by Rauscher-Pierce. They will be ready for distribution when the call goes out Oct. 27 for bids on the first $2 million issue.

The board was also informed that the test hole drilling is in progress at the high school to provide information to the architects for foundation analysis. Supt. Sam Anderson said a part of the campus, on which new construction will be placed, is on a fill which requires numerous tests.

Ruby Did Not See Report

DALLAS (AP) — Sheriff Bill Decker says Jack Ruby didn't get a copy of the Warren Commission report.

The report states there was no connection between Ruby and accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, who was shot and killed by Ruby two days after the Nov. 22 slaying of President John F. Kennedy.

"They may have sent copies to his lawyers or his relatives," Decker said of the Warren Commission, "but we haven't received any addressed to Jack." "Jack has made no comment to me about the report," Decker said.

Year's most talked-about new cars

'65 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan—with a roof line all its own.

'65 Chevrolet Impala

It's '65's biggest, most beautiful change. There's striking new styling. New length, width and lowness. A roomier new Body by Fisher housing an interior that's a knockout—with richer looking fabrics and new curved side windows. Also a showpiece of an instrument panel with the look of walnut in the Impala series. And a more serene Jet-smooth ride that's rooted in a new Full Coil suspension system and Wide-Stance design. Fact is, if you overlook just one thing you can easily convince yourself you're onto a big expensive car here. And that one thing is its Chevrolet price.

New Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe—with new higher powered range of engines.

'65 Corvair Corsa

There's never been anything like it from either side of the Atlantic. From the new top-of-the-line Corsa series to the Monzas and lowest priced 500's, there's new thin-line hardtop styling for all closed models. More length and width, more entrance and shoulder room in all models. Dramatically new interiors. A flatter ride with a more solid feel stemming from a new independent suspension and wider wheel stance. And a higher powered range of engines—with up to 180 hp available in the Corsas. How sporty can a car get? Your dealer's got the Corvair that'll show you.

Feted At Gift Party Monday

As a courtesy to Miss Donita White who will be married Nov. 21 to Wilbur Cunningham, four hostesses entertained at the Carlton House apartment of Miss Annie Lou Williams and Miss Mary Alice Terry Monday evening.

Gifts of lingerie were brought by 23 friends who registered in the bride's book.

Other hostesses were Miss Mary Jean Bird and Mrs. Bobby D. Grant who served refreshments from a table covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white and light aqua chrysanthemums. White candles held in crystal holders flanked the floral piece. Silver was used for serving.

Miss White and Mr. Cunningham, both teachers at Big Spring High School, will be married in Miss White's home town of Albany.

New Slate Installed

Mrs. L. C. Gibbs installed new officers at the Tuesday meeting of the Women's Missionary Union held in the Westside Baptist Church. She used a nautical theme listing each office as a ship and naming the chairmen as pilots. Also, two new circles were formed at the meeting.

A business session for the end of the quarter was held and the associational workshop session was scheduled at the church Friday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The nursery will be open and an attendant on duty.

A Royal Service program will be conducted Oct. 6 at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Bass Ends Trip To Louisiana

Mrs. A. C. Bass, 106 Washington, and her son Prentis Bass, Snyder, will return this evening from New Orleans, La., where he was a surgery patient at Ochsner Clinic and Mrs. Bass underwent a series of tests.

Style Show Featured During HD Club Tour

An all-day tour and fashion show for area home demonstration club members began Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Tom Newman in the Lomax community. The Lomax, Elbow, Wasson Road and Forsan clubs were the host groups as coffee and doughnuts were served to visitors from 12 clubs.

The group re-convened in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building to examine an exhibit of home crafts and view a showing of home-sewn fashions.

Commentator for the style show was Mrs. Conny Shroyer, and models were Mrs. Ray Swann, Mrs. Omer Decker, Mrs. Pete Sherman, Mrs. M. Dorough, Mrs. D. S. Phillips, Mrs. Nelson Ball, Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, Mrs. O. B. Gaskins, Mrs. Vernon Kent, and Mrs. Jerry Callahan, who wore a dress fashioned by Mrs. A. C. Hale.

Others were Mrs. Robert Nichols, Mrs. Boyce Hale, Mrs. Louise Underwood, Mrs. L. M. Anderson, Mrs. Frances Zant and Mrs. Rolen Covington, who modeled a Bavarian-style dress of blue checked cotton made from a German pattern. Accenting the dress was a dark blue apron, and she wore red slippers from Germany. An interesting garment was the woman's suit made from a man's suit of imported silk. The seamstress was Mrs. Swann who complemented the gray outfit by using a silk blouse with tie collar. Children's clothes were modeled by Debbie Shroyer and Ralph Newman Jr.

The exhibits in the Community Room and the Reddy Room at Texas Electric Service Company included clothing such as aprons, jackets made from towels, doll dresses and knit sweaters. A matching quilted bedspread and pillow featured an embroidered pattern and pillow cases and linens were lavishly trimmed with crochet.

Flower and fruit arrangements had been made of colored feathers, pecans covered with colored foam, and artificial flowers had been sprayed with a bronze-toned porcelain mixture.

The Young Look

What the well-dressed young man will wear this winter is modeled by Ralph Newman Jr. who is much admired by Debbie Shroyer. Mrs. Ralph Newman Sr. made the single-breasted, cut-away jacket and long pants of brown corduroy. Debbie's mother, Mrs. Sonny Shroyer, fashioned her lace-trimmed blouse of white cotton and made the western pants of aqua velveteen. The youngsters modeled their new clothes at the home demonstration club style show Wednesday.

Coffee cans and macaroni in various cuts had been combined and gilded to form attractive vases or gift containers. Styrofoam balls were covered with velvet, ribbon and beads for use during the holiday season or as poudoir decorations, and decorative trees had been made of bamboo cane poles and plastic greenery.

Jars of garden vegetables were displayed as well as fruits such as peaches, apricots and figs. Artists displayed pictures in oils and pastels, and one had been created of artificial fruit fastened to the canvas and sprayed. An old bedspread had been covered with pale pink velvet to form a pretty earring holder.

Approximately 100 winners from the various clubs met in the Downtown Tea Room for lunch, and the last stop was at the annex of the Presbyterian Church in Coahoma where members of the Luther, Coahoma and Center Point clubs were hostesses as punch was served.

Coronation Rites Held At Church

A Girls' Auxiliary coronation and Royal Ambassador recognition service was held Wednesday at Stadium Baptist Church. "Gems in His Crown" was the theme of the program.

Sue McKinney was named Queen and charged with her office by the Rev. J. W. Arnett before a backdrop with a large jeweled crown. Colored gems were placed around the choir rail. Loretta Collier served as the queen's scepter bearer.

Ladies-in-waiting were Debbie McKinney, Becky Sims and Carol Nanny. Cindy Adams and Pattie Buchanan were maidens. Mrs. H. I. Cox, Woman's Missionary Union president, presented the girls with charms bearing the emblems of their forward steps.

Royal Ambassadors were David McKinney and Mark Cameron who were recognized as crusaders, and Johnny Madrey, a pioneer. Rev. Arnett charged them with their duties, and Dewain Cox, Royal Ambassador leader, presented the awards. Miss Jean Cox provided music for the service, and the benediction was worded by Joe Peay.

Rev. Diaz Speaks On Texas Work

The Rev. Besente Diaz, Spanish pastor for this area, was guest speaker at the Woman's Missionary Union Tuesday at the First Baptist Church in Sand Springs. He told of Baptist work among the Spanish speaking people of Texas and related personal experiences in his work.

The prayer calendar was read by Mrs. Melvin Atwell, and Mrs. Dan Burrow worded a prayer for the 8 members present.

October 4-11 has been scheduled as enlistment week and women of the church will meet Monday for a membership campaign. A yet-acquainted tea will be held Tuesday in their honor.

Rev. McDermott Honors Workers

A dinner was given Tuesday by the Rev. Robert J. McDermott for all persons who worked on the recently held St. Thomas Fall Festival. The catered affair was held in Fellowship Hall for approximately 120 guests. Following the dinner, a movie, "The Virgin Mary As Our Lady Guadalupe," was shown.

HINTS FROM HELOISE Index Tabs Improve Use Of Recipe Book

Dear Heloise: If you and your readers are like me, you have several cookbooks with only a few favorite recipes in each one. This can be rather frustrating and time-consuming when you want to find a certain recipe.

I conceived the idea of cutting strips of paper about two inches wide and an inch longer than the pages of the cook book. I write or type the name of the recipe at the top of the strip of paper and insert it at the page where my favorite recipe appears. . . . Miss E. Catharine Moore

Dear Heloise: Do you know what is better than a bottle brush for washing baby's bottles? Your famous nylon net! I wrap a strip of net around the bristles of the brush several times, and it cleans the bottles

Hostesses Give Housewarming

Mrs. Mae Franklin, 1308 E. 18th, was honored at a housewarming Monday evening. Hostesses were Mrs. B. J. Bowers, Mrs. Raymond Hamby, Mrs. Claude Miller, and members of the Night Circle of Kentwood Methodist Church. The hostess gift was a dried arrangement that was used to decorate the refreshment table where 41 guests were served.

CLUB PLANS BOX SUPPER

A box supper will be held Saturday evening at the Big Spring Country Club for members and their guests. The affair will begin at 7:30 p.m. when boxes will be auctioned off by the entertainment committee. Afterward, O. M. Alexander's combo will play for dancing.

twice as well and twice as fast as the brush alone. When you have a three-month-old baby, you don't like to spend all of your time washing baby bottles, and this net really does the trick. . . . Mary Cobb

Dear Heloise: Please tell your readers to PADLOCK all old trunks, and REMOVE the doors from stored freezers and idle refrigerators because little children are intrigued with playing with them. Don't run the risk of letting a child smother. They deserve the right to live. Walter Johnson Div. of Accident Prevention U. S. Government

This sounded so simple, but so reasonable, that we tried it. I lit a candle and let it burn until there was a good amount of melted wax at the top, then held the flame up to eye-level and whuffed it out. Not one drop of wax on the desk! Thanks, gal. That hint should prevent a lot of little globes of wax on our nice tablecloths. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise: To store your icepick so it won't jab into things . . . cut a piece of corrugated cardboard the length of the pick and about an inch wide. Just slip the pick into one of the corrugations in the end of the cardboard. . . . Jo

Dear Heloise: After defrosting my refrigerator and cleaning it, I turn it back on and let the water freeze in the drip tray. When it is frozen, I take the tray out and run warm (NOT hot) water over it until the ice is loosened. I clean the tray, put it back in the refrigerator and let the ice melt in the sink. . . . no water spilled on the floor. . . . L. R.

Dear Heloise: If you have a large scratch pad, and only a few items to jot down, turn the pad upside down and start writing at the bottom of the sheet. Tear off the portion you have written on, and you will still have part of the sheet for the next time. Sure saves on paper, especially if there are small children who like to use the scratch pad. . . . Lee Du Bray

Protestant Women Meet

A tea was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. F. Taute prior to the reorganization of the Protestant Women of the Chapel. Shown at the refreshment table are Chaplain Benjamin F. Meacham, Mrs. Taute, Mrs. Harold Gongaware, Mrs. B. R. Underwood, Mrs. Harold Copeland and Mrs. George E. Franks.

Mrs. Taute Gives Tea For Protestant Group

Mrs. A. F. Taute and Mrs. Elmer L. Masters greeted tea guests arriving in the Taute home, No. 1, Albrook, Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. The social meeting was held as an introductory affair prior to the reorganization of the Protestant

Women of the Chapel at Webb AFB Air Force Base. Assisting Mrs. Taute as hostesses were Mrs. Harold Gongaware and Mrs. Harold Copeland. Coffee was served in the dining area from a table covered with white linen and centered with an antique silver pitcher holding a fall arrangement. The pink linen-covered punch table was on the patio and held an oriental container filled with red roses. Crystal and silver appointments were used on both tables. Those serving were Mrs. George E. Franks, Mrs. Sam P. Colquitt and Mrs. Johnny Clements.

A regular meeting schedule is being arranged and members will be notified by mail of the first business meeting when officers will be elected. Approximately 80 attended.

ALL SET FOR FESTIVAL
Mr. and Mrs. Dick Egan to help with big event
Festival Promises To Be Best In History Of Event

Advance ticket sales for the Sixth Annual Fall Festival of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, set for Saturday have been brisk and it is believed attendance and interest this year will set a record.

The 1964 festival features a twin-event—a big barbecue dinner and the gift of a color TV, trading stamps and other prizes to guests.

The barbecue is slated to start at 6 p.m. Diners will be served until 8 p.m.

The festival grounds will be open from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The new school cafeteria which has been installed on the grounds in the past year will make serving easier. Fr. Francis B. Beazley, OMI, pointed out. He is general chairman of the festival, and he said indications point to this being the finest of the six years the festival has been held.

Staffers At National Meet

A group of Big Spring State Hospital staff members are attending the American Psychiatric Association's Mental Hospital Institute this week in Dallas.

The meeting also includes the fourth annual session of the American Association of Volunteer Service Coordinators.

The program began Sunday and continues through Thursday with workshop sessions for business managers, doctors, nurses and other specialists. The AAVSC meeting was a two-day program which began Sunday.

The institute is being attended by specialists from the 50 states and Canada.

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital; L. K. Miller, business manager; and Mrs. Hila Weathers, coordinator of volunteer services, attended the first two days of the sessions and returned to Big Spring Tuesday.

Others attending throughout this week are Dr. Frankie Williams, clinical director; Mrs. Ottilie Jolley, director of nursing; Walter Widger, chief, social service; Desmond Powell, social service; and Chaplain Max Maguire. Dr. Harrison presented a talk to the nursing session.

One of the highlights in the opening sessions was a talk by Dr. C. J. Rulman, director of Mental Health and Hospitals, the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools.

He pointed out that the U shape of the school lends itself well to an event of this kind and a carnival air can be set up in the enclosed area of the patio. The patio, grassy and clean, will serve admirably, he said, as the site of the festival.

He added that admission to the grounds—which will feature a snack bar, country store, penny pitch, fish pond, dart and other game booths and a puppet show—is free. The public is invited to attend, he said. Tickets will be on sale at the grounds or can be purchased from any member of the church. Dinner prices are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Wife Kitched By Loose Bear

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Mrs. Lee Page, 26, spent most of Monday kitched by a Himalayan bear, a 450-pounder named Yogi.

Four times the bear broke out of its cage in her back yard.

Four times Mrs. Page ran for the kitchen, locked herself in and screamed for help.

Four times her neighbors prodded the bear back into the cage with poles.

Mrs. Page said she bought Yogi for her husband, a trainer of guard dogs with a yen to train bears. He was away on business.

After the fourth escape the neighbors called the police. They stood by with rifles until animal experts arrived to take Yogi to the Manchester Zoo.

Red-Head Enters Purdue's AFROTC

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Sharon Rae Wilson, a red-haired freshman, is the only female in Purdue University's 2,500-member Air Force ROTC.

The pert and poised coed from Madison, Ind., says, "The ratio isn't much different than it is in most of my engineering classes."

Sharon is outnumbered in the freshman section of the ROTC 1-425 to 1. It was a reluctant Air Force that accepted her enrollment in Capt. Rex Bull's basic class.

She is a mathematics enthusiast and is considering going into aeronautical engineering. She thought the ROTC class would benefit her more than would women's physical education.

Capt. Bull said the military class "isn't geared for female participation, but it's working out all right. She's taking just the classroom work. We won't let her drill, of course."

Bull said Miss Wilson won't be permitted to take advanced ROTC after her sophomore year. All male students at Purdue are required to undergo military training their first two years.

"So far I think she'll be a real fine student. She's very responsible, very level-headed," Bull said.

"And I believe some of the things she'll learn in the ROTC classroom will be beneficial to her in her chosen field of engineering."

Bull said that in the past, at Purdue and other schools, there had been coeds in experimental ROTC programs not similar to Miss Wilson's work.

"But the programs never worked out," he said. In her twice-weekly classes there are 119 boys — and Sharon.

Does that make for any sort

Temco Given Aircraft Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., of Dallas has been awarded an additional $76 million contract for development and production of a new light attack plane designated the A7A.

The Texas firm won an initial $24 million contract last March for three of the new craft.

The A7A will replace the A4E Skyhawk, the present attack aircraft of U.S. Navy.

First models of the A7A will be delivered to the Navy in about a year. The plane will join the fleet in strength in the fall of 1966, according to plans.

It will have twice the range and carry more payload than the Skyhawk. It is designed for low-level support of troops and surface craft.

CAPT. WALTER E. SCHMIDT
Capt. Schmidt Is Reassigned

Capt. Walter E. Schmidt formerly of the 3561st Student Squadron, Webb Air Force Base, was recently assigned to the First Air Commando Wing, Hurlburt Field, Fla. From there he will be reassigned to Viet Nam in December as a C-123 troop carrier pilot.

Capt. Schmidt was active in the Webb AFB Toastmasters Club and in activities of the Speakers' Bureau. In 1964 he won the area speech contest.

He started his flying career at an early age when he won a Civil Air Patrol flying scholarship and soloed at 15. He graduated as a second lieutenant from the U. S. Air Force Academy in 1959 with a bachelor of science degree. He majored in public affairs.

He applied for the first class at the USAF Academy under the reserve quota through competition, was selected and entered in July 1955. Capt. Schmidt graduated in the upper quarter of his class and rated navigator in June 1957.

In 1959 he attended primary pilot training at Moore AFB (Tex.) and basic pilot training at Webb AFB in 1960. He is presently secretary of the USAF Academy Association of Graduates, Class of 1959 (First Class). His home is in Wauwatosa, Wis.

Westbrook Seeks Cage Outings

WESTBROOK — Coach Sam Scroggins said the Westbrook High School basketball teams (boys and girls) need games and are available for play either at home or away at the following times:

Nov. 3, Dec. 4, Dec. 22 and Jan. 5.

The Wildcats open their 1964-65 campaign Oct. 17, at which time they go to Noodle. Westbrook is a Class B school which does not field a football team.

Danny Kaye Returns To One Of TV's Best Hours

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One of television's happiest hours of last season is back and, judging from Wednesday night's show, with its humor and spirit intact.

"The Danny Kaye Show" on CBS has its ups and downs but when the enchanting Kaye is around, even the downs are worth watching.

The show, second of the new season's batch, was not one of the memorable ones. Perhaps it was partly because Phil Silvers, his guest star, is a brash, aggressive comic with a style that doesn't mix too well with Kaye's gentler, more whimsical approach. Partly, too, it started off badly with a messy sketch about a dog-tired man—Kaye with an intolerable neighbor—Silvers—and nobody seemed to know how to wind it up.

Things picked up with a couple of songs by Barbara McNair, and a disinfected simulation of an old-time burlesque show. Kaye's best moments were during his informal chat at the end.

This viewer was busy battling a virus last week when "The Cara Williams Show" had its CBS premiere, but the second installment Wednesday night suggested that it will be just another of those broadly comic husband-and-wife series.

The gimmick of the show is that she and her husband, played by Frank Aletter, are employed by a company which rigidly prohibits intra-company marriages and hence they are trying to keep a big secret.

Wednesday night this led to a surprise party by fellow workers which in turn led to some nonsense involving a live lobster.

Recommended tonight: "Perjury" Mason, CBS, 8-9 EDT — another in the long-playing series starring Raymond Burr as the indomitable lawyer; "Be-witched," ABC, 9-9:30—comedy fantasy about a pretty enchantress married to a more mortal; "Suspense Theatre," NBC, 10-11 — starting its second season with a drama starring Sal Mineo and Albert Dekker.

Mother, Grandmother Share Cooking Skills With Family

By MARY COCHRAN
Blessed is the home with a grandmother in it. Such is the case at the Virgil Long residence at 1800 Dixie, where Mrs. Cora B. McCormick resides with her son-in-law, daughter and their two children, Kandis, 16, and Ronnie, 14.

The homemaking chores are shared by the women of the household, and old-fashioned dishes and the latest fare appear with regularity on the family table. Mrs. Long operates a beauty shop at her home and is occupied with her business four days a week. Grandmother McCormick takes on the cooking duties at that time, and a share-the-work schedule is efficiently handled.

Pert Mrs. McCormick can't remember when she first learned to cook but has had many years of experience at the kitchen stove. For 10 years she was a cook at the Big Spring State Hospital and was preparing food for as many as 500 people. Today she finds it no chore to cook for her small family.

Kandis and Ronnie are home for lunch every day, and the big meal is served at noon. Long eats at the Medical Arts Clinic and Hospital where he is a laboratory and X-ray technician.

WHAT'S FOR DINNER?
Family conference solves menu problems health standpoint, she feels. Homemaking is a pleasantly shared task in this home and harmony reigns throughout the busy days.

JAM CAKE
3 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. soda, scant
1 cup raisins
1 cup jam
1 cup nuts
1/2 tsp. nutmeg, cinnamon, allspice and vanilla
3/4 cup shortening
3 cups flour
Pinch of salt
Mix as you would a fruit cake and bake in layers or loaf.

PECAN PRALINES
3 cups sugar
1 cup whole milk
1 cup caramelized sugar
3 cups pecans
Vanilla
Mix sugar and milk in saucepan. Place over fire and when it begins to boil add caramelized sugar. Boil to the soft ball stage. Remove from the fire and add butter and flavoring. Beat until creamy and add pecans and cookies to mail to the Long's married daughter, Mrs. Don Mills, who lives in Sacramento, Calif., with her husband and son, Larry Dean. That box of goodies is the most treasured holiday gift in the Mills household.

HAM AND POTATO SCALLOPS
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 tsp. chopped onion
2 tbsps. flour
1 1/2 tbsps. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1 tsp. butter or margarine
1 qt. (4 large) sliced potatoes
1 cup ground ham
2-3 cup grated cheddar cheese
Melt butter or margarine in small saucepan; saute onion until soft; stir in flour, salt and pepper. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly; cook over low heat until thickened. Rub 1 1/2 quart baking dish with butter or margarine; add half the potatoes, half the ham and half the cheese; pour over half the sauce. Repeat this, layering with the remaining potatoes, ham, cheese and sauce. Bake in a moderate oven at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 hours, or until potatoes are soft.

TOMATO DRESSING
2 cups or one can tomatoes
Equal parts of cornbread and biscuits (about 2 cups each)
1 egg
2 tbsps. butter
1 tsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. each salt, sage and black pepper
1 small onion, minced
Heat tomatoes. Mix together, pour into a buttered baking dish and bake 25 minutes in a 300 degree oven. Add chopped boiled eggs if desired.

PEPPERS AND CORN
3 bell peppers
1 small can of corn
1/4 cup of cracker crumbs
1/2 tsp. sugar
Season to taste with salt, pepper and garlic salt
1 egg
Cut off tops, remove seeds and slice peppers in half and place in boiling water for about 3 minutes; remove and place on a buttered baking dish and stuff with the scalloped corn. Bake in a 350 degree oven for about 30 minutes.
The tomato dressing is also very good used as a stuffing for peppers.

PECAN-AVOCADO MOLDED SALAD
1 pkg. lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup commercial sour cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 cup pecans, broken
2-3 cup mashed avocado
1 tsp. minced onion
1 tsp. minced celery
1/2 cup chopped green sweet pepper
1/2 tsp. salt
Dissolve gelatin in hot water, chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg whites, then whip until foamy, beat in sour cream and mayonnaise until thoroughly blended, fold in pecans, avocado, onion, celery, pepper and salt. Chill until firm. Garnish as desired.

BLACK BING CHERRY SALAD
1 No. 3 can cherries, pitted
1 pkg. lemon gelatin
1 small can crushed pineapple
1 cup pecans, broken
Drain cherry juice and bring to a boil. Dissolve gelatin in juice and cool. Add pineapple juice and all cherries, pecans and chill until firm.

Serve Fish With Pickled Carrots
Pickled carrots give zest to a main course of fish.
SWEET AND SPICY CARROTS
8 large carrots
1 cup each sugar and cider vinegar
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 stick cinnamon
1 small bay leaf
18 whole cloves and 18 whole allspice
Pare carrots; cut in half crosswise and cut each half into four sticks. Boil carrots in a covered saucepan in one inch of boiling water just until tender-crisp, about 10 minutes; drain. Over low heat in a saucepan, stir together the sugar, vinegar and salt, until sugar dissolves. Tie spices in a double-thick square of cheesecloth and add; simmer 5 minutes.
Turn drained carrots and hot syrup (with spice bag) into a shallow container; cover; cool; chill overnight. Remove spice bag. Serve carrots cold as a pickle. Store any leftover in the syrup in a covered jar in the refrigerator.

RICE AND STEAK
Win Compliments With Savory Steak Strips
When a special meal is coming up on your menu schedule, it's a relief to have met recipes you can rely upon as proven compliment winners. You'll be even more pleased with yourself when the enticing meal is kind to your food budget.

SAVORY STEAK STRIPS
1 beef round steak, cut 1/2 inch thick
1/4 cup flour
1 1/2 tbsps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/4 tsp. paprika
3 tbsps. lard or drippings
1 medium onion, thinly sliced
1/2 can (10 1/2 oz.) or 2-3 cup condensed consommé
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 can (2 ozs.) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup rice
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. ginger
2 cups water
Cut steak into strips 1/4 inch wide and 3 inches long. Combine flour, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper and paprika. Dredge steak strips in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onion, consommé and Worcestershire sauce to meat. Cook tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes. Add mushrooms and green pepper and continue cooking 30 minutes. Stir small amount of steak mixture into sour cream. Then add sour cream to steak strips and cook just until heated through.

Pot Roast Has Sauce
For a timely menu why not combine raisins with another food that deserves important attention right now... beef? Well above average supplies of beef are being marketed, so watch for savings.
Harmonizing beef pot-roast and a sweet-sour raisin sauce is the recipe suggested. The sauce is cooked and thickened first. Then it becomes the liquid for braising the beef.

BEEF-RAISIN HARMONY
3 to 4-lb. beef arm or blade pot-roast
3 tbsps. lard or drippings
2 tbsps. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1 medium onion, quartered
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. flour
2 tbsps. vinegar
2 tbsps. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 bay leaf
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup raisins
Flour for gravy, if desired.
Brown pot - roast in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add onion.
Combine in a sauce pan the brown sugar, dry mustard and flour. Mix well, add vinegar, lemon rind, bay leaf, water and raisins. Cook until thickened. Pour over pot-roast.
Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 3 1/2 hours, or until meat is tender. Discard bay leaf. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

EAT HEARTILY
With budget-wise pot roast
Fall Means Pot Roast Time
Autumn days sharpen appetites so stick-to-the-ribs foods like pot-roast frequently take their place in menus.
For the homemaker who is giving a wary eye to her food budget, favorite cuts to use are arm and blade, both cut from beef chuck or shoulder.
Blade cuts contain a long, slender bone while arm cuts have small round bone.
The secret to good cooking in a pot-roast lies in the braising process; browning after dredging in seasoned flour gives good color as well as flavor. This is followed by slow cooking with a small amount of liquid to develop flavor as well as to give tenderness to the meat.
HERB POT-ROAST
3 to 4-lb. beef arm or blade pot-roast
3 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
3 tbsps. lard or drippings
1 beef bouillon cube
1/2 cup hot water
2 bay leaves
1/2 tsp. marjoram
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1/2 tsp. parsley flakes
1/2 tsp. basil
Flour for gravy, if desired
Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge pot-roast in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Dissolve bouillon cube in hot water. Add bouillon, bay leaves, marjoram, garlic salt, parsley flakes and basil to meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 3 1/2 hours or until meat is tender. Discard bay leaves.
Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. Six to 8 servings.

STUFF A SURPRISE
Ham and cheese add to veal dish

Make Veal Surprise By Skillet Cookery

Veal cutlet goes fancy when it's stuffed. So if you'd enjoy a made-in-a-skillet meat to serve to company, here's your dish.
The pan gravy that accompanies this veal is delectable; don't neglect to make it according to the recipe directions. Garnish, too, as suggested: the dollop of sour cream with its crimson pimiento topping looks as pretty as can be and adds a real taste fillip.

VEAL STUFFLETS
2 lbs. veal cutlet (about 1/2 inch thick)
6 small thin slices cooked ham
6 small thin slices Swiss or Muenster cheese
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 cup stock or bouillon
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup commercially prepared sour cream
2 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. cold water
Minced parsley or dried parsley flakes
3 whole pimientos, drained
Cut veal into 6 pieces; split each piece horizontally almost to the end; open as you would a book and flatten with a cleaver or flat side of a heavy knife. Place a piece of ham and one of cheese on each piece of veal; fold over and secure with toothpicks. Brush with a little of the oil; dip in the crumbs. In a large skillet heat the remaining oil; add veal and brown, turning once.

Spoon any excess fat from pan; add stock; sprinkle meat lightly with salt and pepper; cover and simmer until tender—25 to 30 minutes. Remove meat to a hot serving dish.
To drippings in pan add the sour cream. Mix the flour with the cold water until smooth and add to skillet with salt and pepper to taste and parsley.
Simmer, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened and just hot. Serve gravy around meat. Garnish each serving of veal with a dollop of extra sour cream topped with half a pimiento.

Good Buys Reported This Week

Liver is high in protein and low in price at many food markets this week. Shoppers may want to select some to prepare in a variety of ways, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Agricultural Extension Service consumer marketing specialist.

Calf liver costs a bit more than beef or pork liver, yet is tender and more delicate in flavor and can be broiled or fried. Beef liver requires a slightly longer cooking period by braising or cooking in liquid. Pork liver is lowest in price because it has a stronger flavor and is usually braised with onions or tomatoes.

There is no waste in liver, and a pound will give four servings, Mrs. Clyatt says.

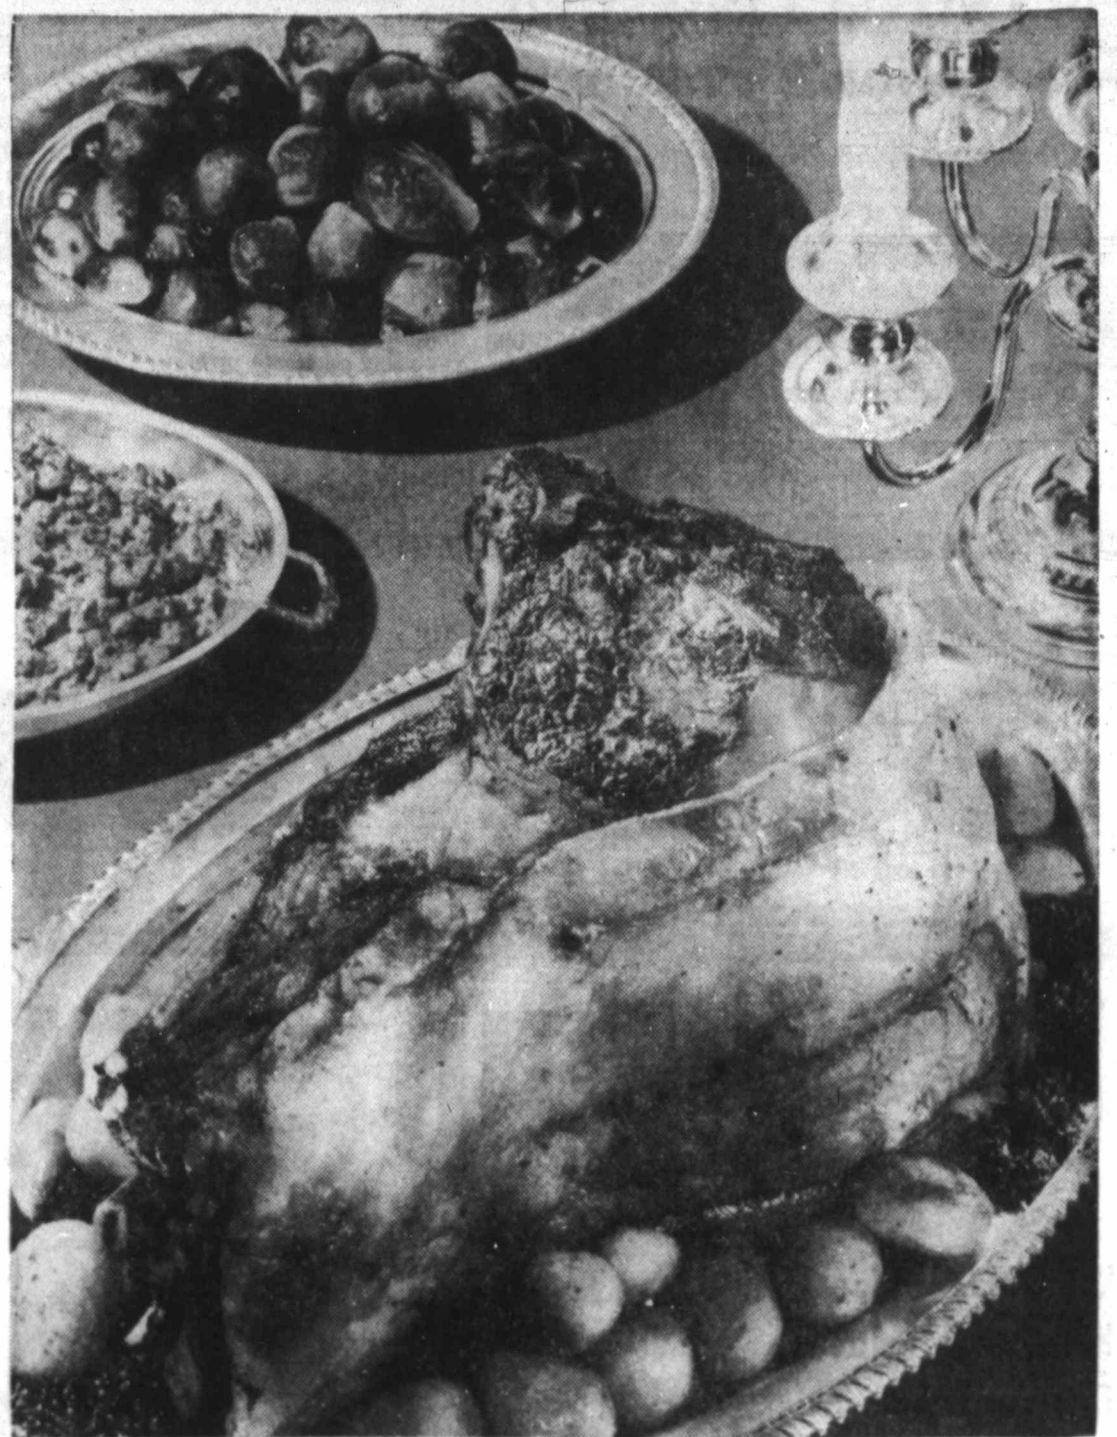

Liver is rich in iron and the A and B vitamins, as well as protein. Since liver is highly perishable, it should be bought for immediate use and kept in the home refrigerator no more than two days before it is cooked.

Frying chicken continues to be featured at many markets. Hens are priced reasonably at about the same level as last week. Excellent quality turkey is coming to market, and prices are moderate. Other interesting meat choices are spare ribs, pork Boston butt roast, center ham slices and canned hams. Beef prices continue at last week's level, with thrifty cuts to be found on chuck cuts, a variety of steaks and liver.

Tuna fish and corned beef hash should provide the beginning for economical menus with little effort.

Canned tomatoes and peaches are featured at economy prices, as the new-pack season for both is fast approaching and an effort is being made to move stocks.

Good values in fresh fruits and vegetables include bananas, Tokay and Thompson seedless grapes, Bartlett pears, prune plums, cantaloupes, honeydew melons, nectarines, cabbage, sweet potatoes, lettuce, tomatoes, green peppers, squash and dry onions.

FAVORED BY TEXANS
Roast beef is flavor-favorite standby for cooks

Texas Cooks Enjoy Two-Meal Convenience With Roast Beef

Shoulder, chuck and seven-ribs, longtime Texas flavor-favorites, are finding new popularity among modern homemakers for several reasons, not the least of which is that two entirely different meals can be cooked simultaneously.
For a change, oven preparation of these forequarter roasts which are usually served as pot roasts, cooked on top of the range.

Shoulder roasts fit themselves admirably to modern kitchen efficiency programs, provided a large enough roast is purchased. Here are the simple steps to follow to "have your roast and eat it too."

Buy a roast large enough to serve your family two meals—or even larger if your children like hearty beef-filled sandwiches for lunch. Dredge the roast in flour and sear it. A pancake grill can be used for searing if the roast is too big to fit other containers. Place the seared roast on the rack of a large roaster.

To prepare vegetables, scrub unpeeled new potatoes (enough for two meals), and place them on one end of the roasting pan. Peel large Bermuda onions, and scoop out one end slightly. Place them on or around the roast and fill each with Worcestershire sauce.

Pour two tablespoons Worcestershire sauce over the roast. Place 1/2 cup warm water into the roaster, cover and close the steam vent tightly. Roast in a 375 degree oven for approximately 30 minutes per pound.

You are ready to serve your first meal, with the satisfaction of knowing that your second meal is already cooked! Generous slices of pot roast, baked onions and potatoes topped with the beef-flavored extract from the bottom of the roaster may be supplemented with a tossed green salad and hot biscuits.

The second-meal dishes store easily in the refrigerator; wrap the other half of the roast in foil and pour the juices from the roaster into a tall covered jar. (This concentrates the fat at the top of the jar and saves time when meal No. 2 is being prepared). The potatoes need only refrigeration, since their skins will keep them from discoloring for several days.

For the second meal, remove the fat from the stored juices, heat it in a large skillet. Add enough flour to make a roux, and stir in the beef extract and sufficient water to make a gravy. Place slices of roast in the gravy, cover tightly and heat over a very slow flame while preparing the potatoes.

Peel the cold "baked" potatoes. Sliced, they make delicious cottage fries, or, diced with onions, they become man-filling hash browns.

Brown and serve rolls, a green vegetable and fruit salad complete this second, pre-cooked and inexpensive roast meal.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with lovingkindness have I drawn thee. (Jeremiah 31:3)

PRAYER: O God and Father, Thou who art full of lovingkindness, I have been away from Thee in the country of disobedience and sin. Now I come to Thee. Repentant, I ask Thy forgiveness for my sins. Draw me closer, Lord; for Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Clarification Needed

A state of puzzlement continues to prevail over the alleged Billie Sol Estes-Ralph Yarborough financial connection, and we think unnecessarily so.

Back in the Democratic primary campaign days there were charges and counter-charges, assertions, denials and re-assertions and re-denials. Much of this had to be taken with a grain of salt, but the whole affair was put into the hands of both the FBI and the State Department of Public Safety. Both agencies announce—and correctly so—that they are not politically implicated, will have no part in adding fuel to a campaign fire.

More lately, Fagan Dickson of Austin, state finance chairman for Sen. Yarborough, said that Estes had made a statement in the affair. Gov. John Connally then said that he had no knowledge of such a statement. Sen. Yarborough said that Mr. Dickson knows more about it than he (Yarborough) does.

There is no intention here to cast a slur on any person and we hope to the good judgment of Texans will prompt them to await facts before making accusations.

But the facts seem hard to come by. There ought to be some way of clarifying the entire matter.

It's Up To You - And You - And You

To use an old phrase, the United Fund's campaign is off and running, but how fast it runs depends entirely upon Mr. and Mrs. Everyday Citizen of Big Spring.

This is the community's biggest annual undertaking, and it succeeds only to the extent of mass participation—the willingness of every employe to give a fair share, no matter how small that share may be.

Perhaps some things ought to be said to refresh memories of the purpose of the United Fund:

It is no welfare agency. It simply is a coordination of all interests in the community to put into one effort the raising of funds for 13 different humanitarian organizations.

This coordinated effort is predicated on the principles that (1) one-time pledging is simpler for the giver; (2) a great saving in manpower is achieved, since volunteers work once a year instead of 13 times; (3) a great saving in overhead is achieved, since 13 solicitations can be combined with one office, one clerical staff, one expenditure for necessary materials, etc. Big Spring, incidentally, has achieved an outstanding record in keeping campaign overhead costs to the very minimum, since most of the work is done on a volunteer basis, and no outside professionals are used.

So your gift is not to the United Fund. It is to the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army, the YMCA units, the Red Cross, the Crippled Children's Center, the West Side Recreation Center, the Summer Recreation program, the Milk & Ice Fund, the Gonzales Center for physical rehabilitation, the Texas United Fund, the Air Force Aid Society, the Half-way House.

Think of this when you make your pledge. What would you do for each of these worthy programs? Count it up. If it comes to more than you can offer at one time, there is the extremely easy method of paying by the quarter or by the month. In many business establishments in town, payroll deductions are handled, to make the pledge payments easier for salaried and wage-earning people.

The United Fund appeal basically is no great burden on the county. Not if every person responds in the way his heart dictates.

Holmes Alexander The Health Of The Candidates

WASHINGTON — You'd think that presidential health is the last thing the Democrats would want to talk about, but their propagandists are in the whispering galleries with lies about Barry Goldwater's non-existent "nervous breakdown."

We will never know how deeply the crude and cruel falsehood has threatened the Senator's election chances. For myself, I was shocked to learn from the editor of one of our really great newspapers that he hesitated to endorse Goldwater because of some doubts about the Senator's mental health. It was this experience which caused me to break off a reporting trip in the South and fly to Phoenix for an interview with Goldwater's personal physician.

SINCE YOU don't get much in this world without reaching for it, I reeved up my nerve and asked Dr. Kober to let me do an outrageous thing—have a look at the raw file on Goldwater's visits to his doctor's office.

I COME OF a family of four children, with numerous uncles, aunts and cousins, and have three children and five grandchildren of my own, so I know something about the frequency and variety of ills that beset human flesh. But I never heard of anybody like Barry Goldwater, whose doctor went over him year after year and couldn't find anything wrong. Finally, as if to prove Barry to be human, there was an item in 1957 which mentioned "tension" and advised "rest and relaxation." But not long afterwards I found an Air Force physical examination of Goldwater, aged 55, clearing him to continue flying supersonic planes, and I was ready again to think of him as a super health product.

IF THIS weren't a presidential season, and if we weren't witnessing a contest played for what are literally the highest stakes in the world, it would be ludicrous to question the mental and physical capacity of a man who flew transport planes over the Himalayan Hump and single-engine planes across the Atlantic, jumped from city councilman to U. S. Senator, and from Senator to party nominee, and who still takes his sport by landing jet planes on Navy carriers and chuting white-water rivers.

ON THE OTHER side, Mr. Johnson's heart attack in July, 1955, was heard round the world, but it wasn't his only collapse. In 1937, just two days before his off-year election to the House of Representatives, Lyndon Johnson was hauled out of a ten-candidate battle royal for an emergency appendectomy. In 1948, when campaigning for what turned out to be his cliff-hanging 87-vote majority election to the Senate, LBJ was flown by Jacqueline Cochran, the renowned aviatrix, to Mayo Clinic where he underwent the painful extraction of kidney stones by forceps.

AMERICAN ARE lucky this year to have a choice of candidates with diametrically opposing viewpoints in politics. If these men also have different records in personal health, the less said the better.

Billy Graham

I had thought that married life would be a kind of heaven on earth. I have heard ministers say it should be. But ours is far from that. Life has been one round of confusion and tension since I married. What is wrong?—H. L.

In everything on this earth that is worthwhile there are periods of disillusionment, heartache and pain. Even the Son of God, who should have known all the ways to bypass trouble, couldn't escape it. But who would doubt that His task was worthwhile?

Married life is at once the most blessed and the most painful of all experiences. It is the welding together of two (and when the children come), and perhaps more personalities. I am pleased to say that I have a wonderfully happy marriage. God has blessed our home with five healthy children, and my wife is one of the greatest of women. Yet, there are times when confusion reigns in our house, and tensions exist. But the secret is: There is enough love in our home to carry us over the rough spots, and we can laugh about it all afterwards. God has supplied this "love."

A chain is no stronger than its weakest link. God is concerned for the welfare of the home. He is not only a party in the wedding ceremony, but he has promised to be present in times of stress. No crisis is too great to be bridged if His counsel is sought by prayer.

My wife says, "A happy marriage is made up of two good sleepers."

THE LOSING BATTLE

James Marlow What Lessons Did He Have?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sergi Nechayev was the wildest of the wild Russian revolutionists of the 19th century. He was ruthless and he had a simple philosophy: assassination.

He was a liar. He used fictitious names. He was a killer. And he so badly wanted recognition as a hero, leader and martyr, all at the same time, that he cooked up fantasies about himself.

Lee Harvey Oswald was the same and did the same. Nechayev, like Oswald, had a bleak childhood. Both had half-baked intellects.

THIS IS AN EXAMPLE of how far-out Nechayev was: When he escaped the czarist police and went to Switzerland, he represented himself as an agent of an organization which didn't exist.

Then, returning to Russia under an assumed name, he represented himself as a disciple of Sergei Nechayev who, he said, had died in a czarist prison, tortured to death for the revolution.

Lenin seems to have learned some lessons from Nechayev, if only in ruthlessness. Perhaps Oswald did, too, if he ever read Nechayev's life although at this moment it can't be said he ever heard of the nutty Russian.

The Warren Commission, which investigated Oswald's assassination of President John F. Kennedy, in the first of its many-volume report on the tragedy paid scant attention to the books Oswald read, books which may have influenced him.

IT WILL GIVE more details in some of the subsequent volumes, some or all of which may be released this month. It could never hope to list all the books he ever read, if only because he didn't keep records and was secretive.

And just because he was secretive, communicating little to anyone, it's doubtful the commission could ever hope to pinpoint many, if any, influences on Oswald from his reading. He probably didn't know himself.

He also borrowed "Portrait of a President" by W. R. Manchester, which begins with Carl Sandburg's brooding thoughts on Lincoln's assassination, plus a book on the Chinese communist leader, Mao Tse-tung.

SINCE THE WARREN Commission ruled out the idea of conspiracy—childhood—it is a reasonable guess that his ideas must have stemmed far more from books than conversation.

But this speculation on what Oswald read, and what may have influenced him, is testimony to one thing, that try as it would, and it tried for 10 months to put the pieces together, the Warren Commission, at least in its first volume, was able to collect only tiny fragments of what Oswald said and thought.

This is why the seven-man commission could do no better than guess at Oswald's reason for killing the President. Perhaps in the years ahead more pieces will be added by people who at one time or another talked to him.

But as this happens, and time passes, myths will grow around the grubby little man who wanted to make a big noise in the world but gave up early and finally decided the only way he could do it was with a gun.

Hal Boyle Whatever Happened?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — All at once it is different. Gee, it isn't like it used to be. Whatever happened to old-fashioned fun?

The fellows who used to hang around the corner don't have the same old languor. Something has happened and I don't quite know why.

I guess it's a mistake to ask too much of today or tomorrow and want it to be like yesterday. Because you can demand and demand, but that isn't the way it's going to be.

Yesterday can never quite come back. Yesterday had more starch in its shirtfront and more buttons up its back.

Yesterday wore a walrus mustache without looking like a brush salesman.

Yesterday could look dignified in long woolen underwear while it yawned about what it had done today and ordered the womenfolk to do better tomorrow.

I miss those dear old-fashioned days. Then you could rent a rig and take your best girl out and come back with unforgettable memories of her dear hand upon your knee.

Yesterday could buy fine bean soup for a dime a bowl.

Yesterday when they asked you in, the womenfolk would spend hours baking and cooking beforehand. Now they get a bruised finger ringing up the delicatessen fellow to ask him to bring something and drop nothing on the way.

Yesterday it was an emblem of freedom and respect if you went to work in a white shirt. Now you can make more money in a dutilful blue.

Yesterday more people in America could milk a cow than drive a car. Then mules outnumbered tractors and if you wanted to keep daylight within you, well — you avoided their heels.

Yesterday people hated to be apart. Now they can't stand to be together.

Yesterday a fellow said, "Show me — I'm from Missouri." Now he says, "Yeah, it must be so — I think I saw it on television somewhere."

Whatever happened to old-fashioned fun? Why, that's simple. It just couldn't stand the pace. All tucked out, it quietly left the scene, too out of breath to say goodbye.

And the new-fashioned fun? It screams "Hello!" but it remains a stranger. Perhaps one time of fun is enough for a lifetime.

To Your Good Health Pterygium Grows Toward Center Of Eyeball

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have a pterygium on my eye, and my ophthalmologist thinks it should be taken off. It has been growing for 20 years, doesn't bother me at all, and isn't very noticeable.

I am 74 and in very good health. An eye operation frightens me. What do you think?—MRS. E. L.

A pterygium is a fold in the membrane of the eyeball (usually on the side toward the nose) and is seen more frequently in elderly persons, especially those who have been much exposed to the elements—dust, and wind. Farmers and sailors, have them somewhat oftener than others. But anyone MAY acquire them.

The pterygium grows slowly toward the center of the eyeball, and eventually can extend over the pupil. That is when you first notice any symptoms. Vision in that eye becomes blurry and distorted.

Since it grows so slowly (yours has been growing for 20 years, and very likely had started before you noticed it in the first place) there is plenty of time to watch it and estimate when it needs to be removed.

There are two reasons for not waiting too long. First, you naturally don't want it to begin impairing your eyesight. Second, it is much easier (and safer) to remove before it reaches that stage. When it has started to cover the pupil, removal can leave a scar which in itself affects vision.

I wouldn't fear the eye surgery in view of the modern and successful techniques now in use.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause of a trigger finger? What is generally done for it? Will it get well by itself in time?—MRS. C. H.

A trigger finger is one that appears to get stuck when bent, and then suddenly snaps back to normal position. It is due to constriction or tightening of the tendon responsible for bending the finger.

Injection of hydrocortisone may help. Otherwise, surgery is necessary to free the tendon.

Dear Dr. Molner: I cut myself shaving about four months ago and the place doesn't seem to get any better. It is a brown spot and has a little hole in the middle. I have tried several ointments, but when I shave it still bleeds, and when I wash my face the scab comes off. It doesn't hurt at all.—J. D.

Four months is much too long for this to continue. It's something other than just a cut. Have your doctor look at it, and tell him how it acts and how long it has been there.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim How About Physicals For Drivers?

There is a wide difference between the requirements for an automobile driver's license and a private pilot's license, which I am not sure is justified.

Certainly a person winging his way overhead should be competent to operate his airplane for the safety of the rest of us as well as himself. But it would seem the same observation would be true of the person motoring down the streets and highways.

To operate either conveyance is a privilege, not a right. And as such, both are regulated—quite strictly in the one case, not so much so in the other.

FOR INSTANCE, a private pilot must have a complete physical examination by an authorized doctor once each two years. Failure to pass means he will not fly as a pilot. To drive a car, the motorist must (in addition to driving tests) pass a superficial test of his eyes when he first applies, and that's it for the rest of his life. If he passes this exam as a teenager, he can drive the rest of his life on that basis, no matter what his physical condition. He merely renews the license by paying the fee.

I suggest the pilot's physical exam is a good rule and it could be applied required of motor car drivers in some degree.

IN ANOTHER AREA, the government is quite concerned how much the private pilot knows about his airplane, its operation, conditions affecting flight, and a host of other things. But to get a car driving license, a handful of simple rules and proof he can shift gears and park about wraps up the requirements.

The potential pilot must take instructions—at least 40 hours of them—with a trained, competent, licensed instructor. The potential automobile driver can learn from anyone, competent or not. Fortunately, driver education classes are probably turning out the best drivers in larger and larger numbers, but it is not required.

BREAK THE RULES too often and the pilot can wind up grounded. Chances of losing an auto license is all but nil for whatever reason, although it does occasionally happen in DWI cases.

Recent statistics indicate most traffic deaths occur in one-car mishaps; and the number of traffic fatalities each year is moving ever upward. Undoubtedly, any effort to demand stiffer requirements—training, physical exams, experience—would meet with loud outcries and tough opposition.

BUT I SUGGEST this is one way that might reduce the appalling number of folks we lose on our highways every year. Perhaps, better drivers might be safer drivers. Except for some slogans and more traffic signals, we have made little headway in finding a solution to highway slaughter.

Perhaps the requirements would not have to be quite so strict as for a pilot's license, as the operation of the two machines are quite different. But some things applicable to one are applicable to the other.

Richard Starnes Journalism's Responsibility

WASHINGTON — The profession of journalism, in which must be included the television and radio news apparatus, cannot prudently ignore the stinging criticism leveled at it by the Warren Commission.

It is idle to point out that the cops in Dallas were principally to blame for the murder of Oswald. Under proper security measures no reporter or cameraman could have gotten within shout of Oswald. Surely Ruby, the aging adolescent cop buff, could not have.

BUT ON BEHALF of the Dallas Police Department, and policemen everywhere in the United States, it must be said that they are always faced with a hard choice in their relationships with reporters. Unless they admit reporters to special privileges they are denounced for unduly restrictive news policies, that is to say they are accused of withholding legitimate news from news media and thence from the public.

IT IS EASY to do; policemen like to see their names in the newspapers in connection with professional prowess, and prosecutors want to be elected. For the reporter it is perilously easy to achieve too close a relationship with these news sources. The chief pitfall, of course, is the danger that the rights of the accused will be violated (as Oswald's and Ruby's certainly were), but there are other considerations as well.

THE MATTER of guarding the rights of the accused is a different thing. It was a thorny issue before the tragedy in Dallas, and it is bound to become insistently more so under the angry goad of the Warren Commission findings. Oswald was condemned—and executed — without any semblance of due process. Ruby's trial was a disgrace; one would have to go back to the Hauptmann circus to find its equal.

In each of these dismal episodes the nation's machinery of mass communications must share some of the blame. It is manifestly no excuse to complain that restraint would bring with it competitive disadvantage.

THE QUESTION is not whether Oswald and Ruby were guilty. Millions saw Ruby kill Oswald, and there now seems little doubt that Oswald was the man who slew President Kennedy. But this is not the point. Both were entitled to all of the protection of the law that has been so painfully erected on the ruins of torture chambers and on the broken bodies of countless men. Neither got it, and all the editorial page piety in Christendom cannot obscure the fact that the news media of the country played a role in denying it to them.

THE FUNDAMENTAL problem which must be faced is how to protect fair trial without damaging the basic freedom of the press, which properly applied, of course, is itself one of the guarantees of fair trial. There is a compelling and urgent need for lawyers, courts and representatives of news-gathering and disseminating organs to meet for the purpose of working out a code of voluntary restraints on the limits beyond which trial and pre-trial coverage must not be allowed to go.

The problem is a difficult one, but in a well-ordered society the shameful events in Dallas will not be permitted to recur. (Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

David Lawrence National Lesson In Lee Oswald

WASHINGTON — Thousands of Lee Oswalds may be living undetected and unnoticed in America today, and the records show that many a murderer and many an assassin on innocent persons has already been perpetrated by deranged individuals in innumerable instances of crime over the years.

If there is one lesson which the Warren Commission report plainly teaches, it is that the American people—through their federal, state and city governments—have not given the attention that the problem of the criminally insane deserves.

JUST A FEW DAYS after President Kennedy was assassinated, this correspondent wrote in these dispatches: "Oswald was a confused man, and neither American nor foreign political issues produced that confusion in the first place. He was the victim of an unhappy life. He was a man deserted and isolated. It's a familiar story of what brings on mental depression. Friends can be helpful, as the medical books tell us. But in our self-centered lives, where time is so precious, there is a tendency to pass by the broken-down human beings who need every day the warmth of human love and understanding and, finally, if all else fails, the benefits of psychiatric treatment and even hospital care."

THE WARREN REPORT confirms these early impressions. It tells of how Oswald's mother, who had been twice married, placed her children in an orphan's home due to lack of funds. It tells how a remarriage resulted in divorce, after several separations and reunions.

The report tells of a "gradually deteriorating school record" and of how young Oswald allegedly pulled out a pocket knife during an argument and threatened to use it on the wife of his half-brother. It tells how Lee, when he was 13, was "remanded for psychiatric observation to Youth House, an institution in which children are kept for psychiatric observation or for detention pending court appearance or commitment to a child-caring or custodial institution such as a training school." He was examined by the chief psychiatrist and interviewed and observed by various members of the staff.

THE OFFICIAL report of the psychiatrist in 1953 said: "Lee has to be seen as an emotionally, quite disturbed youngster who suffers under the impact of really existing emotional isolation and deprivation, lack of affection, absence of family life and rejection by a self-involved and conflicted mother."

In one of the reports in 1953, Mrs. Evelyn S. Siegel, a social worker who had interviewed both Lee and his mother when the boy was confined to Youth House, reported that, while Oswald had suffered serious personality damage, "if he can receive help quickly, this might be repaired to some extent."

BUT LEE OSWALD never received that help, says the Warren Commission report, and adds: "Few social agencies even in New York were equipped to provide the kind of intensive treatment that he needed, and when one of the city's clinics did find room to handle him, for some reason the record does not show, advantage was never taken of the chance afforded to Oswald."

It is no answer to the whole problem to say that the Secret Service should have been more vigilant in Dallas, or that the FBI should have been able to transmit more information about Oswald's record to the Secret Service.

THE TRAGIC FACT remains that crimes like these will happen, and there is no sure way to prevent them. But there is a way to reduce their number and possibly prevent individuals from resorting to crime if their personal lives can be aided early enough and before criminal tendencies really take root. Society as a whole has a responsibility to face up to the enormity of this grave problem. (Copyright, 1964, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

Both Sides See Proofs In Committee's Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's two-year-old investigation of Billie Sol Estes has ended in a political crossfire of claim and counter claim.

Republicans said the report made Wednesday by the Senate Investigations subcommittee proves Estes received favored treatment from the Agriculture Department in his cotton allotment schemes.

Democrats said it proved they were right—that there was no favoritism, only proper regard for the rights of all concerned.

The unanimous subcommittee report charged neither favoritism nor corruption in the department.

The subcommittee report, the Agriculture Department is rather pleased with the results of its brush with the West Texas promoter.

Officials said privately it was necessary pressure to overcome bureaucratic resistance to needed reforms. Most of the reforms were made while the subcommittee was holding its public hearings.

They agreed wholeheartedly with the subcommittee chairman, John McClellan, D-Ark., who said in presenting his report to the Senate:

REFORMS

"Many needed reforms have been brought about in the areas in which weaknesses or deficiencies were revealed by evidence adduced in the hearings. It is probable that the reforms would not have been made except for these revelations."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee, has been hitting the Estes case hard in campaign speeches.

A separate report by two Republicans on the subcommittee—Sens. Carl Curtis of Nebraska and Karl Mundt of South Dakota—charged that Estes received "favoritism on the county level, the state level, and in the U.S. Department of Agriculture."

They said the department was "inept in its efforts to cope with" Estes and "in many instances it was actually a companion to this fraud through the actions, or failure to act, of its officials."

Two Democrats—Sens. Sam Ervin Jr. of North Carolina and Edmund Muskie of Maine—admitted that the department "seemed to have moved ponderously at times" but said there were no improper motives involved.

FAMILY SNOOZES

System Waters Lawn For Them

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—For Theodore (Ted) A. Noyes, watering the lawn is just a chore that sorta messes up a day—or a trip.

So the mechanical engineering professor at Texas A&M University developed his own completely automatic watering system. The system even tells itself whether or not the grass needs water.

This came about when Noyes decided to enroll at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology two summer ago.

One major problem was what to do with the push lawn he had spent years cultivating. The professor hired a high school lad to carry the water hoses and to mow the lawn.

Before the next summer arrived, Noyes felt he could save money by installing his own system. That's what he did, but one problem still remained: how to turn the underground sprinkler system on from Massachusetts?

Noyes decided the thing had to be completely automatic.

Now, at exactly 10:30 each night, a collection of mechanical gadgets makes the decision whether to water or not, while Noyes is sleeping.

Here briefly is how the system was designed.

Noyes purchased valves and sprinkler heads, the only materials he had to buy.

He took the interior from an old clock and fastened the gears to a long cylinder-shaped, hollow pipe. An extra gear in the mechanism resulted in one complete revolution of the drum for each 24 hours.

A piece of brass screen, buried about two inches down, serves as the moisture sensor. Eight valves feed water to different areas of his lot.

At 10:30, the mechanical brain comes on, Noyes explained.

"It first determines if the soil is wet or dry," the professor added. "If the soil is wet, an electrical current flows and switches off a circuit to the sprinklers."

"If the soil is dry, current reaches as the solenoid valves in a times sequence to begin the watering. Each watering circuit is individually timed to ration water needs, depending upon the area of the lot."

This operation is repeated every 24 hours while the Noyes family snoozes on.

The A&M mechanical engineer said the unit has reduced his water bill over 50 per cent. The entire system, minus his own labor, only cost $300.

One problem still plagues Noyes, however—mowing the lawn. He's studying about how to get a mechanical mower-brain to do that.

CONFUSION

Pointing to confusion in the department, McClellan noted that at one time there were three separate investigations of Estes going on, each unaware that any other agency was checking on the free wheeling Texan.

McClellan noted that once Secretary Freeman was informed, he acted promptly and effectively to halt Estes' dealings, but said there should be machinery to alert the secretary sooner in such cases.

The report noted that Freeman already has established an office of inspector general to monitor activities of all units in the department and report directly to the secretary.

An Agriculture Department official said privately that as a result of the Estes affair "we've reorganized the ASCS (Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service) almost totally."

The ASCS, which administers crop control and price support programs, was target of most criticism as a result of the revelation of Estes' scheming in 1962.

EMPIRE

Estes once had a financial empire in West Texas estimated at up to $150 million, built mainly on big scale cotton farming activities, grain warehouses and dealings in liquid fertilizer.

It crumbled quickly after he was arrested March 29, 1962, on fraud charges involving the fertilizer operations. He presently is free under $140,000 bond while appealing convictions for swindling and fraud.

Grand Jury Hearing Case

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A federal grand jury continued its probe into the deaths of three civil rights workers today after its state counterpart at Philadelphia, Miss., quit with a slap at the federal government for "stymieing" its investigation.

A string of witnesses, including residents of the Philadelphia area, Neshoba County officials and federal agents, have paraded before the 23-member federal panel, which includes one Negro.

Reliable sources said the federal panel would finish Friday. Any indictments would be on civil rights charges. Murder is a state offense.

At Philadelphia, Circuit Judge O. H. Barnett—a cousin of former Gov. Ross R. Barnett—said the Neshoba grand jury had been hampered because acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach had refused to allow FBI agents to testify.

The three civil rights workers, Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian, Miss., Negro, disappeared June 21. Their bodies were found in an earthen dam near Philadelphia Aug. 4.

The county grand jury's report charged that a number of Neshoba residents "have been unofficially accused by the FBI agents as having taken part in the homicides of the three civil rights workers."

The grand jury report said there was "more crime and violence committed on the streets of New York City in one night than has been in all of Neshoba County for the past 100 years."

Cigarette Tax Sales Drop Off

AUSTIN (AP)—State Treasurer Jesse James reports cigarette tax stamp sales dropped sharply last month compared to August and September, 1963, levels.

Stamp sales totaled $7,581,337, against $8,068,546 in August and $7,849,003 in September, 1963. Liquor stamp sales totaled $1,896,797 and those for wine $101,574.

Revolt Stirs Sark Islander

SARK, Channel Islands (AP) — A one-man revolt raged today on the Channel island of Sark.

The rebel is Malcolm Robson, owner of the electricity plant that supplies the 600 residents of the little British island off the French coast. With a flick of a switch he plunged them all into darkness Wednesday night.

The blackout lasted 30 minutes. Islanders rushed to Sark's three stores and bought the entire supply of candles.

"That's just a taste of things to come," Robson warned. "If things don't get better I'll cut off the supply entirely."

Robson is warring with the Chief Pleas, the advisory council to the island's hereditary ruler, Mary Hathaway, who has the title "La Dame."

Robson got angry when the Chief Pleas ordered him to take down a tall electricity pole which the council said was on someone else's land.

He told the council: "I'm getting fed up with interference. And unless you order that no further action will be taken against me I shall shut down the plant."

That brought cries of "blackmail." But at 6 p.m., just as darkness was falling, Robson threw the switch, blacking out the island and cutting its communications with the outside world.

Harry Bell, chairman of a Pleas committee on electricity, said: "We are trying to decide whether the islanders should have some kind of control of the electricity supply — but not a nationalization scheme."

"The pole that caused the trouble is on somebody else's land and Mr. Robson has been told to take it down. I can't see that his blackout will help his case."
