Washington Whoops It Up For LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — The capital starts whooping it up for Lyndon B. Johnson officially today, and only a dubious weatherman stands in the way of what could be one of the liveliest inaugurations since Andrew Jackson's.

Three days of partying and assorted rejoicings begin with a reception for distinguished ladies this afternoon followed by tonight's Democratic gala. This is a mammoth variety show, with an all-star cast of singers, dancers and comedians.

Hostess Perle Mesta gave a big party Sunday night at her penthouse apartment. But it was a private affair — not part of the official inaugural week activities. The 300 guests included Vice President-elect and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, Lynda Johnson, singer-actress Carol Channing, inaugural chairman Dale Miller and many members of Congress.

AFA Meeting Set Tonight

A glimpse into the nation's vast space program will be given tonight for members of the Big Spring unit of the Air Force Association, at the organization's first annual membership meeting.

AFA members, their wives and guests, due to number more than 200, will gather at the Big Spring Country Club at 7:30 p.m. for a dinner affair.

It is to feature an address by Don J. Green, of the NASA Spacecraft Center in Houston. Now on the public information staff of NASA, Green formerly was a newspaperman in Chicago, and later became a writer of special articles on science and aviation.

Jack Cook, membership chairman of the Association, said arrangements will be made to take care of those who purchase tickets at the door, and all AFA members are urged to attend.

Lester Morton is president of the local unit, and will preside tonight's meeting. He flew today to Houston to bring Green back here for the appearance tonight.

The NASA representative also will address a high school assembly Tuesday morning.

Parties Strive To Finish Setting Up House Panels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats routinely approved nominations of House members to committees today, while Republican leaders met to complete their roster.

Spokesmen for both parties have said they hope to finish promptly the setting up of committees, which is a necessary preliminary to any real congressional work.

Democrats held a full party caucus today to confirm the selections of their Committee on

Panels Receive Flood Of Bills In Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators opened the flood gates today to bill introduction with a rush of measures on almost every knotty issue.

More than two dozen bills and proposed constitutional amendments were offered in the Senate, touching on such issues as a teacher pay raise, redistricting and liquor-by-the-drink.

The measures were sent to committees. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith's salary was the subject of a bill introduced by Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin. The bill proposes that the legislature set the lieutenant governor's salary, now the same as legislators—$4,800 a year. The lieutenant governor also is paid the governor's salary when the governor is out of the state.

BUSY MOMENTS
Not until the five inaugural balls are over sometime Wednesday night is Johnson likely to have another quiet moment. He planned to get in some work today on his inaugural address.

For all the accent on the galaxy, if you needed one word to describe official Washington today that word would have to be: apprehension.

With snow on the ground, more snow in the forecast for tomorrow and temperatures huddling in the 20s, the climatic possibilities are sobering if not downright frightening. The forecast for Tuesday: fair and cold.

Inauguration after inauguration, it's not so much what they say here, but the conditions under which they shiver and shake.

On the eve of John F. Kennedy's inauguration in 1961 an eight-inch snow, swirling in gusts of up to 32 miles an hour, so tied up traffic you would have thought the capital was barricaded.

MANY INVITATIONS
Such recent nightmares, coupled with such uncertain forecasts, could hold down the crowds, even though Johnson throughout the campaign extended invitations lavishly.

Sunday night, coming back from Texas, he brought along so many friends on the presidential plane his staff members were displaced and had to ride another aircraft.

Curiously, Andrew Jackson, away back in 1829, seems to have come closest to Johnson in inviting all his friends to come. Some 20,000 did, crowding into the White House and creating such suffocating confusion that Jackson eventually had to flee the too-friendly mob.

Well, Johnson hasn't gone that far.

Sixteen Await Arraignment In Mississippi

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—Appeals for cash went out today as 16 men awaited arraignment in Mississippi's case of the three murdered civil rights workers.

The FBI said two other men would be arrested soon. The two are Horace D. Barnett, 25, and James E. Jordan who used to live here but moved elsewhere after the killings. Their present whereabouts was an FBI secret.

A federal grand jury in Jackson indicted 18 white men on charges of conspiracy in the case. Those arrested here and at nearby Philadelphia Saturday were freed on bond.

SEPARATE TRIALS?
Legal strategy being planned included a move to have each man tried separately. A federal source said the move would be opposed.

At least two fund-raising groups were bidding for defense donations. One — with a goal of $1 million — said collection boxes would be placed at every business establishment in the state and every public official would be tapped for contribution.

The 16 arrested included Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, 41, and Chief Deputy Cecil Price, 26, both of Philadelphia.

The federal government has no authority to file murder charges in the case. There was no word on plans for state action. The Neshoba County grand jury, which would consider any state charges filed, meets next month.

BURIED IN DAM
The three dead men were found buried deep in a red clay dam on a farm near Philadelphia Aug. 4. An undisclosed informant directed the FBI to the location.

The victims were James Chaney, 21, a Meridian Negro, and two white New Yorkers, Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20.

President's Message On Defense Is Ready

Sheep In Sheep's Clothing

This animal has just been groomed and is ready for judging in the sheep class at the National Western Stock Show, under way today in Denver. Livestock entries at the show this year have set a new record, entries are up 500 over 1964. Officials at the show are also looking for a new attendance record as the weather is mild and clear in Denver. Story on Page 3-A. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Military Might Again Stressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, telling Congress today the United States is militarily stronger than ever before in peacetime history, disclosed that he expects to submit a defense budget of $49 billion, a drop of $300 million from this year's level. He also unveiled a new weapons system, the Poseidon, to strengthen the striking power of Polaris submarines.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson details for Congress today his view that U.S. military power is second to none and that he will keep it that way.

Johnson, two days away from his inauguration to a full four-year term, arranged to lay out his defense policy in a special message.

It was his sixth special message since Congress returned to work on Jan. 4.

MEET THREATS
Addressing the Senate and House on the State of the Union that night, the President said:

"In this period, we have built a military power strong enough to meet any threat and destroy any adversary."

"And that superiority will continue to grow so long as the office is mine — and you sit on Capitol Hill."

Johnson can, if he wishes, scoop his own budget message and disclose the final defense figure.

COST CUT
Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara disclosed just before Christmas that defense spending next fiscal year might fall about $500 million below this year's estimated $49.8 billion.

Since then, there have been some refinements but the final figure is expected to be fairly close to $49.3 billion. This is expected to account for about half of the entire federal budget for the bookkeeping year starting July 1.

This is the first special message on defense since 1961 when President John F. Kennedy revised the recommendations of the outgoing Eisenhower administration and then added on still more because of the Berlin crisis that year.

It appeared that Johnson was aiming to put his own imprint on a defense policy he inherited from Kennedy.

SAME COURSE
Johnson made no appreciable change in the Kennedy policy and there was every indication he would continue along the same course.

Basically, that policy involves building U.S. power to deal with all kinds of threats ranging from subversion and "little wars" to all-out nuclear war. That policy has been called "flexible response."

The President has placed strong emphasis on all possible economies in national defense and has embraced McNamara's cost-reduction program, as well as McNamara's strategic ideas.

Night Restful For Churchill; Little Weaker

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, his life slowly ebbing, was a little weaker today, a medical bulletin said.

The bulletin was issued by Churchill's personal physician and lifelong friend, Lord Moran, after a visit to the 90-year-old statesman this morning.

It said that otherwise there was nothing to report on the old man's condition. The text of the bulletin: "Sir Winston had a restful night. He is a little weaker, but otherwise there is nothing to report."

STEADY DECLINE
This was the seventh bulletin since Churchill was struck by cerebral thrombosis Friday. All have told of the steady decline of the aged statesman.

Lord Moran left the Churchill home immediately after issuing the bulletin. Asked by reporters whether Churchill was taking any nourishment, he said:

"I don't think I'll answer that."

Moran examined Churchill twice Sunday. After the second examination he said: "After a restless start, Sir Winston has had a peaceful day, but he has lost ground."

STAY LATE
Churchill's three surviving children stayed late with Lady Churchill now 79, near the bedside, dispersing only in the early hours this morning.

His actress daughter Sarah, 49, said as she left: "He is sleeping peacefully."

Legislators Clamor For Spot On Teacher Pay Bandwagon

AUSTIN (AP) — House members hustled today to be among the sponsors of the $45 teacher pay raise bill, which Mineola Rep. George Hinson said he will introduce this week. Hinson said talk that the salary increase might bring on a tax increase is unfair.

The measure probably will be filed Thursday. The House and the Senate planned a joint session to canvass Nov. 3 election returns.

About 25 representatives have signed the pay raise bill as co-sponsors.

$45 MONTHLY
The measure, the keystone of the Texas State Teachers Association's legislative program, would increase the minimum salary paid teachers by $45 a month. It would raise the minimum annual pay from $4,002 to $4,407, Hinson said.

He said he plans to meet with Gov. John Connally shortly after the inauguration to discuss the pay bill, which some lawmakers say might necessitate a tax increase. Connally did not include funds for a teacher pay raise in his budget, but has said there would be something for the teachers in his recommendations to the legislature.

It is estimated that a $45 monthly increase would cost the state $68 million during the 1966-67 two-year state financing period.

"TAX HIKE UNLIKELY"
"It is not right to single out the teachers and the old folk and say they are responsible for a tax increase," Hinson asserted. "But I don't think we are going to have to raise taxes this session, and we can still give the teachers a pay raise."

Connally said on Jan. 8 a tax boost would be needed to finance both his budget and a teacher salary increase.

The joint session carried out the legislature's duty under the state Constitution to add up the votes for governor and lieutenant governor. Speaker Ben Barnes has the constitutional duty of officially declaring the victors—Gov. John Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith.

Another job expected to be accomplished today was the setting of Connally's and Smith's inauguration date. The House adopted and sent to the Senate for concurrence Thursday a resolution postponing the ceremony from Tuesday which ordinarily would be inauguration day—until Jan. 26.

The change was sought to provide time for officials—including Connally and others to attend both the governor's and President Johnson's inaugurations. Johnson will be sworn in Wednesday.

CAFES DECLARED READY TO YIELD, DESEGREGATE

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Restaurants reportedly were prepared to desegregate today in a surprise response to a civil rights campaign mounted by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in this rigidly segregated Alabama city.

"They're going to feed you," the Rev. James Bevel, one of King's assistants, told Negroes Sunday night at a church rally, where he urged them to test downtown restaurants.

Bevel and another source said that the restaurant owners had agreed to serve Negroes in compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

AWAIT KING
Negro leaders said they would test the dining places and other businesses serving the public after King arrived to open his first major civil rights drive since last summer's violence-racked campaign at St. Augustine, Fla.

King planned to lead some Negroes to the Dallas County courthouse in their effort to register to vote. It was not clear whether there would be an organized march downtown, in view of a police warning against marching, or other demonstrations.

"We are not interested in getting people arrested," Bevel told newsmen at the church meeting. He indicated there would be no defiance of the ban on marching.

Wilson Baker, Selma's director of public safety and head of the police department, said he would enforce an ordinance requiring a permit to parade, but would not interfere with any persons walking in the courthouse if they were not in an organized march.

King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference planned a three-point program of voter registration, applications for city jobs, and efforts to desegre-

While residents of the northern sector of the U.S. shivered in icy temperatures, it looked like this on the beach at Pismo Beach, Calif., yesterday. Pleasant weather coupled with the lowest tides in more than two decades lured an estimated

Stocks Move To High Level

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved into new high ground early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The Dow Jones industrial average moved above its record closing high reached last November.

The market had nine straight sessions behind it in which more stocks rose than fell and the sustained advance was breeding increasing caution in the street.

The trend was slightly higher among steels, motors, oils, mail order-retails, utilities and tobacco.

Aerospace issues continued lower on prospects of lower federal spending for aerospace in the years ahead. Drugs and rails were irregularly lower. Airlines, farm implements and electronics were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.59 at 894.74, topping its closing high of 891.71 reached Nov. 18.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 8 at 333.5, exceeding its record closing high posted Friday.

Red's Act 'Inadmissible'

MOSCOW (AP) — A local Communist party boss who was stopped for a traffic violation got so mad he called a party meeting to berate the officer who stopped him. "Who gave you such a right?" he asked the officer. "Didn't you know whose car it was?" Reviewing the case today, Pravda, the Soviet Communist party paper, said the local boss "behaved in an inadmissible manner." Pravda called on the party Central Committee of Turkmenistan to review the case.

Fem Lawmakers 'Love To Serve'

AUSTIN (AP)—The two women in the Texas Legislature get no special treatment—except, of course, the men open doors and put flowers on your desk and make you blush with courtly remarks on opening day.

That's the word from Mrs. Neville H. Colson of Navasota, who serves with 30 male senators, and Miss Maud Isaacks of El Paso, whose colleagues are 149 male representatives.

Rarely have they seen each other during shared service of more than a decade. Senators are seniority conscious and representatives are sensitive about senators' seniority, whether they be men or women.

LOVE IT

Yet without comparing notes, Mrs. Colson and Miss Isaacks speak of their lawmaking service in the same way: They love it.

Both have been highly successful in winning re-election. Mrs. Colson won election to the House in 1939 and after five terms moved up to the Senate. She last faced an opponent, a man, in 1959.

Miss Isaacks, a tiny woman who wears bright hats on opening days of the session, succeeded her father in 1954 when health prompted his resignation. Their combined span of service is the longest for any family—62 years.

Judge Samuel Jackson Isaacks first served in the House in 1907, stayed out after one term until 1938 and then was elected continuously through 1954.

TOKEN FOES

She says her opponents have been token. Last year, with a sister in El Paso critically ill, she streaked through without any campaigning.

It is Miss Isaacks' first session as the only female representative. During her first term there were four women. Three terms ago there were three. Last session's second woman, Mrs. Myra Banfield of Rosenberg, was not re-elected.

Miss Isaacks said more women are participating in county and city offices than before, but statewide work often is too taxing on family or business.

In the face of a national trend toward women in every kind of work, the decline of the number of female legislators is hard to explain.

SHUN FAVORS

Neither Mrs. Colson nor Miss Isaacks hides behind her skirts. Nor do they expect any special favors. Each claims her record will stand against any man's, and that's the basis of judgment they want. Both say women wanting to run for political office must have qualifications, not just femininity.

Neither recruits women for the legislature. They find few who are interested and, besides, hunting opponents for their colleagues isn't exactly in the interest of member relations.

Mrs. Colson taught English and Spanish and was a high school principal before entering the House. Miss Isaacks taught school for more than 40 years, mostly in El Paso.

LED FIGHT

Affectionately called "Miss Maud" by House members, Rep. Isaacks led a fight for higher education standards in the late 1950s through a bill to reduce the number of hours of college education courses. The bill failed in the Senate, but after the initial push the State Board of Education eventually trimmed the education requirements.

Sen. Colson devotes full time to representing her 11-county district. "In Liberty County, for example, the interest is rice farming. Then you have the pine tree area, with logging and lumbering. In Madison County there are more cattle per acre than in any county in the state."

She is most proud of writing laws which earmark funds for construction and maintenance of farm roads. She noted that Texas leads the nation in roads of this type and they are built at the lowest average cost per mile.

Idle Docks Cutting Off Grain Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dock strike at eastern and gulf ports has reduced exports of American grain to a mere trickle at a time when this country is having difficulty maintaining even a portion of what it regards as its fair share of world markets.

The great bulk of the wheat, corn, other feed grains and soybeans which are sold abroad move out of docks closed down by the longshoremen's strike.

Agriculture Department officials said some railroads have placed embargoes on further movement of grains for mid-western producing areas because there is no place to put the grain once it reaches east. Exports of U.S. wheat and flour during the marketing year that began last July 1 total 388 million bushels, or 13 per cent less than a year earlier. But this does not tell the whole story—at least from the standpoint of the government. Sales of wheat and flour for dollars totaled only 61 million bushels compared with 178 million in the like period last year.

The remainder of the exports were made under food-for-peace programs involving either sales for soft currencies or donations. This decline in dollar sales adversely affects this country's problem of achieving a balance of trade.

Generals Get Power In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's young generals took a more open hand in the direction of the government today as three of them were reported named to posts in Premier Tran Van Huong's previously all-civilian Cabinet.

The government also moved to step up the war effort by giving its ministries power to draft personnel and requisition property.

Reliable sources said Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu became deputy premier and took over the Defense Ministry from Huong. The air force commander Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky became minister of youth and sport; the army security chief, Brig. Gen. Linh Quang Vien, was made minister of information. Thieu and Ky were leading members of the "Young Turk" group of generals who dissolved the High National Council Dec. 20 and nearly caused the government to collapse. The council had acted as a provisional legislature.

The military reportedly insisted on Cabinet posts as its price for the agreement which ended the crisis resulting from the December purge. Military officers dominated the government from the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963, until Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the commander of the Vietnamese armed forces, resigned the premiership Aug. 27 under public pressure.

There was no immediate reaction from Buddhist leaders who have been waging a prolonged but so far ineffective campaign to oust Huong.

Puzzle of Saturday, January 16, Solved

U.S. Slipping In Viet, Says Europe Press

LONDON (AP) — Editorial comments in Europe about Viet Nam reflect a feeling that the American position is becoming untenable, that military victory is more distant than ever, and that President Johnson faces an almost impossible dilemma.

"In Viet Nam the President has got himself more firmly on the hook than ever," says the London Times. "More is required than a blank commitment to stay. The trouble is that a new approach to Asia requires a new approach to China, and that requires an effort to re-educate public opinion in America."

Generally, the British press shows more concern about Britain's own commitment in Malaysia.

"LOSING BATTLE"

Most French comment follows the government line that the Americans are fighting a losing battle and should adopt President Charles de Gaulle's plan to neutralize South Viet Nam through an international conference. The papers take the view that the Vietnamese are weary of continual warfare and that continued bickering among the Buddhists, Saigon politicians and the army is almost inevitable.

West German articles emphasize the difficulties of any settlement. Some papers have accused President Johnson of indecision. Others alleged rough tactics. One illustrated magazine compared the interrogation techniques of U.S. advisers in Viet Nam with Nazi brutality in World War II.

STORM SIGNALS

The storm signals are set in Viet Nam. What causes concern is the hesitation of the President to take the matter resolutely in hand, to be unpopular if necessary, and to end the confusion and disunity within his government.

Amsterdam's Socialist Het Parool suggested a defensive attitude by Americans stems from the French press. But, said the paper: "De Gaulle would be the first to appreciate a tough, positive attitude from the American Government."

In Italy Milan's Corriere Della Sera said Johnson had failed to clarify his intentions in the State of the Union message. It commented: "Even if the South Vietnamese miraculously were united and gave themselves a stable government, they could not win. Everybody knows it. And (Secretary of State Dean) Rusk says the contrary because he does not want to say that the President is preparing to accept defeat."

TRUCE NEGOTIATIONS

Denmark's Politiken said Washington could have no illusions about the price of moving toward cease-fire negotiations. Ironically, it observed, Gen. Nguyen Khanh was "a product of U.S. efforts in South Viet Nam in recent years, of the military buildup, of his U.S. masters' attitude to Far East problems, and of the work of U.S. intelligence."

It continued: "One node in recognition at everything said by Khanh, because one has heard it before — from disappointed generals in South Korea, from their colleagues in Formosa and Laos."

Perle's Party Unofficially Blasts Off Inaugural Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was pink champagne (domestic) and smoked tongue and black caviar and so many people the next vice president of the United States was almost backed into the kitchen.

But everyone had a nice word for everyone, and Hubert Humphrey, as always, had a few more at Perle Mesta's blast Sunday night which unofficially inaugurated the social swirl of inaugural week.

"How does it feel to be unemployed?" someone asked the vice president-elect.

OFF PAYROLL

"Not unemployed," he grinned. "Unpaid." Humphrey went off the government payroll Dec. 29 when he resigned his Senate seat to advance his successor's seniority. His new paycheck of $43,000 a year doesn't start until he is sworn in Wednesday.

Clearly the top line of the evening came from Rudolph Nureyev, the great ballet dancer, who was asked what he thought of the Great Society. "I don't know," the Russian defector said, struggling to keep his elbows in and his champagne from spilling. "I haven't seen it yet."

Nureyev came with Dame Margot Fonteyn, the ballerina, who was radiant in something black. Like Carol Channing of "Hello Dolly," they will perform tonight at the inaugural gala. Sunday night, Miss Channing wore a big round white hat which was said to be modeled

IN PENTHOUSE

Mrs. Mesta, who is "social consultant" for this inaugural, gave the party in her 15-room penthouse apartment, which is full of expensive French furniture — the Marie Antoinette desk, someone whispered, is worth $25,000 — and the bathroom fixtures are sculpted out of gold leaf.

The cocktail party had been billed as a get-together for the kinfolk and friends of the Lyndon Johnsons. But among the 300 present, the kin were outnumbered by members of government, show people and society reporters.

Lynda Johnson was there, radiant in something white, escorted by former Marine Lt. David Lefeve. "Be sure," a lady from the White House whispered to a reporter, "you don't identify him as her fiancé." Lynda's parents sent flowers and their regrets from Texas, where they personally were gathering the main body of kinfolk to fly to Washington.

CRUSH OF GUESTS

Though at one time the crush of guests edged him perilously close to the open kitchen door, Humphrey maintained his good humor. "Nice and cozy, isn't it?" he said to one well-wisher. To another: "Oh, yes, it's terribly exciting." To still another: "Well, I'd have to say campaigning is easier than this. We have 49 more parties this week alone." Mrs. Humphrey was radiant in something white. As the party ended, Mrs. Mesta was asked if it had gone as expected. "Oh yes," she said. "Everybody I expected came and they all brought somebody else."

Two Familiar Re-Runs Retain Original Charm

By CYNTHIA LOWRY, AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —

The annual Bob Hope Christmas show is as familiar and unchanging as the annual "Wizard of Oz" re-run.

Both were on view over the weekend. Neither seems to lose its charm.

The Hope show, filmed during his holiday journey to military outposts from the Philippines to Viet Nam, occupied 90 minutes on NBC Friday night.

As variety shows go, this one was extraordinary. There is Hope making local jokes, insulting military life, food and the brass. There are always a number of very pretty girls. This year they included Janis Paige, Jill St. John, even "Miss World," and some music and dancing.

But the jokes and the action on assorted outdoor stages, sometimes in bitter cold, are not the reason that this show each year attracts a huge television audience. It is rather the spirit of the troupe, and most of all, our appreciation of the pleasure he brings to thousands of Americans away from home.

The GI's are the stars of that show.

Sunday night, there was CBS' repeat of the delightful old Oz fantasy, a movie made when Judy Garland was a bobby-soxer. This season, for a change, the network broadcast it in color.

CBS insists it is still not interested in color broadcasting but it certainly is using more of it than ever before.

Significantly, NBC — which has always ducked specific answers to questions — made an official estimate of the number of color sets in the country: 2,860,000, which, it says, is a 77 per cent increase over the number in use a year ago. It is still, however, a small percentage of the total sets, around 60 million.

Last Respects Paid Romantic Woman Singer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Famed generals, singers and actors — and the more humble members of the Jeanette MacDonald fan club — gathered here today for the funeral of the movies' first great romantic woman singer.

A massive cross of white roses stood by her coffin, sent with a card signed simply, "Ike and Mamie," from former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nearly were smaller bouquets from fans who had traveled from as far as Australia, England, Mexico and Canada to pay their last respects.

Coming Vote May End Longshoreman Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, says next Thursday is a possible date for the end of the strike of longshoremen on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

That is the day that a new vote will be taken among the 24,000 dock workers in the Port of New York on a proposed contract they rejected a week ago Friday.

"Should they okay it this time," Reynolds said Sunday in New Orleans, La., "they would be ready to return to work Thursday night."

FEEL HOPEFUL

"I'm going to meet with New Orleans officials all this week and we feel hopeful they'll be ready to go back to work at the same time as New York dock workers would be ready."

The strike by 60,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association has tied up more than 300 ships. Many of the ships carry perishables that are starting to spoil.

Contracts reached by the ILA and the New York Shipping Association, which represent 145 shipping and stevedoring companies, normally set a pattern for contracts in the other ports.

ILA President Thomas W. Gleason has praised the four-year contract. The proposed contract offers the men their first guarantee of an annual minimum wage — $5,860 for 1,600 hours work.

WAGE BENEFITS

It also gives them a wage-benefit package of 80 cents an hour over the four-year term, including an increase of 36 cents an hour in wages which were a basic $3.26 an hour under the expired contract. Also provided are improved pensions, longer vacations and more holidays.

The main cause of the rejection appeared to be the contract provision for gradual reduction of the work gangs from 20 to 17 men over the four years.

Inauguration Fashion Scene Begins Today

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first fashion flurry of the inauguration begins this afternoon when 5,000 guests up at the National Gallery to meet Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mrs. Robert R. Humphrey.

They announced in advance their gowns for the three-day inauguration celebration, a wide range from warm outdoor outfits to specially designed ball gowns.

They picked their favorite colors — Mrs. Johnson choosing bright shades of yellow, bright red and shimmering white; and Mrs. Humphrey a patriotic wardrobe of red, white and blue.

Plans were considered optional by Ferie Meets, who issued a "what to wear" manual as "social consultant" to the inaugural committee chairman.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Humphrey planned to wear hats only to the outdoor oath-taking and inaugural parade. They were careful to see their clothes went well together, since they were making joint appearances almost everywhere.

For the late afternoon Distinguished Ladies Reception in the gallery today, Ferie Meets, Johnson picked a princess-line holiday of silk afternoon dress with three-quarter sleeves and gently flared skirt. Silver-haired Mrs. Humphrey's outfit was a sleeveless silver and white brocade, with matching jacket.

For tonight's first evening appearance — the Inaugural Gala, a galaxy of entertainment in honor of the President — Mrs. Johnson's gown by Roxanne of Samuel Winston, New York, will be a long sparkling white pean de soie, with bodice of crystal jewels, beaded and sequined, with matching white stole. Mrs. Humphrey planned to make a last-minute choice between her two gowns for evening formal events. She was expected to wear an empire-style red satin gown with a bateau neckline.

The First Lady has picked an American beauty red costume for the Capitol ceremony where President Johnson will be sworn in at noon Wednesday. Designed by Sophie of Saks Fifth Avenue, New York, it includes a single-breasted coat of needle-point wool, with a small face-framing collar; and a black seal skin hat, with a matching long coat and gown ensemble of heavy double-woven jonquil yellow satin, designed by young New York designer John Moore, an Oklahoman who claims Texas as his home state. The gown has a bateau neckline, small wing-capped sleeves. A bias front panel set into the bodice features a slightly raised waistline tapering to a natural waistline in the back, with slight fullness flowing in the skirt.

The matching coat is fully lined and falls from narrow shoulders to a wider hem. It features a face-framing, stand-up collar with elbow length sleeves circled in natural satins. With it, Mrs. Johnson will wear a single strand of pearls and the diamond and gold earrings given her by the President on their 38th wedding anniversary last Nov. 17. Yellow satin medium-heel pumps, white gloves and an envelope handbag of the dress fabric complete the costume.

Mrs. Humphrey wanted to make the most of her inaugural wardrobe, but didn't have the time and had to leave it to dressmakers. However, she did make her own inaugural day outfit — a dress of pale cerulean angora and wool broadcloth, semifitted, with simulated slit seaming along the bodice and front of the skirt, giving an empire line.

Over the dress, she'll wear an Alaskan seal coat with cable collar, which she purchased in Anchorage, while on a campaign trip last October. She's been saving it to wear for the

The main fashion event, of course, is the inaugural ball on Wednesday night, and top-ranking Washington wives have put the emphasis on their ball gowns.

Leading the way will be Mrs. Johnson with a classic long coat and gown ensemble of heavy double-woven jonquil yellow satin, designed by young New York designer John Moore, an Oklahoman who claims Texas as his home state. The gown has a bateau neckline, small wing-capped sleeves. A bias front panel set into the bodice features a slightly raised waistline tapering to a natural waistline in the back, with slight fullness flowing in the skirt.

The matching coat is fully lined and falls from narrow shoulders to a wider hem. It features a face-framing, stand-up collar with elbow length sleeves circled in natural satins. With it, Mrs. Johnson will wear a single strand of pearls and the diamond and gold earrings given her by the President on their 38th wedding anniversary last Nov. 17. Yellow satin medium-heel pumps, white gloves and an envelope handbag of the dress fabric complete the costume.

Mrs. Humphrey's gown, designed by Count Sarmi of New York, is of frailest sheer ribbon lace in wisteria tones, worn with a matching collarless full-length coat. The dress has a V-necked bodice, with bow accentuating the empire waistline. The skirt is gently shaped with a scalloped hemline and varied blue and lavender tones give a flowing, water color effect.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

10 HITS BY THE CHIEF TRUMP

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠ 5 3 J T 6 5 2 ♦ A K 7 4 ♣ 5 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♠ 5 ♣

What do you bid now?

A—Even though you may never take a heart trick, your advice is to double, for there should be three other defensive tricks at least. The temptation to bid five hearts should be resisted. There is no reason for you to believe that you have a good chance to take 11 tricks.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠ A Q 10 6 3 2 ♦ A J 4 ♣ A K 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♣ 2♥ Double Pass

What do you bid now?

A—While ordinarily the possession of a six-card major suit combined with a void in the suit is considered sufficient ground for overruling partner's penalty double, in this particular case, South should stand for the double because he has such a wealth of defensive strength that the penalty should be highly gratifying. Furthermore it is likely that partner is short in spades which is usually the case when early business doubles are made, so that you may find it difficult to reach a convenient spot for game.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠ A 5 4 ♠ Q 2 ♦ K 10 4 3 ♣ A 10 9 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

What do you bid now?

A—There is no reason for you to feel that anyone is putting his hand in your pocket. You should pass. You have barely an opening bid and the fact that East has confessed to weakness should not induce you to look at your hand through rose colored glasses.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ Q 8 ♥ K 7 6 ♦ A Q J 7 ♣ A Q J 7

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

What do you bid now?

A—You have somewhat more than an opening bid, but not enough to wax enthusiastic. You have a choice of rebidding diamonds or bidding one no trump. The latter bid is chosen because it is important to show the heart stopper.

Partner has made a free bid and it is not likely that he will pass one no trump.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠ 4 7 6 ♦ A K J 7 ♣ A K J 8 4 3 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

What do you bid now?

A—It is reasonable to assume that the diamonds are solid and that the question of the trick taking possibilities of this hand depends only on the number of aces held by partner. A Blackwood bid of four no trump is therefore clearly indicated.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠ Q 10 9 7 6 4 ♥ 5 ♦ K Q 10 9 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

What do you bid now?

A—Our preferred call is two diamonds. This is rather on the unorthodox side, but is made in anticipation of the opponents getting up to four hearts before it is next your turn to bid, in which case you might reasonably try a bid of four spades. Whereas, if you elect to overcall with one spade, you must not feel inclined to try five diamonds over the adverse four heart bid.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠ A K 7 6 4 ♥ K J ♦ 4 2 ♣ J 9 3 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ 1♥ 1♠ 1♠

What do you bid now?

A—The prospects for going game are bright because you have the equal of an opening bid facing partner's opening bid. Your minor suit holding precludes a try for game at no trump and it would be pointless to rebid spades which partner has not supported. Your heart support is adequate for a rebid suit. Bid three hearts.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

♠ K J 7 2 ♥ K 9 4 3 ♦ K ♣ A K J 9

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ 1♥ 1♠ 1♠

What is your response?

A—It has been my observation that with hands of this type best results are obtained by flashing the immediate slam signal. This is done by making a jump shift and our choice is three clubs. This response is preferred to two spades, because of the frail appearance of the spade suit.

Steers At Home Tuesday, Hawks Going To Odessa

Basketball fans here are on a one-and-one situation this week. The Big Spring High School Steers, carrying a 1-4 record, meet the Abilene Eagles here Tuesday evening. On the other hand, the HCJC Hawks, still undefeated in league play, go Wednesday to Odessa for a Western Conference game with Odessa Junior College.

Allen Simpson's improving Steers had trouble with consistency. Last Tuesday they spotted Permian a big lead then outplayed it by five points in the last half although losing 52-48. Then Friday the Steers led Midland after three quarters 33-47, then faded in the stretch to lose a heartbreaker 69-67.

The Hawks, on the other hand, climbed all over New Mexico Military Institute here Friday evening and took a 103-80 victory.

That could never happen here. The gym roots are more reliable. And it never rains.

Officials at Odessa College are discussing the possibility of staging a junior college track and field meet there the latter part of February, to which member schools of the Western Conference would be invited.

More junior college meets of this kind are needed. Some city should take the lead in staging a State JC Championship meet. Such meets are held in many other states.

White Hopes In Need, Says Clay

NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing wrong with boxing that "more white hopes" wouldn't cure, says Cassius Clay.

That's why he said he was pulling for Canadian champion George Chuvala to knock out Floyd Patterson, the former world champion, in the 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 1. He and Chuvala would draw more money, said Clay.

Clay said he hoped to fight the winner after his return bout with Sonny Liston in Boston this spring.

At the same time Clay, the hit of the Boxing Writers' Association's 40th annual dinner Sunday night, said if "we had more white men like Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey around, and me fighting them, we'd draw a $30-million gate.

"It seems the darker men are dominating boxing," said Clay who switched back and forth from speaking in jest and in being dead serious.

"This must seem a little sad to white men," he added. "I'm not talking hate. I'm talking about what everyone says but nobody says out loud. Tunney and Dempsey, both former heavyweight champions, were among the 21 present, and former world champions who graced the two-tier dais at the BWA's award dinner honoring light - heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano, former welterweight and middleweight champion Mickey Walker, and one-time welterweight contender Billy Graham.

Aggie Leads Scoring, But SMU And Tech Pace Loop

By The Associated Press

Jan. 26 in a key contest at Lubbock. John Beasley, the Texas A&M sharpshooter, took over the Southwest Conference basketball scoring lead last week as the re-surging Aggies bounded back into contention with victories over Texas Christian and Rice. The leaders—Texas Tech and Southern Methodist—were idle in league play. But they match their identical 2-0 loop marks ring defeats by Arkansas (79-61) and A&M (93-55). The Owls have won only one game all season against 12 losses, three of them in conference play.

The Aggies barely overcame TCU, 72-71, to spark their comeback. Other scores last week were Baylor over Arkansas 84-75 and Texas Tech over the Phillips Oilers 101-91.

Final exams have cut this week's schedule to one game: TCU vs. the University of Houston at Houston Monday.

Beasley took over season scoring honors from Tech's DuB Malaise as he connected for 37 points for an overall 276. Malaise is second with 264. In individual scoring for conference games, Beasley has 82 points, followed by Doug Kendrick of Rice with 65.

Tech's Norman Reuther set a school record Saturday as he scored 42 points as the Raiders downed Phillips. He is sixth in season scoring with 190.

Other leading season scorers are Harold Denney of Tech with 226, Gary Turner of TCU with 224, and Kendrick of Rice with 211.

In league scoring, third place is held by Ed Horne of Baylor with 67, followed by Paul Timmins of A&M with 57 and Ken Norman, also on the Aggie squad, with 54.

UNKNOWN HONORED

BOSTON (AP) — Except for Joe Lynch and Ralph Boston, America's much-decorated forces fell flat in the season's indoor track inaugural. Canadians and an Australian saved the K of C Games.

Lynch, not even listed on the program, was voted the outstanding performer after he was the surprise winner of the mile in 4:06 Saturday night. The Georgetown student wouldn't have competed at all if the uneasy NCAA-AAU truce hadn't been made.

The senior from Highlands, N.J., had never run a mile in better than 4:09 before and feels he's a better two-mile. But he passed Kansas' Bill Dotson on the final lap to take the event.

LE: Billy Mills, Olympic 10,000-meter champion entered in the mile, was among the scheduled contestants who could not get here due to a blizzard and near-zero temperatures.

Olympian Boston won his broad-jump specialty at 24 feet, 10 inches and also captured the 45-yard hurdles in 5.6 seconds.

Bill Crothers and Dave Ellis of Toronto plus Ray Tucker, 17-year-old schoolboy sensation from Hamilton, Ont., were dominant figures.

Crothers, winner of three straight 1,000-yard crowns in this event, switched to the 600 and was clocked in a meet record-equaling time of 1:10.0. Then he finished a 47.8 anchor on the East York Track Club's mile relay team which won in 3:22.6.

Ellis edged Vic Zwolok for an 8:52.2 two-mile.

Tucker caught veteran John Dunkelburg and beat him by two yards in 2:12.9 in the 1,000-yard run, one of the highlights of the meet.

Aussie Larry Peckham was awarded first in the high jump over Richard Ross of Southern University on fewer misses. Both cleared 6-11 1/4.

Crazy Zone Stops Cats

By The Associated Press

The wintry demons that conspired against the Oregon State and Bowling Green basketball teams were nothing compared to the plight of Kentucky's Adolph Rupp.

Oregon State was in a fog and Bowling Green was snowbound, but the undoing of Rupp's Wildcats at Tennessee was a thing called an Iconoclastic Defense with Disharmonious Tendencies.

That's what Tennessee Coach Ray Mears dubbed his 1-3-1 zone after the Vols had whipped Southeastern Conference rival Kentucky 77-58 at Knoxville Saturday. The loss, Kentucky's sixth in 13 starts, dropped the Wildcats' SEC record to 2-2.

They entertain league-leading Auburn, 5-0, tonight.

A layer of fog that blanketed the Northwest softened up Oregon State for Pacific Athletic Conference foe Washington State. It took two chartered airplanes and four rented cars—with police escort—to get the Beavers from Seattle to Pullman, Wash., where they lost to the Huskies 64-53.

It was the second defeat in two nights for the Beavers, pre-season pick to press national champion UCLA for the conference title, and left them in a last-place tie at 1-4.

Bowling Green, en-route to Oxford, Ohio, for its game with Mid American Conference leader Miami, got snagged in the blizzard that hit the Eastern part of the country. The Falcons walked the last mile into Oxford from their snow-stalled bus and took a 74-58 beating from the Redskins. It was Miami's eighth straight league victory and 12th in 13 over-all games.

Foul weather caused cancellation or postponement of several games but failed to stop the nation's top ten teams from completing a rare sweep of their competition during the week.

Keith Erickson and Gail Goodrich, with 21 and 15 points, respectively, led top-ranked UCLA past Stanford 89-66 for its Fourth-ranked St. Joseph's, Pa., routed Lafayette 82-68; No. 5 Indiana topped Ohio State 84-72; No. 7 St. John's, N.Y., beat Seton Hall 79-69; No. 8 Davidson smashed Presbyterian 130-67; No. 9 San Francisco reversed an earlier loss to Santa Clara 89-77 and No. 10 Duke belted Wake Forest 105-77.

Sixth-ranked Providence, the only unbeaten major team, did not play.

Headliner Wins Event

Headliner Lou, a female liver and white pointer owned and handled by Roy Smith, captured first place in the shooting dog finals of the bird dog meet at the Flying G Hunting Resort near Vincennes.

She edged Pretty Boy Pat, a male lemon and white pointer owned and handled by Lee Freeze.

Third place went to Jack, a male liver and white pointer owned and handled by Leslie Lloyd of the Flying G.

The meet, sponsored by the Permian Bird Dog and Sportsman Club, was declared a real success. The final field event Sunday drew upwards of 100 people. Plans are in the making for a shoot-to-kill bird dog event based on a point system.

Next AFL All-Star Game To Domed Field

HOUSTON (AP) — The American Football League's floating All-Star game settled in Houston, but for the fourth year it still belonged to the San Diego Chargers, host the previous three years.

Coach Sid Gillman's Chargers, beaten by Buffalo in the league championship game Dec. 26, played a major part in the West's 38-14 rout of the East coached by Buffalo's Lou Saban.

Houston was selected as the site after Negro players voted not to play in New Orleans. They complained of racial discrimination.

With five days notice, the game was shifted to Houston and the AFL Houston Oilers became the hosts.

Instead of the 65,000 fans expected at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans only 15,446 turned out in 35,000-seat Jeppesen Stadium.

But the Oilers handled the game so efficiently on such short notice the league—which also shifted its winter meetings to Houston last week—awarded next year's All-Star game to the new Domed Stadium, providing proper financial arrangements can be made.

Labor Strife Hits Economy Over Nation

NEW YORK (AP) — Labor strife — active, pending or feared — is already rewriting some of the statistics of prosperity. It seems sure to scramble them still more as the year progresses.

A dock strike along the entire Atlantic and Gulf coasts will cripple shipping first and then other forms of transport bringing goods to the ports. But if the strike drags on it would upset some manufacturing schedules.

And by curbing exports a dock strike is tied in with such seemingly far afield problems as the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments. This in turn is tied closely to the nation's gold reserves and what to do about them. The United States is plugging for more exports this year, not fewer.

SNAG ECONOMY

A railroad strike has threatened off and on for months. It would snag the nation's economy in quick order.

Talk of a possible steel strike is giving the economy a glow right now, because of a scramble of ordering to buildup inventories. But this threatens a let-down in the economy later while the stockpiles are used. Talk of what the steel unions will ask also is back of much of the fear of future inflation, through rising production costs, which has kept the bulls active in the stock market.

And the auto strikes of last fall are still more than just a memory. They caused industrial output, retail sales, consumer credit, to dip at the time. Today the aftermath is pushing all three aspects of the economy higher than it might otherwise be just now. The auto companies and their suppliers are pushing harder than normally to catch up in production and seek to recapture postponed sales. Whether this also foretells a letdown later is yet to be seen.

MAKES NEWS

Labor also is making news in less dramatic ways. Wage increases going into effect this year under contracts previously written will average 7.3 cents an hour, compared with 7.1 cents a year ago.

This has two effects: It adds materially to rising personal incomes, and this in turn will spark retail sales, consumer credit, home buying and all the other fruits of affluence. Rising wages influence management decisions on output schedules, price policies, and buying more machinery to cut labor time.

The range by industries is 17 cents in construction to 4.8 cents in apparel and other finished textiles.

The deferred wage increases now going into effect is expected to have considerable influence on this year's wage negotiations. Union leaders tend to consider them a base or floor to possible settlements.

'Great Society' Funds Seen In Aid Saving

NEW YORK (AP) — A cut in foreign aid spending will be doing its bit in helping President Johnson find funds for his "Great Society" and still hopefully keep his budget under $100 billion. Just how he would do this has been a question tickling the minds of many awaiting the budget's final unveiling late this month.

It's a small bit — only a little more than $100 million, unless Congress cuts still further. But requests for this long-time program of arms and economic assistance to other nations, along with defense spending in a number of classifications and communities, will be pared.

And since the Congress has a record of giving less than the President asks for foreign aid, the ultimate savings should help provide the money to expand the education, job training, transportation, and other programs for which the President wants more cash.

Paring his request for foreign aid appropriations to the lowest sum asked since the program was launched shortly after World War II should in itself raise only a minimum of dissent in Congress. The annual foreign aid request has usually been unpopular on Capitol Hill.

The President is asking Congress for $1.17 billion for arms, and $2.21 billion for economic aid. Of this $500 million or more will go to Viet Nam and Laos. The fighting and U.S. casualties there will put this part of the request in a different category, in congressional minds, from the rest of the aid to other nations' defense and economies.

The some $2.8 billion left for the rest of the world that the United States still aids in either arms or economic grants will doubtless come under fire as usual.

LBJ Oath-Taking Week Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson works today on his inaugural address and gets ready for the opening festivities of this oath-taking week.

Myrna Busy With Theater

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's one star who won't follow the trend of longtime leading ladies in playing shock films.

"You should see some of the scripts producers send me," says Myrna Loy. "They're absolutely unbelievable. I just send them back with no, thanks. I've gone through that stage in my career. In '13 Women' (RKO, 1932) I killed 13 women. So you can see I've done my bit."

She doesn't at all mind veering from the "perfect wife" which she played so brilliantly in films from "The Thin Man" to "Best Years of Our Lives." In fact, she did so in her last release, "From the Terrace."

OFFBEAT ROLE
"I played Paul Newman's alcoholic mother," she recalled. "It was certainly offbeat from what I have played before. But it wasn't macabre."

The fact that the Loy charm hasn't been seen on the screen for five years is Hollywood's loss, but not Myrna's. She has occupied the time with a new love: the theater.

She's back in town with the hit comedy, "Barefoot in the Park," which is appearing at the Huntington Hartford Theater. The stand is part of a cross-country tour that has permitted her to see America for the first time.

TRAINED EARLY
"It's true," she remarked at her Chateau Marmont suite. "I never really got a chance to see the United States before. During all those years at MGM I was working so hard I never got a chance to travel. We didn't make personal appearance tours the way they do today."

The theater is a late development in the Loy career, although she trained for it early.

"I went through the usual stage work in school — understanding Ophelia in 'Hamlet,' that sort of thing," she said. "I had elocution and singing lessons, all of which stood me in good stead when talkies came in."

Arrival Of Hippo Sets Off Comedy Of Errors

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Betsy, the unfriendly hippo bought by three Smith College girls for $400, has arrived at her new home in a Texas zoo after a long, hard ride from New York.

Her arrival several days before she was expected resulted in a comedy of errors.

After her cage-equipped truck rolled in, there was a delay while workmen finished building a special pen made of telephone poles and one-inch steel cable.

CROWD GATHERS
Eight armed border patrolmen stood by in case Betsy go on a rampage. A crowd gathered.

Then it was discovered a crane was needed to get the cage off the truck. One was finally located but just as the crane lifted Betsy's cage, it ran are going to a Broadway style pre-inaugural gala tonight. But there was no word on which of the many private and semi-public parties and receptions would draw them out of a White House so jammed with relatives and friends that daughter Luci was sleeping on a cot.

WORK ON SPEECH
The President set aside part of the day to do more work on the address he will deliver in Capitol Plaza Wednesday after taking the inaugural oath. Aides said this chore probably would not be completed until the morning of the ceremony.

Johnson flew back to Washington from his Texas ranch Sunday night, cramming his jet transport with so many inaugural visitors that a second craft had to be used for the overflow.

One of the 27 relatives and friends aboard Air Force One was Mrs. Earle Deathe of Austin, Tex., who was delighted with the capital's snow cover.

"This is the most snow I've ever seen," she said. "I brought some boots and I'm going to put 'em on. I'm going to save my Sunday-go-to-meetin' shoes."

Besides inaugural commitments, Johnson's only announced appointment today was for a Cabinet room ceremony to swear in the new secretary of commerce, John T. Connor.

The President worked on his inaugural address at the ranch before going to church services Sunday, then relaxed by leading a small party of reporters and photographers on a tour of Johnson City and the neighboring countryside.

POVERTY FIGHT
The day also produced a presidential announcement of anti-poverty projects in 33 states and Puerto Rico. The estimated cost: $162 million.

On Saturday, Johnson said goodbye to an overnight ranch guest, Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson, and announced at a living-room news conference the resignations of four White House staff members first appointed by John F. Kennedy: special assistants Kenneth O'Donnell and David Powers, special counsel Myer Feldman and Dr. Janet Travell, a White House physician.

Bill To Increase Old Age Pay Due

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. Bill Howell of Grand Saline said today he will introduce a bill raising old-age assistance payments from the $83 monthly maximum.

out of gas. Betsy was suspended in air until the crane was refueled.

By this time the crowd had grown to between 500 and 700 persons.

Four hours and 35 minutes after Betsy's arrival, the cage was worked into position and Betsy released into the pen.

Betsy headed toward a pond and disappeared below the water.

REFUNDED $400
The Harlingen zoo obtained Betsy after the college girls were refunded their $400 and the hippo had been turned over to an Eastern zoo.

The new owners have a new worry. With near-freezing temperatures at night, they are afraid the water will be too cold for a hippo, whose natural habitat is Africa.

Houston Mom Brutally Slain

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Police probed today for leads in the slaying of an attractive young Houston mother whose nude and battered body was recovered from an ice-encrusted ditch.

Marjorie Smith Wills, 26, had been beaten, stabbed, raped and strangled.

A rabbit hunter found the body Sunday.

Mrs. Wills, who worked at an insurance counter at Houston International Airport, once lived across the street from Barbara Ann Merritt, whose strangulation death Dec. 12, 1963, remains unsolved.

BROUGHT FEAR
Jimmy M. Wills, the victim's husband, said the couple had moved away from their previous residence because his wife worried about what had happened to Mrs. Merritt.

Mrs. Merritt, a schoolteacher, also was raped, beaten, strangled and dumped into a ditch.

Mrs. Wills, a shapely green-eyed blonde and mother of a boy, 5, left the airport lobby shortly before midnight Friday. Her husband, an auto parts worker, told police early Saturday she was missing.

"She never reached her car on the airport parking lot," the husband said.

GLOVES FOUND

Brazoria County Sheriff Robert Gladney said the woman's scarf and gloves were found in the water near her body. Her empty purse was found in some weeds nearby. Half of her bra-siere was found hanging on a barbed-wire fence down the road. The rest of her clothing was missing.

Officers found a trail of blood leading from the road to the ditch.

It appeared the woman's body had been dragged from an automobile, nude and bleeding, and had been pushed into the ditch by the assailant, Gladney said.

Mass In Spanish Begins In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Spanish was used in the mass in all the Federal District's Roman Catholic churches for the first time Sunday.

Probe Continues In Jet Disaster

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The cleanup and the questions continued on Platt Street today.

Shock gave way to grief among survivors of the 30 people who died Saturday when a KC135 jet tanker loaded with fuel smashed into the quiet section of modest homes in northeast Wichita.

It was the city's worst disaster.

The toll included 23 residents of the area and seven crewmen of the plane which left McConnell Air Force Base three minutes before it plunged almost vertically into the street.

HOUSES CONSUMED
Five houses were consumed by the flaming fuel which splashed from broken tanks. Only the shells remained of six houses and 25 others were damaged.

As identification of the dead was established the bodies were moved from a temporary morgue at the County Health Department to funeral homes.

Emmit J. Warmley, 37, his pregnant wife and their three children were among the dead.

Albert Bolden, 22, his wife and their three children also died in the holocaust.

Sharon Dale, 15, was on a baby-sitting job when her mother, Alice A. Dale, 46, and 2-year-old sister, Cheryl Ann, died.

Harvey Dale, the father and husband, was at work.

Joe T. Martin Jr., 25, and his brother, Gary Linn Martin, 17, died at the scene. They were the only sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Martin Sr., who went into seclusion with relatives after the father identified his sons.

GRIM TASK

While military and civilian authorities carried on the grim task of cleaning up the area seven local businessmen set about finding livable homes for those displaced by the tragedy.

Fire Chief T. A. McGaughey estimated damage to civilian property at $155,000. The plane was valued at $3 million.

Utilities in the crash area were shut off because of broken water and gas mains. They were largely restored Sunday night but not before many residents in undamaged houses spent a cold night at home.

Brig. Gen. Murray A. Bywater, named to head an investigation of the crash, said everything about the plane's take-off was normal.

Bywater said the craft, loaded with 80 tons of fuel for a test mission with a B52 bomber, was given clearance to make a left turn and climb on a prescribed course.

Bywater said the plane was dumping fuel but that it was too early in the investigation to say whether the pilot had power or control difficulties.

The plane was in a steep bank and Col. Tom Murphy, director of safety for the 2nd Air Force, said some witnesses indicated it came in at about an 80-degree angle — almost vertical. He said there were some reports that the plane was inverted just before impact.

Bywater said the plane was dumping fuel but that it was too early in the investigation to say whether the pilot had power or control difficulties.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®.

A Devotional For The Day

"You are the light of the world . . . Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 4:14, 16, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear God, we thank Thee that Thou dost allow Thy light to shine through us to give honor and glory unto Thee. Guide us in so living that light will displace darkness in our world. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Start Toward Reform

Relegated as it is by the court-ordered redistricting controversy, the Texas Legislature can hardly be expected to make other substantial reforms in its own structure and procedures this session.

Many such reforms are needed, however, as will be evident during the next week or so while the 59th Legislature is in the throes of getting down to serious business. What this session can and should do, is to authorize an interim study—probably by the Texas Legislative Council—of legislative reforms that should be considered by the next, or post-reapportionment, session.

In obvious need of remodeling is the Legislature's cumbersome committee system. The Senate's 24 standing committees (reduced from 39 in 1955) and the House's 43 are too many. The Texas House has more committees than both chambers of the U. S. Congress combined.

The committees should be reduced and be better matched between the two chambers. The joint committee system, which has reduced hearing time and improved research in some other states, should be considered. In any event, the committees should be given investigative power—to reduce the need for special committees—be better staffed, their sessions regularly scheduled, and their reporting improved.

The appointment of Senate committees by the lieutenant governor and House committees by the speaker is an unsatisfactory centralization of power. But that may be an unavoidable ill so long as a one-party legislative system precludes party discipline in committee assignments. This should be studied, however, along with arguments for a modified committee seniority system.

The questions of unicameralism and annual sessions also should be considered in any thorough study of Texas legislative reform.

Look At Charity

Charity has become of the biggest businesses in the United States. The business of giving has increased enormously in recent years, and is still expanding. Fifteen years ago the total given to a great variety of philanthropic organizations amounted to $4 billion. Last year it surpassed $10 billion.

On the whole, this is something to be proud of and happy about. It shows that Americans, for all their supposed preoccupation with material values, are a notably generous people. Also, private charity has some advantages that government aid programs lack. The fact that these billions are spent by many groups on a great diversity of things provides a healthy "dispers-sal of decision-making," as one expert on philanthropy puts it.

Unfortunately, the effectiveness of this kind of giving is crippled to some extent by two factors, waste in rare instances and dishonesty. Although the bulk of the money given is taken in by reputable organizations, some $300 million a year goes to outfits that are at best questionable and at worst downright rackets. Far more than that is wasted by well-meaning but incompetent organizations.

It is thus important to make sure that the charities one gives to are both reputable and reasonably efficient. Good purpose, and sound implementation of that purpose, are the qualities to look for. Generosity is kind. It need not be blind.

Holmes Alexander How To Be A Pro-Western Leader

WASHINGTON — Premier Huong of the Republic of South Viet Nam, a Buddhist, is not catching much liberal flak—and this puzzled the reporter who was recently in Saigon.

Mr. Huong's Buddhism is his personal religion, not to be confused with the political agitation of the Buddhist Institute. But the Premier holds office by sufferance of the Army.

HOW IS SUCH A MAN—the military puppet, the first minister of a non-legislative government, the top politician of a police state—so tolerable to the American liberals?

Some of my intellectual friends in Washington — all their conservative eggheds—profess not to be puzzled at all. Look at the opposite side of the coin, they tell me. Consider the non-Caucasian, pro-Western leaders whom the liberals have tried to hound from office. President Diem of South Viet Nam was assassinated. Moise Tshombe of the Congo province of Katanga was driven to exile, though later recalled in desperation. Dr. Syngman Rhee, once President and the George Washington of Korea, was deposed. Chiang Kai-shek, President of Nationalist China, has been for many years the butt of liberal ridicule and slander. What do these men have in common?

THEY HAVE in common the fact that they are Christian, two of them Catholic, two of them Protestant. Can it be that Christianity in a non-Caucasian is subtly intolerable to the liberals because it hints at reactionism? Can it be that non-Christianity in a non-Caucasian somehow gives the guarantee of eventual compliance with liberal principles, so that many political shortcomings can be overlooked?

AFFIRMATIVE answers to these questions are apt to be persuasive in conservative minds. From the conservative viewpoint, modern liberalism is related to radicalism, materialism and other matters which are more of the body than of the spirit. The door to understanding leads us back to the basic distinction between the American Revolution and the revolutions of France and Russia. Ours was an uprising to preserve English concepts of law and justice, including freedom of religion. In France, the church was overthrown. In Russia, all churches were abolished and atheism enthroned. In America, the Declaration of Independence justified our liberation from Britain by appeal to "the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God."

BUT THE LIBERALS at home rejoice in the uprooting and reinterpretation of all that is fundamental, most recently the school prayers. And the same liberals, looking abroad, do not like what they see when a pro-Western leader, born yellow or black, embraces a Christian church.

That connects him with discipline or repression. That makes him a reactionary. That marks him as a man who may have given his heart to God rather than to the modern Mammon of materialistic social welfare.

OVERHANGING Asia, Africa and the Middle East, there seems to be a sign which reads: "Help Wanted. Pro-Western Leaders. Only Non-Christians Need Apply."

Billy Graham

Has salvation any meaning in this life, or is it just for the hereafter? So many people keep talking about Christ as the Savior of men, but they don't explain what they mean by this. R. P.

The salvation of Christ has meaning for every phase of life, both here and hereafter. The Bible says that the gospel has promise of the life which now is, as well as of that which is to come (1 Timothy 4:8).

Of course, it is true that Christ's salvation will have its final and complete meaning beyond this life. He has promised that those who believe in Him shall not come into judgment (John 5:24), and the Apostle Paul speaks of Him as the one who "delivereth us from the wrath to come" (1 Thessalonians 1:10). But remember that Christ not only saves us from hell; He also saves us for heaven; and we shall never know all that His salvation means until we see Him face to face.

Yet even now, in this life, we know in some measure the saving power of the Lord Jesus. I will mention three dread enemies from whose dominion the Lord Jesus rescues us if we are prepared to trust in Him as our Savior. The first is the guilt of sin; and He saves us from that by offering us God's free gift of forgiveness. The second is the power of evil; and here His salvation consists in the gift of the Holy Spirit, who enables us to live victoriously. The third enemy is the fear of death. The Christian can look this grim foe full in the face and cry, "Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Corinthians 15:57).

Churchill: A Courageous Romantic

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I am ready to meet my Maker," Winston Churchill said. "Whether My Maker is prepared for the ordeal of meeting me is another matter."

That was on his 75th birthday, 15 years ago. It was a clear warning he intended to carry into eternity the same unflinching attitude he had on earth toward man and beast.

Unflinching was one of his favorite words.

It meant a lot to him all his life, and as it turned out, to the Western world and all mankind. For Churchill, a political failure at 65, by 70 had become one of the greatest figures in history.

How much he had come to mean was expressed as he neared his 90th birthday by C. P. Snow, the British scientist and novelist:

"We all hope he never dies. I think we have a superstitious feeling that, if he ever does go, something goes with him that Britain will not see again."

HE WAS saucy all his life, from his youngest to his oldest days, always ready with advice and criticism, telling his contemporaries how to run their business, whether he was in the army or the government.

He knew how unpopular it made him, but this never stopped him.

Nobody ever summed up better the lifetime attitude of most people toward him — until he took command of the war against Hitler in 1940 — than Churchill himself, writing on his life in the British army when he was 23.

"He said the army brass in India, in Egypt and in Britain began to take this attitude: 'Who the devil is this fellow?'"

But his life was built upon the three foundation stones of courage, romance and language.

Courage he had with him always, whether it was wandering around the Uganda lion country with a net, looking for butterflies in his 30s, wanting to take part in the Normandy invasion when he was almost 70, until the king stopped him because he was prime minister, or defying Hitler when all Europe was gone and England was alone.

HE WAS a romantic from childhood to old age, dreaming of adventure but always of taking command. In many ways he was out of date most of his life because he dreamed of glorious tests while the world was undergoing change he sometimes seemed not to understand.

The British people themselves felt this way about him for while they trusted him with their lives and the future of England in time of war, once it was over they threw him out to make way for the social changes Britain needed but which he himself admitted later he hadn't thought about.

And yet just because he was a romantic, as the war deepened and Britain edged toward despair, with him in command the impossible became usual, hope became a natural condition, and the British people suddenly felt that all the meaning of British history had been entrusted to them to preserve.

Tips From Mailbag

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Women blush more often from anger than as a result of shocked modesty.

Some people can tell the seasons by their diseases. For example both ulcers and gout tend to flare up in the spring and autumn.

THE COMMON cold is rarely deadly but it is one of the most expensive of mankind's ailments. It costs the average family from $35 to $40 a year—and it costs industry about $5 billion annually in lost working time.

The U.S. vice presidency often has been regarded as a step toward oblivion, but eight of the 35 men elected to the presidency, died or were killed while in office, and were succeeded by their vice presidents.

Odd Legislation: A teacher can't give Bible lessons in the public grammar schools of Illinois, but the state by law provides a Bible for every prison inmate.

GREAT MEN have their problems too. Did you know that Napoleon had trouble keeping his trousers up?

Psychiatrists say these are four warning signals of a possible nervous breakdown: Inability to sleep well, lack of appetite and weight loss, mental and physical sluggishness, and exaggerated feelings of guilt and personal worthlessness. Well, thank heavens, I've still got a good appetite left anyway!

Science marches on: Food firms are working on an aerosol spray that will enable you to bomb a peanut and jelly sandwich mixture.

SOME SAFETY slogans for the new year: "If people drove right, there would be more people left." "Be patient today—not a patient tomorrow." "Driving is like baseball in a way. It's the number of times you reach home safely that counts."

Everything is inflated in value today, including people. The statistician who used to tell us that all the chemicals in our body were worth only 97 cents now reports they are worth $2.50.

It was Lewis Mumford who observed, "Our national flower is the concrete cloverleaf."

The old biplanes which consistently landed there offering trips at a price to the curious . . . Amos and Andy, a weekly ritual on radio, and how their programs attracted visitations from the neighborhood. . . . The family family cried the first few times they listened to "The Prisoner's Song" over our new Victrola. . . . The thing that fascinated me about the music box was the manner in which the little dog sat in front of a loud speaker, ear cocked, listening to the voice of his master.

THE INFREQUENT visits of gypsy bands to our city and how our parents and neighbors reminded each other to secure everything of value, for fear the gypsies would pilfer them. . . . The old Riddle Rider series offered weekly at the old Lyric Theatre, located in the north entrance to what is now C. R. Anthony's Store. . . . The rarely-entered parlor of our home — we confined much of our visitations to our kitchen or front porch.

LISTENING TO the adults tell ghost stories at a neighbor's house after darkness fell and then getting scared upon finding a light burning in our own house upon our return home — it proved to be the paternal parent, who had just come in from a tour of duty with the railroad. . . . The eagerness with which we looked forward to "live" entertainment — the annual appearances of the Harley Sadler tent show and Brunk's Comedians. . . . The beauty of Mrs. Sadler.

THE NIGHT the old Cole Hotel, where the Howard House now stands, burned. . . . The leathery smells of the early automobiles and how much fun it was to play in them when they were parked in the garages. . . . The last of the old blacksmith shops, one of which was situated immediately behind what is now the Read Hotel. . . . A cattle drive that came down Lancaster Street and headed across Third Street toward the railway tracks, where the stock would be loaded for shipment to eastern markets — we had a vantage point from atop a gate post in our front yard, a half block toward downtown.

THE FIRST midnight matinee I saw with my dad and brother — a version of "Charley's Aunt," with Charles Ruggles in the starring role. . . . The penchant for playing on old plows on farms of my relatives. . . . The overwhelming weight of a .45 pistol my dad brought home one day, just to show to the family — I could hardly hold it out straight. —TOMMY HART

Vibrations Of A Crapshooter

WASHINGTON—Oh, I can four before I seven, always could, and it's a talent not to be lightly regarded, because who knows when the bounce will go out of the boom?

Early recollection, perhaps earliest, deals with Pa explaining workings of game. Vibration's everything. Odds always favor house, thus vibrations essential to crapshooter. Pa traded with Jimmy LaFontaine, who ran Washington's biggest and most durable casino, just across the line in Maryland.

JIMMY DIED at great age, leaving paper pokes filled with cash. Some of it Pa's? Never know. Pa predeceased Jimmy by a dozen years. Left no paper pokes. Said to the last that Jimmy's place was square. But there are always the house odds. Odds always against the player. Vibration's everything. You might think you can four, but can you four? You got that tingle in the palm of your hand you know you can four, but otherwise no, absolutely no.

FLASHBACK to mean pub in early days of the war. Place somewhere in South Florida where Navy sent personnel to be fleeced by locals before seeing to freedom of seas. Pub's backroom scene of huge payday crap game. Caught it one day shortly before joining subchaser to see to freedom of seas. Vibrations good from start. Scared money never wins is a thing you'll hear crapshooters say. Not scared, at least not scared of losing. Little apprehensive about freedom of seas bit, maybe. Palm of crapshooting hand tingling fit to run a 100-watt bulb. Wish Pa could have been there.

RIBBON CLERKS soon gone. Hard core of veteran crapshooters left. Every eye fixed on dancing cubes. Good bunch. Good loser to a man. Pretty soon damp, grey dawn light seeping through dirty windows.

Large sum of money in front of self. Somewhat small heap at hand of old-time regular Navy cockswain. Good man. Hash marks to elbow testified to fidelity to freedom of seas.

Broad daylight, small audience. Caught up in drama of head-to-head struggle, red-eyed from no sleep, no place else to go at that hour. Long struggle. Feet, legs, back tired. Eyes hurt from strain and cigarette smoke. Palm still tingling, vibrations still strong.

PRETTY SOON cockswain lost his contact with the whatchamacallit. Vibrations go fast. See it in his face. But still game. Old sailors fade, too. He faded, self fouled and that was that. Good chap. You natural - born crapshooter, kid, he said. You ever work a day in your life you're dumb in the head.

Thought about Pa. Plenty good vibrations. Understood odds, players' psychology, house psychology, Jimmy LaFontaine's psychology. Left no paper pokes, however.

Republicans In Congress Must Set Pace

WASHINGTON — Whether Dean Burch voluntarily resigned or there was a forced change in the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee is of little relevance or significance as far as the fortunes of the Republican party in the future are concerned. Nor is it of any real importance just now who is aspiring to be the Republican presidential nominee in 1968.

For the plain truth is that, unless the Republican party becomes a party of constructive opposition and effectively turns public opinion toward its side on major issues, Lyndon B. Johnson may be able to achieve nine consecutive years in the presidency.

THE REPUBLICANS in recent weeks have put so much emphasis on their internal squabbles that they haven't seen the forest for the trees. Actually, the Republican national chairman doesn't make Republican policy or mobilize public sentiment on the issues of the day. Everett Dirksen, leader of the Republican party in the Senate, made a realistic statement of the whole situation when he said last Monday that the members of the joint Senate and House Republican leadership in their conversations since the November defeat have discussed numerous paths that might be followed by the party, but that "always certain basic facts have emerged," which are:

"FIRST, that the only elected Republican officials of the federal establishment are the 32 Republican members of the United States Senate and the 140 members of the House of Representatives. Obviously and beyond dispute, they will guide Republican party policy at the national level, in the absence of a Republican president and vice president, by the record they write in the Congress. It is their responsibility.

"SECOND, that an additional repository of advice and counsel on party policy exists in former Presidents and nominees for President, in our present elected governors, in the members of the Republican national committee and the state chairmen of our several states, and, of course, in active Republican advocates at all other levels of the party structure. Their wisdom must be channeled into party policy formulation."

THIS IS BUT another way of saying that, while advice is acceptable and all viewpoints from governors and former presidential nominees should be heard, the responsibility for making party policy rests with the Republican members of Congress who are dealing every day with national issues. It is the way these legislative questions are handled which can mean victory or defeat in elections.

THE REPUBLICAN party in Congress will have numerous "task forces" to help it analyze current issues and prepare speeches of opposition, but this alone will not build the Republican party's chances for victory. One of the chief weaknesses on the Republican side is in the field of communication. It has been very ineffective in presenting its point of view to the country, though, to be sure, much of the difficulty has been in the fact that the Republican party in Congress has not been articulate or able to concentrate on major points of opposition to the party in power.

THE REPUBLICAN party's job, therefore, lies not in worrying about the ideology of a party chairman, but what the Republicans in Congress are going to do to oppose unjust fiscal policies and waste of public funds as well as ill-conceived controls by the federal government on those services which should primarily be taken care of by the states. In the long run, the differences between advocacy of centralization in the federal government and an insistence on the retention by state governments of their responsibilities will become clearer and clearer. This could develop into a major issue in the congressional elections of 1966 as well as in the presidential election of 1968.

Avoiding A New Hitch

DEAR ABBY: When I started going with Earl 10 years ago, he promised me that after he finished his 20 years in the Navy we would get married. Well, he's been out three years now, and he never says anything about marriage any more. He even placed his hand on a Holy Bible once and swore he'd buy me a ring, so when I asked him why he didn't, he said I talked too much. After 10 years of going around together he decides I talked too much!

I found a book of matches in his pocket on which was written in his own hand, "IS THERE ANY WAY I CAN SEE YOU TONIGHT?" I am sure he wasn't writing that kind of message to another man. I am 39. Do you think it takes a 41-year-old man 10 years to make up his mind?

GLADYS
DEAR GLADYS: No, I think Earl finished one 20-year hitch and he's not about to go for a lifetime hitch just yet. The handwriting on the book of matches is clear enough. Don't wait for him to draw you any pictures.

DEAR ABBY: Why do you claim that you answer people's problems when you don't? This is the fourth letter I've written to you and it will be the last if you don't answer. Do you just throw a letter away if you can't think up a smart answer for it? My problems are a lot more serious than some of the stupid ones I have seen in your column. Does a person have to PAY to get his letter in the paper? If you don't answer this one, I am going to quit taking the paper.

LONG-TIME SUBSCRIBER
DEAR SUBSCRIBER: Does your newspaper run a "tag" after each of my columns stating that I will answer all letters WHICH INCLUDE A SELF-ADDRESSED STAMPED ENVELOPE? If it doesn't, it should. All these letters ARE answered, but due to the space limited to me, only a few letters can be answered daily in my column. Sorry.

DEAR ABBY: My Mother, Dad, husband and I had a big argument and we want you to settle it for us. Every time we go out for dinner, my husband orders steak. He is left-handed and can't cut it properly, so he gives his plate to me and I cut it for him. My parents say that this is not proper, but my husband and I don't see anything wrong with it. What is your opinion?

LEFTY'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Why your left-handed husband has trouble cutting steak is beyond me. But if he wants you to cut it and you are willing, it should be nobody else's business.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MOTHER OF SEVEN IN COLUMBUS: Television will never replace reading. Limit those children of yours to so many programs a day, or when opportunity knocks later in life they won't be able to hear it for the television's blaring.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Two Shipping Mishaps Laid To Dense Fog
By The Associated Press
Thick fog contributed to two shipping mishaps in the Pacific Northwest over the weekend.
At Vancouver, B.C., the USS Whitehurst, a destroyer-escort, and the Norwegian freighter Hoyanger collided in the city's harbor Saturday.
The Whitehurst received a five-foot gash, but no injuries were reported on either vessel. Minor damage was inflicted on the 9,477-ton freighter.
The destroyer-escort was manned by reserve "weekend sailors."

Defense Pushes Suit On Estes
PECOS (AP)—The defense, which has called only one witness so far, was set today to detail its case in the $4 million civil damage suit against bankrupt Billie Sol Estes and others. The suit was brought by J. C. Barnes Sr.; his son, J. C. Barnes Jr.; and the latter's brothers-in-law, Russell Rams-land and W. F. Wynn, all of Midland, Tex. Testimony has shown they signed mortgages on fertilizer tanks for Estes, who then sold the mortgage paper at discount to Walter E. Heller Co. of Chicago. Plaintiffs contend that Estes and Heller knew the tanks did not exist. In addition to the damages they seek release from liability for $1.3 million in mortgages held by Heller. Heller has denied the accusations and is demanding payment of the $1.3 million in mortgages. The opening witness for the defense was Leland Smith of Fort Wayne, Ind., a stockholder and secretary of General Leasing Inc., which also figured in the transactions, the plaintiffs said. He testified before court adjourned Friday for the weekend about his company's organization. He said the company's records were destroyed by fire in 1963 and the company is virtually defunct.

Baptist Meet Is Under Way
DALLAS (AP)—The Southern Baptist Convention's statewide evangelism meeting opens here today with more than 10,000 ministers and laymen due to attend the three-day session. Dr. Rubens Lopes, president of the Brazilian Baptist Convention, and Dr. Wayne Dehoney, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, are to be the principal speakers at tonight's session. The conference will end Wednesday noon with an address by Dr. Charles Howard, professor emeritus of Campbell College at Buis Creek, N.C.

Shakedown For Session Near Finish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress hopes to complete its shakedown procedures for the new session this week in advance of President Johnson's inauguration. The House and Senate will pause in their preliminary activities Wednesday to attend the inaugural ceremonies. By that time, action already will have begun on his legislative program. A Senate subcommittee starts hearings today on a water pollution bill Johnson wants brought to a speedy vote. Tuesday, a subcommittee takes up a bill to pump a billion dollars into the Appalachian region. And on Friday, the House opens hearings on the administration's education bill. The Senate follows with similar hearings next Monday.

Freeze Grips Texas Areas

By The Associated Press
Freezing weather gripped wide sections of Texas again early today, but fair and a bit warmer weather was in prospect. A slight warming was predicted through Tuesday for all but the northwest section of the state, which had its turn at mild temperatures Sunday afternoon. Early morning readings ranged from freezing to the low 40s. It was 32 degrees before dawn at Beaumont, Port Arthur, Texarkana and Wichita Falls, 33 at Amarillo, Dalhart and Fort Worth, and up to 43 at Childress. Some of the coldest weather of winter chilled wide sections of Texas Sunday. Houston recorded 23 degrees early Sunday for its coldest Jan. 17 on record, but the mercury dipped even lower—15 degrees at Livingston in East Texas. All of the state except the Rio Grande Valley had a freeze Sunday. The Panhandle had temperatures up to 71 degrees at Childress Sunday afternoon.

Texas Joins Poverty Fight

JOHNSTON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Among the anti-poverty projects proposed Sunday by President Johnson were two for Texas. The Texas projects are: Vista Volunteers—San Antonio, 12 volunteers will work under supervision of action for Community Development, Inc. Rural family loans—$2,500 loan to a low-income farmer in Long Branch, Panola County.

The first car at the bottom of the world.

The Australian National Research Expedition really had no choice. They wanted a car that "any member of the party could hop into and drive off without a moment's hesitation." And the Volkswagen just happens to fill the bill. The big trick is the VW's air-cooled rear engine. It has no radiator. It uses no water or antifreeze. It just goes. (Antarctica #1 stood for days in 50° below zero weather and started without a tremble.)
The rear engine gave the VW so much extra traction it climbed "straight up and down the slopes." (But they cheated a little; sometimes they put chains on the back wheels.) Another reason the VW went where even the dogs wouldn't is the sealed bottom. It took an awful beating, but that's what it's there for: To protect the works inside against the weather outside. Things got so fierce that one man said, "Now we know what it'll be like when Hell freezes over." So if it ever does, you know what car to buy.
