Hundreds Visit With Mahon

Hundreds of well-wishers and supporters thronged the Community Room of First Federal Savings and Loan here this morning to visit with Congressman and Mrs. George Mahon. Members of the Eighth Grade American History class at Goliad Junior High School, taught by Mrs. A. N. Hodges, are shown here getting his comments on current events. It was among many classes of students attending the informal gathering. The congressman was to be a guest of the ABClub at noon today, then planned to visit in Stanton, before going to Colorado City where he will meet with friends in his home town Saturday.

Labor Party Wins Election In Britain

LONDON (AP) — The Labor party ended 13 years of Conservative rule today by winning control of the House of Commons—but by a slim margin which can mean trouble ahead. Harold Wilson, who wants to abolish Britain's independent nuclear deterrent, led his party to victory and becomes prime minister. At 48, he is youngest one in the 20th century.

WILSON

The retiring prime minister, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, 61, went to Buckingham Palace to present his resignation to Queen Elizabeth II. At the time, vote tabulations showed Wilson's party with exactly half the 630-member House of Commons, but with other winning seats to be reported. Wilson was forecasting "just a bare majority."

new House convening Nov. 3. Grimond said he would be willing to cooperate with the Laborites to get a government going if the Liberals and Laborites reached an understanding. Grimond did not say what his price would be.

Many of the districts late in reporting the outcome of the voting Thursday have been in the Conservative column for generations.

Despite the Laborite gains, Conservative headquarters refused to concede. Results from Tory strongholds later today were certain to cut into the Laborite margin.

Douglas-Home 61, the aristocrat who led the Tories into electoral battle for the first time, spent the night tightlipped inside No. 10 Downing Street, the prime minister's official residence.

Wilson, pipe-smoking economist and former Oxford University lecturer, called the result "moderately encouraging." He shielded away from an outright claim of victory but party officials made it for him.

ROWDY CAMPAIGN The voting followed Britain's rowdiest campaign of modern times but failed to bring out the record poll expected. The indications were that fewer than 26 million of the nearly 36 million eligible had voted.

New Soviet Union Leaders Reassure People Of Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson received a peace message from the new Soviet government today and sent back word that the United States will "persevere steadfastly" in its own "quest for peace."

MOSCOW (AP) — With Nikita Khrushchev toppled from power and pushed into obscurity, the new leaders of the Soviet Union sought today to reassure the people that de-Stalinization and economic improvements will continue. This was the first policy indication given by Leonid I. Brezhnev, the beefy, brooding protégé of Khrushchev who emerged from a secret Communist party meeting as the party's first secretary — the top job here. It was contained in a statement in the party paper Pravda.

The mystery long associated with the Red brick walls of the Kremlin was wrapped about the Khrushchev departure. There was no explanation for the 227 million Russian people of what had become of the man who led them for almost a decade, or why he had been dropped by the wayside.

LENINIST LINE The Soviet Communist party newspaper, Pravda, published a front-page statement that the party "firmly and consistently carries into life the Leninist general line worked out at the 20th and 22nd congresses of the party."

Khrushchev delivered his famous speech against Stalinism at the 20th congress in 1956.

The 22nd congress, five years later, set long-term goals of improved economic conditions and the attainment of communism. Any attempt to drop these policies would probably meet strong popular resistance, many diplomats in Moscow believe.

Filipino President Back In Manila MANILA (AP) — President Diosdado Macapagal returned today from a 12-day visit to the United States and said the two countries' friendship is as firm as ever.

Red Chinese Set Off First Atom Explosion

'U.S. Threat' Called Motive

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced it exploded its first atomic bomb in the western region of China at 3 p.m. today.

Radio Peking announced the test was a success. It was the explosive result of a long drive by Mao Tze-tung's Red regime to join the world's nuclear club.

The announcement was made in a broadcast by the official New China News Agency.

It did not immediately say whether the test was held in the atmosphere or underground.

RUSK FORESAW U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk forecast Sept. 29 that the Communist Chinese might soon explode their first test device.

The Russians extended technical aid to China for a time, then dropped it in the rising difficulties between Peking and Moscow.

"MAJOR GAIN" The broadcast account said: "The success of China's nuclear test is a major achievement of the Chinese people in the strengthening of their national defense and safeguarding of their motherland, as well as a major contribution made by the Chinese people to the cause of the defense of world peace."

"The success of this test was due to the hard work and the great coordinated effort of China's workers, engineering and technical personnel, scientific personnel and all working personnel engaged in building up China's national defenses as well as various regions and departments throughout the country who, under the leadership of the party, displayed a spirit of relying on their own efforts and making enterprising endeavors."

"The central committee of the Chinese Communist party and the state council warmly congratulate them."

The announcement came less than 24 hours after Moscow had exploded a political bombshell of its own—the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev. China's atomic disclosure and the retirement of Khrushchev are likely to raise China's Mao Tze-tung's stature among world Communist leaders.

To the Chinese, he is already the No. 1 spokesman for international communism. The rift between Mao and Khrushchev with the Russian's sometimes abortive efforts to keep Moscow in the driver's seat for the Communist movement, was doubtless a factor in his downfall.

The Chinese announcement came, ironically, at a time the new leadership in Britain is charting plans to end that nation's own nuclear deterrent program.

"U. S. THREAT" The government statement said China was forced to conduct nuclear tests and develop nuclear weapons. "China cannot remain idle and do nothing in the face of the ever-increasing nuclear threat posed by the United States," it said.

U.S. officials have pointed out that some time must elapse, possibly years, before China can turn its first experimental explosion into what can be regarded as a nuclear force.

In any case, Red China can be expected to seek to become the spokesman of the nuclear club for what is sometimes called the Third World—that lying between the United States and the Soviet Union.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson canceled plans today to spend the weekend in Texas. George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, said only, "Obviously, we have a number of important developments." Although the Sunday appearance at Corpus Christi is off, it was learned that the President still plans campaign stops Monday in San Antonio, Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas.

Jury Ponders Murder Case

EL PASO (AP) — A district court jury deliberated late Thursday night the fate of William McKnight, charged with murder in the shooting of a man he says was going to marry his common law wife.

McKnight, 23, is a graduate student at Texas A&M. He is charged with slaying Kelley Parker in front of the home of Bernice Flach's parents.

Testimony was presented to show that McKnight and the Flach girl became intimate in high school. Later they told their parents they were married and moved into the McKnight home.

Witnesses said that the day of the shooting, Bernice informed McKnight's mother she was marrying another man.

Vet Pension Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed into law a bill that guarantees some increase for every veteran or veteran's widow now receiving a pension under the federal veterans pension program.

The White House, disclosing this today, said the President signed the measure Tuesday.

It has been estimated that the new law will add $80 to $85 million a year to the cost of the program.

Yogi Out As Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra will not return as manager of the pennant-winning New York Yankees Friday, climaxing an unprecedented World Series aftermath.

The announcement was made at a press conference only a few hours after it was disclosed that Johnny Keane had quit as manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards defeated Berra's Yankees in a hard-fought seven-game series.

Berra has accepted a new two-year contract in the Yankee organization as a special field consultant under general manager Ralph Houk, who made the announcement at the press conference.

"As far as any announcement of a new manager is concerned, there are a number of men under consideration as Yogi's successor and a decision is expected within a week," said Houk.

Hospital Honors Volunteers Here

Cited For Volunteer Efforts

Two volunteer workers at the Big Spring State Hospital, Mrs. R. T. Piner, center, Big Spring, and Mrs. Myrtle Pulliam, right, Midland, were recognized for more than 7,000 hours of work given through the volunteer service council at the hospital, in ceremonies Thursday night. Dr. Jack Burnett, chairman of the council, cited some 85 individuals and groups for volunteer efforts.

Ceremonies in the Alford Building of the Big Spring State Hospital Thursday night honored individuals and groups who have contributed to the volunteer program of the hospital, with 55 persons recognized for contributions from 100 to 7,000 hours.

Special certificates were also presented to 28 individuals and groups who have maintained regular weekly programs at the hospital.

Recognized for giving some 7,000 hours each to the volunteer program of the hospital were Mrs. Robert T. Piner, Big Spring, and Mrs. Myrtle Pulliam, Midland.

A former Midland woman, Mrs. W. B. Riddles, now living in Corpus Christi, was recognized for contributing 4,500 hours to the program while she was a Midland resident. Also of Midland, Mrs. C. A. Clarke and Mrs. Theo Ferguson were recognized for 3,500 hours, and Mrs. Lucille Ammon for 2,500 hours.

Cited for 2,000 hour contributions were two Big Spring volunteers, Hope Leyva and Jack Smith. Mrs. Ben J. Robinson, Midland, was recognized for 1,500 hours. Three persons received recognition for 1,000 hour contributions: Consuela Brilo, Midland; Mrs. H. C. Dewlen, Midland; and Mrs. A. A. Marchant, Big Spring.

Dr. Jack H. Burnett, chairman of the volunteer council, presided at the ceremonies. Reports were also given concerning progress of three projects supported by volunteer efforts, the cemetery project, All-Faith Chapel and Halfway House.

The volunteer workers were praised by Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the hospital, for their contributions to the hospital program.

"I am proud that you are part of this organization," Dr. Harrison said. He also told of projected plans for additional volunteer efforts, including establishment of a "halfway house" for women patients and increased emphasis on the musical program. He said the musical therapist would visit the Rusk hospital to study the program there.

He pointed to the possibility of keeping musical productions under way at the hospital here throughout the year, similar to the presently under way rehearsal for a variety show, to be presented by the Webb AFB Officers Wives Club.

Mrs. H. C. Dewlen, Midland volunteer, reported on the recent Texas Volunteer Service Council meeting in Tyler and Mrs. Hila Weathers, coordinator of volunteer services, on the Dallas.

Agents Mum On Jenkins

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he had no information on Walter W. Jenkins that would have led him to question the personal conduct of his top aide before Jenkins' two arrests on morals charges became public.

But the President said in a statement Thursday night, once he was told Wednesday of the arrests — one of them in 1959 and the other last week — he asked Jenkins to resign. Jenkins promptly did so.

"No man I know has given more personal dedication, devotion and tireless labor," Johnson said of his aide for 25 years.

But he added: "On this case as on any such case, the public interest comes before all personal feeling."

AWAITS REPORT The President said: "Within moments after being notified last night, I ordered Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI to make an immediate and comprehensive inquiry and report promptly to me and the American people."

Today the Washington Post reported it had learned the police forwarded data on Jenkins' 1959 arrest to the FBI that year and that in April 1961 this data, including a copy of his fingerprints record, was forwarded to the Secret Service, which had requested the information.

What the Secret Service did with the data is shrouded in secrecy, the Post said. Neither the FBI nor the Secret Service would comment immediately.

At the time Johnson was vice president and Jenkins was his administrative assistant.

Johnson's statement, heavy with compassion for 46-year-old Jenkins, his wife and six children, one of whom was named "Lyndon" after the President, was distributed to newsmen when they returned with the President from his New York campaign trip.

REPLY TO GOP In effect, it was a reply to Dean Burch, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who earlier in the day had accused the President of cover-

Old Settlers Swap Stories Thursday

COLORADO CITY — This Sweetwater. She was born in 1882.

The oldest couple present was Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cranfill, who were married April 9, 1905.

Recognized as "old-timers" who had come the farthest distance were Ima Dot Moerer and Mrs. F. S. Conway, who traveled from Corpus Christi to attend the reunion.

Harry Ratliff, veteran Colorado City attorney, presided for the ceremonies, and brief remarks were made by R. W. Whipkey, Big Spring Herald publisher who is a C-City native; and County Judge Elmer Martin.

It was, largely, just a day of honest-to-goodness old-time visitin', and swappin' of many tales of "remember when . . ." (See Page 9-A for Mitchell County Fair results.)

They gathered by the scores, in C-City's unique and growing museum, and had a wonderful time just talking about the "good old days." A number of old-time Coloradans were back from other towns for a visit and to renew acquaintances.

Special plaques went to several.

The youngest Mitchell County present happened to be Carol Ann Winn, just a little over six months old. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Winn, she was the fourth generation of her family present at the reunion.

Oldest person present was Mrs. Lutie Wilson, and it happened that Thursday was her 92nd birthday. She stood and beamed while the crowd sang "Happy Birthday."

Oldest person present who was born in Mitchell County was Mrs. Carey Trammell, who had come "back home" from

Industry Facing Problems With Oil Use At New Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — With U. S. oil consumption at a new peak of nearly four times what it was in 1929, how soon will we reach the bottom of the domestic oil barrel?

The answer is about the same as it has been for many years—namely, that, based on current rate of use, we have enough oil to last at least 12 to 13 years even if no additional reserves are discovered. And there is no reason to doubt that new supplies will be found, although the rate of exploration has ebbed somewhat in recent years.

This appraisal comes from the Independent Petroleum Association of America, an organization of drillers and producers. In the IPAA's view, the reason for the decline in drilling for new reserves is an inadequate financial return in today's oil market—not the lack of new oil to find.

A bigger problem, and one of more immediate concern to independent producers, as IPAA sees it, is the finding of markets for presently available production. It estimates that shut-in productive capacity is about 2.6 million barrels daily. This is oil that is left in the earth under state programs for proration of production or simply not produced because of lack of market demand.

Proved reserves of crude oil have decreased somewhat in the last four years, the IPAA reported, giving these figures: At the end of 1960, proved reserves in this country were estimated at 31.6 billion barrels. They rose to 31.7 billion barrels at the next year but at the end of 1962 had dropped to 31.3 billion and at the end of last year were estimated at 30.9 billion barrels.

Warning Sign Is Up

The warning sign has now been hoisted for West Texas to abandon petty in-fighting and join forces in fighting for needed water supplies.

Elsewhere in this issue is a story quoting W. Sims Gideon, the general manager of the Lower Colorado River Authority as saying that his agency expects to protest an application by the Colorado River Municipal Water District to impound a lake on the Colorado above Robert Lee.

He questioned whether "West Texans can take the water out of our lakes." By "our lakes" he presumably means the Highland chain of Buchanan, Granite Shoals, Marble Falls, Lake Travis, Lake Austin which have a combined conservation capacity of 1,772,000 acre feet of water. This is about four times what the CRMWD is asking in the new lake; it is two and a half times the combined capacity of Lake J. B. Thomas and the proposed lake.

The statement in general is ingrained with provincial self-interest, fraught with distortions and seasoned with gross inaccuracies. The import of it, however, is clear. LCRA is going to battle and every attempt to hold water in this area, however desperately water is needed.

The large number of elements which Gideon packed into his statement indicate further that the LCRA is going to throw out every possible hook. For instance, he brought up the matter of the CRMWD's sale of temporarily surplus water for oilfield re-pressuring, but the use of LCRA water for rice irrigation was glossed over. Let the immediate benefits of a barrel of water bringing up oil which otherwise would be lost is said by economists to be at least 20-1 greater than the gains to be had from applying that water to a crop already in surplus. Moreover, the prolonging of oilfields by water flood will return the state a fantastic number of millions of dollars additional revenue. But oilfield repressuring use is a steadily diminishing one, so that in time this water will be used to supply the increasing industrial and municipal need.

The charge that West Texas wants water simply to develop a recreational attraction is preposterous. West Texas must have water to drink and to sustain its modest industrial operations. Even if the new lake is granted, it is estimated that within 15 years the CRMWD may be obliged to look for still other sources.

If LCRA is going to fight the CRMWD application, what will it do when the six-months presentation of San Angelo on the Stacy site comes up for renewal?

The message is clear. West Texas cannot afford the luxury of division in these hearings before the Texas Water Commission. On the contrary, West Texas must close ranks and battle for its rights and indeed its economic life and hopes of growth.

Situation Of Sorrow

The resignation of a top aid to President Johnson because the aid had been named in a morals charge has been injected into the presidential campaign. Although Sen. Goldwater has graciously said he would not have any comment on the matter now or later, partisans will fan the coals.

It would be unrealistic to expect otherwise. Yet, so far as possible this matter should be examined not only from the point of circumstances surrounding it, but also from the point if it produced any security leaks. This is, as has been said, a situation of sorrow, yet it must be faced forthrightly.

Marquis Childs The Political Outlook In Texas

AUSTIN—On that fateful day now nearly a year ago when President Kennedy was assassinated, the fortunes of many men were violently reversed. Nowhere was that so true as in this big, brawling state where politics is cut to a rough pattern.

Kennedy had come to Texas at the prompting of Vice President Johnson. One objective was to get the allegiance of Gov. John Connally in preparation for a stiff fight in 1964 in a state the Kennedy-Johnson ticket carried by only 46,000 votes.

TODAY CONNALLY, wrapped in the mantle of martyrdom—having been at the side of the fallen leader and, according to the Warren Report, wounded by the same bullet that struck the President—is certain to sweep the state for re-election.

President Johnson seems certain to carry his native state if only because he is a Texan. A Houston Chronicle poll gives him 56 per cent to 44 for Sen. Barry Goldwater. And the report in Texas, as in many other areas, is that Goldwater has been slipping rather than gaining. Observers familiar with the state believe the Johnson-Humphrey margin may go as high as 60 per cent.

BUT SENATOR Yarborough is in a hard fight for second term. His Republican opponent is George Bush. Their race dramatizes more sharply than any in the South the conflict between the new powers of industry and money and the old order in which government was partner and friend. It is respectable Republican suburbia versus potluck politics and the pride and the loyalty that are part of Texas' heritage.

Bush came to Texas from Connecticut, where his father was former Sen. Prescott Bush, a wealthy investment broker, after the war. He became a successful oil operator at Midland and gradually took an interest in politics. Moving to Houston, he put new energy and efficiency into the Republican organization there.

WITH NO lack of money a massive television drive is planned for the last three weeks. In contrast, Yarborough runs a homespun campaign. Seven times up for statewide office in this sprawling empire he knows intimately the forks of the creeks and the courthouse squares. He is for Medicare, aid to education, area redevelopment—the programs Bush attacks as the encroachments of big government. In Bush's lexicon Yarborough is a radical or an ultra-liberal who accepted the bounty of Billy Sol Estes.

NOT SURPRISINGLY, oil is an issue between them. Yarborough applies the carpetbagger tag to the Connecticut Yankee and charges Bush's company in drilling for oil in Trinidad, Kuwait and Borneo is increasing oil imports that hurt Texas' biggest money earner. Although Yarborough has always supported the 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance for oil producers—no politician in Texas could survive opposing it—Bush allies him with Vice Presidential candidate, Hubert Humphrey, who has opposed it.

DAMOCLES' TWO-EDGED SWORD

James Marlow Nikita Led Russia Out Of Dark

WASHINGTON (AP)—"I'm not afraid of the devil," Premier Khrushchev said in 1959, trying to squelch an American labor leader. "And you're a man." This was more than a retort.

Khrushchev was expressing his attitude toward the world, as he showed many times. But it wasn't always true. He had been Joseph Stalin's passive vassal until the old tyrant died in 1953.

Then Khrushchev became the Russian boss and his own man. He asserted himself in a four-hour speech denouncing Stalin as a murderer, monster and mental case. He repudiated the "cult of the individual" and one-man rule.

With this speech Khrushchev began the liberalization of Russia. He led it out of the dark ages. The power of the secret police was diminished. The Russian people had a new sense of life.

AND LATER, when he preached "peaceful co-existence" with the capitalist world, the West, while remaining suspicious, sighed with relief. But with the speech and the new policy the Communist world became unstuck.

Everywhere Communist parties had to ask themselves: How could they explain, in view of the revelations about Stalin, their own long subservience to Russia's wants and wishes and the myth of Soviet infallibility?

Around the world Communist parties for the first time began to show some independence of Russia. Eventually the two giant neighbors, Red China and Russia, not only split but appear to be in deadly rivalry.

Perhaps all this means the triumph of nationalism over communism, as might have been predicted. But to Chinese protests that war and revolution are steps forward, Khrushchev asked, "Forward to what? The grave?"

He said "prosperity is the only thing worth fighting for." He ridiculed the Chinese, saying they preferred "revolution" to "goulash." Unless the splits are healed and unity restored world communism may disintegrate. But Moscow said his policies of destalinization and economic improvement would be continued under the new leadership. In 1964 Khrushchev launched a 20-year Russian development program unmatched in scope since Lenin's in 1919.

Hal Boyle How To Please Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—"Dear Pavement Plato: 'Recently I married a wonderful girl after a long period of bachelorhood. There is much cynicism today about marriage, but I really want to make a go of mine.'"

"Will you please tell me the rules for keeping a wife happy?" "Sincerely, Timorous"

Dear Timorous:

My boy, I am afraid you started by asking the wrong question. It is no more possible to keep a wife always happy than it is to keep a horse always in ecstasy.

What I think you really have in mind is, how can a man keep his wife interested enough in him so that she'll stick with him as they climb the agony ladder of this old world in reasonable harmony and content.

Now, this can be done — as millions are successfully proving every day.

Here are a few rules that, as a sensible man, you will find useful in dealing with your wife:

The things a woman wants to boss are men and money. Let your wife know from the start she cannot boss you.

Let her boss 80 per cent of the family income instead. Nothing except having a baby makes a woman feel more important than paying bills.

Never explain what you do with the 20 per cent of your income you keep for yourself. I'll puzzle her the rest of her days how one man could spend so much — and have so little to show for it.

Wives like to open packages more than they care what's inside them. So bring her home many inexpensive presents each year, but only one that really strains your pocketbook. The big one is for her to show to her friends, the others just for her to know that you thought of her often.

Even though her own cooking tastes like it had been prepared by someone wearing boxing gloves, whenever you take her out to a restaurant be sure to tell her how much better it is at home.

Never admit to her how much fun you have at the office. Tell her it's awful there. A wife is afraid of having her husband enjoy his work too much; she doesn't mind if he suffers at it — for her sake.

Always listen to your wife. Wives don't mind so much if you don't obey their orders, but they can't stand it not to be at least heard.

Rarely, if ever, argue with her. It will only mean you will have to listen longer. And never strike her, at least before witnesses. The best way to chastise a woman is by silence. She is punished more by your disapproval than by your anger.

Give up your bad habits slowly. If she makes you perfect too soon, she will become bored with her victory.

Those are time-tested rules for marital success. My boy, if you follow them and fail to reach your golden wedding anniversary together — well, maybe you picked the wrong girl.

Perhaps she'd rather be married to a mouse than a man.

Around The Rim Old Roads Make The New Ones

While barbed wire was snipped to open a new highway in West Texas, there's another sign of progress coming about in Washington state, where the last old, independent ferry will soon be replaced by a bridge over the Snake River.

THE BRIDGE marks the completion of a route over which Lewis and Clark traveled 159 years ago, now with a modern highway system. The ferry which will be replaced by the bridge has been in operation since 1862.

The road now linked by the highway is one over which freight wagons and settlers passed before the first railroad came to the territory in the 1880s.

CALLED LYONS Ferry, the crossing is at a point in the Snake River about six miles southwest of the town of McAdams, in the southeastern portion of the state. The present ferryman is in fact a woman, who has been handling the choro since 1945.

The road itself provides some interesting points of history concerning the opening of the Northwest. Lewis and Clark themselves were pessimistic concerning the feasibility of a road ever being constructed through the area of the Bitterroot Mountains and the Snake. Railroad surveyors in the 1800's were equally discouraged by the rugged northwestern country.

WAGON ROADS finally were put through portions of the area after 1900. Then in 1935 some 150 federal prisoners from Fort Leavenworth, Kan. were sent out to help with the work beginning on a Lewis and Clark Highway. World War II came and detainees from California were used in the road construction.

As modern construction equipment was put into use, the road was pushed more rapidly until today the Lewis and Clark Highway offers travelers a paved route through Montana to the Pacific.

AND IT'S quite a country, through which one can travel today with ease. Lewis and Clark, however, had a rugged trip through the Bitterroot Mountains, where Lolo Pass tops 5,300 feet. Reportedly there is some 15,000 elk in the area, along with streams of trout and salmon.

A park near the ferry is named for Sacajawea, the Shoshone Indian girl who helped the explorers in their expedition. And near the park is the site of a town, Ainsworth, once noted equally for gunfights and hangings, which dwindled away in the 1880's.

SO A CENTURY and a half after Lewis and Clark struggled their way through an uncharted wilderness, the modern motorist can drive through spectacular mountain passes and rugged northwestern forestland with ease, just as today West Texans drive along four-lane highways crossing trails where once Coronado and his Spanish legions wandered looking for seven cities of gold.

David Lawrence Church Activity In Politics

WASHINGTON — "Separation of church and state" has been a basic principle of American constitutionalism since the founding of the republic. But the 1964 presidential campaign has revealed some glaring exceptions to the rule.

Thus, for instance, while prayer in the public schools is being banned on the theory that there must be no form of religion practiced in schools operated by the state, there seems to be no inhibitions felt by church and religious organizations themselves about participating directly in the current presidential campaign.

POLITICS is being discussed, moreover, very often inside the churches themselves nowadays, and many a sermon contains expressions that point directly to candidates for political office.

Just this week, a statement was issued in St. Louis by Episcopal clergymen and laymen. It was given out for publication in St. Louis in an obvious attempt to get attention at the Episcopal general convention in progress in that city. The press relations officer of the convention said that the statement had no connection "officially" with the Episcopal Church. It was released to the press at a news conference at an auditorium apart from that in which the delegates met.

THE STATEMENT was originally mailed to 1,100 Episcopalians—and not to any other religious group—and the 726 signers included 10 Episcopalian bishops. It constituted an attack on Senator Barry Goldwater, who is himself an Episcopalian.

An individual clergyman has a right, as a voter, to express such views on politics or on any other subject. But to preach a sermon or sign a political statement calculated to have an effect on the current presidential campaign and to associate the statement with a particular church group raises a question of propriety if the principle of separation of church and state is to be maintained.

IT WILL BE recalled that, during the 1960 campaign, there was widespread criticism because of the injection of the religious issue. Catholics deplored statements which implied that Catholics as a religious group were supposed to be voting in a bloc for a co-religionist. Conversely, many Protestants, especially in the South, were accused of voting against the Kennedy candidacy because of his religion. Universally, the religious issue was deplored, and the general feeling was that, while individual citizens could express themselves as they wished, it was not desirable for American citizens to vote or organize political groups on the basis of religious beliefs.

IT COMES AS a surprise this year, therefore, to find an Episcopalian group and other religious units injecting themselves into the campaign.

Again and again members of the congregations in various denominations have protested that they do not approve of what their pastors are saying in politically motivated sermons. But as yet the laymen apparently have no effective means of "separating" the church from the state.

Richard Starnes Baseball Ain't What It Used To Be

WASHINGTON — Children, as all parents know, are nothing but multicellular organisms cunningly designed to convert food into noise. Nobody in his right mind would voluntarily spend 30 minutes in the same county with one, much less spend the best years of his life under the same roof with them.

Still, in the midst of their dedicated efforts to send me to a bankruptcy court and-or to one of those retreats where the help counts the silver after each meal, my bloodthirsty crew has provided me with a startling insight into the decline and fall of the great American whatamacallit.

THE FACT is that kids just could not care less who wins the World Series, or any other rounders tournament. In my day, children savored every morose twitch of their favorite ball player. I grew up here in Washington, which automatically foreclosed all but one World Series to me, but every somnolent summer day found me and my colleagues clinging to the speaker of our Atwater-Kent to discover the fate of the Senators, who then as now were calculated to be the sorriest clutch of maladroit non-athletes to be found outside a jake paralysis clinic.

NO ONE WHO survived it can ever forget 1933, when, due to a malign configuration of planets over the Indian Ocean, the Senators won the American League pennant and engaged the hated New York Giants in the World Series. Washington lost, of course, but not before generating hysteria like of which the town hadn't seen since Gen. Jubal Early's Raiders came clattering to the fringes of the city in 1864.

Baseball is different nowadays, and so are ads. At Crestfallen Manor a televised World Series contest is met with studied indifference.

THE REASON kids don't care about baseball is that the ballplayers have all become pompous young businessmen who themselves don't care, excepting only in the most abstract way. That is true, but in the olden days (Jubal Early wasn't a bad man; just misguided) the cardinal sin was indifference. You slid when there was nothing to be gained but a strawberry on your sitzplatz; you ran out pop files; you caromed off fences; you hated the enemy, and if you kicked an easy chance you hid in the woodshed for a few weeks until the scandal blew over.

IT MAY BE that baseball today is better than it was in the days of yore (although with the baseball itself filled with radioactive tabasco sauce I don't know how anyone can tell) but it is not as much fun. Kids, always quick to sense the phony and the meretricious before their elders, know that today baseball is a bloodless enterprise that contains all the passion of a debenture issue.

Baseball is exciting to play, if presently dull to watch, so presumably it will always be played. But the suspicion grows that the great days are gone, and that few really care which team of earnest young businessmen wins.

A New Sponsor

NEW YORK (AP)—Playwright Jack Gelber has found a new off-Broadway sponsor in the Establishment Theater Company, an Anglo-American group.

Gelber's first two dramas, "The Connection" and "The Apple," were produced by the Living Theater, an avant-garde group which expired during difficulties with the Internal Revenue Service and other creditors.

"Let's Face It" is the name of the latest Gelber work, which is slated for midwinter presentation.

Langner Tribute

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP)—A repertory of three plays by Bernard Shaw is to launch a five-year development program at the Westport Country Playhouse next summer.

The theater is operated by Armina Marshall, widow of Theater Guild founder, Lawrence Langner, and their son, Philip Langner. The Shaw season is planned as a memorial to Langner, who was instrumental in introducing many of the Irish playwright's works to American audiences.

To Your Good Health Measles Vaccines Prevent The Disease

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

As we discussed yesterday, measles is a common disease. Nine out of 10 of us get measles.

Most of the time it is "just a childhood disease," and children recover without harmful aftereffects.

Yet sometimes there are complications. Eyes, lungs, brain and other parts of the body can be seriously involved, and every year there are deaths, too.

For years nobody could find a way to make a vaccine to prevent the disease. Anyway, in past years diphtheria, whooping cough and smallpox were deadlier and deserved first attention. Finally we learned to prevent them.

Now, due to the work of the Nobel Prize winner, Dr. John F. Enders, and his associates, measles vaccine is available.

There are three types of vaccine. I grant that most people will be guided by whatever type their doctors prefer—and that's fine. The important thing is to see that children are protected. All three types are recommended. Each has its good points and its drawbacks. So here they are:

No. 1: A live virus vaccine (living virus, but attenuated, or made less virulent) gives excellent protection—up to 90 or 95 per cent. Its drawback is that in some cases it will give a child a real, although mild, case of measles. Such cases last from two to five days, as compared to a week or two weeks for regular measles. And there are no complications from these cases, as there can be with ordinary measles. This is a good vaccine, but sometimes uncomfortable.

However, giving gamma globulin, along with the vaccine will reduce any reactions from it.

No. 2: An "inactivated" or "killed" virus can be used instead of live virus, and the protection is good—but not as good as from No. 1. Besides, three shots must be given (about a month apart) and a booster six months afterwards. Hence, from No. 2, we don't get quite as good protection; we must give several shots.

No. 3: This is a combination of the other two. Start with the first three shots, as in No. 2, but then, after a wait of from one to three months, give one shot of No. 1.

The result? Maximum permanent protection, and virtually no severe reactions. No cases of "real measles" and none of the dangerous complications. There's more to be said. A slight temperature, a rash, cough, redness and tearing of the eyes. But no great discomfort.

Balancing everything, I think No. 3 is the best.

Measles has the habit of cropping out about every two and a half years. This fall and winter many parts of the country can expect outbreaks. Therefore right now is a good time to start giving these vaccinations.

I should add that—with a few children there may be medical reasons for avoiding injections. In such instances, be guided by your doctor's advice. What I have outlined will be excellent for the vast majority of children.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer readers. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

DEAR ABBY

Just Shy— Not Shifty

DEAR ABBY: I am not the kind of girl who goes against her parents' wishes, but in this case I think I have a right to. I am 16 and this boy I like a lot is 17. He has come over to my house a couple of times, and the very first time my father laid eyes on Jeff, he took a dislike to him, and here is the reason: Jeff is a shy boy and he doesn't look at you when you talk to him. I understand this and it doesn't bother me, but my father says there is something wrong with a person who can't look you in the eye. It is a sign that he is dishonest. This is not true. Jeff is a swell kid. He's an honor student, very polite and has never been in any trouble. Can you help me, Abby?

LIKES JEFF

DEAR LIKES: What your father says is generally true—but not always. Many a cheat can outstare an honest person any day of the week if there is something to be gained by it. Ask your father to get to know Jeff better and then make his judgments. You can't always believe your eyes.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine wants to know why her husband always comes home drunk. Her husband wants to know why his wife doesn't clean up her house. Maybe if each one knew what was bugging the other, their problems would be solved. They both read your column. Can you help them?

FRIEND TO BOTH

DEAR FRIEND: It's a good bet that the husband has complained to his wife about her sloppy housekeeping long before he complained to his friends. And the same goes for her and her husband's drinking. It's an oversimplification to say that maybe if she swept up, he'd sober up.

DEAR ABBY: I have just received an invitation that knocked me for a loop. I've had lots of invitations to different things in my life, but I have never had an invitation to a baby shower for an unwed mother before.

Variance Is Given Approval

The zoning board of adjustment approved a variance request from R. V. Beck concerning property at 406-402 Donley during a session at city hall Thursday.

Beck told the board he was requesting the variance to the Donley Street property line in order to construct a commercial building by removing the slope presently on the property and provide a drive behind the building when constructed.

The request involved a 10-foot setback for the building on Donley instead of 15 feet required by the city setback ordinance. Beck said the building would be 120 feet by 58 feet and would involve four sections for commercial purposes. Due to the cut into the slope at the property, he said the variance would allow him to construct the building and also to provide a paved drive behind the structure. The building itself will face north to Fourth Street, he said.

Mrs. Brown Dies In California

Mrs. Lucy Brown, a long-time resident of the Moore Community in Howard County, died Thursday at her home in Novato, Calif. Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Red Wood chapel in Novato.

Survivors in Big Spring are two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Gent, and Mrs. Ben Long; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Long; a niece, Catherine Littlejohn, and a daughter, Mrs. O. A. Goodman, Midland. Several other nieces and nephews also live in Big Spring. Other survivors include a son, two daughters, a brother, a sister, and 15 grandchildren.

Rocket Engine Test Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency announced Thursday it had canceled a second test of an electric rocket engine because the first one had been so successful.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that the second test proved unnecessary after the initial Ser-1-Space Electric Rocket Test—mission of July 20 "met the prime objective of proving that a stream of ions can be neutralized in space."

The mother of this girl is a good friend of mine and when I asked her why she would permit such a shower under the circumstances, she said she did not see anything wrong with it. She said her daughter was a good girl who had made a mistake. The daughter plans to keep the baby, so why not have a shower? Have you ever had any inquiries about showers for unwed mothers? Is it proper, and should I go? UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Those who attend such a shower indicate by their presence that they see nothing wrong with it. Since you were obviously shocked at the invitation, you would be a hypocrite to go.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Public Spends More Money

NEW YORK (AP) — American consumers spent at least $2 billion more this summer than they did in the spring months. So they can claim the credit today for keeping the nation's economy right on its predicted rate of gain.

Some other sectors of the economy slowed a bit in the July-August-September quarter.

Dinah Shore Yields To TV

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-TV Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mel, low-voiced Dinah Shore is back on the television scene after a year's absence in which she sought and failed to find a new way of life.

At the close of the 1963 season, Dinah announced she was quitting after a dozen highly successful years in television. She started with a 15-minute show, did 444 of them, then switched to an hour-long program that lasted for seven seasons.

"I've worked a long time," said the singer, who had started her career in 1931. "There are things you get to do only once in your life, like watching your children grow up. I'm determined not to let those things pass me by because I was too busy working."

LIKES ATMOSPHERE She declared she was going to make Palm Springs her home, since it afforded a wholesome atmosphere for the rearing of her children. What she didn't reveal was that she also planned to marry Maurice F. Smith, a Palm Springs contractor. Their wedding May 26, 1963, was a surprise.

The marriage lasted a year. Now Dinah has moved her children back to Beverly Hills and is resuming her television career.

"I needed that year off from television," she explained between rehearsals for Saturday night's NBC telecast. "I had to slow down and find out where I was going. I never stopped singing; I would never do that. I played some dates where all I had to do was sing — that's pure enjoyment for me.

"Television was something else again. The blocking-out of the show never bothered me; it was easy to work out the mechanics. The real headache was in the planning: Trying to figure out what to do with the guest stars, how to keep the show moving, what to say. Most dialogue on variety shows is pure pap. It is a constant struggle to make the talk entertaining.

LITTLE SINGING "Even in an hour show I usually did only three or four songs. So I was doing very little singing, which is what I really like to do."

When her marriage broke up and Dinah decided to return to television, she came on her own terms. She will be doing four nighttime specials and three daytime hours on which she will introduce treatments of problems concerning women: child molestation, geriatrics, housework vs. career.

The Saturday night show will feature David Janssen, Rose Marie and George Gobel.

Vets To Hold Convention Here Sunday

Veterans of World War I will hold their district convention here Sunday at the IOOF Hall at Ninth and Magnolia. Seventy-five to 100 delegates are expected.

A. E. True, district commander, will be in charge of the veterans' sessions, and Mrs. True, who is district president, will be in charge of the auxiliary.

A memorial service is to be conducted at 11 a.m., two hours after registration gets underway. The Rev. C. O. Hitt, chaplain at the Veterans Administration Hospital, will speak.

Following the lunch, there will be a joint meeting of the veterans and auxiliary in a business session. Several state officials of the organization are expected here. Host commanders are Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walker. The district embraces territory from Plainview to Big Spring, and from Dickens and Colorado City on the east to the New Mexico line.

This is the first of two important meetings here, said True. The second is an area session Oct. 31 when representatives will come from Fort Worth to El Paso, from San Angelo to Oklahoma.

BLAST BY MILLER 'Full Explanation' Asked On Jenkins

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller (Republican) in Minnesota today after calling upon President Johnson to give the American people a full explanation of the Walter Jenkins incident.

The Republican vice presidential nominee said in Chicago Thursday night that the arrest of Jenkins, a top White House aide, on a morals charge, raised "very, very serious questions" about national security.

"The President," he said, "should explain to the American people how it is that a man (such as Jenkins) could be appointed to a position in one of the highest councils of the government."

"BENDS WITH WINDS" Miller also renewed his attack on Johnson's political posture, describing him as "a purely political man who bends with the political winds and who would rather switch and win than stand firm for anything."

The New York congressman flew into Duluth Thursday night for speaking appearances today. He assailed Johnson in an address Thursday night at a dinner of Chicago-area alumni of Notre Dame University, his alma mater.

"The Lyndon Johnson record is consistent only in its inconsistency," Miller said. "He has tried every political label — conservative, moderate, liberal — and he has presented not just two faces but dozens of faces to the American people."

Miller also departed from his prepared text to ask this question of President Johnson: "What now are you going to do about Walter Jenkins, who served in the highest councils of government, having access to secret information, vital to the security of this government?"

Miller at first declined comment on Jenkins' arrest and subsequent resignation when approached by newsmen. But the subject came up again during a question and answer period following his speech before the Executive Club of Chicago.

"RAISES QUESTIONS" Discussing the Jenkins incident, Miller said: "This indeed raises very, very serious questions. "If this type of man has information vital to our survival, it could be compromised very quickly and very dangerously."

He said the American people should be told whether Jenkins attended meetings of the National Security Council or the Cabinet.

The White House said Thursday that Johnson had requested the FBI to make a thorough investigation of the Jenkins affair.

UNDER FIRE Miller also brought up Jenkins' role in the investigation of the financial dealings of Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, who resigned under fire a year ago as secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

Miller said Don B. Reynolds, a Washington insurance man and friend of Baker, had testified that he paid Jenkins for television advertising on the Johnson family's TV station in Texas as — Miller said — a "quid pro quo" for handling a $200,000 insurance policy on Johnson's life.

Although Jenkins submitted to a Senate investigating committee a statement contradicting Reynolds, Miller said, Jenkins never had to testify before the committee because he "was protected by the White House."

If Jenkins had testified, Miller said, obviously either Reynolds or Jenkins "would have been guilty of perjury."

Khrushchev spoke for Soviet communism. Regardless of the circumstances which led to Khrushchev's removal, Mao is sure to regard it as a personal victory.

It is too soon to say what direction the new leaders of the Soviet Union will take, but there is no disputing the fact that Khrushchev stood as a personal obstacle to a rapprochement between the two great Communist rivals.

Sources close to the Chinese Communists in Hong Kong saw no signs of early reconciliation between Russia and Communist China.

However, the sources speculated that Russia and China would eventually come into "some sort of agreement" to avoid a complete split in the world Communist movement.

Mao Tze-tung and the Chinese leadership have made it clear on many occasions that there could be no peace between Peking and Moscow as long as Khrushchev spoke for Soviet communism.

Reconciliation Gain For Russia, Peking?

At TESCO Ground-Breaking Ceremony

These company officials and civic leaders joined hands Thursday in breaking dirt for a new power generating addition to Texas Electric Service Company's Lake Colorado City plant. It will have 500,000 kilowatt capacity, making it one of the largest plants in the entire Southwest, and represents an investment of some $30 million. Left to right, at the plant site, Roy Bates, TESCO plant superintendent; Dr. John H. Chinn, mayor of Colorado City; C. C. Thompson, C-City civic leader; and Beeman Fisher, TESCO president.

TESCO Breaks Ground For New C-C Generating Unit

COLORADO CITY — Ground-breaking ceremonies Thursday marked the formal start of a $30 million dollar power generating unit by Texas Electric Service Company at its Lake Colorado City site southwest of here. It's another chapter in the growth story of this TESCO plant which, when the addition is complete, will be the largest in the company's power system and one of the largest in the entire Southwest. The new addition, in towers which stand as high as a 14-story building, will have 500,000 kilowatt capacity. The unit will have a generating capability greater than all the power plants of the company just 11 years ago. Details were told by Beeman Fisher, TESCO president who, with many members of his staff, came to Colorado City for the ceremonies. They were hosts to more than two score representatives of various West Texas towns, including public officials and members of the press. Fisher spoke at an informal luncheon at the plant site, after he and others participated in the traditional earth-turning. The TESCO president recalled that it was in 1950 that the first generating plant was started at the Lake Colorado City site. Units then had a capacity of 44,000 kilowatts. In 1952, the plant was doubled by adding a 44,000 kw unit. Again in 1954, a 70,000 kw unit was installed, followed again in 1959 by a 175,000 kw unit. Construction is contracted to EBASCO Services Inc., of New York, and at the peak of construction, about a year hence, there will be some 350 workmen on the job. Construction superintendent is W. T. Franklin, who currently is making his home in Big Spring. EBASCO has a job on its hands, said Fisher, because plans which originally called for completion in early 1967 have been advanced to call for completion by mid-1966. Fisher recited other expansions being made by TESCO to meet the rising power demands

Decision Pends On City's Case

A decision from the 53rd District Court in Austin may be forthcoming next week concerning the lawsuit between the City of Big Spring and the Big Spring State Hospital on a water contract. City Attorney John Burgess said in Austin today. Burgess said that Judge Herman Jones of the court had indicated that he would probably make a decision next week, and asked that briefs be filed today concerning the case by the two parties involved. Normally a 90-day waiting period is set before such briefs are filed, Burgess said. The case was tried Wednesday. It was originally filed by the city against the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools and the state on Sept. 27, 1963. The city asked that it be allowed to revise rates upward for water supplied to the hospital. Under a contract signed in 1937 and carrying no expiration date, the city has supplied water to the hospital at a rate of 10 cents per 1,000 gallons. The state hospital board is being represented by the attorney general's office. Burgess and J. C. Hinsley, an Austin attorney retained by the city, are preparing the briefs for the city, with the office of the attorney general preparing them for the hospital board.

Warmup For Texas Ahead

Most sections of Texas are apt to warm a bit by Saturday. Aside from that the Weather Bureau said today there's no prospect for much change in the current spell of mild temperatures and crystal clear skies. New long range forecasts, covering the period into the middle of next week, called for readings around normal to a few degrees above and light showers in some places about Monday of Tuesday.

The meeting will be over by 5:30 p.m. to avoid conflict with any church services, according to Broughton. Pack 236 is sponsoring the meeting, but all Cub parents or leaders are invited to attend. Broughton and Mays will conduct demonstrations on various aspects of the program.

Criticism Termed Not Official

A statement issued Tuesday by William A. Stringfellow, New York attorney, criticizing Sen. Barry Goldwater is not an official action of the Episcopal Church's 61st general convention, the Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, advised today in a telegram from St. Louis.

The House of Bishops received a statement from Presiding Bishop A. Thur Lichtenberger making it clear that individual church members can speak only for themselves and not as official spokesmen for the nation's millions of Episcopalians. A similar statement had been issued Wednesday by the Arizona bishop, assailing the Stringfellow release without pointing out it was a private view.

Accord Comes Too Late To Avert Auto Walkout

DETROIT (AP) — Profit sharing — unique in the auto industry — will be carried forward by a new American Motors Corp. and United Auto Workers agreement. But this accord was reached too late today to avert a strike at the firm.

Negotiators removed profit sharing as a main stumbling block to a new national labor contract at AMC an hour after a UAW-set midnight strike deadline. Pickets began parading in front of AMC's Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., auto plants even while harmony was being attained on what AMC has preferred to call "progress sharing."

PROFIT SHARING
AMC Vice President Edward L. Cushman and Douglas A. Fraser, the UAW's American Motors chief, announced the agreement today that profit sharing — now three years old at AMC — will again be extended to the firm's 27,000 UAW-represented workers.

Profit sharing had been worth six cents hourly per worker since the UAW won the plan at AMC in 1961, Fraser said. In reporting the agreement on profit sharing, Cushman said "unfortunately American Motors operations already had been shut down."

MAJOR OBSTACLE
A major obstacle now to completion of the national economic contract agreement, Fraser and Cushman said, involves some 3,000 Kelvinator division employees at Grand Rapids, Mich.

American Motors is the fourth and last of the American auto makers with which the UAW has to complete agreement on new national contracts. Contracts were settled on the national level with General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

Carr Plans Visit Here

Waggoner Carr, Texas attorney general and Democratic nominee to succeed himself, will be here next Wednesday morning on a campaign swing through West Texas.

Announcement of Carr's schedule was made here Thursday through the Howard County Democratic headquarters.

The attorney general plans to arrive at the Howard County Airport at 9 a.m. and go to the mezzanine of the Settles Hotel where a coffee will be given in his honor. This will afford friends in Howard and surrounding counties a chance to visit with him prior to his departure around 11 a.m. for Odessa, where he is scheduled to make a luncheon address. Carr, a resident of Lubbock, has appeared here on numerous occasions. Immediately after his election as attorney general, he addressed an annual meeting of boys' workers here.

Negroes, Whites Riot After Two Wounded In Upheaval

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — Negroes and whites rioted Thursday in downtown Richmond after a white man was stabbed and a Negro was wounded by bullets from a passing vehicle.

Inside the truck were a rifle and a pistol. Crowds of youths converged on 5th and MacDonald and dozens of police were dispatched there. The area was sealed off as whites and Negroes roamed the area. Police said quiet was restored around midnight.

Companion Of Patient Fugitive Heading Home

DENVER (AP) — Mary Lou Wiederkehr, object of a wide search since she and escaped mental patient Leslie Douglas Ashley left San Antonio, was free today and headed home.

Denver officers released the San Antonio woman from jail Thursday after Texas officers said they were dropping auto theft charges.

Mrs. Wiederkehr, 25, was held overnight without charge after she walked into headquarters Wednesday and said she drove a car belonging to her guardian while helping Ashley leave San Antonio. Police quoted her as saying she came to Denver on a bus with Ashley, 26, who escaped from a state mental hospital at San Antonio. He and Carolyn Ann Lima, 22, were convicted in the 1961 torch slaying of Fred Tones, 44, a Houston real estate man. Appeals courts set aside their death sentences. The Lima woman is serving a prison sentence. Ashley was found insane and sent to the hospital.

Khrushchev Missing

position. Alexei N. Kosygin, to the immediate right of Brezhnev, was named to succeed Khrushchev as premier. Today the two were running the Soviet Union. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Isbell Loses Power; Flood Now A Threat

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. (AP) — Tropical Storm Isbell, downgraded from hurricane status, moved over the North Carolina coast early today like a deflated football.

Early today the storm was centered 20 miles northeast of Morehead City where observers said everything was relatively quiet.

It became obvious that the storm had all but blown itself out.

But there still was danger of flooding to eastern North Carolina. Many counties in the area already have been declared disaster areas because of record flood waters within the past two weeks.

The Weather Bureau warned that Isbell might drop four to eight inches of rain over the Carolinas and Virginia.

At Morehead City, on the Atlantic, there was some rain, but little or no wind.

The Weather Bureau said winds of the storm should be no more than 55 miles per hour, but there were no reports of any wind much over 40 m.p.h. and that in gusts.

Two Running Russia, Where Single Harness Style In Past

NEW YORK (AP) — Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei N. Kosygin are running the Soviet Union in tandem today, but it would not be surprising if one of them eventually drops out.

Single harness has been the rule for running the Soviet regime, and single harness it is virtually certain to remain.

Communist party chief Brezhnev, 57, long Nikita S. Khrushchev's heir apparent, is the best bet to survive quiet, colorless Kosygin, 60, who is better known for grooming the horse than for riding it.

Brezhnev has had a better chance than Kosygin to build a personal following in the Communist party but lacks the new premier's in-depth knowledge of the nation's economy. Kosygin's new eminence may indicate he was the only man stronger members of the party presidium were willing to see pushed over them.

There are too many things to clear up before indulging in an internal power struggle, including putting an end to Khrushchev's headlong rush for a showdown with Communist China.

Kosygin has spoken on the issue. But neither man has put himself in a position that would make it personally embarrassing to postpone and then forget Khrushchev's hard fought for world Red conference that inevitably would make the split final.

Fundamental issues — nationalistic, ideological and the struggle for control of world communism — remain between Moscow and Peking, so full reconciliation seems unlikely.

But a lull seems in store while the new leaders try to ease the split.

They also have to deal with the agricultural, industrial and diplomatic problems Khrushchev has left behind, as well as with the swelling voice of the Soviet people wanting to be heard.

SATELLITE CONTROL

Kremlin control of the European satellites and of Western Communist parties has been shaken by the Chinese dispute. Brezhnev and Kosygin seem certain to try to restore it as much as possible.

Not until a good start on these tasks has been made is a serious power struggle expected.

The two men in the lead today are as different as night and day — both in looks and personality.

Brezhnev is a bushy-browed dark, heavy-set man. He is deceptively soft-spoken but has a booming shout when he wants to use it.

LURKS IN CORNER
Kosygin is tall, thin, sandy and looks like a 19th century Russian intellectual. He speaks so quietly that listeners have to cup an ear to hear him.

At both Kremlin and diplomatic receptions, Brezhnev is easy-going, laughing and gregarious. Kosygin makes no secret that he finds such affairs a waste of time. He lurks in a corner and spends more time chatting with friends from the Soviet technocracy than with politicians and diplomats.

Both men reached the top via the new road — mastery of Soviet technical problems — and are also the first Kremlin chiefs to whom the 1917 Bolshevik revolution is only a childhood memory.

PLEASES FAMILY

In 1956, Brezhnev was appointed a secretary of the Communist party based in Moscow. This especially pleased his chic wife and daughter, Galina, who is noted for her taste in high-styled Western clothes. In 1960 he became President of the Soviet Union. He relinquished that figurehead post last July 15 for full-time work as a secretary of the Communist party's central committee. The change was a definite indication that he had been picked to succeed Khrushchev some day.

Kosygin was Stalin's last addition to the old politburo and was pretty much in the shade during the first years of Khrushchev's rule. The new leadership soon learned to value his talent as a businessman with a flair for organization, however,

Relations Of U.S., Soviet Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sudden end to Nikita Khrushchev's rule in the Soviet Union throws the future of U.S.-Soviet relations into complete uncertainty, and President Johnson says the Kremlin development may or may not be a sign of deeper turmoil and changes to come.

But, the President said Thursday night in a New York speech, turmoil around the world would only increase the steadfastness of the American people.

"We do not want to bury anyone anywhere and we do not intend to be buried ourselves," he said. "We will be firm, but we will be restrained. We can meet any test but our quest is always for peace. We must keep our eyes on the stars, but our feet, both of them, on the ground."

U.S. officials, taken by surprise, said it was impossible to predict.

Whether Khrushchev's successors would follow his peaceful coexistence policy in dealing with the Western Allies.

How the successors would handle Moscow's angry dispute with Red China.

These officials adopted a wait and see attitude.

Authorities here expressed the belief that Khrushchev was forced out of his positions as Soviet premier and boss of the Soviet Communist party in a dispute over major issues of policy. So far as they could judge there was no evidence that peaceful coexistence was directly involved. Soviet-Chinese relations may have been.

Convention Plans Made

DALLAS—The annual Baptist General Convention of Texas, meeting in Corpus Christi Nov. 2-5, will feature addresses by a Texas college president, a Latin American evangelist, and the pastor of the world's largest Southern Baptist congregation, Baptist officials have announced.

The complete convention program was confirmed here by the Baptist Committee on Order of Business, Texas Baptist Executive Secretary T. A. Patterson said.

Major speakers include Dr. Abner V. McCall, president of Baylor University, Waco; the Rev. Angel Martinez, evangelist from Fort Smith, Ark.; and Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the 13,000-member First Baptist Church of Dallas.

McCall is president of the 1.7 million-member state Baptist convention and will deliver the major address on the opening night of the convention.

A special Wednesday night convention session will feature a dramatic presentation on the role Baptists have played in Texas history. The drama was written by Ramsey Yelvington of Wimberly, and will be presented by the Hardin-Simmons University theater group from Abilene. Each convention session will open with a devotional message by Dr. Ray Summers, new head of the religion department at Baylor University.

Gentle Nuns Are Printers

By ALAN WALKER
CALLOW END, England (AP) — "Printer's devil" is the common term for a press apprentice, but the title is never used at nearby Stanbrook Abbey. There gentle nuns work with ink and hot lead to produce some of the most beautiful books and broadsheets in Britain.

Before printing was invented, the "scriptorium" of an abbey was a busy place. There manuscripts were copied, for distribution mainly among the clergy.

Now Stanbrook's presses form the scriptorium's modern equivalent. Books of a religious nature are printed with painstaking care on handmade paper. Many are finished by hand illumination in gold and brightly colored inks.

The abbey was founded in 1625 and its printing history dates from 1876, when Brother Laurence Shepherd of the Order of Saint Benedict bought a small press and employed a local printer to teach him how to run it.

From then on, says the present printer, "we have passed the craft on from generation to generation, with occasional help from outside."

In addition to building the church, the students conduct revival services in the Raymondville area and lead regular services here of the First Baptist Church and Primera Iglesia Bautista — Spanish for First Baptist Church. It is a new structure for the Spanish church that they are building.

The students are members of the Baptist Student Union which has 55,000 members on campuses of 68 Texas colleges.

"I wouldn't work this hard for money," says Jeff Crossland, 21, a senior history major at North Texas State University. "Actually, there is pay in this job." Crossland says, "but the pay isn't money; it's a richly rewarding experience."

The students — six young men and four girls — are from 19 to 25 years old. They share what once was the First Baptist parsonage. The boys sleep on bunk beds in one room and the girls share double beds in the rear of the house.

The boys handle most of the work on the church — often working 15 hours a day — while the girls feed the crew and keep work clothes clean.

Betty Ann Gunstream, a junior at Baylor University, wasn't content with housework though.

"The first week, I went out and dug ditches with the boys, and I've painted some," she said.

"I didn't dig any ditches, but my shovel was a broom and my wheelbarrow was a dustpan," reported Patsy Blum, a senior majoring in history at Tarleton State College.

The digging of 750 feet of ditches for the foundation was the hardest part of the job.

A professional was called to lay the first 4,000 concrete blocks, and the students stepped in to lay the final blocks and do the rest of the work.

The Rev. Bill McDaniel, pastor of the church, is the building foreman. He once was a carpenter.

"I came here 4½ years ago with the idea in mind of building this church, and it has been a dream of mine," he said. "I wouldn't have been possible without the help of the students."

The 400 x 150 foot lot for the new church cost $6,000. Total cost is about $22,000. The building and land are worth about $40,000.

First Baptist has contributed $11,000 for the building fund, and the Baptist General Convention of Texas donated $6,000.

Of Raymondville's 10,000 population, about 8,000 are of Mexican ancestry. Of the 10,000, First Baptist estimates 6,500 persons do not attend any church.

Primera Bautista — in operation about 30 years — now has 80 members. Services are held in a dilapidated residence.

He said he gets the same low pay and works the same irregular hours as a deputy that he did as a full-time minister.

"But I don't mind," he said. "When I go out of this old world I want to leave it in better shape than I found it. A man has a certain mission and I think this is part of mine."

For the first time on a Philippine stage, and perhaps for the first time in the world, the character who kisses Christ in the garden, betraying him to his enemies, is a woman," says the spokesman's name cannot be revealed. "Our custom is to remain anonymous," a reporter was told. "We are strictly enclosed, behind grills — the strictest of all, known as Papal Enclosure."

The printer entered the Benedictine order in 1941. "I had never printed before and I didn't know anything about it," she said. "But I always loved books and collected first editions and beautiful bindings when I could afford them."

The press prints fine editions of poetry, medieval spiritual writings, histories of the Church fathers and plainer editions of liturgical books.

Many books are available only to those inside the order but the more secular works can be bought commercially. So can Christmas cards.

"We print for our own bread and butter," the printer said. "Some books are sold through rare-book dealers, mainly in London. Other purchasers hear about the press and write for lists. Still others form a large list of permanent subscribers to the press's publications."

STRICT CODE OUTLINED

"The Qualifications of Church Officers," represents a break in the discussion of the Christian life to remind Christians of the duties and the character required of Christian leaders. The text, as given in the International Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 18, is found in the third chapter of Paul's first letter to Timothy, verses 1-13.

In establishing that the power of a church's witness depends to a great extent upon the conviction, consecration, sound character and zeal of its leaders, Paul sets up strict codes for the bishops and the deacons.

The letter does not set a double standard for the two offices. It says the man must be blameless, not a drunkard, not a striker, not greedy, not a brawler, and not covetous. It says he must be the husband of one wife, and that he must have his household under control.

If a man cannot keep order in his own house, Paul implies, he cannot be a leader of an organized group of Christians.

Startling Passion Play Reflects Modern Adaptation

By HENRY HARTZENBUSCH
MANILA (AP) — A startling passion play, reflecting efforts of the Roman Catholic Church to adapt itself to the modern era, was presented here recently.

"God sweats blood in traditional fashion," says Father Reuter, "but in a night club, in the shadow of a chorus line."

The play was presented by St. Scholastica's College, one of the most conservative convent schools in the Philippines, the only predominantly Roman Catholic country in Asia.

Father Reuter, who also has a regular daily radio program, says: "There is a new approach to theology and to canon law — an effort to apply the ancient law of God as gently as possible to the needs of men. Everywhere the people answer the prayers of the priest, singing the ancient psalms in English."

"Satan stalks through this passion play, as Satan stalks through the world, but for the first time on a Philippine stage, Satan is a lovely young lady in an evening gown. As Satan says so simply in the play 'Women had much to do with the passion.'"

Father Reuter explains the devil could just as well be a woman as a man.

"Satan has no sex," he says. "Lucifer is neither man nor woman. Lucifer is an angel, all spirit. In the play, when the dying sinner screams 'Lucifer!' the lovely young lady in the red evening gown smiles and says: 'Please, Lucifer is always associated with hooves and horns. Couldn't you call me something nicer? Something a little more modern? Let's say—Luz?'"

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Textbook Committee weighed in closed session Thursday a big stack of protests against biology and civics books under consideration for use in public schools.

An all-day public hearing Wednesday was devoted mainly to three biology books which a series of witnesses condemned as presenting only one side of the evolution controversy.

The three are "High School Biology," a Rand McNally publication; "Biological Science: An Inquiry into Life," Harcourt, Brace and World, and "Biological Science: Molecules to Man," Houghton Mifflin Co.

The volumes are among 226 under study for recommendation to the State Board of Education for public school use.

Witnesses included ministers, two scientists and the publisher of a religious newspaper. They assailed the theory of organic evolution as atheistic, unscientific and materialistic.

Publishers' spokesmen said the books are objective and present evolution as a theory, not a proved fact.

Another new church! The newspaper article says the population in Bill's suburban neighborhood is growing so fast that even more churches will soon be needed. Bill thinks this is just great.

"A community is a better place when there are plenty of churches," he says. "It's good for the children and the young people... it's good for everybody! We all need some sort of anchor for our lives, and the Church is the best one I know of."

Bill's right. When people work together for their church... when people pray together for guidance... it can't help but lead to a greater spirit of tolerance, fellowship and cooperation in the whole community.

In order to play its full part, the Church needs you, your prayers and your support. In return the Church offers you a priceless gift... the Truth that shall make you free.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rugged Rebels Play Steers Here At 8:00

that last week picked up the momentum coach Joe Newbill said it needed to figure prominently in the District 2-AAAA championship race moves into Memorial Stadium here tonight to joust with the Big Spring Steers. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Ready For Rebels

Howard Bain, seasoned guard of the Big Spring Steers, will be in the thick of things when the Longhorns line up against the Midland Lee Rebels at 8 o'clock here tonight. On defense, the 178-pound senior plays linebacker. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Are the Big Spring Steers capable of putting two sterling performances together in a row?

Some of the gentry insist they can't, that they invariably suffer a psychological letdown after a top effort. They point to the locals' fruitless against Odessa Permian last year, followed by that outing against Abilene High, after which came their brilliant showing against San Angelo.

They say the Steers have been an in-and-out team for years, adding the locals will never be a serious contender for a conference championship until their play becomes consistent on a high level.

Their critics add fuel to the argument by singling out the Snyder and Odessa High games this year. The Steers could do little right in the Snyder game (which they lost, 13-9), then turned around and knocked Odessa side-saddle, 28-4.

If such claims are true, and I certainly am not in league with such talk, the Longhorns are due for a letdown tonight against Midland Lee.

Lee has virtually everything going for it. It boasts 28 seniors on its roster. It has looked little short of sensational in assignments to date. And it has never beaten Big Spring down through the years.

It will take a supreme effort by the Steers to neutralize the threat and to quieten such talk.

One thing is for sure: The team that prevails tonight will be in the catbird seat in the District 2-AAAA title scramble. After tonight only two teams in the league can point to an undefeated, untied record and one of those will be the survivor in tonight's donkeybrook here.

The paid turnout at last Friday night's football game here was 5,355.

That's 2,131 less than saw the same two teams play last year in Odessa but then Big Spring contributed a large percentage of that game. Not many ducats, adult or student, were sold in Odessa for the game this year.

This city is supporting its teams better than any in the league, with the exception of San Angelo.

Mel Renfro of Dallas is one of 13 rookies in the NFL who have made starting teams either on offense or defense. Renfro was with the University of Oregon last fall.

Otto Graham tells intimates he wouldn't take a head pro coaching job even with a ten-year contract at $50,000 a year.

"The headaches aren't worth it," Graham explains.

Other men in the profession, of course, thrive on pressure and controversy.

Since he became head coach here three years ago, Don Robbins has guided Steer teams to 16 wins, compared to seven losses and a single tie.

Few coaches anywhere in the state can boast of as good a record. Robbins is one of the most dedicated coaches in the business, however.

He wants no truck with anything less than total dedication to the task at hand. His overall knowledge of the sport, his analysis of any situation in football are amazing.

But then, his mother knows more football than most men. He comes from a family which has devoted its life to the endeavor.

Florida State university's defensive line looks like so many Yul Brynners.

Each member has shaved his head and call their unit the "Seven Magnificents." (Brynner starred in a movie called the "Magnificent Seven.")

Three of the Midland Lee boys who will be performing on the football greenward against Big Spring here tonight are also standout baseball players.

They are Bucky Kimble and Dick McFarland, both of whom are stellar running backs; and lineman Terry Schreiner. The latter is a brother to Carl Schreiner, not at Oklahoma University. Carl was one of the finest linemen ever to come out of District 2-AAAA.

The training methods of Joe Newbill, the Midland Lee coach, differ radically from those of several other conference coaches but he seems to get the job done.

Newbill contends that some people take the game too seriously and tries to inject a little fun into it for the boys.

They're trying to organize an ex-students' association in Stanton and figure to do a lot of ground work toward that end Friday night at Homecoming festivities when the resident Buffaloes host O'Donnell in their opening conference football game.

Card Rooters Given Chance To Open Up

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The New York Yankees hit most of the home runs. The St. Louis Cardinals got most of the timely hits. The Yankees made mistakes. The Cardinals took advantage of the breaks.

The American League champions lost their pitching ace, Whitey Ford, after the first game, with an arm injury that was kept secret until the final game. The Cardinals' pitching ace, Bob Gibson, performed brilliantly in an iron-man role.

This, in a nutshell, is why the Cardinals are the champions of baseball today after having won the seventh and final game of the World Series from the Yankees 7-5 Thursday.

This is why the Cardinals maintained their unblemished record of never having lost a full-length World Series. It was their fifth series victory, their seventh in 10 post-season classics and their third in five head-to-head meetings with the Yankees.

And how the victorious Cardinals and the near-capacity crowd of 30,346 at Busch Stadium whooped it up after Gibson had ended the game by disposing of Bobby Richardson on a soft popup to second baseman Dal Maxvill.

Trumpets blared, horns tooted, partisan St. Louis rooters shouted themselves hoarse and hundreds poured out on the field as the deliciously happy white-uniformed players jumped all over each other.

The players embraced Gibson, who had literally pitched his arm off with only two days rest. They hugged Manager Johnny Keane, who finally had a world championship after 27 years of managing. They hugged Ken Boyer, whose big bat had been instrumental in all three run-scoring innings. They hugged Maxvill, the utility infielder who had done such a fine job filling in for the ailing Julian Javier.

They hugged catcher Timmy McCarver, the Cards' most consistent and outstanding hitter in the series. They hugged Butch Yankeman, the little clubhouse man, who has been with the club longer than anybody else. They hugged each other.

It was the biggest day of the city of St. Louis has enjoyed since they last won a pennant and a World Series in 1946.

All six previous games were wrapped up in Thursday's finale. As before, the Yankees hit more homers, made more errors, while the Cards got the timely hits and took advantage of the enemy's lapses.

The Yankees slammed three home runs, by Mickey Mantle, Clete Boyer and Phil Linz. But they committed two errors and were guilty of other loose play which does not show in the box score.

Coahoma Clubs Defeat Locals

COAHOMA — Coahoma representatives defeated Big Spring in both ends of a football doubleheader here Thursday night.

A combination of Coahoma Junior high school athletes beat the Rannels seventh grade A team, 24-0, after the Rannels seventh grade B team had yielded, 38-0.

In the A game, Kyle Rosene played an outstanding game for Rannels, as did Tom King, George Pedro, Randy Morgan and Roy Anderson, all on offense. On defense, Robert Crenshaw, Richie Tubb, Lino Sanchez, Gary Hinds and Roy Thomas were tough for the Yearlings.

In the B game, Frank Jaure, Monty Hall, Ed Nanny, John Rutherford, Jose Ortega, Harry Williams, Robert Dennis and Phil Mendoza were outstanding for Big Spring.

Top Card Awaits Ring Followers

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—They're making the championship boxing card here Oct. 28 most attractive.

Not only will world bantamweight champion Eder Jofre of Brazil defend his title against Jesus Pimentel of Mexico over 15 rounds but Alphonse Halimi, former world bantamweight king, also will appear on the program.

Packers And Cleveland Get Nod In Pro Play

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Green Bay faces its fight for survival in the Western Conference of the National Football League Sunday when Vince Lombardi takes his Packers to Baltimore where the Colts have been chewing up all opposition.

After last week's 4-6-1 record, the batting average shrunk to 20-20-4 for the season (18-14-3 in the NFL and 12-6-1 in the AFL). Here goes again: (All games Sunday afternoon unless otherwise noted)

NFL Green Bay 20 Baltimore 17—Colt ground game in high gear but they will have problems containing rushing attack of Paul Hornung. Could be a field goal game. Look for Colt let-down with second game in six days.

Detroit 20, Chicago 14 — Lion defense to contain Bill Wade's passing while Detroit grinds out victory in a tight one. Bears will be tough after getting back on win path with Mike Pyle and Larry Morris due back.

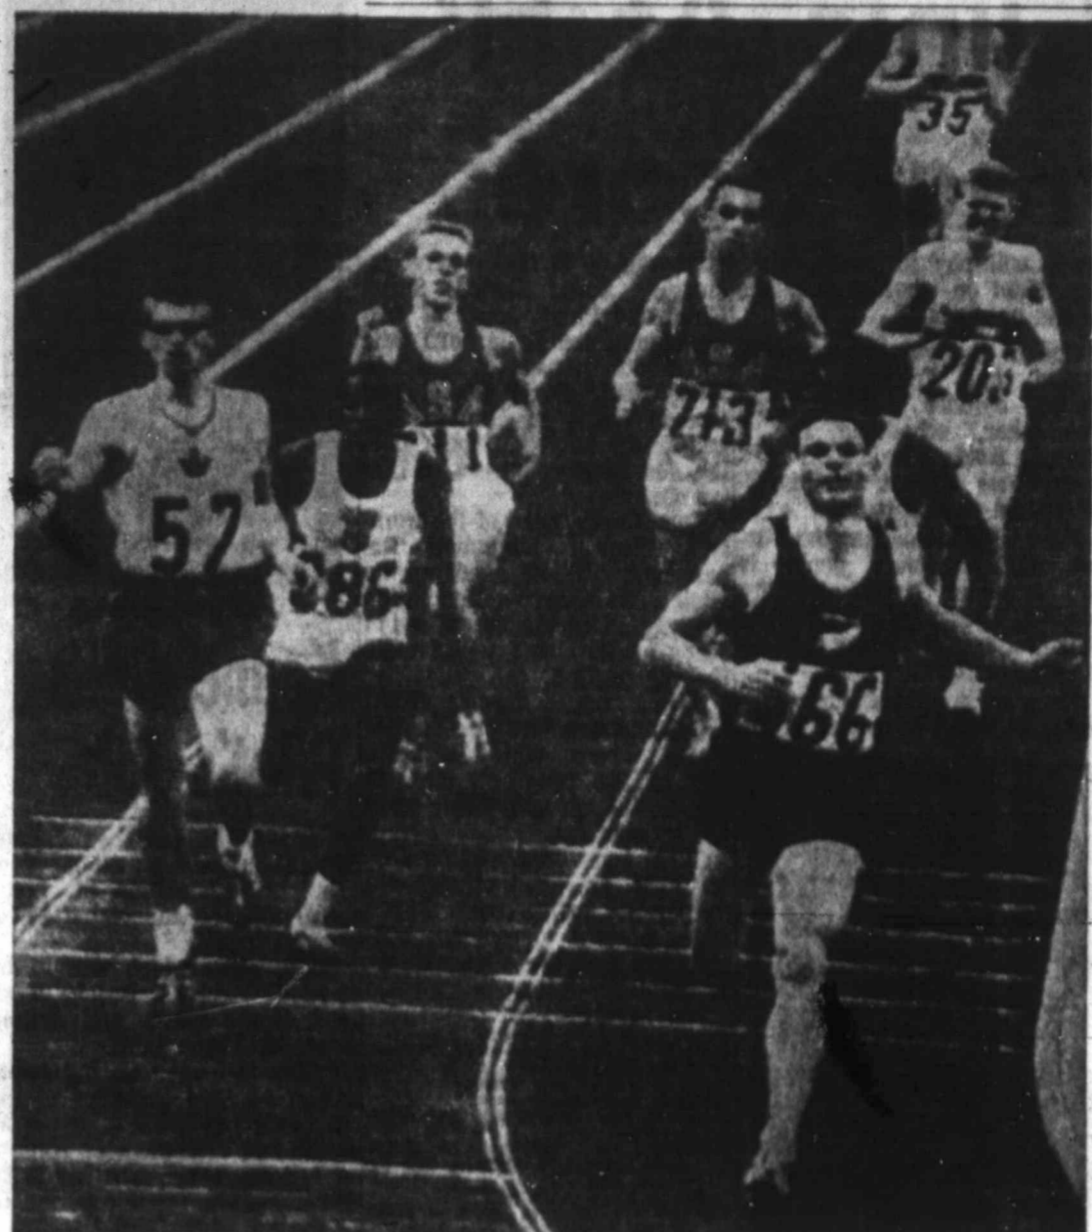

Cleveland 24, Dallas 14 — Cowboys in trouble with Don Perkins out of action but loss of Ross Fichtner and possibly Frank Parker weakens Brown defense. Jimmy Brown due for a big one.

New York 21, Philadelphia 14 — One more stab at Y.A. Tittle, who can't keep missing forever.

Minnesota 24, Pittsburgh 21 — Tommy Mason returns to full-time duty and Vikings start rolling again despite Buddy Parker's new defensive setup.

St. Louis 27, Washington 17 — Cardinals could be ripe for an upset after that pummeling they got in Baltimore Monday.

Los Angeles 20, San Francisco 17 — Two improved clubs fight-

Snell Wins 800-Meter Title

Peter Snell of New Zealand leads the pack in the 800-meter run as he heads for victory and an Olympic gold medal in Tokyo Friday. Snell's time was 1:45.1. Following him are: William Crothers (57) of Canada, who finished second; and Wilson Kiprugut (386) of Kenya, who was third. Others are Tom Farrell (711), Forest Hills, N.Y.; J. F. Siebert (713), Calif.; Dieter Bogatzki (263) of Germany; and Jacques Pennewaert of Belgium. George Kerr of Jamaica, who was fourth, is behind Snell. (AP WIREPHOTO) only the second woman to break 60 seconds in the 100-meter freestyle when she finished second to Australia's incomparable Dawn Fraser in that event, and has a chance for a fourth medal as a member of the favored U.S. 400-meter medley relay team.

Americans Gather More Games Loot

TOKYO (AP)—Sharon Stouder, 15-year-old schoolgirl from Glendora, Calif., smashed another world record, collected her third Olympic medal and led the United States forces through another day of highly productive competition in the Olympic Games Friday.

The United States added four gold medals and eight overall to its growing collection of Olympic hardware and now leads with 42 — 19 gold, 11 silver and 12 bronze. Russia has 27 — 9 gold, 7 silver and 11 bronze.

The other U.S. gold medal winner was hurdler Rex Cawley, who was so excited he forgot the pain in his leg; Wyomia Tyus, a world record holder who wasn't supposed to win, and the men's 400-meter medley relay swimming team.

But the star of the show was Miss Stouder, a 5-foot-8 blonde who attends Glendora High School.

She swept to a world record time of 1:04.7 in the women's 100-meter butterfly final and notched her second gold medal of the Games. She also swam on a winning relay team, became

Buffaloes Seek Fourth Victory

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes go after their fourth victory of the season and their first in conference play here tonight, at which time they oppose O'Donnell. Game time is 7:30.

The Bisons have knocked off Roscoe, Lorraine and McCamey and have been defeated by Big Lake and Coahoma.

The game will rally a Homecoming crowd at Stanton High School. The class of 1958 will get special recognition.

O'Donnell is looking for its victory of the year after five starts and has scored only 20 points, compared to 144 for the opposition.

O'Donnell lost by single touchdowns to Crosbyton, Ralls and Slaton but were overwhelmed by Slaton and Freship.

Probable starters for Stanton tonight will include Little Mike Hall and Carroll Anderson at ends, Bill Davis and Wayne Moody at tackles, Carl Lawson and Big Mike Hall at guards, Dale Thompson at center, Bud Shanks at quarterback, Johnny Swanson and Dink Polson at halfbacks and David Dunn at fullback.

Dink Polson and Carl Lawson were singled out for their fine play against McCamey last week by coach Bill Milam, who said he was happy with the improvement his club had shown.

"These boys are hitting and hustling the way I want them to," Milam said this week.

Birthday Fete In Honor Of Ancient Poet

CHICAGO (AP) — "Sunt qui linguam latinam abolere velint," said Miss Irene J. Crabb. There were boos. "Eos sepeliemus!" she added. There were cheers.

Miss Crabb, a retired Latin teacher and author, spoke Thursday at a birthday party for Publius Virgilius Maro — better known as Virgil. The Roman poet, who wrote the "Aeneid," the "Georgics" and the "Eclogues," was born 2,034 years ago.

Miss Crabb's first remark was, "There are those who would abolish Latin." Her second statement was, "We will bury them."

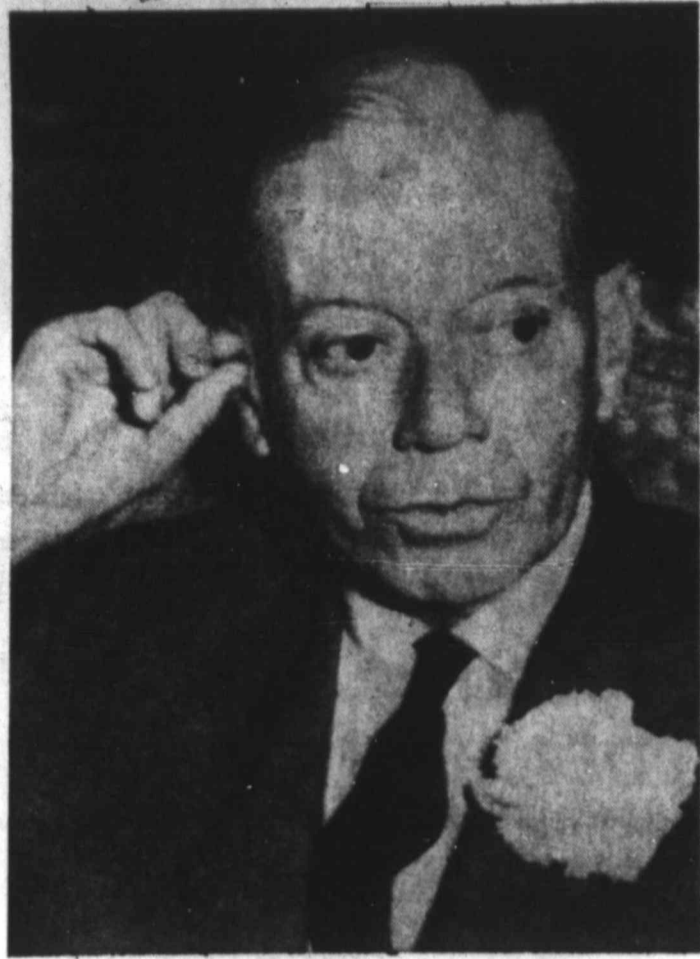

The guest of honor might have scratched his laurel-wreathed brow had he heard the guests sing:

"Felicem tibi, Natalium diem, Felicem, Virgili, Natalium tibi."

That's happy birthday, dear Virgil.

Miss Lois L. Robinson, president of the Illinois Classical Conference, and 50 of her Latin high school students were flowing togas for the event.

The party, complete with a plate of grapes in place of a birthday cake, was sponsored by the American Classical League, an association of more than 200,000 teachers, students and others interested in Latin.

LBJ Says Nik's Stepdown Furthers Need For Demo

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, off today on another campaign trip, has tried to use the replacement of Nikita Khrushchev as an argument for keeping a Democrat — Lyndon B. Johnson — in the White House.

Johnson broached this approach Thursday night in winding up a two-day swing through New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

Addressing a Johnson-backing Liberal party rally in Manhattan's Madison Square Garden, the President said: "Changes and uncertainties in this busy world where we live give great weight to our own need for a stable, sure, steady course on the basis of a steady bipartisan foreign policy."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Lest anyone miss his point, Johnson added that voters could toss bipartisanship in foreign affairs "down the drain" on Nov. 3 — "but I don't think you're going to." Previously, Johnson repeatedly had expressed the view that a GOP election victory would destroy bipartisanship.

The President, who added comments about the Soviet power shift to his prepared text, said the shuffle "may or may not be a sign of deeper turmoil or may be a sign of deeper changes to come."

But he said the shakeup should be a sign to Americans that "we should keep steady on our goals — that peace is the mission of the American people and we are not to be deterred."

Today, Johnson planned to fly into Ohio for evening appearances in Cincinnati and Dayton. Then he was to fly to his Texas ranch for a weekend respite before stumping his native state next week.

HUGE GREETING

Johnson got another good taste of big crowds — and it elated him — Thursday in Brooklyn. His motorcade was greeted by tens of thousands of people — so many, in fact, that police refused to estimate the number.

All along the 33-mile route, Johnson was flanked by Robert F. Kennedy, his former attorney general now the Democratic Senate candidate in New York.

The President took every opportunity to praise Kennedy and call for his election, and he

In Your Heart You Know He's Right About The High Cost of Living

BARRY GOLDWATER SAYS: "If the cost of living continues to rise and the dollar continues to shrink, the savings of our citizens will be worthless. I'd cut down government spending. And I'd move to keep down the size of government, too. Further, I'd see to it that we had a climate once again in America where this free competitive enterprise system of ours would flourish, so that REAL jobs with real wages would be the answer not only to poverty but to the problems of inflation and higher living cost."
