Lorin S. McDowell Dies Unexpectedly

Lorin S. McDowell Jr., 73, prominent rancher and member of a pioneer family, died unexpectedly Friday morning at his ranch home 15 miles south of Big Spring in northern Glasscock County.

He had not been feeling well for the past four or five days but apparently was not seriously ill. He was awake early this morning, but when Mrs. McDowell went to summon him to breakfast later, he apparently had died in his sleep.

FUNERAL

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Rosewood Chapel, and burial will be in the family plot in the City Cemetery with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. McDowell is survived by his widow, Mrs. L. S. McDowell Jr.; one son, Lorin S. McDowell III; two grandsons, Lorin McDowell IV and Allen Blain McDowell; and one cousin, Miss Elsie McDowell, San Augustine, Fla.

Mr. McDowell had lived all of his life in and around Big Spring, having been born here June 22, 1891. He attended Big Spring schools and became associated with his father in operation of their Glasscock and Borden county ranches. The elder Mr. McDowell had come from Tom Green County in 1883 to establish a foothold in virgin grassland of northern Glasscock County. At first, he had a ranch, but later he devoted his energies to developing high-grade cattle. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell erected a home in Big Spring, where The Herald now stands, and their only son was born here.

RANCH LIFE
Lorin McDowell grew up on the ranch, and there was hardly a time he could remember when he couldn't ride. By the time he was a young man, he knew from experience the intricacies of the cattle business. His father depended upon him heavily in the operation of the 51 sections which then comprised the Glasscock county ranch and the 28 in the Borden County spread.

Viet Reds Kill Yank

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Army helicopter pilot was shot and killed by Viet Cong fire today minutes after stepping out of his disabled machine 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

His death brought to 201 the number of U.S. servicemen killed in combat in Viet Nam since 1961.

The helicopter had been supporting a Vietnamese ground action when it was forced down, either by mechanical trouble or enemy fire.

The crew, two officers and two enlisted men, successfully landed the crippled helicopter and had just stepped out when a bullet killed the pilot.

Another helicopter rescued the surviving crewmen. Ground troops later drove the Viet Cong from the area.

Premier Nguyen Khanh announced today that 20 officers and civilians accused of taking part in the abortive Sept. 13 coup will be tried next week for high treason.

All could receive the death penalty.

LORIN S. McDOWELL

In West Texas, it was not until recent years that shallow production was discovered on the ranch where the Permian Basin's first small well was found. Pleased that production had come to the ranch, he named the field after his wife, Rosemary.

Mr. McDowell was a cattleman's cattleman. He was likely without peer in knowing what cattle and the country would do. Temporary conditions didn't fool him, and one of his earlier experiences made a deep impression on him. This was during the historic 1917-18 drought when his father sent him with the cattle to Nebraska-Dakota country to save the herd. Recalling this, he later said, "That made a furrow in my brain." Subsequent droughts, no matter how severe, never caught him unprepared.

ASTUTE
An astute student of cattle, he perceived that the Brahmas had many characteristics of ruggedness and big frame desirable in meat production. So he embarked upon a program of cross-breeding with Herefords until he had established some of the best cattle in the country. For a time he was prominent in the American Brahma Breeders Association. He also kept intact the well-bred line of Herefords established by his father. He was a member of the American Cattlemen's Association.

When his father retired from the board of the First National Bank in Big Spring after having served as director, chairman of the board, and president over a period of 51 years, Lorin McDowell became a director in 1941 and continued on the board until his death. He was a charter member of the Elks Lodge in Big Spring, a member of the First Methodist Church, a former steward and member of its building committee.

He was married Dec. 19, 1936, in Fort Worth to Miss Rosemary Mills, and they made their home at the ranch headquarters, which they reconstructed into a lovely home some 20 years ago.

Still, he remained at heart a cowboy, and he was equally at home and warm-hearted towards his hands, children, and the neighbors as he was with cattle dealers, bankers, or people of prominence.

Also surviving Mr. McDowell is his brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Mills, Tucson, Ariz.

Pallbearers are to be Jeff Davis, Midland; Jack Wilcox, Merle Stewart, Robert Stripling, Charley Creighton and Dalton Carr. All officers and directors of the First National Bank, Dr. G. T. Hall and Mike Moore are to serve as honorary pallbearers.

He was on hand for all the excitement when General Oil Company sank the No. 1 McDowell well far from the ranch headquarters in northern Glasscock County. But for all the oil that eventually was discovered

President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who had held Tshombe under house arrest since his arrival Tuesday, freed him after the premier lifted the blockade on the embassies of the United Arab Republic and Algeria in Leopoldville.

Tshombe had come to Cairo for the nonaligned conference despite a telegram that he would not be welcome. Cairo airport refused his plane permission to land Monday and he flew on to Athens. When he returned early Tuesday, Nasser clapped him into Aruba Palace on the outskirts of Cairo and the conference voted not to admit him.

Well, it already has ended at the clothing firm of Phelps-Terkel, which operates six stores in the Los Angeles area. The company decided that its punch-card accounting system had too many holes in it and that automation ought to go.

So, with their latest monthly statements, Phelps-Terkel customers received a machine card with this message on the back: "Please fold, bend, mutilate and staple."

And, on the front: "You are holding the last punched card you'll ever receive from Phelps-Terkel. We've tried to make our peace with automation. But it hasn't worked. Ours is just not a machine business."

Foreclosures Declared Not Alarm Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreclosures of homes financed with FHA-insured mortgages are running at an all-time high. The same goes for house loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

But, the situation is not cause for alarm, say spokesmen for both the VA and the Federal Housing Administration. They call it an adjustment toward normalcy, from shortly after World War II when realtors eagerly looked for houses to sell up to recent years when supply more nearly met demand.

The VA spokesman put it this way: "A big factor is absence of price appreciation in the past few years. A few years ago a mistake in judgment as to value of a house could be remedied by just holding on to it a year or two. That time has passed."

FHA and VA officials agreed that foreclosures are up or down with the economic pulse of a community or area and the individuals affected. When a military base or an industry shuts down, foreclosures in that area are up.

DOMESTIC WOES
When a man is out of a job, he may have to let his house go. The next leading reason, from the individuals' standpoint, is death of a husband or wife, divorce, or costly illness in the family.

The foreclosure trend is not limited to mortgages insured or guaranteed by the government, but prevails, though to a lesser degree, throughout the house financing industry, according to an official of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

By far the biggest share of home financing now is through so-called conventional loans — those obtained from banks, savings and loan associations, private companies and individuals.

Data compiled by the board, which insures savings deposited with savings and loan associations, shows that in 1963 conventional loans were used for 77 per cent of all houses bought on time, while the FHA accounted for 15 per cent and the VA only 8 per cent.

"BUSINESS" DOWN
Only World War II and Korean War veterans are eligible for the VA's house loan guarantee program, so its operations in this field are now declining.

Foreclosures of conventional loans run at a lower rate, officials of both private and government financing circles agreed, because the buyer generally has had to pay out a larger down payment and, having more of his own money invested, is more determined to hold on to the property.

During the first half of this year there were 21,433 foreclosures among the 3,644,000 FHA-insured homes. This was up about one-tenth of 1 per cent over the 18,246 foreclosures out of 3,551,000 mortgages insured by the agency during the last half of 1963.

The agency had approximately 30,000 houses on its hands in June, but sales slightly exceeded acquisitions.

Reserve champion, shown by Terry Hanson, weighing 210 pounds, sold to the First Federal Savings and Loan Association and Pollard Chevrolet for $1 a pound.

The lowest price paid for any of the 30 barrows sold was 35 cents. Robert Burns' barrow, a fourth place lightweight, weighing 185 pounds, was the third highest priced animal sold. The pig was bid in by First National Bank for 46 cents.

Randell Sherrad, was auctioneer and the sale brought out a large crowd of buyers and spectators. The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the show, were in the sales ring hustling bids and the sale was pushed through in less than an hour and a half. Bill Pearson Packing Co., Lamesa, bought in all but one of the pigs at a resale price of 16 cents.

U. S. Tells Soviets To Pay Off U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Suggestions to postpone the opening of the U.N. General Assembly were heard in U.N. corridors today after the United States called for a showdown over the Soviet Union's refusal to pay its peacekeeping assessments.

The Soviet Union has hinted it will quit the United Nations if it loses its vote.

The announcement of Stevenson's memorandum to Thant generated talk of postponing the showdown in hopes that the United States and the Soviet Union would work out a compromise.

MULL DELAY
One suggestion was for the assembly to open in December, then adjourn until January.

A diplomat said U.N. officials were considering a two-week postponement, but he expressed doubt there would be one.

Stevenson's memorandum was made public after Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington that the Soviet refusal to pay any of its $55-million debt affected the constitutional structure of the United Nations.

Although the Soviet Union has paid its assessments for regular operations of the U.N., its refusal to pay anything toward the peace forces in the Congo or the Middle East has put it among 19 nations that are now two years behind in total U.N. dues.

The U.S. memorandum noted that under Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, any member two years in arrears shall be deprived of its assembly vote.

CALLED ILLEGAL
The Soviet Union contends that assessments ordered by the assembly for the two peacekeeping operations are illegal because only the Security Council has the right to initiate and finance such operations.

The U.S. memorandum cited a 1962 opinion by the World Court that the assembly has the right to levy assessments for the peace operations.

Of the 19 countries that are two years behind, Bolivia, Paraguay and Yemen are expected to pay enough to avoid penalty. Hungary can get ahead by paying its assessment for the regular budget assessments. But the Soviet Union and five of its allies — Byelorussia, the Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania — are expected to be still behind when the assembly starts.

Seek Murder Case Figure
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (A.) — Another search was on today for Leslie Douglas Ashley, a one-time female impersonator who drew the death penalty for killing a Houston man in 1961 but later was adjudged insane.

His disappearance from a state mental hospital here was disclosed Thursday. Officers said a woman attendant on leave from the hospital apparently went with him and they probably headed for Arkansas or Missouri.

It was slightly more than 3 1/2 years ago that FBI agents arrested Ashley, now 26, and a girl friend in a New York City apartment. He and Carolyn Ann Lima were taken back to Houston and convicted of shooting Fred Tones, 44, during a sex party in Tones' real estate office. The partly burned body of Tones was dumped in a ditch.

Both were sentenced to die but won new trials on the ground that Dist. Atty. Frank Briske of Houston had suppressed evidence. Miss Lima, now 21, is serving a five-year term on her second conviction. The insanity finding kept Ashley from being tried again.

Pig Exhibitors Get Good Auction Bids

Nineteenth Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Pig Show closed Thursday night with an auction sale at the Howard County Fair Barns which was on a parity with previous sales and provided 30 youngsters with sizeable checks to show for their year's work with their barrows.

Top prize paid was $125 a pound for the 211 pound Hampshire shown by Jim Fryar. This hog was acclaimed the grand champion of the show. The buyers were Western Production Credit, R & R Theatres and Texas Electric Service Co. The bid was on a parity with the price paid at last year's show for the champion.

Reserve champion, shown by Terry Hanson, weighing 210 pounds, sold to the First Federal Savings and Loan Association and Pollard Chevrolet for $1 a pound.

The lowest price paid for any of the 30 barrows sold was 35 cents. Robert Burns' barrow, a fourth place lightweight, weighing 185 pounds, was the third highest priced animal sold. The pig was bid in by First National Bank for 46 cents.

Randell Sherrad, was auctioneer and the sale brought out a large crowd of buyers and spectators. The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the show, were in the sales ring hustling bids and the sale was pushed through in less than an hour and a half. Bill Pearson Packing Co., Lamesa, bought in all but one of the pigs at a resale price of 16 cents.

Herb Helbig, county farm agent, said that the show was a complete success. Weather was ideal. The quality of the pig was high and the judge complimented the boys and girls on their entries.

A highlight of the auction was the presentation of the coveted showmanship award—the winner having been selected by the judge during the showing of the pigs. His name was withheld until the sale. The trophy went to Van Appleton, a member of the Big Spring FFA. His pig, a mediumweight entry, wound up in seventh spot in that division but the skill and alertness that Appleton displayed won him the admiration of the crowd and the official nod of the judge as the best showman of the day.

Terry Hanson, whose heavy-weight barrow was nosed out for first place and for the grand championship in the show but which brought him the reserve championship rosette, also took home the rosette for the champion gilt.

Dock Strike Ban Held Up

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge has reserved a decision on a government plea—spurred by President Johnson—for an 80-day injunction banning a dock strike on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

A 10-day restraining order, which sent longshoremen back to work after a brief strike, expires Sunday at 8 p.m.

Unless the judge grants the remaining 70 days of the statutory 80-day cooling-off period, or there is a new legal move by the government, the 60,000 dockers in ports from Maine to Texas will be legally free to resume the strike. All previous curbs on dock strikes have been extended to 80 days to allow further negotiations.

Judge Irving Cooper reserved decision Thursday after hearing arguments by the government, the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and the New York Shipping Association, which represents more than 150 shipping and stevedoring companies.

Louis Waldman, for ILA, questioned the legality of government procedures under the Taft Hartley Act.

The ILA men had struck in a contract dispute. They returned to work on the two coasts shortly after the order was signed.

Congo Boss Paris-Bound

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo sped to Paris today for a weekend visit after stealing the show from the conference of nonaligned nations in Cairo as an involuntary absentee.

Freed from house arrest in a palace on the outskirts of the Egyptian capital, Tshombe took a commercial plane to Athens.

The 44-year-old Premier said he planned to spend two days in Paris before returning to Leopoldville.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who had held Tshombe under house arrest since his arrival Tuesday, freed him after the premier lifted the blockade on the embassies of the United Arab Republic and Algeria in Leopoldville.

Tshombe had come to Cairo for the nonaligned conference despite a telegram that he would not be welcome. Cairo airport refused his plane permission to land Monday and he flew on to Athens. When he returned early Tuesday, Nasser clapped him into Aruba Palace on the outskirts of Cairo and the conference voted not to admit him.

Well, it already has ended at the clothing firm of Phelps-Terkel, which operates six stores in the Los Angeles area. The company decided that its punch-card accounting system had too many holes in it and that automation ought to go.

So, with their latest monthly statements, Phelps-Terkel customers received a machine card with this message on the back: "Please fold, bend, mutilate and staple."

And, on the front: "You are holding the last punched card you'll ever receive from Phelps-Terkel. We've tried to make our peace with automation. But it hasn't worked. Ours is just not a machine business."

"Consequently, we are reverting to our slightly archaic yet highly personalized accounting methods. We think you'll like our new-old billing method better. We know we will."

Dave Phelps, firm president, said this bold step backward was applauded by customers. One wrote: "Thank God for people."

"We automated a little less than a year ago," Phelps said. "Some people closed their accounts because they didn't feel a business like ours should."

And, Phelps said, there were technical problems.

Freddie White To Get FFA Award

Freddy Cad White, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie White, Silver Heels area, has been selected to receive the highest award that can be given by the Future Farmers of America—American Farmer Degree.

Young White, who is now a sophomore in Texas Tech, will be the first boy from the Big Spring High School to receive this distinction. He will be awarded the degree at the 37th Annual National FFA Convention in Kansas City, which opens Oct. 14 and continues through Oct. 17.

The actual presentation, in which 38 boys from Texas will receive the degree, will be on Wednesday. It was said that White will probably not be able to attend due to the press of his work at college.

Young White was a leader in 4-H Club work in Howard County for many years. He had nine years in this organization and shifted to FFA on enrolling in high school. In 4-H Club work he was Gold Star Boy for 1960, and served as county president of the 4-H Club organization.

He showed grand champion steers, competed in numerous live stock projects with skill and was recognized as one of the organization's most brilliant members.

Killed were Capt. Marshall Dahl, 26, of Orange, Calif.; Lt. John McDowell, 26, of Memphis; Sgt. John Graves, 30, of Santa Ana, Calif.; and Cpl. Richard Maisei, 21, of Williams, Iowa.

One member for each 1,000 from the state association can receive the degree.

Only two other youths in Area II of the FFA are to receive the degree. They are both from Meadows.

Peking May Fire A-Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China apparently has begun a diplomatic campaign to prepare the way for early explosion of a nuclear test bomb and assure maximum political impact in Africa and Asia.

Diplomatic officials say that Indonesian authorities who are close to the Chinese Communists have been told that the first Red Chinese atomic device will be exploded sometime after the end of October.

The implication of this and other reports which have been published in Paris is that the Chinese Communist officials are now in effect confirming the forecast of an early Communist Chinese nuclear detonation which was made recently by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Annual Coin Show To Open Saturday

Big Spring Coin Club's Third Annual Coin Show opens Saturday in the Settles Hotel, continuing through Sunday night.

The show will have a number of special displays featuring some of the rarest coins in the world. Three special collections loaned to the club by the Chase National Bank of New York will be a feature. These three displays include one of all the principal types of money coins of the United States. Silver coins—a "tribute" penny, a "widow's mite" and a coin of the usual collection of rare items, is a second feature. The third collection from the Chase bank is a colorful display of colonial

Catholic Layman Conflict Persists

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A growing number of prelates at the Vatican Ecumenical Council called today for a wider and more vital role for laymen in the Roman Catholic Church.

There also was widespread criticism of a council schema attempting to define the layman's role.

One after another, cardinals, archbishops and bishops rose in St. Peter's to criticize the schema as inadequate, outdated and patronizing.

Nearly all the 19 speakers expressed criticism of the draft document, adding their objections to that by 27 other prelates who spoke Thursday and Wednesday.

The tone of the debate, as reported to newsmen by council press spokesmen, indicated anew that the schema — already four years in preparation — would undergo total revision.

Much of the criticism was that the schema reflects clerical emphasis on the duties of the laity, the vast body of half a billion Roman Catholics, with-out sufficient attention to views of the laity itself.

No votes were taken in the council today as it in effect completed its second year of work. The third anniversary of the council falls Sunday, but there will be no session until Monday. Pope John XXIII formally opened the council on Oct. 11, 1962.

When the council resumes Monday, debate on the apostolate of the laity schema will continue.

thalers, the Fugio cent, rare U.S. gold certificates, and a complete display of U.S. presidential photographs with coins minted in each administration.

In addition to these special displays, the show will feature innumerable competitive exhibits offered by collectors vying for the trophies which are to be offered.

Many dealers are to be on hand and these will have many rare coins and coin collectors supplies for sale.

The show will probably have two million dollars worth of coins on hand when it opens. Police guards are to patrol the area. No admission is charged to the show and door prize drawings will be held several times each day.

All residents of the area, regardless of whether they are collectors or not, will be welcome to the show.

Dan Kester, president of the club, and Wozencraft said they believe this year's show will be the best the club has staged.

The club is putting emphasis on the educational aspect of the hobby of coin collecting in this show and has extended a special invitation to school teachers and students to visit the show.

Wozencraft said he feels sure there will be more than 25 special displays on hand, all of which will be of interest to lay visitors.

The show opens at 9 a.m. Saturday will remain open that date to 10 p.m. It reopens at 9 a.m. Sunday and will close down at 5 p.m. Winners will be announced when the secret judges have made their check of the displays.

Magazine Issue Devoted To Texas

DALLAS—Gov. John Connally gave formal recognition this week to the November issue of Ford Times magazine, which for the first time in its 57-year history, is devoted entirely to one state—Texas.

At a reception at the City Club in Dallas, the governor presented a scroll bearing a joint resolution signed by him and by members of the State Highway Commission to Clarence H. Dykeman, Ford Motor Company publications manager and editor-in-chief of the magazine, and accepted from Dykeman the original water color used on the cover of the "Special Texas Vacation Issue."

The November issue of the magazine will be distributed to the regular subscription list of 1.3 million U. S. families—a total of as many as five million travel-minded readers. The special issue contains stories and art work depicting Texas scenes from the Rio Grande Valley to the Panhandle, and should be instrumental in attracting thousands of tourists to the state.

$13,000 WORTH OF RARE COINS
R. L. Tollett collection of Flying Eagle and Indian Head cents

Tollett's Rare Collection Of Pennies To Be Displayed

Raymond L. Tollett, oil company executive and owner of one of the most extensive coin collections in this part of Texas, has just this past week achieved a goal in numismatics he set out to achieve a long, long time ago.

He now has a complete set of uncirculated Flying Eagle and Indian Head pennies from 1856 through 1909. There are few such complete sets as this—no wonder, the value of the 63 coins on the coin market last week was in excess of $13,000.

The final coin Tollett was able to add to his collection and finish out the entire set was the 1856 Flying Eagle — technically the first of the pennies minted. For some reason, the 1856 Flying Eagle was never put into regular channels and the few copies of the original issue are essentially uncirculated. However, in the century that has passed, most of the pennies have been so heavily handled as to limit sharply the number of examples which can truly be called "uncirculated." The copy which Tollett bought from an eastern dealer is as nearly perfect as can be found.

Current market price on such pennies is in excess of $2,700. The Flying Eagle issue was minted only four years. It was replaced by the Indian Head issue which continued from 1859 until 1909. The 1877 Indian Head is a rarity, too, and the price is $1,000 for a good uncirculated copy.

The Indian Head issue was replaced by the Lincoln pennies which are still the current issue.

Tollett will display his unusual and valuable penny collection at the Big Spring Coin Club

Kiwanis Schedule Radio Auction Sale

A radio auction sale, set for the evening of Nov. 12, is the newest project planned by the Big Spring Kiwanis Club.

The auction, which will be carried over two of Big Spring's radio stations, will originate in the ball room of the Settles Hotel. Merchandise and services donated by business establishments will be sold to the highest bidder. Members of the club will man telephones to receive bids and will deliver and collect for those sold as soon as the hammer is dropped on any item.

The radio stations to cooperate are KBST and KBYG. Bob Bradbury, of KBYG, will be general chairman for the program but his station is a daytime transmitter and will not be able to take part in the sale itself. It will leave the air at 5:45 p.m.

Announcement was also made that the new Kiwanis Club officers will be installed at a dinner on the evening of Dec. 3. The place will be the Cosden Country Club and the installing officer will be Jack Hollis, lieutenant governor for District 22.

Sixteen of the members of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club Teenage baseball team, winners of three district championships and one state championship, were guests of the club Thursday. The team placed third in the state this past season.

James Looney, president of the Big Spring Teenage Baseball Association, was speaker and outlined the program pursued by the association. He praised the Kiwanians for their part in sponsoring the Kiwanis team and lauded the young players for their efforts.

Jim Thompson was program chairman for the day.

Four U.S. Attaches Back In Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — Four Western military attaches accused by the Soviet government of using a rail trip across Siberia to spy on missile sites and other military installations returned to the Soviet Union today without difficulty.

Officials at the airport carried out the normal quick immigration and customs treatment for diplomats as the attaches arrived aboard a jetliner from New Delhi, India.

In response to questions, the attaches said they had no plans beyond their return here. There have been unconfirmed reports in Moscow that the four might not stay long in the Soviet Union.

The espionage charges were made by the Soviet Union after Russian officers forced their way into hotel rooms taken by the attaches in Khabarovsk, in eastern Siberia. The Russians seized photographs and notebooks from the four.

The attaches left Siberia and continued their trip to Tokyo, Hong Kong and New Delhi. No explanation has been given for the trip.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Moscow said "As far as the embassy is concerned these men are returning to their posts."

The attaches are Col. George A. Aubrey, Annapolis, Md., and Lt. Col. Karl R. Liever, Omaha, Neb., both of the U.S. Army; U.S. Air Force Maj. James F. Smith, Meers, Okla., and Lt. Cmdr. Nigel N. Laville of the British navy.

Subpanel Asks Satellite Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee has urged the Defense Department to "proceed without further delay to establish a medium altitude, random-orbit communications satellite system for operational use."

In a report issued Thursday, a military operations subcommittee criticized Pentagon efforts to work out a tie-in with the commercial communications satellite program as "ill-advised, poorly timed and badly coordinated."

Freight Rights Purchase Urged

ODESSA (AP) — Witnesses told an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner Thursday that purchase of freight rights between Odessa and Hobbs, N.M., by Albuquerque-Phoenix Express Co. would mean faster service from Central Texas to New Mexico.

The witnesses, from Houston, Dallas and Waco, appeared on behalf of Albuquerque-Phoenix Express Co., which seeks to buy the rights from Navajo Freight Lines.

President Signs Peace Food Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed into law Thursday a two-year extension of the food for peace program, but said two provisions would be ignored because they are unconstitutional.

Johnson signed the measure in Indianapolis during a campaign tour.

The food for peace measure calls for a $3.5-billion program of surplus food sales and distribution abroad.

Times Have Changed; Olympics: Garb Added

CHICAGO (AP) — A contestant from the ancient Greek Olympic Games would be bowled over by the magnitude of the games starting in Tokyo Saturday, but that isn't all — The uniforms would get him.

When he clicked off the 100 meters everyone dressed the same — in the nude. The women in the contests and in the audience would be an innovation. In his day the games were strictly boy stuff.

He'd wonder about the trainers with their stop watches, ointment and rubs. The trainers of olden times recognized a poor performance by beating the performer with sticks.

The cycling event would send him spinning. But what he'd do to that crowd in the chariot race.

These and other differences and similarities between the modern and ancient Olympics were pointed up in a report this week from the American Classical League of Oxford, Ohio.

Miller Moves To Nip Any Defeatism Trend

QUINCY, ILL. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller swung his GOP vice presidential campaign back into the Midwest today, on a new mission for Sen. Barry Goldwater — an effort to stem any trend toward defeatism in Republican ranks.

Miller's campaign oratory during appearances in Missouri and Tennessee Thursday reflected GOP concern over the effect of President Johnson's claim that he is en route to a record-smashing victory.

Miller entered a counterclaim — that Johnson's campaign has passed its peak and is on the downgrade, while Republican fortunes are on the rise.

In Nashville, Miller declared: "I have news for Lyndon Johnson and for any Democrats or Republicans who might be influenced by his claim to think that we do not have a chance. This is not a plebiscite we will hold strictly for Lyndon's benefit. There are millions of

State Constitution Target Of Women

TEMPLE (AP) — The League of Women Voters wants to update the Texas Constitution, a goal often mentioned in state circles.

A bill drafted by the League would create a commission to do research on how to revise the 89-year-old constitution. League spokesmen said that after the Nov. 3 elections, they will announce a legislative sponsor to introduce the bill.

Mrs. Maurice Brown of Waco, the group's state president, said at a Temple meeting that the constitution was "written in an entirely different way of life. It doesn't meet present day needs."

The rumor circulated here that Vietnamese troops shot down the helicopter after it fired on them about 12 miles west of here. Officials said they were investigating the possibility that two Vietnamese soldiers participating in the action had been wounded by an airstrike, but added there definitely had been no groundfire from Saigon forces.

No 'Friendly' Shot Downed Helicopter

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen denied today that there was any possibility a U.S. helicopter which crashed Wednesday, killing five Americans, had been shot down by friendly troops.

The rumor circulated here that Vietnamese troops shot down the helicopter after it fired on them about 12 miles west of here. Officials said they were investigating the possibility that two Vietnamese soldiers participating in the action had been wounded by an airstrike, but added there definitely had been no groundfire from Saigon forces.

Authority Given To Terminate Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trans-Texas Airways had authority today to suspend service to Morgan City, La., immediately.

The authorization, issued Thursday by the Civil Aeronautics Board, amended the airline's certificate, effective Nov. 1, to eliminate Morgan City from the system.

The CAB adopted its examiner's recommendation that a Trans-Texas Airways use-it-or-loose-it investigation remain open with regard to Galveston, which is on a Fort Worth-Houston route.

Settlement Made In Gas Sale Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission has approved a settlement under which Atlantic Refining Co. of Dallas will make natural gas rate reductions of about $3.2 million per year, plus refunds of about $4.8 million and interest.

The settlement, approved Thursday, covers 124 of Atlantic's rate schedules currently in effect for sale of gas to 24 interstate pipeline companies, two gathering companies and two other producers.

Fifteen of the pipeline companies will receive refunds and reductions. The commission said the settlement rates, with two exceptions, are equal to or less than the applicable area ceilings.

Racial Bias May Sway British Vote

LONDON (AP) — "Keep Britain White!" "If You Want a Nigger Neighbor, Vote Labor!" "Stop the Blacks."

Britons see slogans such as these on soot-grimed railroad arches and brick warehouse walls. They are meant to shock, hurt, humiliate. Like bawdy jokes, such sentences have no known authors.

All the responsible leaders of the Conservative, Labor and Liberal parties deplore appeals to race prejudice. The big political figures attack each other on every other issue, but they are doing all they can to keep the race question from generating tension—to keep the genie in the bottle, as one political commentator said.

Yet, the race issue, underplayed as it is, could be a big factor in Britain's national election if the voting is close next Thursday.

Britain's version of the white backlash even could deprive one leading political figure of his seat in the House of Commons. He is Patrick Gordon Walker, 57, who probably will be foreign secretary if the Labor party wins.

Gordon Walker is running in Smethwick, near Birmingham, against Conservative Peter Griffiths, a teacher and a borough alderman.

Many white working class families in Smethwick resent the presence of 4,000 Indians, Pakistanis and West Indian Negroes settled amidst an electorate of 48,000.

Griffiths has been quoted as saying: "Smethwick rejects the idea of a multiracial society."

Apparently this remark did not find favor with Prime Minister Douglas-Home, the Conservative party leader.

Douglas-Home did not repudiate Griffiths. But the prime minister issued a general warning to all Tory candidates that "there must be no racial prejudice among any of us in this country."

The racial issue could be important in other areas. London now has 120,000 West Indian Negroes. In time their political importance could send one of their number to the House of Commons.

Commercials Provide Competition For Witch

NEW YORK (AP) — The people responsible for dreaming up magic tricks for ABC's beautiful witch, Samantha, in its new comedy, "Bewitched," will have to stretch their imaginations to the limits.

Samantha's greatest competitor is the non-witchy American housewife — as portrayed by the advertising agencies in the cleaning commercials.

A week ago, for instance, Samantha casually turned an annoying character into a dog by a mere wiggle of her pert nose. But how about that housewife who merely looks at her children jumping on pogo sticks in her kitchen and they instantly turn into a bunch of leaping kangaroos?

Samantha can clean up the kitchen, including the dinner dishes, with a wave of her hand. But she doesn't keep a giant folded somehow in her washing machine, whose only apparent function is to occasionally stick up one arm and a box of detergent for the amazement of bystanders. And how about the ladies who just stand, looking happily surprised, while a little white cone busily whirls around the room making everything spotless?

Political themes are popping into the entertainment shows. E. G. Marshall of CBS' "The Defenders" will turn up Oct. 29 as candidate Lawrence Preston, running for Congress. He's almost certain to be defeated, for a victory would change the whole character of the lawyer series.

Those selected Thursday are Raymond Heibert, Jessie Harrison and Janet Hardy, all of El Paso.

Questioning of jurors is expected to continue Saturday if a panel is not completed today. The trial started Monday.

Earlier efforts to seat a jury in Bandera and Pecos counties were unsuccessful.

Parker was shot the day before he was to be married to Bernice Flach.

McKnight said Thursday he and Miss Flach were married through common law and have a 6-month-old daughter.

He told newsmen during a court recess that he was graduated from Texas A&M last spring and has been teaching physics there while working for a master's degree.

"In the Design, Processing and Fitting of Contact Lenses, TSO Strives for Perfection"

Perfection in anything is, to our knowledge, impossible to reach. But, we continue to make perfection our goal... particularly when it comes to the design, processing and fitting of contact lenses at TSO. Over 40,000 patients have been fitted in famous TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses, and the number grows daily, for TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses are unsurpassed in technical excellence, unusually reasonable in cost. The reason for TSO's success in the contact lens field is a continuous research and development program of more exacting techniques in design, processing and fitting. Already, the TSO laboratory has developed an edge-beveling process second to none, and an exclusive multi-curve lens design. With these outstanding developments a typical TSO contact lens patient achieves minimum adaptation time and maximum wearing comfort. Only the finest quality optical-grade plastic is used, and the TSO standard of quality is maintained by eight separate, precision inspections during processing. It's not necessary that you take our word about TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses. Ask someone you know who wears them. Then, visit TSO and learn firsthand, all of the facts about how you may be able to wear TSO Micro-Sight contact lenses. The TSO Doctor of Optometry will carefully examine your eyes to determine the variable optical and physical factors which affect your wearing contact lenses successfully. And the cost—as we said—unusually reasonable. Just $65 for single vision Micro-Sight contact lenses, complete with examination and fittings. Bifocal contact lenses are available at reasonable cost. Convenient credit at no extra cost.

Shirley Temple At 35 Eyeing Another Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Another career for Shirley Temple? It could happen.

In the 1930s Shirley became the most successful child star in the history of the movies. Later she made the transition to young-lady roles in films like "The Bachelor and The Bobbysoxer" and "Since You Went Away."

After the failure of her marriage to John Agar, Shirley retired to become Mrs. Charles Black, wife of a business executive. Four years ago she returned to acting with her own television show, on which she introduced and occasionally starred in fairy tales.

FAVORS IT
Now ABC and 20th Century-Fox are trying to induce her to return for a weekly series. She was in Hollywood a month ago for talks at Fox, which she kept solvent in the depression years.

Via telephone from her home at Woodside, south of San Francisco, she commented: "We've been talking about a series since last March, but so far I haven't seen a script. So I can't really decide until I do."

"But I think I would like doing a series. My family likes it when I'm away. At least Charlie says I'm easier to live with when I'm working. And my children are always interested when I'm doing some acting. So I've got some fans rooting for me, anyway."

Shirley, now 35, said she wouldn't mind the travel. Los Angeles is only 50 minutes away by jet, she pointed out, and she got used to the 400-mile commuting during her two-year run with her previous series. She was awarded a 100,000-mile plaque by one airline, and she traveled others as well.

"I understand they don't shoot movies on Saturday any more," she added. "That would give me a long weekend to be at home."

KEEPS BUSY
Until recent years, studios maintained a six-day work week. "But I didn't mind working on Saturdays when I was young," Shirley said. "In fact, I liked it because I didn't have to go to school." Even without the acting, Shirley keeps busy, as she has all her life. She has been working in educational television in San Francisco. She serves regularly in a children's day clinic.

Be one in thought and feeling, all of you; be full of brotherly affection, kindly and humbly-minded. (1 Peter 3:8, NEB)

They Represent You

At a matter of community pride, we hope that there will be a great outpouring of fans for the Big Spring-Odessa football game here Friday evening.

This will be the first district game of the season, the second home game. Since Odessa was one of the district favorites in pre-season predictions, and since the Bronchos also are as heavy as some college teams, it is easy to see that the home-town Steers have their work cut out for them.

But being an underdog is nothing unusual for these lads, and we have a feeling that they are going to give it all they've got.

We'd want to see the fans do just that much.

Remember, these lads represent you.

Test Of Policy

French President Charles de Gaulle's tour of Latin America may be viewed in Western Europe as a significant test of a newly declared tenet of U.S. inter-American policy.

In pursuing the goals of the Alliance for Progress, the United States has repeatedly emphasized that it welcomes the constructive interest of the rest of the free world, and particularly its Western European allies, in Latin American development. It has become official U.S. policy to urge more Western European governmental aid, private investment, and trade concessions for Latin America.

That is enlightened policy. Latin American capital, trade and technical assistance needs exceed what the U.S. alone can extend, and in the long-run European participation in regional development there should prove mutually beneficial to all concerned.

However, both in Latin America and Western Europe, there is skepticism, some of it perhaps justified, that the United States is ready to accept the degree of dilution of its regional political influence that stronger economic ties between Latin America and Western Europe may entail. This is what De Gaulle, though he is treading carefully in political areas and has little to offer economically, is testing, whether by intent or not. And Washington's highly cautious reaction to the De Gaulle tour indicates official awareness of the test.

The United States must anticipate—as current policy does—that a developing, growing, advancing Latin America must, and inevitably will, intensify and expand its economic, political and cultural relations with countries outside the inter-American system. While it is vitally in our interest to discourage such relations between Latin America and the Communist bloc, it would be detrimental in the long run to our own national interests to resist stronger Western European influences in Latin America, even if they may appear at times in conflict or competitive with our own. Thus the most important thing De Gaulle's tour may do is demonstrate the sincerity of the broadened U.S. Latin American policy embodied in the Alliance for Progress concept.

Credits For The Russians

PARIS—Politics—getting elected—unifies politicians the world over.

Though officials in the Ministries of Foreign Affairs and Finance here in Paris are by no means certain that long-term credits to the Soviet Union are justified, they sympathize with British Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas-Home.

"ON THE EVE of a crucial election, he couldn't afford to reject Soviet overtures for credit which would promise to keep British industry busy and thus provide jobs."

This is how French officials excuse British fracture of the five-year limit on loans to the U.S.S.R.

And in Rome, the Italians talked not of the British but of the U.S. election. A highly placed official in the foreign office said: "I wouldn't want to be quoted on this, as you can readily understand, but Italy's position is that anything against United States policy during an election campaign is not advantageous."

NONE THE LESS, the Italians will raise the credit ante of the U.S.S.R. in spite of active U.S. opposition. "It will be difficult to hold the line at five years," said this same official. The last sentence explains the British as well as the Italian dilemma.

IN BRITAIN, the conservatives hope to stay in power by saying to voters: "You never had it so good and you're going to have it better."

THE ITALIANS have already gone beyond the five-year credit limit, heretofore adhered to by other Common Market nations—France, West Germany and the Benelux trio. But Italy was meeting British competition for a Czechoslovak order. The other Common Market countries considered this acceptable.

French officials see no alternative to relaxation. A Soviet buying mission some months ago dangled purposefully vague orders—$100,000,000 to $400,000,000—before French equipment manufacturers:

A CONSORTIUM of French banks then agreed to supply the funds over a seven-year term. If the French government would guarantee repayment. That decision then was passed on to President de Gaulle: Did he wish to speed development of French heavy industry by competing for Soviet orders? To French businessmen, orders of a magnitude of $100,000,000 to $400,000,000 are hard to resist. But no French student of Soviet methods is sure that even the smaller amount will materialize.

A French banking official with lots of experience in Russian affairs, put it this way:

"IF FRANCE doesn't increase its purchases from the U.S.S.R. then U.S.S.R. will not increase its purchases from France. If the Russians buy more machinery, they will buy less of something else. We must therefore make a decision: Do we want to increase our sales of heavy equipment at the expense of other things? That is the central question."

Billy Graham

I have tried to be good to my children. I have sent them to summer camps, given them liberal allowances, and catered to their every whim. Yet, none of them seem to have any respect for me. Isn't there any gratitude or respect left in the world?

It is interesting to notice that the things you have done for your children all are material in nature. You speak of indulging their every desire, liberal allowances, etc., but has it occurred to you that a child is entitled to more than this, from his parents. What of the gifts of faith, of hope, and love? Have you taught them the real values of life? Have they caught the spirit of reverence, of faith in God, and respect for their fellow men?

Summer camps are good, but they can never take the place of parental understanding and mature example and counsel. Personally, I think that with all you have given your children in a material way, you have cheated them out of many things of abiding value. You have shifted the responsibility to someone else rather than taking upon your own shoulders the sublime obligation of parenthood. Perhaps, unconsciously, you have lost respect for yourself, and as a result your children have lost respect for you. But, it is never too late to mend, and you can begin by putting first things first: by emphasizing the things of the Spirit.

Meeting Plane

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—While visiting friends here, John Farmer volunteered to drive to the airport and pick up another man who was flying in on business.

He took along an acquaintance who furnished directions that sent them along narrow streets and roads. Suddenly, they came upon what seemed like a new, four-lane highway.

"Man alive," said Farmer, "you sure do have some roads up here!"

"Good roads!" the man riding with him exclaimed. "You're driving down the airport runway."

In Another Town

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—A special session of Superior Court opened an hour late on a recent Monday, Presiding Judge W. M. S. Burgwyn didn't make an issue of it.

He explained that when it was time for court to convene he realized his mistake: He was in Greensboro, 54 miles away.

Presidential Campaign Truly Dull

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neither candidate in this presidential campaign has uttered a truly memorable phrase. It may turn out to be one of the most non-intellectual in history.

But that's not the only reason for the dullness of it. President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater have talked mostly in generalities, with the main themes stated so early, and repeated so often, they're monotonous.

A nationwide survey by The Associated Press found a broad lack of enthusiasm for either candidate. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, asked if he thought the candidates and their running-mates were getting too personal, said last week: "I don't know. Something's wrong. It's confusing. I just can't define the issues."

Nevertheless, there is this main difference between the candidates.

GOLDWATER WANTS a smaller government, less dependence by the states on Washington, elimination of some programs, and rebukes for the Supreme Court, with promises to change its make-up and undo some of its decisions.

Johnson envisions continuation of big government with more and broader programs as he thinks necessary for the welfare of the people.

Goldwater says: "We want to give the government back to the people." Johnson says: "Americans are faced with a concerted bid for power by factions which oppose all that both parties have supported."

The main question, as in all presidential campaigns, is: Which man do the voters have more confidence in? Each of the candidates, therefore, insists he's the reliable one.

In the course of this Goldwater, labeled "impulsive" by the Democrats, says it's not he but Johnson who is "impulsive." Johnson tries to diminish Goldwater's importance by dismissing him as "reckless."

THIS IS hardly an exciting dialogue. Both men, apparently aware of how the whole thing drags, have tried a touch of the spectacular. Both remember how Eisenhower made a big hit in 1952 by promising to go to Korea if elected.

Now Goldwater says he'll send Eisenhower to South Viet Nam if he's elected, although he didn't ask Eisenhower how he felt about it. And Eisenhower hasn't said if he'd go.

Johnson has let it be known that if he's elected he'll go to Europe in November or December for a big NATO conference. Not to be outdone Goldwater says he has his own plans for a NATO meeting if he's elected.

Both have discussed the war in Viet Nam. Neither has produced any positive solutions. Both insist they would be staunch guardians against Communist encroachments, although no presidential candidate could promise less.

Children's Questions

NEW YORK (AP)—A few children's questions that most parents can't quite answer:

"Who hangs out the stars at night, and brings them in before morning?"

"If God made the world in six days and rested on the seventh, daddy, as the Bible says, why don't you go to the office on Saturdays?"

"What is algebra — and why?"

"Does it really help a snake to be poisonous, or doesn't it?"

"Why do you want to keep me a child forever?"

"Sussie gets to wear long stockings and she is barely 11. Here I am, going on 12 already, and you won't let me wear anything but baby socks. Why, mommy, why?"

"Before we eat lamb, who takes off their coats? And how about chickens? Where do their feathers go?"

"Why are grownups so cranky, always complaining about noise and things like that? What's wrong with noise, anyway? Where does noise go after it gets through making sounds?"

"It's raining outside. What'll I do now?"

"When will I be big enough to have my own telephone?"

"I didn't mean to spill my milk. Do you hate me?"

"Why is it I have so much hair, daddy, and you don't have so much at all — when I am littler than you?"

"Mommy says you can't have any cholesterol. Can I have some, or does it hurt when you get it?"

"What happens to yesterday? Will it come back ever?"

"Why is it that people's faces on money never smile? They always look the same."

"What is a heart really like?"

"You mean my blood keeps on going round and round inside me even when I am lying down or sound asleep? Doesn't it ever get tired like I do sometimes?"

"Where do shadows go when there aren't any?"

"What good is sweat since it only makes you feel wet?"

"If I always keep on telling you the truth, when will it start doing me any good?"

"What fun is there in having a secret if you can't tell it to anybody?"

"Why is it that sometimes I feel so sad — and don't know why?"

Quacks Cheat Public Out Of Huge Sums

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. I've just had another one—a letter from a reader who in this case changed "doctors" temporarily.

It's an intelligent letter, except for one thing.

I won't even go into the specific trouble this reader had; it concerns a rash and some other symptoms. Her doctor prescribed a form of cortisone, and she encountered what I have been a side-effect. It may have had nothing to do with the cortisone at all, I suspect.

To quote a bit from her letter:

"I then went to another doctor who told me to go on a diet of steak and potatoes three times a day, and to have injections of an extract called—"

"I kept getting such encouraging words from this doctor that I continued through six treatments—he insisted on nine—but I left him when I became aware that I was being treated by either a genius or a mad man."

She then went back to her original doctor, who made all sorts of laboratory tests and asked if she had taken anything.

She was ashamed and didn't tell him about the injections. It's obvious, of course, that the lady got into the clutches of a charlatan who claimed to be some sort of doctor but was an M.D. or D.O. What kind of stuff he injected is hard to guess. She was smart enough to gather that she was being taken in by a faker.

But up to now she hasn't been smart enough to tell her own doctor the truth.

What she did isn't so very unusual. It's a mistake that lots of people make. That's why quacks, in spite of our laws, exist in such numbers, and manage to cheat the public out of some hundreds of millions of dollars a year.

But even if you've been taken in by a quack, swallow your pride. Tell your doctor, "I guess I've been foolish, but I had some treatments from so-and-so who calls himself a doctor of such-and-such. And he gave me some injections of what he called Superdoopertone. Or whatever."

There's no law against doing foolish things. We know that some patients go chasing after will-o-wisps at times, and are sorry afterwards. There's nothing to be gained by bawling them out.

But we can do a better job, and usually save some tests and money, if the patients tell us what happened.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend suggested cobra venom for arthritis. Is this treatment recommended?—H. H.

Medicines containing cobra venom were popular years ago but are not commonly used today. Many treatments for arthritis have been in vogue over the years, and this is one of them. With all of them, there have been reports of some degree of relief, but most of them have not stood the test of time, and have not proved to be "cures." One of the difficulties with cobra venom was that allergic reactions quite often occurred.

"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Of Time And Roads

Ed Fisher, who always is digging up some interesting item about the past, brought in a little map the other day. It had been put out by Sam Hall, who then operated an automobile repair and tire shop in the 200 block of Main, about where C. R. Anthony Company now stands.

WHAT WAS most interesting about this map was the designation of highways, and the simplicity of the network as compared with maps today when we are observing National Highway Week.

This was in the early 20's and the main roads had not much more than been designated. Bly was the marking which we later knew as State No. 1 then as U.S. 80, and now as Interstate 20. The initials, naturally stood for Bankhead Highway.

THE IDENTIFICATION for what we now know as US 87 was PGH, which meant Puget Sound to Gulf Highway. Earlier this had been known in a booklet put out on the route as the "Glacier to Gulf Highway." We came to know it as State No. 9, and eventually as US 87.

Another interesting route was DO Hy—Dixie Overland, that is. Today we know this as US 180, just to the north, although the en route route is not the same. This one also led from Snyder to Post, Tahoka, Brownfield to Roswell, N.M.

THERE WAS a trail showing from Midland to Garden City, but no other interconnecting routes were shown on the map, not even our road to Garden City.

With the aid of a good pair of eyes, it was possible to figure out distances between points. Some were remarkably near today's distances, others were far off. For instance, the road to Lamesa was 57 miles from Big Spring, and that 57 miles represented nearly half a day's journey. Today the distance is 42 miles. The distance to Sterling City was 49 miles, and today it is shorter by half a dozen miles. Big Spring to Colorado City was 42 miles, and in the intervening 40 or more years it has been shortened only two miles. Big Spring to Stanton was 23 miles; now it is 20. Big Spring to Lubbock was 120, now it is about 108.

THIS, HOWEVER, doesn't tell the real story, for the great difference today is not so much in distance but in time. Where a trip to Lamesa represented nearly half a day around 1920, today it is only 40 minutes, and there is nothing to compare in the way of comfort and safety—not to mention the inevitable rash of stops to patch punctured tires in the good old days.

Canada's Uncertain Future

MONTREAL—Canada's welcome to Queen Elizabeth II has been polite and perfunctory — and wholly overshadowed by the country's gloomy preoccupation with a noisy minority of French Canadians who demand independence for French-speaking Quebec Province.

French separatists' threats of demonstrations against the Queen—and even of possible assassination attempts—have confirmed a reality that most English-speaking Canadians have heretofore resolutely refused to accept:

CANADA, a nation without a flag, without a national anthem, and with less than a century of shaky unity behind it, is in trouble—trouble so deep that some thoughtful Canadians wonder if their large, empty country can long survive the powerful stresses that are shaking it.

French Canadian separatism is a problem that is expected to grow more acute in the months to come. But in the long term, Canada's larger problem is how to maintain economic, political and cultural independence in the overpowering presence of the United States.

CANADA'S POPULATION is only 10 per cent of that of the United States, and almost all of her people live within range of American television broadcasts. American books, newspapers and magazines are more in evidence than Canada's own printed products. Her industry and her mineral wealth are largely owned by American interests.

Whether Canadians like it or not (and a great many of them obviously do not like it), this country is hopelessly entwined in a North American political, economic and social structure wholly dominated by the United States.

EVEN GEOGRAPHY has a share in the conspiracy that binds Canada ever closer to the United States. Patterns of commerce and communication flow north and south in North America, which means that Canada's great Eastern cities, Montreal and Toronto, have a much closer commercial and cultural link with the Eastern U.S. than they have with their own West.

These economic facts of life are learned early by Canadians, and they form an unspoken preamble to every political-economic act taken in the country. With that background, it is small wonder that on each trip the regular visitor to Canada hears more and more about the growing Americanization of Canada.

AMERICANIZATION of Canada — if it ever happens—will not take place soon. But the surprising amount of sentiment in favor of union with the U.S. is a far better clue to what's wrong with the country than are the frenetic antics of a handful of French Canadian ultras who steal weapons from armories, blow up mailboxes and paint "Quebec Libre" on walls.

French Canadians are not the only ones who have no genuine sense of national identity. All of Canada is troubled by the same lack of unity, the same want of national purpose, and the same fatalism toward the irresistible gravitational pull of the United States.

Nuclear Security And Politics

WASHINGTON — Republican candidates around the country are by now acutely aware that the nuclear issue — the "trigger happy" charge — is Sen. Barry Goldwater's greatest handicap as the campaign moves into the final phase.

For this reason the battle of the scientists takes on special meaning. In unprecedented numbers, including many who ignored politics in the past, they are signing up under the banner of Scientists and Engineers for Johnson-Humphrey. In a crowded headquarters in Washington the drive is on to organize in each of the 50 states.

A CO-CHAIRMAN is Dr. George Kistiakowsky, former science advisor to President Eisenhower and currently professor of chemistry at Harvard. Explaining that up to now he has been nonpolitical, Kistiakowsky said: "The issues to be decided are so vital that no one can afford to be neutral."

This is the attitude of many of the scientists working in the organization. The list includes 30 Nobel Prize winners.

A SCIENTISTS AND Engineers for Goldwater-Miller Committee will soon be announced. Leading members are for the most part vice presidents and consultants of large corporations. Few scientists in the academic world are enrolled. One is Homer J. Stewart, professor of aeronautics at California Institute of Technology.

But Goldwater has a distinguished advisory task force for science, space and the atom, and it is here the nuclear issue is sharply posed. Chairman is Lewis Strauss, head of the Atomic Energy Commission under Eisenhower, and an opponent of the nuclear test-ban treaty. Best-known member is Edward Teller, world-famous physicist popularly known as "The Father of the H-Bomb."

THE STRAUSS-TELLER view was that further testing is vital to America's security. This fits the Goldwater approach of "Peace Through Preparedness."

That approach is challenged by two of the best-known members of the scientists for Johnson committee. One is Herbert F. York, director of defense research in the Eisenhower administration. The other is Jerome

B. Wiesner, science advisor to President Kennedy.

THEY HAVE WRITTEN in the current Scientific American an article stating that the increase of military power in recent years has brought a decrease in national security. They conclude:

"Both sides in the arms race are thus confronted by the dilemma of steadily increasing military power and steadily decreasing national security. It is our considered professional judgment that this dilemma has no technical solution. If the great powers continue to look for solutions in the area of science and technology only, the result will be to worsen the situation. The clearly predictable course of the arms race is a steady downward spiral to oblivion."

IN SHORT, they are saying that Goldwater's demand for new weapons systems can only increase the risk of nuclear annihilation. Calling the partial nuclear test-ban treaty "a truly important first step toward a solution," York and Wiesner urge that it be broadened to include underground tests which are now permitted. This would be under policing and inspection procedures so nearly agreed to during 10 years of disarmament negotiations in Geneva.

Head Missing

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP)—The advertisement in the local newspaper read: "A shrunken head has been removed from Tortilla Tavern Bar (in Madang). Would anyone responsible please return same, as they are pretty hard to come by these days, due to restricted production."

Tavern owner John Steen said he suspected the culprit was a tourist.

Head-hunting was widely practiced by New Guinea tribesmen in the past. Despite rigorous measures by the Australian government to stamp out the practice, it continues in some remote areas. Heads are dried and shrunk, and kept as trophies.

Texas Bank Deposits Up For Quarter

By The Associated Press

Texas third-quarter bank deposits zoomed to record highs in larger cities and held at high levels generally throughout the state.

Records are usually set at the end of the year following the Christmas business activity.

Dallas remained in first place with record deposits in 63 banks of more than $3.5 (b) billion. Houston was next with nearly $3.2 (b) billion, also a record high.

Tarrant County (Fort Worth) banks listed deposits of just over a billion dollars for the first time in history. San Antonio reported deposits of $906 million.

State and federal officials ordered the bank call Thursday and called for figures as of Oct. 1.

In cities where record deposits were not set, many bankers reported that this year's third-quarter figures were the highest for this time of year.

Deposit totals as of Oct. 1:

- Dallas—$3,511,726,257
- Houston—$3,193,565,478
- Fort Worth—$1,001,803,064
- San Antonio—$906,000,000
- Austin—$362,816,429
- Lubbock—$257,719,084
- Amarillo—$244,866,043
- Corpus Christi—$198,142,929
- Beaumont—$184,763,590
- Midland—$170,237,175
- Arlene (Taylor County)—$133,668,830
- Port Arthur—$93,815,363
- Orange—$50,852,861
- McAllen—$45,454,830
- Bryan-College Station — $11,576,713
- Gainesville—$23,452,896
- Del Rio—$18,691,410

Earnings Critics Miff Businessmen

NEW YORK (AP) — Profit time is here again. And as many corporations start to release figures showing increased earnings in the past three months — most of the nation's banks already have — some business executives are getting even more touchy about public and government reaction to the record highs.

The administration has suggested that industries with mounting profits might shave prices a little for the consumer's benefit. So far very few have. And when prices are lowered it's usually because of competitive pressures.

Union leaders have pointed to improved earnings as a talking point for higher wage scales and fringe benefits, claiming a larger share of the earnings for labor.

HELD MISLEADING

But business spokesmen are stressing that profits still aren't high enough, that the record highs are deceptive, and that industry must have still larger returns if it is to expand and create more jobs.

The argument that the record earnings mislead the public goes this way:

Rising profits reflect to a large extent the growing volumes of production and sales. And these have been boosted by gains in employment and thus in total personal incomes and by the general spread of prosperity throughout the economy. The business leaders argue that everything else has climbed to a record, and profits are merely following suit.

They go further and say that actually in relation to sales and capital investment, profits are lagging.

AFTER TAXES

For all U.S. corporations the after-tax return on net worth is estimated at under 6 per cent, or about what it has been for the last four years, although over-all business activity has increased notably.

The ratio of profits to sales, called the profit margin, has firmed up this year. But businessmen insist it is still much too low compared with the early postwar years when business was making a larger return and using that for expansion.

Business leaders contend that the chance to earn profits is the most effective incentive for increased productivity and efficiency. If profits are to be given a bad name, or even controlled by government, much of the incentive to produce better and more goes a-glimmering.

Crash Kills 2 Navy Men

KINGSVILLE (AP) — Two Navy men died and two civilians suffered injuries as a car and a pickup truck collided 7.5 miles west of Kingsville shortly before midnight Thursday.

The crash killed Robert King, 23, driver of the car, and a companion, Bobby Bursby, 25, both from the Naval auxiliary air station here.

State police said the King vehicle swung into the opposite lane of the highway and met a pickup driven by Douglas Goetzel, 32, of Alice, an engineer.

Bobby Baca, 29, an Alice laborer riding in the pickup, suffered critical injuries. Hospital attendants reported Goetzel was in fair condition.

Humphrey Launches Heavy-Agenda Swing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey heads into New Jersey and Pennsylvania today for two days of campaigning in states Democrats hope to carry by large margins Nov. 3.

After a day's rest, the Democratic vice presidential nominee had a crowded schedule today and Saturday, including a noon-hour rally in Philadelphia, a speech in Jersey City and a swing through the Philadelphia suburbs covered Tuesday by GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Humphrey said in his speech at Princeton that "President Johnson, like predecessors Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy, understands that the presidency is our principal link binding the past to the present, and the present to the future."

"The presidency is the only office in our constitutional system that holds together the many divided parts of the executive . . . and that represents the nation as a whole in the international area," he said.

Humphrey called Johnson "a born leader" and said that under his leadership the 88th Congress became "one of the most productive Congresses since Woodrow Wilson took the helm after his 1912 election."

Milan Ballerina Going To Dallas

MILAN (AP) — Carla Fracci, prima ballerina of Milan's La Scala Opera House, said today she would go to Dallas, Tex., soon to take part in a program in memory of President Kennedy.

Carla married La Scala stage director Beppe Menegatti today. "I want babies, of course, but I will certainly not give up dancing," she said.

Suite Charge Called 'Lie'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the government building program says Republican charges that a suite of offices for President Johnson will add $2.65 million to the cost of a building in Austin, Tex., are "filled with outright lies."

Bernard L. Boutin, head of the General Services Administration, said original plans for the building called for quarters for Johnson as vice president. After the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, he said, the plans were revised.

But, he says, the office space being provided for Johnson as president will be comparable to offices of such officials as assistant secretaries of government departments — less spacious than those of Cabinet members.

He told newsmen that an assertion by F. Clifton White, director of the Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee, that the presidential suite in the new federal building would cost $2.65 million "is absolutely an untruth."

White has said that the presidential offices would boost the cost of the building to $10 million.

Boutin, however, said the original bid for construction of the building was $7.35 million and 65 change orders including the presidential suite and some overtime, has increased the cost $503,920.

Boutin also described as "absolutely an untruth" allegations by White as to the splendor of the suite. White had said it contains a 10-foot fireplace, would be a memorial in marble and is being rushed to completion so Johnson could hold a victory celebration there on election night, Nov. 3.

"The fireplace is four feet and it's there to see," Boutin said. "The building is of concrete, not of marble."

And, he continued, the speed-up in construction was authorized to make five floors available quickly for the Austin office of the Internal Revenue Service. He said the IRS now occupies rented quarters on which the lease expires Dec. 31. He said if IRS doesn't move before the 1965 tax filing period begins it probably couldn't move until next May.

As for the suite itself, Boutin said the exact cost couldn't be estimated, but it will occupy 7,000 square feet on a floor which will have 17,500 square feet — the same size as each of the building's nine floors.

He said GSA is required by law to have space available for use by the President, but that there was no direct consultation with the White House on building plans.

NO TIME FOR GOD?

It's a busy world teeming with millions of busy people . . . coming and going, eating and drinking, laughing and crying, being born and dying.

Most folks in our age find themselves engulfed in extremely tight time schedules . . . involving many and varied activities . . . and the tempo of such a busy, hurried life seems to increase each day. Some can't take it and crack under the strain. Others seek refuge through tranquilizers and still others through alcoholic drink.

Time is the most precious commodity on the market in such a swirling civilization. Who has enough time? Most readily confess to lacking the time to accomplish the really important things in life. Yet many of us do have plenty of time but never seem to get around to doing the things we know we ought to do.

Many resolve to seriously read the Bible to learn of its truths, its commands, and its promises — but the sacred volume is seldom investigated and rarely picked up . . . except at dusting time. Not enough time.

Many express an interest in becoming a Christian but to date remain out of Christ. Too busy. Not enough time.

Many parents want to become closer to their children and take more of a personal interest in them . . . only to see the little ones grow up and go away with the best time for real understanding and companionship gone forever. Too busy. Not enough time.

The Bible was written for the present. No man knows what tomorrow will bring. One thing the Bible does not promise any man is another day . . . or even another hour . . . or even another minute.

Man's most important mission in life is to learn the will of God, to submit completely to its teachings, and to be governed by the eternal spiritual values rather than the fleeting material things of life. This is our supreme challenge.

Do you have time to learn of God? Do you have time to obey his will and thereby glorify your Maker? Every man will have time to die and to be judged by Christ. To be prepared will require time, our best time.

A life with no time for God is both foolish and tragic.

To such a covetous farmer, the Lord once said, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee . . ." (Luke 12:20).

British Miffed: Election Not Given Much Notice

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Though Great Britain is America's closest ally around the world, its election campaign is drawing less than rapt attention from the U.S. public and officials.

Around the United States, the contest between the Conservatives and Laborites for British electoral approval Oct. 15 has produced few front-page headlines in the American press.

In Washington, authorities are keeping one eye on the British campaign. But they seem more absorbed in situations like South Viet Nam and Cyprus, not to mention the race between Democrat Lyndon B. Johnson and Republican Barry Goldwater to be decided at U. S. polls Nov. 3.

BRITONS MIFFED

Some Britons have been known to grumble that the Americans are not paying as much notice to the British campaign as the British are to the American one.

State Department sources see this as no slap at Britain's importance as a prime foreign affairs partner of the United States from North Atlantic Treaty Organization to South Asia. They figure, rather, that the British campaigners are neither seeking much change in London's policy toward the United States nor focusing on issues likely to excite Americans.

According to an analysis here:

—Both Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home's Conservatives and Harold Wilson's Labor party have shown in their electioneering that they intend to continue close and friendly working relationships with the United States.

—The Labor party has toned down its "socialism," once a lively topic among private enterprise-minded Americans, to a position which in practice it would not be too far from the Tories.

STEEL ISSUE

Nationalization of the steel industry, as proposed by Labor, would be of interest to Americans. But they recall Britain's steel has been nationalized and denationalized before. On other economic and social issues, both parties are promising improvements.

—Labor's declared opposition to the U. S.-proposed Allied nuclear fleet and intent to renegotiate the 1963 Kennedy-Macmillan Nassau agreement for Polaris missiles to Britain against U.S. policy.

But here again U. S. sources believe that if Labor steps into government responsibilities after 13 years out of power, it will find that hard practicalities can force a toning down of pre-election plans.

In the U.S. view, the multilateral fleet should please Laborites as a means of keeping Britain's hand in atomic power without forcing her to the great expense of an independent nuclear arsenal. The Conservatives are campaigning for maintaining a British atomic might.

In the peculiarities and coincidences of politics, the nuclear issue is one reason why the American campaign seems to have had more impact on the British than visa versa.

Child Evangelism Week Noted Here

National Child Evangelism Week was climaxed here Thursday with a coffee at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association community room with Lois Harbison as the speaker. Miss Harbison is the newly appointed Child Evangelism Fellowship director for Lubbock.

Child Evangelism Speaker

Miss Lois Harbison, Lubbock, inspecting one of the displays at First Federal Savings and Loan Association Thursday. When a coffee for volunteer workers and friends of Child Evangelism Fellowship climaxes Child Evangelism Week. The work is directed toward reaching children.

The observance this year, proclaimed in Texas by Gov. John Connally, has the theme, "For-Sake Not Our Children." Many delinquent problems in America have been definitely linked to the lack of Bible training," he noted.

The National Association of Sunday Schools estimates that there are 41,000,000 children who do not attend church school. The Child Evangelism Fellowship is committed to work with churches to try to reach these children for Christ and the church, said Miss Leona Hooper, CEF director here. She is assisted in the center at 709 Johnson (AM 3-3512) by Miss Louise Paulger.

During the school year, they work with Good News Clubs, the largest single unit of the work. Within the past year, 85 clubs in the West Texas area reached some 5,000 children. These clubs are staffed by volunteers who conduct activities and a teaching ministry. During summers, 5-day Bible clubs are operated. In addition ministries in hospitals and special schools, missions and other places are carried on. In some phases of another of the work, an estimated 15,000 children were touched during the past year.

BY PASTORS' ASSOCIATION Thanksgiving Service Set

The annual Thanksgiving Service, sponsored by the Big Spring Pastors' Association, will be held at the First Baptist Church Nov. 26 at 10 a.m. The program was outlined at the Wednesday meeting of the Association at Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, with the Rev. Melvin Montgomery as host pastor.

The Thanksgiving message will be brought by the Rev. H. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. John Black, pastor of the First Christian Church and president of the Association, will preside; Glenn Faison, minister of music at First Baptist, will be in charge of music; The Rev. Al Seddon, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation; scripture will be read by the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God, and the Thanksgiving Proclamation read by the Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple.

The Rev. Don Hungerford, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, will give the Thanksgiving Prayer, and Chaplain Bill Warren will give the benediction.

The annual Thanksgiving offering will go toward the teaching of Bible in the Big Spring High School, sponsored by the Pastors' Association.

Revival To Open Sunday At First Baptist Church Here

The Rev. Forrest H. Siler, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Wichita, Kan., will be the preacher for the revival services beginning at the First Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Gale Dunn, minister of music and religious education, Highland Baptist Church, Shreveport, La., will be the music director and soloist for the meetings.

Sunday services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., while weekday services will be at 7:15 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The meeting will run through Oct. 18.

Rev. Siler is pastor of the largest Southern Baptist Church in Kansas. He is president of the Kansas Baptist Convention and a member of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. He served as pastor of the First Baptist Churches in Plano and Uvalde before going to the Wichita pastorate in 1956.

Dunn has composed several gospel songs and choruses, some of which will be used during the revival in Big Spring. He served on the staff of the Baptist Temple, Houston, and Gaston Avenue Baptist Church, Dallas, before going to Shreveport.

Weekday morning services are scheduled so that businessmen and students may attend service and then go on to work or school. A preferential survey of the congregation showed most people preferred the 7:15 to the 7:45 a.m. daily worship service.

Coffee, doughnuts and pastries will be available before and after each morning service.

The West 80 Church of Christ invites the public to attend the services.

Art In Lobby

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Since 1961, Scottwood Community Church has presented art exhibitions by central Ohio artists. Mrs. Stephen Briggs, exhibition chairman, originated the idea for art to be shown in the lobby. The Rev. William E.

STUDY OF CONVERSION

"Salvation For Sinners," topic for the Oct. 11 International Sunday School Lesson, leads to the study of the conversion of Paul, and what the redemptive love of God did for him. The scripture is found in 1 Timothy 1:12-17; 2:1-7.

Paul, writer of the epistles to Timothy, knew better than anyone that Christ is the author and the finisher of faith. The reason for his gratitude was that he recognized that it was Jesus who had "put him into the ministry." He looked upon his high calling as God-appointed, because he knew that he had without doubt, been the most injurious hindrance to the cause of Christ.

The lesson shows that the starting point for all men is the belief in a God who is one—God and Father of us all, and that Christ is the only mediator between man and God.

Preacher, apostle, teacher—these three words present a picture of the well rounded ministry, not only of the minister himself, but also of the function of every church.

Pastor Has Served 82 Churches

WIDENER, Ark. (AP)—Sixty years in the Southern Baptist ministry was commemorated by Rev. T. R. Hammons at an observance in his honor at Burnt Cane Baptist Church here. The 84-year-old preacher has served as pastor of 82 churches during that time and has baptized more than 9,000 persons.

WATCH FOR THE SIGNS

Mike was lucky! He lost his way completely along the thickly-wooded roads during his vacation last summer until suddenly he came upon a small service station. The friendly attendant told him he was only a short distance from the lake. "Just watch for the signs," the man said.

It's easy to get lost . . . it could happen to anyone. At times, our lives get so confused that we don't know which way to turn, and we feel that nobody cares. When that happens, just watch for the signs.

What signs? Well, there's the fragrant beauty of a rose, the laugh of a child, the glory of sunrise, the sound of great music . . . signs all around that point to the constant presence of God who loves us.

The Christian Church is the most important sign of all . . . created solely to reveal a new and meaningful way of life to all who seek it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Beatle Chasers Find New Idols

Martha Schendell, left, and Janice Hawkins, Cleveland, O., teenagers missing since Sept. 17, pose outside the U.S. Embassy in London before starting return to the United States. They reportedly skipped off to London in search of the Beatles, mop-haired musical group, but now say they have new idols—the Rolling Stones, another beat group. The girls told police who found them they were on world tour. They had $1,400 savings left when taken into custody. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Mental Health Agency Eyed

AUSTIN (AP) — Sweeping changes in administration of state mental health services, including creation of a new agency, are recommended by a group charged with telling Gov. John Connally and the legislature how to improve these services. Twenty-six persons with key assignments on a 112-man committee drafting the Texas plan for mental health services agreed to seek establishment of a new state department of mental health. It would assume responsibilities in that area now performed by the State Health Department and State Hospital Board. The full committee will meet Oct. 16 to vote on these and other recommendations, concluding almost a year-long study. A state agency governed by six laymen and three medical representatives, including a psychiatrist, is proposed. It would be administered by a commissioner of mental health who would be a physician licensed in Texas and certified in psychiatry.

Suspect Says Car Theft Led To Rape, Killings

FORT WORTH (AP)—"I was running away from home and I saw this car and decided to steal it," Charles Roy Hefley asserted in telling how he came to rape, stab and beat a young mother, and drown her two babies. "In the beginning that's all it was. I just needed that car—but then something happened." Hefley, 16, talked to a reporter Thursday for the first time since police arrested him Sept. 10. The youth admitted then that he beat, stabbed and raped Mrs. Adams, 20, and hurled the infants into the Trinity River the night before. One of 14 knife wounds cost Mrs. Adams the sight of an eye but she is recovering. Hefley said he decided to leave home because of a breakup in a teenage romance. He saw a car parked at a curb with a door open and the dome light on, he related. "I thought the keys would be inside so I looked and they were," Hefley said. "But then she came out carrying something. It looked like diapers." Mrs. Adams already had placed her sleeping sons in the back seat of the car. Hefley said he told Mrs. Adams that he needed the car and forced her inside. As he drove along deserted east Fort Worth roads, other thoughts entered his mind and he decided to stop. "Then she started screaming," Hefley said. "I asked her not to, but she just kept on, and then the babies screamed too—I didn't know what to do." Why the drowning of the two babies? "I've thought and thought about it," he said. "I don't know why except they screamed. I just don't know why."

Heart Pump Strides Made

CHICAGO (AP) — A New York surgeon today forecast development within two years of permanent, auxiliary heart pumps for human use — implanted within the body and powered by batteries carried by a shoulder harness. Dr. Yukihiko Nose of the State University of New York's Downstate Medical Center, Brooklyn, said this possibility is suggested by successful experiments in dogs. These tests use a cigarette pack-sized, inflatable plastic bulb pump implanted in the aorta, the main pathway of blood from the heart. Dr. Nose told reporters about it at the 50th clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons. He was summarizing a formal report prepared for the meeting by himself and three colleagues. After describing the experimental pump for dogs, the report said: "Efforts are now being directed toward development of a similar device that will hopefully be used in treating chronic myocardial insufficiency (weak hearts) in man." At the news conference Dr. Nose said "in one or two years, it may be possible to implant one in a human."

Bracero Program End Dealing Blow

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California agriculture is sorely beset in these waning days of the federal program for importation of Mexican farm laborers. When the program ends Dec. 31, California will lose the many thousands of braceros. A spokesman for the California-Arizona Farm Labor Association told the California Chamber of Commerce this week that concentrated efforts by growers to recruit domestic workers have failed. But state officials reply that California has a huge potential labor pool in the state's 400,000 unemployed. The chief problem, they indicate, is getting the right numbers of people into the right place at the right time. RECRUIT FORCE A meeting of more than 100 farm labor and production experts in San Francisco earlier this week suggested that county, state and federal officials be responsible for recruiting a substitute work force among domestic workers. The Chamber of Commerce agreed. But California Gov. Edmund G. Brown took sharp exception Thursday, saying he "emphatically denies it's government's obligation to find a substitute for the bracero farm labor program." Brown's position was buttressed by a report by Dr. Paul O'Rourke, Brown's coordinator between California and Washington for the administration's antipoverty program. In the report O'Rourke told Brown that foreign farm labor programs dovetail adversely with the war on poverty. Continued import of foreign workers would leave California's presently unemployed — whom the war on poverty is designed to help — precisely where they were before the war on poverty began — unemployed, O'Rourke's report said. But says O'Rourke, that American domestic workers "have American expectations for income and work conditions." LOW WAGES O'Rourke says they prefer unemployment to the hard working conditions and low wages they are normally offered. A spokesman for the Artesia Growers Association in Southern California proposed that county governments should augment the wages growers pay farm workers. But this proposal got a damp reception even from a "great majority" of growers, a spokesman for the California Growers Farm Labor Committee said. Reiterating Brown's view, O'Rourke's report said growers have the responsibility for finding farmhands.

Defense Agency Cites Big Saving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says its cost reduction program has saved $2.8 billion in the last fiscal year. $278 million more than Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara estimated last July 7.

Protection Aids Told

W. D. Berry, director of Civil Defense for Howard County, detailed survival measures to members of the Progressive Woman's Forum when they met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Bill Draper, 1808 Benton. He outlined the shelter areas in the community and told what citizens can do in their homes for all-out protection.

The club activities at the Fun-A-Rama were reported, and funds received will be used for the Howard County Rehabilitation Center. Also, a donation was made to the Big Spring State Hospital for the Christmas fund.

A guest, Mrs. Granville Hahn, and members were served at a table featuring the Americanism theme. A centerpiece of red and white carnations was arranged on the refreshment table that was covered in a red cloth. Milk glass appointments and miniature flags completed the decorations.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 22 in the home of Mrs. Ernest Welch, 605 Bucknell.

Safety Discussed By Police Group

A program emphasizing safety was given by members of the Big Spring Police Department for the Cedar Crest Parent-Teachers Association Thursday evening. The speakers showed a film on safety.

Also, a chorus of fourth and fifth grader pupils presented a medley of folk songs.

Mrs. Bill Bullard was elected to fill the office of president for the year. Mrs. C. E. Renfro gave a council report, and delegates to the workshop at Ackery were named.

The group will continue holding the meetings at night, and the next session will be Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. Ninety-two members attended, and the fourth grade class won the room count.

Lee Cooks Visit In Homes Here

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cook of McKinney have been visiting the past week in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cook, 1611 Main, and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mitchell, 2710 Carol. The visit brought together four generations of the Cook family including Lee, Manley, Pete and Cliff.

Ainsworth Speaks To P-TA Unit

"Helping Children Through Quality Education," was the topic used by Dr. C. L. Ainsworth when he spoke to members of the Airport Parent-Teachers Association Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Eldon Watts presided, and Mrs. J. M. Rankin worded the devotion.

A Halloween carnival was scheduled for 6 p.m., Oct. 31. Mrs. Dale B. Vaughn's first grade class won the room count, and the attendance prize went to Mrs. J. N. McClure.

Delegates to attend the state conference in Dallas Nov. 11-13 are Mrs. Watts and Mrs. A. W. Gerhart. The alternates are L. D. Spradling and Mrs. E. D. Jones.

Officers Installed By Mrs. Winham At Circle Session

An officer installation service was held Thursday evening by the Evening Circle of the First Baptist Church at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. Mrs. Johnnie Winham conducted the ceremony.

She gave scriptures for each color of the rainbow, presenting the officers with a different colored candle and charging them with their duties for the coming year. Mrs. Beulah Crabtree read a scripture and worded a prayer for the missionaries.

Mrs. Omar Williams reviewed the book, "Frontiers of Advance," and Mrs. Forest Gambill presided at the business session. Mrs. H. L. Derrick was elected program chairman.

Refreshments were served to eight members.

WMU Sets Activities

The executive board of the Women's Missionary Union of the Baptist Temple met Tuesday evening at the church to make plans for the coming year and to hear committee reports.

Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, president, announced that the Woman's Missionary Society and the Girls' Auxiliary had achieved special recognition during the year.

A Royal Service program was given on the WMU theme for the year, "O Worship the King." Those taking part in the program were Mrs. Jarratt, reviewer; Mrs. A. W. Page, devotion; Mrs. George Harwood, program; Mrs. James Puckett, prayer; Mrs. Sam Bennet, stewardship; Mrs. Ross Hill, mission study; and Mrs. Max Legg, community mission.

Refreshments were served to the group in Fellowship Hall following the meeting.

Training Course Held By Baptists

KNOTT (SC)—The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church was host at a leadership training course Tuesday for delegates from Tarzan, Lenora, Lakeview, Ackery and Prairie View.

Mrs. Ralph Caffey, Tarzan, taught the leadership book of WMU and Mrs. L. O. Free, Knott, had charge of the study of Girls' Auxiliary leadership. Mrs. Sonny Shroyer, Knott, taught the Sunbeam course. Mrs. Shirley Fryar, associational president, addressed the group.

A sack lunch was served at noon with the host church furnishing beverages.

Forty-three new Brownie and Junior Girl Scout troop leaders attended the first session of the group leadership course offered Wednesday morning in the Girl Scout Little House. The course was given by Mrs. D. M. Costlow, district advisor, and Mrs. Larson Lloyd, publicity chairman.

On succeeding Wednesdays the training will be from 9:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring a sack lunch.

Free baby-sitting is available for convenience of mothers who wish to take the course. Mrs. Tracy Butler, 603 E. 18th, will care for children over two years old. Her telephone number is AM 3-4055.

Ever wonder what your United Way gift is doing?

It's working many wonders—like these

When you so generously gave the United Way last fall, did you realize that your gift would keep right on doing good all year long? Well, it does. Just ask the kids who are being helped this summer. Your gift is helping send some of them to the country for a week or so—to learn the lessons of growing up under the guidance of experienced counselors. It's helping to provide a healthy atmosphere for others to play in, helping them realize that someone does care about them. It's helping the children in our community every single day of the year, to grow up as responsible adults who will lead rich, constructive lives. Now you know why we say, One Gift Works Many Wonders/THE UNITED WAY

Yankees May Have Edge In Classic

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Series was all even at one victory each today but the New York Yankees appeared to have a decided edge over the St. Louis Cardinals because of a rookie pitcher named Mel Stottlemyre.

The young right-hander's name was well known by every member of the Cardinals squad after he whipped them 8-3 with seven hits Thursday for the first Yankee triumph after five straight Series defeats.

"There's nobody like him in the National League," said Ken Boyer, the Cards' captain and third baseman.

"He's nothing but good," added Bob Gibson, the Cards' ace right-hander who lost despite striking out nine Yankees. "I would have had to be at my very best to beat him today."

"One of our scouts reported that Stottlemyre might be the best pitcher on their staff," said Redbird Manager Johnny Keane, "but I never pictured him that good."

No wonder the Yankees left Busch Stadium in St. Louis in a happy frame of mind. The next three games, following a day of rest today, will be played at Yankee Stadium. Stottlemyre is scheduled to pitch again Monday.

disturbed than he cared to admit.

Even he would have to admit that the Yankees' pitching picture looked much brighter than the Cards'.

Keane is set for Saturday's third game with southpaw Curt Simmons, 18-9, opposing right-hander Jim Bouton, 18-13 of the Yankees. After that he's in trouble.

He will have to come back with lefty Ray Sadecki and Gibson for the fourth and fifth games. Both were treated roughly by Yankee hitters in the first two games, although Sadecki was credited with winning the opener.

On the other hand, Yankee Manager Yogi Berra has Whitey Ford primed for the fourth game, with his usual three-days rest, to be followed by Stottlemyre.

Ford didn't have it in the opener when he was beaten by Sadecki, but the veteran left-hander, winner of 10 World Series games, has been almost unbeatable in spacious Yankee Stadium.

The way Stottlemyre pitched Thursday, he's unbeatable anywhere.

While the 22-year-old sinker ball specialist was containing the Cards with only two outfield flies aside from their seven safeties, the Yankees pounded Gibson and three relievers for a dozen hits, including four doubles and a home run.

This gave the Yankees 24 hits in two games, three more than they accumulated in the entire Series against the Los Angeles Dodgers last year.

The victory was especially pleasing to Berra because, as he put it: "It's my first one as a manager."

First Baseman Joe Pepitone, standing nearby in the Yankees' clubhouse, laughed at Yogi's remark and said:

"Heck, Skip, you only lost one. Before this, I played in five World Series games and I was on the losing team in all of them."

Pepitone was the central figure Thursday in the Series' biggest controversy to date.

The rhubarb occurred in the sixth inning with the score tied at 1-1. Mickey Mantle opened the Yankees' half of the sixth drawing a walk from Gibson. Elston Howard lined to second baseman Dal Maxvill. The count on Pepitone was two strikes and a ball when the first baseman took a half swing at an inside curve ball.

Plate umpire Bill McKinley ruled the ball nicked Pepitone on the thigh and awarded him first base. Gibson, Keane and the entire Cardinal infield rushed to the plate.

"The pitch hit him," repeated McKinley.

"The ball may have hit him," agreed Keane, "but we heard it hit his bat first."

"Pepitone took a sort of half swing at the ball," explained McKinley later, "but he didn't hit it. He just sort of half stepped toward it and the curve ball just came and hit him right there on the thigh."

McKinley pointed to his own right thigh.

All the Cardinals insisted the ball glanced off Pepitone's bat.

"We all heard the ball hit the bat first," insisted Keane.

"Pepitone didn't make a move toward first until McKinley sent him to first base. I thought McKinley asked the first base umpire for help but both claimed he didn't."

"The pitch hit me on the thigh," said Pepitone. "Right here."

Then he pointed to his left thigh. No one told him that McKinley had pointed to his own right thigh in giving his version.

In any event, that disputed play was the turning point. Tommy Tresh followed with a single that scored Mantle with the tie-breaking run.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The mark of the great quarterback in football is the ability to consistently get a team across the goal line from in close.

Many navigators can occasionally throw the long bomb from the middle of the field but those who can successfully probe for the weaknesses in the opponent's armor plate when the enemy shifts to a goal line defense must be given passing grades.

If the quarterback can add to the menace his team poses by knowing just when to run the ball himself, he adds still more teeth to the gears in the machine.

Callers at this window remind me that there is a third Big Spring High School graduate now playing professional football.

That would be Jimmy Evans, the former Texas Western end, Jimmy, who played quarterback when he was in school here, was dropped recently by the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL but he caught on with the New York Jets of the AFL and played against the San Diego Chargers last weekend.

Evans was thrown off stride by an injury while with Dallas. From all indications, the Cowboys didn't give him time to return to playing form.

Lou Sara Galloway of San Antonio, a volleyball player with the U.S. Olympic girls' volleyball team in Tokyo, is a cousin to Larry Smith, a printer for the Daily Herald.

Big Spring's Charley Johnson is now the sixth leading passer in the NFL, with 62 completions in 108 attempts for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Charley, however, has passed for more yardage than any other bomber in the pro league — 979 yards, compared to 864 for runnerup John Brodie of San Francisco.

Neither Tommy McDonald nor Buddy Dial, who Dallas acquired to strengthen its aerial game, is among the 14 leading passing receivers.

In discussing the Cardinals' success on the road, Johnson was quoted recently as saying:

"You have to go into a road game thinking everything will go against you because you're on unfamiliar ground. You tell yourself it's going to be tougher than usual. Then when things go good, it's an extra lift."

Among other things that has helped that promising football team at Goliad Junior High School here: A wrestling program during the off season.

L. E. McCulloch, the Odessa College basketball coach, has four starters back from last season but is still looking for that one, big post man.

Returning starters with the Wranglers include Charles Keffler, 6-3; Keith Kuhn, 6-3; James Medina, 6-0; and Gus Buchanan, 5-10.

All but Medina, an Odessa product, hail from out of the state.

Odessa opens its season Nov. 23 at home against Ranger Junior College.

Pete Zuniga, a 6-2 Atwater, Calif., boy who was a high school All-American selection last year, is enrolled at OC as a freshman. So is Jack Mercer, 5-8 guard from Odessa Permian.

Dizzy Dean, the baseball great turned television announcer, stopped here this morning at Buddy Meeks' service station on West Third Street en route west.

Pressed to make a prediction on the current World Series, Diz replied:

"The Cardinals look awful good to me."

Diz, of course, could not be blamed for being partial to the Red Birds. He pitched well enough while with St. Louis to earn a spot in baseball's Hall of Fame.

COAHOMA — Coahoma seeks its fifth straight football victory in a District 6-A game with the Roscoe Plowboys at 7:30 o'clock here tonight.

The Bulldogs got off on the right foot in league competition by belting Roby in Roby last weekend, 41-0.

DEAR ABBY

Good Actors To Follow

DEAR ABBY: I am now a high school freshman and have all new teachers, but I still have the same old problem. The very first day of school, the English teacher took one look at my name and said, "Oh, you're MARVIN's brother..."

they love each other, but their gestures are so brazen in the presence of others that it is embarrassing. DEAR ONE: Married couples have sufficient opportunities to express their affection for each other privately. Intelligent, refined and sensitive people respect the feelings of others. This couple hardly deserves the adjectives you used to describe them.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would put something in your column about young couples who make a public display of their affection for one another. This lovely young couple has been married four years now, and they still behave as though they were entirely alone. They are intelligent, well-educated, refined and sensitive people. Abby. It is good to know that

County Gets Bill For Tax Study

The tax valuation of Howard County oil properties is $33,154,492 and it cost the county $14,919.50 to find that value out. Pritchard and Abbott, tax engineers employed by the county to fix valuations on oil and gas properties, sent in their statement Thursday to Wade Choate, county auditor—$14,919.50.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

(© 1964; By The Chicago Tribune)

North-South vulnerable. North deals.

NORTH: ♠ K 7, ♥ 6 3, ♦ A Q J 10 8 5, ♣ A 6 5

WEST: ♠ 9 8 4 3 2, ♥ A 10 4 2, ♦ 6, ♣ 9 9

EAST: ♠ A 6, ♥ Q J 7, ♦ K 5, ♣ 10 7 4 2

The bidding: North East South West 3 Pass 3NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠ South hardly put up a struggle in playing his three no trump contract and the verdict went to the defense virtually by default.

North had the top values for his pre-emptive opening bid of three diamonds, and yet his choice was reasonable in view of the unfavorable vulnerability. South decided to gamble on the spade situation in order to try for a nine trick game.

West opened the four of spades, the seven was played from dummy and East put up the ace. The appearance of the diamond suit made it abundantly clear that, if the defense were to have any hope of defeating South's contract, they had better get at their tricks without delay.

Hearts appeared to offer the best prospect, and East promptly shifted to the queen of that suit. South withheld his king for one round; however, he could not stop the onslaught, and four heart tricks were quickly rattled off to send declarer down to defeat before he could get started.

South's performance on the deal was utterly without guile and is reminiscent of the ostrich when confronted by the danger. By playing a small spade from dummy at trick one, he clearly advertised that he had some sort of secondary stopper in the suit. Unless West was underleading both honors, East was assured of getting in with either the queen of spades or the ace and the heart shift becomes marked.

In order to forestall an attack where he is most vulnerable, declarer should put up the king of spades at trick one. If, for example, the king should hold—South has an abundance of tricks available. However, even if the king of spades loses to the ace, there is a good chance that East will continue the suit in which case declarer's jack-ten serves as a delayed stopper. Once East surrenders the lead, South's heart holding is no longer in danger of a fatal assault.

Altogether the recommended play is not foolproof since East does have an opportunity to make the heart shift when he is in, he should at least be made to work for his bread and butter.

Get His Hat

Johnson Shifts South As He Continues Tour Of 11 States

EN ROUTE WITH JOHNSON (AP) — President Johnson hoisted a "not for sale" sign over TVA today as he invaded Kentucky and Tennessee with a claim that the major campaign issue is whether to build up or tear down.

Johnson, in this third day of a six-day circuit through 11 states, emphasized a question on which he and Republican rival Barry Goldwater clearly are divided — the future of the depression-born Tennessee Valley Authority.

And the President used this issue to emphasize a broader campaign argument — that he would build on the present in search of a better future whereas, in his view, his opponent wants to "repeal the present and veto the future."

"LET'S BUILD" Johnson, in a speech prepared for an audience in Nashville, Tenn., said: "I believe this is a time to build up. And that is the main issue of this campaign."

"The issue is whether the American people want to continue to build our nation on those policies and principles that have guided us for generations to new heights of greatness — or whether they want to tear down all we have worked to achieve."

Nashville was Johnson's second scheduled stop of the day, between visits in Louisville, Ky., and New Orleans. And, as the center of TVA country, it was the logical place to talk about the fate of that sprawling network of dams, power plants and fertilizer factories.

Goldwater has talked of selling some of these federally owned facilities and once sounded as if he wanted to dispose of them all.

"I am not going to sell TVA," said Johnson. "No matter how much they offer — no matter how much they want for it — I will never sell the TVA."

"BELONGS TO PEOPLE" He went on: "In the first place, it doesn't belong to me — it belongs to the people of the upper South. It belongs to the people of America."

Johnson said that "the same voice that urges us to sell TVA" also says we should withdraw from education, ... eliminate our farm programs, reduce our protection against harmful foods and drugs, and change Social Security in a way that would wreck it."

Saying "I come to offer you a different choice," the President gave this recital of his goals: "I offer you the same responsible government which cut taxes and cut the federal budget — the same responsible government that believes every child has the right to an education — the same responsible government that is determined to end poverty all over our land — the same responsible government that will work to extend our abundance to all who are willing to work for it — the same responsible government that will meet the new problems of a growing America."

Johnson turned South after touring Indiana and Ohio, where he held a Democratic dinner in Cleveland that he regards his opposition as wanting to repeal and veto rather than build.

Earlier Thursday he was in Illinois, and swamped by greeters in Chicago.

Rainfall Curbs U.S. Drouth But Late For Summer Crop

CHICAGO (AP) — Plentiful rain and cool weather have alleviated costly drouth conditions throughout the nation and buoyed farmers' hopes for the fall planting season.

But, an Associated Press state-by-state survey showed today, for most of the rich summer crops, the rains came too late.

Lack of moisture and parched soil caused an estimated $300-million damage to the normally bountiful crops of corn, soybeans, sorghum and wheat. Recent rains have aided fruit growers but livestock and dairy farmers are hard hit by arid pastures and lack of livestock fodder for the winter.

Some farmers are cutting corn for silage in an effort to alleviate the expected feed shortage.

Despite low ground-water supplies and lack of adequate subsoil moisture, most farmers are optimistic about the fall crops.

But in some scattered areas, rainfall still is desperately needed.

Eastern Colorado is "a powder keg," says Henry Christenson, state soil conservation director. With the weather still balmy and no rain in sight, the newly planted wheat crop is imperiled. Some wheat already is lying in the dust, Christenson says.

New Mexico — September rains came too late for most dryland crops, but has helped winter range prospects and fall planting of wheat.

California — The state has finished its driest year in nine years. The water year ended Sept. 30, but despite the deficiencies, general water conditions are far from critical.

Lady Bird's Circuit Ending

ABOARD THE LADY BIRD SPECIAL (AP) — Cutting across the Gulf Coast, Lady Bird Johnson's whistle-stop train joins campaign forces with the President for a double-barreled political windup in New Orleans tonight.

Johnson plans to be waiting at the station when his wife rounds the last bend in her four-day, 1,682-mile sentimental political journey.

Both of them are busy seeking Dixie votes on separate routes today. Johnson was flying into Louisville, Ky., and Nashville, Tenn., making his way to a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner celebration in New Orleans.

Lady Bird gave her engineer orders to pull out of Tallahassee, Fla., at 5:35 a.m. after a rousing Florida State College homecoming rally with about 3,000 students and an overnight rest stop.

She had to be out on the train's observation platform to greet folks at an engine switching stop at Chattahoochee, Fla., an hour later.

HARD DAYS
"I've been working on the railroad," Mrs. Johnson jokingly paraphrased the familiar song. But it wasn't really a joke. She had been putting in long, hard days and had made 36 stops and 36 speeches in a span of 72 hours.

It was wearying, but rewarding. As Mrs. Johnson put it, there were "bigger and bigger enthusiastic crowds" all the way from Washington to Florida. According to her generous whistle stop counters, a million people will have turned out to see the President's wife by the time her train reaches New Orleans.

Georgia's Gov. Carl Sanders said the Lady Bird Special started out as a train but seems to be "trying to wind up as a bandwagon."

ROAD SHOW
It was all like a traveling road show, with the whole Johnson family getting into the act. The latest to join up was daughter Luci, 17, who did everything from cheering Valdosta, Ga., with word she knew about their football team to lecturing young Goldwater hecklers, on respecting the rights of others who have opposing views.

She just about stole the show at Florida State College Thursday night, with the crowd shouting "We want Luci." To the delight of the big audience, Luci seemed taken by surprise when coeds crowned her with a huge red, white and blue feather headdress and made her an honorary member of their 1964 homecoming court.

She promptly rose to the occasion, delivering a speech on the responsibilities of her generation to prepare for the time when they will be handed their country's problems to solve.

Barry Aide Quits Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater's legislative assistant has quit his job, and was quoted today as charging the Republican presidential nominee is being pushed "farther to the right" by a group of new advisers.

The Arizona senator was silent on the resignation of William R. Seward, his legislative assistant for six years.

Tex Kazy, administrative assistant to Goldwater, said Seward quit Sept. 30, and Goldwater accepted the resignation in a letter dated Oct. 5.

The Washington Post quoted Seward as saying Goldwater is being pushed to the right by "a small well-knit group of new advisers."

At Republican national headquarters, Lee E. Edwards, assistant director of public relations, said Seward dealt largely with Indian affairs for the senator, and had no part in the presidential campaign.

The Post said that Seward was "disappointed and concerned" with some of Goldwater's recent positions on such issues as Social Security, extremism and the Cuban missile crisis.

"I don't think these statements were really Sen. Goldwater talking," Seward told the Post. "I think his advisers were speaking more for themselves than for the senator."

Connallys Go Into Their Dream Home

FLORESVILLE (AP) — For years Mrs. Nellie Connally has wanted a home with unique front doors.

In 1961 she finally found the front doors, and 10 others as well.

This month she got a house to use the doors in.

The 10 - room, two - story Lueders stone house sits on a knoll about seven miles west of Floresville, providing a clear view of Gov. John Connally's 1,200 - acre ranch and rolling South Texas hills up to eight miles away.

After trying out several names, the Connallys settled on Picoza, taking the name from a nearby creek. It's a Spanish word meaning hot like pepper.

Texas' first family opened what Mrs. Connally calls their dream house to newsmen Thursday, less than a week after they moved in and a year after construction began.

Seventeen Southern governors, due to attend an annual conference next week in nearby San Antonio, will be entertained there Sunday night.

"The house was designed around the doors and the iron railing," Mrs. Connally told reporters.

FRONT DOORS
"I've always wanted unusual front doors," she began, and related how she rescued the doors, floor tile and iron grillwork of a 1740 English town house which was being demolished. This was during a trip to London while Connally was secretary of the Navy.

"John was held up on business, and I made the man wait until he could come see the doors," she said.

The 11 doors, with fired clay trim, arrived four months later in Texas. Each is a little more than eight feet tall.

"They had 40 or 45 coats of varnish on them, and we stripped it all off," Connally said.

The black and white tile was laid in the dining room. The iron railing was used across the front porch, as fireplace ornaments, and on the inside staircase.

The long wood and iron stair railing, which Mrs. Connally proudly claims is "our pri-i-i-ze thing," descends from a library which overlooks the family room.

Warm tones of the naturally finished doors, which are used in almost all rooms, carry out a masculine air throughout the house except in the formally furnished living and dining rooms.

All other rooms are paneled with such woods as white oak, red oak, ash, cypress and magnolia.

MASCULINE AURA
The masculine atmosphere also is reflected in paintings, most of which are of ranch scenes.

Cool, Dry Air Spreads Into South Texas Area

By The Associated Press

Cool, dry air spread from the north half of Texas into southern sections today. Skies were clear throughout the state.

Stout north winds abated in most areas during the night after whipping the cold front along Thursday.

Except for holding temperatures down a few degrees, the front was expected to have little effect. Weather Bureau observers foresaw a little warming tonight and Saturday in the north.

New five-day forecasts, for the period through the middle of next week, carried promise of chillier weather, however, along with scattered showers across the northern part of Texas and some locally heavy rains in the south and east about Monday or Tuesday.

Temperatures 8 to 12 degrees below normal were predicted in the northern section and 3 to 6 degrees below normal in the south.

Top readings Thursday ranged from 70 degrees at Dalhart up to 90 at Presidio. There was no rain.

Weather Hurricane

LONGVIEW (AP) — Offshore drilling platforms manufactured in Longview withstood Hurricane Hilda with only slight damage, officials of R. G. LeTourneau said today.
