McCarver's Homer Wins For Cards

NEW YORK (AP)—Tim McCarver clouted a home run with two on base in the 10th inning today and gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees in the fifth game of the 1964 World Series.

McCarver's wallop came after Tom Tresh's two-run homer with two out in the ninth had given the Yankees a 2-2 tie and almost ruined a brilliant pitching performance by the Cards' Bob Gibson. That was only the fifth hit off Gibson, who struck out 13 Yankees as he thrilled a Yankee Stadium crowd of 65,633. Relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen had walked Bill White to start the 10th and Ken Boyer beat out a bunt to put two on base before McCarver hit his winning homer with one out.

Queen Gets Big Welcome

OTTAWA (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II, with a cool and separatist-marred Quebec reception behind her, arrived smiling Sunday night to a warm Thanksgiving holiday welcome in the heart of English-speaking Canada.

She was welcomed, after 33 hours in French-speaking Quebec, by Prime Minister and Mrs. Lester B. Pearson. The queen and her husband, Prince Philip, were to join today's Thanksgiving celebrations in the Canadian capital.

Thousands lined the 10-mile route from the airport into the capital, engulfing the queen in a hail of cheers as she passed. She will be in Ottawa for two days. Extra security precautions will continue.

Small sporadic demonstrations broke out all over Quebec as the queen moved about the city Saturday in a bulletproof car, conveyed by a mass of police and troops. Despite the demonstrations, she stuck to a full schedule of appearances that lasted far into the night.

Most of the demonstrating was done by about 250 college students.

Soviet Moon Aim Is Now A Certainty

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—In five months the Soviet Union has scored a public relations victory in India at minimum cost.

The job of helping feed hungry India and propping up its tottering economy — an effort that costs billions — is left to the United States.

Moscow's campaign essentially revolves around two propaganda coups.

The first came May 3 when the Soviet Union announced it would lend $420 million to finance India's controversial Bokaro steel mill. The United States refused to back it on the grounds it is a Socialistic government-owned enterprise and might not be economically feasible.

The second came this month when Moscow agreed to sell India about $110 million worth of light tanks and MIG21 jet fighters. These are similar in capabilities to the F104 jets Washington refused to provide.

The Soviet deals were business deals, though easy credit terms were granted.

But Bokaro and the MIG's had become highly emotional subjects in India and by shrewdly moving in where the United States refused to tread the Soviet Union is reaping a harvest of favorable headlines, kind words and influence.

In recent years, the Soviets have lost influence in almost every Asian country from Japan in the north along the coast of mainland China to Pakistan, India and Indonesia where the two countries where they had a chance to hang on against Communist China.

Reds Orbit Craft With 3 Aboard

New 'First' In Space For Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union rocketed a space ship into orbit today carrying a pilot, a scientist and a doctor — the world's first space vehicle to carry more than one person.

An official announcement said it was sent aloft by a powerful kind of rocket.

As the space ship circled the earth every 90 minutes, the pilot messaged that all instruments were working well, the physician examined his colleagues and they had lunch. The space ship is named Voskhod—Sunrise.

Aboard were Col. Vladimir Komarov, the pilot; Konstantine Feoktistov, scientist; and Dr. Boris Yegorov, physician.

The booster rocket sent the space ship into an orbit that ranged from 255 miles to 110 miles above the earth, an official announcement said. Some scientists a broad considered this historic first one more big step in the Soviet race with the United States to the moon.

2-MAN VEHICLE
The United States plans to launch its first two-man vehicle some time early next year.

There was no indication how long the space craft — its size and weight not given — would remain aloft. But the official Tass news agency said this first manned orbit by the Soviet Union since the summer of 1963 was designed to test the effects of weightlessness and other stresses on man on a long flight. This was a hint the craft might break the old record of almost five days.

In the last flight, in June 1963, Lt. Col. Valery F. Bykovsky stayed aloft 54 minutes short of five days and later suffered from various ailments from the long period of weightlessness.

A taped television broadcast from the space ship today showed the occupants smiling. The film was dim and it was impossible to tell the size of the space cabin. All three men wore helmets.

"Two-way radio communications are maintained," said Tass. "The ship's crew report they withstood quite well the launch and the transition to orbit."

These three men were reported to be the crew aboard a Soviet Union space ship placed into orbit around the earth today, according to Tass, Soviet news agency. Men are, from left; Col. ## Two Nabbed In Kidnaping Of AF Officer

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Two Spanish-born members of the Castroite-Communist Armed Forces of National Liberation—FALN—were arrested in a police raid today on a charge of helping to kidnap Lt. Col. Michael Smolen, interior minister Gonzalo Borges announced.

The two were identified as Arsemio Pasarini, about 35, and Alberto Torrija, 20. They were seized in a downtown apartment as members of the five-man gang that seized Smolen last Friday.

However, the whereabouts of the others and the deputy chief of the U.S. Air Force mission to Venezuela remained undetermined.

A force of 3,000 police and guardsmen pressed the search for Smolen.

Barrios said police expected to rescue Smolen soon.

A caller identifying himself as a leader of the FALN said the terrorists would try Smolen before a secret tribunal on charges of interfering in Venezuelan affairs.

Other Manned Spacecraft Center officials declined to make any comment, other than they were following the flight with great interest. A spokesman said further comment probably would be made when more information about the mission was known.

Carpenter, the fourth U.S. astronaut to be shot into space and the second to orbit the earth, said he was surprised that the Russians had placed three men in the spacecraft.

"We have followed their program closely, and I wouldn't have been too surprised if two had been sent up, but three, well, that is a great feat," he said.

IN REPRISAL
Identifying himself as Commandante Tulio of the FALN, the caller said the kidnaping was in reprisal for a military crackdown on the FALN guerrillas.

A FALN statement labeled the abduction "Operation Viet Cong." This was a reference to the FALN's previous explanation that it was holding Smolen hostage for a condemned Communist terrorist in South Vietnam.

Smolen's wife, Marian, of Rockford, Ill., issued a statement saying she "clings to the hope that no harm will come to my husband." Earlier the Smolen family got a call from another self-described FALN spokesman who said the colonel was safe and unharmed.

FLOOD OF TIPS
Authorities were flooded by calls and tips. Weeding through the calls has hampered search efforts.

None of the latest calls, however, repeated an earlier warning that Smolen would be shot if the South Vietnamese government carried out the execution of Viet Cong terrorist Nguyen Van Troi, 19.

Troi was convicted of trying to mine a bridge outside Saigon over which U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was to pass last May.

Cairo Parley Attacks U.S.

CAIRO (AP)—The second Conference of Nonaligned Nations ended Sunday with an attack on the United States' policy in Southeast Asia. The final communique also rejected Red China's view that force is necessary to defeat imperialism.

The conference recommended negotiations to neutralize Laos, Cambodia and Viet Nam. It called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops in South Vietnam, where the United States has about 20,000 military advisers trying to prop up the Saigon regime against Communist guerrilla attacks.

It also asked for resumption of the nine-nation Geneva Conference on Indochina to work out a peaceful solution to the strife-torn area.

Space Feat Gets Praise

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Lt. Cmdr. M. Scott Carpenter, who orbited the earth three times May 24, 1962, said today the Soviet three-man space probe was a "great feat."

"There has been some talk that the flight might be capable of a circumlunar mission," he said. "If not, it could be a prelude to lunar flight."

Other Manned Spacecraft Center officials declined to make any comment, other than they were following the flight with great interest. A spokesman said further comment probably would be made when more information about the mission was known.

Carpenter, the fourth U.S. astronaut to be shot into space and the second to orbit the earth, said he was surprised that the Russians had placed three men in the spacecraft.

Caddo Dam Plan Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Engineers have approved plans for replacement of Caddo Dam near Marshall, Tex., at a cost of $1,970,000, it was disclosed today.

Under the plans, which now will be reviewed by Army Engineer headquarters here, a new dam would be built 200 feet downstream from the existing 50-year-old structure.

Engineers said the old dam is in poor condition and has so much leakage that repairs would be uneconomical.

Marshall, nearby Morringsport, La., and the government's Longhorn Ordnance plant use water stored at the Red River basin project.

Court Spurns New Study Of Texas Laborer Suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to review a suit by Texas workers who complained they were deprived of jobs because thousands of Mexican commuters cross the border daily to employment in the United States.

The Texas workers, residing in El Paso, Del Rio, Laredo, McAllen and Brownsville, were joined in the suit by the Texas state AFL-CIO.

The appeal was filed after the U.S. Court of Appeals here ruled the workers and union did not have standing to sue for an injunction against the attorney general and immigration officials.

The appeals court said the Mexicans have been given by federal authorities the status of lawfully admitted immigrants, entitled to permanent residence in the United States. It stated the Mexicans also are permitted "to become so-called alien commuters," that is persons who continue to maintain homes in Mexico but who are allowed to cross the border to establish employment in the United States.

Estimating 30,000 to 50,000 such Mexicans commute daily, the Texas workers and union in their appeal to the Supreme Court said the practical effect of the lower court decision was that the questions raised in the suit are not reviewable. The appeal asked:

"Who if not they (the Texans and union) are more aggrieved by the government's failure to apply the terms of the Immigration and Nationality Act as it was written and as it was intended by Congress?"

Red Trial For Colonel?

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A force of 3,000 police and National Guardsmen pressed the search today for the deputy chief of the U.S. Air Force mission to Venezuela who was kidnaped by Communist terrorists.

A caller identifying himself as a leader of the outlawed pro-Castroite Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN) said the terrorists would try Lt. Col. Michael Smolen before a secret tribunal on charges of interfering in Venezuelan affairs.

Worried officials conceded they had no clues in the abduction of the 45-year-old Chandler, Ariz., officer from in front of his Caracas home Friday morning by five armed terrorists.

Identifying himself as Commandante Tulio of the FALN, the caller said the kidnaping was in reprisal for a military crackdown on the FALN guerrillas.

A FALN statement labeled the abduction "Operation Viet Cong." This was a reference to the FALN's previous explanation that it was holding Smolen hostage for a condemned Communist terrorist in South Vietnam.

Smolen's wife, Marian, of Rockford, Ill., issued a statement saying she "clings to the hope that no harm will come to my husband." Earlier the Smolen family got a call from another self-described FALN spokesman who said the colonel was safe and unharmed.

Authorities were flooded by calls and tips. Weeding through the calls has hampered search efforts.

Redistricting Edict Stands, Court Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its June 15 decision in three Alabama cases that districts in both houses of state legislatures must be substantially equal in population.

It also refused to reconsider its June 22 decision holding Florida's system of legislative apportionment is unconstitutional and its decision the same day that struck down a plan of apportionment for the Illinois Senate.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered in the Alabama cases the main guideline opinion on a historic day in which legislative apportionments in Maryland, Virginia, New York, Delaware and Colorado as well as Alabama were declared unconstitutional.

The rulings, with a nationwide impact, were expected to mean increased representation in legislatures for cities and reduced rural power in legislatures.

Appeals in the Alabama cases were taken to the Supreme Court after a special three-judge federal court in Montgomery ordered a temporary plan for reapportionment of that state's legislature. Warren's opinion affirmed the action of the special court and authorized it to take further steps deemed necessary.

Threat On LBJ Charged To Boys

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Two teenage boys were arrested Sunday night on a charge of threatening the life of President Johnson.

Casper police and Secret Service agents took the pair into custody after they received a report that someone had overheard them threatening to take the life of the President, due here on a visit today.

A police spokesman said the two boys were visiting a patient at a hospital when a nurse overheard them make the threat.

Police identified the youths as Larry Rush, 17, and Ray Edward Smith, 16.

A police spokesman said the boys admitted in a statement that they had made the threats. They were held in lieu of $25,000 bond each.

Both were identified as high school pupils.

Secret Service officials in Denver, Colo., said, "At this point, we don't feel we can take the chance of not filing charges."

Police said the boys were not armed.

Brush With Sign-Bearer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two anonymous telephone warnings and a brush with a placard bearer worried President Johnson's bodyguards during his Western campaign swing, but no trouble materialized.

A youth whose Goldwater-Miller placard grazed the President's hat Sunday in Phoenix was released by police after questioning.

Police found a revolver in a pocket of another youth. He said he was carrying it to protect the President. Phoenix police released him later on bail.

As the President rode through the Long Beach, Calif., area later in the day, Secret Service men were aware that local authorities had received reports of two telephone calls, one warning directly and the other indirectly that the President's life was in danger.

A Secret Service man stood in the car following Johnson's, holding an automatic rifle. Normally such weapons are carried out of sight.

In Phoenix, detective Andrew Watzek said that on Johnson's airport arrival he noticed a bulge in the right trouser pocket of Clarence R. Fetzer, 18, and found a .22-caliber revolver inside.

Nik Policy Change Due

By The Associated Press
Hints are coming from Moscow of a lively debate over Nikita Khrushchev's policies which ultimately may produce a better life for Soviet citizens — and paradoxically lose Moscow its leadership of world communism.

With a Communist party Central Committee meeting only a month away, Premier Khrushchev seems to be sharply revising doctrine. His aim appears to be to sweep away dogmatic roadblocks impeding development of the consumer economy.

"FIRST PLACE"
The newspaper Izvestia says Khrushchev is urging "first place" for development of consumer production. A relatively short time ago, that would have been heresy. For four decades, Soviet economic policy has been tied to the notion of priority for heavy industry, which produces military and world power.

Khrushchev's decade of power has eliminated most of the popular fear of authority instilled by Stalin's terror. This stimulated a rise in public opinion pressing for a Soviet backyard measuring up to the status of the U.S.S.R. as a world power.

Governor Sees GOP In Campaign Blunder

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Mississippi's Gov. Paul B. Johnson predicted today a Republican presidential defeat and said the GOP is making a serious mistake in campaign strategy.

Johnson also told a news conference he believes Republican Barry Goldwater has lost date "but I sure am not going to vote for Lyndon Johnson" — estimated Goldwater's margin in Mississippi has dropped from about 90-10 per cent after the San Francisco GOP convention to about 60-40 per cent now.

"Republicans are not playing it as cozy as they should," he said. "I think they are making a serious mistake in the South. There are a number of party leaders and former governors who would like to support Goldwater. But some Republican leaders are insisting that all fund raising and other activities come through the regular GOP party. This has caused him to suffer some loss."

Johnson said he feels Goldwater has "backed off the states rights issue. His campaign statements are not as strong as he made in San Francisco."

EDUCATIONAL COIN COLLECTION DISPLAY

More Than 1,000 Persons Visit Annual Coin Show

Big Springers turned out in numbers Sunday to visit the third annual Big Spring Coin Club Show exhibits on the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Settles.

Dan Kester, president of the club, estimated that at least 1,200 persons saw the show the two days it was in progress. The visitors, majority of whom were not collectors, demonstrated deep interest in the displays and spent long intervals reading the legends attached to each exhibit.

Dealers who were at the show were generally pleased with the business they enjoyed the two days they were in Big Spring. Some, who were here at the 1963 show, said they sold more coins this year than last. All had good sales—especially Sunday. Saturday was slow getting under way. The World Series ball game was blamed for the drop in attendance in the afternoon and the club has already made plans to change the show date in 1965 to avoid conflict with this annual classic.

W. E. Wozencraft, who was in charge of the special exhibits, thanked the Chase National Bank, Raymond Toilet and others who provided special features for the event. He said that the displays attracted wide attention and much favorable comment.

There were no untoward events and the entire show moved through with smoothness. The club expressed its appreciation to the police department, for providing patrolmen to stand guard over the more than $1,000,000 worth of coins which were on hand the two days the show was under way.

The car struck a light pole at Fourth and Presidio Streets about 11:45 p.m. during the chase. A 16-year-old youth was turned over to the Martin County sheriff's office in connection with the reported theft, according to officers.

Two persons were reported injured in a collision at Third and State Streets about 6 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Tom Horton, Northeast Second, was reported in serious condition this morning at Howard County Hospital Foundation. Mrs. Horton was driving west on Third when the collision occurred.

Tass said purposes of the flight include: Test the new "multi-seat guided spaceship"; check the capacity to work together during space flight of a group of workers; scientific, physical and technical investigations in the conditions of space flight; study the effect of space flight on cosmonauts, and "carry out extended medical, biological research in the conditions of a long flight."

It was not clear, however, whether this latter meant the flight would be a long one.

Tass said Voskhod was launched at 10:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. Big Spring time.)

The announcement said the orbiting was accomplished "by means of a new powerful launch vehicle." No details were given.

"All systems on board the spaceship are functioning normally," Tass said.

Tommy Lee, Coahoma sixth grader and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee, was impressed by the 60th anniversary of the Herald, noted in Sunday's edition with a special section. # Lengthy Agenda Scheduled For Commission Tuesday

The city commission will consider a lengthy agenda in a regular session at city hall Tuesday night, with major items including opening of bids for the Beals Branch sewer line, presentation of plans for the project five phase of the Master Plan paving program and consideration of possible amendments of the city charter.

The meeting will also be a public hearing for properties whose owners have been notified the city plans to proceed with demolition work under the program for removal of structures classed by city inspection as fire or safety hazards. The public hearing is required before the city can undertake the work and assess the cost against the property. About 10 city lots and one tract of acreage are involved.

Bids opened previously have been turned down by the city for the Beals Branch line, which is designed to relieve the present sewer lines and provide additional capacity. The line will be from San Antonio Street southeast to Birdwell Lane and to the city sewage treatment plant. First designed to operate through gravity flow, the line has been redesigned to include use of two lift stations. Representatives of Forrest and Cotton, Dallas engineering firm which designed the line, are expected to be present for the bid consideration Tuesday night. The line is designed to handle some 6 1/2 million gallons per day.

Preliminary estimates for the project five phase of the paving program have placed the cost at about $177,000. Portions of 11 city streets, including some 50 blocks, are included in the plans.

Recommendations will be presented to the commission by John Burgess, city attorney, concerning possible revision of the city charter by amendment. The commission previously requested Burgess to make a survey of the charter and report on provisions which have been updated or superseded by later laws.

A proposal will also go to the commission from Neil Hilliard, auditor, requesting that he be authorized to make a physical inventory of all city equipment.

A request is also to be considered for authorization of advertising for bids for a new car for the fire department. Two recommendations from the planning and zoning board and three from the traffic commission will also go to the commission. The zone changes recommended are for change

Trustees Plan Routine Meeting

Routine business will take up the attention of the Big Spring school trustees Tuesday when they meet at 7:30 p.m.

Anderson and board members may discuss the meeting last week with Moody's and Standard and Poors, New York rating firms, in regard to Big Spring's getting a higher rating for bond sales purposes.

Bids will be opened on the first sale of bonds under the Master Plan program for expansion, remodeling, and new buildings, at the Oct. 27 meeting. The first issue will be for $2 million of the total $5 1/2 million voted last May.

Demo Speaks Up For Bush

AUSTIN (AP) — Marshal Formby of Plainview, chairman of the Texas Democrats for Bush Committee, said here today the group is interested "in the return to conservative representation in the Senate for the people of Texas."

Formby said the committee of Democrats supporting Republican nominee George Bush includes E. B. Germany and Ed Drake of Dallas; Dr. Abner McCall, president of Baylor University; former Gov. Allan Shivers of Austin; Dorset Street, Graham; W. N. Bursett, Marshall; Robert Tucker and Rush Moody Jr., Midland; Doyle Taylor, Wynnboro; Charles Eichenberger, Tyler; Arthur Baird, San Antonio; Claude Gilmer, Rock Springs; F. B. Cochran Jr., Corpus Christi; and Chris Fox, El Paso.

"This committee of outstanding Democrats for Bush is a spontaneous movement to send a man to Washington who will vigorously represent the people of Texas in a manner which is dignified and one who will have the interests of the people of Texas foremost in mind," Formby said. "We believe George Bush is that man."

Race In Britain Gets 'Disorderly'

LONDON (AP) — Britain's rowdy national election campaign moved into its final phase today with subtle political arguments drowned in a rising tide of noise and disorder.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, 61, the Conservative party leader, and Harold Wilson, 48, the Laborite chief, shouted themselves hoarse in an effort to be heard above the din.

Their lot and that of their colleagues was hard. In meetings after meetings, attendants have had to frog-march hecklers from halls and toss them out of doors.

Tempers shortened with the approach of the voting Thursday.

NEW HOUSE

About 28 million British men and women will elect a new 630-seat House of Commons and give either the Conservative or the Labor party a mandate to govern this country for the next five years.

If the Conservatives win, Douglas-Home will remain prime minister. Wilson will replace him at No. 10 Downing St. if the Labor party wins.

Both men are leading their parties in a national campaign for the first time. Douglas-Home is trying to give the Conservatives their fourth straight triumph. Wilson hopes to end the Laborites' 13 years in the wilderness.

The campaign began sedately enough following the end of the old Parliament Sept. 25. Wilson argued: "It's time for a change to get Britain moving." Douglas-Home countered: "Protect your prosperity by keeping the Conservatives in power."

Now the two leaders, living on their nerves, deplore the degeneration of this campaign into what some experts regard as Britain's most disorderly political contest of this century.

"It would be a national tragedy if vital issues are muffled by noise," Wilson said.

IS TRADITIONAL

Douglas-Home said ordinary heckling — the give-and-take between a speaker and some member of the audience — is traditional and has a place in British politics. But rowdy behavior is something else again, he said. "It must stop."

No one knows why the mood has changed. One newspaper writer said: "Suddenly it's like the night the fox got in the henhouse and dad was too drunk to find his gun."

For election purposes Britain is divided into 630 districts, each averaging about 50,000 voters and each sending one member to the House. The districts have their rival Conservative and Labor party headquarters and sometimes a Liberal party one as well.

It is in these local headquarters that the grass roots work is done. There is something surprisingly similar about all of them — a paint peeled atmosphere, a mixture of discomfort, undying optimism and tea.

LARGER AIM

Douglas-Home's district is West Perthshire. Wilson represents Huyton, east of Liverpool.

Both Douglas-Home and Wilson are regarded as certain to be returned to Parliament.

Their larger aim is to win the prime ministership by leading their party to control over the House of Commons.

Many of the great men of British politics are not in the arena this time. Sir Winston Churchill, 90 next month, and Harold Macmillan, 70, have retired from Parliament. Both are former Conservative prime ministers. Two towering Labor party figures — Hugh Gaitskell and Aneurin Bevan — are dead.

At dissolution the old House of Commons had 360 Conservatives, 261 Laborites, 7 Liberals and 2 Independents.

Tory, Labor Party Race Looks Close

LONDON (AP) — In 14 hours of balloting next Thursday British voters will decide whether to keep their Conservative government or to accept Harold Wilson's challenge and end 13 years of Tory rule.

At this stage many signs suggest a photo-finish between Wilson's Labor Party and the Conservatives led by the prime minister, Sir Alec Douglas-Home. Some pollsters give the edge to Douglas-Home, others to Wilson. Betting odds make Labor the favorites they have been since 1962, despite a Conservative comeback from months in which their future looked desperate.

Labour has lost the last three elections — 1951, 1955, 1959. Last time the Tories were led by Harold Macmillan, now retired from politics, and Labor by the late Hugh Gaitskell. Thus Douglas-Home and Wilson are leading their parties into national elections for the first time.

Essentially the 36 million eligible voters — about 28 million actually will cast ballots — face this broad issue:

Just how can Britain today, its empire shed, its economy often threatened, its influence marginal, find a new role in a world of changing alignments?

Part of the answer says Douglas-Home, lies in keeping "our independent nuclear deterrent arm" to be used for peace and conciliation. He asserts nobody would listen to a country which skulks, as he says Labor wants to do, beneath the American nuclear umbrella.

Almost all the answer, counters Wilson, depends on getting Britain going again by ending what he calls "the dreary commercialism" of Conservative rule and by strengthening and expanding the economy. He says costly nuclear posturing impresses nobody because "it is not British, it's not independent and it does not deter."

Douglas-Home and Wilson both rose to party leadership last year. Each has had to project his personal qualities and political talents to the nation.

BIG CONTRAST

In style as in background the two men present a study in contrast. Yet each shares a streak of steely resolve and a reservoir of stamina.

Douglas-Home, at 61, has a long career of government service which began when he accompanied prime minister Neville Chamberlain to sign the Munich agreement with Hitler.

To become prime minister a year ago Douglas-Home gave up his ancient titles and his seat in the House of Lords. His frail look and a long, wartime spinal illness led many of his political friends and foes to underestimate him. But he has won a reputation for being a skilled negotiator and a tough fighter. He has led the often-divided conservatives to a fighting recovery in the past year despite periodic gaffes that stem from his patrician outlook. Thus he preferred in a nationwide broadcast to "donations" his government would give needy old folk as if old-age pension payments were acts of charity.

Wilson, 48, looks round and impressive with an iron-gray crop of hair and an alert appearance. Questioners rarely trip him but his manner of knowing all the answers has seemed to alienate some voters, especially women. He attended state schools, winning scholarships that took him through a distinguished career at Oxford where by 21 he had become a lecturer. Ten years later he was in Labor's first postwar cabinet.

"SPIDER IN WEBB"

Douglas-Home says of Wilson and the Laborites: "He's the socialist spider sitting at the center of the web at Whitehall. No white paper approach for them. Instead of facts, slogans; instead of figures, rhetoric. Their tactics seem to be drawn half from the chamber of horrors. Their program is half-baked. Inevitably they will nationalize more as policies begin to fail. Controls will become tighter until Britain is a completely centralized state."

Wilson says of Douglas-Home and the Tories: "He is an elegant anachronism. Sir Alec threw in every distortion, every misrepresentation he or his speech-writers could invent to conceal the truth about economic difficulties. His speech convicts him either of deliberately misleading the British public for electioneering purposes or of living in a make-believe world into which the hard facts of economics and paying our way are not allowed to penetrate."

Conservatives base their appeal on twin themes. They say they have achieved prosperity and secured peace. They argue Labor, with outdated doctrines and divided leadership, would ruin Britain's living standards. "It's YOUR standard of living — keep it with the Conservatives," cry the bold blue and white Tory posters.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold: ♠ 42 ♥ 6 ♦ 8743 ♣ AJ9752
The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♠ 2 ♣ ?
What do you bid?
A.—Pass. While it is tempting to double, such strategy is not recommended for someone as sure to rescue. If West should now run to hearts and partner doubles that bid, you will not know what action to take.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable. You have 30 part score and as South you hold: ♠ A976543 ♥ 94 ♦ AQ ♣ 76
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ Double Redouble 2 ♦ 2 ♣ Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Despite possession of the seven-card suit, our preference is for a pass. Partner's redouble does not necessarily show spade support. A three heart bid, however, must designate a very good suit. When you bid two spades, ignoring partner's redouble which calls for your pass on the next round, partner should have gathered that you had a very big spade suit. Nevertheless, he chose to bid hearts, and that would be our choice for the final trump.

Q. 3—As South you hold: ♠ K53 ♥ A108 ♦ AK107 ♣ Q83
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 NT Pass Pass 2 ♣ Pass Pass 2 ♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. When partner passed your one no trump bid he made it clear that there was no hope to go to hearts. He is now merely competing for a part score with some very weak hand containing perhaps five diamonds.

Q. 4—As South you hold: ♠ AQJ ♥ AK62 ♦ 1084 ♣ J74
The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1 ♠ Double Redouble West Pass 2 ♦ ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. When partner passed your one no trump bid he made it clear that there was no hope to go to hearts. He is now merely competing for a part score with some very weak hand containing perhaps five diamonds.

Q. 5—As South you hold: ♠ 8 ♥ J98643 ♦ 109742 ♣ Q
The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♠ Double ?
What do you bid?
A.—Pass. It is poor tactics to anticipate that the double of the one spade bid will be left in, and a bid of two hearts is not recommended as offering safety. With hands of this kind it is better to let nature take its course.

Q. 6—As South you hold: ♠ AK107 ♥ K84 ♦ J108 ♣ AJ8
The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass Pass 1 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—You have 12 points and a balanced hand. After a previous pass it is our practice to respond with two no trump, which is not forcing. The lack of a full diamond stopper should not be a serious objection with this type of holding.

Q. 7—As dealer you hold: ♠ A9532 ♥ K76543 ♦ A ♣ 6
What is your opening bid?
A.—One spade. On hands of this type, where considerable bidding may be expected from other players at the table, it is better policy to treat the heart suit as if it were the same length as the spades. In this way both suits may be shown in the most economical manner during the competition.

Q. 8—As South you hold: ♠ K52 ♥ AQ4 ♦ A73 ♣ K1064
The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1 ♠ 1 ♥ ?
What do you bid?
A.—While this hand contains the textbook requirements for a jump to three no trump, our own preference is for a cue bid of two diamonds which is forcing to game. This might more readily lead to a slam in the minor suit if partner's hand is slightly unbalanced, a slam which might not be available at no trump.

10-Gallon Hat On Whodunit

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Cartwright met an attractive scoundrel Sunday night on "Bonanza." True to the traditions of television's Old West, we knew that he was a scoundrel almost immediately... he sneaked $50 from Adam's wallet and he kept nipping whiskey from a pint bottle.

Of course, the Cartwrights of the Ponderosa are so rich Adam didn't miss the money. But when a pretty girl's father was shot dead a half hour later, we knew that earnest Adam shouldn't trust that fellow for a minute.

Of course, it worked out in the end. But there was an awkward and phony little scene in which Adam had to pick up a sofa pillow and lo and behold there was the missing bullet everyone had been hunting for. The bullet proved the scoundrel was the killer.

That's the way NBC's "Bonanza" rides along, tall and proud in the network saddle, year after year.

Sunday night's simple, leisurely tale was a whodunit disguised in a 10 gallon hat "Bonanza" in spite of all the guns, is not a particularly violent show.

It does have a plus in the magnificent scenery—it really soars in color—handsome horses and colorful Western costumes. It is a nice, comfortable program and never makes any demands of the viewer who can even tune in late and catch up with the plot.

Famous Gospel Singer Struggles With Illness

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
CHICAGO (AP) — Mahalia Jackson, who struggled from poverty in Louisiana to international fame as a gospel singer, is now waging the most critical battle of her career.

The onetime washerwoman is recuperating slowly from a serious heart ailment in a Chicago hospital. She's doing it the only way she knows how, she says, "with faith and cheerfulness."

Her tiny hospital room has overflowed with a daily stream of cards, letters and flowers, many from Europe and Asia. "There were so many flowers," she said with a soft laugh, "that one morning I woke up and thought I was dead."

The 200-pound singer entered Little Company of Mary Hospital Sept. 15. "I had a terrible pain in my chest," she recalled. "The doctors told me my blood pressure was over 200."

Doctors have ordered Miss Jackson to remain in bed indefinitely. Visiting is restricted and no telephone calls to her room are permitted.

"I never knew so many people loved me. I never knew so many thought so much of my singing," Miss Jackson, 50, said Sunday in a bedside interview.

Pythian Sisters Convene Here

Pythian Sisters are shown at Cosden Country Club Saturday evening when a banquet was held in the Blue Room honoring the grand chief. With Mrs. Choc Smith, standing left, deputy grand chief of District 10, are grand officers of the Grand Temple of the State of Texas. They are, standing, Mrs. Fred Walker, Fort Worth, grand guard; Mrs. J. C. Rochelle, Paducah, grand protector; and Mrs. Jim White, San Angelo, grand secretary. Seated are Mrs. F. C. Cullen, Abilene, grand manager; Mrs. D. M. Smith, Crockett, grand senior; and Mrs. N. E. Greenwood, Longview, grand chief.

Pythian Sisters Hold District Meet Here

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Beverage Can Holds Blades

Dear Heloise:

I have always kept a jar in the medicine cabinet for my husband's used razor blades. Today, when looking for a new jar, I spied an empty beverage can with a flip-top opener, and decided it was just the thing.

The razor blades slide through the opening just as slick as you please, and the can fits perfectly in the medicine cabinet. (I am going to spray the can to match my bathroom decor.)

I now have a safe, disposable holder for used razor blades. And you should see how many blades the can holds. . . . Thomas Lancia

Gals, this is a wonderful safety factor, too. . . . eliminates the possibility of broken glass on the bathroom floor.

I dropped a glass jar the other day and it went into a thousand pieces all over the floor. . . . Thanks to you all for teaching me to use wet toilet tissue to pick up all the microscopic bits of glass. NEVER use a broom or mop to pick up broken glass. Tiny particles stick to mops and brooms and this is dangerous.

That very day I covered all glass bottles with adhesive-backed plastic paper, so that if one is ever dropped again, there will be no dangerous unseen bits of glass or a mess to clean up. This adhesive-backed paper may be removed from any bottle and used over and over again.

And while we are on the subject of razor blades, do you know that you can rinse a safety razor under hot water to remove the bits of hair, shake it hard, put the razor and all in about one inch of mineral or baby oil, and the blades will last umpteen times longer?

My husband has a heavy beard and used a new blade daily until he started using this method. Now one blade lasts as long as seven shaves without nicking or rusting. . . . Penny Pincher, Too

Dear Heloise: If you don't have enough pillows when an emergency arises place a quilt or blanket in a pillow case and use for a back rest in the sick room.

Large plastic bags are wonderful for placing under the sheet on the sick bed, as they stay in place much better than the hard or stiff rubber sheet. . . . An Admirer?

Dear Heloise: I have a small favorite pan, but it has no cover. After searching all over town without luck, I made my own.

I cut a paper plate the correct size, turned it upside down on a square of foil, and brought the corners of the foil together, twisting them into a handle. Works beautifully. . . . Nell McNicoll

Dear Heloise: Instead of putting my hand washables in the hamper and then weeding them out later, I keep a laundry bag taped to the inside of my closet door. It's so much easier than plowing through the clothes hamper every wash day. . . . S. VanLinderen

Dear Heloise: Here is a tip for those who have a zig-zag-type sewing machine:

When curved seams are sewn (armhole, seat of pants, etc.) use a zig-zag stitch about one-eighth inch wide, 20 stitches per inch (as for a buttonhole).

To prove the merits of this method, sew a curved seam using a regular stitch, then pull on the seam. . . . notice how the threads break?

This doesn't happen when a zig-zag stitch is used. . . . R. Rowe five past grand chiefs, and recognized the representatives of 16 temples.

Following the luncheon recess, the group reconvened at 1 p.m. with Mrs. Smith presiding for the school of instruction and exemplification.

A banquet honoring the grand chief was held in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club at 6:30 p.m. The banquet tables were decorated in arrangements using a yellow and white theme.

Cheryl Whiteside was heard in two vocal selections, "Light One Little Candle" and "I Believe."

After the banquet, Mrs. Merrick presided for an initiation ritual in Castle Hall with the assistance of a degree staff from Tahoka. The silver drill was applied to the project of the grand chief which is the remodeling of the upstairs section of the girls dormitory at the Pythian Home in Weatherford.

Next year the district meeting will be in Tahoka.

Forum Unit Hears Mrs. Rutherford Discuss Education

Mrs. H. H. Rutherford spoke to the Modern Woman's Forum on education in the local schools when the group met Friday in the home of Mrs. Hugh Duncan, 1600 Tucson.

The new grading level system was detailed, and the approach to modern math in the elementary levels was discussed. She told of the high qualifications of the local teachers and praised the Howard County Junior College.

Plans were made for delegates to attend the fall board meeting of Western District to be held in Marfa, Oct. 16. Mrs. T. G. Adams program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Refreshments were served to 11 members.

The next meeting will be Oct. 22 in the home of Mrs. J. P. Dodge, 610 Gollad.

Guinness Praises Experiment Work

NEW YORK (AP)—Experimental theater activities here surpass those in London, according to Sir Alec Guinness.

The English star of "Dylan" told a meeting of the New York Drama Desk, a journalistic group: "I feel the work being done in the little off-Broadway theaters far exceeds in range and quality the comparable activities in London." Only three theaters there, he reported, go in for experimentation.

Bedsread Styles Take New Trends

Shopping for a bedsread? Note these two new trends: Quilted tailored types showing up in more moderate price brackets, and humble woven throw spreads moving up into higher-style fabrics.

Royal dimensions abound, with King and Queen sized spreads increasing in variety.

Miss Leona Kennedy Weds Lindon Coates

Miss Leona Sue Kennedy became the bride of Lindon Ray Coates Saturday afternoon in a ceremony performed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Tarbet, 1112 Sycamore. Tarbet, minister of the Northside Church of Christ, performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Tarbet sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, 1317 Mesquite, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Coates, Garden City.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white satin brocade with belted skirt and fitted sleeves ending in petal points.

Marionette Show Started As Hobby

NEW YORK (SP)—The smallest theater in the city has room for only 26 spectators but provides full-time work for the two men who began it as a hobby 12 years ago, Francis J. Peschka and W. Gordon Murdock.

The performers at the Little Players are five hand puppets, operated by Peschka, and from October to May each season present weekend repertory ranging from Shakespeare to opera for subscribers.

Originally shows were put on for four years, but became so popular that four years ago the two men quit other jobs, and, with the help of a foundation grant, became marionette impresarios.

A reception was held in the ceremony with the honored couple and parents receiving the guests. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth accented with white wedding bells at the corners. The centerpiece was a praying angel in white, encircled with blue carnations and white roses. The arrangement was flanked by blue flowers and featured the couple's initials and a small white Bible. The cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Bob Brannon and Mrs. Tarbet. The bride attended school in Big Spring and the bridegroom is a graduate of Coahoma High School.

LBJ: 'Quick Draw Never Won West'

RENO, Nev. (AP) — President Johnson said today Barry Goldwater sees the government as such a terrible thing that he seems to be "running against the office of president, instead of for it."

Johnson took the slap at his Republican rival as the President swung into what promised to be a 20-hour day of campaigning in five Western states — Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and Idaho.

Goldwater was not mentioned by name. But Johnson, in a speech for the Nevada capital of Reno, left no doubt about his target.

"One candidate," he said, "is roaming around the country saying what a terrible thing the government is. Sometimes I think he is running against the office of president, instead of for it."

"We here in the West," said Johnson, "know how the West was won. It wasn't won by a man on a horse who thought he could settle every argument with a quick draw and a shot from the hip."

"OUR HERITAGE"
"We here in the West aren't about to turn in our sterling silver American heritage for a plastic credit card that reads: 'Shoot now, pay later.'"

And, Johnson said, the West wasn't settled "in saloon fights or by galloping vigilantes" but rather by sober and responsible men and women.

The President spent the night in Nevada, talking to local politicians and resting in the penthouse of the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas.

Roulette wheels whirred and slot machines played their tinkling melody more than 20 stories below him. But he never saw these features of Las Vegas life since his route to and from his quarters was remote from the bustling casino.

The President flew to Nevada after a Sunday that saw him go to church — "The first day of the week belongs to God" — in Goldwater's hometown of Phoenix, Ariz. Later, he did some speechmaking, which wasn't exactly nonpolitical, in Long Beach and San Francisco, Calif.

Big crowds were the rule along the way, especially in the Long Beach area, where the curbside throng probably was as large as any Johnson has seen during the campaign.

But if the President saw more people, he also saw more Goldwater signs. There were more in Long Beach alone than in all the other cities Johnson has visited on his vote-seeking travels.

LARGE CROWD
During Johnson's formal speech a few miles from Long Beach Goldwater partisans tried to blot out his words with "We want Barry" chants. But they were no match for the public address system at Johnson's disposal.

The Phoenix crowd was a big one, too, and Johnson had an intimate encounter with a Goldwater placard. One held by a young man struck his hat. Johnson said it was an accident. Some other witnesses weren't sure.

Two anonymous telephone calls warning that the President's life was in danger kept Secret Service men watchful during his visit to the Long Beach area.

All through the West, Johnson has talked about keeping the peace, maintaining prosperity, showing compassion in social programs, and promoting frugality in government.

Private Rites For Comedian

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eddie Cantor will be buried as he spent most of the last 11 years of his life — apart from the public that made him a top star during a golden era of American entertainment.

Groman Mortuary announced today that funeral services for the 72-year-old comedian, who died of a heart attack Saturday night, will be private.

Cantor was the last of a trio of great comedy figures to pass from the Hollywood scene in recent weeks. Gracie Allen of the Burns and Allen team died Aug. 27, and Harpo Marx of the Marx Brothers succumbed two weeks ago.

Cantor died at his Beverly Hills home. Two of his daughters, Mrs. Natalie Metzger and Mrs. Edna McHugh, were at his bedside. Two other daughters, Marilyn Cantor and Mrs. Janet Gari, live in New York. A fifth daughter, Marjorie, who had been the comedian's secretary, died of cancer May 17, 1959.

Cantor was born Edward Iskowitz in New York City Jan. 31, 1892. He came out of the slums with a vitality that soon captured audiences wherever he performed.

Barry Is Still Stymied In Contest Aim

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona heads into the final three weeks of campaigning still thwarted in efforts to dramatize the back-to-the-Constitution stand he calls the overriding issue in the presidential contest.

In wide-ranging attacks on President Johnson in his coast-to-coast journeys, the Republican presidential nominee has tried out a variety of approaches to the voters with results that do not seem to have satisfied him fully.

He has assailed the President for promoting coexistence with the Communists. He has argued with administration officials over the reliability, deliverability and control of nuclear weapons.

Goldwater has pictured himself as a champion of Social Security while condemning the Johnson proposal for tax-financed health care for the elderly. He has called for a five per cent annual reduction in income taxes, promising at the same time to balance the budget.

HITS SPENDING

He has charged the President with "reckless spending" and mocked Johnson as a man who carries a "shopping list" from which he invites voters to select their benefits.

Goldwater has called for a "return of morality" to the White House. He has sparked some of his loudest applause by jibing at Johnson's former association with Bobby Baker and asserting that "the shadow of scandal falls across the White House itself."

While he generally has avoided direct statements on civil rights, he told rallies in the prosperous suburbs of Philadelphia — where the so-called white backlash is presumed to exist — that minorities are running the government under Johnson. He has investigated against crime in the streets.

These issues have been offered singly and in groups, with careful checks made of the reaction to each. Judging from the scattergun approach the GOP nominee still is using, none has shown up as a sockwaller by itself.

Goldwater keeps coming back to the constitutional issue of "What kind of a country are we going to have tomorrow?" He charges that Johnson has embraced socialism, which he described in Lubbock, Tex., as "not evil" although highly undesirable.

BIG HAND

He told an opulent audience at the World Affairs Council in Los Angeles that the people don't want a paternalistic government such as he said Johnson is conducting.

The crowd gave him a big hand when he said he wants to "go back to the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence."

There is some rather widespread feeling among his advisers that if Goldwater had stuck closely to the conservative vs. liberal theme from the beginning, he might have made more headway in efforts to unify his own party and to chip away conservative Democrats from Johnson. A number of associates wish that such matters as the control of nuclear weapons hadn't been brought up at all.

Farm Boss Role Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department report implies that American farmers apparently tend to value their own management ability too cheaply.

The report said that real estate values increased 6 per cent during the year ended July 1, following a similar increase the year before.

But these increases came about largely because of a big demand for land based on earnings that assigned little value to farm management ability.

Government statistics show that in 1963 farmland returned a national average of about 5.2 per cent on its market value. But had these statistics—and those who buy land for farming purposes—assigned 5 per cent of cash farm receipts to management, the land earnings would have been only about 4.1 per cent.

"An allowance as high as 10 per cent, frequently charged for professional farm management services, would reduce the rate (of return) to about 3 per cent," the report continued.

The report implied that perhaps if buyers would take the value of farm management into consideration, they would be less likely to pay increasing prices for land.

Nixon Speaks In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he believes Republicans will return to the party fold to boost Sen. Barry Goldwater's chances of beating President Johnson.

Nixon said Sunday one of the aims of his 36-state tour is to cut down on the estimated 25 percent of Republicans who reportedly are switching to Johnson.

"People are becoming assured that Goldwater is not a reckless man and they are going to come back," he said. The former vice president said he expected Goldwater and Johnson to be neck and neck by Nov. 3.

Expert Sees No Shift In Russia's Berlin Aim

BERLIN (AP)—Former U.S. foreign-policy adviser Robert D. Murphy thinks the Soviet Union is as determined as ever to drive the United States and its Allies out of West Berlin.

Murphy said in an interview here Sunday he believes the present absence of pressure in Berlin results not from a Soviet desire for an entente with the West but because of Soviet difficulties with Red China and Moscow's other international problems.

"I think that their determination is just as positive today as wide and in Europe would be shattered if we did not," the former international trouble-shooter for Presidents Roosevelt and Truman declared.

Murphy also advocated firm action if the Communists close East Berlin to Allied military personnel in uniform. He said the U.S. government seems prepared to agree to a denial of Allied access to the Soviet sector and that this would be "simply another step backward in the process of forcing us out of the area."

"I think that goes further than that because I believe that this Eastern sector has to be opened up in one way or another, and I think it can be done over a period of time," Murphy said.

Murphy said if the Russians should blockade Berlin again, the United States should break it by force.

Four Prisoners Injured In Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Four inmates were injured Sunday in the second performance of the 33rd annual Texas Prison Rodeo, attended by 20,000 persons.

The rodeo pits prisoners with prison-raised bucking broncos and Brahman bulls.

Gerald Lee, serving a 20-year term from Houston, suffered a broken leg when he was pitched from a horse named Jitterbug in the bareback riding contest. The other three inmates did not require hospitalization.

Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr opened the rodeo with brief remarks pointing out that the "money goes for worthwhile purposes which are not furnished by the state."

George J. Beto, recovering in a Houston hospital from a recent farm accident, by saying: "Dr. Beto is a great American, a great Texan and a great friend of yours and mine."

Rodeo sidights included the Duke of Paducah, the prison's own jailhouse Beatles from cell block 9, and inmate clowns putting on a political rally.

The clowns walked around the arena carrying banners which read "Work for Carr and more paroles," "Is there a lawyer in the house?" and "7 million Dewey buttons, cheap."

Women inmates were not permitted to ride in the rodeo. Other entertainers included Santa Rosa Palomino Club of Vernon, a riding aggregation.

Church Meet Mulls Policy

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Episcopal Church, which regards itself a "bridge" between Protestantism and Catholicism, went into policy-making sessions today after hearing a plea to act—and not just talk—in behalf of Christian unity.

The church's presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, also urged Christians to translate their principles into deeds on contemporary issues of social justice.

But there were dissenting voices concerning both matters. There also were signs of change as the 3.5-million-member denomination's triennial general convention began work in an era of mounting and unprecedented fraternity among different churches.

For the first time, three Roman Catholic priests are attending the two-week meeting as observers. So are several Eastern Orthodox churchmen.

A Devotional For The Day

Mine eyes have seen thy salvation, which thou hast prepared before the face of all people. (Luke 2:30-31)
PRAYER: "Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee, and worthily magnify Thy holy Name, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."
(From the 'Upper Room')

Living Memorial

The Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation, someone has said, was established not to build a memorial but to be a memorial. The Foundation's big campaign to finance its future goals opened with a $100 a plate dinner in Washington yesterday, which would have been the great lady's 80th birthday anniversary. She died on Nov. 7, 1962.
The fund-raising, it was disclosed by Adlai E. Stevenson, chairman of the Foundation, on Sept. 18, starts with a $25,000 contribution from the estate of the late President Kennedy. The goal is $25 million. Considerable sums already have been received since the creation of the Foundation by the late President and the granting of its charter by Congress in April 1963.

The Foundation will continue programs initiated by Mrs. Roosevelt. The Foundation also has undertaken to add two wings to the Hyde Park Library. In the future it will focus on the fields of human rights and community relations.

Sites Need Preserving

Archeology and history studies have been raised to division status in the National Park Service. Director George B. Martzog Jr. announced that this recognizes "the mounting importance of archeological and historical research in park conservation."
We also hope that it will mark a movement to persuade Congress to expand and diversify federal acquisition and preservation of nationally important historical sites and areas of archeological significance.
The National Parks Service now has 165 historic areas — parks, battlefields, memorials, parkways, monuments, sites, cemeteries — under its jurisdiction. While they well cover Revolutionary and Civil War events, many more would be justified in the historical fields of the "winning of the West" and the social economic and political development of the nation.
The United States has officially neglected the preservation of significant archeological sites, except those which happen to be in the national parks. River development, land improvement, vandalism and souvenir hunters threaten important archeological treasures — such as sites of the mound-builders' civilization in the Mississippi basin — that should be put under governmental protection for scientific study and controlled public visitation.

Texas has a number of historic sites of national significance and archeological sites, several of recent discovery, worthy of permanent federal preservation. But San Jose Mission in San Antonio is the only one of either category now under National Park Service jurisdiction.

The Texas delegation in Congress should interest the National Park Service in preservation of those historical and archeological sites in this state that are of genuine national value and significance.

David Lawrence Campaign Of Gimmickry

WASHINGTON — Each of the two presidential candidates evidently thinks that his opponent is running under false colors. It is hard enough for the public to understand the confusing slogans and characterizations which are emerging on the stump these days, but it appears even more difficult for the candidates to understand each other.

President Johnson, for example, said in Indiana he is not sure that "there is a real Republican candidate" running against him. Senator Goldwater, on the same day in Texas, said he wishes the Democrats would re-name themselves the "Socialist party" as he argues that the Johnson administration favors big-government controls that breed "socialism."

THE TRUTH of the matter is that both the candidates are concentrating on a form of campaigning which is based on a fallacy—namely, that the general public doesn't understand issues and that these can be misrepresented and votes gained just the same.

An old campaign trick is to give the impression that the opposing candidate is lacking in integrity. Another "gimmick" is to use innuendoes and inferences which imply that the opposing candidate lacks brains or the capacity to hold the office for which he is running.

BUT WHAT makes the whole thing so puzzling is that this is the assumption of well-educated men, high up in political organizations, who are familiar with the trends of American thought but who have come to the conclusion that the bulk of the voters can be swayed by passions and prejudices as well as by epithets and sweeping denunciations.

All four nominees — for the presidency and the vice presidency on both tickets — are making the same kind of campaign. They rely on charges and countercharges. The speeches have a strange sameness about them, irrespective of the side from which they come.

EVIDENTLY the whole strategy on both sides rests on the belief that

James Marlow Aspects Of Race Fascinating

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1964 presidential race will be remembered for more reasons than the monotonous repetition of limited ideas and the fact that the future direction of the country was at stake.

The similarities and contrasts between the candidates, President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater, are enough to fascinate historians and political scientists for years to come. There's the picture of the two men feeding the public their endless diet of slogans: Johnson preaching "unity" and "morality" and Goldwater intoning about "freedom" and "morality."

While any serious debate about these abstractions is almost totally lacking, the crowds which turn out for both men cheer and applaud although it's unclear whether they're approving the men, their ideas or what they represent.

There have been no surprises in the campaign. The basic difference in the philosophy of the candidates on the government they say is needed was long known and clearly established before the campaign began.

IN THIS growing society, which both men are looking at, Johnson thinks government needs to be big to meet its responsibilities while Goldwater wants it smaller, with its responsibilities far more limited and some eliminated.

There's a difference even in the way they get their ideas out. If there had been no news conferences, Johnson probably would have thought them up. He uses them indoors and outdoors, particularly outdoors in a new twist, leading newsmen and beggars in a fast walk while answering questions.

Goldwater, who in the past sometimes talked too fast when he talked off the cuff, relies now mostly on written speeches and avoids news conferences. He hasn't had one since August.

LAST WEEK when he addressed editors he refused to answer their questions, saying it wouldn't be fair since he didn't let their reporters ask him questions.

The two men disagree just as much on how to handle foreign policy as they do on the problems at home.

And there's a difference in their campaign tactics: Their conduct with crowds in particular.

Goldwater has been campaigning since August. Actually, counting the primaries earlier in 1964, he's been campaigning all year. Johnson made a number of so-called non-political trips that served his political purposes.

Hal Boyle Sleepers Grind Teeth

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: One out of 10 Americans grinds his teeth while asleep.

Psychologists have found that couples wedded 20 years or more have less marital tension than those married 10 years or less.

A corner of your skin no bigger than a postage stamp contains four yards of nerves and 23 nerve endings. What'll science find out next?

The men who put you to sleep for an operation want to take off their masks and make themselves better known. That's why the American Association of Anesthesiologists has raised a $100,000 public relations fund.

Here is a 4,000-year-old recipe to cure baldness: take equal parts of the fat of a lion, a hippopotamus, a crocodile, a goose, a serpent and an ibex and apply liberally. It doesn't make much difference whether you rub it in or drink it. In either case you'll grow as much hair as the average crocodile.

Quotable notables: "Work and love — these are the basics. Without them there is neurosis." — Dr. Theodore Reik.

If you stood at the deepest bottom of the Atlantic Ocean, you'd have to be 5 1/2 miles tall to get your head out of the water.

People are their own most essential medicine. A French physician who studied shipwrecks found that 90 per cent of shipwrecked sailors died within a few days from "loneliness."

Did you know that Sweden plans in 1967 to switch from left-hand to right-hand driving? The change will cost the country at least $80 million.

Man took a great step toward honesty in 1879. That's when some wise guy invented the cash register — and made it that much harder for an opportunistic employe to buy out the boss.

Some of the most memorable signs of our times are posted on the outdoor bulletins of churches. Such as this: "Life is fragile. Handle with prayer."

Fortune tellers in America take about $650 million a year by informing the rest of us what our luck may be.

In his will George Washington left five swords to five nephews with the stipulation they be left unsharpened from bloodshed "except it be for self-defense or in defense of their country and its rights and in the latter case to keep them unsharpened and prefer falling with them in their hands than to the relinquishment thereof."

It was Dag Hammarskjold who observed, "The end of all political effort must be the well-being of the individual in a life of safety and freedom."

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. We are at the appropriate time of year for cold shots, so I'll discuss the subject.

Let's look factually at what is available to prevent respiratory infections; what shots will do and what they won't do.

There simply is no vaccine which will keep us from catching all types of colds.

There is no shot which will halt or cure a cold once it has begun. There is no point in getting a shot when you "feel a cold coming on." It's too late then.

Finally, since colds are caused by viruses rather than bacteria, it is a fallacy to believe that "shot of penicillin" will control a cold, either before or during the cold. If, after a cold has inflamed the nose and throat, a secondary infection develops from stray bacteria, then and only then is penicillin useful. It is a waste of money to ask for penicillin every time you have a cold. In fact, indiscriminate use can result in some people becoming sensitized to the drug, and unable to use it in safety after that. Hence many doctors refuse to give such shots unless the need is clearly evident.

Jesus taught that "God is a Spirit." In other words God does not suffer the limitation of a body.

Around The Rim Where Our Convictions Are

This and that:
A survey conducted by the American Association of Advertising Agencies shows that the people in this country have the strongest opinions on the following subjects, in this order:
1. Religion, 50 per cent; 2. Bringing up children, 44 per cent; 3. Family life, 36 per cent; 4. Education, 33 per cent.

Politics should figure in there somewhere, especially during presidential-election years.

WANT A RECIPE for cooking crow? An old suggestion plucked from a library of outdoor fact and fiction embraces the subject this way:
"Crow: Fried—The crow is skinned, cut into the desired number of pieces and washed thoroughly. Parboil until tender, in water having a small amount of salt added. Brown some onion in butter and then put the parts in for frying."
If you have to eat crow, I guess that is as good a way as any.

ALMOST ANY butcher will tell you that there is very little demand for lamb in this area. As far as that goes, Texans everywhere have very little taste for the meat.

A woman in San Francisco once served me a lamb chop. Before I sat down to the table, I would have gladly swapped it for a can of potted meat. Turned out it was quite tasty.

Texans raise sheep and lambs to export, there is no doubt about that. The state is the leading producer in sheep but one of the lowest consumers of lamb.

The national average per capita consumption of lamb is about five pounds annually while Texans eat only 2.5 pounds per capita.

Some states, such as California, consume as much as 13 to 15 pounds per person annually.

ONE OF THE city's compelling personalities says he has no fear of the threat of automation.
"They only make robots to replace people who work," he pointed out.

A NATIONAL authority on advertising says the line "no reasonable offer refused" should never be used.
He calls it the last resort of a despairing salesman.

Richard Starnes The Mining Boom Is On In Canada

MONTREAL—Due to a long-standing appointment with a moose—a real moose, not a fraternal one—our hero recently passed several days in an abandoned trapper's cabin in a remote, desolate quarter of northern Ontario.

Contact with the outside world was sketchy, depending entirely upon a battery-powered transistor radio and infrequent, unscheduled and unpredictable visits from a single-engine float plane piloted by a carefree young man mainly under the impression that he is immortal.

THE MOOSE presented no problem. As with many a male before him, he got into trouble over romance. Bad trouble. The romance, as it so often is, was phony, being nothing but the love song of a lonely lady moose skillfully imitated by Jimmy Couchie, Indian guide, Renaissance man and a camp cook of the first magnitude.

Well, more of the moose some other time. This is going to be a piece about the impact of Canada's mineral-mining boom.

After the first day the moose had been gathered to his ancestors and there was nothing to do but chop wood, patch the roof, wonder if it would stop raining long enough for the float plane to get back into the lake and listen to the radio. Mostly, it offered hillbilly dirges interspersed with weather reports—and stock quotations in detail that would be surprising in New York.

AS WITH MOST other North Americans, our hero was vaguely aware of Ontario's mining boom, but the truth of it didn't strike home until one evening when the stock quotations started.

Texas Gulf Sulphur was the first one given, and at once Jimmy stopped banging the frying pans and listened intently. Texas Gulf was quoted at $14 and Jimmy grunted in satisfaction. "Sixty—one and three quarters," he yelled at Dan Beaucage, another Indian guide, who is somewhat hard of hearing. Dan nodded sagely.

ONTARIO HAS been caught up in a speculative fever ever since Texas Gulf announced last April that it had found major deposits of zinc, copper and silver near Timmins, which is about 500 miles north of Toronto. In the six months that have elapsed since Texas Gulf confirmed its find Ontario—and much of the rest of Canada—has been in a frenzy of speculation, exploration, wheeling and dealing, rumors of new finds, a stampede to stake claims and the inevitable rash of investigations of questionable deals conducted by both Canadian and American authorities.

UNPROVED AND worthless stocks spiraled dizzily upward on a flood of rumors and descended just as rapidly when the rumors turned out to be baseless. One Toronto securities analyst warned that cynical machinations were behind the gyrations of the rumor mills.

"Many of these rumors are simply manufactured by floor traders or bucket-shop operators who hope to ride the stock in question," he said.

BUT IN SPITE of the predictable presence of the vulture, the Timmins strike has already made a number of people very, very rich. And although none of these new finds are remotely comparable to the Texas Gulf bonanza, nobody knows when a new test boring will bring up evidence of another rich strike that will convert some wildcat penny stock into a valuable security.

Holmes Alexander The Johnsons Ride South

ALEXANDRIA, Virginia—You don't have to ride the Lady Bird Special very deep into the Old Dominion to wonder whether this lady is going to tame the Goldwater tiger in the South or come back inside it.

Police estimated 10,000 persons at this breakfast-time, small-town stop. Not all of them had come in peace. President Johnson had ridden this far with his wife and elder daughter. He saw home-made signs of "LBJ for Bobby Baker," "LBJ for McCloskey," and a derisive "Tweet Tweet Lady Bird."

THERE WAS some eloquent absenteeism in the club car that abutted the rear platform. Congressman Howard Smith, Democratic patriarch of Northern Virginia, wasn't there. Sen. Harry Byrd, first in the hearts of all Virginians and beloved by the President, had declined the train ride with thanks. Sen. Willis Robertson, a conservative in his own right but no part of the Byrd organization, wasn't there, either.

Such was the frost that featured the First Lady's initial stop in Goldwater country below the Potomac, but there was plenty of sunshine, and her keynote speech of the Dixie trip would spread some more.

MRS. JOHNSON spoke graciously of a skilled campaigner. She quoted Robert E. Lee. She integrated "white citizens and Negro leaders" in a single sentence. She bespoke her love and the President's for the entire Southland.

She was followed by the President, who smilingly bombed the Goldwater citadel by deploring "radical" proposals and promised to continue "the quest for peace with reason and restraint." Lynda Bird, the tall and handsome daughter, quickly identified herself with the school children who made up much of the crowd, and called upon "all the young people" to help her daddy through the election—and afterwards.

ONE WHO HAS traveled with Goldwater in Dixie, and sampled this much of the Johnsonian counterattack, begins to get nervous about GOP assumptions that the South is sewed up for the Republican ticket. Nobody does the soft sell and sings the love themes as expertly, as appealingly, as consistently as this Lady Bird does. Her native Alabama drawl will lengthen with the train trip. Her claiming of "knifolk" which did so well for the Democratic ticket in 1960 is still a trump card wherever the Stars and Bars fly.

AGAINST THE Lady Bird light touch, the President's firm grasp of political realities are contrasted Barry Goldwater's gruff and serious accusations that the Johnson administration is the enemy of Southern traditions and national liberty.

What outcome is predictable? The Democrats have come to soothe. The Republicans have come to arouse. The true temper of the South is now put to the crucial test.

Artistic Link?
MONTREAL (AP)—Works of art in stone, bronze, wood or concrete may one day link Canada from coast to coast.

A project, to be known as the Way of the Arts, has been launched here.

A number of internationally acclaimed artists are given room, board and a salary, on condition that they work in public and leave their creations behind them when the job is finished.

Eleven artists from 13 countries are at present working on great blocks of stone on the slopes of Mt. Royal. Their work may be sent to points across Canada later.

The Quebec Symposium Society hopes other provinces will sponsor similar programs.

Name's Bourbon

PARIS, Ky. (AP)—Jacob Spears of Pennsylvania erected one of Kentucky's first distilleries in Bourbon County and named for the county.

Later, the name of bourbon was applied to any whiskey made of corn according to this distillery's formula, which produced a heavy-bodied, melon liquor of deep amber color.

Texans Provide LBJ Considerable Support

By The Associated Press
How do the people of Texas feel about Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater as election time draws near?
The voters' thinking cannot, of course, be neatly summarized and packaged. In interviews around the state, Associated Press found that specific issues did not seem to have had much impact on the Texas voters. Some, especially Negroes, cited the civil rights issue, and some cited Viet Nam, but most of those interviewed spoke in generalities about the candidates. Certain viewpoints were expressed again and again:
"I don't like Johnson and I don't like Goldwater; I think it's a very bad choice."
"I know Johnson can get the job done, and I don't like Goldwater's radical ideas."
"Goldwater will maintain our way of government and not let it go socialistic...he is a man of principle."
MANY FOR LBJ
The AP survey found considerable support for Johnson simply because he is a Texan. Some appeared reluctant to admit frankly such a provincial motive, although one woman in Clarksville said: "I'm strong for LBJ because he's from Texas and I think he's got the right idea about things."
A sales representative in Dallas, a Goldwater stronghold, put it this way: "when you're in that voting booth, it's going to be hard to resist the urge to keep a Texan in the driver's seat."
"I'm going to vote for Johnson because since he took office within 30 minutes after the death of Kennedy he has been doing what he's supposed to be doing," said Antonio Rodriguez, 27, a printer in San Antonio.
A service station owner in McAllen also admired Johnson's ability to do a difficult job. "I think LBJ's got to win. I see it as an overall thing. We've got a man who can get things done. You've got to do a little appeasing at times, and you can't always go straight down the line."

Paper Neutral In Campaign

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas News will be neutral in the presidential campaign.
The News endorsed the Republican ticket in 1960.
The News said Sunday that "in the balance sheet this year, the Republican ticket... ranks stronger, certainly, in the embodiment of the conservative philosophy for which this newspaper stands... But the ticket is not strong in the factors of leadership, experience and training. And there are doubts whether Sen. Goldwater could command the unity of Congress or his own party."
"Lyndon Johnson... demonstrated that he could govern in a crisis... Regrettably, that leadership so far has been along a path more liberal than the News likes... One heartbeat away is Hubert Humphrey, a man of undoubted sincerity who now claims to be more moderate and mature than the flamboyant liberal who came to the Senate 16 years ago. But his philosophy still favors the big government concept which, in its ultimate, would have destructive consequences to the republic."

Auto Accord Hope Wanes

DETROIT (AP) — Hopes for an end this week to the United Auto Workers' strike against General Motors Corp. all but vanished over the weekend as a spurt in at-the-plant agreements died off.
Only six local-level agreements, which supplement the national contract, were reached Saturday night and Sunday, leaving 88 still to go out of 130. This came in the wake of a Friday-Saturday thrust that lifted local-level agreements to 38.
GM and the UAW reached settlement on a national contract last Monday after an 11-day nationwide strike against GM in support of its national contract demands, most of which it won.
No back-to-work order is anticipated until the bulk of local-level disputes are settled. These include such items as ventilation, relaxation of smoking rules, more drinking fountains, company-provision of coveralls and the like.
"I'm for Goldwater because I am for people with backbone, not wishbone," Houston salesman Walter Zimmerman said. "I think it is the only way to maintain our peace in the world by strength for the future years come."
"I think Sen. Goldwater is the only candidate who offers America a real choice as a man of principle," said Kenneth Theander, 24, a student at South Texas Junior College.
"I'm voting for Goldwater because he is a conservative...I believe he is our only hope," said Mrs. Jean Foester, a San Antonio apartment house manager.
Goldwater opponents also describe him in strong terms.
"I worry about Goldwater, I think he's a dangerous man," said Peter Specht, a graduate student in Dallas.
"Goldwater is such a fanatic," said Dorothy Satterwhite, a cosmetics demonstrator.
"Goldwater is too contradictory," said Mrs. J. D. Woodell, Amarillo housewife.
A business executive from West Texas had this to say: "Let's face it: Lyndon doesn't have a real friend in Texas. But he knows how to get things done. People may dislike him personally, but they have to admire his ability to work with people. All that stuff about the 87 votes and the way he turned a fast buck in Austin is old stuff. J. Evetts Haley has written it all up in that book, 'A Texan Looks at Lyndon,' but everybody in Texas knows about it anyway and it doesn't make any difference. People know Johnson can do the job as President and they're going to vote him in big."

River Flooding In N. Carolina

KINSTON, N.C. (AP) — The Neuse River inched toward a crest nine to ten feet above flood stage today and waterlogged residents of this eastern North Carolina city resigned themselves to five or six more days of the worst flooding in a generation.
The rain-swollen Neuse was expected to crest at 23 to 24 feet late today or early Tuesday. Civil defense officials had left that 400 to 500 persons had left their homes and they said more were evacuating every hour. No casualties were reported.
The evacuees, from farm areas and low-lying areas in Kinston, were being housed by relatives and friends or in three emergency shelters set up by the Red Cross at Stallings Airfield, a recreation center and the National Guard armory.

New Job Corps Director Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Otis Singletary, 43, a Southern educator, is coming to Washington to head the new job corps, a major program in President Johnson's war on poverty.
Johnson's appointment of Singletary, a Mississippi native and University of North Carolina chancellor, was announced over the weekend.

Bigger Dixie Role Sought By Governors

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Southern governors began their annual session today, differing on political issues but united in their belief the South must rise to a bigger and better role in the nation.
The 30th annual Southern Governors Conference formally opened this morning after a pre-session political skirmishing Sunday. The meeting of 17 chief executives, from south of the Mason-Dixon Line, Maryland to Texas, ends Wednesday.
The conference quickly stepped into the South's part in space programs.
"We have only opened the door, but I am glad that we have not been reluctant in our preparation to meet the great challenges of the nuclear and space age," said West Virginia Gov. William Wallace Barron in his committee's report on nuclear energy and space.
He noted the southern governors' creation in 1956 of the Southern Interstate Nuclear Board, "The nation's only independent, public-supported, inter-state advisory and development agency in nuclear energy and space fields."
Barron said that by working through the board "the southern region has gained a new dimension for cooperation and accomplishment in the highly competitive areas of science and technology."
Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission brought a personal message from President Johnson, touching on what Seaborg called "a growing partnership" between the states and the federal government.
"I believe we are on the right track in working together to solve these problems," said the President's message, adding that the Southern Interstate Nuclear Board is "a fine example of cooperation to meet the problems of common concern."
POLITICAL TRENDS
News conferences Sunday brought up the various trends of political thought in the South.
Alabama Gov. George Wallace said he had the support of Govs. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana and Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi in a states-right proposal to bar federal intervention in public school affairs.
Wallace said he would offer southern governors a resolution endorsing a U.S. Constitution amendment that would give states exclusive jurisdiction in operation of public schools. However, Wallace conceded that he has little chance of getting the unanimous approval needed for adoption of resolutions by the conference.
Wallace said he would talk with other governors before deciding whether to force a vote on the resolution at the final session Wednesday.
FINDS FAULT
Kentucky Gov. Edward T. Breathitt found fault with Wallace's plans. If the proposal "is like I understand it," Breathitt said, "I am opposed to it." Breathitt said he favors federal aid to education "as long as you maintain maximum control at local levels."
McKeithen said he would support the Wallace resolution.
On Election prospects, McKeithen said he is in a neutral role in the presidential race but it is his feeling, as of now, that the Republican nominee, Barry Goldwater "in all probability will carry Louisiana."
Breathitt supported the Democratic nominees and said he thinks civil rights is a dead issue in the campaign.
Wallace said Goldwater has more support in Alabama than any GOP presidential candidate of the past. He said he still has not decided whether to support Goldwater.

Estes Probe Is Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional report says former Texas agriculture tycoon Billy Joe Estes got no special favors from government officials through bribery, political influence or pressure.
However, the report on Estes, now awaiting appeal of fraud charges growing out of the collapse of his financial empire, criticized federal agencies for lack of coordination in various investigations of the tycoon.
James Naughton, counsel for the subcommittee that made the report, said there was no evidence that Estes ever knew President Johnson although he claimed to have met the then vice president once at a Washington reception.
Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater also charged the Estes case in charging wrongdoing in the Kennedy-Johnson administration.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Republican senators are demanding new public hearings in the Bobby Baker case before the Nov. 3 presidential election.
The Senate Rules Committee to question Baker — former Senate Democratic majority secretary — and three other witnesses about charges of a $25,000 kickback to the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.
The three Republicans — Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky — made the demand in a letter to the committee chairman, B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C.
The other witnesses they want questioned include insurance agent Don B. Reynolds, who made the kickback charge, and Democratic fund raiser Matthew H. McCloskey, who Reynolds said made the kickback on a government contract.
Congress is in recess and the Republicans may have trouble drumming up a quorum for any further hearings.

Hotel Due To Be Tallest Structure

NEW YORK (AP) — A $25 million hotel billed as the tallest in the world is to be built in the business district of New York.
Sam Recile, president of the Southern Land Title Corp., the builder, disclosed plans for the structure.
Called the "Place Vendome," the 750-foot building will follow a French motif. It will have 1,118 rooms.
The world's tallest hotel is the 47-story Waldorf Astoria in New York. It rises 625 feet. The world's largest hotel in rooms is the 3,000-room Conrad Hilton in Chicago.
Recile gave no starting or completion dates.
GAINESVILLE (AP) — The Gainesville Daily Register endorsed the Republican ticket today.
The politically independent newspaper endorsed Republicans Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon in 1952, 1956 and 1960.

Poll Shows Barry With Slight Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest poll by Louis Harris says Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater picked up small support since a similar survey made in mid-September.
The poll results reported Sunday night showed 38 per cent of the voters polled favored President Johnson and 34 per cent supported Goldwater.
Eight per cent of those polled still had not made a choice, the poll showed.
The results showed a 2 per cent boost in favor of Goldwater over the mid-September poll.

Vandals Set Fire To School Building

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Weekend vandals set fire to a two-room building at Rhodes Junior High School, tried to burn a science building and damaged a number of typewriters.
Damage was estimated at $6,000.
Police said a special education building was virtually destroyed by a fire ignited in a closet. The thugs tried to set fire to the science building from both inside and out.

Beef Breeding Stock Culled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big downturns in beef cattle prices late last year and during the first half of this year apparently are encouraging cattlemen to return to a higher rate of culling their breeding stock.

The Agriculture Department said in a livestock situation report that the big beef supply being produced this year reflects an increased number of cows going to slaughter.

For several years, many cattlemen had engaged in light culling in the interest of increasing cattle numbers. They were encouraged to do this by favorable prices of slaughter animals.

But late last year, cattle prices started in a big decline that did not let up until about midsummer this year. Many cattlemen blamed increased imports of beef. The price decline tended to discourage further expansion in herds.

Puzzle of Saturday, October 10, Solved

TEXAS POLITICS: GOP SORTIE SET

By The Associated Press

Former Vice President Richard Nixon met with Republican Senate candidate George Bush in Arlington Sunday to discuss a GOP campaign sortie to Houston Oct. 23.

Nixon conferred with the Houston oilman at the Inn of the Six Flags at Arlington, between Fort Worth and Dallas, where he stayed overnight Saturday en route to California on a 36-state Republican tour.

In a press conference, Nixon said Bush is "running so strong" in Texas that he (Bush) is helping the presidential election prospects of Sen. Barry Goldwater in Texas.

Earlier last weekend, Bush raised more questions about the Rural Texans for Yarborough committee chairman, R. T. Price of Bryan.

Bush seeks the U.S. Senate seat held by Ralph Yarborough, Democrat.

NOT "EMPLOYED"

In a campaign statement, Bush said he had been advised by a U.S. Agriculture Department spokesman, in answer to a query, that there is no legal restriction against Price engaging in political activities when he is not "employed and paid" by the department.

Price serves several days each month as chairman of the state Agricultural and Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Bush said this answer raised the question of whether "on the several days per month which Mr. Price works for the department, does he resign as chairman of the Rural Texans for Yarborough?"

Bush said Yarborough's naming of Price as head of his campaign committee "places Mr. Price and the Agriculture Department in a highly explosive situation."

Meanwhile, Yarborough announced he will campaign this week in Dallas, East Texas and along the Gulf Coast.

FAMILY EVENT

He and Mrs. Yarborough will interrupt their tour Tuesday to celebrate the 100th birthday of the senator's father, Charles Richard Yarborough, in a family gathering at Chandler, Tex., Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges will speak at Yarborough appearances in Galveston Tuesday night and Lake Jackson Wednesday.

Yarborough planned to visit Dallas, Mesquite, Irving, Grand Prairie and Corsicana today, and go to Athens, Malakoff, Tyler, Chandler and Galveston. His Wednesday itinerary includes LaMarque, Texas City, Dickinson, Alvin, Freeport, Angleton and Lake Jackson.

Bill Hayes, Republican candidate for congressman-at-large, in a rally speech at Killeen Saturday called his opponent, Rep. Joe Pool, a "convenient conservative."

Hayes said Pool is "conveniently conservative when campaigning in Texas, but has been selfishly liberal on many important votes in the House."

Youth Crime Fight Plans Still Conflict

NEW YORK (AP) — How do you prevent a juvenile delinquent who has committed an adult crime from becoming a habitual offender?

In the continuing debate over juvenile delinquency, experts have come up with two diametrically opposed proposals. Some experts claim the only preventive is widespread newspaper publicity, including the name of the juvenile for all to read.

Others say the best method is to shield the young offender from the glare of publicity.

In Montana, District Court Judge Lester H. Loble claims to have cut crime, carrying out a law he fathered in 1961, which provides for open court hearings for juveniles accused of felonies. This includes newspaper coverage which names names.

FELONIES DOWN

Judge Loble says that juvenile felony cases are down 49 per cent compared with the three-year period before 1961.

He asserts, "The twin enemies of crime are fear of punishment and fear of publicity."

Most of the police chiefs and prosecuting attorneys interviewed around the country by The Associated Press agree with Judge Loble's view that juvenile offenders' names should be published. They claim such publication has a deterrent effect.

Probation and parole officers generally oppose publication of names. Juvenile Court judges are split nearly 50-50.

Those who oppose publication of young lawbreakers' names do not agree on a reason as do those favoring publication.

Some think names of juveniles should not be published because it would be too harsh a punishment. Others think publication should be withheld because it is exactly what the offenders want.

AFTER PUBLICITY

Juvenile Court Judge Frank Breitenbach of Los Angeles says he knows of juvenile gangs who try to top each other for space in the press.

Donald E. MacFarlane, referee in Hennepin County (Minneapolis) Juvenile Court, says, "Many kids are looking for somebody to give them publicity on anything, even their troubles with the law. I feel that when we publish names we only give them a little chance to gloat over their so-called accomplishments. Many of those kids carry their clippings with pride."

In Boston, Juvenile Court Judge John J. Connelly said the whole purpose of juvenile courts is "that children are immature and prone to make mistakes and vulnerable to outside influences and from within themselves. Their chances in later life should be protected."

SOLID CITIZENS

William Cribbens, youth services consultant with the Chicago police, agrees. "Too many people who are jammed up as kids turn into good solid citizens. I've seen too many young people who would have been irreparably hurt if their names had been given out."

Asst. Prof. Abraham Alcabes, Department of Social Work at New York University, says, "The youngster is better dealt with as a person who needs help. When he is defined as a delinquent by the press, he is more likely to act that way."

Cuba Travel Restudy Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to review a decision that the secretary of state may prohibit travel of U.S. citizens to Cuba.

The decision was given by a three-judge U.S. district court in New Haven, Conn., in a case filed by Louis Zemel. His counsel appealed directly to the Supreme Court, contending the case raised substantial questions as to the secretary's authority to restrict foreign travel of citizens "in peacetime, and the constitutionality of such action."

Zemel, a U.S. citizen, in 1962 held a passport which he requested the passport office in Washington to validate for travel to Cuba as a tourist. His request was denied with the explanation that only persons whose travel might be in the best interests of the United States, such as newsmen and businessmen with previously established interests, were eligible.

Zemel later filed his complaint in federal court in New Haven. He said he wished to satisfy his curiosity about the state of affairs in Cuba so as to make him a better-informed citizen.

Wheat Value Hike Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Grange wants the government's new wheat stabilization program—which it supported in Congress—to provide growers a higher return than at present.

Herschel Newsom, master of the farm organization, said today he will work for a higher monetary value for domestic marketing certificates issued to farmers who comply with the program by planting within acreage allotments. The certificates—issued by the Agriculture Department and paid for by millers—are worth 70 cents a bushel this year and will have a value of 75 cents next year.

The certificate supplements income from sale of wheat at a much lower market price than has prevailed for many years.

U. S. Weather Mostly Mixed

By The Associated Press

Weather conditions were mixed across the nation today.

There were subfreezing temperatures in New England, near 80-degree weather in parts of Southern California, rain in Florida and moderately warm air over the Midwest.

At the same time the mercury dropped to 29 degrees in Lebanon, N.H., early this morning. Blythe, Calif., registered 78 degrees.

Showers sprinkled the east coast of Florida and the lower Florida coast had heavy rains. Palm Beach, Fla., was drenched by another inch and three-quarters of rain, bringing the 24-hour total to nearly seven inches.

Showers and a few thunderstorms formed a band stretching from Texas to Wisconsin. Meanwhile, officials said 400 to 500 persons in Kingston, N.C., abandoned their homes to escape the rain-swollen Neuse River in the eastern part of the state.

Guns Called 'Sport Goods'

EL PASO (AP)—One of two El Paso store owners accused of violating the National Firearms Act said that a seized stock of guns consisted only of sporting goods and collectors' items.

Pedro Munoz, in making this statement to a reporter, also disputed a $1 million value placed on the arms cache by U. S. Treasury and customs agents. He said the figure was $40,000 at most.

Munoz and his father, Merced Munoz, failed to appear for arraignment earlier this week and federal authorities were studying whether they could be extradited from Mexico. The two men own the Sun Furniture & Hardware Co. in El Paso.
