U. S. Drouth Status Hits Emergency

CHICAGO (AP) — An autumn drouth described in some areas as the worst in history has turned hundreds of communities into emergency areas, threatened the nation's farmers with a multimillion-dollar loss in winter wheat and made forestlands fire traps.

An Associated Press survey today showed that hundreds of counties have become eligible for federal aid as wells, streams and springs have dried up and water has been pumped to farms.

The drouth has taken on major proportions in New England, which the U.S. Weather Bureau said was the worst in the area's history. The bureau said the drouth has extended for more than six months in four New England states.

FARMERS GRIM Farmers scanned the skies grimly in the Midwest and Southwest as one of the worst moisture shortages in the 20th century began taking its toll on the winter wheat crop.

In California, the drouth situation was eased by a torrential rainstorm. One of the hardest-hit states is Colorado, where the state's entire $100-million winter-wheat crop is near total destruction because of lack of rain. The situation also was described as critical in parts of Wyoming and western Kansas.

The New England drouth plagued an area from Pittsfield, Mass., to Hartford, Conn., and from Haverhill, Mass., to Concord, N.H.

WATER SHORTAGE The Massachusetts Department of Water reported a 30 per cent water shortage in October and described the situation as a statewide emergency.

Thousands of dairy farms are short of water in Vermont and New Hampshire. In Pennsylvania, the Crop Reporting Service said the winter wheat crop has a poor start in a state which has an $800-

Texas Draft Call Is 280

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' draft call for December is 280 men. Col. Morris Schwartz, state draft director, said today. The November call was 307.

The national call in December is for 7,800 men for the Army. Draft boards also will call 2,360 men for examinations in December. 1,235 of them 18-year-olds.

Schwartz said those 18 will not be considered for military service at this time because the normal draft age is about 22. Those failing the mental examination will be referred to local offices of the Texas Employment Commission.

United Fund Campaign Takes Few More Steps

The United Fund effort made a few more short steps since the end of the week report, building the total to $90,342 and 83 per cent of the goal. This was a boost of over $2,000.

Big Gifts Division still leads the volunteer worker sections, with 84 per cent of its goal and $33,980. The Public Employees Division accounted for the biggest increase, now holding 82 per cent of its goal and $18,246. The Special Gifts Division has 79 per cent in hand, with $7,983.

Houston Port Birthday Noted

HOUSTON (AP) — The Port of Houston celebrated its golden anniversary today with emphasis on expansion.

Ground breaking ceremonies for three additional public wharves—Nos. 26, 27, and 28—highlighted the 50th anniversary fête.

President Johnson was to talk by amplified telephone from his ranch to a crowd gathered at city dock 25. He then was to press a button setting off a dynamite blast signaling the beginning of the construction of the three docks.

Nuclear Force For Alliance Faces Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appears to be reconciled, although reluctantly, to a stretch-out in the timetable for concluding a draft agreement on formation of a sea-borne nuclear missile force within the Atlantic Alliance.

The timetable had set up a year-end target date for the proposed agreement, which is being hammered out by working group of North Atlantic Treaty Organization representatives in Paris.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak said after a conference with Secretary of State, Dean Rusk Monday that French opposition to the nuclear-force project had opened up a lot of questions that would take some time to answer. He dismissed talk of any final agreement in the immediate future.

U.S. officials conceded today that the vigorous campaign against the multilateral nuclear force — MLF — recently launched by French President Charles de Gaulle has badly tangled an already complicated situation.

REAL REASON But the real reason for delay now is the fact that Britain's new Labor government needs some time to develop NATO nuclear plans of its own.

The Labor party has advocated that Britain get out of the nuclear weapons field entirely and rely primarily on the power of the United States for protection.

Rusk apparently still hopes to get the Paris committee of diplomats to conclude a draft agreement if possible by the end of the year.

U.S. INTERESTED Officials now say that the United States certainly is interested in whatever new ideas the British Labor government will put forward and understands the need for a delay in any final action for a reasonable time into 1965. The "reasonable time" is defined by officials here as meaning a delay of weeks and not months.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson is expected here in about a month for talks with President Johnson. U.S. officials hope then to get some more precise ideas of just what nuclear weapons plans the new British government has in mind.

More Pay For Teachers

Students carry placards at the Capitol in Oklahoma City, demanding that the state give teachers more pay. The teachers have set March 1 as deadline for a pay raise and said today if it is refused they will boycott classes next year. In Louisville, Ky., meanwhile today, a teacher boycott and picketing persisted. (AP WIREPHOTO)

VA Hospital To Conduct Veterans Day Ceremonies

Veterans Day ceremonies will be opened at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Veterans Administration Hospital, with George H. O'Brien Jr., former Big Spring resident and Medal of Honor recipient, leading the Parade of Allegiance. Big Spring will join in observing the day with other cities across the nation.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, will speak, and a 15-minute color film of Veterans Day ceremonies last fall at Arlington National Cemetery will be shown. The observance is open to the public. Ceremonies will be at the entrance to the hospital.

Selections by the Big Spring High School Band will be followed by presentation of the colors by the Webb Air Force Base color guard.

O'Brien is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. O'Brien, 2803 Navajo, and is now a resident of Midland. The remainder of the program will be held inside the building in the main lobby. The Rev. Marvin James, associate pastor of the First Methodist Church, will give the invocation, and Donald D. Van Meter, hospital director, will welcome visitors.

Gold Star Mothers will be guests on the program. Following the ceremonies, the film, entitled "A Special Day," will be shown in the recreation hall. It was made Nov. 11, 1963, and features ceremonies led by the late President Kennedy at Arlington National Cemetery.

Participating in planning the ceremonies is the American Legion and the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary. The American Legion Auxiliary will furnish table decorations.

Van Meter invited all residents to attend the ceremonies and to "join us in expressing our thanks and our gratitude to all veterans of this country who have served in peace and war."

Some of the elective officials were pondering whether their offices would close. However, by noon Tuesday, the offices of the county auditor, county superintendent, county tax assessor, county clerk, county welfare department, state welfare department, hot check division of the sheriff's office, district court clerk, and the district attorney indicated they would observe the holiday.

Judge Lee Porter pointed out that he has set a jury docket for the county court this week, and that a jury case will probably be on trial Wednesday. His office and that of Wayne

Burns, county attorney, will be open.

The driver's license office and the county home demonstration and farm agents' office will be closed.

The post office will be closed with no city route deliveries. All windows will be closed in the office. Only a skeleton crew to handle incoming and outgoing mail will be on duty.

In general, all state offices will be shut down for the holiday as well as all federal agencies.

At Webb AFB, the day will be a complete holiday with only a small crew of men on hand to cope with emergencies.

No holiday is on tap for the city hall, however. The officials and their aides will be on duty. The same applies in the school system — work goes on as usual.

The banks, too, will be open. The day is not one of the Texas bank holidays approved by law.

Most County Offices To Close Wednesday

Veterans Day, Nov. 11, will be a holiday — in part — at the Howard County Courthouse. The day is one of those state law designates as an elective holiday which officials can observe if they wish.

Spaceman Sets Alaska Trip

HOUSTON (AP) — Astronaut Walter Cunningham has scheduled a three-day series of personal appearances in Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Non-Farm Job Record Made

ATLANTA (AP)—The number of non-farm jobs in the Southwest broke all previous records in September, Brunswick Bagdon, southern regional director of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, has reported.

The latest count of 4,682,500 is an increase of 27,800 from August and 98,700 over a year ago. Each of the four states shared in the gains, but Texas accounted for two-thirds of the 12-month growth. Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma also are in the region.

Applicant's Last Bank? Why, Piggy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herman Slavsky gave his 9-year-old daughter, Carol, $10 for her birthday so that she could open her first bank account. She was filling out a bank application when she came to the line asking the name of her former bank. Carol wrote: "Piggy" in big bold letters.

Tutors Picket, Stage Boycott

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Approximately 150 teachers boycotted the Louisville school system again today and some ignoring a restraining order — continued their picketing.

The strikers, who are demanding higher pay and other improvements, contended they were acting as individuals and not as members of any union. The court order against picketing was obtained Monday by the Board of Education and directed the Louisville Federation of Teachers and its members to halt their strike activity.

Asst. Supt. Robert Sanders said a number of teachers failed to report at nine high schools and junior high schools but that elementary schools were operating normally.

Children who found they had no teachers were sent to the auditoriums to spend the day in study.

ACCEPT ORDER Joe Cascalla, a representative of the American Federation of Teachers, indicated that union officials would accept the order today.

The boycott today appeared to be the same as it was last Wednesday and Thursday when 100-200 teachers remained out of classes to protest the defeat of a school tax referendum.

In Oklahoma, a large bloc of teachers demanded a $1,000 pay raise by March 1 and said they will boycott classes at the start of the 1965 fall semester if demands are not met. In Georgia, a teacher walkout ended after citizens raised money for schools.

Cascalla, of Belleville, N.J., has been in Louisville consulting with about 150 striking teachers. The unrest broke out following voter rejection last Tuesday of a school tax increase. The boost would have given city teachers a pay raise and provided money for school supplies.

URGED TO REPORT The Louisville Education Association urged teachers to report for duty today and give community leaders a week to come up with suggestions for relieving the situation. The LEA represents about two-thirds of the 1,882 city teachers.

City schools were closed Monday as the LEA held a protest meeting and some teachers picketed schools.

In Oklahoma, about 1,200 teachers demanded the pay boost. They represented 79 towns at a meeting called to protest defeat of four state school questions, including a teacher pay raise.

A study committee named by Gov. Henry Bellmon proposed a complete overhaul of the state's school system, including pay raises for the state's 25,000 public school teachers. The proposals include a minimum annual salary of $4,200, up from $3,800.

Although they are interested in the outcome, it won't make much practical difference to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana whether Dean Burch is forced out as Republican national chairman.

Because Burch was one of those who engineered the campaign in which Sen. Barry Goldwater was solidly defeated in his bid for the presidency, some Republicans are hunting for the chairman's scalp.

The Senate and House Republican leaders have avoided getting involved in this controversy. They know that the record the party carries into the 1966 elections will be forged in Congress and not by the national committee.

There have been some cries for new and younger faces in the leadership roles. But Dirksen and Halleck appear to have fortified their power base and seem unlikely to be presented with any serious challenge from within the ranks of their followers.

The national chairman is invited to sit in with them and other members of Congress in weekly meetings during the session.

Goldwater, who picked Burch and wants him retained as national chairman, has made it clear he recognizes that the party's record is made in Congress.

"This is the historical place where the real political power rests," he told a post-election news conference in Phoenix, Ariz.

The defeated presidential candidate said he plans to "work hand and glove" with Dirksen and Halleck. But Goldwater is leaving the Senate in January and may not always be around when the GOP leaders decide to file off a policy statement.

'Nap' Costs Citizenship

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Albert Smith, an aerospace engineer from England, was denied U.S. citizenship Monday, because, the judge said, he fell asleep during the naturalization ceremony.

U.S. Dist. Judge William Beeks, interrupting the ceremony abruptly, said: "There apparently is someone here who is more interested in sleeping than in obtaining citizenship." Then he directed an official to "strike the name of that man" from the 91 applicants attending the naturalization hearing.

Judge Beeks ordered this entry on Smith's naturalization petition: "Cause of denial: Went to sleep in court during naturalization ceremony and while court was speaking."

Smith, born in Hammer Vale, Hampshire, England, insisted he did not drift into the land of nod.

"The judge just made a public spectacle of me. Apparently I gave him the impression I was sleeping. I was, in fact, paying attention."

Immigration Director John Boyd said Smith can file again.

Congress GOP Leaders Shun Burch Hassle

SIGNS OF CONFUSION IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — There are signs of confusion around the Maricopa County Courthouse now that the election is over. Assistant County Manager Fred Dalzell recently told a signmaker he needed a sign for each member of the Board of Supervisors and would give him the names after the election. "We'll need three signs, however," Dalzell told the signmaker, "each with the name of the elected official on it." The signs showed up Monday. Each read: "Name of Elected Official."

Import Curb Shift Urged

CHICAGO (AP) — A Texas oil and gas regulator said today the federal government should overhaul its mandatory program to control oil imports. "Federal restrictions are fast losing their reasonableness," said Jim C. Langdon, member of the Texas Railroad Commission.

In a speech before the American Petroleum Institute, Langdon said foreign oil will supply 20 per cent of all United States demand for petroleum products this year. "Clearly, a reevaluation of the controls program is called for if the federal government expects domestic producers to bear the cost of maintaining ample reserve capacity for natural growth and emergency call," Langdon said.

More than 2,000 producers, refiners and marketers also heard a New York City banker say Federal Power Commission efforts to control wellhead prices of natural gas have caused so much confusion Congress should enact remedial legislation. John W. Bitner, vice president of the Empire Trust Co., said 10 years of effort by the FPC have caused nothing but bewilderment and frustration. Bitner said the FPC's 1960 switch from a cost-rate formula to an area formula offered encouragement that did not last.

Crash Kills Belton Pair

SAN MARCOS (AP) — A Belton couple died today in a two-car crash in a dense fog. They were Allen Atkins, 75, and his wife, Kitty, 63.

Mrs. Atkins was pinned in the wreckage for more than an hour. The driver of the second car, Harold Cobler, a student at Southwest Texas State College, was injured. The accident occurred on U.S. 80 four miles north of Martindale.

A third car, driven by Edward Schwitz, crashed into the wreckage, but Schwitz suffered only minor injuries. Visibility was less than 50 yards at the time.

Vicious Mudslides Strike Near L. A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rain was predicted today in Southern California, where storm-triggered mudslides Monday struck with avalanche fury at areas saved earlier from dry-season brushfires.

One mudslide sluiced down a fire-denuded canyon and into a residential street, sweeping a fleeing housewife with it.

Police say Aimee Miller may have been carried three-quarters of a mile and entombed in a catch basin — along with cars, furniture and household debris — in a 20-foot-deep mass of mud.

Her husband, William, 49, singer Frank Sinatra's accompanist, tried to save his wife from their crumbling home, and was also swept away. Firemen rescued him as he clung to a car in the swirling flood.

Their daughter, Meredith, 17, climbed uphill to safety as the family's canyon home twisted and cracked under the onslaught of mud.

The Miller home was destroyed and eight others damaged in the Verdugo Hills section of Burbank, a Los Angeles suburb, which is near the scene of a major brush fire in the foothills last spring.

Other mudslides hit the Santa Barbara area, 100 miles to the north, which lies at the foot of mountains ravaged by fire last September.

"All it takes is a good down-pour on open ground, where the native brush has been burned away," said the weatherman.

The forecast for today was for scattered showers in the mountains and foothills, with heavy showers expected in scattered areas in the afternoon.

Monday's rains were accompanied, in West Los Angeles and coastal regions, by a tornado — a rarity in Southern California — which shredded patios, unshingled roofs, faced a house trailer in the opposite direction and scattered a manufacturer's store of 40,000 artificial Christmas trees over a three-block area.

Red Camp Rift Seen Unbridged

MOSCOW (AP) — A new call came from the Kremlin today for a world Communist conference on the Moscow-Peking rift, but there was no indication Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's talks with the new Soviet leaders have brought the two camps closer together.

A Moscow dispatch to L'Unita, the Italian Communist newspaper, said Chou and his Peking delegation, which came to Moscow for last week's celebration of the 47th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, apparently were extending their visit for further talks.

An editorial today in Pravda, the Soviet party paper, said a world Communist conference "is clearly overdue."

OPPOSED IT
Red China had vigorously opposed such a conference when former Premier Nikita Khrushchev called it to muster support against the Chinese. The Kremlin's new leaders, party secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, are expected to put the emphasis at such a meeting on unity and not schism.

Brezhnev raised a toast to Communist unity Monday at a farewell dinner for foreign delegations leaving after the week-end celebrations. There was no word whether Chou responded.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Brezhnev proposed his toast "to the unity of the fraternal community of Socialist states and Communists of all the world, to the unity of all the forces of freedom and progress on the earth, to the victories of the cause of socialism, of great Marxist-Leninist ideas."

"FRIENDLY AURA"
Tass said a "warm and friendly atmosphere" prevailed at the dinner.

Chou and the Soviet leaders are assumed to be bargaining over Chinese terms for an indefinite suspension of the verbal hostilities between Peking and Moscow. The Red Chinese have indicated in recent statements that they expect the Kremlin to renounce most of Khrushchev's policies since 1956 — including destalinization and peaceful coexistence with the West.

Brezhnev reaffirmed Soviet adherence to Khrushchev's co-existence policy during a meeting last Friday night. Chou did not join in the applause.

Improved Earning Power, Fulfillment Pinpointed

(This is another in a series of articles prepared for National Education Week, which has the theme "Education Pays Dividends." Improved earning power and personal fulfillment are pinpointed in the following. — Ed.)

By GEORGE RICE
Coordinator Distributive Education

A paradox is that poverty is found in the midst of plenty. A fifth of the nation is described as living below minimum subsistence levels. The evidence shows that education makes the difference. Never before has education stood more between the man and his job than it does today.

Of today's poor, a majority has less than an eighth grade education. Of today's unemployed, a big portion are either illiterate or having no marketable skills. Of teenagers looking for work, many are school dropouts without basic preparation for employment.

The facts of the machine age are that a man who has only a willingness to work has nothing to sell. He is competing in many instances with machines, and he has to have more to sell the employer than does the machine. That something more is one of the dividends of education.

In the midst of unemployment, there are thousands of job openings for which trained men and women cannot be found. The United States needs an estimated 100,000 technicians a year for every year between now and the year 2000. Right now, the need is such that we need to double the number of technicians we have in training. Good jobs are going begging while untrained men and women are on the relief rolls from coast to coast.

The federal government recognizes education as one answer for the problem. Men and women must have the basic skills of literacy and, beyond that, must be equipped with the knowledge and decision-making ability that will surpass the machine.

The school's concern, beyond its role in helping with programs of the Manpower Development Training Act and Vocational Act of 1963, is with the youth now in school. These students must stay in school if they are to obtain jobs. They need educational opportunities geared to occupational and economic trends.

Our local schools recognize the need for every boy and girl to obtain a maximum education. The academic program must prepare the college-bound student.

The vocational training courses are broadened in scope, and new ones have been added. Previous graduates of Big Spring High School would hardly recognize the present Distributive Education, Industrial Cooperative Training, and other vocational training courses. The auto mechanics training program has closed a large gap. Others are planned as the demand grows and as money is available.

Schools must be responsive to the times. Good vocational programs cannot train students for jobs that will be obsolete by the time of graduation.

No stage of education can be thought of as terminal. The college graduate recognizes that a baccalaureate degree may be just the first one he needs in his profession. Furthermore, lifelong education will be required of every person whether to retrain several times in his lifetime for his vocation, or to learn more about how to cope with the complexities of the world.

By HUBERT G. MURPHY
Director, Choral Music, Runnels Junior High School

In the public schools, there is the opportunity to fulfill the promise that lies within each child. The schools help to bring out the potential of the child in the classroom. The challenge to the teacher is to do everything possible to help the child realize his potential. Whether president or plumber, students learn much of what will help them in later life while they are students in elementary and secondary schools. They come to school with a wide diversity of interests, abilities and talents.

For one student, the chance to learn to sing or play a musical instrument may be the high point of his school career, and it may turn out to be the source of his greatest satisfaction in later years. Another student may discover a talent for art which, without the schools, would have remained dormant. Another finds that setting up a simple scientific experiment has opened a window on a world he never suspected existed. This story goes on and on with each child discovering himself by being given the opportunity.

For most students, school is a way to find out what does exist, and to dip into the variety of human experience. It is a time to seek a level of interests and abilities, and discover more about tastes and talents. In this way, education leads to personal development.

The recognition that each student is many persons and that within every person lies a wide variety of talents, hopes, and ambitions makes education a rewarding experience. This self-fulfillment is among the greatest dividends that education has to pay.

'Skippy' Bosses Television Giant

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name seems incongruous amid the plush spaciousness of his executive suite. He is production boss of one of television's biggest enterprises — $64 million gross business last year.

But he is still called Jackie Cooper.

For six months, the onetime "Skippy" has been functioning as studio head for Screen Gems, the television giant that produces "Hazel," "The Donna Reed Show," "Farmer's Daughter" and the hit of the 1964-65 season, "Bewitched."

"We'll have between six and a dozen pilots ready for submission for next season's shows," Cooper declared.

"These are shows in which we have pride. I don't expect all of them to sell, but I think a good proportion will."

He added that one of his missions at Screen Gems has been to diversify its product. Whereas the firm has previously specialized in domestic comedies, Jackie now has projects for half-hour dramas, which he believes will be the new trend, specials—upcoming: Inger Stevens' tour of Sweden—day-time serials on tape, game shows and sports presentations.

The executive turn in Jackie's career is something he had planned, though not in the way it happened.

"I had hoped to head a production firm," he remarked, "but I thought I would probably have to build it through my own company, creating two or three shows. The Screen Gems offer was a happy surprise."

The Jackie Cooper saga is a story of how to survive in a changing industry. Most child stars in films never sustain their success as adults—possibly because they try to remain in films.

When there was scant demand for Jackie's services in Hollywood after the war, he went to New York to sharpen his talents on the stage, then in television.

CAME BACK

"I didn't want to be the last actor the leave live TV," he said, "so I came back here to do a filmed series, 'The People's Choice.' I never enjoyed doing the show, not a single day of it. But it accomplished what I wanted."

"I did enjoy an occasional show of 'Hennessey,' and I liked being on the production end. Now that I'm in this job, I do miss directing now and then. Miss acting? Not a bit."

METALIOUS

Lawyer Says Metalious Died Broke

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Author Grace Metalious died broke, says the executor of her estate, Atty. John F. Cremens of Cambridge, Mass.

Cremens said Monday that he and the court-appointed estate administrator, John S. Holland of Manchester, N.H., have filed a petition in Probate Court asking that the estate be declared insolvent.

The petition said the author of the best-selling novel "Peyton Place," who died in Boston last February, owed more than $175,000 in mortgage payments.

Mrs. Metalious' deathbed will, approved last June, showed an estate valued at $127,372. It was left by a deathbed will to a friend, British writer John Rees.

Thirty-four members of the Beta Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma were in Andrews Saturday for the regional meeting of the society.

Registration was at 9:30 a.m. with the Delta Phi Chapter as the host group at the Andrews Senior High School.

This was the seventh regional convention directed by Miss Gladys Wallis of Amarillo. She is a member of the Zeta Epsilon Chapter and has taught in Texas for 23 years, as both a high school and college instructor. Miss Wallis helped write two books, "Americanism" and "The Dangers of Communism." Widely sought as a speaker, she is the recipient of numerous awards and citations including the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. She earned a BA from North Texas State University and received an MA from Southern Methodist University.

The luncheon speaker was Dr. Madge Davis, a professor emerita in the English Department at Midwestern University who is now retired and living in Wichita Falls. Her topic was "How Constant Are You?"

Dr. Davis received a BA, MA and Ph.D. from the University of Texas and has been included in four different "Who's Who" publications and listed in the Directory of American Scholars.

She has served on several committees at the state level of Delta Kappa Gamma, being a past state president. Also, she has served on committees on the international level and has been active in numerous civic and professional organizations.

Peace Corps Life Detailed

Life as a Peace Corps volunteer was described by Miss Sammie Sue McComb Saturday afternoon when she spoke to the 1930 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Elmo Wasson, 508 Edwards. The cohostess was Mrs. T. E. Helton and the speaker was introduced by Miss Clara Secret.

Miss McComb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam McComb, attended public school here and Howard County Junior College. Later she attended Texas Tech and was graduated from North Texas State Teachers University.

Using the topic, "A Foreign Frontier," she told of her experiences in Peru during the two years she was a member of the Peace Corps. Miss McComb completed four months of training in Puerto Rico where she received basic courses in community development, construction and public health.

Arriving in Lima, Peru, on Nov. 27, 1962, she joined about 50 other volunteers and was assigned as a social worker in San Martin. Later she was transferred to Ayacucho where she taught English at the Universidad de Huamanga. In April, she and her partner were sent to a small Indian village called Huarocondo where they supervised the preparation of food for the school breakfast program.

They fed about 600 children in that village. Also, they traveled to sectional schools, one of which could only be reached by horseback. These towns had neither electricity nor running water.

In Urubamba, she participated in a vaccination program as they toured small villages for six weeks.

Her most satisfying experience was working with English teachers with an aim to share the latest methods for teaching English as a foreign language. The work was so successful that it has been used in other areas.

At the conclusion of her talk, Miss McComb answered queries from her listeners.

Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper presided for a brief business session when Mrs. Charles Weeg reported on the progress being made by Klaus Limbacher, a foreign exchange student who is attending Big Spring High School.

A Devotional For The Day

Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. (John 8:32)
PRAYER: Lord Jesus, open our understanding with Thy spirit of wisdom that we may discover more and more what God is like. Give, we pray, beauty for ashes, joy for mourning, that in quietness and confidence we may find strength. We pray in Thy name. Amen.
 (From the 'Upper Room')

Devoted Ladies

The Midland Reporter-Telegram devoted the front page of its women's section Sunday to the work of the Midland Volunteer Workers to the Big Spring State Hospital.
 This is certainly a well-deserved recognition for a group of ladies whose faithfulness and compassion is unsurpassed.
 They have given multiplied thousands of hours of help as volunteers, plus thousands of dollars in materials and supplies over the years. And this does not include the expense of travel on an 80-mile round trip two days a week.
 One day a week the workers from Midland conduct a game party, and on another they assist in a charm school in which women patients may obtain shampoos, rinses, sets, etc., and otherwise keep up their personal appearance. They also assume responsibility for a valet check to encourage pride in appearance and hygiene among the men patients.
 Of course, there are other projects, some of them special undertakings. For instance, the Midland ladies gave $600 toward establishment of the Halfway House, and more recently a $500 gift to the proposed all-faiths chapel building as a memorial to the late Mrs. K. C. Slough, a marvelous humanitarian.
 The many fine volunteers here have a special admiration for the Midlanders not only because of what they do but because of the extra sacrifice they make to do it. And with them, we join in the salute to the Midland ladies.

We Apologize

Big Spring school authorities and police are pressing an investigation into the reported roughing of some members of the Permian High School band here Friday night. We commend these officials for trying to unravel the threads which might lead to apprehension of those who had any connection with this matter.
 We deplore the incidents and feel a sense of shame that anything less than genuine hospitality and friendly courtesy should have been paid our guests. That physical damage, reportedly resulting from a juvenile wielding a piece of chain, should have come to one of our visitors is humiliating to us.
 Unfortunately, this is not the first report of unfriendly acts by some unorganized individuals towards our guests in some previous home games. Whatever is required to insure that this never happens again must be done. Police have promised prompt action against any adults involved and to turn over juveniles to the juvenile authorities. School officials also have pledged to help guard against any untoward incidents.

 As for us, we extend to Permian our community's apologies and the assurance that our people are grieved that this could happen. And we suggest that the student council or administrator or some other proper body might make similar representations of regret. No matter how spirited rivalry may become, good sportsmanship and gracious hospitality are always the uppermost considerations, and any lesser spirit would be an affront to our sense of decency.

Holmes Alexander
A Duet In Hatred

WASHINGTON — Seeing ourselves "as others see us" sometimes tells us more about "others" than about ourselves. That's how it is in the matter of two current anti-American books, one by an expatriate who lives in Paris, and the other by a naturalized immigrant who claims American citizenship but lives in Switzerland.
THE EXPATRIATE'S book, "Who Killed Kennedy?" by Thomas G. Buchanan, comes from a man who embraces the Leftist theory that love of earned income is the root of American evil. He spins a conspiratorial theory which postulates that John Kennedy was killed by Texas plutocrats who feared his leadership would bring dismemberment and ruin the market for merchandise of death.
 The immigrant's book, "The Wounded Land" by Budapest-born Hans Habe, embraces the more general Leftist theory that America's bourgeois mentality could not abide the sight of the aristocratic, young intellectual and his cultivated young wife in the White House.
BOTH BOOKS are hymns of hate. Both of them reveal much more than is reprehensible and psychotic in the authors than is revealed in the American people and nation. Both are examples that "others" often see us through minds that are diseased with envy, with transference of subjective malice, and with delusions of omniscience.
 Buchanan's book gets an undeserved boost in credibility simply because it scoffs—as do many Americans—at the validity of the Warren Commission report. The federal government cannot honestly investigate itself. It was a job that should have been done by Congressional committeemen, subject to censure by the jury of their constituents.
BUT AFTER patiently and cleverly demolishing the lone-killer concept, Buchanan looks for another villain and constructs one that fits his own purposes. His method is an extension of the lynch law, for he chooses a victim to satisfy his prejudice and that of his readership community. He writes:
 "I believe the murder of the President was provoked, primarily, by fear of the domestic and international consequences of the Moscow (Nuclear Test Ban) pact; the danger of disarmament which would disrupt the industries on which the plotters depended."

HABE'S BOOK is the travesty of a snob, provided we apply Thackeray's definition—"one who meanly admires mean things."
 Ah—but the Kennedy White House. There Pablo Casals had been asked to dine and to perform. And there Mrs. Kennedy "threw open the windows and let air into the stuffy rooms." She'd removed "antiques dating from the worst period of American taste."
 Dethroned were the wives and widows of millionaires... the wives of Generals or of Midwest Senators... Texas oil magnates... visiting State governors... and the lobbyists... and even certain Ambassadors... Washington had been Europeanized.
FINALLY, Habe comes to his last chapter, "Who Murdered Kennedy?", but the villain has already been pre-fabricated, already been lynched, and somehow is made to look like Hitler in a reactionary, pleated shirt.
 So it is that "others" see us, but somehow it puts more shame on them than it does on us. For theirs is the blind hatred that makes them "see" only what is within themselves, and not what is actually there.

Billy Graham

How does one achieve happiness in life? I know that one cannot find it in possessions, wealth and pleasure.
 Somehow in our present way of living we have come to the place where we feel that everyone must be happy and this is the greatest thing in life. But happiness is a very elusive thing. The word itself suggests to us how transitory it can be. It is derived from the English word "happen" and by its very nature depends upon the things that happen to us.
 The Bible does not promise to make people happy, but to give them inward joy that does not depend upon circumstances. The Psalmist once wrote, "Blessed is the man who walketh not in the way of sinners... but whose delight is in the Law of the Lord." (Psalm 1). That is the same blessedness Jesus told about in the Beatitudes, found in Matthew, Chapter V. He said: "Blessed are the poor, those that weep, the peevemakers, those who hunger and thirst after righteousness, those who are persecuted for righteousness sake, etc."
 Happiness, or the Biblical word "blessed" is the by-product of the life that is adjusted to the will of God and regulated by it. These qualities, found in mature Christians are the finest expression of the faith and cannot be debated or refuted by a skeptical world. If you seek for happiness, you likely won't find it, but if you seek God through Christ, it will come as a result of a life lived as God designed it should be lived.

The Forgotten Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:
 Everybody gets a helping hand today from the government, except middle-aged people.
 Uncle Sam has laws to safeguard children. He has Social Security and welfare programs for the aged and needy. He protects the widow, the manufacturer, the cattle rancher and the farmer. He extends aid to college student, the veteran — even the Indian.
BUT AMERICA still has one orphan that no government — local, state or federal — is rushing to protect. That is the middle-aged person. He is the Forgotten Man to Congress, his state legislature, and to City Hall.
 When you get right down to it, the middle-aged man is pretty well forgotten by everyone else, too.
 No national day, week, or month has been declared in his honor. No statues to him have been erected in the parks, and no boulevards — or one-way streets — have been named for him. Nobody even bothers to write love songs for him any more.
THE ONLY ones who bother to pay any attention to middle-aged people are doctors, dentists, tax collectors, used car salesmen, and other pocket pluckers.
 Why have the middle-aged fallen to such low estate?
 There are more voices raised in alarm over the plight of the whooping crane than over the plight of the middle-aged man.
THE TRUTH is that the government, which has shown it can be all things to almost all people, is stumped when it comes to doing something for the middle-aged man. About the only possibility is that it may come up with a pill to make him feel better, but no government has been able to do that yet.
 Meanwhile the middle-aged man goes it alone, and wonders if maybe that isn't the best way, after all.

Diet Pills Can Cause Problems

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: Can the constant use of diet pills be dangerous? Can they make a person irritable at times? I am 29 and have been taking them for eight years.
 I have to increase the dosage now. If I don't take them, I have an enormous appetite. I am so tired I don't have any energy to do my everyday housework. I have two children.
 —MRS. J. W.
 Yes, diet pills can make a person irritable, and they can also be dangerous. That is one reason why I flatly oppose their use except under medical supervision.
 Eight years is a long time to have taken them. They are not intended for continued use, but rather may, in difficult cases, be a temporary crutch until new and better eating habits are learned.
 Obviously you haven't gotten down to the root of your problem. You are still "on crutches" instead of "learning to walk." Learning how to eat properly, that is.
 Being too tired to do your housework doubtless means that you are not getting sufficient exercise, which only adds to your weight. Worse, there may be some thyroid imbalance or other disorder of metabolism, or there could be anemia — being heavy does not indicate that you are free from this problem. Have a physical examination to find out what if anything needs to be done medically. Tell your doctor exactly what pills you have been taking, and let him help you control your weight more successfully. Don't ruin your disposition and endanger your health by relying on pills.
 Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain fibromyositis — cause, treatment and cure. The word appeared on my husband's insurance papers. Eight specialists said he had a disease of the muscles but they could not find the real trouble for his back-ache. —MRS. T. M.
 Fibromyositis means inflammation of the sheath surrounding muscles ("fibro" for the fibrous sheath, "myo" for muscle, and "itis" for inflammation). Identifying the cause may not be easy. It can involve some form of infection, strain, nervous tension, injury or faulty posture.
 Why EIGHT specialists? Why not let one study the case in depth instead of eight take a quick try at it?
 Dear Dr. Molner: What does leukoplakia look like? I have small patches of wrinkling skin with tiny white bumps on the inside of both cheeks. It is not sore or painful in any way. —MRS. W. K.
 Leukoplakia is a white, patchy growth in the mouth (inside the cheeks or on tongue or gums.) Except for that, it is very difficult to describe, and the only reliable answer I can give you is to have your doctor or dentist take a look.
 These patches are frequently found in smokers' mouths; they sometimes disappear spontaneously when smoking is stopped.
 The danger is that leukoplakia may be a forerunner of cancer, although not always by any means. If patches begin to spread, it may be wise to remove them. In any event, they should be watched to make sure that they do not begin to show danger signs.
 Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim
The Reign Of Terror

I never got a lickin' when I was a kid in school. I am not boasting that I was so good—I suggest that I was very lucky and that the school officials just didn't happen to catch me in any of the numerous acts of devilment which in those days merited the application of the schoolmaster's paddle.
ONE TIME, although I escaped without being paddled, it would have been far less wearing on my nerves if I had been given my licks and allowed to go my way. (One thing that made me most careful in matters which involved corporal punishment was the oft-repeated admonition from my father "You get a lickin' at school, son, — you get another when you get home." I thought this might be just a threat, but I never felt so optimistic that I was willing to test it.)
 But getting back to that time when I would have been a lot better off with my caning rather than escaping it.
IN THIS school we had what they called a "study hall," and all of the kids in all grades were seated in a vast chamber when they were not in classrooms.
 The low ceiling in the big room was some sort of embossed metal. It was discovered by one of the boys that a bent pin projected by a well stretched rubber band would strike that metal ceiling with a resounding "clank" — guaranteed to shake up all of the boys and girls and stir the teacher at the desk to wrath.
 The inventor of this pastime escaped apprehension although he repeated his deed several times. Other lads, wanting to enjoy the lustre of such bravado cast, began to clunk pins at the ceiling.
THE SITUATION continued for several days. The school officials began to do a little Sherlocking. They quizzed some of their stool pigeons.
 Apparently the stoolies didn't talk. The principal called in a number of lads who had the reputation of being ringleaders in devilment and gave them the old third degree. No information was provided.
 The school officials then decided on drastic action. The ceiling plunking had been so widespread in the study hall that it was possible, they felt, any boy in the room could have engaged in the sport.
ONE MORNING as soon as school opened, the principal appeared at the study hall door. He looked over the room and signaled for one of the boys to come out in the hall. A few seconds later we heard the resounding slaps of a paddle being effectively applied. The boy came back in the room a little red around the eyes and gingerly caressing his backside.
 The principal called out a second lad. And then a third. All that day boys were summoned to the hall, the sound of the paddle heard and the victim readmitted to the room to painfully reseat himself at his desk.
WHEN CLOSING time finally came, we believed that the reign of terror had passed, but not so. The next morning it resumed and the parade of boys continued and the sound of the paddle went on and on.
 The principal called out boys from all around my desk. Everytime his menacing figure loomed in the doorway and his hand rose to beckon a new victim, I shuddered.
THE LICKINGS went on for three days, but I never got a call. When the end came I was a nervous wreck. The fellows who were called got over their punishment quicker than I got over not being punished.
 Incidentally, the plan worked. There were no more shots fired at the metal ceiling. Peace and quiet reigned in the study hall.

Prescriptions For The Sick Patient

WASHINGTON — The doctors are hovering around the bedside, each with a different prescription for the unhappy patient. The Republican party is sick, perhaps mortally sick, and no easy formula of "rally round the old flag" will do more than disguise the peril.
 The first essential is not to start talking about survivors of the wreck who might be candidates in 1968. That ignores the history of the past three decades when only for eight years, and then thanks to a national hero, Dwight Eisenhower, have the Republicans been able to take power.
THE FIRST TASK is a massive re-organization of the party machinery from top to bottom. It will take dedicated and continuing effort by knowledgeable men and women in every part of the country with sufficient belief in moderate Republicanism to build what will be, in effect, a new party.
 If a serious effort in this direction is not made, under the leadership of the Republican governors—many of whom clearly foresaw the debacle—the party will continue to be a shadow of its once-flourishing and vigorous self. Rather than a true major party in recent years it has been half a party. This is the strongly held view of several governors who want to come together as soon as possible for a strategy meeting.
THE IMMEDIATE necessity, in the opinion of most of the governors, is to remove the Goldwaterites, headed by Dean Burch, now in control of the national organization. How this can be done is far from clear. And especially if it fires up the hostility between the two Republican parties—the party of the governors and the party of Congress — it will mean a monumental row.
THOSE ARGUING the urgent need to rebuild the party see little hope from the Republican leadership in Congress. House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana took a jaunt view of the Democratic landslide shrinking his minority by perhaps 40 seats. The fact that more Republican seats were not lost, he said in a statement that had almost comic overtones, was a "tribute to basic Republican strength" and a sure indicator of a "real Republican comeback." Down on the floor, as one governor sourly remarked, there is no place to go but up.
THE CATCH, however, is that both Sen. Barry Goldwater and his Vice Presidential candidate, Rep. William E. Miller, have their ties with Congress. Halleck and his opposite number on the Senate side, Everett McKinley Dirksen, can dig in their heels and make any change difficult, if not impossible.
 There will be a continuing loyalty to Goldwater if not also to Miller, who was Republican national chairman before his selection at San Francisco.
NOW, OPTIMISTIC chirping is heard about the emergence of a two-party rivalry in the South. The Republicans took five House seats in Alabama and one in Mississippi.
 But surely this is not the base for a revived party. Southern Republicans are, on the whole, to the right of Southern Democrats. And the loud noises of race and reaction they made in the late campaign frightened Northern Republicans out of their wits. The pieces of the puzzle are on the floor. How they can be put back together still is to be determined.

Trees, Apples—And Christmas

WASHINGTON — Old Hollow, my precipitous pea patch in the Blue Ridge Mountains, has a scraggly old orchard that has not been defiled by the hand of an apple picker, pruner or sprayer for these five years past.
 It is unkempt, overgrown, and a delight to a spirit grown limp with witnessing the pomp and vainglory of self-seeking Pharaohs. An apple tree, an old one anyway, has a kind of gnarled integrity about it that you used to see on old boys sitting on the front porches of country stores.
THESE TREES have run their course, in the opinion of the book-learned agronomists from the Department of Agriculture at any rate, and according to any sensible order of things they should soon end their days as firewood. Apple wood is the best fireplace wood there is, and it is an honorable end for trees that have spent themselves producing the wherewithal for cider, pies, apple sauce, apple juice, apple butter and, the best configuration of all, plain old eating apples.
STILL, if I can put the brakes on Chip and his chain saw for a bit, I think I'd like to save a row or two just for the looking. There is a stone fence that separates the orchard from the meadow, and a row or two along the fence shouldn't offend the gum-miner's scientific chaps.
 The last time I walked into the orchard it was a warm, sunny morning and I sat on an abandoned beehive and ate one of the few apples that had remained on the tree.
I AM NOT going to get into any argument between the chemical cartel and the organic farmers, but the fact is that unsprayed or not, the apples at Old Hollow contain nary a worm. Maybe it is because I don't plan to sell them. Maybe if I planned to sell them, the worms would hear about it and move in on me.
 Anyway, I was sitting there munching this here apple and feeling sorry for everybody else in the world when my eye lit on a patch of green that was shining through the smoky gray of the trees and the orange, brown and red of the underbrush in its autumn clothes. What it turned out to be was a tiny Scotch pine, bushy and beautiful and not more than four feet tall. I scouted idly for others nearby and found none, which posed a small and untroubling mystery.
HOW DID THAT coniferous little rascal get there? Squirrel? Bird, or other natural agency? Or is there some sly Johnny Pine Cone operating in the district? I don't know, but what I do know is that the joyous extortionists who get eight bucks for a Christmas tree have just lost a customer.
 Christmas tree? Is the man daft? Why it's just a couple of weeks since... since summer vacation. Truth is, it's just a couple of weeks until Thanksgiving, lads. The frost is on the pumpkin, so over the river and into the small loan department with you, and not a moment to lose!
 Let's see, I've already got the tree, and I think I'll give everyone apples this year.

Work Begins On Caylor Building

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING OF NEW CAYLOR BUILDING
Construction starts this week on $90,000 office-store structure

Work has started on the Caylor Building at 600 Main. This is the newest office-store building in the city, and will be constructed at a cost of approximately $90,000. Foundation will be poured immediately. Occupancy is expected in 90 to 100 days.

Builders and owners are Guilford Jones, Jack Cook and Harold Talbot. The new building will occupy the site of the home of the late H. W. Caylor, renowned Big Spring artist. The contractor is Robert A. Heinze.

The new building will have approximately 7,000 square feet of floor space. A feature will be the "L" design which will provide 27 off-street parking spaces on Sixth Street.

Tenants of the new building are to be Zack's, which will utilize a space approximately 45 by 90 feet with a front entrance on Main and a side entrance on Sixth; the law offices of Jones, and the offices of Talbot and Cook. The north-west wing of the building, on the ground floor, will be occupied by Stripling-Mancill Insurance Agency.

An automatic elevator will lead from the first to the second floor.

The new building will be constructed of masonry. Fieldstone and exposed aggregate concrete will be used. The entire structure will be of steel, stone and concrete to afford maximum fire protection.

The building will have a 24-ton electric air conditioning unit and will be centrally heated. The building will be parted, wall to wall.

Each tenant is planning his own decor for the portion of the building he will occupy.

Zack's, for example, has engaged Adelta of Dallas to design its new shop. The motif will be Early American from front to rear with the walls, carpeting and furnishings designed to fit into that idea. A feature will be a big wood-burning fireplace, surrounded by easy chairs, coffee tables, teacart and other fixtures. The shop will be divided into departments with the Early American plan providing separation.

The parking area in the "L" will afford easy entrance to Zack's as well as to the other offices from the Sixth Street side.

Jones said that his office is also being designed especially to fit the new building. Cook and Talbot and Stripling-Mancill also will follow this plan.

New Lighting For C-City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Council voted Monday night to replace the old incandescent type lighting on 20 blocks of Hickory Street with mercury-vapor lighting. Plans call for replacing 20 lamps now in use with 55 lamps on metal poles at an additional annual cost of $1,833.55.

Don Benson, Colorado City, and Bill Brown, Sweetwater, both Texas Electric Service Co. employees, presented the new lighting plan to the city. Brown said poles were to be ordered immediately and that installation would be completed in 90 days.

The council also received a financial report, and a check for $19.21, from the Colorado City Flying Service, which operates the Colorado City airstrip. The city's contract with the flying service calls for payment of two per cent of sales above $4,400 as rental for the strip. The check was for a year.

Farm Tour Plans Slated

ABILENE — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Farm and Ranch Management Tour to Southern California and Arizona March 1-6 to give Texas farmers, ranchers, and business people an idea of how diversified farming operations are carried on in these areas.

W. H. (Bill) Lance, Perryton, chairman of the West Texas Chamber's Agriculture Committee, announced the tour dates. He said the West Texas delegation would travel by special Santa Fe train and there would be accommodations for 200 men.

"Good farm management seems to be the key to successful farming and ranching in West Texas. For this reason we are placing special emphasis on farm management in selecting the itinerary for this tour. We hope our people will pick up new ideas on the trip and put them into operation," he said.

Lance said the tour would cover the Perris-Hemet Valley, the Coachella Valley, the Imperial Valley, and Palo Verde Valley, all in California, and the Parker Valley in Arizona.

The Texas visitors will see diversified types of farming, plus some livestock raising and feeding operations. Those on the tour will see farms which raise cotton, grain sorghum, vegetables, sugar beets and small grain, plus livestock. There will be an added emphasis on water conservation.

Persons interested may obtain information by writing WTCAC at P. O. Box 1561, Abilene.

Driving Safety Classes Held

Classes in driving safety are being conducted by the City of Big Spring each Saturday, with about 15-20 drivers included in each session.

Instruction in this past Saturday included 18 men. The classes will continue until all drivers in city departments have received instruction, according to Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson.

The sessions will be in the police building and include instruction by police officers and city supervisors who have completed courses in driving instruction. Anderson said, with the safety program of the city also to include safe-driving awards based on driving records.

Inspections For Burglary Hazards

Businessmen who want to have their firms inspected for burglary hazards may call the police department, Police Chief Jay Banks said, which has a three-man committee to check the firms.

The program is voluntary by the businessmen and involves checking of roofs, windows, locks, doors and other items which may be involved in break-ins, according to Banks.

"We can't eliminate all hazards involving burglaries, but we can check the more obvious items," Banks said. The public health and safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the police department program.

The committee to check the businesses will be composed of Detective Wayne Tollett, Patrolmen Travis Long and Richard Tice. A merchant may call the department and arrange the inspections at his convenience, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Testing Drag Line

The city's new drag line, purchased recently from the Texas Surplus Property Agency, is being tested by workers in the Beals Branch creek area, according to Public Works Director Ernest Lillard. Lillard said it will be used as city crews have time available to clear brush and debris from the creek channel, to allow better drainage from the downtown area during rains. Operators will be familiarizing themselves with it this week, Lillard said.

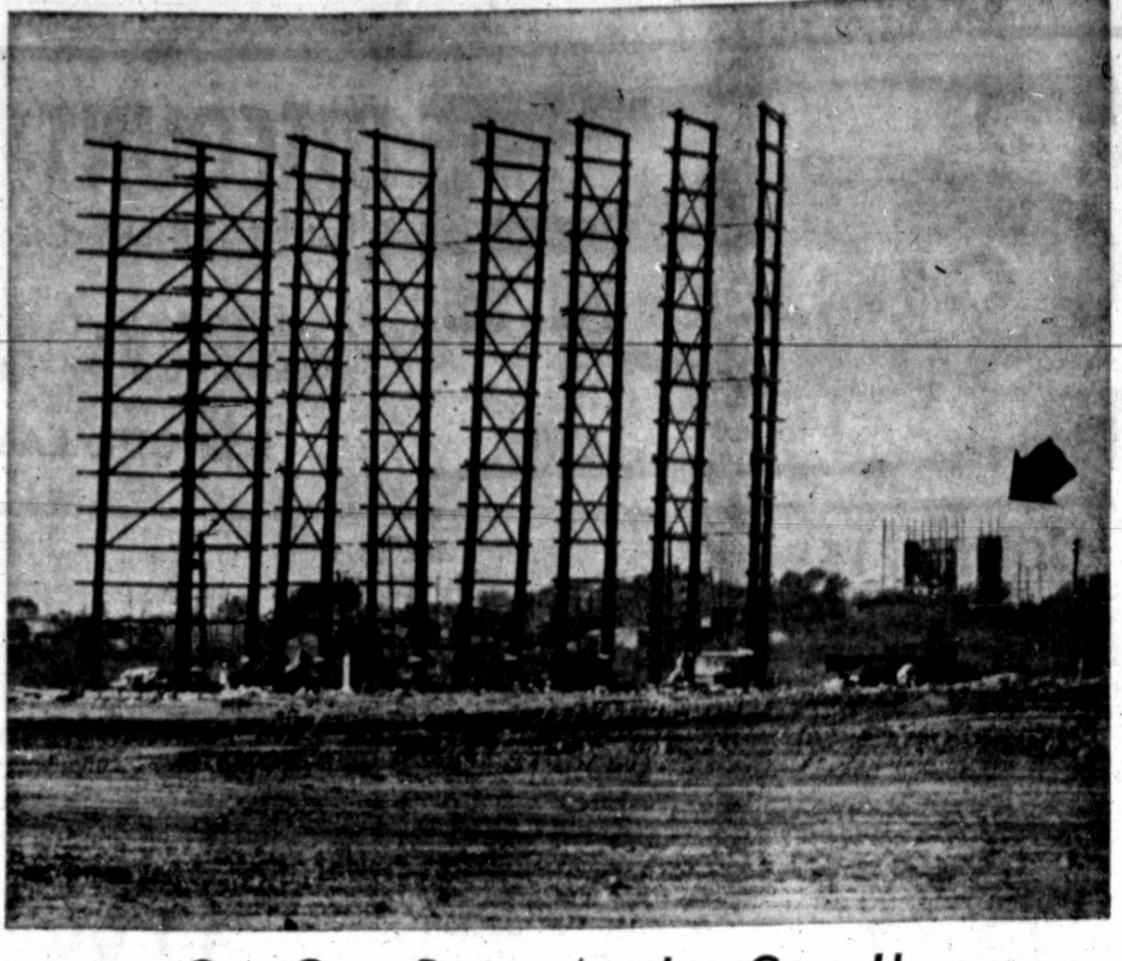

Minor Accidents Investigated

Three minor traffic accidents were reported to police Monday. Officers were investigating an accident at Eighteenth Street and Birdwell Lane in which an unidentified vehicle left the scene after a collision with a car driven by Juan S. Armandariz, 134A North Dow.

Two other collisions were at Edwards Blvd. at Bell Street, cars driven by James M. Collins, 431 Edwards Blvd., and Ray F. Philley, 2110 Carl, and at Third Street and Birdwell Lane, with vehicles driven by Gloria Kubicki, Glendale, Ariz., and Sue Gail Hammond, 1200 Lamar.

Weather Forecast

Rain is expected Tuesday night from central Pacific coast and the Great Basin to the northern Plateau with snow in the higher elevations. Temperatures will be cooler in the Pacific northwest, the Rockies and from the Lakes to the north Atlantic coast. It will be warmer in the middle Missouri valley. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Achievement Day Program Planned

Members of the Howard County 4-H Club organization are all "shook up" this week.

Saturday, the coveted Gold Stars will be given to one boy and one girl of the organization. The winners have already been selected by the committee, but their names are a closely guarded secret. The Gold Star is the highest honor at a local level a 4-H Club member can receive.

Last year's winners were Bob Adkins and Cathy Shaw. They are the only youngsters who can be calm about the selection this year—they know they cannot be winners again. A Gold Star winner cannot repeat.

Achievement Day is the official designation of the celebration at which the Gold Star awards, as well as the numerous other citations for outstanding club work, are made.

The sites for the annual Achievement Day activities will be at the Fair Grounds Building and the National Guard Armory. All livestock activities will be at the fair grounds. All exhibits and home demonstration events will be at the armory. A free barbecue dinner and the award ceremonies will also be at the armory. The same plan was followed in 1963. All 4-H Club members and their families, as well as friends of the organization are urged to be on hand.

Mrs. Koger died Monday in Raymondville after a long illness. She was making her home at the time with Mrs. W. E. Gasset, a daughter.

She was born Sept. 29, 1874 in Orange. She was married to the late Daniel Koger, a pioneer Glasscock County rancher, in 1893. They lived in that county until his death in 1935. She has been making her home with her sons and daughters since.

She was a member of the Garden City Baptist Church.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Gasset, at three sons, D. W. Koger, Lamesa, H. C. Koger, Big Spring, and J. W. Koger, Hayward, Calif.; and one other daughter, Mrs. M. L. Harris, Dallas. She has four grandchildren.

Glasscock County residents are to serve as pallbearers.

C. J. Hodo Dies Today

Charles Jethro Hodo, 91, who has divided his home among sons and daughters in Big Spring, Dallas and Arizona for several years, died at 12:15 a.m. today in Dallas. He was a retired brick mason and had been in failing health for a year.

Mr. Hodo was born April 11, 1873 in Hamilton County. He was a Methodist.

Services have been set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at the River-Weich Funeral chapel. Grave-site rites will be held at 5 p.m. Wednesday at the Monahans Cemetery, under the direction of River-Weich Funeral Home.

Survivors include six daughters, Mrs. Lela Long, Houston, Mrs. F. B. Huddleston, Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. B. P. Tribble, Mesa, Ariz., Mrs. R. L. Haralson and Mrs. Corine Lasley, Sentinel, Okla.; two sons, Ernest Hodo, Big Spring, and C. J. Hodo, Elk City, Okla.; 25 grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren.

Legion To Honor Past Commanders

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City Legionnaires will honor past commanders of the Colorado City Post, American Legion, with a breakfast in the Terrace Room of the Baker Hotel Wednesday.

District Judge Austin McCloud will speak to the group of veterans according to Leroy Gressett, post commander. He said 21 living past commanders of Hooker-Pond Post No. 27, had been invited to attend as guests.

Being Treated

Homer Petty, husband of County Clerk Pauline Petty, is undergoing treatment at the M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston and will be in the hospital indefinitely. Mrs. Petty said that his room number is W-302B. He was taken to the hospital late in October and it is not known when he will be able to return home.

Porkers Now Third On AP Grid Ballot

By The Associated Press
Notre Dame is the No. 1 team in the country for the second straight week, but the unbeaten Irish must make a strong showing against Michigan State this Saturday to receive another vote of confidence.

The Associated Press panel of sports writers and sport-casters placed Notre Dame at the head of the major college Top Ten again this week but only by 13 points over Alabama, the Southeastern Conference champion.

A shaky 17-15 victory over Pitt last Saturday, coupled with Alabama's 17-0 triumph over Louisiana State, another member of the Top Ten, left the Irish with a slim lead, built on 26 of 41 first-place votes.

Alabama replaced Ohio State as runner-up, receiving 11 first-place votes. The Buckeyes tumbled to seventh following their 27-0 loss to Penn State.

Unbeaten Arkansas and Nebraska and once-beaten Texas each advanced one spot to third, fourth and fifth, respectively.

Michigan bolted from nowhere to sixth while Oregon State moved into the Top Ten in eighth place.

LSU, one of five of the elite to lose last Saturday, dropped to ninth, and Georgia Tech slipped to 10th. Florida and Purdue fell out altogether.

In seeking its eighth victory, Notre Dame plays a team it hasn't defeated since 1954. In the ensuing period, Michigan State has knocked off the Irish seven times. The Spartans also are fresh from a 21-7 victory that knocked Purdue out of the

Greenies Have Huge Deficit In Athletics

By KESLO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Tulane, which pit its Southeastern Conference status in doubt by scheduling only three SEC games in 1966, has lost more than $1.2 million on its athletic program during the past two years.

The decision to cut back on the SEC schedule and possibly lay the ground work for getting out of the conference came several months ago when school officials decided they could not afford to subsidize the program to the tune of $600,000 a year.

The $1.2-million figure—which officials at the university in New Orleans would neither confirm nor deny—came from two persons close to the school and also from two members of the athletic staffs of two other SEC institutions.

Dr. Rix N. Yard, athletic director of Tulane, said in a telephone interview that it was obvious to the educated eye that the losses at Tulane the past two seasons have been heavy. But he declined to put any figure on them.

"A look at the Tulane catalog is enough to let you see how hard it is for us to compete in the SEC financially," Yard said. "The average scholarship here costs us $2,500 a year, while it's about half that at state-supported schools."

"I would like to set the record straight on this: We or not, do we have any intention of, emphasizing athletics at Tulane," Yard said.

"We just want to get things back in order around here and get our feet on the ground, and I believe the conference will want to cooperate with us."

The SEC will hold its annual meeting in Atlanta in January and will determine at that time what action to take on the Tulane matter. The school's decision not to play the required six conference football games is a violation of the SEC by-laws.

Top Ten and out of the lead in the Big Ten.

Rockets Host Abilene Club

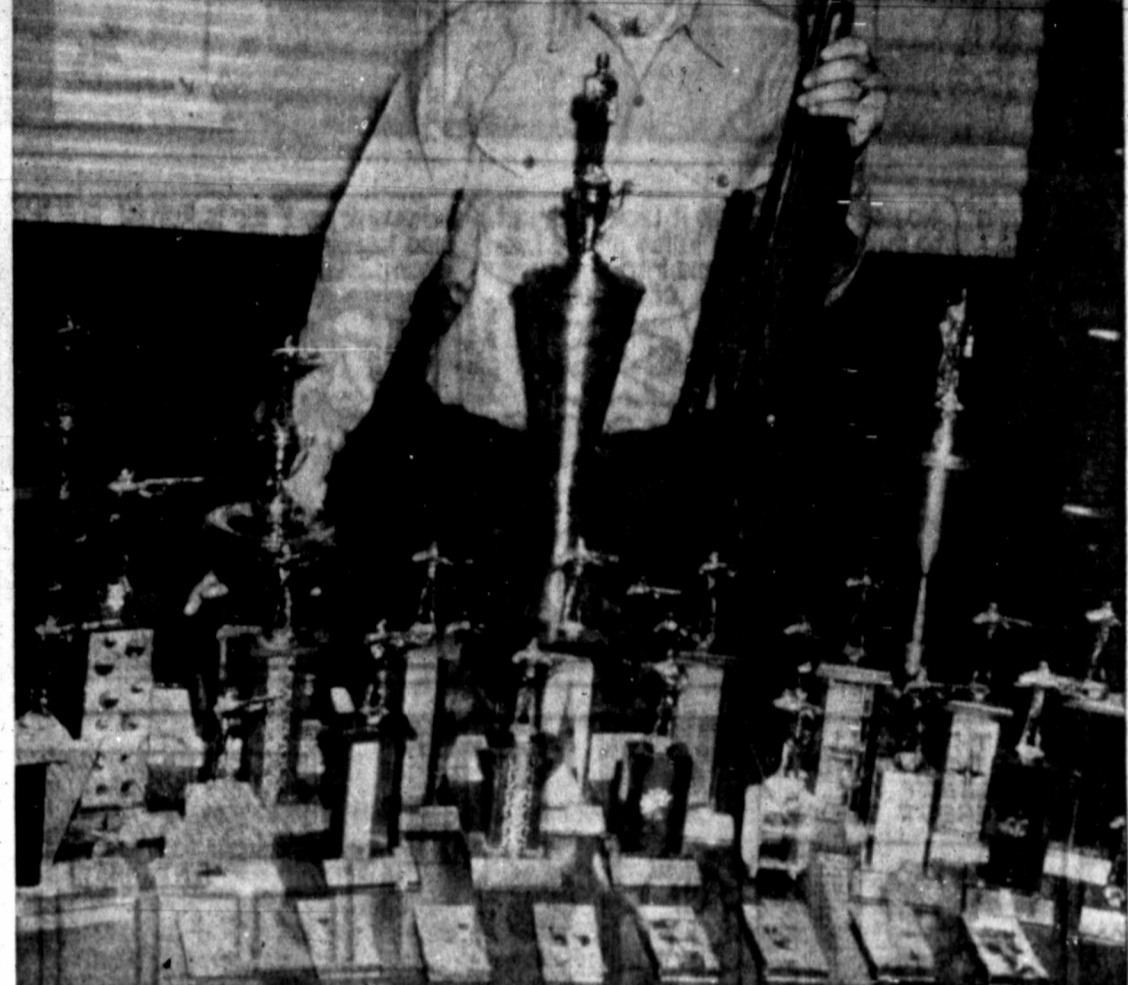

Big Spring Lakeview closes out its 1964 football season in a 6:30 o'clock game in the old stadium here tonight with Abilene Woodson.

In a game played in Abilene last week, coach A. C. Clark's team defeated Woodson, 16-0. The Rockets will carry a 4-1 won-lost record onto the field.

Probable starters for the Lakeview club include Claude Tucker 125 and Tom Randolph 120, ends; Ronald Wright 144 and Jesse Brown 165, tackles; Thomas Jones 130 and Alford Hastings 130, guards; Cleveland Gossett 120, center; Tommy Mitchell 126, quarterback; Hubert Williams 115, wingback; Leonard Evans 135, halfback; and Seminal Johnson 135, fullback.

Ponies Likely To Be Tough, Says Broyles

Just because their opponents coming up got beat 23-0 is no reason to think they're not a good team, the Arkansas Razorbacks are being told as they prepare for the game that could put them in the Cotton Bowl.

A Southern Methodist team that was held to a minus 10 yards on the ground and only 48 in the air by Texas A&M was pictured as "having adequate offense, great defense and a tremendous kicking game" by Scout Lon Ferrell.

Moreover, Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said SMU has been indeed troublesome the past two years, almost beating the Razorbacks the first time and beating them the second.

Which accounted for his somber outlook for the Southern Methodist-Arkansas game at Fayetteville Saturday when the Razorbacks can leap into the Cotton Bowl with a victory.

Coach Hayden Fry gave his Southern Methodist squad Monday off so they didn't have to start worrying at the same time as the Razorbacks anyway.

Arkansas had Jack Brasuell on the ailing list but the hard-running tailback was due to be ready for the game. Southern Methodist had no injuries.

Texas Christian brewed pass magic for Texas and Coach Abe Martin found quarterbacks Kent Nix and Randy Howard doing some sharp passing.

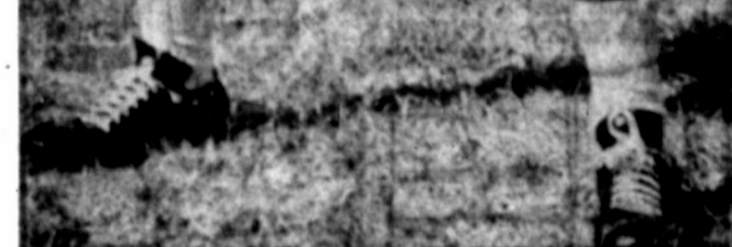

Texas and TCU play at Fort Worth Saturday and Texas has to win to stay in the Southwest Conference race.

Texas A&M was still glowing over breaking its losing streak by beating Southern Methodist but not enough that the squad failed to put in some hard work Monday preparing to meet the Rice Owls at Houston.

Rice worked on offense since the Owls have scored only one touchdown in the last three games.

Fullback Paul Piper was a doubtful starter for Rice but everybody was ready at Texas A&M.

Texas Tech got a report that Washington State, whom the Red Raiders meet in Lubbock Saturday, is double-tough. All Tech hands are ready except defensive end Tommy Doyle, who went out with a torn up knee and won't be back this season.

Hinsley, Decker Are Singled Out

Key victories in football, of course, are not achieved without key plays on the part of individuals. Cited among Daily Herald Players of the Week are boys who helped secure victories for their teams. The list includes:

BIG SPRING
LINEMAN — Ability to run techniques and his stellar play against Odessa Permian earned the honor for the second time this season for Skipper Sabbato, who plays quick tackle on offense and right tackle on defense for the Steers. Skipper is a 188-pound senior who had much to do with limiting Permian to one touchdown.

BACK — This honor this week is shared by Johnny Hughes and Joe Jaure. Hughes glistered on offense and scored Big Spring's lone touchdown on a 68-yard punt runback while Jaure intercepted two Panther passes that blunted Permian drives and helped tackle Alan Moravick when the Permian quarterback appeared to be going in for that all-important two-point conversion.

COACH
LINEMAN — Mike Hinsley, who plays guard on offense and linebacker on defense, turned in a tremendous effort in helping Coahoma win its all-important District 6-A game with Aspermont. His blocking was particularly effective. Other standouts in the Coahoma line included Eddie Wolski and Teddy Merrick, who did much to slow down Aspermont's huge fullback, James Ray.

BACK — David Dunn, senior fullback, 165, one of the captains, nailed down two passes, both for TD's, one for 55 yards, other for 19 yards.

LINEMAN — Bert Decker, freshman tackle, 175, filled in

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart
Sports dialogue: MICKEY HERSKOWITZ, Houston writer: "An All-American, as every smart-apple knows, is any football player ten years out of college or 100 miles from home."

FRANK BROYLES, Arkansas football mentor: "Jerry Rhome (of Tulsa) is uncanny in that he never throws a bad pass. Never. If you don't knock it down, it's either completed or dropped. It's always on target. I don't care whether it's a dropback, a rollout, a throwback or what, it's on target. We studied Rhome's last four games of 1963 and I know my coaches were amazed. He always threw strikes. He's by far the most accurate passer I've ever seen in college football."

Coaching aide BILLY WILSON of the San Francisco 49ers: "Dave Parks (formerly of Texas Tech) is the finest rookie I've ever seen. And not just as a receiver. He does as much when he doesn't have the ball as he does when he has it."

Texan RAYMOND BERRY of the Baltimore Colts, who is on the verge of breaking Don Hutson's all-time NFL record for pass receptions: "It's an honor to be ranked with a great like Hutson. I had never really thought about playing long enough to catch that many passes, but I still enjoy catching the ball whether it's a game or in practice."

BOB RULE, Houston writer: "Apparently they're getting ready to give Cleveland Williams the old run-around again after the Clay-Liston fight. Clay's trainer, Angelo Dundee, says he thinks Floyd Patterson would be the next logical opponent for Clay after he beats Liston the second time."

PAUL DIETZEL, Army football coach, on why his team has fallen upon evil times: "The Cadets played so hard against Texas that they wore themselves out."

DUFFY DAUGHERTY, Michigan State coach: "Eighty per cent of a winning team is coaching. Ten per cent is luck. The thing we do least at Michigan State is coach."

JESS NEELY, veteran Rice University coach, who missed his first game in many years recently due to illness: "I have found that television is not the best way to watch a game, and certainly hope not to have this experience with one of our own games again. It is hard to explain why we are so ineffective as far as offense is concerned. We have a sound defense, and the only explanation that can be given for its ineffectiveness is the lack of a basic fundamental, blocking. I don't believe any team has worked harder on this and it is difficult to understand why we have been unable to improve this phase, especially so late in the season."

FURMAN BISHOP, Atlanta scribe: "Migration to motel TV sets outside the blacked-out area of New York City was enormous when the Giants were knocking 'em dead in the NFL. Motels this year report these migratory watchbirds have been reduced in volume to a near zero."

WALTER O'MALLEY, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers: "I have never spoken more than a dozen words to Johnny Keane, but my estimation of him went up 100 per cent because of the character he showed in resigning as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals."

CLARK SHAUGHNESSY, former football coach: "In trying for the two points after a touchdown, I can't see any excuse for not making the required two yards. There may be some question about three yards, but not two if you run the right play at the right spot."

Tim Smith, Pics Play In Midland

Texas Tech's freshman football forces will be seeking their second triumph of the season against the Texas A&M Fish at Midland's Memorial Stadium Thursday night.

The contest will also give the two Southwest Conference members an opportunity to exhibit grid talent rounded up in last year's recruiting drive.

Tech, naturally, did well in West Texas and the Aggies picked up some blue chip prospects from the area.

A couple of the top hands for coach Berl Huffmann's Tech Picadors are familiar to District 2-4A football fans. Bob Bearden, playing halfback, was an all-district quarterback and end at Abilene High last year. Andy Reed was one of the leading rushers for Odessa High in 2-4A last fall and is listed as

Ford Given Title Cup

Roy Lee Ford of Big Spring has been declared the all-around champion of the Mesquite Gun Club, which closed its season of activity the past week.

The awards were passed out during a business meeting held in the Directors' Room of the First National Bank Monday evening.

The championship award was presented on the basis of scoring in rifle, shot gun and pistol competition. It is the second year in a row for Ford to win the big trophy.

Ford also captured the first place award in scope class competition. La Roy Schaffer was second and Dealon Stanley third in that particular competition.

Denver Pettit won the blue ribbon in iron class competition. Jimmy Felts was runnerup in that class while Dealon Stanley was third.

The Mesquite Gun Club has between 55 and 60 members.

Abilene Scouting Report To Be Given At 7:30 P.M.

There'll be lots of things to discuss when the Quarterback Club holds its weekly meeting tonight in the High School Cafeteria. The convale starts at 7:30 p.m.

Battle plans for the upcoming game with Abilene High will be aired. Roy Baird scouted the Eagles for Big Spring and will give a rundown on Abilene's personnel.

The booster organization's role in the upcoming Homecoming ceremonies will also be discussed.

Giardello, Carter To Meet Dec. 14

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Middleweight boxing champion Joey Giardello will defend his title against Ruben (Hurricane) Carter Dec. 14 in Convention Hall — with or without television — says Giardello's attorney, Michael Del Collo.

The postponed bout was to have taken place in Las Vegas on Oct. 23, but Giardello walked out when promoters couldn't come up with a $55,000 guarantee for him. Carter was to have received $12,500.

The official announcement and signing of new contracts will take place Thursday in Philadelphia, Del Collo said.

Herd, Bulldogs In State Poll

Big Spring has been ranked tenth in the state among Class AAAA football teams while Coahoma has been listed in the same position among Class A powers by the Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Amarillo Tascola is rated first in the AAAA poll, followed by Galena Park, Victoria, Spring Branch (Houston), Garland, Nederland, Hillcrest, Wichita Falls, Rider and Borger.

Local Linksters Win 2nd Place

Two Big Spring men, Marvin Williams and Leonard Morgan, won second place in the Golden Acres Best Ball Golf tournament in Odessa Sunday, beating Don Weldon and Red Grant, both of Odessa, in a sudden-death playoff.

The two tandems shot 175's in regular competition.

First place in the meet was won by Arnold Chambers, Odessa, and Bill Gage, Midland, who posted a 171 in the two days of competition.

Spec Yates, one-time Big Spring resident, and now of McCamey, teamed with a fellow townsman, Kilo Smith, to win second flight honors. The two pieced together a 188.

Plea Of Innocent Made In Holdup

ROSSELL, N. M. (AP) — James H. Ellidge, 21, of Wichita Falls, Tex., has pleaded innocent to charges of armed robbery and kidnaping in an $800 holdup here Oct. 27.

Ellidge entered his pleas Monday to charges arising from a robbery of the Roswell Western Union office. Dist. Court Judge George L. Reese set no bond at arraignment and ordered Ellidge returned to jail.

Ellidge faces another charge attempting to commit a major felony against Linda Sue Guillion, 20, an employe of the Western Union office. Officers have quoted Miss Guillion, now in a Dallas hospital, as saying that after the robbery Ellidge drove her 20 miles west of Roswell, attempted to rape her and then poured gasoline over her while she was unconscious.

Ellidge denied the accusation. Miss Guillion suffered a skull injury the night of the robbery. Ellidge was arrested at a Roswell motel the same night.

Late Starters Go On Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A pair of late starters joined the season's new television programs Monday night, NBC's Jonathan Winters in his first special and ABC's Les Crane, who hopes to compete with Johnny Carson for the late evening viewers.

Winters, who has an imaginative, way-out style all his own, opened the hour smashing. He introduced a number of characters as De Gaulle, Khrushchev, even Cary Grant as he stood with a puppy in his arms. Then he brought on a dear old lady carrying an apple pie, followed by two cute kids, one carrying a flag.

"That's it, folks," he confided, beaming benevolently. "Something for everybody. We're going for the ratings tonight, folks."

This was followed by a bright satire on all those prairie schooner movies and television shows, with Winters playing the wagon master and being his outrageous best.

Subsequent bits did not move quite as happily. Winters is a most unusual inventive fellow and to many of us is wildly funny, but I suspect he is not everybody's dish.

ABC's favorite adjective in describing Les Crane and his new nightly conversation show is "explosive." It appeared, unfortunately, that somebody forgot to keep the powder dry for the first show.

Opening lead: Four of ♠

We have many times stressed in these columns the necessity for an optimistic reading of the cards, when a specific distribution is indispensable to the success of a contract. If only a single holding will save declarer's skin, he must proceed on the assumption that such a distribution actually exists.

In today's hand, East had an opportunity to adapt this strategy to the defending side against South's three no trump contract. Had he taken time to analyze the situation, his proper course of action would have been obvious.

West opened the four of spades and when the ten was played from dummy it held the trick. A small club was led, covered by East's ten and declarer's queen. The nine was returned and ducked around to East. The latter was obliged to win the trick with the ace of clubs. A spade was returned to dummy's ace, the king of clubs was cashed—picking up the jack and South quickly ran for cover with 10 tricks—five clubs, one diamond, two hearts, and two spades.

East missed an opportunity to score an upset when he allowed his opponent to sneak an early club trick thru and then clear the suit on the next lead. If East puts up his ace of clubs on the first round, and then returns the spade to remove North's side entry while South still has the queen of clubs, the latter will be unable to run the clubs because the suit is blocked.

East should have realized that declarer was not apt to lead a small club from dummy unless he held the queen, and, inasmuch as East's ace must fall on the second round in any case, there was little to gain by withholding that card. In fact, unless South holds specifically the queen-small of clubs, the defense might just as well abandon hope.

Board Adopts Five Books After Wrangle

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Education has voted 14-6 to adopt five textbooks which became the center of a controversy over the teaching of evolution.

Three of the books were developed at a cost of $5 million by the National Science Foundation. They were "High School Biology," Rand McNally Co.; "Biological Science: An Inquiry into Life," Harcourt, Brace and World; and "Biological Science: Molecules to Man," Houghton Mifflin Co.

The other two were "Biological Science for High School," Ginn and Co.; and "Modern Biology," Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

Labor Clears First Hurdle

LONDON (AP) — With its first House of Commons vote safely behind it, Britain's Labor government faced another tonight and was confident of success.

By a margin of seven votes, 307, to 300, Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Laborites Monday night defeated a Conservative attack on their pledge to nationalize steel production. The vote tonight was on a Conservative motion of no confidence in Wilson's government.

BIGGER TRIUMPH

The government's margin of victory was likely to be larger tonight. The nine Liberal members, who joined the Conservatives in voting against steel nationalization, were expected to abstain.

For two hours Monday nine Scottish Laborites were grounded by fog in Glasgow. Since the government normally has only a five-vote majority in Commons and two Labor members were ill, Wilson appeared to face defeat after only 23 days in office. An adverse vote would have forced him to resign.

FROM GLASGOW

The Laborites made it from Glasgow in time for the vote, and the fog kept two Conservatives away from London. But Wilson ordered all Laborites weekend outside the capital in the future to get back by train if a critical vote was scheduled.

Laborite commentators saw considerable psychological significance in the government's victory. They felt it reinforced Wilson's belief that his small majority is enough to allow him to call the parliamentary tune.

Two Baird Youths Die, One Injured In Mishap

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A car with a locked wheel smashed into a bridge rail Monday night and two Baird high school students were killed. A third was critically injured.

Killed were Bobby Don Atwood and Charles Saunders, both 18. Hospitalized was Jimmy Ault, also 18, of Baird.

The three were en route to a Naval Reserve meeting in Abilene.

The highway patrol said the tread on one tire apparently came loose and wrapped around the wheel, locking it and spinning the automobile into the railing.

Voters In Tunisia Confirm President

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — The government announced today that President Habib Bourguiba received 96.43 per cent of votes as Tunisia's only presidential candidate in Sunday's balloting.

Government figures showed 91 per cent of the country's registered voters went to the polls to confirm Bourguiba in power for another five-year term. They also approved a slate of 90 members of the National Assembly named by the ruling Socialist Destourian party.

Bequest Demand: 'Extravagance'

LONDON (AP) — Author Ian Fleming, creator of secret agent James Bond, left a will specifying bequests of $1,400 to four friends on condition they spent it within 19 months "on some extravagance."

Dallas Asks LBJ Speech

DALLAS (AP) — President Johnson is being urged to schedule a major speech in Dallas in December, Dallas County Democratic chairman William H. Clark III has disclosed.

If the engagement comes off, the President would address Democrats who bought $250-a-plate tickets for an Oct. 19 dinner set for the newly completed Apparel Mart.

Johnson called off the October visit because of international developments.

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

That's the Total Performance... best year yet to go FORD

"This ad kills me..."
"Incredible!"
"Ridiculous!"
"Far fetched!"
"Hoey!"

To the 5 out of 10 people who didn't believe this ad... a sporting proposition

Take a no-obligation test drive in a 1965 Ford. Maybe you just couldn't believe the ad (reprinted above) which appeared in this paper a few weeks ago. After all, many consider Rolls-Royce to be one of the world's finest cars. But Ford does ride quieter. The world's leading acoustical experts (Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc.) made the tests. The U.S. Auto Club certified the results.

This year's Ford has the strongest body ever... a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" vibrations... new ultrasoft coil-spring suspensions—all contributing to the new hushed ride. But the ride is only part of what's new.

■ New swept-back instrument panel adds five inches extra knee room. ■ Transmission tunnel is lower than in competing cars for extra foot room. ■ Trunk has more usable space than ever—holds four 2-suiters standing upright.

■ New ultra-luxurious LTD series — unmatched by any other car in Ford's class. ■ Silent-Flo ventilation (standard on 4-door hardtops) removes stale air, provides fresh air even with all windows closed. ■ Exclusive new twin-edge key—works with either side up.

■ Hot, but hushed, 289-cu. in. V-8 is standard equipment in XL and LTD models.

Smooth, thrifty all-new Big Six in other models—the most powerful standard Six offered by any car in Ford's class. ■ V-8 options to 425 hp.

■ All Ford automatic transmissions have 3 speeds, not 2 as in many competing cars. ■ Fully synchronized manual transmissions—you can even shift down to first without clashing gears.

If all this sounds like a lot for one car to offer... take a test drive. See why more people are buying Fords than ever before in post-war history.

Thirty Hurt As Bus Flips

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — "Tell daddy to get out here quick," said the excited young voice of Donna Muller, 17, into the telephone.

"There are kids cut and bleeding all over the place."

Dr. C. D. Muller thus was one of the first to reach the hillside near the city's edge where a school bus rolled over Monday afternoon, injuring about 30 of the 67 high school students it was returning to their homes.

None was hurt critically and school Supt. Bud Winderl said he believed not more than 15 were hospitalized. Most seriously hurt were three with broken arms or shoulders, suffered when they were tossed about as the bus rolled 71 feet down an embankment.

EYE CUT

In the group was Jan Westera, about 17, an exchange student from the Netherlands, who suffered a cut over one eye.

The state patrol said driver James H. Cobb told officers he pulled to the shoulder of the road as a city bus approached. The wheels of the school bus slipped into a drainage ditch, and Cobb said he was unable to maneuver the vehicle back on the road.

Cobb said the bus rolled once, then half over again. Dr. Muller said his daughters, Donna and Pam, 15, thought it was three times.

ALL OVER PLACE

"They said they were all over the place," he reported, "first on the side and then on the roof and then on the floor."

"They were pretty calm," said Winderl. "It's amazing how kids that age can measure up. They were helping each other out of the overturned bus and showed no signs of panic."

The bus stopped rolling in a back yard at the bottom of the bank.

Donna, who was unhurt, ran to the nearest house and called her father's clinic. Her sister Pam suffered only a bruised knee.

Nab Hunter In Shooting

PATCHOGUE, N.Y. (AP) — A 66-year-old hunter has been accused of wounding another hunter after the latter accidentally shot and then killed his beagle.

Arrested and held on a charge of felonious assault was Salvatore Viscusi of Farmingville.

Ronald Hamlin, 22, of Corona, Queens, was reported in good condition at Brookhaven Hospital. He suffered shotgun pellet wounds of the face and chest.

Police said Hamlin accidentally wounded Viscusi's dog and then put the animal out of his misery. This enraged Viscusi, they said, and he turned his 12-gauge shotgun on Hamlin.
