County's Four New Officials

Lee Porter, county judge, left, administers oath of office to Simon Terrazas, county commissioner, Aubrey Standard, sheriff, Wayne Burns, district attorney, and Dee Jon Davis, county attorney.

New County Officials Take Offices Today

Howard County has a new sheriff, district attorney, county attorney and a new county commissioner today.

Its tax assessor, district court clerk, one of its county commissioners, a justice of the peace, and two constables start new terms of office.

Brief ceremonies in the county courtroom today inducted the new officials into office and officially started the others on new terms.

Lee Porter, county judge, administered the oath of office.

NO FANFARE

The ceremonies were without fanfare. The courthouse officially is closed for the New Year's holiday and the swearing-in exercises were the only activity at the building.

The newly elected officials are, for the most part, anything but strangers in the courthouse.

Wayne Burns, who becomes the district attorney of the 118th Judicial District effective today, has served as county attorney since November, 1958. He was elected at that time to serve out a two year unexpired term, and then re-elected in 1960 for a full year term.

Aubrey Standard, who is the new sheriff of Howard County, has been chief deputy on the staff of Miller Harris, sheriff, since 1963 and has been a deputy since 1960.

Dee Jon Davis, who becomes the new county attorney, is new to county politics but is no stranger at the courthouse. He is an attorney and has been engaged in the practice of law in Big Spring since September, 1962.

Simon Terrazas, who is now commissioner from County Commissioner Precinct No. 1, is a long time resident of the county but will be a new official in the courthouse. He succeeds Rufus Stallings to the post.

Joe Hayden, county commissioner, Precinct 3, is starting his second term. He was re-elected to his post.

SECOND TERM

Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, begins her second term in that office today. She was originally elected in 1960 and was re-elected last November.

Fern Cox, district court clerk, appointed to the office when Wade Choate, incumbent, resigned to become county auditor, took office first on Jan. 1, 1962. He ran for re-election last November for the second two years of Choate's unexpired term and was re-elected. He is beginning his third year in office today. Cox resigned from the sheriff's staff to accept his appointment as district court clerk.

Walter Grice, who is a true veteran of the courthouse, is starting a new term as justice of the peace, Precinct 1, Place 1. Grice formerly served as county judge.

Ed J. Carpenter, former county judge who is the county's representative in the state legislature, begins a second term in that post today.

The two constables elected at the last election are Lee Young and Freddie Paul Hartman.

The only official leaving the courthouse as a result of the change in officials is Guilford Jones, district attorney for the last 11 years. Jones has set up offices in the Permian Building where he will pursue the practice of law. A few weeks ago, Jones' private investigator, Bobby West, resigned to take a position with a law firm in town. Mrs. Donna Shelley, his secretary, will continue in his employ.

TRAVIS LONG

Burns has announced that his investigator will be Travis Long, who has resigned from the police department to take the post. Burns' secretary as county attorney will become his secretary in his new office. She is Mrs. Bob (Neida) Jones. She formerly worked for Gil Jones and is intimately familiar with the office routine, Burns said.

Sheriff Standard's staff will be almost identical with that of Miller Harris, his predecessor. Harris, himself, is now a deputy on Standard's staff. The appointment will continue until late spring when Harris plans to move to Colorado to make his home.

Standard said that his chief deputy will be Lindy Oldfield, a former police captain, who has been on Harris' staff for several months. Standard and Oldfield joined the city police department here almost at the same time 15 years ago. Both were captains at the time they left the police force.

Another former police captain, long an associate of Oldfield and Standard, is on the force as a field deputy. He has been serving as a deputy for Harris. He is Claude Morris, who resigned his police captaincy late last year. He has had eight years experience as a peace officer.

Standard said that A. G.

Davis has announced that he has appointed Mrs. Jammyle Achard, Coahoma, as his secretary in the county attorney's office. Mrs. Achard was formerly in the automobile tax office of Mrs. LeFevre. Her transfer to the county attorney's office leaves a vacancy Mrs. LeFevre will have to fill.

A spot check of other offices indicates no other changes in personnel at the courthouse is contemplated.

The only change in sheriff personnel will be the absence of Wes Patton, deputy sheriff. He will not continue on as a deputy.

The other staff members who are to continue in their posts are Mrs. Bernice Nail, office deputy and dispatcher; Mrs. Billie Barron and Mrs. Joann Blake, check department deputies, and Georgia Leach, jail cook.

SONNY BUZBEE

Standard said that the post of jailer, which has been temporarily vacant, will be filled by a former Harris' deputy, R. D. (Sonny) Buzbee. Buzbee resigned several months ago to take a job with a trucking company, but will resume his work with the sheriff's office today.

Buzbee will also serve as identification officer in addition to his jail duties, Standard said.

The other staff members who are to continue in their posts are Mrs. Bernice Nail, office deputy and dispatcher; Mrs. Billie Barron and Mrs. Joann Blake, check department deputies, and Georgia Leach, jail cook.

Some Comrades Have Egomania

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China predicted today it will score greater domestic and international achievements in 1965 but said they will have to come at the expense of egotism.

"We have some comrades among us who always consider themselves right and never imagine they can be wrong," the Peking People's Daily said.

The big effort to protect the troop-carrying helicopters ordered to Binh Gia followed the downing there of a U.S. helicopter with four Americans aboard. A marine battalion recovered the body of one crewman shot down Wednesday by Viet Cong fire.

America Challenged Anew By De Gaulle

Charges On Barnett May Be Trimmed

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two of four counts of criminal contempt pending against Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson and former Gov. Ross Barnett may be canceled.

The Justice Department asked the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday to dismiss the two counts. The move would make the case less complex, the department said.

The appeals court charged Johnson and Barnett with disobeying its orders against trying to stop the enrollment of a Negro student, James H. Meredith, at the University of Mississippi in 1962.

At that time, Barnett was governor, Johnson was lieutenant governor. Johnson's office in Jackson said there would be no comment.

Both defendants have the right to reply to the dismissal request if they so choose, the appeals court clerk said. No date has been set for the trial.

In Washington, acting Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the two counts of criminal contempt would greatly extend and complicate the trial without furthering the ends of justice.

Each of the four counts of criminal contempt charge will disregard and defiance of orders issued by the court.

Five Perish In Air Crash

PELHAM, Tenn. (AP) — Five persons died in the wreckage of a light plane found on an East Tennessee mountain Thursday.

The Highway Patrol identified the victims as Dr. and Mrs. Wayne Harrell, both 25, and their daughters, Ann, 2, and Lois, 1, and Mrs. Harrell's cousin, Billy Riley, 17. All were from Calvert City, Ky., but the Harrell family had been living in Rome, Ga., during Dr. Harrell's internship. They left Rome Wednesday to fly to Calvert City for a family reunion.

Officers said the plane crashed Wednesday night in fog that blanketed Pull Tipton Mountain three miles north of here. It was not known whether the weather was a factor in the crash.

Posthumous Award Given

MOSCOW (AP) — A test pilot who perished in his crippled jet to keep it from crashing on a town has been posthumously awarded the title "Hero of the Soviet Union," the Soviet's highest military honor.

The pilot, Maj. Boris Rybsev, disobeyed orders to bail out when the single engine of the fighter he was testing gave out. Moscow newspapers said today. He steered the jet away from the threatened town, then tried to bail out, but it was too late.

FIRST BABY OF 1965 Alicia Ann Buzbee with her mother

Tiny Alicia Ann Buzbee Is 1965's First Baby

Miss 1965 of Big Spring is tiny Alicia Ann Buzbee.

She arrived at 8:45 a.m. at the Medical Arts Hospital—the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buzbee, 3313 Abilene.

Miss Buzbee weighed in at eight pounds, 14 ounces, and was 20 inches long.

Her advent was an exciting New Year event at the hospital and her distinction of being the first baby born in 1965 will bring a small mountain of congratulatory gifts to her youthful parents.

She is the first child of the Buzbees, who were married 10 months ago. The father, Charles, is a mechanic at Jones Motor Co., and is 20 years old.

The mother, Marian Alice Buzbee, is 18. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Gilbert, 606 Holbert. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Buzbee, 1314 Mesquite.

Buzbee is the new county jailer—assuming his new duties today.

Miss 1965 will mean a new tie for her father as a gift of Prager's Men's Store; a special gift for the dad from J. C. Penney Co.; a case of baby food from Heinz; a special gift from Blum's Jewelry.

She will get a 30-day milk supply from Gandy's; her first pair of shoes from J&K Shoe Store, and a new baby blanket from Montgomery Ward. Young Buzbee gets a gift from Big Spring Furniture, too, congratulating him on being the Miss 1965's father.

Last year, Miss 1964 arrived a few seconds after midnight. She was Clara Lee Hermes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Hermes, who lived on a west Howard County ranch at the time.

Apparently Miss Buzbee was the only baby to arrive in Big Spring last night. None of the other hospitals had any natal activity in the field to 9 a.m. today.

NEW YEAR'S DAY

Hopes For Peace, Prosperity Lead

By The Associated Press

The world welcomed 1965 today with religious services, revelry and family reunions—and high hopes for peace and prosperity.

World leaders issued messages of friendship and spoke of renewed efforts to achieve peace and a better life for all people.

In New York's Times Square, traditional crossroads for American celebrations to start the New Year, a huge throng cheered wildly at the stroke of midnight.

FROM 250,000

Police declined to estimate the crowd, but past estimates of capacity ranged from 250,000 to 300,000.

Many others took their merry-making activities — the whistles, or horns and liquor toasts — to parties, or celebrated at family reunions.

Still others marked the holiday with prayers in churches.

The year's first day was filled with footballs in the United States. Thousands went to the bowl games in Pasadena, Calif.; Dallas; New Orleans, and Miami. Television carried the action across the nation.

President Johnson was at his Texas ranch, working to complete his budget message. Blackbeard peas were on his menu, in keeping with a Southern tradition that they bring good luck for the rest of the year.

Carefree celebrations were the order of the day throughout the world — except in South Viet Nam and the Congo.

In the Soviet Union, the new leaders sent messages to other world leaders, but did not publicize them. They shunned the colorful style of deposed Premier Khrushchev and dispensed with the Kremlin New Year's reception.

Traffic Toll At 'Low' 62

By The Associated Press

The nation's traffic deaths in the first hours of the extended New Year's weekend averaged below the normal toll during a nonholiday period.

The 62 fatalities on the highways since 6 p.m. local time Thursday compared with 65 reported for the comparative period at the start of the Christmas weekend. Traffic deaths usually are less than any other major holiday.

The National Safety Council has estimated that between 300 and 380 persons will be killed in traffic accidents by the end of the 78-hour holiday period at midnight Sunday. The death toll during last week's Christmas weekend was 578, the second highest on record for a three-day Christmas holiday.

Baker Case Suit Settled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $300,000 law suit that triggered the toppling of Bobby Baker's financial empire has been settled out of court for a reported $30,000.

The suit was dismissed Thursday in U.S. District Court with the filing of agreement papers by attorneys for Baker and the Capitol Vending Co.

The suit was filed against the former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority Sept. 9, 1963, by Capitol Vending Co., which charged it lost a lucrative contract with a defense firm because Baker wanted it to go to another vending machine company.

Some observers regarded De Gaulle's address as the kickoff in his campaign for election to another seven-year term, but he refused to say whether he would run.

Indonesia To Quit U.N.?

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno said Thursday night he will withdraw Indonesia from the United Nations if Malaysia takes its seat in the Security Council.

Malaysia was chosen Wednesday to replace Czechoslovakia on the council for a one-year term.

Congo Rejects Truce Appeal

French Chief Seeks More Red Contacts

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle has declared anew that France will seek an independent role free of U.S. influence in the Atlantic community and the world.

He said France would cooperate with its allies but left no doubt he was challenging American influence in the Western world.

In a nationwide New Year's Eve radio and television address, the 74-year-old president stressed that France "does not seek to dominate anyone" but "intends to be its own master."

"This year which is ending has shown and the year which is beginning will confirm," he said, "that we are becoming again our own masters in the domains of politics, economy, currency and defense."

A HEGEMONY

"In other words," he continued, "rejecting all systems which, under the cover of 'supranational', or of 'integration' or still that of 'Atlantism' would hold us in reality under a hegemony which everyone knows about."

De Gaulle spoke of Atlantism to describe U.S. influence in Western Europe. His reference to supranationalism was aimed at plans for a federated rather than coordinated political system for the European community.

De Gaulle has maintained that Western Europe must seek ultimate control over its own fate rather than rely on U.S. leadership. His critics believe he intends to try and exert a role that would dominate the European scene.

Referring to France's role in the Common Market, De Gaulle said a continued effort was required to ward off U.S. penetration in the economic, scientific and technical fields. Such an effort, he said, was essential for France's independence.

RED CONTACTS

De Gaulle spoke of increasing contact between France and Latin-American and Communist bloc nations, including Red China.

"We are remaining very active in aid to peoples on the road to development," he said, adding that never have so many men on earth "experienced such an attraction for France."

Relief Goes Toward Flood-Isolated Towns

It was no holiday today for thousands of flood victims or their rescuers in five weather-weary Western states.

With one eye on the sullen, threatening skies they kept on with the business of restoring some order to the disaster areas of Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada and Idaho.

"This is the first year I've missed a New Year's party," said Jim Jones, Civil Defense spokesman in Yreka, Calif. "I had forgotten all about it. But we've got a steak on the fire and a bottle of wine and that's going to be our New Year's."

Flood waters were down along with temperatures, but countless communities remained isolated, preventing rescuers from letting up for even a brief celebration.

NO RELIEF

The Weather Bureau offered no relief with its forecast of another Alaska storm carrying more rain and snow into the beleaguered areas today.

In northern California, a dozen civilian helicopters fanned out over remote valleys of Klamath National Forest for the first time Thursday. They carried food, medicine, clothing and blankets to some 300 to 500 persons trapped by 10-foot snowdrifts left by what was described as the worst snowstorm in eight years.

The choppers had brought out 60 persons to Yreka where they were reunited with anxious relatives or housed by the Red Cross in local motels.

DAY CLEAR

Thursday was the first clear day at Yreka after four successive days of snow and temperatures in the low teens. If the weather continued to hold, employees of United Air Lines planned to fly 20,000 pounds of canned foods into Yreka for distribution by the ski-clad helicopters.

On the coast 36 Army and Marine helicopters got a break from the weather and resumed airlifts of food and clothing to flood-ravaged towns still isolated after 12 days.

The first refugees from Garberville, Covelo and Eureka — 30 college students returning to school — arrived by helicopter in Ukiah late Thursday afternoon.

Five Killed On Freeway

HOUSTON (AP) — Five persons were killed and a sixth critically injured early today when two cars slammed together on the Gulf Freeway between Houston and Galveston.

Investigating officers said the automobiles collided when one of them jumped a center guard rail and hurtled the wrong way down the heavily traveled thoroughfare.

Two of the dead were not immediately identified but authorities gave these names for three of the victims, all from Houston:

Daniel Martin Duncan, 34; Betty P. Gonzalez, 22; and Andrew Gonzalez, 22.

The accident happened about 2:30 a. m. and brought the Texas traffic toll for the New Year holiday to seven.

Gay Parade For Mummies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some 15,000 costumed marchers, high-stepping, grotesque and gay in the carnival spirit, greet the New Year today with the 65th annual Mummers parade.

Fair skies and a near-record crowd turnout were expected.

The Weather Bureau said only a mild breeze would ruffle the Mummers' colorful plumes as the string bands and jittery comics prance some four miles up Broad Street from South Philadelphia, competing for $66,500 in prize money.

NATIONAL VIEWING

Part of the parade was scheduled for national viewing over the ABC television network from noon to 1:30 Eastern Standard Time.

For the second straight year, there was a ban on marchers using blackface makeup. City officials said they expected no trouble this time over blackface comics, who were banned last year by a court injunction following protests from civil rights groups.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary assigned 1,500 policemen to parade duty with orders to remove any marchers who appear in blackface.

Leary added, however, "We don't anticipate any trouble on that score. But we are prepared."

PHILLY ROWDIES

The first Mummers were South Philadelphia rowdies who dressed in costumes and paraded through the streets on New Year's Eve in the early 1800's. These groups of "shooters" went around to friends' homes, demanding food and drinks.

Not until the 1880s did the "shooters" organize in rival clubs and parade in competition for prizes. Even then proceedings were often rowdy. A newspaper at that time called Market and Broad streets, where the marchers were judged, "An obscure haunt for the idle and the profligate."

The parade was formally organized in 1901. Pistols and firecrackers were banned and tavern stops became less frequent.

Since then, it has grown to a nationally known spectacle.

British War Hero Dead

LONDON (AP) — Field Marshal Lord Wilson, whose "Army of the Nile" hurled back the Italian push into Egypt in World War II, died Thursday. He was 83.

Henry Maitland Wilson, nicknamed "Jumbo" because of his 150-pound bulk, climaxed his career as Britain's top representative with the Allied chiefs of staff in Washington late in World War II.

Born in Suffolk County, England, of a long line of soldiers, Wilson went from Eton into military service and saw his first action as an infantry lieutenant in South Africa during the Boer War.

Serving as a major in the first world war, he was decorated several times for gallantry in France.

At the outbreak of World War II, he was a lieutenant general under Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell in Egypt, commanding forces that guarded the Suez Canal.

When the Italians thrust into Egypt, Wilson's outnumbered troops drove them back 450 miles in 57 days.

Complaints Stall Poverty Aid Flow

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Complaints about the quality of the men named to direct Louisiana's antipoverty program has resulted in a temporary holdup of federal cash for the program.

"Currently these complaints are being investigated," the Office of Economic Opportunity said in Washington Thursday night.

Most controversial of the appointments by Gov. John McKeithen is Shelby Jackson, a determined segregationist, named assistant director at $12,000 a year.

Jackson, former state education superintendent, lost in the race for Democratic nomination as governor and threw his support to McKeithen in the Democratic runoff.

Champ Baker, an Alexandria real estate dealer, was named state director at $15,000 a year. He was one of McKeithen's district campaign leaders.

McKeithen said Baker would be an able administrator. And he said Jackson's segregationist attitude should not disqualify him because Jackson knows the poverty program must be administered without discrimination.

Though he defended his appointments, the governor added: "If the government feels their political affiliations must be considered before they're named, we'll have to abide by it because it is federal money and federal jobs."

The federal money, in technical assistance grants, help get the antipoverty program under way.

Furr's Checkers In National Competition

Furr's Super Markets will have a candidate for the 1965 crown of Checker of the Year in the 10th annual competition sponsored by Super Market Institute, Robert Boverie, director of the company's campaign, has announced. The firm operates 71 stores in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado.

More than 30,000 checkers employed in some 3,000 super markets throughout the United States and Canada are expected to take part in the Checker of the Year Awards event, based on customer courtesy, accuracy at the cash register, and care in handling and bagging of food purchases.

Ten regional winners will be brought to the 28th annual convention of Super Market Institute in Chicago May 9-12 for final performance tests.

The grand prize winner will receive a gold "Tilly" statuette, a mink stole or vicuña coat, a two-week vacation in Hawaii and other prizes. Two runners-up will win vacations in Hollywood, Fla.

Truck Driver Asks Damages

A Waco truck driver has filed a suit in 118th District Court asking $387,000 of a Big Spring firm.

The suit, filed Wednesday afternoon, is styled Glenn Elmer Donahue vs. Howard R. Weaver and Joe Weaver, doing business as the Big Spring Red-Mix.

Donahue, who says he lives in Waco, formerly was employed by the Chemical Express Co. as a truck driver. He alleges that on Feb. 21, 1963, he was in Big Spring unloading a truck of cement into a storage tank on the defendant's property.

He alleges as he knelt or stood beside his truck engaged in his work, some object fell from the top of the storage tank striking him on the head and back.

He claims he was extensively injured and is entitled to $387,000 to compensate him for the loss the accident has caused.

The bidding:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass
2♥ Pass 2NT Pass
4♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠
South chalked up a profit in his four spade contract by refusing a finesse—without the benefit of a peek.

South held something in reserve for his minimum sounding rebid of two spades and, when his partner persisted to two no trump, he decided to relieve North of any further pressure by going directly to game. Holding a singleton heart he preferred to play the hand at four spades.

West led the ten of hearts covered by North's jack and East's queen. The ace of hearts was continued and ruffed by declarer. A small diamond was led to the jack and a spade was returned. East followed with the five and South put in the nine, losing to West's queen.

A diamond was returned and declarer put up the king from dummy to lead another spade. East followed with the six and declarer was about to repeat the finesse when he paused to consider the situation. East was known to have the ten of spades because South's nine had forced the queen earlier. If East also holds the king, then the contract cannot be made, for declarer must use another trump trick and the ace of clubs in addition to the heart and spade already given up.

South changed his mind about the finessing and went up with the ace of spades. When the king dropped, he drew the remaining trump with the jack and cheerfully conceded a trick to the ace of clubs. If East had turned up with four trumps, South would have gone down an extra trick by refusing the finesse; however, that was a small price to pay for the opportunity to make the contract.

East could have put declarer to the maximum guess by following with the ten of spades on the second round. Inasmuch as he is known to have that card, he had nothing to lose by making the false card. The gain becomes obvious if declarer repeats the finesse by covering the ten with the jack.

DEAR ABBY

A Royal Rooking

DEAR ABBY: I sent out very welcome." Would you R.S.V.P. invitations to my daughter's wedding, which included the ceremony, reception and dinner. I received a telephone call from one of the invited guests (not a relative) who said that she and her husband couldn't attend because they were going to be out of town, but she was sending her teenage daughter and the girl's boyfriend to "represent the family." She said it was considered proper because she read where the President and Mrs. Johnson couldn't attend the wedding of the King of Greece, so they sent their daughter to "represent" them. I didn't know what else to say, so I said, "Your daughter and her boy friend will be very welcome." Would you please tell me if this is really proper? BRIDE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Wedding invitations (or any personal invitation, for that matter) are NOT transferable. The heads of state, however, abide by different rules. When a President or King is unable to accept an invitation, it is customary to send someone to represent his country. You got a royal rooking.

DEAR ABBY: I am 37, have two children, 11 and 15, and have been divorced for nine years. I met a man who was 38 and good-looking. He said he was single. I fell awfully hard for him. He gave me gifts and money, and we talked of marriage, but something always came up to delay it.

In October I found out I was pregnant. When I told him, he said he would marry me. I called the place where he rooms and a woman answered the phone. She said she was his WIFE. I almost fainted. I told her who I was and she said she felt "sorry" for me.

When I told my boy friend everything, he said the woman off the phone calls herself his "wife" but they aren't really married. It's more like a common law arrangement. Can a man with a common law wife take a legal wife? I don't want to get mixed up with bigamy. Where does all this leave me?

TOO DUMB FOR WORDS
DEAR DUMB: It leaves you with approximately 200,000 other trusting souls, who, in 1964, bore illegitimate babies. Ask a lawyer if your state recognizes common law marriages. And if you want the name of a Home for Unwed Mothers, send me your name and address and I will help you.

DEAR ABBY: Every time I go to the bakery for doughnuts, the clerk uses a small piece of

Arson Ring Law Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department plans to ask Congress for a new law to fight interstate arson rings.

Investigations have indicated that such rings may be connected to organized crime, a spokesman said today.

The department has never been in on the problem before because it lacked jurisdiction, he said. But it has been collecting reports from local police and has received a survey made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The board asked the department to submit proposed legislation to Congress.

In its survey, the board said that its intelligence data left little doubt that the syndicated hoodlum element is involved in the fraud fire business. It added that some "turn to arson to collect insurance on legitimate businesses owned by them which are not progressing well financially."

Senator Holds Off On Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., says he will not decide whether he would agree to be floor manager for the foreign aid bill until he sees the final form of the measure as it leaves the Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, has said he will not be floor leader for the program again unless it is drastically revised. By committee seniority, Sparkman is next in line.

Fulbright's central objection is to the lumping of military and economic aid in one big bill.

Reds Sneak Into Sikkim, Fire Shot

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A small number of Red Chinese troops from Tibet entered Sikkim twice last week, fired one shot and quickly withdrew, the government charged today. The defense of Sikkim, a small state in the Himalayas, is India's responsibility under a treaty.

Varied Career Behind Envoy

BONN, Germany (AP) — George McGhee, the Texan who has been ambassador to Germany since early 1963, is a diplomat and administrator of 15 years of high level experience.

He is also a geologist who made a fortune in oil, a veteran of air-sea rescue missions, an inventor, an amateur grammarian, a Rhodes scholar and a devoted tennis player.

TO TURKEY
A lifelong Democrat, McGhee lost his job as ambassador to Turkey when President Eisenhower took office, but he is proud that the Republican administration later appointed him to two important consultative posts.

President Kennedy brought him back to the State Department as chairman of the Policy Planning Council, a key job. He rose to be undersecretary for political affairs, the No. 3 post, before taking the ambassadorial post in Germany in April 1963.

He is close to both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and President Johnson.

The Texans have been friends since the early days of World War II when Johnson was a congressman and McGhee worked in the War Production board.

SHUNS FEUDS
McGhee has carefully kept out of the feuds of Texas politics.

"An ambassador's ability to do an effective job is hampered if he becomes involved in partisan political controversies," he explains.

McGhee is Mr. United States in Germany. These days when heads of government talk regularly to one another by telephone, and foreign ministers fly off to see other foreign ministers every couple of weeks, this "representative function" looms even larger than before in the lives of ambassadors.

Schools Sent Rights Mandate

WASHINGTON (AP) — School systems across the nation that fail to comply with the Civil Rights Act will have federal aid shut off.

Grain Export Threat Posed

BONN, Germany (AP) — Charles de Gaulle's victory this week on the bread-and-butter issue of European farm policy raises a threat to U.S. exports of grain.

Officials are now at work on a system of farm prices, subsidies and import duties that will strengthen the French position as Western Europe's leading supplier. That could elbow out American exports.

The French victory came at two night sessions of the European Common Market council at Brussels, Belgium, after De Gaulle had threatened to pull out if he did not get his way.

The council finally agreed to set up a single system of grain prices for the six member countries: France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

SEEK ADVANTAGES
West Germany—and at the last, Italy—resisted. They did not especially oppose French leadership on farm matters but they were trying to get advantages for their own farmers. The other five had been working on West Germany for months to consent to a reduction in its grain prices, the highest in the area.

The decision to yield was made in Bonn last month. The prices which go into effect in 1967 will still be 30 to 50 per cent higher than today's world prices. That is traditional in Europe, where governments have long kept grain prices high to insure an adequate bread supply in time of war.

Now it's not bread that matters so much — Europeans no longer lean so heavily on what used to be called the staff of life. As they grow more prosperous they consume more beef, veal, pork, butter and milk. European farm experts point out that these are all just a processed form of feed grain — and Europe's growing market for feed grain most interests the American farmer.

BE LOWERED
Although the German prices will be lowered, the prices the French peasants get are going to be higher. That means more French production, on top of a surplus that has forced the French government to sell wheat to Red China at bargain rates.

So there will be pressure on the West Germans to buy more French wheat. There's a difficulty at this point: French wheat is the soft variety that makes those delicious long loaves Parisians buy for immediate use. Next day you can drive nails with them. Germans like a bread that can be made into lunch sandwiches the night before, and the German bakers want a loaf that can lie on shelves for a few days and still be salable. To make that they need to mix in hard wheat from overseas.

FOR ANIMALS
If the Germans have to buy more French wheat, American experts think they'll have to feed it to the animals — and that would cut down America's share in the growing feed grain market.

The United States government would have liked European prices to be set a good deal lower, so that there would be no chances of increased French production. But there was never much possibility of that.

"American officials can console themselves with the thought that now Western Europe is in a position to plan its production. That means it can work on a worldwide agreement for the grain trade. The United States considers this to be an essential element in the Kennedy round of talks to lower tariff barriers.

A Devotional For The Day

He saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. (Matthew 4:19)
PRAYER: We come to Thee, our Father, putting our lives into Thy hands. Keep us in Thy way today and throughout this new year. For the sake of Christ, in whose name we ask. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

We Need The Leavening

Today marks the beginning of the year 1965, and the beginning of a new opportunity for those who look upon it as such.
It is quite easy to predict great things for a year, but what counts is performance. So while we can wish and we can predict, we prefer to urge upon everyone in the community a wholesome, confident, expectant attitude for the year.
Some things come to pass because of the wheel of fortune, but a lot more evolve because of ideas and attitudes which are turned into action.

Hence, one of the most important things which we could do for our community this year is to face it with a positive attitude, one which embodies creativity and ingenuity, all backed by tenacity and aggressiveness in trying to bring about our goals and our ambitions. We have the ingredients for a great year—what we most need now is the leavening.

Time To Bridle Riders

The row stirred up by Gov. Connally's refusal to approve a state building architectural contract, a power granted him in a "rider" attached to the 58th Legislature's biennial appropriation bill, has served a useful purpose. It has again called public attention to the evils of "government by rider," a little understood legislative abuse flagrantly practiced in Texas.
The Texas Constitution prevents "legislative riders" on appropriation bills, that is, provisions that modify or conflict with general law. But an attorney general's opinion issued by Price Daniel during the Shivers administration approves appropriation bill riders that only regulate the use of related funds.
That line is hard to draw. State agencies are reluctant to carry a rider to the courts. And to confuse matters more, it has been held that the governor's item veto on appropriation bills does not extend to legislative riders even those that are considered unconstitutional. In practice, every biennial appropriation bill is studded with illegal legislative riders which, unchallenged, carry the force of law.
What is worse, these riders are usually stuck in those bills by the 10-member appropriations conference committee, which is supposed to limit itself to compromising differences between the Senate and House, but doesn't. As this is usually done late in the legislative session and both houses must accept or reject conference committee reports in whole, there is no chance for a floor vote on rider legislation. And the governor can hardly afford to veto a whole biennial appropriation bill—thus forcing a special session to approve a revised one—just to prevent passage of riders he may oppose.

What all of this boils down to is this: Appropriations conference committee members, who trade out among themselves, can in effect pass laws that only one or a few of them want, even in defiance of the majority will of the Legislature and the governor's disapproval. This gives a power to those 10 legislators that no legislative minority should have. Certainly the Legislature should tighten its rules to prevent such violation of the clear intent of the state constitution.

Richard Starnes We've No Business Being There

WASHINGTON—The American military position in Southeast Asia has been untenable from the outset, but what is less clear is that it is morally indefensible as well.
The theory of U.S. intervention in Laos, Viet Nam, Cambodia and Thailand is much like John Randolph's celebrated rotten mackerel—it shines and it stinks.
AMERICAN MEDDLING ostensibly stems from the highest motives. We have told the rest of the world, and convinced only ourselves, that we are spending and bleeding and dying to bring the blessing of self-determination, pop-up toasters, fly-proof latrines and other such hyphenated benefits to the heathen masses. We are persuaded that we must preserve them from the unspeakable oppression of communism. If we have to fricassee every man jack of them in napalm to do it.

guerrillas who now control more of South Viet Nam can survive and continue to fight even if all material support from the north is ended.
NEXT, the Ho Chi Minh trail has no real existence outside the minds of American pseudo-experts eager to perpetuate the war. It is a tangled complex of jungle paths, largely invisible from the air. Its tentacles wind through North and South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. Indeed, if candor is permitted to illuminate the subject, the "trail" also must include the busy routes of the sampans and motor junks that ply the Tonkin Gulf.
Finally, Korea proved that absolute air supremacy is not enough to halt the coolie-borne commerce of war in Asia. To suggest otherwise now is corrupt, cynical and brutally immoral. Yet we learn through devious contrived leaks that interdiction of the supposed Communist supply routes is to be done, although a: honesty and overtly, by American airmen.

It is no longer disputed in informed circles that the Viet Cong insurgency is supported, at least passively, by a large majority of the peasants in that non-viable non-country which we call South Viet Nam. Guerrilla warfare withers and dies if it is not supported by the people, as was demonstrated when the British put down a superficially similar uprising in Malaya.
THE VIET CONG are, to be sure, ardently supported by the Communist regimes in China and North Viet Nam. But it is cynical rubbish to assert what appears to be the developing American policy—that bombing of the Ho Chi Minh trail can reshape the course of the war.

THIS POLICY is one with all the other bankrupt policies that have been attempted in Southeast Asia. It will prolong a war that cannot be won and it will render the ultimate solution infinitely more difficult. It will take more lives, some of them American lives which our folkways tell us are the most valuable lives in the world.
So far as is known here, no American official has ever spelled out what American interests in Viet Nam required the nation to participate in the harlot war we are now fighting there.

Judge Moves

PORTALES, N. M. (AP) — An Elida justice of the peace has to travel 24 miles here to appear before another JP, after he had been cited for making an illegal turn.
William Crume, 71, made the trip. He appeared before JP Eldon Whitton and was fined $10 plus $7.50 court cost.
Crume said it was the first time he has had to appear in court in the 51 years he has been driving.
The two are the only justices of peace in Roosevelt County.

SOONER OR LATER, the round-eyed warriors have to have the courage and wit to admit that Western civilization cannot be taught with jelled gasoline bombs. The people of Southeast Asia have had no peace for a quarter century. It is unthinkable that American policy can contrive to offer them none at this sad juncture.

Billy Graham

I consider myself a Christian, yet I get spells of depression. I find reading the Bible and prayer helps a lot. Would you think there is something wrong in my Christian life, and if so, what should I do to keep from being depressed? Do all normal people have times like this? K. F.
We are all constituted differently. Some people are more given to depression than others, by nature. In my opinion, Christians are not altogether immune from depression. The fact is: The trend of events, and the mounting tide of evil is enough to give one sobering thoughts — Christian or not.
David, the sweet singer of Israel, was not always on top of his depression. Sometimes his gay glad song was turned to a depressive mourning. "My tears have been my meat day and night, while continually they say unto me, Where is thy God? Why art thou cast down, O my soul, and why art thou disquieted in me?" David was obviously experiencing what we moderns call depression. But he did not live long in this depressive valley. "Hope thou in God," he continued, "For I shall yet praise him."
I find that the cure for depression is praise. Praise God for His blessings, His love, His redemption. In other words: Be so busy counting your blessings, that thoughts of gloom and despair will be crowded out.

WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN ALL MY LIFE?

Sam Dawson Early '65 Seen Bountiful

NEW YORK (AP) — This year has been so good that fears are felt in many quarters that next year may seem like a let-down because the public is inclined to expect too much of it.
The federal administration reportedly is getting plans ready for any such slump in confidence — plans to stimulate the economy with more tax cuts or greater spending if the pace falters when compared to this year's fast growth.
ALMOST ALL economists in and out of government agree, however, that the first few months of 1965 will be even more bountiful than the final ones of 1964.

They cite the special incidents that held back the economy in the autumn, particularly the auto strikes. And they cite special reasons the first few months of 1965 will be more active than they normally would — such as pent-up demand for autos due to the short supply in the closing weeks of 1964, and fear that labor trouble in steel could cut off metal shipments in May.

After that — there's the rub. And that's one reason economists are varying so widely just now in their predictions for 1965 as a whole.
ANY LETDOWN after these special stimulants are withdrawn might make both businessmen and consumers nervous. If the fast growth rate of the economy in 1964 — now put at around 7 per cent — slows down perceptibly in late spring, business could pull in its horns, consumers might worry and postpone some purchases.
There are other hazards that economists see ahead, without being sure that real cures are in sight.
The labor force will grow rapidly next year. Much of the growth will be from youths untrained for the jobs mechanized industry offers. The great hopes now being expressed, that the economy will grow fast enough to absorb all the newcomers seeking jobs, may be dashed. And the public is notorious for changing quickly from too much confidence to too much caution.

Hal Boyle A Dish Of Feijoada

If you get lost in the Brazilian jungle and need help, start cooking a feijoada.
Sure enough, someone will show up to tell you you're doing it the wrong way.
Feijoada — pronounced fay-zho-ah-da — is a favorite Brazilian dish eaten once a week, usually on Saturday.
It's a formidable black bean stew that to the uninitiated may look as if it will devour him instead. Not a light or easy-to-make dish, feijoada is the champ of cookbooks recipes — and as controversial.
Much jest goes with the stew, usually by its most passionate devotees.
SOME SAY, for instance, that the recipe calls for everything in the kitchen that isn't moving except members of the immediate family.
Fifteen different varieties of meat, mostly salted or smoked, and a small mountain of black beans go into a "feijoada completa," as it is called. It takes two days to assemble.
Depending on the "favorite" recipe given you, the meats may include salt pork, seasoned pork sausage, ham, dried beef, salted tongue, tripe, pork shoulder and pork ribs and pig's knuckles, feet and ears. The quantities vary down from two pounds.
THE MEATS and beans are soaked overnight. The following day, they are drained, placed in a large vat, covered with water and boiled for several hours, or until the beans are soft.

Chopped onions, parsley, tomatoes, bay leaf and a well-mashed clove of garlic are sautéed in two tablespoons of fat. When the onions are brown, a small portion of the black beans is added to the mixture in the frying pan. The beans are mashed until the sauce thickens. This is then returned to the big kettle for blending with the stew.
When ready to serve, the meat is removed from the kettle first, sliced and arranged on a platter. The beans are served from a soup tureen.
USUALLY, FEIJOADA is served with generous helpings of white rice, hot manioc flour, hot collard greens and slices of orange. A dash of fiery hot pepper called malagueta is also available.
Eating feijoada, almost a ritual, is often launched with a shot of cachaca — pronounced ca-sha-sa — a powerful relative of rum.
This, critics say, served to partly numb the senses and warm the stomach.
(This feature article by AP's Robert Berrelez substitutes today for Hal Boyle, whose column regularly occupies this space.)

INFLATION ISN'T a problem now and seems unlikely to be in the months just ahead. But beyond that a number of economists are far from reassured. They cite the recent scattered rises in some basic materials. They note that the auto labor contract and the one the steelworkers are expected to seek could push production costs up faster than factory efficiency is increasing. All this could lay the seeds for future inflation.
Other economists, especially those employed by the banks and other financial institutions see as far, from allayed as yet the international financial problems which reached the crisis stage in November when the British pound was tottering. Measures that may still have to be taken to get the pound back on a sound basis, and to keep the dollar from catching the infection, are still uncertain. And drastic measures could upset the American economy as well as that of other non-Communist nations.

To Your Good Health If You Make Resolutions, Keep Them!

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Certainly there is no point in making happy-go-lucky resolutions and forgetting them the next day or the next week.
Like so many other things in life, habit is important in this, too. Broken resolutions are harmful in that they contribute to a habit of breaking them.
I suppose it is better to try and fail, than never to have tried at all. But if you try, give it a REAL try.
Don't attempt to overcome all your faults at once. If you are going to make New Year's resolutions, don't saddle yourself with an impossible load of self-improvement.
Bite off no more than you can chew—and then chew as hard as you can.
Just to be different, I'm not going to suggest many New Year's resolutions — not that most of us, including me, could not benefit one way or another if we made some and stuck to them.
I'm not going to suggest that fat people resolve to reduce. I can't think of a single one who ever made a New Year's resolution to that effect, and made it stick.
Being overweight is principally a problem of habits—the habits of eating and drinking acquired over the years, and unless you recognize that fact, and do something about changing your HABITS, you aren't going to change yourself from fat to thin just by making a resolution about it today.

I'm not going to suggest that anybody give up cigarettes, if the Surgeon General's report, nearly a year ago, didn't convince you. But I notice that cigarette sales are about back to normal, and the "cigarette cough" continues to abound.
I'm not going to tell nervous people to resolve not to be nervous. Anybody with his wits about him can see that nervousness all around him. It would do a world of good, not only health-wise, but in the pursuit of general happiness, if people would stop letting their nerves run away with them. But I can't see that just making a resolution not to be nervous would accomplish much. (Of course, if some nervous people would analyze themselves to figure out when and why their nerves get all wound up, that would do some good. But just making a resolution won't.)
The foregoing is double for chronic worriers.

I won't suggest that chronic medicine-takers resolve to resolve to reform. You know the kind of people I mean—the ones who don't think they can stay well unless they are constantly dosing themselves. These folks must really believe in what they are doing, or they wouldn't waste so much money on things they don't need.
When you get right down to it, most resolutions are just promises to try to break some habits involving eating, or procrastinating, or smoking, or whatever it is that we dimly realize we ought to stop doing. Or start doing.
But the resolutions don't often do any good unless we go one step farther and ask, "Now just HOW am I going to go about changing my habits?" At that point you start making progress.
Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim More Markets In Mexico

Gustavo Diaz Ordaz is the new president of Mexico and, before his ascending to the office on Dec. 1 to replace Adolfo Lopez Mateos, he became the first president-elect of the nation to visit a United States president.
In Mexico today there are 19 million persons, called "campesinos," making up half of the total population, with an annual income of not much more than $100 each.
THESE 19 MILLION persons were undoubtedly a major factor in the Ordaz visit, for they are supposedly the breeding ground for communism in Mexico. Diaz, however, has pledged himself to a six-year effort to raise the level of life of these people, who primarily live on farms, and of making them consumers.
Since 1961 the U.S. has provided Mexico with $840 million in aid, including loans. There are also more than a billion dollars in investments by U.S. companies in Mexico. So the U.S. may be prominently involved in such plans.
MEXICO is showing signs of a booming economy, but the surface indications belie the problems of the less-noticed peasants, who in full make up more than 60 per cent of the more than 30 million persons.
Mexico has made progress in continuing and in further strengthening an economy that is generally more stable than is characteristic of most Latin and South American nations. During the term of Lopez Mateos, almost 40 million acres of land were taken from large landholdings and broken into ejidos, smaller farms, for campesinos. However, the nation is finding that land available for such distribution is dwindling.

TOURISM brought $1 billion to the country this past year, and the gross national product rose seven per cent during the same time, compared to a six per cent hike the previous year. The country has put new highways into many rural areas, built new classrooms, provided water power to generate electricity for previously unsupplied rural regions as well as irrigation projects, and encouraged foreign investments. For some 10 years the country has taken steps to bring increased industrialization.
These efforts and others, such as attempting to bring more technology to agricultural programs, might well be followed by other so-called developing nations.
TEXAS DOUBTLESS is tied now to some extent to the prosperity or lack of it south of the border, but as time goes on the marketing opportunities should increase for products from the U.S. and Mexico. Increased industrialization in Mexico should step up this trend and efforts which are underway to bring more industry to Texas could well tie to future increased markets in Mexico, if the opportunities to extend trade across the border increase as expected.
—PRESTON MAYNARD

Marquis Childs Johnson The Internationalist

(Substituting for Marquis Childs)
WASHINGTON—The signs multiply that the new year will find the newly elected administration far more urgently engaged in foreign matters than in any and all domestic affairs, and that President Johnson's true and climactic tests will occur abroad and not at home.
It is a safe bet that long before 1965 has run its course Johnson will be far more discussed, pro and con, as an international leader than as head of a remarkably large home consensus working toward that "Great Society" which has become, domestically, his political trademark.
IN A WORD, the new year will be notably inhospitable to one of the most hardy of current stereotypes. This is that President Johnson is essentially a home-on-the-range politician who knows where Europe and Asia and Africa are but is really and deeply committed only to mastering Congress and to social reconstruction in the United States.
At bottom, his concern here is to end what he believes to be social injustice and economic deprivations in America not simply because these things are bad, but also because they form areas of avoidable strain and weakness in the country's aggregate posture as it looks outward toward the vastly bigger problems of this world in general.
JOHNSON MOST of all wants to create in this nation the maximum conditions of strength as the vital underpinning for its larger role of leadership and change all around the earth. That he knows his crucial responsibility lies at last in this role has been demonstrated a dozen times in the privacy of the White House, and never more starkly than during the late presidential campaign.

There were many occasions when the most bitterly imperative twists and turns in that campaign were thrown aside by him, without so much as a backward glance, upon the arrival in his office, dining room or presidential bedroom of a fresh batch of telegrams telling of fresh troubles in Asia, in Africa, in Europe.
ANYONE WHO has traveled even briefly in Europe since our election knows the intensity of speculation there about the depth of Johnson's foreign policy interests—and the nature of his competence in them. Because he has so long been pictured abroad as essentially a domestic-minded figure, there is an almost comic-strip popular reading of him as a kind of gawdy cowboy statesman more aware of Johnson City, Tex., than of this uneasy globe. Those world leaders who have already dealt with him at length have long since hurriedly dropped this highly juvenile cliché. Those who deal with him later will drop it with equal speed.
UNDERSTANDING the realities of the new year will be difficult enough for all concerned—the President's adversaries and allies abroad and those at home who wish to oppose or to support him—unless it is first understood that this man of colloquial outer habits is inside one of the toughest, most deeply sophisticated high-policy negotiators to sit in the White House in many years. Worse, he may be unaware of where the real ball in the real game is, he never is.

David Lawrence Foreign Aid A Cold War Weapon

WASHINGTON — Inasmuch as serious attacks on American embassies, consulates and libraries have occurred in at least 30 foreign countries in the world in the last two-and-a-half years, the question has arisen as to whether American economic, military and financial aid should continue to be rendered to those countries.
The main issue, however, is not whether the local governments are themselves to blame, but the extent to which Communist infiltrators have managed to generate demonstrations in these countries against the United States resulting in destruction of American property.
THE PROBLEM that faces the United States government is how to deal with a type of war in which the enemy often is invisible. It has been called a "cold war," but this does not describe the military nature of much of the activity instigated, if not directed, by the Soviet government and by the Red Chinese government, in different parts of the world.
The policy of the United States under the present and preceding administrations has been to extend "foreign aid" in the hope that American advisers would be able, in working closely with the national governments in various countries, to persuade them to adopt a realistic attitude toward Communist activity.
TO WITHDRAW "foreign aid" altogether would merely force the weaker governments into the arms of the Communists of Moscow or Peking. By granting certain help to the governments in Africa and Asia as well as in Latin America, the United States is able to send its own personnel into a country to observe what is going on and to make representations to the government in the hope that effective measures may be employed to drive out the conspirators.
The basic problem is how the United States can thwart Communist operations in the smaller countries of the world. Obviously, a good deal of money is necessary. But the main objective—to fight communism and to enable the governments on all continents to withstand Communist pressures—can hardly be achieved by those governments alone.

UNFORTUNATELY, the United Nations is not doing anything to combat Communist activities which threaten the independence and territorial integrity of many nations in the world today.
The United Nations has failed even to recognize this new kind of aggression, though its charter specifically sets forth as one of the purposes of the organization the taking of collective action for "suppression of acts of aggression." But if the U.N. ignores its obligation, any group of governments which wish to participate in collective action may take any financial, economic, or military steps deemed necessary to help preserve the territorial integrity of nations and the independence of established governments.
WHAT IS NEEDED, of course, is a means of exposing publicly the nature of the subversion in the different countries where the Communists have gotten a foothold. The world has witnessed, for instance, the invasion of Cuba by the Communists. This is defended by the Soviet government as having developed at the request of and in cooperation with the existing government of Fidel Castro. But where the lives and property of foreigners are threatened, international law gives another government the right to intervene and to protect its nationals and their possessions.
THESE PRINCIPLES have not been made clear to the world in recent months, nor has the whole "foreign aid" program been portrayed in its true light—as a means of fighting the "cold war" in order to enable the smaller governments to retain their independence and to preserve their territorial integrity.

Dance Ushers In New Year

Celebrants ushered in the New Year at a dance and midnight supper at the Settles Hotel ballroom Thursday evening when the Eagles Lodge and auxiliary members were hosts at the annual affair.

The ballroom was gaily draped in garlands of red crepe paper and varicolored balloons. Mistletoe completed the decor and confetti accented the candlelit tables. The decoration committee was headed by Mrs. Collin Reese. She was assisted by Mrs. Gladys Miller, Mrs. Bill Cochran and Mrs. Harold Letcher.

Music was furnished by the Bandmasters and dancing continued from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. with a midnight supper of blackeyed peas and corn bread served at the conclusion of the dance. Collin Reese and Maxey Carey were in charge of the dance arrangements.

Among the party-goers were Mr. and Mrs. Belton Brunson. She was attired in a two piece dress of corded fabric styled with a box top and a short straight skirt. She chose yellow accessories. They were joined by her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Campbell, Kermit Mrs. Bobby J. Campbell was attired in a gray wool sheath styled with simple lines and bracelet-length sleeves. She wore blue velvet shoes.

Mrs. Bill Cochran wore a rose colored velveteen sheath styled with a tight skirt and scooped neckline. Her accessories were in black. Mrs. T. H. Stephens liked the look of black and white for her after five costume. She wore a wool crepe shift of black accented with white pearls.

Mrs. Harold Letcher chose black for her black frock, also. Her black lame blouse topped a short straight skirt, and she chose the single accent of pearls as jewelry.

Mrs. Elmer C. Dyer wore a blue one piece dress of silk and the glitter of silver accessories. Mrs. Gladys Miller chose a green knit wool two-piece frock. A long draped tie accented the bodice and she chose beige accessories.

Vows Said In Evening Ceremony

Miss Jo Anne Gay and Lt. Floyd R. Jordan exchanged wedding vows Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the First Methodist Church with Dr. H. Clyde Smith officiating.

The altar was graced with tall baskets of white poinsettias and lemon leaves, and Miss Roberta Gay, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gay, 625 State, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jordan, Leesville, La.

A white crepe two piece dress was chosen by the bride. She complemented the costume, which was styled with cap sleeves and V neckline at the back, with a small veiled hat and a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Her slippers and long gloves were white, and she wore a corsage of a butterfly orchid backed with hand-styled satin leaves.

The couple left today for Coronado, Calif., where their home will be at 426 Fourth.

After the ceremony the bride's parents hosted a reception in their home where the refreshment table was covered with champagne linen and centered with an arrangement of white carnations, chrysanthemums and greenery. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with wedding bells.

The bride, a graduate of Knott High School, attended Howard County Junior College and San Diego City College, San Diego, Calif. She was formerly employed at Webb AFB, the Big Spring Veterans' Administration Hospital and the Department of Defense Substantive Supply Agency, San Diego and Los Angeles, Calif.

Howard Wolf's new look in coats is skinky, interpreted here in a black or brown checked rayon. The sleeveless sheath beneath is a versatile one-piece with custom bodice. This is from his spring collection of junior dresses.

Pig! Pig! Whooo Pig!

Miss Arkansas, Karen Carlson, blonde at center, holds the reins of a team of pigs, harnessed on a rolling platform and numbered like the Arkansas football players, as Razorback followers moved in on downtown Dallas today. Immediately the city was filled with "hawg calls" as rabid Parker fans started to cheer their beloved University of Arkansas football team to what they hope will be a Cotton Bowl victory over Nebraska this afternoon. The pigs were dyed red, the Arkansas color. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Cotton Bowl Coaches Feel Their Teams Were Ready

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas and Nebraska met in the Cotton Bowl today and the two coaches were confident they were ready. "It is hard to predict the frame of mind of a football team for a bowl game, which is the most important aspect," said Coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska. "But I've never seen a team that wasn't ready."

He said he couldn't tell you before a game what his team would do but he had always found "my boys playing up to their capacity, which I expect and lost its last game of the season to Oklahoma, was making its first appearance in the Dallas post-season classic. The kickoff was at 1 p.m. and was nationally televised over CBS. "It is really difficult to get a team up for a bowl game," he said. "You have six weeks between the end of the season and the bowl game and you have to figure out the best way to train so you won't go stale and will be sharp and up for the game."

Canadians Best Czechoslovakia

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Canada came from behind with two goals in the last period, the last with just 29 seconds left to play Thursday night to tie Czechoslovakia 3-3 in the last game of the three-team International Hockey Tournament. The furious finish by Canada spoiled Czechoslovakia's chances of winning the tournament and handed the crown to the Russian team, already on its way home. Russia finished with a 3-1 record, Czechoslovakia 2-1-1 and Canada 0-3-1.

Both coaches drilled their teams only a couple of weeks and gave the players an opportunity to enjoy themselves. Both coaches said their training was quite satisfactory. Thus a tough, hard-hitting ball game with emphasis on the junior college field, Coach Buddy Travis' Hawks have been improving, but they have also taken some lumps as the season has warmed. The East Texas showing may be some tip-off on the Hawk's chances in the western zone. Saturday evening, the Big Spring High School Steers journey to Midland to open district 2-A play against the Lee Rebels. The Rebels went to the finals in the Howard Payne tourney this week, but Brownwood won the title with a 10-point margin over Lee, while getting by the Steers by only one point. Nevertheless, Lee is favored, but the Steers appear to be improving.

Texas Hall Of Fame Has Four New Members

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Sports Hall of Fame had 45 members today, bolstered by the induction of Walter Davis, Jack Gray, Slater Martin and the late Tex Rickard. Their interests ranged from track to basketball to boxing. Davis, high jump champion of the Olympics in 1932; Gray, gamely player and coach of the University of Texas; Martin, one of the few little men ever to star in pro basketball after a great career at Texas under Gray, and Rickard, the Henrietta, Tex., boy who became the world's greatest boxing promoter, received their plaques Thursday.

There were 900 people present at the 12th Hall of Fame luncheon. There now have been 21 persons inducted into the Hall of Fame for football, nine for baseball, five for track, four for golf, two for tennis, two for basketball, one for diving and one for boxing. The Buffalo doubleheader constituted the only major tournament action but ninth-ranked St. Louis and ambitious Bradley gained ground in a twin bill at Chicago. The tall Billikens, beaten twice in the Memphis State Invitational, bounced back with a 90-57 runaway victory over Chicago Loyola after the Braves nipped Notre Dame 74-72 on Eddie Jackson's brace of free throws with one second remaining. Gil Beckemeier led St. Louis, now 7-3, with 20 points. Bradley, 8-2, pulled his game out after six field goals by Larry Sheffield in the final six minutes had led the Irish from 14 points behind to a 72-72 deadlock with 32 seconds on the clock.

Huskies Win 8th Straight, 75-63

There's plenty of leap in Connecticut's unbeatn basketball team even when Tony Kimball, the huskiest Huskie, isn't around to sweep the backboards. The Huskies won their eighth straight Thursday night, ousting Cornell 75-63 in the first round of the Queen City Invitational Tournament at Buffalo despite the absence of Kimball, third-leading rebounder in the nation. The 6-foot-8 Connecticut captain, who has averaged 18.3 points per game, was hospitalized with an undisclosed ailment shortly before game time. Wes Blalostukia and Dick Thompson took up the slack, pacing the Huskies' balanced scoring with 13 points apiece. Connecticut will meet Virginia, which knocked off host Canisius 64-61 for the title Saturday. Jim Connelly's 17 points and a tenacious zone defense helped the Cavaliers stave off Canisius' late charge and boost Virginia's season record to 3-5. Two Knees, Toe Hold Key To Victory

MIAMI (AP) — The Orange Bowl contest is a football game, not a lesson in human anatomy — but two knees and a toe hold the key to victory for national champion Alabama when it meets Texas in the classic tonight. The knees, both of them suffering from the effects of being hit too hard too often, belong to Alabama quarterback Joe Namath and Steve Sloan, while the toe is attached to the accurate kicking foot of the Crimson Tide's David Ray. When the Longhorns from the Lone Star state and Alabama square off at 8 p.m., EST, under the moon for the first time in Orange Bowl history, the game will be rated a tossup. Alabama came into Miami a solid touchdown choice to ship the once-beaten Texans, but Namath reinjured his knee Monday in practice and sent the odds tumbling. Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama will go against Texas with Sloan, a junior signal caller who will play with a heavily bandaged right knee which was injured in the final game of the season against Auburn. Backing him up will be an untested sophomore, Wayne Trimble. Other than the crippled and crucial quarterback situation, Alabama goes into the game in perfect physical condition. The same is true of Texas. Sloan is by no means untried at the quarterback spot. He saw twice as much action as Namath this past season, filling in when the latter kept hurting his knee. Namath, who will sign a professional football contract with the New York Jets for nearly $400,000 Saturday, will see only spot duty for the Tide. Bryant said he won't play at all if he's not needed — but that's a big if. Ray, who set a national record for kicking with 59 points by way of his toe this year, will be on the hot seat for the Tide.

Florida State apparently will have to meet Oklahoma in the Gator Bowl Saturday without its star place-kicker while Texas had to do without Bevo II in the Orange Bowl today. The post-season bowl contests make up two-sixths of college football's last big weekend this season. Only the Hula Bowl Jan. 8 and the Senior Bowl Jan. 9 remain after the Gator Bowl and the East-West game wrap up this week's schedule Saturday. Scheduled today were Michigan and Oregon State in the Rose Bowl, Arkansas and Nebraska in the Cotton Bowl, Syracuse and Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl and Texas and Alabama in the Orange Bowl. Besides facing the nation's No. 1 team, a big problem for Texas was the absence of Bevo II. The big longhorn steer, the team mascot, was supposed to have been on hand for the big battle at Miami, but negotiations with an air cargo transporter to ship Bevo collapsed. "They didn't think Bevo's trailer would fit, or something," said Charles Talbert, one of Bevo's keepers. Florida State, however, was faced with an even bigger dilemma following the disclosure that place-kicker Les Murdock probably had been ineligible for the entire 1964 season. "Murdock will not play against Oklahoma if facts are day that Murdock, a senior, had been a student at the University of Tampa in 1959, then enrolled at Florida State as a freshman the next year. Under NCAA rules, a student must complete his three years of varsity eligibility within five years after he first enrolls in college. "Murdock will not play against Oklahoma if facts are found confirming his alleged ineligibility," Coach Bill Peterson said. Murdock, who said he left Tampa before completing his first semester after being burned by a bucket of asphalt, has played a vital role for Florida State this season. A number of well-known players will dot the line-ups in the East-West game at San Francisco. Quarterbacking the West will be Craig Morton of California and Bob Berry of Oregon while the East will counter with Roger Staubach of Navy and Fred Mazurek of Pitt. Shoring the East defense will be linebackers Dick Butkus of Illinois and Steve DeLong of Tennessee. The West has a fine runner in Gale Sayers of Kansas and an equally fine pass receiver in Larry Elkins of Baylor.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hort.

That Jan. 13 National Basketball Association All-Star game in St. Louis will be broadcast live over CBS radio starting at 8 p.m. Big Spring time.

You'll have to admit that digit-dialing they do in naming golf clubs these days isn't nearly as colorful as the names they once used. A few decades ago, a four-wood, for some reason not quite clear, was identified as a cleek or a baffy. A feathery, or a baby dimple, was a golf ball. Things called ready-tees and flight-heights preceded the modern tee. Nowadays, irons are numbered unimaginatively from one to nine. In the dear, dead days, a two-iron was a mid-iron, a three a mid-mashie, a four a mashie-iron, five a plain mashie, six a spade-mashie, seven mashie-niblick and eight a niblick. Midland High will play 1965 non-conference football games with Ysleta (at home), Amarillo Palo Duro (home) and Lubbock Monterey (road) next fall while Midland Lee has booked practice tilts with Lubbock High (road), Amarillo Tascosa (road) and El Paso Austin (home). Freddie Green, son of the former Big Spring police chief and himself a member of Abilene High School's 1954 state championship football team, is now a claims supervisor for the Farm Bureau at McQueeney, Texas. Following the recent Bluebonnet Bowl game at Houston Tulsa quarterback Jerry Rhone conceded that Ole Miss was a good, tough club but added that Arkansas was still the best team the Hurricanes had faced all year. The game of pool has experienced some difficulty living down its past-in effect, that it is an innocent little girl betrayed by big city sharpies—but it is making progress. An executive of the Brunswick Corp., biggest manufacturer of pool tables, remarked not long ago: "Pool had a bad environment." The image created by movies and popular fiction didn't help, either. Whenever such media wanted to let the public know the kid was delinquent, they showed him playing pool. Until recently, manufacturers of billiards equipment haven't experienced much success in uplifting their game, although they have tried hard enough over a period of three decades. Since 1959, sales of billiard tables have been zooming—and apparently they are being purchased by the 'right kind of people.' The increase in billiards tables is most noticeable in private homes. Pocket billiards has become a pet sport in college recreation halls. The girls have taken to the game in a big way, too. Over the years, the game of billiards flourished at both ends of the social spectrum. It was always fashionable for the swells to engage in the sport as an after-dinner amusement—with cigars and in their lavish billiard rooms. At the other end of the social scale, billiards establishments degenerated into hoodlum hangouts. Now, it appears the great middle class has embraced the sport. The billiards manufacturers report sales far greater than ever before and the slander such as that in the song that Prof. Harold Hill shouts in "Music Man" has about been overcome. Remember: "Trouble . . . with a capital T . . . And that rhymes with P . . . And that stands for pool."

Hull Scoreless Against Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Sensational Bobby Hull failed to score a goal for one of the few times this season in a 1-1 National Hockey League tie between the Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings Thursday night. In place of Hull making the fireworks, the New Year's Eve battle was a goalless' duel between Chicago's Denis DeJordy and Detroit's Roger Crozier. Both were extraordinary in the nets. The idle Montreal Canadiens, as a result, stay alone on top of the NHL, one point ahead of the Hawks. The other teams also were idle. It was only the third time in the last 14 games that Hull failed to score. The Chicago star has scored 31 goals in 33 games.

Praises Exchanged By Rival Coaches

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Rival Rose Bowl Coaches Tommy Prothro of Oregon State and Bump Elliott of Michigan have bent over backwards for the past two weeks praising each other's football team. Michigan had hardly stepped off the plane in Los Angeles almost two weeks ago when Oregon State rosters, almost to a man, exclaimed, "They're bigger than we are." Following a joint tour of Disneyland, Elliott said, "I don't know how they can say we are bigger . . . they look bigger to me." This exchange of praise continued through the drills as the Wolverines and Beavers prepared for the 51st Rose Bowl classic today. "We played a couple of teams this year which were about as powerful offensively as Michigan," Prothro said earlier this week. "But we haven't faced one which is as strong defensively," he continued. "It is sure death to try to run against Michigan and quick death to try to pass against them. Our best offensive weapon may be the punt." Elliott countered by saying the Beavers had two of the finest linebackers in the country in Jack (Mad Dog) O'Billovich and Dick Ruhl. "Defensively, Oregon State is as good as Illinois was last year when it came to the Rose Bowl — and the Illini were a big team," said Elliott. He failed to mention that his Wolverines

Hawks And BSHS Open

The Howard County Junior College Hawks break their holiday idleness today with the first of two games in Jacksonville. This evening and again Saturday evening they will be meeting Lon Morris and then Jacksonville Baptist. The latter is coached by Vernon Hartin, several years ago coach of the Big Spring High School Steers and since a successful mentor in the junior college field. Coach Buddy Travis' Hawks have been improving, but they have also taken some lumps as the season has warmed. The East Texas showing may be some tip-off on the Hawk's chances in the western zone. Saturday evening, the Big Spring High School Steers journey to Midland to open district 2-A play against the Lee Rebels. The Rebels went to the finals in the Howard Payne tourney this week, but Brownwood won the title with a 10-point margin over Lee, while getting by the Steers by only one point. Nevertheless, Lee is favored, but the Steers appear to be improving.

Syracuse Tests LSU

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Syracuse tested its vaunted running game against Louisiana State's rock-ribbed defense as they clashed in the 51st annual Sugar Bowl today. Kickoff for the nationally televised game over NBC was set for 2 p.m., EST. The weatherman said it would be partly cloudy and warm with the mercury around 80. Although LSU, 7-2-1, and Syracuse, 7-3, lost their last game and finished out of the Top Ten, bowl officials predicted a crowd between 65,000 and 68,000. The Sugar Bowl seats about 82,000. Oddsmakers thought the Bayou Bengals could contain the explosive drives of halfback Floyd Little and the bull-like thrust of Jim Nance and rated LSU a 5½ point choice. A big question mark was how sound LSU quarterback Pat Screen would be for the New Year's Day classic. Screen is slated to have a knee operation Jan. 4, but Coach Charlie McClendon said Pat was ready to play. Still, McClendon gave the starting nod to Billy Ezell. One of the Orange's unknown quantities was its passing game. Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder spent long hours at his Pensacola, Fla., training camp trying to sharpen his aerial attack. It was Syracuse's first Sugar Bowl outing. LSU played in five previous New Orleans bowls — winning only once when it whipped Clemson 7-0 in 1959.

Spacecraft Slows Signals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mariner 4 spacecraft will send its information back to earth more slowly, starting Monday. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday the Mariner is sending back to earth 33 1-3 bits of information per second, but will have to reduce this to 8½ bits per second. This is because of the increasing power requirements as the distance from the earth increases. Mariner 4 is now more than 50 million miles along its 325-million-mile flight route to Mars. On a straight-line basis, it is 6 million miles from earth.

Rubber Industry Pioneer Dead

Crow May Not Play Sunday

MIAMI (AP) — John David Crow, the St. Louis Cardinals' leading ground gainer, has aggravated a knee injury and may be lost for full service against Green Bay in the National Football League's Playoff Bowl game Sunday. Crow, the team's leading ground gainer with 554 yards, and a pass receiver, tore a ligament in his right knee in the Cardinals' last game. The knee hasn't healed properly and the strong runner has been handicapped. Coach Wally Lemm indicated that Crow would play, but it's doubtful that he will see more than spot service. His place probably will be taken by Prentice Gault. Joe Childress, St. Louis' regular fullback, already is out of action. Loss of Crow would severely handicap the Cardinals, already a one-touchdown underdog to the Packers, who finished second to the Baltimore Colts in the Conference. The Packers have a powerful running game, built around fullback Jim Taylor, Paul Hornung and Tom Moore. The game will be played in the Orange Bowl before an expected crowd of 65,000. It will be televised by NBC with the kickoff at 2 p.m., EST.

Tulane To Quit SE Conference

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tulane will quit the Southeastern Conference in June of 1965 to assume an independent athletic role. The announcement, long rumored, came New Year's Eve from Tulane President Herbert E. Longenecker. He said Tulane would be "better served by scheduling inter-sectional games." "There is no intention on the part of Tulane to de-emphasize football, basketball or any of the other sports," he added. The statement ended a guessing game that began when Tulane made public its 1965 and 1966 football schedules. The 1965 slate included six SEC foes, the minimum required, but the one for '66 had only three SEC teams — Vanderbilt, Florida and Louisiana State. The SEC was slated to discuss Tulane's scheduling at its January meeting in Atlanta. Now the subject, presumably, is moot.

LBJ In Role Of Mediator

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has quietly negotiated settlement of an embarrasing administration family fight that had jeopardized relationships among his administration, Congress and organized labor.

Under the settlement, it was learned today, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has withdrawn his demand for the resignation of Undersecretary of Labor John F. Henning.

Wirtz' attempt to fire Henning had drawn the wrath of AFL-CIO President George Meany and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., among others.

Meany had been furious over Wirtz' demand for Henning's resignation and had threatened to withdraw the big labor federation's unqualified support of the Johnson administration.

The dispute between Wirtz and Henning was basically over a difference in policy approaches to important labor department programs, including what Johnson calls his war on poverty.

Isle Secession Try Challenged

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Chilean government says secession is brewing among the 1,100 primitive Eastern Islanders, and 40 Chilean marines are sailing there to help stop it.

Officials in Santiago privately accuse French scientists and sailors of encouraging the island's natives to break away from Chile and become part of a Polynesian federation composed of Tahiti and other French territories.

Viet Role Lamented

CARTHAGE, Tenn. (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said at his home here Thursday night the military situation in Viet Nam "appears not only impracticable, but impossible."

"We should never have been there in the first place, but that is water over the dam," he told a reporter.

Gore, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "The search must not be for scapegoats, but for face-saving disentanglement."

He said he was in full agreement with Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., who said his Armed Services Committee will make an evaluation of the situation in Viet Nam when Congress reconvenes.

"Many seek to oversimplify the problem by posing dramatic alternatives — win a victory or pull out," Gore said.

"Actually there is no victory to win from a military standpoint, and a precipitous withdrawal would pose serious consequences. I think we should seek plausible reasons or circumstances to disengage with the maximum possible stability."

Bracero Loss Has Farmers Ruffled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who only a few days ago was trying to fire Undersecretary John F. Hennings, has dispatched his top aide to try to head off a budding labor crisis in California.

Hennings, apparently bearing no scars from the feud which brought down the wrath of organized labor on the Johnson administration, leaves today for his home state to try to soothe a sore spot with California farmers over the use of domestic labor rather than foreign, mainly Mexican braceros.

FULL CONFIDENCE

Apparently Hennings has the full confidence of Wirtz after the mediation of Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg settled the angry scrap.

Informed sources said the results of Goldberg's mediation were nothing less than miraculous, but there still were some signs of strain evident around the Labor Department Thursday.

Wirtz was undersecretary to Goldberg before the latter was named to the high court. Goldberg also formerly was special counsel with the AFL-CIO and attorney for the United Steelworkers of America and has close ties with organized labor.

DECLINE COMMENT

Both Hennings and Goldberg declined comment on the controversy.

The two men worked together with no sign of friction all day Thursday, and into the evening, on the California situation, which has implications in a number of other states which have in the past imported more than one million Mexican braceros to harvest crops. This includes Johnson's home state of Texas.

Before flying to California, Hennings said his mission was "to satisfy ourselves that the federal government, state governments and growers are doing all they can" to recruit U.S. workers for harvest.

SPECIAL LAW

A special law which in past years permitted growers to import thousands of foreign workers expired Thursday and the Labor Department is insisting farmers fill the void by hiring U.S. workers.

The present crisis was triggered when a group of Imperial Valley lettuce growers canceled an arrangement to use U.S. workers recruited in a crash federal-state drive to replace the Mexican braceros.

The foreign labor program had long been vigorously attacked by organized labor in this country as undercutting U.S. labor standards, and by church and welfare groups who complained the Mexicans worked and lived under deplorable conditions.

Boy Amputee 'Doing Good'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Ronald Baker entered 1965 in the deep sleep of medication.

Through the night, his brother-in-law sat beside Ronald's hospital bed—in case he might wake and want someone to talk to, perhaps about his leg.

Thursday doctors amputated Ronald's left leg — the one he once vowed he'd rather die than lose.

TO CANCER

The surgery went well and his condition is good. Said his surgeon: "We got it."

He was referring to the cancer below Ronald's left knee.

When Ronald, a handsome, active youth, learned doctors wanted to amputate, he ran away from home. At Flagstaff, Ariz., he stopped running, and came home Christmas, Eve to face the possibility of losing his leg.

Doctors convinced him he'd die of cancer if they didn't go ahead with the operation.

It was performed New Year's Eve at Orthopaedic Hospital. It took less than two hours.

Said his surgeon: "His tolerance was fine." This means Ronald's youthful body withstood the trauma of surgery well.

His attitude, these past days, has been notably cheerful. Said one observer: "He acts like he's going to have a tonsillectomy." He even joked about not dancing the New Year in.

But members of his family, mindful of how he had hitchhiked away one rainy day for fear of becoming a cripple, made sure he wouldn't wake up alone.

GROGGILY AWAKE

His mother, Lois Eisenbeiss.

Robert Buckingham, Ronald's brother-in-law, took her place at the bedside.

Said a spokesman for the hospital: "When he wakes up they want someone there — a familiar face, someone he knows — for reassurance."

Skin Graft Method Told

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A method of skin grafting by which a surgeon can cover three square inches of body surface with one inch of skin has been announced by an Atlanta surgeon.

The method involves cutting a pattern of slits in the skin and stretching it.

Dr. J. C. Tanner Jr., who described development of the method, said he began experiments to improve skin grafting after prolonged treatment of a patient who had suffered burns over 60 per cent of his body.

Using the normal sheet of skin grafting, in which a strip of skin is transferred from one part of the body to another, Tanner and an associate performed 37 grafts on the patient.

The experience started Tanner looking for a way to get more use of the skin available in each case.

He said he decided to try cutting the skin and stretching it. The result was development of an instrument that works like a washing machine ringer.

Skin to be grafted is placed in a plastic covering, rolled through a bladed wringer, taken out and stretched. It acquires a mesh-like appearance.

Tanner and Dr. Jacques Van-deput experimented for a full summer on animals and performed the first mesh skin graft on a human in July 1963. The results were excellent, Tanner said. The mesh grafts in addition to covering triple the space, allowed draining through the slits eliminating an accumulation of fluids that often occur in sheet grafting.

Tanner said more than 100 patients have been treated with the mesh grafting method. Doctors in Chicago, the University of California, Duke University and Laval University in Quebec are using the method, he said.

A display of the technique at the American College of Surgeons in Chicago in October brought inquiries from doctors all around the country and abroad, said Tanner.

CORK, Ireland (AP) — Daniel Corkery, 86, playwright and former professor of modern English literature at Cork's University College, died Thursday.

World Evangelism Congress Planned

WASHINGTON — "Christianity Today" magazine is planning a "World Congress on Evangelism" which could light the fuse for a spiritual explosion with worldwide impact. Evangelist Billy Graham and Dr. Carl F. H. Henry, editor, unveiled the World Congress plans at a news conference here. Graham is honorary chairman of the congress.

"Our prayer," says Graham, "is that through the medium of the World Congress on Evangelism the church today will receive renewed power and a sense of urgency such as was characteristic of the early church after Pentecost."

The congress has been scheduled for West Berlin, Oct. 26-Nov. 4, 1966. It will bring together about 1,200 influential churchmen from all over the world to discuss evangelism. West Berlin's Kongresshalle, which has been reserved for the event, has a main auditorium seating 1,204 persons, plus three small halls wired for simultaneous translations. Congress proceedings will be conducted in English, German, French, and Spanish, and possibly a fifth language.

Plans are predicated on the participation of more than 700 delegates, 300 guests, and 100 observers.

Attendance will be by invitation only. Participants will be (1) leading evangelists from many countries; (2) denominational leaders whose admini-

REV. MILTON MARTIN
Trinity Opens Mission Study

The Rev. Milton Martin, a graduate of Baylor University who has spent four years in the mission fields, will lead the missions conference at Trinity Baptist Church Jan. 3-10.

The pastor, the Rev. L. J. Power, who has been out with a heart condition, will be back Sunday and hopes to direct all the conferences.

"The Rev. Martin is well qualified in his work, and has a burden few men have for World-wide Missions," Rev. Power said. "Trinity Baptist will endeavor to break all records in 1965 for mission giving."

All members and others are invited to hear Rev. Martin and others each evening at 7:30, and are urged to be present Sunday.

'Worker' Clergy Movement Begins

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—A Protestant version of the now-famous French "worker priest" movement is going on here.

Three young Protestant pastors have left their pulpits to become assembly line workers in an auto factory in order to gain a closer understanding of working men's problems and provide a better ministry to them.

Birthdays Are A Remembrance

(One of our readers submitted this, too late for the Christmas edition, but it has a message applicable at any time.—Ed.)

Dear Jesus:
Happy birthday! I know. It has been a very long time since you've really heard from me, and I hope you remember when I used to visit with you. It's been so long, and I have forgotten you on so many of your birthdays, that's why I'm sitting here this Christmas evening to drop you a line and let you know I've started remembering again.

I want us to be very dear friends again. I know I was the one that broke up the friendship. I know that you have been around and always ready to help and guide me, but I got mixed with the wrong crowd and forgot you were the best friend I could ever have...

In most birthdays attention is centered on the honor guest, and everyone invited usually brings one gift for the honored. Yet, when we sit down at your party, no one even mentioned you. As I looked around, I didn't even see a place setting for you, and I wondered why. As my eyes came up slowly toward the door, I saw you standing there!

None other seemed to know you were standing there, and when the presents were handed out everyone received a gift but you. Isn't that a strange birthday party?

After all these years, I kind of forgot what a friend I really had in you, because a few weeks back when I really needed help I didn't even ask you. But you felt my need and helped me.

So tonight, when I saw you in the doorway, I just had to sit down and let you know that I'm awfully glad I have you for a friend. Please forgive me...

Witnesses Make Final Plans

Final instructions and arrangements have been made by local residents attending the Big Spring congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses to attend a three-day training program in Midland Jan. 8-10.

Jack W. O'Shields, presiding minister, announced that Big Spring meetings normally held during the assembly week will be cancelled. Regular meetings will resume the following week.

Nazarenes Post A New Record In Contributions

Per capita giving in the Church of the Nazarene for resident members in Big Spring was a record $196.77 in 1964. International offices for the denomination in Kansas City reports a record high in per capita giving for the entire denomination of $160.28. This was an increase of $6.82 over the previous high mark in 1963.

Giving for all purposes in 1964 by Big Spring Nazarenes was a record $19,677.48 which is a gain of $1,942.46 over 1963. The entire denomination's giving for all purposes was a record $55,462,375—a gain of $3,429,000 over the preceding year.

Total membership in the Big Spring church stands at 130, with a little over 100 living in Big Spring.

Gains in membership brought the denomination's world membership total to 415,470 at the close of 1964. Of this, domestic members totaled 349,270, a net gain of 7,238 over 1963, and membership in overseas churches in 46 countries was 66,200.

The Big Spring church contributes at least 10 per cent of its annual income to world evangelism. The past Thanksgiving offering totaled $1,026, which was a new record high for a single mission offering by Big Spring Nazarenes. A similar offering will be received at Easter.

The annual statistical report by the Rev. B. Edgar Johnson, general secretary for the denomination, showed a net gain of 23 churches making a total of 4,877 in the U.S., Canada and the British Isles. Three of these new churches were organized in the Ahilene District, of which the Big Spring church is a part. These three new churches were located at Bridgeport, Fort Worth Wedgewood, and Canyon. The Big Spring church is paying a district and home missions budget of $1,454 this year, in addition to special offerings which help start new home mission projects.

Thoughts for THINKERS

Did you evolve from a minute globule throbbing in a prehistoric morass millions of years ago? Did that globule somehow through the eons develop lungs, wings, arms, tail, legs, fins, a heart and finally thinking apparatus? Did the confusion of appendages eventually straighten out through some inconceivable happenstance, and become YOU?

No one can prove it. It's someone's hypothesis—and it takes a lot of faith. As a matter of fact, it requires more faith than the special-creation theory, which says that space is endless, that earth was hung in space by a God whom the finite mind cannot comprehend. All that man touches here perishes or has circumference. But the unending heavens stand out on every hand for all to see.

Did the earth's strata form through the storms and stresses of untold millenniums? Or were they formed through the colossal Deluge of Bible record, which saw the "fountains of the deep" broken up and mighty upheavals of land areas with a consequent complete rearrangement of the terrain? Were the great valleys and subterranean caverns washed in one great catalytic action by the misplaced waters racing swiftly back into the vast chasms of ocean that marked off new continents after the Flood?

Seashells on the mountains, petrified trees thrusting out of the cliffides of western plateaus, the weakness of carbon-dating—these elements continually bring science closer to the Bible.

Glickman Finds NSA Work An Exciting Experience

Julius Glickman is getting a liberal education in history and geography, not to mention an exciting experience of exposure to strange cultures and ideas. As a director of student affairs for the National Student Association, he has spent nearly four months in contact with foreign exchange students, majoring on those from Arab and South African nations. In addition, he has been tapped out for several speaking engagements. All of this has kept him hopping about the country. He has eight more months of this before he returns to the University of Texas to complete work on his law degree, according to his plans. One of his assignments has been to visit with exchange students, appraise their leadership capabilities, and to gain their confidence through frank and friendly discussions. NSA hopes that through these contacts, an increasing number of exchange students will return to their homes and to places of leadership. If they carry back favorable impressions of the United States and an appreciation of its aspirations, in time they may be able to affect the course of history in their own countries.

Violent Deaths Cloud Holiday

By The Associated Press
Violent death marred the New Year holiday in Texas as at least 10 persons—seven of them traffic victims—died in the first hours of the festive period. The Associated Press death toll started at 6 p.m. Thursday and will go on through midnight Sunday. A shattering two-car crack-up near Houston on the Gulf Freeway claimed five lives early today. A sixth person suffered critical injuries. Three of the victims were identified as Daniel M. Duncan, 34, Betty P. Gonzalez, 22, and Andrew Gonzalez, 22, all of Houston. An early morning fire at Schertz near San Antonio killed three persons. They were Airman Vincent Conway of Randolph Air Force Base, and his two sons, Thomas, 3, and Kevin, 4. Mrs. Rosa Vika, about 72, was killed late Thursday when she was struck by a car on a Temple street. Joe Larry Hubanks, 21, died in a hospital early today after his motor scooter struck a parked vehicle on an Odessa street.

Accord Seen By Nobleman

NEW YORK (AP) — Lord Avon, who as Sir Anthony Eden was a prime minister of Britain, says his country "will work out of our present difficulties in time." "How long it will take," he said, "depends in part on the extent to which we can accept the realities of our difficulties and try to face them in unity." Avon referred to Britain's economic difficulties, particularly its unfavorable balance of trade. He spoke to newsmen Thursday during a stopover en route from London to a vacation in Barbados.

Barry Notes 56th Year

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Today is Sen. Barry Goldwater's 56th birthday and he's spending it "somewhere in Mexico with his wife and a few friends," says his office. Goldwater, a 1964 Republican presidential candidate, was born in Phoenix.

LBJ Health Tops For Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson approaches his inauguration in excellent health and with a very good chance of weathering the next four strenuous and demanding years, says one of his personal physicians.

"There is no health reason why he should not continue an active, vigorous life for many years," Dr. James W. Cain said in an exclusive telephone interview with the Associated Press. Cain, who is with the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn., added that he has examined Johnson in the White House within the past two weeks.

The President, now 56, not only shows no adverse effects from the recent, rigorous political campaign, but also "I think he's in better health than I've seen him in years," Cain said.

Cain is one of several physicians in various parts of the country who periodically see the President, in addition to Rear Adm. George C. Burkley, personal physician to the President, who has the Chief Executive under daily observation.

Wiggles Free, But Leaves Wig

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — James McQuiston, manager of a market, said Thursday he spotted a young girl as she put a carton of ice cream in her purse without paying for it.

Although the girl got away, McQuiston told police he grabbed her by the hair — and has her wig to prove it.

Drinks From Slippers A Thing Of Past

BOSTON (AP) — No more on New Year's Eve do gentlemen drink from ladies' slippers — for one big reason.

A more enthusiastic acceptance of public health standards has nothing to do with it, notes an article in the current issue of the Harvard Medical Alumni Bulletin.

The basic problem, it says, is that these days "ladies' slippers and shoes are just too big to drink from."

"Once scarcely large enough to contain an aperitif, the shoe of the female has become a veritable tankard, holding 14 ounces or more."

"The ability of the male to cope with libations has not kept pace with the explosion in the size of women's shoes."

In an article titled "Decline and Fall of the Female Arch," Dr. Paul J. Davis lists several factors "which have contributed to the blossoming of the lady's foot from the fragile and finely drawn bud of the 1930s."

"The average female today is about 14 pounds heavier than her counterpart of 30 years ago. No matter how this new weight is distributed in our corset-based society, it is still supported in the same old way: by feet which respond to increased stress in pounds per square inch by spreading out."

Gambling Lessons?

LONDON (AP) — Advocating gambling in schools—as a way of teaching—Prof. G. A. Barnard of London's Imperial College, told a four-day meeting of 1,700 science teachers today.

"A little gambling in schools probably is the best way of ensuring that when the young grow up they won't go in for the more elaborate and dangerous forms of gambling."

The teachers are members of Britain's Association for Science Education.
