Cities Need Water Now, Hearing Told

By JOE PICKLE

Cities furnished by the Colorado River Municipal Water District are "right up to the lick log and if they did not need water from a proposed lake at Robert Lee now, they would not ask for it, S. W. Freese, the CRMW's engineer, told the Texas Water Commission in closing the prolonged hearing on the lake application Wednesday.

In a whirlwind finish, the commission recessed the hearing, first begun Dec. 14, and set Feb. 8 as the time for submission of briefs. Elbert Hooper, CRMW attorney, asked for an immediate ruling in view of the urgency of the situation. There is no indication as to when a decision may be expected, but CRMW officials were confident the TWC would act as rapidly as it can.

"If you need water for municipal purposes, why are you selling it to oil companies?" demanded State Sen. Charles Herring, representing the protesting Lower Colorado River Authority and the City of Austin.

GOING TO QUIT

"We're going to have to quit it," replied Freese. "Unless we get heavy rain next spring we're going to have to stop."

He added that the CRMW had been selling water temporarily surplus to municipal needs in order to keep water charges from going unnecessarily higher.

When the senator kept hitting at the water sales for oil field repressuring, Freese pointed out that these were not only profitable to the district, but that a permit had been issued for the purpose, but that "this has been very valuable for the economy of the entire area."

"Senator," he said, his hand rapping the table, "if we didn't need another drop for municipal water, we would not build this dam at all. These cities need this water right now for municipal purposes. They will need it before we can build it."

Opponents kept referring to 29,000,000 acre-feet they said in the Ogallala formation, but Freese countered that virtually none of this was in the district territory and was no more available to the CRMW than the vast ground water resources around San Antonio available to the City of Austin.

He quoted water consumption figures showing that water consumption in the CRMW cities has been growing by 6 to 9 per cent per annum and that last year's draw on Lake J. B. Thomas was 22.74 million gallons per day and the safe yield (allowing for no reserves) was 22.9 million gallons per day.

The district's plan to furnish Midland with surface water is wholly dependent upon getting the Robert Lee Lake. Freese said that Midland's demands had gained from 7 to 9 1/2 per cent per annum during the past four years and now was at 10.7 per cent per annum. Although Midland has leases to develop water wells in Andrews County, this source and the lake supply will be necessary to meet Midland's demands, declared Freese.

NO PROTEST
In the closing moments of the hearing, which first began Dec. 14 and was recessed over the holidays, Pat Hall, San Angelo, attorney for the Upper Colorado River Authority entered a statement that the UCRA's lack of protest was conditioned on the CRMW taking care of municipal water needs in Coke, Rumples and Sterling Counties.

Ford Merritt, city manager at Colorado City, read into the records contracts which Colorado City has for Texas Electric Service Company for water rights and the present Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion Creek levels (the contracts are tied to certain lake levels), and said that the only other source of water Colorado City had was 16 wells capable of producing about 300,000 gallons a day for the 6,500 population.

Mitchell County interests, represented by Charles Griggs, Sweetwater, had appeared as protestants when plans were made to move the location from Mitchell County downstream to Coke County.

Frank C. Irwin Jr., representing downstream irrigators and a few Rumples County riparian rights owners, tossed out a hint for conciliation of water differences on the Colorado River and a veiled threat of a long legal action by citing another contested case which has dragged through three years of legal maneuvers without getting to actual trial.

OTHER TESTIMONY
Other testimony Wednesday was mainly from C. R. Marks of Lockwood, Andrews & Newham, Houston consulting engineers. Marks submitted a report, requested by the LCRA, stating construction of the Robert Lee dam would infringe on water rights of the authority, the city of Austin and downstream interests below Austin.

The LCRA opposes the project, contending it is unnecessary at this time and would grab water that flows into the authority's highland lakes chain.

Elbert Hooper of Austin, counsel for the CRMW, cross-examined Marks in the afternoon.

"Would you say there would be some times between now and the year 2020 that there would be water that could be stored in Robert Lee Reservoir without interfering with specific demands for water?" Hooper asked.

"That is true, with certain qualifications," said Mars. The engineer said, however, there have been shortages in the Colorado's natural runoff during the past three years which had to be met with releases from the highland lakes, particularly Lakes Buchanan and Travis.

"Yes," Marks answered. "The situation doesn't really become falling health for several years. He spent several days in an Austin hospital recently and attended only a few of the 12 monthly statewide oil prorations hearings held by the commission during the year. He has spent much of his time at his home in Amarillo.

SINCE 1932
Thompson was elected to the commission in 1932, when the infant Texas oil industry was getting out of hand in East Texas. His efforts in oil, and later gas, conservation principles won him recognition from most industry groups and the United States and foreign governments.

Thompson is in Amarillo, where he has been since before Christmas. One of his last official acts, and the few orders he signed during the year, was one electing Ramsey chairman of the three-man board. Thompson would have won the post under normal rotation. Commission sources said he took the action from a hospital bed.

LBJ To Seek Reduction Of Gold Backing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson tentatively plans to ask Congress to eliminate the gold backing on part of the nation's money supply, it was learned today.

The plan would leave unchanged the 25 per cent gold backing on U.S. currency.

It would make an additional $5 billion in gold available for future increases in the money supply or to meet international obligations.

The plan calls for elimination of the legal requirement for a 25 per cent gold backing on reserves which form the basis of the U.S. banking system. The move would be only the second major change in relationship between money and gold since the United States abandoned the strict gold standard in 1934.

MONEY SUPPLY
Highly placed sources said Johnson feels further increases in the money supply will be needed since the economic signs point to a fifth straight year of business expansion.

Although laymen tend to think of money only as the currency they hold in their pockets and safes, economists regard bank accounts as an even more important medium of exchange.

Banks must keep a certain percentage of their deposits in Federal Reserve banks. In turn, the Federal Reserve must maintain a supply of gold equivalent to 25 per cent of these bank reserves. It is this legal percentage that Johnson favors repealing.

HAS FREEDOM
The Federal Reserve Board, which enjoys a large measure of independence, now has the power to reduce or eliminate the 25 per cent gold requirement on both currency and reserves for a two-week period. It can keep renewing this action indefinitely.

However, most of Johnson's monetary advisers advocate a request to Congress as a more orderly method.

The ratio of gold to currency and reserves has gone down in recent years for two reasons: A steady, moderate expansion of the money supply to keep pace with a growing economy, and a decline in the gold stock due to a deficit in the international balance of payments.

The ratio was 37.9 per cent on Nov. 30 compared to 30.3 per cent a year earlier and much higher ratios several years ago.

President Seeks Wider Medicare Health-Insurance Package Offered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a broad health insurance-health care package that includes a suggestion that the federal government pay part of the basic operating costs of medical and dental schools.

Johnson, submitting a message entitled "Advancing the Nation's Health," plugged first for enactment this year of medical insurance for persons 65 and over under the Social Security program.

HIGH PRIORITY
He made the message his first one on a specific subject in the new session, thereby giving it high priority.

"I believe this year is the year when, with the sure knowledge of public support, the Congress should enact a hospital insurance program for the aged," the President said.

Johnson called, too, for a five-year program of grants "to develop multipurpose regional medical complexes for an all-out attack on heart disease, cancer, stroke and other major diseases."

"BUILD CENTERS"
Aides said 32 medical centers would be built in various parts of the country at a cost of $1.2 billion.

Another major new proposal would set up a system of grants "to help cover basic operating costs of our health profession schools in order that they may significantly expand both their capacity and the quality of their educational programs."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's eye was on the nation — not just the Deep South — when he called for elimination of obstacles to voting, a highly authoritative source said today.

The source said Johnson wants Congress to take steps aimed at reversing the nation's historically low voter turnout as well as ensuring the rights of Negroes to vote in the South.

The Justice Department, it was understood, will advise the President whether to seek his goal through legislation, a constitutional amendment, or both.

The administration is known to be considering an amendment that would end literacy tests as a qualification for voting and that would fix residence requirements for voting in federal elections.

Oil Operators Deny Salt Released In City Water

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission has under advisement today Limestone County oil operators' denials that they discharged salt water into city water supply sources as charged by the town of Groesbeck.

Six operators in the 45-year-old Mexia oil field told commission examiner Mac Coker Wednesday they have not discharged brine into Jacks Creek since 1962. The creek flows into the Navasota River, source of the city water plant.

Child Dies Of Injuries

STANTON — Little Gloria Buck, 14-months-old daughter of Acorn June Buck, of Stillwell, Okla., died at 9:10 a.m. today in Physician's Hospital in Stanton, following injuries received in a car-truck collision Wednesday morning. Her mother, Mrs. Jennie Buck, 23, was dead on arrival at the hospital following the wreck, and the driver of the car in which the two were riding, C. J. Soap, 21, also of Stillwell, was taken to a Midland hospital with fractured legs, arm and shoulder.

Gloria lived about 24 hours after the accident. Arrangements for mother and daughter are pending at Stillwell, Okla., where the bodies of both will be taken this afternoon.

Gloria's father was treated at the hospital for shock following the accident.

He was driving a truck, ahead of the car, and had turned into a cafe parking lot. Soap attempted to turn into the lot, and made a left turn from the south lane of US 80, in front of a semi-trailer truck owned by T. E. Mercer and driven by Albert James Rowe Jr. of Odessa. According to Police Chief Bob Smith of Stanton, two other Buck children were riding in the truck with their father. Rowe was not injured.

Soap's condition, at the Midland hospital, was reported as satisfactory this morning. He began to complain of back pains late Wednesday, and was uncomfortable for several hours.

Sukarno Standing Pat On U. N. Withdrawal

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign diplomats in Jakarta said today that President Sukarno still insists he will withdraw Indonesia from the United Nations.

The diplomats, who saw Sukarno in the past few days, refused to be identified.

Sukarno was to address a mass rally tonight, one week after threatening in another speech to pull Indonesia out of the world organization. State Minister Soepeno said the president would make good his threat.

ENVOY PARADE
 A parade of foreign ambassadors continued to call on Foreign Minister Subandrio to discuss Indonesian withdrawal from the United Nations. Only the Red Chinese were reported approving the move.

Indonesian delegates at U.N. headquarters in New York informed officials of the organization orally last Friday that their government was withdrawing because Malaysia — which Sukarno has sworn to crush — was admitted to the Security Council. However, written notice of the withdrawal has not been delivered. There has been speculation that the Indonesians are having second thoughts.

MALAYSIAN BUILDUP
 The Indonesian Information Ministry minimized the British military buildup in Malaysia and urged Indonesians not to be scared. The ministry in a statement accused Malaysia of "deliberately exaggerating" the buildup and said it was "an excuse for eventual reciprocal attack on Indonesia."

Informed sources in Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, said Indonesia had moved units of its crack Siliwangi Division to bases facing Malaysian Borneo, the big island which Indonesia and Malaysia share.

KILLED, CAPTURED
 Action between the two enemy neighbors has been confined so far to sporadic Indonesian raids across the Borneo border and the periodic landing of small parties of guerrillas on the Malaysian Peninsula opposite Indonesian Sumatra. All of the latter have been killed or captured.

The Malaysian government fears that Sukarno now plans to step up the war in Borneo and make major landings on the peninsula. Military sources in Kuala Lumpur said an infantry battalion has been sent to bolster British troops in the Borneo state of Sarawak. More British artillery also is reported headed for the area.

Weather Control?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson talks about changing or controlling the weather but federal scientists indicated today it will be years before the talking changes to doing.

The National Science Foundation, in an annual report to Johnson on weather modification, did see a possibility of changing regional climates to some degree within decades. It emphasized the need for continued research.

The foundations said mankind perhaps is modifying the weather already in subtle, little understood ways and perhaps priority should be given to studying the effects of such changes.

One noteworthy development, the report said, is the production of mathematical models of the atmosphere by electronic computers performing millions of calculations in a short time.

Another hopeful development, the report suggested, is in combining the knowledge and skills of various scientists — anthropologists, biologists, geologists, meteorologists, historians — in research that might influence the direction of weather modification in future years.

'Too Late For Burch To Save His Job': Smylie

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie said Tuesday it is too late for Dean Burch to save his job as GOP national chairman.

Smylie, chairman of the Republican Governors Conference, said his replacement should be "someone like Ray Bliss," the Ohio GOP chairman.

Bliss, said Smylie, "is experienced in the field of party politics in which Burch is so sadly lacking."

"I can't make a nomination," Smylie said, "but I am confident the national committee will have a candidate."

Smylie decried Burch's recent statement that he was willing to compromise to hold his job.

"It was utterly predictable," the governor said. "What he offers is not an olive branch of conciliation but an iron hand of exclusionary policy."

Smylie said Burch might have been able to keep his post had he offered compromise earlier.

Now, he said, Burch should submit his resignation to the national committee when it meets later this month.

"If it is not accepted then he would have a mandate to continue," Smylie said.

Schedule Presented On Messages To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four presidential messages will go to Congress at the rate of one a day starting next Tuesday, the White House said today.

Press secretary George E. Reedy announced this schedule: Tuesday, Jan. 12, education. Johnson is proposing an expanded program that will aid both public and private schools and involve an extra $1.5 billion of spending.

Wednesday, Jan. 13, immigration. The administration wants to wipe out the old system of quotas based on national origin and emphasize special skills and knowledge.

Thursday, Jan. 14, foreign aid. Johnson did not touch on this in his State of the Union address to Congress and he is under pressure from some key men on Capitol Hill to split the program into several packages.

Friday, Jan. 15, space. The space program is being trimmed to some extent without dropping the aim of getting a man on the moon by 1970.

The first of a series of special messages spelling out programs Johnson mentioned in Monday's address will be placed before Congress Thursday. The White House says it will be a comprehensive message dealing with health and embracing among other things, a renewed bid for health aid for the elderly under Social Security.

Witness Against Estes Testifies

PECOS (AP) — A plaintiff in a $4 million damage suit against Billie Sol Estes and others says he relied on Estes' judgment when he signed chattel mortgages on anhydrous fertilizer tanks which proved to be non-existent.

The plaintiff, W. F. Wynn, was the only witness Wednesday on the first day of the trial of the suit. He and three other Midland men — J. C. Barnes Sr., J. C. Barnes Jr. and Russell Ramsland — also seek cancellation of $2.7 million in mortgages.

They contended that Estes and the Walter E. Heller Co. of Chicago, to whom Estes discounted the mortgage paper, conspired to defraud them.

Lawyers for the Chicago finance company countered that the plaintiffs made no effort to ascertain the existence of the tanks and that they allowed Estes to use their financial statements and reputations.

In cross-examining Wynn they introduced a transcript of his testimony at a hearing here in May, 1962. It quoted Wynn as saying he relied on the judgment of his associates in signing the mortgages.

"If that is what it says, I guess that is what I said," Wynn stated.

Lawyers for the Midland men told the court Estes paid their clients $158,000 for signing the mortgages and they were willing to pay the money to whom-ever they owed it.

Heller's lawyers denied the Chicago company had participated in a conspiracy and said that actually the plaintiffs "wittingly or unwittingly participated with conspirators with Estes to defraud Heller."

They filed a cross-action asking that Heller be paid $1.3 million on mortgages the plaintiffs signed.

Departure Of Braceros Felt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I just can't take it," said a puffing, heavy-set man after three days picking strawberries. "My back is killing me," the man told a field representative for the California Farm Placement Service. "I want to, but I can't."

He was one of thousands of unemployed domestic laborers trying to fill in for Mexican nationals who had to go home after the Dec. 31 termination of the so-called bracero program.

The field representative's boss, Jack Ward, head of the Southern California office, said: "I may think I could run a railroad, but I can't. Many of these men thought they could harvest crops, but they can't."

"It's darn hard work. Some can do it. Some can't."

GROWERS COMPLAIN
Growers have complained about the caliber of the new workers.

Ward's assistants are doing a better job of screening applicants now than they were able to do at the beginning of a crash recruitment program three weeks ago. In at least one area, however, they are not doing well at all.

Four hundred date pickers are needed now for the 4,000-acre crop in Coachella Valley, near Indio. They have been needed for a week. Total recruited to date: zero.

"Date pickers are a special breed," said Ward. "They have to be able to work 40 or 50 feet above ground on ladders or in bosun's chairs without being so scared they hang on with the hands they have to pick the dates with."

NONE SINCE
The braceros harvested 75 percent of the dates before they left. There has been virtually no date harvesting since then.

"The situation is critical," Ward said. "Dates aren't as perishable, say, as peaches, but we're going to be in real trouble if we can't find some people in the next couple of weeks."

Lettuce growers in Imperial Valley loudly canceled an order for 1,800 domestic workers in protest of the "poor caliber" of workers referred to them in the first days of the crash program.

Man-Days Lost In Strikes Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says the more than 23 million man-days lost through strikes last year — although "better than the post-war average" — were the most since 1959.

Shrine Club Names Officers

Officers for the coming year were elected at the regular meeting of the Big Spring Shrine Club held at the Wagon Wheel restaurant last Friday. Several visiting Nobles and Masons, along with 53 Big Spring Shriners were present, and took part in awarding a gift to outgoing president Albert Smith, who is also president of the Texas Shrine Motor Patrol Association.

Officers elected were D. A. Brazel, president; Charles Thompson, first vice president; Dr. Houston J. Zinn, second vice president; George Bair, secretary, and Ray Boren, treasurer. New directors were also elected.

Highlight of the meeting was a talk by Dr. H. Clyde Smith, Capt. William Thomas, of the Salvation Army, expressed appreciation to the Shriners for help in the kettle drive.

A review of the year's work included: Shrine Association's vote to send $500 to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children; vote to help DeMolay in purchasing Christmas presents for needy; expense of one child to the Shrine Burns Center in Galveston; working with Big Spring Commandery in defraying expenses to obtain treatment for a 6-year-old girl who lost one eye, and a year's special schooling for her.

Union Raps GOP Claim

AUSTIN (AP)—A Texas labor leader has criticized a Republican official's statement that repeal of part of the Taft-Hartley Act would hurt the Texas business climate.

Texas AFL-CIO President Hank Brown said Wednesday the statement by State GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell was "a raw and deliberate misstatement of facts."

O'Donnell's statement was issued Tuesday in comment on President Johnson's State of the Union message. It attacked demands by unionists for repeal of Section 14(B) of the Taft-Hartley law, which allows states to pass so-called right-to-work laws.

Repeal of the section, said O'Donnell, would "disrupt the favorable business climate that provides good jobs and more take-home pay for Texas workers."

"Actually," said Brown, "such laws perpetuate low wages, miserable working conditions and exploitation of workers. Texas workers in 1964 took home an average $400 a year less than the national average per capita income as Texas for the fifth straight year dropped an additional $50 below the national average."

Texas has a right-to-work law, prohibiting a requirement of union membership as a condition for keeping a job.

Brown said O'Donnell could have discovered the effects of the law "by the most superficial research, but he chose instead to continue mouthing the bankrupt extremist philosophy of Barry Goldwater."

Legislative Storm Ahead

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma's Legislature has laid the groundwork for a stormy session with introduction of measures aimed at impeachment of a state Supreme Court justice and knocking the props from under Gov. Henry Bellmon's program.

One bill in the Senate would provide teachers an across-the-board $1,000 annual pay raise, a proposal backed by the Oklahoma education association.

TEACHER PAY
Bellmon, in his $290 million proposed state budget called for an annual teacher salary raise of $500.

Bellmon, a Republican, won a major victory by stalling a move by Democratic senators attacking a key section of his program. Several senators were preparing a resolution to block a $282,000 loan by the Highway Commission to the Turnpike Authority to finance a feasibility study on new toll roads proposed by the governor.

Senators supporting Bellmon's turnpike plans forced a delay in introduction of the resolution.

AGAINST JUDGE
In the House, a resolution was introduced calling for the start of impeachment proceedings against Supreme Court Justice Earl Welch, convicted of federal income tax evasion.

Other measures introduced included:
A petition asking Congress to adopt a constitutional amendment to allow legislatures to base membership in one house on factors other than population.

A proposal to abolish the open livestock range in southeast and east Oklahoma.

D. A. Home Guard Shot

FORT WORTH (AP) — A special investigator was wounded early today as he stood guard outside the home of Dist. Atty. Doug Crouch.

Two men were arrested on Texas 199 near the outskirts of Fort Worth a few minutes later. A single bullet struck Earl Sanford, 38, in the stomach. Attendants reported he was in fair condition.

Crouch said Sanford was standing watch in front of the district attorney's Westwood Village home because of recent efforts by vandals to damage his car and house.

He said a car stopped, two men alighted and Sanford ordered them to halt after stepping from behind a tree. Four or five shots were fired before the men sped away, Crouch said.

Sheriff's deputies nabbed two men close to Azle in response to a radio alert. A Texas Ranger joined other officers in questioning the pair.

A Devotional For The Day

"You shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you shall be my witness . . . to the remotest parts of the earth." (Acts 1:8, Weymouth)

PRAYER: Our Father, grant that we may be willing to open our hearts and let the Holy Spirit fill us with His radiant power. Through the radiance of His power working in us draw others to Thee. For the sake of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

The Presidential Message

To be general about it, President Johnson's "state of the union" address was about as encompassing as one can get. It was in reality a world-wide blanket.

On foreign issues, the President said he will visit both Europe and Latin-America, and this is all right. As to the critical Viet Nam situation, he seemed rather non-committal, declaring only that we will stand by our pledges. This may be an area where it is not appropriate to disclose plans at this time, but it is a world-wide situation that the administration will have to face up to.

The President said the Russian leaders will be welcome to visit America, and this could be a wholesome thing, too, if and when such a visit comes about.

But it was the broad program of domestic projects as outlined by Mr. Johnson that has the ordinary citizen rather gasping at the scope of it all. If there should be a "Great Society" then this must certainly be the President's outline of it. The point is, can all this be achieved in one or two, or even four years. We would say the Johnson outline is the task of a generation.

His loyal opposition found it in the main to be a sort of primrose path to paradise, his close followers said he offered inspirational and practical suggestions. Certainly, there is in the presentation something for just about everybody. The big question, of course, is the proper implementation of each of the proposals. Time must be of the essence.

Mr. Johnson has called for a reduction of excise taxes—to be desired—and has hinted at further cuts in the income tax—questionable—but has left the man with the pocketbook about where he has always been, particularly if the Social Security assessment goes up.

Where We're Wrong In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON — The pretense of legality cloaking American intervention in Southeast Asia grows more threadbare with every passing hour.

U. S. aircraft are preparing to launch strikes against parts of the miscalled Ho Chi Minh Trail that crosses Laos in clear violation of the Geneva Accord of 1962, which we signed.

THE 1962 FACT, which undertook to neutralize Laos, prohibits introduction of foreign regular and irregular troops, foreign paramilitary formations, and foreign military personnel into Laos.

Leaving for the moment the moral and legal character of our resolve to enlarge the war, we find that the more practical aspects of the decision are no more durable. The theory (which even our most ardent war hawks cannot really believe) is that bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail will somehow persuade North Viet Nam and Communist China to withdraw support from the Viet Cong insurgency that is winning South Viet Nam.

THERE ARE three tragically dangerous fallacies involved here — fallacies that could cost a great many young American lives.

FALLACY ONE: That any amount of bombing (short of laying a massive radioactive carpet across the waist of the peninsula) would be effective. Korea proved that no amount of conventional bombing could diminish the enemy's ability to supply his troops.

FALLACY TWO: On no evidence at all, the proponents of escalation insist that this demonstration of Western armed power would create an atmosphere in which negotiations for peace could be undertaken from a position of strength. This reasoning simply won't float, for it assumes that North Viet Nam and Red China would be willing to do what we ourselves are so unwilling to do — that is, negotiate from a position of weakness.

Underlying all else is Fallacy Three: That the insurgency in South

It cannot immediately be determined which of his proposals the President will assign top priority, but it reasonably can be assumed that he will press for the extended aid to education, for enlargement of the "war" on poverty, and to bring about a medical care bill for the aged, tied to Social Security. The first and the last will undoubtedly be subject to heavy gunfire in Congress, and some amendments may come about to make them palatable to the more conservative element of the country.

He called for action to further establish the voting rights of everyone; for federal power to combat water and air pollution; to cut the cost of the farm program; for a liberalized immigration law; for a new attack on killing and crippling diseases; for help to population-choked cities; for a national foundation for the arts; for the beautification of the country through more parks and "open spaces."

With all this, President Johnson still talked of trimming the budget, and of continued government savings. He is admittedly a potent political manipulator and an administrator of great stature; but the thought comes after his address is that he will have to be something of a magician as well.

The whole program would be shaking, if it were not, to repeat, envisioned as a very long-range thing. Rep. George Mahon, who wields a big stick as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, may have had an answer when he commented thusly on the presidential message:

"We'll have to take up these various proposals one at a time, not rapidly. We didn't get where we are rapidly. We'll have to proceed with caution and restraint as we seek to obtain these objectives."

Solution To Old Twin Question?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight presidents have died in office and 16 times the country has been left without a vice president.

Luckily, each time a president died there was a vice president to take his place and serve out the term, although this left the vice presidency vacant. But seven other vice presidents died in office, and one resigned.

Thus the country has been repeatedly faced with the twin question: "What happens when a president is disabled or when a president dies and there is no vice president?"

Congress has skipped around the problem from the beginning, but this year it will probably, at last, come up with a solution. It's already headed toward one although this year Congress is less than a week old.

President Johnson in his State of the Union message Monday night promised to suggest laws to "ensure the continuity of leadership should the president become disabled or die."

HE KNOWS the problem first hand. The country has, been without a vice president since he went into the White House after President John F. Kennedy's death Nov. 22, 1963 and will be until Jan. 20 when Hubert H. Humphrey becomes vice president.

Johnson got a quick response to the suggestion in his message but only because the ground-work was laid in 1964.

Last September the Senate by a 65-0 vote approved a proposed constitutional amendment intended to settle the two questions on succession. But the busy House failed to act.

That meant it had to be done all over again in this Congress. And Tuesday enough senators to pass a succession-disability measure promptly offered it.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., introduced it for himself and 66 Senate co-sponsors, the exact two-thirds majority needed for Senate approval if all 100 senators were present and voting the day the decision is made.

IT'S SIMILAR to what the Senate approved last year: Let the president nominate a new vice president when that office becomes vacant, provided a majority of House and Senate in joint session approve the choice.

Also, if a president couldn't perform his duties, the Bayh measure would let the vice president take over as president until the president recovered, again provided a majority of the Cabinet approved.

The Constitution is vague on the disability problem, merely saying that when a president can't perform his duties his powers shall "devolve upon the vice president." But it didn't say how. And that's been the puzzle.

Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Kennedy had an understanding with their vice presidents — Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson — about what to do in case of presidential disability.

Glamorous Checkbooks

NEW YORK (AP) — The checkbook, once black and solidly male, has exploded into more colors than a woman's hat.

Banks, wooing the ladies, are selling checkbooks cloaked in an increasingly wider array of colors and in plastic finishes made to look like everything from lace to leopard skin.

The checks themselves appear in more compatible colors than the rainbow.

The layer of glamor on the once-plain checkbook has followed the gradual emergence of the woman as the check-writer in a vast number of the nation's more than 48 million personal checking accounts. So fashion-conscious has the movement become that some checkbooks look as much like fashion accessories as handbags, gloves and shoes.

NEW YORK'S Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. recently took part in a Manhattan fashion show that the bank said was inspired by its "chic and color-coordinated checkbooks."

Hit of the show, said a spokesman for the bank, was a rain suit patterned after the bank's imitation cobra check set.

"Since we started our fashion checkbooks in May 1963 we have shown our biggest gain in checking accounts," said Hugh Brennan, an advertising executive of the bank.

Cleveland's National City Bank offers its customers checkbooks in styles that range from leopard to lizard. Colors include "leopard red" and "curry green."

Bank of America, the nation's largest, will sell you checks perfumed with Chanel No. 5.

CHASE MANHATTAN Bank offers checkbooks in colors with fancy names such as "ascot gray," "harlequin white," "patent green," and "cadet blue."

While banks have sold colored checks and checkbooks for years, the trend to wide variety and high fashion as represented by plaid, leopard and lizard is relatively new and growing.

The fancy checkbook usually costs extra.

Some banking sources say the customer continues to buy his color-coordinated checks instead of receiving them free, relieving the bank of that expense.

"But most of all," one bank official said, "the checkbooks represent a more liberal, aggressive stance by banks. If people today wanted left-handed checks they would get them."

To Your Good Health

Some Heart Defects Cannot Be Corrected

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: We recently lost our son at age 11. He was born with a misplaced valve in his heart. In the short years he lived his general health seemed good; however, specialists said nothing could be done for him. But I'd like your opinion. Have you ever seen or performed an operation for this condition? What do you suppose happened? No autopsy was performed. He just fell, and that was it. — MRS. R. B. C.

I'm not a heart surgeon, so I have watched but not performed heart operations. A good many but not all heart defects can be corrected by surgery. Some types of operations are successful in as much as 99 percent of the cases.

Yet in other types, risk remains extremely high, or there is no way of correcting the defect. I have to guess at what might be meant by a "misplaced valve," because this could signify various things.

I would infer that the defect was not correctable. Great as the achievements of heart surgery are, some defects remain beyond our powers to treat. They may be clearly diagnosed and the heart may be able to function for some years, yet fail and sometimes sudden failure of it may be inevitable.

In cases like yours, I can only express sorrow that you lost this little boy and regret that his problem was one that has not yet yielded to surgery.

Even though no autopsy was performed (much can be learned from such autopsies) it is probably that the doctors who examined your son can still give you a reasonably accurate explanation of how his heart must have failed.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am now 67 years old and all through the years I have needed help in elimination. I have used mineral oil, milk of magnesia, suppositories and enemas. Now I get abdominal cramps after their use and it lasts a long time. Please tell me how to overcome this. — C. S. K.

If you were 10, 20 or more years younger, I would suggest that you read my booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." (For any others who may wish to receive daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner, care of The Herald.) However, at your age, in the 60's, I recommend that you give a thought to the possibility that something else may be the trouble other than a reaction from the use of laxatives.

Long-continued use of such so-called aids to elimination can result in spasm of the bowel, such as you describe. But so can serious troubles, one of which is malignancy, or cancer.

Thus for you, C. S. K., I urge immediate medical examination, including X-ray and proctoscopic studies. This could be a time at which immediate treatment could save you from dangerous peril.

Attention all women! For the pamphlet, "The Pre-Menstrual Blues," write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover printing and handling. This pamphlet may help you!

Dr. Molner welcomes all read-er mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner, care of

Consider Being A Do-er

The Chamber of Commerce has called for suggestions in mapping its program of work for the new year, and it's an excellent place to voice your opinions concerning areas for community improvement.

At the same time, it might be a good time to consider lending a hand to the many areas of work the chamber strives to cover. Virtually no community endeavor is undertaken without help from the chamber of commerce and the many volunteers who man its committees. Although most community pride is developed through the chamber action groups, it can be developed by individuals or businesses.

For instance, we depend a lot upon chamber committees to find the money and arrange for signs along the highways into Big Spring. To a certain extent, this is the wise course. But, any traveler of the state's highways can vouch for the fact that many firms, individuals, clubs and organizations do their share in this area for other cities.

Ablene is one example, Amarillo is another. The great wealth of signs on the approaches to these cities gives the visitors a shopping tour before he ever arrives. Some of them, almost certainly, decide the driver to stop and stay awhile.

And while few of us may feel disposed to plunk down the hard cash for a sign on one of the seven highways coming into Big Spring, all of us can lend a hand on some community project.

The place to volunteer, roll up your sleeves, and get to work, is at the chamber. If there is one thing every worthwhile project needs, it is more enthusiastic help. Invariably the same volunteers show up at every meeting, to lend their time, effort, influence and money to a community goal that makes our home city a better place to live. Although new helpers pitch in all the time, there is still much work to be done and people needed to do it.

The chamber is no stronger than the community behind it, nor the workers in it. So while you are thinking of the things that need doing, give a little thought to being one of the do-ers.

Overthrowing The Constitution

WASHINGTON—This is the beginning of a new year in government—and the start of an era unprecedented in American history. For it marks the climax in a gradual erosion of the written Constitution adopted by the people in 1787 and amended in 1791. It confirms the emergence of an unwritten constitution whose mandates are being set forth from time to time not by the people or their representatives, but by an oligarchy of "presidium" of five to nine men who are appointed for life. More than ever, they feel free now to retain or to discard whatever they please from the old Constitution.

THE 1788 DOCUMENT has in it a provision specifying that amendments could be made only as the result of a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the states. This no longer appears to be obligatory, as the Supreme Court of the United States now has assumed the right to make "interpretations" of its own which are supposed to have the same legal effect as constitutional amendments.

Just three weeks ago—on Dec. 14, 1964—the high court handed down a ruling which illustrates how completely the process of making constitutional amendments has in recent years been revolutionized. In this case, one provision of the old Constitution was rewritten and another was bypassed. They were:

ONE: "The Congress shall have power . . . to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes."

TWO: "The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

What did our forefathers really mean by the clause "to regulate commerce . . . among the several states"? Did this cover human services, or was "commerce" confined only to certain limited transactions in goods moving across state lines?

THE SUPREME COURT has just proclaimed that the power of Congress to "regulate commerce" means the right to prescribe also what personal services must be rendered by one citizen to another if in his business he happens to use property or goods of any kind which at some time in the past may have crossed a state line. When barbers, for instance, are employed in any part of an establishment which offers rooms or meals to traveling citizens, hair-cutting is being classed as coming within the rules governing interstate commerce. Human services thus are put under government control along with the buying or selling of goods or movable property which has once been transported from other states.

IF "INTERSTATE commerce" is so inclusive and can at any time be interpreted to cover human behavior in selecting or serving customers or clients, or in negotiating with them, then the Court's recent decision can sooner or later be broadened to regulate any form of business or professional activity and any other phase of American life hitherto deemed to be private.

When the original Constitution specified that all rights not enumerated as having been delegated to the federal government were "retained by the people," it obviously meant that the people would have the right to be consulted about any changes and to express their desires by adopting or rejecting specific amendments to the Constitution.

A MOMENTOUS change indeed has come to the American governmental system. Some day the people will become aroused and will take steps to restore the written Constitution and require the Supreme Court itself to obey "the law of the land."

Practicalities In Viet Nam

AIRBORNE IN VIET NAM — Back home there is a theory that the U.S.A. is stuck out on the end of a peninsula where time is grimly running against us and that there is only the either-or choice: Go North or get out.

While this is a neatly packaged proposition, easy to write and easier to declaim among friendly barflies and credulous clubwomen, it is not the sort of wine that travels well. Actually the stouthearted American troops, rotating through this atrocious theater of a most gruesome melodrama, have already turned one little eddy of the tide. It is like the famous episode at Bull Run, where Stonewall Jackson got his name. Two miles in the Far Pacific are saying: "There stands the U.S.A. like a stone wall. Rally behind the Americans!"

ON THE RUNWAY from which I just took off stood big Caribou planes from Australia, and one of them flew a flare mission with us the other night. On Christmas Day I interviewed Arthur Pope, the New Zealand charge d'affaires. His country has a combat engineering detachment out in Viet Cong territory.

There is hearsay back home that the war is at a stalemate, but the description is totally hept. All four of the Viet Nam armed services — Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines are literally growing better every day in every way. They could not fail to improve under the intensive instructions they are getting from the top-drawer Americans who have been selected as teachers. It is no longer enough for an officer or soldier to volunteer for service in Viet Nam. Very few personnel are coming out here now on any basis except their proven skills and ability to lead.

THERE IS a home-front doctrine which declares that the U. S. Operations Mission here is composed of fools who are trying to fasten American-type democracy on an illiterate nation and who would rather see the country go to a Castro than a Batista. There may be such in the upper reaches of the State Department, but out here the general attitude is: "Democracy can wait." The main objection to military coups is a practical one. If the generals are in town playing politics, they can't be in the field running the war.

THERE IS A doctrine back home that we had better negotiate for a troika government and stop the slaughter because we can't even establish a front-line. Well, we are certainly going to find Saigon in a state of internal siege for some time to come, but there is the suggestion of a frontier being fortified to the South. One suggestion being made is that we could draw a boundary line below Saigon and declare everything south of the line to be enemy territory and subject to indiscriminate bombing. This would cause an exodus of many loyalists and would cause many other loyalists to inform on the Viet Cong. It would be a desperate remedy, but it would establish a border from which to launch a campaign.

THE AMERICAN community out here divides about two optimists for every pessimist, but these opinions are not based on theories, hearsays and doctrines. There are realistic reasons for believing that we are hurting the enemy worse than he is hurting us. And there are equally substantial reasons for believing that our side cannot take the punishment as well as the Communists can.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Moon-originated air cars now appearing in the "Dick Tracy" comic strip may not be too far ahead of Air Force research, the Aero Propulsion Laboratory here says.

Flight testing is expected to start about next February on a jet-propelled chest-and-back rig which would allow an astronaut to leave an orbiting vehicle, fly for about an hour and communicate. Under construction by Ling-Temco Vought Inc., it's called a modular maneuvering unit.

Wire A Testimonial To Joe's Practice

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MORILE, Ala. (AP) — The laundry of the neighborhood laundry on Fourth Avenue in Beaver Falls, Pa., are carefully guarded by strong steel wire.

The wiring is Beaver Falls' monument to Joe Namath, who spent a good part of his errand youth smashing the glass panes with well-aimed footballs but went on to become the town's most famous and one of its richest citizens.

Now the townspeople — the proprietors of the laundry most of all — look at the wired windows with pride, and say: "Little Joe, he was a card, wasn't he?"

"When Joe was a boy he busted every window in the place," recalls Joe's mother, Mrs. Rose Szolnoki, who divorced Namath's steel-worker father and remarried several years ago.

"The laundry people were very mad and they kept coming around to make us pay damages. Finally, they put up this steel wiring, and it's still there."

Today Joe not only is in a position to pay for all the broken windows but could buy the laundry and half the town. Star quarterback of the national champion Alabama football team, he signed a week ago the largest contract ever offered a football rookie—$400,000 salary and bonuses for three years with the New York Jets of the school, the Baltimore Orioles tried to sign him to a baseball contract.

Joe liked football and wanted to go to college. Scores of big schools sent scouts to court him. His first choice was Notre Dame.

"Joe was flying out so much, I found myself washing and packing and shooting him out the door every day," Mrs. Szolnoki said.

Namath failed to get into Notre Dame and finally chose Alabama. "I was responsible for that," his mother said. "I made him go to Alabama, and he never quit thanking me."

Alabama assistant coach Howard Schnellenberger, who coached Joe's brother Robert at Kentucky, was responsible for closing the deal.

Paul (Bear) Bryant, head coach of the Crimson Tide, said he hardly got to see Namath as a freshman.

"That was 1961 when we had our championship unbeaten team and I was kept pretty busy," Bryant recalled. "But the coaching staff kept telling me we had a fine prospect in Namath."

This was borne out the next year when, as a sophomore, Namath completed 76 of 146 passes for 1,192 yards and 12 touchdowns. In 1963, he hit 63 of 128 for 785 yards although he was booed off the team before the last game of the season for breaking training.

"I knew Joe wasn't a bad boy," Bryant said. "I talked to him and he admitted he had broken training. He promised never to do it again, and he has been perfect—an inspirational leader—ever since."

Wake Forest drubbed North Carolina 107-55 and N.C. State downed Virginia 73-67 in two Atlantic Coast Conference games. West Virginia took Virginia Military 87-79 in the Southern Conference.

Namath, wearing sneakers to dull the pain, proved the outstanding player, although Alabama lost a heartbreaker to Texas 21-17.

"This is not only the greatest athlete I have ever coached, he's the greatest I have ever seen," the Alabama coach said. "He is a big, strong boy (6-foot-2, 194 pounds). He is quick as a cat with lightning hands. He is perfectly coordinated, and has a trigger mind. He should be a great pro."

MAN OF YEAR

Lewis Honored For Track Job

For the second time in his career as a track mentor, L. L. (Red) Lewis has been selected as junior college "coach of the year" by the Texas Sports-writers Association.

The one-time Hardin-Simmons University football center, who shared that position at the Abilene college with Bulldog Turner, guided the Jayhawks to a second place finish behind Phoenix in the National meet and coached his mile relay team to a new world record in junior college ranks.

Lewis, who doubles as a math teacher at HCJC, received 54 first place votes in the balloting, almost as many as the other three nominees combined.

Phil George, whose San Angelo College basketball team posted a 27-5 won-loss record and won the Western Conference title, was second with 23.

Dennis Walling, whose Decatur Baptist College basketball team had the state's best record — 25-4 — was third. Fourth was Jimmy Russell, Odessa College golf coach.

Lewis guided the Jayhawks to three straight National titles before the team finally yielded to Phoenix the past May.

The Jayhawks under Lewis suffered only the one defeat in competition during 1964 and won team trophies at Coleman,

L. L. (RED) LEWIS

Dallas, Fort Worth, the Border Olympics in Laredo, as well as in the Western Conference meet.

Lewis joins Fred Hansen, Rice University pole vaulter, name Southwestern of the Year; Johnny Keane, Professional of the Year; and Shelby Metcalf of Texas A&M, senior college coach of the year.

All will receive plaques at the Sports Achievement Dinner given by the sportswriters association and the Dallas YMCA.

Spike Dykes Is Speaker For Ballinger Banquet

William (Spike) Dykes, head football coach at Coahoma High School, will be principal speaker for the annual Quarterback Club's banquet in Ballinger tonight. The meal will be served in the high school cafeteria, starting at 7 p.m.

The banquet will honor the Ballinger Bearcat football team, District 5-AA co-champions. Spike is a former line star of the Ballinger team. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dykes of Ballinger and Spike's wife is Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Tuckey of Ballinger. Spike lettered three years in football at Ballinger and also won numerals in basketball and track. He was a member of Ballinger's 1954 team, which went to the state finals in class AA.

He won all-district honors his senior year as a center and was voted "Most Typical Boy" on the campus.

As a coach he served one year as assistant coach at Eastland High School. He also served as an aide at Ballinger and San Angelo Central and was associated with district winners in both places.

In his first year as coach at Coahoma, Spike guided his team to the District 6-A title without the loss of a game. The Bulldogs eventually lost to Seagraves in bi-district competition.

Jim Summers is president of the Ballinger Quarterback Club and will be in charge of tonight's program. Robert F. Wright is head coach at Ballinger. His assistants are Weldon Brevard, Don Flippen and Bob Henderson while Alton Patterson and Robert Wilson are the high school coaches.

Walker Again Puts College In Big Type

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lenny Wilkins, Johnny Egan, Vinnie Ernst and Ray Flynn. They were the stars who brought national recognition in basketball to Providence College the last six years.

Now Jim Walker, a 6-foot-3 sophomore, is following in the footsteps and once again the Friars are in the headlines as the only unbeaten major team in the country.

The charges of Coach Joe Mullaney made it 10 in a row by whipping Boston College and John Austin 89-79 at Newton, Mass., Wednesday night. Walker, whose style is being compared to Providence's former greats, threw in 28 points on nine field goals and 10 of 11 free throws.

Bill Blair, a junior, also chipped with 28 points for the Friars, who led by 19 points at halftime. Austin, playing with an injured wrist, got 29 points for Boston College. He sat out the first eight minutes of the second half.

It was the fifth victory on the road for the Friars, indicating they are tough anywhere. Their other road triumphs came against Creighton, Iowa, St. Francis of New York and Fairfield. They play Canisius Saturday at Buffalo, N.Y.

Ninth-ranked Providence was the only team in The Associated Press top ten to see action. Louisville, 9-2, scored a 92-80 home-court triumph over La-Salle. In other home-court victories, Brigham Young whipped Seattle 92-72 behind John Fairchild's 23 points and Marquette edged Chicago Loyola 71-69 on Rocky Calveili's jump shot in the last second of a five-minute overtime.

Wake Forest drubbed North Carolina 107-55 and N.C. State downed Virginia 73-67 in two Atlantic Coast Conference games. West Virginia took Virginia Military 87-79 in the Southern Conference.

and our fans. "They all rank No. 1," Broyles said.

Arkansas, the Southwest Conference champion, defeated Nebraska 10-7 in the Cotton Bowl game for an 11-0 record—the only major college football team without a loss.

The Razorbacks finished second in the final Associated Press football poll, which was released before the bowl games. Alabama, No. 1 in the last poll, lost in the Orange Bowl to Texas, which was defending national champion and No. 1 when it lost by a point to Arkansas.

The Razorbacks received four first-place votes and one for second.

Alabama received no votes for first, second or third place. Broyles is here to coach the South squad in the Hula Bowl game which has been won every year by the North.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Much has been done to focus world-wide attention on Houston's unique domed stadium but, regrettably, the city's sports leaders seem to be satisfied with teams that don't prosper too much and shy away from hiring "name" athletes and coaches.

The Houston Astros had a chance to acquire Frank Howard from the Los Angeles Dodgers but the president of the club didn't want to part with one of his favorite players, who might be a sentimental favorite in the Texas metropolises but who is regarded as a journeyman ball player around the rest of the circuit.

Howard, for all his faults, is a tourist attraction and should help pull his new employers, the Washington Senators, out of the doldrums.

The Houston football team had a chance to do something about its coaching situation when Sam Baugh quit recently as head man but all the Oilers did was reshuffle the staff.

The Oilers have been going down hill for a couple of years now and likely will not return to championship competition within the immediate future.

The newness of even a unique athletic plant like the domed stadium wears off for fans after a while. It's going to take color and a succession of victories or both to keep the patrons coming.

The owners of both the Astros and the Oilers seem to be free-wheeling millionaires who are not reluctant to spend a buck. Regrettably, they have surrounded themselves with people who can't get the job done.

Joe Means, Phillips, and Pat Pattison, Vernon, are among coaches who reportedly would like to move in as head coaches of the Odessa high schools.

Coahoma's Spike Dykes reportedly has been making inquiries about the coaching job at Breckenridge, which could be one of the best situations in the state.

A lot of school officials undoubtedly were impressed with the fine job Dykes and his aides did with the Coahoma team last fall—ten wins in 11 starts. He, no doubt, will be approached more than once with offers.

Most everyone who watched Texas and Alabama on TV last week were impressed with Joe Namath's passing but some observers were puzzled over the poor pass defense the Longhorns threw up.

The Steers met an equally poisonous passer in the Cotton Bowl last year, when Roger Staubach fed them, but the Steers that day made Roger look like a novice.

Against Namath, although they won, the Longhorns looked as if they never knew quite how to react to a passing situation. Surely a team cannot forget that much in a year's time.

Ernest Turner, the former HCJC cage performer, is perhaps New Mexico State's top basketball hand this season. He leads the Aggies in rebounds and is way up there in scoring.

Buddy Travis, the HCJC coach, thinks his team is capable of beating Lon Morris on a neutral court.

The Bearcats drubbed the Hawks, 89-72, in Jacksonville last Saturday night but the Jacksonville gym had been equipped with a new type of lights, with the result that both the Hawks and San Angelo were consistently short in their shooting from the field.

The Hawks missed 20 free shots in the game, too, and many came on a 1-1 situation.

Rice Award Won By Porker Eleven

HONOLULU (AP) — "I'm prouder than I've ever been in my life," said Coach Frank Broyles Wednesday on learning that his unbeaten, untied Arkansas Razorbacks will receive the Grantland Rice Award.

Lombardi Says He Will Keep Star

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi is high on Paul Hornung's "potential" and plans to keep the high-scoring halfback with the Packers.

Lombardi emphatically denied Wednesday a report that he and Hornung had clashed and the former Notre Dame star was on the trading block, possibly in a deal with the New York Giants.

"I don't know a player in the National Football League who has the potential of Hornung," Lombardi said. "You don't give up something for nothing."

"Now, I'm not saying that we're going to sit pat up here. If we have an opportunity to better ourselves, we will trade. But I have no plans to trade Hornung, period."

According to a New York report, Lombardi and Hornung clashed when the halfback reported late for a team meeting before the Packers met the St. Louis Cardinals in the Pro Bowl in Miami. The report quoted the coach as telling Hornung: "Get in your car and keep going."

"That's a bold-face lie," Lombardi said. "I had no disagreement whatsoever with Hornung. There's absolutely no truth to that story."

Hornung was on the bench when the Packers opened against the Cardinals. He carried the ball only five times and his lone pass on the option play was intercepted, killing Green Bay's last chance in a 24-17 loss. However, Hornung booted a 40-yard field goal and added two conversions.

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit Lions spokesman has denied a published report that Sonny Grandelius, recently fired as an assistant coach, would be named head coach of the professional football team next Sunday.

Edwin Anderson, general manager of the Lions, said Grandelius is being considered for the post.

"But he's not the No. 1 candidate," Anderson told the Associated Press.

"He will be given every consideration — the chances are someone else will get it."

Speedy Docker Settlement Out

GALVESTON (AP) — A tedious study of issues has dampened any hopes for a quick settlement in the contract dispute between West Gulf Coast longshoremen and shippers.

For the first time since a Taft-Hartley injunction against the union expired Dec. 19, however, both sides have begun serious negotiations.

David Stowe, a federal mediator, said after a two-hour joint meeting that the "attitude is excellent on both sides." He called the session "productive."

"NOT DEPRESSED" Stowe would not say he was optimistic on the progress of the talks but added: "Let's say I'm not depressed." Asked to predict how long it might take to reach an agreement, he replied: "Several days. We are only scratching the surface on the issues, going over them in more detail. I'm trying to find out the position of each side on the basic issues."

The threat of a Maine-to-Texas dock strike looms over the talks. A 20-day no-strike extension of the Taft-Hartley injunction ends Jan. 11. Top union officials say that date is the deadline for a complete set of new contracts covering the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts if a major strike is to be averted. Longshoremen in the West Gulf District, which covers ports from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex., say they can strike anytime because they agreed only informally to the extension.

A union demand for an 18-man minimum size of work gangs in this district has become the big stumbling block. This is an old demand, and was the primary issue behind a 34-day strike in 1962. A contract was finally signed without it.

I.L.A. President Thomas Gleason of New York has said of the issue: "This is what the district wants, and this is what we've got to have."

Shippers have not made public their position on the request. Only the New York District has settled on a new contract. Union members there will vote on it Friday, but Gleason said if no settlement is reached here, the New York contract would be void.

First Steps Taken To Prepare Budget

The first steps toward preparation of the 1965-66 budget for the City of Big Spring are being taken this week.

Estimates of probable income and the total sum to be available for operating expenses for the budget are being prepared this week, with tentative allotments for each department to be made next week.

"We anticipate some small increase in revenue due to normal city growth, City Manager Larry Crow said today, "and some increased costs due to growth of the community, increased services such as the two new fire stations, and the continuing problem of rising costs for materials and services."

"We have sold additional bonds under the Master Plan program so we will have increased payments on bonds, Crow added.

The budget-preparation schedule calls for department heads to submit their first requests for each activity between Jan. 25 and Feb. 2. These are to be tabulated and reviewed in the city managers office, with tentative budget figures to be readied in early February. In late February, a tentative budget estimate is to be presented to the city council for a public hearing on the budget. The hearing is planned for March, when the budget for the fiscal year 1965-66 is adopted.

"At this time I know of no radical change in our city services, Crow related. "I have asked department heads to submit their ideas on any needed change in services or functions of their departments."

"I have also asked for any recommendations or ideas they may have as to how further economies may be affected or costs reduced," he said.

Crow said it would be some time before the budget preparation was far enough along for the budget to explore the possibilities to be involved.

Three projects for the city's Master Plan remain for future completion. These include a $470,000 flood control project originally scheduled for 1964, along with a $20,000 flood control survey.

Crow said another project under the Master Plan, originally slated for 1965, would probably be delayed on the recommendation of the city's consulting engineers. The project involves an addition to the city water treatment plant.

Trio Charged In Drug Case

Three men were arrested early today by sheriff's deputies for unlawful possession of drugs, one of the trio later made a statement to Dee John Davis, county attorney, in which he claimed full ownership of the contraband seized.

Sheriff A. D. Standard said that 200 Benzdrine tablets were seized when the trio was apprehended.

Davis said he had charged the man who made the statement—Clayton Northcott, 32—with unlawful possession of drugs and that bond had been set in his case at $1,000. Northcott alleged his companions, identified as Gary G. Owens, 30, and Robert Owen, 21, had no part in the ownership of the tablets.

Sheriff's officers said that the trio was still in jail at noon and that Northcott had not, at that time, posted the $1,000 bond in his case.

Wants Tax Records Kept In Her Own Department

Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax assessor, was before the county commissioners Thursday morning to protest that certain records of her office are now being kept in the newly created quarters for Novis Womack, county-school-city tax evaluator. She asked that the records be replaced in her office where she said her deputies often had need of them in their work.

The commissioners declined to order the return of the records named by the tax collector and told her that they preferred that "things be left as they are for the time being."

Mrs. LeFevre had protested sometime ago that Womack's operations in her ad valorem tax department had changed—that she needed the room. She told the commission today that the "next thing I knew you had notified me you were moving him into a part of my auto tax office." She said that she told the commissioners at that time, if that was their plan, to leave things as they were because she needed the room in the auto tax office.

However, the tag office was partitioned and part of the space allotted to Womack, who moved in last weekend.

Injured Youth's Condition Good

Condition of Albert Posey, 13, who was run over late Tuesday by a cotton trailer in Martin County, was reported much improved today by doctors at Cowper Clinic-Hospital.

The youth was taken to the hospital after he fell from the trailer and under its wheels, which passed over his mid-section. A neighbor brought him to the hospital.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Posey, who live in Martin County near Lenora.

Water Usage Shows Increase

The city's water usage for December has topped 140 million gallons, putting the total for the year at 2,714,942,000 gallons. The year's total is up some 150 million gallons over the 1963 total.

The December amounts include 94,975,000 gallons for city use and 32,914,000 gallons for Cosen-Cabot use. In addition, the two park wells provided 842,000 and 324,000-gallons each.

Two sheds were broken into. From one of these, the burglars took the cutting torch and the gauges for the device. Tools were also stolen. The second shed is a storage area for dynamite. Apparently the thieves did not take any of the explosive.

The overpass should be completed and ready for the state to accept by the last week in January, Clark estimated.

Group Sees Steel Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Both management and labor spokesmen have expressed belief that President Johnson seems to be on their side. And some political observers say that probably both are right, within limits.

Management spokesmen are pleased that he calls again for stability in wages and prices. Management is inclined to interpret holding the price line as largely dependent on wage stability. But labor is inclined to think that wages don't influence prices as much as does the desire for higher profits.

Labor spokesmen are pleased that the State of the Union message seemed to put the President on their side as against right-to-work laws and also as wanting unemployment benefits and minimum wage coverage extended.

STEEL QUESTION

But at least one hard-headed group — those who purchase materials for their companies — are on record as believing that the government guidelines as to what labor should ask and what management should then do about prices may not work in one basic industry, steel.

The steel committee of the National Association of Purchasing Agents says that 75 per cent of its members polled predict that steel union demands will be stiffened in coming weeks. They see the companies balking and look for a strike after May 1, lasting anywhere from four to six weeks.

The men who purchase steel products for their companies say they are more convinced than ever that they should build up the steel stocks of their companies as fast as possible, so plants won't be shut down soon after such a strike would start.

U. S. GUIDELINES

The government's guidelines have run into trouble off and on for more than a year now. The proposal is that labor should keep its wage increases, and management its price boosts, to an average of 3.2 per cent. This is the rate that the government figures manufacturing efficiency is growing, and that such an advance in wages or prices wouldn't upset the growth of the economy.

One trouble with this lies in the word average. Many industries claim their productivity isn't expanding at any such rate, and that therefore they can't absorb any 3.2 per cent rise in labor costs.

Other industries say they are more efficient than that and can settle on a different basis with the union. The auto labor pact is a case in point. The unions got a contract well above the 3.2 per

Poet's Ashes To Village

LONDON (AP) — The ashes of poet T. S. Eliot will be interred next week in the churchyard of the tiny Somerset village of East Coker which he immortalized in one of his poems.

The poem runs:

... Now the light falls
Across the open field, leaving the deep lane
Shuttered with branches, dark in the afternoon.
Where you lean against a bank while a van passes,
And the deep lane insists on the direction
Into the village ...

Eliot wrote these lines 24 years ago. Already then he had the idea of being interred in the village from which his forebears sprang. The poem, taking its name from the village, later was included in the "Four Quartets."

Eliot, American-born but British nationalized, died at his home Monday at the age of 76. The cause of his death has not been disclosed. He had been in ill health in recent years.

Lady Bird Is 'Nice Size 10'

NEW YORK (AP) — Designer John Moore, who gave Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson final fittings for her inaugural wardrobe, said she "has a nice little size 10 figure and absolutely no problems," the New York Herald Tribune said today.

"She really is a very small woman, much smaller than you realize," Moore said.

Conviction Of Judge Is Upheld

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld here former Houston probate Judge Clem McClelland's conviction on charges of felony conversion from the estate of the late Gordon R. Von Stroh.

An Austin jury convicted McClelland, 46, last April of using his office to drain illegally $2,500 from Von Stroh's $3,721 estate. His punishment was set at 10 years in prison, the maximum penalty.

L.A. Traffic Signal Talks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's here: the talking traffic signal. "Don't walk" and "walk" it says to county officials at an intersection in a southwest Los Angeles district. They agreed it performed well.

A built-in tape recorder provides amplified instructions to match those given by an electric sign which reads "Don't walk" and "Walk." "Don't walk" goes on when there isn't time left to cross the street on the green light.

'Long Weekend Club' GOP Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Congress' most hallowed unofficial institutions, the "Tuesday-to-Thursday Club," is coming in for some Republican grumbling again.

The name refers to the common habit of some congressmen of leaving for home Thursday night and coming back to work in Washington Tuesday morning.

An obliging Democratic leadership has in the past scheduled most major and controversial bills for the midweek days of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts made clear that he has no intention of changing the system in this session of Congress.

McCormack defended the status quo by saying that if a full week of important legislation is scheduled and the House completes it by Thursday, there is no reason for it to stay around Friday.

House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma chimed in to say that members would not be likely to stay around for a Friday devoted to minor speechmaking in the House chamber, so there is no particular reason for scheduling a session on that day.

"That isn't the point," protested a longtime Republican critic of the Tuesday-to-Thursday Club, Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa. "They can schedule business on Friday. They are the leaders and they can and should schedule business."

AN ACCOMMODATION

He said the system is an accommodation, largely for members from the Eastern seaboard, "who want to go home weekends to practice law or spend their time golfing or on the beaches."

Inaugural Blend: Past And Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Jan. 20 inauguration of President Johnson promises a combination of tradition with the new — embracing the wide American scene.

The 300-voice Mormon Tabernacle Choir of Salt Lake City, Utah, will sing at the swearing-in ceremony on the Capitol steps. Leontyne Price, opera singer and concert soloist who was born in Laurel, Miss., also will sing.

Both Johnson and Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey requested the appearances, the Congressional Inaugural Committee said.

In the old tradition, the chief justice, Earl Warren, will administer the oath of office to Johnson. Speaker of the House John W. McCormack will administer it to Humphrey.

Governors of 49 states are expected at the ceremony and in the inaugural parade from the Capitol to the White House. Wisconsin's Gov. Warren Knowles, a Republican, is sending Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, a Democrat, as his state's representative.

Off On Test Flight

The supersonic F-111 fighter plane soared from Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth and successfully demonstrated its unique variable sweep wings. The F-111 took off with its wings extended outward at the maximum forward angle of 16 degrees. During flight the plane's wings were fully swept back (72 degrees) against the slim fuselage. The F-111 is shown in flight with wings extended. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Variable-Sweep Wings Of Plane Make History

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The controversial TFX biservice fighter plane made aviation history when it successfully changed the position of its variable-sweep wings during an hour flight Wednesday. The plane's design enables it to have its wings outstretched almost straight for added lift and short takeoffs, then sweep them back to reduce drag for supersonic speeds. Never before had a plane utilizing the retractable wings performed so well in the effort to solve the problem of incorporating short takeoffs and landings with high speed into a single aircraft. Pilot R. L. Johnson and copilot Val Prahl flew the TFX, designated the F111 by the Air Force, on its second flight Wednesday to an altitude of 10,000 feet, then moved the wings from their forward position of 16 degrees back to the full swept angle of 72.5 degrees. This test was at a speed of about 400 knots — approximately 450 miles per hour. Johnson said on the third flight, not yet set, the TFX will attain supersonic speed.

Woman Slain In Parked Car

FORT WORTH (AP) — A bullet killed Mrs. Dave L. Owen, 30, as she sat in a parked car outside a Fort Worth tavern Wednesday night. About an hour later Sheriff's officers arrested Roy McFarrin, 50, at his home in suburban Smithfield. He was held without immediate charge. Starting to leave the tavern with Mrs. Owen were her husband, their son, 12, and Mrs. Jaqueline McFarrin, identified by police as the divorced wife of the man taken into custody. Investigators said McFarrin and his former wife had argued earlier in the day. Witnesses told police a man stepped to a car window and fired a single shot. The bullet passed through Mrs. Owen's arm and entered her chest.

West Texas Gets Showers

By The Associated Press Showers fell around El Paso in far West Texas and gusty southwest winds whipped across much of the state today. Fog hugged the ground again near Del Rio and Junction in early morning. Temperatures remained rather warm in all sections. Cooler air headed toward Northwest Texas from the Southern Rockies, where 2 to 4 inches of snow was predicted in higher parts of New Mexico overnight. Weather Bureau observers expected the approaching coolness, not due in Texas until Friday, to cause widely scattered showers in the Texas Panhandle and Southwest Texas tonight and Friday.

MOSCOW (AP) — A young dancer with one of the Soviet Union's top troupes was strangled by her lover who then tried to electrocute himself, the paper Soviet Russia reported today.

Firm Resumes Building Job

CARTHAGE, Tex. (AP) — Contractors resumed work on Carthage's new post office and federal office building after obtaining a city building permit Wednesday. Construction halted Dec. 31 after city officials found the Tyler contracting firm of Bushboom & Raw lacked a municipal permit to build the $250,000 structure. A spokesman said the contractors were unaware such a permit was necessary for a building job under supervision of the General Services Administration, as in this case. Police arrested a Bushboom & Raw foreman Monday. He went free after posting $300 bond. The dispute was resolved by the contractors' payment of a $453 fee for the building permit. City officials then refunded $253 of this amount, explaining it covered inspections which the GSA will make instead of the city.

Following Law Is Shattering

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — When two drivers had a fender-bending accident Wednesday they followed the letter of the law. Robert Dicke, 22, Minneapolis, and Dennis McMann, 32, St. Paul, left their cars where the accident occurred and went to call police. A Rock Island train came along and smashed into both cars. One hit a utility pole. The pole fell and shattered the windshield of a third automobile.

Plastic Bag Fatal To Tot

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A girl, 3, pulled a plastic bag over her head and suffocated after her mother had knotted both ends to prevent just such a tragedy. Police said the girl, Perri Parsons, apparently had pulled the bag out of a waste basket Wednesday. Coroner William Allen said that despite the knotted ends, enough of the bag remained open for the child to get her head inside.

Residents Being Urged To Pay Poll Taxes

Unless conditions change rapidly, 1965 promises to be a time when there were fewer poll tax receipts and exemption certificates issued than in many years.

Deadline for the payment of poll tax is Jan. 31. So far, the office of Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, has written only 795 poll tax receipts and issued 740 exemption certificates. The time for payment of poll tax began Nov. 1.

Although little interest in poll tax payments is expected due to the lack of major elections, potential voters will be urged to pay the tax so they may participate in deciding special issues that might come up. There is a good chance two special bond issues might be called this year, as well as other referendums.

Mrs. LeFevre points out you cannot vote if you do not hold either a poll tax receipt for the year or an exemption certificate. If you wait until after Jan. 31, you will not be able to qualify yourself to vote. The fee is still the same $1.75 for a poll tax; no charge for exemption certificates. The office, too, is still empowered to issue special poll tax receipts showing that the holder has not paid his poll tax, but under a ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court, has the right to vote for federal officials in federal elections only. No such elections are on the schedule for 1965.

As to servicemen and women who may want to vote in any local elections which come up—the situation as of this date is unchanged. There is a case on appeal before the U. S. Supreme Court which could, if the court ruled that way, open the gates for all service personnel, otherwise qualified, to get poll tax receipts and vote in local elections. The information now is that no ruling will be made on this case for two or three months after Jan. 31. Texas law says poll tax receipts cannot be issued after Jan. 31.

However, Mrs. LeFevre says that any serviceman or woman who wants to pay the poll tax could possibly do so and take a gamble that the high court will make his poll tax valid for elections.

But, she adds, if the high court rules against him, he will be charged with a crime.

Earl Morgan, 35, Lamesa, charged with worthless check writing, entered a plea of guilty in Howard County Court Wednesday. Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, recommended a fine of $1 and 90 days in jail. Judge Lee Porter accepted the recommendation and passed sentence.

court does not so rule there is no way that the serviceman can be refunded his poll tax. The law specifies that the poll tax in Texas is simply a tax. Payment of a poll tax in itself is not a qualification to vote. The law specifies, however, that to be able to vote, an otherwise qualified Texas elector must present poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate.

Now as to the general features of poll tax and exemption certificates: Price of a poll tax receipt is $1.75. Exemption certificates are free. Disability poll tax receipts are $1.

All persons between the age of 21 and 60 years need poll tax receipts if they are to vote. Persons who were living inside a city of 10,000 population or greater, if born before Jan. 1, 1904 (they must be 61 years or older) can apply for and be issued an exemption certificate. Free exemption certificates must be secured each year. Overage persons living outside cities of 10,000 or more can vote without an exemption certificate.

A person who is blind, permanently disabled, of who has lost a hand, a foot or who is a disabled veteran of foreign wars, where such disability is 40 per cent or more, can be issued a special poll tax receipt for a fee of $1.

A new resident in the state who has lived a year in Texas and at least six months in a county, gets free exemption for the first year of residence.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise: For mothers who have small children, and have to find something to entertain them when they can't go outdoors to play, here's a game that keeps them occupied.

I get my canned goods out of the cupboard and let the kids play grocery store.

They get hours of enjoyment from this. They make their money out of paper or use the coupons I have.

Usually the cans have the prices on them. The children have loads of fun buying and selling, and it teaches them the prices of things.

I have found this game a real boon on a rainy day when the small fry have to stay indoors. A daily reader

I'll bet your children hope for days they can play this game! Why not set up the ironing board to the proper height, covering the top with a towel (to keep the cover clean), and let them use this as their counter? A few stacked boxes would make wonderful shelves behind the counter.

For a cash box, how about using a cigar box, and the children can store their play money in it between games? If daddy doesn't smoke cigars, I'm sure your drug or grocery store will give you an empty one. Heloise

Dear Heloise: Here is a good idea for little ones going to school.

Don't throw away those eyebrow pencil covers. They are wonderful for tips on regular pencils.

This eliminates getting stuck with the sharp point of the pencil. Mrs. J. L. Stanek use those large terry beach towels for the youngsters. They are also good when an adult needs a bit more warmth than one blanket might provide.

Dear Heloise: If overnight guests find you short on blankets...

And when sick children require frequent bedding changes, beach towels launder more easily than blankets. Mrs. G. S. P.

Dear Heloise: When I prepare dinner, I always fix an extra dinner, in an aluminum tray and pop it into the freezer.

This is my husband's lunch for another day. When he takes it to work it's frozen, but by noon it's thawed. He just sets it on a hot plate he keeps where he works, and in a few minutes he has a nice hot dinner for lunch.

He likes this much better than cold lunch meat sandwiches, etc. Toney.

Dear Heloise: One should be careful when putting very hot or very cold utensils in the sink.

A very hot pan placed in a cold porcelain sink may crack the porcelain. Cold dishes (such as your punch bowl) should be warmed gradually before placing them in hot dish water. Edith

Dear Heloise: After ironing long-sleeved blouses, crisscross the sleeves in front of the blouse and use a common pin to hold them together.

This prevents the sleeves from wrinkling and getting caught in the closet doors. Barb Setser

TRAVEL TALK Arid Desert Appears Paradise At Phoenix

By HULIN FOWLER
Phoenix, Arizona, is a man-made desert paradise where you can ski on mountain slopes in the morning, bask by the side of a sunny pool in the afternoon and dine in exotic Mexico at night.

The city of almost one-half million people lies in the famed valley which not too many years ago would hardly support the lizards and jackrabbits that sought shade among the cactus from a sun that heats the area to a blistering 100 degrees or more in the summer.

Then, about 60 years ago, irrigation came to the Valley and turned the desert into an oasis, a mecca for Hollywood movie stars and a retirement place for Midwesterners who had lived too long in the cold.

Phoenix has an almost perfect climate, albeit a little hot in the summer. Even the impartial U. S. Weather Bureau has called it the driest, sunniest, clearest resort area in the nation. Right now the temperature is a pleasant 75 degrees during the day, dropping to perhaps 40 degrees on an exceptionally cold night.

You can expect to see a wild beauty in Arizona that is different from any place on earth. On entering the state from the New Mexico border you are at once in the desert, where colorful ocotilla, cotulla and other exotic plants dot what appears to be a powdery, arid land. Yet, even the land itself is a paradox, for it will grow practically anything under the sun, a fact learned early in their retirement years by the hundreds of couples who come to live in the Valley each year.

As you near the modern city of Phoenix, you'll begin to see the famed Saguaro cactus, towering two stores or more high and dotting the landscape as far as the eye can see. Mountains begin to come into view and you'll see the famous Superstition Mountains, location of the Lost Dutchman Mine, where perhaps a dozen men have entered never to be seen again.

Phoenix, which just 28 years ago was a dusty little hamlet covering less than 10 square miles, today is a stretch of 200 square miles of modern architecture, tree-shaded drives and a charm unique in the United States.

It is typical resort, however, in that it has some of the most modern and picturesque hotels and motels to be found anywhere. Night life is gay, colorful and relatively inexpensive. Most of the luxurious tourist motels are built around a swimming pool where, among tropical vegetation, the visitor can gaze out into the mysterious desert or up into such mountains as Camelback. The visitor can relax in an informal atmosphere in Phoenix and it is a dressy affair indeed that requires anything more formal than sport shirt and slacks.

Side trips are plentiful, interesting and close to Phoenix. The state, last of the 48 to enter the Union, is replete with points of historical interest such as old forts, Indian reservations and famous Civil War camp grounds. Scottsdale, less than 30 minutes east of the city, is a town where all buildings are built in the Western manner in a successful effort to preserve the history of the Old West. Shopping is excellent in Scottsdale, which specializes in leather goods, Indian handicrafts and "Arizona fashions" such as squaw dresses, cowboy shirts, frontier pants and Indian princess jackets.

Arizonians have a typical Western friendliness and make tourists welcome without the gouging that sometimes takes place in other resort areas. And, because of the popularity of the area as a place to live or retire, most tourists soon meet people from their own state or even their own hometown.

Chapter Hears Bell Music

Ted James, music director of First Methodist Church, gave a brief history of the bells that are used by that church's Bell Choir, when he was guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Scenic Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

The dinner affair was held at the Settles Hotel.

Using a choir made up of ABWA chapter members, James directed a demonstration in the use of the bells.

Mrs. Leonard Burks, ways and means chairman, announced that the "Kid's Day" movie was successful, and the goal for the educational scholarship fund had been reached. Mrs. Harvey Wooten, the fund chairman, will work with officials at Howard County Junior College to determine who will receive the scholarship for next year.

Mrs. Lambert Misk reported that the membership committee is planning a "Hand of Friendship" tea March 14 from 3 to 5 p.m. Members were urged to send in recommendations for the "Boss of the Year" who will be named at the Bosses' Night Banquet Feb. 2 in the Settles Hotel at 7:30 p.m. The members' bosses, husbands and wives are to be honored guests.

Eighteen members attended and the guest speaker.

Dear Abby

Excuses, Excuses!

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a man for two years. We love each other very much. I am a widow with two small children and he is divorced with three small children. He doesn't want to get married again because of the way his wife treated him. (She was really rotten.) He needs someone in his home 24 hours a day. He has tried older women, but they are not good with his children. He wants to hire me as his housekeeper. My family says if I take the job it will ruin my reputation as everyone in town knows we go together. Please help me make the right decision as so many people could get hurt if I make the wrong one. TO BE OR NOT TO BE.

DEAR TO BE: You may love him, but if he really loved you he would not punish you for his wife's "rotteness." I am afraid that his "reason" for not marrying you is only an excuse. And a poor one at that. Let him hire a housekeeper and tell him when he makes you his Missus, you'll share his home.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's father lives with us and he has a habit that is causing my nerves to fray. The old man drinks right from the refrigerator jug. I've caught him doing this time and time again and I have told him it was very unsanitary. I didn't like it, and I wish he'd quit it! It's like talking to the wall.

I've asked my husband please to tell Grampa to cut it out, but he says he doesn't want to hurt the old man's feelings and I should skip it. Grampa is 78 and ought to know better. Is there a solution?

FRAYED NERVES
DEAR FRAYED: Get the old man his own personal refrigerator jug and label it "GRAND DAD." And let him drink right from the jug to his heart's content. Stash the "family" jug in the rear of the refrigerator and alert all members.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is my problem. She is always picking on me. She doesn't like the way I wear my hair or any of my clothes. She is always hollering about my posture and telling me to go wash my face or it will break out. Every time I eat something fattening she yells, "You don't NEED that!" She is forever griping that my room is a mess. (Sometimes it is, but I always get around to cleaning it up.) I just can't seem to please her. Please help me. 15 AND PICKED ON.

DEAR FIFTEEN: Years sounds like the typical wall of the teenager, and your mother's reaction is also typical. Just refrain from doing the things you know will irritate your mother, keep your room tidy, and stay out of her sight.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this to try to keep some other girls from making the same mistake I made. I started going with a boy in high school. We were very much in love and had such wonderful plans. We were going to get married when we were through college. We even decided how many children we wanted and what kind of furniture we were going to have. Eventually he persuaded me to forget my moral standards because we were going to get married anyway and it would make the waiting easier. He went away to college and I got a job when we graduated. It has been three years now, and when he came home for Christmas vacation he told me he wanted a girl with stronger "moral convictions." I don't think I have to say any more. Thank you. "21 AND FOOLISH"

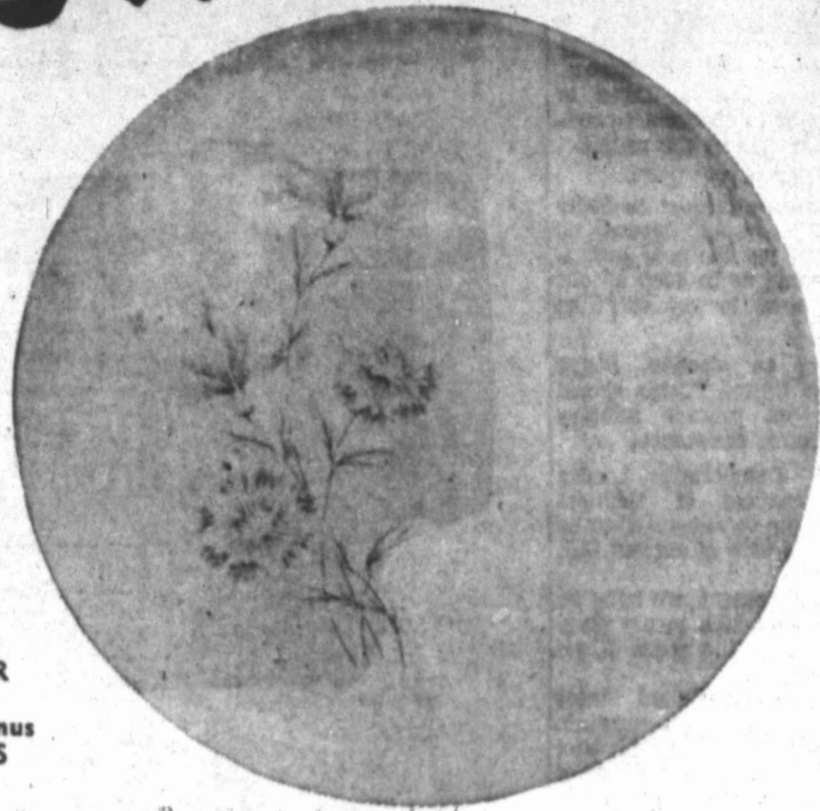

Three Whites Plead Guilty

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Three white men accused of setting off an explosion outside a Negro church pleaded guilty to reduced charges today and received the maximum sentence. They were each fined $200 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail on charges of disturbing religious services, but they will be released after 10 days. The rest of the term will be served on probation.

Originally, the three—Henry Alexander, 35; James White, 31, and Donald Landers, 19, all of Montgomery—were charged with setting off an explosive device near an inhabited building, a capital offense in Alabama.

Circuit Solicitor Dave Crossland told Judge Eugene Lee that the state decided to reduce the charges because the explosion could not have injured Negroes in the church or damaged the property.

Canal Zone Clash Anniversary Due

PANAMA (AP) — Reliable sources said today the government is planning an official observance Saturday of the anniversary of last year's bloody clashes along the Canal Zone border in which four U.S. soldiers and 21 Panamanians were killed.

Most Senators In Survey Shun Idea Of Viet Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warily, often reluctantly, most of the senators ready to prescribe a course in South Viet Nam today chose current U.S. policy — but called for efforts to make American military backing more effective.

Many of them saw it as a temporary measure, a prologue to negotiations aimed at settling the guerrilla warfare in the Communist-beleaguered nation.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., offered this terse prescription: "Continue present policy until we can negotiate from a position of strength."

"Our present policy," argued Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, "is leading us toward the same calamity as befell the French 10 years ago."

"NEGOTIATE NOW" He called for negotiations now, pointing toward a neutral-ty that would be guaranteed by the United Nations or a special international commission.

There were conflicting undercurrents of Senate sentiment for outright U.S. withdrawal or for expansion of the U.S.-backed warfare. But those views came only from a handful of senators.

Most of the legislators who responded to an Associated Press survey shunned the idea of pulling out, of committing U.S. combat troops or of extending the war into Communist North Viet Nam.

One Republican, J. Caleb

Boggs of Delaware, came up with a new formula. He suggested a U.S. call for Vietnamese elections within three or four months to choose a government supported by the people.

WOULD DEPEND
"Our future conduct in South Viet Nam would depend on whether or not the new government wanted us to keep up our assistance or to get out," he said.

Pending an election, Boggs said, the United States should continue its present military and economic assistance.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana spoke for the consensus when he offered this view of current U.S. policy:

"For the present, we have no other choice which in my judgment would fit the needs of the situation."

He added the United States should stand ready to negotiate for neutralization of South Viet Nam. "If it contains promise of a just and guaranteed solution, fine," Mansfield said. "If not, it can be discarded."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., suggested extension of the war into Communist North Viet Nam and held out at the same time hope for a negotiated settlement.

"LOSING WAR"
Tower said present policies are losing the war, and he declared it will take new initiatives to reverse the course of the guerrilla struggle.

That, he said, means action to choke off Communist supply support from the north.

All told, 81 of the 100 senators responded to the survey.

In general terms, 30 of them suggested that the United States stick to its present course, at least for the present. Many of them called at the same time for steps to improve the results, stressing government reforms and stability in South Viet Nam.

Three others talked of strengthening Democratic government in the Southeast Asian nation, but took no stand on U.S. military or diplomatic measures.

Ten senators called for a negotiated settlement now, some joining Church in a call for international supervision.

Three suggested the United States and South Viet Nam step up the struggle, moving it north into Communist territory.

FOR WITHDRAWAL
Three spoke out for U.S. withdrawal.

Eight indicated they had no suggestions, and 24 refused to comment at all.

Those who did offer suggestions proposed them in varying terms which defied precise man-by-man cataloging. Many senators who responded to the survey insisted that their names not be used.

Some Republicans who declined to be quoted by name renewed an allegation voiced by Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, during his campaign — that President Johnson has not told Congress or the nation what is going on in South Viet Nam and there should be a detailed accounting from the White House.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., insisted that Johnson and his advisers have "the best information available to anyone."

"I have confidence in their decisions," Sparkman said. "I think we should back them up."

IS INVESTIGATING
The Senate itself is investigating the situation, through its Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. Some legislators said they would await those inquiries before deciding what course they favor.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Richard B. Russell of Georgia, the committee chairmen, declined comment on the situation now.

Russell already has said "we made a terrible mistake getting involved in Viet Nam." But he added he does not know "just how we can get out now."

Some senators reflected the frustration of many Americans at the continuing struggle in Viet Nam. "I don't know how you get off a tiger's back," said a senator who asked that he not be identified.

Fortune In Art Found

LONDON (AP) — The United Arab Republic's embassy in London has discovered a fortune in paintings by the 18th century Venetian artist Giovanni Tiepolo on its drawing room ceiling.

British experts value the paintings at $400,000 to $700,000.

"The paintings have long been admired," said an embassy spokesman, "but it was not until recently that an expert was called in to look at them."

"It was then discovered that the paintings were by Tiepolo and not direct on to the ceiling, as we had always thought, but on canvas and framed."

About 11,000 workers are to take part.

Turkish Leaders Invited To Russia

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Both Turkish President Cernal Gursel and Premier Ismet Inonu have been invited to visit the Soviet Union, informed sources said today.
