Spooks And Fun

Students at Park Hill School this morning launched their Halloween festivities early. Michelle Coffee (left) was trying out a giant apple; Paul McComb (center) fulfills all the attributes of a sad-faced clown, and Roy

Chaney was busy watching the photographer while his brother, John, was more interested in something else. But all were having a good time. (Photo by Kenneth Good)

Full Halloween Schedule Awaits Goblins And Spooks

Big Spring will be full of activity Saturday night, (Halloween) as "Trick or Treat" groups go from door to door; church young people work for contributions to CROP; dancers go to various locations for an evening of fun, and motorists drive up and down the streets looking after youngsters visiting homes.

"If there ever was a time when motorists should be careful, it will be Halloween night," Leo Hull, assistant chief of police, said Friday. "We do not anticipate trouble, but we will have our full force, plus some reserve officers working, to help regulate the flow of traffic and prevent car-pedestrian accidents."

Several schools will have their annual Halloween carnivals and programs, church youths will be going from door to door, and several dances will be held, to add to traffic flow Saturday night.

High school students will hold the annual Harvest Carnival at the high school. Elementary school carnivals will be held at Airport, College Heights, Boydston, and Kentwood schools. Three schools, Cedar Crest, Park Hill, and Lakeview, held carnivals Thursday night. No activities at schools will be held tonight because of the Steer-Midland football game at Midland. Beginning shortly after 7 p.m. Saturday, youths from the First Methodist, Wesley Memorial Methodist, and Kentwood Methodist churches; First Christian Church, and St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, joined by other church volunteers, will make a door-to-door canvass in an effort to aid the community resources program of Church World Service. Contributors may designate their gifts for the overseas agency of their choice.

The Coahoma Methodist Youth Fellowship will begin a door-to-door canvass for CROP at 7 p.m., to join the nationwide movement. The Fraternal Order of Eagles will stage a special Halloween dance, for the benefit of the Howard County Rehabilitation Center. The Eagles will furnish the ballroom, at the Setles Hotel, along with Roy Sutton and his six-piece Western Buckaroo Band, for the dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets may be obtained from Eagle members at $1 each per person. All proceeds will go to the Crippled Children.

The annual Halloween dance sponsored by the Knights of Columbus will be held Saturday night at Cosden Country Club.

The public is invited to participate in the festivities.

Music will be furnished by the Continentals, and dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Dress is optional, either costume or party attire. Tickets may be obtained from any Knight or may be purchased at the door. Refreshments will be served cabaret style, and prizes will be awarded for the best costume.

A midnight show at the Ritz Theatre Saturday will be Edgar Allan Poe's "The Masque of the Red Death," starring Vincent Price. The Halloween show will be on when most other events have ended.

"Pinocchio," with the Nicolo Marionettes, will be at the city auditorium at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, sponsored by the Y's Men's Club of the YMCA. Tickets, at 50 cents per person, are available at the YMCA office and at the door.

Clyde McMahon Jr., president of the Y's Men's Club, said "Pinocchio" will be performed in the version first appearing on Broadway, which prompted critics to rate it as a "miniature revolution in the puppet theatre."

The world-famous Nicolo Marionettes in Pinocchio, a musical adventure story, are presented in the favorite tale for children of all ages, and will be presented in its original form—with wooden puppets.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO CITY SUBSCRIBERS

Effective Sunday, November 1, The Herald will handle subscriptions delivered to homes in Big Spring on a monthly, rather than a weekly basis.

The rate will be $1.75 per month, in advance, for 12 months instead of 40¢ per week for 52 weeks, so that the rate is virtually the same.

The change is being made principally for the convenience of customers and the newsboys. You will be asked to pay on the monthly basis, then will not be called upon every week, as has been the case in the past.

The new procedure is designed to help both you, the reader and the boys who serve your route. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Over 700 Vote Absentee

More than 700 Howard County electors had cast absentee ballots at noon Friday and the demand for such ballots was still continuing strong, according to Pauline Petty, Howard County Clerk. Mrs. Petty said that there had been 679 absentee ballots polled when her office closed at 5 p.m. Thursday, and that there were voters waiting for ballots when the office reopened Friday morning.

Deadline for personal absentee voting ends at 5 p.m. today. Thursday saw 85 voters cast their ballots in the clerk's office and the deputies handled 22 ballots received by mail.

Mail ballots received by Mrs. Petty will be accepted if they bear postmarks not later than midnight Nov. 2. Local residents will not be able to vote absentee after 5 p.m. today.

Blaze Toll Hits Seven

COLUSA, Calif. (AP) — Seven elderly persons, groping blindly in thick clouds of smoke, were killed today in a fast-moving fire that burned down the Oak Manor Rest Home for the aged.

"They were dead when the fire reached their bodies," said Colusa County Coroner Howard Moore. He attributed all the deaths to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Cause of the fire was being investigated. Moore said a caretaker, Ernest Linebaugh, 24, and an inmate, Rosa Rourke, in her 50s, repeatedly ran into the burning one-story wooden building to bring out six other surviving inmates.

Berlin Wall Opened; Thousands Pour Out

Separated Kin Reunite With Haste

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of happy West Berliners streamed into the Soviet sector today to visit relatives after the Communists opened the Berlin wall for the second time in three years.

A few hours after Red guards raised the candy-striped steel barriers and unlocked the steel gates, the official East German news agency reported that 6,000 West Berliners had crossed over.

This was far more than expected. On the first day of last year's visiting period, the first the Reds had allowed since they built their wall in August 1961, only about 4,000 crossed all day.

UNTIL NOV. 12 The wall will remain open to persons with the necessary passes until Nov. 12 — over the All Saints' holiday. It is the first of four visiting periods within the next 12 months.

At the Oberbaumbruecke checkpoint, the first crossers began waiting in line shortly after 5 a.m. It was a damp morning with temperatures just a few degrees above freezing.

Most of those crossing over were older people since today is a working day. Only persons working for government offices were given the day off.

The visitors carried big shopping bags filled mostly with such items as butter, coffee, cocoa and fresh fruit. They are scarce or very expensive in the East.

GOOD FOR DAY Passes through the wall were good for only one day, until midnight.

The rush through the Iron Curtain was not as great today as it was on the first day of the Christmas-New Year visiting period.

Huong Named Viet Premier

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Tran Van Huong, former mayor of Saigon, was named today to succeed Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh as premier despite ill health which hampered his work as mayor.

Huong, 60, said he planned to name Dr. Nguyen Luu Vien, Khanh's uncle, as deputy premier and defense minister. His other Cabinet choices were not certain.

Huong's appointment by the new chief of state, Phan Khanh Suu, must be confirmed by the 16-member high national council responsible for setting up a new government.

Because of Khanh's relationship to Vien, there could be strong opposition to Vien's being named defense minister. In that post he will have a seat on the powerful four-man national security council, and Khanh is expected to fill one of the other seats as chief of the armed forces.

Vien was interior minister in Khanh's last Cabinet. "I'm not sure whether I should be congratulated or offered condolences," Huong said.

Site Selection Team Winds Up Investigation

A federal government team today wound up its work of surveying possible sites for a new post office and federal building in Big Spring. It was indicated that a report on its findings will be made out of Washington in a matter of weeks.

L. N. Stuart, chief of space management division for the General Services Administration, Dallas, said his group could make no announcement, but merely was directed to submit its findings to the GSA and the Post Office Department in Washington.

Stuart and a half-dozen others have spent four days in the city, and gave personal attention to every block in an area bounded by Second and Eighth, north and south, and Lancaster to Nolan, east and west.

He said the federal representatives had been given a most cordial reception here, and "in very few places have we found so many people to be so cooperative and so interested in what might be best for their community."

Stuart lauded E. C. Boatler, local postmaster, as a "dedicated man who obviously has the full respect of this community," and said Boatler had been most helpful.

Stuart told city officials that he felt his group had agreed upon a site which will meet all the government criteria, and can be obtained within the cost allocated. He said the matters of topography, utilities and location with the relation to the business district all are favorable.

A couple of other tracts—all of them full city blocks—have been given serious consideration, the GSA official said, and

City Loses Case For Higher Rates

City Manager Larry Crow said today the city probably will appeal the decision returned for the state in the 53rd District Court at Austin Thursday. Judge Herman Jones ruled in favor of the state concerning the lawsuit filed by the city against the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools.

"I guess it will be appealed," Crow said, adding a decision will be made by the city commission.

City Attorney John Burgess said this morning he had telephoned J. O. Hinsley, an Austin attorney retained by the city in the suit to try the case, and that Hinsley received a letter Thursday from the judge indicating the decision had been entered in favor of the state.

Burgess said a copy of the letter had also been mailed to his office. Burgess said he would recommend that the decision be appealed.

The city filed suit Sept. 27, 1963 to set aside the contract signed with the state in 1937 providing water at 10 cents per revise rates upward.

The state had contended that 1,000 gallons for the Big Spring State Hospital, attempting to the contract signed in 1937 was a perpetual one, since no expiration date had been included.

The city had filed the lawsuit with the contention that a decision of the past city commission could not bind present and future commissions concerning the contract. The city claims the cost of the raw water furnished to the hospital is around 35 cents per 1,000 gallons.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Gems worth approximately $200,000 including the world's largest star sapphire, the "Star of India," were stolen during the night from Manhattan's famed Museum of Natural History police reported today.

Steel Price Raise Talk Fades Away

NEW YORK (AP) — Talk of a steel price rise died down today, apparently spied by disapproving word from President Johnson.

But the question remained: Was it a pre-election lull on the part of steel leaders who have warmly argued for a boost recently, or has the President—plus glowing profit reports—given them enduring pause?

The Johnson point that steel profits, anemic two years ago, now are swelling rapidly was underscored Thursday when Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 producer, reported that July-September earnings had jumped 10 1/2 per cent from a year earlier, rising to $36.3 million or 7 1/2 cents a common share.

For the first nine months of this year profits climbed 58 per cent to $104,928,160, a seven-year high for such a period and more than the company earned in all of 1963.

Even so, Edmund F. Martin, Bethlehem chairman, said the nine-month margin—a 6.3 per cent return on sales and 7.8 per cent on invested capital—wasn't good enough.

"If we were satisfied, I would hope somebody would fire me," Martin told newsmen.

This was roughly what several other steel company executives have been saying.

Martin refused to say anything about prices, even why he wouldn't discuss them. Three months ago he indicated support for higher prices.

A tally of 1964 earnings of the 10 largest steel companies at the three-quarter mark showed profit of $576.5 million, up from $457.1 million in the like period of 1963 for a gain of 26 per cent.

'Hot Line' Still Idle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington-Moscow "hot line" has stood idle while President Johnson exchanged messages with the new leaders of the Soviet Union.

This may come as a surprise to many people who, judging by inquiries about the hot line operation, apparently have the impression that it is a regular channel of communications between the White House and the Kremlin.

U.S. officials said today, however, that in fact the line has never been used for substantial exchanges of views between the American and Soviet governments. The reason is that when it was opened Aug. 31, 1963, both governments had already reached agreement that it would be employed only in times of crisis.

The theory behind creation of the special communications channel is that in a moment of extreme danger the ability of the President of the United States and the leaders of the Soviet Union to send messages to each other directly and in secret might help to avoid actions which would plunge the world into nuclear war.

Russell Logan Hurt In Wreck

Russell Logan, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Logan, suffered serious injuries in a car mishap near St. Louis, his parents have been informed.

He sustained a broken hip and pelvis and is in a cast in a St. Louis hospital. It may be possible to fly him back to Dallas this weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Logan were informed. Russell Logan is associated with Texas Instruments and was en route to New York on a business trip when he was hurt.

Rich Merchant In Tax Stamp Case

HOUSTON (AP) — Officers filed tax stamp counterfeiting charges against seven men — including a wealthy Houston tobacco merchant—today following the recovery of a state cigarette tax stamping machine which had been missing since 1957.

The state comptroller's office estimated the machine has cost the state $4.2 million lost revenue since it was stolen seven years ago.

Six of the arrested and charged men were transferred to jail in Austin Thursday night.

Tobacco merchant Mar Schepps, 53, the seventh charged man, was sought by authorities.

Justice of Peace Jerry Dellana at Austin set an $80,000 bond for Schepps. Lesser bonds were set for the other six.

Schepps was accused on four specific counts by Dellana. They were possession of counterfeit cigarette tax stamps, use of such stamps in the sale of cigarettes, placing of such stamps on packages of cigarettes and printing of counterfeit cigarette stamps.

Truman Said Doing Well

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was reported doing fine Thursday in his recovery from injuries suffered in a fall at his home Oct. 13.

His wife, Bess, said he was taking his exercise in the yard and has been doing a lot of reading but does not plan to go back to the office for a few days.

The 80-year-old Truman suffered two fractured ribs and a cut over his right eye when he fell in his bathroom. He was released a week ago from Research Hospital.

World Red Meet Shapes Up But Mending Split Unlikely

By The Associated Press A World Communist meeting with Red China attending—is a probability in the near future. But any attempt to heal the split in the global revolutionary movement seems headed for failure.

The new Soviet regime in all likelihood will be unwilling and unable to pay Peking's high price for peace.

Nikita Khrushchev's scalp was only the first installment the Chinese Communists demand for muffling communism's internal warfare.

Khrushchev's successors — party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin — seem anxious to mute the noisy criticism from Red China and its allies. But if they are going to get anywhere, they must eventually show a tougher policy toward the United States and even risk new tensions.

It is doubtful the new regime wants to alarm the Soviet people with a prospect of a turn backward toward Stalinism. It does not want to alarm the European Communist satellites, which have had a faint taste of independence. It does not want to alarm West European Communists, whose only prospects for gains lie in lulling the opposition.

Khrushchev's successors claim to support his policies of peaceful coexistence and higher living standards at home. At the same time they claim to stand for restoring world Communist unity.

The Chinese Communists seem interested now in a meeting with Moscow. They had rejected Khrushchev's call for a preparatory meeting Dec. 15 intended to lead to a world conference of 90 parties in mid-1965, but things have changed.

Barry Trying But Johnson Appears Still Holding State

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater is making an all-out effort to capture the 25 electoral votes of President Johnson's home state of Texas. But Johnson appears to hold the lead.

Goldwater's scheduled visit Saturday to San Antonio will be his sixth to Texas since the presidential campaign started. Johnson canceled a campaign trip to Texas earlier this month because of world events, but sent Mrs. Johnson on a flying visit here.

Although the Republicans hold a big lead in campaign mileage, the Democrats are ahead in pre-election polls.

LATE POLL

A "semifinal" survey taken by a national pollster among 7,007 Texans in early October brought forth the prediction the Johnson-Humphrey ticket would get 64 per cent of the Texas vote, Goldwater-Miller 29 per cent, 7 per cent undecided. A Houston Chronicle survey taken within the last two weeks favored the Democrats with a 57-43 per cent prediction.

Until 1952, Texas was considered traditionally Democratic and a part of the Solid South. Ticket switching and splitting swung the state to the Republicans in 1952 and 1956. In 1960, John F. Kennedy switched it back to the Democrats by a meager 46,000 votes out of 2.3 million cast.

ROSY YEAR

"The year 1964 is the year of golden opportunity for Texas Republicans," said State GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell.

An Associated Press survey of precinct level campaigning in some of Texas largest cities last week showed that Republican grassroots workers started first, with the most zeal. Democrats are working hard to catch up.

Ticket splitting — voting for some candidates in the Democratic column and others in the Republican column of the ballot — is an old Texas custom.

Party strategists point to the gap between the one-half per cent victory margin for Democrats in 1960 and the 1.4 million that voted in this year's Democratic primary compared to only 143,000 in the Republican primary.

"Ticket splitting may well be

GOP candidates strongly support Goldwater.

Yarborough has appeared with President Johnson on every opportunity in Texas and brags about the President's support.

Texas Gov. John B. Connally feuded with Yarborough over state party control earlier this year and has done no active campaigning for the senator. Connally has made no formal campaign against his Republican opponent Jack Crichton of Dallas, and in recent weeks has campaigned for the national ticket with the President and Mrs. Johnson.

POLL TAX
Since Texas is one of the states still requiring payment of a poll tax — $1.75 — the entire ballot of national, state and local candidates, plus three proposed state Constitution changes, will be open only to the 2.4 million with poll tax receipts and those with exemptions for over and under age. Another 84,300 get a free vote for the federal candidates only because of the federal antipoll tax ban.

Civil rights has not been a direct issue in Texas campaigning. However, in the past the Negro and Latin-American vote has been considered largely Democratic. This year the estimated total of 375,000 qualified Negro voters is 73,000 higher than last year.

Peace Corps Duty In Malaysia Told

AYER BALOI, Malaysia (AP) — The pretty brunette, dressed in a clean, white nurse's uniform, pedaled her way carefully along a rutted dirt road in the heart of Malaysia's rubber plantation country.

A village woman shouted "Missy" in friendly greeting and Erin O'Brien, 24, turned to lift her arm in reply.

At the same moment she lost her balance, plunged from the side of the road and sailed head first into a rain-filled drainage ditch.

Erin recalls the incident that occurred shortly after she arrived here in February as a Peace Corps nurse.

made me appear very human," she says.

The ice may be broken with the villagers but a strong element of danger persists around the young registered nurse. She has been thrown directly into the middle of Malaysia's fight against Indonesian guerrillas.

More than 100 guerrillas landed within a few miles of her bungalow a few weeks ago. Malaysian forces killed or captured more than 60 but the rest disappeared into the expanse of rubber plantations and dense jungle.

Erin takes a casual attitude toward the whole matter.

The young colleen — who grew up in Elmira, N.Y., but now lists Boca Raton, Fla., as her home — has too many expectant mothers and wailing babies to take care of to be concerned with a few armed Indonesians. When Malaysian forces clamped a 21-hour curfew on the area shortly after the landing, Erin's main concern was for the needs of the villagers.

ON THE GO

Since the ban was lifted, however, she has been on the go almost every day, sometimes bicycling 16 miles a day to see her patients and discuss their needs in fluent Malay.

Her career with the Peace Corps began, by coincidence, on Sept. 16, 1963 — the day Malaysia was formed. Behind her lay her childhood spent mostly in Elmira, schooling in Baltimore and two years in pediatrics at Johns Hopkins hospital.

Guard Ejects 'Peace' Group

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A boat-in by five Quebec-to-Cuba peace marchers ended abruptly when Coast Guard personnel threw them off the base.

When they sailed Tuesday for Cuba, the Coast Guard intercepted their 24-foot boat and towed it back to the Coast Guard station. The marchers refused to leave and spent 24 hours aboard the vessel before being ejected.

The marchers, members of the Committee for Non-Violent Action, were: Bradford Lyttle, 36; Erica Enzer, 38, of Chicago; Marvin Davidov, 33, of St. Paul, Minn.; Peter Gregonis, 38, of Oregon; and Robert Clapp, 26, of California.

Cranes Again Invade Area

AUSTIN (AP)—Large flights of sandhill cranes, on their way to winter grounds, are descending on West Texas, Parks and Wildlife Department said today.

Officials estimated 5,000 to 6,000 cranes can be found near Big Spring and even greater numbers are on the High Plains west of Lubbock and Amarillo.

The sand hill crane season opens Saturday and ends Nov. 29. The cranes may be hunted from sunrise to sunset in an area of West Texas formed by U.S. 277 from Del Rio to San Angelo, then along U.S. 87 to its junction with U.S. 287 at Dumas and northward to the Oklahoma border.

The daily bag and possession limit is two birds.

CREATES CHRISTMAS MOOD

Mrs. Leon S. May shows decorations she has fashioned

Decorating Described By Hyperion Speaker

Mrs. Leon S. May brought Christmas a little nearer Thursday afternoon for members of the 1948 Hyperion Club who introduced the talented speaker to local women during a guest day tea. The annual affair was held in the Gold Room at Big Spring Country Club at 2 p.m.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lloyd Wasson, Mrs. John Hodges and Mrs. Robert W. Whipkey, who introduced the speaker.

Mrs. May resides in Dallas where, for the past eight years, she has presented programs on Christmas decorating to various clubs in that area. Her interest in the subject is shared by her husband and three daughters who have helped create some of the beautiful decorations which were exhibited.

The speaker stressed that a theme should be followed as well as a color scheme in planning home decorations for the holiday season. She suggested permanent decorations that, with proper care, could be used from year to year. She illustrated the point by showing several older arrangements that still appeared new.

As Mrs. May showed each handmade decoration, she explained the materials used and the steps in its creation.

Outstanding among the festive items was a framed picture of a Christmas tree on a background of blue velvet and decked with bits of sparkling jewelry. There was a folding screen of red velvet trimmed with gold braid which featured a display of antique Christmas cards and pictures—and a large gourd, cut as a shadow box, holding a small madonna.

Another tree was formed of bits of broken ornaments, topped with a finial; its base a sherbert glass turned upside-down and painted gold. Shown, too, was a tree of sea shells on a starfish base, and a small, green tree with branches decorated with tiny packages and flowers.

Attracting attention and considerable comment was an ostrich egg, covered with gold braid, pearls, blue jewels and cut out to hold a blue angel.

Mrs. May explained that some of the decorating ideas were original but that she modeled most of them from pictures in magazines or things she saw in shops.

At the conclusion of the talk, members and the 20 guests were served refreshments from a table covered with yellow linen and centered with an arrangement of chrysanthemums in bronze and gold tones. Those serving were Mrs. Luin T. King, president, and Mrs. George White.

Judy Daniel, worthy advisor, announced that a slumber party would be held Dec. 4 for the girls who have helped sack peanuts and sell programs at football games this year.

The Rainbow Girls will have a float in the homecoming parade and will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mrs. Orbin Daily, 1205 Douglas, to construct the float.

Following the formal program, refreshments were served by Fran and Becky Smith, hostesses.

Finals Set In Contest

A Gaines County girl will represent 18 counties in this area in the state finals of the 1964 Texas Farm Bureau queen contest Nov. 9 in Houston.

She is Connie Miller, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Miller, Seagraves. Miss Miller was selected District 8 queen in a contest held Aug. 25 in Midland.

At the state contest, which will be held in conjunction with the 31st annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau, Miss Miller will compete with 12 other district winners for the state title. The winner will receive $500 to cover expenses for herself and a matron escort attending the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in December in Philadelphia. In addition, all district queens will receive expense-paid trips to the state convention and will be presented wrist watches.

Born and reared on a farm, Miss Miller attended school in Seagraves. She was a member of the National Honor Society the past three years, and was named most beautiful girl in high school in '63-64. She was also football princess and Future Farmers of America sweetheart. The TFB queen finalist plays the saxophone and has been a member of the high school marching and stage bands.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Electric Cookers Easily Cleaned

Dear Heloise: I have found the simplest, easiest method for cleaning an electric cooker.

Just fill the cooker with water, add a little detergent, put the lid on the cooker, and turn the heat on low.

Let the cooker steam until all of the residue has loosened, then empty the cooker, wash it, rinse with water, and dry. . . O. L. C.

Dear Heloise: I use transparent adhesive-backed paper for those in-between places, such as between the stove and the counter, that don't quite fit together. I let it overlap about an inch on each side.

The grease splatters, etc., can be wiped off with a damp sponge, nothing falls down between the stove and counter, and it's not unsightly because it's practically invisible. . . J. G.

Dear Heloise: Never throw out little dabs of perfume. . . add them to a bottle of rubbing alcohol.

Wow! What a lift the fragrance gives to a sick person, or even just a tired person, when rubbed with the scented alcohol. . . Eva Hul'man

Dear Heloise: Everyone, on occasion, has those want-to-go-back-to-bed mornings.

The first thing I do is wash my face and comb my hair. Where? The dreary bathroom.

This morning I decided to do something about that.

I got out a cranberry-colored vase (my bath is pink), put an assortment of pastel artificial flowers in it, and set it on the dressing table by the mirror.

Next, I got a supply of bath soap (most brands come in lovely colors), unwrapped all the bars and put them in an apothecary jar by the basin.

Now when I comb my hair, the first thing I see is a bouquet of spring flowers, then a jar of colored soap when I wash my face. It gives me a lift, and believe me, my husband and four children appreciate a happier wife and mother. . . not one half-asleep. . . Dorothy Brown.

Why not get some cute frames at your dime store and put those darling baby pictures on the wall, too? I did. It's amazing the thoughts that run through my noggin each morning. (Write Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

HOW DOES LIFE GET SO

TANGLED?

Interesting thing about a rope—it rarely becomes tangled when it's serving some useful purpose. It stretches firm and taut . . . reaching . . . holding.

But lay the rope aside . . . waiting without a purpose . . . and it becomes so tangled you can't even find the ends.

Life is like that! For some folks it seems an impossible tangle of conflicts, worries and disappointments. They haven't discovered how to devote their strand of years to a vital, constant purpose.

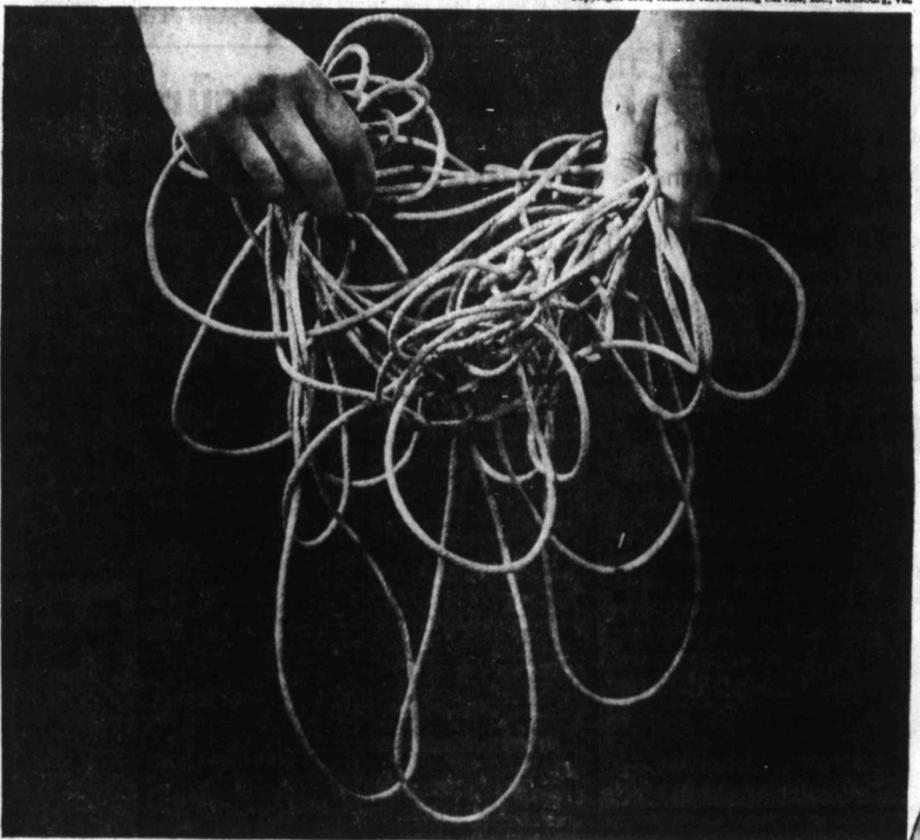

But for others life stretches firm and taut from birth to Eternity. The tangles disappear as men reach across time to hold certain the truths by which God would have us live.

Life without tangles . . . life with purpose . . . discover it in Church next Sunday!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CROP Drive Slated Here

Young people from five Big Spring churches are scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church to take part in the "treats" for needy people abroad. Youngsters from other churches, wanting to volunteer their services, are invited to meet with the group.

Youth groups from the First Methodist, Wesley Memorial Methodist, Kentwood Methodist, St. Paul's Presbyterian, and the First Christian Church, will take part.

Stanton Methodist young people will also meet at their church and take part in the canvass there.

CROP is the Community Resources Program of Church World Service and collects food, fiber and cash in communities throughout the United States for the world relief programs of the churches. It is becoming as much a symbol of Halloween to the young people of Texas as the traditional "trick or treats," black cats, pumpkins, and the rest.

Local youth will join other CROP workers in the state who are seeking contributions of grain, cotton, rice, livestock and cash for the overseas programs. "Together," according to Norman A. Sundwall, Texas CROP-CWS director, "they will help to provide a meal a day of rice for a child feeding program in Hong Kong where 18,000 children, who have come to the British Crown Colony from Communist China, otherwise do not receive as much as one full meal a day. A gift of $4 will provide enough rice for a meal a day for one child for a year."

They will help to provide emergency assistance for people left homeless by natural disasters of which there were 14 in 1963. Tents, blankets and other items were provided by the contributions of the people of America when 44,000 people were left homeless by torrential rains in Korea in September of 1964.

"They will help to provide agricultural assistance to other lands, food for wages to build roads and to develop water supplies, better seeds, and more effective tools," Sundwall said. Young people representing CROP will be recognized this year by an orange-yellow identification tag bearing the "Freedom from Hunger" symbol.

KENTWOOD METHODIST CHILDREN FETED
Sixty were present for banquet and program

Banquet Held At Kentwood Church

Kentwood Methodist Church sponsored a banquet last Friday night, for all the children enrolled in the church school. The idea was to honor the children of the church with a banquet and to let them enjoy, creatively, the Halloween time of the year. Mrs. Robert Cozart, children's division superintendent, was in charge of plans and arrangements.

There were 60 children and 14 adults present for the program which included introduction of visitors, ideas about Halloween and its meaning as far as fun-time, songs and stories.

Writer Picks On Laity

"Second-class citizens of the church." This is what the mass of laymen has been, according to associate editor Newman Cryer, writing in the November issue of "Together" magazine.

A typical layman's idea of church work, Cryer reports, is ushering, occasionally performing a menial chore, and soliciting pledges once a year. And he finds that some church people keep their spiritual and material lives separated, while others seek escape into religion by diving head over heels into activity, much of it meaningless.

But the modern perspective, Cryer states, is that the laity "shares in Christ's ministry to the world." This view has been growing since the end of World War II.

The modern concept, Cryer points out, parallels that of the early Christians of witnessing in the workaday world and is in keeping with the ideas of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, who appointed lay preachers and set up class meetings led by laymen.

SCRIPTURE IS THE BASIS FOR OBT-HEARD SAYING

"You can't take it with you," often heard about those who have tried to accumulate wealth, is a "take off" on one verse of scripture found in the Nov. 1 International Sunday School Lesson.

The scripture is from I Timothy 6:6-12, 17-19, "and the seventh verse says: 'For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out.'"

Title of the lesson is Stewardship of Possessions.

Timothy emphasizes that "godliness with contentment is great gain." He implies that there is both a good and bad type of contentment. Beggars and derelicts who allow themselves to approach starvation before they will do an honest day's work are, for the most part, contented. But their contentment is debasing to their characters. The rich man may also experience contentment that is debasing to his character because he "wants not for materials things." True contentment arises from that inner harmony of body, mind, and soul which produces a sense of well-being and inner security.

Heavenly riches are the eternal values we lay up for ourselves by living a life of faith, righteousness, and helpfulness toward others.

Two Give Stories Of Spiritual Life

Two persons, each nationally known in his own sphere, share the spiritual experience of their lives with readers in the November issue of "Decision," monthly publication of The Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

One of them is Vonda Kay Van Dyke, Miss America of 1965. The other is George Beverly Shea, known through his recordings and his work as soloist of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Team. In separate articles in the magazine each answers the question: "What about the person who has been brought up in a Christian home and a Christian church?"

Miss America was converted at the age of nine, and as she writes, "Everyone thought, 'Oh, she was almost born a Christian!'"

Then, at an evangelistic rally, "It came to me that it was not enough for me just to give to God my talent or my time or my money. God wanted my life; and until I gave Him that life, I could not have any real peace or joy in what I was doing."

The thousands who heard her simple testimony over television will recall how she spoke of her relationship. She tells of this relationship again and of other spiritual experiences, and she explains that her philosophy of life is "to serve God and let Him guide my life, and live the life of a Christian."

Shea was the son of a Methodist minister and from childhood had an eager desire to serve the Lord, but "unlike my brothers and my father, I did not seem to have a ready gift of speech," he writes.

At 24, Shea was working for an insurance company in New York City when he was offered a contract with the Lynn Murray singers on a broadcasting system, but refused because one of the songs he was asked to sing "carries in its libretto the words, 'And to hell with Burgundy.' I knew I could not sing that."

How the insurance salesman was led into Christian radio work, and eventually teamed up with Billy Graham in a radio program, "Songs in the Night," is his story.

Editor Gets Baptist Award

DALLAS—The religion editor of the Dallas Times-Herald, Stewart M. Doss, was named Thursday to receive the annual Texas Baptist Press Award for Christianity through journalism.

Doss will be presented a plaque and engraved watch during sessions of the Baptist General Convention of Texas meeting Nov. 3-5 in Corpus Christi.

The 49-year-old reporter, who has covered more state and Southern Baptist conventions than probably any other daily newspaper reporter in the state, was selected to receive the award by the Texas Baptist Public Relations Advisory Committee.

Doss has been in Dallas since 1946, working for both the Dallas News and Times-Herald. He began reporting, with no salary, as a teenager for the Eastland Telegram and later edited the paper. He worked for papers in Abilene, Amarillo and Sweetwater.

The Baptist press award is the third major news reporting honor to come to Doss.

New Bishop 'Driven' To It

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A man whose father was "a dyed in the wool Presbyterian" is the new leader of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

"And, my mother was just as much a dyed in the wool Episcopalian," said the Rt. Rev. John Eldridge Hines of Houston, Tex. "There were nine children in the family," the new presiding bishop continued. "Five became Episcopalians and four were Presbyterians."

Bishop Hines, about 5 feet 8, with a medium build, spoke clearly but mildly. His voice carried a slight Southwestern flavor.

The Texas prelate was chosen presiding bishop of the 3.5-million-member Church of its House of Bishops, who met secretly recently for Holy Communion and the election in 100-year-old Christ Church Cathedral.

Bishop Hines, 54, who became bishop of Texas in 1955, will succeed the Rt. Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger, who is resigning because of an illness.

"I would be thankful," Bishop Hines said, "if Bishop Lichtenberger, for as long as he is able, could stay with me for counsel and advice."

Bishop Hines was born in Seneca, S.C., Oct. 3, 1910. His father, Edgar A. Hines, was a country doctor and his mother, Mary, "held the small Episcopal church in Seneca together almost by herself."

He said he was confirmed when he was 8 with no instruction in the church because his older sister "felt it was time for me to be confirmed."

"It sounds horrendous in my eyes now," said Bishop Hines. "I guess it was then."

He picked up a nickname, "Doc," because his father was a doctor. The bishop started in premedical school at the University of the South, an Episcopal school at Sewanee, Tenn.

To help pay his way at the university, Bishop Hines worked as assistant registrar, freshman basketball coach, and tutor in Greek.

"That drove me to the ministry," the bishop said.

After graduation from the University of the South in 1930, and the Virginia Theological Seminary in 1933, he was ordained a deacon in August 1933 and a priest in October 1934.

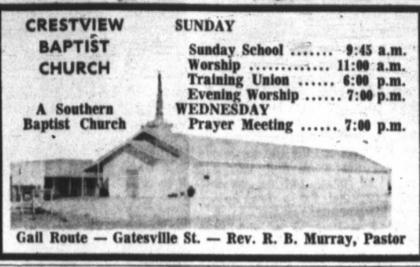

While an assistant at St. Michael's and St. George's church at St. Louis in 1933, he met and married his wife, Helen Orvig.

The Hines have five children.

He said Mrs. Hines he didn't want any juniors, "so she said they all would have the name, John."

They all do except their daughter, Nancy, who is married to an orthopedic surgeon, Taylor Smith, in the U.S. Army. Their children are Michael John, married and a student in Baylor Medical School at Houston, Tex.; John Christopher, serving with the U.S. Army in Germany "as a buck private"; John Moore, a Duke University student; and John Stephen, a student at St. Stephen's Episcopal Prep School in Austin, Tex.

Class Plans Abilene Trip

The Teenage Sunday School class of the Church of Christ, North Sixth and Runnels, will go to Abilene Saturday for a mission study field trip.

David Tarbet, the class teacher, who is also pastor of the church, said the group would attend a lecture on missionary work at Abilene Christian College Saturday afternoon and evening.

The trip is a part of the mission program being pursued by the class. The study will cover a number of weeks and will deal with missionary work overseas.

The past few weeks, the class has heard special reports on Brazil by Skip Burcham and Jerry Jones; Japan by Myrtle Brannon and Mary Burcham; and Australia by Judy Abregg and Angie Tidwell. The reports included talks by natives of the countries being studied, slides and literature by missionaries who have worked in the countries.

Starting next Sunday, a series of similar reports will be offered. These will open with Ray and Sue Coates discussing missionary work in Spain. This will be followed by a study of work in Mexico by Justin Redman and Kenneth Greenhill; Italy by Lanell Alexander and Beverly Jacobs; and Cuba by Coy Noles.

Baptist Convention To Open On Election Day

CORPUS CHRISTI — More than 5,000 Baptists from throughout the state are expected here Nov. 3-5 for the 79th annual Baptist General Convention of Texas, which opens on the eve of the national general election.

Baptist leaders said the convention will probably stay clear of the political arena, since the religious issue has not played the role in the 1964 campaign that it played in 1960.

Major business up for consideration will be adoption of a $12 million Texas Baptist mission budget for 1965; proposals to revamp the convention's constitution, and election of 300 trustees for 25 Baptist boards and institutions.

Some debate could erupt during the three-day convention over the proposed constitution changes, which mainly deal with trustee representation for the 25 state Baptist boards.

The proposed constitution changes would prevent a trustee from serving on more than one board at the same time (except the executive board, and specific committees), limit the terms of convention officers to one year, and prevent employees of state and Southern Baptist institutions from serving on the executive board.

An editorial in the Baptist Standard, official Texas Baptist publication, predicted this week that there may be an effort at the convention to reverse the denomination's current policy of rotating trustees every nine years. The Standard opposed changing the policy but endorsed constitution changes.

Baptist Standard editor E. S. James also said there has been talk of trying to get the convention to modify its position on refusing to accept government loans or grants for church related institutions, especially to allow the institutions to accept low-interest government loans.

Has it ever occurred to you that you can be just a Christian? Yes, even in the middle of the religious confusion of our creed-bound, denomination-divided age, it is possible for you to be just a plain Christian!

What does it mean to be just a Christian? Well, being a Christian means so much more than merely being a good moral person—more than giving mental assent to certain beliefs—more than having one's name on a church roll.

Being just a Christian means trusting and obeying Jesus Christ just as Paul and Philip and the early Christians did in the first century after Christ. It means going back beyond all the distinctive Roman Catholic and Protestant doctrines of today to find Christ just as He is revealed in the inspired New Testament. You see, there were no different denominations in the beginning of Christianity. The early disciples were all one body (Romans 12:5). They were called simply "Christians" (Acts 11:26). They did not follow different creeds, but were guided by "the faith once for all delivered to the saints" (Jude 3). We have this same New Testament today and can reproduce the same pure Christianity which flourished in the first century after Christ. We can be just plain Christians.

To find out the details of how you may become and remain just a plain Christian like Peter and Barnabas and Acquila, you must open your own New Testament and read for yourself. You will find that Jesus built only one church, and that God added everyone who obeyed the gospel of Christ to this undenominational church, the body of Christ (Matthew 16:18; Acts 2:47; Colossians 1:18). The Bible teaches that you will be added to this same body today when you believe in Jesus Christ as God's Son, repent of your sins, confess the name of Christ, and are baptized for the forgiveness of sins (Acts 2:38).

If you would like to know more about Jesus Christ and His church or kingdom, read your New Testament. Consider thoughtfully and carefully the plea being made by hundreds of thousands all over the world to restore pure New Testament Christianity.

South shrugged off his partner's negative responses and stubbornly persisted until he reached a small slam contract in spades. Had he displayed the same degree of tenacity in planning the play, his aggressiveness could have led to a substantial profit.

When North followed up his original response of two no trump by merely giving his partner a preference, South should have abandoned his slam ambitions, and been content to settle for game. When South elected to make another try by showing the ace of clubs, North was fully warranted in reciprocating in diamonds inasmuch as his previous calls were forced and might have been made on a complete bust. South chose to adopt a very optimistic attitude toward his heart holding and proceeded without further ado to a slam. West opened the four of clubs and the trick was taken in the closed hand by the king. Dummy was entered with the ace of diamonds so that South might try the heart finesse. When his queen held the trick, he drew two rounds of trumps and followed up by playing the ace and another heart.

Had the heart suit divided three-three, his troubles would have been over. If the suit was four-two, he hoped that an unobservant defender might allow him to ruff a heart with North's last trump.

East was in with the third heart and, having kept a careful count of that suit, he promptly returned the ten of spades to prevent the heart ruff. East eventually took the setting trick in hearts.

As the cards lay, South could have landed his ambitious contract, for careful timing will enable him to ruff out his fourth heart successfully. Inasmuch as one heart trick must be lost in any case, it is suggested that declarer concede a trick in the suit at once by leading a small heart at trick two.

South wins the return, crosses over to the ace of diamonds and takes the heart finesse. When his queen holds, he now draws two rounds of trumps, and follows this up by cashing the ace of hearts. West has no more hearts, but he is also out of spades. Therefore, South is able to trump his last heart with the six of spades as East helplessly follows suit. East's remaining trump is extracted shortly thereafter.

Observe that declarer risks nothing by permitting one trump to remain outstanding while he goes about his chores in the heart suit for, if the player who has the doubleton heart also holds the third spade, then the contract is destined to fail.

Texas Vote Of 2.5 Million Is Expected

DALLAS (AP)—If you vote Tuesday, you will be one of at least 2.5 million Texans who converge on polling places from the Panhandle to the Gulf.

That was the prediction Thursday of Robert L. Johnson, who heads the Texas Election Bureau. This is the agency set up by Texas newspapers to compile election results.

With 2,976,987 Texans eligible to vote and interest running high, Johnson said, the total vote may shoot above the 2,500,000 estimate.

The turnout, Johnson said, appears certain to break the record of 2,311,844 set in the 1960 general election, when John F. Kennedy defeated Richard Nixon to become President.

Panty Raiders Stone Officers

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Students fired up by a football pep rally kept the University of Mississippi campus in violent turmoil for hours early today.

The uproar was a sort of combination panty raid, police stoning and "car rolling." The car belonged to Burns Tatum, chief of campus police. It was overturned and barrel rolled down a hill. He wasn't in it at the time.

The raid, good humored at first, turned angry as the night wore on. Bricks and bottles were thrown at police. One officer was gashed on the head by a brick.

When Sheriff Boyce Bratton drove onto the campus his car windows were smashed by flying rocks.

Six campus police, befeared by five from Oxford and a number of faculty members, joined in controlling the students.

The mile-square campus, adjoining Oxford, was reported quiet by 2:30 a.m.

Pat Smith, an Ole Miss spokesman, said the panty raids and most of the damage was done by about 200 students. Most of the some 2,000 involved in the uproar melted away when it got ugly, he said.

The bonfire rally was staged for the Ole Miss-LSU game, to be played Saturday night in Baton Rouge.

Fast Decontrol Bill Doubtful

WASHINGTON (AP)—Natural gas producers should take a cold, hard look before letting their hopes rise for congressional action next year to rid them of federal price controls.

That advice is offered by both industry and congressional sources here.

Plans for pressing for exempting legislation next year were discussed earlier this week by the IPAA in Houston. The 7,500-member trade organization authorized its president, H. A. True Jr., to name a committee to draft a bill.

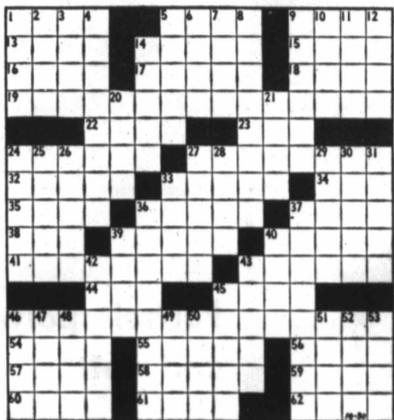

But all signs here indicate passage of a decontrol bill next year is highly unlikely. Time is working against advocates of such legislation, that with each passing year the chances lessen.

Bomb Scare For Jackie

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal and city officers Thursday night made a roof-to-ceiling search of the apartment and the building where Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children live, after an anonymous telephone caller said a bomb had been planted in the Kennedy apartment. Nothing suspicious was found by the FBI and Secret Service agents and city police and firemen.

Mrs. Kennedy and the children, Caroline, 6, and John F. Jr., 3, did not leave during the search, a Secret Service agent said.

At 5:12 p.m., a male caller told a telephone operator that a bomb would go off in the Kennedy apartment. He erroneously listed the address as 1050 Park Ave. — the Kennedy apartment is at 1040 Fifth Ave.

Police also checked the Park Avenue address and found nothing suspicious there either. At 5:20 p.m., the same man

Oppose Birth Control Study

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Leading Conservative prelates argued today against a new look at birth control by the Roman Catholic Church. They told the Vatican Ecumenical Council that married couples should trust in Divine Providence.

Two Vatican Curia cardinals—Alfredo Ottaviani and Michael Browne—rose in the council St. Peter's Basilica to oppose demands by other prelates for fearless re-examination of all aspects of marriage morality. Cardinals and bishops, many of them leading progressives, said Thursday the problem must not be avoided in the current council debate on its schema on modern world problems.

UNDER DEBATE Cardinal Ottaviani, secretary of the powerful Vatican Holy Office, said he disagreed with present wording in the schema under debate that married couples should be free to plan the size of their families.

"This is something unheard of in the past ages of the church. Married couples should never doubt Divine Providence."

Cardinal Browne, Irish-born Dominican theologian who has worked in Rome for years, told the council: "We must stress that the primary end of marriage is the procreation and education of children."

LOVE, SEX Speakers had praised the schema Thursday for avoiding this traditional church teaching, that procreation in marriage is primary with precedence over love and sex.

Cardinal Browne said family planning was a subject "about which a discussion cannot usefully be held."

Several other bishops, arguing along the same lines as Cardinal Ottaviani, said the schema should emphasize trust in God's providence in bringing children into the world.

Miners Save Companions

WHITWELL, Tenn. (AP)—Alert coal miners saved six companions Thursday night by diverting smoke from a fiery mine shaft.

After being trapped for more than two hours behind a wall of smoke, the six miners emerged unharmed from Grays Creek mechanized mine, owned by Grundy Mining Co.

The fire erupted in the conveyor belt and filled the pit with heavy smoke. Thirty-five miners rushed outside and quickly reversed an air blower, which normally supplies fresh air to the shaft.

While the blower pulled smoke from the area where the six were trapped, the miners extinguished the fire. There was no serious damage, except to the conveyor belt.

European Reds Fall Into Line

MOSCOW (AP)—European Communist parties are falling into line behind the new Soviet leadership, apparently accepting Kremlin explanations that Nikita Khrushchev was removed for bungling in the Cuban crisis, the rift with Peking and an assortment of other failures.

Official Kremlin statements on Khrushchev's removal are couched in general terms, but Communist sources said a document containing 29 charges—including those on Cuba and Red China—is being circulated in Soviet Communist party units.

The Hungarian Communist party was the first to endorse Khrushchev's removal, declaring last Sunday that he had made "regrettable mistakes."

DEAR ABBY

Why Not Privacy?

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is fair for a school to give a girl an "F" if she refuses to take a shower in the nude with eight other girls and the gym teacher standing there watching? I raised my daughter to be modest, and I don't think the school has any right to try to change her upbringing in this respect. Our schools have money for everything else. They didn't ask the taxpayers if they wanted lounges for the teachers, they just went ahead and built them. I think a few showers with curtains or doors should be provided for the child who has been taught at home to keep her body sacred. I would like some comment on this from you and other parents, please.

call the signals some day—but don't count on it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SISSIE IN ITHACA: It has been said that before one can train a dog, one must know more than the dog.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

ONE MOTHER'S VOICE

DEAR VOICE: This complaint has been voiced in my column before by parents and students themselves. I agree with you. I realize that my opinion will win me few friends on school boards, but it seems to me that some arrangements could be made for those children who desire privacy. Petition your local school mothers, and more power to you!

DEAR ABBY: I am 29, single and (I'm told) attractive. I have a little problem with my milkman. He has often left me more milk than I have asked for and he doesn't charge me for it. The other day he knocked on my door. When I answered it he asked me if I was alone. I asked him why he wanted to know and he said he gets lonesome when he delivers in this area because it is a rural route, and he wanted to know if he could eat his lunch with me on my porch. I have seen him eating his lunch in his truck while I eat mine in the kitchen. He can see me through the window. Would it be wrong for me to invite him to eat his lunch with me. He seems such a nice man.

DOUBTFUL IN PETALUMA
DEAR DOUBTFUL: So far, all you know about him is that he is generous, lonesome and interested in you. Is he married? If so, don't let him get any chummer. If not, you couldn't order a better set-up.

DEAR ABBY: I have two problems. One, when I take my wife to work in the morning (she teaches school) she doesn't let me kiss her for fear someone she works with might see her. I say to heck with them. She is my wife and it is only a peck on the cheek. Second, we've been married almost a year and she still refuses to use my name. She goes by "Miss" as though she were single. I was born in New York and have lived here all my life. Many immigrant Puerto Ricans have the same name and I think that is what bothers her. She is putting me through graduate school, so naturally I don't want to upset anything by making any demands right now. Can you advise me?

WITHHOLD MY NAME
DEAR WITHHOLD: You are saying that since your wife is putting you through college, you are in no position to make any demands right now. Your complaint is justified but your restraint is wise. Perhaps you can

LBJ Kin On 'Firm Payroll'

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The Columbia State said Thursday Sam Houston Johnson, brother of President Johnson, is on the payroll of a wealthy Texan whose companies have done millions of dollars in business with the federal government.

The newspaper quoted Tee Richardson, manager of the Rhome, Texas, plant of Star Tank and Trailer Manufacturing Co., as saying Sam Houston Johnson "does some traveling" for that firm but currently "is on sick leave."

Star Tank and Trailer, the state said, was incorporated in 1945 by Edgar Linkenhoger.

The state said Linkenhoger also is chief officer of Transport Co. of Texas and that his company had an $18,814,970 government contract for housekeeping chores on Kwajalein Island, an adjunct of the Pacific missile range, in 1959-60.

The newspaper said Transport Co. of Texas also did $5,109,000 in government business the first six months of this year and had contracts totaling $13,096,000 with the Department of Defense in 1963.

World Red Parley Urged

MOSCOW (AP)—Kommunist, the theoretical journal of the Soviet Communist party, renewed support today for a world Communist meeting proposed by former Premier Khrushchev and denounced by Red China.

The publication, bible of the party's Central Committee, again assailed the deposed leader without mentioning his name. It had been expected that the Communist editorial might contain the first official account of the secret meeting that topped Khrushchev from power Oct. 14.

But the portions of the editorial carried in advance by the official Soviet news agency, Tass, simply repeated police statements made earlier by the new Kremlin command.

The Kommunist editorial said the party's Central Committee "is in favor of calling an international conference of all Communist parties."

Good Election Coverage Assured By Wire Service

NEW YORK (AP)—Many factors influence a voter when he makes his decision inside an election booth.

Race may be a decisive factor. Another voter may be influenced by his religious teachings, his nationality, where he lives, how much he earns or how far he has gone in school.

A voter may not consciously consider these factors. But each one—or a combination of them—helps determine which lever he will pull or how he will mark his ballot.

WHICH ONES?
Which of these factors will be decisive on Nov. 3?
How will the Negro vote for President Johnson compare with that given John F. Kennedy in 1960? If there's a big difference, what's the reason for it?

Will Sen. Barry Goldwater do better—or worse—in the high-income areas than Richard M. Nixon did in 1960. And why?

In order to answer such questions—and answer them almost instantly—The Associated Press has entered an agreement with the National Broadcasting Co. to supplement AP's own election interpretations with the network's Electronic Vote Analysis of returns.

The AP will operate a special bureau at EVA election headquarters in New York election night. AP writers will study the material as it comes from the computers and will prepare story material interpreting the vote on a national basis and separately in most of the states.

EVA utilizes a bank of seven computers. These have been programmed to compare results and to answer questions asked by AP and NBC election experts on the presidential, gubernatorial and senatorial races.

USE COMPUTERS
The complex will receive information, will compute tabulations and projections, and will report—simultaneously—a report on high-speed printers.

Each bit of analysis will be based on a mass of detailed information that has been stored in the computers, including vote histories and data on certain "tag areas." The "tag areas" are precincts, wards or counties which have been selected to represent the political behavior pattern of groups within an electorate.

BANDITS, GOBLINS, GHOSTS

Saturday Is Ominous

DEAR BOSS:

I am disturbed. Some publicity relative to Halloween which comes Saturday night has reached my desk. It tells me that folk once thought that cats were human beings who had committed evil deeds and been changed into animals for their punishment.

I discussed this theory with my cat Jerry. He was incensed. Not that anyone would accuse him of evil deeds—he was mad because the suggestion was advanced that he had once been a human being. And, Boss, it may be that he has a point.

ARMY OF DEMONS
Anyway, Halloween is on our doorstep—Saturday night it will take the form of an army of small imps, hobgoblins, ghosts, assorted bandits, pirates, and other ominous characters. This horde will be armed with one of the most deadly weapons known—a big gaping shopping bag into which you will be told to dump all available candy, cookies, chewing gum, apples and oranges you may find in your larder. You are given your choice—"Trick or treat!" you are told.

I have often wondered what the wee sprites would do if you calmly told them to "trick"—that there would be no treats. I know that 90 per cent haven't anything to offer.

Anyway, Boss, Halloween is a most interesting annual fall event. It goes back, back, back into the time when mankind was just a few short steps above a caveman. Even now, a thousand or two thousand years later, lots of us are still infected with the same ancient terrors that scared the daylight out of our primitive forebears.

NOT NICE
The Druids, who were anything but nice neighbors, celebrated a holiday similar to Halloween. Their theory of this special event was that all of the spirits of the dead roamed abroad on the last night in October. To scare away these restless ghosts, the Druid priests built huge bonfires.

The blazing fire custom carried on long after the Druids had disappeared and people were puzzling themselves over the fantastic stone arrangements they had left. In Sir James Frazer's book, "The Golden Bough," it is pointed out that the bonfires were lighted for a much kinder reason than that suggested by the Druids. Frazer said that the people of several centuries ago believed that the souls of the departed were out on Halloween night to revisit their earthly homes. The good people built the bonfires so these homesick ghosts might warm themselves and bask in the good cheer provided by their affectionate kinfolk.

JACK O'LANTERN
And, Boss, you've always heard of these fancy lanterns carved from pumpkins called Jack O'Lanterns. Haven't you? Do you know why they are called that? Well, the Irish claim that Jack-o'-Lanterns were originated by a luckless character named Jack who, for some unrecalled reason, was unable to enter either Heaven or Hell. He was doomed to walk the earth with a lantern until Judgment Day.

Our modern Halloween has a religious tinge. This dates back to 610 A.D. It was officially proclaimed as a holy day and dedicated to all saints. The occasion was marked by the presentation of the ancient Roman Pantheon to Pope Boniface IV to be used as a church. Emperor Phocas made the presentation.

But getting back to those bully boys, the Druids, Boss. Even when they lighted their big fires to scare the pants off the wandering spooks, they combined the occasion with a round of fun and rejoicing. They had a 3-day whinding and one of the customs was the roasting of nuts and apples. This, in its way, symbolized the harvest.

Of course, Boss, you are free of all superstition. As an educated modern, you pooh-pooh at witches, hobgoblins, and such. Only squares, you say, dig this spook nonsense.

WOULD YOU?
But, Boss, suppose some dark night (Saturday night for instance) you have to go on a long and lonely walk? And suppose that walk takes you by some ancient and weed-grown graveyard. Would you walk any faster at that stage of your stroll?
Me? I'm not superstitious at all, Boss.
I'd rather have 13 dollars than 12 and if I am real hungry, it doesn't shake me at all if there are 12 other diners gathered about the festive board.

Your spook-free reporter, SAM BLACKBURN

Barry: 'Demos Letting Free World Sink'

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, asserting that President Johnson is "trying to reduce American politics to a popularity poll," said today the Democrats are letting the Free World fall apart while U.S. prestige sinks.

The Republican presidential candidate charged that Johnson's foreign policy has lost Turkey as a U.S. ally. He said France is seeking new trade ties with the Soviet Union while Great Britain's new Labor government ponders U.S. nuclear deterrent policies.

TOUGH LEADERS
And the Communist world, said Goldwater, is "regrouping under tough new leaders."

Turning his campaign westward, Goldwater said Johnson "has proven to be a President isolated from foreign policy behind a wall of political ambition and behind a wall of political henchmen who care for nothing in the world but their own gains and power."

AT CHEYENNE
Goldwater made his accusations at Cheyenne, Wyo., kicking off a campaign day that takes him to Tucson, Ariz., Las Vegas, Nev., and Los Angeles.

"In just the past few days," he said, "while Lyndon Johnson has been trying to reduce American politics to a popularity poll, the Free World has been coming apart at the seams and American prestige has been sinking slowly out of sight."

Trustees Endorse 1st Amendment

Big Spring school board members unanimously endorsed passage of the first amendment election ballot. The amendment would remove the authorization for the legislature to transfer as much as one per cent per year, from the permanent school fund to the available fund.

Board members said they felt there is always the temptation, to the legislature, to take money from the permanent fund and use it for the available fund when problems of sufficiency arise.

"If one per cent of the principal per year were placed in the available fund it would be only a few years until we had no permanent fund," president Harold Talbot said.

The provision, now in Section 5, Article VII of the Texas Constitution, is an amendment not originally in the section. The provision stipulating that "The legislature may add not exceeding one per cent annually of the total value of the permanent school fund" to the available fund, was submitted to the 22nd Legislature in 1891. It was ratified in an election Aug. 11, 1891, and declared adopted Sept. 22, 1891.

The Constitution provides that "the principal of all bonds and other funds, and the principal arising from the sale of the lands originally designated for schools, shall become the permanent school fund, and all the interest derivable therefrom and the taxes herein authorized and levied shall be the available school fund."

according to their scholastic population and applied in such manner as may be provided by law."

And no law shall ever be enacted appropriating any part of the permanent or available school fund to any other purpose, but to support the public free schools. It shall be distributed to the several counties

Finishing Midwest Tour, Johnson Unveils Slogan

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson, making a final campaign tour of the Midwest, came up with a new slogan today: "The vote you cast will be your own and the world you save will be your own."

Johnson unveiled this phrase in a speech prepared for an airport rally in Detroit. It was his latest move in a week-long effort to picture himself as the candidate best equipped to preserve peace.

The President, even while emphasizing questions of peace and war in every speech, still seeks opportunities to contrast his views with those of Republican rival Barry Goldwater. He did this anew Thursday night in Philadelphia, taking issue with Goldwater on the role of clergymen in public affairs.

Addressing a Democratic dinner, Johnson added to his test a challenge to a Goldwater statement questioning the propriety of political endorsements by members of the clergy.

The President said: "I hope the day will never come when any man, for any cause, will try to keep religion out of our national decisions on who shall lead us or the direction we shall go."

FOR PEACE
The President, who never mentioned Goldwater in his remarks, said: "I do not condemn our churches or our clergymen for being concerned that America meet her moral responsibilities for peace, for preserving human freedom and human life, and for doing what a rich nation can and should do to wipe poverty from our land. I not only don't condemn them, I thank God for their courage."

Order Due On Channel

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Pollution Control Board has decided not to try to maintain water in the main body of the Houston ship channel for recreational use.

An order, however, will not be issued, until the board has had time to develop further studies in the area.

The board postponed until its next meeting Dec. 3 a possible decision on whether to ban the use of unlined surface pits, used for disposal of oilfield brine in a five-county Panhandle area.

The counties are Lipscomb, Hemphill, Potter, Dallam and Oldham. All overlie the Ogallala formation, a huge underground fresh water supply.

A Devotional For The Day

All that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution. (II Timothy 3:12)

PRAYER: Our Father, we pray for those persecuted for righteousness' sake. Give us loyalty and firmness that we, too, may be living witnesses to the world and among those in the family of faith. In the name of Christ our Savior. Amen.

Satellites Speak Up

The Communist world has been shaken severely by the downfall of Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Whatever his other faults, to the satellite countries of Central Europe Khrushchev was the apparent harbinger of what looked like spring. He was willing to woo Yugoslavia, even to the extent of conceding that, as far as that country was concerned, there may be more than one road to socialism. Much of the tenseness in the relationship between Moscow and the satellites was eased. Even the harshness with which the Hungarian rebellion of 1956 was suppressed was followed by relaxation in recent years.

For Khrushchev was one of the consummate politicians of his time. By another name and with a belief in capitalism he could almost certainly have been elected to high office in other countries.

In this context it is understandable that sharp, unprecedented criticism is being heard in the satellites of the Central Committee's removal of Khrushchev. For its part, the leadership of the Communist party in Russia seems to have been taken aback by the effrontery on the part of the satellites in demanding a full explanation for their action. This is, as they used to say, "Lese Majeste."

Any plans the Kremlin may have for reimposing Stalinism probably are being hastily revised. Nothing short of the wholesale use of Soviet troops could turn the trick.

The Mud Bath

Campaign smearing persists in the United States because scurrility frequently seems to pay off. Even the most despicable lies, innuendoes and vilifications strike a responsive note among certain segments of the electorate, especially when they play upon fears, justified or unjustified.

Of 40 recorded smear incidents in the 1962 campaign for seats in Congress and for state-wide offices, at least 10 appeared to have worked, only 8 backfired, and the effect of the remaining 22 was uncertain or mixed. This is the conclusion reached in the fourth biennial "State-by-State Smear Study" conducted after the election by the Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

What one candidate might consider smearing, of course, is to another just hard-hitting attack. But there are certain working criteria of unfair political tactics. The list circulated by the F. C. P. C. could serve as a check when the question of abuses arises. Look for:

1. Anonymity (including telephone and whisper campaigns);
2. bogus organizations or publications;
3. scurrilous attacks on a candidate's personal or family life (charges bearing on a candidate's integrity or capacity to fill the job he seeks are not included, however);
4. outright vilification;
5. lies or substantial distortions;
6. removal of a statement (or photograph) from context so as to reverse or substantially change the significance of the full statement (or picture).

Also, 7. attempts to create or exploit doubts about the honesty, loyalty, or patriotism of a candidate without objective evidence; 8. exploitation of racial or religious prejudice; 9. false accusations of racial or religious prejudice.

Early in September the two national party chairmen joined in signing the Code of Fair Campaign Practices. But it is clear that the 1964 campaign is perilously close to turning into a national mud bath. Most discouraging is the fact that a large proportion of the questionable tunes have been sounded in open debate and are the work of the candidates' closest supporters.

In the 1960 presidential campaign, smears (largely dealing with the Catholic issue) originated and circulated in scattered states and localities. This time much of the smear material is being distributed nationally by every means from paper backs to television commercials, from advertisements to direct mail—and it touches both sides.

The voting public should be especially alert during the final days of the campaign. The professional smear merchant customarily saves his biggest buzz bomb until the witching hour—when it is too late for truth to catch up with falsehood.

The Truth About Viet Nam

WASHINGTON — In the great days of empire young Englishmen en route to Persia traditionally were told they needed only two pieces of baggage to insure the success of their tour—an English saddle and a copy of "Haji Baba of Isfahan," which is a gaudy, picaresque novel about a low-lifer.

Nowadays, Persia is Iran, the empire is kaput, and the young men traveling far to bring pop-up toasters to the heathen are Americans. And today, the book is Bernard Fall's classic of war in Indochina, "Streets Without Joy."

BERNARD FALL, a tall, intense Frenchman who speaks English at a headlong pace, left his youth, his health and very nearly his life in Southeast Asia, first with the French and later with the Americans. Out of the danger and the travail he endured have come two books (the other, "The Two Viet Nams," is a worthy companion piece to "Street Without Joy"), and countless magazine articles. His work is invaluable to a country that has not yet awakened to the realities of a way that cannot be won and dare not be lost.

A NEW REVISION of "Street Without Joy" is an event worth noting in the small circle of Americans who try to keep informed of the distance traveled on the road to disaster in Viet Nam.

A great deal of the answer is to be found in Americans' unexampled genius for self-delusion. Almost without exception U. S. military planners ignored the lessons so bitterly learned by the French—instruction that culminated in the bloody disaster at Dien Bien Phu. American strategists have put their faith in an endless list of panaceas, from helicopters to Indian-style counter-insurgency tactics to totally false analogies between the guerrilla war in Malaya and the revolutionary war in South Viet Nam.

WITH SURGICAL precision (and with regret, for he is not one of the American-hating Frenchmen who are now so commonplace) Dr. Fall dissects the ghastly compound of blunders and willful optimism that constitutes the United States' record in Viet Nam. He recounts the almost unbelievable litany of encouraging pronouncements that were dutifully uttered by almost every American official who visited South Viet Nam, and that have only just recently been displaced by the plaintive admission that things are not going well for our side.

Reporters who knew the facts were, for example, stunned when Gen. Paul D. Harkins, chief of the U. S. Military Aid Mission to South Viet Nam, insisted scarcely a year ago that one "can categorically say we're winning the war in the Mekong Delta."

SECRETARY OF Defense Robert S. McNamara was no more equal to the task of reading the dismal signs and portents. Again and again he followed the line of official optimism. On Oct. 2, 1963, he and Gen. Maxwell Taylor (now Ambassador to South Viet Nam) were quoted by the White House as reporting "by the end of this year, the U. S. program for training Vietnamese should have progressed to the point where 1,000 U. S. military personnel assigned to South Viet Nam can be withdrawn..."

Billy Graham

How can you be so certain of anything in this day and age?

How can you know that men need salvation?—M. P.

I know that men are lost because the Bible says so; because of what I see and know of the human race; and because of what I know about my own heart.

The Bible says: "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." It also says, "The wages of sin is death" and makes it plain that this is separation from God. Jesus tells us that "He came to 'Seek and save that which was lost.'" In the most familiar verse in the Bible, John 3:16, Jesus says that God loved the world so much that he gave his only begotten son. "That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Outside of faith in Christ men are "perishing" which means "lost" in this world and the world to come. The wonderful thing is that salvation is a free gift of God's love and grace and all we have to do is believe and accept it.

All men are sinners by nature, by practice and by choice—and it is our sins which separate us from God. Salvation is therefore a work of God's free grace, offered to men everywhere through faith in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Battle Of Platitudes Is Witless

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's no log cabin in the 1964 presidential campaign, absolutely no oratory and utterly no wit. But President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater can hold their own against anyone with clichés.

But, if what they've been saying about each other makes some people a little bilious, it's been mild compared with the slander of other campaigns.

Neither Johnson nor Goldwater emerged from a log cabin. So the legend of the poor boy who made good has no attraction this year.

Johnson's origin may have been modest, but it wasn't poverty-stricken, and now that he acknowledges wealth of at least $3.5 million from a radio and television station owned by him and his wife he can't campaign as a poor man.

NEITHER CAN Goldwater. He never had to look for a job in his life, except when he got into politics and ran for election. He was born into a family that owned a department store and had a job ready and waiting for him.

And when he did go to work in it he was soon running it. Rather happily, too. His worth now is put at least $1.7 million. It's no wonder they don't spend any time talking about their lives and hard times.

The dictionary describes oratory as "the exercise of eloquence." But, while oratory in defense of an issue is no vice, eloquence in pursuit of votes is not necessarily a virtue if they can be won with plain talk.

This may explain why Johnson and Goldwater sound more like politicians than statesmen. Johnson's speech Thursday, saying Tuesday's election will prove "there is not going to be another crack in the Liberty Bell," will not be recorded as one of the imperishable campaign utterances.

AND GOLDWATER'S statement that the "overriding issue in this campaign is what kind of America we are going to have tomorrow?"... proves the point made years ago by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, Illinois Democrat and a very learned man.

He said in today's politics the emphasis is on exposition rather than oratory.

Outside of Goldwater's crack that Johnson represented "daddyism," there hasn't been a memorable moment of oratory in the whole race.

Only some of the races of the past are remembered for their wit, and this isn't one of them. Can you remember one funny line from Johnson or Goldwater?

There has been nothing to match Harold Ickes' remark in 1940 that the Republican candidate, Wendell Willkie, the big businessman, was the "barefoot boy from Wall Street."

The tart Ickes, secretary of the interior in President Roosevelt's Cabinet, was in good form that year, as he showed by his confession that he didn't listen to Thomas Dewey, who failed to get the GOP nomination, because "I have a baby of my own."

Impaired Circulation Can Cause Cramps

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Almost every morning, I awaken with severe cramps from my knees to the bottoms of my feet. I have to get up immediately to overcome the cramps. Rubbing with alcohol before I go to bed doesn't seem to help. I am in my mid-20's.—MRS. R. S.

Your age puts you in a different category from the older folks who have leg cramps and foot pains, even though some of the same basic factors may be involved. Impaired circulation is one.

However, I suspect muscle spasms resulting from such things as arch defects, a shoe problem, varicose veins, excessive smoking and inadequate calcium in the diet.

Shifting from high heels during the day to low heels at night can cause cramps in the back of the leg. If this is the case, wearing a more conservative heel during the day is advisable. Massage of the leg muscles as well as of the feet may help. (I have no objection to the use of rubbing alcohol, but just plain massage will probably do as much good in this instance.)

You'd better consult your doctor as to whether varicose veins (which impair circulation) or arch defects are involved. But if you are overweight you won't need your doctor to tell you that! It's a frequent element in such cramps, as well as in other troubles, such as: If you smoke a lot, try cutting out tobacco for a while and see if it makes a difference. As to calcium in your diet—do you try to get a glass or two of milk every day, or cottage cheese? (Skim milk contains just as much calcium but avoids calories if you have a weight problem.)

One other possibility is a drop in your blood sugar level. This can occur long after dinner and thus bring on cramps while you are asleep. A bedtime snack can postpone such a drop in blood sugar—and breakfast then gives you a pick-up. But I'd investigate the other possible causes of the cramps before assuming that the blood sugar level is responsible.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the growth rate of fingernails, toenails and hair?—MRS. D. C.

Fingernails grow about one eighth of an inch a month, on the average. Toenails grow somewhat more slowly.

Hair growth varies quite a bit, depending on location, age and health of the individual, and length of the hair.

With men, hair growth on the chin averages about three-eighths of an inch per month. Hair on the crown of the head, armpit and eyebrow grow less rapidly, in that order.

Around The Rim

More Than A Time Mill

A facility each state maintains, though not often talked about, is the state prison. Not a very pleasant subject to discuss, perhaps, thus unless we see some newspaper headline about the place, most of us probably forget that it exists.

Yet the Texas Department of Corrections involves some 32,000 inmates housed in 13 prisons, including some 82,000 acres of land. More than 40 per cent of those 12,000 inmates are under the age of 24 years.

BY THE END of the next biennium, the total will reach more than 14,000. Dr. George Beto, director of the department, related in a recent article in the Texas Police Journal. Prison populations, both in Texas and the nation, are growing three times as fast as normal population growth, he also pointed out.

Improvement of prison facilities is particularly important concerning younger prisoners, whose attitudes during the first imprisonment may determine whether they return inside the walls a second and third time. A step taken in Texas was the recent completion of the Ferguson Unit, for first offenders between the ages of 17 and 21. Housing more than 1,100 men, the unit is termed by Dr. Beto as one of the finest such youth facilities in the nation.

THE CONSTRUCTION project was used to provide training in building skills for inmates, at the same time lowering the cost over what a private contract would have required, Dr. Beto also related. Some federal prisons have used similar projects for such training.

PHYSICAL facilities are important, especially in providing uncrowded and sanitary living conditions and in separating youthful prisoners from repeaters. But much more is necessary if a prison is to be more than a place where men simply pass time. Vocational training, as provided in the Ferguson Unit construction, can provide opportunities for men to learn income-producing skills such as electrical work, plumbing, carpentry and brick-laying. An educational program can offer a means for men who will to remove the educational deficiencies present in so many prison cases. A recreational program, psychiatric study and assistance, a strong parole system—all contribute to the same end. And while in many cases these efforts doubtless prove to no avail and men return to spend lives behind walls, the effort is made worthwhile by those who do not return but who live productive lives.

AT THE SAME time, a prison unit must still be a place where discipline comes first, for the riots in the Maryland House of Correction this week are an example of what can happen inside a prison.

Modern correctional theories are moving away from the old "chain gang" ideas, with the prison now considered more than merely a place to lock men up for specific periods of time. Texas is also fortunate in having a system which is forward-looking, as indicated by the completion of the Ferguson Unit.

The High Stakes In New York

NEW YORK—For both political parties the stakes in the Senate race in New York are out of sight. Not less than the shape of the two-party system and the nature of the presidential campaign four years hence can turn on the outcome.

It is not that the two candidates—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, Republican, and Robert F. Kennedy, Democrat—are opposed in ideology. They both belong in what, and how long ago it seems, was called the mainstream of American political thinking. Keating invokes his liberal voting record in almost every speech. Kennedy has the identity of the New Frontier and his brother, the late President.

THERE THE similarity ends. For part of the drama of this contest lies in the utter dissimilarity of the two men. Keating, with his white thatch and his rather benign face, draws on his 18 years of experience in Congress, 12 in the House, six in the Senate. He pokes fun at the carpet-bagger from Massachusetts who can't vote for himself on Nov. 3 because he hasn't lived in the state long enough.

IN CONTRAST, Kennedy looks much younger than his 38 years. If Keating appears relaxed and even a little weary with the whole business, his opponent has the tension of a coiled spring. He and his team, most of whom came with him from the Department of Justice, are constantly in motion. Coming from an evening meeting, Keating spots one of his volunteer street-corner speakers and he dashes from the car to join him for a few minutes, welcoming the crowd that closes in for hand shakes and autographs.

THE KENNEDY CLAN is giving in this campaign as they have in the past in the one-for-all-and-all-for-one tradition of the family. Brother-in-law Stephen Smith is campaign manager. The sisters are hard at work as fund raisers and organizers.

But the star is the candidate's mother, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy. She appears as hostess at the receptions to which the public is invited looking almost miraculously young, gracious and welcoming.

IF KENNEDY WINS, the odds slightly favor him, he will be able to consolidate a base in what is still the state with the most far-reaching power in the Union. Given his own drive and deep-rooted family ambition, he will move quickly to end the planned confusion of the Democratic party in New York. The governorship in 1966 will be high on the Kennedy agenda, with a Kennedy candidate ready and willing when the time comes. He will have support in a half-dozen states from Kennedy loyalists. If not 1968, then it's 1972 for the big prize. That is how high the stakes are.

FOR KEATING it is not alone personal survival. The money and the effort of the party have been put behind him with the national campaign all but ignored. If he can win, if enough Republicans, independents and Liberals split their tickets and vote for him at the same time they vote Democratic on the national line, the party may not be wholly submerged. If Keating goes, the legislature goes—the future for the second party is dark indeed.

The Voices Of Experience

WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover is gone, but he has left a legacy. Al though written 13 years ago, his words contain implicit warnings that apply to American life today. He wrote:

"The practical thing we can do if we really want to make the world over again is to try out the word 'old' for a while. There are some 'old' things that made this country."

"There is the 'old' virtue of religious faith.

"There are the 'old' virtues of integrity and the whole truth.

"THERE IS the 'old' virtue of incorruptible service and honor in public office.

"There are the 'old' virtues of economy in government, of self-reliance, thrift and individual liberty.

"There are the 'old' virtues of patriotism, real love of country, and willingness to sacrifice for it.

"These 'old' ideas are very inexpensive. They even would help win hot and cold wars.

"I REALIZE that such suggestions will raise that cuss word 'reactionary.' But some of these 'old' things are slipping badly in American life. And if they slip too far, the lights will go out of America, even if we win these cold and hot wars.

"Think about it.

"Our greatest danger is not from invasion by foreign armies. Our dangers are that we may commit suicide from within by complacency with evil. Or by public tolerance of scandalous behavior. Or by cynical acceptance of dishonor. These evils have defeated nations many times in human history.

"THE REDEMPTION of mankind by America will depend upon our ability to cope with these evils right here at home.

"Think about it."

The foregoing was contained in a nationwide broadcast by the former President at the Iowa Centennial Celebration at Des Moines, Iowa, on August 30, 1951.

Many a statesman in history has looked back on his life and pleaded that the voice of experience be heeded, even as youth in its enthusiasm has brushed it aside with the feeling that what is past is of no value.

FORMER PRESIDENTS have looked askance at the passing scene. Like Herbert Hoover, John Adams, our second President, lived to be 90. A few weeks before his death, he wrote a letter to Thomas Jefferson—on April 17, 1826—which said:

"Public affairs go on pretty much as usual; Perpetual chicanery and rather more personal abuse than there used to be."

But one can go back even further. Aristotle, analyzing all the oligarchies, the monarchies and the democracies of ancient times, wrote "A treatise on government," in which he said:

"IT IS NECESSARY and most for the benefit of the state that the offices thereof should be filled by the principal persons in it, whose characters are unblemished, and that the people are not oppressed..."

"And whoever would establish a government upon a community of goods, ought to know that he should consult the experience of many years, which would plainly enough inform him whether such a scheme is useful; for almost all things have already been found out, but some have been neglected, and others which have been known have not been put in practice."

Money Saver

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Every time Marshall Space Flight Center rocket engineers use their new magnetic hammer it saves taxpayers $30,000. They developed the electronic device to remove distortions from segments used in making fuel tank domes for the giant Saturn V moon rocket booster. Such distortions could ruin the tank segments at a cost of $30,000. The new tool "hammers" out the defects with electrical pulses lasting about 500 millionths of a second.

Voters Offered 'A Real Choice'

One Point Both Sides Agree On

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

One thing the candidates and the people agree on in the 1964 presidential campaign: This year the voters truly have a choice.

Often in this century there hasn't been much choice—it was more of a "me, too" situation in which the goals were similar and the promises boiled down to "I can do it better."

The wide choice this year is between Republican Barry Goldwater, who proudly proclaims he is a conservative, and President Lyndon B. Johnson, a political descendant and heir of the Democratic New Deal.

MORE OR LESS
In essence, the voters will choose how and when they want the federal government to use its power—the Republicans under Goldwater call for less direction and control from Washington; the Democrats incline to more and more federal programs—medical care for the aged under Social Security is one example.

Here is how the candidates stated it:
Johnson — "We do offer the people a choice. A choice of continuing on the courageous and compassionate course that has made this nation the strongest and freest and the most prosperous and the most peaceful nation in the history of mankind."

Goldwater — "We have a choice. It is between far more than political personalities, far more than political promises, far more than political programs. It is a choice of what sort of people we want to be. It is the choice of what world we want to live in and want to pass on to our children."

NEGRO
At home, a great underlying issue centers on the Negro revolution and the fight over civil rights legislation.
Negro leaders have chosen Johnson. He abandoned his earlier stands as a member of Congress opposed to federal civil rights bills, and this year helped push through the most sweeping rights law since the Reconstruction era that followed the Civil War.

Goldwater voted against the new civil rights bill, but says that as president he would enforce it, since it has been enacted.

Involved here is the matter of the so-called "white backlash"—anti-Johnson feeling that may be laid to resentment against racial demonstrations and other manifestations of Negro demands.

Johnson cites national polls as indicating that for every Democratic voter who turns on him because of the backlash, three Republicans will part company with Goldwater because of what Johnson calls a backlash.

ARGUMENT
The Johnson argument is that many Republicans will find they cannot go along with the Goldwater brand of conservatism, and cannot feel safe about what the critics call Goldwater's rashness in such delicate and risky fields as the use of nuclear weapons.

This campaign has demonstrated once again that an incumbent President who is running again has a tremendous advantage over his challenger.

Just by being President, a candidate has an eminence no one else can match. He has the power to reward his friends and punish his enemies. He can get a lot of political mileage out of every message to Congress, every speech, every meeting, no matter what the subject.

Furthermore, Johnson has a big boost in the fact that the Democrats have approximately a 4-to-3 edge over Republicans in voter registrations.

Polls show Johnson ahead by huge margins.

PROSPERITY
Prosperity at home is a great help to an incumbent President, and Johnson has it. Organized labor leaders are in his corner. So are a number of big businessmen, some of whom usually vote Republican.

One danger for Johnson is that, as President, he is mainly responsible for foreign affairs—and the war has been going badly in Viet Nam. If the situation should grow worse, if there should develop a grave crisis with the Communists in Asia, or elsewhere, his political fortunes could be hurt.

Goldwater has advantages of his own. For one thing, he has a dedicated and devoted following. For another, he is what the industry calls an extremely attractive television personality—and how a man looks and sounds on TV might have a greater effect on the election outcome November 3 than the pollsters now indicate.

NOT PLEASED
Goldwater also has an appeal to many Republicans who in previous campaigns were not pleased with such Presidential candidates as Richard M. Nixon, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Thomas E. Dewey and Wendell L. Willkie. Many old-line Republicans looked on these men as too liberal, and accordingly stayed home on election day.

At the start of September, Goldwater recognized that Johnson held what looked like a long lead in their race—but he was reported to believe there was a growing groundswell of concern among the voters that was not being measured by the polls.

Goldwater recalled other underdog victories, including his own capture of a Senate seat in Arizona in 1932 and Harry S. Truman's surprising triumph in the 1948 presidential race.

Goldwater has been saying that he can win if he can carry California, Texas, Illinois, Ohio and Indiana plus a group of southern and western states that "are already for me."

WITHDRAWAL
Goldwater stands to profit in the South from the withdrawal from the presidential race of Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, a states righter who pulled large votes in Indiana, Wisconsin and Maryland primaries earlier in the year.

The Democrats came out of their convention fairly well united although delegations from Alabama and Mississippi got what they regarded as pretty shabby treatment, and these states may well be outside the Democratic column in November.

Republicans were far from united after their July convention in San Francisco, where such men as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York deplored what he called Goldwater's extremism.

There was much made of these two sentences by Goldwater in his acceptance speech: "I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Later, as part of a unity move that helped close GOP ranks, Goldwater wrote former Vice President Nixon:

"If I were to paraphrase the two sentences in question in the context in which I uttered them, I would do it by saying that wholehearted devotion to liberty is unassailable and that halfhearted devotion to justice is indefensible."

Johnson had this to say on extremism:
"I am not one who believes that the end justifies the means. . . I condemn, as most Americans do, anyone taking the law in their hands or any one organizing for the purpose of hate and dividing his fellow man and playing upon the prejudices of the people of this country. I am not going to start passing personal opinions on the expressions of the other party and the other candidate at this point because I think the American people are perfectly careful and prudent people."

WE PAY EITHER WAY
Henry L. Mencken (1880-1956), critic and editor, delighted in taking jabs at politicians.

One of his thrusts: "We are always railing at the politicians, but it's likely that if they were not in politics, we should have to support them some other way."

ATTRACTIVE PAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — One reason so many people run for Congress is that the pay looks good ($30,000 a year beginning Jan. 1). And the fringe benefits are hard to beat.

The $30,000 salary, for senators and representatives alike, reflects a $7,500 boost the members voted themselves this summer.

Representatives and senators may deduct $3,000 each year from their taxable income to cover living expenses, recognizing that almost all members have to maintain two homes.

The federal government pays for three round-trip home a year, at the rate of 20 cents a mile. Congressmen, concerned with re-election, say these three trips are not enough, and almost all dip into their salaries to pay for extra travel. Some go home every weekend.

Allowances to hire staff vary with the size of the district or states. Since passage of the new pay bill, representatives have

VOTING: Your First Duty

By President Lyndon B. Johnson

Voting is the first duty of Democracy. Yet, in our nation too many citizens too often disregard their duty. Almost 40 million eligible men and women are not registered to vote.

In the last national elections when there was a record turnout, almost 35 percent of the electorate failed to vote.

I think these are shocking statistics. They measure the magnitude of the job that is before us. Some countries make it a crime not to vote.

But the answer does not lie in herding people to the polls. A free Democracy can no more order a citizen to vote than it can tell him how to vote. Yet Democracy must never neglect its obligation to provide encouragement to every citizen to exercise his right to vote.

And that is why we work to remove the barriers which limit a man's franchise because of the color of his skin. That is why we need a voluntary citizens' movement to make certain that no one fails to register and vote, because he failed to understand.

The mandate of November's election must be by vote of the people; never by default of the people.

The time has come, the time is here, the time is now to make a concerted effort to reduce the no-shows on election day. So, as President of all Americans, I call on your help to go out and register more Americans than have ever been registered before and to work to get more Americans to the polls this November than have ever gone before.

BUT STILL BELOW POTENTIAL Record Turnout Expected

Come Nov. 3 it's expected that more than 70 million Americans will cast their votes for President.

If so, the turnout would be a record high—but still far below the estimated 114 million potential voters.

Where will the remainder be? Some 20 million or so will be registered to vote, but for one reason or another—mostly apathy—they won't take part in the election.

Millions more will have failed to register. Within this group will be two main types—those who could have registered but didn't; and those who wanted to register but couldn't.

An estimated eight million will be blocked by state requirements that a person be a resident for a certain period before he can vote.

In 35 states and the District of Columbia, the basic requirement is one year of residence. In 12 others it's six months, and in Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina it is two years.

Some states have taken steps to allow newcomers or recently departed residents to at least vote for president. In all, 18 states have some combination of the laws on the subject. But the new laws are often cumbersome. In 1960 only 3,600 voters in Los Angeles County took advantage of the reduced residence requirement compared with the 635,000 votes cast that year.

Residence isn't the only requirement for voting. Nineteen states have some form of literacy test. And only within the past two years has the poll tax been knocked out as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

State laws regarding absentee voting vary widely, too, ranging from absolute prohibition to rules making it comparatively simple.

The President's commission on registration and voting noted in a 1963 report that those states which, in general, make it easiest to vote are the states with the biggest participation.

THE PLATFORMS

Textual comparisons of the Democratic and Republican platforms on major issues:

DEMOCRATS PEACE

The preservation of peace requires the strength to wage war and the wisdom to avoid it. The search for peace requires the utmost intelligence, the clearest vision and a strong sense of reality.

Because for four years our nation has patiently demonstrated these qualities and persistently used them, the world is closer to peace today than it was in 1960.

DEFENSE

We must and we will: —Continue the overwhelming supremacy of our strategic nuclear forces. —Strengthen further our forces for discouraging limited wars and fighting subversion. —Maintain our cost reduction program.

FOREIGN POLICY

Battered by economic failures, challenged by recent American achievements in space, torn by the Chinese-Russian rift and faced with American strength and courage, international communism has lost its unity and momentum.

CIVIL RIGHTS

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 deserves and requires full observance by every American and fair, effective enforcement if there is any default. We cannot and will not tolerate lawlessness. We can and will seek to eliminate its economic and social causes.

TAXES

We will seek further tax reduction . . . in particular we should carefully review all our excise taxes and eliminate those that are obsolete.

THE CANDIDATES

LYNDON BAINES JOHNSON

Born: Aug. 27, 1908, near Stonewall, Tex., son of Samuel Ealy and Rebekah Baines Johnson. His father and grandfather both served in the Texas legislature. When he was five the family moved to Johnson City, Tex., a community founded by his grandfather and still site of the family home.

Education: Graduated from Johnson City High School in 1924 and from Southwest State Teachers College in 1930; attended Georgetown University Law School, 1933-35. Between high school and college Johnson spent more than two years traveling about the Southwest and West while working as a road laborer, car washer, fruit picker and general handyman.

Business: Taught speech in Houston schools for two years, then, in 1932, began three-year tenure as secretary to Rep. Richard Kleberg of Texas. Has been in politics and government from that point on, although he and his wife have prosperous radio and television holdings in Texas.

Family: Married Claudia Alta Taylor of Texas, better known as Lady Bird, in 1934. They have two daughters, Lynda Bird, 20, and Luci Baines, 17.

Military service: Johnson was commissioned a Navy Lieutenant commander three days after Pearl Harbor and served in the South Pacific until mid-1942 when President Roosevelt ordered members of Congress not to go on active service.

Politics: Appointed by Roosevelt to head National Youth Administration in Texas in 1935. Won special election to Congress in 1937, serving in the House until 1948 when he narrowly won the Senate Democratic nomination by 87 votes out of almost one million cast. Became Democratic whip in 1951, minority leader in 1953 and majority leader—the Democrats' youngest—in 1955.

Hobby: Politics.
Religion: Christian (Disciples of Christ) although he often attends services of other denominations.

BARRY MORRIS GOLDWATER

Born: Jan. 1, 1909, in Phoenix, Ariz., to Baron and Josephine Goldwater. His paternal grandfather, Mike, was an immigrant peddler from Poland who founded the family department stores in Arizona.

Education: Graduated from Staunton Military Academy, Va., in 1928. Spent part of one year at the University of Arizona, then quit to join the family business.

Business: worked in the family stores, becoming president in 1937 and chairman of the board in 1953, a title he still holds.

Family: Married Margaret Johnson of Muncie, Ind., in 1934. They have two sons and two married daughters, all of whom took active roles in their father's campaign for the GOP nomination. Mrs. Goldwater usually shuts the political limelight.

Military service: Army Air Force Pilot in World War II, flying supplies in the China-Burma-India theater. Remained active in Air Force Reserve and is now a major general. An avid pilot, Goldwater is qualified to fly most U.S. military jets.

Politics: Elected to Phoenix city council in 1949, re-elected in 1951. In 1952 Goldwater, describing himself as "not a me-too Republican" defeated State Democratic leader Ernest W. McFarland by 6,700 votes. Six years later he beat McFarland again, this time by 35,000 votes.

Books: Arizona Portraits, Conscience of a Conservative, Why Not Victory, Let's Try Freedom.

Hobbies: Flying, amateur radio operations, photography.

Religion: Episcopalian.

HUBERT HORATIO HUMPHREY

Born: May 27, 1911 in Wallace, S.D., the son of Hubert and Christine Humphrey. His father was a pharmacist. The family later moved to Doland, S.D., where Humphrey spent his boyhood.

Education: Started at University of Minnesota in 1929, but quit twice because of family financial problems; finally graduated in 1939 with high academic honors. A year later he earned a master's degree at Louisiana State University. His thesis: The Philosophy of the New Deal.

Business: Worked as a pharmacist to help keep family drug store going during the early 1930s. After finishing LSU he was a Works Progress Administration official in Minnesota. Taught political science at Macalester College in St. Paul in 1943 and 1944 and worked as a radio news commentator.

Military: Rejected by Navy for color blindness and Army for double hernia in attempts to join services in 1943.

Family: Married Muriel Buck of Huron, S.D., on Sept. 3, 1936. They have three sons and one daughter.

Politics: Lost first political race, for mayor of Minneapolis, in 1943, but won a record victory in his second attempt in 1945 after presiding over fusion of the Democratic and Farmer-Labor parties in Minnesota. In 1948, sparked the fight for a strong civil rights plank at the Democratic national convention which led to a walkout by some southern delegations. That same year Humphrey defeated Sen. Joseph Ball to become Minnesota's first Democratic senator.

Hobbies: Boating and swimming when possible at lake near home.

Religion: Belongs to Congregationalist Church in Minnesota, attends Methodist Church in Washington, D.C.

WILLIAM EDWARD MILLER

Born: March 22, 1914, at Lockport, N.Y., to Edward J. and Elizabeth Hinch Miller. His father was a janitor of a radiator company and his mother operated a millinery shop.

Education: Lockport High School, graduated Notre Dame University in 1935 and Albany Law School of Union College, 1938.

Business: Attorney in private practice at Lockport from 1938 to 1942 and again from 1946 to 1948. Had announced plans earlier this year to quit Congress and return to private practice.

Family: Married Stephanie Wagner of Lockport in 1943. They have two daughters, 20 and 17, a son 5 and a baby daughter, 3.

Military service: Entered Army in June 1942 as a private, serving two years in military intelligence branch. Commissioned a first lieutenant in judge advocate general's office in May 1945, serving as an assistant U.S. prosecutor at the Nazi War Crimes trials in Germany in 1945-46.

Politics: Appointed district attorney for Niagara County, N.Y., by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in January 1948. Won election to a full term late that year, and in 1950 was elected to the first of seven straight terms in the House.

Hobbies: Bridge, poker, golf.

Religion: Roman Catholic.

BY THE WAY, SAWYER, ARE YOU ONE OF US — A RED?
NO, ISABEL.
NEVER MIND, I JUDGE A MAN BY HIS CHARACTER... MARRIED?
I'VE HAD A RECENT TRAGEDY. MY WIFE WAS LOST IN A TYPHOON.
AH!... SO THAT'S WHY YOU TOOK THIS CRUMBY JOB. I'VE OFTEN WONDERED... YOU TOO, LIKE LUCITA, ARE HEARTBROKEN, EH?
I'M NOT SUGGESTING ANYTHING, BUT ANY LUCITA'S A JEWEL. MAYBE ONE OF THESE DAYS, YOU TWO MIGHT CHEER EACH OTHER UP, EH?

Big Spring's vaunted defense gets one of its sternest challenges tonight, when the Steers go to Midland to do battle with the Midland Bulldogs. Game time is 8 o'clock. Only a victory would keep the Longhorns in a tie for first place in the torrid District 2-A AAAA race. A loss would tie them in the standings with Midland.

Big Spring beat Midland last year, 21-7, at a time big Ross Montgomery was limited to putting duties due to a leg injury. The 223-pounder, who has been clocked in 9.8 in the 100, will be in there tonight.

Top Pass Receiver

Leading pass receiver on the Big Spring High School football team is Wayne Nall (above), who has caught 15 for gains totaling 152 yards. Wayne, who punts occasionally for the Steers, is only a junior. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

Big Spring is in better physical condition than it has been in three weeks. Johnny Hughes is running at full speed again. Quarterback Benny Kirkland is over his siege of flu, as are Steve McComb, Howard Bain and others.

Midland has a fine pitching quarterback in Bobby Cutshall and one of the state's very best receivers in Mack Lawrence, who gave the Steers fits last year with his ability to go far down field and gather in the football.

Of course, King is famous for the lines he develops. The Bulldogs are tough from end to end up front.

High Pennant Races Headed For Showdown

The 1964 Texas schoolboy race moves into crucial showdown games this weekend with a number of the important titles slated for the Panhandle, home of the top teams in three of four divisions playing to state championships.

Mighty Dumas, ranked No. 1 in Class AAA, faces a test Friday night when it meets Canyon, one of the three unbeaten teams in District 1.

Phillips, ranked No. 1 in Class AA, battles Spearman in a game that matches undefeated, untied teams.

Amarillo Tascosa, currently ranked No. 1 in Class AAAA, is expected to be in little danger of losing its ranking when it meets Amarillo Palo Duro.

Rotan Club Hosts Coahoma Bulldogs

COAHOMA — Coahoma risks its gaudy 7-0 won-lost record in a District 6-A game with Rotan in Rotan at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Rotan, always tough to beat at home and boasting a fine passing team, will carry a 4-3 record into the field. The Yellowhammers are still in contention for the district flag, however, having lost only to Aspermont.

Coahoma will have two boys back who didn't play last week. They are Ted Cearley, who was out with a muscle spasm; and Mike Mosley, who pulled a muscle in his thigh.

Travis Reid, who has been favoring a bruised knee, will probably get into action for the Bulldogs.

Local Netters In Tournery

Howard County Junior College sends its tennis team to Odessa today for the annual Southwest Collegiate tournament, which extends through Saturday.

William Parris of Junction will play No. One men's singles for the Jayhawks. Other male performers for the Hawks include Albert Pruitt, No. 2; Taylor Smith, No. 3; and Bill Clements, No. 4.

Parris and Pruitt will team up as the No. One doubles team while Smith and Clements will form the No. Two tandem.

In girls' competition, Sandra Modgling of Junction will play No. One singles, Sandra Sanchez of El Paso, No. Two; Louise Malaise, Odessa, No. 3; and Molly Goodman, Big Spring, No. Four.

Middies Gun For Upset

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Navy's football season, normally made or broken in the annual windup against Army, goes on the line a month early this year.

The date is Saturday, the target second-ranked Notre Dame — and if that doesn't throw a bit of a Halloween scare into the unbeaten Irish, there's always Roger Staubach.

Dallas Favored Over Chicago

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland seeks revenge for an earlier loss to Pittsburgh, Baltimore goes after its seventh straight victory and Detroit and Los Angeles battle for the runner-up role in the West in key National Football League games Sunday.

Buffalo, only unbeaten team in the majors, shoots for its eighth straight against Houston and Boston duels New York for runner-up honors in the East in top American Football League games.

A 9-2 record last week gives us courage to go for a few upsets this time. The season score is 47-24-5 — 28-18-3 in the NFL and 19-6-2 in the AFL.

Los Angeles 21, Detroit 17 — An upset right off the bat. The Rams and Lions play "get the passer" with their tough defensive lines. They fought to 17-17 tie Sept. 19 but Los Angeles outgained Detroit. Ram rookies pack more scoring punch, with Milt Plum handicapped by injured elbow.

Dallas 17, Chicago 14 — Cowboy defense to handle Bill Wade's passes in another surprise. Dallas coming strong in last two weeks with Don Meredith healthy. Bears battered physically but still playing.

St. Louis 24, New York 17 — Despite loss of Sonny Randle, Cards have mixture of running and passing to top Giants and blitzing defense to harass Y. A. Tittle. Both quarterbacks have interception trouble. Cards will give Giant rookie Ernie Wheelwright prime test. Running of Joe Childress, Willie Crenshaw and John David Crow make Cards tough.

Baltimore 28, San Francisco 10 — One of these days Colts are going to have a letdown. Could be this one but 49ers don't have rush line to hurry Johnny Unitas and John Brodie will get a rough reception. Colts' well-balanced offense too much.

Green Bay 24, Minnesota 21 — Vikings won their first meeting 24-23 on a missed extra point by Paul Hornung. Loss of Paul Flattery hurts Minnesota's air arm. Vikings can be had with passes. Both clubs can move the ball on the ground. A real tough one.

Cleveland 24, Pittsburgh 21 — This could be a killer. Steelers made 353 yards on the ground with John Henry Johnson and Clarence Peaks in winning first meeting 23-7. Conservative Brown pass rush gives Ed

Baylor Freshmen Surprise Wogs

By The Associated Press

The Texas Christian Polywogs' perfect Southwest Conference freshman football record was shattered Thursday night when the Baylor Bears pulled an upset 13-6 victory.

The Thursday night game at Waco leaves the two teams with identical 2-1 marks.

Elsewhere, Alabama, Arkansas, Nebraska and Oregon risk perfect records against conference opponents and unbeaten Georgia Tech, major independent power, meets Duke in a key intersectional clash.

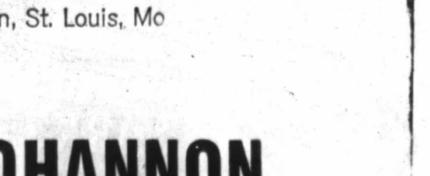

Ohio State, seeking a sixth straight victory and the inside track to the Rose Bowl, could be in for a rough hour at Iowa City. The Buckeyes have been less than overpowering in previous visits and they'll be contending with the nation's third-ranking passer in Smook and No. 1 receiver in Karl Noonan.

Third-ranked Alabama, 6-0, meets Southeastern Conference rival Mississippi State, ninth-ranked Louisiana State, 4-0-1, plays Mississippi and Florida, No. 10 and 4-1, goes against Auburn in other top SEC games. Arkansas, 6-0, seeks to cement its No. 4 rank and Southwest Conference lead against Texas A&M. Sixth-ranked Texas, beaten only by the Razorbacks in six starts, has a SWC date with Southern Methodist.

High-scoring Nebraska must get past rugged Big Eight foe Missouri for victory No. 7. The Cornhuskers are No. 5 in the country. Surprising Oregon, also 6-0 and rated seventh, plays Stanford in a Pacific Athletic Conference game.

Georgia Tech, riding a 6-0 streak since quitting the SEC, meets its stiffest test thus far in the unbeaten, once-tied Blue Devils from the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Yellow Jackets are eighth in The Associated Press ratings.

Berra Not Sure What He Will Do About Met Bid

By LEW HEAD
MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Goller Yogi Berra will likely have something to say after a vacation about the latest development in his baseball career.

The ex-manager of the New York Yankees was reached at his home by telephone Thursday night on the eve of his departure for a 10-day golfing holiday at Pinehurst, N.C.

"What about this New York Mets business, Yogi?" he was asked.

A brief pause followed, punctuated by what sounded like the rattle of golf clubs from the Berra end of the line.

"We understand," the questioner continued, "that Mets President George Weiss wants you in his organization, that he considers you 'a man with a great deal of baseball knowledge and popularity.'"

"Yeah, we talked," said Berra. He referred to a meeting Wednesday with Weiss in New York City.

"And what did you say?"

"I said I'm going to think about it."

Lawrence has caught 21 passes for the Midland gang for pickups aggregating 182 yards. Montgomery drops back on punts, manages to take the ball a lot on kickoff returns, does the team's punting and fills in numerous other ways. He's one terrific ball player.

Canines Hold Edge, 14-9

Midland High owns a 14-9 edge in the 23 football games played with Big Spring since 1931.

The Steers haven't been able to defeat the Bulldogs in Midland since 1946, when the locals won, 6-0. That game almost ended in a riot.

Midland beat the Steers nine straight times starting with the 1947 game.

Widest margin of victory achieved in the series by a Big Spring team occurred in 1932, when the locals won by a score of 52-0.

The 1950 Midland club walloped Big Spring by a record score of 54-7.

The series scores:
1931—85 39 Midland 9
1932—85 51 Midland 9

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Few will argue the fact that Benny Kirkland has filled the bill as a quarterback for the Big Spring Steers this fall.

When Albert Fierro departed the scene, with such vocabularies of praise as "a once in a lifetime boy" echoing in his ears, many reasoned he couldn't be replaced, especially by a boy who hadn't even played the game as a sophomore.

Kirkland set out to disprove his critics, however. He looked good in leading the Steers to victory over Lamesa in the first game and has improved steadily since that time.

He and Fierro are not cut from the same mold. Fierro specialized in the long bomb. Kirkland is deadly with the short pass. Kirkland perhaps is the more dangerous runner, although Albert wound up as the second leading ground gainer on the Steer club in 1963, with gains in ten games totaling 329 yards in 87 carries for a 3.8 yard average.

Albert scored 11 touchdowns himself to top the entire league in point getting. He threw for seven more.

Kirkland has a long way to go to equal that overall record of the stylish Latin-American chunker but he's made a good start.

Through six games last year, Fierro completed 35 of 102 passes for gains aggregating 601 yards. Seven of his tosses had been picked off and three of them had gone for touchdowns.

Through six contests this year, Kirkland had completed 57 of 118 aeriels for 582 paces. Three of his pitches have been intercepted by the opposition. Three others have rung the bell for touchdowns.

Benny has ripped off yardage with the ball at a three-yard average clip.

Both players had their problems against Abilene Cooper. Fierro completed only three of 16 passes last year against the Cougars for gains totaling 33 yards.

Kirkland, who had been sick much of the preceding week, completed seven of 19 aeriels against Cooper for gains netting 49 yards. He was leading his receivers a trifle too much.

The Fierro-led Steer team beat Cooper, 6-0. This year, Kirkland played a featured role as Big Spring walloped the Cougars, 21-7.

Fierro saw very little action on defense for the Steers last year, principally because coach Don Robbins felt he could not take the risk of getting him inactivated by an injury.

Kirkland plays a lot of defense for the Longhorns and plays it well. He was particularly impressive in that department in the recent Odessa game, when time and again he rushed up from a halfback spot to crack the Broncho backs before they could reach the line of scrimmage.

Local fans may be too busy congratulating themselves to argue about the relative merits of the two boys — thanking their stars that they're getting maximum performance out of boys playing the position for two seasons in a row.

Following the recent District 5-A game between Seagraves and Stanton, a Seagraves delegation approached the Buffs and let it be known that it regarded the Buffs as the best club the Eagles have faced this year.

That is somewhat surprising in view of the fact that Wink had toppled the Eagles the previous week whereas Seagraves had beaten Stanton, 31-13.

However, Seagraves got the Buffaloes in the hole right at the start of the game by scoring two quick touchdowns. Stanton came back to make quite a game of it.

The Buffs got a whack at Wink tonight. If they cut their mistakes to a minimum, they can win, coach Bill Milam believes.

Dogies Flatten Reb B 11, 42-6

MIDLAND—Big Spring's football reserves mauled Midland Lee, 42-6, in a game unrecalled here Thursday night.

The win was the fourth of the year for the Short-horns, compared to two losses.

Big Spring got started early when Van Tom Whatley rolled 28 yards to a tally on an outside belly play, with five minutes left in the round. Sammy Mims added the two PAT's.

Two minutes later, Gary Rogers roared 50 yards for another Doggie tally, breaking clear on a doggie back over right tackle. Ruben Billalba threw the key block.

Mims again added the two points on a power play. Lee got on the score board in the second when the Brigade's quarterback rolled out and went eight yards to tally but the attempted extra point pass fell short.

Big Spring added another tally before the half ran out when Mims scored on a six-yard run following a pitchout. Richard Cauley threw the key block then. The try for point failed and Big Spring led, 22-6, at half time.

In the third, Whatley passed 14 yards to Rogers for a Big Spring score after the Short-horns took the opening kickoff.

and moved on in Whatley tried to pass to Gary Morris for two extra points but it was no good.

With 1:02 left in the round, Robert Jackson took a 25-yard pass from Whatley and simply outran the Lee secondary around 26 yards for another Big Spring score. Whatley passed to Billalba for the two extra points.

In the fourth, Whatley sought out Billalba with another touchdown pass, then one good for 36 yards. A try for point via a pass from Whatley to Wayne Kennedy failed.

Big Spring suited out 40 boys and played everyone in the rout. On defense, tackles Jerry Wilson and Mel Daves, guards Glenn Biffer and Manuel Olague and linebackers Kirby Horton, Bobby Baker and David Holmes glistened for Big Spring.

On offense, Whatley, Billalba, Jackson, Mims, Rogers, Kennedy, James Carver, Terry Smith and Cliff Talbot were outstanding.

Big Spring Runnels and Snyder Travis split a football doubleheader here Thursday night. Snyder scrapping back to win the ninth grade encounter, 28-20, after Runnels had proved the complete master in the eighth grade go, 30-8.

With a break or two, Runnels could have won the ninth grade battle, too. The Yearlings played far and away their best game of the year.

Travis scored 14 points before the Yearlings got untracked. The visitors took the opening kickoff back 78 yards for a TD, then ran across the extra point.

Later in the quarter, a Runnels punt was blocked and recovered by the visitors on the Yearling 46. Travis scored in 11 plays to make it 14-0.

In the second, Junior Mendoza passed 52 yards to Randy Foster for Big Spring's first touchdown, the play highlighting a 72-yard march. The try for point failed.

In the third, Travis kicked off, then intercepted a Big Spring pass and ran 55 yards to score to make it 20-6.

Later in the round, Joe Robles returned the kickoff 25 yards to Snyder's 32, after which Mendoza passed to Mike Gartman for the score.

Big Spring tied the score before the quarter ran out when it drove 55 yards to pay dirt. A 50-yard pass from Mendoza to Robles pushed the ball down to the four, from which point full-back Paul Biffle went in. Biffle also drove across for the two extra points to make it 20-20.

In the fourth, Travis broke a boy loose on a 90-yard run to untie the count. Big Spring had time to drive deep into Travis territory but an interception stopped the drive at the visitors' five.

On defense, Charley Tubb, Coy Noles, Robles, Curtis Barnes and Mendoza excelled for Big Spring. On offense, Terry Anderson, Tubb, Carl Hinkle, Biffle, Robles, Gartman, Foster and Mendoza stood out.

In the eighth grade contest, Runnels built up a 30-0 lead before Travis finally broke through against Yearling reserves.

In the first period, Big Spring's Terry Marshall took the first kickoff and returned it 30 yards to the Big Spring 48.

From that point, Big Spring scored in two plays. John Patton got the touchdown on a belly keeper run of 50 yards and Roy Lee Warren added two extra points on a run.

In the second period, Runnels drove 65 yards in five plays, Patton traveling 55 yards on a sprint out for the score. Terry Marshall threw the key block on the play. Warren added the two extra points.

Later in the second, Warren scored in a 46-yard sweep, at which time Patton threw the key block. Patton added the two extra points to build Big Spring's lead to 24-0.

Runnels played its second and third units through most of the third period.

In the fourth, Marshall intercepted a Travis pass and raced 58 yards to the Snyder 12. Big Spring fumbled on the nine but when Travis punted out Patton grabbed the ball and raced 40 yards to the pay window.

Snyder ultimately drove 55 yards in six plays for its tally, operating largely against the Yearling reserves.

Runnels suited out 37 boys and used them all. The win was the fourth, compared to two defeats and a tie, for Runnels.

On defense, Richard Vera, Mike Noble, Johnny Hedges, Mike Bridges, Warren, Luven Flores, Donnie McEvers, Marshall, Emmett Miller, Patton and Rocky Wooley excelled for Big Spring.

On offense, Marshall, Patton, Wooley, Warren, Noble, Bridges, Billy Spier, George Rios, Hedges, McEvers and Miller were outstanding.

GARDEN CITY — Garden City's Bearkats won their way from the start in a 52-0 romp over the Coahoma reserves in an 11-man game here Thursday night.

Coach Jack Woodley played everyone he had as the Kats rolled to their sixth victory in seven starts.

Gary Pagan got the Garden City eleven to rolling early by traveling two yards for a score, after which Dennis Seidenberger boomed in for two points.

Seidenberger followed by scoring from 20 yards out and a pass from Vernon Newsom to Riley Chandler added the two extra points.

Again in the opening period, Seidenberger broke loose on a 21-yard scoring run to make it 22-0 at the end of the period.

In the second, Pagan counted from one yard away and Newsom followed with a 25-yard scoring jaunt. No P/T's were made after either touchdown.

Newsom then passed to Chandler for 50 yards and another Garden City score. Again the try for point failed.

Reserve fullback Loren Robinson followed with a three-yard scoring run to make it 46-0 at the end of the third period.

In the fourth, Chandler blocked a Coahoma punt and Pagan picked up the ball and ran two yards to the pay window.

Coahoma failed to mount a serious threat any time during the game. Woodley suited out 24 players and used them all.

Garden City will open conference play next week against Forsan, which is idle this week. Seidenberger broke loose on a 21-yard scoring run to make it 22-0 at the end of the period.

Grid Players Are Lauded

Mr. Tommy Hart: I notice it is about time for "Youth Appreciation" week again and I would like to relate an incident I recently witnessed.

The incident I refer to is a trip to an out-of-town football game. These Junior High boys came dressed for the occasion in dark slacks, shoes and ties with white shirt and socks. They not only looked very nice, I think it induced the boys to act nicely, also.

After the game, but before these boys and their coaches had dinner, I was pleased to see one of the coaches receive the boys' attention as he worked a prayer.

I don't know the procedures taken by our other schools, or if they follow the same pattern as the one I recently witnessed, but it would be wonderful if they all did.

A big pat on the back for the fine football squad and their coaches and leaders.

Yours truly,
MRS. W. D. BROUGHTON

Bisons Seek Wink Upset

STANTON — The Stanton Buffaloes get a chance to snarl the District 5-A championship race in a 7:30 p.m. game with Wink in Wink tonight.

The Wildcats, coached by ex-Big Spring trainer Rowe, are leading the standings with an unsullied record. Stanton was topped by Seagraves 32-13, last week but is still regarded as a salty outfit.

Seagraves was upset, 20-19 at Wink two weeks ago.

At the same time the Buffs are trying to knock the Wildcats down a notch, the Eagles will be in Plains with a similar venture in mind. Stanton and Seagraves wins Friday would throw the league into a four-way tie for the top.

Stanton will enter the game with a respectable 4-3 record for the season while Wink will encounter with a 5-1-1 mark through seven games. The Wildcats were beaten 41-0 by a potent Crane aggregation and were tied 13-13 by Marfa.

Edison Wins Over Goliath

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Edison steam-rollered Big Spring Goliath, 44-0, in a ninth grade football game here Thursday night.

The win was the 16th in a row for the Crimson Tide and their seventh straight this year.

Mike Phelps, Edison's fleet quarterback, put San Angelo out in front early by returning a punt 72 yards. The second time Edison got the ball he fled 79 yards from scrimmage, after which he added the extra points on a pass.

The Mavericks dropped numberless passes that would have set up touchdowns. The Big Springers were also handicapped by the fact that Lonnie Clanton was able to play very little defense due to injuries.

Harrison Is Low In Meet

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Big Dutch Harrison, who has made winning the National Senior Golf Championship a habit, led the field again in the 1964 tournament's third round.

Harrison fired a two-under par 70 Thursday to go with an opening day 68 and give him a 138 total after two rounds of the $35,000 National Senior Open.

Winner of the tournament the past three years, Harrison established himself as the favorite this time out when pre-tourney favorite Jimmy Demaret fell behind at 141.

Two strokes behind Harrison at 140 was Al Feldman of Olympia, Wash., who carded a 69 Thursday. Tied with Demaret for third spot were Harry Umbinetti of North Bend, Wash., and Zell Eaton of Palm Springs, Calif.

Almaden Golf Play Begins

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A field of 130 professionals was set to slosh through the opening round today of the $25,000 Almaden Open Golf Tournament after rain forced a one-day postponement.

Webb Will Open Play Nov. 6

The Webb Air Force Base basketball team will open their regular season against Randolph AFB November 6-7. Each game will be played in the Howard County Junior College gymnasium and will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The intramural basketball season will begin Monday Nov. 2. Permanent party teams will play Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. The first game will begin at six and the second game at 7:15 p.m. The Student Squadron will play their games Monday and Wednesday evenings. Their first game begins at 7:00 and the second at 8:15 p.m.

Heavy Military Vote Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — As many as 1.3 million U.S. servicemen may vote by absentee ballot in next Tuesday's presidential election — about 550,000 more than in 1960, defense officials said today. Many ballots already are on their way to polling officials by mail from American military men and their families in the United States and overseas.

Officials assigned by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to get out the military vote said 60 to 65 per cent of the estimated 2 million eligible servicemen may cast absentee ballots.

BEST RECORD
Four years ago, a total of 735,019 service men voted in this manner — a bit below 40 per cent of the 1,888,397 then eligible.

The Marines have the best record with a 68 per cent voting rate. The Navy came next with 42 per cent, the Air Force followed with 38.9 per cent and the Army trailed with 32.4 per cent.

Pentagon officials said hopes for a huge increase in servicemen voting this year stem from actions designed to assure that every man received a federal postcard application for an absentee ballot.

EVERY MAN
McNamara ordered that commanders make certain an application card was placed in every man's hand. This "in hand" distribution was due to be completed Sept. 25.

Applications for absentee ballots also were available to dependents of servicemen. About 750,000 wives and adult sons and daughters of servicemen are eligible to vote absentee this year, official tabulations show.

Awards

John J. Herbert, Field Maintenance Propulsion Section at Webb AFB Tuesday received a certificate of achievement from Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis E. LeMay. Herbert and 22 others were recognized for contributing to the Air Force Cost Reduction Program at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Ralph Flays Farm Plans

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough said here Thursday night that the agriculture policies expounded by his opponent would force 200,000 farm families off the land in Texas.

Yarborough accused Republican senatorial candidate George Bush of trying "to run the farmer out of the fields." He said that the federal government subsidy payments to agriculture amounts to $843 million per year and added that if these payments were discontinued many farmers would have to give up their operations.

Borge Details Career Start Decades Ago

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Victor Borge will soon be marking the 25th anniversary of a long-blooming romance between himself and the United States of America.

It began back in 1940 when the Danish piano-humorist and Adolf Hitler decided to disagree. "And look what happened to him!" Borge is fond of pointing out.

Borge recently was back in Hollywood to emcee a couple of Hollywood Palace shows and to pick up some handsome fees for local engagements with his one-man show. In between, he paused to reflect in his Chateau Marmont penthouse suite about the changes in his life during the past quarter-century.

DID INVADE
"I had been enemy No. 1 of the small but active Nazi party in Denmark," he recalled. "They constantly attacked me on the front pages of their newspaper because I spoke my mind about Hitler. I knew the invasion was coming and I would be on the liquidation list, so I took an engagement in Sweden."

The Germans did invade Denmark, and Borge's return was demanded. He replied that he had contracts to fulfill, and he managed to have his wife join him. Because she was an American citizen, he managed to join her on the last transport ship leaving from northern Europe.

Borge is fond of recalling his equipment for conversation when he arrived in New York. "My English consisted of what I remembered from school 15 years before," he said. "Mostly it was 'I am, you are, he is, etc.'"

But Borge is a fast study, and he soon learned the language — and the customs. He had his first engagement at a charity affair in Palm Beach, Fla., filling in when Hildegarde became ill. He was a hit from the start and played a date at a Palm Beach night club. He was wary, however, of appearances before small audiences.

"BLUE DANUBE"
He realized his material, such as phonetic punctuation and playing the "Blue Danube" backwards, might easily be lifted by other entertainers. He wanted to establish it with a mass audience so it would be identified forever as his own.

Borge decided to go to California, where living might be cheaper and there was a chance of getting into the movies. Through Danish friends he got an audition before Rudy Vallee, who helped place him on Bing Crosby's Kraft Music Hall. He was a guest star for a whole year, and his American career was launched.

Bush Raps 'Label' Try

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican George Bush told a state-wide television audience Thursday night that Democratic U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough is attempting to label him "a Birch or extremist."

The GOP senatorial candidate said his opponent "has seen the polls. He has seen that his party is leaving him."

"Let's set the record straight," Bush said in his talk carried by 15 television stations. "I have spoken out and campaigned against irresponsibility in politics from either extreme. I have spoken out against suspicion and hate. I am not a member of the John Birch Society; I have never been a member; I have never attended a Birch meeting; and I don't aspire to be a member."

Hemphill-Wells

'Barry Unfit,' —Humphrey

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey stumps the Northwest today, drumming away at a theme that depicts Sen. Barry Goldwater as unfit to carry the Republican party banner.

"Senator Goldwater advocates reactionary ideas wholly outside of the best traditions of the Republican party," the Democratic vice presidential candidate said at a rally in this southeastern Idaho rail center.

He put it another way Thursday night in Topeka, Kan., where he launched a final western campaign swing through eight states that gave the GOP their $1-electoral votes four years ago.

Humphrey said: "Senator Goldwater is neither Republican nor conservative. He is a radical and a Goldwaterite. And radical Goldwaterism simply does not equate with conservative Republicanism."

Pursuing that tack through Republican territory, he said here that "unfortunately, the responsible Republicans sat on their hands too long. The Republican party, once the noble party of Lincoln, has been taken over by radicals."

Humphrey charged Goldwater with proposing to act as president out of "a frantic impatience with the world as it is, in his hot pursuit of the mirage of total victory."

Going To Waco

A local Jaycee delegation will attend the organization's state board meeting in Waco this weekend. The delegation includes Jack Orr, president, and Chuck Butts, Norman Gound, Jack Dumphy, Melvin Fryar, Ben Faulkner and Joe Crump. The group leaves today in a car donated by Shasta Ford Co.
