City Faces Suit For $400,000

A lawsuit against the City of Big Spring, with claims of almost $400,000, was filed in 118th District Court here late Friday. The suit was filed by Shiflet Brothers, Abilene, and concerns the firm's contract for rebuilding the city's sewage treatment plant, one phase of the Master Plan program.

The Abilene construction firm asks $214,709.35 which it claims is due under the contract, and $185,000 in alleged damages for a total of $399,709.35.

The city awarded the firm a $753,438 contract, to rebuild and expand the plant, April 3, 1962, with completion scheduled in May, 1963.

The suit is filed against the city; Forrest and Cotton, Inc., a Dallas consulting engineering firm which designed the plant, and the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., an equipment supplier.

The contractor claims that movement of settlement basins out of position at the plant during the summer of 1963 resulted from negligence by the city which allowed fluids from a high pressure water main located on the south side of the old plant or from a sewer line north of the basins to exert an uplifting force.

WORK COST

The contractor claims the cost of work it carried out on the basins resulting from the movement amounted to $170,000.

Another claim by the contractor in the suit involves the installation of sludge collection equipment. The contractor claims the equipment as supplied by the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co. was not according to specifications and the delay in supply of proper equipment resulted in a later completion date of the plant.

Shiflet Brothers claims the plant would have been completed as scheduled in May, 1963, except for the problems concerning the sludge collection equipment and the settlement basins. The contractors claim the responsibility on the equipment and basins belongs to the city, the consulting engineers and the equipment supply firm, rather than themselves.

Mayor George Zachariah said Saturday a special meeting of the city commission probably will be scheduled next week. He said action would be considered after advice from the city attorney, John Burgess.

DOESN'T KNOW

"I don't know a thing about it," he said concerning details of the suit. He said he knew only what he had heard from news media. City Manager Larry Crow was out of the city on a hunting trip near Laredo, and Burgess was reported in Houston. Neither could be located for comment Saturday.

Last week the city commission authorized final acceptance of the plant. Ross Jacobs, representative of Forrest and Cotton, told the commission the plant was in good operating shape and recommended acceptance, with deductions from the final payment to the contractor of $817 for some electrical conduit repair done by the city and $10,750 in liquidated damages.

The amount for liquidated damages represents $50 per day for 215 days, up to Jan. 3 of this year, past the completion date last May.

The final contract payment

Two things are calculated to make the weather act up for sure around these parts. One is erection of the Christmas decorations; the other the annual show and sale of the Howard County South Plains Hereford Association. Once the decorations were up and the Herefords in the barn, there came a blustery dust-raining wind, plus indicated crisp weather. It figures.

General Services Administration made known the site it has selected for the new post office building—it is the block between Runnels and Main and Fifth and Sixth. Half of this block is occupied by the First Baptist Church, which is building a new plant on Marcy Drive, and which will have more than ample time to make its move if and when would be $7,943, Jacobs told the commission, with additional work to be done concerning some replacement of trees, sodding and on the plant control panel. The final payment would be made after the contractor provided an affidavit that all bills have been paid for labor and materials and signed a final change order.

Students Storm Four Embassies

MOSCOW (AP) — Mobs of Asian and African students attacked the U.S., Belgian, British and Congolese embassies Saturday in a destructive protest demonstration against Western actions in the Congo.

About 500 to 800 students from Moscow's Lumumba University smashed windows in all four embassies, destroyed two American-owned automobiles and roughed up Western spectators.

A few broke into the Congolese ambassador's study and threw documents and office equipment into the courtyard.

PROTESTS

All four embassies fired off sharp protests to the foreign ministry. They demanded payment for damages.

Walter J. Stoessel Jr., ranking U.S. diplomat in Ambassador Foy D. Kohler's absence, complained that police protection had been inadequate.

He laid responsibility for the students' destructive spree squarely on the Russians, protesting "the tendentious, one-sided treatment by the Soviet press of developments in the Congo which tended to incite people to violence."

The three-hour demonstration ranged through downtown Moscow in one of the most violent outbreaks witnessed by Western residents here.

A student leader told Western newsmen that Soviet officials at first denied the students permission to hold the demonstration. It was finally granted by ministry of higher education officials Friday after strong pressure from the foreign students, he said.

Most of the mob consisted of Africans and Asians with a sprinkling of Russian Young Communist League leaders among them.

Screaming curses and anti-Western slogans, they surged down broad Tchaikovsky Boulevard outside the U.S. embassy shortly after 11 a.m.

A thin cordon of 150 policemen immediately gave way before the crowd which hurled sticks, stones and bottles of red and green ink at the tightly buttoned-up embassy.

Almost all the windows on the lower floors were smashed. A late model automobile belonging to a New York Times correspondent was set afire.

"We warned you not to park in front of the embassy," a Soviet police major said plaintively afterward.

As some students plastered the fence with anti-Western protest slogans, others ripped the brass and steel plaque with the American eagle and great seal of the U.S. government off the outside wall.

A detachment of mounted police moved through billows of black smoke from the burning car and dispersed the mob. A policeman knocked an African down with a blow to the face and then kicked him.

The destruction-bent students then marched to the nearby Belgian embassy, collecting bricks, stones and sticks along the way.

Two Africans mounted the columned veranda holding aloft portraits of the late Congolese leftist premier, Patrice Lumumba, for whom the Moscow school was named, and Antoine Gizenga, his deputy.

Drive Safely!

Green's widow, Mary, and his son, Edwin Jr., had contended that Green's cancer was caused by smoking three packs of Lucky Strike cigarettes a day for 30 years. They had sued the American Tobacco Co., for $1.5 million.

"This is welcome news," said W. P. Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist for the Department of Agriculture of North Carolina, one of the large tobacco producing states.

It was, he said, "a good sign for tobacco in the face of the surgeon general's report" on the harmful effects of cigarette smoking.

Dr. Lawrence V. Hastings of Miami, a physician and lawyer representing the Greens, withheld a decision on whether to appeal the case until after an exhaustive study of the court record.

But Hastings predicted that an eventual verdict that cigarette smoking does cause lung cancer "is inevitable."

"The right decision will be forthcoming," he said, "because the health of the world is at stake. Some day, the tobacco manufacturers will be forced to make a safe cigarette."

Hastings said such a decision will be difficult to get.

"A good number of the jurors were smokers," he said, "and a finding that cigarettes were harmful would make it hard for them to justify their continued smoking to themselves.

"And a nonsmoker may decide: 'Why give a verdict to a smoker who knew he was indulging in a potentially harmful habit and who brought his troubles on himself?'"

A previous trial jury had held that smoking was a cause of Green's death. But it awarded no damages to his estate, because it did not know at the time that cigarettes might cause cancer.

TOLL MOUNTS

The death count on the nation's roads continued to mount late Saturday. Since the start of the Thanksgiving weekend Wednesday at 6 p.m., 405 persons have perished on the nation's highways, and the Texas count has soared to 26. The death watch continues until midnight today.

Creighton Bull Wins Title

C. C. Domino Return 699, is shown here with Charlie Creighton, breeder and consignor, after winning the grand championship of the 21st annual Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association show. The bull brought $700 in a sale that ran well below last year's pace.

Prices Lower For Hereford Auction

Dry weather and younger offerings went to buyers combined Saturday to drive the average of the 21st annual sale of the Howard County South Plains Hereford Association substantially under a year ago.

Forty-eight bulls went through the rings at an over-all average of $363.95 and a gross of $17,470. Included were 31 single lot bulls for $11,765, an average of $379.51; also 17 bulls in pens of three for $5,705, an average of $335.59.

Seven cows also found the bidding much less spirited than in recent years, drawing $2,035 or an average of $290.71.

The gross for the sale was $19,505, an average of $354.64. Last year's bulls averaged $419.74 and the cows $421.50. The major portion of Saturday's offerings went to buyers in this vicinity.

Top sale price was $760, paid by C. V. Thompson, Snyder, of OHR Husker 8th, the junior yearling bull shown by R. H. Odom, Snyder. The grand champion bull, CC Domino Return 699, bred by Charlie Creighton, Big Spring, was bought by Clyde Reynolds, Garden City, for $700. The reserve champion bull, RM Colorado Dam 15, bred by Roger Murphree, Comanche, drew $450 from Reed Bros., Sterling City.

Frank Jordan, Mason, paid $290 for CC Correline 771, the grand-champion female, a September 1963 heifer bred by Creighton. The reserve champion heifer, Rosamond 73, calved in March, 1963 and bred by S. F. Buchanan, Big Spring, was claimed by Edward Simpson, Big Spring, for $360.

Walter Britten, College Station, who has conducted the sale since its beginning, was auctioneer. Henry Elder, Ray Martin, representing the Hereford associations, and Leon Freeze, of "The Cattleman," assisted. Loy Acuff, president of the Howard County South Plains Association, presented trophies to exhibitors of the winning cattle.

Although ideal weather greeted the sale for the first time in several years, at the Howard County Fair Barns, the crowd was down from previous years, and bidding never broke into the high brackets although it was spirited at times.

Principal buyers were L. S. McDowell III, Big Spring, and E. N. Noelke, Rankin, who each bought $1,920.

Prolonged drought, which has left pasture prospects slim to grim in much of the West Texas area, helped dampen the bidding. The listing of animals, however, was loaded more heavily with young cattle than in former years, and this also served to hold down bids.

These were the animals (consignors in parentheses), the purchaser and price:

CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND OPENS; GIFT HELPS NEDDY CHILDREN

Again this year, as for some 30 years past, The Herald joins forces with the Big Spring Firemen in sponsoring the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND.

Today marks the start of the 1964 solicitation, and there are two gifts totaling $15 for this start.

Money received during the holiday season goes to help finance the repair of toys which firemen prepare for poor children who do not otherwise get a gift from Santa Claus. Surpluses through the years have been used to feed hungry children, to help families with medicine in cases of dire and immediate emergency.

Mainly, it is to see that no child is denied a holiday delight. The purposes will be accomplished if good people respond as they have in years past.

Make your check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, mail it to The Herald or hand to any fireman for grateful acknowledgment. You can start your holiday season in warm fashion if you'll respond immediately.

LBJ Expects No Big Policy Shift

Viet Nam Talks Planned Tuesday

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson cautioned Saturday against any policy of "narrow national self-interest" within the Atlantic Alliance, and foresaw no dramatic change in U.S. policy in South Viet Nam.

In discussing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Johnson made no direct reference to President Charles de Gaulle of France, who is opposed to the proposed multilateral naval force.

Johnson volunteered that Hoover "has been diligent and rather effective" in the field of civil rights, and "I would hope that in the months ahead he would have further evidence of the outstanding capacity of his people."

BUDGET—He said he is not certain the budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1 can be kept under $100 billion. He said requests from departments and agencies total about $109 billion.

STEEL—He said he is looking forward to a settlement between labor and management "that will contribute to continued stability and steel prices."

In essence, Johnson feels any wage increase should be within the limits of the industry to absorb without increasing steel prices.

CABINET—He said he expects changes in his Cabinet from time to time. A good many men came expecting to stay three or four years — "their time has already run out."

Johnson gave no indication as to who might be the first to go, but took the occasion to announce that Robert V. Roosa, undersecretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs, is resigning to return to private industry.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM—The President said medical care, aid for the depressed Appalachian area, area redevelopment and immigration bills will be high on the legislative program early in the next Congress.

Murder Charged, Woman Released

A charge of murder with malice was filed Saturday night in the Justice of the Peace Court of Jess Slaughter against Mrs. Bertha Rene Aitman, 41, of Northwest Sixth Street, in connection with the death by gunshot wounds of Oscar C. Gamble, 44, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Aitman was released on $5,000 bond Saturday night.

Police received a statement from Mrs. Aitman Saturday afternoon concerning the shooting, which police said took place in an alley in the 300 block of Northwest Third Street about 1:15 p.m.

Patrolman John Scott said when he arrived at the alley, he found Gamble lying face down and a crowd of people standing nearby. He said Mrs. Aitman was standing at the front of the house with a 22 caliber pistol in her hand.

Mrs. Aitman told officers she had gone to the address, where she formerly lived, to get some things, and that Gamble had approached her car and began arguing with her. She said when he refused to leave her alone, she took the pistol from under the car seat. Breaking away from Gamble, she said she ran down the alley toward a nearby grocery store. He stopped her, she told police, and when he refused to leave her alone she said she fired the pistol at him several times.

Detective Jack Jones said Gamble was shot twice, in the stomach and left arm. He was taken to a local hospital by Big Spring Ambulance Service and died of gunshot wounds about 3:45 p.m. Saturday.

Funeral arrangements are pending at River-Welch Funeral Home.

Brazilians Halt Leftist Plans

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Military authorities reported Saturday they have smashed a plot to launch leftist terrorism and agitation in three of Brazil's most populous states.

Arrested in the past 48 hours were 200 persons, many of them connected with ousted President Joao Goulart and his Yankee-baiting brother-in-law, Leonel Brizola.

REASONABLY SAFE, WHOLESOME FOR HUMANS

Finding Favors Cigarettes

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A federal court jury, in a landmark decision in the cigarettes-cancer controversy, has found that cigarettes "are reasonably safe and wholesome for human consumption."

The decision, denying damages to the estate of Edwin M. Green of Miami, a heavy smoker who died of lung cancer in 1957, was expected to have a strong effect on other pending or planned litigation.

Green's widow, Mary, and his son, Edwin Jr., had contended that Green's cancer was caused by smoking three packs of Lucky Strike cigarettes a day for 30 years. They had sued the American Tobacco Co., for $1.5 million.

Holiday Plans Being Made For State Hospital Patients

By PRESTON MAYNARD
A glimmer of Christmas is beginning to show at Big Spring State Hospital.

Parties, gifts, carol-singing, decorations and a Nativity pageant—these and other activities will bring holiday festivities into the hospital's wards during December.

"We're about as busy as a bunch of cranberry merchants," said Mrs. Hila Weathers, coordinator of volunteer services and generally overseer of the Christmas plans.

Preparations for the Christmas activities began in July and this month will gain momentum as Dec. 25th nears.

TIME OF JOY

"The Christmas season for patients is a time of joy, contrary to what most people think," Chaplain Max Maguire said. "It's a time of hope, a time of spiritual introspection for some. Christmas for the patient means the same thing it means to other persons," he pointed out.

For several hundred volunteer workers, the holiday preparations involve wrapping more 900 gifts purchased by the volunteer council for patients and planning the parties and decorations for each of the hospital's 14 wards.

"They know we're already wrapping packages," Mrs. Weathers said in describing patients' expectations.

In July, Mrs. Weathers began a survey of the overall patient capacity of the hospital, noting the number of patients in each ward, their general conditions and other information needed in planning the purchase of some $1,000 in gifts, as well as the plans for parties and other activities. A total number is then estimated for patient capacity if every bed in the hospital were filled.

"Different types of gifts have to be bought for different patients," Mrs. Weathers pointed out. The purchase of gifts began in August, although some stores in Big Spring will not even send a bill for the items until after Jan. 1, she said.

GIFTS RECEIVED

Shipment of gifts was received in September and the wrapping started in October.

One patient told of having taught gift-wrapping for years in a department store and asked to be allowed to help, so she joined the volunteers wrapping items.

Some 15 volunteer organizations from Big Spring and the area are supplying workers to help with the wrapping of gifts, while a separate group of volunteer workers is preparing packages sent by families of patients. The gifts purchased by the Volunteer Council will be distributed at parties planned Dec. 21, while the gifts from families will be opened Christmas morning.

The parties are another major part of the Christmas preparations, with two to four volunteer groups hosting them for each ward.

"Every one of these groups has already started plans," Mrs. Weathers said. Mrs. J. R. Petty of Big Spring is chairman of the plans.

A Christmas program will be presented in the Allred Building auditorium on the night of Dec. 21, with two productions, to accommodate half of the patients at each. The Officers' Wives Club of Webb AFB will present the program, patterned on the group's recent variety show given at the hospital. Mrs. Joyce

Dinsmores Go To Brazil

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dinsmore will leave from Fort Worth today for New York, where they will board a plane for Rio de Janeiro. This will be their first stop on the way to Sao Paulo, Brazil, their home for the next 21 months while on assignment by the Peace Corps.

Mrs. Dinsmore is the former Rosemary Donica, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Donica, 710 Goliad. She and her husband visited here early last week while on leave before leaving for South America.

Dinsmore, who completed his degree in electrical engineering at Texas Tech last June, will be working in rural electrification in Brazil. Mrs. Dinsmore, who graduated from Tech in the spring of 1963 and taught last year in Lubbock, will teach school in Sao Paulo. She is a graduate of Big Spring High School, where she was a classmate with Bill Parsons, who with his wife, Shelia, is in La Paz, Bolivia, with the Peace Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Dinsmore have been in training at New York University since September in anticipation of their assignment.

Anticipation Of Christmas

Preparations for holiday festivities for some 900 patients of the Big Spring State Hospital are gaining momentum and these volunteer workers, Mrs. Donna Robertson, left, and Mrs. Jo Ann Skalicky, begin sorting decorations for use in the hospital's 14 wards.

Sanders is directing plans for the show.

DECORATIONS

Another project involves decoration of the canteen and patio of the Allred Building, being carried out by one of three organized volunteer groups, the Tall City Volunteers of Midland. Mrs. Myrtle Pulliam, Midland, will provide a life-size mechanical Santa Claus for the canteen as part of this year's decorations.

A highlight of the Christmas season for the patients will undoubtedly come on the night of Dec. 17, in the park area east of the administration building, when a cast and choir of patients will present the Nativity pageant.

The production involves about 25 to 30 minutes and contains seven scenes.

"We are doing the same pageant again, instead of changing it this year, because it has been so well-received the past two years," Chaplain Maguire said. He has directed the pageant each year since it was started three years ago.

"There is quite a dimension of realism because the terrain in this area is very similar to that of the Holy Land," he pointed out. "Those who have seen the pageant in the past

Thunderbolt Vets Sought

The 83rd Infantry Division—the Thunderbolt Division of World War II—is conducting a manhunt. Members are seeking some 30,000 former members, the number on the original roster who have not been contacted since the end of the war. These men are scattered all over the nation.

At the close of the war, an 83rd Infantry Division Association was formed, and an annual reunion has been held every year. The 19th annual conclave will be staged at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina in August. All former members of the 83rd are urged to contact the national secretary, Harry Lockwood, 43 Oakland Ave., Jersey City 6, N. J.

Lamesa Gets Federal Grant For Remodeling

LAMESA (SC) — Congressman George Mahon has advised city officials that a grant of $37,571 has been approved for the Lamesa-Dawson County Civil Defense office. The federal share of the grant is $18,785.50.

The funds will be used for remodeling the Public Safety Building (old City Hall). There will be no structural changes in the first and second floors, except for painting and general cleanup.

The bulk of the work is on the third floor, where the antiquated jail facilities will be expanded from a 3-cell unit, with a capacity of six persons, to an additional pair of cells with a capacity of eight, and a dormitory for a dozen.

Firemen's living quarters, the police department offices, will not be altered. Most of the other work is outside, where the exterior will be renovated. Brick veneer will be placed above the stone line and all windows will be permanently closed with brick. The building will be air conditioned and heated, with filter systems.

The building, which will become an emergency operating center, will be self-sustaining with its own power and water supplies.

The contract will be let in one general package. City officials hope to call for bids with an opening date about Jan. 1, 1965.

A Submarine That Flies?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A submarine that can fly is the Navy's newest dream. It has awarded a $36,000 contract for design studies to see if such a combination is feasible.

What the Navy would like to have — in the event of a war with the Soviet Union — is a smallish submarine that could fly to such large inland bodies of water as the Black Sea and Caspian Sea and then pop back into the water to prey on Soviet ships. It would be almost impossible to get a conventional submarine into such seas during a war.

Its development would be "both complex and laborious," says a Navy aircraft engineer, Eugene H. Handler, in an article dealing with the flying sub in the magazine "U.S. Naval Institute Proceedings." Handler called for a careful examination before such an idea is shelved.

Work Gets Started On US 87 Widening

LAMESA (SC) — Work on the $1,069,000 road construction project between Lamesa and Ackerly is progressing on schedule, according to State Highway Department officials.

The project includes a 4-lane divided highway between Lamesa and Ackerly, with an underpass at the "Y" intersection of US 87 and 180, three miles south of the city.

Buck Salsler and Pete Wright, inspectors for the highway department, said work on the culverts is progressing as expected. Some three dozen culverts will be built along the route, Wright explained. "We have to pour the culverts before we can do the grade work."

Presently, three culverts are being completed south of the "Y." Wright said concrete work should be completed soon. Workmen will then begin packing dirt along the roadway base.

The first operation calls for preparing the right-of-way structural excavation and placing concrete in the culverts. With good weather, all structures should be finished by June. Some existing culverts on the west side of the highway will be extended.

The overpass section of US 87 is scheduled for completion about mid-July of next year.

This structure will provide a safer method of crossing the heavily-traveled road, according to engineers, who point out the grades will be separated.

Workmen are also removing trees along the right-of-way and the second phase of this operation consists of building up the grade with dirt. When complete, the highway, from base to top, will be about 12 inches deep. The next step, after the grade has been built, is hauling in base rock. It will be topped with asphalt and crushed stone, receiving a one-course surface treatment. About a year after completion, the road will receive a "hot mix" surface.

UNUSUAL POST OFFICE MURAL'S FUTURE IS THREATENED
Fresco painting in lobby is work of Peter Hurd, now renowned as U.S. artist

Famous Artist's Painting In Post Office Lobby

By SAM BLACKBURN
When Big Spring gets its new post office building, what will become of the valuable fresco mural which now adorns the east lobby wall of the present building?

Everyday, hundreds of men, women and children go into the post office and many, no doubt, glance at the colorful 25 foot by nine foot painting which confronts them as they enter the lobby. Few pay much attention to the picture, though.

Nat Shick, who was postmaster when the present post office was built and was largely responsible for the presence of the mural, is worried over its probable fate when the new post office comes into being.

PETER HURD
The mural, painted in 1938, is the work of one of the nation's most famous artists — Peter Hurd. At the time it was painted, Hurd, then a young man, was not widely known. He painted the picture, which took him two long months, for $1,600. Shick said today Hurd is one of the highest priced painters in the country. His work, mostly produced in his studio in his ranch in San Patricio, N. M., is in high demand.

The mural here depicts a pioneer family standing in front of their sod house. In front a team of oxen stand yoked to a plow. To the left is the familiar Signal Mountain and its two companion hills. A clump of "bear grass" looms at one side. Several chickens are scratching in the newly turned earth behind the plow. There are a number of mesquite trees visible in the background, and a water well looms on the right hand side. A wagon with bows in place is back of the house.

The mural is signed "Peter Hurd, Pablo Lara, George Winslow, 1938."

Paintings such as this are painted on plaster. It so happens the only painting on the picture was by Hurd. Winslow was a concrete man; his job was to blend the mix just to the right texture and apply just the proper amount to the galvanized plate lathe. Lara, Shick said, was a young Mexican who was handy man on the job.

SPECIAL SAND
Local sand, Shick said, was not suitable for the mix needed for the mural. The sand used was brought from the bottom of the Llano River. The lime used was crushed marble dust shipped in from Alabama. Colored earths from all parts of the world, blended with water (in some instances with eggs) was used to provide the colors for Hurd's palette. Only as much plaster as Hurd could paint was put in place each day.

"He started in the upper northwest corner," Shick recalls, "putting in the sky and the clouds." Shick said that when the present post office was built in 1936, he drew up the program for the dedication of the building. One of the high officials he invited to the ceremonies was his old friend, Smith Purdom, then fourth assistant postmaster general.

During the dedication, Shick suggested to Smith that the lobby walls needed a mural.

"I forgot all about it," said Shick. "I went on my vacation and when I came back, I went to the office. I started out into the lobby and when I opened the door, a young man fell into the office."

"He was Peter Hurd. He had been leaning against the door scanning the lobby, planning his work. He told me who he was and how the government had allocated $1,600 for him to do the mural. I had suggested to Smith Purdom."

SMALLER
The original plans, Shick said, were for a smaller picture over the postmaster's office door.

"I suggested the place where it now hangs," said the former postmaster, and Hurd said he would paint it there if I would get Purdom's approval. That was easy."

Hurd spent most of his two months here at the Shick residence on Gregg. It was here that Shick talked him into painting in Signal Mountain. Shick also suggested the mesquite trees.

"After it was finished I told Hurd that I was sorry he had painted in a sod house. Pioneers hereabout live in half-dug-outs — the upper half usually of adobe or stone. The sod house is more typical of Kansas or the upper panhandle. He asked me why I hadn't mentioned it before — if I had, he said, he would have changed the building."

Shick said that the pioneer man, his wife, the baby in her arms, and the tall gangling boy beside the oxen were modeled by Hurd after friends of his. "The little girl, though," said Shick, "who is standing at the right of the man, was different."

ADDED
One day, Hurd was up on the scaffold working. A little girl — I do not know who she was — walked into the lobby and stood watching the artist. He saw her and climbed down and hastened to my office.

"Get that little girl out there to pose for me," he said. "I caught up with her outside and persuaded her to sit for the sketches that Hurd needed to work from. I think it took about two days for him to get the sketches just like he wanted them."

Shick believes that the mural can be cut out and safely moved if the job is properly done.

"We tore out all of the old lathe back of it and put in that special metal lathe," he said. "I think it could be moved. I certainly hope, if the post office building is ultimately abandoned, that something is done to keep the picture for the community."

Viet Nam Vet May Be Given Honor Medal

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The first veteran of Viet Nam to be recommended for the Medal of Honor kept on fighting although twice wounded during a Communist night assault and stopped for first aid only when warned he might die from loss of blood.

The heroism of Capt. Roger Hugh Donlon, 30, of Saugerties, N.Y., was described Friday by Lt. Julian M. Olejniczak at the Army's special forces center at Ft. Bragg. Donlon was on leave.

Lt. Olejniczak was with Donlon when the Viet Cong tried to overrun their jungle outpost. He said Donlon kept moving about "when raising your head was like suicide."

"He stopped for treatment only when he was warned that he might die from loss of blood," Olejniczak recalled. "By that time reinforcements had arrived."

The barrage of mortar and machinegun fire broke the jungle silence July 6 about 2:30 a.m. Two American soldiers and at least 55 Communist guerrillas died in the ensuing battle.

Olejniczak, executive officer at the camp at Nam Dong, said he and Sgt. Gabriel Alamo were with Spec. 5 Michael Disser at his mortar position near the heaviest action. Alamo was killed there.

He said Capt. Donlon and two other U.S. military advisors returned to the mortar pit "in time to save us from certain death."

Generally Good Harvests, Moisture For New Crops

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas farmers and ranchers could be thankful over the holiday weekend for generally good harvests and moisture for a new crop.

John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the widespread rains added soil moisture and improved prospects for winter grazing.

Parts of far West Texas and the South Plains got no rain but killing frosts and freezes defoliated cotton. Harvesting should be at full swing within two weeks. Most livestock are fair to good. Grasses and grains are growing well.

Panhandle moisture is adequate. Rain and a hard freeze stalled field work, but cotton harvesting will be under way within a few days. Cattle are fair to good.

Thanks to frosts and freezes, the South Plains cotton harvest should hit its peak within two weeks. No more than 25 percent of the crop has been harvested in any county. The grain sorghum harvest is over.

Rains up to 5 inches fell over the Rolling Plains, which now have adequate moisture. The cotton harvest is expected to pick up. Grain is good. Grazing will be available when fields dry.

Rains halted field work in North Central Texas, and the first frost was recorded Nov. 19. Grains are good, and only limited amounts of cotton remain to be harvested. Livestock, ranges and pastures are good.

Livestock feeding increased in Northeast Texas. Lamar, Smith and Van Zandt counties are short on moisture. Grains and clovers are furnishing some grazing. The pecan crop is short.

Some far West Texas areas are very dry. Feeding has started in dry areas. Freezing weather has stopped grass growth and defoliated cotton. The harvest is half finished.

West Central Texas got rain ranging from drizzle up to 4 inches in the Coleman-Brady areas. Grains benefited. Livestock are in fair to good condition.

Central Texas has adequate moisture. The freeze stopped peanut growth. All field work was stopped by rains. A light harvest of pecans is under way. East Texas moisture was adequate to short in spots, but grains and clovers are thriving. Livestock culling and feeding continues. Greenhouse tomatoes are ripening.

Moisture is spotted in South Central Texas. Showers slowed the peanut harvest. Rain is needed for range vegetation. Feeding is under way in drier counties.

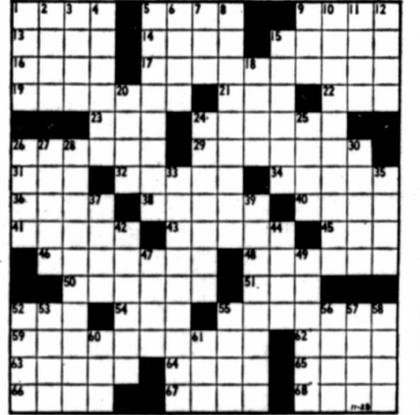

Farm work in the upper Gulf Coast and Southeast Texas is at a standstill due to rains. Pastures are improving.

LBJ Has No Plans To Appoint Watson

JOHNSON CITY (AP) — President Johnson said Saturday he has no plans to appoint Texas state Democratic Chairman Marvin Watson to a federal post.

Johnson was asked at a news conference whether he would appoint the young steel company executive to a government job.

"I would like to, but I have no plans whatever," he said. "He has other plans, other duties," Johnson said.

There has been considerable speculation that Watson would join the President's staff. Johnson made a surprise appearance Tuesday at an appreciation dinner for Watson in Mount Pleasant.

Johnson lavished praise on Watson at that dinner.

Watson is vice president of the Lone Star Steel Co. at Daingerfield in East Texas. He played a major part in the President's Texas campaign, and is a friend of both Johnson and Gov. John Connally.

Johnson said he expects to visit the state frequently and "would like to visit other parts of the state" besides his home territory.

"I will probably be visiting you more frequently than you would like," he told Texas reporters.

A Dallas reporter asked if the President planned to appear in Dallas to make up for a campaign speech that had to be cancelled.

"I never had an engagement in Dallas, never cancelled an engagement," Johnson said. He said arrangements for his appearance were only tentative and were cancelled because of "the Chinese nuclear situation and the change of governments in Russia."

MAJ. ROY G. EDWARDS

Webb Info Officer Retires

Major Roy G. Edwards, Webb AFB Information Officer, retires Nov. 30 after more than 20 years active service. He will move to Tampa, Fla., where he plans to go into advertising and literary activities.

Maj. Edwards came to Webb from Washington, D. C., where he served as photographic officer, assigned to command services unit, Bolling AFB.

A native of Loraine, Tex., he attended Texas Tech three years, interrupting school to enlist in the Army Air Corps in 1942. He later attended the Aviation Cadet Technical Training program and in February, 1945 received his commission from Lowry AFB, Colo., serving as an aerial photographic officer until April, 1946. He was discharged and did civil service work as an information specialist until 1948, when he was recalled and assigned to the 91st Reconnaissance Squadron in the Caribbean area as an aerial photographic officer, engaged in mapping and charting activities.

Maj. Edwards returned to the U. S. in 1949 and served with SAC until 1959, finished college and received a degree from Florida Southern University. During his tour, he was twice sent to England as an aerial photographic officer, once in 1953 and again in 1954 for three years. In 1959 he was assigned to the 67th Recon Technical Squadron in Japan, where he served as OIC of the Recon Laboratory, PACAF.

Maj. Edwards' wife, Maribel, and sons, David and Robert, preceded him to Tampa where he has established his residence.

Dozer Interrupts The 'Hot Line'

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The "hot line" between the White House and the Kremlin was interrupted briefly Friday — by a bulldozer.

Danish Postmaster General Gunnar Pedersen said the machine grading a local road cut the vital teletype cable. He said connections were re-established almost immediately by means of a microwave chain kept in reserve.

Renovation Work Set At State Hospital Here

The first construction work is expected to get under way shortly after Dec. 1 on a $200,000 renovation project at the Big Spring State Hospital, Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, has announced.

A contract for the project has been awarded by the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools to A. P. Kasch and Sons, Big Spring.

The amount of the contract will be approximately $202,000, with the specific amount not yet announced, due to consideration of several alternates within the bid by the Kasch firm.

The project will involve about eight months to complete and will involve the buildings known as wards three and four and wards five and six, designated by the board as buildings 505 and 506. The structures are located north and south of the recently-completed Weaver Building.

Constructed in 1939, both structures will be refurbished into modern dormitory and treatment facilities.

This past week, staff members of the hospital and volunteer workers completed moving some 140 patients from building 505 to quarters in several other units, prior to beginning of construction work on that structure.

Last Monday a pre-construction conference was held with members of the design division of the state board, representatives of Gary and Hohertz, Big Spring architects, and of the Kasch firm.

The project is now only waiting for an official work order from the board in Austin.

The project consists of a two-phase construction program. In the first phase is the vacating of building 505, which was completed last week, and the construction work on that structure, which will then be placed back into operation prior to the beginning of phase two, involving building 506.

A construction time of 240 calendar days has been set for the total project, with the starting and completion of the work on building 505 anticipated at about 100 days, according to Dr. Harrison.

Building 505 will be partially renovated, with complete replacement of all plumbing, mechanical work and piping. Some partitions will be removed, with certain remodeling to the electrical system and a complete interior and exterior painting program.

The work on building 506 will involve a complete renovation of the structure, with almost all partitions removed, complete replacement of all plumbing, heating and electrical items. A central heating system will be installed and situated so as to allow future refrigerated air conditioning to be added when funds are available. The structure will also receive complete repainting.

The project will turn both structures into facilities more functional in line with the modern concept of patient handling and treatment, according to Dr. Harrison.

At the time the structures were constructed, a number of single security rooms were included. In building 506 these rooms will be eliminated, with one room remaining as an intensive care area.

The renovation project will provide the buildings with large ward areas, providing greater utility of use, better lighting and improved freedom of the patients to move about, Dr. Harrison said.

Little work had been carried out on the two structures since they were constructed in 1939, Dr. Harrison said.

Some are making plans to extend their opening hours, he said, but there will be no coordinated program for late shoppers. Not all businesses would gain sales by remaining open, he explained.

DEAR ABBY

Keeping In Shape

DEAR ABBY: You told that 26-year-old sports widow to be patient. Well, I have been patient for many years. I am now 57, and I'm STILL patient, but I am also still a sports widow. When my husband's legs and wind gave out, he gave up sports that required running, and turned to golf, which he plays from a cart, weather permitting.

When he comes home, he collapses and I serve his meals on a tray, while he watches sports events on TV, with the volume turned up high enough to transport him to the event he's watching. He is now planning retirement—to a climate which will enable him to play golf every day. He claims his reason for playing golf is to keep him "in shape." In shape for what?

STILL A SPORTS WIDOW DEAR SPORTS WIDOW: To play more golf.

DEAR ABBY: With the holidays coming up, I wish you'd mention something in your column about my pet holiday gripe, which is shared by many. People who give parties in the basement!

You get all dolled up for a party, and when you get there you spend the evening in the basement. Even though it is nicely furnished and decorated, it still smells musty and it's damp. Last year I had one cold after another from sitting in those basement recreation rooms. I can't understand people with lovely, comfortable homes (upstairs) who entertain their guests in the basement. Are they afraid someone will get a spot on the rug?

HATES BASEMENTS DEAR HATES: Probably. Some lower level recreation rooms are every bit as comfortable as what's upstairs, but many are not. And people who have gone to the expense of converting their basements into entertaining areas are the last to feel the dampness.

DEAR ABBY: I did a foolish thing and now I'm in a mess. I accepted an engagement ring from a guy before he went into the Navy. I didn't wear my ring while I worked at a resort last summer. There I met another man who made me realize that I didn't love the sailor after all. HE gave me an engagement ring, too. I think about the sailor boy when I'm alone but I prefer the other one when I'm with him. What to do?

MIXED UP DEAR MIXED: Return both rings until the job makes port. Then, when the game's even again, pick the winner (if, by that time, either are still in the running).

No Coordinated Opening Plans

No city-wide plans for staying open later than usual during the Christmas shopping season by Big Spring merchants is scheduled, according to Joe Blum, chairman of the retail committee of the chamber of commerce.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Gliding Discussion Set Monday In C-C Office

By M. A. WEBB

Interested in soaring, gliding or sail planing? If so Alvin Parker of Odessa will be in Big Spring at 7:30 p.m. Monday to talk to interested persons. The meeting will be in the conference room at the Chamber of Commerce office, Dr. F. W. Lurting, who is handling correspondence, announced.

Dr. Lurting says he has been contacted by several persons interested in knowing the details, and he has arranged the meeting. There are some sail planes in West Texas, around Odessa and McCamey, and those taking part say it's a great sport.

John Norton Jr. has his "patch" on the bulletin board out at Howard County Airport indicating that he soloed Nov. 22. Congratulations! Some others will soon take off and come in alone after many hours of dual training, and several have soloed in the past few weeks.

A Tri-Pacer, new to Howard County airport, has been purchased and brought here by Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Arrick Jr. (Buddie and Bonnie), and both are taking training leading to a private pilot's license.

Flying around the airport continues to be slack this week. According to airport manager, Howard Loyd, traffic has been way down, as far as transients are concerned.

Howard County Flying Club members up in the Colt were: McClure (1 and cross country); Brumley (2).

Webb Aero Club members flying were: Cessna - Warren, Brian, Green (4), Pagan (3), Mann (2), Carr, Foster; Mooney

Brian (cross country).

Big Spring Flying Club members up: Colt—Polone (cross country), Norton (2), Faulkner (3); Skyhawk—Cootes (2 cross country), Fisher (2), Simmons, Norton, Faulkner.

Sand Hill cranes—those long-necked, Russian-bred birds—have been causing some concern around Howard County airport this week. Loyd said that, for several days, flocks of them had been flying over and around the airport at a rather low altitude, forcing pilots to keep a sharp eye out to prevent collisions.

This is the first year the cranes have used the air corridors for their "practice" flights around that area. So far none has landed on the runways.

"Airports: Our Newest Billion-Dollar Business," is the title of an article in the December Reader's Digest. Frank J. Taylor, writer, says 575 U.S. airports serving scheduled airlines last year collected more than 100 million dollars in landing fees. At San Francisco International Airport, and many others, there was greater revenue from automobile parking, restaurant and shop concessionaires. Others have joined the move to make airports public utilities.

There is some contention that there should be no landing fees, but practically all commercial airplanes pay the fees.

Small airports, such as Howard County, make tie-down charges, according to Loyd, but the local airport doesn't. There can be no tie-downs made however, unless there is no hangar space.

"The only way for charging landing fees would be for all to do it," Loyd said, "or air traffic would be driven off small fields."

New Plan Of GI Insurance

A new plan of permanent GI insurance—called "modified life"—is being made available to all holders of National Service Life Insurance through the new law which re-opens NSLI for disabled veterans.

Ray Boren, contact representative at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring, said the VA plans to notify all term policy-holders at the time of renewal of the opportunity to obtain "modified life" policies.

Any type of NSLI insurance, including policies already issued, may be exchanged for or converted to this new plan which will be issued at lower premium rates than the present permanent plans.

The "modified life" plan provides a level premium through the life of the insured. However, the face value will be reduced automatically 50 per cent when the insured veteran reaches the age of 65.

At that time, Boren said, the policy holder will have the option of restoring the full amount of coverage by purchasing ordinary life insurance without a medical examination.

Congo Rescue Operation Saved 2,000 Hostages

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) —Belgium and the United States wound up their five-day rescue operation in the Congo Saturday after delivering more than 2,000 white hostages from the murderous anger of Christophe Gbenye's rebels.

The complete death toll was not certain, but it was known that at least 97 whites and perhaps hundreds of antirebel Congolese perished in the rebels' blood bath.

Unconfirmed refugee reports of 45 other whites massacred in the northeast Congo could raise the total to 142.

Among the dead were three American missionaries.

In the dramatic airborne rescue, about 2,000 whites held hostage by the rebels were flown out from Stanleyville and Paulis. The rebels had sworn to kill all white hostages, but the paratroopers struck too fast.

But as Belgian paratroopers in U.S. planes pulled out of the northeast Congo, at least 400 to 500 foreign nationals, a few of them Americans, were still believed to be in the rebel zone. There was fear for their lives.

Paulis, 250 miles northeast of Stanleyville, was left undefended and rallying leftist rebels

Essay Contest Remains Open

Eleventh and 12th grade students in private, public and parochial schools were reminded Saturday by Leon M. Kinney, office manager at the Texas Employment Commission office in Big Spring, that the national "Ability Counts" report-writing contest remains open until Jan. 15, 1965.

The 1965 contest subject is "How the Handicapped Are Overcoming Barriers to Employment in My Community." The contest is co-sponsored by the governor's committee on Employment of the Handicapped and the Texas Department of Disabled American Veterans. Contest rules are available at TEC offices and through most high school principals.

The prize for the best essay is a gold medal and a $300 scholarship provided by the DAV, plus an expense paid trip to Washington for both the contest winner and his sponsoring teacher. The student's expenses are provided by the state AFL-CIO and the Republic National Bank of Dallas gives $250 toward the expenses of the teacher. In addition, the Texas winner will receive a gold medal and a chance at the $1,000 scholarship which is the national first prize.

Silver, gold and bronze medals will be awarded to second, third and fourth place winners along with $100, $50 and $25 scholarships.

The 1964 contest winner in Texas was Mary K. Smith of Pecos High School who is now enrolled in the University of Texas.

Viet Cong Losses High

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Moving smoothly on the ground and supported by artillery and helicopter strikes, government forces killed at least 46 Viet Cong and captured 70 Saturday 27 miles southwest of Saigon.

In addition to the confirmed dead, the guerrillas were estimated to have lost 90 in killed and wounded carried from the battlefield of lush green rice paddies near Chao Gao.

The government also claimed 73 Viet Cong killed in a heavy engagement near the North Vietnamese frontier and 77 killed in three separate actions in Quang Nam province on Friday.

Saigon was calm under martial law after a week of civil unrest that left more than 100 persons injured in street riots.

Roger Murphree, Comanche, champion of the junior yearling class.

Creighton, sweeping honors in the show, also captured the grand champion honors for females, winning with his CC Correlle 771, a September, 1963 heifer. Buchanan Herefords, Big Spring, captured first place in the junior yearling class and reserve championship in the show with Rosamond 73.

Dr. G. T. Hall, Big Spring, annexed the championship in the pen-of-three class of bulls, followed by Libb Wallace & Son of Sonora, who showed the reserve champion pen.

Trophies went to all the winners, and Creighton got the handsome, big revolving trophy for the champion bull and female.

Breeders, gathered for their traditional pre-show and sale banquet Friday evening at the Settles, re-elected Loy Acuff, Big Spring, to a second term as president of the association.

Other officers named were James Coates, Big Spring, first vice president; Charlie Creighton, Big Spring, second vice president; Jimmy Taylor, Big Spring, secretary; and as directors Alton Youngblood, Lamesa; George W. Knox, Tarrant; R. H. Odom, Snyder; and Leland Wallace, Big Spring. S. F. Buchanan, Big Spring, retired from the board.

Upwards of 200 people attended the banquet and heard Joe M. Evans, El Paso rancher, lay preacher and historian, speak. He pointed to Abraham as the first cattleman and said that grass was the most important growth on earth. As important as raising better cattle may be, raising upright, God-fearing children is much more important, he said.

Taylor presided at the banquet and Cynthia Pond played the dinner music. Hubert Murphy, accompanied by Jack Hendrix, sang three numbers. Perry Cotham, 14th and Main Church of Christ minister, offered the invocation.

Cattle were selected by Bill Reed, Sterling City, who has performed this service for the association for many years. James Grote, Mason, judged the cattle Saturday morning.

Mars-Bound Journey Begins

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An interplanetary spaceship named Mariner 4 hurtled toward Mars on a photographic and scientific expedition Saturday and the flight control center reported it was on a course that would enable it to pass close to the red planet next July 14 as planned.

Although the gold and gleaming robot successfully executed early maneuvers, it still must clear several challenging hurdles and survive for a record 7 1/2 months in the hostile environment of space before achieving its goal of Martian exploration.

Mariner 4, packing a camera and a sparkling array of scientific instruments, rocketed away from Cape Kennedy atop a towering Atlas-Agena booster which surged skyward at 9:22 a.m. EST, Saturday, after a perfect countdown.

More than seven hours later, after carefully calculating tracking information on rocket and spacecraft performance, project officials reported the 374-pound craft had been injected into an interplanetary trajectory which, if continued, would miss Mars by about 200,000 miles. They said this miss distance was well within the million-mile correction capability of a small steering motor aboard the streaking vehicle.

Mariner's project director, Jack James, said that between two and 10 days after launching, when computers have figured the course precisely, a station at Goldstone, Calif., is to send a radio signal to ignite the steering motor for the proper amount of time to swing Mariner 4 onto a path which would take it within 8,600 miles of Mars. The motor is capable of being fired again later for additional course refinement.

James said satisfactory data could be obtained if the mechanical explorer came within 54,000 miles of the target planet. At the time of the miss-distance announcement, Mariner 4 was nearly 60,000 miles from earth on its outward journey. It had been injected into space at a speed of 25,598 miles an hour, but had slowed as intended to 9,547 miles as it darted farther from its home planet.

The space agency was hopeful that Mariner 4 would succeed where a twin spacecraft, Mariner 3, failed earlier this month because of structural failure of a protective shroud. The craft represents the last U. S. opportunity to probe Mars for two years.

The spacecraft was to zip across 325 million miles of space before its brief encounter with the planet, which many astronomers believe is inhabited by a basic form of life such as moss-like vegetation.

Mariner 4 was not designed to detect life. Its job was to gather information to help engineers build future life-seeking capsules which the United States plans to land on Mars in 1969.

During a 30-minute fly-by of the planet before sailing past into eternal orbit about the sun, the mechanical marvel was to snap 22 television pictures and its electronic eyes were to scan for scientific secrets such as magnetic field strength, radiation intensity and micrometeoroid frequency.

The pictures could show more clearly Mars' mysterious "canals" and other puzzling surface features. Experts estimated they might clearly show objects the size of a mile.

Man Injured In Saturday Shooting A 34-year-old Big Spring man, Buster Mundell, was treated at Howard County Hospital Saturday morning for a gunshot wound received in an incident at 911 W. 5th shortly after midnight Friday. Mundell was released from the hospital after treatment.

According to police, Mundell was shot once in the left shoulder with a .38 caliber revolver. Lanzo E. Brown, 53, told police he shot Mundell when the man was attempting to break in the rear door of the Brown home.

Brown told officers he warned Mundell to leave and, when he wouldn't do so, fired twice through the door with his revolver. Brown gave officers a signed statement concerning the incident.

No charges had been filed in the case Saturday.

the site choice is backed by actual purchase.

Last week must have been Hoax Week. First John M. Peters, held in the county jail on burglary charges, "confessed" to five murders which it turned out he didn't commit—he was committed to the state hospital for an examination.

Then a young airman admitted that his tale of being robbed and shot on Monday was something he dreamed up to cover a self-inflicted .22 bullet wound. He slipped up by identifying the get-away car as blue, yet he was color blind.

O. D. Majors, operator of Big Spring Ambulance Service, needs to take out a stork license. Last week he had to serve as midwife at the arrival of John Paul Carter. The 6-pound, 7-ounce baby put in his appearance about the same time as Majors in answering an emergency call. That's the third time this has happened to Majors.

Police Check Two Burglaries

Police were investigating two burglaries Saturday after break-ins were reported at the Sands Restaurant, 2910 West US 80, and Toby's Drive-In Grocery, 1801 Gregg.

In the Sands entry, officers said Elmer Fleming, a cook at the firm, reported the burglary after he arrived for work about 6:15 a.m. Saturday. Some $31 in change from a cigarette machine, $60 of wine from the refrigerator and some additional cash and change were reported taken.

A window was broken to a storage room and a screen door opened to gain entry, according to police.

Some $80 in change was reported missing from Toby's Grocery after a break-in sometime Friday night, police said. Someone cut a hole through a wire screen at the rear of the building and removed a screen over a window to enter the building, officers said.

Estimated Cotton Crop For Dawson Reduced

Texas Employment Commission has chopped 10,000 bales off the 100,000 bale crop it had predicted for Dawson County. The crop estimate now is 90,000 bales.

Dawson is the second county to have its crop estimate reduced since this baffling cotton harvest season began. Martin County was chopped from 50,000 to 27,000 some weeks ago. The Howard County estimate of 15,000 bales has not been changed, but the ginnings today are still so few as to prevent any accurate prediction on what will ultimately happen to the crop. Ginnings through last week in this county, where only 85 per cent of the crop is said to be open, stood at 4,395. The Thanksgiving Day holiday cut into operations for the week. Many farmers are still awaiting the maximum benefit in defoliation and boll-bursting afforded by the recent frosty nights. Most fields are rapidly losing their leaves on the heels of the freezing weather. Strippers will crop estimate for the 8-county area is 213,000. The continued dry weather is good for the cotton still in the fields but it is causing worry wrinkles for ranchers. Farmers, too, are not happy to see so many rainless days pass. They are wondering where the season for 1965 is to come from if the dry weather continues.

'Never Too Late' Second In Series

"Never Too Late," a play about a middle-aged couple surprised by an impending bundle from heaven, had its own troubles a-borning. When it finally did see the light of Broadway, the bouncing baby became one of the most robust hits of all-time.

With Lyle Talbot and Penny Singleton in the title roles, "Never Too Late" comes here Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the City Auditorium. It will be the second of the current Big Spring Concert Association series, and it is open to members only.

Cast with Talbot and Miss Singleton, are Tom Connally, Judith Barcroft, Larry Fletcher, Marjorie Nichols, Kenneth Reid, Charles Hohman, and Charles Fenwick. George Abbott, the man with the magic touch, helped polish off the play and is its director.

"Never Too Late" concerns itself with the announcement of a vibrant woman, Edith Lambert (Miss Singleton) nearing her 50's, that she is to have a baby. Her husband, Harry (Mr. Talbot), is shaken, so much so that he takes to wearing dark glasses. His plight is complicated because his spouse not only takes an exasperating joy out of the unlooked-for blessing, but in her delicate condition, she has an excuse for no longer pampering the whims of the head of the household. Worse of all is the way the dismayed father's grown daughter, Kate (Judith Barcroft) and dapper son-in-law, Charlie (Tom Connally) take the new development.

Summer Arthur Wells had the idea for the play when he passed a fifty-ish woman, obviously pregnant and radiantly happy. "I wonder what her husband thinks," he mused. So he put together the play, but when nothing happened he sold it to a film company, which stockpiled it. Convinced the play had possibilities, Long bought it back but still could get no takers. In summer theatre between Philadelphia and New York, the play (then "Cradle and All") evoked liberal guffaws all during its run. But then again nothing happened, except rejections from 20 theatrical agents. But in 1961, the play bobbed up again in summer stock in Maine. George Abbott heard about it, got another tryout in summer theatre, became co-author and director, and from the moment it opened on Broadway in October, 1962, there was no doubt that it was in for a long, long stay. It is well beyond its 700th performance there and is in its second successful season on the road.

Talbot has acted in over 150 Hollywood films, 78 of them major features, has over nine years in television on the "Ozzie and Harriet" show and has appeared in 360 other TV productions.

Miss Singleton is the unforgettable "Blondie" of the 44 movies and 10 years of radio serializations about that pert cartoon character. She also has starred in numerous other films, had her own radio show and a long list of stage and night club appearances. Among her stage engagements were "Bells Are Ringing" and "Call Me Madam."

Nickerson's Field Goal Boosts Cadets

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Quarterback Carl Stichweh marshaled five years of Army frustration into a last quarter drive which produced a 20-yard field goal by Barry Nickerson and an 11-8 football upset over Navy Saturday.

The favored Middies, getting a life from a roughing the kicker penalty against John Carber, got to the Army 28 near the finish but a mauling Cadet defensive rush showed the Sailors' Roger Staubach back to his own 47.

Stichweh, outdueling the more celebrated Staubach in a battle of senior field generals, was mindful of 1963 when the clock left him and his mates two yards shy of a stunning reversal.

Army saw an 8-0 lead erased on the second period efforts of Staubach and Pat Donnelly plus a two-point conversion pass to Phil Norton with 25 seconds left before intermission.

But when Navy's Tom Williams was far short and wide of a 49-yard field goal try moments before the end of the third quarter, Stichweh took firm command of the game.

Starting from his 20, Stichweh, the Williston Park, N.Y., Cadet with a fine runner, good passer label, called on his talents for a key 17-yard fake pass

On the next play, he lofted a long aerial to end Sam Champi, who stopped short, feinted his way of four defenders and hauled his reception to the 19, good for a 33-yard advance.

From the 13, Stichweh personally ushered the ball to the three where, on fourth down, Nickerson had his moment of retribution. His field goal kick was high and true, more than making up for the fact he was wide on an earlier conversion try.

Army was on the scoreboard in just three plays when linebacker Sonny Stovers led a charge of five defenders, who dumped Staubach hard in his end zone for a safety.

The Cadets needed only three plays to cover 54 yards on John Seymour's climax running early in the second, but Pat Donnelly suddenly brought the Middies to life.

Off-injured Donnelly, healthy enough to get the nomination for defensive duty, set the Middies rolling offensively midway in the second period.

Navy used the last 19 scrimmage plays of the first half to go 69 yards, sophomore Tom Leiser diving the final yard on fourth down with 25 seconds left.

Donnelly carried six times for 19 yards, including the two big fourth down gambles to give Navy its momentum.

A critical 15-yard penalty against Army for holding set up the first fourth down crisis to which Donnelly — a three-touchdown scorer last year — responded.

Previously a swarming Army defense had taken all the mystery out of Staubach's magic even with the frills of shotgun and I formation trappings from which he operated.

An estimated crowd of 100,000 including Luci Baines Johnson, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and top brass on all sides, watched the game played under overcast skies which developed a definite tinge of Army gray.

At the finish the Cadets who had never witnessed an Army victory while attending West Point charged onto the field en masse to hoist their heroes aloft. The last previous triumph was 22-6, completing an unbeaten 1958 season, Army's last under Red Blaik.

Paul Dietzel, the Army coach who was 0-2 vs. Navy before Saturday, incorporated some of the Southeastern Conference philosophy he had previously employed at Louisiana State into the battle plan.

After the quick safety, Stichweh came up with quick kicks on third, then second down, the latter for 64 yards.

Army's "thin gray line" — the slim 17 — worked for field position, played for the Navy end and tried to get the Middies to wear themselves out on the attack.

Dietzel also armed his soldiers with a winged-T offense, and a double-winged-T alignment with a slot and splits.

It was from this latter setup that Seymour ran first 17, then 32 yards to the Navy five from where Stichweh passed the final five yards to Champi in the rear of the end zone.

Southall's Bombs Turn Back Rice

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Terry Southall passed for two touchdowns, set up two more and threw to Lawrence Elkins for two conversion points Saturday in leading Baylor to a 27-20 victory over Rice and third place in the Southwest Conference.

Elkins, closing out a great career, caught four passes to set an NCAA record for two seasons with 120 receptions. It bettered by one the record set in 1961-62 by Hugh Campbell of Washington State.

The Rice ground attack had Baylor on the ropes for a time as the Owls took the lead in the first period on a 52-yard dash

Texas Christian Lowers Boom On Ponies, 17-6

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Christian smacked down Southern Methodist 17-6 Saturday in a wild season windup for both teams marked by frantic scrambles for loose footballs and frequent interceptions.

Four fumbles made a horror of the third quarter, all coming in the first 10 minutes—along with an interception. That brought the fumbles lost to that point to six, and eight for the full game eventually were marked up.

Texas Christian used pure power in 16 plans for its first score, going 86 yards, with Larry Bulaich going seven yards for the touchdown.

The Horned Frogs scored again after John Richards intercepted a Donnie Oefinger pass on the SMU 40 and ran it back 25 yards to the 15. A loose ball lost two for TCU, and then Randy Howard passed to David Smith for 14 and the tally.

Southern Methodist went to the TCU one and again to the three before finally scoring in the third quarter. Floyd Burke swept end for 12 yards and the Mustang Oefinger's attempt to run for two points failed.

TCU's Bruce Alford helped the Frog cause with a 23-yard field goal to climax the Texas Christian scoring.

Lawrence Elkins Is Drafted By Oilers And Green Bay

NEW YORK (AP) — Power-running Tucker Frederickson of Auburn and pass-catching flash Larry Elkins of Baylor were the top selections as the two major professional football leagues staged their player drafts Saturday.

Frederickson, a versatile 215-pounder, was picked No. 1 in the National Football League by the New York Giants and promptly signed.

The Houston Oilers named Elkins first in the American Football League draft, and the rangy flanker also was a first-round choice of Green Bay in the NFL.

Other first round double selections in addition to Elkins were Gale Sayers, Kansas' fine runner; Tennessee lineman Steve DeLong; quarterback Joe Namath of Alabama; and fullback Tom Nowatzke of Indiana.

The Detroit Lions of the NFL picked and signed Nowatzke, also the regular first-round choice of the New York Jets in the AFL.

The Bears, 1963 NFL champions but also rans this year, had three choices in the first round through trades and came up with three sterling prospects—Sayers, DeLong and Dick Butkus, Illinois' fierce linebacker.

Butkus, also named by Denver in the AFL's second round, is expected to be the object of the dollar battle shaping up between the two leagues, along with the other double draftees. The rich, 45-year-old NFL, and the five-year-old AFL, backed by a bundle of television cash, will go high for the good ones in what is a players' market.

The NFL first round went: Frederickson; fullback Ken Wilard of North Carolina by San Francisco; Butkus (choice from Pittsburgh); Sayers; quarterback Craig Morton of California by Dallas; DeLong (choice from Washington); halfback Donny Anderson of Texas Tech by Green Bay (choice from Philadelphia); end Jack Snow of Notre Dame by Minnesota; halfback Clarence Williams of Washington State by Los Angeles; Elkins; Nowatzke; Namath.

Anderson is a future—a player with another season of college football eligibility remaining but whose original class graduates in 1965.

Houston, which had the first two picks in the AFL due to a trade with Denver, traded the rights to Tulsa passing whiz Jerry Rhome, and the Jets named Namath. Rhome had

Notre Dame Shocked By Trojans, 20-17

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Quarterback Craig Fertig passed for two touchdowns in two minutes and 10 seconds of the final quarter Saturday, rallying Southern California to a fantastic 20-17 upset of Notre Dame, the nation's top-ranked college football team.

The startling upset wrecked the anticipated story-book finish of Notre Dame and Coach Ara Parseghian, who was lured from Northwestern to rebuild Notre Dame's football fortunes and had forged a 9-0 record and had the first Irish national championship in 15 years in sight.

The victory probably put Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl. Notre Dame rolled along as expected for the first half, taking a 17-0 lead before Fertig got the Trojans started.

They picked up one touchdown in the third quarter and cut the lead to 13-17 in the fourth period when Fertig put together an 88-yard march, capped by a 23-yard pass to Fred Hill.

Moments later, Fertig hit Rod Sherman with another touchdown pass and the Trojans had it.

Stopped at nine straight was the Notre Dame string of triumphs in this, their miracle year, while the victory kept Southern Cal in the running for a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Ysleta Upsets Bronchos; Tascosa Triumph, 14-7

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Ysleta quarterback Pat Dwyer's passing set up a field goal and connected for a touchdown Saturday as the Indians clipped Odessa 10-7 to move into the Texas high school football Class AAAA quarterfinals.

Ysleta was trailing 7-3 in the fourth quarter when Dwyer lined a 12-yard aerial to Sammy Smith for a touchdown with six minutes remaining.

Odessa was able to manage two field goal attempts within the 20-yard line before time ran out but neither went through the uprights.

A Dwyer pass to James Haley at the Broncho 12 closed out the scoreless first quarter. After a

Longhorns Place Six On All-Star Units

Big Spring's high finish in the District 2-AAAA football race (five wins, two losses, good for second place) obviously impressed sports writers and coaches around the league.

The Steers placed more men on the all-league platoons than ever before in history, supplying two on the offensive unit and four on the defensive platoon. Quarterback Benny Kirkland and halfback Johnny Hughes of the Longhorns made the offensive team while tackle Skipper Sabbatho, linebacker Don White, halfback Ricky Earle and safety man Joe Jaure were selected on the defensive team.

Twelve defensive players were chosen, since Sabbatho tied for the tackle slots with David Cooper, Odessa; and David Graham, Abilene Cooper. All schools were represented on either the offensive or defensive teams but Abilene High, which finished third, had only one representative (Eddie Terbusch) and he was selected to man a linebacker's spot on defense.

It took just two plays for the Wildcats to cover 46 yards and score before the half, thanks to a 30-yard pass, Cloud to Giles. Sterling went 30 yards in two plays early in the fourth when Mike Arp sent in from the two. Sparks passed to Dusty Dillard for two extra points.

After an interception that carried to the Goree 37, Wayland Foster went up in the middle scored again, thanks to a 33-

Guerrero was singled out as the Back of the Year while Spruill was named the Lineman of the Year.

Guerrero came closest to being a unanimous choice, missing on only three ballots. On the defensive platoon, Spruill was passed up on only two ballots.

In some instances, one safety man was picked, in others two. Jaure was the clear choice there, however.

Kirkland, named on seven of the 11 ballots submitted, was the leading passer in the conference and one of its better ball carriers.

Guerrero gained a total of 796 yards in 101 carries over the year for a 7.9-yard average and caught 21 passes for 380 yards. He led the league in scoring over the season with 56 points.

Priddy ripped off gains totaling 855 yards in 187 carries for a 4.7-yard average over the season, although he was injured part of the time.

Among Big Spring players who gained the Honorable Mention list were end Wayne Nail, tackle Steve McComb, guard Yogi Anderson, center Don White (on offense — with four first place ballots), guard Dub McMeans (on defense) and halfback Bobby Griffin on defense.

In the balloting for Coach of the Year, Big Spring's Don Robbins finished second to Mills with three first ballots (compared to six for Mills) and two for Ciovis Riley of Abilene Cooper. Coaches Emory Bellard of San Angelo and Riley abstained from voting. All other qualified members of the electoral college submitted ballots—11 persons in all.

Cleveland Can't Shake Cardinals

By JACK NARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

The magic number for the Cleveland Browns remains two with St. Louis still a distant threat in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

The Browns play their final home game Sunday against the unpredictable Philadelphia Eagles and the battered Cardinals will be in Pittsburgh to face the suddenly revived Steelers.

Baltimore, with the Western Conference crown clinched, plays at San Francisco. Other NFL pairings Sunday are Los Angeles at Minnesota, Green Bay at Dallas and New York at Washington. Chicago and Detroit, having played Thursday, are idle.

Both the Buffalo Bills and the San Diego Chargers, division leaders in the American Football League, have a day off after playing Thursday. In AFL Sunday action Boston is at Houston, Kansas City at New York and Oakland at Denver.

Cleveland had to come from behind to nip Philadelphia in their first meeting, 28-20. The running of Jim Brown, who made 194 yards rushing, and three touchdown passes by Frank Ryan did the job. The Browns report no new injuries after their 28-21 defeat by Green Bay. The Eagles expect halfback Tim Brown and defensive back Nate Ramsey to be ready but defensive end George Tarasovic is out.

Pittsburgh came through its 44-17 romp over the Giants in good physical condition. The Cardinals, who beat the Steelers 34-30 three weeks ago, have center Bob DeMarco and offensive tackle Bob Reynolds on the doubtful list but hope to get some work out of fullback Joe Childress. Billy Gambrell and Prentice Gault also are hurting but may play.

Baltimore probably will have defensive back Jim Welch sit out another week with the title clinched. The 49ers likely have lost rookie quarterback George Mira for the season due to a shoulder separation. The Colts have won 10 straight, including a 37-7 romp over San Francisco.

Green Bay can't win the championship but it has a solid shot at second money with three games to go. Paul Hornung and Fuzzy Thurston still are sub par but probably will play against the Cowboys, who are without Don Perkins, Amos Marsh, Don Meredith and Tony Liscio.

Minnesota hopes to get Paul Flately back in action against the Rams in their fight to stay in the running for second place. Dick Bass and Frank Varshone may miss their third straight for the Rams who have lost three of their last four. The Rams won in Los Angeles 22-12.

Washington, reasonably healthy, is rolling along with four victories in their last five games but the Giants are hurting with Dick Lynch, Dick Pesonen, Del Shofner and John Lovetere out for the season and Steve Thurlow and Ernie Wheelwright crippled.

Boston just did beat Houston in their first meeting, 25-24 on a last-second field goal by Gino Cappelletti. The Patriots, winning three of their last four, must keep on rolling against the Oilers, losers of eight straight. Boston still has a long shot chance of catching Bills.

Porkers And Steers Dominate All-Stars

DALLAS (AP)—Arkansas and Texas, the top two teams of the Southwest Conference, dominated the two-platoon 1964 all-SWC football team in the Dallas News poll.

The Porkers and the Steers claimed eight positions each for a total of 16 on the 22-man squad.

Tommy Nobis, the Longhorns' junior linebacker guard, was the only man to make both the offensive and the defensive platoons. He was chosen over Arkansas linebacker Ronnie Cave-ness as lineman of the year. Nobis was Sophomore Lineman of the Year in 1963.

Unanimous selections were Nobis, Ken Hatfield, Arkansas' national punt-returning champion, and halfback Donny Anderson of Texas Tech.

Anderson, a 6-3 junior weighing 205 pounds, topped Arkansas senior quarterback Fred Marshall as back of the year.

Baylor quarterback Terry Southall was named Sophomore Back of the Year and Arkansas tackle Lloyd Phillips was selected Sophomore Lineman of the Year.

Phillips and John LaGrone, SMU guard, were the only sophomore named to the all-SWC team.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles was the choice for Coach of the Year.

Sportswriters who write about the conference voted in the poll. The all-Southwest Conference team:

LOOKING 'EM OVER Better Eleven?

By TOMMY HART

Although they lose halfback Eddie McHugh and quarterback Dwayne Allen, the Coahoma Bulldogs could be stronger next season and they finished with a remarkable 10-1 record this year . . . Marshall Williams, a fine passer who logged a lot of playing time, will be back to man the quarterback spot, as will the third string signal caller, Wayne Oglesby . . . Halfback Johnny Gibson, who is faster than McHugh, is returning as ace fullback Tony Butler and starting linemen Teddy Merrick, Mike Hinsley, Lawrence Lepard, Bobby Pherigo, Mike Mosley and Dean Bohannon . . . Others likely to play a lot at Coahoma next fall include Howard Gregory, an end; back Terry Denton, fullback Chuck Pherigo, back Troy Frazer, center Keith Hodnett, end Bobby Weaver, lineman Mike Butler and backs Bobby Lindsey and Eddie Torres . . . Charley (Choo-Choo) Justice, the famed North Carolina All-American of a few years back, now lives in Asheville, N.C., where he is in the oil business and is on the verge of opening an insurance agency . . . Justice likes coaching so much he traveled to Henderson, N.C., regularly the past season to coach a midget eleven . . . He'd still like to be coaching some way on a college level . . . Odessa High, where Hugh Cochran, a Big Spring ex, is the basketball coach, defeated cross-town rival Ector in its opening cage game, 58-49 . . . Ector is also coached by a former Big Spring athlete, Moe Madison . . . The loss was the first in three starts for Ector . . . Gene Offield, the former Runnels' Junior High mentor, is a varsity assistant at Stratford High, which plunged into the Class A playoffs this fall . . . Phoenix, Arizona, which upset HCJC in the National JC Track and Field Meet here last May, won eight starts in football the past season and wound up in the National JC title game with Oklahoma Military Academy at Savannah, Ga.

J. T. King, the Texas Tech coach who comes here Dec. 19 to deliver a speech at the Quarterback Club's football banquet, was an end coach at Texas A&M when Steer mentor Don Robbins was there . . . The two are warm friends and Robbins came close to joining the Tech staff following the 1963 season . . . Did you know that the federal government made more money out of the last World Series than either the Yankees or the Cardinals? . . . This is the third time in 16 football seasons that a team coached by Emory Bellard has failed to rate the playoffs . . . Bellard says he'll be up there again next year, even though he lost 21 boys from this year's 5-4-1 club . . . Among those departing the scene at San Angelo are halfback Jim Rich, quarterback Pascual Piedfort, end Donnie Young and guard Drew Darby, as well as the heart of the interior line . . . Bellard says incoming sophomores will boost the Bobcats' chances — the San Angelo crop is better than usual . . . Jimmy Brown of the Cleveland Browns has rushed for more yards than four NFL teams . . . The Abilene Eagles had reason to complain about the results of the past football season, too . . . Had the War Birds beaten Odessa High, rather than lose the game as they did by two points, they would have tied Big Spring for first place in the standings and won the right to enter the playoffs — because they beat the Steers . . . As it was, the Eagles finished a strong third, ahead of spirited rival San Angelo . . . Dick Irons of Big Spring was one of three permanent captains chosen by the SMU freshman football team at the conclusion of the season . . . Sunland Park, the El Paso racing strip, is reverting to a ten-race program due to the early twilight . . . It has been staging 11 events a day . . . Jack Spikes, the former Snyder star, was a member of San Diego's taxi squad until he was elevated to the active roster for place-kicking chores.

Oliva, Allen Are Rookies Of Year

BOSTON (AP) — American League batting champion Tony Oliva of Minnesota and third baseman Richie Allen of Philadelphia Phillies were named 1964 Rookies of the Year for their respective leagues Saturday.

Steer Cagers Are Rated Dead Last In 2-4A Poll

Big Spring was picked to finish dead last in the 1965 District 2-AAAA basketball race in a poll of coaches and sports writers, conducted by the Abilene Reporter-News.

The Midland High Bulldogs surprisingly were named to win the championship, after a close fight with Abilene High.

The results of the poll (points based on eight for first, seven for second and etc., on writers' ballots and seven for first, six for second and etc., on coaches' ballots because they did not vote for their own teams):

- 1. Midland (82)
- 2. Abilene (77)
- 3. Cooper (70)
- 4. Lee (66)
- 5. Permian (57)
- 6. Odessa (51)
- 7. San Angelo (38)
- 8. Big Spring (24)

Midland was ranked no lower than third on any of the votes while Abilene's lowest vote was for fourth and Cooper's lowest was one last-place ballot.

Breakdown between writers and coaches:

Oliva, the 25-year-old native of Cuba using a brother's name, was picked on 19 of the 20 ballots cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Allen scored on 18 ballots.

Pitcher Wally Bunker of the Baltimore Orioles received the other American League vote. Rico Carty of the Milwaukee Braves and Jim Ray Hart of the San Francisco Giants received single votes in the National League balloting.

Allen, who is selling cars in Philadelphia during the off season, expressed great surprise at his selection.

"Honestly I felt Rico Carty or Jim Ray Hart would get the award because of my strikeouts and errors in the last half of the season. Playing with a good ball club helped me."

Oliva won the AL batting crown by hitting .323, six points higher than Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, the AL Most Valuable Player. Oliva also led the league in runs with 109, hits (217) and doubles (43).

He stayed well over the .400 mark through the early part of the season and wasn't threatened for batting laurels until the close of the season.

Coaches — Midland-45, Abilene 39, Cooper 41, Lee 28, Permian 23, Odessa 16, San Angelo 14, Big Spring 13.

Writers — Midland 37, Abilene 32, Cooper 29, Lee 27, Permian 13, Odessa 15, San Angelo 14, Big Spring 13.

Most of the voters who had any remarks at all felt that it should be another tight race, perhaps like last season's cage race and the recently finished grid battle.

Taking part in the poll were writers James McAfee of the Abilene Reporter - News, Bob Milburn of the San Angelo Standard Times, Ted Battles of the Midland Reporter-Telegram, Tommy Hart of the Big Spring Herald and Bob Dillon of the Odessa American.

Coaches included Paul Stuecker of Lee, Jay Spears of Midland, Dick Rittman of San Angelo, Alan Simpson of Big Spring, Jack Crawley of Permian, Hugh Cochran of Odessa, Bill Villines of Cooper and Nat Gleaton of Abilene.

Westerners Rack Up Steer Quint, 82-45

A stylish Lubbock High School basketball team gave the Big Spring Steers a sound thumping here Friday night, winning by a score of 82-45. The win was the third in a row for the Westerners, who are favored to win it all in District 3-AAA. The contest opened the season for Big Spring. Several of the Longhorns have been out for drills less than a week, due to the fact that they have been playing football.

The Longhorns had difficulty with their passing game. They were consistently caught out of position on defense and they wound up with a poor shooting performance. Still, the team is not without promise. The Longhorns have the height and apparently the right attitude. It's just going to take some time for them to jell.

The Westerners had four players in double figures. Gary Washington led the way with 21 points while Doug Dunlap followed with 15 and David Milburn 14.

Simon Terrazas was the only Steer in double figures. He wound up with ten. The Westerners broke loose after being held on fairly even terms through half the first quarter and by half time were in charge, 42-23.

The outcome was almost as bad in the B game. The Dogies lost that one, 76-43. Tom Mattison and Bruce Redford each counted 13 points for Lubbock in that one while Robert Jackson topped in 21 for Big Spring. He was the only Dogie to collect more than five points.

The Steers return to play Tuesday night, at which time they visit Plainview to play a perennial Panhandle power-house.

What's the catch? There isn't any. Plunk $1701 into any Salesman's hand at Western Car Co. and he'll plunk you into the seat of a new 1965 Volkswagen Deluxe Sedan. (Give him $20 more, and you'll be plunked into a Volkswagen with matching leatherette upholstery.) Of course, you'll have to buy license plates and pay local tax. But that is it. Sound a little too simple? Perhaps. But then the Volkswagen is a simple little car.

MRS. JERRY CLIFTON HAYES

Couple Recites Vows In Baptist Church

Miss Wanda Jean McCormick and Jerry Clifton Hayes were married Saturday evening in Trinity Baptist Church with the Rev. Jack Powers performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McCormick, Gail Route, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hayes, Kingsville.

Palms of greenery and baskets of bronze chrysanthemums and pompon chrysanthemums flanked the altar. Mrs. Harold Talbot sang "Because" and "O Promise Me" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Jesse McCormick, sister-in-law of the bride. Also, she played traditional wedding selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of Chantilly lace over white peau de soie fashioned by her mother. The full skirt of lace was scalloped at the hemline and overlaid the satin skirt that swept into a chapel train. The molded bodice was styled with a scooped neckline, and petal point sleeves completed the design. She wore a tiara of pearls attached to a fingertip-length veil of illusion.

Her bridal bouquet of white orchid and feathered carnations was carried atop a white Bible and showered with picot ribbon.

TRADITIONAL ITEMS
She wore the traditional items; her Bible, borrowed from Mrs. Jesse McCormick, and an antique cameo pin belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Cora McCormick.

Miss Kandis Long, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor in a frock of gold velvet-reen fashioned with a scooped neckline, cap sleeves and a bouffant skirt. She wore a silk organza headdress with a face veil and carried a nosegay of bronze chrysanthemums tied with matching satin ribbon.

Tom Harlan, Midland, served the bridegroom as best man.

For a wedding trip to San Antonio and other points in South Texas, the bride wore a three-piece olive green tweed suit with charcoal patent accessories and black velvet pillbox. Her corsage was the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

Presented by her uncle, Glen Bewley of Rosston, the bride wore a floor length gown of candlelight organza peau. The empire waist was accented by a soft straight princess line skirt with a slight train. The floor-length veil was held in place with a tiny crown of seed pearls and bridal wreath. She carried a white orchid and white roses atop a white Bible.

Catholic Church Sets Gift Bazaar, Supper

The annual Christmas bazaar and chili supper at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church will be held Dec. 5 under the direction of Mrs. Richard Egan, general chairman. The Altar Society is the sponsoring group.

Hard work and persistent effort tell the story of the society's beginning back when the Catholic Church in Big Spring was but a mission. Then the women took their turns in serving priests during their monthly trips to the city. The membership now totals more than 30.

In those early days, since there was no house for worship, Holy Mass was celebrated in private homes. Here, each woman was responsible for making her home available to the priest and those attending mass. With the building of a church structure, the women joined again to clean the church, wash the linens, care for the vestments, keep the altar and be responsible for other necessities.

Today, these same activities are being carried on by members of the Altar Society under the direction of the elected officers. They are Mrs. Y. C. Gray, president; Mrs. E. W. Brewer, vice president; Mrs. Bill Sneed, secretary; and Mrs. Curtis Choate, treasurer.

The chili supper and bazaar has become an annual event but is far from new to the group. As early as 1907 the women worked on this same type of project. Funds raised are used to purchase linens and altar supplies. The society is now preparing linens for the chapel soon to be constructed within the convent. Although the altar group is spear-heading the Saturday event, many women of the parish will be furnishing gift items, cookies, candies and breads which will be sold.

Will Sell Gifts

Shown with gift items which will be offered for sale next Saturday by the Immaculate Heart of Mary Altar Society are Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Miss Carrie Scholz and Mrs. Jack Engel. Women in the parish have been working for weeks to create articles which are donated for the event.

Plan Bazaar

Final details were discussed this week for the annual gift bazaar and chili supper which will raise funds for the Altar Society activities. From left are Mrs. Richard Egan, Mrs. Bill Sneed, Mrs. Bob Anderson and Mrs. Howard Stevens.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN ALLISON AND BETH

Texan Selects Field Of Medical Research

Mrs. John Allison, Dallas, one of the few women in Texas who is classified as an electron microscopist, was accompanied by her husband and daughter, Beth, to Big Spring last week to visit in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Foster, 2409 Main.

She does scientific research work at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in the department of anatomy. Here she studies tumor cells and presently is concentrating on the effects of hormones on cell structure—in the exacting terms of science—cellular fine structure.

She works with an instrument so complex it requires a complete three-divisional laboratory to house it. The electronic microscope uses beams of electrons for its "light" source instead of natural or artificial light and gives a magnification great enough to view the components of a single cell.

NEW FIELD

This work is in a new field and had its inception in 1950. In the first 10 years, the instrument was used industrially. Only recently has it been applied in the sciences.

Her work in the office and laboratory are only a part of her career demands. She prepares scientific papers and has had abstracts published in a Texas journal and the national journal, "Anatomical Record," in her special field of study. Also, she has done a full length paper for the scientific journal, "Endocrinology" that will soon be in print.

She presented a paper to the American Association of Anatomists in Denver last year and to the Texas Academy of Scientists in Galveston, as well as a tangent proposal at the University of California in Berkeley.

At the present she teaches undergraduates two nights a week at Southern Methodist University in the biology department, and has completed the course for a doctorate with two theses yet to complete in her research field.

DUAL ROLE

Though the laboratory operates on an eight hour schedule, she does not have to spend all of her time at the school. Her husband operates three businesses in Dallas and she fits her career in with the combined role of wife and mother.

Fancy Foot Warmers

The Mu Kappa Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha has utilized over 70 hours of sewing time in making 86 pair of foot warmers and 21 lap robes to be used in the geriatrics ward of the Big Spring State Hospital. Cochairmen of the project, which involved 16 members, are Mrs. E. H. Lawton and Mrs. Loy Carroll, with Mrs. Bob Grimes assisting. Shown making the presentation to patients are Mrs. Jack Wilson, Mrs. Eugene Westbrook and, kneeling, Mrs. Robin Howell.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Good morning . . . in case your days have been scrambled by the holiday, this is Sunday.

If you haven't been down town after dark since the Christmas decorations have been hung and lighted, make a special trip soon. You will be delighted with the improvement over the past years in the selection. Also, the stores have unusually beautiful interior decorations as well as the window displays. First Federal Savings and Loan has jollied up their front by placing vari-colored bulbs in the sidewalk lamps.

At Hemphill-Wells the theme this year is a red one with some white here and there. To make the theme even more cheery, all the saleswomen wore red dresses Friday, the first day the store had come forth with the Christmas season embellishment. The store had furnished each lady with a pretty corsage for her red dress. One of the salesmen was sporting a vivid red vest and the janitor was said to have worn three different red ties during the day's work . . . Swartz windows are beautifully set to give the best background for some gorgeous gifts like long formals and minks . . . Gibbs and Weeks chose a masculine type golden bell and pine arrangement . . . Zales have festooned their interior with golden balls and tinsel that bring on a Christmas atmosphere . . . So now . . . the season is upon us, and the merchants are apparently ready.

It takes a special kind of husband for this schedule," she said in praise of Allison, who like his wife is a former resident of Big Spring.

One of her hobbies is the raising of tropical fish. Always the true scientist, she sometimes overlaps the hobby with her research, for the primary experiments at the school are done on lower animals. Even vacations are businessmen's holidays, for she combines her lecture engagements with family trips.

When questioned on how she found this particular niche in the scientific world, she told of its beginning in Big Spring High School where she became interested in biology. She received a scholarship from the American Association of University Women in Big Spring to attend Howard County Junior College, going on to Texas Women's University at Denton to get her BS degree. She chose Southwest because of its graduate program.

Texans In Capitol For HD Meeting

Nine official delegates and some 40 other Texas home demonstration agents participated in the 31st annual meeting of the National Home Demonstration Agents Association this week in Washington, D. C. Professional improvement was the theme of the meeting attended by more than 1,100 agents from throughout the nation.

Five Texans received special recognition. They included Distinguished Service Award winners Peggy June Sullivan of Hill County; Loreta Allen, Taylor County; Mrs. Vida Kreklow, Schleicher County; and Mrs. Dorothy Marsh of Jefferson County; and the Florence Hall Award winner for the Southern region, Mrs. Geraldine Lee of Brazoria County.

Hensons Visited

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ferguson and Patricia have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Henson.

the weekend.

MRS. MILLER HARRIS and her father, J. B. PICKLE, were in Marfa Friday for a coffee honoring their niece and granddaughter, MISS JANET BAILLEY, who will be married Dec. 22. She is the younger daughter of BISHOP BAILEY of Marfa.

Children and grandchildren of MRS. E. T. O'DANIEL joined her here for the holiday weekend. They are MR. and MRS. T. R. FLEEMAN, Carol, Nancy and Danny from Odessa, and MRS. DOROTHY PUCKETT and Joe from Seminole.

We always enjoy the dinner meetings of the Hereford Breeders Association held before their annual sale but Friday night I think I enjoyed it most of all. Of course, seeing the people that perhaps I haven't seen since the last sale is pleasant, but this year the speaker was that most charming fellow, JOE EVANS, whom I have just missed hearing a number of times. A real cowboy preacher, the elderly gentleman is still able to hold his audience and has the most delightful collection of jokes one could hear.

CYNTHIA POND, beautifully dressed in an Irish green party dress, played the dinner music again this year. Her sister, the former Prissy Pond, favored the association for the years she was in high school by playing piano numbers during the dinner hour, and now her sister is following in her footsteps. The parents are MR. and MRS. JOE POND.

Winding up the Thanksgiving visitors we have noted that the W. L. THOMPSONS, 2ND LT. and MRS. BILL THOMPSON and their friend, 2ND LT. TODD DIXON, were in Midland Thursday for a day with members of the S. L. PARKER family. Coming there for the day were MR. and MRS. SIDNEY PARKER and Jeanne of Brownwood and MR. and MRS. VERNON PARKER, Carol and Charlie of Dallas. This was all of the family of Mrs. W. L. Thompson with the exception of their new son-in-law and daughter, MR. and MRS. MARVIN SIMMONS of Dallas, who were unable to join the group.

MRS. ANNE McCONNELL and her children, Matt and Bruce, spent Thanksgiving day with their friends, MR. and MRS. JAN TALLEY, and their daughters.

The LARSON LLOYDS took their little ones, Larson Jr. and Lisa Ann, on a short trip to Piedras Negras, Mexico, over the beautiful Thanksgiving day.

The H. C. Stipp were expected to return here by yesterday morning after spending the holiday at the ranch home of her brother and sister-in-law, MR. and MRS. W. E. CUSHING, near Clarendon. The couple has recently been on a trip that took them into Oklahoma where they visited his sister and brother-in-law in Pryor and at their cabin on Grand Lake shores. They also spent some time in Tulsa before coming back to Austin where they were guests in the home of MR. and MRS. H. A. (RED) REQUE who have recently completed their new home. Mr. Reque has retired from military service. After many years of travel abroad, the couple has collected a most interesting number of little things from various parts of the world. Mrs. Stipp says her sister has a natural talent for placing her treasures in such places that they are seen without being too obvious.

MR. and MRS. JOHN BALCH and their grandson, LARRY EUBANK of Sweetwater, are expected back today from Lubbock where they have spent

Texans Surveyed On Civil Defense

Texas is one of five states participating this week in a survey to determine the distribution and use of several publications on civil defense. Interviews in Andrews, Frio, Falls and Jackson counties are questioning some 50 farm families and 50 non-farm families to determine what civil defense information they have received and how they have made use of it. Sherylly Bailey and Thomas Hollmig, rural civil defense specialists, announce.

The survey, initiated by the Federal Extension Service, is being directed locally by state and county Extension Service personnel.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Elena Patterson, bride-elect of Lt. James Massey, was honored Saturday at an informal kitchen shower in the home of Miss Anne Homan, 801 Gregg.

Approximately 20 guests were received by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Camille Patterson, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Leon Massey, Lomax. Each wore a corsage fashioned of dish cloths. The refreshment center was decorated with a display made of hot pads, clothespins and a tea pot. The table was laid with an orange cloth, and crystal appointments were used. The wedding will be an event of Dec. 29.

Gain Room In Kitchen

Need more storage or counter space in your kitchen? If so, here are two ideas worth considering:

1. Build a curved snack bar at the end of your counter.
2. Install shelves around a slate blackboard in a convenient corner.

Both the counter and the shelves should be built of a durable material.

You can add to the charm and appearance of your shelves by installing racks beneath to hold cookbooks.

Another way to save space is to replace regular doors with bifolds. Among the various types to choose from are accordion doors, cut-aparts, and lowered doors.

Nuptial Vows Spoken In Grand Prairie

Miss Nancy Marie Knox became the bride of Gale H. Hanson at 7:30 p.m. Saturday during a ceremony performed in the Evangel Temple Assembly of God in Grand Prairie. The double ring ceremony was performed by her father, the Rev. D. N. Knox, and the Rev. Jim Morrison.

The altar was illuminated by candelabra holding cathedral tapers and was graced with basket arrangements of white gladioli and red carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Knox of Coahoma, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hanson, Valentine, Neb.

Mrs. Jim Morrison, organist, played "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer" before accompanying Lester L. Lowry, brother-in-law of the bride, as he sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Because."

Rev. Knox gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white satin overlaid with lace which was styled by her mother, and featured a scalloped neckline and petal point sleeves. The shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls.

Carried atop a white Bible, the wedding bouquet was a white orchid encircled with feathered white carnations and tied with satin picot.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Lester Lowry, Ramona, Okla., sister of the bride. Her bell-skirted dress of red brocaded taffeta was worn with a matching bow hat with bubble veil. Bridesmaids were Miss Evelyn Moore, Richardson; Miss Norma Moody, Grand Prairie; and Miss Margaret Young, Springfield, Mo. They were dressed identically to the matron of honor and each carried a long-stemmed white carnation.

Gary Nell Hanson, Valentine, served his brother as best man. Three other brothers, Dennis Hanson, Rapid City, S. D., and Leroy and Stanley Hanson, both of Valentine, were groomsmen. The ushers were Loren Young, Springfield, Mo., and Don Murray, Irving, and the ring bearer was Alan Murray, Irving. Altar tapers were lighted by the ushers.

Insecticide Study Made In Nation

Mrs. Florence W. Low, Extension Service assistant director for home economics and a member of the President's Committee on Consumer Interests, is serving on a National Academy of Science task force which is making a five-state tour to study insecticide problems with respect to the consumer's viewpoint. The tour began in Washington, D. C., and has included observations in Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio, Colorado and California.

The flower girl, Mariam Davene Lowry, Ramona, wore an A-line red brocaded taffeta dress and scattered white rose petals down the bridal aisle.

RECEPTION

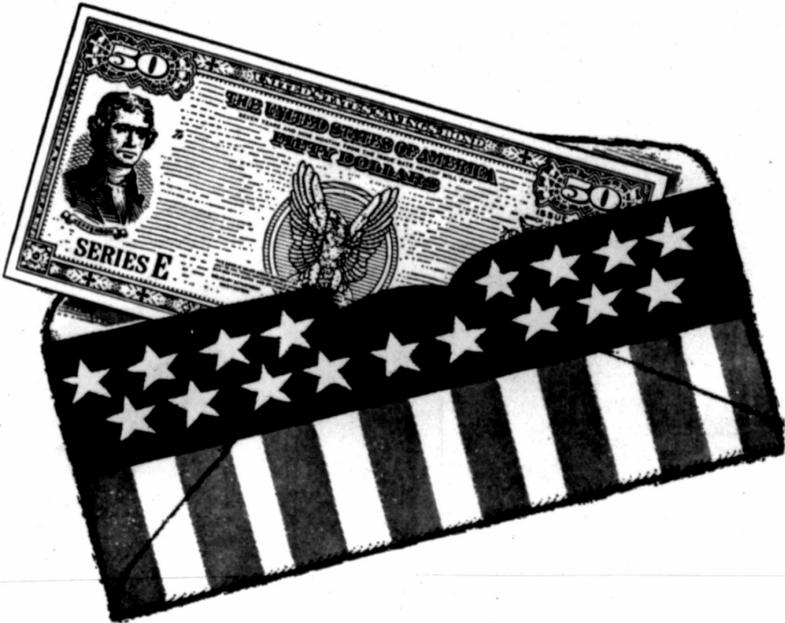

A reception honoring the couple was held in the hospitality room at the First National Bank. The crystal and silver appointed bride's table was centered with an all-white three-tiered cake topped with white doves.

The bride's sister, Miss Ida May Knox, Dallas, presided at the guest register, and members of the house party were Miss Johnnie Ruth Cain, Denton; Mrs. Don Murray, Irving; and Miss Oma Nell Moore, Richardson.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a royal blue velvet suit with light blue crepe blouse and black accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Coahoma High School and Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie. She is employed by the Texas Instrument Company in Richardson. The bridegroom was graduated from the same college and is now attending Rutherford Metropolitan School of Business in Dallas. The couple are residing in Dallas at Apt. 22, Commodore Apts., 3922 Simpson St.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding and reception were Mrs. Dennis Hanson, Rapid City, and Mrs. LeRoy Hanson and Mrs. Stanley Hanson, both of Valentine.

MRS. ROY W. GRIFFITH

Miss Carol Phillippe Weds R.W. Griffith

The wedding of Miss Carol Ann Phillippe and Roy W. Griffith was solemnized Saturday evening in St. Thomas Catholic Church with the Rev. Robert J. McDermott reading the vows. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Phillippe, 2211 Cecilia, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Griffith, 301 Wood, Coahoma.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father where bouquets of white gladioli and pom-pom chrysanthemums were arranged. Palms and candelabra with the traditional wedding tapers flanked the altar.

Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, accompanied Mrs. Harold Talbot who sang "Ave Maria," "Blessed Be This Day" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bridal gown was fashioned of white peau de soie styled with a fitted bodice featuring a scooped neckline. A jacket of Chantilly lace with bracelet-length sleeves was fastened with tiny buttons, and the semi-belled skirt was floor-length. She wore a waist-length veil of illusion that cascaded from a white peau de soie pill-box hat. The traditional wedding items were worn by the bride, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses and carnations showered with white streamers tied in love knots.

ATTENDANTS
Miss Judy Phillippe served her sister as maid of honor, and Miss Pat Winterhalter, cousin of the bride, was a bridesmaid. They wore identical frocks of frosted pink silk shantung fashioned on princess lines with bateau necklines and short sleeves.

White organdy Dior bows formed their headresses, and they carried white carnations entwined with English ivy.

Harold Griffith, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Tommy Wyrick, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, ushered.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a traveling costume of brown knit with brown accessories and the corsage from the bridal bouquet.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard County Junior College and has been employed by Chaney's Jewelry. The bridegroom, a graduate of Coahoma High School, and former student at Howard County Junior College is affiliated with Cabot Corporation.

Uses Vary For Swabs

Besides being indispensable in the nursery, cotton-tipped swabs have a dozen and one uses around the house. According to the National Cotton Council, you can use swabs to touch up chipped paint, to apply polish to furniture scratches or glue to broken figurines. Swabs also are handy for dusting in crevices of carved furniture, for cleaning cut crystal, or for oiling hinges or small motors. Keep cotton-tipped swabs on your dressing table to help in applying and removing makeup. For instance, you can dip cotton tips in cleansing cream and use to take off mascara, eye-liner, and shadow.

Liners Can Alter Table Color Theme

According to the National Cotton Council, you can multiply one white cotton lace tablecloth into a colorful wardrobe of covers for holiday parties. To do so, simply make several liners to go under the lace, using washable cotton fabrics in different colors. For instance, you might make a sunny yellow cotton liner to go on your Thanksgiving table, and a red or green liner for Christmas.

Temples Of Philae

Surrounded by waters rising behind the partly completed Aswan Dam, the temples will be saved by Americans building three dikes around the island, known as Elephantine Island. These colorful temples were dedicated to the worship of the Egyptian goddess Isis.

Archaeologists Rallying To Save Nubia's Relics

By ALY MAHMOUD
ASWAN, Egypt (AP)—Scores of determined archaeologists are rallying for the "last big dig" to save Nubia's invaluable relics before they disappear beneath waters rising behind the Aswan Dam.

Eight years ago the Egyptian government announced she would build a new dam and turn the Nubian desert behind it into a 314-mile lake. This spelled death for Nubia, a vast open-air museum that was the meeting ground of four renowned ancient civilizations.

The flood waters are now rising behind the partly completed dam, and the doomed desert is beginning to disappear. Many sites will be flooded in a few months.

When construction of the dam started in 1960 the governments of Egypt and the Sudan made an international appeal for help. Missions from 14 Eastern and Western countries flocked into Nubia and immediately started a dramatic race against the threat of the rising waters.

Normally sleepy Nubia bristles with activity as the date of the final flood draws near. More than 30 archaeological camps stretch 300 miles along the banks of the Nile. Some are tent cities but most operate from floating laboratories, fully equipped to take care of countless problems. For example, the heavily silted water must be constantly filtered and cooled for photographic development, which is providing a record of inscriptions that will be flooded.

MOVING, RECORDING

The rescuers are involved in three operations: moving and saving temples or frescoes in temples that cannot be moved, recording in photographs and notes the sites that cannot be moved, and making last-minute efforts to locate new sites before the chance is lost forever.

The rescuers proudly say they will have "a complete record of all archaeological sites in Egyptian and Sudanese Nubia."

Nine temples have already been moved to higher grounds, and 15 are being either protected on their ancient sites or moved away to safe spots.

West Germany has accomplished what experts term "a marvelous archaeological feat," the dismantling and rebuilding of the Graeco-Roman temple of Kalabsha. The French are moving the 3,000-year-old temple of Amada. The Italians are starting to dismantle the Ellesya temple of the Egyptian Emperor Thutmosis III, founder of the oldest empire known in history. The Americans will build three dikes to protect the Elephantine Island, home of the Philae temples of the Egyptian goddess Isis.

Aided by Polish, Belgian, French and American archaeologists, the Egyptians have saved the Roman temple of Kertassi, the Ptolemaic temple of Taffeh, the temple Denfur (built by the Roman Emperor Augustus), the Nubian temple of Dakka, the colonades of Maharaqah, the Nubian temple of Debod.

The temples of Debod and Taffeh will be gifts from the Egyptian government to countries which contributed most actively in the Nubian campaign. The countries have not yet been named.

The Germans have shouldered with the Swedes, French and Italians the task of dismantling, moving and rebuilding the colossal twin temples of Abu Simbel. Archaeologists view this part of the Nubian campaign with unconcealed misgiving "because of countless problems."

"If the Germans succeed in saving Abu Simbel, as they did Kalabsha, it will be the greatest achievement in Nubia since we came here eight years ago," said an Italian Egyptologist.

TERRA INCOGNITA

The portion of Nubia lying inside the Sudan was given more attention by the rescuers. Classified "terra incognita" (unknown soil) by archaeologists, 100 sites were surveyed and excavated. British diggers, led by Prof. Walter Emery of London University, made a sensational discovery when they found a great castle at Buhen. This discovery, they said, sharply upset previous concepts of pharaonic military architecture.

Built 3,900 years ago during the short reign of Queen Hatshepsute, sister and wife of Emperor Thutmosis III, the fortress displayed a sophisticated knowledge of military architecture. It must have been needed to defend the strategic area of the second cataract dividing the lower and upper Nubia against the threat of a "powerful" enemy in the south. History tells of no superior power south of Nubia at that time. And archaeologists are still pondering if another civilization strong enough to frighten Egypt did exist on African soil at the time of Hatshepsute.

A Devotional For The Day

If the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch. (Matthew 15:14)

Working Together

Big Spring school trustees and city commissioners have given their blessings to a Master Plan for development of the city-school facilities in the area between Sixth and Eleventh Place and Goliad and State Streets.

Some sort of arrangement was made advisable by the plans for enlarging the high school facilities, including physical education and practice fields as well as buildings. Both the city and the school own substantial amounts of land in the area involved.

No solution is ideal, for what will serve the needs of one program may neglect another. But in the plan adopted, the compromise between space and reality seems to be satisfactory because it provides for maximum utility, for reasonable convenience and safety.

Closing of a major portion of Eighth Street will not seriously affect traffic, especially since a smaller loop will provide ingress and egress for the YMCA, the city fire tower, etc. Raising of Tenth will make it indeed an all-weather route, and with adequate safeguards it may provide adequately for through traffic as well as assuming the burden of school traffic. Two reservations have been raised. One concerns getting children across Tenth Street, but this can be overcome with either overhead walkways or underpasses (the latter seems to us off hand to have more merit). The other concerns a main traffic artery contiguous to the campus.

Ideally, it would be better to have a thoroughfare removed from a school area, but a north-south bisector such as is proposed for the Benton-Donley axis must be anchored to the railroad overpass. The city's original Master Plan was to take the route through the campus. Actually, the presence of a major school breeds traffic, so there is no such thing as escaping busy traffic around a large school. The Birdwell Lane and FM 700-East underpasses will drain off heavy truck traffic, so that the thoroughfare would carry principally passenger traffic.

One of the most encouraging things about this proposal is that the city and schools have worked closely together to achieve maximum benefit for the community at most reasonable costs.

Why Not?

"How about a music festival sometime next year?"

This is a question raised in the current issue of the Chamber of Commerce monthly letter to its membership.

The item goes on to ask about junior high and high school band concerts, and a choir festival, adding that "there are enough choirs in Big Spring to make the hills resound with song."

Of course we have band concerts all along, and choir concerts, too.

But wrapping all this into one package for a music festival is something else again. Make no mistake, this would require a tremendous amount of work in shaping up such an event, but it would be something different, and we believe, entirely worthwhile.

Taking Action In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON—It's strange what a difference just a few weeks make. What was "trigger-happy" in October is no longer "dangerous" or "irresponsible" in November—now that the presidential election is over.

General Maxwell Taylor, who is the American ambassador to Viet Nam, is one of the ablest of our government's military advisers. He has served not only as Chief of Staff of the United States Army but also as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. So when he comes to certain conclusions which sound a bit familiar because they were just uttered a few weeks ago by Senator Goldwater, this doesn't mean that they are not valid or that they should be brushed aside now.

GENERAL TAYLOR, in an interview published this week in "Life" magazine, has stated that in Viet Nam "the winner will be the one that has the ultimate will to win." He favors the bombing of supply bases in North Viet Nam, just as Senator Goldwater urged. The general says: "There are two areas where that could make a contribution—namely, by making more difficult the infiltration along the routes from North Viet Nam, generally by way of Laos; or striking the infiltration sources, the training areas in North Viet Nam itself. In so doing the government of North Viet Nam would be reminded that it cannot get off unscathed, that indeed they stand to lose far more than they have any likelihood of winning.

"THESE POSSIBILITIES do exist, but they have their pros and cons. I would add again that pure military action outside the country, just as pure military action inside the country, will not win. We must restore a viable society within these provinces of South Viet Nam."

What General Taylor said has already brought a significant reaction in the press of the country. The "Chicago Tribune," for example, says:

"ONE OF THE things that may have contributed to the defeat of Senator Goldwater in the presidential election was his estimate of the situation in Viet Nam. He said that we were in an unacknowledged war but that the administration had no plan to win, and that it must either take effective action or admit defeat.

"These statements, and the senator's discussion of the difficulties of cutting the Communist infiltration and supply trails, were exploited by his opponents to build up the myth that he was belligerent and 'trigger-happy.' Yet now when the administration spokesman, General Taylor, refers casually to the possibility of bombing the infiltration routes from Communist North Viet Nam into adjoining Laos, and even of 'striking the infiltration sources, the training areas in North Viet Nam itself,' no one cries that the administration is 'trigger-happy' and will wind up getting us in a nuclear war."

"ONLY TWO months ago, in Manchester, N. H., President Johnson expressed these views about 'going north' in Viet Nam: 'I want to be very cautious and careful and use it only as a last resort when I start dropping bombs around that are likely to involve American boys in a war in Asia with 700 million Chinese. . . . So we are not going north and we are not going south; we are going to continue to try to get them (the South Vietnamese) to save their own freedom with their own men.'"

The United States has been striving to assist the established government in South Viet Nam to maintain its independence and its sovereignty. This aid has been requested by the Vietnamese government.

RED CHINA defied the United Nations in the Korean war, and the Soviet Union, as its ally, supplied the arms and ammunition for the invasion of South Korea. These two aggressor governments which disturbed the peace in 1950 are today clandestinely supporting the guerrilla wars in Southeast Asia. This is the real issue that hasn't been faced by the U.N. or the governments in the free world.

To Be Antique

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Museum's latest acquisition has gone into mothballs until history catches up with it.

It is a lemon yellow, two seat, 1955 Thunderbird, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lucas of Milwaukee.

Robert Lietz, museum history assistant, said the gift is a bit premature but that the auto will be exhibited eventually as one of America's first post World War II sports-type cars.

How Does Britain's Higher Bank Rate Affect Us?

That fictional, nonexistent character, the "average newspaper reader," must have wondered at the headline display: "Britain Jumps Bank Rate from 5 per cent to 7 per cent."

He must have been even more puzzled when newspapers heralded in still bigger type the announcement that the Federal Reserve Board had approved a rise in the American discount rate from 3½ to 4 per cent. Esoteric stuff, this—and for central bankers and monetary experts. But what has it got to do with the price of cheese, shoes, automobiles and household appliances?

William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, would like it to be that way—an isolated international monetary action without repercussions domestically. The board acted primarily to prevent a renewed outflow of U.S. gold.

BUT THE executive council of the AFL-CIO views the decision with "alarm," declaring it a "gamble with the pace of the economic advance, particularly at a time of persistent high unemployment." In Britain many economists and labor leaders feel the same way.

In the British national anthem, God is asked to save the Queen. But in the materialistic money markets of the world only Englishmen—with the help of the Bank of England—can save the pound. Hence the drastic two-point jump in "Bank Rate" to 7 per cent—the highest for any industrialized country in the world.

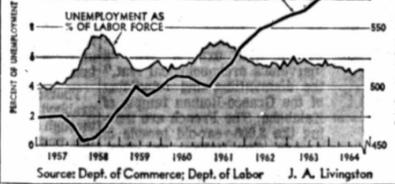

THE MASSING of a three-billion dollar II-nation credit in Britain's behalf only buys time. In the long run the British must do the job themselves.

The high rate will cramp economic development at home. British firms which need funds to put up plant, buy equipment, or lay in inventories will have to pay more for borrowed funds. This rise in cost tends to slow expansion.

However, as domestic demand

THE AMERICAN DILEMMA:

How to reduce unemployment to 4% of labor force as prosperity climbs annually to new peaks.

declines, presumably British manufacturers will make a greater effort to sell goods abroad. Success will bolster the pound.

GREAT BRITAIN has had a chronic balance-of-payments deficit since the war. Back in 1949, when British goods were priced too high, the Labor Government devalued the pound from $4.03 to its present level of $2.80. And many economists urged devaluation this time in order to make British industry more competitive in world markets.

A lower value for the pound, relative to dollars, or francs, or marks, reduces the price of British goods to American, French or German importers. At the same time it raises prices of goods brought into England. The exchange in the bank rate—even a two-point jump—doesn't operate as dramatically as devaluation. It's indirect.

THE AMERICAN response was defensive—a maneuver to hold "hot money" here—to prevent "international funds" from rushing to higher rates in Great Britain or elsewhere.

The Reserve Board's 4 per cent discount rate is three points lower than Britain's 7 per cent. But people don't invest in "bank rates." They put short-term money in bills. And this spread is only about 2½ per cent—the difference between 6½ per cent for British bills and 4 per cent for U.S. bills. "Buying this difference" entails risk. Suppose the pound is devalued. A corporate treasurer or investment adviser who shifted from U.S. to British Treasuries to scalp 2 per cent plus in interest would be fired if he lost 10 per cent to 20 per cent in principal.

So "switchers" to British Treasuries have to hedge. They buy forward dollars in London as insurance. This now costs about 2½ per cent. The high price reflects doubt about the stability of the pound—even for three months—and it offsets the rate differential.

IN THE U.S. the Federal Reserve is engaged in "Operation Twist"—trying to keep long-term money cheap while helping short-term money rates to rise. Purpose: To keep prosperity rolling. Mortgage money to finance homes or "bond money" to provide long-term industrial capital would be easy. Consumer credit costs wouldn't rise.

Nevertheless, short and long-term interest rates interact. The Reserve Board can't keep them apart. The rise to 4 per cent, though international in intent, will require day-to-day watching to be sure it does not retard industrial activity at home at a time when unemployment is still about 5 per cent (see chart). And the worst months of unemployment—January and February—are approaching.

Most Forms Of Iritis Respond To Treatment

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I would like information on an uncommon ailment. My doctor says I have arthritis of the eye. What are the symptoms and treatment? Can it be cured? Can it impair vision or cause blindness?—E.D.J.

Are you sure, sir, that you haven't got your "itis" mixed up?

Arthritis is stiffness, pain and deformity of a joint.

An eye condition which sounds similar is iritis, inflammation of the iris or colored membrane of the eye surrounding the pupil.

It is true (although not common) that rheumatoid arthritis as well as other collagen diseases can sometimes cause inflammation of the eye as a complication, but we can't call it "arthritis of the eye" except by resorting to poetic license.

Anyway, there are many disorders and infections of the iris, from that and other causes. They produce pain, excessive flow of tears, and disturbances of vision.

Whether vision is impaired or even destroyed depends on the precise type of ailment, and depends even more on whether the ailment is treated or neglected.

Since iritis may be related to infections elsewhere in the body, underlying causes should be corrected.

Dear Sir: Would you answer these questions about the iritis of the eye?

1—Is any antibiotic effective for iritis?

2—If the glands are infected, wouldn't they enlarge? (They were very much enlarged before being drained, but not since.)

3—If there is infection, would there be a discharge that would be irritating?

4—What can be done for an alkaline condition in the vaginal area? Acid douches, etc., have not helped much. Soap is irritating.—MRS. A. D.

1—Usually one or more of the antibiotics will be effective, but it is usual to drain the glands, too, as was done in your case.

2 and 3—So long as they remain open and draining, you would not expect enlargement. Any drainage would be washed away by natural secretions or by washing, and this ordinarily would avert risk of irritation.

4—There are numerous medicated douches. Rely on whatever your doctor suggests. However, douching is not going to do much good for an infected Bartholin gland. These glands are situated at the outlet, not in the area that a douche would reach. Sitting in a hot bath would be more effective, both for soothing effect and for cleaning.

Dear Dr. Molner: On my radio it was recently stated that there are foods which take calories to digest. If this is so, what are they? There are thousands of nervous eaters like me who would like to eat the pounds off.—I.M.W.

I didn't hear any such thing, but I've had enough letters from readers to convince me that some such hogwash must have been said somewhere.

There are no foods which use up calories. Circulating any such fairy stories is unkind to people who are trying to lose weight. There is no way they can eat as heavily as ever yet still get slim.

Around The Rim

Moral: Don't Shop Too Early

The scene is the office of Prof. Brainbuzzer, a psychoanalyst.

Enters a character we can call Herbie Notfeister, obviously in a state of great inner turmoil. He would have a little fellow like you? Are you a practical joker? Do you drive on the wrong side of the street? Do you insult old ladies? Do you write a newspaper column?"

Prof—"Good day, sir, and what may I do for you?"

Herb—"Professor, I've got a problem."

Prof—"Problem, eh? That's no problem, if you will excuse the professional approach. Now why don't you just lie down on the couch and tell me about it."

Herb—"I believe I can just tell you about it from here in the chair."

Prof—"Well, we'll humor you on that one, but if you keep skidding any closer to the edge, you'll be on the floor. What is it? Do you have an inferiority complex because of your slight size?"

Herb—"Oh, no that isn't it at all. It's that —"

Prof—"Then perhaps you have been dreaming of eating mountains of peanut butter sandwiches and wake up with your dentures all stuck? I believe we might have an approach to that."

Herb—"No, no, it goes deeper than that. It's that —"

Prof—"Tell me, when you were a small lad did you see your father give your older brother a hefty strapping and you haven't been able to bring yourself to wearing a belt since?"

Herb—"That's not it, either. I don't have an older brother. Let me just tell you, Professor. The unbearable truth is that people just hate me, despise me, detest me. Not necessarily all the time. But always at this time of year. I become a complete social outcast."

Prof—"Ho, ho, ho! And I don't mean the funny ho, ho, ho, but the speculative ho, ho, ho. Rather more like a serious H-m-m-m-m."

HERB—All right, Professor, make what noises you want, but this is serious with me. I need your help."

Prof—"Why would anybody hate a little fellow like you? Are you a practical joker? Do you drive on the wrong side of the street? Do you insult old ladies? Do you write a newspaper column?"

Herb—"No, no, no. I am a peace-loving, quiet citizen, one who attends strictly to his own business."

Prof—"You'll have to tell me more."

Herb—"Well, it may have something to do with Christmas."

Prof—"Ho, ho, ho! And this time I mean the Santa type. What about Christmas?"

Herb—"Well, it seems most of my associates are now aware that I have all my Christmas shopping done."

Prof—"Beginning to get red in the face himself? 'YOU WHAT?'"

HERB—"I DO have all my Christmas shopping done."

Prof—"Now purpling with rage, 'ALL of it? For your aunts and uncles, all your nephews and nieces, everybody at the office? You mean EVERYBODY?'"

Herb—"That's right sir. I accomplish this every year by December 1."

Prof—"Reaching over to the table where there is a handy meat cleaver. He begins to brandish it, while puffing through a mounting, stifling, intense wrath. 'You get out of here, you pusillanimous insect; you scum on the waters of society, you violator of human habit. I can treat Napoleons, and peanut-butter sandwich dreamers, but you—you are not only a nut, you are a menace to all mankind. Now get out, before I beat you. Oh, how I hate you!'"

AND THE scene closes with early-morning shopper Herbie running like mad, the professor with his cleaver right behind. —BOB WHIPKEY

Batista's Story On Cuba

WASHINGTON — Fulgencio Batista has written a book. In rueful numbers and self-serving extenuations, he recounts the "growth and decline" of the first Western Hemisphere republic to become a full-fledged Communist satellite, garrisoned by Soviet troops, dependent upon Soviet aid, protected and controlled by Soviet foreign policy. In telling what happened to Cuba, the ex-President tells considerably more.

THE "GROWTH" of Cuba occurred almost entirely because of the United States, and the "decline" occurred almost entirely because of communism. Yet the dependence upon the U. S. gradually brought about Cuba's subservience to the U.S.S.R.

Much of this analysis has to be formed by the reader himself and should not be taken from the author's heated presentation of his own case.

CUBA "GREW" as scores of North American enterprises brought in the money which, somewhat on the North American model, was divided between graft and welfare. But Cuba in Batista's time enjoyed the largest per capita income of any Latin American country. There were huge outlays of funds for schools and hospitals, highways and housing.

The "decline" of Cuba commenced, possibly with the American recognition of Soviet Russia in 1933, and more certainly with the Russo-American alliance in World War II. Batista, in 1943, brought the head of the Cuban Communist party into his cabinet and never quite lived down the concession. In Cuba, as in the United States, the Communists took advantage of the opening to pour into Labor unions, the bureaucracy and the universities. In this country, a revisionist, although hesitant and uneven, was strong enough in the 1950's to drive most of them out of power and into disgrace or hiding. But in Cuba the Communist underground consolidated its positions.

BATISTA MORE than intimates that the notorious beard of Fidel Castro and his followers was a monstrous imitation of Christ and his disciples, intended to dupe the peasants. Batista writes:

"They came disguised as believers in His mission, wearing beards as He did and carrying rosaries and crucifixes. This was a sacrilegious mockery. . . . Thus was slavery equated with freedom, murder with justice, evil with good, filth with cleanliness, the liberation of peoples with their enslavement to a foreign despotism."

THERE IS NO need to take Batista's excited testimony as a completely valid "inside" account. But there is a broad outline here that ought to be used as reference material. American aid and trade that brings about the social betterment of foreign peoples do not automatically inoculate them against communism. American agreements with communism, whether in wartime alliance or peacetime treaties, are not good examples to smaller nations. We in this country may see communism as ugly in the face and not capable of disguise, but other peoples in their simplicity still see it as a religious movement.

What happened to Cuba is a clue to past, present and future disasters. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Work Of Friendship In India

NANDPUR, The Punjab, India — This is a big day in this dusty crossroads because the goats have arrived. They were flown straight from California to New Delhi, a journey of two days, and then 24 hours in a truck to Nandpur.

As the two Peace Corps young men take them out of their crates they look remarkably self-possessed. If they are surprised by their strange environment and the laughing, pushing throng of young villagers, some of them turbaned, others with tousled, long hair, they show no sign of it.

IN THE SAME way Garry Harms of DeWitt, Neb., a sturdy youth with a ruddy face, and Pat Canton of Ettrick, Wis., with the beginnings of a black beard, seem entirely at home. They knock open the crates and good-naturedly elbow the villagers aside to lead the goats to the nearly completed goat house. They have been working for the past 15 months with the poultry cooperative to increase egg production by modern techniques.

A small army of Americans is at work in India today on all kinds of projects. Besides the American government, Ford, Rockefeller and a dozen smaller foundations are in every corner of the country at one task and another.

THEY BRING with them, many of these invaders, a kind of pioneering zeal. The challenge is so big. At times it must seem a hopeless task, so deeply rooted is the poverty and so harsh the traditions and customs of the past.

Yet the country and, more important, the people exert a kind of spell on the invaders. It is America's love affair with India and however it turns out the record of the engagement will be written in immense goodwill and earnest determination.

OUTSIDE LUDHIANA, the trading center for this part of the Punjab, one of India's seven new agricultural schools has come into being. A thousand students are in classes in chemistry, biology, animal husbandry. A large experimental farm was created by the Rockefeller Foundation out of a waste of sand dunes and advanced students are working to get strains of wheat and millet better adapted to the region.

ONE OF THE contributions of AID (Agency for International Development) is a team of seven specialists from Ohio State University headed by Dr. Wilbur B. Wood. He is administrative assistant to the chancellor of the Punjab Agricultural University, Dr. P. N. Thapar. They have a close working relationship grounded in the need to graduate students who will work with the cultivators at a down-to-earth level where help is most needed.

AS FOOD SHORTAGES press hard and the newspapers report riots in the south and the possibility of rationing imposed over a long period of time, the need for more of everything is dramatized. Up to 80 per cent of the population lives off the land, probably the highest percentage in the world. The average plot is three acres or less and the forked stick that digs only three inches below the surface is in almost-universal use.

With 350,000 people working at this level it is hard to believe that a rapid transformation can be achieved. But those who are grappling with it want to believe that small examples of what must be done, repeated many times over, will take hold and the miracle will happen while there is still time. (Copyright, 1964, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Billy Graham

In your opinion is the story of Lazarus and the rich man recorded in Luke a parable or a true incident?

K. M.
The story of the rich man and Lazarus is one of the many stories Jesus used about the future life. He made bold to appeal to the hope of heaven and the fear of hell.

We are not sure if it is a "parable" or a true incident. But if it is a parable, a parable is used to teach specific truths, and certain truths emerge from this story.

For one thing, it teaches clearly that there are two places of abode in the life beyond, heaven and hell. It teaches that lost souls are "in some sort of anguish." It reveals that there is an impassable gulf between Paradise and hell, implying that death terminates our opportunity to be saved.

One of the most powerful and effective stimulants to good, and deterrents to evil, is a profound belief in the future life. And nothing was more clearly taught by our Lord than that life extends beyond this one.

"LIDA ROSE" SHORT CIRCUITS THE RIVER CITY POSSE Hollis Web, Dennis Thompson, Don Haney, Ron Growden

'Music Man' Opens This Week With BSHS Cast

LIDA ROSE
Professor Harold Hill, the music man who didn't know one note from another, comes to town Thursday in one of the most melodic and ambitious undertakings of the Big Spring High School drama and music departments.

This will be the first of three productions of Meredith Willson's famed "Music Man" — Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in the BSHS auditorium.

Opening in 1957, the musical ran 40 months on Broadway and another 57 weeks in Chicago, and has been a perennial favorite ever since. It is listed as one of the 10 most successful musicals in history and won the New York Drama Critics' Circle award as the best of the 1957-58 season.

Pat Hamilton is cast in the role of Professor Hill, a delightful, exuberant con-man who settles on River City, Iowa, to execute his racket of selling brass instruments and uniforms. But instead of skipping before time comes to deliver a talented Marian the librarian. This produces all sorts of complications and leads to the exciting and touching climax.

Charlene MacDonald will have the role of Marian and will sing two of the show's most famous hits, "Good Night My Someone" and "My White Knight." Marvin Burleson appears as Marian's lispng kid brother who sings the captivating "Gary, Indiana." Mickey Crow is cast as her mother; Marshall Cockrell as bombastic Mayor Chin; Dennis Thompson, Don Haney, Hollis Web and Ron Growden as the quartet with its bright tunes and "Lida Rose." And of course, there is always the infectious "Seventy-six Trombones."

Dan Shockey is directing the production, Mel Ivey is directing the music and Mrs. Dick Wilson is choreographer. Tickets are $1.25 adults, $1 students and may be had at the high school or from cast members or at the auditorium ticket office the evenings of the show.

Coach Don Robbins commended everyone for the support they have given the football team during this past season and urged everyone in school and town to keep up the good support during the upcoming basketball season.

For some years, people in Big Spring have been wanting a youth center. Now the Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a series of dances, the proceeds of which will go toward the building of a youth center. Mr. Harold Bentley, assistant principal, says: "The only way Big Spring can get a youth center is to support this drive. The students have long wanted a youth center and the best way to indicate that they do want it is to support the activities."

Members of the student council will be selling tickets and everyone is urged to buy their tickets and attend. The first dance was held Friday night. The Big Spring High School Choir will present a concert Dec. 17, along with the choirs of Runnels and Goliad Junior Highs. Each choir will present two numbers and then combine for "Two Kings."

The Thanksgiving Assembly was presented at 2 p. m. in the gym Wednesday. Mrs. Jane Smith presented a speech on "Thanksgiving 1964." The choir sang "Thanksgiving Proclamation and Harvest Hymn" and "From Sea to Shining Sea." In "Thanksgiving Proclamation and Harvest Hymn" Pat Hamilton was narrator. The choir was directed by Mr. Mel Ivey. The "Corral" and "El Rodeo" have announced the 1966 staff. "Corral" editor will be Cindy Ritenour; associate editor, Beth Walker; sports editor, Gary Phillips.

"El Rodeo" editor will be Linda Ann Taylor; assistant editor, Marilyn Meacham; activities editor, Mary Newton; clubs editor, Judy Daniel; layout and design, Patty Haralson; senior editor, Fran Smith; sports editor, Johnny Arrick; and photographer, Don Shive.

The Future Homemakers of America met Monday. Charlotte Kuhlman presented a skit on the "Flowers of the Months." Those helping her were Brenda Standefer, Gayle Talent, Jane Hodges, Barbara Burton, Susan Brandt, Linda Mullins, Carolyn Springer, Sharon Kuhlman, Linda White, Norma Long, Frances Jones, Kay Harrell and Myra Jean Lawler.

The members elected Eunice Stephenson to be a candidate for an area officer. The yearbook committee announced that the yearbooks were ready for distribution. This is the first year that they have been printed.

Girls selling over $30 worth of magazines received certificates of award. They were Leta Johnson, Eunice Stephenson, Christine Woodrow, Cindy Britton, Linda Hays, Janetta Avery, Martha Bradshaw, and Janis Burges.

The third Southern Assembly was presented Nov. 24. Mrs. Jean Kuanui presented a program on the hazards as well as the fun involved in water sports.

Report cards were distributed Wednesday before students were dismissed for the Thanksgiving holidays. Classes will resume Wednesday.

The student body attended a general assembly Wednesday for a Thanksgiving program presented by the Student Council. Mr. R. T. Newell, principal, opened the assembly, and Jack Cathey, SC president, presided. The opening prayer was given by Kathy Crenshaw, Mrs. Judith Spencer read selections about Thanksgiving and Mr. Cleo Carlile offered the devotions. The choir, directed by Mr. Hubert Murphy, sang "O All Ye Nations," "All Through the Night," "Bless This House," and "America, Our Heritage." Mr. Jack Hendrix, head of the musical department at HCJC, accompanied the selections on the piano. School was dismissed at 2:45 following the assembly.

Pure Oil Gets Big Gasser At 4 Miles

The world's deepest gas producer was completed this week at Pure Oil Company's No. 1-2 Tyrrell unit, 9 1/2 miles northwest of Fort Stockton in Pecos County. Potential gauge filed on the producer, from the Gomez (Ellenburger gas) pool in perforations at 20,129-21,060 feet, rated a calculated absolute open flow of 61 million cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Shut-in tubing pressure, immediately after the flow, was 7,250 pounds per square inch in an unreported amount of time.

The project is producing from perforations 318 feet deeper than the same operator's No. 1-1 Tyrrell unit, the opener of the pool and former depth record holder. The No. 1-1 operation was completed in September of 1963 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 68,000,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day from perforations between 19,871 and 20,742 feet.

No. 1-2 Tyrrell is three-quarters of a mile north of the opener, and spotted 1,980 feet from the south and east lines of section 3-115, GC&SF survey.

Active Rig Total Up

MIDLAND — Showing an increase of five, the Friday survey of active rotary drilling rigs in the Permian Basin Empire conducted by Reed Roller Bit Co. listed 204 working units as compared with 199 a week earlier.

However, the total on the latest survey was four below the 208 operating rigs counted in the two-state regional on the fourth Friday of November last year.

Despite a drop of two from 34 to 32, Lea County, N. M., continued to head the list. Pecos County, reported 21 working rotaries on each of the two last tabulations, held second, while Yoakum County, registering a gain of five, up from nine to 14, moved into third position.

The county-by-county survey, with previous week's totals in parenthesis, includes:

- Andrews 11 (9), BORDEN 2 (2), Chavez 6 (4), Cochran 2 (2), Concho 0 (1), Crane 8 (9), Crockett 7 (5), Culberson 1 (1), DAWSON 4 (4);
- Ector 7 (7), Eddy 5 (5), Fisher 3 (2), Floyd 1 (1), Gaines 7 (8), GLASSCOCK 0 (1), Hale 2 (1), Hockley 1 (2);
- HOWARD 2 (1), Kent 3 (4), Lamb 1 (1), Lea 32 (34), Loving 1 (2), MARTIN 1 (0), Menard 1 (0), Midland 1 (1);
- MITCHELL 1 (1), Nolan 1 (0), Pecos 21 (21), Presidio 1 (1), Reagan 0 (1), Reeves 6 (5), Roosevelt 3 (5), Runnels 6 (2), Schleicher 2 (1);
- Scurry 1 (3), STERLING 2 (1), Stonewall 4 (4), Sutton 2 (2), Terrell 1 (0), Terry 2 (2), Tom Green 2 (1), Upton 7 (10);
- Ward 8 (7), Winkler 11 (13), Yoakum 14 (9). Totals 204 (199).

Lease Acreage Drops As Production Leases Rise

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON (AP) — Domestic oilmen, large and small, continue to abandon large tracts of land leased for exploratory and development operations.

Only 360 million productive and non-productive acres were under lease in 33 states at the end of 1963, compared to a record 424 million at the end of 1959.

Another decline is indicated this year. There is a brighter side, however, despite the prospects for total lease acreage dropping in 1964 for a fifth consecutive year.

Productive properties increased from 25 million acres in 1959 to more than 29 million at the end of 1963 as non-productive leases declined from 399 million acres to 331 million.

Well completions meanwhile were dropping from 50,941 to 43,653 last year. Another decline—the seventh in eight years—is expected this year. Mid-November completions trailed a year-ago totals by about 1,100 wells.

The well completion declines date back to a world surplus of oil that began to pinch the domestic industry just before the Suez Canal crisis of late 1956 and early 1957.

All the blame, however, cannot be charged against surplus oil. The domestic industry, after operating at a record level while rushing oil to Western Europe during the Suez emergency, experienced a recession of its own in 1958.

Belt tightening measures prompted by this recession included tougher leasing and drilling policies and programs. The belt tightening taught many operators they had been drilling more wells than were necessary to operate a lease efficiently.

Operator acidized with 5,000 gallons. Pure is also drilling a one and three-quarter-mile offset to the opener, the No. 1 Roxie Neal, 11 miles northwest of Fort Stockton and 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 4-142, T&SL survey.

PECOS COUNTY

Superior Hits Gas Discovery

The Superior Oil Co. has an Ellenburger dry gas discovery in prospect at No. 1-A Blackstone-Slaughter, Pecos County wildcat, 32 miles southeast of Fort Stockton.

A four hour, 28 minute drill-stem test was run in the Ellenburger at 14,129-425 feet. A 5,000-foot water blanket was used. Gas surfaced in 30 minutes and the water blanket started flowing out in 45 minutes.

Drilling mud came to the top in two hours, 18 minutes. That was followed by a gas flow for the remainder of the period which was at the daily rate of two million cubic feet, on a 3/4-inch surface choke. Accompanying the gas was a trace of mud and of the water blanket. Surface flowing pressure was 590 pounds.

An unestimated quantity of gas-cut mud was reversed out. Initial shut-in bottomhole pressure in one hour was 6,658 pounds, flowing pressure was from 2,499 to 1,880 pounds. Final shut-in pressure, after 12 hours, was 1,688 pounds.

The prospector, originally started under a 17,000-foot Ellenburger contract, is drilling below 14,460 feet. It is 4 1/2 miles southeast of the Puckett area which has Pennsylvania, Devonian and Ellenburger gas production. The location is 2,030 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 5, block 129, T&SL survey.

Guy Elliott Is New Firm Manager

ODESSA—Guy Elliott, veteran Odessa oilfield hauling executive, has been named general manager of J. H. Marks Trucking Co., according to Dick Gillham, president. Elliott has been manager of McAllister Trucking Co., Odessa, since 1946.

Marks Trucking made news earlier this year by announcing an employee incentive program called "Operation Ownership," in which several driver employees have completed the purchase of operating equipment.

A steady trend toward wider spacing of wells has been developing since 1958.

Lease acreage increased between 1959 and the end of 1963 in only nine states—Arizona, Arkansas, Maryland, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. There was little change in California, Illinois, Indiana, South Dakota and Virginia.

The 1964 edition of statistical data on the 33 oil states as compiled by the Independent Petroleum Association of America lists 16 states as having at least 20 per cent of their total acreage under lease last Dec. 31.

With one exception, the 16 states were those falling in the same category at the end of 1959. Ohio not only replaced Alabama among the top 16 but took over first place.

Only 17 per cent of Ohio's total acreage was under lease in 1959 but a boom still under way boosted the figure to 53 per cent by the end of 1963. Alabama figures meanwhile dropped from 21 to 9 per cent.

Ohio's proved productive acreage last Dec. 31 was estimated at two million acres, compared to 773,000 a year earlier. As indication of the continued boom, the Oil & Gas Journal this week estimated Ohio's 1964 well completions at 2,211, compared to 938 in the same period last year.

Four states—North Dakota, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming—shared the top spot in 1959 with 47 per cent of their total acreage under lease.

Following Ohio at the end of 1963 were West Virginia with 47 per cent, Wyoming 45 per cent and North Dakota 44 per cent. Oklahoma meanwhile dropped to fifth place with 43 per cent and Texas dropped to ninth place with 37 per cent.

Atlantic To Drill Arctic Circle No. 2

CALGARY, Alta.—The Atlantic Refining Co. has spudded its second Glacier Block exploratory well just north of the Arctic Circle in the Northwest Territories, some 1,500 air miles north of here, Fred A. Hildenbrand, manager of Atlantic's Canadian region, announced. The well is approximately 40 miles east-northeast from Arctic Circle No. 1, drilling during the 1963-64 winter.

Arctic Circle No. 2, about 125 miles northwest of the Norman Wells producing field, is in the northeast portion of the more than 4-million-acre block held three-fourths by Atlantic and one-fourth by Columbian Carbon Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Cities Service Co.

At the drilling site, a completely equipped camp will house the drilling crews and provide kitchen, washroom and recreational facilities. Radio provides direct voice communications with Atlantic's regional production office at Edmonton, Alta. A standby twin-engine aircraft, operating from a winter airstrip, provides emergency access to and from the location, plus affording routine transportation of men and supplies.

Processing School Set

The NGPA South Louisiana regional meeting, scheduled for Feb. 19, 1965, in Lafayette, La., has been cancelled. Instead, a two day school for the gas processing industry, sponsored jointly by the Petroleum Engineering Department of the University of Southwestern Louisiana and the South Louisiana Chapter of the Natural Gas Processors Association, will be held Feb. 18-19. It is entitled "Gulf Coast School of Gas Processing and Transmission" and will be held on the U.S.L. campus in Lafayette, La.

The purpose of this school is to provide technical instruction in operational and engineering subjects whereby men in the industry can keep abreast of the latest developments and problems encountered in gas processing and gas transmission.

Well Depth, Tract Sizes To Gauge '65 Allowables

October production of crude oil in Texas was up one per cent from September after adjustment for seasonal variation, the Texas Business Review (University of Texas) reports.

At 94.1 per cent of 1957-59, the index was one per cent below October, 1963. This index rose from 94.1 of 1957-59 in January to 97.3 per cent in May. It held at 97.3 per cent during June and July, but since July it has averaged 94.6. Thus Texas production is easing off from the higher levels established earlier in the year.

During the first three quarters of this year, Texas produced 744.2 million barrels of crude oil, up 2.4 per cent from the comparable 1963 period. The table shows a comparison of Texas production with four other leading producing states and the national total. This table shows that the gain in production in Texas of 2.4 per cent was larger than the national gain of 2.1 per cent. It suggests that any easing off in Texas production was due to a slowing in domestic production reinforced by a slight gain in position by Louisiana.

Examination of cumulative production data for the first eight months shows Louisiana production up 7.0 per cent. Addition of September production brings the Louisiana gain up to 7.2 per cent. The national gain for the first eight months' cumulative production was 2.2 per cent. The national gain for the first eight months' cumulative production was 2.2 per cent. The Texas gain was 2.6 per cent. On a nine-month comparison, Louisiana has continued to move ahead faster than Texas or total domestic production.

The Texas Railroad Commission has announced a new yardstick for setting allowables for oil fields discovered after Jan. 1, 1965. Each well will have an allowable based upon well depth and the size of the drilling tract. Larger allowables will be given to deeper wells. Larger drilling tracts will also receive larger allowables. This relates the allowable to the cost of drilling a well and to the reserves presumed to be beneath the tract drilled upon. It is more generous to large tracts and deep wells than the old 1947 formula. Seasonally adjusted crude oil runs to stills rose 3 per cent in October. At 115.9 per cent of

State	January-September 1964 Production (000 Barrels)	Percentage Change
California	222,853	-1.1
Louisiana	418,797	+7.2
Oklahoma	152,920	+1.7
Texas	744,176	+2.4
Wyoming	109,910	+0.7
United States	2,103,651	+2.1

1957-59 average monthly runs the index was at the same level as in October 1963. During the first ten months of 1964, the index of crude runs to stills averaged 114.9 per cent of 1957-59, up 3.7 per cent from 1957-59. The index reached an all-time high of 120.6 per cent in July.

Since that time runs have been reduced because high inventories of refined petroleum products were undermining prices. In early September wholesale prices of gasolines were at a 15-year low. Since that time, reduced runs have brought about some recovery of wholesale prices. Demand for gasoline was somewhat higher in September. Demand for heating oils has lagged.

Nationally, imports of all oils during the first nine months of the year averaged 2,251,000 barrels a day, up 5.3 per cent from the first nine months of 1963. Of this total, 1,048,000 barrels a day were imports of refined products. This was an increase of 7.3 per cent over the first nine months of 1963. Imports of crude oil during the first nine months of the year averaged 1,262,000 barrels a day, up 3.7 per cent from the first nine months of 1963. Imports of crude in the area east of California averaged 813,000 barrels a day, 2.1 per cent over the like 1963 period.

These data suggest that a large part of the rise in imports of crude oil was due to increased imports into California. A pipeline from Texas to California could carry surplus Texas oil to California to ease shortages there. In a national emergency such a pipeline would be essential. It would have to be built on an accelerated time schedule at great cost.

W. G. BILLINGS

W. G. Billings celebrated his fifteenth anniversary with Cosden last October 12. Well he knows how the refining complex has expanded during that period because driving a winch truck at the plant is his job. He is also a relief crane operator.

Although he has lived in Howard County, Texas, since he was three years old, when his family moved to Knott, he was born in another Howard County — in Arkansas. Billings got his schooling at Knott and in the Brown Community.

He served in the Aviation Engineers for three years and eight months as a diesel mechanic. Before moving into Normandy and up through France, Belgium and Germany to earn four battle stars, he had been stationed for a year in Braintree, Essex, England. There he fell in love with a local lass, Elsie Maywood. They were married in 1945 after the war, and she followed him to the States.

The couple makes a home at 1012 Bluebonnet for their two youngsters. Roy George, soon to be 18, is a senior. At 13, Patricia Ellen is an eighth grader at Runnels Junior High, and a cheerleader.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Billings enjoy fishing at Lake J. B. Thomas. They also bowl on a couple's team on Saturday nights. They are members of Wesley Methodist Church.

DON'T YOU READ BEFORE YOU BUY?

And don't you sometimes re-read, study, compare, figure, clip, save, and show to friends? When you're on the brink of buying, aren't you hungry for facts, features, dimensions, styles, colors, capacities, prices?

Print advertising puts people who are close to a purchase close to the kind of information they demand. Newspapers, magazines and brochures let them linger with your message for as long as they like.

Print imparts important details, allows for colorful presentations, makes lasting impressions, takes people straight to the point-of-purchase. If you've something to sell, it will pay you to promote it reg-

Infectious Melody, Social Lyric Mark New Sound

By MARY CAMPBELL AP Newswriters Writer

Anyone who thinks all rock 'n' roll sounds alike should try listening to the two top rock groups in the United States — the Four Seasons, who live on the East Coast, and the Beach Boys, who live in Southern California and are leading singers of the West Coast sound. The Four Seasons feature a martial beat and emphasize the high, falsetto-sounding voice of their lead singer. West Coast rock often deals with surfboards and cars; its sound has been described as "outdoorsey" to go along with its subject matter.

Brian Wilson, who does the arrangements for the Beach Boys, says his group's sound emphasizes "an uptempo beat, as pioneered by Chuck Berry, a very clean but strong beat, melodically simple but an infectious melody, a social lyric and I think the key to our versatility is harmonic variation." Brian says the Beach Boys have more than usually intricate harmonic arrangements for the five voices and drums, three guitars and sax.

5-PART HARMONY Mike Love, lead singer, who plays sax, says, "We can sing five-part harmony to straight ballads. If an audience is ready for it, we'll sing 'Graduation Day' or 'In My Room.' If we're in front of a bunch of screaming kids, we'd never do it."

"Mostly in our songs, instead of trying to create social situations, we try to be in the know about the social situation of the kids. We're not out looking for fads and we don't want people to associate us too much with crazes. Our new single, 'Dance, Dance, Dance,' is designed to show that dancing is fun and the beat is really a teen thing, you know."

The Beach Boys often are credited with starting surfing music, and Brian Wilson says,

"There had been a few surfing songs recorded, but we essentially got the ball rolling."

FAMILY GROUP The entire Wilson family, Brian, now 22, Dennis, 19, and Carl, 17; their first cousin, Mike Love, 23; and Al Jardine, 22, who had been a classmate of Brian's at Hawthorne (Calif.) High School; got together at Christmas time 1961 and made a record, "Surfin'," for a small label.

The Wilson brothers' father took that song and others written by Brian to Capitol Records, who immediately signed the group. The first Capitol record, in 1962, was "Surfin' Safari," backed by "409," a song about a hot rod. "Most people aren't aware of it, but there hasn't been any transition in — the back side of our first record was about a car, you know. The reason they say transition is because the most advertising was about surfing at the outset. We have areas where the car records have always been the most popular."

MOST POPULAR The group's most popular record of 1964 has been "I Get Around," which sold a million copies. They sing four of their hits on the new electronic movie made during a rock 'n' roll show at the Santa Monica Auditorium.

They make many personal appearances and recently made their first extensive tour of the East Coast. During a show at the National Guard Armory in West Orange, N. J., the audience of young girls was nearly as frenzied as a Beatles audience. Dennis, shaking his long hair while drumming, was clearly the favorite.

After a show, the Beach Boys run out a backstage door through a path cleared by policemen and take off in waiting limousines while policemen at front doors delay the exit of the audience.

Brian says, "It is very dangerous. Somebody can get hurt. They try to get hold of our clothes and hair and rip them. It is pretty wild."

Carl says, "They've been taught their behavior at Beatles shows. I think. They know they're supposed to get up on the stage and kill you."

WATCH THE EYES "In Alexandria, Va., which was really a show and a half, you couldn't see the floor for the candy."

Al adds, "You're always trying to protect your eyes. You get the candy right in the face." And all recall the show in Honolulu, where Mike, singing "Monster Mash," stepped out from the stage onto the top of a grand piano in the orchestra pit. Some 40 girls jumped up, leaned over the railing in front of the front row of seats, and fell into the pit, on top of Ken Veeder, Capitol Records photographer who was shooting pictures of the show.

"I know there were at least 40," Veeder says. "I was picking up girls, afraid they were hurt. Only one was."

Newest album is "The Beach Boys' Christmas Album" (which is backed with an excellent photo of them) including carols, standard Christmas ballads and novelty songs.

Dennis says, "Some of the things were really hard to do, but I felt like I'd just made a million dollars when I heard 'Blue Christmas.'"

"ADULT" APPROACH As for the "adult" approach on that song and "We Three Kings of Orient Are," Brian says, "We don't expect to do many of these, but we thought it would be a special Christmas album."

"We intend to remain in a commercial format, whatever it might be in the future. The Four Freshmen are the greatest as far as I'm concerned, but they are not considered commercial singers. We can use a smattering of that style for versatility, but we don't want to go in that direction at all. We'll stick to our regular approach and just expand wherever the trends move and whatever happens socially."

Country Singer's Life Story Told In New Film

The story of Hank Williams, country singer-composer, is unfolded in "Your Cheatin' Heart," a Ritz feature starting today. It is a drama, alternating between joy and tragedy, and highlighted by many of the ballads, religious songs and country music which Williams sang across the country and which made him one of the most beloved entertainers of his day.

George Hamilton portrays Williams in the film. Susan Oliver enacts Audrey, the girl he met while he was performing in a traveling medicine show and whom he married soon after. At the time he was so broke, he had to substitute an iron washer for a wedding ring. Red Buttons is seen as Shorty Younger, the trapper who became Hank's life-long friend and who tried desperately to rehabilitate him when success robbed him of his touch with the common folk and he turned to drink. Arthur O'Connell has the role of Fred Rose, the successful music publisher, who gave Williams his first break.

Born into humble circumstances, Hank Williams learned basic country-music chords from a Negro street singer and parlayed his otherwise untutored talent into a major success. Before his untimely death in 1953, at the age of 29, he had written more than 500 songs, sold millions of records and was an international favorite.

Williams was an Alabama lad who started early on his musical career. When only twelve, he won an amateur contest and a radio job. At fourteen, he had his own band which played for dances all over the state. His success kept building until he was signed for the Grand Ole Opry in 1949.

Even in his lifetime he was a legend. His personal appearances were consistently SRO. Few singers have had his gift for touching the hearts of the people. His songs, whether ballads, novelties or religious compositions, were always received with great enthusiasm. The remunerations his career

Comanches Deserve Title As West's Toughest Indians

By Robert S. Weddle (University of Texas Press $5)

There seems to be some current thinking in the nation that the Apaches were the toughest and roughest of all the Indians. But if you have an ounce of Texas chauvinism you must support the claim of the Comanches to that title.

The Comanches are sorta Texas' own, and Texans might be sending their taxes to Madrid or Mexico City if it hadn't been for them.

The story of how the Comanches stopped the Spaniards cold in their march to control Central Texas is told in "The San Saba Mission," published by the University of Texas Press and written by Robert S. Weddle, owner and publisher of the Menard News.

The Spaniards, hoping to Christianize and pacify the Apaches, established a mission town and fort at San Saba more than two centuries ago.

But the Apaches, running around all over the country, were not about to be pacified or become mission Indians. Actually, the Apaches were being squeezed between the Spaniards and the Comanches and tried to use the Spaniards for their own purposes.

The Comanches paid little attention to either the Apaches or the Spaniards except to kill them.

At this point, the Spanish decided to really invade Comanche territory and teach them a first-class lesson.

The Comanches already had learned their lesson. And profiting from it, they acquired firearms, learned to use them and adopted some of the better features of European military warfare with the French their eager teachers.

And the Comanches demonstrated what terrible soldiers the Spanish were. The troops of Spain had conquered vast areas of North and South America as long as they faced only arrows and spears. When they collided with fighters who could shoot back with something more than wood and flint, they collapsed.

The expedition did win a skirmish about where Dallas now stands, but then ran into the main force of Comanches and their allies on the Red River. The result was a rout for the half-trained, out-manned and out-maneuvered Europeans.

The Spaniards retreated back to San Saba and some of them kept going beyond that. The mission and fort faded away two centuries ago, leaving San Antonio the only secure spot in that region.

The Comanches roamed Texas, free and presumably reasonably happy, for generations after that.

The Indians can't take all the credit for the Spaniards' failure. The church and the military leaders argued on any topic that came up, and indecision stretching from San Saba clear back to Madrid had a part.

Author Weddle has some fine dramatic stories of battles, and has pointed up well the significance of the San Saba installations.

The story starts a little slow. Pass over the first few chapters and you reach the real yarn.
