

Dear Abby

This Needs Cleaning Up!

DEAR ABBY: A woman who claims to be 60, but who looks and acts much younger, comes to my house on weekends to clean and do my laundry. In bad weather I drive her home. She always invites me in for a few drinks. One night we both got high and I spent most of the night with her. Now she tells me that she is going to have my baby and she is suing me for money to pay for her doctor and hospital bills, and for sufficient funds to keep the child until it is old enough to care for itself. I consulted a doctor friend and he said that a woman that age could not have a baby. My lawyer says she has nothing on me unless she wants to press a rape charge, which would be hard to prove under the circumstances. What is your honest opinion? ON IN YEARS DEAR ON: A pregnancy can be affirmed by a doctor's examination. Your lawyer can tell you what your rights (and hers) are. And next time you hire a cleaning woman, send her home in a taxi or YOU'LL be the one who's taken for a ride.

DEAR ABBY: I am 32 and have fallen in love with a 49-year-old woman. We are both Christian and live simple lives. Abby, the difference in our ages does not mean a thing to me, but it bothers her. She says everyone will think we've lost our minds.

She is very nice looking and has a good figure and in my eyes she does not look her age. I love this woman dearly but she says I may not feel the same way in ten years from now. Could such a marriage work? NO SLEEP FOR TWO DEAR NO SLEEP: Such marriages are "working" every day. All that is required for a good marriage is that the two people really need each other. Time, however, does change people and alters their situations. When you are 33 and she is 78, your "needs" might change, and hence your feelings.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 and the mother of three children. My problem is my hair. My husband wants me to wear it long. Just straight and hanging down to my shoulders like I wore it when he met me eight years ago. It makes me look like I'm 12 years old! I want to wear it up, but he doesn't like it that way. We have been fighting about this for five years. He says if I really loved him I'd wear it the way he likes it. I say if he really loved me, he'd let me wear it the way I want to. What would YOU do?

HAIR PROBLEM DEAR HAIR PROBLEM: You don't have a "hair problem"—you have a "husband" problem. I would wear my hair the way my husband liked it when I was with him. And I'd wear it the way I liked it when he wasn't around. Your husband is stubbornly trying to preserve the "image" he has of you. Don't destroy it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "COMPLETELY DISTURBED": You are now 23, have been married six years, have two children, "hair" your husband, have been going from one affair to another in search of "love," and say if you only had the courage you'd take your own life. Your letter should be printed on the jacket of every high school freshman's English book as a warning to teenagers who think they are "in love," and rush into marriage. Your tragic story points out the high price of taking on the responsibilities of marriage while still too emotionally immature to handle them.

New Drilling Tools Hailed

HOUSTON (AP) — Field testing of new drilling tools and techniques for Project Mohole produced results that in most instances exceeded the strongest hopes, scientists with the project reported. Tools and techniques for an expected 35,000-foot thrust to pierce the earth's crust were tested during a just-completed 32-day drilling program in hard volcanic rock beneath a Uvalde County ranch. Testing was carried out by Brown & Root, Inc., of Houston, prime contractor for the $72 million project. The 35,000-foot Mohole depth is about two miles deeper than any previous hole.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
10 Year, By The Choice Winner

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ K 9 6 ♣ Q 9 8 5 3 ♢ Q 9 7 2 ♣ 8

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ 1 NT ?

What do you bid?
A.—Two spades. If you don't speak now it may become inexpedient to do so later. Partner should not play you for substantial values since you failed to double one no trump.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ 10 ♣ Q 10 7 2 ♢ K J 8 6 4 2 ♣ 7 5

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Partner's jump rebid in spades is not forcing and you have about the best that the law will tolerate for a one no trump response. If this hand will produce a game, partner would probably have been able to bid it himself.

Q. 3—As South the dealer you hold:
♠ 9 8 4 3 ♣ Q J 10 3 ♢ A 7 ♣ A 4

What is your opening bid?
A.—One club, a mandatory opening with 14 points. This is a prepared bid to avoid future bidding difficulties. If you open one heart and partner responds two diamonds, you will find the rebid definitely not to your taste.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ K J 3 ♣ 8 7 4 ♢ K J 3 ♣ J 10 9 4

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—You had a substantial one no trump response and we are inclined to take one further step. However, our choice is for three hearts rather than two no trump, as partner's rebid shows an unbalanced hand not suited for no trump play.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ K Q 10 7 4 3 ♣ Q 10 2 ♢ 6 2 ♣ 1 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two spades. This hand is definitely not the no trump type and preference should be given to rebidding a good six card suit over returning to partner's hearts.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ Q 10 9 7 6 3 ♣ K J 10 5 ♢ 6 2 ♣ 7

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Double 4 ♠ 5 ♣
1 ♠ 5 NT Pass 6 ♠
Pass Pass ?

A.—Five spades. Your spade holding strongly suggests that no tricks can be taken in that suit against six clubs and partner's failure to double indicates that he has few defensive values on the side. The ace should not prove too expensive.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ A Q J 10 3 ♣ 8 6 4 ♢ K Q 3 ♣ A Q

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
3 ♣ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
4 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Five spades. Since partner was strong enough to first bid his own suit and subsequently raise yours, hope for slam should not be abandoned. Your main concern is the heart situation and overbidding the game in spades after the other suits have been mentioned will clearly ask partner to go on if he has no more than one loser in hearts.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ J 8 6 4 3 ♣ A Q 4 3 ♢ J 10 8 7

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid?
A.—One bid trump. This hand is not strong enough to bid at the two level, yet some action must be taken. The only bid available is one no trump which designates a hand ranging from 6 to 10 points in high cards. When this bid is used as a response it does not necessarily promise a balanced hand.

Official Asks For Patience On Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has counseled against "reckless action" in Viet Nam and said he would not have the United States abandon the war or expand it.

Rusk also ruled out for the time being a political settlement of the struggle against the Viet Cong guerrillas — a drawn-out affair in which the United States has invested men, money and materials.

The South Vietnamese can turn back the Communist insurgents, President Johnson's chief foreign policy adviser maintained Sunday as he reviewed the war and the international scene generally in a year-end review on the NBC television network.

"PATIENCE NEEDED"

Rusk conceded he shares with many Americans "a sense of frustration that things are not somehow moving more rapidly toward a conclusion." But, he said, the situation calls for persistence and coolness, not "reckless action which would move us over thoughtlessly in either the direction of defeat or in the direction of a very great catastrophe."

Along the way, he said he does not favor expanding the struggle or having the United States pull out of it.

The first, he said, would subject Asians to devastation and lead down a trail "the end of which no one in any country could possibly see with assurance." The second, he said, would encourage Communist China to become more aggressive.

He dismissed a political settlement — a third alternative to present policy — as impossible because the Communists have refused to give up their aggressive designs.

Elsewhere the debate on Viet Nam continued as four senators urged a re-evaluation of the U.S. role in the Southeast Asian country and Japan's new prime minister, Eisaku Sato, said in a copyright interview in U.S. News & World Report that Viet Nam will have an important subject during his forthcoming talks with Johnson.

GETS AGREEMENT

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., advocated the re-evaluation in ABC's "Issues and Answers" and got agreement from Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., and Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.

The United States, said Morse, should be fighting in Viet Nam "as part of the United Nations organization or as part of the SEATO organization or as a part of the 14-nation Geneva conference organization, but not on a unilateral basis."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted on NBC's "Meet the Press" that there will be a full-scale debate in the Senate on Viet Nam and said "I think it will be a good thing."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said on CBS' "Face the Nation" that members of Congress ought to hold up on taking a position on the war until they get the recommendations of the President.

Long said he suspects Johnson's view is that it is preferable to stay on in Viet Nam than to pull out because if the United States abandons the war "you are going to lose all of Southeast Asia."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told The Associated Press in an interview that a decision on whether to pursue the war into North Viet Nam or to continue the current "unhappy status" is not easily answered "until there is a better evaluation of all the factors that you have to take into account."

A New FREE BOOK for MEN PAST 40

Troubled With Getting Up Nights, Pains in Back, Hips, Legs, Nervousness, Tiredness.

If you are a victim of the above symptoms, the trouble may be traceable to Glandular Inflammation... a condition that very commonly occurs in men of middle age or past and is often accompanied by depression, emotional upset and other many reactions.

Although many people mistakenly think surgery is the only answer to Glandular Inflammation, there is now a non-surgical time-tested treatment available.

Non-Surgical Treatments

This New Free Illustrated BOOK tells about the modern, mild, Non-Surgical treatment for Glandular Inflammation and that the treatment is backed by a Lifetime Certificate of Assurance. Many men from all over the country have taken the NON-SURGICAL treatment and have reported it has proven effective.

The Non-Surgical treatment described in this book requires no painful surgery, hospitalization or long periods of convalescence. Treatment takes but a short time and the cost is reasonable.

Fiery Crash Kills Woman

LA PORTE, Tex. (AP) — A woman was trapped and burned to death and her husband injured when their car left a highway Sunday night, hurtled through an airplane hangar and burst into flames. Ten airplanes were destroyed.

The woman was Mrs. Paul Troy Crawford, 23, of Houston. Her husband, 34, was hospitalized with second- and third-degree burns.

Cliff Hyde, owner of the flying service bearing his name, said several other aircraft were damaged. He estimated damage to the planes at $120,000 and extensive damage to his new $35,000 hangar.

The hangar at the La Porte Municipal Airport east of Houston is located only about 20 feet from the highway.

Princess Margaret Guarded After Threats

DUBLIN (AP) — Police maintained a strong guard around Princess Margaret today after threats against her by the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

to Birr Castle, their Irish holiday home.

Two big trees were felled across the route which the princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, normally would have taken Sunday night from Dublin

Five other trees were partly sawed through, and broken power lines blacked out villages in the area. The royal motorcade took another route, ostensibly to avoid iced roads.

The queen's sister and her husband flew to Dublin Sunday to visit the Earl and Countess of Rosse at Birr. The countess is Snowdon's mother.

Margaret's two children stayed in London.

Police said young IRA extremists were campaigning against the princess' visit with leaflets urging the people of Birr to "show your hostility." A crowd of about 300 cheered as the royal limousine entered the castle gates.

At the airport, police tore down posters saying "Maggie go home" and "Down with the queen." Security men stood every hundred yards along her route through Dublin.

The IRA, banned in Britain and Ireland, demands reunification of the Irish republic with the six counties of Northern Ireland. They are still part of the United Kingdom.

Liner Caught In Sea Storm Docks

NEW YORK (AP) — The American liner Independence docked Sunday—a day late—with 807 Mediterranean cruise passengers who spent a rugged and at times terrifying New Year's Eve in a raging storm in the north Atlantic.

standstill for more than 30 hours, heading the bow into the waves at about two knots to keep the ship from turning sideways into the troughs between the waves.

Fifteen passengers were treated for bruises.

The waves ripped open a weather door and smashed portholes on upper decks.

Capt. Charles Reilly, skipper of the 26,000-ton American Export Lines ship, said the storm was "as bad as anything I've seen in 38 years at sea."

A couple in bed in their cabin 50 feet above the water line had a rude awakening when a wave shattered their porthole and they were showered with bits of glass and about half a ton of frigid water.

The storm, with 60-foot waves and high winds, hit the liner about 500 miles east of New York as it was returning from a 22-day cruise. The captain brought the ship to a practical

The ship began to lurch in the storm Thursday night as things were being set up for the New Year's Eve celebration. Hundreds of champagne glasses were smashed, but the waiters replaced them. The drinks were served, and the band played on. The number of dancers and drinkers dwindled rapidly.

Good Plant Root Vital For Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cotton plant grows taller and yields more fiber when its roots are strong and healthy, Agriculture Department plant researchers report.

Murder To Be Charged

But most cotton farmers till only the upper layers of the soil, leaving the root zone in a condition unfavorable for full root development.

DALLAS (AP) — Police say charges would be filed today against two 17-year-old youths who admitted killing a Dallas milkman as he made deliveries in the northwest section of the city.

The youths were arrested late Saturday in a search that was launched after William J. Fowler Sr., 53, was found lying partly outside of his delivery truck near Love Field airport, dead of a shotgun blast wound in his abdomen. He had been robbed of $36.

Police said the shotgun used in the robbery and two other guns were found at the home of one of the youths.

Texas Violence Deaths Mount

By The Associated Press
At least 81 persons, including 45 traffic victims, perished from other than natural causes in Texas over the long New Year holiday weekend.

The Texas Department of Public Safety, keeping tabs on the 11-day Christmas-New Year period, counted 293 deaths up to Sunday night. Traffic accidents alone claimed 105 deaths in the state. The latest reported deaths included: Mrs. Paul Troy Crawford, about 24, died Sunday night when her car left the highway and slammed into an airport hangar at La Porte near Houston. Her husband, Paul, was injured, and 10 airplanes were destroyed in the ensuing flames. Romney Cannon, 45, of Hale County died Sunday of what the department said was a self-inflicted gunshot wound near Hale Center in West Texas. Alberto McGhee Jr., 21, of Harlingen, was found hanged to death in San Antonio State Hospital Saturday. Ivory Jewell Lincoln, 5, was killed Sunday when a car driven by Horace Phillip Lincoln, 54, of Queen City and a truck driven by Vernon Leonard Stanmore, 19, of Queen City, collided in Cass County. Three persons were injured in the crash. Three persons were fatally injured Saturday when their car slammed into a freeway pillar under U.S. 59 at Houston. They were James J. Whitten, 21,

Rosetta Johnson, 23, and Melvin Roberts, 20. Vernon Hill, 27, and Robert Ballard, 34, both of Plainview, were killed Sunday night in a one-car accident 15 miles south of Garden City, Tex. Johnny Abraham, also of Plainview, was seriously injured. Garden City is 21 miles south of Big Spring. Rudolfo R. Ortiz, 24, Floresville, died Sunday when his car ran off U.S. 181 six miles north of Floresville. Robert Earl Moore, 35, Lubbock, was killed Sunday in a two-car accident five miles north of Abernathy on U.S. 87. Wyatt A. Plattenberg, 21, died Sunday in a two-car collision 10 miles east of Huntsville on U.S. 190. Marion Frank Courtney, 49, of Houston, was killed Saturday in a two-car accident on the Eastex Freeway in Houston. Roy Matthew Lee, 26, Arlington, died in a Fort Worth hospital Sunday after being shot in the chest in a south Fort Worth tavern shooting. Police were told one shot was fired by a woman.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Northern California's emergency food airlifts and temporary housing will stretch on for weeks in the aftermath of the Christmas week flood, the Air

Aid To Flood Areas Stalled

Force and Red Cross predicted today. Gloomy prospects for northern California contrasted with a brighter forecast in the West's four other flood-distressed states — Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Nevada.

Oregon Red Cross officials reported that most of their state's 8,000 temporarily homeless families were moving back to their homes. Washington, Idaho and Nevada weathermen reported their states have returned to a normal wintertime basis. Washington State received a heavy snow blanket Sunday.

BLIZZARD HITS
A driving blizzard stranded an estimated 1,000 skiers and motorists at Sierra Nevada resorts Sunday and motorists continued to have uncertain luck on inland northern California snow-choked highways.

In the flood zone, many homes surviving the rampaging waters are unlivable, the Red Cross said, because of silt, vermin and dampness. About 7,000 families are affected.

The Red Cross said it will be a month before these families can move back into their homes. More than 1,000 families have no homes to go back to.

The Air Force Reserve reported its Flying Boxcars and Globemasters have airlifted one million pounds of supplies since Dec. 23 into northern California's Humboldt County, described by the federal Office of Emergency Planning as the West's hardest-hit flood area.

FOR WEEKS
Food and supply airlifts may continue three more weeks, the Air Force said, since smashed roads and bridges are stalling ground traffic.

About 30 Army, Marine and Air Force helicopters are also dropping relief supplies.

The Red Cross said the receded flood waters had deposited a six-inch mantle of muddy silt on many Eel River Valley homes. Orick, Calif., 50 miles north of Eureka on the Pacific Coast, reported most of its homes were mired in five feet of silt.

Red Cross recovery centers distributed food and clothing on a "no-questions asked" basis at the northern California communities of Orleans, Hoopa, Orick, Eureka, Ferndale, Fortuna, Scotia-Rio Dell, Weott, Garberville, Red Crest, Crescent City, Guerneville, Yreka and Happy Camp.

The Red Cross said its relief work was just beginning and predicted up to six months of assistance.

Found: City Free Of Debt

BASTROP, La. (AP) — This north Louisiana city with about 16,000 residents claims the distinction of being the only municipality of its size in Louisiana and perhaps one of the few in the nation, entering the new year free of debt.

Mayor Jimmy Holt, asked if he expected to go through 1965 that way, said "I think so."

Holt said he and the five aldermen are continuing the policy of the late Mayor A.P. Carter of no unnecessary bond issues and a pay-as-you-go plan through special tax levies.

There is a special five mills tax for street improvements, a special two mill recreation tax and a special cemetery tax of one mill.

The recreation tax, which maintains two recreation centers, one designated for white persons and one for Negroes, finds itself with a $42,000 surplus after a year-round athletic and amusement program.

And the city's fire protection area takes in part of the adjacent rural area. Morehouse Parish (county) collects a three mill tax, and turns it over to the city. Thus, a city fire truck headed for a blaze doesn't have to stop at the city limits or charge for service outside the city.

The city charges $1 per household monthly on garbage collections. It's on a voluntary basis, a homeowner pays or he hauls his own garbage. That brought in $53,269 in revenue last year.

The city tax levy last year was 28 mills, it is 27.5 mills this year, and the goal is 22.5 mills.

Food, Drink In Flood Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — United Air Lines asked its 8,000 bay area employees last week to contribute one can of food each to stranded northern California flood victims.

The airline reported that every body complied, except one man. He donated a six-pack of beer.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Other NFL club owners are rolled over the arrangements Jerry Wolman of the Philadelphia Eagles made with coach Joe Kuharich recently.

Wolman, you'll probably recall, extended the controversial Kuharich a 15-year, $900,000 contract.

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts and himself a fast man with a buck, said of Wolman:

"That man (Wolman) is foolish." Leo DeOrsey, acting president of the Washington Redskins, remarked:

"We would never, never, never give such a contract." If Kuharich turned up with a club that fails to win a game in some future season, he still can't be fired.

I think the money shoved at pro football by television may lead to its eventual destruction rather than firm up its future.

It's prompted wild bidding for players who certainly have yet to prove themselves in play-for-pay circles.

Most of the NFL club owners are men who have made their bank rolls in other lines of endeavor. They know that if they take a bath in red ink in football, they can always charge it off their overall income.

Joe's association with Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner, proved to be enormously good for Joe. Kuharich gave Pete a job when Rozelle was much younger and virtually unknown.

When Kuharich was on the gridiron at Notre Dame, Kuharich threw him an inflated inner tube and ultimately helped him get his present job with the Eagles.

Kuharich has never proved himself as a coach but that hasn't kept him from prospering.

The Texas Sportswriters Association named Johnny Keane its Professional Athlete of the Year but the designation proved embarrassing to members because the fellow who guided the St. Louis Cardinals to the world championship hasn't been an athlete for many years.

The award will henceforth be given to the state's leading athletic personality and designated as such.

A reader asked this writer recently how long Abilene's fabulous football winning streak extended back in the '30's and how it ended.

The streak ran through 49 games. Highland Park was awarded a win on penetrations in the playoffs in 1957, after the two clubs had played to a 28-28 tie.

Sweetwater ended the string of no losses for the Eagles Sept. 19, 1958, by flogging the Eagles, 19-0, a week after the War Birds had opened the season with a 28-26 win over San Antonio Jefferson.

The last game the Eagles won before the Highland Park adventure was against Amarillo High and that by a score of 23-14.

Bobby Cavazos, a headline hawker for Texas Tech back in 1953, is now ranching near Kingsville.

He's also a recording artist of some promise for Mercury discs.

One of the songs he has had taped was "Texas Leather and Mexican Lace," which has "Quatro Rosas" on the flip side.

Packer Flips As Card Kicks Field Goal

Johnson, Gambrell Team Up For Win

By BEN FUNK
MIAMI (AP) - Billy (Peasants) Gambrell, one of the smallest players in the National Football League, made himself a big target for Charley Johnson's passes and the St. Louis Cardinals upset the favored Green Bay Packers 24-17 in the Pro Playoff Bowl Sunday.

The 167-pound Gambrell, a free agent picked up by the Cardinals from South Carolina, caught two touchdown passes from Johnson, one an 80-yard play, as the Cardinals took a 17-3 lead in the third quarter.

A Green Bay attack in the final period put the Packers back into contention, but the threat died with Jimmy Burson's end-zone interception of Paul Hornung's pass meant for Ron Kramer.

Gambrell, who had seen regular service only since mid-season when Sonny Randall was injured, was voted the most valuable player. He caught six passes for 184 yards, setting a Playoff Bowl record.

It was the first victory for the East in the game of NFL runners-up.

Baylor, Aggies Tangle Tuesday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Southwest Conference basketball race opens Tuesday night with the top four teams in the season standings getting together for a quick appraisal.

Texas A&M and Baylor start the campaign with the best season records—7-3 each. Texas and Texas Tech are tied for third with 5-4.

So Tuesday night Baylor will be in College Station where the Aggies always are tough. The Bears will be trying to show they should be classed as contenders and not be regarded as flashes in the pan.

The Bears weren't supposed to be hot-shots this season as Bill Menefee boasted only four letters. But sophomore Darrell Hardy has been doing well to augment such veterans as Spencer Carlson and Winston Moore and Baylor is being eyed with the idea of trouble.

The Bears lead the league in offense with an average of 90.3 points per game. Baylor is second with an average of 81.0 points per game.

But the Aggies are solid, have more than they have lost in inter-sectional play—including a decision over Memphis State.

and probably will go to the post as favorites to repeat with the championship.

Southern Methodist, Rice, Baylor and Texas Tech all have one thing in common—they all have been beaten by Vanderbilt. Two of them—Southern Methodist and Rice—clash at Houston Tuesday night.

Rice, winless for the season in nine games, looks as good as SMU in the Vanderbilt situation. The Owls lost to Vandy by only 29 points, SMU fell by 32.

Boyhood Pals Fuse Efforts To Lead West

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Since they were 10-year-olds, Craig Morton and Jack Schraub have been playing catch with a football.

They did it in grammar school, junior high, high school and finally at University of California, where Morton set Pacific Athletic Conference passing records and Schraub set school marks for catching. Then both signed professional contracts with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

So it should have come as no surprise to the East All-Stars that when Morton faded last Saturday with 1 minute, 4 seconds left in the 40th East-West Shrine game and his West team trailing 7-4, he was looking for his long-time teammate.

Morton found Schraub in the East end zone with a six-yard scoring pass that propelled the West to a comeback 11-7 victory before 60,000 fans.

A steady rain, driven by strong winds, fell throughout most of the game. And the field, already sopping from several weeks of rain, resembled a swamp.

Neither team could manage anything approaching a scoring drive through the first two periods. Fumbles were frequent and players often slipped to the ground with one close to them.

Then Navy quarterback Roger Staubach, the 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, got off a 37-yard pass to Michigan State's Dick Gordon at the East 12.

Gordon and Indiana's Tom Nowatzke lugged the ball to the five, then Staubach splashed to the one where he was knocked unconscious by Washington State All-America Clarence Williams on a driving tackle.

Fred Mazurek of Pittsburgh replaced Staubach and plunged for the score. Nowatzke booted the extra point and the West led 7-0.

Dick Butkus, the two-time Illinois All-America signed by the Chicago Bears, twice centered the ball high over the head of Michigan State's Lou Bobich and out of the end zone on punt attempts. The West "as awarded two points each time on the unusual safeties.

Staubach won the William M. Coffman award as the game's outstanding player.

The game raised an estimated $250,000 to aid crippled children in Shriner hospitals.

Keane Honored By Scriveners

DALLAS (AP) - Johnny Keane, the man who piloted the St. Louis Cardinals to the World Series championship then resigned to become manager of the New York Yankees, is the professional of the year in Texas.

Keane, a resident of Houston, edged A. J. Foyt of Houston, the Indianapolis 500 winner, for the honor in the vote of the Texas Sports Writers Association.

Keane will receive a plaque at the annual sports achievement dinner of the association and the Dallas YMCA.

He got 41 first places votes to 39 for Foyt.

Bob Lilly, the all-pro tackle of the Dallas Cowboys, was third with 24 first places.

Charley Hennigan, the Houston Oilers flanker who caught 101 passes in the past American Football League season, was next with 11 firsts.

Charley Johnson, the Texas who quarterbacked the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League, was fifth with five firsts.

Pro Leagues Plan No Action In Rhubarbs

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National and American Football Leagues, heading for court battles over two college players, plan no disciplinary action against Minnesota and Houston for signing four Oklahoma gridirers before their college eligibility expired.

A larger problem confronting the belligerent pro leagues, though, could be whether they plan to cooperate with the schools and each other in eliminating the practices that have aroused the wrath of college officials.

Executive Director Walter Byers of the National Collegiate Athletic Association is hopeful but also realistic about the prospects of cooperation.

"We have urged these people to set their drafts back until after Jan. 1, but they have refused to do it," Byers told the Associated Press Sunday night. "We've met with them before but not with both leagues together as far as I know. To my knowledge we've never had them in the same room together."

Byers was talking about the possibility of a joint meeting at next week's NCAA convention in Chicago. Both leagues have indicated they would have representatives at the meetings.

The NCAA's concern stems from the signing of four Oklahoma players before the Sooners' Gator Bowl clash with Florida State Saturday. The AFL Houston Oilers signed tackle Ralph Neely, who later also signed with Dallas of the National League.

The Minnesota Vikings of the NFL signed fullback Jim Grisham, receiver Lance Rentzel and end Wes Skidgel.

AFL WON'T ACT
After The AP learned the NFL would take no action against the Vikings, Assistant Commissioner Milt Woodard said the AFL also would not penalize the Oilers.

Under the AFL's by-laws, Woodard explained, the league definitely would approve Houston's contract with Neely.

"We have to go along with that concept if we have different rules, we're in trouble. We've got to compete with these people."

In the opinion of college officials, the leagues also must cooperate with each other.

Woodard said the AFL is ready to do just that. Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL was not available for comment.

The leagues apparently will get their chance to co-operate at the NCAA convention. Committees of the NCAA and the American Football Coaches Association will meet to discuss the matter of early signings and other subjects of interest to the pros and colleges.

"The only good answer," the NCAA's Byers said, "is if both leagues would agree not to draft players until after Jan. 1 and not to draft a player who has football eligibility remaining. That would solve 95 to 98 per cent of the problem."

REDSHIRTS TAKEN
Under the present system, both leagues can draft redshirts, players whose original classes will graduate the following June but who have one year of college eligibility left.

One such case was All-American tackle Jim Wilson of Georgia. He was drafted in 1963, then signed a contract with Boston of the AFL before last season and played the entire season for Georgia. He became the season's first double signer when he put his name on an NFL San Francisco contract after the Sun Bowl.

Neely signed with Houston Dec. 1, then decided against playing for the Oilers and signed with the Cowboys of the NFL last Friday after he had been declared ineligible for the Gator Bowl.

Both the Wilson and the Neely cases appear headed for court. They would be the first legal battles since the AFL won three cases before the 1960 season involving Billy Cannon and Johnny Robinson of Louisiana State and Charlie Flowers of Mississippi. Those have been the only court cases between the two leagues.

The Neely and Wilson cases, however, wouldn't necessarily reach the legal battle stage until next summer when they would begin practicing with one of the teams.

Stallworth Will Go At Midterm

By The Associated Press

Wichita's title favorites will find out this week what their chances of winning the Missouri Valley basketball championship will be without the services of All America Dave Stallworth for the last eight games of their 14-game Valley schedule.

If the Shockers, ranked No. 2 nationally, can get past Bradley at Peoria tonight and Cincinnati at Cincy Saturday, they will be in position to face both in Wichita in the last half of the season, without Stallworth, who graduates at mid-term.

Wichita stands 2-0 in the young league race, St. Louis 2-0 and Cincinnati 1-0 with Louisville fourth at 1-1.

Eight Valley games are scheduled this week. Besides Wichita's two big ones, Drake plays at Louisville and Tulsa at St. Louis tonight; Bradley at Tulsa Thursday; Bradley at North Texas, St. Louis at Drake and Louisville at Tulsa Saturday.

St. Louis beat Drake 62-55 last Saturday at St. Louis, even with its top scorer, Gil Beckemeier, and top rebounder, Rich Parks, fouling out early in the last half. Gary Garrison led the winners with 14 points.

Wichita romped over North Texas 107-88 at Wichita. Stallworth was a 10-for-12 floor shooter and had 24 points before fouling out with 10 minutes left. Nate Bowman, 6-10 Wichita pivot, scored 20.

Cincinnati took third place in the Holiday Festival at New York by edging Princeton and Bill Bradley 71-69. This gave the Valley a somewhat disappointing even break, 6-6, in five holiday tournaments. Even so, the Valley has a 49-18 win-loss record against outside teams, including a 32-6 mark on Valley courts. In the only non-league game this week, LaSalle played at Louisville Wednesday.

Seven Valley teams have won more than they have lost this season, and Tulsa has broken even at 4-4. Wichita, Cincy and Bradley all have 8-2 records. Louisville 7-2, St. Louis 8-3, Drake 6-4 and North Texas 6-3.

Defense Plays Masterful Role For Seminole Club

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - "Our offense was able to capitalize on their defense," is the way Coach Bill Peterson explained his Florida State Seminoles' 36-19 victory over Oklahoma in the Gator Bowl game.

It may have been the only football game ever played with nine touchdowns and only one extra point.

FSU felt the absence of placekicker Les Murdock Saturday. He was ruled out on the eve of the game after it was learned he attended the University of Tampa in 1959. There was some question about whether the limit of five years eligibility from first enrollment applied to him.

Oklahoma kicked the only extra point, made after its first ball game season, was next with 11 firsts.

Charley Johnson, the Texas who quarterbacked the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League, was fifth with five firsts.

Keane will receive a plaque at the annual sports achievement dinner of the association and the Dallas YMCA.

He got 41 first places votes to 39 for Foyt.

Bob Lilly, the all-pro tackle of the Dallas Cowboys, was third with 24 first places.

Charley Hennigan, the Houston Oilers flanker who caught 101 passes in the past American Football League season, was next with 11 firsts.

Charley Johnson, the Texas who quarterbacked the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League, was fifth with five firsts.

Hoosiers Face Illinois In Big Ten's Feature

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Back home again in Indiana—that's where the Hoosiers may wish they were tonight.

Indiana, one of the two remaining unbeaten major teams in the country, goes up against Big Ten foe Illinois in the Assembly Hall at Champaign and, as any good Illini can tell you, it's quite a job to beat Illinois at home.

Take defending national champion UCLA for example. The Uclans, making a run at collegiate basketball's top rung with an eight-game winning streak, went into Champaign early in the season and the Illini raced off to a 110-83 victory.

UCLA got out of town fast and hasn't lost since. Last week's three defending champs won three games and that's considerably better than some of the other ranked teams did.

Michigan, No. 1 team in the country, barely beat Princeton with a late rally and then blew a 16-point bulge to lose the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York to St. John's 75-74.

St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, ranked No. 19, wrought a bit of havoc in the Quaker City Classic, beating first No. 6 Illinois 75-71 and then No. 2 Wichita 76-69 to take the title. Just as the Hawks looked ready to start scoring, it popped that other unbeaten team, Providence, to score a 65-61 victory.

That gave the Friars eight straight victories, one less than Indiana.

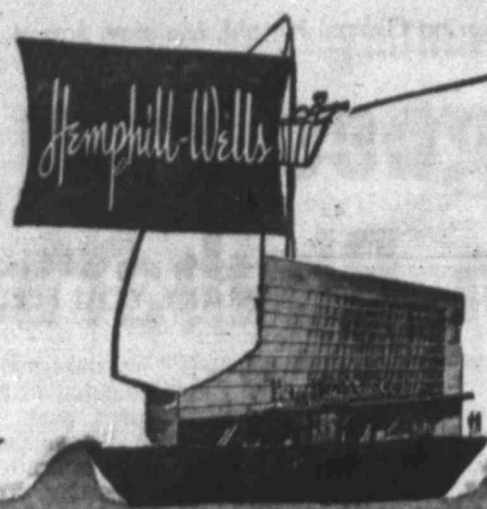

Comer

Larry Morris, promising freshman from McAdoo, who played an important role in HCJC's win over Jacksonville Baptist College Saturday night, will be seen in action when the Hawks meet South Plains in an important Western Conference battle here Tuesday night. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Dirksen Against Change Of Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., said here, he will oppose any effort by liberals to change Senate rules to make it easier to halt filibusters.

Legal Loophole Seen In Ban On Braceros

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The newspaper Ultima Noticias predicted Saturday that Mexican farmhands would work in the United States during 1965 even though the bracero agreement expired Dec. 31.

Informed sources here said a legal loophole is in the ban on Mexican braceros working north of the border: If American farmers cannot obtain local labor, they may import workers.

Wetbacks were the general form of Mexican labor prior to the 1951 agreement between Mexico and the United States which in effect created braceros, or legal workers.

Wetbacks once numbered millions but trickled to a handful after the bracero agreement was signed, sending hundreds of thousands of legal workers north annually.

The Foreign Ministry has acknowledged that California farmers already have approached local officials, and that the Mexican government is willing to go along if workers get proper protection.

STEPS TAKEN
 Steps are being taken to reinforce the border to keep out wetbacks, or illegal workers. Reports here said guards have

Film Actor John Wayne Routs Burglar At Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Wayne began his first movie today since his September operation for lung cancer — and disclosed he had an unexpected rehearsal for his he-man role, that of routing a burglar from his home.

Before leaving for location in Mexico Sunday, Wayne told newsmen at planeside: "It was not exactly a comforting way to prepare to leave home."

Wayne said the burglar apparently scaled the fence at his home in suburban Encino Saturday night and broke in at the back door, "scaring the maid out of her wits."

Wayne said he telephoned police. A short time later they booked Dennis Lee Parker, 22, of Hollywood, on suspicion of attempted burglary.

Wayne, 57, all-time movie box-office champion, disclosed last week that his surgery had been for lung cancer and that he had "licked it."

Sunday he said he felt great and was ready to swing a fist, leap aboard horses and plunge into 50-degree Mexican waters for his role in "Sons of Katie Elder."

"I'm cured, thank God!" said Wayne. "Everybody should have checkups — at least annually. I had mine after an 18-month lapse."

Wayne, a former five-pack-a-day cigarette smoker, said: "Now, I'm chewing gum."

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 219. At all drug counters.

Negro Challenge Of Five Dixie Solons Before House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A challenge by a preponderantly Negro group to the seating of Mississippi's five elected representatives comes before the House today against a backdrop of demonstrations and other moves designed to bar the five.

The challenge and the demonstrations are being mounted by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, the predominantly Negro group that contested with the regular Mississippi Democratic party for the right to seats at last summer's Democratic National Convention.

Democrats for openly supporting Goldwater in the presidential election. In a secret ballot the party caucus voted 137 to 115 to cancel all seniority rights for the two men, forcing them to the bottom of the list on all committees on which they hold membership.

In a joint statement Williams and Watson called the action "repugnant to our representative government" and the start of an assault on the seniority system that will lead to its demise.

dom Democratic party is not a legally constituted political organization because it has failed to meet requirements.

Sunday night and early today the vanguard of an estimated 300 to 700 members of the Freedom Democratic party rolled into Washington ready to mount vigils near the Capitol, picket the White House and hold conferences designed to prevent the delegation's seating in the new Congress.

LONG STRUGGLE
The disciplinary action and today's challenge are not directly related, although both are outgrowths of the long and continuing racial struggle in Mississippi.

The Freedom Democrats have challenged the validity of the state's House delegation chiefly on the claim that 95 per cent of Mississippi's Negro population of voting age was deliberately, unlawfully and systematically excluded from participation in all elections in the state. Mississippi contends the Free-

'Discreet' Budget Cut Okay By GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen says Republicans are "not insensible" to President Johnson's spending problems but will try to cut the budget judiciously in the new Congress.

Dirksen predicted in an interview that his party will give strong support for a reduction in excise taxes Johnson expects to propose.

On other matters Dirksen: — Called for creation of task forces to give congressional Republicans expert and nonpolitical advice on critical foreign and domestic issues. He said this would be "infinitely better" than setting up a party advisory committee, as GOP governors have proposed.

youngest member. Robert is 39, any subject he chooses "but that does not mean that we necessarily follow any view he expresses."

Here are some questions and answers:
Q. If the President does not keep his budget under $100 billion, will the Republicans try to cut it back or will they try to cut it back anyhow?
A. There is something psychological about $100 billion, and I am not insensible to the President's problems in that field, particularly with the figures that have been disclosed that the request itself amounts to well over $108 billion, meaning the regular requests.

TELL INTENTIONS

— Said Johnson should sit down with GOP leaders to spell out his intentions in the South Viet Nam war. He added that GOP members want to be heard before any major decision which they would have to support in the interests of unity.

— Said Barry Goldwater, the defeated GOP presidential nominee, is entitled to speak out on

I think we have a duty to cut the budget wherever and whenever we can without impairing the essential functions of the government, and those things that are the legitimate object of government.

Q. How about excise taxes?
A. Well, there you give me a chance to preen my feathers a little. As you recall, I introduced the proposal in the Senate Finance Committee to repeal the four categories of excise taxes that were put on during the Korean struggle, namely jewelry, cosmetics, luggage, and hand bags and so forth. I really won by a huge vote, 2 to 1, the first time around. But before final action was taken, something happened.

But we Republicans were the pioneers in the field, and it did not make me a bit unhappy when the administration announced that it was going to do something in that field. So all I can say is I hope they will give credit where credit is due.

Wife Of Clergyman Labels It 'Lousy Job'

LONDON (AP) — The wife of an Anglican clergyman says clerics should be celibate because being married to one is "a lousy job."

"I myself am happy basically, because I love my husband," Brenda Wolfe, 28, wrote in the church magazine Prism. "But I am afraid that it is often in spite of the church."

Mrs. Wolfe said when she married seven years ago, she had "high-minded visions of entering with my husband into the great work of converting the world."

turn up at church and every other connected social affair, whatever her domestic circumstances may be. One receives no encouragement for managing it, but plenty of blame when one does not.

"I also resent the fact that I have to be myself, self-consciously. If I 'twist' at the parish dance, this causes comment."

"RESENT IT"
"I now have become so introspective that I ask myself if I 'twist' in order to cause comment. I resent the basic reason behind it — that somehow we are different."

"Clergymen ought to be celibate because no decent right-minded man ought to have the effrontery to ask any woman to take on a lousy job. It is thoroughly un-Christian."

Mrs. Wolfe said her husband read the article before she sent it to the magazine.

"Fortunately, he has a sense of humor," she said.

Color Sets Now Affect TV Ratings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — That fine old television tradition, the New Year's Day parades, had some special significance this year: all three networks broadcast the spectacles in color.

In past years, NBC alone gave us a chance to see the Tournament of Roses floats in their colorful glory. The shift to color cameras by the other two networks means there are now enough color sets around the country to make a difference in the Nielsen ratings.

Commenting on and describing a parade which the viewers are watching must be one of television's most trying jobs. Betty White, who has been on NBC's coverage team for several years, manages to do the most lively, amusing job and seems to have a secret source of off-beat information.

NBC used the longish program to sneak in a number of plugs for its own programs.

"On Broadway Tonight," the CBS summer replacement variety show that made it back as a winter-season program, had its premiere Friday night. It was a more elaborate program with more star names than the ones we saw during the hot weather months.

The first edition of "The Entertainers" in its new Saturday night spot on CBS showed signs of living up to its title. Carol Burnett's material was not as good as Miss Burnett, but there was a lot of bright singing and the addition of Peter Gennaro to the regulars has resulted in some attractive dancing and improved the quality of the production numbers.

Are Projections Adequate?

When the 59th Texas Legislature undertakes to implement the recommendations of Gov. Connally's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, one big question mark must be kept in mind: How trustworthy are the projected college enrollment increases on which the cost estimates for a program of excellence are based?

The committee admits in its report that its enrollment projections are conservative, and they probably are. Most such projections made in Texas since World War II, and many over the nation, have proved far short of subsequent actual experience.

The committee's spending recommendations assume a 7 1/2 per cent annual statewide increase in public and private college enrollment. This would put the expectation for public college enrollment in Texas at about 263,000 in 1970 and 392,000 in 1975.

But a recent preliminary study by the federal Interagency Committee on Economic Growth projects Texas public college enrollment to 330,000 by 1970 and 445,000 by 1975. Should this projection prove out, the spending levels recommended by the governor's committee—staggering as they appear—could barely meet quantity demands without substantial gains in educational quality.

Of course, the massive enrollment expectations might not develop. They won't if the state's colleges are unable to absorb so many, or if educational costs outrun what taxpayers and student families are willing to spend. But that is only saying that educational demand may be retarded by limitations on educational opportunity, and it is those limitations which we must seek to break through.

The point is that the Legislature should view the committee's enrollment projections—on which its budget estimates are mainly based—as probable underestimates. And that means that it should view the committee's recommendations as minimums rather than maximums, if real progress in quality as well as quantity in Texas Higher education is to be achieved.

Give It Close Scrutiny

There is up for consideration an ordinance here which would permit policemen to issue tickets for negligence.

Although an appeals court has held that similar ordinances in some metropolitan points is legal, we believe that utmost scrutiny should be given such a statute before it is adopted.

The principal argument for making negligence in driving a motor vehicle a misdemeanor is that it will cover a lot of situations which now are so nebulous that convictions in city court are difficult if not impossible. It is not the business of any body politic to adopt regulations for the purpose of obtaining convictions. Laws should serve useful, constructive purposes and unless the proposal for a negligence statute clearly meets this test, then it should be laid aside. Negligence now becomes an issue in the settlement of damages, and thus parties to a mishap have adequate recourse to the courts in settling this matter. To make negligence a blanket substitute for recklessness is, in our minds, open to serious question.

Until now he has been a man who inherited the presidency. The four-year term he finally won for himself and on his own doesn't officially begin until his inauguration Jan. 20.

But for all practical purposes it begins today at 9 p.m. with his State of the Union message to the new and overwhelmingly Democratic Congress. The message was not expected to lay down in detail the things he has in mind.

That in itself is one of the best insights not only into the man but into the difference between him and his predecessor, President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy poured programs on Congress with glistening phrases. But, because he had won the presidency by a thin margin, seemed uncertain he had a dominant public backing.

AS A RESULT, he didn't fight hard for his proposals and failed to enlist broad public pressure on Congress to get what he wanted. Although he was a shining figure himself, his legislative performance was very unimpressive.

Johnson, who won election by the greatest plurality in history and will deal with a Congress more heavily Democratic than any since President Franklin D. Roosevelt's second term, is in a better position to demand action.

But he is reported to feel his election success was not necessarily a mandate to try to swamp Congress with programs but rather to feel his victory was a mandate for prudence and restraint.

That interpretation of Johnson's feelings can be taken with a grain of salt. Prudence and restraint just happen to be Johnson's way of trying to get what he wants by figuring the angles in each situation before he makes a move.

THIS POLITICAL attitude can be put another way. He might, for example, be very heavy on medical care for the aged.

change in Viet Nam. The only noteworthy improvement will occur about the middle of the year when, after a bloodless revolt led by three students and an unfringed Buddhist, a new government will be installed headed by a fellow whose name can be pronounced in English.

On the domestic front, keep an eye open for these possibilities: J. Edgar Hoover will be quietly offered a post as quarterback of the New York Giants football team — because of his reputation of never having been thrown for a loss.

A sensational new dance, known as "the Queep," will sweep society circles. This is how it will work: Two partners will lie down on opposite sides of the room and "queep" toward each other like serpents, without the aid of hands or feet. While some ministers will denounce the dance as degrading if not immoral, a prominent psychiatrist will defend it on the grounds that it is a harmless way of getting rid of hidden aggressions.

A MOVEMENT led by Richard M. Nixon will seek to find out if America can survive under a two-party system. Former President Harry S. Truman will denounce it as totally unnecessary.

Late in the year an invisible man from Mars will land in the outskirts of Washington, D.C., to check into the possibilities of using earth as a vacation resort for Martians. After three days he will return to Mars and report to his superiors: "It's no place for us."

But, all in all, 1965 will be a good time to be alive. Just lay in a good stock of aspirin.

James Marlow Johnson Faces Supreme Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson begins the supreme test of his life today. He asked for it, and everything that went before was a preparation for this.

Until now he has been a man who inherited the presidency. The four-year term he finally won for himself and on his own doesn't officially begin until his inauguration Jan. 20.

Hal Boyle Annual Fuzzy Forecast

NEW YORK (AP) — The world will be a buzzing hive throughout 1965 — and you'll have to watch your step to keep from being stung.

This is revealed in our annual uncensored fuzzy forecast of the future.

The crystal ball is even more clouded than usual, but a peek into its mystic depths discloses that during the next 12 months these things probably will happen:

President Johnson will indignantly deny an accusation from Peking that America plans to solve its poverty problem by shooting all its poor people to the moon.

Wedding bells will ring in the White House.

FORMER PREMIER Khrushchev of the Soviet Union will solve the Soviet government's biggest unemployment problem by accepting a post as public relations adviser to President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Germany, which made less out of war than anybody, will continue to make more out of peace than anybody. Japan will announce plans to build the world's first all-plastic aircraft carrier.

Nobody will swim the English Channel in either direction during January, February or March. In June, however, an Egyptian swimming east will collide in midchannel with a girl worker from Manchester swimming west. They will wed in July — underwater.

A scandal will break out in Merrie Old England when one of Her Majesty's ministers is caught cheating at darts in a local pub. Calm will be restored after a televised appeal by Sir Winston Churchill for the nation to stand steady.

But, all in all, 1965 will be a good time to be alive. Just lay in a good stock of aspirin.

To Your Good Health Cataracts Not Difficult To Diagnose

Billy Graham

Everyone in my Sunday school class goes to church regularly. But we have heated debates over theology, and some of them actually get angry. I thought Christians were to be peaceful and loving. How can you reconcile this with the Christian ideal? S.P.

It is so easy to see Christians at their worst rather than at their best. Your observation reminds me of a picture of a respectable citizen I once saw, taken of him standing by a garbage can. We are not to assume that this was his normal environment.

True, Christians at times get carried away—just like other people. But I dare say, that this group you have pictured as belligerent and cantankerous, are not always quarreling and bickering. They doubtless have virtues as well as vices, and to display the one side is hardly fair.

But on the other hand, it is true that Christian people sometimes get into a rut and as Paul said: "Behave unseemly." Paul spoke of carnal Christians, "babes in Christ." These Christians, in the developmental stage, have not yet come into maturity, and just as people make allowances for immature people, allowances should be made for them. Since you seem to be in this group, perhaps you can, by precept and example, help these growing, maturing ones to grow up.

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: When a senior citizen has opacities in his eyes, the ophthalmologists seem to disagree whether a cataract is forming. I was examined by three eye specialists. One said a cataract was in the making. Two others said there was none. Whom do you believe?

Are medications effective in slowing down the growth of a cataract?—J. W.

This could depend on what you mean by opacities. An established cataract is not too difficult to identify—but keep in mind what a cataract is. It is a cloudiness within the lens of the eye, not opaque at first, but gradually becoming more dense.

Thus when a cataract has developed to a degree at which it interferes with vision, there is no difficulty in diagnosing it. Hence, J. W., I would judge that if you do indeed have a cataract, it must be in an extremely early stage, and deciding whether it is or isn't can be a matter of opinion.

The opacities to which you refer may be from something else. The most frequent is "floaters," or tiny black spots in the eye. These are generally quite harmless. Another possibility, and anything but harmless, is glaucoma. This, however, can be detected by measurement of the pressure of the eyeball and other tests. I take it for granted that, after going to three specialists, you have had glaucoma ruled out.

Now as to cataracts, if they are indeed developing, by all means do not become panicky. True, nobody likes to get cataracts, but it is a problem which can be successfully met.

First, they grow at varying rates. Some never reach the point of seriously interfering with your eyesight. Or if they do, they can be removed surgically, and glasses worn to give adequate vision.

I know of no medication which will "dissolve" cataracts or, in fact, actually alter the rate at which they develop.

Medications or "drops" can be used, however, to dilate the pupil of the eye and hence admit more light to compensate in some degree for vision which is gradually being shut off by the cataract.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15,

This Is Fancy Barbering

This and that: Be thankful you don't have to pay $75 for a haircut, as some actors in Hollywood do.

On the second thought, if you made their kind of money, I don't suppose you'd mind.

The barber who collects that kind of money pursues his job practically hair by hair, with a razor yet, and takes from two to four hours for the job.

THE TONSORIAL artist is big league in every respect. He takes 'before' shots of his client with a Polaroid camera. Then he pours drinks for the two of them and they sit down and talk it over. They get out the customer's old pictures, compare them with the new ones, discuss receding hairlines, whether the client wants the black blacker, the gray grayer on more or less thickness on the sides of the head.

The princeling of the barbering profession insists most men wear their want to look neat when they should strive to look well groomed.

ONE REASON it is so easy for Russian children to learn to read, compared to our own young, is that every letter in Russian is pronounced the same, regardless of the word in which it is used.

CONSIDER the case of the woman who sent an invitation to dinner to the community's new doctor. In reply the hostess received an absolutely illegible letter.

Completely at a loss as to what it said, she took her problem to her husband.

"Take it to the druggist," he suggested. "They can always read a doctor's notes, no matter how badly they are written."

That was a capital idea, the wife reasoned, and approached the pill roller. The pharmacist looked at the sheet of paper which had been handed him and without waiting for the woman's explanation excused himself and hurried through some curtains in the rear of his store.

Returning to the scene a short time later with a package in his hand, the druggist handed it over to the customer and said:

"That'll be $9.00 please."

DID YOU KNOW that the city of San Angelo was originally known as Santa Angela, honoring the sister superior of a convent?

The Post Office Department, however, changed both the name and the sex.

READERS, no doubt, did a double take when two separate notices went up in a Plymouth, England, church the other day.

One said: "Strong drink is your worst enemy."

The other: "Make your worst enemy your best friend."

WASHINGTON—What, pray, of the forgotten men of our great society, and their forgotten mates? Are all the year-end recapitulations to close without due notice of them?

What of the old burlesque stripper who has run to flesh and now experiences trouble even in booking American Legion smokers? And what of the postman, alcoholic and terrified of dogs, with still another 12 months to pull before merciful retirement?

Holmes Alexander The National Police Mission

BARIA, South Viet Nam—"Dammit, I missed him!" yelled Wild Bill Quaise of Greensburg, Pa., and the 118th Aviation Company. "It was One Shot Charlie. He was just where he was when he fired at us this morning. Dammit, he got away."

Wild Bill (he had the nickname inked on his flying jacket) had thrown up his helmet and thrust aside the mike as he leaned perilously on the open side of his combat-support helicopter and swept the mountainside with his 7.62 machine gun.

AN INSTANT before he yelled, the rhythmic churn of the rotor blades had been broken by the chatter of his gun, and the reporter who sat between the two gunners was hearing shots in anger for the first time in nearly 20 years.

The pilot, Edward Wimberley of Mulleshoe, Texas, had laid in close against the mountain in the hope of spotting One Shot Charlie, with whom this Huey crew seemed to have a private feud. This crew, and every other one I've interviewed, had a zest for fighting that says something very reassuring about American manhood.

WE LANDED beyond the mountain in rice-paddy country where an outpost of the Viet Nam Army protected the town of Baria, which is a province capital. A few weeks ago this was "safe" country where the Americans in advisory support of the Viet had walked around without sidearms. But throughout December the V. C.—the Viet Cong—had been pushing the war toward Phase Three, which means the final takeover. They had made a practice of storming provincial capitals and holding them for a day or more to show their strength. But I had been told at Third Corps headquarters that one of the most significant and encouraging events of the war had happened on the previous night here at Baria. I had come here to get the story at its source.

I GOT IT from Thomas Avant of Charleston, S. C., the intelligence officer of the American detachment, who told me:

"The significance is that we were able to use a double agent for the first time in this Corps area. This man led the enemy platoon right into a Viet Nam ambush. Be sure and give the National Police plenty of credit. It was their show. We were only advising."

The battle was fought at night under flares dropped by planes. Two

For the camp counselor out of Kraft-Ebbing? For the lonely hearts columnist who has recurring religious visions?

And, to be sure, pause lest we forget the boardwalk humanitarian who operates the accumulator that cures all whosoever may be afflicted with canker, fainting fits, neurasthenia or youthful indiscretions. Must he and his fellow quacks greet the New Year with no salute from the grateful marks?

WHAT OF BIRCHERS compiling their lists, Minutemen skulking in capyrons, and other such patriots and lip-movers? Has Auld Lang Syne no thought for them? Is the Republic they watch by night to turn its back on them?

Happy New Year, one and all, and may 1965 be a year when dreams come true.

(Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

V. C. were killed, two were captured, and bloodstains inspected by intelligence personnel indicated several more killed and wounded. But there was an unexpected and almost unprecedented jackpot. Documents taken from the bodies and captives allowed the Police and Army intelligence to make 12 arrests of undercover V. C.'s in the area.

THESE WILL seem trifling figures back home. The V. C. unit which invaded the area and threatened the province capital was reported by intelligence agents to be only 200 well-armed men under their Commissar, but that is large enough to seize a town and terrorize the countryside. Usually if there is a double agent, taking money from both sides, he ends up by betraying the Viet. But this was a unique instance when the agent thought it safe and profitable enough to sell out the Communists.

EXUBERANT American advisors on the headquarters staff have told me that this, and some related actions when local spies have revealed the location of Communist caves, could be the indication of a turning point. Perhaps the optimism is overdone. But one thing is certain. This war will only be won when the local peasants and townfolk begin to support the home government and to become informers against the Communists.

Suburb Range

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — It was roundup time in the suburbs the other day when a saddle horse jumped a fence.

The Duval County patrol wheeled up in force — three patrol cars and one motorcycle — to keep the horse off the nearby expressway jammed with rush hour traffic.

Patrolman J. B. Edwards, on his motorcycle, got the job of hot pursuit. He zipped down paths, up driveways, around houses and through yards for an hour until the horse finally wore down and Patrolman Fred Dozier slipped a rope around its neck.

"The horse had nerve enough to nuzzle me on the jaw as though the whole thing had been a big joke," Dozier said.

Americanized Ruana

How many ways can you wear Colombia's colorful cloak, the ruana? At left the pretty blonde wears the double-faced garment like a cape over a skirt made of another. Peace Corps Helps Find Uses For Colorful Colombian Ruanas

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

In the tiny destitute villages of Colombia, South America, Peace Corps volunteers are hoping to make a big impact on American fashion.

At the same time, with aid from the Alliance for Progress program they are pumping enthusiasm and creativity into a frayed economy.

Their tool is the ruana, worn for years by the native sons and daughters alike.

Oblong in shape with a slit half way up the middle, and fringed at the two ends, it is a kind of cloak, with the split ends draped around the shoulders and upper part of the body.

Because Colombia is a mountainous country located close to the equator, the climate changes suddenly within a few miles and a few hours. The ruana provides cozy, comfortable, lightweight warmth when it is needed and folds into a neat under-arm bundle when its warmth is no longer required. Obviously, the ruana is ideal for air conditioned living.

Like saris, tourists take them home by the trunk loads. The colors are so appealing, ranging from bright yellows and oranges, or from lavender and blues to the darks. Some are patterned in wide subtle stripes, some in plaids, and still others in solid colors that reverse to another shade.

In the past ruanas were made by individual families in their homes. They were also turned out by small factories utilizing the talents of an entire community. One group raised sheep, another cleaned wool, others wove the fabric and more people cut and stitched the garments.

But when overproduction glutted the small tourist market, these hands fell idle, and stomachs felt empty.

The solution arrived at by members of the Alliance for Progress was to improve the ruana's quality, create many new uses for it, and export it to Americans not fortunate enough to be able to shop in Colombia for their own ruanas.

To the Peace Corps volunteers fell the task of working with the campesinos to improve quality and styling. They found a zillion ways to shape the ruana into skirts, pants and shifts, as well as the traditional stole and capellets.

Thus far their American distribution is spotty, mostly to

New York itself, but the Colombians fully expect the college crowd to discover the ruana for keeping cozy in sports cars, and looking snazzy on campus. Then they'll have a fad and the ruana factories in little communities in Colombia will be humming again.

Natural Look Doesn't Fade

years ago.

Powers is thinking of all types of women—blondes, brunettes, tall, short—particularly girls who were Powers' models.

"These girls will never become anonymous because they had natural beauty, a look that lasts longer than any of the fadish looks that have been stylish—boyish, exotic or what have you," he says.

Powers sees his ex-models everywhere, "looking just as good behind supermarket baskets as they do at great parties." In four decades hardly one has been forgotten—Ava Gardner, Grace Kelly, Jennifer Jones, Rosalind Russell, Joan Bennett, Lauren Bacall, Lucille Ball, Faye Emerson, Dina Merrill, Julie Harris, Betty Furness, Kay Williams (Mrs. Clark Gable), Mona Freeman, Florence Pritchett, Robin Chandler, Olive Cawley, and many more.

Powers' girls were curvied, slim, but never looked emaciated. They came to his agency from city and farm, from here and abroad. They were society girls, office girls, high school and college girls. And he made them famous.

Powers' uncanny method of spotting dormant beauty was well known. He often passed up a beautiful girl for a plain type.

"My formula for choosing models was always the same. I looked for a certain inner glow that time can't erase. But all my girls had personality and intelligence that gave them an outer glow, too."

The Powers Agency started at a suggestion of actor Frederic March and Powers' wife, Alice. The three had become photographers' models to supplement their income from acting. Their first girl model was Dolores Costello, mother of John Barrymore Jr. Henry Fonda, Jeffrey Lynn, Cary Grant and many other actors modeled in their spare time.

Powers no longer has an agency. These days he devotes himself entirely to his 31 finishing schools, which are still teaching the natural look.

PAUL'S FRESH MEATS ARE IN PLAIN SIGHT OF CUSTOMERS

Fresh And Frozen Foods Are Specialty At Paul's

All kinds of frozen foods, including the finest of meats, are available at Paul's Thrifty Food Service, 500 Eleventh Place. Custom freezing is also done by the firm. Delivery service is available for telephone orders to AM 3-3228.

Paul Hood, owner, says he has a good business in freezing venison when deer season is open. Many hunters bring in their kills for processing for home freezers.

The business handles all kinds of frozen meats, frozen and packaged by brand name firms. One of the most popular items is the two and a half-pound economy packages of all items except leafy vegetables.

Paul's maintains a large walk-in storage and refrigeration service to keep all products in good condition.

Frozen foods are available for cash or on three to four months terms, Hood says. Everything sold is guaranteed.

"We do custom smoking on turkeys and deer for special occasions, especially a r e e n d Thanksgiving and Christmas," he said. "Many Big Spring people call on Paul's to have their big turkeys smoked."

"We make our own sausage, and have ground meat for our customers," Hood says. "We do a wholesale business in the area for drive-ins, and make deliveries in the afternoon for the next day's business. Items delivered are all kinds of meats, bacon, sausage, and potatoes. We also serve one of the Big Spring hospitals."

During the school year Paul's Thrifty Food service opens a snack bar for school students at noon, and in the afternoons, when hamburgers, sandwiches, and drinks are served.

"We are offering Preston's homogenized milk at a bargain price for two half-gallon cartons," the owner continued. "This milk is being sold in large quantities to a few West Texas customers. It is produced and cartoned near Dallas and the big trucks make only a few stops, where stores make rather large purchases, which makes the low price possible."

Hood has two regular employees to serve customers. During lunch hours, and while students are after snacks, he has extra help available.

Paul Hood is a native West Texan, having attended high school in Big Spring, and was graduated from Fort Stockton High School. He has operated the business in its present location for nearly four years.

"We invite housewives to come in and see what we have to offer," he said. "We sell fresh meats, by the cut, over the counter. This also includes bacon, ham, sausage, and sandwich meats, as well as milk and bread."

"If customers are unable to come by the store," he said, "they can have orders delivered by telephoning AM 3-3228. We are happy to be of service."

McMahon Concrete Serves Area Construction Needs

Whether it is a driveway, foundation, sidewalk, patio or other concrete job you want done around the home or business, Clyde McMahon Concrete Co. is equipped to handle any size.

Then, too, big job contractors may feel that their demands can be met with the big fleet of ready-mix trucks owned by the company to handle any size. These include bridges, overpasses, curb and gutter laying, street paving, piers, and every other job requiring concrete.

The big mixing hoppers out at their plant on the Snyder Highway allow proper mixing for the job to be done, and help to keep the fleet of mixers moving.

All trucks are radio-equipped to speed up work. If a driver gets a request for more concrete, or for any other special feature, all he has to do is make radio contact with the office and another batch will be on its way in a hurry. All deliveries are speeded up.

building tile or blocks, McMahon carries a big supply of these. Most of the major building around the city is done by using these blocks for partitions, side and back walls, and for vaults. They are also used in walling in back yards for privacy and to keep out unwanted blowing trash.

Flower bed border materials, concrete tables, seats, and other lawn and home needs, are available in ready-built form.

The handy-man around the house who likes to do his own concrete work can find all kinds of finishing tools at Clyde Mc-

Mahons, as can the professional builder who wants the best tools.

Moving, Near And Far, Is Safe With Byron's

"The secret of a happy and successful move is really quite simple," according to Bette Malone, United Van Lines moving consultant. "Confusion and the unnecessary work can be prevented, if the details of your move are organized in advance."

To help movers make all the plans, a small pamphlet filled with details for a schedule of getting ready and packing for the move, is available.

"Through the use of this booklet you can pre-plan your own activities and schedule your work accordingly. Everything has been laid out for you in handy check list form. Follow it and you'll find that moving day can be pleasant and interesting," the consultant says. "The services of United's Home-makers' Consultant are made available to you with the compliments of Byron's Transfer and Storage."

Included in the planning service pamphlet are such things as when to notify the moving company; planning your time while you are getting ready to move; what to do each day as the final week draws to a close; what to do in making an inventory of your household goods; kinds of stickers to use on fragile items; schedule of arrival at your new home; diagram of the house to which you are moving, and location of each piece of furniture, and many other items one often forgets until the last minute.

Byron Neel, owner, is agent for United Van Lines, Inc. and has the facilities and manpower to move a household anywhere in the country with fast, safe, and sanitized vans.

Call AM 4-4351 for information on any move you make.

New Faces Join Texas Delegation

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Three new faces joined the Texas congressional delegation today from widely separated parts of the state.

For the first time in 10 years Dallas is represented in the House by a Democrat. Former Mayor Earle Cabell replaces Bruce Alger, who went down to defeat along with many other Republicans in the November election.

And the 16th District in far West Texas also is once again represented by a Democrat. El Paso attorney Richard White. He unseated Odessa businessman Ed Foreman, Republican, who listed only a single two-year term, but apparently has ideas of coming back.

FAREWELL NOTE
In a farewell letter to constituents Foreman noted that he had merely leased his suburban home here for two years to a new Idaho Republican congressman, then added: "I have made no commitments, plans or announcements, whatever, regarding my political future—except that I intend to maintain an active interest in politics and continue my sound efforts in behalf of sound, responsible government."

With Alger and Foreman both gone, the 24-man Lone Star state congressional delegation now has only one remaining Republican, Sen. John Tower, whose term expires in two years.

Out of the Rio Grande Valley comes the third new Texan in Rep. Eligio de la Garza of Mission. He won the seat voluntarily surrendered by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen. Like San Antonio Rep. Henry Gonzalez, de la Garza is of Mexican heritage, and so becomes the second Texan of such background ever elected to Congress.

While the three newcomers in the Texas ranks were taking office of the 89th Congress, Texarkana's veteran congressman Wright Patman was sworn in for his 19th term.

FOURTH RANKING
Now fourth ranking in seniority among the 435 House members, Patman, the "dean" of the Texans, first took office on March 4, 1929, six years before congressional terms were changed to begin in January.

Evaporation Leaves Great Salt Lake Almost A Puddle

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Great Salt Lake — Western America's largest body of water, the lake with the unsinkable swimming, a leading tourist attraction — is fast becoming a briny mud puddle.

LOOKS IMPRESSIVE
From the highway it looks impressive, if grotesque — candy-striped Victorian spires silhouetted against the desert flatlands.

But there's a chain across the road leading to Saltair. It prevents the visitor from approaching a ghost.

The building is a shell, the boardwalk a mass of rotten wood, the lake some 100 yards from the muddy beach. It's several hundred more yards before the water is above a man's knees.

Only one beach still operates on the lake. That one is in danger of shutting down because it's a long hike to the water.

This is a big comedown for a body of water that in prehistoric times covered 20,000 square miles, in some places 1,000 feet deep. Lake Bonneville, Great Salt Lake's fresh-water predecessor, stood 850 feet over the present location of Salt Lake City. The city now is 20 miles from the Great Salt Lake.

IT EVAPORATED
Geologists say Lake Bonneville faded away because it evaporated faster than precipitation filled it. That's what's wrong with Great Salt Lake today.

The streams that feed the lake are being used more and more for irrigation. Rainfall has been below average the past decade. Evaporation has shrunk the lake to its lowest level since Mormon settlers began keeping track in the 1850s.

As the water level has gone down the salt content has gone up to 27 per cent. This has left a collar of precipitated salt around the shore. Larvae breed in the salt marshes, giving the lake a heady aroma that often repels tourists attracted by the no-sink legend.

"Few visitors to the Salt Lake region care to miss the opportunity of swimming in the lake where one cannot sink," says a pamphlet written in 1949 by David E. Miller and still on sale at Salt Lake City newsstands.

"NOT TRUE NOW"
"I have to admit that's not true now," says Miller, a history professor at the University of Utah.

Miller is a member of the Great Salt Lake Authority, a group appointed by the state to study ways of redeveloping the lake. The authority reflects the concern of civic leaders who see tourists approach the water, do a quick about-face and head for the nearest fresh-water pool. Some of them head straight out of Utah, which disturbs civic leaders even more.

So far the redevelopers have been unable to agree on how the redevelopment should be done. The Great Salt Lake Authority has approved a plan to test a dike of copper tailings — the waste product of Kennecott Copper Corp.'s plant at Magna on the south shore. The tailings, powdered leftovers are now dumped in a pond behind the plant.

Lonely Streetcar
A relic of streetcar days sits atop Portland, Ore. West Hills with few visitors after more than six inches of snow in past week. Little snow accumulated in most of city, but in cool hills it froze to trees and ground. Streetcar sits near scenic viewpoint where chains are needed for access with six inches of snow on ground. ABOUT HALF OF THEM

Texas Members In House To Be In Rayburn Building

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately half the Texas House members will move into the $100 million Sam Rayburn Office Building in January.

PATMAN

The offices will be assigned on seniority. All members who came here for the 75th Congress in 1937 or earlier will be permitted to file first for suites. Wright Patman, Texarkana; George Mahon, Lubbock; W. R. Poague, Waco; a brother of Albert Thomas, Houston, are in the group.

Although Patman will rank fourth in seniority among the 435 House members he is not expected to avail himself of the privilege of having almost any suite in the building he might want. He likes his present quarters on the street level at the front of the Longworth office building.

At least four other veteran members from outside of Texas are not expected to move into the new building—Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., former Speaker Joe Martin, R-Mass., Minority Leader Charles Halleck, R-Ind., all of whom have suites in the Capitol proper, and

Rep. Howard Smith, D-Va., whose suite is opposite Patman's. Thus Mahon, who entered Congress Jan. 3, 1935, and Poague and Thomas, who have served since Jan. 3, 1937, certainly will have their choice of desirable suites.

At least nine other Texas members have seniority which qualifies them for one of the 169 Rayburn suites: Reps. O. C. Fisher, San Angelo; Olin Teague, Bryan; Clark Thompson, Galveston; Omar Burleson, Anson; Lindley Beckworth, Gladewater; John Dowdy, Athens; Walter Rogers, Pampa; Jack Brooks, Beaumont; and Jim Wright, Fort Worth.

Newer congressmen will get space in either the Longworth or the Cannon buildings. Newly elected Rep. Richard White, El Paso, won't know just where he'll land for some time yet, but some other details are being looked after by a young man who is to serve on his staff.

The "aide-designate" is Alfred Sheppard, 24, Odessa, son of a former Texas secretary of state. A graduate of the University of Texas law school in August, young Sheppard came here in October to work for the national Citizens for Johnson and Humphrey Committee.

Sheppard and his wife, the former Ava Nell English of San Antonio, were married last June. They spent their first week here as house guests of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Buchanan. Buchanan is a former Texan who served as chief of protocol in the Eisenhower administration. Mrs. Sheppard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas English of San Antonio.

Next in seniority among the Texans in Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock, who assumed office Jan. 3, 1935. With the opening of the 89th Congress he begins his first full term as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

Eight other veteran Texas House members were repeating the oath for the 10th time or more as the new session got under way. They are Reps. W. R. Poague, Waco; Albert Thomas, Houston; O. C. Fisher, San Angelo; Lindley Beckworth, Gladewater; Olin Teague, Bryan; Clark Thompson, Galveston; Omar Burleson, Anson.

MARSHALL, TEX. (AP) — A White House spokesman has assured the young widow of a serviceman killed in South Viet Nam that the United States has no intention of pulling out of the Asian hot spot.

The widow earlier this week had pleaded with President Johnson to "send what is needed to win the war" so that her husband's death will not have been in vain, the Marshall News Messenger said in a copyrighted story Thursday.

LETTER TO LBJ
In a letter to the President Monday, Theresa Butler Dodson, 20, expressed her fear of a U.S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam. Her husband, Pfc. Freddy D. Dodson was killed June 30 in a helicopter crash.

"I beg of you to please not let my husband die in vain. Please. If you have any heart at all, you will not let this happen. You will send what is needed to win this war over there. I realize you

Oil Industry Exec Dead

TEMPLE (AP) — Clyde H. Alexander, an oil industry executive who started to work in the Pennsylvania oil fields when he was a boy of 14, died Sunday at Scott and White Hospital after a long illness. He was 83.

Last rites are scheduled for 10 a. m. Tuesday at the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas. Entombment will be in Hillcrest Mausoleum.

A native of Millbrook, Pa., Alexander went to work in oil fields of Oklahoma Territory in 1895. He advanced rapidly and was named vice president and general manager of Phillips Petroleum Co., a post he held until 1934.

Publisher's Wife Dead

BRYAN (AP) — Funeral services for Mrs. Mills P. Walker, wife of the publisher of the Bryan Daily Eagle, were to be conducted here today.

Mrs. Walker died at her home Sunday. She was 75.

A native of Brazos County, Mrs. Walker was a long-time civic leader in Bryan. She was a member of the Central Baptist Church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Walker is survived by three daughters, Misses Shirleene Walker and Mrs. Coulter Hopp, both of Bryan, and Mrs. David Wilson of Fort Worth, and nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

EMPLOYERS GET QUARTERLY FORMS
District Director of Internal Revenue Ellis Campbell Jr., said today that employers in the Dallas district received through the mail on or about Dec. 31, pre-addressed Forms 941, "Employers Quarterly Federal Tax Return" for use in reporting income taxes withheld and Social Security taxes for the calendar quarter ending Dec. 31, 1964.

Gun Linked In 2 Deaths

FORT WORTH (AP) — A 17-year-old Fort Worth youth committed suicide with the same gun that killed a south side grocer four hours earlier, police said.

Jessie Lawrence Slayton was found shot to death in the yard of his sister's home four hours after B. J. Wilson, 55, was shot three times Saturday night.

Justice of the Peace Bill Matthews ruled the youth's death a suicide. Police did not immediately establish any connection between the two deaths. An acquaintance of Slayton's was arrested but police said he denied knowledge of the crime.

Pistol Discharge Kills Man In Bar

REYNOSA, MEXICO (AP) — Guadalupe Serna Soto, 34, was shot to death in a bar here when a pistol hit the floor and discharged.

Serna's son, Roberto, works in the bar and saw the accident. Police questioned the bar owner.

Auto Crashes Bedroom Wall

KANSAS CITY, MO. (AP) — A car spun off an elevated section of U.S. 40 and crashed through the bedroom-wall of a house trailer in the heart of America trailer court beside the highway early Sunday.

Mrs. Frank W. Minor, 33, asleep in the trailer, suffered fractures of both legs. Her husband was thrown from bed but escaped serious injury. Their four children were not hurt.

The highway is 20 feet above the trailer court and police said the car sailed about 50 feet through the air before smashing through the trailer.

The driver, William L. Crouch, told police another car forced him off the highway.

SAC Bombers Due Over Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Strategic Air Command bombers will streak high over Chicago today, beginning a three-month training mission expected to strain windows and perhaps nerves to the breaking point.

Propane Tank Cars Overturn

By The Associated Press
Loaded propane gas tanks were overturned in populated areas Sunday in two derailments of the Boston & Maine Railroad — at Dover, N.H., and Hooksett Falls, N.H.

There was no fire or explosion, but both communities experienced tense hours as the tanks were surrounded by firefighting equipment and inspected.

Two tank cars, containing about 40,000 gallons of the gas, overturned in a business-residential-district of Dover, 300 feet from a church where services were being held.

A 30,000-gallon tank car was one of eight cars derailed at Hooksett Falls near a number of homes and only a few feet away from the town center.

Chicago (AP) — Strategic Air Command bombers will streak high over Chicago today, beginning a three-month training mission expected to strain windows and perhaps nerves to the breaking point.

Residents have been warned to expect repeated sonic booms caused by B58 Hustler bombers flying at supersonic speeds. The planes are attached to the 395th Bomb-Wing at Bunker Hill Air Force Base in Indiana.

Shooting Nears On Film 'Hawaii'

By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Filming will start on Washington's Birthday for what may be the biggest movie project of 1965 — the $10 million "Hawaii."

The site of initial shooting: 150 miles above the Arctic Circle off Bodo, Norway. If that seems like a strange place to begin a film about the history of Hawaii, director George Roy Hill explains:

"We'll do the scenes there of the missionaries sailing through the Straits of Magellan en route from New England to the islands. The geography is very similar off Norway, and we will be near towns where the crew can headquarter. That wouldn't be possible at the straits."

headquarters. The filming will come 5 1/2 years after the James Michener novel was purchased pre-publication.

WHY THE WAIT?

"Why so long-a wait?" "We had an unfortunate start," explained Mirisch. "Fred Zinnemann worked on the picture for a long time, and he came to the conclusion that the story should be told in two pictures. We decided that wasn't feasible. The whole idea of two pictures being made and shown in tandem wasn't a commercial venture."

Zinnemann left the project and Hill was enlisted. But the weighty Michener tome may still end up as two films.

"We'll take the story from prehistoric times up to about 1862," Hill explained. "That will include the Polynesian period, the story of the missionaries, some of the Chinese and a little of the Japanese.

"If the picture is well received, the rest of the novel might be put into another film. We would jump to a whole new generation in the story."

JULIE SIGNED

The film makers said the Norwegian shooting would include none of the principal cast members — Julie Andrews is the first to be signed. The cast will begin work at a New England location which is being selected. The company would then report to Hollywood for New England interior scenes.

The preponderance of the movie will be shot in Hawaii, of all places. The site will be an old Army howitzer base at Maku on Oahu. A second unit will also film some backgrounds at Bora Bora, whence came the primitive Hawaiians.

Shooting time: 120 days of major production. That's a hefty schedule by today's standards, but far less than the time taken for overweight epics like "Cleopatra" and "Mutiny on the Bounty."

"We'll have a finished script before we start shooting," Hill assured. "I don't intend to make a career of 'Hawaii.'"

Too-Tall Girl Made Shorter

OSWESTRY, England (AP) — Surgeons termed fully successful today the project to shorten Anne Rowston's legs.

Anne, 19, was 6 feet 7 1/2 inches tall. Now she is just over 6 feet. And that was the whole idea: to make her a shorter girl.

She underwent surgery for the fourth time at the Oswestry Orthopedic Hospital last Saturday. Today she smiled in her bed as a hospital bulletin described her condition as "quite satisfactory."

By removing pieces of bones from her legs in the four operations, the doctors reduced her height by more than seven inches.

Over 4,800 Eggs Lost In Fire

Over 4,800 fresh eggs went up in smoke, along with the building, washing and grading equipment, and electric motors, when a fire broke out Friday at the Woner Robinson farm northeast of Big Spring. The fire was formerly listed as on the Lacy Robinson farm.

Big Spring firemen were called to the farm but arrived too late to save the building and contents.

"We don't know how the fire started," Mrs. Robinson said this morning, "but maybe our customers will understand if no eggs are delivered this week."

Indonesian Reds Keep Squeeze On Sukarno

JAKARTA (AP) — President Sukarno — pledged to crush Malaysia abroad and beset by economic troubles at home — is being pushed by Indonesia's militant Communists for a bigger role in his government.

An acute crisis of soaring prices of essential commodities is the vehicle the Indonesian Communist party — PKI — has seized upon to force Sukarno to let them into his inner government circle.

Over the years Sukarno has managed to keep the Reds at arm's length, despite their demands and despite the fact that the PKI is one of Indonesia's best organized and regimented political parties, with an estimated membership of 2 1/2 million.

So far the Communists have only three government ministers who are more or less in executive positions.

OGLE ECONOMY
 One of the things they claim they would be able to do better than non-Communist incumbents is run the country's economy.

They point to the galloping inflation that saw the value of the Indonesian rupiah pegged at 10,000 to $1 at one point in December. Two months ago the exchange rate was 3,000 to $1. Businessmen and merchants consider the dollar — not the rupiah — as the base of their capital.

The Communists do not differ with Sukarno over his crush-Malaysia program, even calling for it to be intensified; they parrot Sukarno's line that the neighboring federation is a neo-colonialist venture by Britain.

PKI party boss D. N. Aidit said recently Indonesia's economic difficulties are not due to the Malaysian campaign but to corruption and mismanagement.

REDS PROTEST
 Since the price spiral began, the Communists have been protesting directly to Trade Minister Adam Malik and Third Deputy Prime Minister Chaerul Saleh, also in charge of development.

As always, they have been careful not to criticize Sukarno personally.

The Reds demand that corruptors of the economy be dismissed or rehabilitated. They have called for execution of what they call "capitalistic bureaucrats" who have embezzled one million rupiahs or more.

Observers here say the Reds see in the crisis a chance to realize their old dream of sweeping into government positions on a broad front. The obstacles to get into state-run enterprises as well as high government posts.

Duke Will Leave Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — The Duke of Windsor, recovering from abdominal surgery, was expected to leave Houston for New York about Wednesday.

John Allen, manager of the Warwick Hotel, where the duke and his duchess have been living since the former British King left Methodist Hospital, said he understood the royal couple would check out by Thursday at the latest.

The duke, 70, entered the hospital Dec. 14 and on Dec. 16 Dr. Michael DeBakey removed an arterial blister, or aneurysm, from the duke's aorta, the main artery.

The ballooning area, the size of a grapefruit, was replaced with a synthetic tube designed by DeBakey.

Ex-Slave Marks His 104th Year

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Richard Thomas, an ex-slave, marked his 104th birthday with greetings that included a card from President Johnson.

Thomas was born in Versailles, Ky., on New Year's Day, 1861. He lives with a son and daughter-in-law.
