Sectors Of S.E. Asia Cringe Before Peking

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — For Southeast Asia, the Red colossus to the north inspires feelings ranging from deep distrust and even enmity in pro-Western Thailand to cautious friendship in Indonesia and Cambodia. Malaysia, created a year ago from onetime British territories, partly as an attempt to stem prospective Red Chinese expansion, has 4.2 million Chinese in its population of 10 million. Its policy is to "try to make them good Malaysians."

Malaysian leaders meet the two-China problem by recognizing neither the Communist one nor the Nationalist, although it is no secret their sympathies are with the Nationalists on Formosa. However, Malaysia has trade, largely indirect through Britain, with Red China. U.S. ALLIANCE Rice-rich Thailand banks heavily on its alliance with the United States to keep the Red Chinese away. Thailand strictly bans Chinese trade. Even Hong Kong imports are closely checked to prevent influx of Red Chinese goods. Burma, nestling under China's southern border, maintains good relations with Peking, but the Burmese assert "positive neutrality" in the dispute between the Red Chinese and the Soviet Union. Burma's trade with Red China has fallen off drastically in two years. Burma dislikes Communist China's policy of re-exporting Burmese rice, often to potential Burmese markets such as Ceylon and Cuba. An $84-million Red Chinese loan to Burma, agreed in 1961, is being used at snail's pace. SHARE VIEWS Indonesia shares many views with Peking, particularly toward what it calls imperialism in Southeast Asia. But there seems an underlying fear of Red China. Trade is growing. South Viet Nam, engulfed in a war with Communist guerrillas and plagued by internal political strife, eyes Red China with dread. Few doubt that collapse of the Saigon resistance would lead to domination directly by Communist North Viet Nam and indirectly by Red China, which seems to regard Viet Nam as the key to mastery of the Southeast Asia mainland. SHARE BORDER Little Laos, South Viet Nam's neighbor, which also shares a border with China, presents three faces toward Peking. It has a troika-style government arrangement, agreed to in 1962 at Geneva as an instrument of neutralization: right-wing, Communist and neutral. Laos has no official trade with Red China, though Chinese goods occasionally slip in through Cambodia. Laos is constantly aware of the Chinese presence. Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has just returned to his Phnom Penh capital from a trip to Peking. He said he was offered military and economic aid unconditionally, including textile and cement plants and construction of a new airport, along with "light and heavy armament sufficient to equip 22,000 men."

AF 'Clears' Downed Trio For Air Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has cleared for further flying duty the three officers whose reconnaissance plane strayed over Communist East Germany last March and was shot down by a Soviet jet, it was disclosed today.

A flying evaluation board blamed the RB66's border crossing on failure of the plane's compass and recommended that the crewmen be "kept on flying status," the Air Force told The Associated Press.

Air Force headquarters approved the board's recommendations. A spokesman said that closes the case.

After the plane was downed on March 10, the Russians and East Germans charged that investigation of the wreckage "established beyond a doubt" that it was on a spy mission.

The United States said the plane had wandered into Communist air space by mistake. The Air Force Command ordered widening of an upper zone along the East-West boundary in Germany and Air Force planes flying in the area were directed to be under "positive radio control" at all times.

The board held that a major cause of the incident "was the failure of electronic navigational equipment on board the RB66 plane." "The board found that weather conditions which obscured the ground to the crew contributed to the navigational error," the Air Force said.

U.S. Mulls Next Steps In Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are watching for possible further upheaval in the Soviet Union's leadership as they consider what steps the United States should take in the coming weeks to deal with changed international conditions.

President Johnson, who conferred with congressional leaders for 2 1/2 hours Monday, has called a meeting of his special advisory committee on foreign policy for Wednesday. This group of prominent private citizens will be given detailed reports on world developments and asked to consider various possible actions.

Johnson told newsmen that he had met with the congressional leaders, Democrats and Republicans, but gave no details of the information presented to them. He said the reports he and several Cabinet members gave constituted "a highly classified briefing."

PUZZLE STAYS It is understood that administration officials told the legislative leaders they are not sure what issues, domestic or international, led to the overthrow of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The briefing is also understood to have brought out that while Leonid I. Brezhnev, 57, seems to be the top man in the Soviet ruling group, the actual post-Khrushchev power structure is not yet clear and the possibility of further changes, possibly involving a power struggle in the Kremlin, must be borne in mind.

Khrushchev's formal authority was divided between Brezhnev, as first secretary of the Communist party, and Alexei N. Kosygin, 60, as premier.

Former President Hoover Dies At 90; Busy Till End

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Clark Hoover, 31st president of the United States, died today at the age of 90.

Death came at 11:35 a.m. His death followed a recurrence of massive gastro intestinal hemorrhage.

The staunch old statesman, whose life spanned a varied career of engineering, high office and humanitarian service, had kept busy almost to the last.

SONS AT BEDSIDE Hoover's two sons were at his bedside when the end came.

"Work" was his rule. He called it "the best antidote to talk of ills and pills."

Death came quietly at his apartment at the Waldorf Towers which he described as his "comfortable monastery."

Hoover will lie in state in St. Bartholomew's Church, Park Avenue and 51st Street, for two days. After memorial services, he will be taken by train to Washington.

There, he will lie in state under the rotunda of the national capitol. Following services there, his body will be flown to West Branch, Iowa, where the final services will be held as he is laid to rest in the national park at the site of the small cottage where he was born in 1874.

Repeatedly, and sometimes almost miraculously in his later years, he had fought off serious ailments.

HAIR FREEDOM But time, and its wear, finally claimed him. No other former president except John Adams, the nation's second chief executive who died at 90, had reached such an advanced age. Adams lived 90 years and eight months. Hoover, 90 years and two months. Hoover, who passed that mark Aug. 10, 1964, said in a birthday message that the key to America's abundance is its freedom.

"Freedom is the open window through which pours the sunlight of the human spirit and of human dignity."

Senate Campaign Snipes Exchanged

More verbal thrusts were exchanged Monday in the U. S. Senate campaign between Democratic incumbent Ralph Yarborough and Republican candidate George Bush.

With just two weeks left before the Nov. 3 general election, there was every indication the tempo of appeals to Texas voters will be stepped up, almost daily.

"Something always happens the last week or two," Bush said in Austin, where he told newsmen that ticket splitting might decide the Senate contest. "I have been warned to expect something from Yarborough," the GOP nominee said. "For one thing, I understand he is telling people in voting machine counties that if they try to split the ticket, it will jam the machine. That seems to be his strategy."

VOTE MACHINES Bush said he was informed that voting machines now are used by 17 counties possessing perhaps half the total vote in Texas.

Yarborough asserted in a statement issued by his campaign headquarters that Bush has "issued a ringing call for support of the John Birch Society in his sagging campaign."

The senator said his Republican opponent thus "has embraced the secret extremist organization that has challenged and sought to undermine both of our great national political parties." Bush replied that Yarborough's statement was ridiculous, adding that he welcomed campaign support from everyone. Gov. John Connally, another Democrat seeking re-election, stepped up to bat for President Lyndon B. Johnson at Fort Worth, where he and Mrs. Johnson spoke Monday. They substituted for the President, who called off a Texas visit because of global developments.

"NO CHOICE" "There is no choice between the men who have offered themselves for the highest office in this land," Connally told 450 persons at a $100-a-plate luncheon.

Jury Convicts Veteran Judge

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Earl Welch, an Oklahoma Supreme Court justice for more than half his professional life, stood convicted today of cheating the federal government of $13,000 in income taxes. Welch, 73, listened impassively Monday during reading of the jury's verdict of guilty on each of five counts of income tax evasion. The jury deliberated an hour and 47 minutes.

Welch, a Democrat, was indicted on the tax evasion charges by a federal grand jury last April. He still is a member of the state supreme court, to which he first was elected in 1933, but has not participated in court decisions since his indictment. U.S. Dist. Judge Roy Harper of St. Louis, who presided at Welch's two-weeks-long trial, set sentencing for Nov. 13 and gave Welch's attorneys until Nov. 9 to file a motion for a new trial. Maximum punishment would be five years in prison and $10,000 fine on each count. Welch's attorneys contended that cash savings accounted for the $41,000 above his income which federal attorneys said he spent during 1957 through 1961. The government contended there was no cash heard and the $41,000 was unreported, taxable income.

Lamesa Chamber Names Carl Cox Its Top Hand

By PRESTON MAYNARD LAMESA — Recognition for the past year's efforts and goals for the coming year were focal points of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce banquet Monday night, with W. B. Beeson assuming the chamber presidency, and Carl Cox, a Lamesa radio station official, named "top hand" of 1964.

Some 300 persons were on hand for the annual program, in the high school cafeteria. Outgoing president Raymond C. Evans discussed highlights of the past year and presented the "top hand" award to Cox, who was selected through a point system from among 23 members of the chamber's Roundup Club, a group which recruited 66 additional members during the year.

The chamber presented a plaque to Evans for his tenure in the president post. Evans presented awards to eight outgoing directors, who have completed two-year terms, and recognized the 16 men who will make up the board for the coming year. Receiving awards as outgoing directors were Hal Boyd, Bill David, Donnell Echols, Dave Knapp, Skeet Noret, Henry Norris, Buddy White and also Evans.

In addition to Beeson, two other new officers for the coming year took office Monday night—Charles Bruton, vice president, and Perry Roberts, treasurer. Beeson briefly discussed plans for the coming year, pointing to school expansion, establishment of a water conservation district and master planning and zoning for Lamesa among top goals for the year.

Among highlights of the evening were an after-dinner talk punctuated with a blend of East Texas humor by Bob Murphy, a Nacogdoches attorney, and musical selections presented by a Lamesa couple, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Connally.

The program was also attended by guests from Lubbock, Seminole, Midland, Odessa, Big Spring and other area cities. Members of the chamber board of directors for the coming year are Beeson, Charles Bratcher, Vernon (Hap) Bratcher, Bruton, Walter Buckel, Lloyd Cline, Fred Flanken, Paul Gentry, J. B. Leavelle, Becher McCormick, George D. Norman Jr., Jim Norris, LeRoy Olsak, Paul Oswalt, Perry Roberts and Wendell Strahan.

ASTRONAUT TURNS EXEC

NEW YORK (AP) — Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., first American to orbit the earth, has been elected a director of the Royal Crown Cola Co.

W. H. Glenn, president of the company—and no relation to the astronaut—said Monday Glenn would join the soft drink firm after he retires from the Marine Corps within the next few months.

Death Study On Whooper

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department says pesticide residues in the remains of a wild whooping crane were at a much lower volume than in remains of two whooper chicks hatched in captivity.

There was no evidence that the pesticide caused harmful effects, the department said. The studies were to determine effects of such residues on the hatchability of eggs and survival of rare young birds. In the remains of the wild crane, residues were in a volume far under one part per million. The annual migration of the whoopers is now in progress from Canada to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast. At the last count, only 32 wild whoopers were reported alive with eight more held in captivity.

Marines Land Anew On Leyte

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Marines landed at Leyte Island today in a re-enactment of the landing 29 years ago that began the liberation of the Philippines from Japanese occupation.

President Diosdado Macapagal said the anniversary reminds Filipinos that they could not have regained their freedom without the United States and the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Lake Hearing Postponed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Commission postponed today until Dec. 14 its decision on letting the Colorado River Municipal Water District relocate a dam.

The Lower Colorado River Authority, which opposes the application, asked the delay. The district, with offices in Big Spring, wants to build a dam in Coke County to increase reservoir capacity to 488,760 acre-feet. The action Monday was purely routine, the TWC having announced plans for the delay previously.

United Fund Campaign Over The Halfway Mark

The United Fund total was over the half-way mark on today's report, with $58,709 pledged or in the till for 53.7 per cent of its goal.

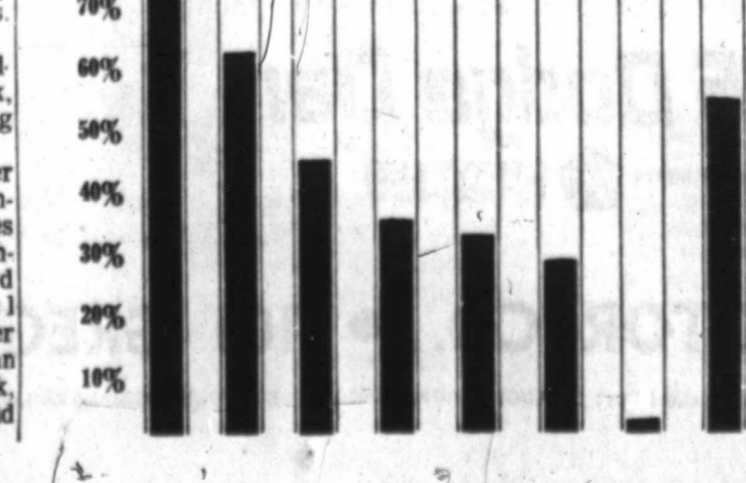

The Big Gifts Division was still setting the pace for the effort, with 80 per cent of its goal accounted for. ($32,064). Special Gifts Division was close behind with $6,262, or 63 per cent of its goal.

The Webb AFB section of the Public Employees Division reached half its goal with a report of $5,548 toward $11,000. The other section of this division has $290 toward $11,000.

The Employees Division added $2,500 to its collections over the weekend for a total of $9,525—35 per cent of the goal. The Metropolitan Division began work in earnest, doubling its previous total to $1,650, which is 33 per cent of the goal.

Campaign leaders urged volunteers to step up the pace of the annual solicitation. Big Spring and Howard County has 13 youth guidance and welfare agencies dependent upon the United Fund to meet the demands put upon them during the year.

Championship Bridge with Charles Goren will—hope—prove to be an instructive as well as entertaining addition to the catalog of bridge literature. The book contains a description of the hands that have highlighted Walter Schwimmer's television network program over the last five seasons—complete with illustrations and pictures of the experts and celebrities who have been featured on the show.

Today's hand, taken from the book, first saw the light of day on TV and provides a graphic illustration of the fact that even the experts are subject to lapses of judgment. South, a player of considerable renown, subjected his side to an unnecessary loss when a substantial profit was waiting to be plucked.

After two passes, North opened the bidding with one diamond and East overcalled with one spade. South, who had passed originally, jumped to three diamonds—not only to show his excellent trump fit, but also to announce that he was not far removed from an opening bid originally.

West stretched a point—in light of the vulnerability—to bid three spades, and North made an excellent call when he doubled. The he did not have the sign of a trump trick, his double would have paid a handsome dividend, for East must lose three clubs, two diamonds, and two hearts—a substantial 800 points.

North's reasoning was based on simple arithmetic. He added his own tricks to those he expected his partner to win—and then lowered the ax. His own holding figured to be worth three to four tricks and partner could be counted on for about two.

South feared that his own values were not of the defensive type and, though he had but a singleton spade, he decided to escape to three no trump—assuming from partner's double of three spades that the latter had strength in that suit.

West's spade opening enabled the defense to take the first six tricks in that suit. South's decision was particularly tragic inasmuch as a contract of five diamonds can be fulfilled—the losses consisting of one spade trick and one heart.

Chilly Wave Penetrates Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

Nippy weather penetrated deep into Texas today, dipping the mercury to record lows for the date at a point or two.

Early checks indicated, however, that frost developed only in isolated spots although it was the state's most widespread chill so far this fall.

Thermometers sank before dawn to 34 degrees at Dalhart and 38 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. At the same hour Fort Worth recorded 37 and usually warm San Antonio shivered in another 38-degree reading.

In San Antonio the early morning mark eclipsed a record of 41 for Oct. 20 which had stood since 1885.

Skies were clear throughout Texas. Forecasts promised somewhat warmer weather tonight and Wednesday in all sections.

The chill followed in the wake of a weekend cold front which surged across Texas and into the Gulf of Mexico, bringing up to 2.6 inches of rain in parts of Duval County in the south and 2.4 inches around Encinal near Laredo. Moisture amounts were slight in most other areas.

Top temperatures Monday afternoon ranged from 73 degrees at Victoria down to 58 at Alpine.

Castro Admits Economic Boners

HAVANA (AP)—A faded sign on a downtown building reads: "To consume what the country produces is to build the fatherland."

But more than five years after the Cuban revolution it is difficult to find much to consume in this once beautiful city, now grimy and rundown.

"That was one of the early slogans of the revolution," a Cuban commented. "It has been forgotten."

That slogan faded because Cuban Communists found it takes more than slogans and theories to operate an economy and produce goods for a growing population.

"USEFUL PERIOD" "I don't deny our errors and stupidities," said Prime Minister Fidel Castro in a recent chat with newsmen at a diplomatic reception. "But this period has been our apprenticeship. It was useful, and necessary."

"The first battle, which we won, was political. We had to prove to our people we could go ahead without the United States."

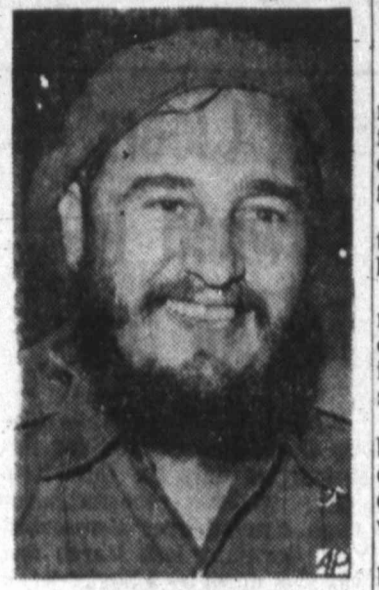

"Now our battle is economic. The United States is obliging us to struggle, study and organize."

The battle cry here now is, "Social revolution was made for technical revolution."

What this boils down to is training of competent experts, administrators who can get things done.

Cuban officials have sadly admitted many times that getting plans from paper into practice had flopped because of a shortage of people with know-how.

With a shrug of his shoulders, Castro asked, "If we could have factories now, who would handle them? Industrialization first requires technical preparation of people."

FIDEL CASTRO

WASTE, CHAOS Communist Cuba's economic history is a series of errors, confusion, waste and chaos. In its first race for industrialization, factories were ordered where raw material was not available, nor engineers and managers to operate them.

In agriculture, Cuba's principal crop, sugar—the mainstay of its economy—suffered when the richest sugar land was taken out of production in an effort to diversify and get rid of dependence on the crop that had been identified with the United States' dominant influence in the economy.

The abrupt, harsh change from capitalist to Communist government shattered the economy. Many of the nation's best economic experts and organizers fled. Enthusiastic but inexperienced revolutionaries took over, contributing to the disorganization.

Hundreds of Russian, East European and Chinese technicians and advisers poured in. But their unfamiliarity with tropical geography and temperament often produced additional frustrations.

BIG EFFECT The United States economic ban has had and is still having a powerful effect.

Transportation has been badly crippled, as many cars, trucks and buses halted for lack of spare parts. Machinery in many factories came to a standstill. Shelves in stores became bare.

Shifting of supply lines from sources 90 miles distant to countries thousands of miles away meant growing shortages, and increasing costs.

Wife Testifies In Tax Trial Of Ex-Mayor

LAREDO (AP)—Sam Hoover resumed the lead in his own defense at his tax fraud trial Monday by personally questioning a government witness.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Hoover, then took the stand to testify for him.

Hoover, a lawyer and former mayor of Pasadena, Tex., is charged with failing to report income from legal and illegal sources in 1957 and 1960.

Mrs. Hoover testified her husband had never given her furs or jewelry, except for a small diamond watch in 1951 when he was graduated from law school. She told how she kept the books in his Pasadena law office.

Mrs. Hoover spent two hours on the stand after Hoover arose from the lawyers' table to interrogate B. F. Clark, an Internal Revenue Service agent who investigated Hoover's financial affairs.

Defense lawyers said Hoover took over the questioning of Clark because he is more familiar with the figures, records and books that Clark compiled.

Youngsters Not For Modern Art

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Young patients of the children's ward at University of Michigan Hospital just don't appreciate modern art.

They had a chance to have a print of Georges Braque's "Still Life—The Table" hung on their walls. One of them said: "It looks like a junkpile."

They had a chance to have Maurice Utrillo's famous "Cathedral at Rheims" hung on their wall. One of them said: "If he'd paint some ghosts coming out of the walls, he'd have it made."

So, an art committee of the hospital's volunteers' guild is installing paintings a little more suited to young patients' tastes.

The more welcome paintings include six works chosen by an "art jury" of nearly two dozen members of the younger hospital set.

In contrast with the prints of the masterpieces, the youngsters chose from a selection of paintings done by students at the Forsyth Junior High School art classes in Ann Arbor.

These were the ones they really liked, the children explained.

Kennedy Name To Win For Bob?

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's senatorial election at this late stage is still a guessing-game, based on the effect of elements as elusive as quicksilver and the answers to some key questions.

Will the "magic name" carry Robert F. Kennedy to victory over his Republican opponent, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating?

Certainly, it has brought out huge, emotionally aroused crowds. In Glens Falls, at 1 a. m., for example, people were still lining the streets, some wearing night clothes, to see Kennedy. He has had tremendous exposure to voters since the first moments of his campaign.

ANYBODY'S GUESS It is anybody's guess as to how much of this frenzy will translate into votes on Nov. 3. Kennedy thinks a fraction of it will.

What has been the effect of Keating's refusal to support Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP candidate for president?

"There are fundamental differences of viewpoint," Keating said when he declined to endorse the national ticket.

Democratic leaders in two communities of upstate New York told this correspondent they believed Keating's action would win over some Democratic votes. "You hear a lot of talk from people who say they like what Keating did about Goldwater," they said.

President Johnson is expected to carry New York by a mighty margin. The New York Daily News, announcing the first findings in its presidential straw poll last week, said the survey showed Johnson running three-to-one ahead of Goldwater.

STRAIGHT TICKET Question: How many New Yorkers who vote for Johnson will simply pull the lever for a straight Democratic ticket, thus also casting a ballot for Kennedy? And how many others will split the ticket to vote for Keating?

Republicans hopefully recall some notable instances of ticket-splitting. In 1962, Democrat Arthur Levitt was elected state controller by 790,000 votes while GOP Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was winning by 530,000.

If Kennedy receives a "sympathy vote" as the brother of the assassinated president, Keating may be the recipient of a "sympathy vote" on other grounds.

Sugar Quota Set For '65

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has set the total sugar quota for 1965 at 9.2 million tons. Actual consumption is expected to be 9.5 or 9.9 million.

Secretary Orville Freeman said quotas for other nations will be pro-rated to countries which sent sugar to the United States this year and last under a formula that gives a slight break to those which provided sugar during this year's shortage.

Foreign sugar quotas were to expire Dec. 31 because Congress failed to extend them. What Freeman's action amounts to is extension by administrative action.

The controversial global sugar quota is eliminated and the entire amount allocated to foreign countries is assigned to countries individually.

Earlier Monday the department set a national limit of 1,375,000 acres for the 1965 sugar beet crop.

It said this move was backed by the major sugar beet growers' associations and all the sugar beet processors except one.

Judge Sets Bail For Mom

LONGVIEW (AP)—Dist. Judge David Moore set bond at $5,000 Monday for Mrs. Martha Crowder, who is charged with murder in the death of her 22-month-old son Ricky Dale.

The tiny blonde mother had been held without bond since the body of the little boy was found Oct. 7 in a ravine near the outskirts of Longview. Authorities said he died of exposure.

Mrs. Crowder, wife of a serviceman stationed overseas, had reported the youngster kidnapped from her car the night of Oct. 4 while she was shopping for thread and stationery.

The Gregg County grand jury indicted her on the murder charge Oct. 8.

Judge Moore tentatively set her case for trial the week starting Nov. 9.

Defense lawyers said her husband, Airman Rex Crowder, has applied for a hardship discharge. He came home on emergency leave from Clark Field in the Philippines after his son was reported missing.

Tough Bolshevik Still Soviet Power

By The Associated Press

When Nikita Khrushchev was ousted last week, it was his old friend Anastas I. Mikoyan who presided as the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet stripped Khrushchev of the premier'ship.

It is unlikely that Khrushchev, 70, was surprised. It is even more unlikely that Mikoyan, 69 next month, batted an eye.

Luck, utter ruthlessness and the wily art of switching sides have stood Mikoyan in good stead for more than four decades. Again he has managed to survive in the dark and often bloody Soviet politics.

The hawk-nosed, stoop-shouldered old Bolshevik with the clipped mustache is tough. He is a cynic, a hard bargainer. He is adroit.

Alone among Stalin's cronies and drinking companions, alone among the many non-Slavs who helped lead the Revolution, Mikoyan remains in the Soviet elite 47 years later, even though cast in the largely ceremonial role of president.

FLEES JAIL
Mikoyan was born of Armenian parents near the Georgian capital of Tiflis, a carpenter's son. When he was 20, he was graduated with full honors from a theological seminary, trained for the Armenian priesthood.

"But when I received my certificate," Mikoyan said later, "I had a very clear feeling that I did not believe in God and that I had, in fact, received a materialistic uncertainty."

Captured by anti-Communists during the civil war after the Bolshevik Revolution, Mikoyan staged a spectacular jail break and escaped the firing squad. An experienced street brawler with a smashed nose, Mikoyan caught on with the fast-rising Stalin, also a Georgian and an ex-seminarian. Although a full Politburo member by 1935, Stalin apparently never fully trusted Mikoyan.

But Mikoyan got through the bloody Stalinist purges by making himself an indispensable expert in foreign trade.

Mikoyan was the first Soviet leader to attack Stalin after the feared dictator died, opening the way for Khrushchev's famous denunciation of the Stalin personality cult.

To the outside world Mikoyan appeared to be Khrushchev's closest collaborator among the men who won the Kremlin after Joseph Stalin died. He backed Khrushchev in 1957 when the Central Committee's Presidium voted to get rid of him as Communist party first secretary. The full Central Committee reversed the vote, showing that Mikoyan had a sixth sense of how things would go.

Terror 'Artificial' In TV Scare Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Alfred Hitchcock's television suspense series over the years has specialized in irony. It is almost always present at the climax of each program, even when Hitchcock must add a tongue-in-cheek footnote to say that crime didn't really pay even when it seems to have paid off handsomely.

It is a well-produced, well-acted hour that keeps out of a format rut. This week's story was a scary script in which the terror was applied artificially by putting the principals in an abandoned waterfront shack literally overrun with rats.

This nasty business climaxed a story about an ex-convict and the blowsy widow of his cellmate frantically trying to recover some stolen money. Ann Sothern was particularly good as the overblown, tough widow. Fate took a gruesome hand in polishing off both of them at the end, so Hitchcock's footnote was not needed.

The program usually is at its bright best telling those dry, understated British-type stories, which so often involve soft-spoken husbands and some digging and cement mixing in a cellar. There was one such a week ago — complete with a surprising twist at the end.

That battling average of the program is much higher than most. Prime tip-off on Jackie Mason's troubles with the Ed Sullivan Show management came

Sunday night when the comedian finally wound up his monologue and the camera moved over to host Sullivan — whose face looked like a dark, angry thundercloud.

Even if one failed to react to Mason's gestures, and many did not even notice them — the casual viewer could see that the comedian was not winding up his performance as fast as the show's director wanted. On a live show, particularly a variety show, it is vital that acts obey instructions with drill team precision to keep the program on its tight time schedule. Mason seemed reluctant to leave the spotlight.

From this apparently innocent viewer's standpoint, Mason's worst sin seemed to be that he just wasn't funny and his jokes seemed pointless.

Dr. Malone, Daughter Tell Of Oriental Trip

Dr. P. W. Malone and his daughter, Mary Frances, showed films and discussed their trip to the Orient Monday evening for members of the American Association of University Women. The group met Monday in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association Building, and Mrs. John Harley, chairman of "The Occident and Orient" study group, introduced the speakers.

They told of the crowded conditions of the people in the East and showed the contrast of poverty and wealth in three cities. The reconstruction that has been under way in Manila since the war was explained. They showed pictures of the beautiful gardens in Tokyo, and noted the free trade that is prevalent in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Gary Sims presided at the business session and announced that a rummage sale will be held Nov. 7. The proceeds will be used for the group's scholarship fund at Howard County Junior College. Miss Anne Ratliff will be chairman of the sale assisted by Mrs. W. H. Hallmark.

Miss Nell Jones, chairman of volunteer work at the Big Spring State Hospital, reported on the volunteer meeting last week and spoke on work the group can do to assist there.

Refreshments were served to 30 members by Miss Gladys Burnham, Miss Elizabeth Daniel, Mrs. Irene Draper and Mrs. Ira D. Williams. A Japanese screen was used as a background for the refreshment table which was covered with a dark red cloth. A centerpiece of Indian corn, ornamental gourds, pyracantha and honey locust beans completed the decorations.

To Marry

Mrs. Susie Lynch of Lubbock and Logan Lynch of Sudan are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Lawana Sue, to James L. Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Garrett, Lamesa. The wedding will be Nov. 5 in Second Baptist Church.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower

Miss Martha Thompson, bride-elect of Marvin Simmons, was the honoree for a gift shower Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. V. L. Perkins, 1017 Ridgeroad.

Mothers of the couple, Mrs. W. L. Thompson and Mrs. L. M. Simmons, and Miss Thompson were given corsages of white gladioli. The three joined Mrs. Perkins in greeting the guests.

Mrs. W. L. Thompson Jr., registered those who called.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white madeira cloth centered with an arrangement of white gladioli.

Hostesses with Mrs. Perkins were Mrs. Doyle Vaughn, Mrs. Ira Bigham, Mrs. George Amos, Mrs. L. M. Crow, Mrs. William L. Fenley, Mrs. Bill Kuykendall, Mrs. Dee Bennett and Mrs. Bert Shive.

The marriage of Miss Thompson and Simmons will be held Friday evening.

Poppy Sale Activities Outlined By Auxiliary

Members of the Howard County Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary met Monday at the Legion Hut to make final plans for the Poppy Sale to be held Nov. 7. Chairmen for the event were appointed.

Mrs. Zelda Rea, general chairman, outlined the plans and conducted a question and answer session. The group will sponsor a Poppy Poster Contest in the junior high schools under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. R. Nichols. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 will be awarded for the three best posters which will be due Nov. 2. They will be displayed in store windows throughout the city. Mrs. H. J. Morrison will be in charge of publicity.

Mrs. Tim Jones and Mrs. Roscoe Cone will sponsor the junior auxiliary activities in the Poppy Sale. Mrs. Nancy Weatherly is in charge of finance, and Mrs. Byron Hill will have charge of the sale headquarters at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. H. D. Bruton will handle transportation.

Delegates were named for the 19th District convention to be held in Lubbock Nov. 14-15. They are Mrs. David Cothran, Mrs. Foy Dunlap, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. N. A. Rickman, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Jack Pearson.

Mrs. Leonard Barlow gave a report on the Veteran's Administration Hospital rehabilitation program and said the gift shop for the patients will be open Dec. 7-14. The auxiliary donated $75 for postage for the gifts.

Mrs. Bruton gave the closing prayer, and Mrs. Myrtle Kilgore's name was drawn for the door prize.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Agee of Lamesa announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Alma Ann, to George James, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. James of Alamogordo, N.M. The wedding will be Dec. 26.

Cactus Chapter Hears Soil Erosion Described

How early man exploited the land, leaving much of it in ruins, was described by W. M. Sowers when he was guest speaker Monday evening at a meeting of the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. The group met in the Western Room of the Wagon Wheel Restaurant where Mrs. A. C. Moore gave the invocation.

Sowers, representing the United States Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, showed a film entitled "Return to Eden." It told of how the soil was ruined in earlier years and what steps have been taken to stop erosion and soil losses by the use of conservation practices. He briefly detailed the duties of the soil conservation service and the correlation of other agencies of the federal government in matters dealing with soil and water conservation.

Mrs. T. D. Price presided in the absence of Miss Eunice Hickson, president, who was in Minneapolis, Minn., attending the national convention of the A.B.W.A. With her was Mrs. C. O. Trantham, "Woman of the Year" for Cactus Chapter. They will visit with Miss Hickson's mother on the return trip.

A letter of appreciation was read from the Big Spring State Hospital for clothing donated by the chapter.

The benediction was given by Mrs. Nannie Garrett, and Mrs. Carl Tippie, banquet chairman, announced that the next meeting would be at Price's Barbecue Nov. 16.

Mu Zeta Chapter Hears Program On Biblical Story

Mrs. Roy Granbery used the story of Ruth and Naomi from the Bible to illustrate her program on giving and receiving friendship at the meeting of Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Monday evening. Mrs. Derle Everett, 2703 Lynn, was hostess assisted by Miss Beverly Jones.

Plans for a tea to be held Sunday at Big Spring Country Club were made. The affair will be given by Mu Zeta and Beta Omicron chapters as the final phase of their fall rush activities.

A contribution was made for the Christmas Fund at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Refreshments were served to eight members at a table laid with a white lace cloth and accented with an arrangement of Talisman roses.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It takes so little to make some people happy—like making the right bid in a game of 42 or bridge, a bid that tells your partner what message you intended to send, or having your child find some lost article of clothing that had long since been given up for lost... now if we could just find the other clothing that has been lost we would be on an even keel.

Speaking of losing... when MRS. MAX FITZHUGH took off for a club meeting last Friday evening it was a costly outing. While she was away from home between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. her house was entered, although locked, and Mr. Fitzhugh's spring and summer suits were taken. Also son Bryan's guns were lifted.

CAPT. and MRS. JIMMIE HALE, Lisa and Bradley, were in Waco over Saturday to attend the Baylor - Tech game. The house was divided on the cheering end as Mrs. Hale is a Baylor graduate and he cheers for Tech.

An all-the-way Baylor party was one composed of JOHN COFFEY, D. M. MCKINNEY, DAVID PICKLE. They went down Friday morning and were out at the stadium in time to see the Bears warm up.

MRS. TOM BEASLEY and Tommy were over from Midland Sunday to visit with MISS RUTH BEASLEY who was injured in an automobile accident in Midland two weeks ago. Miss Beasley is hospitalized at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital.

Guests of MR. and MRS. JOE L. WOOD over the weekend were their daughter and her husband, MR. and MRS. OLLIE WOOD of Monahans. The latter Woods are very new grandparents, a daughter having been born to their son and daughter-in-law, MR. and MRS. JERRY WOOD, in Lubbock Saturday night. The arrival is the first great-grandchild of the local couple.

SHARON CREIGHTON was home from Dallas for the weekend with her family... minus her father, Merrill, who called in from his hunt in Colorado to tell the family he had shot an elk... Incidentally, GLORIA COKER is now one of Sharon's roommates. Gloria is working at two jobs; as a home economist at the State Fair and also with an insurance company.

MR. and MRS. GLEN SMITH were in Austin over the weekend to be with their younger son, Jimmy, who is hospitalized in an Austin hospital.

Beta Omicrons Accept Pledges

Thirteen pledges were selected by the Beta Omicron Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi during a called meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Taylor, 2309 Allendale. Also, the 12 members welcomed Mrs. Billy Wilhite as a transferee from Pecos.

A Halloween party for students at the Special Education School was scheduled Oct. 30. The sorority members will be hostesses and provide refreshments.

Tentative plans were made for a rummage sale in November.

Silver Drill Held By Pythian Group

Mrs. Herbert Johnson Jr. won the silver drill at the regular session of the Pythian Sisters, Sterling Temple No. 43, on Monday evening at Castle Hall. Mrs. Melvin Choate, most excellent chief, presided.

Mrs. L. D. Chrane won the capsule prize, and Mrs. Choate served refreshments to 10 members. Mrs. Chrane will be hostess at the Nov. 2 meeting.

Mrs. Roy Phillips was a guest.

Class Votes For Change

Mrs. Joe Goodman was hostess to 12 members and a guest of the Homemakers Class of the First Baptist Church Monday evening in her home.

Mrs. Jack Smith, president, conducted a business session when members voted to change the meeting night to the third Monday of each month. Also, they will send remembrances to Mrs. E. J. Mann and Mrs. Ray Shortes, both of whom are former class members who have moved from the city. Mrs. Mann has moved to Clovis, N. M., and Mrs. Shortes to Plainview.

Devotional thoughts were brought by Mrs. Ross Boykin.

Mrs. J. C. Pickle and Mrs. Herk Agee will be hostesses at the Pickle home Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

Golden Wedding Celebration Held

LAMESA (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jones celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday with an anniversary dinner hosted by their children.

The couple was married Oct. 17, 1916 in Munday and moved to Dawson County in 1923. A farmer, Mr. Jones retired in 1967.

Mu Kappa Has Dinner

A spaghetti dinner was held for members and rushees of Mu Kappa Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Monday evening in the home of Mrs. B. R. Newton, 4011 Dixon.

The guests were presented miniature flag name tags in keeping with the political theme, "All the Way With ESA," and campaign placards were displayed throughout the house.

Mrs. J. W. Dickens presented a program on the ideals of ESA stressing education, philanthropy and recreation.

Mrs. Robin Howell, rush chairman, gave the roll call of the states, and Mrs. Loy Carroll gave the opening ritual.

Refreshments were served at a table laid with a linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums, oak leaves and sea moss. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Asian Nations Studied By Martha Wesleyans

The Martha Wesleyan Service Guild of First Methodist Church met in the church parlor Monday evening for the second session of the study, "Nation In The Kingdom."

Mrs. Lina Flewelling, study leader, took the introduction from Barbara Ward's "The Rich Nations and Poor Nations," speaking of the responsibility of the church. She discussed the scientific and technical changes as well as the moral ones.

Miss Edith Gay was panelist leader for a discussion of countries in Asia which have gained their freedom. Participants and their subjects were Mrs. W. L. Vaughn, India; Mrs. M. R. Turner, Indonesia; Mrs. A. D. Franklin, Sumatra; and Mrs. Cass Hill, community centers in Korea. Mrs. H. Clyde Smith spoke of the demonstration of Christian concern and medical skill in the Wonju Hospital in Korea.

Mrs. Flewelling concluded the meeting with the question of the relation of Christianity to other religions in these countries and gave a true and false test. Members repeated the guild benediction in unison.

A Devotional For The Day

"How can you believe, who receive glory from one another and do not seek the glory that comes from the only God?" (John 5:44, RSV)
PRAYER: Save us, O Lord, from vanity and pride. Let our boasting be of Thee only, that Thy name may be glorified. Grant us Thy blessing as with thanksgiving we serve Thee. In the spirit of Christ we pray.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Calling The Shot

Apparently our military intelligence with regard to Red China is functioning well. Our experts correctly predicted the "imminent" explosion of Red China's first atomic device.
 The information most probably derived from aerial photographs made by photo-satellites and U2 reconnaissance planes. In the hands of expert interpreters, aerial photographs reveal that much needs to be known about a country.
 Undoubtedly early photographs spotted building activity in remote regions. Successive photos revealed great electrical transmission lines being strung to the site. The final nature of the activity could be deduced by atomic energy experts. From those deductions an exceptionally accurate timetable was prepared.

 Thus, U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was able to announce on Sept. 29: "For some time it has been known that the Chinese Communists were approaching the point where they might be able to detonate a first nuclear device. Such an explosion might occur in the near future."
 And it did, but what it may ultimately mean is not subject to such accurate conjecture.

Shift Of Population

There is one angle that should be kept in mind when the Texas Legislature comes to grips, as next session it must, with legislative and congressional redistricting. And that is this:
 Achieving equality of representation in Texas will not necessarily be taking voting strength away from rural people and giving more to city people. It will largely be restoring a fair measure of representation to people who have moved in recent years from rural areas to metropolitan areas.
 Executive Director Steve Matthews of the Texas Municipal League made the point this way:
 "Let me emphasize one thing that is unique about Texas. Unlike California and Florida, the metropolitan growth of our state has not come from the outside. We have not had a mass influx of migrants from other states.

Of all the large and fast growing states, Texas has more native population than any other."
 While Texas' total population growth has not been so rapid as that of the states with heavy immigration, it has been urbanizing as fast as any. It has more metropolitan areas (21) than any other state, and those areas now hold about half the state's population. Nearly eight out of 10 Texans now live in cities.
 Consequently, redistricting will not gain representation for some at the expense of others so much as it will restore representation to Texans who lost it by moving from rural areas and small towns to the cities and metropolitan areas. The point may be slight consolation to beleaguered legislators, but it should appeal to the people's sense of fairness.

Repercussion From Nikita Ouster

WASHINGTON — The big black headline, "KHRUSHCHEV OUT," jumps off the page and we are brought up short, aware once again that a revolutionary world will not stand still while we carry on our family feud.
 A large piece of the international landscape — a tough, rugged, proud, defiant Matterhorn — has suddenly dropped out of sight. Where and when the shock wave will end no one can foresee. The signs of trouble struck out everywhere in the Communist world. Yet so secret and mysterious are the ways of the Kremlin that the impending earthquake could not be detected.

THE IMMEDIATE concern is over how it will affect the presidential election. If the past offers any precedent, the upheaval should favor the President in the office. That was the reaction in 1956 when a double-barreled crisis exploded in the critical last days of the campaign.
 Britain, France and Israel attacked Egypt in a bungled effort that quickly failed. But before it failed the Eisenhower administration under the generalship of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles denounced the attackers in the United Nations. That put probably the greatest strain on the Western Alliance since the founding of NATO.

DULLES AND President Eisenhower were furious. The secretary reportedly said: "They can't do this to us in the middle of an election campaign." In the first shock the Republicans believed it would cost up to four million votes and even the election.

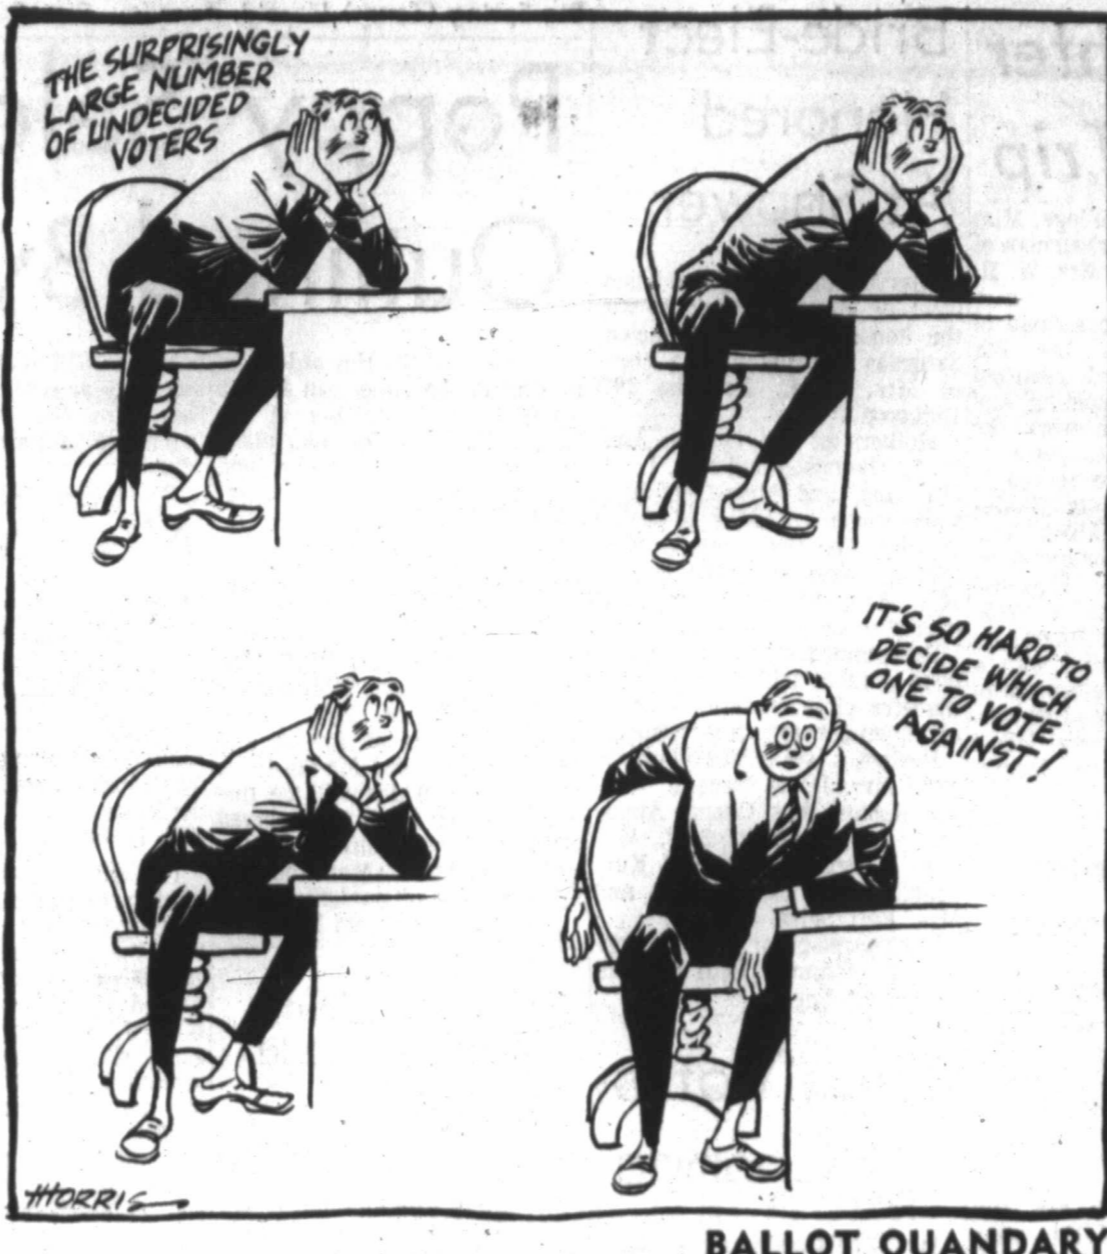

What made it doubly embarrassing was the Soviet suppression of the Hungarian revolt which came at the same moment. It was hard for Henry Cabot Lodge, America's ambassador to the U.N., to take a strong moral line when the principal allies, Britain and France, were guilty of open aggression against Egypt. The Hungarian rebels were brutally crushed by Soviet tanks, and loud criticism, particularly from the right, was directed against Dulles and Lodge for failing to come to their aid.

Campaign Still Dawdling - Almost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential campaign has been foggy, limping, undistinguished and tiresome. Then suddenly last week it got pushed into the background by a series of events unequalled since 1956.
 At that time — in the race between President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson—the voters were completely distracted by the British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt and the suppression of the Soviet Union revolt by the Soviet Union.
 But this is a new week, the campaign is still dawdling, and

It is doubtful it will get off the ground again before the election two weeks from today.
 With one exception — Red China's atomic explosion — last week's other occurrences also trailed wisps of fog. The exception in the Chinese case was its clear and final meaning: They are now a nuclear nation.
BUT EVEN this had a gummy quality to it since it is hard to visualize something called nuclear power and the Chinese won't have nuclear bombs for years.
 These were the other events, none of them yet clear-cut:

Walter W. Jenkins' two arrests became known; Soviet Premier Khrushchev was sacked; and the British voters threw out the Conservatives and put in the Laborites.
 Jenkins, President Johnson's top White House aide and a trusted helper for a quarter of a century, was arrested Oct. 7 on a morals charge similar to one on which he had been booked in 1959. Once the arrests were reported, after anonymous tipsters phoned newspapers, the fog set in.
 Johnson has asked the FBI to make an investigation. Monday Sen. Barry Goldwater asked FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover why no security check was made on Jenkins after he moved into the White House.

Down With These Pests

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we'd never miss: Smartly desk signs that say things like, "Don't sit there — go away!" Political campaign buttons. Women political campaign workers who knock on our door and want to argue the merits of their candidate, when they already are so full of martinis they can't pronounce his name.
 Skywriters who write messages in the blue that blow away before they can be read. Fat ladies who hold up snippy little dogs that snap at you.
 The grouchy housewife who won't give kids a baseball back if they knock it into his front yard. Picnics or outdoor barbecues held after Sept. 15. Cats that turn a snooty nose to a new kind of food after you go to a lot of trouble fixing it for them.
 Women over 40 who blow smoke rings through their nose. Cigarettes from their lips helplessly and then use that old movie line, "Light me, big boy." Wives who discuss their husbands' faults out loud while traveling on a bus.
 Cocktail parties held to launch a new business product. Trick treats. Any child over 12 who asks riddles. Letters that offer to help a fellow invest his spare cash when he already is two weeks late on meeting a bank loan payment.
 So-called humorous postcards so raw you have to hide them from the kids. Dirty books that pretend to have an important message for our time. Magazines so artfully blended typographically you can't tell whether you're reading an article, a piece of fiction, or an advertisement.

 Testimonial dinners at $25 a plate for people you never heard of. Pictures of politicians whispering into each other's ears. Photos of male authors smoking a pipe or holding the side of their head up with one hand in an attempt to look intellectual. Photos on book jackets of middle-aged or elderly lady authors taken during their sophomore year at an Ivy League college.
 People whose homes are furnished with things they got in exchange for trading stamps. Tree surgeons who charge more to cement an elm than it would cost you to have an ulcer cured. Truckdrivers who honk their horns to see how far a pedestrian can jump.
 Stores that sell switchblade knives. People who lure you into their homes on the premise of a good time, and then show you color movies they took at the World's Fair. Dail parks that charge you 30 cents for a dime hot dog. Anybody who insists on having you look into his gaping mouth to see what his dentist did to him last.
 From all these pests, and others, dear heaven, deliver us, Amen!

JENKINS IS a colonel in the Air Force Reserve Squadron commanded by Goldwater who is a major general in the Reserve.
 All this might make Jenkins' arrest a big issue in the campaign, although its effect on voters still isn't known and Goldwater apparently isn't going to let the matter drop.
 If nothing else had happened the Jenkins' case might have been top news as it unfolded from the time it broke last week. But it got shoved aside to some extent the morning after it broke by the news from Moscow.
 There Khrushchev had been fired from his job as Premier and no satisfactory explanation has been given on that, either. Nevertheless, the firing of this roly-poly, extroverted, bubbly Communist was kept alive by his own people.
WHILE the world and American voters were contemplating Jenkins and Khrushchev, the Red Chinese let go with their atomic blast and the British voters picked the Laborites to run the government.
 But the Laborites got such a thin margin of seats over the Conservatives in the House of Commons it was anything but a real mandate and may force another election soon.
 All these events together, as foggy as they were, distracted voters from the campaign which may never really recover in the few days left.

Oliver—That Sturdy Writer

In a recent effort of mine printed in this space I made reference to an ancient and battered Woodstock typewriter inherited when I took over a job on a morning newspaper many weary years ago.
 This brought some hoots of derision from some of the more elderly of my fellows.
"WOODSTOCK?" they chortled. "Why the first newspaper I worked on I used an Oliver."
 I never used an Oliver on any newspaper job I ever had, but I did own one of those remarkable machines and with it wrote some of the very earliest deathless prose of my career.
 The Oliver was a truly indestructible device. It had no resemblance to any other typewriter of its time nor of any which are now used.
THE TYPE BARS stood vertically in two banks atop the machine and when you struck one of the keys the bar struck downward against the paper which fed through in a horizontal fashion.
 The typewriter had only three rows of keys compared with four found on nearly all modern machines. To provide for additional characters, the machine had two shift keys—one marked "Cap" and the other "Fig." If you wanted a capital letter, you depressed the Cap key; if you needed a numeral or a punctuation mark, you pushed down the Fig. There were three type symbols on each key.
IT REQUIRED considerable vigor to make the thing write but once you got the hang of it and banged down as you should, the Oliver would keep faithfully on and on.
 I also found that the one I owned had another use. It served admirably as a door stop to keep the door in my room from slamming shut. When I wasn't writing on the thing, I placed it against the door.

IT WAS true that the Oliver collected quite a lot of dust in this role, but so what? It didn't hamper its potential efficiency. Whether dirty or clean, you knew, once you turned to it, you would have to exert considerable physical effort anyway. A little dust might mess up the way the letters would appear on the paper. And the ribbon, which you used as long as you possibly could read the finished product, did dry out pretty fast when the machine was doubling as a door stop.
WITH THE OLIVER, I wrote an awful lot of fiction which I was sure would be just what a lot of magazine editors were waiting for. The fact the editors were not quite as hungry for my literary efforts as I had thought was no fault of the typewriter. (I was also sure then that the reason my stories were not accepted by the editors was because of a great conspiracy on the part of magazine publishers and a favored few hacks these publishers favored.)
REGARDLESS, I discovered that the manuscripts I punched out on the Oliver had exactly the same remarkable qualities as other manuscripts I wrote much later on more modern machines. The editors sent these latter efforts back just as promptly as they did my first attempts.
 I would like to have that old Oliver now. It would probably sell today as an antique for a lot more than I paid for it when I bought it as a supposedly up-to-the minute writing machine.

The Running Mates

EN ROUTE BETWEEN CANDIDATES—"Love him, hate her," observed Dr. Clarence W. Couchmaster, the celebrated psychiatrist on national affairs. "A good many Americans feel that way about their neighbors—and about the party tickets. If they can take Lyndon, they can't take his political consort. If they feel in their hearts that Barry is right, they can't rid their minds of the notion that his Republican bedfellow was a bad choice."
 Was Dr. Couchmaster equating American political acceptance of the familiar couple with the social cognate of the same?
"YOU CAN'T GET away from national habits," Couchmaster insisted from the wisdom of professional experience. "Men are judged by the wedlocks they form. On a strict popularity test, the handsome, outspoken, guileless Republican candidate for President might easily be voted the man you'd most like to be alone with in a voting booth. But he'd have to bring along his running-mate, and you know what everybody says about Barry's frisky political spouse. She may have a heart of gold, but she wears her skirts too short. She reveals more Lockport felt than a lady should."
 Still, people sort of like the sight of a sporty stocking. Better to be shocked by impropriety than overwhelmed by plushy smotherhood.
"THAT'S WHAT Americans are up against when it comes to the choice of the second part," declared Couchmaster sadly. "Plenty of stalwart Democrats, defecting Republicans and discriminating independents wouldn't mind a home on the range with Lyndon, but the Amazonian affections of his wedded political partner are more than the citizenry should be called upon to bear. If Milla is a vamp, Humphra is a Mom from Momville. Who wants to be mommed by ever-care? Does anybody desire to be snuggled-in-perpetuity? Aren't there any borders to brotherhood at home and abroad? The wag-jaw radicalism of Lyndon's political love-mate is enough to make anybody yearn to be an out-cast and an orphan."

YES, IT WAS too bad somebody didn't filibuster the Senate until it was agreed to introduce a Constitutional amendment for abolishing the vice presidency. He travels fastest who travels alone. Johnson and Goldwater would have gotten wherever they're going a lot quicker without those fellow-travelers on the ticket. Whoever possessed Barry to pass up partners like Senator John Williams or Congressman Gerald Ford or Senator Thurston Morton? Whatever got into Lyndon when he didn't pick Senator Tom Dodd or General Max Taylor, as rumored he might?
"There's no accounting for taste," declared Dr. Couchmaster, who has sat beside the couch of many a marital wrong-chooser.

Richard Starnes
Kookie Art Of Crowdsmanhip

WASHINGTON — Political reporters are a sorry lot these days. Campaigning by airplane always leaves them vaguely uncertain about where they are, where they have been and where they are going.
 Television's leering eye has added to their discomfort, for gone forever are the days when a press table consensus would settle for all time the state of the candidate's health, or whether the lieutenant-governor was a drunk or just chronically stupid.
BUT FAR WORSE than any of these, political drones all over the Republic have discovered basic crowdsmanhip, which is nothing but the art of lying glibly about the size of the throngs that turn out to see their tiger. This is an art form that has been brought to such a high polish that today the mere announcement of an official crowd estimate will bring instant jeers from the wretched passengers in the press aircraft.
 Reporters are hard put to defend themselves and their readers against this sort of hanky-pank. Ancient sports writers are the only reliable sources of crowd estimates, as anyone who has ever bet with one on attendance figures can testify. Estimates by cops are wildly incompetent as a rule, and, as we have seen, estimates disgorged by ward bosses are invariably self-serving whoopsters that would make a Levantine rug merchant writhe with revulsion.
IN BROOKLYN last week, for example, Big Daddy was visited with the greatest turnout of the campaign to date. "There were multitudes, throngs, hosts, legions, thousands and perhaps even hundreds of thousands of political organisms and excited by their own febrile thought processes, some reporters concluded that in the Borough of Brooklyn alone the crowds had numbered three million souls. This is inherently incredible when one finds that in 1963 the Department of Health of the City of New York estimated Brooklyn's total population at 2,610,000.
THERE IS a rich and gaudy lore that has grown up around the art of crowdsmanhip. Forever enshrined in its annals is the story of President Johnson's visit to Louisville, Ky., a city whose 1960 metropolitan area census the World Almanac puts at 725,139. The town cops, who work for a Republican city administration, put Mr. Johnson's crowd at 35,000. But this brought an outraged howl from Gov. Ned Breathitt, a Democrat. The mass of humanity that flocked to see the Chief Executive, he insisted, was not less than 500,000, or more than 75 per cent of all those living in the metropolitan area.

IN 1960, when the late president Kennedy visited Knoxville, Tenn., a division captain of the state highway patrol put his crowd at 5,000, a fact which was dutifully recorded by the press. Some hours later, however, the same officer called newspapers and said with some embarrassment that after a telephone call from Gov. Buford Ellington, a Democrat, he had found it advisable to revise his estimate to 15,000.
THE CROWD BUSINESS is not entirely an innocent battle between reporters and the forces that seek to mislead them. Small and lackluster audiences bode no good for a candidate; with large, enthusiastic crowds the reverse is true. Brooklyn, where the turnout was huge even if talk of millions is plainly foolish, apparently showed that there would be no disaster to the President as a result of the Walter Jenkins scandal.
 Crowds will continue to be a legitimate part of political stories, and the war of the estimates will last as long as there is one mountebank braying at one handful of hirms with one reporter watching.

To Your Good Health
Don't Worry If Child A Little Late In Talking

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: My 21-month-old son doesn't say any words, except "maam" and "daaa." But he jabbars. I am worried because my other children were talking in sentences at his age. He seems to excel in everything else. Is there a chance that the anesthetic during his birth could have affected the speech part of his brain? —MRS. D. E.
 Since he's alert otherwise, I see little reason for you to be worried about him. And no reason to think that the anesthetic did any damage, because this would have been apparent in other ways.
 There's quite a difference in the age at which babies start to talk. This boy is a bit slower than average, but I've known youngsters months older who couldn't be coaxed to say a word, and who all of a sudden started talking in complete sentences.
 I assume that your doctor checks the baby. Unless he sees something suspicious (which I doubt) just give the boy time to talk when he feels ready. Boys customarily are slower to start than girls.

 Dear Dr. Molner: You have mentioned that a person should have a urine test to detect diabetes. Also about once a year the public is urged to have this test. From my own experience, and also that of a friend, the urine didn't show any sugar while a blood sugar test did show it. What is the use of a urine test if it doesn't prove anything? —MRS. D. J. S.
 I have often warned that in doubtful cases, or cases in which more precise diagnosis is needed, a blood sugar test should also be employed. (Or, even better, a sugar tolerance test.)
 Yes, the blood tests are more accurate. For one thing, in early diabetes, elevated sugar levels will show in the blood before enough sugar "spills" through the kidneys and into the urine.
 From the pure scientific standpoint, it would be wonderful if these blood tests were used universally.
 But from the practical standpoint, the urine test is simple, easy to perform, and inexpensive. It also will detect a substantial number of otherwise unknown cases of diabetes.

 Dear Dr. Molner: What is a "biopsy lesion" on the left cheek? My wife had this.—W. L.
 You mean a biopsy of a lesion, a lesion being any sort of injury, damage, or abnormal growth. Maybe a mole.
 A tiny bit of tissue was taken from it to be studied in a laboratory. This examination determines whether the lesion is cancerous or is not, and hence whether it ought to be removed.
 What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.
 Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

DEAR ABBY

Exceptions To The Rule

DEAR ABBY: You have said in your column that it is not proper to put "NO CHILDREN, PLEASE" on a formal wedding invitation...

Vatican Meet Faces Issues

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Questions of war and peace, love and marriage, science and progress, and brotherhood and justice came before the Vatican Ecumenical Council today...

The study being undertaken by the 2,900 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica is one of the most sweeping ever to be considered by an ecumenical council...

The opening lines of the schema on the modern world struck the keynote of the document. They said: "The joys and the anxieties of modern man, especially of the poor and the afflicted, are no less the anxieties and the hopes, the griefs and the joys of this council."

Some council officials warned against expecting too much from the long-awaited document. They said there is much it does not do. Others termed the document a brilliant example of the church's ability to think and speak in fresh, modern terms of significance to men everywhere.

VA Hospital Commended

An American Red Cross representative from St. Louis, Dorothy E. Goebelt, is visiting the Veterans Administration Hospital here today as part of a tour of veterans and military hospitals in Texas and Oklahoma.

Miss Goebelt is an assistant director for services in military and veterans hospitals for the St. Louis region of the Red Cross, which includes Texas.

The visit here concerns review of the volunteer program at the hospital and meetings with hospital officials. Miss Goebelt met this morning with Mrs. Ara S. Cunningham, director of volunteer services, and Mrs. A. W. Moody, deputy representative of the Red Cross and chairman of the Gray Lady program.

Miss Goebelt will also visit hospitals at Carswell AFB, Fort Worth, and Waco before returning to St. Louis. She commented that the volunteer program at the hospital here was comparable or better than at other VA hospitals.

Radio Clubbers Hold Drag Sunday

The distance drag held here Sunday by the Koffee Breaker Radio Club drew 41 participants operating 15 mobile units from Big Spring, Coahoma and Midland.

The trophy for being able to operate two-way contact went to KEBO427 (Bill Hembree of Webb) for a distance of 30 miles.

After the distance eliminations, the group had a coffee session at the 68 Cafe, and this turned out to be a surprise party for Mrs. Muti Robertson, secretary.

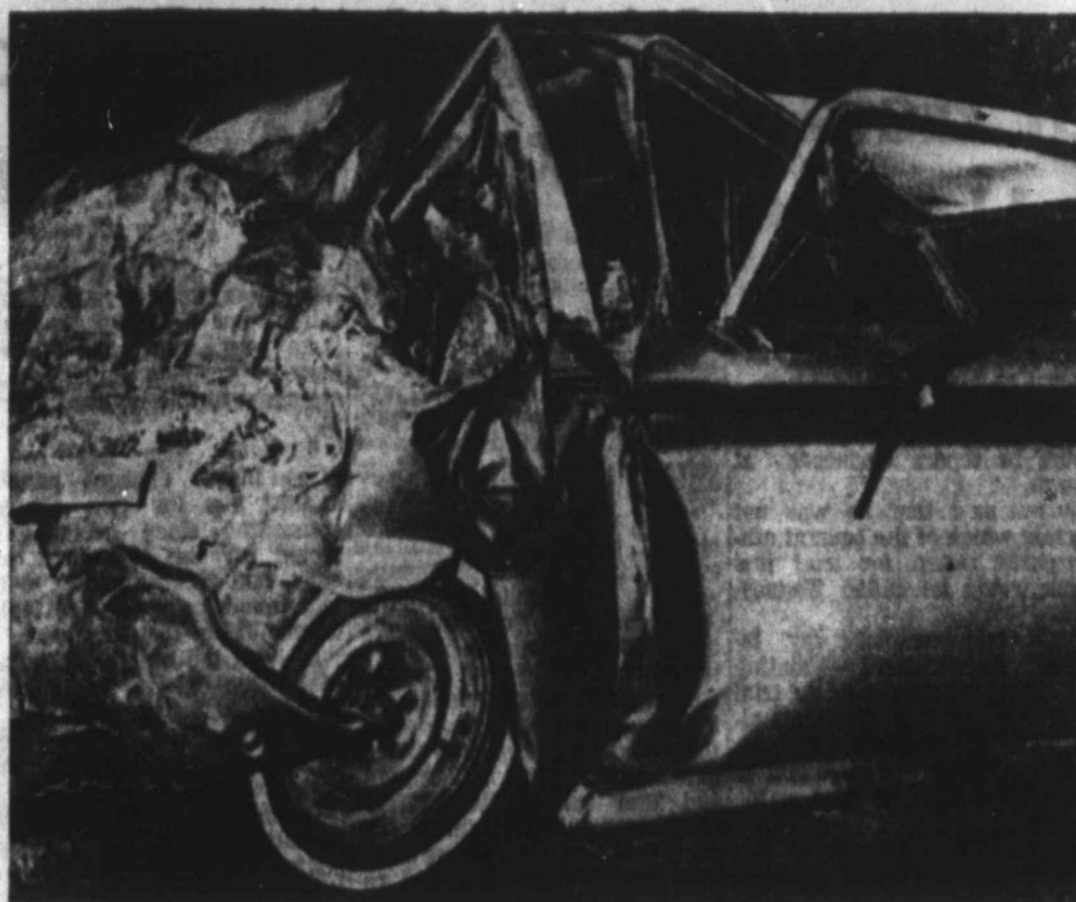

The club meets next at 98 Circle Drive at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 20.

Theme Humane In Official Talk

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare, says that the wellbeing of people is the only human goal worth achieving.

Speaking before about 400 persons at the dedication of the new St. Louis Jewish Center for the Aged, he said that man must match technical progress with social progress.

"By helping to free people from poverty, we release hopes and aspirations that otherwise would be stifled in a daily struggle for sheer survival," he said.

Barry Asks Probe On Security Angle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater wages his presidential campaign on three fronts today after asking for an FBI report on "possible security factors" involved in the case of resigned White House aide Walter W. Jenkins.

The Republican presidential nominee planned to spend the day recording a television speech dealing with foreign policy and developments in the Communist world.

He hits the road again tonight for an address at Pikesville, Md. He canceled a speech in Baltimore and postponed until Oct. 26 another at Salisbury to prepare the television show.

He is due to appear on nationwide television for a half-hour tonight to talk about morality in government.

LETTER TO FBI

Goldwater Monday sent a letter to the Jenkins matter to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. President Johnson asked Jenkins to resign a week ago after it was learned the White House aide had twice been arrested — on Oct. 7 and in 1959 — on morals charges. Jenkins was Johnson's top assistant.

Goldwater disclosed in his letter to Hoover that two FBI agents came to him in Chicago last Saturday to ask about Jenkins. He said they arrived at 6:30 a.m. to ask "whether I knew anything of the personal habits of Mr. Walter Jenkins."

"I informed them of my very limited knowledge of the man, based on the fact that he is a member of my Air Force Reserve squadron on Capitol Hill," Goldwater said.

The senator, a major general in the Air Force Reserve, commands the 99th Squadron, made up largely of congressmen and their aides. Goldwater said he thought it curious that two agents were assigned to conduct the brief interview, that the hour they arrived "reflected apparent urgency" — and that "my opinion of the subject's loyalty ... was not asked."

"SOLE INTEREST"

The senator said security questions are "my sole interest in this affair." He asked Hoover: "Why was Mr. Jenkins not subjected to a thorough security check and investigation upon moving into a highly sensitive position in the White House?"

"It certainly is apparent from what has already been disclosed that no such check was asked for or made."

The foreign affairs speech is tentatively planned for broadcast Wednesday night. GOP National Chairman Dean Burch — protesting the government's denial of free time to Goldwater to match President Johnson's Sunday night broadcast — asked for contributions Monday night to help pay for it.

Company Buys 15 Pct. Of Katy Railroad Stock

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—National Industries, Inc. has bought 15 per cent of the outstanding Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad stock, making it the largest stockholder.

Spokesmen said Monday the corporation has purchased 221,599 of the 1,475,975 outstanding shares of the line, known as the Katy.

In 1963 the railroad earned about $20,000 on operating revenues of about $52.3 million. In four of the last seven years it has reported losses and last paid a dividend on its common stock in 1930.

Forty per cent of the Katy's mileage is in Texas. It also serves points in Missouri and Kansas.

Stanley Yarmuth, president of National Industries, said his firm expects to replace several directors on the Katy board nominated by the State Street Investment Corp. of Boston, the seller.

National Industries was formed in May, 1963, as a merger of Kentucky Industries Trust Co. and Globe Industries, Inc. At the end of 1963 assets totaled $4,516,342 and at the end of July they totaled $20,233,231.

Johnson Maps Big Swing As Campaign Nears Finish

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is scheduling a series of home-stretch campaign trips.

Subject to the priorities of the presidential job, he is understood to have told his campaign lieutenants he will attempt to make personal appearances in all areas where they believe such campaigning will boost his vote total.

The President's obvious aim is not only to defeat Sen. Barry Goldwater but to rout his Republican opponent. This involves direct attacks on Goldwater's position in areas where the GOP strategists believe their candidate is strongest.

DUE IN OHIO

After a meeting Wednesday with his special advisory committee on foreign policy, Johnson is expected to take off again for Ohio. Goldwater has listed the Buckeye state as one he must carry if he is to win.

The President is scheduled to speak in Baltimore Thursday night. Maryland has been named along with New Jersey and Pennsylvania as among the middle Atlantic states where Goldwater's strategists believe he has a good chance.

These appearances may be followed by a presidential dip into Tennessee for a speech at Memphis. Goldwater's aides called the races in Tennessee and Arkansas close ones which their man could win. From Memphis, Johnson could expect to get local television coverage in both states.

The President also is considering a weekend visit to Florida. The Goldwater camp is counting heavily on Florida's 14 electoral votes and believes they are within the grasp of the GOP nominee.

All of the President's schedules remain highly tentative. He is reported committed to visit New York, California and Michigan before the Nov. 3 voting. California, with its 43 electoral votes, is a key state so far as Goldwater is concerned. The Republican nominee has made no claim that he can win New York's 43 electoral votes.

This is one of the reasons a Volkswagen's so reliable.

Volkswagens break down. Just like everything else in this world. But if everything else in this world could be put back in shape as easily as a Volkswagen, the world would be in pretty good shape. Volkswagens are easily fixable because fixing them was part of the original design. For one thing, Volkswagens don't change drastically from year to year. So VW mechanics get plenty of practice (and plenty good at) servicing Volkswagens. And they never have to fiddle with a carburetor, touch up a clutch, or yank out a cable with their fingers crossed. When improvements are made, most of the new parts are made to fit the older models. Which means you can get parts for vintage VWs without making a tour of the local junkyards for them. And Volkswagen parts are easy to install. We can replace a fender with just ten bolts. Or an entire engine in just ninety minutes. In fact, that's another reason Volkswagens hold together so well: they come apart so easily.

Thomas Blasts U. S. Sports Followers

TOKYO (AP) — American marksman Lones Wigger produced the United States only medal — a gold — little known Will Holdorf of Germany scored an upset in winning the decathlon and Boston's John Thomas qualified for the high jump final in the Olympic games today.

Thomas then sounded a rare disquieting note in these Olympics by blasting American sports fans. "They have no use for losers," he said. "They don't give credit to a man for trying. They have appreciation only for the champion, the man who finishes first. American spectators are frustrated athletes. They'd like to be champions, but can't. So they sit in the stands and cheer the champion and ridicule the loser."

Thomas' remarks set the stage for a showdown with Russia's Robert Shavliakidze the 1960 champion, and Valery Brumel, the world record holder, in the final Wednesday when the United States also sends out three favored relay teams on the last day of track and field competition.

PLAYERS OF WEEK

Sabbato, Wells Earn Scrolls

Defensive play of footballers in the Big Spring area caught the eye of Daily Herald observers last week, a factor that influenced the selection of winners of Players of the Week certificates.

BIG SPRING
LINEMAN — Consistency was the name for Skipper Sabbato, Big Spring's 190-pound tackle, in the game against Midland Lee last week. The big senior put up a lot of resistance in a losing effort and the coaching staff gave him high grades on defense. The Lee quarterback learned to aim his plays the other way.

DENNIS WELLS

BACK — A record passing performance earned the nod for Benny Kirkland. Gary Earhart also gained a lot of consideration for the honor, having emerged as Big Spring's top ground gainer of the evening. Kirkland completed 21 of 40 passes, good for 232 yards. All are District 2-AAAA records. Kirkland's ability to keep the Lee defense off balance kept the Longhorns in the struggle all the way.

against Jim Ned. Dykes used every play he had on the trip and all the boys performed well as Coahoma remained unbeaten. The Bulldogs seem to improve with each outing.

STANTON
LINEMAN — Two boys were named this week. One was guard Phillip Payne, a 155-pound sophomore who plays guard on offense and linebacker on defense for the Buffs, did much to pick up the Bisons after Stanton got off to a slow start against O'Donnell. In the words of coach Bill Milam, Payne was "a go-getter all night." The other honor is Carroll Anderson, 180-pound senior right end, who threw numerous key blocks that set the stage for important Stanton gains. Anderson almost broke for a touchdown on a pass on the last play of the game, after Stanton had safely staged away the victory. He had earlier set up a score with a 55-yard pass-and-run play. He was all over the field throughout the game.

SANDS
LINEMAN — A 178-pound center named Dennis Wells did much to boost Sands to a victory over Southland. Sands had to fight like all get-out late in the game to keep Southland from tying the score and possibly going ahead and Wells was in the middle of the scrap. He plays principally on offense and his blocking against Southland was most exemplary.

COAHOOMA
LINEMAN AND BACK — On the suggestion of coach Spike Dykes, the Daily Herald honors the entire Coahoma team for its consistently fine performance runs the 100 in 10.1. Long runs by fast boys like these have ruined Big Spring in two games. Ken Um, 190-pound fullback, has been effective in bulling for needed yardage. On the line, the Cougars have David Graham, 215-pound senior tackle, and John Scott, senior left end and who owns the district's best punting record. Another star-guard, who was ineligible a year ago, is Andy Anderson, 202-guard. It all adds up to the Steers having to hit hard and fast as they did in the Odessa game or being bruised out of the way and out of the conference race.

BACK — This honor this week has to go to a sophomore named Roger McCasland, a 190-pounder, who ordinarily plays behind Rickey Kemp. McCasland scored twice against Southland and ran up gains totaling 106 yards in 12 carries. Without him, Sands probably would have been beaten by the scrappy Southland team.

FRIDAY'S SCHEDULE — Sweetwater at Brownfield (C); Levelland at Brownfield (C); Snyder 2; Levelland at Littlefield (C); Snyder (C); Levelland at Littlefield (C); Snyder (C); Levelland at Littlefield (C).

Pilot Moves Keep Baseball In Headlines

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who says this is the football season? Although the World Series ended last week baseball still is getting a major share of the headlines on sports pages.

In rapid fire developments Monday, Branch Rickey resigned as player consultant for the world champion St. Louis Cardinals. Fred Hutchinson resigned as manager of the Cincinnati Reds and was succeeded by Dick Sisler, and Harry (The Hat) Walker was named manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates to succeed Danny Murtaugh.

And today Johnny Keane, who quit as manager of the Cardinals after winning the World Series, is expected to succeed Yogi Berra as manager of the New York Yankees.

Berra was fired after his one season as manager in which he led the Yankees to a fifth straight American League pennant.

Will the Milwaukee Braves move to Atlanta? The answer is expected to be forthcoming Wednesday in a meeting of the Milwaukee board of directors in Chicago. A news conference has been called for 11:30 a.m. EST, Wednesday.

The unexpected resignation of the 63-year-old Rickey left St. Louisans wondering what next? Bob Howsam, who was recommended by Rickey to succeed Bing Devine as general manager, announced Rickey's resignation and said nothing more. Neither did owner August Busch Jr. or Rickey himself.

Up in the air is who will be chosen to succeed Keane as manager.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat said in its Tuesday edition that Red Schoendienst, former star second baseman, is expected to be named the new Cardinal manager within three days.

The resignation of Hutchinson and the signing of Sisler was not a surprise. Hutchinson, ill with cancer, took a leave of absence on Aug. 13 and Sisler managed the Reds the rest of the season. Officially Hutchinson's resignation does not take effect until next spring so he can draw a full pension.

Walker, in signing a one year contract to replace Murtaugh who quit because of ill health, managed the Cardinals for part of the 1955 season after Eddie Stanky was let go.

Buckeyes Assume Top Spot In Grid Poll

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball managers aren't the only ones riding an un-merry-go-round this fall. The nation's college football powers have been playing musical chairs since the season's opening whistle, with Ohio State the latest to claim a precarious perch atop the shambles.

Ohio State's fourth straight victory, a 17-0 shutout of Southern California, coupled with Arkansas 14-13 upset of top-ranked Texas pushed the Buckeyes into first place in The Associated Press weekly poll today and dropped the Longhorns to sixth.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hott

Sports dialogue: MIKE MAZURKI, wrestler turned movie villain: "I play a sympathetic role in my next picture for a change. My captain wants to shoot the damn Indians and I tell him to let 'em go. I had to wait until Victor McLaglen and Ward Bond died before I could get into a John Ford production. I was discovered, while I was wrestling, by Josef von Sternberg, who discovered Dietrich. I've been in 124 pictures, and I've had every bone in my body broken when I was wrestling. There were no gimmicks then. It was a sport, not a show. Sometimes I'd like to play a priest or a civic leader, but you know how Hollywood is."

C. K. YANG

AVERY BRUNDAGE, president of the International Olympics Committee:

"There has always been a natural curiosity about what makes a champion tick . . . it is surprising, therefore, that a comprehensive international investigation was not started long ago . . . We cannot all become champions but the results of an intelligent study of this kind should prove of great benefit not only to athletes but to the world at large. We may learn about heredity, interesting facts on racial characteristics and racial mixtures, and perhaps an explanation of the superior performance of Negro athletes. Is it true 'we are what we eat'? What about 'athlete's heart,' on which there has been so much information? What are the effects of temperature and altitude? What is the age to begin strenuous and violent exercise and what is the age to stop? These are important questions."

DOUG HART, free agent from Arlington State, who starred in Green Bay's recent victory over San Francisco: "The 49ers completed a lot of passes in front of me. I'm just glad they didn't catch any behind me."

AL WOLF, Los Angeles writer: "The legend of Jim Thorpe took quite a jolt at the National AAU decathlon here recently. Thorpe won the 1912 Olympics but his performance, adjusted to the present scoring table, would have netted him just 6,261 points, good enough for only 18th place. Thorpe's best exceeded C. K. Yang (world record holder at 9,121 points) in only one of ten events, the 1,500 meters. However, conditions were much different in that faraway era — no starting blocks, mediocre coaching, haphazard training, had tracks, and one pair of shoes. Yang uses as many as seven pairs."

BOBBY UTLEY, present football center at Arlington State College: "During a game for Belton High, I snapped one over my punter's head and it rolled 38 yards into the end zone where they recovered it for a touchdown. Of course, I got a pretty good roll out of it. That's a record for the Texas Interscholastic League."

Coach RALPH JORDAN, after his team had been defeated by the University of Kentucky and Rodger Bird: "This just isn't the year of the Tiger; it's the year of the Bird. First it was Lady and Linda, and now Rodger."

PAUL DIETZEL, Army coach, after seeing films of a 1947 game in which he played: "Whew! I couldn't play for me."

Season's Best Turnout Witnesses Lee Contest

The season's biggest crowd, exceeding all but two which saw the Steers perform last year, sat in on the Big Spring-Midland Lee football game here last Friday. The paid turnout totaled 6,678.

The cash income from the contest amounted to $7,286.25. When the two teams played last year in Midland, the crowd amounted to 6,300, which contributed a total of $7,000 at the box office.

Tickets for the Big Spring-Cooper game, which will be played in Abilene Friday night, go on sale to season ticket holders only at the School Business Office at 5:30 a.m. Wednesday and to the public in general at the same hour Thursday. Cooper officials sent 1,300 adult and 1,000 student ducats here for disposal. The adult pastebord sells for $1.50 and is good for a location in the east stands of the Abilene stadium. The student ducat, available at the high school only here, sells for 50 cents. The tickets will remain on sale here until 2 p.m. Friday. Big Spring doesn't play at home again until Nov. 6, at which time it hosts Odessa Permian.

General Manager Ralph Houk, who announced Keane's signing at a giant press conference at a midtown hotel, said the 52-year-old Keane had been given a one-year contract. Terms were not disclosed but it is believed Keane will receive around $45,000. The grey-haired Texan was paid $35,000 by the Cards this past season, when he led the team to the Series championship, climaxing his 35th year in professional baseball. The Cards won the Series in the seventh game last Thursday and Keane quit the next day in a stunning move. "This is a great day for the Yankees," said Houk. "We are mighty happy and proud to have John join our organization. We hope he will be with us for a long time to come."

Plans for Big Spring's upcoming game with Abilene Cooper will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the Quarterback Club, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the High School Cafeteria. Action films of the Big Spring-Midland Lee game will also be screened, at which time coach Don Robbins will offer the narration.

Garland Club Still No. 1

DALLAS (AP) — Garland lost a little ground but still held onto the No. 1 spot in Class AAAA while all other leaders went their even ways in the Dallas News poll of Texas schoolboy football teams.

Victoria remained in third place but took one of Garland's first place votes. Garland got seven of the 10 sports writers votes, Amarillo Tascosa, No. 2, got one and Victoria two.

Otherwise Class AAAA remained the same and there was only one change in Class AAA, where Dumas is the kingpin. Conroe fell out of the rankings when it was beaten 18-0 by Cypress - Fairbanks. Bonham moved up from 10th to replace Conroe in ninth and McKinney returned to the rankings of No. 10.

Phillips stayed No. 1 in Class AA but Rockwall, the defending state champion, picked up support. Rockwall remained in third position but got two first place votes to none for No. 2 Ballinger.

Petersburg, the Class A defending champion, skidded out of No. 2 down to a tie for 10th when it took a 7-6 defeat by Idalou.

Hull-Daisetta rolled on as No. 1 in Class A and George West moved from seventh to No. 2.

The rankings: Class AAAA—1, Garland; 2, Amarillo Tascosa; 3, Victoria; 4, Galena Park; 5, Spring Branch; 6, Dallas Hillcrest; 7, Tyler; 8, Pasadena; 9, Port Neches; 10, San Angelo. Class AAA—1, Dumas; 2, Pharr-San Juan-Alamo; 3, Clear Creek; 4, Vidor; 5, Brownwood; 6, Andrews; 7, Palestine; 8, Weatherford; 9, Bonham; 10, McKinney.

Class AA—1, Phillips; 2, Ballinger; 3, Rockwall; 4, Hondo; 5, Crane; 6, Denver City; 7, Iowa Park; 8, Palacios; 9, Canton and Gladewater (tied). Class A—1, Hull-Daisetta; 2, George West; 3, Big Lake; 4, Clifton; 5, Three Rivers; 6, Seagraves; 7, Jefferson; 8, Hallsville; 9, Ozona; 10, Woodsboro and Petersburg (tied).

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, and total points:

- 1. Ohio State (35) 447
- 2. Notre Dame (2) 380
- 3. Alabama (3) 365
- 4. Arkansas (2) 297
- 5. Nebraska 230

Longhorns Should Have Won, Says Don Robbins

Big Spring could have won and should have won its game with Midland Lee here Friday night, coaches agreed after watching game film.

Although breaks at bad times and penalties when it hurt most crippled the Steers, Donald Robbins, head coach, thought with a more consistent brand of ball from key players, the Steers still could have won.

One thing for sure, the film shows the Steers were not racking 'em up as they did in the Odessa ball game. There were some exceptions. Robbins thought Benny Kirkland again did a fine job at quarterback. Some of the juniors came through with clutch plays and pass receptions. Among what the staff calls the team leadership, however, the blocking and tackling grades were low.

"We've never done a better job preparing for a team," said Robbins. "We rattled them with short passes just as we planned, and our defense setup was exactly right—except that it didn't get the performance we needed."

To add to his gloom, three players turned up ill. Steve McCormb, Mel Daves and Kirkland were all in bed Monday, probably with the flu bug. A rash of illness this last week kept practice and performance both below par.

Big Spring goes to Abilene to meet the Cooper Cougars Friday, and fresh from having broken a jinx by deadlocking Odessa 0-0, Cooper could be tough. The Cougars have been sort of a hard luck team this season, Robbins noted, and could be a lot tougher than indicated by their record. Last year Big Spring was lucky to get a 6-0 win over Cooper.

Charlie Soladay, senior quarterback, is a man to watch, as is George Cató, a tailback, who

Branch Rickey Refuses To Talk Of Decision

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Branch Rickey, baseball's old warhorse, resigned Monday as special consultant to the world champion St. Louis Cardinals and went into seclusion at a Florida hotel.

It was another astonishing development in a series of executive changes that have rocked the Cardinals since mid-August.

Neither Rickey nor key Cardinal personnel could be reached for comment, and there was little information in the terse, 15-word announcement of his exit.

"I have received Mr. Rickey's resignation as consultant to the St. Louis Cardinal baseball club," said General Manager Bob Howsam.

Ironically, Howsam is the man Rickey personally recommended to replace the fired Bing Devine, general manager seven years and affiliated with the Cardinals 25 years, had been named baseball's Executive of the Year in 1963 by the Sporting News after the Cards finished second in the National League race.

Howsam checked out of his St. Louis hotel. Cardinal President August A. Busch Jr. let his telephone ring unanswered as speculation soared over whether Rickey resigned or was fired.

The move had St. Louisans wondering, what next? Busch had brought the bushy-browed, cigar-smoking Rickey back into the Cardinal organization about 19 months ago. No sooner had the cagey old-timer arrived, than small disputes developed between him and Devine.

On Aug. 17, Busch fired Devine.

Special Football Bus Is Planned

A special bus for members of the Country Club who plan to attend the Big Spring-Cooper football game in Abilene Friday night is being arranged by Ty Allen, club manager.

Those planning to take the bus should contact Allen immediately for details as to time of departure and etc. His telephone number is AM 4-7701.

GOP Plans To Sue FCC In 'Equal Time' Refusal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Dean Burch says President Johnson's nationwide address Sunday night was "purely political" and the government's refusal to order equal time for

Sen. Barry Goldwater amounts to information "suppression and manipulation." The GOP will sue the Federal Communications Commission in an effort to overturn Monday's ruling that the President's television-radio broadcast — on air time provided free by the networks — does not fall within the equal time provisions of the Communications Act, Burch said Monday night.

FUNDS PLEA
The Republican chairman charged the administration with news suppression and appealed for funds to finance a half-hour broadcast by Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, Wednesday night. Johnson's "free program" was worth about half a million dollars, he said.

Burch spoke on NBC on time provided without charge by the network after it, CBS and ABC had rejected his request that Goldwater be given equal time to match Johnson's broadcast — on free time — and the FCC had backed up their decision.

After Burch spoke, Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey sent a telegram to William McAndrew, NBC's vice president in charge of news, saying the GOP chairman had "talked about extraneous issues and made a plea for contributions to the Republican campaign."

"I would like a response as to whether NBC believes the Democratic party is now entitled to time to respond," Bailey said.

Johnson was given time Sunday night to speak as president on last week's important foreign developments, which included China's detonation of its first nuclear device, the change in the Soviet Union's government and the Labor party's victory in Britain's election.

FREE TIME
Presidents customarily are given free air time to report to the nation on matters of moment. However, Section 315 of the Communications Act provides that radio and television stations must give equal time to all candidates for an office if it provides time for any of them.

Burch said that anyone who saw the President Sunday night would have to agree that "the sole purpose of the program was political."

In offering 15 minutes to Burch, NBC said it was giving him "an opportunity to express the Republican viewpoint on developments in Russia, China and Great Britain."

Plane Built By Russians Crashes

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A Soviet-built transport plane with 16 persons aboard, one of six delivered to the Indonesian air force last month, has crashed in southern Sumatra, reliable sources said today.

At least three persons died in the accident Friday in the Palembang area, the sources said.

State Hospital Head Resigning

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The superintendent of the San Antonio State Hospital from which accused slayer Leslie Douglas Ashley escaped has resigned.

Dr. Eaton Bennett, 58, a retired Army colonel, submitted his resignation to the State Hospital Board Monday. It is effective Nov. 10.

Dr. C. J. Rullmann, director of mental health and hospitals for the board, said the resignation "results from internal administrative practices and events which climaxed with the escape of Leslie Douglas Ashley."

PLAYS PART
Bennett said his resignation was not a direct result of Ashley's Oct. 6 escape but "it sure played a part."

Ashley, a female impersonator, was convicted along with Carolyn Ann Lima of the gun-torch slaying in Houston of real estate man Fred Tones.

Miss Lima and Ashley were within four hours of death in the electric chair when the executions were stayed and the convictions were overturned. Miss Lima was convicted again and sentenced to five years, while the jury in Ashley's second trial found him insane.

Rullmann said the hospital board and central administration staff members were not aware Ashley had been placed in the San Antonio hospital.

"Usually, more dangerous criminals are sent to Rusk State Hospital's maximum security unit," he said.

"It is not large enough for the number judged criminally insane and this forces all state mental hospitals to operate some kind of security ward. With inadequate facilities and staff shortages, the administrator's task is made much more difficult."

FLED IN CAR
At the time Ashley escaped, hospital officials expressed belief that someone slipped him a key. He fled in a car with Mrs. Mary Lou Wiederkehr, 25.

Mrs. Wiederkehr left Ashley in Denver, Colo., and gave up to police last Wednesday. She returned here and went into seclusion.

Bennett said "a change in administration might be good for the hospital—it sure is a man killer of a job."

The hospital did not announce a replacement.

Bennett retired from the Army Medical Corps in 1956 after 23 years service.

Rullmann said the resignation "should not reflect upon Dr. Bennett's skills as a physician and clinician."

Classing Office Has Slow Pace

LAMESA (SC)—Activity in the Lamesa Cotton Classing office was at a snail's pace during the first week of operation here. Only 2,548 bales were classed last week, compared to 20,374 for the same period of last year.

Fifty-one per cent of the bales classed were light spotted, 47 per cent was white and one per cent was white and one per cent spotted. Ninety per cent of the cotton was rated at 3.5 or higher in micronaire readings.

The majority of the cotton classed was middling light spotted.

In Your Heart You Know He's Right About PEACE

BARRY GOLDWATER SAYS: "I stand for the proven policy of peace through strength that was the hallmark of the Eisenhower years. It served the cause of freedom and avoided war during the last Republican administration. It will do so again. The Republican party is the party of peace through preparedness. This administration is letting the peace slip away as it has three times since 1914."

Extremism Hit By Humphrey

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey launched one of his hardest attacks on political extremism today and said "the responsible Republican leaders have temporarily lost control of their party to the apostles of discord and radicalism."

"By its refusal to condemn the lunatic fringe of American politics," said Humphrey in remarks prepared for a rally in this predominantly Republican city, "the Goldwater party has permitted into its ranks those individuals and organizations whose stock in trade is the politics of hate, the politics of despair."

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee centered his fire on the John Birch Society, Gerald L. K. Smith's Christian Nationalist Crusade and the Minutemen, whom he described as "a wild, right-wing group which trains its members for guerrilla warfare."

American politics, declared Humphrey, has "often involved a good deal of rough play. But never on this scale — never with this venom and personal invective."

Miller Assails LBJ On Spending Policies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Businessmen backing President Johnson may dine at the White House if Johnson is elected but the main course would be crow, says Rep. William E. Miller.

Addressing a crowd of about 2,000 in the San Mateo High School Monday night, Miller called Johnson's plan for "The Great Society" a "blueprint for the most powerful government and the most expensive government in the history of the United States."

His schedule in the San Francisco area included speeches today at San Jose and Oakland before flying east to Cleveland, Ohio.

In an attack on the President's spending policies, Miller painted a picture of rampant inflation with "printing-press money" — dollars so devalued that they would be "handled in bushel baskets."

Miller resumed his verbal pummeling of the Johnson administration in a statement issued as he arrived here from San Diego, where he had enjoyed a two-day rest from campaigning.

Ike Wonders About Ouster Of Red Boss

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says "I am not one of those who feels too good about Khrushchev being removed."

With the momentous change in the Soviet government, he added: "The Russians can go either way. They can move closer to us or closer to Red China."

Eisenhower discussed last week's developments in the Soviet Union and Red China in an interview with The Associated Press in his Gettysburg office.

He emphasized that he has had no briefings from official quarters, and repeated several times, "We are just speculating among ourselves here."

He spoke rapidly, in the manner of a man who has been thinking a good deal about the topics under discussion.

TAKE TIME
 The former president said he believed it would take the Chinese Reds several years before they become a formidable nuclear power.

Answering a question, he said: "I would think it would take five years to be a really significant thing, because one of the big things they have to work on is a means of delivery. And as for a means of delivery, they haven't any plane bigger than a fighter or a light bomber."

"The only place they can reach with that would be their old friends, the Russians. India would be the only other place I can see where they would be any good. And even there, you couldn't use much of a fighter plane. No, I think that until they get any real nuclear capability, they might build defensive weapons."

However, Eisenhower said, he could envision potential trouble if or when Peking begins to develop a sizable nuclear capability.

"As it begins to develop, the tension begins to mount, because now you have a country that very definitely said it was going to take over Formosa (site of the Nationalist Chinese government) and they will be delighted to do it by war," Eisenhower said.

BIG TROUBLE
 "That was one of the big troubles between Khrushchev and ourselves. He says, 'You can't do this by war.' But I tell you, if that situation develops, then I think Russia would be a little more scared than we."

Asked whether he thought there might have been any connection between the atomic explosion in Red China and the removal of Nikita S. Khrushchev as head of the Soviet government, Eisenhower replied:

"I wouldn't think that would be. You see, the reason is that they must have engineered a coup d'etat on awfully short notice, in a rapid time. Knowing well of the development, this might have happened by coincidence right at the same time."

"But I don't think this particular explosion and this other thing were very closely connected."

Eisenhower indicated that he has been examining a number of possible factors in Khrushchev's expulsion and said:

"I know that's where he expected to stay. He constantly told me he would be there much longer after I was gone, and I would say, 'Yes, that is true.'"

THERE'S REASON
 "There has to be some reason for throwing the man out. If we can determine the correct reason, then we would know how to cut our own cloth."

He said he does not believe the Kremlin wants a nuclear war.

"At the time they were building the H-bomb, which I believe was a result of espionage, they also were building great public works that could be destroyed by one bomb. So I have the conviction that they would not start a nuclear war. I don't believe they will start one even if we have serious difficulties with them," Eisenhower said.

Court Gets Estes Appeal

EL PASO (AP)—Billie Sol Estes appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court Monday in a last-ditch try to escape a 15-year federal prison sentence for fraud and conspiracy.

At least four members of the Supreme Court would have to agree to accept Estes' petition for a review and reversal of a 5th Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that upheld his conviction.

The bankrupt former agriculture financier faces immediate imprisonment if the high court rejects his plea for a writ of certiorari for review. If the court accepts the petition, a hearing probably will be held early in 1965.

The government has 20 days to answer Estes' petition.

In his appeal Estes contends he was indicted in El Paso by a jury that was not impartial; that U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason erroneously instructed the trial jury, made improper and coercive remarks to the jurors, and wrongly sent written instructions to the jury; and that the jury was swayed by adverse news accounts.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans upheld Estes' conviction and sentence in August. It also praised Judge Thomason's trial conduct under pressure of widespread pre-trial news coverage.

Estes was indicted in 1962 for taking mortgages from West Texas farmers on non-existent fertilizer tanks. His estate was forced into involuntary bankruptcy and the assets sold.

Advance Marked In Stock Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early today. Chrysler was up 1/4 and Bethlehem gained 1/8.

U.S. Steel, GM and Consolidated Edison were unchanged. Fractional gains were made by American Can, Douglas, Ward, Sears and Pennsylvania Railroad.
