Ready For Santa

The seven Schaefer orphans pose with a plastic Santa Claus in their Levittown, Pa., home where they are waiting for Christmas with the anticipation that only children know. The girls have been orphans since June, 1961, when their father, George Schaefer, was killed in an auto accident three months after their mother died following birth of the voungest child, Georgette, 3. Youngsters now live with their grandmother, Mrs. Kate Schaefer, and an aunt, Elizabeth Schaefer. They are (clockwise, from left) Georgette, 3; Barbara, 10; Marie, 8; Linda, 11; Eleanor, 12; Janice, 7; and Pamela, 5. (AP WIRE-PHOTO) to any foreign worker imported for crop-picking jobs in 28 states, the Labor Department savs. Secretary of Labor Willard

Wirtz, announcing the new wage rates and working conditions added, however, that he does not anticipate any large use of foreign workers as a result.

"To the contrary," he said late Saturday, "it is expected that such use will be very greatly reduced and hopefully eliminated."

MOST CASES

In most cases the new rates will be higher than those now paid foreign farm workers. The rates will vary from state to state and must be offered to domestic workers before a grower will be permitted to bring in foreign labor.

The action is supposed to help growers fill the gap to be left by expiration this month of the program under which 200,000 Mexican nationals have been brought into the country each year for farm work.

Another program permits importation of workers if there is a labor shortage and the Labor Department states there would be no adverse effect on U.S. wages. Wirtz acted under this program

CLASS AIDS CHEER FUND

If you want to have a part in bringing Christmas happiness to the poorer children of the city, you'll have to send along your gift to the Christmas Cheer Fund right away. There are just a few more days, as the Fund will close out Thursday.

More help is needed to finance toy repair and to make available food and medicine for the destitute. Your own Christmas will be brighter if you remember those in need.

A $15 gift from the Workers' Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church helped the Fund along to day. There were also gifts of $5 each from CWO and Mrs. Rupert D. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. ## A Devotional For The Day

Mary kept all these sayings, pondering them in her heart. (Luke 2:19, ASV)

PRAYER: Eternal Father, we thank Thee for the gift of Thine only begotten Son, who is Immanuel, God with us. We pray that Christ may be born anew in our hearts. Help us to keep the treasures of Christmas in our hearts and to share them with others. In Jesus' blessed name. Amen.

Clear Policy Needed

The Water Pollution Act of 1963 be permitted to pollute the priceless represented legislative recognition of two things: (1) The Texas Railroad Commission either lacked jurisdiction or had failed to exercise that jurisdiction in controlling the disposal of oil field brine and other wastes, (2) the control of waste disposals to prevent pollution of water supplies was essential to the public interest.

The act created the Texas Water Pollution Control Board. In the exercise of jurisdiction given the board under the act, an order was issued forbidding disposal of salt water and other wastes in unlined pits in several Northwest Texas counties overlying the prolific Ogallala underground water formation. Oil operators contested the order. Last month District Judge Herman Jones, sitting in Austin, ruled that the Texas Railroad Commission has exclusive jurisdiction over what oil and gas operators do with waste material produced by their wells.

The decision will be appealed, but an intolerable hiatus may exist for several months, if not years, if a remedy is not promptly applied.

No individual and no company can water resources of the state. The Ogallala formation is an indispensable source of municipal and irrigation water in the High Plains. Even a threat of pollution of that formation should bring prompt action.

If, as Judge Jones has ruled, the Texas Railroad Commission has sole jurisdiction, then it should act promptly. An order similar to that issued by the control board would be sufficient to abate the threat immediately. Operators, if they wish, may contest that order in court. But in the meantime the situation will be under control and any threat of pollution removed until the courts issue a final judgment in the case.

The 59th Legislature undoubtedly will be asked to establish clearly and definitely the line of jurisdiction between the control board and the railroad commission. But there must be no lack of control of a nuisance, or prevention of the potentially tragic consequences of pollution of the Ogallala and other water formations, in the interim.

Dubious Precedent

Defeated Sen Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., has resigned effective Dec. 31. And Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown has agreed to appoint Republican Senator-elect George Murphy to the term that will expire Jan. 3.

This move has been described by Brown as "a generous act" and by Murphy as a "kind gesture." The effect will be to give Murphy seniority over other freshmen senators elected Nov. 3 but not taking office until the new term officially begins Jan. 4. Any, fellow freshmen thus outranked, especially in the all-important matter of committee assignments, may describe the unusual Salinger-to-Brown-to-Murphy play otherwise.

Salinger himself indicated that his decision was for California's, not Murphy's or the Republicans', sake. His idea is that California thus will have a little stronger representation in Congress than it otherwise would. Considering the way the election went nationally, California may not gain much this time, but Salinger's and Brown's action could prove a dubious precedent.

If this idea should take hold between opposition parties in the states generally, it is not difficult to envision a race after election day in resignations and appointments of both representatives and senators to gain seniority advantages for state congressional delegations. That would hardly be a seemly development either for orderly government or competitive partisan politics and would probably force a seniority rule change.

Billy Graham

If sexual intercourse and other sexual experiences are the highest and most sacred expressions of love, what does it matter if those indulging in such are not mar-ried? What difference can a few words spoken by a robed man make? W. W.

Who said that sexual experience is the highest expression of love? The Bible doesn't say it. Our social ethics, which are very often reflections of Biblical teaching, do not say it. The church does not say it. The law does not say it. It seems that you, and a few other playboys, stand alone in proclaiming it.

The Bible clearly distinguishes between love and lust. Promiscuous sex liberty is sin - against the law of God, against children yet unborn, and against the ethics of a civilized society - not to mention the laws of health:

The fidelity and unifying purpose engendered by two people being really in love is one of the most inspiring and enduring relationships known to man. It is fitting that such a relationship receive the blessing of God and the church. To leave God out, as the silent partner in such a relationship, is to go against the teaching of scripture and the highest experience of man Our Lord said, regarding the marriage relationship: "What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder."

for the coattail ride into office would be well received. Not only would Mr. Johnson like to be given credit for the pulling-power of his campaign methods and his great popular victory, but he would like to have an acknowledgment that some obligation was attached. In short - so went the implication - any member of Congress who owed his election to Mr. Johnson should keep that fact in mind

WHAT WE have here, I think, is no more than a captured sampling of the atmosphere into which the Great Society is soon to be born. It doesn't matter very much whether the briefing to the new Congressman was given under instructions or whether it was given by instinct. In either case, the sampling more than suggests what many of us here believe - that the Great Society is going to be far more authoritarian than anything we had under the New Frontier, the Eisenhower Era or the Fair Deal.

AT THE VERY time the incoming Democrats of the class of '64 were paying their respects at the White House, another power rumble was detected on the local seismographs. Our National Press Club election of the club president is traditionally no more than an endorsement of the incumbent vice president who has worked his way up through minor offices.

Well, this year Clark Mollenhoff. who writes with extraordinary knowledge and independence for the Des Moines Register-Tribune and other Cowles Publications, was the heir apparent to our "escalator" system. Then, out of nowhere, came a challenge from Bill Blair of the New York Times, a good man but an interloper.

BLAIR CLAIMED to be a reformer who opposed the escalator system and who had no other purpose. But only a deaf-mute could walk through our clubrooms during the past fortnight without becoming informed that the Blair candidacy was somehow related to forces in favor at the White House. When the votes were counted on the night of December 11th, Bill Blair had won, and the repercussions of the challenge have become part of the atmosphere into which the Great Society emerges.

JUSTICE HARLAN, the fourth dissenter, declared that the majority, in setting aside the convictions for offenses which had occurred before the civil rights act had passed, was relying on "the federal doctrine of criminal abatement." He said: "The supremacy clause cannot

Who Needs To Look At The Cards?

Richard Starnes

WASHINGTON-Whist was succeeded (but not until a determined counteroffensive had been mounted by whist players) by bridge whist, which was followed by just ordinary bridge (sometimes called Russian whist) and,

Finally contract bridge arrived and most bridge players believed they had witnessed the ultimate refinement in card games. They had not, however, as we shall see.

THE PROBLEM with contract is that it is too susceptible to effect corruption through a multiplicity of bidding systems. Even ordinary dogmeat bridge players can no longer hope to prevail in neighborhood play unless they undertake to learn systems as artificial as the snow on a Miami Beach ski run.

Men who are foot enough to play bridge with women have another hazard to overcome, which is the Doppler system. The Doppler Principle, if all will hark back to Physics I, is observed, for example, when a moving locomotive sounds a long whistle blast. If the locomotive is moving toward the listener, the sound seems to be ascending in pitch; if moving away, descending.

WOMEN BRIDGE players who understand this system are deadly opponents, for they can wring more subtle meaning out of a bid than Sam Perkins himself could.

Anyway, whatever the bidding system, the sly signals contained in bids that apparently mean something else have ruined the game for forthright lads whose memory isn't up to storing away a dozen or so arcane sys-

Basically, Psychic Bridge is played exactly like ordinary rubber bridge, with one important exception. No player may look at his hand until the auction is completed. That is to say, one bids his hand without once looking at it. If one's vibrations are in tune, he and his partner will arrive at a tenable contract. If not, they will get into some ghastly contract that has no prayer of success. The game has not been played enough to dogmatize about it, but so far a remarkable number of workable contracts have been reached.

PSYCHIC BRIDGE brings with it a number of problems in the play, to say nothing of the agonies of trying to bid a hand that has been "seen" only with the fingertips. Bidding is of no value in the play of the hand-or is it? What does partner's double really mean-a strong defensive holding, or just recklessness born of strong drink? Will ESP replace Goren, or will the ancient science of card-marking enjoy a comeback?

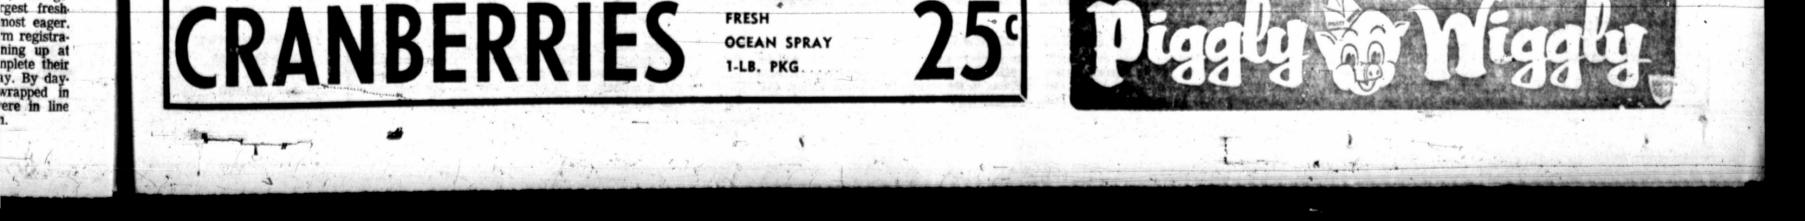

There will be, beyond question, a sharp reaction from the more intractable of the contract players, just as the whist players did their best to laugh bridge into the ground. But progress has an immutable quality abcut it. Psychic Bridge brings into play occult arts that the more primitive forms of the game scarcely dreamed of. HIDDEN CASES They say that while the increases in reported cases of both syphilis and gonorrhea are startling enough, the actual number — including hidden, unreported cases — is probably vastly higher.

Here are some of the figures: 1. Reported cases of "primary and secondary" syphilis — the infectious types — rose from a low of 6,251 in 1957 to 22,733 in the year ending June 30, 1964. But the true figure may be close to 200,000.

And this does not include cases of latent or tertiary syphilis — the long-lasting form that develops from the first two. It's dangerous to the person who has it, but is not infectious except through childbirth. A baby may be infected with congenital syphilis by a mother with latentsyphilis. In 1963 there were more than 100,000 reported cases of latent syphilis. 2. Reported cases of gonorrhea rose from 216,476 in 1957 to 290,603 in 1964. But the true figure, including undiagnosed and unreported cases may be well over one million. 3. Reported congenital syphil- is cases among children under 10 years of age rose from 212 cases in 1960 to 461 in 1963 — an increase of 117 per cent. 4. As for teen-agers, reported cases of new syphilis in persons under 20 increased more than 200 per cent between 1956 and 1963. In numbers, the increase was from 1,179 cases to 3,711. LARGE CITIES

Dr. William J. Brown, chief of the V.D. branch of the health service's Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta, made the statement on syphilis epidemics. He said they "are raging at this very moment in 25 or 30 of our largest metropolitan centers."

And he said syphilis is occurring in the nation at a rate of more than 10,000 new cases every month.

the High National Council and arrested most of its nine members, plus more than 20 other leading politicians.

U.S. military and diplomatic officers made no official statement on the crisis - the country's sixth government upheaval in less than 14 months - but American displeasure was evident

"NOT CALLED FOR"

"This power play did not seem called for," said one U.S. official, "and basically we have to regard these generals as rebels against the duly constituted government."

Premier Tran Van Huong and Chief of State Phan Khac Suu were still nominally in power. In a broadcast proclamation, the junta of young generals declared confidence in and support for both men.

U.S. officials said the latest assertion of over-all authority by the military badly damaged the civilian government's position.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, commander of the 1st Army Corps, is the dominant member of the junta. He escaped to Cambodia in 1960 after failing in an attempt to overthrow the Ngo Dinh Diem government. Since Diem's death he has risen rapidly in the Vietnamese army.

Acting with him in Sunday's pre-dawn, bloodless purge were Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, air force commander; Brig. Gen. Le Nguyen Khang, Marine Corps commander, and Brig. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, 4th Corps commander.

SHIPPED OFF

About 70 staff officers who had been assigned to the chief of state's office were shipped off under guard to the mountains north of Saigon. All had been on the staff of the former chief of state, Lt. Gen. Duong Van Minh. and had been left at the disposal of his successor. The military's rapid move caught leaders of the Buddhists' antigovernment campaign by surprise. Their weekend of hunger striking and demonstrating was cut short and Buddhist followers were told: "For the time being just pray and go home.' Pressure from the Buddhists appeared to have been lifted, at least temporarily. Several of the politicians under arrest had been targets of the Buddhists. but several persons who had

Dock Strike Threat Eases

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) Renewed threats of a dock strike from Maine to Texas eased but did not entirely abate today as contract talks continued and most longshoremen stayed on the job. Nearly 190 members of the International Longshoremen's Association walked out in New York harbor Sunday night. An ILA official said it was a wildcat strike.

Negotiators for shippers and the Gulf and South Atlantic District of the ILA indicated they would keep on trying to work out a contract agreement here. Longshoremen will continue working on a day to day basis, District President Ralph A. Massey said, while negotiations are in progress.

Massey said the union could order dock workers to leave their jobs at any time and there remained a strong possibility of a strike which would paralyze shipping on the Gulf Coast and the Eastern Seaboard.

An 8 p.m. deadline for a West Gulf strike passed before Massey emerged from a bargaining session to make his announcement.

IN NEW YORK

In New York, pickets appeared at a Grace Lines pier and a state waterfront commission spokesman blamed a contract dispute between ILA Local 791, oldest in the port, and ship owners. Workmen stayed on the job at a pier in Brooklyn, the only other one operating Sunday night.

Anthony Scotto, an ILA international vice president in New York, branded the walkout "a wildcat strike in defiance of the international's instructions." In Boston, New England ILA vice President John F. Moran said the stoppage was unauthorized. ILA leaders and the New York Shippers Association agreed on a new contract last week. Their pact normally sets he pattern for other districts.

Three Musical Gals Run Strong

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - The Oscar race is off and running to a musical lilt this year.

December marks the end of the nominations and the beginning of the heavy campaigning. All Oscar contenders must appear in a Los Angeles theater for at least a week before Dec. 31, and the Christmas season sees a number of hopefuls playing brief dates to qualify. They are bolstered by prestige-seeking ads which inform academy voters they can show their membership cards to gain free admittance

This year most of the impor tant contenders have appeared before Christmas and an unusual number are musical. Why is this unusual? Because heavy dramas usually draw the acad emy's favor.

AUDREY HEPBURN

At this point in the race, "My Fair Lady" seems the fairest of all the hopefuls. Its virtually unanimous praise makes it the film to beat in all departments Two other musicals may well be in contention for best picture award: "Mary Poppins" and The Unsinkable Molly Brown' cored high as crowd-pleasers. It wasn't a top year for dramas, but two which look promising are "Night of the Iguana" and "Becket," both starring Richard Burton. "Dr. Strangelove," in a class by itself, is another strong entry. Other possibilities: "Seven

Miss Linda Hickson Weds Lt. Howard A. Long Saturday

Miss Linda Carol Hickson and Lt. Howard Arthur Long exchanged wedding vows Sunday at 2 p.m. in a ceremony held at the First Church of God. The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor, officiated.

The pledges were spoken before an altar graced with baskets of poinsettias flanked by branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Green palms completed the background as the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. F. P. Hickson, 107 E. 17th. and the late Mr. Hickson. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Long, 203 Jefferson, Savanna, Ill.

The vocalist, Miss Lynn Breyer of Odessa, sang "God Gave Me You," "I Love Thee," by Grieg, and "O Perfect Love" as the couple knelt in prayer. Mrs. Raymond Stevenson, organist, played "Clair de Lune," "At Dawning," "Liebestraum," the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus and the wedding march.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert E. Hickson, the bride chose a formal gown with sheath silhouette, fashioned from corded Alencon lace and featuring a scalloped portrait neckline and brief sleeves. A fitted cummerbund topped the overskirt of silk alpaca, the hemline scalloped, which swept into a chapel train. The shoulder-length veil of tulle was attached to a crown of pearls and crystals which was borrowed from Mrs. James Heath of Garland, niece of the bride. Formal white gloves and a single strand of pearls completed her costume. Placed in the white Bible she carried was a linen and lace handkerchief, and she used a blue friendship garter, birth date pennies in her shoe and her mother's wedding band. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids and Frenched carnations tied with satin ribbon streamers

Christmas Ball Heid At Cosden

Members of the Wednesday Dance Club capped the holiday social season with a festive ball Saturday evening at the Cosden Country Club. Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gossett, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Lurting and Col. and Mrs. Edwin White. Garlands of gold ropes and stars were draped throughout the ball room and individual parties gathered at tables centered with conical glittering Christmas trees.

At the buffet table branched candelabra adorned with holly formed accents for a massive arrangement of red and white carnations and greenery. The table was covered in a white net cloth featuring ruffles of net on the floor length skirt.

Seen dancing to the music of Sammy Incardino of Dallas were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tollett, elegant in black. Her, severely simple sheath featured a scooped neckline. Among those joining their party were the Joe Mosses. She shimmered in a long black slim frock accented with sequins and the formal style prevalent this season. Mrs.
